TWIN FALLS — A rough draft of a proposed comprehensive land-use plan for Twin Falls County will be presented tonight at a meeting of the Joint City-County Planning Council.

Planner David Richey said Tuesday the draft of the plan is far from its finished form.

"This document in its rough form is still in process," Richey said. "The council wanted a progress report, so we're just going to present it to them."

The council had asked Richey at its last meeting to bring them up to date on what had been accomplished toward a comprehensive land-use plan for the city and the county.

Other items scheduled for the meeting tonight include a statement by council chairman Jack Muldoon on the direction the council should take in the completion of a comprehensive plan.

Muldoon said Tuesday he will also ask council members for recommendations on the path to be followed by the planning body.

"I think we're going to have to make some changes," Muldoon said, but declined to discuss possible changes before the release of the letter.

A copy of the letter, Muldoon said, will be sent to both the county commissioners and the City Council.

The joint planning council is funded by both the city and county.

Volunteer seminar under way in SV

SUN VALLEY — A four-day seminar on volunteer efforts in Idaho is taking place here this week.

The Tuesday-through Friday session for leaders from both private and public organizations in the state deals with volunteer goal setting, motivation, recruitment, training and fund raising.

The conference, sponsored by ACTION, the federal volunteer agency, will have participants from the Red Cross, ACTION, United Way, the National Student Volunteer Program, the National Center for Voluntary Action and others.

Tom Hulscher, conference director, and other participants can be contacted at 622-4111 during the session.

Brig. Gen. Stand Watie, chief of the Cherokee Nation, became the last Confederate general to surrender on June 23, 1865.

Church introduces SS bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, introduces legislation Tuesday to improve the cost-of-living adjustment mechanism for more than 31 million Social Security beneficiaries.

The Church proposal is designed to strengthen the automatic escalator provision by authorizing cost-of-living adjustments up to twice a year and by directing the administration to develop a special index to serve as the basis for such adjustments.

Church said a special index is needed now to reflect more accurately the impact of inflation on the elderly. In recent years some of the sharpest increases in prices have occurred in areas where the elderly have their greatest expenditures.

The Church bill would permit cost-of-living adjustments to be made in April and October instead of only once a year.

Symms scores pro-gun win

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, successfully tacked an amendment on the Independent Agencies Appropriations bill Tuesday to hamper federal efforts at private gun control.

Symms' amendment, approved by the House on a voice vote, says that none of the funds provided to the Consumer Product Safety Commission by the act may be used to prepare or enforce regulations to restrict sale of firearms, ammunition or components thereof.

"I am thoroughly elated by today's pro-gun victory," Symms said. "The passage of this amendment represents a very significant step forward for those of us who are striving to preserve the right of private gun ownership."

"The infringement of this right by the Consumer Product Safety Commission has become a very real threat in recent months," he said.

"Now, through this amendment, the House of representatives has gone on record in opposition to the regulation of firearms and ammunition by the commission."

"A major precedent has thus been set which, if sustained by the Senate, will resolve the issue of gun control by the CPSC once and for all," he said.

Center off Medicaid list

KIMBERLY — At the end of this month, the Mountain View Convalescent Center here will no longer be certified for skilled nursing care under Medicaid, a state and federal program.

Owner-administrator Al Benkula said the center's change in status is "no big deal" and affects few patients.

Only two of the center's 61 occupants are currently classified as skilled nursing care patients and their status will soon be changing to demand less-skilled care, Benkula said.

Skilled care is "provided to individuals with unstable health problems which require daily professional and licensed nursing care and supervision," according to a definition.

The center's certification is not being renewed because of deficiencies turned up in a survey by the licensing and certification division of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

Jean Schoonover, assistant supervisor for the division, said the decision not to recertify was "based on a number of things."

One requirement for skilled care certification is a physician visit to patients once every 30 days. This requirement is not currently being met for skilled patients, Mrs. Schoonover said.

In addition, the survey turned up other deficiencies, some of which have not been corrected since the last survey in 1974, Mrs. Schoonover said.

They included "lack of an operable sprinkler system and emergency power unit and several required committees which haven't been functioning as obligated."

Benkula said Tuesday the sprinkler system was installed and operating and the center was in the process of obtaining an emergency power system.

Under governmental life-safety codes, the center must have an emergency system by the end of this year, even if not applying for certification as a skilled nursing care institution.

Benkula also indicated the committees are now functioning.

Officials of the state department said they could not confirm the changes by telephone but said Benkula had indicated the deficiencies had been corrected.

If the facility wishes to participate in the skilled program, recertification can be made at any time, Mrs. Schoonover said.

Besides the Kimberly Care Center, the Kimberly facility will be the only one in the area not certified for skilled nursing care.

Benkula said "We're not upset. Our feeling is we only have two skilled patients here."

Camp Tawakani program set

TWIN FALLS — Jerry Hillman, executive director of Camp Fire Club, said today a television program at 4 p.m. Thursday over KMYT will explain resident camp programs at Camp Tawakani.

Mrs. Hillman said the program will show pictures of the campsite and give details of planned summer camp activities. She said anyone interested in knowing more about the summer camping program should be able to have any questions answered by watching it.

Camp registrations are still being taken at the Camp Fire Office, 634 Addison Ave. W, or call 733-6214 for more information.

Accident rate high

BOISE (UPI) — Hunting accidents from 1974 indicate hunters in Idaho have some difficulty distinguishing game from other hunters.

Of the 33 gun-related accidents last year — including 11 deaths — nine occurred because the victim was mistaken for game.

Martel Morache, gun safety coordinator for the agency, said that is the highest figure in this category since 1970. There were four accidents in that category in 1972, four in 1972, five in 1971 and eight in 1970.

Most of the accidents involved shooters in the age of 10 and 20. Most of the victims were in the same age range.

Hansen's growth gives lessons

The boom in the City of Hansen should serve as an early warning to other Magic Valley communities.

Hansen's population has more than doubled since 1970, with most of the increase in the past year.

The small town of 417 people, a quiet, shady place, has seen the addition of a large trailer court and a large subdivision where prefabricated modular homes are assembled.

There is nothing inherently wrong with large trailer houses or modular homes. Such housing is a godsend to lower and middle income families who often can't afford to purchase new traditionally built houses.

However in Hansen both the speed of development and the kind of development threaten to radically shift the nature of the community. While the new community will have its advantages and surely won't be all bad, it also will be a new creature, something fundamentally different from the old Hansen.

Ironically, it will be the residents of old Hansen who will feel the agony of that change. And it was they who could have controlled the growth, channeling it into acceptable forms and holding its pace to a reasonable speed.

Instead of reasonable control over its own future, Hansen opened its arms and accepted the wave of the future. The problem was that Hansen did not impose its own stamp, its own vision, on the new growth.

Cities everywhere can learn from Hansen's growth. Filer and Kimberly especially are vulnerable to new tract subdivisions.

There are several lessons to be learned:

1. You probably can't stop growth, even if you want to.

2. You can shape growth, making the new conform and complement the traditional structure and values of the communities.

3. If you don't control growth, growth will control you in ways you may not like.

There is something to the old Frankenstein story after all. If you aren't careful, you can create a monster out of your control.

Energy stalemate

Business Week

The American public does not believe that there is an energy crisis, and it is not prepared to make any serious sacrifices to reduce consumption of oil.

This, at least, is the conclusion that congressmen brought back to Washington after spending their Memorial Day vacation with the voters.

And so, for the past two weeks, the House of Representatives has been systematically voting down conservation measure after another.

The oil cartel may be a little more cautious now than it was 20 months ago when it first demonstrated its control of world markets.

But members have launched ambitious development projects, and they are hungrier than ever for revenues.

