FBI hunts killers of 2 agents

OGALA, S.D. (UPI) — Four carloads of rifle-carrying FBI agents in battle dress spread out through the hills of the Pine Ridge Sioux Indian reservation today, searching for the killers of two agents slain in a gun battle while trying to serve an arrest warrant.

The FBI today denied earlier reports that described the shooting of the agents as an ambush. The office of Gov. Richard Kneip said the agents were dragged from their cars and shot up to 15 to 20 times with automatic weapons. But an FBI source said that they were not lured from their car, and were shot outside of it.

The FBI regional director Joseph Trimback said the dead agents were Jack R. Coler, 27, and Ronald A. Williams, 27, both of Los Angeles. They were shot after they got out of their car. One managed to radio for help, and another agent was shot at and asked additional help.

The dead Indian was identified by an American Indian Movement spokesman in Rapid City as Little Joe Killright, an Ojaila Sioux. A woman who said she was the dead man's sister identified him as Joe Roberts, Seattle, Wash., but there was no official confirmation of either identity.

Nixon volunteers 'Gate testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has voluntarily testified for 10 hours before Watergate prosecutors and two grand jurors. It was revealed today.

The sworn testimony Monday and Tuesday was the first given by Nixon in the scandal which drove him from the nation's highest office last August.

After undergoing a medical examination, Nixon was questioned at the U.S. Coast Guard Station adjoining his San Clemente estate, his lawyer Herbert J. Miller said.

Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. said the transcript of the interview remained sealed as part of the grand jury investigation.

Miller said the former president's appearance was "voluntary" and not under subpoena. Miller said the testimony covered a wide range of areas which the special prosecutor "desired to interrogate him about."

The current grand jury, scheduled to end its work July 3, is the third and final grand jury specifically assigned to Watergate matters. It has been investigating a series of Watergate-related matters.

Nixon was one of about 20 unindicted co-conspirators in the Watergate cover-up, although prosecutors said later he would have been indicted had he not been President at the time the cover-up indictments were handed down March 1, 1974.

Nixon's health kept him from being called to testify in the three-month court trial which ended Jan. 1 with the convictions of his former close aides John N. Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and Robert C. Marlow.

Miller said in a statement that Nixon was questioned for 11 hours over the course of two days by prosecutors and the grand jurors.

"It was the former president's desire to cooperate with the office of the special prosecutor," he said.

"The examination covered a wide range of subjects," Miller said without elaborating.

"It was Mr. Nixon's feeling in view of the anticipated length of his testimony, the present state of his health and the complications unavoidably attendant to extended travel, his examination will be most efficiently conducted in California," Miller said.

A chief of staff of the former president underwent a medical examination before testifying. The stipulation filed in Hart's court was signed by both Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth Jr. and Miller. It said Nixon wanted the fact of the proceeding made public because of inquiries made about it, and that the special prosecutor had no objection.

The interview took place days after the third anniversary of the break-in by Nixon's aides at the Democratic National Committee in the Watergate complex. Two years ago about that time, Nixon's former counsel, John W. Dean III, was leveling his charges at the President during the Senate Watergate hearings. And one year ago, the House Judiciary Committee was nearing its hearings on Nixon's ouster.

Miller said without elaborating.

TF plan offers 10 acre minimum for farm tracts

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Under the rough draft of a proposed comprehensive land-use plan for Twin Falls County, agricultural tracts would be limited to a minimum of 10 acres.

The present county zoning ordinance defines the minimum agricultural tract as 5 acres, but county zoning policies effectively allow the division of agricultural land into 1-acre homesteads.

The 10-acre limit is proposed in a "discussion draft" of a comprehensive land-use plan for Twin Falls City and County being drawn up by the Twin Falls City-County Joint Planning Council.

To the rough draft, planner David Richey proposes: "the agricultural lands in all areas of the county shall be preserved by the prohibition of land divisions which result in the formation of any property less than 10 acres in size."

The 10-acre minimum, which as proposed in the rough draft has not yet reached the stage of being a formal recommendation to the county zoning board, would apparently not be divisible into smaller plots as is now the case with the 5-acre parcels.

However, a farmer would be able to install a secondary dwelling on the property — for a farmhand or a blood relative — but the ownership of the 10-acre parcel would have to remain in the farmer's name.

"Preferably," Richey wrote in the draft, "a secondary dwelling will be mobile or only semi-permanent in nature so that it can be removed at the end of its permitted usefulness."

Richey was attending a conference in Boise today and was not available for comment on the proposal.

According to Ed Woods, Twin Falls County zoning administrator, the key question is "what is a farm unit?"

Presently, state law allows local units of government to determine the minimum agricultural lot, Woods said.

In Twin Falls County, the minimum plot is 5 acres. But under zoning policy that plot can be divided by the owner one time, with the minimum lot size sold being 1 acre.

"The owner of a 40-acre farm, for instance, can legally sell off his land in 5-acre tracts, Woods said. The owners of those 5-acre tracts may then in turn divide them once, down to a minimum of 1 acre. However, the property owner can only divide his 5-acre once.

A subsequent owner of a 2 or 3-acre parcel can then again divide once, down to 1 acre.

"The division of farm land into 1-acre lots is a legal possibility," Woods said.

Queen plans bicentennial US visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have accepted "with pleasure" an invitation from President Ford to visit the United States in July, 1976 to help celebrate the bicentennial, the White House announced today.

In a brief statement, the White House said the queen and her husband would make a state visit from July 7-11, 1976. It did not specify where they would go while in the United States.

A White House official said plans for the visit still were open ended.

The queen last visited the United States on Oct. 16, 1957 and made one other visit as Princess Elizabeth for three days in 1951.

She has been the queen of England since Feb. 6, 1952.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Space pioneer Werner von Braun predicts children will be born in space in the next quarter century.

Speaking at a seminar, he said he foresees graduate students completing their studies on the moon. "Since both boys and girls will be participating in these studies," he said, "we can expect the first child born in space before the end of the century."

General strike paralyzes Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A general strike paralyzed the Argentine capital and most of the rest of the country today in the first showdown between President Maria Estela (Isabel) Peron and her labor supporters over economic policy.

Thousands of workers converged on the Plaza de Mayo in downtown Buenos Aires, waving flags, beating drums and shouting insults at government officials held responsible for anti-inflation wage guidelines.

Federal no-fault bill passes Senate

Labor camp accord signed

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — An agreement which promises relief for many of the grievances of residents at the Twin Falls Labor Camp was signed Thursday night.

The 20-point agreement, containing commitments to improve housing conditions and relocate horses and barbed wire fence in the camp, is the culmination of daily mediation sessions which began here Monday under the leadership of a federal mediator, Robert Hughes, Seattle.

Curtis T. Eaton, director of the Twin Falls County Farm Labor Sponsoring Association, and Jesus Rojas Jr. and Mrs. Shoneta Arambula, chairman and vice chairman of the Committee for Better Housing at the labor camp, signed the document.

Left unanswered is the future of the camp. Officials of the sponsoring association have previously said they would not operate the facility next year, but considerable space is given in the agreement to provisions for improvements at the camp which presumably would mean continuation of its operation.

Eaton said he had no comment when asked today if this means the association "plans to operate the camp another year. He said "this will depend on what money is available."

