Ford studies European visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has under discussion with his top aides a trip to Europe this year, but probably not until late summer or early fall, an administration official said today.

Ford at first had set his sights on traveling abroad in April, accepting invitations he has received from several heads of state, including Great Britain, France and West Germany. He is also expected to visit China this year.

Fears worst

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., says the nation may slide into a depression later this year unless the Federal Reserve Board moves to loosen credit within the next three months.

Humphrey, who heads Congress's Joint Economic Committee, blamed the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy for blocking economic recovery. He said the board, which sets credit guidelines for the nation's banks, could do much to start an economic recovery.

Key Cambodian base overrun

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Pro-Communist Khmer Rouge rebels overran the basecamp of an elite American-organized infantry division today and drove the show piece unit back to within eight miles of Phnom Penh, military sources said.

There was a major setback to government attempts to clean out Communist bases along the Mekong River, and shells hit the Phnom Penh area for the 49th consecutive day.

Ilke asked

RIYADH (UPI) — Tunisian Planning Minister Al Shazli Al Hayari said today Arab exporters should raise the price of exported oil to compensate for currency losses on world money markets.

In an interview published in the newspaper Al Riyadh, Hayari predicted the March 46 summit conference of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in Algiers will establish "basic solutions" for oil prices.

Venezuelan workers back embargo

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuelan oil workers have proposed use of an oil embargo against industrialized nations that attack members of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Venezuela, world's third largest oil exporter and chief source of U.S. oil imports, has been a champion in seeking higher world oil prices and has announced it will nationalize its foreign-owned oil industry this year.

Sets visit

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain will arrive here Feb. 24 for a six-day visit mixing ceremony with tours of ancient Aztec and Mayan ruins.

The queen, accompanied by Prince Philip, will be the first British sovereign to visit Mexico. She will return a 1973 state visit to Britain by Mexico's President and Mrs. Luis Echeverria.

French delay hijackers' hearing

PARIS (UPI) — An appeal court today postponed until March 3 its ruling on a request from the United States for extradition of two Americans charged with hijacking a Western Airlines plane to Algiers in 1972.

Court officials said the ruling was postponed because of insufficient evidence at the moment relating to charges against the couple, jailed in Fleury-Merogis prison since their arrest Jan. 24.

Saigon drops newspaper suits

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government today announced it has dropped court actions against six newspapers charged with slandering President Nguyen Van Thieu and other opposition leaders.

Political observers said the move was aimed at placating U.S. critics of Thieu's administration. Twenty U.S. legislators will visit South Vietnam next week to assess the situation before Congress votes on the $300 million supplemental military aid requested by President Ford.

SEN. LLOYD M. BENTSEN
... Texan's hat in ring

Texan joins Demo throng

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas announced today he will run for the Democratic presidential nomination, saying President Ford had let the nation drift "from crisis to crisis."

Bentsen, 54, a millionaire former business magnate, made his long-expected announcement in the historic Senate caucus room where numerous candidates have launched their formal campaigns.

In a prepared statement, Bentsen pledged to run "an energetic, national campaign" and said he will bring to it "leadership which is at once candid, unafraid, and positive."

Bentsen, who served three terms in the House, turned to a successful business career and then was elected to the Senate in 1970, is the fifth Democrat to formally announce for the 1976 presidential race.

The others are Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama is considered almost certain to make the race.

Britain, USSR press summit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Britain and the Soviet Union called today for a summit meeting to wind up the European Security Conference and for the early resumption of the Geneva talks on the Middle East.

A joint communique said the four-day visit of British Foreign Minister Harold Wilson marked "the opening of a new phase" in Anglo-Soviet relations.

Wilson and Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, in a Kremlin ceremony televised live, signed declarations of cooperation in trade, technology and public health. They also signed a declaration demanding urgent efforts to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

"The communique said the talks were held "in a businesslike and friendly atmosphere and in a spirit of mutual respect."

Relations between the two countries were cool after Britain expelled more than 100 Soviet diplomats in 1971 on spying charges.

Wilson arrived last Thursday and his visit was marked by the reappearance of Brezhnev in public after 51 days in seclusion during which he was sick.

Wilson scheduled a flight back to London after a news conference later today.

The Soviet Union has long urged a 35-nation summit meeting this year to climax the Security Conference and definitively establish the post-war frontiers of Europe.

Henry, Gromyko pare gap on Mideast views

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko admitted differences today but said their Geneva talks were fruitful and that both sides are moving towards the removal of outstanding differences.

Kissinger and Gromyko, standing side by side, made statements to newsmen after five hours and 15 minutes of talks in Kissinger's hotel suite during which they tried to align their rival policies in the Middle East and on other matters. They had engaged earlier in sharp exchanges but made no mention of this today.

Gromyko spoke first, in Russian with English interpretation, and said of many issues discussed he and Kissinger found their views close and in some cases coinciding.

"But I will not divulge a secret, and I am sure the Secretary of State will agree, that there are questions on which our views do not exactly coincide," he said. "But it is necessary to work in the direction of removing these differences. The United States and Soviet Union have covered a great distance in a positive direction."

Kissinger, replying, said "confirm the foreign minister's evaluation of our meeting." He said "I shall report to the president that we are moving within the spirit of previous agreements."

Both men stressed the importance of the Vladivostok agreement in November between President Ford and Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev setting out guidelines for a new strategic arms limitation agreement. He said he and Gromyko had attempted to bring their views "into closer harmony" on issues where they did not coincide.

Kissinger was flying almost immediately to London for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and then flying to Zurich Tuesday noon for lunch with the Shah of Iran before going on to Paris that evening. Wilson flew back from Moscow today.

Kissinger, Gromyko open meet

The question was whether Russia would try to obstruct Kissinger's next step toward a Middle East peace agreement or help him. A senior American official said that so far the Russians had been neither very helpful nor notably constructive.

Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev attacked Kissinger's mission last week in veiled terms.

Kissinger's first meeting with Gromyko Sunday night was described by informed sources as businesslike punctuated by some sharp exchanges.

Before meeting Gromyko Kissinger conferred for 20 minutes with Roger Gallopin, President of the Executive Council of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

Gallopin assured Kissinger the Red Cross will continue its efforts to get some news of the 2,300 Americans still missing or unaccounted for in Indochina.

Frank Sleverts, a special assistant at the State Department, dealing with those missing in action, attended the meeting.

Teens pace chess meet

TWIN FALLS — A 15-year-old Boise high school sophomore is the new Idaho state chess champion after the state tournament here.

Gregory Perryman, who has played chess for about three years, captured top honors in the state chess tournament held here Saturday at the YMCA.

The new champion who attends Borah High, said he has the ambition to compete in larger meets but not the money to do so.

The other two top trophies also went to junior players under 21 years old. Tournament organizer Ted Hartwell, Twin Falls, said "Chess isn't an old man's game. The younger players seem to have more lasting power."

Second place went to 14-year-old John Westover, a Twin Falls High School sophomore, and third went to a Burley High Junior, Stewart Sutton, Jr.

Winner in class B was Hartwell. Class C was topped by Barney Graff, Murtaugh, and class D to Tom Kennedy, Twin Falls.

Players are rated in classes by the national chess association. The special trophy for top junior was awarded to Robert Cordova, of Mountain Home AFB.

Thirty-four people participated in the competition.

Confidence show sought

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) — President Ford, celebrating the birthday of George Washington, urged Americans today to "demonstrate our confidence in our beloved nation and a future that will flow from the glory of the past."

Ford made the remarks following the unveiling of the Gerald R. Ford medalion plaque at the George Washington Masonic National Memorial. He is the 14th President to belong to a masonic order. Washington was the first.

Ford recalled that Washington, a 1786 letter to the Grand Lodge of Maryland, told the order that he "conceived it to be the indispensable duty of every American... to come forward in support of the government of his choice, and to give all the aid in his power towards maintaining that independence which we have so dearly purchased."

"Such involvement by every American is as essential today as it was in George Washington's day," said Ford.

And I ask that we resolve together to honor George Washington and America by "perpetuating the national heritage he engendered through the principles that guide our order: friendship, morality, and brotherly love."

US oil price lid off?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said today President Ford plans to decontrol the price of domestic oil even if Congress fails to impose an excess profits tax.

The move would boost consumer prices. Ford's energy program had envisioned lifting controls on the price of "old oil," coupled with an excess profits tax to assure that oil companies did not get rich while American gas consumers were paying higher prices.

Zarb told a House subcommittee Ford plans to decontrol the price of the old oil even if Congress fails to enact the profits tax by April 1.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the new House energy subcommittee, said he did not believe congressional action on such a tax could be completed by April 1.

Rep. H. John Heinz, III, R-Penn., asked Zarb:

"Will the President go ahead and decontrol without an excess profits tax by April 1?"

"Yes," Zarb replied, adding that Congress may reject the decision if either House votes against it within five days.

The House has already voted to postpone for 90 days the President's increased taxes on imported oil and the Senate is expected to follow suit.

"The simple fact is that we cannot get the job done, we cannot sufficiently reduce demand, increase supplies without the incentives decontrol and a return-to-a-free-market will bring," Zarb said.

The government now controls the price of oil from certain wells. The administration plan would lift that control.

Burley aides claim former chief's past not known when he was hired

By DAVID BOCKMAN

Times-News writer

BURLEY — City officials say they were not aware of former Police Chief Gary Booth's controversial police record when they hired him.

Booth had been fired from a previous job as police chief after being accused of selling police property and spending the money for himself, and after he was fired for a bad-check charge.

Acting Mayor V. Morgan said the council was not aware of Booth's firing as chief of police at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, until late in 1974.

Booth was hired as the Plattsmouth chief in November, 1969, and was forced to resign in 1972. In May, 1974, Booth was hired as chief of the Burley force and then fired Feb. 10, 1975.

However, Morgan said, Booth's problems as chief of the Plattsmouth force, three years ago, did not enter into Booth's firing at Burley.

The Times-News reported Friday that Booth had been fired from the Plattsmouth job in 1972, after he was fined for insufficient funds check reports. According to Cass County, Neb. Associate Judge Darlene Grushenko, court records show that in Oct. 1972, Booth entered a plea of "nolo contendere" to a charge of issuing an "insufficient funds check."

Booth was sentenced to a fine of $50, plus court costs and restitution of the $34 check, the judge stated.

Rhylander said he was also displeased with Booth's handling of funds for a local youth group. When Booth took over administration of the group's accounts there was a $700 profit, the Mayor said.

But, "18 1/2 months, the money was gone and the group was in debt," Rhylander claimed.

Although Rhylander had fired Booth, he apparently did not tell Burley officials about it, when Booth applied as Burley's Chief.

Rhylander said, somebody called from Idaho, and "I told them I wouldn't hire him for chief, unless the person hiring had the upper hand."

Egyptian, Israeli aides voice new optimism about withdrawals

By United Press International

Egyptian and Israeli leaders have expressed new optimism about Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's chances to negotiate another limited Israeli troop withdrawal when he returns to the Middle East next month.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told a meeting of his ruling Labor party in Haifa, Sunday, that "Israel believes there is a chance and that it is desirable to reach another interim settlement."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi, in an interview published Sunday in the Beirut Daily Star, said he had "reason enough" to expect further Israeli pullbacks on the Sinai and Golan Heights fronts before the middle of this year.

Kissinger visited Jerusalem and Arab capitals on an exploratory mission last week and plans to return to the area next month to mediate a second-stage Israeli troop withdrawal from occupied Egyptian territory in the Sinai.

Israel had been insisting on an Egyptian declaration of nonbelligerency in return for any further territorial concessions but government sources said the Israeli cabinet during its Sunday meeting modified the demand slightly.

Israel will now settle for an Egyptian promise "to refrain from warfare," the sources said.

Leaders of both countries also looked beyond the next Kissinger mission to a resumption of the full-scale Middle East peace conference in Geneva.

Rabin said if Kissinger fails, "the Geneva conference will be convened."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, addressing a meeting of Arab Information ministers in Cairo, said another Kissinger-style partial accord would be a "step along the road to Geneva and not a substitute for it."

In the interview with the Beirut Daily, Fahmi said he expected the Geneva conference to be reconvened soon after Israel cedes more territory in Sinai and on the Golan Heights. But he said any new Geneva sessions will have to include Yasser Arafat's PLO, the PLO and Syria on future Middle East Syria. The PLO and Syria are reported anxious that any Egyptian-Israeli accord might leave them alone in the confrontation with the Jewish state.

Syrian President Hafez Assad met in Damascus with Arafat for three hours Sunday. A PLO spokesman said they reached "full agreement" but gave no details.

Leftist proposal rejected

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal's ruling Armed Forces Movement reconvened a mass conference today to discuss a left-wing proposal to perpetuate itself in power and destroy private enterprise.

An army spokesman denied the move would lead to a military dictatorship.

"We are not trying to institute a military dictatorship," he said.

The newspaper Express said over the weekend the 200 delegates at the conference of the Armed Forces Movement, which seized power by toppling a right-wing dictatorship last April, were discussing three rival proposals.

One plan put forth by leftwingers, calls for creation of a permanent military government along the lines of Peru to dismantle private enterprise.

A second proposal calls for moderate intervention by the army in Portugal's political life until the political parties have gained sufficient experience to take over.

A military watchdog committee with veto powers would be dismantled at the end of the present three-year economic plan under this plan.

A third proposal, calling for the dismantling of the government as soon as a civilian government is elected, was shelved, Express said.

President Francisco de Costa Gomes last week called elections for a constituent assembly on April 12. This election—the first free vote in Portugal in 48 years—is scheduled to be followed by elections for a civilian government in November or December.

Earthquake jolts Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI) — A moderate earthquake jolted Thailand today, the first tremor here in nearly 10 years. It caused considerable confusion in Bangkok and other large cities but only slight damage and injuries.

When the tremor struck at 10:41 a.m. on 11 p.m. MST Sunday, workers streamed from offices in several high-rise buildings in downtown Bangkok.

