Spying furore spreads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has called for a report "within a matter of days" on alleged CIA spying on American citizens during the Nixon administration. Pressure appeared to be building on Richard Helms, formerly Nixon's CIA chief and now ambassador to Iran.

The chairman of five congressional committees have talked of holding investigations, and the Justice Department was understood to have asked to see CIA's files on the subject.

Rep. Lucien Netzi, D-Mich., chairman of the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Intelligence, called today for a public hearing on the allegations in an interview on the CBS Morning News.

He said the CIA apparently "overstepped the border" in domestic operations and news reports on the spying did "not square out" with his earlier private briefings with agency officials.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller said today there should be an "immediate investigation, which the President has called for."

But Rockefeller indicated personal doubt about the scope of the alleged CIA wrongdoing in an interview taped for the NBC Today Show. He said press reports of the CIA domestic activity was "news to me... I never heard of it."

"There is something wrong about the (New York Times) story. But I think the public has got to know."

"I knew there was an (CIA) activity in connection with Watergate," added Rockefeller.

"Nothing of this kind is going on now and there will be nothing of this kind under my administration."

The CIA is barred by its 1947 charter from operating as a domestic police force.

Ford, from his holiday ski resort in Colorado, Monday ordered a report "within a matter of days" from William E. Colby, who has headed CIA since 1973, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, the administration's top adviser on intelligence affairs.

A State Department spokesman said Kissinger in turn has asked for a report from Helms, who headed CIA from 1966 to 1972.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., wrote Kissinger urging Helms' removal and prosecution and wrote the Justice Department to demand an investigation.

The allegations were published in a Sunday story in The New York Times, which said CIA files were kept on 10,000 Americans, anti-Vietnam groups, that telephone calls were tapped.

The Justice Department said Monday it was not conducting an "investigation" of CIA and that no charges had been referred to the department. A spokesman said the department "had been in contact with Colby" and "the matter is under review."

Congressional investigations were promised by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., incoming chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee; and Rep. Thomas E. Morton, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Sparkman said he was "shocked" by the Times story.

"It is my intention in the new Congress to have the Foreign Relations Committee look into these matters. I hope that Mr. Helms who is now ambassador to Iran will be available for these hearings, since many of the things now being brought to light occurred while he was head of the CIA."

Boston bus battle heads for court

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston School Committee's vote to carry its battle against court ordered school integration to the U.S. Supreme Court was unanimous — but one committee member said it probably will be a waste of time.

The committee Monday voted 5-0 to take its challenge to the Supreme Court, following last week's U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling upholding the plan's legality.

Gold price stays near record high

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Gold held close to its record high today in anticipation of an American rush to buy it when the ban on private ownership is lifted Jan. 1.

It closed on the London market at $192.50 an ounce, down 50 cents from Monday's all time high figure of $192.75 more than on Dec. 16.

In Zurich, it closed at $192.35 an ounce, down 30 cents from Monday but $12 more than on Dec. 16.

Wyman named NH Senate race winner

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., overturned the results of a recent runoff and won election to the U.S. Senate by two votes, believed the narrowest margin ever in a Senate contest.

Democrat John Durkin said he would appeal his loss to the Democrat-controlled Senate.

Wyman's victory, 50 days after the general election, followed New Hampshire Ballot Law Commission review and reversal of Durkin's 10 vote recount victory.

Colombia may ease Cuban sanctions

BOGOTA (UPI) — The Colombian government says it will lift some of the sanctions against the Communist government of Fidel Castro.

Foreign Minister Indalecio Leivano, who made the surprise announcement Monday, said Colombia was also considering the re-establishment of diplomatic ties with Cuba.

Venezuela nearer oil nationalization

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — A five-ratibon commission has presented Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez with a draft bill to nationalize foreign oil companies next year.

The 38-man commission handed in its proposed legislation Monday after the Venezuelan Congress approved agreements signed Dec. 17 between the government and the subsidiaries of U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel to nationalize the nation's iron ore industry.

Court delays Valley beet subsidies

BY MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A U.S. District Court ruling will delay and may reduce subsidy payments to about 500 sugar beet growers in the Magic Valley.

A federal judge Monday granted a preliminary restraining order sought by migrant farm workers blocking about $30 million in sugar beet payments to be sent out nationwide next month.

The eight migrant workers filed a class action suit against U.S. Agricultural Department officials under the 1948 Sugar Act, which grants federal officials the power to require sugar growers pay a "fair and reasonable" wage and, in addition, obligates the government to subsidize the growers.

In light of recent increases in sugar industry profits, the suit said, farm workers are not paid the "fair and reasonable" wage.

The Department of Agriculture raised sugar beet workers wages 6 per cent this year, from $2.15 to $2.28 an hour, following an investigation, according to a story from the Washington Post.

Kent Kirk, Twin Falls County executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, which hands out the payments, said today he had not received word from the government about the immediate effects of the ruling.

But, he said, "I'm sure it will affect people here."

Kirk said that about 500 farmers in the county received about $37,000 in payments last year. This year, because of a decrease in sugar beet acreages, the payments should be about half that — about $17,000 — he said.

"I'm sure any ruling would not eliminate the payment," he said. "If the workers who brought the suit get what they're after, the farmers would probably have to give retroactive pay raises to the workers they employed last season to be eligible for the payments, though."

Search continues for Jerome man

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — One of two missing snowmobilers in the south hills area has been found and an air and ground search continues for the Jerome man missing since Saturday.

Sheriff Paul Cordeiro said Richard Helms, 27, Jerome, who became ill Sunday while looking for Dan (Randy) Hayes, 21, Jerome, was found about 2:30 p.m. Monday.

He had spent one night in the shelter of some rocks and was walking along the Winecup road toward the Diamondfield Jack snowmobile area just above Magic Mountain Ski Resort when found. The sheriff said he was picked up by a group of snowmobilers involved in the search.

Hayes disappeared Saturday while snowmobiling with a friend in the Goose Creek area near Deadline Ridge.

Lewis Munson, Twin Falls district ranger for the Sawtooth National Forest, said this morning about 65 snowmobilers have combed the area, criss-crossing nearly every 25 feet in the vicinity where Hayes' snowmobile was found Saturday night.

He said the missing man's footprints disappear near the packed roadway and searchers are considering the possibility the man was picked up by another snowmobiler. Jeffrey searchers reached the area.

Munson said Hayes' snowmobiling companion, Don Mort, Hanson, reported him missing about the time a snowstorm hit Saturday evening. Within an hour about eight machines were in the area and the missing man's snow machine was found stuck in the snow.

"I think at that time we were no more than 30 minutes behind Hayes," Munson said, "but we were unable to locate him or to get an answer to our calls."

Since that time the search has continued for two full days and most of last night. Hanson said searchers have even dug into the snow for more footprints and while they can find their own left Saturday night, cannot find any others. He said the other possibility is that the man became exhausted in near waist deep snow after leaving his machine and has been covered by snow. About 14 inches of new snow has fallen in the area since the man became missing, Munson said.

Sheriff Cordeiro said a helicopter was used Monday and will return again today if weather permits. Cloyce Edwards, helicopter owner, is assisting with the air search.

Angleton power allowed spying

By SEYMOUR HERSH
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Sources knowledgeable about the Central Intelligence Agency believe that James Angleton was permitted to continue his alleged domestic operations because of the great power he wields inside the agency as director of counterintelligence.

It is this group that is charged with investigating allegations against CIA personnel made by foreign agents who defect; in other words, it must determine whether a CIA man named by a defector is, in fact, a double agent.

Victor Marchetti, a former CIA official, noted in a book published this year that the "counterintelligence staff operates on the assumption that the agency — as well as other elements of the United States government — is penetrated by the KGB.

"The chief of the CIA staff, Marchetti did not identify Angleton) is asked to keep a list of the 50 or so key positions in the CIA, which are most likely to have been infiltrated by the opposition, and he, reportedly keeps the persons in those positions under constant surveillance."

"Dozens of other former CIA men talked in recent interviews with similar expressions of fear and awe about Angleton, an accomplished boatman and Yale graduate who once edited a spy magazine there."

"He was reportedly described by former CIA officials as an unrelenting cold warrior who was convinced that the Soviet Union was playing a major role in the antiwar activities."

"He honestly has the kind of apok mentality where he can see conspiracies in everything," one former high-level CIA official said.

Dream of shiny red ball takes back seat on Christmas Eve

Chicago Sun-Times
CHICAGO — All Timmy Williams wanted for Christmas was a shiny red, rubber ball.
 His mother was all home very sick. His father was out of work. He knew his family could not afford much.
 Timmy was seven years old and full of dreams of someday becoming a great baseball player. Perhaps a pitching star like Bob Gibson. Or a home-run king like Hank Aaron.
 Both Gibson and Aaron were Timmy's idols. So he didn't care which one he'd be like. Maybe he would be both, the way Babe Ruth was.
 But the beginning of all would be the shiny red rubber ball. Many times, he would dream he already had the red, rubber ball. He'd go out into the south side streets squeezing the ball in his hand.
 Sometimes, he'd just hold the ball in his palm and let sun shine and sparkle on it. He'd bounce it on the concrete sidewalk and snatch it out of the air.

 He'd throw it against the wall of the tenement building where he lived — throw it with all his might and try to catch it in the air before it hit the ground.
 He would dream also that he had a blue broomstick for a bat. He would swing the stick through the air and make it sound like a wasp flying as he hit the ball against the wall. Then he'd drop the stick and catch the ball on the fly.
 "What do you want me to bring you mother?" said the black man dressed like Santa Claus and walking in the doorway of the corner.
 "Make her well because she's real sick," said Timmy. "She eats a lot of times and she can't eat her food. She looks real skinny now."
 "What do you want me to bring your father?" Santa asked.
 "Bring him a brand new job," said Timmy. "He don't like to stay home and not work. He looks for a job, but he don't find any. He takes care of my mama a lot. But he drinks a lot of medicine that makes him mad and say bad words."

 "And what do you want me to bring you?" said Santa, wiping his eyes with a handkerchief.
 "I want a ball real red and shiny that bounces a lot when you throw it down and hit it with a stick," said Timmy.
 But two nights before Christmas, Timmy heard some bad news.
 "Santa Claus told he he wasn't going to come see us this year," said his father as he and Timmy sat before the oil heater in the living room and looked at flames dancing on the burners.
 "He ain't?" said Timmy in a voice nervous with fear.
 "Naw," said his father, raising his hardy eyes up to his eyes to keep Timmy from seeing him cry. "He says he doesn't have enough money and will see us next year."

