WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has handed President Ford a $24.8 billion tax cut he may veto because it contains amendments he does not like, including one drastically cutting back the depletion allowance.

The bill cleared the House 267-125 and the Senate 45-16 shortly before midnight Wednesday despite surprisingly tough opposition.

Thieu nips 'plot'; Red units gain

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops overran a district capital in Binh Dinh province today, extending their control over South Vietnam to the central plains for the first time in their current invasion.

In Saigon, the government arrested dozens of opposition politicians and charged them with plotting to overthrow President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Al Da Nang in northern South Vietnam thousands of frightened Vietnamese besieged the airport, airline offices and the U.S. consulate seeking rides out of the city, surrounded on three sides by Communist troops.

On the battlefield, Communist forces moved out of newly acquired territory in the central highlands and into northern Quang Ngai province and Tam Quan, a district capital in Binh Dinh province 200 miles north of Saigon.

Communist forces captured Tam Quan in 1972 and held it for three months.

Ky told reporters he had called for a new government "that can be trusted by the people and soldiers," but said he favored only peaceful means of achieving change.

He admitted meeting Wednesday with anti-Thieu forces, including some of those arrested this morning, but denied he had ever urged a coup attempt.

Senate conference committee for more work. That vote, 60 short of the number necessary to override a veto, may encourage Ford to veto the bill in hopes of getting a better deal.

The bill contains $20 billion in individual breaks including rebates of $100 to $200 for most taxpayers, 1975 tax cuts of $30 to almost $600, a special one-time $50 payment to Social Security recipients and new breaks for some baby boomers and for middle and upper income buyers and parents.

But the net bill is reduced to $22.9 billion by a $2 billion tax increase on oil companies, including repeal of the depletion allowance for major companies while continuing a portion of it permanently for 10,000 so-called independent oil and natural gas producers.

Ford was reported to be concerned about the size of the bill — he proposed a $10 billion cut — and about several amendments.

House GOP leader John Rhodes, who saw Ford Wednesday along with other GOP leaders, predicted the President would veto the bill, "and I think there should be a veto."

But Senate Finance Committee chairman Russell Long, other Democrats warned Ford not to test the will of Congress.

"I think he would be making a wrong assumption to think that the next tax cut will be more to his liking," said Long in a Senate speech, adding that Ford might find other measures tacked onto the next bill such as energy and housing legislation.

"I don't think he's foolish enough to veto this bill," Long told reporters. "The administration has played that veto game until I can't take it seriously any more."

House Ways and Means chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said, "My judgment is that he should be overjoyed that we brought him a $22.8 billion package instead of a $28.8 billion package."

Oil cutback nets surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States posted a record $1.7 billion trade surplus in February because of the steep reduction in oil imports since the Arab embargo of 1973, the Commerce Department said today.

The surplus was a sharp turnaround from a trade deficit of $210.5 million in January.

The Commerce-Department adopted a new means of measuring the trade surplus this year, but the February surplus was a record high regardless of how it was considered, a spokesman said.

On the basis that the department had used since the turn of the century, the February surplus was $879.3 million wiping out the previous high of $576 million in March 1965.

Senate passes emergency farm bill

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed Wednesday an emergency farm bill to increase price supports and income protection for farmers at a three-year cost estimated by the Department of Agriculture at almost $19.6 billion.

The vote, 57 to 25, sent the measure to an uncertain fate, first in conference with agriculture leaders in the House, which has passed a lower-cost bill, and then, if it should survive compromise negotiations with its main features intact, in the White House where a veto threat has been raised.

The Senate bill would increase house-passed benefits for cotton, wheat and dairy farmers and would add a new feature providing benefits for tobacco farmers. A surprise amendment also provided for a 90-day embargo on beef imports to protect livestock producers.

Agreements of supporters were summed up by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., in introducing the bill at an unusual morning session.

"There is every possibility that Agriculture could soon be in economic situation as hopeless as the great depression," said Talmadge, who is chairman of the Senate agriculture committee.

In its principal features, the bill would increase income protection for farmers by raising "target prices," and price-support loans for cotton and grains.

The target prices are used as the basis for subsidy payments. If prices fall below the targets, the governments would be required to make up the difference in subsidies.

The price supports set the amount of loans that farmers can draw from the government, using their crops as security, to enable them to withhold products from weak markets in the hope of better prices.

As passed, the bill's cotton section provides for prices of 48 cents and price-support loans of 40 cents a pound, compared with 38-cent targets and 34-cent loans in current law and 45 cents and 38 cents, respectively provided in the House bill.

The Senate also increased the wheat benefits provided by the House. Targets were raised from $3.10 to $3.41 cents and loans from $2.50 to $2.87. Current legislation provides target prices of $2.05 and loans of $1.37.

The benefits for producers of livestock feed grains, which are based on corn, remained as written by the House. The representatives had voted last Thursday to raise the target price for corn from $1.38 a bushel to $2.25 and the loan from $1.10 a bushel to $1.87.

The House had also voted to hold price supports for dairy products at 80 per cent of parity.

Butz talks in TF tonight

BY GEORGE WILEY Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz' speech in Twin Falls tonight will be his first since Senate passage Wednesday of a controversial farm support bill.

The bill would provide the year increases in price supports for feed grains, wheat, soybeans and cotton, plus a one-year increase for milk and tobacco and a 90-day suspension of beef imports.

Butz, who earlier promised to recommend a presidential veto of the bill, favors a House sponsored measure passed last week which would add only $470 million in one-year price supports instead of the $19.7 billion projected cost of the Senate version.

Butz has argued that the Senate bill would raise consumer prices and erode world markets for American crops, leading to a revival of government controls on farm production.

Butz will arrive in Twin Falls this afternoon and will then attend a meeting of the Idaho State Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

speech in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium. Following the speech Butz will be honored at a reception in the CSI Student Union Building.

Joining Butz on the platform at the fund raising sponsored by the Fifth Region of the Republican Party of Idaho will be Idaho Republican Senator James McClure and Republican Congressman George Hansen and Steve Symms, Vernon Ravenscroft, chairman of the Fifth Region Republicans, will act as master of ceremonies.

Funds raised from the speeches will be split between Region Five and the member counties in the Magic and Wood River Valleys in which the $10 tickets have been sold.

According to Twin Falls County Republican Chairman Laird Noh, net proceeds of the affair will go half to the counties and will be apportioned to the counties on the basis of the number of tickets sold in each county.

The other half will go into Fifth Region coffers and will be used to assist Republican candidates for the state legislature during the next election. Noh said.

Price of the edition is 55 cents if purchased in the office and 60 cents if it is to be mailed to the recipient.

Circulation department personnel say $400 have been broken but an adequate supply remains. Interest in the history of the Magic Valley and its growth is probably the reason for the good sales, they say.

TF hospital plan okayed

BY CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Comprehensive Health Planning Council Wednesday approved a proposed building program at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The council unanimously approved the plan after a presentation by hospital administrators James Hoyer and Thomas Cline, Small, Howell, Shaw and Associates, Boise, who prepared the construction plans for the hospital.

The program will be funded through already budgeted revenues, including about $200,000 in county tax monies, about $200,000 in revenue sharing funds and surpluses from patient revenues.

The hospital needs approval for the plan by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council to insure it will be reimbursed fully for Medicare and Medicaid patients.

The proposal will now be submitted to the State Comprehensive Health Planning Agency, which also must give the project its approval, according to Hosenbaum.

A meeting of the state agency is set for mid-April in Hosenbaum said.

Plans also call for the correction of seven basic deficiencies where the hospital does not meet governmental safety codes.

In addition, pantries on four patient floors will be remodeled because they do not meet health codes.

The proposal also includes remodeling of the main, Hamilton and Associates, Boise, have prepared the construction plans for the hospital.

Vietnam tragedy mars Easter joy

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI, mourning the "unspeakable agony" of the Vietnam war refugees, led the world's 100 million Roman Catholics today in rites marking the start of the Easter season.

The 77-year-old pontiff celebrated Holy Thursday Mass in St. Peter's Basilica this afternoon to commemorate Christ's last supper before execution.

The Pope led his weekly general audience Wednesday in a "tragedy of Vietnam overshadowed the joy of the coming Easter."

"At this moment as our hearts prepare for the joy of the Easter feast, this people of Vietnam is suffering an unspeakable agony of tears and blood in an exodus that has taken on truly grave proportions," the Pope said.

Talent show set Saturday

TWIN FALLS — A 16-act talent show of high school students from all over the valley will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium.

The acts in the show, sponsored by the Twin Falls Straddle chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, include a piano solo, a unicycle, vocals, skills, acrobatics, readings and violin numbers.

Students in the show traveled by bus to Boise last week to perform at the Veterans Hospital here, according to Keth Johnson of the local chapter.

Proceeds from the show will help pay for the bus trip to Boise. Awards will be given for the best talent acts. Judges will be selected from the Toastmaster and Toaststress clubs.

Master of ceremonies for the show is Ron Chaney. Admission is $1.45 a person, with tickets available at the door, at the high schools before Easter vacation, and from DAV members.

Mid-East crises darken Passover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Passover, the greatest Jewish festival, began at sundown Wednesday and renewed Jewish appreciation over the diplomatic situation in the Middle East.

"With proliferating crises affecting the welfare of Jews everywhere this Passover, the time is urgent for pause and reflection by people of good faith regardless of their religious beliefs," said Dr. Alfred Gottschalk, president of Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion.