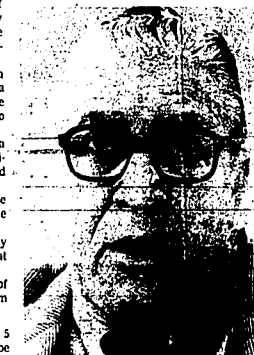

Provisions, such as giving residents paint "each year" for the purpose of painting their houses" will be provided if funds are available, Eaton said.

Raps bug limit

FBI DIRECTOR Clarence Kelley, appearing before the House Judiciary subcommittee Thursday, opposed further restrictions on use of bugging devices and surveillance methods. He said requiring court orders for all wiretapping would "hamstring" criminal investigations and curtail national security intelligence gathering.

Panel raps dual posts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A blue-ribbon presidential commission says the White House adviser on national security should not in the future also hold a cabinet post.

The report, being submitted to President Ford to criticize Henry Kissinger's dual role as national security affairs adviser to the President and secretary of state. Kissinger has insisted — with President Ford's approval — on retaining both posts.

The report is based on a study by a commission appointed by President Nixon and Congress in 1972 on reorganization of foreign affairs. The panel is headed by retired Ambassador Robert Murphy.

Sources said the report recommends replacement of CIA director William Colby with a non-career official, proposes changing the name of the CIA to the Foreign Intelligence Agency.

FBI jails 2 as Russ spies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI has arrested two Lebanese natives, one of whom had top U.S. government security clearance, on charges of spying for the Soviet Union, the Justice Department announced today.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley identified the two suspects as Sarkis O. Paskalian, 36 and Sahag K. Dedejan, 41. Paskalian was arrested in New York City and Dedejan was picked up in Rockville, Md., a suburb of Washington.

The criminal complaint filed against the two men alleged that they photographed classified information with assistance from top officials in the Soviet mission to the United Nations, Kelley said.

Paskalian was charged with conspiracy to gather classified national defense information from a foreign country. Dedejan was alleged to have failed to report illegal photographing of national defense information.

Lawyer charges Gem child abuse law violations

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

BOISE — Idaho's Child Protection Act commonly has been enforced in flagrant violation of parental rights, according to an attorney for Idaho Legal Aide Services, Inc.

Children who are not in physical danger have been forcibly separated from their parents for weeks without a court order, attorney Deborah Ball said in an interview Thursday.

Ms. Ball charged that in Idaho it is far easier to remove a child than to take a child away from its parents. At least with a year, a hearing must be held immediately, but when a child is removed from its family an actual hearing on the case commonly is not held in Ada County for five weeks.

Also, Ms. Ball charged, when a child is taken away its parents are not informed of the reasons why the child was removed, and until the time of a brief, preliminary hearing, they are not informed of their right to counsel.

Unless HAW changes its methods of dealing with child abuse cases, Ms. Ball said Idaho Legal Aide plans to file for an injunction to stop enforcement of the Child Abuse Act.

"This is not a good alternative," she said, since, the act is necessary in many cases to protect abused children. But she said that so far the Department of Health and Welfare has been unwilling to straighten out its program.

In one case, she said, a child was taken away from its parents with no court order and the case worker admitted in court weeks later there was a poor "emotional relationship" between the parents and child, but no problems of physical abuse.

In several other cases, she said, the child may have been hit but was certainly in no danger of life or limb, when taken away and kept for weeks without a court order.

In one case, she said, the wrong child was picked up and put in a foster home for about a week before the hearing was arranged and the child returned to the parents.

Besides picking up children without cause and delayed hearings, Ms. Ball said there is a fundamental problem with the orientation of the child protection unit.

She said the same worker who takes the child away from the home usually is assigned to work with the family since so many animals often exist, this situation can be extremely difficult.

The unit is more geared to putting children in foster homes and "terminating" parent-child relationships rather than working with the problems in the family. Ms. Ball said her experience has been with the program in the Boise area, but added that she has heard the same sort of problems exist elsewhere.

Rita Blackaller, who heads the child protection program on the state level, said, however, that the program is geared to bringing families together. Only in about 30 per cent of the cases, she said, are children removed from the home.

Mrs. Blackaller said that children can be separated from their parents under an emergency situation. "But such action, she said, must be undertaken by both a caseworker and a policeman.

She said "philosophically that it is better for a caseworker who starts a case to stick with it." She said she did not know of cases where children had been separated from parents without an emergency situation.

Report links FBI, plots

D.N.Y. Times Service
SAN DIEGO — The American Civil Liberties Union completed Thursday a report for Senate investigators alleging that the Federal Bureau of Investigation recruited a band of right-wing terrorists and supplied them with money and weapons to attack young antiwar demonstrators.

The 5,000-word account prepared for the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence contains what A.C.L.U. lawyers described as "newly established evidence" purportedly linking the F.B.I. to at least two assassination plots.

The lawyers, H. Peter Young and Mark D. Rosenbaum of the R.C.T.U. "Foundation of Southern California," said the allegations to be sent, probably Friday, to the Senate committee "document in detail" the F.B.I.'s operations in 1971 and 1972 of a San Diego group calling itself "The Secret Army Organization."

Told of the A.C.L.U. assertions, a spokesman for the F.B.I. said that the bureau had "nothing to do" with the establishment of the so-called Secret Army Organization, "nor did we have anything to do with the direction of its activities."
According to the report, the Secret Army Organization was set up "on instructions of F.B.I. officials" to serve as agents provocateurs, inciting disorders as a means of exposing "domestic radicals," particularly campus leaders of the New Left protesting the war in Southeast Asia.

The paramilitary extremist organization, consisting of about a dozen members locally with others scattered throughout southern California, was described by the A.C.L.U. as an outgrowth of an elaborate interagency espionage apparatus organized "at the direction of Richard M. Nixon" early in his administration to intimidate and silence domestic critics.
The group's acts of terrorism, allegedly carried out in San Diego on instructions from the F.B.I., range from espionage, vandalism and mail theft to bombings, assassination plots and shootings, according to the report.

The A.C.L.U. charges followed by two days the F.B.I.'s acknowledgment, in a 256-page document, that it conducted counterintelligence operations between May, 1968, and April, 1971, under the code name, "Contingent." These were aimed, at the New Left and designed to harass and discredit, campus antiwar and leftist groups.

Snake R. demand exceeding flow

BOISE (UPI) — Demand for Snake River water is creating a problem for the Department of Water Resources.
A department study reveals the river is having difficulty keeping pace with growth of the state and the Snake could be drained to about one-third of its flow by 1975 if everyone now holding licenses and permits and those who have applied for permits all were to use the water at once.
Steve Alford, departmental planning director, said even if a minimum flow for the Snake River was set at the next legislative session, there may not be enough water left to meet water right demands let alone minimum flow.
"We don't have any time," he said. "we are short of water now."
The recently completed study was based on minimum flows of the Snake River from Salmon Falls Creek west of Twin Falls to Clarkston, Wash., from 1928 to 1972.
Projected demands based on licenses, permits and applications on file with the department in March were superimposed on certain critical years during this period to see how the river's minimum flow would react. It was found if all those water licenses, permits and applications for permits were to exercise their rights the Snake's minimum flow would be cut to as low as 1,300 cubic feet per second at Murphy.
Alford said that would essentially make the river useless.