 On Christmas eve morning, Timmy went to a fruit vendor.
 "You say you want to work for some Christmas money?" said the vendor, 20-year-old man who plucked black thorns into a tangerine, ripping open its peeling and dispersing fragrant mist and nectar spilling down his fingers.
 "Yes," the man said, stirring juice from the pinking fruit. "I'll pay you a dollar if you help me run the stand today. And I'll give you some apples and oranges and walnuts, too, that you can take home witha."
 Timmy worked hard bagging fruit as the man weighed and collected money. At 4:30 p.m., the man looked at his watch and told Timmy it was time for him to go home now and get ready for Santa Claus. And he gave Timmy the dollar and bag of fruit just like he promised.
 But only an hour was left for him to buy his red, rubber ball at the corner drugstore. So he ran home to drop off his fruit before going to the store. He was so happy.

 When he got to his house, there was a crowd of people standing out front and an ambulance parked in the street. Timmy's father was crying out loud and two men dressed in white suits were carrying from the house a stretcher with a thin figure under a white sheet.
 All at once, a harrowing chill swept across Timmy's chest, and tears started streaming. He no longer cared for the red, rubber ball. It could not make him forget any more that he was losing his mother.
 Timmy cried out and ran to hug the still figure being rolled quietly on the stretcher. Somebody grabbed Timmy short of his goal, his arms still wide open and clutching.
 "I want my mama!" said Timmy crying and kicking. "I want my mama!"

Bethlehem route heavily guarded

BETHLEHEM, Israel — Occupied Jordan (UPI) — The Arab, mayor of the small town where tradition says Jesus Christ was born, angrily protested today the unprecedented Israeli security precautions against a Palestine guerrilla attack.
 Israeli troops in battle fatigues and carrying automatic rifles patrolled the 6.5 mile route from the Jaffa Gate of Jerusalem's walled Old City to Manager Square in Bethlehem.
 The traditional Roman Catholic religious procession set off without incident to begin the 36-hour celebration of Christmas in the Holy Land.

On the roof of the Church of the Nativity, armed soldiers stood watch over the sparse crowd of pilgrims in the square.

Ringers collect $854.95

TWIN FALLS — Eight Twin Falls service organizations collected $854.95 in two days of bell ringing for the Salvation Army.
 The money that was collected will be used to provide meals, clothing and other articles for the needy in the Twin Falls area at Christmas time.
 Jack Muldoon, chairman of the advisory board for the Salvation Army, said the organizations wanted to thank members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis, Twin Falls Rotary, Twin Falls Lions, Soroptimists, greater Twin Falls Kiwanis and the Magic Valley Business and Professional Association for ringing the collection bells in downtown Twin Falls and in the shopping centers, Dec. 14 and 21.
 A special thanks, according to Muldoon, should go to the Twin Falls chapter of DeMolay, which helped with the drive for the first time this year.

'Twas the day before Christmas
 And all through the bank,
 We were thinking about
 All the folks we should thank
 For their business so valued
 Their trust through the years,
 And high on our star list
 Your name appears.
 So we thank you and wish you
 Much holiday pleasure
 And a New Year of happiness

New US energy chief raps gas tax plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frank Zarb, the nation's new energy chief, said today a stiff gasoline tax increase as a means of reducing oil consumption would have negative impacts on the staggering economy and President Ford should not consider it with "any degree of favor."

ought to consider it as one of the favorites," he said. The Joint Economic Committee of Congress has recommended a 30 cent-a-gallon gas tax boost to cut use of petroleum in the United States. Zarb also said on the NBC Today Show that "gasoline rationing is 'unlikely' unless there is another Arab oil embargo."

President Ford has received a series of proposals — including mandatory measures — for Americans to save energy and is expected to outline a new program before Congress next month. Zarb, who met with Ford advisers earlier to outline a wide range of options open to the President, said today he "was cool on the gasoline" tax idea.

"It has many, many pros — many, many cons — many, many negative impacts on segments of the society and segments of the economy ... I don't think it should be treated with any degree of favor," he said. "There are other approaches that can be taken."

Zarb's comments followed a weekend report on the nation's economy by the Joint Economic Committee, which urged imposition of the higher gasoline tax. The panel recommended that the $35 billion collected simultaneously be rebated to Americans to avoid worsening of the country's economic slide. Zarb today listed three "haste approaches" that the administration can take to cut oil consumption: — an "outright restriction on (oil) imports and then an allocation and rationing system."

— The imposing of "specific" taxes, such as on gasoline. — "Broad-based conservation program by virtue of increasing prices across all product lines."

Although not committing himself finally on the proposals, Zarb expressed negative opinions on two of the three plans. "The oil-import restriction plan coupled with allocation and rationing he said, "has its set of extremely difficult impacts on the economy and requires an enormous bureaucracy to administer."

"He said the tax proposal would 'visit hardships on particular people, who are on fixed incomes, people who have to drive long distances to work' and would place 'the burden of the entire conservation effort' on one product — gasoline. "There are many different combinations of one or the other," and Ford is considering all of the, Zarb said.

Full alert for Middle East

By United Press International High-flying Israeli jets were crashing over Beirut today and the armies of Egypt, Syria and Lebanon were reported on maximum alert against the possibility of a large-scale Israeli attack during the Muslim and Christmas holidays.

Lebanese Premier Rashid Solh said Lebanese forces were placed on alert following reports "from various sources, indicating the possibility of a large-scale Israeli aggression at any hour." Press reports, said Egyptian, Syrian and Palestinian guerrilla forces were also on alert.

The Palestine Liberation Organization hoped strict security on all of its Beirut offices, following the discovery of a bomb in one of them, the newspaper Al-Azwa reported. It said guards detoured "three kilograms of TNT tied to a camera" found Monday in the mailbox of the PLO magazine Fatatine Al-Thawara.

Israeli military sources said the reported alerts by Egypt and Syria were a routine Muslim holiday tactic but said Israel would continue to watch carefully.

Gloom pervades world as Christmas arrives

By United Press International Christmas Eve, 1974, has a gloom in the Middle East. A Viet Cong refusal to search for Americans missing in Indochina. And a gloomy warning from Pope Paul VI about a world "floundering on the edge of the abyss."

Christians around the world observed Christmas Eve today in ceremonies darkened by fears of war, economic austerity and threats of bombings, but not without a few signs of hope. The Pope, in one of his gloomiest Christmas messages, told the College of Cardinals in Vatican City, Monday, of the "specters of terror" in the Middle East, Northern Ireland and Indochina.

He warned of "the senseless consequences of a culture floundering on the edge of the abyss, and a manner of living leading headlong into the precipitations of deliberate delinquency and blind passion."

Israel, hit by two bombings in five days, imposed the tightest security ever on pilgrims visiting the Holy Land. The measures included unprecedented body searches of pilgrims attending midnight in Bethlehem. In Rome, the neo-Fascist Black Order issued a swastika-embellished statement threatening to bomb churches on Christmas Day unless the Vatican agrees to give its wealth to the poor.

Ullman says tax reform required

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The man next in line to chair the powerful House Ways and Means Committee says he believes a "sizeable package" of tax reforms will be necessary next year — including an income tax cut and a boost in federal gasoline taxes. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., who succeeds Rep. Wilbur Mills, Dark, as head of the influential tax-writing panel when Congress returns Jan. 14, predicted the committee would act to provide emergency tax relief for both individuals and corporations.

some, certainly some individual cuts to restore individual purchasing power." He declined to predict the size of a tax cut but added "certainly it has to be a sizeable package of tax relief benefits, both to the individuals and to the corporate economy so that we can put together the ingredients of a turnaround in the economy."

Ullman also indicated he would support increasing the gas tax and a phase out of the oil depletion allowance if it was contained in a comprehensive energy program. "But the problem here is that, politically, you can't move out on a reduction — just on a gas tax increase. It has to be part of a total package."

"Now ... I would favor it if it included an overall program that ran the gamut of policy, that we increase in getting this country back on its feet in totality and that the people of the country could have some confidence in," he said.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, which took its worst beating in two weeks the previous session, opened slightly higher Tuesday in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost nearly nine points Monday, was ahead 1.65 points at 991.29 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 153 to 125 net, with 478 issues crossing the tape.

The market was to close at 2 p.m. EST, two hours early, for the Christmas holidays, and few analysts expected the market to show any significant trends throughout the day.

The market still is weighted down by concerns over inflation, recession, energy and tensions in the Middle East. Traders in that area are on alert for the holiday season.

U.S. Steel late Monday trimmed by 20 per cent its previously announced price increases under pressure from the White House. Before that unexpected announcement, Bethlehem Steel had announced price increases. The action was widely discussed on Wall Street.

US Steel cuts prices

Bethlehem is the nation's No. 2 steel producer and Wheeling-Pittsburgh is the ninth largest. The partial rollback by U.S. Steel was not seen as a great victory for the Ford administration. It still left U.S. Steel with a new "end" substantially higher level of prices in place before the end of the year.

A number of analysts have suggested U.S. Steel raised prices in anticipation of price control imposition by the administration.

Albert Rees, director of the government's Council on Wage and Price Stability, said he was pleased with the action and that he hoped other companies that had recently announced price increases would reconsider them.

U.S. Steel said it would not increase the average level of its steel prices during the next six months unless interest rates rise so by "unforeseen major economic events."

Before the U.S. Steel announcement, the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp. announced they were raising prices on a wide variety of steel products. They said the increases, averaging 5 per cent to 6 per cent, would raise their prices to levels announced a week ago by U.S. Steel.

Forecaster says Merry Christmas

Twin Falls, northside, Burley-Rupert areas, considerable cloudiness with a chance of brief snow flurries tonight. Christmas Day will be partly sunny with high temperatures from 25 to 34. A number of measurable snowfall totals will be 20 per cent with temperatures near 15.

Clouds will bring a chance of brief snow flurries to this area tonight. High temperatures Christmas Day under cloudy skies will be near 20 with lows tonight near zero.

Most of the storm activity through the weekend will be in the central and eastern part of the United States. Some of that snow will spill over the Continental Divide into the mountains of northern and eastern Idaho and into Utah.

Therefore, eastbound travelers could run into some problems. Westbound travelers should find unusually good weather in Oregon and Nevada.

Nixon's role crops up again in trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "It's too bad" Richard Nixon was pardoned, Judge John Sirica said Monday. He insisted that should make no difference in the guilt or innocence of the Watergate cover-up defendants.

