Khmer rebels pledge neutrality

By United Press International

Black-clad Khmer Rouge insurgents captured Phnom Penh today, ending five years of war that devastated Cambodia and took the lives of a quarter million persons.

Khmer Rouge leaders pledged a future of neutrality and nonalignment for Cambodia.

Fall of the Cambodian capital closed a painful chapter in American history, but there was no immediate reaction from the White House.

The victorious rebel troops — cheered by crowds of Cambodians waving flags and banners — immediately set up a Revolutionary Liberation Committee in the center of Phnom Penh and fired their generators, government officials and monks to enter their new headquarters under white flags of surrender.

There were some momentary fears for the safety of 2,000 persons, mostly foreigners, who sought refuge in the Le Phnom hotel which the International Committee of the Red Cross designated as a neutral area Wednesday. The Red Cross said soon after the rebel takeover that the insurgents were respecting the neutrality.

It said later that radio contact had been lost with the hotel, and Red Cross officials in Geneva speculated that the Khmer Rouge had entered the building. But the Red Cross representative was able to radio to Bangkok that "all is well."

A "major event" in Phnom Penh has been a bloodbath by rebel forces. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, nominal head of the insurgents, has said many times there would be no bloodbath.

The victorious rebel forces spared government officials Wednesday to negotiate a cease-fire so they could enter Phnom

Penh today "as conquerors." The jubilant insurgents fired shots into the air as they marched through the streets past a sea of white flags or rode in decorated American Jeeps.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from Peking today that Sihanouk announced he will be the chief of state in Cambodia but that direct power will be wielded by Khieu Samphan, commander of the Khmer Rouge forces and a deputy premier in the exile government. Sihanouk said Cambodia would join the nonaligned bloc.

Chau Seng, Sihanouk's chief delegate in Europe, told a Paris news conference the Khmer Rouge regime will be neutralist and unaligned and will allow no foreign bases on Cambodian territory. He said Cambodia will not be a satellite of China or any other neighbor.

He said the new Cambodia had no intention of making a special pact with the Viet Cong even if the Vietnamese Communists seized power throughout South Vietnam.

Radio Phnom Penh said Gen. Chhim Chhuo, the capital military commander, powerful Gen. Lon Non, brother of ex-president Lon Nol who now is in Hawaii, and senior monks from Phnom Penh's largest pagodas responded to the surrender order.

Under white flags, they reported to the rebel-held Ministry of Information, and on the sun-burned grass in front of the ministry the rebels accepted their surrender.

It was not known what happened to those who surrendered, but seven former officials of the last Phnom Penh regime are on the rebel death list.

Minh seeks Saigon lead

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh called on President Nguyen Van Thieu today to resign before Saigon "becomes another Phnom Penh." He spoke as military sources said some North Vietnamese regular troops have been sighted only 10 miles from Saigon.

Minh, leader of the so-called third force which opposes both Thieu and the Communists, was architect of the 1963 coup which overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem. He told newsmen he is ready to head a new government of national reconciliation with the Viet Cong.

American officials on orders from President Ford were organizing a massive evacuation of U.S. citizens from Saigon with a warning that the time to make the break is running out. About 4,000 Americans were reported still in Saigon.

Viet aid gap grows wider

WASHINGTON Star

WASHINGTON — With President Ford's requested deadline only two days off, the administration and Congress were far apart today on what to do about Vietnam, and the cooperative atmosphere was beginning to sour.

Ford continued to insist on $722 million to try to salvage the South Vietnamese military position, but Congress was talking about only $150 or $200 million to transfer Americans. The administration rejected this as inadequate.

In seeking an evacuation timetable, Congress was trying to be sure that Ford's announced intention of reducing Americans in Saigon to only essential personnel would mean using a light enough definition of "essential" to make the number 1,000 or less.

An administration delay in presenting a timetable for reducing the U.S. presence in Saigon to small, easily transported size caused some anger on Capitol Hill. There was even a feeling of deception which focused on the U.S. ambassador in Saigon, Graham A. Martin.

Some members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were unwilling to take any action on Vietnam until a specific reduction timetable was presented. The committee planned to meet this afternoon, after delaying final action on an evacuation bill for $200 million Wednesday for lack of a plan.

The House International Relations Committee was to take up its own version of an evacuation bill Thursday. It would authorize only $150 million.

Neither bill envisaged the removal of many South Vietnamese from their country. The Senate version was drawn more lightly to avoid the commitment of U.S. troops to their evacuation, although some South Vietnamese might come out with Americans.

One hopeful — but faint — note for the administration position came out of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, the Army chief of staff, made a strong personal impression in pleading for the $722 million of emergency military aid for Saigon.

Several Senators said they were impressed with Weyand's appeal and suggested that chances for more military aid might have been improved a little. But the obstacles ahead still looked massive, especially in the House.

today in brief

Senate passes farm support bill
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today passed and sent to the House a scaled-down emergency farm support bill that President Ford has threatened to veto.

The bill was passed by a routine voice vote with only about half a dozen senators in the chamber. A vote in the House is expected next Tuesday.

Connally trial sent to jury
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal jury today began deliberation in the bribery trial of former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

The jury received the case after a charge by U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. that warned them to consider carefully the testimony of Jake Jacobsen, the prosecution's chief witness who said he gave Connally payoffs totalling $10,000.

Cong will allow US evacuation
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Viet Cong representatives in Paris have given assurances that their soldiers fighting in South Vietnam would allow an evacuation of American and Vietnamese nationals from Saigon, a New York congressman said today.

At a news conference, Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y., urged the State Department "to pursue immediately and with diplomatic vigor" the Viet Cong promises.

TF County jobless rate rises
TWIN FALLS — During February, the official Twin Falls County unemployment rate rose to 7.8 per cent of the work force.

There were 1,665 people out of work in February, or 110 more than were out of work in January when the rate was 7.3 per cent. In February, 1974, 5.9 per cent of the work force was jobless in the county. Major employment declines were recorded in construction, which lost 45 workers, and in food processing, which lost 70.

The figures were released today by the local branch of the State Department of Employment.

Vermont rejects presidential primary
MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — The Vermont House today rejected a bill to establish a presidential primary on March 2 — the same day as New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

The defeat was attributed largely to fears that a presidential primary would destroy Vermont town meetings.

Boston cops hope for break in case
BOSTON (UPI) — Police were hopeful for an early break today in their hunt for a stolen $1.5 million Rembrandt portrait.

"We have to be careful because we don't want that painting destroyed. We don't want anyone that's giving us may have given information to be killed," Leroy Chase, a deputy police superintendent, said Wednesday.

The search was centered in the Boston metropolitan area.

3 Demo hopefuls rip HK policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three Democratic presidential hopefuls for 1976 today attacked the foreign policy of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

In addresses to the nation's newspaper editors, Sens. Henry M. Jackson, Wash., and Lloyd M. Bentsen, Tex., accused Kissinger of paying lip service to the concept of bipartisanship in foreign policy but not really seeking to achieve it.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, Ariz., criticized Kissinger for the "siren song" of saying that "America's stature" was "irreparably damaged by events in Southeast Asia."

The three Democrats addressed the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors which was both the host and the guest of President-Ford-Wednesday and which was to hear from Kissinger later today.

Jackson said Kissinger has consistently withheld from Congress vital information about the bargains he has made around the world. Bentsen said Kissinger called for bipartisanship but presented Congress with foreign policy on a take-it-or-leave-it basis "wrapped up with a pink ribbon around it."

All three criticized Ford only moderately and only indirectly. Udall, in fact, praised him for deflating the pumped-up importance of the presidency.

On Wednesday, the editors received a report from his Ethics Committee saying that newspapers may best be able to avoid government supervision by soliciting criticism from outsiders.

The report praised the Concept Press Councils, where persons with a grievance against the press can get a hearing from an outside group of volunteer managers.

Advance proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today the United States must not let reverses in South Vietnam send this nation back into isolationism but rather should proceed confidently to attack a multitude of other worldwide problems.

In a speech for delivery at a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Kissinger acknowledged that many thought U.S. involvement in South Vietnam was "a dreadful mistake" but he was not among them.

In any event, he said, "there has been sufficient heartache for all to share."

Kissinger made no specific reference to Cambodia in his lengthy address, which ran more than 3,000 words, and made it clear that so far as President Ford is concerned the fate of Vietnam rests principally with Congress.

"The Vietnam debate has now run its course," Kissinger said. "The time has come for restraint and compassion."

"The administration has made its case. Let all now abide by the verdict of the Congress — without recrimination or vindictiveness."

Energy sources, policy needed, Montanan says

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

KETCHICUM — The world is headed for trouble if new energy sources are not developed and an energy policy implemented, the manager of Montana Power Co. said here Wednesday.

Dan Regan, speaking before an energy conference sponsored by energy groups and Idaho Power Co., said "nothing is being done to create an energy policy."

(Related story, P. 19)

"All of our viewpoints are so far apart people are thinking our solutions are easy. I think before we take some steps to solve the problem, we're going to be in trouble and it's not too far down the road. By 1980 something must give and I'm not too encouraged it will," Regan said today.

The US, with six per cent of the world's population, is consuming 35 per cent of the energy, Regan said.

"Each of us in 2.5 days consumes as much energy as a person in the lower economic half of the world consumes in one year," he said.

A great portion of the energy we use comes from oil, he said. "If we continue to use energy the way we are, Regan said, the United States will have to import 50 per cent of its oil by 1980.

"And if we have to import 50 per cent of our oil, we're going to have trouble with our balance of payments," he said.

"The US is consuming about 35 million barrels of oil daily, he said. By the year 2,000 if we don't stop, the US will be using 100 million barrels daily."

"If we keep importing we're going to go billions of dollars into deficit," Regan said.

According to Regan the US is facing economic disaster and collapse if the trend continues.

To get all the oil we need, both the east and west coasts of the United States will have to be opened to oil drilling which the people will never allow, he said.

The need for alternate sources — solar, nuclear geothermal, etc. — must be explored immediately.

In addition production efficiency must be improved, Regan said. The US used only 49 per cent of the energy produced in 1960 because of the energy production devices.

In 1970, the US used only 50 per cent of the energy produced because our technology has not discovered a way to efficiently utilize our limited energy resources.

Slush fund reply filed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission said today Northrup Corp. and two other defendants have answered charges that a $30 million slush fund was established by the company for illegal political contributions and payments to foreign agents.

An SEC spokesman said the consent judgments were expected to be filed in the U.S. District Court today.

(Earlier story, p. 8)

A consent decree does not admit guilt but promises not to repeat the disputed action.

New $1 oil import tariff under study

WASHINGTON Star

WASHINGTON — President Ford was to meet today with his chief energy and economic advisers over whether to impose on May 1 another $1 tariff on oil imports — a move that would result in another confrontation between the White House and Congress over national energy policy.

Ford, who imposed a $1 tariff on Feb. 1, postponed levying an additional $1 in tariffs to give Congress time to come up with its own proposal for curbing energy consumption and imports of foreign oil.

Congress, however, has failed so far to come up with such a package.

As a result, administration aides said, Ford will be presented with several options on what to do next to prod Congress into action. One of those would be to stick to his 80-day postponement and raise the tariff by another $1 on May 1, and then by another $1 on June 1.

Thieu ouster call issued

On the worsening military front Communist forces moved their heaviest artillery into the Mekong Delta for the first time and used it to destroy a government naval transport. Large Communist forces also were poised some 23 miles northeast of Saigon.

Minh, who led the 1963 coup that toppled the government of Ngo Dinh Diem, said Thieu's continuation in power would bring the collapse of South Vietnam.

"The present situation is not hopeless. A new government must be held for reporters at Thu Duc, six miles north of Saigon. "Non-Communist Vietnamese can still negotiate a relatively good political solution with the Communists within the framework of the Paris peace accords. But the urgent problem now is that the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu should resign, for the national interest, and in Saigon, there should be a new government which can implement the agreement."

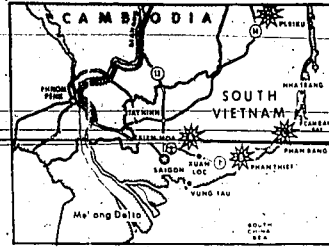

"The remaining time is short," he said. "With the continuation in power of Thieu, very soon Saigon will become another Phnom Penh."

A South Vietnamese government official said the surrender by Cambodian officials to the rebels "was a psychological shock for the army and the people of South Vietnam who have been fighting the Communists" and who have seen two-thirds of their country fall to North Vietnam.

U.S. sources said today that American officials will open a special processing center at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airbase by Saturday to cut through red tape and expedite the evacuation of American citizens and their Vietnamese families.

The official said they will leave on U.S. military flights to the United States. American officials have denied an "evacuation" is underway and said the departure is voluntary.

The source said the creation of the processing center was to aid Americans with Vietnamese families cut through government red tape. However, other nations, including Britain, are reportedly drawing up plans with the U.S. Embassy for a final evacuation of foreigners.

Noose tightens

COMMUNIST forces continue to tighten their ring around Saigon, closing in on Bien Hoa air base (A) and taking Phan Thiet (B). Saigon troops still held Phan Thiet (C), a provincial capital. Soviet bull helicopters were reported at Pleiku (D). (UPI)

Maj. Gen. Homer Smith, the U.S. military attache and the highest-ranking American officer in Vietnam, warned an assembly of Americans Wednesday in Saigon, "I can tell you that the longer you stay here the more difficult it's going to be in terms of you and your families to get out of here."

The U.S. embassy beginning Friday will mount an airlift for retired American military personnel and their families to the United States at no cost.

President Ford ordered that "nonessential" American personnel still in Saigon be withdrawn. While the exact number to be evacuated is not known, it is believed that a sizeable number of the colony of 5,500 Americans will be removed.

Evacuation plans call first for the pullout of retired American military personnel working on defense department contracts as private citizens. Congressional legislation prohibits the use of American soldiers on active duty.

Embassy officials privately voted objections to the evacuation order in the belief it would shatter the morale of a Vietnamese population that has helplessly witnessed a Communist takeover of 18 of the country's 43 provinces, or roughly 60 per cent of this country.

Gen. Smith, however, told the Americans, "I'm not suggesting that if the fall of Vietnam may happen, but, hell, anybody who's got any smarts at all can look at the situation and figure out what kind of risk there is involved."

Settlement taken

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than two years after the original complaint was filed, the Federal Trade Commission has accepted a negotiated settlement with Xerox Corp to end charges the firm monopolized the nation's office copying machine business.

Under the settlement, Xerox agreed to license its patents to competitors and to provide them with all its written know-how on the business.

The FTC had originally reached a tentative settlement in the complaint last fall but rejected it in February, ordering its staff to go back to the company to add some points to the agreement.

The consent order announced Wednesday included several of these additional areas, such as an absolute ban on one of the company's current pricing policies, and a provision that Xerox forgive all liability that persons or firms may have incurred in the past for infringing on Xerox's patents.

HONG KONG (UPI) — The United States' top diplomat in China said today relations between Washington and Peking are in reasonable shape despite difficulties.

Activist attacks US food policy

The standard American diet is unhealthy and contributes to tooth decay, obesity and heart disease, food activist Michael Jacobsen said today.

Kicking off Food Day activities in more than 20 states, Jacobsen said, "Our food policies have been guided by economic interests rather than nutritional or humanitarian interests. We're encouraged to eat foods bad for our health."
Jacobsen is the creator of the Food Day efforts, which are similar to the ecology concern of Earth Day. He is a Washington biologist who began promoting Food Day on a shoestring six months ago to inform the public about hunger, nutrition and corporate power.

He was interviewed on the NBC Today Show.
Food Day activities were scheduled today in many areas ranging from universities to small town fairs.

The project is sponsored by the Center for Science in the Public Interest, a consumer-oriented group who repeatedly has warned against chemical additives in food and poor nutrition habits of Americans.

Ether Peterson, consumer advisor to Giant Food, a Washington-area supermarket chain, proposed in a full page newspaper ad today a "Terrific Ten" program of good foods, including whole wheat bread and vegetables with "crunch."

The nation's Roman Catholic hierarchy joined Food Day observances by calling for an American food policy governed by the needs of the hungry rather than profits.

The Department of Social Development and World Peace of the U.S. Catholic Conference also urged development of a comprehensive national food policy and warned against government promotion of corporate controlled agriculture.

General chairman for the annual meeting was Ruth Scott and the invitation for 1976 was given by Minidoka County.

