today in brief

Poisoned boy's father charged

PASADENA, Tex. (UPI)—The father of a 3-year-old boy fatally poisoned Halloween night by a candy straw filled with cyanide today was charged with murder and held under $100,000 bond.

Timothy Wade O'Brien died Tuesday from eating just one piece of candy. His father, Robert Clark O'Brien, told police at the time his son had begged to be allowed one treat before going to bed.

Rejects judge

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Former Army Lt. William Calley, in prison indefinitely by order of Chief Judge John R. Brown of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, said Monday he does not want Brown to consider an appeal of his case.

J. Houston Gordon, Calley's chief attorney, said Brown disposed of one Calley appeal without fully reviewing all the available evidence and that Brown's original order keeping Calley in jail was only to have lasted 72 hours instead of indefinitely.

Casting ballot

VOTING EARLY at Twin Falls High School, Ronald Jones, Twin Falls, has registration voucher to election official Donna Christensen before entering the booth to cast his ballot. Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. for the general election.

About half TF voters expected to turn out

TWIN FALLS—It looks like a beautiful day for voters, but county Clerk Harold Lancaster predicts only about 50 per cent of registered voters will cast a ballot.

The polls are open until 8 p.m. today. The weatherman predicts the sun will shine all day, with highs reaching into the low 50s. "It'll be a real pleasant afternoon," he said.

But Lancaster said he expects only 12,000 people to vote in Twin Falls County, about one-half of the approximately 24,000 registered voters.

Registration is up this year, Lancaster reported, but he expects voting to be down.

Only 40 per cent of registered voters participated in the August primary election, Lancaster said. During the last general election two years ago, about 60 per cent voted here, he added.

Voting so far is "about normal," according to Lancaster.

Although there are plenty of voters already registered, Lancaster said he expected a pull-out from that one group. "In past history, they have been pretty weak on the polls," he said. Idaho 18-year-olds will have their first chance to vote for governor this election.

About 1,000 absentee ballots have been returned to the election office, Lancaster said, down slightly from the 1,500 filed two years ago. Lancaster was looking forward to a busy day. He reminded everyone he had 155 miles to travel checking all the county's precincts.

Idaho election campaign reaches final phases

BOISE (UPI)—One of Idaho's hottest general election campaigns in more than a decade draws to a close today as the voters pick a Senator, two Congressmen and seven statehouse officials.

Except in areas where local issues or races have generated intense voting is expected to be light to moderate. Estimates of the turnout range from 55 to 70 per cent. Polls will close at 8 p.m. in the precincts.

Sen. Frank Church is bidding for a fourth term and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, first Democrat elected to the governorship in 23 years, for a second.

Eighty-two opponents on the ballot.

Republicans Bob Smith is challenging Church along with the American Party's Jean Stoddard, Republican Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy and the American Party's Nolan Victor oppose Andrus.

Rep. Steve Symms is seeking a second term from the first congressional district against Democrat J. Ray Cox. Former Rep. George Hansota, a Republican Verlan Haveson and the American Party's Leonard Fox. For party general it is Democrat incumbent Tony Park against Republican Wayne Kiddall.

Secretary of State Pete Cenarrosa, a Republican first appointed to office in 1967, is trying for his second full term against Democrat Daniel Daniels. Auditor Joe R. Williams, Democrat, is going for an unprecedented fifth-year term against Republican Harmon Grosbeck.

Republicans did not run anyone against Denver incumbent Sharonne Kay Merritt for treasurer. But Alvin Moon has opposition in the quest of a fourth term from Wayne Hunsaker of the American Party. For superintendent of public instruction Democrat Roy Trivette is up against Republican Betty Moore.

Voters also pick his legislators, county officials and consider the Sunshine Initiative and two constitutional proposals.

Party leaders select Andrus

TWIN FALLS—Republican and Democratic party chairmen for Twin Falls County agree that Gov. Cecil Andrus will win re-election, but disagree on who will win in the U.S. Senate race.

Both predict a larger voter turnout in the county.

Lt. Gov. Noh, the GOP county chairman, said 70 per cent of the registered voters would cast ballots. Democrat Steve Carter predicted between 60 and 65 per cent would vote.

On local races, Laird said Ann Cover, GOP candidate for county commission, "might pull an upset" victory over incumbent William Wiseman.

Carter said, "I think we have a good chance to win the county commission seats and possibly pick up some legislative seats."

On the Senate race between incumbent Democrat Frank Church and GOP challenger, Bob Smith, Carter said Church will take the county with "a rather slim margin."

But Noh predicted that Smith will carry the county by a "wide margin" and take the statewide election by a "slim margin."

TF gasoline prices dip

By MARILYN ELLIOTT Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls gasoline prices dropped along 3 cents in the last two months, but remain about 10 cents per gallon higher than a year ago.

A Times-News survey revealed that prices for regular gas at a full service gasoline station average 49.4 cents a gallon in Twin Falls, compared to 47.5 cents per gallon during the end of August. Regular gasoline prices in November of last year averaged 47 cents per gallon.

Premium gasoline showed a similar drop from an average of 61 cents in August to 59.2 cents this month. Last November they cost the motorist an average of 47 cents per gallon.

The decrease reflected a drop in company prices; local owners said. Company representatives said any increases or decreases in gasoline prices were a result of changes in the price of crude oil mixes purchased by the company.

Diase, a central anchor, gasoline prices previously established base prices, they said, and allow price changes in response to fluctuations in crude oil prices.

Plan to combat hunger offered

Chicago Daily News

The United States today proposed a world machinery to harness American farm production to combat world hunger.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger explained the new program to the opening of the 1974-75 world food conference on Saturday and urged "effective" international programs.

Bringing together an all-out effort to grow more food, the system would reward exporting countries with "preferential" access to supplies when and where shortages occur.

He stressed that "energy, land and irrigation facilities, global production—the political challenge is straight ahead." All dignitaries of the world conference will be invited to a report of the secretary of state.

The Kissinger visit is part of his world tour that was to take him back to Paris for Mid-East peace talks later today. It was punctuated by a 1974-75 world food conference and a United Nations American business in Rome.

Under heavy security guard, he also met top Italian leaders and went to the Vatican to see Pope Paul VI during one day stop here.

A senior U.S. official said the "Shah of Iran already has indicated approval of the American plans on food. Agricultural leaders will be invited to cooperate in U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who is heading Washington's delegation to the 11-day Rome conference.

Code word overheard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—District Judge Sirica said today he had clearly heard Watergate conspirator J. Edgar Hoover mention the word "Genston" in one of the Oval Office tapes recorded only six days after the original break-in.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Sirica said he had heard Hoover mention the word on a tape recorded June 24, 1972. The Watergate taping arrests occurred June 17.

"Genston" was the code word for longtime operations at the Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Holmes has contended he never heard the word until months later.

Sirica said a blow to all five defendants when he ruled that they need not have personal copies of the White House tapes to be transferred. The defendants and their lawyers have had to listen to the tapes in the special prosecutor's office.

"That's the way of the whole thing," Holman attorney John J. Wilson protested.

"That's the ruling of the court," Sirica said firmly. "Let's proceed."

He also refused to require the prosecution to play tapes in full as Holman's lawyers had demanded.

Sirica ruled "it was too late" for the defense to protest presentation plans to play only portions of some of the tapes.

Chief trial prosecutor James F. Neal Monday uncovered some important new evidence—a memo written by conspirator E. Howard Hunt in 1972 about promises of cash money and pardons which the Watergate burglars allegedly received from the Nixon administration.

TF choices on ballot conservative

By BILL LAZARUS Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls County voters generally will choose between conservative and more conservative candidates when they cast ballots for their state legislators today.

Republicans, Democrats and American party members alike are advocating less government and more government growth.

All but one of the 10 candidates running for the legislature are saying that land-use planning should be kept strictly in local control on the county level.

Their acceptance is Democrat Raymond Graham's position that the state should set guidelines so that housing developments and shopping centers don't take up prime agricultural lands. But Graham, too, emphasizes the need for local control.

Many of the candidates favor government spending as a prime mover of inflation. Most oppose state development of new programs such as kindergarten. And even in this post-Watergate era, popular campaign reform measures proposed in the Sunshine initiative are regarded as undue government encroachment by many.

This year there are three races involving ten men.

Talks snagged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—United Mine Workers officials today walked out on what they said executives called the best contract offer "in any major industry." The union said it was preparing counter-proposals to try to head off a complete strike next Tuesday.

A union spokesman said, however, there was basically "no change" in the UMW's flat rejection of the mine operators' offer.

"We're busy working on our own proposals," he said.

Further talks were set and prospects were dim for avoiding a strike that could shut down industries and cause widespread shortages of electricity.

A Georgia Power Company official said in Atlanta the company might be forced to institute "rotating blackouts" in parts of the state if there is a prolonged coal strike.

Stronger W. German force urged

BOSSON (UPI)—Defense Secretary James H. Schlesinger has urged West Germany to set an example for the rest of Western Europe by increasing its conventional military strength at a faster pace, sources close to Schlesinger said today.

Schlesinger said Soviet forces, particularly those stationed in East Germany, are acquiring improved firepower. He said West European forces must try to keep pace, sources said.

Tragedy cited

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Elliot Richardson, who resigned as attorney general last year rather than face Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, says a lack of public confidence in government is "a prescription for tragedy."

"Many of our problems, including the problems of the economy, are problems of confidence," he said. "Confidence is a fragile structure, easily damaged and not easily restored."