After the jury had left, Sirica, referring to the former President by name, asked Prates whether he was contending that Nixon's absence as a witness meant the defendants should be acquitted.

"These men knew what they did. They went into it with their eyes open. They're over 21. Some of them are lawyers."

The trial was in recess today and Wednesday. The 14 women and three men who make up the sequestered jury and its alternates will be permitted to have their families visit them at their hotel on Christmas Day for a buffet and a change of clothes.

Sirica made his comment out of the presence of the jury after William Frates, John Ehrlichman's lawyer, said in his final arguments "we're missing one person, the orchestra leader."

Sirica argued that the defendants should be judged independently of Nixon's role, citing the example of five men who rob a bank and one is able to get a pardon because he has influence.

"If they did it knowingly, it doesn't make any difference as far as I'm concerned if pardoned Nixon has been pardoned. Maybe it's a moral matter—I don't know. That's for the jury to decide."

Prates, like attorney for former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Helmsford, sought to place the blame for Watergate on the prosecutor's star witness, former White House counsel John Dean III.

Wolfpack rallies for tie

Dual openings urged

BOISE (UPI) — In a move designed to reduce crowds of hunters on opening weekends, the Idaho Fish and Game Department will ask the commission to combine this fall's opening dates for deer and elk.

The major combination of opening dates will be the two October openings — the first and third Saturday — into one opening on the Saturday nearest the 15th. In 1975, the October opening dates would be the 15th.

"A steady buildup in the number of hunters and increasing opening day crowds has created problems for game herds and landowners and has decreased the enjoyment of the hunting experience," the proposal said.

Surveys by the department in 1973 and 1974 found that more than 20 per cent of the hunters in the field on the third Saturday in October had also hunted on the first Saturday opening.

Broken down by regions, the percentages ranged from a high of 25 per cent in southwestern Idaho to a low of about eight per cent in the southeast corner of the state.

Combining the two opening dates will be an advantage to hunters, landowners and the game herds, regional supervisors said, "resulting in more dispersion of opening weekend pressure and concentration, thereby providing a more enjoyable experience for hunters."

The opening date will be submitted for Fish and Game Commission approval when the commission holds its regular quarterly meeting Jan. 8. Public hearings before the commission will be held that afternoon.

HOUSTON (UPI) — North Carolina State's ninth-ranked Wolfpack scored two touchdowns in the final four minutes Monday night and added a two-point conversion to come from behind and tie the Houston Cougars, 31-31, in the 16th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Trailing 31-17 after Houston scored two touchdowns midway through the final quarter, State drove 70 yards and Tommy London ran nine yards for a Wolfpack touchdown with 3:38 left in the game. But the Wolfpack's conversion pass failed.

Wolfpack center Louis Alcamo then recovered N.C. State's onside kick and three plays later quarterback Dave Buckley drove one-yard for another touchdown. Fullback Stan Fritts then ripped through a gaping hole at right guard for the tying extra points.

Houston broke a 17-17 tie on Bubba McCallian's 75-yard pass to Eddie Foster and John Housman's five-yard run, giving the Cougars a commanding 31-17 lead. The tie was the third in the history of the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. The game was played at the University of Houston's Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Stadium.

Houston's history in 1960 Texas and Alabama fought to a 3-3 standoff and in 1970 Oklahoma and Alabama battled to a 24-24 deadlock.

The tie also ended the two-year winning streak by State Coach Lou Holtz in post-season play.

The offensive show, which broke all records for most points scored and most offensive yards, did not start until the second half after the team traded field goals and Wolfpack fullback Roland

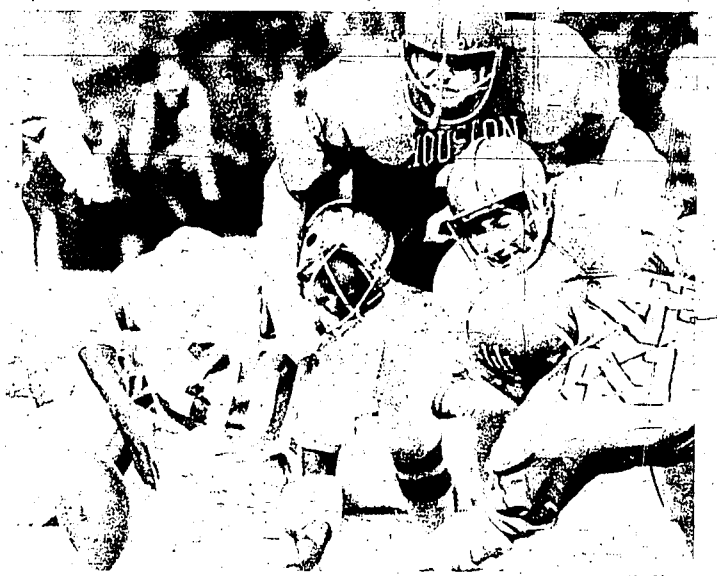

Hooks scored on a 11-yard touchdown run.

Three long drives consumed the third quarter. Houston drove 80 yards, capped by Housman's one-yard run. State drove 75 yards with Fritts scoring from seven yards and Houston coming back to score on Marshall Johnson's 10-yard run.

Catching their breath when a turnover and stalled drive ended in punts, a small crowd of 35,122 was just getting ready for the wild finish.

Facing a third-and-three from their own 23-yard line, the landing Cougars surprised State when quarterback McCallion faked into the line and threw a 77-yard scoring strike to speedster Foster.

No rest for Raiders

OAKLAND (UPI) — Most everyone, those with jobs that is, will knock off early today for an early Christmas celebration and then spend Wednesday celebrating, but for the Oakland Raiders, shooting for a possible $25,000 a man, it will be work as usual.

Long practice sessions are on tap both today and Wednesday, which is Christmas to most everyone else, but hardly a man in the Oakland organization is complaining.

There is the little thing of getting ready for the Pittsburgh Steelers, whom the Raiders meet for the AFC title Sunday, and the Super Bowl after that if they are successful Dec. 29.

Coach John Madden held a light workout Monday, but plans to step up the tempo a bit today and Wednesday with sessions at the Raider practice field.

"It's a typical week of preparation for us," said Madden. "There is no deviation from our regular schedule. We are treating Sunday's game from a point of practice, the same as any other. We'll quit soon enough on Christmas Day to have dinner with our families and the players with children will have enough time Christmas morning to watch the present opening."

While the Raiders beat the Steelers easily in the playoffs last year and shut them out, 17-0, earlier this year, they feel they will be playing a club that is awesome on defense and a lot tougher on offense now than it's been all year.

"The Steelers are going to come in here riding high," said linebacker Gerald Irons. "They made their win over the Buffalo Bills Sunday (32-14) look easy and effortless. At half-time I knew it was over. They were awesome, nothing like the team we played earlier this year."

Most of the Raiders still haven't forgotten the 1972 playoffs when the Steelers beat them in the final seconds, 13-7, on a deflected pass to Franco Harris.

"For that one play alone, they will always be a rivalry for us," said Irons. "It will be another chance to get back at them for that."

"Against Buffalo, they looked like the team we expected earlier in the season," said linebacker Phil Villapiano. "There is a big difference now from then. They are a championship club coming in here."

Harris was hurt early in the game when the two clubs last met and quarterback Terry Bradshaw was on the bench except for a few plays near the end. Bradshaw has regained his job and against the Bills he proved how tough he can be.

"Their defense is awesome," said tackle Art Shell, "and Bradshaw is playing about as well as any quarterback now. No question, we'll have our hands full, and that's why it should be in a championship game. I'm sure we'll be ready physically and mentally."

BART STARR
Packers' pick

Starr reported Packers' choice

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers announced a news conference for 8:30 a.m. this morning, presumably to announce the appointment of Bart Starr as head coach and general manager.

The Packers' executive committee met for an hour and a half with Starr Monday morning and then again for two hours Monday afternoon. It was after the second meeting that team president Donnie Olejniczak called the news conference.

Starr was in the West Coast Sunday, when he worked as a color commentator on the telecast of the Rams-Tedskins game. He has said he is interested in the Green Bay job and he seemed to be a popular choice judging by the reaction of fans and others in the area.

His only coaching experience came as an assistant to Devline in 1971 and 1972. The 1972 team won the National Football Conference championship and finished first in the division.

He resigned after that season and has lived here under running his business interests here and in Montgomery, Ala., where he and a partner run an auto dealership.

Behagen sparks Kings

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Bob Behagen keyed a fourth quarter scoring spree Monday night, pacing the Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 97-67 victory over the division-leading Chicago Bulls.

Behagen, with two consecutive short jumpers, put the Kings on front 55-41 with six minutes left to play and Kansas City held the Bulls to six points for the rest of the game.

After Jimmy Walker put the Kings ahead 74-70 a minute into the final period, the teams exchanged the lead until a jumper by Sam Lacey tied the game and the Kings engineered their final surge.

Nate Archibald led all scorers with 24 points, contributing 22 for the Kings, Walker 20 and Behagen 16.

Chet Walker with 24 points led the Bulls' scoring, and Bob Love added 20.

The victory broke a five-game Bulls winning streak and pulled the Kings within a half game of the Bulls.

Jerome captures mat title

CALDWELL — The Jerome Tigers had three individual champions, two seconds and two thirds in winning the Caldwell Christmas wrestling tournament over the weekend.

Coach Jerry James matmen scored 124 1/2 points, followed by Ontario and Caldwell with 90, Capital 84, Nampa 81, Vallave 79, Borah 64, Kelly 60, Parma 57, Meridian 51, Boise 27, Twin Falls 25, Middleton 24, Mountain Home 22, Hootedie 19 and Payette 10.

"Tim Callen-Brad-Diehl-and Tom Cochrane took titles for the Tigers while Greg Gallen and Norm Cochrane were runners-up. Archambault and Campbell placed third. Murphy led Twin Falls with a third place showing.

The top three places in each weight include: 90, Burns, Nampa; Greg Callen, Jerome, and Ingalls, Caldwell; 105, Rasmussen, Borah; White, Nampa, and Campbell, Jerome; 112, Tim Callen, Jerome; 125, Bubler, Caldwell, and Takatori, Parma; 119, Brady, Kelly; Allen, Caldwell, and Archambault, Jerome; 135, Baker, Parma; Kane, Capital; Murphy, Twin Falls.

Finley charged by players

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Major League Players Association, through its general counsel Richard Moss, charged Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley Monday with committing perjury in the "Catfish" Hunter arbitration case.

