today in brief

Slide traps thousands in mine
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A mild rush trapped between two and three thousand black miners underground today at a platinum mine 100 miles northwest of here, a Union Corporation mine spokesman said today.

Wreath placed
LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II, dressed in black and wearing a red poppy, laid a memorial wreath at the Cenotaph, a stone column dedicated to British war dead, in observance of Remembrance Day.

Thousands of persons stood in silence for the ceremony as the Queen struck at 11 a.m. Despite tightened security against possible bomb attacks, Scotland Yard reported no incidents.

Israelis bomb Lebanese targets

By United Press International
Israeli warplanes struck Arab guerrilla targets in southeast Lebanon today for the first time in seven weeks, the Israeli military command announced.
The spokesman said the raids came at 4 p.m. (7 a.m. EST) and lasted a few minutes.
It was the first Israeli air strike against the northern frontier since Sept. 25, when air force planes hit targets in the Mazraa Beit Nafal area in a 30 minute operation.

Monitor asked

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. James Buckley (R-N.Y.), who wants the U.S. to monitor Soviet emigration policies, met Sunday with dissident Soviet physicist Andrei Sakharov.
The two men discussed the reported agreement by the Kremlin to relax emigration restrictions, and Sakharov said Buckley's plan is "a very important idea."

OAS delegates agree on compromise

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — Delegates to the Organization of American States conference on Cuba early today agreed to a compromise formula that would let each western hemisphere nation decide whether to lift or maintain its own embargo against Cuba.
The compromise formula was expected to have the backing of more than the 14 votes needed to end the Cuban embargo, imposed by the OAS on the Fidel Castro regime in 1960.

Suspect held

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — David W. Heesch, 34, is the suspect in federal custody in connection with the $1 million bank extortion plot against the Bonneville Power Association.
Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested Heesch and his wife and charged them with sending a letter containing the threat to black out Portland through the mails.

High court upholds indictment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to consider arguments by Watergate cover-up defendant H.R. Haldeman that he and four codefendants were indicted illegally.
The justices declined to hear Haldeman's appeal of lower court decisions upholding the indictments. The Watergate cover-up trial today began its sixth week in U.S. District Court.
Haldeman had contended that the Watergate grand jury which indicted him was illegally sitting past the normal 18-month grand jury term. He said the charges against him should be dismissed.

MIA status law wins court nod

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court held today that the Defense Department must give relatives of servicemen missing in action some rights before the men are declared dead, but refused to overturn the entire law regulating changes in status.
The justices merely affirmed, without opinion, the decision of a three judge court.

UN bars visitors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Nations in New York City finds gate padlocked as part of tightened security procedures in preparation for arrival of Palestinian "delegates" for debates on the Palestinian question before the UN Wednesday. Closure of UN kept out all weekend visitors.

Haldeman claim upheld; Sirica denies mistrials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John Sirica ruled today that defendant H.R. Haldeman's possible reference on June 23, 1972 to "Gemstone" — the code word for the Watergate bugging — will be read as "unintelligible" in transcripts given to the Watergate cover-up jury.
Sirica also denied motions by former Attorney General John N. Mitchell for a mistrial and by Kenneth W. Parkinson to a separate trial in the cover-up proceedings.
Sirica handed down the rulings at the start of the fifth week of the conspiracy trial of five former aides and associates of President Richard M. Nixon: Singer-Johnny Cash, a friend of chief trial prosecutor James F. Neill, was among the spectators in the crowded courtroom.
Sirica's ruling was a victory for Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff whose lawyers contended he never used the "Gemstone" during his tape-recorded White House conversation with Nixon on June 23.

They said the word on the transcript should read "convention" or "devoction" or at least "unintelligible."
The word was crucial to Haldeman's defense because the conversation took place only six days after the arrest of the Nixon's campaign operatives inside the Watergate headquarters of the Democratic National Committee. Thus it could have been construed that Haldeman was already aware of the Gemstone operation at that time.
The June 23 tape is one of about 26 such recorded conversations which the jury has yet to hear. Transcripts also were prepared for the jurors.

Rocky faces Senators in nomination hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller appears before the Senate Rules Committee this week to discuss the nearly $2 million he gave to political associates and a campaign biography of an opponent — two issues which have threatened his confirmation as vice president.
The once "safe" nomination of Rockefeller, 66, is believed in jeopardy.
Televised hearings open Wednesday and Rockefeller is the first of 15 witnesses. His brother Laurence, who said he paid $60,000 to finance the book about Arthur Goldberg, and others connected with the book also will testify.
Goldberg, also listed as a witness, ran against Rockefeller for governor of New York in 1970. Victor Lasky's derogatory book was published and distributed as a campaign document. Rockefeller said he had no knowledge of his brother's involvement, but now has assumed full responsibility for it.
The House Judiciary Committee is expected to hold its own hearings after Congress returns next week.
A number of past and present Rockefeller lawyers are on the witness list, and they may be questioned about the family fortune.

Rockefeller has provided considerable detail about his immediate family, which has $218 million, mostly in trusts, but he has not given any details of the family's wealth, said to exceed $1 billion.
A number of senators are particularly anxious to question William J. Ronan, head of the New York-New Jersey Port authority, who received $625,000 — most in the form of loans which Rockefeller later forgave.
Also scheduled to testify is former Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, who got an $84,000 loan from Rockefeller and paid it back before joining the Eisenhower administration.
Other Rockefeller gift recipients are author Emmet John Hughes, who received a $55,000 gift, and two New York Housing officials, Edward Logue and Moses W. Grayson.
Not called was Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who received a $60,000 gift from Rockefeller when he resigned as the Rockefeller family foreign policy advisor to accept a similar post in the Nixon administration.

2 Arab nations offer food aid

ROME (UPI) — Libya and Kuwait, two of the world's major oil producing nations, today promised part of their petroleum-rich oil budgets to help underwrite a $1-billion investment program for poor nations providing the superpowers halt their spending on wars.
Libya and Kuwait presented their positions on the growing hunger crisis in the world to 1,250 delegates at the World Food Conference in Manila Monday.
Agriculture Minister said Libya was ready "to allocate part of its oil income for international investment in agriculture projects of developing countries but only on condition that the big powers abandon their unlimited spending on wars."
Kuwait, which has the world's highest per capita income, pledged to donate 5,000 tons of fertilizers to developing nations and said it was ready to increase its contributions to financing agricultural projects.

The Kuwait spokesman was Saleem al-Mannar, Under-Secretary for Agricultural Affairs.
The United States and other developed nations have partly blamed the world food crisis on oil price increases which have skyrocketed the price of fertilizer.
The Arab oil producers have denied the oil price hikes had anything to do with hunger.
As the conference went into its second half, the only point of disagreement among the 130-nation attendance was that there is, indeed, a hunger problem in the world.
Most nations have used the rostrum to defend their own national policies and point accusing fingers at political enemies since the talks began Nov. 5 with a speech by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.
"We are getting nowhere fast," one conference official said. "Unless there is a dramatic about-face in the last days, there will be no decisions made and the conference will fail."
Political bickering has marred the conference from the opening day, when developed and developing countries clashed on the composition of committees, losing a full day in wrangling.
When the committee on increasing world food production finally met, delegates submitted 50 amendments to the original draft report.
Rather than debate all 50, the committee scrapped the entire report and started from scratch. Another day was lost.
About half the delegates have addressed the conference so far. But many delegation leaders have already flown home although the talks run until Saturday.
The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization sponsor of the conference, tried to make up for delays by scheduling day and night sessions last weekend. But low attendance killed the day sessions and cut the length of the night talks.
On Friday evening, debate was halted because a cocktail party outside the conference hall had drawn away most of the delegates.

Lone gunman robs station

TWIN FALLS — A lone hand with a stretch type mask covering his face held up the attendant at the Maverick Self Service station at 364 Washington Street Sunday night and made off with about $800.
Chief of Police Frank Barnett said the man walked into the station about 9:30 p.m. Sunday while one attendant was on duty and demanded the money. He said the robber brandished a revolver.
Before leaving he ordered the attendant to lie down on the floor, Barnett said. Officers do not know of the robber's possible means of transportation.
This is the second armed robbery in Twin Falls in recent weeks. The first occurred a few days ago at Jan's Lounge, where two men wearing Halloween masks robbed the bar of more than $100.
The Maverick station was also robbed earlier this year, Barnett said.

Stab victim fair

TWIN FALLS — Fay Jones, 50, who suffered a stab wound in the left chest Thursday night, remains in fair condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.
His son, Jimmy Jones, 20, is in the Twin Falls county jail on charges of assault with intent to commit murder. The assault occurred at the victim's home.

Coal miners walk out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nationwide strike by coal miners is set for midnight tonight, but negotiators hope today's last-minute talks will avert the walkout.
Most mines are closed today anyway for the Veterans Day holiday. Those that were open pay overtime at triple time rates.
Today's bargaining does not delay a strike, which is expected to last at least two weeks. It would take about 10 days for miners to ratify a new contract, even if one were approved in today's bargaining. Miners remain on strike during the vote because of a "no contract, no work" policy.
There were some encouraging developments in Sunday's talks.
"We settled, I think, one of the major areas of the contract," Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said. Farmer did not say what dispute was resolved, but he indicated it was a non-economic issue.
Arnold Miller, president of the 120,000 member United Mine Workers of America, said negotiators reached agreement on some issues.
"I think we're moving, I'm hopeful," he said. "We're getting closer. I think it's sort of a compromise on both sides."

TF girl dies from injuries

TWIN FALLS — Lucinda (Cindy) Welles, 12, who suffered head injuries when struck by an automobile Friday, died at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon.
The girl was crossing Addison Avenue at intersection of Ninth Avenue North when Third Street North and Wilmore Street also met.
The Magic Valley Police Department said this is the first pedestrian fatality in the city of Twin Falls in three years.
Witnesses said she walked into the street into the path of a westbound vehicle. Cheryl Jensen, 18, driver of the vehicle told police she did not see the girl until she was almost directly in front of her vehicle.
Police said the girl was tossed into the air by the impact and landed head first on the hood of the vehicle. She suffered massive head injuries. She died Sunday afternoon.
The girl was the daughter of Mrs. Helen Hernandez. Her father, residing in Ardenwood, Bergin Funeral Chapel, Shoshone, will announce services.

