By United Press International
The swallows were nesting in Capistrano, dogwood trees and jonquills were in bloom, and geese were winging north today as spring made its 1975 debut.
But Willie Smith of Murphysboro, Ill., wasn't convinced.
For one thing, says Smith, the snakes and woady worms aren't out yet. And spring won't really arrive until they appear.
"It's beautiful weather now, but we're going to have some more very bad winter weather later — and more snow. The 75-year-old Southern Illinois naturalist said.
Smith operates the American Museum in Murphysboro, Ill., and has been predicting the weather for 60 years through observation of wildlife and plants.
"The purple martins'll be here soon, and that's a good sign. But when the water mecoasias and the woady worms come out, that's when spring really starts," he said.
The lilacs were budding and the jonquills were in bloom in Southern Illinois and geese on their northerly migration were flocking to state preserves.
The swallows, except for a few stragglers, have returned to San Juan Capistrano, Calif., right on schedule and have taken up residency, as usual, in the towers of the 200-year-old mission.
Scattered golf courses were open for north as Albany, N.Y., and the dogwoods and azaleas were in bloom in much of Dixie. Sailboats dotted the water on the Ross Bark reservoir in Jackson, Miss., but spring flooding threatened much of the southland.
The rain-swollen James River threatened to flood Richmond today for the fourth time in six years.
Richmond officials began evacuating a few families from the most threatened areas near the James. Businessmen in the city's law-fying east end spent most of the day boarding up their shops and loading goods.
The Mississippi River and its tributaries also were out on their annual spring rampage, flooding more than 1.3 million acres of lowlands in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas and prompting Winona, Minn., officials to hire workers to fill sandbags in case the mighty Mississippi gets a supply.

Support bill faces veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite threats of a likely presidential veto, the Senate Agriculture Committee today approved a fattened-up emergency farm bill that included milk supports cut by the house.
The house Thursday approved a one-year support bill including hikes in 1975 support prices for feed grains, wheat, cotton, soybeans and milk. Agriculture secretary Earl L. Butz labeled the house version unacceptable on grounds it would lead to lost markets for farmers and higher prices for consumers.
Nevertheless, the senate committee approved a three-year version of the bill with higher milk and cotton supports than the house had adopted. Some critics have claimed that consumers would be forced to pay $495 million more for milk and other dairy products under the house version and $934 million under the senate committee bill. The house vote was 259 to 162, short of the two-thirds margin which would be required to override a veto.
The Senate committee bill — which leaders said may reach the senate floor for a vote Saturday, restored the original House committee cotton support target of 40 cents a pound and the milk support of 85 per cent of parity. For grains and soybeans, the senate committee bill sets the same support rates adopted by the House in an effort to encourage high food production this year, but unlike the house bill the Senate version also would escalate supports in 1976 and 1977. The senate measure also includes an amendment raising price supports on tobacco.

Phys taxes
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., plans to pay an estimated $240,000 when he gets a bill from the Internal Revenue Service, his press secretary Betty Smith said Thursday.
Humphrey owes the money in back taxes and interest because the IRS disallowed a deduction of $20,152 for pre-presidential papers he donated to the state historical society.

Susan on vacation
VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — Susan Ford, accompanied by a close friend and a Secret Service agent, arrived in Colorado Thursday for a spring vacation on the ski slopes where her family spent the Christmas holidays.
Miss Ford, 37, stepped from a commercial jet at Denver's Stapleton International Airport to a car waiting to drive her, and Barbara Mandelso, 38, of Chevy Chase, Md., to the resort 40 miles west.

The President's daughter said before leaving her father's staff she would stay on vacation until March 31, the day after Easter. She said her parents planned to spend the Easter holiday in Palm Springs, Calif.

Honored
PARIS (UPI) — President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing will present the Legion of Honor medal to Eunice Shriver Friday at a luncheon attended by Caroline and John Kennedy Jr., children of the late President John F. Kennedy.
French officials said the medal honors Mrs. Shriver's work as ailing, handicapped children as founder of the Franco-American Volunteer Association.

Tax relief added
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today voted a 13-week extension of unemployment benefits, special tax breaks for Chrysler Motor Co. and a new $800 million deduction of child care payments for parents who work.
The amendments were added in rapid-fire order to a tax cut package which grew rapidly above its original $11 billion size. The bill also contains tax rebates up to $240 and special $100 one-time payments to all Social Security recipients.

Solons approve land use bill

By BILL L. LAZARUS
Time-News-Writer
BOISE — After a long and bumpy road, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' key land-use bill has passed the legislature.
Representatives voted 37-31 Thursday in favor of the measure which requires cities and counties to plan.
All but one of Magie Valley's 10 representatives opposed the bill. Rep. Steve Antone, R-Hupert, voted for passage.
The House's favorable response spurred hope among planning advocates that two other measures which have passed the Senate can be brought out of the House Resources and Conservation Committee and win approval.
Committee chairman Clifford Scoreby, R-Iona, predicted the two bills "probably" would come out of committee today. Scoreby voted against the first bill, both in committee and on the floor. Four other planning measures backed by Andrus were defeated in the Senate.
In addition to reworking planning, the key bill sets guidelines for balanced representation on planning and zoning commissions and prohibits commissioners from participating in decisions where a conflict of interest might be involved.

Terrified exodus in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops shelled a former South Vietnamese capital today and advanced closer to the current one — Saigon Government forces blew up a key bridge outside the former imperial capital of Hue, 200 miles north of Saigon, in a desperate bid to slow down Communist tanks and troops menacing the evacuation.
Thirteen provinces have now been abandoned by the Saigon government or their residents, or both, to the Communists, nearly one-third of all the provinces in South Vietnam.
The Saigon command said Communist tanks and troops overran Hue, the base camp, 35 miles west of Saigon, after an hour's battle on Tuesday.
Due Hue, a former U.S. Special Forces camp located five miles outside Hue district town, is a few miles west of Xuan Loc, a key government base defending the Western approaches to the capital.

Bloodied soldiers and weary women, shoeless old men and mistreated children trudged along South Vietnam's winding roads in a terrified exodus from a third of the country's provinces.
The South-Vietnamese government evacuated or began pulling out of 11 provinces. Panicky civilians fled on their own from three others.
Field military reports said government mines screening the evacuation of Hue's 200,000 inhabitants destroyed a vital bridge over the My Chanh River on Highway 14, 21 miles north of Hue, in their rear-guard action to buy time for refugees streaming southward.
Communist gunners lobbed 30 rounds of artillery and rocket fire into Hue city, its suburban airport, and the headquarters of the 1st Infantry Division. No casualties were reported.
Highway 1, which runs 50 road miles from Hue to Da Nang was packed solid with vehicles bringing out Hue refugees.

Utility expects clean air

By DAVID HORSMAN
Time-News-Writer
TWIN FALLS — Idaho Power Co. issued a statement today saying it "expects" to meet stringent new federal air pollution standards of its proposed Pioneer coal-fired plant even though the plant has escaped through the new rules.
However, Idaho Power president James H. Bruce stopped short of making a public pledge that the plant will conform to the new strict pollution standards.
He said the million-dollar plant planned near Boise is expected to meet Class II standards under a regulation for prevention of significant air-quality deterioration.
Bruce could not be reached today to answer questions on his news release.
It was recently disclosed that the Pioneer plant will be exempt from the new pollution rules because Idaho Power ordered equipment for it last year. According to a loophole definition in the regulations, the coal-fired plant is now "under construction" and therefore is exempt from the new strict pollution standards.
The new standards, which took effect on Jan. 6, gave the entire nation a Class II pollution designation, which is considered to be a compromise between Class I, which allows very little pollution, and Class

II, which allows maximum pollution. Specific areas of states may later be designated Class III.
According to pollution figures based on the sister Jim Bridger coal-fired plant in Wyoming, which is partially owned by Idaho Power, the Idaho plant would pollute at about twice the level permitted under the Class II standards.
Pioneer reportedly will be almost a carbon copy of the Bridger plant.
Bruce today said "Idaho Power's only reason for ordering equipment for Pioneer last year was to assure timely delivery to meet growing customer energy demands."
News reports and opinions of Pioneer have suggested that Idaho Power knew about the regulation when it ordered the equipment and that the orders were conveniently timed to avoid compliance with the Class II standards, he added.
Pioneer said it ordered some of the equipment as many as nine months before the details of the regulation were known and the company still would be in compliance with the regulation if an order for the same equipment were placed today.
The details, which Bruce refers to apparently are those contained in a Dec. 5, 1974, publication of the Federal Register.
However, a consultant hired by Idaho Power told the Times-News earlier that he informed Idaho Power of the construction definition "months ago." Asked if Idaho Power knew of the definition when it ordered the equipment, the consultant said, "I suppose so."
Also, Robert Brown, Idaho Power's news director, said the firm's engineers probably knew of the definition when the equipment was ordered.
In his news release today, Bruce said Idaho Power, "from the very beginning," has intended to design, build and operate Pioneer to meet air-quality standards set by regulatory agencies.

Larry Ek to get brain pacemaker

By GEORGE WILEY
Time-News-Writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls cerebral palsy victim Larry Ek will get his wish.
A "brain pacemaker" will be surgically implanted on Nov. 21.
According to Ek's sister, Sherry Bridger, the decision to proceed with the pioneering implant technique which may relieve Ek's crippling condition was reached after 10 days evaluative tests by doctors at St. Barnabas' Hospital in New York City.
Ek, 23, a Twin Falls native, has been crippled by cerebral palsy since birth. Caused by destruction of brain tissue controlling the nervous system, the condition results in a tightening of muscle tissue which makes it difficult for Ek to walk and to talk and impossible for him to perform such simple acts as buttoning clothing and shaving.
The brain implant procedure involves the installation of an electric stimulator which activates brain cells into performing at least part of the nervous system control function normally performed by the dead cells.
The technique, although new, has been shown to have rehabilitative results on cerebral palsy victims such as Ek.
Ek's sister called the decision by the surgical team at St. Barnabas' to go ahead with a stimulator for her brother "a miracle."
"It's something we never thought we'd see," she said. "You've got one happy family around here. . . It's going to be a great Christmas present if he's there for Christmas."
The surgery itself takes five or six hours, but the rehabilitative process which involves the patient's relearning to use crippled limbs, takes five or six weeks of hospital treatment, she said.
Ek left St. Barnabas' Hospital this morning to catch a return flight to Twin Falls. He will arrive about 12:30 p.m. Saturday after an overnight layover between flights in Salt Lake City.
Still to be solved before Ek can complete the surgery is a problem of money. An original fund-raising campaign for Ek resulted in about $5,500, but at least half of this amount will go to pay costs incurred in the evaluation period.

Henry reports talk progress

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has made progress on major parts of a new agreement between Egypt and Israel, but he ran into continued disagreement today on the basic issue of how Israel shall withdraw in the Sinai Desert.
After meeting Kissinger for two hours, the Israeli cabinet went into another special session to decide on the proposals he will take back to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in an attempt to solve the key issue blocking agreement.
Asked if agreement was close, Kissinger replied: "I wouldn't say that, no." In spite of progress there was still a gap between Egypt and Israel to be bridged, he said.
Kissinger flew here from Egypt with Sadat's latest ideas this morning, met with the Israeli ministers and then awaited their answers. He hoped he could get them before the Jewish Sabbath begins at sundown and then fly back to Egypt Saturday. Otherwise he planned to go Sunday.
A senior official aboard Kissinger's plane said the two sides were working with maps and drawing lines.
He said, however, the basic issue still appeared to be how far Israel would withdraw in exchange for Egyptian assurances through the United States that it would not resort to force — an assurance short of the non-belligerency originally demanded by Israel.

Trails proposed for TF

By DAVID HORSMAN

TWIN FALLS—An extensive trail system recommended in the proposed "open space" chapter of the Twin Falls County land use plan.

Two other proposed chapters—part of a "discussion draft" of the land use plan released Wednesday—include recommendations for preservation of Twin Falls City Park and surrounding buildings as historical sites and regulations of new housing to maintain "our quality of living, our economic base and our identity."

The proposals were written by planning director David Richey and submitted to the Twin Falls City County Joint Planning Council for review.

Richey is working on two more chapters—one on transportation and one containing the actual land-use policies and maps. When they are finished, the initial draft of the county plan will be complete.

The "open space" chapter generally outlines the potential for a trail system throughout the county that could be used by hikers, bicyclists and horseback riders.

Two trails, along Black Creek Canyon and Snake River Canyon are given top priority. Also, a flower and tree garden which would be located west and northwest of completed, public funds would be used for maintaining them.

Another proposed chapter of the land-use plan deals with historical landmarks in the county and strongly recommends that Twin Falls City Park, Porzine Coliseum, Hartman Park, Cascade Park, Mary Alice Lake, Perrine Bridge, Shoshone Falls Park, Twin Falls Park, Twin Falls Park and Casswell Park.

The privately-owned sections of the trails and scenic sites should be purchased for public use as soon as possible, according to the proposal. The land would be bought and leased back to original owners until development can take place.

After the trail properties are purchased, civic groups would then be asked to assume financial responsibility for improvement of specified sections. After the trails are completed, public funds would be used for maintaining them.

Another proposed chapter of the land-use plan deals with historical landmarks in the county and strongly recommends that Twin Falls City Park, Porzine Coliseum, Hartman Park, Cascade Park, Mary Alice Lake, Perrine Bridge, Shoshone Falls Park, Twin Falls Park, Twin Falls Park and Casswell Park.

The privately-owned sections of the trails and scenic sites should be purchased for public use as soon as possible, according to the proposal. The land would be bought and leased back to original owners until development can take place.

After the trail properties are purchased, civic groups would then be asked to assume financial responsibility for improvement of specified sections. After the trails are

Ski areas receive new snow

TWIN FALLS—From one to three feet of new snow fell during the past week in most ski resorts of the Sawtooth National Forest.

The Magic Mountain Ski area has closed for the season, while others are all planning to run into April.

Soldier Mountain received 12 inches of new snow during the week, reporting a total depth of 60 inches at the top of the slopes and 30 inches at the lodge. The upper lift will be operating weekends only, but other equipment will continue to run Wednesday through Sunday.

