Big Viet aid bill offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today proposed a sweeping $507 million program of aid to care for South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees through mid-1976.

Ford sent a draft of the new aid bill to Rep. William Broomfield, R-Mich., senior GOP member of the House International Relations Committee. Broomfield said he would introduce it in the House later today.

The measure has a 60-called "open end authorization," meaning it carries no set spending ceiling figure. But Broomfield said a fact sheet sent with the measure estimated the cost of caring for up to 150,000 refugees through June 30, 1976, at $507 million.

The White House bill was received on Capitol Hill as the House Judiciary subcommittee held hearings on the refugee issue.

L. Dean Brown, coordinator of the government's refugee program, told that hearing on South Vietnamese who were returned in economically hardpressed sections of the United States. He said they would be dispersed as evenly as possible throughout the country.

The President's bill would provide humanitarian aid only. It contains no request for authorization of the use of U.S. troops as Ford sought earlier before the final evacuation of refugees from Saigon.

Some Congress members wanted to give Ford that authorization even after the fact to clear away any doubts that Ford acted contrary to present law banning such use of troops without congressional approval.

Broomfield said the White House estimated that as of today there are 124,399 South Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees within the United States or en route. The final figure will reach about 150,000, he said.

The administration was hopeful that up to 10 per cent of the 150,000 refugees could be resettled in other nations. The fact sheet included an estimated cost of $20 million for such "third nation" resettlement.

The proposed bill would be an amendment to the 1962 Migration and Refugee Assistance Act and probably would be considered by the House Judiciary Committee rather than Broomfield's International Relations panel.

The White House said that "only $38 million" is now available for refugee work and the Defense Department has already spent "over $70 million in costs for the evacuation."

"Without additional funds, the U.S. government will be able to continue resettlement efforts only one more week," the administration said in its fact sheet.

The administration estimated refugee care costs at $185 million during the next 14 months for "daily maintenance," such as food and lodging; $125 million for welfare and medical costs; $99 million for airlift of refugees from staging to final processing centers; $75 million in resettlement costs; and $20 million to airlift refugees to other nations willing to accept them.

Ford, Rabin set meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Turning his attention from Southeast Asia to other parts of the world, President Ford announced today he will meet with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin at the White House June 11-12.

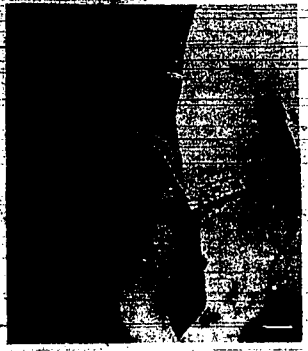

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford invited Rabin to Washington "for discussions of matters of mutual interest and in order to further strengthen the friendly relations between the two countries," Nessen said Rabin accepted.

The meeting will come 10 days after Ford meets Egypt's President Anwar Sadat in neutral Salzburg, Austria.

The announcement came at the start of a rigorous week in which Ford intended to be reevaluating foreign policy following communist victories in Cambodia and South Vietnam.

today in brief

Report lists 80-90 Cambodians slain
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has intercepted a radio transmission indicating that 80 or 90 Cambodian officers and their wives have been killed by the Khmer Rouge since the fall of Phnom Penh, White House spokesman Ron Nessen said today.

Nessen said President Ford was "deeply bothered" by the report, particularly by the executions of the soldiers' wives.

Davis takes New Mexico U. post

POCATELLO (UPI) — Dr. William E. Davis, president of Idaho State University since August 1965, said today he is resigning to accept the presidency of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

Davis plans to leave either late this summer or early this fall. "Leaving Idaho will not be easy or without strong emotional feelings," Davis said. "My wife, Polly, and I have and will always have a deep and abiding affection for Idaho State University, and this state and the many friends we have found here."

'Stooge' dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Moe Howard, 78, last member of the slapstick comedy group, "The Three Stooges," died Sunday night of lung cancer.

Howard began acting in 1914 on a Mississippi River showboat. He moved into dramatic parts and later comedy. His brother, Shemp, joined him in 1921 and Larry Fine was added in 1925. The trio appeared in about 200 movies. Another brother, Curley, and Joe Dirita also appeared with the troupe.

Ambassador Keating dies at 74

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth Keating, ambassador to Israel and former senator from New York, died in a New York City hospital today, the State Department announced. He was 74.

Keating recently suffered a heart attack and was admitted to Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York.

Keating was ambassador to Israel at the time of his death.

Viet Reds seek UN agency membership

By United Press International
South Vietnam's Provisional Revolutionary Government has applied for membership in a number of United Nations organizations in a clear indication it is preparing for a prolonged period during which it will operate independently from North Vietnam, French government officials said today.

They said two of these organizations are the World Health Organization and the International Meteorological Organization.

In a new land

By United Press International
Refugees from South Vietnam still pour across the Pacific, on their way to new lives as strangers in a strange land.

The last group of 50,000 steamed toward Guam and another 11,000 spent Sunday night sleeping in three relocation centers in the United States.

Some arrived relatively well-fed, others with only the clothes on their backs.

For some there was joy at being safe in a new land. For others there was trepidation at being in a land where they don't speak the language and have no one to sponsor them.

For one woman it was hysteria and a plea for someone to give her the means to kill herself. For a man in Miami, it was the almost euphoric happiness of being with his family in a land without war.

Storm sets snow record

TWIN FALLS — Snowfall records for Twin Falls were broken by the spring storm that brought already delayed farming operations to a standstill.

Weather Service officials estimated that 10 inches of snow fell in the weekend period from Saturday through Monday morning, setting a record for May snowfall. The old record of five inches was set in 1967. Six inches of snowfall on Sunday breaks the May daily record of five inches set in May, 1968. Normal snowfall for May is 2.5 inches or less.

Daytime high temperatures are running 25 to 30 degrees below normal for this time of year.

Don Youtz, Twin-Falls county agricultural extension agent, said farmers "did a lot of catching up last week. They went from a small percentage of planted sugar beets and grain to a high percentage." He said the bad weather will not affect the planting of beans and corn which are normally planted around the middle of May for long season varieties and into June for shorter season varieties.

Youtz said four or five days of drying will probably be needed before field work can be resumed.

Robert Day, Amalgamated Sugar Co., said growers aren't concerned about planting their sugar beets later than usual because the weather has been so cold the growers don't think there would have been much growth yet anyhow.

Day said "as of this morning, we were about 85 per cent planted. Normally all of the beets would be planted by this time." He said most farmers have their fields worked and are ready to plant as soon as the soil is dry enough to take planting equipment on.

Youtz said some farmers who try their earlier crops planted have been working fields for corn and beans. "With modern equipment, a lot can be done when they can get in the field," Youtz said.

THE LLAC bank on Blue Lake Boulevard resembled a giant snow house after Sunday's spring snowstorm which dumped five inches on a nearby field. The circle of snow in foreground covers a wire frame, which, hopefully, will support a peony bush, weather permitting it to reach that height.

Sugar firm reports May 1 dividend

TWIN FALLS — The Amalgamated Sugar Co. reported a 75-cent dividend on common stocks on May 1, compared to 50 cents recorded May 1, 1974, and February, 1975.

