UFW plans Texas support caravan

HIDALGO, Tex. (UPI) — An estimated 400 supporters of the United Farm Workers began a caravan today to Rio Grande City to back a court petition demanding an election at La Casita Farms to determine whether melon pickers want to be represented by the union.

Union attorney James Harrington said he would make the request in his answer to an injunction issued by District Judge O. F. Carrillo prohibiting any organizing activities at La Casita that would disrupt the harvest of highly perishable cantaloupes and honey dew melons.

Last B52's to leave Thailand soon

BANGKOK (UPI) — Thailand's Supreme Command headquarters announced today that 17 American B52 bombers, the last remaining in Southeast Asia, will be withdrawn from the U-Tapao Airbase about 100 miles south of Bangkok on June 6. The announcement also said that 31 F111 swingwing fighterbombers based at Korat, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, will be withdrawn from Thailand on June 15.

Judiciary target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John B. Connally, former treasury secretary, said Sunday in a television interview he intends to travel the U.S. campaigning for judicial reform, including an end to plea bargaining and the grand jury system. Connally discounted hints he may run for president but said his options are still open. He said his recent bribery acquittal "ought to be a plus" in any campaign.

US thins out Laos personnel ranks

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — A ranking State Department official discussed future U.S.-Laos relations with Prime Minister Savanna Phomma today as the U.S. Embassy announced a further 15 per cent cutback in the number of the few official Americans still in Laos.

Simon asks $617 billion debt limit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon today recommended a national debt ceiling of $617.6 billion through June 30, 1976, the same amount suggested earlier by Congress in its first budget resolution. The budget resolution, however, does not carry the force of law and Simon today asked the House Ways and Means Committee to begin the process of placing the new ceiling into law.

Prof offers to negotiate for hostages

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — An American professor has offered to try his hand at opening negotiations between U.S. officials and Marxist guerrillas holding two American students and a Dutch woman in neighboring Zaire.

Peter Steiner, an economics professor at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and currently visiting professor at Nairobi University in Kenya, said he would act in an unofficial capacity.

Backs Israel aid

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., said his Middle East tour has strengthened his view the U.S. must supply arms to enable Israel to defend itself, despite world pressure to the contrary. Kennedy delivered the commencement address and received an honorary degree at Brandeis University, where he also said leaders of nations he visited see the U.S. as the key to resolution of the Middle East conflict.

Soviets set Pacific missile tests

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has announced plans for nearly a month of missile tests in the Pacific Ocean as a prelude to the next round of nuclear arms talks with the United States. A brief communique, issued by the Tass news agency Sunday, said the tests would begin Tuesday and last until June 30 in a 150-mile-wide area of the North Pacific.

Rupert man drowning victim

TWIN FALLS — The cause of death of a Rupert man killed Saturday in a fishing accident has been established as drowning. Twin Falls County Coroner Coyce Edwards said today tests showed Robert L. Ryan, 49, Rupert, drowned when he apparently fell and struck his head before rolling into the water at the edge of Salmon Falls Creek.

Ryan's body was discovered about 6 p.m. Saturday by a brother and a second fishing companion. The body was found lying face down in the water.

New Beirut cease-fire takes hold

BEIRUT (UPI) — Security forces quelled a brief outbreak of shooting and grenade throwing from the streets today as a cease-fire between warring political factions again took hold, Beirut radio said.

Ford and Kreisky received an honor guard (lower right) shortly after. (UPI)

Goodwill blossoms with Ford, Sadat

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI) — President Ford completed friendly Middle East policy talks with Egypt's President Anwar Sadat today and said a U.S. plan to promote "permanent peace" is taking shape. Mutual goodwill blossomed at the conclusion of a two-day meeting that seemed to brighten prospects for Arab-Israeli peace negotiations and put the United States back in a central mediating role. Ford told Sadat he was ready to resume U.S. economic aid to Egypt and said the two nations had "strengthened our friendship dramatically" in the past 18 months. Sadat, for his part, could not seem to say enough for Ford, whom he described to reporters as "an honest and straightforward man" and a fighter for peace. He invited Ford to visit Cairo. (In Jerusalem, the Israeli cabinet lent impact to the Ford-Sadat meeting by announcing suddenly it would reduce Israel's forces on the

Court takes N-waste case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today agreed to decide if the Environmental Protection Agency has the right to regulate disposal of waste from nuclear power plants into the nation's waterways. The justices accepted the case in a brief order and will hear the EPA's appeal of a lower court decision ordering it to issue regulations controlling water discharges. "The EPA and the Justice Department claim the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has exclusive regulatory authority over all aspects of nuclear power plants. The commission, successor to the Atomic Energy Commission, enforces nuclear regulation under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954. The Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 requires EPA to regulate pollutants, and specifically says pollutants include radioactive material. But are discharged into oceans, rivers and streams. But the EPA water pollution standards issued in 1973 said pollutants did not include those forms of radioactive matter which are regulated by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. Colorado Public Interest Research Group and Colorado Environmental Legal Services sued EPA Administrator Russell Train, asking that he be forced to issue regulations over power plant waste."

CIA breaks law on 'small scale'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said today the Central Intelligence Agency has broken the law but added the spy agency is not guilty of large-scale illegal activity. Summing up the five month Rockefeller Commission investigation of the CIA, the vice president told newsmen: "There are things that have been done that are in contradiction to the statutes, but in comparison to the total effort of the CIA, they are not major." The commission held its last meeting to put finishing touches on a 350-page report that will be sent to President Ford on Friday. Rockefeller said the eight-member blue ribbon panel named by Ford in January to probe the CIA was nearly unanimous in its conclusions about the spy agency. "Here and there there might be an objection or different point of view on a specific recommendation but they are very few and not earth-shaking in character," he said. "Basically it's unanimous."

Israel pulls back half Sinai forces

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel announced today it will cut its forces on the Sinai front line by more than half as a goodwill gesture to Egypt coinciding with the reopening of the Suez Canal. Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin made the announcement at a news conference that followed a special cabinet meeting and said he expected Egypt to reciprocate by permitting cargo bound for Israel to sail through the blue-green canal. The waterway is scheduled to reopen Thursday, eight years to the day that Egypt closed it because of the pre-emptive strike by Israel that launched the 1967 Middle East war. Rabin said the thinning out process along the length of the canal, visible only as a thin blue line from Israeli positions in the desert 15 miles to the east, will be completed by the time the canal reopens. "Egyptian officials in Salzburg, Austria for the talks between Presidents Ford and Anwar Sadat said the Israeli move was a good step toward peace if it is genuine and not an empty move for propaganda purposes." (They said Egyptian military leaders will have to study the Israeli action before Sadat can decide whether it warrants a "positive response" such as allowing Israeli cargo to pass through the Suez Canal on ships of other nations.)

TF couples rescued

TWIN FALLS — Two couples apparently lost were found in good condition this morning in a snowy area of the South Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Harper, both Twin Falls, were found about 10:30 a.m. Rescuers said the couples were in good condition. They had been reported missing about 2 a.m. after they failed to return from a Sunday outing in a four-wheel drive vehicle. Sheriff's deputies said planes and other vehicles had been used in the search, but how the couples were found could not be immediately determined.

