Stiff 'Gate sentences ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John N. Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, once Richard M. Nixon's most trusted aides, were sentenced today to up to eight years in prison for conspiring to cover up America's worst political scandal.

Opening the way for an appeals process than may take as long as two years, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica also sentenced Robert C. Marjidian to up to three years in prison for his part in the Watergate conspiracy.

The sentences, stiffer than those received by any other

Watergate defendants since the original burglars, were described by one of the attorneys as "far more than Richard Nixon will ever suffer."

Nixon, forced to resign as President of the United States by the same evidence which led to the conviction of his top aides, was vacationing in Palm Springs, Calif., with the knowledge that he will never be prosecuted under a pardon he received from President Ford. There was no immediate comment from the former president.

None of the four conspirators — Mitchell, who had been Nixon's attorney general and campaign manager; Haldeman and Ehrlichman, who were chief White House aides; and Marjidian, who was Mitchell's chief deputy — showed any emotion as the sentences were pronounced.

Mitchell's dry humor nonetheless surfaced as he left the courthouse. "It could have been a hell of a lot worse," he said. "They could have sentenced me to spend the rest of my life with Martha Mitchell" — his estranged wife who once basked in the limelight of Watergate publicity.

The other conspirators solemnly refused to comment, but Marjidian's lawyer said he thought the sentences were "too heavy." Ehrlichman, normally glib, confessed "I just don't have anything to say."

Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman were sentenced to a minimum of 2 1/2 years to a maximum of eight years on charges of obstruction of justice, conspiracy and lying. Marjidian, convicted only of conspiracy, was given a 10-month to three-year sentence. They were released without bond pending appeal.

Ehrlichman also faces a sentence of 20 months to five years in connection with the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Mitchell elites 'worse' punishment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When former Attorney General John N. Mitchell was sentenced today to up to eight years in prison for the Watergate coverup, he hurried out of court with but one comment:

"It could have been a hell of a lot worse. They could have sentenced me to spend the rest of my life with Martha Mitchell."

Kerner asks release from prison

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner flew to Chicago Thursday, where he plans to request an immediate release from federal prison.

Kerner was to appear before U. S. District Court Judge Robert Taylor today to make the request.

Taylor, of Knoxville, Tenn., presided at Kerner's 1973 trial in a race-track stock bribery case, and sentenced him to three years in prison.

Convicted doctor seeks new trial

BOSTON (UPI) — Dr. Kenneth Edelin, convicted of manslaughter as a result of a legal abortion he performed, has invoked an obscure state law in an effort to win a new trial or have his guilty verdict overturned.

The little-used state law, backed up by a 194 state supreme court decision, allows a judge to overrule a jury's verdict if the judge feels it was arrived at not by the evidence, but because of prejudice.

Greek Cypriots ask pullout date

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Greek Cypriot government has called on the Security Council to set a deadline for the pullout of Turkish invasion troops from the island.

The government of Archbishop Makarios also asked the council to block the creation of an autonomous Turkish Cypriot state on territory seized by the Turkish army last summer.

Giannis Cleides, speaker of the Greek Cypriot House of Representatives, told the council Thursday firm action was needed to save "the sovereignty, the independence, the territorial integrity" of Cyprus.

Tumor removed from Mills' wife

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A small, noncancerous tumor was removed Thursday from Polly Mills, the office of Rep. Willard Mills, D-Ark., reported.

Mrs. Mills entered a private hospital in Washington several days ago for what was described then as a physical examination and minor surgery. Sources close to the family said a breast tumor was removed.

Nepal to crown king, 29

KATHMANDU (UPI) — Birendra Bir Bikram Shah Dev, 29, will be crowned king of Nepal before a glittering assembly of royalty and statesmen at precisely 8:35 a.m. Monday — the auspicious hour decreed by royal astrologers.

Coronation Day rituals begin before dawn when the king drives in a carriage drawn by six horses to the ancient Hanuman Dhokha palace, named for the Hindu monkey god Hanuman.

There Brahmin priests will anoint him with clay, dust and mud from 12 places, including a mountain top, an antlion, a harlot's door, elephant, horse and cow stables, the wheels of a chariot, the bottom of a lake and the confluence of two rivers.

Accused heroin smuggler indicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frank "Peewee" Matthews, a fugitive with a $20,000 federal reward poster matched only by John Dillinger today was indicted with 17 others on charges of conspiring to smuggle multi-million dollar quantities of heroin and cocaine.

The nine-count indictment, unsealed in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, followed 46 months of investigation into an alleged East Coast narcotics ring.

Drug Enforcement Administrator John R. Bartels Jr. and U.S. Attorney David G. Trager for the Eastern District of New York announced the secret indictments.

'Cough syrup' dangerous

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "Bottles of dangerous potassium chloride, mislabeled as 'children's cough syrup,' may be sitting in California medicine shelves, a pharmaceutical company and the state health department warned Thursday.

"Continued use of this misbranded product in children will cause severe damage to their health," including ulcers, said Progress Laboratories Inc., manufacturers of the cough syrup.

The company and the California Health Department said residents of the state should look in their medicine cabinets for bottles labeled either with the syrup's brand name, "Phlemazin Pediatric," or the generic name, "Promethazine pediatric expectorant."

Clashes tear Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Ethiopian troops and Eritrean rebels today battled with artillery, mortars and small arms around an American communications facility in Asmara, a one-time super secret base that plays a key role in relaying secret messages to nuclear-armed Polaris submarines in the Indian Ocean.

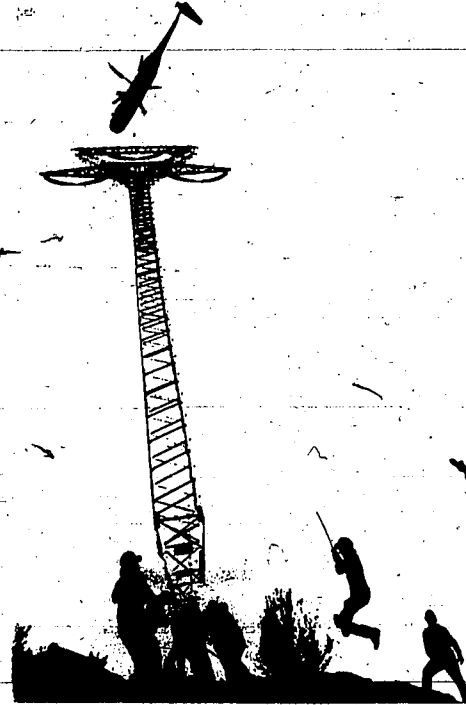

Most Americans have been removed from the Kagnew communications station, known by the nickname of Stonehouse, and U.S. Embassy, sources said there were no American casualties in the battle that swirled around the base for more than two hours today.

The base, an important link in America's worldwide communications network, was built in Asmara because of the city's 7,000 foot altitude. It suffered superficial damage in previous attacks and may have taken a few rounds today when government artillery, firing over the base, pounded a nearby rebel-held village at Adi Segeda and the guerrillas responded with mortars and small arms.

Western diplomats in Addis Ababa reported that government troops massacred 12 civilians in Asmara today in the first reported major atrocity since a civil war broke out three weeks ago over Eritrean rebel efforts to break away from the military government and set up an independent state of Eritrea.

They said soldiers in Asmara opened fire on 12 civilians approaching a roadblock during the night, killing them all. Six persons were in a minibus, five on bicycles and one was pushing a handcart.

In the early days of the war, troops killed civilians indiscriminately and bayoneted and slashed women and children.

Kellwood layoffs set

TWIN FALLS — Kellwood's Twin Falls hosiery plant again will lay off production workers, in response to declining sales.

Kellwood officials said today the Twin Falls knitting operations will be closed down next week, the second such layoff this year.

The Twin Falls plant employs about 360-370 workers, but Kellwood officials would not say how many would be laid off.

Robert McKinley, Kellwood vice president, said today there will be no permanent layoffs. He said the closure would be for one week only or "inventory only for adjustment."

He declined to say what the volume of inventory reduction would be, but said the situation is similar to that two weeks ago when the company laid off production workers for inventory reduction and to facilitate a changeover in styles.

McKinley said Kellwood had experienced a decline in sales corresponding to the sales falloff in other industries across the country.

The firm manufactures hosiery for Sears and other outlets. The Twin Falls product generally is shipped to West Coast markets.

Cost of living shows slight hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living edged up 0.6 percent in January, its smallest increase since last April, the Labor Department reported today.

Prices drops on clothing, new cars, beef and home mortgage interest rates helped the inflationary slowdown.

The government's Consumer Price Index hit 156.1 last month, meaning goods that cost $100 in 1967 now cost $156.10.

Seasonally adjusted, the 0.6 was the smallest monthly rise since April. The index has been advancing at a slower rate each month since September and, coupled with two consecutive monthly declines in wholesale prices, the figures indicate steady progress against inflation.

There were some sharp price hikes, however, at the retail level last month. The cost of medical care, utilities and new houses plus fresh fruit, vegetable and bakery prices all increased for the month.

The CPI measures retail price changes in about 400 items nationwide and is the most closely watched barometer of changes in the cost of living.

Here are highlights from the January report:

- The fourth consecutive monthly drop in beef prices plus a falloff in sugar prices were offset by increases for cereal, bread, other bakery products, soft drinks and candy bars. The result was a 0.8 percent rise in grocery prices and restaurant meals, slightly higher than a month earlier.
- Clearance sales on men's and women's clothing and the highly-publicized rebate offers on new cars helped hold the nonfood commodity component of CPI to a 0.6 percent rise, compared to 0.4 percent in December. Used car, tire and furniture prices all moved down but there were gains for gasoline, appliances, toiletries, drugs and tobacco products.
- The cost of services, traditionally the most stable sector of the CPI, rose 0.8 percent with half the increase stemming from higher charges for hospital services, natural gas, electricity, water and sewerage. But mortgage interest rates and auto insurance premiums both fell.
- Consumer prices have risen 11.7 percent in the past 12 months.
- With seasonal factors discounted, retail prices rose 0.5 percent in January. Food prices went up 0.7 percent and there was no increase in nonfood prices.

Air controls pushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Airline pilots and ground controllers called today for sweeping changes in the U.S. air traffic control system but clashed over whether controllers should be given more responsibility for aircraft.

John F. Leyden of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization said airliners should be under mandatory radar control from the moment they take off until the moment they land — a condition opposed by the Federal Aviation Administration.

The testimony came at the closing session of a hearing into the Dec. 1 crash of TWA Flight 514 into a Virginia mountain on approach to Dulles International Airport. All 82 persons aboard were killed.