Damage was limited to broken windows in some skyscrapers, police said. Several persons were reported to have broken arms or fainted in the rush to evacuate tall, swaying buildings.

The tremor lasted about 15 seconds but was strong enough to be felt throughout most of central and northern Thailand. Meteorologists estimated the tremor was probably in the range of five or six on a scale of 10.

The last earthquake to hit Thailand occurred in November, 1956. Weathermen said it was weaker than today's quake.

Zikora wounded the student, Grigory Gilbouch, and a court in Irkutsk, Siberia, sentenced him to two years in prison. Duelling was banned in Russia before the Bolshevik revolution.

Traditional duel weapons are sabers, but the newspaper said Zikora rejected them because he did not want an unfair advantage. He had often handled swords on stage while Gilbouch, a journalism student, had no experience with them.

According to the newspaper, Gilbouch and Zikora found a secluded wood, measured out 32 paces and drew lots for first shot. Zikora won and offered to draw again but Gilbouch declined, not thinking he would fire.

When Gilbouch fell to the ground wounded, Zikora helped him to an ambulance and reported the incident to the police.

The student recovered, the newspaper said, adding that Zikora "chose the wrong way to defend his honor."

Plunge kills 20

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A bus skidded from a highway and plunged into a canal near Sassaram in northeastern Bihar state Sunday, killing at least 20 persons, the newspaper Motherland reported today.

Fourteen other persons were seriously injured in the accident. Police said more bodies were probably still tangled in the wreckage.

Duel rivals lose

MOSCOW (UPI) — The student Vitaly Zikora discovered that the student he took into his house was having an affair with his wife, the two fought a duel with hunting rifles, Sovetskaya Russia said today.

Utah sugar firms mum about suit

By United Press International

Two Utah sugar companies, charged with conspiracy and monopolistic practices in a lawsuit, say they have no comment on the suit until they receive the court documents.

"I will decline comment until we have been officially notified on the lawsuit," said a spokesman for Utah — Idaho Sugar Co.

"We have not been served yet, so we have no comment until we are served," said Allan M. Lipton, general counsel for Amalgamated Sugar Co. of Ogden.

The suit, filed Friday by Washington State Attorney General Slade Gorton, alleges U. S. L. Amalgamated, California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corp. and Sprecels Sugar Co. have engaged in conspiracy and monopolistic practices in the sale of sugar.

The suit seeks treble damages, attorney fees and an injunction to stop continuing violations leading to higher sugar prices.

Question . . .

My wife passed away recently and now I must change the beneficiary of my insurance policies. Are there any problems I should anticipate in doing this?

Answer . . .

Very probably you will need only to complete a "change of beneficiary" form for each company involved. But it is possible you may have some problems, for example, if you have minor children, naming them beneficiaries of your life insurance is not the best way. In certain insurance proceeds to them you should discuss "life insurance trust" with the trust officer of your bank.

Before you make the decision to leave your insurance to anyone who is not related to you, discuss this with your attorney. There is a common law principle that a beneficiary must have an insurable interest in the life of the insured. If your friend should not qualify on this basis, the insurance proceeds might transfer to your heirs.

There is also a possibility that during your wife's lifetime you transferred ownership of your insurance to her. Under certain circumstances your insurance may then be an asset of her estate which may or may not ultimately revert to you for a decision regarding a new beneficiary.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. and is sponsored by the Sugar Beet Growers Association, the Amalgamated Sugar Co., Utah and Idaho Sugar Co. and the University of Idaho cooperative extension service.

Jay Cobb, Filler, will be chairman of the morning sessions and Harold Bulcher, Jerome, is in charge of the afternoon program.

Blaine Lindorf, University of Idaho extension service, will make the introductions. Speakers include Dale Strong, Amalgamated Sugar Co.; Don Oldemyer, Amalgamated Sugar Co.; Nysse, Ore.; Ed Owens, University of Idaho branch experiment station Aberdeen; William Simpson, University of Idaho branch experiment station, Parma; Leonard Kirbs, Amalgamated Sugar Co., Twin Falls, and Dale Westermann and John Carter, from the research station at Kimberly.

Harry Fenwick, University of Idaho, pathology specialist; Hugh Homan, University of Idaho, entomology specialist; Carl Blikenstaff, university insecticides; Del Traveller and Dan Stallings, Twin Falls, Amalgamated Sugar Co.; Russ Withers, University of Idaho, economics department; Charles Peterson, agricultural engineer; University of Idaho; Dorrell Larsen, irrigation specialist, University of Idaho.

Topics to be covered include everything from seed programs to planting, fertilizing, insect threats, irrigation, harvesting and economic factors.

No school today at CSI

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho observed Washington's birthday with no school today.

The Alcohol safety program will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the student conference room.

Tuesday's scheduled meetings include program board, noon, at student conference room; RSVP advisory board at 1:30 p.m., student conference room; Intramural basketball, 3 p.m. in the gym; Circle K club meeting, 7 p.m., student conference room and the CSI basketball team meets Idaho State University in the gym Tuesday night.

The Alcohol safety program is scheduled at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday meetings include the publications committee at noon and student senate at 6 p.m., both in the Student conference room.

The fourth district basketball tournament is slated from 5 to 11 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the gym and CSI basketball team meets Moscow there at 6:15 p.m. Friday and North Idaho at 8 p.m. Saturday in Coeur d'Alene.

TF meet set Wednesday

TWIN FALLS — A meeting to discuss the 1976 wastewater treatment facility priority grant list will be held Wednesday night in the Twin Falls Y.M.C.A.

The Environmental Services Division municipal programs representative will lead the discussions. Municipal representatives from the Magic Valley area are urged to attend.

Any community or sewer district that does not appear on the priority list will probably not be included in 1976. Only about 15 to 20 projects will be funded.

Appreciation day in TF

Travel conditions good

BOISR (UPI) — Except for a few icy spots in the mountains most of Idaho's major roads were in good travel condition today.

By road, this was the report from the State Department of Transportation and Law enforcement:

- U.S. 95 — Marsing to Oregon line, icy spots.
- State Highway 45 — Banks to New Meadows, icy spots.
- Interstate 90, U.S. 10 — Fourth of July Canyon, icy spots; Lookout, Pass, icy, snowing.
- U.S. 12 — Orofino to Kooskia, icy spots; Lolo Pass, snow, floor.
- State Highway 21 — Idaho City to Lowman, icy spots.
- Interstate 80 — Jerome, icy spots; Cottrell to Utah line, icy spots.
- State Highway 68, U.S. 20-26 — Fairfield to Carey, icy spots, fog; Craters of the Moon to Arco, icy spots.

U.S. 93 — Twin Falls to Nevada line, Shoshone, icy spots; Halley, icy spots;

Galena to Stanley, snow floor; Challis to Salmon; broken snow floor; Salmon to Lost Trail Pass, snow floor.

Agreement signed

TWIN FALLS — A three-way agreement for maintenance and operation of the Salmon Dam recreation site was signed here Thursday by Twin Falls County, the Bureau of Land Management and Salmon Canal Co.

County commissioners have agreed to pay $2,400 per year toward cost of maintenance. The canal company will provide an employee at the site at all times to operate the dam and also act as an overseer of the recreation site.

Commissioners said the additional $2,400 a year they will pay is for his time, maintenance and clean-up man. He will take care of trash containers, restrooms and picnic areas.

The Bureau of Land Management will continue to provide landscaping and improvements such as picnic tables and restroom facilities. The BLM has allocated a total of $106,000 over a period of several years for development of the park area.

A home was built at the site recently to house the caretaker and his family to provide 24-hour supervision and protection of the park area. Boat docks were built this past summer by Willis Inc. under contract to the county.

Lawmakers work holiday, tackle hot Gem issues

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho legislators worked on George Washington's birthday today dealing up a number of controversial issues confronting them, in an effort to clear the way for an early adjournment.

Last week, Republicans agreed on a proposal for state employee salary increases following four weeks of squabbling over the issue. This opened the door for an early adjournment possibly by the legislature's 60-day statutory deadline.

House committees began facing three of the most controversial issues facing the legislature, as the senate took up a number of tax relief measures.

The house education committee began looking at the perennial question of state supported kindergartens as the State Affairs Committee discussed a controversial resolution designed to rescind Idaho's 1972 ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

The Revenue and Taxation committee discussed a measure allowing cities to have the option to impose local taxes, while the full house considered a bill giving Idahoans $10 million in permanent tax relief.

The permanent tax relief measure would give taxpayers a permanent tax break and also limit recurring general fund surpluses. The bill would reduce income tax rates about 7 to 8 percent and provide a permanent $20 per-person grocery credit.

The Senate also had before it a flock of tax relief measures already passed by the House. The Senate postponed action on them Friday until the proposal for state employee salary increases could be settled.

One of the measures would allow Idahoans a 10 percent refund on their 1974 income tax returns, while tapping an estimated $9 million from the state's surplus. The other measure would raise the temporary grocery credit from $15 to $20 for one year. Both measures should come up this week since the public employees question has been resolved.

The House Ways and Means Committee Friday introduced a measure giving state employees $1.6 million in reallocations which would bring their incomes more into line with similar jobs in private industry. The proposal allows another $2.3 million in most of living increases.

House and Senate Republican leaders were having trouble settling on a proposal for state employee salaries and it was threatening to slow the session down. Republican leaders said Friday they would like to get the resolution passed sometime early this week — possibly today.

As soon as the resolution is approved by both chambers, the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee can finish setting budgets. It usually is the work of the Joint Finance Committee that causes the legislature to run past its 60-day legal deadline.

There are several other important issues confronting the legislature this week, among them Gov. Cecil Andrus' package of seven-land use planning bills.

A public hearing on the controversial measures is scheduled for Tuesday beginning at 6:30 p.m. This is the third year in a row Andrus has tried to get land use legislation approved.

New agency regulates commodities

By NEA/London Economist News Service
 CHICAGO (LENS) — President Ford is now considering nominations to the newest federal agency: the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

The commission of five will start work in April backed by a staff of 500, and legislation from Congress that gives it wide discretionary powers to regulate the country's 12 commodity exchanges for the first time.

Since the turnover on these exchanges topped $500 billion last year — a far greater sum than that of the stock markets — the new commission is expected to become in time as powerful as the Securities and Exchange Commission. It will have its work cut out. Since 1971 the volume of commodity trading in America has doubled to 27 million contracts a year, in nearly 50 products as diverse as frozen pork bellies, silver, grains, orange juice and, most recently, gold. But much of this trade has been completely outside federal control.

LINS

Trade in domestic commodities is already loosely regulated, but only by an inadequate commodity exchange act that was mostly written in 1922 and has little bite. The new commission, by contrast, will have a powerful range of armaments. It will be able to levy fines of up to $100,000 on commodity traders, and will have absolute discretion in approving the rules under which all exchanges operate.

For the larger exchanges like the Chicago Board of Trade, which does 52 per cent of the nation's commodity business, the new commission will be little threat. But many of the smaller, more speculative exchanges will be forced to revise their standards: in 1972 an exchange in California went under leaving debts of nearly $70 million, and last year Congress was upset by the open attempts by some speculators, led by the Texan oil magnate, Spencer Hunt, to corner the New York silver market, one of those at present free from regulation.

The commission is expected to prevent markets being cornered in future by setting strict limits to the number of contracts a speculator may hold in any one commodity. It will also keep close watch on brokers' trading, and see that the cash put up for margin requirements is deposited in segregated accounts.

Not surprisingly, many traders and speculators are afraid that this regulation may choke off the free market. They claim that the commodity exchanges are the last hunting ground of naked capitalism. They are probably right. But the commission's business is to regulate, not to protect. It is probably going to force a number of speculators out of business by making it safer to do so.

The scope for tempting the small investor into commodity trading is enormous. There are more than 100,000 speculators in the markets already and the stockpiles of grain, launch now have revenues of $40 million a year from their commodity commissions alone. But the markets have long needed to be removed from the domination of the big trading houses.

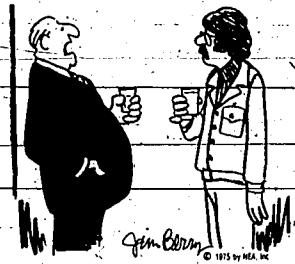

One of the first problems with the new commission will consist in squabbling from the trading houses, is whether the same firm can trade for the public while taking speculative positions for itself. The conflict of interest is obvious, yet, at the moment, permitted.

The commission will report directly to Congress. None of the five men to be nominated is likely to have existing ties with the commodity exchanges, and the present jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture under the 1922 act will end; the department was itself accused of leaking inside information to some of the major trading firms about the highly profitable Russian wheat deal in 1973.

It was this deal and the spiraling prices of all commodities that first attracted the interest of Congress, which suspected that inflation and leading inside information to some of the major trading firms about the highly profitable Russian wheat deal in 1973.

The markets in Chicago and New York have more to gain from the commission than they fear they might lose.

How far distant US boundaries?

© New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Any day now, a special representative of the president of the United States will sign a "covenant" that will ultimately make 14,000 native residents of the Marianas Islands — Saipan, Tinian, Rota, Pagan and the rest — citizens of the United States.

The little island empire will affiliate with the U.S. as a commonwealth, like Puerto Rico, and as night follows day, we will soon be hearing angry cries for independence as well as demands for statehood.

What are we getting into, and why? Isn't the ownership of nearby Guam good enough for our aviation needs without spreading American territory all over the Far Eastern Pacific?

In 1823, Andrew Jackson described the U.S. as "a country manifestly called by the Almighty to destroy which Greece and Rome, in the days of their prime, might have envied." This was turned into the slogan, "manifest destiny" by diplomat John O'Sullivan, to rally support for the annexation of Texas in the 1840's, and was revived in 1898 by William McKinley for his takeover of the Hawaiian Islands.

Fortunately, "manifest destiny" doesn't have the old ring any more: Under the Whitehouse Doctrine, enunciated at Guam six years ago and still the basis of U.S. foreign policy, our commitments abroad are limited to the aid of those whom it is in our interest to help defend themselves.