TF gas prices on rise 1 day after import levy

TWIN FALLS — Gasoline prices will rise tonight on one brand sold locally, and another rose this morning. The increases are the first locally since an additional $1 a barrel import fee took effect Sunday at the order of President Ford. However, one of the dealers raising prices said tonight's raise was not caused by the import fee, but by other considerations. The other did not know the reason for the increase. When the White House announced the new tariff, it predicted gasoline prices would rise by a cent and a half. An oil industry publication, Platt's Oilgram, reported Sunday that gasoline prices will start rising today and will increase as much as seven cents a gallon overall by September. The publication said Continental Oil Company, effective today, would boost its prices at the pump by two cents. It also claimed that City Service raised its prices one and a half cents Saturday and Gulf went up a penny on Friday. However, a local Continental distributor said he had not heard about the two-cent rise. American Oil Company's office reported that its wholesale price went up a penny this morning. However, it was not due to the tariff. "It was due to the settlement program of the Federal Energy Administration," said Alan Everett, sales manager for the firm. "We cannot raise the price for one month after the installation of a higher tariff." Everett told the Times-News.

TF club gives funds

TWIN FALLS — The annual Junior Club Art Auction held March 24, brought $4,988 for materials in elementary school Learning Resource Centers.

The club voted last year to raise funds for the centers, (libraries to the old-fashioned) and asked that the money go for carpeting, four dry mount presses, and additional records, tapes, plastic presses and other materials with the remaining money.

A letter to the school district from Junior Club treasurer Mrs. Rosaloe Dingwall said the club provided the money for a "richer educational environment for our youth, the hope for tomorrow."

The auction is the club's main fund raising event, with patrons coming long distances, according to publicity chairman Mrs. Steven Berg.

Mrs. Berg said the Junior Club's donation would bring all five learning resource centers up to the same level, with similar equipment in each center, housed in each elementary school in Twin Falls.

Demos approve delegate rules

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Democrat Central Committee approved new delegate selection rules and elected a new state treasurer to replace Mel Morgan of Pocatello Saturday, during a meeting in Boise.

The 17-pages in rules was unanimously approved, amended and will be submitted to the Democratic National Committee by July 1.

The rules meet the party's national standards but will preserve most of the traditional roles of party members.

Boise attorney John Chapman ran unopposed for the treasurer position, and in other action, Carol Richard of Idaho Falls was elected to the party's executive committee, replacing J. Clint Hoopes of Rexburg, a new member of the state board of education.

The new rules adopted will govern selection of delegates to both the state and national conventions in 1976, chairperson Deekie Rice of Idaho Falls says.

Each of the 35 legislative districts in the state was given a certain number of delegates through a formula involving votes cast for Democratic candidates in the most recent presidential and gubernatorial elections.

The 378 delegates to the 1976 state convention, to be held in Sun Valley, will be chosen at district caucuses. Only delegates elected in Idaho's presidential preference primary will take part at the state convention in selecting delegates to the national convention, says Phil Barber, a Boise attorney who headed the drafting committee that put forth the proposals.

The 100 delegates who attended the meeting debated the document paragraph by paragraph with most of the debate revolving around the question of "automatic delegates" to the state and national conventions — people who traditionally have been handed delegate status because they are state party officials or elected federal officers.

A motion was made from the floor to delete automatic delegates altogether but it failed.

Barber said nothing prevented "automatic delegates" from campaigning to be elected as official delegates to the state and national conventions.

Firm petitions for 'fair hearing'

BOISE (UPI) — The Pacific Northwest Power Co. has petitioned the state of Idaho for a "fair hearing" after Idaho refused to certify a hydroelectric project on the Middle Snake River.

The company, a combine of four Northwest utilities, sued Oregon for denying its request for certification of the dams on the river which divides Idaho and Oregon.

Last March, both states denied certification on grounds the dams might lead to violations of water quality standards.

The petition was filed with the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare. It said the denial was based on considerations "entirely beyond the scope of discharge regulations" as specified in federal law.

The petition goes on to say the department made an inadequate review of the power company's request and "the department relied on 'improper' advice," inadequate analysis and was subject to improper influence.

Pacific Northwest Power is a combine of Washington Water Power, Montana Power, Pacific Power and Light and Portland General Electric. They asked for certification of Pleasant Valley and Low Mountain Sheep dams in March, 1974. The dams would be built along the fast flowing stretch of the Snake River, a 101-mile corridor under consideration by Congress for inclusion in the Hells Canyon National Recreation Area.

Among reasons listed by the Department of Health and Welfare in its denial were loss of habitat and fishery resources, including white sturgeon and salmon, erosion of reservoir banks, algae growth, dissolved-oxygen nitrogen supersaturation and increased water temperatures.

2 attend Boise meet

TWIN FALLS — Merl Leonard, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission, and James Rosenbaum, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital administrator, attended a meeting in Boise last week to discuss the Idaho Health Facilities Authority.

This is the result of enabling legislation passed recently to help non-profit hospitals, clinics, nursing homes and other care centers finance expansion, improvement or new buildings through tax exempt bonds. Applications are submitted to and passed by the IHFA.

Leonard said Irwin T. David who helped prepare the plan for the financial feasibility study, accompanying an application before the IHFA, spoke to the hospital officials, county government representatives and medical and professional persons attending.

Nuclear guards set

By Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — U.S. marshals, in a role reminiscent of frontier days, soon will ride shotgun for nuclear warheads.

Under an agreement signed with the Air Force, marshals will lead convoys carrying warheads and other sensitive military equipment between command and control bases and Minuteman launchers at ballistic missile launch sites in seven Western states.

The agreement states the marshals will provide a civilian law enforcement presence to insure "continuity of custody of the sensitive material and disruption of the convoy by persons acting unlawfully."

Officials were reluctant to provide details of the "intensive security program" until the marshals assume their escort duties about July 1. But they said they knew of no past attempts either to steal nuclear warheads or disrupt convoys.

They explained that nuclear warheads are routinely taken from their underground sites to air bases for regular inspection and maintenance. State, county and local police now provide escort services for the convoys, which also have military guards.

Solar energy 'craze' hits US

By EDWARD COWAN

NEW YORK (AP) — "Let the sunshine in," the song from the Broadway musical "Hair" has become a reality, and it is not just what a growing number of Americans want to do.

In Colorado, ranchers want to use solar heat collectors to dry their grain, instead of using propane driers.

The city of Santa Clara, Calif., plans to heat and cool a new community center with energy from the sun. Solar heating panels have been installed in schools near Washington and elsewhere.

At Quichee, Vt., construction has begun on a sunbath heating for a new colony of vacation and ski homes.

At a three-day solar conference that ended here Saturday, more than 5,000 persons attended lectures and panel discussions of fired questions by representatives of several dozen companies — large and small — that put their wares or systems designs on display in the exhibit hall.

The conference was organized by Solar Energy Industries Association Inc. of Washington, which said it had 285 individual and corporate members.

Everywhere, homeowners are looking for a way to beat the rising cost of heating. The economy-minded and the ecology-minded look to the sun, whose coons of heat and light are regarded as the prime source of all forms of energy on earth.

There are many questions and some legal issues about "sun rights," but no one — so far as is known — has criticized sunshine as a polluting source of energy. No other fuel can make that claim, say solar advocates.

For all these reasons, solar energy appears to be taking a grip on the public's imagination. Lola Redford, co-ordinator of Consumer Action N.Y., a consumer organization in New York, says that she received 100 letters after she talked up solar energy on two television programs.

Mrs. Redford sees solar energy as the best long-term alternative to nuclear power as the workhorse of the energy sector at the turn of the century, with coal an interim solution.

There are skeptics. Some analysts believe that sunshine is too diffused a source of energy to compete with concentrated sources such as fossil fuels and uranium.

Just last week a Washington suburbanite who wanted to heat his attic with solar panels was told by a contractor that it didn't pay.