Passover, also known as Pesach, is the oldest Jewish holiday and celebrates the memory of the Hebrew exodus from Egypt — in particular, God's passing over the homes of Jews when he killed the firstborn of Egypt.

In his message, Gottschalk said it was "imperative this season, this year, for Jews and Christians to strive for greater interpersonal understanding, for deeper cooperation to help and solve a multitude of shared problems and for a restoration of religious practices as a saving grace in our life."

The American Jewish Congress reported new efforts Wednesday at such "interfaith understanding."

The AJC said its members were assisting both a Catholic Church and a Protestant parish in northern California in commemorating Passover with the traditional Jewish seder, the ritual meal of Pesach.

Such Christian observance of the seder has been a growing phenomenon in recent years as Christians in all denominations have sought to understand the Jewish roots of Jesus.

Monday Thursday, which most Christians will celebrate today, is an outgrowth of the Passover meal.

According to the New Testament it was following the ritual observance of the seder that Jesus instituted the "Eucharist" or Holy Communion among his disciples.

IPUC studies rate hike request

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has taken under advisement and application from the Intermountain Gas Co. to increase rates for an additional $2.2 million in annual revenue to meet hikes in the cost of buying gas from the supplier firm.

There were no protests at the hearing Wednesday at the rate hike.

Northwest Pipeline Co. has filed applications with the Federal Power Commission to increase rates. That would result from an annual increase in the purchased gas cost to intermountain gas of $2,200,000.

The company wants to increase annual revenues to cover that cost.

The commissioners and they expect to have a decision on the increase within a few days.

The Intermountain Gas Co. asked to put the new rates in effect April 1.

At the hearing, they told commissioners that the increase would not boost profits for the return on the company's investment. They said the amount would be sufficient to pay for the additional cost they are incurring in the purchase of gas from their wholesale supplier.

The increase will boost residential rates by 2.7 per cent annually while the overall increase for all customers would be 4.2 per cent.

Public meet set April 3

TWIN FALLS — A public meeting will be held April 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Twin Falls City Hall for discussion of an improvement and widening of Second Avenue South and West.

Howard Johnson, Shoshone district engineer for the Idaho Division of Highways, said the meeting is being held to inform the public and to gather public input to aid in further development of the project.

Property owners along the present east-bound median section of U.S. Highway 20 on Second Avenue West and South, city officials and other interested individuals are urged to attend.

Some property owners have expressed concern about loss of the trees which shade the street. Many of these trees are located on present state right-of-way and would be removed in widening of the present two-lane route.

Humorous times at DaNang gone

Editors, note: UPI Senior Editor Charles R. Smith was in Da Nang in 1965 when the U.S. Marines landed to do battle with the Communists. He is there now for the evacuation.

DA NANG, South Vietnam — Not so very long ago, U.S. Air Force officers had a club here they called the "Boon Club." It was merely an acronym for the Da Nang Officers Open Mess. But everyone thought it was very clever and very humorous, at least in the early days.

Today, the name seems appropriate for the city of Da Nang, the first place full combat units of the United States — the Marines — landed to do battle against the Communists.

"I was here when the Marines landed, and the U.S. government pretended they were not really here — go into large-scale combat."

The mood of Da Nang then was one of elation — at least in the very early days, the spring of 1965.

Today, the mood of the people in this over-crowded coastal city almost 400 miles north of Saigon is one of gloom and doom.

More and more people see it as a doomed city. And they're saying so, many with some bitter remarks about Americans in general and the U.S. government in particular.

A few — but only a very few — still cling to the impossible dream of another American military effort.

Sitting in the Gai Khat restaurant sipping a beer on a Monday night, when the nearby city of Hue was going through its convulsions of death and abandonment, a former soldier, sitting with two other civilians and two soldiers, asked me: "Will the B52's return? Will the Marines come back?"

There was a faint hope of an affirmative answer in his question, asked in good English, but spoken with a strange-sounding, blawing and missing sound because almost half his jaw had been shot away by a Communist bullet when he served before with the U.S. Special Forces, the Green Berets.

"I'm afraid not," was all I could reply to his question.

"The U.S. government is no good," another of the civilians said.

The Communist ring around Da Nang is closing rapidly. The pressures for panic are mounting and have become a cause for real concern among both Vietnamese and American officials here.

Refugees and troops fleeing in some disarray if not complete disorganization keep pouring into the city. With Communists cutting the land routes into the city, most now are coming by sea.

Nobody knows how many.

But even the most conservative estimates are well over 500,000.

During the day many of the refugees roam the streets looking for relatives and friends. Soldiers walk about in twos and threes and in sizeable groups trying to find their units.

Most of the civilians disappear from the streets after the curfew. But it's not necessarily true with the soldiers. Those not tired roam the streets at night.

They are not disorderly — yet. But the makings of disorder are, all there.

SANDPOINT, Idaho (UPI) — An effort to recall Bonner County Sheriff Robert Wilcox is underway here.

John Strode, Sandpoint, Tuesday filed a petition with the county clerk's office calling for Wilcox's removal, charging the sheriff with "lack of professionalism and inability in effect to perform the basic investigative duties."

Strode contends that Wilcox has caused public mistrust and a crisis of confidence because of the "careless and negligent manner in which he has administered the office of sheriff."

Officials gather for Faisal rites

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — It was a brief, simple funeral for the slain King Faisal, followed by the elevation of his brother Khalid to the golden throne of Saudi Arabia.

Kings, princes, emirs and presidents from throughout the Arab world gathered for the funeral ceremony under a large tent, where Faisal's body was set on a simple table.

Syrian President Hafez Assad sat next to Jordan's King Hussein — an adversary since 1950 over the Palestinian issue.

Others included Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat and Uganda's volatile leader, Idi Amin. A large crowd waited in a field outside.

The quiet, restrained mourners, sheltered as they would stirred the 100-degree air.

After the severe Islamic rites of the aserife Wahabi sect, the leaders filed past the body in a nearby mosque, where they prayed for the soul of the man who was the spiritual leader of the world's 100 million Moslems.

Before he died Tuesday the 60-year-old Faisal asked mercy for his assassin, saying, "I do not feel hate for him."

But a Cairo newspaper said American-educated Prince Faisal Aziz would soon be beheaded.

In a report from Riyadh, the Al-Akbar newspaper said doctors who examined the young prince found he was "responsible for his crime and knew what he was doing."

The government first said the prince, Faisal's nephew, was "mentally unsound," but later decided he was responsible, the newspaper said.

"He will be put on trial, therefore, and beheaded in accordance with Islamic law," the report said.

An official spokesman would only say the 20-year-old prince was being held in the royal palace.

A white ambulance took the body of Faisal to an unmarked site, where it was lowered into the earth and covered with sand.

The site was near the grave of Faisal's father, the legendary warrior king, Abdul Aziz bin Saud.

Syrian President Hafez Assad whether flew to the capital today for an audience with Faisal's 62-year-old brother and successor. He brought with him a personal note of condolence from President Ford.

Lawyer denies stabbing attack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Prison officials say a "San Quentin Six" defendant stabbed his attorney in the throat with a ballpoint pen Wednesday, but the lawyer insisted the attack never took place.

In another outburst, two inmates called as witnesses attempted to lead on prison guards trying to handcuff them inside San Quentin.

Prison spokesman Bill Nylberg said attorney LARRY CARMAN was stabbed by his client Hugo Lugo Jr. at a conference at the prison.

"He said Carman was stabbed in the throat and was bleeding from the neck and lip when he left the prison," Carman refused treatment at the prison hospital.

"I was not stabbed. I was not wounded in any way, shape or form," Carman said. "I did not go to a doctor."

Nylberg insisted there was a stabbing.

"A prison guard sergeant saw it happen," he said.

The San Francisco Chronicle said an unidentified witness said the lawyer "was bleeding from the mouth when he left the room and about 40 guards rushed in and took Lugo away."

150 Texas homes hit by tornado

LEFORS, Tex. (UPI) — A tornado rumbled out of a thunderstorm and ripped through more than 150 homes and the downtown business district today, killing at least one person.

The Red Cross said more than 30 persons were injured and predicted more homes would be found.

"We know there was a baby that was killed and they have been 40 to 50 people in the hospital," said LARRY SHUGWELL, chief of Pampa, Tex. Red Cross.

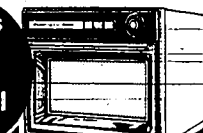

"They think there were three that were killed but they only have verification of one. They're going to look for more bodies during the day."

Fifty scattered off roads into the Panhandle farming community to keep sightseers away.

"There's no telephones, no lights, no water, no nothing in Lefors," Mrs. Shugwell said.

Pampa police Lt. John Thomas said Lefors was "totally demolished."

Gem high court sessions slated

BOISE (UPI) — The question of whether the statute of limitations can be interrupted while an out-of-state corporation is not operating in Idaho will be considered by the Idaho Supreme Court during a spring session at Pocatello.

Twelve cases will be heard during the session March 31-April 4.

Jack Lape, a Pocatello service station operator, brought suit against the Javelin Tire Company, a Tacoma, Wash., distributor, alleging that a tire he purchased from Javelin exploded April 15, 1972, as he was installing it on an automobile wheel.

Lape claimed he was injured in the explosion. He filed a complaint April 26, 1974, over two years after the explosion. The trial court dismissed his claim on the grounds that the statute of limitations barred the action.

