

Quick reconciliation seen on Viet bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a session that did not end until nearly 3 a.m., the House voted today to authorize $327 million in humanitarian and evacuation aid for South Vietnam and give President Ford great latitude to use American troops in any evacuation efforts.

The House measure, approved on a 230-187 vote after nearly 15 hours of continuous debate, corresponds with a Senate version authorizing $250 million for the two programs. The Senate bill, which also gives Ford evacuation powers, was approved Wednesday 75-17.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., expressed confidence today that House and Senate conferees will "very quickly" reconcile their separate bills.

"I believe we will be able to reconcile the views of the House and Senate perhaps as early as today. I think we can do it very quickly," Javits, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a news conference.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen at the start of today's floor session that once a House-Senate agreement is achieved the Senate would be prepared to act immediately, possibly before the weekend.

The bills approved so far only authorize spending the money but do not provide the money itself. Even after both houses reach agreement they will have to pass another bill appropriating the funds.

The House International Relations Committee scheduled a meeting today to discuss the House-Senate conference.

The Senate measure would provide $100 million for evacuation and $150 million for refugee relief. Carefully drawn terms would permit U.S. troops to evacuate Americans and the South Vietnamese who accompany them, but only until the last of the Americans is rescued.

The House bill would permit $77 million for evacuation and $300 million for humanitarian aid. The only restriction on evacuation procedures is a requirement that the minimum number of troops and the degree of force be used. It would rescind five laws which cut off funds if U.S. troops are reintroduced in Indochina.

Rep. Don Reagle, D-Mich., repeatedly denounced the authority in the measure as "honestly, a blank check" which could involve the United States in a new military operation. Rep. Thomas E. Morgan responded that the authority to use U.S. troops was essential in a large-scale evacuation. Morgan's side had the votes, 282-151.

As of Wednesday, a House leader said fewer than 1,000 U.S. officials and dependents were in Vietnam. There are roughly another 1,000 reporters, contractors, missionaries and the like who can leave any time.

Only a few thousand of the estimated 200,000 Vietnamese allies of the United States have been evacuated. The administration thinks they could be killed or tortured in a Communist takeover.

Republicans booed Rep. Mendel Davis, D-S.C., when he suggested the administration might be "holding Americans in there just to get these funds." It was an indication of the passion of the debate.

"If you think panic reigns in Saigon, you should have checked the temper of this place a few minutes ago," said Rep. Michael Blouin, D-Iowa.

Coalition bogs

SAIGON (UPI) — President Tran Van Huong's efforts to form a peace coalition government acceptable to the Communists bogged down today in bickering between followers of Gen. Duong Van (Big) Minh and Senate President Ryan Van Lam.

There was a general lull in ground fighting as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese apparently held up their expected assault on Saigon until formation of a government with which they can negotiate a cease-fire.

An estimated 150,000 Communists were poised within striking distance of Saigon, and thousands of panicked South Vietnamese tried desperately to flee the country.

Ek surgery date now in September

TWIN FALLS — Cerebral palsy victim Larry Ek will be undergoing surgery to relieve his crippling condition sooner than he had expected, but he will need more money to do it.

Ek confirmed today that doctors at St. Barnabas Hospital in New York City have moved up his surgery date for a brain stimulator implant from November to September.

Ek had originally been scheduled to receive the pioneering implant Nov. 24, but that surgery has now been scheduled for Sept. 29, he said.

Under the procedure, a small electronic stimulator, called a "brain pacemaker," will be implanted next to Ek's brain to prod nerve tissue in the cerebellum into taking over some of the motor coordination function intended for nerve tissue destroyed by blood clotting prior to Ek's birth.

According to doctors, the technique has shown good results with cerebral palsy victims. Ek was cleared for the implant by the St. Barnabas staff when he went for examination in March.

The community fund drive to raise the estimated $19,000 necessary for Ek's surgery, meanwhile, has passed the halfway point.

According to John Angerbaer, Twin Falls Bank and Trust public relations officer handling the Ek trust, there is currently about $5,914 in the fund, leaving just over $4,000 to be raised by September.

US accelerates airlift

By United Press International
U.S. Air Force planes flew thousands of American and Vietnamese evacuees from Saigon to Guam today in an accelerated airlift that reduced the number of U.S. citizens in South Vietnam toward the 500 mark.

The reported movement of Communist antiaircraft missiles toward Saigon heightened the atmosphere of urgency surrounding the airlifts.

More than 2,000 Vietnamese refugees and about 100 Americans arrived at Andersen Air Force Base on the Pacific Island of Guam, a U.S. territory, in a 24-hour period ending this morning.

Military and civilian transport planes dived in almost hourly, bringing 75 to 200 evacuees at a clip. The ratio of Vietnamese to Americans aboard the flights was running about 20-1.

A U.S. embassy source in South Vietnam said the number of "official" Americans in the country would be down to "around 500" within 24 hours.

The source said in Saigon it was impossible to determine the exact number of Americans remaining in the country at any given time because sizeable groups were arriving each day.

These consist mainly of American citizens, many of these naturalized Vietnamese, returning to try to help relatives, friends, fiancées and others out of the country.

Idaho attorney general checks Sunshine law, '74 campaign tie

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
BOISE — Following charges that the governor, among others, has apparently violated the Sunshine disclosure act, Attorney General Wayne Kidwell is trying to determine if the new law applies to county political committees and to candidates who went through the 1974 election.

Kidwell is approaching the subject carefully. "The law is very ambiguous in some of these areas. The intent of the law is for disclosure, not harassment, and that will be our guiding light," he said this morning.

The attorney general said he is not investigating possible violations by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus or any other particular candidates or committees, but just what the law requires.

He said he had earlier told the governor that he believed him to be in compliance with the Sunshine law, if any violations did occur. Kidwell said, "they were extremely technical and unwillful in nature."

political committees, has not filed reports yet on what has been done with leftover campaign funds.

Lunte said neither he nor Olson are out to press formal charges against Andrus or the county committees but are "just dramatizing the fact that this, as it is set up, is a very poor law."

Since the law is complex and provides for $250 a day punishment for individuals not in compliance — "It takes volunteerism out of the political arena," he said.

The allegations, Lunte maintained, are also to show that Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, recently sentenced to jail for breaking federal disclosure laws, was treated unfairly.

Ben Yauris, attorney for the secretary of state's office, said today that no formal charges have been filed, but that his office has gone to the attorney general for clarification of ambiguous sections of the Sunshine Act.

Acid threat exaggerated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency greatly exaggerated the threat of sulfuric acid pollution when it asked Congress for a five-year delay in automobile exhaust cleanup rules, a former EPA official said today.

Dr. Robert S. Sansom, former assistant (EPA) administrator for air and water and now a private researcher, released a study paid for by the manufacturers of catalytic converters — the pollution control device questioned by the agency.

"EPA has exaggerated this problem by about 200 to 500 per cent," Sansom told a news conference.

He said the agency greatly overestimated the probable exposure levels of sulfates by using faulty test procedures.

Farming pledged first priority in US water use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department said today first priority on use of the nation's water supply will go to agriculture, not the production of energy.

The promise came after experts reported to a National Conference on Water that the United States faces a major conflict between using its water to grow food and also keep up with a growing demand for energy.

But Assistant Interior Secretary Jack O. Horton (UPI) said his agency has recognized the problem and will force the energy industry to meet its needs with "surplus water" not presently required for food growing.

"The Department of the Interior has taken a position we will not provide water for energy at the expense of water for agriculture," Horton said. "We are taking a very tough position that we will not prejudice the availability of water for agriculture."

Presenting the results of high level seminars to the conference, government and private experts said the country needs to adopt better plans for developing and using its water resources.

Daniel Dreyfus, deputy staff director for the Senate Interior Committee, said there was a general agreement that the energy industry could outbid all other users — particularly the agriculture business — if price is allowed to determine allocation of scarce water supplies.

He said virtually every new means of energy production places new demands on water supplies.

on water supplies for food growing and forest products.

"The conflict between our agricultural and energy needs is a major problem of growing proportion," Long said.

During Wednesday's discussions, a Dow Chemical Co. official suggested that fears about the discovery of cancer-producing substances in city water supplies are based more on myth than reality.

Blacks seize Brown U. building

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Black students today seized Brown University's main administration building and demanded increased minority representation on campus.

About 400 to 500 black students, cheered on by hundreds of white sympathizers, surrounded the building on the college green at 8:10 a.m.

Gunmen invade Stockholm embassy

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Five gunmen stormed the West German embassy today, seized Ambassador Dietrich Stoeker as hostage and shot and seriously wounded territorial attaché in a move to free other anarchists held in West German jails.

The gunmen demanded a Lufthansa Boeing 707 jet to fly them to an unknown destination as they did when a group of West German anarchists kidnaped a West Berlin mayoral candidate earlier this year. They also demanded $20,000 and the freeing of several prisoners in Germany.

Medic says Cincy quints improve

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Doctors at General Hospital reported today the Levy quintuplets continued in "good condition and all are better today than they were yesterday," when they also were said to be doing well.

"Three of the babies started on bottle feeding Wednesday afternoon and the other two will start today," said Dr. Irwin Light.

George poised

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace, campaigning for Tennessee to retain its presidential primary election, says he plans to announce his 1976 candidacy for the White House in June.

Wallace said he is "for the little man, your average middle class worker and I predict next year will be the year of the average citizen... it's time he received some attention."

120,000 more get jobless benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department reported today that more than 6.5 million persons were receiving unemployment insurance benefits during the first week in April, an increase of more than 120,000 over the previous week.

As the jobless benefit rolls swell, there was some shifting of persons into different benefit programs, the government said.

Treasury wants tighter gun laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department Wednesday urged stricter licensing controls on the sale of firearms and called for a ban on the manufacture of some small handguns.

Testifying before the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee, a department official said there were "critical deficiencies" in existing federal gun control laws which needed correction.

Amtrak sidetracked?

BOISE (UPI) — Experimental Amtrak Service for southern Idaho may be sidetracked by the Congress, the Idaho Statesman said today.
 Laws creating Amtrak expire June 30, the newspaper said, and the Ford administration has proposed a new one which would exclude experimental routes such as the one planned for Idaho.
 A spokesman for Sen. Frank Church said that if Congress accepts this it would wipe out all of Idaho's guarantees — quite possibly the chance for the promised experimental route.
 Church accused the Ford administration of stalling implementation of the Idaho Amtrak route until after the law requiring it expires this summer. He said such action violates congressional intent.

Politicos behind Hansen charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressman George Hansen said Wednesday he has no quarrel with the U.S. Department of Justice, but the case against him was pushed to that agency by politicians with political axes to grind.
 Asked about reports that his attorneys had engaged in plea bargaining on the question of intent, and if he felt he had been singled out as an example, Hansen said:
 "I think everyone ought to know that the Justice Department, with no conversation from any of us, completely wrote off any serious charges."
 That was before I was ever seated in Congress," Hansen told KTFI news of Twin Falls in a telephone interview. "My notification was that there might be one or more possible misdemeanors. But that's it and that's what it turned out to be."
 "I think I was singled out for this investigation all right. I don't think I was singled out by the Justice Department. I notice the Justice Department has said they don't make elective justice. And I don't quarrel with that at all."
 "If people remember, my case was pushed to the Justice Department by the House Administration Committee — members of the House Administration Committee — in Washington."
 Asked if he plans to appeal that sentence, Hansen said he wants to make sure the law is being best served and "we want to make sure that what has been done so far (by the justice department) is the most honest thing that can happen."
 He said he has asked his attorneys to pursue all legal remedies, available, to be sure that the Constitution is not being "drawn and quartered." He referred to the problem of sending a congressman to jail while Congress is in session.
 Asked what effect the execution of his sentence would have on his ability to represent the second district in Idaho, he said:
 "There are weekends and other times when there isn't that much going on. The office could be really well handled by my wife and my staff and so it's the votes that you miss that are of concern. Of course, I don't want to miss votes because some of them are very crucial and are decided by a close margin."
 "What we want to do is try to make it possible, if there is any sentence to serve, that it be served on my time, not on the public's time and so that we are not creating any problems for my constituents and for the country."
 In addition, he said he had been served subpoenas to appear in Boise later this month to testify at a trial of two Idaho Democrats accused of obtaining his credit rating under false pretenses.

Credit report charges upheld

BOISE (UPI) — Federal Judge Fred M. Taylor refused today to dismiss charges against Mel Morgan of Pocatello and Rose-Marie Bowman of Boise that they conspired to falsely obtain credit information about Rep. George V. Hansen prior to his election to Congress.
 Morgan and Miss Bowman go on trial in U.S. District Court in Boise at 9:30 a.m. next Tuesday.
 Attorneys for the two had requested dismissal of the charges after an amended information was filed with the court. Earlier, Taylor had denied dismissal of the charges in the original complaint.
 The U.S. Attorney had charged that the two conspired to obtain a credit report on Hansen and that Morgan used his position as owner of the Nate Morgan Jewelers in Pocatello to acquire it from the Credit Bureau of Pocatello, Inc. under false pretenses.
 Morgan allegedly was requested to obtain the report by Miss Bowman and Morgan delivered it by mail to Hansen's Primary Election opponent, incumbent Republican Congressman Orval Hansen.
 In the amended information, Assistant U.S. Attorney Mike H. Williams included the fact that Morgan could only obtain credit information for an "exclusive" use of his store for the purpose of a credit transaction, employment, underwriting insurance or a business transaction involving a consumer.
 He said Morgan and Miss Bowman conspired to obtain the information for delivery to persons "not employed or connected" with the jewelry store for "an improper purpose pertaining to the campaign financing of a primary election by George Hansen."
 Morgan is said to have mailed the information in Washington, D.C., Aug. 20, 1974, to Orval Hansen.

Benefit game set

TWIN FALLS — Armed forces recruiters in the Twin Falls area have challenged the Twin Falls Police Department to a basketball game with the proceeds going to Larry Eck.
 Eck, who is hoping to undergo surgery for a brain pacemaker this fall needs $10,000 for the operation.
 Police Chief Frank Barnett has accepted the challenge and named Jim Milden as organizer for the department. Milden is checking the height and reach of some of the officers to select his team.
 The game will be played May 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium and the public is invited to attend. In fact, recruiters point out, this will give the public a chance to boo their favorite police officer and get away with it.
 Recruiters practicing for the match include Jim Hughes and Ed Burch, U.S. Army, and Wayne Fisher and Ron Bly from the U.S. Marine Corps. Representing the U.S. Navy are Brad Bradley and Harry Marsh with Ray LaFon from the U.S. Air Force.
 Some special half-time entertainment is also planned.

Club plans May tea

TWIN FALLS — The Healthy Cooky Cutters 4-H Club plans a Mother's Tea at 7:30 p.m. May 12.
 Plans for the event were made at the Tuesday meeting at the home of Luane Platt, leader. Members will participate in Johnny Horizon Cleanup Day May 3.
 Demonstrations were given by Shelley Bartlett on pattern markings, and Valerie Kerr on "Characteristics of 2 year olds."
 Marla Burgess, teen leader, assisted girls with different types of stitches and Miss Platt gave a quiz on pattern markings.

Program slated in TF

TWIN FALLS — About 120 young people will participate in a "Spring Sing '75" to be presented Saturday by the youth of the Twin Falls LDS Stake.

Performances will be given at 7:30 and 9 p.m. in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

The program will include chorus, dance and orchestra numbers and skits.

Mrs. Deloy Bingham is director of the program. Mrs. Kim McKinnon is producer and youth chairmen are Jerry VanderDoes and Kathryn Slaughter.

The performances are free. Although tickets to the 7:30 performance are no longer available, those not holding tickets are invited to attend the 9 p.m. performance.

TF miss receives stipend

TWIN FALLS — A scholarship to further her studies in secretarial science has been awarded Stacy L. McCullough, Twin Falls, by the Twin-Ida chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

Miss McCullough, a student at the College of Southern Idaho, received the award during a luncheon of the secretaries and their guests Tuesday in the Holiday Inn.

The winner was selected from among a number of applicants and by a vote of the association membership.

The scholarship of $150 is given from proceeds received through the annual luncheon. Muriel Muth, association president, presented the award.

