US expects UN to remain on Golan Heights

PEKING (Star-News) — After a week of hard bargaining in Washington and Damascus, U.S. officials now expect Syria to allow a United Nations force to stay on the tense Golan Heights military demarcation line between Israel and Syria.

Earlier, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is here for meetings with China officials, had been fearful that Syria would refuse to agree to continuation of the 1,250-man observer force on the Golan after its mandate runs out.

Scott blasts Demo controls stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott accused Democrats of taking the "coward's way out" by proposing standstill, rather than mandatory, wage and price controls.

Scott said if Democrats insist on controls despite "obvious dangers and the proven failures of previous experimentation... they had better be mandatory. "Provisions for standby controls are a coward's way out," Scott said in a statement.

He added "such a device would be transparent — pass the buck to the President; if imposed and if not imposed, blame the President; if not imposed and the Congress avoids other necessary antirecession legislation, blame the President."

Under knife

NEW YORK (UPI) — Margaretta (Happy) Rocketteller, 36, today had her cancerous right breast removed — five weeks after doctors removed her left breast in a radical mastectomy.

Ford nominates Zarb as FEA head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford Monday nominated Frank G. Zarb, a key budget and energy adviser, to head the Federal Energy Administration.

Connally granted separate trials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge today granted former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally a motion for separate trials on the bribery and perjury charges against him in the milk fund case.

Tunisia may succeed earlier today it was giving temporary asylum to the four men because no other Arab government appeared to want them. The men had expressed fear they would fall into PLO hands.

All four were taken into custody with seven other guerrillas whose release they had won from jails in Egypt and Holland under

Nuclear ceilings set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev have agreed to limit the nuclear arms race for the next decade. Returning Sunday night from the Vladivostok summit talks, where the agreement was reached, Ford stressed that "many details remain to be worked out by our negotiators."

"But certainly on the strategic forces of both nations have been accepted," he said. "A good agreement that will serve the interests of the United States and the Soviet Union is within our grasp."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the agreement in principle was the breakthrough in nuclear arms talks "that we have sought in recent years."

"We have achieved a cap on the arms race if we can solve the technical problems of implementing the agreement that was made here," Kissinger told reporters in Vladivostok. "But I believe that with good will that should be possible."

Administration sources said it allows the Soviet Union to keep its advantage in numbers of intercontinental nuclear missiles, but lets the United States keep its advantage in the number of missiles equipped with multiple warheads.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen was evasive — "It is one of the most significant agreements since World War II," Nessen declared, saying "Richard Nixon could not achieve this in five years. President Ford achieved it in three months."

On Tuesday Ford will begin explaining still secret details of the agreement to congressional leaders of both parties, and he will brief more members of Congress during the week.

He could meet opposition from legislators such as Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who have resisted previous U.S.-Soviet nuclear accords as giving too much away to the Russians.

A spokesman for Jackson said his arms control subcommittee would hold hearings on the agreement as soon as possible.

Administration officials said Ford expects to receive within a week a written statement from Brezhnev confirming the points on which the two leaders agreed verbally.

Broad outlines of the agreement were set forth in a statement signed by Ford and Brezhnev

Sunday in the second floor salarum of a health spa near the icy Siberian port city of Vladivostok.

U.S. officials hope the technicalities can be worked out at U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks resuming in Geneva in January and the agreement could be formally signed when Brezhnev visits the United States the following May or June.

It goes beyond an interim nuclear arms accord signed between Brezhnev and former President Richard Nixon in May, 1972, which expires in October, 1977. The new agreement would run from then until December 3, 1985.

Newspapers have been hit recently that newspaper would rise to $30 a ton, up from $24.45. Last year newspaper sold for $177 a ton.

PORT HUENEME, Calif. (UPI) — Maybe silent film fans thought it was funny, The U.S. Navy does not.

A 19-year-old sailor, Leon L. Louie of Fresno, Calif., faced a court martial at Naval Construction Battalion headquarters here.

The charges: Throwing a chocolate cream pie in the face of a chief warrant officer. A Navy spokesman said he did not know why Louie threw the pie.

Mexicans are willing to work for less than native Americans, that keeping wages low.

The federal government said about 8,300 Mexicans are being admitted for seasonal work each year and more than 45,000 entered the United States on a daily basis under a special system which requires little or no paperwork.

Douglas said "the working and legislative history of the statute and the long administrative construction indicate that the same treatment is appropriate for both daily and seasonal commuters."

The Court noted that the seasonal pact grew out of the bracero program which Congress allowed to lapse in 1964. Douglas said the seasonal immigration was a more strict application of limits on importing Mexican farm workers.

Douglas said that if the commuter program was to be abolished or changed, it would be up to Congress and not the courts.

Justice Byron R. White, in dissent, said the wording of the Immigration laws was clear and barred continuing across borders under the guise of becoming, briefly, immigrants.

Coal accord reached

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The settlement was announced by Treasury Secretary William F. Simon, who conferred with industry officials for more than three hours.

The tentative pact supercedes what both sides had called "probably the best agreement in any industry that has been made in modern times."

News tips 733-0931

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Coal negotiators agreed on an improved contract Sunday night.

The agreement came after informal talks among negotiators for the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America. Some 120,000 miners have been out on strike since Nov. 12.

Mr. T-N says inflation may make nuclear weapons too expensive to build.

Greyhound bus strike at end

TWIN FALLS — Greyhound Buses, began rolling about noon yesterday when a tentative settlement of the six-day-old bus line strike was announced.

Wayne Steele, manager of the Twin Falls Bus Depot, said "everything should be normal today" and all buses were scheduled to leave.

The six-day bus strike, which shut down area buses running through Twin Falls, did not cause many problems locally, Steele said because of its short duration.

United Press International reported the union strike, which affected 10,000 employees, was tentatively settled about midday Sunday. Buses were rolling again by late afternoon.

The agreement, announced in Phoenix, Ariz., where the negotiations have been held, was the first contract covering all the bus company's employees in the continental United States.

Details of the three-year pact were not disclosed pending ratification, which was to be done through mailed ballots expected to take three weeks.

'New thing'

STAPLE inserted in this woman's ear is one of two she is wearing. It's a revised version of Chinese acupuncture but what's the truth about the procedure?

Farm worker admission upheld by Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that Mexican farmworkers can be admitted to the United States on a daily or seasonal basis without violating immigration laws.

But the ruling should not affect Idaho, according to Robert Dale, investigator for the U.S. Department of Immigration.

Employers who need workers of any type can petition to import Mexican nationals for a specific length of time. The petition must be approved by the U.S. Department of Labor based on a lack of workers in the area, Dale said.

He said that such petitions have been made in Idaho, but knew of none which had been approved. A department spokesman also said he knew of no such certifications being issued.

The 5-4 decision, with Justice William O. Douglas writing for the majority, was a blow to the United Farm Workers Union, which had brought suit seeking to bar temporary admission of Mexicans to compete with union members.

Union leader Cesar Chavez claims the ## Staple puncture in ears: cure-all or merely fad?

BY CRICKET BIRD Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A new cure for compulsive eaters, smokers, drinkers, gamblers and drug addicts, or another fad that's had a lot of success — what is the truth about staple puncture?

Staple puncture, a revised version of traditional Chinese acupuncture, is a recent arrival at the battle against compulsive behaviors which torment many Americans.

The staple puncture method, which requires insertion of a staple in the ear, has become the new thing, with attention in national magazines such as "Newsweek," "The National Observer" and "People."

Mrs. B., a 50-year-old Twin Falls woman who says she needs to lose 50 pounds, has had a staple in each ear for about three weeks now.

She is losing slowly, but steadily, about the same as she would on a diet. She says: "The staple admits there's some psychological effect. I don't know any reason I'm losing is the procedure?"

psychological effect — just the reminder helps," she said.

But the staple really works. "You can be just starved to death, and you can be walking to the freezer. You touch your button (staple) and you forget all about being hungry," she said.

Mrs. B. has tried all the methods — pills, starvation diets, special dieting groups. If the staple helps her lose weight and keep it off, she's all for the matter how it works.

Mrs. B.'s staples were inserted by a local physician who is undertaking a voluntary study with area patients to evaluate the effectiveness of staple puncture.

The physician, who is not taking any more patients at this time, uses the stainless steel staples employed to close surgical wounds. The staple is inserted from a sterile magazine in a patient's ear — antibiotic ointment, and instructions to prevent infection.

Nuclear arms ceilings set at summit

Ford appeared tired but elated as he walked down the ramp of Air Force One at Andrews Air Force Base near here Sunday night after a 16-day, 16,500-mile journey to Japan, South Korea and the Soviet Union, his first venture into global diplomacy.

His wife, Betty, and daughter, Susan, kissed and hugged him. Ford told about 200 well-wishers, "I believe we accomplished what we set out to achieve — and perhaps more."

He referred to the nuclear agreement with Brezhnev as an understanding which "established a sound basis for a new agreement that will ensure our military competition from the next decade."

Ford arrived in Vladivostok Saturday, flying from South Korea via Tokyo, where Air Force One picked up a Soviet navigator and radio operator.

Brezhnev talked during a two-hour train ride to Okenskaya, a spa and sanatorium used by Soviet government agencies.

Saturday night they met until half past midnight, concealing a banquet, and resumed on Sunday night. The aide said the two leaders "talked informally."

Brezhnev told Ford that if the nuclear agreement is finally signed "You and I will be thanked by all the peoples of the world. I think we have done a good job in this respect, here in Vladivostok."

Ford, Brezhnev mark agreement Seen...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and Soviet Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev downed a couple of vodkas to seal their agreement on curbing the nuclear arms race.

"Two glasses, and that's all," claims one of Ford's top aides.

Observers agree the two leaders hid it off from the start of their talks in Vladivostok.

Both began talking spontaneously as they were introduced to Ford, a star center at the University of Michigan, got football into the conversation. Brezhnev said that in his youth he played soccer.

"There was a chemistry between the two men," said one Ford adviser. "Neither side anticipated anything more than a ceremonial get-together. That's all we expected. Brezhnev was always being tongue-tied. The President in true Russian fashion."

Another aide said there was a "personal rapport."

"They are two tough guys who are fundamentally politicians," he added. "They talked real tough, but in the end they drank their vodka and quickly found it. Brezhnev is a hell of a politician."

It was clear that unlike the summit meeting between Brezhnev and former President Nixon last July, the Russians had decided to go for an agreement.

"It is possible to agree on everything," a high ranking Soviet official told reporters before the summit sessions.

US suit charges book market split

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today charged a group of major American publishing houses with violating antitrust laws by conspiring to divide world book markets among themselves since 1947.

Assistant Attorney General Thomas E. Kauper said a civil suit filed in F.S. District Court in New York City charged that the publishers entered into agreements to allocate exclusive marketing territories throughout the world.

Only areas agreed upon by the publishers were "open territory" for book sales, Kauper said.

He said the defendants monitored each other and attempted to suppress any actual or attempted violation of the allocation agreement.

The suit said that as a result of these practices competition among publishers in the United States and Britain has been suppressed, international trade in English language books has been restricted and book buyers have been deprived of the benefits of open competition.

The Justice Department asked for a permanent court injunction to prevent the defendants and "co-conspirators" from conducting similar competition between American and British publishers.

Most of the publishing firms named as defendants are based in New York City.

The New York City companies named as the suit were Random House, Inc., (including Hachette, Inc.), Doubleday, Inc., Dell Publishing Co., Inc., Grosset & Dunlap, Inc., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc., Harper & Row Publishers, Inc., Little, Brown Educational Publishing, Inc., MacMillan, Inc., McGraw-Hill, Inc., Oxford University Press, Inc., Random House, Inc., Simon & Schuster, Inc., The Viking Press, Inc., and John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

Other publishers named as defendants included Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., Reading, Mass.; Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston; Intext, Inc., Scranton, Pa.; Penguin Books Inc., Baltimore, Md.; Prentice-Hall Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N.J.; and The Times Mirror Co., Los Angeles.

Named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant was the Publishers Association, a British organization whose membership includes almost all major publishing houses in the United Kingdom.

These member publishing houses, themselves, also were named as co-conspirators but not defendants.

Sugar conspiracy evidence lacking

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said today the government can find no evidence that the Soviet Union and the oil-rich Arab nations are involved in a conspiracy to drive up the price of sugar.

Simon, however, said: "Many of you may be aware that the Soviet Union and some of the Arab nations have recently placed large orders for sugar. Because of our concern over prices we have studied these purchases carefully and I can report to you this morning that we can find no evidence of a conspiracy between them to hoard or drive up the price of sugar."

"That is one idea we can dismiss immediately," Simon told the opening of a two-day hearing into the sugar situation. But Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., in his testimony prepared for the hearing, said "I have information that indicates the Russians and the Arab nations have been attempting, and to some degree have succeeded already, in transacting a sugar deal that is comparable to the wheat deal made a year ago in the United States."