John J. O'Donnell of the Air Line Pilots Association agreed with Leyden that major changes are needed in air traffic procedures.

Mr. T-N says

The trials are over but the effects of the Chicago trial will carry into the history books.

Kindergarten bill squeaks through Gem House

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Capitol Bureau

BOISE — The House narrowly approved Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' $3.3 million kindergarten proposal Thursday.

Senate passage is expected to follow.

Republican, including Burley's Earnest Hale, joined all but one Democrat in putting through the measure on a 36-34 vote.

Except for Hale, Magic Valley's representatives all voted against the kindergarten bill.

With House passage, supporters had high hopes Thursday afternoon that non-compulsory kindergartens will be established in Idaho next year.

Supt. of Schools Roy Truby said the bill first was introduced in the House because that is where the opposition had been strongest.

"I haven't felt better since election night," Truby said, predicting the Senate will approve kindergartens as it has in recent years. The bill had been defeated in the House four years running.

Sensors John Peavey, R-Rupert, and Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, both kindergarten supporters, predicted passage in the Senate. But neither Senate majority leader Phil Batt nor president pro tempore James Elsworth would predict chances of passage.

On the one other issue the House considered Thursday — state employees salaries — more conservative representatives won out. A bill to grant state employees a 3.5 percent cost-of-living increase plus re-allocation to make their salaries compatible with salaries in private industry passed on a 39-22 vote.

That would allow less than half the salary increases Andrus proposed for state employees. The bill was defeated Wednesday by one vote, but was brought up again Thursday when it passed.

Magic Valley representatives all voted for passage both Wednesday and Thursday.

Debate on both the salary and kindergarten bills was extensive.

Opponents to kindergartens argued that the state cannot support the program, that higher priorities should be attached to other programs that kindergartens are not needed, or that they will cost far more than $3.3 million.

Supporters contended that kindergartens have proven value, that public kindergartens would help equalized education and that the money does exist for the program.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, said the $3.3 million cost projection is "absolutely wrong." He said it does not take into account needs for more teachers, buses and classrooms.

Roberts also questioned the value of the program saying that many leaders in science, medicine, politics and other fields had not gone to kindergartens.

Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, said that given the shaky economy it is "a very unwise time" for starting new programs.

"You're going to be faced with continuing and unending court cases on how you're going to get these children to school," Rep. Tom Stivers, Twin Falls, said.

But Rep. Norma Dobler, D-Moscow, cited the state's increased surplus during each of the past three years and said, "We have the money. The only thing we lack is the willingness to spend."

Dobler, who served as floor sponsor for the measure, said kindergartens would enable early identification of learning problems. Establishing public kindergartens, she said, would help to make education more equal in Idaho.

A proposal to amend the kindergarten bill to allow districts to spend kindergartens funds for other programs died on a 33-37 vote. Except for Hale, all Magic Valley delegates supported the attempt to amend.

Under Andrus' bill kindergartens would be non-compulsory both for school districts to establish and for parents to send their children to.

MV growers hear 'new technology' plan

By CRICKET BIRD Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Technology, not wider land usage, will be the key to feeding the world, according to the board chairman of a major seed company.

Ken Christensen, speaking at the 14th annual growers banquet sponsored by Northrup King and Co., said technology was the key to higher agricultural productivity. More than 250 growers, wives and company employees attended the banquet.

Christensen, a Minneapolis resident, is a past and honorary president of the World Seed Association and the only American to serve in that post and board chairman of Northrup King.

In an interview Christensen said, "The fact of the matter is, it's going to have to be new technology rather than new land that will feed the world."

The development of superior varieties of seeds, water conservation methods and a lessening of restrictions on insecticides and pesticides are all ways to increase productivity, Christensen said.

He cited a government report which found in many underdeveloped countries acreage had increased by about two per cent, but productivity had increased by less than that figure.

In contrast, acreage in developed countries has declined, but productivity is up, the report found.

The long-term economic future of the farmer looks good. "Agriculture will be one strong emerging industry," Christensen said.

At present the industry is faced with a "terrible imbalance" between some different groups, for instance between the cattlemen and grain farmers, he said.

"We're going to have to live through this balancing act," he added.

Christensen said he didn't believe the world would face a disastrous food shortage in the near future.

"There can be enough food for the immediate future if it is properly distributed."

Localized food shortages now are caused by problems in "efficiency and distribution," Christensen said.

But eventually a limit to food production will be reached, he said. "Sooner or later, population control is the only answer."

Christensen also said he did not favor efforts by nations to be self-sufficient agriculturally. Countries should produce crops "their geography suits them to and not be hesitant to import products, he said.

Four local growers were honored at the banquet for their outstanding production in the past year.

Walter Schoen, Paul, was awarded the honorary plaque and cash prize for superior production in wax beans; Everett Norris, Hansen, took the honor in the green bean class; Gene Funk, Burley, took honors in all other bean classes.

In the sprite bean class, Ron and Merl Lierman, Hansen, shared the honorary plaque.

Christensen told growers the company was progressing, gaining both in new and established markets. He said Northrup King did the most seed business — in monetary terms — of any company in the country last year.

The board chairman said the food situation is subject to political maneuvering and quoted a newsletter saying,

"Hunger unfortunately has no zone out of style but out of the news."

He warned growers they were faced by a "very fickle public" and added "The agricultural endeavor is manipulated in the press."

Christensen said packer seeds were rapidly increasing sales item. About 40 million of the 52 million American households are predicted to have some kind of garden this summer, he said, compared with 37 million last year.

He showed growers slides of various community garden projects, where farmers, corporations, local governments, or apartment owners make garden plots available to the urban resident for a vegetable garden.

Finance drive set by local league

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls League of Women Voters annual finance drive begins Monday.

Finance drive chairman Sandra Nye said that league members will contact citizens and businesses in the community for their financial support for 1975. The organization is supported with membership dues and through contributions.

Voter information and public education on current issues are the League's major activities. During 1974 it distributed copies of a booklet, "How Things Happen in Twin Falls County," primary and general election fact sheets, a county political directory and fact sheets on the hospital bond issue and the Fifth Judicial District.

Before the general election, the League helped register voters and operated the voters service office.

League members are now distributing 5,000 copies of the Twin Falls County Political Directory, updated under the direction of Betty Pletz. A directory of Jerome County will be distributed later.

Issues of concern that the League is studying include local transportation, mental health facilities, special education in Idaho, a history of the Snake River Canyon, land use, air and water quality and voting rights.

New merit badge slated

TWIN FALLS — Boy Scouts in the Snake River Council can earn a new merit badge in dentistry beginning this week.

Counselors for the Scouts working on the badge will be recruited from the Southcentral District Dental Society.

The new merit badge is being introduced this month in connection with the National Children's Dental Health Week and the Boy Scouts 65th anniversary celebration. It is a joint project of the Boy Scouts and the American Dental Association.

The presentation oriented merit badge teaches a Scout the importance of good oral health and stresses self-care for controlling dental disease. To earn the badge, Scouts will have to learn daily nutritional requirements, the role of fluorides in plaque control, first aid for oral injuries and the role of the dentist play in overall health care.

Dean describes feelings during White House time

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — It was 1970 and John W. Dean, then a Justice Department lawyer, was on his way from Washington to San Clemente to accept a job as White House counsel.

"When the plane landed in Los Angeles, an airline executive came on board and asked if John Dean was on the plane," the presidential accuser told an audience of 4,000 at Illinois State University.

"They kept all the rest of the passengers on the plane until I was escorted off. Everybody was watching me, even the flight crew."

"We didn't go into the terminal. Because there, across the way, was the shiniest brown and white helicopter you've ever seen. It had been sent for me."

FORMER AIDE JOHN DEAN

"I began to feel a little important. And when the President said, 'I'd like you to be my counsel,' I felt that I'd be a very important person having a position like that at my age." (He was then 30.)

Dean may have felt important, but he became a fawning sycophant under former president Richard Nixon. The Watergate transcripts are full of such Dean comments as: "Absolutely 'Totally true!'" "All right, sir" and "That will be done."

Dean admitted the former President once used him and a bunch of budget books as a prop when a group of college newspaper editors were allowed into the oval office.

Dean, who knows nothing about budgets, said he asked chief presidential aide H.R. Haldeman why Nixon had chosen him for the start.

"The President thinks you look a little hippie," Dean quoted Haldeman as saying. "Dean has extremely short hair and wears wing tip shoes and narrow leg pants with cuffs."

Later Dean became custodian of the White House "enemies list" and director of the Watergate cover-up, activities he now says he regrets.

"I got blinded by my own ambition," he said in his nasal, Dick Cavett-like tones. "I wanted to get ahead and please my superiors, and this is what pleased them."

Eventually, Dean provided information to Congressional committees that led to Nixon's resignation. A student asked him to comment on Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy's charge that Dean had turned "accuser" to "save his own ass."

"Well, there's an element of truth in that," Dean said to heavy applause.

Dean-released from jail Jan. 8, after serving four months of a 1-to-4 year term for conspiracy to obstruct justice, is now contrite — almost unbelievably so.

"I'm personally offended," he said, "by the fact that a young person found an ounce of marijuana on him can get 10 years and I only got four months."

Asked if his disbarment would be repealed, he replied, "I don't think I deserve to practice law after the behavior I engaged in."

Dean was applauded for these statements and several others during his 20-minute talk and 70-minute question-answer session. There was no organized protest, unlike some other campuses where he has appeared.

He began his speech, as he has at other colleges on his $175,000 lecture tour, by apologizing for his $1,000 fee, which will be paid from student fees and not from tax money.

"I wish I could speak for me, but I can't," he said, "and reply in debt."

Proof required

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Proposed legislation before the Washington House of Representatives to legalize prostitution provides that licenses be given "only upon satisfactory proof that the applicant is of good character."

In trouble again

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Another one of former Gov. Ronald Reagan's drivers is in trouble with the California Highway Patrol.

Willard Barnett, a former CHP officer, was ticketed Feb. 4 for excessive speed near here while driving the former governor to his Santa Barbara County ranch, the CHP said Wednesday.

The CHP said Barnett was traveling 60 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone. He will appear in Municipal Court Tuesday to answer the citation.

Last December, while Reagan was still governor, his car — driven then by an on-duty CHP officer — was stopped in the same area for speeding, but no citation was issued. The CHP later said no ticket was given the first time because officers had not obtained an accurate clocking.

Reagan said officers who stopped his car this time were "very, very courteous."