Even with the big increases in federal funding for "renewable energy" development, that Congress and the Administration are now negotiating, says Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash., "it will be remarkable to get one per cent of all our energy from solar by 1990."

McCormack, a physicist, is better known as a proponent of nuclear power. He is chairman of a technology subcommittee on energy but Saturday he was saluted as "sole man of the year" at the energy conference here.

SUN-FUELED skepticism doesn't daunt solar energy enthusiasts. "Out in Denver, enthusiasm has reached the hysterical point," said Ben Billings, who is on the staff of Environmental Action of Colorado.

Billings said interest has been expressed by "young tinkers types and backyard mechanics but more by the middle-class and middle-aged people who are faced with rising utility bills."

A 650-page catalogue listing solar products, research companies, projects and legislation is going into a second printing and will be available in August, Billings said.

It can be ordered at $20 a copy from Environmental Action of Colorado, 220 East Colfax, Denver 80202. Consumer Action now has a list of architects who are solar oriented that it will supply free.

By all accounts, the application of solar energy that is closest to being technically and economically feasible is using sunshine to heat water, which in turn can be used to heat space, as in a hot-water radiator.

Until the 1970s, solar heating received only scattered spasmodic attention because it was generally held that it could not compete in price with oil, natural gas, and electricity.

The big increases in oil, gas and power costs of the past three years have altered that calculation.

Grumman Aerospace Corp. calculates that one of its rooftop solar collectors and associated equipment, installed on a typical one-family house on New York's Long Island and used only to heat tap water, would pay for itself in two years as a substitute for electricity.

Ronald B. Peterson, one of the Grumman representatives at the company's exhibit at the conference, said Peterson could install his own. Peterson said otherwise installation might cost several hundred dollars.

The basic principle is that of the greenhouse. A glass or plastic cover "traps" the sunshine. Water piped through the collector is heated. The hot water can be stored in a tank in a more elaborate application of the same principle. solar-heated water could be circulated throughout a house as a space-heating medium.

But solar-heating equipment must be installed in addition to, not instead of, conventional equipment.

On a new house, that means a bigger mortgage and bigger monthly payments for interest and principal.

On the existing house, it means a big capital outlay or monthly repayment of a second loan.

To encourage homeowners to install solar equipment in existing houses, the House Ways and Means Committee wrote into its energy conservation bill a solar tax credit or subsidy.

If enacted, it would let a taxpayer subtract from his income tax an amount equal to 40 per cent of the first $1,000 plus 20 per cent of the next $1,000 or $200 in all on an energy system through 1978 — of $2,000 or more.

Such subsidies mean that a homeowner not only shrinks his out-of-pocket investment cost but also shortens the time needed to recoup in fuel bill savings.

If a solar system breaks down who fixes it?

"There's only one thing that can go wrong with it and that's a leak," said Peterson. Grumman says you call a plumber. It's basically a plumbing installation — except the electric pump.

Pennsylvania had the first oil pipeline in the United States.

Wildcat drillers hit paydirt

WASHINGTON — With an oil rush on to satisfy the nation's huge appetite for energy, geologists report that the success rate for wildcat drilling in untapped regions of the United States is the best since the end of World War II.

Figures published by the American Association of Petroleum Geologists show that the success rate for wildcatting in frontier areas — both on land and in coastal waters — rose to 14.2 per cent of holes drilled in 1974 from 14 per cent in 1973. Both were records, amounting to significant increases over previous success rates of 9 to 11 per cent.

This, one out of every seven holes drilled in hitherto unexplored regions produced commercial quantities of oil and gas. Of the 5,832 wildcat wells drilled last year, almost 86 per cent were dry, 6 per cent found commercial quantities of oil and 8 per cent found gas.

Some of the dry holes have proved extremely costly, however. The most disappointing wildcat drilling has been done by a consortium of three oil companies — Exxon, Mobil and Champlain — off the Gulf Coast of Florida. In December, 1973, the three firms jointly paid more than $600 million — the highest bonus bid ever — for rights to drill in the offshore region. But so far the companies have drilled six dry holes, and Exxon President N.A. Wright has indicated that if the seventh hole now being drilled produces no oil, Exxon will pull out.

"In frontier regions there are a lot of disappointments," said Darius Gaskins Jr., the Interior Department's coordinator for outer continental shelf leasing. "There is no way of knowing for sure what is beneath the ocean floor short of actual drilling."

But successful oil finds more than compensate for the dry holes. With world oil prices having quadrupled in the past two years, new oil brings about $11 a barrel and provides the producer with roughly $5 a barrel after taxes, industry officials say. However, the recent elimination of the oil depletion allowance for major producers is due to cut their profits in coming years.

Exploratory drilling in wildcat areas, and existing fields rose nearly 20 per cent last year to 31,698 wells in 36 states. The success rate for all wells reached 23 per cent, compared with a success rate of 15 per cent in the decade prior to 1973.

US governors favor death penalty, 2-1

By JAMES R. KING
United Press International
 Governors of the 50 states favor capital punishment 4 by almost a 2-1 ratio, mainly because of solid support in the South.

A United Press International poll of U.S. governors shows 26 approve of the death penalty, 17 are against it and five have no opinion. The issue is split almost evenly in the Northeast, South and Midwest.

In the South, where all states have death penalty laws in effect, all but one governor, Ray Blanton of Tennessee, approve capital punishment. Blanton said: "I've always been opposed to capital punishment and I'm still opposed to it."

One of the strongest supporters of capital punishment is Gov. Otis Bowen of Indiana, a family doctor who used to be against the death penalty. He said it is needed to curtail heinous crimes against society.

"But it must be uniformly applied," he said, "and judicially used — and we must be certain beyond doubt of the guilt."

Bowen, who voted in 1965 to abolish capital punishment, said he changed his mind because of heinous crimes such as the Charles Manson murders in California and other mass slayings.

"My profession is dedicated to saving life and I abhor the thought of taking a life. But I abhor senseless killings by people who have no respect for the lives of others. I have great sympathy for the victims and relatives of victims," the Indiana governor said.

Of the 28 governors who favor capital punishment, 16 said it is a deterrent. Others said it is justified by brutal crimes or is the will of the people.

But Gov. Richard Koop of South Dakota said capital punishment is logical.

"Through imposition of the mandatory death penalty, we sanction and establish an act as barbaric and oftentimes more premeditated than that which we supposedly refuse to tolerate. I do not believe the death penalty is a deterrent to murder," he said.

Of the 17 governors against the death sentence, seven said it was not a deterrent. Five said they have a personal aversion to capital punishment. Others opposed it on grounds the state has no right to take a life, the penalty is unconstitutional because it was being applied arbitrarily. That ruling saved 600 death row inmates from execution, but since then 33 states have passed new death penalty laws, and 21 other persons have been condemned to die under the new laws.

One of those cases — that of a man sentenced to die in North Carolina for murder — has been appealed to the Supreme Court, giving the justices a chance to rule on the constitutionality of the new death penalty laws.

Gov. James Holzhouser Jr. of North Carolina — the state with the most prisoners on death row, 69 — declined to say how he feels about capital punishment.

"I've deliberately tried to keep my mind from wandering into that area," he said. "The North Carolina case is going to be before the Supreme Court and it would be possible I would have to make some personal judgments of my own some time in the near future."

The other governors who refused to take a stand were Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, Hugh Carey of New York, James Rhodes of Ohio, and Ed Herschler of Wyoming.

Many of the other governors are troubled by the issue. Colorado has passed a new death penalty law but Gov. Richard Lamm is personally opposed to capital punishment.