She also introduced Juanita Bolinger, a secretary at the pathology department, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, who was selected Secretary of the year by the chapter membership. Miss Bolinger received a large plaque.

Holly Houburg served as master of ceremonies for the annual luncheon. About 250 persons attended.

Grange meets

KING HILL — Mr. and Mrs. George Roseberry were given the fourth degree obligation at the Tuesday evening meeting of the King Hill Grange.

Master Frank Jones was assisted by Rodney Ruberry, assistant steward, and Mrs. Earl Ellis, lady assistant steward, in giving the obligation.

Richard Willis, Glenns Ferry, Idaho State patrolman, spoke to the group on "Safe Driving," and explained how the truckers manage to exceed the speed limit.

The members voted to donate $5 to the Grange Youth Leadership Fund. Mrs. Jones, secretary, announced that the National Grange will be held in Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 19-18.

The women of the Grange will serve the dinner for the seniors of the Glenns Ferry High School on May 8. Mrs. Howard Pugmire, women's activity chairman, gave a report of the luncheon served at a recent auction sale.

Mrs. Dick Rolce, lecturer, was instructed to order a set of bicentennial flags to use throughout the coming year. Other things discussed for the 1976 celebration were the old horse drinking fountain and the original school house that might be used as a museum.

Everyone was urged to plant vegetables and flowers with the Elmore County Fair in mind, as exhibits will be needed.

A potluck dinner preceded the meeting, with Mrs. T.M. Timbers and Mrs. Rolce working on the dinner. Mrs. Cecil Bolt assisted with the decorations of spring flowers.

Cottage cheese stolen from plant

TWIN FALLS — Someone apparently likes cottage cheese.

Officials at Meadow Gold Dairy Products told police someone forced a lock on a freezer room at the firm Wednesday night and entered the storage area where ice cream, yogurt and cottage cheese are stored.

Four cartons of cottage cheese, totaling about eight pounds, were taken but nothing else was missing.

An inventory will be made to determine if other items were removed. The firm is located at 227 Third Ave. W.

Irene Basom, executive secretary of the Twin Falls chapter of American Red Cross, told police someone took a tape recorder, portable radio and stapler from her office.

She said the theft apparently occurred sometime during office hours while she was in another part of the building.

The loss was discovered about 11 a.m. Wednesday. Value of the items was about $68, she said.

Diane Apley, Twin Falls, told police she was at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, and from the building saw her automobile trunk was open.

On investigating she found it had been opened and a bumper jack and stand taken. Loss was about $25.

Clean up anytime in spring

TWIN FALLS — Spring clean-up time is every day in Twin Falls, Joe Koon, superintendent of sanitation says.

He said while there is no special clean-up designation, the city sanitation contractor is prepared to handle any amount of extra trash at anytime, under one specific condition. It must be packaged or prepared according to city regulations so the sanitation crews can pick it up.

Koon said the contractor will haul weekly all garbage, trash or tree limbs put out at the regular garbage pickup site and there is no limit to the number of containers, bundles or tree limbs providing each bundle, box or bag does not weigh more than 75 pounds and each tree limb is cut in no more than 6-foot lengths.

Materials not included in what can be picked up are animals or animal waste, building materials, vehicle parts, dirt, rock, plaster, wood and so on.

Paper and paper products only may be burned during legal burning hours and when burned in proper burning containers. All other burning requires a permit issued by the fire department.

If trash or garbage is missed, residents should call the city's solid waste contractor, Parks and Sons, 733-4441, or call for information at the city sanitation department, 733-0866, extension 53.

'Outstanding' students named

TWIN FALLS — Phyllis Roberts, Meridian; Bill Gardunia, Twin Falls, and Shirley Chapman, Buhl, have been named "most outstanding students of the year" at the College of Southern Idaho.

Roberts was awarded a $50 scholarship by the CSI Student Senate as the top academic student. Gardunia and Chapman each received $25 scholarships and shared honors as the top vocational education students.

Travel lesson

Through a chance but fortunate meeting, a possible tragedy in the desert country southwest of Castleford was averted this past weekend.

A group of four-wheel drive enthusiasts encountered Terry Watson of Mountain Home, who was walking out to find help after being stranded with his family on a muddy desert track.

The Watsons, who came to Idaho from West Virginia, had a narrow escape from a possible tragedy through their unfamiliarity with Idaho's desert country.

Their adventure emphasizes once again the admonitions that are often given to those who venture out on seldom used roads and into isolated areas - let someone know where you're going, when you expect to return, and travel prepared for possible emergency.

The latter precaution should include carrying a small stock of food, clothing and some basic tools including ax and shovel.

And the Watsons' travail emphasizes another point - isolated roads in Idaho often become impassable in spring. Traveling them requires knowledge of the country, caution, and attention to road and weather conditions.

The Watsons were fortunate. Next time they venture out into isolated country, they will - hopefully - go better prepared. It's a lesson that can't be ignored.

I'M QUITTING THIS GAME - I JUST DON'T HAVE JERRY FORD'S POWERS OF CONCENTRATION!

Deficits pave road to US disaster

WASHINGTON - President Ford drew a $60 billion line in his speech March 29.

It was a fine dramatic gesture, and it came over great on TV, but the line already has disappeared. The grim probability is that the deficit for the coming fiscal year will surpass $80 billion.

The figures zip through our minds like some of those invisible particles whipped from an electron accelerator. They make no conscious impact. It is imperative, or so it seems to me, that we concentrate on this whole problem of deficit finance and try to understand where we are heading.

The federal budget has shown a surplus in only four of the past 30 years. These were not large surpluses: They amounted cumulatively to only $10.8 billion. In this same period, including the present fiscal year, the deficits have amounted to some $240 billion. One result is a national debt on which we are paying $33 billion this year.

That is not the only result. Beyond question, these deficits were a prime causative influence on the combined inflation and recession that struck the American economy with such stunning effect last year. Massive federal borrowings have dominated the capital market; they have had a demoralizing effect on the language may be invoked - on every aspect of our economy.

Now the prospect is for more of the same - in vastly larger sums, piled upon a less stable foundation. The Senate Budget Committee proposes a federal deficit for the coming year of $82.6 billion. The House committee proposes $73.2 billion. Neither figure is likely to stay glued together.

The House already has passed public works and housing bills that would add $4.3 billion. The Senate is looking at an appealing proposal for new revenue sharing that would add $5 billion. Few persons expect the Congress to go along with Ford's hold-the-line pleas on federal pay and social services; these decisions could add almost $3 billion more. Intense pressures will be applied in coming months for railway aid, public service employment, national health insurance, and still greater extensions of unemployment compensation.

We are sowing the wind. As surely as night follows day, we will reap the whirlwind. The tax reduction bill the President signed last month, before he drew his line in the sand, eventually will be seen as a blunder. Wholly apart from the precedents this act will set, the immediate effect will be to add some $23 billion to the Treasury's problems.

If the President had vetoed that bad bill, and let the economy work its own healing processes for a few more months, we might have witnessed a bottoming-out and a slow turnup by fall. To be sure, this may happen anyhow. Treasury Secretary Simon's "patches of blue" are growing larger. Our ailing economy may have enough residual health to survive even the blood-letting remedies the Congress has prescribed.

But the far more likely result of the course on which we are now embarked is fiscal disaster. If Simon's gloomy projections are anywhere near the mark, the Treasury will have to finance cumulative deficits over the next five years approaching $30 billion. It will be an economic miracle if this debt can be handled without triggering a new spiral of destructive inflation.

It is not enough, as Senator Muskie of Maine has urged, that we "stop, look and listen." The Senate Budget chairman will have to exhort his colleagues to do much more. Until we are clearly out of this recession - until rising employment begins to produce significant new revenues - the Congress must set an example of restraint and austerity.

If the wild horses of deficit spending are not controlled, we will fall like the impudent Phaethon. And we will be a long time picking up the shattered pieces.

Making up with Meany Scoop's key

MILWAUKEE - Minutes after Sen. Henry M. Jackson left a breakfast with top labor brass here last Saturday, the president of the Milwaukee County Labor Council cornered Jackson national campaign manager Robert J. Keefe with a fundamental question.

"How does Scoop stand with George Meany these days?" asked Werner Schaefer. Keefe, who runs Jackson's campaign, gave a sugar-coated answer. There's not all that much difference between Meany and Jackson, he said, but they're both strong-willed men and disagreements are bound to crop up.

In fact, relations between the formerly hawkish advocate of a headline role for America in the world, including Southeast Asia, and the dour, tough anti-Communist president of the AFL-CIO could hardly be worse. The break between them, begun by Jackson's support of the trade bill, is now being widened by the Senator's unresolved dilemma in his drive for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Meany was appalled when Jackson told a nationwide audience on CBS morning news that emergency funds should be restricted to evacuating Americans, not Vietnamese. To Meany, that was one more signal of Jackson's switch from hawk to dove.

EVANS AND NOVAK

Meany does not care about the vastly different political atmosphere today that Jackson advisers say dictates just such a metamorphosis. So Jackson devoted 90 minutes to labor's high command here in one of the critical 1976 presidential primary states.

Although he acquiesced himself well to the national audience on CBS morning news that evening, Jackson was not alone. He was joined by John Costa of the 1,000-member Laborers' Union, who was committed to him long before the 1972 presidential campaign.

But even Costa was not wholly pleased with the Saturday breakfast. "He should have said something about the Philippines," Costa told us. "That's the next place to go."

Nor were hard-line Wisconsin labor leaders entirely happy with Jackson the night before. His biggest hand as star attraction at the Milwaukee County Democratic committee fund-raising dinner came when he lambasted the Ford administration for not evacuating Americans fast enough.

Otherwise, the fund-raiser has a conspicuous success for Jackson. A record crowd was turned out by Democratic county chairman Daryl Hansen, a dedicated Jackson backer. Jackson was impressive in a unique format. He sat in an elevated swivel chair on a raised dais in the center of the ballroom, fielding questions for 75 minutes.

But Hansen's problem recruiting ticket-buyers on a Friday night revealed another aspect of the senator's campaign: his reliance as the Senate's pro-Israel leader on Jewish contributors. Hansen's hope to sell tables to business leaders was blocked at the last moment by the new campaign contributions law. To make up the loss, he appealed to the Jewish community.

"When we said the speaker was Scoop Jackson," a Hansen operative told us, "the answer was instantaneous: 'I'll be there.'"

Meany's support of Israel against the Arabs is probably a plus today. But pro-Jackson politicians worry about unpredictable Mideast changes affecting American voter attitudes.

By far the senator's deeper problem is his deteriorated relationship with labor and George Meany. As one statewide AFL-CIO leader known to close to Meany told us: "Until Scoop makes up with Uncle George, he ain't going nowhere."

Thought for today

A thought for the day: American novelist William Faulkner said, 'I believe that man will not merely endure he will prevail.'

WHAT'S THIS - OUR NEW NATIONAL BIRD?

Greek premier hoping for accords

ATHENS - Greece has begun withdrawing from the direct alliance structure units of its armed forces hitherto earmarked for NATO commands.

This follows a long period during which Premier Konstantinos Karamanlis tried to slow down a procedure promised when the North Atlantic community. It was hoped, might do something concrete about Turkey's invasion of Cyprus, a predominantly Greek-speaking island republic.

However, pressures have mounted here as emotional public opinion spurs action when Ankara only reinforces its Cypriot position. Nevertheless, Greek officers still attend certain NATO meetings and there is nothing like a total break by Athens. The position is more or less like that of France vis-a-vis NATO - loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty and more real, than apparent military cooperation.

Meanwhile, negotiations between Greece and the United States are proceeding with a view to reducing the number of American armed forces facilities in this strategically located land. Official Athens makes clear that it harbors no hostility to the U.S., despite alleged mistakes over Cyprus. It is simply a question of national dignity.

What this means is that bases will be allowed American when and where it can be proven they are mutually beneficial to security.

In the meantime Greece is behaving with great propriety. All U.S. armed forces facilities here are still functioning, until final accord is reached on discussions. Even the much-debated and politically counterproductive home-porting arrangement for American destroyers around Athens continues for the nonce. However, there is every indication Washington will shortly take the initiative in suggesting its termination.

C.L. SULZBERGER

A cool reassessment of American's own defensive position around here indicates the U.S. feels that in the complex naval and missile base at Suda Bay, Crete and the extensive air facilities near Athens are of vital United States concern. But the Greeks with their lesser installations seem to be handling them, despite intense local bitterness stemming from the Turkish invasion of Cyprus last summer and Washington's inability (or, as it is termed here, "failure,") to prevent the landings. Nevertheless, Karamanlis accepted an offer of renewed U.S. aid, merely stressing that his could not be "correlated" to Greece's foreign policy attitudes.

This official restraint is in sharp contrast to the noisy anti-American approbrium in the public media.

One is reminded that the American administration acknowledges Greek moderations on Cyprus and Aegean problems with Turkey which this country agreed to take to the World Court for adjudication. Therefore, why doesn't Washington stress this acknowledgment in public? Karamanlis himself is ready to talk to the new Turkish government about these matters if the Turks demonstrate they are in good faith.

But he is scarcely optimistic - even about new Cypriot talks scheduled in Vienna.

He was shown concern on these issues because Cyprus is political dynamite in this passional land. Notwithstanding, Karamanlis is ready to discuss the complex of issues with the Turks of the United States. He says:

"I am ready to talk to anyone at any time on the condition - that there is good will and an honest attitude plus the needed elementary reparations for such a dialogue. There is no point in having such a talk without requisite elementary preparations. That risks fiasco."

After silence, detente with Hanoi

WASHINGTON - Will the United States survive the loss of Indochina?

If past experience is any proof, the answer is "yes." For a year or two there will be much soul-searching by Cambodia and South Vietnam went down the drain. But after a period of bitter silence, this is what will probably happen.

The People's Republic of Vietnam will start a ping-pong team. A small item about the team beating the People's Republic of China will appear in a newspaper in College Park, Md. This will give the University of Maryland a brilliant idea. Why not invite the People's Republic of Vietnam's ping-pong team to play against the best ping-pong team the Americans can muster?

The State Department reminds the students that we have no diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of Vietnam. But secretly they're intrigued with the idea. The secretary of state suggests the American cultural attache in Paris feel out the PRVN about a match.

The answer comes back that the PRVN will not send a team to the United States but is willing to play the Americans in Hanoi. A team consisting of half American students and half CIA agents sent to Hanoi and trounced by the Vietnamese. This gives the Americans an opportunity to invite the PRVN to the United States. When they arrive in Maryland with their team consisting of half Viet Cong students and half political commissars, a secret meeting is arranged between the secretary of state and the coach of the ping-pong team who is really deputy secretary of the Vietnamese Communist Party.

The coach suggests that the secretary of state make a secret trip to Hanoi and visit with Gen. Giap, the president of the country. The secretary agrees and flies to Pakistan where he announces that he has a bad stomach and will be out of action for a few days.

But instead he boards a plane and flies into Hanoi where he is given a state dinner.

The secretary then flies back to Washington to report to the President that Gen. Giap would like him and his wife to visit their country.

ART BUCHWALD

The U.S. President, who needs some way of distracting the people from domestic problems at home, considers the idea a bold stroke of diplomacy.

He accepts the invitation and in four months the American people watch on satellite TV a dinner in Haiphong where the U.S. President and the PRVN president pledge friendship and peace and sign a trade and cultural pact. This makes both the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union furious, which is what the secretary of state had in mind in the first place.

The PRVN sends us the Ho Chi Minh Ballet-Theater and we send them Shirley MacLaine, Faye Dunaway and the rest of the show.

Eventually there will be a few people who will remember that we were once at war in Indochina. The only time it will even come up is when a former president of South Vietnam, dies in Switzerland, and the President declines to send a Congressional Representative to his funeral.

Washington and there will be Vietnamese flags all along Pennsylvania Avenue and living from the conditions - that there is good will and an honest attitude plus the needed elementary reparations for such a dialogue. There is no point in having such a talk without requisite elementary preparations. That risks fiasco."