Tax proposal studied

BOISE (UPI) — House lawmakers are ready for introduction today legislation to permit personal property taxes on campers and other equipment mounted on motor vehicles.

Under this proposal trailers, semi-trailers, air compressors, augers, backhoes, concrete pumping equipment, conveyors, cranes, draglines, hay choppers, hay grinders, hoists, hydraulic ladders, milling equipment, pumps, rock crushers and related equipment, shredders, power shovels, tree spraying rigs, trenchers, welders and well drilling rigs among others could be so taxed.

The committee also put into the hopper a bill which would allow county commissioners, to adjust their budgets, to pick up unscheduled revenue from the federal or state governments.

Cutback set

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Chilean Mining Minister Gen. Augustin Toro announced Thursday copper production in Chile would be cut by 5 per cent in an effort to raise international prices for the red metal.

Nevada terminals may go

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Officials of the Western Pacific Railroad and the United Transportation Union continued negotiations today on the railroad's plans to eliminate two terminals and relocate some 350 personnel.

Western Pacific has announced it will discontinue stops at Portola and Winnemucca, Nev., and has promised the employees affected they will be absorbed into the company elsewhere at company expense.

Details of such moves must be worked out by union representatives and the railroad under terms of their working agreement, which calls for resolution of all problems within 30 days, or else resolution through binding arbitration.

The two sides began meetings on the relocation project Wednesday, and announced they would meet for two days.

Western Pacific has said the engineers, yardmasters, mechanics, clerical workers, switchmen and depot personnel would be absorbed into the Western system according to seniority and that no jobs would be lost by eliminating the two depots.

Elimination of the two stops is necessary because faster trains have shortened travel time, Western contends.

A second set of meetings has been scheduled for March 7 to iron out further details.

Reagan said officers who stopped his car this time were "very, very courteous."

Ridicule scored

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — State Rep. Frank Giglio has introduced a resolution urging the news media to stop using the term "plumbers" in connection with the Watergate scandal.

Giglio is a Democrat — and a master plumber.

He says his trade has been subjected to "public ridicule and scorn" because of the reported references to the White House "plumbers" unit as a key group in the Watergate break-in and cover-up.

Uncertainty takes toll on hopefuls

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — John A. Durkin has gained 15 pounds. His 3-year-old daughter counts her blocks like daddy counted U.S. Senate ballots — very carefully. And when Mrs. Louis Wyman goes to market, people shower her with sympathy.

History's closest U.S. Senate election remains undecided more than three months after the rainy November election day. The uncertainty takes its toll on Democrat Durkin and Republican Louis C. Wyman and their families back home in the state's largest city.

"My daughter Shelagh insists whenever anyone gives her anything she has the correct count," said Mrs. Pat Durkin, 32.

"We've also cut back on a lot of personal expenses," said the slim blonde mother of three who is operating on savings and is stretched out three months longer than we ever dreamed it would be. It's no time to buy a new couch."

While evidence of the Durkin campaign is everywhere, including next door in the other half of the family's duplex, the $32,000 campaign debt has not touched the family directly. But there are other costs.

When Andrea Durkin, 8, asked her father to attend an elementary school open house, he had to remain in Washington for a hearing of the Senate Rules Committee, now investigating the election. And amid continued interest in the outcome of the election, both Mrs. Durkin and Virginia Wyman, wife of the GOP contender, find trips to the supermarket similar to campaign appearances.

"You can't go anywhere but what people stop you — people that wouldn't normally stop you!" said Mrs. Wyman. "They want to commiserate with you. There's a tremendous amount of interest."

"I hope it will be over soon so we can all start our lives in some sort of positive direction."

Last fall, Mrs. Wyman campaigned frequently for her absent husband, a five-term congressman who remained in Washington expecting to win easily — in traditionally Republican New Hampshire.

Both Durkin, 38, and Wyman, 57, won at separate levels of state review: Durkin by 10 votes in a recount, Wyman by two votes when a ballot panel checked the recount. In an effort to resolve the dispute, the Senate Rules Committee plans a recount of 3,500 contested ballots out of nearly 223,000 cast.

The committee will meet today to consider procedures for the review and committee chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said the recount could begin soon.

Automakers report severe loss

DETROIT (UPI) — For the "Big Three" automakers, it was their worst annual earnings report since the 1958 recession — and Ford Motors warned of possible further manpower cutbacks to maintain earnings goals.

However, General Motors and Chrysler cut some of the gloom Thursday by announcing the first significant recall of laid-off workers.

The three automakers, plagued by an energy crisis early in the year and a deep recession in fall, reported 1974 earnings of less than $1.1 billion — a 65 per cent drop from record 1973 and the lowest since the 1958 recession year.

Earlier this month, General Motors reported a $250 million loss, lowest for a non-strike year since 1961, and Chrysler Corp. said it lost $32 million, worst in the company's 50-year history, followed by a $73.5 million fourth quarter loss.

Together, the three companies earned $1,259,000 in 1974, lowest since a $720.1 million performance in recession-plagued 1959. Fourth quarter earnings for the trio amounted to $456.5 million, one-third lower than 1973's Arab oil embargo-depressed level and lowest since a $77.1 million performance in 1960.

Ford Motor completed the gloomy reporting cycle Thursday when it announced record sales of $2.6 billion in 1974, up 3 per cent from a record set one year earlier. But profits fell 70 per cent from record 1973 earnings to $33 million, lowest for any non-strike year since 1958.

Ford Chairman Henry Ford II and President Lee Iacocca said "unprecedented" cost increases and sharp sales declines pushed fourth quarter earnings down to $22 million, 67 per cent below 1973 despite record dollar sales of $6.2 billion, up 9 per cent from a year ago.

Only special tax provisions because of a sharp decline in earnings during the last three months of last year — the worst fourth quarter since Ford went public in 1956 — saved the No. 2 automaker from a potential $46 million loss in the quarter.

Ford and Iacocca warned of possible further staff cutbacks to maintain profitability.

"This week had 56,700 hourly workers on short-and long-term layoffs. The two executives said the company is intensifying its efforts to cut costs and to obtain maximum operating efficiencies throughout the company."

But they said there still could be strong recovery this year if the Ford administration and Congress worked quickly to bolster public confidence in the economy and provide speedy tax relief legislation.

General Motors and Chrysler announced plans to recall 2,500 workers in the next two weeks — the first significant callback of idled workers since economic woes crippled the industry.

G.M. said 2,500 workers would return to their jobs at its South Gate, Calif., assembly plant, which has been closed since Christmas. The firm said 120 more would be recalled at its Flint, Mich., engine plant.

Chrysler made no changes in its production schedule for next week but said that while temporary layoffs would remain unchanged, the number of indefinite layoffs would be cut by 800, scattering the callbacks among several plants.

Bay Area plagued by drunken birds

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (UPI) — This San Francisco Bay Area commuter community is being plagued with drunken birds.

Robins and cedar waxwings, on their seasonal migration south, are stopping off to nibble on ripe pyracantha berries. The berries are getting them smashed.

Gary Bogue, curator of the Alexander Lindsay Junior Museum, said the bright red and orange berries contain a mild toxin which affects the birds.

"They become disoriented, confused," Bogue said. "They're spaced out. They've been wandering in front of cars, flying into cars and windows."

"In human terms, they're drunk."

He said many Bay Area animal care facilities have been treating the birds for minor injuries.

Even a "drunk tank" has been set up here so the birds can sleep it off, he said.

McGovern scores Butz on food stamp dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., has demanded that Agriculture Sec. Earl R. Butz either overcome his dislike of food stamps and run the program so that more hungry people can take part or resign.

The 1972 Democratic presidential nominee Thursday accused Butz to his face of doing all he could to make the food-stamp program flimsy.

"There may have been occasional oversight or negligence or error," Butz angrily replied, "but I can't let you sit there and say I deliberately violated the law."

McGovern charged the secretary with "daily violating not only the law as passed by Congress, but even your own (departmental) regulations." He contended that Butz had deprived at least 15 million needy Americans of stamp eligibility.

Within a month of starting his 1975 session, Congress sent a bill to President Ford blocking the administration from raising the price of the stamps, which can be used to buy lower-cost food. The White House did not have nearly enough votes to sustain a veto, so the President allowed the measure to become law without his signature.

Thursday's exchange between McGovern and Butz occurred at a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing on a farm bill.

Butz complained, as he has before, that food stamps are a welfare program rather than a food supplement program. Welfare programs belong in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he said.

McGovern and another committee member, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., reminded him that it would be difficult to pass farm legislation without including something "in the bill for urban congressmen. In the past rural representatives have used food stamps as an inducement for metropolitan members to accept farm, Subsidies."

"No administration has been more generous with free food than this one," Butz declared. He said he much preferred cash sales of food abroad to donated food relief.

AMA raps rule on retirement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association wants the Supreme Court to reject the federal government's retirement at age 70 rule as harmful to both the individual and society. It hopes to get a favorable hearing from the Nine Old Men.

"The philosophy of the market place has brainwashed thousands of Americans into believing that a person is over the hill at age 70," the AMA told the justices, five of whom are in their middle or late 60s.

The association asked permission to express itself in the case of a government lawyer, Martin Weisrod, of Chicago, one of numerous suits brought by government employees who consider the law unconstitutional. Weisrod is over 70 and still working at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, even though he can be dismissed at the government's pleasure.

Federal civil servants can work after 70 only if they have not completed 15 years. Some persons lose judgment, ability and physical energy at 40 while others retain these qualities past 80 — "The granting of continuance of employment opportunities should be based on the individual's competence and ability — not age," its brief said.

An individual's mental and physical health can be impaired by forced retirement through loss of status, lack of meaningful activity, fear of becoming dependent, and isolation, it said. At the same time society is burdened with the support of many older individuals who could be productive.

The court has thrown out many laws that discriminated unfairly on the basis of race, sex or national origin, the AMA suggested, and a parallel discrimination exists on the basis of age.

Only one member of the court, Justice William Douglas is past 70. He is 76 and recovering from a stroke.

Troops blast train

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops blew up a 14-car train in northern Cambodia Thursday, killing 31 soldiers and civilians and wounding 40 others with machine gun fire, military sources said today.

The train hit a mine set under the tracks eight miles northwest of Battambang and 156 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, the sources said.

In South Vietnam, Communist gunners today fired five mortar rounds into an elementary school in the Cai Lay district 45 miles southwest of Saigon, killing one student and wounding 12 others, the Saigon command reported.

The shelling took place when students returned to their afternoon class.

Cambodian sources said the train engineer and five government soldiers were among the dead. Four cars were destroyed.

