CIA backed secret effort to salvage Russian sub

INTELLIGENCE sources in Washington identified the sunken Russian submarine which was found and partially recovered by a CIA sponsored ocean research ship as one similar to this 1972 photo of a G Class diesel powered vessel. Modifications made exact identification difficult. (UPI)

Salvage may be probed

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency financed the construction of a multimillion-dollar deep-sea salvage vessel and used it in an unsuccessful effort last summer to recover hydrogen-warhead missiles and codes from a sunken Soviet nuclear submarine in the Pacific ocean, according to high government officials.

The salvage vessel, constructed under disguise for the CIA by Howard B. Hughes, the eccentric billionaire industrialist, did recover about one-third of the submarine, the officials said, but the portion raised from the ocean bottom did not include either the ship's missiles or its code room.

Instead, the government officials said, the CIA-led expedition recovered the forward section of the ship containing the bodies of more than 70 Soviet seamen and officers who went down with the vessel when it mysteriously exploded in 1968 and sank in more than three miles of water. The Soviet submarines were buried at sea in military ceremonies that were filmed and recorded by CIA technicians.

value of the information that could be gleaned from what they depict as outmoded code books and outmoded missiles did not justify either the high cost of the operation or its potential for jeopardizing U.S. Soviet detente.

The program's defenders, who include William E. Colby, director of Central Intelligence, have said that the successful recovery of the whole submarine would have been the biggest single intelligence coup in history.

They argue that even a 1968 code book would give the government's signal experts a chance to evaluate all of the Soviet submarine communications that were in existence then and perhaps for years before the ship sank.

Recovery of the missiles also would help provide standards for judging the existing analysis of such weapons as compiled from the precise scrutiny of aerial photographs taken by satellites, government experts have maintained.

In recent weeks, Colby has asked Secretary of State Kissinger for permission to stage another attempt next summer to salvage the rest of the submarine, which reportedly is lying in nearly 17,000 feet of water about 75 miles northwest of Cambodia.

It was the 40 Committee that agreed to secretly authorize funds to the Hughes organization to subsidize construction of what was to be publicly described as the world's largest deep-sea mining ship, the Glomar Explorer.

The vessel took its name from the first three letters in the first two words of the title of the company that operated it for Hughes — Global Marine Inc.

A New York Times reporter initially learned some details of the salvage operation in late 1973, when the Glomar Explorer was conducting tests in the Atlantic Ocean. He stopped his research on the matter after a request from Colby in February.

Following the publication of some information about the operation by the Los Angeles Times last month, the New York Times investigated the matter further.

Thursday night the story of the Soviet submarine and the salvage effort was circulating widely in journalistic and government circles in Washington. Publication by one or more correspondents appeared imminent, despite the efforts of the CIA to convince the news media that its secret should be kept for the time being.

High government officials who were selected to provide the cover needed to shield the true purpose of the vessel because of his widely publicized penchant for secrecy, his known interest in deep-sea mining and the fact that his wholly-owned holding company — the Summa Corporation — had experience in large-scale construction projects.

Henry meets with Saudi King Faisal

RIYADH (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Saudi Arabia today to confer with King Faisal, leaving the Israeli cabinet huddled over crucial next moves in ongoing negotiations with Egypt for a new withdrawal in the Sinai desert.

Kissinger was seeking to keep Faisal's support for his shuttle mission.

New tunnel found in Korea truce zone

CENTRAL TRUCE FRONT, Korea (UPI) — The United Nations Command said today it has discovered another secret tunnel allegedly built by North Korea under the southern side of the 2.5 mile wide Demilitarized Zone forming the border between the two Koreas.

The secret tunnel, the second discovered along the 151-mile truce border, was found 65 miles northeast of Seoul, only 30 miles from the first, which was discovered Nov. 15, one week before President Ford's visit to Seoul.

Sworn in WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Dunlop was sworn in Tuesday as the new U.S. secretary of labor at White House ceremonies.

Dunlop, who is a former director of the Coast of Living Council, succeeds Peter Brennan as secretary of labor in President Ford's cabinet.

Court kills NH non-resident income tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today struck down New Hampshire's tax on income earned in the state by nonresidents on grounds the state levies no personal income tax on its own citizens.

In a 7-1 opinion, Justice Thurgood Marshall said the commuter tax violates the Constitution because it places an extra burden on nonresidents which is not imposed on citizens of the state.

Jerome meet tonight

JEROME — The new secretary of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Twilight Nye, will be introduced at the annual meeting of the chamber tonight at Wood Cafe.

A no-host social hour will begin at 7 p.m. followed by the dinner at 8 p.m.

Melvin Magnell, president of the chamber, will serve as master of ceremonies and will review the year's activities.

Plans for Jerome's bicentennial celebration will be explained by director Bill Hart.

Ford studies Inna summit proposal

WASHINGTON (N. Y. Times) — Administration officials said Tuesday President Ford was studying a proposal by Leonid I. Brezhnev for a summit meeting in Helsinki at the end of June to conclude the European security conference.

Other officials said the United States would prefer that the meeting take place in July and would consult western European allies to learn whether this was convenient.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield today said he has known for quite awhile about the Central Intelligence Agency's secret attempt to salvage a sunken Soviet nuclear missile submarine in the Pacific Ocean.

Mansfield also told reporters that the contents of the submarine might have been helpful to U.S. intelligence analysts.

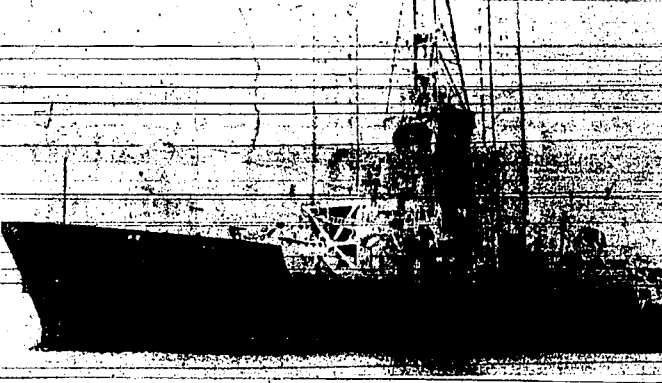

He predicted that the special Senate Intelligence Investigating Committee, headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "will go into that thing too."

Church said the CIA operation concerning the Soviet sub would be included in the general investigation by his committee.

"The disclosure suggests that the intelligence community may need a cost-benefit ratio," Church said. "If we are prepared to pay Howard Hughes $150 million for an obsolete Russian submarine, its little wonder we are broke."

TWIN FALLS — In surprise testimony Tuesday afternoon at the murder trial of Belbert Crawford, a Turley policeman said an eyewitness told him Terry Billingsley, not Crawford, shot and killed two Barley men last November.

Terry Douglas, the first officer at the scene of the shotgun slaying of Paul Peterson, 21, and Greg Selinthal, 22, told the court Greg wrote and handed Salsalal "said that Terry Billingsley had done it."

The testimony was in direct contradiction to statements by Billingsley himself that he had watched Crawford shoot the two men.

Douglas' statement was a boost for the defendant whose defense is based on the claim that the state has the wrong man on trial.

Douglas also told the court he asked Mrs. Salsalal if the shooting were heroin related and she replied it was.

Shot victim condition 'critical'

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man was in critical condition this morning with a bullet wound in the abdomen as a result of what officers said was apparently a family fight.

Burl Lawrence, 49, was taken to Magge Valley Memorial Hospital about 12:55 a.m. today by ambulance after officers were summoned to the Lawrence home to quell a family fight.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the incident occurred at the Lawrence home one mile south of the Motor-Vu corner. When officers arrived they found Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence sufficing.

Sheriff Corder said, and Lawrence had been shot in the abdomen.

His wife, Doris, told officers they were struggling over the gun when it discharged, striking her husband. He said investigation is continuing. No charges have been filed. A 38 caliber pistol was taken from the home by officers.

Governor lifts veto use threat

From combined services

BOISE — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus abandoned a threatened string of vetoes today, apparently opening the way for quick adjournment of the Idaho Legislature.

But in protest against the legislature's cur of state employ salary increases, Andrus vetoed one minor appropriation bill this morning.

With no veto of major appropriations bills, the last big hurdle appears to have passed.

"It will be very selective if there are any further vetoes," William Murphy, administrative assistant to Andrus, said this morning. Murphy said Andrus believes that the legislature is making a sincere effort to give state employees a better salary break.

Andrus frequently has hinted at the possibility of vetoing appropriations bills due to low revenue projections by the legislature and cuts in his proposed salary increases for state employees.

Speaker of the House Allen Larsen, R-Blackfoot, and Senate President Protem James Ellsworth, R-Leafield, said Tuesday that if Andrus were to veto the appropriations measures, they would call for adjournment, forcing the governor to sign a special session.

Viets fleeing threat

SAIGON (UPI) — Government authorities urged the 300,000 residents of Hue to flee the former imperial capital and it appeared today the city 400 miles northeast of Saigon would fall soon to two North Vietnamese divisions poised for imminent attack.

Field reports said residents of the city streamed southward today along the French-built Highway toward Da Nang, 50 miles to the south. The new exodus came as tens of thousands of refugees were pouring out of the abandoned Central Highlands toward government-held coastal areas.

President Nguyen Van Thieu already had stripped Da Nang of a division of paratroopers and ordered them flown to Saigon to bolster the defenses of the capital. Government sources said he had done so also in case dissident generals opposed to abandonment of the Central Highlands took matters into their own hands.

Field reports said Hue radio Tuesday broadcast a first appeal to the people to flee, and that thousands of civilians began moving down Highway 1 — the bloodstained road the French called the Street Without Joy. The current government withdrawals were the worst since the French were defeated in 1954. Officials in Saigon denied that Hue was being abandoned, but reports from the Hue indicated the picturesque city was about to be given up. The reports would indicate a fourth province, Quang Tri, just to the north of the end on the border of North Vietnam, was in danger.

Cambodians attack Red Mekong posts

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government paratroopers and T28 bomber planes today attacked Communist-led insurgents operating across the Mekong River from Phnom Penh in a new threat to the capital. In Phnom Penh, there was new opposition to President Lon Nol from students and young politicians and generals.

Military sources reported heavy fighting with hand-to-hand combat at two locations near Battambang in the northwestern sector of Cambodia, and rebel shells destroyed part of the garrison's ammunition stocks at the besieged Mekong river enclave of Neak Luong.

The enclave is the last government outpost on the Mekong below Phnom Penh.

Sources close to the government leadership disclosed that a group including young political leaders and generals had urged Lon Nol to step down, but the aging field marshal refused after first indicating he might consider a face-saving arrangement to retire.

Downed plane found

DUBOIS (UPI) — A Great Falls, Mont., couple was found huddled around a small fire near the twisted wreckage of their light plane early today in the rugged foothills northeast of here.

Identified only as Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn, they were found safe but tired next to their Cessna 337 shortly after midnight. Officials said they were not injured.

The federal aviation administration said the plane, on a flight from Cedar City, Utah, to Idaho Falls, apparently was forced down about 8 p.m. Tuesday by ice and engine failure.

The wreckage of the plane was first located by a plane from Mountain Home Air Force Base, which was following an emergency beacon signal.

Clark County officers went into the area on snowmobiles to bring the couple out.

Council approves tennis courts

TWIN FALLS — Construction of two or three new concrete tennis courts at Harrison Park has been approved by the Twin Falls City Council.

Cost estimates for lighted asphalt-and-concrete courts were presented Monday night but on the advice of tennis playing councilman Leon Smith, council members approved lighting for the site of three rather than two courts. The city has budgeted about $25,000 for additional tennis courts and will call for bids with alternates including two or three courts and without lighting to come within the available money.

Council members agreed concrete, though more expensive initially, is more desirable because of low maintenance costs compared to asphalt. Council members also favored the addition of green paint to the concrete to help players see the light colored tennis balls.

Fees for use of the municipal golf course and swimming pools were also approved by the council.

Dr. Stephen Lincoln, golf committee member and councilman, said it has been decided by the committee that proposed last year's increase retained this year and still cover maintenance and operation costs. He said the regular annual increase of use of the golf course should cover rising costs.

Swimming fees will also be the same as last year. Charge for children under 12 years is

'Error' hinders approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today the delayed discovery of a $21.5 million overcharge to Cambodia for ammunition probably would further hurt the chances of congressional approval for emergency military aid.

"It raises too many questions and there are no answers forthcoming," Mansfield said referring to the recent disclosure of the overcharge. "It doesn't stand up in the minds of many members."

Farm bills discussed

EDEN — Pending agriculture bills before the state legislature were discussed at the Sugar Land Grange No. 42 regular meeting this week.

Bill Hill of the legislative committee reported that if current legislation is passed farmers will soon have to be certified in order to apply weed spray on their own farms. This measure will satisfy certain ecology groups, he said.

In an agricultural report, Norm Perkins stated that farmers would have to pay twice as much for haling grain, and as they had in the past.

Grange Booster Night will be held at 7 p.m. Friday at the Sugar Land Grange Hall.

Mrs. Vernon Kohlopp of the CWA committee reported that the recent farm sale food concessions were successful. She also announced the young married and youth committee meeting for district No. 1 will be held Saturday in Boise. This area meeting will be held April 5 at a place to be announced later.

Meet set Thursday

RUPERT — The continuing education program of the Southern Idaho Center for Health Resources will be held Thursday at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Nurses and physicians from throughout Magic Valley are invited to attend. Subject for the Thursday night meeting will be respiratory care.

Speaking on "Respiratory Management of the 'Whole Patient'" will be Dr. Lynn Anderson — Carel — Winmill, R.N., will discuss nursing care as it applies to the inhalation therapy patient and respiratory care for the intensive care patient.

Dr. Anderson will also discuss medical management of the respiratory patient.

Homeowners contest set

TWIN FALLS — A $100 cash prize will go to the homeowner whose house ranks first in exterior improvements and landscaping.

Blaine C. Anderson of the Twin Falls Board of Realtors said that the board's Multiple Listing Service invites all Twin Falls city homeowners to send in entry blanks for the contest, which will run from April 1 to July 1.

Property will be inspected before and after the contest period, Anderson said. Besides the $100 first place prize, second place will bring $25.

Senate ag panel agrees to act on farm crop bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Agriculture Committee agreed Tuesday to act on a bill increasing support on major farm crops.

Committee members decided at a meeting to write their version of the bill at a session scheduled Wednesday. But Chairman Norman F. D'Amico, D-Ga., warned that final congressional enactment of the legislation is unlikely before the Senate returns from its Easter recess on April 7.

Agriculture Committee aides said the Senate panel agreed that its bill would follow the pattern set in a measure currently awaiting action on the House floor. That one-year bill would raise 1975 support prices for feed grains, wheat, soybeans, cotton and milk.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Buttz has promised to recommend a veto of the House bill if it passes in its present form. But there was no commitment at the Senate Committee meeting. Major voting support receives above those in the pending measure. Some changes in support are $1.00, several other may be made to set grain support above the House target level of $3.10 a bushel for wheat, and $2.25 for corn.

House leaders, meanwhile, hope to begin floor debate on their version of the bill Wednesday.

Unions list alliance goals

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Forward-Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, and Earlneck Lamb, President Tony Dechant, have announced a national alliance for farm, employment and resource policy.

Announcement came Tuesday during the 2nd annual convention of the National Farmers Union.

Woodcock and Dechant said goals of the alliance are to establish a comprehensive farm and food policy, put America back to work and allocate scarce resources and credit to productive uses. The two union presidents urged growing demand for natural gas and other scarce resources be placed under an allocated system.