Oil import decline aids trade surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A drop in oil imports and foreign-made goods helped the United States tally a near-record $1.05 billion trade surplus in May, putting the nation's trade account in the black for the fourth straight month.
The Commerce Department reported Thursday the trade surplus for 1975 so far is a healthy $3.7 billion, compared to a $100 million surplus in the same period last year.
A $100 million drop in arrivals of foreign crude oil and other petroleum products (to $1.96 billion, seasonally adjusted) was the biggest factor in the export-import picture last month.
Oil imports in April had jumped $1 billion and government trade analysts, expecting importers would hurry to beat the additional $1 per barrel tariff due to take effect, had been expecting another rise in May.
Foreign shipments of iron and steel also fell $141 million in May, reflecting a lack of demand for industrial materials in the sluggish economy.
Imports as a whole fell a startling 12 percent from April to $7.09 billion, seasonally adjusted. May exports dropped too, by 5 percent to $8.15 billion.
A decline in overseas shipments of American farm products, mainly corn but also wheat, soybeans and animal feeds, contributed most to the export slide.
The United States only had a bigger one-month trade surplus last March, when exports outran imports by $1.38 billion.

Aide says all quiet in India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A government spokesman said all was quiet today in India, where a state of emergency jailed hundreds of political opponents of the government of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and controlled the press.
A. R. Bajaj, the government's chief information spokesman, told a news conference that the "country as a whole" was "absolutely peaceful. There has been no incidence of consequence anywhere."
Only one of New Delhi's 11 daily newspapers published today, forcing most in the country of 600 million to rely on reports of the emergency through broadcasts by the government-owned All India Radio. Dispatches sent abroad were subjected to censorship.
Mrs. Gandhi declared a two-month state of emergency throughout the world's most populous democracy Thursday, an action unprecedented in India in peacetime.
The government said 676 persons were arrested in the crackdown but opposition figures put the number as high as 3,500.

Double standard wrong

WASHINGTON — The curious mixture of events on Capitol Hill makes for strange bed-fellows, and so I find myself reluctantly siding with Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., a bright young man of 38 who often comes through as a showboating, wise-guy, wily liberal.

But Harrington obviously was singled out from scores of other offenders for punishment because he doesn't think the right political thoughts. This was distasteful to a big minority on the Armed Services Committee who clearly suffered from an attack of conscience...

TF employes plan 70th year observance

TWIN FALLS — Observance of the 70th anniversary of the incorporation of Twin Falls is being planned by city employes.

The occasion will serve to tell the public more about the operation of various city departments and services.

July 11 has been adopted as City Day as more suitable to outdoor displays than April because of weather.

On that day the city will close the mall area to traffic with the exception of Shoshone Street which remains open.

Beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing through 4 p.m. departments will show examples of their work, services and equipment used. Some departments such as administration and sewage treatment will rely on photos and poster displays. All departments will have personnel at the displays to answer questions from interested taxpayers and others.

These employes will welcome questions, suggestions and criticism, city officials say, and questions which cannot be answered at the time will be researched and the individual contacted later.

Typical displays will include two fire engines from the Twin Falls Fire Department, a complete police department van used in crime investigation and all of its contents, a crash and fire unit from the airport which will be displayed between commercial flights, and numerous other items.

preparing for the observance is being done by city employes themselves and most of it in their free time.

The engineering department is also preparing poster-type displays of administrative positions for each department and for the city government.

Merchants in the mall area are also planning special events in conjunction with the day's program.

Those interested will receive copies of the Cassia County commissioners meeting April 13, 1965. The commissioners met in Albion — then the county seat — and voted to incorporate the village of Twin Falls.

Joint council change eyed

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — City and county officials will be asked soon to designate the Joint Planning Council as the official planning commission required under new state law. Joint council members, meeting Wednesday night, entertained a proposal by chairman Jack Muldoon and planner David Richey that changes be made in the joint council to officially establish it as the planning commission for both the city and the county.

Under 1975 state legislation units of government are required to establish planning commissions to oversee long-term land-use planning.

The Twin Falls City-County Joint Planning Council was established as an advisory body by both the city and county in 1973 and was charged with the formulation of a comprehensive land-use plan tying together both the city and the county.

Under the changes proposed Wednesday the composition of the council would be expanded from 7 to 12 members, including two Twin Falls County commissioners, two City Council members, the chairman of both the county and city zoning boards, two councilmen from the smaller municipalities within the county, two farm organization representative and two citizens at large.

The proposals also call for the renaming of the joint council shortening the current official title of Twin Falls City-County Joint Planning Council to Twin Falls City-County Planning Council, with the unofficial name to be simply Planning Council.

The planning council would continue to be funded equally by the city and county and would be charged with its present responsibility of drawing up a comprehensive plan, but it would additionally become a permanent body as the planning commission for both the city and the county and as such would continue to employ a planner to advise the city and county zoning commissions.

"We're laying the groundwork for a planning council for many years to come," Muldoon told the members

"We have a planner — we must get a planner in Twin Falls County."

THIS nuclear testing equipment for soil and pavement will not be displayed during City Days in Twin Falls, because of the nuclear material used. It is one of the city's unusual pieces of equipment few residents have ever seen. Lee Sharp of the building inspection department explains it here.

Colby concedes CIA mistakes; cites goal shifts

House demanding US canal rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has told the State Department not to surrender U.S. rights in the Panama Canal.

U.S. diplomats fear the action may upset negotiations now going on between the United States and Panama to revise the 1903 canal treaty and that it might even hurt U.S. relations with the rest of Latin America.

By a vote of 406 to 114 Thursday, the House said no funds can be used to negotiate the surrender or relinquishment of United States rights in the Panama Canal.

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — CIA Director William Colby has had some rough audiences during the past several months. But he found a sympathetic one at the Naval War College — and took the occasion to concede the agency had made some mistakes.

However, Colby said Thursday the American spy system has undergone major changes and that he is attempting to alter its cloak-and-dagger image.

He told a predominantly military audience attending a forum on national security the CIA involved itself in "some things which now are clearly wrong."

"The old image of 1947 does not fit the new reality of 1975. It doesn't fit the new reality of public opinion in 1975 and it doesn't fit the new reality of the actual workings of intelligence in 1975," he said.

"It should be made crystal clear that CIA's role is in foreign intelligence," he said. He added it should be on "very strong direct notice never to go over the edge of that limit as we did on a few occasions in the past."

"American intelligence is important to our country. It is also the best in the world, and American intelligence is in danger," he said.

"Intelligence has changed over the years. It did overstep its bounds. It did do some things which now are clearly wrong. There is no question about that."

He said part of the problem came from "sporadic supervision" of its activities. He said the CIA now has a "positive peacemaking role as distinct from the old protection of our country against war."

"We still do have clandestine collection of information. We have to," Colby said. "There are nations around the world who do not run open societies; who develop weapons systems in secret; who discuss their political affairs — and investigate their intelligence agencies behind closed doors."

"These nations can pose a major threat to our safety and welfare in the future. So we still do have to face the problem of getting intelligence through some of the old techniques of clandestine collections."

Colby said he welcomed Congressional hearings "as a way of updating with the American consensus of what intelligence is all about."

'Wise men' panel to study spending

WASHINGTON — Congressional Democrats have designated 11 "wise men" — four from the Senate and seven from the House — to study the effect of federal spending on the economic tides in the United States.

They hope to chart for Congress a long-range course that will steer the nation off the rocks of recession, inflation and unemployment for the next five years.

The "wise men" were chosen in the usual congressional manner, a blend of seniority, geography, political balance and, lastly, ability.