Pomerelle received three feet of new snow in the past week. Major runs are packed with mid-water conditions reported. Pomerelle is continuing to operate seven days a week through April 23, at April 2, the area will operate weekends only. Daily operations will be maintained through the spring vacation.

Sun Valley received 26 inches of new snow during the past week and has 82 inches at the top of Bald Mountain, 64 at the roundhouse and 43 on the Valley Floor. All facilities here are continuing to operate daily through the regular season.

Five-country skiers and snowmobilers are reminded of avalanche conditions in steep canyons because of the recent heavy snowfall. In the lower areas much of the new snow was wet and with cooling temperatures a crust may develop. Snow officials say:

Stanley has 36 inches of snow, Capetown has 72 and Sawtooth City reports 42 inches.

Remedy sought after fume injuries

By DIANE ALTERS
Times-News writer

HAZELTON — Eleven people became ill from carbon monoxide fumes at a Hazelton safe processing plant and the company has taken steps to avoid repetition of the incident.

Four of the 11 were hospitalized.

Gerald Hurst reported on the case at Wednesday's meeting of the South Central Health District.

The incident occurred Jan. 5 at Ida-Pride in Hazelton. Carbon monoxide fumes came from a welding tank that had been parked in a basement area to catch culms from a conveyor belt coming from the plant.

On the day of the incident, according to Hurst, one truck parked in the basement was started by a service attendant and left running for two hours to recharge the battery.

The persons who became ill were working within eight feet of a potter chute leading from the basement area.

Ernest Bergeson, industrial hygienist for the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, said he inspected the plant.

Bergeson said he found that carbon monoxide "was not at critical levels ordinarily, although it was higher than he felt it should be."

He said he made a suggestion to the plant manager to have the furnace checked by a repairman since he found "higher than normal" carbon monoxide levels coming from the ducts.

He also suggested that the basement area be better ventilated to minimize fumes coming into the work area. The plant had a fan that he suggested they install, he said.

Bergeson said his office operated on a consulting basis.

He would inspect workplaces upon request but was not required to do so until the first visit, as a federal inspector (Occupational Safety and Health personnel) are.

Cattlemen plan meet

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association will hold its annual meeting Saturday at the Holiday Inn with social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m.

After the social hour, to be hosted by local banks, the banquet will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Zeb Bell, bullroper and shipper, as master of ceremonies.

Roland Patrick, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, will be the guest speaker and a slide presentation will be presented by Tom Hayden, secretary of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association.

Entertainment will be "The Pick and Grinders," featuring "such nobles as Molasses Wheeler Martin, Texas Aggie Brown, the Armed Pollock Cullen and Manure Truck McWilliams." Local talent acts will also be featured.

Members with "any hidden talent" should contact Dave Martin at Farm Service.

Association Secretary George T. Peter urged all members to attend the banquet. Tickets are $6 per person for a 10 ounce sirloin steak.

Health board OK's resolution

TWIN FALLS — A resolution calling for health district approval of existing zoning systems as required by existing agencies has been approved by South Central Health Board action.

Board Chairman William H. Hanes, said Wednesday the $150 fee for the service is being held to see increasing public health costs and taxes.

Gerald Hurst, director of environmental health for the district, said Wednesday the fee is for a service requested and needed by a special individual and said the $10 cost will probably no more than cover expenses. At the same time, he said, it will give the individual assurance of a safe water system which is probably well worth the $10.

The service will be available in order to permit an individual to obtain a loan through any of the Housing and Urban Renewal programs, the Farmers Home Administration, Veterans Administration and even some banks. Unless the health department makes the inspection, the federal loans cannot be approved, he said.

Another resolution was tabled until the June meeting of the health board. It will be reviewed by county commissioners and county planning and zoning commissions in the eight county area.

The resolution provides a set of guidelines for these groups to use in approving and helping plan subdivisions in rural areas or small communities.

Jim Ingalls, assistant administrator, who presented the resolution, said the department has no intention of imposing regulations on the planning and zoning groups and the guidelines would in no way be mandatory. Some communities and counties, he said, have asked for suggestions they could follow in assuring the subdivisions are developed without creating contamination and for the benefit of the new home owners as well as the existing county development.

It covers a brief resume of questions the administrative officials can have answered by the developers to provide public protection.

Included in the resolution is a short form of five specific points of information the zoning might wish to check out before granting a go-ahead on the development.

These include the water source and its quality and quantity, the type of sewage disposal — management — of solid waste such as trash pickup and hauling, environmental effects such as erosion, air quality, noise, water pollution, industrial relations and farming relations, and last, the urban effects such as availability of schools, roads, fire and police protection, population density, shopping development, parks and recreation impact.

Easter egg hunt Saturday

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Exchange Club Easter egg hunt will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the city park bandshell.

Children will hunt eggs in four age groups, 3 and under; 4, and 5, 6, and 7, and 8 and 9.

Rick Carroco, president of the Exchange Club, said 30 gold eggs worth $1 apiece have been hidden with the eggs. Fifty silver eggs should turn up in the bandshell following the Easter egg hunt.

The eggs have been cooked and dyed by the O'Leary Junior High School home economic department students. The eggs were donated by most of the local grocery stores.

The Easter egg hunt is being coordinated through the city parks and recreation department.

Army's quaint accounting raises eyebrows

WASHINGTON — The $21.5 million "bookkeeping mistake" in Cambodian military assistance has raised eyebrows all over town and illuminated the Army's quaint accounting practices.
The officials in both the Defense and State Departments have an answer for the blunder and shifting blame onto the troops, or the seemingly sudden discovery or announcement of the "bookkeeping error."

President Ford's request for an additional $222 million for the embattled Southeast Asian country, the discovery appears to be embarrassingly fortuitous.
The idea that the Cambodians were short-changed because of the Army's pricing methods in 1974 has been heard for opponents of further aid to Vietnam.

President Ford attributed the blunder to "sloppy bookkeeping" and said he could not condone it, adding that he didn't think there was anything malicious in the action.
As pieced together from several sources, Pentagon and State Department auditors were alerted to the curious Army pricing practices by the commander in chief, Gen. James H. Doolittle, 10 months ago. The Army didn't certify the "validity" of the finding that Cambodia had been "overcharged" for the ammunition it was getting until last March 10. On March 11, fresh deliveries of aid were authorized.

Some $3 million worth of ammo had begun to move before Defense Secretary James Schlesinger learned about it, almost by happenstance. Last Thursday, he promptly put a hold order on the shipments, and on Friday informed the President about the error.
Meanwhile, the House and Senate armed services committees were notified of the discovery by Pentagon officials. The State Department was instructed to advise the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Farmers lose fair share

The farmers are taking it on the chin these days. According to Department of Agriculture figures, the farmer's share of the food dollar has fallen sharply during the past year.

This January the farmer's share had fallen below 40 cents of the consumer's food dollar. A year earlier the farmer's share had been 47 cents.

Looking at the other side of the coin, that means the middleman's share of the food dollar has risen from 53 cents to more than 60 cents.

The Department of Agriculture figures suggest that the farmers knew what they were talking about when they have complained they haven't been getting a fair share of the food dollar.

Everyone knows that farm prices have been falling from the high levels of last year, and it would be an easy mistake to assume that the falling farm prices alone accounted for the change in the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar.

But a look at the figures shows more is happening than that.

If the farm prices had fallen and the middleman's costs had remained the same, then the farmer's share would fall, and so would grocery store prices.

But as any shopper can tell you, consumer food prices didn't fall last year.

In fact, according to results of the Times-News grocery price survey, which grossly resemble national price survey results, grocery prices rose 1.8 per cent during the January-to-January period.

From the figures it is evident farmers are getting less while the middlemen are getting more. Both the farmer and the consumer suffer while the man in the middle makes a killing. It's worth looking into.

CIA and the Sub

Was it stupid and wasteful? Or clever and justifiable? The CIA's sale of a part of a sunken Soviet submarine provides the stuff of news drama. It has involved Cambodia and the economy out of the Sunner headlines, and it undoubtedly will be talked about as a mystery story replete from the gloomy news of the day.

Only intelligence experts can fully answer the above questions. But on the fact of it, the CIA was carrying out an operation well within its mandate.

This is a far cry from overthrowing legitimate governments or assisting people. It was what the times now demand the CIA do itself — gathering intelligence. Although Project Jenner was unsuccessful, its avowed purpose was to obtain information about the Soviet Union's missiles and code systems. If the Russians had a chance to lay hands on an American nuclear ship, can it be doubted they would jump at it?

Delicate Americans should be reminded, does not end an adversarial relationship with Moscow. Both nations engage in vigorous clandestine intelligence and counterintelligence activities. It would be negligent in the extreme if the U.S. failed to use every sensible means possible to determine Soviet strengths and intentions.

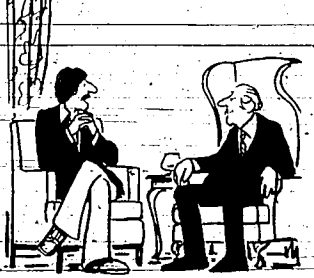

Moreover, the CIA's "stealth" in "decepting" such a technologically advanced vessel for intelligence purposes will be admired by many. For a long time the Glomar Explorer, as a deep sea mining vessel, roamed the sea looking for mineral nodules and not including the Russians, suspected its other mission.

Whether or not the Jenner Project itself was worth the high cost is controversial and is bound to be studied by the congressional panels now scrutinizing the CIA. It is possible the judgment was a mistaken one. But surely the ship is not a total loss. Although the vessel has been down and out of contact longer it is still being used for intelligence gathering. It is said to have enormous spin off value for the development of resources.

Of greater concern to many is the role of industrialist Howard Hughes, whose name has cropped up repeatedly in connection with Watergate-related activities. Have his various CIA ties interfered with government investigations of his business interests activities? Has the CIA been financing a bonanza for him?

A broader concern of what the current furor over the CIA will totally discredit the agency. It is now fashionable to publicize the CIA's odd sides and questionable judgments — usually made with presidential approval — but it should not be forgotten that the CIA has successes to its credit also. The nation needs a strong intelligence community, and it would be a disservice to the U.S. not to keep a balanced perspective of the CIA as current investigations of the organization go forward.

There's a message in Iranian arms purchases

TEHRAN — Iran is buying considerable quantities of Soviet arms for political as well as military reasons.

The Iranian government is also buying personnel carriers and artillery on a credit basis.

"I don't mind saying we are doing this to tell some quarters in the United States that we have other sources of weapons, including Russia."

This country is recently mentioned by an enormous bilateral trade pact — aimed at continuing its warm relationship with the United States.

Military matters are obviously important in formulating Iranian foreign policy. There is no doubt that it played a vital role in the recent request for arms from Iraq. The Shah is reluctant to discuss this but it is obvious that a key element in Tehran's relationship with Baghdad was returning its decision to ease oil and gas to General

Persian Gulf through which so much oil flows. This country has built up a large fleet of hovercraft and also, according to the shah, has an increasing navy.

Thus, the Shah points out, Iran's small expeditionary force in the Sultanate of Oman has nothing to do with Iranian claims. The shah wanted to help against a rebellion sponsored by South Yemen," he says. South Yemen, supported by Moscow, has a pro-Communist regime.

"We regard what is going on in a dollar country as a form of aggression and subversion," the Shah argues. "Imagine if those savages — the rebels — look over the other side at the Hormuz straits at the entrance to the Persian Gulf. Our life depends on it. They could be even worse than Communists."

The independence of one other Iranian neighbor, the Shah, Pakistan, is a far less worried issue. The Shah admits, "provided that there are no dramatic changes in that part of the world. We encourage Pakistan to follow a policy of peace toward its neighbors. But we certainly could not sit back and tolerate an aggression against Pakistan by anyone."

Iran is growing steadily stronger as a military power but it is situated in the middle of an uneasy area.

The Arab Persian Gulf states are far from stable. And what is left at Pakistan is clearly restless. What is more, the shadow of Soviet influence can be discerned from India and Afghanistan in the east to Iraq and South Yemen in the West.

The shah adamantly opposes any thought of developing a nuclear arsenal; Iran is a signatory to the nonproliferation treaty.

However, Iran is increasingly able to give a good account of its strength in any non-atomic war. The shah concedes it is not yet strong enough to defend itself against all enemies in such a conventional conflict. But in five years time that will be true.

Only gentlemen don't

Henry Kissinger, the former secretary of state, is often quoted as having said, in the blather of a character in PG Wodehouse's novel, that "gentlemen don't read other gentlemen's mail."

That observation which adorned an elaborate Central Intelligence Agency — and left us all feeling good about the national order at the time had a more sinister meaning. It may not have had something to do with failing to alert a world war which left us feeling bad, but it did warn those who read nothing that they were not gentlemen. Those who read nothing don't read other gentlemen's mail.

It is highly improbable, as Kissinger said in his most famous address, which is not to be analyzed, that self-governing republics can last long in the family of nations. There are many reasons for this, but one of them is the mistake that knowledge of everything that goes on always leads to an improvement in the general standard of living — which is not to be denied.

It is not to be denied that the CIA is doing a very full-blown job of the national matter in the vestigial of the activity of the Central Intelligence Agency are a case in point.

Miles Copeland, the author who was once with the CIA and still speaks and writes about it more authoritatively and engagingly than anyone I know, has written an excellent essay called "Is There a CIA in Your Future?"

Almost all the agency people talked to Copeland is referring to a recent visit to Washington he now lives in London.

Assuredly, he has done so, almost privately, and confidentially, and he is not to be denied.

They tell that as long as Americans they cannot do otherwise except in the unlikely event the members of the committee can be held accountable for their leaks, impossible in the present atmosphere.

"Let me give you an example. Let us suppose I'm not saying he can't let us suppose that Mrs. Biershead is not cooperating.

and in love with the CIA in its pursuit of the terrorists who have received sanctuary or refuge in his country," while expressing the Palestinians and his own distressing, by proferring publicly that he hates us. And let us suppose that some member of Senator Church's committee asks Bill Colby, Mr. Colby, is it true that President Bush is secretly cooperating with the CIA?