Fallout 'line of fire' worries 2 S. Idaho towns

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Concerned about possible air pollution from two southern Idaho communities want out of the "line of fire" from the proposed 1 million-kilowatt coal-fired power plant of Idaho Power Co.
"I think everybody would like to get out of the way," said Ron Brown, Mountain Home, president of the Elmore County Development Corp.
David Messery, mayor of Glenns Ferry, second town, "I don't think we should take a chance on spoiling the environment if there is a suitable substitute," he said.
John Poyser, first vice announced plans to build the plant generating plant near Orchard.

about 25 miles southeast of Boise and upwind from Mountain Home and Glenns Ferry.
Twin Falls also could be in the path of prevailing winds from the Orchard. Ray Basler, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, today said that group "hasn't taken a stand yet" on the power plant.
The Mountain Home Chamber of Commerce has supported construction of the coal-fired plant. Reverse, a site about seven miles southeast of that city.
"I don't think the plant would increase the tax base in the county ... and reduce any possible adverse effects" from air pollution, Brown said.
Brown said his group would oppose the Orchard site. "We're about 20 miles from it," he said, "and, if there are any emissions in the air, this would be the area in which they would begin to fall to the ground."

"It would put us in a vulnerable zone," he added. "The Reverse site would reduce that vulnerability."
Messery said he is "really disappointed" that Mountain Home advocated the Reverse site. It would put Glenns Ferry directly downwind from the coal-fired plant.
"I was opposed to the power plant in the first place," Messery said today, adding that he will "personally protest" the facility at public hearings.
He said he based his opposition on three points.
"It is not recognized that they need the electricity."

"I'm not in favor of them building this plant to export power to Oregon and other states. It's not sensible to ruin Idaho for other states."
"I feel that if there is a need for additional power they should take a second look at a dam on the Snake River."
Both Brown and Messery said they would support hydroelectric or nuclear power facilities before any coal-fired plant.
Messery said he objects to construction of the coal-fired facility, "anywhere," because "there seems to be an indication that there will be fallout of mercury and sulfur and I'm sure that that would be damaging to the land."
Five members of the Glenns Ferry Chamber of Commerce have expressed support for his stand on the proposed plant, Messery said today.

Jerome choir cited

JEROME — The choir from Jerome High School is one of five Idaho high school choirs invited to participate in a special choral festival on the campus of the College of Idaho in Caldwell Thursday through Saturday.

Carson Wang, Jerome, will direct one segment of the festival's concluding concert. The five choirs will be organized into a 350-voice chorus which will present a public concert in Lewett Auditorium, according to the announcement from James Gabbard, director of choral music at the college.

Chamber singer groups from the five schools will join the College of Idaho Chamber Singers in presenting part of the program. The concert will be held at 8 p.m. on Saturday.

The Jerome students will be housed on the college campus or at the homes of Caldwell High School choir members. The Festival Choir will have their first rehearsals on Thursday evening, and after a fall break rehearsal Friday will be guests at a performance of the opera "Gianni Schicchi," performed in English by College of Idaho students under the direction of Estyn Gross of the college music faculty, after the opera "Richard Richard Skyrin." Chairman of the College of Idaho Music Department will give the students a short demonstration of the capabilities of the college's 3-manual pipe organ housed in the auditorium. This will be followed by a dance in the Student Union for festival participants, with music supplied by the College of Idaho Stage Band under the direction of Richard Miller, Associate Professor of Music.

Other schools participating include Caldwell, Pocatello, Capital, Boise, and Skyline, Idaho Falls.

Children returned

SIX OF seven children who were taken to Africa by divorced parents who remarried were returned to Richmond, Va., Thursday by their parents after a custody fight in Rhodesia. Visible are (from left) Susan Duggan, 9, Virginia Duggan, 7, Kathrine Duggan, 16, and Dennis Wilburn (top left). Surrounded by the children are Mrs. Sybil Duggan Cronc and her husband, Glenn Cronc, "purity modern to fight of Mrs. Cronc." (UPI)

Torture victim gives testimony

FARMINGTON, Utah (UPI) — Green W. Walker Jr., who lived to tell about the 1971 Shop torture slayings, went back on the witness stand today to answer his story challenged by defense attorneys.

Walker, 43, testified for nearly three hours Friday, telling the Second District Court jury how he was shot and strangled by three men in plastic pen kicked into his car and was forced to drink drain cleaner, and how he watched three others die the night of April 22. One of those killed was his 20-year-old son Stanley.

Walker, his voice repeatedly trailing off into sobs, described the ordeal in gruesome detail and pointed out two young black airman as the assailants. Dale S. Pierre, William A. Andrews and Keith Leon Roberts — all entitled men at Hill Air Force Base at the time of the robbery and killings in the Ogden stereo shop — are charged with three counts each of first-degree murder and two each of aggravated robbery.

Walker identified Pierre as the man who shot the five victims, and Andrews as his accomplice. During brief cross examination by Donald Davis, the attorney representing Roberts, Walker said he did not see Roberts the night of the crime, and thought only two men were in the store during his ordeal.

Walker nervously fingered a tussle during Friday's testimony, wiping his eyes each time the mention of his son brought him to tears.

Under questioning by prosecutor Robert Meysey, he told step by step of catching the others die, of hearing the bullets hit and the blood spatter, of hearing the pleas of the victims and the whispered planning of the killers.

Each victim was shot in the head, Walker said, 18-year-old Sherry Miller was apparently sexually molested by Pierre, and Walker, who refused to die, was strangled and had the pen kicked five inches into his inner ear.

Miss Ansley, 20-year-old Stanley Walker, and Mrs. Carol Nalshitt, 52, died. The older Walker and 16-year-old Courtney Nalshitt survived, but the Nalshitt youth has not recovered sufficiently to testify.

At the end of Walker's tale, Meysey had him take off his coat and roll up his right sleeve, showing jurors a series of scars where the drain cleaner he spit out burned his arm.

Energy park idea studied

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Department of Resources is studying the notion of an energy park, which could accommodate all the new power plants in Idaho for the next 50 years.

Warren Reynolds, chief of the State Water Planning Bureau, said an energy park could accommodate the thermal plants, such as the coal-fired steam generating plant Idaho Power Co. plans to build near Boise, as well as nuclear power plants.

The state administrator believes concentration of power plants in a centralized area would reduce environmental damage. The park could be located in a windy area to insure adequate dispersal of air pollutants and on a desolate site to minimize wildlife disturbances.

But there are disadvantages, too. The concentration of power plants might be a national defense risk.

"If there were one state, it wouldn't take much to sabotage the network," Reynolds said. Other disadvantages are the concentration of a tax base, possible violation of anti-trust laws, and the economic impact on a local area.

The energy park concept is still being evaluated, Reynolds said. "Not a great amount of money is being spent on it," he said.

He added "I think it has merit and should be advanced into more detailed study."

Offensive in reverse?

A couple of years ago Jimmy Carson turned suddenly to me, in a general discussion of the drug laws, and asked the point-blank: "Have you ever tried pot?"

"Laid, yes I had. And added primly that I was on my boat, outside the three-mile limit, so that I wasn't breaking any laws. He went on to ask: "Did it do anything for you?" And I replied, "No."

Now as a matter of fact, Carson should not have asked that question. It is in the category of questions you do not ask, like: "Have you ever respected your former boss?" or "Have you ever cheated on your wife?" The question is that you should never ask somebody a question if there is a high probability that the answer will offend the listener. It is to be either a lawyer or a bar cop. There is no such thing as a question on your own side of the fence.

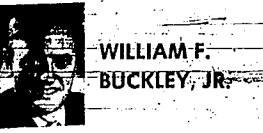

But Carson did ask me, and my reply was truthful. And I have been plagued by it ever since. I seldom address a college audience without somebody bringing it up in some way or other during the question period. Example: "Mr. Buckley, how did you get into your boat in the first place?" (My answer: Parthenogenesis.) Or: "Do you think it's fair that only people who have yachts can smoke pot legally?" (My answer: "Anybody can rent a boat. This country is low as it is. It's bucks a day." The audience is good-humored, mostly because if you are at the time of a college audience, you are talking to a group 70 per cent of which has experimented with pot. College students recognize that to experiment with pot is, essentially, safe, and don't have to "go to jail" for the next ten years if it will impay.

I say extremely safe with sharp reservations, having read the figures for the arrests during 1974, and the projected arrests for this year. These came to 200,000 and a half million, respectively. The figures are appalling, and I pass them along only because there is no reason to distrust the author of them. But what they seem to suggest is that although the typical campus mind is a little more liberal than the rest, hundreds of thousands of them, and a continuation of those preposterous penalties which are indefensible.

It is widely noted that the Senate internal security subcommittee has been transferring a lot of anti-pot material by various channels and methods. It has not even worked out that the head of that committee, the determined Sen. James Eastland, has himself come out against any penalties for the users of marijuana (as distinguished from purveyors of it).

But somewhere along the line, the American public decided not to legalize pot. This conclusion reached, in that opinion on the grounds that the necessary conclusion would appear to be a violation to the counter-culture. But at the same time, American parents reached the conclusion, on a mass reading of it, that they did not desire their 15-year-old boys and girls to be sent to jail for smoking pot, which said parents had every reason to suppose they were experimenting with at school.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

If the actual figures are correct, a half-million arrests there has been a breakdown in communication between the public and the leading opinion-makers on the outside. It is the police the law are trying to effect: the repeal of the law by the enforcement of it. In which event it is paradoxical that the police do not interfere with the college: it is the problem that there aren't enough police to arrest those guilty students.

Little by little, the distinctions emerge. Richard Nixon, a young journalist from Texas, makes them most neatly, in my judgment. He says: "Is it hara-riid; but people shouldn't go to jail for smoking it. The difficulty is in trying to find the proper balance between the two. The threat of punishment seems to break down. It is instantly supposed that if you desire demoralization, you are saying there is nothing wrong in smoking pot. If that is your disapproval of pot, you must be in favor of being arrested."

But there is a book in prospect on the subject, being written by the aforesaid Nixon, and it will be a disgrace. In his case, frustration has been the mother of invention: he cannot communicate these simple distinctions, so he is writing a book. Meanwhile, the apparatus of indifference of parents to their children's behavior being sent to jail for smoking pot, speaks poorly of our sense of community.

Demos' 1976 outlook strong

By JACK W. GERMOND
Washington Star Staff

WASHINGTON—As the smoke clears, it is apparent that the Democrats came away from the 1974 and 1975 elections in a demonstrably stronger position for the 1976 presidential campaign than could have been imagined a few weeks ago.

They scored gains across the board, most notably in the House elections that perhaps the best barometer of the national political climate. And most important, they had disparate backing from young and old, black and white, rich and poor, Northern and Southern, urban and rural voters.