Sales for the 26 weeks ending March 31 were about $96.48 million, a 30 per cent increase over the $74.22 million to sales recorded for the same period last year. Before-tax income was about $20.28 million, or 171 per cent more than the $11.13 million recorded last year during the same 26-week period.

The company provided for about $15.16 million to be paid in federal and state income taxes for the period, a 174 per cent increase over the $5.52 million provided for last year. Net income was $15.11 million this year, a 167 per cent increase over the $5.66 million recorded during the 26 weeks last year.

A company report released last week said that sugar distribution since early December, 1974, has been "substantially below normal," mainly because consumers restated the "record high sugar prices reached last fall." The "serious national economic recession has, no doubt, also contributed to the decline of distribution and consumption," the report said.

In recent weeks sugar distribution has increased because refined sugar prices have declined about 50 per cent from a high last November, according to the report.

The company also said that beet plantings are about 30 days behind normal schedules. Late plantings "are not conducive to maximum third sugarbeet yields," the report said.

Community, college musicians combine

'Town, gown' merge in CSI concert

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "Town and gown segments," of Twin Falls musical circles combined Sunday for a successful concert featuring Schubert's "Mass in B Flat."

Under the direction of Harold V. Smith, College of Southern Idaho vocal instructor, singers from the college were joined by community vocalists and a 13 piece orchestra which greatly added to the quality of the sacred oratorio.

Schubert's music is noted for its poetry and intensity and both qualities were apparent in the "Mass." The rich harmony and vigor of the music was not lost on the audience, even though the libretto is sung in Latin.

The words of the six sections were printed in the program, allowing the listener an understanding of the thought content of the words.

The four soloists, who included two experienced vocalists with two students, all performed with professional ease and skill and provided pleasing contrast to the fullness of the total choir.

The quartet included Mary Walker, soprano; Valeta Burke, alto; Jess Torres, tenor, and Roger Vincent, bass. It is encouraging to see experienced community musical leaders such as Mrs. Walker and Vincent working with the college students and this trend was evidenced throughout the total performance, with youths playing in the orchestra alongside experienced players from the Magic Valley Symphony, and Magic Valley Chorale members blending with the CSI singers.

The college small choral ensemble, also directed by Smith, opened the Sunday afternoon concert with six numbers, including the familiar "All in the April Evening" of Hugh Robertson and Cole Porter's "Wonderbar" from "Kiss Me, Kate."

The quality of the Twin Falls cultural life has been greatly enriched in recent years with the development and expansion of the CSI music department, headed by Lawrence Curtis. Sunday's performance typified what can be accomplished by the cooperative blending of college and community musicians.

Officers upset about release

BOISE (UPI) — A petition filed by Michael Hightower as a step towards his release from the mental health unit of the Idaho State Prison has aroused Boise law enforcement officers who don't want him freed.

Hightower was ruled dangerously mentally ill after he was charged in December of 1973 with the rape and kidnapping of a Boise State University coed. He escaped from the Idaho State Prison in an unguarded mental health facility later and was captured in February, 1974 in North Carolina.

Police and officials for the prosecutor's office say they will oppose releasing Hightower, if it is appropriate.

In his petition, Hightower says—in the opinion of treatment personnel at the mental health unit, he has reached "his maximum benefit from treatment available."

Hightower has "progressed in controlling his behavior" so that transfer to another treatment program is recommended," the petition says.

He also has requested an examination by two psychiatrists to examine him and report on his mental condition.

The petition was filed April 25 in Fourth District Court by Stephen C. Brown, an attorney with Western Idaho Legal Aid.

"If Hightower was released, it might be hard on him," Boise police Det. Sgt. Vern Bisterfeldt said.

She will be available for appointments at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Businessmen interested in talking with Mrs. Gutles should bring their most recent balance sheets, operating statements and earnings projections.

Prospective businessmen should bring financial data and information about the proposed ventures. Appointments can be made by calling the chamber at 733-3974.

Housing report issued

WASHINGTON, D.C. — About 8.1 per cent of all rental housing in the United States was vacant in the first three months of the year.

About 1.2 per cent of all homeowner housing was vacant for the first quarter.

A U.S. Bureau of the Census survey conducted recently showed that the rates were similar to rates recorded last year for housing vacancy. They are slightly lower than they were ten years ago in the first quarter of 1965, when 8.5 per cent of all rental housing and 1.7 per cent of all homeowner housing was vacant.

Their probed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police today were investigating the theft of a purse belonging to a Jerome woman from a Twin Falls bowling alley.

Judy Prescott told police Saturday she had left her purse beneath a pool table, at the Bowldrome while she went to bowl a few lines. When she returned to pick up her purse about two hours later, it was missing, she told police.

The contents of the purse, including credit cards, personal items and checks was valued at about $315.

Elmore man reports prior land claim

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — A retired contractor says he and several associates filed an application with the Bureau of Land Management 10-years ago under the Desert Entry Land Act on 4,000 acres of land the BLM is considering giving to another group.

Henry McGuire of Mountain Home says his group should have first chance at the land.

"If that land is going to anyone, we should have first chance on it," McGuire said.

A group headed by Jerome farmer Don Church is trying to get the BLM to approve a 6,000 acre entry in the Mountain Home desert under the Carey Act.

Fred Cook, the BLM public information officer in Boise, says, McGuire's application is still on file.

"We've got cases older than that on the books," Cook said. "They were passas people had never taken final action on."

"That's not right in this case," McGuire said. "We'd get a letter from them (the BLM) every two or three years and we always complied with every request they made. I wonder if those guys up there know what they're doing," he said.

"The case is now in the district office awaiting a decision," Cook said, "as to whether the land can be used for a single purpose or be classified as multi-purpose."

Reform may bring bureaucracy controls

Two short books published last month come to grips with this question. One is "Watchmen in the Night: Presidential Accountability after Watergate" by Ted Sorensen, who was counsel to President Kennedy.

Nixon men could penetrate the bureaucracy, which was leaning hard left while the rest of the country was pulling right.

US responsibility continues

By NEA-London Economist News Service The plight of South Vietnam's war orphans has created a wave of sympathy in many Western countries, but the 'babylins' have also been criticized.

The doubts that can and should be raised about these airlifts revolve around the following points: First, the number of babies that can be flown out is very small in relation to the total number of children orphaned by the war.

Playing the right melody on the American nostalgic nerve can turn a fortune in records, movies, television, books, clothing, household furnishings, halbruts, magazines and grandmother's cowbeebid junk.

ternational outcry. But this argument has to be weighed against the facts of recent history... Who would be most at risk? First, the "stubborn elements" and "wicked officials" who have been mentioned again and again in captured Vietcong assassination lists: army officers and policemen, central government and local officials, anti-Communist politicians and journalists, and, needless to say, Vietcong defectors.

The problems are vast, but not entirely insurmountable. It is the responsibility of the Americans, given their long commitment to Vietnam, to resolve them.

McIntyre raps Pentagon 'hair trigger' policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is planning a strategy that puts a hair trigger on nuclear war, Sen. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., said today.

McIntyre said the Pentagon's chief ally in trying to get this strategy accepted is a presidential candidate of his own party, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.