The court will decide if the statute of limitations will be stopped from running against an out-of-state corporation which only does business in Idaho during the time it is doing business in the state.

The high court also will hear arguments on appeals from convictions in three rape cases.

Duane Warren Hawk, Idaho Falls, is appealing from a Seventh District Court conviction for forcible rape. He contends that the trial court erred in imposing a sentence of 2 1/2 years.

Hawk further contends that the psychological evaluation in the presentence report was inadequate. The court also must decide if Hawk filed his notice of appeal to the Supreme Court within the time limits provided by state law.

In an appeal from Sixth Judicial District Court in Blaine, the Supreme Court will consider whether the lower court acted improperly in dismissing a case of rape and kidnap charges against two men who were accused of assaulting a Pocatello woman.

Chester Lewis and Raymond Robinson were tried for the rape and kidnap of a woman who said they were a third, unidentified man, found her alone on a Pocatello street in the early morning hours and forced her into their pickup.

The woman alleged that the men took her to a location near the municipal airport and was raped. She conceded a cross-examination that she submitted out of fear for her life.

Although threats were not made verbally, there was a weapon displayed.

The high court must decide whether the trial court acted improperly in dismissing the prosecution case on the ground that the state had not proved its case beyond a reasonable doubt and if so, whether such an order of the trial court may be appealed.

Plant OK asked

DETROIT (UPI) — American Natural Gas System West Tuesday asked the Federal Power Commission for permission to build a coal gasification plant near Heald.

The plant will cost about $70 million, and adjacent coal mining facilities about $125 million.

The plant would be designed to produce 91 billion cubic feet of gas yearly from lignite coal in the Heald area. American Natural Gas has a contract to buy 3.7 billion tons of lignite in the area from North American Coal Co.

The gas would be delivered to Alchigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co., a member of the American Natural Gas System, starting in the 1980s.

President Arthur Seder, Jr., said American Natural Gas will need gas made from coal even though it is participating in the purchase of gas from the new Alaskan and Canadian Arctic slope deposits.

Congress sends Ford tax cut, rebate measure

For the average couple with two children, counting both rebates and new cuts, the bill would mean a $50 tax break at $15,000 income; $96 at $5,000; $112 at $8,000; $23 at $10,000; $20 at $15,000; and $20 at $20,000. As a general rule, anyone with an income above $20,000 would get only $10 rebate plus a special $30 tax credit for the taxpayer and every member of the family. However, the tax upper income persons, who take the standard deduction rather than itemize would gain the advantage of a liberalized standard deduction.

The 1975 tax cuts would be reflected in lower payroll withholding rates beginning May 1, and rebate checks would begin flowing in mid-May. The rebates would then be mailed out over the next six weeks according to how soon 1974 tax returns were filed. Those waiting for the final filing deadline in about three weeks would be the last to receive rebates.

The heart of the bill, would amount to 10 per cent of 1974 taxes up to a maximum $200. There also would be a minimum rebate of $100, or the full tax paid if that was less than $100.

husbands and wives could not get a double rebate for the same separate returns.

For those making more than $20,000, the rebate would phase down gradually until those making more than $30,000 would receive only a $100 rebate.

The 1975 tax cuts would be brought about in two ways.

The present 15 per cent standard deduction would be increased to 16 per cent, with the minimum deduction being increased from $1,000 for everyone to $1,000 for single persons and $1,500 for couples. The maximum deduction would be increased from $2,000 for everyone to $2,000 for singles and $2,500 for couples.

In addition, a $90 per person tax credit would be allowed for one year only. It would be subtracted directly from taxes owed by April 15, 1976, and would be in addition to all other exemptions and deductions. A family of four, therefore, would get $360 for the year.

The bill contains these other major provisions:

- Special payments to the working poor who have children, equal to 10 per cent of earned income up to $4,000, with the payment phasing out as income increases from $4,000 to $8,000. This amounts to a negative income tax because it is paid directly to the worker even if he is too poor to pay income tax.
- A 5 per cent, maximum $2,000, tax credit is allowed for the purchase of newly constructed housing, limited to homes, condominiums, cooperatives, mobile homes or any other single-family dwelling which can qualify as a principal residence. But, it must have been either under construction or never occupied as of March 25, the day before the law was agreed to. If construction started March 25 or later, the credit is not available. This was intended to spur purchase of a backlog of homes under construction or unsold, estimated to be about 340,000 homes.
- The income level at which the maximum child care deduction can be taken by working parents was increased from $18,000 to $25,000. At that income level, the maximum $4,000 yearly deduction begins phasing out, ending entirely at $44,000. The increase would not be available until the 1976 tax year.
- Unemployment compensation in nine high unemployment states would be extended another 13 weeks for a total of 65 weeks. This provision is through June 30 only.
- The oil depletion allowance would end for major oil companies, but 10,000 "independent" oil producers would continue to get a gradually decreasing depletion allowance, beginning with depletion of 22 per cent on 2,000 barrels per day of oil or the equivalent natural gas. This would phase down to 1,400 barrels at 22 per cent by 1980, then down to 1,000 barrels at 15 per cent by 1984.
- A series of complicated amendments restricting tax breaks and tax havens was approved for U.S. oil companies and for other U.S. multinational companies. The changes would have only minimal effect in 1975.
- The investment tax credit, now 7 per cent for most industry and 4 per cent for utilities, would be increased to 10 per cent for two years. Employers may increase it to 11 per cent if they put the proceeds from the extra one percentage point into employee stock ownership plans.
- The amount of corporate income subject to the low 22 per cent tax rate is increased from $25,000 to $50,000 and the rate on the first $25,000 is reduced to 20 per cent.

Morton slated for new office

SEATTLE (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers Morton will be named secretary of commerce soon, it was reported today.

According to the Seattle Intelligencer, the White House has named Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., Wednesday that it would announce the appointment shortly.

The Post-Intelligencer quoted informed sources as saying no reason was given for the shift.

Morton would fill a post vacated Wednesday by Fred Hoff, who was named U.S. special representative for trade negotiations.

Jobless claims decline slightly; stocks gain

By United Press International

The number of Americans getting thrown out of work in the recession has hit a four-month low, government statistics indicate.

The Labor Department said Wednesday first-time claims for unemployment benefits were down to 218,000 from 229,000 the week before.

The number, closely watched by economists for unemployment trends, has declined in eight of the last nine weeks, and also has not gotten through out of work in the recession has hit a four-month low, government statistics indicate.

average closed 30.30 points higher than Tuesday at 256 1/2.

It was the biggest gain in the Dow since Jan 27 when it rose 26 3/8.

Wall Street analysts said investors were encouraged by agreement between House and Senate institutions on a $22.8 billion tax rebate package to fight the recession.

Also encouraging the rally was a lessening of concern about the Middle-East.

Cracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors in the Nixon administration and an unofficial adviser to President Ford, said in St. Louis the economy is nearing its low point and would begin to improve.

But he said that if Congress does not control spending, "we will wind up with a deficit which is too large."

If the deficit gets into the $100-billion range, "the Treasury could not dissipate the debt without hurting the private sector of the economy somewhat," he said.

Little support for aid appeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's appeal for only three more years of economic and military aid to South Vietnam has not drawn much support from Congress.

After President Ford suggested a three-year phase-out, Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and James Pearson, R-Kent, began a series of hearings on the subject.

The administration reportedly argued for a total of $2 billion in economic and military assistance per year over three years, and negotiations became deadlocked.

Church has agreed to cosponsor a proposal by Sens. Charles Mathias, R-Md., and Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., to cut off all military aid to Saigon beginning July 1, but permit continued economic assistance.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-Pa., introduced an amendment Wednesday to cut off military aid to South Vietnam immediately.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Wednesday he would support a three-year phase-out of military aid to South Vietnam, but that he "I have no idea whether Congress would support it."

Kissinger told newsmen Wednesday "an attempt" to curtail aid to South Vietnam in Cambodia would destroy them.

"I think it is interesting as to point out that, after all, the flood of refugees in Vietnam is going away from the Communist area of control and even in Cambodia, somebody is still fighting around Phnom Penh. So that we are here in a position where the United States is forcing people to surrender by withdrawing supplies."

Since last May, Kissinger said, "South Vietnam has received only ammunition and fuel. It has received almost no spare parts and no modern equipment."

Jackson proposes N-arsenal outback

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia could save billions of dollars and lay the groundwork for significant future reductions in their nuclear arsenals if they agree now not to modernize 700 of their most advanced missiles and bombers, Sen. Henry Jackson says.

Jackson outlined his novel proposal in a Senate speech Wednesday.

The Washington Democrat has been a critic of President Ford's Vladivostok arms agreement with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev because it provides for future reductions in nuclear armaments to a half in the face of improving nuclear weapons.

A spokesman for the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency said the agency was looking forward to studying the details in Jackson's proposal.

The Arms Control Association, a private research group specializing in disarmament problems, had immediate comment.

But one disarmament specialist said the Jackson proposal "looks sort of interesting." He said it might be a stumbling block because of the problem of verifying that each side was abiding by assurances not to modernize.

Acceptance of the proposal would be the first clear hope in both countries that we can look forward to strategic force reductions and a concomitant lessening of the financial burden of maintaining very large strategic forces.

Nixon halts plans for TV interview

(C) N.Y. Times Service
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. — Richard M. Nixon was reliably reported Wednesday to have called a halt at least for the time being, to efforts by a group of friends to obtain a series of around $25,000 for his appearance on television to discuss his year in the White House.

