Gooding crash victim critical

BOISE — The Robins, 47, Milwaukee, Ore., remained in critical condition today at St. Alphonsus Hospital here with head injuries.
She was injured in a head-on crash in Gooding County Wednesday morning when the vehicle in which she was a passenger collided with a pickup truck after entering the wrong lane of the freeway near Tuttle. Killed in the accident was Phyllis Young, about 59, Nyssa, Ore.
Ralph Young, driver of the vehicle, is in fair condition in the Jerome hospital.

Columnist won't oppose Daley

CHICAGO (UPI) — Despite the blessing of his family and a campaign donation and go-ahead from his physician, Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist Mike Royko has decided against seeking the Republican mayoral nomination.
The GOP search committee had asked Royko to consider running for mayor against Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley, who, despite primary opposition, probably will move easily into the general election in his bid for a sixth four-year term.

Convicts elude searchers

BENTON, Ky. (UPI) — Authorities fanned out over a massive wooded area east of here today in an attempt to flush out two armed convicts who took a 19-year-old waitress from a restaurant at gunpoint Thursday night.
Police Chief Charlie Carrell said it was not clear whether the two men kidnaped the girl "because a few months ago one of them was supposed to have married the girl."

McCord conviction upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday unanimously upheld the conviction of James W. McCord Jr. for his role in the 1972 Watergate bugging and break-in.
The court also upheld a contempt sentence of Watergate mastermind G. Gordon Liddy in a separate opinion last month. Liddy, who is free on bond, received an 18-month sentence for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury. He was sentenced to from six to 20 years for the break-in.
The appeals court agreed unanimously that McCord, the former security chief during Nixon's reelection campaign, was guilty of the bugging and break-in.

'Sketch' convicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handleader-arranger Lyle C. "Sketch" Henderson has been convicted on two charges of filing false statements in his 1966-1970 income tax returns.
A jury of eight women and four men, after more than 20 hours of deliberation Thursday in Manhattan Federal Court, acquitted Henderson on one tax evasion charge and one obstruction of justice charge, but the jury was unable to reach a verdict on a second tax evasion count.
Judge Edward Weinfeld, after excusing the jury, scheduled Jan. 15 for sentencing. The false filing charges carry a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Demo race widens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The next hats in the Democratic ring will come out of the West — from former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, above left, and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington.
Harris will make his formal announcement of candidacy on Jan. 11 in New Hampshire. Jackson will declare his intentions to run for president in the first two weeks in January, probably in his home state.

Giant labor union may leave Democratic Party

By New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The nation's largest alliance of organized workers is on the verge of formal disengagement from the Democratic Party, union officials said Thursday.
George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, has called a meeting next Tuesday with top political lieutenants. Several aides and allies predicted that the meeting would mark a final break with Robert S. Strauss, the Democratic Party chairman, and would signal the withdrawal of 10 AFL-CIO officers from the Democratic national committee.

Strauss, who rose to power in the party with Meany's support, was threatened at the Democratic charter conference in Kansas City last weekend with "defeat and ruin" if he did not "stand with labor" on internal party disputes.
Afterward Strauss indicated he would seek a peace-making "summit meeting" with Meany. But a labor official who has long reflected Meany's views said Thursday that conference "will never occur. Meany wouldn't sit down with Strauss," he said. The official added that he, not Strauss, he added that Alexander E. Barkan, the AFL-CIO's political director, "wouldn't even return Strauss's phone calls."

As in the Kansas City battles over proportional representation and "affirmative action" to involve blacks, women and young voters in Democratic politics, the labor movement is again openly divided. Leaders of two of the AFL-CIO's largest member unions, Glenn Watts of the Communications Workers and Floyd "Red" Smith of the Machinists, were reportedly eager to keep their seats on the Democratic national committee.
"Red Smith has no reason to be upset," said William Holtzner, the machinists' political director. "In fact, he's rather happy with the outcome of the (Kansas City) convention."

But AFL-CIO headquarters here and a number of its top presidents are apparently prepared to abandon a two-year effort, dating from the defeat of Sen. George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign, to exert their influence inside the party.
William Marshall of Michigan, one of several state AFL-CIO presidents appointed to the Democratic committee after Strauss took office, said Thursday that leaving the committee "won't diminish our role in selecting delegates to the 1976 convention. It might even strengthen it, because we won't have to spend a lot of time sitting around listening to Strauss' speeches."

Exporters set oil price hike

The world's major oil exporting nations today raised the price of crude oil 7.4 percent, signaling a new round of gasoline price increases for consumers after Jan. 1.
The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, meeting in Vienna, raised the price of crude oil from $9.74 a barrel to $10.46 under a new supply and demand pricing system.
OPEC produces 45 percent of the world's exported oil. The United States relies heavily on OPEC for its crude supplies but is not as dependent on OPEC as European nations and Japan.

And Budget Director Roy Ash told a Senate hearing the next six months will be so bad in terms of unemployment and sagging business that "the nation will want to see them to pass into history" as soon as possible.
However, he said, the economy will recover in the second half of 1975.
Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., accused the Ford administration of pursuing a policy of putting "another million or two out of work" to correct inflation through a severe and long recession. Ash denied it.

An increase in oil prices could bring further fuel inflation, contribute to trade imbalance problems and increase pressure for mandatory fuel conservation in the United States.
In other developments, industry executives from President Ford's home state of Michigan told the President Thursday the economy is in worse shape than he says, calling it a disaster verging on a depression.
Elsewhere, workers from a variety of industries, including textiles, autos, paper, aluminum, clothing, appliances, and sporting goods, were laid off or given notices Thursday.

At the White House, Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, a union with some 200,000 laid-off workers, said he "challenged Ford's statement that the economy was in 'difficult straits' but not in a crisis."
"I think it's a crisis situation. It's highly critical... feeding on itself and may go to worse conditions," Woodcock said. The recession, he said, could lead to a depression.
Lee Incecco, president of Ford Motor Co., told the President the auto industry is a "disaster area."

Clouds hide eclipse

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley residents were cheated out of their Friday the Thirteenth Eclipse of the Sun early today by overcast skies.
But there was a good chance that the other half of the day's unusual astronomical activities — a major meteor shower — might be visible tonight.
The eclipse of the sun reached its peak at about 8:07 a.m. when 43 percent of its surface was darkened when the moon passed between the sun and the earth.
According to astronomer Larry Chupik of Chicago's Adler Planetarium, an eclipse of the sun occurs on Friday the Thirteenth two to five times every 217 years on the average.
The meteor shower, which has nothing to do with eclipse, is an annual event.
It is scheduled to occur at about 10 p.m. local time.
According to the weatherman, skies should be clear over Magic Valley tonight to permit a good view of the nighttime fireworks.

'SS' commander prison inmate

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — The commander of the "Order of the SS," a Nazi group which has been offering to locate its headquarters in various cities around the West, is a San Quentin Prison inmate.
In recent months, Salt Lake City, Twin Falls and Cheyenne — among others — have received letters from J.T. Wilson, saying they were being considered as the organization's headquarters.
San Quentin spokesman says Wilson has been serving time since 1963 on a one-year-to-life sentence for second degree armed robbery.
The prison spokesman said Wilson had set himself up as commander of the organization and was trying to get a following.
Wilson has served time at Alameda State Hospital when he pleaded innocent to a homicide charge by reason of insanity. He was released in 1962, and convicted of robbery the next year.
The spokesman said Wilson has no fixed parole date, and is not scheduled to appear before the parole board until March, 1975.

4-wheel canyon jump planned

TWIN FALLS — A San Francisco Bay area bus driver is planning to jump the Snake River Canyon in a race car.
Darrell J. Brown, Belmont, Calif., hopes to "smoke it all the way across" in a 2,000 horsepower white car to be named Lola Mae. The jet engine car, he says, would leave a long ramp at 125 miles per hour, rise about 2,000 feet in the air and land on its wheels on the other side.
Although Brown recognizes he does not have Evel Knievel's reputation, he figures a race car flight will draw larger crowds than did Knievel's motorcycle jump. He says he will hire an excellent promotion agent from Reno, Nev. Besides, Lindbergh was an unknown until he made the flight, Brown says.
Planning for the jump is made on America's 100th centennial birthday, July 4, 1976, has gone on for a year, he says. Brown has not contacted Twin Falls County officials to obtain permission to jump from the preferred Evel Knievel location.
But he says, if the commissioners will not go along, he will find another jump spot, hopefully on the Snake River Canyon.
Before going to the county commission, Brown says, he plans to get in touch with the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Money, he says, has been put up for the venture, but he will not disclose the sources.
A large parachute will be required in case something goes wrong in the air, but Brown hopes to make it across safely, he says.
He'll quit driving a bus.

Congress closes on US-Soviet trade agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress moved a step closer today to voting on a 1972 agreement between Richard M. Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev expanding Soviet-American trade.
The Senate voted 71-19 to cut off lengthy debate on the controversial bill and began its consideration immediately.
The Ford administration has pushed hard for passage while admitting the Russians have given no concrete assurances of eased emigration of Jews and other dissidents in return for "favored nation" trade status with the United States.
The U.S.-Soviet provision is only a part of the broad trade reform agreement.
The key provision gives the Soviet Union non-discriminatory tariff treatment. The overall bill gives President Ford unprecedented authority to enter into international negotiation to lower world trading barriers.

President Ford considers the measure vital to improving relations with the Soviet Union and is pressing congressional leaders to get it passed before Congress adjourns Dec. 21.
The bill was threatened earlier by a move by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., to deny "most-favored-nation" treatment to Russia unless Moscow eased its emigration restrictions on unhappy Jews and other citizens.
That crisis was overcome Oct. 18 through an exchange of letters between the Washington Democrat and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger citing Russian assurances that those Soviet citizens wishing to emigrate could do so.