Another big price rise is almost certain unless the U.S. demonstrates its determination to restrain consumption.

The only way the Ford Administration will get effective action out of Congress is by taking the case for conservation to the people.

Somehow, it must demonstrate to the nation the necessity for reducing energy consumption.

It cannot rely on rising prices to achieve conservation because the present economic system is geared to produce prodigious quantities of energy no matter what the cost.

The federal Energy Research & Development Administration must spend more on energy-saving technology.

The American people can face unpleasant facts, but they are not going to do it until they are persuaded that the facts are real.

Rabin's US visit hardens deadlock

WASHINGTON — Instead of clearing the air for another round of shuttle diplomacy by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger...

Indeed, while officials at high levels here talk about a 50-day interim settlement on the Israel-occupied Sinai peninsula...

Rabin's intransigence dismayed American officials who took part in the marathon talks.

The last of eight congressional leaders called on by Ford to question Rabin over coffee and brandy at the horseshoe table in the state dining room...

There were, moreover, indications of subtle diplomacy by some top Israeli officials in the Rabin party that disturbed both the White House and the State Department.

One presidential adviser told us, "That leak was designed for only one purpose — to make us suspect in the eyes of the American people..."

Such a U.S. plan would likely call for Israeli withdrawal not only from the Egyptian Sinai but from most of the Syrian Golan Heights...

Such a leap could weaken Israel in the place that counts — U.S. voters.

But such pressure tactics have rarely counted for much in Israel, and 1975 is not the ideal climate for them.

The first is the threat of an overall American settlement plan going far beyond the Egyptian Sinai peninsula.

Some presidential advisers regard a public, overall U.S. settlement plan as essential before the Geneva conference...

Such a U.S. plan would likely call for Israeli withdrawal not only from the Egyptian Sinai but from most of the Syrian Golan Heights...

Such a leap could weaken Israel in the place that counts — U.S. voters.

JAMES KILPATRICK

Suppose we get this affair in perspective. The commission report does not confirm the CIA conducted these massive and "illegal" operations...

Perspective demands CIA gain credit

WASHINGTON — The Rockefeller Commission released its report on the Central Intelligence Agency on the night of June 10.

The Times started all this business about the CIA with a spread-eagled story by Seymour Hersh on Dec. 22.

It is in that story of June 11, the Times recalled, that "the CIA, directly violating its charter, conducted a massive, illegal domestic intelligence operation during the Nixon administration against the anti-war movement and other dissident groups in the United States."

If you perceive that a couple of elements are missing, your perception if functioning nicely.

JAMES KILPATRICK

The commission report does not confirm the CIA conducted these massive and "illegal" operations in "direct violation of its charter."

On the contrary, the report emphasizes that the CIA's charter is vague, ambiguous, and subject to conflicting interpretations by reasonably minded men.

What about a key element in the original Times story, that these horrid things happened "during the Nixon administration"?

Was the operation "massive"? In terms of the CIA's own commitment, it was minuscule.

Was the operation "illegal"? In the commission's view, "some domestic activities of Operation CHAOS unlawfully exceeded the CIA's statutory authority."

The great bulk of the CIA's investigation was lawful, prudent, and discreet.

Against the Times' exalted opinion of the CIA's "massive" operations, let me venture this observation: A fair reading of the entire commission report, taking the findings by their four corners, provides persuasive evidence that in its domestic activities, the CIA has acted, on the whole, with reason and with restraint.

Yes, the CIA is fairly subject to criticism for its excesses, and for knocking under to the pressures of its own or the nation's security apparatus.

Error in drawing US 'defense line' led North Korea to launch attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Historians say one reason North Korean troops invaded South Korea 25 years ago was that Harry Truman's secretary of state made a mistake — one Gerald Ford's administration says it will not make.

One indication of this is the announcement by Ford's defense secretary, James Schlesinger, that the United States has deployed tactical nuclear weapons in South Korea and is willing to use them.

In January of 1950, Truman's secretary of state, Dean Acheson, drew the U.S. "defense line" south from the Aleutian Islands to Japan, to the Ryukyu Islands, to the Philippines.

He did not include Taiwan or Korea.

On June 25, 1950, North Korean troops knifed across the 38th parallel and within two days had captured Seoul, the capital in the south. Because of the time difference, it was June 24 in Washington.

A total of 33,629 Americans died fighting in Korea. In their memory, six members of the South Korean Assembly were to place a wreath today at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Korea today is an armed camp, on both sides.

In the north, 77,000 are under arms and there are 598 combat aircraft. Pyongyang spends about $800 million on defense out of an estimated GNP of $3.5 billion. The rhetoric of Premier Kim Il-Sung is escalating and there are reports of increased infiltration tunnels and the massing of armored divisions along the demarcation line.

In the south, President Park Chung-Hee's Republic of Korea is reportedly accelerating its mobilization. It has 625,000 in its armed forces and spends $550 million on defense out of a GNP of $12.6 billion. The ROK is aided by 42,000 U.S. troops, many in the Air Force.

"The ground forces balance in the Korean peninsula is not unsatisfactory," Schlesinger told his news conference Friday.

U.S. intelligence analysts

say the societies are similar, both tightly controlled. The forces in the south are as committed to anticommunism as the northerners are to spreading the people's revolution.

The experts do not feel either China or the Soviet Union will help an invasion from the north. They point to Kim's recent visit to Peking, his belittled stance, then at the communiqué issued at terwards in which the word "peaceful" was pointedly issued before "renunciation."

The United States is tied to South Korea by treaty. If the north invades, Washington is bound to respond by constitutional means — a congressional declaration of war.

It's not like Vietnam, Schlesinger said. "There is no ambiguity about civil wars and winning hearts and minds. It would be a case of outright aggression and as a result of that I think that one should recognize that the reactions in the United States might be considerably different from those that pertained during the Vietnamese way."

Asked whether there was a serious threat to Seoul from the north, Schlesinger replied,

"We don't know the answer, and until we do know the answer to that we should be very careful to remain alert to the possibilities and to keep our powder dry."

"We cannot foreclose any option. We have deployed in Korea the tactical nuclear weapons as I, I believe, well know," Schlesinger said. It was the first time a U.S. official had said that in public.

Schlesinger told Rep. Ron Dellums, D-Calif., earlier this year the U.S. presence in Korea was political. U.S. analysts said one reason was to serve as a "trip wire," so an attack on the south would also be an attack on U.S. troops.

Another is the U.S. troops serve to restrain the Park government from starting its own invasion.

"Both the great powers are restraining their clients," one intelligence analyst said. "Peking is restraining Kim by not helping with troops and we're keeping Park on a leash by not letting him build up his forces."

Much of the tough talk from Washington, the analysts say, is to make sure North Korea knows the United States has the power and the resolve to help the south. "That's why the SecDef (Schlesinger) made the announcement about the nukes," one said.

Tax system role misconstrued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former internal revenue commissioner said Tuesday Congress expects the tax system to cure too many of America's ills.

The result is a super complicated tax system which must be simplified, said Sheldon S. Cohen, IRS commissioner in 1964 and 1965 under President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Cohen was one of five tax experts who testified as a panel before House Ways and Means Committee hearings on a new tax revision bill. To a man, they agreed that taxes are too complicated.

Cohen said that Congress seems to think that "any disease in America has a tax cure."

Discipline is needed both in the Ways and Means Committee and in the rest of Congress, he said.

Cohen said that Congress, in writing tax law, has "a choice between equity and simplicity, and equity always wins."

Kansas party bolt costs legal status in state

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Members of the Conservative party of Kansas have found themselves with no legal status as a party organization due to their disaffiliation from the American party.