Why, then, are we turning territory 5,000 miles from the continental United States into U.S. soil? Most of our trusteeship of Micronesia — the Carolines and the Marshalls, with familiar names like Truk and Bikini — will ultimately be given "free association" with the U.S., a form of alliance that provides us military bases without locking us in forever.

The first reason given for the first territorial aggrandizement of this nation since we purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark is military necessity. Think of what we went through, in lives and naval vessels, to wrest control of Saipan from the Japanese in World War II.

Certainly, if our defense establishment wants to be ready for a future conventional war against Japan, it would make sense to secure our hold on Saipan, but in remembering Pearl Harbor, perhaps we are forgetting strategic concepts and weapons that have been developed since that time. The same argument holds for those who might like another supply point for a land war with China.

WILLIAM SAFIRE

Another reason advanced by special Envoy F. Hayden Williams, head of the Asia Foundation who is availing waiting to sign on behalf of the U.S. is that the political status of our trusteeship have freely chosen this people's status.

That's nice: the people of the Marianas, who have become totally dependent on U.S. defense establishment already, show good taste in their selection of a patron country. But under this theory, the people of Bangladesh would deserve to become part of America, if they freely so chose, and Adm. John McCain would probably then make a military case for a foothold on the Indian subcontinent.

Readers whose emotions are easily stirred by demagogic essays are demanding to know "Why wasn't I told this too?" You were, this latest conquest was engineered with the full participation of our Imperial Congress especially Sen. Scoop Jackson and Rep. Phil Burton. Ironically, this round the world thrust is under the supervision of our "interior" committees. The Congress will have to ratify the agreement soon to be signed, but that is a formality.

Complacit. Congressmen will recall the precedent of Hawaii, and since we already have Guam, why not the rest of the islands that group? At today's prices, weren't Alaska and the Virgin Islands worth the price we paid for them?

That misses the point. The destiny of a nation which is manifest to one generation is not so manifest to another. It is no mark of neo-isolationism to pause in our automatic pickup of more territory to ask if this really fits into our idea of what and where our nation should be.

We ought to be considering the principle of the acquisition of any new territory, even these islands that make up less than half the land area of these islands. Where we firmly plant the flag, we lose the option to decide what to defend; an attack on the island of Rota would be the equivalent of an attack on New York or Florida; there could be no flexibility to our response.

The Marianas are tempting. Great bases could be built there, with officers clubs pitched to catch the gentle trade winds that used to blow the Spanish galleons from Acapulco to Manila. High-rise condominium could be pulled to attract the tired Japanese businessmen to a tourist paradise via the new American-Italian airline (fly Shan Air).

And there is history on the islands. From Tinian, a B-29 dropped the Enola Gay took off with a 14-foot explosive device to drop on Hiroshima, opening a new age of man.

But let us pause a moment to ask: Where do we want the United States of America to end?

Commandments lose

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Arkansas Senate voted overwhelmingly against the Ten Commandments Thursday.

It defeated, on a voice vote, an amendment to place the Ten Commandments in an official return bill.

The amendment was the work of Sen. W. D. Moore Jr. of Eldorado, who sponsored it to kill a bill proposed by Common Cause requiring disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Under Moore's amendment, the only thing left of Common Cause's proposal would have been the introduction, and the Ten Commandments would have completed the remainder of the bill.

"You can't beat the Ten Commandments, not even Common Cause can improve on them," Moore said.

Iraq moving into active role in Arab politics

BAGHDAD — The dispatch of Foreign Minister Saddam Hammadi last month for a diplomatic probe in the old-rich Persian Gulf states, politically far to the right of super-nationalistic Iran, marked the beginning of Baghdad's cautious emergence from linguistic isolation toward a more active role in Arab-world politics.

Hammadi's purpose was limited: to open up such conservative, royalist Arab states as Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf emirates against the growing military power of the Shah of Iran ("not against Iran," the powerful minister of information, Tariq Aziz, told us, "but against the ambitions of the Shah").

The mere attempt to force a common Persian Gulf policy between Iraq's left-wing Ba'ath dictatorship and the right-wing monarchies to the south marks a vivid departure. Moreover, such anti-Soviet Arab states as Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Lebanon are now announced in secret mediation between Iraq and Iran. Their object is to end the Baghdad-Tehran confrontation in the northern Kurdish regions of Iraq and prevent full-scale war from breaking out next spring when the snows melt.

Add to this the new commercial alliance between Iraq and French, which includes the sale of late-model French arms, together with Iraq's aggressive search for Western technology, and Baghdad's emergence from an almost paranoiac xenophobia becomes more clear. Considering its potential wealth in agriculture and industry, plus oil reserves second only to Saudi Arabia — the new Iraq can no longer be treated as the outcast of the Arab world.

EVANS AND NOVAK

Like-wise, Sheraton Hotels signed a contract on Jan. 28 to build and operate two new hotels, one here, one in Basra. U.S. exports to Iraq have boomed from $10 million in 1972 to nearly $300 million last year, with the upward trend certain to continue this year. All are financed by Iraqi oil.

Chief economic policy maker Adnan Hamdani, whose political influence ranks a par with Tariq Aziz and who, like Vice President Saddam Hussein, is only in his 30s, told us the U.S. turned back another huge offer last year. This one for Lockheed C-130s, because of military reasons. Hamdani philosophical about that. It would not affect Iraq's policy of offering American industry equal bidding rights on looming development projects.

The growth of imports, mainly from Western Europe, Japan and the U.S., has been phenomenal: from $50 million in 1968 before nationalization of the Iraqi petroleum company to nearly $6 billion last year.

The foreign trade minister told us that future potential for American export would be "limitless" — if the U.S. were not "closed to Israel."

True or not, the exchange of U.S. and other, Western technology for Iraq's booming oil income is changing the face of Baghdad. Far more important, it is creating economic advantages to both sides which may induce a political softening toward the West to go along with Iraq's new approach to the Arab world. This trend, which a settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute would nullify, doesn't please Moscow.

"They now have the money," the Soviet ambassador complained privately to a friend, "but they don't have the ideology" — to suit Moscow, that is.

"DON'T EXPECT MIRACLES"

Limit for some 'values'

WASHINGTON — Consider the first paragraph of a news release from the National Education Association:

"The title of the books in West Virginia, an NEA inquiry panel said today, exposed a deeply rooted conflict of cultural and religious values — a conflict exploited by outside extremists forces and intensified by undercurrents of racism... Is racism? Well, it is indisputable that they are whites in West Virginia — and Boston — who can't stand blacks. But the NEA panel protests from the issue when it concludes that the protest is, 'at least in part, a reaction to the black presence in America.'"

The gut issue is what kind of "literary" material should be served up to public school pupils by tax-paid teachers, not who writes the material nor whether the material is about members of the nation's black community. Unless they have changed their minds overnight, the protesters have been "objecting to the exposure of public school children to dirty books, regardless of whether those books have redeeming social values."

If just so happens that most of the books that came under fire were written by blacks, notably Eldred Cleaver and James Baldwin. And even the NEA bureaucracy, if privately, must be aware that Cleaver and Baldwin have written mostly about atypical blacks. Most American blacks do not talk or behave like Cleaver's and Baldwin's blacks, any more than most American white women talk and behave like the characters in white Erica Jong's "Fear of Flying."

Yet, and I quote again from the NEA handout: "The panel cautioned, however, that there can be 'no teaching or learning in the public school classroom without the exploration of values, philosophies, ideologies, and religious beliefs.'"

Moreover, the NEA panel condemned a recent school board action on textbook selection which "makes censors of parents" and constitutes "an abdication of the board's legal obligation to maintain responsible control of the schools." It demanded that parents be involved in the selection of educational materials "only as advisors rather than censors."

Call me a fascist, but I would place a limit on what kind of "values" a public school student should be required to "explore." The offending textbooks deal mostly with the "values" of pretexts, dope pushers, plimps and sexual free thinkers — in other words, a tiny minority of the black minority. No wonder some parents set themselves up as censors—NEA seems to have forgotten that parents also have a legal and moral obligation, to wit, "to maintain responsible control."

In short, I do not buy the argument that the rights of a teachers' committee to decide what books public school pupils should read is divine. NEA also seems to have forgotten that teachers, principals and school boards are public servants, even as presidents have discovered. If there are any fascist ideas rampant, one of them is that a community should stay mute on matters concerning its children.

I recall that certain books suspected of portraying blacks in an inferior light — including, interestingly, the classic "Huckleberry Finn" — were banned from some public schools after a vigorous campaign by the NAACP. Where was the NEA when that exercise in racist censorship was imposed on us?

Britain's Thatcher displays new style

By GEORGIE ANNE GEYER
© Chicago Daily News

Is Margaret Thatcher any indicator of what women leaders are going to be like in the future? A woman who frostily has nothing to do with the women's movements? A woman who "satches" milk from the breasts of men?

All along we've been told that the women "taking over" were activist, leftist, braless, yogurt-eating super-humanitarians. And now we find that the first woman head of Britain's Tory party is a woman who obviously has a hair appointment scheduled every Friday morning at 10:47 for the next five years and is even happily married. She's not only no free-thinker; they whisper around parliament that she is so efficient she even had her two children in the most efficient way — both at once. They are twins.

The first thing to remember is that grocer's daughter Margaret Thatcher came up in Britain's still extraordinarily male-dominated society (most wives still don't even know what their husbands earn) — in the same, basically classless way that the Labor women politicians did — the 150-percent way. She just learned to be better than most of the men when it came to the enthusiastic ousting of Ted Heath this past week, well-schooled, well-coiffed, outspoken Mrs. Thatcher was elected because of her abilities, but also because of novelty and zing.

In case anyone wonders, the "novelty-and-zing syndrome" (my clever new syndromization) operates when the male leadership of any one institution is being overhauled by a Siberian litch — the change won't go unnoticed.

As Raymond Coffey, one of the leading correspondents in London, said after the Thatcher victory: "The men were all a little goggle-eyed about the shaking their heads about Disraeli, Churchill — and Thatcher."

But if they are thinking of her as an interim leader-person, it's hard to picture Mrs. Margaret agreeing to that. Unlike many women today, she doesn't appear to be all self-destructing.

In fact, she has a number of things going for her. For one thing, whatever your politics, it's refreshing to see a woman rise who hasn't had to sacrifice love for flight. Her husband is apparently a totally secure type most wealthy oilmen don't seem to be as riven with insecurities as we mortals — and simply doesn't mind or mess with her world. Her children are grown.

Even her toughness does not necessarily place her outside the common feminist idea that women if power will act with greater humanity. Sure, she is an ultraconservative. Sure, as minister of education, she cut off the free milk rations for schoolchildren. But with the $20.7 million per year she saved with her own "milk scandal," she financed an ambitious educational reform program. And the problems of the 1970s are so complex, so beyond the simple revolutionary rhetoric of the last 25 years, that it is certainly possible it was she who was the ultimate humanitarian.

Moreover, Judith Dollinger, an American scholar who is doing a study on Conservative women for the center for the American woman's politics at Rutgers University, points out she has found out that: "It is not true that Liberal parties are kinder to women than the conservatives. In many ways, the Conservatives are more helpful to women because they see women as the guardians of religion and morality and today they are terribly concerned with conservative values slipping away."

What next for GOP?

Editor, Times-News: I was amazed to read two articles in the same edition of your paper which exclaimed that Idaho's Top GOP Aide Boosts ERA. "What will the Grand Old Party do next?" I brought since Watergate that the party would have been split enough — but this too? I wonder how difficult it will be for Republicans to solicit money, support and votes now?

After the news announcement I heard and read about recently, I am wondering if the Twin Falls County Republican Women's Club should be christened "Twin Falls County League of Republican Women Voter's Club"? Mrs. Noh and Mrs. Nelson have made quite an impact. I understand.

Seems Mrs. Sinclair is going to have some explaining to do to the regular members who weren't at the "special meeting" where ERA support was solicited following a brainwash presentation of pro-ERA dialect. Mrs. Sinclair may be dialed, but she isn't representing Idaho Republicans in this case, as the Idaho Republican Central Committee or the Idaho Federation of Republican Women haven't taken a stand on this controversial issue. To my knowledge, the National Federation of Republican Women haven't either.

As for your mini-editorial regarding the "conservative, level-headed, sober (?) group of women who met last Monday," I question whether the outcome would have been the same had the allowed equal time to anti-ERA members. Your appraisal, had the body voted for rescinding the amendment, would probably have read, "scare-mongers, shock troops, screamers, etc., etc."

Fair board needs change

Editor, Times-News: The Twin Falls County fair board needs some definite changes in personnel. That oughta shake up some of the ever-smiling faces on the fair board.

If any of what I write, is not exactly the facts, I stand open to correction. My feelings are that portions of the board have used up their usefulness to Twin Falls County. One board member last year found it more important to support and promote a crazy-duke on a Buck Rogers type motorcycle than to take care of his duties at the fair.

Staudaher supported

Editor, Times-News: This is in regard to an article that appeared in our paper, the Idaho Statesman, on Feb. 13, 1975. The caption of this article was "Naked Disgust Spurs Apology."

I would like to back George Staudaher, superintendent of schools. I would like to back him all the way. As far as I am concerned he stated true facts. People with this warped and bizarre behavior should not be fined, but should be horsewhipped or tarred and feathered. They evidently have no morals.

This particular group that carries on like this has got to be exhibitionists or a bunch of quacks. Morals in our country have reached a real low status and condoning such immoral radicals as these is more than I can stomach.

I commend George Staudaher for his statement.
Disgusted in Boise,

Aid available

Editor, Times-News: If somebody in your family were poisoned would you know where to call for help? Did you know there are two poison control centers in Twin Falls?

One is at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, call 733-1511, the other is at the Twin Falls Clinic, 733-7901.

When I discovered the high incidence of accidental poisoning and the fact that so few people in the community knew where to call in case of poisoning, I decided as my Eagle project to make the community more aware of the poison control centers.