In another development, protests mounted in nearby Battambang, where the cost of living has been rising because of rebel attacks in the rice-rich region.

Sources said some 3,000 students and several hundred workers demonstrated in the city today to protest the price hikes. The protesters looted several stores and set others on fire.

Rebel gunners also lobbed four rockets into Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport, but caused no damage.

Government forces failed for the second time in less than a week to clear the rebels from a Mekong River stronghold 25 miles southeast of the Cambodian capital.

The sources said 20 government soldiers were killed Thursday and 30 were wounded in the amphibious attack at the town of Deo.

Gem farm worker bill forwarded

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the Senate Committee on Labor-Committee needed arguments of possible future federal intervention to the State Affairs Committee for introduction Thursday a bill to include agriculture workers under Idaho's workmen's compensation laws.

It would leave it up to the federal government. Kaufman said that in a couple of more years the federal government would run the program and then see the rates that will be paid and don't think the workmen will get the protection. He urged that the problem be kept at home. Derr said it must be recognized that workmen's compensation laws are here to stay. If the legislature doesn't remove the agricultural exemption, he added, "then either the courts will do so, or the federal government will do so." He said that the fall-out to cover farm workers makes "second class citizens of this segment of our society." "If an ordinary businessman can stand the costs of workmen's compensation coverage, so should the farmer, as a cost of doing business," Derr said. "The make-up of farm operations and ownership has changed drastically since the original compensation laws were enacted in Idaho." Derr said, "I do not feel that the reasons that may have existed for the exemption of farm workers then is at all applicable now."

House passes salary plan

BOISE (UPI) — House Republicans won enough converts in caucus Thursday to pass a resolution calling for salary reallocation and 3 1/2 per cent cost of living increase for state employees. This measure, needed by the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee to begin setting the budget, goes now to the Senate for concurrence from that body. Before the measure came to a final vote the GOP majority beat down 43-36 an attempt to amend the increase upward to 5 per cent.

Wednesday, eight Democrats sided with the Republicans to kill the proposal by vote. But Speaker Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, and other GOP leaders managed to get one of them to move for reconsideration so they could try again today to pass it. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus asked the legislature to grant reallocations plus a 7 1/2 per cent pay increase to state employees and Democrats hung tough for that amount. Today, Andrus said it would be the House Democrats that if 5 per cent was the best they could do then try to grab that. Many of them indicated they would when Rep. Rudy Anderson, R-Boise, moved to pull the measure into committee of the whole for amendment. "But they could not swing enough votes to pull it off. Later, Anderson told the House he thought a 3 1/2 per cent pay increase in these inflationary times was "shaky." Both parties caucused on the resolution before the House convened this morning and afterward a Republican source indicated the GOP had a "shaky" majority.

Jobless pay hike held by committee

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Association of Commerce and Industry Thursday cited the economic uncertainty in opposing a bill to increase unemployment compensation from 60 to 65 1/2 per cent. The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee then on a 4-4 tie vote held the bill in committee. Greg Patten, spokesman for the association, said already 65 1/2 unemployment fund had gone bankrupt in four states. He said the longer the higher benefit was avoided in Idaho the better the state would be able to see what the economy would be. Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-

Lewisville, sponsor of the bill, said he was a gambling man and would "bet on the out come" that the economy of the state "can and will be able to support the increase." He said the additional money would go to the people who would spend it on the economy. Sen. Arthur Muroby, D-Mullan, noted that each legislature would have a "hand on the throttle" and could come back and reduce the rate if there was a problem. Mitchell noted that the unemployment fund had a surplus. He said last year that $20 million was paid into the fund while it paid out $16 million.

DST delay defeated

BOISE (UPI) — Urged to stay in step with its neighbors, the House has defeated an attempt to exempt Southern Idaho from Daylight Saving Time until the fourth Sunday in March. Rep. Angus Condie, R-Preston, led the battle Thursday for DST in committee of the whole, pointing out that the proposal simply would create confusion and a "multiplicity of problems." But Rep. J. Ward Chabrum, R-Blaine, argued that putting Southern Idaho on daylight time this coming Sunday would create problems for construction and other trades dependent on sunlight. "It's a lot easier for a merchant to call a supplier an hour earlier than industry to work in the dark," he said. Rep. Ralph Wheeler, R-American Falls, contended more than just an hour's difference was involved. In some cases, he said, transportation schedules could be thrown off an entire day. Saying it could disrupt commerce considerably, in Southeastern Idaho, Lamm said "it's much more grave than children going to schools in the dark." Rep. T. W. Silvers, R-Twin Falls, said failure to make the change to daylight time next Sunday would have a profound effect on marketing of produce by Southern Idahoans.

Malpractice limit sought

BOISE (UPI) — With the revelation that about 60 per cent of Idaho's physicians will soon lose their malpractice insurance, the Senate State Affairs Committee has introduced a malpractice liability limitation for doctors and hospitals. The bill was brought to the legislature by the Idaho Medical Association, which claims a major insurance firm will discontinue malpractice coverage because of high awards by juries. The bill provides a $100,000 limit on civil liability for injury or death to any one patient and $200,000 for multiple injury or death.

States OK joint office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Western states governors Thursday agreed to form a regional energy office in Denver to develop a regional energy policy. The governors, meeting during the National Governors' Conference, also appointed a three-governor committee to make recommendations on the selection of an executive director to head up the regional office.

Andrus backs plan to purchase spuds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and chief executives of six other states have urged the President to use $25 million from the Food for Peace program to purchase processed dehydrated potato products. The governors said they are concerned with unemployment levels in their states, depressed farm markets and the starving people of the world. In a letter to the President, the governors said "fresh potatoes are presently stored throughout America and can be purchased at about $2.75 per hundredweight. This price level does not provide for profit, but it does protect against disaster." "These potatoes then can be processed to provide 50

Butz hints price support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz indicated Thursday the administration might be flexible on its earlier opposition to any increase in the target prices for key farm commodities. Butz came to testify before the Senate Agriculture Committee with a prepared statement indicating continued opposition to congressional efforts to raise the target prices for wheat, corn and cotton. But he abandoned the statement and under questioning said the target price increase might be considered a "poker hand" where there was room for compromise. The biggest concern, he said, is that the target prices not be increased substantially so they were "too high." While Butz said he had no specific recommendation, he did insist the target prices remain where they are in any new farm bill drafted by the committee. At present, the target price for corn is $1.38 per bushel, $2.05 per bushel for wheat and 38 cents a pound for cotton. The target price for wheat guarantees farmers that the government will pay the difference if market prices fall below the target. If market prices stay above the target price as they did during the 1974 crop year, no payments are made.

Andrus backs plan to purchase spuds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and chief executives of six other states have urged the President to use $25 million from the Food for Peace program to purchase processed dehydrated potato products. The governors said they are concerned with unemployment levels in their states, depressed farm markets and the starving people of the world. In a letter to the President, the governors said "fresh potatoes are presently stored throughout America and can be purchased at about $2.75 per hundredweight. This price level does not provide for profit, but it does protect against disaster." "These potatoes then can be processed to provide 50

Governor urges more public jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a House subcommittee Thursday a "should-creatively expand public service" job programs. Speaking before the Education and Labor Subcommittee, Andrus said Thursday, "Additional funds will bolster efforts currently underway to provide additional public service job opportunities on an emergency basis." "A number of states will soon deplete their emergency manpower fund and if that happens, many states will be unable to provide unemployed families with "food, fuel and shelter," Andrus said. He stressed that public service employment alone would not solve the nation's economic ills, nor substantially eliminate its unemployment problems. "The federal government has a responsibility to make every effort to see that its citizens always have the opportunity for meaningful and dignified employment."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recent attacks on the Central Intelligence Agency have raised the question of whether legitimate secret intelligence operations can be conducted by the United States, CIA director William E. # Bird kill 'fair success'

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI) — Army officials have termed this week's mass extermination of millions of blackbirds, starlings and grackles at this military reservation a "reasonably good success." But environmentalists have returned to court to prevent another mass killing. Federal wildlife representatives spent Thursday at this sprawling military reservation, which stretches across the Kentucky-Tennessee border, wading through deep piles of dead or dying birds gathering data. The birds were sprayed with a chemical, Perqitol, which removed protective oils from their feathers. Firetrucks then sprayed the birds with water, causing the birds to die of exposure to temperatures ranging in the lower 20s. Brig. Gen. John Brandenburg, assistant commander of the 101st Airborne Division, said the operation was "a reasonably good success" and the Army would continue the extermination program as weather permitted. He said the family of one agent exposed in the "CIA Diary" has been harassed and the agent's daughter has been driven out of school. Colby did not identify that agent.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm 23, male, and still a virgin. I have had absolutely no experience with sex. Not even a kiss. I didn't even think about it until I was 20. From then on I kept figuring: "Well, it will happen some day," but now I have doubts about whether I am "normal" or not.

What is normal, Abby? I'm not bothered by the fact that my sex drive is rather retarded. I don't think about it very much, but sometimes I wonder what my first experience will be like, and it scares me. I know I will be so clumsy and embarrassed that I will not perform very well and it will be humiliating.

I have dated a few girls, but as soon as I know a good night kiss is expected, I cop out.

Please don't say: "Well, if the girl is understanding..." I suppose a deep relationship could handle this type of thing; but in a shallow relationship, or a one-night stand, it will be humiliating for me, I know.

What's wrong with me, Abby? Do I need a shrink? I'm on a tight budget, and couldn't afford one anyway. Thanks for your time.

NORMAL OR NOT?

MR. AND MRS. MILO MECHAM

He's still a virgin

DEAR NORMAL: If you think you need a shrink, you need one—if only to be assured that you don't. A tight budget is no excuse. Your local Mental Health Association will provide treatment at a price you can afford.

In the meantime, quit worrying about "performance." When you find a girl you like well enough to kiss, go ahead and kiss her. The rest will come naturally. Rome wasn't made in a day. And neither was Florence.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student, living in close quarters with four other male students.

Three of us shower regularly, but one of our residents does not. (In fact, he seldom brushes his teeth.) We are repulsed by this character, and upon mentioning this problem to him, he says it is his body, and we have no business telling him what to do.

We heartily disagree because we have to suffer because of his offensive body odor.

We don't know what to do, short of throwing the culprit into the shower against his will.

We welcome your advice.

DESPERATE IN ARCATA, CAL.

DEAR DESPERATE: Throwing him into the shower will give you only temporary relief. Throw him OUT!

DEAR ABBY: My 11-year-old son, Dale, has a teacher I'll call Mr. Authority.

