Latins flay US trade act

DAKAR (UPI) — Four Latin American nations at the third world conference on Raw Materials charged today that the United States Trade Act discriminates against developing countries.
Peru, Ecuador, Venezuela and Panama in a draft resolution also denounced "all juvenile threats to use force against oil producing countries."

Belt tightens

DETROIT (UPI) — William V. Laneberg, president of American Motors, said Wednesday the company is running $5.6 million in the red and will skip its semiannual dividend of 10 cents a share.
Company officials see little hope of an upturn soon and other money conserving steps have been taken. However, with start of production of the firm's newest small model, most long-term layoffs have been avoided.

Scoop set to declare candidacy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry Jackson, a front-runner for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, makes his formal announcement tonight.
The Washington senator, who has been organizing his campaign for more than a year, purchased five minutes of television time from CBS to gain a national audience for his declaration.
Jackson will join three other declared Democratic candidates: Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma. Sources expect Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., another unpledged candidate, to announce on Feb. 17.

Mr. T-N says... The average Idahoan wishes he could raise his debt ceiling as easily as Congress hikes the nation's.

National debt ceiling up $36 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to increase the national debt ceiling by $36 billion through June 30 so the government can pay its bills this fiscal year.
The increase from $495 billion to $531 billion was approved 248 to 170 and sent to the Senate over protests from some conservative Republicans.

ERA assailed
TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Debra Bares Mikes, Miss America in 1968 and now a homemaker in Eudora, Kan., told the Kansas Legislature Wednesday she favors rescinding the Equal Rights Amendment ratification in that state.
She said she opposes the ERA because it would allow homosexuals to marry, adopt children and promote homosexuality in the schools. A resolution rescinding ERA ratification is before the Legislature.

Public service job bill due Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Citing the possibility of "depression-like" unemployment this year, two key members of the Senate Labor Committee today said they would introduce legislation authorizing $7.8 billion to create 1 million public service jobs.
Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., the committee chairman, and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., ranking Republican, promised speedy action on the measure, which will be introduced Friday.

Airline aide raps energy proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airline industry told Congress today President Ford's energy proposals would add $1 billion to its annual fuel costs, resulting in ticket fare increases and reductions in flights.
Paul R. Ignatius, president of the Air Transport Association, said Ford's $3 a barrel fee on imported crude oil also could result in layoffs of up to 30,000 employees of domestic airlines.

Ford plots dispute strategy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford summoned his top economic advisers to the White House for strategy talks today as his disputes with the heavily Democratic 91st Congress mounted.
Among the disputes were food stamps for the poor, military aid for Turkey and the first step in Ford's energy-economy program — a tariff on imported oil.
Among those conferring with Ford were Treasury Secretary William Simon, economic counselor William Schmidt, chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board and Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb.

Here is how the controversies stood:
—In the past two days, Congress has voted to block for the rest of this year Ford's order raising the amount the poor must pay to obtain food stamps. The order was part of Ford's effort to cut federal spending. The votes were 374-38 in the House and 76-4 in the Senate, more than enough to override a presidential veto. An aide said Ford is not likely to fight the action.
—The House voted 309-114 Wednesday to block for 90 days Ford's $4 a barrel oil import tariff, the first step in his program to make the country less dependent on foreign oil. Ford aides are trying to marshal votes to preserve the import fee, first in the Senate and then if necessary in a veto fight.
—Ford Wednesday appealed to Congress to reconsider its action, which blocked further military aid to Turkey from midnight Wednesday night until substantial progress is made in Cyprus peace negotiations. But Congress was unlikely to change its mind, and Ford said the administration "will comply fully with the law."
—No less than two dozen House Republicans made speeches Wednesday, criticizing Ford's proposed $52 billion budget deficit for the next fiscal year. Sen. Harry Goldwater, R-Ariz., called Ford's budget "complete disaster."

Ford planned to spend the rest of this week in Washington — with perhaps a weekend at Camp David, Md. — before embarking again on his travels to seek support for his energy and economic proposals.
He will fly to Houston Monday for meetings with southwestern governors, other regional leaders and Texas oil executives. After an overnight stay in Houston, the President will fly to Topeka, Kan., for talks with midwestern governors and a news conference. He has already met with northeastern governors, who strongly opposed his energy program, and with southern governors in Atlanta who supported him.

How Idahoans voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three members of Idaho's Congressional delegation voted against President Ford's economic proposals Wednesday.
Rep. George Hansen and Rep. Steve Symms, both Republicans, voted for a bill delaying imposition of the oil import for 90 days. It passed 309-114, with 267 Democrats and 42 Republicans favoring it. There were 16 Democrats and 98 Republicans opposed.
In the Senate, Democrat Frank Church voted to block a raise in food stamp prices. Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, was absent and not voting. The bill passed, 76-8. There were 48 Democrats and 28 Republicans voting for the measure, with 2 Democrats and 6 Republicans opposed. Fifteen senators were listed as absent and not voting.

January jobless claims increase

By United Press International
Americans worried about losing their jobs paid off their debts at a record rate in December, and the government today said 2.5 million persons filed for unemployment benefits for the first time in the first three weeks of January.
The number of initial claims during the week ending Jan. 25 reached 731,600, bringing the total for the first three weeks of the month to 2.5 million. The peak came in the first week of January when 570,200 persons sought unemployment benefits for the first time.
During the week ending Jan. 18, about 4,773,000 persons received unemployment insurance payments, up 163,400 from the previous week.
About 65 per cent of the 6.6 million unemployed persons — or 7.2 per cent of the work force of 91 million — are eligible for jobless benefits. The unemployment rate for January, to be announced Friday, is expected to be near 9 per cent.
The Federal Reserve Board said Wednesday consumer borrowing fell by a record $877 million in December as a signal that Americans are growing anxious about the possibility of losing their jobs.
"It's a typical recession response," said Richard Clay, an economist specializing in debt at Morgan Guaranty in New York.

"People are very concerned about the state of their personal finances and want to get monthly payments down in anticipation of a higher rate of unemployment and lower personal income."
The December decline in outstanding installment and non-installment credit followed a $402 million drop in November.
Overall the installment credit, which includes loans for automobiles, other consumer goods and home repairs, fell $814 million in December. Noninstallment credit, including single payment loans, charge accounts and service credit, was off $31 million for the month.

Violence persists

TANKS ROLL through streets of Lima, Peru, Wednesday as rioting broke out after the army attempted to suppress a strike by the city's police. Troops fired on young looters in downtown Lima. Police and troops also today opened fire to disperse crowds. At least 30 persons were believed dead. (Story, p. 6.) (UPI)

Slide kills Bellevue skier

BY BART QUESNELL
Times-News Writer
SUN VALLEY — A Bellevue man was killed in an avalanche Wednesday west of the main Bald Mountain ski area.
The victim saw the snow begin to move before him and managed to scream a warning to his three companions in time for them to escape.
The name of the victim was withheld pending notification of relatives.
The three survivors are Paul Troka, Ketchum; Hugh Youda, Triumph; and Bryan Hirsch, Seattle.
The 24-year-old victim reportedly had moved to Bellevue recently from Seattle.
The accident occurred in the Bassett Gulch area about one mile west of the Baldy ski area, according to Wally Huffman, vice president of recreation for Sun Valley.
The accident occurred at about 3:15 p.m., but it took a group of about 70 searchers until 6 p.m. to locate the body.
Huffman said all ski area boundaries are marked by signs. He said the victim was skiing outside the boundaries.
Blaine County Sheriff Orval Drexler said one of the skiers and the victim saw mountain begin to collapse in front of him. Drexler said the skier screamed to the others to get out of the way of the avalanche.

The two other imperiled skiers were able to ski out of the way of the avalanche, he said.
Sun Valley's Huffman said the resort "is not pressing its back country skiing program yet because the recent snowfall will stay unstable for a while."
The area had received more than three feet of new snow during the past week.

Booth today confirmed the mayor has requested his resignation, but said he will refuse to quit. He said he had requested the public meeting to air the problem.
Shaddock refused to comment further, but said the Monday meeting will be open to the public.

Ban sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warning of the "chilling effect" of government surveillance activities, a House subcommittee was urged today to approve legislation banning any form of government bugging or spying on private citizens.

Gem gas users shut off

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — In an unexpected unprecedented move, Intermountain Gas Co. has cut service to 24 per cent of its firm industrial customers in Idaho, president H.D. Grimm disclosed today.
The cutoff is expected to last for 10 days.
The cutoff, which occurred Monday, is the first time Intermountain Gas has stopped service to customers, Grimm said. Previous cutoffs, which lasted only one or two days, were the result of mechanical failures or other unavoidable causes, he said.
The current service stoppage is the result of a slowdown in gas supplies from Canada, according to Grimm.
The Canadian problem previously had caused Intermountain Gas to cut service to all of its interruptible customers. But, until Monday, full service had been offered to all its firm gas users, those guaranteed a fuel supply unless an emergency exists.

Gas prices inch up

TWIN FALLS — Gasoline prices increased only slightly in January compared to December at Twin Falls stations.
Prices on self-service pumps rose the most — a 2.1 per cent increase for regular, making the average price for a gallon of premium 57.6 cents and regular 52.2 cents.
The eight service stations surveyed by the Times-News this month held steady on prices for full service gas. Premium was 59 cents and regular stayed at an average of 56.1 cents.
Prices are still above last January, when full service regular was 49.9 cents a gallon and premium was 52.9 cents. Today's prices are 12 to 13 per cent higher than a year ago.