CSI student lauds TF values

Editor, Times-News: I am a student here in Twin Falls at the College of Southern Idaho. I am writing to express my thanks to the community of Twin Falls and in particular Mr. Herb Barnes.

Just recently I lost my wallet in the Shields Building at the college. It contained $200. Needless to say, this was Mr. Barnes' find. The only reason I was carrying it on my person was because I was going to bank it that afternoon.

I retraced my steps, after losing the wallet, without success. Then, after thinking it over and mulling in my mind what I could have done had I found $200, I at last gave up my search as lost. But I then remembered one classroom I'd forget to check out. While making there, I realized my slim. I knocked on the door and my instructor smiled and said, "I've got it." I was relieved beyond words.

My hat goes off to a fellow by the name of Herb Barnes. He is an older student at the college and he found my wallet and turned it in with all the cash intact. I thanked him sincerely. He really saved my neck.

But I believe "thanks" are also in order the Magic Valley community. I am from the mid-west and I had a hard time convincing anyone back home (living in that amount of money. The townspeople of Twin Falls should be proud of themselves and the values that have been instilled in them.

I don't know, maybe Mr. Barnes is an exception rather than the rule and I was lucky enough to be one in a million, but you can't convince me of that. What I do know is that Mr. Barnes has made an impression on me that will last a lifetime. I now know what I will do in a similar situation.

I sincerely hope that others who find themselves in a similar situation will think twice before pocketing the money and throwing away the wallet. To someone, your actions could make a great deal of difference.

Utah tar sands good oil source

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah's tar sands could become the largest source of oil in the high-mountain region, a geologist said.

Howard Ritzma of the Utah Geological Survey told the U.S.

Oil Shale Environmental Panel Friday the sand deposits could be exploited within three years.

He said if a "crash" development program could be started, the southern Utah fields could be producing 10,000 barrels a day within three years.

Fifty-one deposits, mostly in the Uinta Basin, have been found in Utah.

Why pick on Spanish cities?

By JOE CAPPO
© Chicago Daily News

DETROIT — Word has leaked out that Cadillac has chosen a new name for the compact luxury car it will start building next month.

Originally sources said the car was to be called the LaSalle, named after a Cadillac-made auto of the 1930s. But the new reports indicate that the small Cadillac will be called the Seville (as in "Barber of Seville").

Do you realize that, if this is so, it will be the third new 1975 model to be named after a city in the south of Spain? Ford has its Granada, and Chrysler has its Cordoba.

Since when, I ask, do we name cars after cities? Animals, yes. Cougars, Pintos; Impalas. There also have been lots of astronomical names such as Polaris, Galaxy, Nova, Mercury and Astru. Of course, many cars are named after persons: Ford, Chrysler, Olds, Buick. (That is about the only way anyone would pick the name Buick for a car.) What gets me is that the three cities picked this year are all within 150 miles of each other in a hilly section of Spain. Why were they picked? After all, if any city in the world deserves to have a car named after it, shouldn't it be Detroit?

Auto makers seem to have no rhyme or reason for choosing city names for cars. Mercury proved that when it named the Monterey, and Dodge proved it when it named the Monaco. The names had no relation to the cars. They just sounded good.

The experts at picking names say that Spanish-sounding names have been popular in recent years. One residential developer says he has spent hours looking over maps of Spain and Mexico trying to come up with names for his subdivisions (Even though anyone with a Spanish surname gets a lot of trouble if he tries to move into one of them.)

Like the subdivision, the car-makers must have pored over maps of Spain last year to pick out Granada, Cordoba and Seville. I personally think they picked out the tamest, blandest names they could find.

Right there, on the same map, in the same section of Spain, they could have found Torremolinos. What a great name for a car! What about Fuengirola? I stayed there once. The people would love to have a car named after their town.

There are so many others Detroit could have chosen. Bolullos, Torredonjimeno, Cazalla de la Sierra. Can you imagine being the first guy in your office to own a 1975 Cazalla de la Sierra?

But even if they didn't like any of those names, they could easily have chosen one of my favorite cities, Moron de la Frontera.

On the other hand, I think that is one of those names that, loses something in the translation.

California Highway Patrol conducts low-speed escort

California Highway Patrol conducts 55 mph escort service for motorists

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — Weekend vacationers returning to California from Las Vegas, Nev., received the same welcome today they left with — an escort of California Highway Patrol vehicles, herding motorists into obeying the national 55 mile an hour speed limit.

CHP Sgt. Roger Bakernus said his division along the border handed out 13 tickets Friday night, the first night of the escort patrol.

This compared with 30 speeding tickets written the Friday before. He said, "Bakernus said a final total of tickets would not be available until Tuesday.

"The escort service seems to have been very successful" in reducing motorists' speeds, Bakernus said, "and there has definitely been a decrease in accidents."

Bakernus' zone includes the long desert stretch where drivers generally like to open up and leave the monotonous desert scenery behind.

The escort plan, originated by Supervising Inspector Walter Pudlinski, a former CHP commander, was put into effect for drivers going to Nevada, gambling resorts for the long holiday weekend.

About 60,000 persons headed for Las Vegas, and the CHP monitored waves of cars from the Los Angeles County line to Nevada — more than 240 miles.

Authorities expected a speedup when drivers lost their guides at the Nevada line, but a Nevada Highway Patrol spokesman said there was only a slight tendency to increase speeds.

Pudlinski watched much of the convoy operation from a helicopter. "We're finally driving at 55," he said. "When the patrol cars pulled off the road, the drivers did not appreciably increase their speed."

Bakernus said reaction from the public has been mixed.

"Some people are irritated; and some think it's good," he said.

Officers have had some trouble with daring drivers, who pull around the escort "just to see if they can," said Bakernus.

The escort service has had a marginal effect on Las Vegas hotel and motel proprietors. Some said it was slowing business down a little, others found they had to hold a room for a longer period because the occupants were not there in time.

"It is slowing us down," said Bill Holl, supervisor of the Westward Ho Motel on the "Strip." "It is a great inconvenience to the people. It makes no difference to us, but it slows the guests down."

Bob Buchanan, a clerk at the Sand-Dunes Motel, said the motel held the rooms a little longer than they usually would, because guests were arriving later.

Many of the motels give away rooms to "walk-in" guests if the original reserving party does not show up by a certain time.

Conservatives take 1st step to form own party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservatives, feeling left out by both Republicans and Democrats, have taken "the first step" toward creation of their own political party for 1976.

The Conservative Political Action Conference voted overwhelmingly for a 18-member steering committee on conservative alternatives "to review and assess the current political situation and to develop future opportunities."

The committee, including three Republican members of Congress and several GOP officials, was empowered to call another meeting if necessary "to chart more explicitly the future course of conservatism."

The only opposition in Sunday's brief debate on the resolution by more than 20 delegates who stayed to the end of the four-day meeting was a concern that conservative Democrats and representatives of such parties as the American and Libertarian were being ignored.

But M. Stanton Evans, chairman of the American Conservative Union and editor of the Indianapolis News, assured delegates no one was going to be frozen out.

"This leaves the third party option open," Evans said. "We have to take the first step."

Source: said Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., is expected to head the committee. The other GOP congressman on the group are Reps. Robert Bauman of Maryland and John Ashbrook of Ohio, who headed a brief conservative challenge to Richard Nixon in 1972.

The resolution said "conservatives have been forced into a political position which leaves us without a serious leadership role in either major political party, and the question of our allegiance to these political parties is a matter of increasing doubt to conservatives."

The present national leadership of the Republican Party has not effectively articulated or represented the conservative sentiment of the vast majority of Republicans and millions of Democrats are alienated by the increasingly radical orientation of the Democratic party."

The conference debated a number of other resolutions on domestic issues ranging from foreign policy to "big government."

The resolutions included recommending an anti-abortion amendment to the Constitution, a ban on welfare assistance "to able bodied and childless couples between the ages of 18 and 65," acceleration of the B1 bomber and the Trident submarine and missile programs, and an end to "forced busing of students to achieve racial balance."

Coffee embargo certain

SAN SALVADOR (UPI) — World coffee producers seeking price increases plan to withhold about 17.5 million bags of coffee from world markets indefinitely, until they get what they want.

"The producers wound up a three-day meeting Sunday and temporarily shelved a proposal for a total global sales embargo at least until the next round of talks with consumer representatives in London early next month.

But in a communique, the World Producers' Group said it would withhold "until our price objectives are reached 20 percent of the exportable coffee production for the first three months of this year, along with 10 from the last three months of last year."

The original limit on withholding was to have expired March 31, the producers said. Specific price objectives sought by the group were not disclosed.

Fausto Cantu Pena of Mexico, president of the World Producers' Group, told newsmen these percentages add up to 17.5 million 132-pound sacks of exportable coffee.

Although the communique did not mention what the feeling was on a possible global sales embargo — proposed by "hardline" African nations — Cantu Pena said:

"We are going to go on considering a possible embargo in the future, if prices do not rise sufficiently."

He added that the agreements reached here represented the "consensus" of all 42 producers.

The meeting, which began Friday morning, was scheduled to conclude last Saturday afternoon. But inability to reach agreement on what course to follow kept the delegates in session all night — a total of 18 hours — drinking coffee to stay awake.

45-day hunger strike ends

DUBLIN (UPI) — Patrick Ward and 11 fellow Irish Republican Army prisoners ate glucose and sugar today following the end of a 45-day hunger strike and confinement with the Irish government.

Ward, 27, a County Donegal fisherman, sipped a cup of tea at Dublin's Jervis Street Hospital Sunday night and whispered, "Another victory," when told the strike by his colleagues was over.

The IRA men began refusing food at Portlaoine Tu security on Jan. 3 in an attempt to force the government to recognize them as political prisoners with special privileges — requests Justice Minister Patrick Cosgrave rejected.

Although a Justice Ministry statement said no concessions had been made on "matters of principle," officials went a long way to meet the demands and to end the fast that put Ward in an intensive care unit and seven other of the hunger strikers in a military hospital.

Joe Cahill, the veteran IRA commander who negotiated on behalf of the prisoners, said the government had agreed to grant "imprisoned IRA men" "special prisoner" status He said it means they can wear their own clothes in jail, be exempt from prison labor and housing separate from other inmates.

The system is similar to one devised by the British and used in jails in Northern Ireland.

"Certain matters not considered by the government to be matters of principle have been resolved satisfactorily," the ministry statement said.

"The minister is pleased with the outcome."

Sixteen of the 140 IRA men held at Portlaoine, 55 miles south of Dublin, started the strike. Three gave up voluntarily and a fourth was released from prison after the high court ruled his term should be shortened for good behavior.

Manila match set

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — The International Chess Federation said today it has accepted Manila's $5 million offer to stage a world championship match between Bobby Fischer and Russian challenger Boris Karpov starting June 1. The Russians immediately objected.

Manila was Fischer's choice, Karpov wanted to play in Milan, which offered $40,000 in prize money, saying Manila was too hot. Because of the disagreement, the chess federation, known by its French initials as FIDE, had to decide.

Nikolai Ryndin, cultural attache of the Soviet embassy in Holland, told newsmen his federation rejected the FIDE decision "for technical reasons."

Washington site yields artifacts

MOSCOW (UPI) — A University of Idaho archaeology study in Northeastern Washington has yielded the largest number of paleo-Indian artifacts of one period from a single site in North America.

The site called Andreas has yielded nearly 2,200 stone artifacts dated at approximately 9,000 years old, said David Chance, project director.

The University of Idaho became involved in the research around Kettle Falls in 1970. Excavation in the Kettle Falls area has yielded the second largest ancient Salmon fishery basin to date in the Columbia basin with artifacts as old as 500 B.C.

Auction bids low

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Bids went to $87,000, but owners of a 1928 Cadillac driven by mobster Al Capone said they weren't high enough.

Steve Domko, one of the owners of the especially designed Capone car, refused to sell the vehicle at an auction, Saturday. He said he had turned down a bid offer of $140,000 previously.

Domko, part owner of an antique car museum in Niagara Falls, Ont., said he would hold out for an addditional $10,000.

Capone's car, a duplicate of the Chicago police chief's car, was equipped with the first private police band radio, sirens, bulletproof glass and a convenient drop-down rear window that made using machineguns a bit easier.

It was one of 200 antique cars put up for auction during the two-day exhibit, which attracted buyers from all over the country, Europe and Canada.

Trains collide, 14 persons die

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — A passenger train collided head-on with a freight train near Potchefstroom 50 miles south of Johannesburg early today, killing 14 persons.

A spokesman for the South African Railways said 10 passengers were injured in the crash.

The passenger train had left Cape Town.

The victims were taken to hospitals in Potchefstroom by a shuttle service of ambulances. Workers were taken to the crash site to free persons trapped in the wreckage and restore traffic on the line.

The spokesman ruled out sabotage but gave no other cause for the accident.

Yamani denies reports

RIVADH (UPI) — Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmad Zaki Yamani denied in an interview published today that U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger tried to undercut the oil producers cartel by negotiating a long-term contract with Saudi Arabia for cheaper oil.

In an interview with the newspaper Al Riyadh, Yamani said "those reports are not true and their sources ought to be pro-Zionist newspapers."

Kissinger Saturday stopped over in Saudi Arabia during his latest Middle East swing to explain to King Faisal the new American plan for a high floor price for imported oil. Reports he was seeking a bilateral deal have been denied from all sides.

No stigma with this disorder

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a married woman of 45, and have been married eight years. During the last year, I've been having this problem of vaginal discharge.

The doctor calls it trichomonas, which he says is a form of venereal disease spread by sexual contact. My husband insists he hasn't been messing around, so he says it's me, and I know I haven't been.

So where is it coming from? — Mrs. L.M.

It could be coming from either of us. The problem is the use of the term "venereal disease." Yet trichomonas vaginalis is a venereal disease in the sense that it is passed on by sexual contact. But in this case there need not be stigma of "messing around."