Experiment denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says allegations it had secretly killed a group of American convicts in a poison gas test in Australia during World War II are "totally unfounded."

Officials said Wednesday the charges, made by a former Australian air force pilot, were a twisted version on an experiment conducted by the Australian government and there were no fatalities.

Earlier in the week John Hampshire said that when he was an Australian pilot he dropped canisters of poison gas on Cairns Island of Australia's Queensland coast on Jan. 21, 1944.

He said a number of American convict volunteers had been brought to the island after being promised that if they survived they would have their freedom. None survived, he said.

A Pentagon spokesman said, "The allegations are totally unfounded. Experiments of the type alleged are contrary to American policy, then and now."

World situation now keeping perspective

(c) N.Y. Times Service. WASHINGTON — The headline on the front cover of this week's Economist of London, which may be the most sensible periodical in the English language, is: "The fading of America"...

The peasant societies of Southeast Asia as it has worked in the advanced industrial societies of Europe; and that the American people, with all their neglected problems at home, would continue indefinitely to support a war they could see on television and all its consequences of inflation, unemployment, and social turmoil.

It is painful for nations, as for individuals, to shed their illusions, but maybe America, and hopefully Europe, has now been startled into reality. The surprising thing here in Washington now is that so many people seem to be surprised by what is happening in Indochina.

had a ruined and helpless Europe at its feet at the end of the last war, but it didn't achieve its political objectives in the West. It made a spectacular alliance with Communist China, but the comrades fell apart. It was defied and even humiliated by Kennedy when it tried to put nuclear missiles in Cuba, and it was the arsenal of the Arab states in the wars against Israel, only to have its military advisers expelled from Egypt.

Campaign leftovers not for personal use

So now it's Bud Davis who has his hand in the campaign pot. Dr. William E. Davis, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the US Senate in 1972 and president of Idaho State University, has taken nearly $17,000 in campaign funds for his personal use.

Times-News reporter Bill Lazarus learned that Davis ended his campaign against James McClure with $16,993 left in his campaign funds. Davis admits he took the money as personal income. He says he paid income taxes on it.

In addition to the $16,993, Davis bought himself two new cars to replace two he owned that were used extensively during the campaign.

Replacing his worn-out cars may make some sense, but taking the additional $17,000 in leftover funds for his own use does not.

Davis defends his action by saying he took leave of absence from his then $30,000-a-year job as ISU president. His last income during the seven-month leave he counts as a "cost" to himself. Additionally, he says, he put some money into the campaign.

We can't accept that line of argument. Candidates are expected to contribute their time and money to their campaigns. When Davis gives himself a rebate on his contributions but fails to do so to the hundreds of supporters who gave their time and volunteer labor to the campaign effort, it suggests a double standard.

Surely if money is to be refunded to donors, including Davis, it should be distributed proportionately to each person who gave. If Davis is going to count his time as a financial contribution, then he should also consider the time of those who helped out, and give rebates accordingly.

One of the most interesting things about the Davis case is that he acted completely legally. Incredible as it may seem, there apparently is nothing in the law to prevent any federal candidate from taking any or all of his campaign contributions for his personal use during or after the campaign.

However there is at least the precedent of Sen. Thomas Dodds who was censured by the Senate for using campaign funds for personal use.

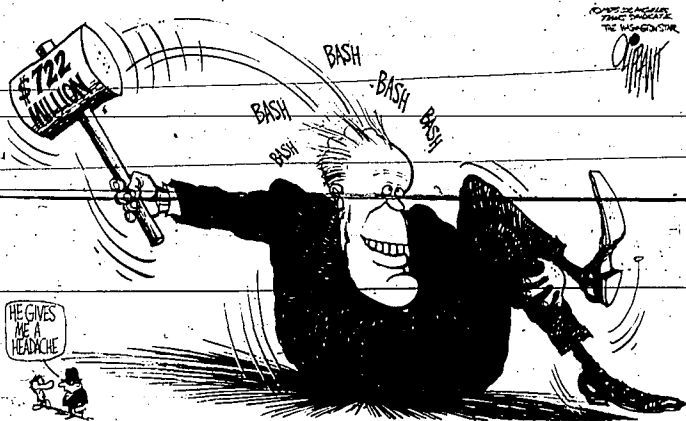

Obviously the laws governing campaign conduct should be tightened to eliminate the Davis loophole.

Davis' action strikes us as ethically questionable.

Fortunately, it will be a fairly easy matter for Davis to correct the situation. He has had a distinguished career in public service and it would be a shame to have it tainted now.

He should immediately refund the $16,993 to those who contributed to his campaign, including himself, on a pro-rated basis. As an alternative, he could give the money to the Democratic Party for future campaigns.

But under no circumstances should Davis keep money for his personal use.

Europe draws together, Moscow pushes detente

WASHINGTON — The Elysee Palace has passed the word that President Valery Giscard d'Estaing may break French policy of the last decade by attending a NATO summit meeting late in May, a message indicating European alarm at the fortunes of the U.S.

The catastrophe of American policy in Southeast Asia coupled with Soviet advances require a shift south of Western unity. There is also reaction in Moscow. So sudden is the U.S. debacle in Vietnam and Cambodia that policymakers here detect changes inside the Kremlin to protect the U.S.-Soviet detente.

U.S. officials trying to grasp the full impact of the worst foreign policy defeat in this nation's history are sure of nothing at this stage, but a consensus is beginning to develop along these lines. The Kremlin was probably shocked as much as the Ford administration by the collapse of the South Vietnamese army.

debacle of Vietnam—underscore a key phrase in Ford's distended speech to Congress last Thursday night. "As long as I'm President," he said, "we will not permit detente to become a license to fish in troubled waters."

EVANS AND NOVAK

Someone needs some encouragement

It becomes obvious about three minutes into the speech that we are going to lose not only South Vietnam and Cambodia, but also President Ford. The Congress' haunting silence, during the periods when Ford advanced his practical proposals; the faint applause that greeted his statement that America must stand by its commitments—all suggested that the President would be listened to and then promptly denied.

heightened U.S. prestige translatable into a stabler and more peaceful world. Thus far, we note, he referred indirectly to the People's Republic of China and to the Soviet Union merely as the "friends" of North Vietnam. A little later in the speech he became more direct. He referred to the same countries in the context of the Indonesian situation, as "our adversaries."

president, looking Congress in the face, said: "We cannot expect the Soviet Union to show restraint in the face of irresolution." And became positively threatening: "We will not permit detente to become a license to fish in troubled waters."

Thought for today

A thought for the day: Ralph W. Sockman, American clergyman, said, "When the dictators and the opportunists are gone, the cross will still stand before us, and something in us will say, 'That is the real thing.'"

WASHINGTON — Every year around tax time I have a fantasy about the IRS. # Study courses behind squabble now in Idaho

Editor, Times-News:
 "MACOS," ("Man, A Course of Study")
 "It's here now for the good people of Idaho!"
 The following is a small sample of what MACOS and the IEA (Idaho Education Association) has in store for your children.
 With the permission of the Times-News — and I'll bet it with reluctance that they print it — I want to quote a few things of interest from the Idaho Statesman and from the new "West Virginia Textbooks" now being used in Idaho.
 According to the Idaho Statesman April 12 page 15, the IEA wants the parents to let them decide what's best to teach your children.
 "York said, and I quote, "The public can trust Idaho's teachers to use judgment and common sense."
 Also, "Teachers should be in the best position, with expertise gained from training and experience, to know what materials students of a given age can handle."
 "America Reads Series by Scott Foresman in Outlook through Literature (Grade 9, teacher's research book) page 3 offers your children the following, from article on censorship and the values of friction Tells of profanities, the phrase F— you, repeatedly used.

 A schoolboy's visit to a prostitute, page 3 "Those Goddam little bastards," Christ, man."
 "No sh—t."
 "Galaxy Series" by Scott Foresman Company, "Trust," teaches disregard for governmental authorities, stealing, beating, shooting, hate and lying.
 In the text, it is depicted in a bad way.
 "Perspective": The theme is violence, hatred of different races, murder, dope, drinking, disrespect for parents and older people.
 "Compass": It offers you the joy of cursing, taking God's name in vain, page "on a Saturday afternoon" the story of a 19-year-old boy who was helping a man to hang himself. In the Statesman York stated, "The State Board of Education has stood alone on the firing line," defending academic freedom and textbook selection.
 These self-appointed martyrs are on the firing line alright, against the dominance of the parents.
 We should put them on another firing line, one that will hit them in the pocketbook!
 Another thing we can do is to have them arrested on the charge of "contributing to the delinquency of minors." Unless of course this is what you want for your children.
 There are quite a few people that made the statement that the Times-News would be afraid to print this, I believe they will.

HENRY KISSINGER ... still in control

Henry survives attack on jobs

© Washington Star
 WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has survived an effort by some White House aides to loosen his grip on U.S. foreign policy, according to administration sources.
 The attack on Kissinger was carried out on two fronts — an attempt to steer President Ford away from Kissinger's viewpoint in his state-of-the-world speech last week and a bid to force Kissinger out of his job as head of the National Security Council — these sources said.
 Both efforts failed. The speech was vintage Kissinger and the White House announced Tuesday that he will remain as both secretary of state and N.S.C. chief at least through the fall of 1975.
 The sources said the attempt to reduce Kissinger's influence on the nation's foreign policy was engineered mainly by White House Chief of Staff Donald Rumsfeld and also by the press secretary, Ron Nessen and other presidential assistants.
 One result of the effort was the firing of Assistant Press Secretary Louis Thompson. The sources said Thompson was dumped in order to assuage Kissinger after he learned "of the campaign against him."
 Thompson was blamed for leaking a story last week to the effect that Kissinger might lose his N.S.C. post, a job that is important to Kissinger because it gives him a position in the White House and an office near Ford's in the West Wing.
 But Thompson was merely a scapegoat, the sources said, as it was actually Nessen who leaked the story about the possibility that Kissinger might lose the coveted N.S.C. post.
 Nessen, in an interview Tuesday, emphatically denied that he was the source of the leak, which was given to C.B.S. news correspondent Bob Schaffer. Nessen also said that there was no "cabal" of White House aides who tried to undermine Kissinger.
 "News stories about a rift between White House aides and Kissinger were described by Nessen as "a maze of confusion and inaccuracy." He said that the whole thing was generated by the press.

 "It has no relationship to what's happening in the White House," Nessen asserted. Rumsfeld also has denied that there is any friction between himself and Kissinger.
 The sources provided a scenario of the effort to diminish Kissinger's hold on U.S. foreign policy, a picture that Nessen said was "totally false."
 The campaign was begun because the White House aides felt that for political and other reasons President Ford should begin to put some distance between himself and Kissinger. If only because Kissinger's policy has suffered numerous setbacks around the world recently.
 The aides tried to convince Ford to make a departure from past policy in his foreign affairs speech to Congress, but Kissinger worked closely with the president and kept Ford in agreement with his viewpoint on such matters as Indochina.

Inflation pinch nips US police

© Washington Star
 WASHINGTON — Police department budgets throughout the country are feeling the increasing squeeze of inflation — but it may not be as tight as for many other agencies.
 More than 100 police chiefs, mayors and city, state and county officials in a meeting here Tuesday sponsored by the Police Foundation, told in speeches, interviews and panel discussions how they are caught — between a sharply rising crime rate and sharply increased pressure on their police budgets.
 But Sam Zagora, director of Labor-Management Relations Service operated by the National Association of Cities, Mayors and Counties, said police seem to be relatively better off than many other city agencies in the competition for dollars.
 "The police are still benefiting from the support they had during the periods of the urban riots," Zagora said.
 For some city officials, this public support for the police has eased problems of its own.
 In Salt Lake City, public officials "have headed off pressure to cut the police force to hold down the city budget, but they are not sure how long they can hold out if costs keep going up."
 "It would be a tragic mistake to cut the force," Chief Dewey J. Phillips said.

'Tax reform' overworked

Editor, Times-News:
 One of the most over-worked gimmicks in politics is "tax reform."
 The refunding of a minute portion of collected taxes is not a reform in any sense. The same loopholes and built-in escapes are still there that every year lets corporations and individuals of great wealth escape with no or only token taxation.
 The tax exempt trusts, foundations, benevolent societies, the juggling of funds among subsidiary companies that exist only on paper and a hundred other protected plans are still there. The politician goes home smug in the knowledge that enough of the gullible have been pacified to guarantee re-election.
 "Thy duke takes his tiny kickback and pays the bill collector or indulges in an extra six-pack of old scotch snoot. The auto dealer comes up with this gem, that it will be used as a down payment on a new car. How silly can you get?"
 Let us repeat. A refund is not a reform in taxes and a rebate is not a lowering of excessive profits or markups. A rebate of 10 per cent on an item that has been marked up 56 per cent from cost of as in many cases as much as 200 per cent, or the rebate of $500 on a car that has depreciated on the blue book by $1000 is welcome but only temporary.
 In government the hordes on federal and state payrolls will continue to proliferate and those on welfare and appointive offices (the same thing) are outstripping the rise in productivity.

Nationally these little pacifiers mean government bidding for money needed in agriculture, housing, for capital needed in every phase of economic life.
 Tell the next pol who claims or explains to go slow on the curves. Congress didn't save you a dollar or give anything, just bought a little time. The refund and the rebate both may be welcome but either are on a par with a free toothpick with a $25 grocery order.
 And do you know? Almost 100 per cent of those defeated or removed in last elections are safely cared for in plush no sweat jobs, ranging from $27,500 to $32,000. The ambassadorships have been filled and the big contributors rewarded or indicted. All's well in the castle and the geese hangs high.
 And this disturbing thought intrudes. A survey before us states that 86 per cent of those in government would be totally unfit to hold office either in industry or agriculture, the basics of our nation.
 You may say such knowledge isn't necessary, that these men can obtain all necessary information from "authorities" in those fields.
 Have you ever listened to or read the mandarinisms of experts and then compared later with what actually happened? The old gag "He knew more and more about less and less until he knew nothing about everything" just about sums up the total of such reliance.

Saigon given some arms aid items

© Washington Star
 WASHINGTON — Some items on the $722 million list of emergency military aid for South Vietnam have already been sent to Saigon, although Congress seems likely to reject the aid request.
 According to informed sources, some of the most urgent arms supplies on the list have been sent by a juggling of military aid books. They have been charged to the remaining funds in this fiscal year's military assistance appropriation for South Vietnam.
 Such things as medical supplies from the 1975 fiscal year aid program have been held up so that more critical things can be rushed to bolster the defenses of Saigon, the sources said.
 The administration is hoping that Congress will vote for the $722 million in emergency military aid which President Ford asked for last Thursday, and then the books can be straightened out by putting the critical items into that appropriation while reinstating the scheduled fiscal year 1975 supplies.

 But if Congress balks at the emergency aid, as virtually all Capitol Hill observers expect, then it might not make such difference anyway. Saigon would then be expected by officials here to fall and whether the last drops of 1975 aid went for armaments or medical supplies would not leave complications for future bookkeeping.
 The $722 million figure was put on a list of urgent needs worked out in Saigon two weeks ago by Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, the army chief of staff, and Erich Von Marbod, the Pentagon supervisor of aid to Indochina. Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger testified before Senate committees Tuesday on the need for the aid.

Ford stalls rail strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A possible national railroad strike has been stalled for 60 days by action of President Ford.

Ford Wednesday created an emergency board to forestall the strike, which was to have begun Friday.

The board will investigate a contract dispute between the National Railway Labor Conference, composed of most of the nation's railroads, and employees represented by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

The union had announced that its members would walk out at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

Ford acted under provisions of the National Railway Labor Act, which authorizes establishment of a presidential emergency panel to conduct an Inquiry when a dispute, in the judgment of the National Mediation Board, threatens to deprive a section of the country of essential transportation service.

Ford named Washington labor arbitrator Alexander B. Porter as chairman of the board. Others named on the panel were James M. Harkless, attorney and labor arbitrator, and the Rev. Francis X. Quinn of the Temple University School of Business Administration and a Philadelphia labor arbitrator.

Ford ordered the board to report its findings by May 16. The Union and Railroads then will have 30 more days to consider the report and to attempt to resolve their differences.

Reveals plans

PRESIDENT Ford tells the American Society of Newspaper Editors at the Sheraton Hotel, Washington, D. C., Wednesday that he has ordered the evacuation of all "nonessential American personnel" from South Vietnam.

"I don't think we can blame the Soviet Union, and the People's Republic of China for supplying North Vietnam," Ford said.