But limiting voters against something, as the Democrats did, is one thing, and uniting their behind specific programs or policies is another. Young liberals and aging labor unions may agree, for example, on the efficacy of replacing Gov. Malcolm Wilson of New York with Hugh I. Carey. But when they disagree on whether the defense budget should be reduced? How much? More Democratic Congressmen might help bring down the cost of living. But can they agree on tax reform or welfare program or health insurance? All groups may agree that the Republican record on the economy is undeserving of support. But can they agree on the steps that should have been taken or should be taken now?

These questions are the ones that will determine whether the Democratic gains Tuesday will have some long-range meaning, or whether they will prove a paper profit.

Analysis

Traditionally, the Democratic solution to the problem of uniting diverse groups has been a strong political "popularity" which, the politicians say, can make chicken-leathers taste like chicken salad. Franklin D. Roosevelt was the prototype, and both Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy showed a similar, if less dramatic, capability.

But Democratic leaders without that ability to forge broad cross-sections of personal support have been consistently unable to put together genuine coalitions behind their policies. The classic example was George S. McGovern in 1972.

And for all their advances, the Democrats have no leader who has demonstrated at this point, at least that ability to make other Democrats rationalize their objections on specifics into support on a general approach to national problems.

A few weeks ago many Democrats thought there was such a candidate in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. But they recognized, too, that he was compromised by Chappaquiddick, and today party leaders are taking a little better his declaration that he will not be available in 1976.

What, as a work-around, should Democrats, however, is that in one has seemed to fit that vacuum.

But whether the Democrats have the potential for forging that support into a coalition for the future, and 1976 in particular, is another question entirely.

The significant thing about the vote Tuesday is that it was negative far more a reaction against the Republican performance than an endorsement of Democratic policies and programs.

Across the country, these fall voters were making it plain that they intended to use the elections as a form of therapy for easing their frustrations with economic uncertainty and faithless politicians.

Ban dogs from cities

WASHINGTON—Break up the pack and string me to the nearest tree, but as most dog best friends I'm running for dictators on a platform that cannot possibly be banned from our cities.

I've seen pampered dogs in city apartments, but never a really happy one. Dogs are outdoor creatures. Nature never intended that they should be walked or run on a leash nor even given the freedom to employ an expression of a howl by four paws on a yard.

City dogs bark a lot and sometimes bite. I don't blame them. I'd bite first and then bark if I were confined to an apartment or even a town house in Washington or New York or Chicago. In fact I think city dogs would be a hell of a happier if they were occasionally permitted to take a smother nip at their captors.

Dogs also make a mess. Dirty neighborhoods are gargantuan outdoor commodes and it is only the unwary citizen who takes a step on sidewalk or front lawn without closely examining the spot where that step is being laid. Most dog owners try to be thoughtful in an encounter with a dog's refuse, just as they do in a gutter or public park as it is on your front stoop.

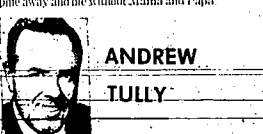

Dogs definitely should not sleep indoors. It's bad for the health and temper of both, and it never sick was that they slept in the barn or the shed not on somebody's bed or in a leather armchair. In fact in that small New England town I cannot recall anybody ever taking a dog to a veterinarian for any reason. Dogs died when they attained a certain age. They were put to monthly shots by some white powder intent to protect them against fleas.

Several of my friends who live in the country own dogs. These dogs are happy because they have the run of the great outdoors. They are good watchdogs but they are immediately when told by master or mistress to knock off harriving at the city. The only dog that has to be dragged off a caller (or he becomes too contended chummy and is all over you with affection) and dog hairs and fleas and mizzles.

Good dogs are a blessing to people who spend more money and affection on dogs than other spend on human children. A friend of a friend admits proudly that his Great Dane's food bill comes to 20 bucks a week. This puzzles me because the Great Dane is confined to a meek bedroom apartment and even our 15-year-old couldn't work up an appetite as such a prison.

Then there are those who can't bear to leave their house dogs. They pass up vacations at exotic places because the hotel won't take pets. Homeowners in them to leave their dogs with a vet or a dog-sitter and even our 15-year-old couldn't work up an appetite as such a prison.

ANDREW TULLY

But because the dog is such a noble creature we should do him the favor of reserving him from our cities and setting him free in the countryside with or without masters. He is man's best friend and man should make the relationship mutually beneficial.

Liberals menace Ford

WASHINGTON—With his economic and national security program stymied by a hostile Congress, President Ford's Tuesday's Democratic landslide. President Ford's ability to lead is now critically worsened by the huge influx of new liberals to the House.

The new group of top-heavy Democratic House in which ambitious, younger liberals are already pressing new claims for power, centered on a dominant House Democratic caucus eclipsing standing committee chairmen. The chief claimant, Liberal Rep. Philip Burton of California, a crafty, 35-year veteran who will challenge moderate Rep. B.F. Sisk of California to become chairman of the caucus, which he wants to convert into the prime Democratic caucus post.

With an extra 30 plus new Democrats, mostly liberals, Burton may well succeed that would undercut the moderate influence of House Speaker Carl Albert, a moderate, and slash away at the waning power of Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas; chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

This wholly different House composition will have a Senate under liberal domination confronts a President whose impact on the voters was shown Tuesday to be alarmingly low and whose standing within his own party has dropped radically. With conservative Republicans joining Ford as their "scapegoat," he is all-invested for the harsh new reality on Capitol Hill.

So sweeping was the liberal victory that late election night at AFL-CIO national headquarters in downtown Washington, one labor strategist remarked privately that from George Meany on down, the morale of organized labor, union money and organization were essential for the Democratic triumph were uneasy. They fear the new 94th Congress is "too far left," particularly on foreign policy.

A few weeks away that might at the Democratic national committee, party strategists, privately admitted, the new Democratic majority has no program in being to compete with Ford's unacceptable economic proposals. Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss and Speaker Albert agreed it was imperative to propose specifics.

Thus, the voters may have chosen to a mixture brew of legislative deadlock, without hope for compromise between a weak, untested President and a Congress longer on their third for combat than a carefully prepared program. Nonetheless, the danger more evident than that the President's national security policy.

This year, for the first time since World War II, a president has been unable to get a foreign aid bill through even the present Congress. Ford's military budget was deeply slashed. His fight to prevent cutting off aid to Turkey was stymied.

But top administration strategists believe this string of foreign policy setbacks may be averted by a runaway Democratic Congress using Pentagon and foreign aid spending as a natural resource to finance anti-recession programs and tax cuts.

Behind this prospect in Washington is a frightening world backdrop: gradual deterioration of the Western alliance. The international oil cartel's drastic increase is not only hastening economic disintegration in the Western democracies but threatens the alliance itself. Having led the West for 30 years, the U.S. has been losing influence steadily, with Soviet-backed Communist parties making dangerous inroads all over western Europe and spreading their tentacles in the Middle East.

The danger, then, of the new Congress at liberalized with the President's clear grand mind in European U.S. reliability; enforcement to Moscow to test President Ford's power; encouragement in Israel, based on its new Democratic supporters in the 94th Congress, to play an even harder line against Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's efforts for a Middle East settlement.

Indeed, the gap between a President at low ebb in his own party and a potentially runaway liberal Congress poses a challenge for the next two years this country has not faced since 1932, when Herbert Hoover served out his dismal last two years in conflict with a Democratic House of Representatives.

Then, as now, a Republican president could not begin to master the domestic economy. The difference between that gloomy period and the two years ahead is that the United States today is leader of the Western world—under constant pressure from a powerful Soviet Union. Deadlock between the Congress and President over foreign policy was an ever-present threat. Today, it is a potential threat worse even than inflation and recession.

A thought for the day—German-American politician Carl Schurz said, "Our country right, or wrong; when right, to be kept right, when wrong, to put it right!"

Industrial pinch tightest

By DENNIS MORABITO

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Indications are that utilities have enough coal to survive a miners' strike of at least two months duration. But the coal could cause a general employment to rise, especially in the area where coal-related industries are prevalent. The utilities say that even if the strike should reach beyond their own areas, the heavy-lack of coal would cause layoffs in big coal-consuming industries and a lower demand—and this means more coal would be available to heat America's homes, or to generate electricity to do so. The best illustration is the steel industry, which currently is experiencing a boom in an otherwise flat economy. The No. 1 steelmaker, U.S. Steel Corp., needs electricity for only 4 per cent of its power needs. It uses coal for two thirds of its energy requirements. U.S. Steel, like most other steel firms, says it has 20 to 25 days' reserves of coal. "But because of the nature of coking ovens," said company spokesman Andy Stankus, "we can't just operate up until the last shovel—is gone. You've got to keep those ovens hot or they'll cave in and that would cost millions of dollars."

If the strike goes much more than two weeks, U.S. Steel plans a 50 per cent cutback in operations "down the line." It will slow down the production of coke, which slows down the production of coke gas, which is used as energy in reheating furnaces at several of its plants. That would curtail the making of iron, which would curtail the making of steel, which would mean nothing for the rolling mills, where we use most of our electrical power. Of the 60,000 tons of coal consumed last year, 61 per cent was used by the utilities, 16 per cent by the steel companies, 10 per cent by other industries, 9 per cent was exported and 1 per cent was retailed to the consumer.

Bill Ott of the Duquesne Light Co., one of Pennsylvania's largest electrical producers, said the utility is counting on a curtailment by U.S. Steel and other industrial customers to leave more coal for residential customers in the event of a miners' strike. "I don't think we have a magical witch," Ott said. "We send out power and anybody can take it off the lines. We would have to go out and physically cut lines if it got to an either-or situation."

But that would cut power if it came down to that would be decided by the Federal Power Commission and the state utility commissions. Outside "Big customers have their own lines and we do have some control over the larger power lines. It would be simpler to restrict power to larger users than a whole number of smaller users."

And we don't know when somebody might say, 'I have an iron lung in my house and if you cut off the power I'm going to die.' Duquesne Light, which has a 63-day coal reserve, produces 92 per cent of its electricity by burning coal, about 12,000 tons per day. The steel industry is pivotal to the problem here, in a sense, because within the industry itself there will be extensive layoffs if and when production is cut back.

Repeatable Steel of Cleveland estimates that of 10,000 Cleveland-area employees, about 7,000 will be laid off when the firm banks its furnaces. Steel industry sources say the demand for steel is declining—partly because the energy squeeze has produced more exploration and drilling for natural gas and oil, requiring more and more machinery. A curtailment would not only hinder energy source exploration, but affect the auto, appliance, hardware and electronics industries, plus an assortment of lesser companies with smaller demands for steel.