Economic improvement forecast

MANILA (UPI)—David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, today predicted a reduction in world inflation and an improvement in the economy by mid-1975.

Rockefeller, the brother of Vice President designate Nelson Rockefeller, spoke to newsmen at the end of a two day meeting here at Chase Manhattan Bank's Interfactual Advisory Committee.

The House committee also should examine a food reserves coordinating group to "provide against national security conditions," the staff of the Senate Agriculture Committee says.

The world market for oil is as much as 10 million tons of oil may be needed.

The committee's report to the Senate and House suggests that the coordinating agency, the U.S. Administration has decided whether the reserves would be held in federal or private hands.

Kissinger attacked specifics on the key question of

A group effort is planned to expand production in the hunger countries, with new regional fertilizer factories, pest-proof storage facilities and more research, including crop selection and spacing.

The new agencies would pressure the Soviet Union to provide the crop information promised by party chief Leonid Brezhnev in his July visit to Washington.

Priority in food health research would go to Vietnam, an "indispensable" ally.

Improving Nixon takes first steps around room

DOVER, N.H., Nov. 4 (AP) — Farmer President Richard Nixon Sunday took his first steps since his close brush with death almost a week ago.

Doctors said the low-assisted steps around the hospital ward were an indication of gradual improvement from Nixon's lapse into shock after the assassination attempt.

Nixon was encouraged to cough and breathe deeply to help break up a deposit of fluid in his lungs.

The long-continued treatment of patients who have to lie on their backs for a long time after an operation, and could be in pain.

Hospital spokesman Nath Nager said, however, that the 61-year-old Nixon was not considered threatened by pneumonia although "it is one of the considerations that must be taken into account."

A medical statement Sunday revealed that

Nixon was being treated with an inhalation mist that he breathes every four hours to help fight the emphysema.

Langren said Nixon's vital signs continued to be stable and he was still in the "satisfactory" condition.

Nixon was removed from the critical list Sunday afternoon when a diet of soft foods. Previously he was fed intravenously.

In another statement, Langren said, physical therapists at Long Beach Memorial Hospital were using a special computer at the Medical College of Virginia to determine how Nixon responds to the intravenous drug, curium-241.

Nixon entered the hospital for the second time Oct. 23 for further tests to check on his plethysmography.

A venogram prompted doctors to order surgery to break the passage of the clot lodged in this upper thigh.

Nixon's wife Pat and daughters Julie Eisenhower and Treva Cox have been constant visitors at the former President's bedside.

President Ford paid a surprise visit to the hospital last Friday.

Israelis raid Lebanon

A helicopter-borne Israeli force entered a south Lebanon border village early today and kidnaped the local mayor and his son after blowing up their home.

Arab newsmen in the region said:

The Israeli force landed near the village of Majdal, 25 miles north of Sidon and some seven miles from the Israeli border shortly after midnight, the report said.

The Israelis surrounded the village shortly after 1 a.m.

Balance needed in plan

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS—Assistant manager, associate administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, Washington, D. C., told Magic Valley Soil Conservation District leaders Monday night well-balanced land-use plans are a must in every county and district.

He told the annual divisional meeting of Soil Conservation officials from 14 Magic Valley districts land-use planning is not new.

"It is our business and the reason we have been in business the past 40 years," Berg reminded the conservationists.

About 100 persons attended the annual divisional meeting in the cafeteria of the College of Southern Idaho Monday night.

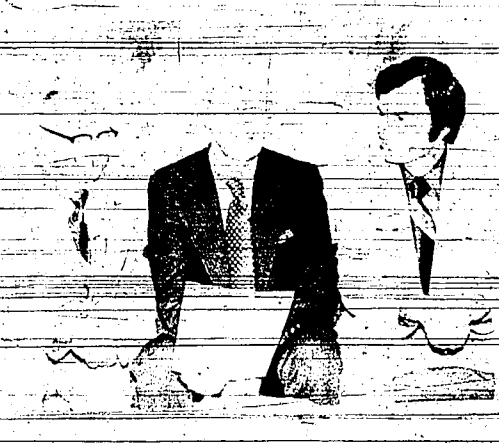

Garnet Kidd, Berkeley, served as master ceremonies for the meeting. He is district division chairman during a business meeting following the dinner.

Others elected all conservation district officers: Ernest Eugene Thomas, Twin Falls, chairman of the Balanced Rock district, as vice chairman, and Dean Moore-Hansen, secretary-treasurer.

Kidd serves as chairman of the West Coast Soil Conservation District.

Awards presented included the most outstanding district award by the North Side Soil Conservation District to J. C. H. Bernal, member of that district, was named outstanding cooperater of the year.

Second place district was the South Conservation District, Dan Kester, Jr., Minidoka County, was named the outstanding farmer of the past year in the division.

Voters to decide on bond issue

TWIN FALLS—The polls are open today for voters to cast their ballots on the $4.6 million construction program at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The proposed renovation and expansion program would take three years to complete and add about 100,000 square feet to the present hospital.

Bonds would mature in 20 years and would mean yearly bond payments of $220,000 and $222,000 for property owners.

The construction plan, basically similar to one approved in 1968, is primarily a non-patient care areas because of inflationary cost increases. In lieu of the proposed bond issue, the hospital would have to raise a $4.6 million fund through a variety of means.

Here's How To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss — and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done" but now a firm of laboratory — Lasech Laboratories, has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss — but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They will try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

2 agencies file suits

TWIN FALLS — Two state agencies have filed suits against Twin Falls County, residents.

The Department of Health and Welfare, James Bink, commissioner, filed action in Fifth Judicial District Court here against Bonnie K. Hoppie. The action seeks to recover $5,239.35 in welfare assistance paid to Mrs. Hoppie during the period of March, 1971 to January 1, 1974.

In the complaint, the state charges "Mrs. Hoppie was operating Bonnie's Wisconsin in Twin Falls and had assets and resources in excess of $500 as permitted by department regulations. She was receiving benefits on the basis of total permanent disability."

Balance needed in plan

By BONNIE BARR JONES
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS—Norman Berg, associate administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, Washington, D. C., told Magic Valley Soil Conservation District leaders Monday night well balanced land-use plans are a must in every county and district.

He held the annual divisional meeting of Soil Conservation officials from 11 Magic Valley districts land-use planning is not new.

"It is our business and the reason we have been in business the past 20 years is to help you remember the conservationists."

About 160 persons attended the annual divisional meeting at the cafeteria of the College of Southern Idaho Monday night. Carol Kidd, BCCS served as master of ceremonies.

Awards presented included the most outstanding district award to the North Side Soil Conservation District, Jerome.

Decisions in land use must originate with the people," he said. "Decisions must be made in the open so the people know what goes on and so they have an opportunity to describe the future of their own land and the public land in their areas."

"We must develop plans sensitive to the needs of the environment. These plans must provide for resources that will have a profit. They must also protect the prime agricultural producing lands to allow for the production of fiber and food needed by our growing population," Berg said.

Berg said federal legislation is needed which will allow each area to maintain its own land-use plan based on the needs and desires of the people of those areas. He told the conservationists that land-use plans are not adopted based on local needs; they will have to live with federal land plans.

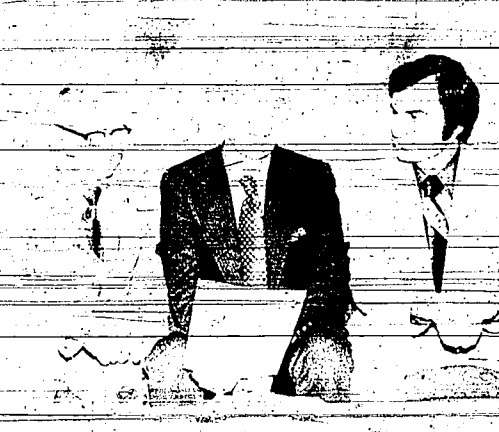

Idaho is unique, he said, in that they have an excellent position for resources and low population where new plans can be most effective.

Voters to decide on bond issue

TWIN FALLS—The polls are open today and voters to cast their ballots on the $4 million construction program at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The proposed renovation and expansion program would take three years to complete and add about 400 beds to the present hospital.

Bonds would mature in 20 years and would mean a yearly mill levy of between 1.0 and 2.0 mill on property owners.

The construction plan is basically similar to one adopted by a former mayor in February has been out primarily to pay patient care areas because of inflationary cost increases.

In fact, the proposed bond issue would provide for the enlargement and modernization of the emergency room facilities to upgrade emergency care and eliminate the space squeeze now a problem.

Suit names dairy firm

ROSE CITY—A Sunpoint dairy products distribution company has filed a $100,000 lawsuit against the Caronation Co. accusing it in federal court of trying to monopolize the sale of dairy products.

Emerald Empire Distributors, Inc. Fred Merrill and Arthur Sarty brought the action.

The lawsuit implicates Caronation in their complaint. Merrill and Sarty, former employees of Caronation, say they formed the distributing company at the request of Caronation to handle the collection and delivery of milk products to retail outlets in the area.

Their suit says they were given exclusive

Primary danger to US is three-party system

Vote today

One ironic thing about an election is that people who do not vote can be as decisive in an election's outcome as are those who do vote. This is especially true during off-year elections. The John Democratic Party is engaged in an all-out drive to get the Democrat vote out. Traditionally a smaller percentage of Democrats vote in an election than do Republicans, so a small turnout often helps the Republicans.