Thais want worrisome US military presence out

Thursday, April 24, 1975 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 1, 5

By HENRY S. BRANDSHER
Washington Star
WASHINGTON — The U.S. failure to protect South Vietnam has strengthened the desire in Thailand to be rid of a U.S. military presence, which is now seen as more of a danger than a protection.

Disturbed by emergencies in Cambodia and in Vietnam, the Ford administration has been unable to see far enough ahead to make decisions on the U.S. military bases in Thailand.

This has caused mounting displeasure in Bangkok over the U.S. failure to set down and work out a timetable with Thailand on closing the bases.

The Thai government has said it wants U.S. troops withdrawn within a year. The official figure on U.S. troop strength there is now 77,500; the actual total is a bit lower.

The Thai foreign ministry spokesman, Phirat Itararatsena, was quoted by a Bangkok newspaper Tuesday as saying that the U.S. embassy there has ignored a three-week-old request to talk about closing the bases within a year.

The acting head of the embassy, Edward E. Masters, was invited to a meeting of the joint U.S.-Thai committee on troop withdrawals but did not reply, Phirat said. "It is believed he might be hesitating to accept the withdrawal will not have to take place," the spokesman said.

State Department officials deny this. There is no problem over eventually closing the bases, but the problem is when it is to be done, one spokesman here said.

The "when" seems to depend upon how soon Saigon falls — a development that is expected to come soon by military conquest or a politically arranged surrender — and the whole American involvement in South Vietnam ends.

Other sources describe the U.S. reluctance to be planned down for discussions on a withdrawal timetable as primarily a bureaucratic problem. The defense and state departments, plus other agencies, are involved. The National Security Council must make the final decision on negotiating a timetable.

Under a military government, Thailand abandoned its traditional neutrality in the mid-1960s to permit the construction of a network of American military installations. Eight air bases and a deep-water port were opened.

The bases were used to support the U.S. effort in Vietnam. Most of the bombing of North Vietnam was from Thai bases. They were also used for the U.S. "secret war" in Laos.

The number of Americans stationed in Thailand reached 48,000 in 1972.

The internal danger in Thailand from Communist guerrillas, supported mainly by North Vietnam but also by China, has grown in recent years as a once-large U.S. role in suppressing the guerrillas has declined.

Recent reports from Bangkok have indicated that the Communist victory in Cambodia and advances in South Vietnam have encouraged the insurgents in Thailand.

"The Thais used to consider the U.S. presence a protective shield," one official here commented.

"But they can read the speeches of Congressmen, too, and now they don't think it's a shield — the U.S. isn't willing to shield anyone in Southeast Asia anymore — now it's a magnet that might draw trouble," he said.

While the American position for talks in Bangkok is being developed, a new ambassador to Thailand is awaiting Senate confirmation. He is Charles S. Whitehouse, the former ambassador to Laos.

Disarmed nation goal of controls

Editor, Times-News:
 I've taken the time to write a couple of men in Washington so though I'd write to local newspaper — one I receive daily.

For the last few days and perhaps weeks the big thing seems to be the gun and ammo control attempt.

Go back as far as you'd like in history and armies have been defeated, and nations have fallen. I've often wondered how long our country would have lasted a few centuries ago if the Minutemen would not have been allowed to carry guns and ammo.

Because of the constitutional right to bear arms is perhaps why we are still a free country today. Today there are a couple of countries who are afraid of the U.S. military power, but who would be afraid to attack a country where the strength lies in the average family with their big game rifles, upland game shotguns, small bore rifles, etc.

That small per cent that would attempt to disarm the true American citizen is trying to do nothing more than disarm the nation. We have laws today that are not for the good of the nation or the average American. We need more! May the silent majority speak now.

"You can't control the length of your life — but you can control its width and depth."

"You can't control the contour of your face — but you can control its expression."

"You can't control the weather — but you can control the atmosphere of your mind."

"Why worry about things you can't control when you can keep yourself busy controlling the things that depend on you."

Hansen pardon support sought

Editor, Times-News:
 Two hundred years ago Paul Revere rode very near where I now sit writing on his way to Concord and Lexington to warn the citizens that the British were coming.

In a way, his ride encompassed the very core of what America should stand for: Paul Revere was a herald, a messenger in the night, crying to the little people — the farmers and small merchants — to all lovers of freedom that government taken from the hands of the little people will turn on and destroy that people's freedoms.

After alerting the inhabitants of Lexington, Paul Revere was shot and fled toward Concord, but Revere was never to finish his ride. He was captured by the British and forced to give up his horse and return to Boston.

I learned today that my very dear friend George Hansen was sentenced to jail for violating federal campaign laws because of an affair which George so proudly labeled as "with-hunt."

George Hansen is in many ways another Paul Revere. George fought hard to win his congressional seat and was awarded stunning primary and general election victories — clearly the little people wanted George to speak for them and George has always understood that someone has to tell the little people what the big people are doing to them.

Thus George Hansen is an enemy of the big people and his steed (his congressional seat) might be taken from him. You see the big people don't like George Hansen just like the Red Coats didn't like Paul Revere.

But even though Paul Revere was deprived of his mount his message was still delivered; our forefathers — the little people — saw to that! We too must stand up as Americans, as Idahoans, and demand that this incredible over-reaction to a simple mistake be nullified.

I plead with you as fellow members of Idaho's second congressional district to stand up and demand that this gross miscarriage of justice be rectified immediately!

We chose this man to ride our horse for us; it is our duty to see that his mount is not taken from him. I urge all of you to write or telegram President Ford asking for an immediate pardon for Mr. Hansen.

Isn't this the country in which the punishment should fit the crime? Let's move quickly to get our representative back where he belongs — back on his horse proclaiming the call to liberty.

Only 1 boo as Ford ends era

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Rep. David C. Treen, R-La., said Tulane University had been a "hot spot" of student Vietnam War dissent and shook his head, advising President Ford not to know the speaking date there.

Other advisers agreed. But at 8 p.m. Wednesday night, Ford walked into the university field house, holding 6,000 students.

The got an air-bus from one startled student. The other 5,999 gave Ford 26 rounds of applause, "probably the best" speech reception he has enjoyed since becoming president.

But the President of the United States took the occasion to announce officially that the Vietnam war is now in America's past. He proclaimed the end of the era not with a bang, but not with a whimper either.

Today, America can regain again the sense of pride that existed before Vietnam. But it cannot be achieved by refighting a war that it is finished — as far as America is concerned," he said.

The students, many bearded, most long-haired and almost all wearing ties although the university air conditioned the field house for Ford's coming, appeared to lean forward when Ford reached the word "finished."

At the sentence's end, they were on their feet, roaring, cheering and even hugging each other.

The applause lasted 10 seconds.

The president did not smile. He did not accept the applause

Wish comes true

AFTER 20 years Cleve Ryan finally got his wish — to become a postmaster. While flying to New Orleans aboard Air Force One, President Ford woke Ryan from a nap to make his wish a reality. Ford and Ryan are pictured aboard the presidential jet roaring with laughter as Ford named Ryan postmaster of Air Force One. (UPI)

Ford ponders next step in Viet arms aid request

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford debated today whether to give up his request that Congress approve $722 million in arms aid to Vietnam in a war in which he has declared America's role was finished.

To the standing ovation and cheers of 6,000 Tulane University students in New Orleans Wednesday night, Ford called the Indochina conflict "a war that is finished — as far as America is concerned."

On the way home he told reporters aboard Air Force One of his arms-aid request. "Well, it's still up there (in Congress). It will depend on the circumstances when I get back... If there is a significant change we'll have to reassess it."

What Ford called "a fluid situation" included the mood of Congress. In a session that lasted until early today, the House voted to authorize $327 million for humanitarian aid and evacuation costs. The Senate passed a $250 million version.

No arms aid has been approved for what administration officials privately admit was a military lull cause.

He had proclaimed an end to U.S. participation in days 4 d His feelings emerged in one statement aboard the plane: "I had mixed emotions. That's not the way I wished it had ended. But you have to be realistic."

Ford said he sensed in making the speech that he was ending an American era. "I think so, yes. After all, it's been a pretty long era."

Ford called meetings this morning with aides including Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and vice president Nelson Rockefeller. Aides said Ford was receiving pre-breakfast briefings on the situation in Vietnam. These included both the South Vietnamese government's military plight in and around Saigon and the state of the evacuation of Americans and allied South Vietnamese.

President tours oil drilling rig

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — President Ford, decked out in a blue flight jacket and hard hat, toured a $28 million drilling rig Wednesday, indicated he was impressed with what he saw, and said he would like to see some more.

"We just have to get more and more of these," said the President. "We can't afford to be vulnerable to foreign sources of oil."

Ford, who earlier this month toured petroleum-related industries in California, helicoptered 25 miles into the Gulf of Mexico with oil company officials, Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb and Rep. David Treen, R-La.

Donald McMahon, president of Diamond M Corp., builders of the rig, briefed Ford on drilling operations on the outer continental shelf.

"We believe the industry, given the necessary incentives, can win energy independence for this great nation," McMahon said.

The oilmen appeared concerned, however, at the loss of one of those incentives. The oil industry recently lost its depletion allowance, recently reduced as part of tax cut legislation.

Gulf Oil officials told Ford during his stay on the rig that because of the loss of the oil depletion allowance their company expected a 20 per cent cutback in exploratory efforts.

"That," said Ford, "is very unfortunate."

A crew of 40 men man the rig at a cost of $36,000 per day. The rig is the first to be used on a 4,600-acre tract bought three years ago by Gulf Oil and Mobil Oil and even if oil or gas is found as a result of drilling from this rig no production is expected to come from the area until 1979.

"It takes a long, long time," said Z.D. Bonser, head of Gulf's domestic operation.

While on the rig the crew presented Ford with a yellow hard hat signed by the crew members and a certificate naming him "head tool pusher," a title given the head of the drilling operation.

Endangered list eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American crocodile, the Mexican wolf, the Cretos Island mule deer, the gray fox, the peninsular pronghorn, antelope, the bayou darter, the Scioia madow, and three Hawaiian birds are the 10 new additions to the Interior Department's list of endangered species.

The department's Fish and Wildlife Service published the proposed additions Wednesday and asked for public comment.

The list already contains 190 species considered in danger of extinction. Federal law forbids their destruction or capture.

Espionage group trained by CIA

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Daily News reported today that the CIA trained a special infiltration and espionage group for operations in Fidel Castro's Cuba that might have taken the military head off the Bay of Pigs invaders.

A series article by Paul Meskil quoted Frank Sturgis, identified as a former CIA agent who helped to organize the super-secret Operation 40. Some former agents have described the group as an "assassination squad," that "Sturgis did not put it that strongly."

"It was a top CIA project," he was quoted as saying. "Most of the men in it were Cubans who had been trained by the U.S. Army. I am not saying that Operation 40 had an assassination squad. There are reports that there was one, but I'm not saying so.

"The prime purpose was infiltration, not assassination... (Group members) were to infiltrate Cuba and contact anti-Castro military leaders, political leaders and underground people, and they could kill, if they had to, if it was really necessary."

One of Operation 40's first assignments, early in 1961, was to approach a group of Cuban officers headed by Maj. Humberto Sori Marin which was plotting the overthrow of Castro, the News report said.

Members of the CIA group slipped into Cuba, approached the plotters and asked them to time their revolt to coincide with the invasion.

That plan failed when the conspiracy was discovered by chance and its leaders were imprisoned.

Public library expands

TWIN FALLS — Within a month the Twin Falls Public Library is expected to be using 9,000 square feet of new space in a three-story building addition.

The library addition, added to the east side of the existing library, has been under construction since last June and is now about 99 per cent complete, librarian Arlan Call reports.

He said only the finishing touches are to be completed on the interior and a fine coating of concrete to cover the exterior will be added.

Call said when the building is completed the books, stacking shelves, furniture and equipment will be moved to the new building. The basement area is all ready in use with the move having been completed on that level.

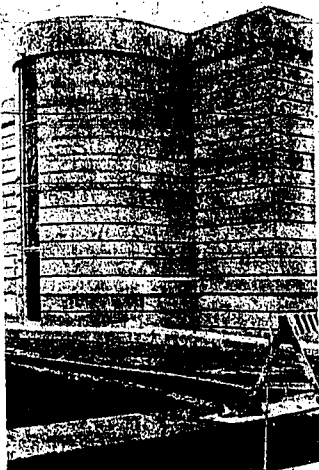

Call said the library has obtained some volunteer help with the moving and is hoping for more in order to put the main and second floors of the building into use.

Call said the new building will give the library growth space to add to the various collections for the next 15 to 20 years. It will include two news offices, including one for the Idaho materials and another for the teletype network.

With the teletype system, the Twin Falls Library patrons will have access to library collections at all major colleges and universities, the Idaho Library and the six other major libraries in the state.

Call said special resource information will be almost unlimited through the new system.

Call's office and other library offices will remain in the old building and library materials will be re-arranged for better availability to the public.

Suspended from practice

BOISE (UPI) — Chief Justice Henry McQuade signed an order today suspending Jay L. Depew of Twin Falls from practicing law for 90 days on the grounds he has held himself out as both a lawyer and certified public accountant.

Ran Kull, executive director for the Idaho State Bar, said Depew was reprimanded last year for doing the same thing. Kull said Depew has listed himself on checks and office letterheads as both a CPA and an attorney and "you can't do that ethically."

Kull said Depew is a CPA "but according to our code of professional responsibility you either have to hold yourself out as a CPA or an attorney but you can't do both."

"Specifically, they take the attitude that you're soliciting business, trying to use one occupation to feed the other," Kull said. "If you're going to be an attorney you ought to stick to being an attorney or if you're going to be a CPA, do that, but you can't do both according to the Supreme Court order today."

Kull said the Supreme Court was scheduled to hear arguments on the Depew case Monday but Depew "chose not to appear."

Suspects seek damages

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The man accused of murdering two Mormon missionaries is seeking $50,000 damages from the jollers for alleged violation of his civil rights.

Robert Elmer Kleasen, 42, filed suit in federal court Tuesday against Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank and head jailer Bill Mansell complaining he is being mistreated.

Kleasen said he has been starved on skimpy meals for weeks and was served a "centipede sandwich" and food fouled with cockroaches on April 11.

The five-inch long poisonous insect was served to him between two pieces of bread in hopes he would bite into it without looking, Kleasen speculated.

Kleasen said he also has been given tacos and potatoes with cockroaches mixed in the food. Sometimes he is so hungry he picks the roaches out and eats the food but other times he doesn't eat anything, he said.

The suit against the jollers also contends Kleasen is being subjected to cruel and unusual punishment in the jail, including assaults and harassments.

The sheriff said Kleasen had complained to him about actions of other prisoners, but said nothing about the food.

"We're trying our best to take care of Mr. Kleasen," Frank said. "He has his own private television in his room."

New electronic tool to help stop state prison escapees

By RICHARD CHARNOK BOISE (UPI) — It all goes well by the end of next week the State Board of Correction may have a new electronic tool to help stop escapes from the state prison.

Crews from OIDC Security Systems, Santa Clara, Calif., are due in Boise next Monday to make final adjustments on a sensory warning system that will tip off guards when anyone tries to escape from the compound.

Don Erickson, director of correction, said the system is designed in such a way that when a prisoner crosses an electronic beam on the perimeter of the compound he will set off an alarm pin-pointing the area where the breach has occurred.

"This, he said, should be helpful especially in heavy fog that sometimes shrouds the penitentiary area south of Boise's Green Field.

The system first was installed last December but the Board of Correction has not accepted it from the manufacturer as yet because it still is not fully functional.

But Erickson said if the system works the way the board hopes it will it may provide a tool that will increase flexibility of his present staff.

"They haven't completed installation because the ground was frozen up and we had some leveling to take care of," Erickson said Tuesday.

"We just got on this thing this week," he said. "They're coming in Monday — tentatively anyhow — to take care of adjusting the system and burning it in and so forth."

"They told us that as soon as we got the grading done they'd come back up," he said.

Erickson said incident weather slowed preparation of the ground for the system — first the winter freeze and, more recently, the wet spring. The grading finally was completed Monday, he said.

Early "burn in" efforts and the fact that more adjustments are needed to make the system functional led to a number of rumors about the new system, Erickson acknowledged.

