Saigon prisoners seize ship
SAGON (UPI) - About 600 prisoners bound by ship for the infamous Cu Son prison island off South Vietnam rebelled and took over the ship-then guards fled at a port near Saigon Saturday.

After the rebellion broke out a short distance out of Saigon, the captain ducked the ship at Newport and all 27 military guards and the 75-man crew fled, leaving the prisoners in control, the sources said.

The captives had developed the plan to escape Saturday, but the United States had infiltrated the anti-government movement in Saigon, turning them away from their main objective - the overthrow of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Energy tops
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) - Former energy czar John Low says the general public probably is the major problem facing Americans. Low said the nation is using 17 million barrels of oil daily, with production of only 5 million, and is not moving fast enough in production of coal and geothermal power. He also called for more stringent energy conservation measures.

Canadian move 'disappoints' US
WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department said Saturday that although it had been aware of Canada's plans to phase out all oil exports to the United States by the year 2000, it was "somewhat disappointed" by the embargo announced by the Canadian government Friday.

In a carefully worded statement, the department expressed hope that after Ottawa's consultations with the oil-producing western provinces of Canada, the Canadian government will decide not to carry out the stringent cut.

UN's Waldheim delays Mideast trip
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. Times - Secretary General Kurt Waldheim postponed a scheduled trip to the Middle East today amid speculation that he was awaiting word from the United States Secretariat in Washington.

Indicted
MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ga. (UPI) - Former western picture star Alfred Lalfa was indicted by a county grand jury on charges of possessing marijuana and two types of illegal pills. Lalfa was arrested in late September on a charge of drunkenness, which was later dropped. The drug charges followed a search of his property at the jail, where they were found.

Israel hints eased West Bank stand
JERUSALEM (AP) - Israel is willing to consider granting local autonomy in gradual stages to the 700,000 Palestinians living in the occupied West Bank, said a senior Israeli official Saturday. The official said the move would lead to a federated status for the area, under which the relations between the west bank and Israel and Jordan could finally be determined.

New Yorker succeeds Lanting
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) - New York State Sen. John J. Marchi has succeeded Idaho House Speaker William J. Lanting, as chairman of the Council of State Governments. Marchi's election came at a two-day meeting which closed Saturday. Utah Gov. Calvin Lanting was elected president. Lanting retires from the Idaho Legislature at the end of this year.

Ford cites N-arms progress

VIENNA (UPI) - President Ford winding up his first summit meeting with Soviet officials, said today, proposes for a nuclear weapons agreement next year are encouraging. Before entering his second day of summitry with Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev at a Siberian health resort near Vladivostok, Ford told reporters "We're very encouraged on achieving a nuclear arms control agreement next year." In addition to strategic arms progress, Mideast was reported high on the agenda particularly the question of whether Syria will allow a UN peace-keeping force to remain in its territory beyond this month. Ford was expected to ask Brezhnev to use his influence on Syria to renew the UN mandate. Ford and Brezhnev, who left it off well in an eight-hour session Saturday, began their final talks Sunday morning. In Saturday MST in a white sheet box van parked in a hall. Brezhnev planned a late-afternoon several hours later, a gathering postponed from Saturday when the two kept talking long past the originally allotted time. The president emerged from his talks, minutes before the talks and walked briskly the two blocks to the meeting site, wearing a white parka and a dark hat. Told of news stories about Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's midnight meeting in which Ford progress was being made at the talks, Ford said, "I hope we don't disappoint you."

A communique will be issued today. Ford leaves the Soviet Union after his one-day visit which also included stops in Japan, of South Korea. Kissinger had told reporters "Ford and Brezhnev seemed to have made progress Saturday toward a 1975 nuclear arms pact, but actually discussed the numbers of warheads that might be involved." N-waste floats FLOODED NUCLEAR waste burial pit and floating plywood boxes containing solid wastes contaminated by long-lived radioactive elements, primarily plutonium, are shown at Atomic Energy Commission's Idaho National Engineering Laboratory near Arco in drainage canals were constructed around the burial site, and the site was graded to prevent future inundations. Nuclear burial grounds photographs made public

By DAVID HORSMAN Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS - Responding to a Times-News request, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) Friday provided a photograph showing flood effects at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory's nuclear waste burial grounds in 1962. The federal agency did not send photos of a similar flood which occurred in 1962. The occurrence of the two floods was reported Wednesday to the Times-News. The newspaper was alerted to the floods by a former AEC employee who said he had been instructed by officials to show nuclear waste containers floating in flood waters. Prior to the flood story, an AEC spokesman had told the Times-News the "danger of contamination from the Snake River aquifer, with buried nuclear wastes, is negligible, partly because annual precipitation is insufficient to drain through the soil and carry the radioactive elements to the huge underground waterway." Another AEC official confirmed the two floods, but stressed that the problem was eliminated soon after the 1963 inundation when a dike and drainage system were built around the entire burial site and surface drainage was set up inside the site. He said the floods were caused by storm.

Crash victim said critical

TWIN FALLS - Edward A. Boyd, 74, Fairfield, was listed in "very critical" condition Saturday night in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a traffic accident here. Twin Falls County officers said Boyd's vehicle collided with another at the intersection of Kimberly Road and Eastland Drive about 9:20 p.m. Saturday. In a small van and collided with a vehicle traveling east on Kimberly road. Driver of the second vehicle, Paul Mark Coombs, 32, Kimberly, was not injured. Officers said the impact swung the Boyd van around to the east. It traveled 200 feet and came to rest after crashing into a tree. Boyd was being treated in the intensive care unit of the hospital for head injuries. He also suffered shoulder injuries when he was thrown between the seats of the van probably by the initial impact of the crash. Damage to the 1961 vehicle he was driving was estimated at $1,000 and damage to the Coombs vehicle was about $800. Officers said both drivers were alone. Boyd was taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance.

US steps into coal strike

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON - The government intervened in the deadlocked national coal miners' strike Saturday night by ordering both sides to begin intensive bargaining with the help of federal mediators. The full negotiating teams of both sides were summoned by telegram to appear at 10 a.m. today at the Labor Department here, in the office of W. J. Casey Jr., the director of the federal mediation and conciliation services. The telegrams noted that "both parties have worked diligently since it was first to consummate an acceptable agreement." But in the 12th day of the miners' strike, Casey said that "the mounting toll this dispute is inflicting on the nation now makes it imperative that a resolution be reached promptly." He asked both sides to assemble their full negotiating or advisory committees in Washington and to hold them in readiness. As the revived talks continued today, however, there were no signs that the industry was willing to make enough new concessions to satisfy the miners' demands.

Bellevue man found dead

BELLEUE - A 20-year-old Bellevue man and his Irish setter were apparently accidentally asphyxiated Friday night while they slept in a van in downtown Bellevue. Blaine County coroner Jay Butler said Leslie Sislum, 20, was dead when found by friends about 7:30 a.m. Saturday. He was in his sleeping bag in the rear of his van with his hunting dog lying beside him. The vehicle was parked in an unmarked space between Sam's Club and Wood River Realty. Butler said Sislum had told the friends to meet him there Saturday morning to go hunting. Butler said a radiant type iodine heater was operating inside the van when Sislum and his dog were found. Butler said he had no means of outside venting and van windows were closed. Investigating officers said it appeared the dog had made no effort to escape. Butler said Sislum was apparently unaware of what he was doing when he left the heater burning in the closed vehicle. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sislum, Bellevue.

Idaho Power balks at AF Dam demands

By DAVID BOCKMAN Times-News Writer
BURLEY - Idaho Power Co. has rejected most of the demands made by speecheolders trying to finance the reconstruction of the aging American Falls Dam. The power company's rejection came in the form of a counter proposal made in a letter to a negotiating committee appointed by the speecheolders. The letter was delivered to negotiators early this past week but was not made public until Saturday. The letter contains a Dec. 1 deadline for accepting the latest company proposals. If the deadline is met, the company was agreed to finance half the cost of meeting Environmental Protection Agency water quality standards and half of any costs exceeding the present estimate of $40.4 million. If the deadline is not met, the delays in making contracts and starting construction could put the dam a year behind schedule, according to Rupert attorney Roger Kling, a member of the negotiating committee. The delay could bring another increase in costs and more negotiations. The projected cost of operating and maintaining EPA's water quality standards is $70,000 a year. Idaho Power would pay half of that, or $35,000, to pump oxygen into water to help the dam's special structure, would be needed to maintain the system. However, the company's offer to finance half the cost of meeting EPA standards is dependent upon EPA's acceptance of lower than normal oxygen standards. The power company's original 1973 proposal was to contribute $19.5 million toward reconstruction of the dam in return for falling water rights. Original estimates were that the dam could be replaced for $20.5 million leaving the speecheolders with a bill of only $1.5 million. According to William Holden, Idaho Falls head of the negotiating committee, the original cost estimates were furnished by Bechtel, Inc. at the request of Idaho Power.

Renegade 4 spring comrades

TUNIS (UPI) - Four Palestinian hijackers armed with machine guns and hand grenades killed one of the more than 40 hostages from a British jet Saturday. Just released leaders. The guerrillas said the release of five Palestinian comrades from Egyptian jails but also demanded freedom for two Arab hijackers in a Dutch prison. The five hostages, including all the women passengers, one child and one man, appeared tired but in good condition when they walked smiling off the British Airways VC10 after the hijackers from Egypt arrived in Tunis. The passengers told reporters the gunman pulled a West German into the first class cabin after they discovered they had been double-crossed by Tunisian authorities about the supposed arrival of 13 Palestinian prisoners from Cairo. Two shots were heard but the passengers didn't know until they stepped outside the plane that the hijackers had killed the hostage and tossed him out the aircraft. They said the German appeared to have been chosen because he had argued with them earlier. The five Palestinians were sent from Cairo to prevent further bloodshed into the German's body had been dumped on the runway. The hostages said four hijackers displayed machine guns and grenades. One of them was a doctor who had been a passenger aboard the aircraft when it was seized Thursday in Dubai, a Persian Gulf emirate. Another hijacker was familiar with airline navigation, a passenger said. The passengers said one hijacker spoke fluent English but the gunman, all of them "extremely nice," spoke Arabic among themselves, calling each other "comrade" instead of using names. When the aircraft landed in Tunis, the guerrillas did not tell the passengers where they were. The hostages learned of their whereabouts only when soft drinks were brought aboard in cartons labeled "Tunis-Airport Gate." Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Thamez promised from the airport control tower that he would inform the Dutch government, which indicated Friday it would be willing to release the pair, consisted of an earlier hijacking, if such a demand were made. The guerrillas did not name their eventual destination but their captured airliner developed engine trouble, after 2 hours in Tunis. The aircraft condition then also broke down, adding to the disorientation of the remaining hostages. The guerrillas have released a total of 17 hostages, four on Friday and three on Saturday first group set free Saturday, included five women, one of them pregnant, a Frenchman and a small boy. The second group, freed 30 minutes later, consisted of six women, three of them English, two Australian and one Indian.

Based on the original cost estimates, the speecheolders rejected a proposal by the Bureau of Reclamation for federal assistance in reconstructing the dam and agreed to rebuild the dam themselves with help from Idaho Power. However, according to Holden, since the original proposal, the estimated cost of the project has risen to $40.4 million. This means the speecheolders' share has jumped from $1.5 million to $20.8 million. According to Holden, the $19.5 million payment proposed by Idaho Power "is unrealistic in relation to today's estimate of the cost to rebuild the dam." (Continued on p. 17)

Ford leaves no reassuring word unturned

(c) Chicago Daily News
TOKYO — President Ford has left no word unturned to placate the anxious Japanese about their relations with the United States.

In a communique, speeches and informal remarks, Ford has sought to ease anxieties by pledging the U.S. will remain a trustworthy ally, reliable trading partner and nuclear protector.

The two countries made the usual overtures to the need to cooperate in coping with the world's food and energy shortages.

The mutual security treaty with Japan was described as "an important and beneficial element in keeping the peace in the Pacific."

present are cannot be confined to military considerations.

No right to overeat

America, the cornucopia, has long had enough food for its people. Living in the land of plenty, many Americans have come to assume they have an inalienable right to eat as much as they wish.

The time has come for a reexamination of the right to overeat.

A large portion of the world's people are underfed. Some are starving. A look into the future presents a far grimmer picture.

It is morally unacceptable to overlook one fortunate section of the Earth's population while another portion starves.

While there may be sound free-enterprise arguments for unequal distribution of wealth, there are no convincing arguments for extending free enterprise ideology to include maldistribution of food.

To have enough food is a fundamental human right. It is an imperative which outweighs any particular claim by any group seeking more food than it needs.

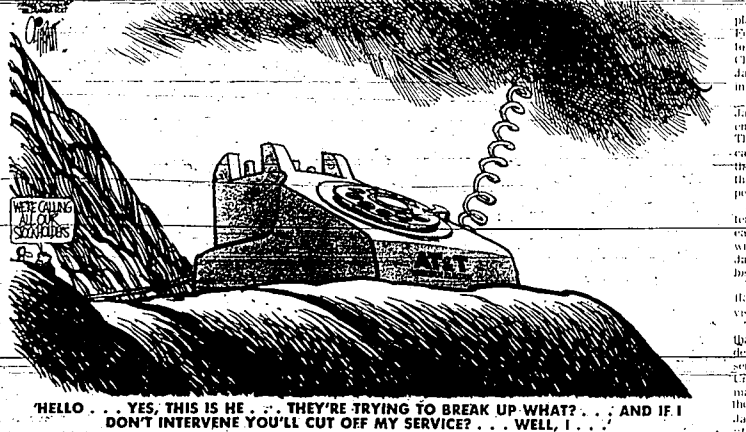

Americans are not only overweight, eating extra food to keep their fatty tissue alive.

They are also massive wasters of food. Enough food is routinely flushed down the garbage disposals of this land to adequately supplement the diet of perhaps 100 million people now hungry.

Cynics can argue, perhaps with some force, that elimination of waste in America will accomplish little in the long run.

Americans traditionally have been generous people. Few people would not share their food with a neighbor in time of need.

Elimination of waste and fat is not only sound public policy for recessionary times. It is a fundamental moral imperative for beings who hope to remain human.

Concern about Kissinger overextension grows

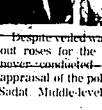

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's assurances to European diplomats here that the Arab summit in Rabat last month would follow his grand design came in the face of ominous intelligence warnings of a disaster might be in the making.

Kissinger based his confidence on the repeated pledge of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat that the Rabat conference would not undermine Jordan's King Hussein and hence Kissinger's calm tactics in pressing management to avoid making successive small withdrawals from Arab land seized in 1967.

Kissinger informed the Western European allies of the fatal Rabat conference, U.S. assurance of the inability of Sadat to deliver on that pledge is now being widely but privately cited as evidence Kissinger is overextended in conducting every aspect of American foreign policy.

The setback for the U.S., resulting from the Arab decision to designate Yasir Arafat as Israel's bargaining partner on the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan is a showcase example.

EVANS AND NOVAK

tempted to analyze whether Sadat could really hold the Kissinger line. No paper was drafted, no decisions held.

The reason for that startling omission was that middle-level diplomats do not know what Kissinger himself knows, or one quarter of it, about their own areas of responsibility.

A different and less serious crisis of diplomacy stemming from Kissinger's abandonment of policy experts in the State Department conference, one U.S. official told us, "but they had no idea what our policy would be because Henry was traveling in Asia."

Secretary Earl Butz took over and the game plan changed.

With Richard Nixon in the White House, centralization of foreign policy worked well, sometimes miraculously. But that has changed.

Time for Ford at QB

WASHINGTON — On the subject of the limping economy, and especially the continuing rise in the cost of living, it would help if President Ford stopped playing cheerleader and started playing quarterback.

He is talking too much, instead of calling the signals.

"Consider this speech on the law, 'A week's notice,'" Ford said. "The word has come out that the best way to defuse inflation and revitalize the economy is to curtail spending. Nothing could be further from the truth."

They are right about a sales slump. But the sales decline is mostly traceable to increased prices across the board.

President was telling us both to stop trying to reduce inflation, and to continue buying less than we used to.

Clearly, it is doing these contradictory things that Ford intends to sweat out the country's economic mess.

Most Americans, including this one, wish Ford well: his personality and candor are a fresh breeze after the Nixon administration. His candor is unappreciated. He exudes goodwill, and he has always been at ease with all kinds of people.

Return to the publishing business on QT

WASHINGTON — Gov. Rockefeller, there's a man outside and he says he has a book he'd like you to publish.

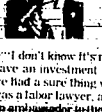

"I can't see anyone right now."

"He's been here three days and says he won't leave."

"All right, send him in."

But Gerald Ford, a man whose word was always used on Capitol Hill as a mark of credibility of that office by seeming uncertain about what to do next. Candor in a President is reassuring, but not when it causes him to speak in contradictory terms.

The Republic needs some hard and fast policies. It craves out for answers to its problems, but although Ford freely admits their existence he seems unable to make up his mind what to do about them.

"I don't know if it's not easy for a Rockefeller to have an investment that goes sour. We thought we had a sure thing with Goldbergs."

This could be our big break. We could become rich.

"All right. Go to a telephone booth on Third Avenue and 50th Street at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A man will pick you up and take you to Grand Central Station and give you a key to a locker. In the locker you will find the name of a lawyer in Los Angeles. You're to fly out to L.A. and this lawyer will give you a check of a bank in St. Louis. "What? Hasn't your man given me a check now?"

"The checkers are stuck in the publishing business."

World inflation, recession: monster possessing 2 heads

Inflation and Recession is the title of a continuing series of 171 dispatches covering world economic and social problems that will appear from time to time in this newspaper. This is the first of three general reports on the topic.

By RICHARD HUGHES
United Press International

What the world needs to rid itself of inflation, said one economist only half in jest, is a good old fashioned recession.

The recession has arrived. Maybe it was here all along. But inflation is slow to get the message and hangs on.

So many free market economies of the world are besieged by the two-headed monster of inflation and recession, and pessimists warn of a depression ahead.

It is an unprecedented economic mess. No one knows for sure why it happened and no one knows for sure how to put things right, though there are plenty of opinions about both.

Inflation arrived first. Inflation is when everything costs more and more and more. If wages go up to compensate, that means higher labor costs and, in a vicious cycle, higher prices. So it goes.

The traditional way to curb inflation is to apply brakes on the economy by making money less available. But most economists now say this would put the United States into a recession that would, exceed in length and severity, any economic decline since before World War II.

Prices may well decline or at least stabilize, but the toll will be high. More than 60 million persons will be jobless. Many thousands of firms will be scarce and corporate profits will drop.

The world will embrace the turmoil in a crude of prices, by the major of exporting nations and skyrocketing food prices, made inflation public enemy number one. But the developments, frightful as they are, were not present at the start of this inflationary period.

In orthodox economic terms, inflation began because there was too much money chasing too few goods. Nearly all economists agree that governments were to blame for this.

The current round of inflation in the United States is the creature of huge government expenditures of borrowed money to finance ventures that did not put equal value in goods back into the economy. Governments create more money by spending more, but if the additional money does not produce equal value in goods, too much money ends up chasing too few goods.

Erp, inflation.

From 1964 to 1973 the nation's money supply increased by 120 per cent while production increased only 50 per cent, according to monetary expert Sidney E. Hill. Most of the additional money was used to finance the Vietnam War. Hill says that money was spent on military hardware that was destroyed or was of no value.

Because it was a political unpopular war, taxes were not levied to pay for it and it was fought on credit.

At the same time, Americans awoke to all kinds of threats to the environment and the safety of workers. Industries were forced by law or consumer pressure to divert large sums into fixing or replacing facilities that did not meet reasonable standards.

In social terms, the money was well spent. But it did not increase the supply of goods. The nation's space program also was largely non-productive in the sense of creating new goods.

"In other words," said Frank Kellner, a banking economist, "we sought to do many different things simultaneously, all of which had the result of restraining supplies while increasing demand."

Inflation made in America was exported in totally to other free market economies, some of which had already started down the same road.

In the late 60s, inflation had raised the price of goods in the United States to a point where American products could not compete in Europe or Japan, this cutting exports. Foreign goods could be sold more cheaply than American products in the U.S. market and imports increased dramatically. For the first time in the 20th century, the United States was importing more goods than it was exporting.

The trade imbalance and anticipation of a devaluation of the dollar resulted in billions of dollars flowing out of the United States into Europe and Japan. So there, as well, evolved the Classic Situation. Too much money chasing too few goods.

The devaluation of the dollar and upward adjustments in the currencies of other industrial nations, chiefly Japan and West Germany, brought some stabilization to the international monetary system and helped straighten out the U.S. trade imbalance. But at the same time it contributed to U.S. inflation by reducing the supply of cheap imported goods.

To restrain inflation the Nixon administration imposed wage and price controls. Then it removed them. Business and labor used the opportunity to catch up with higher prices and wages. Inflation was given new life. So the government sought to restrain the economy by restricting the flow of money through the Federal Reserve Bank.

Interest rates soared to record highs and businesses had trouble borrowing money for expansion. Home loans were difficult to get. Overall productivity declined and the recession began, hitting hard the construction and auto industries.

Still inflation did not taper. Brought other adverse weather reduced harvests in the United States and elsewhere, creating shortages and sending food prices soaring.

In September, the Federal Reserve relaxed its tight policy and poured billions of dollars into the economy to offset the recession by making more money available for industry to spend on expansion. Many economists think more of the same is needed.

"Fully 50 per cent of our current inflation rate is accounted for by just two items—food and fuel," Kellner, the banking economist, explained.

Recognition of this, therefore, should give us some lessons for policy planners on an ongoing basis when "technology" favors the defense.

Inflation is not new to the world. Periods of rising prices and decreasing currency values have followed most wars in this and earlier centuries. Perhaps the worst occurred in Germany after World War I, when the German government financed by printing more money rather than raising taxes.

In postwar Germany, 20 factories worked full time just to print money needed to meet skyrocketing prices.

Money wasn't counted, it was weighed.

People wheeled around paper money to the grocery store. It took millions of marks to buy a pound of sugar or a can of sardines. A postage stamp cost five million.

This economic disaster helped lead to the collapse of the democratic Weimar Republic and the rise of Adolph Hitler.

Inflation was rampant in the United States in 1914, 1918 and 1919. In a pattern that is similar to today, prices rose swiftly following the end of a World War I to a peak in July, 1920, when industrial production and prices began a steady decline.

Recessions are not new, either. Since World War II and excluding the present, the United States has gone through five recessions—in 1918-19, 1929-33, 1953-54, 1957-58, 1960-61 and 1969-70. The average length was 12 months, and many economists say it will be the longest and the most severe.

A recession is traditionally defined as three consecutive quarters of decline in the Gross National Product. What is unique about today's recession is that inflation has not ended as the price has slowed. The continuing spiraling of prices reflects primarily, two unexpected and largely uncontrollable factors—the quadrupling of oil prices and high food prices.

Some economists say the danger now is depression.

"Recession is a horrible word," said economist Elliot Jaques. "The danger is depression. We've been through that before. They are unpleasant and costly but they are not catastrophic."

The depression will hit home, he said, when unemployment reaches 11 or 12 per cent, there is mass bankruptcy and the U.S. Treasury goes broke trying to borrow while the economy is shut down.

Charles Kirkpatrick, a stock market forecaster, said that although there are differences between now and the period prior to the Great Depression of 1929, "the end result could be the same—a depression."

Prior to the 1929 crash, the nation was on a 10-year speculative binge convinced that the U.S. economy was invulnerable. There was gross speculation in the stock market. In contrast, Kirkpatrick said, the current stock market is a 10-year period of gradual decline with periodic spikes up and down, much like the period in the 1920s through the 1930s that preceded a crash.

The Dow Jones industrial average, an indicator of 30 key stocks, fell from a historic high of 1,641 on Jan. 11, 1929 to 524 last Oct. 4, its lowest in 12 years. The average rose steadily after that and now hovers around 600.

Kirkpatrick believes the Dow will fall to about 470 in 1975 and the depression will have arrived.

However, most economists say the government as well as stock exchanges have prevented the rash speculation that prompted the 1929 crash. Also, the stock market does not play as big a role in the economy as it did then.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation functions to prevent mass bank failures and to protect deposits through insurance. Unemployment benefits and Social Security benefits help cushion the loss of jobs and support the elderly.