But this year there are many turned-out Republicans, those fed up with what they feel is the betrayal of Watergate, and the treatment Nixon received at the hands of his political foes. This year many of these disillusioned Republicans won't vote. Hopefully a large number of people from each political persuasion will cast ballots today. No matter who wins and loses, the legitimacy of an election varies with the number of people who voted in the contest. In a democracy, the larger the turnout the stronger the political system. The polls will remain open until 6 p.m. Please vote if you have not done so.

To the polls

Christian Science Monitor
 The political climate is anything but electric as Americans go to the polls to elect a new House of Representatives, a third of the Senate, and 36 governors. Political forecasters suggested this election may see the lowest turnout in nearly 50 years since the Great Depression. Every election is important and this one no less so, for it will bring to the fore fresh political figures who will set the tone of American leadership in the post-Watergate era. Yet disillusion with the state of politics is running high in the aftermath of Watergate and the economic malaise that is the disasteful state of the economy. The campaigning has been lackluster and unimpressive, with candidates avoiding debate over fact issues and often offering unclear cut choices or remedies. President Ford does not appear to have made much impact on behalf of his party, even in the Midwest. The pardon of Richard Nixon has proved a major stumbling block. The inability of Watergate and his cautious economic program has not caught fire with the public.

Editor, Times-News: I didn't really believe the derisive references I had heard about the typical "liberal mentality" stereotype until I started reading the letters page in the Times-News.

That is in effect exactly what one distinguishes the liberal from slanting in editorial cartoons when the philosophy did not parallel his own political ideas.

Editor, Times-News: First of all, I should like to extend an apology to Commissioner Wisconsin for the Twin Falls county meeting. I was personally attended at one of the Twin Falls meetings at 10:15 a.m. on Monday evenings at 2 p.m. and am not the most outspoken person there.

There is plenty of input at these meetings by women and men, but we still hope for a better percentage. But our good ideas coming of these meetings.

As a former Kimberly resident (8 years) and one president of the PCA for Kimberly School, I should like to personally extend an invitation to all persons who are or are not interested in this point, to come to these meetings for I can assure you that it will affect YOU and your family.

By NORMAN KEMPSTER Editor Washington Star-News WASHINGTON The real significance of President Gerald R. Ford's 21-state impact tour may be less his impact on Democrats' and Republican elections than its effect on his expected campaign for a full term in two years.

As a dry run for the month-long Ford on behalf of Republican candidates, says one observer, it is the President. It spotlighted his strengths and weaknesses as a campaigner and gave him a firsthand introduction to the voters in several key states.

Having reached the White House without conducting a nationwide campaign, Ford clearly needed the practice. The President was his best as a campaigner when he was just a congressional candidate.

Apologizes

Editor, Times-News: First of all, I should like to extend an apology to Commissioner Wisconsin for the Twin Falls county meeting. I was personally attended at one of the Twin Falls meetings at 10:15 a.m. on Monday evenings at 2 p.m. and am not the most outspoken person there.

There is plenty of input at these meetings by women and men, but we still hope for a better percentage. But our good ideas coming of these meetings.

As a former Kimberly resident (8 years) and one president of the PCA for Kimberly School, I should like to personally extend an invitation to all persons who are or are not interested in this point, to come to these meetings for I can assure you that it will affect YOU and your family.

By NORMAN KEMPSTER Editor Washington Star-News WASHINGTON The real significance of President Gerald R. Ford's 21-state impact tour may be less his impact on Democrats' and Republican elections than its effect on his expected campaign for a full term in two years.

As a dry run for the month-long Ford on behalf of Republican candidates, says one observer, it is the President. It spotlighted his strengths and weaknesses as a campaigner and gave him a firsthand introduction to the voters in several key states.

Having reached the White House without conducting a nationwide campaign, Ford clearly needed the practice. The President was his best as a campaigner when he was just a congressional candidate.

Washington (UPI) — In normal election years, the party in power appeals to voters by saying, "your vote is so important." But this time a vague memory of more placid times in 1971.

Hidden Hunt memo found after 2 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A memo by E. Howard Hunt about promises of cash money and pardons for the Watergate burglars has come to light after a delay of two years.

Chief trial prosecutor James F. Neal revealed it Monday, calling it a "bombshell" that surprised him as much as anyone.

The memo, written in 1972, was expected to spell trouble for the five defendants now on trial and for Washington lawyer William O. Birmingham, who withdrew it from investigators until last weekend.

He had said under oath that he knew nothing about it.

Three FBI agents were to testify today about the alleged files John N. Mitchell and John D. Ehrlichman told them made "easy" jobs of the Watergate investigation to keep the truth from coming out.

The trial was to be delayed a half-hour to give lawyers a chance to vote. "The jury isn't satisfied," he said.

The jury has not yet been told of the longest delay and won't be until Hunt gets back on the witness stand next week to identify it.

"The Watergate" language defendants have followed all instructions meticulously, keeping their part of the bargain by maintaining silence," the memo said.

"The administration, however, remains deficient in living up to its commitments. These commitments were and are: 1. Financial support 2. Legal defense fees 3. Pardons 4. Rehabilitation."

The memo was dated Nov. 14, 1972, one week after J. Edgar Hoover's landslide re-election victory and contained a pointed reminder that Watergate was "only one of a number of highly illegal conspiracies" members of the highest echelon had engaged in "at the behest of senior White House officials."

"Having received from prosecution euphoria," the memo said, "the FBI investigation should now attach high priority to keeping its commitments and taking all appropriate action on behalf of the defendants."

Legally, the Nixon campaign staff was to meet the defendants' demands and warned that "bait measures will be unproductive."

The memo should not be misinterpreted as a threat, the memo concluded. "It is understood that the administration has always been a 'two-way street'."

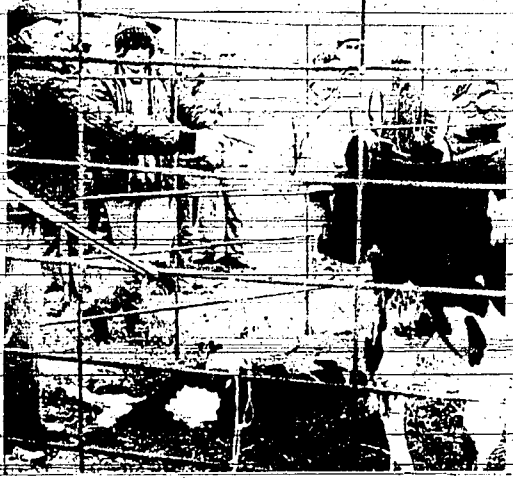

Hunt, sentenced to prison for his role in Watergate, revealed the memo last week, saying he sent it to Nixon campaign lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson, now one of the cover-up defendants.

He said no copies were made and he didn't know what had happened to it. The prosecution said they didn't know either.

But Monday, Neal said two members of Birmingham's former law firm had come to him Friday afternoon after reading Hunt's testimony and said they had seen the memo in May last year. Only to find it now missing.

On Saturday, Neal said Birmingham has been named an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate and buried the document.

TAKING AIM with pistol is Harold Goller, Brainerd, Minn., farmer who participated in livestock slaughter Monday to protest low prices received for animals. About 100 calves and small pigs were killed there, others in North Dakota. (UPI)

Farmers slaughter stock to protest low returns

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Minnesota and South Dakota farmers held on their cattle, hogs and sheep at a large ranch Monday and then shot them down to publicize high production costs and low market prices for livestock.

"We don't like to do this but it will keep hogpepping until farmers receive production costs and reasonable living costs from their animals," said Harold Goller, a rural Mafley, Minn., farmer.

But the National Farmers' Organization has come up with what it calls a "humanitarian alternative" to the animal slaughter.

KY, residents were the first beneficiaries of the program.

The NFO gave away live calves to persons who pledged they would maintain the animals to at least six months.

Farmers laughed as the city dwellers struggled to drag obese calves to their city homes.

"This is the most un-Love I've had in a long time," said one onlooker.

But in Philadelphia, the mood was grim and

New report raps FTC

(C) Washington Star-News

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the Federal Trade Commission's most critical reports against the FTC five years ago by two highly critical and out-published studies was still valid today.

The latest study, a 100-page document, attacked by the House commerce and finance subcommittee, concludes that not only has the commission's output dropped sharply but that the agency's cases are not getting through to make up for the decreased number.

"Particularly in these times of skyrocketing consumer prices," King "the American public needs the greatest protection." "I am disappointed with the study finding that there has been little progress in terms of increased enforcement of FTC's orders," said Rep. John Moss, D-Calif.

Moss, who chairs the House subcommittee, said that the same criticisms leveled against the FTC five years ago by two highly critical and out-published studies was still valid today.

These studies, undertaken in 1969, were prepared by the American Bar Association and a Ralph Nader task force. Some of their criticisms "remain valid" — five years later, Moss said.

The commission itself came under attack in the latest report, which concludes that the five members are "not exercising an adequate leadership role."

The agency's Bureau of Consumer Protection, for example, issued 120 complaints in 1971, 105 in 1972, 99 in 1973, and only six in the first nine months of 1974.

Ex-students face KSU trial summons

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Prosecutors say they will call several former Kent State students, this week, to testify how they were wounded by national guard troops in 1970.

Four persons were killed and four injured in the incident.

These former Kent State students provoked the shooting by the guardsmen, including eight former soldiers on trial for illegally violating the civil rights of their victims in the shooting.

The killings, which sparked a protest of the U.S. invasion of Cambodia.

Prosecutor Robert Morphy said he would call the witnesses to testify about the shooting.