"This is a deliberate effort to further create financial problems for the poorer countries in the world, and generally lead to the economic crisis that many countries are facing due to the price of oil."

"Because we in the United States support about one-half of the sugar we consume, we are directly affected by this worldwide problem."

The report added that the outlook for prices over the short run is not encouraging because the supply-demand situation "will probably remain very tight for the next year or two at least."

Planning groups slate meet

TWIN FALLS - The Twin Falls, Blaine, and Blaine county planning forum groups will meet at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 2 at the College of Southern Idaho mini-auditorium in the V-Tech building.

State Rep. William Owsener, R-Boise, will discuss the proposed bill on site value taxation, which would provide for assessment of land only and not for the improvements made upon the land.

No planning forum meetings will be held this week. Questions to be discussed concerning the proposed bill include:

- will the assessments follow county and city zoning?
- will it penalize some agricultural land?
- will it encourage development of vacant lots?

Kissinger, family visit China's ailing premier

PERKING (UPI) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger took his wife Nancy and his children on an almost sentimental journey to see China's ailing Premier Chou En-lai today. He then settled down to talks with Peking leaders about the future of Sino-American relations.

Kissinger, flanked by the Sino-American freemonger relations and said: "We ought to mention the pioneering role which Mr. Richard Nixon played in this regard."

Kissinger and Kissinger's son and daughter underscored the personal aspects of the hospital, call Kissinger made less than an hour after his arrival. Diplomats said Chou's mention of the former President stems from their sincere appreciation of his changing American China policy.

At a formal dinner tonight in the Peking People's Palace, Kissinger and China's new Foreign Minister Chao Kuang-hua exchanged toasts and hailed the beginning three years ago under the Nixon administration of freer relations between China and America.

Kissinger, however, from Vladivostok where he sat in on the summit conference between Ford and Soviet Communist Party Secretary General Leonid Brezhnev, he came here to brief the Chinese on the meeting and to reassure them of the U.S. determination to maintain friendly relations with Peking.

Chou said the current world situation "is characterized by great disorder under heaven. The entire world is amidst intense turbulence and unrest. Such turmoil is a good thing. It is not a bad thing."

Kissinger called it "one of the most significant initiatives in American foreign policy" and said it was not a matter of expediency, but of fixed principle of American foreign policy.

In Vladivostok there was no passage mention of Nixon. Kissinger spent about 20 minutes with Chou at a hospital in the first event of his five-day Chinese visit and said he found him looking "very well."

He too said the world was changing. "We believe this change must lead to a better order for all the people of the world," he said.

Referring to President Richard M. Nixon's resignation, Kissinger told the Chinese, "Since I was here there have been some changes in the United States... It was no accident the new President saw your ambassador on his first afternoon in office. President Ford has sent me here to continue fruitful exchanges of views."

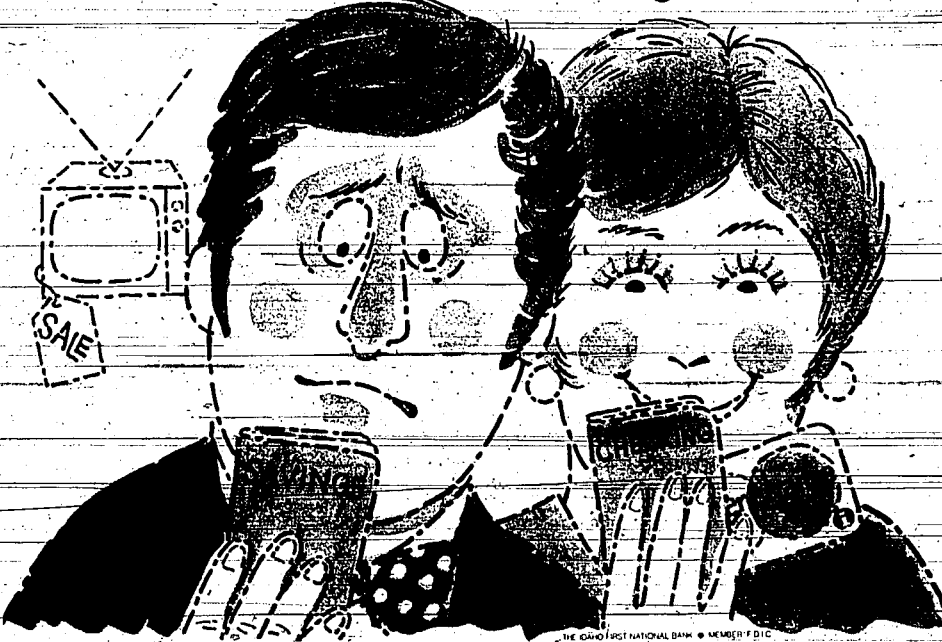

The presence of Nancy Kissinger, a six-footer with bushy gray hair, and an old diplomatic friend of

When you "dip into savings," you dip into its earning power, too. There are several ways around that.

The dip becomes a scoop. When you dip into savings, you cut back on the ability to earn. That's obvious. And with our plan in which interest is compounded, you dock yourself even more.

But there are alternatives. Put the special purchase on Master Charge and if you pay it in 30 days, you use the money free. When you take a bit longer, it's only 1 1/2% per month on each month's balance until paid.

Or, use Line-O-Credit on your Idaho First checking account. Either way you've preserved your savings and its earning power. And something more. You've held out for your original savings objective.

US response to oil cartel threat forming

By LEONARD SILK
(c) New York Times Service

NEW YORK — The United States response to the threat to the world economy posed by the international oil cartel is starting to take form and gather force.

Why was the American strategy to blunt the threat so slow to emerge?

One reason was the divided response of this country's principal allies in Western Europe and Japan. Another was the plain intellectual difficulty in coming to a "strong economic and strategic understanding of the threat... and how to counter it. Finally, the agency at Watergate and the lack of presidential leadership during the final year of the Nixon administration delayed and crippled United States countermeasures.

However, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is now increasingly devoting his energies and considerable conceptual talents in the energy problem.

He has come to see the energy crisis and the extremely serious balance of payments problem created by the flow of billions of dollars to the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries as a grave danger not only to the economies of the United States and the other industrial countries but also the Western alliance itself.

The energy crisis has largely blotted out the earlier Nixon-Kissinger conception of the world system as depending on a balance among "the five great powers": the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Western Europe and Japan, in which this country would lead free to wield and deal among the other "pentagonal" powers.

Instead, the need to put together an anti-consumer coalition has caused the United States to try to reconstruct the earlier post-war alliance. President Ford's current trip to Japan is a vital element in that strategy.

As Kissinger made clear in his speech in Chicago, he is fearful that new tensions are engulfing the world "just when the antagonisms of two decades of the cold war have begun to diminish."

Analysis

If the energy crisis is allowed to go unchecked, the world's major countries will be tempted to secure unilateral benefit through separate arrangements with producers at the expense of the collaboration that offers the only hope for survival over the long term.

The most worrisome country from that standpoint is France, not only in its own right but as the fulcrum of the entire European Economic Community.

France has stayed outside the new 16-nation International Energy Agency, in whose formation the United States has taken the leadership. However, in permitting the newly formed body to be set up in association with the Paris-based Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, of which France is a member, the government of President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing has avoided an out-and-out break with the United States and the other oil-consuming countries.

Nevertheless, France is pursuing a policy on energy that seems indistinguishable from that urged by the Shah of Iran and his ambassadors. Both France and Iran favor a "triangular" concept for an early conference of oil producers and oil consumers — with the poor developing countries constituting the third leg of the triangle.

France is dead set against "environmentalism" of importers and oil exporters and criticizes the American conception on that basis. She favors "concertation."

Human collision story unfolds slowly

DENVER — A part of the history of commercial aviation — the saddest part — is a history of collisions.

The industry knows human collisions also. Such a story slowly is unfolding here in Denver.

The story chiefly involves John Ferguson, a United Air Lines pilot whose seniority ranks him within the top third of United's pilot-roster. The collision involves a collision of loyalties — between a pilot's loyalty to his man on the one hand, and his loyalty to his conscience, his company, and his passengers on the other.

Let me pick up the story on the afternoon of July 19, 1971, when a United 727 was flying from Philadelphia to Denver. The flight was in the command of Captain A.E. Ramey.

Somewhere south of Chicago, Ramey's cockpit and his copilot's cockpit, a "miraculous" small, in the cockpit, as if an electrical short circuit had occurred. They followed certain checking procedures, and the switch went away. Then the cabin appeared again as the flight approached Denver. According to some subsequent testimony, Ramey overreacted. He cut the plane's electric power, which meant that the crew could not be certain the landing gear was fully lowered. He donned an oxygen mask. Then he began the prescribed checking procedures, but then abruptly declared that he was going in for a landing. Over the protest of his crew, he took the plane in at high speed, skidded off the wet runway, and caused damage in excess of $300,000 to the aircraft.

The National Transportation Safety Board, after an investigation, attributed the accident to pilot error. Ramey had "failed to follow approved procedures." He had "misjudged his speed," and he had improperly operated his flight controls.

United fired him. Ramey objected to the dismissal, and following the customary industry-union pattern, the firing went to an arbitration panel. It was here that the human collision occurred.

John Ferguson had known Ramey for many years, had flown with him, and had observed him in the demanding business of the cockpit. Ferguson regarded Ramey as a headstrong flier, not suited for emergency command. When Ferguson testified at the arbitration hearing, he volunteered as learned as an adverse witness. It was a painful decision, for Ferguson is a strong union man. He had held high office in the Air Line Pilots Association, and he believed in the union's valuable rule in the pilots' fight.

But Ferguson felt other values rank even higher. On Oct. 30, 1972, he took the stand against Ramey. Five months later, he says the panel had upheld Ramey's dismissal. Ferguson received a harsh letter from his union. The letter denounced him for testifying against a fellow pilot. He was charged with taking "uncoordinated individual action" instead of going along with "pre-planned group cooperation." The letter concluded:

JAMES KILPATRICK

"Therefore, we, the Master Executive Council of the United Air Lines pilots, pursuant to our resolution, hereby officially censure you for having taken the witness stand as a company witness to testify to the possible detriment of Captain A.E. Ramey."

OUR LANDS ARE ALL RIPPED OFF, WE ARE SPOKEN FOR BY A BUNCH OF IDIOT TERRORISTS AND WE ARE RECOGNIZED BY THE U.N. — WHOOPEE.

Going to pot, legally

WASHINGTON — Through the legal system here, the Department of Justice has made known that the crime of possession of small amounts of marijuana will no longer be prosecuted.

Because this announcement comes as a welcome relief to many who do not like to see young people "jailed" for participating in a prevailing custom, nobody takes notice of a remarkable precedent being set.

The executive branch of government, through its attorney general, has just argued to itself the function of judges in deciding that the holder of five marijuana cigarettes shall go free and the holder of six shall be prosecuted?

What right does law enforcement officer have to decide which laws, passed by local or federal legislatures, shall be enforced? And what right do prosecutors have to usurp the function of judges in deciding that the holder of five marijuana cigarettes shall go free and the holder of six shall be prosecuted?

The right, of course, is the discretion placed in the hands of law enforcement officials; in practice, not one of 10 crimes of almost any nature is aggressively prosecuted, because courts and jails are already overcrowded.

But this discretion, or latitude, is given to prosecutors on the assumption that they will act discreetly; it is grossly abused when they publicly announce which laws they have decided not to enforce. The Department of Justice came in business to make new laws or repeal old laws — that is, for Congress and congressional committees — and the final decision to mete out justice should remain in the hands of judges.

Our attorney general, J. Edgar Hoover, has gone to the extent of assuring police officers that they will not be prosecuted for failing to carry out the law. What has happened to the concern so recently expressed about the sinister assumption of power by the executive branch? The concern vanishes when the power is exempted for a particular class with respect to the law.

The decision on the legalization of marijuana is a matter to be faced squarely by elected officials, not fussed up by the fuzz. "Decriminalization" is a foolish euphemism for crime without punishment. We are not prepared to exact a penalty for the commission of a crime, then we should stop calling it a crime.

I think marijuana smoking is harmful and should be legalized. Liquor and tobacco are harmful and legal; a libertarian conservative is not worried, regardless of how given a chance. The only effective curb on marijuana use will come from the left, not the right; from the force of health faddism and social pressure, not the force of law.

This week, as elected officials permitted applicants to apply without a doctor's prescription to the holder of the "license of decriminalization," the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was coming at marijuana use from its vulnerable left side.

A new HEW report warns that industrial use may depress the rate of sex hormone production in high doses; it also may lower resistance to disease, and in a classic non sequitur, the report adds that intoxication may lessen the ability to concentrate. As with HEW data on exhalates, the report plays on fears of marijuana use, but not on the reality of a gaseous bloodhound, but fear does more than evidence can to justify God's ways to man.