According to Moss, who represented Hunter in Finley's counter-action case in California, the A's owner should be in a championship game. Finley stated repeatedly that he never understood he had any obligation to pay over to a designee of Mr. Moss also said that the complete facts of this matter will be brought to the attention of the district attorney of New York County where the arbitration hearing was held where it will then be the decision of the district attorney as to whether Finley be prosecuted.

Washington hires Kent State's James

SEATTLE (UPI)—After having its flirtations spurned by a couple of name coaches, the University of Washington turned to a relatively unknown Monday and hired Don James of Kent State University to run the Husky football program.

James, 41, who has made a reputation as a defensive specialist, replaces Jim Owens, who retired Nov. 26 after 18 years as Husky coach. "He is not an unknown entity at all among athletic directors and others who select coaches," said Washington athletic director Joe Kearney to a roomful of sports reporters, most of whom were surprised by the selection.

"He has been offered some other prominent situations in the past few years that he has chosen not to leave Kent State for," he added. Kearney said James was "the best available head football coach in the country at this time" and was selected from among 120 men considered for the job through application or interview. "The 'available' tag was an important one," Washington's top choice was Dan Devine who chose Notre Dame when he left the Green Bay Packers. Mike White of California also found the Washington offer one he could refuse.

Sports

Michigan top drawer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan, its attendance boosted by two successive crowds of 100,000—unprecedented in college football—was the nation's attendance leader this season with a six-game home average of 93,684. The Wolverines who drew 104,232 against Navy and then 104,882 for their next home game against Michigan State, were 210 fans a game, a by-product of the record they established in 1949. It marked the second time in three seasons Michigan led the nation in attendance after Ohio State had led for 14 years in a row. This season the Buckeyes were second, setting a school record by averaging 87,552. Nebraska, Wisconsin, Tennessee, LSU, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Alabama and Texas rounded out the top 10. Overall, the national attendance total dipped slightly less than two-tenths of one percent, the first drop in 21 years. Warriors ship Phoenix 111-94 OAKLAND (UPI) — Rick Barry erupted for 26 of his game-high 43 points in an explosive third quarter. Little, who worked under Owens and a quick start on recruiting, which has been in a limbo since Owens decided he no longer wanted to coach. James, who will have complete control over selection of his staff, completed a 25-18-1 record at Kent State, including the school's best-ever mark of 9-2 in 1973 and a 7-4 record this season. Before taking the Kent State job, James was head defensive coordinator at Colorado from 1968 to 1970, a stretch which included two trips to the Liberty Bowl—one a victory over Alabama. Prior to Colorado, James did the defensive coordinating at Michigan (1966-67) and Florida State (1962-63). Both schools were nationally ranked in defensive statistics under his coaching.

Kentucky rolls Kansas

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Kevin Grevey poured in 29 points, leading Kentucky to a 106-83 romp over the Kansas Jayhawks Monday night. Kansas, which also lost the rebounding battle 45 to 41 before 13,500 in Freedom Hall, was led in scoring by Clint Johnson with 13 points and Rick Suttle who added 11. The victory was Kentucky's fourth straight and the Wildcats sixth win in seven games this season, while the Jayhawks dropped to a disappointing 4-4.

Bullets nip Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Washington Bullets took advantage of a bad shooting night by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to hand the Milwaukee Bucks a 101-103 overtime defeat in a National Basketball Association game Monday night. Abdul-Jabbar was 10 for 28 from the floor, and two missed free throws by the Bucks center with 54 seconds left in the overtime were his most crucial mistakes. The score was tied 95-95 at the end of the regulation time and the Bucks took a 99-97 lead, but a tip by Wes Unseld and a drive by Kevin Porter gave Washington the lead, 101-99. Bob Dandridge and Elvin Hayes, who had 34 points for the Bullets, traded baskets and Unseld then fouled Abdul-Jabbar who went to the line with 54 seconds left and a chance to tie.

Vikings slate workouts

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings planned to spend Christmas Eve and Christmas morning with their families and travel to Oklahoma for two days of practice before the National Football Conference championship game Sunday with the Los Angeles Rams. Coach Bud Grant said Monday the weather should not be a major factor but he admitted conference officials in New York were concerned. "They wouldn't let us come back Saturday morning after practicing at Tulsa Thursday and Friday," Grant said, discussing the Vikings' preparation last week. "People in New York don't understand that the weather isn't that bad here." "We even tried to produce statistics to show that it was unlikely that we couldn't return from practice," he said. The Vikings were scheduled to come back to Minnesota Friday night. "The extended weather called for a few temperatures in the 20s and some light snow flurries. "It doesn't look like it is going to be 20 below (zero). No blizzard is forecast," Grant said. The Vikings planned workouts in Minnesota Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon, either in a fieldhouse or a stadium in the Twin Cities, then fly south late Wednesday evening. The Los Angeles Rams beat the Vikings 20-17 in 80 degree heat at Los Angeles Nov. 21. Grant said only rookie Matt Blair was affected because he "was just recuperating from the flu." "I think it is easier to come from the heat to the cold," Grant said. "Maybe so. The slippery field stopped the shifty movements of Cardinal running back Terry Metcalf in the Vikings' 30-14 romp at St. Louis Sunday for the first playoff victory. "The field is not going to be perfect," Grant said. "Workmen are keeping it covered so it won't freeze. We couldn't have a better field at this stage."

St. Louis was the scene of the first baseball playoff for the National League pennant in 1946.

Underdog Rams confident

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams' coach Chuck Knox has a quick answer ready for those who question whether his team can survive in the harsh climate of Minnesota. "The weather," Knox said, "will be no factor because it doesn't block tackle." Winners by a 19-10 score over the Washington Redskins Sunday, the Rams went through a light workout at Blair Field here Monday.

They came out of the Washington game without any serious injuries. "After the Monday practice, the Rams viewed films of their 19-10 decision over the Redskins and then were given Tuesday off. "The Rams have been installed as three-point underdogs for their Sunday game at Minnesota, despite their 20-17 win over the Vikings at Los Angeles Nov. 24. Los Angeles was beaten in a 1969 National Football League playoff game at Minnesota, 29-20. "So one's going to stop us from winning it all now," said defensive end Jack Youngblood of the Rams. Behind quarterback James Harris, the Rams have compiled an 8-2 record. Harris replaced John Hadl as Los Angeles' starting quarterback five games into the regular season. Rams' owner Carroll Rosenbloom may be released today from Mt. Sinai Hospital in Los Angeles, where he has been under treatment for a mild heart attack, according to a club spokesman. However, Rosenbloom, 66, is not expected to accompany his team to Bloomington, Minn. Rosenbloom was admitted to the hospital Dec. 14, suffering from influenza and gastric complaints. A mild coronary condition was discovered during subsequent tests.

Maybe U.P. is bringing you something for Christmas!

Have you ever played hide-and-seek with a Union Pacific train? It's a fascinating game, traveling through Idaho, watching the sleek snake of freight cars disappear into a hill and then suddenly emerge from a distant valley or roar out of a canyon down alongside the highway. It's a game that "hides" of all ages enjoy, a game where everyone wins a magical moment or two to brighten his life. But in addition there is something pleasantly reassuring and steadfast about it all. Trains are important. It's intriguing, too, just imagining what's in all those boxcars and on those flatcars. No matter what you guess, you'd probably be right, because Union Pacific brings a big portion of the things you use in your home, office, school, church, or plant. Machinery and merchandise. Foods and fabrics. Televisions and toys. Just about everything that helps make life wonderful comes to you, at least a part of the way, by train... the Union Pacific. That's why you can just about be sure that Union Pacific will be bringing you something for Christmas. Your Idaho neighbors who work for Union Pacific hope it helps make your Christmas happy!

Pittsburgh defense vital

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — How the Pittsburgh Steelers' defense handles Oakland Raiders' quarterback Ken Stabler could be a deciding factor next Sunday when the teams meet in Oakland for the American Football Conference championship. "We will try not to give Stabler much time to throw the ball," a Steelers spokesman said. "Fresh Blinniker can run his come-back patterns when the quarterback has a lot of time."

Stabler, whose passing against Miami Saturday propelled the Raiders to a 28-26 victory, has a rollout style similar to quarterback Joe Ferguson of the Buffalo Bills, whom the Steelers trounced easily Sunday, 32-14. The Steelers, who led the AFC in the number of quarterback sacks, did not get to Ferguson once. "We couldn't get to him, said Steelers' right defensive end Dwight White. "He didn't drop back, not one time. All we could do was contain him." Steelers' defensive tackle Joe Greene said Buffalo's O. J. Simpson "was the one who fouled up our rush." "You just can't be too aggressive with him in there," Greene said. "He's not just the runner you think he is. He's a phantom. He disappears on you." The Steelers' defense limited O. J. to 49 yards and 15 carries. White said Stabler, a left-handed thrower, "will be coming my way a lot, he will be my responsibility much of the time." However, White said, the Raiders "have to worry about our offense, too." The Pittsburgh offense, an unpredictable factor during the regular season, ran like a well-oiled machine Sunday and put 26 points on the board in the second quarter to give the team a 29-7 halftime lead. "They blew us out—blew us out of the tub," said Buffalo Coach Lou Saban.

Indiana closes on North Carolina

NEW YORK (UPI) — Indiana inched closer to top-ranked North Carolina State today in the latest college basketball ratings. In the United Press International Board of Coaches' but for perennial power Notre Dame and Marquette, it was all downhill. The Hoosiers of coach Bobby Knight collected 11 first-place votes from the 35 coaches participating in this week's polling, five more than last week, to close to within eight points of the No. 1 Wolfpack, 323-314. North Carolina State had 22 first-place votes. "We're looking at Notre Dame and Marquette, who usually enjoy top 10 status, defeats this past week meant an embarrassing drop to the "second division." Notre Dame, which just missed making the top 10 last week, plummeted from 11th to 14th with Marquette for 18th after its loss to UCLA. Marquette, which dropped a pair of games to Pittsburgh and Louisville, fell all the way from seventh. Otherwise there were few changes among the elite with Louisville and Southern California remaining fourth and fifth, respectively. Alabama, however, jumped ahead of Maryland into sixth, while North Carolina and Arizona State each moved up a notch to eighth and ninth, respectively, in the wake of Marquette's banishment from the top 10. South Carolina, which beat Princeton and LSU in its own "Classic" last week, moved back into the top 10 after falling from grace two weeks ago on a surprise loss to Oklahoma. Penn headed the second ten followed in order by Arizona and Purdue, Oregon and Kentucky. Unbeaten (5-0) Providence made its debut in the top 20 at No. 16 and Oklahoma was 17th.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Rid yourself of any possible tensions and make this a most memorable day. Show friends that you are a thoughtful person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Excellent time to be with close family ties. Also, visit close friends and express happiness. Have a very happy day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a practical mind and should have the education directed along such lines. Courses in ethics and religion should be added to the curriculum for best results. There is artistic talent and great ability to make money in this chart.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Remarkable how many sales have to be made for any given item before you and I can buy it. Take a woman's dress. It goes through at least seven transactions before retail. As for nylon, as many as 10 sales precede the final one. And you can count on 18 or more sales involved in the merchandizing of a man's suit. No young fellow who is thinking about salesmanship as a career should overlook this.