More recently, the bill was threatened by a move by several senators to turn it into what some called a "Christmas tree" measure with crippling amendments.
Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., bitterly attacked the bill Thursday afternoon as a "warmed-over version" of 1960 U.S. trade policies; lowering U.S. trade barriers and injuring U.S. workers by increased foreign competition.
Hartke declared that the Senate leadership was trying through the measure to "open the door" to prevent him from presenting one or more amendments to the bill.
"It's time the United States stopped playing foreign trade sugar daddy to the world," Hartke said.

Trivial events vital to 'Gate cover-up trial'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The exact time when Richard Nixon's played golf and his wife quit cleaning her kitchen cabinets to have lunch on Saturday, June 17, 1972, emerged as a vital issue today at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Such seemingly trivial events were at the heart of the defense of Robert C. Mardian as he seeks to convince the jury he had no part in trying to hush up the scandal.

Five agents of then President Richard M. Nixon's reelection campaign had been arrested at Democratic headquarters at 2 a.m. and the prosecution charges that Klenndust, then attorney general, received an urgent message later that day while he was playing golf at Burning Tree Country Club. The message asked him to release the burglars from jail.

The request allegedly originated with defendant John N. Mitchell, then Nixon's campaign manager and now a cover-up defendant, and was relayed by Mardian to the telephone to Watergate mastermind G. Gordon Liddy, who in turn rushed to the country club to give it to Klenndust.

Mardian, a former assistant attorney general and Nixon campaign operative, was with the campaign high command in California at the time. He contends that because of the time difference, he could not possibly have called Washington on advance of Liddy's trip to Burntree, Tree about noon Washington time.

Mardian contends instead that Liddy, one of the mainstays of the hush-up, understood the mission on his own.

Klenndust's wife, Margaret, was called to the stand to testify about receiving what she called "a curious call" from Liddy shortly after noon that day.

The entire scene, called on behalf of the committee to inspect the President, for Mr. Mitchell, Mrs. Klenndust said. "He said it was a very sensitive and urgent matter and needed to contact my husband immediately."

She said she remembered the call came between noon and 12:30 p.m. EAT because she had been cleaning her kitchen cabinets and took a break to have lunch.

The prosecution contends that Liddy called her about 1 p.m. or 1:15 p.m. and that he got to Burning Tree about 1:30 p.m. to 1:45 p.m. Late California. It has been established earlier in the trial that Mardian and other campaign officials learned of the burglary about 10 a.m. PDT.

3 western states register objections at AEC hearing

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)

The three western states who may end up housing the Atomic Energy Commission's nuclear garbage dump have divergent views on the proposal, but they are unanimous in their criticism of the groundwork for it.

Idaho, Nevada and Washington appeared at an AEC public hearing Thursday to register their objections to a draft environmental impact statement on setting up a temporary nuclear waste storage facility.

Idaho officials say they want no part of the dump. Nevada is wary, but interested, and Washington is receptive.

Texas, which is not even under consideration, is skeptical.

And the environmentalists say the impact statement is so shallow and narrow it is impossible adequately to criticize its conclusions.

The AEC wants to set up a dump for temporary storage of nuclear wastes — for a period of about 30 years, until the government can find and perfect a method of permanent disposal of them.

Three sites are under consideration: the Hanford

Atomic Works near Richland, Wash.; the Idaho-National Engineering Laboratory near Idaho Falls, and the Nevada Test Site northwest of Las Vegas.

The AEC has not yet determined where or how it will permanently dispose of the waste, but says it should be able to find and perfect a method within about 30 years.

The draft environmental impact statement deals with methods of temporary storage, and the three possible sites for the dump.

Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, in a statement read by an aide, said his state wants no part of the dump. In fact, he added, he wants the AEC to get on with its promise to remove waste now stored at INEL. He said a high-level storage facility could present a potential danger to underground water reserves in the INEL area, water on which Idaho's livelihood depends.

He also said the impact statement offered no assurances the temporary dump being proposed would not become a de facto permanent disposal area.

Nevada officials said they want the NTS to remain under consideration, but only under two conditions: more participation in planning by state and local governments, and recognition of the state's right to back out at any time.

A separate delegation from the Las Vegas area, led by the Chamber of Commerce, urged the AEC to locate the storage facility at NTS, claiming the installation has all the necessary staff and facilities to do the best job.

Washington officials said they could see no major problems with locating the storage facility at Hanford, as long as there were adequate safety measures, and minor problems were ironed out.

Robert L. Pendergrass, an assistant attorney general for the State of Texas, appeared as an intervener at the hearing.

Christmas mailing down

TWIN FALLS — Christmas mailing is definitely down compared to the past several years, Postmaster Lloyd Libert said today.

He said Christmas card mailing is probably running about the same as last year in spite of postal rate increases.

Parcel post, however, is well below the same time last year, Libert said. While no volume counts have been made, he said, it appears both incoming and outgoing parcels are fewer.

Some areas such as the eastern states and California are way below previous years, which will account for some incoming reductions here.

Libert said he does not believe Twin Falls mailing will be off as much as many other areas as the economic pinch is not as great here as in more industrialized areas.

2 suits filed

TWIN FALLS — Two suits, each asking more than $125,000, have been filed in Fifth Judicial District Court here as the result of an accident in Pocatello Sept. 6.

Loretta Mitchell, Twin Falls, and Victoria F. Shobe, Twin Falls, have filed separate suits against Robert Blair and Charles Brown, Pocatello.

Mrs. Mitchell is a passenger in a 1972 sedan driven by Miss Shobe. The complaints allege the Shobe vehicle was struck by a vehicle operated by Blair after the Blair vehicle and one operated by Brown had collided.

The Twin Falls women charge Blair failed to stop at the stop sign on Quinlan Road as he was traveling east, and collided with the northbound Brown vehicle. The complaints charge both other drivers with negligence.

The Shobe vehicle was stopped at the stop sign waiting to cross when traffic cleared, the complaints say.

The women are each seeking about $500 medical costs, $50,000 in general damages and $75,000 in general damages for injuries suffered.

Right road for Gem tax relief in doubt

Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of special dispatches previewing the first regular session of the Idaho Legislature.

BY ROBERT VAN BUSKIRK BOISE (UPI) — Idaho legislators are fairly well agreed that there should be some tax relief in the next legislative session, but which avenue should be taken is in doubt.

Those answering a UPI poll on the forthcoming session came up with a variety of proposals, with regard to tax relief.

The proposals included income tax relief, removal of the sales tax on food, property tax relief, eliminating the head tax and store license tax, restoring the double deductibility in filing income tax returns and retaining or increasing the grocery sales tax rebate.

But there was no clear cut majority of any of the proposals, although 75 per cent favored some type of relief.

A third of those answering the poll said they would like to see the sales tax lifted from food, but here again not even a majority said this was the route to go.

State Rep. Jim Inhof, D-Idaho Falls, said he couldn't see where tax relief would be possible.

"It takes money to run the state like a business," said Inhof. "If you take the funds from 'one pocket' they have to be taken from the other."

State Rep. Beverly B. Bistline, D-Pocatello, agreed. She also said she favored removing the sales tax from food so "it would give some tax relief to fixed and low income persons."

However, the newly-elected representative said "there would be a need to substitute other taxes to compensate for revenue loss."

Sen. John Deaver, R-Hupert, said "in the face of a potentially declining revenue base we should approach tax relief in a cautious manner."

Analysis

Tax relief "could and should" be provided by the 43rd legislative session, said Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs. He said it could be accomplished by eliminating "non-productive" government projects.

"It's an excellent time to cut and reduce government service," Budge said.

Rep. Israel Merrill, R-Blackfoot, said there is a lot of talk about different kinds of tax relief but that most of those proposed "would simply shift the tax from property to income."

He said removal of the sales tax from food "could help those who deserve tax relief most — the elderly and the low and middle income people with families."

Both Reps. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, and Norma Dolber, D-Moscow, said it would result in nothing "but administrative headaches."

"Why not just lower the sales tax period if the revenues are not needed," suggested Jackson.

Mrs. Dolber said if more relief is needed "perhaps we could increase the amount of the grocery tax refund."

"For example," she said, "a return of $2 would be equal to a three per cent tax on $70 worth of food per person. The $15 now allowed is equal to three per cent on $500."

State Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, said that removal of the tax on food would require expansion of the state Tax Commission by up to 30 auditors, "with exists over $1 million to 'police' such an exemption."

"The present method, although poorly understood by most people, is the most economical and the envy of all other sales tax levying states," Wheeler added.

State Rep. Perry Swisher, D-Pocatello, said the sales tax on food isn't "regressive." Also, he added that food chains in the state "routinely rip off when auditors can catch them and non-food items must be identified."

"About 20 per cent of the sales tax revenues is from food," Swisher said.

Few hear Senate dean's farewell confessions on chamber's floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — His hands shook slightly and there was a tremble in his voice, George D. Aiken, was saying goodbye.

Only a few saw or heard... It was 9 in the morning, shortly after the noon wooden doors of the Senate opened Wednesday, when the senator from Vermont sought recognition.

A few more than 20 early rising visitors were in the gallery. Three senators were on the floor.

After 34 years, the dean of the Senate is retiring, and for the highly respected and well-loved Aiken, a Republican, it was a time for confession.

Standing behind his desk and using the microphone that is a recent vogue, Aiken read from a prepared text. The seasoned senator wore his trademark, a bright red tie.

"I think it will be best if what I have to say today is interpreted as a confession," Aiken said. "During the 34 years of my tenure as United States senator, I have committed many sins.

"I have voted for measures which I felt were wrong, George D. Aiken, was saying goodbye.

Programs OK'd for US jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House and Senate early passed multi-billion dollar programs Thursday to provide public service jobs for the unemployed and special benefits for persons out of work who are not covered by unemployment insurance.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate $7.2 billion extending unemployment insurance benefits an additional 14 weeks during the next full year of benefits.

Congress has put a high priority on these bills, and all are expected to pass in some form before Congress adjourns next week.