The question is not the moral issue of the death penalty but the moral issue of when the executive should substitute his judgment for the judgment of the majority of the people.

"In these pressured times, with many day-to-day issues of vital importance, not a day goes by that I don't think about the death penalty hanging like a cloud and that decision that I face down the road."

Britons chilled

LONDON (UPI) — Shivering Britons were told today they could expect even more of the cold weather that has tormented early June in this country into something resembling mid-January.

"A very cold polar air stream is bringing the chill and it should continue for at least another day," a spokesman for the London Weather Center said.

Temperatures plunged to subfreezing levels in parts of Scotland during the night and snow — some of it heavy — was reported in higher regions of northern England and Scotland.

N-weapons feared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials fear Brazil may use nuclear equipment and knowhow from West Germany — earmarked for strictly peaceful purposes — to produce nuclear weapons as well as electricity.

West Germany and Brazil are completing an agreement designed to let Brazil produce vitally needed power from its vast uranium deposits.

But U.S. officials say the agreement will provide Brazil "the full nuclear power cycle," making it at least theoretically possible for the largest nation in South America to join the nuclear weapons club.

If that should happen, some officials fear, Argentina might also seek a nuclear capability.

The West German sale reportedly worth some $2 billion over the next 10 or 15 years — has not been formally completed. But U.S. officials who deal with nuclear proliferation issues say the West Germans have talked openly about the deal and a formal announcement is expected soon.

American officials said the West Germans have assured their U.S. counterparts unofficially the agreement with Brazil will contain safeguards against diverting material to weapons use.

Roadblocks withdrawn

SALISBURY (UPI) — Security forces today withdrew armed patrols and roadblocks — from African townships where clashes between police and 2,000 rival black nationalists left 11 demonstrators dead and 18 injured.

Police officials said the townships were calm and had returned to normal.

Shopkeepers whose premises were stoned and burned began clearing debris and city authorities set about removing the wrecks of gutted cars from the streets.

Standards set

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Detailed, uniform standards for "quality dental care" were adopted during the weekend by California dentists.

The adoption of the standards and a self-rating program by delegates of the California Dental Association was the first of its kind in the world, a spokesman said.

CDA President William E. Schleyer, San Diego, called the policy the "most significant action taken by dentistry in this era."

Congress returns, faces heavy slate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is back from its 10-day Memorial Day vacation today and faces issues such as unemployment, energy, civil rights, post-Vietnam foreign policy and some veto fights.

The House starts work today on whether to extend the Voting Rights Act. Some Republicans and Southern Democrats want to limit any extension to five years, rather than the 10 years provided in a pending bill.

The Senate today begins what could be a major debate on the shape of U.S. foreign and military policies following the loss of Indochina to the Communists. The vehicle for the debate is a $30.3 billion authorization bill for weapons procurement.

A big energy tax bill goes before the Rules Committee today. If cleared by that panel the measure will come up on the House floor on June 9.

Democratic leaders tentatively scheduled a vote in the House Wednesday on whether to override President Ford's veto last week of a $5.3 billion bill to provide 1.5 million jobs for the unemployed. Ford said the bill was not an effective way to attack unemployment and would add to inflation.

Congress also soon will consider whether to override Ford's veto of a bill to control strip mining, which he said would reduce coal production during a time of energy need.

There may be still another veto fight over a bill temporarily barring Ford from imposing tariffs on oil imports. Ford is imposing his second $1 tariff increase June 1.

Before leaving on his current trip to Europe, the President sharply rebuked Congress for doing nothing about the nation's energy problems.

Ford said he would send Congress this week a plan to remove the remaining price controls from domestic oil. A resolution disapproving the proposal is waiting in the House Rules Committee, ready to be sent to the floor.

Before Congress recess, the House and Senate bogged down on a $15.7 billion bill to provide supplementary funds this year for a score of programs. That measure must be resolved this week to get some $5 billion in unemployment compensation benefits money to the states and provide $884 million for the food stamp program.

More autos seen

DETROIT (UPI) — Even though lagging sales forced a cutback in scheduled production, U.S. automakers should turn out more cars in June than in any other month this year.

Total industry layoffs will climb to 165,566 workers, up 2,841 from last week. But indefinite layoffs among blue-collar workers will drop nearly 3,500 to 159,041.

With three assembly plants closed and nearly one-fourth of the work force still idled, the domestic auto industry today began the task of building 623,000 cars in June.

That figure is 21,000 fewer than originally planned but still the highest of a sluggish sales year. It falls short, however, of the production level reached in June, 1974, when automakers lagged under the impact of the energy crisis.

Pasternak honored

PEREDELAKINO, U.S.S.R. — Throughout the busy spring of Friday visitors trickled through the village cemetery of this pastoral writers' colony, bearing bouquets of flowers to lay reverently on the grave of Boris Pasternak. While the 10th anniversary of the death of the controversial author of "Doctor Zhivago" went ignored by the official Soviet press, it was not overlooked by scores of Russians, including many young people. They travelled by train to Pereedelakino, about 15 miles southeast of downtown Moscow.

Agency to broaden urban 'homesteading' effort

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has not admitted that the idea of urban homesteading has been fully tested, but it will invite about 10 communities across the nation to take part in a $5 million demonstration beginning this summer. The program, unlike some others now in operation, will be limited to localities where approved neighborhood preservation plans have been prepared, said Michael R. Stokow, the agency's assistant secretary for research, in an interview.

The department hopes to select the demonstration communities before the end of September, Stokow said. While the main purpose of the H.U.D. program is to see how urban homesteading works in various settings, another purpose, he indicated, is to get rid of millions of dollars worth of idle, ugly, deteriorating H.U.D.-owned housing in many cities. The idea of urban homesteading, meant to be a variant of pioneer homesteading that provided 160 acres of Western land to anyone who would settle on it 100 years ago, was first implemented about two years ago in Wilmington, Del., and spread quickly to Baltimore and Philadelphia. Agency officials say active programs are now also underway in Washington, Atlanta, Rockford, Ill., Minneapolis and St. Louis. The urban homesteader usually receives his house for a token sum, often a dollar, and must agree to occupy it and to bring it up to acceptable standards in a specific period of time. While homesteads in some of the programs are spread around the cities, the agency hopes to limit its experiments to specific communities, where the participants will have special help and a full measure of services — such as garbage collection, police and fire protection, and street and sewer improvements. A city's ability to provide these services will be an important factor in whether it is selected to take part, Stokow said. The rules of the H.U.D.-sponsored program will require that the participants occupy their homesteads for at least three years, make minimum health and safety repairs before they move in, allow periodic inspections and bring the property up to standards in 18 months.

Gripe service studied

© Newhouse News Service WASHINGTON — If you think federal agencies handle consumer complaints faster when they are sent through a congressman than when you send them directly, you're absolutely right. The catch is that it may take a few days for your complaint to be referred from Capitol Hill to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) or the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), or wherever. But, generally speaking, one of 15 agencies surveyed receives that complaint, it has a final answer ready three days sooner for congressionally-forwarded complaints than for those coming in directly from consumers.

A private study of complaint-handling systems at various federal agencies, conducted for Virginia Knauer's Office of Consumer Affairs, found unsatisfactory performances in many areas. The report, compiled by Technical Assistance Research Programs Inc., said, for example, the FCC replies often aren't clear or are inappropriate to the question raised because that agency uses too much legalese and relies too much on forms. Answers should be "written in language that non-lawyers can understand," the report said. Other agencies take weeks to respond to complaints, with the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) the slowest in this department. Agencies reviewed were the Agriculture Department, Civil Aeronautics Board, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Federal Trade Development (FTD), the Interstate Commerce Commission, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Office of Consumer Affairs, Securities and Exchange Commission and the U.S. Postal Service.

