Scoop wants airing of Viet assurances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., today called for Senate hearings into private assurances to South Vietnam that the United States would "react vigorously" if the Communists committed massive violations of the 1973 Paris Peace Agreement.

Jackson also urged the White House to make public confidential "exchanges on the matter between the Nixon administration and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu."

"I think what we need now is to find out for ourselves the meaning of those agreements," Jackson said.

Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters Wednesday the assurances were contained in correspondence between former President Richard M. Nixon and Thieu prior to the signing of the peace accords two years ago.

Nessen declined to state exactly what was said and the words "react vigorously" appeared to be his paraphrase. He said he did not know whether the assurance meant military intervention.

But, he said that in substance the private exchanges "do not differ" from what Nixon stated publicly a few months after the accord was signed in January, 1973.

"If the agreements are as Mr. Nessen has claimed, then why don't they make them public," Jackson said. "There's nothing confidential any longer."

Washington, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he talked Wednesday with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. John Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, about holding hearings into the controversy.

He said he will send a letter to Stennis today "making a formal request for hearings and to request the documents."

Mansfield said today he was surprised by the White House statement and thought "Congress should have been made aware of matters of that kind."

Jackson said he believes the Senate has a right to subpoena the documents, which the White House has said it will keep private.

He said if the Senate hearings are convened, the committee, of which he is a member, should study the documents in private to make sure that no material is involved which would compromise national security.

Nessen's comments came one day after Jackson claimed in a Senate speech that the United States had entered into "secret agreements" with South Vietnam.

Jackson said on the NBC Today Show that he decided to look into the matter after Ford repeatedly charged Congress with foregoing commitments to South Vietnam.

He said he obtained the information that the documents existed from a source within the executive branch.

today in brief

House panel votes jobless benefits
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today to provide $5 billion to fund unemployment benefits programs, including a recently enacted emergency measure that extends regular jobless benefits by another 13 weeks.

The money was included in an $11.3 billion "supplemental appropriations bill, providing additional funds for a score of programs in the current 1975 fiscal year that ends June 30.

Britons set May vote June 5
LONDON (UPI) — The government said today Britons will vote June 5 in a national referendum to decide whether or not they want to remain in the European Common Market.

Edward Short, leader of the House of Commons, made the announcement to parliament.

Senate panel pares defense budget
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a rebuttal to liberals, the Senate budget committee has voted to recommend a cut of only $2.1 billion in President Ford's proposed $94 billion defense budget.

The 11-4 vote appeared to indicate a shift in mood in the Senate about defense spending in light of U.S. foreign policy setbacks in Vietnam, the Middle East, Cyprus and Portugal.

US faces choice, Rocky says
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller says the United States should decide between the burdens of world leadership or relinquishing global responsibility to the Soviet Union.

Rockefeller, appearing at the closing session of the 89th American Newspaper Publishers Association Wednesday, told 1,500 publishers, editors and executives: the nation's foreign policy "must be clear and consistent and one with which other nations can count."

Teddy calls for halt on N-tests
WASHINGTON — Amid warnings that more nations are moving toward possession of nuclear weapons, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., urged Wednesday the United States seek a ban on all nuclear testing.

Kennedy also called for restraint in the supply of conventional armaments to volatile areas in order to avoid arms race escalation into nuclear weaponry.

Simon eyes end of trade deadlock
MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary William F. Simon told his Soviet hosts today he hoped to present specific proposals to Congress this summer that may help end the Soviet-American trade deadlock.

In a speech prepared for the opening of the fifth session of the Joint U.S.-USSR Commercial Mission, Simon said he hoped the meeting would enable him to draw up such proposals.

Ford goes on air

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will renew his request for additional military aid for South Vietnam when he addresses a joint session of Congress tonight, top White House aides indicated today.

The aides indicated the President at least will ask for the $200 million he previously requested for South Vietnam. They also said he would ask for an undisclosed amount of money to launch — in the event of a Communist takeover of Saigon — a humanitarian airlift for the South Vietnamese who have helped the U.S. government in the past.

The aides said Ford told them his nationally televised "State of the World" speech will be "the most important speech of my presidency."

It is scheduled for 7 p.m. MDT.

Armor-led Reds pressing Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist tanks and infantry backed by artillery swept into Xuan Loc province capital today and attacked other government positions as close as 25 miles to Saigon. Thick columns of smoke rising from the battlefield could be seen in Saigon.

Xuan Loc, 38 miles east of Saigon, was pounded by more than 4,000 rounds of North Vietnamese artillery fire. Fleeing civilians said the main Xuan Loc Roman Catholic church was hit today while hundreds of women and children huddled inside. They said there were casualties but could give no details.

Tens of thousands of refugees fled in panic down the French-built highway toward Saigon, lining the road for a dozen miles in an attempt to escape the fighting. The province chief told the Saigon command headquarters by radio that another 12,000 fled toward Communist lines to the north.

Military sources said the drive by two North Vietnamese divisions — with two more in reserve — may be the start of a major Communist offensive against Saigon. The battle for Xuan Loc, which began Wednesday, is the first major test of the South Vietnamese armed forces following three weeks of disastrous routs through the northern two-thirds of the country.

One force of Communist troops skirted Xuan Loc, and government officers said they were pushing artillery pieces down abandoned railway tracks paralleling Highway 1, a remnant of French colonialism and the most important road in South Vietnam.

They harassed the highway and fired artillery at Trang Bom district town, 25 miles northeast of Saigon. South Vietnamese air force F-5 "Freedom Fighter" bombers and helicopter gunships counterattacked around Trang Bom, sending up huge columns of black smoke visible in Saigon.

Heavy Red barrage delays US airlift

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian rebels pulled off a sneak attack against a government outpost less than two miles from the Phnom Penh's airport today and leveled a barrage of rockets which temporarily suspended the American food airlift.

Both rockets and recoilless rifle fire continued to fall on the city streets. Authorities said nine rockets and four 755 millimeter recoilless rifle shells fell on the city, but there were no immediate reports of casualties.

Elsewhere, government forces continued to retreat from the capital's defense perimeter to both the south and east. To the east, two battalions of government forces fled their posts on the east bank of the Mekong River and swam to safety in the city.

Nearly 40 artillery shells and rockets landed at Phnom Penh airport, one of which killed three Cambodian cargo handlers and wounded seven others. An American C130 Transport carrying a load of ammunition was also damaged, though there were apparently no injuries to the civilian crew.

The shelling of the airport forced a four-hour suspension of the American food airlift from Saigon when cargo handlers fled the airport after their co-workers were killed and injured. The ammunition airlift from Thailand was not interrupted.

Pedestrian dies under truck in TF

TWIN FALLS — A pedestrian was killed under the wheels of a heavy truck on the Shoshone Street railroad crossing this morning.

Officers are investigating possibilities the man took his own life.

Police Chief Frank Barnett identified the victim as Peter Vern Light, 45, American Falls. The victim had been employed by the Union Pacific Railroad and had resigned a few minutes before his death, Barnett said.

He said witnesses in the vicinity of the crossing said the man walked from the west side of Shoshone Street and appeared to throw himself under the rear dual wheels of the truck.

Officers said the truck, driven south by Luis Garcia Olvera, Twin Falls, was loaded with bean bin boxes and was owned by Russell Biggs. It was reported moving slowly at the time because of the heavy load.

Barnett said his department and Constable Clyde Edwards are continuing their investigation into the death. He said the man apparently died instantly from internal injuries as the dual wheels passed directly over his body.

Cassia school trustees OK Burley kindergarten

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — In unanimous action Wednesday night the Cassia County School Board approved a kindergarten program for Burley children.

The preschool program calls for Burley children to be bused to the old Springdale school, currently in use for part of the seventh grade.

Children outside of the Burley area are already attending kindergartens paid for by tuition and federal funds.

All preschool children will have an opportunity to attend kindergarten without charge.

About 60 per cent of the cost of operating the new program will come from state funds under the recently enacted state kindergarten bill.

The preschool program will include two half-day sessions.

The program approved by the trustees calls for children attending morning sessions to be bused to Springdale. Parents will pick up the children at noon.

Children attending the afternoon session will be taken to class by parents and returned home in the afternoon by bus.

The trustees considered three possible sites for the Burley program — the old Miller school, the downtown junior high site — and Springdale.

The board said the junior high site was unsuitable for preschoolers while the outdated Miller school and property could be sold as potential commercial property.

The rural Springdale site will cause transportation problems, requires renovation, but will have low operation and maintenance costs, according to Superintendent Harold Blauer.

Blauer estimated the old school will be used for about three years as a kindergarten site. By then, he said, new classrooms to house the program would be needed.

Solons ponder 10¢ gas tax, US energy program

Washington Star

WASHINGTON — A 10-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax is now under consideration by the House Ways and Means Committee, which is back at work trying to write a comprehensive energy program for Congressional approval.

The proposed tax, which could go as high as 25 cents over five years if conservation measures fail, has been suggested by the staff of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, which does the nuts-and-bolts technical work for both the House Committee and its counterpart: the Senate Finance Committee.

The new proposal is a considerably scaled-down version of the 37-cent-a-gallon tax, spread over five years, suggested by members of the committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore.

A joint committee aide said the new figure was selected on the basis of "what we feel are the signals we are getting" from ways and means committee members.

He added, though, that Ullman's group "has not made any decisions" and that members of the joint committee "don't really have a good feel of what it will do."

The Ullman proposal is providing the framework for an energy program that Congressional Democrats are hoping will serve as an alternative to President Ford's package.

Ford's program to curb energy consumption and dependence on imported oil is based on higher prices.

The Keystone of Ullman's energy proposals is a gasoline tax, a limit on oil imports and excise taxes on automobiles.

Under the newest gasoline tax plan, the tax aide said the 10-cent tax could be imposed either in one step or in two stages, beginning with a nickel levy next year and then another nickel in 1977.

Under the plan, the tax could be raised by five-cent increments each year for the next three years at the discretion of the President. But, before that he believed additional levies were necessary to keep down energy consumption. Even then, either the House or Senate could reject the tax increase.

Besides the tax, the joint committee staff has for the first time come up with numbers it believes are necessary for an import quota program to be successful.

Under this plan, imports would be limited to 6 million barrels a day this year and next, to 6.5 million barrels a day in 1977, to 6 million barrels a day in 1978 and 5.5 million barrels a day in 1979.

Imports currently are running slightly below 6 million barrels a day and are expected to increase over the next few years.

Scoop calls for Viet accord hearings

Later Wednesday, Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., said President Ford told him and other congressmen that "there are no secrets, and yet undisclosed agreements between this government and the government of South Vietnam said would in any way require or obligate us to make a military response to the invasion by North Vietnam."
The developments came a day after Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., claimed that the United States had entered into "secret agreements" with South Vietnam. Jackson said Wednesday the White House response was "obviously unsatisfactory."
"What we need to know is not what Nixon stated publicly but the specific and complete language of the communications and all papers relating to the communications between the governments of the United States and South Vietnam and their representatives," Jackson said.

Nessen said the private communications with Saigon, including letters between Nixon and Thieu, would remain confidential in keeping with "the course of normal diplomacy."
"The publicly stated policy and intention of the United States government to continue to provide adequate economic and military assistance and to react vigorously to major violations of the Paris agreement reflected confidential exchanges between the Nixon administration and President Thieu at the time," Nessen said.
Thieu balked repeatedly before finally signing the Paris agreement in January, 1973. He has since said the United States reneged on promises made at the time of the accords.
Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, a principal architect of the 1973 agreement, has said repeatedly the United States had no secret agreements with South Vietnam.
Nessen did not say precisely when the Nixon administration assurances were given, other than that they were before the Paris accord was signed and during negotiations on it.

Among the "public" statements which Nessen cited as substantially the same as the private assurances was one by Nixon at a March 15, 1972, news conference. Nixon said North Vietnam had been advised of U.S. concern about Communist violations of the Paris agreement, and "I would only suggest that based on my actions over the past four years, that the North Vietnamese should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern. When they are made, with regard to a violation."
A joint communication issued by Nixon and Thieu on April 3, 1973, after a meeting in San Clemente, Calif., said "both presidents... viewed with great concern infiltrations of men and weapons in sizable numbers from North Vietnam into South Vietnam in violation of the (Paris) agreement... and considered that actions which would threaten the basis of the agreement would call for appropriately vigorous reactions."

Tank-led Reds press closer to Saigon

UPI correspondent Leon Daniel reported from Trang Bom that government reinforcements moved along Highway 1 toward Xuan Loc, but that the bulk of the reinforcements would be sitting ducks for Communist artillerymen and mortar crews.
By mid-afternoon, field reports said Highway 1 between Trang Bom and Xuan Loc had been cut. Soldiers and militiamen at Xuan Loc moved their families out of the city and stood fast at their positions. Daniel said the Xuan Loc area had been heavily populated by Catholics who fled North Vietnam 20 years ago.
"These people will fight," an American official told Daniel. "They don't want to leave their homes again."
In the past battle, thousands of Communists launched human wave assaults against the outnumbered defenders at Xuan Loc. Refugees reaching Trang Bom said Xuan Loc had fallen but military sources told Daniel the city was still under government control, although it was hit by more than 4,000 artillery, rocket and mortar rounds during the night.

The future of the refugees was uncertain. Government security men — troops and police — stopped all refugees along Highway 1. Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, the Saigon governor, has barred them from the capital because Communist terrorists could infiltrate their ranks and create panic here.
News men on the highway convinced the police to make an exception, however.
A husband, wife and seven children were allowed through the main checkpoint near Trang Bom because the wife was nine months pregnant and had been fleeing Communist advances for 21 days.
American officials here were told that the Communist may attempt to seize Bien Hoa, the military Region III headquarters and home base for what remains of the South Vietnamese air force, and Bien Hoa Binh before attacking Saigon itself. Bien Hoa, shelled Wednesday, is 15 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. Air Force C-141 Starliner jet arrived at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase today from the United States, carrying 77 tons of steel helmets and flak jackets for government forces. The flight from the United States was part of the emergency airlift of supplies to beleaguered government units here.
The military command said tank-backed infantry, moving under cover of a 1,000-pound artillery, rocket and mortar barrage, broke into Xuan Loc at dawn today in the second day of fighting for control of the city.
The communists have captured 18 of South Vietnam's 14 provinces, capitals, during a 1975 nationwide offensive that has brought about two-thirds of the country's territory under North Vietnamese and Viet Cong control.