The jobs bill — passed 26-13 in the Senate and 222-53 in the House — do not differ in basic thrust but do differ in detail. Differences must now be ironed out by a House-Senate conference committee.

The $7 billion-plus Senate bill is more ambitious than the less than $5 billion House bill, but the money difference is somewhat decreasing because the Senate bill contains a one-year $1 billion public service jobs program while the House program is $2 billion but covers only six months.

The programs are designed to provide more than 500,000 public service jobs in such areas as hospitals, schools, police and fire departments, parks and forestry programs.

The Senate bill would distribute 75 per cent of the funds on an overall basis to all states, while 25 per cent would go to high-unemployment areas. The House formula is 50-50.

Both bills would provide jobless benefits to workers in 12 million jobs not now covered by unemployment insurance — mainly state and local government employees, domestic workers and farm workers.

The Senate also added a provision to its bill, not contained in the House measure, which would provide an additional $1 billion to stimulate new jobs through grants and loans to public and private projects which have the best chance to provide additional employment.

Britain faces soaring inflation

LONDON (UPI) — With the value of the pound sterling sagging, the Bank of England said today the country's 17 per cent annual inflation rate will soar next year unless Britons stop trying to chase prices with wage hikes.

In its quarterly bulletin the bank said, "Restraint of the rate of price increases will clearly depend on restraint of the rate of increase of money incomes."

In the third quarter, the bank said, wages added to the inflationary momentum by rising 9.5 per cent during the quarter, the highest since

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Edward H. Levi will be nominated as attorney general to succeed William French Saxbe, who is expected to resign and become ambassador to India, according to a White House source.

The source, who asked not to be identified, indicated Thursday that the often out-spoken Saxbe would be named to replace Daniel Patrick Moynihan as U.S. ambassador in New Delhi.

Moynihan, a Nixon appointee, is expected to resume his teaching post at Harvard University after two years in India.

The source also said President Ford, was considering Levi, for the top Justice Department post. But neither the White House nor officials at the Justice Department would confirm the reports.

Saxbe told UPI Thursday he had talked with Ford Monday but any announcement on the shift would have to come from the White House.

According to another White House official, Ford suggested Saxbe resign and accept another position in the government because he wants to put his own men in a number of top jobs including the Justice Department.

The official indicated Saxbe's replacement is the first in what was expected to be a major series of cabinet shifts by early next year.

Levi, 63, is a highly regarded legal scholar. He served as dean of the University of Chicago Law School for 12 years before becoming president of the University of Chicago in 1970.

However, his nomination could run into stiff opposition from Senate conservatives because he is considered more liberal than Saxbe, the former Republican senator from Ohio and three-time state attorney general.

Sens James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., met with Ford at the White House Thursday. They reportedly were unhappy about Saxbe's departure and opposed to the appointment of Levi as a successor.

Buckley plans gas bill amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sometime between now and the adjournment of the 93rd Congress, Sen. James L. Buckley, conservative of New York, hopes to offer as an amendment to a pending bill, a measure that would, if enacted, mark the beginning of the end of federal regulation of natural gas prices at the wellhead.

However, if the amendment is offered, a coalition of Democrats plans to counter with a substitute which would keep federal gas under Federal Power Commission regulation but authorize increases above the new FPC ceiling price of 51 cents a thousand cubic feet plus exemptions for small producers.

With less than two weeks remaining in adjournment, chances are slim that a natural gas bill will find its way to the White House in 1974. Rather the question is likely to embroil the 94th Congress next year.

Because natural gas prices and supplies affect the demand for and thus prices of other fuels, the gas-price issue is one that affects all sectors of the economy — consumers, manufacturers, electric utilities, transport, trade and agriculture.

Ehrlichman rests case, blames Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman has rested his Watergate cover-up case, claiming Richard Nixon deceived and misled him but denying hotly that he is ducking his own guilt by blaming the former President for everything. Ehrlichman's appearance on the witness stand at the coverup trial Thursday ended much as it began four days before.

Robert C. Mardian — were on call today. The first was former Attorney General Richard G.

Kleindienst. Kleindienst said he told one in his own Justice Department.

Plant reopening delayed

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. will delay reopening one of the five assembly plants it closed on Thanksgiving because of a five-month backlog of compact cars — one reason that "December" auto production is the lowest since 1951.

The No. 3 automaker said Thursday that its Newark, Del., plant, which builds Plymouth Valentines and Dodge Darts, will not reopen Jan. 6 when Chrysler begins building cars again at four other plants. The 1,300 workers at the plant won't return to work until Feb. 3.

The trade publication Automotive News said the industry this week will build 31.5 per cent fewer cars than in the same week last year. Five-month output was estimated at 457,000 cars, the lowest since December of 1951, when 294,837 were built and there was no Christmas-New Year's shutdown. Automakers will end the year's production on Dec. 20 with an estimated 7,102,255 cars, 91.24 per cent from 1973's record and the worst year since 1962.

Entering December, Chrysler has 105,000 Valentines in its dealer and company storage lots — enough to last 150 days at current sales rates.

Chrysler's lawyers rested their case, on his words, scrapping plans to play fresh excerpts from White House tapes and electing not to call any witnesses to vouch for his reputation.

Energy officials make conservation rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's top energy advisers this weekend will begin drawing up mandatory conservation rules for the President's consideration. Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said today.

The mandatory measures could include immediate reduction of foreign crude oil imports, a return to petroleum allocations for different parts of the country and even "the horrible alternative of gas rationing," Zarb added.

"We will present him with the widest range of options that will include the possibilities in the mandatory range that he might have at his disposal now or at some later date if they become needed," Zarb said. Zarb will meet with Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton and other energy advisers at Camp David Saturday while Ford is in the Caribbean for talks with French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing.

Tapes deal doomed?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has indicated he will accept the will of Congress to nullify his agreement granting former President Richard M. Nixon custody of his presidential tapes and papers.

White House officials said Thursday that although Ford would go along with it, he had not decided whether to sign the legislation or simply permit it to become law without his signature.

Nixon's attorney, Jack Miller, met with White House aides Thursday and apparently argued strenuously for a veto of the bill. He told reporters the legislation is "clearly unconstitutional."

Some White House lawyers believe the legislation was passed too quickly and encompasses too much. It would even cover Nixon's diatribes, on which he recorded his most intimate thoughts.

The legislation would mimic a Sept. 7 agreement that Ford signed with the General Services Administration saying that the tapes and papers were Nixon's property and he could dispose of them after five years of joint custody with the government.

Under the legislation Nixon still would have access to his papers, but would not be allowed to remove them from government custody.

Panel approves Rocky

WASHINGTON — The House Judiciary Committee recommended Thursday, by a vote of 26 to 12, the confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president.

All 17 of the committee's Republican members voted to approve the nomination; 12 of the 21 Democrats voted against approval. The committee's report is expected to go the House by next Thursday, with a vote by the full House expected Dec. 20. The Senate voted to confirm Rockefeller on Tuesday, by a 90 to 7 vote.

Strip mine bill moves onto floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee Thursday cleared the way for final congressional floor action on a compromise federal strip mining bill. The panel voted 9-4 to send the measure to the House floor with an agreed-to prohibit parliamentary challenges. Proponents hope the House will consider the bill today, with Senate action possible on Saturday. However, the late consideration of the bill would mean that even if it passes, President Ford would have time to "pocket veto" it after Congress adjourns. Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., ranking Republican on the Interior Committee, told the Rules panel Thursday that the administration stands on a November letter by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton expressing grave concern over several aspects of the legislation.

TV networks set up tape specials

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The news divisions of the television networks have begun to lay plans for specials to be televised the week the White House tape recordings on the Watergate "cover-up" become available for air play. They have been advised this will be no sooner than Jan. 3 and, in any case, not until the cover-up trial ends. The networks succeeded in their attempt to secure access to the recordings introduced in evidence in the trial when Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled last week in United States District Court that the tape recordings were public documents and therefore public property. The tapes will be made available to commercial recording companies as well as to broadcasters. That Gesell had indicated that the release of the recordings would be held up until a method of reproducing them could be established that would assure fair and equitable distribution to those who had applied for access. Heads of the networks news divisions said Wednesday that they would not race each other to be the first on the air with specials based on the tapes, although aware that many of the tapes may not be available under broadcast conditions, the networks have each made assignments for the project. Richard U. Wold, president of NBC News, said Don Meaney, head of the Washington bureau, would be in charge of working out the general scheme and determining which tapes might be used. Carl Stern, who has been covering the trial for NBC, would be the reporter on the special. Wold said the broadcast would not necessarily occur in prime time but might be more suitably scheduled at 11:30 p.m.

Ringers slate project

TWIN FALLS — The Salvation Army will begin its annual Christmas bell-ringing campaign Saturday to raise money for needy families.

The service clubs will compete on Dec. 14 and the following Saturday, Dec. 21, to see which one can raise the most money for the Salvation Army campaign.

According to Salvation Army board member Bob Seibel, the fundraising competition will be among the Rotary Club, both Twin Falls Kiwanis Clubs, the Lions Club, Soroptimists Club, and the Magic Valley Business and Professional Women's Club.

Members of the various clubs will have aprons and bells and will be manning the red collection pots at locations all over town, Seibel said.

The winning club will receive a Salvation Army plaque which has been presented annually for several years. The plaque was won last year by the Kiwanis Club.

According to Salvation Army Capt. Dale Vilen, the money collected in the campaign will go to help about 90 to 100 needy families in the Twin Falls area, mainly with food, although clothing and toys will also be provided in some cases.

These families, without money for special Christmas dinners, can apply for help from the Salvation Army by calling 733-0720.

Elephants trapped

SYDNEY, Calif. (UPI) — A semitrailer truck carrying four circus elephants overturned on a curve Wednesday, trapping the animals in the wreckage. It took firemen more than two hours to untangle the pile of mangled metal.