Dechant said food surpluses are not true surpluses but a reflection of the poor buying power of the increasing ranks of ranks of unemployed.

"We are the only industrial country in the world without national health care programs," Woodcock said. Woodcock also urged

Clean sweep best hope for CIA survival

(C) N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — The main hope for the survival of an effective Central Intelligence Agency in the United States now lies in a clean sweep of its present leadership and the creation of a powerful new joint committee of the Congress to supervise all intelligence activities...

Tough choice for Gem PUC

Idaho Power Co. has thrown a curve to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission and the state's people. The company has set up a situation in which the state must choose between two difficult alternatives:

— the state law can be enforced, but at the cost of perhaps $500 million to Idaho Power and its consumers. In the process the state's air will be kept cleaner.

— or Idaho Power can be allowed to ignore state law. This will allow the utility to escape strict new Federal air pollution rules, in the process saving the firm that half-billion dollars but allowing the state's air quality to deteriorate.

Here is what has happened. Idaho Power has ignored or broken an Idaho law.

The Idaho law prohibits a utility from constructing a power plant without first obtaining permission from the Idaho Public Utilities Commission. Last summer, Idaho Power placed orders for construction of boilers and generators for its proposed Pioneer Plant near Boise. The construction orders were placed before the utility had received the necessary approval from the IPUC.

By ignoring the state law, Idaho Power is in a position to take advantage of a loophole in federal pollution regulations. The federal regulations provide that any plant for which construction orders have been placed is considered actually under construction.

And any plant that was "under construction" before last Jan. 6, when the new pollution regulations took effect, was exempted from the new standards.

The plant which Idaho hopes to build without "scrubbers" to remove sulfur dioxide would pollute at about twice the permissible limits for the Boise area.

If required to meet the federal air quality standards, Idaho Power would have had to pay the half-billion dollars for scrubber installation and operation through the plant's life, or turn to alternate energy sources.

So by ignoring the Idaho law, Idaho Power indirectly saved itself the unpleasant cost of installing expensive scrubbers on its coal-fired plant or turning to nuclear or other energy sources.

The situation now lies in the hands of the state's public utilities commission.

Its ultimate decision should lie in what is the greatest good for the citizens of Idaho. The question is what source of power can best balance the needs of clean air and yet maintain reasonable power rates for users.

The IPUC should thoroughly research nuclear feasibility in Idaho, as nuclear power may prove to be lower in overall costs and minimal in environmental damage.

However, should nuclear prove to be out of the question, the IPUC is left with the decision of using scrubbers, with high costs and uncertain results, or to take advantage of a loophole that could possibly save users $500 million.

The decision is one that obviously requires great research, and in the end, a tough determination.

Our hope is that nuclear power proves to be the best choice for Idaho.

Some final thoughts on Cambodia

It is if not likely, at least possible, that before these words are read, the government of Lon Nol will have fallen. The name any Anthony Lewis who looks forward to the fall of Lon Nol's government...

Herewith a few thoughts to the departing. It is correct that we had no formal treaty observations to help Cambodia. The reason is that after the SEATO Treaty was signed, Sihanouk declared his neutrality, and refused to participate in the treaty.

However, Sihanouk's neutrality was something like our neutrality in the Middle East. A little more brazen, because although we have supplied the Israelis with arms, and sold them arms, Cambodia under Sihanouk granted to the North Vietnamese free use of Cambodian territory for prosecuting the war in South Vietnam.

Our aid to the government of Lon Nol after that time related not to the provisions of the SEATO Treaty, but to the exigencies of the Indonesian situation. It can be exactly compared to our aid to Israel.

The decision is one that obviously requires great research, and in the end, a tough determination. Our hope is that nuclear power proves to be the best choice for Idaho.

Things were going pretty well until in the spring of 1973, Congress advised President Nixon and Henry Kissinger that they must stop bombing North Vietnamese concentrations in Cambodia. All kinds of reasons were adduced for stopping that bombing, foremost among them that it seriously jeopardized our relations with China.

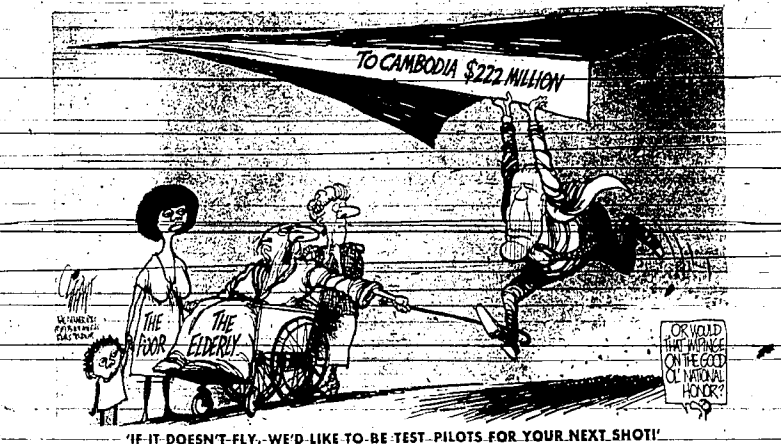

It is interesting, as an aside, that Chu En-lai never complained of these bombings, even as called so, but he seriously complained of the so-called secret bombings three years earlier, for the reason that he did not want his country to become a satellite of Red China or of North Vietnam.

When the bombings stopped, the Khmer Rouge, which is not to be confused with the non-communist government of North Vietnam, and Cambodian insurgents, stepped off the guerrilla war into the jungles which is today pounding at the gates of Phnom Penh. Our job commentators take the position that the government of Cambodia is collapsing, because of internal rivalries.

Indeed, one hears talk only of "the corrupt Lon Nol regime." I haven't the remotest idea whether Lon Nol's regime is corrupt, though I would guess that the odds are overwhelming that it is. The trouble with entirely incorruptible politicians is that they either become ascetic despots like Salazar, or glorious ex-leaders, like Carter.

Lewis is fond of calling Cambodia a country that was once a dem-paradise, but is now a war-torn jungle. That is true, though the perspectives are, I think, missing. I asked him a few days ago whether he would have welcomed, as he has done against Lon Nol, General Kutusov for calling on his fellow Russians to opt for a scorched-earth policy rather than submit to Napoleon.

Lewis replied that Napoleon was different from the Cambodian insurgents, which is true. He was a much better leader to be annoyed by.

Radical diagnosis: chilling effect

New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The entire right half of his nose was cold. Right toes, right leg, right torso, right arm, right hand, right fingers, right ear, right scalp, all tingled. "I will pretend nothing unusual has happened and it will go away," I said, but it didn't. Three days later, my entire right half was covered with goose pimples, which I tried to conceal by presenting only my left profile to family and public. I began walking sideways, left half forward. It was awkward at cocktail parties where people kept trying to manoeuvre around to my goose-pimple side. My left side remained as warm as ever, but the cold on the right side intensified. When I tried to put my right hand on my forehead to wipe away my goggles instead of my forehead, I was shocked.

have to ask," the doctor said. "You can't afford one." I told the doctor how much money was in the bank. He became irritable. "You've got some nerve," he said, "coming in here with a case of dexter frigus when you can't even afford a mild heart attack." I apologized. "You wouldn't go to Carter's with a pocketful of subway tokens and expect them to sell you a diamond necklace," said the doctor. "But you walk in here without enough money to afford an infected purple and your expect to walk out with a semi-ectomy."

hospital and medical costs with me, analyzed my financial situation and suggested that in five years, if I was frugal and took no vacations, I would be able to afford cataracts, a penicillin ulcer or a compensated fracture of the shin bone. The family, as you may imagine, was not pleased when I told them what we were saving for. Why should I be entitled to wallow in the excellence of American medical care when nobody else had even a trip to Venice, they asked. Families can be terribly selfish when the luxuries are being pared off.

"I was a doctor. He was delighted. "You must be a very rich man," he said. "Eh, no," I told him. "You are in my way over your head," he said. His delight faded in a frown. "With the cost of medical care today, serious diseases are the most expensive luxuries in America. If you can't afford a serious illness you shouldn't take one. "Was my illness serious, then?" "It will give to you straight," the doctor said. "You have taken on a severe case of dexter frigus, a very serious condition that requires a cold right half and a semi-ectomy."

It rattled me. I said, "Hah!" I didn't need his superfluity semi-ectomy. I would go to England where they had civilized medicine and got one free. "Don't be foolish," he cautioned. "Stay in America where you can get the best medical care in the world." "What good was the best in only the richest could afford to take."

I hope soon to be free of. An extremely rich woman who has had, done and seen absolutely everything wrote recently that she hadn't have a very expensive case of dexter frigus. She wants to pay it so she will have something to talk about in Sicily after her semi-ectomy. If her price is right, I may be able to afford both a family trip to Venice and a new strain of viral pneumonia.

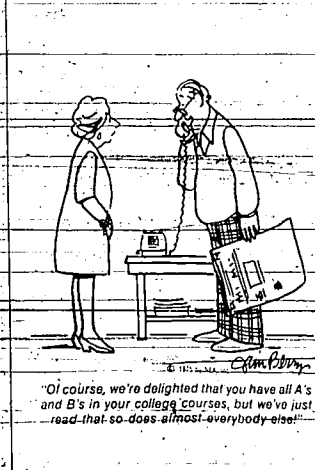

Reds seek Vatican blessing

By NEA-London Economist News Service
THE VATICAN — Blessings. When Czech Communists blurted out the Vatican must be because they want something. And the Poles and Czechs are making no secret about the several things they want to return for: eucharistic welcomes to emissaries from Rome. One is a Vatican sign in favor of an early European summit. Another is some form of papal blessing on their own regimes.

(when the government could grant fairly easily) to full equality for believers and non-believers in all spheres of public life which is almost certainly conditional. In Czechoslovakia the Vatican is pressing for the right to appoint their bishops and parish priests, nearly half of all parishes are priestless and half of all episcopal sees are vacant. It is resisting government attempts to fill these vacant bishoprics with members of the pro-regime Paeem in Terris association which had once been banned by the Vatican.

The one really strong card in their hands is the Vatican ban on the use of atomic energy. This is a very charitable loan when Pope Paul goes. The Poles have learned from their negotiations with West Germany that it can be counterproductive to pitch their demands too high. They missed their chance of a deal with Willy Brandt and now get a much tougher bargain in Chancellor Schmidt. East European newspapers have been writing recently about Heron-Corn-pulls against the Ostpolitik which suggests that the Communists have twigged to the virtues of the devil they know.

Another opinion about cats

Editor, Times-News:
In answer to Leah Potter regarding people who take potshots at cats, a few observations: Ms. Potter and many other cat owners apparently have a myopic view of anyone else's rights if they daily turn their cat loose like a pestilence to harass other people's property and pets, and little dogs, for example.

A cat respects no one's privacy. Felines mean nothing to it. They go anywhere they want with impunity, but when I find one in my backyard, I reach for my pellet gun.

My two dogs are about the size of the average cat and in no way could either or both together be a match for one of your beloved cats. I might ensue. My pets never leave our backyard to become a nuisance to our neighbors and thus we protect them from harm. They in turn try in their own way to protect us from predators, such as your cat.

I have a friend with a fine dog that makes do with only one eye, thanks to a cat that came into their yard and attacked it. So, Ms. Potter, my pet, if you wish to ensure the health of your cat, keep it on a leash and not allow it to invade and spray other people's property.

You can believe me, if your cat should venture into my backyard, I'll use my pellet gun until it can get to it quickly enough.

Tax system change proposed

Editor, Times-News:
An open letter to Idaho's congressmen. Now that we know each other a little better I wish to make a couple of suggestions for you to carry out.

I. We all know that the greatest part of any structure, building or organization, is the foundation.

The foundation of our form of government or country or constitution, is the preamble. If we read the preamble very carefully and take out the word "more" then read it again.

With this foundation, God will do the rest. Words that don't belong in the constitution and amendments and laws will be taken out and the right words added in. For it is the words that make any contract binding.

2. Our State of Idaho has a small income tax and a 2 percent sales tax. It claims to have some $4 billion in the gold.

Please, sir, let us see some changing in the national taxation system. Do away with the income tax and put a sales tax on everything sold except the bare necessities of life, such as food and clothing, medicine, etc. I think, and so does everyone I talk to, that the sales tax is the fairest tax that we have. Let us get rid of old custom and laws that tend to take away the spirit of men and give a little.

3. There is no reason why the national government can't run the same as the State of Idaho or any business.

If you and I, and everyone else, wants to be heard, you got to stand like you got a pair, so please get in there and give us a day's work for a day's pay.

B-1 study claimed biased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon's B-1 Strategic Bomber Study was so biased in favor of the B-1 bomber that Congress cannot objectively decide whether the plane is worth the money, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said Tuesday.

The massive analysis was completed late in 1974, and most of it is secret. An unclassified statement called the B-1 superior to its alternatives in cost effectiveness — the most place for the money.

In a letter to Defense Secretary James H. Schlesinger, McIntyre, chairman of the Senate's research and development subcommittee, argued that the study set requirements that only a sophisticated, high priced plane like the B-1 could satisfy, then found the alternatives lacking. It should have defined the needs, he said, then evaluated the alternatives.

The study, he said, found only that the B-1 could attack enemy missile bases, even though "the long flight time of any bomber force would make it unlikely that Soviet missiles would remain in such sites." It should have instead found how to most easily and cheaply destroy "political economic targets."

The B-1 is the Air Force's proposed strategic bomber, one of the major weapons to be used in nuclear war. Three prototype are now in production in Rockwell International. Congress has authorized roughly $1.5 billion so far, and the Pentagon wants $100 million this year. The Air Force eventually hopes to spend roughly $21 billion for 23 airplanes.

McIntyre, who supported research on a major strategic bomber in 1971, said both the Armed Services Committee and the General Accounting Office urged the Pentagon to consider all possible alternatives in case Congress should reject the B-1. These include improving existing planes and developing a "cruise" missile that flies through the air.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jeffrey O'Connell, the University of Illinois professor whose 1965 book "launched" no-fault automobile insurance, now says the industry principle can be used to solve the medical malpractice insurance crisis.

Physicians and hospital are finding it increasingly difficult to get medical malpractice coverage at any cost. A number of insurance companies have pulled out of the business, saying the claim experience is too costly.

O'Connell, with Robert Keeton of Harvard, launched the campaign for no-fault auto insurance which has been adopted in 26 States. Now he has teamed up with Prof. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of Harvard, former ambassador to India, in a new book urging extension of the no-fault principle to all product liability, insurance, and medical malpractice coverage.

The trial lawyers are "outraged," O'Connell said. One of his purposes is to take most of the medical malpractice business away from the lawyers just as his aim with no-fault auto insurance.

Sheldon Adair, head of the New York Trial Lawyers Association, said he didn't believe doctors would welcome the idea and the new New York legislation.

O'Connell said the proposed no-fault contract plan would be much too expensive "everybody would go broke under it."

He also said he thought the proposal would be a "disaster" for both the insurance companies and the medical profession, since the medical profession is "chiefly responsible for the present difficulties with malpractice coverage."

New Englanders won't end fight

BOSTON (UPI) — New England has fought for its offshore oil rights for a decade. Its leaders indicate they are not about to give up now because of a loss on the Supreme Court.

The high court Monday unanimously rejected New England's claim that its states should control development of offshore oil and gas deposits, declaring that such control rests with the federal government.

The decision met with immediate negative reaction from most of the region's elected officials, who are expected to move to prevent immediate leasing of about 12,000 square miles of ocean floor.