The Monday cutoff represents 7 per cent of the total volume of Intermountain Gas' firm fuel commitments.
Thirteen of 53 industrial customers guaranteed a supply have lost gas service, including Kraft Foods in Rupert and Burley Processing in Burley.
Kraft has switched to fuel oil for power, according to Grimm. Grimm estimated that service would be resumed to the firm customers in about 10 days. He could not, however, guarantee that the deadline would be met.
Grimm also announced that Intermountain Gas will request the Idaho Public Utilities Commission to grant rate increases averaging about 25 per cent for all customers by the end of this year.
He said the boost is necessary because of increased costs for Canadian gas and Intermountain's need for more operating funds.
Canadian gas prices probably will be hiked about 20 per cent this year, Grimm said. On top of that, Intermountain will ask an increase of about 12 per cent for itself to boost its operating funds.
On the fuel shortage, Grimm said Intermountain has a 20-year reserve of natural gas but currently doesn't have the capability to use that reserve.
He said the reserves were partially in Canada.
He said the shortages were a "temporary situation." He said the firm is "readjusting" methods for taking from the reserve.
He said Intermountain Gas spends two tenths of one per cent of its total budget on promotional advertising.
"We have the gas available and will have it in the future for 20 years," he said. The long-term gas supply is "inexhaustible" because the industry can turn to new supplies such as coal gasification.

Boy rescued
FIREMAN Richard Johnson carries Phillip Henry, 4, from a burning home in Aurora, Ill., where he was found tied to a bed. Another boy, a year old, died, but a 5-year-old escaped. Fireman said the blaze occurred Wednesday when Mrs. Barbara Johnson, mother of the children, went to mail a letter. (UPI)

Sinai tops Henry's agenda

By United Press International
Israeli government sources said today Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger planned to arrive in Israel a day earlier than originally planned to press for a detailed Israeli proposal on Sinai to take with him to Cairo on Wednesday.

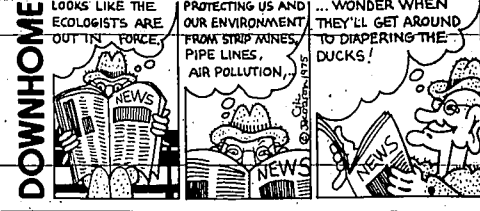

For Kissinger's arrival.
They said Israeli leaders would probably withhold making decisions on detailed disengagement proposals on the Sinai until after Kissinger met Sadat in Cairo and returned to Israel with Egypt's views.

In Beirut, the newspaper an Nahar said Moscow told Cairo it will approve a secondary disengagement between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the Sinai. (Quoting "Eastern diplomatic sources", the newspaper said Gromyko told Sadat in Cairo this week that Russia did not want to see the Middle East situation frozen.)

The newspaper An Nahar of Beirut quoted "Eastern diplomatic sources" as saying: "This agreement will be highly successful for the mission of Henry A. Kissinger during his forthcoming visit to the area."
The Israeli sources said Kissinger will arrive Monday, instead of Tuesday as originally scheduled. But they said it was possible the cabinet would approve specific proposals in time

Meanwhile, Israeli residents in the Golan Heights said they had noticed increased Syrian activity across the cease-fire line, including a buildup in the number of Syrian policemen, especially in the area of Qunayra. Qunayra, the regional capital, was returned to Syria under last year's military disengagement agreement between Jerusalem and Damascus.
Residents also said they had noticed Syrian war crews improving roads in the northern and central sectors of the heights on their side of the cease-fire line.

The newspaper said Gromyko received assurances from Sadat that "Egypt will never give up Syria or the Palestinian people, and its legal and representative, the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO)."
It said Sadat told Gromyko "Egypt will not sign an individual or a partial settlement with Israel and the Israeli withdrawal from Sinai will not lead to a partial 'peaceful solution' between Egypt and Israel."

Relief reaches Asmara

ADDIS-ABABA (UPI) — Government reinforcements fought their way through rebel ambushes high in the mountains south of Asmara today to reach the embattled provincial capital.
Military sources said a separate column of tanks and armored personnel carriers also arrived in the city, which rounded by guerrillas fighting to split the province of Eritrea from the rest of Ethiopia.
The sources gave no indication of government casualties in the mountain fighting. The high passes are ideal for ambushes and hit-and-run tactics.
The second convoy met no opposition but was held up for two days when guerrillas blew up a bridge leading to the city.
With both sides apparently reading themselves out a showdown battle, the U.S. embassy has decided to evacuate most of the 170 "Americans left in the city, diplomatic sources sawas heard today said the city still.

Army engineers restored some electricity and water by connecting the generators at the former American communications base at Kagnev to the city's water and power systems.
The rebels knocked out the city generating station when the rebels closed in on the city a week ago.
In addition to water and electricity systems, there was only enough food for a few days. The closed food stores have been looted by the army.
There was a fresh danger of disease breaking out in the city. Some refugees spoke of rats running around in the poorer quarters.

Diplomatic sources said most of the remaining Americans will be flown out on a private jet to Rome on a flight scheduled to depart Feb. 6th and to bring 200 persons to Addis Ababa.

British squabble explodes

LONDON (UPI) — The battle for leadership of Britain's troubled Conservative party exploded into a confused free-for-all today with five contestants in the running to succeed Edward Heath.

Nominations for next Tuesday's second round of balloting among 276 Conservative party members of parliament closed today after four men and a woman announced their candidacy for the job.

London's bookies made party chairman William Whitelaw the favorite at 45 to 1, either in the second ballot or in a third "sudden death" vote two days later.

At low cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Military surgeons are performing 800 last enlargement and face lift operations a year at nominal costs to benefit military wives, says Rep. Les Aspin D-Wis.
Aspin said ordinary citizens could expect to pay $1,000 to $3,000 for such operations, but military dependents pay only $3 to $4 a day for meals in military hospitals.

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Jerry Callen, Jerome, was elected chairman of the fine arts advisory board of the College of Southern Idaho at a meeting Tuesday.

US airmen aid Viet air force

SAIGON (UPI) — US airmen are helping the South Vietnamese Air Force reorganize a supply system for critical spare parts that has deteriorated in the two years since American G-1s left.
US government ground rules forbid military visitors from being in Vietnam more than four days, but there is a way around the rules.
Each fourth day a jet C-141 transport jet flies the men, along with their gear, fatigue, jungle boots and baseball caps to the Philippines, then brings them back in the morning.
"I guess we're not supposed to be here," shrugged a sergeant at Saigon's Tan Son

Cambodian Red rocket kills 8

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners today fired a rocket that exploded inside a kindergarten, killing eight children and wounding 11 others, military officers said. A second shell exploded near the central market and killed five civilians.
The deadly Chinese-made rocket made a direct hit on the school during morning classes, the officers said. The school was next door to the government information ministry.
The second rocket exploded among heavy traffic on the market. At least 20 persons were wounded.
Gen. Chhin Chhon, commander of the capital, said in a communique meanwhile that Communist rebels had infiltrated the city and surprise attacks could take place at any time.
Diplomatic sources said foreign workers at the United Nations office and in the Japanese and French embassies have been ordered to leave the city because of the worsening military situation.
Communist rebels and government troops clashed early this morning in the western sector of the capital, and officers reported two government troops were killed and 15 wounded.
Communist casualties in the fight were unknown.
Military sources said Communist mines sunk three tugboats sailing up the Mekong River with ammunition and supplies for the Cambodian capital, forcing a relief convoy to turn back to South Vietnam.

Appointed

BOISE (UPI) — Bevane Healy, Ketchikan, has been appointed operations manager for the Oxybec Division of Intermountain Gas Co., R.D. Griffin, company president, said today. The district includes Nampa and the area west to the Oregon border.
Healy has worked with Intermountain since 1959. He has been supervisor of the Sun Valley District most recently.

Ketchum passes liquor ordinance

KETCHUM — An ordinance prohibiting the consumption of hard liquor in any public place which does not have a liquor license was passed at Monday night's City Council meeting.

The ordinance updates and defines the old ordinance, according to Glenn Brunen, city councilman, and includes beer and wine in the definition of hard liquor.

The local ordinance had to be changed, to bring it in line with the state definition which does include beer and wine in the definition of hard liquor, also specifies that arrests will only be made in public places which do not have liquor licenses, thus exempting licensed bars and restaurants.

An item on the agenda concerning remodeling of a building owned by James Koutnik which allegedly encroaches on the alley between the Country Cousin Store and the Bank of Idaho, was tabled. Jim Phillips, city attorney, was snarled in at the Robinson Bar Ranch and couldn't attend the meeting.

Phil Pancher, councilman, said other buildings in the city are also in violation of property rights, and that a police-remodeling should be

Hospital in 'black'

SALMON — Stele Memorial Hospital experienced increased costs and fewer bed patients while providing increased services during 1974, Jim Tronson, hospital administrator reports.

"By keeping charges in line with costs and bringing in income from ancillary areas, the hospital hopes to continue to operate in the black and do so with less county money," he added.

In 1974, the occupancy decreased but the out-patient business increased.

TF self-exam clinic planned

TWIN FALLS — A free clinic in which interested women will be shown techniques of breast self-examination is planned Feb. 21 in Twin Falls.