Well, Mr. Colby will at that moment have to choose between three alternatives. He can say, Yes, Senator, that is so. In which case, his experience tells him, the whole world will be able to read his answer the next day and either Bush or the cooperation of Bush or the of the CIA. Sorry, Senator, but that's the top secret information — with the same result, since such an answer will be interpreted as a 'yes' by the American press, the American public, and, of course, the members of the committee. Or he can say, "Who? Did you say Bush? My God, I never heard of anything so ridiculous." A lie. For the good of all of us, including the congressman who must take the blame for any leak.

Let us hope that Colby lies. Our mutual friends at the agency assure me that he will, or that if he doesn't, he will be crushed.

I cannot imagine a better example of the kind of thing we face. Congress, being by talking to enact legislation that effectively punishes someone who perpetrates a leak.

Can't do it, since of them say. But if the First Amendment makes it impossible to insist on secrecy, do you say then, "Very well, the world will get on without secrecy." Try it. But first, create a gentleman's swap.

Study subject glut on the American market

WASHINGTON — Dazzled love should be made a federal government project, like TV-A and drilling for oil in the Atlantic, but I don't go along with Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who has introduced a bill, one Eileen Biershead, a professor of psychology at the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Biershead has been awarded an $800 grant by the National Science Foundation to do a study of marriage love. Proxmire's chair of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee that approves funds for the NSF, opposes research into the reason people fall in love, because "I don't want to know the answer."

Proxmire is right, but his reason seems curious. He should be reported out that Mrs.

naughty magazines, advice to the loveless optimists, Johnny Carson, Masters and Johnson, and assorted celebrities of stage and screen, the American people may already know more than they want to about love. Starting with the first Kinsey Report, love has burgeoned into a major industry. Publishers and shrinks have made millions explaining love to the masses.

TV and radio talk shows discovered love's seductively long and every turn of the dial brings a long-winded panel discussion of why men and women fall in love, or at least go through the mechanical motions of doing so. Professional love-life players are into the act, and so are school teachers from Sore Toe, Nev., and wholesale grocers from Alaska.

Says Proxmire: "Right at the top of the things we don't want to know is why a man falls in love with a woman and vice versa." He guides late on the scene. A million answers are everywhere in print and on the airwaves. It's a slow day for the industry when Jane Fonda, Warren Beatty or a visiting Russian chick is not capably revealing her adventures in various locales.

"How to" manuals abound. The sturdy dapper who once posed over 25 of yourself books on carpentry and salt-marine building, now spends his leisure time learning the far-out techniques of lovemaking. Polygamy is okay, he is told, so long as the marital partners enjoy mutual trust.

Red light at end of Vietnam tunnel?

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces control at least 75 per cent of the territory of Indochina — and the light at the end of the tunnel may be theirs.

Once they nibbled — a village here, a town there — their district capitals are falling. Now they are in a full-fledged partnership in routing Laos and they are gobbling up whole provinces at a time in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The United States invested billions of dollars and lost lives in this part of the world. What it bought was little more than time — and that has run out for millions of Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians in the countryside.

The Indochina situation at a glance:

SOUTH VIETNAM — About 50 per cent of the territory, mostly in the highlands, is in Communist hands. The government has given up defending Pleiku, Da Nang, Koptum and Tuy Duc provinces, meaning the Communists are within a few miles of splitting the country in half. Saigon authorities also abandoned the old imperial capital of Hue along with its surrounding province of Thua Thien and have given up the northernmost provinces of Quang Tri and Binh Long just north of Saigon. Saigon still controls the populous lowland areas.

CAMBODIA — About 35 per cent of the territory is controlled by the Communists. Westerners are fleeing the capital of Phnom Penh and the U.S. Embassy has burned its papers as a precaution. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, exiled in Peking after he was deposed by Lon Nol in 1970, predicts Phnom Penh will fall within two weeks.

LAOS — Communist forces hold about 30 per cent of the country, largely to the north and west along the borders with North Vietnam and China. A coalition government that includes Communists has run the country since last April.

The coalition, including Communists, right-wingers and neutralists under Prince Souvanna Phouma, has kept the situation there relatively stable.

Governments still control most of the population centers, particularly in South Vietnam.

But gone is Pleiku, where 11 years ago a small Communist attack triggered the massive American intervention that later prompted Robert McNamara, then U.S. secretary of defense, to foresee "the light at the end of the tunnel" in stopping the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong from overrunning South Vietnam.

Pleiku is in the Central Highlands, and the government has decided it cannot be defended.

So is Dak To, where 16,000 U.S. infantry men and paratroopers stopped a similar force of Communists and proudly related at one point, "We've got this hill."

Hue is the ancient imperial capital where Americans and South Vietnamese drove back the Communists and destroyed the city in the process in early Wednesday. The Saigon government told 300,000 citizens of Hue they had better flee. The next day the city was officially abandoned.

Phnom Penh is surrounded and is still may come any day. The vital Mekong River supply route of Cambodia is under Communist control. Saigon is still relatively safe, but Communist forces hold vast areas of the countryside a few miles to the north, east and west.

The Americans have long since gone. Supposedly, South Vietnam is under a cease-fire that then-President Richard Nixon said would bring "peace with honor" when it signed Jan. 27, 1973.

But the war never really ended, and still the Communists come. Wednesday they opened up yet a new threat — against Banlung, the former "safe" capital of the rice-rich province of the same name in northwestern Cambodia.

The Communists' game is one of patience. Ho Chi Minh and his guerrillas draw on the Emperor Bao Dai in 1954. They destroyed the French at Dien Bien Phu in 1954 and gained control of North Vietnam. They waited until the American force, which reached a peak of 543,400 in April, 1969, had come and gone.

The attacks kept coming. At first, the Communists gained only a little territory at a time. The day-to-day military campaigns showed little or no losses. Then the territorial gains got bigger and losses that earlier had seemed insignificant gained importance when they added up to one huge loss.

That was the story in the Central Highlands. Last year Communist forces first overran a few isolated government posts. Then a district capital, Mong Bok, fell.

The fighting stepped up Dec. 6, and since then the government has lost about one district capital and a battalion of troops each week.

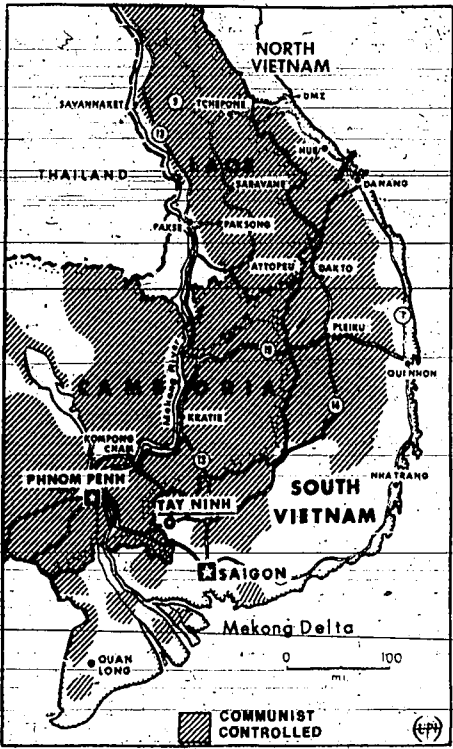

Suddenly, Ban Me Thuot in the highlands came under heavy, sustained attack. It forced President Nguyen Van Thieu to fly to Nha Trang, 188 miles northeast of Saigon, Saturday to confer with his generals.

He okayed their decision to abandon the highlands. That meant Pleiku, Koptum and Da Nang provinces for a start. The generals convinced him it was better to regroup available forces — and concentrate on holding the more strategic and populous northern lowlands.

Now the northern provinces and ones bordering Cambodia are threatened. Cut off from each other and from the outside world, the provinces and their chief towns had become impossible to defend against any concerted Communist attack.

The tide of the war has changed — and Saigon is no longer talking about the light at the end of the tunnel.

Reds control most of S. Vietnam

Coast, urban bastions all that's left to Saigon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese probably will never reclaim control of their coastal and Mekong Delta urban bastions. They said the Communists have at least 11 divisions in South Vietnam with four others held in reserve near Hanoi in North Vietnam.

In South Vietnam, a group of 200,000 civilians and 25,000 government combat troops completed the abandonment of the city of Hue early Thursday. At least eight provinces were under Communist domination and several more were threatened.

The sources described U.S. officials as gloomy. They said the Saigon government pullback from the Central Highlands and other strategic areas this week has been worse than the most pessimistic Washington forecast of last week.

One key to the Washington gloom is that Thieu ordered what can at best be described as his "strategic withdrawal" in secret and apparently with no consultation with American officials, sources said.

- Five North Vietnamese divisions are operating in the most northern of South Vietnam's four military regions where the old imperial capital of Hue has been evacuated.
- Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, on the northern coast, being Hue, is defended by one South Vietnamese division plus one Saigon regiment battalion.
- In military region two, south of Da Nang, Communist troops have cut all roads leading from the government-held coast to the Central Highlands provinces of Quang Binh and Quang Tri. About 200,000 refugees are streaming down from the highlands to the coast, inflating the Saigon problem of caring for the homeless.

The North Vietnamese have three divisions in military region three just north of Saigon. Same government outposts between Saigon and the city of Tay Ninh, near the Cambodian border, have been overrun the past few days. Tay Ninh's situation is "tenuous," and the bastion of Xuan Loc almost definitely will fall to the Communists.

In military region four, covering the Mekong Delta ricebowl area below Saigon, the Communists have three divisions of Viet Cong. The prediction is that such key South Vietnamese areas as Can Tho in the Delta shortly will come under major Communist attack.

According to the Washington view, Thieu may have helped himself in the short run by withdrawing from the highlands and the north. They said he will be in a better position to concentrate his forces in the more easily supplied and more heavily populated coastal areas.

They also held on to the Mekong Delta ricebowl.

The military and diplomatic sources said Thieu's pullback has not caused him domestic political trouble, at least as yet.

According to the outlook, the most Thieu can expect to do with available American aid is to keep his fuel and ammunition supplies adequate for defending his newly-shrunk territory.

The American aid is not enough to provide the one-for-one flow of replacements for such lost equipment as tanks and planes, when Washington promised him at the time of the signing of the Paris peace accords two years ago.

Social Security shift due?

Washington Star

WASHINGTON — The senate, faking an increasingly waryward path toward passage of an emergency income tax reduction, appears to be on the verge of changing the basic philosophy of the Social Security Act.

It was to consider Thursday an amendment by Sen. Judd H. Pastero, D-R.I., that would pump $2.4 billion out of general treasury funds into an across-the-board, 8.7 per cent increase in Social Security payments.

Historically, Social Security has been operated as a self-supporting insurance program, making payments to the elderly from a special trust fund financed by Social Security taxes.

Pastero brought his measure up late Wednesday as a "surprise," addition to the tax reduction act in retaliation against moves by the Senate Finance Committee to give tax benefits to corporations with large losses, the trucking industry and home buyers, among others.

"We have done everything for everybody else except the forgotten Americans," said Pastero, referring to the elderly, who he said would probably spend all the increase of necessities.

Because it appeared that Pastero's amendment would draw substantial support, the Senate found itself tied in parliamentary knots, unable to avoid a vote on the matter, although it is not related to the tax bill and despite the fact that it did not go through Sen. Russell B. Long's Finance committee for hearings.

Long, the Senate's reputed master of parliamentary tactics, was temporarily out of the room.

Throwing his hands to the galleries at one point, he shouted, hoarsely: "I find myself wondering why do we do these things?"

Pastero lenced with him repeatedly after Long argued that the move would change the Social Security system into a "welfare" system.

"Why is it any more welfare to help the elderly than it is to help the corporations?" Pastero asked.

He noted that the change had been approved unanimously by the caucus of Senate Democrats, of which Long is a member.

Social Security change. But I have to make a confession: I didn't know what was in it."

The Pastero amendment would move an 8.7 per cent increase in Social Security already approved by Congress for July 1 back to Jan. 1 going payments to retiree payments. Until the payroll tax picks up the increase in July, the necessary $2.4 billion would have to come out of the Treasury, increasing the federal deficit.

Wednesday, the Social Security move came as the last of a series of nonmerger moves by the Senate, most of which were aimed at ending tax benefits enjoyed by major multinational oil companies.

Russell B. Long's Finance committee for hearings.

Long, the Senate's reputed master of parliamentary tactics, was temporarily out of the room.

Throwing his hands to the galleries at one point, he shouted, hoarsely: "I find myself wondering why do we do these things?"

Pastero lenced with him repeatedly after Long argued that the move would change the Social Security system into a "welfare" system.

"Why is it any more welfare to help the elderly than it is to help the corporations?" Pastero asked.

He noted that the change had been approved unanimously by the caucus of Senate Democrats, of which Long is a member.

Social Security change. But I have to make a confession: I didn't know what was in it."

The Pastero amendment would move an 8.7 per cent increase in Social Security already approved by Congress for July 1 back to Jan. 1 going payments to retiree payments. Until the payroll tax picks up the increase in July, the necessary $2.4 billion would have to come out of the Treasury, increasing the federal deficit.

Wednesday, the Social Security move came as the last of a series of nonmerger moves by the Senate, most of which were aimed at ending tax benefits enjoyed by major multinational oil companies.

The sources described U.S. officials as gloomy. They said the Saigon government pullback from the Central Highlands and other strategic areas this week has been worse than the most pessimistic Washington forecast of last week.

One key to the Washington gloom is that Thieu ordered what can at best be described as his "strategic withdrawal" in secret and apparently with no consultation with American officials, sources said.

- Five North Vietnamese divisions are operating in the most northern of South Vietnam's four military regions where the old imperial capital of Hue has been evacuated.
- Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, on the northern coast, being Hue, is defended by one South Vietnamese division plus one Saigon regiment battalion.
- In military region two, south of Da Nang, Communist troops have cut all roads leading from the government-held coast to the Central Highlands provinces of Quang Binh and Quang Tri. About 200,000 refugees are streaming down from the highlands to the coast, inflating the Saigon problem of caring for the homeless.

Could you use four more exemptions on your Federal income taxes?