Economist Norman Robertson of the Mellon Bank says Pittsburgh will bear the greatest burden of a miners' strike because of its heavy concentration of coal-related industries. "The unemployment rate in this area (now 6 per cent) could go up to 15 or 20 per cent in a long strike," Robertson said. "It would clearly hit the steel industry hard."

Robertson compared the situation here with Great Britain in the first part of this year, when a coal mine strike pulled the British economy into its lowest period ever. "I don't see why it can't be as bad as England, but it can be argued that we are not quite so dependent on coal," he said. On the other hand, the layoff of thousands of steelworkers would produce a "multiplier effect" which would strain other industries, he said.

YOUNG AND OLD: The faces of American coal miners today tell their own story. One United Mine Workers member said younger miners are "good union men and they don't have families to worry about." That's why ratification of any new contract is expected to be a tough job. (UPI)

Bliss residents tell meet version

Editor, Times-News: We are writing to set the record straight on some inaccurate reporting recently by some television and radio stations. The Bliss delegation did not attend the State Board of Education meeting in complaint about the Bliss School. We appeared to request a waiver of tuition so that our children could attend a neighborhood school with a more extensive curriculum that is not available in Bliss.

As to taking our problem to the local school board, this would be pointless as they have no authority to deal with this request. As for the investigation of the school, this request was not made by us but rather by the Bliss School Superintendent who invited the state board members to come look at the Bliss School.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Quinine helps ease leg cramps

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had cramps in my legs and lately it became so bad that I would wake up at night and have to walk around.

A friend told me to take five grains of quinine before going to bed. I took only one capsule and have had no more cramps. All this week. Could I take it every night? If they should occur again?—M.B. (Quinine is often effective in relief of leg cramps. It is one of a variety of methods I outline in my booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." If you wish a copy of the booklet, send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Even a smaller dose, say three grains, may work. But I have to voice this word of caution: some individuals should not take quinine for one reason or another, and some are allergic to it. Quinine also causes ear noises. Therefore, I prefer that people keep their doctors informed if they are using quinine regularly. In your particular case, you haven't had any more pains, so a week's trial is certainly no point in taking that or any medication if you don't need it—and it is also possible that some other, very simple, methods may be sufficient to ward off cramps in your case.

Generally speaking, quinine is more likely to be used when the patient knows with relative certainty that without it he is going to wake up with leg cramps. Taking the drug at the time of an attack of cramps will not bring relief any quicker than getting up and walking.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 and wish to have a baby. My husband is 60. We were never married before. My periods stopped when I was 40 years old. If you do not advise me to have a baby, should we use any contraceptive? We are newly wed and ignorant about sex.—Mrs. H. (You are long past fertility—20 years, or so past, so it will be impossible for you to have a baby. That being so, there is no need for contraceptive measures.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What foods contain Vitamin K?—H. T. (Lettuce, cauliflower, spinach, Brussels sprouts, liver all contain it. Lesser amounts are in other fruits and vegetables. It is also produced in the intestinal tract if there are ample bile and other digestive juices present.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am considering taking birth control pills but have some concern about long-run effects. For instance, if a woman takes the pill for five years in her middle 20s, then what is the chance that when she turns 40 or 50 she will have some sort of cancer of degeneration in the reproductive system? It must be remembered that the pill has not been in use long enough to know with certainty its long-term effects.—Mrs. C.A.V. (You've answered your own question: "certainly" is not possible, but that applies to so many other things, too. How long ago did someone say that nothing is "certain" except death and taxes?)

However, there is no indication yet that your forebodings have any basis. For a couple of other points, the active ingredients estrogen and progesterone are hormones which are present normally in the body, and the pill was tested in use for something like seven or eight years before it ever was approved for general use. The reasonable probability is that such awful evils as you are thinking about won't come to pass. Probability, not "certainty."

There is also some fear that Nixon's disinterested in science has resulted in unwise crash programs like the "Comprehensive Cancer" drive and "Self-Independence" energy self-sufficiency program. Many leading scientists find these programs grounded in political, not economic or scientific reality. But those concerned by the Nixon reorganization of the science advisory structure will be more active in seeking advice. Steve predicted: "He's already shown that."

News Of Servicemen

2nd Lt. Jeffrey L. Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace O. Briggs, Malta, has graduated from the T-38 Talon pilot instructor course at Randolph AFB, Tex. During the 11-week highly specialized training, Lieutenant Briggs completed 66 hours of diversified flying and 52 hours of academic training, including aircraft engineering, flight planning and applied aerodynamics. Lieutenant Briggs is being assigned to Craig AFB, Ala., for duty with the 52nd Flying Training Squadron. A 1962 graduate of Hart River High School, he received a B.S. degree in 1973 from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. His wife, Carolyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayne Zollinger, Rupert 1.

RUPERT—Navy Seaman Recruit Rodney L. Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Rasmussen, Rupert, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego. He is scheduled to report to Storekeeper-A school, Meridian, Miss. The training included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

INSULATION USED TO BE A DETAIL. NOW IT'S A PRIORITY.

Used to be, insulation in commercial, industrial and institutional buildings was frequently taken for granted. The energy crisis has changed all that. Suddenly, insulation is one of the most important considerations in the planning of any new building. Simply because good insulation saves precious energy. Which brings us to the buildings we build. Better buildings. Because they're built around pre-engineered systems, the roof and wall systems are designed with superior insulation to provide you with the best available seal against outside heat and cold, regardless of the climate. Better building systems have always been time and money savers. But more important, now they're energy savers. We'd like to show you why. Call us.

Examine election

SPEAKING in a television interview Sunday, Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., (left), said he expects changes in President Ford's cabinet in the next few months, while Democratic Senator-elect John Glenn of Ohio (right) said his party won't enter a mandate in this year's elections but only benefited from repudiation of Republicans. (UPI)

Dole says GOP future hinges on Ford actions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican party, still licking the wounds of the 1974 election, seems to be getting ready to inflict new ones on itself.

A tension is brewing between the liberal and conservative wings of the party. The conservatives are talking more and more about a third-party effort, while liberals and moderates call the House Republicans are jangling for a battle over the next minority leader.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., a former GOP small businessman, was asked how long he would depend on President Ford and whether he loses his "boy scout image."

The conservative weekly magazine Human Events expressed how some conservatives feel.

"The Republican party may sell itself short in the near future — and many and more people are beginning to think the idea wouldn't be so bad after all. The truth is that the GOP, once a major hope for implementing conservative policies, no longer seems much interested in limiting government, diminishing taxes and leveling the corporate system."

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, next to Sen. Barry Goldwater perhaps the GOP's leading conservative spokesman, once indicated that he was considering challenging President Ford's re-election in 1976 "if things get worse instead of better."

"Talking about a third party, Reagan said whether he would "join in support of such a movement, I think, would have to depend on whether it became evident that both parties had so far failed that they no longer could represent the will of the American people."

Sunday, in an interview with CBS News and World Report, House Speaker Carl Albert believed in the two-party system. He called reports of a third party "a great exaggeration."

John J. Rhodes, R-R.I., leads his party in the House and is considered a conservative close to President Ford as an honest, decent man. But what we really need is that other dimension, that leadership, making those tough decisions, taking the Congress on if he must."

Rep. Peter Dwyer, R-N.Y., who was re-elected, said Rhodes is a "major influence" in his life. He said he talked with 15 of his colleagues "in just a few days' time" and all agreed that Rhodes must go.

Dale, interviewed Sunday on CBS "Face the Nation," said "the future of the party depends on the President's leadership. But he also said of Ford: "He's going to have to toughen up a little between now and 1976. I think he has a sort of a boy scout image. I think people have respect for President Ford as an honest, decent man. But what we really need is that other dimension, that leadership, making those tough decisions, taking the Congress on if he must."

Gang slays Berlin justice

GUENTHER DRENKMANN gang's victim

BERLIN (UPI) — A soft-styled successor to a West German gang of urban guerrillas led by a woman today claimed responsibility for the assassination of West Berlin's chief justice.

The outfit threatened attacks on six other cities holding sympathizers of the Baader-Meinhof guerrilla band whose leader, Ulrike Meinhof, was jailed in West Berlin.

The shooting came one day after the death of Holger Meinhof, a jailed Baader-Meinhof suspect who had been on a hunger strike for two months. Police said the murder of the chief justice was "of course" connected to the death of the hunger striker.

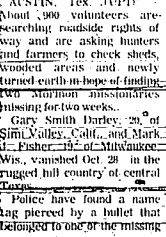

Police said five men, one carrying a bunch of red carnations, went to the home of Guenther von Drenkmann, president of West Berlin's Supreme Court, Sunday night and told him through a slit in the door that they were bringing flowers for his 64th birthday.

Von Drenkmann opened the door, a scuffle broke out and shots were fired, police said. The men fled to two waiting automobiles, and sped off, according to two witnesses.

Von Drenkmann was dead on arrival at a hospital, police said. Doctors found two bullets close to his heart.

Anonymous telephone callers threatened similar "executions" in the West German cities of Frankfurt, Bremen, Hamburg, Stuttgart, Munich and Durrheim. Up to 30 Baader-Meinhof supporters are on hunger strikes in West German prisons.

Search continues

Reverend Harold E. Moyer from Sacramento, California

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — About 300 volunteers are searching roadside rights of way and are asking hunters and farmers to check sheds, wooded areas and newly turned earth in hopes of finding two aviation missionaries missing for two weeks.

Gary Smith Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., and Mark E. Eschner, 24, of Milwaukee, Wis., vanished Oct. 28 in the rugged hill country of central Texas.

Police have found a name tag pierced by a bullet that belonged to one of the missing missionaries in the remote home of Robert Klason, 42. The tag is undergoing chemical analysis, authorities said.

Klason was charged with making false statements in a newspaper article and was held on $10,000 bond. He spent four months in the Burnett County jail this year awaiting extradition to New York on a felonious assault charge.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe canceled the extradition because of a technicality and Klason was released May 21, police said.

Compromise plan pushed

(C) Chicago Daily News
QUITO, Ecuador — With the United States on the sideline by choice, Latin American diplomats pushed a compromise proposal today that would technically leave the diplomatic and trade sanctions against Cuba in force but give each country the option of ignoring them.

The measure would have the effect of ending the 10-year-old boycott of Cuba without repealing the United States' and other nations' economic and trade sanctions and condemning the Fidel Castro regime for acts of aggression and intervention against Venezuela.

Seven members of the Organization of American States already ignore the sanctions and deal with Cuba, and at least three others — Venezuela, Colombia and Ecuador — are expected to follow suit when the boycott is officially dropped or not.