Advertising would be regulated; as with liquor, TV and radio would be banned, and as with tobacco, warnings would be required on all major media. Tests would be developed to measure marijuana intoxication, and the crime of driving while stoned would be vigorously prosecuted.

Most important, the social protest connection would be broken. Smoking pot would be viewed not as "our thing," forbidden fruit, but as a fundamental part of our culture, and the harm to the human body; substances would be sought for mind-expansion that are harmless, like exercise, meditation, self-hypnosis, or — who knows? — gambling.

Tests will continue, not to determine whether marijuana is addictive, which was yesterday's argument, but to show whether it is harmful. And it is in the nature of "scientific tests" to show that the ingestion of anything is ultimately harmful.

Tomorrow's young people, already suspicious of smoking ethics, will read the serene fuel of the legal packet of grass. "The surgical general warns that smoking pot may cause sexual impotence, birth defects and lower resistance to colds."

Wouldn't it be more effective in curbing the use of an artificial escape from reality than the present method of unenforceable law, or the abdication of legislative responsibility to the Department of Justice?

How to carve a turkey:
Assemble the following tools: carving knife, stone for sharpening carving knife, hot water, soap, wash cloth, two bath towels, bar towel, meat cleaver.

If the house lacks a meat cleaver, an ax may be substituted. If it is, add bandages, sutures and iodine to above list.

Begin by moving the turkey from roasting pan to a suitable carving area. This is done by inserting the carving knife into the posterior stuffed area of the turkey and the knife-sharpening stone into the stuffed area under the neck.

Thus skewered, the turkey may be lifted out of the hot grease with relative safety. Should the turkey drop to the floor, however, remove the knife and stone, roll the turkey gently into the "No Bath" towels, wrap them several times around it and lift the cleaver used for the carving place.

You are now ready to begin carving. Sharpen the knife on the stone and insert it where the thigh joins the torso. If you do this correctly, which is impossible, the knife will almost immediately encounter a "horney" bone and jar.

This may be the joint. It could, however, by your thumb. If not, execute a vigorous sawing motion until satisfied that the knife has been deflected.

Withdraw the knife and ask someone nearby, in a most appropriate manner, why the knife, in your hands, are not kept in better carving condition.

Express the deepest sympathy for him by hitting his heels until they are strong enough for you to tackle the leg joint with bare hands.

Wrapping one hand firmly around the thigh, seize the turkey's torso in the other and scream. Run cold water over hands to relieve pain of burns.

Now, take a bath towel in each hand and repeat the above maneuver. The entire leg should soon fall away from the chassis with a distinct crack, and the rest of the turkey, obedient to Newton's law about equal opposite reactions, should fall in the opposite direction, which means that if you are sitting at the table the turkey will probably come to rest in someone's lap.

Get the turkey out of the lap with as little fuss as possible and conceal it in the hot water. Use the meat cleaver to sever the drumstick.

If using the alternate, ax method, this operation should be performed on a cement walk outside the house in order to preserve the table.

Repeat the above operation on the turkey's uncarved side. You may have two thighs and two drumsticks. Using the wash cloth, soap and hot water bathe thoroughly and, if possible, go to a movie.

Otherwise, look each person in the eye and say, "I don't suppose anyone wants white meat?"

If compelled to carve the breast anyhow, sharpen the knife on the stone again with sufficient vigor to tip the gray lead on the person who started the stamped for white meat.

While everyone is rushing about to mop the gravy off her cheeks, hack at the turkey breast until it starts crumbling off the carcass in ugly chunks.

The alternate method for carving while you eat is to sit around the neighborhood until you find someone who has a good carving knife and have it cut your own, which is unlikely.

This method enables you to watch the local game on neighbors' television sets and also creates the possibility that somebody looking at your table will grow tired of waiting and do the carving himself.

In this case, upon returning home, cast a pained stare upon the mound of chopped white meat that has been hacked out by the family carving knife and refuse to do any more carving that day. No one who cares about the artistry of carving can be expected to work upon the mutilations of amateurs, and it would be a betrayal of the carver's art to do so.

Oil tankers dock at Ras Tanura, Arabian port

Oil nations could break US

By United Press International

Oil-exporting nations could break the U.S. economy as well as the economies of other industrial nations.

In less than two years, the oil-rich Arab nations have accumulated billions of dollars in a transfer of economic power unprecedented in history.

In an year, Saudi Arabia tripled its monetary reserves to $11.5 billion making it the fourth in the world behind West Germany, the United States and Japan.

By conservative estimates, the Arab oil exporting nations have accumulated some $50 billion in reserves, nearly equalling the $70 billion in after tax profits of all U.S. corporations.

What this means in effect is the newly acquired wealth of the oil-exporting nations is sufficient to buy most of the U.S. economy and more than enough to "seize" economic control over other major industrial powers.

This vast new wealth was accumulated in less than 18 months through the quadrupling of crude oil prices by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which produce 70 per cent of the world's exports.

The rich are likely to get richer. The World Bank estimates that by 1980, OPEC countries will have accumulated $50 billion in surplus funds and by the end of 1985, $120 billion.

The sudden transfer of billions of dollars to the treasuries of OPEC nations put a severe strain on the world financial structure, contributed to worldwide inflation and placed some nations, such as Italy, on the verge of bankruptcy.

Money is power, and how the newly rich Arab nations use it, will in large part determine how the free market economies of the world weather the current economic storm.

Walter J. Levy, an independent oil consultant, predicts that until the oil exporting nations are able to "take" the world's oil dollar into their own economies "their surplus claims on the rest of the world's future will go on pyramiding."

Nations that rely heavily on imported oil "from a range of Italy down to India" are now or soon will be "drake" heavily in debt to the oil producers, Levy said. The United States and West Germany are being

Automaker Ford asks gas tax hike

(c) New York Times Service

DETROIT — Henry Ford II, the chairman of the Ford Motor Co., has proposed that the federal tax on gasoline be increased by 10 cents a gallon to provide money for relief of those hit hardest by the recession, the poor and the unemployed.

Ford said Friday the increase in a gas tax was needed even though it could cause a further drop in already slumping auto sales.

"Many people in our industry, including some at Ford Motor Company don't share my views on this matter," he said. "But, I think the idea deserves a lot of consideration now."

He added, "The fact is that we will never get a full-fledged recovery in the auto industry if we can't give the nation some elbow room in its effort to fight its way out of a recession."

The proposal, which was reminiscent of some of the ideas of his grandfather, Henry Ford Sr., who often outraged his colleagues in the industry, was opposed by Richard C. Gerstenberg, the chairman of General Motors.

Gerstenberg said raising the tax on gas would be a "terrible" thing to do and that the "brunt of the tax would fall on those people who can least afford it."

A spokesman for Chrysler Corporation also said that the tax increase would not be in the "best interests" of the country.

Ford said raising the tax "should at least be considered mainly as a means of giving the federal government the revenues it needs to provide the various forms of assistance to the people most directly affected in this deepening economic slump."

Here's what terms mean

- Depression — An extended period of economic decline with extremely high unemployment, low corporate profits, low prices, drastic production cutbacks and bankruptcies. The United States had two severe depressions, in 1873-79 and 1929-33.
- Recession — A short period of economic decline with moderate high unemployment, some reduction in corporate profits, a slight decline in industrial production and somewhat lower prices. Since World War II but excluding the postwar boom, the United States has been through five recessions — 1948-49, 1953-54, 1957-58, 1960-61 and 1969-70. The average length was 12 months.
- Inflation — Continually spiraling prices and wages, each feeding on the other to produce even higher prices and wages. An annual annual rate of inflation would be 2 to 4 per cent.
- Double-Digit Inflation — When inflation increases at an annual rate in excess of 10 per cent as it is today at 12 per cent.
- Stagnation — A term used to describe an economic slowdown (a recession) and higher prices (inflation) at the same time. Primarily used to describe the present economic situation.
- Consumer Price Index — The statistic which the government figures the rise and fall of prices of consumer goods.
- Gross National Product — A government measure of the value of a nation's total output of goods and services. The GNP for the United States last year was $1.4 trillion.
- Prime Rate — The rate commercial banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers, and the base from which interest for most other loans, business and consumer, is scaled upwards. The prime rate now is about 10 per cent, most consumer loans are 12 per cent.
- Federal Reserve System — The nation's central banking mechanism, an autonomous government body, to which all commercial banks chartered by the federal government must belong. The Fed, as it is sometimes called, controls the flow of money within the nation's banking system.
- Monetary Policy — How a central bank uses its tools to control the money supply.
- Tight Money — The situation when the Federal Reserve restricts the money supply into the banking system to reduce credit available to corporations and consumers. To control inflation, the Fed imposed a tight money policy to decrease the amount of money available to spend.
- Easy Money — The condition when the Federal Reserve allows a free flow of money into the economy to stimulate business activity, industrial expansion and more jobs. This could be used to counteract a severe recession or a depression.
- Balance of Payments — The difference between the value of goods a country exports and those it imports. A negative balance of payments results when a country imports more than it exports — a trade imbalance. A favorable balance occurs when a country's exports more than its imports.
- Petrodollars — Surplus funds accumulated by major oil exporting countries, chiefly Arab nations and Iran, through quadrupling oil prices. Conservative estimates place the surplus at $50 billion.

can't be depended upon to supply all you need.

If you are trying to be a pure vegetarian, you have your work cut out for you — by "pure vegetarians" I mean avoiding all animal sources of food and living solely on vegetable products.

If you are "limited vegetarians," things become much simpler. There are animal products which do not involve meat, such as milk has a little protein and the protein content is concentrated in the fat. Eggs are rich in protein. Eggs and dairy products can be very useful in providing a balanced, healthful diet.

I don't know how many vegetarians accept fish or other seafoods in their diet, but fish is a rich source of protein. I suggest you consult some vegetarian cookbooks for more detailed instructions on how to get the protein you need.

Layoffs mount for auto workers

Detroit (UPI)—A 40-per cent plunge in new car sales in mid-November means lengthy layoffs for more than 200,000 workers and the closing of half of North America's auto assembly plants, the Detroit Christian Worker's Union said.

The number of workers on short and long-term layoffs will climb to more than 100,000 in this holiday-shortened Thanksgiving week to more than 200,000 in the weeks before Christmas.

About 85,000 workers will return to their jobs after the scheduled Christmas-New Year's holiday.

The Nov. 18-20 sales report for late July was cited by analysts as a prime reason for the almost daily announcements of layoffs from automakers last week.

Twenty of the 23 U.S. and Canadian assembly plants will be closed in all or part of December.

An estimated 170,000 cars were sold in mid-November and with the expiration of the first 10 days of the month, the period was the worst since early March.

This year's sharp drop compared with last year, where the Arab oil embargo already was starting to show car sales.

Industry executives feared the drastic production cuts next month may just push sales even farther as more Americans put off purchases until the economy rebounds.

Several Detroit-area dealers reported order cancellations in the past two weeks.

One executive, describing the month as "Black November," fear next month could become known as "Bark November." Rumors persisted of even more massive white-collar layoffs at General Motors and Ford Chrysler is reacting sharply to the disastrous sales. The No. 3 automaker will close five of its U.S. and Canadian plants.

Thanksgiving to lay off 26,700 workers in definitely and 37,200 temporarily. In addition, 10,000 salaried workers are being laid off at Chrysler in December and as many as 20,000 managerial employees are being laid off in next year's execution plan, Chrysler's top executives, including Chairman Lynn Townsend and President John Rockwood, will have their December paychecks cut.

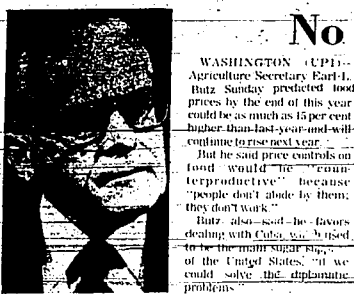

General Motors will have more than 70,000 workers off the job next month. Ford almost 40,000 and American Motors 30,000.

Industry analysts looking for a bright spot in a dismal sales performance said, the mid-November sales rate was up about 13 per cent from the first 10 days of the month.

"At least sales followed the traditional pattern of picking up as the month progressed," said one analyst. "In October they just kept going down."

White Canadian new car sales are still good, plants that are being closed for short periods in December build either small cars for the U.S. market or parts for U.S. plants.

AMC's Brampton, Ontario plant that will be closed the week beginning Dec. 1, builds Hornets and Gremlins sold in both countries.

EARL BUTTZ eyes inflation

No relief seen in rising cost of food

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Buttz Sunday predicted food prices by the end of this year could be as much as 15 per cent higher than last year and will continue to rise next year.

But he said price controls on food would be counterproductive because people don't abide by them, they don't work.

Buttz also said he favors dealing with Cuba, which he said to be the main sugar supplier of the United States, "if we could solve the diplomatic problems."