Negotiations for an "action special" on the subject of the weeks ago and described by a former aide as "unauthorized" preliminary talks, from which Nixon remained aloof, grew out of the group's concern over his dwindling finances and steadily mounting legal expenses, which may total nearly a half-million dollars.

The group includes cost business men, a television personality, and a former military aide.

Recent developments have made the project inadvisable at this time, although it may, perhaps be reconsidered at some later date," a former member of the Nixon White House staff, said in discussing the decision to abandon for the time being further talks with television industry officials.

Energy crunch cuts use of nitrogen fertilizer

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The energy crunch has forced timber growers to cut back severely on their use of nitrogen fertilizer to accelerate tree production on their plantations.

Executive Director, William H. Larson of the Washington Forest Protection Association said the problem was the direct result of a national shortage of natural gas.

A derivative of natural gas commonly goes into the manufacture of nitrogen fertilizer, which is used in great quantities by Pacific Northwest forest managers to accelerate timber growth. — But shortages have caused fertilizer prices to skyrocket to the point where, in many cases, it couldn't be expected that today's costs would be matched by the return on the increased timber production, he said.

"And it should be remembered that 'tree' growing investment costs must be carried for many decades before realizing what is often a modest return," Larson added.

The fertilizer, usually is applied by helicopter, a system pioneered in the Pacific Northwest about six years ago.

Large scale aerial fertilization already is exhibiting great promise among the proliferating techniques aimed at enhancing forest yield.

A recent three-year study conducted by the University of Washington College of Forest Resources showed that such fertilization increases growth by 15 to 25 percent.

A combination of commercial thinning and fertilization produces an average boost of 30 per cent within seven years, with some stands showing increases of as much as 60 per cent, according to a study by the state Department of Natural Resources.

"It takes about 440 pounds of fertilizer per acre to achieve such attractive gains," Larson said. "At today's prices, that's a lot of fertilizer."

The domestic price of the most widely used forest fertilizer is about $175 a ton when purchased directly from the manufacturer. But fertilizer at other market sources may be as much as $300 a ton when supplies are tight, said Hubert Berglund, a natural resources department forester.

The same fertilizer was available at $75 a ton two years ago, Berglund added.

Department plans to fertilize about 12,000 acres of state forest land will have to be reduced by 75 per cent. Similar reductions are being made among the large industrial programs, Larson said. One big firm which treated 11,000 acres last year will fertilize only 20,000 acres this year — an 80 per cent reduction.

The fertilizer shortage is expected to continue at least until late 1976.

Spies check waiters

MOSCOW (UPI) — Peking's spies are stationed in Chinese restaurants around the world, the Soviet newspaper Moskovsky Komsomlets said today.

"Many Western agents have to spend most of their time in these restaurants chewing Bombay duck or gulping bird's nest soup while trying to decide which of the waiters are being used by Peking for illegal activity," the newspaper said.

Education teams to explain laws

BOISE (UPI) — Local school districts will be visited by top state members of the Idaho Education Department April 9-10 to explain new legislation by the recent legislative session, Public Instruction Superintendent Roy Truby said today.

Three education department teams will explain the new education legislation to school district members at Cedar Blaine, Lewiston, Boise, Twin Falls, Idaho Falls and Pocatello.

Truby praised the lawmakers for their interest and support of educational measures this past session. He said "all in all, Idaho's 165,000 school kids and education in general fared very well."

He said he was particularly pleased by the action approving state funded kindergarten. He said from early indications it appears that most of Idaho's 15 school districts will be implementing some kind of program next fall.

The staff members who will visit the districts next month are Harold Farley, Bill Englekamp, Garth Reid, Don Carpenter, Reid Bishop, George Hunt and Jerry Evans.

Potato growers abandon burn

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Potato growers who planned to burn spots on Saturday at Shelley instead have headed a plea from Idaho's governor and will give the food to people who need it.

"I'm sorry," Holm said, "the potatoes destined for the burn in Shelley instead will be loaded on trucks beginning Thursday and hauled to Boise for a give-away."

The estimated 20,000 pounds of potatoes will be trucked to Boise with some going to Sall Lake City for a give-away there.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Tuesday asked the potato growers to find another means of drammatizing their plight of low prices and a large surplus of potatoes.

Holm said the potatoes will be given to welfare recipients, the elderly or any person in need. He asked that they bring their own containers to get the potatoes.

Gov. Andrus said, "I am extremely pleased that the potato growers have chosen to dramatize their plight by helping people instead of burning their food, a situation when people are starving," Andrus said.

"Once again the strong independent Idaho spirit of helping when some are in need has asserted itself."

Abby

By Abby Van Buren
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune & News Synd. Inc.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old woman (old enough to know better) and my husband is 42. We were both married before. I never had children, but my husband has one son, Junior, who is 20.

About a year ago, my step-son and I began to get playfully affectionate, and to make a long story short, before we knew it, Junior and I ended up in bed together. We have a tremendously strong physical attraction for each other which we can't seem to control. We take advantage of every opportunity to be together—sometimes two and three times a day. Junior goes to college and lives at home, so it's ideal.

We know it's wrong, but we can't stay away from each other. My husband doesn't suspect anything, but he's already commented on the marked change in our sex life. (I'm "too tired" much of the time.)

I can't afford to go to a psychiatrist, and my minister is my husband's drinking buddy, who can't keep his mouth shut when he's half lit. I don't think anyone can help me, but I keep hoping. What's the solution, Abby?

TRAPPED

She should 'detour'

DEAR TRAPPED: You need professional counseling, and so does Junior. Your local Mental Health Association can help you. In the meantime, Junior should move out of the house, and you should do some volunteer work if your household duties aren't keeping you sufficiently busy. You are on a collision course with disaster. Detour, before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago, my husband and I and a friend were walking our dog in the woods near our house. We all saw, but pretended not to see, a young couple making love in the bushes.

Although we weren't close enough to recognize the youngsters, they couldn't have been more than 16 years old. Ever since then, I've been perplexed about what I should have done. Of course I was too late, but the best I have been able to come up with would be to have said: "Okay, kids, break it up. We will close our eyes and count to 50, and then you had better be gone."

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I'd have counted to 100, and then recited the Lord's Prayer.

DEAR ABBY: An organization of which I am a member conducted a raffle to raise funds. The first prize was a $5,500 automobile. The second prize was a TV-stereo-radio combination, which sells for around $3,500, and the third prize was a trip for two, which would have cost around $2,000.

When the drawing was held, the holder of the first number won the trip, which was really the third prize. The second ticket holder won the $3,500 prize, and the last ticket holder won the first prize. This surely did not seem fair to me.

In a drawing of this kind, shouldn't the first ticket drawn be the first prize, and so on?

CONFUSION IN GA.

DEAR CONFUSION: There is no "correct" way. Prior to the event, you should have decided in which order the numbers would be drawn for the prizes.

When the third prize is given first, the suspense builds with each successive drawing—which adds to the excitement of the occasion.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a persons reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 152 Lanky Dr. Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rattle gets Ziggy

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ziggy the five-ton elephant was just getting used to his surroundings after spending well over 24 hours trapped in a moat. When Brookfield Zoo officials finally found a way to get him out, he ignored them.

He fell into the moat Sunday, breaking his tusks and cutting his head. It took two tow trucks and a 24-man rescue team eight hours just to get him turned over on his stomach.

It took one girl to get him out. Zoo officials built a huge grey ramp and Monday night they urged Ziggy to walk out of the eight-foot-deep pit.

turned up his trunk and went about his business. They called his name. Ziggy ignored them. They tempted him with his favorite foods. The 50-year-old pachyderm wasn't interested.

Then a keeper pegged a "shift door" which Ziggy knows gives him access to Wildget, a young female African elephant.

Ziggy promptly trotted up the ramp, but he stopped at a minor cut and broken tusks. Officials said that despite a broken tusk, Ziggy was unharmed by the fall.

The wily Mordred was most unhappy. Not only was he holding bad cards, but his partner was Dinadan, the worst knight and bridge player of the round table. Now his opponents had had a slam and, while he held four trumps to the 10, the whole thing seemed hopeless.

Dinadan opened the "10" at clubs. The peerless Lancelot won with the ace, played the ace of trumps, entered dummy with a heart, led a spade and played the queen. Dinadan followed with the five spot as if he had not a care in the world. Lancelot led a second heart to dummy, led dummy's last spade and played the jack. Dinadan won the trick with the king and led the jack of hearts. This gave Mordred a chance to discard his last spade. Now there was no way for Lancelot to trump his six aces-spades-in-dummy without an over ruff. It cost him game, slam and rubber.

"What a magnificent play Mordred himself couldn't have made a better one."

"Thank you," said Dinadan. "I'm afraid that the compliment is undeserved. I didn't see the king of spades until you led the suit the second time. If I had I surely would have taken it right away."

Susan Beem, Hagan exchange promises

HUNT — Susan Beem and Rocky Hagan were married in double ring ceremonies March 15 at the Jerome Presbyterian Church.

Rev. W. Daniel Klingler performed the rites in the sanctuary decorated with baskets of white gladioli, yellow pom pom mums and orange carnations with orange bows. Organ music was played by Mrs. John T. Stelke.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Beem, Hunt. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hagan, Hazelton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of natural cotton muslin with long sleeves and high stand-up collar, edged in lace. The gown featured a natural lace yoke and lace overlays down the front and back, and the wide ruffle on the long skirt. It was made by Carol McClellan, Jerome.