The clinic, designed to help detect and prevent early cancer, is sponsored by Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, the hospital auxiliary, the Twin Falls County and of the American Cancer Society and the Mountain States Regional Medical Program.

Although breast cancer strikes women of all ages it is most frequently found in women over 45 years of age and those who have a personal family history of breast cancer.

Beginning Friday, volunteers from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will man a "hot line" telephone to take appointments for the clinic. It will be necessary to make appointments as personal attention will be given each woman attending. About 200 appointments will be scheduled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Callers are asked to call 733-2422 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. from tomorrow through Feb. 11 except on Sunday.

A reserve list for replacing those who cancel will be compiled after appointments are filled.

Included in the clinic program will be an instructional film and an examination by a specially trained nurse who will teach each woman individually how to examine her own breasts for early detection of lumps.

Physicians present will double check any suspicious findings. In the event of possible dangerous lumps detected during the clinic, the women will be referred to their own physicians for follow-up exams.

While discovery of a lump does not mean cancer, many cancer cases begin this way and early detection of a lump can be a life-saving step and should be followed by a consultation with a physician at once.

Dr. Alfred M. Popma, consultant for Mountain States Regional Medical Program, said: "Figures of the American Cancer Society show about 74,000 women in this country have breast cancer; if detected early about 85 per cent of the cases can be cured. Doctors recommend every woman examine her breasts at least once a month.

Professional assistance at the clinic will be provided by volunteer doctors and nurses. A separate workshop will be held for these volunteers Thursday night prior to the clinic.

Nurses and doctors interested in assisting with the clinic are asked to contact Tom Parsons, hospital service education coordinator, diutanor.

Volunteers from the Cancer Society are available to answer questions of persons wishing more information about breast cancer screening programs. Information is available from Nedra Blankenship, 734-3599; Rose McKinney, 734-0316; Ronnie Fraebel, 733-2342; and Alma Schoeler, 543-5154.

United States of Arabia?

Even though expected, it is nonetheless shocking to find that oil producing nations have invested $11 billion of their oil earnings in the U.S.

According to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, the OPEC countries last year charged about $90 billion for their oil, about four times what they earned the year before.

About $60 billion of that was a net surplus which was invested or put into banks throughout the world.

As high as the $11 billion figure for the OPEC investments in the U.S. appears, it nonetheless is surprisingly small in terms of the world total.

But looking to the future, the OPEC investment in the U.S. should grow significantly in the coming years.

The oil producing countries' investments are a two-edged scimitar. On the one hand, the inflow of OPEC money for investments in the U.S. helps our balance of payments and forestalls further dollar devaluations.

But it also means the Arabs and their oil-producing colleagues will gradually buy big chunks of the United States. $11 billion will buy control of a lot of big corporations at today's deflated stock prices.

If the money is held in banks and can be withdrawn on short-term notice, it greatly increases the instability of the banking system. The prospect of sudden withdrawal of billions of dollars is worrisome.

The only thing to be done is to move decisively to reduce imports of OPEC oil.

The alternative is a well-fueled America owned by Arabs.

Henry's oil plan

Christian Science Monitor
Secretary Kissinger's new energy plan raises some difficult questions.

Insofar as it reflects Washington's determination to tackle the long range problem of providing enough energy for the West, its goal must be applauded. It also serves negotiating purposes. But whether the methods proposed are realistic is serious doubt.

Our principal concern is that, by trying to get the industrialized nations to agree to a minimum price on oil, the United States is again taking a stance that smacks of confrontation with the oil producers.

An avowed aim of the proposal is to induce the OPEC nations to agree to some long-term lower cost arrangement with the oil consumers.

Europe's general view of the consumers and producers must sit down in a spirit of cooperation and mutual interest, seems to us more sensible.

The OPEC nations must be brought into the economic world of the industrialized West and this can be done more effectively by reducing rather than increasing polarization of the two camps.

In practical terms, it is doubtful that Europe and Japan, which rely much more heavily on imported oil than does the U.S., will see it in the national interest to go along with a proposed lower price in exchange for American aid in research and development.

The Europeans already are taking a variety of steps to cope with the energy crisis. The British and Norwegians are developing the North Sea deposits. The French are going in heavily for nuclear plants, and so on. Some oil experts suggest that the only energy alternatives that would be an oil-price protection system, such as shale and coal-gasification plants, are unworkable in the U.S.

Domestically, the Kissinger scheme sounds logical, for oil companies presumably would welcome a guaranteed minimum price for oil while they search for other forms of energy. But would such a plan be politically durable?

While a price-protection plan might work for a while, regional interests might later start calling for exemptions and the structure would begin to collapse.

Similar schemes in the past - in the case of copper, for instance - have not worked.

In short, there is no question that it is necessary to set up some larger global plan for dealing with the energy problems and ironing out difficulties.

But it seems unwise to expect to set up a controlled system for all time that would contribute to the exploitation of the world's resources.

At this stage we believe two imperatives confront the West's diplomacy. One is to get the Arab-Israeli confrontation off dead center and move negotiations along a constructive path, so that the whole oil question is diverted from its present political dimension.

Second, when the oil consumers and producers do get together they must come prepared to think about the long range plans in the context of the world's economic stability and not in the context merely of a Western effort to break the OPEC cartel.

Israel nearing moment to pull back or remain

By NEA/London Economist News Service
JERUSALEM (ENNS) - Israel seems to be fast approaching the moment when it will have to decide to withdraw from sections of Sinai, the Golan Heights, and maybe the West Bank.

As a result, they say, Israel has lost the initiative in the bargaining process to others more determined. In the face of their critics, Israel's leaders have been very cagey about the substance of Yigal Allon's recent talks in Washington.

There were also unofficial hints that Israel might agree to negotiate a further retreat of 4 to 6 kilometers on the Golan Heights, thus abandoning four Israeli paratrooper settlements.

Sapir, who is far more influential inside the Labor party than Rabin, has indicated that he is coming back to national politics to lead the pro-concessionist camp. He is prepared to urge the return of all the occupied territories in return for peace, with, he says, only minor adjustments.

The Israelis are talking among themselves, the Egyptians are waiting patiently. Shalom. (Arabic calligraphy)

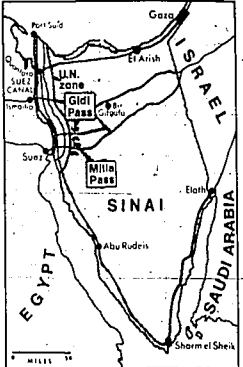

Is Cairo about ready to make peace with foes?

By NEA/London Economist News Service
CAIRO (ENNS) - President Sadat's interview in Le Monde recently was remarkable chiefly for the precision and hostility with which he expressed his feelings about Russia.

The essential point, he said, was to maintain the dynamics of peace. If there was no movement, he would urge a return to the Geneva conference. He indicated, interestingly, that there was still a possibility that the Arab governments - and the Palestinian leaders - might discuss that King Hussein should be authorized to take possession of such sections of the West Bank as the Israelis may agree to evacuate.

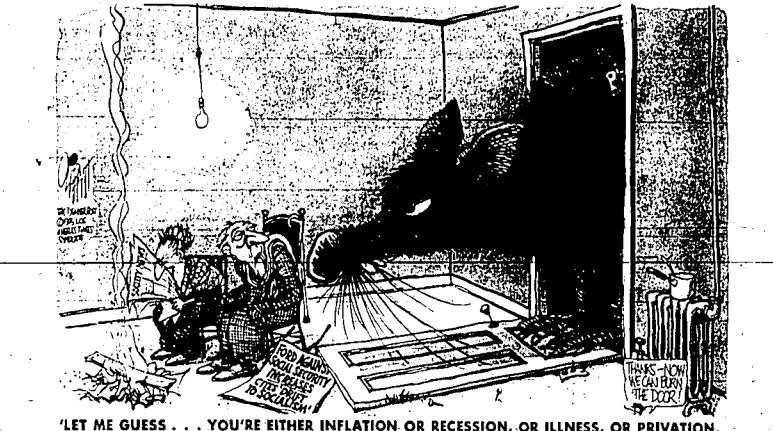

Dayan poses the most dangerous challenge to Rabin's authority in the country. With new withdrawals in the balance, Allon could if he wishes rally to his banner the day nationalist and anti-concessionist groups, sweeping in a large segment of the National Religious party, all of the right-wing Likud opposition, important factions of Labor and the "settlement movement" which has threatened a massive new squatting campaign soon.

A peace agreement with Israel. But this, as his earlier comments showed, would have to be part of a final package deal. In return for the interim withdrawals which at present are being urged on Israel, he said, nothing to offer.

WASHINGTON - A secret report flashed by the Staff Department of an unnamed Communist coup in Portugal last week turned out to be premature, but top Ford administration officials in Lisbon convinced that a classic far left takeover in Lisbon is possible any moment.

Ten days ago, a secret word flashed through diplomatic channels to the State Department that a brutal Communist-style coup d'etat was imminent. This was only hours after the ruling 20-man armed forces council decreed a simple, centralized labor union in Portugal, insuring Communist control of the entire labor movement.

When the socialists petitioned for the right to hold a mass demonstration last Friday, the Communists scheduled their own mass demonstration the same day. What followed was a transparent Communist-inspired solution: both demonstrations were disallowed.

