Korea's Park wins endorsement

SEOUL, (Chicago Daily News) — President Park Chung Hee won endorsement of his policies in a controversial national referendum that saw a drop of more than 20 per cent in public support for his authoritarian rule.

In the poll Wednesday, non-complete tabulation of the ballots showed about 73 per cent voting affirmatively and 25 per cent against, with invalid ballots making up the rest.

Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Carla Anderson Hills, 41, now an assistant attorney general, was nominated today by President Ford to become secretary of housing and urban development.

Mrs. Hills, if confirmed, will become the third woman in U.S. history to hold a cabinet post. She is presently in charge of the civil rights division and is an expert on antitrust laws.

Brezhnev turns up at Wilson talk

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev attended talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson today in his first public function since Dec. 24, the Tass news agency said.

Tass said Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko all were present when the talks began at the Kremlin.

Malangsa revolt ends; rebels quit

TANANARIVE, Malagasy (UPI) — The ruling military junta today said a rebel police unit whose members assassinated chief of state Richard Ratsimandrava has surrendered to loyal troops after bitter fighting.

The rebels hoisted a white flag after loyalist troops attacked their Antanimora camp outside the city and knocked down part of the wall, the junta said.

Looks up

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors chairman Thomas A. Murphy predicted Wednesday auto plant shutdowns could end by late March if the traditional upturn in auto sales occurs.

As he spoke, however, other company officials announced one-week closing of seven assembly plants, two of which are closed this week, now laid off indefinitely.

Nevada Assembly approves ERA

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Assembly Wednesday ratified the Equal Rights Amendment and sent the proposed constitutional change to the Senate, where it likely will pass.

The vote was 27 to 13 to ratify the amendment that says equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

Probes hit

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rep. Morgan Murphy said Wednesday there would be no need for a separate investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency if President Ford has appointed members to a commission designed specifically for such probes.

Murphy said he plans to introduce a resolution asking Ford to make the appointments, required by a bill passed by Congress in 1970.

Kissinger, Syrian chief confer

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Syria today from Cairo, saying his talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat were "very positive" and his Middle East peace mission was "still in business."

Kissinger met with Syrian President Hafez Assad shortly after arriving in Damascus.

Bipartisan Vietnam visit slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prompted by the administration's request for additional military aid, 20 senators and congressmen from both parties will go to South Vietnam and Cambodia to assess the situation, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said congressional leaders and the White House are at work selecting the bipartisan delegation going to Indochina to make "an honest assessment of the situation there."

Auto, Dixie layoffs boost jobless rolls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Automobile industry cutbacks and a spurt of layoffs in the South pushed the number of persons on unemployment insurance rolls to a record 4.8 million in the week ending Jan. 25, the Labor Department said today.

A total of 127,200 persons made initial claims for unemployment insurance that week, including 39,800 in Michigan, where the automobile industry is suffering harsh effects of the nation's economic recession.

There were also unusual spurts of new unemployment claims in Florida, Virginia, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina, the department said.

The department said 4,892,700 persons were receiving regular state unemployment insurance benefits on Jan. 25, a new high in the number of persons on regular claims in any one week.

The Labor Department said 5.6 million persons were actually receiving some form of unemployment benefits under all programs during that week. During the week ended Feb. 1, 749,700 persons filed initial claims under all programs. New legislation has provided unemployment insurance benefits coverage for about 12 million persons previously not protected and the change in the law was reflected in increase in initial claims that week. The increases in regular state claims in Virginia, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina were attributed to furloughs in the textile and apparel industries. In Florida, the rise was blamed on layoffs in food processing, trade and service industries.

The unemployment rate for those covered by state unemployment insurance rose from 7.2 to 7.4 per cent during the week of Jan. 25. A year earlier the rate was 4.1 per cent and about 2,566,900 workers were receiving benefits. The increases in benefits payments in Virginia rose 10,500 to 68,272.

Threats at Burley tied to 3rd party

BY DAVID BOCKMAN
Times News Writer

BURLEY — Threats to the principal figures on both sides of the controversy surrounding the firing of Burley's police chief are being attributed to a "third party."

Since ex-police chief Gary Booth's dismissal Monday, all members of the city council, police officers, a member of the citizens committee looking into the firing, and Booth himself have been the targets of anonymous and threatening phone calls.

So far, there have been two overt acts possibly related to the controversy over Booth's firing.

Acting police chief Kirby Harkness says the threats to people on both sides of the controversy are the result of a "third party."

In another development, Daryl D. Whitehead, a bishop of the Burley Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, has announced he is initiating a recall movement to oust the mayor and council, according to United Press International.

Whitehead said Wednesday he already had collected 200 signatures in the effort.

Ex-police chief Gary Booth told the Times-News, "I concur with Harkness."

Booth said, "I don't believe anyone now on the force, or off it, is being doing it. Maybe a hoodlum element is trying to take advantage of the situation."

L. V. Morgan, president of the City Council, and acting mayor when Booth was fired, said Wednesday all members of the City Council have received threats.

However, Morgan and the other councilmen declined to elaborate.

But, Councilman Cloyd Taylor, owner of Price's Cafe said a window and a light were broken at the cafe over the week-end. The vandalism occurred after the public learned Booth was to be fired.

The incident may be unrelated to the controversy, Taylor said. But, he noted, this is the first time in six years his cafe had been vandalized.

Ex-Chief Booth says he has also received one threat since his firing. Booth said a man called and in a muffled voice stated, "we'll get you."

Acting Chief Harkness, who assumed command of the Burley Police force when Booth was fired, said a threat had been received by the men who stayed on the job, rather than walked off with Booth.

Acting Chief Harkness, who assumed command of the Burley Police force when Booth was fired, said a threat had been received by the men who stayed on the job, rather than walked off with Booth.

The threat was to "make an example" of one of the men who stayed with the department, he said.

Wendell Campbell, a co-chairman of the "Citizens for Better Law Enforcement," a group that initiated a recall movement of city elected officials after they fired Booth, said he has been threatened three times since becoming involved in the controversy.

Campbell said, despite the threats, "I chose to go ahead and believe nothing will happen."

Campbell also attributed the threats to a third "issue" or force.

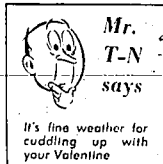

In an incident possibly related to the controversy, Paul Young, a policeman who threw in his badge with 16 others following Booth's firing, reported his home was burglarized Tuesday night.

Young is one on the organizers of the effort to recall the councilmen and the mayor.

The burglary apparently took place while Young was addressing a rally held to drum up support in the recall movement.

The burglary was investigated by Minidoka County Sheriff's deputy, Butch Schell, said entry to Young's home in rural Minidoka county, was gained by someone kicking in the front door.

Police equipment was taken in the burglary, according to Schell.

Wet snow blocks roads, cuts Blaine power lines

By BART QUESNELL
and KIT ARMSTRONG
Times-News writers

HAILEY — A wet snowstorm has closed schools and cut power throughout Blaine County. Telephone service was cut in the Carey area.

A Sun Valley spokesman said the valley floor has received 13 inches of wet snow in the last 24 hours. Bald Mountain has received 24 inches since Sunday, 12 of those inches falling in the last 24 hours.

Spokesman said the valley floor now has 45 inches of snow.

The Weather Service said another 12 inches of snow is expected to fall in Sun Valley before the current series of disturbances moves out of the area.

Elsewhere in the Magic Valley heavy rain fell. Gooding reported 80 inch. Twin Falls reported 20 and the weather service office at Kimberly, recorded 29.

James Terry, meteorologist, said about one-fourth of an inch of rain is expected in the Magic Valley area, but some mountain areas could receive heavy snow.

Terry said temperatures are expected to continue on the mild side and that the extended forecast calls for drier weather beginning Friday night or Saturday.

The Idaho State Police has issued traveler's warnings throughout Blaine County. The Idaho Highway Department, Shoshone, lists "snow floor and snowing and drilling between Galena Summit and Stanley" and snow floor and snowing on all highways in Blaine County.

The US Weather Bureau predicts continuing snow fall today with some clearing Friday.

Earl Paige, area manager for Idaho Power, said electrical power has been off since 1:30 a.m. from Ketchum to Carey.

A crew of workmen from Twin Falls was expected to arrive this morning if Paige said. The 46,000 volt transmission line between Twin Falls and Hailey is dead, Paige said.

"Every available man from the offices here is out working the lines," Paige said. "This is as bad as I've seen since I've been here."

Wet snow and fairly warm temperatures are causing breakage in the lines and this that of power, he said.

Paige said a Ketchum crew would be down to the new substation north of Hailey as soon as they can dig out of their driveways. The crews will switch power over to the new generator, Paige said, for temporary emergency power.

Power was still out in homes north of Hailey, Ketchum and Bellevue this morning, Paige said he hoped the power would be on later today.

County and city road and street crews have been working through the night. However, many areas are still snowed in.

Mrs. Jack Flemingway north of Ketchum said, "There's a ton of snow here."

She said the family is snowed in completely and the snowfall is as heavy as she has seen in it the seven years she has lived here.

Mrs. Jim Donnat, also north of Ketchum, said the county plow was on its third round into their Lake Creek home. She said the plow had to dig out a small rock and snow slide on US Highway 93 to get to their home.

Gem tax relief chances appear better in House

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

BOISE — Chances for ongoing tax relief are in the House but remain dim in the Senate.

The House has already passed two bills which would return part of the state's predicted $22-$23 million surplus to taxpayers. But the chamber has not acted on any measure designed to lower state taxes — and revenues — in the future.

Wednesday, however, the House Revenue and Taxation Committee passed on a party line vote a measure which would permanently reduce income taxes seven per cent and grant a $20 grocery tax rebate.

Committee chairman Rep. Steve Antone, R-Floppert, believes that this bill, given a 'do pass' recommendation in committee, probably will pass the House.

Senate leaders are skeptical about the proposal's chances of passing their chamber.

Two underlying issues are involved: growth of government and the economy.

Even with legislative revenue projections for fiscal 1976 nearly $8 million under the projections made by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, the legislative estimate would allow about $10 million for expansion of state services.

According to Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, a maintenance of effort budget would require $216 million in state funds.

But the legislature has predicted there will be $220 in revenues next year, up 21 per cent from the $181 million in revenues projected for this year.

Nol orders base pullout

PHNOM PENH (UPI) —

President Lon Nol has ordered evacuation of a second key Mekong River base in six days, leaving a large portion of Cambodia's vital river lifeline in Communist hands.

Military sources said today Lon Nol ordered the pullout from Dey Doh, 24 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, because he suspected the base could no longer be held, even by helicopter.

There was no word of the fate of the civilian population of 10,000, but sources said up to 3,000 civil servants, students and all the town's men were armed.

Communist-led insurgents Tuesday and Wednesday fired rockets into the base, 800 miles at least on the 2,100 government defenders, the command said.

Military observers in Phnom Penh said it was impossible for civilians to get out of the area to more secure cities or even to the capital.

The sources said the loss of Dey Doh leaves government forces in control of only about 20 per cent of the 142 miles of shoreline linking Phnom Penh to South Vietnam.

A convoy of rice and war equipment was sent to make the run to Phnom Penh from South Vietnam, they said.

Military analysts said the only alternative to the convoy was a massive U.S. airlift of about 100 aircraft a day. There now are 20 American planes flying to Phnom Penh daily.

Cambodia's command last week ordered evacuation of the base at Prek Pnom, 18 miles Southeast of Phnom Penh, in the face of deteriorating security for convoys making the Mekong run from South Vietnam to the capital.

In Vietnam, tight government security measures prevented Communist forces from carrying out expected attacks against cities and military positions during the three-day Lunar New Year holiday, the government said.

Command spokesman Lt. Le Trung Hien told newsmen the Communist campaign of large-scale attacks on cities and military installations "has failed."

He listed 67 Communist ground attacks, shelling and act of sabotage in South Vietnam between dawn Wednesday and today, but said the level of fighting was low.

Government warplanes Wednesday hit Communist - strongholds in Binh Tuy and Tay Ninh, 75 east and 50 miles north of Saigon, and in the Mekong Delta, killing a total of 47 Communist soldiers.

"We still have experiences of the 1968 New Year offensive and the government has imposed all necessary measures to thwart such attacks," Hien said.

Release requires matching

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Director of Transportation Darrell Manning said the release of $23 million in unexpended highway funds will require about $15 million of state matching funds.
Manning said Wednesday the funds include projects that are eligible for 100 per cent federal money down to others that will require only 70 per cent federal money.
"Then we also have received word of early release of some of the 1976 fiscal year funds which will amount to about, for the projects we can fund, $19.3 million. The state match required there would be $2.3 million," he said.

Gunman wounds 5 Illinois cops

HARVEY, Ill. (UPI) — Five policemen were wounded — two critically — early today by a bearded gunman who came out of his car shooting after being stopped for a routine traffic violation.
Officers, many off duty and working on their own time, launched a door-to-door search for the gunman in Chicago. Police came out and a helicopter were called in to assist.
Patrolman Frank Maslanta of Harvey stopped the gunman's car. He was shot in the head as he approached the auto but managed to radio for assistance. The policeman was hospitalized in critical condition at Ingalls Memorial Hospital, where he was undergoing surgery.
The gunman, identified by police as Timothy Johnson, 28, fled in his car, taking the fallen policemen's two-way radio with him.
Police, with the license number of the suspect's auto radioed to them by Maslanta, went to Johnson's home where he had fled up.
Johnson's family left the building and Johnson, armed with a pistol and an M-1 carbine, opened fire on the police, wounding four officers, one critically.
"It sounded like a war out there," one officer said.
"I thought there was a riot going on."