Armed robbers hit TF club

TWIN FALLS — Two men, one of them armed with a pistol, held up the cashier at the Turf Club Wednesday night.
Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said the robbery occurred about 10:30 p.m. while numerous customers were in the establishment. He said the exact amount of money taken is not known but said it is apparently only a small amount.
The men took the cashier's money from the cashier just inside the front door and left the area, possibly by automobile.
City and county officers joined in a search of the north arpa-of town and exit roads but no suspects were found.
This is the third armed robbery in Twin Falls since early February. The Grizzly Bear restaurant was robbed of about $500 on Feb. 8 when two men wearing masks and carrying a handgun and a shotgun entered the building and demanded the cash from a cash register.
A week later, Feb. 17, two men entered the Tri-Cinema Theater on Eastland Drive and demanded the money. Both were wearing masks and one carried a shotgun and another a pistol. In both the Tri-Cinema and Grizzly Bear robberies telephone lines were torn loose before the robberies.

MV Symphony conductor named

TWIN-FALLS — Lawrence M. Curtis, head of the music department at the College of Southern Idaho, has been named the new conductor of the Magic Valley Symphony. He replaces Del Slaughter, Twin Falls High School band and orchestra director who resigned in February after conducting the civic orchestra the past 12 years. The appointment was made by the symphony board of directors at the close of the annual membership meeting Tuesday night.

"I feel the Magic Valley Symphony is an important part of local culture," Curtis said. "It is an outlet for serious instrumental musicians and a source of local pride. Many of the members are very dedicated and I look forward to working with them in my new capacity."

Persons interested in becoming members of the symphony should contact Curtis at the college as soon as possible. Rehearsal time will remain at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays when the group begins work this fall.

The new director said members may receive college credit for the symphony for the first time this fall and some scholarships may be available for college-age string players.

Curtis came to CSI five years ago, after conducting in Louisiana and teaching 10 years in San Diego. A clarinetist, he has performed with the Sixth Fleet Band, the Pasadena City College, San Diego State University and the University of Redlands bands and orchestras.

He graduated with honors from San Diego State, has a master's degree from University of Redlands and studied privately with Vincent D'Amore, principal clarinet at Vero studios, and Kaimon Bloch, principal clarinet with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

He has been principal clarinet with the Magic Valley Symphony and Twin Falls Municipal Band the last five years and conducted pit orchestras for two operas and six Broadway musicals since coming to Twin Falls.

TF concert set Sunday

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho Concert and Stage bands will give a spring concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Admission to the concert is free and the public is invited. Mary Walker, soprano, and Harold Smith, tenor, will be guest artists, singing selections from "Carousel" and a medley of Jimmy McHugh songs.

The concert band will play "Second Suite for Military Band" by Gustav Holst, "Dinner Timento" by Persichelli, "Geometrics No. 1" with Bev Shiffer dancing and "Horn Concerto No. 1" by Mozart with Clay Zlatnik as horn soloist.

After intermission, the stage band will play big band jazz featuring Jess Torres, trumpet soloist. Alto sax player Reed Coulam will play "Harlem Nocturne" and Tom Breske, a member of the CSI music faculty, will play a tenor sax solo. Several arrangements by Sammy Nestico will be played.

Lawrence M. Curtis, head of the CSI music department is director of the CSI bands.

Island ownership ruled by court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal appeals court has ruled that three islands in the Snake River in Gooding County, Idaho, belong to the United States.

The Ninth U.S. Court of Appeals reversed a district court order that awarded the islands to Willis W. Ritter, who owns the Thousand Springs Farm, which extends three miles along the east bank of the river near the islands.

Ritter is chief judge of the U.S. District Court for Utah in Salt Lake City.

The appellate court ruled that a federal survey of the area in 1893 did not mention the islands even though they existed at that time. Therefore, it ruled, they were not included in the paper giving title to the farm.

The district court erred in determining that the islands had been included in the boundaries, the court said.

District court issued an injunction in favor of Ritter on grounds that the islands were once a peninsula connected to the mainland and were separated from it by action of Sand Springs Creek rather than by that of the Snake River.

The islands in question are 29.75 and 84 acres in size. The appeals court said the 1959 decision of the secretary of the interior that the land belonged to the government was correct.

High court sessions set in TF

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Insurance claims, family disputes, an appeal from a rape conviction and a complaint on the awarding of a bid to rebuild a Burley school will be argued before the Idaho Supreme Court next week in Twin Falls.

Among the civil cases is that of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman against Simplot Aviation, Inc., and two of its employees, Richard Gasparotti and Theodore Larson.

OES unit meeting

TWIN FALLS — Arlene Gray, worthy matron, and Dave Lovelady, worthy patron, presided at a meeting of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday.

Elsie Mussey substituted as secretary. Louise and Craig Graybill were presented gifts by Cleo Robinson, chairman of the pinchic parties; for being high score winners.

Officers for 1975-76 were elected. It was announced that open installation will be conducted April 23.

Lucille Paynter gave a reading for the worthy matron's honored station, Adah, held this year by Sue Remick.

April 23 — Grace thanked her officers for their help during the past year and gave each a gift. Dave Lovelady presented Mrs. Grose a gift.

Geneva Menses, associate matron, assisted by the officers, gave a humorous address to honor the worthy matron and worthy patron.

Helen Warburg was chairman of the refreshment committee assisted by Olivia Werbrook — Greater Wilkeson; Dora Wilkes, Opal Willis, Wilma Wirsching, BeSSie Wright, Lloyd Wright, Ruby Wyatt, Ari Wiley, Vera Wiley, Carolyn Wiley and Bessie Zlatnik.

Hoffman in September 1971 crashed in his private plane and he landed it on his parents' farm near Boise. Subsequently, Gasparotti and Larson drove out to the plane, worked on it and, after an inspection, allegedly told Hoffman the plane was capable of flying to the Simplot facility at the Boise airport.

However, as Hoffman tried to make the flight Dec. 4, 1971, there was a second accident. The cause of that was blamed on a clevis bolt that had deteriorated over a long period of time and broken. A jury trial found that the Simplot company had breached an implied warranty and thus was liable for the damages. The jury awarded Hoffman $11,600 for personal injury and property damages.

Simplot has appealed, arguing that the trial judge in instructing the jury imposed liability without any fault. The company also contends that the jury verdict, which found in favor of Simplot on some other counts, was inherently contradictory.

The Neelsen & Co. construction firm is appealing the award of a contract to rebuild the Burley Junior High School which was destroyed by fire in November 1972.

Bids for the construction were opened April 3, 1974, and the contract awarded to Mitchell Construction Co., the low bidder for the work. Neelsen and Company submitted the second lowest bid and brought action on the basis that Mitchell's bid was improper.

Arguments on appeal will be heard three cases during the third nine court session in Twin Falls beginning Monday.

Kindergartens for TF pupils

The Twin Falls school trustees took a historic step this week when they voted unanimously to start a full-year kindergarten program this fall.

As outlined by Supt. George Staudacher, the program would allow each five-year-old an opportunity to attend half-day classes throughout the year.

The kindergarten classes would be distributed evenly throughout the district's five neighborhood elementary schools.

As sketched by the superintendent, the plan is a good one. It is far better to send the youngsters to their neighborhood schools than busing them to a central location such as the old Washington School.

They will become a part of the elementary school community, easing the transition into the higher grades.

The trustees deserve much credit for moving quickly to implement the program. It would have been easy to back away from the administrative problems that will arise in setting up the program on short notice.

The trustees repeatedly have said they supported kindergartens, but that there was not enough money available to set up a program.

Apparently the trustees decided to act now to take advantage of state funds available to pay most kindergarten costs.

The program will be of greatest benefit to the many youngsters from middle income families not poor enough to attend Head Start preschool programs but not wealthy enough to pay for private kindergartens.

A good kindergarten program will be a major improvement in the school program that should affect all future generations of Twin Falls residents. The community will be better for it.

Making IRS better

Christian Science Monitor

Never satisfied with a good thing, Americans want to make even better a tax-gathering system that is already one of the wonders of the world.

We're not talking about the long-recognized need for reform of tax laws but about keeping politics and impropriety out of the administration of them by the Internal Revenue Service.

To most Americans the IRS remains a remarkably effective means of separating a massive population from its money on the assumption that the public is prevalently honest - and so is the IRS. But, as citizens have struggled to get through this tax-form season, they have seen two network television documentaries casting doubt on the ethics and justice of some IRS practices.

And Watergate allegations of politicizing the IRS have been followed by scandalous tales of IRS "spying" on citizens' private lives.

Clearly, the facts need to be established and any wrongful practices needed. Congress, in its overseer function, should exercise the scrutiny to prevent a climate of toleration of abuses.

Now IRS commissioner Donald Alexander has wisely concluded that there should be "outside" investigation of the IRS in addition to its own efforts at self-examination.

He suggests such investigation be by Congress's Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, rather than a special investigative agency. This ought to be sufficient, if the committee vigorously follows through.

One way or another, before next year's April 15, Mr. Alexander's words need to be acted on: "We have an obligation to ensure to the public that the IRS is not corrupt."

This pill expensive for nation

WASHINGTON - Let me come back, if I may, to this matter of "utilization review."

If you receive hospital care under Medicaid or Medicare - or for that matter, if you merely pay federal taxes - this bureaucratic contrivance will cost you money, and it won't do you much good.

"Utilization review" is the short title given to the elaborate rules and regulations laid down last November over the signature of Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. These rules and regulations, running to 15 columns of fine print in the Federal Register, were to have become effective in February.

The effective date has been postponed to July 1. In brief, if one may be brief, the rules require that within 24 hours after a Medicaid or Medicare patient is admitted to a hospital, a review committee, using predetermined criteria or "norms," must determine whether the admission is medically necessary.

If a patient's stay is extended beyond the "norm," the extension must also be reviewed and justified. A review committee cannot include any doctor who is professionally involved in the patient's care. Neither can a committee include any doctor who has any financial interest in the patient's care.

One purpose of utilization review is to deter abuse of the Medicare and Medicaid programs, which together cost $17 billion a year. Another purpose is to improve the quality of hospital care. These are commendable purposes, but doctors throughout the nation - especially those attached to small rural hospitals - are turning apoplectic.

JAMES KILPATRICK

They resent the implication that they are ripping off the government. They resent the time and expense. And putting resentments to one side, they say flatly that small institutions cannot comply.

The protest began in Oklahoma, gained momentum in Louisiana, and last month caught fire in Arizona. Six hospitals in the Phoenix area gave Weinberger notice that they will reject utilization review, even if it means turning away Medicare and Medicaid patients.

Dr. John H. Jarvis of Mesa provides some figures to point the Phoenix hospitals put their costs of compliance with utilization review at $2,565 per day, or somewhere in the neighborhood of $935,000 a year. Someone will have to pay these added costs. Guess who?

The Arizona estimate is based upon $15 per new patient in New York State, where 415 hospitals admit 2.7 million patients annually, the cost of utilization review is estimated at $11 per new patient, or $25 million a year. An Illinois study puts the cost at $20 per patient.

These ballpark estimates may involve elements of scare talk. But at a conservative guess, the nation is talking about added costs in the nation as a whole of $50 to $50 million a year. Because the review is conducted by the review committees naturally will have to be reviewed by government reviewers, the actual cost will be far more. This is a bureaucratic dream, and it is the hospitals, nightmare.

Physicians and hospital administrators raise this further objection: Full-blown utilization review inevitably will further jeopardize a patient's privacy. Eventually every patient's medical records - his symptoms, medical history, the treatment given, the surgery performed - will become accessible to government agents. Such data are readily computerized. The data can be retrieved.

Dr. Jarvis was assuring that under this system, the mutual decision of patient and doctor on whether to be hospitalized "would be compromised by a third party making determinations by 'cook book' instead of clinical judgment. The quality of medical care would not be enhanced, but diminished.

Under the pending regulations, the full panoply of utilization review applies only to Medicare and Medicaid patients. But he forewarned: Once Congress enacts comprehensive National Health Insurance, these costly, time-consuming, and inquisitive procedures will affect us all.

Dr. Weinberger, as the One Supreme Physician, may be the most expensive doctor the nation ever had.

Thought for today

A thought for the day, British writer Samuel Butler said: "An empty house is like a stray dog, or a body, from which life has departed."

WASHINGTON - Several years ago I predicted that there were so many computers in operation in the United States that there would soon be a data famine in the country.

I said that the new methods were developed to produce data, computer people would soon be fighting each other and possibly resorting to violence to get enough information to satisfy the appetites of their machines.

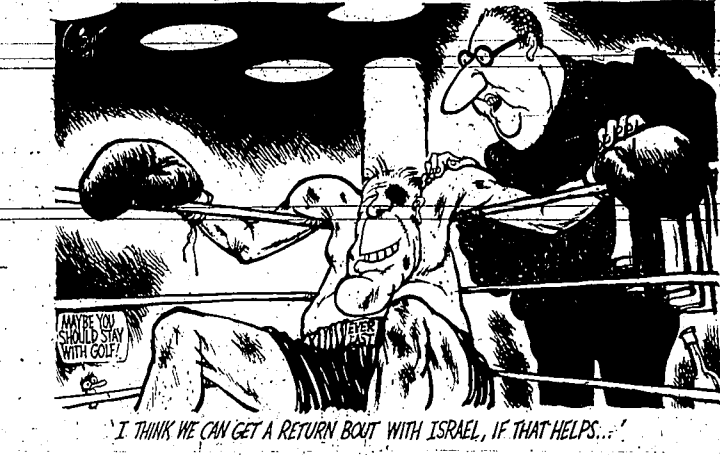

Unfortunately, I predicted this data war would start in 1984. Little did I realize it had already begun.

Everyone holds the FBI, the IRS, the CIA, local law enforcement agencies, as well as credit companies, responsible for invading the privacy of American citizens. But these organizations are not to blame. The responsibility rests with the computers which they have bought or built that have to be fed constantly to justify their existence.

Let us take the FBI, for example. It purchased computers to keep track of criminals and subversives in the United States.

In no time the computers had absorbed the name and description of every racketeer, car thief, bomb thrower and cattle rustler in the country.

Every scrap of information had been thrown in, but the computers kept demanding more.

Spies' immorality often national asset

WASHINGTON - When the news came that Saudi Arabia's King Faisal had been assassinated, I was lunching with a former OSS spy and a former CIA operative.

They did. Less than a week later, Moscow's Communist Party, Pravda asked rhetorically: "Are not the best arms of the CIA necessary to the interests of the people?"

Although the late king was considered one of our boys in the Middle East, Pravda suggested CIA's involvement as a result of the energy and economic crises in the west, "strongly aggravated into an imperialist struggle around Faisal's throne."

Pravda's jargon story gets belated mention in this space only because, here, are Americans who actually will believe anything about the CIA. Even before the Pravda pronouncement, these types were running loose in Washington, declaring loudly that the CIA had Faisal knocked off because he was causing the U.S. too much trouble.

Unfortunately, some of these masochists are found in the new decade, Watergate and other Nixonian scandals, have so outraged and disillusioned them that every new day dawns they sally forth determined to uncover government misdeeds, other officials of the Republic to tar and feather.