Cuba, in exchange, would "make an excellent rice market" for U.S. growers if relations could be re-established.

"The answer to high prices for food, especially sugar," Buttz said, is more production.

Asked whether Americans would have to pay more and eat less sweet food, Buttz said: "I think 1974 will end up above 1973 on the average around 14 to 15 per cent increase. There will be some more next year. Not in that magnitude, but I think there will be some more."

"Oh, boy, I wish you hadn't brought that up. I hope it doesn't go to a dollar a pound (sugar) is too big a price increase."

He said one reason for the rapid increase is a general rising of affluence around the world.

"Somewhere or other, when you get a little more money, you want to eat better and one of the things you turn to first is sweets and it doesn't take much increase in the consumption of sweets to increase the demand considerably."

"I think the high price of sugar is going to continue for this year. Next year hopefully it will come down again because we will simply produce more sugar in response to those high prices."

Buttz said Americans "could use less sugar," but opposed reduced consumption of meat.

"We are a meat-eating nation. We like meat. Meat represents a high quality protein in the diet," he said.

"You know, throughout history the companion of man has been the ox, the sheep and the goat."

Buttz said the world has more areas, on which livestock can graze than it has arable growing land, and "I guess I could argue we ought to increase the number of forage-consuming animals to utilize that forage for human consumption."

The secretary reacted to criticism of U.S. refusal to allocate an additional 1 million tons of emergency food aid to hungry nations during the recent World Food Conference in Rome.

"You can't make a decision like that in vacuum," he said.

"You have got to take into consideration the impact on the budget, you have got to consider the available supplies in this country, which are tight. You have to consider the impact on the cost of living in the countries," he said.

He said the United States would use a "case by case" method of deciding where extra food aid will go.

BUDGET WISE BANKS use low cost ways to do it.

Small attendance seen for conclave

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Coordinators for the Democratic Party's national convention expect a small attendance may be smaller than anticipated.

Andrew Shea, Democratic national convention coordinator, said Sunday, "I just predicted we would have about 7,000 persons, but now it looks like we'll come closer to about 5,000."

Shea retained his optimism, however.

"With the November election just behind us, we are just now getting their delegates chosen, it will start picking up now," he said.

"Why just this week we found out that Walter Cronkite is coming. Things will pick up in the next few days."

Mario Di Bari, spokesman for the Plaza Inn, said it has been "very disappointing to find what they say and all the reports we've been holding."

Police officials said they have decided to reduce the convention security force because of smaller crowd estimates and "cutting programs on parking facilities for the event."

British launch Skynet satellite

LONDON (UPI)—A successful flight Sunday placed the Skynet 1 communications satellite in a stationary orbit Sunday night.

Two previous efforts to set up a satellite communications system for the United Kingdom since January had ended in failure and the British looked to have launched last Friday as failed.

Program director Leonard Gray and air Commodore Frank Padfield watched early Sunday as a spacecraft, minor was fired from command from the United States satellite tracking center at Sunnyvale, Calif.

The firing proved to be successful and the satellite was positioned in a stationary orbit 22,000 miles above the Indian Ocean.

The firing followed by two days the satellite's successful launch by Delta rocket.

Skynet II is designed to handle top secret military communications for the next five years.

Another communications satellite, or commsat, in orbit IV, was also placed in stationary orbit this weekend to become part of a worldwide satellite network.

Machine gun fire kills one

FAST (UPI)—A burst of machine gun fire from a passing car killed one Protestant post office employee and seriously wounded another today as they walked to work on a Belfast street.

It was the eighth fatal shooting in Belfast in four days. The fourth of the five-year truce in Northern Ireland sectarian fighting is 1,130.

Police said a passenger in the car fired at least 21 rounds. The two post office workers before speeding away, the man, aged 55, was hit in the head and neck and died later in hospital.

The second man suffered serious abdominal wounds. The police spokesman said the attack could be the latest in a wave of 16-for-late shootings in the province recently involving extremists from both the Protestant and Roman Catholic communities.

The Protestant groups apparently were making demands for last Thursday's bombing in Birmingham. Seven persons were killed in the attack was blamed on British Republican Army units in Ireland's Catholic quarters.

Flooding swamps Texas

BASTROP, Tex. (UPI) — Flood waters that already killed at least 10 persons, in Louisiana and Mississippi, flooded a stream today and forced the evacuation of some families.

The Department of Public Safety said six bodies were recovered from a creek in Travis County and authorities planned to resume searching today for the body of a child missing and presumed drowned.

The Colorado River, swollen by driving rainstorms Saturday and Sunday, was expected to crest here at 21 feet, six feet above flood stage.

"We've had to help a couple of people evacuate," a county sheriff's spokesman said. "The water is supposed to continue to rise another foot and it might flood some homes especially in the low areas." More than eight inches of rain were recorded in less than

Senators open probe into claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee is looking into recent remarks by Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, on the "Jewish lobby" in the United States.

The committee held a closed meeting on the subject today. It will also consider the appointment of Gen. Alexander M. Haig, former President Richard Nixon's White House chief of staff, to head North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

Haig's appointment has been criticized because of his closeness to Nixon and because he was jumped over officers with more military than political experience. The committee, however, has no authority over the Haig appointment.

Congressional sources said Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, R-Kent., who has called for Brown's resignation, will demand that the committee hold public hearings on the issue and call Brown to testify.

At Duke University Law School Oct. 10, Brown said the Jewish influence in the United States is "so strong, you wouldn't believe now."

"We have the Israelis coming to us for equipment," Brown said. "I can't get the Congress to support a (military aid) program like this. And they say, 'don't worry about the Congress. We'll take care of the Congress.'"

Due to testimony from another country, but they can do it. They own the banks in this country, the newspapers. Just look where the Jewish money is."

Brown has publicly apologized for his remarks, which his military aides said were made when he was suffering from fatigue.

GI's strike Army unit in Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — One-third of the soldiers assigned to a U.S. Army artillery unit in West Berlin refused to report for duty today and demanded the right to veto the assignment of officers to the organization.

The strikers, the soldiers described themselves, called for a formal investigation of the situation in the 8th Artillery Battery and asked that "a representative from Congress be permanently available to us in Berlin."

A spokesman for the U.S. Army's Berlin Command confirmed that a group of soldiers assigned to the unit refused to answer work call at 7:30 a.m., and had handed in a petition outlining their demands.

The strike represented the resignation of a group that began in August when several officers from the 8th and other U.S. Army units in West Berlin set out to defy regulations prohibiting beards.

By last week, the army had brought formal charges against four of the men growing beards and had instructed "preliminary" investigations against four more.

All for refusing direct orders to shave.

During the weekend, the men protesting anti-beard regulations learned that a U.S. House of Representatives black among their group had been ordered transferred from West Berlin.

Cheese it!

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — An orderly mob of cheese fanciers flocked to the Nashville farmers market Saturday and Sunday morning to buy nearly 30,000 pounds of cheddar cheese at bargain prices.

Cheese buyers snapped up five and 40-pound blocks of cheddar at 85 cents a pound Sunday. By 9:30 a.m., the cheese was sold out.

The sale was staged by the National Farmers organization, and another is planned for next weekend.

Viet soldier wants Thieu out

SAIGON (UPI) — A former battleline commander today urged President Nguyen Van Thieu to resign in favor of South Vietnam a fresh start.

In a related move, opposition forces announced plans for a march Thursday by at least 10,000 persons demanding freedom of the press for Saigon newspapers.

In Cambodia, government troops claimed killing 100 rebels in fighting for three Communist-held bases nine miles west of Phnom Penh. Military sources said two of the positions were recaptured. Government losses were not reported.

In Saigon, Maj. Nguyen Van Trinh, a deputy battalion commander, said he was wounded and retired from the army, publicly called on Thieu to step down.

"Our utmost desire is to see an early change of leadership in South Vietnam," he told newsmen at Saigon's National Assembly building.

This was the third soldier to publicly "express" his confidence in Thieu since the president called on the people and army Oct. 1 to show whether they had confidence in him.

METAPHYSICAL TURKEYS FROM SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS

Ever since Aristotle, every practicing philosopher (including the contemporary crop) has been trying to work out a metaphysical angle to everything. There are about as many meanings of metaphysical as there are philosophers, but the definition that describes our turkeys is "That which transcends experience". In other words, Swensen's Turkeys will taste so good your mind won't be able to believe it even while your taste buds are experiencing it.

As for the turkey price, it's not nearly as metaphysical as the price of sugar, and we're positive you'll find it as low or lower than anywhere else — metaphysically speaking.

Stapled ears are here: cure-all or nonsense?

The patients are briefed on the theory of stapled eardrums, the value of a healthy, unobstructed ear, and asked to call in their weight every two weeks.

The staff involves several doctors at the clinic, according to the doctor, most of whom are women fighting weight problems. There are a few men, and a few people who got stapled to try to kick the smoking habit.

The physician, who learned of the new treatment method at a scientific symposium offered by the National Acupuncture Research Society, a physician's organization, said the method of auricular acupuncture was first found to have beneficial effects on narcotic addicts in the Orient.

Some 15 practitioners have begun to use the method in a modified form by inserting a non-permanent staple into the patient's ear.

The physician emphasized that any new treatment modalities such as acupuncture, or specifically, stapled eardrums, and thoroughly tested with American patients on a voluntary basis.

There is a need for a serious, professional evaluation of the entire field of acupuncture to prevent abuse or misuse of these methods which are new to the Western world," he said. He said he will reserve judgment on the value or effectiveness of stapled eardrums until his and other studies have produced some statistical data.

That untested drugs such as amphetamines and barbiturates have an effect in drawing out hunger pains, only the compulsive need to eat, eat, eat, when not hungry.

The local physician said even if the staples work with some people, they shouldn't be considered a miraculous cure for all obesity, drinking, smoking, "drugs" or gambling problems.

The area of application he is most interested in, the doctor said, is smoking. People who use the staples to give up smoking are actually practicing preventive medicine, as are obese patients.

The positive side of the introduction of acupuncture treatments which represent a "rather revolutionary departure" is the resulting "stimulation of the entire sector of neuro-physiological research," the physician emphasized.

When intensive studies are completed, then a rational analysis of the effectiveness of the new treatments, including stapled eardrums, can be made.

But, the physician of stapled eardrums is more than a doctor. Because he can't hide the staples under his hair as most women can, curious people often question him about the staples.

"It's kind of an answer though."

"I just tell people my ears were falling out so I had to staple them back on," he says.

"I don't walk around and ask for something to eat" anymore, he said.

Bob said the insertion of the staple hurt about one-half as much as a shot, and added his ears were sore for about four days after. It was not a "physical pain," but "it made you know you had ears." With in two pounds to lose, Bob feels the staples need to be accompanied by a cut in food intake and a good chunk of will power. And he said the doctor warned him the staples would

Monopoly king named

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new Monopoly king is Alvin "Big Al" Aldridge, who wound up with every piece of property on the board in the finals of the St. Regis National Monopoly Championship at the St. Regis Hotel here Saturday.

Aldridge is a retiree, 2-year-old accounting major at Sinclair Community College in Dayton, Ohio. Slammed by his overwhelming victory just 15 minutes before the final whistle, Aldridge said, "I really enjoyed myself. I had a little a little quicker," he said, but he preferred to buy out some of his three opponents' property to keep them in the game a little longer.

DEAR READERS: If you want to treat your family to a marvelous dinner for Thanksgiving, this column is for you. Otherwise, skip DEAR ABBY.

Nearly 15 years ago I was honored to dinner party at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington, Kentucky. Pecan pie was served for dessert. But what pecan pie? Never had I tasted anything so delicious. After dinner I went to the kitchen to congratulate the pastry chef. He was so pleased, he gave me the recipe.

I tried it at home. Mine was every bit as good as his. And it was so easy to make that I wrote and asked permission to share the recipe with my readers. He cooperated, and I published it.

Notes came by the thousands, saying, "That was the best pecan pie my family has every tasted." So here is the recipe.

Abby shares holiday recipes

KENTUCKY PECAN PIE
1 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup melted butter (or margarine)
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 whole eggs (lightly beaten)
1 heaping cup-shelled whole pecans
Combine syrup, sugar, salt, butter, vanilla and mix well. Add slightly beaten eggs. Pour into a 9 inch UNBAKED pie shell. Sprinkle pecans over all. Bake in preheated 350° oven for approximately 45 minutes. When cool, you may top with whipped cream or ice cream...but nothing tops this. You don't care for pecan pie? Too rich? Well, here's an alternative for you. If you like chesseecake you'll love this. It's simpler. But it requires a spring form pan.