Israelis set terms for Egypt accords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israel has set three conditions for a first-step agreement with Egypt, including use of the Suez Canal, a Middle East diplomat said Wednesday.
The diplomat, with close connections to the Israeli government, told United Press International the Israeli's three key conditions are:
— Freedom of the Suez Canal for Israeli civilian ships.
— Freedom of travel for tourists and other non-Israelis across such now closed borders as those between Egypt and Israel and Lebanon and Israel.
— An end to the Arab boycott of American and other western companies doing business in Israel.
The diplomat stressed they are not the conditions of a Middle East peace settlement. "He said they were steps to be taken to achieve a fresh Israeli-Egyptian agreement on the way toward Middle East peace."
In return for those concessions by Egypt and her allies, Israel would be prepared to make unspecified withdrawals further back in the Sinai Peninsula, the desert battle ground separating Israel proper from the Suez Canal.
The diplomat said the terms were made clear to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, now seeking peace formulas in the Middle East.

Gen money decision must wait

BOISE (UPI) — The chairmanship of the House Transportation Committee said Wednesday it is too early to determine whether Idaho should find money to match additional federal highway funds.
Rep. John Sessions, R-Idaho, said it is difficult at this point to say when the ruling of Federal Judge John Lewis Smith will stand. The judge Wednesday ordered the $1 billion in unexpended federal highway trust funds.
But meantime, Sessions said he was happy with the President's announcement of intentions to raise $2 billion in unexpended funds.
"Our surplus still hasn't been committed and our legislature has options as to disposition of the surplus and I would hope the legislators to provide the necessary matching funds from the state level," Sessions said.
"I think it would be wrong to raise the gasoline tax to match these funds in view of we do have a surplus that can be used for this purpose."

Chances for tax relief bill improve in house

This is a far faster expansion of state revenues than the 12 percent rate of inflation.
Figures from the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee show that the trend has been long standing.
In 1971 the state's general fund budget stood at $18 million, or 54 per cent below fiscal 1975 levels. That reflects an average 11 per cent yearly rise, far above the level of inflation during those four years.
General fund appropriations are based on projected revenues.

The rapid increase in state funds, combined with an even more rapid increase in federal funding, has meant expansion of state spending either for higher state employee salaries, new programs or expanded programs.
Conservative legislators who oppose such expansion believe more revenues should be returned to the people.
But even these lawmakers are hesitant to propose permanent revenue cutbacks when the economy is shaky.

Burglary charged

TWIN FALLS — A 23-year-old Twin Falls man and a 16-year-old Wendell juvenile were taken into custody Wednesday in connection with a salvage yard theft earlier this month.
Sheriff Paul Corder said Kurland P. Nalkin, 21, Twin Falls, was charged with first degree burglary and juvenile petitions are being prepared to take the Wendell youth into court.
Corder said a burglary at the A-1 Salvage Yards in Twin Falls late Feb. 4 or early Feb. 5 resulted in the loss of 500 pounds of copper wire and about 40 pounds of copper tubing. Corder said the missing copper has been recovered in Boise where it was sold for $100.

No-fault bills similar

BY BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Capital Bureau
BOISE — The three no-fault car insurance bills coming before the senate this session are alike in one way.
Each provides that one's own insurance company automatically pays basic medical expenses and at least partly make up wages lost to automobile accidents.
But the three proposals vary on the amount of automatic compensation offered. They also differ on when a person can file a lawsuit for damages.
Under Idaho's present liability car insurance system, the insurance company of the driver at fault only pays the medical bills and lost wages of the other driver involved in an accident.
Supporters of no-fault insurance argue that this system is wasteful and inequitable in that it results in costly fact finding and court disputes between insurance companies; inadequate in that half the people involved in automobile accidents receive no recovery for damages.
Opponents of no-fault insurance such as Sen. James Yost, R-Wendell, argue that fault should be determined and the person at fault should pay through higher insurance premiums.
But even the supporters of no-fault have fundamental disagreements.
The purest no-fault bill being introduced this session would make insurance compulsory. This insurance would provide unlimited medical and rehabilitation expenses, pay up to $1,000 per month to replace lost wages or in survivors benefits, and pay for services the injured would not be able to perform for himself or his family.
If one chooses to buy a higher cost policy, the benefits would be greater.

Rhodes explains Ford's budget proposal in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — House Minority Leader John Rhodes, R-Ariz., said Wednesday the president's budget proposals reflect the realities of federal government today brought on by past legislation.
Speaking at the Lincoln Day banquet in Boise, Rhodes said conservatives "were less than enthusiastic over the size of the 1976 budget."
"We were not thrilled by the magnitude of the deficit that could possibly be run up," he said, "but we cannot justly blame the President."
Rhodes said "the President merely cut the pattern from the material Congress gave him. More than 75 per cent was already obligated — and much of the rest funds vital services."
But Rhodes fingered Congress as "willing to lay at the doorstep of the White House anything that appears to be publicly unpopular."
He said that while former President Lyndon B. Johnson would cut elements from the budget such as the school lunch program knowing Congress would put them back, President Gerald Ford "wants the American people to know what government is doing."

Rhodes said the Republicans "have fallen down on the job of pinning the tail on the donkey."
He said the 94th Congress will be "a wait-and-see Congress."
The Republicans are at the lowest ebb in Congress since the 1930s with only 10 per cent of the American voters classifying themselves as Republicans.
He said the two party system will be in jeopardy if the party's strength is not restored.
Blaming the Democrats for economic programs that are leading to national bankruptcy, Rhodes said there is "a habit in this country of putting off any tough stand on legislative actions by kidding ourselves that we will do it when things get back to normal."
In our swift-changing world, there is no normal, he said. "We can never get back to some yearned-for good old days. Life moves."
He said inflation must be fought of every level, now, and one way to get the job done is to elect more Republicans to office.
He predicted an upsurge of Republicanism in the biennial years.

Air route extended

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Sun Valley Key Airlines has received permission from the Nevada Public Utilities Commission to extend its Salt Lake-Elio route to service Reno, Nev.
Edward H. Rich, president of the regional carrier, said the route would be extended Friday. Before the Nevada Public Utilities Commission authorized the service, United Airlines was the only carrier flying between Salt Lake and Reno.
Sun Valley Key's airplanes will be serviced at Reno by Hughes Aircraft. The commuter carrier provides daily schedules to more than a dozen communities in California, Nevada and Colorado.

Indexing taxes

Wall Street Journal

The Congressional Joint Economic Committee reported the other day that the biggest price increase in the current inflation has come in the price of government.

While food rose 11.9% and transportation rose 14.3%, the income taxes paid by a middle-income family increased 26.5%.

The report strikes us as highly significant, especially since the committee is chaired by the redoubtable Hubert Humphrey. It is a welcome sign that the liberal community is awakening to the dangers of a high tax load, and more specifically to the tax-increasing effect of progressive taxes during a period of inflation.

As the committee noted, the chief tax increase came not because of congressional action, but simply because inflation pushes everyone into higher and higher tax brackets.

As further evidence of liberal concern, we note that The Washington Post editorially goes so far as to blame the current recession on this aspect of the tax laws. "The basic reasons for it are no mystery."

First of all, the country has had a series of terrific tax increases over the past two years... Even though the average family had less buying power, inflation was raising its income taxes by pushing it into higher tax brackets just as the economy began to slow down.

We would hope that this liberal concern will mature into broad-based support for indexing the income tax, that is, inserting automatic adjustments to offset the effects of inflation.

Canada has already adapted this proposal, and these columns have been urging it on the United States for some time now. The new liberal interest is coupled with long-standing support from many conservatives.

It has been a principal tenet of Milton Friedman's new society. In the last few weeks it has also been specifically proposed by a group of conservative Congressmen led by New York's Jack Kemp.

Liberal discovery of the perverse interaction between inflation and progressive taxes has been spurred by the observation that this effect is most heavily felt by middle- and lower-income taxpayers. This is bound to be true so long as there is any maximum rate. Obviously the fellow paying 72% is not going to be pushed into a high bracket (though a greater proportion of his income will be pushed into the top bracket).

Conservatives are interested, among other reasons, because of the hope that indexing might be some sort of discipline on government. As it is, the federal government is perhaps the only segment of society that actually profits from inflation, which is why we have called the adjustment proposal "de-indexing the government."

Currently the government's income is not only indexed, to hold real income constant, it is super-indexed, so that its real income is increased by inflation. Since the government also controls the policies that cause or cure inflation, this is probably society's number-one conflict of interest.

To whatever extent the government's spending is related to its income, indexing might slow spending. This may make it hard to sell to some liberal lawmakers, who may not want to give up the luxury of having more real resources to devote to liberal programs without the necessity of voting for higher taxes.

Conversely, indexing is opposed by conservatives who think it would slow income but not spending. Apparently it was killed within the Ford administration by Arthur Burns, who feared it would further blot future deficits and exacerbate his problems in running monetary policy.

Yet indexing would be a far better investment in the future than the administration's one-shot tax rebate, a purely political sop to tax cutting with little or no long-range economic impact. Since the administration has dropped the ball, we can only hope that Senator Humphrey and other Capitol Hill Democrats will pick it up, starting hearings on the not insignificant problems of working out the correct details.

An indexing system would make the government face up to its policies, and as the Post suggests, would give it a truer picture of its impact on the economy.

But most of all, it would end the unseemly spectacle of the government taking more taxes from the people already suffering the tax of inflation. In the end, the liberals are right. The strongest argument for indexing the income tax is the argument deriving from equity.

Thought for the day

A thought for the day: American President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "The truth is found when men are free to pursue it."

Latest Mideast shuttle Henry's most difficult

PARIS — Secretary Kissinger's Middle East shuttle in search of a glimmer of Arab-Israeli peace is the most urgent and most difficult of his negotiating career.

Threats of war resounding through the Palestine area are, despite diplomatic trappings, fundamentally more ominous and more heavily supplied by masses of modern armament than ever before.

Kissinger's remarkable pacifying success to date can, in a sense, be measured by standards long defined by experts. For example, in the 17th Century Francis de Callieres, chief diplomat for French King Louis XIV, recommended:

"The negotiator must possess the patience of a watch-maker and be devoid of personal prejudices." Kissinger maintains an air of patient optimism and he doesn't often permit his prejudices to slip into public. Moreover, he is by training a professor, not a lawyer like many of his predecessors. Callieres believed: "In general, the training of a lawyer breeds habits and dispositions of mind which are not favorable to the practice of diplomacy."

Nevertheless, despite his skill, Kissinger is at a disadvantage in approaching the new round of negotiations. To begin with, Sir Harold Nicolson wrote: "A democracy, when dealing with" despotic system, is always at a disadvantage, since its decisions can never be either so secret or so quick. The real "other side" in present Middle East talks is the Soviet Union, which we regard as "a despotic system."

Finally the new era of "open diplomacy," so strongly emphasized by President Wilson after World War I, has now become an embarrassment to Washington, its sponsor. Congress is trying to get its own U.S. foreign policy: not just its financing or its goals, but its operations.

More important is politicizing of secret exchanges. Kissinger has already suffered damage both to his cause and to his prestige by insistence — either through political inquisitiveness or press leakage — of highly confidential aspects of negotiations in midstream. This has been true of talks on a Vietnam settlement, on the Middle East, and on trade and detente with Russia.

I certainly cannot agree with that brutal cynic, Stalin, who claimed: "Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water, or wooden air." And I do agree with those who warn the public of a democracy to know what foreign policy is being implemented for their national and collective fate.

Yet I do not believe such things can or should be viewed prematurely for reasons of internal politics or individual argumentation. That only serves to make "sincere diplomacy" impossible and produces stalemate. If not worse.

Louis XI's great negotiator, Philippe de Commines, thought, however, "Two great princes who wish to establish good personal relations should never meet face to face." Nixon and Mao? Ford and Brezhnev?

That long-enduring, medieval complex has, in any case, been overcome. "Princes" now meet so often that such an event is no longer generally even notable. But when one "prince" is the head of a democracy or its foreign minister — he should at least have his own rear protected.

He must be shielded from legislative usurpation of his executive functions on behalf of the president. He must, also, be protected from the great and expensive American tendency to kibitz at diplomatic games — and then tell the opponents what cards our negotiator is clutching to his chest.

Soft boiled Communist

LONDON — In 1971, on receiving the news that their shipyards were going out of business, the Upper Clyde Shipbuilders in Glasgow undertook a novel form of protest.

They simply appeared at work, as though nothing had happened, and went on building boats. The "work-in," as it was called, was the inspiration of a young man who in hours became a national legend. Jimmy Reid is his name, and the pressures he galvanized on that epochal occasion are said by some to emerge as the cause of the defeat of Edward Heath.

Jimmy Reid is not everywhere accepted as the proximate cause of Heath's defeat. But he is a considerable presence in Great Britain — his work-in was what made him instantly famous. What then happened was that he entered the race for rector of Glasgow University.

Now the process of electing a rector of a university in Great Britain is one of those eccentricities for which there is no counterpart in any other nation. It is a kind of celebrity contest. In 1972, the students elected Jimmy Reid.

What was scandalous about the vote wasn't that they had elected a labor union organizer. He is a functioning official of the Communist Party of Great Britain.

The moment arrived for his inaugural speech. It lasted 45 minutes, and he spoke without notes. At the end everyone in the hall — students, alumni, faculty, even the press — stood up and gave him an ovation.

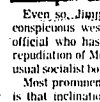

One who wonders how it is possible in a civilized country to cheer a person who is a member of the Communist Party over which the Soviet Union has undisputed control. I bring cheerful tidings. Jimmy Reid, though a Communist in good standing in Great Britain, does not hesitate to criticize the Soviet Union. He protested the tanks in Hungary, the invasion of Czechoslovakia, the censorship of Solzhenitsyn. Asked whether this jeopardizes his standing in the party, he replies as though the question were utterly foolish, lacking in any historical plausibility. It is more important to note the fragmentation of Soviet discipline than the enragement of an English Communist who acts as though there never was a time when Joseph Stalin dictated his commands to the party in England.