Exposing wrongdoing in government, of course, is one of the duties of the media. Even the more vigorous efforts of the new business administration - sometimes admittedly that Watergate would still be a scandal if it had not been for the brilliant work of some dedicated and relentless reporters. No national administration announces its darker deeds, as we now have discovered through media exposes of the Kennedy and Johnson regimes.

Moreover, the media cannot allow itself the luxury of sacred cows, even in the intelligence field. Bureaucrats, in high places, frequently engage in activities that the average angel would scorn, and so do members of Congress. There are officials at every governmental level who need around-the-clock watching lest they succumb to the larceny that lurks in the hearts of too many human beings.

But the good watchdog should watch. He should not operate on the foregone conclusion that those he watches are evil men who must be bitten even before any evidence is collected against them.

The CIA is not, per se, all bad merely because it shadowed some American citizens and opened their letters to the Soviet Union. The agency did invade civil liberties, and that was outrageous. But it is not irrational, but probably dangerous, to reach the conclusion from these aberrations that everything the CIA does is naughty, bad, evil, or even subversive to what is called the American way of life.

Critics had a wonderful time chewing over things some of the agency's people merely talked about doing, allegedly including the assassination of Fidel Castro and the overthrow of the Allende regime in Chile. I don't know whether those actions were really discussed, but one of a spook shop's obligations is to provide a President all the options - even the horrible ones.

Please, my friends, let us recover some of our lost perception. The CIA is not the Commerce Department. Its spies are hired to spy and to play dirty tricks on unfriendly countries, not to sell washing machines to Tanzania. They may not be nice people, but they are our people. If we judge them immoral, we must also remind ourselves that their immorality is, for the most part, a national asset.

Pros, cons on malpractice legislation

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY WASHINGTON - As thousands of doctors face a cut-off of the medical malpractice insurance protecting them against claims of negligence, Congress is about to consider ways to keep the insurance crisis from leading to a permanent disruption of American health care.

The Senate Health Subcommittee, chaired by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has scheduled hearings April 8 on proposed national solutions to the malpractice problem. The proposals range from a federal no-fault malpractice insurance program to the use of arbitration instead of court action to resolve malpractice disputes.

The problem is serious, because few doctors without malpractice insurance will continue to treat patients. Doctors in many states, including New York, California, Maryland, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Florida, have been told by insurance companies that their malpractice policies will be terminated by the end of the year.

Insurers are getting out of the malpractice business because they claim it is unprofitable. They attribute their losses to the growing number of medical claims filed and the larger amounts awarded by juries to injured patients.

These factors have doubled and tripled the cost of malpractice insurance in recent years, and doctors freely admit that the costs are passed on to patients. Even where insurance is available, many physicians talk about retirement in the face of soaring insurance rates.

Some state legislators are looking to ways to deal with the problem. But others think federal action may be necessary.

Should the federal government help solve the malpractice crisis?

PRO Those proposing federal action, including Kennedy and Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, stress that the malpractice problem is so serious that the country may not be able to wait for the states to act.

"The time is overdue for the federal government to take a more active role in dealing with the many problems of medical malpractice," Kennedy said. "To allow these fatalities, one by one, to take stop-gap holding actions will take more time than we can afford."

Even though the states traditionally have been responsible for regulating insurance, Kennedy added, they have failed to prevent the present crisis.

"State insurance commissions have been negligent," he said. "They have fiddled while malpractice protection burned."

CON Nor have the states used their licensing power to weed out poor physicians, said Kennedy. Many injuries leading to malpractice suits could have been prevented, he concluded.

Even those who feel the states should retain basic responsibilities for licensing and insurance regulation contend that the federal government should be stepping in with suggestions if states fail to act.

"The seriousness of this situation requires an exploration of the possibilities for federal legislation if states are not forthcoming elsewhere," said Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio.

Other experts suggest that federal action may be needed to force an effective solution on all groups. The conflicting interests of doctors, lawyers and insurers may stymie state action while the problem gets worse, they say.

Doctors and insurance companies agree that solutions should be sought at the state level, because the situation in each state is different. They point out that states with large cities attract more medical specialists who are subject to malpractice suits than do southern and rural states.

Congress should not overreact, said an aide to Rep. James F. Hastings, R-N.Y., who is developing a proposal to help troubled states. "That way," he said, "you can make changes without saying across the country, 'Okay, it's June 1. Everyone do something.'"

The Ford administration opposes a frantic rush to a federal program interfering with state activities dealing with malpractice. Every time there's a crisis, complained Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, "some people think we can't pass."

Insurers are considering a proposal to share, temporarily, malpractice insurance risks. Such federal action may be unnecessary as well as undesirable, Weinberger noted. "I feel very strongly at this date," he said Feb. 19, "that there is not a role for the federal government, and I hope there will not be."

Malcolm C. Todd, president of the American Medical Association, raised other arguments for state action. Malpractice suits are governed by laws reflecting the different social, industrial and social characteristics of each state, he said.

The medical profession also insists that the federal government should not use an insurance crisis as an excuse to impose new controls on doctors or to usurp states' rights.

"You're the first crude oil man I've met and I don't think you're the LEAST bit crude!"

After 3 years, computers can start over again

WASHINGTON - Several years ago I predicted that there were so many computers in operation in the United States that there would soon be a data famine in the country.

I said that the new methods were developed to produce data, computer people would soon be fighting each other and possibly resorting to violence to get enough information to satisfy the appetites of their machines.

Unfortunately, I predicted this data war would start in 1984. Little did I realize it had already begun.

Everyone holds the FBI, the IRS, the CIA, local law enforcement agencies, as well as credit companies, responsible for invading the privacy of American citizens. But these organizations are not to blame. The responsibility rests with the computers which they have bought or built that have to be fed constantly to justify their existence.

Let us take the FBI, for example. It purchased computers to keep track of criminals and subversives in the United States.

In no time the computers had absorbed the name and description of every racketeer, car thief, bomb thrower and cattle rustler in the country.

Every scrap of information had been thrown in, but the computers kept demanding more.

Francis FBI officials sent messages to their field offices: URGENT - SEND US EVERYTHING YOU HAVE IN YOUR FBI'S COMPUTERS. ARE DESPERATE FOR NEW DATA. NO MATTER HOW INCONSEQUENTIAL OR trivial, bomb thrower and cattle rustler in the country.

ART BUCHWALD

NON-REPROducible WE WILL TAKE IT DIRECTOR INSISTS EACH FIELD OFFICE RESPONSIBLE FOR ONE TON OF RAW DATA PER WEEK - IF YOU FAIL TO MEET QUOTA YOU WILL BE SENT TO BILIBING, MONT.

were flaked. But still many of the G-men could not make that quota. So they started sending in information on citizens who had nothing to do with crime or subversion.

Some field agents sent in entire telephone books from their areas; others made reports on members of the American Legion, the Elks, the Shriners and the Daughters of the American Revolution. A few agents were so hard pressed they mailed in raw files on their own wives and children.

But the FBI computers kept chewing up the information at a faster rate than anyone in the bureau could produce it. There was talk of putting the computers on a six-hour day and only operating them four days a week. But when the computers heard about this an agent had fed the suggestion into a computer to find out if it was feasible to feed lights to flash all over the computer center, and a readout indicated that if their work time was cut out FBI machine would self-destruct in protest.

It then decided the only way to assure a sufficient supply of data was to keep files on everybody, from college students to people on Social Security. Experts figured that if the FBI could get enough data on them they could keep the computers busy until 1976. That is the only reason the FBI has your name on their list right now.

The CIA faced the same crisis as the FBI did, but it had a problem because by law the CIA is not supposed to keep files on American citizens.

After 25 years the CIA had tons of information on every country in the world; and although it occasionally was able to come up with fresh data, it was not enough to satisfy the voracious appetites of the machines, which incidentally were much larger than those of the FBI.

Several years ago the CIA had no choice but to start feeding information on Americans. When Congress found out about this the CIA had to suspend this operation, which left them in a pickle. Its computers were beeping restlessly and an in-house revolt.

So last month the CIA officials realized they had no choice - in order to get enough data for the computers for the next three years they decided to do a complete profile on every man, woman and child in the People's Republic of China.

By HENRY S. BRADSHER
Washington Star
 WASHINGTON — Two sharply contrasting pictures are now beginning to emerge from areas of South Vietnam which have recently come under Communist control.

Broadcasts from the Viet Cong's liberation radio and dispatches of the Communist news agency establish a stark contrast in the South Vietnam told of people in captured cities warmly welcoming their new Communist officials.

"They expressed joy" over the new situation, said a report on Hue.

Independent information on cities like Hue that fell or were abandoned to the Communists in the last few weeks has not yet filtered out, although Saigon is full of rumors — most of them supporting the fears of a Communist bloodbath.

But information has reached Saigon from Phuoc Long province, on the Cambodian border north of the South Vietnamese capital. It fell to North Vietnamese Army troops last January.

These reports say that after the Communists won Phuoc Long city, some important residents were shot, some were jailed, and some were taken away to unknown fates.

U.S. officials here accept these reports as being reliable. Although some observers have in the past expressed skepticism about such reports, which fit into the government's effort to rally support for Saigon on the bloodbath argument, most students of Communist practices find them believable.

The fact it took some time for such reports to come down from Phuoc Long, while no responsible official is claiming yet to have any reliable reports on such newly captured cities as Hue or Da Nang might lend them credence.

By contrast, the Communist picture is openly propagandistic.

Handi radio quoted the Viet Cong news agency Tuesday on a public meeting in the Phuoc Long city. Huynh Tan Phat, president of the Communists' Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) for South Vietnam visited the city Sunday, it said.

He was "warmly welcomed" by local officials who "expressed the joy of the comparisons in the city... for the solicitude of the national liberation front and government," the agency account said. "Residents are establishing their livelihood and building a new life." It added.

There was no suggestion of retaliation against those who had worked with the Saigon government.

Beginning with a March 25 seven-point policy statement, the PRG has sought to reassure people in "liberated" areas that they have nothing to fear if they cooperate with the new government.

That statement was aimed at encouraging defections from Saigon's forces. Assistance was promised to soldiers and "workers and civil servants of the Saigon administration who will return to live in areas recently controlled by the revolutionary government to earn their living."

Officers, even generals, of the South Vietnamese Army may keep their private property, the statement said.

Those who stage uprisings will be allowed to hold their old ranks and will be commanded and rewarded.

Officials here point out that North Vietnam initially respected the rights of such people after the 1954 end of the first Indochina war. But by 1955 and 1956 widespread killing accompanied forced land collectivization in the north.

A 10-point PRG statement issued April 1 established "policies toward the newly liberated areas." It said that "public officials who worked for the puppet machinery are allowed to continue to work under the revolutionary administration and must correctly implement its policies and lines."

Separately issued on April 1 was a 10-point "code of conduct for cadres and personnel in the newly liberated areas of South Vietnam." It read almost like a bill of rights, with overtones of Mao Tse Tung's early 1930s admonitions of his troops not to abuse the peasantry.

Whether this will all turn out to be window-dressing remains to be seen, but officials here are highly suspicious. The reports from Phuoc Long are cited along with experience in other Communist countries to suggest that the reality will be closer to revenue and reprisals than the codes suggest.

Suit right sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, introduced legislation Tuesday to give citizens the right to sue the federal government in cases involving seizure of gold or silver.

Because of a law enacted in 1935, the U.S. government can choose to invoke sovereign immunity to claim arising from any surrender, seizure or acquisition of gold, silver or currency.

Private citizens in such cases have no legal recourse for regaining their property. Symms' bill would repeal the sovereign immunity provision and allow suits to be filed.

Planes set for checks

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — The Bunker Hill Co. said today a consulting firm will use low-flying aircraft to determine dispersal patterns of sulfur dioxide in the vicinity of the company's Kellogg smelter.

The tests by North American Weather Consultants, Inc., will include injection of non-toxic gas in its smaller stacks and tracking of the gas with aircraft to determine dispersal patterns. Bunker Hill officials said.

In a similar test, a low-flying aircraft will fly in tight circles over the smelter, releasing harmless black smoke while observers in chase planes track and record dissipation patterns.

Bunker Hill officials said the dispersal testing will conclude a 10-month study by the consulting firm designed to provide Bunker Hill with information necessary to meet proposed sulfur dioxide standards.

Anti-ban bill offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, introduced today with the backing of 45 House members his legislation to prohibit the Consumer Product Safety Commission from banning handguns and ammunition.

Symms said that, judging from Congressional response so far, he was optimistic of prompt action on the bill by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

"All but the staunchest gun control advocates agree that gun control should be voted on by Congress — not passed down by a federal court judge."

The commission, which was ordered by a federal district court to consider banning handguns and ammunition, is in general agreement with his legislation, Symms said.

He said the commissioners maintain it was not the intent of Congress to have the commission act on gun control matters.

Letters

Wallet's return by boys applauded

Editor, Times-News:

Once in a while something great happens and makes your opinion of your fellow man rise about 10 notches.

Last Friday night was the annual Bickel PTO Carnival. Hundreds of people were jammed together having fun. Sometime during all the hustle, my husband lost his wallet and figured it was gone forever.

But Andrew Abundis and Joe Cravins found his wallet and turned it in with the money and credit cards intact.

Our thanks go out to these outstanding young citizens. You have saved your family, school and us very proud.

Sports radical, pro star denounce FBI

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jack Scott, a sports world radical suspected of aiding Patricia Hearst, emerged from hiding Wednesday blinding he was connected to the Hearst case but had done nothing wrong.

Scott, 33, accompanied by pro basketball superstar Bill Walton, answered no questions on the advice of counsel. He said he would not talk with the FBI or respond to questioning by a grand jury.

Miss Hearst and fellow Symbionese Liberation Army fugitives reportedly stayed in a Pennsylvania farmhouse rented by Scott's wife, Micki. The FBI has telephone records of calls between the farmhouse and Walton's home in Portland, Ore., where the two Scotts were visiting.

The Scotts dropped out of sight just before the public learned of the farmhouse last month. FBI agents since have been interrogating Scott's friends and family.

Newsmen were summoned abruptly Wednesday to a lawyer's office and then sent speeding to "Cliche Methodist Church" where the Scotts and Walton appeared.

FBI agents surrounded the building, but took no action since there is no warrant or subpoena for Scott.

The Scotts denounced what they called FBI harassment and expressed fear "of being set up and possibly killed" by agents anxious for a shootout with the S.L.A.

"First of all," the Scotts said, "we have done nothing wrong. We are not fugitives. We have not been charged or convicted of any crime."

The hint of a connection with Hearst came when they said:

"Our actions of the past year are completely defensible. If we somehow acted to avert bloodshed and killing, we certainly find that nothing to apologize for."

They said Miss Hearst "apparently concluded during the first few weeks of her kidnapping" that the FBI had no concern for her safety and that her life was endangered by "trigger-happy agents."