Each is a member of either the Senate or House Budget Committee. These budget committees were established this year to prescribe overall spending targets for the regular committees.

The "wise men" will head task forces within the budget committee structure.

"Each will investigate a critical issue which must form part of Congress's frame of reference in fiscal decision-making," said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, who established four task forces and named their chairmen on the basis of seniority.

The Senate task forces and their chairmen:

- Energy — Sen. Frank Moss

(D-Utah).
 Defense — Sen. Ernest F. Hollings (D-S.C.).
 Tax Policy and Tax Expenditures — Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.).

Severe winds preceded NY crash
 NEW YORK (UPI) — A pilot who landed at Kennedy Airport just before the approach of the Eastern Airlines plane that crashed with the loss of 110 lives suggested closing the runway because of severe winds, federal investigators have disclosed.

Fourteen survivors remained in hospitals today with injuries suffered when Eastern's Flight 66 from New Orleans crashed Tuesday along Rockaway Boulevard in a thunderstorm.

Rush job on housing bill fails
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — An attempt to rush a new middle-income housing bill through Congress has collapsed in a dispute over how much banks and other mortgage lenders could charge for handling government-subsidized mortgages.

It meant adoption of a measure to replace the $1.35 billion Democratic bill President Ford vetoed Tuesday will have to await Congress' return from a July 4th holiday.

Jobless benefit extension passes
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has approved and sent to President Ford emergency legislation designed to save about 250,000 persons from losing unemployment benefits June 30.

The Senate and House Thursday voted to extend a law providing jobless workers with up to 65 weeks of benefits.

President Ford was expected to sign the bill.

The current law expires June 30. Unless the extension is approved, workers would be eligible to collect compensation for only 52 weeks of joblessness.

Uganda arrests more Britons
 NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Ugandan authorities have arrested a number of Britons and may try them for treason, Uganda Radio said today.

A broadcast mentioned in Nairobi said British "propaganda" concerning the case of condemned British lecturer Dennis Hills could only lead to a "tougher line" against the other 700 Britons living in Uganda.

"For the information of the British government, some British are now in custody awaiting the military tribunal," Uganda Radio said. "They will possibly face the same trial as Hills because their cases are even worse."

Nares break up counterfeit scheme
 STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — Narcotics agents have arrested eight men allegedly involved in a conspiracy to pass $72 million in counterfeit U.S. Treasury notes.

Officials said members of the group also were suspected of trafficking in narcotics, automatic weapons and stolen property.

Donald Heller, assistant U.S. Attorney, said none of the Treasury certificates was recovered in the raids Thursday. He said agents had reported the conspirators were trying to sell 22 phony $1 million Treasury notes.

Colombia under state of siege
 BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — President Alfonso Lopez Michelsen has declared a state of siege in Colombia in an attempt to stop in-outbreak of kidnappings, guerrilla attacks and anti-government protests.

"We live in a situation of abnormality that must be ended," the 61-year-old president said Thursday night in announcing the tough decree to his nation of 23 million.

The state of siege, which suspended personal liberties, gave military tribunals authority to try such crimes as kidnapping, sedition, rebellion, arson, illegal possession of weapons and attacks on police officers.

Peres asks West Bank federation

By United Press International
 Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres called today for uniting Israel, the West Bank and the Gaza Strip in a federation of Jewish and Arab states.

Peres said the federal government would be responsible for defense and foreign affairs, but the states would be in charge of education, police, and the courts.

The defense minister, in an interview with the Tel Aviv newspaper Davar, described his proposal as an "honorable solution" to the quarter-century Middle East conflict.

Peres said the federal government, which would encompass all of Palestine before the creation of Israel in 1948, could lead to a "genuine peace" in the region.

Egypt captured the Gaza Strip, Jordan seized the West Bank and Israel took the rest of Palestine during the Jewish State's 1948 independence in 1948. Israel conquered Gaza and the West Bank in the 1967 Middle East War.

Couples renew wedding vows

STANLEY — A renewal of wedding vows for all couples present was a feature of Sunday's Church service at Camp Perkins, Lutheran Church camp.

The special service commemorated the ending of "Couple's Camp" at Camp Perkins which was conducted by El Wengert, Interfaith Family Counseling Service Inc., Caldwell.

Topics discussed during the meetings included affection, communications, hostility, head of house, finances, religion, interest and hobbies, common interests, goals in life, attitude toward age and child rearing, and sexual adjustments.

Rev. Ed Grove, Pocatello, used the Book of Ruth for his service topic, stressing the memorable words "Whither thou goest, I will go and whether thou lodgest, I will lodge. Thy people shall be my people and thy God, my God."

Several wedding songs were sung with Mrs. Gene Van Houten at the organ. Wedding bands which had been removed at the beginning of the service, were exchanged by the participating couples as the minister had them recite the marriage vows.

His sermon for this Sunday morning is entitled "A Beauty Contest." This will be the first of a four-part series based on the Book of Esther.

The special music for the 10 o'clock service will feature Deborah Colner, flutist, performing Godard's "Idyllic." Miss Colner will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Henry Colner.

We invite and encourage the people of the community to attend the Adult Development Center's performance of "Alice in Wonderland" on Tuesday evening in the dining room of the church.

Singers plan concert

TWIN FALLS — A group of 32 young girl singers, ranging in age from 9 to 14, will perform in Twin Falls Saturday.

Known as the Songsmiths, the girls from Torrance, Calif., will sing in the LDS State Center on Harrison Street at 8 p.m. Bishop Grant Starley announced.

He said the group has appeared on television in several special programs and the Steve Allen show. They have performed at Disneyland, Magic Mountain and the Los Angeles Music Center, the Casino on Catalina Island, the Hollywood Palladium, the Queen Mary, Brigham Young University and other areas of the west.

The group was featured at Expo '74 last year and because of the popularity and acceptance, was invited back again July 4 for a second performance.

The Songsmiths have been honored by being one of two singing groups chosen by the Bicentennial Committee to be official representatives of the state of California for the bicentennial year.

Their goal is to provide top entertainment for persons of all ages, emphasizing love of God and country and to give a realistic picture of the majority of American young people.

Cost to the denomination is expected to run in the area of $25,000, says Francisco, exclusive of the services of volunteer workers and contributions of clothing and other necessities by members across the states as the refugees scattered.

Jobs for the refugees have been found in the church's hospitals and offices from Florida to Oregon. Francisco states that the church has offered to provide

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened narrowly mixed in moderate trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.47 at 874.50 shortly after the opening bell. But declines edged out advances, 102 to 100, among the more than 220 issues crossing the tape.

Commerce Department reports its index of leading indicators rose 2.1 per cent in May and the nation's trade surplus totaled an unexpectedly large $1.05 billion, sparking heavy buying early Thursday. The advance was trimmed by accelerating short-term interest rates.

After the market closed, the Federal Reserve reported the nation's money supply dropped by $300 million in the week ended June 18. A 20 per cent increase in the prime rate last month prompted the Fed to tighten its monetary policy, a move that also boosted short-term rates.

First National City Bank, a front-runner on the interest rate issue, Friday announced it was keeping its prime rate for top business borrowers at 6 1/2 per cent for another week. The prime is widely regarded as a barometer of interest rate patterns.

DEAR ABBY: Please give us your opinion of this very important family matter. My mother-in-law passed away, and about two hours after the funeral services, her youngest son went to play golf. (He is 55 years old.)