Butz, Mart farm aide see food meet accords

(C) New York Times Service

BRUSSELS — Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and Commerce Secretary Farming Commissioner Earl Lardinus said today they foresee "agreement in principle" at the world food conference in Rome this week on a system to build better international food services.

They cautioned during a joint news conference that much follow-up work would be needed after the two-week conference to actually set up the system, but said American and European ideas on its details were "moving closer."

Butz, who talked for three hours with Commerce Secretary Lardinus before flying to Rome, also confirmed U.S. interest in creating a new world food agency to monitor the global food situation.

He indicated such a group, to be headed, should include the Soviet Union and the oil-producing countries. He pointed out, however, although it would not meet until next summer, the Soviet Union is not a member of the Food and Agriculture Organization which is sponsoring the Rome Lardinus said the Commerce Department did not have a proposal for this job, but welcomed a proposal by the head of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Adolfo H. Alvarez, to create a new international organization, the F.A.O. which could be open to the Russians.

In the talks here today, the main topics were long-term grain, dairy, poultry and beef production agreements to regulate commodity trade. Such agreements would be an additional step along with creation of a world stockpiling system, to bring order into the global grain situation.

Butz said the Commerce Department had abandoned its position that a rigid price ceiling should regulate world flows under such accords and was now open to using "softly targets," a term for regulation. The United

On guard

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Armed police patrolled Patna, capital of caste ridden Bihar State, to pacify a riot of a break of violence today during a general strike called by one of the most powerful opposition leaders in India in years.

Jayaprakash Narayan, 72, a disciple of a leader Mohandas Gandhi and a father of India's independence movement against the British in 1947, called the strike to protest the arrest of more than 3,000 of his supporters.

Most of the shops and business establishments in Patna, still ruled by the country's hereditary class system, closed but city traffic was reported normal, according to newsmen who visited the capital.

Reds take posts

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist forces captured the small government outposts and a small army surrounded the American base Highway 4 today, killing one government soldier and wounding eight, field reports said.

All of the outposts were in a small area from 2.5 to 35 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

As each outpost fell to the rebel troops, the survivors fought their way to the government garrison at Chhlong, 20 miles southwest of the capital. But the rebel troops stormed the garrison and overran it after a brief fight, field reports said.

It was not known whether the rebels suffered any casualties in their offensive. It also was not known how many government troops were involved in the withdrawals from the outposts and the garrison.

Elsewhere, field reports said insurgents captured five government soldiers and wounded 40 others in an assault against an important position at Stee Amphol, 15 miles southeast of the capital, the east bank of the Bassac River.

Sre Ampol, which has been under attack for two weeks, is an important link in Phnom Penh's southeastern defense perimeter.

In Saigon, a tropical storm washed out all communications and roads near the port city of Da Nang and forced 250 military aircraft to fly in the northern half of South Vietnam today.

Henry's stance queried

(C) Chicago Sun-Times
WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's public comments on the Arab-Israeli war last year have been sharply challenged on the basis of secret intelligence reports. Intelligence officials in several reports, portions of which were made available to the Chicago Sun-Times, as raising serious questions about Kissinger's explanation of why the war caught him by surprise and why he later recommended a worldwide U.S. military alert.

Kissinger declared at the time that he had been advised by U.S. intelligence before the Egyptian attack 13 months ago that there was "no possibility of hostilities" in the Middle East.

But the intelligence officials called an estimated 700-800 reports of the Egyptian attack in May 31, 1973, that "if the U.S. debate of next week produces no convenient movement in the Israeli-Egyptian impasse, our view is that the resumption of hostilities is a matter which will become a matter of time."

The officials acknowledged that the prediction was not fully fulfilled in the sense that there are reports that Syria is preparing for an attack on Israel, but conclusive evidence is lacking in our view, the political climate in the Arab states argues against a major Syrian move against Israel at this time.

Automakers stockpile supplies

(C) Detroit (UPI) — The nation's automakers are stockpiling supplies to avert a strike that will further cripple the nation's economy and push 1975 model car sales, already down to the poorest introduction in years, even lower.

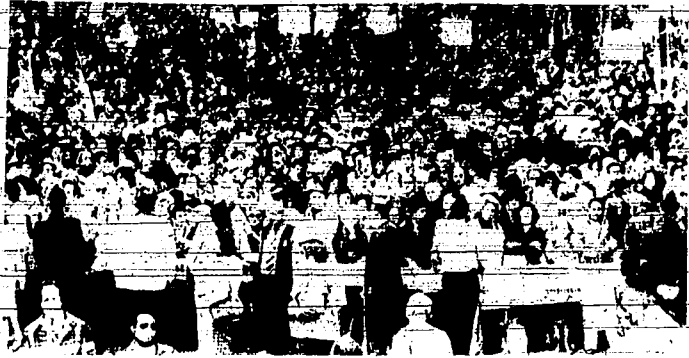

The automakers are stockpiling supplies to avert a strike. Chrysler has a 10-week supply in case of a strike. General Motors has a two-month supply, Ford said. Ford's stock-for-production level is in short supply, though there is a sufficient supply for producing steel.

Motion denied

(C) BIRMINGHAM (UPI) — A motion picture defense attorney to send the FBI Shop murder trial back to its beginning met with failure. The Second District Court Judge John F. Wahlquist denied the motion.

The attorneys representing three black Air Force enlisted men moved for a mistrial Monday after a juror found a napkin inscribed with "hang the niggers."

The court halted revealed the napkin to Wahlquist after the jurors returned from lunch. The napkin also had a picture of a stick figure hanging from a gallows.

Protest rally

PRO-ISRAELI demonstrators — an estimated 1,000-1,500 of them — gathered for rally at Dag Hammarskjold Plaza near the United Nations Monday, protesting the scheduled visit of delegates of the Palestine Liberation Organization to the U.N. (UPI).

Crowd protests PLO invitation

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — More than 10,000 people filled the streets around the United Nations Tuesday in one of the largest demonstrations in New York City's history to protest the invitation to the Palestine Liberation Organization to take part in the General Assembly debate on the Middle East.

The demonstrators, a generally merry group despite the seriousness of the issue, spilled over side streets and avenues and tied up East Side traffic despite the efforts of several hundred police officers.

The crowd heard a speech by Israel's former foreign minister, declare bitterly, "The United Nations, in its present composition and mood, would refuse to support the ten commitments because they came out of Israel."

It also heard Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D. Wash., charge that the invitation to an organization "sustained only by terror" poses the atmosphere for constructive peace negotiations.

The rally, with a speakers' platform at Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, First Avenue and 47th Street, was sponsored by the Conference of Presidents of major American Jewish organizations, a coalition of 32 national groups.

The speakers included Moshe Dayan, the former Israeli defense minister; Moshe Abukhan, D. House of New York; Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Jus. Democratic opponent, in the current campaign, former attorney general Ramsey Clark; Ray Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Lane Kirkland, secretary treasurer of the AFL-CIO; Sister Sue Thuring of the National Coalition of American Nuns; for Roman Catholics, and the Rev. Dr. Arnold Olson, president of the Evangelical Free Church of America.

The demonstration was organized after the General Assembly on Oct. 4 voted 105 to 4, with 29 abstentions to ask the Arab group to take part in a plenary session. The vote was scheduled to start Nov. 11.

It was the first such a vote by the United Nations to a non-governmental body. The demonstrators views were depicted in hundreds of signs: "PLO is murder international" and "U.N. surrenders to murderers." Across the speakers' stand they read: "Humanity against Arab terror" and "Israel yes, PLO no."

It was a well-behaved crowd, applauding approvingly when speakers condemned the PLO.

Ford approves speed-up

(C) Chicago Sun-Times
WASHINGTON — President Ford has approved a speed-up in the delivery of U.S. arms to Israel in the face of a new Soviet ultimatum to Syria and the prospect of resumed Soviet shipments to Egypt.

The speed-up is designed to avoid a repetition of last year's difficult emergency airlift to Israel if war breaks out next spring.

Egyptian officials Monday joined the Israelis and the Palestine Liberation Organization in warning that war is likely if there is a diplomatic deadlock there. The officials, who spoke with authority, had refused to be identified, made it clear that a deadlock would develop unless Israel agrees to deal with the PLO.

They indicated, however, that there would be no need for the Israelis to cut off immediate negotiations with the PLO only to be cut off again from their that way never lost down with the guerrilla organization.

The Egyptian officials acknowledged that they are seeking new Soviet arms, but insisted the request is based on a need to balance U.S. ship ments to Israel. The United States, reportedly agreed last summer, to increase military aid to Israel to $1.2 billion a year. The speeding up delivery was understood to have been approved by Ford Friday after a meeting between Dele. S. Sen. James R. Schlesinger and Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz.

Arguments heard
BOSTON (UPI) — Opponents of the Boston school integration plan told a school panel Monday school officials have "not" treated fairly prompted segregation.

Arguments challenging the ruling that led to the court-ordered desegregation plan for Boston public schools this fall were heard in the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity ruled June 21 the Boston School Committee and city officials "have knowingly carried out a systematic program of segregation affecting all of the city's students, teachers and school facilities."

He ordered a desegregation plan implemented for the fall.

John O'Marck, Boston School Committee attorney, said he would appeal the ruling.

After denying the motion, Wahlquist immediately ordered the Davis County Sheriff's office to investigate the incident. The judge said he would cite the culprit for contempt.

Wahlquist then instructed the jurors to disregard the attempt to influence their judgment. "Any other such foolishness could cause the trial to start over."

The judge said he didn't consider the racial slur as prejudicial to the trial, but said it was "a great wrong."