In a speech prepared for delivery in Durham, N.H., but released in Washington, McIntyre said Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger is seeking nuclear weapons that would not be able to destroy an enemy — they would be so accurate that if fired, they could destroy Soviet missiles before they are fired.

It anticipated a debate on the subject that opens Tuesday in the Senate Armed Services Committee. McIntyre chairs its research and development subcommittee.

"This so-called counterforce capability to destroy missiles in hardened silos requires a combination of the accuracy and yield of your own warheads," McIntyre said.

"The problem, of course, is that if you threaten your adversary's missiles even if you are only preparing for a limited nuclear war, he may reasonably fear that you are preparing to take his deterrent away with a pre-emptive first strike. In a period of crisis, this fear is a motive to strike you first.

"It means your own missiles are more attractive targets and it consequently puts a hair trigger on nuclear war."

McIntyre summed up the debate with this analogy:

"One of my good friends said 'when we go squirrel hunting back home we want to have the most accurate rifle we can get.' Of course, the effect of these capabilities would be just the opposite. It would be more like a member of your infantry patrol being so rambunctious that he draws enemy fire and threatens the lives of the entire patrol!"

McIntyre said deterrence was the cornerstone of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks that had led to the current atmosphere of detente between the United States.

"The policy of deterrence," he said, "means that you should insure that your strategic force is unquestionably survivable against any attack but at the same time avoid raising any reasonable fears in the minds of your adversaries about your ability to attack his deterrent."

McIntyre said this was a significant policy success of former President Nixon and his former secretary of defense, Melvin Laird. Schlesinger's position — "with the support of his principal congressional ally, Senator Henry Jackson," McIntyre said — is "substantially to the right of the Nixon-Laird congressional consensus of the early 1970's."

Red takeover sure: Henry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Because of Watergate and the congressional ban on U.S. military action in Indochina, there is no other possible outcome of the Vietnam War than a Communist takeover, says Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger, in a taped television interview for NBC-TV's Today show, also said the Soviet Union played "a moderately constructive role" in the evacuation of Americans and South Vietnamese from Saigon.

Asked by interviewer Barbara Walters why the United States did not tell South Vietnamese President Thieu to negotiate a settlement after Congress forbade direct American involvement, Kissinger replied:

"We did not foresee that Watergate would sap the executive authority of the United States to such a degree, that flexibility of executive action inherently would be circumscribed.

"We did not foresee that the Congress would pass a law which prohibited us from enforcing the Paris agreement. . . I do not believe that Hanoi would have sent 19 of its 21 divisions south if these two things hadn't happened."

In defense of the U.S. evacuation of an estimated 120,000 South Vietnamese refugees, Kissinger said they came from a country "in which for 15 years we were engaged in a major effort in which hundreds of thousands of people cooperated with us in the belief that the United States would see this effort through."

Guerrilla campaign steps up

Chicago Daily News

BEIRUT — The weekend's rocket and bomb attacks on Jerusalem are the star of an escalation of the armed struggle in the occupied territory," according to a spokesman for the Palestine resistance movement.

One spokesman said the accelerated campaign of attacks within Israel is timed to coincide with the anniversary of the establishment of "the Israeli racial state in Palestine."

The escalated attacks began Saturday when two Soviet-made rockets were fired into Jerusalem. Sunday a large TNT bomb exploded in a Jerusalem apartment building, killing one person and wounding three others.

W.A.F.A., the Palestine news agency, described the bombed apartment building as a residence for Israeli intelligence officers.

The Palestine resistance spokesman said that despite roadblocks and checkpoints set up in Jerusalem and the arrest of a number of Arabs in the wake of the Saturday rocket attack.

Viets' health good

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Vietnamese refugees reaching U.S. territory are in fairly good health, according to federal health officials and a pediatricians' group.

"These refugees pose no issue of a problem to the health of Americans (than the thousands of other travelers who enter this country from the Far East every year)," said Theodore Cooper of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Cooper, assistant secretary for health, said only 80 to 90 of the 20,000 refugees received on Guam by the mid- to last week were hospitalized, mostly for maternally care, measles, pneumonia and mild diarrhea.

As of the same date, there were no hospitalizations among arrivals at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Of 3,500 persons received on Wake Island, the most serious case was a small child with a high fever and convulsions.

In separate statements, HEW and the American Academy of Pediatrics rejected reports the refugees might be importing diseases.

"There is no evidence at all of any disease which requires quarantine . . . (nor) of any disease of a unique or serious nature which might be introduced into this country," said an academy task force on the medical needs of Vietnamese orphans.

British fear new Ulster civil war

Chicago Daily News

LONDON — A hardline Protestant "loyalist" triumph in Northern Ireland's latest election has strengthened British fears of all-out civil war in that blood-soaked province.

The hardliners of the United Ulster Unionist Coalition won a fat majority of 47 of the 78 seats in the new constitutional for Northern Ireland.

And they had made clear in advance of last week's election that they would refuse absolutely to "share power" with the Catholic minority population, as the British government insists they must.

So, depresses British officials were conceding today, things are even worse now than they were before the election.

And the danger of direct confrontation between the British government and the Protestant majority has never been greater.

The three likeliest prospects now, according to both British and Northern Ireland political observers, are:

Civil war. A unilateral declaration of independence by the Protestant majority. Another

"repartition" of Ireland

All three, said former Northern Ireland Prime Minister Brian Faulkner who is counted one of the most moderate politicians in the province, are now "real and terrifying alternatives."

If the constitutional convention refuses to set up some form of "power sharing" with the minority, Britain is expected to maintain and stiffen its direct rule of Northern Ireland by the government in London.

And if that happens the hardline Protestants whose general strike brought down the last government last summer are ready to go on strike again.

area remaining lies to Britain.

What everyone seems to agree on is that the constitutional convention is already doomed to failure before it convenes.

The Rev. Ian Paisley, a leader of the vicious Protestants, said "there can be no compromise" with those who refuse to recognize they are part of Britain.

Gerry Fitz, leader of the Catholic group which won only 17 seats in the convention, said that if the Protestants "attempt to subjugate the minority I can only forecast absolute disaster."

Rebate checks mailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first income tax rebate checks will be mailed this Thursday. The administration hopes they will lure light-listed consumers into the marketplace on a high note for the recession.

The checks will be between $100 and $200 for most taxpayers. In the first week, the Treasury Department's regional offices plan to send out $1.7 billion in 13.7 million green checks.

The first recipients will be those who filed 1974 federal tax returns early. Those who mailed returns in January should get rebates in the next week or so.

Those who filed around the April 15 deadline will not get their checks until June or early July. A total of 66.8 million Americans are expected to receive $8.1 billion in rebates.

When other benefits of the tax cut package signed in late March by President Ford are added—including lower withholding on 1975 federal taxes and a $50 bonus payment to Social Security recipients—about $19 billion will go back to consumers in the next few months.

Observance of killings said farce

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Robert Stamps, 24, vividly remembers the Kent State killings five years ago—he was hit by gunfire. But he says the observance of the tragedy has become a farce, institutionalized by pipe-smoking historians.