"If we had done with our allies what we had promised, I think this whole tragedy could have been eliminated."

Most of the questions centered on South Vietnam and Cambodia. Ford said Prince Norodom Sihanouk is "in no position" to negotiate a Cambodian settlement. He said leaders in Phnom Penh had asked for a ceasefire and that the United States would do what it could to get a negotiated settlement.

He disclosed that he had ordered evacuation of all nonessential American civilians in South Vietnam.

Ford said he would be reluctant to make public the confidential exchanges between former President Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu during the peace negotiations. He insisted no secret commitments were made to South Vietnam that differed in substance from Nixon's public policy statements.

He likened the situation in Vietnam to "the last minute of the last quarter of the game."

Ford says US arms aid request could halt war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, contending the United States has an obligation to South Vietnam, says he is "absolutely convinced" that the $722 million in arms aid he requested would lead to a negotiated settlement of the war.

"The United States did not carry out its commitment in the supplying of military hardware and economic aid to South Vietnam" in the same way that Moscow and Peking backed Hanoi, Ford said.

"I wish we had," he said. "I think if we had, this present tragic situation in South Vietnam would not have occurred."

Displaying his frustration Wednesday in a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Ford said, "The human tragedy of South Vietnam just makes me sick every day I hear about it, read about it, and see it."

"I am absolutely convinced if Congress made available $722 million in military assistance" in a few days "the South Vietnamese could stabilize the military situation in South Vietnam today."

He said the United States had an obligation to South Vietnam, and that the $722 million in arms aid he requested would lead to a negotiated settlement of the war.

Four-day truce remains shaky

BEIRUT (UPI) — Sporadic rifle fire today threatened a shaky truce ending four days of fighting between Palestinians and right-wing militiamen which left almost 400 persons dead or wounded.

But the government-arranged ceasefire, which went into effect Wednesday night, appeared sufficiently stable to allow residents to venture into the streets.

Banks, schools and many stores remained closed, but some businesses and smaller shops reopened. A few cafes and restaurants served customers, but kept their pavement tables and chairs stacked.

Taxis and private cars crowded some streets, clogged with tons of uncollected garbage, but municipal buses remained out of the road.

At one of the main trouble spots, the Tal Zanter refuge camp, a Palestinian spokesman said, "It's been all quiet."

In neighboring Chiyeh, scattered small arms fire still kept people indoors.

Premier Ibrahim Sakh, who announced the truce between the Palestinians and right-wing Phalangists, said it would be enforced with an "iron fist" by Lebanese security forces.

New CIA charter urged by author

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clark Clifford, one of the men who wrote the Central Intelligence Agency charter in 1949, has urged Congress to write one.

Clifford also urged a congressional CIA oversight committee and, without being more specific, said "I also outlined what I believe were improvements in the intelligence system."

Speaking to reporters after two hours of testimony before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, Clifford said:

"My major recommendation was that the act creating the CIA, which is more than 20 years old, has become obsolete. I believe that Congress would be doing a public service if they would create a new law."

Clifford denied that either President John F. Kennedy or President Lyndon B. Johnson ever recommended that any foreign head of state be assassinated by the CIA.

"There is no merit for the charge," he said.

"In seven years on the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, I never heard any charge that the United States was engaged in the assassination of any foreign head of state."

Clifford worked for Democratic Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Kennedy and Johnson. LBJ made him defense secretary.

Glomar Explorer mission queried

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Glomar Explorer, the CIA ship that plucked part of a Russian submarine off the bottom of the Pacific Ocean, has put to sea again, presumably to release plans to retrieve the rest of the sub.

The ship sailed Wednesday afternoon. There were unconfirmed reports that its companion in the recovery operation, the huge HMB-1 barge, was to be towed from its berth at Redwood City, Calif., to rendezvous with the Glomar Explorer at sea.

The ship was built, at an estimated cost of $400 million, under the cover story that it was financed by billionaire Howard Hughes and designed for exotic undersea mineral prospecting and recovery.

Over the past several months, the story leaked out that the CIA designed, financed, built and staffed the ship to recover a Russian submarine that sank 700 miles north of Hawaii in 1968.

Reports attributed to intelligence sources said the operation succeeded in recovering a third of the submarine last year.

The Los Angeles Times reported earlier this month that the whole submarine had been raised a mile off the ocean bottom, a third of the way to the surface, when the giant claw that gripped the sub broke, and two thirds of the ship sank again.

North Carolina aides reject ERA

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — The North Carolina Legislature Wednesday eliminated any possibility of passage of the proposed equal rights amendment in 1975, rejecting it by a 63-57 house vote.

Thirty-four states have ratified the proposed 27th amendment, which would prohibit discrimination based on sex, and 38 must approve it before it can become part of the Constitution.

Only Illinois, Missouri and Florida are still actively considering ratification this year.

"It's dead in North Carolina, it's dead in 1975," said Peggy Lampi, executive director of the League of Women Voters, in Washington.

"If we get two or three more out of the ones alive, I have no question but what it'll pass next year."

The deadline for ratification is March, 1979. By failing to receive final ratification this year, the ERA will set a record of having been considered longer than any previous amendment.

In other states:

- Florida: The senate rules committee, its all-male membership now split 9-8 against ERA, will vote Tuesday on whether to put the amendment on the floor. The state house approved ERA last week by three votes.
- Illinois: The house judiciary committee voted 18-2 Wednesday in favor of ERA, but the big question to be taken up next week on the floor is whether house leaders will require a three-fifths vote, instead of a simple majority, for final passage. The senate sent a three-fifths requirement has kept the amendment stalled in Illinois.
- Missouri: Hundreds of persons on both sides of the issue crammed a state senate committee session Wednesday as it deliberated whether to send the house-passed ratification to the senate. Carolyn Bond, wife of Gov. Christopher Bond, sent a statement supporting the amendment.
- Louisiana: Rep. Edward Booker said Wednesday he will introduce a bill to rally ERA when the legislature convenes next week. Louisiana has rejected ERA three times in the past three years.

SEC files charges against Northrop

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission filed suit Wednesday accusing the Northrop Corporation of maintaining a secret slush fund of $30 million for political and other purposes, at least some of them illegal.

The company immediately announced that it had agreed to settlement of the suit.

The amount of money involved in the alleged fund was the largest that any company has so far been accused of maintaining for such purposes and was many times larger than the $1.2 million that the company had previously admitted maintaining as an illegal fund from which political contributions were made.

The SEC's complaint alleged that the $30 million fund was used in many ways as 17 Air Force in 1972. Its total assets were some $109.9 million. The industry's leader, Boeing Co. has assets of more than $2 billion.

ultimate illegal uses, has been admitted by company officials in affidavits filed in Los Angeles in connection with a stockholder suit against the company.

—Jones and Allen and the company all pleaded guilty last year to making illegal contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign in 1972.

Documents on file in the California lawsuit also name as beneficiaries of the company's illegal contributions the 1968 Presidential campaign of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and candidates of both major political parties for senator and governor in California.

None of the earlier disclosures came close to naming the $30 million figure

Policy prepared

BOISE (UPI) — John G. McMillan, chief executive officer of Northwest Pipeline Corporation, said Tuesday the Canadian government is in the process of restoring a policy that "might improve our curtailment situation from Canada."

McMillan told the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce that Canadian stabilization could come in the next 30 to 60 days.

Referring to deregulation, the pipeline executive said the intrastate markets can pay up to fourfold what we're allowed (by the Federal Power Commission) to pay for wellhead gas. We are fortunate that an intrastate market has not developed along our system."

US Court backs ethics committee proceedings

© Milwaukee News Service
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of ethics committee procedures that are used in most states to investigate and, if necessary, to suspend attorneys and physicians from practice.

The unanimous decision, by Justice Byron White, upheld the procedure utilized by the Wisconsin medical board to conduct an investigation and then to pass judgment against a physician accused of using a false name in his medical practice.

The decision reversed a U.S. district court ruling that the Wisconsin medical board procedures had violated fundamental "due process" guarantees because the board both investigated the charges and judged them.

The Supreme Court said that each malpractice case and the procedures for handling it should be looked at on a case by case basis to determine whether board members have any direct conflicts of interest in being both investigators and judges.

"But White went on to say that the justices were rejecting 'the bald proposition applied in this case by the (U.S.) district court that (medical) agency members who participate in an investigation are (automatically) disqualified from adjudicating the case.'"

"Without a showing to the contrary," White said, "state administrators are assumed to be men of conscience and intellectual discipline, capable of judging a particular controversy fairly."

"It is not surprising therefore to find that state and federal courts have rejected the idea that the due process of law is violated by the denial of due process."

The court noted that the whole Wisconsin procedure fulfilled other due process safeguards because the physician was given a hearing while accompanied by his attorney. If the board finds there is reason to pursue the matter, then a second hearing takes place. Again the physician is accompanied by counsel.

The Wisconsin procedure of having a state ethics committee is the most common method of disciplining physicians and attorneys.

In some states, the bar association or medical board has what amounts to final power to bar an attorney or a physician from practice. In others, the board issues a suspension order which is then reviewed by the courts; but even this type of judicial review generally is limited.

In the Supreme Court, for example, automatic suspension takes place when a state ethics committee has disbarred an attorney. The attorney is given 60 days to contest the charge. Rarely does the Supreme Court intervene.

The Wisconsin case involved Dr. Duane Larkin who, the board claimed, had practiced medicine in the state under the alias of Glen Johnson and who, the board claimed, had split fees and permitted an unlicensed person to perform abortions.

After conducting an initial investigation, the board then conducted a hearing with Dr. Larkin's attorney present. It concluded there was "probable cause" to believe that Dr. Larkin had engaged in unethical conduct and asked local prosecutors to initiate action to suspend his license to practice.

At this point the U.S. district court entered the dispute, enjoined the board from any further action and gave 60 days to contest the charge. The Wisconsin procedure is the most common method of disciplining physicians and attorneys.

Evacuees ousted

© N.Y. Times Service
BANGKOK, Thailand — Thailand, in a further indication of her shifting foreign policies, announced Wednesday that all Cambodian refugees fleeing here by the United States in recent days must leave the country within 30 days.

Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan also announced that foreign ministers of the Association of Southeast Asian nations would meet in Kuala Lumpur May 13 through 15 to discuss the Indochina situation.

AT&T defies split order

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The millions of persons who own AT&T have voted by a 39-to-1 margin to back the firm's executives against the Justice Department's demand that the huge corporation split itself up into competing companies.

More than 5,000 of the 3 million AT&T shareholders attended the telephone giant's annual meeting Wednesday.

The stockholders, getting one ballot per share held, voted against a proposal to accede to the federal demand and save the legal cost of a lengthy and expensive court battle. The vote, mostly by proxy, was 376.3 million to 12.2 million.

The Justice Department's antitrust action demands that AT&T divest itself of its Western Electric subsidiary, which manufactures most of the equipment it buys.

"When the antitrust suit was announced, we made it clear from the outset that we would fight it," the Chairman of the Board John D. DeButts told the stockholders.

Tube aids heart patch

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Doctors said today they patched a hole in the heart of a 17-year-old girl without using general anesthesia and without resorting to open-heart surgery. They said it was a historic first.

Ochsner Foundation Hospital said a surgeon and a heart specialist implanted a steel and dacron umbrella-like device in the heart of Suzette Marie Cropp of New Orleans on April 8. She is in fine condition, the hospital said.

The hospital said doctors made a small incision in her right leg and passed a catheter, or tube, through a large vein leading to her heart to correct the defect, a hole in her heart's wall, she was born with.

At the end of the catheter was a capsule containing two small umbrellas an inch and a half in diameter when opened.

By manipulating the controls of the device outside her body, the two umbrellas expanded on either side of the defect between the upper chambers of her heart, sealing the hole and making it unnecessary for her to undergo open-heart surgery.

"The procedure could eliminate the need for open-heart surgery to correct certain heart defects in children," the hospital said.

The 90-minute medical procedure was carried out by Dr. Terry King, a pediatric cardiologist, and Dr. Noel Mills, a cardiovascular surgeon. Although the entire procedure took 90 minutes, doctors needed but seven minutes to actually implant the umbrellas.

The hospital said King and Mills were developing several of the devices to correct three separate types of heart defects.

No brutality at Idaho prison, but 10 recommendations listed

BOISE (UPI) — A special commission appointed to investigate complaints of inmates at the Idaho State Prison said today it found no brutality or inhumane treatment and the institution could become one of the "finest" in the nation.

The commission of three out-of-state correctional officers, one Idaho newsman and Attorney General Wayne Kidwell reported to Gov. Cecil L. Andrus that problems did exist at the prison and made 10 recommendations to correct them.

"Many of the inmate complaints have substance, or at least raise a problem that deserves specific attention," the report said. "However, in the interest of placing the complaints in perspective it is important to note that they are the complaints of confined and therefore frustrated men."

Kidwell, chairman of the commission, said that the two week investigation was not enough time to come up with "all the answers" but that he felt the recommendations that the commission had made would be of real help.

Thanking the commission, the governor said he believed that the recommendations were "good and will help a great deal."

Commissioner Member G.E. Sullivan, superintendent of the Oregon State Correctional Institution, Salem, said it was the most relaxed institution he had seen throughout the country and that it had a chance of becoming "one of the first institutions in the nation."

He said that it was more permissive and lacked the type of control he would like to see.

Roger Maxwell, Assistant Director, Adult Corrections Division for the State of Washington, said that the board of corrections should now be given a chance to implement the recommendations.

Maxwell said even under the "best of conditions" it was "complex and difficult" to run a correctional institution.

He said already many of the recommendations of the commission had been implemented. He said "by large the report is good."

although he added that he had not had a chance to study it thoroughly since he received a copy of it just before it was made public at a news conference in the governor's office.

The report noted that the institution was less than a year old and "full maturity of an institution operation does not just happen; it is clearly an evolutionary process, dynamic and change-oriented even after being well established."

"In such newness, the polish and purr of a well established operation are absent; adjustments, trial and error processes exist daily to work through."

The report said it was "crucial" that the director of corrections be involved in "assuring the establishment of his goals, objectives, philosophies and policies."

"During the critical period of development and adjustment, the director of corrections and the warden need to function very closely together as a team," the report added. "As future months unfold, and the director of corrections withdraws from the institution scene, he should continue to follow his present policy of availability and accessibility to both staff and inmates to assure clear avenues of appeal for any grievances which might arise."

Idaho newsman jailed

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Jay Shelledy, a Lewiston Morning Tribune reporter, was ordered to jail for 30 days Wednesday because he refused to identify a police source he quoted in a 1972 news story. The judge stayed execution of the sentence pending an appeal.

Shelledy went before Second Judicial District Judge Roy Mossman in Moscow and refused to identify a police source he quoted in a news story that has resulted in a libel suit against the Lewiston Morning Tribune.

Opening delayed

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Superintendent Jack Anderson Wednesday said recent spring snowstorms may delay the scheduled May 1 opening of Yellowstone National Park.

Anderson said crews are working on the Grand Loop Road in the Lake Area, racing the target date to open the roads for tourists. Crews this week will also begin plowing from the lake to the east and south entrances.

"The deepest snow on the park roads is encountered on Sylvan Pass and through the Lewis River Canyon where depths may reach twenty to twenty-five feet," he said.

Anderson said the spring storms delayed snow removal by three to four days and crews haven't even reached the toughest going.

One of three questions the reporter was asked in the court appearance was the name of the police expert he quoted in news story in November 1973. A $60,000 libel suit was brought by Michael Caldero against the Tribune because of the story.

The story concerned Caldero's actions while an undercover investigator when he wounded a suspect in a drug bust in north Idaho. Shelledy's story said the police expert was critical of Caldero's action.

In the court hearing Wednesday Shelledy refused to identify the so-called police expert on the grounds the First Amendment to the Constitution allows him to keep such information confidential. He also said that he believes keeping a promise is more important than the libel suit issue.

Survivors recall 1906 earthquake

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gladys Todd, 84, remembers the morning April 18, 1906, when America's worst earthquake swayed her three-story frame house like a strong wind.

"I'd never seen an earthquake before. I thought it was the wind coming through the Golden Gate," she said.

After shocks jolted her off the bed as she tried to pull on her stockings.

Brick buildings down the street crumbled. Fires started by broken electrical and gas connections ravaged the city for days.

The San Francisco quake and resulting fire left 250,000 persons homeless — more than half the population. An estimated 452 died.