Mr. Authority has it in for Dale and picks on him for no reason at all. It's not only Dale's side of it. All his friends from school tell me how terrible this teacher is to my boy.

For instance, the other day Mr. Authority said that some money was missing out of his drawer and he accused Dale of taking it. Dale felt so terrible being humiliated in front of the class that he came home and went straight to bed without even eating supper.

I would like to report Mr. Authority to the school principal, but I'm afraid if I do, this teacher will take it out on Dale. I need to know what to do.

DALE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Make an appointment to see Mr. Authority and have a talk with him. If you still feel that he is being unfair to Dale, then take it up with the principal.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

SHOSHONE — Diane Sorenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Sorenson, Shoshone; and Milo Mecham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Mecham, Carey, were married at the LDS Church Temple, Idaho Falls, on Feb. 7.

Her three-tiered net veil was trimmed in lace and fell to a long train, caught at the headpiece of lace and seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations with burgundy, colored baby breath.

A Lovelier You HANDS ACROSS THE WINTER

By Mary Sue Miller

According to letters from teens and umpteens, many hands are begging for beauty treatments. Even small flaws are somehow magnified as the winter light grows brighter and we begin to hope for rejuvenated looks and lives.

Well, here are ways to overcome a number of hand problems:

Chapped Hands. Massage soapy hands with cosmetic cleansing cream, rinse and dry. Then soak in creamy, warmed hand lotion for 10 minutes.

Grubby knuckles. Apply thick soapsuds to fingers and massage with a slice of lemon; rinse well and dry. Use treatments and ointments daily for at least two weeks.

Brown Spots and Prominent Veins. Cover with a film of waterproof, skin-tinted body makeup. Clear, light red nail enamel further softens the problem.

Wrinkles. Try facial masks—the same kind as used on the face. After masking, body makeup gives a fine finish.

Split Nail. To patch in a hurry, remove polish, apply base coat, place a thin web of absorbent cotton over and under split and let dry; apply polish and top with nail hardener.

Awkward Hands. The graceful hand is relaxed. You gain relaxation by shaking your hands hard from the wrists, and then letting them fall limp. But remember there must be nothing limp about your hand when you shake another's. Make your handshake firm and warm.

cond club. That would bring home the contract, unless East had started with the guarded king-jack of clubs, which is just what he did happen to hold.

A little bit of sound thinking showed South that there was no hurry about trying clubs, he could go after diamonds first and make a 12th trick if that suit broke 4-3.

Therefore, South cashed one high trump to see that no one held all five, led a diamond to dummy, ruffed a diamond, entered dummy with the nine of trumps, ruffed another diamond, drew the last trump. He tried the club finesse to see if he could make seven and claimed the contract after that finesse lost.

Cancer scare can have happy ending

Dear Dr. Thosleson: A month ago I found a slight sprinkling of blood on my night gown from the right breast. Upon squeezing the nipple I got a few more drops of dark, reddish brown blood. This came from only one duct.

A surgeon examined me that day and could find no lumps. He made a diagnosis of the fluid, and a mammogram was made. The smear was negative and the mammogram was normal.

He examined the breast again the next week and could find nothing abnormal, could not even get a drop from the nipple. It was his opinion that the breast should be watched and examined often.

I have been examined by a second surgeon who gave me the same advice - watch for any discharge, have the breast examined every two months, and have another mammogram in six months or a year.

I felt that with a no-discharge surgery would not be necessary, but that if it happened again he would remove the milk gland and check it. He felt sure it was a small papilloma.

Could you give me any further advice? Have I done what you consider necessary? I am 53 years old.

Our paper carried your article a few weeks ago about the woman who had no lumps but bleeding from the breast at about the same time I was having this problem. With breast cancer so much in the headlines these days, one does worry. - B. R.

I print your letter in full to point out that nipple bleeding can be non-cancerous. True, one has to suspect cancer, but too often women live in blind fear when proper examination could put their minds at ease.

Your letter also provides a splendid example of the correct way to approach such things.

Yes, you have done everything reasonable - prompt examination, a smear, a mammogram, and a second opinion. Your breast should be examined every three or four months.

Your Good Health

By George C. Thosleson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosleson: I've been told that taking niacin improves circulation, and that everyone over 35 should take it. My doctor says he knows of no such benefit from niacin. What do you say? - V.C.W.

Niacin is a member of the vitamin B-complex group, and it does help dilate blood vessels. This is obvious in persons first put on niacin therapy. Sudden flush of warmth can be experienced, the result of a surge of blood to the skin as small capillaries enlarge.

It has its medical value, but I would not recommend a massive mass use in any one type. That is not rational. I have known cases where niacin was taken to lower blood cholesterol and the result was a lowered tolerance for sugar.

Dear Dr. Thosleson: Could you give me some information on vitiligo? Is the pigment of the skin dead in areas where the color is faded? I also would like to know if anything can be done for it, and what causes it. - Mrs. C. T.

The pigment is not "dead." It is just not there, or more correctly, the melanocytes (cells that produce and deposit melanin, the skin-coloring substance, are not at work in isolated areas.

The cause is not known, although it has been associated in some instances with a mild anemia. It occurs more often in dark-skinned persons, appearing any time up to 50 years of age. When it affects hairy areas of the body there is usually a simultaneous fading of the hair color.

Cosmetics are the only answer, blending in the areas with the surrounding skin.

Try Filet of Sole for dinner tonight

FILET OF SOLE LOUISIANA

Seed and cut two yellow peppers into strips. Saute in a frying pan with two spoonsful of butter for about ten minutes. Remove with a slotted spoon to absorb and keep warm.

Dip six nice filets of sole in a mix of flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Melt four tablespoons of butter in a large frying pan in high heat until the butter is not colored. Add the filets and cook on both sides until they are golden color. Arrange the filets on a hot serving platter and keep warm.

In the same pan where you cooked the peppers, saute two bananas cut in slices for about two minutes over medium heat, moving the pan a little, adding few pieces of butter at the time.

Put a little of the bananas and pepper over each filet. Add a few drops of lemon juice to the rest of the butter. Taste for salt and pour all the rest on top of the filets. Sprinkle with parsley, tarragon and chervil chopped very fine.

Serve with boiled potatoes, sauteed in butter for about ten minutes, and mushrooms hot, sautee.

MUSHROOMS BORDELAISE

Heat one ounce of butter by a large frying pan over medium heat and saute one half pound of mushrooms already cut in slices for about four minutes, until they are brown. Cook only a few at a time so they don't steam. Remove then with a slotted spoon and keep warm.

Add in the same pan three chopped shallots and cook for two more minutes. Put the mushrooms back in the pan, season with salt and pepper and add the juice of one half lemon. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

Adventists study Bible

TWIN FALLS — Some people describe God as "vengeful." And they point to the decimation of whole tribes of people as God led the Israelites in ages past.

The Twin Falls Seventh-Day Adventist Church is looking into the real character of God as revealed elsewhere in the Bible. S. O. Francis, pastor of the local church, points out that "the character and nature of God has been demonstrated to the earth in the person of Jesus Christ. So this month and next we are studying the character revealed in the life of Christ, as related by his disciples in the gospels."

The Adventist leader states that God can become pretty violent when it comes to sin, for he hates sin and will one day totally obliterate it and all its ill effects on this earth.

"On the other hand," says Francis, "God loves people. He wants them to be free, to have freedom of choice. And that is why he has let this world continue so long, even though each year is marked with higher incidents of crime, further evidence of greed and dissipation of the family along with a shallow definition of the word 'love'."

Any who wish to join in the studies of the nature of God are welcome, says Francis. The studies are held at 9:30 each Saturday morning at the Adventist church at Grandview Drive, Twin Falls.

Baptist youths offer film

JEROME — The youth group of the Bible Baptist Church invites the public to the showing of the film entitled, "My Son, My Son," this Sunday at 8 p.m.

In "My Son, My Son," the noted author, Bernard Palmer, draws from his own experience to tell a gripping story of despair and victory in attempting to reach a rebellious, alcoholic son.

It is a family film which appeals to young people and adults alike.

The Bible Baptist Church is located at 136 East Second in Jerome.

Film on atoms scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Atomic energy is the subject of the film to be shown at Grace Baptist Church at 730 Eastland Dr. 7:30 this Sunday afternoon.

In "The Moody Institute of Science," Dr. Irwin Moon gives an explanation of atomic energy. By means of laboratory demonstrations and official government films, Dr. Moon traces the history of man's use of atomic energy from Einstein's historic concept to the first explosions over Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the later tests at Bikini and the Nevada desert.

Pastor Robert Seaman and his people at the Grace Baptist Church extend an invitation to anyone in the community to come share this unique film presentation.

At 7 p.m. Sunday Rock Creek Baptist Church will present the feature-color sound film and all interested are invited to attend.

The church is meeting at the Corillon, 240 Third Ave. N. A coffee hour will follow the showing of the film.

Officers elected for the 1975 fair board include V. C. Ressler, north Shoshone, chairman; Patrick Riley, Richfield, vice chairman; Joyce Bernard, Shoshone, secretary; treasurer: Ivan C. Tompkins, fair manager, and Mrs. Charlene Critchell, assistant manager.

Gains seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The middleman's margin for farm-produced goods will keep expanding through the first half of 1975, but at a slower rate than in 1974, Agriculture Department economists say.

Experts offered no specific estimates in a marketing and transportation situation summary released Wednesday. But a comparison of their generally worded forecast with other department data indicates they expect marketing margins to expand by less than 5 per cent during the first half of the year, less than half the growth rate of the first half of 1974.

Import embargoes on beef requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association said today the government should place embargoes on imports of beef if foreign nations did not agree to lift trade barriers responsible for a depressed domestic cattle industry.

"At this time, other nations' trade barriers make it virtually impossible to export U.S. beef in any amount," said Gordon Van Vleet, head of the Denver-based association.

"Meanwhile, the beef exporting nations, even with the voluntary restraints planned by the administration, are free to ship significant amounts of their surplus into the United States, putting more pressure on the depressed U.S. cattle markets," he said.

Van Vleet, in remarks prepared for delivery before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture, said the country should insist on a fairness doctrine in international trade of beef.

He said the Meat Import Act of 1964 incorporated the concept of reasonable market sharing and should be applied to foreign nations shipping cattle to the United States.

Now... use THIMET® 15-G to stop potato pests

The change in formulation to the more concentrated 15% granules makes THIMET even more advantageous to the grower. Less insecticide to apply, less labor expense, lower all-around handling costs.