The elephants suffered only cuts and bruises, but the driver, Ben DeWayne, 34, of Canoga Park, Calif., appeared to have a broken arm, firemen said.

Boisean speaks to chamber

SHOSHONE — Because of the agricultural related economy, Idaho will fare better and recover from the recession faster than most parts of the country, according to J.D. Evans, Boise.

The First Security Bank vice president, speaking at the annual election banquet of Shoshone Chamber of Commerce Monday night, said that in November Idaho's employment was higher than ever, with only the timber industry actually suffering. He said "we are lucky in Idaho because we produce all the necessary items to sustain life."

Overall he pointed to the need for any civilization (to survive) to learn from past mistakes.

He said shortages and unemployment are not as bad as the production condition in the U.S. "Workers want more for doing less." And, he warned of a day when "bankers will not be able to loan money for recreation and luxuries. Money will have to go only into expansion for things that are needed to live."

The government just today is raising the percentage needed for deposit insurance to cover banks that are insolvent.

Evans also spoke out against the opposition to an Idaho Power coal-powered plant 17 miles from Boise. He said the people who are fighting it are the ones who would benefit from it. He said "we must keep our heads on straight."

He said "we are in a recession worse than any since World War II and it doesn't look like the bottom will come until the third or fourth quarter of 1975," and he pointed out that we can cut down in many places as consumers. For example, the US has just six per cent of the population of the world, yet we drive 50 per cent of the world's autos."

At the meeting of the board of directors after the banquet Howard E. Adkins was elected president of the chamber for next year. Adkins has been an active member of the chamber and is the Lincoln County prosecuting attorney.

Judge rules Romans, not Jews, killed Jesus

New York Times Service
PARIS — The Romans, not the Jews, killed Jesus.

This was the thrust of a court decision Wednesday in which a judge ruled that an outcast Roman Catholic priest had, like a fanatical French lawyer in their dispute over who was responsible.

The verdict brought to an end one of the strangest trials in this nation's history with the gospel being brandished as evidence.

The priest found guilty is Rev. George de Nantes, who views the Pope and liberal French bishops as heretics.

In a review last year of a 1967 book, "The True Trial of Jesus," written by the lawyer, Jacques Isorni, the priest said the author tried to absolve the Jews of 2,000 years of collective guilt by attributing Christ's crucifixion entirely to Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor of Judea.

Isorni, an ultra-conservative like Father de Nantes, asserted in his book that legal, biblical and historical research showed that Jesus was condemned because he had rebelled against the Roman occupation, not because a Jewish tribunal wanted him executed for saying he was the son of God.

The lawyer wrote that the Jews never took Christ's claim to divinity seriously and looked on him as an imposter.

The Abbot de Nantes said in his review that Isorni had falsified the New Testament and called him an "unpaid lawyer for the Jewish people."

"In this great eternal trial of the Jews against Jesus and the church against the Jews," the priest said, Isorni "opted for the Jews and against their victim."

The lawyer then brought suit for libel, asking symbolic damages of one franc — 23 cents, which was awarded Wednesday in a courtroom in Troyes.

The case was dubbed the "Jesus Trial." Two hearings in October drew enormous crowds. The lawyers described the defendant as a "modern Savonarola" who had to be convicted because otherwise "you will be justifying him for preaching the massacre of the Jews." Tiziano Savonarola, the Italian religious reformer, was excommunicated and burned in 1498.

Father de Nantes retorted that Isorni was a Christian renegade "who had distorted the evidence of the gospel." Each called the other a liar.

President's aid sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's Roman Catholic bishops want to lobby to win President Ford's support of world food programs.

The Rev. James S. Rausch, general secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, asked Wednesday for a meeting with the President which Catholic officials called "unique if not unprecedented."

The bishops want the press to report that the legislative and policy proposals they approved in November as a "pastoral plan of action" to meet the long- and short-range world food problem.

In addition, Rausch suggested in a letter, the President should incorporate their policy and legislative proposals into his State of the Union message.

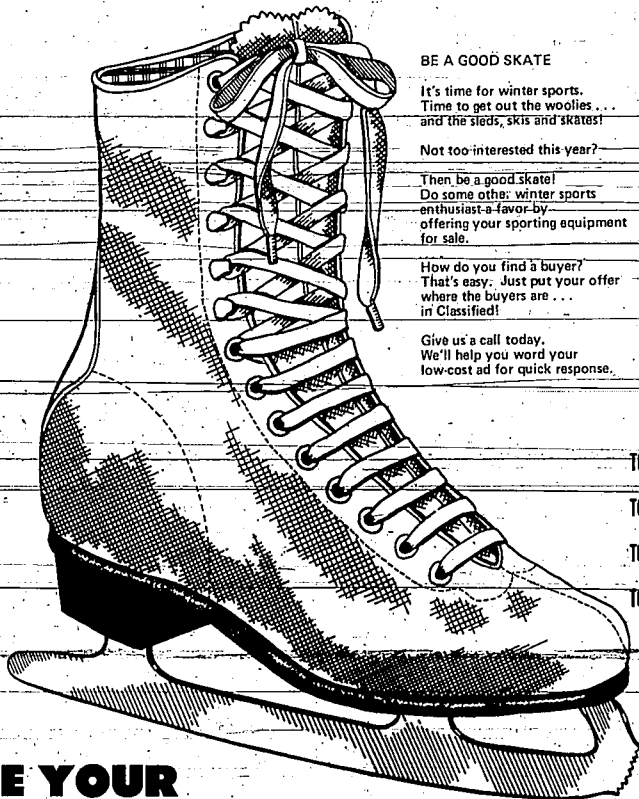

"Food is a unique commodity and a sacred resource," the bishops declared, saying they would support legislation that took food out of the realm of "humanitarian aid" and made its distribution a part of a "system of justice."

Church necessity studied

TWIN FALLS — "Are churches really necessary?" is the question that will be studied at Bible study hour in the Twin Falls Seventh Day Adventist Church Saturday.

Pastor S. O. Francisco says that many young people have questioned the worth of having churches. "And, judging by falling membership figures in many denominations," he adds, "the question is a serious one."

Focal point of member studies this week is the reason for having a church. "Francisco argues that the major reason for the existence of a church is unity of Christian believers and through that unity spread of the gospel."

American born saint canonized

By KENNETH A. BRIGGS
New York Times Service
NEW YORK — Final steps were taken Thursday by Pope Paul VI that cleared the way for the formal announcement Thursday of the first American-born saint, Blessed Elizabeth Ann Bayley Seton.

The canonization procedure was completed when the Vatican officially approved the legitimacy of a "miracle" attributed to Mother Seton. Supporters of her cause had been working in her behalf for 22 years since James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, first brought her to the attention of the wider church.

In her lifetime, from 1774 to 1821, Mother Seton founded the first native religious community, the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph, which now numbers 8,500 sisters. She inaugurated the first Catholic free school, and established a string of charitable institutions.

Her cause has been officially pursued at the Vatican since 1940. In 1959, she was declared by Pope John XXIII to have exhibited the "heroic virtue" requisite to a saint and, after another phase of the painstaking canonization procedure, was beatified by Pope John on St. Patrick's Day in 1975.

The church said that two instances of recovery from illness were miracles attributable to her intercession.

After her death, she invoked a New Orleans nun in 1935, and another girl who recovered from leukemia, in clearing the way for Mother Seton's canonization. Pope Paul VI waived the requirement for two more miracles, accepting a single case, that of Carl F. Kalin of New York City, who recovered from meningitis in 1963.

Monday's action came at a meeting of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, which deals with such cases. There were 500 cardinals and 10 ranking ergonomists present as the Pope completed the procedure of accepting the miracle.

Thursday at the annual consistory of cardinals the Pope issued a decree of canonization announcing the precise date for her induction.

The rite will most likely take place in September of next year, during the Holy Year.

Mothers Seton's election represents a significant boost to the US branch of the church. In 1925, Pope Pius XI expressed the wish that an American be named, but the long complicated process was time-consuming and painful. Her cause was ardently backed in the 1920s by the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae and has been continued especially by the Mother Seton Guild, based in Emmitsburg, Md., and the sisters of the communities she founded.

Born an Episcopalian in a prominent New York family, Mother Seton married a wealthy merchant, gave birth to five children and led an active social life. Following her husband's death, she converted to Catholicism.

Her conversion drew the disdain of many family members, but she persevered in her new faith. At Emmitsburg, she founded the nation's first Catholic free school and set about establishing orphanages, hospitals and refuges for lepers. Several of these institutions, including St. Vincent's Hospital and the New York Foundling Home, still exist.

Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini, a naturalized American, was canonized in 1947.

Discover The Fourth Component!

You have a receiver. You have a turntable. You have your speakers. You think you have it made.

Well, think again. Think about the cartridge, because your pick-up can make or break the performance of your audio system. It's the part too many stereo beginners forget. That important fourth part where the music begins.

You may not realize it, but your cartridge and its stylus has first contact with the music in the grooves of your records. But it doesn't just pick along round and round producing all that sound. It's actually vibrating along the sides of the grooves in an incredibly complex dance that represents all the music on the record. And all too often for your eye to see, but not for your ear to hear. Because if your cartridge is faulty, no amount of expensive equipment... speakers; turntable or receiver... will make up for the distortion it can produce.

That's why you need a cartridge you can depend on. One that's the best your money can buy. Specifically, a Pickering.

Because a Pickering cartridge has the superior ability to "move in the groove" — from side to side and up and down without shattering the sound of your music on your records.

Come in today and see one of the largest selections of Stereo Equipment in Southern Idaho. Let Sheldon & Slagel show you how to get more Sound for Your Money. Too!

Christmas program scheduled

TWIN FALLS — The Performing Arts Troupe is presenting a special Christmas program for Magic Valley area kindergartens and elementary schools this week and next.

The troupe, which is made up of both junior high and high school students, is funded through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Community Children's Theatre Inc. and is under the direction of Beverly Sturgill, speech and drama teacher at O'Leary Junior High.