The Scotts said they would not answer grand jury questions, if asked, because "total non-cooperation with this government is our moral responsibility."

Walton said he was "terribly sorry" he had discussed the case with the FBI.

Walton, who plays for the Portland Trail Blazers, expressed support for the Scotts, his long-time friends, and joined them "to urge the people of the world to stand with us in our rejection of the U.S. government."

Miss Hearst, 21, a newspaper heiress, was kidnaped Feb. 4, 1973, in Berkeley, Calif., but joined her S.L.A. abductors' cause two months later. The group has been in hiding ever since.

Group health tax OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee has tentatively approved an 8 per cent tax on group health insurance premiums to provide health insurance for more than 2 million unemployed workers.

First year benefits could total $2.6 billion; the committee staff estimated.

Although the tax would be levied on "Blue Cross" and commercial health insurers, it would eventually be passed on to employers and workers, according to testimony by the insurance industry during hearings on the legislation.

The committee expects to complete action on the emergency legislation Monday.

Whatever emerges in the House is likely to run counter to legislation reported out by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. The financing mechanisms are sharply different.

A presidential veto is also a distinct possibility.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Casper Weinberger told the committee in a letter of the administration's "strong opposition" to an earlier version of the bill.

Although that version was radically revised during Wednesday's mark-up session, administration opposition is not likely to diminish.

School violence now 'national crisis'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate report says violence in the nation's public schools — including murders, rapes, attacks on teachers, vandalism and prostitution — has become a national crisis requiring legislative action.

Sen Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Wednesday the report revealed a "ledger of violence confronting our schools that reads like a casualty list from a war zone or a vice squad annual report."

He said the survey disclosed hundreds of thousands of assaults on students, including 100 murders in 1973, about 70,000 serious physical assaults on teachers each year, and extortion, drug and prostitution rings in suburban and urban schools.

The survey, prepared by the Senate Juvenile Delinquency

Subcommittee, covered 757 public elementary and public schools and showed dramatic increases in all forms of violence and vandalism.

The report said "there is clear and compelling evidence that violence and vandalism in the schools has reached a level of crisis that demands immediate legislative action."

Bayh, the subcommittee chairman who made the report public, said he would sponsor legislation to provide funds for alternative educational programs and security measures.

"These hallways and playgrounds of fear and terror also account for an estimated $500 million annual bill for vandalism," Bayh said. "This astounding sum, which is actually a vandalism surtax on the cost of education, is comparable to the entire investment for textbooks for our nation's schools in 1972."

The report said student misbehavior is no longer confined to fist fights or isolated incidents.

PW mistreatment charged

LONDON — Both Syria and Israel violated Geneva conventions safeguarding the treatment of POWs during the October, 1973 Middle East war, Amnesty International said Wednesday.

The allegation was made in a 15,000-word report that summarized interviews with prisoners of war from both countries who asserted they had been tortured.

The report, compiled by a three-man international commission noted among its conclusions that while both sides were guilty of abuses, those "perpetrated against former Israeli prisoners of war held in Syria appear generally to have been of a more severe nature."

The 34-page report is the first investigation ever conducted by amnesty on the ill-treatment and torture of POWs. All previous investigations since it was founded 14 years ago to campaign for the release of "prisoners of conscience" have concerned civilian or political prisoners.

The investigators were Ashborn Eide, a Norwegian who is director of the International Peace Research Institute in Oslo; Peter Nobel, a lawyer from Uppsala, Sweden, and Dr. Kees van Vuuren, a physician from Rotterdam.

They visited Israel and Syria for two weeks last October, they met officials from both governments and interviewed 25 former Israeli and 21 former Syrian POWs, as well as three Syrian civilians who claimed Israeli forces kidnaped them in the summer of 1974.

Laborites hit Wilson

CHICAGO Daily News

LONDON — Prime Minister Harold Wilson was counting his blessings today after suffering a severe political pounding from his own ruling Labor Party over the issue of Britain's membership in the European Common Market.

Wilson won a 226-vote margin in the House of Commons last night in favor of his recommendation that the British people vote to remain in the Common Market in a nationwide June referendum.

But politically, it was the costliest victory in his more than 10 years as party leader, and he publicly bared the deep and angry split within the party.

Wilson's votes came mostly from the opposition Conservative and Liberal parties.

And he failed to get even half of his own party to support him — 145 voting against continued membership and 138 for it.

28 jailed

LISBON — The armed forces announced the arrest Wednesday of 28 more officers and non-commissioned officers on charges of involvement in an attempted military coup March 11.

The March 11 events, which saw the country's ruling military class and its policies move sharply to the left, touched off a purge of the armed forces, particularly of those connected with former President Antonio de Spínola, whose own alleged involvement caused him to go into exile in Brazil.

Church requests data delivery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Frank Church of the Senate Intelligence Committee appealed to President Ford Wednesday to expedite delivery of documents still being withheld relating to the charter of the CIA, which has been accused of domestic surveillance.

At a news conference after the committee's fifth business meeting, the Idaho Democrat discouraged a suggestion that a confrontation was in the making and said the White House acknowledged that the committee's request was proper.

He explained that the documents which have so far been withheld were among the more sensitive ones relating to executive orders implementing the CIA's 1947 organizational charter.

Church said the 11-member committee has received some of the requested materials, and said they were "useful."

"We are not meeting any serious roadblocks," Church said after disclosing that on the committee's recommendation he has dispatched a letter to Ford asking for the remaining documents.

Church also announced that the committee has agreed to start its investigative phase and begin interviewing unspecified persons. These interviews are being held prior to formal hearings during the summer into the alleged abuses of the CIA and other agencies of the intelligence community.

The Senate Committee's legal counsel, Frederick A.O. Schwartz Jr., said the committee inquiry has been organized into six general areas covering its organization, authority, size, purposes and activities.

He also said four task forces, on foreign intelligence, domestic intelligence, military intelligence and command and control, have been formed to carry out the investigation.

Church said it is necessary to examine all the documents which constitute "the so called secret charter" of the CIA and other agencies.

"We feel we must have those documents which make up the authority on which the agency acts and to see if it conforms with the law," he said. He added, "I'm not clear what the hangup is" on the delay in forwarding certain sensitive documents.

Meanwhile, the counterpart committee in the House of Representatives was getting off to a slow start.

Congressional sources reported that as of Wednesday the House Intelligence Committee still had not hired a staff and although several candidates were under consideration.

The House Committee was created later than the Senate panel, and its mandate extends into 1975, the mandate of the Senate committee expires at the end of 1975.

Obligation pointed out

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's attorney general said today the Greater Boise Auditorium Board has an obligation to notify the Idaho Liquor Dispensary to cease distribution of funds to it.

Legislative Auditor Clyde Koonitz requested an opinion whether the board had to notify the dispensary to cease the distribution of funds upon the retirement of all obligations and indebtedness other than ordinary operating expenses even though their 50 per cent allocation of the county funds has not been reached.

The Idaho Legislature passed a bill which provided that the liquor funds which have been going to the board now go to the City of Boise for the Performing Arts Center.

Andrus backs Hells Canyon bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a Congressional committee today even one more dam on the Middle Snake River would be detrimental and urged that the remaining free-flowing stretch of the stream be untouched.

Andrus testified before the House Interior Committee Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation on behalf of himself and Govs. Robert W. Straub of Oregon and Daniel J. Evans of Washington in support of a bill designating the Hells Canyon National Recreation Area.

"We want to reaffirm as strongly as we can the complete support each of us and our administrations give to protecting the free-flowing Middle Snake River and Hells Canyon's wilderness environment as a great new Hells Canyon National Recreation Area," the Idaho governor said.

He said the "prompt passage of this outstanding and well-balanced legislation is of the utmost priority to us in the Pacific Northwest."

The governor said that the people of the Northwest were fully aware of the benefits and advantages of hydroelectric energy generation but also know "the value of protecting the diversity of our natural environment and its scenic and recreational opportunities."

No name change planned for HAW

BOISE (UPI) — The State Health and Welfare Department wants designation of the State Health Planning and Development Agency — an additional responsibility that would not change the department's name.

John Ashley, head of the department's health services division, told an Idaho Rural Health Conference Tuesday many people will disagree with me as to whether this is appropriate, but this is the position we're taking.

He said it was the outgrowth of the 1974 National Health Planning and Development Act, which "has given teeth to health planning."

The state planning agency's job will be to oversee the working of the state health plan and Health Systems Agencies.

US-Russian trade eyed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said today the United States wants increased trade with the Soviet Union despite Moscow's rejection last January of the 1972 trade agreement.

At an airport news conference on his arrival from Paris, Simon said he will discuss with Soviet officials "a wide range of problems" on expanding trade relations.

The governor is in the process of deciding whether to recommend a single Health Systems Agency area for the state or three of them as outlined in data submitted last week by an ad hoc advisory committee to the governor.

The Idaho Medical Association for most a number of years has had a partnership corporation with the Idaho Nurses and Idaho Hospital Association for the purpose of getting the health planning agency designation.

Ashley told the conference one of the department's goals, as he sees them, "will be to get out of the personal health business."

He said every citizen in the state should have his own personal physician or health care provider — a gap that Health and Welfare now tries to fill.

Another goal, Ashley said, would be to make the environment safe and healthy while a third goal would be health education to help people prevent health problems and know how to take care of the minor infections for which physicians can do little.

Humanitarian Vietnam aid holds edge among solons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An antiwar House member has announced he favors large military aid for South Vietnam if it would stabilize the country. Congress appeared to favor increased humanitarian aid instead.

Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., said Wednesday at a public hearing of the House International Affairs Committee he would vote for further military aid to stabilize the battle-torn situation. The statement by one of the strongest critics of the U.S. role in Vietnam surprised the colleagues who voted with him to terminate American military aid to Indochina.

"It would be useless to send humanitarian aid to a country that is going to collapse," Fraser said.

Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., turned to Fraser, saying "The other day you said you were opposed to fighting the war to the last Cambodian. Now it sounds like you are willing to fight it to the last Vietnamese."

In a House speech, Rep. Robert Leggett, D-Calif., opposed any further military aid to South Vietnam, criticizing the South Vietnamese army for abandoning weapons.

"It is clear that at least $2 billion has been abandoned within the past two weeks," Leggett said. "This exceeds our deliveries over the past two years. It exceeds the Soviet and Chinese deliveries to North Vietnam over the past five years combined. It exceeds the annual gross national product of South Vietnam."

Leggett scoffed at administration claims more military equipment would have prevented the collapse. "It is obvious," he said, "that if the Saigon forces had 10 times as much equipment, there would simply have been 10 times as much equipment left on the field for the Communists to pick up."

Pessimist

UNITED Auto Workers vice president Douglas Fraser told a Detroit news conference Wednesday most of the 40,000 idle Chrysler workers may never get their jobs back. He said the company seems to be embarked on a "suicidal course" to cut back its operations. (UPI)

Bribes attacked in Connally trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate prosecutors called seven Federal Reserve officers Wednesday in attempting to bolster star witness Jake Jacobson's charge that former Treasury Secretary John Connally tried to hide $100,000 in bribes. Chief prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer indicated he would call five more officers before concluding the government's case in Connally's trial, now in its seventh day in U.S. District Court.

Connally is accused of accepting the bribes from Jacobson, then a lawyer for the dairy farmers, as a payoff for his help in obtaining the 1971 increase in the federal price support for raw milk.

Later as Watergate investigators dug into the milk fund controversy, Jacobson has testified. Connally gave him $10,000 in cash on Oct. 26, 1972, to replace the alleged bribe. Jacobson said they agreed on a cover story that Connally never accepted the money in the first place.

Jacobson testified he kept the $10,000 in a nightstand next to his bed until March 7, 1974, when he turned it over to Watergate prosecutors.

Each of the Federal Reserve officers said the bills that passed through their districts were in circulation before Connally allegedly gave the money to Jacobson. Daniel Kinsella, of Chicago, cited the latest date that any of the bills went into circulation — Sept. 29, 1973, four weeks before Connally's alleged return of the cash.

Aerosols mostly gas, students say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers who buy aerosol products are being cheated and deceived because they have no way of knowing how much actual ingredient and how much propellant gas they are getting, a consumer group said today.

The typical hair spray is 65 per cent gas by weight, and some deodorants are 95 per cent propellant, the group said.

Yet shoppers comparing unit prices, based on the weight of both the gas and the ingredient, are led to believe the aerosol version gives them more for their money.

In a petition to the Federal Trade Commission, a group of George Washington University students calling themselves STRAFE (Students Resisting Aerosol Fluorocarbon Emissions) asked the FTC to require the $3 billion a year aerosol industry to disclose the amount and percentage of propellant on the label of each product and in advertising.

The law students were organized by Prof. John Banhart who has promoted several similar consumer projects in the past.

"Adoption of the proposed rule would eliminate the problem of deception, would impose only minimal burdens upon the aerosol industry and, more importantly, would result in estimated consumer savings of up to $20 million because of the consumer's enhanced ability to make more informed, and thus more perfect and rational purchasing decisions," the petition said.

As an example the petition cited a well known brand of hair spray which sells in aerosol form for $1.99 for 16 ounces, or 12 cents per ounce. The same product is also available in a hand pump spray bottle at $1.99 for eight ounces, or 25 cents per ounce.

The aerosol version would appear to be the cheaper on a per ounce basis. But the aerosol can is 65 per cent propellant by net weight and only 3.6 ounces of the 16 are actually hair spray.

"The actual, as opposed to perceived, unit price of the aerosol is thus 36 cents per ounce — three times the original cost estimate and 50 per cent more expensive than the non-aerosol package," the students said.

Escapee arrested in south

BUTTE, Mont. — A man identified as John J. Stephens, 33, Detroit, Mich., arrested Monday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New Orleans, La., has been identified as a man who escaped last fall from the Twin Falls County jail.

Special agent in charge John W. Burns of the Butte FBI office said Stephens was taken into custody in New Orleans for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He is wanted for escape in Tampa, Fla., July 16, 1973, and from Twin Falls County Sept. 16, 1974.

Correction

TWIN FALLS — Citizens participating in the public meeting Monday night on kindergartens did not ask "pre-kindergarten" questions, as reported by the Times-News. The mistake was a typographical error. It should have said the citizens asked "pre-kindergarten" questions.

Mergers in air, rail lines urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. wants to see massive mergers in both the airline and railroad industries.

The newly confirmed transportation secretary said he would like to see airlines merge into perhaps seven or eight competing systems with major changes in the national airline route system, and no more than four or five national railroad systems.

Engineer honored

SHOSHONE — Blaine Sessions, Boise, former district highway engineer in Shoshone, has received a special commendation for meritorious achievement in the highway engineering field in recognition of 25 years outstanding public service by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials. Sessions became chief of development in the new Division of Highways on July 1, 1974.