ABBY'S CHESSECAKE
Crust: 1/3 cup powdered sugar
1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/4 cup butter or margarine
Mix butter and add to graham cracker crumbs and sugar. Line the bottom of a spring form pan, packing firmly. Mix well. 1 cup granulated sugar
3 eight-ounce packages Philadelphia cream cheese
1 generous teaspoon vanilla flavoring
4 eggs
Pour above ingredients into spring form pan (the crust is as yet unbaked) and bake in preheated oven at 350° for approximately 50 minutes. Do not turn off oven. Remove chesseecake and top with one pint commercial sour cream and return to oven for another five minutes. Let cake cool. Top with one can (12 oz.) prepared pie filling or topping.
Take your choice of blueberry, cherry or strawberry. Chill overnight.
Please let me know how your chesseecake and/or pecan pie turned out.

And don't forget to have one of the children say the blessing. Or say it yourself. Here is mine:
"Oh, heavenly Father, we thank Thee for food and remember the hungry. We thank Thee for health, and remember the sick. We thank Thee for friends, and remember the friendless. We thank Thee for freedom, and remember the enslaved. May these remembrances stir us to seek that which Thee gives to us which may be used for others."
Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and may God bless you and yours.

LOVE,
ABBY

A Lovelier You LOW-CAL CANAPES FOR GALAS

By Mary Sue Miller
As the party season gains momentum, pity the poor dieter. Even those bite-size canapes are calorie-laden. Were you to provide a few tidbits for the dieting-conscious, you'd be a hostess with the mostest.

Ideally, recipes cut the "hidden" calories that add nothing to flavor or satisfaction - only to weight. The following are so tempting, you would never guess the count to be 25 calories or less per helping!
• Tomato Pops American. Between halves of cherry tomatoes, sandwich a thin slice of stuffed olive and skewer with serving.
• Mushroom Caps a la Francois. Use uncooked, white mushroom caps; chop stems and add equal amount of chopped pimiento, and combine with low-calorie chive cream cheese; spoon mixture into caps.
• Eggs a la Russe. Place slices of hard-boiled egg, one each, on Melba rounds; top yolks, very sparingly, with a coat of lumpfish roe caviar; and sprinkle with parsley flakes.
• Sardines Norwegian in Mustard Sauce. These come already prepared in tins. All you do is place them on thin-sliced whole wheat bread that is cut to fit a fish. Sprigs of parsley make a nice finishing touch.
• Salami Italiano. Ask the butcher to remove the casing from an Italian salami and to slice it thin. To serve, wrap around gherkins and "secure" with party picks.

What's your figure problem? To achieve total attractiveness need for my booklet, SECRETS OF A LOVELY FIGURE. It contains easy ways to reduce weight and proportions, to overcome grooming problems such as fuz, freckles, and bluishness, to move with grace and poise. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.
Briefs
SHOSHONE New officers have been elected for the Northwest Shoshone Home Improvement club. They are: Mrs. R.E. Kelley, president; Mrs. Edna Gulliver, vice president; and Mrs. Webb Jones, secretary.
CALDWELL A Twin Falls man without a sweet is a cast member of Parent's comic opera "Gimme Shelter" at the Caldwell Community Center. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Sweet, smoothes the role of Gherardo in the English version presentation. Sweet, a freshman, is hapless in this.

McCulloch revenues increase

LOS ANGELES — McCulloch Co. Corp. reported net income of $2.26 million or $0.22 per share for the nine months ending Sept. 30. That compares with a loss of $7.9 million or $0.45 per share for the comparable 1973 period. Revenues were $97.4 million, compared to $96.32 million in the first nine months of 1973. Net income of $2,260,000 or $0.22 per share was reported for the three months ended Sept. 30, compared to a loss of $7,130,000 or $0.46 per share in the comparable 1973 quarter. Revenues for the third quarter decreased 10 per cent from $32.9 million to $29.7 million in 1973. Revenues, continuation of the planned reduction in land sales. The 1973 figures include the loss of $8.2 million or $0.49 per share from the sale of oil and gas properties in Utah. That loss is not included in the extraordinary loss for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1973. Under criteria established by Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 20, the loss was reclassified as non-extraordinary, offsetting a fourth quarter gain on the exchange of convertible debentures amounting to $9.26 million. Land sales for the nine months ending Sept. 30 were $50.25 million, down 21 per cent from the $64.77 million for 1973.

Milk production creates surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the midst of a world grain shortage that has produced warnings of possible famine in some developing countries, world milk production is rising to surplus levels this year, a new Agriculture Department analysis reports.

"The report by the agency... said global milk production is rising about 7 percent this year after an increase of under 1.5 percent in 1973.

As a result, the report said, pressures to find new export markets for dairy products are growing in traditional exporting areas including New Zealand.

"These developments," the FAS said, signal increased pressure on importing countries including the United States to accept more dairy products.

"American dairy farmers who complain they are losing money because of high feed costs, have been counterpressuring the administration to resist any increase in U.S. dairy import quotas.

President Ford recently promised the government would not raise dairy import levels without advance consultation with farm spokesmen.

The FAS report said milk production prospects for 1975 will depend heavily on weather conditions affecting crops and pastures as well as on other factors including meat prices.

Experts said the high feed grain prices they have met, yet money because of high feed costs, have been counterpressuring the administration to resist any increase in U.S. dairy import quotas.

Illegal DES levels found in five cattle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An apparent increase in the number of cattle feeders using DES, a controversial growth-promoting hormone, has led to an increase in detection of illegal hormone residues, the Agriculture Department said today.

"DES," which produces faster and cheaper weight gains when fed or injected in cattle, has been linked to cancer danger because it has produced cancer when fed in large quantities to laboratory animals.

Officials said they have confirmed the presence of DES in the livers of three beef steers sampled since September. This brings the number of illegal residues found this year to five.

Spokesmen for the animal and plant health inspection service said they blamed the latest violations on "an apparent increase in the number of cattle growers using DES in an unsurveyed, uncontrolled manner."

The Food and Drug Administration had banned use of DES as a livestock growth stimulant in 1973. But this year, however, the U.S. Court of Appeals overturned the ban on grounds the FDA had acted arbitrarily in "not holding hearings on its action."

Agriculture spokesmen said the three animals found in the latest DES violations, were owned by Mamfort Feedlots, Inc. of Greeley, Colo.; Leo Hamm of Clemons, Iowa; and Cattle Incorporated of Towell, Wyo.

At the same time, however, officials said total chemical residue violations of all kinds in meat and poultry declined in the third quarter to the lowest level in several years.

Only 0.59 percent of the 4,629 samples of livestock, poultry, horses and rabbits tested in the quarter had illegal residues of chemicals ranging from antibiotics to pesticides and growth stimulants through most of the past several years.

The overall violation rate had been 2 percent before falling to 1.1 percent in the second quarter.

Officials said they could not explain the improvement, but noted that both government and private agencies have been trying to educate farmers on the proper use of chemicals.

DDT affected cattle held for spring sale

SEATTLE (UPI) — About 18,000 cattle in the Pacific northwest and 900,000 in Oregon are presumed to contain dangerous levels of DDT, according to the Forest Service.

The Department of Agriculture said it will be at least March before contamination levels have dropped so that livestock may be marketed.

The high levels of DDT are a result of spraying with the pesticide which took place in forest areas over the summer to kill the Tussock moth. Some cattle were in areas where the spraying occurred.

Ranchers will be forced to keep their livestock on the range as a result of the DDT levels. One group of ranchers on the Colville Indian Reservation has asked Gov. Dan Evans to declare the reservation a disaster area so federal funds may be made available to buy feed for animals which ordinarily would have been slaughtered this fall.

Of the 12,000 cattle that live in and near the reservation, 6,500 had been expected to be ready for market this fall.

The Department of Agriculture spokesman said, "About 3,000 tons of feed will be required to winter them."

The director of the Forest Service's inspection and disease control division in Portland, David Graham, said, "owners of the cattle were advised of the consequences prior to application of the DDT. We anticipated that about this number of animals would be affected."

Graham said ranchers in affected areas were asked to name their animals. But some ranchers, like those of Colville, had no choice but to leave the animals where they were.

Some 170,000 acres of Colville land were sprayed at the urging of the Colville Tribe.

Although the content of vitamin C decreases, with the time of storage, potatoes are second only to citrus fruit in the content of this important vitamin.

Vitamin B<sub>6</sub> (thiamine) is also present in sufficient quantities to satisfy human needs. From a mineral point of view, potatoes are a rich source of potassium, phosphorus, and

Exports raise food bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials conceded in a new publication today that an increase in exports of farm products last year resulted in boosting American consumer grocery bills by as much as $5 billion.

However, those extra consumer costs were more than offset by "net gains" flowing into the national economy as a result of the farm exports.

The pamphlet, titled "What Farm Exports Mean to You," was one of a group of six similar documents produced today by Agriculture Department publicists in an apparent effort to win public support for the administration's sometimes controversial policy of promoting maximum commercial farm exports.

Poultry and egg production down

(Courtesy Sinclair & Co.) WASHINGTON (UPI) — Market men should look for broiler, turkey and egg production the first half of 1975 to remain moderately below 1974 levels and for higher broiler and turkey prices, the Agriculture Department said today.

"In its poultry and egg situation summary, USDA said egg prices will stay high in the first quarter but will decline as usual in the spring. The current output decline may widen during the end of 1974 and into winter and spring and average four to six per cent below year age levels, USDA projected."

Broiler meat output for the first nine months of this year was up five per cent from the previous year. But the margin over 1973 has narrowed and output this fall will down around the tenth from a year earlier.

High prices for feed rations, combined with large feed supplies that will limit price increases for broiler meat, probably will keep broiler producers from expanding production nearly 10%.

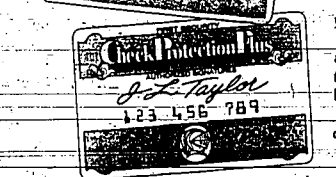

Check placements and egg settings for early 1975 marketing are down around 10 per cent and output likely will be 12 to 15 per cent below a year earlier during the winter and

Bee rustling problem

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Bee rustling, never a problem in the Old West, has intensified in California because of the high cost of sugar and the resulting popularity of honey, it was reported Friday.

The State Department of Food and Agriculture said the number of bee colonies in the state has risen from 130,000 in 1960 to 500,000 last year but the number of colonies that also have increased steadily.

For this year, it said, many colonies have been stolen, representing a net loss to California beekeepers of $47,850.

The department said California honey production is expected to be down 25 per cent from last year due to fewer colonies and a lower average yield per colony.

Andrus urges kindergarten support

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will ask the Idaho Legislature for the fifth time this session for state support of local optional kindergartens.

Andrus told the Idaho Education Association delegate assembly Saturday. "This is the fifth time we've gone to the Legislature on this matter, and this is the year we're going to get kindergartens."

Andrus said in the past opponents of kindergartens divided teachers by saying if kindergartens were funded by the state, there would be less money to support education in grades 1-12.

"Don't permit yourselves to be hoodwinked and fall for that old ploy," Andrus said. "That strategy can work only if you let it."

Police probe minor thefts

TWIN FALLS — City police were busy this morning investigating a number of minor thefts and property damage reported during the weekend.

Bish Beymer Paving Co. reported someone entered their storage yard where vehicles are kept, 2100 Floral Ave., and damaged several of the trucks and a paving machine. Beymer estimated damage at $65 including the recharging of several batteries which were run down when vandals turned on ignition keys and lights.

The vandals drove a 1960 truck into a ditch on the site and drove a large paving machine into a number of barrels of paving material which were stored near by. Damage required to the machines and the barrels. A water truck was also driven into a pile of gravel and abandoned there when it became stuck.

Lee Majors reported the theft of three bowling balls and bags from a parked vehicle Saturday night. Loss was estimated at $120.

Two tires and shot gun shells were reported missing from a vehicle owned by Earl Jones, 400 Jefferson Street. The vehicle was parked at his home when the theft occurred. He estimated loss at $76.

M.A. Shiggins reported the loss of about $150 in tools and a small tool box. The tools were taken from his pickup truck while it was parked at his home at 225 Washington Street South.

Mrs. Norman Herrett told police she heard a noise Sunday at the Herrett Jewelry store and an investigating saw a young man running from the back yard of the property. Officers said apparently nothing was taken in what was probably an attempted burglary.

Robert Warberg reported about $100 damage to Warberg Transfer and Storage after someone broke out a window and shot two holes in an inside wall.

Sherris Stout, Kimberly, reported the theft of a number of items of clothing and a suit case from her vehicle while it was parked at the Grizzly Beer Pizzeria Sunday.

Lawyer says Ehrlichman didn't order break-in

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lawyer for John D. Ehrlichman argued today that the former White House aide did not order the 1971 Ellsberg break-in and was not aware it was illegal.

Attorney William S. Frates continued to argue the national security aspects of the Ellsberg operation as the Watergate cover-up trial entered its ninth week. The prosecution was expected to end its case today.

The discussion, Frates argued that Ehrlichman and Krogh did not think they had done anything wrong in entering the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon papers defoliant Daniel Ellsberg.