A husband and wife interested in a tax-deductible retirement program may now qualify for a Metropolitan Individual Retirement Annuity (IRA).

A working couple with no pension plan other than Social Security may each have a separate IRA and may both contribute up to the maximum based on their separate earnings: 15%, or up to $1,500 — whichever is less. Together, they may annually contribute as much as $3,000 — their tax-sheltered retirement fund, if their earnings permit the maximum contribution by each.

And even if only a husband or wife is eligible, as a couple, they still enjoy added tax benefits with only one member of the family enrolled in an IRA.

Call me if you're interested in discussing the possibility of the equivalent of two or four more exemptions on your Federal income tax.

Slow Cooker, Fast Cooker and Everything in Between!

The cooks of America are discovering the benefits of long, slow cooking. The less expensive cuts of meat become works of culinary art in hearty soups, stews and ragouts.

Everything a slow-cooker can do CORNING'S 3 + 1 range can do!

How? The thermostats under 3 of the smooth surface units keep the temperature where you set it. You can melt butter on LO and leave it without a burn or scorch worry. Turn the dial up a notch or two and a simmer stays a simmer perfect for long, slow cooking. Turn it up again and you've got all the heat you need for frying, sauteing or boiling.

With the 3 Burn Assure Units, any flat pan works best. And remember, CORNING includes 5 permanently flat pans with every 3 + 1 appliance.

The built-in, heating unit works like a conventional electric element to let you use even your non-flat pans. Great for cooking that doesn't require an exact precision.

No other range can give you the temperature you want. Heat that hot and pan versatility you want!

Come see the 3 + 1 ranges. All models have pyrolytic self-cleaning ovens and other CORNING features that will help you cook better and work less.

Father denies knowledge of Patricia Hearst case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) The father of a man sought in the search for fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst refused Thursday to answer Grand Jury questions and charged the government was conducting a "witch hunt" against his family.

John J. Scott, 66, of Las Vegas, Nev., whose son Jack is believed by the FBI to have rented a remote Pennsylvania farmhouse for Miss Hearst last fall, denied he or his son had done anything wrong.

"Apparently the FBI is trying to use me to get at my son, Jack, or perhaps even to find Patricia Hearst," Scott said in a statement read by his attorney outside the federal grand jury chambers.

"This is a gross perversion of the grand jury's historic function," he said.

"I cannot help the FBI. I do not have the information they want." "I cannot, and I will not, participate in water-gate against my son or other members of my family. We are sure that he has done nothing wrong and he will be vindicated in the end."

Scott appeared for less than 10 minutes and questioned the 5th Amendment in refusing to answer questions of the jury which has been investigating the Hearst case more than a year.

Scott's attorney, Byron Weinberg, denied to reporters that the elder Scott knew anything about Patricia Hearst's whereabouts or had ever harbored her as reported by Time Magazine. He said he knew of no contempt proceedings against Scott for his refusal to testify.

"The name of his son, Jack, 32, still sought for questioning by the FBI, entered the Hearst case after discovery of the remote northwest Pennsylvania farmhouse earlier this month. Until recently Scott, former athletic director of Oberlin College, and his wife, Micki, had lived with professional basketball star Bill Walton at Walton's home in Portland, Ore.

In a related development, law officers in Fremont County, Colorado, followed the trail of a woman suspected of being Miss Hearst to a farmhouse near Canon City, Colo., Thursday. Police kept the house under surveillance for several hours, but found no traces of the woman.

A citizen had told authorities he had seen a young woman in a restaurant in the area Sunday who was a dead ringer for Patty Hearst.

The lookalike of Miss Hearst was with a blonde woman and two men, and the silver-haired blonde woman was driving a red sports car. That car had been seen at the farmhouse, and police Thursday talked to two men living in the house and then kept the house under surveillance for several hours, but could find no trace of the car or the blonde woman.

GM strikers push for re-hiring

DETROIT (UPI) — James Forbus and Harold Lindsey think they've been working too hard while others are out of jobs.

So they're taking part in a strike against General Motors to force the giant automaker to take back some of the 12,000 workers it has laid off.

"We have to go out to make sure we get some of the men back on the job," said Lindsey.

"They got us many men off the street and too much work for the men remaining."

Forbus, a 20-year GM veteran, agreed. "It has been the same that I'm striking while so many men are laid off," he said. "But you have to support the man who's been kicked out on the street and the man who's been overworked."

Like 3,750 other members of United Auto Workers Local 15, the two men have been on strike against the Fisher Body Division's Fleetwood Plant since early Wednesday. The Fleetwood plant produces bodies for the luxury Cadillac, one of the few bright spots in the stumping industry.

That strike also is first against GM since October 1970 when 5,500 workers at the nearby Cadillac assembly plant.

GM officials say the strikers will go back to work Monday — but could walk off their jobs again if the company doesn't start re-hiring 400 workers who have been laid off at the plant.

"We'll be out again next week and the week after that if we have to," one union official said.

GM officials said they expect to recall 20 workers Monday.

Both Forbus and Lindsey feel GM was taking advantage of the recession to push workers too hard.

"They know unemployment compensation and supplemental benefits are running out for a lot of workers and they feel the people on the job will do whatever they ask," Forbus said.

And, said Lindsey, "There's just too much of a manpower cut. I think the company figured we wouldn't go out because of the economic situation, but we did. We had to."

Cadillac officials, however, are apparently taking the strike seriously. They fear a series of small strikes could interrupt production enough to break the momentum the luxury car has been gaining.

GM has some relief for laid off workers. Anticipating higher demand for its small cars, it announced Thursday that nearly 4,000 workers will be recalled from long-term layoffs after April 1 to be speeded up assembly lines.

Onassis wedding expected

GENEVA (UPI) — Christina Onassis, now in seclusion at a Swiss chalet, is expected to marry at the end of the mourning period for her father, shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis.

Miss Onassis, now one of the world's richest women, flew from Miami to Carlsbad, California, Thursday with Peter Goulandris, son of another Greek shipping family and her longtime escort.

A close friend in Athens said the couple had originally planned to marry in April but the wedding was postponed because of her father's death.

The friend said the marriage would take place once the mourning period is over.

Greek tradition calls for couples to observe a six-month mourning period before marrying, but some Greeks have cut the waiting period to as little as 30 days.

Onassis died in Paris five days ago and was buried Tuesday on Skopelos, his private island in the Ionian Sea.

Friends of the family said Miss Onassis flew to Athens "for a few days of rest" and is staying with her boyfriend at the home of Basil Goulandris, Peter's uncle.

The couple first met when they were children in New York.

"She was desperately looking for quiet and if she can't find it here she will leave again," said a close family friend in Switzerland.

"She lost her brother, then her mother and now her father, so such a short time and is dreadfully lonely and cannot cope with being chased any more," the friend said.

Onassis and Goulandris' wedding was briefly marred in the summer of 1971 by Joseph Baker, a middle-aged Los Angeles lawyer, despite her father's fierce objections. They separated after a few weeks.

She was said to have attempted suicide in October, 1971. Some sources said it was over the quarrel with her father.

Dairy farmers protest markups by supermarkets

NORTHGLENN, Colo. (UPI) — Angry dairy farmers planned to assemble in a government store parking lot today to sell five-pound blocks of cheddar cheese at reduced prices to protest markups charged by supermarkets.

"We're going to have a direct sale from farmers to consumers," farmer Nick Kallsen said. "We want to stop the spread between what the consumer has to pay and what the farmer gets."

Kallsen said farmers will sell the five-pound blocks for $6.30, $1.30 a pound, to show shoppers where their grocery dollars are going.

"We'll still realize a profit and our consumers will save at least 25 percent," he said. "We want to show the markup stores are passing on to their customers."

Viet poll conducted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Less than one out of four Americans polled by Louis Harris Inc. said a Communist takeover of South Vietnam would be a serious setback for U.S. prestige in the world.

Other results of the polls: 75-80 per cent feel that we should never again commit American soldiers in a war such as Vietnam; 67-70 per cent think that we should not commit American lives to the defense of corrupt governments abroad.

The survey, taken between March 2 and March 10, also indicated most Americans oppose giving additional military aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Communist takeover of only 21 per cent of South Vietnam would hurt American prestige.

The vote against sending additional military aid to South Vietnam was 71-17 per cent, while the poll on $230 million in emergency aid for Cambodia was slightly less, 66 to 21 per cent against.

64-23 per cent feel that we should not commit American troops to civil wars in other countries.

Kallsen said the farmers will include their labor, processing and trucking expenses in the price of the cheese. He said supermarket markups for similar items actually constituted a profit margin for the stores.

"That's part of the reason for the hard times farmers and ranchers are facing," said Kallsen, who said the sale is supported by the National Farmers Organization. "The situation now is so bad we have to do something."

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with anyone who is taken advantage of by people who don't drive and are always looking for rides. (I call them "schnorrers.")

Abby, I make sure my tank is full in time of filling when I have company with me because I don't want them to think that I pull into a filling station it is a hint for them to buy some gas.

Wouldn't you think that after years of chauffeuring people around you would give out a small gift or buy me a lunch? Never! I never see any of these people unless I am taking them someplace.

I have decided against joining a certain organization because I would be a taxi for everyone going my way.

My car is a convenience, but it's also an expense. My husband is the provider. I'm not employed.

Please print this, so people who are always "schnorrers" will realize that some little expression of gratitude besides "thanks a lot" and then slamming the car door would be appreciated. HAD IT WITH SCHNORRERS

'Schnorrers' criticized

DEAR HAD IT: Here's your letter and I hope it helps. I think you're foolish for denying yourself the pleasure of joining a club for the reason you mentioned. Join, but don't allow yourself to be used.

DEAR ABBY: Is there some way I can break my German shepherds of killing chickens?

They have done it only once, but I have heard that once they do it, they will not stop.

Someone suggested that I tie the dead chickens around the dog's necks until the chickens rot and it will cure them of killing chickens.

It sounds cruel, and I don't think I'd have the stomach to do it. Can you, or some of your readers, suggest another cure? DOG LOVER

DEAR DOG LOVER: Because dogs kill only when they are in pain or pack, let only one dog run at a time. Hitting the dead chicken around the dog's neck won't work as a rule. You could punish the dogs by hitting them a hard whack to let them know they've done wrong, but the best "cure" is to keep the dogs away from the chickens. And the chickens away from the dogs.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, our mother, a widow, then 60, married an attractive 73-year-old man I'll call John. My brother and I (both married) were happy that Mom found someone with whom to share her life. We never cared much for John, but that's another story.

Mom seemed happy. Suddenly, five months ago she died of a heart attack and John's care was smelling like a rose.

We know for a fact that two weeks after Mom's funeral, John started calling up young girls asking for dates. Last weekend, he took a 25-year-old girl to La Costa, where several of our friends saw him. How is that for poor taste? John was not a pretty poor when Mom married him, but now he's rolling in money and making such a fool of himself. You wouldn't believe the talk in this town. I am sure if Mom had known he would carry on in such a scandalous way, she wouldn't have left him anything. He even got the lovely home Mom and Dad built and furnished.

Is there any way my brother and I can get the home? Our lawyer said it belongs to John for as long as he lives, after which my brother and I will share in the ownership.

Please ask your legal consultants if perhaps there is a loophole our lawyer overlooked. Thank you. JANDS

DEAR JANDS: My legal consultants have advised me against practicing law. And they further suggest that if you lose confidence in your lawyer, you should consult another lawyer for his or her opinion.

There is a good hand with which to test your friends' ability to defend. However, don't laugh at those who fail the test. We'll start if one bridge player is good and will make for winning play.

South wins the first club, leads the nine of diamonds and leads the ace of hearts. West plays low. If East also plays low, he is a bridge genius among bridge geniuses. If he goes up with the ace, he is just an ordinary player. Yet some real study will show that the play of the queen is successful in defeating the contract.

East should know that his partner holds the ace of diamonds because there would be no reason for South to play the ace if he held it.

How many diamonds does South hold? Probably exactly two. He has bid two suits and

Nostalgia dance set

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford OEA will sponsor a nostalgia dance from 9 to 12 p.m. tonight (March 21) at the school cafeteria.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to help members attending the State OEA convention. Aline and Selma Howard, Debbie Cox and Janet Wheeler are in charge of decorations and Janet Wheeler and Clair Henschell are in charge of publicity. Club members are also planning a fish dinner to be served the evening of April 15. Advisory committee members will be honored. The public is invited to the dinner.

Debbie Datta and Debbie Grayboal are in charge of the food. Debbie Cox will arrange entertainment and Janet Wheeler and Selma Howard are in charge of invitations.

Christine Easterday and Lori Palecek are in charge of the program for next month's OEA meeting.

Talent show planned

DEAR DR. THOSTEN: Can you tell me how hormone imbalance affects the skin? — H.R.

There are many ways. I can list a few of the important ones. For example, acne, as we know, occurs in young people mainly because at the time of puberty the body's glandular system, including the sebaceous glands in the skin and the hormones that control them begins a period of heightened activity.

These glands which secrete an oily substance are controlled by the pituitary gland, which also triggers activity of the sex glands. So you can see that already there is a fairly complex network of glands that are affecting the skin.

The quality of skin, hair and the nails is affected by the thyroid gland. Low thyroid function (hypothyroidism) can cause the skin to be dry and coarse. Overactivity (hyperthyroidism) can make skin extra moist and smooth.

Underfunctioning of the adrenal glands as in Addison's disease is featured by a brownish pigmentation of the skin. In diabetes, an imbalance of the pancreas's secretion of insulin can cause localized skin color changes, even ulceration of the skin, particularly in the lower extremities.

Another skin change due to hormone imbalance is the so-called "mask of pregnancy," or chloasma. In this, the face seems shrouded by a brownish mask. It can occur in women during pregnancy, and in others taking the contraceptive pill. The discoloration disappears with discontinuance of the pill and the estrogen contained in it.

Finally, there are when the same hormonal glandular network which became active at puberty becomes sluggish; there can be a wide array of skin problems: dryness, itching, tingling, and the numbness that so many older persons experience.

DEAR DR. THOSTEN: I have a condition called "reflux esophagitis." When I have an attack the symptoms are the same as those of a heart attack. Can you explain this condition? — R.B.