ITEM 418B in our Language man's file reads: "English is the language to swear in, French the language to converse in, Italian the language to sing in, Spanish the language to pray and to make love in, and German the language to drive hugs in."

JAPAN
Q. "Do the streets in Japan have names?"
A. The streets, no. The intersections, yes.

EVEN IF you've never lived in Boston, you can sort of get the flavor of the place by an engraving in marble over a door at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel there. It does not read: "No exit." It reads: "Not an accredited gress."

OUR LOVE AND WAR man has characterized a divorce lawyer as a nimble soul who gets two people to strip for a fight and then runs off with their clothes.

THE TEETH of most, if not all, violin virtuosos are said to develop a characteristically lopsided bite.

MORE THAN 140 citizens daily petition the courts to have their names changed.

BALDNESS
Recently quoted a renowned authority who claimed baldness is a sign of intelligence. But a client says that report was incomplete. In fact, it has long been believed that a man who gets bald across the front of his head is a thinker while a man who gets bald on the crown of his head is a lover. It follows, certainly, that a man who gets bald all over his head thinks he's a lover.

A LITTLE FLY is not necessarily younger than a big fly, please note. Once it outgrows itself as a maggot, it grows no more.

CREDIT Christopher Columbus, too, with the bringing of rice to this hemisphere. He did so, personally.

SINCE 1954, contends a client, the cost of living has gone up $1.68 a fifth.

CARNIVAL by Dick Turner

"But, Mom, you told me not to throw stuff on the floor... you didn't say anything about the window!"

A Christmas Prayer

Dear God our Heavenly Father
 Please make us humble before you. Remove our human pride that we may, through Jesus Christ, present our petitions unto you. We praise you for the birth of your only begotten Son, Jesus. As we celebrate his birth this season, cause us to examine our attitude and purpose in life. Because the Christ Child was born to give of himself, help us to be willing to give of ourselves.
 The world in which we live is complex, yet the needs of all mankind is the simple understanding of love and a desire to be wanted. May we who know the personal Jesus share that Love wherever and whenever we can. As we share the Love of God, may we also be willing to share of his abundance. We have been too long blind to the lonely, the hunger, the cold, the despairing heart that seeks the shelter and the filling that is provided by your dear Son. Help us God to see and to understand.
 May the peace of God be rich in the lives of men. It is our hope that the "peace which passes the understanding of man" will come to those who do believe. When individual peace is upon this nation and all mankind.
 In the name of Jesus Christ we pray. Amen
 Rev. Bonnie E. Wright
 Pastor, First Southern-Baptist Church

Synthetic gas plan financed

LOUISIANA TO SERVE UTILITY SYSTEMS IN SEVEN STATES, INCLUDING 20 UTILITY COMPANIES IN KENTUCKY.

Using a laser energy source to convert the hydrogen in water into methane is not a new development, said KMS Fusion Director K. M. Siegel, but his firm has discovered a "more efficient" way to do it.

"While we're hopeful something will develop from it, it simply is one more area we're exploring in order to try to bolster the energy supply," said Blewer.

Texas Gas officials say commercial use of the process is still 10 years away but that a pilot plant could be operating by 1979 or 1980.

Christopher S. Bond was 33 when he was elected governor of Missouri in 1972 and was the youngest chief executive in the United States.

OWENSBORO, Ky. (UPI) — The Texas Gas Transmission Co. here plans to heavily invest in an Amf Arbor, Mich., company's research to develop a process to turn ordinary water into synthetic pipeline gas.

"The result would be virtually 100 per cent identical to natural gas," said John R. Blewer, president of the pipeline company in western Kentucky.

The Michigan research company, KMS Fusion, Inc., is working on a more efficient means to convert the hydrogen in water into methane, utilizing a laser energy source.

Blewer says Texas Gas has immediate plans to invest $1.5 million in the process, with commitments to spend an additional $1.5 million next month.

Texas Gas currently purchases natural gas from

All in the wash

POCATELLO (UPI) — Pocatello police hope the solution to the puzzle of who stole 250-300 pounds of linens from a nursing home may come out in the wash.

Officers said the East Gate Nursing Home reported the theft Sunday morning of soiled linen and pajamas that were in two 12-bushel carts.

No estimate was made on the value of the lost laundry and officers said they did not have any suspects.

Fund use slated

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho has recently put forth by Congress a new program "as we know it" but the state wanted a consolidation to get away from overlaps in similar programs.

In Idaho, he said the seasonal unemployment was low during the fall because of the weather that kept people working in the fields and in the lumber industry.

But he noted that the unemployment rate had gone up sharply as the seasonal workers were laid off their jobs.

He said that he is not too familiar with the ground rules

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho has used funds for public employment programs in the past and expects to continue doing so under new legislation, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said today.

The governor told a news conference he thinks the public employment program is a good one, especially in a time when there is such high unemployment.

"I think it is a good idea to have some type of public employment program to move some of the unemployed into jobs," the governor said.

Andrus inaugural set for noon Jan. 6 in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Chairmen of the Governor's Inauguration Committee Monday said the swearing in for Cecil D. Andrus to his second term will be at noon Jan. 6 on the Idaho Statehouse steps.

A reception hosted by Boise City Mayor Dick Eardley will be held in the rotunda of the statehouse from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The inaugural ball will be held in the Boise State University Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The celebration is sponsored by the Boise Chamber of Commerce, chairman Robert Montgomery told newsmen today.

Invitations have been sent to 30,000 persons in Idaho to attend the inaugural ball.

Old-fashioned cake — with a new twist

Mix up an old-fashioned cake with a new twist. Stained Glass Christmas Cake is a delightfully modern adaptation of the traditional holiday fruitcake.

Since, at times, holiday cooking is more calorie than nutritious, Stained Glass Christmas Cake has a higher egg content than most fruitcakes for additional high-quality protein.

This same technique can be used in many other holiday favorites to make good food even better. For example: Add protein to sweet potatoes by serving them as a soufflé or top other vegetables with a Hollandaise sauce. Dips, salads, sauces and appetizers can all be protein-rich when hard-cooked eggs are included. Choose a sponge cake or pound cake, mousse or egg nog rather than cakes, puddings or beverages lacking in quality nutrients for a wholesome holiday menu. Use your imagination!

More than added nutrients are found in this ingenious fruitcake variation though. Originally fruits and spices were luxury items and a fruitcake was a delicacy. Fruitcakes were proudly served as the best fare people could offer. You'll serve Stained Glass Christmas Cake with pride, too, but less expensively and more conveniently. It has the traditional rich batter, made more nutritious with eggs, is well-spiced and nut-filled — all the elements of a true fruitcake — except the fruit! For convenience and economy, chopped candied or dried fruits have been replaced by gumdrops. They provide a delightful appearance and a delicious spicy fruit flavor your guests will enjoy — especially those not fond of citrus.

For nutrition, convenience and economy serve Stained Glass Christmas Cake. It's a delicious example of how eggs can make favorite foods even better.

STAINED GLASS CHRISTMAS CAKE

- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 6 eggs
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 1/2 cups (16 oz.) small sugar-sprinkled gumdrops
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup orange juice

2 tablespoons grated orange peel
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
Beat butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, beat well. Combine flour, cinnamon and nutmeg; reserve one-fourth cup to mix with gumdrops and nuts. Add remaining flour mixture alternately to creamed mixture with orange juice. Stir in floured gumdrops and nuts, orange and lemon peels.

Spread batter in greased and floured 13-cup bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan. Bake and preheated 300 degrees F oven, 1 hour 15 minutes for bundt pan, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Immediately remove from pan; cool on wire rack.

STAINED Glass Christmas Cake is an ingenious fruitcake variation. With eggs for protein and gumdrops for convenience and economy, it's the modern way to serve traditional favorites.

Cookies with old-fashioned goodness

The Christmas season is a time for traditions — trimming the tree, hanging stockings on the mantle, and if you're lucky, stealing a kiss under a sprig of mistletoe.

It's the time traditional for letters to Santa, last minute shopping, and delicious goodies from the kitchen.

Cookies are a natural "delicious goodie" around holiday time. And how much more natural can you get than cookies made with granola? The old-fashioned ingredients in granola like rolled oats, brown sugar, honey, and sesame seeds assure you of old-fashioned goodness.

Why don't you try the following recipe from the Betty Crocker Kitchens and see for yourself that cookies made with granola can be a part of the tasty and warm feeling that makes Christmas well, that makes Christmas, Christmas, and have a Happy Holiday!

HOLIDAY MINCEMEAT BARS

- 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 cup granola (any flavor), slightly crushed
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup prepared mincemeat (Glaze below)

Heat oven to 400 degrees.

Grease baking pan, 9 by 9 by 2 inches. Mix sugar and butter. Stir in granola, flour and salt; press in bottom of pan. Spread granola mixture with mincemeat.

Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until edges are golden brown. Cool. Drizzle with Glaze. Cut into bars, 1 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches. Three dozen bars.

Glaze: Mix 1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla and about 2 1/2 teaspoons water.

Early gift

PACOIMA, Calif. (UPI) — Police got an early Christmas present this weekend from an unknown well wisher.

A package left in front of the Los Angeles Police Department's Foothill Division early Saturday bore a sign that said "Merry Christmas."

Upon opening the box, officers found 20 marijuana plants, some nearly 20 inches long. Authorities said there were no clues as to who left the gift.

A Lovelier You TO SANTA BY ANY NAME

By Mary Sue Miller

Some scholars believe that the forerunner of Santa might be Thor, the ancient Norse god of thunder. He wore a bright red suit and blazed through the skies in a chariot drawn by two white goats. As time passed, the Scandinavians felt more comfortable with St. Nicholas, who rode a sleigh drawn by reindeer. He wore a red suit, too. A hand-me-down, perhaps!