"We had a roomer who slept through the whole thing. Men can sleep through anything," Mrs. Todd said during an annual reunion of earthquake survivors.

Thirty elders living in the Victorian Hotel Wednesday commemorated the anniversary of the worst earthquake in the history of the United States. At least 20 of them lived in San Francisco during the earthquake 69 years ago.

The quake registered 8.3 on the Richter Scale and was the most destructive in the recorded history of North America.

"I was 15. I said to mother, 'The wind must be shaking the house,'" Mrs. Todd said. "My mother said, 'Wind nothing! It's an earthquake! Hurry up and get dressed!'"

George Fagan, 82, was in St. Vincent's Orphanage, 15 miles across San Francisco Bay in San Rafael, not far from the jagged San Andreas fault line which slipped along a 270-mile course, offsetting roads, fences, buildings, water and gas pipes by as much as 21 feet.

"All the candles in the chapel fell over. After the fire (in San Francisco) we couldn't see the sun for two weeks. Ashes fell in our courtyard."

Two months later Fagan was taken to the train station in San Francisco.

"All of Market Street was black in ashes — and soldiers everywhere. There was nothing left."

In the days of chaos which followed the first great shock at 5:13 a.m., an area of more than 2,500 acres was burned, destroying 490 city blocks.

Nearby at San Jose, an insane asylum collapsed, killing 117 patients and attendants. Fifty persons lost their lives at Santa Rosa.

DEAR ABBY: My younger brother and his wife are both 23. I guess you could call them "hippies." They live in a large house in the country with a lot of other hippies. My brother's wife is expecting her first baby in a few months, and she plans to have it at home with the others in the home "helping." Another woman who lives in the home is having a baby next month, and they expect to learn everything they need to know then. Although both these kids are bright and not ruined by drugs, they won't listen to any "old wives' tales" or to their lab technician brother-in-law about the dangers of this. My brother's wife is Rh negative. They say they live only 10 minutes from a hospital, and that's enough. Can you give me some good arguments for convincing them not to go through with their plan? What do your medical advisers say?

They won't listen

DEAR J: I agree that this young couple are foolish not to have a prenatal examination to be sure that the mother can anticipate a reasonably normal birth process. Failure to do this could endanger the lives of both the mother and the new infant during birth. The couple are seriously underestimating the possible problems and complications that could arise if they think that watching one delivery will teach them "everything they need to know." There is nothing wrong with wanting to have the delivery at home, but they would be well advised to at least have an experienced midwife present to assist them.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

WORRIED IN CHICAGO

DEAR WORRIED: No. But it's a good beginning.

DEAR ABBY: You once remarked that a woman of 65 was not exactly an ancient relic yet—or words to that effect. Well, that is my age, and that is also my feeling. I am presently keeping company with a very fine gentleman. He is refined, cultured, lonely—and 80-years-old.

I could be interested in him if I were sure we could have a "real" marriage. My problem is how to find out. What do you think, Dear Abby? I have heard men in their 70's and 80's boast that they are as "young" as they were 30 years ago, but of course I never knew whether they were telling the truth. Is it possible?

I wouldn't want to marry a man who could do nothing but talk. Don't use my name please. Everybody here knows me. NO GAMBLER IN NEVADA

DEAR NO: It is possible for a man to be sexually active as long as he lives—no matter how old he is. But the only way you can find out if you can have a "real" marriage with this cultured gentleman is to ask him. And pray that he's not just another "talker."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE GRADUATE"—Do not send out an "announcement" each time you earn a degree. Your family and close friends will know, and the others might get the idea that you are bragging by degrees.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received by the library.

"The Box Man" by Kobo Abe, Japan's foremost contemporary novelist, has created an anonymous "Box Man" and raises the question if you throw away all the appurtenances of the compulsory life, will freedom of total security be found. This is a fantastic and chilling novel that will find you prying yourself to see how much you are reflected in the Box Man's feelings and actions.

"Promise of Joy" by Allen Drury. The president is confronted by the awesome challenge of a very real threat of war between Russia and China. The course he must pursue to bring America and the world safely through this crisis makes this political novel a major literary work.

The author brings to a close the political saga that began with his Pulitzer prize winning "Advise and Consent" and poses the question, "Is there a promise of joy" for nations and individuals and if so, how can it be achieved in a world that seems hell bent for destruction.

"The Runner" by Malcolm Boyd. Boyd writes movingly and honestly about the runner. — Jesus Christ. With "refreshing simplicity" the runner "meets the "Runner" and the confrontation ends in rejection; the runner turns away.

The book opens with three graphic and frightening scenes portraying the mental torment, confusion and alienation which follows.

The author says, "Wherever possible, the book attempts to communicate ageless truth in fresh images and words that cannot be dismissed as familiar stereotypes. We must address these things with rudiments or faith, trying not to suggest a course or fact that evokes an automatic response from well-trained people. Instead we must confront individual persons with a Person."

"A Separate Journey" by Carlos Castaneda. Castaneda goes deeper still into Don Juan's world of mystical sensation and perception, to learn to see beyond the surface realities of life, partly with the aid of drugs, but finally and essentially through a supremely "difficult" and demanding effort of will.

This is a powerfully moving, deeply felt dialogue between two very different men: the old sorcerer Don Juan, sardonic, intuitive, stoic, wise, demanding, fierce in his emotions but triumphant in his control over them and in his self-willed struggle to see and know beyond the vision of ordinary men, and the author, a man of extraordinary courage and intelligence who dared to submit himself to Don Juan's teachings, to enter into his world as a participant rather than a mere observer.

"Laisee" by Dawn Stewart Field. This is a big fascinating story set against the tableau of the War of 1812. The beautiful heroine is the Baroness Laisee Von Doring, who comes to America in search of a new life. Behind her are the ravages of the Napoleonic wars and the death of her fiancé.

She is warmly welcomed into the bosom of the Morris family in Alexandria, Va. Two young men become rivals over her affections and the excitement begins. Ominous tones, threatening notes, midnight assignations and attempted "murder" cause Laisee's vivid imagination to fear all kinds of Gothic horrors.

She is not at all certain that someone is not trying to drive her insane.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I have athlete's foot and I've had it for a long time. I wondered if it could spread to other parts of the body. I have itchy pimples in the palms of my hands and on the back of my neck. — B.B.

It is possible for the fungus causing athlete's foot to spread to parts of the body that offer the appropriate environment.

Athlete's foot is caused by a fungus — a low form of plant life, actually, which thrives in damp places such as swimming pools, shower stalls and moist skin. This is where it is usually picked up. The feet provide a convenient place for growth, with the added feature of warmth.

You say you have had the problem a long time, so it is even possible that bacteria have invaded the area and set up a secondary infection. The feet-to-hands-to-neck route seems quite plausible in your case, especially if you have been in the habit of scratching at your feet. Also, your description of the infection in your hands sounds like the early symptoms of athlete's foot — tiny blisters.

Fungus on feet can spread

Dr. George Thosteson

If you are dealing with good old-fashioned athlete's foot, there are a few suggestions that might help you. Most of them are just common sense things.

Keep your feet dry always. Avoid rubber-soled shoes and nylon stockings, both of which can promote perspiration. Change your shoes daily to allow plenty of time for one pair to air out completely. Wash your feet daily, dry well, and continue with an anti-fungal powder. You probably should dust this routine even after you have successfully eliminated your immediate problem.

Another thought: A chemist friend of mine thought he had what he called "a terminal case" of athlete's foot until he stopped using a detergent foot bath. It ended his problem. In some cases, overtreatment can be worse than the problem treated. It is easy to set up irritations and secondary infections in athlete's foot, so follow the directions on the foot powder container, and be sure it has an anti-fungal base.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I am almost 55 years old and am still having my regular monthly periods. I have been taking birth control pills for about 15 years. Would taking birth control have any effect on when I start menopause? Would it make me start later in life? My doctor doesn't think so. — Mrs. L.M.

All we can do at the present time is speculate about this. Some feel it does, others that it doesn't.

If you have been on the pill for 15 years, you will have to qualify as a real pill pioneer, since it was only introduced here in 1960. At that time it was limited to two years of use. This was soon changed to four years, and by 1966, all time restrictions were removed. Only just now are medical researchers gaining enough long-term experience to begin taking such questions out of the realm of speculation.

And at age 55, you could be nearing another distinction of sorts. Menopause age can range from the mid-30s to the nearly 50s. But the later onset of menopause has been noted with increasing frequency in recent decades. How much this is due to the pill is, as I said earlier, a matter open to question.

But at 55, you should be stopping your periods any time now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
My daughter is in her early teens and has oily hair. She washes it every two or three days, but every once in a while she gets sores on her head. They come and go but look bad. What could cause the sores? — Mrs. B.T.

The frequent washings are her best bet for controlling oily hair and, as you know, there are special shampoos available for oily hair. Two or three times a week are not excessive.

As to the sores, this could be what is called seborrheic dermatitis. A dermatologist could provide this diagnosis. If her condition is causing her great concern or embarrassment, I suggest she see one.

California aides eye sex law

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Legislators to legalize all sex acts between consenting adults in private has won approval of a state senate committee, and its author predicted its passage.

The bill would eliminate the criminal penalties for acts of oral copulation and sodomy in private between consenting adults 18 years and older.

If the senate approves the bill and the Assembly concurs in minor amendments, it would go to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. for signature. He has voiced sympathy for its concept.

Informally dubbed a "bill of rights" for homosexuals, the measure by Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr. of San Francisco, would repeal prohibitions as old as 183 years governing the sexual behavior of adults in private.

The key senate judiciary committee, caught in a crossfire between opposing clergymen, gave the bill a major boost Tuesday by voting it 22-approval after an emotional hearing where opponents quoted from the Bible and warned of "another destruction just as bad as the flood."

Synthetic breather saves life

GRAND RAPIDS Mich. (UPI) — Eight-and-a-half-year-old Adam Nevins is proving doctors and medical books wrong.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nevins of Tonia, is alive. The medical books say he should be dead.

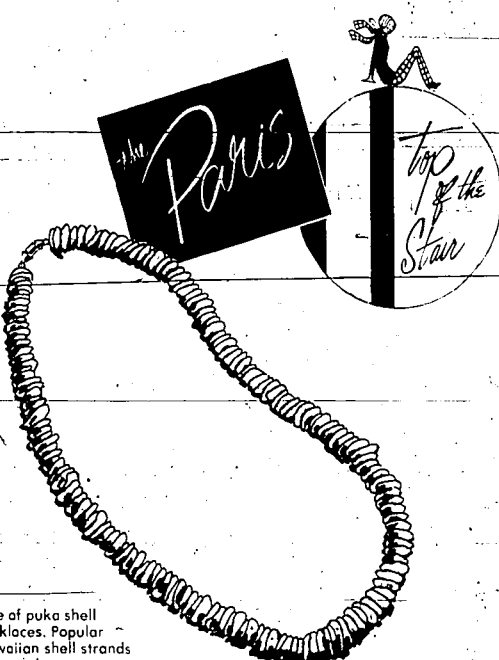

A so-called synthetic breather since birth, Adam cannot breathe by himself because his diaphragm is paralyzed.

But a battery-operated pace-maker regulates the infant's oxygen supply. He was able to leave a Grand Rapids hospital Monday for the first time since he was born.

Most physicians and medical specialists were skeptical of Adam's chances of survival prior to his recovery.

Although pace-makers were first introduced to years ago to stimulate breathing, previous success with infants was rated poor. And most medical authorities believed it was almost impossible to stimulate both sides of the diaphragm so that both lungs would expand simultaneously. An initial pace-maker was implanted inside Adam when he was 2½ months old. Two months later, a dual pace-maker was implanted in an attempt to stimulate both sides of his diaphragm. The operation was successful.

"We live each day, day by day, and love him," said Mrs. Nevins. "God has kept him all this time for a purpose."

LIGHTS DISCOLOR MAKEUP

By Mary Sue Miller

You may choose your makeup with a good eye for color. But the lighting by which you apply it may distort the effect you're after. Why?

Ordinary fluorescent lighting drains color tones so that the lipstick and blusher can't seem to blend perfectly during application. The usual incandescent bulbs cast shadows, making it difficult to see every area of the face.

So what constitutes an accurate makeup lighting? Artificial lighting is rated by how closely it approaches sunlight. The rating of 100 goes to sunlight. A fluorescent vita-lite tube comes close with a color rendering of 91.

If you not equipped for tube lighting, then incandescent, cool-white light-bulbs can be rated for accurate makeup application. A bath or vanity mirror can be turned into a star quality looking glass with a frame of cosmetic bulbs.

But remember, even though you arrange for cosmetic lighting, you're the cosmetician. Check the shadows you apply, and how much, at regular intervals. Your eyes, not the lighting, can play you false because of getting used to your looks. Take a hand-mirror to the daylight and inspect your makeup. Or take it at night to a fully lighted living room. That way you can be sure. And oh, so good-looking!

Senators get gift

HALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — At least 25 state senators received tightly rolled marijuana cigarettes in the mail Tuesday, in what was apparently a lobbyist's attempt to persuade the lawmakers to vote for legalization of the substance.

The marijuana was mailed in plain white envelopes, and were attached to a piece of paper bearing the message, "Try it, you'll like it."

The State Bureau of Investigation was called and conducted tests that confirmed that the cigarettes were indeed marijuana. An investigation is underway to determine the origin of the letters.

Two or three of the senators found their cigarettes in the Tuesday mail and the rest were located in the legislative mail room. There is no pending legislation calling for legalization of marijuana, but a committee recently held a hearing on the state's present marijuana law.

Food cost survey announced

By JEANNE LENSEM
UPI Food Editor

Los Angeles shoppers paid 10 cents more per pound this week than last for ground chuck to make their hamburgers, although the 69-cent-a-pound price was still lowest on UPI's regular survey of hamburger costs.

Buffalo and Chicago reported lows, respectively, of 78 and 79 cents a pound, but prices elsewhere ranged generally between 80 cents to $1.00 per pound. The latter was the high in Concord, N.H., and Jacksonville, Fla.

By contrast, chicken was a much better value, especially in Buffalo, N.Y., and Atlanta, where broiler-fryers sold for 39 cents a pound. They cost only 41 to 49 cents a pound in Concord, N.H., Los Angeles, Cincinnati, Birmingham, Jacksonville, Fla., and San Diego. The high was 81 cents a pound in Portland, Ore., 14 cents above the previous week's high of 69 cents in four other cities.

Revised beef grading standards that had been scheduled to take effect this week were postponed, while consumer groups, the National Restaurant Association and other organizations continued to oppose the new law. Uncertainty over the effect of the standards had led to speculation that retail beef prices might rise, and fewer market specials be offered.

The egg outlook also was good: 49 cents a dozen for grade-A large in Buffalo, and only 51 to 59 cents in 11 other cities, including Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Boston. The high of 95 cents was reported in Honolulu.

Two other ingredients for baked goods were also relatively good buys. A five-pound bag of sugar sold for less than $2.00 in 22 cities, with lows of $1.63, $1.65 and $1.67 in Birmingham, Detroit and Cincinnati. The highs were only $2.39 in New York City and $2.09 in Atlanta, Philadelphia and Raleigh. An Atlanta supermarket had a special of 64 cents for a five-pound bag of flour, a Phoenix market sold it for only 79 cents, and prices elsewhere ranged from 88 and 89 cents in Detroit, Grand

Displays featured

Rapids and Philadelphia to a high of $1.29 in New York City.

Cholesterol watchers in San Diego saw the price of margarine drop to 59 cents a pound, 17 cents below the previous week, and 40 cents less than a pound of butter. The same price of 59 cents in Grand Rapids reflected a six-cent-a-pound decline from last week. It was 38 cents less than a pound of butter.

To economize even more on fats for cooking, refrigerate the drippings from those cheap chickens. The fat that rises to the top and congeals makes a delicious substitute for cooking oils and solid shortenings. So does rendered fat from ducks and geese. Rendered, strained fat from pork can be substituted for bacon drippings in many recipes. It is even preferable for anyone on a low-salt diet. Tightly covered, these fats keep for weeks in the refrigerator, or months in the freezer. It is estimated that every quarter-cup used in place of butter or oil saves you 8 to 10 cents.

Library Week under way in TF

TWIN FALLS — "Liberaries Have It" is the theme of National Library Week underway and at the Twin Falls Public Library they are adding, "but we can't get to it."