This year the troupe, which has received national recognition in the past, will present two unprovisional children's plays, what Mrs. Sturgill called a "real fun" version of the Twelve Days of Christmas, and a skit originated by the troupe members called "The Lonely Teddy Bear" which takes place in a toy shop.

"I like children's theatre at this level because they (troupe members) have to really, really let go. I think that's the first step to Shakespeare. Kids are just as capable at this level as any level."

The troupe will give 16 performances this week.

BRIDGE

Percentage play more apt to win

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South was bitter. He spluttered, "Grand slam bids are for idiots."

"I guess you're right," replied North philosophically. "I was an idiot to put an idiot in a grand slam."

We think the use of the word idiot was a trifle strong, but we do feel that North had justification for being annoyed. To start with, South had a minimum opening bid with a broken six-card suit, yet he had made a jump rebid. North was entitled to play him for at least seven hearts.

However, the slam was a cinch the way the cards lay. If South had bothered to count to 13, he would have seen that he needed five spade tricks to make his grand slam. The best way to score those five spade tricks would have been to lead the 10 and take a first-round finesse. This would win for him if West held four spades or less including the queen or play and any banker will tell you that 42 per cent is better than 20 per cent.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I suppose every office has its own "Dirty Gertie," but I'll put ours up against the best (or the worst) of them.

"Dirty Gertie" always has a dirty joke, a filthy limerick, or some kind of sexy gag to pass around the office. I'm a married woman, and I'm certainly no prude, but there are some young unmarried employees here who have been embarrassed half to death by some of the dirty stuff Gertie has come up with.

"Dirty Gertie" has seniority here. She's competent and knows where all the bones are buried, so there's no getting rid of her.

Is there some way I can let her know that everybody doesn't love a dirty joke? If you print this in your column, I'll stick it on her spine. J. AT THE OFFICE

DEAR J.: Consider this my contribution toward fighting office pollution.

DEAR ABBY: You always say if you get it off your chest, you'll feel better, so I'm going to try it.

I've been married for seven months and I have heard that the first year is the hardest, and I believe it!

Let me start at the beginning: I started dating when I was 14, so by the time I met my future husband I had gained a lot of experience — to say the least.

I was afraid to tell my husband about my past, so I said there had been only one guy before him. I know it was wrong to lie, but I didn't want him to think I was a "bad" girl.

We live in a small town where everybody knows everybody else's past, so he found out about mine pretty fast. He told me he could have forgiven me for the things I had done with other guys, but he doesn't think a liar deserves to be forgiven. This all came out two months ago, and we've been fighting about it ever since. Last night he flared up again and demanded that I confess everything.

I don't think I can do it, Abby. He swears that if I tell him everything, he will forgive me and forget it, but I'm afraid he won't. Please help me. A NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR NERVOUS: The word from here is to tell him that the past is dead and buried, and the way to forget it is to leave it buried.

DEAR ABBY: The other day I went alone to a very nice restaurant and was seated at a table.

I had no more than ordered when a man at the next table lit a cigar.

I leaned over and politely said to him, "I'd appreciate it if you didn't smoke that cigar now as it bothers me."

He leaned toward me and whispered back, "That cheap perfume you're wearing bothers ME and I lit the cigar to counteract it."

Abby, I am a man and I do not use perfume. Under the circumstances, what would you have done? TONGUE-TIED

DEAR TIED: I'd have asked the captain to move either me or the cigar smoker.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Buhl driver escapes injury
—CASTLEFORD — A 17-year-old Buhl driver, Michael Fred Reynolds, escaped injury when his vehicle rolled over on Tuesday night down the Lily Grade in Salmon Falls Canyon. Wednesday night, Sheriff Paul Corder said his officers who checked the accident reported the 1971 pickup driven by Reynolds missed a curve on the steep grade and rolled end over end and sideways down a 50-foot drop before coming to rest. Reynolds climbed out with no more than a scratch or two but his vehicle was demolished.
Corder said it took about three hours to get the pickup truck out of the canyon. The accident occurred about 11 p.m.

All directors re-elected
—TWIN FALLS — All three directors of the first district American Falls Reservoir board were re-elected, a canvass of votes Thursday indicated.
Running for three-year terms without opposition were G. Dale DePew, Wendell, who received 135 votes; Tom Olmstead, Twin Falls, with 123 votes and Merle E. Leonard, Filer, with 119 votes.
The election was non-controversial.
They will serve with four other board members and will meet in January to recognize the board—John Barker, Buhl, is currently chairman of the district board.

Priest officially retires Dec. 17 after serving for nearly 29 years as a University of Idaho agricultural extension agent. He had served in Jerome County since May, 1960, and before that was Minidoka County agent for 11½ years and Twin Falls County agent for two years.
He has been on sick leave since July of this year.

Armed robber said 2nd best

—TWIN FALLS — An armed robber came out second best in his effort to rob the Coin Shop on Blue Lakes Boulevard North in Twin Falls Thursday night.
Frank Barnett, police chief, said Howard Kinsfather, owner of the Coin Shop, called police shortly after 7:15 p.m. to report a robbery.
"He told police a young man came into the shop and asked about coins, then ordered him to fill a briefcase with coins. Kinsfather said the man was armed with what appeared to be a revolver.
Kinsfather said he filled the briefcase and when he had it filled, pushed it into the face of the would-be robber and ran into the rear room. He took a 22 pistol out of a drawer and fired into the ceiling, frightening the young man out of the building.
Officers said when they arrived they found the robber not only left without any loot but had tossed his briefcase behind the showcase before departing.
Chief Barnett said the young man left on foot and has not been located although city and county officers converged on the area immediately.

Local accident injures youth

—TWIN FALLS — David Joy, 15, Twin Falls, was hospitalized in good condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after being injured in a car and motorcycle accident.
City police reported Joy was riding a 1971 cycle which collided with a car driven by Annabelle Lee Reeves, 33, Twin Falls.
Officers said Mrs. Reeves stopped at a stop sign on Quincey Street before pulling into Heyburn. She told police she did not see the cycle approaching on Heyburn Avenue until she was in the intersection. Joy was thrown from the cycle.
The accident occurred at 5:25 p.m. Thursday.
Earlier Thursday, a vehicle driven by Karen Rae Malone, 16, Twin Falls, crashed into the rear of a 1962 pickup truck driven by Amy Diane Dune, 19, Twin Falls. Both vehicles were traveling east and the Dune vehicle had stopped at the intersection of Filer Avenue and Locust Street when the Malone vehicle struck it from the rear.
Officers said the street was icy and slick at the time.
Miss Malone suffered cuts and bruises.

Recreation area funds approved

—TWIN FALLS — The expenditure of $53,000 for improvements to the Twin Falls-Diamondfield Jack recreation area has been approved by the Idaho Parks Board.
Other off-road motor vehicle projects funded include Panhandle Sno-Groom Inc., Priest River, $19,795; Fremont County Parks and Recreation, county area of $21,500, and Latah County Snowdrifters, Moscow, $5,553.
The board also decided not to withdraw its protest to the Bureau of Land Management over selection of lieu lands in the Island Park and Henry's Lake areas of eastern Idaho. A motion to withdraw the protest was defeated 6-2 at the vote.
Jack Murphy, lieutenant governor, had requested that the parks and fish and game departments and the division of budget policy planning and coordination withdraw their protests.

Jerome teacher Elmer Hicks, face in hands, hears testimony from Richard Johnson, right.

Decision slated Saturday on Jerome teacher's fate

—JEROME — The Jerome School Board will announce its decision Saturday morning on whether or not to reinstate sixth grade teacher Elmer Hicks.
Testimony on suspension of Hicks concluded Thursday night in the last in a series of public hearings on the matter. Hicks was suspended after being charged with mishandling students and showing favoritism to girls.
Hicks was the only witness called Thursday. Under cross-examination, Hicks said he has never disciplined a student in the spirit of anger, has never used a clenched fist on a student and that he strongly believed the corporal punishment mentioned in the district policy manual meant spanking a student before witnesses.
However, Hicks said he is now fully aware of the district's interpretation of corporal punishment and would follow it completely if reinstated.
Hicks testified he could not remember having several of the things he was charged with. He was accused of grabbing Rod Griffith by the neck and choking him on the playground at Jefferson School during the last day of the 1972-73 school year.
"Hicks said he knew nothing of the incident and that during the time it allegedly occurred he was playing a softball game between the faculty and students. He also testified that he couldn't remember ever grabbing Griffith and pushing him out of the restroom.
Hicks admitted that he grabbed Griffith by the shirt in the hallway one day when Griffith called him (Hicks) ignorant. But he contended he didn't strike the student.
He said he couldn't remember ever hitting Dewayne Flynn over the head with a book or grabbing him in the lunch line or ever threatening to hit him.
"Hicks also said he knew nothing about a fist fight between he and Tim Rosen.
"Several of the boy students over the years have wanted to test the strength of my grip. All three of the Rosen boys have at one time or another challenged me and in the spirit of fun we have tested each other's grip by way of a hand-shake," Hicks said.
Rod Morgan had testified earlier that Hicks had grabbed him by the neck and pushed him up against a wall striking his head. Hicks said all he could remember about Rod Morgan was that Morgan gave him a tie clasp for Christmas one year.