"The President of the United States, the former president, is the one who insisted on and authorized this, the plumbers, not John Ehrlichman," Frates said.

Frates argued that former President Richard M. Nixon insisted on "absolute secrecy" surrounding the plumbers. The defense contends that it was a legitimate fear that led Ehrlichman and the others to try in conceal top level involvement in the Watergate break-in.

Krogh said that in his letter of resignation to Nixon on May 2, 1972, from his position as undersecretary of transportation he acknowledged that the Ellsberg incident had been his sole responsibility and was undertaken in excess of his instructions.

A complete environmental study has not been done on the "pilot" project, he said, although an "evaluation of the environmental effect has been made."

The "pilot" project, started in October, is "being done to establish the manpower and techniques involved in retrieving this waste safely," Bills said today.

About 100 barrels of waste have been "unearthed" so far, he said. "We don't have any target" for the total amount of containers to be dug out of the site.

Bills said an "air support structure" — an inflated tent — has been set up over the retrieval diggings. He admitted, however, that "air does escape from it all the time."

Containers currently being dug up were buried in 1969, he said, and are less likely to have leaks.

Privacy rights queried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government lawyers argued today it would be wrong for Richard M. Nixon to assume a citizen's constitutional right to privacy extends to some 42 million documents accumulated during his 27 years as president.

The government argument was raised in a reply brief submitted to U.S. District Court in a dispute over potential access to tapes and documents being filed by the White House.

The Watergate special prosecutor's office, under an agreement with President Ford, has been given a limited search authority for the Nixon documents, but the access to the materials has been held up because of a court battle by Nixon's lawyers.

Special prosecutor Henry Ruth said Nixon has no right to claim that the agreement constitutes an illegal search or seizure as outlined in the Fourth Amendment. Ruth said the Fourth Amendment guards against "unjustified" intrusions into areas where there is a reasonable expectation of privacy.

"It is difficult to perceive of a situation in which there is a less justified expectation of freedom from government than the present," Ruth said. "There can be no legitimate expectation of privacy from government intrusion for documents which are the records of that government over a 27 year period."

Ruth said the only materials involved in the agreement with the White House are tapes and documents compiled in the course of Nixon's official duties. No private records would be involved, Ruth said.

Ruth said the special prosecutors will not "rummage" through the Nixon documents but will seek only those materials that are relevant to their case.

A decision on the case is expected within the next two weeks.

City police said two dogs, fitting the descriptions of the missing Shoshone Irish Setters, were found running at large on the streets of Gooding Saturday and were taken to the city pound where they are being held pending identification by the owner.

City officers said several suspects are being checked out as the investigation continues. No arrests had been made this morning.

A Shoshone man notified Shoshone police Saturday after he saw the occupants of a van, the two dogs into their vehicle near the home of Robert Lewin, owner of the two hunting dogs.

N waste mapped

BY DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An Atomic Energy Commission AECX official today said his agency does have complete records on where nuclear wastes are stored at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory near Arco.

However, the AECX does not know the exact "chemical form" of the wastes, according to Dr. C. Wayne Bills, assistant manager for production and technical services at the Idaho site.

He said the agency does know the "general" location of specific containers of buried radioactive wastes, but said it was not clear the wastes are in soluble or insoluble form.

In a telephone interview last week with the Times-News, Bills said he could not say whether all buried plutonium wastes are in an insoluble form.

"We aren't all that complete in our early records," he said in the interview.

Bills today confirmed that soluble forms of plutonium pose a much greater health hazard than insoluble forms if ingested by human beings.

Plutonium is a man-made, cancer-causing radioactive element which has been described as "possibly the most dangerous substance on earth." If ingested in a soluble form, it attacks the bones and lungs.

Bills said, "I can't give you any assurance that there isn't some small amount of soluble plutonium out there."

He said that between 800 and 900 pounds of plutonium are buried at the Idaho site with a very few pounds, or even less than that, in a soluble form. "We have no way of knowing" exactly how much is soluble, he added.

Dr. H. Peter Metzger, Boulder, Colo., a chemist and prominent critic of the AEC, has written that "if ten pounds of plutonium were administered with absolute efficiency, it could produce cancer in every human being on earth."

Bills also confirmed that the AEC has started a "pilot" project of digging up nuclear wastes at the Idaho site and storing them on asphalt pads. The asphalt pad storage method was initiated in 1970 — it reportedly is safer and will make retrieval and transfer easier when a permanent storage site is established for all nuclear wastes in the United States.

Franklin Pittman, director of the AEC's division of waste management and transportation in Washington, last month told the Idaho Governor's Blue Ribbon Committee on Atomic Wastes that "if we dig up old material, an environmental impact study will have to be made to see if it could be taken out safely."

Plutonium also is hazardous in the atmosphere and can cause cancer when inhaled.

But Bills today said Pittman was referring to a full-fledged retrieval project, not a "pilot" project in connection with the environmental study requirement.

"A complete environmental study has not been done on the 'pilot' project, he said, although an 'evaluation of the environmental effect has been made.'

The "pilot" project, started in October, is "being done to establish the manpower and techniques involved in retrieving this waste safely," Bills said today.

About 100 barrels of waste have been "unearthed" so far, he said. "We don't have any target" for the total amount of containers to be dug out of the site.

Bills said an "air support structure" — an inflated tent — has been set up over the retrieval diggings. He admitted, however, that "air does escape from it all the time."

Containers currently being dug up were buried in 1969, he said, and are less likely to have leaks.

Poisonous weed kills 400 head of sheep

TWIN FALLS — More than 400 head of sheep belonging to Pete Cenarrusa, Carey, have died after eating a poisonous weed this week.

The sheep, loss termed "chisnons" by the rancher's brother, Pete Cenarrusa, was caused by halogeton. In financial terms, the loss could amount to more than $2,000, Pete Cenarrusa said.

Additional numbers of sheep are sick, suffering from the toxic effects of the plant, but may survive, according to a ranch spokesman.

"Halogeton" is a fast-growing plant which resembles Russian thistle or young tumbleweed. "It frequently causes poisoning in sheep," according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture bulletin.

The plant often grows on railroad beds, roads and sheep trails, and other areas where the soil has been disturbed, for example burned out areas, over-grazed regions and abandoned dry farms.

The plant is poisonous because of sodium and potassium oxalates contained in the leaves. It effectively destroys the animal's kidney, Cenarrusa said.

According to the bulletin, animals will rarely die. The plant "if other drastic forages are available. The sheep can tolerate small amounts of the plant — about 12 ounces if they haven't had food for a day or longer, and about 18 ounces mixed with other forage.

According to Pete Cenarrusa, the sheep seemed to crave the halogeton when they ran across it Saturday morning, coated with frost and dew. The sheep had been well watered and fed. Cenarrusa said.

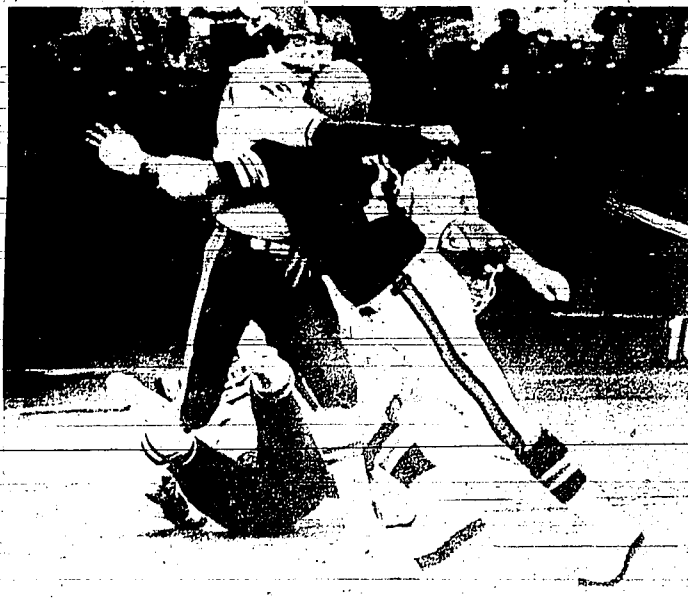

The Basque herder did not know the plant was poisonous, Cenarrusa said. He added he had never been informed by the Bureau of Land Management, which leases the range, that halogeton was in the area.

"If they knew that halogeton was there, we should have been informed," Cenarrusa said. The sheep were three and four year old ewes heavy with lamb and with a 12-month clip of wool. Cenarrusa estimated their value at $90 a head.

There have been other instances of halogeton poisoning in the area in the past, particularly in Malda, both in sheep and cattle, although cattle are not as susceptible to the toxic weed, according to the USDA.

The sheep, after grazing for about 20 minutes on a knoll littered with halogeton, began to die two hours later and were still dying Sunday night, Cenarrusa said.

The veteran sheep raiser said it was the first time in the 60-year history of his operation that sheep have been lost from halogeton poisoning.

Hayes celebrates victory with scholarship to kicker

By BILL MADDEN
UPI Sports Writer

Characteristics of that other celebrated "oh" in sport, Woody Hayes relished in Ohio State's victory over Michigan by pulling a Charlie Foley.

Like Foley, the coach-traveler owner of the baseball champion Oakland A's, Hayes wasted no time in rewarding his latest hero from Kalamazoo, the man scholarship work on who kicked the No. 3 Buckeyes to Saturday's 12-10 win over the previously unbeaten and second-ranked Wolverines.

"That was the greatest exhibition of the kicking game I've ever seen," said Hayes after Kalamazoo's Zachowichukon rebound had kicked field goals of 25, 32 and 43 yards for Ohio State's only points, all of which came after Michigan had opened up a 10-0 lead. "We had planned to put him on grant in aid in the spring, but we're going to do it now."

No doubt of Charlie O., who in the past rewarded A's heroes Vida Blue, Gene Tenace and Clement Washington and Cleveland's Washington in similar "oh" in fashion, would have approved. As to the question of what's next, Woody of Charlie's wisdom's still pending.

Despite Klamath's heroes, the boy's scholarship here would have to be Wisconsin's Billy Maciek, who rushed for five touchdowns and 294 yards in the Badgers' 49-14 runaway over Minnesota. For the compactly built 5'10 Maciek, it was the third straight game he has gained over 200 yards.

The Big 10's athletic directors voted Sunday to send Ohio State to the Rose Bowl for an unprecedented third straight time, this season (1975) giving Michigan coach Bo Schemm, who has lost just two games in three years, both of them to Ohio State. The directors' vote was not disclosed.

Elsewhere across the country, the college basketball picture clarified somewhat with No. 7 Southern California clinching the Pac-8 half of the Rose Bowl by drubbing UCLA 34-23, Tennessee-Memphis, Liberty Bowl berth with a one-sided 21-7 victory over Kentucky, and No. 16 Baylor, still the surprise team of the Southwest Conference, kept alive its options for either the Cotton or Gator Bowl by whipping SMU 41-14.

Fourth-rated Notre Dame routed Air Force 38-10; Oklahoma, staying home but staying undefeated, collected No. 5 Nebraska 24-14; No. 11 Maryland blanked Virginia 10-0; No. 17 Michigan State, Ohio State's only opponent, belted Iowa 60-21.

Michigan almost put the sweet revenge it had sought after last year's 20-10 tie with Ohio State at Ann Arbor, with 10-seconds remaining, Mike Landry missed on a 35-yard field goal attempt that would have avenged out Klamath's rout and given the Wolverines the win.

"I'm not holding Mike responsible for this loss," Schemm later told his players. "This kid is just one helluva kicker. He has kicked so many extra points and field goals for us."

For Southern California, headed by its seventh Rose Bowl in nine seasons, the difference over UCLA was Anthony Davis, who shattered O.J. Simpson's Pac-8 rushing record the first time he handled the ball. Davis scored 101- and averaged 118.5 yards, bringing his career total to 3,609. Quarterback Pat Haden also passed for one TD and ran for another.

Haden had been worrying about the Heisman Trophy, was Davis' answer to reporters queries afterward. "The big thing has been getting to the Rose Bowl," Ohio State's Archie Griffin, meanwhile, had already nabbed his look on the Heisman trophy running for 10 yards in his 21st straight game.

Oklahoma, barred from postseason bowls because of NCAA recruiting violations, played spot sport instead by overcoming Sugar Bowl-bound Nebraska. The Sooners reeled off their fifth straight victory and wrapped up the Big Eight title by overcoming a 14-7 Husker lead behind the deft ball handling of quarterback Steve Davis, who scored two TDs.

Three touchdown runs by Steve Heard highlighted Baylor's victory over SMU, which moved the surging Bears tantalizingly close to their first Southwest Conference title in 50 years. Now 5-1 in the conference, Baylor has only three at home left on its schedule and can make its first Cotton Bowl trip ever if Texas can beat Texas A&M next Friday.