The Twin Falls library is temporarily handicapped by efforts to move into the new building addition. Members of the staff are hoping National Library Week will bring out the generosity in some service of civic organizations and individuals who will come forth and volunteer assistance.

"We need some volunteer workers to help us move books so they can be available to the public and our patrons," says Annie Laurie Burton, librarian.

Some individuals have volunteered their help and the tedious task has begun. In spite of the turmoil of moving, a number of special displays are up in the children's department. One of these is an oversized baby chicken donated to the library in the aftermath of an Easter surprise for the Richard Ryal family.

The chicken was left on the Ryal doorstep and was made by Dr. and Mrs. John P. Gibney and family.

Other displays call attention to some of the library services and reading material available.

Mrs. Burton says the library in Twin Falls now has 107,289 active current patrons, an increase from 10,273 a year ago.

During 1973 thus far the library has added 1,818 new books and for the total of 1974 placed 3,279 new books on the shelves. With the new library addition soon to be open patrons will be able to more easily locate books and material they need and many more popular items can be added.

The library has 63,008 books and with the addition of records, paperbacks, art reproductions, microfilm reels, maps and other items except periodicals and pamphlets, the library offers 71,381 selections.

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Power Co. has purchased most of the land for its proposed coal fired electric plant even though governmental agencies have not yet approved construction of the plant.

KBOI news learned Wednesday the company has bought about 1600 acres near Orehard for $650,000. The Sellers are Robert Holladay and James B. Winters, Jr., Boise, and Michael Dingman of New York City.

While refusing to discuss details of the sale, a company spokesman confirmed that the transaction has been completed.

Eventually, the company hopes to acquire about 2,000 acres for the Pioneer plant.

Cleanup scheduled

PRELIMINARY plans for a county-wide "spring cleaning" are made by some of the annual event participants. From left are Rex Johnston, Boy Scout executive; Vicki Trydy, 4-H expansion aide; William L. Chancey, event chairman, and Donald Youtz, county extension agent. Another planning meeting will be held April 29 and cleanup is May 3.

Tag Day nets $40.35

TWIN FALLS — According to officials of the Twin Falls Civilian Club, a total of $40.35 was collected during the Civilian Tag Day.

Jim Winkle, president of the club, said four members worked for six hours on the mall collecting the money. He said other members of the club participated in the March of Dimes walkathon.

According to Winkle, the tag day funds will be used for a public information program on mental retardation.

Johnny Horizon Day set

TWIN FALLS — A final planning meeting for the sixth annual Johnny Horizon Day in Twin Falls County will be held April 29 at which time a review of cleanup, cleanup coverage will be held.

In an initial meeting Tuesday night, representatives of some 20 organizations volunteered their services for the May 3 county-wide cleanup campaign.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, chairman, said many of the groups such as Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, canal company, highway districts, military units and others will be working the same areas as in previous years.

The cleanup work will end with a picnic and this year three picnic sites will be established. The major event will be at noon at the county fairgrounds in Filer.

Workers in the Murtaugh area, under the chairmanship of Herb Thorne, will hold a picnic at the LDS Church in Murtaugh and the Castledale area will have a separate picnic to avoid traveling the distance from Castledale to Filer. Boy Scout Troop 67 under the direction of Frank Mogensen will clean Rock Creek Canyon south of Hansen and picnic in that area.

Chancey said it appears there will again be several hundred volunteers helping make Twin Falls County more attractive.

Twin Falls City will donate five trucks and drivers, to assist. Other trucks to pick up and haul away the trash collectors will be furnished by the highway districts in the county, the Twin Falls Canal Co., National Guard and U.S. Army Reserves.

The Bureau of Land Management will assist by furnishing radio communication equipped units throughout the county.

Many other groups such as the Civil Air Patrol and community groups from Buhl, Filer, Hansen, Hollister, Kimberly and others will be working in their own localities.

The event is co-sponsored by the BLM and this year...

Council meet tonight at Valley

JEROME — The Jerome County Planning Council will hold its semi-annual dinner and meeting tonight at Valley High School.

Pam Smith, coordinator, said the dinner is open to anyone who wants to attend. Noting that reservations are not required.

A number of the planning council members will meet at 7 p.m. before the dinner to discuss the council's care to form car pools.

Smelter hearing closes

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — The Federal Environmental Protection Agency has finally ended a twice-continued public review and comment period for proposed sulfur dioxide regulations for the Bunker Hill Smelter. EPA officials said today.

EPA officials said it will be a matter of weeks now before the agency issues regulations for the smelter.

The deadline for accepting public comment, which was Monday, was twice extended to permit Bunker Hill to study and respond to data collected by the EPA.

That data included a consultant's report which stated it would cost Bunker Hill about $15 million to bring its sulfuric acid plants up to federal emissions standards.

Basically, the EPA has proposed that Bunker Hill control 85 per cent of all sulfur dioxide emissions by July, but Bunker Hill and the State of Idaho believe that deadline should be 1977.

Bunker Hill reports it is now capable of controlling about 72 per cent of all sulfur dioxide emissions.

air disturbance which has caused bad weather so far this week is weakening and moving eastward across Nevada. It will be replaced by a fair weather producing high pressure system.

The extended outlook for the period Saturday through Monday calls for sunny skies and warmer daytime temperatures. The afternoon highs will climb into the lower 60s by Sunday afternoon, just a little below the seasonal normal high of 66.

Scattered frost will occur most nights with minimum temperatures near their seasonal normals in the middle 30s.

Wednesday's precipitation possibility on the light side and a few farmers were in the drier fields during the afternoon. Today's showers were also expected to be mostly light, so many more farmers will be working Friday and Saturday—along with construction workers.

Soil temperatures should warm into the 40s and 50s over the weekend.

Assigned to Jerome

KEN Patterson, 24, left, is shown with Judge Russell Shaud in the newly completed courtroom in the Jerome County Courthouse. Patterson, juvenile probation officer, has been assigned to the Jerome area by the Idaho Health and Welfare Department.

HAW appoints probation aide

JEROME — A juvenile probation officer has been assigned to Jerome County by the Idaho Health and Welfare Department. Ken Patterson, 24, who has served as a case worker for younger boys at St. Anthony, will also investigate child neglect and abuse reports as well as serving as a student counselor for the Jerome and Valley school districts.

Originally from Richfield, Patterson has a B.A. degree in social work from Boise State University. During his college years, Patterson and his wife served as shelter home parents. He has also worked at the State Hospital South in Blackfoot.

One of his main duties will be working with the magistrate court in handling juveniles who have been placed on probation or are scheduled to appear in court. Patterson will prepare social history reports on the youngsters before disposition of their cases and will serve as probation officer for juveniles on probation.

Magistrate Russell Shaud said Patterson will also assist the court in investigating other alternatives for juvenile offenders than just internment at St. Anthony.

Shaud said he thought Patterson would be of great assistance to the court, because under the old system, Jerome County's juvenile problems were handled by a probation officer who had four other counties to cover.

"Because of the other probation officer's work load a hearing for a juvenile in Jerome could be held up for some time until a social history was obtained. With Patterson, we should be able to expedite the case load and to a better job for the juveniles," Shaud said.

Patterson said he would be working with the school district in an effort to provide counseling for students who need it. "I won't be serving as a truant officer, but I will try to help keep problem students from getting into trouble and ending up in court."

He said he would, in the near future, like to start an evening "rap session" for teen-agers who want to just sit down and talk. "I will always be available to any youth who has a problem and wants someone to talk to. I will also be willing to help parents who are having trouble with their children," he said.

By BART QUEENELL
Times-News writer
HAILEY — Lower elevation snow blankets the Wood River Valley, sparking potential once more for flooding conditions.

All snow and water content measurements in the high and low watershed areas are equal or above the long-term average.

The potential for flooding exists on both the Big and Little Wood Rivers, according to a Soil Conservation Service report.

The water content at higher elevations is considerably less than last year but lower elevations have greater water content, according to the report.

"It is impossible to predict when or to what extent flooding might occur," the report says. "If there is an extended gradual snow melt period, similar to last year, flooding will probably be minimal or non-existent. On the other hand, if rain or unseasonably high temperatures occur — resulting in a rapid snow melt period — there could be flooding."

The national weather forecast for the next 30 days predicts below seasonal temperature normals. This will tend to prolong an already retarded spring, according to a spokesman at the bureau, if the forecast holds true.

There is much more than a 50-50 chance of freezing

Ellsberg tapper faces trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has ordered that Felipe DeDiego, a member of the original Watergate bugging team, may have to stand trial in connection with the 1971 Ellsberg break-in.

DeDiego was one of a handful of persons to be freed of Watergate related charges.

A three-judge panel ruled Wednesday that U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Geszell had no right to dismiss the indictment against DeDiego in the Ellsberg case, without giving Watergate prosecutors an opportunity to present their case.

Gun stolen from auto

TWIN FALLS — Douglas Kramer, 628 Sunrise N., told Twin Falls city police Tuesday someone took a gun from the glove compartment of his car while it was parked at his home.

He said the theft occurred sometime during the weekend. The handgun and a box of shells were valued at about $100.

weather at night until mid-Mid, which if true, will hold back the snow and water from coming out all at once.

Flooding did occur here last May. The hardest hit area was probably Broadford Road where a section of paved highway had to be ripped out to prevent backwater from inundating several houses near the Bellevue Bible Camp.

Emergency crews had to be called to repair a damaged levee near the Warm Springs Bridge in Kelchum. Several county roads were closed for extended periods. Crews worked around the clock during the peak runoff to protect bridges.

There is a severe flood potential at the Bellevue Bible Camp this year if the US Army Corps of Engineers is unable to repair a levee which burst above the camp last year.

Snow still covers the ground around the area but local flood control director Jim Hagg said he expected the corps here next week. The water will have a straight shot at buildings and grounds at the camp if the levee is left unrepaired.

The corps will also repair a levee above the Deer Creek Bridge and an irrigation diversion levee south of Bellevue which was washed out last year.

The snowpack and water content is much less this year in the higher watersheds which caused the damage in 1974.

Extensive runoff, however, could occur at the lower elevations. Snow blankets the Wood River Valley from North Fork south past Timmerman Hill to Red Newby, Big and Little Wood, watermaster, claims this to be the most late snow on the lower elevations.

Snow depth in places around Plover, Bellevue and surrounding fields is still 3-4 inches in places, he said. Last year at the same time, farmers had drilled their wheat, he said.

Big Wood River and Camas Creek are experiencing very little runoff to this date, according to gauges measuring the stream flow in second feet.

The Littlewood station on Big Wood River a year ago on April 15 measured 759 second feet of water.

Tuesday it measured 299 second feet, Newby said.

Camas Creek measured 1,170 second feet last year on April 15. Newby estimated little more than 65 second feet is running now.

County commissioner C.W. Gardner said Big Wood River has many logjams which could cause problems. He flew over the river last week and said there could be flooding all up and down the river.

The gates on Little Wood River Reservoir have been opened and water is being released, Newby said for the expected large runoff. Last year on April 15, when the lower elevations received much less snow and water content, the gauges at the Richfield station on Little Wood measured 364 second feet of water. Tuesday Newby said the flow was 390 second feet.

In 1965, which is the highest water year on record, there was 446 second feet on April 15 by the Richfield station. Newby said there was more snow and water content in 1965, but it didn't stay on the ground as late as this year.

Newby said even with the large mass of snow, farmers could be hurt if they have as much as a month delay getting in their crops. He said Magic Reservoir into which Big Wood River dumps has about 85,000 acre feet in it now with a capacity of 191,500 acre feet.

Agriculture is to Idaho what food is to you.

Your body needs food to stay healthy. Idaho needs agriculture to stay healthy.

That's because between 40% and 60% of the value of all the goods and services produced in Idaho depends in some way on agriculture. Idaho is second only to South Dakota in the percentage of personal income that comes directly from farming. In fact, Idaho is more dependent on agriculture than any other state in the West.

As the state's major industry, it's also its major taxpayer. Agriculture accounted for more than $25 million in real estate taxes and income taxes. So when agriculture is fiscally healthy, the state government is fiscally healthy, too.

Even jobs in the state are dependent upon agriculture. About 1 in 2. A full 18% of all Idaho jobs are in either farming or food processing, and perhaps another 20 to 40 percent depend indirectly on Idaho agriculture.

No man is an island and so it is with agriculture. Idaho's farmers and ranchers need us as much as we need them. They need us for understanding and support to help keep agriculture in Idaho vital and productive. That way, the entire state can remain vital and productive.

For more information on why you need Idaho farmers' and ranchers as much as they need you, write the Idaho Wheat and Bean Commissions, Sulle M. Owyhee Plaza, Boise, Idaho 83702.

The Idaho farmer. You need him. He needs you.

Pullout dream gaining

MARQUETTE, MICH. (UPI) — Superior, the 1st state's...
Yes, says Michigan state Rep. Dominic J. Jacobetti, a Democrat from Negaunee. He wants the upper peninsula to secede from Michigan and become the state of Superior.
Jacobetti says U.S. Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, a Republican from Houghton who is the upper peninsula's only representative in Washington. "I think it's dreaming the impractical dream," Ruppe said. "It's a nice dream but not a very realistic one."
The two peninsulas have been part of Michigan since 1836, when Congress joined them as part of the settlement of the so-called Toledo Strip war.

The statehood idea gained momentum recently when the Marquette City Council voted to put the idea on a special ballot next November and the state Senate's Business Committee approved a special registration study of the possibility.

An Ironwood attorney, Theodore G. Albert, ran for Congress last November on a secessionist platform but was badly beaten by Ruppe.

Argument on the subject ranges from outright approval to flat rejection.

"It's a very good idea and we could survive just as well by ourselves," said Mrs. Donald O'Brien of Ishpeming. "It'll never happen," said William S. Huebler of Escanaba, "and if it did, it wouldn't work."

Jacobetti said northern residents want to break away from the lower peninsula because downstate politicians ignore or shortchange them. "The people are taking it seriously," he said. "They really are. Independence minded in the upper peninsula."

He said he liked the name Superior — "because it's the superior part of the state and the superior part of the nation, as far as I'm concerned."

Jacobetti already has chosen Marquette as the capital of Superior, the pike as the state bird and the green and blue state flag featuring a doe, a miner and a logger.

The proposed state, he said, could introduce legalized gambling as a source of revenue.

Hitching runs into big hitch

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — in the old Western cowboy film, the good guy rides off into the sunset on his horse.

But in the new movie, "Horse Country," Clint Eastwood, who recently issued marriage licenses to four couples of the same sex.

Actually, Howard explained, he didn't really want to marry Dolly. He was just "spoofing" County Clerk Clea Ronex who recently issued marriage licenses to four couples of the same sex.

"If a boy can marry a boy and a girl can marry a girl, why can't a lonesome old cowboy hitch up with his favorite saddle mare?" Howard asked.

Actually, Howard said, he really didn't know Dolly very well. In fact, her name had been Lightning until he picked her up earlier in the day from the ranch of an old friend.

Even though she was "the homeliest, saddest looking horse" in the corral, Howard said he proposed marriage on the spot "and she didn't say no."

Howard said he got a parade permit in order to legally park his fiance on the street while he applied for a license. Dolly wore a yellow ribbon while she waited patiently on the street.

After he was turned down for a license, Howard needed for his favorite horse. Dolly returned to the ranch where she once again became Lightning.

"She won't be fit to live with after all this," said Mrs. Arvilla Bennett, the ranch's office manager.

Fence erected

A NEW FENCE is being built this week by Shoshone Riding Redskins at the recreation field on the east edge of Shoshone. Working on the fence Sunday were Dean Barney, Ron Roberts, John McGhee, Bonnie Laughlin and Ben Laughlin. The county commissioners provided $1,000 toward purchase of material for the fence, Barney said.

Deer control fence building resumed

SHOSHONE Work operations will resume on a deer control fence later this month on 22.64 miles of Interstate I-80N between Sweetzer interchange and the Utah state line.

According to Howard Johnson, district highway engineer, Shoshone office, Fordyce Fencers Inc., Twin Falls, has the contract in amount of $98,730.25.

Work operations have not begun on two other projects in the Barley-Rupert area. They include one 16.829 miles from Idaho to Sweetzer and 6.613 miles from Colter to Industrial Construction Inc. Hammond, Ind., for $9,476,315.10.

Industrial Construction Inc. has the contract in amount of $2,657,021. The project, however, is 99 per cent complete and has included construction of a roadway, drainage, plant mix base, plant mix surface and future seal coat, signing and delineation.