The bride wore a headpiece of white daisies, yellow rose-buds, baby breath and orange ribbons which matched her bouquet made of the same flowers and orange ribbon streamers.

She carried the same white Bible her mother carried at her wedding and a white lace handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother. She also wore her mother's blue garter.

Janice Ellis, Hazelton, attended the bride as maid of honor. Kim Beames, Hazelton, was the best man. Ushers were Paul Peterson, Hallowell, and Steve Beem, Pocatello, brother of the bride.

Ring bearer was Kip Andrus, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church basement.

New Gem law to assist plaintiffs with legal costs after July 1

HAILEY — A bill signed into law last week will allow plaintiffs in civil matters to recover attorney fees where damages are $2,500 or less.

The bill will take effect on July 1 this year. Prior to that time, people will be forced to go to small claims court where they are entitled to collect up to $300. Small claims matters are settled without the use of lawyers.

debts owed on accounts or contracts.

Up to this time, attorney fees from filing of an action against him. In addition there will be no legal fees awarded if the man in default pays back an amount equal to 95 per cent of the bill.

The contract to that effect.

The new bill will allow the court to set reasonable atorney fees relating to outstanding debts in addition to the damage awards.

The new law is not an invitation to litigation, according to Halley attorney John Croner.

Included in the bill, he said, is the provision that a defendant must be notified 10 days before filing of an action against him. In addition there will be no legal fees awarded if the man in default pays back an amount equal to 95 per cent of the bill.

If the defendant files a counterclaim he likewise will be awarded attorney fees if he is granted damages equal to 95 per cent of the amount of the counterclaim.

Croner said the legislation will encourage parties to settle their just debts without the use of legal process. The man who is owed money is not further injured, he said, by paying for an attorney to get back his money.

Many suits that are brought against defendants involved more than the $300 limit set in small claims court. Croner said. The man that is owed $500 can go to small claims court and recover up to $300 or go to an attorney, he said.

The lawyer may charge $300 for a default lawsuit, Croner said, which the client has to pay to get the matter settled.

Either way, the man is out hundreds of dollars and his total recovery is seldom near the amount owed, Croner said.

Bob Korb, Ketchum attorney, said the legislation is "a step forward for the small man. I think attorneys also will take a care more readily than they would before."

He said the legislation will speed the collection of debt. People generally will just put off collection, he said, but when they know the court will order attorney fees paid will move faster.

Korb said the Ketchum firm he works for advises clients who are owed $500 to go to the maximum $300. He said in most like cases the man might spend more on lawyers' fees than he would get out of small claims court.

Jim Donart, Ketchum attorney, called the bill an extension of the consumer movement.

Cancer 'virus' probed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The possibility the first human cancer virus has been isolated from a leukemia victim was strengthened Wednesday when a government scientist reported he had repeated the feat with a different blood sample.

But the question of whether the virus actually was responsible for the disease in the patient, a 61-year-old Kansas woman, probably will not be answered for some time, said Dr. David Baltimore, professor of microbiology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Confirmation that viruses cause cancer in human beings, as they do in some animals, would represent a major step in scientists' effort to understand the disease that ranks as the nation's number 1 killer. It might even lead to a vaccine to block certain types of malignancies.

The virus in the leukemia victim was first found by Dr. Robert Gallo of the National Cancer Institute last year and reported in January. Gallo told an American Cancer Society seminar he recently isolated the same virus from a sample taken from the patient at a later course in her disease.

"It is quite striking evidence that it is a reproducible phenomenon in this patient," Baltimore said, thus all but ruling out the possibility the virus may have resulted from laboratory contamination.

Scientists have been trying for years to isolate a human cancer-causing virus. There have been several false claims, caused by laboratory mistakes.

"Finding a human tumor virus is a very hard business," Baltimore told newsmen. "The human tumor viruses, if they exist or to the extent they exist, are extremely covert."

The virus Gallo found has characteristics of a family of viruses known as type-C, which can cause cancer in a wide variety of animals. The Gallo virus is similar to one known to cause leukemia in the gibbon ape, a close relative to man, and another that causes solid tumors in woolly monkeys.

The patient from whom the virus was isolated has acute myelogenous leukemia, a rare form of cancer that occurs in about 2 of 100,000 Americans each year.

Fields gets sentence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Marshall Fields convicted of crashing a car into the White House gate, has been sentenced to 18 months in jail.

He was sentenced Tuesday after a federal court jury declared it was ducked on the question of his sanity at the time of the incident last Christmas Day.

Fields was convicted last week of destroying government property by crashing a car through the northwest White House gate. At the time, he was dressed in Arab clothing and threatened to blow himself up.

U. S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell, who had ordered the sanity trial after Fields' conviction, said Tuesday he would not schedule another hearing on the defendant's sanity.

SWENSEN'S OFFER YOU A MINIATURE SELF CONTAINED CHICKEN FACTORY

Theoretically every egg is a small, self-contained chicken factory capable of producing one chick. However, since these eggs are super-fresh and there wasn't much romance in the egg factory where they came from, the chances are very slim that they would ever produce any chickens. Which brings us to the question of which really came first: the chicken or the egg. Swensen's Markets don't mind taking a stand on this important controversial question. Obviously the egg had to come first — How could there be any chickens without eggs to hatch from. To sum up, the real purpose of this ad is to tell about the big, beautiful fresh white eggs at Swensen's Magic Markets that can be transformed into lovely Easter Eggs, or fried, poached, souffled, omeletted, boiled or used for putting practice (compare with cheap golf balls at 50¢ each.)

Texas magistrate refuses to perform ceremony

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Justice of the Peace John Forbes says there are two kinds of couples he refuses to marry — "underaged and interracial."

Last week he flocked himself in his office to keep from performing one such wedding.

Jill Maas, the white fiancée of Daniel Georges, 26, a black professor of urban studies and a Linthicum resident, at the University of Texas at Arlington, had arranged for Forbes to perform their wedding.

The marriage was planned for Sunday, and 15 adults and children were invited. But when the entourage arrived at Forbes' chambers, the justice of the peace refused to go through with the ceremony.

"I have established the policy of not performing inter-racial marriages as well as interracial marriages," Forbes said Tuesday. "These marriages are well established as having a high incidence of failure."

Georges said he was in Forbes' office when the incident occurred and Forbes removed from office.

"I guess he assumed the couple getting married was my sister and me," Georges said. "When he asked the couple getting married to step into his office and Jill and I came forward, he had a rather shocked look on his face."

According to Georges, he and Forbes went into the JP's office alone and Forbes told him he was not going to perform the ceremony.

"I respectfully declined to perform the marriage ceremony," Forbes said.

Then, according to Georges, Forbes locked himself in his office. The professor said the Ex-con spurns treatment

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Ex-convict Paul Rogers tried unsuccessfully to commit suicide by shooting himself in the head. He lived, but he is in critical condition. Now, he refuses to allow doctors to remove the bullet.

Authorities seemed powerless today to force Rogers to accept treatment.

If a man "seems to have all his faculties, you can't force him to have medical attention," Judge Richard Bardwell said. "There's no crime committing suicide in Wisconsin."

Rogers, 21, a Milwaukee ex-convict, shot himself near the right ear when police closed in to arrest him after a shooting and liquor store hold-up last Friday.

Richard Vroman, the liquor store owner Rogers is accused of shooting, was in stable condition. About $125 was taken.

Rogers has spurned the pleas of his family, friends and medical staff to remove the 25-caliber bullet lodged near an artery, and authorities were seeking a court order to force him to accept surgery.

If he refuses surgery, he could die, said doctors, who list him as a satisfactory candidate for brain surgery. Psychiatrists said he was mentally competent to make decisions.

Canadian physician convicted

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld the conviction of Dr. Henry Morgentaler on a charge of performing a criminal abortion.

Morgentaler, 50, has been the controversial leader of nationwide efforts to liberalize Canada's abortion laws.

The Supreme court considered the case for more than 2 1/2 months before delivering its ruling today.

Morgentaler was acquitted by a Montreal jury of 11 men and one woman Nov. 15, 1971, but the acquittal was reversed in April, 1974, by the Quebec Court of Appeals which sentenced him to 18 months in prison.

The Polish-born physician, who admits to having performed more than 5,000 abortions, appealed the conviction and was free on $25,000 bail pending today's Supreme Court decision.

Judge dismissed for 'Bronx cheer'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court removed from office a judge Tuesday who made an obscene gesture to one defendant and gave another a "Bronx cheer."

The justices removed Judge William D. Spruance of the San Leandro-Hayward Municipal Court for "inexcusable and reprehensible conduct." The charges included conducting court in a "bizarre and unjudicial manner."

Spruance took office Jan. 4, 1971, following his election. He was charged with misconduct two years later by the Commission on Judicial Qualifications.

After 19 days of hearings, three special masters found him guilty on 11 specifications of willful misconduct and recommended his removal from office.

"When one of three new marriages now end up in divorce courts in our state, I feel it would be a breach of my judicial conscience to indiscriminately contribute to these growing statistics."

Project brings praise

SHOSHONE — A vote of endorsement and praise reportedly was given the Shoshone Lincoln School Federal Title III Project according to results of the recent survey taken among parents of children at the school.