Church hits energy plan

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, holds the same opinion about President Ford's energy programs as many other members of Congress—they won't work. "I think no program at all would be better than Ford's," Church said. Church outlined an energy program along the line he feels would be generally acceptable to Congress. He favors a crash program for utilization of alternative fuels, combined with "serious energy conservation measures." "We already have the technical know-how for construction of coal liquefaction and coal gasification plants that can furnish us with an alternative to oil," Church said. "We've just brought in another natural, hot-water well in Idaho, and have excellent prospects of establishing a demonstration plant in the Raft River Valley that will illustrate how the Earth's own heat can be used for generation of electricity," he said. Church also believes "experiments for secondary and tertiary recovery in existing oil fields will greatly expand their potential."

He said a crash program for alternative fuels could reduce the "dependence of the United States on imported oil." "The President is justified in criticizing congressional delay," Church said, "but his program will make matters worse. He proposes to lift fuel prices in the U.S. to artificially high levels by imposing an increased tariff on imported oil, and by eliminating price controls on domestic oil. This combination of moves will mean Americans will pay a higher price for fuel than they pay elsewhere in the world," Church said.

Duralon Steel Radials

A deep, tough tread

Deep? Yes. The tread's at least 25% deeper than our former radial tire (which was generously endowed). And tough? Well, our engineers have come through with a tread compounding formula that's so tough it's top secret.

Special radial tread design

A radial tire is something special. So we give it a special tread design—one that has all the grooves and curves this radial needs to perform its utmost. It's been tested not only for traction but for such things as "rolling resistance" and quietness—shhh.

A wide, low profile

Tire people call it the "70 series profile." That means it's wide and low... and for a very good reason. It cuts a wide swath. Low center of gravity has a stabilizing effect—hugs and holds the road like it loved it. Forget the slim and tall, you'll like it wide and low.

A bold, white stripe "combo"

We're so proud of these tires that we sell 'em just one way—with a bold, show-offish broad and slim white stripe combination on the sidewall. It's just what they need to top off their overall styling and design and to make any car—no matter how expensive—look a little bit better.

The name "Duralon"

The name, Duralon, on any tire means its been inspected, tested, checked and double checked, time and time again. It means craftsmanship with a tradition of excellence.

DEA orders stricter controls

FEA administrator eyes gasoline price increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ford administration energy proposals would push the price of regular gasoline up to nearly 70 cents a gallon, Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb says.

One program has been one which would increase all of the products from the crude barrel," Zarb said Sunday. "...with gasoline going up perhaps 14 or 15 cents" and other products six to eight cents.

He agreed with a television interviewer (ABC's "Issues and Answers") that the increase caused by decontrolling prices and raising taxes would push the average price of a gallon up from the current 53-or 54-cent level to almost 70 cents.

A Library of Congress study, meanwhile, predicted the President's energy program would cost American consumers an extra $36.4 billion a year.

The study, released Saturday by Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., said the largest increase — $15.7-billion — would come from decontrolling the price of domestic oil. Ford's addition of a $1 tariff per barrel on imported oil will cost the consumer another $12.1 billion, the study said. Unregulated interstate natural gas prices would go up $3.8 billion and the price of coal would jump $4.8 billion each year.

Zarb was asked Sunday about preparation of a standby gas rationing plan.

He said the FEA thinks "the likelihood of another (foreign oil) embargo is very high" and the nation should be "prepared for such an emergency."

FRANK ZARB
... eyes gas hike

"That is correct," said Zarb. "But keep in mind these conservation taxes which we had proposed would be returned to the economy. And individuals, particularly those who could least afford to pay higher energy costs, would be given more back than their actual increases would be."

A big energy tax bill awaited House Rules Committee action today. The measure, in response to Ford's criticism of legislative delays on energy proposals, will come up on the House floor June 9 if cleared by the panel.

Zarb said details of the rationing plan have not yet been approved. It would take about 90 days for it to be fully operational if there were another major oil embargo.

"A decision would be dependent upon the size, shape and scope of such an embargo," Zarb said, as well as other factors. "It (rationing) certainly will be looked at as one of the first possibilities and, of course, the President will make the final decision."

WH to discontinue drug abuse agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House plans to abolish its Special Action Office on Drug Abuse Prevention. The step comes at a time when drug addiction and crime stemming from it are rising.

The office, created in 1971 in response to former President Nixon's war on heroin, goes out of existence June 30 unless Congress extends it. Administration officials who have told Congress the agency is no longer needed say they are not abandoning the fight against drug abuse.

Heroin use has been growing. It is no longer just a problem for inner-city poor. Addicts are now found among the youth of small towns and suburbs.

Members of President Ford's cabinet reported to him last week that crime committed to support heroin habits is increasing in 1975 in nearly all the states and accounts for about two-thirds of all measurable drug abuse costs.

They estimated that drug related crime costs the nation $10 billion to $17 billion a year. Drug-related deaths have grown steadily in Chicago and Philadelphia. Drug injuries are up in Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles, according to DEA statistics submitted to the Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to extend the life of the special action office for three years. Sen. William Hathaway, D-Maine, sponsor of one bill, said all the factors which prompted Nixon to create the special action office.

Israel ponders troop cut

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel is seriously considering thinning out its frontline forces in Sinai as a political gesture of goodwill to Egypt to coincide with the reopening of the Suez Canal, military and government sources said today.

The move, which would have little military implication, is under consideration by the government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and may be made shortly before or after Egypt reopens the canal Thursday, the sources said.

A military source said the thin-out probably would mean a reduction of the 38 cannon of 122mm caliber now in the limited forces frontline zone.

The guns cannot hit the canal because their maximum range is six miles and the waterway is 13 miles from the Israeli line.

"It is a simple gesture of goodwill that militarily would have no effect," a military source said. "It's more a political move than a military one, though it has some military implications."

Frontline Israeli and Egyptian forces on either side of the U.N. buffer zone in Sinai are each limited by the troop disengagement agreement to 7,000 troops, 30 tanks and 36 pieces of artillery of up to 122mm caliber.

The agreement was engineered by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in January, 1974, and fully implemented in March that year.

Any thin out probably would involve the number of tanks, artillery pieces or both, a military source said.

He did not rule out the possibility that Washington has put pressure on Israel to make a conciliatory move in Sinai, as a goodwill gesture towards Egypt to coincide with the reopening of the canal.

Permanent manufacture date labels ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission today ordered permanent labels listing the year and month of manufacture placed on all new cars, trucks and motorcycles.

The agency said the labels were needed because vehicles, such as heavy-duty trucks and truck chassis, on which there are no significant year-to-year changes — could be sold the following model year as "new."

"An investigation by the FTC's staff indicated that some manufacturers of the types of vehicles in question redesignate the model year on certificates of origin of vehicles unsold at the end of a model year to represent that such vehicles are of the upcoming model year, or base the model year designation on the date of ultimate sale to retail purchasers, rather than on the date of manufacture," the agency said.

On passenger cars and trucks, the labels will be affixed "to the hinge pillar, door latch post, door facing next to the driver's seating position, or on the left side of the instrument panel," it said.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Each year my husband and our teenage sons spend a week up north fishing. They love it. I hate it. I wish my husband and the boys would go without me, but when I mention it, my husband says, "No, we'll just skip it this year because Mom doesn't want to go." The boys are disappointed and Mom is the heavy.