An opinion by Attorney General Curt Schneider Monday said the Conservative party, formerly the American party of Kansas, must petition all over again for recognition as a political party.

Party Chairman Raymond Hall said the party was considering disaffiliation from the national group because it had done little to help state organizations get on the ballot.

The action to disaffiliate caused the Kansas group to lose its place on the state ballot.

Although the ballot position fight was the ostensible reason for disaffiliation, it appeared a dispute between Hall's group and a dissident party faction was the actual reason for leaving.

Members of Hall's group two weeks ago voted to disaffiliate with the American party and resume using the name Conservative party, which it carried before 1972. Hall's organization had been in a legal battle a dissident faction, led by David Stallard of Derby, over who could rightfully use the American party name.

The Conservatives apparently wanted to leave the American party because national officials had indicated the Stallard faction probably would be recognized as the true Kansas affiliate. The national American party last weekend ousted the Hall group and seated Stallard and his followers at its convention in Salt Lake City.

However, the attorney general's opinion, written by Assistant Attorney General John Martin, said the party could not change its name back without complications.

"The Conservative party of Kansas is not merely old wine in a new bottle, so to speak, but new wine as well," the opinion said.

The opinion said the disaffiliation with the national body made the Conservatives essentially a new political party. The ruling said the Conservatives must file petitions signed by qualified voters equal to at least 3 per cent of the total vote cast for governor in the last general election.

The opinion said the 1972 name change from Conservative to American was allowed because it was only a name change. However, the latest change, including the disaffiliation with the American party, severs the identity of the Kansas group as well, creating a new party.

Senators assure board's abolition

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Tuesday made double sure that the Federal Metal and Non-Metallic Mine Safety Board of Review, which has never done anything, will be abolished.

By a voice vote, the Senate approved a bill introduced by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., to deauthorize the board and transfer its functions to the Interior Department.

The board, which began operating in 1971, received considerable notoriety after its executive secretary, Jubal Hile, asked Congress to abolish it, along with his $19,693 a year job. The board handles appeals from non-coal mine operators on closure orders by the federal government. No such appeal has ever been made to the board, however.

Major grain firms targets in probe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two of the world's largest grain companies and an American affiliate of a third company have become subjects in a spreading investigation into the grain-export trade of the United States, according to sources close to the inquiry.

The companies are the Bunge Corp. and Cook Industries, Inc., which are among six corporations with worldwide operations that are said to control 80 per cent of the world's grain shipments, and Mississippi River Grain Elevator, Inc.

Mississippi River Grain Elevator is owned by Serafino Feruzzi of Ravenna, Italy. Feruzzi is a major figure in soybean processing abroad and has substantial other United States interests, including banking and vast tracts of land recently purchased in North Carolina.

The investigation, which began early last year with allegations of bribery in ship inspection and subsequent indictments, moved into alleged corruption in the handling, weighing and pricing of grain by agents as well as looking into questions of any possible corporate responsibility and any possible involvement by company officials.

A key question under study is whether grain is being shipped abroad with weights and grades overstated. Such practices could lead to substantially increased profits for a company employing them.

In the case of Bunge, which is based in New York City, investigators, including agents from the Internal Revenue Service and the Agriculture Department's Office of Investigation, have reportedly been auditing the grain operations of the company's New Orleans Division.

Agents are reported to have taken testimony from employees accusing their superiors of involvement in alleged irregularities, and some middle-management employees and former employees have pointed higher into the corporate structures, according to the sources.

The Bunge investigation is reported to be near completion. It could not be learned how advanced the other reported investigations might be.

Key testimony in the current phase of the investigation is reported to have been obtained as a result of the discovery of grain-theft rings operating on a large scale with high profits within the United States in New Orleans grain elevators of each of the three companies.

Many individuals, including a tugboat captain and a barge company employee, as well as a New Orleans local grain company said to be operating as an agent, are alleged to have been implicated in the reportedly thefts.

Compares size

Stronger 'bug' laws requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Manufacturers of wiretap and bugging equipment called today for stronger laws to keep their sophisticated devices out of the hands of private detectives, husbands spying on wives, company espionage agents and police who use them illegally.

The 1968 Omnibus Crime Control Act limits sale of devices "primarily useful" for interceptions that only police can make lawfully, usually with a court warrant required. But industry spokesmen said loopholes in the law are so wide that private citizens, company agents and police bent on illegal investigations can buy them.

In testimony opening a new round of hearings by the National Wiretap Commission on abuse of electronic surveillance, manufacturers' spokesmen called for licensing both makers and users of the equipment. Without it, they said, present ambiguities in regulations could put them in a legal bind.

"As an example, Infinity transmitters were sold as an intercept device and so advertised prior to the enactment of the 1968 act," Jack Holcomb, president of Audio Intelligence Devices, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., testified.

"Now they ag on the open market as an alarm system which permits the user, ostensibly, to telephone his office or home to determine if a burglary is taking place."

Holcomb said. "This is pure farce."

The Wiretap Commission said the device, also called a "harmonic bug" can be secreted in the base of a telephone. The person who planted it then can dial the phone number, activate the device and hear sounds in the room within a radius of 30 feet.

Joseph Jaffe, assistant U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, recalled scandals in which members of a special New York City police intelligence unit used illegal smugglers and informants.

Jaffe said the officers sometimes would make arrests... prosecuting offenders based on illegal (wiretap) information. The papers filed with the court, however, would never indicate the true source of the information, but would be disguised by attributing the information to fictitious "confidential informants."

"In many instances, the officers would not make any arrests... but would merely detain narcotics offenders (and) steal their money... sometimes ranging up to the hundreds of thousands of dollars..." he said.

Jaffe and A. T. Bower of Bell & Howell Communications Co. called for licensing of both surveillance equipment manufacturers and police agencies which seek to buy the equipment.

Warship status queried

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Uganda Radio said today two British warships loaded with troops had arrived at a Kenyan port in preparation for an invasion of Uganda over the scheduled execution of a British lecturer.

A British spokesman denied the charge. He said a frigate and fleet auxiliary vessel arrived in the port of Mombasa earlier this month for normal repairs but neither ship had troops or marines aboard.

Uganda President Idi Amin said Tuesday the execution of Dennis Hills would go ahead as scheduled July 4 unless British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan flew to Kampala for talks.

Callaghan said he would not go to Uganda unless Amin granted clemency to the 35-year-old Hills.

Official Kampala radio quoted a military spokesman as saying "Uganda has now confirmed two British warships full of troops have arrived at Mombasa."

Bank eaters to dogs

AGAWAM, Mass. (UPI) — Tellers are handing out dog biscuits at some branches of the Shawmut First Bank & Trust Co.

As part of a public relations program, tellers give biscuits to each dog passing through the driveup lane with its master. Teller Marge Alney of the Agawam branch said the dogs were enthusiastic. About 20 per cent of cars passing through the driveup lane at the Agawam branch contain dogs, she said.

The biscuits are passed to the car on the first swing of the pull-out tray, Mrs. Alney explained. Some of the "regulars," like Topsy who comes each day with Mrs. Elizabeth Thorpe, jump over their masters to reach the treat themselves, she said.

The program is a spoof from one of giving lollipops to children accompanying their parents.

Ambush reported

By United Press International Israeli soldiers exchanged fire briefly with gunmen near the Lebanese frontier today in what the Israeli military command said was an apparent Arab guerrilla attempt to ambush a border patrol. No casualties were reported.

The Tel Aviv command said gunmen used bazookas and rifles in the attack on Israeli forces patrolling north of the frontier settlement of Zarit. It said the Israelis returned the fire in a "very short" battle.

The Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram, meanwhile, reported that Egypt is preparing a reply to an Israeli "plan" for a second-stage military disengagement on the Sinai peninsula.