The Title III project, begun two years ago, takes in not only enrichment bloc classes for the elementary students on Friday afternoons but helped to set up a media center at the school.

The survey recently completed was part of a two-year evaluation of the program, set to determine whether or not patrons of the district would want the program to continue.

"According to Kermeth Crothers, the majority of the parents within the 74 per cent contacted who responded felt the program was excellent and as asset to the school and students."

Two years ago under the program, $30,000 federal funds were given to the local project for that year to initiate the program and set up the media center and library.

Last year federal funds were $15,000 while this year the federal participation reduces to $5,000, making it necessary, if the program is carried on, to receive support in amount of $8,891.

The Shoshone School District will provide the funds if possible, the board agreed.

In a breakdown of parental opinion, according to the statistics of the survey, 87 per cent of the parents said they would be "satisfied" if the program ceased; 96 per cent stated the blocs were "good"; 84 per cent said they felt their children used the skills learned in the enrichment blocs at home, and 63 per cent stated they felt the enrichment blocs were valuable to the students.

Convict Bowles recovers

SPOKANE (UPI) — Attorney Fred Schuchart says his client, Carl Clellus Bowles, is well enough now to travel to Spokane to face first degree murder charges stemming from the death last summer of Earl and Viola Hunter, Eugene, Ore.

Bowles, who originally escaped from the Oregon State Prison last May, is now serving a 10-year sentence at the Idaho State Prison in Boise for kidnaping three persons in an unsuccessful attempt to elude pursuing officers in Northern Idaho about a month after the Oregon escape.

At the time of his recapture, Bowles was shot in the abdomen and has since undergone several operations. His last operation was Jan. 14, and he has been recovering at the Idaho State Prison.

Schuchart said Bowles is ready and willing to come to Spokane to face the murder charges, and said it is now up to Spokane County Prosecutor Don Brackett to take the necessary steps to transfer Bowles from Idaho to Washington.

Brackett has declined comment for the time being on the Bowles matter. The bodies of the Hunters were found in mid-July in a willow grove just southwest of Spokane. An autopsy revealed they had both been shot.

South Carolina defeats ERA

COLUMBIA, S.C. — The South Carolina House voted Wednesday to table the proposed Equal Rights Amendment, effectively defeating it in that state and destroying any chance it could become a part of the U.S. Constitution in 1973. The 46 to 43 vote, which came only minutes after a lunch break, caught ERA supporters totally by surprise.

"Some of our key people had not got back from lunch," said Rep. Jean Toal, D-Ritchland, one of the main backers of ERA. "Most of our key people were in subcommittees. We were simply caught short, which is perfectly legal. God damn it!"

"Thirty-five of the House's 124 members were not recorded as voting on the motion by Rep. Robert K. Kahn, D-Charleston."

The chamber then voted 56-41 against reconsidering its vote, clinching the defeat of ERA in the House.

Bag of tricks used by Mounties

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Mountie always gets his man — even if it means using brainwashing, lies, deceit and sexism, according to a training manual.

In a 29-page manual used by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police's training branch in Ottawa, officers are instructed to start questioning with everything that is "legal and right."

But if this fails, "I suggest the rules go out the window and the interrogator must open up his bag of tricks," the manual says.

The manual was brought before the House of Commons Tuesday by an angry lawmaker investigation, and a copy was obtained by UPI.

The booklet advises special handling depending on whether suspects are fat, short, skinny — or female. When interrogating women, the Mountie should first find out if she has any children.

"After this, praise the child. Tell her how good looking the child is. Tell her it looks like her. Speak of her love for the child."

"Reiterate that her prime function in life is to reproduce, that is what God placed her on Earth for."

"It makes no difference whether these women we are speaking to are prostitutes or ordinary thieves or employed by a bank."

"Women are emotional and an emotional approach is the best approach to use on women. We use the emotion of love, jealousy and fear."

"We then slip into the 'heaven and hell technique.' The manual says the 'heaven and hell' method of brainwashing can be used on men as well as women."

"In this approach we let the subject have a look at hell, but also offer him heaven in exchange, or as an alternative."

"The subject is interrogated at all hours, day or night. He has been kept in isolation and has had most of his clothes taken away from him."

"He is dressed in a sloppy pair of coveralls. He does not use his own shoes but instead is given a pair of shoes too large for him so that they slip about. There are no shoelaces. He has no belt to hold his pants up."

"In the brainwashing technique, this is an assault on his dignity."

Grant named coach of eastern all-stars; Yoder and Davis made J.C. all-Americans

Post season-honors for College of Southern Idaho basketball continued to pile up Wednesday afternoon with the announcement that Coach Boyd Grant was named mentor for the eastern team of the first annual junior college national all-star tournament.

In addition, word leaked here that freshman Kenny Davis and sophomore guard Gary Yoder already named to the west team, have been named to the all-American top 15, making CSI the only team in the nation to have two representatives.

Davis, a 6-7 freshman from Detroit, was named to the second team while Yoder, a 6-4 guard from Tippecanoe, Ind., and transfer from Mississippi University, was placed on third team.

Davis thus becomes the first CSI freshman to earn all-America honors since guard Steve Tegens made first team five years ago.

"It's really great," said Coach Boyd Grant, who is finding the end of the playing season and start of the scheduling and recruiting year hard to control. "I really love it when our boys are honored. It's great and they deserve it."

Coach Grant also was pleased with his selection as the east all-star coach in the national game being sponsored by a scouting service in San Antonio.

"I think it is a great honor and I know I was selected because of our team's great finish in the national tournament. It's just another thing that the boys have earned for me and I'll be eternally grateful to them."

He added another reason that the selection pleased him was that "people involved in basketball" made the decision.

But as eastern coach he'll be going against his own Gary Yoder, whose appointment to the team was reported in Sunday's Times-News.

"They asked me if having to coach against

All-American Kenny Davis

Gary would make any difference to my accepting the eastern position or not. (Told them 'well, I should at least know how to defend him.')" Coach Grant smiled.

The coach and Yoder will leave Twin Falls April 2 and the game is slated for April 4. Coach Grant anticipates having a chance to put his boys on the practice floor only twice before the game.

But he isn't going into the thing blind by any means. Six of the 30 men he'll have were in the national junior college tournament last week and his Eagles played against a couple of them.

In addition, he also knows the westerners, who are headed by Western Texas Coach Mike Mitchell and the national tournament's MVP Bob Miller.

Among those Coach Grant has seen and will coach in San Antonio are guard Ricky Green and Forward Tom Harris of Vincennes; 6-6 guard Mike Beckerson of DeKalb Ga.; forward 6-6 Alamo Bradley of Umea, Miss.; and 6-7 center Ernest Wansdy of Anderson, S.C.

The rest of his team will be guards Kent Glover, bulk of Florida, and Paul Webb, Hwassee, Madisonville Tenn.; forwards Jose Nava, New York City, and John Billups, Chipolof, Fla.; and center Calvin Crews, North Florida. Crews also is familiar to coach Grant who has seen him play in the high school and junior college.

All the western guards are known to coach Grant and those CSI fans who went to Hutchinson. These include 6-2 Ray Williams of San Jacinto, Miller and Yoder, forwards are Odis Malbone of San Antonio College, Larry Bassie, Dodge City, Kans.; Sam Spry, Seminole Okla.; Eugene Adams, Western Texas; Jim Chittin, Western Wyoming; Rock Springs, and centers Jerome Shanks, Arizona Western and LaMont Gurner, Forest Park, St. Louis, Mo.

Boyd Grant, all-star coach

All-American Gary Yoder

sports

From all angles By Larry Hovey

Right now you know exactly who's sitting in his office chair and just smiling and snickering away concerning the wild things that are happening to the College of Southern Idaho basketball team.

Mr. He's called Coach Boyd Grant or all-Americans Kenny Davis and Gary Yoder. It's the college president, Dr. James L. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor has put in his thumb and pulled out a phm again. Three for three and he's not telling you're going to second guess him on his next choice for CSI basketball coach.

Dr. Taylor told his six years ago, when Eddie Suttin departed for Creighton and left a coaching void here, not to worry.

"The only thing that you have to worry about," he said, "is whether I leave because it doesn't make any difference about anything else. If a college president wants a successful athletic program, his school will become."

Now understand that Dr. Taylor, who isn't really all that modest, made that statement as plan, hard fact. Which means the first major crisis for the CSI basketball success will come when the coaches here and the board have to select a new college president. Make sense?

But the good doctor has to have a couple of "I told you so's" because he's only human.

He wanted one, whole sentence, on Monday morning—welcome—address to the team or its return from Hutchinson to get in the first one.

He told the group something along the line that people didn't have the full trust in Boyd Grant Coach Hede would be a tough act to follow. Dr. Taylor immediately offered a bet that Coach Grant would have a better winning percentage than Coach Hale—and even that would be a tough bet to hand down.

"The good doctor" team was a Dr. Taylor and now it's Ben Mottern word. Step forward.

Mottern, an assistant CSI coach, counted out the Mustangs.

Making all-America just part of goal Davis hopes to attain

Making all-American junior college is the realization of a goal that College of Southern Idaho's Kenny Davis set for himself last spring when he left Detroit as a high school graduate.

The younger, fresh from helping the Golden Eagles place second in the national tournament and making the all-American team, was picked for the team and named to the NJCAA top 15.

"I felt real good about it," he said. "I knew I was going to work at it."