Attorney Gilbert D. Athay, representing Dale S. Pierre, moved for the mistrial. He immediately joined attorneys for William A. Andrews, 19, and Keith L. Roberts, 20, the other defendants in the case.

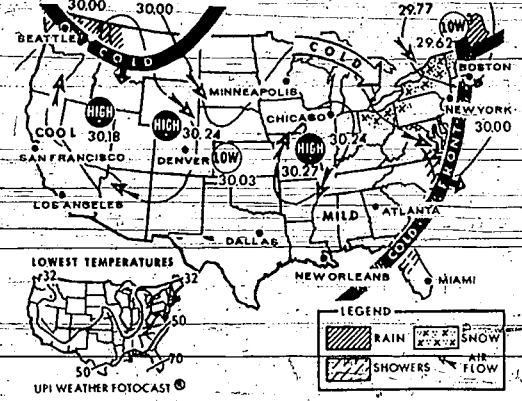

The three Air Force sergeants are charged with three counts each of first-degree murder in the April 22 robbery — slaying at the FBI Shop in Ogden.

Beet harvest near end; crop, sugar content off

By David Bookman
Times News writer

By DAVID BOOKMAN — Most of Magic Valley's sugar beet crop has been harvested.

About 90 per cent of the crop has been harvested, said Ernest Blauer, Beetley-Rupert area, and about 85 per cent of the crop in the Twin Falls area, according to spokesmen of the Amalgamated Sugar Co.

Harvested sugar beets, most of the Magic Valley sugar beet crop.

Ernest Blauer, district manager for the Mini-Cassia area, said this year's beet crop is down by 40 per cent in his district. Blauer estimated 21,000 acres of beets will be harvested as compared to 30,000 in 1973.

Bob Dyer, Twin Falls district manager, said his area's crop was down to about half of last year's crop. Average yields of beets in the Twin Falls district — only 11,000 as compared to 22,000 last year he said.

Blauer said because of "powdery mildew" that has covered the area since August, the sugar content of beets is also down this year. Blauer said in the Mini-Cassia area, sugar content is about normal.

Because of the small sugar crop, the Twin Falls sugar factories will complete their "campaign" event in the time of previous years, according to Dyer.

The Paul Sugar factory and related sugar production work employs about 400 people during the campaign, according to Blauer. The Twin Falls district about 300, according to Dyer.

Less sugar and an increasing demand worldwide is leading to record profits in the sugar industry according to Alton Hantline, public relations director for Amalgamated. These higher profits, are reflected in higher payments made to sugar beet farmers.

The spokesmen for Amalgamated said Blauer stated the 1974 beet crop brought farmers $39 a ton in the Mini-Cassia area. In the Twin Falls area the price was $30 a ton on the average. The 1974 crop should bring an equally high return to farmers, Blauer stated. According to

The extended outlook calls for increasing clouds and a chance of rain in the Magic Valley Thursday or Friday. Daytime temperatures will lower into the 40s and nighttime lows will be in the 30s.

Outlook:
A clearing trend is expected again Saturday and Sunday. The weather maps show a rather vigorous storm system off the Pacific Coast. It is forecast to weaken and move inland starting with its southern fringes brushing across the Magic Valley Thursday or Friday.

Outlook:
Precipitation, if any, should be generally light. Farmers should be able to continue to work in their fields most of the time for the remainder of this week.

Russian order may boost sugar prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Russia ordered up to 500,000 tons of sugar in the open world market Monday, posing the threat of another rise in the global price, sugar trade officials said.

The Soviet move indicates the Russian sugar beet crop is shorter than expected and that Cuba cannot supply Russia's additional needs, said a spokesman for F.W. Dyer & Co., sugar economists and brokers.

The Cuban crop also has been reported as short.

The meteoric rise in sugar prices this year has angered housewives and upset many American businesses heavily dependent on sugar. The average retail price has jumped from 10 cents in January to around 52 cents. But the average is deceptive. Those who buy sugar in one-pound packages may pay 50 cents while the housewife who buys the five-pound bag pays 47 to 48 cents a pound. The popular two-pound package was selling at 57 to 59 cents a pound in New York and New Jersey supermarkets today.

Ironically, the retail price of 47 cents a pound for the five-pound bag of refined sugar is below the 47 1/2 cents a pound spot price for raw sugar quoted Friday. The sugar presently on store shelves came from refiners who bought raw sugar months ago at much lower prices.

Treasury Secretary William Simon said last week he was ordering an inquiry into the sugar price rise, especially in light of the spread between the price of raw sugar and refined sugar.

Although this spread may have increased this year, it is the smallest factor in the overall rise in the price. On Jan. 2, raw sugar was selling at 11.56 cents a pound and refined sugar at an average retail price of 18 cents, a spread of less than 7 cents to cover refining, packaging and both wholesale and retail distributions.

The refiners' own margin at that time was less than a penny a pound, the Dyer spokesman said. The huge increase has been in the price of raw sugar.

With raw sugar now at 47 1/2 cents, it is hard to tell exactly what the gap between that and the price of refined sugar is because both markets are so chaotic, the Dyer spokesman added.

The cause of the rise in sugar prices is primarily the increase in world demand coming from some of the newly prosperous Arab countries and from the European countries like Russia that have had poor sugar harvests, he said.

Union, ACLU fight rule

(c) New York Times Service
SAN FRANCISCO — The United Farm Workers and the American Civil Liberties Union here are fighting a decision by a superior court judge that sharply restricts the union's ability to bring legal action against the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, its rival in organizing field workers.

Last Wednesday Judge Frederick M. Hefner, Riverside County Superior Court in Southern California issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting the union from starting further legal actions against the Teamsters that allege violations of the state labor code in negotiations over contracts with growers.

The ruling was denounced at a news conference here Friday by spokesmen for the farm union and the civil liberties group.

A number of lawyers, in response to a query, said that they had never heard of a judge imposing so broad a restriction on someone's right to sue.

The Farm Workers are boycotting table grapes, lettuce and other crops to their drive to win over workers in these fields whose contracts are controlled by the Teamsters.

Matheny said that he had granted the order so that the Teamsters would not suffer "great and irreparable injury."

The Farm Union has filed a number of suits alleging that the Teamsters add growers entered into "sweetheart contracts" in 1972 and that the Teamsters used "brutality" to intimidate farm union pickets.

Specifically, Judge Matheny ruled that the United Farm Workers could not start or cause to be started in state or federal court in California any suit against the Teamsters based on alleged violations of the California fiduciary law. The ruling also prohibits allegations of conspiracy between Teamsters and growers of fresh produce.

The California Supreme Court ruled in 1972, in a case involving the labor code, that in 1970 lettuce growers invited

Damp slows harvest

BOISE (UPI) — Wet weather slowed the harvest of the season crops in southern Idaho during the week ending Oct. 25, the Idaho Crop and Reporting Service said.

In the north, the moisture retarded germination of fall-seeded crops.

The potato harvest was nearing its end with 95 per cent of the state's acreage dug by the end of the week, the service reported.

The service said sugar beet harvest was at peak activity across the state and nearly one-half of the crop was out of the fields by the end of the week.

Rains temporarily halted apple picking in the south-western portion of the state, the service said, but the harvest is expected to be completed by early November.

Oil exporters' $ reserves take big leap

(C) 1974 New York Times Service

WASHINGTON—The international Monetary Fund reported Monday here an increase in the foreign exchange reserves of oil exporting countries and oil importing trade deficits for all major industrial countries except Sweden and West Germany.

By the end of August, the Fund said, Saudi Arabia whose shipments of more than eight million barrels a day "make her the world's leading oil exporter" and "ranked" fourth place in reserves, from fifth place a year earlier.

The Fund made this observation in a memorandum that accompanied publication of its international financial statistics, which showed that at the end of September, Saudi reserves totaled $11.5 billion.

West Germany remained first with $12.5 billion, followed by the United States with $15.7

billion and Japan $14.2 billion.

The Fund also noted that reserves, which include foreign exchange, gold and balances in the fund had risen rapidly for other exporters.

The Fund also noted that other oil exporters held "large" and "growing" reserves.

Among those it specified were Iran, $6.3 billion, up seven-fold from a year earlier; Nigeria, $4 billion, up almost ten-fold; Venezuela, $3.9 billion, up three-fold; Iraq, $1 billion, up almost four-fold; Mexico, $7 billion, up more than three-fold.

Industrial countries, the principal importers, also registered increases in their international reserves despite deficits in trade, the Fund noted, but generally much smaller "increases." They resulted from "a large ratchet" of oil loans and extensive use of international credit.

This means that through February bank deposits and other mechanisms, the foreign exchange that importers used to pay for oil came back to the importing countries.

The fund said that although "world trade continued to grow rapidly" in the second quarter of 1974, there was only a small increase in the volume of trade—the most important factor inflating trade values was the rise of export prices in general and the sharp advance of petroleum prices in particular, the memorandum said.

It estimated that exports in the June quarter reached an annual rate of $70 billion, up 19 per cent from a year earlier.

Ten countries tracked their currencies in October for special drawing rights at the Fund's new oil financing window. India bought $20 million of the Fund credits and Pakistan $67.4 million. Since the window was established on June 13, 1974, 26 countries have drawn just over $1 billion of special drawing rights.

Viet police kill protestants

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese police yesterday killed at least 100 and injured two people, eyewitnesses told UPI Monday.

The alleged incident occurred Saturday at Binh Truoc village, 20 miles east of Saigon.

An opposition senator, Doan Van Luong, said earlier three people were killed but eyewitnesses said there were two dead, a woman and a 15-year-old youth.