Reflux (not "reflex") esophagitis is a condition where stomach fluid splashes up into the lower gullet, whose tissues are not accustomed to the highly acid contents. Irritation from this can produce symptoms similar to a heart attack. The condition often accompanies hiatal hernia. If you haven't already been checked for this possibility, you should be.

Reflux esophagitis is often caused by a loss of muscle control due to faulty nerve action. If not treated, the continued splashing can cause ulcer in the gullet.

The medicine you mention your doctor having prescribed is to ease the problem by reducing stomach secretions. In an acute attack, a glass of milk or one of the antacids helps. You should elevate the upper part of your body in bed to avoid as much of the splashing as possible.

Meanwhile, take the same precautions you would were you told you had an ulcer, including a bland diet and small and frequent feedings. If you have a hiatal hernia, weight reduction would help you. Surgery to repair it is usually a last resort.

DEAR DR. THOSTEN: I am told to wash my contact lenses with distilled water, that ordinary tap water will leave a coating of chemicals and inorganic material on the lenses. I'm told tap water does the same thing to the arteries and joints. Is this true? — G.H.B.

You're right about the lenses, and for the reasons you state. But you are wrong about the arteries and joints. Minerals in tap water give it flavor and supply trace metals the system craves. Arterial hardening has been reported in some areas having "hard drinking water." This may be what is confusing you.

Winter returns to the Gem State

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert areas. Considerable cloudiness today with rain or snow tonight, decreasing Saturday. Strong gusty winds at times. Lows tonight near 30. The high Saturday near 50.

The outlook for Sunday, partial clearing.

Pre-storm conditions prevail over Idaho today, spoiling the first day of spring.

After brief sunshine this morning, heavy cloud cover began to cross the state. The cloud cover is associated with tonight, locally heavy at times, decreasing to snow showers Saturday. Strong gusty winds at times. Lows tonight 35 to 25. The high Saturday in the 40s.

The outlook for Sunday, partial clearing.

Pre-storm conditions prevail over Idaho today, spoiling the first day of spring.

After brief sunshine this morning, heavy cloud cover began to cross the state. The cloud cover is associated with a strong Pacific weather system moving through western Oregon and Washington this morning.

The system is expected to reach western Idaho this evening and exit eastern Idaho Saturday. A low-level jet and northerly flow behind and over Idaho this afternoon and evening, southwest Idaho this evening and tonight and eastern Idaho tonight and Saturday.

The advisory calls for light snow spreading over the state from the west late this evening, tonight and Saturday. Traces of light snow are expected over all areas tonight and Saturday. Strong gusty winds at times are also expected.

The extended outlook for Sunday through Tuesday calls for dry weather Sunday and Monday, with showers returning Tuesday. Temperatures during the extended period are expected to remain below normal.

Retail beef prices decline

DENVER (UPI) — Gordon Van Vleet, president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, says housewives should be able to choose from adequate supplies of beef at relatively attractive prices in the coming months.

"Our nation's beef production is currently running 9 per cent ahead of last year's record pace," Van Vleet said Wednesday. "All indications point to a continued ample supply of beef at favorable prices for consumers."

Van Vleet made the comment in releasing ANCA's latest monthly report of average beef prices in 19 cities across the country. The study showed average prices for five beef cuts declined two cents per pound since February. Thighs and sirloins steaks were the best buy, Van Vleet

Utah spud storage stocks up

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Stocks of fall potatoes for all uses held in storage in Utah by growers, local dealers and processors totaled 325,000 hundredweight as of March 1, according to the Utah Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The Agriculture Department agency said this year's March 1 storage figure is 41.3 per cent higher than the potatoes in storage for the same period in 1974, but less than 25 per cent of the 1.48 million hundredweight of potatoes produced in Utah last year.

In 1974 Utah's farmers harvested 1.1 million hundredweight, and storage as of March 1, 1974, was 290,000 hundredweight.

The agency noted farmers had planted more acreage in potatoes last year due to rising prices. From harvest to March 1 last year 370,000 hundredweight were sold compared to 115,000 hundredweight to March 1 of this year.

Road check sought in rural regions

CHICAGO (UPI) — The head of the American Farm Bureau Federation today called for a "reassessment of the highway situation in the nation's rural areas."

In remarks prepared for an address to highway officials, William J. Kuhfuss, federation president, said the condition of rural roads affects the consumer as well as farmers and businessmen.

He pointed out that increased transportation costs have a direct bearing on the costs of food and clothing.

"Without question, we need a reassessment of the highway situation in the nation's rural areas," he said. "So far as we are concerned, we know that the backbone of the transportation system in this country will be the highway system for a long time to come."

Payments ruled low

DENVER (UPI) — A federal judge has ruled payments to Rocky Mountain sugar growers made by the Great Western Sugar Co. last year were too low.

U.S. District Judge Fred Wimer said Great Western was guilty of either fraud or gross error in paying growers $26.25 per ton of beets last November. He said the payments should have totaled $31.02 per ton.

Wimer made the decision Tuesday following trial of a suit by the growers against the sugar company and its parent company — Great Western United Corp.

Wimer also said a second 1974 payment of $19.45 per ton promised recently by the company for April would not reduce damages owed to the growers.

In the suit, the growers said the sugar company's initial crop payments usually amounted to 85 per cent of what it estimated the total crop payment would be.

'Spud burn' scheduled

REXBURG, Idaho (UPI) — Potato growers in Idaho are planning a "potato burn" March 29 to protest an effort to raise support prices for farm commodities.

Del Ray Hohn, one of the protest leaders, said farmers are receiving as little as 90 cents per hundredweight for potatoes straight from the field, which he says is $1 less than it takes to grow them.

Leaders said the burn, may not take place if President Ford allocates $50 million to send processed potatoes to starving people in underdeveloped countries.

He said as many as 200 truckloads from around the state may be burned.

Deelo society celebrates

DECLIO — Donna Rose Fenton gave a history of the Relief Society at a monthly leadership meeting Friday afternoon at the Deelo Stake Center.

Mrs. Lydia Yost gave a talk and Mrs. Clyde Wardle played an organ solo. Mrs. Fred Allred conducted the meeting. Mrs. Fenton directed singings with Mrs. Curtis Durfee as accompanist.

Mrs. Harlow Woodard gave the opening prayer.

The Springdale Ward prepared the foyer display. The next leadership meeting will be April 11 in Deelo.

A stake closing social is planned for May 3. Visiting teachers will be honored.

All wards of the Deelo stake were represented at the leadership meeting.

Crusade begins in TF

TWIN FALLS — The family life crusade will begin this evening at 7 with Dr. Lawrence Hider of Northwest Christian College leading the sessions.

There will be something for everyone, regardless of age, says Ray P. Jones, minister.

The crusade will end Sunday morning after the Parade of Palms by the Bible school children.

In observance of Palm Sunday the choir will present a Cantata, "Hallelujah What a Savior," by John Peterson.

Thursday evening, there will be a special Maundy Thursday candlelight communion service at the First Christian Church beginning at 7.

Organ, piano numbers planned

TWIN FALLS — For Palm Sunday at First Baptist Church, Faure's "The Palms" will be played in special arrangements on the piano by Mrs. Gailie Smith at 4:30 and on the organ at 11 by Mrs. Willa Hider.

At the second hour, the adult choir directed by Raymond Cassing presents the cantata by James R. Gillette, "The Resurrection According to Nicodemus."

Mrs. Ruth Turner will direct the children's choir in "He is Coming" by Belmont and "The Legend," arranged from Tenkowsky by Baker. Piano accompanists will be Robin Lamb and Michelle Burrows.

At both hours Rev. James B. Hughes, continuing his Lenten sermon on evangelical Christian beliefs, speak on "I Believe in the Kingdom of God."

Concerts scheduled in TF

TWIN FALLS — Pastor Tom J. Saege of the First Assembly of God Church, 178 Filer Ave. W., says two special concerts will be presented at the church this week.

The first will be given by the Maranatha Sounds, a 12-voice choral group from Kirkland, Wash., which will be featured in concert at the Christ's Ambassador Rally on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Sounds are all students at northwest College and are members of the church.

The second concert is the Trinity Band Institute Christmas Concert, Wednesday, N.D., will offer the gospel message in song. The band is composed of 26 young people from 12 different states and spend their weekends touring the states of North and South Dakota.

For those who need transportation please call 734-6260 or 734-6261.

Wendell Methodists meet

WENDELL — The Wendell Community Free Methodist Church meets each Sunday at the American Legion Hall on Idaho Street in Wendell at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday school and 11 a.m. for morning worship.

The evening services begin at 7:30. Rev. Ted Lux is the pastor. This Sunday he will be speaking on "The God We Worship."

Special music will be brought by Carol Kelley.

The youth will be practicing for the Easter program at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Bible study and prayer meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 at the hall.

Plans are being formulated to begin the new church building early this summer on the property purchased at Haigman and Main streets in Wendell.

The public is welcome to all services.

Boise Baptist to speak

SIDBERLY — Rev. Roy J. Ferguson, area superintendent of missions for the Utah-Idaho Southern Baptist Convention, will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the First Baptist Church, Kimberly.

Rev. Ferguson, a former resident of Twin Falls, is now living in Boise.

At 8 p.m. a special service will be held for the ordination of Dale Krumm and Kenneth West as deacons.

Rev. Willis Blair, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Burley, will lead in the questioning of the candidates. Rev. Ferguson will "give the charge" to the deacons and the church.

At the conclusion of the service, there will be a reception.

Special services set at Valley

TWIN FALLS — Both Palm Sunday and Easter are designated as days of decision in the Valley Christian Church.

The church has been in several weeks of evangelistic calling with the culmination coming on the two special days.

Dr. Carlton Huck, pastor of the church, has chosen for his topic on Palm Sunday, "Our Triumphant Christ," and on Easter, "Our Risen Lord."

The church is planning a candlelight communion service for Maundy Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

The public is invited to all services.

Briefs

JACKPOT — Rev. Jackpot's First Baptist Church will be made available to kindergarten classes, Rev. Robert C. Schreckenberg, pastor, reports. Start of classes pending completion of preparations. Directional signs from US Highway 22, which bisects Jackpot, to the long white chapel, will be permanently posted.

KIMBERLY — A Good Friday union service will be held at the Kimberly LDS Methodist Church March 28 at 1 p.m. Pastor Richard Butler of the Kimberly Christian Church will be the featured speaker, with the other pastors of the city contributing. Darvin Seneca, pastor of the Methodist Church, cordially invites all of Kimberly to share in the observance of this Good Friday service.

JEROME — A musical concert will be presented at the Faith Chapel Assembly of God in Jerome Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. Instrumental as well as vocal numbers will be featured during this concert. The public is invited to attend.

Women support ERA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The national board of managers of Church Women United in the USA "urgently requested" legislators "to support and vote for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment" in those states which have not yet passed this measure.

The action was taken at Kansas City at the annual board meeting of "Church Women United in the USA" (CWU). It is an ecumenical movement open to participation by the millions of women who come from Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Orthodox churches across the country.

The 130 women on the national board of managers who belong to many ethnic groups and come from every state in the union are responsible for national policy and program. As a national body empowered to speak for itself it recognizes the rights of individuals and local state units to speak and act autonomously on all social issues.

Sensitive to the realities of a public society, the board hopes that the women in this national movement will recognize their responsibility to assist their sisters in those states that are awaiting ratification.

In 1970 a previous board of managers of Church Women United endorsed the Equal Rights Amendment and urged legislation.

To prepare for ratification within individual states women were urged to study carefully the national implications of federal laws as applied in the courts of justice, taxation, Social Security, pensions, employment, consumer credit, health, disability and life insurance, and welfare.

Idaho House approves land-use planning bill

The bill also provides for county-city negotiation on planning of "urban fringe" areas.

Debate on the bill was lengthy and mostly negative.

Rep. E. V. McMillin, R-Coletium, asserted that "any bill's primary interest section would prevent anyone from serving on the planning board since all humans are related and have the same ancestry."

McMillin previously had spoken out against the bill because it would require planning. He said the measure should only allow local government to plan.

Rep. Isaac Merrill, D-Blackfoot, predicted that many areas would turn into "a giant ball of sewage and building" without planning.

Among the duties of humans on this earth is that "we will be stewards of the land," Merrill said, adding that this can only be achieved through planning.

"This is certainly not free enterprise when it says 'you shall, you shall,'" Rep. Roy Brackett, R-Twin Falls, said.

"Whenever you take a man's property without the process of law... and that is what this bill could do — you are not keeping the free enterprise system," Brackett said.

He claimed that a visitor to Russia and the United States would think that Russia was un-planned, since the Soviets are empty.

Rep. James Winchester, R-Kelton, said the bill would "strip individuals' inalienable rights."

He said the right to property is more valuable than the right to life itself, and extensively quoted American forefathers in an effort to defeat the bill.

Rep. Fred Johnson, R-Idaho Falls, argued that the land does not belong to people to plan, it belongs to God.

Rep. Bill Chmielewski, R-Boise and their sponsor of the bill, said that even though he has sworn upstream many times, "I've got to be involved in a debate where our forefathers, God and the Russians were all on the other side."

Chmielewski said the bill would help preserve property rights in that it would allow people to maintain the "integrity of the land." "Can you imagine a holding stand beside your home?" "Can you show those to you in Boise and in a lot of your home cities, too?" he said.

Governor pleased

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said he was pleased Thursday the legislature has taken the first step toward protecting and maintaining the quality of life in Idaho.

Andrus said he also was pleased that a bipartisan majority passed the first of the land-use bills in the House.

Recognizing the package was indeed a package of locally controlled, locally-originated, state assisted land use planning.

Solons caucusing on adjournment

BOISE (UPI) — Both parties headed into caucus today to determine how they can achieve their programs at the least cost and bring the legislative session to an adjournment.

Encouraged by a 57-33 victory in land-use planning, House Democrats tried to pull two more Senate-approved bills out of the Resources Committee for floor consideration.

Rep. Dan Emery, D-Boise, who opposes land-use planning, warned those making the move, but will allow the House by forcing bill reading if they bring the other measures to the floor.