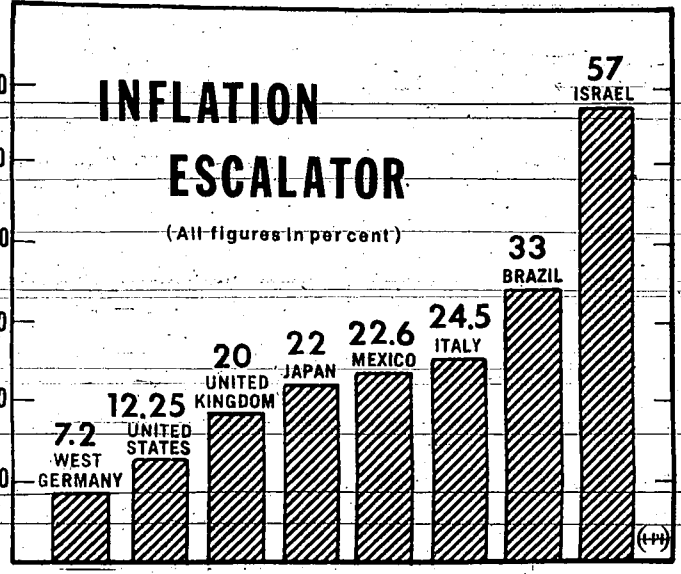

But, said a First National City Bank economist, "The chief joint to grasp is that in the 1920s a U.S. recession, induced by monetary restraint, was allowed to get out of hand."

"A central bank today would—or politically could—repeat the Fed's dismal 1928-32 performance," the economist said. "With this crucial element missing, a catastrophe of the 1920s type is not likely to recur."

Indeed, the Federal Reserve seems to have relaxed its tight money policy, which was designed to cure inflation with a dose of recession.

Now the question is, will the cure for the cold lead to pneumonia?

Israel, Arabs ponder first blow plans

By NEA/London Economist News Service

TELETYPE LENS—If Israel begins out again in the Middle East neither the Israelis nor the Arabs can achieve quite the surprise the Arabs brought off last year.

The Israelis, surprised by their own readiness in 1973, have overestimated their intelligence service, and are alert in their forward positions, on their radio sets, and on their communications monitors.

The Arabs, for their part, are keenly alive to the threat of an Israeli pre-emptive strike. And to launch a ground attack either side would have to build up its forces in one of the limited battle zones, which are expected to some extent by U.N. troops, and would then have to cross the U.N. buffer zone itself. It is hard to see all this happening without the other side getting some warning.

But there are many ways to knock an enemy off balance: the time and place of the attack, and the size and weaponry of the attacking force, can be manipulated in unexpected ways. A totally executed quick strike by either side could well decide the issue of a new conflict.

The strike itself has always been a good military tactic; it worked well for Israel in 1967 and for Egypt in 1973. And the 1973 fighting showed that there may now be a new kind of warfare—the short battle of attrition. Modern weapons have become so potent that they can kill large numbers of men and destroy enormous quantities of material in no time at all; the 1973 war ground up ten worth of equipment in a week. This puts an even bigger premium on getting in the first blow.

There is another reason why Israel in particular might decide to attack first. Time is against it. Arab money is buying an arsenal of modern equipment from the West, which could eventually find its way to the front-line countries. Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have ordered large quantities of weapons recently, including supersonic fighters, air defense missiles and tanks.

Against this, one lesson of the 1973 war is that conventional warfare is now, if trained, the Arabs think so too. The trouble there is that Egypt and, even more, Syria may have forgotten the 1973 war's signal message to them: that at the end they were losing it.

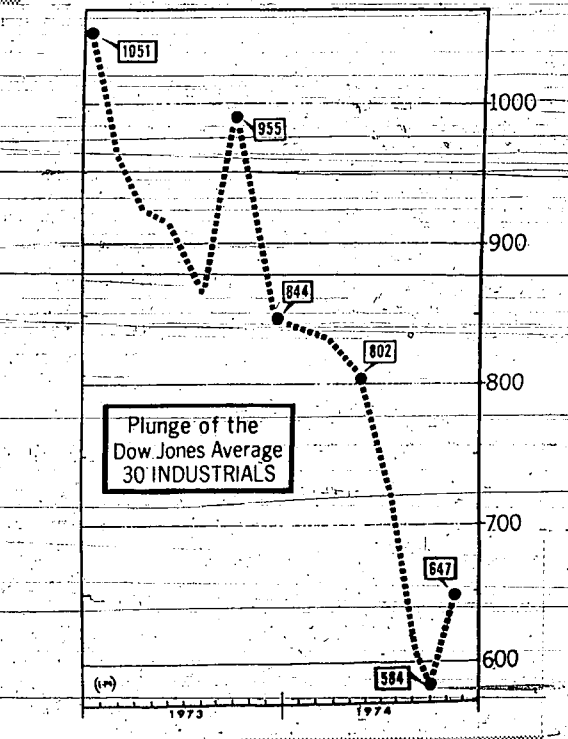

If fighting starts again in the next few weeks, Israel will be relatively stronger than it was when the 1973 war began, although perhaps not by much. The United States has replaced its losses of equipment and provided some new things. It is reported that the rate of supply has been accelerated in the past few weeks.

It has delivered some TV-guided "Maverick" missiles which are the sort of technical advance that could upset the lessons of the 1973 war by permitting accurate bombing at long ranges, with the planes less exposed to missiles and jets. But the central question here is whether the Americans have also given Israel laser equipment and the guided bombs that go with it.

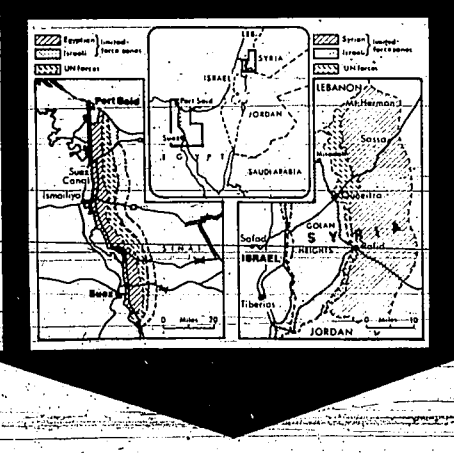

One of the major questions, if war breaks out again, is whether the United States will be willing—or indeed able—to undertake another immense resupply operation of 1973 proportions. Not only are its own stocks of weapons a lot lower now, but there is a serious question whether the present Portuguese regime would permit the transport planes to refuel in the Azores.

If it would not, and the other nations along the route balk as they did last time, it would be virtually impossible for the United States to give the kind of emergency transportation of weapons it did during the fighting in 1973.

Russia has also done a major resupplying job, and Syria, like Israel, is probably better armed now than before the last war. Russia has let the Syrians have some MIG-23 "Flogger" aircraft—at least the equal of any plane Israel now has—and it has delivered more aircraft and other modern equipment to other Arab countries.

TO STRIKE OR NOT TO STRIKE?

Prayer for today

I'm glad we have a special time set aside for giving thanks, God. We seem to have a habit of complaining. It's true we have things about which we can complain, but it is also true that we have more things for which to be thankful. Maybe we are prone to look on the dark side of things and count our problems instead of counting our blessings. The words of an old popular song have some good advice for us, "Accentuate the positive and eliminate the negative." Help us, especially during this season, to look on the bright side and be thankful.

Presidential bids

DESPISE his early announcement Saturday that he is a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona deftly may have plenty of company soon. Another aspirant, former U.S. Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma (right) said he will decide by the first of the year whether he will seek the nomination. "I'm leaning like the Tower of Pisa," Harris said, (T-N).

(New York Times Service) MANCHESTER, N.S.H. — Rep. Morris K. Udall Saturday became the first Democrat to open his presidential campaign officially.

In a low key announcement the 52-year-old Arizona liberal said he would offer himself to the voters in the coming New Hampshire and other state primaries.

Udall's announcement came two days after Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota—a candidate favored by some party liberals, withdrew from the race.

Earlier, Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had announced that he would not run for the presidency.

The Democratic party's liberal wing is under sharp challenge from the main movement, but expected candidate of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Gov. George P. Wallace of Alabama.

Saying that he hoped to unite the Democratic party, Udall declared, "There's a name for a political party that can't get together—losers."

Udall, who has been noted as a conservationist with his work at extending and protecting national parks and wilderness areas, and his major issues would be what he called the "Three E's"—environment, economy, energy.

"Frankly, I was a little bit reluctant," he said in making his announcement, but added that he had done so because there are people here who are ready to go to work.

Udall said that he had raised between $20,000 and $25,000 so far.

Udall, who has a glass eye as the result of a childhood accident, is a former college basketball star who flies his own airplane. He is six feet, five inches tall and is divorced, remarried, and the father of six children.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is planning to enter the 1976 Democratic presidential primaries in 1976 according to his senior staff aides.

Several of them said on Tuesday this week that they are certain he will announce for President early next year. Others said they are 75 percent sure he will.

Wallace, a former U.S. Sen., is reported this week by the Democratic governor's office as "leaning like the Tower of Pisa," Harris said, (T-N).

Cavett due on CBS net

NEW YORK (UPI) — Talk show host Dick Cavett has signed a new contract with CBS TV, an announcement was made during a press session that he has ended his career with the network at the age of 41.

Cavett, who has hosted "The Dick Cavett Show" since 1968, had decided not to renew Cavett's contract but had not notified him.

However, the performer found out about the decision and made his announcement first, Cavett associates said.

The Emmy award winner announced he was ending his show Friday night while developing a performance with ABC for broadcast in January.

He told a stunned audience that he was going to another network.

A spokesman for CBS TV commented Saturday that Cavett and CBS were in the midst of negotiations and an announcement might be for the man by next week.

A CBS associate of Cavett's said the talks with CBS centered on new spots and specials for the first year and hope to have a contract in the second year of the contract.

N-weapons agreement outlook improving

"We're talking about a comprehensive limitation on nuclear arms agreement," Kissinger told reporters at a midnight news conference at the former seaside resort far from the secret military pact of Vladivostok.

A start and many differences remain, Kissinger nonetheless indicated Ford had made the breakthrough that eluded Richard M. Nixon during his final Soviet summit last summer.

"He was a lame duck President," President Ford told reporters before the departure.

The "introductory" summit, Ford and Brezhnev scheduled a final two-hour talk Sunday morning before the departure.

7 1/4
Seven and one-quarter percent. That's a good one to start with. Our highest-yielding Time Certificate of Deposit. A $1,000 minimum deposit for four years pays a healthy 7 1/4% return, particularly with interest compounded quarterly for an even higher yield.

6 1/2
Six and one-half percent interest is your return on $500 or more deposited in a 2 1/2 to 4 year Time Certificate of Deposit. Again, interest may be compounded quarterly. It may not be as unique as the old soldier bank, but it pays a lot higher return.

6
Six percent interest is our rate on a $500 Time Certificate of Deposit for 1 to 2 1/2 years. Interest may be compounded quarterly. A shorter-term "CD" with a very interesting 6% return.

Silver schemes gyp thousands, US aides say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal officials said Saturday thousands of Americans in 20 states may have lost their life savings in a multimillion dollar "Ponzi" scheme involving coins and silver.

Some investors in Kansas and Iowa mortgaged their farms to buy silver and stocks in silver they never received, a federal official said the investigation told UPI. "These are people who never put money into anything except a bank or a savings and loan association."

A Ponzi scheme is a pyramid scam in which money from new investors is used to pay off earlier investors. It is named for Charles Ponzi, a Boston scammer who offered U.S. cents for 1-cent postal coupons in the 1920s.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has filed charges against four coin and silver dealers in Utah and Colorado. The SEC is still investigating the largest alleged fraud involving the Western Pacific Gold and Silver Exchange Corp. of Nevada which has branch offices in 20 states.

Authorities in Arizona, Colorado, Indiana, Oregon and Minnesota have shut down Western Pacific offices in their states. At least one of the company's two top officers resigned. Telephone wires were cut in the offices of Louisville, Ky., Cincinnati, and Columbus, Ohio, and Albany and Syracuse, N.Y.

Western Pacific is a year-old company formed by self-proclaimed millionaire James Houston, 28, an unsuccessful candidate for governor in Nevada on a minority party ticket. Houston said he raised $300,000 for his campaign on bank loans secured by his Western Pacific stock.

The silver Ponzi is the third multimillion dollar swindle uncovered by the SEC this year.

The biggest was the $100 million tax shelter scheme last June that demanded government get-rich-quick investments from prominent actors, politicians and businessmen including singer Andy Williams and Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y. Investors in New York, Atlantic states in July lost $26 million in a phone scam.

SEC officials told UPI that the silver schemes are aimed at "the least sophisticated investors — those who have had their people with their depression and storing food in the basement to prepare for the hard times ahead."

The silver and coin dealers can get started with $5,000 and a good advertising campaign. An investigator said. The dealers take money on contracts to buy silver, then try to accumulate $100,000 to buy a silver bar. If silver prices legitimate markets rise faster than the sales, contract obligations of these dealers cannot be met.

As new money flows to the ill-fated investors, they use it to pay off the earlier investors. "Usually there comes a time when the demands are too high to be met and there is a massive disappearance of money," the federal investigator said.

Latin drug link broken

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge announced Saturday that a $10-million-a-year, Havana to the Bronx cocaine smuggling ring "has been smashed at top to bottom."

Bronx District Attorney Marie Merola told a news conference.

Merola said his office had obtained indictments against 11 persons in the ring, "the entire gang."

He said the persons involved already had been arrested, including the ring's alleged chief and an aide who were picked up in Lima, Peru, Friday night.

Merola identified the major buyer in the ring as Dr. James Austin, 42, of the Bronx. He was arrested in Lima last night with 11 pounds of cocaine as he was about to board a plane for Madrid in a circuitous route to the United States, where the narcotics were to be distributed.

Also among those arrested here, Merola said, was James Hergueta, of Las Paz, Bolivia, who was Austin's alleged contact in that country.

investors to be careful of "get-rich-quick schemes, promising spectacular returns."

"Some of these investments are a variation of the Ponzi or pyramid-type schemes in which the purported operation yields little or no income and early investors are repaid with money obtained from later investors who are lured with substantial losses when the scheme collapses," the SEC said.

Officials said Saturday thousands of Americans in 20 states may have lost their life savings in a multimillion dollar Ponzi scheme involving coins and silver.

The SEC said "recent promotion of get-rich-quick schemes, promising slaves, people involved in particular returns without any basis in fact, have resulted in the loss of millions of dollars."

The SEC said investors should be wary of the following circumstances:

— Promises of returns of profits far above those normally expected.

— Sales approaches from strangers.

— Rumors you hear from friends, neighbors, and acquaintances about unusual investment opportunities.

Telephone calls from strangers, particularly in other cities, trying to persuade you to invest.

The use of post office box numbers in connection with communications.

How coal plants conform to national energy goals

At presently increasing rates of consumption all of our known gas and oil reserves could be used up within the lifetime of some children being born in this decade. Even now we are dependent upon foreign sources for more than 20 percent of our supply.

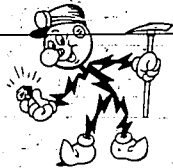

These irreplaceable resources are essential for plastics, for air transportation, for lubrication, for the petrochemical industry and a multitude of purposes absolutely necessary to our nation's economy and well being. They are too valuable for these essential uses to be burned under industrial boilers.

"We must develop coal... our most abundant energy resource. We must substitute coal for oil and gas in electrical generation and industrial processes."

—FEA Administrator John C. Sawhill
at Denver "Project Independence" hearings, August 2, 1974

Coal is the nation's most abundant resource, enough for hundreds of years. Highly desirable, low sulfur western coal is available to us from neighboring states.

A far cry from "smokestack" industries of an earlier day, modern coal plants of the Jim Bridger type, and the Pioneer plant planned for southern Idaho, can remove more than 99 percent of particulate matter from boiler emissions. They also can meet all existing clean air and clean water requirements.

We believe that nuclear power provides the best solution for longer-term energy needs. However, for our present requirements, coal plants are far more practical and economical, from the viewpoint of reliability, construction time and cost.

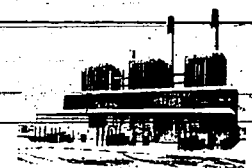

When we are ready to build nuclear plants, design and technology should be standardized and the expensive development stage largely completed.

So far there has been no break-through in solar power, wind power, geothermal or other exotic sources to produce electricity on the large scale required. Meanwhile, use of coal to replace dwindling petroleum products buys time for their development. However, it appears that for all practical purposes nuclear power will be the nation's major long-range energy source.

By moving ahead with coal plant projects, Idaho Power Company is supporting Project Independence, the national energy goal.

At the same time we continue to build an electric system to meet our area's electric needs. With your help and understanding we will continue to provide a reliable electric supply for Snake River Valley people.

Canada reduces oil flow to US

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada has agreed to produce its dwindling oil reserves with a plan which will cut oil exports to the United States by 100,000 barrels a day on Jan. 1 and possibly half an extra within six weeks.

Energy Minister Donald MacDonald told the House of Commons that the National Energy Board has approved a plan to cut oil exports to the United States by 100,000 barrels a day on Jan. 1 and by 50,000 more by the early summer.

But, unless exports are drastically reduced, Canada now produces about 2 million barrels of crude oil per day of which about half is for domestic use and the remainder is exported. The United States now imports an average of 800,000 barrels daily from Canada.

MacDonald said, "Canadian exports to the United States will be cut by 100,000 barrels a day on Jan. 1 and by 50,000 more by the early summer. Oil producing provinces to obtain approval for a further reduction to 500,000 barrels a day in July, 1975."

MacDonald said the reduction in exports after next summer would be made on a year-by-year basis, with the amount of the reduction being dictated by Canada's domestic needs.

"The National Energy Board said in a report Friday that Canada's oil reserves are sufficient to export in oil for 2 1/2 years unless it cut exports, unless it cut exports in oil exports would extend this period by about two and one half years."

Palestinian people gain 2 UN boosts

(UPI) New York Times Service UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The General Assembly approved two resolutions Friday which gave the right to independence and sovereignty and giving the Palestinian "liberation" organization "observer status in United Nations forums."

The resolution on rights, approved 29 to 8 with 37 abstentions, says the Palestinian people are entitled to self-determination without external interference and to national independence and sovereignty.

It also affirms "the inalienable right of the Palestinians to return to their homes and property from which they have been displaced and uprooted" and calls for their return.

The resolution also declares that the Palestinian people are "the principal party in the establishment of a just and durable peace in the Middle East."

The resolution was supported by all Arab states, the Soviet Union and its allies, China, Spain, Portugal and many third-world countries.

The second resolution, which was approved 95 to 15 with 19 abstentions, grants the Palestine Liberation Organization permanent observer status in the General Assembly and gives the movement the right to participate in international conferences under United Nations auspices.

Sirica may throw out 2 'Gate charges

(UPI) New York Times Service WASHINGTON—Federal District Judge John J. Sirica strongly suggested Friday he would throw out two of the 11 counts against two defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial.

The counts charge John X. Mitchell and John D. Ehrlichman with making false statements when they told agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in July, 1972, that all they knew about the Watergate case was what they had read in the newspapers.

Sirica said that the evidence the prosecution had presented in support of these charges was "very weak." The evidence involved what was said and what was in the newspapers at the time.

The judge said that Monday, when the prosecutions expected to resume, he would hear defense motions requesting directed verdicts of acquittal on the two counts.

Mitchell, the former attorney general and former head of President Nixon's reelection campaign, and Ehrlichman, Nixon's former chief adviser on domestic matters, are among five defendants at the trial.

Sirica also made clear today, however, that he did not think much of the defense that Ehrlichman's chief attorney, Fred F. Frates, had to the basic conspiracy charge in the case.

This is a defense based on the contention that the 1971-72 look-in at the source of "Dr. Dan"

Ehrlichman's former psychiatrist by the White House—plumbers' unit—which Ehrlichman supervised, was a national security operation.

The prosecution contends that one of the motivations for the Watergate cover-up conspiracy was to keep the Watergate four pliers, some of whom had been in the plumbers' unit, from disclosing such things as the break-in at the psychiatrist's office.

Ehrlichman's attorney, William S. Frates, argued today that this would not have been a motivation because the men involved in the break-in did not consider it a crime. They considered it, he said, a legitimate effort to get information about the participants in the pentagon papers in the press.

Idaho Senate battle shapes up

BOISE. Republican Idaho senate caucus meetings on the eve of the next legislative session, which begins Dec. 1, will be factious and may result in new leadership in the upper house.

Senate president pro tem James R. Ellsworth, R-Leadville, named Friday that after three terms as leader of the party's senate contingent he is now under attack by the moderate and liberal Republican senators, who have proposed an alternate leadership slate in challenge of Ellsworth's conservative stance.

Headline of the alternate slate as president pro tem would be Sen. Phil Batt, R-Boysburg, with John Barker proposed as majority leader.

Batt, who has served as majority leader during two recent sessions, said Friday he had made "no commitment" to serve a third term as majority leader under Ellsworth. He did say that he had committed himself to accept the president pro tem post if it is voted to him.

Senator Ellsworth has been in there for three terms," Batt said. "I think it's time to at least put up an alternative."

Batt said he thought these Republican senators favoring his candidacy and those remaining with Ellsworth were "pretty evenly split."

"Several people are undecided at this point," he added. "It's pretty tight in some senators, who indicated they probably won't make up their minds until the final day."

"I don't have any desire to criticize Senator Ellsworth," Batt said. "I think that responsible, dynamic leadership that includes all factions of the party is necessary to bring our party back."

One Republican senator who did criticize Ellsworth's leadership was Sen. Richard S. High, Twin Falls, who may himself be elected president pro tem as a compromise candidate if the Ellsworth-Batt factions cannot come to a clear-cut majority for either candidate.

High charged Friday that the senate leadership under Ellsworth had taken a "negative approach" in response to programs initiated by Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus.

"My feeling on the leadership is not a personal thing," High said. "I've got a great deal of respect for and I really admire Sen. Ellsworth. There's no one more honest or straightforward in the legislature."

However, High said, "as representatives responsible to the people we had to come up with some positive alternatives and not sit there defensive to the governor, and this we did not get. We were taking a negative approach where we should have taken a positive approach."

High pointed to land-use planning as an example of the Senate leadership's lack of initiative.

"I think the Senate had proposed legislation before it which had come from a long series of interim committee hearings throughout the state detailing land-use controls in line with the local controls, favored by most participants at public hearings."

The legislation as drafted would have met the public support for local land-use planning, High said, but the legislative leadership in the Senate turned their back on it.

"This is a good example of where I was disappointed in the failure of our leadership to act," High said.

The Twin Falls senator said in his review the Ellsworth-Batt factions are "definitely deadlocked."

"There are some people who haven't decided what they're going to do, and they'll probably make it sometime or the other," he said.

High said that if he was elected president pro tem as a compromise between the two factions he would accept the post "if it's absolutely necessary to put together some sort of positive leadership."

"I'm certainly not actively seeking the job," High said, adding that to do so would mean giving up his chairmanship of the Senate Finance Committee. "I'm not at all that excited about being pro tem because the chairmanship of Finance is directly involved in almost everything the state is doing. It's a crucial spot and I feel that I can do a lot of good there."

High said he would have "no hesitation" supporting the Batt faction. Batt has shown his leadership, he said, and Senator Barker is "one of the most effective."

For himself, Senator Barker said Friday that he is also supporting the Batt candidacy, and he added that he has agreed to serve as majority leader under Batt if the slate is successful, even though assuming the majority leader's spot would mean giving up chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Health and Welfare which oversees a large part of state spending.

Barker also said the vote would be very close. "I have a feeling myself that perhaps Senator Batt is going to win out, but I could be mistaken."

If a deadlock arises and a compromise is necessary, Barker agreed Senator High could be a possible compromise candidate.

"I really haven't been involved in this fight," he said. "The asked me if I would serve, and I said I would be willing to serve, but I really haven't made a big effort on this. All it takes is one person to change their mind and the deadlock is broken."

Barker said there had been some talk of a coalition with Senate Democrats to come up with a leadership slate, but he added that he himself would support no such move.

"Although all Senate members vote on the leadership, traditionally the majority party has picked the leadership and then voted on it as a bloc."

Senators High, Batt and Ellsworth also said that they had no intention of forming a coalition with Democrats.

"It would be unusual," Ellsworth said. "Anything is possible, it would certainly be unusual in the history of the Idaho legislature."

Asked if he agreed with Sen. High's evaluation that Senate leadership last session had been on the defensive vis-a-vis the governor, Ellsworth said that he did not.

"My opposition to the governor has been basically to some of his appointments," Ellsworth said. "I think that he has made some appointments that were more politically oriented than based on the interests of the people of the state of Idaho. I've always wanted to support the governor when I've felt his views were in the best interest of the people of Idaho."