Jimmy Reid has run several times for a seat in the House of Commons, and always he has lost, heavily, even though — as he puts it — his popularity in Scotland is greater "greater than Bonnie Prince Charlie's."

Even so, Jimmy Reid emerged as the most conspicuous system symbol of a Communist official who has apparently got away with a reputation of Moscow. What is left over is the usual socialist boilerplate.

Most prominently featured, in Jimmy Reid's, is that inclination to a cast-translation of all problems which is harmonious with Marxist analysis. Jimmy Reid wants to cut down the richer people in England, never mind which doing so helps the poor people. It helps the rich too, he explains. In doing so, he reveals that he has autocratic leanings, in pursuit of socialist moralism, which make him, if not a Communist in good standing, at least a socialist in good standing.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Even so, Jimmy Reid emerged as the most conspicuous system symbol of a Communist official who has apparently got away with a reputation of Moscow. What is left over is the usual socialist boilerplate.

One dinner cannot change a writer's opinion . . .

WASHINGTON — I was invited to a state dinner by the White House last week in honor of Prime Minister Bhutto of Pakistan.

This was the first time I went to the White House officially. The Ford's been making strange phone to her parties, and White House dinner wachers figure they're working from an old Nixon enemies folder which they mistakenly believe was the social list.

There is always the danger when a newspaperman is asked to break bread with a President and his wife that he can be compromised. How can he partake of the food and wine and still keep his objectivity? This is a problem most White House press people have to deal with. I am happy to say that the Bhutto dinner has not affected my attitude toward the administration one bit.

I still believe President Ford is the greatest leader this nation has ever known. His economic program is flawless, and his budget is probably the clearest document since the Declaration of Independence.

It is inconceivable that Congress would set roadblocks in the way of the administration's program. In dealing with the recession and inflation, the President has presented the most comprehensive plan ever worked out by brilliant economists, oil experts and financial advisers. If this program were adapted, prices would go down, employment would go up and America would once again enjoy prosperity.

The problem as it lies now, is that Congress refuses to bite the bullet. Instead of joining forces with our President, it is voting inflationary programs that could break the back of efforts to hold down government spending.

By voting to reject the needed legislation to turn this country around, the Democrats are playing politics with the economy.

I have always had an open mind on the energy problems the United States faces.

But after President Ford explained it to me, while we were drinking coffee, I am now convinced that the only answer to this nation's self-sufficiency is a $1 trillion in imported oil, de-regulation of prices for domestic gas reserves and a postponement of environmental regulations in favor of getting coal and oil out of the ground.

I had the good fortune of talking to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger at the same dinner. I have now concluded it was a mistake to cut off aid to Turkey, refuse arms to South Vietnam and Cambodia and investigate the CIA.

Our foreign policy has been severely wounded by the ambitions of certain Democratic senators who have their eye on the White House in 1976. Congress must leave the President and Kissinger alone if we are to achieve the goals of peace.

It was no accident that Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and I agreed over cognac and a cigar that his farm policies were the only ones that this country should follow. I couldn't believe this man had been vilified by a media who wouldn't know the truth if it was right in front of their eyes.

As I dined with Mrs. Ford after dinner I decided I was glad I had accepted her invitation to the White House. All my fears about being taken in were groundless. One meal cannot change a man's opinion of our President or his gracious First Lady. Not since Dolley Madison. (C) Los Angeles Times

Letters

Writer defends opinion on ERA

Editor, Times-News:
Recently, in attacking "Ms. Hendry of Jerome" for my letter to the editor of ERA, Marjorie Slotten, president, League of Women Voters of Idaho, accuses me of disseminating "misinformation" as to the Equal Rights Amendment.

Firstly, "Ms Hendry" never submitted such a letter. "Ms." Hendry, wife, mother, grandmother, did Ms. Slotten may thus be guilty of "misinformation!"

Secondly, she opines I am "inaccurate" in stating that Idaho women have always had the "right" to administer estates, citing a legal case, where, she says, "the high Court struck down a law which discriminated against women."

Readers may wish to study this case in Idaho Reports 1970-1972, No. 94, P. 542, Sally M. Reed, Plaintiff Respondent, vs. Cecil R. Reed, Administrator, in the Matter of the Estate of Richard Lynn Reed, deceased, Defendant Appellant. Attorney Charles S. Stout, Boise, represented the plaintiff, and Derr, Derr & Walters, Boise and Robert F. McCaughlin, Mountain Home, represented the Respondent.

After the death of an adopted minor son, the mother, who had separated from the father, filed a petition in the probate court of Ada County, seeking appointment as administratrix of her son's estate. The father then filed a competing petition. The Probate Court first ordered that letters of administration be issued to the father. On appeal the District Court named the mother administratrix; the Idaho Supreme Court re-instated the father; on reaching the U.S. Supreme Court, the decision was reversed and the mother named as administratrix. A pretty costly process for all of us in what appears to be a "test case." Even if successful in Idaho law became apparent, remedial action has always been through our State Legislature; certainly this would not be justification for asking that the U.S. Constitution be amended through ERA.

Idaho legislators may remember the first public "hearing" after passage of the ERA in Idaho. There, possibly 1000 Idaho women, most unaffiliated as to any "organization" were in attendance. Having helped conduct such "hearings" two years earlier when I had served as secretary to the state agriculture committee, I was surprised to see a list of about 70 names on the desk at the entryway to the hearing room; names sent earlier to the legislator who was to chair the hearing, as being members of the LWV who wished to "testify." Knowing this process to be highly irregular, I spoke to a responsible Senator who assured me he would talk to the Representative chairing the meeting. He also suggested that, others attending should sign, the roster indicating they wished to be heard; since, unless they did so, only League members might be testifying. Others, who had initially come only to listen, did so; otherwise, the "citizen input" desired by responsible legislators would have reflected only views of the LWV. Most League members, when testifying, did not identify themselves, as being LWV members, but they all seemed to carry identical folders from which they presented their prepared speeches!

Now, as a short-time, one-time member of the LWV, was not surprised at the League's message, or the obvious intent to dominate a meeting. During the 1970s, and wishing to become "informed" as to national affairs, etc., I had prepared from my own research a talk Cutting The Tax Pie, dealing with distribution of tax monies at the local level. I delivered my talk, under League auspices, to a number of civic and government organizations in Boise, where I was warmly acclaimed as the "spark of the League of Women Voters."

That spark died about two weeks after my last presentation, when I was asked to take on a new subject — McCarthy and His Enemies. At a meeting of the League, in my own home, I commented that the subject should be easily researched, especially since Buckley and Bozell had just released their book, "McCarthy and His Enemies." I was politely but firmly informed that on such a "national" issue I would be permitted to use only "material coming from National." When I asked what that might be, I was given two articles, both of them written by individuals who had invoked the 5th Amendment when questioned as to subversive activities by a Congressional Committee. Assured the State and local groups would ignore the "national" edict, I non-politically, from that "monopolized," truth-seeking, conglomerate, and my suspicions as to its conduct have remained, proven to be quite justified, over the years.

In 1965 Human Events released a study, "The League of Women Voters — It's Political Slip is Showing." Charges therein are as valid in 1975 as they were in 1965 and 1966, when I had my awakening. Many, desiring to become "informed" and "active" in promoting good government, are rather "brainwashed" by their national board, it is contended. "Education materials" published by the League, "are consciously directed to produce liberal conclusions on the issues involved," and the question is raised concerning positions taken on national and international issues as well as the "editorial content" of the LWV National Board in the selecting, wording and nature of positions, where it is claimed "the League is, most reprehensible in its tactics."

I strongly support these charges, and can personally attest to their authenticity. Legislators and Congressional delegates must give heed to LWV "in-pull" if they are to properly "represent" us — both men and women.

Sincerely,
MRS. TERESSA D. HENDRY
Jerome

Firearms control aims at all guns

Editor, Times-News:
In the Feb. 7 issue of the Times-News an editorial by Andrew Tully prompted me to write.

The issue of firearms control is very emotional to be sure. Anyone who is emotional enough as to believe that outlawing handguns will do away with homicides has no business being out of the kindergarten room.

As to the inference about the Second Amendment not guaranteeing the right of the people to keep and bear arms is preposterous. The makers of the Bill of Rights were masters of the English language. I can't believe these masters meant the amendment to have so many hidden meanings. The purpose of the right of the people to keep and bear arms was included in the Bill of Rights because the original 12 states were afraid of too strong a central government and the right of the people to keep and bear arms was meant to insure the right of the people to revolution as a final measure.

Those people who cry for gun control always say all they want to outlaw is handguns. Don't you believe it. Anytime the government regulates the rights of the people these rights in the area concerned are lost. Remember when the Supreme Court ruled the personal income tax unconstitutional? Remember when Prohibition was the law of the land?

I sincerely urge any person concerned with the rights to freedom to write their congressmen and urge them to vote against any laws restricting the possession, sale and use of firearms of all types except firearms outlawed under the National Firearms Act of 1934 (machineguns, sawed off shotguns etc.).

Anyone who cannot realize results by this method should remember to vote these off-decals out of office on election day.

Council control goes to Rocky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has decided to give Nelson Rockefeller control of the Domestic Council by naming the vice president's closest associate as its top official, according to White House sources.

The sources said the Rockefeller aides will be named within a few days to head the council's 30-member staff.

White House sources and top Rockefeller associates confirmed Wednesday the President has approved Rockefeller's plan to reorganize the council into a long-range planning body for the administration.

The proposal has caused some disagreement among top Ford aides who fear it would give the vice president too much power.

Rockefeller met twice Wednesday with Ford and top White House aides, reportedly to discuss the Domestic Council plan.

The two Rockefeller aides Ford has in mind to run the council are James Cannon and Richard Danham. Cannon, 56, Rockefeller's $41,000 a year assistant for domestic affairs, and a longtime associate of the former New York governor, will be named executive director of the council. He will replace "Nixon" administration holdover Kenneth Cole, whose resignation is effective March 2.

Danham, Rockefeller's top financial expert, who served as his New York State budget director, will become deputy director of the council. Danham also received $41,000 annually on the Rockefeller staff.

The council is composed of Cabinet-level officials in the domestic field, but the work is done largely by the staff.

In naming Rockefeller aides to the top positions, Ford has given his vice president the strongest policy role the post has carried in years. Ford made the decision despite the advice of some of his top aides who said the staff should remain under the control of the White House.

New conservative party possible

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leading conservatives, hurt by recent political setbacks, began a four-day meeting today facing the question of whether to establish a new party to advocate a right-wing philosophy.

The possibility of forming a national Conservative Party has been revived in recent months by a series of events: the defeat of many conservatives in the 1974 elections, the appointment of liberal Republican Nelson Rockefeller to the vice presidency and the movement of President Ford to heavy deficit financing in his first budget.

These matters will be discussed at a four-day Conservative Political Action Conference under sponsorship of the American Conservative Union and Young Americans for Freedom.

The sessions will draw leading conservative politicians and advocates, including former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, Rep. John Ashbrook, 10th mo., Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., Mississippi Republican chairman Clark Reed, Indianapolis News editor M. Stanton Evans, the ACM chairman, Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., and former poverty program director, Howard Phillips.

She quit — and saved

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — Mrs. Clair Manjack quit a special bank account when she quit smoking in 1969. There's $4,500 in it now. "I'm smoking about a carton a week," she said. "At first I put $3 a week in the account and later raised it to $4 after the prices went up. Now I suppose I should raise the deposits again."

Mrs. Manjack's husband, Frank, quit smoking five years before her. He saved the savings to play Santa Claus to needy children during the Christmas holidays.

Buying insurance would not be compulsory under this system. But those insured would be guaranteed up to $5,000 in medical care over two years, 70 per cent of their lost wages, up to $200 a month for a year period, and up to $12 a day for a year to replace services lost.

The bill does not provide for minimum survivor benefits in case of death.

According to Caldwell attorney Dean Miller, this proposal would still grant basic protection to all persons, regardless of fault. "We don't take away your right to go to court," he says.

Miller admits that it would most premiums for the more comprehensive coverage. But he asserts that the cost is worth the preservation of the right to sue.

CIA, WH status probe eyed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Howard Baker said Wednesday the commission examining possible abuses by the Central Intelligence Agency should examine its relationship to the White House back to its fourth under President Truman.

He wants to see whether the presidents knew what the CIA was up to.

Richard Nixon, as the only living ex-president, should be called a valuable witness, Baker said.

Baker, a Tennessee Republican, is one of nine members of the commission named by President Ford and headed by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, to investigate possible misuse of powers by the CIA.

"I am sure the Congress did not have effective oversight of the intelligence community," Baker said. "I am fearful the White House didn't either."

The records of contacts and coordination between past presidents and the intelligence agency should be examined to determine how much the former presidents knew of CIA activities, Baker proposed.

The probe should go all the way back to the Truman administration, he said.

Truman approved establishment of the CIA in the early days of the Cold War just after the end of World War II, to replace the Office of Strategic Services, the spy agency which was abolished at the end of the war.

Baker said he would like to see the commission question Nixon or at least examine documentary records of his relations with the CIA.

Women, minority bias widespread, panel says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Rights Commission said today there is abundant evidence of widespread discrimination against women and minorities in the nation's revenue sharing program.

The commission, in the fourth of its series of reports on the federal civil rights enforcement effort, recommended President Ford ask Congress for $7.5 million to hire 300 more civil rights compliance personnel under the general revenue sharing program.

"Abundant evidence indicates that discrimination in the employment practices and delivery of benefits of state and local governments is far-reaching, often extending to programs funded by general revenue sharing," the commission said.