Opposition and frustration from coastal states are considering filing a resolution calling for a moratorium on federal leasing, which was made possible by the decision.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael DeSaiz said he expected the decision would be felt in the coastal states which developed, to support the suit would prove useful in the political battle he sees developing.

The letters now shift to Congress, said Dukakis. "I think courts are the state's influence and the influence of the Congressional delegation."

Gov. James Longley of Maine said he was "extremely disappointed" with the decision.

"Here we are talking about resigning the government to

Analysis

Their book, "Ending Liability to Injury, No-Fault Insurance for Products and Services," is being published this month (March 21) University of Illinois Press.

Under no-fault, no patient could sue a doctor or a hospital for malpractice until he had exhausted all no-fault and other benefits. The doctor, the hospital and their insurance carrier would pay for any unforeseen developments, from treatment or surgery without being established who was at fault. Therefore, the doctors and the hospitals would be relieved of being stigmatized by large malpractice suits for relatively small accidents and errors.

The authors said contracts to what might be the first in a series of no-fault medical malpractice insurance would be a lot easier to set up than malpractice insurance was.

"I don't think you would need legislation in most states," he said. The authors said that hospitals and their insurance companies would set up standard contracts setting forth the benefits immediately payable in case of unforeseen accidents and the patients would

US Senate votes to keep oil depletion allowance

N. Y. News Service
WASHINGTON—The Senate voted Tuesday to keep the oil depletion allowance in effect for all but a small number of the nation's largest oil companies.

By a vote of 47 to 41 the Senate amended the tax bill that passed by the House last month to add major exceptions to the essentially complete repeal of the depletion allowance that the House had approved.

Whereas the House version had been expected to add about $2.5 billion to the federal taxes paid by oil producers, this year, the Senate version would reduce that amount to about $1.3 billion by exempting permanently from repeal all but 124 of the operators—approximately 70 percent—of producers.

The exemption voted by the Senate, which was sponsored by Sen. Lloyd Benenson, D-Tex., was considerably wider than the one voted down in February by the House in its key vote on the depletion issue.

The Senate's "independent" oil producers, that is, those who have no retail outlets for the sale of petroleum products—have long had strong political support in the Senate than in the House.

The vote on the Benenson amendment was only one of three votes relating to the depletion allowance that the Senate took Tuesday.

Prior forces, whose ranks included a large number of senators who are considered liberals on most other issues, were always firmly in control.

They won a key procedural vote, 47-41, and defeated an attempt to "make" the Benenson amendment apply to fewer companies, 49-41.

Additional attempts to reduce the scope of the Benenson amendment were expected to be made Wednesday with the outcome uncertain.

Under the Benenson amendment, the depletion allowance would remain in effect permanently for producers whose output of oil did not exceed an average of 3,000 barrels a day, and whose output of natural gas, in addition to the oil, did not exceed 18 million cubic feet a day.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., will sponsor an amendment that would have the effect of halving this limitation.

Gas tax said key to energy policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Top ranking Republicans on two House energy committees say President Ford will have to accept some kind of energy tax if he expects congressmen from Democrats on his energy policy.

Rep. Herman T. Schneid of Pennsylvania, a member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, and Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, a member of the House Commerce energy subcommittee, met with Ford Tuesday and said he would have to soften his opposition to the tax.

"In the taxon area, the big question is going to be over the gasoline tax and what kind of tax," Brown said. "I think that's an area where the administration is going to have to give some of the Democrats' most on taxing gasoline."

Brown predicted the Democrats would cause their demand for oil import quotas, setting for a conditional approval of the President, could decide whether to impose.

Also Tuesday, two reports on the energy situation called for increased production of coal, development of nuclear energy and speeding up under water oil.

Unless "oppressive" federal taxes make it unprofitable, the National Petroleum Council reported, new offshore drilling may reverse the heavy U.S. dependence on foreign oil.

A Commerce Department advisory board, in a separate report, said the United States is now more vulnerable than ever to major oil price increases.

It showed a sharp drop in imports of high priced foreign oil increased 14 per cent in 1974 while domestic production of gas and oil fell 11 per cent.

New offer made

NEW YORK (UPI)—The League of Voluntary Hospitals made a new offer today to doctors, who have struck 23 New York City hospitals in protest against 50-hour duty weeks and 100-hour work weeks.

The offer to the 3,000-member Committee of Interns and Residents was announced at the end of all-night negotiations and will be discussed when the talks resume at 2 p.m., according to federal physician Paul Vager. The latest offer of the League, which operates the Strick hospitals, was made in response to one issued earlier today by the doctors. Details of the proposals were not disclosed.

Free speech victory won by stage show producers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chattanooga probably will never see the rock musical "Hair" on stage but those who tried to show it four years ago won a free speech victory in the Supreme Court Tuesday.

The court did not decide whether the play is obscene, although there is group nudity and simulated sex in it.

The opinion by Justice Harry Blackmun focused on how the directors of the Chattanooga Memorial Auditorium, a municipal theater, successfully blocked the showing without seeing a performance. They thought the production would not be "in the best interests of the community."

jury and two lower courts, which, after considering the full script, found the content of the play obscene and not entitled to the free speech protection of the First Amendment.

Blackmun cited numerous Supreme Court cases where public officials had tried to keep people from using public places to say what they wanted to say under the legal concept of prior restraint.

The court has always frowned on prior restraint because "our distaste for censorship reflecting the national distaste of a free people is deep-seated in our law," he said.

"The practice can be condoned only under the strictest safeguards, among them that the censor" himself must go into court to prove the disputed subject matter is unprotected.

And judicial decisions must be forthcoming speedily. "These safeguards were established in book and movie cases.

The procedures were obviously not followed in Chattanooga, Blackmun said.

John Jolley, one of the lawyers for the producers, said he doubts any other company is available to put on the play there now. In that respect the case is lost, he said, but in a broader sense it was won.

"We may have educated some of the municipal authorities in the Southeast on First Amendment matters," he told (UPI).

"I would be surprised if as much as $3 billion of oil producing country funds were invested in long term instruments in the private sector in 1975," Parsky said. "Of the $60 billion in surplus revenues accumulated by all OPEC members in 1974, $11 billion or only 18 per cent was invested in the United States."

'Takeover' fears level off

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Arab nations do not intend to use their vast oil wealth for a takeover of US industries, says assistant Treasury Secretary Gerald Parsky.

Parsky told Congress Tuesday that earlier fears of numerous takeovers "have not materialized, and there is nothing to suggest that they will in the future."

Parsky also said "foreign nations would retaliate if the United States enacts foreign investment restrictions to counter the Arab boycott of firms doing business with Israel."

"We should not reflect our opposition to the boycott by adopting restrictive laws in the investment area," Parsky said.

He also said "the administration has consistently opposed the boycott" and will continue to do so.

But he added, "I do not believe the boycott issue is properly addressed by altering our traditional policies of a free and open market for trade and investment."

House of Lords debate saves British ceremony

LONDON (UPI) — It may be, as the noble lord said, "very comic and absurd," but another bit of British pageantry seems safe for another 500 or 600 years.

The somewhat hazy House of Lords roused itself Monday to a spirited debate over whether a new member should bow three times, as they have since 1621, or whether once would do.

By a vote of 106 to 91, the noble lords struck down this challenge to the very foundation of empire.

"Once we lamper with the ceremonial," cried Lord Cudlipp, "we surely disturb a whole host of ghosts."

"We are nothing much to be trifled with," retorted Lord Denham. "We are not very exciting to listen to. But we do have ceremony."

Ceremony, in fact, is about all the toothless House of Lords has left. It has no power to veto legislation passed by the House of Commons, and can only delay it temporarily.

But ceremony was the target of the verbal salvo leveled by Lord Raglan, one of whose ancestors took part in the charge of the Light Brigade.

Lord Raglan's motion asked that the Queen should be asked to plan her coronation and investiture at the disposal of the House of Lords for the consideration, by a select committee of alterations in the introduction ceremony for new peers.

"In other words, he wanted to simplify the ceremonial when a newly created peer takes his seat."

He most objected, Lord Raglan said, to that part of the ceremony where the new peer, with his nose in full robes, mounts three steps to the near bench and then, marshalled by a herald, sits and rises three times and doffs his hat toward the Lord

Chancellor.

Some peers, he said, had trouble climbing these steps. And since this whole bit "looks very comic and absurd," he thought rising and bowing just once would be plenty.

"Is there to be a color left in life?" cried Lord Cudlipp.

The Earl of Cork pleaded with the lords to retain the "stately surroundings of medieval dress and forms."

"We all love dressing up," Lord Denham said. "And if we can't do it ourselves, we love to watch others do it."

Pleiku refugees stream from city

Editor's Note: The following eyewitness report of the death of the South Vietnamese Central Highlands capital of Pleiku and the beginning of the long march to the sea by its residents was published in the Tuesday edition of the Saigon newspaper Chinh Luan (UPI, New York).

"Patients in both the military and civilian hospitals have been abandoned to their fate."

By NGUYEN TU

PLEIKU (UPI) — The exodus continues this morning under a scorching sun of the first day of the week.

Thousands of civilian and military vehicles continue in a long row to roll with Phu Bo as their destination. Many overloaded vehicles are seen parked on the roadside. The military were ordered to pull out under direction of Brig. Gen. Tan, and they carried out the general's instructions properly.

It's a pity to see those people who could not afford to ride in cars or trucks or whatever vehicles available. They are the miserable who can only use their feet and they are the largest bunch — women, children, elders, walking as rapidly as they could, but not having even a drop of water to quench their thirst.

Nobody knows whether they can reach Phu Bo on their feet. Many may collapse and die on the long road. On the way to Phu Bo all the villages, hamlets and hamlets (Montagnard villages) appear deserted. The desolation of this highway gives me an impression I find hard to describe with words.

The exodus actually began at 3 p.m. Sunday. Those vehicles already loaded with belongings — furniture, vases, antiques, goods of all kinds — begin moving on towards Cho Reo, the provincial capital of Phu Bo province in the southwest.

The convoy, made up of thousands of cars, bicycles, moving on, miles long. This gives me the impression of a bunch of vacationers returning home after a weekend outing.

But it was not a peaceful convoy.

Explosions were heard, an indication that the ammo depots in Pleiku province capital were being destroyed. Columns of smoke spiraled skyward, signaling fuel tanks also were demolished. Everything took fire. Many sections of Pleiku City were demolished by groups of demoralized people. The hardest hit were the homes of those who took part in the exodus.

There were reports that the province chief had ordered the burning of the provincial city, which would be believed to contain about 800 million plasters (about $7.3 million).

Not a single doctor, either civilian or military, was to be found in the city. A number of patients in both the military and civilian hospitals had been abandoned to their fate. These poor people, of course, don't know how to react to the situation except to stay there on the sick-bed and wait for death to slowly take them.

Knapsack on my back, I joined the exodus at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, March 16. It was a beautiful night and the sky over Pleiku was brilliant with thousands of glittering stars. We try to get codes urging us to hurry up?

If I had a friend by my side, I would tell him, "Dear friend, the sky has many stars as the sufferings that wound my heart."

Up to now, I still don't know from where the order to make Pleiku and Rungtun open cities had come. There was no explanation whatsoever of the move to the population. No organization or any kind was set up for the evacuation en masse. I don't know why such a hurried exodus on the part of the civilians when the military leaders are supposed to work out plans before.

"No support of any kind was given the people, particularly the poor ones who have no transportation facilities. Since 1954, I have witnessed many exoduses. But the evacuation of Pleiku-Kontum has given me such disgust that I find the slight hope I have been nursing in my inner-self since 1954 has disappeared."

Trucks and artillery moved on the roadsides to protect the flanks of the convoy so that it could reach Cho Reo safely.

But from Pleiku to Cho Reo there might develop traffic jams for there are cuts (narrow mountain passes) that sometimes run for five to 10 kilometers. That is why the question is can the convoy reach Cho Reo at all? Then if the convoy reaches Cho Reo, what next?

As far as I am concerned, my mind is not clear enough to think of the future, even if that future is just a second or a minute away.

Ketchum chamber asks panel to fund buses

KETCHUM — A chamber of commerce representative here asked the City Council Monday night to budget $240,000 this year to keep the buses in operation.

Jim Ball, bus manager for the chamber, asked City Council members to budget $240,000 and then apply for a federal transportation grant equal to that figure.

The chamber has been trying to do something with the money since last summer. They have approached the council before with the idea of giving the buses to the city if the city would maintain the service.

Ball said in order to receive any of the Rural Transportation Demonstration Project funds the city of Ketchum would have to make the application rather than the chamber.

Ball said federal transportation department representative Len Engel said the application would have to come through the city Council and be written into the city's budget.

Ball said the representative told him to apply for $240,000, although no one knows how much of that money will be allocated.

Ball told the council the city would not be liable for budgeting the figure if no funds were allocated. Councilman Martha Potevin said the city would control the operation of the buses and handle all of the grant money if any was allocated.

The council would not accept the proposal offered by Ball until the bus manager supplies a 3-year operating budget. Ball said it is impossible to prepare a two-year budget.

Councilman Jack Carrock told Ball, "I want to know if we are supporting a program because I make a decision."

In other action the city moved to borrow a $700,000 anticipation note to cover city operating expenses and the budget for 1975.

— Jim Fleming, local employment director, told council members they could have as many as 30 laborers for buses without an additional cost.

Under the Chamber of Commerce plan, the Chamber would employ and train individuals with individual disabilities to work in unemployable areas.

The laborers can do projects which are not budgeted or unutilized for 90 days, Fleming said.

The council eagerly accepted the proposal and will decide today how many laborers they need.

Mayor Bill Brand said Boise ambulance service has quit and Ada County commissioners have requested Ketchum ambulances. The council agreed to send one of the city's ambulances to Boise.

Party prime FBI target

WASHINGTON — The FBI harassed the Socialist Workers Party for a decade with efforts to have members dismissed from their jobs, links to news media of unsavory items about their personal lives and attempts to foment violence at demonstrations and encourage police agencies to press petty prosecutions, news releases from documents show.

As a result of a court order in a civil suit brought in federal district court in New York, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was compelled to release 3,128 pages of internal documents to the party and its youth arm, the Young Socialist Alliance.

The documents have also been made available to the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a Socialist Workers source confirmed.

The cartoon of papers sketched 31 years of bureau attention to the socialist workers party that included detailed investigations of virtually every officer or official of the 2,500 member party ever had.

Despite three decades of intensive investigation and at least one period — from 1961 to 1971 — of covert efforts to destroy the party and frighten its members, there is no indication that the bureau brought any charges.

Two party spokesmen, Catherine Perkins and Syd Stapleton, said neither the party nor the youth group had been the subject of a federal prosecution since several years in 1945.

Source within the Department of Justice confirmed that they had no memory of any federal prosecutions of the party or its membership within the past two decades.

Nixon settles back-NY-tax bill

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has settled his back tax bill with New York City, sending the city tax collector a check for $1,227.35.

Finance Administrator Ivan Irtzary said Tuesday the check was drawn on the San Clemente Branch of the Bank of America.

Irtzary said Nixon owed $24.13 in back city income tax from earnings in New York City while he was President. Nixon also paid $301.22 in interest.

The check, mailed sometime after March 7, was forwarded by Dean S. Butler of Los Angeles, an attorney for the former President and his wife.

More pen gripes surface

PHOENIX (UPI) — Two more letters from inmates at the Idaho State Prison have reached Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, the letters containing complaints about the penitentiary administration.

One of the letters alleged continued specific allegations against the administration. The Governor had said specific allegations were missing from a letter prisoners sent him March 7, which prompted the governor to ask the State Board of Corrections to investigate the situation.