Asked if public criticism last year of Senator High for not moving with dispatch in getting the state budget out of the finance committee responsible for his present opposition, as had been suggested by Senator Barker, Ellsworth said:

"I wasn't critical of Senator High because I don't think he was the one in the position at that time of being responsible for this. My remarks amounted to an indirect criticism of Senator Senator High which he responded to."

Ellsworth added that he has "the highest respect" for both Senator High and Senator Barker.

Speaking of his present opposition, he said:

"The fact this is an division of the conservatives and the liberals, I would still hope that the leadership will be composed of both philosophies."

CSI sued in Frontier Field fire

TWIN FALLS — Five additional lawsuits were filed in Fifth District Court Friday in connection with a fire at Frontier Field April 2 in which a number of horses were killed.

All five of the suits name the College of Southern Idaho, as owners of the property, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bonitas, managers, and the Frontier Riding Club.

Bill Schultz seeks $25,000 on each of two counts in his complaint charging Bonitas was responsible for the horses and equipment in his care, and was negligent in his supervision.

The complaint further charges the college, as owners of the property, was negligent in care of the property and was also negligent in hiring as a security officer, William Carlock, who had a history of being employed.

Doug Edwert and Verma Edwert seek $100,000 each of two counts on the same grounds. Another suit brought by Bells and Lorene Morgan asks $12,000 on each of two counts, while Lauren Lee Day asks $4,000 and Terrell Yost $2,700 on each of two similar counts.

Rain, snow possible in S. Idaho

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert areas: Chance of rain is forecast for late today and Monday. Highs today and Monday will be in the 40's with overnight lows 25 to 35.

Southside: Chance of rain is forecast for late today and Monday. Highs today and Monday will be in the 40's with overnight lows 25 to 35.

Synopsis: The weather across the Gem State today was cool and clear. A Pacific front spread high level moisture into Idaho early this morning. As the high left, moisture was encountered over the mountains, causing snow and rain to precipitate today. Most of the precipitation today will be confined to the northern and southwestern sections of Idaho. It will spread over the remainder of the area late today. Precipitation over the northwest and southwest ranged from 1 to 6 inches of snow Saturday. Millan had the most with 2.5 of an inch of moisture and Idaho City received the most snow with 6 inches.

Little change is forecast through Thanksgiving Day. Temperatures will remain cool for the first part of year.

Man loses law books

TWIN FALLS — William Babcock, Twin Falls, told city police someone broke into the basement of a rental house at 156 Third Ave. N., sometime during the past three months and took $500 worth of books.

Babcock said the books were stored in the basement of the house and were "missed" only recently. They included two copies of the Idaho code, one set of Idaho case laws, the US Supreme Court report and several other volumes and sets of books, all leather bound.

Seniors offered home winterization

TWIN FALLS — The South Central Community Action Agency is conducting a survey of the home winterization needs of seniors, disabled persons or those on a fixed income who are buying or own their own home.

Anyone in those categories who needs, for example, plastic coverings on his windows, weather stripping or other energy conserving work done on his home, should contact Beth Norris at the South Central Community Action Agency at 260 Second St. E. or phone 733-9351.

If anyone knows someone who has a home which needs winterizing, contact the agency.

Plaintiffs win lawsuit

TWIN FALLS — A Fifth District Court jury Friday ruled in favor of the plaintiffs in a suit involving a home building contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reinstein brought action against Robert C. Saunders, doing business as Saunders Construction Co., in connection with a contract for construction of a home four miles south of Kimberly for a total price of $42,846.

The plaintiffs charged the defendant did not complete the home as per the contract, and did not pay the subcontractors as agreed. The jury ruled the plaintiffs could recover $10,490 and the defendant could recover $380.65.

The defendant filed a counter complaint in the case.

North-side aides hear Hansen talk

SHOSHONE — More local control as a means to help solve some of big government problems was urged by Congressman-elect George Hansen at the North Side Communities Inc. meeting Thursday night.

As special guest speaker at the November meeting of the organizations held at the Manhattan Cafe, Hansen was introduced by Robert G. Thomas, Jerome.

Hansen pointed to OSMA, as one federal control which should be overcome with his proposal to return management to city, county and state controls before going to the federal level.

"With the present record, it is questionable that we would want the government to run our business even one day," Hansen asserted.

He deplored the trend away from a desire to pass the private business from father to son, saying this has always been the American way, but today's fathers are finding too many controls and interferences and they are consequently discouraging their sons from following in the family business.

President of North Side Communities, James Muffley, Gooding, reported that work has begun to improve the West Magic Reservoir road, a long worked for aim of the organization. First major work there is to straighten out some of the more dangerous curves.

There will be no meeting of the group in December, and the January meeting will feature election of new officers.

College closes on holiday

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho will close for Thanksgiving Thursday and Friday.

Thought the public is invited to spend an Evening in the "dia" through music and films at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Monday the Alcohol Safety Program will be conducted from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the student conference room.

Three meetings are scheduled for the student conference room Tuesday. The program board will meet there at noon, the Circle K Club will meet at 3:15 p.m., and the Magic Mountain Ski Team will meet from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend the ski team meeting.

A college home page Thanksgiving dinner will be held at the institute at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A movie presentation, "Filmore" will be presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The Film Club will meet at noon Wednesday in the student conference room. The publications committee will meet at 2 p.m. in the student conference room.

Friday and Saturday there will be a basketball tournament in the CSI gymnasium from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Recreation funds spent

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls received $1,131 in federal funds for its summer recreation program this year.

The funds, distributed through the Department of Labor program for disadvantaged youth, were used by the parks and recreation department to purchase equipment and operate a summer recreation program.

'Twas the day before Christmas

Idaho powder: West's best

SUNSHINE and powder snow make Magic Valley's ski slopes some of the best in the west. Here a group of Pomerelle ski instructors take time out for playing in the powder. Most ski resorts are looking forward to opening within the next few weeks. Sun Valley will open Thanksgiving day on man-made snow if necessary. Skiers have been ready since September, but more snow is needed in most areas.

Double chairlift serves MM skiers Magic set for season

TWIN FALLS — Magic Mountain Ski Resort is looking forward to another successful season under the ownership of New Magic Mountain Inc.

Junior racing and special instruction programs for area schools are on the agenda this year.

This year the ski school will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Lieberman and Mr. and Mrs. Morle Lieberman, part owners of the resort, and veteran Magic Mountain ski instructors.

The GLM graduated length method on a modified basis will be taught in the school. Beginner skiers are able to rent skis at the resort's rental shop as the various lengths are needed during the course of their instruction. The shop offers K-2 skis and the Humane boots for rent.

During the summer resort owners have redecorated the exterior of the ski lodge including the new addition which was added last year. The central ticket office was also painted and will again be located in the package on helicopter.

Jim Sundt, member of the resort teaching staff, will again head the junior racing program open to interested youngsters from 8 to 15 years of age.

Again this year the package plan for ski instructions will be offered juniors and adults. The ski packages will offer three days of complete services including three hours per day of ski instruction, three lift tickets and three round-trip bus fares to the area.

The first session will begin Jan. 11 and be held Jan. 11 and 25. A second session begins Feb. 1 and continues Feb. 8 and 15. Sign up will be at Newton's Sports Center at Blue Lakes Boulevard and North Main.

Resort operators say they will operate the area as soon as sufficient snow has fallen and will operate on a mid-week and week-end schedule.

Lifts will be running Thursday through Sunday and buses will operate from Dubl, Jerome and Twin Falls each Saturday and Sunday.

Plans are to continue the special mid-week program of skiing and instructions for area schools. Last year the Hansen and Twin Falls schools participated in the program as did the College of Southern Idaho each Thursday and Friday.

Resort operators say they hope to expand this to other area schools this year.

Chairlift, runs seen from Pike Mtn.

Airlines bring skiers to Sun Valley slopes

TWIN FALLS — Hughes Aircraft is offering new week-long "learn-to-ski" tours to Sun Valley this winter with special group air fares to the gateway city of Twin Falls.

Included are 10 two-hour ski lessons and six weekdays of lift passes per person. Each package also features seven nights of accommodations at Sun Valley Inn or Sun Valley Lodge, ski maintenance and an end-of-the-week race.

Costs range from $184 to $244 per person for double occupancy depending on the type of room accommodations desired. Trips will be offered Dec. 11-21, Jan. 4-5 and March 4-April 6.

Twin Falls is served exclusively by the airline's cities as Santa Ana, Burbank, Las Vegas, Seattle and Portland.

Popular Poma lift gets heavy use

MM race team widens schedule

TWIN FALLS — Youngsters in the Twin Falls area who want to make their debut in ski racing will find what they are looking for in the Magic Mountain Junior racing program.

Jim Sundt, member of the area's ski school staff, began last year with a small group of young schuss-boomers and developed a team which competed at Soldier Mountain, Magic Mountain and

MM rates

TWIN FALLS — Lift and ski school rates to be charged at Magic Mountain this year show increases of about 50 cents generally.

Day passes will rise from $5.50 to $6.00 on the chair lift and $4.50 on the Poma lift. A half-day ticket good on all lifts will be $4.50 and a half-day for the Poma lift only will be $1. Season tickets sell for $100.

In the ski school, private lessons are $7.50 for one hour; semi-private lessons, $5 for one hour and class lessons for two hours are $9. Expenses begin each day the resort is opened at 10 a.m. and at 1 p.m.

Rental fees and lesson rates are offered at $20 per day for the package of GLM equipment. This includes boots, skis, poles, the class lesson, and Poma lift ticket.

Buses will be available to the area on Saturday and Sunday at $1.75 round trip and the three-day lesson package plus including three hours of instruction per day, bus transportation and lift tickets for three consecutive Saturdays will be available at $25.

Formerly, winning a number of trophies and awards. This year Sundt plans to expand his team of racers ranging in age from 6 to 16 and to expand the area in which they compete.

"We plan on competing in some of the U.S. Ski Association sanctioned races in this area this year to broaden the experience for the youngsters," he said.

The first meeting of the season for the race trances has been held and about three more are planned before the season officially begins. All interested young racers are invited to meet with team members and Sundt. He said the meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-use building at the College of Southern Idaho.

Dates will be announced and additional information is available by contacting Sundt.

Pomerelle chair lift loads at front of day lodge

Veteran skiers head school

BURLEY Two veteran ski instructors at Pomerelle have been named to head winter Woody Anderson, as co-directors of the resort's ski school for the current season.

—Lex Kumar said—Harold Stanger, both Burley, will share responsibilities at the school this year, and both will maintain an active part in the instruction program, Anderson said.

Both are fully certified instructors through the International Ski Instructors Association certification program. Kumar has served for many years on the board of directors of the international organization and is a Burley businessman.

Both Kumar and Stanger have served as directors of the ski school under previous resort ownership. Kumar has also devoted much time, Anderson said, to help establish a community ski instruction program for the Burley and Rupert areas.

Anderson said the school have been affiliated with the Sun Valley school in the past and have cooperative members of the Professional Ski Instructors of America.

They are well qualified in the new Graduated Length Method (GLM) ski school method. Anderson said the two directors will have 12 certified instructors working under

Pomerelle tunes up

BURLEY Maintenance work continued on a daily basis throughout the summer at Pomerelle to fine tune equipment for the opening of the 1974-75 season.

The chair lift which was reconstructed and renovated a year ago when Woody and Sandy Anderson moved to Idaho from Utah to purchase Pomerelle has had further improvements this year.

By next year of this time, the Andersons hope it will have a sister lift just to the west of the present double chair.

Profiles of the mountain have been taken this fall with plans for installing the second lift to serve all runs, "in particular, the beginner and intermediate runs of Butternut and Fall."

The new lift will not extend above the timberline as does the present upper terminal and will be more courteous for the riders on cold windy days.

This summer the hydraulic pumps of the present lift were removed and taken to Reno, Nev. for a complete check and recondition and were in new condition for this season, Anderson said.

Last year, the extensive renovation and repair kept the Andersons working until Dec. 1 when facilities opened for the season. This year the area is ready for a Thanksgiving opening, depending on snowfall.

The new Pomerelle ski shop is equipped with a full supply of new Head skis for rental purposes. They are in the new GLM lengths of 131, 139 and 170 cm.

They are available for ski school enrollment or regular skiers equipped with a new 1974 model safety landing and will be rented without Lange ski boots.

The shop also carries accessories such as gloves, goggles, sun glasses, socks, wax and gift items.

Pomerelle will again operate seven days a week with the lift and two rope tows operating from 10 a.m. to 4:30 a.m. through the season.

Busses will operate every Saturday and Sunday and on holidays and daily during Christmas vacation through Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Delco, Alton and other area communities.

Anderson said day-pass lift rates have increased about 50 cents this year to help defray climbing costs of operation.

Half-day rates will also go up 50 cents but other costs including ski lessons and rentals will remain the same, except season passes, which were reduced last year because of the late start.

With seven-day operation, Anderson said, the previous low rate was found to be microscopically low.

Heading school

DIRECTORS of the Pomerelle ski school this year will be Lex Kumar, left, and Harold Stanger, right, who will have a dozen certified instructors on their staff. Both are former directors and veteran Pomerelle skiers.

GLM ski explained

There are short skis and then there are short skis. GLM ski instructors and ski dealers are finding something of a gap in the public's understanding of the difference between the GLM graduated length method ski and the ordinary short ski. Perhaps both are to blame for the lack of understanding.

James Olson, Twin Falls, a certified ski instructor who also runs a ski shop, thinks this is the case.

He said too many dealers will sell a customer a standard ski in a short length because the customer likes the look and price of the ski, rather than let him go down the street to buy from some other dealer.

While a 160 cm 70 centimeter GLM ski is designed for a skier of adult size, a standard ski in the same length will not.

Olson said many skis are purchased by people who do not understand skis and their principles of ski design.

Parents buy them for their sons and daughters of high school and college age who then wonder why they are having difficulty on the skis.

A standard ski is narrower, more flexible and designed differently than the GLM ski. When a person uses a standard ski while in too short, he is weight and height, it will "flex out." The skier's weight presses down on the center of the ski and the heel and toe are no longer pressing against the "snow." Consequently, Olson said, the skier is on only a small part of the ski.

Ski design is changing and most skis are now made of fiberglass, with either a laminated wood or foam core. On these skis, a standard design, a 5" or can use a 195 centimeter length where he may have used a 200 or 205, but should not go to any shorter lengths, Olson explained. The same skier might be with a GLM ski in a 180 or possibly shorter.

Short skis are easier to ski and they have been instrumental in reducing the "drop out" rate in ski schools where GLM methods are taught. Shorter GLM lengths have also helped the novice skier and recreational skier enjoy the sport more.

Olson said he feels instructors should explain the short ski situation to their students, and the retailer should make certain his customer leaves the store with a ski he will enjoy and which will perform properly for him and just his short ski.

SKI SCHOOL TRAINING PROGRAM:
The answer to your skiing program is GLM, The Graduated Length Method (GLM) has been in use for two years at Soldier Mountain Ski Area. This method has been extremely popular and successful in graduating many capable skiers. This proven system not only makes learning to ski easy but makes it possible for the beginner to parallel ski the first day. You start using short skis (3 ft., 4 ft. long) and rapidly progress to longer skis as your ability improves.

Early start

THOMPSON Flats, on Mt. Harrison south of Albion, has already been hosting snowmobilers for the current winter season. Here a group from Aberdeen and Burley areas take advantage of early snow to get machines in shape for deeper snows and mid-winter snowmobiling. A new parking area offers two acres of new space for vehicles just below Thompson Flats.

Eager snowmobilers hit hills

BURLEY — Something new has been added in the Mt. Harrison area for snowmobiling enthusiasts.

During the summer members of the Mt. Harrison Snowmobile Club have been working with the US Forest Service and the various high-way districts of Cassia County to build a new two-acre parking lot.

The facility will accommodate pickups, cars, and trailers for the many snowmobilers using the upper area of Mt. Harrison and Howell Canyon.

One of the main purposes in building the new parking area was to alleviate the problem of snowmobilers leaving their vehicles at the side of the road during winter months. This will facilitate improved snow grooming and safety for vehicles from the private parking area of the Pomerelle ski resort.

For the past several weekends snowmobilers from a wide area have been taking advantage of early snow fall at Thompson Flats, just above the new parking lot. Many have been snowmobiling along snow-covered ridges or just testing their machines for the winter. About one to one and one half feet of snow already covers the area, giving the snowmobilers an early start for the season.

Improvement for the new parking area included volunteer services by snowmobile club members to clear trees and brush, and leveling and graveling of the area. Louis Stimpson, Construction Co., Heyburn, was hired to move dirt, rock and trees.

Highway district of Burley, Ruff River and Blundick County donated gravel for the base. A total of 1,500 gallons of fuel was donated by local firms to keep the equipment operating.

A cooperative agreement has been signed by club members with the forest service for use of the land for parking. The club will keep the lot available to all interested snowmobilers.

Officers of the Mt. Harrison Snowmobile Club include Prace Simon, president; Bill Weath, vice president; and Ned Horner, secretary.

Activities of the club are started last year. The club sponsored a snow-rama in Burley and found the event so successful another was held early this month at the Landerosi Inn.

Other events include an annual covered-dish dinner at Pomerelle Ski Lodge for some 70 or more members following a moonlight snowmobile ride

Winter cookouts and a chili supper were also held last year.

A highlight of the season for the club is the annual snowmobile trip through Yellowstone National Park. Last year 62 members made the trip staying at West Yellowstone to assemble for the tour and spending one night at Old Faithful Inn's Snow Lodge in the park.

Fun events and races are held during the winter in Cottonwood Canyon and an annual awards banquet is held to honor winners.

Who's idea was this?

Young skiers learn ropes at Rotarun

HAILEY — Unique among the five ski areas of Magic Valley and Wood River Valley, Rotarun continues to operate with no thought of making a profit.

White costs of operation have forced ski-lift tickets, ski instruction and other costs upward, the small ski area near Hailey has continued over the years to charge only enough to cover operation costs.

Much of the work in keeping the area going is voluntary and because of this many children have been able to learn to ski in spite of the moderate or low income of their families.

The area offers a rope-tow for beginners and a chair lift for the more advanced skier.

While those responsible for the resort say their customers stay only a few seasons and their gratitude never sleeps, they have no complaints.

The purpose of the resort is to get the youngsters started and to give them an opportunity to learn to ski while young. Many of the top racers who have come from the Ketchum, Hailey and Bellevue areas had their first ski lessons at Rotarun.

Although the season is somewhat shorter than other resorts because of the low elevation, Rotarun opens as soon as there is sufficient snow and maintains operation until it is gone.

New ski lift at Soldier

FAIRFIELD — The new double chairlift at Soldier Mountain, which opens up more than double the present ski terrain for the resort, has been tested and is ready to run.

It gives the resort 26 separate ski runs and a few connecting trails which have not even been numbered or named.

He said the added facility provides largely intermediate and more difficult ski terrain. It also opens up some new north slopes where snow remains in a powder condition until late in the year and will mean an extension of the ski season at Soldier Mountain.

Both Hinkle and resort manager David Wheeler say they are anxious for more snow to get the lift in use and introduce it to the many Soldier Mountain ski fans. The new lift is "manufactured by Stadel Co., of Switzerland, builders of the original lift. It was installed this summer under the supervision of CARL Hansen, maintenance and lift manager at the resort."

Although the new chair lift is the big event for Soldier this season, other phases of the operation are also geared for the start of the season. The ski shop has been expanded into retailing of a full line of ski equipment including skis, boots, poles, bindings and accessories.

The ski patrol has tripled the size of its previous first aid room through a new building used for the first time last season. There are 26 active patrol members now under the direction of patrol leader Jerry Ostler, Jerome.

The ski school, under the direction of George Varin, keeps some 20 instructors busy with the G.M.A. direct to parallel method. Rick Carico, former Fairfield area instructor, is back on the staff this year to assist Varin.

Some management work made at the unloading area of chairlift No. 1 this summer and the usual hill grooming was completed.

Within the next two years the area is looking toward installation of still another chairlift.

This will be about 5,000 feet in length and while it will open very little new terrain, it will cover the general area served by the present two chairs. It will be designed largely to better handle the crowds and reduce lift lines when needed.

Hinkle said the past year saw about 40 per cent increase in business at Soldier Mountain and he feels the new lift this year will jump another tremendous unit in use.

In addition the area maintains a bar and two rope tows, used largely by ski school classes.

The snack bar is under the direction of Teddy Hansen with help from Karen Hinkle. Another project for the future, probably next year, will be an expansion of the day lodge.

This year the resort operates Wednesday through Sunday with bus services on weekends and a special Wednesday bus is planned.

Soldier's rates

FAIRFIELD — Rates at Soldier Mountain have been revised slightly upward for the coming season.

The double chairlift No. 1 will increase by 25 cents, up to $5.75 for a day pass. On the new chair No. 2, and for a ticket good on all lifts, the fee is $6.50 for a day pass. On the rope tow, the beginner or rope tow fan gets by for $1 a day, while the chairlift day pass sells for $1.

Season passes are a bargain at the area, but hurry; they will not be sold after Jan. 1. An adult season pass is $27.50 plus a $1 fee for the ski patrol and tax. Junior season passes go for $17.50. Children under 12 years of age can also buy a day pass good on all lifts for $3.25 a day.

Special rates are available on Wednesday, which is ladies day, and Thursday, men's day.

SUN VALLEY — Ski enthusiasts everywhere can meet Sun Valley's new Freestyle Team at ski shows this season.

This five-man group will answer questions and explain everything from mogul-busting techniques to the effects of a new turn on the fast-growing, free-wheeling, new step-child of skiing.

Betting the sport's youth, freestylers Bob Salerno, Bill Minor, Jim Stelling, Jim Ruscello and Bob Young are all under 30.

Salerno, of Ogden, Utah, 1974 freestyle skier of the year, brings a glittering array of titles to the team, with a second at Heavenly Valley's World Championships, first in combined at Sun Valley's western championships, first in combined at Boccata's world championships and the eastern championships.

Minor, Halley, also trails a string of firsts: Sun Valley's freestyle champ at the western championships, the world championships and the combined at Grand Targhee's cool dog contest.

Sun Valley's Jim Stelling can tell you "how to get it" in the bumps. He is rated in the world's top ten since freestyle skiing's advent and competed in more than 25 acres in the U.S. and Europe. In overall titles, he rates 4th in the European championships, 7th in the eastern championships, and 11th in the world championships.

Another Sun Valley resident, Jim Ristito, a two-year veteran of the freestyle tour, has chalked up valuable experience as a former Sun Valley Ski patrolman and ski instructor.

Skating, skiing fill SV winter

Miles and miles of ski runs at SV

SUN VALLEY — Idaho's Sun Valley resort, now in its 30th season of operation becomes the world's only resort offering two full-size regulation skating rinks.

The resort has one indoor and one outdoor facility meeting these qualifications plus a third small rink in the sister village of Elkhorn.

The indoor rink, 25 x 200 ft., will be used for expansion of the summer skating program and spring, fall and winter hockey games. Seating capacity at the new rink, which will adjoin the present facility behind the Sun Valley Lodge, will be about 700.

Upon completion of the new indoor facility, ice skating will take the lead as the first major sports facility to operate on a year-around basis at Sun Valley.

Although broom hockey has been a popular winter time sport at the resort for years, future plans call for an fully developed hockey program for youngsters and adults.

Herman Marzech, director of skating, claims there is enough local talent in the area for two hockey teams comprised of members of the Sun Valley Ski School, residents of the area who are now ex-collegiate hockey players and a few European former Olympic competitors.

A schedule will be arranged, he said, so that hockey players will soon compete with teams from Boise, Idaho, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Aspen, Colo.

The half-mile track is a banked speed oval which will be groomed before and between races.

Interested persons in the Wood River Recreation area may contact Mrs. Wheeler or Ray Wheeler, her husband and association vice president, or Bill Osterren, president. Mrs. Wheeler said anyone with any type of machine is invited to participate in the races.

The track and the adjoining BLM land comprising the WHRA is open to the public at all times, any day except when organized functions are underway.

Entry fees on race days are either free or reasonable fee.

no effect on skating in summer, spring, fall or winter.

The major sport running second to ice skating in the length of season category in Sun Valley is Nordic or cross-country skiing.

The avid Nordic skier would normally begin his season at the end of November and continue touring through June in back-country surrounding Sun Valley.

However, the Nordic ski season usually begins just before the opening of the alpine ski season, beginning in November and ending April 6. During this time the Sun Valley Nordic Ski School, now in its fourth year, operates probably the most complete facility of its kind in the United States.