10 attend Amtrak meet

—BY DAVID BOCKMAN Times-News writer
—BURLEY — Ten people attended the Idaho Advisory Committee on Amtrak's hearing in Burley Wednesday evening.
Committee chairman Dwight Jensen said that in 1975 Amtrak will provide an "experimental route" to serve Idaho. He said the committee agrees that Amtrak should have scheduled stops at Pocatello, Shoshone, Boise, Nampa and Ontario.
At least flag stops should be established at McCammon, Minidoka and Mountain Home, he said.
The majority of those attending the meeting were older residents supporting the return of trains to Idaho. Generally they expressed a desire for service convenient to the Mini-Cassia area.
They said a flag stop at Minidoka would be the minimum service of benefit to them.
One man said the 75,000 people of Magic Valley needed and would support full service between valley communities. Jensen suggested a self-propelled one-car train might effectively serve the valley.
The commuter car could loop through the Burley-Tupier area to Jerome and Shoshone and back, he said.
While testimony at the Burley hearing supported the return of passenger trains, Jensen said that in his experience only those supporting trains turned up at the hearings.
That leaves unanswered how many people will actually ride the trains when they again serve Idaho. To determine train use and the best routes and schedules the committee is conducting a market survey.
Under the experimental Amtrak plan passenger trains will run at least two years in Idaho, Jensen said. His officials told Jensen once service is established it will probably go on indefinitely, he said.
Even if passenger fares provide only one-third of the funds needed to operate the trains, Amtrak probably will continue service, he said.
Jensen said that subsidies for the greater "social good" might be desirable but questioned how much subsidy is realistic. He stated some subsidies are justified because passenger trains will save fuel using only one-fourth the fuel required for autos per passenger mile.

2 resorts set for weekend

—TWIN FALLS — Only two ski resorts are operating in the Sawtooth National Forest through this weekend in spite of heavy new snow last night which improved conditions in areas still closed.
Sun Valley and Pomerelle are operating although high winds kept plays from clearing the road at Pomerelle early today and Sun Valley reported 30-mile-an-hour winds at 8 a.m.
Sun Valley officially opens for skiing Saturday in its 39th season.
These Sun Valley runs will be open—Ridge, Blue Grouse, Cut Off, College, Flying Squirrel, Graduate, Warm Springs Face, Mid-Warm Springs, and Lower Limestone.
Dollor and Elkhorn Mountains have not received enough snow to ski yet.
Sun Valley received 4 inches of new snow for a total of 22 inches on top of Bald Mountain and one foot at the Roundhouse.
Pomerelle received one foot of new snow Thursday night but winds followed the storm. The resort operates daily from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with a total of 36 inches at the top of the chair lift and about 29 inches at the lodge. Buses will leave Saturday and Sunday from Twin Falls at 7:30 a.m. and at 8:45 from the Burley-Rupert area.
—Forest officials said about 10 inches of new snow fell at Magic Mountain in the current storm. The resort is expected to open in the near future.
Cross-country skiing is listed as quite good from Prairie Creek to Galena Summit. About 18 inches of snow is reported at the summit.

Deelo girl hurt

—BURLEY — A 15-year-old Deelo girl was in serious condition this morning at Cassia Memorial Hospital following a collision between a car and school bus Wednesday afternoon.
Confined to the intensive care unit at the hospital was Katherine Kidd, 15, Deelo, who was a passenger in a car driven by Connie Zollinger, 15, Deelo, which rained the rear of a loaded school bus near Deelo about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.
Hospital spokesmen said today Miss Kidd had not regained consciousness since being admitted to the hospital Wednesday. She suffered head injuries and "severe concussion," the spokesmen said.
According to Idaho State Police, the school bus had stopped to unload passengers when it was struck by the Zollinger vehicle. Apparently the brakes on the car failed, officers said.

Only half a plane remains after crash

No injuries in MV crash

—BELLEVUE — Four persons escaped serious injury this week when their small passenger plane crashed on take-off in an alfalfa field south of Bellevue.
Owner and pilot of the plane, Bob Burnett, Mollala, Ore., said a lack of power on take-off caused the accident. He said he had refueled the plane in Italy on the day before and the plane "was in good operating condition."
The craft crashed on a farm belonging to Blaine County Prop. Alvin Stephen Bolter three miles south of Bellevue. Bolter has the entire accident on movie film.
Aboard the plane with Burnett were Ed Striker, Bellevue, and his two daughters, Susan and Tami. None were injured.
"When the real trouble was wrong and we weren't going to make it, I had the choice of running into a telephone pole; the power lines or a sprinkler line on Bolter's field," he said.
"We chose the last obstruction and I feel very fortunate nobody was injured."
The Federal Aviation Administration will investigate the crash to determine the cause of the power failure, he said.
He has ordered a duplicate $15,000 Cessna 180 to replace the wrecked plane.

Farm Bureau urges Idaho tax relief

—BY BILL LAZARUS Times-News writer
—TWIN FALLS — Farm Bureau members told their legislators they want tax relief instead of new or expanded state programs in a vote here Thursday night.
But a discussion of Idaho's education needs following the informal vote showed opinion on the issue was not so clear-cut.
"Pointing to a predicted $25-million surplus in state funds this year, Rep. Roy Brockmeyer asked the group of 17 Farm Bureau members attending the meeting with local legislators whether they would prefer new programs, expanded programs or tax relief. In separate votes no support was expressed for new or expanded programs.
Following the vote, Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, questioned whether the farmers would oppose expansion of an expensive program to train veterinarians.
"Personally I don't want to see a whole lot more tax relief," one younger member said, adding that he does not want to see more taxes either. "I would like to see you go up there and use your money for programs that aren't giveaway programs," he said.
But Brackett responded there are far more veterinarian teachers than jobs. Recently, he said, 5,000 persons applied for 7 spots open in the Denver school system. "Should we continue to interest kids to go to college and become teachers, or should we redistribute our educational money?" he said.
"There's too many people being educated for things there's no jobs for, and not near enough spent for vocational education," one bureau member responded. "Another member pointed out, however, that vocational education is far more expensive than academic.
On a related issue, one member asked what the legislators would do about newly elected State Supt. of Schools Roy Truly's request for a $25,000 assistant.
"There's one way we can get him and what the purse strings," Barker said. He said under the Idaho constitution, the legislature has no direct control over Truly's hires.
T. W. Stivers, R-Twin Falls, suggested a great deal of money can be saved in education by cutting down the overlap in the three state universities' programs. "To a great extent their programs are identical," he said.
On the budget in general, Sen. Richard S. Jilgh, R-Twin Falls, predicted the state will have to budget substantially less money than state agencies are requesting for the 1975-76 fiscal year. Whereas total appropriations this year are $181 million requests for next year total $291 million, up about 50 percent, Jilgh said.
Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, said that even though income from the state sales tax is running 22 percent above a year ago and sales tax 17 percent above, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus is warning that "we are going to have to tighten our belts."
Olmstead, who chairs the Joint Revenue Projection Committee, said predicting the state's income is going to be difficult given the current surplus coupled with "soft spots" in parts of Idaho's economy such as the cattle industry. While he described revenue predictions as "more of a guessing game," Olmstead said a standard format will be followed in gathering information for the predictions.
Richard Parrott, president of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau, said the bureau backs total repeal of OSHA. He identified land-use planning as an issue creating both concern and split opinion among the bureau members.
"I just don't think you're going to get OSHA repealed," Barker said. He said the state legislation would have no control over the federal law, but suggested some reforms including exemptions for small employers from the Occupational Safety and Hazard Act.

Sugar, meat futures off again; grains show gain

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened slightly lower in slow trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had gained more than 10 points in the past few sessions, was led back to 596.00 shortly after the opening bell. Declines led advances 14.3 in the morning, but 14.3 issues crossing the tape.

In the previous session, investors expressed uncertainty over a spate of news reports. Inflation appeared to slow, but tensions increased in the Middle East. President Ford said he would stick to his economic game plan, but would give Congress some new plans to combat the "devils of inflation," recession and energy.

After the market closed, the New York Reserve Bank reported business loans climbed by $1.1 billion this week compared with a rise of $1.3 billion the previous week. Stepped-up demand generally means upward pressure on interest rates, but short-term interest rates fell during the week and the discount rate dropped.

Heisman reunion

FORMER WINNERS Howard Cassady, left, (1955) and Vic Janowicz (1950) shake hands with Ohio State's Archie Griffin after he received the Heisman trophy at an awards banquet Thursday night. (UPI/Telephoto)

Griffin views Heisman trophy as responsibility

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archie Griffin of Ohio State, his voice so choked with emotion that he could hardly get out the words, cheerfully accepted the Heisman Trophy Thursday night and said he would do everything in his power to make the award meaningful for the nation's youth.

Griffin, accompanied to the dinner by his family and coach Woody Hayes, became only the fifth junior and fourth Ohio State player ever to receive college football's most coveted honor.

The 5-foot, 9-inch, 184-pound running back was the final speaker at the three and a half hour banquet and by the time he got around to talk he was so emotionally wrapped up in the proceedings that he virtually choked out the words while using a handkerchief to wipe his eyes.

"A long time ago my junior high school coach taught me about the three D's — desire, dedication and determination. He told me to apply the three D's to anything I do and I would achieve success. This trophy is especially meaningful to me because it represents excellence. And that's what the three D's are all about."

Griffin went on to praise his teammates, his coaching staff and his family, then brought the crowd to its feet for a standing ovation with his closing line.

"If today's young people look up to the Heisman Trophy winner the way I did when I was a boy, I promise I will do everything in my power to be the greatest example."

Approximately 1,100 people attended the 40th annual awards ceremony, including nine former Heisman winners. Among them were two former Ohio State recipients — Vic Janowicz (1950) and Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy (1955). Les Horvath (1944) also won the award for Ohio State.

ISU faces Oral Roberts in cage tourney opener

POCATELLO — Idaho State takes a glossy 41 record in this weekend's Marshall Memorial Basketball Tournament, but the Bengals draw a tough opponent, right off the bat in Oral Roberts-University. At last report, the Titans were 24-1.

Friday's ISU-ORU contest will be broadcast by KSEI Radio and the Bengal Basketball Network with air time 4:30 p.m. in the Intermountain Region. Larry Eckenrode and Glenn Alford will be mikeside.