A spokesman for the governor said Andrus will ask Don Erickson, director of the Idaho State Prison, to correct them, to respond to the latest allegations.

The allegations in the letter Tuesday included a case of an inmate who said his wedding ring was taken from him and he was given a receipt, but that the official who allegedly took it now denies knowledge of the ring.

Another allegation is that there was a racial incident against an inmate involved in the letter sent to the governor. Andrus, in his reply to the prisoners, gave assurance that there were to be no reprisals against the prisoners who had communicated with him.

The second letter received by Andrus Tuesday reportedly contained criticism of the governor's appointment of the judicial commissions to investigate last week's charges.

A letter also was sent to the U.S. Attorney General asking for a federal investigation of the prison and of the governor's appointment of the commissions.

In the meantime, Idaho Attorney General Wayne Kidwell said his inquiry into the state penitentiary is continuing.

Demos beaten on bill

BOISE (UPI) — House Democrats tried to force a vote on a bill to amend the Idaho Constitution Tuesday to allow a referendum on the state's name, but they were defeated by a 21-10 margin.

The House passed the measure 21-10 Tuesday, but the Senate rejected it 11-10 Wednesday.

The House measure would allow a referendum on the state's name, but it would not allow a referendum on the state's boundaries.

The Senate measure would allow a referendum on the state's name, but it would allow a referendum on the state's boundaries.

More state pay proposals drawn

BOISE (UPI) — Republicans and Democrats presented three more state employee pay proposals Tuesday in hopes of resolving a dispute that stands in the way of final adjournment of this legislative session.

Majority Leader Walter L'Etienne, R-New Plymouth, said one proposal would add $1.5 million in savings to the state's budget. Another would add $2 million in savings to the budget. A third would add $3 million in savings to the budget.

The proposals would increase pay for state employees, but they would also require cuts in other areas of the budget.

Irrigation problem measure defeated

BOISE (UPI) — A measure to provide for irrigation water in the Snake River Valley was defeated Tuesday in the Senate.

The measure would have provided for irrigation water in the Snake River Valley, but it was defeated by a 10-11 margin.

House OK's advisory act

BOISE (UPI) — Acting under emergency suspension, the Senate today approved a bill that would place a $100,000 limitation on medical malpractice suits.

The Senate passed the measure 11-10 Tuesday, but the House rejected it 10-11 Wednesday.

The measure would have limited medical malpractice suits to $100,000, but it was rejected by the House.

Legal post definition bill out

BOISE (UPI) — A bill defining the legal post definition was introduced Tuesday in the House.

The bill would define the legal post definition, but it was not yet taken up for a vote.

Amendment vote OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — Determined not to be caught in another constitutional battle such as that over equal rights, the House approved 50-20 Tuesday a bill requiring an advisory vote on constitutional ratification.

The measure, which already has passed the Senate, requires the electorate to cast an advisory vote on proposed amendments to the U.S. Constitution before the legislature considers ratification.

Few neighs

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed 31-3 Tuesday a House-initiated bill to make the Appaloosa the Idaho state horse.

The bill would make the Appaloosa the Idaho state horse, but it was not yet taken up for a vote.

Park money sought

BOISE (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee introduced today a bill appropriating $435,900 in general fund monies to pick up $558,400 in federal matching funds for parks and recreation.

The measure also appropriates $5,988,900 to the Department of Parks and Recreation for various projects during fiscal year 1976.

Various monies were used to speed up inclusion of Harriman Railroad Ranch into the state parks system, acquisition of property for a state park on Lake Coeur d'Alene, development of a veteran's memorial state park and for maintenance and operation of the Cataldo Dam.

CD mission shifts

BOISE (UPI) — The Civil Defense unit here has a new director and a new mission with emphasis on preparation for natural disasters and fires rather than nuclear warfare.

The new director, James E. Jensen, is a former fire department director and fire chief.

The new mission is to prepare and coordinate for natural disasters, fires, floods, etc.

Spelling Maine issue

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — The Maine Legislature does not take the state's name lightly, and apparently feels no one else should either. Tuesday the House passed a resolution to ban the spelling contraction of Maine to "Me."

"Me" has been used as a state promotional gimmick for the past two years, intending to help promote the state.

"Golf Me," and, as in the state lottery, "Play Me."

The "Me" campaign was devised at state expense by a Boston advertising agency.

"Me" has not proved a useful device to lighten the labor of writing the state's name, but has been a "use" which has tended to bring discredit upon the state and her people." The resolution said.

Abby

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune & News Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a little out of the ordinary. I've been a Tramp for 60 years, and I enjoy it. People think I'm putting them on when I tell them my name, but it doesn't bother me because I have my health and a beautiful family, and what more does a man need?

I did have a little trouble getting a girl to marry me because of lots of girls weren't too crazy about having the name "Tramp," but I finally suggested one and she is super. She got used to being a Tramp, and now it doesn't bother her one bit. (The kids got teased when they were little Tramps, but now that they're grown, they're used to it, too.)

That's not all. My first name is Richard, which makes me a "Rich Tramp." I hope you print this so some of my old Army buddies who have lost track of me will know they can find me in Banks, Oregon. Thanks, Abby.

RICH TRAMP

DEAR RICH: Which only proves that if you have a sense of humor, you can rise above anything. What this world needs is more Rich Tramps!

With Tramp

DEAR ABBY: Someone once asked you what could be done about retrieving gold teeth, crowns, inlays, etc. from one who has died instead of just burying them, because gold is so valuable these days. Your answer was that few people have sufficient gold in their mouths to justify leaving it to heirs.

Well, I have a friend who has a pawn shop, and he says that some morticians in town bring him gold inlays, crowns, fillings, etc. that add up to quite a bit.

I am not interested in the money being lost by my family from the gold in my teeth (of which I have a considerable amount), but what can be done to protect the dead?

When a body is in the coffin, it's unlikely that a member of the family would check to see if the teeth are intact. It is his last, dearest thought that when he is dead and helpless, a mercenary person might take advantage of the situation.

Can anything be done to prevent this from happening?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The only protection against such an unprofitable bit of petty thievery would be to select a reputable mortician. (Of all the morticians I queried—and there were many—none had ever heard of anyone who had been guilty of such a ghastly deed.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for five years and have just moved into a home of our own.

Well, here's the problem. When my husband is working in the backyard and he has to go to the bathroom, he thinks it is too much trouble to come in the house, so he just "goes" in the bushes instead.

When I object to this, he says he always did it as a boy, and nowadays it's old-fashioned to object to things like that.

Abby, the other day, the neighbor lady from next door was visiting me, and my husband turned his back toward a bush while she was there. I'm sure she saw him, and now I'm so mortified that I haven't been able to look her in the face since.

We've agreed to let you settle the argument. Am I old-fashioned? Or should my husband learn some manners?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Your husband should learn some manners.

O'Leary conducts orientation

TWIN FALLS: The Vern C. O'Leary Junior High PTA met Monday evening for orientation of incoming seventh graders.

William Minger, president, reminded parents of O'Leary welfare month and that communications are needed. Minger urged all interested parents to attend a school board meeting about kindergarten April 7 at the O'Leary auditorium. He also announced that the O'Leary carnival will be April 25.

PTA life memberships were given to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walker for their many years of service in PTA.

Members voted to suspend the bylaws to allow the executive committee to appoint new officers. Elections couldn't be conducted because of the change in the boundaries of the O'Leary school district.

Carl Snow, principal, explained the boundary changes for O'Leary and Robert Stuart Junior High schools. He also presented an overview of curriculum at O'Leary and introduced the teaching staff.

Terence Reese was still an Oxford undergraduate. Terence sat East. Like many experts, Terence felt that he held very bad cards. He certainly did this time.

West started out as above, but when he ruffed the third club Reese played the queen, not the nine.

South had already ruffed in dummy, cashed dummy's queen of trumps and led a low trump to his own hand. Then South saw a way to avoid the heart finesse. Obviously, West held the last club and East had shown out of trumps. It would be perfectly safe to discard one of dummy's hearts on the 10 of clubs. South led it and West set the hand with his jack of Spades.

♥-CARD Sense

The bidding has been 19.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South isn't too happy with his six-spade contract. He has all sorts of ways to play the hand. The way the cards lie, all reasonable plays will work.

When South played the hand, he ruffed the second diamond, played ace-king and another club which he ruffed in dummy. The normal play after that start led to come to his hand with a high trump and lead his last club. West's best play will be to duck his jack of diamonds. But this won't save South. He will ruff that last club—cash dummy's queen of trumps, come to his hand with the ace of hearts, draw West's last trump and eventually take the heart finesse.

The hand was played in a rubber bridge game, when your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I have what is called a "floating kidney." I understand what it means, but I don't know how it happened. Why can't it be reattached?

I had a gall bladder operation three years ago and the kidney was right there, so why couldn't the surgeon have tied it to something or sewed it on to something?

Also, is there any kind of truss or support I can get that will ease the continuous back pain I have? — M.J.W.

You may understand what a floating kidney is, but I fear that you have a rather simplistic idea of what surgery is all about. Surgeons don't just waltz merrily inside the body, sipping champagne and smoking there. And, in fact, the floating kidney may not even have been obvious to the naked eye. But the point is that any kidney surgery would have required different pre-surgical preparations and approach than for gall-bladder. The latter, incidentally, was quite enough to do in one operation.

The kidneys normally move an inch or two with body activity. It is not that in rising from a sitting position. They even move a little up and down in normal breathing. A floating kidney moves greater distances from its attachment to the posterior abdominal wall. The bagging resulting from this movement can produce discomfort.

Conservative treatment such as use of a firm girdle will help, but if such methods do not ease your condition, surgery to support the organ can be considered. Instead of complaining, why don't you report your continuing pain to the doctor.

Floating kidney is usually seen in lean persons, and in most cases only one kidney is affected.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
Is prolonged use of L-dopa for Parkinson's disease harmful?

surgical goal at a time

My dad has used it for five years. It has controlled the disease. Would continued use be harmful? Is there a new drug for it that came out recently? — K.L.

Continued use is not harmful and, yes, there are other drugs prescribed for Parkinsonism. They are used to replace L-dopa if that is not effective. Since your father seems to be doing well with his present medication, I would not suggest a change.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I am a woman, 59, who has been taking medication for low thyroid. Could this cause palpitation of the heart? It sometimes awakens me from a sound sleep. — Mrs. J.A.P.

The medication could well be the cause. The dose might be too large, and it doesn't take a very high dose to correct low thyroid function. Be sure you are reading the directions on the medication bottle correctly; good advice for anyone taking any medication, incidentally.

However, palpitation of the heart is not an unusual thing for a person your age, even without such medication. You should raise the dosage question with your doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I recently underwent gold salt therapy for arthritis and cortisone shots for bursitis. I was interested in finding out the number of shots that can be given of each drug.

Also, what might some of the side effects be? — Mrs. E.K.

Gold injections are usually given once a week, and, depending on the dose level, in about 20 injections. The first one would be small to determine any intolerance. Side effects can include a rash and a drop blood count. Periodic blood counts are made during the therapy.

One or two cortisone injections are usually effective in treating bursitis, and there are no side effects I know of from steroid drugs being injected into a bursa or into a joint.

FILET OF BEEF SAUCE CHEVERNEY
 (Recipe for four) Put in a pot two ounces of butter. Add four chopped shallots or one chopped red onion. Simmer for five minutes. Add one soup-spoonful of flour, mix well and then add two cups of burgundy wine, parsley stems, two spoonfuls of currant jelly (you can replace with frozen currants, five ounces) salt, pepper, four chopped mushrooms (fresh) one teaspoon of brown sugar and one pint of beef bouillon. Simmer for two hours at a very low temperature. Strain the sauce and keep warm.
 Sauté in a sautépan four small slices (five or six ounces) of tenderloin for five minutes. Turn over and season with salt and pepper. Cook the other side three more minutes. Put the steaks in a platter. Put the sauce pan back on the fire, add two spoonfuls of wine vinegar, boil a little and add to the sauce. Put the sauce on top of the beef and serve with mushrooms, sauces and potato fondantes.

MUSHROOMS SAUTES
 Wash well and slice one pound of fresh mushrooms. Put in a sauté pan two ounces of butter and one spoonful of oil. Then sauté the mushrooms for three minutes; season with salt, pepper, and a touch of brandy. Serve sprinkled with chopped parsley.

POTATOES FONDANTES
 Cut eight potatoes in egg-shapes, all the same. Put in a sautépan side by side. Cover with a very well seasoned chicken broth and three ounces of butter. Boil on top of the fire and then finish in the oven until all the broth is gone (About one hour).

CHICKEN EN COCOTTE A LA BONNE FEMME
 Cut four ounces of ham in small strips and 12 little white onions (you can cut the head of the green onion). Put in a sautépan with one ounce of butter and give a little bit of color (throw it a bit). Take the chicken and onions out of the sautépan. In the same pan brown the bacon all around and put salt and pepper inside.
 Put the chicken in a casserole. It can go to the oven with a cover. Cook the chicken for 15 minutes at 375 degrees. Take the casserole out of the oven and add the bacon, onions and one pound of potatoes cut in quarter-inch squares. Season with salt, pepper, bay leaves, thyme, garlic and basil. Add one glass of sautépan or chablis wine.
 Cover the pot and put inside of the oven for 35 more minutes, and baste with the juice several times.
 Take the chicken out and place on a platter. Add a few pieces of butter to the juice, mix well and pour over the chicken. Excellent!

PETITS POIS A LA FRANCAISE
 Put one pound of peas (frozen are all right) in a pot with four ounces of butter, a quarter head of lettuce cut very fine, one chopped red onion, salt, pepper, and one teaspoon of sugar. Add one cup of hot water. Cover the pot and cook for 15 minutes.

BEEF GOULASH, HUNGARIAN STYLE
 In a heavy casserole melt two spoonfuls of butter and two spoonfuls of oil over high heat until smoking. Add two pounds of beef, cut in cubes 1 1/2 inches square, and brown on all sides (Cook only few at a time if necessary).
 Add one half pound of sliced onions, reduce the heat a little until the onions are brown. Add one tablespoon of paprika and one pound of tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped. Mix well and add one cup of water. Season with salt and pepper and cover the casserole. Bring to a boil over high heat and then place the casserole in the oven for one and one half hours at 350 degrees.
 Then take out the casserole and add one spoonful of potatoes, cut in pieces, one more cup of water, sufficient to submerge the potatoes, and cook for 45 more minutes; or until the meat is tender enough to eat with a fork. Serve in the same casserole. Serve with turnips in butter.

TURNIPS IN BUTTER GLAZED
 Boil one pound of peeled turnips in a big quantity of salted water for about 25 minutes, or until they are tender. Drain well and cut in thick slices.
 Heat four tablespoons of butter in a large frying pan not too hot and give a brown color to the slices, cook few at a time. Season with salt and pepper, add half lemon juice and one teaspoonful of sugar. Simmer for about 15 minutes and serve in a hot serving dish with the remaining sauce on top.