Among them were reports that jackrabbits were setting off the system and that it would not work in fog — a time when it would be needed most.

Erickson dismissed both. He stressed that the system still must be adjusted and added that when the jackrabbit reports were circulating the system was not operational.

There were rumors that the system manufactured from the first and the $99,000 the state spent for it went down the drain, Erickson said they were not true.

"The manufacturer anticipated problems until final adjustments were made and that the company suggested running the sensors temporarily 'burn in' them."

"They knew it would malfunction. But it was just a matter of adjustment," he said, adding the new system administration staff off the equipment after the initial trial until those adjustments could be made.

"If we find that the system is what we're really looking for... I'll bolster staff we already have and we are well-satisfied with the operation it will offer the opportunity to reduce staff. But we haven't made that evaluation yet."

"It certainly is going to be another tool that is going to be beneficial to us," he said.

"We'll be able to utilize the staff in a different manner. After the men are locked up it may be possible to pull a lower guard and put him in a vehicle and make him perimeter guard..."

He indicated the officials should have a better idea about it in the very near future.

"If they came up Monday I would assume that by end of the week they'd have it operational," he said.

Concert campaign closing

TWIN FALLS — The annual membership campaign for the Magic Valley Community Concert Association closes Saturday.

Mrs. Denny Hogue, membership chairman, said after the campaign headquarters closes memberships for the 1975-76 season will not be available. Individuals who have not been contacted by a volunteer worker can join by calling 734-5297 or at the Music Center.

Memberships are $10 for adults and $5 for students and entitle the member to all concerts of the season. Individual performance tickets are not available.

Already included in next year's season series are Norman Luboff choir and the Worth-Crow duo organist. The remaining two concerts will be announced following the campaign.

20-year US plan for fusion power outlined

N. Y. Times Service
NEW YORK — A 20-year federal program to achieve fusion power, using high-energy laser pulses to crush fuel pellets, was outlined here Tuesday by scientists of the Energy Research and Development Administration.

It was emphasized, however, that each of the "milestones" along that route would depend on the development of new technologies.

In laser-induced fusion, pellets of a deuterium-tritium mixture would be crushed to extremely high density and temperature by converging pulses of laser light. The deuterium and tritium nuclei would then fuse, forming heavier nuclei and releasing residual mass in the form of energy.

This is the process that provides the power of the sun and that operates in a hydrogen bomb. Deuterium and tritium are heavy forms, or isotopes, of hydrogen.

Tuesday's report was prepared by Dr. James H. McNally, assistant director for Laser and Isotope Separation Technology in the Division of Military Applications of the energy administration. It was presented by a colleague, Dr. L. E. Killian, to a meeting on laser technology being staged this week at the Roosevelt Hotel by the New York Academy of Science.

A half dozen laboratories — federal, academic and commercial — have successfully imploded pellets with laser light. McNally reported. The impllosion, or crushing, of the pellet's interior is achieved by heating its surface rapidly to an extremely high temperature.

This blasts the surface layer off, creating comparable inward pressure on the fusion fuel.

In several cases neutrons released by fusion reactions have been observed, leading to enthusiastic claims by some experimenters.

However, according to McNally, "most of the scientists involved" believe the diagnostic data are not convincing enough to provide proofs that compressed thermonuclear fuel is reacting as it must for ultimate success. He said that the number of fusion-produced neutrons must increase a million-fold before the evidence is "convincing."

The first milestone, therefore, is "significant thermonuclear burn." This would be the fusion of a few, per cent of the deuterium and tritium atoms in the pellet. The target date for this is the fiscal years 1977 to 1979.

The next step would be "scientific breakeven," where energy produced by the fusion equals that of the impinging laser pulses. Because of inefficiencies in the system, the produced energy would still not match that required to run the apparatus. The fiscal years 1979 to 1981 are the goals for the stage.

In the fiscal year 1976, beginning July 1 of the year, $68 million in federal funds have been allocated to fusion research — $54 million for operating costs, $10 million for plant construction and $4 million for equipment. The energy administration scientists reported. The total for the current fiscal year is $62 million. For the previous year it was $45 million.

Shield law stalled
N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — The issue of a shield law permitting reporters to keep their news sources confidential surfaced in the new Congress Wednesday, with the same results as in the last two Congresses: instant impasse.

Screen plan scrapped

WASHINGTON Star
WASHINGTON — The State Department has scrapped Operation Boulder, an extension screening program set up after the Munich Olympic games in 1972 to keep Arab terrorists out of the United States.

John Gatch, deputy head of the department's anti-terrorism effort, said the program was dropped about a month ago because it was not worth the work involved.

The decision to end the program came to light after Federal Bureau of Investigation Director Clarence M. Kelley, acting in response to a request under the Freedom of Information Act, made public some details of Operation Boulder.

The documents made available by Kelley consisted of a letter written on Nov. 2, 1973, to Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., by Lewis Hoffacker, then special assistant to the director of state in charge of the anti-terrorism program, and a four-page description of Operation Boulder.

At that time, when Boulder had been in operation for about a year, Hoffacker said, 55,478 names had been checked against files of the FBI, the Central Intelligence Agency, the Secret Service, and other U.S. agencies. As a result, he said, 17 visa applicants were turned down and 294 others withdrew their applications.

At the time the program ended, Gatch said, some 150,000 names had been processed but only a few persons had been kept out of the country because of the screening.

Farm bill fight looming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has told congressional leaders that President Ford will veto the emergency farm support bill. One of them is ready to try and pass the bill in spite of a veto.

Butz paid courtesy calls to the chairman of the House and Senate Agriculture committees Wednesday, telling Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-

Wash., and Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., of the impending veto.

Butz, interviewed later, said he did not know exactly when Ford would act on the bill, but hoped it would be "as promptly as feasible."

"Everybody knows what the decision is, and there's no use dragging it out. If you do that, you just create confusion among farmers, traders and others," he said.

Foley said the House leadership has made no decision yet but added that he told Butz "my intention is to recommend we proceed" with an override vote although he considered "the outcome doubtful."

The bill passed Tuesday, 248-166, 28 votes short of the two-thirds needed to override. It would make emergency one-year increases in support loans and target prices for wheat, feed grains, cotton, soybeans and milk.

Foley said Butz indicated Ford would consider raising price support loans for wheat and feed grains by administrative action to levels below those proposed in the pending bill.

Portuguese parties denounce election

LISBON (UPI) — Leaders of five extreme left splinter groups have denounced Friday national elections as a farce and called on workers to take up arms and overthrow the government in a May Day revolution.

The leftist leaders, who are not believed to command wide support, issued their call for a new resolution May 1 in radio addresses Wednesday night, winding up their electoral campaigns.

Brig. Otello Saraiva do Carvalho, the military security chief, went on national television early today to warn that the military would put down with force any outbreak of violence during the voting Friday for a 247-member constituent assembly to draft a new constitution.

Carvalho made no mention of the so-called "May Day" vote of the leftist groups.

Leaders of the five parties repeated earlier statements that the elections were a farce. They said their followers would kick off a new revolution to oust the present "bourgeois" military-led Government during a joint May Day demonstration.

They urged workers to take up arms and overthrow the regime, which celebrates its first anniversary in power Friday.

Major Portuguese-speaking former soldiers who fought in the country's African wars, have weapons. The government, in a decree published today, gave all citizens one month to turn in their weapons or face fines.

Carvalho, in his statement today, said: "The armed forces want the elections to be conducted in a civil manner. The Copcon (Military Security Forces) will be vigilant, and we will use force if necessary to deal with violence."

Khmer Rouge celebrating

By United Press International
BEING — The Khmer Rouge rulers of Cambodia began three days of victory celebrations today, displaying tensions along the border with Thailand.

The Communist-led regime ordered ceremonies across the country to mark the guerrilla victory over the U.S.-backed Phnom Penh government in the five-year Cambodian war.

Reports reaching Bangkok from the Thai-Cambodian border said Khmer Rouge forces fired a single artillery shell into Thailand,ounding one villager.

Thailand sent an additional 1,000 border patrolmen to the frontier Wednesday after the reports said Khmer Rouge troops moved captured U.S. made hawtizers to the border.

In recent days, the Khmer Rouge forces have engaged in several battles with Thai border guards who refused to return fleeing Cambodian

Laos gives nod to VC rule

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — The Laotian Coalition government has decided to recognize the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government in neighboring South Vietnam, a Cabinet spokesman said today.

Cabinet spokesman Ouday Souvannavong said the loyalist (right-wing) and Communist Pathet Lao ministers decided Wednesday "in principle" to recognize the Viet Cong.

He said a formal announcement of recognition would be made some time after the neutralist prime minister, Prince Souvanna Phouma, returns here April 29 from the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

Earlier, the Cabinet decided to improve relations with South Vietnam during the present North Vietnamese and Viet Cong offensive in that country.

Ouday also said King Savang Vatthana will leave next week for his first visit to Communist Pathet Lao territory since assuming the throne 16 years ago.

He said the 67-year-old monarch and Queen Khambouli will leave Luang Prabang Monday for a six-day visit to the Pathet Lao.

Grocery price increases lag

By JEANNE LEMSE
UPI Food Editor

Retail food price increases in the first quarter this year rose less than 2 per cent, or less than half the 4.6 per cent rate for the same period last year, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Even so, shoppers this week in cities like Cincinnati, Atlanta and New York City were still paying $1.09 to $1.19 per pound for ground chuck. One chain in New York's Manhattan borough made it cheaper to grind your own beef. Boneless chuck roasts was selling for 99 cents a pound, 70 cents less than the ground variety. Cubed for stew, the same cut was $1.59 per pound.

Only two cities, Los Angeles and San Francisco, reported a low of 69 cents a pound for ground chuck in UPI's weekly survey of basic food prices. Elsewhere, the prices ranged upwards from 89 cents.

The USDA expects food price increases to continue at about the same speed during the spring, with most of the advances in red meat and poultry prices.

It said tighter supplies and high prices for feed may lead to price increases for broilers and turkeys. But for this week, at least, broilers were only 41 cents a pound in Dallas, up just two cents from last week's 39 cents a pound in Buffalo and Atlanta. They were only 49 cents a pound in Birmingham, Ala., St. Louis, San Diego and Los Angeles, and 51 cents in Milwaukee. Honolulu's high of 98 cents a pound was 15 cents above last week's high in Portland, Ore.

Even at the same price per pound as chicken, turkeys are a better buy because they have a higher ratio of meat to bone. Small turkeys make great barbecues, and larger birds or turkey parts are a good choice for stews like Mexican mole or Hungarian paprikash, sauced with sour cream and paprika.

The USDA reported eggs the best poultry buy for spring, and the UPI survey bore this out. Large grade A eggs sold for only 51 cents a dozen in Los Angeles, 52 cents in Jacksonville, Fla., and 55 cents in San Diego. Cheyenne had a high of 99 cents. Even at that price, eggs are less than nine cents each.

New oranges remained sweet, with the retail price of a five-pound bag below $2 in 24 cities on the UPI list. Birmingham's $1.59 cents was the low, New York City's $2.39 and Philadelphia's $2.09, the highs.

Frozen orange juice concentrate prices may rise a bit, the USDA said, but this week's low of 21 cents for a 6-ounce can in Pittsburgh was unchanged from last week. It was only 24 to 25 cents a can in Los Angeles, Birmingham, Ala., Buffalo and Cheyenne. The high was 37 cents in Cincinnati.

Cereal and bakery product prices may also edge up in coming weeks, the USDA said. It added that canned fruits such as pears, peaches, apples and applesauce, fruit cocktail, tart and sweet cherries and plums will be plentiful, but their prices are expected to rise because of cost increases in farm ingredients, processing and marketing.

Onions were 49 cents a pound in Cincinnati, more than double last week's price in that Ohio city. The low was 59 cents for a five-pound bag in Jacksonville, Fla., and Buffalo, with wide fluctuations in between.

The USDA said that Texas' acreage in onions is substantially smaller this year, which will curtail supplies and push up prices. The department added that potatoes are an economical vegetable choice, down more than 12 cents a pound this January from their peak of about a year ago.

Butter and margarine prices continue to be close, but falling prices for vegetable oils may lead to more margarine specials, said the USDA.

Vehicle registration workshop set

TWIN FALLS — Four workshops sessions covering motor vehicle (title) registrations have been scheduled in the Magic Valley area from Monday to May 1.

The workshops are being held by the motor vehicle division of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement and are open to county assessors, their deputies, licensed motor vehicle dealers, banks and other financial institutions.

Jack Farley, administrator of the motor vehicle division, said the workshop will be conducted by Phyllis Bryant and C.R. Bonney of the division, and area field representatives of the Department of Law Enforcement. He said the workshop program was requested by the state association of county assessors and others dealing with vehicle registration.

Subjects to be covered in the four-hour workshops include titling vehicles, registration of vehicles, responsibility of a person purchasing the motor vehicle, responsibility of the dealer, responsibility of the financing institution, titling and registration laws and new legislation passed by the 1975 legislature involving registration and titling.

The sessions also cover authority and responsibility of the county assessor's office and conclude with a question and answer period.

Adrian A. Smith, special deputy with the Department of Law Enforcement in Twin Falls, said the Magic Valley workshops will be held Monday at 1 p.m. in the National Guard Armory in Twin Falls, and again Wednesday two sessions will be held in Burley at the National Guard Armory at 8 a.m. and again at 1 p.m.

Morningside tour slated

TWIN FALLS — Parents of children who will attend Morningside Elementary School this fall are invited to attend a meeting of the Morningside Parent-Teachers Association Monday at 8 p.m.

The program will concern curriculum and the new kindergarten and a tour of the new addition at the school. Refreshments will be served.

District speech conference set

TWIN FALLS — The District 15 Toastmasters meeting in Twin Falls Saturday will include a woman contestant for the first time.

A woman from Logan, Utah, will be among the some 35 participants at the speech contest Saturday night, according to William B. Foster, Twin Falls area 3 governor.

Dick Tuninga, Twin Falls, is the local contestant.

The convales opens with registration at 8 a.m. Saturday at the Rogerio hotel. An educational meeting is planned for the morning with business sessions in the afternoon.

Sailing season opening

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Southern Idaho Sailing Association will begin the 1975 season this weekend with a regatta at C. J. Strike Reservoir.

The sailboat enthusiasts will meet throughout the season at various lakes and compete around the state to reserve in regattas.

Anyone interested in sail racing is invited to join a member of the association, may participate in the events by signing up prior to the event. Mrs. Robert Hoffmaster, association official, said.

Races begin at noon on Saturday and at 10 a.m. Sunday if wind conditions are suitable.

Other regatta dates and sites include May 17 and 18, Lake Lowell; June 7 and 8, C. J. Strike; July 4 through 6, Cascade Lake; July 12 and 13, Payette Lake with the Hoblitts holding their regional in conjunction with the regatta; July 26 and 27, Payette Lakes; Aug. 16 and 17, Redfish Lake, and Sept. 6 and 7, Sept. 27 and 28 and again Oct. 11 and 12, all at C. J. Strike.

Y class to begin on May 7

TWIN FALLS — YM-YWCA babysitting classes will begin at 4:15 p.m. May 7 and will be conducted at the same time each Wednesday for six weeks.

The class is planned for junior and senior high school age students with the requirement that those enrolling be 12 years old or in the seventh grade.

Class participants will learn about job responsibilities, the employee-employer relationship, home safety, infant and pre-school child behavior, physical care of the child and recreational aspects of child care. Class members will also have an opportunity to work with young children in a supervised setting.

Lively to direct TF Moose

TWIN FALLS — John Lively was installed governor of the Twin Falls Moose Lodge No. 612 Tuesday evening.

Frank Edwards, past governor, was installing officer with Mrs. Mel Dixon and Mrs. Frank Edwards assisting as guides.

Other new officers installed include George Long, past governor Ben Holbrook, junior governor, Raymond Graham, prelate; Mel Dixon, secretary; Harold Smith, treasurer; Harry Workman, sergeant at arms; Dick Patterson, inner guard and Frank Edwards, three year trustee. Mrs. Whitley Clark was musician for the ceremony.

Members were reminded of the mid-year conference May 3 and 4 in Jerome.