The revenue sharing program is designed to transfer operation of domestic programs away from the federal government to the state and local governments. Under it, more than $30 billion in financial aid has been given to 39,000 state and local governments.

The commission said it found that the Office of Revenue Sharing, which has responsibility for overall administration of the act, has not taken "adequate steps to ensure that it has sufficient civil rights compliance staff to conduct even a minimally effective civil rights enforcement program."

While noting congressional allocations place "severe limitations" on the size of the office staff had used for too few of "those" positions for civil rights specialists.

It said the office's coordination with other agencies with which its civil rights duties overlap has been "inadequate."

"One problem in the enforcement of the civil rights requirement," the commission said, "is that revenue sharing funds may be used to free funds which in turn may be used for discriminatory purposes."

It said ORS has found it difficult to trace such funds and thus has no mechanism to ensure against their misuse.

The Commission said President Ford should direct the secretary of the Treasury to "restructure the civil rights compliance program" under revenue sharing to secure better monitoring and "should direct the Department of Justice to take the lead in the immediate development of standards for a governmentwide civil rights compliance program under revenue sharing."

Cash lures car buyers

DETROIT (UPI) — Rebates are great, but Ford Motor Co. has a better idea — a multimonth cash premium to lure 2 million Americans into Ford dealerships by promising them up to $1,000 just for having their used cars appraised.

The No. 2 automaker began the mail campaign Wednesday in the industry's first response to the question: "What happens when the rebates end Feb. 28?" Industry executives fear a sharp sales dropoff once the inducement of $200 to $600 rebates ends.

While Ford was trying to keep the rebate-inspired momentum going, General Motors was selling its way out of its backlog of unsold cars. GM Chairman Thomas Murphy said the leading automaker was dropping the new car program and will begin recalling the old workers.

Murphy said temporary plant shutdowns could end by late March and that some of the 124,000 workers on open-ended layoffs could return to work by spring. By the end of the year, he said, the number of idled GM workers could be fewer than 28,000.

However, GM said it will have several assembly plants closed next week, compared to five this week. This will idle 13,405 workers for the one week, up 100 from last week.

Ford's post-rebate traffic-building gimmick, believed the first of its kind in the auto industry, was billed from the contests offered by magazine publishers.

In Ford's case, the recipient brings the coupon and a used car to a dealer and can receive 100 per cent of the appraised value — up to $1,000 — if the "Value Check" bears a lucky number. There's no requirement that the used car be traded in or a new car purchased.

Idaho no-fault measures similar

Policies still would be obtained from one's own insurance company. But the benefits would be more comprehensive than regular liability insurance.

Despite the greater coverage, premiums could be expected to drop six to eight per cent under this system, according to Jerry Wilson, American Insurance Association attorney.

In a legislative hearing Tuesday night Wilson cited a federal transportation study showing that $2.7 billion yearly goes to pay investigation and legal fees arising from accidents.

These costs are passed on to the consumer by raising the price of liability insurance. $7.8 billion of which is now being sold yearly, he said.

Under the purest no-fault bill, lawsuits would be allowed in only the most extreme circumstances. One could file a "pain and suffering" suit of more than $5,000 only if an accident causes death, inability to work for more than six months, "significant permanent disfigurement" or "serious permanent disfigurement."

One could also file suit against a person not holding insurance. That person still automatically would be covered by an insurance pool all companies would contribute to, but would receive less compensation.

Idaho attorneys take issue with this form of no-fault insurance. They argue it would take away an individual's right to file suit.

The attorney's bill, backed by the Idaho Bar Association and Trial Lawyers Association, would permit suits to be filed under any circumstances.

According to Sen. John Barker, the proposal provides for a compulsory insurance which would guarantee up to $5,000 medical payments for a one-year period; a $1,000 limit on funeral expenses, up to $50 a week for a year to replace 85 per cent of lost wages or the equivalent in survivors' benefits, and up to $12 per day to replace services.

The bill would be allowed only in cases where medical expenses exceed $1,500 or when death or permanent, serious injury occurs.

The measure would allow attorneys to take no more than one-third of a person's recovery from a lawsuit.

According to Barker, this bill is "basically a middle-of-the-road proposal" which would allow suit in some circumstances and still give comprehensive coverage of the same cost or a slight reduction in cost.

In the hearings Tuesday an insurance official for Utah State testified that institution last year of this type of proposal in Utah has reduced liability premiums $3 per person on the average.

Each of the three proposals has been introduced in the Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee.

Each bill has been defeated in the Senate before reaching the House in recent past years. The compromise measure came closest to being passed last year, losing on a 16-18 vote.

Public meets planned

TWIN FALLS — The South-Central Community Action Agency will hold public meetings this week in Twin Falls, Jerome and Burley to gather input for planning.

According to Roy Slotten, a member of SCCAA's planning committee, the public input sessions will be used to guide the agency's programs beginning next July and running through July 1976.

The agency has isolated 27 "areas of need" for fiscal 1976 programming, Slotten said. These will be presented to the public and then may be altered depending upon the outcome of the public discussions.

Slotten urged citizens in the tri-county area to attend the meetings and voice their suggestions for SCCAA programs.

The first two meetings will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in both Burley and Twin Falls. The Twin Falls meeting will be at the SCCAA headquarters at 260 Second St. E. The Burley meeting will be at the Cassia central school district office at 19th and Hansen streets.

The last of the three meetings will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the senior citizens' office in the Jerome Presbyterian Church.

Among the planning topics already slated for discussion by the SCCAA planning committee, Slotten said, are child care, veteran's services, legal aid expansion, emergency assistance, housing, health, transportation, food stamps, family planning, senior citizen services, the Head Start program, and transportation.

Shoshone fall enrollment down

SHOSHONE — It appears there will be a drop of 119 students in high school enrollment figures for the 1975-76 school year.

Supt. Kenneth Crothers told the Shoshone school board during the February meeting that there will be 44 seniors graduating but only 25 sixth graders will be entering the building next year. The projected enrollment for the elementary school, he said, will be up by two students. There will be 160 next year, compared to 158 at present. The report was presented to the school board in connection with budget preparation for the coming year.

In other business at the meeting, the board approved purchase of equipment with special vocational funds in the amount of $1,500. It will mean $50 for each of the three areas — office occupation, vocational agriculture and home economics.

Approval was given for music teacher Ray James to take the high school band and chorus on a two-day concert tour for April 24 and 25. The board will advertise for bids for a five-year school bus transportation contract. The call for bids was issued after meeting with Francis Bergin who now holds the contract. Bids will be opened at the March meeting of the board.

Crothers told the board he has received word from Northwest Accreditation Association stating the Shoshone school is fully accredited for the third consecutive year.

Board members absent

KIMBERLY — Two members of the Kimberly school board were absent Monday night for the regular February meeting and no official action could be taken.

Clinton Bugg, school superintendent, said the remaining board members paid bills and discussed routine items. He said a special meeting will be called later this month to take care of other necessary business.

George Nauman and Dale Dalse were absent.

Head Start teachers train in workshop

TWIN FALLS — A corps of Head Start teachers in the Magic Valley is receiving special training under a federally-funded pilot project designed to augment classroom skills.

The Idaho project is one of only 13 pilot studies initiated throughout the country in the past 18 months.

Entitled "Child Development Associates," the project is being run as a cooperative effort between Boise State University and Idaho State University.

Preschool teachers from Twin Falls, Burley, Hahn, Filer and Jerome Head Start centers are taking part in the project, meeting with Boise State instructors for discussion group and workshop training. Twice a month the effects of the workshop training are observed in the classroom by Boise State personnel.

The combination of study and classroom observation allows the teachers to gauge the effects of instruction, according to project director Dr. Trudy Comba.

The instructional sessions are also "competency based," Dr. Comba said, allowing the teachers and instructors to work at the teacher's own pace.

After two years of study, the Head Start teachers will have earned college credit applicable to a college degree; they may also apply for a certificate as an award for increased teaching ability.

Safe crackers hit Washington school

TWIN FALLS — Burglary of a safe at the Washington School in Twin Falls was under investigation this morning by city police.

Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said an unknown person or persons broke into the building by forcing open a door sometime Tuesday night. Several officers were disposing machines are kept were ransacked.

He said a cutting torch was used to get into the safe and an unknown amount of money was taken. Qualls said damage to the safe and building would probably amount to more than the money lost as very little cash was in the safe.

At the Harrison School a number of windows were broken out Tuesday evening, but officers reported no damage was done.

186 persons granted GED certification

TWIN FALLS — A total of 186 persons received high school equivalency certificates through the General Education Development tests at the College of Southern Idaho in 1974.

The program provides testing of persons wishing to obtain such certificates in lieu of a high school diploma. Dr. Dan L. Keith, GED examiner, said all of those successfully completing the required tests received the certificates from the Department of Education.

Dr. Keith said the average age of those completing the test was 25 years, but 22 persons were 40 years of age or older and one was 71.

Reasons for receiving the certificates, he said, range from wanting to get a job or a better job to wanting to enroll in college or vocational school.

The tests are open to persons 19 years of age and older who are residents of Idaho for the preceding six months. Applicants need not have attended high school.

Five tests on various subjects make up the GED testing program. Tests are administered each Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the multi-purpose building on the CSI campus. Evening testing times are each Tuesday and Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Shields Building. Fees are $2 per test.

Additional information on the tests, or classes offered at no charge for test preparation, may be obtained from Dr. Keith at the College, 733-9554.

TF man loses music

TWIN FALLS — Theft of a stereo player, two speakers and tapes were reported to Twin Falls city police Tuesday.

Brad Irish, 129 Truth Ave. N., told officers his 1965 Sevan was parked in front of his home when someone forced open a window to gain entry.

The stereo player was priced from the vehicle. Irish estimated loss at $112.

Bax says he's prepared to answer Idaho solons

BOISE (UPI) — The state director of health and welfare said Wednesday he is prepared to answer any questions put to him by the legislators before they take up the question of his continuation as head of the agency dealing with people services.

Director James Bax said Sen. John Barker, R-Hall, the chairman of the senate health, education, education and welfare committee, has shown an interest in the department's general policy on educational leave, how the department intends to implement some of the new federal programs and how some programs will be affected under the changed laws.

Barker tried to delay a hearing on the continuation of Bax scheduled this afternoon. He said he wants to know why Bax has not held a hearing on Jack Steneck, the former state coordinator for mental health who was fired in November.

Barker said Steneck must be carried on the state payroll until the department conducts such a hearing. Steneck draws $2,100 per month.

Barker said he wants to hold up the Bax confirmation until he gets that information. Several other senators said they think Bax does not want to conduct that hearing until the legislature adjourns.

A member of the personnel commission said the hearing on Steneck's firing has been held up because the department cannot agree on the three people who are to sit on the panel that will review the firing and make a report to Bax, who then must act as hearing judge.

Bax said Barker had not ponied the Steneck matter off as the really important item about which he was concerned.

Bax said Barker expressed interest in the educational leave policy of the department, and how the department intends to operate certain contract programs under new federal laws.

"He (Barker) mentioned the Steneck situation to me at a joint finance meeting. He asked what the situation was on someone's right to receive pay after being fired."

But Bax said he had his staff prepare a response to send to Barker early today if any questions Barker has could be answered before the hearing.

Rescinder hits snag

BOISE (UPI) — Delaying afternoon debate on the floor by a special meeting, the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday tried to resolve a legal question about rescinding ratification of the ERA.

Chairman Ed Dice, R-Boise, put before his committee a proposed letter to the speaker of the house saying, in effect, a two-thirds vote is needed to rescind ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

But Rep. Ralph Gimes, R-Nampa, is considering a rescinder that requires only a simple majority vote to pass, asked for and finally got one morning to prepare his "legal arguments in the matter."

Revision proposed

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation Committee called Wednesday for introduction of a bill completely revising the state Disaster Relief Act and spelling out more specifically the governor's powers.

In doing so the committee directed its chairman to continue the legislation with a Senate bill which gives contractors immunity from certain damages while assisting in an emergency.

Rep. Gen. James Brooks, Idaho adjutant general, said the revision is much broader, more specific and than the present law and speaks to such questions as who is responsible for what.

Bill snags

BOISE (UPI) — A legal question held up a House-passed grocery tax credit bill in the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee Wednesday, but the committee sent to the floor a 10 per cent tax refund measure.

The tax refund bill, which already has been approved by the House, was given a "do pass" recommendation on a party-line vote of 6-4.

Democrats objected to sending the bill to the floor until the grocery tax credit bill was ready to accompany it.

Open can illegal?

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation Committee voted 5-3 Wednesday to introduce legislation making it illegal to have an open container of beer in a motor vehicle.

Proposed to the legislature at the past two sessions, the bill was brought before the committee by Chairman John O. Sessions, R-Driggs.

Sessions has urged the enactment of such legislation at the past two sessions of the legislature.

Loan interest lid lifter given nod

BOISE (UPI) — After beating down an attempt to amend it, the House approved 75-23 and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill to lift the ceiling for interest on non-consumer loans.

This marked the second debate on the measure. The House discussed it for an hour Monday before deciding to bring it on the calendar for two days while attorney members checked its technical provisions.

When Rep. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, opened debate for the second time, Rep. J. Vard Cathburn, R-Albon, tried to pull the measure in committee office chair for amendment. He said he wanted to raise the present rates of 10 per cent for individuals and 12 per cent for corporations to two per cent.

Chairman's motion lost on a 10-40 vote, 23-43.

Rep. T. W. Stivers, R-Twin Falls, said 15 states now have no limit on mortgage loans. By removing the interest ceiling, he said, the legislature will make more investment capital available—times when there is a crunch in the money market.

He disagreed with other lawmakers that removing the ceiling would lead to "loan sharks and loan sharking."