The Titans will look familiar to area cage aficionados. Coaching ORU is former College of Southern Idaho mentor Jerry Hale, who is imposing his more controlled, patterned game on the heretofore hellers-kellers Titans. One of his former Golden Eagle players, 6'3 guard Arnold Dugger, is one of the top ORU performers. Also among the top scorers is 6-7 forward Duane Fox, who is the top returning scorer from last year. ORU runs a 1-4 offense with Dugger as the point guard. Fox is on the wing along with 6-5 Anthony Roberts, and in the double post are F-W Willis Collins and G-F Harold Johnson.

On the second night ISU will play either Long Island University or the Marshall Thundering Herd.

In looking at the tournament, ISU Coach Jim Killingsworth had several observations. "Any time you play Oral Roberts you don't exactly jump up and down no matter where you play them. ORU is one of the nation's top independents. In general, with the injuries Idaho State has had and with all our problems, I could not expect more of this team than a 41 record. I had hoped we'd be further along, but with our guards decimated we've done well to go 4-1."

"We've taken Steve Hayes for granted the last few games, but when have we had a guy play like he has this year?" In answer to Killingsworth's question, never. ISU has had good big men, but never one who has averaged 23.6 ppg-16.6 rebounds—and four blocked shots a game early in the season.

Killingsworth is also happy with performances by Kevin Hoyt and Frank Krahn. "Kevin was out nine days with a bad thigh bruise and I think playing him against Wyoming was good for him. It got the circulation going and although he was very sore after the game in the long run it will help him." ISU could not have beaten Wyoming (72-66) without Hoyt. He scored 11 points and had eight in the last minutes when the Hoaks were making a run at ISU.

"I think Krahn was outstanding (29 points, nine rebounds). The way he had practiced in the fall I was expecting a game like this from him." Krahn set a school record for field goal accuracy last year as a sub, 55.4 percent, but had not been close to that until the Wyoming game.

Haden nabs USC awards

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California's Pat Haden captured four honors, including the Mike McKeever Award as his team's most valuable player, at the Trojans' annual awards banquet Thursday night.

The Trojan quarterback also received awards as USC's most inspirational player, the senior with the highest cumulative grade point average (.87) and the outstanding player in the Notre Dame game.

Senior Tailback Anthony Davis was presented three awards, including the Weisman Trophy given to the outstanding college football player in the country. The Weisman Trophy was created by three owners of a San Francisco restaurant to challenge the decision of the Heisman Trophy.

In addition to the trophy, a $1,000 scholarship was donated to USC in Davis' name.

Davis, second in the Heisman Trophy balloting to Ohio State's Archie Griffin, also was honored as USC's outstanding back and its top player in the UCLA game.

CSI expects tough game in Utah State JV rematch

The toughest game of the pre-Christmas schedule is expected Saturday night when the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles entertain the Utah State Jayvees.

Just a week ago CSI dropped the Utahs by 25 points after holding a 35-30 lead at halftime.

Coach Bob Grant expects it to be tougher this time around.

"Some of their boys told ours that they (Utah State) would be bringing a couple more men out for the varsity for this one," Coach Grant said. "But there's no way, of course that for certain." "Still I expect a tougher game because they now have two or three games under their belts. Last week's game here was their first one," he said.

The battle, slated for 8 p.m., will be the final one before the Eagles leave on the holiday vacation. They won't return to basketball wars until Jan. 10-11, when they tour "IV" and University of Utah.

The Eagles are scheduled to return for practice Jan. 2, but school won't resume until Jan. 13. The difference gives Coach Grant pause about overall team conditioning.

"In the first place, you can't expect boys to stay here or hold them to just a few days vacation," he said.

"We can just hope that they remain halfway in condition. Then we'll have about eight days to work out before playing."

"I think that (the long layoff) was one of the reasons CSI lost some of those early January games last year. Some of the teams schedule games just before Christmas and immediately after the first of the year. This gives them a little advantage in staying sharp."

Coach Grant said Bernard Boyd will be available Saturday night, the sophomore having missed three games due to a muscle pull in his leg.

"He isn't expecting anything different from the Aggies, meaning the pressure will again be on the CSI forwards defensively."

Coach Grant added a special feature will be a halftime demonstration by the Aggies.

REPLAY of this scene, showing CSI's Gary Yoder driving against Utah State, is anticipated Saturday night when the Golden Eagles host the Utahs. Yoder, a 6-4 sophomore transfer from the University of Mississippi, already is one of the crowd's favorites and one of the Eagles' leading scorers.

Rodgers gets pact

ATLANTA (UPI)—Pepper Rodgers, the sixth football coach in Georgia Tech's history, Thursday became the first Yellow Jacket coach to sign a contract.

The board of trustees of the Georgia Tech Athletic Association voted to award the former star quarterback a three-year contract which board president Joseph Pettit said was an indication of the appreciation for the outstanding job Rodgers has done at Tech.

Rodgers, an Atlanta native, played for the Jackets in the early 50s when Tech had some of its greatest teams. During his three-year career Tech won 32 games, lost two and tied two. Rodgers' left the head coaching job at UCLA last year to return to his alma mater and posted a 6-6 record this year.

UPI picks Maryland tackle top lineman

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maryland strongman Randy White, a one-time 212-pound weightlifter who took to lifting weights, was named lineman of the Year Thursday by the United Press International.

The senior defensive tackle, winner of the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman, was an easy victor in the balloting conducted by 120 sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation. White received 58 votes to easily outdistance guard John Roush of Oklahoma, middle guard Rubin Carter of Miami (Fla.), middle guard Devese Selmon of Oklahoma, defensive tackle Lucius Selmon of Oklahoma, defensive tackle Pete Cestek of Ohio State, wide receiver Pete Demmerle of Notre Dame and wide receiver Pat Melia of Harvard.

The Wilmington, Del. native anchors the swarming Maryland defense that has turned the "Terrapin" football program into a winning one the past two years. When White first met Maryland Coach Jerry Claiborne just before spring practice entering his sophomore year, he was a fullback who weighed only 212, could do better than a 4.9 40-yard dash and could barely press 320 pounds.

At his new coach's suggestion, White embarked upon a strenuous weight-training program.

Now the 6-4, 240-pound senior not only runs the 40 in 4.6, but he can bench press 450 pounds. The awesome combination of speed and strength makes him the choice of many pro scouts to be the first player chosen in next month's college draft.

Although the opposition spent most of the time running away from White, he still was credited with 147 tackles and led the team in quarterback sacks (12) and minus yardage.

"I had to put it in flat-out terms, he's the best football player I've ever been associated with as an interior lineman, offensively or defensively," says his coach, Jerry Claiborne. "He's as big as most of them, he's faster than all of them, and he's stronger than all of them. He's also the type of person who has decided all he wants to do is prepare himself for a pro football career."

"I thought about using him as a back," Claiborne recalls, "but I didn't think he had the natural running action. We sat down and talked, and we talked about what he had to do to be a football player. He has made himself what he is because he wanted to be a great football player. He wanted to be an All-American."

"I haven't got time for anything else, but football," White says. "I love it more than anything else in life. I like everything about it, the hitting, the competition. You know, it's fun. It's what I want to do."

"He is the greatest lineman I've ever seen," says Syracuse coach Frank Maloney. "And that includes Man Page and all the rest."

White is the second Maryland player to win the UPI lineman award. Center Bob Pellegrini was similarly honored in 1955.

Temple quarterback has Maxwell trophy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Quarterback Steve Joachim of Temple University is the nation's total offense leader, has been named recipient of the 1974 Maxwell Club award, given in memory of the late Swarthmore College football star and coach.

Joachim, who led Temple to an 8-2 record this fall, was selected over Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin of Ohio State, defensive tackle Randy White of Maryland and Harvard end Patrick McNally.

Defensive tackle—Merlin Olsen of the Los Angeles Rams was selected winner of the Bert Bell award, symbol of pro football's "Player of the Year."

Joachim and Olsen will be honored at the Maxwell Club's annual banquet here Jan. 22.

Joachim, a second-team All-American selection by United Press International, passed for 20 touchdowns and ran for nine others this season.

He averaged 222 yards per game to lead the nation.

NFL goes through motions in season's final weekend slate

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

As a soft prelude to the always-exciting playoffs, the National Football League will wrap up its regular campaign with barely an audible whimper this weekend.

The eight teams that will duel for a place in the Super Bowl already have been decided, and only three games scheduled for Saturday and the 10 on Sunday, only two will bear any significance insofar as a conference title is concerned.

But these contests will be played on Sunday, with the St. Louis Cardinals at home to the New York Giants and the Washington Redskins at home to the Chicago Bears. St. Louis and Washington currently are tied for first place in the NFC East with 9-4 records, and if both teams win or both lose on Sunday, the Cardinals will be awarded the divisional championship on the basis of two victories over the Redskins this season.

Washington is listed as a 13-point favorite for its game while St. Louis is picked by eight-pointers over the Giants.

The lineup for the National Football Conference playoffs has the Eastern champion at Central champion Minnesota on Saturday, Dec. 21, and the wild card team (St. Louis or Washington) at Western champion Los Angeles on Sunday, Dec. 22, in the American Football Conference. Eastern champion Miami will be at Western champion Oakland Dec. 21 and wild card team Buffalo at Central champion Pittsburgh the following day.

Three Super Bowl hopefuls will be in action on Saturday with Pittsburgh at home to the Cincinnati Bengals, Minnesota at Kansas City, and Oakland hosting the Dallas Cowboys. The Steelers and Raiders both are favored by eight points and the Vikings by five.

One of the more interesting matchups Sunday involves two playoff teams, the Rams and Bills, with Los Angeles favored by seven points at home. In other games, Miami is picked by eight points over the New England Patriots, the San Francisco 49ers are eight over the New Orleans Saints, the Green Bay Packers are seven over the Atlanta Falcons, the New York Jets are seven over the Baltimore Colts.

Colts, the Houston Oilers are six over the Cleveland Browns, the Denver Broncos are seven over the San Diego Chargers and the Detroit Lions and Philadelphia Eagles are rated even.