After a weekend of public speech making and private jockeying, a conference source said the three countries would meet in the foreign ministers' meeting, called only 12 days for repealing the 1962 resolution — two short of the necessary majority.

Italy, which had been blocked out by the sponsors though it was publicly uncommitted, was expected to announce today that it will vote against lifting the sanctions.

The only draft resolution introduced through the Sunday midnight deadline was by the conference sponsors — Costa Rica, Colombia and Venezuela. It called for the end of the 1962 resolution and included an appeal for strict fulfillment of the principle of non-interference by all nations of the hemisphere.

The three sponsors award of important support reportedly were amenable to having the compromise offered.

USSR space plans hit by setback

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has suffered a new setback in its trouble-plagued space program.

The official Tass news agency said Sunday the latest mishap came Nov. 6, when the Soviets landed an unmanned vehicle on the moon to collect rock samples.

Tass said Luna 21, the first Soviet space craft to attempt a moon landing in nearly 24 years, was damaged on impact and failed to carry out its mission.

The equipment aboard the Luna 21 ship was shut off by ground controllers three days later, Tass said.

The landing of the station took place in an area with a rough surface and as a result, the device for taking samples of moon rocks from depths of up to two and a half meters "sight feet" was damaged," Tass said.

The Soviet news agency said the vehicle's scheduled operations for drilling and scooping up moon rocks were not carried out.

The Soviets have landed seven unmanned Luna ships on the moon in the last five years.

Compromise plan pushed

as an amendment. The foreign ministers of Brazil, Bolivia and Venezuela "all publicly uncommitted," were said to have asked their governments for instructions on the compromise.

Nicaragua left the ranks of the uncommitted, which would have the same effect as a no vote. Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay confirmed their intention to oppose the lifting of sanctions, charging that Cuba continues an "imperialist policy in the hemisphere."

Thus, the search for that last yes vote focused on Bolivia, Brazil and Guatemala — and the United States.

U.S. diplomats, their profiles barely visible and their voices muffled, were hoping they would not be caught by circumstances that are beyond their control. So intent were they on avoiding an impression of arm-twisting that Deputy Secretary of State Robert S. Ingersoll, who means the delicate deal not for "address the challenge" only Brazil did likewise.

How Ingersoll will vote when the time comes Tuesday remains a mystery.

U.S. diplomats, in a preliminary position, but he would not say what it was.

What apparently chilled U.S. diplomats even more than Cuba's intermittent drizzle was the prospect of other "upstart" nations in the hemisphere — those who would not remain a Latin American show.

Should the success or failure of the Cuba resolution ride on the U.S. vote, there was speculation that Washington might have to support a resolution that would further disunity over the issue, erosion of the Rio Treaty on which the increasingly ignored sanctions are based — and accusations that Washington thwarted the hemisphere's progress.

Whatever its ultimate vote, the United States clearly was not hostile to the move to end the sanctions — its "neutral attitude" contrasted to open U.S. opposition in the past to any softening on Cuba.

Both main alternatives debated here in private — repealing the sanctions as proposed by Costa Rica, Colombia and Venezuela, or the compromise of keeping them but making their observance voluntary — would permit any hemisphere country to establish relations with Cuba.

FBI kills hijacker

RICHARD McCOY killed by FBI

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (UPI) — FBI agents had known for two days the hijacker, Richard Floyd McCoy, 31, and bank robber Melvin Dale Walker, 35, who escaped together from prison in August.

But the 200-mile flight until both men left their hideout, a house in a quiet neighborhood of this resort city Saturday night. Then they stationed agents inside and outside the cottage and waited for the hijackers to return in their car.

"McCoy entered the front door with a key and one of the agents identified himself and told him to hold a right there," McCoy had been serving a 35-year term for hijacking a United Airlines jet with a grenade and a pistol, and balling out over Penn. McCoy was in jail for a $6,000 North Carolina bank robbery.

Bomb damages UN book store

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A caller said the bombing of the United Nations Association book store and information center Sunday was a "thank you" message for allowing the Palestine Liberation Organization to address the United Nations.

Police said the blast, which occurred about 2:45 a.m. PST, caused about $5,000 damage to the store and blew out plate glass windows in three nearby businesses.

There were no injuries.

Investigators said a male caller telephoned radio station KFWB and the Los Angeles Times shortly after the blast to take responsibility for the explosion, but authorities said they could not determine if the message was a warning to, or from, the PLO.

The United Nations office at 3722 Wrentham address W. 8th St. was hit and it is a thank-you message from the PLO, the caller said.

"The message is for letting them address the U.N. Never again!"

PLO leader Yasser Arafat is scheduled to address the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday during a debate on the Palestine issue.

The "never again" slogan is commonly used by the militant Jewish Defense League, but a spokesman at the JDL headquarters here said, "We did not do it and we do not know who did it, but we are not going to lose any sleep over it. We applaud the act."

Local police and agents from the U.S. Treasury Department's Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau said the bomb was apparently placed against the door of the building and "electronically" triggered.

Glass and debris were scattered for several yards, and authorities said bookcases and furniture were toppled in the interior of the store.

The bookstore and information center, located in the Wilshire District of Los Angeles, is operated by the United Nations Association, a nonprofit organization.

The information center was set up to inform the public about the United Nations, but has no legal ties to the U.N.

War on cancer shown in report

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Cancer Society says about 222,000 Americans will be saved from cancer in 1975. Another 111,000 will probably die, though might have been saved through earlier and better treatment.

In a report titled "Facts and Figures 1975," the society said that cancer is the No. 1 cancer killer among American men, has moved up from fourth to third as a cancer killer of women.

In 1975, some 17,000 women are expected to die as a result of lung cancer, 2,100 more than in 1974.

Breast cancer in 1975 will continue as the No. 1 cancer killer of women, with 33,000. This is the type of cancer that recently struck President Ford's wife, Betty, and vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller's wife, Nancy.

For both sexes, malignancies of the colon and rectum are the No. 2 cancer killers. Authorities estimate heavy cigarette smoking causes at least 80 per cent of lung cancers.

"Facts and Figures" reiterates the society's main battle plan — early detection — in the war on cancer. Other highlights of the report:

The survival rate in cancer is one in three. In the 1950s, fewer than one in five were being saved. In the 1960s one in four was being saved. The gain to one in three means the saving of an additional 55,000 lives a year.

The "war" statisticians figure fit, of every six persons who get cancer today two will be saved and four will die. Nos. 1 and 2 will be saved. No. 3 will die, but might have been saved with early diagnosis and prompt treatment. Nos. 4, 5 and 6 will die of cancer which cannot yet be controlled.

During 1975 an estimated 1 million Americans will be under medical care for cancer. There will be about 665,000 new cases.

There are now 1.5 million Americans who have been cured of cancer — free of disease at least two years after diagnosis and treatment.

The death rate for men since 1950 has risen by over 40 per cent, due mainly to a 2,000 per cent increase for lung cancer, a highly preventable disease.

Since 1949 more than 200,000 women have taken dying from cancer each year. In about 1975 the rate was about 50 per cent.

More than half of all deaths are among persons over 65.

Cancer is the leading cause of death among women aged 30 to 64.

More school children die of cancer than from any other disease. In 1975 cancer will take the lives of about 3,500 children under the age of 15. About half will die of acute leukemia.

The overall incidence of cancer among men is increasing but among black men the incidence is substantially higher. The cancer mortality rate per 100,000 has gone up 50 per cent for black men against 16 per cent for white men. In black women the mortality rate has been declining but by 3 per cent while going down 9 per cent among white women.

Major agencies ignore minorities, report says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Rights Commission said today that five of the federal government's most important regulatory agencies had generally failed to carry out their responsibilities toward minorities.

A 250-page report, "To Regulate the Public Interest," examined the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Of the five agencies, only the FCC has adopted rules prohibiting employment discrimination by licensees.

The report said the other four appear to assume that their independent regulatory status allows them to stand above the national commitment to equal employment opportunity.

"This commission finds their position neither legally nor morally justifiable," the rights agency said.

On the FCC, it added, "has not effectively enforced its equal employment regulations" and its guidelines for licensees' equal employment programs "lack specificity and are not rigorously oriented."

It criticizes the FCC for failing to correct deficiencies in its civil rights compliance program for broadcasters, although the FCC has been studying the matter for years.

It did, however, praise the FCC for its "innovative and useful" program of holding meetings with representatives of minority, female and industry groups for the group to present their views of problems in the broadcast field.

With regard to the other agencies involved in the study, the commission said "the employment patterns of the industries regulated by ICC, CAB and FPC attest to a severe underutilization of minorities and women in jobs but at the lowest level job classification."

The massive report is the first of six projected volumes examining the record of 30 federal government agencies. It made these recommendations:

The FCC should step up enforcement of its rules banning employment discrimination by licensees and treat petitions to deny license renewals on civil rights grounds the same as other petitions based on other grounds.

The ICC, CAB, FPC and SEC should prohibit employment discrimination and require them to take affirmative action to increase both minority and female employment.

Regulatory agencies should provide free legal counsel to persons who wish to challenge regulatory actions, who are financially unable to do so, and whose position raises important issues.

Alaska governor still undecided

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Nearly a week after the general election, Alaska voters still aren't sure who their next governor will be.

Republican Jay Hammond and Democratic Gov. William A. Egan by 563 votes Sunday, but about 1,000 questioned ballots were still uncounted.

Returns from all of the sprawling state's 424 precincts gave Hammond 43,164 votes to 42,601 for Egan.

A recount seemed almost certain because one is called for under Alaska law if the margin of victory is one-half of 1 per cent or less and the losing candidate asks for it.

Egan had been leading by a little more than 200 votes, but the absentee votes, which had been expected to favor the 60-year-old governor's bidding for a fourth term, went against him.

The Teamsters Union waged an intensive, above-the-line campaign for Egan among construction workers on the Alaska pipeline. Conservative Republicans supported Egan, while liberal liberals favored Hammond, a poet and conservationist.

Layoff numbers mount

DETROIT (UPI) — Auto industry layoffs soared past the 24,000 mark today with the addition of 22,500 Chrysler workers to the United Auto Workers union, urged a strong government program to stave off a near-disaster economic situation.

The auto industry is not in a recession, UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone said at a weekend news conference. "It's in a depression."

The 84,000 workers killed off have been laid off since Bluestone said the layoffs are "mounting on a disaster."

About 40,000 workers at General Motors Corp. are being laid off, Bluestone said. GM has 8,400 idled at Ford Motor Co. and 7,800 at Chrysler Corp.

Bluestone, director of the UAW's GM department, attacked the Ford administration's economic efforts as "weak and inadequate."