"This is a bigger honor than making the all-American team," he continued. "When you make all-American you're talking about all the players from all the schools. It's according to NJCAA counts, not just from the teams that made it to the national tournament."

about the honor. "It is always very pleasing for the kids to get the recognition. They work hard and do a lot of things they probably don't like to do. But the recognition comes to those who accept it, the work and continue to improve."

Davis named the outstanding player in last year's Michigan state basketball tournament, led the Golden Eagles in rebounding and securing this past season.

Coach Grant has little doubt that he'll help—advance—major college he selects next spring. Coach coach Eddie Suttin, former CSI mentor, watched the CSI-Utica game in Hutchinson last week and commented on a fellow CSI coach. "How would you like to have Davis on one side and Altonzo Bradley on the other?"

Davis says his goals for next year are to make first team all-America and help the Golden Eagles return for another shot at the national championship.

Coach Grant was more excited, if anything, than Davis

Dr. Taylor laughed a few minutes later, then became even more broadly, he added, "check, it was the only way I'd have ever gotten my money."

He actually happened, and made Dr. Taylor piggyback over me, was in the beginning of CSI the word was "I'm out of Oklahoma, don't apply." That went for faculty as well as coaches; but also was based on the fact that Dr. Taylor knew these people best.

So when two straight Oklahoma fans led CSI to great basketball heights, the fans shuddered when he left the program and joined an Alabama native.

"When do you probably think of my coach now?" he chattered over the phone at Hutchinson after CSI had won the state finals.

Meanwhile back on the recruiting scene, Coach Grant still is being swarmed under by phone calls from other coaches for Gary Yoder.

"Even Stanford is calling," Coach Grant says. "When do you suppose the last time was that Stanford tried to recruit a junior college player? Yoder is something like 100 in the grade department."

Recruiting comes at all opportunities. In the Boyd model, when CSI and other schools were being looked during the tournament—things were quiet until competition started Saturday, about then everyone relaxed right up to departure Tuesday morning.

At 4 a.m. an assistant coach from Jackson State came here, but are not certain was in the recruiting. Coach Grant and Eddie Suttin were looking during the tournament—things were quiet until competition started Saturday, about then everyone relaxed right up to departure Tuesday morning.

Kentucky coach fears 'Cats still have 'head in clouds'

ABA eyes DeBusschere as new commissioner

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Dave DeBusschere said Wednesday night that he is considering replacing Todd Munchak as commissioner of the American Basketball Association.

Colonels edge Nets

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Artis Gilmore poured in 30 points and Ted McClain came up with 24 as the Kentucky Colonels held on to their slim hope of catching New York in the ABA East race by beating the Nets 103-102 Wednesday night.

Bears sign NFL player

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears Wednesday announced the signing of their first World Football League player, linebacker Mike Kazmarek, who played for new Bears coach Jack Pardee on the Florida Blazers last season.

Dodgers down to two

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Los Angeles pitcher Tommy John signed his contract for the 1975 season Wednesday, leaving just two Dodgers unsigned.

Hearing postponed

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Basketball Association commissioner Walter Kennedy announced Wednesday the postponement of a scheduled April hearing into the dispute between Buffalo and the New York Knicks over the services of Braves general manager Eddie Donovan.

Cards cut Hunt

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday put veteran infielder Ron Hunt on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

Beasley named coach

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Don Beasley, assistant coach at Stetson, was named Wednesday as the new head basketball coach at Jacksonville University.

Celts assume first spot

BOSTON (UPI) — Jo Jo White, flying to his role as team leader, sparked a second half blitz of the New Orleans Jazz to led the Boston Celtics to a 113-100 win Wednesday night.

San Antonio cops second

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — San Antonio moved within two games of sewing up second place in the ABA Western Division Wednesday night with a decisive 132-121 victory over Memphis behind a 24-point outburst by George Gervin.

Knicks thump 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Earl Monroe scored 26 points and Walt Frazier added 25 to give the New York Knicks a 128-98 victory Wednesday night over the Philadelphia 76ers in a NBA game.

Pistons near playoffs

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons, getting 20 or more points from four players, took a giant step toward clinching a playoff berth Wednesday night by beating the Portland Trail Blazers, 116-107.

Braves overhaul Bullets

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Randy Smith and Bob McAdoo scored back-to-back baskets in the final 25 seconds Wednesday night to give the Buffalo Braves a 94-91 NBA triumph over the Washington Bullets.

Syracuse earns honors

CENTERVILLE, Mass. (UPI) — Syracuse University has been named Division I basketball team of the year and its captain Rudy Hackett has been chosen Player of the Year by the Eastern College Athletic Conference. It was announced Wednesday.

Squires still hurting

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI) — Rookie Marvin Barnes and guard Fred Lewis poured in 30 points each Wednesday night to lead the St. Louis Spirits to a 116-99 ABA win over the hapless Virginia Squires.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — The players say they are ready; the fans are preparing for a royal send-off, but an assistant coach means that his Wildcats still "have their heads in the clouds."

"We're not bouncing back," complained coach Dick Parsons. "Joe Hall's chief assistant at Kentucky, 'That Indiana game must have drained the players."

"They still have their heads in the clouds, and we've got to work to catch up. We haven't gotten anything done this week," continued Parsons.

"It's up to us to see there's no letdown, and the way we've been playing lately, it's going to take a good team to beat us," said senior guard Mike Flynn.

Meanwhile, Wildcats fans are planning an airplane-side rally Thursday 8:30 a.m.

UCLA conducts light workout

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coach John Wooden put his UCLA Bruins through another light workout Wednesday in preparation for the weekend's NCAA basketball championships at San Diego, with all his players in good shape except Dave Meyers.

The Bruins will fly to San Diego Friday morning and drill at the Sports Arena in the afternoon.

This week Wooden has been following his usual procedure of abbreviated workouts on the theory, the players need to conserve their strength and

Louisville exudes confidence

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Louisville coach Denny Crum and his third-ranked Cardinals leave for San Diego Thursday with an attitude that says when they return home it will be as national champions.

"This game doesn't mean any more to me than any other game that we would play for a chance to win the national championship," says Crum, no stranger to UCLA, his team's semifinal opponent on Saturday. He was an assistant on John Wooden's staff at UCLA before taking over at Louisville in 1971.

"We're outstunned streetwise," but that's the way it's been most of the year for us." The Cardinals worked for about an hour and a half Wednesday. They leave for San Diego at 11 a.m. EDT Thursday and will arrive there at 1 p.m.

"A lot of people say that UCLA is down this year, but I don't believe that," Crum said.

counting on the Wildcats to "adjust on their own."

"This is something we've talked about a lot, especially after our Australian trip last summer when we played teams we had never seen."

Parsons said no Kentucky coach had scouted semifinals opponent Syracuse in person, only seeing the Orange men on television.

"We prepare the team fundamentally; we worry more about ourselves, than somebody else. The kids respond and react on their own."

Jimmy Dan Comer, a native Kentuckian who will play his last game for Wildcats in San Diego, said Syracuse "likes to use a 2-3 zone and hopefully our early offense will be effective against it."

"I was impressed with their team. They deserve their national ranking, and that's going to help us get ready for their skills need little sharpening. Meyers, the All-America senior forward who averaged 18-4 points during the Bruins' 26-3 season, is rated only at little more than half efficiency because of a bad leg which needs rest more than anything else."

"My main concern is Meyers," said Wooden. "I think Meyers is better than 50 percent, but he's a long way from being okay. His lateral movements haven't been good and his lift for his jump shots hasn't been good."

"I think they've been plagued with injuries."

Asked if he felt the NCAA championship could turn into an intra-state Kentucky event, Crum said: "We like to play Kentucky but we can't afford to think about them yet."

"I think Kentucky should be the favorite in the tournament because of the draw," said Crum, heading a team that has been beaten only twice in 29 games this year.

McGuire picks Kentucky MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Marguerite Coach Al McGuire Wednesday picked Kentucky, the team that flattened the Warriors in the first round of the NCAA tournament, to win the national championship.

McGuire, whose Warriors were runners-up a year ago, said Kentucky will easily beat Syracuse and that UCLA, the odds-on favorite, will beat Louisville in a closer game in Saturday's semi-finals. But in the big game, he picked the Wildcats over the Bruins.

"I've got to go with Kentucky in a close physical game over UCLA, with the fabled deciding thirds," McGuire said.

The Wildcats used their physical strength and height to bully their way to a 76-54 win over the Warriors. He said that strength will help them chew up Syracuse.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The president of the financially troubled World Football League says he has "every reason to believe" the WFL will return this fall and has set April 12 for a final announcement of the league's plans.

"I expect us to have a

WFL president slates April 12 as day of decision minimum of eight franchises," he said. "I think there may be 10. We could have 11 and after Wednesday, it appears possible for us to have 12."

President Chris Hemminger said nine franchise holders attended Wednesday's meeting, two other franchisees were represented and that "the 12th franchise is still in limbo." He did not identify any of the potential franchise sites but did point out that John Bassett is expected to "operate in Memphis, Tenn.," with Larry Conka, Jim Klock and Paul Warfield. Bassett signed the NFL, trio effective with the expiration of their contracts with the Miami Dolphins. He also said "there will be a Chicago franchise if the WFL reorganizes."

The final vote whether to operate, he said, will be taken at a meeting in New York April 10-11 with announcement of the league's future to be made April 12.