Santa Clause by other names — Kris Kringle, Sinterklass, Jultoman, Father Christmas — rides all over the world dispensing gifts and cheer. Father Christmas was esteemed in England during the reign of Queen Bess. The Dutch settlers brought Santa to New Amsterdam, and he came with the Germans to Pennsylvania.

He was introduced to Italy by the GI's in 1943. There he helps Befana, the lady gift-giver who, unaided, used to leave presents for the children. It is said that she now welcomes her helper in a red suit.

Even in emerging countries, where it is often too hot for a heavy suit and snowy beard, Santa goes about his joyous tasks. Somehow he just catches on. And surely we would not have it otherwise. Concern for the well-being of the world's children is the foundation of good will toward all.

That all good things will come to you is the wish of Jini and Mary Sue.

Homosexuals ask understanding

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI) — Homosexuals, both men and women, called for better understanding by the world's churches Sunday at the conclusion of the first International Gay Rights Congress.

"There is no denying that the homosexual man and woman feel alienated from other Christians," according to a resolution adopted at the five-day meeting.

"We believe homosexuality is not intrinsically evil. We also know that we have the capacity for full and loving relationships."

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Teaching the religious meaning of Christmas to young children "bombarded with its commercial trappings is difficult; when the children are deaf and just learning to communicate, it is next to impossible.

Yet through cartoons, pantomime and the song "Happy Birthday," Francis ciscan Brother Rene Robert has managed to make the spirit of giving come alive for 36 youngsters in the Catholic religion class he teaches at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf.

Despite formal training in deaf education, Brother Rene, as he is called, admits his job at the school in suburban Edgewood is difficult.

"Remember you're trying to put across abstract ideas to a deaf child," he said. "It's hard for them to understand who God is. I say to them, we have a friend Jesus. He has a father, but you can't see him, Jesus' father is in heaven."

Brother Rene, who is aided by volunteers he trained himself, does not expect his pupils, all between 6 and 9, to grasp fully the idea of God.

"Jesus is really the idea we work on," he said. Christmas is taught to the children as the story of how their friend was born.

The pupils are introduced to the Nativity story through a film strip. Then the teachers run through the story again, using simple written and sign language and cartoons to portray the characters.

They speak as they demonstrate, because the children are encouraged to use the lipreading skills they began learning as pre-schoolers.

The children then get a chance to show what they have learned by putting on a pantomime presentation of the Christmas story using props like angel wings, a cardboard donkey, a baby doll Jesus and a flashlight representing the Star of Bethlehem.

Some of the players were able to speak, but Brother Rene said, "their actual facial expressions get across the idea. They can tell stories better in pantomime than many hearing people."

to the jack of clubs. South won in dummy; drew trumps and smiled when he found that they had broken 4-2. He didn't smile for long when he could only add two diamonds and three clubs to his four trumps for just one trump.

South would have made the hand if he had gone after a fifth trump trick. He should have played just one trump. Three diamonds would come next with dummy's ace of trumps ruffing the third one.

That would have been South's second good play and that extra trump trick would have allowed him to score game and rubber.

Abby

Abigail Von Buren

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago, our 19-year-old daughter I'll call her "Carol" became pregnant by a young man who walked out on her, but she wanted to keep the baby anyway.

My eldest son and his wife were childless. They desperately wanted a baby, and seemed unable to have one, so I talked Carol into letting her brother legally adopt her newborn son. (Few people know this.)

About a year later, Carol married a fine young man and they moved 300 miles from here. Twelve months later Carol gave birth to another son.

Since Carol's marriage she has been very cold towards me. I would write her long, newsy letters which she would answer with short, formal notes. She never telephones me. I always call her. And there is no sign of real affection—just politeness on her part.

When my husband and I drove down to Carol's baby's christening, she put us up at a nearby motel. I know she has a guest room.

Mother feels shut out

I am sure the reason for her coolness is because she now regrets giving up her firstborn, and she holds me responsible. I admit, the idea of my son adopting Carol's baby was mine, but I honestly thought it would be better for Carol, too.

What should I do, Abby? Stay in the background and wait until she comes to me? Or continue writing and calling and sending little gifts as I have?

SHUT OUT

DEAR SHUT: Continue as you have been. At least there is some communication between you and Carol. Don't take all the blame. Mother. Even though you say you "talked your daughter into giving up her firstborn," the ultimate decision was hers.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of golf widows, fishing widows and baseball widows, but you are below a dog widow? I've been married eight months and every Saturday and Sunday morning, my Harold grabs the morning papers and goes right for the lost and found section looking for lost pets.

He checks off those that offer big rewards, then he jumps into his pickup truck and goes out hunting for the lost pets. So far he has located four lost dogs and collected $300 in rewards. That's an average of $37.50 a month. We both work, and I would rather have Harold home for some good old-fashioned sleeping in on weekends than scouting for lost dogs.

Any suggestions? DOG-GONED

DEAR D.G.: Offer Harold $35.00 a month to stay home.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a military man and has been for 17 years. He recently got orders to go overseas. He can take his family—all expenses paid—but he refuses to take us.

We've been married for only three years. We were separated once for three weeks and that was terribly hard on me. This tour would be between 18 and 24 months. My husband says he can't afford to take us, but other Army men in the same circumstances manage. We have three kids. (We each had one when we got married and we had one together.)

Please, Abby, how can I make him take us with him? I love him so much I don't think I could live without him.

ARMY WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You can't force him to, but when a husband and wife come to an impasse, they should seek counseling together. If he refuses to go, go alone. The Army chaplain can advise you. Good luck, dear.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Is your Christmas tree fireproof? Are you sure you haven't overloaded your circuit with all those lights? Have a merry Christmas!

Love,
ABBY

Americans share spirit of Christmas

By United Press International
Stirrings of the Christmas spirit:

—In Melrose, Ill., fireman Jack Swank had an operation for lung cancer and all his vacation and sick leave ran out before Thanksgiving. Members of the Melrose fire department volunteered to work his shifts so his salary would continue until he returns to duty after Jan. 1.

—In Sebastopol, Calif., Charles Ingraham sells furs from a double-dollar foot but this year a family of six got a 12-footler for $5.

"I thought I had hit hard raising three," the 68-year-old Ingraham said. "When I saw those kids—like steps they were—I knew the man couldn't afford the tree they picked out. So I charged $5."

—Mr. and Mrs. Cleonice Hahn Sr. of Moline, a retired couple living on a limited income, told a woman shopper in a supermarket they didn't go near the meat counter any more because they couldn't afford it.

—As they were leaving, the woman gave them four large steaks and said, "It's not your fault, you can't buy meat. It's the country's fault. When they get home

Mrs. Hahn's gave two of the steaks to some hardpressed neighbors.

—In Belleville, Ill., doctors gave Heidi Biggs, 14, only two months to live because of cancer. People from all over the United States have sent her gifts and well-wishers have been calling from Denver, Philadelphia and Minneapolis.

—In Chicago, the hopes of Arthel Davey, 52, a news vendor, to have light and heat in his news stand this winter appeared dashed this year, when city officials told him his new electrical connection was technically illegal. But public pressure helped persuade officials to reverse their stand. The electric meter has been reconnected at no cost to Davey.

—In Des Moines, Iowa, Mike Shaffer financed his citizen band radio all night Sunday collecting $500 and 30 boxes of food, clothing, toys and Christmas presents for Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blacksmith and their five children, whose home and belongings were destroyed in a weekend fire. He and other radio operators even found a temporary home for the family.

"I expected nothing," said Blacksmith, a truck driver. "Yesterday I couldn't even talk. It's beautiful."

Special for late shoppers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Have some last minute Christmas shopping left? The city of Arlington has a deal for you. Take your pick from "two snapping turtles," nine sharks or Newka, the killer whale.

The whale, priced at $100,000 can jump through hoops and bound over poles 15 feet above the water level. You can even ride on it.

Newka, along with the sharks, the turtles and thousands of Japanese Koi fish, are being made available through Seven Seas Amusement Park, which folded this year after losing $3.3 million during its three years of operation.

Bombings bring mixture of unease, defiance

(c) New York Times Service
 LONDON — Londoners are reacting to the spate of bombs in this normally peaceful capital with a mixture of unease and defiance.

It is not a city gripped in fear. Indeed, given the spontaneous singing in many pubs over holiday drinks and the throngs of shoppers walking past damaged shops on Oxford Street, the bombings would appear on the surface to have made little impact.

But there is a growing sense of concern over the random nature of the bombs, which have gone off in pubs, stores, automobiles and mail boxes. And they have had an effect on the daily life of many.

"I try to look for suspicious cars," said a woman walking down St. John's Wood High Street this morning. "There is no way of telling, of course. But if something looks a bit odd, I try to remember the number plate."

At some stores, shoppers are now asked to open their bags for inspection. In many theaters, too, women are asked to show the contents of their pocketbooks. In a few pubs in the west end, even regular customers are frisked, a procedure not welcomed by all.

"I went into a pub I've been going to for years," said one young man. "They asked me to hold out my arms so they could search me. I'm not going to stand for that in a place where I'm supposed to be known. I went elsewhere."

Some producers of west end plays reported that attendance has dropped since the intensified campaign in England by the Irish Republican Army. One said that since the bombings in recent days his business had declined by more than 50 per cent.

In the suburbs of London, several women said they were wary of coming into the city and were limiting their shopping to local stores.

Mrs. Rita Foster, a 59-year-old doctor's receptionist, said she drove by Oxford Street the other night and "pretty near fraze with worry until we were well past it."

"In 1940, I was in Birmingham when Hitler was dropping all the bombs," she added. "We never changed into night clothes. It seems worse now, because in the war you had warnings, the sirens and the airplanes."

The recollections of British spirit during World War II tend to shape the reactions of many and contribute to the sense of defiance to stand up to the bombers. When a telephone building was bombed the other night, for example, one operator, Henry Paul, rushed out with his head-set to say: "If Hitler didn't stop us working, I'm damn sure these people can't either."

When Harrods, the famous department store, reopened Monday after the bombing there on Saturday, officials reported customers were flowing in to demonstrate a "vote of confidence." One store executive said: "The store is as busy as ever. Deus of England, bless her."

KKK activities bring job loss

NAPANOH, N.Y. (UPI) — A man claiming to be the head of the Ku Klux Klan in the state has been suspended from his post as an instructor at an upstate prison following a probe into alleged Klan activity at the facility.