Details of the Israeli proposals or the Egyptian reaction.

Lack of good jobs for women makes us work the streets, she said.

Prostitution, she added, is "just a supply and demand industry" and there is little male prostitution "mostly because women have no money to pay for the services."

She said harassment of prostitutes is based on "the refusal of men to allow women equal sexuality."

In other developments, Elizabeth Reid, leader of Australia's delegation to the conference, attacked the U.N. plan of action on women's rights.

"The focus is too much on the uses to which women can be put, rather than on women as individual human beings," she told the Tribune, a feminist forum meeting at the same time as the official conference.

Australia has proposed a number of changes in the U.N. plan, which sets out guidelines on ways to eliminate discrimination against women.

Israel-Arab tie causes walkout at women's meet

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — More than 100 delegates walked out on the fifth day of Israel's prime minister Tuesday night when she called for the International Women's Year conference to help bring Arab and Israeli women together.

"I have even been willing to sit and listen is missing the point of our being here," Mrs. Leah Rabin said as the female delegates... mostly Arab, African and Asian — filed out of the hall at the Mexican Foreign Ministry building.

It was the biggest political demonstration so far at the two-week congress, attended by more than 2,000 delegates from about 130 countries.

"Do what you can to bring us together — us, the women of Israel, and our sisters of Arab nations that surround us," the wife of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin told the half-empty hall.

She called on the remaining delegates to "help us to begin to transform our individual motivations into a dialogue of mutual understanding and reconciliation."

Earlier, Margo St. James, head of a San Francisco-based prostitutes' organization, arrived to press for the decriminalization of prostitution in the United States.

Alarms sound on gas fallout

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) — A cloud of radioactive gases from a nuclear power plant about 10 miles away fell on Groton Tuesday, setting off alarms which warn shipyard workers of increased levels of radioactivity near nuclear submarines.

William H. Council, superintendent of the Millstone Unit 1 nuclear power plant in Waterford, described the gases, including krypton, xenon, iodine and cesium, as "standard."

The radioactivity level was about 18 times as high as new federal standards permit, but the new standards are not yet in force at Millstone Unit 1.

Council said the plant was discharging radioactive gas at 18 per cent of the levels permitted by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. Newer standards allow only about 1 per cent radioactivity.

The alarms went off at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics. Set at low levels, the alarms are designed to catch plant operators before they reach dangerous levels.

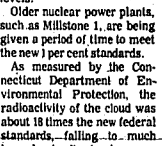

Older nuclear power plants, such as Millstone 1, are being given a period of time to meet the new 1 per cent standards.

As measured by the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, the radioactivity of the cloud was about 18 times the new federal standards, falling to much lower levels after two hours.

Some of the gases in the cloud break down in a matter of hours, but one, cesium, keeps its strength for about 28 years.

The gases from Millstone's 375-foot stack usually disperse over a broad area but were sent to the Groton area by a thick layer of air and southwesterly winds toward the Fort Griswold area at 17 miles per hour.

Leaves Army

HOWARD (Bo) Callaway, making his last speech as U.S. Army secretary, says Tuesday.

"The quality of today's army is substantially higher, in any way you look at it, than before we went to the volunteer army," Callaway has been named campaign manager for President Ford's 1976 bid for nomination. (UPI)

Mother's visit 'permanent'

ROME (UPI) — Mrs. Giovanna Caratelli, 49, went to visit her two sons in prison on narcotics charges by the Vatican. Guards said they caught the mother trying to pass a package of cigarettes containing hashish to her sons, Marco and Alessandro, through a grill at Queen of Heaven Prison. She was sent to Rome's other prison, Rebibbia.

Launch crew sets dress rehearsal

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The launch crew of the Apollo spacecraft which will be hurled to a space rendezvous with a Soviet space ship July 15 began an eight-day dress rehearsal today.

The clock was started at 7 a.m. (EDT) for the Count Down Demonstration Test which will climax with a pair of mock launchings July 2 and 3, the second of which will see the three Apollo astronauts suit up and climb into their spacecraft.

During the eight days, the Saturn rocket will be fueled and go through a mock liftoff at 3:50 p.m. July 2, the same time it is scheduled for actual launching July 15, and a second mock liftoff at 2 p.m. July 3 with astronauts Brig. Gen. Thomas Stafford, Donald K. "Deke" Slayton and Vance Brand in the Apollo spacecraft.

The Saturn-Apollo vehicle has been on the launching pad near the ocean at the Kennedy Space Center since March 24, when it was moved from the vehicle assembly building by a giant crawler tractor.

Fuel will be removed from the Saturn rocket between the first and second of the mock liftoffs and there will be no fuel aboard when the astronauts enter the spacecraft for their part in the rehearsal.

The bid also solved all South's problems for four notrump. When North showed the two missing aces, South counted to at least 13 top tricks. He bid the slam in notrump because no one could trump any opening lead. The decision turned out to be a very wise one—Beate's five hearts could have trumped the grand slam. ## Couple exchanges promises

TWIN FALLS — Debra Nadine Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dew Rathbun and Randy D. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hudson, all Twin Falls, were united in marriage June 14 at Valley Christian Church.

Dr. Carlton Buck, minister of church, performed the wedding ceremony before a candle arch decorated with white daisies and blue baby's breath and blue satin bows. Two cathedral baskets of white delicate daisies and white gladioli and blue baby's breath completed the scene.

The peeps were also marked with blue satin bows. Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a white organza over taffeta gown. Dainty white venise lace trimmed the high collar. The empire bodice was touched with seed pearls and had a full A-line skirt and long-sleeve sleeves.

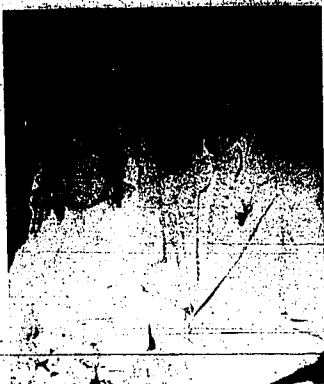

The flowing chapel train was scattered with venise lace petals. The veil was in nylon illusion in a camelot style with venise lace trim. She carried a nosegay of white roses, white daisies and blue baby's breath.

Mrs. Barbara Prestidge, Pocatiello, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Janice Moore, Twin Falls, was bridesmaid.

Larry Hudson, Omaha, Neb., brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Todd Claiborn, Kimberly, was usher.

Brent Edwards, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Kelly Davis was flower girl. Mrs. Joan Carr, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Carol Barsness.

The bride's color of blue was carried out in refreshments and decor of the fellowship hall at the church. The bride's table was covered with white organza over blue satin and draped with blue daisies and ribbons.

MR. AND MRS. RANDY HUDSON

A three-tier wedding cake, topped with kissing white cherubs and double wedding rings, rested on Grecian columns trimmed with blue daisies above a cascading blue fountain. Heart shaped companion cakes bearing the bride couple's names adorned either side and was connected with blue ribbon.

The bride's table also displayed the punch fountain. Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with white organza over blue and centered with brandy snifters with floating daisies on blue water.

Coffee and punch were poured by Mrs. Cecil Toner. Mrs. Austin Woodworth, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Kent Edwards, sister-in-law of the bride, cut and served the cake. Also assisting from the Christian Women's Fellowship Group were Mrs. Otis Bland, Mrs. Ruth Gates, Mrs. Harlan Baker and Mrs. William Spain. Others assisting were Carol Health and Jackie Robbins at the gift table. Guests attended from

Cosmonauts plan luncheon

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet cosmonauts will offer traditional national fare, including sour cabbage soup, when they treat their American counterparts to lunch aboard a Soyuz spacecraft next month.