THIMET applied at planting time —

- Controls wireworms in the soil with one treatment
- Also gives early season control of aphids, leafhoppers, leaf miners, flea beetle larvae, psyllids and Colorado potato beetle
- Helps prevent "psyllid yellows" and "purple top" carried by insects
- Eliminates drift problems — and hazard to beneficial insects
- Avoids residue problems at harvest when used as directed

Right now — is a good time to plan your program — and place your order for THIMET 15-G Soil and Systemic Insecticide. Before using THIMET, stop and read the label.

GNP skids, prices climb in late 1974

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prices increased at a record 14.4 per cent annual rate in the final three months of 1974 while the Gross National Product fell 9.1 per cent, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The inflation rate was even worse than the 13.7 per cent Commerce estimated at last month's preliminary report. The previous record inflation was 13 per cent in the first three months of 1951.

Jobless ranks keep expanding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 5.7 million persons were receiving unemployment insurance benefits in the week ending Feb. 1, an increase of 138,000 over the previous week, the Labor Department said today.

The government also reported that 217,000 persons filed claims for the first time during the week ending Feb. 8, a decline of 16,000 from the prior week.

The nationwide unemployment rate was 8.2 per cent in January, the highest level since 1941. Not all workers are covered by unemployment insurance.

Some states reported declines, including Michigan, where rehiring occurred in the automobile industry, and Georgia and South Carolina, where laid off workers were called back in the textile and apparel industries.

First class stamp cost may hit 13¢

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postal Service officials said today the price of a first class stamp may increase to 13 cents this year.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar told the House Post Office Committee that further revenues were needed to fund postal services and that a faster rate-setting process was "an absolute imperative."

Jesse T. Ellington Jr., senior assistant postmaster general, said that postal rate increases may have to be approved in two-year intervals between now and 1979.

"Costs will continue to grow," Ellington said, adding that "to cover these costs, the price of a first class stamp may increase to as much as 13 cents this year and be at 15 cents by the end of the period 1979." A first class stamp currently costs a dime.

Indecent TV fare bar asked by FCC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government moved today to bar obscene and indecent material from television, and announced a network promise to limit violent and sex-oriented scenes during prime time hours when children may be watching.

The Federal Communications Commission said it would ask Congress for legislation making it a crime to show "indecent material" on television.

At the same time, it said the three major television networks have agreed to limit prime time exposure of sexually-oriented material in the 1975 television season.

Current laws make it illegal for radio stations to broadcast indecent material, but the FCC said in a report to Congress that such laws are vague about television.

"For this reason, we will include in our legislative proposals for action by this Congress an amendment which would eliminate this uncertainty," the report said.

The report made clear the commission feels programs involving violence and sexual material which might not be obscene or indecent but might be inappropriate for children should be regulated by the television industry itself and not by law.

The FCC said ABC, CBS and NBC have tentatively set these guidelines for the 1975 season: —Prime time viewing hours between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. EST would be set aside mainly for "family viewing" six days a week. On Sunday, the hours would be 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

"Viewer advisories" would be broadcast visually and audibly from time to time in advance of any shows during prime time which might be considered questionable for children.

services declined in the fourth quarter of 1974 at a rate reminiscent of the period after World War II when the nation was converting from arms production to consumer goods. Commerce said the GNP was estimated at an annual rate of $803.8 billion in the fourth quarter compared with $823.1 billion in the third.

When inflation is included, the GNP reached an estimated $1.43 trillion at an annual rate in the fourth quarter, up from $1.42 trillion in the third quarter. The increase in "current dollar" terms was entirely due to inflation, Commerce said.

Believe it or not, that's what the men in the photo are doing. And, there's a clue in the photo that tells us so. Can you find it? We did, but it took an 8X slide viewer to find out that the Giants had one score in the top of the fifth.

Many of the old-timers in the Twin Falls area remember the magnetic score board that was installed in front of the Twin Falls News each year. Crowds numbering in the hundreds gathered to watch a play-by-play reproduction of the World Series baseball games.

This is just one of hundreds of old-time photos that are now being processed for the Times-News special edition, "Progress-75". You'll read all about this colorful area past, present and future when we publish "People . . . Architects of Progress" Sunday, March 23.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened slightly higher Friday on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which declined 89.99 points in Thursday's session, was ahead 0.32 at 745.70 shortly after the opening bell. Advances led declines, 130 to 72, among the more than 317 issues traded.

After the market closed, the Federal Reserve System said the money supply expanded by $2.1 billion in the week ended Feb. 12, the first time since mid-1974. Growth in the money supply and its downward pressure on interest rates could help relieve the recession, analysts said.

The market was expected to receive a boost from a Labor Department report the Consumer Price Index increased 0.6 per cent in January, the slowest rise since April 1974. The Commerce Department in its revised report, Thursday, said the nation's fourth quarter inflation rate climbed to an annual 14.4 per cent from 13.7 per cent previously reported.

CSI beats Montana

JVs for 57-50 win

MISSOULA — Kenny Davis hit two crucial buckets in the final 2:37 Thursday night to produce a 57-50 victory for the College of Southern Idaho over University of Montana's Jayvees.

CSI's 21st victory in 22 outings came harder than usual as Coach Boyd Grant put his charges into a deep delay while sitting on a six-point lead 11 minutes from the end of the game.

Twice in the final three minutes Montana clipped the deficit to two points but Davis then came up with the saving points. Free throws by Dwight Boyles and Gary Yoder over the last minute topped off the final margin.

The victory takes CSI into the showdown with North Idaho in Coeur d'Alene Saturday night where the host designation for the regional tournament would fall to CSI if successful. Should North Idaho win, a coin flip will decide whether the tournament is played at CSI or Ricks College in Boise.

CSI never trailed against Montana but the young Grizzlies, holding a big height advantage, used a lot of follow shots to stay close. Montana did pull into a tie on several occasions.

The pressure started with Alan Finley's left in the half when a pair of technical foul free throws by Davis hoped CSI moved from a one-point lead to 39-34.

But over the next three minutes Montana came back into a 49-40 tie on four straight points by Steve Demers.

Oscar Sprull hit two free throws and Dwight Boyles and Lon Trotter put in follow shots to give CSI a 46-40 advantage with 1:16 remaining.

Coach Grant then put the Eagles in a deep delay and they held the ball for three minutes before Yoder got a close-in shot.

Demers and Yoder offset field goals over the next two minutes but then Montana came up with a couple of turnovers and went inside to Mike Richardson to cut the margin to four. A steal and erriage by Cates reduced it to 50-48 with 3:19 to play but Davis immediately replied with a short jumper.

Richardson's 17th point brought Montana back to within two but 19 seconds later Davis hit a tripple off an in-bound play. From then on the Eagles walked for foul shots with Boyles and Yoder connecting.

Coach Grant said the simple matter of manpower forced him to go into the deadly game so early. He noted with Jeff Wiggam not available due to an ankle sprain, the Eagles had only seven men available after Bernard Boyd fouled out.

Several of the Eagles had three and four fouls and Coach Grant didn't want to get into the business of playing four or three against five.

Finley splits in arbitration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Charles O. Finley, a five-time loser in baseball salary arbitration cases in 1974, got a favorable ruling in the case of Ray Fosse Thursday, but was overruled in the decision involving Ted Kubiak.

The arbitrator heard presentations from both Finley and Fosse Wednesday and 24 hours later said the owner can pay the catcher the same $50,000 he received in 1974. Fosse sought a raise of $18,500.

Kubiak, a utility infielder, was awarded a $5,000 raise to $42,500.

Attorney Wayne Hooper said Thursday he was pleased with the Kubiak judgment, but sorry about Fosse, adding: "There's no question that Fosse deserved it, Fosse having been injured two and a half months, the arbitrator had a problem."

Hooper, who also represents Sal Bando, said he was "extremely upset" about Bando and blamed himself for the infielder's arbitration setback.

"I didn't present a convincing enough case," he said. "There's no question Sal had fallen down statistically in a number of departments but what ballplayer can improve statistically every year in all categories, RBIs, runs, hits, slugging average. He's going to fall in some and rise in others. In this case my arguments on those he rose in did not overcome those he fell in. I'm not quarreling with the arbitrator. He's an umpire and he calls them the way he sees them."

Originally, Finley had 13 arbitration filings against him this year, but within a week got seven players to sign non-arbitrated contracts before their hearings.

Canadian loop sets new rule changes

TORONTO (UPI) — The Canadian Football League Thursday adopted several new rules which Commissioner Jake Gaudaur said should make the game more exciting, "but only God knows what they will do."

Among the rule changes were allowing blocking on punt returns, an optional two-point conversion after touchdowns and another option for the team receiving the ball after a field goal.

"I hope the new rules will make our game even more exciting," Gaudaur said, "but God only knows what they will do."

The blocking rule, which was passed by the Grey Cup champion Montreal Alouettes, was the most significant change enacted by the CFL executive committee.

"Although it will restrict blocking on punt returns to the 'Gruen-Haman' rule, it should only allow the waist — it should be a distinct advantage to offense-minded teams with superior speed."

This rule will see such CFL speedsters as Johnny Rodgers of the Alouettes and Eric Allen of the Toronto Argonauts running back points and add a new dimension to the game," said Ottawa Rough Riders' General-Manager Frank Clark.

On the two-point conversion, teams will have the option to run or pass for the double tally from the five-yard line. Previously, there only was the placekick for the single point from the 10.

The option on a field goal will give the team scoring against the option to put the ball in play on its own 35-yard line or receive a kick from the other team's 35.

Other rule changes included: spotting the ball on the 35-yard line instead of the 25 after a rouge; an automatic first down for a referee's roughness against an offensive player; and a referee's whistle when a ball-carrier is on the ground and if, in the judgment of the official, he has an intention to regain his feet.

The executives rejected a bid to reduce the number of players on the field from 12 a side to 11.

"We definitely want to keep the 12th man in and give our game a special Canadian identity," Gaudaur said.

Bassett says WFL definitely operable

MEMPHIS (UPI) — John Bassett stops short of saying so but the Memphis Southern owner talks like there definitely will be a World Football League next year.

The Canadian millionaire Thursday listed six teams: Memphis, Hawaii, Southern California, Portland, Birmingham and Philadelphia — as already financially able to complete another WFL season. He also said Chicago probably will firm up in the near future.

"It's not set right now, although I can't imagine Chicago not being in the league," he said. "It's such a great spot for a franchise."

And Bassett said he expects additional franchises to take firm financial shape by March 15, the date set by league officials for a New York announcement of future WFL plans.