Lending of money, Stivers said, is a competitive market and competition will help keep rates down.

"It doesn't make any difference what the interest rate is when there is no money available," Stivers said.

Rep. Patricia L. McBernzatt, D-Pocatello, urged the House to amend the bill.

She contended that opening up the bill to far more than just banks and savings and loan companies and felt it should be deleted.

GOP aims for adjournment path

BOISE (UPI) — Republican leaders of the high-centered 43rd Legislature tried to get onto the adjournment trail Wednesday by resolving state employee pay hikes in terms of not percentages.

House Speaker Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, said two new pay resolutions were being drafted calling for $1,518,000 in general fund money for reallocations and $2,390,000 for other adjustments.

Chairman William Roberts, R-Hull, of the appropriations committee said the total dollars involved are the same as those in an earlier resolution approved by House Republicans.

That resolution, which the GOP leadership cannot sell to the Senate, called for 7 1/2 per cent increases to lower paid employees and a 4 per cent to higher paid employees — without reallocation.

After meeting with the Senate Republican Leadership Wednesday morning, Larsen said "There's no way to accomplish what ought to be done in the Senate" without incurring reallocation.

Director Myron Schechte of the Legislative Council drafted one of the proposed resolutions and Roberts the other. Roberts says the principal difference is that his resolution makes clearer the difference between classified and exempt employees.

Larsen said he planned to meet with both House and Senate GOP Leaders today to see if agreement can be reached on one of the two resolutions. If it can, he said, the leadership can take it to caucus.

It is crucial the issue be resolved as soon as possible, warning "If this delays much longer it's going to hurt."

Until the matter is settled, he pointed out, the joint finance appropriations committee cannot set the budget and start this session of the legislature on its road to adjournment.

Even as the leadership worked on the pay increase question house taxwriters added still another factor to the equation by sending to the floor with approval $10 million in permanent tax relief.

If approved this would have to come off the top of the revenue expected to accrue to the general fund the next fiscal year. It reduces state income tax rates in each bracket an average of seven to eight per cent and calls for a permanent $20 grocery credit.

Under normal procedures this bill could come up for final consideration as early as Friday.

Over in the Senate, the local government and taxation committee sent to the floor with partisan blessing a bill to give Idaho taxpayers a 10 per cent refund on 1974 state income taxes. Bill the committee held because of legal questions another House approved measure to extend the grocery credit to 1974 income, taxes to $20 from $15.

While these matters were under consideration in the two houses the House Education Committee retained for further study — by the expedient of adjourning the meeting — the Kinderergarten bill. This would take $1.3 million in general fund money.

meeting. That left the question up in the air until the next meeting.

Otter, in offering his substitute again, said he wanted to hear from operators of private kindergartens first before deciding to send out the governor's bill.

Rep. Norma Dowler, D-Moscow, answered that by citing letters from two private operators in Moscow who favor a state supported system.

The governor's bill would finance kindergartens out of the foundation system. It would be optional but those school districts not electing to set up the kindergartens would lose the money to districts that wanted them. It would cost about $3.4 million.

Mrs. Gurnsey said Oter was just "trying to hedge for time" when he moved to hold the bill for input from private operators.

Tot class bill stuck

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the House Education Committee adjourned a long meeting Wednesday rather than vote on the merits of the governor's bill for state-financed public kindergartens.

Rep. Kitty Gurnsey, R-Boise, had moved to send the bill to the floor with a favorable recommendation. Rep. C.L. "Bateh" Otter, R-Caldwell, offered a substitute motion to hold the bill for further study.

Then, when it was nearly time for the full House to convene for the day, Rep. Carroll Dean, R-Notus, successfully moved to adjourn the tax relief.

Stonewalled

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' bill to change the endowment fund investment board ran into a stone wall in the Senate Staff Affairs Committee Wednesday.

Committee members agreed to only one change proposed in the bill — to grant the governor some authority over the setting of the salary for the trustee of the fund.

William Murphy, administrative assistant to the governor, went along with the committee and agreed to the drafting a new bill that would overcome objections to the measure.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last month, my boyfriend's best friend got married. As weddings go, not one rite of etiquette was followed. For example, I received my wedding invitation the day before the wedding, and many others said they were invited by phone because there weren't enough invitations to go around.

About three weeks after the wedding, the groom had the wedding annulled on the grounds that his wife was mentally unbalanced. (I think they both are!) The groom said that he wanted an annulment instead of a divorce because with an annulment, it is as if the wedding never happened, and he preferred this because he didn't want to be labeled a divorced man. He said it looked bad on job applications, etc.

My boyfriend and I had pooled our money and bought a very expensive wedding gift for this couple. Now we're told that if they had been DIVORCED, the gifts would have been returned. However, since the marriage was ANNULLED, the wedding never happened, so they don't have to return the wedding gifts.

Are there any rules of etiquette to cover this situation? STUCK IN BOULDER.

Dumps bride keeps gifts

DEAR STUCK: Yes, the wedding gifts should be returned. But since your friends don't believe in observing the rules of etiquette, I suspect it probably won't faze them.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very intelligent, well-read, informed man, but whenever we are socially and in conversation turns to politics, he always gets into a fight with somebody.

We are on the verge of losing all our friends because most of the people we know are on the other side of the fence. I have told my husband time and again to please stay out of politics, but he doesn't pay any attention to me. He gets so worked up in these political arguments that before long he's in a shouting match.

How can I get him to stay out of politics? LOSING FRIENDS

DEAR LOSING: It won't be easy for a man who's as passionate about his political persuasion as your husband seems to be. A lively political debate can be healthy (and fun), but a shouting match accomplishes nothing. Tell your hubby to cool it, and try to practice the art of disagreeing without becoming disagreeable.

DEAR ABBY: We are the proud and fortunate parents of two healthy daughters. We thank God for their whole and healthy bodies, and their normal, wholesome minds.

This letter is for people who think that the only perfect family is the one that is composed of an equal number of each sex. I have actually had people say to me, "Oh, isn't it a pity you have two daughters? It would have been nice if you had one of each!"

Others, upon hearing that we have two daughters, have said, "Oh, I'm one of the lucky ones. I have one of each." Yes, they are lucky. BLESSED IN PORT ARTHUR

DEAR BLESSED: Those who make such thoughtless remarks don't mean to be cutting. They are simply assuming that given a choice, most parents would prefer a boy and a girl, which I think is a fairly good assumption.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.B.: To paraphrase Voltaire's words in his Essay of Tolerance—"Think for yourself, and let others enjoy the privilege to do so, too."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

As the poet might have said, "The man who's worth while is the man who can smile, when all his finesses go wrong."

In a recent team match one South smiled when he looked over dummy. Then he called for the queen of diamonds. East took his king and led the jack back.

This wiped the smile right off South's face. Eventually he had to lose the spade finesse and his

MR. AND MRS. OTIS E. UNDERWOOD

TF pair to observe golden anniversary

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Underwood, Twin Falls, will observe their first wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday at the home of their daughter.

Mrs. Bert (Audra) Landin, 442 Crestview Dr., Twin Falls, is the couple's daughter who will be hostess. The couple's other children are Mrs. Thomas (Catherine) Jones, Mrs. Jesse (Jerry) Gilmore, William J. Underwood.

Charles E. Underwood, Otis D. Underwood, Harold E. Underwood and Jack A. Underwood.

All of the couple's friends are invited to the open house which will be from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Underwood were married Feb. 19, 1914, at Mt. Vernon, Ill.

They have 25 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great-grandchildren.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Public Library has released mini-reviews from some of the new books recently received.

"Down Among the Women" by Fay Weldon. Writing in the present tense, but retaining the benefit of 1970's hindsight, the author weaves a clever tapestry of 20 years in the lives of a group of women living in London.

"Return of the Virginian" by Harry Allen Smith. Who could dream that the grandson of Owen Wister's famous "Virginian," the son of the famous badman, Trampas and a delectable young lady pig named Emily with a talent for water-doubling, would come to a confrontation in a place called Calisto, Tex., and that among other developments, a range war would ensue. Sheer, delightful, nutty individualism.

"Goodbye to Old Friends" by Brian Freeman. An electrifying novel of treachery and friendship set against the stark contemporary background of diplomatic intrigue and international politics.

"Impossible Object" by Nicholas Mosley. Society used to provide the difficulties that made love exciting and romantic. But in today's world the barriers are down and everything is permitted. Men and women must now create the difficulties themselves in order to experience and perpetuate love at the level of ecstasy. Here is an unconsensual and challenging novel.

"The Young Millionaires" by Laurence Amour. In this fascinating book you will meet fabulous figures who have become millionaires while they are young enough to enjoy their good fortune.

Too many visitors for new born baby

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In a few months we expect the arrival of our third child in three years. When our first baby was born, our house was packed with well-meaning neighbors and their curious children, anxious to see the baby.

This resulted in my being exhausted, and the baby catching a bad cold before he was three weeks old. I am very anxious not to repeat the this ordeal, and especially since the baby will be born in the middle of the flu season.

How can I explain to our visitors that I appreciate their good intentions, but that I would rather they keep their children at home?

This whole dilemma is causing our household great concern, and I certainly would appreciate advice. Mrs. R.W. All new babies are "cute" to adults and an attraction for youngsters. You will just have to set up some guidelines for your visitors.

In that regard, everyone visiting the baby, adult or child, should be asked to wear a mask, particularly if they are sneezing or coughing. They should be asked to keep their distance and not handle the baby. In fact, you can tell them that a doctor (me) suggested no one but the mother, father and doctor handle an infant.

That hint should be broad enough and yet productive of some results. To satisfy the children's curiosity, the baby can be held at a specified time "on display." Newborn infants do have natural resistance to certain infections, but the ability to cope with floor strep organisms is not unimpaired.

Your Good Health

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Don't let anyone but yourself into the nursery room to hover over the crib. Tell visitors the baby is napping or is about to be fed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My first request is for your booklet "Ear Noses, Their Causes and Cures." I am sending 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to you in care of this newspaper.

I also would like information on the causes or cures of the enlargement of my husband's testes. This condition started 15 years ago.

Your doctor at the time did not push for treatment or predict any worsening of the condition. However, the past few years, they have really enlarged to the point of making him choke.

If you feel this is a serious condition, please say so. Mrs. O.W.

You should understand the difference between the tests and the serum. They are not the same.

The swellings, most likely due to fluid accumulation in the scrotal sac called hydrocele. This does not involve the testes proper, which are within the same sac.

Treatment involves either drainage of the fluid or corrective surgery to prevent recurrence. The purpose of the surgery is a rearrangement of the membranes within the sac so that fluid does not reappear. The condition is not considered serious, and this is why your doctor did not, as you say, "push" for treatment early.

With simple drainage, recurrence is common, but with the surgical procedure the problem is corrected.

Your husband should promptly see a urologist. Your local medical society should be able to refer you to one.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is the quality of sleep the same whether obtained at night or during the day? Mrs. V.M.

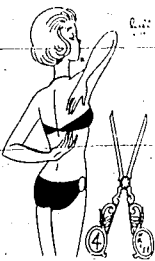

Exactly the same.

A Lovelier You

SPRING REDUCING—WAIST

By Mary Sue Miller

Have you been meaning to trim your waistline? You can look forward to a new cinch belt in a smaller size by Easter, if you put your heart and sinews into these routines:

- Stand erect with back pressed flat against wall, feet about 12" apart and arms out to sides at shoulder level. Now pull waistline up (not in) and hold throughout. Next, giving a sharp twist at the waist, stretch left arm across body so as to touch fingers to right arm below elbow. Return left arm to starting position. Then swing right arm, touching fingers to left arm, and return. Alternate.

ing sides, continue for 20 counts. Be sure to keep hips against wall. Twist waist, both ways.

- Stand erect and press palm of right hand to back of right shoulder. Reaching behind waist with left hand, try to clasp hands. Keep trying until right side of waist stretches upward to the maximum. Repeat 5 times, reverse hand positions and stretch left side. For quick results, perform night and stretch morning. Kinks from slouching loosen up that way.

- Try to make a habit of unslouched posture. The abdomen, as well as the waist, becomes pudgy unless you pull tall.

The reward for effort is more than a smaller belt. It lowers the bikini line. You feel you're in good shape. And that's what really counts.

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES. Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim figure head-to-toe. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Teacher selected

Retired admiral flattered

ORANGE PARK, Fla. (UPI) — Jacksof R. Tate, 77, a retired two-star admiral, is flattered and "rightened" because a young Russian actress is fighting Soviet bureaucracy to try to visit him.

"She is risking her life, you know," he said. "It's a great compliment to me, but it scares me a little bit."

The woman is Victoria Fyodorova, 29.

Tate is her father. They have never met.

Tate was part of a U.S. military mission to Moscow during World War II, where he met and fell in love with Zoya Fyodorova, also an actress.

Their child, Victoria, was born after Soviet officials learned of their relationship, expelled Tate from the country and sent his lover to a Siberian prison for eight years for alleged espionage.

Tate did not know he had a daughter in Russia until two years ago.

"The Russians just don't tell you anything," he said.

The young woman applied for a visa to come to the United States three months ago and has complained to American correspondents in Moscow that the visa was being held up.

"What I can't understand is how a girl who has everything would give it all up, even to the point of risking her life, to go and visit an old man," Tate said in an interview with UPI Tuesday.

"She expects to find a knight in shining armor and all she'll find is an old man at the end of the road."

But Tate said he is excited about her visit and has already made plans. He said he intends to go to the airport to greet her despite his doctors' orders not to travel — he suffers from hardened leg arteries and recently underwent corrective surgery.

"I don't think they are going to refuse the visa, but if they do I will bring pressure from a few other angles I have in mind," he said.

He said he will lodge his daughter in one of the master bedrooms at the clubhouse of the Villa Continental complex where Tate has lived in a two bedroom apartment for the past 10 years.