The other project is also for construction of roadway, drainage structures, plant mix base, plant mix surface with future seal coat, signing, delineation and illumination of Colter Port of Entry on 7.448

$54,000 Rolls attracts buyers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Unemployment lines can swell but the Rolls-Royce—at $54,000—continues to attract customers.

"There are always sales for a Rolls," said Bud Geller, sales manager of Keanan Motors. "even in times like these."

According to Geller, the only gripe customers have is that not enough of the luxury cars are produced.

"We sell what we can get," he said. "Production was cut back last year because of the strikes in England and we couldn't get what we wanted. We only got 29 cars. We usually get 42 or 43."

"When the customer wants a Rolls, he wants it," he said. "If it had three wheels and a flat tire they'd buy it...even though the prices are going up each year. A new Rolls-Royce convertible costs $54,000 and next year it will be over $60,000."

Geller said some of his customers are "very, very wealthy." Others, he said, have just sold their businesses "and have a large amount of cash on hand."

"In fact, we had a couple of men in here who bought one as a gift for their father."

"They usually assume it's going to be high priced," he said. "Although the price increases disturb some, they have given it a lot of thought. It's not a spontaneous decision."

Board urges county laws

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County ordinances to give health department and zoning boards authority in controlling rural subdivisions were urged Wednesday afternoon in a meeting of the South Central Health District Board.

Dr. Willie Carter, medical director for the district, told the board members, several of whom are county commissioners, there are no state laws which back up the health official in turning down a subdivision plan if the overall plan would knowingly result in water system contamination, even if the individual wells and septic tanks meet minimum distance requirements.

Dr. Carter said, "We have failed in the past two seasons of the legislature to get the legal backing we need for protection of the homeowner, developer and neighbors. If the county commissioners will pass ordinances we may get the help we need. We want to be involved but we need regulations to enforce."

Ed Woods, Twin Falls County zoning administrator, told the board zoning and planning groups are non-professional and must rely on someone such as the health department technicians to tell them if a subdivision density is a potential health hazard.

He did in the case of a single home with one well and one septic tank, the 100-foot separation is a pretty safe assurance. Take a subdivision of 40 homes with 40 wells and 40 septic tanks and it would not be safe but there must be some authority on which to make this assumption.

Woods said, "We send these people to the health department on sanitation matters and the highway districts on road requirements, and they send them back to us. Highway districts say when developed, certain requirements should be met. As a result we have many subdivisions still waiting to meet these requirements."

"What do we tell the man who buys the lot from a developer with 40 homes on 40 acres and then finds his water supply is not safe?" Woods asked.

"It may come to turning down all subdivisions where a central sewer and water system is not available," he said.

Woods added this would eliminate most of the proposals because few of the projects in rural areas are within reach of community systems.

In the May 8 meeting of the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Board, Dr. Carter and other health officials will further discuss the problem. It will also be aired May 21 when the health board meets next with the county legislators.

Also postponed for discussion May 21 is the requirement health districts must make purchases through the state purchasing agent.

Dr. Carter said the district is in need of a copy machine which can help be leased on a one-year basis only through the present state purchasing program. Bids for such a machine resulted in the unit which meets the district specifications being low on a five-year lease plan, but not a one-year plan.

Local negotiations with the area representative gained a one-year lease on the same basis but this was turned down by the state purchasing agent, the director said. This system, he said, gives the district no voice in selecting equipment which meets their specific needs.

3 appeals set today

TWIN FALLS — Another three appeals will be argued before the Idaho Supreme Court today in Twin Falls.

Today is the final day of the current session for the justices in Twin Falls. They have had eight appeals to hear this week and will take arguments under advisement with decisions to be announced at a later time.

This morning the court was scheduled to hear oral arguments in the case of Dora M. Werry, Ketchum, and the Phillips Petroleum Co. The case involves an appeal by the petroleum company over a lease dispute for a service station in Ketchum.

A district court jury awarded the plaintiff, Mrs. Werry, $20,000. She had leased her commercial property to the oil firm for construction of a service station which was to revert to her at the end of the 15-year lease.

Mrs. Werry charged a hot water system was not functional when the building was returned to her, and under terms of the lease it should have been repaired by Phillips Petroleum Co. Phillips has appealed the jury verdict.

Another appeal from George A. Suchan who alleges he suffered damages from improper fertilizer application was scheduled today. The appeal is to a jury verdict against Suchan in his suit against Henry's Farm Sales, Western Farm Service Inc., Shell Oil Co., and Forrest E. McCarthy.

The third appeal today involves a district court jury verdict awarding $11,500 to Fred Herman in a suit against the city of Twin Falls. The appeal is by Simplot Aviation Inc., Richard Gasparotti and Theodore Larson.

JEROME — The Jerome City Council Tuesday night approved signing a contract with CH2M Engineers for a design proposal to improve the city's water system.

The city is expected to begin phase 1 of a proposed plan to upgrade the water system around the first of July.

Public works director Ed Evans said phase 1 will be completed in two parts and will involve the installation of booster pumps and two 300,000-gallon ground level storage tanks at existing city wells located on East 10th.

A two-level system will be used to equalize water pressure throughout town. The sloping terrain and increased development on the east side of Fillmore has created the necessity for the system, according to Evans.

Convention set in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho College Republican League will hold its annual state convention at the College of Southern Idaho Friday and Saturday.

The convention will open Friday night in the college's vocational education building with a panel discussion including legislators from districts 24 and 25.

On Saturday, delegates will hear a speaker from the league's national office. Sen. John Poesch, R-Rupert, will deliver the keynote address. Other local Republicans, including Republican National Committeewoman Christie Sinclair, Twin Falls County Republican Chairman Laird Noh and Twin Falls attorney Ed Benoit, also will speak Saturday.

An election of officers will be held Saturday afternoon. Delegates from the College of Southern Idaho, the University of Idaho, Idaho State University and Boise State University will attend the convention.

Guidelines issued on student records

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A student's permanent school records are available for inspection but school professionals may keep separate, confidential files on students, according to the Idaho Department of Education.

Under the recently enacted US Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, parents and students who are 18 and over are entitled to "access" to the school records, the state agency said in a brief set of guidelines issued last month.

However, "confidential, personal working files of professionals (school psychologists, social workers, counselors, teachers or substitute teachers) may be maintained," the agency added.

The guidelines were issued to clarify the intent of the federal act, which took effect last year. The act left many school districts unsure of their obligations concerning access to student records and distribution of information contained therein.

The permanent records of each student should be limited to "identifying data, academic work completed, level of achievement, attendance data, scores on standardized intelligence, aptitude and psychological tests, interest inventory results, health data, family background information, teacher or counselor ratings and observations and verified reports of serious or recurrent behavior patterns," according to the state guidelines.

"Any extraneous material in a student's file should be removed; however, no information may be deleted from a file after a request has been made to review the file."

The confidential files of professionals may include "working notes, transcripts of interviews, clinical diagnoses and memory aids for their own use in counseling pupils," the guidelines say.

"There cannot be a special set of student records for school use only," or any similar attempt to subvert the intent of the law," according to the guidelines.

The parents or student must request the release of records in writing, giving the reason for the release, the specific records to be released and the names of persons to whom they are to be released.

The school may release records to the following parties without the consent of parents or students: other school officials; officials of other schools in which the student intends to enroll; the parents must be informed and given a chance to challenge the content of the records; authorized representatives of the comptroller general of the United States, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and state education agencies, and persons who require the records in connection with "student applications" for or receipt of financial aid.

The guidelines also state that a student who is 18 or older has the right to deny parental access to his records.

The school may provide "anonymous data" from its records for "outside research purposes without consent, under conditions where likelihood of identifying any individual because of his or her unique characteristics is negligible," according to the guidelines.

The guidelines also call for establishment of a formal procedure for challenging the content of student records, including a hearing which "must be granted within a reasonable time."

Under the federal act, school districts must annually inform parents and eligible students of their rights in connection with the records and district policies for distribution of information in the records.

Board member resigns

BURLEY — In a special board meeting last night, the Cassia County School Board's only chicano member, Saul Saldana, resigned.

Saldana gave up his seat after he moved from his residence in zone 3 to a new home in zone 1.

The school trustee voted to leave Saldana's seat vacant until a regular school board election is held May 20.

At that time school patrons will elect a replacement to sit in Saldana's seat for the remainder of his term which expires in May 1976.

Saldana ran as a write-in candidate, upsetting incumbent board member A.M. (Pat) Kelly.

Retired teachers meet

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Retired Teachers members are invited to attend the Friday meeting of the Twin Falls-Retired Teachers Association.

The meeting will begin at 12:30 p.m. at the Morningstar School. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria.

A tour of the building and a business meeting will follow the luncheon, according to Mrs. Mary Helen Perry, president. The planned program will focus on Idaho, both past and present, with several retired teachers participating.

Blindness event set

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — The first music event of the Bicentennial celebration in Caldwell will feature agritullas and folk music of Black America in the Jewett Auditorium April 24 at 8 p.m.

Gary Condon, director of the Caldwell High School Choir, said the concert will feature an Internationally famous conductor and arranger — Jester Halston — who in addition to his musical activities also appears in television and movie productions.

Idahoans urged to oppose nomination

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Environmental Council is urging Idahoans to oppose the nomination of former Wyoming Gov. Stanley Hathaway as Secretary of the Interior.

The council said that Hathaway is "precisely the wrong kind of person to be given the responsibility for our public lands." Referring to his term as governor of Wyoming as "an environmental disaster," the council said that Hathaway "called for sale of public lands to commercial interests, fought for blanket permission for killing golden eagles and supported legislation to dam the upper Green River, condemning park land, public land and private land in the process."

Accident claims Middleton woman

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A Middleton woman died and three other persons were injured in a collision of a car and fertilizer truck at the intersection of U.S. 20-26 and the Middleton Road.

Judy Kay Talkington, 18, died of injuries received in the crash at 2:50 p.m. three miles east of Caldwell. The injured were Mrs. Kay S. Colbert, 23, of the Nampa-Caldwell area, and her sons, David Mascherbauer and Erin Colbert. There were no ages available on the children.

Death said from natural causes

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Canyon County Coroner Thomas M. Donndelinger reports that Vernon Earl Simpson, 62, Nampa, died of natural causes rather than from injuries he suffered in a car wreck at Nampa.

Rupert man arrested

RUPERT — A Rupert man was arrested by Rupert city police Wednesday night for growing a marijuana plant.

Paul O'Rourke, 38, was jailed in lieu of $1000 bail on a felony charge for the "manufacture of a non-narcotic substance — marijuana."

Police say O'Rourke had the marijuana plant and a number of seeds, also believed to be marijuana, at his home.

According to police reports, the plant and the seeds were seized by police on Feb. 24 when police arrested O'Rourke for "contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

Police records indicate the Feb. 24 charges were dismissed March 5.

However, the records show that on Feb. 24, the police seized the pot plant and took it to the police station where the plant was allowed to grow to its full size before O'Rourke was arrested.

HAILEY — Persons working in any stream channel in Blaine County must obtain two permits — one from the state and one from the county.

The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission in conjunction with the county commissioners agreed Tuesday that the strict regulations will be enforced.

In the past most persons have applied to the Idaho Department of Water Resources to alter stream and commenced with their work, even though the Blaine County ordinance spells out the procedure requiring the permission of the planning commission.

The ordinance was bypassed and not enforced up to now, county commissioner Ivan Gustafson said. Gustafson and new planning and zoning administrator Alan Reynolds said Tuesday the county will enforce the ordinance. People caught constructing or altering any stream channel without the permits from the county and the state can be charged with a crime.

Gustafson expressed concern for rivers in Blaine County to district engineer of the department of water resources, Bob Haynes, during a county commission meeting Tuesday.

"I'm not pleased with your work to date," Gustafson told Haynes. "We're interested in preserving the river but people keep channeling it, destroying the river."

He said snaking of logs with constant bulldozer pressure in the river is upsetting and unnecessary.

Haynes replied "If the county wants more restraint from work in the river I think the county will have to do this."

He said state policy is carried out uniformly across Idaho and could not be changed for Blaine County alone.

Mike Steele, a department biologist, said the department of water resources is not to blame for the development that has been allowed along the flood plain.

"Some areas are developed that should not have been," he said. "As long as houses are built in the flood zone it is hard to say 'no you can't rip rap to save your house.'"

Haynes said minimum standards had to be followed by all workers in stream channels. He said each work site is reviewed sometime before and after work is completed.

Haynes said from an environmental standpoint there were many jobs he wished he could not approve.

The commissioners agreed a procedure for applying to the planning and zoning commission must be worked out soon so evaluations can be made on all work sites in the county.

Administrator Reynolds said permit forms from the county will be printed soon and some sort of policing action will have to be worked out.

County commissioner C.W. Gardner said in emergency situations where permits cannot be applied for, he would be available to make decisions whether to commence work.

The group agreed the department of water resources has been doing a better job recently in contact with contractors who do the work. However, Gustafson and Reynolds concluded the county must take an active, strict role in the permit process.

The ordinance reads "No person may excavate in, disturb, fill, build in, upon or across, deposit in, change the channel of any natural stream, from high water mark to high water mark in Blaine County, without the specific written consent of the commission, after a detailed presentation, showing the necessity therefor. Such presentation shall also show the environmental effects of the proposed work."

2 permits required to alter streams

Jerome OK's design proposal contract

Evans said phase 1 will begin with the installation of the two storage tanks west of the existing building on 10th Street.

"While we are at it, we'll do all the necessary piping for the booster pumps," Evans said. The booster pumps would be installed at a later date.

"When we can install the pumps will depend on the availability of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funds. Phase 1 is expected to cost $255,000, of which we are hoping $150,000 will be paid through a HUD grant," Evans said.

The remaining cost would be paid for with existing funds that will be augmented by increased water rates that have now gone into effect for city water users.

A new motorized water control valve and improved chlorine detention facilities will also be installed. "The motorized control valve will hold water pressure on the high side of Fillmore thus giving better water pressure to city water users," Evans said.

The chlorine detention system will cost the city $75,000. However the new system will also require the addition of a new well to the city water system.

No date has been set for the addition of the well which will be undertaken in phase 2 of the Plan. Plans call for the well to be dug east of town.

Evans said the elevated tower presently standing on North Fillmore will be modified with a new standing pipe, piping and valving for chlorine detention. According to Evans the improved process will allow for more chlorine contact time, thus eliminating the strong doses of chlorine city residents have noticed in the water at times.

Energy saving farming techniques backed

BOISE (UPI) — The director of the University of Idaho department of agriculture wants Idaho bean and wheat commission to consider research toward developing energy-saving farming techniques and more efficient plans.

"We may need to look at whether or not our present tillage practices need to be changed and how we might achieve good results with less fertilizer," Dr. Raymond Miller told the commissioners at separate meetings in Moscow.

Wheat commissioners were asked to consider new programs on marketing, soil diseases, nitrogen fertilizers, production costs and nitrogenization. The new projects plus continuation of current programs would require the wheat commission funding of $157,725 during fiscal 1975-76.

He told bean commissioners of proposals that would require funding of $23,850 including studies on bean breeding, sprinkler irrigation, weed control, cycloxylation cracking or mechanical damage and disease research.

Miller said an average of 13.5 per cent of crops in the nation is lost annually to insects and pests, 10 per cent to disease and eight per cent to weeds — making a total of 31.5 per cent of production lost on top of and in spite of efforts to control those losses.

He told the Idaho Wheat Commission that scientists are now rating plants by their ability to convert solar energy into production capability and have found that wheat is only half as efficient as corn.

"Could we develop a wheat plant with its less efficient solar energy converting head growing out of the side of the plant instead of at the top of the plant?" Miller suggested.

He explained that such a wheat plant would then expose more of its efficient solar energy converting leaves to the sun. He also said that all modern plant varieties are genetically susceptible to new diseases, such as southern corn blight, which destroyed 20 per cent of the nation's crop in 1972.

At the meeting with the Wheat Commission, those attending discussed prevention of top soil losses as one effective means of conserving energy through lower fertilizer requirements.

Harold West, Boise, administrator for the commodity groups, said decisions on the research programs probably will be made at a meeting in May.

BOISE (UPI) — Dr. E. D. Hill, an Emmett veterinarian, has been appointed area supervisor for the Idaho Department of Agriculture Bureau of Meat Inspection in Southwest Idaho.

Dr. Vernon Colner, Boise, chief of the state meat inspection agency, said Hill was appointed to the post April 1 after four weeks of training.