Coached by former Olympic coach Leif Eldmark, the school, located in the Nordic Center summer time tennis facility, is comprised of 20 guides and instructors.

The school offers "class" lessons Monday through Saturday, privates through Sunday.

For the first time this season the Nordic ski school will have a complete equipment rental program.

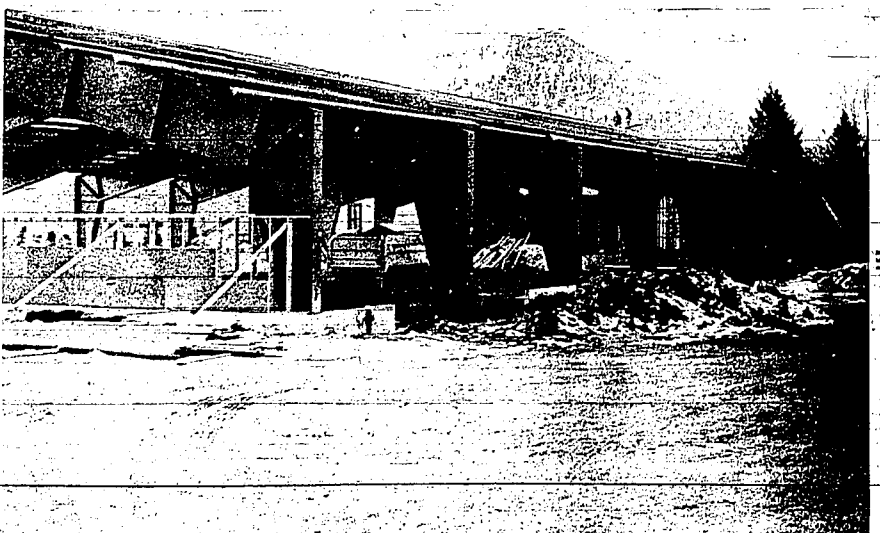

Students may enroll in the country and ski areas including torch-lighted tour to the village of Elkhorn for a family-style dinner at the Lustin Foundry Friday nights; day tours for snowking, the spectacular scenery around Sun Valley; helicopter trips to Wild Horse Basin in the majestic Pioneer Mountains for a Jiffy to a guest ranch for lunch, and for the hearty Nordic skier, a trip to Pioneer Cabin, a refuge for winter adventurers 9,200 feet high in the Pioneers. Skiers are taken to the site via helicopter for a downhill run back to Sun Valley.

Another exciting activity, overnight cross-country touring to surrounding cabins, will be introduced this season, as well as overnight to Devil's Bedstead Guest Ranch which includes breakfast, lunch and dinner.

In the village, beginners are taught the basics of Nordic skiing on the golf course while those familiar with the sport are taken into wooded areas, six miles from Sun Valley to designated new trails for the intermediate, advanced, and experts.

These bus tours go to Prairie Creek, Cherry Creek, Senate Creek, North Fork, Baker Creek, Western Holme and Emma Gulch.

Snowmakers brighten outlook

SUN VALLEY — Old Baldy will look just the same this season — but wait until you feel it!

Sun Valley has four Kasbaher Piston Bullys, no other ski resort in the world has four, four Thinkols, four Thinkols are the great equalizer between Baldy and the beginning skier. Thus that would normally be considered expert are meteorologically minded down to the intermediate level.

And this season Sun Valley is not going to wait until Mother Nature gets in the mood to give us something to snow. Snow began to fall around the first of November regardless.

The 39-year-old resort, like other Rocky Mountain ski areas, does not have to rely on snowmaking. Normal weather conditions call for a substantial amount of the real good stuff that light, easy-to-turn-in snow.

However, in order to insure a base for that first start, the summer Bill Jones, president and chairman of the Sun Valley Co. board, instructed mountain management to install the first phase of a million dollar air-water snowmaking system on the Warm Springs side of Baldy.

This pays off for the early bird because the resort guarantees a Wednesday opening for skiers and insures the regular season skier a good base for the fragile natural snow that will fall through the closing date of April 6.

However, the resort officials do a few more things: "his winter (Jim) make snow and groom runs."

From this basic level preparation for the best Ski season yet, Sun Valley has added a schedule of events that will receive worldwide attention including the Sun Valley Junior Mints Challenge Pro Women's Freestyle and Ballet Tourney, Feb. 22-23.

March will be the month for the cup races, the Harriman Cup, the only world cup to be held in the United States this year, March 12-15, the International Veteran's Cup, March 24-26, and finally the Sun Valley Junior Cup Professional Ski Race, March 30-31.

Frankly, most of the excitement will be on the mountain this season, but joyful in the villages of Sun Valley and Elkhorn also has been designed to fulfill the desires of all levels of skiers.

For the more traditional evening the Dutch Horn Gravelly presents the Sun Valley Orchestra, playing here nearly 40 years, and continues to play "It Happened in Sun Valley" just like the day it was written by Mack

Gordon and Harry Warren for the movie "Sun Valley Sorehead."

Because the resort is just 29 miles from the city, a number of hot spots, too, like the Tender Room where live bands absorb any excess energy left from a day of skiing.

That's all that's happening in Sun Valley this season — at least on the lodge and on the mountain.

Winter resorts listed in two state brochures

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Commerce and Development publishes two brochures each year to help winter sports enthusiasts find suitable playgrounds.

This year's Idaho skiing brochure is "Get A Lift in Idaho," and covers 26 separate Idaho ski resorts.

A chart-type rundown has been prepared in the brochure to provide information on the area, its location, available transportation, operating schedules, lift facilities, maximum vertical drop on the runs, ski school, lodging, "spurs" skiing activities, and an address and telephone number for further information.

Sun Valley names new Austrian ski school head

SUN VALLEY — This year the Sun Valley Ski School will be directed by Rainer Kolb, a young Austrian Sun Valley official's say will be well qualified to carry out the Austrian tradition of the ski school.

Kolb at 34 is one of the youngest directors of a major ski school in the world. He is short on years of age but long on years of teaching experience, resort officials say.

He was reared in the "classic Austrian" technique and instrumental in teaching 2,000 Japanese ski instructors that technique before traveling to the United States to become a member of the Sun Valley Ski School in 1968. He has also taught in Austria and other areas of the United States.

Kolb believes skiing is "international" and the ski instructor or skier should look the same regardless of his nationality.

This year the Sun Valley Ski School instructors will be costumed in identical custom-made navy blue uniforms but Kolb says their similarity of ski technique will further mark them as members of the staff.

The new director said the basic Sun Valley technique will continue to be used. It is a simplified method of instruction with as little movement as possible in the upper body, just enough to counterbalance the lower body so as not to become static.

"We will again use as much terrain as possible when executing wide turns and terrain absorption in moguls," Kolb said.

Working as Kolb's assistant, directors will be Sepp Froehlich and Bill Butterfield. Froehlich has been with the Sun Valley Ski School 30 years and has served in a supervisory post the past 22 years.

Arnold Kourad, a director of a ski school in Trebb, Australia, will work as a supervisor in the Sun Valley school, while Children on Dollars and Elkhorn will be under the direction of Myrna Heener. Mel Hammond will direct the Baldy kids' classes.

In addition to his ski school work, Kolb has been director of a water ski club in London, England, the past several years.

Sun Valley rates

SUN VALLEY — Wally Huffman, vice president of recreation, Sun Valley Co. Inc., has announced early season rates for Baldy skiing, Wednesday through Dec. 11.

Rates for skiing on Warm Springs will be $7 daily until Dec. 14 when the daily rate will be $10.

Should natural snowfall allow Sun Valley to open additional runs or the entire mountain, the daily rate will remain $7 until Dec. 14.

Beginning Wednesday-Baldy will open for skiing daily through April 6.

Skiing will begin on Warm Springs as a result of the completion of the first phase of our air-water snowmaking system. The opening of additional runs will be determined on natural snowfall," Huffman said.

Both publications are available from chambers of commerce or from the Division of Tourism and Industrial Development, Statehouse, Boise, 83726.

Fuel saving tips given

Last winter many snowmobilers were concerned about the fuel shortage in the United States. Now, with higher fuel prices, the same ideas developed to save gasoline will help them save money, say design specialists of Ski-Doo snowmobiles. The ideas include:

- Maintain an air-fuel mixture and oil according to manufacturer's recommended ratios.
- Drive at moderate speeds. Constant moderate throttle operation with slower acceleration will utilize fuel more efficiently.
- Don't idle the engine. Idling consumes fuel without any positive results and many cause inefficient operation due to improper timing and high operating temperatures.
- Keep the engine in top operating condition at all times.
- Use only new or clean spark plugs of the proper heat range and with the proper gap.
- Do not change any of the carburetor settings on the engine.
- Maintain all the vehicle components in good condition throughout the season. This includes proper track and drive chain tension, proper ski and clutch alignment and proper lubrication.

MV Snowmobile club finishes parking project

TWIN FALLS Snowmobile club members in Magic Valley will find a new play and parking area for their enjoyment this winter at the Diamondfield Jack Snowmobile area. US Forest Service officials, assisting members of the Magic Valley Snowmobile Club, have completed a two-year effort to expand the area. An entire new section across the main Rock Creek Road above Magic Mountain more than doubles the space available to snowmobilers for parking vehicles and unloading their machines.

Directly adjacent to the parking area is a new tubing and sledding run for the smaller children. Lewis Munson, Twin Falls district ranger, said the area is designed to take some of the pressure from the present play area just below the ski resort known as Lower Penstamun. Although original plans were to close the lower area, winter play area use has been so heavy lately will be kept open for the public.

Members of the Magic Valley Snowmobile Club contributed $5,000 to the improvement program which was derived from license fees. The money was used for clearing the area, grading it and purchase of gravel. The Twin Falls Highway District helped with the leveling and will maintain the road to the area this winter.

While most of the club's revenue came from license in Twin Falls County, some came from Jerome County. There are snowmobiles licensed in that county but no facilities for the sport. As a result, Jerome's license fee money is split between Twin Falls, Blaine and Cassia counties where areas are provided.

The facilities are open to the public at no charge but they also serve as headquarters for the club's winter-long activities.

Clinton Bean, Murtaugh, is club president; Joe Wisveaver, Buhl, vice president, and Darla Johnson, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer.

One of the highlights of the club's program each year is a ride from the snowmobile area at Jackpot, Nev., and back in one day. The ride, covering about 90 miles, includes the hitch slip about noon at Jackpot and returns by about 5:30 p.m. to the snowmobile area.

Mrs. Noah Oliver, club member, said the ride is made

Diamondfield Jack parking enlarged

sometimes on a few days' notice, whenever there is enough snow for the machines to go all the way to Jackpot. In the immediate area of Jackpot, snow cover is sparse and the ride can only be made at certain times.

The club holds club suppers, midnight rides, a stew supper and usually has one dinner each winter at the Magic Mountain Ski Lodge following a night ride.

All snowmobilers are invited to participate in rides and to enjoy the area's many trails. Another donation this year from the club was $500 for the purchase of new trail signs and markers.

Women riders enjoy winter fun

Snowmobilers party at Tahoe

There's a big mid-winter snowmobiling party scheduled for the Lake Tahoe mountain area of California and Nevada in February that figures to be one of the top events of the snow season.

It's the Moto-Ski Winter Dream Safari and guests will be 10 couples selected in a contest running from October 15 to November 30. Details are available at participating Moto-Ski snowmobile dealers.

Safari members will be flown to Reno, Nevada, then driven to the High Sierra resort area of North Lake Tahoe for six days and five nights of all expenses paid fun. There'll be a new 1975 Moto-Ski snowmobile for use on daily guided safaris onto the mountain trails.

Safari winners selected from contest entrants will be announced in December for the February 1-7 "dream trip."

Declo man heads ISIA

DECLO - President of the Intermountain Ski Instructors Association is Frank Gillette, a Declo rancher who has moved to Idaho from Utah this year.

Gillette certified as an instructor with ISIA about nine years ago as a member of the Pomerelle Ski School. He has been fully certified since that time and for the past seven years directed the ski school at Beaver Mountain, Logan, Utah.

This year he returned to Idaho and is back on the instructor staff of the Pomerelle Ski School where he started.

Gillette is a strong advocate of the ISIA and Professional Ski Instructors of America certification programs.

"When it comes right down to it, that's the whole purpose of our association," Gillette said. "We are in business to help improve the quality of ski instruction and protect the public from lessons by unqualified teachers."

Gillette said certification and the white or blue pin the instructor wears assures the skier he is in good hands and getting his money's worth in lessons.

For the past two years Gillette has served on the certification committee of ISIA.

"We usually feel an instructor needs at least two seasons of teaching under a competent ski school director before he is ready to try the certification exam," Gillette said.

An all-day examination on the hill in which the instructor displays teaching technique, correcting skier error and advancing the skier. A 10-page research paper covering ski safety, ski mounting, leveling and inclinations must be prepared before the instructor is ready for an examination.

There is a major correlation between the instruction program and accidents. Skiers with proper instruction are less prone to accidents, statistics have proven, he said.

Clinics to help prepare instructors for examinations will be held in five areas of the intermountain region this winter, Gillette said. These clinics and better preparation of the instructor for the exam have improved the ratio of those passing the certification exam. It is now about 50 per cent compared to as low as 10 per cent in previous years, he said.

Finish-binding mounting school

TWIN FALLS - Ski mechanics workshops are now being held in several United States locations to help the ski industry better protect and serve the skiing public.

Two Twin Falls men have received certificates from such a school held in San Francisco prior to the start of the 1974-75 ski season.

James Olson, owner of Olson's Skis, and Jeff Larson, an employee of Olson's shop, completed a three-day training program designed by the industry to instruct in proper mounting of various makes of release bindings.

Olson said the manufacturers of the bindings consider the retailer a manufacturer in his own right because he takes their product and puts it together to serve the particular ski, foot and customer involved.

"Various methods must be used to meet the various types of bindings and the skis on which they are being mounted. If not properly mounted the bindings can fail to function properly or can pull away from the ski."

The training programs also cover liability of the shop as to rental equipment and other phases of the industry, Olson said.

Insurance man reaches 'the top of the world'

Ever meet an insurance man who has battled his way, on snowmobiles to the North Pole and lived for a year with his family in the Northern Canadian wilderness?

Well, meet Ralph Plaisted, St. Paul (Minn.) insurance man, who has done both!

In 1968, Plaisted and three others became the only expedition to reach the geographic North Pole over the snow and ice and have their position verified by an outside source, the crew of a U.S. Air Force Weather Service plane which flew over Plaisted and his fellow explorers, Gerry Pitzl, Wall Pedersen, and the late Jean-Luc Bombardier, and recorded that "every place from where you are is South."

The Plaisted Expedition had fought incredible weather, shifting and breaking ice, and huge pressure ridges to reach the "Top of the World" on Ski-Doo snowmobiles.

Some students of the Arctic, as they carefully review the accomplishments and experiences of the Plaisted Polar Expedition in relation to those of earlier Arctic explorers, have come to the conclusion that Plaisted's group actually was the first to reach the geographic North Pole, 90 degrees North, by travel over the ice! One who has said Plaisted was first is Dennis Handley, in his recent book entitled Peary at the North Pole: Fact or Fiction.

Three years after his successful adventure to the North Pole, Plaisted, his wife Rita, daughters Tatty and Leslie, and Brian Brooks, son of a close friend, began another dream to live a year in the wilderness of Northern Saskatchewan.

Plaisted and his family built themselves a cabin, braved the long winter sub-zero weather, and survived the year-long "live-in" to complete what they call "the best year of our lives."

Silent challenge Northside Riders Club marks snowmobile trails

FAIRFIELD - Members of the Northside Riders Snowmobile Club have been assisting Forest Service officials prepare for the coming winter program. The first meeting was held Nov. 11, when club members carried trail marker signs to various locations along trails between Wells Summit turn off, north of Fairfield, and Liberal Creek.

Members worked with Rex O'Neil, assistant forest ranger. In a few weeks the group will return to install the signs to route snowmobilers into choice and safe areas and along trails which will not conflict with game animals.

One hundred small poles were cut to supplement the present supply of trail markers. (FNeil said members also cut some larger poles to be used for temporary bridge crossings at live streams.

Registration boxes will be maintained at the snowmobile parking area this year for help forest officials determine use of the facilities.

Hot-dogging at Pomerelle Easterners ski Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)

A few winters back, hill lines at Utah resorts were what the show business heard from "Ski Jump."

That has led to the airlines and downtown Salt Lake City Hotels combined with resort owners and state travel officials to lure skiers from both coasts to the Wasatch Mountain range.

The largest of the group is called "Ski Salt Lake City," the biggest ski resort in the world. It takes advantage of the location of the state's major winter sports areas within a half hour of downtown Salt Lake.

During the past winter, the number of out-of-state skiers on Utah slopes jumped 25 per cent, with most of the newcomers flying in from the east coast.

"Our business in the winter is mercurial now," enthused one downtown hotel manager. "We used to be 20 per cent full in the winter, now it's 100 per cent."

The airlines and the 23 hotels and motels in the Salt Lake ski association offer weekend ski packages, which include round-trip air fare, a downtown hotel room, transportation to the slopes, and passes good at the major resorts.

Utah's major winter areas—park city, park city west, Alta, Snowbird and Brighton—are all located within 60 miles of the city, and its international airport, the only place in the nation where major airlines land so close to the slopes.

The Utah travel council has gotten into the act with ad campaigns and ski shows aimed at Lurine "Foreigners" to the state, where the average skier spends just $60 a day. Overall, skiing has become a $20- to $25-million-a-year business in Utah.

Businessmen are already spending over the money, with one travel agency using the downtown hotels for $1 million in federal export on grounds it isn't allowed to share in the profits. The influx of pale-faced customers and midwesterners, however.

"I think everybody from New York should see Manhattan," says local bill Steinhilber, disenchanted by the longhairs and lit faces and crowded slopes.

When Park City talked last winter about limiting the number of skiers on the slopes on a given day, the locals howled.

"If they limit anybody, it should be the out-of-state people," argues Beyer.

Local ski shops cater to Utah's home-ground enthusiasts with posters reading, "Ski Kansas," and "Don't Call it a snowed-out Utah day."

But Jim Berry, director of the Utah travel council, insists there's room for everybody.

"Most of Utah's ski on weekends," he says, "but most of the time it's a 100,000-ski-a-week. You look at the parking lots on Saturday, and you'll see 80 per cent Utah plates on the cars."

The keep Utah snow for Utah's crowd, however, Berry's sampling method, noting the 7,000 skiers who flew in last winter and stayed downtown got to the slopes by bus or limousine, not automobile.

But there are those who feel skiers could leave their ski marks on the slopes of the state's 12 other smaller resorts if they don't like crowds.

"We don't have to go to Mammoth or Park City," he says. "But locals are attracted to them for the same reasons the tourists are—they are the 'name' resorts, they have multiple lifts."

They are also the sorts that are expanding the facilities to make the "name" resorts new. Let this year and Park City added four new runs.

Hotels and motels are sprouting downtown with a new Hilton scheduled for completion by the first heavy snowfall, a Sheraton on the lowering grounds and restaurant hotels affiliated with national chains dotting what used to be the City's central road district.

The major complaint of the out-of-state skiers concerns Utah's peculiar liquor laws, which produce liquor dispensing private clubs, restaurants that peddle airlines-style miniatures at cost, and change a buck for a single tavern which sell only beer and dry Soudage. But the deep powder snow along the Wasatch front, rated among ski experts as the world's best, continues them to ignore a "hook" image which has spawned such heavy airlines jokers as "We are approaching Utah." Please set your watch back 100 years.

Violinist catches upbeat

Dr. Richard McClure slated feature soloist

TWIN FALLS — The 10th year of the Music Valley Symphony is set to begin on Tuesday. This year there are seven featured soloists. Dr. Richard McClure, organist, will be the featured soloist. He will play "Concerto in G Minor" by Rheinberger with orchestral accompaniment. The symphony is directed by Ted Shaulder, whose wife, Judith, is concertmaster. They have been in the group since it began in 1959. Their daughter, Kathryn, plays viola.

There are several mother-daughter combinations. Mrs. Henry Conner is principal cellist, and her daughter Debbie plays flute. Two violinists, Mrs. J. H. Giles-Kimberly and Mrs. Albert Allen, Twin Falls, both have daughters in their section. Diane Gibbs and Beth Allen, Ernest Mass, violinist and string instructor in the Twin Falls grade schools, has a cello playing son Steve.

There are also two husband and wife teams. Ted Hatley plays French horn and his wife is a clarinetist, while Tom Brackett plays string bass and his wife plays the oboe. The orchestra will play "Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony" which has four movements and "Concerto in D Minor" by Vivaldi in three movements. Families will be admitted on patron tickets and individual tickets are available at local music stores prior to the concert.

'Today I am a Black Viking' by George Brownlee

Abby

© 1974 by Charles Tribuna N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: For the last five years I've been very much in love with a widowed grandmother, age 61, 1 foot 8 1/2, and in the process of getting a divorce in order to marry my 14th grand. Now, the problem is... I have one, also, but she always has a second, and then a third. She comes with her dinner. I order a bottle, and she drinks some of it. After dinner she likes one after dinner drink, but two. When we are at her place, the bottle is always out, and she always helps herself to the liquor. She never gets drunk or out of line, but she seems to be drinking a great deal of the time.

She likes little 'nip'

The shocker came when I accidentally discovered a nearly empty vodka bottle on the shelf of her bedroom closet. It was hidden behind a hat box. I asked her what it was doing there and she said her doctor said she should have a little drink before going to bed every night. Abby, do you think she's an alcoholic? I care for her, and want to know if she has a drinking problem before I marry her. How can I find out for sure? She insists she can take it or leave it alone. WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You have good reason to worry. Tell her of your concern, and suggest that if she can take it or leave it alone, you'd like her to have it alone for a while. Her reaction to your suggestion should tell you all you need to know.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-age girl and every time I come back from a boy-girl party, my grandmother asks me if we played "post office". I know post office is a losing game, but that's all I know about it. I've asked my grandmother and several other people in their 50s and 60s how that game is played, but nobody seems to know. Do you? And if you don't, will you please try to find out what are the rules? CURIOSUS

DEAR CURIOSUS: I've heard about the game, but I don't know how it's played either. Readers? Anybody out there know how to play post office?

DEAR ABBY: We are an elderly couple who invited three relatives to stop over for the weekend during their vacation travels. They accepted.

Planning a wedding?

Your wedding may be the most important event in your life. We wish you every happiness. In order to obtain the best possible news and picture coverage of your engagement and marriage a few newspaper rules should be kept in mind. Time deadlines are important. Engagement stories and pictures must be run in the paper before the wedding. Space is short, and engagement stories take some time to process, so it helps to bring in or mail the information as early as possible. Pictures of the wedding must be received by the Times-News within two weeks after the event. Beyond two weeks, wedding pictures will not be printed. Remind your photographer of the deadline. After the two-week deadline, wedding stories will be printed, but often in shortened form as space permits. After three months, wedding stories will no longer be printed. There is no charge for printing wedding and engagement pictures and stories.

We hired a woman to help with the extra work—bought, extracompany food that stretched over our social security allowance—and arranged our "sleeping facilities" to accommodate them.

They arrived 24 hours late with no explanations or apologies! Then they said they could stay only a "few hours" as they had made other plans!

I explained to them as calmly as I could that we had been terribly worried, waiting hour after hour, not knowing what had befallen them. It would have been a small effort on their part to have phoned us. Needless to say, none of us enjoyed their hurried two-hour visit.

Please say something in your column about the above situation. DISGUSTED IN AUGUSTA

DEAR DIS: What super self-control! They deserved a good tongue lashing for their inconsiderate behavior. Shame on them. But, if it do to you again, shame on YOU!

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for seven months and I haven't had my husband's parents over for a meal yet. I've had other people over for supper but not my in-laws because of my mother-in-law.

She has a habit of finding fault with everything. When she's been invited somewhere for supper she tells everybody afterwards what a rotten cook her hostess was. She also talks about what a messy house her hostess has.

My husband's brother's wife has had the in-laws over several times, and you should hear the way my mother-in-law had mouthed her cooking! I know how hard my sister-in-law worked to make everything nice, and that's all she thanks she gets.

My mother-in-law keeps giving me hints like, "Are you settled yet?" But I just don't feel like inviting them. Am I wrong? LEARY

DEAR LEARY: Yes. Why should your father-in-law be penalized because of his wife's? Invite them, and if your mother-in-law bad-mouths you, it will be a reflection on her—not you.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069.