"May 4 carries a pious, religious, sober mood that is really a farce," he said Sunday, on the fifth anniversary of the shootings. "The emphasis has shifted to education, but the average Kent student really doesn't care or understand what it was all about. It seems to me that May 4 has been institutionalized by pipe-smoking historians on campus," he said. May 4 is a dead issue, literally and figuratively, he indicated.

Observances this year included speeches by antiwar figures Rev. Daniel Berrigan, former nun Elizabeth McAlister and former U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

It also included the traditional midnight candlelight vigil on the spots where the four students fell, and the dedication of a granite, wine-colored marker bearing the names of the four.

Prisoner releases hostages

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Prisoner Danette Jackson started off by demanding $1 million. That was a few minutes before he released one of his four hostages for a can of beer.

Finally Jackson told Det. J.M. Barrett, "I'm going to hand you at your wrists and release the other three deputy sheriffs he had held hostage in the city jail."

For Barrett, it took nearly 10 hours of patient talking with Jackson, a maximum security prisoner.

"I told him there wasn't any pay out for him," Barrett said Sunday.

A PREGNANT Vietnamese warbride strokes her son's hair as she sits outside a supply tent at the Northwest Florida refugee center. Over 300 Vietnamese arrived in the early morning hours Sunday and authorities are not sure when or how many more will be coming. (UPI)

Vietnamese exodus not 'tourist's holiday'

EGLIN AFB, Fla. (UPI) — They were the vanguard of a Vietnamese exodus to Florida, but it was not a tourist's holiday.

"I have lost my country. I have just killed my parents and now I have lost my husband," was the anguished cry of Trinh Hong Mai, 29, who threatened suicide when her American husband's mother told authorities, "We don't want to sponsor this girl."

Dao Bach Lan, 30, a sophisticated account manager for Pan American Airlines in Saigon who escaped with her 7-year-old sister, Minh Chau, voiced the fears of many in the bewildered group of refugees fleeing into a crude tent site in a remote, and piney corner of Eglin Air Force Base.

"When they the Viet Cong find my family and find that their daughter worked for an American company and their son was an army officer, the Viet Cong will kill them."

Then there were the children, off on an adventure in a strange land.

"Oh, we get to live like American redskins," said a boy getting his first look at the drab green tents of the refugee camp from the window of an Air Force bus.

The austere quarters shocked some adults, many of whom were accustomed to high living in their homeland.

"Disgusting!" was the reaction of a bejeweled matron, who claimed she bribed two military policemen $2,500 to get through the gate at Tan Son Nhut airport.

These were among the first 375 who flew into the Florida Panhandle Sunday aboard a chartered Northwest Orient 747 while the Niceville High School band played, "God Bless America."

Another 514 were to arrive today at a reception center built to accommodate 2,500 at a time.

Maj. Gen. Howard Lane, commander of the refugee task force at Eglin, would not predict what the refugee traffic would be over the next few weeks.

"That depends on the flow out," he said.

There were few serious problems in the tent city the first day.

Maj. Fred Stahman, commander of the field hospital at the site, said 191 Vietnamese and six Americans were treated, but no serious illness was found.

The most common complaints were fatigue from the long trip (27 hours) and upset stomachs, he said.

The most traumatic incident at the M-A-S-H-type hospital came when Mai went into hysterics and screamed, "I want to kill myself. Give me something to kill myself!"

That came when she tried to telephone an American she said she married in Vietnam in 1972.

"They tried to call the man's mother, and when she learned who was calling, the mother hung up the phone," said one of two Air Force captains who had to restrain the woman and take her to the hospital for sedation. "The mother finally accepted a call and said, 'We don't want to sponsor that girl.'"

Maj. Kirk W. Cofran, 32, one of the doctors, said the woman was flailing about and rolling over the floors and desks in the hospital when he was asked for medical advice.

"She was hysterical," he said. "She had come to America thinking she had a sponsor. And then she was told that she wasn't wanted and she knows no one."

The woman showed a marriage certificate issued by the U.S. Embassy in Saigon stating she was married to Robert J. Bray, 33, of Danville, Va.

Refugees encounter culture shock

By ROBERT L. ROSE
© 1975 Chicago Daily News
CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — New thousands of Vietnamese refugees piled into this Operation New Horizons haven today encountering a jolting "culture shock" in dress, food and lifestyle.

They may never see their familiar hills of home again. Or the stomach-warming brown rice — Minnow-brand fish for the table. Sub-sub compact small buses jammed to overflowing — with people, livestock and luggage.

"People don't understand what a whole new world this is for the Vietnamese," said Sgt. John G. Yoder, a four-year veteran of Vietnam service, decorated with a Silver Star and three Purple Hearts.

Realize that on their bus trip here from El Toro Marine Air Base, 26 miles; they went on the San Diego Freeway — sometimes 18 lanes wide. The biggest highway they have, four lanes, is only 15 miles long from Bien Hoa to Saigon.

They probably saw more automobiles in that one ride than they have ever seen before in their entire lifetimes and most of them were twice to three times as large as they were used to.

At last count, some 14,000 refugees had made it to Pendleton since last Tuesday and more than 5,000 had been sent on their way to new homes as relatives of American citizens — or previously sponsored immigrants. The rest were undergoing processing or awaiting volunteer sponsors to come forward and be approved.

The Marine Corps itself, from privates to NCOs like Sgt. Yoder, up to the boss, Brig. Gen. Paul G. Graham, was doing everything it could to make the refugees feel welcome.

"We tried to provide all our people with an understanding of the difficulties these people are facing so they will show warmth and kindness to them," Graham said.

"I think we've been 100 percent successful. I want them to feel welcome. I don't want them to feel battered from pillar to post. Whatever we can do to make their stay here a comfortable one we're going to do it."

Seniors learn of marriage

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Doctor:
Recently I had with a pain in the left side. The X-ray report showed no sign of pleurisy, but the office girl told me I had an enlarged heart.
How serious is this? Do you have to limit your work? I am retired, and do yard work and gardening.—Mrs. S.L.S.
Dear Mrs. S.L.S.: Office girls accumulate a storehouse of knowledge about medicine, being in close association with the doctor in and out of year. And they are valuable assets for the doctor. But tell me, are you really going to accept this kind of an evaluation of your condition? Wouldn't it make better sense to simply go back and ask your doctor what is wrong with you?
The heart can enlarge under physical stress, in certain valve diseases, or in high blood pressure conditions. Severe vitamin B deficiency can also cause it. In the latter situation it is called beriberi heart.
In enlarging, the heart muscle is compensating for excess stress, whatever the cause, just as would any other muscle in the body.
Now, I've told you all this, but how in the world can you expect me, anyone else, for that matter, to comment on your condition when you haven't consulted your own physician?
Yes, you may have to curtail your activity further, depending on what is causing your enlarged heart. But can you be really sure that this is your problem? You'll never know from behind-hand information from your doctor's office girl.
If your office girls I've know would agree with this.