My husband, an older brother, said he was so hurt that his brother showed so little respect for their mother's memory that he will never forgive him.

CALIFORNIAN: How much respect your younger brother showed his mother while she was alive is more important than how long after her funeral he walked to play golf. Everyone handles his grief in his own way.

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago, my boyfriend asked me to marry him. He is in the service and is stationed in another state.

Brother objects

I have not seen him since he popped the question, so I haven't received an engagement ring yet, although we did set a date for our wedding. A friend of mine says that a girl is not really engaged unless she has a ring. She has never had a boyfriend and seldom gets asked out, so maybe she said that out of jealousy.

Still, I would like to know for sure. Does a girl have to have a ring in order to be officially engaged?

ALMOST MARRIED: A girl doesn't need a ring to be officially engaged. Although you haven't seen him for four months, I presume that you are in touch with one another. Has he questioned the pop since he popped the question?

DEAR ABBY: Let me say first that I am the mother of three and happily married, and have not the slightest desire to attract any man other than my husband. I always wear pantsuits to work because I think they are more modest than dresses. I would stop wearing makeup and shave my head if I insured keeping my male co-workers' minds off my femininity and on my ability to do my job.

In other words, I do not want to be viewed as a sex object. My friends and I have adopted a poem as our slogan. It was written by a 12-year-old girl:

"Please don't walk in front of me.
I may not want to follow.
Don't walk behind me.
I may not want to lead.
Please, walk beside me and be my friend."

Any man who demands that a woman display her body for his own gain, and that she be young and have a good figure or suffer his scorn, can never be a friend.

COLEEN IN CALGARY: Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

CHICKEN 'N CHIPS BAKE
2 cups cubed cooked chicken or turkey
2 cups diced celery
1/2 cup sliced almonds, toasted

1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
Pile lightly in an eight by one-half-inch round-baking dish. Sprinkle with one-half cup shredded cheese and one 425-degree for 15 minutes or until heated through. Serves five or six.

Hints
Designers have not disregarded the ankle-length formal for sport, although it takes a good pair of legs to wear this length. Otherwise, a woman had better go along with floor length.

When a recipe calls for a greased casserole, use a piece of bread to spread the butter, margarine or salad oil. When you are finished, cut the bread up and add it to the casserole; no mess or paper to throw away.

To save dishes when making pancakes prepare the batter in a wide-mouth pitcher ready to pour on a griddle. Leftover batter can be stored, covered in the refrigerator and thinned with milk when used again.

heart support, probably four hearts, but just once in any event South jumps to three notrump and North goes back to four hearts.

There is no problem in the play. South loses two diamonds and one spade and scores his game.

Now, see what would happen if South responded two notrump. North would raise to three, the same five of spades would be led and South would take his ace right away or hold a couple of rounds. But whatever he did, would be useless. The best he could manage would be to collect eight tricks.

The bidding has been: 27

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In standard American bidding the jump to two notrump by an unpassed hand shows a balanced 13 to 15 high-card points and is forcing to game. The delayed jump used to show the same strength in the old days. Right now the general expert practice is to respond in a suit if possible and go to three notrump on your next turn, if partner's rebid shows a minimum.

South has 4-3-3 distribution with stoppers in all suits and 13 high-card points. The hand also includes a biddable heart suit and South makes the proper first response of one heart.

North's two-heart rebid shows a minimum opening with

Frost may brush Magic Valley

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area. Partly cloudy with chance of a few brief showers this evening. Clearing and quite cool tonight with low temperatures near 40. Sunny and warmer Saturday with highs near 70. Probability of measurable rainfall 20 per cent tonight and less than 10 per cent Saturday.

Hailey, Camas Prairie, Lower Wood River Valley:

Chance of a few brief showers this evening. Clearing and quite cold tonight with low temperatures 25 to 30. Sunny and warmer Saturday with highs near 70. Probability of measurable precipitation 30 per cent early tonight and then less than 10 per cent Saturday.

Synopsis: The next Pacific storm system is behaving much better than the last two did, and is moving eastward along the Canadian border.

Only its fringe edges will reach as far south as the Magic Valley and only minor shower activity is expected this evening before a change back to a clearing trend and warming.

Tonight will be quite cool and low temperatures will be just barely above the frost level and will range between 38 and 43.

Another freeze is likely tonight in Camas Prairie, the upper Wood River Valley and other similar high valleys. The extended outlook is for dry weather and a warming trend Sunday through Tuesday. The storm track is expected to remain north of the Canadian border at least through the first half of next week.

Hay-making will be back in full swing after this evening's showers and crop growth will accelerate as temperatures warm.

N-fuel program offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford asked Congress Thursday to let the government give up its uranium enrichment monopoly and help private industry meet the growing worldwide demand for the fuel of nuclear power plants.

Under the plan, the government would provide the financial guarantees private companies would need to build four $3.5 billion enrichment plants while assuring that the secret technology would remain in the hands of the United States.

Ford said the legislation would "reinforce" the world leadership we now enjoy in uranium enrichment technology" while maintaining some control over the use of atomic fuel overseas.

It was estimated America's uranium-enrichment business could be worth $9 billion a year by the year 2000.

The proposal would authorize the Energy Research and Development Administration to contract with commercial enterprises to build two types of plants designed to convert uranium ore into the uranium-235 isotope needed to fire the boilers of atomic generating plants.

Natural uranium contains only seven-tenths of 1 per cent of uranium-235, but 3 to 4 per cent of the fissionable material is required in nuclear reactors. Uranium-235 also is the stuff from which nuclear weapons are made but they require the enrichment of 90 per cent.

Ford said the privately operated plants would be designed to turn out only the low enriched uranium — not the highly enriched uranium needed for bombs.

All of the nation's enriched uranium is now produced in three government plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Confinement rule eased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Thursday that a nondangerous person capable of living safely in the outside world cannot be confined in an institution merely because he is adjudged mentally ill.

The opinion, by Justice Potter Stewart, did not address the questions of whether mentally ill persons dangerous to themselves or others have a "right to treatment" or compulsory confinement, or whether nondangerous mentally ill persons may be confined for the purpose of treatment.

Stewart said the Court was addressing the simple question of "every man's constitutional right to liberty."

The case was brought to the Court by Kenneth Donaldson, who was confined to the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee from 1961 to 1971 after being diagnosed as a "paranoid schizophrenic."

Donaldson won a jury verdict of $38,500 in damages in U.S. District Court in Tallahassee against the physicians — Dr. J. B. O'Connor, who eventually became the superintendent, and Dr. John Gumanis.

The question of damages goes back to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals because of an intervening Supreme Court ruling on the immunity of state officials in pursuing their official duties: Donaldson, now 67, is living in York Pa.

The Court also, as it pushed toward adjournment for the summer next week, decided in two separate cases that pricing fixing in the sale of mutual fund shares and fixed commissions charged by stockbrokers on the sale and purchase of securities are not subject to antitrust laws.

The Court said the securities industry had been granted immunity from these statutes by the Securities and Exchange Commission under authority given it by Congress in 1934.

In other actions the Court: —By a 6-3 vote upheld the requirement that a marriage must have lasted nine months before a widow or stepchild can collect Social Security benefits on the death of a wage earner.

—Ruled unanimously that statements made pursuant to an unconstitutional arrest may not be used at trial even though the suspect at the time may have been warned of his right to remain silent and to have a lawyer.