The government said the police were looking for deserters. It said two policemen and one village were wounded, but denied anybody was killed.

The reports were the first of any progress from less than two months of demonstrations against government corruption.

"The woman was shot in the chest, Vu Manh Truoc, a representative of a nearby hamlet, told UPI. A 17-year-old girl who was a Communist Party member was killed.

Eyewitnesses said police fired into a crowd gathered at the Roman Catholic church to protest that land granted to them had been turned over to businessmen with political connections.

The village is populated largely by Catholic refugees who fled North Vietnam two decades ago and by their offspring. They are outspokenly anti-Communist but they also have been increasingly critical of corruption in the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu, a southerner who became a Communist when he was captured.

Police sprayed the crowd with M16 rifle fire when pushing and shoving occurred immediately after the angry 1,000 Catholics were ordered to disperse by townsmen said.

Assassination plot aired

NEW YORK (UPI)—A former KGB officer reported Monday here a plan to assassinate Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and American congressmen to block U.S. rapprochement with Cuba.

Carlos Ivanovitch said he had Havana the anti-Castro movement in the United States also wants to kill American congressmen and the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

Ivanovitch returned to Havana from Miami last week because he said he was disillusioned with the anti-Castro cause and opposed the government of Premier Fidel Castro was intricate.

meeting of the Organization of American States for an end to the hemisphere, blockade against the Communist island.

"They want to assassinate Kissinger and Facho but they have not yet set a time to do it," Ivanovitch said.

He said "revolt" groups want to kill the two diplomats because "they are in favor of ending the blockade and reestablishing relations with Cuba."

These interest groups also are planning to kill several members of Congress that are in favor of reestablishing "diplomatic relations with Cuba."

Ivanovitch said he refused to name the congressmen but said Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Charles McNamara, D-Ill., traveled to Cuba in September to discuss with Castro the possibility of "renewing relations."

Ivanovitch said all the activities of the many terrorist groups are supported by the Cuban government but he gave no details of the alleged link with the rightist military junta in Santiago.

Charges follow holocaust

SEATTLE (UPI)—A survivor accused the owner of a 34-room club today of blocking the exit of Jewish refugees from a burning building during a holocaust.

Police said detectives are questioning the owner and other workers of the Times Hotel and about allegations they blocked the only door for 10 minutes to make sure all bills were paid.

KIM III said one of the first police officers to arrive at the door soon as it heard a shout of fire.

"Club workers blocked the way asking for money for the bills," she said. "There was a stampede toward the door but the owner was standing in the way. The entrance was blocked."

The blaze at Seattle's Dawson office building and hotel complex early Sunday afternoon killed 29 people in the jammed Times Hotel.

About 100 others were injured.

The fire was touched off by a short circuit in a television set in the sixth floor of the seven-story building and spread along the ceiling to the night club.

Police said all 200 inmates fled the club without a burning entrance. The victims were among some 200 persons enjoying a weekend disco dancing session.

The South Korean government fired the area's health chief and the head of the local public health office for failing to supervise nightclubs adequately.

Police also investigated investigations of an electrician and six other building officials for possible negligence.

Fords vote absentee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Ford have already voted by absentee ballot in today's general elections, it was announced Monday.

"We both voted," Ford said while releasing a statement urging every American to vote.

"I hope they're counted. They might be important."

The Fords voted in Grand Rapids, Mich.—the state's 5th district which Ford represented for 25 years before becoming vice president and then President.

Ford undoubtedly cast his vote for Goebel Jr., the Republican candidate seeking to unseat Democratic Rep. Richard VanderVeon. Ford also was supporting Michigan's Republican Gov. William Milliken.

Agency requests overseer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department today proposed that a court appointed trustee be named to oversee the sale of Levitt and Sons, Inc., a building subsidiary of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

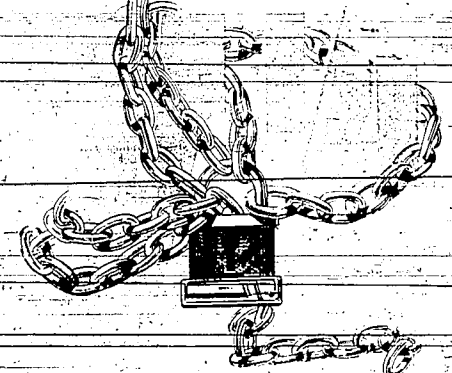

The Justice Department filed the proposal with the U.S. District Court in Hartford, Conn., with $775,000 in assets.

The department said it would suggest the name of a trustee later.

ITT agreed to sell Levitt, Ales, Inc. and the Hamilton Lane Instrument Company to a decree filed Sept. 21 in a consent decree of an antitrust suit that had been filed against ITT by the Justice Department.

The decree gave ITT the right of selling these three subsidiaries at the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

TF hunter survives by 'not panicking'

MAX ARMSTRONG
Lost 4 days

TWIN FALLS—Lost for four days last week in the Cabinet National Forest, Max Armstrong, Twin Falls, survived by "not panicking" and "keeping active."

Armstrong, a salesman for Anderson's Inc. in Twin Falls, became separated from his partner on an elk hunt and lured four days without food, shelter or fire before walking out of the national forest in southeastern Idaho.

"He and his partner, Larry, Bulfucker, Potoclad, horsebacked into the forest last Wednesday morning."

After a four-mile ride, they tied the horses and separated an oak. "When six fell, Wednesday morning there was a skiff of snow but it was fairly clear," says Armstrong. "After the hunters separated, however, the skies started dumping snow and it was fogged in on our hour's time," Armstrong said.

He started back toward the horses when he heard a rifle shot signal from Bulfucker. The signal was intended to serve as a guide back to the horses, according to Armstrong.

"I'm going in further than I should have," says Armstrong. "I got back but I saw my partner that both men were moving without me."

found the horses."

"I thought I was at the horses and I thought the horses at the horses," Armstrong said.

"We were within about one-quarter mile of each other at one time," he said. "But they eventually lost contact."

"About one-half hour before dark I knew I was lost so I started opening up my trail all night," Armstrong said. "I didn't know that I was lost."

"Sinking was from the waist up," Armstrong said that night and two successive nights under "three pine trees" that protected him from the snow.

"The snow let up during the night but the next morning it started heavy again and lasted up to noon," he said.

Armstrong estimated that "an inch of snow accumulated in the area before he made his way out Saturday morning."

"I went out several times from one half to one mile trying to find where I was. Then I would walk back in my own tracks."

He did not see any tracks in the night and only for short periods Thursday and Friday night.

His matches were wet and useless.

"The fog lifted" on Saturday morning and Armstrong "looked out in an east direction, which I felt was the way to go."

"He came across a horse track that was fresh and followed that." After a seven-mile walk, he "came out" to a Wyoming state fish hatchery in Idaho near Webster Creek.

"I was picked up by one of the guys at the hatchery and he drove me to our campsite and the sheriff's posse."

Armstrong then learned that his partner had been lost overnight but walked out the next day.

He said he had "three compasses," "trapped in this area and 20 degrees above zero during his forest experience."

"I learned a lot about survival and not to panic and that saved my life—I made a plan and stuck with it. I kept my strength up and didn't work the deep snow just to be walking."

Conservative candidates vie in TF

In District 21, taking in Twin Falls and the rest of the county, south and west of the city, American Party candidate John Theibert and Democrat Ray Strickland are challenging incumbent senator John Barker.

In the District 18 house race, American party candidate Tom Annett is running against Republicans No Brackett and William Roberts, incumbent for two terms.

In District 25, Republicans T. W. Stevens and Ralph Olmstead, incumbent, and Democrats Bruce Wood Graham and John Walker are vying for two open house seats. No senate race is taking place in the district this year.

Three of the four district 25 candidates are stressing reduced government. Olmstead is centering his race across the board in pay cut, cuts in state and federal taxes. He says the state can make its current tax revenue stretch further. And he poses Olmstead in opposing kindergartens, state supported land use, planning, and the Sunshine Initiative.

Walker, a Democrat, believes that "high spending, huge, unneeded programs" are a key to inflation and a major issue of his campaign. Graham, however, thinks the state should get guidelines for local land use planning and should support kindergartens programs.

In the District 18 race, No Brackett says federal lands in Idaho should be taxed. He opposes federal controls on hunting on public lands. Incumbent Republican William Roberts predicts the state budget will grow at a slower rate next year and spending will have to be reduced.

Incumbent Republican John Barker, district 21, Senate, believes in requiring counties to draw up land-use plans. But control should remain on the local level, he says. He also supports state funding for kindergartens, and modified no-fault insurance plans.

Barker's Democratic opponent Raymond Strickland opposes welfare, calling it socialism. He also opposes kindergartens, federal ownership of parks and forests and the state sales tax.

John Theibert, American Party candidate for the district's senate seat, opposes Idaho's ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment and the Sunshine Initiative, but supports land-use planning and the state's local-level land-use plan as passing. He believes the state should hold advisory elections before the legislature considers U.S. Constitutional amendments.

Burley council reverses decision on rate hike

BY DAVID BOCKMAN
Times News Writer

BURLEY—Members of the Burley City Council reversed a previous decision to double minimum water rates.

Last month the council had voted to prepare an ordinance increasing minimum water rates from $3.50 to $7 a month. However, in the face of strong public reaction, the council has delayed any price increase until a rate study is completed.

The water rate study was awarded to J.B. Engineers at the Monday night meeting. The engineering firm will examine residential water usage, then propose an ordinance establishing a new rate structure.