CHARK AIR BASE. yet because of worry about parents still in South Vietnam. One couple refused to send a letter informing their parents they had arrived at the American base "because if the letter arrives in Saigon with a new government of coalition has taken power, my parents might be persecuted by the Communists."

After alighting from their C-141 Starlifter, Thanh and the other couple went through lines of U.S. officers and nurses for processing which ended in the early hours of the day. Then they were taken for a snack and to sleep at 6 a.m. on mats in a gymnasium transformed into a dormitory.

The next day, they experienced their first taste of American food — hamburgers and soft drinks.

"I don't think it's bad (the hamburger)," Mrs. Thanh said, "but I had to force myself to swallow it with lots of water. Even the water has a different taste from what I am used to drinking. But nothing can equal 'pho' (a beef and noodle soup)."

She said her daughter has refused to eat because there is no "meat man" — a pungent fish sauce Vietnamese use in all their meals.

Thanh and other refugees are awakened at 5:30 a.m. for breakfast by volunteer Americans — "sponsors" who keep order in the billets.

Thanh's wife and 7-year-old daughter arrived at 3 a.m. and Thanh had boarded the plane with the help of friends. After the 14-hour flight, he was battered by the sudden change.

"I don't have time to think of what is going on, nor what is going to happen to us," Thanh said. "But we are glad we are here and we would even be able to enjoy it if our mother and father were with us."

Thanh said his friends gave him a little time to prepare for the flight.

After two days, his has become a regimented life in a billet inside a camp where all meals are carefully planned and all movement restricted to the camp.

Thanh said because I feel guilty, Thanh said, "I left my parents in Saigon. Now I know I could have taken them to the airport and ask my friends to accompany them on the flight."

Thanh is not the only refugee from the present government of South Vietnam who made it to Chark Air Base said they could not enjoy their new life

275 women employees treated with champagne

STONEHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Richard T. McDermott doesn't believe a boss should pamper just his secretary on National Secretaries Week. So he treated all his 275 women employees to a champagne and chicken bash Wednesday.

The lunch cost him about $1,700 for his secretary and all the women on the production line at the A. W. Chesterton Co.

"We feel in this company everybody makes a contribution, no matter what their position happens to be," he said. "We couldn't possibly run this country except for the millions of women who perform their functions every day. So we decided to recognize all the women in our company."

"We did it before women's lib became as vocal as it did today," he said. "National Secretaries Week overlooks many women who improve the standards of living for all of us."

McDermott began sidestepping tradition five years ago because some women employees seemed unhappy that only secretaries were pampered for a day. So he ordered a bunch of orchid corsages and began pinning them on.

"Some worked in disagreeable and not very pleasant jobs, and it meant something for the president to pin on the corsages," he said of his women employees. "We wanted to show them we think as much of them in their particular area as we do of the person who is a secretary or a president."

"Knowing my boss, he's definitely on the level," said McDermott's secretary, Sharon Bibik. "I like it fine the way it is. I think everyone should be treated equally. In actuality, we're paying tribute to the women. That's the way I see it."

The first lunch — champagne and roast beef — was held last year. "It was received extremely well," McDermott said.

"The ladies like to get together. It allowed the production workers to meet the desk jobs. None of the men go."

Only McDermott and Peter Kozlowski, plant superintendent, attended Wednesday's lunch in the company cafeteria.

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE — ON THE MALL — DOWNTOWN — TWIN FALLS

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful professor. I also work. About three times a week he arises early to work on a special project or to attend an early faculty meeting, so he sets the alarm for 30 minutes earlier than he really has to get up. When the alarm goes off, it awakens both of us. He then sets it for 30 minutes later, rolls over and dozes until the alarm goes off again.

Meanwhile, I am being robbed of 30 minutes of sleep. I think he should be a big enough boy to set the alarm for the time he has to get up.

Is there a solution? Please don't suggest separate bedrooms because I'd rather lose sleep than lose HIM. Sign this, "For whom the bell does NOT TICK OFF".

DEAR TICKED: Have you asked him to please knock off the two-alarm routine? If not, do. If he refuses, insist on a compromise whereby he sets the alarm twice every other time.

TWIN FALLS — Final plans were made for a Founder's Day dinner during a meeting of Xi Alpha Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Tuesday evening at the Glenn Mechem home.

The dinner will be at 7 p.m. April 30 at the Blue Lakes Inn. Zandra Funke reported on the April 15 city council meeting. The next city council meeting will be May 6 at Mrs. Funke's home. She also reported on the garage sale and party April 19.

A Mother's Day breakfast was planned for 8 a.m. May 10 at George K's Restaurant. A salad bar was served.

Tapped for Spurs

MOSCOW — University of Idaho officials have released the names of Magic Valley area students who have been tapped for Spurs, sophomore women's honorary.

Listed are Chris Kendall and Nancy Lusk, both Jerome; Debbie Schenk, Rupert; and Wanda Fought, Shoshone.

Mid-year meet slated

TWIN FALLS — Women of the Moose were reminded of the mid-year conference May 3 and 4 in Jerome at a meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. John Lively presented a trophy won by the Moose No 1 team for first place in the Friday Night Bowling League. The nominating committee will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Gary Craven.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. May 13 at the Moose Home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. IN OKLAHOMA CITY: Forget him, dear. He is not mature. A mature person is willing to accept the consequences for his actions. A "man" who sneaks around to see a girl behind her parents' back is immature.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Two-alarm routine

DEAR ABBY: That letter about the wife who didn't like her husband's mustache brought back memories. Years ago, I had the same problem. I waited patiently for my husband to shave off a big walrus mustache he had grown "just to see how he looked."

Finally, one day when he was asleep on the couch, I got a scissors and nipped off one side of it! He awakened with a start, and said, "What's coming off here?"

"I sweetly said, 'Your mustache, dear.'"

He laughed and kissed me. And he never grew another mustache again.

AN 85-YEAR-OLD WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: You're lucky your husband was so good-natured. I'll bet some wives have ended up in the divorce court for less.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice about telling later-comers to come an hour ahead of the time you really want them to get work. I know, I used to be anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour late every time, and no amount of kidding or criticism would change me.

One Christmas Eve some close friends (I'll call them the "Greens") invited me to drive with them to their parents' lovely country home: I was to be at the Greens' at 6 p.m. "Please, this time, don't be late," they pleaded. "It's a long drive, and we want to leave at 6 p.m. sharp!"

Of course I was late, but as I walked up their front stairs, looked at my watch and saw it was only 6:15 — which was "early" for me. But the house was dark and there was a note on their front door: "Sorry, Pa. We waited for you until 4:05."

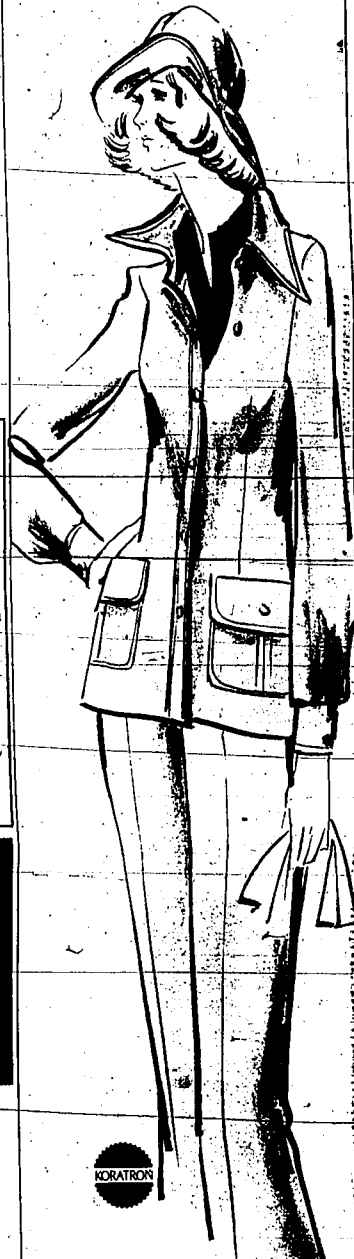

I was furious. But I will say that I am grateful to the Greens for teaching me a lesson I will never forget. That was the last time I was ever late.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I am 35 years old and have not had much pain with menstruation since I was a teenager. But for the past two or three years I have literally had to stay in bed the first couple of days of my periods because of "flooding."
It leaves me with a weak feeling. What can be causing this? — C.N.

Menstruation keeps her in bed

Dr. George Thosteson

You offer just enough information to raise suspicions, but not nearly enough for me to be helpful to you. You don't mention having seen your doctor, which should be your first step, and the first step, incidentally, for other women experiencing such flooding. And by all means have a pap test.

Neither are you clear about whether or not you are now experiencing pain during your menstruation or just prior to it. If pain is involved, then one might suspect endometriosis, a condition I've discussed before. In this, tissue resembling that of the uterine lining membrane occurs in other areas of the pelvic cavity. It is a common cause of such symptoms as you describe, and it is not at all uncommon in women your age.

Another reason for seeing a doctor is that the continual flooding can cause you to become anemic, and this could be the cause of your weak feeling. Other possible causes are disorders of the pelvic structure itself, or even a glandular imbalance. Waiting in bed is not going to help get at the source of your problem. A proper examination is in order.

I detect more and more these days a certain carelessness among women about getting periodic pelvic examinations. This is apparent from letters I receive. Many using the contraceptive pill, for example, seem to feel that, free of pregnancy or the fear of pregnancy, examinations are futile. But on the contrary, women on the pill should be examined regularly, perhaps even more so than those who are having periodic pregnancies.

Other women readers who see themselves in this description should take note.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I would like to know what causes mucus in my throat. Is it my sinuses draining? It makes me cough once in a while.

When I wake up at night my mouth is dry. What should I do about it? If you have a booklet on this subject, I would like to send for it. — A.S.

Mucus formation is the body's attempt to relieve irritation. Smoking is a prime cause of such irritation, and it can result in chronic secretion of the mucus from the membranes of the nose and throat.

The dryness in your throat can be caused by mouth-breathing while you sleep. And this can be the result of a defect in the nasal passages. If you have a deviated septum (crooked nose) you can suspect this.

Quit smoking, or cut down if you smoke, and see if this doesn't improve the situation. It usually does. Yes, my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble," discusses sinuses and their relationship to irritants and allergies, another distinct possibility in your case. For a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper and enclose a long stamped and self-addressed envelope. Ask for the booklet by name.

Production opens today

When the Boise State University production of the classic vampire melodrama, "Count Dracula" opens today, three Twin Falls High School graduates will be cast in starring roles. Dear Dr. Thosteson:

Is it true that if your gall bladder does not show up in an X-ray you are in for trouble? R. M.

Yes. A non-visualized gall bladder means something is very likely amiss.

The test medium, which is an ingested iodine compound, is eventually discharged by the liver and collected in the gall bladder, a cul de sac (dead end) organ. If the gall bladder is functioning, this substance will show up in an X-ray as an outline of the gall bladder. If not, it will not visualize.

The majority of non-visualized gall bladders are diseased. The answer is usually removal, a surgical procedure which has been highly successful and leaves no harmful effect. Copyright 1975 Field Enterprises, Inc.

TF OES chapter installs

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Menser were installed worthy matron and worthy patron of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday evening.

Other new officers installed included Mrs. Earl Goodson, associate matron; Earl Goodson, associate patron; Mrs. Fred Montgomery, secretary; Mrs. Marlon Jenkins, treasurer; Mrs. Francis Rider, conductress; Mrs. Vinnie Boatright, associate conductress; David Lovelady, marshal; Moe Stevens, chaplain; Mrs. Jack Fuller, organist.

Mrs. Mike Brown, Adah; Mrs. James Clark, Ruth; Mrs. Robert James, Esther; Mrs. Edith Jones, Martha; Mrs. Richard Jones, electa; James Clark, warden; and Francis Rider, sentinel.

Installing officers included Jane O. Benfer, grand installing officer; Maxine Machamer, grand installing marshal; Arlene Grose, grand installing chaplain, and Ruth Parish, grand installing organist. Jay Clawson, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Menser, was soloist, with Elva Petersen as accompanist.

Arlene Grose and Dave Lovelady, outgoing worthy matron and worthy patron, conducted a business meeting prior to the open installation. The newly installed worthy matron and worthy patron were presented flowers, a gavel and sound block by their six grandchildren.

Arrangements of red velvet rosebuds in white vases were used as centerpieces on the refreshment tables.

"The queen. My partner took his ace, thought for a while as I sweated it out and finally led a club for me to ruff."

"We have to omit the rest of our friend's talk. It was all expletives deleted. The substance was that at the other table his North-South partners bid up to five spades with their cards and when West bid six hearts, North proceeded to double. Jackpot air race May 10

JACKPOT, Nev. — First annual Cactus Pele's air race, from Seattle, Wash., to Jackpot, 650 air miles, will be flown May 10 by planes ranging in speed from 90 to 250 miles an hour. Gate P. Hilyer Jr., Seattle, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, reports.

Deadline for entries will be April 28. Non-AOPA members are eligible.

Planes will leave Galvin Aviation at Boeing Field between 6:30 a.m. and 10:00 a.m. Seattle has Pacific time. Geographically, Jackpot is also in Pacific Time but uses Mountain Standard because of its close association with Idaho. Thus, arriving pilots will be an hour later than they think.

Qualified pilots may take off from Seattle in instrument conditions, but visual flight rules apply at Jackpot. Jackpot has a mile-long, paved and lighted airfield. The field is a mile high in elevation.

Contestants will have to fly over the Cascade mountain range, which harbors 14,410-foot-high Mt. Rainier.

Handicaps will be based on manufacturer's adjusted 75 per cent cruising speed. Hilyer says.

First grand prize will be $250, second $150. Other prizes will be fastest twin engine, $150; fastest retractable single engine, $150; fastest non-retractable single engine, $150; and slowest total elapsed time, $100 each.

An award assembly will be held flight day at 4 p.m. in Jackpot.

All seats of participating aircraft must be filled, William (Bill) Lierly, Seattle, committeeman in charge of that phase of the race, says.

Fined for larceny

SHOSHONE — Charles McLaughlin, 26, Wendell, and Rodney Caswell, 18, Gooding, have each paid fines of $75 plus $7.50 court costs after entering a plea of guilty to petit larceny.

The two were apprehended by law officers in Shoshone and appeared before Magistrate Nancy Haddock.

Antarctic balances atmosphere

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Two Washington State University researchers say they believe the Antarctic is responsible for balancing the earth's atmosphere by removing certain gases from the air.

"We think this may be a major scientific discovery," says Dr. R. A. Rasmussen and K. Jerry Allwine of the WSU College of Engineering's air pollution research section. The two researchers say they were at the South Pole earlier this year as guests of the University of Maryland and the National Science Foundation.

They say there is evidence that the south polar continent may be acting as a giant precipitator for trace gases in the atmosphere, and acts as a balancing mechanism of nature, removing gaseous compounds from the air.

The two researchers say examination of the surface snow at the New Scott-Amundsen polar station showed remarkably high concentrations of chlorinated hydrocarbons and fluorochlorocarbons such as Freon-11.

"This means that as global circulations bring air in contact with the polar ice, trace gases are being frozen out," they said.

The findings are significant because they add to our understanding of global air chemistry and the scavenging mechanisms nature operates.

The two researchers say their research may also help to determine how clean the earth's atmosphere was before the coming of the industrial revolution by examining the individual layers of snow at Antarctica.

The researchers say another team will travel to the North Pole this summer to determine if the same phenomenon exists there.

FAA funds permit Hailey improvements

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — A $235,000 Federal Aviation Administration grant will allow Friedman Memorial Airport to construct taxiways, an access road, fence the perimeter and re-locate an irrigation ditch.

The grant announced Tuesday through the office of Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, may allow the local airport commission to let bids this year for a new airport terminal, according to secretary of the airport board.

Last year the proposed terminal project was quashed when bids came in too high. In addition the commission had no assurance, Anderson said, there would be money available for an access road to the terminal or taxiways or a ramp.

The new FAA funding will assure completion of the needed improvements, he said.

Anderson said the grant is to be used to alleviate safety problems and not to increase the use of the airport.