He said top Ford administration leaders are "coming very close" to encouraging further layoffs.

"To try to stem inflation at the expense of people out of work is an intolerable situation," Bluestone said.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: First let me tell you that my husband is 38 and I am 36. We have been married for two years, after dating for eleven years. We wanted to be sure we were ready for marriage.

I was not snoping, because I am not that type, but before the Goodwill people took away an old trunk which had been stored in my attic for a long time, I looked through it and came across about 200 letters, addressed to my husband in care of a post office box in a nearby town. (He has to go through that little town on his way to work.) My curiosity got the best of me because their letters were on three different handwriting, all addressed to him in care of the same box number. Some were dated as far back as two years ago!

It seems he is corresponding with three young girls 113 and 14-year-old. I know some men pull this. I don't know what he has written to them, but they think he is a single 18-year-old boy, interested in a romantic relationship.

Husband sick?

He is college-educated and only graduated from high school. He is a religious man, Abby, and respected in his community. Why would he do something like this? Is he sick? What should I do about it?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband could be sick. Tell him exactly how you came upon the letters and insist that he see his doctor. His behavior is symptomatic of a serious physical (and/or mental) illness which, if treated in time, can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 42 year-old man who is normal in every respect, but I am 4 ft. 11 and weigh 115. I am single and very lonely.

I heard that there was a national convention of The Little People of America in Asheville, N.C. last July. I would have gone, but it was over by the time I learned about it.

If you use this in the paper, please omit my name and town because some normal people tend to make fun of us little people although they mean no harm.

If you have any information about this club for little people, I would certainly appreciate it.

LITTLE GUY

DEAR LITTLE: I'll try. Anyone out there want to do a lot of little people a big favor? Write to Abby with the information and I'll print it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to the same man for 30 years. When he picked a wife, he wanted a church-going girl who didn't drink, smoke or dance. One who was quiet, modest and not sexy.

I was that girl. I gave him two children (now 28 and 26, both married). Now my husband has decided that he no longer loves me. Instead he wants a younger woman who is sexy, can dance and "turn him on." He doesn't care if she smokes or drinks either.

Behind my back he has divorced papers served on me. We are both 52. He never did me work because he wanted me to stay home and be a full-time wife and mother, so I have no skills. I don't want a divorce, and am contesting it. I left my home and am living with my daughter. I attend church regularly, and still love him regardless.

The lawyers say we could live separately and come and go as we please, but that's against my way of life. I don't believe in divorce, so what do you advise?

MARRIED FOR LIFE

DEAR MARRIED: You may prevent your husband from getting a divorce, but you can't force him to live with you or "love" you. Maybe if you hang on long enough, he'll change. His mind and return to you, but you have no guarantee. In the meantime, instead of stubbornly clinging to a miserable marriage, why not find something constructive to do with your time? Life volunteer work? At 52, you are still young enough. Life is short, make it sweet.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 69709, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH TURPIN

LeAnn Bowen bride of Kenneth Turpin

SPRINGDALE — LeAnn Bowen, 21, of Smith Hill, Turpin, was married Oct. 25 in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

The couple was honored at an open house that evening at the Thomas Ward Cultural Hall.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for a dinner at the Blackfoot Tree House following the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bowen, Springdale, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Turpin, Thomas.

The bride wore a floor length gown of nylon and polyester crepe in an empire style. The dress featured long full sleeves, a high neckline and long veil and pearl train.

Her four-length veil and train were trimmed with lace and pearls, held in place with a cap of flowers and seed pearls. She wore a cascade bouquet of roses and carnations tied with turquoise and pink ribbons.

Mrs. Blaine Doney, Ogden, Utah, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Washburn, sister of the bride; Catharine Crane, cousin of the bride; and Joan Brown, Buaine Bowen, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Paul Turpin, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Mike Morris was groomsmen.

The couple was honored at a reception Oct. 26 at the Springdale Ward LDS Cultural Hall.

The couple received guests while standing on a cup carpet with a backdrop of taffeta and silver metallic draped with pink and burgundy lace flanked by sprays of flowers.

Carl's Catering, Rupert, assisted with the reception.

Janet Crane and Mary Ann Gerate, cousins of the bride, provided background music.

They received numerous ceremonies, announcing the program of musical numbers and an original reading.

Gerald Washburn and Bruce Bowen were ushers. Rayola Crane, aunt of the bride, acted as a replica of the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

Thelma Christensen and L. Crane, aunts of the bride, cut and served the cake.

TF miss marries Frantz

TWIN FALLS — Sandra McConnell and Richard Frantz were married Oct. 19 in a ceremony attended by family and close friends in the First Christian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. McConnell, Twin Falls, and Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Frantz, Twin Falls, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Attending the couple were Letha Toler as bridesmaid and Dave Frantz as best man. A reception was held Oct. 25 at the home of the bridegroom's parents for the couple. Other events included a kitchen shower for the bride Oct. 14 at her home, hosted by Beth and Letha Toler.

The couple honeymooned in the Stanley area and is making a home in Twin Falls where he is employed by a construction firm and she is employed by Mountain Bell Co.

Both are graduates of the Twin Falls High School.

SHIRLEE JOSLIN plans rites

Caldwell teacher engaged

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Joslin, Twin Falls, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Shirlee, to Jack Huston, Minneapolis, Minn.

Huston is the son of Harold Huston, Filor.

Miss Joslin and Huston are graduates of Filer High School. She is a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Idaho and of the University of Madrid, Spain. Miss Joslin is employed as drill team and Spanish teacher in Caldwell.

Huston is an engineering graduate of Carroll College, Montana, and of Columbia University, New York. He is employed in Minneapolis as an industrial engineer.

A Nov. 30 wedding is planned at St. Edward's Catholic Church.

McCleary weds in Boise

KING HILL — Sharon Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee W. Hammond, Sequim, Wash., became the bride of Dale McCleary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McCleary, King Hill.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Goldstone on Oct. 12 at the First Presbyterian Church in Boise.

Mrs. Janet Smith, Boston, was matron of honor. Deena Hammond, Sequim, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

John Herrington, Boise, was the best man; William Vernon, Boise, was groomsmen; and Kent Hammond, Boise, brother of the bride, acted as usher.

The wedding music was furnished by "Blackie" Luma and Lyndy of Boise who sang the Hawaiian Wedding Song in their native tongue, accompanied themselves on guitars.

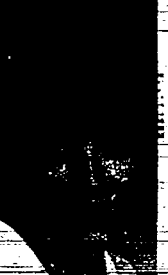

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining hall.

Mrs. Ora Sampson and Mrs. Deena Hammond, both of King Hill, served punch, and Sarah McCleary, Boise, acted as the coffee service. Both are sisters of the bride.

Debbie Sterling, Boise, was in charge of the guest book.

Special guests were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Ora Sampson, Kaysville, Utah, and Mrs. Betty Hammond, Ontario, Ore.; Mrs. Mary Bress, Upland, Calif.; grand mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ida Hopcraft, Pomona, Calif.; a great aunt of the bridegroom.

The new Mrs. McCleary is a graduate of Links Business College, Boise, and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Boise State University.

Domestic American politics exported to Rome

Monday, November 11, 1974 - Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY wants US commitment

(c) Chicago Sun-Times
 ROME — Domestic American politics has been exported to the site of the United Nations world food conference.
 As a result, the American delegation headed by Agriculture Secretary Earl B. Butz has been accused by some of the delegation's congressional advisors of allowing the United States to appear that it is "insensitive" to the immediate emergency food needs of such countries as India, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka.
 Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., for example, who arrived here Thursday after last-minute election campaigning in his home state, said in an interview that Butz "from a public relations standpoint" has been unwise in concentrating publicity on "mid-term and long-range proposals" for increasing the agricultural productivity of developing nations.
 "We are in an international arena," Humphrey said, "and we have failed to walk to the front of the stage and say what we are going to do."

In earlier sessions with American reporters, Butz explained that, in his view, the world food conference is not structured to deal with the emergency needs that exist before the 1975 harvest.

These needs can only be met, Butz contends, through bilateral and multi-lateral negotiations among the various food exporting and importing nations. Indeed, such behind-the-scenes talks have been taking place during the conference, and Saturday Butz headed into four days of food talks with government leaders in Egypt and Syria.

As Humphrey sees it, U.S. leaders should not pass up the opportunity of stating before the conference ends next Saturday the extent of the emergency aid the United States is prepared to come up with. "Our talk of long-range solutions is suspect if we don't respond to the present crisis," he said.
 According to some experts at the conference, several million persons may die of starvation unless exporters find ways of increasing by 10 million tons the amount of grain to be sent to the areas where the needs are the most critical. Their hope is that the United States, as the world's "breadbasket," will be able to provide as much as 40 per cent of the additional tonnage required.

In a press briefing, Ambassador Edwin M. Martin, vice chairman of the American delegation, said the Ford administration already has indicated it will increase its emergency food aid this year, but added that "no decision has been made yet" on the extent of such aid.

Humphrey's point is that the U.S. should decide now what it can do and announce its decision "before" the international forum. Canada already has done it, and so has West Germany.

 Lester Brown, author of several books on agricultural economics for the Overseas Development Conference, said Friday an additional four million tons of exported grain would raise the cost of the U.S. food aid program from its present level of $300 million to $1.7 billion.

Whatever decision the U.S. makes, Humphrey stated, "we should be sure to announce it, not in dollars, but in the volume of grain. People don't care dollars. They care rice, corn and wheat." And the facts of inflation, the senator added, make it difficult for people to understand whether dollar increases will result in increased volumes of food.

Soviet buying lessons may ration EEC sugar

Courtesy Sinclair & Co.
 LONDON (CNS) — There is a growing danger that Britain, and possibly other EEC nations, will face sugar rationing of some sort inside the next six months following the lesson in capitalism given by Soviet buying over recent weeks.

Trade sources here say the EEC made a major error in announcing a buying program and then sitting back and doing nothing. Already the EEC buying proposals have been dismissed by trade sources as impractical. Now it is added that with the Soviets already considered to have secured large tonnages of white sugar over 500,000 tons. This would have been bought before prices started their latest dramatic rise, and follow a pattern not unlike that used for grain purchases from the U.S. in 1972.

Again dealers say that the Soviets are buying and are in confusion as to the exact reasoning behind Poland's force major declaration believed to cover around 150,000 tons of white sugar exports — and Hungary's fresh purchases — reckoning to be unsatisfied, at around 70,000 tons bought at prices up to $1,450.

But in addition, Australia could have sold a large tonnage while the Philippines is the other exporter rumored to have made sales to the USSR.