Tate has talked by telephone with Victoria twice. "You can't write letters," he said. "I'm surprised the telephone calls got through."

The telephone communications have been unsatisfactory, Tate said because "We're talking in foreign languages. She has some English and I know some Russian."

"She's put a Russian interpreter on the line but the interpreter knows less English than she does."

The couple's children include Richard Vawser, Hansen, Mrs. A. W. Phyllis Pierce, Tygh Valley, Ore.; Mrs. Tom (Lasi) Atteberry, Gregory S. D.; Robert and Dale Vawser, both Kimberly, and Mrs. Herman (Donna) Kahler, Larchland, Colo.

All of the couple's friends and relatives are invited to the open house. The couple requests no gifts.

Competition set Sunday

TWIN FALLS — Competition for the selection of Girls State delegates from Twin Falls will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the Immanuel Lutheran School auditorium.

Grielle Sinclair, Girls State chairman, said the public is invited to attend.

FDA eyes kitchenware probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Citing a potentially serious lead poisoning threat, the Food and Drug Administration today launched an investigation to determine if controls should be placed on a wide variety of silver plated cups, dishes, and other kitchenware.

The agency said it examined 30 different silver-plated articles including baby cups, tankards, coffee sets, goblets and salad bowls and discovered some of them contained lead which could get into the food they contain.

from the products was as high as 315 parts per million compared to a limit of seven parts per million which the agency allows for ceramic dinnerware.

In some cases, it said, the lead content being detected

10 TF students set for All-Northwest

TWIN FALLS — Ten Twin Falls High School students have been selected to perform with the All-Northwest music groups scheduled to play during a national educational conference in Spokane.

The students will be attending the Northwest Division Music Educators National Conference in Spokane Friday through Monday. All-Northwest orchestras, bands and choirs have been organized from outstanding high school musicians in the northwestern states.

Those attending from Twin Falls include orchestra members Kathy Coleman, Kathryn Slaughter and Christine Cook, violins, and Melanie Hamilton, viola.

Band members include Beth Arnold and Debbie Conner, flutes and choir members will be Debbie Taylor, alto; Jerry Vawser, tenor; Dave Lansberry and Wayne Haffner.

States involved are Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. Clinical directors for the All Northwest groups will be Frank Pierson, University of Iowa; Lloyd Pfautsch, Southern Methodist University; choir, and Marcin Rabin, University of Wisconsin, orchestra.

There were 15 members from Idaho selected for the band, 21 for orchestra and 52 for choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Del Slaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smack will accompany the students. On Monday, the final day of the conference, a public concert will be given by the groups.

Slaughter, band and orchestra director, said students are selected on the basis of taped auditions which were screened at the state level and then at the northwest level.

FDA approves pill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has approved a "morning after" birth control pill, but invited its use to rape, incest or other emergencies to be determined between a doctor and patient.

The pill is composed of the synthetic hormone DES, a substance already linked to cancer in some cases.

The FDA said it believes the drug is effective in 25 milligram doses if taken from one to two days after intercourse. It believes doses of this size, used for emergency purposes, would not be a health hazard.

The pill will be packaged with an insert to be given to the patient which says:

"You should use this drug only under the direction of a physician. This treatment is for emergencies only and should not be used repeatedly. If you find it necessary to use this treatment more than once, you should consult with your physician to obtain an adequate method of routine contraception."

School value rises

GOODING — Value of the Gooding School District buildings has increased by $750,000.

Ed Peterson, of CTA Architectural firm, Twin Falls, told trustees at the monthly board meeting Monday night he had reviewed the building value during a recent inspection.

Supt. James Muscat gave a progress report on the parks and recreation project to build three tennis courts and a light ball field. He said plans are now with the architect and bids are expected to be called for sometime in March.

Trustees approved purchase of $50 worth of equipment for vocational agriculture, home economics and office occupation classes with a grant from the state vocational education department.

Board started the present bus contract and will call for bids sometime in March. Muscat said considerable time was spent studying the transportation program. Gooding district contracts its bus transportation.

BBB warns holiday seekers

TWIN FALLS — You get a letter offering a holiday in Las Vegas for only $15, the Better Business Bureau advises you to think twice before sending in your money.

Several local residents have received brochures from a firm offering "a luxurious vacation for two" in Las Vegas, Florida's Disney World, or Miami Beach, for the "very small service charge of $12."

Sounds good, but the Better Business Bureau says to watch out.

According to the Chicago BBB office and the US Post Office, the firm involved is operated by a man whose last business ended in bankruptcy with many creditors losing money.

The company "appears to be a continuation of his previous business. Market Development Corp. was formerly engaged in the sale of sewing machines and other items through vacation certificates," the BBB says.

The firm filed for bankruptcy in 1974, leaving nearly 100,000 creditors without much chance of recovering their money, according to the BBB.

"We recommend extreme caution when dealing with this company, because of its past record," the BBB report concludes.

The Boise BBB has yet to receive a report from someone who actually took "this fabulous Las Vegas jackpot" holiday.

But one woman who sent away for a treasure chest offered as part of the deal, got back a package of cosmetics and other pharmaceutical products, including some hemorrhoid ointment, according to the Boise BBB.

ISU grads sign contracts

POCATELLO — Ninety-four per cent of the 1974 Idaho State University College of Education graduates in elementary education desiring to teach signed teaching contracts for the 1974-75 school year, according to the dean of the ISU College of Education.

"For those graduating in secondary education desiring to teach the per cent signing teaching contracts was 82," said Dr. Richard L. Willey, the dean.

"Overall," he added, "it was estimated that from 47 to 52 per cent of all graduates desiring to teach signed teaching contracts. This per cent signing contracts represents an increase over the past four years. In this study has been completed."

Absenteeism studied at Wendell

WENDELL — Wendell school trustees spent a good portion of their monthly board meeting Monday night discussing student absenteeism.

Supt. Lawrence LaTue said several parents attended the meeting to clarify the board policy.

Students are allowed 10 1/2 days excused absence per semester, but any more than that must be verified by a doctor. He said some of the students thought as "long as they were excused they could miss all the days they wanted to."

He said there had been some misunderstanding on the part of the parents, who "wanted their kids to have a second chance."

LaTue told board members the 40 acres of school property where the new physical education complex will be built has been annexed into the city. This action will lower the fire insurance rate by 50 per cent, he said.

Fire insurance coverage for the district buildings has been raised from $24 per square foot to $27.

The superintendent announced the school has received full accreditation from the Northwest Secondary Accrediting Association, mainly because of the $905,000 bond issue passed last spring to finance the new complex.

Construction on the building will begin as soon as the weather warms, LaTue said.

Lead kills trumpeters

BURLINGTON, Wash. (UPI) — Five trumpeter swans have died at Varney Lake from swallowing lead shotgun pellets.

Jack Adkins, state game commission biologist, said Tuesday the heavy-bodied, long-necked birds, largest of the world's swans, picked up the pellets as they fed on the bottom of the shallow lake.

Adkins said that after eating the pellets the birds stopped flying, their necks gradually became limp, they were unable to paddle and died.

The trumpeter swan is protected by law in the United States.

School aide apologizes

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School Supt. George Staudaher publicly apologized Wednesday for his controversial "streaker" statement.

His statement — an explicit condemnation of two Twin Falls High School boys who ran semi-nude through a girls basketball game last month — sparked heated public testimony at a school board meeting Tuesday night.

That night many school patrons attacked the vivid language in Staudaher's comment, claiming it was unbecoming a school official. A few called for a public apology. At least one supported the language of the statement.

Many who did not support the language of the statement nevertheless said they supported Staudaher's disciplinary tactics.

In a brief news release Wednesday, Staudaher said, "To those people who are offended by my statement and the terminology used, I extend my sincere apology."

At the same time, he defended the comment as "what I felt to be a factual descriptive statement regarding the recent incident receiving so much publicity."

Staudaher told the Times-News his apology was not ordered by the school board. "This is George R. Staudaher saying this," he said.

School board chairman Dr. Howard Ronk confirmed that the trustees did not request Staudaher's apology. They didn't even discuss it, Ronk added.

Ronk said he "visited" with Staudaher Wednesday morning but his controversial statement and allegations made against him in the board meeting were not discussed.

Asked if he thought Staudaher's apology was appropriate, Ronk said, "I would rather not comment."

He also declined comment on whether the trustees will take further action concerning Staudaher.

Ronk would only say that the school board "will not be taking hasty action."

He said the trustees would meet in a special session Tuesday, which Staudaher would attend, but said the meeting was not scheduled primarily to discuss Staudaher's situation.

"I really don't know" if Staudaher and the complaints against him will be discussed, Ronk said.

He said the special meeting was called to take care of matters that were pushed off the board's agenda Tuesday night by the lengthy public debate on Staudaher and disciplinary actions of the administration.

"We more or less ran out of time," Ronk added.

Kimberly sets budget hearing

KIMBERLY — The public hearing on the 1975 Kimberly city budget will be held at 7 p. m. March 11 at the city hall.

Councilmen accepted the proposed budget at Tuesday night's council meeting which will be officially adopted at the hearing next month. The general fund expenditures proposed for 1975 are $11,450 an 18 per cent increase over last year's budget of $11,370.

Estimated income from personal property tax will increase by 52 per cent, based upon a 1 mill levy increase. The 1975 estimated revenue from taxes is $38,000, compared to $25,000 in 1974.

City Clerk Edythe Widmer said Kimberly has had the lowest tax structure of any municipality in Magic Valley. In 1973, Kimberly's 3 mill levy was 1.7237, compared to 5.8222 mills for Twin Falls and 0.175 for Filer.

Last year Kimberly's levy was raised one-half mill and this year's new budget raises it an additional mill, for a total of 2.5 mills. This puts the levy back to the 1969 level, which was 2.3051, Mrs. Widmer said.

The one mill levy hike will bring in about $16,000 additional money.

Bill Langley, Kimberly city attorney, advised councilmen to prepare to adopt the Fair Labor Standards act which provides for a 40-hour work week for public employees. He said if the act, which is now being contested before the US Supreme Court, is upheld it will be retroactive to May 1, 1974.

Councilmen prepared a resolution, to be adopted at the March meeting, setting up a 40-hour work week and providing that city employees be paid on an hourly basis instead of the present monthly fee.

Councilmen approved the Madison subdivision where Lloyd Watson, owner, plans to build eight new homes.

Police Chief Jim Campbell was instructed to check into the price of a new police car and Neva West was appointed deputy city clerk.

Lincoln aides adopt budget

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County commissioners adopted a $468,881.19 budget for 1975 at a meeting this week.

Only one taxpayer appeared to request explanation of the budget.

The budget total represents a $32,641.07 increase from 1974 with most of the increase due to salary cost of living raises and inflationary increases in the operation of county business.

The budget includes $32,719.12 in revenue sharing funds. These funds may be kept in reserve for up to two years. This year, some will be used to purchase an automobile for the sheriff's department and to pay a deputy's salary.

Included in the 1975 budget is painting the assessor's office, lowering the ceilings and installing new lights in the public health nurse's office.

The current expense section of the budget totals $213,509.07. Included in this section are pest control, memorial, indigent, convalescent center operation, weed control, junior college, public health and facilities, fair, and the sheriff's department, $28,415.

The auditor, clerk and recorder's budget is set at $22,214; assessor $21,440; treasurer-tax collector, $7,800; prosecutor, $14,534; district court and magistrate, $9,586; county commissioners, $7,882.07; building and grounds, $10,670; and coroner, $584.

Most of the county and home extension agent's salaries are paid by the state. The county's share of that budget totals $15,460.

The commissioners special budget is set at $59,130. Included in this section are the weed supervisor's salary, the contingent reserve, audit, insurance, publishing, prisoner's meals, Social Security, Blue Cross, employee retirement, planning and zoning, sanitary landfill, capital outfit, Wood River Resource, soil conservation, miscellaneous and ambulance service.

Pet survives fire

TWIN FALLS — A fire this morning caused heavy smoke damage and suffocated several small animals at Sherrie's Poodle Puff Salon, 352 Main Ave. S.

According to Twin Falls Fire Dept. Capt. Ward Freeman, smoke damage to the small pet salon was heavy, with only light water damage. The fire, Freeman said, was contained to two small back rooms with damage restricted to ceiling tiles and several small appliances and animal cages containing plastic material which melted.

The fire department received the call at 8:05 a. m. Freeman said, and responded with three trucks. After putting out the fire and blowing smoke from the building, which also houses Buster Key Shop, Freeman said the key shop but damage there was negligible. He said the fire started in the back of the poodle parlor near a floor electrical outlet into which appliances were plugged.

"One or both of those (the plugged in appliances) contributed to it," Freeman said, "but that's where it all started."

Pet shop owner Sherrie Spaid said the larger animals in the shop, including puppies, a woolly monkey, a pair of iguana lizards and several guinea pigs, were saved.

However, she said dozens of smaller animals suffocated in the smoke. All hamsters, gerbils and some pet rats and mice were lost, Mrs. Spaid said, including some expensive hamster and gerbil breeding stock. Also lost was a cockatiel which had been a Spaid family pet for five years. The bird lay crumpled at the bottom of its cage.

Mrs. Spaid estimated the damage to the pet salon and clipping parlor in the thousands of dollars, with none of it covered by insurance.

"I can even cope with that," she said, "it's the thought of all those little animals suffocating that really hurts."

Mrs. Spaid said she hoped to have the salon back in operation by this weekend.

"I'm pretty ornery and tough," Mrs. Spaid said, still in tears more than an hour after the fire was extinguished.

Jerome meet today

JEROME — The public information meeting sponsored by the Idaho Highway Department will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at Wood Cafe, instead of Wednesday night as previously listed.