A Soviet Soyuz and an American Apollo are scheduled to rendezvous in earth orbit, link up and fly in tandem for two days. The crews will visit both ships. The first luncheon aboard Soyuz will take place immediately after the docking July 17. The news agency Tass said the Americans and Russians will choose from a menu that includes sour cabbage soup, Georgian chicken soup, felled tongue, dried fish, rye bread and honey cakes. For desert there will be prunes with nuts, cottage cheese cream and black currant jam with tea.

When the Americans play host, they will offer potato or fish soup with mushrooms, beef steak, grapefruit juice, strawberries, pears and apricots.

All food is packed in tubes, cans and packets with instructions in both Russian and English.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe that I am actually writing a Dear Abby letter, but I need to know how to solve a thorny problem.

I have an acquaintance of many years who teaches high school. He is male and unattached, and he spends his summers traveling around the country (and, indeed, the world), frodoading on his friends.

He writes to say he'll be in the neighborhood, and asks whether he may "visit" for a few days. Then he moves in and stays a week or longer if he can get away with it. He's wined and dined, and he never, never reciprocates. In fact, when he is out for dinner, he always finds an excuse to get somebody else to pick up the check, and I've often heard him brag that he's picked it up.

He is on his way here, then he's visiting a mutual friend and after that, another mutual friend. They don't know his game, but I do. Should I wise up them? And how would you suggest I treat this man?

JUST WONDERING

Thorny problem

DEAR JUST: Don't wise up anyone. And treat him like you'd treat any other free loader. No one can take advantage of you without your cooperation.

DEAR ABBY: A girl signed "Grapenuts" wrote: "My mother said that for her 40th birthday she wants to have plastic surgery to have her 'grapes' enlarged to about grapefruit size, but Dad says he likes her 'dried raisins' the way they are."

Well, please inform "Grapenuts" to tell her mother that I have a couple of honeydews I'd gladly trade for her grapes. It's no joke toney around all this excess produce. All it attracts is fruit flies!

"FUTURE WATERMELONS"

DEAR FUTURE: My mail tells me that too much of a good thing can be every bit as agonizing as too little. The trade you offer isn't possible, but a competent plastic surgeon could whittle down your watermelons to cantaloupe-size.

DEAR ABBY: The "Saint" from St. Louis who declined to meet the topless dancer reminded me of an incident in my own life.

My late husband, a police detective, called one day to inform me that he was bringing a couple home for dinner. I found them to be charming, intelligent and good company.

After they left, my husband told me that she was a "madame" and he was a pimp! Some time later they were married. She quit her profession and so did he. Subsequently, we became very good friends.

When my husband's illness was diagnosed as terminal, the former pimp was the only friend who offered to finance a trip to the Mayo Clinic in the hope that it could save him.

I suggest that Mrs. "Saint" overcome her bias. She may find a fine friend in the topless dancer. Who are we to judge?

POLICEMAN'S WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Amen.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box N. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Ely Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (2¢) envelope.

Eddythe Koon, Twin Falls city clerk, is president of the local Scriptorium Club.

'Un-encountered' real curious

© New York Times Service

BABYLON, N. Y. — No wonder they call Long Island a "Hotbed of Marriage Encounter."

Middle-aged couples are holding hands in the shopping malls. Husbands are scribbling love letters on the 7-42 to Penn Station. Wives are phoning husbands at work to say, "I Love you, honey."

Naturally, all this mystifies everybody except the 15,000 Nassau and Suffolk County couples who belong to the Roman Catholic Marriage Encounter Movement or one of its two offshoots — the Jewish Marriage Experience and the Episcopal Expression of Marriage Encounter.

And the mystery only deepens each year at this time when happily-marrieds from around the country converge on the New York metropolitan area for huge, loving conventions.

This weekend, for example, the Worldwide Marriage Encounter holds its annual convention at St. John's University in Queens. Jewish Marriage Experience convenes at Syosset High School.

So the "Un-Encountered," as they say, are growing more and more curious. What, they wonder, is behind all those red and yellow encounter stickers flashing by on the Long Island Expressway, clinging to everything from Cadillac to Hondas.

When told, some are skeptical: After all, how can perfectly nice, normal people really claim that in one weekend they learned a communications skill called "dialoging" and that daily dialoging plus love letter writing has enriched their marriages?

Others are downright suspicious about what is termed the Weekend. Do the Encountered Ones blurt out their feelings, take off their clothes, practice hanky panky?

Larry Trapp, a 41-year-old purchasing manager for a heavy construction company who wears his gold encounter pin even when mowing the lawn, only smiles at such fantasies.

His wife Pat, 36, same pin, same smile, adds that "a lot of people get crazy pictures in their heads — they think it's that kind of weekend."

It was, however, quite another kind of weekend that drew the Trapps and 17 other couples, mostly Catholics like themselves, to a local motel last September. They recall returning to their North Babylon ranch house, to their children Janine, 13, and John 7, with a new feeling about their marriage of 16 years.

Twin Falls THE BON MARCHE

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Doctor:
My doctor has told me I have non-tropical sprue. I have never read anything about this, and I would appreciate any information you can give me.

What will happen if I cheat once in a while? How much damage can be done? — Mrs. G.M.S.

This is also called "celiac disease." It is an inherited disorder which stems from an intolerance of gluten, a protein found in all cereals except corn and rice. The intolerance leads to changes in the absorbing membrane of the small intestine, which in turn results in an inadequate absorption of food. In fact, it is sometimes referred to as a malabsorption disorder.

Because of the faulty absorption, there can be diarrhea and distension of the abdomen, and stools may become loose and strong-smelling. They are also found to be high in fat particles. Other symptoms are weakness, muscle-wasting and anemia — all related to the fact that the body is not absorbing sufficient protein. A definite diagnosis can be made through a biopsy of the small intestine membrane.

DIANNE PARROTT plans rites August wedding planned

CASTLEFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Don Parrott, Twin Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dianne, Castleford, to Ted Clark.

Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Clark, Castleford. Miss Parrott is a graduate of Twin Falls High School, and attended the College of Southern Idaho. She is a 1974 graduate of Boise State University and is a teacher at Castleford High School. Clark is a graduate of Castleford High School and attended the College of Idaho and the University of Idaho. He is engaged in farming at Castleford.

The couple plans an Aug. 9 wedding at the Castleford United Methodist Church.

Classes scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Yoga classes sponsored by the First Church of Religious Science will begin today at 7 p.m. at the YM-YWCA and continue for 10 weeks.

Mrs. Ruth Perkins, a student of yoga and CSI yoga instructor, will teach the class. People who have completed a beginning or intermediate class can use the class as a refresher course or receive advance exercises. Mrs. Perkins said.

Participants may pay for each class attended or for the entire series. Additional information is available from Mrs. Perkins, Bush, 543-4943 or Rev. Doreen Williams, Twin Falls, 743-6348.

Diet important

The onset is usually slow. However, positive response to a gluten-free diet is usually quite prompt, often within two weeks for patients who were aware to it, which brings us back to your question about cheating.

Foods containing wheat, oats, rye and barley must be avoided. The diet is apt to become monotonous, but it must be followed closely for maximum results. A dietitian should explain the diet explicitly to you to allow you to enjoy as much variety as possible. If you have not done so, ask your doctor to provide a list of allowed foods.

Cheating can be deceptively easy. You may escape repercussions and symptoms after one or even two cheating episodes, but more often this would cause a relapse.

The prospects for a return to health are excellent if you can learn to live with your diet. In addition, iron and vitamin supplements are usually needed to correct these deficiencies brought about by the malabsorption.

Cheating on a diet is sort of like cheating when balancing your checking account. Sooner or later an accounting will be forced on you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

An eye doctor has informed my wife that she has a cataract and that she must have surgery. He told her that he might use the new ultrasonic vibration procedure for removing the cataract. What do you think of this procedure? — T.P.A.