Some of the money will be used to offset the cost of purchasing two parcels of property on the west side of the airport. Anderson said the airport board has already purchased the old McAtee property and the Jim Stewart property for a parking ramp and taxiway at the northwest corner of the airport.

The money will be used to grade, gravel and all a new access road from the north end of the airport to the proposed terminal building to be located on the west side of the runway about a half mile from the north end.

An irrigation ditch which crosses the north edge of the runway will have to be relocated, Anderson said. The ditch runs nearly the length of the runway-to water pasture land to the south.

The airport board has the consent of McCulloch Properties Inc. to use an irrigation ditch on the west side of the Woodside subdivision to transport the water south, Anderson said. A pipeline will carry the water under the runway to the property to be irrigated.

In addition an 18,000-square-yard terminal service apron is to be constructed near the new terminal building. New tie-down areas will be constructed, Anderson said, to relieve pressure from the present areas which are full during busy periods.

A new perimeter fence will also be constructed, he said. There will be no runway lengthening.

"The airport is narrow and there have been some safety problems," Anderson said. "The money will be used to alleviate safety problems and not to increase the use of the airport."

The construction is basically a one-year program, Anderson said. All contracts for construction must be approved before June 30.

In addition to the FAA construction grant the airport has been advised Hailey will receive a limited remote communications outlet this year.

The LRCO will allow pilots with low power transmitters to talk directly to the Burley Flight Center which is the only center between Burley and Boise.

Pilots can file flight plans and gather weather conditions from planes in Hailey without calling directly from a phone which they must do now, Anderson said.

Anderson said prospects look good to let bids on the proposed terminal building this summer if the state decides to shelve the new terminal building withdrawal $50,000 in support of the building last year after bids came in $50,000 too high, he said.

SV Fly Fishers set meet

SUN VALLEY — The next meeting of the Sun Valley Fly Fishers will be at 7 p.m. Monday at the 49'er room of the Ketchum Holiday Inn.

Dr. Lynn T. Levy, club president, said Will Godfrey, Ph.D., Boise State University professor of agricultural economics, will be guest speaker. He will give a program on "Fly Fishing for Arctic Char" with films.

In addition, two color films, "Steelhead Paradise" and "Sportfishing at Culehohn," will be shown.

The public is invited to attend the free program and members are urged to bring a guest. Membership dues may be paid at this meeting. For more information, call 622-5595.

Jerome HS play tonight

JEROME — The Jerome High School drama class will present its annual spring play at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the junior high school auditorium.

The play, a melodrama entitled "Love Bides the Rail or Will the Mail Train Run Tonight" will be presented by the fifth and sixth period drama classes under the direction of Mrs. Bob Chapman.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Wendell hearing tonight

WENDELL — A hearing will be held in the Wendell city hall at 8 p.m. today to approve or disapprove plans for a Local-Improvement District.

The LID would raise money for street improvement throughout the city, according to Clerk Gwen Collett. Preliminary figures are set at $50 per 50-foot lot, payable over a 15-year period, Mrs. Collett said.

If FIAH money is available, interest on the LID will be "considerably less," making the cost $33 per 50-foot lot, she said.

The LID is the second one on streets for Wendell since 1948 when a LID was approved to oil streets in town, according to Mrs. Collett.

Notices have been sent to all property owners affected by the plan.

Police chief resigns

RIGGINS, Idaho (UPI) — Larry O'Neal has resigned as Riggins police chief, effective May 11, and the city council is accepting applications.

Applicants are asked to contact the Idaho Department of Employment at Grangeville.

Trailer damaged

THIS trailer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jon Buttcane sustained heavy damage to a back bedroom in a fire Tuesday afternoon. The Jerome Rural Fire Department was able to contain the fire and damage was mainly in the rear of the trailer. Don Rupert, rural fire chief, said he thinks the fire may have been started by defective wiring under the trailer. Apparently Mrs. Buttcane returned home from work, discovered the fire and used a neighbor's telephone to report it, then used a garden hose to help contain the flames, Rupert said. There was heavy smoke damage throughout the trailer located southeast of Jerome.

Bannock Demos ask resignation

POCATELLO (UPI) — The chairman of the Bannock County Democratic Central Committee called today for the resignation of Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho.

Hansen peddled guilty to two misdemeanor violations of the federal Campaign Practices Act and received two months in prison, beginning next month.

"George Hansen's penalty cannot be equated with that of a traffic violation," Gary Gould, chairman of the Bannock County Democrats, said.

Gould called for Hansen to resign and for the setting of an election for the Second Congressional District.

Federal mediator needed

BOISE (UPI) — For the third time in four years it appears a federal mediator will be needed to settle contract differences between the Boise School District and the Boise Education Association.

Contract negotiations broke down Wednesday evening and officials were reported to have agreed to call in a mediator. Last year, the move to a mediator did not occur until mid-June.

The district must finish its bids by June 30. Salary considerations comprise about 70 percent of that budget.

Bullets send firemen scurrying

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — Heat from a fire that destroyed the Roy Herres mobile home near Tjorden Bridge in Pingree exploded rifle bullets Wednesday night, sending Blackfoot firemen scurrying.

Chief John Schwartz and four of his men had just torn the back door off the trailer when between 50 and 75 bullets stored in the home started exploding. They stepped back and escaped injury. The mobile home was valued at $20,000. The owner was in Arizona at the time of the fire and the trailer was unoccupied.

2 Boise men face charges

BOISE (UPI) — Two Boise men are being held in lieu of $50,000 bond each on burglary charges stemming from break-ins at Norco Welding Supply and Brookover's.

Detectives arrested the suspects Wednesday during a two-hour stake-out at Norco. They received a tip that someone was going to burglarize the business. They arrested one man as soon as he stepped into the office. They found the other in an air vent on the roof.

John Edmund Faulkner, 28, and Edward Wildford Chauncey, 40, are accused of first-degree burglary in the Norco break-in and first-degree burglary and grand larceny in connection with the April 14 burglary of Brookover's.

Burley youth apprehended

BURLEY — A 17-year-old Burley youth was apprehended for firing a shotgun into the air during an argument early this morning.

In a related incident, Burley police also apprehended a 16-year-old Burley youth and arrested Emilio Delacruz, 18, Burley, for interfering with the duties of an officer.

Police said the 17-year-old fired a 20-gauge shotgun into the air as he and the other two were engaged in an argument with "some other people" in a supermarket parking lot.

Police said there were no injuries and no property damage as a result of the shot.

The incident happened about 1 a.m., police said.

The two juveniles were released to their parents pending filing of petitions in juvenile court.

Delacruz is in custody pending arraignment this morning.

Cattle truck tips over

BURLEY — A cattle truck driven by Ennis Matthews, Oakley, tipped over Wednesday from high winds and shifting cattle.

The driver was not seriously injured but two cows were killed in the crash.

Idaho State Sheriff's Department said the accident occurred eight miles south of Burley on Highway 27.

Dputies said Matthews' truck was caught by a gust of wind at the same time the cattle shifted their weight.

The truck went off the highway, rolled over and came to rest on its wheels.

Matthews suffered minor bumps and bruises.

S. Idaho Chamber adopts 3 land use resolutions

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The South Idaho Chamber of Commerce Wednesday adopted three resolutions on land use recommended by Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle.

Ravenscroft is chairman of the group's committee on federal and state land use.

The resolutions:

- oppose a request by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management;
- oppose repeal of the Desert Land Law. The U.S. Bureau of Land Management has proposed elimination of the law under a reorganization plan for the agency. The resolution also calls on the BLM to release more acreage each year for development;
- support the state of Idaho in its suit against the federal government concerning the Carey

Act. The suit seeks clarification on the number of acres that can be filed for under the act, the total number of acres available in Idaho under the act and whether land that has been given a multiple-use designation is open to development under the act.

The group also has already used the Snake River in the Hells Canyon area, whether recreational or for power generation, include a requirement for upstream storage of water to guarantee enough water for irrigation and other purposes.

The group also heard committee reports on the procedure for initiating, supporting or opposing state legislative measures and on the land-use bill passed by the last session of the state legislature.

Membership in the group includes representatives of most chambers of commerce in the Magic Valley.

Center plans eyed

BURLEY — Federal, state and Idaho Migrant Council officials are probing the possibility of establishing a migrant multi-service center here.

The center would be located in an old church being purchased by the migrant council and would provide vocational rehabilitation, child development, job training and health programs, according to Maria Poinssett, state liaison officer for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

But, Ms. Poinssett said that plans for the center are only in preliminary stages. She said representatives from HEW and the Office of Economic Opportunity should be meeting with state and Idaho Migrant Council officials in Burley April 30 to further developments.

She said establishing the center is the first priority of the Federal Regional Council's migrant services task force this year. The regional council is made up of representatives of 10 federal agencies serving the northwest.

will have to file as candidates this year and register what happened to funds leftover from the race.

He said he would also have to determine if Democratic and Republican county political committees are to be considered campaign committees and subject to the Sunshine law.

"Any potential violations would have been unwillful," Kidwell said. The Sunshine law provides for possible jail sentences if the violation is willful.

Andrus said he is in full compliance with the law and that both the attorney general and the secretary of state have assured him that he is in compliance.

"This is a cheap political attempt" to divert attention away from "their problem child," he said.

Burley chief field narrows

BURLEY — Burley's search for a new police chief has been narrowed to three applicants.

Wednesday night Mayor Charles Shaddock met with members of the City Council's police committee and acting chief Kirby Harkness to review applicants for the position.

Shaddock has said he expects to name a new chief in about ten days.

Chairman of the police committee, councilman John Croft, said today three applicants would be interviewed for the position. Before last night's meeting the list of 17 applicants had been narrowed to six.

Although most of the likely candidates has now been narrowed to three, applications yet to come might be considered, Croft said.

So far, the position has not been advertised and no deadline has been set for applications.

Croft said two of the leading candidates are from Idaho and one is from out-of-state.

Committee member and councilman L.V. Morgan, also on the police committee, said the candidates "look very good, we had some excellent ones." He continued, "I believe we should come up with a very fine chief."

Former chief Gary Booth was fired because of allegations of fiscal and personnel mismanagement.

When Booth was fired, 19 of the department's 31 employees walked off the job, leaving the city without a police force.

However, several of the policemen walking off the job later rejoined the force.

When the new police chief joins the force, he will be the third chief to fill the position in less than two years.

Former police chief Ken Barry resigned about a year before Booth was fired.

AF Dam hearings begin

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Senate Interior Subcommittee on Energy Research and Water Resources today began hearings on legislation which would speed the reconstruction of American Falls Dam.

The legislation, introduced by Idaho Senators Frank Church and James McClure, seeks to clarify the public benefit status of the proposed reconstruction project so that the estimated $38 million in bonds necessary to finance the reconstruction will receive a tax exempt rating by the Internal Revenue Service.

According to Tom Nelson, attorney for the American Falls Reservoir District, tax exemption for the bonds could mean savings of 1 to 2 percent annually over the projected 40-year life of the bonds and could mean per acre savings to reservoir shareholders of up to 40 percent each year.

Pivotal to the question of tax exempt status for the bonds is the proposed participation in the reconstruction project of Idaho Power Co.

Idaho Power has agreed to invest $18.25 million of the bonds at a tax exempt interest rate in return for being allowed to construct a power plant at the dam site.

The cost of the power plant would be shouldered 100 percent by Idaho Power.

According to Nelson, the IRS, while making no formal ruling, has made it "pretty clear" that Idaho Power will not get a power plant to do so long as Idaho Power participates in the project.

The legislation introduced by Church and McClure, Nelson said, is intended to clarify that the dam project, despite the participation of Idaho Power, is still a public project.

"The fact that you hook a power plant to it does not mean that it is not still an irrigation dam — which is the fact," Nelson said.

Assuming that the legislation is passed quickly and that the bonds then receive a tax exempt rating, construction at the dam site could get under way this fall, Nelson said.

"The fact that you hook a power plant to it does not mean that it is not still an irrigation dam — which is the fact," Nelson said.

"The fact that you hook a power plant to it does not mean that it is not still an irrigation dam — which is the fact," Nelson said.

Water users would have to decide whether to "go it alone" without Idaho Power participation or go ahead with Idaho Power participation and take upon themselves the costs of their interest rates, Nelson said.

If the latter, shareholders would have to pay the difference between tax exempt interest rates and non-exempt rates not only on their half of the bonds but also on the bonds Idaho Power has agreed to retire.

Castleford gets donation

CASTLEFORD — Purchase of a new drum and tymbal set for the Castleford High School band has been made as a result of a cash donation from the Farmers National Bank, Burley.

Richard W. Peters, school superintendent, said the bank donated $750 to the school.

"A drum set is an expensive but necessary item for our stage and pep bands," Peters said. "We're greatly appreciate the bank's having provided us with the necessary funds to acquire the instruments."

In recent years, Peters said, the bank has assisted in many other ways by providing local funds for the purchase of needed educational items in the Castleford school system.

A $1,000 donation was made by a similar amount of federal funds for the purchase of a cassette listening station and language arts materials for students in the first eight grades.

About 700 new books were added to the elementary school library and a portable loud-speaker system.

Other gifts have included funds for new bleachers on the football field, funds for the purchase of new risers and new choir robes for the choir and for graduation exercises.

Study links some industries, cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Researchers studying concentrations of cancer across the nation have found suspicious links between high rates of some types of cancer and some kinds of industries, the National Cancer Institute said today.

The study, to be published later this month in a technical journal, does not prove that any specific industry causes certain types of cancer, but it gives scientists leads for further investigation.

"It really means that these are areas that are perhaps the most promising for further study," said Dr. Joseph F. Fraumeni, a section head in the institute's epidemiology branch.

He said, for example, that high levels of bladder cancer were found in areas where there is a heavy concentration of chemical plants and where automobiles are manufactured. High lung cancer levels were seen around copper and lead smelters and in locales where there are chemical and paper production plants.

High rates of kidney cancer were found around petroleum refining industries and plants producing lumber and wood products except furniture.

Fraumeni and colleagues obtained these findings by studying concentrations of cancer deaths by counties across the United States and comparing the results with the general U.S. average for specific types of the disease. Previous studies looked at cancer concentrations by states and regions, but not on the smaller county level.

The researchers emphasized in a preliminary report that there are many limitations to such a study.

"We have not by any means demonstrated that there is a hazard with the auto industry, for example," Fraumeni said. "There is nothing that we know of in the automobile industry that suggests cancer. Our study says that we ought to take a look."

The four-year study of cancer deaths occurring between 1950 and 1969 found excessive deaths from bladder cancer in New Jersey, urban areas around the Great Lakes and in rural New York state and New England.

Researcher said the federal funds were found along the Gulf Coast from Texas to Florida with the heaviest concentration in Louisiana. Mortality also was excessive in a belt of counties along the southeast Atlantic coast, northern New Jersey, New York City and along the Hudson River.

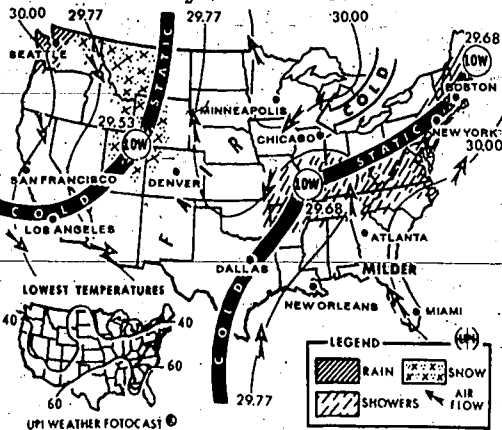

Kidney cancer death rates were higher than normal in rural Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

Firm halts sugar payments

DENVER (UPI) — Great Western Sugar Co. officials Tuesday said the firm would withhold additional payments for its 1974 sugar beet crop pending an appeal of a federal judge's decision that it pay growers an extra $12.9 million for beets delivered last year.

of the appeal is known.
U.S. District Judge Fred M. Winner earlier this month ruled Great Western should have made larger initial payments to growers for the 1974 sugarbeet crop. The $12.9 million figure included interest at the rate of 11 1/2 per cent from Nov. 20, 1974, to the date of payment.

filed by Davis Cattle Co. of Goodland, Kan., which said the company's initial payment to growers should have been higher. Winner's decision ordered the company to pay an additional $2.91 per ton of beets on top of the $45.93 per ton already paid to growers.