—Held 6 to 3 that a corporation's retention of securities that have risen in price may be construed as an effort to avoid income taxes.

Bill returned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, talked the House Agriculture Committee today into recommending to subcommittee a bill authorizing federal purchase of more than $2 billion in domestic meat products.

Symms' arguments against the bill sponsored by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., were supported by committee Chairman Tom Foley, D-Wash., and subcommittee Chairman Bob Poage, D-Tex.

"It's bad psychology to string along American ranchers with a bill that has no chance of passage in an urban-oriented congress," Symms said.

"The committee's initial approval of the bill, followed by a defeat on the House floor, would certainly have triggered a bad psychological reaction in the livestock markets."

"I am today appropriating from the emergency fund that amount of money which the Bureau of Animal Health has expended so far in fighting the disease and this includes funds for partial payment of diseased animals and the depopulation of some herds that were badly infected," he said.

Andrus said the amount of brucellosis indemnity paid Idaho farmers for losses so far amounts to $17,208.97 of the total.

Campaign funded

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Thursday authorized use of $23,365.96 from his emergency fund to combat a brucellosis infection spreading through Idaho cattle herds this year.

"This disease has had the devastating impact upon Idaho's already hard-pressed cattle industry," the governor said. "The Idaho Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Health has exhausted its general fund monies in combating this disease."

The department reported the following flow in cubic feet per second this week and the year before at stations along the Snake River.

Moran: 2,000, 2,590; Henry's Park below Island Park Dam; 914, 1,300; Henry's Park near Rexburg; 6,530, 8,570; Snake River near Heise; 9,790, 25,800; Snake River near Shelley; 11,800, 25,700; river near Neeley; 16,600, 19,800.

LIBBY. Mont. (UPI) — Libby Dam will be dedicated on the Kootenai River Aug. 23 as part of the 200th birthday celebration of the U.S. Army and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, officials announced today.

Officials at the Seattle headquarters of the Corps say President Ford and Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau have been invited to attend the ceremonies dedicating the $60-million project.

Super Beans with Sorba-Spray

Sorba-Spray shows profit-minded dry bean growers three important ways to produce greater yields, improve quality and increase profits from their bean crop.

- 1 — Sorba-Spray increases blossom retention for greater crop yield.
- 2 — Sorba-Spray produces larger beans of more uniform size and improved quality.
- 3 — Sorba-Spray aids in seed germination and reduces transverse cracking.

Sorba-Spray really works!

As a buffering agent, it lowers spray-water alkalinity. One pint of Sorba-Spray in 100 gallons of water, lowers pH to the most effective range, making pesticides work more efficiently, which extends your spray schedules for more economy.

Sorba-Spray works as a spreader containing special wetting agents that insure thorough plant coverage.

Sorba-Spray is safe to use at recommended dosages and contains no harmful residues. It is compatible with most pesticides and fungicides and is harmless to bees and to beneficial insects.

Sorba-Spray was developed for a specific purpose. To supply the growing needs of agriculture with the finest quality foliar nutritional spray product Leffingwell could create.

That's why Sorba-Spray products are unique and different. Others have tried to copy them and fallen far short, while Sorba-Spray still remains the undisputed leader in the foliar nutritional field.

See your Leffingwell-dealer for the facts on Sorba-Spray products and what they can mean in terms of improved quality, crop yield and high profits for you.

'Port sewage hazard eyed

TWIN FALLS — Sewage wastewater from the Twin Falls City-County Airport has been accumulating in open puddles south of the airport for at least three to four weeks.

"The waste creates a 'potential health hazard' since it can relay a number of diseases, including hepatitis," according to Gerald Hurst, district administrator of environmental health.

"I wouldn't think there was any immediate hazard," since the area is relatively isolated and since the sewage is not running toward the canal, Hurst said. But hotter weather bringing flies and explorations by children, could create a hazard, he added. Even though the solids have been separated out in septic tank, he said, dangerous bacteria exists in the wastewater.

Hurst said the health department should be quickly notified of such problems and a week should be "plenty of time" to repair "something like this."

City crews began putting in an additional "percolation drain pipe" Thursday morning, following an inquiry into the situation by the Times-News Wednesday.

City Manager Jean Milar said that he had been informed of the situation "about three or four weeks ago."

"We feel that there is no hazardous or unusual condition. We do perhaps have a little nuisance factor there. But we'll correct that within the next few days," he said.

He said the problem had not been taken care of sooner because now is a "pretty busy time of year" and there are "several other projects of higher priority" to work on with limited city crews.

Milar defended the city's not notifying the health department about the situation.

"We take care of our own problems without crying to somebody else about it. What the hell can they do about it? They don't have any equipment to repair it," he said.

The problem, he said, was that a percolation pipe from the septic tank had been put in "a little too steeply" and sewage had accumulated at the downslope end rather than along the whole length of the pipe.

"We are in the process of adding another line on a little flatter grade," he said. Following an inspection, however, Hurst said the problem appeared to be that a truck ran across and crushed the bottom end of the pipe. In any case, Hurst, too, said additional percolation pipe would be needed.

A year ago Hurst termed the running of airport sewage down an open ditch toward the Highline Canal "a gross violation of the state health regulations" and a public danger.

The present situation, however, is not so dangerous because the waste is puddled, he said.

Hurst said the present percolation pipe was installed with state approval to fix last year's airport sewage problem. Milar said that about six weeks ago the city got grant money committed to hook up a sewage pipe between the airport and the city's system.

But, he said, a year might pass before this permanent system is put in.

TF aides receive lone bid on building project

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A bid of $998,800 was received by county commissioners Thursday afternoon for construction of a second story on the judicial building and renovation of the courthouse.

Commissioners took the lone bid of Nelson and Co., Twin Falls, under consideration until 3 p.m. Monday when they will either accept or reject it. In the meantime, Richard Heindel, architect, will check it for details as to specifications and review the six bid alternates.

One of the alternates, the remodeling of several areas of the old courthouse, was bid at $50,475.

Although Merl E. Leonard, commission chairman, said he was disappointed only one bid was received, he said he feels the Nelson bid is a "good one." It is higher than architect estimates, Heindel said, but he feels it can be accommodated after a look at the alternates.

He said the second floor is costly because it is designed to work with the first floor and to meet earthquake and other building needs in this area.

It is also designed to accommodate a third floor at some later date and as a result, Heindel said, a number of the third floor costs are in the current design.

Heindel said he could not give a current architect estimate as costs have been revised upward through the design period and since the last revision building materials have increased.

He said it is "somewhat higher" than he had anticipated but not out of reason. In March, an estimate of "in excess of $600,000" was estimated for the second floor project.

In 1967 the county erected the judicial building without a construction contract and under an emergency situation. Total cost of the 11,600-square-foot first floor at that time, including furnishing, was $154,000. The second floor will be slightly larger, containing about 13,800 square feet of court and office space.

Heindel said 25 sets of plans and specifications, at a cost of $100 each, went out to prospective bidders, but many of these firms have won other contracts in the meantime.

State Jobie meet under way

TWIN FALLS — Grand opening ceremonies Thursday evening began the state international Order of Jobs and Dignities convention at the College of Southern Idaho.

Today's schedule includes a general meeting during the day with a picnic at CSI and a luncheon scheduled for tonight.

Saturday's events include more meetings and a bazaar in the afternoon.