Even more revealing was last week's unpublished comment by Gen. Otelo Carvalho, chief commander of the continental operations command. As called to the State Department, Carvalho raised the gravest question yet about the elections: "The results of the spring elections will not necessarily reflect the will and the best interests of a majority of the Portuguese people."

Bad news for entire world as well as Saigon

WASHINGTON - President Ford has asked Congress to provide supplementary arms and aid to South Vietnam, and the word on Capitol Hill is that Congress won't agree.

South Vietnam with the means for fighting back. Observers in Saigon agree that if such aid is not forthcoming - if it is not forthcoming now, within the next six weeks, the Communist invasion will succeed but the senator is tired. He finds "more fighting" abortive.

In my own view, at least, the arguments in favor of providing the requested arms are compelling. We are not talking of "aid to Communist Thailand," or of "propping up the corrupt Thieu administration." This is straw-man stuff.

It is conceivable that it was only for the honor of war that the United States was involved in Vietnam. It is not conceivable that the United States was involved in Vietnam as at bottom a struggle between freedom and slavery. What Mansfield is saying is: Let the chance for freedom go. The senator is tired. Let it go.

Streaking case draws comment

Editor, Times-News:
I would like to make a few comments about George Staudaher's handling of the recent streaking incident at the high school.

After the two young men who were guilty were apprehended, Mr. Staudaher insisted that these boys be prosecuted for indecent exposure. He was quoted in the Times-News as saying that their actions were a serious violation of law and moral ethics.

This man is a public official, his job, therefore, is to serve his constituents to the best of his ability. This excludes moral regulation.

Mr. Staudaher's position on this case is both banal and incompetent; it reflects nobody's opinion but his own and it is also a cop-out that believes will justify his insipid behavior. It does not.

happening. A few examples: after Ohio's ratification, an Ohio judge ruled it unconstitutional for an employer to provide separate restroom facilities; in Colorado and Pennsylvania different judicial decisions have invalidated felony non-support laws and other laws protecting women; in Tennessee, a woman was put into a jail cell with a man, who attempted to assault her (Tennessee has since rescinded its ratification); in Arkansas a state research study reports that over 50 laws which have the effect of protecting women will be invalidated.

Section 2 of the ERA states the US Congress will have the power to enforce the ERA. Sen. Sam Ervin, in his staunch effort to prevent ERA passage, stated that this power of enforcement would bring the federal government into almost every phase of our lives, completely negating states rights.

No doubt women have sometimes suffered discrimination. So, I might add, have men. On the whole, any discrimination suffered by women is far outweighed by the benefits and protection afforded her through the chivalry and courtesy of American men, and through protective legislation in her behalf. Nowhere in the world have women enjoyed higher status.

When 38 states have ratified the ERA, it will become a part of the US Constitution. Thirty-three states have now ratified, two of these have rescinded. Pro-ERA forces still have four years to try to accomplish their goal.

Those women who wish to protect their traditional role and that of the family, and those men who wish to protect their women and their families, had best contact their state legislators, asking them to not only support but actively work for the rescinding of the ERA in Idaho.

Alice Jackson, state secretary American Party of Idaho Kimberly

Mr. Staudaher is entitled to his own opinion, true, but he is not entitled to use his public position to enforce it, as is apparent in this case. This man has been very self-centered in respect to this incident and suspect that now is the time to search for a new superintendent of schools.

I would also like to commend Judge Smith's handling of this case as he has reduced the sentences of the two guilty boys from indecent exposure to disorderly conduct.

We are quite fortunate to have at our disposal a man such as he who is guided not by his emotions but, rather, by his common sense. If this were not so two young men would end up paying for the dictates of another public official's sensibilities.

Editorial on ERA said misleading

Editor, Times-News:
On Thursday evening, Jan. 30, the Times-News printed a most misleading editorial regarding the Equal Rights Amendment.

When the US Congress passed the ERA, its proponents inserted into the Congressional Record an article from the Yale Law Journal which set out in full detail what the consequences of the ERA would be.

From this article it is clear, and this was accepted by those for and against, that the ERA would have the result of drafting women not only for the armed services, but for combat duty; eliminating separate restroom facilities for the sexes; eliminating all laws protecting women—as to alimony, spousal support, divorce rights, preferential insurance rates, maternity leaves, sex-crimes, working conditions, etc.

It now seems clear that women would be legally obligated for half the support of the family unless she had pre-school children, and would still be obligated, even with pre-school children, if free day care centers were available. Also social security benefits for women who have not worked would be in jeopardy.

Those attempting to secure ratification of ERA, or, as in Idaho, to prevent the rescinding of it, now ignore the very clear guidelines on which the ERA was passed, and fraudulently claim, first, that all the ERA would do is secure women equal pay for equal work (it does not); and secondly, as the Times-News did, that it is only a clarification of the Constitution and could have no damaging effects to women or the family.

Others claim that though these consequences are possible, we must rely on the good sense of our legislators, and that these things won't and can't happen.

To this last the answer is two-fold: if we had had enough legislators with good sense, our country would not find itself in the condition it is now in; and these things are already happening.

ALICE JACKSON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have red spots on my body about the size of freckles. They are raised and seem to be filled with blood.

I'm getting more and more all over my body. What can I do to prevent any more from coming? I am 59.

I scraped a tiny one with my fingernail and you can't even tell where it was. —Mrs. R.U.Z.

Skin defects are best diagnosed by inspection than by description, but I will hazard a guess that yours could be hemangioma. These are accumulations of tiny vessels (capillaries) under the skin which usually appear as one gets older.

There is not much to be done about them, but I would advise against further scraping. They could bleed and become infected.

Why this falsehood persists confounds me. Hair grows at different rates in different parts of the body. But shaving does not accelerate normal hair growth anywhere.

Lima officials order 'holiday'

LIMA (UPI) - The military government today decreed a national holiday in the aftermath of a police strike which erupted into full-scale rioting.

Residents were ordered to stay out of the downtown area, littered with the debris of looting, burning and looting.

A spokesman for the official government information agency said that an official list of casualties in Wednesday's 16 hours of violence would "soon" be prepared. Official estimates, based on reports of ambulances drivers and eyewitnesses, ranged up to 10 dead.

The seven-hour curfew from 11 pm to 5 am imposed by the left-wing military government generally passed calmly, broken occasionally by scattered fire of heavy rifles and the wail of ambulance sirens. Soldiers patrolled the streets in the capital during the night against looters.

At first light, however, some looters could be seen entering a nearby cleared-out appliance store downtown and looting, with television sets and radios.

The government has issued a series of stern warnings, prohibiting "any citizen to meet with any other," giving teachers and the right to search homes at will, and permitting arrests without judges' orders. These came as part of the nationwide state of siege declared for the first time by the six-year-old military government.

The violence began before dawn in a brief and bloody clash between army troops and striking policemen barricaded in a stationhouse.

It continued with student activists burning cars and then setting fire to buildings, with Molotov cocktails and finally with large scale looting of downtown stores and warehouses.

The violence was the worst since President Juan Velasco Alvarado seized power in a bloodless coup in 1969.

Hardy policemen were seen on the streets all day, but army troops in tanks and armored cars swept through the downtown area, shooting heavy rifles, tear gas grenades and bursts of machine gun fire to break up groups of rioters.

Gather for rally

Proposal opposed

Chicago Sun-Times WASHINGTON - The Ford administration, already on record as opposing gasoline rationing, has gone on record against another proposal for limiting personal automobile use.

The suggestion - a six-day driving week with an enforced ban on use the seventh day - has been made in Capitol Hill, Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said. Numerous telephone inquiries about the idea have also been received at FEA's headquarters here, he added.

Zarb based the administration's opposition on much the same arguments as have been used against a rationing program: It would be costly to administer, it would not achieve significant reductions in gasoline consumption.

'Pot' penalty views divided

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The nation is about evenly divided over whether penalties for possessing small amounts of marijuana should be eliminated or increased, according to a survey by the Drug Abuse Council.

The council, a private, nonprofit agency, today released a national survey on marijuana use and attitudes. It said 49 per cent of adults favor elimination or reduction of criminal penalties for possession of small amounts of marijuana. Forty per cent believe the laws should be tougher.

The distinguishing feature of our survey is that it is the first national marijuana survey to ask the public's opinion on a variety of changes in marijuana laws currently being debated by many state legislatures and the U.S. Congress," said Thomas Bryant, president of the Drug Abuse Council.

The survey, Bryant said, showed 18 per cent of adult Americans over the age of 18 report having tried marijuana and 8 per cent say they are current users. Between the ages of 12 and 17, 14 per cent of those surveyed said they had tried marijuana and 5 per cent said they were current users.

In 1971, the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse estimated 24 million Americans had tried marijuana, with 11 million using the drug regularly.

Bryant said the Drug Abuse Council's survey, done in percentages, translated into 29 million people have tried marijuana with more than 12 million using it regularly.

Onassis enters clinic

ATHENS (UPI) - Ailing shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis will be flown today to Paris, where he will enter a private clinic, sources close to the Onassis family said.

The decision to move the 69-year-old multimillionaire was made by French heart specialist Jacques Carot, who arrived in Athens Wednesday. Carot has treated Onassis previously. An Athens Airport official said an Olympic Airways Boeing 707 has been prepared for the flight.