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission and the states of Nebraska and Iowa Wednesday requested a receiver be appointed for financially-stricken American Beef Packers Inc. of Omaha.

The request was made to federal bankruptcy judge David L. Crawford, who has been hearing the ABP case since the meatpacker filed for bankruptcy Jan. 7.

The request was filed hours before ABP was expected to submit its plan for repaying creditors some $30 million, in outstanding debts.

Late Idaho spring delays farm work

BOISE (UPI) — A late spring already has crop progress and field work in Idaho 10 days to two weeks later than usual, the State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service noted in a weekly crops summary.

The report on the week ending April 11 noted soil moisture supplies are above normal, warm temperatures and winds are needed to dry fields. Field activity during the week was limited generally to the lighter soils.

Nearly seven per cent of the spring crop had been planted in north Idaho where cool weather and snow slowed emergence of spring-planted crops. Progress of winter wheat is slowed with much of the acreage still under snow.

In the south-eastern counties, 10 per cent of the spring wheat and barley have been planted. Also, early-seeded fields of potatoes and onions are on a very limited basis, and progress of planting of these crops also is behind.

The below normal temperatures are keeping fruit trees dormant, lessening the chances of frost damage.

In the south-eastern valleys, scattered fields of spring grains have been planted. Field preparation progressed on a very limited scale as wet, cold soils slowed farm activities.

Field work in eastern Idaho has not started on a wide scale because of snow cover and wet ground. Farmers were able to be in a few fields of sandy soils in the Fort Hall area.

Stockmen reported their livestock showed some stress from the long cold, wet weather. Hay supplies are getting short in some areas. Calving and lambing losses are reported above normal in some areas with the weather the main factor in the losses.

Cowmen may shift back to grain finish feeding

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cattle producers will go back to finishing nearly all beef steers, and heifers on grain feeds, cow supplies, rise, government economist predicts.

A combination of factors, including a short 1974 corn crop and high prices currently has produced a sharp decline in grain fed to cattle and an upswing in grass-fed beef.

James F. Nix, an Agriculture Department economist, said in a report today the drop is probably temporary.

"The situation is expected to change in the future, and nearly all of the steers and heifers will again be finished on grain," he said.

Nix said the amount used for each animal may be reduced from the high level of the early 1970's. This may be due partly, Nix said, to penning beef steers which would use higher labels like "choice" to meat with less marbling fat than was required in the past.

In the early 1970's, according to Agriculture Department records, 70 per cent of all cattle slaughtered were given grain "finish" feeding before slaughter. Recently this has dropped to 60 per cent, Nix said, and some of the animals getting grain have been getting less than usual.

Some critics of current agricultural methods, including advocates of an April 17 Food Day, contend grain-feeding should be virtually eliminated to save the grain for humans. But Nix said the amount of grain used for high-grade "finished" beef — even before the current decline — has been exaggerated.

Even with more than 70 per cent of all slaughtered cattle going through feedlots, Nix said, the total beef production accounted for by feedlot feeding since 1953 has been only 30 to 35 per cent of the total supply.

Nix said some cattle such as cull cows and grass fed animals produce beef with no grain at all. In addition, he said, feedlot cattle make most of their early growth without grain and eat roughage as well as grain in feedlots.

When a feedlot steer is ready for slaughter, Nix estimated, he will have consumed less than three pounds of grain for each pound of live weight.

Nix said cattlemen producing grass beef currently find their forage costs rising rapidly and they, too, are losing money.

Economic crunch threatens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's crop farmers are running into a severe economic crunch as early as this summer, a Senate Agriculture Committee report said today.

The report was released as a Senate-House conference approved an emergency support bill designed to give farmers greater insurance against a potential slide in market prices.

Prepared by Leo V. Mayer, a Library of Congress farm economist, the report said a current cycle which began with grain shortages several years ago has already brought sharp price rises to consumers and severe losses to livestock producers faced with soaring feed expenses last year.

"The final crisis of the current cycle has not been reached, however," Mayer said. He said it will arrive when livestock numbers have been cut back and good weather brings a rebound in grain production.

"At that point, crop prices will drop dramatically and the incomes of grain producers will fall; livestock growers on the other hand will find themselves with lower-cost feed and higher prices for livestock."

"Economic hardship for crop farmers could even arrive as early as mid-1975," the report continued. Mayer explained this is because crops could set new records if the weather is good this year.

State spurns 'compromise' offer by utilities for Snake River dams

The Idaho Department of Fish and Game reacted with "What compromise?" to an offer by power companies made at House Interior subcommittee hearings on the Hells Canyon National Recreation Area.

Wendell Satre, of Pacific Northwest Power Company, reportedly offered the Snake River from Lewiston downstream to High Mountain Sheep dam site as a recreation area.

But, Satre said power interests "preferred construction of China Gardens Dam."

China Gardens, the department said, would sit in the middle of the power companies' recreation area, "plus they ask for a free hand in construction of dams in the other half of the proposed national recreation area between the High Mountain Sheep site and Hells Canyon Dam."

"Where is the compromise in that?" Joe Greenley, department director, said.

"Slack water, backed up by China Gardens, would drown the mouth of the Salmon River drainage," Greenley said, "and if that happens, we can say goodbye to salmon and steelhead fishing in Idaho."

Greenley also rejected a power company claim that the free-flowing Snake River below Hells Canyon Dam has limited use by the general public.

"Recreational use in that stretch of the river amounted to over 50,000 man-days last year. This use was studied in the High Mountain Sheep and China Gardens sites," he said.

Terry Holubetz, coordinator of environmental services at the department, said any new dams in Hells Canyon would be "an inexcusable disaster, because it would destroy a one-of-a-kind area with dams that would provide a very small percentage of the Northwest's energy needs."

"Plans to supplement with hatchery fish what remains of wild salmon and steelhead runs into Hells Canyon, thus into the Clearwater and Salmon drainages, would be disrupted," Dave Orizaan, a damorous fisheries supervisors, said.

Salmon and steelhead, returning to Idaho from the Pacific Ocean, already have terrible problems caused by the existing eight dams on the lower Snake and Columbia Rivers, he said.

"If dams are constructed in the canyon, it will kill the sturgeon, salmon, steelhead and trout fishing that exists in the free-flowing river," Orizaan said.

Holubetz said the two most recently proposed dams - Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley - would flood between 10,000 and 21,000 acres of key big game winter range, a range that supports abundant deer and elk populations.

TRAVELING TROPHY to the team winners in the first annual Larry Malone Memorial scholarship pro-am is displayed by donor Bob Skredersetu, owner of D.J.'s Lounge, Twin Falls, and Jim Packard, assistant pro at Twin Falls municipal. The pro-am will begin with a shotgun start at 11 a.m. Friday on the city course and about 135 individuals are entered.

Field of 135 set for Malone pro-am

At least 135 golfers from throughout Southern Idaho will participate Friday in the first annual Larry Malone Memorial scholarship pro-am tournament at Twin Falls municipal.

The one-day affair honors former Twin Falls high school and Weber State golf team member, Larry Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Malone, who died of cancer at the age of 21 years.

All proceeds from the event will be used to provide a scholarship, hopefully of $150.

to a deserving Idaho high school budding golf star, with any surplus being turned over to the American Cancer Society.

Basically the field will be contributing to the scholarship fund although members of the Northern Chapter, IGA, are providing hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise prizes.

Howard Allen of Sterling Jewelry is providing a money clip suitably engraved for all those teeing off in the event.

Host professional Clyde

Thomsen said to facilitate things, the tournament will begin with a shotgun start at 11 a.m. Friday. This will allow the tournament field to complete competition at approximately the same time and take part in the banquet Friday evening. The banquet is slated for the Black Whale.

Because of the event, Thomsen noted the course will be closed to public play at 11 a.m. and won't open again until about 5:30 p.m. He said anyone interested in playing up to 11 a.m. is welcome, but does so with the stipulation that at tee-off time, he walks of the course.

For competitors, the event will run along the lines of a regular pro-am. Handicap for the best-ball division will be 75 per cent through 24. Full handicap will be allowed in amateur sweepstakes.

Thomsen added that anyone wishing to contribute to the scholarship fund may do so by mailing a check made out to the Northern Chapter, PGA, to him at the city course clubhouse.

Sonics nip Warriors to tie NBA series

OAKLAND (UPI) — Fred Brown made a layup with 1:08 left and Spencer Haywood connected on two free throws 20 seconds later Wednesday night to give the Seattle SuperSonics a 109-99 victory over the Golden State Warriors and even their NBA Western Division semifinal playoff series at one victory each.

Haywood, who missed half of the final period because of foul trouble, led all scorers with 26 points and had 15 rebounds and Brown added 26 points.

The series shifts to Seattle for the third and fourth games in the best-of-seven playoff on Thursday and Saturday.

The Warriors, who won the opener, 123-96, forced the Sonics to shoot from outside game-long, and with Haywood and Brown connecting successfully Seattle was able to hold off fast-breaking Golden State.

Rick Barry led Golden State with 29 points and Keith Wilkes had 17.

The Warriors led by three points at 78-75 going into the final period, but Brown scored 12 of his points during the quarter to rally Seattle from behind.

With Golden State ahead by a point at 97-96 and only 1:46 left, Brown lost the ball, but the Warriors could not take advantage and Brown then connected to put the Sonics ahead 98-97.

Then Clifford Ray fouled Haywood, and the Sonics star forward made good on his two free throws which made Barry's final basket with 20 seconds remaining meaningless.

four previous '500s.' Other entries received Wednesday included cars for Jerry Grant, Irvine, Calif.; Jerry Karl, Manchester, Pa.; Larry Cannon, Danville, Ill., and rookie Chuck Gurney, Livermore, Calif.

Grant will drive an Eagle for Fred Carrillo, San Juan Capistrano, Calif., in a bid for his ninth Indy starting berth. He finished 10th in last year's race.

Karl was nominated by car owner Carl Gehlhausen, Jasper, Ind., for the third race.

"Cannon, a rookie last year, will drive for Richard Hoffman, Loveland, Ohio, and Gurney will drive for Bruce Crower, Chula Vista, Calif.

Indy 500 draws 10 new racers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Ten more entries for the May 25 Indianapolis "500" auto race were received Wednesday, increasing the field to 49 vying for the 33 starting positions in the annual Memorial Day week classic.

Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials said another eight or nine entries probably would arrive in the mail with postmarks before midnight Tuesday, deadline for entering the race.

The Speedway said those reported still in the mail included cars of the Penske and Gerhardt teams.

The Wednesday entries included two cars for Roger McCluskey, Tucson, Ariz. Two others were submitted by J.C.

Agajanian and Leader Cards, with Steve Kraloff, Parsippany, N.J., listed as the driver.

Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., was assigned to a second car entered by Grant King, Racing of Indianapolis. And Richard Devin, Indianapolis, entered a machine with no driver listed.

Six of Wednesday's entries are powered by turbocharged Drake Offenhauser engines.

McCluskey, who has been in 13 previous Indianapolis races, will drive again for Lindsey Hopkins, Atlanta, Ga. McElreath is a veteran of 11 races at Indianapolis, and Kraloff, who is now second in the USAF championship point standings this year, has been in

Recruits still available

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — David Bliss, the new Sooner basketball coach, said Wednesday he knows what kind of talent is necessary to win in the big eight conference and he feels he has enough time left in the recruiting year to find it.

Bliss, 31, former assistant coach at Indiana, said he did not believe his spring hiring hurt Oklahoma's recruiting of high school and junior college students who will graduate in about a month.

"Basketball recruiting is different from the recruiting in football. A lot of the talented players are still looking at schools and deciding," he said.

Sweden drills U.S.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UPI) — Sweden poured in 11 goals in two periods today to defeat a defeated United States 11-3 in the world ice hockey championships.

It was the United States' ninth straight loss, the third time it had conceded 10 or more goals and its second defeat by Sweden, which had won the U.S. squad 7-0 in the first round.

Spirits confident, not cocky

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The spirits of St. Louis are more confident but less cocky.

Earlier this year, when the team's rookies often made more headline about their actions off the court than on it, it seemed at times they had a contest going to see who could be the most outlandish.

Now, winners of four straight playoff games and authors of a stunning four-out-of-five series win over the defending American Basketball Association champion New York Nets, the spirits aren't making any rash predictions.

Even Marvin Barnes, the league's rookie of the year who has never been noted for his lack of self-esteem, is talking about having a long way to go and about taking one game at a time.

Davis expects trouble

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Al Davis, boss of the Oakland Raiders and pivotal force in the original NFL-AFL merger, said Thursday he feels there's "room" in professional football for the new world football league but believes it will have more difficulty succeeding than it did last year.

Davis was one of the few NFL owners who didn't scoff at the WFL when it was founded originally.

Johnson sets new record

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — John Henry Johnson, who holds the Pittsburgh Steelers' single season rushing mark, has set another record of sorts. The former fullback's 1975 Cadillac has been impounded for his failure to pay $1,861 in parking fines and penalties. Johnson is a candidate for the city council and member of the stadium authority.

An old NFL reunion

WFL reorganizes under prudent, responsible plan

NEW YORK (UPI)— Acting in what was termed "the best American tradition," the debt-ridden World Football League shook off its stumbling debut Wednesday with the creation of a new 10-team circuit dedicated to "a prudent and responsible fiscal plan."

Only the Philadelphia and Memphis franchises remained intact from the league's first season of operation—during which the WFL ran up debts estimated as high as $20 million and was the joke of the sports world. The other cities returning are doing so under new ownership groups.

As outlined Wednesday by president Chris Hemmeyer, the WFL will begin a 20-game regular season schedule in the latter part of July—with teams located in Birmingham, Chicago, Memphis, Hawaii, San Antonio, Shreveport, Southern California, Philadelphia, Jacksonville and Charlotte. Possibly, two more teams will be added in time for 1975, one in Portland, Ore., and the other in a city as yet unidentified.

When the question of credibility with the sporting public was raised, Hemmeyer replied: "We've acted in—the best American tradition. We're not running from a problem, but facing up to it and setting a prudent policy for the future. We cannot announce ourselves to be credible. We can only act credible and hope to prove ourselves to the public."

Attending the news conference, which attracted a crowd almost as big as some of those which paid their way into some WFL games last year, were five of the league's biggest stars—Larry Csonka, Jim Kliek, Paul Warfield, Calvin Hill and John Gilliam. Csonka, Kliek and Warfield, all from the Miami Dolphins of the NFL, will play for the Memphis franchise. Hill, from the Dallas Cowboys, will play for Hawaii, and Gilliam, from the Minnesota Vikings, has no definite affiliation as yet.

It was also confirmed that the WFL is negotiating for Joe Namath and is willing to put together a package worth more than $4 million for the gimpy-kneed quarterback of the New York Jets.

Owner delighted to have Dolphin trio

NEW YORK (UPI)— For John Bassett, the Canadian millionaire who made the World Football League possible, Wednesday's WFL reorganization was a day of delight.

Bassett persuaded Miami Dolphin stars Larry Csonka, Paul Warfield and Jim Kliek to sign with him early in 1974 so they could play with his Toronto team this year. But the Canadian government blocked the WFL from coming north, so Bassett took his franchise to Memphis, Tenn.

"We were 17-3 last year," he reminded. "That was the best record in pro football, and the three men we had playing in the positions Larry, Jim and Paul want were all tremendous."

Bassett was calling attention to J.J. Jennings, the former Rutgers' star who was the league's MVP, to Ed Marshall, the flanker who led the WFL in scoring, and to "our toughest kid," Willie Spencer, who will try to hold off Kliek.

Portland says it's definitely in WFL

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Despite omission of Portland from the list of World Football League teams announced Wednesday the Portland City Council has approved a letter of intent to negotiate a contract for use of Civic Stadium with the Portland Storm.

WFL president Chris Hemmeyer held out the possibility Portland might still get into the league, saying unidentified backers of a Portland franchise had until April 30 to raise the necessary money.

Storm backers. The letter of intent approved by the other council members calls for $1,750 per game plus payment by the team of all expenses.

The sum is the same to be charged the new Portland Timbers of the North American Soccer League.

SELL THAT OLD CHAIR WITH A TIMES-NEWS WANT AD

A beaming Bassett said Wednesday that his prize trio would "definitely play" for the Memphis Southern this season.

There had been reports Bassett would have to sell the contracts of the three NFL stars "other than Kliek" for the WFL to continue in 1975.