Proposes bill

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. George Hansen reports he has introduced legislation to prohibit the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission from restricting the sale or manufacture of firearms or ammunition.

Hansen said he is requesting Rep. Lionel Van Doren, chairman of the Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Finance, Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, to hold early hearings and take action on the bill.

FAIRFIELD — Rich Bauscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bauscher, Fairfield, has been elected a Royal Officer with the Intercollegiate Knights Honorary Service Fraternity.

A student at the College of Idaho, where he also plans to attend graduate school, Bauscher is the new Royal Duke which is a national vice president of all college IK chapters from Idaho to Missouri. He will travel some 7,000 miles during his term.

He was also awarded the "Outstanding Duke" award for services to the IK Chapter at the College of Idaho.

Inspection of reactor's equipment 'adequate'

TWIN FALLS — The ultrasonic test to find defects in nuclear reactors may not be perfected before an experimental reactor begins operations at the Idaho Nuclear Engineering Laboratory.

But inspections of the reactor's equipment will be adequate, according to Roy Swanson, director of reactor safety operations for the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA). The New York Times recently reported that the U.S. government is dissatisfied with testing for possible flaws in its experimental nuclear reactor being built for the INEL and has ordered development of a computerized device to measure cracks in the reactor. Swanson confirmed Tuesday that the government is pushing for improvement of the ultrasonic system of probing for defects in reactors.

But he said that until this system is perfected, a more cumbersome but reliable test can be used.

There are two ways to test for cracks in reactor pipes. One method is to X-ray the pipes. This test is good for finding all but insignificant hairline cracks in thick metals, Swanson said, adding that these defects could not create a hazard.

Since the inside of a pipe must be accessible for X-ray filing, this method is difficult when a reactor is in use, he said. Then, a second method may be used: the ultrasonic test based on detecting sound waves bounced back by flaws. This test has not been adequately developed for finding cracks in thick stainless steel sections. And when the thickness of the metal changes rapidly, the test may indicate a flaw exists when there is no real problem.

THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG?

Whichever CAME FIRST, SWENSEN'S HAVE IT, at prices which can make investigating the origin of chicken and eggs very delicious and very inexpensive right in your own kitchen. NOTE: You may recall that a couple of weeks ago, Swensens were convinced that the egg came first, but since then, new evidence has surfaced and Swensens now firmly believe that the chicken came first. Anyway, whether you agree with Swensens or not, you can still enjoy eggs and chicken at very enjoyable Swensen prices this week!

Three Girls Staters chosen from Jerome

JEROME — Three Jerome girls have been chosen to attend the 29th session of Girls State June 7-14 at Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa. The three girls, Keyvonne Hollifield, Jody Craig and Alison Rose, were selected from 113 junior girls who competed for the honor. Named as alternates were Tammy Malone, daughter of Archie Malone, and Linda Doughty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Doughty. Seven qualifying factors were used in selecting the girls, including leadership, honesty, character, courage, scholarship, physical fitness and cooperativeness. Miss Hollifield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hollifield. She has been active in having held the office of president, secretary and reporter as well as junior leader.

MISS HOLLIFIELD delegate JODY CRAIG named ALISON ROSE selected

She is vice president of the Mat Molds, secretary of Jerome Builders Club and is a member of speech and music clubs. She has also taken an active part in sports, having earned her varsity letter two years in both track and volleyball. Miss Hollifield said she plans to go to college in education in music at the College of Idaho. She has played the piano since the third grade and has participated in several music festivals and has received both superior and excellent ratings. She also plays the drums. Miss Craig is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Craig. She is a member of the Honor Society, Treble Ensemble, Varsity chorus, Pep Club, Ski Club, and Journalism Club. The delegate has served on the student council and as senator next year she will be editor of the school annual.

Miss Craig has stated she would like to attend college and major in law with a minor in government and politics. Miss Rose is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Rose. She is a member of the Honor Society, Chorallers, Varsity Chorus, Pep Club, Mat Molds, Ski Club, Girls Athletic Association, National Junior Music Club as well as several others. She has been Pep Club president and manager, secretary of the Ski Club and Western Junior Chorallers association. Miss Rose last year received a full scholarship to the University of Idaho summer music camp for her musical ability. She is active in many sports both in and out of school. She plans to attend college but is undecided about her major. The Jerome chapter of the American Legion Auxiliary will be assisted by the Barrymore Club, BPO, Demograt Women's Club, PEO, chamber of commerce and Rotary in sending the delegates to the week-long session. Mrs. Emma Bradshaw, president of the Legion Auxiliary, said "Contributions for other organizations or individuals are welcome as the cost to send each girl has jumped to $75 this year."

Faculty wives plan fashion show

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School District Faculty Wives has planned a fashion show for 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the Turf Club. Fashion from The Paris and The Attic will be shown with shoe styles from Williams Shoes. Models will include Mrs. Scott Tingy and two daughters, Mark Sonius, Mrs. Galen Gues, Mrs. Bob Donnelly, Mrs. George Staudacher and Mrs. Clarence Phillips and son, Linda Schmidt will be narrator. Entertainment will be provided by the O'Leary Junior High School ensemble. Kathy Blaslady will provide piano background music for the style show. Door prizes for the event have been donated. Centerpieces were made by the Murtaugh fifth grade class. Their teacher is Mrs. Gues.

Optimists set contest

TWIN FALLS — The annual district Optimist zone Oratrical contest will be held in Twin Falls Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the College of Southern Idaho mini-auditorium. A zone meeting will follow the contest at 1 p.m., also in the mini-auditorium of the campus vocational building. At this time trophies will be presented to winning speakers. The club is also making plans for the spring bicycle rodeo May 10. It will be held at Harmon Park. Members are asked to volunteer to assist with the event.

Pre-school children register in Jerome

JEROME — Registration is being held in Jerome for students who will be old enough to attend first grade this fall and for kindergarten-age students. Parents who have children that will be 5 or 6 years of age by Oct. 15 are requested by the Jerome School District to register their children for the first grade or kindergarten at Washington Elementary School on South Lincoln. Registration will be Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the principal's office for the rest of April. Parents are also asked to bring the child's birth certificate. According to school officials no definite decision has been made on establishment of a kindergarten program in the Jerome school system. "We decided to conduct the kindergarten registration with the first grade registration in order to get some idea how many students would be of kindergarten age. The main problem in establishing a kindergarten program is lack of space. Our classrooms are now over crowded and we have no room available in the schools," according to Donald Daw, school principal. It has been suggested to the school board that local churches be used for the kindergarten program until the new high school is completed and classrooms are available in the schools. Members of a special group called "Jerome Citizens for Public Kindergartens" have also offered their help in providing financial assistance and transportation for the kindergarten program in an effort to get it established this fall. No decision has been made by the school on the recommendation of the citizen group.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I know a young mother who is giving raw milk to her baby. Is bringing milk to the boiling point enough to kill bacteria?
Please describe undulant fever and tell me if there is now a definite cure for it. Other children and adults in this family are drinking raw milk. I am so concerned. — G.E.B.

Baby drinks raw milk

Dr. George Thosteson

Raw milk is not, in and of itself, dangerous — only raw milk from cows (or goats) infected with the brucellosis germ. Cows from registered herds are checked carefully and, rather frequently for the disease, so if the milk is from a registered animal you can cool your concern.

Undulant fever is associated with the brucella organism. It is usually acquired by drinking the infected milk or by persons handling infected meat — beef, pork or lamb. The infection route here is through breaks in the skin.

It is not a pleasant disease, and the little to be saved monetarily from drinking unpasteurized milk is not worth the risk.

The disease is not easy to detect, but a positive diagnosis can be made with appropriate blood tests. Symptoms include fatigue, headache, and rises in temperature that subside in the early morning, then recur in the afternoons.

Treatment is with antibiotics — tetracycline — which are effective in most cases.

If the folks you refer to are using milk from an unregistered family "boskie," then they should take the precaution of doing their own pasteurizing, a simple matter of heating the milk to 160 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes, then storing it in a cool, sanitary place before using.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
My wife, now 66, has had yawning spells for several years, but for the most two years they have been more severe. She has a shortness of breath.

Your doctor can find no cause for it. Please comment. I am sending 25 cents to you in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope, for your booklet on diverticulosis. — L.R.M.

Yawning is one of the pleasant little respirations no one has been able to explain satisfactorily yet. There has been speculation that it signifies a deficiency of oxygen in the body, but this doesn't explain why one person will yawn because someone nearby has done so, or why it is associated with being weary or bored. Anemia, or possibly low thyroid function, might be investigated.

Beyond this, I can only suggest, frankly without very much confidence, that your wife's yawning and her shortness of breath may be related to a possible lung problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
Itching is my problem. You've heard of the three brothers? One was always itching to go west, one to go east, and the other was just always itching. I'm the last one.

I am 72, married 50 years to the same woman, completely happy. I'm lean and healthy, take no medication of any kind, don't use tobacco or alcohol. But at most anytime of the day or night some area of my carcass comes up with an itch.

Can you think of any valid cause for this condition? — C.S.

I can think of a few.

As you get older the "oil" glands of the skin are less productive and the result is a drier skin. Too frequent bathing can remove the skin's sebaceous substances and result in itching. Certain woolen or synthetic underwear can cause an irritation.

What to do? Try a bath oil in your tub, or dab it on after a shower. Congratulations on your apparent good health and happy outlook.

A BRIDE SELECTS A GOWN

By Mary Sue Miller

Dame Fashion was once the arbiter of wedding gowns, of the design and fabric. But the taste and lifestyle of the young have brought about a change in direction. The bride has the final word. Her desires, and the formality of her wedding govern selections.

The predilection of the simplicity has stripped away the fussy remains of past eras. A delicacy pervades bridal attire. There are drifts of organza with beautiful traceries of Alencon lace. Or subtle embroideries. Or sprinklings of seed pearls. Nothing overdone.

Pastel cottons striped with cotton satin fit perfectly with a hankering for the natural and look lovely in a garden. Silk crepe de chine, tucked jersey and pleated chiffon, because of cling—move-with-the-body—and suggest sophisticated persuasions and settings.

Whatever the material, waistlines are elevated; skirts are moderately full and float gently to the ground. Hemlines even off or form manageable trains. Very easy to wear, no strain. Some headress designs float illusion veiling, usually to the waist. Picture hats and little caps, sometimes trimmed with a single flower, often supplant veiling. A large bloom, made of the dress material and worn in the hair, looks fresh as the morning. The word for bouquets is: artless—one long-stemmed rose, a few lilies of the valley, an old-fashioned bouquet of garden posies. Natural!

Shoshone slates crossing arms

SHOSHONE — The drop arms at the three railroad crossings in Shoshone will work independently of each other and can be put to use immediately upon completion.

According to Dennis Everett, Union Pacific Railroad, the Grape Street crossing arms are being done when complete they will be operating. They do not have to wait for completion of the other two crossings.

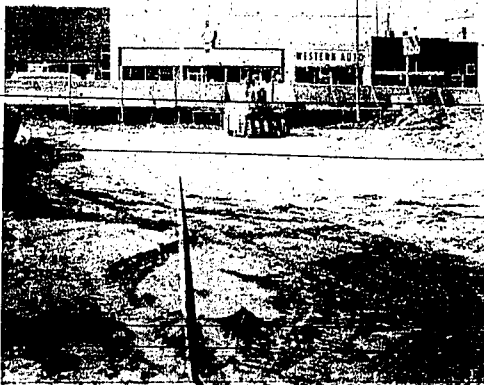

Everett warned the public to be careful in crossing the tracks between now and time work on the three crossings is complete.

In other business, at the chamber meeting, Mrs. Hilma Mull, representative to North Side Communities Inc. reported Jim Yost, legislator of district 23, will speak at the April 24 North Side meeting. The North Side Communities approved purchase of magnetic signs to be used by the US Army Reserves on trucks working on the West-Magic Reservoir road.

Whitney Price, Gauding, project coordinator for the Wood River Resource Area and RC and D Council, reported plans to set up a table or tent at the Highway 93 entrance to Magic on the opening day of the fishing season to sell stickers supporting the road improvements.

Army engineers agreed to meet on their work days to create opportunities for work in heavy equipment on the road to Magic-Blaine County will buy the dynamite needed for blasting with North Side Communities billed for this. Blaine County commissioners are supervising the road construction.

THE Jerome branch of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Boise is now under construction. Gordon Paving, Burley, this week began to haul in dirt to bring the site of the new branch on East Main up to street level. After leveling and compacting are completed, Gem State Builders, Boise, will begin construction of the new permanent building which is expected to be completed by Sept. 15. The branch facility is now conducting business from a trailer located just east of the building site.

Reading workshop slated in Rexburg

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley members of the International Reading Association and others interested in improved reading will attend a workshop Friday in Rexburg.

Jean Edwards, member of the association and instructor at the College of Southern Idaho, said a number of teachers and parents from this area will attend the annual "state drive-in reading conference." This is one of two such workshop sessions held in Idaho and is more convenient to interested persons in this area.

Field trials slated

TWIN FALLS — The annual spring field trials of the German Short-haired Pointer Club of Magic Valley, Inc., will be from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The trials will be conducted seven miles south and two and one-half miles west of East Five Points, Twin Falls.

According to Carlyle Mueller, Wendell, field trial chairman, some of the "finest dogs in the northwest" will be competing for "top prizes." The trials are free and open to the public.

Tom Sanders, Hansel, is serving as field trial secretary.

60 per cent need dental care in nursing homes

BOISE — Sixty per cent of Idaho nursing home patients screened in a recent survey need dental care, the Department of Health and Welfare said today.

Dr. Thomas Bruck, coordinator for the agency's dental health services, said his staff completed a survey of more than 1,100 of the state's estimated 4,000 nursing home patients.

He said it showed that 27 per cent of those examined need denture services, 20 per cent need periodontal services and 13 per cent need surgical or restorative services.

"The percentages are high because Idaho, unlike most states, does not offer adult dental care as part of her medical and medicare programs," Bruck said. "Patients must rely on their personal resources to pay dental bills."

Idaho's survey results are in sharp contrast with those of a nursing home study conducted by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in 47 states. That study showed only 15.8 per cent of the 3,358 patients checked needed dental care. Idaho was part of that survey.

Bruck said his survey was undertaken about nine months ago when the department began a pilot program in Canyon County designed to improve dental health of nursing home residents. That program involves staff training, on-site care by a dental hygienist and patient referrals.

Now, operating in three Caldwell nursing homes, the program will begin in three more in Nampa this month.

Jerome park naming hit

BY CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Plans to rename the city parks in Jerome meet with opposition from the Jerome Historical Society.

According to Marshall Everheart, city councilman in charge of parks and recreation, the city had made plans for renaming the parks. The proposal called for changing South Park to R.E. Shepherd Park because Shepherd was reported to have donated the land for the park. However according to Marge Titus, Jerome Historical Society, Shepherd did not donate the land for the park. He donated the land that St. Benedict's hospital is built on.