Bassett also responded to reported comments by League President Chris Hemmert that Miami Dolphins stars Jim Killek, Larry Coonka and Paul Warfield will not play in Memphis next year.

"Coonka, Killek and Warfield are not under contract to Chris Hemmert," Bassett said. "They are under contract to John Bassett and I can say flatly and emphatically that I do not know where they will play."

"I would have to say, at this point, it would be in Memphis, but there is also a real chance it will be elsewhere. There has been reports circulating earlier this year that Bassett was considering moving his team to New Haven, Conn., and the Yale Bowl. The three Dolphins signed personal services contracts with Bassett and he has said he is also considering building another WFL franchise around them."

A-State likes stories

By United Press International

Ned Walk, coach of seventh-ranked Arizona State, says he likes what he has been reading lately. He only wishes he could believe it.

Newspapers around the Western Athletic Conference have been quoting WAC coaches and making prognostications that ASI: 8-1 in the league and 19-2 overall, has wrapped up the league championship with five games to go.

"That sure sounds good," said Walk, whose team is two games ahead of 14th-rated Texas El Paso and two in Arizona, both 6-3 in the league. "I wish I felt as secure as you jokers seem to think I am."

What has Walk so edgy is this week's road trip. ASI is at New Mexico Friday and then, has to catch a 10:30 p.m. flight so it can play Texas El Paso in the Saturday afternoon television game.

Bonavena demands shot at Ali's title

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Argentine heavyweight boxer Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena said he will not fight American Ken Norton in Lancaster, Md., on March 24 as part of a boxed circuit telecast prior to Ali's title match with Chuck Wepner in Cleveland.

The World Boxing Association ranks the 32-year-old Bonavena sixth among heavyweights. Norton is seventh.

Bonavena told UPI Thursday night that a telegram received that day invited him to the U.S. to sign a fight contract with Norton.

The offer gave no guarantee of an opportunity to challenge Ali. If Bonavena wins the match, "They didn't guarantee my rights to televise the two fights in 'Argentina and Uruguay' either," he said. They only mentioned my fight and they had promised rights to televise both in each country," he said.

Bonavena said he has worked out a solution with the Argentine government for financial difficulties which led to a postponement of the U.S. visit two days ago.

The fighter agreed to make a detailed listing of all his prize money for the Argentine Central Bank, including winnings from an earlier fight with American Ron Lytle.

Trevino's 66 leads Los Angeles tourney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lee Trevino stole the show from Johnny Miller and Jack Nicklaus Thursday by firing a five-under-66 over the demanding Riviera Country Club course for a one-shot lead in the opening round of the $150,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open.

Nicklaus and Miller, meeting in a head-to-head confrontation for only the second time this year, carded 69 and 72, respectively.

"I couldn't be more surprised that I'm leading," said Trevino, who finished the day one shot in front of Tom Watson, Bob Unger, Ed Sneed and Tom Weiskopf. "I'm as surprised as if the stock market went up 20 points. I've been hitting the ball really badly lately."

There was a seven-way tie at 68, including defending champion Dave Stockton and former U.S. Amateur Champion Craig Stadler, a senior at University of Southern California. Also at three under on the par 71, 7,028-yard layout were 62-year-old Sam Snead, Buddy Allin, Bill Rogers, Dale Douglass and Mark Hayes.

Trevino, who missed the cut in the Hawaiian Open in his last start three weeks ago, had a 34-32 over the par 35-36 course, starting on the back side. He bogeyed his final hole of the day, the par four, 407-yard ninth, when he drove into a bunker and missed a six-foot putt for a par.

Trevino, who won $5,508 in the Phoenix and Tucson opens in January for his only 1975 earnings, sank birdie putts of 12 feet on the 11th and 12th holes. He made a 15-footer for a birdie on the par three, 175-yard 14th hole and sank an eight-footer for a birdie on the 16th.

Trevino went five-under by canning a 20-foot bunker putt on the first hole and went six under when he knocked in a two-foot putt on the par three, 162-yard 18th hole.

Trevino, 35, hit 17 greens on regulation over what he called "one of the most challenging golf courses in America."

Trevino, looking for his 18th tour victory and his first in California, had planned to skip the Los Angeles Open but changed his mind and entered last Friday.

"I usually play very well in Florida and I wanted to get back out here for some practice because it's been so cold at home," said the El Paso, Tex., veteran. "You might call that kind of a tune-up. For me to play well, I have to play in a lot of tournaments in a row. I'm going to play in a lot of tournaments this summer."

Nicklaus was knotted at 69 with former U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, long-hitting Jim Dent, Victor Regalado, Jimmy Powell, Bing Crosby Open Winner Gene

The Mebco "RAINIRCLE" is still the leader in center pivot sales & technology.

- Over 500 "Rainircle" machines in operation in Idaho.
- In 1963, Mebco designed and built the first undertruss, ball joint electric drive pivot machine in the U.S.
- Direct factory to farmer prices - eliminates dealer - makes "Rainircle" $3,000 to $4,000 less than other makes who deal thru a dealer.

NOTE: Almost all other companies make only a 10 tower machine to keep their price down (Mebco also makes a 10 tower "Rainircle" for soils it will work on). The tower weight of a 10 tower pivot is approximately 5600 pounds, the tower weight of a 14 tower "Rainircle" is 2800 pounds, almost half that of a ten tower machine. As a result rating is almost all on a properly designed "Rainircle" — MOST OTHER COMPANIES HAVE EXTREME RUTTING PROBLEMS — WE DO NOT!

- Longer gear and motor life expectancy because of lighter wheel load.
- Largest tires in the industry. 11.2x24 are standard with an optional of 14.9x24. All new traction tread - No Retread.
- Forward and reverse at the touch of a button for straighter alignment.
- G.E. pivot tower panel, finest in the industry, with nine trouble lights and pivot and power voltmeter built-in.
- 6 5/8" diameter, 10 gauge pipe used on all standard 90' or 105' spacing (14 and 12 tower systems).

Investment credit plus depreciation makes it easy to purchase your Mebco Rainircle system. Financing can be arranged for purchase or lease up to 10 years.

Vandals open grid year at Ark. State

MOSCOW, Idaho — Opening of the University of Idaho's domed stadium complex will highlight the 11-game 1975 football schedule announced today by Dr. Leon G. Green, director of athletics.

The Vandals' head coach Ed Troxel will open the season by visiting new Division I member Arkansas State of the Southland Conference in Jonesboro, Ark., Saturday night, Sept. 13.

The dome's inaugural performance is slated for Saturday evening, Sept. 27, at 8 p.m. (PDT) with the Idaho State University Bengals furnishing the opposition.

Other home encounters are slated with Boise State, Montana State (homecoming) and Northern Illinois. All the home encounters will take place at 8 p.m., with the exception of the Boise State confrontation which has been tabbed for a 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

Arizona State, Montana, Nevada-Las Vegas, Weber State and Palouse Country rival Washington State.

This will mark the first time that Idaho has faced Arkansas State, Northern Arizona and Nevada-Las Vegas in football. NAU's Lumberjacks are of course members of the Big Sky Conference along with Idaho, Boise State, Idaho State, Weber State, Montana and Montana State. Gonzaga is a non-football playing member.

The night games will mark a first for the Moscow-based university. Idaho Stadium has never been equipped with lights, relegating all games in the past to daytime conditions.

Work on the stadium complex began last week under the guidance of Emerick Construction Company, Portland, Ore. When the facility is finished, the roof will be 143 feet from the stadium surface.

Twenty train car loads of lumber will be used in the specially laminated, wood-based roof.

Pro czars failed to make tough case against betting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of a special federal gambling study commission said Thursday that spokesmen for the nation's leading sports organizations have failed to make a convincing case against legalized gambling.

Charles H. Morin, who heads the 15-member panel, said he has not made up his mind on whether betting on team sports should be authorized.

But he was less than persuaded by arguments presented during two days of hearings by four pro sports commissions and representatives of the two leading amateur sports organizations.

In response to a question, Morin said: "Are they offering convincing arguments? No, they're not. They're saying they can live with gambling if it's illegal but not if it's legal."

The Washington attorney

also commented: "What becomes shockingly clear is that no one has any knowledge of the amount of gambling that is going on in this country. No one who has come before us knows."

At the closing session of the commission, officials of the national collegiate athletic association and the amateur athlete union declared their opposition to legalized gambling.

Robert C. James, Atlantic Coast Conference Commission, said the NCAA "is adamantly opposed to any governmental action (federal or state) which in effect approves gambling on team sporting events, whether such action takes the form of legislation legalizing such gambling or merely enacts a law to ban vigorous enforcement of existing laws limiting sports gambling activities."

Ollan Cassell, executive director of the AAU and George E. Killian, head of the national junior college athletic association, agreed with the NCAA stand.

Cassell, accompanied by AAU President Joseph Scalzo, submitted a statement saying: "To legalize gambling on a human performance would, in our opinion, be a violation of the principles this country was founded on."

"It would also violate the principles of the amateur sport concept worldwide, including the concept of fair play and friendship established for the Olympic Games."

The AAU spokesman expressed fear that legalized gambling would lead to direct government control of American athletics and jeopardize U.S. participation in the Olympic Games.

Cassell said he feared government-sponsored betting would increase the possibility of player scandals.

"The consequences of the first breakdown are irreparable," he said. "Once the confidence of the public in a sport is destroyed, there is no second chance. If this should occur, you would not be forgiven."

"This is a bigger risk than you think it is."

Another opponent witness was national hockey league commissioner Clarence Campbell, who testified: "We are not in the hockey business to provide gamblers with a medium for conducting an activity which we consider to be potentially threatening to the integrity of our sport."

Similar views were given the commission Wednesday by baseball's Bowie Kuhn, pro football's Pete Rozelle and pro basketball's Walter Kennedy.

However, two witnesses Thursday urged legalization of sports betting.

Lawyer denies plotting power play against Baltimore club

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jerry Kapstein, attorney for nine unsigned Baltimore players, said Thursday there was absolutely no truth to the accusation that he was working a "power play" against the Orioles, by instructing his clients to hold out en masse.

Kapstein thus far has failed to negotiate successfully with Orioles' general manager, Frank Cashen, on the contracts of Bobby Grich, Doyle Alexander, Don Baylor, Mike Torrez, Andy Elchebarrren, Bob Reynolds, Don Hood, Wayne Garland and Ross Grimsley, and a dispute carried by the Baltimore News-American intimated the attorney is working a power play against the club.

asking for six-figure contracts," said Kapstein.