"They will play for the Memphis Southern, period," said Bassett. "Initially, I never intended for them to play anywhere but in Toronto, but when I was forced to move to Memphis I never intended for them to play anywhere else but Memphis."

Yet Bassett had a mild warning for Csonka, Kliek and Warfield. According to him, they will have to fight to get starting roles.

Seghi beats weatherman

CLEVELAND (UPI)— Phil Seghi was right 50 per cent of the time which, when you're battling against the weatherman in Cleveland in April, isn't a bad batting average.

Before the American League schedule was made final, Seghi, the Cleveland Indians' general manager, cancelled a three-game series with the Detroit Tigers pencilled in for this week.

His reasoning was that the early April weather here was usually so bad that the games would be postponed anyway, so why not plan on it from the start.

As a result both teams got four-day layoffs, and on Wednesday, the Tribe worked out at the stadium for the second straight day.

Elder revisits scene of win

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)— Lee Elder comes full cycle Thursday, defending the golf title that vaulted him into the Masters.

It was here in Pensacola, playing in what formerly was known as the Monsanto Open, that the 40-year-old Elder picked up the only PGA tour victory of his career and named that Masters' bid that kept him in the spotlight for an entire year.

"That's all behind me now," Elder said on the eve of the Pensacola Open. "I like to think that I'm just another golfer out here on the tour."

Shoshone school board announces need for teachers

SHOSHONE - Several teachers may be needed in the Shoshone school system next year, according to the school board after the Monday night meeting.

The vacancies exist for second, third and possibly the fourth grades at the elementary school and in the post of basketball coach at the high school.

There will be just one first grade next fall, instead of two as has been the case the past two years.

Supt. Kenneth Crothers said Jack Williams is planning to teach social studies and math next year, rather than coach. He will take the place of Ron Pruett who is not returning to the system.

Teachers who were offered contracts have until May 1 to indicate whether or not they will accept.

The 1975-76 school calendar was adopted Monday night, showing school to begin on Aug. 25 and end May 20, 1976. Last day of school this spring is May 22.

Vacations for the next year will include Labor Day on Sept. 1; Thanksgiving, Nov. 20; Christmas, Dec. 24; Jan. 4, and spring vacation April 15-19.

The annual trustee election will be on May 20, with trustees to be elected for zones 1 and 4 for three-year terms. Trustees whose terms expire in 1975-76 are Sara and Fred Braun, neither of whom indicated their intentions. Crothers said.

Holdover members are Waldo Jones, Ivan Hopkins and Bonnie Fay Webb.

After discussing replacement costs of windows in the old part of the high school building, with representatives of DeVoe Co., the board voted to budget about $27,000 in the plant facility fund for this improvement and bids will be called. Plans were made to insulate the ceiling of the high school if funds permit. This work is being done to cut down on fuel use at the building, Crothers said.

Coach Ed Fandy was given permission to attend a meeting of the Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation for the northwest region in Boise next week. Emphasis will be given there on P. E. for girls.

Agriculture instructor Gail Serr met with the board and requested assistance for his FFA Judging team to attend the national meet in Oklahoma April 30 and May 1. The board does not have money to finance the trip but gave permission for the team to attend the meet if they can raise the money necessary to do so.

Mrs. Josephine Lequerica, hot lunch chairman, reported the lunch funds are running about the same as a year ago, or "holding their own," according to Crothers.

Lunches sell at 45 cents for grade school pupils, 50 cents for high school and 60 cents for adults.

The board recessed to April 28 when work will be done on the budget. The budget hearing will be at 7 p.m. on June 9.

Interest focuses on Lemhi thorium

By BOB JOHNSON Times-News writer

SALMON - Prospects for using thorium as an auxiliary fuel in present reactors has been advanced by Linton W. Lang, president of Pacific Nuclear Fuels, Inc., Richland, Wash. Lang has called attention to the mounting interest in thorium as a nuclear fuel resource.

"Within the past year," he said, "use of thorium and U-235 light in water reactors has become a near term prospect as a consequence of the energy crisis and the need for economic uranium enrichment alternatives."

Thorium utilization is of special importance and interest to northwest utilities and the northwest nuclear industry generally, Lang noted, because of the large deposits of some of the world's richest thorium ores available in this area.

Huge thorium deposits are located in the Lemhi Pass area of Lemhi County near Salmon.

Lang has initiated a continuing dialogue on Light Water Reactor (LWR) representatives of six public and private utilities in the northwest, focusing on Pacific Nuclear Fuels' process for U-233 recycle as a uranium enrichment isotope. The importance of integrating thorium and U-233 into plans for new reprocessing facilities was emphasized.

R. L. Stetson, also of Pacific Nuclear Fuels, advised Phil Stahel, chief of the Salmon, Idaho, thorium unit, that thorium could be used as an auxiliary fuel in present reactors with relatively small changes to solve a uranium shortage problem without a lengthy resource development program.

Lang advised also that Pacific Nuclear Fuels concludes that the situation is ripe for consideration of thorium U-233 fueling alternatives for light water ripe for consideration of thorium U-233 fueling alternatives for light water reactors along the lines of the Pacific Northwest Thorium Fuel Cycle Project.

"We see no reason why LWR Thorium fuel loading cannot be started on a gradual basis almost immediately, incorporated as standard fueling for recycling U-233 along with plutonium in the new class of LWRs, and likewise standardized in reprocessing and recycling facilities that must be built."

"More efficient than plutonium or Uranium-235, U-233 is needed to help sustain the economic advantage of thorium fuel now enjoys and conserve fuel resources," Lang said.

"Nucleonics Week," in its March 13 issue, noted that Edward Teller, the nuclear scientist who played a leading role in the development of nuclear energy, advocates that thorium fuels be introduced into the nuclear fuel cycle to produce uranium 233 and "thus solve a uranium shortage problem without a lengthy resource development program."

Teller predicts that annual electricity demand growth will be 4.3 per cent for the next decade or so and that the largest growth in energy production will be in nuclear fuel, some 1,300 per cent by 1985.

Thorium could be used as an auxiliary fuel in present reactors with relatively small change, he says.

what's what

What the airport designers are finding out 25 years too late, I'm told, is that three non-flying citizens show up at the terminals for each incoming or outgoing plane passenger. One youngster and two grownups, most usually. This is a money market hotter than carnivals, and the merchandisers are saddened by the lack of shop space.

CONSIDER the wave lengths of four voices, each singing an octave apart. Those of the soprano on the G note above the treble clef are 1.4 feet in length. Those of the contralto, 2.8 feet. Of the tenor, 5.6 feet. And bass, 11.1 feet. Got that?

LIMERICK

Recently reported here the wish to hold an annual limerick contest. Mable M. Sturgis of Boise, Ida., entered the following: "His gift was brassieres and he trusted... His sweetheart would not be disgusted... But alas! and alack!... She gave them right back... Saying, 'I prefer cash, I'm flat busted.'" Oh, Mabel, you rascal you.

Q. "WHICH kills the more people, lightning or tornadoes?"
 A. Lightning. Over the years, Tornadoes do in about half as many citizens, but rack up a lot more property damage.

NOW ABOUT that eyebrow. It serves to keep the dandruff off the eyelash. And the eyelash serves to keep the dandruff out of the eye. Superb planning, what?

VISION

Take car drivers over the age of 60. Do you consider same a danger on the highways? Too broad a query, no? Still, the Vision Committee of the American Optometric Association contends four out of five such citizens are risky on roads, because of poor eyesight. Nuts! Everybody's risky on the roads.

HOW DO YOU account for the fact that many men but few women have been impostors?

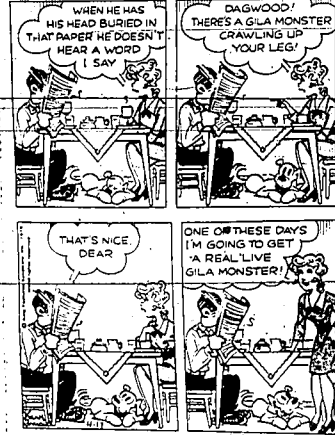

AGAIN AN ASKED how many people Billy the Kid killed. And how old he was when Pat Garrett shot him. Billy died at age 32. Historians say he gunned down 21 people, total. Would like to imply it figured out to be one victim for each year of his life after his first birthday, but it didn't work that way. There were several early years there when he didn't kill anybody.

Spuds decline slightly; cattle, sugar also down

CHICAGO - Potato futures closed lower Wednesday. Most other commodities were lower or showed only slight gains after the day's trading.
 Idaho May russet futures wound up a brisk session with a 10 cent decline, closing at 7.25 per hundredweight.
 Commodity News Service said Maine potato futures declined as support stemmed profit taking. The old crop delivery wound up 12 points down while new crop months finished the session with declines of 1 to 13 points. Trading was active for near May with 2.21 trades of a total volume of 2,648 cars.
 Cash markets continued to be a dominant factor. Support entered the market at the 4.50 area for May.
 Live cattle futures lost ground—in moderate trading with a lackluster cash market and increased resistance to higher prices in wholesale channels.

 Final quotes were down as much as 40 cents in active June, which closed at 41.95, its lowest in a year. Volume was unchanged to down 1 1/2 cents in August and from 3 1/2 to 5 cents for other months. Old closed with gains of a quarter cent to 10 points in nearby months and from 5 lower to 5 higher in deferreds.

NEW YORK (UPI) - The stock market, maintaining the strength it has shown recently, opened higher Thursday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.
 The Dow Jones industrial average was up 0.86 to 815.57 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 296 to 185, among the 591 issues crossing the tape.
 The market has risen this week on further indications the recession might be reaching a bottom. Business inventories have been trimmed sharply while sales have increased. Also, private industry payrolls have increased.
 But profit taking remained a factor, most analysts said. The Dow average has reached its highest level in nine months, and a number of traders have been cashing in on those gains. But there have been an equal number of eager buyers.
 Observers were impressed Wednesday—the day the market rebounded and the way investors shrugged off adverse news developments such as a further decline in housing starts and some lower first quarter earnings reports.

Dietrich

sets tot classes

DIETRICH — The Dietrich School Board Monday approved a half-day, half-year kindergarten program for the coming school year.

According to School Supt. Wayne Perron, the district will transport the kindergarten students to the Dietrich school in the morning but parents will have to pick them up at noon.

The students will be eligible to participate in the school lunch program Perron added.

He said the dates for the kindergarten have not been set, but he added that it will probably run from shortly after Christmas until just before the end of the school year.

State funding to the district for a kindergarten program will amount to about $3,000, Perron said.

The district has had a kindergarten program for two years. The first year the program ran for six weeks and this year the program ran for 12 weeks. In the past student teachers and student teachers' aides have assisted with the kindergarten program, which included eight students under the direction of the first grade teacher.

Next year, Perron said, the district will hire a non-student teachers' aide to assist with the kindergarten program and with a tutoring program for disadvantaged children.

In other action Monday, the Dietrich board:

- approved a 5 per cent wage increase for the school custodian, cook, clerk and bus driver;

- offered new contracts for the coming school year to all teachers currently employed at the school;

- approved a trip by the science teacher, Rick Mergenthaler, to attend a science teachers' conference this week in Sun Valley.

Texas term

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Former Treasury Secretary John Connally was governor of Texas from 1963 until 1969.

Conference planned

CAROL Brockway (left) and Lois Yorty, Twin Falls, display decorations to be used at the Christian Women's Club conference in Twin Falls May 2 through May 4. Representatives from six western states will attend the conference chaired by Mrs. Brockway. Mrs. Yorty is display chairman for the three-day event. Decorations will be centered on celebrating the nation's bicentennial.

Lincoln commission let car, bus bids

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County commissioners will meet in a recessed meeting and as a board of equalization at 10 a.m. Monday.

Business not completed this week will be handled at that time also, including further discussion of salaries to be set for elective officers for 1976.

At the meeting this week, commissioners awarded the bid for a car for the sheriff's department to Harbaugh Motor, Coalinga, for $3,996, and the bid for a bus for the Senior Citizens to Hub Reese Motor, Twin Falls, for $5,977.16.

The resignation of Lyndell Cooper from the planning commission was received and commissioners will make new appointments where needed. The planning commission was designated as the county zoning commission.

The clerk was authorized to notify people suggested to serve on the nine-member solid waste board. The solid waste board, after it is organized, will make preliminary plans for a solid waste area for the county, then present its proposals to the commissioners and city officials.

Donald Sandy and extension agent Ivan Hopkins met with the commissioners regarding Sandy's duties as the county's representative to the Cooperative Weed Control Committee.

The sheriff's quarterly report showed $130 collected in fees and the clerk's monthly report of $2,391 for fees and fines from the clerk's and magistrate's offices.

Jerome swimming pool renovation mullied

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome City Council is considering complete renovation of the city swimming pool.

Erwin Mehr, representing the Rocky Mountain Pool Co., Salt Lake City, Utah, said his firm can renovate the city pool by putting in a new liner at an estimated cost of $25,830. The estimate would also include replacing plumbing, including the main drain line.

Mehr said if work is begun by May 1 it could be completed by June 1. He said a draft would be completed on the full proposal showing what the company will do and including a firm bid proposal.

Mehr said renovating the pool with the new liner would not be a temporary repair but would last up to 20 years. In a discussion held after Mehr left the council meeting, the council members seemed receptive to the proposal.

Mayor Charles Hancock said he believes there is room in Jerome for two pools in the event the chamber of commerce bicentennial committee is able to build a new pool in accordance with their proposal.

Bill Hart, city attorney and bicentennial committee member, said the chamber will soon be circulating petitions in order to form a Jerome County Recreation District. The district would have the authority to levy a three-mill tax against property in order to raise money for recreational purposes.

It was explained it could be as much as five years before a new pool could be built here.

Bill Bubak, councilman, recommended going ahead with the renovation project, including a new deck, improved bath houses and all other needed repairs.

The city faces one problem in the project — lack of available funds. The city budgeted $4,800 to-scientist and repair the cracks in the pool. The city would have to borrow the money for renovation. This could be paid off in the next year's budget with revenue sharing money.

Bids will be opened May 6 on a bid-letting of the pool. Because of this the council is making every effort to reach a decision on renovation before bid opening.

The council gave its approval to the Jerome County Planning Council's preliminary comprehensive recreation plan. The plan, also approved by the county will now be submitted to the State Parks Department.

Marshall Everheart, councilman, said submission of the plan gives Jerome an automatic five points on the priority list for Bureau of Outdoor Recreation grants.

The city has submitted application for a grant to develop a city park in the Magic Meadow subdivision northeast of town.

The city has awarded a contract to Elliott's Inc. for a new city grader at a cost of $34,485 and to Starline Equipment Co. for a new fire truck at a cost of $11,338. The Elliott bid was the only one received and the Starline firm submitted the low bid in an earlier bid opening.

The city contract for garbage hauling was transferred to Parks and Son. Laird Inc. had the original contract with the city, which was later changed to Idaho Disposal Co., which has been purchased by Parks and Son.

The Jerome School Board asked the city if an agreement can be drawn up requiring anyone hooking up to the water and sewer lines laid by the school district from the city limits east to the new high school to reimburse the school district for expenses.

The council decided it would be better to have the school prepare the proposal and submit it for council approval. Council members agree to look favorably on a request by the Jerome Citizens for Public Kindergarten who have asked to use Pioneer Hall, a city building, as a possible location for classes this fall.

Hancock said the group originally planned to use church facilities but since most of these facilities are in the basement they would not meet state requirements.

"Pioneer Hall may not be approved either, but at least we can have them look at it," Mayor Hancock said.

A resolution will be prepared by the city to permit the Jerome Chamber of Commerce to establish an office in the front of the city hall in the area where the police station was formerly located.

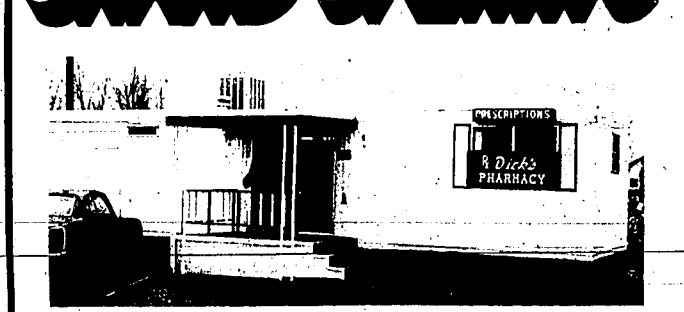

The chamber would be responsible for remodeling the area and would be asked to pay $50 per month.