SALMON—Twenty nine seniors in a family-living class at Salmon High School have been learning a little bit about what to expect from married life.
The class instructor, Mrs. Clyde Stone, said the class has dealt with the problems a young couple may face after they are married.
To get an idea of the marriage ceremony itself, a mock wedding for was performed—involving class members. After it was over, Mrs. Stone asked for reactions.
One male student, who was planning on getting married, commented:
"I gained a lot; I didn't get married."
Another comment, which pretty well summed up the general reaction, noted:
"I really think this class is worth while. There is a lot to learn about getting married and what it involves and I think this class helps us so that we may make a better decision about marriage."
"One thing we learned that made us think twice about rushing into a marriage without too much thought was the expense of getting married. That is a lot more than many of us realized."
Mrs. Stone noted that the students are also going into the cool of living after the marriage.
The aim of the one-semester class, entitled "Personal Adjustment, Marriage and Family Living," was to expose the students to what is involved in getting married, finding a job in the community, finding a place to live, buying groceries, etc.

He needs diagnosis

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
You tell me if there is anything that can be done for the arthritis? Mine is far advanced and fills my mouth with a discharge while I sleep. Could this get into the Eustachian tubes and cause an infection?—J.E.F.
Dear J.E.F.: Excessive mucus production from mucous membranes is a generalized term referring to inflammation of air passages of the head and throat. In modern medicine other terms are used to identify the area of inflammation more specifically.
Any excessive mucus production is a symptom of membrane irritation. Allergy is a common causative factor—to smoke, smog, house dust, or substances such as animal or bird dander, etc. Sensitivity to pillow feathers is a common cause, especially where the condition seems to be aggravated during sleep.
A nose defect (a deviated septum, for example) can also be involved, as can nasal growths (polyps). A problem as serious as yours seems to be should be investigated to determine the exact cause.
It is quite possible that, untreated, your "catarrh" could develop into more serious problems for you. And yes, infection of one or both of the Eustachian tubes, which lead from the inner ear down to the nasopharynx, is a possibility.
Dr. George C. Thosteson:
Is there some relationship between arthritis and psoriasis? Each June for three years my mother has had severe back pains, accompanied by a severe outbreak of psoriasis.—Mrs. A.B.
Yes, in some cases of arthritis psoriasis will occur. The condition is called "psoriatic arthritis." The small joints of the fingers are usually involved and the back is often affected, as with your mother.
In this, the psoriasis usually precedes the joint symptoms. When the fingers are involved, the nails are usually affected.
Dear Doctor:
I have read of a case where a boy's bed-wetting was stopped by giving him cranberry juice at bedtime. What about this?—A.B.
I have not read the account of this. It could be true. Cranberry juice produces an acid reaction in the urine, which, in this individual case might have been what was needed. Also, it could have been a psychological reaction on the child's part to the fact that something different was being used for the wetting problem.
However, neither cranberry juice nor any other juice or food can be considered an infallible therapy for bed-wetting.
Bed-wetting can be a frustrating problem but it can be controlled. To learn how, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "Bed-Wetting: Ways to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune & N. Margery Ford, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died suddenly. He was only 57 and in the best of health. I am 47.

A business associate and good friend of his flew in for the funeral, but I was in such a state of shock I can scarcely remember seeing him.

Later, I received a lovely letter from him expressing his sorrow. He wrote: "When things settle down, why don't you come to Florida as my houseguest for a long weekend? He gave me some alternate dates to choose from, so I knew he was sincere."

Well, I chose a date and I went. This man is a charming, well-to-do bachelor, who is 69 but doesn't look it. He has a gorgeous home that is well-staffed, a beautiful boat and a great social life (but no woman in his life from what I could see).

The closest he came to a romantic gesture was saying, "If I were 20 years younger, I'd ask you to marry me." Abby, I'd marry him in a minute, anyway.

She missed her boat

It's been seven months since my husband's death. Do you think this man was serious? Was that a proposal? If so, how can I get him to repeat it?

WILLING

DEAR WILLING: You missed the boat. You should have told him (very quickly) that the age difference didn't matter. And if that was indeed a proposal, you'll hear from him again.

DEAR ABBY: Please say a word about teenage boys who buy their girl friends expensive, extravagant gifts. Our daughter received a stereo player from her boyfriend at Christmas, and now she feels obligated to date him exclusively even though she would like to date others. She's 17 and he's 18.

It isn't fair to her boyfriend, either, since he can't possibly know whether she dates him because she wants to or because she feels she has to.

Please stress how important it is for young people to keep their gifts inexpensive and impersonal.

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'll say a word. And the word is "no" to extravagant gifts between teenagers. Your daughter's experience is not unique.

DEAR ABBY: I sympathize with Rich Tramp, but even a "Tramp" has more class than a "Bumb," which I have been for the last six years.

It's amazing how many variations on the name "Bumb" will come up with to avoid calling me "Bumb." They prefer to believe that I've mispronounced it that they've misunderstood it.

I teach English, and it's funny when my students use "bumb" on their compositions when they mean "bum."

My only consolation is that I chose my name. What a "bumber!"

DIANA, WIFE OF A BUMB

Oswald: "Now South leads a second diamond, overtaking in dummy while East can do no better than to hold up again. A second club finesse followed by ace and a small club lets East take his King. East clears the spades now, but it's too late. South scores a fourth club trick which gives him the six minor suit tricks he needs."

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Library officials have released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received by the library.

"Nickel Mountain" by John Gardner. Here is the moving story of two people — a fat, gentle, middle-aged man who runs a rural diner and the young, plain girl who drifts into his life and remains to become a part of it.

Quietly, delicately, Gardner reveals what these two are to each other as the years pass, as they move through the universal rituals of courtship and marriage, the birth of a child, the loss of innocence, confession, a forgiveness, the acceptance of death.

The characters — enormous Harry Sloane the girl he marries, their son, all their friends — are as plain and memorable as the people encountered in one's childhood.

There is cheerfulness, gentleness and affection, but there is also darkness. This is a love story and also a kind of religious story that seems to celebrate what is best in humankind.

"Atholism, the Case Against God" by George H. Smith. The author sets out to demolish what he considers the most widespread and destructive of all myths devised by man, the concept of a supreme being.

With painstaking scholarship and rigorous arguments, Smith examines, dissects and renounces the myriad "proofs" offered by theists. The defenses of the sophisticated, professional theologians as well as the average religious layman.

He explores the historical and psychological — have wrought by religion in general — and concluded that any belief cannot have any place in the life of modern rational man.

Dairy farmers seek price hike order

Peas higher

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spokesmen for dairy farmers have urged the Agriculture Department to order a new round of price increases which could add about 2.5 cents a pound to consumer cheese costs and 2.5 to 3 cents a pound to butter prices.

The increases are being sought according to Patrick B. Healy, secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation, because the government's dairy price support program currently is not delivering on its promise to return farmer returns for manufacturing-grade milk at a level of $7.24 a hundredweight.

The dairymen's request does not propose an increase in the $7.24 farmer support rate itself. That issue was settled temporarily, at least, when President Ford last week vetoed a bill which would have raised the farm support to $7.45.

Healy's point is that farmers are not getting even the $7.24 the administration has said they should be paid. "I've remedy this," the milk federation wants higher government "purchase prices" for butter, cheese and non-fat milk powder — which presumably would hike consumer prices — in order to enable processors to relay higher prices to farmers.

Under the dairy support program, the Agriculture

Department starts by announcing a floor price which farmers should get for the "manufacturing" milk used in making butter, cheese, nonfat dry-milk and similar products. The current $7.24 rate was set in January and is due to be effective until March 31, 1976.