Lupe Paiz, Jarvis exchange promises

TWIN FALLS—Lupe Paiz and Russell C. Jarvis were married Nov. 9 at St. Edwards Catholic Church. The bride is the daughter of Connie Paiz, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Rayajah Jarvis, Kimberly. Rev. Father Cosmas White, OSB, performed the marriage ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by Frank Garcia, Twin Falls, wore a floor-length gown of white lace. The bouffant skirt was made of lace tiers. The fitted bodice featured a square neckline edged with lace scallops. The long fitted sleeves were of lace. Her shoulder-length veil was of lace. Lupe Paiz, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was maid of honor or, Rosalinda Hernandez and Isabell Cullar, both Twin Falls, were bridesmaids. Joe Nelson, Hazelton, was best man. Rita Cline, Wells, Nev., and Nutman, Harman, Twin Falls, were ushers. Ernie Scavia and Salvia Salinas, Twin Falls, assisted with the reception, which was followed by a dinner. The couple took a honeymoon trip to San Valley and reside in Kimberly.

Nevada deputy sheriff complimented

JACKPOT Richard Casco, formerly police work at Los Angeles, Calif., finds you don't have to live in a city to win recognition as a deputy sheriff.

Assigned to Jackpot population 50, the Elko County deputy has a stack of letters of appreciation.

Not for solving big cases like the notorious 1967-68 bank hold-up.

Typical is the one from Paul Porter, Carnation Valley, Calif., to Sheriff Jess Harp at Elko county seat.

"Several weeks ago on a return from Montana, we landed our airplane at Jackpot for breakfast. This was the first time we had ever stopped there."

"On departure we flew a tire. Your deputy was most helpful and congeared about our well-being and helped us secure the necessary maintenance from Twin Falls, Idaho (under 1000)."

"I wish to compliment you on the sincerity and quality of your deputy and the cooperation and concern he extended."

A postal card from Mack's Inn, Island Park, said, "Just wanted you to know we appreciated your help when our Mustang got us in Jackpot."

"It was named Mr. and Mrs. George Goodman, who gave no home address but who were obviously having a terrific time at Glacier National Park in Montana."

Deputy Casco dispenses airplane gasoline and jet fuel from Carl Roser, Sun Valley.

"Thank you for sending me the dollar from your gas sale miscalculation. Your honesty is uncommon."

"I just wanted to let you know how much I appreciated your help on the over-heater car. Your kindness restored faith in the human race."

South was still holding blacked his chance to run the rest of the suit.

South thought a while and cashed his three high diamonds. West had to chuck two spades, a king, heart and club protection, whereupon South led a heart to dummy's king, threw West in and made the last two tricks and his contract with clubs.

All this was made necessary because South had not learned the automatic unblock with the sort of heart spade card holding he had been dealt. If he had learned it, his first heart play would have been the nine, the second the eight and the third heart from his hand would be the deuce. In this way he would find that East was out of hearts on the second lead; that his hand with a diamond lead; lead the deuce, finesse the 10 with the seven and then drop the 10 with his jack.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"Pretty nice end play wasn't it," chuckled South.

"Wonderful," for a moron, replied North.

"We think that North was rather severe in his reply, but South had overlooked an automatic correct play at trick two. He had been forced to end-play West to make his trump game."

At trick two, South needed his deuce of hearts. Dummy's jack lost to East's ace and a spade return had set up four tricks for West. South led the eight of hearts in dummy's queen. When East showed out, the nine of hearts that

99th birthday observed

SHOSHONE Mrs. Lottie Newton, 99, resident at the Wood River Convalescent Center, Shoshone, celebrated her 99th birthday Thursday.

Joining her for the event were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Newton, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Newton was born in Iowa and lived in Kansas until 1914 when she moved to California.

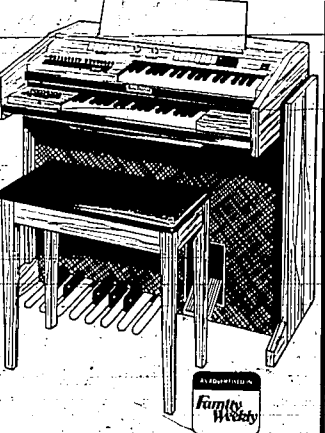

About two years ago she moved to this area to be near her son and family.

Cooking school rated success

TWIN FALLS — The Intermountain Gas Company Times-News wild game cooking school was an overwhelming success if the size of the crowd was any indication, according to Fran Hopper, Intermountain Gas Company home economist.

Mrs. Hopper said the show pulled to standing room only crowds during both sessions yesterday at the Holiday Inn. She said the gas company was "very pleased" by the interest and enthusiasm displayed by those attending.

Vince Albert, Intermountain Gas Company, said the registration slips deposited by those attending will be counted later, but a rough estimate would place them at around 500 to 1000. He said the bag they are in weighs 12 pounds.

'Ripoff Squad' hits 18 stores

WEST HEND, Was. TYP. — There's the Mod Squad, the SWAT Squad and now West Bend police have the "Ripoff Squad."

Patrolman Jerry Leutz said the policemen formed the squad to show area merchants just how easy it is for shoplifters to take things from their stores.

Leutz and patrolman Larry Kalscheuer, Ken Johnson and Paul Thurston hit stores in a two-hour period one recent Friday night. They came away with $663 in merchandise, including a power lawnmower, and their returned the material to the merchants this week at a seminar on shoplifting.

The police explained to the merchants how the shoplifting is done and Leutz said that while other customers see them take goods, no one reported the thefts to the store owners.

'Quasi-member' not accepted by woman

CHICAGO — Mary Clark, 25, who last February became the first female member of the Elk Grove Village Kiwanis Club, now has become the group's 20th former female member.

Mrs. Clark, administrative officer of the Elk Grove Village Public Library, resigned after the local Kiwanians voted to change her status from that of a "quasi-member" to that of a "quasi-member."

The Elk Grove club was pressured into the vote by the headquarters of Kiwanis International, which gave the local club a choice between expelling Mrs. Clark or losing its charter.

The club earlier had voted to fight that ultimatum, but the late headquarters urged compromise. The vote to give Mrs. Clark "quasi-member" status was the local attempt at compromise.

"But I view it as a kind of demotion," Mrs. Clark said. "I won't accept this new status as a quasi-member. There are provisions for all kinds of memberships in the by-laws, but not for anything like this."

"I feel I've been a full fledged member for the past eight months. My original intent was not to integrate the club, but to serve the community. And I don't feel I can do that in a diminished status."

Altrusa Club plans 'pooped out' party

TWIN FALLS - Rev. Tony Gamble, Wendell, took members of the Twin Falls Altrusa Club on an annual tour of South Africa during the Thursday evening meeting at the home of Val Knudson.

Rev. Gamble told of his native land, its customs, politics, languages, economic status, and culture. He displayed native items and showed slides to highlight his presentation.

McGuire was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker, Norma Herzinger, president, announcing a MV BPW panel discussion meeting on prevention of rape, self protection and laws on rape. The no host dinner and panel discussion are set for 7 p.m. at the Ferguson Hotel Roundtop Room. Dinner reservations can be obtained by calling 733-6665.

Donahue gave a report on the progress of the J. and J. Hall Memorial Fund, noting the Altrusians have been asked to sell tickets for the Marie Valley Chorale's Candlelight Christmas Concert Dec. 8 at the College of Southern Idaho's Fine Art Center Auditorium.

He and Mrs. G. W. Burgess were guests, Carolyn Burgess served as hostess.

The board of directors meeting is set for 8 p.m. Dec. 5 at the home of Mrs. Herzinger, with the club's "pooped out" Christmas party set for Dec. 26.

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE WEBB.

Couple celebrates 60th anniversary on Dec. 1

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Webb, Bill, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with an open house December 1.

The couple's children will be at the Luncheon in the reception hall, corner of 13th South and Main, Bill's. The open house is scheduled from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

TF pair to observe 50th year

TWIN FALLS Mr. and Mrs. Elmo C. Green will be honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 1 at the YAH-WCA Twin Falls.

The event will be hosted by their four children: Elmo Wendell Green, 24, wife, Nancy Ronald C. Green, Cleonard H. Green, Cleo Davis, Virginia Wash, and Garland Green Remon Wash.

The couple has 15 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Green were married Nov. 26, 1923, at St. Anthony. The marriage was later solemnized at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple. They moved to Twin Falls in 1927 where Green was employed for the Twin Falls Canal Co. 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Green invite all friends and relatives to attend the open house. They request no gifts.

Reverse bias

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—An appeals court today ruled reverse sexual discrimination occurred when a Binghamton hotel laid off a male waiter to hire a female "bunny" type waitress.

When the State Division of Human Rights ordered John W. Pleham reinstated at the Ramada Inn and given his back pay in June, 1972, the hotel appealed the order to the courts.

The hotel argued the law allows discrimination if based on a bona fide occupational qualification.

The court said no such qualification was shown in Pleham's case.

Many people have written or called to express just how in Washington but less with the status of humor, and sparkling wit of Barbara Hoover.

"Laughing All the Way" is a witty, wonderful memoir of her life in Washington. This is an insider's story, full of candid observations about everyone you have to "admire" her stamper and pose. She is always "in" to laugh at herself and the figure she sometimes cut. As she says, "The clergy and Elizabeth Arden be damn ed, nothing is better for the spirit and body than a love affair. It elevates thoughts and flattens stomachs and while I doubt that cadavers will ever replace Billy Graham or the Canadian Air Force exercises, romance may be the best and best deal you can get."

"Laughing All the Way" is an entertaining look to read, a look at the mad, mad world of politics and power written in a delightful style. For all those people who love personal tidbits about famous people, "Laughing All the Way" is a must reading.

Vibrations

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Francine A. Maroon, 25, has become so enamored by California's map she returned from "it" she decided she wanted to be named after them.

Miss Maroon, a day firm employee and a native of Illinois, said in a Superior Court petition that she wants her name changed to California Redwood Lady.

The whole universe is vibrations," she said. "Names have certain vibrations. My name didn't have good vibrations. My new one does."

Miss Maroon said the redwood trees of the north coast were beautiful and she thought, "Redwood" on that's me!"

Miss Hancock, Taylor recite nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS—Linda Hancock and Carl Taylor were married in an exciting double ring ceremony Nov. 12 at the Maurice Street LDS Stakehouse.

Best man, Lennie B. Nally performed the ceremony. Mrs. Nally played wedding music.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Laidman, Twin Falls, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Taylor, Hazelton.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, Ray Laidman, wore a floor-length white gown with an empire waist accented with ethereal lace and pearls on the bodice. A blue pleated train trimmed by long fitted sleeves and showed below lace trimming the hem and train of the dress.

Her three tiered linnet length veil was held in place by a blue jaded cap accented with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Blue curtains, pink table linens and greenery decorated the ceremony room.

Gene Hanson was master of honor. Vickie Sweney, Cindy Jackson and Lillian Gommersley were bridesmaids.

Earl Taylor, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Bob Pitzer, Mel Miller and Mike Gagner, brother in law of the bridegroom, were groomsmen.

The couple was honored at a reception following the chapel ceremony in the cultural hall. The hall was decorated with shades of blue and white.

The bride's table was covered with white lace over blue with skirts reaching to the floor.

The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with white icing and blue roses with green and blue leaf accents. The cake was placed over a fountain of blue water. The cake was topped with two hearts.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with a white lace overlay. Blue caricatures in brocade suiters were used for centerpieces.

Reception assistants included Marie Eckley, sister of the bridegroom, Barbara Smith, Annie Gorman and Denise Gorsall.

The couple was honored at an open house at the home of the bride's parents following the reception.

After a honeymoon in the Sun Valley, the couple resides in Twin Falls.

MR. AND MRS. CARL TAYLOR

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received to the library.

"Beremida Triangle" by Charles Berlitz. A history of the strange events which have occurred in the area of the western Atlantic known as the Bermuda Triangle, offering some theories to explain the mysterious disappearance of planes, ships and people in that area.

"M.C. Higgins, the Great" by Virginia Hamilton. Past and present, development and reality meet in inevitable conflict. Max Higgins must come to terms with his family and heritage and his own desires.

In a sudden dramatic climax, he reaches that safety for himself and his family which must be found in these hills.

"The American Woman Who Will She Be?" by Mary E. McElroy. Ten contributors.

Leading women from throughout the nation briefly examine the past and present in order to focus on the future. This book outlines eagerly and persuasively the present tasks for the American woman.

"Winter Thunder" by Marce Sandez. This is the story of a pretty young schoolteacher lost in a blizzard with her pupils.

It is a thrilling and moving study of the will to survive with what the author calls "the dignity of courage."

"Boredomback" by Marvin Karlins. Boredomback, a technique which allows you to control the state of your health, happiness and well-being safely through the power of your mind without the use of drugs, sounds like science fiction.

Now we know what Flash, Buck found

Washington Star News WASHINGTON—They're in outer space. No laughing. Scientists probing areas of the Moon with a powerful instrument have detected a chemical called sulfuric acid.

The discovery was made by a group of scientists working at the National Radio Astronomy Observatories at Kitt Peak and Tucson, Ariz. They were probing the surface of the Moon with a powerful instrument called the Lunar Laser Ranging Experiment.

They wouldn't go far in making a cocktail, and about 1 in 100 of any given place.

There are several ways to serve edam and gouda cheeses. They may be cut in wedges with the wax covering left on or they may be served with wax coating cut away at the top or turned back to form petals; with a cheese spread or scooped out or with cheese whipped and returned to shell.

Soup floaters

Clear soups like bouillabaisse or consommé are more interesting with this hearty garnish. Add crisped (crisped) carrots to a ground meat mixture. Shape into tiny meatballs. Bake or fry to brown. Absorb excess fat with paper towels. Drop several into each soup serving with a sprinkling of chopped green onion.

Lutheran Church site of double-ring ceremony

TWIN FALLS—Dorothy Ray and Thomas Powell III were married Nov. 20 in the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls, by Rev. Edwin Bernthal.

The bride is the daughter of Bill G. Ray and Mrs. Cecylia Watson, both Twin Falls, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Margaret Struge, Lewiston, and William H. Powell, Jr., Moscow.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar flanked with baskets of oranges, cherries and apples and four green pumpkins, each with an emerald leaf tied with orange bows, and golden candlesticks holding lighted orange candles. Best boys were orange and maid of honor was green.

The bride wore a modish princess-style gown of candlelight tulle with a pointed bodice, patterned lace, and a long, flowing skirt. The bodice featured a portrait neckline, trimmed with hand-embroidered rose medallions and seed pearls, and long fitted sleeves of lace fastened at the wrist with pearl covered buttons.

The skirt was trimmed all around the bottom with a row of hand-embroidered, hand-dipped, applique and pearl trimmed lace. The lace also edged the train on the back. A half belt of pearl trimmed rose medallions topped the low pleats at the train at the waist.

The gown was designed by the bride and fashioned by her grandmother, Mrs. Robert Ray, Jr.

Her floor-length veil of tulle, allover was fastened to a pearl trimmed jacket cap of candlelight lace matching that of the gown. She wore an antique silver pin which the mother of the bridegroom wore at her wedding. The cascade of hair was of bouffant roses, mint green pumpkins and baby breath.

The white memory candle which was placed on the altar was lit by the bridal couple during the ceremony.

Mrs. Tim Tvedy, Pull, was matron of honor, Pamela and Lisa Ray, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Stacy Lynn Knutson, Pocatello, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Walter Moore, Meranda, Ill., was best man. Mark Crawford, cousin of the bride and Kennedy, Kniefel were ushers. Clark Crawford, cousin of the bride, and Philip Kniefel were candlelighters. Timmy Crawford, cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a heart-shaped, lace-trimmed pillow. Bart Crawford, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Darrell Howard, Twin Falls, aunt of the bride, was organist for the ceremony and accompanied Wayne Watson, Hazelton, uncle of the bride, singer.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony in the hospitality room of the church. Mrs. Dorothy Lifer was kitchen hostess, aided by her committee and Mrs. Arnold Menz, Twin Falls, and the bride.

Margaret Kniefel was in charge of the guest book which was placed on a table covered with a red cloth. Hand-embroidered, hand-dipped lace made by the bride's great-grandmother, the late Mrs. I. E. Watson, Mrs. Bert Kniefel, Twin Falls, was on chairs of gifts, assisted by Julie and Sharon Kniefel and Mrs. Sonia Branch, Wendell.

The bride's table was covered by a white cloth with sheer white ruffle to the floor and decorated with six large orange bows. It was centered with the "Three Faces" chocolate. "Whispered" heart-shaped cakes which were decorated with orange ruffles, and green leaves and topped with a miniature bride and groom standing in a heart-shaped arch.

The base of the cake was trimmed with orange and green pumpkin, orange and green-tinted streamers, connecting the cake with heart-shaped bride and groom cakes. Orange candles in crystal holders flanked the cake and green punch was served from a crystal punch bowl and coffee was served from a silver coffee service. Orange and green mints completed the table decorations.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. James Crawford, Kimberly, and Mrs. Raymond Knutson, Pocatello, jointly of the bride. Mrs. Nicholas Ryser, Ann Arbor, Mich., paired coffee and Mrs. Ross Jones, Sacramento, Calif., both sisters of the bridegroom, paired punch.

Guests were served at quartet tables covered with white linen cloths and centered with brandy snifters containing mint green mums and tied with orange ribbon bows around the stems. Background music was played by Mrs. Howard.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner which was served at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. James Crawford, Kimberly.

Special guests at the wedding were the parents of the bridegroom, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Lila Farrar, adopted great-grandmother of the bride.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by her aunts, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Knutson at the home of Mrs. Crawford.

Out-of-town guests attended from Connecticut, Michigan, Illinois, and California and Hazelton, Buhl, Wendell, Hollister and Kimberly.

The couple will make their home in Twin Falls after a wedding trip to Indiana. The bridegroom is a self-employed long haul trucker.

TF library offers book reviews

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls Public Library officials have released summaries for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"Gettysburg: The Final Fury" by Bruce Catton. In this battle account, Catton has clarified for all time the causes of conflict. He has narrated and analyzed the course of events, paying full heed to the human tragedies brought about and he has examined the military and political consequences (Gettysburg).

"Carrie" by Stephen King. Carrie was the odd one at school. The one whose reticence, were always of his games, whose clothes never really fit, who never got the point of a joke. And so she puzzled her as much as they would puzzle her.

"The Love Letters" by Madeline J. Eagle. This is a novel about two women, one a young American, the other a young Portuguese nun of the 17th century. The light thrown by one woman's story on that of the other permits the author to reveal enduring truths about the nature of love, within or without the bonds of marriage.

"The Devil, You Say" by Andrew M. Greeley. A noted priest-sociologist takes a provocative look at the old reality beset by myth and ideology... namely, the devil. Andrew Greeley contends that there are forces of evil within each of us and whether they are "independent personalities" or not is less important than the fact that we are formed by them.

"The Painted Trail" by Violet Cannon. The final adventure in the series began with "The Runaways" and continued with "Fight of the Grey Gosses." This novel rounds out a trio of independent stories which chronicle both young and old.

Most bean prices down on California markets

STOCKTON, Calif. — Most bean prices on the California dealer-shopper markets had drifted lower as of Nov. 24.

Uranium was mainly unchanged to short-term requirements as average when possible, were maintaining minimum inventories. Government stocks are all below year-ago and this is the major factor in this marketing pattern, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture news release.

Prices in California for baby limas were $16.50 to $17 per 100-pound bag, this week, compared to $17.50 last week and $27.50 for the same period last year; large limas, $27 this week, $28.25 last week and $39.50 last year; blackeyes, $14.50 this week, $14.50 to $15 last week and $21.50 last year.

Other California prices in clipped pinks, $27.50 this week, $27.50 last week and $31.50 last year; small whites, $21.50 this week, $21.50 last week and $29.50 last year; light reds, $26.25 this week, $26.25 last week and $37.50 last year, and garbanzos $20.50 this week, $21.50 last week and $26.50 last year.

The Colorado Denver rate for pinks was $22.50 this week, compared to $22.50 last week and $27.50 last year.

In Idaho, pinks were bringing $31.50 to $32 this week, $31.50 last week and $27.50 last year; great northern, $27 this week, $27.50 last week and $35.50 last year; small reds, $28.50 this week, $28.50 last week and $31.50 last year; light red kidney, $26.125 this month, $26.125 last month and $29.00 last year; dark red kidney, $25.00 this month, $25.00 last month and $27.50 last year.

Also dark red kidneys, $28.25 this month, $28.25 last month and $31.50 last year; small reds, 1.37 this month, $2.00 last month and $2.40 last year; cranberries, $3.00 this month, $3.00 last month and $3.00 last year; garbanzos, 75.75 this month, $8.22 last month and $9.94 last year; and other classes, $16.00 this month, $22.50 last month and $6.45 last year.

Total storage for this month is 3,619,631 compared to 1,666,042 last month and 2,234,717 last year.

Prices for small whites ranged unchanged to slightly lower at $21.67 to $23. Demand and movement of this bean continues to lag below normal, the USDA reported. Bushings (Navy) were indicated $16.50 FOB Michigan warehouse.

The California dry bean warehouse inventory includes large limas with 241,062 100-pound bags this month, 211,034 last month, and 147,436 in November, 1973; baby limas, 529,513 this month, 434,743 last month and 217,579 last year.

Others include flat whites

Unwritten limits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. has quietly adopted an unwritten export-review policy designed to conserve grain for use in fighting hunger in developing nations this year, agriculture secretary Earl Butz indicates.

Butz is strongly opposed to export controls in principle but is currently operating a voluntary approval system under which U.S. private traders must get government clearance for major shipments.

He hinted strongly the government will not grant approval for export shipments which commercial buyers intend to use for stockpiling instead of current needs.

Butz said 50 shipments have been disappointed yet under the voluntary approval plan. But there have been "two or three cases" where approval was delayed until officials cleared up suspicious the grain might be hoarded for stockpiles, he said.

Lincoln voting deadline set

SHOSHONE — Farmers and ranchers of Lincoln County must cast their ballots by Dec. 2 in the annual Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation community committee elections.

James Tate, county ASCS executive director, said the ballots are largely by mail and they must be in the mail in delivered to the ASCS office by Dec. 2.

Names include those for the Richmond, community committee — Peter Appell, Forrest Armstrong, Lloyd Lee Harold Prohman, Ralph Hiley and Glen Ross; Shoshone, Paul Hancock, Gordon Brown, Kenneth Colter, Dale Edson, Evan Guthrie and Ed Shreeve; and Detert, Tom Beckley, Gary Bowman, Charles Hreva, Randy McCowan, John Mitchell, Jr., Kenneth and Steve Siga.

Techniques pay off

DENVER (UPI) — A soil conservation official says only advanced farming techniques and an unexpected rainfall saved Colorado from a disastrous drought last summer. But he said the forecast for the future looks bleak.

Bud Melchberg, president of the Colorado Association of Soil Conservation Districts, said farmers should prepare themselves for the "worst possible situation" because they would be called upon to help feed the world's hungry despite severe drought expected in the next few years.

"America is going to be called on to provide leadership and technology to advance underprivileged countries in food production, but in the meantime the rest of us are going to have to fill the gap," he said. "A drought is going to make that a difficult task."

Utann predicts higher sugar prices

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The president of UGI Sugar Co. says sugar prices are too high, but they're going higher.

Rowland M. Cannon said Thursday that about all that housewife can do about it is "pay the price or don't buy sugar."

A one-pound box of UGI sugar sold for 67 cents in Salt Lake supermarkets Thursday, an increase of about 200 per cent over last year's price.

But Cannon, displaced figures which he said showed that UGI's prices to major users were substantially lower than prices in the other marketing areas of the country.

UGI's price of $2.20 per hundredweight compared to a high of $7.40 in the Gulf States and the Chicago area.

Cannon said his company was "trying to hold the line" but that it would only be a matter of time until it was had to hike prices to prevent speculators from buying cheap Utah sugar and selling it at a profit in other areas.

Cannon said much more than increase prices to level growers.

Paul Hoffmeyer, manager of Utah Grower, said he had in the National Federation of Sugar Beet Growers, said: "I'd planted all my heritage in beets, this year I'd be in clover."

Cannon said one of the major reasons for sky rocketing prices was Congress' defeat in the Sugar Act last June. Although technically in effect until the end of this year, Cannon said, the loss of the Sugar Act was causing instability in the world sugar market.

That world market, he said, is extremely sensitive and is extremely volatile.

Cannon said much more than increase prices to level growers.