She said that the North and South Park areas were donated to the city by Jerome and Wendell Kuhn when the original townsite was laid out. It was recommended that the north park area be named after Bill Peters, because Peters kept the county from building the courthouse there. But according to Mrs. Titus, Peters had nothing to do with keeping the county from building its courthouse on the park site.

"In 1937 David L. Merriam and Frank Dayley got an injunction which kept the city from giving the land to the county for building the present courthouse on the park site. These two men spent over $10,000 fighting the city through the courts. They lost in district court but a vote of the people also favored the park site. However the two men took it to the supreme court while at the same time the county was in danger of losing its federal funds for the courthouse if construction was not begun immediately. Because of the danger of losing the federal funds the county decided to purchase the present site of the courthouse for $2,000 from the school district," Mrs. Titus said.

No objection was raised over the suggestion to name the park on First Street the Wilson Churchman Park or the park in the Magic Meadows subdivision north of Jerome the Vic Camozzi Park.

The Jerome parks and recreation system will be expanded this summer to include a variety of activities for young and old, according to Joe Skaug, parks advisory committee member.

The city is expected to hire a full-time parks and recreation manager to coordinate the summer's recreational programs.

Winter skiing in spring

THERE are some people who are not complaining about the unusual "spring weather." Here a group of skiers enjoy mid-January type skiing in April at Pomerelle. The area will close April 14, in spite of near record snow depths and powder snow. Usually spring skiing means shirt sleeves and straw hats — but not this year.

5-vehicle accident injures 2

TWIN FALLS — A five-vehicle accident Wednesday afternoon on US Highway 30 west of Twin Falls hospitalized two men and caused extensive damage.

State Police Sgt. Cole Watkins said the accident occurred two miles west of Twin Falls at about 3:50 p.m.

Hospitalized were Richard Lee Jensen, 18, Buhl, driver of a 1974 pickup truck, and his passenger, Charles Sattgast, 17, Buhl. Both were listed in good condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. A total of five persons was treated for minor injuries and released.

Sgt. Watkins said the two injured men were in a group of three vehicles stopped in the center westbound lane of the highway, waiting for another vehicle to turn left.

Their pickup truck was struck from behind by a large three-axle bob-tailed truck, also west-bound. The large truck attempted to stop behind the other vehicles but because of the rain and snow on the highway the brakes had locked.

The impact threw the Jensen vehicle across the highway and into the path of an eastbound vehicle driven by Richard Edward Foulk, 34, Twin Falls.

The Jensen vehicle glanced off the Foulk vehicle, colliding with another eastbound vehicle driven by Linda Pond, 31, Buhl. She was accompanied by three children but all escaped serious injury. Her vehicle however, collided with another westbound auto, driven by John Kodesh, 24, Buhl.

Driver of the large truck was Gary Welch, 19, Castleford. Officers, including state police and Twin Falls County deputy sheriffs worked about two hours to clear away the wreckage. Three of the vehicles suffered about $3,000 damage and the two others about $500 and $400.

A sixth vehicle escaped damage when the driver pulled to the borrowpit to avoid the damaged vehicles.

Church rubble marks site of future parking lot

Historic TF tabernacle demolished for parking

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The wrecking ball swung Wednesday on the old Twin Falls LDS Tabernacle, reducing the stately, pillared building to a pile of rubble.

The building, sold by the LDS owners in February, is being razed to make way for a parking lot for White Mortuary. It was located at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Second Street East.

The foundation for the edifice, which was the original Twin Falls ward and stake building, was laid about 1920, according to an old-time Twin Falls resident who helped construct the building.

For five years after that, the building consisted of only the foundation, which was constructed partially through donation work.

In 1927 the cornerstone was laid and in 1928 church members began to use the recreation room in the basement.

The outside work on the building was completed, according to the longtime resident, but much of the inside work was donated.

The building was finally dedicated in 1935. According to the building's purchaser, Hugh Phillips of White Mortuary, the basement area featured a maple hardwood floor.

The old timer said dances were frequently held there during the building's prime.

On the ground floor were the sanctuary and offices for the bishop and the relief society, Phillips said.

Plaster was dropping from the walls and ceilings in some areas of the building and there were traces of terraces, according to employees of White Mortuary.

The building, constructed under the direction of pioneer contractor Ernest White, had steel I-beams, Phillips said.

The building was empty less than two months before it was razed.

Demolition, under the direction of Mike Stafford, Boise, is expected to be complete by the end of this week.

Worker rides ball to top

today in brief

Jerome meet tonight

JEROME — The Jerome County search and Rescue Team will meet at 8 p.m. today at Wood Cafe.

It is anticipated that members will be sworn in as deputies in order to officially assist the sheriff's department when needed in search efforts.

The Jerome County Search and Rescue Team has received notification from the state that it has been officially recognized as a working search and rescue unit.

Finalization of the original authority for the team will be made at tonight's meeting. Members also will discuss purchasing needed equipment and several training programs.

New land use law effective July 1

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Wayne Kidwell said Wednesday that a query by Assistant Cassia County Prosecutor Roy C. Holloway about county zoning would be moot after July 1 when Idaho's new land use planning law became effective.

Holloway had asked the attorney general whether the county commissioners were required to appoint a zoning commission and establish a county zoning plan.

Kidwell said that zoning law provides that each county is required to have a zoning commission but that it was not mandatory that the county commissioners zone.

However, he added that the new law "takes over this matter and that it repeals and replaces all the earlier laws on the subject."

Sentence given

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge Alfred C. Hagan has sentenced Danny Ward, 30, to life in prison for the gunshot death of John Rex Brennan at a Garden City night club Aug. 31, 1973.

Ward was convicted of second degree murder in the shooting. He must serve 10 years before he is eligible for parole.

IF man arrested

TWIN FALLS — Richard James Hernandez, 41, Idaho Falls, was arrested by Twin Falls city police Wednesday night after an officer spotted him running through the parking lot at the Holiday Inn.

Officers alleged the man was carrying a small box containing drawers and/or his suspicious.

He was arrested after officers gave chase and has been charged with the theft of a tool box and tools valued at $300.

Rock slide damages vehicle

HAGERMAN — Howard Johnson, Idaho Division of Highways district engineer in Shoshone, said a small rockslide about 10 p.m. Wednesday apparently damaged a vehicle.

Johnson said a number of rocks loosened by the wet weather slid onto US Highway 30 on the grade between Bliss and the Malad River power plant. He said two of the highway department's men were in the area in private cars and were able to roll all of the large rocks from the highway and a plow was dispatched to the site to clear away the rest of the debris.

Johnson said the road was not blocked to traffic at any time but before his department was notified one vehicle did strike one of the rocks and apparently was damaged. He said he did not know the identification of the driver.

Blaine vote tonight

HAILEY — Some of the biggest development decisions to face Blaine County are supposed to be voted on tonight, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Hailey Armory.

The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission must consider the rezoning applications from Bart Ballantyne in the Bellevue Triangle, a rezoning application from McCulloch Properties Inc. for Democrat Gulch and a small development at Clarendon Hot Springs by Pat Ryan which may be in the path of a major deer migration route.

Rupert probe continues

RUPERT — Criminal charges in a Rupert chain-strangulation may be delayed for a week while the Missoula County prosecutor expands his investigation.

Prosecutor William Manning said today he had discussed obtaining help from the Idaho Attorney General's office to track down out-of-state leads in the case.

He said the state officials expressed a willingness to help and he is considering using the state resources.

Last week, a coroner's jury said Ernest Rutener and his wife Griselda, both Rupert, committed involuntary manslaughter in the death of Anna Marie Rutener. Ernest is Mrs. Rutener's son.

Manning said he plans to file criminal charges in the case. However, he was not yet determined what the charges will be, or who will be charged.

Manning said he is considering asking for investigative help either from the state's attorney general or from the state liquor and Criminal Investigation Bureau. Manning said the investigation assistance would pertain to the time when the Ruteners lived in Seattle, but would not further elaborate.

The jury said Anna Marie died after choking to death from a chain fastened around her neck by Ernest and Griselda.

The six-foot tall chain was anchored to a bed, and the elderly woman was held that way for about four months in an unheated room before she died.

Manning said his investigation would probably not be completed until next week. His investigation is being hampered by a lack of staff, he said.

The Missoula County prosecutor's office is staffed only by Manning. "While this is the most important thing on my desk, I've got many other matters to deal with," Manning said.

Manning said he is considering calling on help from the state investigators, simply because they have the manpower to help.

Bellevue aides back proposal

By BART QUENNEL
Times-News writer

BELLEVUE — Wednesday night the Bellevue City Council backed the planning board's recommendation to turn down Bart Ballantyne's river bottom land rezoning request.

Boise developer Ballantyne owns 2,130 acres on both sides of US Highway 93 just south of Bellevue. He owns 1,700 acres east of US 93 in the heart of the Bellevue Triangle.

The City Council considered only his proposed 340-acre subdivision in Wood River Meadows west of highway 93 along Big Wood River.

Ballantyne had applied to the county for an A-3 rezoning from an A-1 classification. The rezoning, if granted by the county, would allow him to erect 408 units including 100 condominium units on the 340 acres.

The county asked the Bellevue council to give it a recommendation since Wood River Meadows is within the one mile jurisdiction of Bellevue.

The recommendation does not mean Ballantyne cannot rezone the land in question. The county planning and zoning commission must make that decision tonight.

Ballantyne argued passionately to the City Council, "please follow your convictions" after the Bellevue planning decision was announced as being four to one against any development.

Ballantyne immediately contended that a straw poll taken to assess the city's attitude about this development was biased.

FFA members gather for TF conference

TWIN FALLS — More than 700 Future Farmers of America members representing 71 Idaho schools are attending the second day sessions of the 44th annual FFA leadership conference here.

Competition in parliamentary procedure, public speaking and dress speaking highlighted Wednesday sessions.

National FFA vice president Peter Giacomini Wednesday morning greeted the hundreds of high school boys and girls attending the conference at the College of Southern Idaho.

During the afternoon, members toured three local agribusinesses, including Independent Meat Co., Twin Falls; Holstein Farms Inc., Jerome; and the Willard Garrard feedlot operation west of Twin Falls.

The tours were sponsored by the newly organized FFA alumni chapters, located in Twin Falls, Castleford and Burley. Chapter members are FFA alumni and other interested persons.

The Twin Falls parliamentary procedure team ranked third in competition Wednesday.

First place went to Sandpoint's team, second to Meridian and fourth to Cambridge. The award ceremony took place Wednesday evening.

Public speaking winners were Wayne Rush, Moscow, first; and Tim Limbaugh, Fruitland, second. Dress speaking winners were "Test" Tesnohlek, Fruitland, first, and Louise Porter, Vallivue, second.

Dr. Roy E. Truby, state superintendent of public instruction, was slated to address this morning's session.

National officer Giacomini will address the afternoon session, with the Star State Farmer to be named today.

The annual banquet will be held tonight at the Holiday Inn.

Two Magic Valley Future Farmers of America members won $100 proficiency awards.

National officer Giacomini will address an evening session of the conference.

Among the 12 proficiency award winners were Warren Coghill, Gooding, for sheep production, and Dwight Frink, Buhl, for livestock production.

During Thursday morning sessions, Future Farmers scholarships were scheduled to be awarded to graduating senior members who will continue their education after high school.

Among the 23 scholarship winners were Clarence Pauls, Gooding, and Kevin Kramer, Castleford, who both were to be given recognition as Union Pacific Railroad Scholarship winners.

Tax debt may force TF animal shelter closure

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Humane Society may be shut down if it can't pay tax debts by May 1, according to society director Bobbi Glasmann.

Mrs. Glasmann said the Internal Revenue Service had been accepting monthly payments to make up the $2,500 in taxes owed the federal government, but recently put a May 1 deadline on payments.

"If the deadline is not met, I guess they would close us," Mrs. Glasmann said. She said the society will sponsor an auction soon in a last ditch effort to raise funds to pay off the debt.

Calvin Fuqua, chief of collections for the IRS in Boise, confirmed that the Twin Falls society has a debt obligation of $2,500.

He would not comment about deadlines, but said that the IRS generally seizes, and sells property to collect taxes as a "last resort."

As a private agency which pays its employees, Fuqua said, the society must pass on the employer taxes on its employees' wages. The society, he said, is not allowed to pay these taxes for all four quarters of 1974.

Fuqua said a $2,500 lien has been placed on federal revenue sharing funds funded to the society.

"I can't understand how they can levy a check when the money has been spent," Mrs. Glasmann said upon hearing of the lien.

She said the society spent its revenue sharing money in March.

The IRS has collected $725 from the city which would have gone to the society for operating the city dog pound, she said, adding that this reduces the total debt to about $1,800.

Test slated

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Drilling of a second geothermal test well is scheduled to begin about the end of April, 3,000 feet northeast of the first hole in Raft-River-Valley, a federal agency said today.

Data from the first hole confirmed surface exploration—predictions, the U.S. Energy Research & Development Administration (ERDA) said. Hole number one penetrated into metamorphic sandstone and drilling stopped at 5,007 feet.

Temperature and flow measurements over the past several weeks showed that most of the geothermal resource lies between 3,800 and 4,600 feet. Most recent measurements indicated a mean flow rates of about 650 gallons per minute and bottomhole water temperature of 222 degrees Fahrenheit.

The ERDA said flow and temperature are adequate to warrant continued exploration at a second well site with the goal of developing the resource to support a field laboratory. This laboratory would provide design parameters for possible subsequent development of a geothermal demonstration power plant.

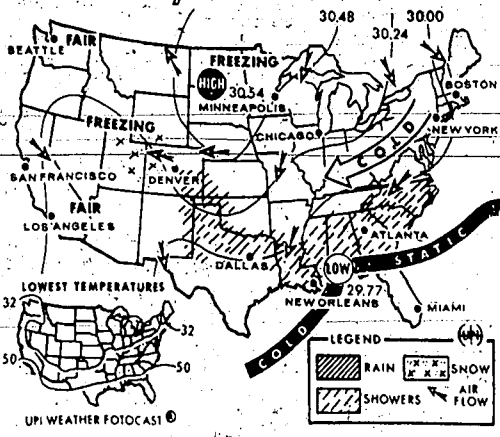

Conference under way

REVIEWING proposals for the ongoing leadership convention of the Idaho Future Farmers of America are from left, Dave Wells, Castleford FFA Alumni Association president; Paul Ogburn Jr., Payette, state FFA president, and John A. Lawrence, teacher-educator from the college of agriculture at the University of Idaho. The conference is being held through Friday at the College of Southern Idaho.