Purpose of the meeting is to get public input on the highway project on US 93 from 1-80 to Newman's Corner, seven miles north of Highway 25. The public is invited.

Form available for TF hearing

TWIN FALLS — The Public Utilities Commission is making it easy for area residents to testify at a Twin Falls hearing on the proposed coal-fired power plant.

Purpose of the sign-up is simply to get a pre-registration of persons wanting to appear, she said. Persons will be called to testify in the order the coupons have been received. Either oral or written testimony will be accepted.

Myrna Walters, PUC staff member, said today because of the confusion over the sign-up forms the commissioners have agreed to accept the forms up through Tuesday's mail.

Persons wanting to testify may either clip the sign-up forms printed at right and mail them to the PUC at the Stathouse in Boise, or they may simply present them either night of the hearing.

Myrna Walters, PUC staff member, said today because of the confusion over the sign-up forms the commissioners have agreed to accept the forms up through Tuesday's mail.

Jobs, no seniority

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Burley policemen who quit to protest the firing of ex-police chief Gary Booth, can reapply for their jobs, according to City Council members.

They will lose all seniority, however, and aren't guaranteed a job.

The Burley City Council held an informal meeting Wednesday with the chairman of the newly formed "Citizens for Better Law Enforcement," Wendell Campbell.

Following the meeting, from which the press and public were excluded, Campbell said he asked for reinstatement. Campbell said he told the council, "we have invested a lot of money and time into our city police officers, they should have the chance to return to their posts with full pay and no cut in rank. We feel they were under the influence of someone very intelligent and powerful."

After the meeting, the council then said they would support rehiring the ex-police.

However, the former cops won't be guaranteed a job. They will have to reapply like anyone else, according to acting chief, Kirby Harkness.

Harkness said the existing policy of starting all new employees at the bottom will be the rule.

"Harkness said, we feel 'no animosity toward those who quit.' We will accept their application." But, he stated, people will be hired on the basis of experience.

"We want the best cops for the people," Harkness said.

The ex-cops will be competing with the 25 to 30 people who have contacted him each day for employment, Harkness said.

The acting chief said one former officer had contacted him and said he and possibly six others might apply.

Currently, the Burley police force has 11 police officers, plus some clerical staff.

The force had 21 men prior to a mass resignation Monday to protest the firing of Booth.

Also following the informal Wednesday meeting Campbell said he had asked the council other questions put to him by the community.

Campbell gave out the questions, but wouldn't reveal the answers he received from the council.

Campbell said his questions included:

"Have our police force been told who they could arrest and who they couldn't, if so we had better let the police do the police work and the council, counsel."

Hansen to get city library

HANSEN — The city library is getting a city library at no cost to the municipality, thanks to a generous rural resident.

The library will be housed in the front room of an apartment building being built by Mrs. Bryan Harris. The library, which will be about 14 by 30 feet, will be able to house up to 6,000 volumes, according to Mayor Harold Miller Jr.

He said the district library will provide books for the facility. The mayor appointed a library board at the City Council meeting Monday night.

This group will work out details of finding personnel to run the library. Several volunteers have indicated interest in helping, the mayor said.

Board members are Percy Christensen, Gary Bourn, Barbara Horn, Lydia Mae Pyron and Beth Miller.

The apartment which will also have a double garage, is being constructed by Boise Cascade on city owned property and should be completed within the next month, Miller said. He said the city leases the property for $1.00 per month to Mrs. Harris who will donate the apartment rent for operation of the library.

In other business, the council:

Bettis to stay with Chiefs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Tom Bettis, one of the Kansas City Chiefs' finalists for the head coaching job, will remain with the club as defensive backfield mentor, new Head Coach Paul Wiggin announced Wednesday.

Bettis, 41, has been the Chiefs' defensive backfield coach the last nine seasons and was a leading candidate for the head job after Hank Stram was fired Dec. 27.

Bettis interviewed for assistant's jobs with the Miami Dolphins and San Francisco 49ers before deciding to stay with the Chiefs.

"I have strong feelings for the people in the (Chiefs') organization and I am very impressed with Paul and his ideas for the Chiefs in the future," Bettis said.

Bettis is credited with putting together the Chiefs' defense, which was the backbone of the team in its glory years of the late 1960s and early 1970s.

"I am delighted to retain Tom's services," said Wiggin. "He's definitely a head coaching prospect and I am pleased he has decided to stay here in spite of the number of other opportunities offered to him."

Bettis is the third coach to join Wiggin's staff, which also includes offensive coordinator Chet Franklin and defensive coordinator Vince Costello.

Lane recruit OK'd for play

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Forward Doug Ainge, who transferred from Brigham Young last fall, has been declared eligible to play basketball for Lane Community College.

Lane Coach Dale Bates said the decision was made by Syd Andrews, of Central Oregon Community College, director of Community College Region 18. Bates said at least one coach in the Oregon Community College Athletic Association questioned Ainge's eligibility and the forward was held out of the lineup when the league — leading Titans split two games last weekend.

The Titans, with a 12-1 record, have a four-game lead in the conference.

Robinson, Palmer sign

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Third baseman Brooks Robinson and injury troubled righthander Jim Palmer have agreed to contract terms, the Baltimore Orioles announced Wednesday.

General Manager Frank Cashen said newly acquired outfielder Ken Singleton has also come to terms, raising to 13 the number of players signed for the 1975 season.

Salary arbitration is pending for 10 other players on the Orioles' 36-man winter roster.

Cashen said Robinson's 21st Oriole contract includes a token raise. Last year the smooth fielding third baseman earned an estimated $115,000.

Palmer, 29, the American League's 1973 Cy Young award winner, was plagued by a sore elbow for most of last season and slipped to a 7-12 record after four straight seasons of winning at least 20 games.

Despite his first losing season, Palmer retains the best career percentage in the majors.

Singleton, a 27-year-old switch-hitter, came from the Montreal Expos with pitcher

Mike Torrez in a December deal that sent pitcher Dave McNally and outfielder Rich Coggins to the Expos.

Singleton has a lifetime batting average of .277 and has averaged 15 homers and 66 RBIs during four full seasons in the majors with the Expos and the New York Mets.

Ohio State minus 4

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio State resumed basketball practice Wednesday without four suspended Buckeyes and OSU Coach Fred Taylor said Wednesday, "but I haven't talked to everybody yet."

Taylor said Wednesday, "but I haven't talked to everybody yet."

Taylor indicated that no further statements on the matter could be expected for another day or so.

"I am in complete agreement with the university's policy on confidentiality," said Taylor. The Buckeyes face Big Ten rival Wisconsin here Saturday night.

Colts name mentor

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts named former All-Pro linebacker Maxie Baughan Wednesday as their new defensive coordinator to replace Don Doll, who left the Colts earlier this month for a job with the Miami Dolphins.

Baughan, 36, follows Baltimore Head Coach Ted Marchbroda from the Washington Redskins' coaching staff to the Colts.

Last year, Baughan was a player coach with the Redskins, where Marchbroda was offensive coordinator.

Baughan was an All-America linebacker at Georgia Tech, played with the Philadelphia Eagles from 1960 to 1965, then was traded to the Los Angeles Rams in 1966 where he began his association with Marchbroda, who was serving as an assistant to George Allen.

In 1971, when Allen left his head coaching job with the Rams to take over the Redskins, Baughan came to Washington along with Marchbroda.

NAIA to lose member

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI) — Augustana College will withdraw its membership in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics at the end of the scholastic year, the school announced Wednesday.

The Augustana Athletic Board said economic considerations have made it impossible to continue its dual membership in the NAIA and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The school will retain its membership in the NCAA.

Athletic Director Vince Lundeen said the board also decided to accept a bid to play in the NCAA Division III basketball tournament if one is offered later this season.

Augustana has played in the NAIA tournament in recent years and is the only team in the nation to reach the quarterfinals of the NAIA meet in Kansas City, Mo., in each of the past three seasons.

The school plays in four NCAA tournaments before playing in the NAIA meets.

4 players to leave Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Four veterans who were with the Cleveland Browns last season when club head coach Paul Brown was fired, will not return next year, the Browns announced Wednesday.

Defensive ends Nick Roman and Allen Aldridge were both released after clearing waivers with all 25 other NFL teams, wide receiver Gletcher Richardson retired from pro ball and wide receiver Jubilee Danbar was waived to San Diego.

The Browns also invited back to camp kicker Dave Schmitke of U.S. International, who reported with mononucleosis last summer, and signed quarterback Ken Palke of the University of Dayton, who had a tryout with Miami last year.

Also signed was free agent linebacker Tom Costello of Richmond, center-guard Eric Cessler of Marshall University, and offensive tackle Robert Jackson of Duke.

BYU recruit suffers 'scoreless' social life

DENVER (UPI) — Brigham Young forward Brian Frishman has made the adjustment to major college basketball. But the 66 junior college transfer has been shut out socially.

"This is a completely different lifestyle than I'm used to," said Frishman, who transferred to BYU from West

Los Angeles Junior College. "I haven't really enjoyed myself. It's been a big adjustment."

On the court, Frishman has earned a starting spot and leads the Cougars in scoring with a 15.1 average while hitting 49 per cent of his field goal attempts and 83 per cent of his shots from the free throw line. He's also the Cougars' third leading rebounder with 83 in 19 games.

But what has been a problem for Frishman, raised in the western part of Los Angeles and considered by some to be a free swinger from the coast, has been the structure of BYU, a Mormon Church school.

"The one thing that has kept me together is that I am interested in my basketball career," said Frishman, who wouldn't say whether he planned to return to BYU next year.

Frishman was originally recruited by BYU Coach Glen Potter because of his speed. The past few years the Cougars have been a bit slow on the court and Potter had hopes of getting back to the fast break offense which the Cougars used in gaining national attention under Stan Watts.

That idea, along with the excellent facilities that BYU offers with its 23,000-seat arena, was enough to sway Frishman, who had 75 offers out of junior college, to give BYU a try.

"I also was impressed with the people," he said. "It was an old-fashioned type attitude where they respected the athlete and liked him. I had never really been exposed to it and at first really liked it. Now, I have found out I can do without it."

Frishman has only been playing organized basketball since his senior year in high school. As a sophomore he recruited out of high school and wasn't really sure if I wanted to play," said Frishman. "So I went to West LA and playing for Conner Charles-Sims. I found out what this game was really about."

Mahaffey pursues Miller

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Jerry Heard, at least for this week, has given up trying to catch Johnny Miller, but John Mahaffey hasn't.

The 27-year-old Mahaffey had a shot at Miller in both the Tucson Open and last week's Bob Hope Desert Classic, and even though he played the best golf of his career, it wasn't good enough.

Now, Mahaffey is back today for another shot at Miller in the start of the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

Heard, Miller's boyhood friend from Northern California, gave up after last week's Hope where he played good enough to win but wound up third.

"John is making the rest of us look like monkeys," Heard said after Miller won the Hope by three strokes for his third victory of the year and his 11th in the last 14 months. "I'm going home for at least a week and let someone else try to beat him."

Even though Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer are not here, the San Diego field boasts seven of this year's top 10 money winners, including Mahaffey, who is fourth with $28,000. Miller, of course, is the front runner with $100,343.

Miller is philosophical about his chances of winning again this week.

"The more I work the harder it becomes to win again," he said. "Some of it is pressure and some of it is motivation. There just is no way anyone can keep on winning the way I have. If I have to stop some time."

Gene Littler, who ended John's streak by taking the Crosby, and Gary Groh, who won the Hawaiian Open, are in the San Diego field as are seven former champions, including Bobby Nichols, who won last year.

Play here as over the North and South courses at Torrey Pines, which sits on the edge of the Pacific Ocean. Weather should be a factor since the long range forecast calls for cloudy skies and maybe some rain and wind through the weekend.

That's not good news for anyone, including Miller.

"This can't go on forever," Mahaffey said of Miller's play. "He has to stub his toe one of these weeks and maybe I'll be the one to take advantage of it."

"Don't get me wrong. Miller is playing super golf and he's one of the nicest guys out here, but this has to stop. I'm playing the best golf of my life and if John backs off just a little, maybe I can win."

Mahaffey has won only once in a little more than three years on the Tour and that was in the 1973 Sahara Invitational. But he's been second three times, including this year's Tucson, and third more times than he'd like to count.

Last year he went over the $100,000 mark for the second straight time, had seven top 10 finishes in 24 appearances and missed the cut only once.

In the four events he has played in this year, Mahaffey has been close to the lead in every one except the Crosby, where he failed to make the cut. Unfortunately for him, Mahaffey's schedule has paralleled Miller's, and that's no way to win.

Tampa may drop football program

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The University of Tampa, faced with continued financial losses at the gate and a head-on confrontation with professional football in 1976, is considering dropping collegiate football after the 1975 season, it was revealed Wednesday.

The feeling of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees was revealed in a letter sent to various groups and individuals who have supported the football program in the past. It was signed by University President Dr. B. D. Owens, J. H. Williams Jr., chairman of the Executive Committee, and Harris H. Mullen, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

"The Finance Committee unanimously recommended to the Executive Committee that a budget deficit of $20,000 be approved for the 1975-76 academic year with the dropping of collegiate football after the 1975 season, it was revealed Wednesday.

"Despite a great deal of concerted all-out effort, this past 1974 season was a financial disappointment," the officials said.

"The Tampa football team, #3 in 1973, had a 6-5 record last season.

The officials said the trustees had approved a maximum subsidy of $125,000 for the football program last year but had to come up with an additional $45,000 because of what they called "cost overruns and income and football gift shortfalls."

"During the past nine years, the intercollegiate football program has been subsidized in the amount of $1,189,389.18," the letter said.