Abby, before we had children, I went fishing with my husband so he would have companionship, and I plan to do it again when the children are gone. When the boys were small I went without complaint because I felt I was needed; small boys could at times be more problems than pleasure for a man on a week's fishing trip.

But the boys are not children now, and they couldn't care less whether I went along or not. The fishing week is the high spot of their year. And it's my absolute lowest. Am I wrong to want to stay home? It would be a great vacation for me not having to cook, wash or iron. Help me, Abby. They believe in you.

ALL FISHED OUT

Dad, sons should go stag

DEAR FISHED: IMPORE Dad to let you off the hook this time. You've earned your stay-at-home vacation. (P.S. To the men in your house: "DON'T NAG—GO STAG!")

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column from a woman who couldn't bring herself to spend the inheritance money her mother had left her. The reason: When she (the daughter) was struggling with a young family to make ends meet, her mother (who could have well afforded it) gave her no help at all.

Years later, when the daughter no longer needed anything, her mother died and left her a small fortune. Her letter prompts mine: My late husband used to say, "It is better to give with warm hands." (Meaning: "while one is alive.") He practiced that philosophy all his life and loved to give.

Now that he is gone, I am giving to my children and grandchildren "with warm hands," which gives them much pleasure. But to be perfectly honest, I am selfish, because when I give to them, my pleasure is far greater than theirs.

SELFISH GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: What this world needs is more of your brand of "selfishness." (P.S. Besides, it might be one thing to reduce the inheritance tax.)

DEAR ABBY: I noticed a letter in your column from a minister who complained because after he had officiated at a funeral service for people who didn't even belong to his church, their families failed to pay him for his services. I don't know how other folks handle it, but here in Tacoma, Wash., the funeral director just adds $25 to the cost of the funeral, and he pays the minister without bothering the family.

No long ago, I received a letter from an elderly couple who was making funeral arrangements in advance. Enclosed was a check for $25 with the following note: "We want to be buried together. This should cover it."

Give a gift to grow on

What does it feel like to face the world on your own?

Is it fear? Is it determination? Is it excitement? Or is it a combination of all three and a lot more?

Those are questions we all have to answer for ourselves. But the one common denominator that draws the thread among all those who face the confrontation successfully is "Maturity."

Maturity means being able to accept the world for what it is and make the best of it.

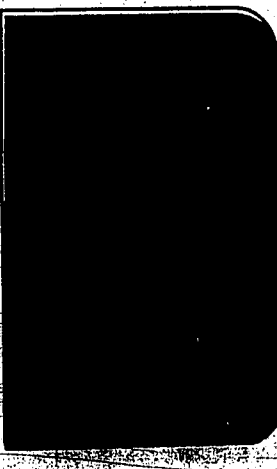

Maturity means realizing that whatever's out there doesn't always work out the way we'd prefer.

Maturity means being prepared.

A savings account or savings certificate from First Security is one of the best ways to go into the world prepared.

That's why it makes an ideal gift for someone you know and love who is about to make the trip.

A savings account earns high interest and is insured against loss. And it helps build a sense of security and confidence right from the beginning.

Interest compounded continuously on pass book savings. Paid every 3 months.

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Doctor:
I'm a 25-year-old mother, and I have a problem with depression which has lasted about a month since coming home from the hospital. My doctor is unable to explain why it happened and says there is no cure for it. I understand that it may happen again. — Mrs. D.E.

It may be of some comfort for you to know that it is not uncommon for a new, young mother to experience this. It is unpredictable and it may appear immediately upon return from the hospital or weeks afterward.

There are several perfectly understandable causes. First of all, pregnancy and birth is a long and trying episode in a young woman's life. What you feel (and you feel) is the result of simple fatigue, or subtle glandular imbalances which have not righted themselves.

Further, you have left the hospital, where your every need was provided for, and returned to a household where you are now only expected to resume a multitude of chores, but also to assume responsibility for your family's newest member — your baby.

The baby may be a restless one who cries and worries perhaps irritates you.

Maternity blues common

You could be feeling a sense of guilt due possibly to a bit of resentment you may be harboring over this new responsibility. Your time is much less your own than before. Your husband may not be the type who enjoys sharing any of the new duties and responsibilities with you, and this can further lower your spirits.

Although many women return and immediately take up their new life with genuine joy, others like yourself go through this usually transient "blues" period. Many fear that it is going to be a permanent condition, that they will never pull out of it, so to speak. This can worsen its effects.

Whether you will experience the same thing with your next baby cannot be predicted. Most women, when told that such a depression is not uncommon, feel a sense of relief, thus hastening the "recovery" period.

I don't agree that it is "incurable." There are ways to improve things.

Try to break your routine. Have your husband take you out to dinner or to a show, whether you can afford it or not. Such brief respites will more than pay for themselves in an improved disposition. If not this then invite some friends you enjoy over for an evening of cards.

On weekends, take an afternoon nap, and ask your husband to watch over the infant for a syndrome as women. They should attempt to make their wives' transition back to happiness as easy as possible.

Your health is as important now, with your new responsibility as it was while you were pregnant. Your blood should be checked to determine if anemia is a factor in your depression. There are mood elevators your doctor can prescribe to tide you over this period.

But if your depression is quite deep and long-lasting (More than a couple of months), then you should seek some psychological help, although this is rarely necessary. Most women revert to their former happier selves naturally.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
What will happen if you take hormones and you have your own ovaries? I've heard you have ovaries stopping work. Is this true? — Mrs. E.G.H.

The hormone estrogen will inhibit the production of eggs in the ovaries, the whole idea behind the contraceptive pill. To that extent, the ovary is discouraged from performing its work. However, the extra hormones will not stop the ovary's ability to produce its own hormones.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Disney counts check TF area

TWIN FALLS — Officials from Walt Disney Productions are "scouting" the Twin Falls County area for possible filming locations, according to Ray Rostron, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The first visit was two episodes of "Wonderful World of Disney," a weekly television program, in Southern Idaho, Rostron said. Four officials of the company have driven about 800 miles in the Twin Falls area during the past month, he added.

"If they come (to film), it will probably be in August," Rostron said.

today in brief

TF police probe theft
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls police today were investigating the theft of nearly $300 in welding equipment from a Twin Falls man.

William Green, 571 Quincy St., told police the welding equipment was stolen from a truck parked in front of residence between 7 p.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Sunday.

He placed value on various pieces of equipment at $280.

Freak accident claims inmate
BOISE (UPI) — An inmate at the Idaho State Prison died in a freak accident Sunday afternoon outside the prison gymnasium.

Carl Lockhart, 34, of Boise, was killed when he apparently tripped going out a door and his chin hit a hard concrete floor.

Director of Corrections Don Erickson said Lockhart came into the store room in the gym area about 1:30 p.m., and was visiting with the recreation director and several other inmates. He went out the side door and tripped, striking his head. Officers and rescue personnel were unable to revive him.

Erickson said his officers are taking statements and the Ada County sheriff's office is investigating.

Gunshots injure two
MERIDIAN, Idaho (UPI) — An unidentified man fired two shots into the Blackcat Inn four miles west of Meridian Sunday, wounding two persons.

Tavern owner Jim Slaughter said four patrons being arguing and one of them went outside, returning about 10 minutes later with a gun and firing two shots through a side window and three through the front door. The gunman hit two persons not involved in the argument.

Manuel Anturmes, Nampa, was admitted to Mercy Medical Center in Nampa for treatment of a bullet crease on his forehead. The name of the other man wounded in the shooting was not immediately available.