GREEK EASTER BREAD
 1 cup dry yeast
 1 1/4 oz. jar maraschino cherries
 1 cup melted butter or margarine
 1 cup lukewarm water
 1 cup milk, scalded
 3/4 cup instant flour
 1 egg, in shell, uncooked, unbroken
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 egg, beaten
 Combine yeast, water and 1/2 teaspoon sugar in a small bowl. Let stand five minutes. In a large bowl, combine milk, salt, butter and two tablespoons sugar with the beaten egg. Add about one and one-half cups flour and beat until smooth. Stir in yeast and drained, chopped cherries. Gradually add remaining flour to make a stiff dough. Knead on a lightly floured board about five minutes or until no longer sticky. Let rise in a greased bowl in a warm place until doubled in bulk.
 Punch dough down. With hands, roll dough on lightly floured board into a cylinder about 24 inches long. Place on a greased baking sheet and form an eight inch circle. Pull apart slightly at top and insert whole dyed egg. Let rise about 10 minutes in a warm place.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released "mini-reviews" for some of the new books received at the library.
 "Twilight of the Day" by Mervyn Jones. A stunning family saga of 20th century England — about three generations of Wheelwrights and the world that they knew.
 "The Virgins of Hell" by Pierre Boule. To get his own lifetime supply of dope, John Butler moves into an organization. Here is suspense, intrigue and a psychomagic insight into readers themselves will soon become inducted.
 "By the Evidence" by Louis Leakey. An intimate tale of personal adventure, overflowing with vivid description, touched by humor as well as danger — and — rehearsing — a profound — interest in — and respect for African culture.

 "Kissinger" by Marvin Kalb. This is Kissinger up close, a brilliant treatment of the most celebrated and controversial diplomat of our time by "two of TV's most distinguished news analysts."
 "The Last Dogfight" by Martin Gaidis. Terrifically paced narrative that captures all the heady exhilaration and the brutality of war in the air and the ambitious, courageous men who fought it, with precision and power.

HATS DON'T GROW ON TREES

By Mary Sue Miller

Hats grow on heads, more and more heads these days. At a large annual luncheon in New York last year only a few ladies wore hats. Hatless heads were conspicuous at the same affair this year.

Short hair, tinted locks, air pollution, fashion-boredom and many other reasons are given for the resurgence of millinery. For sure, hats are prettier and look prettier on you.

There's a tantalizing variety of new shapes and textures. Shapes are soft and feminine—not a hard hat in the lot. Brims range from narrow to broad, but all dip and wave with flattery in mind. Easy-and-relaxed sums up the crown.

As for textures, the hand-crafted look of natural straws spans the spring and summer seasons—the city, country, and vacation scenes. Trimmed with scarves and tied under the chin as needed, the natural straws go with everything and take you everywhere.

In pastel color schemes, pliable felt and fabric shapes for spring daytime suits and dresses to perfection. Ribbons and feathers trim these shapes to match the wearer's individual taste.

The special occasion is not forgotten. Horsehair picture hats, sweeping panamas and floats of sheer organza flash back to formal affairs of yesterday. Accented with beaded trimmers and ringed with flowers—the aura is romantic. Wear one, and you'll feel it.

Carolyn Thompson, Wardle plan rites

TOPS news

HANSEN — Howard Yourself: This little girl just must help for each pound lost, reward yourself in a coin or even two. Your life will grow instead of wane!

This was the opening thought given at the TOPS 113 Club by an evening at the home of Alexandra Steelsmith. The thought was given by the leader, Marybell Howard.

Four members led as best losers of the week including Carolyn Howmans, Lena Bohm, Virginia Butler, Shirley Harris and Linda Johnson.

Each of the winners was to penalize herself by denying herself a luxury food or by cutting down on calories this week.

Virginia Butler loaned two tickets to the club to be used for special recognitions and yearly queen and recognition for as long as the club needs them.

Information was received concerning the State Recognition that May 16-17 at Sandpoint. A badge of the city was received to be used by those attending. Juana Cox, queen for this year, and others will go. Mrs. Cox also plans to receive her graduation status to keep at the club event.

Detailed rules regarding the election were read. New officers were elected. Mrs. Howard read the poem, "The End of the Business Session".

Shirley Johnson presented a program on "Setting your diet to your personality." Personality traits were determined by answering 20 questions with one of three, A, B, C. The diets were recommended for each of the three categories, determined by the most answers given in any category.

FBI aides raid apartment

FRANKFURT, West Ger. (UPI) — A black WAC who charged the Army with trying to put her in a psychiatric hospital was convicted today of going absent without leave.

The WAC faces a maximum six-months imprisonment and a hard-labor, reduction to the lowest grade of E1 and forfeiture of two-thirds of her pay for six months.

Spec 4 Babbette Peyton, 22, of Chicago, was originally charged with being in violation of Army regulations because of her highly braided hair style and with going AWOL for two weeks last October.

Judge Capt. Sanford W. Harvey Jr. decided Miss Peyton had not been given a proper order to change her "corn rows" hair style and threw out that charge at a previous hearing.

"The Army forbade the hair style, popular with black women soldiers here, last year."

Third party out, says Reagan

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan says he has no intentions of joining or heading a conservative third party but is only interested in rebuilding and reunifying the Republican party.

Reagan, at a news conference Monday, prior to a speech to a Duval County Republican fundraising dinner, said he reports that he would join a conservative offshoot of the Republican party, "grossly exaggerated."

This morning a few breaks in the cloudiness occurred over southern Idaho from the Magic Valley area east through Twin Falls continues over the Boise and Treasure valleys for the fourth consecutive day.

Very little change is expected over Idaho through Friday, except for a decrease in showers Wednesday through midday Thursday, then precipitation increasing in all areas Thursday night and Friday.

House rejects mine law changes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, after rejecting proposals for major changes, moved Tuesday toward passage of legislation to restrict the scarring of lands by strip mining.

All major amendments were rejected after Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the chief sponsor of the bill, said they might endanger what he repeatedly referred to as "compromise" language.

Similar legislation was passed in the last Congress by heavy majorities in both the House and Senate but was vetoed by President Ford after Congress adjourned.

New legislation, altered slightly to meet some of the President's objections, has already been passed by the Senate by an overwhelming vote of 84 to 14.

Both the House and Senate bills would set minimum federal standards for strip mining operations to reduce environmental damage.

The legislation would tax coal production in order to create a reclamation fund for the restoration of lands already ravaged by past strip mining operations.

The measure was opposed by the coal-mining industry, which argued it would increase costs and thus result in an increase in electric rates.

Supporters said the reclamation fee would be unlikely to increase the price at which coal is sold. They said the price of coal is already so far above production costs that the small addition would have little effect.

The House bill would set a maximum fee of 33 cents per ton on strip-mined coal, and it cuts a ton of coal from underground mines and on lignite to create the reclamation fund.

It was estimated that it would provide about $130 million a year to help restore lands and water resources already damaged by mining operations.

During three days of debate, the House rejected both weakening and strengthening amendments in an effort to preserve the "compromise" language.

Udall hoped to head off a second veto by Ford.

Mrs. Gandhi denies election deviations

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indira Gandhi Tuesday became the first Indian prime minister to personally testify before a law court when she denied charges of unfair practices in her election to Parliament in 1971.

Mrs. Gandhi underwent a grueling four-hour cross-examination by a tough criminal lawyer before a single judge at the high court in Allahabad, her home city, 400 miles southeast of here.

Senators leader Raj Narain, Mrs. Gandhi's main opponent in the free ballot constituency, 200 miles southeast of here, filed a petition four years ago challenging her election. She defeated Narain by a margin of 111,000 votes.

He charged she employed government officials to campaign for her, used official machinery in the contest, and spent more than the $5,000 legally permissible amount.

The court has already examined 140 witnesses in the case over the past four years and the proceedings have now reached a concluding stage.

Mrs. Gandhi's cross-examination will continue through Thursday. If she loses the case, she will have the right of appeal to the Supreme Court for a reversal of the verdict.

If she loses and does not appeal, which is unlikely, she will be barred from running in an election for six years and will be forced to resign.

Blaine holds rezoning bids

BY BART QUINNELL
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — Rezoning requests by Blaine County's two biggest potential developers were tabled Tuesday along with a preliminary approval request by a smaller developer.

The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission decided to table until April 10 requests by Blaine developer Bart Ballantine, McCulloch Properties Inc. and a village development concept at Clarendon Hot Springs.

Ballantine's plan was about 205 to 215 homes to be built on the Bellevue Triangle south of Bellevue zoned A-3 from an R-1 and an R-2 designation. The move would allow him to place about 866 single family units and 100 condominium units in a planned unit development on the north edge of his property fronting on Highway 33.

Mike Wardle, a J.A.B. & Co. engineer representing Ballantine, said the remaining 1,325 acres generally south of the Glendale Road on the east side of US Highway 93 would remain in an A-1 classification to be sold in the bigger lot configuration — one unit per five acres.

Several residents, including nearby landowners at the public hearing, last night opposed the development. However, the planning and zoning commission has received at least eight letters from residents inside the area backing the project.

The commission voted to extend the public hearing until April 10. Anyone wishing to comment on the project may write to the Blaine County Planning and Zoning office.

McCulloch Properties Inc., developers of Woodside a 640 acre residential subdivision inside the south Hailey limits, sought rezoning of about 1600 acres in Democrat Gulch, a sagetbrush area 1.5 miles west of Hailey.

The area presently is zoned A-1, an agricultural designation with a small density base. McCulloch wants the area zoned A-2 with the exception of 22 acres near the Hailey hot springs which they want changed to A-1, a higher density.

McCulloch wishes to place about 477 units on the land in a cluster development, according to J. R. Allen, engineer working for McCulloch.

Included in the proposed development is a guest ranch and large homesites. Most of the land will be left open, Allen said. Hailey City representatives ardently spoke in favor of the request for rezoning, much as they did when Woodside wanted annexation to the city.

Ed Chis, Idaho Fish and Game officer, Kemmerer, read into the record a letter from the department opposing the development. Chis said the development was situated in the path of a major deer migration route and an upland game bird nesting and rearing area.

Jerome OK's '75 budget

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News Writer

Jerome — Tuesday night the Jerome City Council approved a $1,544,807 '75 budget for the city.

No one attended the hearing to protest the budget, which reflects an increase of 18.6 per cent. Included in this year's budget is $458,250 in grant monies which brings the total increase in the city budget to 6.9 per cent.

According to city clerk Marilyn Bragg, most of the money expected from grants is for the proposed improvement in the city's sewer and water systems. The sewer grant expenditures have been estimated at $277,000 and the HUD grant for the water system at $150,000.

Mrs. Bragg said the remainder of the grant money is split between parks and recreation and has been set at $16,705. Also the CEPA II employment program is set at $14,545 and is included with the grant monies.

Over half of the budget increase is in the general fund with the two highest increases in the general fund being the police and administrative budgets.

The police budget is set at $133,206. The majority of the increase over last year's figure of $109,254 will be for the purchase of two new police cars and the department's 14 part pay raise.

The pay raise falls back county legislators. The administrative and financial budget is set at $49,642 for an increase of $19,293. Part of the funds will be used for the remodeling of city hall.

The streets and roads budget is also up and is set at $227,119, compared to last year's total of $196,742. The increase will be used for oiling and repair of city streets, construction of two new bridges and the purchase of a new grader.

Beet growers, company agree

By DIANE ALTERS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Contract talks between sugar beet growers and the Amalgamated Sugar Co. ended Tuesday when both sides agreed to drop an apparently ineffectual clause.

Six directors of the Magic Valley Beet Growers Association and representatives of the Sugar Company met at the Boise Holiday Inn.

The contract is "essentially the same" as last year, with one exception, according to grower R.W. "Woody" Pierce of Filer, a director of the grower group.

The selling arrangement between growers and the company remains the same, according to Pierce.

Growers will get about 3.5 per cent and the company about 36.5 per cent of the net return from the sale of sugar. The net is determined by the actual cost of selling sugar, not including the refining cost, Pierce said.

What was deleted from last year's contract was a clause referring to the New York raw concept of marketing sugar.

In past years, contracts included the clause which tied sugar prices to the New York spot price for raw sugar. If the net return on the sugar sold was less than 78 cents above the average of daily sugar prices in New York for a certain period, the company, under certain circumstances, was obligated to pay the growers a penalty fee.

The company is no longer under the obligation to pay a penalty, and New York spot raw prices are no longer mentioned in the contract.

"We felt it was something we would have liked to have," Pierce said, but Amalgamated was "in position to call the shots," he said.

A local Amalgamated company official said that the ending of the Sugar Act made the New York concept clause have no bearing on the current price situation.

"I don't feel the contract will be detrimental to the grower," he said.

Pierce said he couldn't predict what would happen to the price of sugar, but he said that growers, not processors, may push for regulation of sugar to keep the price down.

Sugar beet acreage in the Magic Valley will probably "increase considerably" over last year, Pierce said, due primarily to farmers switching from crops that brought high prices last year but are falling this year, like potatoes, and because last year's sugar beet acreage was greatly reduced from the previous year.

Amalgamated, however, never had to pay a penalty, according to Pierce.

"The clause is no longer effective," Pierce said, because Congress voted the Sugar Act out last summer. "In reality, it's complicated and debatable," Pierce said.

Prices are now based on the world market price because the Sugar Act is no longer amended to keep prices up for domestic sugar by limiting and subsidizing domestic production.

"The company wanted to be free from it," Pierce said of the New York raw clause. He said he feels that the company would not have had to pay penalties anyway.

Rupert budget gets approval

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Rupert's budget is nearly three times more than last year's, but a public hearing to consider the budget Tuesday night failed to draw a single resident.

The 1975 budget of $6.57 million was approved by the council with only three news reporters present for the action.

Last year's budget was $1.98 million. Most of the $3.6 million increase is attributed to the $4 million budgeted this year for new sewer plant construction.

Last year $798,000 was budgeted for sewer replacement and rehabilitation.

A public hearing to consider a new sewage treatment plant is set for Thurs. 8 p.m. in the city hall.

This year's general fund budget is $918,000. Last year it was $700,000. Electric light operation is budgeted for $428,500 in 1975, in 1974 it was $32,000.

In regular council action, an increase in electric rates was given tentative approval. However, the rate increase will not go into effect until a rate ordinance is approved.

Surprise testimony links different man to deaths

A former undercover narcotics investigator, Douglas arrived at the scene about 7:19 a.m. Nov. 2 with his partner Sgt. Jim Higgins.

He testified he pushed Bragg back from the door when she hesitated to admit him because of his appearance. Douglas, who was carrying police identification, had shaved his high hair and was wearing patched jeans, a brown jacket at the time.

Now shorn and casually dressed, Douglas said he had taken Peterson's pulse but believed the faint beat he thought he felt to be his own.

Douglas, under examination by defense attorney Victor J. Holatto, admitted he had taken no steps to secure the scene, took no notes, made no inquiries of Bragg as to how the persons entered the home, made no effort to secure any physical evidence at the scene.

Under Rozitt's questioning, Douglas admitted all these duties were the responsibility of the first officer on the scene of a crime.

But special prosecutor Gordon S. Nielson brought out Douglas' undercover association. Douglas said at the time he was involved in 27 investigations and did not want to be identified as a police officer.

Douglas said he turned the investigation over to Sgt. profiler Higgins and Burley Del. Lt. C. K. Hartness.

The Solosbals were reportedly lying in a van parked in Peterson's driveway at the time of the shooting. Douglas also testified Mrs. Solosbal had a "lolly" "several months old" in the living room when he entered the home.

The Burley City patrolman was the fifth witness to take the stand in the trial in which Delbert Crawford, 29, Eden, is accused of two counts of first degree murder and one count of robbery.

The Burley City patrolman was the fifth witness to take the stand in the trial in which Delbert Crawford, 29, Eden, is accused of two counts of first degree murder and one count of robbery.

Testimony began March 15 after more than 10 days spent selecting a jury.

Lee Ann Anderson, Burley, a friend of Mrs. Billingsley's, told the court she had been with the Billingsleys, Crawford and his wife Linda the week of the shooting.

She told the court she had been addicted to heroin and had smoked cocaine and heroin with the Billingsleys several days before the shooting.

She described several incidents of selling heroin and cocaine during that week.