He said the league has the potential for television revenue from TVS, which has an option to rights to WFL games in 1975. Hemminger said TVS has told him it would pick up the option. Hemminger said the WFL has established "protected lists" of players that came out of college last fall, although it did not have a player draft. "You'll notice that the NFL teams have not signed many draft choices," he said.

Numerous players have approached WFL teams, he said, and indicated they would wait until after the April 12 announcement before determining their future course.

"We're going to sign a lot of first-rate talent," he said.

Hemminger said the league would see that all payments due 1974 players would be paid and that all other league credits would be satisfied. An effort also would be made, he said, to see that obligations due by individual franchisees no longer with the league would be met.

Hemminger said one group of holders for the seven ACC schools voted down a proposal calling for adoption of an NCAA eligibility rule. The NCAA ruling would allow a player who had played in two games during a season, but was injured before he could play in future games, to be eligible for an extra season of play. In the ACC, a player is eligible for an extra season of play if he played in only one game during the first half of a season before being injured.

Kupec saw only a few minutes play in the second and third games on the Tar Heels' 1973 schedule before being Tar Heels in 1974.

Stars return to PGA golfing wars

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (UPI)—The steady and dark glass to the spectators' periscopes for the Heritage Golf Classic.

The brightest field of the year teed off today in the opening round of this season tournament. Twenty-six of the year's top 25 money winners are entered, and that doesn't include South African star Gary Player who has just returned to the states for the first time in more than six months.

The dazzling array includes Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer.

The only golfer among the top 27 missing is Gene Littler who seldom plays in that part of the country, except for the Masters which will be played two weeks from now at Augusta, Ga.—UPI

His blond presence is one of the southern South Carolina coast.

It's quite a change from last week at Jacksonville when Palmer was the only "big name" golfer in the field. That tournament winner, Jimmy Ziegler, is on hand and so is Bob Murphy who won $12,000 at Inverrary.

Miller rates as the favorite here. A part-time Hilton Head resident, the 1974 and 1973 money leader has won here twice and is the defending champion.

But you can't overlook U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin who also has won here twice. Nicklaus, winner at Dorset's last time out, has not won here, but few are more familiar with the 6,653-yard layout since Jack helped design the Harbourtown course.

It's a course covered with water hazards and traps. The final hole, which fans across the nation will be able to view Saturday and Sunday when the final two rounds are televised, runs along the Atlantic Ocean and is rated as one of the most picturesque finishing holes on the PGA tour.

The golfers here will not be as large as they are at most other tournaments, even with the star-studded field. Hilton Head Island is located 30 miles north of Savannah, Ga., and is accessible by only one road from the mainland.

The 36-year-old Player returned to the United States last past Monday. Last year he played in only 15 tournaments in this country but won the Masters and the Memphis Open and his 13th South African Masters and says he is confident he'll have another

Quarterback sues for ACC eligibility

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—University of North Carolina All-ACC quarterback Chris Kupec Wednesday filed a $200,000 suit against the Atlantic Coast Conference and ACC Commissioner Robert C. James.

Kupec filed the suit in federal court challenging a recent commission ruling that makes him ineligible for play next season.

Kupec charged in the suit the Feb. 13 ruling violated his right to the process and federal antitrust laws and asked that he be allowed to play the coming season. His senior year.

In the ACC decision, faculty chairman of the seven ACC schools voted down a proposal calling for adoption of an NCAA eligibility rule. The NCAA ruling would allow a player who had played in two games during a season, but was injured before he could play in future games, to be eligible for an extra season of play. In the ACC, a player is eligible for an extra season of play if he played in only one game during the first half of a season before being injured.

Hunter's arbitration sustained by judge

OAKLAND (UPI)—A superior court judge, for the second time in three months, refused Wednesday to overturn an arbitrator's ruling that forced Jim "Catfish" Hunter and paved the way for the star pitcher to sign a multi-year contract with the New York Yankees.

In a final finding of fact, Judge George W. Phillips said he was powerless under California law to overturn an arbitrator's ruling unless he found that the arbitrator had been "grossly irrational" in his decision.

"An arbitrator's decision is given more protection under the law than a decision of a superior court, even when there are cases of mistakes in the law," Phillips told Neil Pappano, who represented Charlie Finley and the Oakland A's, and attorneys for the Major League Baseball Players Association who represented Hunter.

Pappano, who tried for more than an hour to get Phillips to reopen the hearing, said later that he would file a notice of appeal on Thursday at the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

"We'll go all the way," Pappano said, echoing Finley, who earlier had indicated he was prepared to take his case to the "Supreme" Court if necessary to overturn the arbitrator's decision that made Hunter a free agent.

Hunter had signed a two-year contract with the A's covering the 1974 and 1975 seasons. He was to be paid $100,000 for each season with $50,000 of it in cash and the remainder in deferred payments.

When Hunter directed Finley to make the $50,000 deferred payment for 1974 in an insurance company for an annuity, Finley refused.

Snake river yields big rainbow

TWIN FALLS—Frank Eslinger, Twin Falls, took a 12-pound, 3-ounce trout from the Snake River, Monday at termion.

Eslinger said he battled the fish for about 20 minutes before landing it. Because he did not have a net, he had to climb onto a fallen tree in the river and pulled the fish from the water by the gills.

He said he took the trout on a six-pound test line and at one time almost lost it when it headed into the river center leaving him only about three feet of line.

Mrs. Eslinger, who was with her husband on the fishing excursion, missed most of the show, arriving just in time to help land it.

The fish was taken from the river near Niagara Springs and was the largest Eslinger has caught in 10 years of fishing.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Discuss with associates where you stand with them. Be considerate and helpful. Also attend to any work that requires an expression of talent.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be more cautious with one who opposes you unruffled feathers. Keep mum about personal affairs. Gain goodwill.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make your surroundings more attractive. Improve wardrobe, as well as health in suitable fashion. Get ready for a delightful weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Contact friends early to plan recreation over the weekend. Ideal day for facials, beauty treatments. Handle important business.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your home requires more attention from you now, so get busy improving conditions there. Add some notes of culture that are lacking. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Have those talks that create more harmony between you and your usual allies. Make sure to handle letter writing wisely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get possessions in fine condition today to make them more enjoyable and valuable. Budget sensibly. Avoid a professional moocher.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Improve appearance. Also reflect on personal goals and find right way to gain them. Accept some invitation in p.m. or 8:30 about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day in which to take care of personal matters wisely. More courtesy toward mate brings fine results. Clear off chores.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact influential friends who can help out across some fine project. The early evening is excellent for sociability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 30) Clear up some but important tasks-to-you and don't worry about them over the weekend since they hold the key to future success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 31 to Feb. 19) Study your finest goals and best ways to attain them. Make new allies of persons whose background is different from yours.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Keep promises made. Show love and devotion in some tangible way for increasing happiness. Be kind.

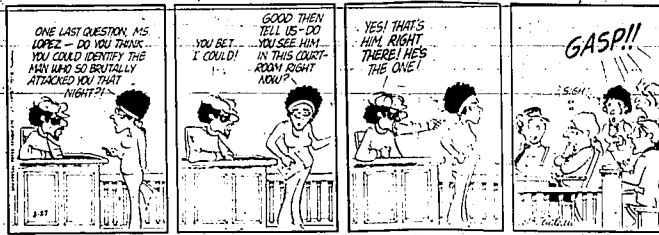

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she could be spoiled by others, so teach early to stand on own two feet and make something worthwhile of the life here, which is also talent loaded. Slant the education along artistic lines, precision work, as there is much ability where neatness and fine finish are concerned. Religion is important here, but sports mean little to your progeny.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

what's what

How often do you and your matrimonial mate get into arguments with each other? The romance scholars have studied that query, too. Among married couples who claim to be deeply in love, approximately 52 per cent contended they fought no more than once every three months. Among those who admitted less affection, 12 per cent said they fought about three times a week. Our Love and War man says the foregoing statistics coincide with his earlier findings.

IT'S NOT there anymore, but the sign that used to hang in the San Antonio Carnegie Library read: "Only low talk allowed."

NOT MUCH, if anything, can beat a liverwurst-and-applesauce sandwich. Try it.

EISEL. It's common knowledge that the Ford car known as the Edsel didn't sell. Less widely known is the fact that the Ford Motor Company in 1955 hired poetess Marianne Moore to suggest some names for that bright new auto. One notion she came up with was "The Dearborn Civicus." Another was "Utopian Turtle-Top." The company judges said, no, they won't do. Understandable.

Q. "HOW MANY new towns spring up every year in this country?"

A. Can only report that the mapmakers add about 1,000 new names to their U.S. maps annually, but they take off about as many towns, too. Will check further.

MIDDLE AGE. I'm told, it is that time of life when you're pushed around by two little voices, one saying, "Why not?" and the other saying, "Why bother?" Sound about right?

SHIVAREE. Client contends the wildest shivaree of all time was thrown in France about 50 years ago when five daughters of one family got married in a single ceremony. More than 1,000 celebrants beat on pans to serenade the couples. Possibly so. Still, that must have been quite some wedding party back in Susa, Persia in 324 B.C. To achieve his ambition to unite two empires, Alexander the Great arranged one wedding, just one, to marry off 10,000 Persian girls to 40,000 of his Macedonian soldiers. Must have been quite an evening.

OUR WORD—"lord," comes from the Anglo-Saxon word for "loaf keeper." And our "sir" from the Anglo-Saxon for "loaf eater." Got that?