This is an effective method for cataract removal. The method is rather new.

Generally, surgeons use the procedure they feel most comfortable and familiar with and seems most suitable to each individual case. This explains the variety of methods currently being used for such procedures as cataract removal.

I would advise you to follow your surgeon's advice.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

My right testicle is twice as big as my left. I suffer no pain or any other discomfort. I am 71 years old — is this marked difference in size any cause for worry? — R.P.H.

The swelling may not be of the testicle proper, but an accumulation of fluid within the scrotal sac. In that case it would be called a "hydrocele," which is less serious than a tumor of the testicle. But a testicular tumor can produce a firm, painless swelling. Any testicle swelling should be investigated.

Minidoka names school director

RUPERT — Floyd Webb Merrill, 51, former Paul resident, was named as the new school district curriculum director for the Minidoka County schools Monday.
Merrill, one of several candidates for the post, has served as director of Owyhee School Service Agency, Parma, for the past six years.

Salmon River trail ride set

SALMON — The seventh annual Salmon River Trail Ride is scheduled here Saturday with 5 signed for the 40-mile event.
"The ride" will begin at 8 a.m. from the Lemhi County Fairgrounds.
Trophies will be presented Sunday morning.
Participants have signed in from Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana and Alberta, Canada.

Sierra Club begins cleanup

BOISE (UPI) — Twenty members of the Sierra Club begin a 12-day voyage down the Snake River Sunday to clean up Hells Canyon of items having no historical merit.
"Part of a joint venture of the Sierra Club and the Wallawa-Whitman National Forest, the effort is directed at removing garbage dumps, collecting scattered litter, dismantling unused feed lots and fences and demolishing one or two small buildings."

Buhl misses blood quota

BUHL — Buhl blood donors just missed their 100-pint quota in Tuesday's semi-annual drawing at the Moose Hall.
Mrs. Robert Letch, chairman, said there were exactly 100 donors, but three were unable to give.
However, Buhl donors filled a request from the regional blood center in Boise for 6 to 8 pints of O negative blood. Seven pints of this type were received.
"The next blood drawing in Buhl will be in December."

TF band concert set Thursday

TWIN FALLS — "Fiddler on the Roof" selections will be featured by the Twin-Falls Municipal Band in its concert Thursday.
Director Del Slaughter said the concert will be presented at 8:15 p.m. at the City Park bandshell.
Numbers on the program include "Proud Heritage" concert march by Latham; "Wedding of the Winds" waltz, by Hall; "London Symphony," first movement, by Haydn; "Tango for Band," Oser; "Santa Cecilia March," Radaelli; "Overture for Winds," Carter; "Misty," Garner; "New Sounds of the Carillon," arranged by Lowden; "Fiddler on the Roof" selections, Beck; and "Emblem of Uplift March," by Richards.
"The Star Spangled Banner" will conclude the program.

Project review set

BOISE (UPI) — Two Minidoka area projects are scheduled for review by the State 1122 Review Council in a public meeting Monday.
The projects are addition of 45 intermediate care beds for Minidoka Memorial Hospital at an estimated cost of $759,514, and addition of 52 intermediate care beds for the Burley Care Center at an estimated cost of $312,000.

Hagerman queen contest planned

HAGERMAN — The queen contest for Hagerman Pioneer Days July 24 was announced today by Barbara Hall, Bliss, chairman.
She said girls between the ages of 18 and 24 who never have been married are eligible and the contest will follow the Miss Rodeo Idaho rules. The girl selected as queen will be expected to participate in the state contest held in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair at Filer.
Deadline for queen contestants to enter the Hagerman contest is July 15. Mrs. Hall said. Girls may write her at 332-4219.
Linda Wood, Hagerman, rodeo secretary, said entries for the rodeo will be taken July 10 and 11 from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. at her home. Her phone number is 637-4823.

Narcotics bureau director to retire

BOISE (UPI) — Wilbert Penberthy retires as director of the State Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Enforcement next Tuesday and will be succeeded by Bud Mason.
Penberthy, a 25-year veteran of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, came to Idaho a year ago to reorganize the drug enforcement program. He said he feels his mission has been accomplished.
Mason has been chief criminal investigator and polygraphist for the State Department of Law Enforcement for the past three years.

Equipment here—but can't be used

BOISE (UPI) — The State of Idaho has between $1,500 and $2,000 worth of sniping equipment but, under orders of the law enforcement director, employees are not permitted to use it.
Monday, the Federal Wiretap Commission in Washington, D. C., reported that manufacturers had been selling such equipment to states such as Idaho where possession is illegal — even for police.
Jack Moore, deputy director of the State Department of Law Enforcement, said Director John Bender issued an order prohibiting use of the devices. Richard Cade, liquor law director, said the equipment was purchased before he joined the agency in 1968.

Jerome sets blood drawing

JEROME — A blood drawing will be held in Jerome Tuesday at the Moose Hall from 1 to 5 p.m.
The drawing is one of three a year, with the quota set this time at 125 pints.
All new donors are encouraged to participate.

Gooding planners set meet

GOODING — Dr. Wayne Carter, director of the South Central Idaho Health District, will explain new legislation about water and sewage installations at the Gooding County Planning Commission meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday.
The group will meet in the Gooding county courtroom.
Chairman Wayne Matthews said Steve Swenson will present a preliminary plan of the John Wilkins subdivision and portions of the zoning ordinance will be delegated to commission members to work on.

Accident claims Boise man

BOISE (UPI) — Raymond Dewey Priderome, 21, Boise, died Tuesday night in a car-motorcycle accident at Main and Thirtieth and the driver of the car was charged with involuntary manslaughter.
The accident occurred when Robert Dale Kelchier, 19, Boise, driver of the car, changed lanes on Main Street and sideswiped Priderome's motorcycle. The motorcycle and rider slid 50 feet after the collision.

Wind damage

GUSTY WINDS caused extensive damage throughout Magic Valley Tuesday, bringing power outages and other mishaps. On the Leroy Rehwall farm south of Eden two large cottonwood trees, above, were blown down, one of them striking the farmhouse. In Twin Falls, a tree, right, fell across the back of a pickup truck owned by Truman Biel, partially crushing the camper shell. A new storm from the North Pacific is on the way, according to the U. S. Weather Service, bringing more bad weather to the Magic Valley.

Plans to improve Filer's water system presented

By ROSS TORGERSON
Times-News writer
FILER — J-U-B Engineers Inc. of Twin Falls presented plans to improve the Filer's present water system is a public meeting here.
"We're sold on the overall project," said Jack Pierce, Filer councilman and water commissioner.
"We are trying to bring this problem to the public for a consensus of opinion. They all know what the problem is when they turn on the tap," Pierce said.
During the peak demand hours the city's water pressure is insufficient. "South of Adell is the main problem area, but the city is always short," says Pierce.
It is anticipated there will be a revenue bond election the latter part of July or early August.
"There are three things we must realize — one, we are short of water, two, we will have to pay for it, and three, the longer we wait, the more we will have to pay for it," says Pierce.
Filer citizens now pay $5.50 a month for their water and the proposed system and improvements would increase that monthly rate by $5.25, totaling $10.75.

The immediate improvements are estimated to cost $278,000 with future improvements set at an additional $190,000.
Questions were raised about the well drilled in the past that didn't produce water or produced unusable undrinkable water. "If we drill another well, we will have a complete water study done for the Filer area," said Hugh Hedges of J-U-B.
The engineering study calls for 400,000 gallons of extra water storage, two booster pumping facilities to increase water pressure by 25 pounds per inch, development of a new well on the west side of town, and replacement of several waterlines to improve the distribution system.
The project will be financed by a proposed 5 per cent bond issued for 30 years.
"When someone turns on the hose, the need for water flow is there," Hedges said.