The official said both Onassis' wife Jacqueline and his daughter Christina will fly with him.

Sources close to the Onassis family said Wednesday that the tycoon had been put in an oxygen tent.

Top GOP leaders set strategy meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Conservative Republican leaders will hold a strategy meeting Sunday to discuss how they can exert more influence over administration and party policies.

The meeting is being organized by Sen. James Buckley, who denies the conference will be an effort to create a third, conservative, party.

The New York Conservative Republican told UPI Wednesday the meeting, to be held here in late February or early March, will bring together conservative leaders from around the country who will discuss their concerns over the direction the U.S. seems to be drifting and what he might do to contribute to the formulation of national policy.

He declined to say whom he was inviting. Sources said the participants will include both House and Senate members, governors, various party officials, and academic and business leaders.

A source involved in the planning said the group would explore how they can use their clout to influence the government and the party in the next few years.

The leaders also will discuss "how disenchanted Democrats can be encouraged" to join the Republican Party. Gen. Milburn Thompson of New Hampshire, one of those invited to the conference, said the meeting was to discuss a third party. "The whole question of what might be the future of party politics is being reviewed by carefully thinking politicians," he said Tuesday.

Legality queried on Alabama post

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) - Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace may be holding office illegally because the measure allowing him to serve two consecutive terms apparently was not submitted for federal approval, a Birmingham newspaper said today.

Wallace this year became the first Alabama governor to succeed himself in office after the 1967 state legislature and the voters approved a state constitutional amendment. The amendment changed a state law which had barred any person from serving two consecutive terms in the same state office.

Beeley and Attorney General William J. Bailey, also began serving their second consecutive terms Jan. 20.

The Justice Department spokesman said the succession amendment affects voting rights and, "technically speaking, they're holding office illegally," the newspaper said.

MacDonald Gallion, who was state attorney general when the amendment was passed, said he did not believe the state submitted the measure to the Justice Department for approval.

"That was seven years ago and there was a lot happening then about civil rights," Gallion said.

The 1965 Voting Rights Act, which requires Justice Department approval of any new law affecting voting rights in Southern states, provides that a citizen can ask a federal court to order any official elected under an unapproved law out of office.

State worker pay hassle unresolved

BOISE (UPI) — One of the big questions of the Idaho Legislature and one that could extend the length of the session — that of pay increases for state employees — remained unresolved today.

Senate Democrats have refused to accept Republican proposals for across the board pay hikes for state workers, holding out for the 7.5 per cent boost recommended by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Until the question of how much of an increase will be given state employees, members of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee say they cannot begin setting the budgets for fiscal 1976.

Twice Wednesday the GOP majority used its strength to place on the Senate calendar a resolution providing for a 7.5 per cent increase in pay to state employees under grade 10 and a 4 per cent raise for those grade 10 and over.

First, the Republicans rebuffed Democratic attempts to hold the resolution in State Affairs Committee and later voted against a Democratic move to return it to committee, which already has a 7.5 per cent and 5 per cent pay boost proposal.

In a move to clear the air, Senate President Pro-tem James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, invited the minority leadership to meet with the majority to discuss the problems.

The leadership meeting, however, resulted only in a disagreement over the figures that were being used by the Republicans to justify a lower salary increase.

"I haven't seen any figures that make sense," said Senate Minority Leader Cy Chase, D-St. Maries, adding that the figures being circulated were distorted.

This prompted assistant majority leader Dick Smith, R-Treasure, to accuse Chase of "not accepting anything we offer as valid. If you don't believe anyone else in this place why haven't you got your own information."

The meeting ended without anything being resolved and Ellsworth suggesting that Chase gather his own figures and present them to the leadership.

Container bill in BOISE (UPI) — The house local government committee Wednesday introduced a bill requiring beverages to be sold in returnable containers, effective July 1, 1976.

The measure, brought to the committee by Rep. Beverly Blaine, D-Pocatello, is similar to an Oregon law.

Medic bill move loses

BOISE (UPI) — A memorial asking Oregon to pay for the medical bills for convicted murderer Carl Claus Bowles was turned down Wednesday by the House State Affairs Committee.

House Minority Leader Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, said "I'd hate to blow the good will of another state in effort to get back medical costs."

She also said the language was strong in the memorial by Rep. Jack Kennebrew, R-Boise-Kennebrew and Sen. Lytle Colias, R-Boise, last year wrote Oregon Gov. Tom McCall urging him to ask his legislature for money to defray the costs. McCall refused.

Bowles is serving time in the Idaho State Penitentiary for kidnaping and is wanted on a murder charge in the state of Washington. While imprisoned in Idaho, he has undergone surgery for gunshot wounds suffered during his capture near Post Falls.

Tot class pushed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's superintendent of public instruction wants the legislature to approve a kindergarten program this year even if it means cancelling proposals for tax relief.

Supt. Roy Truby told the Idaho Press-Club Wednesday he would favor statewide kindergarten legislation "if it meant no tax decrease."

Truby would not go so far as to voice support for kindergarten "if that would require a tax increase."

But he said he did not think a tax increase would be necessary and pointed to the general fund revenue surpluses of the past year as proof that the state is either over taxing the people or not delivering the social services it could provide.

While discussing kindergarten, he also said he feels there is great support from the local level this year and from legislators who in the past have opposed the proposal.

He said he is "not discouraged" and "I have not backed off and will not sock off" from pushing for kindergarten.

GOP forces entry of power measure

BOISE (UPI) — Republican members of the House State Affairs Committee forced introduction Wednesday of a resolution that erodes some of the autocratic powers of the lieutenant governor.

Opponents, their resolution calls for creation of a legislative land grants committee complete selections of all in-lease lands due the state from the federal government, inventory unutilized lands near Craters of the Moon National Monument and continue negotiations for some land exchanges and make certain Idaho retains its rights to beds of wild and scenic rivers.

Similar interim committees have been established in the past but with the lieutenant governor, then a Republican, as a voting member. This resolution means the lieutenant-governor, now a Democrat, an ex-officio member.

House Minority Leader Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, tried to block introduction of the resolution calling it "unbelievable."

"Now all they want the lieutenant governor to do is sit around with his thumb in his ear and watch the Senate perform," Miss McDermott said.

She said this resolution embroils the in-lease lands selection in a partisan squabble.

But Rep. John Reardon, R-Boise, called it a progressive action which will make the committee bi-partisan and functioning without "any weight from above."

Housing aid eyed

BOISE (UPI) — A bill its sponsor said would give the housing industry a shot in the arm was approved for introduction Wednesday by the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee.

The bill provides an automatic tax exemption to all home owners who occupy their own homes as of Jan. 1 of each calendar year.

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, said the bill should revive the home building industry because it would provide properly related in order to get homeowners to build new homes or make improvements on existing structures.

Manley said he doubted the bill could be passed in this session because it was too late, but added he desired the committee bring it up at the next session.

The measure would get statewide exposure and possibly generate enough interest for its passage at the next session.

Gem land use package wins Senate panel OK

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' seven-bill land use planning package was unanimously approved for introduction today by the Senate Local Government and Taxation committee.

Committee Chairman Lyle Catbs, R-Boise, said there had been talk that putting the bills in his committee was an attempt to kill them but he said this was not so.

Catbs, who is a realtor and has opposed land use in the past, urged the committee to vote to print the bills "in total" and to give "fair, unbiased support" to them.

The senator truly believed that the land use bills would be among the "most important" items to be considered by the committee.

The chairman said after they were introduced, he would thoroughly study them.

Sen. H. Dean Summers, D-Boise, asked that in addition to appointing subcommittees that "well advertised, extensive hearings" be held jointly with the House committee that would receive them if passed by the Senate.

"There's tremendous interest," said Summers, "and everyone should stand up and be counted."

Catbs assured Summers that it was his intention to hold joint hearings.

Assistant Senate minority leader Robert Saxvik, D-Boise, said seven bills were being presented to the legislature to overcome objections of legislators that they would "have to buy the whole ball of wax" if they had only one bill.

Saxvik said each bill could stand by itself. The proposals and the order in which they will be introduced:

- 1. The Local Planning Act of 1975 — calls for planning and implementing ordinances in all cities and counties in Idaho with full local control of decision-making while providing a legislated "roadmap" on how to get the job done.
- 2. "State Assistance Bill," calls for technical services and guidelines from the Division of Budget and Policy Planning, upon local request, on state control of local plans.
- 3. "Hearings on Regional Impacts bill," provides for special locally controlled hearings on developments which impact more than just a local area.
- 4. "Areas of State-wide Concern bill," provides for designation of areas of national, interstate, and statewide concern and special procedures and limits such designations to a maximum of 5 per cent of the state.
- 5. "Definition of Subdivision Bill," amends Idaho Code to provide more protection for agricultural land and would be totally locally controlled.
- 6. "State Planning Process Bill," designates the Division of Budget and Policy Planning as the state agency to coordinate land use planning with the many units of government involved.
- 7. "Timetable" bill — provides dates for the completion of local plans and ordinances for those areas of the state where none exist.

Saxvik said the timetable bill will probably be "the most controversial of them all."

Rebekah visit made

SIHOISHONE — Rebekah Assembly of Idaho president Mari Shafter, Caldwell, made her official visit to Opta Rebekah Lodge Tuesday.

A meeting at the IOOF Lodge Hall followed a banquet. The president's message was on the wheel of fraternity.

Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Richfield, told the story of Ruth.

Tot class bill introduction set

BOISE (UPI) — The House Education Committee agreed unanimously Wednesday to introduce Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' bill for state-funded public kindergartens.

Public Instruction Superintendent Roy Truly personally hand-carried the bill to the House committee after the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee decided to let the House introduce it.

Sen. John Barker, R-Boise, chairman of the Senate HEW committee, said the Senate always passes kindergarten legislation only to have it killed in the House.

He suggested the House for once have the pride of authorship. He also noted that the work load is getting out of line between the two committees.

The bill would put $3.1 million in state tax dollars into the school foundation formula to finance the classes. The kindergartens would be optional and districts wanting to conduct only summer programs could do so.

Truly told the Idaho Press Club at a luncheon session he intends to fight all the way for kindergartens this year. He said he would favor them even if it meant no permanent tax relief.

But when asked if he would favor them even if it took a tax increase, Truly said he would not talk about tax increases until the legislature stops talking about tax decreases.

'Dignity' guard

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Dan Emery, D-Boise, introduced a "death with dignity act" Wednesday which would allow a dying person to request doctors from giving him further treatment.

This measure would require three licensed physicians to declare in writing and under oath that to the best of their professional judgment — the person is suffering a terminal condition.

But it stipulates the document shall not be effective as a directive with respect to medical treatment of intentionally self-inflicted illness, injury or disease.

Those persons who could request doctors to stop trying to save them would have to be at least 18, of sound mind and would have to ask for the action in writing.

Rules drawn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission today published final rules designed to protect collectors of coins and political memorabilia from being stuck with millions.

Under the regulations — effective March 10 — any political campaign button, poster, sticker or advertisement must be marked with the year of manufacture with initials.

Tax relief plans win approval of House panel

BOISE (UPI) — Republicans on the revenue and taxation committee sent to the House today a bill that would recommend a Wednesday vote offering $2.1 million in tax relief.

Under normal House procedures, this could bring them up for final consideration by the House today or Friday.

Democrats, still holding out for Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' building proposals, voted against putting them on the debate calendar and Rep. Perry-Swoeder, D-Boise, predicted a veto if they pass.

One measure would give taxpayers a 10 per cent credit on 1974 income taxes and the other an extra $5 credit per dependent on 1974 income taxes to compensate for sales taxes paid on groceries. Both would come out of this year's general fund surplus.

In addition, the committee introduced a bill which would take any surplus not forecast and put it in a $1.5 million increments into the county school funds up to a total of $6 million so the null leaves could be covered.

Any money outside of those increments or the total would go toward pre-payment of the parks department debt to the endowment funds.

Policy checks sought

BOISE (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday introduced a concurrent resolution calling for a legislative examination on policies, procedures and practices of the board of education.

Among specific directives of the resolution are requests — to the board's policies on full time equivalent students, degree granting programs, faculty to student ratios, cancellation of the architecture program at Idaho State University, the school of mines program at the University of Idaho, the statewide information system, nursing education programs, attorney's fees and state funds spent on private schools.

HOW TO PLAN DIET MENUS

(Fourth in a series of five columns on How To Diet and Look It.)

By Mary Sue Miller

Your chances of successful reduction increase when you learn to plan your own menus. You may lose by following a set of ready-made diet menus, but not for long. You become bored with repetitious fare and then make unsuitable substitutions. You can get it together by referring to this list of minimum daily requirements:

- Slice of bread and portion of cereal, or equivalents.
- Butter or margarine, not to exceed 200 calories, or equivalent in polyunsaturated oils.
- Pint skim milk or substitute, such as buttermilk.
- Eggs — at least three weekly.
- Serving (fresh, stewed or canned fruit; 4 to 6 oz. fruit or vegetable juice).
- Potato, rice, corn, lima beans (starchy vegetable) three times weekly.
- Large portion of green leafy or yellow vegetables; raw vegetables such as lettuce, celery, radishes, tomato.
- At least two servings selected from a variety of lean meat, fish, fowl, liver, kidney and cheese.
- Limited sweets — two sugar-loaded desserts weekly is the limit.

You not only lose weight by eating that quantity and balance of foods — your hair, skin and health benefit, too. You can't miss with an intake of proteins that build and repair tissue, vitamins that promote sparkling eyes, good digestion and calm nerves; minerals that make for strong bones, vitality and roses in your cheeks.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to a wedding. My husband is unable to attend, so I am taking my 16-year-old cousin. She does not know the bride.

At the last four weddings this cousin attended, she caught the bride's bouquet. Maybe I should tell you that she is a very large and athletic girl who is fast on her feet. I feel that because she is only 16, and she has already caught four bouquets, she should not make an all-out effort to catch this one.

Don't you think she should give the bride's friends and relatives a chance to catch the bouquet?

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's driving. Whenever another motorist breaks one of the highway courtesy rules and cuts in front of my husband, or passes him when another car is coming in the opposite direction, my husband has to get back at him. He'll pull up real close to him, or he'll immediately pass him to let him know that he is not going to let him get away with anything.

Sometimes he doesn't like the way a truck driver is driving, so he'll start playing games with him. I get scared half to death and beg him not to take such foolish chances, but he insists that he's going to "teach them a lesson."

We've had a few minor scrapes and several close calls, but nothing really serious yet. He argues that he is a safe driver, but to me, that's not safe. What's the matter with you 33-year-old baby? How can I make him realize that that kind of driving is not safe?
WORRIED IN OREGON

DEAR WORRIED: Part of my definition for maturity is... "the ability to bear an injustice without wanting to get even." Your husband isn't mature. Just keep on nagging him to let the other guy have the road—unless he's trying to beat him to the cemetery, and take you with him.

DEAR ABBY: A reader whose job it was to deliver newspapers complained because he couldn't read the house numbers in the dark of the early morning.

As a member of the Great Falls, Va., Volunteer Fire Department, I share the concern over the lack of house numbers, but it's not to make deliveries. Our department must not only make fire calls; we also run ambulances to homes and highway accidents.

Probably less than one third of the homes in our area have numbers on their mail boxes. Practically none have numbers on their houses.

When someone is acutely ill or seriously injured, the time wasted looking for the right house number can make the difference between life and death.

Abby, will you please urge people to put their street numbers in visible places so all emergency, police, fire and ambulance calls can be answered as promptly as possible?
C.E. KENNEMER, D.D.S.

DEAR DR. K: Why not take it up with your city council and make it mandatory? The squeaking wheel gets the grease. Open wider, Doctor.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's new book, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 123 Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Graduates lauded

TWIN FALLS: According to CSI high school relations director Paul Olson, today's high school graduate is sharper and better prepared than ever.

"High school graduates today can communicate better, have better foresight into what they want to accomplish, and understand more about what needs to be done to improve our society," Olson said. "They will be very capable in running this country in the future."

Olson, who as a city councilman serves as liaison between the city and the city's Youth Advisory Council, attributes the preparation and capability of the current crop of graduates to better education in the public schools.

"The public schools, along with the church and the home are, in my opinion, fulfilling their responsibilities," Olson said. "There will always be a percentage of problem young people, just as there are problem adults, but all in all I am very proud of the young people of this area and the work that is being done in the public schools."

Electric legs cause havoc

FREERPORT, Ill. (UPI)—The tax season is on and 70-year-old Jane Weaver Thomas is guiding her alphan-draped motorized wheelchair down Freerport's streets to make sure her clients get their due, despite the city council.

The paraplegic tax consultant—and—politician—public finally bought herself a motorized wheelchair a few months ago after 47 years of waiting to be pushed.

"I'm having a hell," she said. "The love of going out alone after being confined all these years, being out there in front of God and everybody else."

A City Council committee, however, said Mrs. Thomas was disregarding traffic laws in her wheelchair. It recommended passing an ordinance banning her electric legs from city streets.

She called the Governors' Committee on the Handicapped.

A spokesman told her the ordinance would be discriminatory and illegal.

"Now it's such a hot potato no one will even mention it," she said with a giggle.

Battlelines drawn on lobbyist registration

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Capital Bureau

HOUSE Opponents of Idaho's new lobbyist registration law say it will lead to harassment of individuals and to piles of bureaucratic paperwork.

Supporters of the new law, which is part of the Sunshine Initiative voters approved last November, say it will open up the political process.

But everyone agrees that so far lobbyist registration has had little impact on Idaho's 41-day legislature.

"They also agree that too many people are registering as lobbyists."

For a reporter interested not in individual lobbyists but in battlelines on issues, the mechanics of the new law are frustrating.

Under the new law only persons paid more than $100 during any three-month period for their lobbying must register.

Public officials, a term whose meaning is disputed, reporters and persons only addressing public bodies need not register.

Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa estimates that there are not more than 30 lobbyists, "as we knew them through the years."

But so far more than 20 persons have registered.

According to assistant secretary of state Dryden Hiler most people are registering not because they must but because "they are afraid of not registering."

Other persons, such as League of Women Voters representatives, register as an expression of support for the Sunshine law they help pass, Hiler says.

The result is a 22-page list of lobbyists, the organizations they represent, and the subject of their concern.

Up to now, says Miren Attiah, administrative secretary to the secretary of state, most people have been concerned either with who must register or who has registered.

Few of the numerous inquiries the office receives each day, she says, concern the reports the lobbyists must file.

But those reports are the guts of the lobbying law.