"After setting the farmer-price figure, the Agriculture Department transfers it into 'purchase prices' for butter, cheese and nonfat milk powder. It then offers to buy these products at the support rate — if no commercial buyers are available — so processors can afford to buy raw milk from farmers at the support level.

Early this year, it became apparent that "purchase prices" set in January to match the $7.24 farm support were not doing the job. Officials said March 26 it appeared that because of increases in processing costs, the government would have to raise purchase prices to enable processors to pay farmers at full support levels. As of April 1, 1975 prices were $1.02 for cheese and 1.25 cents a pound for butter.

The result, for farmers, was disappointing.

A monthly government farm price report last week showed prices paid to farmers had risen only from $7.4 a hundredweight in mid-March to $7.04 in mid-April, still 20 cents below the $7.24 support.

Sydney Cohen, head of the agriculture dairy branch, said government officials were "disappointed" because they had hoped for an increase of about 15 cents. Cohen said he had heard reports that some dairy cooperatives, under pressure from creditors to cut processing losses had not been able to pass through to farmers the full amount of the April 1 purchase price increases.

Healy, meanwhile, said he has sent a letter to the Agriculture Department asking for an adjustment in the department raise purchase prices again so farmers can get the full promised support in May.

At present, the department is paying 70.25 cents a pound for cheddar cheese in wholesale lots; 2 cents above the pre-April 1 price. Healy estimated the price would have to be raised another 2 cents to $1.25 cents a pound to cover farmers the official $7.24 support.

Butter purchase prices, which vary regionally, would have to be raised from the current 70.75 cents a pound wholesale to somewhere about 73.25 to 73.75 cents a pound along with an adjustment in non-fat milk prices, Healy estimated.

SPOKANE — The week's pea prices are slightly higher this week than last week, according to the Pacific Northwest Pea Growers and Dealers Association.

Average prices reported to the Spokane office were this week: green 7.80, yellows 7.30, black 6.50, lentils 18.35; last week greens 7.80, yellows 6.85, blacks 6.50 and lentils 18.40.

Hereford field day plans listed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — With "total performance" as the theme, plans have been finalized for the All-American Hereford Field Day June 27-28 at the northwest United States ranching establishment of Stone Ranches, Hermiston, Ore.

Owners Howard and Verna Stone have joined with ranch manager Doug Bennett in inviting all interested breeders, and youths to attend the national Hereford function.

Included in the festivities will be a tour of the ranch operation, beginning at 2 p.m. June 27, followed by the American Junior Hereford Association show and a national showmanship contest preliminaries at 5 p.m. The first afternoon's activities will be capped with a hamburger fry at the ranch, as well as a junior dance with a live band.

Commencing at 9 a.m. and following an on-the-ranch continental-style breakfast at 7 a.m., Saturday's activities will revolve around a unique judging contest. Patterned after the 1974 Denver Hereford Conference, 15 of the nation's most respected, colorful and controversial Hereford industry leaders will evaluate classes by means of the three-man committee system used by the AHA, at selected registers of merit, shows this past season. Equally as usual to a program of this type will be the actual use of performance data on each animal by both contestants and judges in placing classes, which will include pen, bull, cow-calf pairs and replacement heifer selection among others.

Other activities will include addresses by top-rated agriculture industry leaders, public-speaking contest, skits, and something "different" in the form of entertainment.

Persons interested in spending some time in the Washington and Oregon area are urged to take advantage of one of two state Hereford tours to be staged beginning Sunday, June 29. Although cars are welcome, buses will be available from the motels in the Hermiston-Pendleton area. Bennett advises that persons planning to attend and in need of reservations should contact the Stone Ranches for assistance.

NFO sale spurs local pressure

WESTMINSTER, Colo. (UPI)—The National Farmers Organization says it is getting the result it was after in selling products from the farm to consumers — pressure from area grocery stores.

The NFO held its third sale in the Denver area today, offering consumers ground beef at $1.00 a pound, Idaho potatoes at 11 cents a pound, Wisconsin cheese at $1.30 a pound and Colorado pinto beans for 40 cents a pound. The farmers will set up trailers in the Denver suburbs of Westminster and Aurora.

Regional coordinator Nick Kalsen, who has a spread in Burlington, Colo., said the farmers ran into problems in trying to get locations to park their semi-trailers and in getting local items processed for sale.

"I went to some processors and they gave me more prices for packaging the beef and beans but when they found out what were using them for they raised the prices," said Kalsen. "We didn't want to cut out the middleman directly but they have been getting pressure so we got state approval to set the items up ourselves."

Kalsen said the NFO had hoped to put a trailer at the same place it had used in its earlier sales of cheese and beef, but the Thornton, Colo., zoning commission refused to give them a permit to sell.

"Basically, they are asking for permission to run a continuing operation of selling meat and products out of the back of a trailer which does not meet our building code," said Duane Tinsley of the Thornton zoning office. "I know they will contend there is pressure and I am sure there is some out there but I have not been the subject of any of it."

The farmers began selling items directly to consumers in protest of the high markup of middlemen. In their first sale it was just a matter of hours before they sold their entire load of 69 tons of the cheese and in the second sale they went through 9,140 pounds of lean ground beef in an hour and 15 minutes.

"The people have shown a willingness to stand in line, no matter what the weather was like, and buy out of the back of a truck," said Kalsen.

CRAIG HAWKER, formerly associated with Wickes Corp. Agriculture in North Dakota, is moving to Twin Falls to become general manager of Wickes' Agriculture operations in Idaho. Wickes has purchased three plants from the MJ Bean Co.

PAUL WEST, manager of the MJ Bean Co. in Twin Falls, has been retained by Wickes Corp., purchasers of three MJ Bean Co. plants in Magic Valley as manager of field services in the area. Wickes purchased the plants in Twin Falls, Wendell and Bell Rapids May 1.

Cheap sugar hurts US berry growers

PORTLAND, Ore. — Sugar used in processing strawberries this summer will cost about 30 cents per pound to U.S. processing companies while competing companies in Mexico will pay only 8.4 cents per pound due to strict control of sugar pricing by the Mexican government, according to the Northwest Food Processors Association.

A countervailing duty to offset the Mexican sugar "bounty" was urged last week by the association in hearings before the U.S. International Trade Commission in Portland.

"Strawberry growers and processors in Oregon and Washington are being victimized competitively by the importation of cheap sugar from Mexico. A countervailing duty should be established to equalize the disparity in sugar costs," said Cecil R. Tulley speaking for 28 processing companies in Oregon and Washington.

The Mexican government has assisted that country's strawberry industry for many years. The current price level has been controlled at the 8.4 cents level since 1970. This is about 25 cents per pound below the current world market price for sugar. Frozen strawberries contain about 20 per cent added sugar, so this government subsidy gives Mexican producers a coast advantage of 4.3 cents per pound.

Land, labor and other production costs are lower in Mexico also, so Mexican frozen strawberries imported to the U.S. are priced about 10 cents per pound below berries produced in Oregon and Washington. This large competitive advantage has enabled Mexican producers to import increasing amounts to the United States.