State employees' pay, highway funds, property tax relief and the employment debt remained the major stumbling blocks in the way of final adjournment. Others could surface, however, in the waning hours of the session.

House leaders said the date and time of final adjournment depended in good measure on what the Senate would do. Republicans felt able to run a new state employees' pay proposal through the House but questioned whether they could get it through the Senate.

Proposals to spend $6 million of the surplus to lower the eight mill county school levy to four mills for one year, and to put residual surplus in the Endowment Fund, were up for final consideration in the Senate.

A $2 million appropriation from surplus to pay for state road betterment languished in the Senate Transportation Committee, and a $2.5 million appropriation for city and county streets and roads languished on third reading in the House.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said he was pleased his key land-use planning bill one requiring local government to devise land-use plans and enforce them with ordinances, won final legislative approval. He had hoped other parts of the package could pass next year.

Elsewhere on the legislative scene:

The Senate approved 310 without debate a House bill to make the 515 grocery credit on income taxes permanent.

The House voted defeated after brief reconsideration a

Legal bill gets party line vote

BOISE (UPI) — Democratic attorneys that the Republican majority was playing politics were shut down on a strict party line vote in passage of a bill to reassert the powers of the attorney general as the chief legal officer of the state.

Senate Democrats argued that the only reason the Republicans were so interested in the bill was because they were a Republican.

Wayne Kibbett, in the office instead a Democrat.

But Republicans said the bill, which passed 21-14, would put a central on legal fees being paid by state agencies.

The bill would eliminate the "practice" or "street" departments employing their own counsel.

Son Edith Miller Kegan, R-Boise, said the bill would reassert the attorney general as the chief legal officer of the state, and take a "chout" off the office.

Senate Attorney Leader, Cy Chase, D-SR, Marias, charged it would give the attorney general, a Republican, "a sole police power."

Sen. Wayne Kibbett, R-Grand View, contended the bill would only put a handle on some of the abuses which have occurred over the past few years. He noted that one university had paid a total of $25,000, while the Department of Health and Welfare had $550,000 budgeted for legal fees.

Legislative briefs

Insurance bill passed

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved 51-17 Thursday a Senate bill requiring every insuring writing medical malpractice liability insurance to form a fund under a riparian association.

Under the program the insurers would supply malpractice insurance to physicians and hospitals on a temporary basis for two years.

It would require establishment of a stabilization reserve fund, financed by the policy holders, which would be held in trust to pay excessive malpractice verdicts.

If the fund were found necessary the money would be returned to those who paid it.

Senate leaders meet

BOISE (UPI) — Senate leaders met with Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Thursday afternoon to explore solutions to problems of the Executive Branch and the legislature's Joint Finance Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, co chairman of the Joint Committee, said after the meeting that no solutions had been found.

Andrus of the last two days has directed four appropriation measures, including one budgeting $332,000 for the Joint Committee.

Both High and the governor indicated that veto is directly related to a $30,000 cut in the governor's budget, policy planning and coordination department appropriation.

The Joint Committee has tried to resolve its appropriation in a new bill that does not change the dollar figure.

Jury resumes obscenity trial

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — The jury in the obscenity trial of the owner and employe of the Top Theater resumed deliberations today after recessing for the night.

The jurors went out Thursday afternoon and recessed for the night at 10:35 p.m. after 3 1/2 hours of deliberation.

Magistrate Lloyd F. McClintock — after closing arguments by both sides, gave the jury a total of 29 instructions.

He said the jury would have to determine whether concerning three complainants against Jason Williams, the theater owner, and one verdict concerning Robert Lusa, an employe, who is co-defendant.

TF jobless rate hits 7%

TWIN FALLS — For the first time since 1973, the February unemployment rate in Twin Falls County exceeded 7 percent.

The Idaho Department of Employment estimates for February was that between 7 and 7 1/2 percent of the labor force in the county was out of work, an increase over the 5 1/2 percent rate in February 1974.

A total of about 1,400 people were out of work in the county at this rate, according to Jim Voegelé, area manpower analyst for the Twin Falls branch of the state department of employment.

January's employment rate was slightly lower at 6 1/2 percent, with 1,385 people out of work.

Three "substantial drops in employment" during January contributed to the higher figures. One hundred people each in food processing, in wholesale and retail trades and in construction trades were dropped from the work force in January as compared to December, according to Voegelé.

"Most of the decline in the food processing industry was confined to the layoff at Amalgamated Sugar Co.," Voegelé wrote in the manpower report issued by his office.

He said that only half as many sugar beets were processed by the company this year as compared to last year, so Amalgamated finished its processing run much earlier and started laying off seasonal employees earlier than usual.

Wholesale and retail trade employment declined because help hired during the holiday rush in December were laid off when business slackened in January.

Construction declined due to poor weather conditions more than poor economic conditions, according to Voegelé.

"Construction employment should continue to drop in February and possibly even March — depending on the weather," he said.

Businesses that provide services to agricultural-related industry have also contributed to the increasing unemployment, according to Voegelé. Even some bars, motels and restaurants frequented by people normally employed in food processing plants, for instance, have cut back, he said.

Layoffs in businesses that service agricultural were not "on a large scale," Voegelé said, but they "served as a warning signal as to the possible far-reaching economic problems that might appear if national market conditions for the entire area's food processors, and especially the potato processors, do not improve."

A temporary layoff at a major Twin Falls manufacturing plant, he added, to the increasing unemployment figures, Voegelé said.

Twin Falls County, in spite of its unemployment increase, was still below the state rate for February, which was 8 1/2 percent, seasonally adjusted. The county figure is not seasonally adjusted. The gap between the state and the county figure would be even greater if the county figures were adjusted downward to account for the regular seasonal winter slump.

Myron D. Johnson pledges 16-mile walk

Handicapped Shoshone man plans 16-mile 'pool' walk

By MELBA THORNE

SHOSHONE — Raising funds isn't new, but walking 16 miles with crutches, using a wheelchair as back up, is rather on the unusual side.

Myron D. Johnson, Lincoln County treasurer for 21 years, who walks with crutches, has pledged to make the 16-mile walk from Richwood to Shoshone for money donated to the pool fund.

He has lined up a wheelchair to use when the walking gets too difficult.

He asks anyone wishing to support him and the pool fund donations to P.O. Box 176, Shoshone, or call his office, 806-7241 to make a pledge.

Ground was broken for the pool Monday by Upe Epps, Ketchum, sub contractors for Glad Seed and Feed, Twin Falls. The $29,000 contract has been awarded to the Twin Falls firm and completion is planned for June 1.

The pool project was initiated by the Shoshone Rotary Club, Johnson serves with Rev. Nathan Ware on a special Rotary committee.

A number of community projects during the past two years have raised money for the pool but about $15,000 is still needed.

A number of county residents, including many youths, are soliciting pledges for their trek March 29. All funds raised will go to the pool fund.

An auction is planned for April 19 to raise more money for the pool.

After the pool is completed it will be operated by the recreation district. Members of the recreation district board include Wayne Perron, Dietrich, Rev. Wesley Johnson, Shoshone, and Neil Anderson, Richfield.

The pool will be 75 by 32 feet.

Victim's wife points finger

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In emotional testimony, Randi Solsalsal took the witness stand Thursday to tell her story of the night her husband Greg was shot and killed.

Mrs. Solsalsal, about 40, is the fifth witness to testify at the trial of Delbert Crawford, 28, Eden, accused of murdering Solsalsal, 22, and Paul Peterson, 23, both Burley, last Nov. 7. Terry and Gaye Billingsley, 29 and 28, Burley, have pleaded guilty to lesser charges in connection with the same incident.

During the course of examination by prosecutor Gordon S. Nielson and defense attorney Victor J. Rolizzo, Mrs. Solsalsal was repeatedly requested to continue her answers to the questions asked.

"At one point, Rolizzo requested a mistrial because of the conduct of the witness," but presiding Fifth District Judge Sherman J. Bellwood denied the request, and admonished the witness to keep her testimony in line.

Mrs. Solsalsal, who wears a floor-length cotton dress and a fern leaf to ornament her long blond hair, covered her face with her hands as Rolizzo made his request for the mistrial.

Mrs. Solsalsal told the court she, her daughter Honey Maria Dawn, then 9 months old, and her husband, had been living in their van which was parked in the driveway of Peterson's home at the time of the incident.

The evening of Nov. 7, Mrs. Solsalsal said she was baking cookies and packing up to go to California, and Greg and Paul "were getting ready to hit up heroin" when Greg heard a knock on the door. They were all in the kitchen.

A call and a short man entered, and Greg said something like "Terry's here," Mrs. Solsalsal testified. Because of a discussion earlier in the day about Terry Billingsley and a $2,000 loan the men had made him, Mrs. Solsalsal said she identified the taller man as Terry. She said she had never met Terry man before.

"The taller man said all the talking — and he looked like Gerry," Mrs. Solsalsal said. Crawford is taller than Billingsley.

She admitted she told the police officers Terry Billingsley had done the shooting, but told the court she had gotten the names mixed up.

Mrs. Solsalsal said the taller man leaned on the kitchen doorway and said "I want your money." When Peterson questioned him, the taller man repeated, "I'm not kidding, I want your money," Mrs. Solsalsal testified.

Then, the witness said, Greg walked from the middle of the kitchen towards the gun barrel which the taller man had raised. The taller man then shot him, she testified.

Mrs. Solsalsal said she grabbed her daughter, who was playing on the floor at the time and looked up to see the gun pointed at her.

She said Peterson, still in the kitchen chair, looked at Greg, who had fallen towards the floor, and looked at the man holding the gun, then got up with his arms raised, stepping between Mrs. Solsalsal and the gun.

Peterson was shot in the back, according to Mrs. Solsalsal, who said she believed he was making an effort to protect her and the child.

Mrs. Solsalsal said she then tried to run out the front door, which had remained open, but didn't make it. She said she sat down on the couch in the living room, and told the court she had a her pants.

The taller man approached her and said, "I never want to see your face again, I never want to see your face again," according to Mrs. Solsalsal.

The man again demanded money and Mrs. Solsalsal said she gave him $20 she had.

And then, "every cavity they walked out and were gone," Mrs. Solsalsal testified.

Mrs. Solsalsal, who has an eighth grade education and told the court she has been involved with drugs for 11 years, said she had not been using drugs the week of the incident.

She told Rolizzo she may have smoked some marijuana, but said, "I would never get high on it, because I'm a mother now and I'm trying to make the best of it. I've got a lot of bad things to forget."

At one point in her testimony, when Rolizzo asked who the father of her child was, Mrs. Solsalsal said the child was not involved. "She didn't pull the trigger." Asked the question again, the witness turned to Judge Bellwood and said, "Your Honor, I object." The judge agreed with her.

At another point, asked by attorney Rolizzo what she remembered most about the "taller man," Mrs. Solsalsal said, "his eyes."

"I looked in his eyes the whole time because for my child's life and when you're begging for something you look into their eyes — to find their heart and their soul," Mrs. Solsalsal said.

Mrs. Solsalsal also testified she watched Billingsley take Peterson's wallet and Crawford take Solsalsal's wallet. She told Rolizzo she hadn't mentioned Crawford's act in testimony at previous hearings.

She also said she had scouted up all drug paraphernalia from the kitchen table before police arrived as an "automatic reaction."

An earlier witness, Lee Ann Anderson, Burley, had been granted limited immunity regarding her testimony in the trial.

Other witnesses testifying before the state, included his case with Mrs. Solsalsal's testimony included a former Burley patrolman Craig Dayley, and Burley Chief of Detectives Pete Rodriguez, Terry Pocatello police officers, including one woman, also testified, as well as the officer who was present at the Burley County jail when the Billingsley and Crawford were brought in.

Robert Davis, supervisor of the forensic laboratory, Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, told the court his tests showed at least one of two spent shotgun shells found at the scene had been fired by the alleged murderer, a 12 gauge shotgun.

The defense was to begin its case today.

The Idaho Falls contest is expected to attract 100 contestants. Those entering the fiddling contest need not be members of the fiddlers organization but must be residents of the state of Idaho.

Budget approved
PAUL — A 1975 budget of $271,600 was approved by the Paul City Council Wednesday night.

The new budget is up about 6.7 percent over the last year's budget of $254,500.

However, the 1975 budget includes $100,000 earned over from last year for sewer lapson construction. In 1974 $125,000 was budgeted for the sewage plant construction.

The 1975 general fund is set for $171,600, up 32 percent from last year's $129,500.

Department by department the 1974 budget as compared to 1975 shows the administrative branch was budgeted $28,500 in 1974, and $29,000 for 1975; city buildings, $1700 in 1974, $4300 in 1975; police department, $11,400 in 1974, $15,000 in 1975; recreation, $6,500 in 1974, $7,000 in 1975; streets, $21,000 in 1974, $24,000 in 1975; sewer and sewer bond fund, $14,000 in 1974, $14,800 in 1975; domestic water, $24,000 in 1974, $24,000 in 1975; irrigation, $10,000 in 1974, $10,000 in 1975; sanitation, $9,500 in 1974, $10,000 in 1975; contingency fund, $5,000 in 1974, $5,000 in 1975.

Idaho Power, as a responsible utility fully responsive to its public obligation and to the final authority of the regulatory agencies, will build the Pioneer plant to meet all quality standards imposed by our regulators," Bruce said.

Bruce, however, did not specifically promise the plant will meet the new federal standards. Older federal pollution rules and existing state controls, which Pioneer will be required to meet, allow pollution levels which are five times higher than the new Class II standard.

Bruce did say that the "design" of Pioneer will satisfy the Class II standard for sulfur dioxide emissions.

"If additional sulfur dioxide control equipment is found to be necessary, to meet our quality standards the plant is being designed to accommodate such equipment — as we have done at the Jim Bridger plant in Wyoming," he said. Again, he did not refer to specific standards.

According to hospital estimates, surgery and rehabilitation cost will be $8,900 to $10,000, which means that an additional $6,000 to $8,000 will have to be raised.

Medicare and Social Security, for which Ek is eligible, have thus far been refused by agency officials as a funding source for Ek because the officials say the implant procedure is so new that it has not been evaluated and approved as a rehabilitative technique.