Miss Anderson also testified that the state had granted her immunity to talk about her involvement in the case.

And she said she had met recently with the Billingsleys in the presence of their attorney Golden Bennett and the special prosecutor to "discuss dates and what we did that week."

Billingsley, 29, who has pleaded guilty to reduced charges of manslaughter, admitted the fact and role, along with his wife Gays, 28, was on the stand all Tuesday morning.

Billingsley had already testified that he accompanied Crawford to the scene and took Peterson's wallet from his hip pocket after he was shot.

House Minority Leader Walter Lilt predicted that the legislators new court jurisdiction fight, reaction from Iva Twin Falls County legislators.

Joint vetoed a $338,000 appropriation for the joint finance-appropriations committee. The committee co-chairman called it a "rank political move."

Andrus said he shot down the appropriation because the 15 per cent increase for the staff was excessive. Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said the highest paid employee on the staff still is 20 per cent under his counterpart on the governor's budget staff.

"In view of the 3.5 per cent state employee cost savings," Andrus said, "S. B. 1192's staff cut is certainly a necessary increase for the budget analysis staff of the joint committee is not in keeping with other state employees."

"Lots of people are trying to do something about state employees' salaries," High said. "It almost looks to me like the governor's hurting state employees' salaries when he starts using public works people. This year's salary increases are being pushed around and called the governor's action 'a blooming shame.'" Roberts called the veto a "personal vendetta."

Idaho crop planting up slightly

BOISE—Planted acreage of major Idaho field crops for 1975 is expected to total 4.5 million acres, including acreage to be cut for hay. This is 1 per cent more than the 4.51 million planted to 1974 crops, reports the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Commission.

Increases are expected in sugar beets, spring wheat, oats, barley, mixed grain and dry beans. Decreases in planted acreage are planned for potatoes and dry peas. Last fall's winter wheat seedings also show a decline. Prospective 1975 acres of small grains, with per cent changes from 1974, are: Spring wheat, 520,000 acres, up 6 per cent; oats, 85,000 acres, up 5 per cent; barley, 750,000 acres, up 4 per cent; mixed grain, 500,000 acres, up 14 per cent. Fall seedings of 1974 crop winter wheat, totaling 1,010,000 acres, are down 5 per cent.

Planned plantings of potatoes are placed at 321,000 acres, down 6 per cent from last year. A planned increase in plantings of alfalfa of 100,000 acres is unchanged. The intended 1,200,000 acres of hay crop is down 7 per cent.

The potato acreage of 321,000 is down from 340,000 acres planted in 1974. For the 10 years ending 1974, the average Idaho potato acreage was 335,000 acres, down 10 per cent from the 1974 level of 370,000 acres in other Idaho counties, the survey says.

Traders approve report on corn

COURTESY SINDLER & CO. CHICAGO—CNSI—Traders regarded Monday's corn crop prospective plantings report as slightly favorable.

The wheat report was considered a standard to somewhat extent. The soybean report was posted as neutral to slightly bearish.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture report listed prospective planting for the 1975 corn crop at 75 million acres, down 3.2 per cent from the 77.7 million acres planted in 1974.

Major foreign demand for corn is expected to continue to be a plus factor in the market. Also, the report is an estimated grain sorghum acreage of 10.5 million acres, down 3.2 per cent from the 10.9 million acres planted in 1974.

The soybean report estimates 10 million acres for that crop, up 5.2 per cent from the 9.5 million acres planted in 1974. Spring wheat acreage is down about 3.9 per cent at 13.38 million, compared with 14.48 million in 1974.

Other crops include: Winter wheat, 734,000 acres, up 11.4 per cent from 659,000 acres in 1974. Durum, 4.29 million acres, up 3.4 per cent from 4.07 million acres in 1974. Rye, 1.7 million acres, up 3 per cent from 1.6 million acres. Cotton, 9.35 million acres, down 30.8 per cent from 13.6 million acres. Barley, 10.16 million acres, up 11.7 per cent from 9.1 million acres. Flaxseed, 1.79 million, up 3.2 per cent from 1.73 million. Rice, 2.56 million, down 4 per cent from 2.68 million. Winter potatoes, 14,600 up 5 per cent from 13,900 acres. Spring potatoes, 84,000 acres, down 16.6 per cent from 100,700. Summer potatoes, 120,100 down 11.1 per cent from 135,100. Fall potatoes, 1.07 million acres, down 4.3 per cent from 1.16 million. Total potatoes, 1.31 million, down 6.6 per cent from 1.4 million.

Washington, 35,000 acres; down 5 per cent.

Increased plantings are in prospect for commercial dry beans with 131,000 acres, up 2 per cent from last year, but dry edible peas with 85,000 acres will decrease 6 per cent. Sugar beet plantings are expected to increase to 177,000 acres from last year's smaller acreage.

Except in the light soils in the Southwest, little progress has been made in preparing land for spring planting. As fields have been so wet and fall seeded grain crops are in satisfactory condition.

Soil moisture surveys are adequate for starting early spring growth of crops and normal mountain snowpacks coupled with above normal reservoir carryover should assure adequate supplies of irrigation water for the 1975 season.

Farm legislation draws Butz blast

HONOLULU (UPI)—U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz Monday denounced pending legislation he said would reverse a 1973 policy, substituting government controls for free market incentives.

Butz told a convention of National Grain and Feed Association members he expects the proposed 1973 Agriculture and Consumer Act amendment, which comes up for a vote Tuesday, to be defeated on the House floor.

According to Butz, the amendment to raise guaranteed prices to farmers on each bushel of grain, not needed to assure full production in 1975, as proponents contend.

The last incentive to produce is being provided right now by the free market prices which have prevailed in recent weeks. The agriculture secretary said, adding that all signs indicate the country will achieve full production this year.

Market price for a bushel of wheat is now $1.50, while the government guaranteed price or "target price" is $1.95 a bushel under the 1973 act. That price is determined by a formula which relates farm loan rates and free market prices for the first five months of a market year.

The nation's farm organizations are divided on the proposed amendment, Butz said, with the National Farm Organization supporting the target price increase, and the American Farm Bureau opposing it.

The agriculture industry is just recovering from the public image "black eye" it gained during the time when taxpayers' sometimes dished out more than $4 billion a year in farm support programs, the secretary said.

Butz said the United States is now competing in world markets and agriculture is the country's number one earner of foreign exchange.

Farm bill backed

WASHINGTON—Strong wheat producer support for prompt approval of emergency farm legislation was voiced Monday by the wheat industry.

National Association of Wheat Growers president Don Woodard told senators and congressmen assembled at a breakfast farmers are now preparing their land for production of 1975 crops, and the emergency bill, contains minimum assurances that are needed for smaller farmers to provide adequate production to meet domestic and export requirements.

The legislation would establish a $1.90 target price and a $2.50 loan level for the 1975 crop.

Proposed loan and target price increases are well below existing market prices, according to the NAWG, and the bill would only impact production and not Government costs or consumer prices.

Woodard said wheat prices have declined almost 40 per cent while farm costs have continued to increase, and quick action was needed on the emergency bill in order that its provisions could take effect for this year's crop. "Growers are now unprotected against a great many uncertainties, and the extent to which those burdens can be shared will determine the economic future of farmers for 1975 and beyond."

Beet crop boost set

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—Spurred by higher prices in 1974, the nation's sugar beet growers plan an increasing their crop for this year by about 25 per cent, according to figures released by the Agriculture Department.

The federal agency said that the estimated average for sugar beets planted this year was 1,400,000—up 24.4 per cent from the planting in 1974. With increasing yields, per acre, the department said this year's harvest should be up about one fourth compared to last year.

Test probes feather conversion

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—University of Maryland scientists are experimenting with featherless chickens to determine how much of what the chicken eats turns into feathers.

"This is an experiment that we have been doing from time to time over the past five years," said Dr. Max Rubin, a faculty research associate in the poultry science department.

"We are studying the requirements for the feeding of the feather, what has to be produced to support what goes into the feather," he said.

Rubin said researchers found featherless chickens require more lysine, an amino acid, than the featherless birds.

The research uses the so-called gene discovered in 1958 at Maryland. Researchers obtained eggs carrying the single recessive gene that produces the featherless chickens to carry out the research.

"This could help us to know more about how we should go about the nutrition of the entire animal," Rubin said. "We are finding out what kind of stress the feather has on producing a meat-type bird."

Conservation fund program announced

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—Heading to a congressional committee on the Agriculture Department Monday announced a bill after farmers $215 million in subsidies for agricultural conservation and forest trees this year.

Officials said $190 million will be spent for payments to farmers covering 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of approved conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP). In addition, officials announced tentative plans for $25 million in similar payments for tree planting and other stand improvement under a Forestry Incentives Program.

The administration has asked Congress for permission to cancel appropriation approved earlier for the two programs, but Congress had rejected the request.

The Agriculture Department said the ACP program will offer farmers payments under both annual contract and long term agreements, running 3 to 10 years. About $13 million of this year's ACP will be used for 1975 payments due under long term contract signed last year.

Officials said details of specific conservation practices eligible for government payment will be announced later.

Cops crack cattle ring

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Twelve arrested 12 persons Monday for butchering cattle, allegedly pumping water into their carcasses to increase weight and selling such water-purified beef on the black market.

Three of those arrested were employees of a provincial government offices, who allegedly received bribes, police said.

The group butchered 5,256 head of cattle since July of last year, according to police.

CSI Eagles drop Sheridan 78-62

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

The CSI Eagles, who were expected to be the favorite to win the National Invitation Tournament, were knocked out of the tournament Tuesday afternoon by the St. John's Red Storm in a 78-62 decision over Sheridan Junior College in the National Junior College basketball tournament.

The Eagles, showing some pre-game jitters, finally tucked the Wyoming school away in the last three minutes and 29 seconds to settle the game that had 47 turnovers.

CSI advanced to a 7:45 p.m. Wednesday meeting with Westchester Community College, Valhalla, New York. It is scheduled to play the Eagles will not play Thursday. If they lose, they will play at 6 p.m. Thursday.

The Eagles seemed to have a man for all occasions in Tuesday's opener. Sophomore guard Gary Yoder later, despite any nervousness or national pressure, kept the Eagles alive in the opening 10 minutes by scoring 10 points.

In the middle part of the game, the Eagles looked to have a four-point lead, but with 8:30 left left the ball in the hands of Sheridan's Grant, put them in a four-point corner and Spurrill dealt off assist passes.

CSI had trouble with turnovers in the early going and that helped Sheridan stay in the game. But in the second half, the Eagles trimmed the turnovers from 14 to nine and once again Yoder asserted getting inside for easy points, victory was assured.

With only 10 men available, and Bob Durham already hobbled by an ankle injury, CSI lost more manpower when Bernard Boyd came up with muscle cramps and Lan Truett sustained a knee bruise.

This threatened a change in strategy by Coach Grant and he went to a spread when the second half began. It didn't work at that point, as Sheridan erased a 10-point deficit to three. But Yoder Grant went back to it, it proved the difference. In the last eight minutes, the Eagles pushed a 60-56 lead into the final margin.

"The boys were tired, they were gasping for air. I guess it was the long bus ride and tournament pressure I didn't know if we could go on so long without a rest," Coach Grant said.

As expected, it was as if each team was playing itself, even down to the uniforms, with identical colors and warm-ups. Both teams pulled themselves on their defense and it was defense that ruled the game. The game was tied six times through the first nine minutes before Yoder, Kenny Davis and Dwight Boyles sent the Eagles up by six. They had the six point advantage for two minutes before Jeff Chapman, a 6'5" New York sophomore shot Sheridan back within two.

Throughout the remainder of the half, CSI never trailed, but was twice tied and twice held a four-point lead. The Eagles had a chance to break away early in the second quarter on buckets by Lon Trotter and Davis and a cripple off a steal by Andre Wakefield. But the Eagles could not score again for three minutes and the Chapman hitting six of the seven points, Sheridan trailed by three.

The teams traded two field goals each as Yoder hit twice on drives and Boyd collected two long shots out of the corner. Chapman and Dimitrie Ribek helped then brought Sheridan back to within 60-56. There was another basket swap before Boyles and Davis extended CSI to 65-58 with 3:29 remaining.

Spurrill's short penetrations and bounce pass assists then led to two of CSI's field goals and with 1:40 left, the Eagles led 72. Sheridan had a 10-0 run before the end of the half and the Eagles picked-up four free throws and two field goals to pad the final margin.

For the first time this year, CSI was brilliant at the foul line, hitting 15 of 15 attempts. Sheridan was eight of 32. The Eagles hit 48 per cent from the field on 32 of 67 shots while Sheridan made 27 of 69 for 29 per cent. The Eagles won the rebound battle 44 to 32. They wound up with 25 turnovers against 22 for Sheridan.

In Wednesday night's battle, CSI faced a challenge of quickness and depth in Westchester. Although the New York crew has no out over the field on 22 of 67 shots, they showed great one-on-one talent in defeating Lake Land, 81. The game will require excellent defense and guarding against the fast break headed by 5'9" Dan Ingram, a Victor Kelly type ball handler. Coach Grant's hopes rest on the Eagle defense and the ability of Trotter and Boyd to play despite Pandora's injuries.

Jabbar asks legal aid

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Wisconsin Civil Liberties Union said Tuesday Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Milwaukee Bucks has asked the legal aid group to help him contest a National Basketball Association rule prohibiting players from criticizing game officials.

Abdul-Jabbar has been fined $250 for criticizing referee Jerry Lawler after a game last week in which Abdul-Jabbar fouled out. He said Lawler sets "a standard for appellate referees that is unappreciated" and that he felt Lawler's was "unwarranted to be an official in this league."

When he made the comments to reporters after the game Abdul-Jabbar said if he was fined for his remarks he would fight the rule in the courts as a denial of his right to freedom of speech.

William Lynch of the WCUU said Abdul-Jabbar could Tuesday from Portland, Ore. where the Bucks were to play a game Tuesday night. Lynch said Abdul-Jabbar asked "if it would be possible to challenge the fine assessed by the National Basketball Association."

"The WCUU is gathering the information necessary to make a complete analysis of Abdul-Jabbar's chances to challenge the rule as a denial of the right of free speech which is protected by the U.S. Constitution and federal civil rights laws," Lynch said.

Lynch said he did not know of any cases involving a challenge to sports regulations but said some recent cases involving freedom of speech in the part of workers might be relevant.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Syracuse, ignored in the polls but with more tournament experience than any of the four clubs here, is rated the decided underdog to 10th-ranked North Carolina in Thursday's NCAA Eastern Regional.

The Orange have risen to basketball prominence in recent years with five consecutive post-season tournament berths, but they've never had the edge to beat the national powers.

"This year I hope things will be different," said St. coach Roy Danforth. "We've finally got the height to match up attention he deserves, he's a "bonafide" second-team all-American," Danforth said. Hackett, 6'9 center Eric Siebert and 6'3 jumping jack forward Chris Sease will get their stiffest test of the year from the Tarheels, 22-7, but Danforth says it couldn't come at a better time.

"We're playing our best ball of the year, we've had to be playing when we've had to, we're playing much better under pressure," he said. "We've come a long way."

Manhattan's mistake gives St. John's last minute win

NEW YORK (UPI) St. John's made a late-minute turnover that gave the Red Storm a 67-66 victory over Manhattan in the second game of the National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night.

The Red Storm, led by freshman Bill Egan, pulled in 11 of his rebounds in the first half, rolling to a 37-38 lead at the intermission.

Egan, who finished with 18 points in 40 minutes, pulled in 11 of his rebounds in the first half, rolling to a 37-38 lead at the intermission.