The club recently filed for arbitration against all nine players, but none of the players agreed to it. Arbitration is not binding when initiated by the club.

"It was a mutual decision on an individual basis not to go to arbitration," said Kapstein. "I had only two of my clients actually go through arbitration — Ken Holtzman and Rolfe Fingers. Cuellar filed but we settled before his case came up."

Kapstein said he would continue to negotiate with Cashen beginning next week at spring training in Miami. He said that Grich, Torrez, Elchebarrren and Hood had definitely decided not to go to spring training until they had signed contracts.

Kapstein, who represents about 30 players, added that he had several other big name clients still unsigned. Among them are Darrel Evans and Dusty Baker of Atlanta, Larry Bowa and Dave Cash of Philadelphia, Richie Zisk of Pittsburgh, Rick Buzek of Boston and Bert Campaneris of Oakland. Campaneris was one of the few A's players who decided not to seek arbitration.

"The vast majority of my clients have signed, however," said Kapstein. "They include Steve Garvey, Carlton Fisk, Pete Rose, Don Gullett, Clay Carroll, Phil Niekro, Buzz Capra and Ken Brett."

NEW YORK (UPI) — After their school won the Division 2 national football championship, the Central Michigan basketball team was faced with a tough act to follow.

But the Chippewas have risen to the challenge by winning 16 of their 20 outtings, including the last 10 in a row, to take over-first place in the Mid-American Conference.

John Ramsey of Seton Hall was the leader in free throw percentage (.827) and John Irving of Hofstra led in rebounding (15.3).

One of the big reasons for this success is 64 senior Dan Roundfield, who leads the nation's major collections in field goal percentage with a mark of .675, according to official statistics released Thursday by National Collegiate Sports Services.

Roundfield moved to the top last week by hitting on 20 of 29 field goal attempts in two games, putting him ahead of Duke's Bob Flesher at .638.

Richmond senior Bob McCurdy is another new leader this week after scoring 164 points in four outtings last week. This gave him a season average of 32 points per game.

Fish and Game personnel from southern Idaho recently trapped 14 deer in the Snowville, Utah area and transported them to their ancestral wintering range of Black Pine Mountain in Idaho.

This was one of the largest trapping and transplanning operations in recent years. These deer had started their annual migration from Idaho but were blocked by Interstate 80 North and terminated their migration in poor winter range just north of Snowville, Utah.

These deer have been blocked their route for several years, it is hoped some of the transplanted deer may cross the highway back to the Sublett and Rockland areas thus relieving the old migration routes for future generations.

Two wing fences of several miles distance should be completed by next summer to help intercept the deer moving into the Snowville area. This is a cooperative venture with the Department of Fish and Game, Idaho State Highway Department and U.S. Bureau of Land Management.

Biologists, students, and several veterinarians throughout Idaho and California helped in the trapping operation. The deer were lured under a large drop net with the specially prepared deer pellets that Idaho biologists have been providing as an emergency food source in the Snowville area for over three years. While the deer trapper sat on a box in the open, only 50 yards from the trap, the deer came drifting in out of the junipers once the feed was spread. They stood on the edge of a box, then flicking their lips and then lightly jumping the fence walked under the net. It was quite a sight — over 40 deer were caught with the first drop of feed.

A mad melee of people and deer ensued, while the deer were ear tagged, blood samples taken, a shot of antibiotic was given to lessen the chance of infection, and the deer were combated the loss of energy involved in the trapping. They were finally placed in a special truck for their ride to Black Pine Mountain.

There were veterinarians from the University of Idaho, Utah State University, and California at Davis, since it made an ideal opportunity to study some of the diseases in wildlife. Ten radio transmitters were also installed on does and their movements will be followed each and every month throughout the coming year.

At one point a large, four-point buck was caught and Carl Nellis, Research Biologist from Boise, attempted to subdue him in the net. First, he tried to subdue him by the back of the neck. It finally ended up with both of them being so tangled in the net that it was difficult to determine who the trapper was. They sawed the antlers off the buck so he couldn't hurt himself and he took four large men to untangle and carry the deer to the truck. Wrenched shoulders, bruised knuckles, and barked shins were "the order of the day" for the battered crew.

Kapstein, Finley get along despite arbitration battles

NEW YORK (UPI) — They were walking out of the office headed for lunch together, and the older man had his arm around the younger one's shoulder.

Twenty minutes before, inside the office, these same two had been arch adversaries, sledge hammering one another bluntly, sometimes even brutally, with harsh angry words, lashing out verbally and really going for each other's jugular, but now nobody would have any way of imagining that seeing them getting along so congenially and chatting so compatibly.

Charlie Finley and Jerry Kapstein had just come from the American Arbitration Office, an arena in which they have opposed each other five times now in the last two years. They have come to know a great deal more about one another, Finley, the Oakland owner, and Kapstein, the utterly tireless, conscientious young sports attorney who represents eight of Finley's players and more than a dozen other major leaguers.

In the five times they've hooked up, Kapstein is hitting .800 against Finley. He has beaten Finley four out of five in arbitration, including three out-of-three last year, and that's a whole lot better than the Reds, Mets or Dodgers ever were able to do.

On the particular day in question, last Friday in San Francisco, the arbitrator heard the case of Rolfe Finley's. Finley had offered him $75,000 this year. Finley was asking $90,000.

The arbitrator listened to both Finley and Kapstein. He listened for nearly three hours as Finley and Kapstein offered diametrically opposing arguments. Ultimately, after hearing all the arguments, he ruled in favor of Finley, making the moustached Oakland reliever the only major leaguer to win at arbitration two years in a row.

Many people are critical of Charlie Finley. They call him selfish, hard-headed and a lot of other things. Not Jerry Kapstein, though. This is what he has to say about Charlie Finley:

"I disagree with most of his principles, but one thing I admire him for — he's a fighter. And what a fighter. He's a tiger! He'll fight you every way he knows how, every inch of the way, but he's not two-faced; he comes right out and tells you what he thinks. He has tried to chop me down in these arbitration hearings for the last two years, yet never once wasn't he a gentleman. I can't help but admire the man. I've found him tough, very tough, but honest in his dealings."

Before the arbitration hearing involving Finley last week, Finley won his case with southpaw Ken Holtzman, also a Kapstein client. Holtzman, a 19-game winner was asking $110,000. Finley was offering the same thing as last year, $85,000, and when the arbitrator ruled Holtzman would have to settle for that, naturally, Charlie was feeling pretty good.

"Look, Kapstein," he needed, "you can't afford to go against me anymore in arbitration. I beat you, Kapstein, the best and brightest sportsperson in the country, and that news is going out coast to coast. You're not a loser. Why don't you settle Fingers right here and now."

Kapstein refused. He said that he and his brother, Dan, who assists him, would redouble their efforts, work all the harder because Finley had beaten them with Holtzman, all of which made Finley laugh and say "I'm gonna shut you out the same way you shut me out last year."

Finley and three members of his front office, Administrative Assistant John Claiborne, department head Norm Koscelk and Executive Secretary Carolyn Coffin, tolled most of the night preparing the Fingers' exhibits for arbitration.

In the arbitrator's office the next day, Finley handed Kapstein a note he had written and winked at him.

"Jerry, I'm loaded for bear," the note said.

Finley and his staff made an excellent presentation. In the arbitrator's opinion, however, Kapstein's was even better, and that was the way he ruled the following day.

Leaving the arbitration office on Friday, Rolfe Fingers' wife, Jo, noticed Finley walking with his arm around Kapstein.

Detroit for years was a fairly easy place to get a job, what with all the carmakers there. And finding work in Appalachia for years was printrac impossible for many, I'm told. Now the unemployment lines in Detroit stretch long. And last year's Arab oil embargo kicked the price of coal so high that any high school graduate willing to go into the mines can start at $6 an hour. You just can't predict the job market in any given region, can you?

That most of the upcoming psychologists will be chronic handwriters.

The publishers of Braille books for blind children are including in some of their volumes slips of special paper impregnated with various scents. These take the place of illustrations. The reader can scratch that paper to release a fragrance keyed to the story. Odor of pine arises from a forest scene. Wood smoke accompanies a campfire description. When mention is made of the purchase of a new car, it jumps banana oil, Excelcat.

THAT SOME humpback whales sing is common knowledge. Less widely known is the fact that they sing in accents which indicate where they're from. There's a Bahamas accent, a Puerto Rico accent, a Virgin Island accent. Or such be the contention of a University of Rhode Island oceanographer. Claim is those whales sing to one another from as far as 20 miles apart.

MVAG ponders grant proposal

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Magic Valley Association of Government Officials has been asked to consider applying for a grant from the Human Resources Development Council.

John McCollum, Boise, manager of operations for the HRDC, met with the MVAG members Wednesday night and although there was not a quorum present, McCollum presented a proposal for Title I, II and VI federal monies for comprehensive education development in the Magic Valley.

McCollum said under such a grant, HRDC would provide assistance in the development of a plan for the use of funds made available through Title I of the comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973 and assistance with plans to meet the Manpower and other Human Resource needs in the Magic Valley area.

person would be hired for three months to work in a position designated at the local level. We have some critical employment problems in the state and in this region. This program is being implemented in an effort to help the unemployed at this time and will be carried for only three months, during which time we hope the economy of the nation will improve. If not, we anticipate the program will be extended," McCollum said.

McCollum said that if MVAG enters into a preliminary grant with HRDC, it would provide $2,000 for a manpower planner or human resource planner to be hired. McCollum said the planner would work for the first six months setting up a basic plan for the Magic Valley area and then determine what the needs are in regards to the manpower program.

He said that through the manpower advisory group, the councils of government will review continuously the program performance against the area manpower plan, utilizing management information provided by the HRDC which will coordinate the planning efforts, provide training, technical assistance and other information to area planners.

He said the Title I program replaces all of the old programs that were used to try to get people back to work. He said that unlike the old programs, the decision on what type of training program would be developed in the Magic Valley area will be left up to the local bodies of government.

McCollum said a new Title VI program was adopted in December. He said Title VI is an emergency employment program, also controlled by the county and city governments at their option.

"Under this program, a

The MVAG has taken McCollum's suggestions under advisement and will have a special meeting to consider the proposal on an application may be made before March 5 if it is decided to pursue the program.

Derriere or arm?

RICHMOND, Va. — (UPI) — The derriere, a favorite target for physicians since the invention of the hypodermic needle, may not be the best spot for a shot after all.

Researchers at the Medical College of Virginia say they have found that medicine injected into the arm muscle enters the blood stream faster than if it had been shot into the buttocks muscles or the thigh.