He said. He pointed to the 1973 figures and explained they were low because of a freeze which had damaged much of the beet crop in the state of Washington. But a chart of the company's sales figures were on a steady upward path despite the low profit figure of '73.

Cannon said UGI, which has about half of the sugar market in Utah, did not see any relief in sight, despite an agreement with the Department of Agriculture on the stock speculation that prices would be down to 20 cents per pound by late next year.

Grain futures, cattle firm up

COURTESY SINCLAIR & CO.
CHICAGO - Corn and wheat futures were stronger Friday, while soybeans showed little change in quiet trading.
 Commodity News Service said export news provided strength for wheat particularly in cash markets. Shorts were nervous and active covering lifted prices as much as 18 cents above Thursday's close. Traders say some farmers who had held wheat in anticipation of better prices are now at long-term contracts payments delivered 1975 or later.
 In cash markets, Chicago was up 2 cents for hard winter at December price and soft red was up 3 cents to 2 cents under December. At the fall, hard red was up 1 cent and soft red was up 5 cents a bushel and an improvement of 3 cents on the week.
 Corn traders had a 10 cent range for scalping Friday as the market closed with small gains which ranged from unchanged to mostly 3 cents higher. The session was quiet and general economics influenced the scene. Harvesting is continuing in some states and export news was lacking Friday although there was an increase of 26.6 million bushels in the unshipped exports report.
 No. 2 yellow corn was 15 cents under December in Chicago while Gulf corn is 1 cent higher at 5 cents over December.
 Soybeans showed mixed results in choppy trading, with beans closing from 4 1/2 cents lower to 7 cents higher. Cash oil basis was unchanged at 20 points over December but cash oil was down more than 3 cents over the past week. Meal futures were down 1.00-2.00 in important months and cash meal was quoted at $20.00 per ton. There was some holding in soybeans, but cash beans are unchanged at 90 cents under January in Chicago. Gulf beans are unchanged at 14.5 cents over January.
 Layer cattle futures finished the week with a firmer stance, with Friday's final quotes ranging from up 30 cents to thin trading August to tract Friday, as live cattle recovered and grains rebounded. Feeder receipts continued lighter and cash markets continued to show strength.

 May Maine potatoes weakened again Friday but distant November next year's crop continued to inch upward. Final quotes ranged from 7 cents lower to 14 cents higher on a trade of 1,200 contracts. Speculative interest in the 1975 crop was spurred by the possibility that Midwest growers may shift to sugar beets from potatoes. Fundamentals and cash were little changed.

dividend declared
BOISE (UPI) - The Boise Cascade Corp. board of directors has declared a 12-cent per share common stock dividend payable Jan. 17, 1975 to shareholders of record on Dec. 20.
 The directors also declared a 25-cent per share dividend on the company's $3 cumulative convertible preferred stock series A, payable Feb. 1, 1975, to shareholders of record on Dec. 27.
 It also was announced that Senior Vice President and Controller Will M. Storey has been named chief financial officer and Robert H. Schwarz has been elected a vice president.

SUGAR FIRM
 income up over 250%
OGDEN (UPI) - The Amalgamated Sugar Co. reports net income of $20.7 million for fiscal 1974, a more than 250 per cent increase from the previous year.
 The company said Thursday the income is equal to $10.00 per share of common stock. This compares with earnings of $7.1 million for 1973, or $3.44 per share of common.
 At its meeting, the board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per common share, payable Feb. 1, 1975 to shareholders of record Jan. 17, 1975.
 The board also declared a special dividend of record Dec. 2.
 Sales for fiscal 1974 were $280,425,000, compared to sales of $128,574,000 for fiscal 1973.

Man pleads innocent to murder charge

TWIN FALLS — Richard Lee Hoffman, 23, entered a plea of innocent Friday in Fifth Judicial District Court when he was arraigned on charges of first-degree murder.

Hoffman, an inmate in the custody of the Idaho State Penitentiary, is charged with the Aug. 7 murder of Spokane resident, a Twin Falls resident.

Mrs. White, 30, was a waitress in a restaurant in Twin Falls where she was employed and where she had been on duty alone during the lunch hour. She had been stabbed to death.

Hoffman was arrested a short time later. He wanted his attorney at once and asked for the county attorney to be appointed. The public defender firm was named to represent Hoffman.

Power plant hearing planned

BOISE — UPI. A public hearing will be held before the state Department of Health and Welfare decides whether to issue a permit for Idaho Power Co. to build a coal-fired power plant near Boise.

Director James A. Day said that while the law does not require a public hearing one will be conducted to translate complicated technical facts about air and water standards into layman's language.

He added that comments from the public will be considered before any permit is issued.

Free Thanksgiving dinner offered

TWIN FALLS — All persons at the Twin Falls area who are alone on Thanksgiving Day or those who do not have an opportunity for a Thanksgiving dinner are invited to be the guests at the city hall.

Capt. Dale Vaden of the Salvation Army said the dinner is an evening's dinner for all who are alone or cannot afford a special dinner. Dinner will be served in the Salvation Army Center on Second Ave. N. beginning at 6 p.m. and continuing until about 9 p.m.

Persons planning to attend are asked to call the Salvation Army at 333-2700. Reservations may be made by calling 333-2700 or 333-2700. The reservation is free.

Home, family week proclaimed

BOISE — Gov. Cecil Andrus has proclaimed the week of Nov. 23 through 29 as Home and Family Living Week in Idaho.

The proclamation was issued on behalf of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs and the effort on the part of the club, mandatory and leaders to promote a spiritual uplift in homes and in the quality of home living.

Mrs. Harry Findley, chairman of the home life department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington, D.C., said: "Through our concern and interest as women, we accept the fact our principal responsibility is to bring back into the home the qualities of morality, honesty, integrity and respect for authority and property, and above all spiritual uplift in homes that may be lacking in these qualities."

Mrs. Harry Findley, chairman of the home life department of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs.

CAA considers learning center

TWIN FALLS — People of all ages interested in sharing talents and experiences are invited to a meeting at the South Central Community Action Agency Tuesday at 6 p.m.

The meeting is the third planning meeting sponsored by the agency, located at 209 Second St. E., for those who are interested in working with other people or in the community on a volunteer basis.

Because a youth-oriented group, those attending the meetings decided to extend an invitation to people of all ages. They are currently trying to determine the needs and activities that people in the community might be interested in.

The group is considering setting up a social learning center in the community.

Hells Canyon bill stalled

WASHINGTON — UPI. A lame duck California congressman has succeeded in drafting up a bill that would create a national recreation area in Hells Canyon on the Oregon-Idaho border.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-California, and Ranking Republican member of the House Interior Committee, demanded Friday that the bill be put up for consideration. Supporters of the legislation pressed up both parks and recreation subcommittee members on the floor of the chamber.

Rep. Al Swift (D-Ore.) and Rep. Lloyd Meeds (D-Wash.) said they will bring the bill to the floor for consideration.

Earlier, Hosmer said he would use "whatever tools" at his command to kill the measure.

Man faces murder charges

BOISE — UPI. — Charged murder, Carl Clewis Bowles could be moved to Spokane to face murder charges in two weeks. Idaho State Penitentiary physician Dr. Harold Hatten said Friday.

Bowles, currently serving a 25-year prison term in the Idaho State Penitentiary, has been charged with two counts of first-degree murder in the slayings of Earl and Viola Hunter, Eugene, Ore.

Earlier this week, the physician directly treating Bowles, Dr. John Lang, Boise, told UPI it would be anywhere from three to six months before Bowles would be medically capable of traveling.

But Hatten told UPI Friday that Bowles was recovering quite well from surgery performed here Oct. 31 and he could be moved in two weeks to Spokane.

Nare agent files for pay

BOISE — UPI. — A former state narcotics agent is suing the state for back pay.

Michael A. Calder, 40, filed suit in court Oct. 24 for back pay of $4,294.94, for 626 hours of overtime in addition to $3,000 severance pay.

Calder worked as a narcotics agent for the state from 1964 to 1970. He was terminated in 1970 for alleged falsification of reports.

Woodside project stymied at Hailey

HAILEY — The 640-acre Woodside project is stalled and cannot proceed until sanitary restrictions on the majority of the project are lifted.

Health and Welfare Department district engineer George Wagner said Friday the HAW restrictions would remain in effect until the new sewage treatment plant is built or an alternate plan of sewage disposal is presented to HAW.

According to Wagner, the proposed plant would be built and constructed until 1973 or mid 1974. He said HAW would stand firm on its decision until McCallough presented it with a viable alternative.

Woodside manager, Jim Adams said the stand by HAW would bring the project to a standstill if something cannot be worked out. Adams said McCallough would present some alternative to HAW next week. He said the proposal could not be accepted now.

Woodside had difficulty getting sanitary restrictions removed this summer on the lots

An injunction was placed on Woodside this spring when it was discovered contractors were building on lots without the necessary restriction removed.

After an arduous three months of correspondence HAW lifted the restrictions on three plots as well as allowing construction on the indoor tennis complex. In addition HAW gave approval to McCallough to construct a sewage disposal plant on the southeast end of the project.

Wagner said McCallough agreed in the past with the stipulation the plant would be built and constructed before the restrictions were lifted.

The state asked for an alternate drain field also in case the one which McCallough wishes to build is unsatisfactory. McCallough has provided HAW with the additional factory drain field, Wagner said.

Adams and Wagner agree Woodside has given the state all they ask with the exception of a plant.

Woodside is presently storing sewage from homes using the sewer line in a 1,000-gallon tank. Town engineer Joe Malazzo said Woodside would track the sewage to the Hailey City sewer plant when enough waste had built up on the tank.

Wagner said the first three plots were approved because of the interim sewage tank.

"If they want to be abided and develop more plots they will have to have an acceptable alternative scheme," Wagner said. "People building on these plots will expect sewage disposal and we will not relax the restrictions until they have one."

"We will not remove those restrictions until 1974 if that's that long," he said.

Adams said Friday "We can't hold out that long. We can't sell lots before the restrictions are lifted."

He said building sites on the three plots have been sold and the project is being held up until further restrictions are removed.

Engineer Malazzo said work on the grounds has nearly been shut down for the year. Nearly a mile of water line, quarter mile of underground power lines and 175 miles of sewer line have been laid.

In addition their residences are nearly completed and a fourth about 50 per cent done. He said, and will probably be done this winter.

Portions of the water and sewer lines and a drainage line have been laid, he said. All installations will be underground, he said. Nearly a half mile of overhead power lines are also being laid. All the water and sewer lines are temporary and will be removed next year.

Over five miles of gravelled roads have been cut throughout the 640-acre site which extends from the south end of Hailey and runs nearly into Bellevue.

Adams said the indoor tennis courts would be built next year and could be used in December.

Power firm offers new dam proposal

HOLDEN said the negotiating committee met with Idaho Power officials on Nov. 8 and asked the company to increase its participation in advancing payment dates of the falling water contract to save about $5 million in interest costs.

Assume all costs for water quality control "as these costs arise solely from the operation of the power plant."

Assume the costs of fish mitigation costs arising from the building of a power plant.

If the Internal Revenue Service rules addressed on the tax exempt bond issue, because of the power company's participation in the difference in interest between taxes and non-taxed bonds.

Pay a reasonable price for falling water rights during the last 10 years of a 50-year federal power commission lease. Under the current proposal, Idaho Power's last 10 years would be free.

Recognize that the company's original proposal to pay only $18.5 million is unrealistic in face of today's estimate to rebuild the dam; therefore, the company should share equally in meeting the increased costs.

If the demands made by the shareholders, the company agreed only on the first point. The company is willing to make the early interest payment providing water users to the same.

The company rejected the demand that it pay all costs to maintain water quality, instead, the company agreed to pay part of such requirements that the EPA requirements not exceed a six parts per million oxygen requirement already agreed to by the state.

Apparently the company will not participate in the water quality program at all if the EPA requires a standard of "90 percent saturation" regarding oxygen content.

The company ignored all other demands of the negotiating committee but imposed several of its own including the Dec. 1 deadline and a requirement that a construction contract be signed by May 1, 1973, and that no changes be allowed in plans and specifications that would result in higher costs.

Holden said the power company has informed the negotiators that no further concessions will be made. According to Holden, the shareholders are now studying the power company's proposal.

Upper Valley shareholders are meeting Monday in Idaho Falls to study the proposals, he said.

GOP committeeman critical of Andrus

ROBERT LINVILLE said Friday, Andrus' solution "is just a tired re-run of a past disregarded program." He said it consisted of "burrowing business regulations and bureaucracy into the land."

Linville made the remarks in reference to the virus being what he called one of the "prime drivers" in the resolution to improve wage, price and profit controls immediately on all manufacturers and agriculture.

"This solution failed miserably two years ago and caused dislocations in the market place that are still raising havoc in the Idaho cattle, lumber and home-building industries," Linville said.

He said the action by the Democrat Governors' calling for dismissal of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz is particularly disturbing to Idaho farmers and ranchers.

"Secretary Butz is a man of international stature who has done more than anyone else in recent times to put agriculture back on an independent and profitable basis," he said.

Linville added that it is unfortunate that the governor did not openly confess his wage, price and profit control beliefs during the recent election campaign.

N waste storage techniques varied

Asked why the precautions had not been taken after the first flood, the AEC spokesman said "some shallow maintenance holes" had been checked after the 1962 incident and "no contamination" was found in the "small amount of water" in the holes.

Even so, plans to prevent future flooding probably were started at that time, he said, and "then when the flooding recurred in 1966, we decided that the flooding was frequent enough to warrant the expense of diking and draining."

AEC officials have repeatedly stressed that the shipping in casks and burial of contaminated nuclear wastes in cardboard boxes also reported recently by the Times-News have always been public information. No attempt has been made to suppress those facts, they say.

"They also point out that state regulatory agencies and private groups have inspected waste storage techniques at the Idaho site and determined that they pose "no hazard" to humans or the environment.

The AEC also provided photographs Friday which show the new waste storage method started in 1970 at the Idaho site.

The new technique calls for containing long-lived nuclear wastes in leak-proof steel barrels and 10-gallon covered plywood boxes, when storing them on top of asphalt pads. The pads are filled, the containers are covered with plywood then plastic-impregnated cloth and finally soil.

The new method will permit easier retrieval of the wastes when a permanent site is established for storage of all nuclear wastes in the United States.

Typical trench

BEFORE 1970, nuclear wastes contaminated by long-lived radioactive elements were buried in trenches at the Atomic Energy Commission's Idaho National Engineering Laboratory. Most wastes were transported and buried in "leak proof" drums or plywood cartons. Some were contained in cardboard boxes. They were covered with about four feet of soil. AEC photo.

Ketchum resident fined, paroled to pill program

HAILEY — John Creighton, 34, Ketchum, has been fined $500 and given a two-year probation for breaking out of the Blaine County jail Oct. 17, 1974.

Creighton escaped from the jail last year by beating out a window pane and crawling out between two metal beams. He was facing a charge of driving while intoxicated.

A three-year state penitentiary sentence was suspended by Fifth District Judge Charles Seogang who warned Creighton that the three-year commitment would be put into effect if the probation was broken.

Creighton must go to the Ketchum police station every day to take a small pill administered in the anti-drug program. The pill is to make a person's detect if alcohol is consumed in quantities.

Burley man charged in theft of potatoes

BURLEY — Willy Sapien Jr., 29, Burley, has been found guilty for trial in Fifth District Court on charges of grand larceny in connection with the theft of $12,000 worth of potatoes.

Sapient told Minidoka County Sheriff's Office during a preliminary hearing Thursday that he had hauled a load of potatoes from a cellar belonging to Anderson Bros.

However, he said he was under the influence of marijuana at the time and had intended to take the load back after "my head cleared and I realized what I had done."

Sapient was employed by a contractor to haul potatoes for Anderson Bros.

Ray T. Helms, Burley's Anderson Bros. employee, said in testimony for the state that Sapient had offered him $2,000 not to fill out an invoice on six loads of potatoes, which Helms was working in a rural Cassin potato cellar.

Sapient was arrested Oct. 18 in a potato cellar in Depue County which was owned by Richard Tilley, Burley.

Lincoln officers investigate dognapping

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County sheriff's officers were investigating a "dognapping" late Saturday.

Sheriff B. J. Anderson said two valuable Irish setters owned by Robert Haddock, Shoshone, were reportedly coaxed into a vehicle early Saturday afternoon near the Haddock home.

An eye witness told of seeing the vehicle stop while the dogs were on the street near their owner's home, and the driver called them into the vehicle then drove away. Officers are continuing to investigate the theft.

CSI rips Walla Walla in record point show

CSI's Boyd Grant, a self-proclaimed defensive coach sent his Golden Eagles to a school offensive record in his home town Saturday night as his charges trounced Walla Walla Community College 142-75.

Freshman Andre Wakefield charged for two touchdowns and a punt in the second game in his new role as the offensive quarterback.

Grant, the All-Pacific Northwest player, led the offense by throwing for 200 yards and three touchdowns.

Wakefield's two touchdowns came in the fourth quarter. He threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Steve Trumble and a 25-yard pass to Jerry Taylor. Grant also threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Trumble in the third quarter.

The Golden Eagles' offense was led by Grant, who completed 16 of 25 passes for 200 yards and three touchdowns. Wakefield rushed for 68 yards and two touchdowns. Trumble and Taylor each caught a touchdown pass. The Golden Eagles' defense held Walla Walla to seven points.

Wakefield then added a short punt and, separating the punt from a dropkick, dropping it a yard and kicking it to the right end. "Sometimes defense can get things done like that," Grant said after the game.

Wakefield's two touchdowns came in the fourth quarter. He threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Steve Trumble and a 25-yard pass to Jerry Taylor. Grant also threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to Trumble in the third quarter.

CSI's offense was led by Grant, who completed 16 of 25 passes for 200 yards and three touchdowns. Wakefield rushed for 68 yards and two touchdowns. Trumble and Taylor each caught a touchdown pass. The Golden Eagles' defense held Walla Walla to seven points.

By halftime CSI's largest margin being 21 points, was ahead 55-34. Early in the second half Terry Moore and Reggie Glasgow cut the deficit to 13 but then Daves hit two quick touchdowns and Bob Durham added a field goal.

Walla Walla then sent to a full court press and CSI's defense held them to a 14-10 receipt of the "hearing," playing out to the left-of-the-bucket and shooting nothing but close to shots. That helped the sophomore transfer from Virginia Commonwealth stand up with 26 points for the night.

Wakefield put CSI at the 100 mark with 3:30 to go and it appeared that CSI might reach Coach Boyd's goal of pulling the wire down. Seven of the Eagles' touchdowns were on scoring figures:

BYU trips Utah, gains Fiesta bowl bid

BYU's Utah trip—John Betham ran the offense on a touchdown and Gary Shobe broke a Western Athletic Conference record with his 23rd touchdown pass as Brigham Young crushed Utah 27-10 Saturday in the Mountain West Conference game.

The win gave the Cougars their first appearance in the Fiesta Bowl at the University of Arizona in Tucson, Ariz., since 1967. The game was the first in a series of "challenge" games between the two schools.

The victory for BYU's season, the school's first since 1957. The win also gave the Cougars a bid for the Fiesta Bowl.

BYU's defense led the way to the Cougars' seventh straight win, a school record as they sacked Utah quarterbacks 10 times and trapped UTE runners for losses another five times.

Cards edge Cal on last play

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Mike Langford, who missed the point after that would have created a 20-20 tie, headed a 50-yard field goal in the final play of the game Saturday to give Stanford a 22-20 victory over California.

and Jim Beevel booted the extra point. Stanford, a three-point underdog, then rallied behind substitute star Benjamin in a drive that took the Cardinals to the California 11. Benjamin, who came off the bench to lead Stanford to a pair of touchdowns and a field goal in the final quarter, moved the Cards into range for Langford's winning field goal while completing two of three passes that covered nearly 50 yards in 21 seconds.

Behind Rose Bowl-bound Southern California. Overall, the Cards were only 5-7 and Saturday's win gave them a winning mark for the 12th consecutive season. Chuck Mincey ran one yard at the end of an 11-yard, 10-play drive with the opening kick to give Cal, which would play the season at 7-1, a 7-0 field and Langford's first field goal accounted for the only other points in the first half.

Beech outlived Cal's lead to 10-3 late in the third quarter on a 22-yard drive that started just before the final period started. Benjamin replaced Cordova. The Cards moved 33 yards in 11 plays as Langford booted his second field goal to cut Cal's lead to four points.

The Golden Bears' down by six points with 2:27 left, rallied for a one-point lead after Steve Barkowski fired a 13-yard scoring pass to Steve Fryer.

Coach won't blame kicker for loss to Ohio State

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Michigan coach Tom Schenckler indulged with his disappointed players after Saturday's crushing 14-0 loss to Ohio State and tried to tell them the blow was "above and beyond" anything he could have done.

Schenckler sounded more like a winning coach than a losing coach.

"You have a helluva football team," he told the squad. "You should not blame this football team for this loss. It's just one helluva kid. He has kicked so many extra points and field goals for us."

Schenckler also said he did not want to start a controversy about whether Lantry's field goal attempt was possibly good. The officials ruled the kick was wide left.

Baylor drops SMU to stay in lead

DALLAS (UPI) — The Armatage offense of Neal Jeffrey set up three touchdowns in a 34-14 victory over Baylor to a 31-11 win over Southern Methodist, moving the Bears to within one step of the top of the college football rankings.

The win, helped along by 50-yard field goals from Don Backhorn, brought Baylor even with Texas A.M. at 5-1 in league race and the starting Bears will make their first Cotton Bowl trip in history at Texas Stadium in Dallas Friday in nationally televised game.

Baylor's victory also insured that the Texas Longhorns will not be playing the Cotton Bowl trip for the first time in seven years.

Jeffrey connected on his first seven passes and Beard, the spunky tailback who leads the league in rushing, pulled over on runs of 19 yards in the first quarter and seven yards in the second.

Notre Dame blanks Air Force 38-0

SOUTH BEND (UPI) — Orange Bowl-bound Notre Dame ran over hapless Air Force on Saturday at the quarterback of Tom Clements and Frank Albrec.

The fourth-ranked Irish buried back Air Force 38-0 on its own four early in the game and then marched 29 yards on the ground for their first score. Even that point it was all Notre Dame and only the final score remained in doubt.

Notre Dame, leading its record to 9-1, held an Air Force throat when John Durbank intercepted a Notre Dame pass in his own zone and returned it one yard. The Irish, behind the running of junior Tom Parise, bounced to a touchdown in just nine plays.

Parise's 62-yard run from scrimmage set up the score and Boss Kormanik went the final yard for the TD.

Tennessee gets bid to Liberty bowl

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Tailback Stanley Morgan scored four touchdowns, and Ricky Townsend kicked three field goals Saturday to give Tennessee a berth in the Liberty Bowl with a 21-7 win over crippled Kentucky.

Morgan, who ran 93 yards on 22 carries, scored on runs of 47 and five yards. Townsend hit field goals of 21, 32, and 42 yards.

All the Vol scoring came before the Wildcats could score. Tennessee, with only a Southeastern Conference battle with Vanderbilt at Nashville remaining, will play Maryland in the Liberty Bowl next month.

The Wildcats' only touch-down came on a 24-yard run to sophomore quarterback, Tim Hite, who took over late in the second period when starter Mike Farnett suffered a head injury on a blind-side fumble by Tennessee end Tom McCalister.

Tennessee went 71 yards in 11 plays to set up Townsend's first field goal with 2:45 left in the first period.

Morgan capped an 80-yard drive with his two-yard touch-down run to give the Vols a 10-0 lead in the second period. With 4:50 left in the first half, Townsend got his second field goal for a 13-0 Tennessee lead at intermission.

The Vols stretched it to 21-0 in the third quarter when Morgan ended a 25-yard drive with a five-yard sweep fumble. Paul Carellers set up that final touchdown with a 25-yard run up the middle.

N.C. escapes upset

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — Quarterback Chris Evers scored on a one-yard run in three plays after a fourth-quarter fumble recovery Saturday to give Sun Bowl-bound North Carolina a 14-10 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Duke.

The game, which ended the regular season for both teams, left the Tar Heels with a 2-4 season record heading into the Dec. 20 Sun Bowl against Mississippi State at Ft. Poinsett, Carolina finished its ACC season 4-2, while the Blue Devils wound up 3-4.

The winning touchdown was set up when Carolina guard Mark Gaines recovered a fumble by Duke tailback Art Gore at the Blue Bowl 47-yard line. Tailback Mike Young, who pushed his seven carries total to more than 1,000 yards in the game and scored the other Carolina touchdown, had a key run of 17 yards that put Gaines into position for his nine-yard touchdown run.