Quake expert raps USGS warning as 'alarmist'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah earthquake expert Kenneth L. Cook Tuesday branded as "alarmist" a U.S. Geological Survey warning that the populous Wasatch Front would someday be hit by a major tremor.

Dr. A. Rogers, a USGS geophysicist who headed the survey's team which checked the March 27 quake along the Utah-Idaho line, said Monday that future tremors along the Wasatch fault would be more destructive because they would hit in built-up areas.

"Rogers' report is somewhat alarmist," Cook told Gov. Calvin L. Rampton in a special briefing at the Capitol. "We all know that we live in an earthquake zone. We should be aware of that and not bury our heads in the sand like ostriches."

Cook, director of the University of Utah seismological station, said people will just have to live with the potential earthquake danger and authorities must make sure buildings along the front are built to code.

"The Utah geophysicist said the Salt Lake Valley has a Zone 3 classification — the same earthquake potential as San Francisco, Los Angeles and other points along California's San Andreas fault."

Cook asked Rampton for an emergency appropriation of $10,000 to analyze data from last month's quake. Rampton said he would provide $5,000 from his emergency fund and persuade the university to come up with the remainder from its budget.

Cook said the university lab and the USGS had circled the epicenter of the quake with 11 seismographs.

"He said they were studying the thousands of aftershocks, which are still occurring at a rate of 10 per hour nearly two weeks after the big jolt."

"We need to hire some emergency personnel to analyze what happened," Cook said. "Measuring these shocks is for the safety and welfare of the public."

He said one seismograph in Big Cottonwood showed an increase in strain along the fault after the quake near Malad City, Idaho, and that study of other monitors was needed to determine the extent of the build-up of stress.

The seismologist said experts aren't sure what such a buildup portends.

Cook said the last really big quake along the Wasatch fault — which runs north from Payson in Utah County, through populous Salt Lake, Davis and Weber Counties, and then north through Box Elder County, to Idaho — occurred 400 years ago.

He said the university's monitoring system records about 50 tiny quakes along the fault each month.

"The whole area is creaking and groaning."

Warm, dry weather approaches

Twin Falls, northside. Partly cloudy today with an increasing chance of showers this evening through early Friday. Partly cloudy, and a little warmer Friday. Highs tonight to mid 40s, lows tonight 25 to 30. The outlook for Saturday, dry and warmer.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley. Scattered snow showers today, partial clearing tonight and Friday. Highs today, 35 to 40 and Friday 40 to 45. Lows tonight to 15.

Outlook for Saturday, dry and warmer.

Synopsis: The upper low pressure center continues to weaken as it rotates over the Pacific northwest. This morning a surge of moisture circulating around the low is producing rain and snow over eastern Oregon and west-central Idaho.

It appears now that this is the last organized moisture surge associated with this low, which has been around for almost two weeks.

Showers today, over southwest Idaho, showers tonight and Friday morning over south-central and southeast Idaho are expected. Drying conditions with a slow warming trend are on tap through the weekend.

High temperatures will reach the upper 50s by Monday and lows will be in the mid 20s to low 30s.

Wool-crop off

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's shorn wool production hit a record low in 1974, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The 1974 total was 6,713,000 pounds, which compared with a total of 6,728,000 in 1973.

The agency said in production resulted from a decline in average fleece weight as the number of head shorn was slightly above a year earlier.

The number of head shorn in 1974 was 621,000, or 8,000 more than the previous year. Weight per fleece decreased from 10.7 pounds in 1973 to 10.6 pounds in 1974.

Average price received for marketed wool last year was 61 cents, down 30 cents from 1973, the service said.

Because of the lower price, it added, the value of the 1974 crop was down 31 per cent from the preceding year. Total value was $4,085,000 compared with $6,122,000 for 1973.

February Gem milk, cheese output dips

TWIN FALLS — Idaho milk and cheese production for February was down from last year, but butter production was up sharply, according to the dairy report of the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Milk production during this February was 111 million pounds, down 2 per cent from 113 million pounds in 1974 and 120 million pounds in 1973.

Output of American cheese at 3,450 million pounds was down 20 per cent from last February, when output was 4,299 million pounds. Output in February, 1973, was 4,066 million pounds.

Creamery butter production of 1.2 million pounds was up sharply from the 300,000 pounds produced a year earlier. Butter production in 1973 was 1.6 million pounds.

Ice cream production, at 237,000 gallons for February, 1975, was one per cent higher than the 225,000 gallons that month last year. Comparative production for 1973 was 233,000 gallons.

Highlights for US dairy statistics show milk production during February estimated at about 8,750 million pounds, almost unchanged from a year earlier but two per cent below February, 1973.

February production provided 1.47 pounds of milk per person daily for all uses compared with 1.48 a year ago and 1.52 for February, 1973.

February milk production per cow was 783 pounds, up 4 pounds from a year earlier and 10 pounds above February, 1973.

Milk cows on farms during February totalled

11,192,000 head, down .05 per cent from February, 1974.

Production of creamery butter nationwide in February was estimated at 90.4 million pounds, 7 per cent below the previous month, but 3.1 per cent above February, 1974.

U.S. output of American cheese totaled 122 million pounds, 6 per cent below January and 20 per cent below February, 1974.

Year-to-date figures for Idaho production are as follows: for 1975, 1974, and 1973; creamery butter, 2,545,000 lbs., 1,440,000 lbs., 3,423,000 lbs.; American cheese, 7,188,000 lbs., 9,430,000 lbs., 6,465,000 lbs.; ice cream, 408,000 gallons, 430,000 gallons, 495,000 gallons; milk, 229 million lbs., 233 million lbs., 247 million lbs.

Calf, lamb loss rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Subnormal temperatures in many parts of the country last week slowed pasture and range growth and sent death losses in new-born calves and lambs to above-normal levels, an Agriculture Department report said Tuesday.

The weekly crop weather report also said the slow growth of new pasture grasses put an added burden on already short supplies of forages and caused overgrazing of pastures.

In addition, the report said, the cold weather continued to slow the growth of winter wheat. But planting of spring crops "eased ahead" in most Southern states and plowing for corn and soybeans was ahead of normal in several corn-belt states, the report added.

Idaho snow depths present some flood threats

BOISE (UPI) — A snow accumulation report issued Tuesday shows that depths throughout Idaho are near to well above normal and hot weather during April or early May could bring flooding in southern Idaho.

The National Weather Service in the report predicted that for most major Idaho streams there is only a 25 per cent probability of flooding during the May-June runoff period.

However, a much greater threat exists across southern Idaho where an excessive low elevation snowpack has caused a more potential hot weather occurs during April or early May.

Even the drainage with the potential for high volume, rapid runoff are the Big Wood—

Especially at or below Magic Reservoir, the Little Wood River and Fish Creek.

In southeastern Idaho, the potential for flooding exists at Mud Lake, on Willow and Sand Creeks and on the Portneuf River.

Snowfall during March was near normal on the Priest River, Brunce River and Cub River watersheds and above average on all other drainages in Idaho, the report by the Soil Conservation Service, National Weather Service and Idaho Department of Water Resources concluded.

Snow-water equivalent the first of April was above normal throughout the state ranging from 102 per cent of average on the Clearwater River watershed to 204 per cent of normal on the Plulouse drainage.

The Owyhee drainage along the Idaho-Nevada border, recorded 212 per cent of average snow water and the Upper Snake River watershed in Wyoming was 98 per cent of normal.

"In general the snowpack is still accumulating from storms during the first week of April.

Streamflow forecasts for the 1975 seasonal runoff period vary from 98 per cent of average for the Little Wood River drainage to 131 per cent of normal on the Stupple Creek in southeastern Idaho. The outlook for water supply is good to excellent throughout the state.

"The dry soils resulting from the May to November 1974 drought conditions are expected to absorb a portion of the snowwater during the spring snowmelt cycle but, should not appreciably reduce the runoff volumes.

Carryover storage is good, to excellent, and many reservoirs are being lowered in anticipation of good spring runoff.

Valley precipitation during March was near normal in areas north of the Salmon River and much above—more than 150 per cent of normal—across most of southern Idaho.

Field day set

FILER — The Idaho Jolly Polled Hereford Association field day starts at 10 a.m. June 7 at the C.J. Boss Ranch, Twin Falls.

All boys and girls interested in polled cattle are invited to attend the events. There will be judging contests, showmanship competition, weight guessing contest, a halter auction; and a clipping and trimming demonstration.

Officers of this new organization recently elected at Bliss include Bob Miller, Boise, president; Ned Ward, Benburg, vice president; Carol Shepherd, Filer, secretary; and Janette Breeding, Murtaugh, treasurer.

John Coleman, Twin Falls, is adult adviser and all the directors of the Idaho Polled Hereford Association are co-sponsors of the group.

"More information may be procured by contacting Miss Shepherd."

Panels set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture and Commerce Departments have appointed a series of agricultural advisory groups to consult with U.S. negotiators in a major round of international trade talks later this year.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butte said the panels will "provide representation from the agricultural community" in the talks on trade liberalization at Geneva.

Briefs

GENOME — The American Party of Idaho is holding an organizational meeting for Jerome County at Wood's Gate at 9 p.m. Friday. All those who want to help stop "creeping socialism" are invited to attend.

CLARK — The Idaho State Board of Education will receive $497,000 and Nampa-Nyssa growers will receive $6.4 million.

When the checks are received, contracted growers will have been paid the following amounts for each ton of beets delivered to the company last fall: Utah, $43.75. Mini-Cassia, $44.75. Twin Falls, $43.75. Elway, $41.25. The average payment for Nampa-Nyssa districts is $38.75.

Payment variations are attributed to differences in sugar content, Zobel explains.

OSHA harm cited

WASHINGTON — Rep. George Hansen has complained to the Labor Department that western sheep and goat ranchers and Safety Act (OSHA) are causing harmful delays and other complications that threaten the western sheep industry.

In a letter to Labor Secretary John Dunlop, Hansen said Department officials have delayed approval of labor certificates needed by foreign sheep herders before they can work in this country.

Electrologr
Saves water and saves time
even on difficult soils

Portmull loam soil is difficult to irrigate because initially, it resists the moisture, however, once wet, it accepts water readily. The Electrologr wide water pattern allows a longer "soak" time than conventional sprinkler patterns — thus eliminating the "runoff" that occurs by applying water too rapidly. It is another reason why Electrologr's wide water pattern irrigates without runoff on a broad number of soils and terrains.

Storm loss heavy

CHEYENNE (UPI) — The Wyoming Crop and Livestock Reporting Service Tuesday said the recent blizzard caused heavy losses in some areas and the cold, damp weather produced scours and pneumonia among livestock.

"Losses of sheep and lambs were not as heavy as they have been in other recent snowstorms, the service said.

"Nearly one-half of the cows had calved by the end of last week, compared with two-fifths at the same time last year. Farm flocks were about 70 per cent lambled out, also ahead of last year's three-fifths.

Shearing was well ahead of last year with about three-fifths of the farm sheep shorn compared with only two-fifths last year. About 45 per cent of the range sheep had been shorn, more than twice as many as last year. Spring field work was halted last week by the wet fields left by the snowstorm and planting was considerably behind last year's progress. Spring wheat, for example, was only about 3 per cent seeded by the end of last week.

Beet planting lags

NYSSA, Ore. (UPI) — Sugar beet planting is more than two weeks behind in the Boise Valley and growers stand to lose one or two acres per acre for each week's weather delay.

Normally, three-fourths of the crop is planted by the end of the first week in April but this year only about 10 per cent of the beets in the Nyssa-Nampa area have been planted.

A spokesman for the Nyssa-Nampa Beet Growers Association said local growers have agreed on a contract with Amalgamated Sugar Co. using the same scale as last year.

"It is a participating contract and the amount of money depends on the price of sugar," Robert Holmes, Nyssa, vice president of the association, said. "The grower gets 62 1/2 per cent of the sugar dollar."

Crop accord signed

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Sugar beet growers in Idaho's Upper Snake River Valley and in Utah have reached agreement on the sale of their 1975 crop to Utah-Idaho Sugar Co.

The terms of the contract are very close to those for 1974, although a past provision fixing the price to the New York raw sugar price was eliminated because of expiration of the Sugar Act, the parties announced.

A small upward adjustment was made in the increments of the payment scale at some levels of net return, and a decrease was made in the so-called "guaranteed factor."

The new pact was announced by Charles Behrend of Aberdeen, president of Upper-Snake River Valley Beet Growers Association; Paul Holmgren, Bear River City, president of Utah Sugar Beet Growers Association; and Lloyd V. Olsen and C. Dick Anderson, J.'s Idaho and Utah district managers.

Steelhead spawner catch "doubles"

The number of returning steelhead spawners to the Pahsimero river were doubled this week but still remained far short of the numbers needed to maintain the anadromous run. C. R. "Bob" Quidor said a total of 66 steelhead were on hand as of Wednesday compared with 33 last week. However, the ratio of females dropped from 64 per cent to 54 per cent. Water temperature, which governs the movement of the fish, warmed slightly to 45 degrees Monday but dropped again when the mid-week storm came. "It's still early and we're hopeful it will pick it quickly if warm weather comes," Quidor said. However, the weir is running about 90 per cent off of last year's pace, a figure that is just about mirrored in the total returning to the steelhead facilities at Dworshak dam on the Clearwater River.

Burley beats Buhl

BUHL — The Burley Bobcats nipped the Buhl Indians and Minico Spartans in a triangular golf match at the Clear Lakes Course Wednesday. Burley had 326 strokes while Buhl had 330 and Minico 360. Buhl sophomore Glenn Eastman took the medal with a 77. Burley: Hogan 79, Williams 81, Darling 83 and Spencer 83; Buhl — Eastman 77, Perkins 83, Crawford 85, and Dolar 85, and Minico — Hueb 90, Antone 81, Coll 84 and Temple 95.

Utes sign star

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Coach Jerry Pimm announced Wednesday that Cory Leavitt, a 6-foot-9½, all-state center from Cedar City High School, has signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Utah. Leavitt was a unanimous all-state selection, was named most valuable player in the state's Class AA, and made several high school All-America teams.

Bruin smoker tonight

A 12-match program, highlighted by a blindman's bluff free for all, will form the annual tournament when the Twin Falls Bruin Club presents its annual smoker. The number of bouts has been dropped from last year's 19 to a more manageable 12. In the finale, several boys, all blindfolded, will be shoved in the ring and swing wildly until someone calls it off. Tickets will be available at the door and all proceeds going toward purchase of new equipment for the high school athletic department.

Coin flip beats odds

NEW YORK (UPI) — The odds that a coin will land "tails" seven straight times are 127-1, but the Atlanta Hawks correctly called it Wednesday for first pick in the 1975 NBA college basketball draft to be held next month. NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy has flipped seven consecutive coins since 1969 and all of them landed tails. Hawks president John W. Wilcox Jr. made a decision to defy the odds. Wilcox said he called "tails" because it was "a winning tradition and I don't want to upset tradition. The probability of seven straight tail flips can be figured by multiplying two to the seventh power.