Excavation not violation

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer
KETCHUM — A Ketchum man's backhoe excavation along Warm Springs Creek is apparently not in violation of the Idaho Department of Water Resources rules.
Jack Simpson, Ketchum, said today he used a backhoe only to remove a gravel bar which was preventing water from running from Warm Springs Creek into a pond in the middle of his father's golf course.
Idaho engineer for the Twin Falls office of the Idaho Department of Water Resources, Bob Haynes, said today if the excavation was in the location he thought, Simpson was exempt from obtaining a permit.
Simpson said he was not in the river with the machine and that he was exercising his legal authority to work on a valid water right. Simpson said the high water runoff had moved a gravel bar into the mouth of the channel which fills the pond.

He said he was certainly not going to take a backhoe into Warm Springs Creek, because it would become mired.
Haynes said Simpson had talked to the state a year ago about working on the diversion. Work on a diversion for a valid water right does not fall under the permit requirements for stream channel alteration, Haynes said.
If Simpson is working on the diversion, "he is exempt from the permit," Haynes said. The department will investigate the excavation, however, he said.
Charles Corwin, newly appointed Ketchum City administrator, said today he was concerned over the alleged channel work being done and said that he would start an investigation.
The city of Ketchum has applied for a permit to riprap Warm Springs Creek, Corwin said. He said erosion along Warm Springs Creek above the pond diversion had barred a telephone cable. Another few feet of erosion, Corwin said, and a sewer line would be exposed.

Gooding eyes parade plans

GOODING — The Gooding Elks Lodge will be in charge of the parade on the opening day of the Gooding County Fair Aug. 4.
Gordon (Whitney) Price, representing the lodge, met with the fair board Monday night to discuss plans for the event. The annual county fair is scheduled for Aug. 4-6.
Jess Burns, president of the Gooding Chamber of Commerce, also met with the board to discuss merchant involvement.
He said the chamber is encouraging all residents to wear Western garb to promote interest in the fair, but that definite plans for holding a watermelon feed as they did last year will be decided at the chamber board meeting next month.
Swanee Kirby, Salt Lake City, will again produce the rodeo which will be given each of the three nights of the fair.

TF aids OK signal funding

TWIN FALLS — In a special Twin Falls City Council meeting Tuesday, approval was given for a funding agreement to cover a number of new traffic signal lights in Twin Falls.
Jean Millar, city manager, said the agreement with the Idaho Department of Highways covers the installation of signal lights at Addison Avenue East and Eastland, Addison Avenue and Locust and updating of the signals at Shoshone Street and both Fourth and Sixth Avenues East.
He said this is a federal aid program and requires a specific agreement through the state

Strong winds hit MV

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley residents suffered through the second day of poor weather Tuesday as Monday's electrical storms were followed by scattered showers and high winds.
Winds were particularly disruptive to electrical service, as falling trees and branches caused minor outages throughout the Valley.
According to Joe Marshall, operating supervisor for the southern district service department of Idaho Power Co., eight of the company's eleven crews in seven west-busy-utility late Tuesday night answering emergency calls.
Trees, branches and wind pushing lines together caused outages in Twin Falls, Ketchum, Kimberly, Eden, Hagerman, Filer, Hurtaugh, Gooding and Burley, Marshall said. He said the only area not much affected by winds was around Oakley.

On Wyoming Street in Gooding large trees fell through power lines, necessitating major repairs in the 400 block, Marshall said. In Twin Falls traffic was diverted at Addison Avenue and Third Avenue while emergency power repair crews worked on damaged lines.
West of Paul wind blew down a wall and took off the roof of the Kerr Grain Building on Highway 24. Lightning was blamed for a fast-spreading fire on Bureau of Land Management land about 12 miles west of Kimama. Several power outages were also reported in Minidoka County.

The Twin Falls weather station recorded a high hourly average wind of 29 m.p.h. Tuesday, but National Weather Service bureau operator Maurice Faubion estimated gusts at 50 m.p.h. or higher. Burley airport reported a Tuesday high of about 64 m.p.h.
The storm, Faubion added, is being followed by a second storm system out of the North Pacific and the outlook is for continued rainy weather, although the second system, which will probably last through the weekend, is not expected to be as severe as Monday and Tuesday's storm, Faubion said.

The strongest winds were reported in late afternoon. A portion of Interstate 80 was closed to trailer house traffic in Jerome County after winds blew over a 64-foot trailer house being transported by Jack T. Brown of Milltown, Mont., about 5 p.m.

Brown told police he was eastbound on the interstate by the Ridgeway interchange near Hasselt when he saw wind coming across a dustblow field and stopped his truck and trailer. Nonetheless, the wind turned the trailer house on its top, causing an estimated $4,500 damage.
Also hard hit by the storm was the Leroy Rehwall farm south of Eden.
Mrs. Rehwall said two large cottonwood trees blew over in the lawn of the farm, one of them causing extensive damage to the farmhouse.

Parents ask speed check

GOODING — Gooding City councilmen Tuesday night heard complaints from residents of the dangers to small children from young drivers speeding on three residential streets.
About half a dozen people living on Utah, Colorado and Nevada streets told the council the youths were using the streets for drag racing and they fear some of their children will be killed or injured.
Councilmen assured them the police will try to assist with the problem, but it was pointed out the youths "always seemed to know when the police were coming," and it is a difficult problem to control.

The council also decided to remove trees on city property between Main and Idaho streets on the sides of the Little Wood River. The trees pose some danger to residences along the streets. It was pointed out, and several were uprooted during Monday's storm.
One large tree hit a fence, falling between a house and garage and tore out some of the lava rock retaining wall along the river. Some of the trees on property owned by Henry Baber, 546 Idaho St., can be removed if the owner wants to participate in the cost, but he is presently out of town.

Albion named in Teeples' $450,000 counterclaim

By DAVE BOCKMANN
Times-News writer
BURLEY — The occupants of the former Albion State Normal School filed a $450,000 counterclaim lawsuit against the city of Albion Tuesday.
The claim was filed in Fifth District Court by husbands and wives Lynn and Geraldine Teeples and Douglas and Donna Teeples.
Since 1971, the Teeples have occupied the Albion campus under a 99-year lease held by the Oregon Trail Festival of the Arts. In December, 1973, the city-owner of the 12-year-old school — filed suit in an attempt to break the lease.
Attorney for the city, Herman Bedke, said today he has not had a chance to review the counterclaim. The city will submit a reply to the court in 10 days, he said.

According to Bedke, the city wants to terminate the lease because the old buildings on the campus are deteriorating. The Teeples have failed to keep insurance on the campus, utility bills have not been paid and there is no educational program as required by the lease.
However, attorney for the Teeples, Donald Chisholm, Rupert, says the city officials have been harassing the Teeples and have frustrated attempts to maintain an educational program on the campus.
The counterclaim also states the city filed a complaint without having lawful grounds to do so, representing to participants or potential participants in the educational programs that the Teeples were about to be removed from the campus and attempted to sell the campus to a third party.
According to the counterclaim the Teeples have expended the excess of $150,000 in labor and material on the old campus. City officials understand restoration of the campus and development of a cultural and educational program would be slow and expensive but the acts of the city have caused a delay in the project, the suit states.
Friday, Idaho Atty. Gen. Wayne Kidwell said his office would review "the dispute between Albion City and the Teeples. Former Cass County Trustee, Atty. Gordon Williams, a member of Kidwell's staff, has been assigned to investigate the case."