Weber leads 160 bowlers

SPRINGFIELD, Va. (UPI) — Dick Weber of St. Louis, who has 25 bowling titles to his credit, led by three pins Wednesday after the opening qualifying competition in the $70,000 fair lanes open.

Weber averaged slightly over 226 for the initial set of six games to lead the field of 160 bowlers with 1,200 pins. His highest score was 299.

Jack Blondillo of Houston was in second place with 1,357 and a high game of 277. Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash., was one point behind with 1,356.

Fred Cooper of Mar Vista turned in a perfect 300 game in his six-game block but his 2,356 pins overall left him in 32nd place.

Oregon mentor disturbed by fans

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Dick Harter, believe it or not, says he will be "happy" to play Wednesday at Pauley Pavilion this coming Friday.

Harter, the University of Oregon's intense basketball coach whose players are known as the "Kamikaze Kids," isn't too happy with his "Kamikaze fans."

Oregon dropped a pair of games last weekend to USC and UCLA, falling to a 3-4 record in the Pac-8.

"You find out a lot of things when you lose games," Harter told the Oregon Duck Club this week. "When the wind is at your back you can find support everywhere, but when the wind is suddenly in your face, it's surprising how suddenly the phone doesn't ring and everyone has disappeared."

He continued, "That's good for us, but the thing that disturbs me is the kids directed at Mark Harwitz (Oregon reserve guard). He didn't play well but nobody bothered to come around to find out that he had the flu all week or that his mother is facing a serious operation in the next couple of weeks, or that his grandfather had to have a leg amputated last week and died over the weekend.

"The guys that wear the Kamikaze shirts all over town and talk about how proud they are of the program didn't hang in there very long...and I don't forget that."

Harter said he was also upset with incidents from the fans both nights in which officials were threatened and ice and litter was thrown on the floor.

Hot-shooting Miller needs cool weather

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, the hottest streaker in golf, said Wednesday he hopes the Masters and Atlantic Classic, won't be hot and sunny.

Miller talked to a group of Atlanta sports writers and sportscasters by telephone from the Andy Williams Tournament in San Diego.

"I hope it's not 40 degrees for the Atlanta Classic, Miller said in answer to a question about his appearance in the May 23-June 1 tournament.

"I'm from San Francisco, and I don't play as well in hot, sultry weather. My hands and body get slippery and my shirt sticks to my back. I guess that's why they call me the desert player."

Miller, winner of three tournaments this year, said he, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and the other top money winners, ought to be the favorites for the Masters and that Tom Weiskopf should be coming out of a slump.

Arnold Palmer, he said, had a good chance of getting back among the leaders after his good start this year.

The Atlanta tournament will be one of two PGA "designated tournaments" this year and among the top money tournaments with $225,000 in prizes. Tournament officials conceded they are going to have to work hard to cover that purse and make significant contributions to the 12 charities sponsored by the tournament.

Magazine cleared

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that Newsweek magazine did not intentionally smear University of Texas at El Paso Track Coach Wayne Vandenberg in a 1968 article dealing with black power in sports.

The court overturned a jury's decision to award Vandenberg $130,000 damages. A federal district judge previously overturned the damage award, but Vandenberg appealed his decision to the circuit court.

According to the 5th circuit, Vandenberg failed to prove actual malice was intended or that Newsweek knew of alleged inaccuracies in the article, "The Angry Black Athlete."

The story dealt with a black boycott of the New York Athletic Club indoor track meet and Vandenberg's handling of the situation with six black athletes on his team.

A three-judge panel of the circuit court ruled unanimously since Vandenberg was a public figure he could recover damages only if he proved "clear and convincing proof that the defamatory falsehood was made with knowledge of its falsity or with reckless disregard for the truth."

A's manager leaks 'confidential' arbitration data

Thursday, February 13, 1975 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 23

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Although baseball's salary arbitration hearings are labeled confidential, Charles O. Finley, owner of the three-time world champion Oakland A's, doesn't seem to mind talking about what happens behind the walnut-shuttered doors of the American Arbitration Association.

Finley, who will be tied up for the next few days with such hearings since 12 members of the team filed for third party settlement, ended the first day of face-to-face confrontation with one of his players Wednesday by telling one and all what arbitrator John A. Hogan heard.

Today, Finley will be back to face Joe Rudi and Vida Blue and their representatives.

On Wednesday, Finley, after saying he preferred not to disclose what he presented to the arbitrator, revealed that Ken Holtzman, who won 19 games for the A's in 1974, is seeking a $19,000 increase on his new contract. Finley is holding out for the same $33,000 he paid to the lefthander last year.

"I'd rather not discuss his shortcomings in public," Finley said initially. "I think meetings of this type are between the player and the club."

Moments later, he was out and running.

Holtzman's attorney, Jerry Kapstein, declined to go beyond his statement that he was under strict instructions from the Major League Players Association to keep the details of his client's confidential.

Richard Moss, counsel for the MILPA, said, "The arbitrator has taken the case under advisement and I think until he gives a decision, it would be improper to comment."

"The hearing was supposed to be confidential, private and very businesslike and it was," Kapstein added. "It was a fair hearing conducted in a pleasant atmosphere. We presented our case to Mr. Hogan and, obviously, Mr. Finley made points for his side."

Finley's points included Holtzman's decline in the categories of innings pitched, complete games, earned run average, games won and strikeouts. Another factor, the owner said, was Holtzman's pitching percentage of .528 compared to the team's overall mark of .556.

"If the team's percentage was as low as Holtzman's, we wouldn't have gone to the arbitration," he said.

"I think we're being very, very fair," he said of the A's offer. "We feel that his performance in 1974 was not as good as it was in 1973 (when Holtzman won 21 games)."

"Philosophically, he added, "We owners are concerned about the escalating salaries. We just have to keep these salaries within reason."

'Catfish' still on line

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Charles O. Finley still has hopes that Jim "Catfish" Hunter will one day again wear the green and gold uniform of the Oakland A's.

After Wednesday's arbitration hearing, Finley's arbitrator said he is still in litigation.

Hunter, the mound ace of the A's for the past four seasons, was declared a free agent at the end of the 1974 season after a labor board ruled Finley had defaulted on money payments.

Finley's attorney, Jerry Kapstein, declined to go beyond his statement that he was under strict instructions from the Major League Players Association to keep the details of his client's confidential.

Richard Moss, counsel for the MILPA, said, "The arbitrator has taken the case under advisement and I think until he gives a decision, it would be improper to comment."

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You need the love associated with St. Valentine's Day to avoid some pretty cold and calculating attitudes that can push others away from you, or you away from them. Don't neglect to show kindness and express friendship.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study plans you have in mind and don't start anything until fully prepared. Enjoy socials and friends you've not seen recently.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep plans quiet. Don't bother with that romantic matter unless you're serious. Avoid one who has strange notions about you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Enjoy amusements with good friends. You can gain some personal aim early that means much to you. Retire early tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you think a bigwig has given you the runaround, do not voice this opinion or you can get into trouble. Happy p.m. with loved one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure expansion is in the right directions to avoid trouble. A new acquaintance needs scrutiny, but is intrinsically okay.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Check intuitions against good judgment before acting on them now. Use practical sense in dealing with loved one, not emotion alone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Change your methods somewhat to get better results with partners now. A good day for improving some affair of the heart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get work on a firm foundation and cooperate more with fellow workers for good results. Take the right health treatments for greater productivity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan short trips that will bring fine results. A good day for doing something a little risky. Get out of boring rut.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put good ideas to work to improve home conditions. Check utilities. That new project can be helped by some fine news.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking cleverly now and can put practical ideas to work for greater efficiency. Put friends to work who are idle.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use practical common sense to increase assets. Pay bills. Listen to suggestions of clever business expert. Get to bed early.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can become a successful person upon reaching maturity provided he is taught early to finish whatever is once started, since there is a tendency to go from one project to another without completing anything. Give the finest education possible to train this mind properly, but stick to the natural bent and don't try to force what is not for him or her. Religion a must early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

In the Balanta tribe of Africa, a bride remained married until her wedding gown was worn out. If she wanted a divorce after two weeks, all she had to do was rip up her dress. This was the custom until about 20 years ago, anyway.

IF YOU and your matrimonial mate will sugar bowl every single quarter, you get back in change; you can expect to wind up at year's end with about $150. That's another average.

ALMOST all beauty contest winners put on weight during the first year after they win their titles.

LOVE AND WAR

Men definitely need marriage more than women do. Our Love and War man says that has been the contention of such authorities as Dr. Margaret Mead, Dr. Roy Menninger, Dr. Jesse Bernard and Dr. Daniel Levinson.

WHAT'S the recommended length of time at a cocktail party between drinks? Authorities on the subject contend it should be 30 minutes. Maybe so. But if the drinks are poured by your wife, a 15-minute interval might be permissible. If they're poured by your hostess, 30 minutes does indeed sound safer. If you pour them yourself, I suspect an hour is safer.

SAGITTARIANS

Sagittarians are inclined to be fidgety when young. They tend to take chances, play hunches and are prone to accidents. In their later years, they're apt to be brilliant talkers. Or so say the stargazers. Both Mark Twain and Winston Churchill were Sagittarians, please note.

Q: "WHERE can I address a letter to Johnny Cash?"

A: Johnny Cash, Caudill Drive, Hendersonville, Tenn. 37075.

THE FELLOW who wrote the original book about King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table was Sir Thomas Mallory. No doubt you recall those tales cite at great length the virtues of piety, valor, loyalty, courtesy, gentleness toward women and personal honor. Now consider Sir Thomas himself. He was convicted for extortion, looting a monastery and rape not once but twice. He died in jail, as a matter of fact.

There's never been a better time to buy a new car than right now. Here's why.

1. 1975 cars generally offer better fuel economy than 1971, 1972 or 1973 cars.
2. New maintenance schedules can save you hundreds of dollars. Spark plug life is longer. So are lubrication and oil change intervals.
3. Many important features you once paid extra for as options now come standard in the new '75 cars.
4. In many ways, it's what you can't see "under the skin" — quality, durability, engineering improvements — that make a '75 car a value-holding investment for the future.
5. 42-month installment plans, where available, can reduce your monthly payments.
6. The average monthly auto loan interest charge is only $3 more than it was six years ago.
7. New car price percentage increases are less than upturns in cost of food, clothing and even your local movie theater.
8. The cost of a new car now takes less from today's paycheck than it did 10 years ago. Then it took the median wage earner 5.1 months to earn the price of a base four-door car. Today, he can earn a four-door car in 4.4 months.
9. During the last few months the increase in resale value of used cars has been high enough, in many cases, to offset completely the new '75 price increases. In effect, used car prices may never be higher and the cost to trade may never be lower.
10. It all adds up to a lot for your dollar at a time when you probably need a new car — and the nation's economy needs your vote of confidence.

FEA study asks stronger oil firm ties

Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON—The federal government should get more fully involved in the operations of the U.S. international oil companies for the nation's own benefit, according to a Federal Energy Administration (FEA) study.
 The nation's policy-makers have depended too long upon the giant oil firms maintaining a steady flow of petroleum to this country, and while "until recently this policy worked quite well," last year's Arab oil embargo proved its undoing, according to the exhaustive six-month study prepared for the FEA.
 Not only was there no U.S. agency capable of "taking independent action" to protect the nation's interest in connection with foreign oil supplies, it said, but the huge multinational firms' performance "emphasized that the United States cannot rely upon these companies to favor its interests to the detriment of other major consuming nations."
 "In large part, these companies are held hostage by the producer governments," the report explained, adding that the bargaining power of the companies has changed.
 The producing countries determine the price and supply policies, and the companies are powerless to resist, the study concluded.

 The conclusions appear probably to arouse controversy not only within the FEA, but within the administration, as well as between the major oil firms and the government.
 The study, whose summary alone runs to 121 pages, was prepared by a Los Angeles law firm, Nossaman, Waters, Scott, Krueger & Riordan.
 John T. Sawhill, FEA administrator when the study was launched last July, described the firm as having a "distinguished reputation" in dealing with the oil industry and expertise on the government's relationship to it.
 The report was not entirely critical of the industry. It frequently was favorable, faulting the government for not having taken a "closer" interest in the oil firms' arrangements with foreign nations earlier, and not developing more effective policies to deal with the oil countries in connection with the companies' operations.
 "The consultants concluded it was 'unlikely' that any 'effective progress' can be made by the United States with the major oil producing countries 'until the Arab-Israeli dispute has been settled.'
 "That dispute," they asserted, "continues to color petroleum policy in the Middle East and, therefore, the remainder of the world."

 Resolving the dispute "must be considered in the evaluation of any producer-consumer country discussions," they explained "particularly with respect to the key Arab states, and now also with respect to Iran which recently announced its intention to support the Arab position in any future conflict with Israel."
 This latter view could also be expected to provoke controversy by a number of middle east foreign policy authorities who argue that the oil crisis and last winter's embargo was well on its way to taking place before the October, 1973, war.
 Rising Arab nationalism and the development of other than the traditional leadership in the Middle East prompted use of the "oil weapon" these authorities argue.
 The report also appears to implicitly acknowledge this view although not stating so in specific terms. Resolving the Arab-Israeli issue, it admits, "would, however, not guarantee the success of producer-consumer discussion."
 The study cautions that an oil import tariff—such as proposed by Ford administration—can be a two-edged sword.

The proverbial drippy faucet problem does more than just keep you awake at night. That dripping is costing you money both in the cost of the water, of the electricity used to pump it if you have your own well, PLUS the cost of heating the water since it is more likely to leak from the hot side of the faucet. Sometimes simple repairs can correct the problem. Even replacement of the entire valve (simple for the average DO-IT-YOUR-SELFER) will prove far less expensive than the water and energy wasted if the problem goes without correction for an appreciable length of time. Let our knowledgeable sales staff help you save money — and sleep.