Pittsburgh was heartened this week by the return to practice of three injured players, including running back Preston Pearson, who was out a month with a thigh injury. Also back in training are guard Sam Davis and tight end John McMakin, although it is not known yet if the three will be available for Saturday's game.

Second-string quarterback Wayne Clark will be the starter for the Bengals, replacing the injured Ken Anderson, and backing him up will be Dave Green, a punter.

"As a backup you go through peaks and valleys trying to get prepared for a game," said Clark, who will be starting for only the fifth time in four years. "A lot of times you get all psyched up and nothing happens. But when you know you're starting, you approach the game differently. There's more concentration on the game plan and the job you have to do."

BSU's McMillian named to first team all-America

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Jim McMillian, of Boise State, quarterbacked the 23-man squad of the 1974 Division II college all-America team selections picked by 2,200 voting members of the American Football Coaches Association.

McMillian led the nation in his division with 2,337 total yards during his senior year. He completed 60 per cent of passing attempts, good for 2,170 yards and 23 touchdowns. Also on the Kodak team, the two, 1,000-yard rushing backs — Everett Talbot, of Eastern Kentucky, and Mike Thomas of the University of Nevada-Las Vegas. Talbot got 1,220 yards rushing, while Thomas picked up 1,200.

Three of the nation's top running backs heard the Division II All-America team. Tim Barrett of John Carroll University, leads the trio of 1,000-yard runners. He had 1,490 and 90 points. Also selected were Ed O'Reilly of Slippery Rock, who gained 1,169 yards, and David Remeik, of Ithaca, who got 1,010 yards rushing.

Quarterbacking the Division II unit is Larry Senatto, of Pennona-Pitzer. He produced 1,670 yards for his school, with 1,510 by passing.

Colts can't fault new coach

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Players on a team that is tied for the worst record in the National Football League might be excused if they looked toward the sidelines and muttered uncomplimentary things about their head coach.

But when the Baltimore Colts make a look at Joe Thomas, most of the reaction is favorable—or at least neutral, the Baltimore News-American reported Thursday from a survey of 14 individual players selected at random.

The consensus about Thomas and his possible return as head coach next year was summed up as "okay."

"It would be okay," said quarterback Bert Jones. "We've got the material here to be a winning team, and we'll mature to the point where we win consistently."

It was Thomas who took Jones off the bench and made him a starter in the Colts' fourth game of the season. But since Thomas became head coach the team has generally played well while losing.

Thomas emphasizes his prime responsibility as head coach not to be x's and o's on the blackboard but "keeping the team up mentally."

In that, the Colts say, Thomas has succeeded. Lydell Mitchell, the Colts' third period but then went over five minutes with only three points while Skylin came up with 11.

which they lost 423 to the New England Patriots.

It was an uninspiring debut for both men. General Manager Thomas had taken over as head coach just one week previously following the locker room firing of Howard Hukill.

Thomas traded away most of the veteran Colts when he first went to Baltimore, including longtime star Johnny Unitas and made few friends among the older players and things in general have improved since he's been here.

Defensive tackle Bill Winter agreed: "I want to see him keep the job. The players' attitudes have improved since he took over and things in general have improved since he's been here."

Thomas expressed his prime responsibility as head coach not to be x's and o's on the blackboard but "keeping the team up mentally."

Ron Santo

Santo retires with $150,000 pending

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ron Santo, a 30-time National League All-Star third baseman, announced his retirement from baseball — foregoing the final year of his estimated $150,000 contract with the Chicago White Sox.

Santo, 34, said his "primary reason" for leaving baseball was his new job as vice president of sales for a Chicago oil company. He admitted, however, that he might have postponed his retirement plans "if he had played better last year and had had an opportunity to play more."

Santo admitted he "didn't do a good job" and could not continue as a "piece of furniture." He hit only 23 in 117 games in 1974 and had just five home runs.

"I know I don't fit in the White Sox plans at all," Santo said. "I came to the White Sox when I probably should have ended my career. There were enough problems with that club and I don't want to be another problem."

Santo apparently was referring to the Dick Allen-White Sox situation. Allen made a tearful retirement speech to his teammates on Sept. 14. But after the baseball season ended, he said he had not retired and expected to play in 1975.

referring to the Dick Allen-White Sox situation. Allen made a tearful retirement speech to his teammates on Sept. 14. But after the baseball season ended, he said he had not retired and expected to play in 1975.

The Sox traded the controversial cross-town deal last winter with the Cubs involving five players. He was the first major league player to invoke the "no-trade" clause giving players with 10 years in the major league the right to refuse a trade. He signed a trade to the California Angels but later agreed to the deal sending him to the Sox.

During his 14 years with the White Sox, he was named to the All-Star team 10 times, and compiled a .279 lifetime batting average in 2,126 games. His best season at the plate was in 1967 when he hit .312. In 1969 he drove in 123.

touchdowns in the Blue Hens' 49-11 win over Nevada Las Vegas last Saturday to qualify for the Camella Bowl.

Another hero last weekend for the Blue Hens was fullback Nate Beasley, who gained 153 yards on 18 carries in the contest.

This probably will be the last Camella bowl in Sacramento because a half-century-old Hughes stadium is scheduled to be demolished next year.

Skyline tips Minico

IDAHO FALLS — The Skyline Grizzlies, getting some hot-side shooting from Dave Collette, dropped the Minico Spartans 56-15 Thursday night for their first win of the season.

Collette hit four straight shots from the corner during the third period when the Spartans were struggling through a drained spell.

Skyline, which lost its first two games by identical 56-55 counts, took an early lead and pushed it to 19-11 in the second quarter. But Mickey Hanks hit a couple from the outside to start the Skyline.

Minico caught up at 27-11 in the third period but then went over five minutes with only three points while Skylin came up with 11.

Dakotans' beef arrives in Washington

Butz refuses beef offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A cattle caravan of producers, consumers, and 47 brown and white Herefords, killed in Washington's Mall Thursday after a 2,000-mile journey to dramatize the gap between the price ranchers get and the price consumers pay for beef.

As the cattle milled about in pens in front of the Agriculture Department, the protesters and a few curious tourists gathered for speeches by South Dakota Sen. George McGovern and James Abourezk, several congressmen, and spokesmen for the "beef-in" who left South Dakota a week ago in a caravan of trucks to dramatize their plight.

The ranchers attempted to give 20 "feeder" steers to Agriculture Secretary Earl F. Butz, with a challenge to him to fatten them for market and show a profit. He refused on the grounds the law forbids the department to accept gifts.

But the cattlemen were hopeful the experiment would be conducted anyway, and Fern Schecher of Reno, S.D., a spokesman for the ranchers.

Twenty ready-for-slaughter cattle are in another, bearing a sign which reads: "I am 10 months old, I weigh 1,000 pounds. It cost $618 to raise me."

Federation of America, met with Butz this morning and asked him to investigate "anti-competitive" practices in meat marketing, and to step up publicity aimed at pressuring supermarkets to cut retail beef prices when cattle prices are low.

The consumer group wants Butz to adopt a new beef grading system featuring a proposed "budget" grade of beef.

Schecher said farmers in South Dakota, Montana, and North Dakota had clipped in more than $30,000 to help pay the cost of bringing the cattle here.

He said none of the cattle will be returned to South Dakota. The 20 cattle ready for market will be slaughtered and the packages to Washington's beef, providing meat worth $12,605-15,000.

My market value is $167.50. I cost the consumer $632. Who's getting fat, the middle man or the consumer?

The remaining seven cattle in the caravan are demonstration animals including a roo steer, an Angus, a cow and calf, and a son.

Four of the cattlemen and Carol Peterson, executive director of the Consumer and management of wastes, optional step, can be achieved," said T.M. McCalla of the U.S. Agriculture Department's research service in Lincoln, Nebraska.

ROME (UPI) — Hungry nations could greatly increase food production by making better use of animal manure, human waste and garbage, according to an international gathering of agriculture experts.

Crops such as ground nuts and cow peas also could play a big role in replacing chemical fertilizers, virtually priced out of the markets for poor countries by the recent increase in oil prices, the experts said Wednesday.

A burglar of lengthy experience contends the three places a householder is most likely to leave a key are: 1. Under the doormat. 2. Over the doorknob. 3. In a flower pot. Or did you suspect as much? This felon says he never took time to check more than these three hiding places for fear neighbors might take notice after the home owner, he says, he would not hide the key as close to the door as possible, but rather as far away from it as not too inconvenient.

DID I TELL you the checkroom attendants at most all the nation's race tracks get considerably bigger tips right after the seventh race than after the eighth or the ninth? Losers stick around to the end, but winners go early.

FAMOUS MEN

Q. "Quick, Louie, what did these famous men have in common? John Paul Jones, Ulysses S. Grant and Winston Churchill?"

A. Each was exactly six inches taller than Napoleon Bonaparte who was 5-foot-11. What else they had in common was that they called drive.

Q. "HOW FAST do those South American soldiers march?"

A. Taking them about three and a half hours to cover a mile, romping and stomping and chomping up everything as they go.

Q. "HOW OLD is the average car in this country? How about the average truck?"

A. Car, 5.6 years. Truck, 7.6 years.

SURVEYS repeatedly prove the least popular vegetable in this country is the turnip.

SILLOGRAMS

A test called a sillogram is what the research scientist use to measure a person's aptitude with words. More specifically, said person's ability to relate known words with unknown words. This knack of memory is highly desirable in the fields of chemistry, medicine and law. Scholars up at the Human Engineering Laboratory in Boston checked out numerous girls and boys with the aforementioned sillogram. The boys remembered 27 words out of 80, average. The girls, 35 out of 80. Uphoot: Girls are better suited than boys to become chemists, doctors, lawyers.

SO YOU THOUGHT the United States was tops in television, did you? No, there are 401 TV sets for every 1,000 Swedes, only 399 for every 1,000 U.S. citizens. Man for man, the Swedes read more newspapers, too, incidentally.