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened higher Wednesday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.15 point to 869.26 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 154 to 135, among the 437 issues comprising the tape.

Many analysts believe the market has begun what is considered a traditional summer rally. A number of analysts think the sooner it starts, the longer it lasts.

The effects of the federal tax rebate were revealed late Tuesday and joined Wednesday. The Treasury reported those rebates, designed to stimulate the economy, played a large role in the nation's record $15.39 billion budget deficit in May.

Deferred meat options produce sharp advances

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. CHICAGO — Deferred months were stronger in cattle and hog futures Tuesday.

In other commodities, wheat advanced, the soybean complex edged up and corn bellies gained in new crop months.

Idaho russet potato futures took a sharp jump, the May 1976 delivery closing 25 cents higher at 9.45 per hundredweight.

Commodity-News Service said concern that stores will begin passing higher wholesale costs on to consumers exerted pressure on August, which lost 57 cents. February led advances with an 82-cent gain. That spread produced support for the fall and winter months in trading which saw over 10,000 contracts exchanged.

There was a firm undertone with grains steady and cash beef markets holding up well. Cuts in pork production causing high prices combined with high broker prices leaves the entire meat sector high priced now. Feeder prices were higher in light trading.

The fed grain market spread substantially in active trading as a result of the pig crop report. Stronger cash markets helped nearby contracts.

Early in the day, October through April 1976 hit limit up. Final prices showed limit and near limit gains in deferred declining hog slaughter levels, and bullish overtones of the pig crop report were positive factors.

Wheat futures overcame effects of a bulm of hedge selling, gathering momentum which carried through the close and enabling gains of 4 1/2 to 9 1/2 cents to be sustained.

Cubs shatter Montreal 13-6

MONTREAL (UPI) — Tim Lincecum drove in three runs and pitcher Bill Bonham helped his own cause with a two-run triple Tuesday as the Chicago Cubs spoiled Montreal's celebration-of-Quebec's national holiday—St. John Baptist Day—by beating the Expos 13-6 with a 15-pitch assault.

Lincecum singled home a run in the third inning as the Cubs batted around and scored six runs to break up a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning. Hoyle's bases loaded single accounted for two more runs.

Indians rap Sox from lead

BOSTON (UPI) — George Hendrick's second homer of the game, a three-run shot with two out in the ninth, capped a four-run rally Tuesday night that lifted the Cleveland Indians to an 8-6 victory over Boston and dropped the Red Sox out of first place in the American League East.

The loss, coupled with New York's 3-1 triumph over Baltimore, dropped the Red Sox one-half game behind the Yankees in the AL East.

The Red Sox had snuffed a 4-1 tie in the last of the eighth on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer.

Orta bats Sox past Rangers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jorge Orta drove in four runs with a two-run homer, a single and a sacrifice fly Tuesday night to pace the Chicago White Sox to a 7-5 triumph over the Texas Rangers.

Claude Osteen, with ninth inning relief help from Rich Gossage, finally won his second game of the season—in eight decisions—after a dozen attempts.

JEROME - Despite the fact the City Council has already passed a controversial ordinance, approval of changes in the ordinance by the city zoning commission was requested Monday night.

As its final official act before being dissolved, the city zoning commission accepted the deletions made in the ordinance by the county commissioners and recommended that two separate areas be retained as townhouse districts.

Commissioner member Dave Hite said, before the vote to accept the changes, that it appeared to him the commission had an alternative - but to accept the changes made by the council.

A density requirement in the townhouse ordinance was changed at the June 3 council meeting, after protests by Lew Rowland, Jerome developer, that the density requirement would make it unfeasible for him to build a proposed 36-unit townhouse complex on south Fillmore.

The city zoning commission had set requirements of a minimum of 4,000 square feet per family in any townhouse development plus the requirement that 50 per cent of the project had to consist of open space. It was the contention of the council that the two requirements were in conflict.

Councilman Marshall Everheart tried to postpone voting on the ordinance until after the zoning commission had reviewed the changes. Because of the major changes in the bill, he said he wanted the commission to reconsider rezoning the two parcels of land owned by Lew Rowland and Neal Brutsche.

In the event the commission wanted to withdraw recommended approval of the two parcels because of the changes in the ordinance.

The third reading of the two ordinances changing the parcels to townhouse districts will be given at the next City Council meeting. However, Everheart said the city attorney is looking into the objection raised at the last council meeting where he said that as far as he was concerned, rezoning the land was spot zoning. Everheart said he didn't think under the new state law requiring comprehensive plans for the city the spot zoning could be done.

"We have hired a comprehensive planner and have set up a commission to prepare a comprehensive plan of the city and I wonder if we (the council) should take action on the rezoning of these two parcels of land before the Comprehensive Plan is completed."

Recall election tougher

By BILL LAZARUS
 Times-News writer

BOISE - Idahoans soon will find it far more difficult to recall elected officials.

Under a new election law passed by the legislature this spring, office holders can only be ousted by a vote equal in size to the vote they received in the general election.

The new law takes effect July 1. Currently, only a simple majority vote is necessary to recall an elected official.

Since traditionally vote totals are higher in a general election than in special elections, the new law will make it harder for citizens to recall an unpopular official.

"The practical impact is simply that it will be much more difficult to effectuate a successful recall," Jerry N. Hill, chief deputy secretary of state, said today.

In cases where an elected official ran alone for an office in the general election, Hill added, recall would be "extremely difficult" to accomplish.

Had the new law been in effect immediately upon passage by the legislature, Gooding's former mayor Leo Rice would still be in office.

Rice was recalled this May when 510 people voted against his retention of office and 434 people voted to keep him mayor. In the general election Rice pulled 572 votes against his opponent's 398.

According to Hill, the new law has one other major provision which will make successful recalls harder to achieve.

Now, 10 per cent of the registered voters must sign a recall petition in a 90-day period to set up a recall election. Starting July 1 the petition period will be shortened to 60 days.

L.M. Boyd

Seem to recall that the ants in the Pacific Northwest where I grew up tended to travel in straight lines. But the ants down in sunny Texas more frequently appear to scatter when they move. Suddenly comes an explanation: A bug expert who ought to know insists that ants queue up when rain is expected, but wander all over the place when fair weather is in the offing.

JUST ABOUT ANY Louisiana will tell you that a crawfish has its teeth in its stomach and its liver in its head, poor beastie.

EXPLAIN, if you will, why we say "It's a nice cup of tea" but "a good cup of coffee."

LOVE AND WAR

Q. "Ask your Love and War man to define what he means by an epoxy marriage?" That's the chemical reaction that occurs when two substances get stronger after they're joined together than either were by themselves. Lot of new glue works like that. Our L. and W. man says the epoxy marriage is just about the best kind.

SOON ON THE MARKET will be motion picture records and little turntables that will let you play them on your TV screen. Figure less than $500 for the turntable. Maybe $10 or $15 for the movie length records.

FIVE BANKS a year on the average are shut down because of embezzlements.

PIPELINE CAMP

Chandler Camp is one of the 19 work camps strung out across Alaska to build that great oil pipeline. On March 31 this year, the movie projectionist there advertised the next evening's picture show was to be that X-rated sensation entitled "Deep Throat." And don't you know that brought the workmen in from half a hundred miles? But if they stayed, what they saw on April Fool's Day was Walt Disney's "Bambi."

DO YOU WANT a white rhinoceros? Understand you can get one cheap. South Africa is long on them this year.

THE PEOPLE supported by tax dollars now outnumber the taxed people who support them. Or so report some of the "Fort Motor Company" economists: They count only 71,650,000 wage earners in that tallying institution known as private enterprise. But they tally up 80,655,000 government workers, military citizens, disabled, unemployed, retired and welfare recipients.