The new rates will generate increased revenue needed to improve the existing Burley water system. However, the goal in the study is to spread the increased water rates more fairly among all customers.

As originally proposed the higher water rates would have been borne by the smallest water users. Several councilmen said they had reserved their opposition to a rate study that would have been borne by older people living in the town.

The water rate study is to be completed and presented to the council by the first of January.

In other action on the council:

— A book on action on a request by Cable View to allow an increase in television cable rates from $6.25 to $6.50 a month.

— granted a permit to hold an auction to the citizens committee for Cassia County Community School, Anthon.

— accepted the resignation of Steve Rogers, city treasurer.

— approved a request for the Cassia County Commission to alter a site plan for the proposed city county law enforcement building.

— presented Gary H. Prapp, a utility employee, with a certificate making him a sewer operator fourth class.

5 races on Lincoln ballot

BY DAVID BOCKMAN
Times News Writer

SIDWINGHOE—Lincoln County voters will have to make decisions on five state races and two county races on the Lincoln ballot.

District 23 voters will be choosing between candidates for a state senate race and two state representative races.

In the county level, only one county commissioner seat and the office of county assessor are contested.

Republican Walter Robinson, incumbent state senator, is running for re-election in terms in the office, is opposing Democrat Victor Bizzuto for a seat on the county commission.

— Bizzuto, previously served one term as mayor of Sidwingham and runs a furniture business in Sidwingham.

The county assessor's office is being sought by Democrat Anna Louise Robinson, an ex-contest, and Republican Gordon R. Holtzoff, who is also an ex-contest.

Incumbent state senator for district 23, Republican Frank A. York, is being challenged in his office by Mrs. Arthur B. Kishling, Democrat who has served as state president of the Parent Teacher Association.

Other Gooding County incumbents, dismissed in their bid for re-election, are Treasurer Douglas O. Hagan, Assessor Alex Tombsen and Dr. James I. Molcham, former, all Republican, and Pres. My. Andrew E. Jones, Democrat.

Magic Valley

Tuesday, November 5, 1974

Blaine eyes write-in vote

HALLEY—A written campaign for state representative in district 21 began here Saturday with two Ketchum women trying to insert an incumbent Republican E. V. Mellan, Ketchum, and Steve Alfano, Tipton.

Betty Laverty and Jean Terra have organized a 100-house march throughout Blaine and Blaine Counties to gain still undecided votes. Laverty has been in Democratic politics for over 20 years. Terra is currently chairman of the Blaine County Democratic party.

State Sen. John Peavoy, R-Tipton, will run unopposed in this election.

On the county scene, Republican Ken Gustafson, Ketchum physician, is mounting a drive against Democrat Jack Bennett, Ketchum, for county commissioner for the third district.

Democrat "W. W. Andy" Gardner is running unopposed in his bid for re-election as second district county commissioner.

The county treasurer race is close between Republican Idolette Fry and Democrat Lillian Wright. Fry is currently working in the county assessor's office. Wright is deputy treasurer. Incumbent Dorothy Pacey is retiring.

Democratic challenger David Stelling is running against incumbent Republican Deharr Strickland for county assessor.

Running unopposed are Marie Ivie, Democrat, for county clerk and Democrat Tom Campion, Ketchum attorney, for prosecuting attorney.

From registration figures, voter turnout will be better than in the 1972 general election in Blaine County. More than 4,500 residents have registered for today's general election, nearly double the turnout in 1972, according to county clerk, Marie Ivie.

League won't poll watch

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI)—The Pocatello League of Women Voters have agreed that they will not poll watchers in today's general election.

Bannock County Clerk Tom Erickson requested all league representatives to tear up letters authorizing them to be poll watchers after he received protests from the legislative candidates.

"William Barlow and Wayne Lovelless, both Republican candidates for representatives from Pocatello, contended Idaho election laws held that poll watchers must represent a party of a candidate."

Qualified candidate

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI)—Joel D. Hardy, Republican candidate for representative from District 34, has been declared a qualified candidate by the Secretary of State's office.

"His qualifications as a candidate were questioned because he had not been registered in the district for a year prior to becoming a candidate. He registered after the 1974 election."

In a letter to Hardy, the Secretary of State's office said he was "entitled to run for state representative" and held office if elected.

However, the letter said that "final resolution of this conflict is not for this office to decide." It said it should be left to "judicial interpretation."

Andrus' win predicted

Both spokespersons said Gov. Cecil Andrus will win re-election over GOP challenger Jack Murphy.

"Andrus is going to clean it up," Carter said, predicting he will collect 60 per cent of the vote.

Noted: "Murphy's been coming on strong but I suspect Andrus will carry the county by a small margin." Andrus' statewide victory margin will be close but generally predicted.

Not added:— On the lieutenant governor race, "Nah said Republican Vernon Rayvenscroft will be 'very strong... statewide and in the county... he will probably be the leading vote getter in the county."

But Carter predicted that John Evans, Rayvenscroft's Democratic opponent, will ride into office on Andrus' coattails.

"I think Rayvenscroft will carry the county, but I think Andrus will run strong enough statewide that he will pull Evans in with him," Carter said.

George Hanson, Republican candidate for second district congressman, will win "by a very healthy margin" over Democrat Max Hanson, Nah said.

"Carter went out and tall the Hanson-Hanson race. He said it reads: It depends on how many people get out and vote. The more people that vote the better Max's chances are," he said.

Gem posts top Gooding ballot

GOODING—Contests for the state legislature in district 23 head the ballot in today's voting in Gooding County.

Ten of the county's 12 precincts are in district 23, with Bliss and Hagerman included in district 22, comprised of Elmore and Camas counties.

James A. York, Republican incumbent state senator, is being challenged in district 23 by Arthur B. Kishling, Democrat. This district includes Jerome and parts of Lincoln County as well.

Republicans John J. Brooks and Gordon R. Holtzoff are vying for the two state representative posts with Anna Louise Robinson and Richard B. Strickland, Democrats. All four candidates are new voters.

On the county level, incumbent county commissioners John LeMoine, Republican, and Nelson R. King, Democrat, are challenged by George J. Linn, Democrat, in the second district, and Bob Barks, Republican, in the third district.

County Clerk Margaret F. Clement, Democrat, is opposed by Republican Merle Owsley, Republican.

Other Gooding County incumbents, dismissed in their bid for re-election, are Treasurer Douglas O. Hagan, Assessor Alex Tombsen and Dr. James I. Molcham, former, all Republican, and Pres. My. Andrew E. Jones, Democrat.

Only 1 Camas contest

FAIRFIELD—Camas County voters have but one contest in today's election—the race for third district county commissioner.

Marvin France, Republican, and Earl Wilson, Democrat, are vying for the post, vacated by John Humphreys, who did not seek re-election. Both men are farmers.

L. W. Baldwin, Democrat, is unopposed in his bid for re-election in the second district. Other unopposed candidates are Clerk George Gill, Republican; Treasurer Loy J. Vansickle, Democrat; Assessor Edward W. Reagan, Democrat; and "Pross" Artie—John T. Varin, Republican.

Jerome School Board suspends teacher

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times News Writer

JEROME—The Jerome School board Monday suspended sixth grade teacher Elmer Hicks for allegedly manhandling pupils.

Hicks said today the charges against him are "not true. I haven't struck any student at all."

The charges that have been leveled against him, the board, in a special meeting, approved a resolution of suspension against Hicks. The resolution charges Hicks with continued violation of school rules and regulations and angrily inflicting corporal punishment upon pupils under his control. It also charges that he is guilty of conduct constituting grounds for revocation of his teaching certificate; incompetency to govern or instruct a class; and conducting himself in an unprofessional manner, creating a feeling of fear among his pupils, humiliating and harassing students in class, discriminating in the treatment given children and pupils, showing favoritism towards girls and giving them help and advantages over boys, failing to report disciplinary problems to the principal, that he spends too little time assisting pupils who need help, fails to teach reading skills, insufficient student-teacher interaction, too much time spent on notebook work and demands that pupils take part in the presence of pupils during class periods.

Hicks was suspended from his teaching position Thursday, Oct. 31, but said today that as of this morning, he had not received the resolution of suspension the board passed Monday night. He received the resolution, Hicks said, five days in which to request a hearing which the trustees must set for a date within 15 days of the request.

Van Orman said, "If Hicks and his attorney can prove that the charges against him are wrong or if the district fails to prove the charges made against him, the district may have to restitute him."

Ten allegations have been made against Hicks by parents and students, over which physical punishment has been allegedly inflicted on several students. The allegations, listed in the resolution include:

— That on Oct. 3, 1974, Hicks grabbed a pupil, Terry Williams, by the neck and shook him.

— In the spring of 1974, in a hallway of Jerome grade school, Hicks grabbed a pupil, Chris Trappen, by the front of his shirt, pushing him against the wall and striking him on the chin with his clenched fist, which was witnessed by other students.

— In the early fall of 1973-74, on the playground—in the presence of other pupils, striking a pupil, Kevin Gould on the chin, leaving a bruise mark.

— On the 1st day of the 1973-74 school year, on the playground, reportedly grabbed Rod Griffith by the neck and choked him.

— During the 1971-72 school year, in the rest room, grabbing a pupil, Rod Griffith, by the shirt, shaking him, and pushing him out of the rest room.

— On Dec. 14, 1972, in the hallway, grabbing Rod Griffith, by the front of the shirt, shaking him and threatening to strike him.

— In the fall of 1973-74, in his classroom, in the presence of other pupils, striking Dwayne Flynn over the head with a book.