"In our opinion, and in the opinion of our legal counsel, there are reasonable grounds, on which to base an appeal," said Jack B. Powell, GWS executive vice president. "The company will consider making additional payments under the 1974 sugarbeet purchase contract before the final payment is made Oct. 25 if sugar prices, the volume of sugar sales and other conditions warrant them."

"However, we do not expect to make any other payments provided for by the judgment of the court until the outcome

Farm disaster aid law revision sought

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress should revise farm disaster aid laws to avoid giving rich landowners low-interest loans originally intended for hard-pressed producers, Rep. Bob Bergland says.

The Minnesota Democrat is chairman of the conservation and credit subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee. His subcommittee was scheduled to begin hearings today on changes in one farm disaster credit program and he said further-reaching studies of other possible reforms will begin later this year. The Senate-passed bill before Bergland's subcommittee would liberalize several features of a law under which farmers can get loans at a 5 per cent interest rate if they suffer severe losses from floods, droughts or other natural disasters.

In addition to liberalizing some features of the program, however, the Senate bill would toughen it by adding a clause requiring would-be borrowers to show they cannot get needed credit on reasonable terms from normal commercial or credit lending agencies. This "credit elsewhere" test is included in most other lending programs run by the Farmers Home Administration which handles the disaster loans. Bergland, meeting with the Newspaper Edition of America Tuesday, said he favors restoring it to the disaster program.

Dairy support spending increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government spending for dairy price supports jumped 19 percent this year.

Current price support rates are left unchanged, spending will continue at about the same level in the 1975-76 season, a USDA official said in an interview.

The report on government purchases of dairy products under its price support program was issued Tuesday with no dollar figures. The cost estimates were furnished upon a reporter's request.

In a related development, Rep. David R. Obey, D-Wis., blasted the news media Tuesday for "misleading" farmers in failing to report that a proposal to increase milk supports would not cost as much as Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz first claimed.

Gem meat animals increase

BOISE — Idaho production of meat animals increased 1 per cent in 1974, but lower meat prices resulted in a 19 per cent decline in income from the all-time high of 1973.

While farmers and ranchers reported more, they collected less as falling meat prices depleted profit margins. Most of the decline in meat prices was experienced in the beef market, where the average price paid for calves declined almost 40 per cent.

Under the support program, the department announces a support price for "manufacturing grade" milk sold by dairy farmers, currently $7.24 per hundred pounds. It then helps to assure that milk plants pay that rate to farmers by making a standing offer to

A sensible way to protect beans from soil insects

The best and most economical protection we know of for seed corn is ORTHO's Isotox® Seed Treater (F). It contains captan, a time-proven fungicide shield to ward off fungus organisms in the soil. It also contains lindane to kill soil insects two ways. Its vapor action knocks out wireworms and seed corn maggots around the seed. For the insects that might escape the vapor, lindane also acts as a stomach poison. This combination insecticide/fungicide also repels phleasants.

ISOTOX Seed Treater (F) is easy to use. Simply mix it with seed in the planter box using the handy measuring cup that comes in each package. This treatment is effective with corn, milo and beans as well as a variety of vegetables, melons and field crops. Avoid accidents: For safety, read the entire label including warnings. Use all chemicals only as directed.

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Arabian Association playdays and championship show schedule begins this weekend with the first program at Baker's Indoor Arena here.

The arena is located three miles north and one mile east of the MotorVul Corner. There will be three playdays held during the summer season during which exhibitors will build up points for the championship show to be held Sept. 13 in the Burley fairgrounds.

Other playday programs will be held May 17, also at Baker's arena and June 14 at the C and W Stables, Burley, 841 East 42nd St.

Playday events are open to all breeds of horses but special breed classes will be scheduled if sufficient interest is shown by one group. Six entries or more will be required for a class.

Awards to winners of playday contests will include ribbons for the top six places and winners in the championships will receive a trophy for first place and ribbons for five places.

American Horse Show Association rules will be followed except in specific breed classes when the breed regulations will prevail. High-point awards will be presented at the championships event with special awards to the high-point exhibitor 10 years old and under; the Intermediate exhibitor, 11 through 13 years; senior exhibitor, 14 through 15 years; owner of the high point mare or gelding of any breed and high point of the Arabian.

Different judges will be judging at each of the playdays, giving exhibitors a chance to be reviewed by different experts.

Entries may be made up to showtime and the show office opens at 7 a.m. for each event. Show time is 6 a.m. for each playday and the championships.

Events include halter showmanship for all three junior age groups, stock seat equitation for the three junior divisions; hunter hack, open; trail class, open; saddle seat equitation for the three divisions; purebred Arabian English pleasure, English pleasure, open; pole bending and barrel racing.

Bleak year for farmers?

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. WASHINGTON (CNS) — The current year could be a bleak one for farmers, a San Francisco federal reserve bank economist writes in the bank's latest business and financial letter.

Many analysts expect prices for the year as a whole to continue present trends and lag "considerably below the 1974 average," said the Fed's Dean Chen.

For the year as a whole, cash farm receipts may be down about three per cent to $92 billion, says Chen, with a continued price-cost squeeze dropping net farm revenue as much as 25 per cent to $29 billion.

On the other hand, while the 1975 outlook may be gloomy for farmers, Chen thinks such factors as the decline in excess capacity and continued lightness in the food supply situation here and overseas are likely to keep surpluses from building up to levels experienced in the past and limit the present downturn in magnitude.

March farm prices below 1974

TWIN FALLS — Commodity prices on March 15 were generally lower than last year's level according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Small grain prices were lower on March 15 than they were a month ago, although livestock prices were above last month's prices. Declines from Feb. 15 were shown in wheat, oats, barley, mixed grain, alfalfa hay and milk.

Price increases from Feb. 15 were shown in apples, potatoes — dry beans, beef cattle, calves, lambs and hogs. Prices for dry peas, wool, milk and milk cows were unchanged from last month.

Idaho farmers received average prices on March 15, 1974, Feb. 15, 1975 and March 15, 1975 of 4 bushels 4.92, 3.70, 3.26 for all wheat; 1.71, 1.69, 1.53 for oats; 2.62, 2.65, 2.29 for barley; 1.71, 1.69, 1.53 for oats; 2.62, 2.65, 2.29 for barley; 2.64, 2.72, 2.28 mixed grain; .145, .115, .118 for a pound of fresh apples (monthly average).

for cows, excluding dairy and beef breeding herd replacements: 44.00, 20.10, 30.50 for steers and calves; 52.20, 23.60, 24.60 for heifers; 36.20, 37.40, 37.90 for lambs and 35.10, 38.70, 38.80 for hogs.

Milk sold to plants went for 8.25, 7.55 and 7.55 (preliminary figure); eggs, per dozen, 532, 583, 555; wool (average monthly price without incentive payment), per pound, .950, .30, .30; milk cows, per head, 550, 290, 290.

Idaho farmers paid less for the selected group of food concentrates than they did a month earlier. Bran, middlings and dairy feed prices were above levels a year ago, but cottonseed meal, soybean meal, laying feed and chick starter were below last year's prices.

On March 15, 1974, Feb. 15, 1975 and March 15, 1975, Idaho farmers paid these prices on an average for all grades, classes and methods of sale: bran (wt.) 6.30, 6.80, 6.60; middlings, 6.40, 6.90, 6.70; cottonseed meal 41 per cent, 11.50, 10.50, 9.90; soybean meal 44 per cent, 14.00, 12.50, 11.50.

For the same dates, Idaho farmers paid three prices per ton: dairy feed, 14 per cent protein, $135, 145, 142; dairy feed, 16 per cent protein, 145, 155, 150; laying feed complete, 160, 166, 155; chick starter 185, 185, 175.

In the United States the index of prices received by farmers during the month ending March 15, 1975, decreased three points or 2 per cent to 165 per cent — 1967-January to December — of last year.

Lower prices since mid-February were recorded for wheat, corn, upland cotton, soybeans, tomatoes and milk. Cattle, onions and apples had higher prices.

Middleman takes role in selling

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — If Utah farmers want to sell direct to the consumer in the state capital, they'll have to deal with a new middleman: the city.

"They'll need a $500 mobile stores license, a $100-per-year transfer merchant license, a $2 fresh meat dealer's license, and a $750 business revenue license."

And, adds City License Assessor Thad B. Emery, they will have to collect sales tax, pay their employees an adequate wage, withhold income taxes, and provide employee insurance.

Utah National Farmers Association members sold ground beef and potatoes in Logan, 80 miles to the north, last weekend. Idaho potato growers last month gave away truckloads of potatoes in Salt Lake City. Both actions were farmer protests of low prices received for meat and produce.

"We didn't bother them when they were giving potatoes away," Emery says.

"But if they intend to do business from street corners and parking lots, they'll have to have the proper permits."

NCAA OKs student trips to China

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The NCAA Council, following a meeting with three Amateur Athletic Union executives, granted collegians permission Wednesday to participate on the U.S. track and field team that will compete in China next month.

The trip to China, which will include three meets, is planned to span May 11 to May 30. Representing the AAU in Kansas City were Joseph Scialzo, Olan Cassell and Rich Harkins. Scialzo is the AAU president and Cassell is executive secretary.

Fuzak said the NCAA had no idea how many collegians would participate on the team, which was selected exclusively by the AAU.

"We couldn't get any definite or specific answer on how many athletes are involved," he said.

In a prepared statement, the NCAA said, "The Council has prohibited the athlete from making such a trip."

AAU involves a U.S.A. national team as part of a committed cultural exchange program of two nations.

Connors loses in battle of surfaces

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors lost his first battle against John Newcombe in their upcoming $250,000 tennis match Wednesday following a decision by Caesars Palace Hotel not to change the playing surface of its tennis pavilion.

and is a synthetic substance laid like a rug on the floor. Connors is a 7-5 favorite to win despite the fact that the 30-year-old Australian has won their three previous meetings to date.

Connors called a news conference shortly after he arrived Tuesday to complain about the fast surface of the pavilion and asked that a rougher and slower one be installed for his best three- or five-sets match Saturday with Newcombe, who plays best on a fast surface.

In the money-win category, Miller is out on top with $148,476, but Nicklaus is only $223 back.

Wetskopf, who captured the Greater Greensboro Open one week before his fourth run-up finish in the Masters, is third in money won with $112,388.

PGA champion Lee Trevino, who finished last in the 1974 T of C, and Gene Littler, a three-time winner of the tournament in 1955-'57, were made 8-1 choices.

Eleven pros will be making T of C debuts, including Jerry McGee, winner of last weekend's Pensacola Open for his first triumph in eight years on the tour.

Miller won here a year ago for a $40,000 payoff with a 280 total, eight-under-par, after shooting a 75 in the first round. He had a final round 69 and finished one shot ahead of Buddy Allin and John Mahaffey.

Tommy Jacobs, a former tour regular who now is La Costa's golf director, last year predicted that no player would break 280, eight-under-par, a mark Miller matched in taking the win.

"The hotel is very happy the way things turned out," said Sidney Galbraith, special events director for the hotel.

Connors, in that match, had no-contrast in the playing surface, which is a brand called Supreme Court

It appeared Connors was up to his usual pre-match antics. The 22-year-old Connors is a $100,000 match earlier this year in which he defeated Rod Laver, complained about the choice of officials.

Ex-owner sues world grid loop

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A multi-million dollar lawsuit against the World Football League has been filed by the former owner of the WFL Jacksonville Sharks.

In the federal court suit, filed in Orlando, former Sharks owner Fran Monaco, of Deland, Fla., asks that the purchase of the 1975 Jacksonville franchise be delayed until his case is heard in a jury trial.

He also asks the court to sequester all funds to be paid to the league for the new franchise here, told the Jacksonville Journal. "I've heard about it and that's all I know right now. I will have to get in touch with the league's president (Chris Hemmeter) before I can say anything more."

He also asks the court to sequester all funds to be paid to the league for the new franchise here, told the Jacksonville Journal. "I've heard about it and that's all I know right now. I will have to get in touch with the league's president (Chris Hemmeter) before I can say anything more."

Knabb was reportedly meeting with other stockholders of the new franchise to decide on a course of action.

"They're going to call the '76 edition of the federal budget — very optimistically."

Boston chases Hunter to pin 11-7 loss on Yankees

BOSTON (UPI) — Bob Montgomery's two-run double capped a five-run seventh inning outburst that knocked out Catches Hunter and carried the Boston Red Sox to an 11-7 win Wednesday over the New York Yankees.

Hunter, witness since coming to the Yankees, was sailing along with a 73 lead on a four-hitter until pinch-hitter Cecil Cooper tripled to open the seventh inning for Boston.

When Bertie Carbo singled, reliever Sparks Lyle rolled Hunter, giving up a walk to Dwight Evans and RBI single to Fred Lynn and Jim Wright that cut the Yankees lead to 7-6.

17th Tidrow replaced Lyle and was greeted by Montgomery's strong field double, drifting in the tying and leading runs.

protected Jim Perry's first victory of the season with three shutout innings of relief.

Montgomery pitched 7 2/3 innings, allowing 11 runs, 11 hits and 11 errors. He struck out 10.

Lyle pitched 7 1/3 innings, allowing 11 runs, 11 hits and 11 errors. He struck out 10.

Cooper tripled to open the seventh inning for Boston.

Wright hit a home run in the seventh inning.

Evans hit a home run in the seventh inning.

Expos maintain jinx over Bucs

MONTREAL (UPI) — Veteran left-hander Woody Fryman of Montreal shut out Pittsburgh for the second time in a row Wednesday, stopping the Pirates on seven hits for a 5-0 victory.

It was Montreal's fourth victory in four games with Pittsburgh this season.

Fryman pitched 7 2/3 innings, allowing 5 runs, 5 hits and 5 errors. He struck out 10.

Brewers drop Baltimore 8-5

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bobby Mitchell, replacing Hank Aaron as Milwaukee's designated hitter, slammed two doubles and scored the winning run as the Brewers notched an 8-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

Mitchell hit a home run in the seventh inning.

Aaron hit a home run in the seventh inning.

Singer hurls Cal past Texas

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Singer settled down after yielding a first inning home to Mike Hargrove, yielding six hits Wednesday night in hurling the California Angels to a 4-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Tommy Harper collected three singles and Tom Egan added a double and single each driving in a run to support Singer's second victory in three decisions.

Fubs batter Phillies 9-3

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bill Madlock drove in four runs with a bases-loaded double and a single and George Mitterwald and Rick Monday homered Wednesday to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 9-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The victory ended a five-game losing streak for Chicago.

The Cubs put the game away with a four-run fourth inning to snap a 1-1 tie. Mitterwald homered to make it 2-1.

Seaver, Mets rip Cardinals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rusty Seaver stroked his sixth career grand slam to climax a six-run grand slam in the fifth inning and Tom Seaver pitched a four-hitter Wednesday as the Mets routed the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-1.

Seaver, now 2-2, permitted base runners in only three innings and struck out seven while allowing only one walk in the route-going performance.

Giants split with Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Gary Thomasson's solo home run and a run-scoring single by Bruce Miller—both players' first hit of the season—sparked the San Francisco Giants to a 3-0 win behind Pete Falcone's first major league shutout and a doubleheader split with Houston Astros Wednesday night.

Padres shell Dodgers 7-1

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Randy Hundley's two-run double highlighted a four-run outburst in the fourth inning Wednesday night as the San Diego Padres jumped on Don Sutton for seven runs and 11 hits in 4 and 2 1/3 innings on the way to a 7-1 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kim Goetz

Golden Eagles sign two-time all-stater Goetz of Moscow

Blue chip prospect Kim Goetz, two-time all-state tournament all-star from Moscow, has signed a letter of intent with College of Southern Idaho's Golden Eagles.

Although the move had been expected around Twin Falls for the past few days, Coach Boyd Grant announced receiving the signed contract in the mail Wednesday.

Goetz, a 6-6 leaper with the mobility to play guard, thus becomes the first Idaho non-distric blue chipper to sign with the Golden Eagles. He follows an older brother, Dave, to CSI. He played the first two years of CSI intercollegiate scheduling. The Eagles also tried to recruit brother Kevin Goetz, now a starter for University of Nevada, Reno.