It is a symptom of a disorder of the female genital tract, although the organisms is also found in the urethra of males. How the parasite gets started is not clear. It is often found in women who are sexually active, but that doesn't have to mean promiscuity.

Recurrence does raise the question of improper feminine hygiene, although the male, too, can be a source of the reinfection.

The problem is that the symptoms are almost always more pronounced in the woman than in the man. The woman will experience the discharge, genital irritation, and discomfort during urination. But while the symptoms in the male are negligible, the culprit organism can be detected by microscopic examination of either his urine or prostatic secretion.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am probably only one mother among many with this problem, but if anyone can help us, Abby, it just might be you.

I have six grown children who have brought me much happiness, but here is the problem. The oldest daughter and youngest son had a falling out with each other four years ago, and they haven't spoken to each other since.

I can never have a complete family gathering because if my son and his wife are invited, my daughter and her family will not come, and vice versa.

I am sure they don't realize what a heartbreak this is to me. Please print this, Abby, and if it doesn't hit home with them, maybe it will help some other more fortunate mother.

PENNSYLVANIA MOM

Bury the hatchet

JANE PECK sets date

DEAR MOM: I have always felt that forgiveness is one of man's noblest virtues, and because I feel so strongly about it, I have only two quotations on my desk—both dealing with that subject:

"He who cannot forgive, destroys the bridge over which he may one day need to pass."

And, "Forgiveness is the fragrance of the violet on the heel of the one who crushed it."

I hope your daughter and son start speaking to each other soon, because without communication, there can be no peace. It matters not who SHOULD make the first move, but the one who does will show himself to be the more mature.

I pray your children see this, for their own sakes as well as yours, Mom. Wouldn't it be great if they decided that February 22nd will be the ideal day to "bury the hatchet"?

DEAR ABBY: Why do telephone callers always get preference over customers who shop in person? It's so unfair!

I'm sure many of your readers have had that irritating experience. First they park their cars in a parking lot, or near a ticking meter. Then they fight to get waited on. And when they finally are, the telephone rings and the salesperson says, "Excuse me, please..." and proceeds to take a 15-minute order from the party on the phone.

Meanwhile you are standing on one foot and then the other, burning with resentment.

Can't clerks use a little common sense and ask the person on the phone to kindly wait until she finishes with her customer?

I hope you find room for this in your column, Abby. If it's happened to you, you'll know how frustrating it is. Thanks, STANDIN' AND WAITIN'

DEAR STANDIN': I found room for it, even though I'm usually the customer on the phone.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column in the STARS AND STRIPES, and when I came across the letter from "Upset Mother" who was ashamed of her son because he refused to fight, I had to write. This is for her.

Ma'am, I am a career Marine with a total of 8 1/2 years in the service so far. I spent 2 1/2 of those years in Vietnam as a telephone lineman with the Third Marine Division.

If my America goes to war again, I will be there. I have a family to support and I don't want to die any more than the next guy, but I still feel that my country is worth dying for.

Ma'am, I am still afraid of a fist fight. Unless I have no other way out, I still run. I do not consider myself a coward, nor does anyone who knows me. Please do not look at your son as one.

There is more to life than a fight. My initials are C.A.J., but sign me..... SSGT. USMC

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Co-hostesses were Rexine Waldron, Linda Coats and Marilyn Mechem. They were assisted by Cheriene Casper and Camille Beckstead.

The March meeting will be guest night and will be at the home of Barbara Webb.

Poetry of England featured

TWIN FALLS — Poetry of England was featured during a meeting of the Booklore Literary Art Guild Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Clark.

Mrs. Fred Klink presented the poetry and noted that the Bible is the greatest source of poetry. Excerpts were read from books representative of the Elizabethan era, the Jacobean age, the romantic period and the modern era.

Your Good Health

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

When the infection occurs in a marital setting, the husband should be treated along with the wife. Otherwise, the threat of reinfection will remain.

To preserve harmony and, more importantly, to get rid of the bug which is causing you distress, your husband to take the medication you are taking, whether or not he feels he is the source. Flagyl is one of the most effective drugs.

Avoid tight-fitting clothing, slacks, panty hose, panty girdles, and shorts. Wear a nightgown instead of pajamas. Take a tub bath instead of a shower. Put a little detergent into the bath water and soak daily about 15 minutes at a time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68 and have hepatitis. After five weeks I am not improved. I am tired. The doctor wants bed rest. How long does this stay with one? Does it stay longer with an older person than with a younger one? — Mrs. S.K.

Infectious hepatitis tends to clear up in from six to eight weeks, so statistically you haven't much longer to go, although it does take a bit longer for an older person.

When your appetite returns, you will feel better. It may take a while before your liver function tests begin to show normal readings, but this doesn't mean you will feel badly all that time. Relapses occur in from 5 to 15 per cent of cases, usually because the patient has resumed activity too soon. I recommend you follow your doctor's orders.

Your diet should be high in protein (meats, fish, etc.) and carbohydrates (starch and sugar) but low on fats.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In connection with your advice to the mother who wanted to prepare nutritious school lunches for her children, I would like to pass on a suggestion.

Put the sandwiches in the freezer the night before the day they are to be eaten. By the time the children are ready to eat the sandwiches they will be thawed out but will not have had time to spoil. — S.P.

Good enough advice to pass on. Thank you.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson in this newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Jim: "All mistakes made at the bridge table aren't costly. Sometimes they boomerang into winning scores. When Joe Contorte of Reno, doubled five diamonds at the San Antonio nationals, he made what should have been a costly mistake, but he didn't with a happy expression."

Oswald: "They sure like to gamble in Nevada. North's two-club bid was artificial and forcing. South's two diamonds is a negative response and I guess that when South finally bid five diamonds he sounded like a dying duck."

Jim: "Joe led the spade king, looked over dummy and promptly shifted to the nine of hearts. Five minutes later South had gone up with dummy's ace of hearts, come to his hand with a club, led the three of diamonds and finished dummy's nine. East was surprised to find his ten of diamonds gathering in an heart, but not too surprised to lead a heart to his partner's king."

Oswald: "South's play was rather illogical, yet not completely so. Joe might well have doubted with the ace-king of spades a singleton heart and five diamonds to the ten. Unfortunately, when you next see Joe suggest to him that he should rest on his laurels and not try any more doubles like this one."

Foreclosure moratorium on rural housing asked

By BERNARD BRENNER

UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

Leaders of the nonprofit National Rural Housing

Coalition say they want an immediate moratorium on foreclosures on single family homes by two government agencies.

The appeal, aimed at the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) and the housing and Urban Development Department (HUD), also called for increased production of low and moderate income family housing to combat unemployment.

Coalition officials said a moratorium on foreclosure of government-insured mortgages could provide time to pass laws to help home buyers who, because of the recession, cannot keep up mortgage payments.

One step might be to form an agency like the homeowners loan corporation of the 1930s. It could take over some mortgages and work out deferred repayment plans with owners, the coalition said.

The administration, meanwhile, has plans for the

FHMA to slow the financing of new rural homes in fiscal year

1976 beginning July 1.

Under President Ford's proposed budget, the agency which financed the purchase of 165,000 rural housing units in fiscal 1974 and 125,000 units in fiscal 1975 — will drop back to 107,385 units in the year starting July 1.

It will finance 40,925 unsubsidized units in the upcoming fiscal year, or 5,000 less than this year. And financing will drop from 79,970 subsidized units this year to

66,400 in fiscal 1976, according to Agriculture Department budget specialists.

The FHMA home loans are funded by private lenders completely backed by government insurance. Taxpayers, however, also contribute to the subsidized loans through an interest subsidy plan under which borrowers may pay as little as 1 per cent interest on their mortgages depending on family income.

Total budgeted lending in the FHMA rural housing program, including credit for some rental housing, is projected to be $2.142 billion.

Spud use sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has urged the secretary of agriculture to include processed potato products in the American food for peace program. Church said including processed potato products in the program would help Idaho potato farmers cope with an unfavorable domestic market and give them the opportunity to help feed hungry families around the world. "I cannot emphasize enough the serious plight which will face the potato farmer in Idaho if action is not taken immediately," Church said. The Senator said since his initial correspondence with Secretary Earl Butz on the subject last November the domestic market price has sunk.

Watchman rescues bovine

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —

Clara the cow, at one time destined to become hamburger, is alive and well in a Academy of Arts classroom as a model, thanks partly to an Argentine watchman.

Clara was given a new lease on life recently when students at the academy's school of sculpture needed a living bovine model. They called the Stockholm zoo, which came up with Clara who was soon to be in line at the slaughter house.

But Clara's problems did not end there. After her safe arrival at the school, she kept mooring and it was soon discovered she had to be milked. The students, most of them city slickers, yanked and pulled, but no milk came.

Finally a student was found who knew the right technique, but he soon got the flu and Clara was becoming an un-cooperative model again. Then, Raul Alanis, a native of Argentina and the school's watchman, came to the rescue.

He explained that his expert rhythm was inherited from childhood days on his parents' farm in Argentina.

Pistol stolen

TWIN FALLS — An automobile burglary over the weekend resulted in the theft of a pistol.
Reports to Twin Falls City police indicated Edward York, 127 Bonnie Drive, lost the gun when his automobile was broken into. Value of the gun was said to be $35.

News boy aids customer

BOISE (UPI) — Mrs. Tillie Huntington, 65, knew her newspaper boy would deliver her morning paper at dawn. So she lay sprawled on the floor of her Boise apartment with a broken thigh through the early morning hours Saturday waiting for the newsboy, Bret Hart.
He came by on schedule at 6:30 a.m. Mrs. Huntington heard him drop the paper at her door in the Mount Vernon Townhouse Apartments on Kootenai.
Mrs. Huntington called to Hart for help. He quickly got the manager, Sheldon Archibald, who opened Mrs. Huntington's door and helped her.

Gem mother named

PARMA, Idaho (UPI) — Mrs. Alice Yensen, 68, retired Parma school teacher, was named Idaho Mother of the Year for 1975.
Mrs. Yensen is now active in Indian social service work. Mrs. Yensen and her husband, Arthur Yensen, retired high school coach and teacher, have three sons.

Solons eye garage resolution

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Legislature has received a resolution calling for a $3 million state parking garage to meet growing needs of state employees.
The structure is to be a five-story, 640-unit built a few blocks from the statehouse.
The resolution handed to the legislature Friday calls for surplus monies to be used to fund the project. The State Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council made the request.

Boise man admits robbery
BOISE (UPI) — John Marc Short, 20, Boise, turned himself in to Ada County sheriff's deputies Sunday night, saying he was the person who robbed a service station at 27th and State Saturday night.
Officers charged him with armed robbery and lodged him in the Ada County jail to await court action.

Salmon students hospitalized

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — Twenty-five members of the Salmon High School Ski Club were hospitalized here with suspected carbon monoxide poisoning after they became sick returning from a bus trip to Jackson, Wyo.
The teen-agers are being treated with oxygen after returning Sunday night from the weekend ski trip to Wyoming. Doctors said several of the youths would be hospitalized for several days.
The students began coming down with carbon monoxide poisoning symptoms near Blodgett, 100 miles southwest of here. They drove the rest of the way to Salmon with the bus windows down.

Residential development eyed

BOISE (UPI) — Three Boise-area men have announced plans to build a 700-unit, $35-million residential development on the Plantation Golf Course grounds.
Perhaps the most unique feature of their plan is that the 18-hole golf course, just off Highway 44 West of Boise, would still be there after the development is completed. Members of the Plantation Golf Club could still play golf there.
The three, Edward Johnson, Boise, Norman Fuller, Meridian, and Frank Marcum, Meridian, all share an air of cautious optimism in talking about their plan in light of the economic climate.

Telephone cables cut

BOISE (UPI) — About 100 Boise telephones were put out of action Saturday when somebody cut telephone cables inside a junction box behind 815 Braemere Road.
The estimated damage is $800 and repair work resumed Sunday morning, a Mountain Bell spokesman said.

Decomposed body found

RAWLINS, Wyo. (UPI) — A decomposed body has been unearthed near Rawlins on a reported tip from accused multiple murderer Thomas E. Creech, a prisoner at the Ada county jail in Boise.
Carbon County, Wyo. Sheriff C. W. Ogburn said the body was found buried at Cottonwood Draw, eight miles north of Baggs.
The body had deteriorated so badly fingerprints could not be taken. The skeleton will be x-rayed in hopes of determining cause of death, Ogburn said.
Ogburn did not identify Creech by name as the supplier of the information, but he did say the location of the body came from a prisoner in Idaho.
A Carbon County sheriff's dispatcher later told the Idaho Statesman the tip had come from Creech last November and that deputies had been searching since.

California youth escapes injuries

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI) — A kite with a 30-foot long aluminum tail became entangled in a 12,000-volt power line Sunday, knocking power out to 250 homes for four hours.
A 19-year-old youngster flying the aluminum, Mylar kite was uninjured, but a spokesman for Pacific Gas & Electric Co. said the youngster could have been killed.
If the youth had pulled on the tail, the spokesman said, "he would have been burned to crisp."
"The company has gone to Consumer Products Safety Commission within the past two years and asked to have such kites outlawed," the PGE spokesman said.
The power line burned through in three or four separate locations after the kite wrapped around it in the Lemonwood area of this Alameda County community.

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Capital Bureau
BOISE — As the legislature enters its sixth week today several key decisions are coming to a head.
Legislators will be voting on the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), state employees salaries, kindergarten, city taxation, ongoing and surplus fund tax relief, and highway construction among other proposals this week.
This morning some key decisions stand before House Committees. The State Affairs Committee will consider repeal of the ERA. The committee will have to decide whether such repeal will require two-thirds or a simple majority vote.
The House Education Committee will be voting on Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' $3.3 million proposal to establish non-compulsory public school kindergartens throughout the state.