College officials said about 600 to 700 girls were expected to attend the convention. The delegates are being housed in the CSI dormitories and are being served meals at the CSI cafeteria.

Schools target for burglars

EDEN — Burglars struck two schools and a welding firm in Jerome and Twin Falls counties, taking thousands of dollars worth of equipment, officers reported today.

The Vihley High School suffered the major loss when the building was broken into some time between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday. An estimated $10,000 in equipment, including all of the electric typewriters in one typing class room, disappeared, school officials said.

Burglars forced a rear door and then broke into the main office area, superintendent's office and several classrooms. Sheriff Elza Hall, Jerome County, said such items as typewriters, copy machines, calculators, and numerous other small items were loaded up and removed.

Most of the classroom typewriters, except those in the one room, had been taken to appliance shops for summer cleaning and maintenance, Hall said.

Investigation is continuing in the school burglary and the break-in at Certified Welders, Eden. This firm reported the loss of about $8,000 in welding equipment and also reported their office was cleaned out with all office equipment taken.

Frank Charlton, principal of the Twin Falls High School, told officers someone entered the building prior to 6:15 a.m. Thursday and removed about $710 worth of audio-visual equipment. Missing were a movie projector, two 35 mm film strip projectors, a film strip and a tape recorder.

Twin Falls city police are investigating.

TF fire school concludes tonight

TWIN FALLS — Fire fighters from throughout Idaho will conclude their annual fire school sessions in Twin Falls tonight with an awards banquet.

Awards to be presented will include those to winners of the hose contest held at the College of Southern Idaho campus Thursday evening.

A two-man team from the Cole-Cotton Fire District near Boise won the first place trophy for two-man teamwork. Second place went to the Poacello Fire Department. In the four-man team competition, Moscow's fire department placed first, and Burley, second.

Each team was required to jay a hose, make connections and knock down a target in a limited contest.

Another award to be given tonight will be the Idaho Fire Fighters of the Year honor to a single fireman selected from nominations made earlier by various departments.

Class sessions concluded this morning with afternoon items to include an address by Bert Brown, director of the Idaho Department of Labor and Industrial Services, and a business meeting to elect officers.

Sessions have been held at the CSI Academy Building, with the awards banquet scheduled in the Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m.

Gooding planning group hears subdivision proposal

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

GOODING — Plans for a "low density" 25-lot subdivision in Hagerman Valley were presented to the Gooding County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday night.

Severt (Svevo) Swenson, Gooding, attorney for John Wilkins, Oakland, Calif., and Paul Newton, Twin Falls consulting engineer, told the planning group the land lies between Old Highway 30 and the new route, and is partly on a hillside.

"We feel the proposed John Wilkins subdivision conforms to your comprehensive county land-use plan," Swenson said, "because it utilizes waste land unfit for agriculture and it will not be high density."

Most of the 25 lots will be in excess of one acre, Swenson said, and many of the potential buyers, it is believed, would like to buy two or more lots.

"We're not going to have 25 families on the 25 lots, but more like 14 or 15 families, and these homes will not be all built right away," Swenson said.

The Idaho Power Co. has suggested that power lines be installed above ground but because of the trees, "only one or two poles will show," according to Swenson. Cost of underground installation is estimated between $18,000 and $29,000.

The engineering firm of Newton and Schaefer has designed a central water system for the development and the future landowners will belong to a landowners association which will be responsible for roads in the subdivision, also.

Swenson said his client has future plans for development of a public golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts and other recreational facilities for the remaining portion of the 45-acre parcel which lies between the highway and the Snake River.

Dr. Wayne Cartte, director of the South Central Idaho Health Division, Twin Falls, met with the group to clarify his agency's responsibility in approving sanitary facilities for subdivisions.

Dale DePugh was introduced as a new commission member, replacing Ed Gunning, who will be moving from the county.

Violations of child abuse law claimed

Grew Bower, Ada County deputy prosecuting attorney with the juvenile and mental health division, agreed with Ms. Ball that when parents object to their children being taken away they should have the right to at least a speedy "show cause" hearing.

He said it takes between 30 to 60 days for such a hearing to be held. Although there is a preliminary hearing within two weeks after the child is taken away, Bower said this is really a "misnomer" since generally these sessions last only 15 to 30 minutes and no evidence is considered.

One problem, Bower said, is that it often takes a month for all the evidence to be collected to hold a full hearing.

A high court might decide that it is necessary to hold an immediate hearing with evidence considered if the issue is brought up, he said.

Until then, he said, even though a quick "show cause" hearing might be desirable, the courts now are burdened down with case work and "those things don't happen until they are required."

Bower said child protection caseworkers often are criticized for not taking children away from parents when there is some evidence of a problem. "They get it from both ends," he said.

A caseworker, who asked not to be identified, agreed with several of Ms. Ball's charges. She said that many of the staff members are not well trained and that up to recently the unit has been hiring workers who don't even have a B.A. degree, the minimal requirement. On orders from HAW Director Dr. James Bak, however, she said that this situation has changed.

Sometimes children are taken away from parents without due cause, she said. In one recent case, she said, a child abuse worker took the child away because there had been reports of beatings, though the child was not injured at the time.

The child, she said, was taken to the hospital and the "medical evidence indicated that nothing had happened." Even so, she said, the child protective unit did not return the child.

She said the judge who works with most of the child abuse cases "winks an eye" when it comes to everything they say. When a preliminary hearing was held "at least two weeks" after the child was taken "the judge went along with the caseworker," she said. The child, she added is still in custody.

She said the child protection unit lacks resources and "is thorough problem solving process." She said more work needed to be done with families to help them solve the problem.

'Foot-dragging' by BLM scored

By DIANE ALTERS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A group of people who want to reclaim and set aside some of Idaho's desert land have accused the Bureau of Land Management of foot-dragging.

"BLM doesn't see us as serious as we see us," a member of the Idaho Carey Act Developmental Association said recently during a meeting here after the Idaho Department of Water Resources held an informational session to discuss proposed new rules and regulations under the old federal Carey Act. Formal hearings are set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at the statehouse, Boise.

The BLM is responsible for desert land available under the Carey Act, and it must relinquish control of the land if the land is to be cultivated under the act.

The act, which brought settlers to the Twin Falls Tract at the turn of the century, was modified by the 1974 Idaho Legislature and interest in reclaiming desert land for farming has been rekindled.

Over 70 land projects have been filed on, with approval pending from the BLM. There are also many private people or families seeking several thousand acres of land, mostly along the Snake River in southwest and southern Idaho, according to Idaho Department of Water Resources director E. Keith Higginson, Boise.

The Idaho Carey Act Developmental Association is a group of claimants to about two-thirds of the 228,286 acres of desert land filed in the state since early last year, according to president Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle.

Some of the members at the meeting complained that the BLM is dragging its feet, that it is reluctant to give up land now under its jurisdiction.

"They're not working quickly," Elaine Martin, Jerome secretary-treasurer of the group, told the Times-News. The BLM has approved the first step of only the first applicant, Bennell Mountain Irrigation, since filings began to come in last April, she said.

"There have been delays, you can't deny that," Vincent Strobel, chief of the branch of lands and mineral operations at the BLM, Boise, said today. Strobel said that a BLM "planning process" has dictated that the BLM develop plans for its land. "In what we feel would be proper use of it."