Nature didn't obviously buoyed by Michigan's loss to Ohio State, kept alive its national title hopes by thrashing Air Force behind the quarterbacking of Tom Clement and Frank Allen. Allen, who passed one 25-yard TD pass and ran for another, while Clements ran nine yards for another score.

On a slightly less serious par, Yale saw its bid for an unbeaten season and outright league title go for naught when Harvard quarterback Mitt Holt faked a pass and swept one yard around left end to give the Crimson the victory and a share of the championship. Holt wound up with 212 passing yards on the day.

LEN DAWSON BARELY gets off another incomplete pass before being hit by Ron Carpenter in the fourth quarter Sunday. The Cincinnati Bengal defense kept the pressure on the entire game, allowing the Chiefs only two Jan Stenerud field goals for a 23-6 victory. (UPI Telephoto).

Rams stage rally to beat Minnesota

By United Press International

Los Angeles quarterback James Harris hobbled off the field with a sprained ankle in the third period Sunday after a crushing blow by Alan Page and the Rams seemed finished as they trailed the Minnesota Vikings 17-6.

But Harris, who became the regular Los Angeles signal caller early this season after the trade that sent John Had to Green Bay, proved again that he has the talent to replace a man who was voted last year's NFL Player of the Year.

Harris came back in the fourth quarter, 4, fired 10 straight completed passes, the last to veteran Jack Snow for the touchdown that gave Los Angeles a stunning comeback from behind 20-7 victory; it put the Rams on the brink of clinching a playoff berth.

In New Orleans, second in the NFC with a 4-6 record compared to the Vikings' 10-3 record, ties or losses to Pittsburgh tonight on national television, the Rams will have their playoff berth locked up.

The Steelers are a 7-point favorite to complete the job for Las Vegas.

Ending a five-game losing string to the Vikings before a crowd of 90,206, the Rams hobbled up Minnesota's quarterback, Fran Tarkenton, who completed 16 of 26 passes for 219 yards and one touchdown in the first half. Minnesota still leads the NFC Central Division by a game over the Packers, who demolished San Diego 34-0 Sunday.

In other NFL action, Buffalo edged Cleveland 15-10 to earn a bye for the AFC East lead with Miami, which was beaten 17-14 by the New York Jets; Detroit downed Chicago 34-17.

Washington whipped Philadelphia 26-7; St. Louis edged the New York Giants 23-21; Cincinnati wall-popped Kansas City 34-6; Dallas blanked Houston 10-0; New England beat Baltimore 27-17; Denver opened Oakland 20-17, and San Francisco 27-0.

Joe Namath played with the knowledge that his father was on the critical list in a Beaver Falls, Pa. hospital. Tired a 14-0 touchdown strike to tight end Richard Custer with 5:05 remaining to lift the Jets to an upset over the mistake-prone Dolphins. Namath's touchdown pass came only 1:30 after Bob Griese had put Miami ahead 14-0 with a 58-yard swing pass to Jim Kiick.

A pass interference penalty against Miami's Tim Foley gave the Jets possession on the Dolphins 45 and on the first play Namath fired to wide receiver Carter, over the middle and he raced to the end zone untouched for the winning score.

O.J. Simpson ran 41 yards for one touchdown and set up two field goals with his running, leading the Bills over Browns. Simpson, with his fourth 400-yard game of the year, finished with 443 yards in 22 carries; Richard him 63 yards short of the 1,000-yard mark for this season.

Jim Bakken kicked his third field goal of the game, a 36-yarder with three seconds to go, giving St. Louis a narrow victory over the Giants and virtually assuring the Cardinals of a spot in the playoffs for the first time since 1949.

The Cardinals, whose 4-2 record is the best in the NFC, rallied from behind twice in the second half, the last time after Craig Morton's 17-yard pass to Walker Gaultjahn put New York in front 21-20 with 1:06 left. Hurley Scates, a hot used cornerback, returned the ensuing short kickoff 24 yards to the New York 46 and then St. Louis moved 28 yards, most of it on Jim Hart's passes, before Bakken's winning field goal.

Dick Daurio set up two touchdowns with long punt returns and Detroit piled up their most points this season in the win over Chicago. The Lions sixth win in seven games was easily as they best starting CARACAS (UPI) — South Africa's Ballyneale shot a two-under-par 68 Sunday to take individual honors and lead his team to victory in the World Cup golf championship Sunday.

Hayes had a four-day total of 534 on the par-70, 6,765-yard Laguna Community Club course. Five strokes ahead of second-placed Japan's Shunichi Tanaka, who went into the final round trailing Cole by two strokes, finished in second place with a four-under-par 66, while U.S. Open champion Irvin won third with two 72s.

A smiling Cole told newsmen after his sparkling four-day performance that he thought his winning the individual trophy and contribution to the team victory would be a big boost to his career.

"This is a great victory for my career since it is one of the biggest events I've won outside of South Africa," he said.

Allison beats David Pearson

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI) — Bobby Allison of Huxtown, Ala. took over the lead in laps from the fabled Studly and powered to a win over David Pearson in the Times-500 Grand National stock car race at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Allison, winning his second NASCAR Winston Cup race of the year and his 16th super-speedway event of his career, averaged 141.99 miles per hour in his Malibu.

Allison ran by a full six seconds over Pearson, who spent the earlier part of the 200-lap race making up a lap he lost when he blew a tire on the 24th lap.

Cale Yarborough, who battled for the lead with Richard Petty and A.P. Foyt throughout much of the race, finished third. Foyt, winner of the only two other 500-mile races here, was fourth. Buddy Baker recovered from crashing into the track wall on the 104th lap to finish fifth.

Richard Petty, the five-time NASCAR grand national champion, had to drop out of the race on the 189th lap with a broken piston.

Only three caution flags slowed the pace of the race, which was run in 3 hours, 42 minutes and 11 seconds before a crowd of 43,348.

The 36-year-old Allison led Petty, Yarborough and Foyt engage in a drafting duel for the leadership much of the race before making his move on the 170th lap.

When a yellow flag was lifted on the 70th lap, Allison charged into the lead, challenged by Foyt and Petty. Allison managed to pull away when another yellow flag was lifted after the 174th lap.

From that point on, Allison was able to widen his margin while the other drivers battled for second place.

The lead changed hands 25 times in the first 14 laps before Petty went into a brief lead on the 15th lap. Petty, Foyt and Yarborough with Allison not far behind — took turns leading a three- or four-car draft.

Baker's Chevrolet caused the race's first caution flag on the 104th lap. Baker spun out coming off turn four and slammed into the track's outside retaining wall. His car skidded across the track and into the infield. Despite a badly bent front fender, Baker was able to continue among the leaders.

Thomas is still quiet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Duane Thomas is alive and well, talking and smiling, but not very much.

"Could you all move back so I can put my clothes on," he curtly told newsmen in the Redskin dressing room after he started and played well in Washington's 6-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday.

"I'm trying to dress around here and you all already got your clothes on," the controversial running back told the surounding audience of reporters.

"You guys got more tricks than the people on the field," he snipped at one point when newsmen kept bombarding him with questions.

The former Dallas Cowboy star who sat out the 1972 season, has refused to speak to newsmen since coming to the Redskins last season.

Thomas, 27, got one of two game balls awarded by coach George Allen for his part in the Redskins victory. One writer made the mistake of alluding to Thomas having played in his college days at North Texas State.

"Don't you know anything about me?" Thomas exploded. "I played at West Texas State. And I've got lots of game balls. Man, you come in here talking about North Texas State."

Blalock wins in playoff

APOKA, Fla. (UPI) — Jane Blalock sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole Sunday to win the $25,000 Lady Errol Golf Classic a second time in a sudden death playoff.

Miss Blalock, 28, was tied with Joann Prentice at one-under-par 215 at the end of the regulation 54 holes on the 6,235 yard layout at Errol Estate Country Club.

The graduate of nearby Rollins College won this tournament in 1972 in a playoff with veterans Kathy Whitman and Sandra Post.

Sandra Post, the second round leader, shot a 74 Sunday to finish 54 holes at two-over-par 218.

Miss Blalock, collecting a check for $5,000 and her fourth trophy for the year, moved up close to leading money winner Joanne Carner. Both have collected more than $86,000 this year.

Miss Blalock, who was rookie of the year when she joined the pro tour in 1969, had a one-stroke lead over Miss Prentice until her 54th hole, which she bogeyed after her second shot landed in a bunker.

In all she had five birdies, a bogey and a double bogey in the regular three rounds.

Miss Prentice collected six birdies and had a double bogey for a 68 for the day and a 215 total.

Miss Blalock shot a 79 to go with earlier rounds of 70 and 75 for her one under par 215.

She hit an almost identical 15-foot putt on the par four first hole for a birdie at the start of the day. But in the playoff, she said, "I was lucky to make it. It was downhill and awfully."

The native New Englander said her two brothers and about 15 kids from Rollins College were cheering her on.

"I was really relaxed today," she said.

But she admitted she got "very scared" after she double-bogeyed hole number 16. "That was the back-breaker," she said.

"At the last hole she said, 'I got real excited. I wasn't that nervous. I was just super anxious.'"

Miss Blalock, whose pigtails and hot pants are her trademarks, said she had hoped to overtake Joanne Carner in the money race but she finished less than $1,000 behind.

"But both of us set a new record," she said.

Miss Blalock lost in a playoff with Miss Prentice and Sandra Haynie earlier this year in the Colgate-Dinah Shore Classic and it appeared to a national television audience that Miss Prentice refused to shake hands with Miss Blalock.

"But we're really good friends," Jane said. "She gave me a putting lesson earlier this year in Mexico."

"I had a photographer and reporter from Playgirl Magazine were covering the tourney, she said "Good. I'm a subscriber. I even have their calendar."

Pittsburgh coach says New Orleans is tough

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — No one had to convince Pittsburgh Steelers Coach Chuck Noll that the New Orleans Saints have a good football team. The only problem he has had is convincing his team.

"I've said New Orleans is a good football team and I don't think too many people believe me. Because the only name anybody knows about is Archie Manning. It is hard to convince my players that New Orleans is a good football team," Noll said.

The Los Angeles Rams were convinced last Sunday and whether the Steelers are convinced will be seen on national television here Monday night.

The Saints, 6-6, upset the Rams last weekend, 20-7.

Noll said films he has seen show what a fine team the Saints have, but because of what he termed "negative reinforcement" from Steelers' fans and the press, it was hard to get his players ready for the game.

The Steelers, who are leading the AFC Central Division, take a 7-2 record into the game, along with a bad situation in the backfield. Running backs Preston Pearson and Frenchy Fuqua both underwent minor surgery for injuries last week, and the Steelers activated rookie Reggie Harrison to help fill out the backfield.

Francis Harris will start at one-running-back slot, with Steve Davis probably starter for the other. Rocky Bleier, who has been injured and missed the last two games, is expected to see limited duty.

Terry Bradshaw is expected to open at quarterback, although Noll has steadfastly remained silent on whether it will be Bradshaw, Joe Gilliam or Terry Hanratty.

Against the Rams, the Saints often used three wide receivers and only one running back. Noll said he is expecting anything.

New York defeats Denver

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Julius Erving's 24 points led a well-balanced New York scoring attack that had seven men in double figures as the Nets broke an eight-game winning streak by the Denver Nuggets, with a 99-90 victory Sunday.

The game was tied at 29 after the first period and the Nets broke the game open in the second quarter with 5-4 to play. They moved from a 43-37 lead to a 51-29 margin and finished the half leading 58-46.

Mike Gale and Ed Manning came off the bench in the second period with Gale scoring 10 points and Manning four as he alternated between backup center and forward.

The Nets opened up the biggest lead of the game, 77-62, with a second quarter rally in the third period and maintained a big lead in the fourth period despite three three-point shots in last minute of play by Mack Calvin. Pat McEwen and Chuck Berry. Erving was followed in the Nets scoring by Jimmy Pruitz with 17. Ralph Simpson was high for Denver with 19.

Denver's winning streak was the lowest in the ABA this season.

Chances are better than 1 in 5 your job depends on agriculture

If all the workers directly involved in agriculture drove tractors to work, parking lots around the state would look like this. Every fifth vehicle would be a tractor. Even in our largest cities.

That's because a full 14% of all workers in the state work directly in farming or ranching. There's another 6% who work in food processing — in fact, when you count all the other industries that supply and support agriculture, an estimated 40% to 50% percent of the total labor force depends in some way upon agriculture.

Idaho needs agriculture. It's the state's single most important industry. Between 40 to 60 percent of the value of all goods and services produced in Idaho depends in some way on agriculture. In fact, Idaho is second only to South Dakota in the percent of total personal income that arises from farming.

As the state's major industry, it's also its major taxpayer. Agriculture accounted for more than $25 million in real estate taxes last year, and millions more in sales taxes and income taxes.