Opponents of the bill would like it to die in committee while supporters want it out to the House floor for a vote.
The House Revenue and Taxation Committee will vote on a bill to enable cities to adopt any form of tax they wish, following approval of the tax by more than 50 per cent of the citizens.
House Revenue and Taxation Chairman Steve Antone, R-Rupert, believes the bill probably will make it through committee but likely will have some amendments attached. A number of legislators would like to limit the types of taxes cities could adopt.
A proposal to provide $4 million for state employee salary raises is on the agenda for a Senate vote today.
The proposal would grant reallocation to about 80 per cent of the state employees plus a 3.5 per cent cost-of-living increase. Andrus proposed reallocation plus an 8.5 per cent cost-of-living increase — about double the proposal coming up.

Several tax relief measures are coming up for a vote in the Senate. One would grant a 10 per cent credit on 1974 income taxes. Another would raise the grocery tax credit to $20 and a third would extend property tax relief to more senior citizens.
The House should be considering a bill to provide ongoing tax relief out of the state revenues. If passed the measure would reduce Idahoans' income tax bills about eight per cent this year and would apply to the future. It would cost the state about $10 million yearly.
Sen. John Barker's bill to let irrigation district boards approve bond issues with a four-fifths majority vote is on today's Senate agenda. The bill provides, however, that a vote would be called if 10 per cent of a district's voters sign a petition requesting one.

The Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee hopes to begin drawing up the major appropriations bills this week and finish their work by the 45th day. To do this the committee will need decisions from the legislature on ongoing tax relief, public employee salaries, and kindergartens.
Besides being faced with major votes, legislators will be attending important public hearings this week. Bills on land-use planning, presidential primaries for Idaho, power plant siting and collective bargaining by state and local government employees will be up for discussion.
And to top it off, President Jerry Ford's son Jack Ford was invited to stay over from a day's skiing Sunday and have a look by Rep. Ralph Olmstead, whose college aged children are friends of young Ford.

WILDFLOWER, a 90-unit mountain resort condominium, is located in the heart of Sun Valley and will be completed sometime this month. It is situated near Mt. Baldy and overlooks Trail Creek and Sun Valley Lake.

Views asked on bias in schools

TWIN FALLS — The State Department of Education wants to hear from any special interest group in the state about proposed guidelines for ending sex discrimination in public schools.
Richard Nelson, desegregation coordinator and acting affirmative action officer for the state office says his department was writing guidelines for schools to follow to comply with a 1972 federal law which prohibits sex discrimination in schools.
Nelson spoke at a workshop with local school superintendents, counselors and principals.
Although title IX of the Education Amendments Act has been law since 1972, guidelines on how to enforce the law are still in rough draft form on the federal level, Nelson said.
"It's up to each state to write its guidelines to conform to their needs, and the Idaho Department of Education is asking for public help. The state office will have a rough draft of proposed guidelines ready by March 1, Nelson said. Any special interest groups in the state can ask for a copy.
They are encouraged to make comments on the guidelines, and every suggestion will be responded to by the state officials.
Special interest groups have until April 1 to make their comments, which will be incorporated or rejected according to the law, Nelson said.
"If the law says put it in, we'll put it in," he said.
After two more rounds of writing and conferring the final draft will be sent to the State Board of Education, which will approve or disapprove the final document at its meeting in July.
Local school districts will then have until Jan. 1, 1978, to comply with the guidelines if the final document is approved by the state board, Nelson said.

Bentsen into Demo race

Bentsen said he was convinced Democrats will unite behind ideas "that can lift this country from economic recession and political paralysis." He said his party must restore "opportunity at home and moral leadership abroad."
"For too long we have been adrift," Bentsen said.
"This administration, which has been in office since 1969, has failed to govern with either wisdom or foresight. It has lunched from crisis to crisis. It has reacted to the problems of the moment. It is without specific goals. It is without sensible plans."
Bentsen, who tested his presidential ambitions in 36 states last year, said economic recovery was the "paramount issue" and added "that means jobs — jobs at decent wages with a chance to fully develop one's talents."
"Certainly, the most urgent need is to get people back to work," he added.
Bentsen said the United States must "remain militarily secure and a formidable world leader," but called for a foreign policy "which gives us much weight to interdependence as it does to military strength."
"Sadly, this world is not so peaceful a place that we can now beat the guns into plowshares," he said. "Rather, the world today is made up of nation states which fear each other, but which need each other."

Club observes BPW Week

TWIN FALLS — This week is being observed as International Business and Professional Women's Week by members of the Twin Falls BPW Club.
The week's observance commemorates 1975 as International Women's Year as proclaimed by the United Nations. As part of the international observance, club members said today, the Congress of Business and Professional Women of the Americas will be held Tuesday through Saturday in Mexico City.
This is the third such meeting for business women from all countries of this hemisphere in which they gather to share ideas, promote friendship, cooperation and understanding with other women.
Club members are also making contributions this week to the Judge Hughes World Friendship Fund. The fund was established in 1961 to honor Sarah Tughman Hughes, a federal judge from Texas, and to stimulate understanding and cooperation of women from all countries of the world.
Theme of the week's observance is "Looking Toward the 21st Century — Full Recognition of Women as People."

Officers probe armed robbery

TWIN FALLS — County officers are investigating possible leads in an armed robbery Saturday night of the Tri-Cinema Theater on Eastland Drive and Kimberly Road.
County Detective Harold Jensen said two male subjects entered the theater about 10 p.m. Saturday and demanded the money at the ticket office. The two, he said, were wearing ski caps and masks. One carried a shotgun and the other a pistol.
The officer said employees in the theater said they were all told to lie on the floor with the exception of one who was ordered to hand over the cash.
Officer said theater officials reported only a small amount of money was taken, but no exact figure was available.
Officers also reported one telephone had been pulled from the wall but another in the manager's office was used to report the robbery as soon as the suspects left the theater.
Circumstances of the theater robbery are similar to those of the Grizzly Bear Pizza cafe several weeks ago, but officers declined to speculate on whether or not the robberies were committed by the same individuals.

Blaine sewer study OK eyed

By BART QUENNELL
Times-News writer
HAILEY — City and county heads will probably approve a sewer and water study for the Wood River Valley.
State environmental delegates have told the county commissioners funds are available for such a study. Environmental and community services representative Orlando Dalke has told the commissioners a grant application for the study will have to pass both the Twin Falls and Boise Health and Welfare offices. The Environmental Protection Agency will have to give final approval, he said.
The study will cost about $20,000, Dalke said.
The study, if approved, will be funded with 75 per cent federal funds, 15 per cent by the state and 10 per cent by the county or cities submitting the request.
The study will involve all treatment facilities from Ketchum to Bellevue. After the initial study a design study grant will have to be applied for separately as will the implementation of the design plan.
Some interest has been expressed by Blaine County residents for a 23 mile sewage collection line from North Fork to Bellevue. Other environmentalists here have opposed the line, but agree something must be done to improve the increasing discharge of effluents into Big Wood River.
The EPA has already told the Ketchum-Sun Valley sewer districts they are over the accepted limit of sewage discharge to Big Wood River.
Sun Valley city clerk Clayton Stewart said today the city of Ketchum and the Ketchum-Sun Valley sewer district will cooperate and encourage a sewer study.
Stewart said he was hopeful the study could commence quickly. Several studies done in the past conducted by various local and federal agencies could probably be used, according to Stewart.

Frazier arrives for bout

SYDNEY (UPI) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier arrived Monday for his bout with American Jimmy Ellis in Melbourne March 2.

Speaking at Jimmy Airport, Frazier said he had long been training, not only for the heavyweight title elimination fight against Ellis, but also to fight world champion, Muhammad Ali for the third time.

"The public demanded this match," Frazier said. Asked about his coming fight with Ellis, Frazier said he was prepared to fight anybody.

USC drops Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — George Milke, Pete Hefner and Jeff Reineke held the Los Angeles Dodgers hitless for five innings Sunday as University of Southern California scored a 2-0 victory before an admission-free crowd of 51,000 at Dodger Stadium.

Milke and Reineke each pitched two innings for the NCAA champion Trojans in the five-inning exhibition.

Kings trip Pistons

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Nate Archibald scored 35 points Sunday night, including the last seven, to lead the red-hot Kansas City-Omaha Kings to a 102-99 National Basketball Association victory over the fading Detroit Pistons.

The Kings, bidding to make the playoffs for the first time since 1967, when the franchise was in Cincinnati, won their 10th game in the last 11 outings and their fourth straight. Detroit dropped its fifth straight and its ninth in a row on the road.

The victory, before a crowd of 13,581, left the Kings 3 1/2 games behind Chicago in the Midwest Division, but two ahead of Detroit and 4 1/2 ahead of Milwaukee.

Seattle rolls over Lakers

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — All-star forward Spencer Haywood shifted into the center position after rookie Tommy Burleson got into early foul trouble and led the Seattle SuperSonics with 24 points as they rolled over the hounding Los Angeles Lakers 109-87 in a regionally televised NBA game Sunday.

Back spasms forced Seattle's other regular center, Jim Fox, to sit out the game as Haywood moved into the unfamiliar spot to help key an easy win.

Stanford takes netter title

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Defending champion Stanford won five of six singles matches Sunday in beating Michigan 6-3 and won the second National Intercollegiate Indoor Tennis championship.

John Whittingler, of Neenah, Wis., Stanford's top player, led the assault as he defeated Victor Amoyia in the No. 1 singles match, 6-3 and 7-6.

Whittingler, who moved his team to the first indoor title two years ago, trailed 2-3 in the second set but rallied to force the match to a tie-breaker.

Nuggets edge New York

DENVER (UPI) — Claude Terry hit a pair of three pointers in the final 1:33 of regulation play; Bobbie Black blocked two shots in overtime, one of them to set a layup by Mack Calvin, with six seconds left in the extra session, and the Denver Nuggets edged the New York Nets 117-115 Sunday.

New York, which lost a four-overtime game in San Diego Friday night, led 100-92 with 2:48 in regulation time when Nuggets coach Larry Brown put Terry, who had not played in Denver's first two games, into the game for the first time. The third-year man from Stanford came through with two three-pointers, including one with Julius Erving on him with 23 seconds left to tie the game 104-104 and send the game into overtime.

Jazz whips Milwaukee

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Nate Williams' 25-foot jump shot with 10 seconds remaining and a goal tending call against Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in the last minute of play gave the New Orleans Jazz a 103-101 win over the Milwaukee Bucks Sunday night.

Jabbar, the game's leading scorer with 33 points, was held to just six points in the final quarter as the Jazz outscored the Bucks 22-13 to rebound from an 88-71 third quarter deficit. Jabbar was called for goal tending against a Pete Maravich layup and the Jazz took their first lead of the night, 101-99, with 50 seconds remaining.

San Diego nips Colonels

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Tom Larnar scored 40 points — 13 in the overtime period — to lead the San Diego Computers 124 to a 123-124 ABA win over the Kentucky Colonels Sunday night.

It was the second straight overtime win for the Q's, who defeated the New York Nets 176-166 in a marathon four-overtime contest Friday night.

Larnar hit 19 points in the fourth quarter and put the Q's out in front with 17 seconds left at 114-112 with a three-point play. The Colonels' Bird Averill sent the game into overtime when he was fouled by Warren Jabali and made two free throws with five seconds left.

Burley holds edge in A-1 play

When the third round A-1 basketball tournament opens this weekend, all the world-famed momentum will be with the Burley Bobcats.

Dividing the three schools into first and second-half finalists, the Bobcats have a big edge plus the opening round bye and accompanying second-night home court advantage.

The only thing that would keep Burley from being an odds-on favorite is Twin Falls' home-court record. But to really have that, the Bruins will have to beat the Spartans at Minico in the Friday opener.

Regardless of the second night's outcome, Twin Falls should be a heavy favorite to win the home-and-home and Twin Falls can last that long.

Statistically things have really shifted since the first 10 games of the season. At that time Twin Falls was trailing along with a lousy 9-1 record, the lone loss being to the Bobcats at Burley. Meanwhile, Burley was 5-5 and Minico 4-6. During that span, Twin Falls was winning by an average of 16 points per game, hitting 66.4 offensively and giving up 50.5. Burley, ironically was as exactly even there as its 5-5 record indicated, hitting 59.1 and giving up 59.1. Minico was averaging 55.9 and allowing 59.5.

In the second half Twin Falls sagged to a 3-7 mark while Burley exploded to 8-2 and Minico hit the depths at 0-10.

In those final 10 games, Twin Falls offensive shrunk by 17 1/2 points per game to 48.9 while its defense moved up seven full points to 57.6 — Burley's offensive average excluding the Rigby game) soared to 70.6 with the defense also up 64.2. Minico's offense dropped just three points but its defensive mark went up four points to 63.8.

A big difference in records can be found in "winning the close ones." Twin Falls won its only overtime game and none of the others was close early.

Snead wins with sudden death birdie

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — J. C. Snead, who had to wait in the clubhouse more than a half-hour to find out he was in a playoff with Ray Floyd and Bobby Nichols, rolled in a five-foot birdie putt on the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to win the $170,000 Andy Williams — San Diego Open.

The 33-year-old nephew of Sam Snead shot a final round four under par 68 on a cold and windy day at Torrey Pines south course to finish regulation play at nine under 279. Floyd, playing four threesomes behind Snead and closed with an even-par 72 and Nichols, the defending champion, made a 12-foot birdie putt minutes later to set up the three-way sudden death playoff, first of the year on the PGA Tour. The three went to the par-4-200-yard-16th-hole-and-Nichols bowed out when he bogeyed the hole while Snead and Floyd parred it. Snead and Floyd both parred the 202-yard 16th and the 425-yard 17th and then went to the 18th for the fourth extra hole.

Floyd put his second shot in a small lake fronting the green and later missed a 20-foot putt for a bogey-six while Snead, who won $164,488 last year without taking a single tournament title, got on the green in two, putted to within five feet and then made it for his winning birdie.

The victory was only the fourth for Snead in seven years on the tour and it was worth $24,000. Floyd and Nichols each won $15,725.