Oregon rider scores
WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — John Weiser, 21, bull rider from Redmond, Ore., walked off with the top money at the Helix Canyon rodeo in Weiser this weekend.

Quintana picked up $151 and a score of 75. Neil Collier, Delta, Utah, scored 72 and picked up second place money of $380 for his efforts. Ken Simpson, Camas, Utah, came in third at $439 and 69 points.

3 Injured in 3 car accident
BURLEY — A drag race on Burley's main thoroughfare reportedly resulted in a three car accident in which three men were injured.

A Burley police spokesman said Albert F. Smith, 19, and Randy L. Jones, 18, both Burley and Robert Moreno, 20, Heyburn, were treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital following the accident.

According to police records, reckless driving citations are pending for Michael Earl James, 20, Heyburn, and Jones, who allegedly were drag racing on the 200 block of Overland Ave. at about 10 p.m. Saturday. Smith and Moreno were in another car attempting to run into the Overland Shopping Center Parking lot.

Police said James and Jones were going too fast to stop and hit Smith and Moreno's car.

Fire destroys grain elevator
FENN, Idaho (UPI) — A recently remodeled grain elevator valued at approximately $250,000 was destroyed late Saturday night by a fire of unknown origin.

The structure was empty at the time of the fire. At one point authorities feared two adjacent structures, a concrete dual elevator and one-story storage building, might explode from the heat.

The owners, Union Warehouse and Supply Co., of Grangeville, said the elevator was insured.

Boise man injured
IDAHO CITY (UPI) — A Boise man was slightly injured Saturday when the plane his son was piloting struck some trees near the Idaho City airport and flipped.

The plane, flown by 17-year old Mark Ruesser, was blown into a line of pine trees along the runway at the airport.

Harold Ruesser was slightly injured.

A draft caused the plane to be sucked down as it was taking off, Boise County Sheriff Jack Williams said.

No fight seen on Blaine judicial directive

By BART QUINN
Times-News writer

HALLEY — Blaine County commissioners probably will not fight a judicial directive to use surplus county funds to construct a new court building.

Fifth District Judge Douglas Kramer issued the order last week to impound $200,000 to be used as matching funds to construct a new judicial building between the courthouse and the sheriff's office.

Kramer said he gave the order to make the application for matching funds easier. The county has mailed the matching funds application to the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission. Deadline for the application was June 1.

The directive came one day after county treasurer Rodette Fry said there was no surplus fund. She said the funds in excess of county budget expenditures were levied for particular departments in the budget.

As a result, the funds not used in each department were placed in savings certificates, drawing interest. The county can use excess funds only to fund the department for which the taxes were levied, she said, and cannot be used in one lump sum.

County commissioner Ivan Gustafson said today "as I understand it, nothing can be done."

He said the commissioners were rather happy to be directed by the district court, instead of trying to build a new facility contingent on approval of a county vote.

State representative E.V. McHan, R-Kelcham, blasted the directive by the judge.

"I highly agree the judge can't use county surplus money and want to compliment the treasurer for standing up for the people," he said.

"The people should have a vote on the matter," McHan said. "That's the people's right to make a final decision. The judge and courts are not above God and do not take precedence over the people."

Commissioner Gustafson said the county needs space for county offices for which the upstairs portion of the old courthouse can be used.

The county is leasing space for the prosecuting attorney and public health and social health officials, he said, which can be discontinued if the upstairs is remodeled to accommodate these offices.

"I don't think there will be any opposition from the commissioners if we can get matching funds," he said.

He said if the matching funds are not approved the county may be forced to increase the levy to pay for the anticipated cost of construction which may gover $400,000.

Viral VD appears in MV, no epidemic reported
By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Two cases of a viral venereal disease have been reported to the South Central Health Department, but local doctors say no major outbreak has occurred in Magic Valley.

The disease, Herpes Simplex 2, has no known cure. It reportedly has infected thousands of people, but its occurrence mainly has been restricted to urban populations.

Dr. Wayne Carte, director of the South Central District Health Department, said he recalls two cases of the disease being treated at the department's venereal disease clinic, and the two persons reportedly involved were sexual partners.

The disease, which is caused by a virus, may cause deformity or death in infants whose mothers are infected, and has been related to cancer of the cervix in women, Carte said.

Dr. Thomas A. Mayer, a Twin Falls obstetrician and gynecologist, said he recalls seeing only one case of Herpes in his private practice.

The type 2 disease is related to Herpes Simplex 1, a virus which causes cold sores around the mouth, Carte said.

Symptoms of the disease are lesions or blisters on and around the sexual organs, Carte said. The disease is considered a venereal type because it's contracted through sexual intercourse.

No antibiotics and so far no vaccine have been found which cure the disease, Carte said, but added often the disease is "self-limiting." Other types of lesions are considered to be cured if they're absent for a period of several months, Carte said.

"It clears itself within time no matter what we do," Carte said.

Mayer said the disease was "very difficult to treat." Some physicians use a dye and ultraviolet light treatment, Mayer said, but added that method was "controversial."

"I'm inclined to let the thing run its course," he said. Swelling is often a problem: "I've had to hospitalize patients because they couldn't urinate," Mayer said.

Carte said the lesions often recur at least two to three times, sometimes in concurrence with the menstrual cycle in women. Cleanliness is a considerable aid in controlling, he said, and the use of a condom is fairly effective in preventing transfer. But basically all physicians can provide now is symptomatic relief, Mayer said.

Active Herpes in a pregnant woman "can present some real problems," Mayer said.

For a woman with active Herpes who is about to deliver, Mayer said he would recommend a Caesarean section delivery. Unborn babies can contract the virus even while their mothers are pregnant, Mayer said, and it may cause deformities or even death.

Cooler Idaho temps expected
BOISE (UPI) — The National Weather Service expects cooler temperatures this week to slow the snowmelt that swelled Idaho rivers over the weekend, pushing the Portneuf and Henry's Fork of the Snake to flood levels.

The flood stage on the Portneuf is 8 feet and this morning measurements on river gauges registered 8.88 feet.

Rundoff has been the main problem for Henry's Fork on the Snake River after a weekend of warm temperatures. Measurements near Rexburg showed 9.39 feet today in an area where the flood stage is 9 feet.

The weather-service is forecasting cooler temperatures next days that should slow the runoff but will not stop the high water. Showers falling over the state today were not expected to contribute much moisture to the high water problems.

Carl Gorski, a forecaster with the Boise weather office, said all rivers in Idaho were rising rather rapidly but the Salmon and Clearwater remained below flood stage. At Spaulding and Orofino "we don't look like they're still within their banks but they all are rising on most of our gauges."

He said the only two problem areas today were Henry's Fork near Rexburg and the Portneuf. They are not expected to go down appreciably in the next couple of days but the rise should not be as rapid as it was over the weekend.

Guardsmen from 3 states begin training in Boise
BOISE (UPI) — Guardsmen from Idaho, Wyoming and Arizona began annual summer maneuvers in the 250-square-mile training area, 35 miles south of Boise today.

Guardsmen from the three states arrived at Gowen Field near Boise over the weekend to begin preparation for their two week summer training.

Idaho guardsmen from 1st Squadron, 116th Armored Cavalry will train with Sheridan armored reconnaissance vehicles while personnel from the Emmett unit will perform with M60 tanks, the main battlefield tank used by the Army.

Both scout and rifle sections will engage in training to include a field fire exercise, an escape and evasion course and a mountaineering course.

Military Police from Arizona will be responsible for maintaining security of the base during their visit to Boise.