 A poor Cuban crop is cited as a key factor prompting the Soviet buying. Analysis added that in the future Cuban exports might not be such a regular supplier to the Eastern bloc. It is suggested that an easing in relations between Washington and Havana could lead to a resumption of sales to the U.S. within the next few years.

More immediately there are new signs of some very nervous technical profit-taking on the Paris white sugar futures market as dealers take profits out of the market in case the Polish force majeure leads to virtual suspension of the market. Today operators were making like self-trades so assuring that profits are realized immediately. This action took the French market of limit advances at one stage.

However, in London the pressure is still strongly upwards with unofficial "black market" trades in futures taking place no less than 50 pounds above the official limit price. This will be excluded by the pound this afternoon to only half the normal limit so as to minimize the disparity between the London and New York markets.

Prices for them are fixed, exporters can simply ask for their approval and thus pull them from their current virtual "postponement" category.

US corn crop prospects fade; sugar crop down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects for the weather-plagued 1974 corn crop fell another 2 per cent last month, leaving it 10 per cent below last year and forecasting still higher grocery bills for consumers. — The Agriculture Department reported Friday.

One specialist said average October-December retail food prices may be about 2 per cent above the July-September quarter, and shoppers could find a further gain of anywhere between 2 to 5 per cent in the first quarter of next year.

The department's November crop report estimated the corn harvest, which officials once hoped would hit a new record to ease domestic food prices and a worldwide grain squeeze, at 4.54 billion bushels compared with last year's 4.47 billion bushels.

With sugar prices soaring to new records, the report showed U.S. sugar beet production would be down 9 per cent from 1973 and sugar cane output would be down 2 per cent — both below predictions a month ago. The U.S. crops account for about half the nation's sugar supply.

Agriculture economists meanwhile issued new forecasts predicting further hikes in average prices through the remainder of 1974 and a continuing advance in 1975 because of this year's smaller-than-expected crops.

Experts said the rise between Oct. 1 and the end of December would be smaller than the 73 per cent rise between July and September, largely because a big meat supply is keeping many prices below summer levels. But they said consumers next year will be feeling the impact of cuts in pork, milk, poultry and egg production caused by small supplies and high prices for feed.

Korean sales pending

Courtesy Sinclair & Co.
 WASHINGTON (CNS) — Although South Korea reportedly purchased nearly a million tons of U.S. wheat last week, the portion of these contracts apparently with unfixed prices cannot and will not be approved by the Agriculture Department as valid until prices are set.

USDA Assistant Export Sales Manager F.A. Wooding said some of the Korean contracts are apparently for a definite quantity, but set no fixed price or formula by which a price can be determined. Lacking that information, such contracts are not recognized by USDA's grain approval daily reporting system as legally enforceable documents.

These contracts not reported "couldn't very well be approved," Wooding said. When prices for them are fixed, exporters can simply ask for their approval and thus pull them from their current virtual "postponement" category.

Swine breeders set FF meeting Tuesday

TWIN FALLS, (UPI) — The South Idaho Swine Breeders Association will meet in Twin Falls Tuesday to make plans for the annual sale and carcass show.
 A dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. The organization also will direct 1975 officers. The sale and carcass show will be in February.

Pasture fertilization effect slight

JEROME — A study conducted in North Carolina has indicated that "excess" from grazing animals has little effect on pasture fertilization.
 Jesse Wilson, Jerome County extension agricultural agent, said that traditional methods of grazing animals fertilize the pasture substantially with their excreta, "an understandable belief when we realize cattle excrete over 75 per cent of the nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium they consume. But studies with North Carolina pasture species and growing conditions indicate excreta from grazing animals contribute very little effective pasture fertilization," Wilson said.

 He explained the animals do not distribute excreta uniformly over a pasture. "Highest concentrations accumulate invariably around the water and feed areas or along fences. And, most importantly, a big proportion of the total pasture may often get little or no excreta, even after substantial grazing periods," Wilson said.

"We must remember one point, the higher the stocking rate the smaller that area not receiving some excreta," Wilson said.
 He noted that fresh feces from cattle contain an estimated 0.38 per cent

Credit growth slows

 WASHINGTON (CNS) — Perhaps out of concern for the country's economic troubles, consumers seemed less willing in September than in previous months to take on new debts. The Federal Reserve Board announced today that total consumer credit outstanding in September was $79 billion, the smallest growth since February. In August, debts details had increased $1.8 billion and in July $1.5 billion. Increases in all types of installment credit were considerably smaller in September than in July or August, the Fed said.

 Just as consumers seemed reluctant to incur new debts, they also were less eager to extend payments on debts already owned and quicker to pay, it back.

Annual Utah FB meet set

SALT LAKE CITY, (UPI) — The Utah Farm Bureau Federation will hold its 1974 annual convention in Salt Lake City Nov. 20-21.
 Farm Bureau President Elmo W. Hamilton says 300 farm leaders from throughout the state are expected at the twoday session in the Tri-Arc Travelodge.

"This is the meeting where our state policy on key farm and non-farm issues is decided," Hamilton said. "And the official voting delegates from our counties are sure to have some strong opinions on government interference with the market system and other issues that are timely today."
 Retiring Sen. Wallace P. Bennett, R-Utah, will address the annual Farm Bureau banquet Nov. 21 at the Terrace Ballroom.

Houston Oilers upset Bills 21-9 as Simpson is injured

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Vic Washington ran in three yards out in the third quarter Sunday as the Houston Oilers beat the Buffalo Bills to only their first point and upset the American Football Conference Division leaders 21-9.

Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson six times as the Bills were unable to score a touchdown.

The Oilers began a drive from their own 38 in the first quarter, setting the ball at the Buffalo nine on a pass interference call on Dwight Harrison. On the next play, Washington swept around the right side for a touchdown to put the game out of reach.

Houston took a quick 14-0 lead in the first quarter on a 33-yard run by Willie Rodgers and a 25-yard touchdown pass from Dan Pastorini to Mack Alston.

Hill, Staubach rally Cowboys

DALLAS (UPI) — Roger Staubach, throwing spirals but always accurately in the clutch, marched Dallas 70 yards in the final quarter Sunday and Calvin Hill ran for a 61-yard touchdown to rally the Cowboys to a 20-14 victory over San Francisco.

It was the seventh straight loss for the 49ers, who almost replaced Norm Stancin in the second half and put his team in front, 14-13, with a 12-yard scoring pass to Gene Washington early in the fourth quarter.

Staubach hit nine of 14 passes for 177 yards and three touchdowns in the opening period, including a 32-yard and tight end Billy Joe DuPre' with another pass of 32 yards.

Other time Plunkett had four passes picked off in 1974 when the Browns again were the culprits.

Browns shock Patriots 21-14

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns scored 14 points in the first two minutes of play Sunday and set the winning score on a four-yard run by Ken Brown in the final quarter to upset the New England Patriots 21-14.

Greg Pruitt, who was switched to running back by New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks when both were in Oklahoma, opened the game with an 82-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

After New England got the ball at its own 10 on the next series, they could hold the ball only three plays before completion to Herron at the 29 turned into Darden's touchdown.

Other time Plunkett had four passes picked off in 1974 when the Browns again were the culprits.

Jurgensen leads Skins to win

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Charley Taylor caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from alling Sonny Jurgensen with 2:14 left in the game Sunday to rally the Eagles to a 27-20 victory over Philadelphia.

Safety Ken Stoeber preserved the victory with a pass interception at the goal line with 21 seconds to play after Humm Gabriel drove the Eagles to the Washington eight-yard line for a first down.

Jurgensen's passing despite a bruised knee—Jurgensen did not start but replaced Billy Kilmer in the third period with the Redskins down 14-10.

Quarter before he fumbled into hamburger's hands while trying to hand off the ball at the four-yard line.

Dolphins blank Saints 21-0

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bob Griese threw three first-half touchdowns passes, two of them to tight end Mel White and the Miami defense hunted New Orleans' only two scoring threats Sunday, shutting out the Saints 21-0 and ending the defending world champion Dolphins with a 15-0 first place in the AFC East.

Griese hit Mandich for touchdowns of three yards with 10:26 left in the first quarter and two yards with 30 seconds left in the second quarter.

The Saints' threat in the first half came when Archie Manning, who completed 15 of 23 passes for 416 yards, led New Orleans from the Saints' 20 to the Miami 21. The drive featured a 20-yard Manning pass to Howard Stevens and a 15-yard run by Jess Phillips.

But Miami's Bob Matheson broke it up by intercepting Manning's pass up the middle on the Dolphins' seven yard line. He returned it 10 yards, shutting off New Orleans with 8:20 left in the second period.

New York slips by Giants in overtime

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Joe Namath threw a five-yard touchdown pass to Emerson Hopper at 3:43 of sudden death overtime Sunday as the New York Jets snapped a six-game losing streak with a 20-18 victory over the arch-rival New York Giants.

Namath, who scored the tying touchdown late in the fourth period, moved the Jets from their own 25 to just seven yards from the goal line when rookie Pat Leahy, kicking in his first pro game, hit a 29-yard field goal attempt blocked by Jim Stikee.

The Jets blew an opportunity to win when 12 seconds remaining in regulation when rookie Pat Leahy, kicking in his first pro game, hit a 29-yard field goal attempt blocked by Jim Stikee.

Namath, running by arrangement for only the first time this year, scored the tying touchdown with eight minutes left when he rolled around left end on a naked reverse for his first score in five years. Leahy added the extra point for a 17-17 tie.

The Giants went 20-11 with 12 seconds to go in the third period when Craig Morton capped a 23-yard drive with a 13-yard touchdown pass to Bob Grim.

Ashe is winner in Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Arthur Ashe of Gum Springs, Va., used his devastating serve and "killing" volley play to destroy Tom Okker of the Netherlands in straight sets 2-6, 6-4 Sunday in the final of the $100,000 Stockholm open tennis tournament.

The lanky American who became the second player to win this title needed only 55 minutes to sweep Okker off the court. The victory was worth $12,000 to Ashe and 80 points in the commercial union grand prix circuit.

Another American Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C. also is a two-time winner of the Stockholm open.

Okker later came back to win the doubles with Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., by 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 over reigning WCT champions Bob Hewitt and Fred McMillan of South Africa. The winning team split $6,000.

Situation varies on sports empires' health

NEW YORK — Are sports empires crumbling, victims of inflation and tight money?

Some strange statistics that are searching for explanations pop up in the midst of some negative facts. How does one explain that the Milwaukee Bucks, who have yet to play a game this season with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, have increased their home attendance and have lost only 600 fans a game on the road?