— In the spring of 1974, in the hallway, witnessed by other students in the lunch line, grabbing Dwayne Flynn by the hair and shirt front and shaking him.

— In the classroom, in the presence of other pupils, striking Dwayne Flynn by the shirt, raising his clenched fist and threatening to strike him.

— During the first semester of 1970-71, ordered Rod Morgan to leave the classroom, grabbing him by the neck, leaving bruises on his back, pushing him against the wall and shaking him, casing his head to hit the wall several times.

Only 1 Camas contest

Camas voters also have a chance for district 22 state legislators. The district includes Camas and Elmore counties, two Gooding County precincts and one from Twin Falls.

J. Wilson Stein, Republican incumbent, is opposed by Ray Blair, Democrat, for the Senate seat. State representative candidates Virgil Kraus and Charles Lee Ragan, Republicans, are opposed by Bernard L. Brown and Karl Koch.

There is no candidate for corner in Camas County, and none was elected last election. Magistrate Charles Packman was appointed to the post by county commissioners and has served in that capacity the past two years.

today in brief

GOP open house tonight

TWIN FALLS—An open house tonight at Republican headquarters along with a special election coverage and returns were announced today by Earl Noh, Twin Falls County Central Committee chairman.

The said retro-spectals will be served and election reports available from multi-network coverage. All present county thirteen party workers, candidates, news media and other interested persons are invited to attend.

Trouble mounts for Schroeder

BOISE—Trouble is increasing for Jerry Wayne Schroeder, former director of the state's highway beautification project.

Two weeks ago, Schroeder was charged with three counts of obtaining money under false pretenses and seven points of attempting to obtain more funds and pretenses.

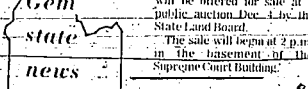

Monday, an amended complaint was filed against Schroeder, charging him with 18 felonies. The amended complaint alleges he presented fraudulent accounts when he submitted a voucher to the state for payment of funds to Media Vista, a private relations firm involved in the allegedly illegal sale of highway advertising signs to the state.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Nov. 29.

Land sale set

BOISE (UPI)—Three parcels of land near Interstate 200 and Vista Avenue in Boise will be offered for sale at a public auction, Dec. 4, by the State Land Board.

The sale will begin at 2 p.m. in the basement of the Supreme Court Building.

League won't poll watch

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI)—The Pocatello League of Women Voters have agreed that they will not poll watchers in today's general election.

Bannock County Clerk Tom Erickson requested all league representatives to tear up letters authorizing them to be poll watchers after he received protests from the legislative candidates.

"William Barlow and Wayne Lovelless, both Republican candidates for representatives from Pocatello, contended Idaho election laws held that poll watchers must represent a party of a candidate."

Qualified candidate

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI)—Joel D. Hardy, Republican candidate for representative from District 34, has been declared a qualified candidate by the Secretary of State's office.

"His qualifications as a candidate were questioned because he had not been registered in the district for a year prior to becoming a candidate. He registered after the 1974 election."

In a letter to Hardy, the Secretary of State's office said he was "entitled to run for state representative" and held office if elected.

However, the letter said that "final resolution of this conflict is not for this office to decide." It said it should be left to "judicial interpretation."

55-60% voting seen

BOISE (UPI)—Secretary of State Pete T. Coatsman predicted Monday that the vote in today's general election would be 55 to 60 per cent of the 400,000 eligible voters.

Coatsman said he was among the state to certify computer ballot-counting programs in counties using punched ballots showed him that there was "more interest than earlier predicted among the voters."

As a result, he said, the percentage of his prediction could go higher.

Reverse site preferable

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI)—The Mountain Home Chamber of Commerce wants a proposed coal-fired power plant located at Reverse, about seven miles southeast of here, rather than at Oriskany.

Ron Brown, chamber member and president of the Elmore County Development Co., said the Reverse site is preferable because it would mean the plant would be built entirely in Elmore County and thus give the county a broader tax base. He said the Oriskany site would include part of Ada County.

Reverse is a coal-loading dump near the Union Pacific Railroad tracks.

Field goal helps Rams slip past San Francisco 15-13

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — David Ray, who faked an PAT attempt, booted a 20-yard field goal in the 20th minute of the final quarter Monday to give Los Angeles a 15-13 lead but San Francisco came back with Steve Braden's 37-yard touchdown pass to tie the game in the 24th minute. The "Sun" Game Washington for the touch-down lead but San Francisco only two points back with almost seven minutes remaining.

The "piece" recovered at half-time Larry McCaffrey of their own 42 with a little more than four minutes left to play but on the second play of that drive—Los Angeles linebacker Jack Hartson intercepted a pass from Snead and the Rams then ran out the clock to preserve their fourth straight victory.

Tony Baker ran one yard and James Harris passed to Steve Toth. Clint McEwen and first-half touchdowns but Ray failed to convert after each score. On the first he couldn't handle a low snap and was caught short

Metcalf's injury hurt Cards effort

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — After all his hopes this season for the St. Louis Cardinals, Fredj Metcalf made his presence most known when he was on the lineup.

The second-year running back, still out of full speed Sunday against Dallas and rushed for 53 yards as the Cardinals scored on their first possession and appeared certain to win an eighth straight game.

But, card, in his second quarter, the 5-foot-10, 160-pound Metcalf ruptured three blood vessels, he stretched a five-yard run to a 10-yarder. It was a costly five yards for St. Louis.

"I just carried too many people on my back," said Metcalf, nursing a groin injury after the game.

"His absence was all too obvious. With the speedy offense that he had, the Dallas defense hounded him and cut down the Cardinals' passing game. Quarterback Jim Hart (5th) had been thrown for losses only twice in the seven previous games, he sacked three times and fumbles, used a held goal with four seconds remaining to stop the Cardinals' victory streak with a 47-14 win.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, said that a cut in Metcalf's running out of the field had to mean a lot. They built their whole offense around him.

Metcalf had proven a solid cornerstone power in the game with a 100-yard run-offense to lead the National Football League. The break down of the 116 plays he had

Coach adds new sports cliché

By United Press International
STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Jim Stanley of Oklahoma State may have added a new cliché to a coaches' lexicon Monday in discussing his team's 22-12 victory over Kansas last Saturday.

"We had a lot of adversity to overcome and we are very thankful we won," he said.

"We played against a good team and if we had not played well, we could have lost."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Aight challenge issued by Coach Norm Van Brocklin of the Atlanta Falcons to a sportswriter has produced quick action by Larry Fox, president of the Professional Football Writers of America.

Fox's writer with the New York News, said he will file a complaint with National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle as a result of Van Brocklin's challenge to Atlanta Journal sportswriter Tom Dempsey during a news conference on Monday.

Green moves up on PGA ranking

ATLANTA (UPI) — Norm Van Brocklin is being enough to interfere. When things are going his way, but when the "Dutchman" is in trouble, give him plenty of elbow room. The "Dutchman" is in trouble now. His Atlanta Falcons are being outplayed after taking their worst shutout in 14 years this past Sunday at Miami and the critics are clamoring for Van Brocklin's head.

The Atlanta Falcons have not had a losing season since 1970 and their 9-5 mark last year established them as a solid NFL club. The Falcons, encouraged by a 4-2 pre-season showing, were thinking "playoffs" at the start of the campaign.

That's why it really came as no big surprise when Van Brocklin just his cool Monday and after a full night, a sports-writer he felt was pushing him too hard.

Not even their most "sporty" critics "increased" the Falcons were to be virtually obliterated from playoff contention to mid-season.

The Falcons simply haven't generated an offense that full-quarterback Bob Lee has been only a shadow of the general, who directed the Falcons to seven straight wins last year, the "Dutchman" has been spotted, and Atlanta's top two runners, Dave Hamilton and Art Malone, are only recently off the injury list.

Marion Campbell, the Falcons' defensive coach. A former Van Brocklin defensive tackle at Philadelphia, who assisted the Falcons last season, and then rejoined him in Atlanta in 1980, Campbell has built the Falcons' defense into the NFL.

Portland Storm will play game

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Portland Storm players, who have not been paid for the past two games, decided Monday to play a World Football League game on Thursday. The players' labor union said they would play at Orlando and would not practice until the back pay situation was settled.

The Orlando game was originally set for Wednesday, but was rescheduled for Thursday night. The Portland club will leave Wednesday by chartered plane and return right after the contest Thursday.

MENSA O - That outfit called "Mensa" supposedly only accepts members with 1.0 in the top 2 per cent of the general population. What's "Mensa" mean? A - That's the latin word for table.

WHA? YOU can name the only U.S. president who never married? Say James Buchanan - FOUR to one that's the ratio of men-to-women who get ulcers, please note - IT'S AGAINST THE LAW in India to fly an airplane over the L.A.M.I.ah, remember that.

HIGHEST Certainly you know the highest mountain in North America is Mt. McKinley. And the highest in Africa is Kilimanjaro. And the highest in Asia is Everest. But were you aware that the highest mountain in South America is Aconcagua? And in Europe, Elbrus? Neither was I.

AGAIN am asked to identify the original Greyhound bus - that was a 1974 seven-passenger Greyhound built during the wars by the towns of Hibborn and Alice in Minnesota.

WIFE - the mothers-in-law visit, the kids catch cold. Frequently, frequently. Or so a California physician reports. Clearly, a mental matter. And if it's not a cold, the offspring suffers, it may be head back at headache, or severe insomnia. Why mothers-in-law continue to be blamed in this matter is beyond me.