Swim records fall

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Three American records were broken Wednesday night during the AAU National Short Course Swimming Championships at Keating Natatorium here. Nancy Garapick, 13, Halifax, Nova Scotia, swam a record time of 2:02.84 in the women's 200-yard backstroke, beating the old record of 2:04 set by Wendy Cook of Vancouver in 1974. Kim Dunson, 17, Dallas, Tex., covered the women's 100-yard breaststroke in 1:05.25. She beat the holder of the previous mark, Marcia Morey, Decatur, Ill. Miss Morey's old mark, set last year, was 1:05.52. Deena Dearnburf, 17, Cincinnati, swam the women's 100-yard butterfly in 1:55.70 to set a new American record. The old record was held by Peggy Tisdal of Mission Viejo, Calif., set last year in 1:55.8.

Kentucky signs trio

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — The University of Kentucky, announced today it has signed three out-of-state high school basketball players to national letters of intent, including prep superstar Bill Willoughby, of Englewood, N.J. Willoughby had signed a conference letter of intent last week. Also signing letters were Bob Fowler of Dearborn Heights, Mich., and Pat Fochi, of Virginia, Minn. Fochi, 6-foot-4½, 195 pounds, averaged 22 points, 19 rebounds and 12 assists per game during his last three years. Fowler is a four-year letterman who averaged 22 points and 16 rebounds per game.

Stram eyes Seattle

SEATTLE (UPI) — Hank Stram, who was named coach of the Kansas City Chiefs following the 1974 National Football League season, was in Seattle Wednesday discussing the possibility of becoming head coach of Seattle's NFL expansion team. Stram talked with Herman Sarkowsky, managing general partner of Seattle Professional Football, the organization that holds the expansion franchise.

Utah center sued

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — An Italian basketball club filed a $557,000 lawsuit Wednesday against Utah Stars forward-center Randy Denton, charging breach of contract. In a civil complaint filed with the U.S. District Court for Utah, Innocent Basketball Club of Milan said Denton broke a contract to play basketball in Italy during the 1974-75 season. Denton subsequently played for the Memphis Sounds and the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association.

USE prospect prospers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Seven-foot high school basketball star Bill Cartwright made it official Wednesday that he is headed for the University of San Francisco. He also announced he might bring another of the nation's most touted stars with him. Cartwright, who attended Elk Grove High School in Sacramento, Calif., announced at a news conference that "I am hopeful that a friend of mine from recent all-star games, namely James Hardy, Jordan High of Long Beach, will sign a letter of intent in the future." Cartwright and the 6-foot-9 Hardy led the California High School Stars to wins against high school stars from the rest of the nation in two games earlier this year.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — It was Jack Nicklaus against the world today when the Masters golf tournament began its 39th run through the azaleas and dogwoods.

That world includes Lee Elder, the first black ever to play in this prestigious tournament. Nicklaus, seeking his fifth Masters crown and 15th "major" championship, was everybody's favorite but his own — and he was just being modest.

"Sure, I should be close, but it's not up to me today. I'm the man to beat," said the 35-year-old king of the golf links. "People had better not overlook Gary Player. He's the defending champion and he's a very real threat anytime, he tees it up." "And how about Tom Weiskopf? He's been close here a lot of times before (second in three of the past six years) and came in here after after winning at Greensboro with some fine golf."

Nicklaus also cautioned that although Lee Trevino has never played well in the Masters, "Lee's quite capable of playing this course if he wants to. He's won other major championships and it's just a matter of time before he gets going here." Oddly enough, Nicklaus did not include Johnny Miller in that group even though Miller has won more tournaments (11) and more money ($450,000) than any other golfer the past 15 months.

"I think Gary and Lee are better golfers than Johnny," said Nicklaus. "As far as I am concerned, winning the major tournaments is the real test. Gary's won eight, Trevino and Johnny only one." Elder has had the lion's share of "attention here this week because of his unique situation and he'll continue to get a lot of attention as long as he plays well enough to stay in the tournament. But Elder has not played well since earning a Masters' invitation last April by winning the Monsanto Open in Pensacola, Fla., and many doubt that he'll make the 36-hole cut, least of all be in contention for the championship. But the 40-year-old Elder wanted it understood that he isn't out to prove anything beyond his ability to play golf. "I've played bad before, and I've played good before, in major championships and in other tournaments," said Elder. "So, no matter how good or how bad I play, it will be for myself and I won't be embarrassed."

Elder was scheduled to tee off at 11:15 a.m. EDT with Gene Tilley, the former U.S. Open champion who came back from a bout with cancer, as his playing partner. Other key tee-off times included Trevino at 11:36, Nicklaus at 12:04; Player at 12:32, and Weiskopf at 1 p.m. Arnold Palmer, only other man besides Nicklaus to win four Masters, finds himself in the role of "sentimental favorite" this year since the 45-year-old Palmer has not won here since 1964.

Being the real favorite here is old hat for Nicklaus. He was the youngest Masters champion when he won for the first time in 1963 at age 23; the only man to win two Masters in a row when he won in 1965 and 1966; and matched Palmer's four victories when he won again in 1972. He has also tied for second twice and for third, fourth and fifth once each. "Jack has been the favorite," said Miller. "He's always the guy to beat, and he plays better than ever in the majors." Trevino agreed with Player and Miller.

Looking for hole-in-one

Notes from the Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Notes on the Masters: Johnny Miller is finding out that success has a price. Last year he had won four tournaments before the Masters, a surprisingly fast start. This year he came in here with three wins. "People act like I'm in a slump," he says. "I used to be that if I finished fourth or fifth, they'd come up to me and say, 'nice going.' Now when I come in fourth or fifth in a tournament they're 'what happened?'" For the record, Miller has finished in the top 10 in six of his nine starts this year and only once — when he missed the cut two weeks ago at the Heritage — has he placed lower than 16th. "I'm playing well enough from tee to green to win here," he says. "I just have to make a few more putts."

Rod Curl, a Wintu Indian who like Lee Elder qualified for the Masters for the first time, agrees with Elder's philosophy about being here. Elder says he's not trying to represent all the blacks, and Curl likewise is playing just for himself. "When I make my million and help my parents make theirs, then I'll worry about it," he said. "I'm just Rod Curl, just a guy trying to make a living." Despite his size (5-5, 155 pounds), Curl is among the longer hitters on the tour and promises that "if I can play in enough Masters, I will finish first, second or third." "There's no rough out there," he said. "I can overpower this course. I feel like Nicklaus when I'm playing good." In a tournament at Jacksonville, Fla., last year, Curl drove the green on the second hole, a 385-yarder. Some of the scores in practice rounds, have been ridiculously low, due in part to the lushness and slowness of the greens. "If the green stay as slow as they are, they'll shoot a lot of low scores in the tournament," says Lee Trevino. "They can cut them as much as they want, but they won't be as fast as they were at Greensboro last week," adds Miller. "They'll be quick — but I don't think they'll be ridiculous, like the U.S. Open at Winged Foot or Oakmont or Merion."

Catholic church resumes form of censorship on religious books

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Church Wednesday reinstated a limited form of censorship on religious books.

The move came in a decree issued by the Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith — successor to the Medieval Inquisition — with the approval of Pope Paul VI.

It replaced old — and much sterner — laws that barred both priests and lay Catholics from publishing any writings about religion or morals without the imprimatur (permission) from their bishop.

The old laws, although technically still in force, had been widely disregarded, ever since the Vatican discontinued its Index of Forbidden Books in 1966 as inadequate in the face of the avalanche of modern literature.

"The new decree fills a vacuum, not of law but of practice, created by the idea that the decisions about the index had gone away with the imprimatur," Jesuit Father Roberto Tucci, director of Vatican Radio, said in a news conference.

Under the new decree:

— Persons wanting to publish the Bible or commentaries on the Bible must secure advance permission from their own bishop or the bishop of the place of publication. If one bishop has denied permission, the other must be informed of that fact. The same rule goes for liturgical and catechism books.

— Anyone is free to write about matters of faith or morals, but it is "warmly recommended" that priests and monks do so only after obtaining their bishop's clearance. In the past such clearance was compulsory for everyone.

— Religious books published without an imprimatur cannot be used as textbooks in Roman Catholic schools or sold or distributed in churches.

— Roman Catholics are not allowed to write in newspapers or periodicals "which manifestly are wont to attack the Catholic religion or morals" unless they gave "just and reasonable grounds" to do so. The old law did not include the word "manifestly" and said the grounds for writing must be approved by the competent individual bishops who may turn if they wish.

— Priests and monks still must seek permission from their bishops to write in such publications.

The decree did not mention any church sanctions against offenders. When asked about this, Tucci said: "I am no canon law expert, but I assume the Church's general laws apply."

The decree said clearance of books rested with individual bishops and each was free to select his own advisers. It said national hierarchies may draw up lists or recommended censors to whom individual bishops may turn if they wish.

Board studies proposal for increased number of classes at TFHS

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The number of high school classes required for graduation would increase under a proposal made to the Twin Falls School Board Tuesday night.

But the number of hours a student spends in classes each year would decrease slightly. High school principal Frank Charlton and vice-principal Norm Thomas proposed that board members adopt the new class schedule that night, before the high school begins registration for classes next year.

But the board, previously unopposed to the schedule proposal, declined to take quick action on the matter. In presenting the schedule plan, Thomas said that currently students at the school have an option of not taking classes the first or sixth (last) period of each day.

This system, in which students attend five classes each day of the week, crowds most classes between second and fifth periods and makes scheduling difficult, Thomas said.

Also, he said, the system is "wasting the usefulness" of six teachers who have to spend an hour presiding over study hall an hour each day, he said.

Under the proposed schedule, students would attend six classes, but each class would meet only four days a week. The school week would still last five days.

That would mean a total of 24 class periods a week, down one from the current 25 periods attended. The extra period on Fridays could be used for assemblies, Thomas said.

In any case, each of the classes would last a full hour instead of 55 minutes, making a loss of 35 minutes per student per week.

To insure that students do not start graduating en masse because of the larger number of classes taken, Thomas said it would be "important" to raise graduation requirements from 40 credits to 44 credits.

This, he said, would make students take two full summer sessions plus a full class load during the regular school year in order to graduate.

Our feeling is that a lot of these kids are not ready to graduate from high school at the age 16 or early into their 17s," he said in support of stricter graduation requirements.

Board member Ruth Day questioned why the district does not go back to a six class, six-period schedule and keep students in class longer. She said some classes like choir, which cannot increase homework, might suffer for meeting only four days a week.

Board chairman Howard Ronk said the board needs a little more time to consider the schedule plan.

Dist. Supt. George Staudacher suggested that the plan might be considered at a special board meeting in two weeks.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today is that of the New Moon, so complete early any projects under way, then plan new undertakings. You have good pioneering instinct now and should see clearly the pathway ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to personal chores important to you now. Later, plan social affairs for the coming week. Improve your appearance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Quietly decide what you want most to do in the future, then get the wheels of fortune spinning. Love favored in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day for sociability, calling on friends, relatives and having a good time, cementing better relations. Know what you want personally.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact bigwigs today who are able to open new doors of opportunity for you. Show that you have what it takes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Complete a project so you have free time for bigger and better activities. An out-of-towner gives good ideas. Listen carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Wind up responsibilities. Count on through with expectations of mate and gain appreciation. Avoid one who is a gossip and troublemaker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Carry through with important responsibilities, and forget new ventures you know little about. Reconcile with opponents for brighter future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Complete routine work before starting new, intriguing interests. Make yourself as attractive as possible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan amusements for p.m. early so you can then devote yourself to putting across creative ideas. Be skillful and think.

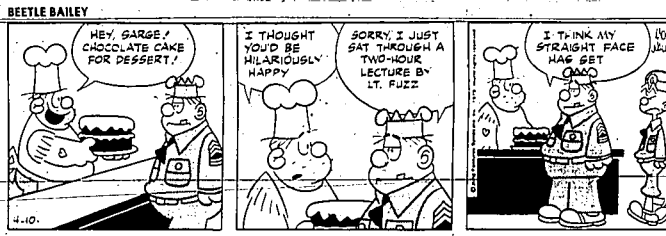

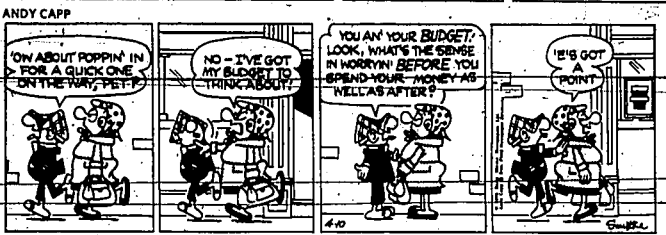

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Many tasks at home require your undivided attention, so get at them early and free your time for new outlets. Establish harmony.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk over with partners how to get ahead faster and then make the most of current opportunities. Get good friend's advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Keep busy early at financial matters. Get into new interests that could be profitable. Listen to what a good adviser suggests.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be most alert and will want to know everything that is going on around him or her. So supervise activities to channel them in the right direction, otherwise your progeny could get caught in the web of wrongdoing and the fine promise here could be ruined. Give good spiritual training early for best results. There could be a fine in this chart.

"The Stars impel, you do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

what's what

L.M. Boyd

British Admiral Vernon back in 1740 always wore a program cloak when at sea. And that was the year, too, when the salty commander first issued a rum and water mix to his sailors. Valerie Stevens told me the foregoing, and said it was because of the cloak that they referred to the concoction as "rog."

MURDER

Q. "What proportion of the people arrested for murder are under age 25?"

A. About 17 out of every 100.

MAYBE YOU'RE not aware that some chicken breeders now are turning out featherless fowl. Literally naked, those birds, they're said to be 16 per cent meatier than the same breed of chickens with feathers. It's unfortunate though understandable, certainly, that they catch cold easily.

CARRY A CAN of cream of tartar in your car, sir. Sprinkle a little on the windshield. Smear it around. Let it set a minute, then wipe clean. It will keep the wipers from smearing for up to 200 miles, I'm told.

JOHN BROWN

Will bet you a quarter on the corner you can't identify the John Brown in that Civil War ditty called "John Brown's Body." No, sir, he wasn't the famous abolitionist hanged after the Harper's Ferry raid. He was simply a soldier who died in combat with the 21st Massachusetts Regiment.

TAILORS of old nourished the superstition that any material cut out on Friday couldn't be sewn up to fit properly. A reasonable notion, maybe. What tailor would want to face the weekend with unfinished work? At any rate, Mrs. Miamie Eisenhower, reportedly held the same superstition when she was in the White House. By her direction, new material was not to be cut out on Fridays there, I'm told.