Redmen to within one point, 66-65. St. John's missed two shots in the last minute and Egan's rebound gave Manhattan the ball with 40 seconds to kill for the victory. But Tom Lockhart attempted a 10-foot jumper for St. John's with 25 seconds left and Frank Adams of St. John's grabbed the rebound.

Not only did Providence hold a decisive edge in the first half rebounding, but 19 of the cards were off the offensive board.

Providence, led by 6-foot-5 freshman Bill Egan, pulled in 11 of his rebounds in the first half, rolling to a 37-38 lead at the intermission.

Celtics tip Detroit 116-90

DETROIT (UPI)—Veteran forwards Don Nelson and Paul Silas teamed up in the fourth quarter to lead the Boston Celtics to a 116-90 victory over Detroit Tuesday night, dropping the Pistons into the cellar of the NBA's Midwest Division for the first time this season.

Boston scored 41 points, the most against Detroit in a quarter this season, in the final stanza to move within a half game of Washington in the battle for the best record in the NBA.

Nelson scored 12 of his game-high 27 points in the final quarter to keep Portland in front as the Bucks threatened to take the lead by twice getting within two points of the Blazers.

Portland held a 91-87 lead with four minutes to play, but Neal hit two buckets in the next two minutes to provide the margin of victory.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led Milwaukee with 26 points and 13 rebounds, Sidney Weeks led the winners with 21 while Neal added 19 and Johnson 14.

Warriors shade Suns

OAKLAND (UPI)—Rick Barry marked his return to action after a two-game absence with a 28-point effort Tuesday night to lead Golden State to a 131-101 National Basketball Association victory over the Phoenix Suns.

Warriors dominated the boards—the first Indiana rebounding in Phoenix 22-15.

Mike Bantom led the losers with 26 points and nine rebounds.

The victory cut the Warriors' magic number to four in their quest for their first division championship since the 1967 campaign.

Bruins favored to beat Montana

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Far West NCAA Regional Basketball Playoffs open here Thursday evening with UCLA favored, as it has 10 of the last 11 years, to advance to the semifinals of the national championships.

Montana has a game plan for the Bruins, and it is right out of Marty Harshman's film clips of the Washington Huskies' 103-83 rout of UCLA in Eugene.

When Mary was at Washington State. "Naturally, when I learned we will be up against UCLA I called Mary, and he told me, 'Just get in front in a hurry and stay in front.'"

Cincinnati smarter with Louisville loss

CINCINNATI (UPI) — University of Cincinnati basketball coach Gene Catlett says his team has "smartered up" since losing to Louisville last week.

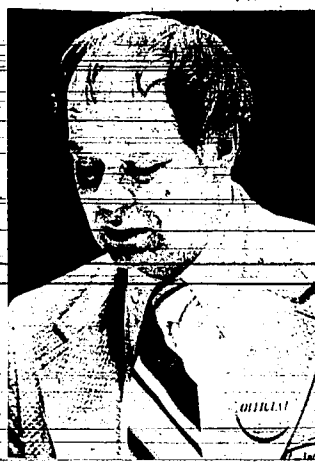

Those last few minutes," he said, "would we have won if I sure think so."

The third-year coach also remembers that Louisville coach Donny Crum "said something about Louisville not being excited about playing us."

"We had no concrete plan the last time. Nothing was firming up. We were still searching for a set team. We thought we had to adjust to them."

Louisville committed 20 turnovers in the January game. And, last season, Catlett's Bearcats whipped Crum's Cardinals twice.

Two of the West's better guards, Hickey Solers of the Rebels, and Lionel Hollins of Arizona State, will be against one another.

UCLA's next

UNIVERSITY OF Montana basketball coach Jud Heathcote does not look like a winner as he walks sidelines during Grizzlies game against Utah State last Saturday.

Rose Bowl chosen for '77 Super Bowl

HONOLULU (UPI) — Pasadena, Calif., will host Super Bowl XI in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 9, 1977.

Defense better than Irish luck

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — The way Digger Phelps looks at it, a little defense is better than a lot of Irish luck when it comes to stopping the Terrapins.

Phelps feels the consistent play of Danfilley and his in-section of football.

Lucas, Mac Howard and Brad Davis, the Terrapins have averaged 60.2 points per game this season.

The Maryland-Notre Dame matchup is the second game of the tournament's opening round.

WFL Hornets must raise $345,000

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — The Charlotte Hornets will remain in the World Football League if the team can raise an additional $345,000 over the next two weeks.

"I think it's a goal we can reach and a goal we are going to reach," said Bell of the reduced amount.

Thigpen said the $1.5 million goal needed by March 31 was reduced, in part, because the Hornets players agreed to accept straight percentage contracts.

Under such contracts, players are paid a percentage of the gate receipts rather than a fixed salary.

Yanks top Pirates in charity games

BY FRED DOWN
UPI Staff Writer

The New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates have completed one series of exhibition games in which they met in a doubleheader at the stadium of Roberto Clemente's Sports City.

The Yankees followed up their Monday night victory in San Juan, P.R., by leading the Pirates 5-1 in the first game. Tuesday night, the Yankees won both games played for the benefit of the sports complex Clemente planned before his death. His 1974 estate, in a plane crash.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Verna Clemente, widow of the former Pirate outfielder, broke ground at the site of the complex.

George Metch, a Big game winner last season, pitched six innings of one-hit ball for the Yanks.

Yankers who scored all their runs in the first inning off Jerry Reuss. Two of the runs were unearned, resulting from a passed ball and an infield error.

The victory was the eighth of the season for the Yankees in 12 games while the Pirates suffered their ninth loss in 12 games.

The afternoon ceremonies at the site of the Sports City were presided over by Pittsburgh General Manager Joe J. Brown, Manager Danny Murtagh and players Willie Stargell, Al Oliver and Manny Sanguillen. Also present was Yankees Manager Bill Vardon, one of the Pirates' managers during the Clemente era.

Don Baylor, probably the hottest hitter in any spring camp with a 520 average and four homers in his last 120 games, hit two homers as the Baltimore Orioles outslugged the Texas Rangers 11-8. Al Bumbly added three singles to the Baltimore attack which built an early 11-1 lead. Jim Palmer, 1973 Cy Young Award winner who had a sore arm and a 7-12 record last season, allowed three runs and seven hits in six innings.

Elsewhere on the exhibition circuit, Iron Man Mike Marshall, who appeared in a record 106 games last season, checked into the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp. Rookie Randy Bass' two-run double in the ninth inning lifted the Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Greg Gross had three hits and drove in two runs in the Houston Astros' 5-2 win over the Kansas City Royals.

Cal Green, who honored the sixth and seventh innings, drove in the winning run with a single in the ninth as the Milwaukee Brewers topped the Oakland A's 8-7.

Bill Madlock's two-run triple was the big blow of the Chicago Cubs' 4-1 triumph over the San Francisco Giants. Third baseman Ed Crosby's throwing error in the 10th inning enabled the winning run to score.

The California Angels' 5-4 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Heggie Smith had a homer and triple in the St. Louis Cardinals' 12-3 romp over the Philadelphia Phillies.

San Jacinto tops Anderson

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Guard Ray Williams scored 34 points Tuesday night, leading San Jacinto, Pasadena, Tex., to an 84-75 victory over Anderson, S.C., in the first round of the national junior college basketball tournament.

San Jacinto, the nation's second-ranked team, trailed 43-49 at halftime, but scored the first eight points in the second half and never trailed again.

Anderson, suffering only its second loss this season, was led by Karlton Hilton in 29 points.

Western Texas of Snyder, paced by Bob Miller's 25 points, dumped Houston College, Bridgeport, Conn., 91-57, in another first round game.

Snyder drops Houstonie

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Western Texas of Snyder, sparked by Bob Miller's 25 points, speed away from Houston College, Bridgeport, Conn., 91-57, Tuesday night in the first round of the national junior college basketball tournament.

Anderson, S.C., met San Jacinto College, Pasadena, Tex., in the final night game.

Western Texas jumped ahead at the start and raced to a 40-21 halftime advantage and was never threatened. Terry Mitchell was high for Houstonie with 11 points.

Alvin Bradley's 21 points sparked Uica, Miss., to a 73-67 triumph in another first round action.

Utica tips Essex in NJCAA

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Alvin Bradley scored 31 points Tuesday night to pull Uica, Miss., to a 73-67 victory over Essex College, Newark, N.J., in the first round of the national junior college basketball tournament.

Uica, in the second night game.

Trailing 7-32 at halftime, Uica went ahead in an 11-0 spurt in a four-minute span in the second half, 43-41, and held a lead to the finish.

Tom Harris hit 21 points and Ricky Green added 20 points to lead 10th-ranked Uica, 73-67, over Essex.

Uica's Bradley led in earlier first round action.

Westchester tops Lake Land

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Don Ingram scored 24 points and boosted Westchester, N.Y., to a 76-64 victory over Lake Land, Ill., in the first round of the 20th annual National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Westchester hit 60 percent from the field in the first half to open up a 30-13 halftime lead. Its biggest lead was 62-35 with 15 minutes left in the game.

Lewis McEachus had 20 points for Westchester. Mark Hove led Lake Land scoring with 15 points.

In the first game of the day, Kenny Davis hit 22 points and grabbed 18 rebounds to lead Southern Idaho to a 70-62 win over Sheridan, Wyo.

The score was tied 10 times in the first half but Southern Idaho pulled out to a 10-point lead early in the second half and never trailed.

Sheridan's Jeff Chapman had 20 points.

Sixteen teams are playing in the double elimination tournament. The championship game is Saturday.

Vincennes upsets Hutchinson

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Tom Harris scored 44 points and Ricky Green added 20 Tuesday to top ranked Hutchinson in the first round of the 20th national junior college basketball tournament.

Essex County College, Newark, N.J., met Uica, Miss., in the first night game.

Vincennes' head command early and raced to a 34-15 halftime advantage. The Glens' led the team as they scored 20-16 in the first 10 minutes.

Hutchinson hit only four points in the closing minutes.

Randy Boyts hit 24 points and Al Green produced 19 for Hutchinson, which moved into the losers' bracket.

Don Ingram scored 25 points, leading Westchester, N.Y., to an 85-66 verdict over Lake Land, Ill., in another first round game.

Vaulter working harder

LOS ANGELES (UPI) Al Montreal on Jan. 12 in the first pre-track meet of the year.

Montreal's Steve Smith, 20, said:

"It was the highest any pole vaulter has ever gone indoors. In the 10th International Track Association meets at Salt Lake City, some of the best of the world are being held here. I've been working harder than ever since my 19-21."

"Maybe it's the lack of meets. We've only had three this year and that's not enough. From now on, though, we'll be going almost every weekend until the end of the season."

A graduate of South Torrance, Calif. High School, Smith won $1,000 plus an $800 wood cartilage in his last meet of the year. He missed out winning $2,000 in the two meets since.

"That's what I mean by being motivated," he said.

"When there's money out there to be won, it's easy to motivate yourself."

Smith will have a chance to win some more dollars Saturday when the IFA holds its fourth meet of the year at the Sports Arena here.

Smith will be in pretty high this year, he said. "I mean real high. I think I'm capable of 19 feet. Yes, that would be real enjoyable."

Off course, you'd have to have ideal conditions so it would probably have to come outdoors rather than indoors.

"He then listed Ed Pace, Tex. and Eugene Ore., two outdoor dates on the IFA calendar this year. He then listed 19 feet for 19 feet to happen."

Smith won 184 outdoors at 17' 1" last year and '66. Segreen's world record of 17' 5" was set at the 1972 U.S. Olympic trials in Eugene.

Googalongo wins match

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) Second round of the Googalongo of Australia easily captured its opening round match Tuesday night in the Maureen Connally Brinker Tennis Tournament.

Don Scaevon, Nuneaton, was upset by former college champion Garre Meyer.

Miss Meyer, 19, the National Ladies' Collegiate Champion last year from Marymount College, defeated Mrs. Gunter, 5-3, 6-7, 6-6.

Smith won 184 outdoors at 17' 1" last year and '66. Segreen's world record of 17' 5" was set at the 1972 U.S. Olympic trials in Eugene.

Richie Allen calls Sox, wants to play this year

TAMPA Fla. (UPI) — Red Sox owner slugger, Richie Allen, who obviously has changed his mind about wanting to play this year, called on the Chicago White Sox, presumably about joining the team.

Allen, who owns and races thoroughbreds in Pennsylvania, is the brother of the White Sox's general manager, Al Rosen, who has called Allen about joining the team.

Wepner desperate to win, Ali says

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali implied Tuesday that Chuck Wepner is so anxious to win the title that he will fight dirty.

"This is a heavy kick and fight and his camp is desperate to win," Ali said. "He is down to 225 pounds. They might unconsciously let him win whatever way he can. It's a heavy kick and fight and his camp is desperate to win."

Ali, who weighs 235 pounds, Tuesday with Larry Holmes in his last fight in boxing when he fought George Chuvalo and Jerry Quarry but never returned to the ring.

Wepner planned to take today, off and rest. Braverman said, "He's been working like a horse getting ready for this fight with Ali and even a horse needs some rest now and then."

But Dundee said he planned to have the champion, who has been taking his training lightly, go strong through the fight.

"The fight's less than a week away and this is no time to let up even against Wepner," Dundee said.

Ali agrees. "It's taking a lot to beat him, but the title holder said since he's been out and lost because of it. But he's never taken the count."

Manager Al Braverman has encouraged his man to be a patient puncher and act away with whatever he can because he's a brawler.

"If he beats me using his jab, I'll be in a sticky situation. He might start talking. Ali said it would cause a disturbance everywhere including the shows where the fight is being televised."

"People might think it's a war, but it's not. It's a boxing match. Wepner is a manager. Al Braverman has encouraged his man to be a patient puncher and act away with whatever he can because he's a brawler."

Washington plays best when behind

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "I play my best when we're behind," said Richard Washington. "Richard" has responded very well under pressure. John Wooden noted "I'm very pleased with him."

When people talk about Wooden's UCLA Bruins, they're first likely to mention All-American Dave Meyers. But Washington, the slick 69 sophomore from Portland, Ore., is getting to be a conversation piece, too.

In a pressure-packed, NCAA West-Regionals' first-round game at Pullman, Wash., Saturday night, Washington scored 22 points and picked off 17 rebounds in a 103-91 overtime victory by the No. 1 ranked team over Oregon.

He was 11 for 14 from the floor and 8 for 8 after halftime.

He hit the tying basket the previous weekend as UCLA came from behind to shatter Southern California's 24-year "miracle" straight Pacific title.

"I sort of get my second wind when we get behind," Washington said. "I feel confident in those situations."

Against the Volunteers, the Bruins trailed 40-46 at halftime. The score was deadlocked 87-87 at the end of regulation time.

"Maybe we underestimated them," admitted Washington when asked about Michigan. "I knew I tried not to but subconsciously it still was a fact that we were playing a second place on the Big Ten team."

Washington played much of the second half against Michigan with four fouls but he didn't foul out.

"I guess," he said, "I've had a lot of practice playing with four fouls. I've had four fouls in a lot of games this season."

In the year after Bill Walton departed, the improvement of Washington has been one of the big factors for UCLA's 24-3 record. He's the No. 2 scorer behind Meyers with a 15.3 average.

Now the Bruins go to Washington's home town, Portland, to face Montana in the West Regionals' semifinals Thursday night.

Washington, who now is starting at center in place of 7-3 Ralph Brundage after opening the season as a regular for Wildcat, is impressed with Indiana's Hoosiers, the nation's No. 1 rated team and the favorite in this season's NCAA tournament.