In the Hall of the pro basketball world, New York, the Knicks have slipped 10 per cent in home attendance.

Walter Kennedy, the N.B.A. league's explanation for the Bucks' fairly good drawing power without one of the game's top draws.

At the Forum in Los Angeles, the only major arena in the United States to turn a profit, the division champion Lakers have fallen 10 per cent in basketball attendance, while their opponents, the Kings, have anted the best record in the National Hockey League but actually have dropped in attendance.

He believes that the league is holding its own because of a "negative" reason: the fact that so many superstars have been injured and thus created more empty seats.

Fired-up Cincinnati topples Steelers 17-10

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ken Anderson set NFL records for consecutive pass completions and highest passing efficiency Sunday and seldom-used Ed Williams scored two touchdowns to pace the fired-up Cincinnati Bengals to a 17-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Baltimore, hit his first eight throws Sunday for 16 straight completions, bettering the previous record of 15 shared by Joe Namath and Len Dawson. Anderson, whose accurate passing arm has been the key to the Bengals' offense all season, hit 22 of 22 passes Sunday for 227 yards—His 90 per cent accuracy "mark broke the record of 86.25 for 20 set by Ken Stabler last year in Baltimore.

Green Bay tops Chicago 20-3

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A team record 85-yard punt return on the final play of the first half Sunday by rookie Steve Odum lifted the Green Bay Packers to a 20-3 victory over the Chicago Bears in an error-plagued National Football League game.

The Bears lost in the closing seconds set things up for John Brockington's one-yard touchdown run with eight seconds to play. Odum's touchdown run also involved a fumble. He dropped the ball, turned around and picked it up and then started down the left sideline before cutting to the right, eluding three would-be tacklers enroute to the goal line. It was the longest punt return in Green Bay history.

Williams, who had carried the ball only two times coming into the game, scored touchdowns on runs of two and one yards.

Horst Muhlmann added a 30-yard field goal for the Bengals. Pittsburgh tallied on a one-yard run by Preston Pearson in the fourth quarter and on a 24-yard goal by Roy Gerela on the last play of the first half.

Chicago's only points came on a 44-yard field goal by Mike Roder the first time the Bears had the ball, and the Green Bay defense shut them out the rest of the way.

The previous record of 93 yards had been set by Veryl Switzer almost 20 years ago against the Bears in Chicago. The Packers lost that game, however.

The Packers snapped a three-game losing streak and climbed to 4-5 in the NFC Central Division. Chicago is now alone in the Central Division cellar with a 3-6 mark.

Denver posts easy victory over Colts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Bill Thompson returned a first-quarter punt 60 yards Sunday to set up a one-yard touchdown pass from Charley Johnson to Bitley Odums, which sparked the Denver Broncos to a easy 17-6 victory over the Baltimore Colts.

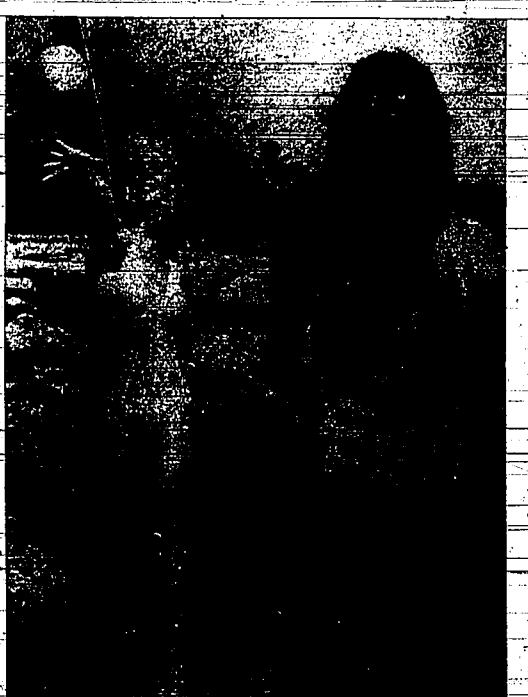

Marty Domres, substiting for the injured Bert Jones, took the Colts 58 yards in 11 plays to the Denver three first time. Baltimore gained possession in the second quarter but the drive stalled and Tom Hart kicked a 24-yard field goal.

The Broncos added a second touchdown on their next series of downs. Johnson passed for two first downs in a seven-play scoring drive that climaxed in a 37-yard touchdown burst down the sideline by Otis Armstrong.

The Colts, now 1-4, mounted several threatening drives and got some lucky breaks from penalties and disputed calls, but continued to have trouble putting the ball into the end zone.

The two teams traded field goals in the third quarter. Defensive end Barney Chavous of Denver intercepted a pass on the next play but officials said he was out of bounds when he caught the ball.

Anderson took a late hit from Glen Edwards in the third quarter and had to sit out a while, but returned and completed his opening passing Edwards was thrown out of the game.

Oakland beats Detroit 35-13

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ken Stabler completed 20 of 24 passes, including two for touchdowns, and Marc Hubbard ran for two more scores Sunday in leading the Oakland Raiders to their eighth straight victory, 35-13 over the Detroit Lions.

Hubbard went five yards on his first score and 20 on his second with Harold Hart adding a 25-yard TD to complete the Oakland scoring.

The Lions, who saw their victory string snapped at four, scored on a one-yard run by Albie Taylor and field goals of 32 and 45 yards by Errol Mann. By winning, the Raiders remained 3 1/2 games ahead of Denver in the AFC West while the Lions, now 4-5, fell 2 1/2 games behind Minnesota in the AFC Central.

Cardinals will face Minnesota

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Although his physical status has risen from doubtful to questionable to probable, Terry Metcalf said Sunday he "still up in the air" whether he'll play when the St. Louis Cardinals meet Minnesota Monday night.

The Raiders, who haven't lost since the season opener against Buffalo, took the opening kickoff 76 yards in 11 plays with Hubbard, who finished 111 yards in 16 carries, going the final five.

"Coach (Don) Coryell really hasn't told me yet if I'll play," Metcalf said. "I like to play but it's not up to me. I can play with a little bit of pain," he added. "But if I can't be mobile I don't want to deal with it."

Los Angeles defense gains first shutout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — James Harris and Harold Jackson teamed on a pair of touchdowns, passes and the penurious Los Angeles defense registered its first shutout of the season Sunday as the Rams beat Atlanta 21-0 to ruin the debut of Falcons head coach Marion Campbell.

Lending the Rams to their fourth straight win, Harris hit Jackson with a 40-yard touchdown bomb at the 6:11 mark in the first quarter and passed 25 yards to the Rams' ace wide receiver for Los Angeles' third touchdown with 2:44 left to play in the game.

They got the ball on the Atlanta 25 after the Falcons' Nick Mike-Mayer had a 48-yard field goal attempt blocked by Jack Youngblood. Ram cornerback Eddie McMillian picked up the bouncing ball and returned it 19 yards to the Falcons' 27.

The Chiefs threatened with 1:34 left when Larry Brunson was stopped one yard short of a first down at the San Diego 15 after a 19-yard pass from Len Dawson.

The Rams sacked Atlanta quarterback Bob Lee four times for 41 yards in losses. Two of the sacks were by defensive end Fred Dryer. After Dryer's second sack of the game with seven minutes to play, Lee had to be assisted from the field.

The Rams benefited from two Atlanta pass interference penalties on their second touchdown drive, the first which nullified a Clarence Ellis interception of a Harris pass. The second gave the Rams the ball on the Atlanta one.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 12, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to delve into confidential matters to you will better understand your opportunities ahead. Also a day for getting in touch with those in high office. Let others become aware of your fine talents. Seek the assistance of higher-ups.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you keep promises you have made. Also, a good day for coming to a better meeting of the minds with mate. Be wise.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't turn a deaf ear to suggestions of allies or you could lose out on an important deal. Show others you are friendly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can accomplish your goals by going to the right sources for the data you need. Formulate a better plan with co-workers.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Once you have handled pressing duties, you go out for the recreation you want. Show particular affection for mate.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to become more understanding with family members and increase harmony at home. Show others you are a considerate person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Your routines will go better if you first come to a fine understanding with associates. Contact advisers who are helpful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can handle monetary affairs well which will give you more abundance in the future. Try to improve your surroundings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle personal affairs wisely in the morning. Later join a group affair and bring out your magnetic qualities. Be logical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) More thinking and less acting today can bring you greater success in the future. Come to a better understanding with mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Any social affairs are good to attend at this time so you can relax, converse with people and get out of your present rut.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Become more active in civic matters and enjoy life to the fullest. A higher-up can give you the answer to a problem you have.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make plans now for a trip you want to make. You can express your talents well in a new activity. Take health treatments.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have strong willpower that will be a factor in accomplishing sought-after goals. Be sure to give the right ethical training or your progeny may eventually take the wrong direction in life. Sports are a fine outlet here.

"The Stars Imply; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Simple matter to identify marked cards. Hold the deck in the left hand. Bend it sharply. Riffle the cards so you can see almost half of the backs of all the cards as they snap flat again. The back design on an unmarked deck will stand still. With a marked deck, shapes on those backs will shift and jump. Gambling expert John Scarne devised this minor detective trick.

BEST ATHLETES do not have straight spines. Or so contends one medic. He points at the sloping-shouldered Joe Namath, whose back quite normally curves from the neck to the tailbone in a vague S-shape. Such arches serve exceedingly well to absorb shock. Good thing, in Namath's case.

Q. "HOW MANY active volcanoes are there, world-wide?"
A. About 455 plus an estimated 80 more underwater.

HOME ALONE
 Mister, if your wife is putting on too much weight, maybe you better take a road trip for a few weeks to leave her home alone. That's the advice of health expert Ida Borner. Says she, when a woman loves her husband is left alone at home, she generally loses her appetite and goes hungry because she doesn't feel like cooking for herself only.

ONLY ONE out of five baby turtles grow up.
 IT'S SAID the only venomous snake that will attack a human being without provocation is the African Mamba.

WHALE STEAK is served in one Boston restaurant, which offers, and indeed it ought, one of same free to any citizen who can prove his name is Jonah.

INFANT DEATHS
 Repeatedly note that Sweden is reported to have a lower infant mortality rate than does the United States. That's wrong. Sweden just doesn't start its records from birth, but from one to two or three days afterwards. Still, born aren't counted.

DO YOU KNOW what the tobacco men put on their tobacco to keep it from drying out? Raw cane sugar.
AMONG MEN, the outside of the upper arm near the shoulder is often called fairly hairy. Among women, it never is...
THE PROPERTY TAX collectors are gathering eight times as much money now hereabouts as they took in 1939.