ROD FUSENH, who started the final round a shot ahead of Snead and five in front of Snead, shot a final round two over, 74-16 finish at 200 and won $7,950.

Tom Kite closed with a 71 to finish all alone at seven under 281 while U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin, John Mahaffey and Billy Casper tied at 282.

Mahaffey birdied four of the first 11 holes to tie for the lead and then moved in front with a 10-foot birdie putt on the 15th. But the luckless Texan, fourth in this year's money list, double bogeyed the 17th and 18th holes to fall out of the race.

Snead, whose previous victories were in the 1971 Tucson and Dorval Opens and the 1972 Philadelphia Classic, started with a bogey in the final round but then birdied four of the next six holes to make the turn in 54. He birdied the 12th and 13th holes, bogeyed the 14th and finished with a birdie on 18 for 68.

Floyd had two birdies and two bogeys for his even par 72 and missed a chance to win the tournament in regulation when a 15-foot putt on the 18th went right and he had to settle for a par five.

Nichols' card of 37-34 included four birdies, a bogey and a double bogey.

Johnny Miller, winner of three tournaments this year and 11 over the last 14 months, finished with a two under 70 and was seven shots back at 286. He was plagued by a cold all week and it was reflected in 286. "I'm glad I finished," said the 1974 PGA Player of the Year. "I had no excuses and maybe I should have played better."

CAR CRUNCHING action marred the Daytona 500 Sunday. Car driven by Ron Keselowski (99) of Pontiac, Mich., is slammed by Joe Mihalic, Pittsburg, Pa., (60) as the crumpled car of Dick Trickle (75) heads for the wall. Nine cars were knocked out of the race but all drivers were reported okay. (UPI)

Parsons wins Daytona in final laps

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — North Carolina's Benny Parsons won the biggest stock car victory of his career Sunday, sweeping across the finish line first in the Daytona 500 after David Pearson spun out on the backstretch in the next-to-last lap.

Parsons, of Ellerbe, N.C., finished more than a lap ahead of Bobby Allison's Matarador with Cale Yarkuskurow in a Chevrolet still another lap back. A record crowd of over 105,000 watched Pearson dominate the last 100 miles of the race before he went out of control.

Pearson, a 40-year-old stock car veteran out of Spartanburg, S.C., had said before the race "I think I'm due to win." Parsons, driving a Chevrolet, averaged 133.649 miles per-hour on the 2.5-mile, high-banked Daytona International tri-oval and pocketed $41,605 in prize money.

Pearson's accident occurred when he tried to pass two cars on the outside and lost control of his Mercury, sliding sideways for about 50 feet into the infield. Smoke poured from the car, but Pearson was uninjured.

Defeating champion Richard Petty, who was hoping for an unprecedented third straight trophy in the Super Bowl of stock car racing, was slowed early in the race with his Dodge overheating.

After climbing out of his car, Parsons said he felt "terrific." "We got a draft at the right time," he said. "The car was loose all day. I kept waiting for a break. Then along came Richard (Petty)." Parsons used Petty's draft to stay close to Pearson until Pearson's late accident.

"You call me the winner," acknowledged Parsons, but he said his pit crew and others were responsible for the victory. Parsons, the 1974 NASCAR Grand National champion, said the Daytona victory was better than last year's title.

Pearson said, "I came off turns two a little loose. I tried to get around Cale and lose it." There were 21 lead changes among seven drivers in a race, which was relatively accident free after a nine-car smashup on the fourth lap.

Pole-sitter Donnie Allison was among the early dropouts when a fuel pump went bad on his Chevrolet less than 100 miles into the trip. With Petty limping, Buddy Baker dominated the chase much of the afternoon until his Ford was rolled behind the wall with a spent engine at the end of lap 143 in the 200-lap race.

Welty leads singles bowlers

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — William Welty Jr. of Hanover, Pa., got 18 strikes and 10 open frames en route to a 690 score Sunday, which put him at the top of the singles standings at the end of the opening rolling of the 79-day American Bowling Congress tournament here.

Welty, who has posted a 300-game during his career, has a 64.91 lead on Dennis Van Worman of Flint, Mich., who took sixth place in the all-events standings Sunday with a 1707.

Thomas Marshall of Dayton, a right-hander who has a 791 and a 300 score to his bowling credit, turned in 636, 630 and 622 series for an 1889, good for first place in the all-events. He leads Thomas Scott of Sharon, Pa., by 56 sticks.

Paul Brandon and Woody Dalton, two right-handers from St. Louis, Mo., took the first day lead in the doubles, just as they did during their doubles rolling at last year's ABC in Indianapolis. The Missouri cut carried a 1228 total for a 13-point margin over Greg Steink and Curtis Berham of East Lansing, Mich.

Connors takes third title

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI) — The crowd was pulling for underdog Vitas Gerulaitis, but Jimmy Connors didn't let sentiment get in the way of his third consecutive U.S. indoor tennis tournament championship here.

Connors, the top-ranked American in the tourney, defeated his title Sunday with a hard fought 5-7, 7-5, 6-1, 3-6, 6-0 victory over the 20-year-old Gerulaitis.

Connors, the first player to win the crown three times in a row since the tournament was shifted here in 1964 from New York, said the championship round "was like playing (Rod) Laver in Las Vegas all over again."

He added: "What Vitas did best was passing me. Neither of us lobbed too much. It was a day for passing."

Connors, who said he plans to take a week off after the Boca Raton, Fla., tournament, teamed with Ilie Nastase of Romania later Sunday to beat Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, and Roger Taylor of England, 7-6, 6-2, and capture the doubles championship.

Gerulaitis of Howard Beach, N.Y., got off to an explosive start in the first set, breaking Connors' service to take a love's game. The lead changed hands several times, then Gerulaitis took a 6-5 edge on a service break and clinched the set with another 4-0 love game.

Connors' banker service in the second set as Gerulaitis doublefaulted in the pivotal 10th game to tie it 5-5. Connors broke service and won the set.

Connors appeared in total command in the third set, but Gerulaitis stormed back from a deficit to take the fourth set. Connors had little difficulty in the final set, although Gerulaitis fought off three match points.

and the concentration on getting the ball inside has grown. People now take the inside away from Twin Falls and win, although Dennis Bowyer still has proved a consistent double figure scorer.

Inside is Minico's major problem. Rebounding or scoring in the keyhole area have been the biggest lack Coach Gerald Mayes has tried to overcome. The top three Spartan scorers generally play on the Keys to the tournament appear to be keeping Burley from reaching the torrid emotional pitches it can attain. Twin Falls must be stopped on the inside with attention given outside who shows signs of getting hot.

Minico's major problem is points. Against both teams, Twin Falls probably will concentrate on the inside since it does have a height advantage on both Minico and Burley.

That should be the key to the first game — the way Minico can cope with the problem. Should Twin Falls win, the Bruins' big lookout against Burley will be stopping the fast break — something the Bruins haven't done well of late.

The same would be true of Minico since it appears that a fast tempo plays into the hands of the Bobcats.

Therefore, Burley needs only to get the others to play only to get their ticket to state in a long while.

Old marks hold in NAA meet

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Going into the 1975 edition of the "NAA" indoor track and field championships, entrants in 12 of the 15 events had better meet marks, but only one new mark was set in the weekend competition which saw Jackson State University regain the team title it had lost last year.

Jim Heiring of the University of Wisconsin at Parkside broke a standard in the two-mile walk with a time of 14:14.6. Defending champion and record holder, Ed Boudin of Southern California College (finished first), but was disqualified when judges ruled he failed to walk in the proper style.

Jackson State, with a total of 57 points, had nine finalists in the events and finished 11 points ahead of Eastern New Mexico. Southeastern Louisiana was third with 37, Southern was fourth with 24, and Prairie View A&M and Southern California College tied for fifth with 19 each.

Most outstanding of the Jackson State performers was Earl Thomas, who won the 60-yard dash Friday with a time of 6.0. He tied the meet record of 5.9 in qualifying for the event.

The Jackson State two-mile relay squad took a total of 7:53.7, beating the defending champions from Prairie View. Prairie View, which last year set a meet mark of 7:45.2, finished at

Charles Foster of North Carolina Central tied a meet record with a time of 6.9 seconds in the 60-yard high hurdles. It was his second 6.9 mark in a week and only a tenth of a second off the world record.

The only double winner was 1972 Olympic star Mike Bolt of Eastern Mexico, who won the mile and half-mile events with unimpressive times. Bolt, voted by the press as the meet's outstanding performer, was upstaged by high school miler Jeff Moody of Southern Pines, N.C., who ran a 4:14.6 mile in competition with other high school milers. Bolt ran the half mile and mile with only a 30-minute breather, posting a 4:17.0 in the mile and a 1:15.2 in the half mile.

He said it didn't bother him that a high school miler had bettered his time. "I just wanted to run to win," he said.

After the meet, Dr. Leroy Walker, coach of the 1976 Olympic track team and co-director of the NAA meet, said the results of the competition were "adequate."

"This is a 12-lap track and it's hard to run," said Walker. "It's tough to run on because the corners are so steep."

It was the first time the event was staged outside of Kansas City, Mo., where last year Texas Southern took the title away from Jackson State on the final event.

Netter adds indoor title

TORONTO (UPI) — Harold Solomon reached another milestone in his career Sunday, his first indoors championship, by beating eighth-seeded Stan Smith 4, 6-1 in the finals of the Rothman's International tennis tournament.

"The win was just another stepping stone in my career," said the 23-year-old Silver Spring, Md., native. "I won a few tournaments last year, but this is my first win indoors."

Solomon took the Bluebonnet Invitational in late 1973 to close out the year. Last year he won the Washington Star, while losing the finals of the Brettonwood, the Pacific Southwest Tournament. He also reached the semifinals of the French Open.

He managed to pick up $96,110 in 1974, good enough for 10th place among World Championship tennis competitors.

The unseeded Solomon won the first set by breaking Smith's service in the first game and only allowed Smith one point in the first two games.

He took the second set by breaking Smith's service four times. Smith double-faulted in the third game with the score at deuce, in the fifth with the game at 30-40 and again in the seventh at 15-40.

"The court was like a slow clay court, which was good for me," said Solomon. "A guy with a big serve couldn't depend on it to win a match. Smith is so big and strong he can overpower you."

Solomon, who didn't lose a set in five matches, picked up $12,000. In the doubles final, top-seeded Dick Stockton of Dallas, Tex., and Eric Van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., won $1,000 by beating Vijay and Anand Amritraj, the brother combination from India, 6-4, 7-5, 6-1.

Tennessee victory aids Crimson Tide

By United Press International
Although they don't play for Alabama pair of former New York City high school stars find themselves playing important roles this season in the Crimson Tide's basketball fortunes.

The two New York hotshots are Ernie Grunfeld and Bernard King and their latest efforts saw them team for 53 points Saturday night in leading Tennessee to a 103-98 upset of fifth-ranked Kentucky. The Wildcats' loss dropped them out of a tie with Alabama for first place in the Southeastern Conference, as the sixth-ranked Crimson Tide assumed sole possession of the top spot by defeating Mississippi, 88-79.

Only one week earlier, Alabama beat Tennessee in a crucial game which came on the heels of a disappointing and critical upset of the Volunteers by Auburn. The investigation failed to turn up any wrong doing, but it was too late to save Tennessee's SEC title, hopes and it was a dispirited crowd that took on Alabama.

Grunfeld, a sophomore, tossed in 29 points against Kentucky, while King and teammate Mike Jackson collected 24 each as all five Tennessee starters hit for double figures in upping the Vols' record to 14-6 and 8-5 in SEC play.

Kevin Grevey's 21 points paced the Wildcats, who saw their mark drop to 18-3 and 11-2 in the conference.

Leon Douglas scored 27 points and pulled down 13 rebounds in leading Alabama past Mississippi for the Crimson Tide's eighth win in a row and 19th in 21 games this season. Alabama, which has reeled off eight wins in a row since losing to Kentucky of Lexington, still must meet the

Wildcats Saturday in Tuscaloosa
In addition to Kentucky, the only other team ranked in the Top Ten to lose was 10th ranked North Carolina, which bowed to third-ranked Maryland, 96-71.

Top-ranked Indiana ran its winning streak to 27 games, longest among major college teams, by thumping outclassed Northwestern, 82-53, second-ranked UCLA moved a step closer to another Pacific Eight title by beating Oregon State, 74-62; fourth-ranked North Carolina State barely got by Wake Forest, 85-81; seventh-ranked Louisville was idle; eighth-ranked Arizona State whipped Brigham Young, 99-79, and ninth-ranked Southern California nipped Oregon, 92-90.

Indiana raced to a 46-12 lead and then played its reserves most of the remainder of the game while whipping Northwestern and lowering its magic number for clinching the Big Ten title to two; Andre McCarter's career-high 18 points helped UCLA move into a commanding two-game lead in the Pac-8 with the Bruins' 78th straight triumph at home; Maryland, getting 31 points from John Lucas and 21 from Steve Sheppard, routed North Carolina in Chapel Hill to retain its half-game lead over North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference; the Wolfpack, thanks to 22 points each by Al-Amestica David Thompson and Kenny Carr, held off Wake Forest; and Gus Williams' 25 points, including two game-clinching free throws with 16 seconds remaining, gave USC its victory over Oregon.

UTEP holds rating with WAC victory

By United Press International
Arizona State coach Ned Wulk said it. Texas El Paso proved it.

"When you are on the road you have to do two things to win," Wulk said earlier this season after his team lost its only Western Athletic Conference game of the year, 91-80, at Colorado State.

"You have to play defensively the whole game and you have to hit those free throws."

In the loss, eighth-ranked ASU hit only 8 of 19 free throws and frittered away a 10-point lead with 10 minutes to play.

Saturday, 20th-ranked UTEP, which had won at Wyoming 64-54 on Friday, put the nation's No. 1 defense to work and hit 17 free throws over the final 7:25 to knock off Colorado State 69-57, and remain tied for second in the WAC with a 6-3 league mark.