The total in 1974 was 140 million pounds or nearly 40 per cent of the estimated U.S. consumption.

Official bugging decreased in '74

WASHINGTON — The amount of wiretapping and bugging officially sanctioned by federal and state courts in the cause of law enforcement dropped 16 per cent last year from the record set in 1973.

The 728 interceptions authorized by the courts last year resulted in the installation of 694 taps which emitted 590,000 copies more than 30,000 people engaged in some 2,000,000 private conversations.

Of the average of 850 conversations that an approved bug or wiretap recorded last year, 431, or 51 per cent, produced evidence that the police classed as incriminating. Gambling investigations accounted for 52 per cent of the court orders and narcotics cases for 27 per cent.

State-approved wiretaps, 83 per cent of the national total, were heavily concentrated in New York and New Jersey. An even 50 per cent of all state court orders were issued in New York and 23 per cent in New Jersey. The comparable federal figures were much lower, 15 per cent for New York and 4 per cent for New Jersey.

These figures were made public this week by the administrative office of the United States Courts in the annual report it has made to Congress since 1969. No one knows how many more wires are tapped without court approval by government agencies or private citizens.

During the seven years that the federal agency has been collecting these figures, the number of court orders authorizing tapping and bugging rose from 174 in 1968, to a peak of 864 in 1972.

Federal court orders rose to a high of 285 in 1971, then dropped steadily to the 1974 total of 121. State court orders increased substantially, from 174 in 1968 to 734 in 1974, with the 1974 figure of 607 representing the first decline.

Direct wiretapping of telephone lines is much more popular with the law enforcement officers than bugging, or eavesdropping with a planted microphone. Taps accounted for more than 90 per cent of the authorized interceptions in 1974.

According to the federal report, wiretapping is an expensive activity. The average interception nationally cost $8,000. The expense is largely for personnel to install the equipment, monitor its use and transcribe the potential evidence.

It is virtually impossible to determine from the 100-page compilation of wiretapping data how many criminal convictions result from the court orders. Although prosecutors are required to file this information, conviction rarely take place in the same year that the interceptions are authorized, and conviction figures thus appear in a series of supplementary filings spread over a number of years.

Thus, the 1974 figures show 694 interceptions resulting in 2,162 arrests but only 179 convictions.

Wiretap orders do not appear to be hard to obtain from the courts. Of 730 applications made in 1974 to federal and state judges, only two were refused both in Connecticut.

Savage hits 789 series to take bowling crown

George Savage of Idaho Falls, setting a Magic Bowl all-time house series record along the way, stormed from fourth qualifier to the championship and $1200 in the grand final of the Idaho Scratch Bowling Association.

Savage blew away his first three opponents in the final five head-to-head, one-game battles with games of 266, 255 and 268. That totaled 789 which equaled by 25 pins the previous best ever of Magic Bowl, a 784 established by Zabriskie, Salt Lake City, during the Magic-Jackpot tournament a year ago. Ironically, both were south-pawers. The best right-hander this year was Paul Miller, Twin Falls, at 708.

In the final game, Savage dropped Mike McPherson of Boise—211-202—Savage, who established an awesome 2063 all-events scratch record in the Idaho Falls city tournament a year ago, started with the 266 against Kent Hensley, Idaho Falls, who posted a 180. Thereafter, Hensley mounted himself on a stool and yelled "atta way, pard" to Savage through the finals.

Baker takes 500

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Pole sitter Buddy Baker beat three-time defending champion David Pearson in a final lap chase Sunday to win the Winston 500 NASCAR race, which was marred by the death of Richard Petty's brother-in-law and five accidents involving nine drivers.

Baker led most of the last 250 miles of the race in his Ford, fighting Mercury driver Pearson and Petty, but a fire caused by a worn bearing in the front tire of Petty's Dodge forced the top NASCAR money-winning driver into the pits on lap 141 of the 198-lap race.

Randy C. Owens, 21, brother of Petty's wife Lynda, was working as a crewman on the Petty team when the bright red and blue Dodge came rolling into the pits with its tire smoking.

Birdie wins playoff

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Maria Astrogles sank an eight-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden playoff Sunday to win the Birmingham Classic golf tournament, defeating Joanne Carner and Judy Rankin for the $5,700 first prize and her first tournament win.

All three women held the lead at different times during the last 18 holes of the $40,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) tournament on the par 72, 5,741-yard Green Valley Country Club course.

At the end of regulation play, the golfers were tied at six-under-par 210 for 54 holes, with Mrs. Rankin and Mrs. Carner posting 73's in the final round and Miss Astrogles shooting a 70.

Mrs. Carner and Mrs. Rankin started the final round of play as co-leaders at seven-under-par. Miss Astrogles dropped to four-under-par Saturday, but she won a $12,000 Cadillac by sinking a hole-in-one on the 196-yard, par-3 12th hole.

Miss Astrogles was the first round leader Friday with a six-under-par 68, which was a course record for women.

PHIL McROBERTS ... golf champ

McRoberts cops Buhl crown

BUHL — Phil McRoberts, Twin Falls, opened the third nine of the day with a pair of birdies and went on from there to claim his second Buhl amateur golf tournament championship.

Although the rest of the area was soaked in with snow, the Clear Lakes course endured only rain Saturday night and cold wind Sunday.

Entering the day in a three-way tie with defending champion Gary Hulbert, Twin Falls, and youngster Kevin Packard, Twin Falls, McRoberts was still within reach through the first 18 holes. He opened with a par 34 but came back with a five-over 40.

But on No. 19, he scored an easy birdie and then came up with an impossible shot for another on No. 20. On that one he started the ball well uphill and then watched it meander into the cup. That was enough. By the end of the third nine holes he had a four-stroke lead on Glenn Blakeley, Burley, who passed up a lot of folks for second.

Blakeley was impressive on the first 18 when he carded a 71, the best 18 of the day, but couldn't hold the edge and dwindled to 42.

Bill Carter, Boise, was fourth with 192, while Hulbert and Steve Rogers-Buhl, were knotted at 193.

In the first flight, Bill Malmstrom fought throughout the first 18 holes to overcome a lead by Wendell's Will Spalding. He finally caught up going into the 18th but then took a seven white Spalding—getting a good bounce out of a tree on his tee shot, fired a par to win 153-156. Ted Eastman, Buhl, and Carlos Livingston, Boise, shared third at 160 while Bill Hensley, Filer, and Howard Hopkins, Buhl, were tied at 161.

Second flight champion was Andy Anderson, Buhl, who carded a series of 46s per nine for a 160 total. Bob Erb, Grayday leader, and Freddy Spradling, Buhl, shared

Crampton fires 69 for Houston title

HOUSTON (UPI) — Steady Bruce Crampton won his fourth PGA tournament in his adopted home state Sunday by firing a 3-under-par 69 and withstanding the courageous charges of young pro Dr. Gil Morgan and Joe Inman Jr., to collect the $30,000 first prize in the Houston Open-Golf Tournament.

Crampton, 39, a native Australian who now resides in Dallas, won with a 15-under 273. But it took two pressure birdies on hole Nos. 10 and 15 to shake Morgan who shared the lead twice in the final round.