Ek originally heard of the implant procedure over a radio show. He then contacted a Boise neurosurgeon, who in turn contacted the St. Barthelemy surgical team which had developed the procedure.

Jerome conducts hearing on proposed road plans

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Idaho Highway Dept. conducted a public hearing to consider the proposed plan for the 1.7 miles of State Highway 79 south of Jerome.

Most of the residents along SH 79 that would be affected by the proposed widening were in attendance at the hearing. Only one protest was lodged against the proposal.

Mrs. Katie Smith said that while she was in favor of widening the highway she did not feel the new road would have to be so wide and that the area proposed for a bicycle path was needed.

Several people spoke in favor of the proposal and the need for the bike path.

ERNEST L. Kidner, state highway department, explained the project would consist of advance right-of-way purchase and reconstruction of 1.7 miles of the highway from the Jerome city limits to Interstate 80.

The proposed centerline would be shifted 23 feet west of the existing alignment through the south portion of this project and then translocated into existing centerline at T Avenue.

The project would be constructed to a 68 foot urban section from the Interstate to Avenue 1' with a 10-foot paved strip on both sides behind medians and emergency parking.

A 16-foot median would be provided for left turns in auxiliary truck and bus stopping lanes to be provided at the railroad crossing, Kidner said.

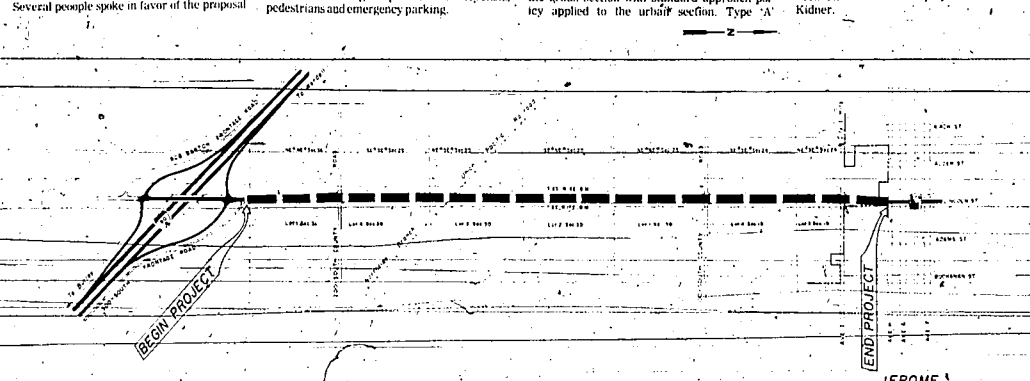

He noted that from Avenue 1' to Avenue 1E in Jerome, the street would be 66 feet wide with standard curb and gutter and 3 feet wide sidewalks. Four traffic lanes with 8 feet parking on each side would be included in the 66-foot surface width.

The proposed rural right-of-way width would be 126 feet. The urban right-of-way would be 80 feet. A type "A" access control would apply to the urban section with standard approach policy applied to the urban section. Type "A" access control would allow for reconstruction of all existing approaches with restrictions on future approaches," Kidner said.

Kidner pointed out that no date has been set for construction of the new highway and that the hearing was being held in order to get public input which will be reviewed by the Idaho Transportation Board and a decision reached as to approval or disapproval of the proposed project.

"If the project is approved the first step would be acquisition of the right-of-ways which could take two years. No construction monies have been allocated for the project at this time," Kidner.

Top bull brings $2,700

FILER — A bull consigned by Naugle Hereford Ranch, Nampa, brought the top price of $2,700 in the annual Idaho Cattleman's Association spring bull sale Thursday.

The bull was purchased by Joe DeWaard Herefords. The second high price of the sale was brought by another Naugle Hereford Ranch bull and it was also purchased by DeWaard Herefords. Cowsell sold for $1,500.

A total of 120 bulls were sold in the sale, bringing an average price of $963. Sellers said they were pleased with the prices paid, saying they were higher than had been expected.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, a loser the past three days, opened lower Friday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, a 24-point loser the past three sessions, was off 7.70 at 763.50 shortly after the opening—declines led—advances, 158 to 117, among the 436 issues crossing the tape.

Just as the market opened, trending first National City Bank of New York joined the ranks of other major banks by lowering its prime rate to 7 1/2 percent from 7 3/4 percent.

Late Friday, the Federal Reserve Board reported the nation's money supply increased by more than $2 billion, but also said bank deposits at New York's leading banks increased by $19 billion in the latest reporting period. Most of that news was considered favorable analysis.

Also, the NYSE reported short interest rose more than 800,000 shares in the latest reporting period, another favorable sign for the market because those shares will have to be replaced.

Investors were disappointed Thursday by Commerce Department reports fourth quarter earnings fell 14 percent, the sharpest drop in 17 months. Another disturbing report came from the Labor Department, which reported its consumer price index rose 0.6 percent in February, the same as January. Some investors had hoped the reports would be lower.

Indiana batters Oregon St. 81-71

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — Top ranked Indiana, with Steve Green scoring 31 points and Kent Benson hitting 23, jumped to a 23-point lead in the first half and then coasted to an 81-71 victory over Oregon State Thursday night in the nightcap of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

Indiana's 34th straight victory set up a Saturday afternoon championship game against fourth-ranked Kentucky which went down Central Michigan 90-72 in Thursday night's opening game here.

Green, a 6-foot-7 senior forward, shredded Oregon State's defense with medium distance jump shots, hitting 14 of 19 from the field and adding six free throws.

Benson, a husky 6-foot-11 sophomore center, got most of his 11 field goals in close and added one free throw.

The Hoosiers hit their field goal percentage, with a terrific 64 per cent, their fourth 64 attempts in the first half and Oregon State was never able to get back into the game.

Indiana had clear cutting lanes. Oregon State's top rebounder and defender specialist Lonnie Shelton hardly got a chance to play. The 6-foot-8, 250-pound, who was supposed to clog up Indiana's offense, picked up his fourth foul with 12:20 left in the first half and sat on the bench the rest of the half.

Shelton started the second half, but fouled out with 15:46 to go. The Bruins' leading scorer was Don Smith with 14 points.

Leading 22-20 midway through the first half, Indiana caught fire, increased the margin to 30-24 and then reeled off 11 straight points to seize a 41-24 advantage. With 1:43 remaining in the first half, Indiana held a hefty 23-point lead, 48-23.

Indiana held a 15-20 point lead throughout most of the second half and coach Bobby Knight cleared his eyes in the closing minutes.

Oregon State now has a 20-10 record.

In the first game, Central Michigan kept close until the final minutes when Kentucky finally pulled away.

Up for grabs

BOUNCING basketball is up for grabs and straining to reach it are Oregon's Gerald Willet and Oral Roberts' Anthony Roberts and Harold Johnson (left). The two teams met in National Invitational Tournament quarterfinals Thursday. Oregon won the game 68-59.

UCLA edges by Montana

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Second-ranked UCLA, pushed to the brink of an incredible upset by unheralded and unranked Montana, edged the Grizzlies 67-64 Thursday night in the Western NCAA regional playoffs.

Brain guard Pete Trgovich hit key baskets late in the game as UCLA, seeking its 10th national championship in 12 years, staved off Montana.

Six-foot-6 Eric Hays scored 32 points to lead Montana. The Grizzlies had no trouble breaking through UCLA's tight press, trailing 33-32 at the half. Montana came on strong in the last 10 minutes of the game.

Shutout Richard Washington, playing before hometown fans where he was a prep star, led UCLA in scoring with 16 points. His shooting early in the second half gave the Bruins a comfortable nine-point margin at 55-46 at the 10-minute mark.

But Hays and the Grizzlies closed away, and clipped to gap to 63-61 with just over a minute to go. However, Trgovich's key shooting in the final moments kept the Bruin lead out of Montana's reach.

ASU nips Nevada LV

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Forward Gary Jackson made two leaping rebound baskets and a driving layup in the final minute and a half of play Thursday night to spark Arizona State to a comeback 84-81 Western NCAA regional basketball tournament victory over Nevada-Las Vegas.

The No. 7 ranked Sun Devils were hard pressed to avoid an upset after Montana gave second-ranked UCLA the scare of its life in a game the Bruins won 67-64.

Arizona State meets 12:30 Thursday afternoon, the winner going to the NCAA semifinal in San Diego next week.

Sun Devil star guard Lionel Hollins, held scoreless in the first half by a tight Rebel zone defense, got untracked with 12-second half points. He and Jackson, who wound up with 15, saved the day for ASU.

Trailing 20-42 at intermission, Hollins led a Sun Devil 21-12 spurt in the first 10 minutes of the second half to give them a 33-32 lead. Then it was nip and tuck until Jackson did his jumping jacks in the closing seconds for the win.

Slicky Sabers was the hero in the first half, with 20, 13 of them in the first half, while forward Eddie Owens added 16 and guard Robert Smith 13.

Cardinals top Cincinnati

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — Smooth and deadly Junior Bridgeman hit 20 points and triggered a first-half Louisville explosion that led the Cardinals into the NCAA Midwest Regional final Thursday night with a 78-63 decision over Cincinnati.

Bridgeman, who helped the Cardinals to a third-place national rating, hit 13 of 15 Louisville's first 21 points.

The 6-5 forward-guard hit five of the first six shots he took from the field and the Cardinals outscored the Bearcats 15-0 over a five-minute stretch of the first half to quickly wrap up their 26th win of the year against only two losses.

Louisville, which hit a sizzling 59.4 per cent in the first half, built up a 42-25 lead in the opening 20 minutes as Bridgeman and teammate guard Allen Murphy repeatedly ripped the nets over Cincinnati's 5-1-3 zone.

Kansas St. repels Boston

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Kansas State guard Chuckie Williams repelled a furious Boston College comeback attempt Thursday night to lead the Wildcats to a 74-65 victory over Boston College in the final of the NCAA eastern regional.

The Wildcats Saturday will meet Syracuse, a surprise 78-76 victor over North Carolina in the first semifinal game on Jim Lee's jump shot with three seconds left.

Williams, who finished the game with 32 points, had powered Kansas State to a 62-46 lead with only eight minutes remaining when the Eagles applied a full-court press that completely baffled the Wildcats. In the next six minutes, Boston College outscored Kansas State 15-2 and pulled within two points, 65-63, on Will Morrison's jumper.

Syracuse upsets N.C. 78-76

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Syracuse senior guard Jim Lee sank a 20-foot jump shot with three seconds left Thursday night to carry the Orangemen to a 78-76 upset victory over Atlantic Coast Conference champion North Carolina in a semifinal game of the NCAA eastern regional.

North Carolina freshman Phil Ford had kept the Tar Heels ahead in the final three minutes with six straight pressure-free throws, but Syracuse's Chris Sease brought the Orange to within one, 76-75, with 28 seconds left to play.

Syracuse's full-court press caused Ford, who was trapped in the corner to throw the ball out of bounds. Syracuse then ran down the clock until Lee's 20-foot jumper with three seconds to go, giving the Orange the lead at 77-76.

Jim Williams accounted for Syracuse's final point with a free throw.

Maryland beats Notre Dame

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UPI) — All America John Lucas and freshman Brad Davis combined for 40 points and a tenacious Terrapin defense finally nailed Notre Dame Thursday night to send Maryland into the NCAA Midwest Regional final with an 81-73 win over the Irish.

The third-ranked Cardinals and the fifth-ranked Terrapins will meet in the Midwest Regional championship game to determine one of the four NCAA finalists at San Diego next week.

Lucas, hitting 15-of-20 foot jump shots over a sagging Notre Dame defense, led the Terps-break-the-game open midway through the second half. He scored 24 points and Davis, who has only three points then and the half, finished with 16.

Owen Brown scored 18 for Maryland.

Notre Dame, who could not handle Maryland's full court press, turned the ball over 23 times.

Tourney continues in NJCAA

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Jarvis Reynolds hit a tip-in with one second to play Thursday night to pull DeKalb, Ga., to a 77-78 decision over Arizona Western in the quarterfinal game of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Three free shots by Al Green put Arizona Western ahead 75-73 in the final six seconds. DeKalb had the ball after a timeout when Mike Dickerson, who led DeKalb with 28 points, passed to Reynolds for the winning shot. Reynolds finished with 17.

Green headed all scoring with 31. Calvin Bowers added 21 for DeKalb.

Western's Texas of Snyder, sparked by guard Bob Miller's 35-point shooting, nipped San Jacinto, Pasadena, Tex., 79-70, in another quarterfinal.

Oregon drops ORU 68-59

NEW YORK (UPI) — Greg Ballard scored 24 points and had 15 rebounds Thursday night to lead Oregon to a 68-59 victory over Oral Roberts and into the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament.

Oregon trailed 13-4 early in the game but took the lead for the first time with 7:20 to go in the first half and blew open the game with a 24-10 run in the first eight minutes of the second half.

That drive turned the Oregon edge into a 49-36 bulge. Oregon led by 10 or more points most of the rest of the game and had a 16-point lead with three minutes to go before Oral Roberts came up with a flurry of points in the final minutes.

Oregon's physical edge and tight defense forced Oral Roberts into a fast running, hip-shooting offense which deteriorated as the game went along. Providence and St. John's will meet in Saturday's other semifinal.

Princeton whips So. Carolina

NEW YORK (UPI) — Princeton's pinpoint passing routed South Carolina 86-67 and Oregon whipped hip-shooting Oral Roberts 68-59 Thursday night to advance to the semifinal round of the National Invitational Tournament.

Princeton, which demolished South Carolina's full court press in the second half, will meet Oregon in the semifinals Saturday after St. John's plays Providence in the first game of the doubleheader.

Armond Hill, who scored 18 of his 22 points in the first half, sparked Princeton to early leads of 19-6, 25-12 and an eventual 42-24 halftime margin. South Carolina scored eight straight points in the first 13:51 of the second half to draw within 10 points, but Princeton's pinpoint passing cut Princeton's press apart and it times scored virtually all of it.

Princeton also throtted South Carolina stars Alex English and Mike Duncay, both of whom fouled out in the second half. English scored 10 points and Duncay 12.