In fact, when agriculture has a good fiscal year the state government has a good fiscal year.

But for all its contribution, agriculture cannot stand alone. It needs your understanding and support to keep it vital and productive. The simple fact is that this state needs agriculture. The Idaho farmer and rancher is needed in the state. And he needs you. For more information on why you need him as much as he needs you, write The Idaho Wheat and Bean Commissions, Suite M, Owyhee Plaza, Boise, Idaho 83702.

Big ten votes to send Ohio St. to Rose Bowl

CHICAGO (UPI) — Big Ten athletic directors voted Sunday to send Ohio State to the Rose Bowl.

The Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke refused to divulge the vote to which the athletic directors decided to send the "Big Ten" Buckeyes for an unprecedented third straight trip.

Duke said voting was conducted in unmarked sealed envelopes and he and the conference attorneys counted the ballots.

Ohio State defeated Michigan 12-7 Saturday to tie the Wolverines for the conference title for the third straight year. Michigan has a 3-2 record during those three years, but never has been selected to go to the Rose Bowl.

Although the vote was not disclosed, it was clear that Ohio State had received more ballots than Michigan because in the case of a tie, the athletic directors had agreed previously that the team which lost went to the Rose Bowl would be eliminated from consideration.

Last year when Ohio State and Michigan tied 10-10 in the season finale at Ann Arbor and finished with identical 7-0 conference records, the athletic directors voted 6-4 by telephone to send Ohio State to Pasadena. The vote created a furor in Michigan, which resulted in a two-year contract provision for Michigan coach Bo Schemmel prior to his public criticism of the vote.

Following Sunday's three-hour meeting in Chicago, the athletic directors left immediately without comment and the decision was not announced until two hours later.

Duke said that as part of the voting procedure, the directors, as a director would divulge or publicly discuss his vote. He said he notified Ohio State athletic director Ed Weaver and Michigan athletic director Dan Cahalan moments before the decision was announced.

It was not known whether Michigan State, which finished a close second with a 6-1-1 record, received any votes. Both Michigan and Ohio were 7-1 in conference play this year.

Ohio State will be making its sixth Rose Bowl trip in the last seven years and will meet Pacific Eight conference champion Southern California for the third straight year. On Jan. 1, 1975, the Buckeyes lost to the Trojans 42-17, but they won their previous Rose Bowl.

Michigan might have won Saturday's game against Ohio State and made Sunday's vote perfunctory, but Mike Lantry missed a field goal with 10 seconds left.

Left-footed Lantry's kick sailed high and drifted to the left, answering Ohio State's Woody Hayes' "little prayer" for the 33-yard boot to miss.

Hayes' own field goal specialist, soccer-style kicker Tom Klaban, put all of his four attempts through the uprights for the Buckeyes' 12 points (despite at least two bad snaps from center to his holder, Brian Hasechek).

Ohio State peaked early at Michigan's first quarter to 10-0 lead until Klaban put the Buckeyes ahead 12-0 early in the third quarter on his yard field goal.

The first quarter went Michigan's way with Dennis Franklin tossing a 42-yard touchdown pass to wingback Cliff Chapman. Lantry kicked a 37-yard field goal late in the period, Michigan's last point for the day.

In other Big Ten games, Wisconsin's Billy Marek led by one man charge against Minnesota, scoring five touchdowns to tie a Big Ten record set by Red Grange of Illinois in 1924 and rushing for a school record of 304 yards in a 49-14 rout. Marek scored 14 touchdowns in the Badgers' last three games.

Michigan State also was busy, running over Iowa 66-21 behind quarterback Charlie Baggett's five touchdowns; three of them on the ground. It ended the Spartans' best season in eight years.

Hayes is jubilant

OHIO STATE FOOTBALL coach Woody Hayes holds up his hand in joy in Columbus, Ohio, on Sunday after his team was picked to play in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. Big Ten athletic directors met in Chicago to determine who would face the University of Southern California in the Bowl classic. (UPI/Telephoto).

Hayes jubilant after decision

COLEMAN'S Ohio (UPI) — "We got it because we earned it," said a jubilant Ohio State coach Woody Hayes after his Buckeyes were selected Sunday by Big Ten athletic directors for an unprecedented third consecutive Rose Bowl trip.

"This is just great," said Hayes, who waited several hours for the announcement which came nearly two and a half hours after it had been scheduled.

"Actually, they couldn't go any other way because we beat the other team," said Hayes, whose Buckeyes nipped Michigan 12-7 Saturday to tie the Wolverines for the conference championship.

Only a year ago, the two Big Ten powers tied 10-10 at Ann Arbor, Mich. Also throwing the conference title into a tie, the Buckeyes were a 6-4 choice of the directors for the trip.

The outcome of this year's vote, which was conducted in unmarked sealed envelopes, was not announced until Sunday afternoon when Hayes received the statement which he intended to deliver in case the Buckeyes didn't get the bid. Hayes had the news first via a live radio broadcast.

As Big Ten commissioner Wayne Duke made the announcement in Chicago, Hayes burst into the room with both hands over his head.

"Is it official?" he asked. "Then I don't need this," tearing up the prepared statement and throwing it on the floor.

Buckeye linemarker Bruce Elia, who had 19 tackles in the win over Michigan, walked in and hugged Hayes.

"Four years ago, I never thought I'd be going to the Rose Bowl three times," said the native of Childe Park, N.J., who was the Buckeyes' starting fullback in last year's game.

Wyoming coach will be fired

DENVER (UPI) — The Shurmur who failed in four years of trying to turn the University of Wyoming football program back into a winning proposition, will be fired Monday, sources close to the university said Sunday.

The announcement was expected to come following a meeting in Cheyenne, Wyo., between the Cheyenne quarterback club and Wyoming athletic director George McGarty and I.W. President William Carlson.

Final arrangements still must be worked out for the last year of Shurmur's five-year contract.

"I'm not resigning," Shurmur said Sunday. "I will stay here as long as I can. No way am I going to resign."

Not despite his desires, it was apparent that Shurmur would be dismissed following a 2-9 season, in which Wyoming was 1-6 and last in the Western Athletic Conference.

Shurmur assumed the Wyoming job in 1971, following a 1-9 season which forced the resignation of Lloyd Eaton, who had a nine-year record of 57-21-2.

Elton and the Wyoming football program were victims of the famed "black 14" incident in 1969, when all 14 back members of the Cowboy team were kicked off for demonstrating against Brigham Young University.

Shurmur, who was the defensive coordinator at Wyoming and has coached nine years before becoming the head coach, was considered one of the best defensive coaches in the country. Under his direction Wyoming led the nation in total defense in 1967 and in rushing defense in 1966 and 1967.

Filer youths win honors in contest

BY MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News Writer

The Filer Future Farmers of America team from Oregon, Idaho and Washington, St. Valer schools in the Magic Valley, and one Filer member received a first place at the recent International Livestock Exposition in Portland, Ore. Charles Shivers received a first place trophy for livestock judging, and the team which included Shivers, Brian Adams, Dean Lathier, Sandra Yoder and Marcella Chadwick, received 17th out of 130 teams in the FFA judging contest, and placed 64 out of 250 teams in a contest sponsored by the Charolais Cattle Association. The five FFA members were accompanied by Gordon Bennett, vocational agriculture teacher.

The exposition included FFA members from Oregon, Idaho and Washington. St. Valer schools in the Magic Valley participated in the contests, said Bennett.

Of the 50 members in the Filer agriculture class this year, three are girls, Bennett said. Last year the class had 40 girls. At the exposition, girls comprised 30 per cent of the teams, he said.

Judging at the exposition is similar to that of the Twin Falls County Fair, the members said. While in Portland, the Filer FFA members also attended the "rudeco," saw several shows and did some shopping.

It has been reported that the Chinese don't drink much milk because they don't have many cows. But it's also a fact that blacks don't drink much milk, and not necessarily because they don't have many cows. The science boys now say that seven out of every 10 Chinese and blacks and non-white grownups in general get sick when they drink cow's milk. Their bodies fail to produce some sort of enzyme needed to digest that thing called lactose. Cow's milk upsets their misdirections in a most indelicate manner.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Congressional leaders immune to challengers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the marked turnover of members dictated by the elections, and frequent calls for reform, the top leaders of both parties in both houses of Congress appear to be immune from challenge.

The Congressional leaders are on the whole aging and conservative, but they promise rather than confront and operate on a low-key basis.

President Ford will have to deal with these men there are no women in the House — as he tries to push his legislative program through an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress.

And the Democratic leaders, with their huge majorities, will be largely responsible for shaping the legislative program they 1976 presidential candidate will have to defend.

Only a few contests for leadership posts are in the offing and the most interesting one shapes up as the battle between two Californians for the chairmanship of the House Democratic Caucus.

The contest pits Rep. H.F. Sisk, considered a moderate conservative, against Rep. Phillip Burton, a liberal.

The caucus chairman has become an increasingly more powerful figure in the House hierarchy as a result of reforms which were instituted last year.

The other contests are mainly for secondary posts — Speaker Carl Albert, House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., and House GOP leader John J. Rhodes have secured jobs. All three served apprenticeships in lower leadership rungs, and waited patiently to move up.

Albert is 66, O'Neill 62, and Rhodes is 60. O'Neill and Rhodes were former President Nixon's tapped Gerald R. Ford as his vice president, is 56.

Rep. Peter A. Pappas of New York caused a flurry when he announced that an effort would be made to oust Hines. Only a few days later he conceded the votes weren't there.

In the Senate, Mike Mansfield, who has held the post longer than any man in history, can have the post of Democratic Leader for the asking. He will ask.

Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott twice was challenged by Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee but, barring a surprise, has a clear field despite grumblings from the conservatives.

Mansfield is 71, Scott 70. The two deputy leaders, Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and C. Byrd of West Virginia for the Democrats, are safe and content to wait their turn to move up.

A report was published that Sen. Alan Cranston of California, who would challenge Byrd, as soon as Crayton heard about the report he called Byrd and said he had no intention of taking on the senatorial mission.

Sen. John P. Tower of Texas, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, and Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota, secretary of the Republican conference, also appear safe, unless a recount costs Young his seat.

The only battle expected is for the chairmanship of the Republican Conference, with liberal Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York going against conservative Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska. The present chairman, Norris H. Cotton of New Hampshire, did not seek reelection.

The retirement of Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois has opened a five-way battle for the post of House Republican Whip.

Rep. Robert H. Michel of Illinois appears the front runner. The others are Jeps N. Erickson of Illinois, Jerry S. Tettis of California, and John W. Wicker of New York.

Rep. John R. Anderson of Illinois is incumbent chairman of the House Republican Conference and has not announced whether he will run again — either, way — Rep. Charles E. Wiggins of California, more conservative than Anderson, will go after the job.

Fort Adams, a historic bastion overlooking Newport, R.I., harbor, has been rededicated as a state park and public historic site. It was built in 1824 to protect the inland areas against invasion, but a shot was never fired in anger.

Mansion fright

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Three-year-old Carrie Boren knows all about mansions. She's seen them on television and they're full of monsters.

So she's a bit apprehensive about moving into the governor's mansion with her parents, Gov. elect and Mrs. David Boren.

"I made the mistake of calling it a mansion," Janina Boren told the present lady of the house, Mable Heall, "and she asked me if there were really vampires and monsters in it."

The first lady-to-be was given a tour of the executive mansion Friday by Mrs. Heall.

"Carrie is asking if we will have a puppy when we move," Mrs. Boren also said.

Cleanup battling heats up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government environmentalists are counting on industrialists who believe that in a time of recession and inflation, escalating the battle for clean air and water is a luxury society can't afford.

The clean air and water proponents concede the fight is costly, that taxpayers and consumers pay for most of it, that it absorbs capital which cannot be invested in increasing productive output, that it adds to the inflation rate and that occasionally a plant unable to meet pollution standards will be closed and men put out of work.

Nonetheless, they even offer a hard-dollar-and-cents accounting, the pollution fight pays off.

Russell Train, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, cites one study of the annual costs of fighting air pollution. He says the cost of abatement is $3 billion, the damage done by polluted air would be $11 billion, so the savings to society from abatement is $8 billion.

Train says figures like that take into consideration tangible amounts — doctor bills, mortality rates, physical damage to plants and equipment, cleaning bills, damage to crops from pollution.

"Then," he says, "there's the intangible savings. What's it worth to swim in a stream that was once polluted?"

"There is obviously a net profit to our society in cleaning up," Train concludes.

Industry is not so sure. In a full-page newspaper advertisement, the American Electric Utility Co. is pressing the government to relax standards prohibiting them from burning "dirty" coal.

Aid at a hearing last week before Congress' Joint Economic Committee, Edward R. Kane, chairman of the DuPont Co., the huge chemical maker, said environmentalists ought to be required to attach a cost-benefit analysis to their anti-pollution proposals.