Earl Schoonmaker, a teacher for high school equivalency diplomas, was suspended from his post at the Eastern New York Correctional Facility in this Ulster County community.

"They can't get me out of the prison for being a member of the Klan—that's perfectly legal," he said Sunday night. "So they have to look for something under the rug, and this is the best they could come up with."

A State Corrections Department spokesman said the suspension came after an inmate reportedly was asked to make Klan-inspired paintings. There were also several suspicious fires in the cells of black and Spanish-speaking prisoners, the spokesman said.

When asked whether he would know if there are Klan members at other penal institutions in the state, Schoonmaker replied, "Yes, I would know. I'm the grand dragon of New York State. I should know where the membership is."

He declined to say, however, if there are KKK members at other facilities, explaining, "That is something that will have to remain a secret."

The investigation has involved the department's Inspector General Service, the state police Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the FBI, the spokesman said.

"The investigation is continuing as to other employees possibly being involved," the corrections spokesman said.

A story appearing in The New York Sunday News claimed the Klan was conducting a reign of terror against the institution's black inmates, attempting to organize white inmates against the blacks, and threatening those who sought to rehabilitate the black inmates.

The department spokesman said Schoonmaker "brought some line drawings depicting hooded klansmen on horseback into the institution and arranged for an inmate to reproduce them as paintings." The spokesman said it was "against department regulations to contract with an inmate."

"Thereafter the paintings were picked up by him and used for his own purposes," he said.

The department will file three charges against Schoonmaker: using an inmate to further Klan activities, bringing Klan material into the institution, and personal transactions with an inmate.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday — December 26-27-28

"We don't care where it came from - who it came from - what it is - or what it cost - as long as it's our type of merchandise (ladies' and sub-teen apparel).

We will arrive at a fair price with you and give you a merchandise memo for it that you can use just like cash at The Paris - or Top-of-the-Stair.

The Paris is happy to extend a hand of friendship and helpfulness as a small token of our appreciation for the loyal support of the people in Magic Valley.

We realize you receive many gifts that are the wrong color, size and style for you. Sending them back to the sender - or perhaps taking them back to the store where they might have been purchased - is a big bother.

That's why The Paris offers this friendly exchange service. We hope it is helpful.

Have a very merry Christmas.

CIA counterintelligence head dedicated warrior

"For example, he's convinced that too many members of the press had ties to the Soviet Union. Anybody who writes anything friendly to the Soviet Union he considers suspect."

Another former official characterized counterintelligence as "an independent power in the C.I.A. Even people in the agency aren't allowed to deal directly with the C. I. Counterintelligence people. Once in a while, he said, you're in it for life."

Most of the domestic surveillance and the collection of domestic intelligence was conducted by one of the most clandestine units in the United States intelligence community, the Special Operations Branch of counterintelligence. It is those men who perform the foreign wiretaps and break-ins authorized by higher intelligence officials.

"That's really the deep snow section," one high-level intelligence expert said of the unit, whose liaison with Helms was conducted by Richard Ober, a long-time counterintelligence official who had served in New Delhi, for the C.I.A.

Despite intensive interviews, little could be learned about the procedures involved in the domestic spying, except for the fact that the operation was kept carefully shielded from other units inside the C.I.A.

One former high-level aide who worked closely with Helms in the executive offices of the agency recalled that Ober held frequent private meetings with Helms in the late sixties and early seventies.

"Ober had unique and very confidential access to Helms," the former C.I.A. man said. "I always assumed he was mucking about with Americans who were abroad and then would come back, people like the Black Panthers. The official said he had learned that Ober had quickly assembled a large staff of people who acquired enormous amounts of data, more than I thought was justified."

After the unveiling of the domestic operations by Schlesinger last year, sources said, Ober was abruptly transferred from the C.I.A. to a staff position with the National Security Council.

"They didn't fire him," one well-informed source said, "but they didn't want him around. The C.I.A. had to get rid of him — he was too embarrassing, too hot." The source added that Ober was vehemently defending his actions as being justified by national security.

A government intelligence official, subsequently asked about Ober, denied that his transfer to the National Security Council was in any way a rebuke.

Reached by telephone at his office this week, Ober refused to discuss the issue.

"There's nothing I can say about this," he said. Angleton, also reached by telephone this week at his suburban Washington home, denied that his counterintelligence department operated domestically.

"We know our jurisdiction," he said. Angleton told of a report from a United States agent in Moscow who was relaying information to the C.I.A. on the underground and radical beatings in the United States during the height of the antiwar activity.

"The intelligence was not acquired in the United States," Angleton declared, "it came from Moscow. Our source there is still active and still productive; the opposition still doesn't know."

Angleton then described how the C.I.A. had obtained information from Communist sources about the alleged demolition training of black militants by the North Koreans. He also told of recent intelligence efforts involving the K. G. G. and Yasir Arafat, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

A number of former important F.B.I. domestic intelligence sources took issue with Angleton's apparent suggestion that the domestic antiwar activity was linked to the Soviet Union.

"There was a lot of stuff on radicals in the United States) that came in from the C.I.A. overseas," one former official recalled, but a lot of it was worthless.

Other officials closely involved with United States intelligence expressed amazement and dismay that the head of counterintelligence would make such random suggestions during a telephone conversation with a newsmen.

"You know," said one member of Congress who is involved with the monitoring of C.I.A. activities, "that's even a better story than the domestic spying."

A number of former F.B.I. officials said in interviews that the C.I.A.'s decision to mount domestic break-ins, wiretaps and similarly illegal counterintelligence operations "undoubtedly reflected, in part, the long-standing mistrust between the two agencies."

In 1970, Hoover ordered his bureau to break off all but formal liaison contact with the C.I.A., forcing lower level C.I.A. and F.B.I. officials to make clandestine arrangements to exchange information.

By the late sixties, one former F.B.I. official said, all but token cooperation between the two agencies on counterintelligence and counterespionage had ended.

"The C.I.A. was never satisfied with the F.B.I. and I can't blame them," the former official said. "We did hit-or-miss jobs."

"We were constantly cutting the throats of the C.I.A. in our dealing with them. If the White House knew about it, they were too afraid of Hoover to do anything about it."

Demo aide charged

NEW-YORK (UPI) — Jack L. Chestnut, campaign aide to Democratic Sen. Hubert Humphrey during his 1970 Senatorial race, Monday was indicted for his role in an illegal campaign contribution from a milk producer.

A federal grand jury filed the one-count indictment alleging that Chestnut passed on a corporate contribution of $12,000 in March, 1970 from the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., of Kansas.

The indictment said that Chestnut caused the contribution to be accepted by an advertising firm, Lennan and Newell, Inc., which at that time was providing promotional services to Humphrey's Minnesota campaign.

If convicted, Chestnut faces a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Families join jurors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like many Americans—the Watergate-overs-up jurors—will take Christmas Eve off and feast with their families on Christmas Day.

Chief Marshal George McKinley told reporters Monday that each of the 14 women and three men who are jurors and alternates would be permitted to have four to five members of their family join them for about eight hours at their hotel in the Washington area for an all-day buffet.

The jury has been sequestered since Oct. 11, and the arrangement of having their family join them on Christmas was the same as at Thanksgiving. The jurors, who pretty much have finished their Christmas shopping, will be permitted to attend religious services on Christmas Eve if they wish.

McKinley said the jurors were moved from the Albert Pick Midtown Motel in downtown Washington during the past week to a hotel he would identify, merely as being in the metropolitan area.

He said they moved only because "a change of pace" might help their morale. The jurors, listened to 59 days worth of testimony and tapes, and will begin deliberating after receiving the judge's instructions late this week.

McKinley said the marshals have censored the cards and letters received by the jurors, but there have been no apparent attempts to get Watergate information to them through the mails. He said a handful of cards addressed to the Watergate jury from around the country will be given them after the trial.

The jurors told Judge John Sirica that they would prefer not working Christmas eve. So after the Monday recess, they were not due back into court until Thursday morning.

$75,000 Pre-Inventory

BIG DUMP

We close our years as of December 31st. Mr. Van Orden, our comptroller has requested that we move $75,000 worth of merchandise before we take inventory. Our inventory is much to high (we purchased too much stock from all our manufacturers so we could beat the price increases). That's a lot of merchandise to clear in 5 days, but Les Hazen, our sales manager and his crew of salesmen have accepted the challenge. Les Hazen has another objective. He leaves for the Furniture Market in Dallas in about 2 weeks—He must move at least $75,000 from our inventory so he can have some "open to Buy". He has set a sales quota for each of his seven salesmen with a bonus to the top volume man . . .

Agency issues gold advertising guides

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The Council of Better Business Bureaus has taken issued a series of advertising guidelines for a product category that is not yet for sale.

But then, it is a different kind of product — gold.

A council spokesman said he could not remember any similar action by the council, which usually waits until it has had some experience and a "good" number of consumer complaints before it acts.

But he did say that some of the advertising that has run in preparation for beginning of legal sales of gold when the 30-year ban ends Dec. 31 helped the C.B.B.B. in establishing the guidelines. So did conversations with the securities and exchange commission.

The guidelines are covered in an issue of the council's media bulletin that is being sent to 4,000 advertising directors at newspapers, magazines, and radio and TV stations.

"The media do cooperate with the guidelines," the spokesman said.

Having noted that private ownership of gold is a potentially fertile area for unscrupulous promoters, the council goes on to note the guidelines:

— Ads should not be allowed to give price predictions since a number of factors prevent any advertiser from factually asserting the actual market value of gold at any given time.

— When gold is compared to some other form of investment, the ad should give the net return on gold along with the net return from the compared investment.

— When referring to the purity of gold, ads should state the information in terms of carats, decimals, or percentages, and amounts should be given in tray ounces or grams.

— Concerning the use of the words "mint" or "exchange" in a company title, the guidelines says that mint is valid only if the company manufactures gold coins. As for exchange, if it appears in a company title then the ad should include a statement that the concern is not an association or a group providing collective marketing.

— Advertising should not claim that a company is either a "member," "listed," or "redigistered" with an exchange or agency unless that is the case.

— And, finally, company names (the council calls them "trade style") should not be accepted — if the "style" resembles the name of gold being advertised — to be a government agency.

Jews offer petition for release of 40

MOSCOW (UPI) — Unmolested by a small number of watching policemen, 45 Jews presented a petition Monday to the Supreme Soviet asking for the release of 40 "prisoners of Zion" from Soviet jails and labor camps.