The law requires that each week during the legislature every registered lobbyist file a report stating specifically which bills he was concerned with. The weekly report does not require the lobbyist to say whether he was for or against the legislation.

Every three months a registered lobbyist must say how much he spent while working as a lobbyist and break these expenses down by categories such as entertainment, food and drink, and advertising.

When more than $50 is spent for one "entertainment" occasion, the names of all legislators or holders of public office, the amount spent, the place and the day must be included in a special accounting.

Gifts to legislators also must be reported. Persons who knowingly violate either the registration or the reporting rules can be fined up to $200 and sentenced up to six months in prison. Corporations can be fined $2,500.

Despite the reporting provisions and the threat of punishment, legislators, administrators and lobbyists believe that so far the new lobbying law has had little impact.

"I can't see what it's doing really. I know that everyone I talk to says, 'Should I register?'" Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, says.

"I see an awful lot of activity that just hasn't changed much," former representative Vernon Havenscroft, who is now lobbying, says.

The weekly reports, he says, are meaningless because they don't say which side a person is on in regards to a bill.

The first quarterly report will come too late to influence any legislators since the reports will not be due until the end of April, hopefully long after the session ends, he says.

Besides, Havenscroft asserts, the financial report is "rather meaningless in relation to an ethical person and a dishonest person will find a way to get around it."

Hiler believes that registration of lobbyists has not had a great deal of impact. "The same people are still lobbying," he says.

But Hiler does note that "some of the fringe benefits the legislators might have got are not as evident as in the past."

Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert and one of the original sponsors of the Sunshine Initiative, also thinks that some of the benefits such as free drinks and food are more sparse for legislators this year.

But lobbyist registration "will not change what this legislature does," he says.

Registration law impact slight

It will, Peasey says, change the next legislature does.
Besides requiring lobbyist registration, the Sunshine Law makes state political candidates specify the sources of all contributions more than $50 and to list campaign expenditures more than $25.
The net effect of Sunshine, Peasey maintains, is likely to have the voter who is lobbying

"I haven't registered and I don't plan to register," Robson says. But he adds that he is currently not lobbying for pay on behalf of a client.
Robson says there is a constitutional question as to whether it's strictly harassment.
Corporate lobbyists will not make a test case of the issue because they'd get fired if they got their "company involved in a lawsuit," he says.
But Robson says that unless he gets a law backer to challenge the issue, he probably will register if he starts lobbying for money.
So far the secretary of state's office reports that it has heard no complaints of persons violating the lobbying law.
It is not looking for such violations.
"We don't go out on the hunt until we see evidence of an irregularity," says Ben Ysursa, legal advisor to the secretary of state's office. The

Buhl, W.R. locked in district title battle

JEROME — Jerome's "Tigers" socked up a class A division district wrestling title Wednesday night while Buhl and Wood River moved into a two-team showdown for B honors.

Jerome, sending 14 men into the finals, favored the "A" field for 112-130 points against Buhl for runner-up Minico. Burley was third at 62-74 and Twin Falls had 47.

But the spotlight shifted to the B side where Wood River had 80 points and Buhl 78. These two teams went six men into the finals and will collide in crucial head-to-head competition in three weights.

Rigger than the district tournament, however, is the right to advance individuals. Into the state meet, slated for Twin Falls next week, The class B division will send three representatives in each weight division while the As will send only the champions and runners up.

The B division points totals ran Wood River 80, Buhl 78, Filer 49-72, Declo 38-72, Kimberly 34-72, Valley 34, Oakley 25, Wendell and Halt River 20, Gooding 18 and Glenns Ferry 17-20.

The district meet winds up Thursday night at Jerome high school gymnasium with the class B consolation semi-finals at 6 p.m.; class A finals and consolation finals 7 p.m., class B finals and consolation finals 8 p.m., and class A wrestle-offs at 9 p.m.

The Wood River-Buhl controversy could end early with the two meeting in the first two weights. Their other collision comes at 125 pounds.

In the A division, Jerome advanced 14 finalists due to the allowance of each school having two entries per weight. It will be all Jerome at 112, 132 and 150 pounds.

Minico sent five finalists, Burley's three and Twin Falls two. On the B side, Wood River and Buhl had six each, Filer three, Declo and Oakley two, Kimberly, Valley, Halt River, Wendell and Gooding, one apiece.

Class A semi-finals
 112 — Cassia J. Dec. Beren D. and Gully W. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B.
 132 — Cassia J. Dec. Beren D. and Gully W. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B.
 150 — Cassia J. Dec. Beren D. and Gully W. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B. vs. Buhl B. and Buhl B.

Bruins slate last appearance at home

The Twin Falls Bruins make their final home appearance of the season Saturday night against the high-flying Highland Rams when the Minico Spartans go to Highland Falls for their last on-the-road battle.

Twin Falls opens Friday night by traveling to Idaho Falls. After hosting Highland Saturday, the Bruins end up their year at Pocatello and Skyline next week.

Minico will be home in Pocatello Saturday night then host Idaho Falls Feb. 12 and Skyline Feb. 14 to round out its SIC schedule.

"This could be the toughest part of our schedule," says Bruin Coach Ron Watson. "All four of the teams we play are tough and then having to home court makes it even tougher. But I think we are starting to come back and we'll be able to give all four of them as much as they want."

The coach knows the weekend could be tough if his fears are realized. Twin Falls, currently fighting through a flu epidemic which has decimated its wrestling corps, will probably be without Graydon Stanley, 6-6 junior, for the Idaho Falls game. Spolter may be available against Skyline. In addition, his 6-2 replacement, Roger Christensen, also had to leave practice Wednesday due to illness.

Highland has been a problem for Twin Falls over the past few years, as well as every team in the SIC. The Rams have won three of the last four games on the Bruin court and Twin Falls has beaten them only once in Pocatello — that in the finals of last year's state tournament.

The Rams again have excellent quickness, depth and height, highlighted by senior Scott Good, a 6-5 everything, three-year starter for Coach Ron Kress. The Rams also will bring a 6-8 sophomore who seems destined to keep the Rams tough for the next couple of years.

In Pocatello Minico faces a rapidly improving club that boasts excellent shooters and quick defenders. The Indians have been virtually unstoppable since Jan. 10, winning seven straight conference games.

The Bruins will have an erratic game in Idaho Falls as the Tigers boast some good shooters but have ranged from excellent to rather mediocre on given nights. The Tigers have blistered teams that have defeated Twin Falls and yet fallen by double-digit margins to other clubs the Bruins have handled fairly well.

Hula bowl eyed for 'runner-up' site

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Athletic Director Don Canham says Michigan's football team a hole left at the altar three years running, is hopeful the Hula Bowl will be interested in a new marriage for a postseason game.

Canham's idea, which might mean loads of money to those involved, is to have the runners-up in the Big Ten and Pacific Eight play a bowl game the week following the New Year's day Rose Bowl, instead of the respective conference championships.

"I haven't talked with the Hula Bowl people," Canham said Wednesday. "I've discussed it informally with a couple of people at the Rose Bowl who indicated they wouldn't have the same feeling about a game after the Rose Bowl they would of a game played before the Rose Bowl. The reason we are thought about the Hula Bowl is they're getting a new stadium," he said. "They had an old stadium that would only seat about 25,000 and a bowl game just wasn't practical."

The Wolverines have won or shared four straight Big Ten titles with Ohio State, but the Buckeyes have played on New Year's day three straight years while Michigan watched on television. Schembechler's team has been rated high in each season.

"All of the coaches in both conferences, especially the Big Ten, are certainly unanimous in that they want to go to other bowl games," Canham said.

The Big Ten's share about $30,000 per school.

"The Big Ten wouldn't do anything to harm the Rose Bowl," he said, cautioning because the Rose Bowl committee came down hard when Michigan coach Bo Schembechler criticized the exclusive nature of the agreement. "It's the best of the bowls but we're trying to find a solution."

The Wolverines have won or shared four straight Big Ten titles with Ohio State, but the Buckeyes have played on New Year's day three straight years while Michigan watched on television. Schembechler's team has been rated high in each season.

"All of the coaches in both conferences, especially the Big Ten, are certainly unanimous in that they want to go to other bowl games," Canham said.

"I think it would be a great deal for the Hula Bowl people," Canham said. "They're building a new stadium to seat 65,000. With two nationally ranked teams they could attract more spectators and get about $500,000 in TV money."

"That's probably double what they could get with an all-star game. It would approach $1 million in TV and gate receipts. That would make

Gordon testified in federal court Wednesday he missed the entire 1972 National Football League exhibition season and the first four regular season games because of disputes arising from the controversial Rozelle rule.

Upon questioning by Edward Glennon, attorney for the NFL Players Association, Gordon said he played "not his option with the Bears in 1971 and then was unable to sign a "satisfactory contract" for 1972.

"They offered me only a $4,000 raise from $34,000 to $38,000," he said.