"I saw Indiana play on television and they're a good team, especially on the back boards," he said. "We have to be ready to defend in every position but they have more muscle."

"I like the way they move the ball and shoot."

Of the Bruins' opponents after 27 games, Washington was the most impressed with fifth-ranked Maryland. UCLA defeated the Terrapins 81-75 in its eighth game of the season at College Park, Md.

"I'd rate Maryland as the toughest of the teams we've played and we did beat them pretty handily," he said.

Golden Gloves winner

HIGH SCHOOL sophomore Larry Cassey, took top honors in his weight division of 125 pounds in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament in Boise Saturday.

MV boxers win Golden Gloves

BOISE — Three Maine Valley boxers won Golden Gloves Boxing Championships in Boise this weekend.

Twin Falls High School student Gene Turley, 17, fought two bouts to win the Golden Gloves Championship for both the 160 and 175 pound divisions.

Turley was also named the most outstanding boxer of the tournament for his performance.

Larry Cassey, 16, of Twin Falls, beat two opponents to win the championship in his 125 pound weight division.

In the 120 pound class for 16 year olds, Harry Jewett, Gooding defeated Rocky Anderson, Matsung Job Corps for the Golden Gloves Championship of that division.

In a stunning upset, Dirk Godby, Gooding, lost to Brent Lusk, Fort Hall, in the 147 pound division championship fight.

Allen Henington, Twin Falls, was runner up in the Junior Olympic Division for 14 year olds in the 125 pound class. He lost his only one point to Fort Hall.

Lennie Alvey, Twin Falls, was runner up in the 14 year old, Junior Olympic Division in the 125 pound class. He lost to Jim Thieman, Pocatello.

Boston meets Kansas St.

BOSTON (UPI) — Bob Zuffelato, emissions, a board-hurting pace between his Boston College team and Kansas State Thursday night in an opening round game of the NCAA Eastern Conference basketball playoffs.

The Eagles, who play the nightcap at Providence following the Syracuse-North Carolina game, match-up against Kansas State in form speed and attempt to have the rebounding edge.

"We're both running teams. Their guards are both quick and like to push the ball up the floor. And they like to control the tempo of the game," said the B.C. coach. "We've got to prevent their guards from running wild."

The guards rating attention will be Charles Williams (21 point average) and Mike Evans (17 average). Evans tops the offense which consists of "screaming inside and screening down tight for the guards."

Mel Weldon, the Eagles' top defensive player, and Wil Morrison will be responsible for the two state guards while 6-10 center Billy Collins will be assigned the Wildcats' other big scorer, 6-10 Carl Gerlach.

Gerlach and Williams netted 20 points each last weekend in the Wildcats' 60-62 regional playoff win over Penn State.

Boston College used balanced scoring and team speed to topple taller Furman 77-72 in their regional tournament win.

Zuffelato said he hoped his team would have the rebounding edge against Kansas State after watching the Eagles get 19 fewer rebounds than Furman.

"There'll be mismatches and they (Kansas State) will have problems," said Zuffelato, noting that 6-6 Bob Carrington and 6-6 guard Morrison have their opponents "with Morrison at guard we actually have three wings."

"But I see from the films that Kansas State is a very tough defensive club. They use an overplay, denial defense and try to prevent our running."

"I think the fans are going to see two fine defensive battles, and two teams that like to run."

In Tuesday's action Lynwood dropped Big O Three 61 to 35. McVey's moved into the championship bracket by taking a first round win over Kimberly 52 to 27, and the Twin Falls Third Ward dropped the Filer Police 53-41.

Ed & Joe's Stockade edged Froy Clear Store 50-49 and the Tappan Club topped Dave's Big Chief 55-55 in overtime.

Tonight's schedule includes: Langer Drywall vs. Goodfellow at 6 p.m.; Le Moyne Healy vs. Prospector-Pioneer at 7 p.m.; Mc & Ed's Pizza vs. Koto Cafe at 8 p.m.; Lynwood vs. McVey's at 9 p.m. and Twin Falls Third Ward vs. Ed & Joe's Stockade at 10 p.m.

Each game is played in 15 minute halves. Free throw shooting on common fouls is conducted only in the final five minutes of each game.

Consolation semi-finals begin play at 7 and 7 p.m. Saturday with the Championship semi-finals at 8 and 8 p.m.

Consolation finals are set for 7 p.m. Saturday with the Championship game at 8 p.m.

Women's winners

JUDO experts Vicki Winder, left, and Carla Kay, both Wendell, won honors in the women's tournament over the weekend at the College of Southern Idaho. Women competed as part of the annual Northwestern Collegiate Judo tournament.

Layce takes judo Grand Championship

TWIN FALLS — Bob Layce, Idaho State University, took grand championship honors at the sixth annual Northwestern Collegiate Judo meet here over the weekend.

More than 100 college students from five western states participated in the event. All two and four year colleges in Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana and Utah were eligible to compete.

The top three winners in each division may now compete in the college national championships in April at Michigan State College.

Wes Dobbs said the local event at the College of Southern Idaho.

Wes Dobbs said the local event at the College of Southern Idaho was a hard fought contest but was completed without a single injury because of the high quality of the players' ability and outstanding refereeing by Guy Matsuoka, sandan; Frank Hirai, shodan; Wayne Hamilton, shodan, and other officials.

Winners in the Twin Falls event included: 154 lb. class, Chen Tain, (native of Taiwan) Brigham Young University.

first: 165 lb. class, Jesus Custenosa, University of Utah; first: 176 lb. class, Boy Loyst, ISU; first: 205 lb. class Jeff Brennan, ISU; resident of Filer; first: 203 lb. division, Ken Wiseman, BSU, Boise; first: John Weston, CSI, in that order.

Boise State University won the top team trophy. IKKAZU, first degree brown belt; Shodan, first degree black belt; Vicki Winder, Wendell, placed first in the women's lightweight event. She is 11 years of age. Carla Kay, Wendell, 17, placed first in senior ladies middle weight. Carla Proctor, Emmett was middleweight winner in the girls event.

Other winners in the women's event included lightweight, Gloria Goodrich, BYU, and Edie Sloan, BYU, heavyweight.

Officials said next year's event will be held either at BYU, Utah, or ISU, Pocatello.

Other Judo competition was held over the weekend in Ogden. Greg Dobbs and Bill Benkula, both Twin Falls, received first place trophies in the Ogden event in lightweight competition.

Salmon may join fish suit

SALMON The Salmon Chamber of Commerce has filed a lawsuit with the state seeking to protect the anadromous fish runs of the state. Wayne L. Kidwell, Idaho attorney general, advised the chamber that Idaho will file a complaint in the U.S. Supreme Court to protect the various anadromous fish from extinction. The suit will name Oregon and Washington as defendants. Kidwell said steelhead, chinook, sockeye salmon and other species are in danger and because of commercial fishing on the Columbia River and hydroelectric dams, a very small percentage of the fish are able to return to their spawning grounds in Idaho. With proper regulation and increased fish hatchery production, the runs can be revitalized at little expense to any of the parties involved. Kidwell said. Such cooperation has not voluntarily come about and it is for this reason that we seek a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court. Kidwell asked the chamber to join in the suit by being named on the brief as a friend of the court.

News Of Servicemen

TWIN FALLS The Civil Air Patrol is offering more than $40,000 in college scholarships and grants to eligible members in the nation. Maj. Ray Crandall, local commander of the Blue Eagle Squadron of the Idaho Wing CAP, said that national headquarters at Atlanta, is considering applications from CAP members for the stipends. If you are a CAP member, he said, your application could be in that number. Through the "Joining Civil Air Patrol is no guarantee of receiving one of these scholarships. An applicant's school record and activity in CAP are considered for the scholarships, he said.

Lt. Earl B. Newham, information officer at the CAP office at 316 Tyler, said people interested in joining Civil Air Patrol should contact him there after 5 p.m. or call 734-3825.

FOR 'RUFUS' THURSDAY MAR. 20, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Poor judgment and lack of obtaining support from those in authority are the main aspects of the morning. You are able to have a happy time in the late afternoon and early evening with the one you love. Your intuition is very accurate today.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The morning could be tense, but uncertain but the afternoon becomes calm and very productive. Consider a financial offer.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make the right arrangements with associates to have greater abundance in the future. Utilize your greatest potentials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Financial affairs are difficult in the morning but later you can get fine results. Find a new outlet to add to your income.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Was tired the afternoon before making new plans. Be sure to keep a promise you have made. Avoid the social tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Make long range plans for the future with associates. Steer clear of an opponent who is jealous and vindictive. Be poised.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Don't take any risks where your career work is concerned during the day. Try to be more cooperative with associates.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) If you gain the support of a helper, you can reach your objective instead of feeling slighted by those who promise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) If you change your methods now you can become a more effective individual. Attend the social tonight and express happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Morning could be disappointing where an associate is concerned but later all works out fine. Don't lose your temper.

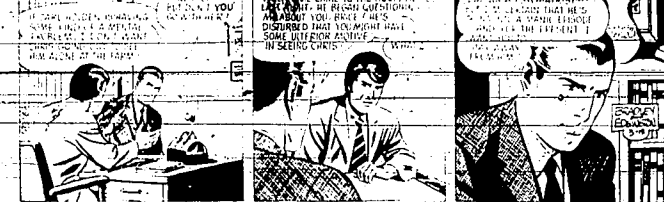

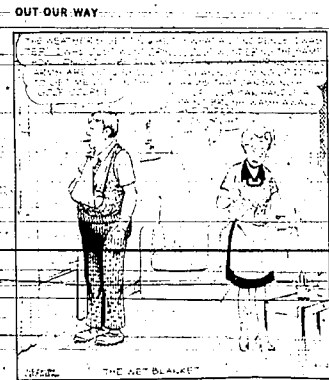

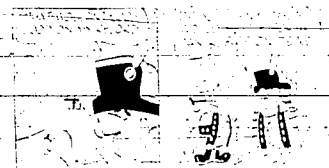

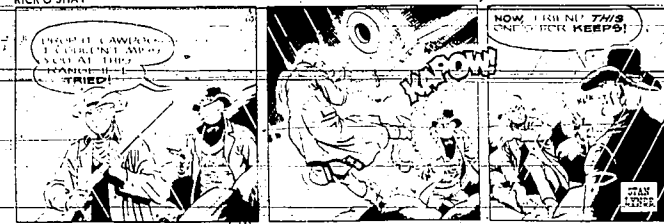

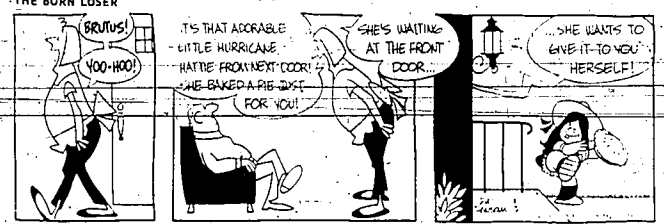

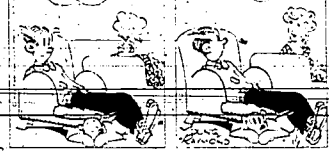

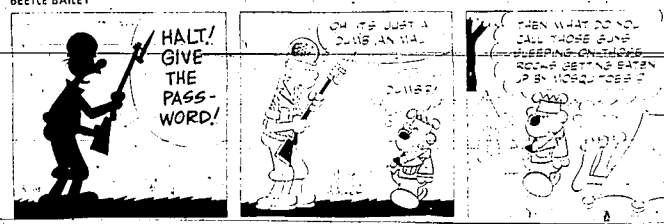

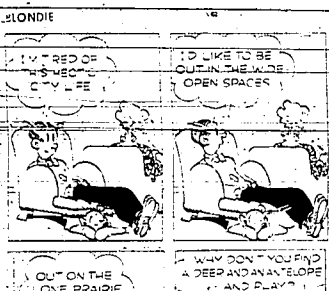

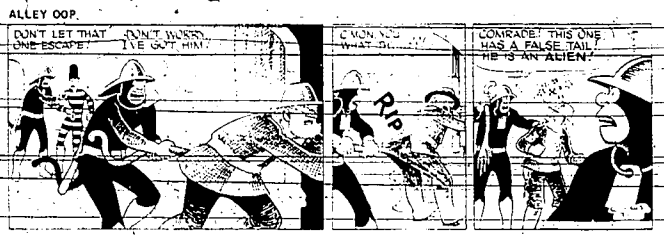

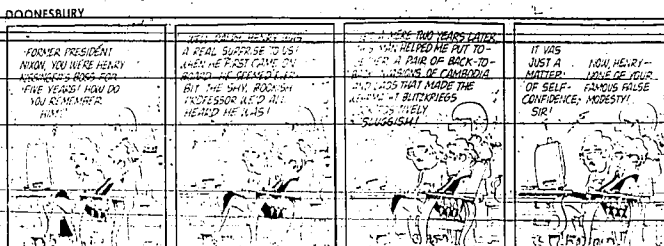

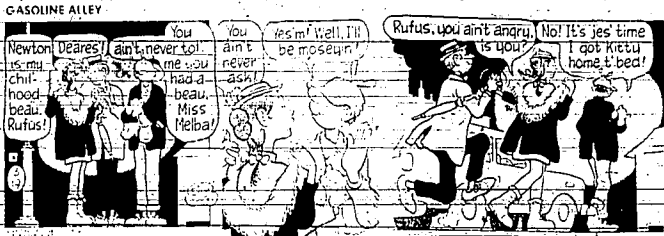

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Discuss new ideas with associates. Don't renege on any promises you have made. Take time to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Little progress can be expected in the morning but conditions improve later in the day. Don't neglect health treatment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get away from tense conditions at home and engage in some activity that is interesting and pleasurable. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will require a good deal of rest in order to develop properly early in life. Direct the education along lines of business, especially where toys are concerned. Because of a desire to please, much time will be spent in the kitchen.

"The stars and they do not compete." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

That move to license car mechanics is picking up. Fourteen states now are holding hearings on mandatory licensing against car repairmen. It's expected some of the states soon will have the machinery set up to fine and even jail such tinkers if they aren't certified.

LOOK in the mirror if you will. It's the next side of your face more strongly developed than the left. Such is the case in 60 out of 100 persons, according to the medical profession.

FOUR FIFTHS of the population are right-handed, as is proved on a good deal.

FUSSY PEOPLE What's the difference between a woman and a comedian? A humorist.

What's the difference between a woman and a comedian? A humorist. That's why a woman who feels neglected otherwise, a humorist never asked her name and scratches his head behind his back.

IF YOU WANT to be a comedian, better avoid them. Short Shuffie, Dickens was a comedian, but the rests between the study periods tend to also for in your head about it as you try to remember.

MOST FASHION experts say an air of mystery is what should be worn by a woman. It's the mystery that makes the man of the street.

SQUIBBLES needed in the kitchen to be the best needed in the kitchen of a woman. It's the mystery that makes the man of the street. It's the mystery that makes the man of the street.

LONG WORDS A woman's mind is a very interesting thing. It's the mystery that makes the man of the street.

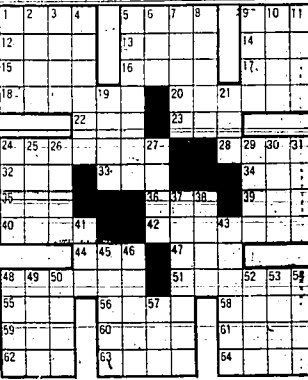

HUNGARIAN researchers have found that the average of the human race is 70 years old.

WHAT is the best way to get a woman's attention? It's the mystery that makes the man of the street.