Guardsmen who traveled from Wyoming to Boise will spend their time in the main training area increasing their knowledge of the self-propelled howitzer.

The 116th from Idaho is still this year. First squadron units from Caldwell, Nampa, Boise, Weiser, Payette, Homedale, Emmett, Gooding and Buhl training the next two weeks while 2nd squadron units from the "Pocatello" and Magic Valley areas engage in maneuvers in August. One 2nd squadron unit from Preston is training with the 1st squadron.

The units will leave the Boise area May 14 and guardsmen from Montana and Nevada will move in for their training.

Pullout approved
BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Court Judge Mark Galtier has ruled that the Argonaut Insurance Company can withdraw from the medical malpractice insurance field in Idaho immediately.

The judge made the ruling late Saturdays in denying an injunction sought by eight doctors from Coeur d'Alene who were trying to prevent the company from discontinuing coverage June 1 for Idaho doctors.

Idaho trail group forms

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — An Idaho Trails Council designed for the exchange of information and ideas among trail users and managers, was formed over the weekend.

Martin Huebner, Idaho Falls, was chosen president of the group and Mel Quale, Twin Falls, vice president. Dave Thompson, Boise, was named secretary and Bernice Paige, Idaho Falls, treasurer.

Board members include Judith Austin, Boise; Arden Drake, Mountain Home; Jim Fry, Moscow; Ed Fournier, Twin Falls; Paul Fritz, Boise; Dick Geler, Boise; Norman Guthy, Salmon; Orval Hansen, Idaho Falls; George Bailey, Moscow; Paul Houston, Sun Valley; Paul Hunsaker, Boise; Ralph Butler, Kelcham; Cyril Slansky, Idaho Falls, and Chuck Wells, Boise.

Existing informally since 1971, the council sponsors an Idaho Trails Symposium. This year's symposium followed the organizational meeting in Sun Valley.

Besides providing a forum for the exchange of information and ideas, the group also encourages volunteer involvement in trail development, construction and maintenance throughout Idaho.

Burley chief starts job

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Richard J. May officially took the reins of Burley's chief of police this morning.

On his first day at work, May said there would be some changes in the department's operation, but the changes are still in the planning stage. "I have no plans to hire or fire anybody at the present time, but there will be some changes eventually to benefit the city," May said.

May, a veteran of 19 years of law enforcement, said he "hopes to make the people of Burley proud of the police department."

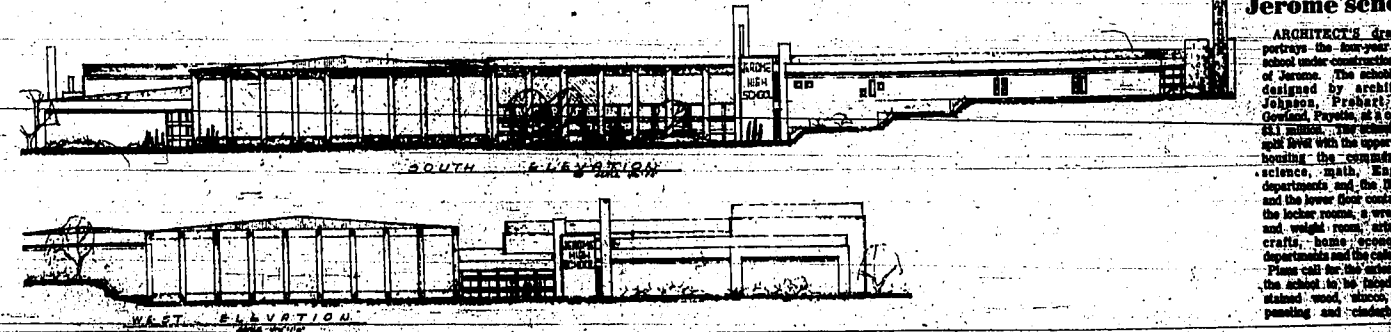

May was named two weeks ago as Burley's chief to replace Gary Booth, who had been fired Feb. 10. Prior to being named Burley's top cop, May was the assistant chief of police at Rexburg. May began his police career 19 years ago in Wallace, spending nine years there with the sheriff's department and eight years with the city. May said he was chief at Wallace for four years, moving to Rexburg two years ago.

Shortly after being named to the Burley chief's post, May said he planned to retain the specialized departments of narcotics, juvenile, detectives and patrol that were established by Booth.

May said he will rely on the help of the men currently on the force and especially on Capt. Kevin Harkness to make a smooth transition as he assumes the leadership of the department. Harkness has been acting chief since Booth's dismissal.

Billingham kept the Cardinals in check except for a sixth inning run as he raised his record to 5-3 with his third complete game. The tall right-hander yielded only one batter and struck out three.

Cincinnati took advantage of a St. Louis error to make it 3-0 with three runs in the third inning. Loser Bob Forsch walked George Foster to lead off the inning.

Bonham, winning his 11th game against four losses, had walked one and struck out six before permitting Willie Crawford to reach first on an error and giving up a score to Ron Cey.

The Cubs had scored three runs in the second inning off Burt Hooton who was tagged with his fifth loss against three wins. Andy Thornton drew a walk and went to third on a single by Manny Trillo and an error by Jimmy Wynn.

Padres blank New York 4-0

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Winfield hit two opposite field doubles, scored one run and drove in another Sunday to lead the San Diego Padres to a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets.

Winfield's production only provided icing to the triumph as New York-rookie Randy Tate gave the game away in the first inning when his wild pitch enabled two runs to score.

Tate, 24, opened the first by walking Johnny Grubb and Erno Hernandez on nine pitches and they both advanced on a sacrifice bunt by Bobby Golub.

Royals sweep 2 from Brewers

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — John Mayberry homered and drove in five runs and Al Fitzmorris' won his eighth game in the nightcap Sunday to lead the Kansas City Royals to an 11-0 rout of the Milwaukee Brewers for a sweep of their doubleheader.

Kansas City, which has now won nine of its last 10 games, took the first game 13-6 when the Royals broke a 6-6 tie in the fifth with five runs on only one hit.

Mayberry slammed a three-run homer off Jim Colborn in the fourth and doubled home two runs off Eduardo Rodriguez in the sixth. He also walked in the first and singled in the fifth.

Fitzmorris worked the first seven innings allowing just six hits and two runs to make his record 8-3. It was his fifth straight win. Steve Mingers, finishing up, yielded a three-run homer to Pedro Garcia in the eighth.

Tony Solalia and George Brett each hit two-run homers for the Royals. Solalia's fourth homer of the season came in the first after Mayberry walked and Brett hit his first homer in the fifth.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron singled sharply to leftfield in the third inning for his fourth hit and 3,490 of his major league.

Nastase in the other semifinal, which he reached by upsetting the defending champion and top seed, Sweden's Bjorn Borg in the quarterfinals.

Valdes, 29, now has a record of 55 wins, two ties and four defeats. He earned $50,000 for his second defense of the WBC lightweight title he won last year when he defeated America's Benny Briscoe in Monaco.

Ramirez was leading Nastase, 6-2, 5-2, when the Romanian retired because of illness. America's Chris Evert won the women's singles crown for the second straight year Saturday by overwhelming Czechoslovakia's Martina Navratilova, 6-1, 6-0.

Mendez, ninth in the WBC ranking, suffered his ninth defeat in 35 professional bouts. He took home $15,000.

Orantes won the Rome singles title in 1972 and lost in the final to Nastase in 1973. The matchless Ramirez is in the final for the first time.