ASU resumed its record to 81, with wins over Utah, 96-90, and Brigham Young, 99-79, a 10-1 record Arizona stayed tied for second with wins over the same two, 97-61 over BYU and 83-88 over Utah. In the other WAC games, New Mexico fell to Colorado State, 58-53, and Wyoming, 63-59.

For UTEP, the win was revenge. CSU had opened the same two, 97-61 over BYU and 83-88 over Utah. In the process the Miners' leading scorer, Gary Brewster was held scoreless Saturday, however, Brewster also got even.

The 6'8" junior had 21 points and seven rebounds on the night, but even more important, as UTEP rallied from a 51-46 deficit in the final 7:25, he had the Miners' only two field goals as well as six free throws. And with UTEP ahead 58-57 with 10 seconds to go, he rebounded a missed shot by John Staffie and fed Ron Jones, who scored the final basket.

UCLA woman sets mile record

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Petite Franice Larrieu was the world's fastest woman miler Sunday after flashing around the oval at the San Diego Sports Arena in a record 4:29.

While the record the crowd had come to see set in the men's mile never materialized.

Fiber-optic "Tanzania turns" in a 3:56.4, off the record pace of 3:55 set here a year ago by Tony Waldrop. Second was John Walker of New Zealand in 3:56.9.

Miss Larrieu, a UCLA student, shaved more than five seconds off her own record in Saturday night's indoor games, realizing her goal of becoming the first woman in history to break 4:30 indoors.

"I can't believe it," she said. "I felt good, and I said what the heck, I'll just keep going."

Her time, a record for both indoors and out, surpassed by a half second that of Italy's Paola Pignatelli, set outdoors in 1973. A second in the mile race was Julie Brown, also of UCLA, at 4:41.3.

The mile honors followed by a day Miss Larrieu's new 1,500 meter mark of 4:10.4 set in Toronto. She was timed at 4:09.9 for the 1,500 meters during the mile contest here.

In an upset, Steve Williams lost to Jamaica's Don Quarrie in the men's 60-yard dash. Williams, off to a bad start, was timed at 6.0, Quarrie at 5.9.

Jon Huntley of Oregon State University came within a quarter of an inch of her American indoor high jump mark, winning at 6-2.

Stones cleared the bar on his third and final effort, but nearly set the record on his second try. He cleared the bar on the second jump, but it tumbled down just after the Long Beach State junior hit the mat.

Stones, voted the outstanding field performer at the meet, tried to eclipse the world mark for both indoor and outdoor as the bar was set at 7-7, but missed all three tries.

Wilson Waigwa, University of Texas-El Paso sophomore from Kenya, won the final 440 in 56.4 and was named the meet's outstanding track performer. He also won the mile event in 3:59.

Two other marks were shattered in the preliminaries: Kingsley Adams went 25-7-1 in the long jump and Waddell Smith had a 48.1 time in the 40.

Table tennis win defended

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — A member of the Republic of China table tennis team Sunday denied charges that the team cheated in a tournament with the Seattle (Wash.) Sockeyes.

The president of the U.S. National Table Tennis League charged last Tuesday that the Chinese team used footpastes on the table tennis balls for fear of "losing face" in defeat by an American team.

Windsor Olson said he stripped the Taiwan team of the world professional title and awarded it to the Seattle team. Olson said he acted after finding footpaste on the balls, paddles and under the tables used in the championship matches on Feb. 3 in Hubbard.

Pen J-Choi said he knew nothing of Olson's actions until arriving in Guam Friday for a series of exhibition matches with teams from the Guam Table Tennis Association.

Pen said through an interpreter that none of the team members used any foreign substance during the Oregon matches.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Young lady, if you want to find a potential husband, who's least likely to turn into a family dictator, look for some old boy whose mother held down a payroll job. Our Love and War man says studies now show that the sons of working mothers rarely turn out to be bossy. At least, they hardly ever purl the notion that a wife's place is in the home.

BEAR in mind, the history experts say they've recorded 15,000 wars, so far... NINETEEN out of every 20 runaway youngsters eventually wind up at home... THAT ARTICLE first offered on loan for a fee by the original rental businesses was the lawnmower... APPROXIMATELY one out of every eight married women find it far from easy to become expectant... DIDI TELL you that 43 percent of the recent marriages in Hawaii are interracial?

ANN-MARGRET

Q. "How can I address a letter to actress Ann-Margret?"

A. Last I heard she could be reached at 2707 Benedict Canyon, Beverly Hills, CA 90210.

FAR MORE women than men break bones on skis.

WHAT LIVING thing most approaches an airplane in the manner in which it glides through the air? Scholars credit the flying fish with that distinction. Its flight fins remain fairly rigid.

WAS REPORTED that there's a horse population explosion. Client asks to what this phenomenon can be attributed. Debatable. But some authorities credit cowboy shows on television. Two out of every five horse owners nationwide now are under 20 years of age.

MARCH

"How many U. S. presidents were born in March," inquires a client. Only four: Andrew Jackson, James Madison, Grover Cleveland and John Tyler. March is not a big president month. Except for Cleveland, maybe. He was a big president. Weighed 260 pounds.

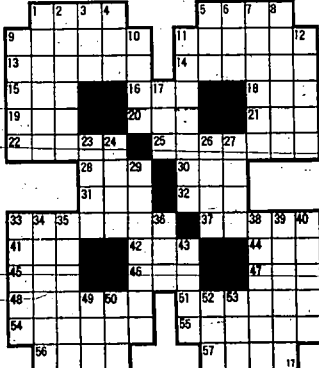

IF YOU WORK in any sort of office at all, chances are you'll spend at least 20 years of your life sitting down.

SHE CALLED the Dial-a-Prayer number and was put on hold. She called the Crisis Clinic, and got a recording. She called the Unwed Mothers Home and they told her they had a waiting list. She called the Heroin Hotline and an operator said the phone needed fixing. Poor girl. But that's the way it is, isn't it? Goodnight.

MAJOR HOOPLE

TF post office to close earlier

TWIN FALLS — Beginning Feb. 21 the Twin Falls Post Office will close one-half hour earlier each day.

Lloyd Libert, postmaster, said the new hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. instead of 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. as is now the case. The move, he said, is not an economy step, but rather one to better distribute the time of the employees and provide a more efficient operation.

"Libert said post office use is very light between 5 and 5:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 9 a.m. which prompted the decision to cut the half hour to the end of the day.

Libert said it has been recommended the post office operate eight and one-half hours per day.

There is no reduction in employees or in services planned, he said, but the new hours will put the Twin Falls Post Office on the same schedule as other offices in the area.

Drafting classes offered at college

TWIN FALLS — Adult classes are being offered at the College of Southern Idaho in drafting and blueprint reading.

The class begins Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. and will be held each Tuesday evening for three hours for an eight-week period. Cost is $15.50.

Blueprint reading is a 14-hour class beginning Feb. 26 at 7 p.m. and continuing each Wednesday evening for two hours per session. The class will cover blueprint reading for persons employed in construction and manufacturing. Cost of the class is $11.50.

The classes are part of the vocational trade and industrial division of the college and both will be taught in room 111 at the Shields Building. Basic drafting is designed to help people employed in drafting related occupations.

2 Filer students attend music meet

FILER — Two Filer High School students are attending the Northwest Music Educators convention in Spokane this week-end and will be members of the honor choir.

The choir will be composed of about 200 high school voices from Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. The selection of personnel is made by tape audition. Lloyd Ploutsch, director of choral organizations at Southern Methodist University will serve as choir conductor.

Shirley Reed is a junior at Filer School and sings soprano in the chorus. She has studied with Mrs. Martha Mead for three years and was a member of the 1974 all-state chorus.

Ron Luker is a senior at the high school and sings bass. He was a member of the Twin Falls Madrigals and sang with astring choir in Salem, Ore.

Naturalization hearing set

TWIN FALLS — A final naturalization hearing is scheduled for Monday, April 21, 10 a.m. and persons who are qualified and who want to be included in the final hearing should submit their applications to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, P.O. Box 1724, Helena, Mont. 59601 before March 10. Appointments will be set up for applicants with the naturalization examiner.

Applications can be obtained from the clerk of the district court in Twin Falls from the Immigration office.

Officials said this will be the only such hearing until next year and all interested persons should obtain applications as soon as possible.

GF honor roll told

GLENNIS FERRY — The honor roll for the past six weeks at Glennis Ferry School Dist. 192 includes Steve Anderson, Jan Belliston, Rae Lee Gravat, Beverly Hall, Connie Keyan, Cheryl Kinghorn, Luis Eguisquiza, June Bruhaker, Elizabeth Gray, Lois Moley, Doreen Sellers and Edward Weber.

Juniors — Mike Anderson, John Bellegante, Daniel Carnahan, Jan Martin, Tami Powell, Sheila Presley, Doug Siron, Dorothy Woolan, Sandy Hartung and Iris Holloway.

Sophomores — Teresa Anderston, Douglas Black, Kathryn Howell, Kevin Kock, Myra McCleary, Myra Ridley, Mat Siron, Sandy Walker, Tony Willis, Christie Cox, Nancy Grigg, Angela May and Tom Wecher.

Freshmen — Cheryl Hoagman, Darwin Kinghorn, Denise Presley, Dan Crandall, Pam Houffburg and Teresa Gilbert.

8th grade — Tina Powell, Sandra Allen, Teresa Hoagland, John Wicher and Elaine Hadden.

7th grade — Amy Wertz and Syd Durfee.

Lumber mill opens

SALMON — North Fork Lumber Co. will reopen sawmill March 1, Roy Lynch, owner, advised.

He said a chipper has been installed and chips will be produced and shipped to Höerner Waldorf's pulp mill at Missoula.

The official said there also has been some improvement in the lumber market.

The 28 persons who were laid off last fall because of high log and low lumber prices will be rehired. The mill will operate on a five-day, one shift daily basis.

Lynch said that continued operation of the mill north of North Fork will depend on the economy of the entire country.

Idaho's first ladies on fence regarding ERA

Reindeer Eskimo

insurance policy

KOTZEBUE, Alaska (UPI) — Northwest Alaska Eskimos are taking a food insurance policy in the form of 800 reindeer.

The idea sprang from the sudden availability of a model herd of 800 reindeer and growing concern that caribou which supply a major source of food could migrate because of natural conditions or the invasion of bears.

"After all," said Eskimo leader John W. Schaeffer, "some things we depend on most we just can't put in the bank."

The final stamp of approval on Northwest Alaska Native Association Enterprises came this week when the last of four Eskimo corporations agreed to participate in the venture.

With proper care, the Eskimos figure the herd will grow to 10,000 over 15-year period. The model herd originally came from the Kotzebue area and the Bureau of Indian Affairs which has nurtured it for the past 10 years when Nome recently offered to return it.

Plans are to begin moving the herd north, a distance of about 175 miles, before fawning season begins in April.

Fish and caribou provide the major sources for the diets of people in the area. The loss of the large Arctic caribou herd with no replacement could result in a serious food shortage.

By MARGARET BAILEY

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's first ladies are unsure how they feel about the Equal Rights Amendment, but both feel they are "liberated" when men and women sympathize with their sisters who compete with men for jobs.

Carol Andrus, wife of the governor, said "I'm not too sure how I feel about it myself. It all depends on what it (the Equal Rights Amendment) will do and what it won't do."

Both Mrs. Andrus and the wife of Lieutenant Governor John Evans, Lola, told United Press International they want to see women receive equal pay for equal work.

"I haven't had to take a position" on the ERA "and don't know what one I'd take if I had to," Mrs. Andrus said Friday.

The nation's first lady, Betty Ford, drew national attention with her advocacy of the Equal Rights Amendment and a phone call she made to Sen.

Barry Goldwater, R-Arizona, to encourage his support for the ERA in that state.

"If some of the things that the opponents of the bill have pointed out are true, then they would bother me, too. It's very hard to judge something like that in my opinion, because of how it is interpreted by the courts," Mrs. Andrus said.

She said one of the reasons she did not form an opinion on the ERA is that equality "in my particular life, has never been a problem. I've always felt very equal, and at times, very superior to men."

Mrs. Evans said she has listened to the opinions of others on the ERA and favors women receiving equal pay for equal work, "but I'm not really going to either way."

"I've been really happy the way my life has gone, that's why I haven't thought to much about it," Mrs. Andrus said. Equality, Mrs. Andrus said, "has never been a big thing around here because the women around this—family have always been liberated. I guess." To Mrs. Andrus, being liberated means "I am free to do pretty much as I want, make my own choice on what I want to do."

The ERA has not been a topic of family discussions in either the Evans or Andrus households, they said.

Mrs. Evans said she feels being liberated means "I am able to do anything I would want to do, within reason."

"My mother was a very liberated woman," Mrs. Andrus said. "It's just never presented a problem."

"I think it often presents a problem as far as pay for women who are working and I do have the deepest sympathy for this," Mrs. Andrus said. "I haven't had to go out to get a job," Mrs. Evans said. "I've always had children at home and been able to stay at home with them. I wouldn't even want to go out and get a job."

"I enjoy the way my life has gone, for myself, and don't see any change."

But Mrs. Evans also said she can see the problem for working women "and with this I can sympathize. If I were in the same boat, I probably would feel much different."

"I think probably the way I feel is that equal, yes; The same, no," Mrs. Andrus said. "I don't want to be the same as men."

"I like being a woman. I WANT to remain being a woman. I like my women to be women and my men to be men," she said.

As wives of politicians, the ladies both agreed that their lives have had to follow the lives of their husbands.

Mrs. Evans said she and Mrs. Andrus "decided a long time ago that when he was going to be in politics, we'd still keep it a family. This is the only way, to me, that it would work, to be together."

"It has been one of her wishes that 'we've gone with him, when he comes to the legislature, we all move up.'"

Mrs. Andrus said her life "does not entirely revolve around his (Andrus'). I have a life of my own, too."

She said having her own life has not been an simple since she has been the state's first lady.