Harvard raps Yale from unbeaten list

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Harvard's 14-0 record in the Ivy League football season was shattered Saturday when the Crimson defeated Yale 14-0 in a game that ended the Bulldogs' unbeaten streak.

Harvard's victory was a share of the Ivy League championship.

Harvard's offense was led by quarterback Tom Sisk, who threw for 113 yards and two touchdowns. Sisk's 113 yards were the most in a game since he set a record of 144 yards passing in 1971.

Harvard's defense was led by linebacker Tom Sisk, who had two interceptions and a touchdown. Sisk's two interceptions were the most in a game since he had two interceptions in 1971.

Harvard's victory was a share of the Ivy League championship.

South Africa leads

South Africa leads the world cup of polo with a 7-0 record. The team, coached by Peter Breen, won the 1974 World Cup of Polo in London. The team's victory was a share of the World Cup of Polo.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Think up new ways to put in action the business ideas you can conceive of, and to show your close companions you are a pioneer in interesting new fields, getting them to go along with you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Begin that project vital to you after you have taken all the kinks out of plans. Meet interesting people in evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) See what you can do to make the future brighter for yourself through your own efforts. Reach better understanding with romantic tie.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get in touch with a good pal who has information you need. Then join some group whose goals are quite similar to yours.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get into civic affairs that can be helpful to you in business and personal life. Go sight-seeing, such as a museum visit.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk with a powerful individual whose ideas are quite different from yours and learn much. Make helpful new acquaintances.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know what you really want and then start action in such directions. Be more concerned about male's desires now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Sit-down quietly—with that partner whose ideas are different from yours and come to a true understanding for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show gratitude to those who have done you big favors. Improve your health via right treatments. Don't drive yourself so hard.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Build up the ego of those who dwell with you and life at home improves. Get into the recreation that restores energies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make home more charming, restful, colorful. Cooperate with kin in some project they have. Enjoy a happy evening at home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can easily make plans now that will put you in higher brackets soon. Don't neglect the spiritual side of life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try to make your life more profitable to keep ahead of the rising costs. Get help from experts. Stop being confused about things.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be ambitious with plenty of drive and desire to learn. Teach early, to complete whatever is started since there is a tendency to go from one promising project to another, meeting with success in most because of lack of persistence. Then the life will become successful, especially where work and travel in foreign lands is concerned, whether male or female.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Certainly you know what a spa is, but do you know why such be so called? Because Spa is the name of a town in Belgium where early entrepreneurs, first in this western world, exploited the local mineral springs. Earliest spa in this country opened in 1756 at Berkeley Springs, W. V.

THE FACIAL: skin of blondes tends to wrinkle at an earlier age than that of brunettes has been reported. Client asks why. Blondes are apt to lack the dark pigment—that protects their skin from ultraviolet rays. What's meant here by blonde isn't a cross between a brunette and a druggist, please note.

PALACE

"What was the first palace ever built?"
A. Can tell you the first edifice to be called a palace. That was Emperor Nero's house. One of ancient Rome's seven hills was called the Palatine Hill. Mighty fashionable district. But Nero didn't want to share the place. He ordered all other residences there torn down, then built a single mansion for himself, which soon came to be identified as The Palace.

AMONG SOME: African tribesmen, the affectionate thing for a fellow to do when he greets his girlfriend is blow on her hand and then rub her on the right ear. Our Love and War man says that's equivalent there to a kiss. Bear in mind, this is not the same African tribesman who shows his affection by sticking his tongue out at his girlfriend while smacking her on the stomach.

ADOPTIONS

Denmark has a central registry of all adoptions. It keeps track of the children, the adoptive parents and the natural parents, too. Scientific researchers from St. Louis went there to do a study of alcoholics. Question was whether children of alcoholics were themselves more likely to become alcoholics, even if adopted out so as to have no contact with the real parents. Answer was yes; incidence of alcoholism was twice as great among adopted, children of alcoholics.

IN 1705, BRITAIN was at war with France. One morning on the beach of West Hartlepool, England, citizens thereabouts watched an odd looking character climb out of a rowboat. The stranger was pretty hairy, it bubbled unintelligibly. Actually, it was an ape, previously the mascot of a wrecked ship. But those English villagers weren't all that too familiar with apes. They court-martialed the beast, found it guilty, and hanged it as a French spy.

McMillan, BSU bomb Idaho into 53-29 submission

BOISE, UPI — Jim McMillan, the leading passer in NCAA division II, started off the Broncos, who clinched the Big Sky Conference title last week, with a perfect performance in the first quarter.

The Broncos, who clinched the Big Sky Conference title last week, scored a perfect performance in the first quarter. The Vandals, except for a few points, were shut out in the third quarter and spent the fourth quarter in a defensive struggle.

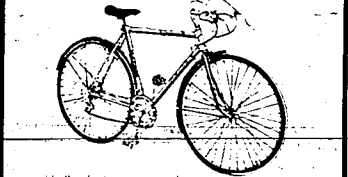

The Broncos, who clinched the Big Sky Conference title last week, scored a perfect performance in the first quarter. The Vandals, except for a few points, were shut out in the third quarter and spent the fourth quarter in a defensive struggle.

BSU amassed 341 yards total offense to Idaho's respectable 425. The Broncos started the day leading the division in offense.

McMillan, who started at quarterback, passed for 112 yards and three touchdowns in the first quarter. He was intercepted only once by the Vandals. McMillan also threw a 37-yard pass to wide receiver Steve Wynn for a touchdown.

Utah State drops Weber 20-7. Weber State scored its only touchdown in the first quarter on a 28-yard drive. Quarterback Ross Goddard finished the game with 150 yards passing.

Boning trout Fishing hints: by Swen
 "The thing about trout is the bones..." this statement is heard by all who fish for trout.
 A method I have used for removing bones before cooking or smoking is to cut the heads off and then pour boiling water into the cavity of the fish then use your fingers to push the bones into the meat. Then gently grasp the main bone near the head and pull gently. You will have to use a knife to cut some of the bones out but the meat will come out with the backbone.
 Another help when curing fish for smoking is to rub salt mixture into the fish and then place them in plastic bags. I have used bread wrappers, but prefer to double them up by putting one inside another. After placing the fish into the bags, I then turn them about twice before the 24 hour curing period is up.
FISHING NEWS: The slowdown in fishing has reduced the report of large fish and I cannot report any place where the linkers are being caught. Some 1 1/2 to 2 lb. trout have been reported coming from Magic Res. Salmon dam has had mixed reports. Boat fishing was reported slow, but at least 2 fellows I talked to last Sunday reported catching times of 1 to 1 1/2 hour.

Sooners sack up league crown, belt Nebraska

LITTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Oklahoma's mighty Sooners overpowered Nebraska, 20-14 with a devastating ground attack Saturday to win their second consecutive "Big Eight" championship title and 19th straight victory.
 The Sooners, ranked 10th, took down the last ball, 14-11, in the final period. Davis scored the clincher (from the three yard line) and drove. The score followed a one-yard drive by Elvis Peacock which broke a 14-11 tie. Peacock's blast was the final play of 37 and marked Nebraska's only lead of the game on a fat of razz-dazzle which caught the Sooners napping early in the third quarter.
 Back John O'Leary took a pitch from Humm and then flipped a short pass back to Humm, who slipped 11 yards untouched into the end zone. Littrell's power running gave him a game high of 147 yards. Washington had 142 and Davis 112.

1973 PONTIAC GRAND PRIX CJ

This car you can't tell from brand new. This Grand Prix is finished in burgundy with burgundy vinyl roof. Locally purchased with only 15,000 miles, and equipped with 40,000 mile steel belted radial tires, power steering, power brakes, power seat, power windows, individual seats, factory air conditioning, and unconditionally guaranteed for 30 days. Just could be the prettiest car in town.

1973 PLYMOUTH VALIANT

One of the most economical cars in America. This car was purchased new by a local Doctor and its condition reflects it. The equipment is just right for economy & comfort. Beautiful light blue with white top. Before you buy, look at this one!

1973 PONTIAC FIREBIRD

The ultimate in sports cars. The previous owner was a local school teacher. Exceptionally low mileage, and in absolutely perfect condition. Equipped with power steering, power brakes, air conditioning, bucket seats, lime yellow in color with all white interior. Drives and handles like a big car. Unquestionably the finest used car we have ever had!

1973 AMC MATADOR

We sold this one now and took it back on trade! It has had excellent care and very low miles. A local owner with soft white finish and dark vinyl top, also reclining seats, factory air conditioning, excellent tires, automatic transmission, power steering and brakes. Fully guaranteed. We invite you to drive it and inspect.

1971 OLDSMOBILE 98

This 4 door sedan has only 39,000 miles. We just traded for a new car. This one fully guaranteed and excellent condition inside & out. Of course, the equipment is everything you expect on a fine car of this caliber. Runs on regular fuel, and equipped with full power including air conditioning. We invite you to drive it for a day.

1974 OLDSMOBILE DELTA 88

4 door sedan, only 8,500 miles. Guaranteed for 12 months or 120,000 miles. This car has been in demo service and is absolutely flawless. Equipped with factory air, power steering, power brakes, regular fuel engine. All vinyl interior, beautiful cinnamon with white top. You'll never buy one for less money.

1974 AMC AMBASSADOR BROUGHAM

6,180 miles. Burgundy in color with buff vinyl top, all fabric interior. Equipped as you would expect with automatic transmission, 360-V-8 power steering, power brakes, factory air, steel radial tires. It has been in Driver Training service, and has had the best of care.

1971 AMC AMBASSADOR BROUGHAM

WAGON. Another one owner, excellent condition. We invite you to call the previous owner. Has everything you expect including split seats, air, power steering, power brakes, both interior and exterior is in perfect condition. Excellent economy. Fully guaranteed. Don't miss it!

A MESSAGE TO MAGIC VALLEY CAR BUYERS

INFLATION WEAKENED AMERICA NEEDS COMMON-SENSE CONSERVATION, NOT EMPTY AUSTERITY. CONSERVATION IS INSULATING THE ATTIC AND SAVING FUEL. AUSTERITY IS SHIVERING IN YOUR LIVING ROOM.

IN A SIMILAR WAY, WHEN NEW CARS REPLACE OLD, THE NATION'S PRIMARY MEANS OF TRANSPORTATION GAINS EFFICIENCY. OUR NEW 1975 CARS CONSERVE GASOLINE, EVEN AS THEY EMIT LESS POLLUTION, PROVIDE MORE SAFETY FEATURES, AND COST LESS TO OPERATE AND MAINTAIN THAN EARLIER MODELS.

THE PURCHASING OF NEW CARS IS THE COMMON-SENSE CONSERVATION WE NEED. IT KEEPS THE WHEEL OF PROGRESS ROLLING. IT MEANS GROWTH AND INVESTMENT. THIS MEANS MORE JOBS FOR OUR PEOPLE, MORE REVENUE FOR OUR GOVERNMENT, MORE VALUE FOR OUR CUSTOMERS, AND MORE DIVIDENDS FOR OUR STOCKHOLDERS.

NO GROWTH MAKES NO SENSE. NOT FOR AMERICA, NOT FOR ANYONE.

Valley Comment: Veep confirmation

QUESTION: Do you think Congress should confirm Nelson Rockefeller as vice president of the US?

Mrs. William Butler, Jerome: "I think so. I think he's got good ideas in mind and he's one who will stick to his word."

William Butler, Jerome: "Personally, I've got money and I'm not tempted to steal other people's money. He's got money and he's not going to steal our money. He's a man that can handle money. He's proved it."

Ernest Miller, Twin Falls: "Absolutely. We need smart men in there instead of crooks. He's the smartest we've got or he wouldn't be rich."

Mrs. Ernest Miller, Twin Falls: "I think he will be our next president. He's the man we need in there. He's got good judgement."

Al Kramer, Castelford: "I think he should. I think that he's pretty sensible and a pretty good man. I think he has good qualifications. We should have a vice president in there as soon as possible."

Dr. G. W. Burgess, Twin Falls: "Yes, I don't think they could beat him. He's had sufficient experience and he's perfectly honest and he's not hungry."

Mick J. Nelson, Jerome: "Would you hire a crook to watch the hen house?"

Gary McCormick, Twin Falls: "Yes, providing that they can answer adequately for the people all of the questions regarding his financial affairs. If not the man for the office, he's probably the best the Republicans have going for them now."

Jesuit editor fired for reporting actual news

BOSTON — "Deep" differences of opinion on what news is fit to print" is the only official explanation offered as to why the editor of SJ News was fired.

SJ (Society of Jesus) News is the monthly newspaper of the Jesuit Province of New England, which has in recent months been perhaps the most newsworthy of all the Jesuit provinces in the world.

The fired editor, Rev. James G. Hietter, SJ, has, quite conscientiously, tried to live up to the SJ News title — by reporting the actual news, whether good or bad.

This apparently won him the enemy — although, to be sure, the (furious) interest — of both conservatives and liberals.

The liberals were incensed when Father Hietter raised the perfectly legitimate question as to whether Rev. and Hon. Robert Drinan, SJ (D-Mass.) still has the required ecclesiastical permission to serve in Congress.

Congressman Drinan does have permission, from New England's Jesuit Provincial (superior) Rev. Richard Cleary, SJ.

But editor Hietter quotes Boston's Archbishop Humberto Cardinal Madieres as saying, "I have made it very clear that I don't approve of priests in political office."

And while Madieres' famed predecessor, the late Richard Cardinal Cushing, had given Father Drinan — his — enthusiastic consent to run, editor Hietter cited Canon 129, in which the bishop's permission is required for a priest to run for political office.

The issue is further clouded by Drinan's congressional district including parts of both the Boston Archdiocese as well as the Diocese of Worcester — whose bishop, Bernard Flanagan, has no objection to Drinan in Congress.

Fired editor Hietter infuriated the conservatives as well as the liberals by breaking the story that Provincial Cleary ordered Father John McLaughlin.

Inside Religion

SJ, to leave his White House post. Shortly after reporting this move in the SJ News, Father Hietter was fired by Provincial Cleary.

"Father Cleary has the authority to fire me," acknowledged Hietter during a telephone interview, "although it may be that he should explain precisely what are these deep differences regarding what new is fit to print. Since both Drinan and McLaughlin were originally given permission to serve in Washington, I felt the people had a right to know all about these newsworthy priests."

Then the fired editor concluded: "You can't have a free press, or an interesting press, that is controlled."

One reason why so many local, regional, or national religion house organs are either so deadly dull or Opinion — and Human Progress."

Among the conclusions of this Vatican document, approved by Pope Paul VI, was: "The safety of newsmen should be assured because the service they rendered to man's right to know what is happening."

But priest-editor Hietter, who tried so hard to implement "man's right to know what is happening," remains at this writing fired, with "no other job offered him by the Society of Jesus."

Interestingly, the Jesuit magazine America reported from the recent Synod in Rome the following statement ...

Father Pedro Arrupe, General of the Society of Jesus, who is also known as "The Black Pope":

"The church can offer positive help to those involved in the mass media in several ways: by sincerity and openness in giving exact and complete information, by promptness in furnishing information; by accepting criticism with humility and ally; by understanding the conditions under which newsmen must work, exposed as they are to the tyranny of deadlines, of popular moods and of the need to break stories."

Father Hietter will no doubt be happy to hear this.

SINGER John Denver shows no fear as he gets head to head with "Chaucery," a 25 pound cougar, during a get-acquainted session prior to filming "The John Denver Show." Denver used the cougar to point out that it is an endangered species, and to show his concern for wildlife. The show will air on ABC-TV Dec. 1. (UPI)

This starling can talk

ZEBULON, N. C. (UPI) — Joey the starling already can talk, whistle tunes, crow like a rooster and sneeze. His owner says she's now trying to teach him to sing.

Mary Jean Jones of Zebulon got Joey as a Mother's Day present four and a half years ago from her son, Bill, who recalled his mother's fondness for the birds, generally considered to be pests.

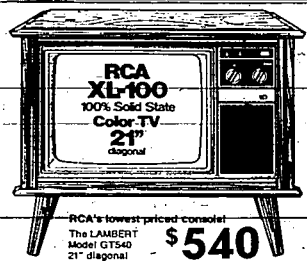

She owned a starling named Howard when she was a child. Her son found Joey in a nest with four other baby starlings and she's been training him ever since. His vocabulary is about 30 to 40 words, including phrases such as "hi precious," and "what time is it?" and "wowiee, baby." William Hammett, ornithologist with the North Carolina Museum of Natural History, said he has never heard of a starling that talked but "maybe people just haven't trained many starlings."

He said the starlings were closely related to Mynah birds, which are known for their ability to imitate human voices. The bird can whistle several tunes, including "Faintly: No, No, No, on My Head," and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

Fertilizer scarcity poses worry for gardeners

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

FERTILIZER SHORTAGE: Home gardeners are concerned about the rising fertilizer scarcity. A Senate resolution calls on Americans to reduce garden use of fertilizer, freeing it for crops in nations where food is short, has gained the backing of many lawmakers.

While we have a great deal of compassion and sympathy for millions threatened by famine, we feel that the situation is not so simple as to be solved by shipping millions of tons of fertilizer to starving nations.

Many people in sub-Saharan Africa are starving to death due to six-year-old drought. All the fertilizer in the world wouldn't help these struggling people.

What can home gardeners do to stretch their own fertilizer. Here are a few hints that might help.

(1) Use your commercial supply wisely. For example, if a can of liquid plant food such as 23-19-17 calls for 1 teaspoon to 2 quarts of water, use that rate. Don't work on the theory that a little does some good, a lot more will even be more effective.

(2) Recycle your wastes such as coffee grounds, tea leaves, grass clippings, table scraps, sodast, wood chips, and everything else that's organic.

(3) Compost your eat litter. Scatter it on the compost, in the flower or vegetable garden and work it into the soil in the spring.

(4) Save vegetable cooking waters. Cooking waters contain large amounts of valuable vitamins and minerals. Use the water for food first. From 9 to 25 per cent of the thiamine and riboflavin in vegetables are dissolved in the cooking water. If this water is thrown away, these food values are lost, even from frozen vegetables.

The cooking water includes the frost of frozen vegetables, and should be saved and used. Cooking water can be used for plants and humans. Use them in juice cocktails, soups, sauces, gravies, stews, pot roasts and casseroles dishes.

Excess water can be poured on the soil of your house plants to keep them up. A good German gardener tells us this is done commonly in France and Germany.

With the winter season upon us, you'll get a tree laden of "poor man's manure" in the form of snow and rain, both of which bring nutrients in the soil.

All readers who are told as how they can add to the above list so we can pass them along to fellow gardeners. If we get enough tips we'll put them in a bulletin and offer a tree of cheer to our readers.

AVOCADO NOTES: People buy this fruit for two reasons: To eat it and to plant the seed. If you buy a "green" avocado in the store and want to speed up the ripening, wrap it in plastic or a double-thick brown paper bag. Or simply put it under a glass tumbler on a window sill exposed to the sun.

Green Thumb

To keep avocados from discoloring, brush cut surfaces with an acid such as pineapple juice, lemon juice, lime or tomato juice.

Some prevent discoloration by covering the fruit with a clinging plastic wrap—Discoloration is a form of oxidation and is nothing serious.

After the seed is removed, wash it with warm water. The two halves should not be separated, and do not break the "umbilical cord" that connects the two parts. There are two ways to start the seed.

(1) Insert two toothpicks into its base (about 1/2 way up) and allow the bottom to be submerged in a glass of water. You can tell the top from the bottom easily, look for the depressions or dimples found at the bottom.

Also, the top is usually pointed with the lank being more or less oval or round. Keep a constant level of water in the glass. Takes 4 or 5 weeks—more or less for roots to form. If the pit starts to rot, better discard it and start another.

The other method of starting is to place the seed in a pot of loose soil 1 part each of sand, peat and loam. Set the seed or pit in so that the top sticks out about a half inch. Keep soil moist but not soggy.

After growth starts, the seed can be watered more. If more than one shoot arises, you can snip out all but one or two. When the plant is about 5 or 9 inches tall, snip off the top leaf. DO NOT wait until it is 3 feet high rather do it when the plant is short. Cutting it back will produce a better shaped avocado.

Snip off any shoots that give the plant a lopsided look. Remember, the avocado is a tree that grows tall, so don't be afraid to prune your plant regularly, starting early—when the plant is about 10 inches tall.

PLANT IN LAST MONTH'S: With raspberries selling for $1 a quart this past season, why not plan on growing a few plants for 1975? Order some vine-free plants from your nurseryman.

Set plants 3 feet apart with rows about 6 feet. Either cultivate or use a heavy mulch around the plants. Sawdust, wood chips or plastic mulch will keep weeds out, moisture in, and increase the yield greatly.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. F. of Twin Falls: "Please settle a question for us. When rooting leaves of African violets, should we use a green colored glass bottle or plain glass? I heard they do better in a colored bottle."

I doubt if it really makes much difference. Many successful fanciers use an amber or green glass bottle, such as those used for pills or vitamin tablets. They claim that in the amber or green glass, violet stems will produce a better set of roots than they will in clear glass. They also claim that algae or green scum will not form so quickly as in the clear glass.

Actually, I doubt if it really makes much difference. I cause hundreds of gardeners start new African violets by inserting leaf cuttings in clear glass containers.

It makes no difference if your water has been treated with chlorine or fluorine when it comes to rooting cuttings. However, sometimes the chlorine is strong and may affect the plants. Best way to handle this is to pour off a bucketful and let it stand overnight so the gas can escape.

Place the containers on a kitchen window out of direct sun. In tall sun the glass bottles and water inside get warm when hit by the sun's rays and may cook the leaves. No reason why you can't root several leaves at once in a glass. Place aluminum foil over the glass jar, punch three or four holes in it and insert the leaf cuttings.

No need to replace the water in which the cuttings are rooting. Just keep adding water as needed from time to time. A few pieces of charcoal in the water keeps it sweet.

C. F. of Malta: "I heard that lime added to the garden will save on fertilizer. Is that true?"

Lime is not a substitute for fertilizer. Lining reduces soil acidity; supplies calcium and magnesium, and increases the efficiency of plant nutrients such as phosphorus that would be otherwise unavailable to plants.

CAUTION: Adding too much lime year after year without simple test, can "lock up" plant nutrients chemically so plants can't use them.

Bird Harvest

PARSNIPS—anyone?—Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Hansen, has a remarkable garden. It produces parsnips which weighed up to three pounds. She also had some two-pound carrots this year. Most of her parsnips were big enough for more than one meal and many weighed two pounds.

Hip surgery effectiveness grow

Dear Dr. Thueston: For many years I have suffered from degenerative arthritis of joint.

Recently I have been thinking of a total hip replacement. I am 73 and my doctor feels that my age would not be objectionable for such an operation.

However, the possibility of an infection during the operation or after exists. And should an infection occur, I understand that I would have no hip joint at all and would have to spend the rest of my days in a wheelchair. I would appreciate your comments.—W.S.

The risk of infection exists with any operation, but you are overreacting in the case when you imply that any infection is going to result in a disaster.

Your Good Health

Both the effectiveness of artificial hip joints and the safety of installing them have recently improved and are still being improved. If I were you, I'd accept my hip in fact. I would figure the risk of a disastrous infection is very small indeed.

I have known people who delayed hip surgery for one reason or another—not usually a valid reason until they reached the stage of being virtually incapacitated. Then they had it done—and they are walking with ease today. My advice is not to put it off.

Dear Dr. Thueston: I have two turtles as pets, knowing that salmonellosis is becoming widespread and caused by germs. I'd like to know its symptoms in man. I have no reports of this disease so why I keep the turtles as pets I don't let them breathe on me and wash my hands after handling them? What else can I do?—S.K.

Always letter editors with an enclosed note from his mother, saying, "In a 23-year-old multiply-handicapped young man, I would appreciate any help."

There is no indication of what S.'s handicaps are, and the letter looked as though he had worked very hard putting it. But his brain seems to be working efficiently, and it is interesting that he thought to keep his pet turtles.

It is true that salmonellosis, or salmonella germ infection is rather common, and can be a real threat, and that turtles are known carriers of the salmonella germ.

Symptoms of salmonella infection usually called "food poisoning" but it's the germs, not the food, are such things as nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, diarrhea. Often headache, chills, fever, muscle aches.

The germs, made by being swallowed. So wash your hands after handling the pets, keep hands away from your face and mouth until you have washed your hands.