Player's contract big NFL question

PHOENIX (UPI) — A player contract for the coming National Football League season is a big question mark with the owners' Management Council still waiting for an updated proposal from the players.

Management Council General Manager John Thompson told the team owners Thursday that the Rozelle Rule, or option compensation proviso, was still the big divisive issue. Others are length of contract, management's contribution, pre-season pay arbitration, and agency or union shop. The players' last contract expired Jan. 31, 1974.

Thompson said the club owners still want to bargain on all the issues but the players want to exclude the Rozelle Rule, letting it go through a court test instead.

That rule, established in 1952, applies when an NFL player decides to go to another team rather than play out his option post-contract year with his contract team. Under the rule, the team to which he goes has to compensate other team with a player of equal value.

The players' last contract proposal was March 16 of last year when they came in with 57 demands. Thompson said, "The Mackey court case delayed negotiations, with the players adopting a 'No freedom, no

Arnie one shot back gives interest to Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer is just one shot off the lead.

That's just what the Greater Jacksonville Open needed to spark interest in a tournament that most of the "big names" bypassed this week.

"Okay, there's no Jack Nicklaus or Bob Miller, nor Lee Trevino or Gary Player. But, anyone you have Arnold Palmer just one shot back, that brings the fans out, no matter who else might have shown up."

The leaders, going into today's second round of this $150,000 PGA tournament, are two fellows named B. B. "Mac" McLendon and Barney Thompson.

McLendon, from Birmingham, Ala., is better known of those here because he paired with Hubert Green last fall to win the National Team Championship — at Disney World. But "Mac" was thinking about quitting after the pro tour before that victory and Thompson out of Huntington, W. Va., isn't even listed among the top 100 money winners so far this year.

McLendon and Thompson took the first round lead Thursday with 5 under-par 65. Palmer and five others had 68.

Jumped with Palmer a stroke off the pace are Lee Elder and Jim Dent, two of the few blacks on the pro golf tour, along with Ben Crenshaw, Grier Jones and Bob Dickson.

But, you can bet that the crowd will be following the

United States to compete with China in track meets

NEW YORK (UPI) — A United States track and field team, totaling 40 to 65 men and women athletes, will compete in three "friendly" Chinese meets starting in Canton on May 18, the American University Invitational on Sunday and go back to the Phillips' training camp in Clearwater, Fla.

"After a week I hope I will be able to work out," McGraw said from his hospital bed.

Asked if he thought it would take him a while to get back in shape, McGraw replied, "No, not really because I don't let myself get out of shape."

Dr. John Y. Templeton 3rd, who performed the operation, said he removed a "large" abscess case coming right from the rib.

He said the rib was not involved and "the sac" had no appearance of malignancy.

Biological tests were ordered and some results could be expected by Friday.

with no team point scores kept," said Olin Cassel, ASU executive director. "The stress will be on friendly competition and there is no intention to have a nation-versus-nation contest."

After the opening meet in Canton, the U.S. team will compete against Chinese teams at Shanghai and Peking. Dates for those meets are not set.

The Americans will leave China on May 29.

On the open days between track meets, said Cassel, "The U.S. athletes and coaches will conduct clinics for Chinese athletes and officials."

"We believe these people-to-people interchanges do add to goodwill and to improvement in international relations," said Arthur Hosen, executive director of the Committee.

The Committee is a non-profit educational organization aimed at encouraging American public interest and understanding of China. It has been involved in various exchanges, including the visit of the Chinese table tennis team to the U.S. in 1972, and visits to America by the "Shenyang Aerobatic" Troupe and by a Chinese gymnastics team. It also aided in sending 21 journalists from the American Society of Newspaper Editors on a visit to China, and in the Chinese tour of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

Baseball Eagles win one, lose 5

ST. GEORGE, Utah — The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles Baseball team has won one game and lost five in a 10 game, eight day tour of the state in Mesa, Arizona March 17-26.

Thursday, the Eagles lost their first game 9 to 5 to Utah Tech in the Dixie Invitational Tournament in St. George, Utah.

The tournament, which started Thursday has CSIS Utah Tech, Dixie Community College, Ricks, and Snow Junior College playing.

Mike Slaver started the game for the Eagles pitching two innings, the first in 10 innings. He gave up four runs in the eighth before Andy Davidson took over. The big turning point was in the ninth inning when the CSI right fielder dropped a fly ball hitting in two Utah Tech scores. They went on to beat the Eagles in the 11th inning.

The three day tournament is played round robin. CSIS plays two games today, the first against Snow at 3:30 p.m. and Ricks at 8 p.m.

Last Saturday, the Eagles lost their first game of the road trip at Mesa Community College 10 to 9. The teams were tied at the bottom of the eighth, but Mesa scored five in the bottom of the ninth for the win.

The Eagles came back on the second game of the trip to trim Mesa 12 to 10. The teams were tied at the bottom of the eighth, but Mesa scored five in the bottom of the ninth for the win.

The Eagles came back on the second game of the trip to trim Mesa 12 to 10. The teams were tied at the bottom of the eighth, but Mesa scored five in the bottom of the ninth for the win.

Tourney continues in NJCAA

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Jarvis Reynolds hit a tip-in with one second to play Thursday night to pull DeKalb, Ga., to a 77-78 decision over Arizona Western in the quarterfinal game of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

Three free shots by Al Green put Arizona Western ahead 75-73 in the final six seconds. DeKalb had the ball after a timeout when Mike Dickerson, who led DeKalb with 28 points, passed to Reynolds for the winning shot. Reynolds finished with 17.

Green headed all scoring with 31. Calvin Bowers added 21 for DeKalb.

Western's Texas of Snyder, sparked by guard Bob Miller's 35-point shooting, nipped San Jacinto, Pasadena, Tex., 79-70, in another quarterfinal.

Oregon drops ORU 68-59

NEW YORK (UPI) — Greg Ballard scored 24 points and had 15 rebounds Thursday night to lead Oregon to a 68-59 victory over Oral Roberts and into the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament.

Oregon trailed 13-4 early in the game but took the lead for the first time with 7:20 to go in the first half and blew open the game with a 24-10 run in the first eight minutes of the second half.

That drive turned the Oregon edge into a 49-36 bulge. Oregon led by 10 or more points most of the rest of the game and had a 16-point lead with three minutes to go before Oral Roberts came up with a flurry of points in the final minutes.

Oregon's physical edge and tight defense forced Oral Roberts into a fast running, hip-shooting offense which deteriorated as the game went along. Providence and St. John's will meet in Saturday's other semifinal.

Princeton whips So. Carolina

NEW YORK (UPI) — Princeton's pinpoint passing routed South Carolina 86-67 and Oregon whipped hip-shooting Oral Roberts 68-59 Thursday night to advance to the semifinal round of the National Invitational Tournament.

Princeton, which demolished South Carolina's full court press in the second half, will meet Oregon in the semifinals Saturday after St. John's plays Providence in the first game of the doubleheader.

Armond Hill, who scored 18 of his 22 points in the first half, sparked Princeton to early leads of 19-6, 25-12 and an eventual 42-24 halftime margin. South Carolina scored eight straight points in the first 13:51 of the second half to draw within 10 points, but Princeton's pinpoint passing cut Princeton's press apart and it times scored virtually all of it.

Princeton also throtted South Carolina stars Alex English and Mike Duncay, both of whom fouled out in the second half. English scored 10 points and Duncay 12.

Player's contract big NFL question

PHOENIX (UPI) — A player contract for the coming National Football League season is a big question mark with the owners' Management Council still waiting for an updated proposal from the players.

Management Council General Manager John Thompson told the team owners Thursday that the Rozelle Rule, or option compensation proviso, was still the big divisive issue. Others are length of contract, management's contribution, pre-season pay arbitration, and agency or union shop. The players' last contract expired Jan. 31, 1974.

Thompson said the club owners still want to bargain on all the issues but the players want to exclude the Rozelle Rule, letting it go through a court test instead.

That rule, established in 1952, applies when an NFL player decides to go to another team rather than play out his option post-contract year with his contract team. Under the rule, the team to which he goes has to compensate other team with a player of equal value.

The players' last contract proposal was March 16 of last year when they came in with 57 demands. Thompson said, "The Mackey court case delayed negotiations, with the players adopting a 'No freedom, no

What's your bedtime ritual, if any? Don't tell me, that's personal. But the alert rises as a student of behavior says those who get to sleep quickest are those who every night do some one thing out of habit. Maybe a last cigarette while sitting on the edge of the bed. Or a trip around the house to douse the lights and lock the doors. Or a quick walk with the pup. Or a glass of milk, tea or whatever at the kitchen sink. Or a session with file TV news. When folk accustomed to any one of these or other rituals fail to go-through them for any reason, they're likely to be unusually restless in bed, taking over-long to doze off.

CAVE ROOM

Q. "Settle a bet. Is there a cave room in the Carlsbad Caverns as big as the Houston Astrodome?"

A. Bigger. Far bigger. One cave room in Carlsbad is the world's biggest. It's 4,000 feet long, 625 feet wide and up to 280 feet high. The Astrodome only goes 710 feet by 710 feet and 208 feet high at its highest point.

THE JEWELRY BOYS say about 97 out of every 100 weddings in this country now are double ring ceremonies.

IT'S NOT UNUSUAL for a lightning bolt to deliver 25,000 times more current than was spastically shut through the electric chair for an execution.

ELDERLY

No Seasoned Citizen should forget. Immanuel Kant, wrote his best philosophical works at age 74. Verdi turned out "Ave Maria" at age 85. Goethe finished "Faust" at age 80. Tenyson did "Crossing the Bar" at age 80. Michelangelo completed his greatest art work at age 87. Titian painted the "Battle of Lepanto" at age 98. And Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes set down some of his most brilliant opinions at age 90.

IT HAS FINALLY come to pass that mobile homes comprise more than half of the single family houses under construction hereabouts.

YOU KNOW that song entitled "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen." But do you know the whereabouts of Kathleen's home? No, not Ireland. The wife of composer Thomas Westendorf came from Germany, and that's where he promised in the aforementioned ditty to take her.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Texan schedules crusade

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Bennie Wright, First Southern Baptist Church, announces that Evangelist Miles Meyers will lead a seven-day crusade at the church from Sunday in March 29.

A native of Arlington, Tex., Meyers has been preaching since he was 20 years old. He has conducted crusades throughout the western portion of the nation. It has been reported by other Idaho pastors that Brother Meyers is a dynamic speaker and has particular appeal to youths and young adults.

Rev. Wright says the membership of his church is expecting one of the greatest revival years.

Committee chairman involved in preparation for the coming crusade include Doug Graves, David Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simmons. Wright and personnel invite the public to attend the crusade planned at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and all next week. The church is located at the corner of Washington Street North and Miller Avenue.

The Shook Family

Colorado family sets performance

TWIN FALLS — The Singing Shook Family of Fort Collins, Colo., will be at the First Baptist Church, 416 Shoup Ave. W. at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Shook family has been presenting sacred music concerts for more than ten years in the west and mid-western states.

The group is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Shook, their two teenage daughters Karen and Beal along with their young son.

The Singing Shook Family highlights its concerts with such instruments as the piano, organ, electric bass, guitar, electric guitar and the harmonica.

Included in their repertoire are the old and new favorite hymns and spirituals, along with many songs they have written and composed.

The public is invited to hear this group in a one-night only performance, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Bible Baptist Church.

Baha'is celebrate new year

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Baha'is will celebrate their new year with meetings at 8 p.m. today in room 4 at the YM-YWCA.

The program will consist of prayers, a brief explanation of the Baha' Faith, a timpsrip and refreshments.

There are no churches or clergy in the Baha' faith, hence no ritual to the meetings that are held. The reason for this, Baha'is say, is that the founder of their faith — Baha'ullah, characterized the age as that of man's spiritual maturity in which every person is responsible for his or her own moral, ethical and spiritual development.

The Baha'is of Magic Valley, like their cognates around the world, believe that Baha'ullah, a religious personage who was active in Persia during the latter half of the 19th century, developed a religious system that will enable mankind to overcome its "inbred divinstiveness" and achieve a long-awaited "unification and harmony" of purpose.

Briefs

SHOSHONE — Palm Sunday will be observed at Christ Church Episcopal, Shoshone. The service will include the blessing and distribution of palms along with the regular communion services at 8 a.m., according to Rev. Father Daniel Metzger.

Briefs

ALMO — The third anniversary of the organization of the "Better Society" was observed Tuesday night by the Almo LDS Ward at the cultural hall. The main event of the evening was a potluck supper. Members of the Almo Relief Society presidency, including Mrs. Glen Jones, Mrs. Wallace Taylor and Mrs. Erickson were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Harold Ward planned the program and prayers were given by Elbert and Kent Barbee.

Methodists to hear cantata

TWIN FALLS — A special presentation of "The Seven Last Words" will be given at the First United Methodist Church Palm Sunday.

Under direction of A.B. Hipp — Gerdes, the church choir will present the cantata at both the 8:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. services. Soloists are: Clarence Budley, tenor; Roger Vernon, baritone; and Shirley Vernon, soprano.

Charles Looney will be the narrator. Accompanists are Robert Thompson, organist, and Mary Baun, at the piano.

Raymond Thompson, minister, will lead an informal Lenten worship at 7 p.m. Sunday. Other Sunday activities include youth groups at 6:30 p.m. and the Sunday school classes.

SPRINGDALE — The founding of the Relief Society 133 years ago was commemorated Saturday night at the Springdale LDS Hall with a dinner. In charge of the dinner and program were Mrs. Elmo Richman, Mrs. James Fenton, Mrs. Horace Coltrin and Mrs. June Larson, members of the ward presidency. Mrs. Richman conducted and announced the program and welcomed guests. Decorations were blue and gold.

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Doreen Williams, minister of the First Church of Religious Science, announces her sermon topic for Palm Sunday will be entitled "Peace Through Devotions." Rev. Williams says the congregation invites the public to join in the services at the YWCA Chapel at 10:45 a.m. Sunday at 1731 Elizabeth Blvd. The services will be followed by fellowship with coffee, cookies and cake. For a daily spiritual uplift call the creative prayer line at 734-8093, she says.