Morgan, 27, an open-trist from Wovoka, Okla., who traded the tools of his profession for golf clubs, finished at 275 after a closing round 70 and collected by far his biggest paycheck of his two-year pro career: $17,000.

Inman started the final day at 4 under, but he birdied five of the first 11 holes without having to sink a putt longer than 10 feet. He shot a 67 and finished one stroke behind Morgan.

The third place finish pushed Inman's 1975 money winnings past the $25,000 mark.

Lee Trevino's 74 caused the tournament favorite to skip nine strokes off Crampton's pace after leading the first two days.

The win for Crampton, his second in two years in the city where he got his start on the pro tour, 18 years ago, followed a San Antonio win in 1964 and a victory in Fort Worth's Colonial in 1965.

Two old pros, Arnold Palmer and Lionel Hebert, kept much of the 16,000-person gallery at the new Woodlands Golf Course happy by each firing closing round 68s.

Two-bowlers Hawaii bound

Vern McClain and Jane Nielson, both Twin Falls, won trips for themselves and their spouses to Hawaii Sunday night in the Bowldrome's annual "bowl your way to Hawaii" tournament.

The event brings together the bowlers of the month from the various leagues committed to the bowling house.

Mrs. Nielson set probably a record as she banded out a 265, which was 84 pins over her seasonal average.

McClain posted a 213, a plus 53 from his 115 norm.

Second in the distaff division was Pat Albers with a 178 and a plus 57 while the second best man was Gary Waldron at 190 and a plus 62.

The two winners will leave Twin Falls May 30 to spend eight days and seven nights touring the islands.

Netters capture world title

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Raul Ramirez, of Mexico, and Brian Gottfried, of the United States, won the World Championship Tennis doubles tournament Sunday, beating Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, and Britain's Mark Cox, 7-6, 6-7, 6-2, 7-6.

Ramirez and Gottfried, U.S., $30,000 richer were carried round the court by deliriously happy fans among the crowd of 15,000 at the end of a match that lasted a little more than three hours.

Drysdale, 33, and the curly, blond-haired Cox had a great chance to win the first set, leading six points to four in the tie break, but the 22-year-old Mexican idol and his American partner came back to run off three straight points for the set.

Playing fast, dramatic tennis before an international television audience, the four players again went to the tie breaker in the second set, which went to Cox and Drysdale.

Ramirez and Gottfried broke Drysdale's, then Cox's service in the third set, which they won in 20 minutes as they won the money-winning driver into the pits on lap 141 of the 198-lap race.

Van Lier leads Chicago victory

CHICAGO (UPI) — Norm Van Lier dropped in 21 of his game-high 33 points in the second half Sunday to lead the Chicago Bulls to a 108-101 triumph over the Golden State Warriors, giving the Bulls a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the NBA's Western Conference championship.

The Bulls, who won the second game of the series on their own floor in the last two seconds, made the third quarter decisive Sunday, although their second quarter defensive performance put them back into the game.

The Warriors used a devastating attack to surge into a 37-28 lead after the first quarter. Golden State hit on 16 of 23 field goal tries for the quarter for a 69.6 percentage, compared to seven of 18 for 38.9 per cent for the Bulls.

Guards Charles Johnson and Butch Beard combined to hit 11 of 11 field goal tries, with Johnson sinking all 11 of his attempts in the quarter.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bob Watson, 30-year-old Boston Astro first baseman, scored the millionth run in major league history today when he was driven across the plate by a home run hit by Catcher Bill May in the second inning of San Francisco's 6-3 victory over the Phillies.

The run was scored 98 years and 12 days after West Faler of the Philadelphia team scored the first run in major league history. It was Watson's 11th run scored this season, and the 36th of his major league career.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gene Locklear homered and doubled in the same inning going in three runs as the San Diego Padres scored seven times in the seventh Sunday to outslug the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-7.

The second setback in a row for the Dodgers to Los Angeles' West led to two games over Cincinnati.

The surprising Padres trailed 6-3 going into the seventh inning but they collected six hits as 11 men went to the plate. Locklear opened the inning with his first homer of the year.

Then, with one out, Burt Hooton walked Johnny Brub and Dave Winfield before Mike Ivey singled in the second run.

Al Downing came on to surrender a two run single to Fred Kendall to put the Padres ahead.

An infield hit by Tito Fuentes and a single by Randy Jones accounted for the eighth run before Locklear doubled off the centerfield wall.

Indians split with Baltimore

CLEVELAND (UPI) — George Hendrick singled home Frank Duffy with the winning run with two out in the 11th inning Sunday to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 win and a doubleheader split with the Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles banged out 17 hits to back up the six-hit pitching of Mike Torrez in Friday's opener, 11-1, and snapping a six-game losing streak.

Duffy opened the 11th inning of the nightcap with a double, held second as John Ellis led out, went third on a fielder's choice and Hendrick followed with a line shot to right-center.

The Orioles snapped their six-game losing streak in the opener when Al Bumbry drove in four runs and rookie Doug DeCinces banded out four hits and gave in three runs which included his first major league homer with a man on base in the ninth.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much confusion exists when dealing with other persons is concerned and you would do well to make sure you do not get involved in disputes of an emotional or vital nature. Plans change in the late evening, when you can converse with others sanely to everyone's advantage.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Many situations are changing and it behooves you to make different arrangements and "profit" thereby. Take time for relaxation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take any strange suggestions that may come up in your stride. Loud music may be in a strange mood, but all is okay in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid an irate higher-up who is going through some difficult situation and could take anger out on you. Be poised.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 23) Don't permit way to deter you from getting out into the world of activity and deriving benefits. Get information from contacts.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find a better way to handle credit and debit matters; gain the goodwill of others. Put off talks with loved one until evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Focus your attention on association matters and get away from the rather difficult situation at home during day. Harmony there in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make changes at home to add to comfort, efficiency. Improve health care. Avoid those who get you down physically or spiritually.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You're uncertain in a.m. about how to handle obligations, but later in day can do so correctly. Be kind to mate who's worried.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A partner may give you information that is erroneous which another has imparted to him, so study it well. Be cheerful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Encourage a co-worker who has done good work, instead of finding fault over a minor error. You may think yourself ill in a.m., but it's nothing to worry about.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Some desired entertainment may be too costly, so consider it carefully. Get busy with creative talents and make more money.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get into those activities of a charming nature and relieve anxieties and have a happy time. A physical ailment can be relieved easily.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be charming, but a little slow at comprehension at first, so needs careful handling and a good diet. Then the mind develops gradually but accurately, and upon maturity this progeny can accomplish more than most others because the nature is a lofty one unconsciously. Fine progress can be made where bringing huge projects down to a working level is concerned. Do not neglect religious training.

SMOKING

It has been reported that the Turkish Sultan Murad IV in the 1600s decreed the death penalty for any woman there caught smoking tobacco. So hung up on the matter, was this Murad that he went into the streets in disguise personally to apprehend violators. Some historians say as many as 12,000 Turkish women were executed for smoking during the five-year reign. Are you old enough to recall that one of the first cigarette brand names in this country was Murad? I've often wondered if it were so named as a mockery of that sultan. At any rate, what's not widely reported is the fact that Murad IV died at age 28 of what the footnotes describe as intemperance, debauchery and orgies.