The turtles are the germs, not the germs, are at you, but if they happen to be carrying germs (not all turtles do) they may scatter them wherever they go.

So wash carefully after you've handled the pet you keep them in, or other areas where they may have crawled.

Most trouble from turtles stems from children who handle the turtles, stick fingers in their mouths and don't remember to wash.

Dear Dr. Thueston: If you have intercourse with a female who has a venereal disease, would you catch it if you washed with soap and water and then with alcohol within two minutes after?—N.M.

The washing might help some, but it would not be a sure means of protecting yourself. The gonorrhea germ can get into the urethra and would not be touched by external washing.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself?

Dr. Thueston gives all the answers in this up-to-date, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It."

For a copy write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and to cents.

Little danger of getting toxoplasma from cats

Question: We have an 8-month-old male cat. We keep him inside and very clean. He has had all of his shots and is very lovable. I have become pregnant and all my friends tell me I must get rid of the cat. They say he carries germs and some sickness that a newborn can catch.

I love him very much. He is closer to me than to my husband and daughter. Please tell me if he can hurt the baby. Do cats really carry this disease? A concerned parent.

Answer: The disease your friends are trying to tell you about is toxoplasmosis. It is caused by a tiny, crescent-shaped parasite, Toxoplasma Gondii. The organism was first identified in 1908 in a North African rodent called the gundi. Since then it has been found in cattle, pigs, sheep, dogs, cat, monkeys, mice, rabbits, skunks, raccoons, and a bunch of other animals.

The disease toxoplasma causes is usually so mild in humans that it goes unnoticed or is mistaken for flu. Recent tests show that perhaps 20 to 30 per cent of our people and close to 100 per cent of people from tropical countries show toxoplasma antibodies. Antibodies are substances manufactured by the body to fight the parasite.

Very few of these people ever felt "victimized" by toxoplasma, but a few unfortunate victims have been known to suffer heart attacks, blindness or brain damage. The most serious danger is congenital toxoplasmosis passed to an unborn baby by its mother. Some medical authorities believe toxoplasmosis may be a leading cause of birth defects. Even so, only about half the congenital cases result in physical defects.

Many congenitally infected people live their entire lives with the parasites in their bodies, harmlessly encased in tiny cysts. But occasionally — sometimes years after birth — the cysts rupture and the parasites invade and destroy body cells. Although the organism will attach just about any cell, they seem to have a special fondness for brain, spinal cord and eyes.

The only proven source of toxoplasmosis is congenital infection. But evidence strongly suggests it can also come from eating raw pork, beef, mutton, or veal containing the organism. The "only possible source" from infected cat feces — and that's why all the furor.

Merry Pet

No one knows for sure how cats get the infection but we can speculate it is from eating infected rodents, birds or meat scraps. In man and animals other than cats, the parasites invade cells and multiply. Usually they are spotted by defensive antibodies, although sometimes they cause the disease problems already described.

In the digestive tract of the cat, however, they go one step further, completing a cycle that produces tiny fertilized eggs encased in cells called oocysts. Although these oocysts are harmless at first, they become infective two to four days later. Again, it's an educated guess that people then come in contact with toxoplasmosis from the cat's feces since the organism can live months in moist soil, up to a year in water, and perhaps longer in moist cat feces. Like most diseases people can get from animals, the danger of toxoplasmosis can probably be all but eliminated by using a little common sense and cleanliness.

Litterboxes should be changed at least every other day — not just sifted, but changed. Use a highly absorbent litter to help dry the feces. Burn litter or flush it down toilet so children or other people won't come in contact with it.

There are no disinfectants that will destroy the organism but boiling water poured in the litter pan will eliminate it. Cover children's sandboxes when not in use to remove temptation from the path of neighborhood cats. Use rubber gloves when changing litter and wash your hands after playing with the cat — especially before meals.

If you're still worried, you can have you M.D. run a blood test to see if you have had toxoplasmosis. If so, you will be immune and need not worry further. If not, the cat can be tested.

Immune cats (those with antibodies) are safer pets than non-immunes since on reinfection they shed no or a few oocysts for a short time. Finally, a vaccine is being developed to rid us of the toxoplasma worry permanently.

If you have a question about your pet, send it to The Merry Pet, c/o Times-News.

Washbowl reveals assortment

Very hastily pawled out from under the bathroom sink, rose to his feet, summoned the entire family, about him and said, "I suppose you all wonder why I have gathered you here today.

We all nodded soberly. "I have just cleaned out the trap under this washbowl and I would like to inventory the items I have removed: 14 toothpaste caps, one shampoo cap, a blue ball, a plastic nasal device, a wine bottle cork, three rubber bands, a dime, and a class ring from a girl's school in Peoria."

At Wit's End

"If it's silver, the dime is mine," said my son. "Don't interrupt. . . a Barbie bra, a pencil stub, a tooth, possibly human, a luggage key, 17 rusted bobble pins and 85 pounds of hair. What are we going to do about it?" "Are you suggesting a garage sale," he said between clenched teeth. "I am suggesting that this family stop littering the plumbing. Do you know what really aggravates me."

"I know," said a son raising his hand. "The night we left on 23 lights and no one was home."

"No, it was my feet hanging out the window last summer on our vacation."

"You are all wrong," I said. "It's standing in front of an open refrigerator door like you're waiting for change."

"This is not a game show," said my husband evenly. "This is serious. We are the only family in the block who has a live-in plumber who retired at age 22 to live out the rest of his life in Hilton Head. A week has not gone by that something in this bathroom has not bubbled, hissed, dripped, trickled, or run over. I don't mind admitting I'm not the world's greatest plumber . . . why are you snickering?"

"Forsythy. It's just that no one rescues a toilet with Play-Doh."

"I do the best I can living with four people who are not ready yet for indoor plumbing. Now, here is the plan. In the future, if you have hair falling out, either place it in the nearest receptacle or braid it back into your original hair. Replace all caps on their original bottles or tubes and report any suspicious gurgling noises you hear immediately."

"By the way, Dad," said our son, "here is a President Ford WIN button that was stopping up the drain in the shower. Why were you wearing a WIN button in the shower?"

I could hardly wait for the answer as my next question was, "Where?"

IDAHO's cat researchers, Dr. Maurice G. Hornocker, right, and Dr. Theodore N. Bailey from the University of Idaho, are now conducting the world's first intensive study on leopards in Africa. Renowned for their pioneer work on mountain lions and bobcats in Idaho, the researchers have instrumented 20 leopards, like the one in this picture, with radio collars and are monitoring the spotted cats' behavior. The study, being conducted in Kruger National Park, Republic of South Africa, was initiated in response to an alarm over apparently dwindling leopard populations and is providing valuable insight into one of the world's most exploited predators.

Detective on McCloud series visits Mom in Salmon

By BOB JOHNSON
Times-News writer

SALMON — Peter B. Clifford, chief of detectives for New York City in the "McCloud" television series, files to Mexico City this week for 16 days of filming of a new episode. "I send McCloud down to Mexico City to get a young woman accused of murder. He gets into a lot of trouble so I send Broadhurst down and he gets in trouble. So I have to go down." J. D. Cannon, who plays the part of Clifford, explained. Cannon, who has been home visiting his mother and brothers in Salmon, says the "McCloud" series, which stars Dennis Weaver as a US marshal from the state of New Mexico on assignment to learn New York City police methods, is going stronger than ever. "Many people identify with Dennis and they like the humor of the show which never takes itself serious," Cannon said. "McCloud" is part of a series called Spudgy Night Mystery. Movie which also includes "Columbo" and "McMillan and Wife." Last year live "McCloud" shows were produced while this year nine are being filmed. Cannon has been spending a 10-day visit here with his mother, Mrs. Bessie Cannon, and his brothers, William and Russell. While working, Cannon and his wife, Alice live in an apartment in New York City or Los Angeles.

"Home now is in Rosendale, N.Y., a hundred miles north of New York City where the Cannons have a "shack" in the mountains. Cannon started playing in "McCloud" right after the pilot of the series had been made and he replaced the actor playing the chief of detectives. That was in 1970 and the show now is starting its fifth season.

Before going to "McCloud," Cannon had played a policeman in "Naked City," an assistant district attorney in "The Defenders," and a "killer" or "heavy" in "The Untouchables," "The FBI" and "The Fugitive."

"McCloud" is filmed at Universal Studio in Los Angeles with scenes shot in New York, City, and elsewhere. Last year one show was filmed in Honolulu. Interior scenes are shot at the Universal Studio.

Cannon said the present series should be finished in January. After that he will "work on my shack. I live there."

"I don't go to New York unless I'm working. I prefer privacy and I don't seek publicity. I don't like southern California and its hot weather."

Cannon took time out from "just loafing around" during his visit to Salmon to accompany his brother, Bill, on a hunting trip in the Timmer Creek area near Leander where he grew up as a youngster.

"A couple of California hunters came by and stopped and asked me how the television series was going," Cannon said.

He added that he is "tired of doing the show; it's not so much that, but I'd like to do something else."

"I haven't read a review of what I've been in for 15 years. I decided was not worth it. If the reason for doing a part is the review it's a poor reason for doing it."

"If something that really excites me comes along I would leave 'McCloud.' But it beats the hell out of working. It pays, well, but you don't have any money left after taxes."

Cannon was born April 24, 1922, in Salmon and left here after graduation in 1940 from high school at age 18.

"One of my high school teachers paid tuition so I could go to acting school," Cannon recalled. "While in high school I was active in school plays."

He attended the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City, graduating in 1942.

He then joined the Air Force, serving nearly three years as a radio operator and gunner on a B-17 stationed in England. After the service he got married and held down a variety of jobs, none of them acting. "They were just odd jobs so I could study and look for work in the theater," Cannon said.

"I began doing summer stock in New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Maine."

"In 1954 I started working for the New York Shakespeare Festival in New York City, doing plays in Central Park, which they still do today. I worked with them five or six years. I was playing the part of Petruchio in 'Taming of the Shrew.'"

"In 1960 I began doing some television, the first couple of years in New York, then in California. That included parts in 'The Naked City,' 'The Defenders,' 'The Untouchables,' 'The FBI' and 'The Fugitive.'"

He also appeared in 'Henry The Eighth,' 'Part One and Two,' on television.

Cannon, who has two other brothers besides Bill and Russell of Salmon, Frank of Belton, Tex., and Joe, of Portland, said he gets back to Salmon every year or two.

"I like to look at the country. The town has changed, but so have I. I'm not sure either one of us has changed for the better, but I hope we have."

Cannon noted that Dennis Weaver is tremendously popular. "They use me a great deal more on the show than they used to. As writers and producers get to know you better, it gives them a little more freedom to invent things for you and a personality evolves."

Cannon said the show has a lot of fantasy in it and it is not realistic. Glen Larsen, who lives in Los Angeles and is from Utah, is the producer.

"The show never takes itself serious and we all get along well together. No one is on a big ego trip, no one is in conflict with anyone." Cannon said if the show should terminate he would like to hack and work for the New York Shakespeare Festival.

Cannon said he enjoys coming back to Salmon. "No one makes a fuss over me. That is the way I like it. If they did I wouldn't come back."

Cannon's mother, Bessie, recalled that he had been an "ambitious youth" but Cannon said he had "lost that along the way." "He was so ambitious he even resented his father milking the cows for him," his mother, who will be in Jun. 27, recalled.

Q: Can you tell me about Engelbert Humperdinck? I read he was served with a patently suit by a model. I thought he was happily married. — T.B., Silver City, Nev.

HUMPERDINCK
... too busy

year-old daughter. But Engelbert says his fans are so wild and he has so many security guards, "I couldn't be naughty even if I wanted to." All he ever really wants to do, besides the singing, is get home to his family.

QUESTION — YOU NEVER ASKED: If you were to give a party and ask the top three singers, which two have to be kept deftly separated? — Why Diana Russ and Diane Warwick.

They're really got a hate on for each other.

Q: Jackie Kennedy keeps looking better and better. Has she had something done to herself? — V.T., Memphis, Tenn.

A: Mrs. Chassis believes in the outdoor life and keeping physically fit. Since her return to New York City from Greece she has been running five miles a day in Central Park in addition to her regular classes in exercise, one of the most stringent we've heard of. In addition, she scarcely drinks or smokes.

SCANDAL OF THE WEEK: The cocaine scene in Los Angeles has reached epidemic proportions and it's everywhere. When a certain rock star cuts a record he stashes coke all over the studio and does so much sniffing that he's on Q: What does that Princess see in Richard Burton? For heaven's sake! — M.E., Boston, Mass.

A: Now don't put down Mr. Burton's charms. He can be very appealing when he wants, spouting poetry, telling a woman beautiful stories and all that. But to answer your question, we think the acting bug bit the Yugoslav Princess — several years back. Actor Mel Ferrer has been trying to get an agent to take up her "acting" career — for some time thought to date the Princess has only taken lessons, never performed in public. If she marries Burton, she'll have a terrific teacher and a wonderful foot in the stage door.

Q: I hear there is some place you can send drugs to be made free. Is this true?

— J.E., Bennington, Vt.

A: Not for free, but the PharmChem Laboratories, 1848 Bay Road, Palo Alto, Calif. 94301, has a good public drug analysis service. Same call it the best in the U.S. Their rates are $5 for qualitative analysis of any drug; $10 for quantitative analysis, including percentage of purity. For quantitative analysis, you must give your name and address. So far, the government hasn't asked PharmChem for this information.

Q: Is it true that a lot of people are leaving England if they can because of expected higher taxes and restrictive socialist measures? — P.W., N.Y., N.Y.

A: Well, not everybody, though a few biggies are trying to get out before the detergent works with wages. For instance, Henry Ford II has bought Prince Stash Radzivil's mansion in Pasadena, Georgia. In Thames Valley and will be keeping his grand London home just off Grosvenor Square.

TROUBLE IN PARADISE—Word is that the high-living Ashlyria J. de la Bey Gura, is having serious money worries. Q: Since former President Nixon has no hospitalization how come he didn't choose a military hospital in California or go to Walter Reed near Washington where other Presidents have gone? — E.T., Elizabeth, N.J.

A: The Marine Hospital near San Clemente did not have the best facilities and as for Walter Reed, we heard it was considered but Nixon apparently did not want to be that close to the Watergate trial.

Q: Any truth to the rumor that now that Liza Minnelli is happily married she's going to quit working and be a housewife? — T.L., Erie, Pa.

GUESS WHAT? — A major movie star with one of the longest, running and supposedly happiest marriages in Hollywood has again filed for divorce. See if you can spot a star who always has the same young black actress in many of his movies.

Q: I've been reading that some scientists are convinced that Uri Geller has certain telepathic abilities. Is there any truth to stories that mentalists can control your behavior? — H.Y., Fresno, Calif.

A: Many people scoff but some eminent parapsychologists point out that the "Rusians" are conducting extensive experiments in this field. It has been suggested that the Soviets may be attempting to influence summit meetings by establishing mentalists in adjoining rooms. This might explain the infamous wheat deal in which the "Rusians" got such a great bargain to the disadvantage of the U.S.

Q: Is it true that Salvadori Dali the painter, has thrown his money away in high living and is now practically penniless? — S.S., Marquette, Mich.

A: Quite the opposite. Dali watches his pennies with great care and the 70-year-old artist is — a multimillionaire. He's so rich that he's just built his own theater and museum in Spain — a lavish monument to himself. He will stage his own plays in the theater. The flamboyant Dali now says that he has discovered he is, an even greater writer than a painter.

LOST WEEKEND? Remember in the Ray Milland film how the alchemist is driven out of the theater in search of a drink by seeing actors toasting one another on the stage? Well, it's happening in real life. Eugene Strick plays an alchemist so convincingly in "The Gingerbread Lady" that the bar is a complete crushing. Intermissions at London's Phoenix Theater.

Q: We're sure you'll know who the highest paid actor in Hollywood is. We've got a bet on M.N., Boston, Mass.

A: The biggest earner in Hollywood at this very moment is — Paul Newman, who takes from the smash hit "The Sting" will be a minimum of five million dollars. That's right — five mil.

THINGS WE NEVER KNEW TILL NOW: The late Jacqueline Susann's breast surgery many years ago was such a well-kept secret that when she wrote her best-seller, "Valley of the Dolls," it was assumed that the section of the book dealing with mastectomy referred to the actress.

Joyce Mathews. At the time, Joyce's friends were outraged. Little did they know that — Jackie — was actually writing about her own bitter experience.

Q: Why do they keep hunting down the Nazi war criminals? These men must now be old, sick and senile. What's the point? — J.E., St. Louis, Mo.

A: Nazi hunter Simon Wiesenthal, who acted as advisor on the movie "The Odessa File," says the point is not entirely to bring the remaining criminals to justice but to see that they do not die as innocents. Wiesenthal says what his organization "does" is — a symbol for the future. "When history looks back I want people to know the Nazis weren't able to kill 11 million people and get away with it."

TF student tells German ideas of American tourist

One wing of Celle's palace

BY DOUG CARR
 Germans think all Americans wear Bermuda shorts and tennis shoes and drive cars. They also believe that all Americans except blacks, Chicanos and other minorities are at least moderately wealthy, if not super rich. The rest are all poverty stricken.

There are several reasons why the Germans think this. The first and most obvious is that American tourists are so willing to throw their money away. They stay at the most expensive motels and eat at the best restaurants and run around looking for keepsakes.

Secondly, American tourists are only interested in seeing such things as castles, palaces or cathedrals. These things are considered commonplace and few students at the University of Heidelberg have even visited the famous castle in that city.

And perhaps the most important reason is that Americans don't know any German, so they can't ever get to know the people and dispell any of these stereotyped ideas.

I have been asked several times what places in Germany would be the best to visit. For those who like the hustle of major cities, there is Munich or Berlin. Quieter places such as the Alps and Lake Constance are tourist favorites.

Most American tourists try to visit Bithenburg but one place the American tourist also misses is Celle, a relatively small city of about 30,000 population on the edge of the Lüneberg Heath, not far from the well-known city of Hannover.

Descendants of the rulers of Celle became the ruling family of England. The rulers of Celle, who eventually died out, left a small palace, which does not compare to the major palaces of Europe, but provides a scenic background and contrast to the central part of the city.

This central part of Celle is what attracts the tourists who do come there.

Houses, many centuries old, are painted in every color imaginable. No only are exterior walls painted in every hue, but also the exterior woodwork.

Many of these buildings are 450 years old and the resulting warping over the centuries, has produced many hilarious results. Some buildings have split apart. Others lean at crazy angles. One house has a door that stands on a 45 degree angle.

Many of the buildings have carved sayings on them. The total effect of the "Altstadt" has been greatly aided by two ordinances which require any new buildings replacing the old houses to be built in the same style as the original and bans all traffic in the center of town.

Oyster transport

CONNIE Schawler, Jackpot waitress, exhibits a metal-lined barrel that Mike Ausich, Mackay, found in the Nevada brush country. The barrel was used in pioneer days to transport lead oysters inland. Ausich says such barrels were often lowered by chains into hand-dug wells, or set in shaded springs to retard melting of the ice upon their arrival at their destination.

Buy a Corning Range for your kitchen...

The Corning 3 x 1 Range

and we'll give you a Corning Table Range, FREE!

The Corning Table Range

This special offer is designed to help you cook better and work less anywhere in your house. Take advantage of this special offer. You'll get two very special ranges.

First, the remarkable new CORNING® 3 x 1, Corning's greatest cooking range—a range with automatic controls that give you more control than any other range can make. No matter how you cook, you'll cook better and work less.

Then, a Corning Table Range with automatic controls that simply do not allow food to burn or scorch. One that eliminates mess! pot watching and a good deal of pot scraping. A range that lets you cook with all of your favorite pots and pans. As well as the set of Cook-mates® cookware that comes with it. Sound incredible? Well, come on in and let us show you how Corning's unique thermostats and special elements make cooking better and working less a reality. And now for the free part of the offer—the Corning Table Range base (A $31.95 value).

The Corning Table Range is the perfect partner to the 3 x 1 range. It's a simple, attractive, compact, 11" thermostatically controlled element, and it works with two pieces of the Cook-mates® cookware that come with the 3 x 1.

All of which make it a perfect fifth burner, or food warmer, or portable precision range that lets you cook delicious meals wherever you want to eat!

The Corning 3 x 1 Range and the Corning Table Range Buy One. Get two great!

POLLY'S POINTERS

It's Prime Time For Milk Can Antiquing

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY - I am answering Hazel who wants to know how to "antique" an old 16-gallon milk can. An antique kit can be bought for this job. Be sure first to paint the can with a metal primer. I did not do this and the glaze was popped off the paint came off with it and I had to start all over. After the primer is dry follow the directions that came with the kit. When dry apply glaze and wipe off until the desired effect is obtained. I applied a large oiled wheel on one side of mine and then applied the final coat of varnish. Gold paint can be bought at a hobby shop to use for touching up the rim, handles or wherever desired. -MRS. K. W.

DEAR GIRLS - Be sure your milk can is thoroughly clean before you start. Many old milk cans have rough and rusty spots that must first be removed for a professional looking job. -POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY - I have a problem with washing walls. The idea of course, is to get them clean in the shortest time without rinsing and then keeping them clean as long as possible between washings. I have tried several cleaners but notice that when I take a shower the walls start wet and begin to run and stream from a left-in film. Can anyone suggest a way to do this without a lingering odor or rinsing? -MRS. J. C. R.

DEAR POLLY - My Pet Peeve is with those people who park in the shopping center parking lots with no regard for rules or other cars. They park in fire lanes and take up two spaces by parking crooked or not pulling in far enough. Those with children in their cars are teaching them to disregard rules, too. -BOOTS

DEAR POLLY - I was saved a bill by cleaning my son's red-and-white letter-jacket-with-rug-shampoo. I filled a sponge brush topped-bottle with this, let cold water and then added shampoo. After shaking well I brushed this foamy mixture into the cloth part of the coat and the colors did not run since it was a cold water shampoo. The white leather trim was washed with warm soapy water. The jacket was put on a hanger and hung on the clothes line to dry completely. -MRS. W. C.

(Polly's note—Do test an inconspicuous spot first.)

Campus letter creates censorship, Texan style

—ODESSA—Tex.—(UPI)—The president of the University of Texas Permian Basin didn't like a newspaper that printed a critical letter, so ordered 1,300 copies of it shredded.

"This is not a student newspaper," said University of Texas Permian Basin President, B.H. Amsted of the student newspaper. "We consider it a house organ."

But Joel Asbery, 21, student editor of the four-page, weekly newspaper, "The Windmill," thought otherwise.

"I will not be a mouthpiece for the administration," the editor said.

So when another student wrote a letter to the editor criticizing the University of Texas board of regents, Asbery printed it.

Amsted promptly fired the student editor.

And the school president ordered all 1,300 copies of last Friday's newspaper containing the critical letter destroyed in a shredding machine.

"This is a grave injustice to the students at the college," Asbery said today of the West Texas school that opened just a year ago.

Amsted pointed to the letter because "I felt it was genuinely written by a student with something he had to say," Asbery said.

"It was my obligation to print the letter. I represent all factions on campus."

Asbery was offered a job in the university library but refused it.

"I would not accept any position with that university," he said. Asbery said he plans to find part-time employment elsewhere.

The letter, written by senior government student John Mosley of Paris, Tex., criticized the University of Texas Board of Regents for firing of UT-

Austin President Stephen H. Spurr.

The letter stated that refusing to give "substantial student and faculty participation" in selecting the next Austin president was a "deplorable act of dictatorship."

"It was matched only with UT System Chancellor Charles LeMaistre's unmitigated gall in refusing to give the faculty or press specific reasons for the action," the letter said.

"It seems the members of the administrative hierarchy of the UT System have become dominators concerning free press, student government and the hasty dismissals of faculty and staff," the letter concluded.

Letters to the editor had appeared in The Windmill before but this was the first time a controversial letter had appeared.

Port has busiest mailbox

—CHICAGO—(UPI)—Chicago, already noted for the world's busiest airport and the world's busiest intersection State and Madison now has yet another distinction.

Though no records are kept of the U.S. Postal Service says Chicago has the nation's busiest mailbox.

The box—located at the intersection of Madison and Halsted streets—handles 2,700 pieces of mail daily. The load weighs 200 pounds.

The volume is so heavy, authorities said, the box has to be emptied six times a day.

The Postal Service said it was surprised to find that the location of the mailbox is well inside the Loop area of the city.

However, postal officials say there appears to be a lot of mail from transient trade at the location.

The box accepts parcels as well as letters, but the postal service says letters account for 95 per cent of the mail posted there.