Goetz was one of the most highly sought — if not the most — in the state this year, particularly after staging a 37-point first game in the state tournament.

He rejected several offers from major college schools, including Idaho, Idaho State, Boise State, Utah and some other northern division Pac-8, WAC and Big Sky conference schools.

Rated an excellent outside shooter as well as a strong rebounder, Goetz will give the Eagles a strong perimeter punch against the zone defenses CSI usually sees.

He was named most valuable player for the Moscow Bears through his sophomore, junior and senior years, leading the team to state in two occasions.

Champ sheds manager

LONDON (UPI) — World lightweightweight champion John Conteh won a High Court legal action Wednesday in the first round of his fight to avoid meeting Californian Alvaro Lopez in the ring, and then prepared to go to battle with his manager, George Francis.

Conteh was due to appear at Wednesday's emergency meeting of the British Boxing Board of Control to answer allegations by Francis that he refused to train for the May 20 non-title fight against Lopez.

But instead, the 23-year-old champion went into action in the High Court where he was granted an injunction restraining the Board from hearing allegations before another court hearing on Friday.

The court ruled the Board's hearing should await the outcome of a legal action, Conteh has started in which he challenges the validity of his contract with Francis.

Bulls eliminate KC from NBA playoffs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Chicago Bulls, dominant from start to finish and relying on the shooting of Bob Love, Wednesday night buried the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, 101-89 to win the best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series four games to two.

The Bulls, with Love scoring 35 points and Norm Van Lier adding 18, tucked away the verdict with a 15-4 spurt in the first 6:31 of the third quarter, turning a 50-44 halftime lead into a 65-50 margin.

The Kings were never able to move closer than seven points of the rest of the way before a disappointed and unruly crowd of 12,445.

Nate Archibald led the Kings, making their first appearance in the playoffs since 1967, with 26 points.

The game was halted with 8:40 to play in the fourth quarter while the two centers, Nate Thurmond of Chicago and Sam Lacey of Kansas City-Omaha, engaged in a brief shoving match. While time was still out, Van Lier led a Bulls charge into the stands behind the Chicago basket. An arena policeman quickly moved between the Bulls and the fans.

Chicago's victory was the first by either team on the road during the series. The Bulls now advance to the NBA semifinals against the winner of the Golden State-Seattle series.

The Bulls first assumed command early in the second quarter, running off a 12-5 spree to take a 35-27 lead before the Kings called timeout 7:17 before intermission. Chicago increased its lead to 50-41 before the Kings scored the last three points, including a 35-footer by Lacey at the buzzer.

Buffalo evens slate with Bullets 102-96

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Bob McAdoo scored nine of his game-high 37 points in the last five minutes and 13 seconds to lift the Buffalo Braves to a 102-96 National Basketball Association playoff victory over the Washington Bullets Wednesday night.

The win squared the Eastern Conference semi-final series at three games apiece and set up the seventh and deciding game Friday night in Landover, Md.

McAdoo, blanked for nearly seven minutes in the final period, hit his first points of the last quarter, a pair of freethrows with 5:13 left in the game, to give the Braves an 89-87 lead. Kevin Porter fouled out on the play and 15 seconds later, Washington's Phil Chenier tied it for the 18th and final time.

McAdoo's stuff and free throw, Lee Winfield's basket and two more goals by McAdoo were answered by only an Elvin Hayes follow shot and Buffalo was in command, 98-90 with 2:14 remaining.

Sutton signs center

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Steve Schall, 6-11, 230, of Raytown to a 2-1 record last season, is a two-time all-state basketball letter of intent with Arkansas today. Razorback coach Eddie Sutton announced.

Schall, who averaged 19 points and 13 rebounds in leading Raytown to a 2-1 record last season, is a twotime all-state player and was chosen outstanding player in the Kansas City area.

Pele considers offer

SANTOS, Brazil (UPI) — Pele, the International soccer hero, said Wednesday he is consulting with his family about a multi-million dollar offer to play for the New York Cosmos.

Pele's father, Dodinho, urged his son "to go. It's a good offer."

Pele has told newsmen he was offered "$4.5 million for a three year contract, $1.5 million would be withheld as taxes."

Bobick brothers split

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Unbeaten Duane Bobick of Bowling, Minn., coasted to his 27th straight heavyweight boxing victory Wednesday night but his brother Rodney lost in separate 10-round heavyweight bouts in the co-feature event at the Metropolitan Sports Center.

Duane Bobick, weighing in at 213 1/2 pounds, won a unanimous decision over Raul Gorstio of Argentina and Rodney lost a unanimous decision to Scott Debus of Minneapolis.

The card drew the largest boxing crowd ever in Minnesota — 9,256 — and the total gate, $70,148, also was the biggest ever in the state.

Olympics eye gold coins

OTTAWA (UPI) — The government is considering allowing the minting of gold Olympic coins to help make up the more than $200 million projected deficit facing the 1976 Montreal Games. Postmaster General Bryce MackKasey said Wednesday.

"I am hopeful that the government will be advancing acceptable legislation in the not too distant future," MackKasey told the House of Commons.

He said the legislation would amend the federal coins program to allow the minting of gold coins. Under the current mandate, only silver coins are being minted.

The coins program is just one aspect of the self-financing scheme for the Montreal games. It originally was projected to raise $175 million, but current estimates fall far short of that figure.

Thompson honored

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — David Thompson, the All-America forward from North Carolina State, was named Wednesday the recipient of the fourth annual Adolph Rupp trophy as the nation's outstanding college basketball player.

The trophy, established by the Commonwealth Athletic Club, was won by UCLA's Bill Walton the first three years it was awarded.

Carson Porter, a club spokesman, said Thompson was chosen by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters by a substantial margin over runner-up Dave Meyers of UCLA.

Kentucky's Kevin Grevey was third, followed by Adrian Danley of Notre Dame and Junior Bridgeman of Louisville.

Colonels go 2 up against St. Louis

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Ted McClain's 24 points and superb defense against Freddie Lewis keyed Kentucky's 108-103 victory over the Spirits of St. Louis Wednesday night to give the Colonels a 2-0 lead in their ABA Eastern Division final playoffs.

The series now goes to St. Louis for game three Friday night and game four Sunday night before returning here for a fifth game, if necessary, next Monday night.

The Colonels went ahead to stay on two foul shots by Artis Gilmore for a 19-17 lead in the first period. They stretched that margin to 32-27 at the end

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon brings accentuated activity where matters of practical and material nature are concerned. Get in touch with specialists in such fields and secure help with financial plans. Make contacts to last for a long time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make important collections, payments, to place affairs on even keel. Listen to what a close friend suggests. This could prove most helpful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Have talks with others to clear up questionable points and reach a fine agreement. Any opposition on your part could bring dire results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Your fine talents can be recognized by higher-ups who will have the power to further them through support, backing you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get those entertainment ideas working for good results. Show your finest talents to those who can help you commercialize on them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Home is your best place to express yourself today and coming to a better understanding with kin is easy. Entertain charming persons.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get together with people who will give you needed data. Study in brochures, etc. Evening favors simple pleasures, visiting.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Financial affairs are most important now get busy at them early. Gain the aid of one who is an expert in such.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have good ideas and much magnetism today and can accomplish much, others are impressed favorably. Out to the social in p.m. for big headway.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Consider how you can progress better toward goals. The evening can be most romantic after a good day's output of work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Reach better understanding with pals. A good time to repay social obligations, also. Avoid one you do not like, especially if you're single.

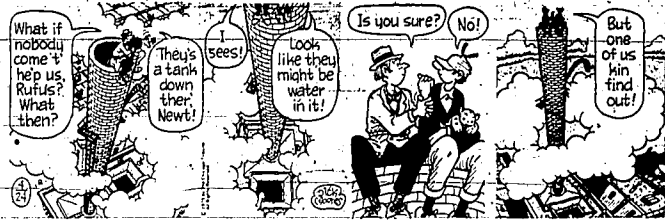

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Gain bigwigs' backing for important projects. Getting into civic work is good for you. Take it easy in p.m. Read.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Step out of that dull, easy routine and get into something bigger. Some new alliances can become valuable for the future.

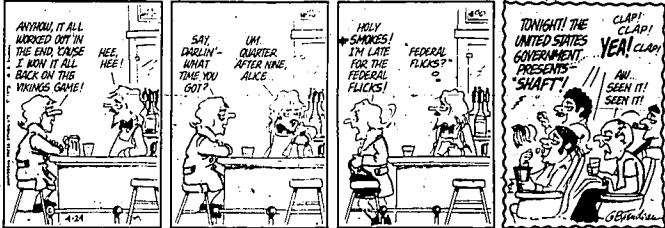

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be strong and healthy and will make others feel safe and important, and will have an ink well. Put into right educational hands that will mold into a fine leader. The field of investigations is excellent, whether male or female, also professional sports, politics. A unique chart.

If the husband and wife agree in their religious convictions their chances for a happy marriage are 11 times greater than the chances of that husband and wife who don't agree. Such be the findings of the social scientist. Should be noted, however, the husband and the wife will the worst-chances are those who have no religious convictions at all.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS
 Q. "What's a hair's breadth?"
 A. Exactly! One forty-eighths of an inch.
 Q. "WHAT state has the least crime?"
 A. North Dakota.
 Q. "WHERE does baby food rank on the list of most profitable food industry items?"
 A. It's No. 2. Right behind No. 1, citrus products.

OPALS
 Men hunting opals at a certain place in Australia got terribly hot in the midday sun. No shade trees. So they dug burrows for themselves. The opal strike was sizable. Other hunters trekked in a town developed. The aborigines named it "Cooberpedy" meaning "white man in a hole."

MAJOR HOOPLE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices opened lower in light trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.79 to 801.70, shadily affected by an immediate decline in volume, 112 to 100 among the more than 270 issues crossing the tape.

A sharp rise in Treasury Bill rates Tuesday sparked the selling wave, which gained momentum in Wednesday's session. Although the rates drifted lower, the modest decline failed to calm Wall Street litters over the recent upsurge in short-term interest rates.

The market lost its steady ground late in the afternoon following the Treasury Department's report the federal government had a record budget deficit of $7.85 billion in March.

Fueling the decline, the Viet Cong rejected an immediate ceasefire and negotiations for a political settlement of the war. Earlier in the week, the resignation of South Vietnam's president raised hopes peace was in sight and touched off a market rally.

OUR INCOME TAX MATCHING GUIDE

YOUR TAX REFUND	YOUR DISCOUNT ON
	GRANADA, PINTO, MAVERICK OR MUSTANG II	TORINO, ELITE OR LTD	LANDAU, LTD COUNTRY SQUIRE OR THUNDERBIRD
100	100	100	500
200	200	200	600
300	300	300	700
400	300	400	800
500	300	500	900
600	300	600	1000
700 AND UP	300	700	1100

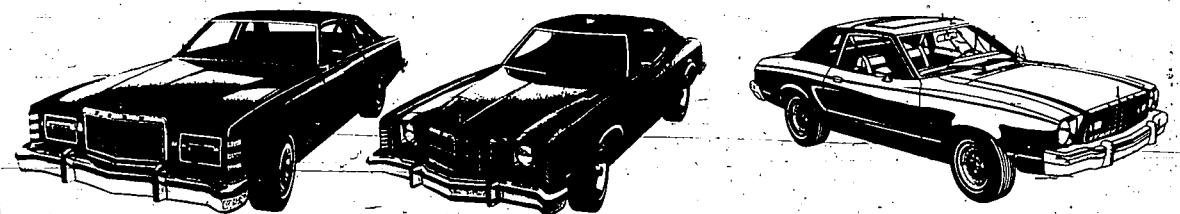

Here's the best news since you found out you were getting an income tax refund in the first place. Because as it says in the big type above, we will match your tax refund up to $1100 when you buy a new Ford from us. It's like getting two checks, instead of one. Just bring in your tax refund check (or other proof of a refund), pick out the car you want, and we'll match it up to $1100 off the sticker price. The Tax Matching Guide above will show you just how much you'll get.

As you see, the amount varies depending on (1) how big your tax refund is, and (2) which car you buy. Simple and straightforward. So if you were thinking about what a nice down payment your income tax refund check would make on a new car, just think how much nicer a down payment it will make when we match it up to $1100 off the sticker price. Don't wait too long. Opportunity — and offers to match your income tax refund up to $1100 knock but once.

DON'T FORGET ABOUT YOUR USED CAR TRADE-IN. USED CAR VALUES HAVE NEVER BEEN HIGHER!!

Obsessed with witchcraft, 'Zodiac' slayer seeks slaves for afterlife

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Sheriff Don Striepeke said Wednesday he believes the "Zodiac" killer obsessed with witchcraft may have murdered up to 40 women in four western states so their "spirits can serve him in an afterlife."

The mysterious Zodiac killer has claimed he killed 37 persons in the San Francisco Bay area in recent years, though police have confirmed only six.

Striepeke and Det. Erwin Carlstedt said they developed their theory after studying the skulls of six girls killed here over a period of two years and a Seattle case in which the remains of seven young women were found.

"They had a psychological profile done up there on their suspect, and you can take it and almost overlap it with ours down here," Carlstedt said.

Carlstedt said "there is no doubt in my mind" that the same man killed the six women here and the seven women victims found in Washington State.

A symbol from ancient English witchcraft was found at a remote site here where the bodies of three young women were found, he said.

The symbol was two rectangles connected by a line, formed by twigs, with two stones lying inside one of the rectangles.

Striepeke said the symbol once was put on the hearts of homes of the deceased in England to "speed the deceased to the afterlife."

He said the Zodiac killer had written of his intended random victims as "slaves I will collect for my afterlife."

Carlstedt said he sees striking similarities between some 28 unsolved murders of girls and women aged 12 and 24 over the past several years in Northern California.

He also said he believes the killer may be leaving a trail of bodies over several western states that traces the letter "Z" running from San Francisco and Santa Rosa to Seattle, then crossing down through Salt Lake City to Vail, Colo. He said if the theory is correct, the "killer's trail" will move north from Vail to Seattle police, who have sent 11 detectives to study the Sonoma County killings, say they have been unable to establish any direct connection between the two cases.

Homicide inspectors in San Francisco, where four alleged Zodiac killings have occurred, were not prepared to accept the theory of a lone killer in four San Francisco killings that Striepeke includes in his list.

"I just can't go that strong with it," Inspector Al Podesta said.

Carlstedt says many of the victims appeared to have been killed in one place and then thrown off a roadside by a very strong person. The bodies of five of the six Sonoma County victims were disposed of in that fashion, he said.

Carlstedt traveled to Salt Lake City Tuesday to study the apparently random killing of two young women there and planned to go to Grand Junction, Vail, and Aspen, Colo., to Santa Fe, N.M. to investigate similar killings.

Study pinpoints season for rapes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — There is a season for rape, two geographers say, just as there are seasons for baseball and football.

According to their study of the nation's 56 largest cities, more rapes occur in May.

"It really breaks like the monsoon," said John J. Alford, one of the researchers.

Alford and Lawrence T. Lewis, geographers at Western Illinois University, made the study of the influence of seasons on rape rates. It was presented at the annual convention of the Association of American Geographers this week.

They claim the incidence of rape is seasonal and not related to any erratic temperatures or climate.

"We originally thought there was a relationship between rape and temperature and if there was such a relationship between the two that the increase in instances of rape would occur first in the South as we change from winter to summer," Lewis said.

"But, it doesn't do that," he said. "The whole country has a low incidence of rape in the winter, then about May or June it starts to increase."

"Rather like baseball or football the season begins at a certain time of year regardless of the weather or climate," their study concluded.

Alford said if temperature were the dominating factor then rapes should increase first in the South and progress slowly northward, following the sun.

But their data shows rape increases are reported in May throughout the North and South, even though temperatures in the North are still below those in the South. Similarly, rape rates decline in October throughout the country even though they would be expected to drop first in the North.

Alford and Lewis said criminologists and sociologists tend to ignore physical and environmental considerations and concentrate on sociological factors. They said they hoped the work of geographers might contribute to law enforcement.