The petition to the Soviet parliament, bearing about 300 signatures, marked the fourth anniversary of the sentencing in Leningrad of 11 persons, mostly Jews, accused of trying to hijack an airliner to the West.

The letter called for the freeing of 40 Jews allegedly sentenced for political reasons, and the ending of criminal proceedings against several others.

Although KGB security police said presentation of the petition would be considered a "provocation," they made no attempt to intervene.

Spokesman Alexander Lunt led his group to the parliament reception building and handed to a clerk a letter addressed to President Nikolai V. Podgorny, whose official title is president of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

The letter said, "In the summer of 1974, the Soviet ruling organs made a step along the road to justice by freeing Silvia Zalmanson, one of the Leningrad 11, and this action was accepted throughout the world as an act of goodwill. But this is only one step.

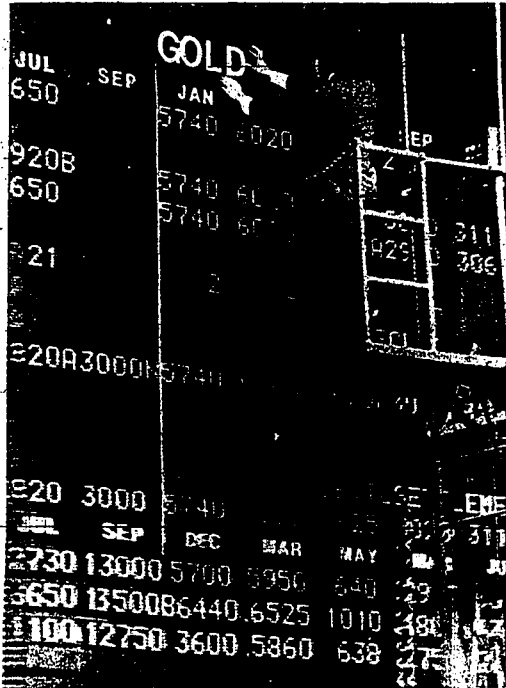

"We appeal to you to restore justice — to end the judicial proceedings now being prepared, which are essentially for the desire of people to go to Israel, and to free from prisons and camps the following people."

It then listed 40 names.

Mrs. Zalmanson was released last August and left the Soviet Union soon afterward. The Soviet authorities announced no further releases but at least one other Leningrad defendant is known to have been freed. Mrs. Zalmanson's husband and two brothers are among those still in jail.

In a statement to Western newsmen Sunday, Jewish activists said a number of Jews in several Soviet cities would go on hunger strikes Monday and Tuesday in sympathy with the prisoners.

Peking says China's harvest largest in nation's history

HONG KONG (UPI)—China reaped its biggest grain harvest in history this year, Peking Radio reported today. The report gave no production figures but said output shows a fairly big increase over 1973. The 1974 harvest, also a record, exceeded 250 million tons. Chinese agricultural officials told UPI that last year. Some Japanese economists said they were told a few months ago that the 1973 harvest was about 257 million tons.

Analysts specializing in Chinese economic affairs said the 1974 harvest probably would go over the 300 million ton mark. A few predicted a yield as high as 270 million tons.

Peking Radio said that "four serious" natural disasters, such as floods, drought, wind storms, hail, frost and insects, have yielded a harvest of cotton, oil, hemp, sugar and other industrial crops as "excellent" as the crucial fourth year of the nation's current five-year plan drive to achieve "fresh successes" in other agricultural sectors such as forestry, livestock production and fisheries.

"Good crops were reaped in nearly all parts of the country," the report said. "Particularly noteworthy are the speedy rises in grain production in traditionally disaster-ridden, low-yield areas with poor natural conditions."

It said the big harvest was achieved despite "four serious" natural disasters, such as floods, drought, wind storms, hail, frost and insects. China analysts said much of the credit for overcoming these problems must be attributed to off-season preparations, particularly in the field of water conservation projects.

"Peking Radio said tens of millions of peasants moved more than 6 billion cubic meters of earth and stone while working on irrigation and other land improvement projects.

More than 3.3 million hectares, 7.2 million acres of irrigated fields were added or improved, and 1.6 million hectares, 4.2 million acres of land were protected against waterlogging," the radio report said.

Another factor in the rise in grain production was an increase in state capital investment in agriculture, Peking Radio said. But it provided no investment figures.

World estimate for grain down

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. LONDON (CNN) — World wheat production, excluding China as expected to be around 324 million tons, according to the International Wheat Council (IWC). This is at the lower end of the IWC's last estimate which put the global wheat output somewhere between 329 million and 327.1 million tons just under a month ago.

Crops in the main southern hemisphere exporting countries have followed a similar pattern to those in the northern hemisphere, falling short of earlier estimates because of a succession of setbacks from bad weather.

The latest reports from Australia put the crop at 11.2 million tons, about 0.4 million tons less than in 1973. In the Argentine, the output may be as low as 5.5 million tons, including 0.5 million tons of durum, against last season's crop of 6.5 million tons. Production in South Africa, at an estimated 1.5 million tons, shows a 0.4 million tons cut from 1973-74, the IWC estimates.

Looking ahead to the 1975-76 crop, the IWC says that flooding in early November affected winter wheat sowings in the Ukraine, but other major grain areas in the USSR reported generally unsatisfactory conditions. Winter wheat sowings have now been completed but are believed to be a little short of the planned area of 34.8 million hectares (86 million acres).

Elsewhere in the eastern bloc, about 14 per cent of the projected winter wheat area remained unsown in Czechoslovakia by the beginning of November, while not more than 70 per cent of the winter wheat had been sown by mid-October in Poland. Farmers there have not been officially advised to stop sowing winter wheat, according to the IWC, and reserve land for spring grain. Sowings in Bulgaria and southern Romania were also delayed because of over-dry weather.

Beef bright spot in consumer view

(C) Chicago Daily News Service
CHICAGO (UPI) — According to a survey, beef is expected to be available at bargain retail prices through most of 1975. That bright spot in an otherwise gloomy food picture has emerged from information provided by meat industry spokesmen and federal agricultural officials.

The silver lining has a dark cloud, however. It's likely to be another difficult year for cattle producers and feeders, although perhaps not as bad as 1973.

And that could mean bad news for consumers down the road.

"There's going to be an awful lot of beef through at least the first three quarters of 1975," said David Stroud, president of the Chicago-based National Livestock and Meat Board.

"This will be good for the consumer, but it is bleak for the cattle industry," Stroud said, especially because there are many cattlemen with ample stocks but "not strong economic demand for their product."

Stroud said this could create a psychological backlash, which would force producers to start cleaning out their herds and result in lower meat supplies.

Meat prices have shown steady decreases for the last four months. Average retail beef prices are down about 2 cents a pound from highs reached early in the year.

"There will be 13 million cattle in the nation in January, that is up from 127.5 million in January, 1974, despite the large number of animals slaughtered," said George Hotman, an economist for the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Hotman said more hamburger and more steaks and roasts will be available in the lower grades. There will be fewer choice cuts, however, because more cattle will be grass fed.

Hotman said pork, turkey and broiler production will be down next year, partially offsetting increased beef supplies.

Feeding cattle numbers decline

BOISE — The number of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter was down 30 per cent on Dec. 1 from the same date a year earlier.

The Idaho and Crop Reporting Service said seven western and midwestern states preparing monthly figures listed 6.82 million head on feed on that date. That number is down 30 per cent from 9.47 million on the same date a year ago.

During November, 1.16 million head were placed on feed, down 29 per cent from the 1.65 million head placed on feed in November, 1973.

Fed cattle marketed in the seven states during November totaled 132 million, down 18 per cent from 1.64 million during November, 1973.

During November, in seven selected markets, 173,614 head of cattle were marketed including 106,585 steers and 67,029 heifers. Average liveweight of steers was 1,117 pounds, down 32 pounds from last year. Average liveweight of heifers was 928 pounds, 35 pounds under a year ago.

Average price of $36.69 per live hundredweight for steers was off $2.30 from November, 1973, and down $1.85 from October. Heifers averaged $35.63, down $2.34 from November, 1973, and off $1.84 from October.

Direct sales eyed

DALLAS (UPI) — Independent Beef Producers Meat Market, Inc., will open three of four area meat markets early next year where beef will be sold directly from producers to consumers.

R. L. Moore, president of the non-profit Independent Beef Producers of America, said the market companies, which comprise the market companies, have a contract with a Paris, Tex., packing firm to kill up to 250 head of cattle a day. He said the total would equal about 30,000 pounds of carcass beef.

Moore said the Dallas-Fort Worth markets would be a test area.

"One of the ways to keep our prices down is to have the packing plant cut it, wrap it and freeze it, then deliver it frozen to the markets," Moore said.

He said, the corporation might use see-through wrapping if it decides on frozen instead of fresh beef.

"Because it is done on an assembly line, we feel this method would amount to a large savings," Moore said.

Moore said the method will give the cattlemen more money for their beef and save consumers money. He said the corporation will buy its beef from the independent beef producers, which he claimed has 25,000 members.

Independent Beef Producers was formed to prompt federal officials to limit beef imports, to investigate retail beef prices and to seek establishment of federal programs to use more beef.

Mixed quotation in bean markets

STOCKTON, Calif. — Light red kidneys have registered sharp advances in the California dealer-shipper bean markets, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture report.

Large limas adjusted downward toward the close of the period while other bean prices reflected only minor changes.

In the California grower markets, bids to growers for large limas during the period ending Dec. 17 were sharply lower. Many growers are holding beans for later sale, the report said.

Baby limas showed little change in the dealer-shipper markets during the period. Growers are resisting current bids, according to the report, and this was considered a major factor in the marketing pattern.

Difference of opinion among dealers as to definite market values helped create a wide range of quotations for blackeyes with most prices at $13.50 to $13.75.

Recent export trades were considered to be the major factor contributing to the strength of the light red kidney market. Most quotations for the beans were near $27.50 to $28.

Prices released by the Department of Agriculture in dealer-shipper markets were:

California: baby limas, $14.75-$15 for the period ending Tuesday, $14.50-$15 the previous week and $27-$28 for the same period, the year before; large limas, $22-$22.25 current period, $24.75-$25 previous week and $19-$19.50 previous year; blackeyes, $13-$14.25, previous week and $27.50-$28.50 previous year; pinks, $11-$12 this week, $12 previous week and $17-$18 previous year; pintos, $14-$15 current period, $12 previous week and $21-$22 previous year; plinks, $29 current period, $27-$28 previous week and $13-$14 previous year.