Gordon, an all pro wide receiver in 1970, initiated an antitrust suit against the NFL, its club owners and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle after becoming a free agent May 1, 1972.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 7, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Matters in the world and at home appear confusing. Associates are in an argumentative mood now and the best way to avoid arguments is to use your charm. Eliminate discontent and build harmony.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Situations in outside activities and at home seem tense but you can help overcome this by helping those in trouble. Be calm.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get together with a charming friend who can relieve tensions and keep you from getting upset. Not a good day to attend the social.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you are worried about something and you do something charitable for another you find that your situation is improved.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A communication could worry you but if you look at it from a logical standpoint, you will benefit in the long run.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A problematical matter at work could be bothersome, but it will soon clear up, so forget it. Don't neglect health treatments.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to have fun but don't force anything with anyone and you can relieve tensions. An associate can be very helpful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make improvements to surroundings and avoid argument with a complaining opponent. Use that artistic sense you possess.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Seek the company of one who makes you feel important and happy. Not a good day for starting any new enterprises. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do only those things in the outside world that are absolutely necessary. Making home improvements will be appreciated.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Tension may be high today, but a kind thought or act of another eases matters considerably. Shop for new clothing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen to what a financial expert has to say about improving the value of your property. Show more devotion to loved ones.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your financial situation may look grim, but will improve if you put brakes on your free spending habits. Use common sense.

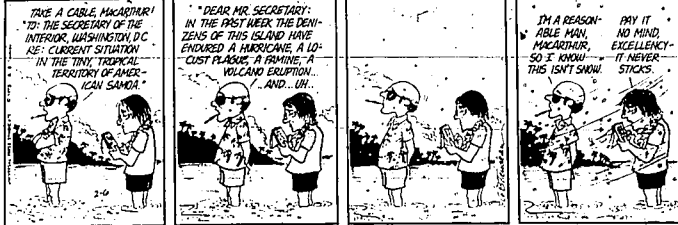

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to solve almost any problem, but be sure they are not deliberately created for the fun of doing so. Direct the education along, troubleshooting vocations and your progeny will benefit. Stress the humanitarian side of life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

That professional fellow least likely to seek counseling when his marriage gets in trouble is the physician. Or so say it's the scholars who study marital matters. Don't know if it's just coincidence that the medical men get more divorces than do the citizens in other occupations. Our Love and War man reports sadly that doctors rank with bartenders, actors and traveling salesmen on that list of the most divorced.

"WHO were the first vegetarians?"

THE HARD FACTS
Law in Italy requires a woman's dress to fall at least three inches below the knee... THE FAMILIAR misquoting "pride goeth before a fall" should read "pride goeth before destruction"... THAT OPERA STAR of note named Robert-Merrill started life out as Merrill Wolf Miller... OUR WORD "fame" comes from the Anglo-Saxon "feam", meaning "food"... IN THE BIBLE, wine is prescribed 165 times for the treatment of various ailments, please note.

A KINDLY client insists you'll eliminate any fleas brought into your house by the family pet, if you place a few green walnuts under chairs, beds and around said pet's sleeping areas. Interesting, if true.

BARNUM
Circus impresario P. T. Barnum for years kept beside his desk a large box labeled "Not to be opened until after the death of P. T. Barnum." Story was it contained a bequest for each of his employees. And the notion did something to hypodermic, their daily labors, believe me. Day after Barnum died, they stood around with great expectations. The box was opened and everybody thereabouts was handed a copy of Barnum's autobiography. That was it, his last bit of bunk.

"INSTEAD OF 'No Exit,' the signs over the revolving doors at the Ritz-Carlton in Boston read: "Not an accredited agent." So I reported. Failed to report, however, this was no effort to be witty. A 1944 ordinance requires such signs over all revolving doors there. Remember the Coconut Grove fire in 1943 when 493 people perished? That's why.

BOISE (UPI) — The Madison County Hospital Board comes under the purview of Idaho's open meeting law and is required to open all except executive sessions to the public, the attorney general said Wednesday.

In an opinion for Madison County Prosecutor M.J. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Wayne L. Kidwell said only those meetings expressly excluded by the new law may be closed to the public.

In addition, Kidwell said, the board must enter into its minutes proper records of the receipt of all monies and accounts of those monies whether expended or on hand.

These financial records of hospital business are then subject to public inspection, the opinion said.

ICC rate decision lauded

BOISE — The Interstate Commerce Commission's decision to withhold any increase of rail rates until the justification can be studied and a proper scale can be developed is "good news," according to Robert L. Henry, Boise, administrator of the Idaho Transportation Council. The development is of tremendous importance to every Idaho citizen," Henry said. "More than 70 per cent of the state's economy is based on agricultural production and the value which is added through in-state processing of Idaho farm products." The transportation specialist charged that a major raise in the cost of getting either raw product or the finished item to market is "a serious new burden for all Idaho."

Most of the nation's major railroads had requested a seven per cent freight rate increase but were turned down by the ICC last Thursday.

Henry contends that a seven per cent rate increase would reduce the return of the state's wheat and barley crop by approximately $2.4

"It would have an even greater impact on our 80 million bag potato crop," he stated. Henry explained that an estimated two-thirds of the Gem State spud crop is processed locally.

"If our potatoes or potato products are made non-competitive in distant markets — either because other producers can deliver their cheaper or because consumers pass them up in a retail purchase — the entire Idaho company economy will tremble."

The transportation analyst pointed out that each dollar earned in Idaho is passed through a number of hands as purchases, wages, investments, taxes and other channels. "Each time a dollar is subtracted — and that's what a freight increase does — the same multiplier has to be employed."

Henry said Idaho producers, as well as those in other western states, have been concerned and critical of percentage type rate

"Rates raised on a percentage basis serve to increase our relative distance to the major consumption points. While we believe we can and should pay for the transportation service we use, we are a long way from our markets and our rates are already higher than those of our competitors who are closer to these markets," Henry said. He added that these percentage-increase results

"our load-down cost being disproportionately high compared to our competitors." Henry also said the percentage increase plan is failing the railroad system it seeks to preserve. He said only a "trickle of the benefit from each raise reaches the financially distressed railroads."

"It isn't enough to do the required job for them and just turns out to be a bonanza situation for some of our more profitable lines," he said.

Browning reports sales gain

MORGAN, Utah (UPI) — Browning Co., the firearms and sporting goods manufacturer, reported net income of $443,000 in 1974 after taking a $1,083,000 loss on the sale of its boat division.

The firm said Tuesday sales for the year increased 17 per cent, to $69.9 million, from 1973. Consolidated net income was $1,524,000, after elimination of a minority interest in a foreign subsidiary and a reduction of $391,000 by adoption of LIFO inventory evaluation. The boat division sale reduced the net to $443,000, up from $38,000 the previous year. "Earnings from continuing operations were four times greater than in 1973 even after the LIFO adjustment," the company said.

Cattle nutrition short course set

JEROME — A beef and cattle nutrition short course is planned Feb. 12 from 1 to 4 p.m. at Independent Meat Co. Twin Falls.

Jesse Wilson, Jerome County Extension Agricultural Agent, said anyone interested in attending the session should contact his office at the Jerome County courthouse.

The session will cover basic nutrition of beef cattle and is designed to expand the cattlemen's understanding of the principles of ruminant digestion, nutrient requirements, and ration formulation in relation to beef production, according to Wilson.

TF man assists in animal feed study

BOISE — A Boise State University student from Twin Falls, in company with a second BSU student, is conducting research on unsaturated fats in animal feed for a Boise-based firm.

Chris Hahn, Twin Falls, and Kevin Hoffmann, Boise, are conducting the research as a project for the BSU chemistry department. The students will study the amounts of unsaturated fats in animal feeds produced by Alta Lipids Ltd., Boise, and compare their results with chemists employed by the company.

The research chemist for Alta Lipids will test the fat contents through gas liquid chromatography, and his results will be compared to results obtained by Hahn and Hoffmann. The use of ultra-violet spectrophotometry, Dr. Jack Dalton, chairman of the BSU chemistry department, said the project will give the students "practical experience as well as independent study credits."

Schools scheduled for grain growers

BOISE (UPI) — A series of schools for cereal grain growers will be conducted in farm communities throughout southern and eastern Idaho this month.

Harold West, Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association, said the one-day sessions are cosponsored by the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service, the Idaho Feed Grain Dealers Association and the Utah-Idaho Grain Exchange. Topics pertinent to producing cereal grains, particularly wheat and barley, will be discussed.

The sessions will begin in Caldwell Monday; they will be conducted Feb. 19 in Pocatello and American Falls, Feb. 19 in Rexburg, Feb. 20 in Blackfoot, Feb. 21 in Idaho Falls, Feb. 24 in Buhl and Wendell and Feb. 25 in Burley.

Potlatch profit up

SA FRANCISCO (UPI) — Record profits of Potlatch Corp. in 1974 showed an increase of $11.3 million, the company reported.

Potlatch profits were $45,289,000, an increase from $33,979,000 the previous year. The earnings were equivalent to $6.20 per share. Sales for 1974 totalled $487,868,000, compared with $447,407,000 a year earlier.

However, earnings for the fourth quarter were down about $600,000 from the previous year.

ECONOMY TIP OF THE WEEK

Ever notice how long it takes the water to begin running hot from the basin faucet in the morning? If it cools down often during the day between uses you probably can save a small bundle by insulating all hot water pipes that run under the house. This should eliminate wasting all that water and the energy it took to heat it. The energy it takes to heat a couple of quarts of water would make a light bulb burn for quite some time (and we're all conscious about leaving lights burning needlessly these days). You'll still have to run off some water in the mornings but it will usually stay warm between uses throughout the day when the pipes are wrapped. Stop by soon for some pipe wrap fiberglass insulation.