"Any major federal action requires that we write an environmental analysis," he said. Between six and seven people in the BLM office are working part-time on the analysis of the environmental impact of the new Carey Act proposals.

"The problem is that people have working on it are also working on quite a few other things," including other uses of the desert land, like grazing, recreational use, archaeological work and utilities.

Strobel said that the BLM's initial approval of the first stage of Bennell Mountain Irrigation's application was made "in the midst of confusion" because since the '30's the Carey Act proposals.

Plans backed at Mini-Cassia

By DAVID BOCKMANN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A regional planning council has recommended the construction of additional geriatric facilities at two Mini-Cassia settlements.

Wednesday night the Magic Valley Comprehensive Health Planning Council recommended approval by the state of proposals by the Minidoka Memorial Hospital and the Burley Care Center for the construction of new intermediate care facilities for geriatric patients.

But before construction can begin the proposals must be approved by the Idaho Comprehensive Health Planning Council. The state will consider the proposals Monday in Boise.

The Minidoka hospital plans a 45-bed $700,000 expansion program. If the plan is approved by the state, the hospital board will ask Minidoka residents to approve a bond issue to finance the construction. Hospital administrator Ed Richardson said there is critical need for the additional beds because of overcrowding of the existing geriatric wing.

If the project is approved, Minidoka Memorial Hospital will have a total of 79 geriatric beds, plus an expanded physical therapy department.

The Burley Care Center is a privately-owned facility of the Holiday Management Co., Salem.

The plan to build a 200-bed Minidoka Memorial regional planning group also recommended the state approve a 52-bed $102,000 expansion of the Burley facility. However, the planning council stipulated the care center provide more detail on the planned activity program, Nicholson said.

If the new wing is built, an old section of the existing care center will be torn down, giving the facility a total of 82 licensed long-term-care beds, Nicholson said.

Labor camp pact signed

In addition to re-examination and changes in the hours being pastured on the lawns, the agreement promises "improvements in the fixtures and facilities of the barracks will be completed before residents arrive each spring, provided funds are available."

All showers and all restrooms which are not in operating condition will be repaired, provided funds are available.

Families who lived in the barracks the previous year will be permitted to return to the same rooms if they notify the camp manager by April 1 they will be returning for the season. If notice is not given, such families relinquish their right to the same rooms, but not their right to other available rooms.

The agreement also provides that the camp will be cleaned and grass cut before the migrants arrive each spring, that grass will be cut every two weeks or as often as needed; clothesline will be replaced as needed and all junk will be removed from the grounds.

Provision is made for the formation of a committee of local residents who will assist in implementing the agreement and serve as a resource group. Camp residents may select a liaison person to sit in on meetings of the board of the labor sponsoring association.

All doors to residences will be locked by the camp manager when a resident moves out and gravel roads in the camp will be repaired as needed.

A bilingual person will be hired to work in the camp manager's office, at least during the migrant workers' season, and if possible, year around, according to the agreement.

Other than the resident, the camp manager is the only person who is entitled to have a key to a residence, and the manager's key to a residence is restricted to emergency conditions.

The agreement says no resident shall be evicted or threatened with eviction from the camp by the manager without good cause and the manager shall carry a gun only at night.

Adequate fire hoses will be on hand at the labor camp office at all times and the seven cabins will be repaired and rented to migrant families provided funds are available.

Thursday bad day for kids

TWIN FALLS — It was a bad day for children in Twin Falls County Thursday.

Three youngsters were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries as the result of separate incidents.

Jeremy Thomas, 14 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas, was listed in fair condition at the hospital this morning, suffering a fracture of the right wrist and a laceration of the right hand.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the child was injured in the Gem Equipment Co. parking lot on Kimberly Road when he stepped between a car being backed into a parking space on the firm's lot by Lanny Gene Wall, 32, Kimberly.

Pedro Rojas, 7, Filer, was listed as improved at the hospital today. His condition is reported fair and he has been serious following his admission to the hospital of both arms.

He suffered fractures of both arms and severe electrical shock. He apparently touched a wire on an electrically operated irrigation sprinkler unit on the Ken Marshall farm on Blue Gum farm project northwest of Burli about 5 a.m.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Rojas Sr., told the child from the accident scene by automobile and stopped at a turn-off house route to call an ambulance, Sheriff Corder said.

Jason Reynolds, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Reynolds, who also live northwest of Burli, was treated for a "dog bite at the hospital and released. Details of the incident were not known. Hospital officials said the boy was treated for puncture wounds on both sides of the face and for scratches and released to his home.

The child was injured at the Balmont Park Ranch, about 17 miles northwest of Burli.

If you haven't checked your coolant

Prestone® slices open a car's cooling system to show how corrosion can cause overheating and shorten engine life

In a new survey of 1,202 cars across the U.S., 45% required service because of cooling system problems.

Read how Prestone II Concentrate, with its patented formula, fights corrosion that can cause problems in your cooling system—and how two fresh gallons this summer can prolong your engine's life.

We cut open this engine cylinder head to show you how corrosion can build up in coolant passages. See the rough crusty sediment inside the cutaway area? That's from corrosion. It cuts coolant flow. So the engine gets hotter. This can crack the head and warp the valves. To avoid corrosion, flush your cooling system once a year and put in a fresh 50-50 mix of water and PRESTONE II Concentrate.

If you could cut your engine open, what would you see?

It's hard to see the damage old or worn-out coolant can be doing to your engine's cooling system and your engine unless you do what we did to this one—cut it open.

This cylinder head comes from an engine that's only six years old.

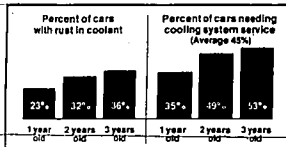

You can see the thick crusty buildup of rust in the coolant jacket around the valve ports. This can happen when the coolant has little or no ability to fight off corrosion.

Crusty corrosion is like an overcoat—it keeps heat in

That crust acts like a layer of insulation. It keeps the heat in the engine. Enough corrosion, enough heat—and the head can crack. The valves can warp or burn. And your engine will be ruined.

What a 1,202-car survey shows

A just-completed survey of 1,202 cars all across the United States shows some startling statistics. It reveals just how large a percentage of cars are suffering from corrosion and risking costly repairs.

How corrosion could shorten your engine's life

Corrosion could be clogging the tiny tubes in your radiator so they can't cool your engine properly.

Corrosion could be gradually perforating tiny holes in your coolant pump and your radiator—letting your coolant leak away and causing the engine temperature to rocket.

In time, corrosion can attack all the metals in your cooling system: steel, cast iron, copper, brass, solder and aluminum, which is in more and more cooling systems today, particularly in imported cars. Many people don't know it, but aluminum is highly susceptible to corrosion damage.

PRESTONE II Concentrate, with its exclusive patented silicone-silicate formula, protects all the metals in your cooling system, including aluminum, against corrosion.

PRESTONE II bonds a protective film to each metal surface. It's extremely tough. And if the film should break, it will mend itself quickly.

But other forces can go to work to keep the coolant from fighting off corrosion.

Exhaust gases can escape through a leaky cylinder-head gasket into the cooling system. When that happens, the gases turn to acids,

Corrosion can attack all 6 metals in your cooling system—including aluminum

PRESTONE II Concentrate with its patented formula bonds a protective film to all metals

How permanent is permanent?

which weaken rust inhibitors and hasten corrosion of metal parts.

For this reason, you should never leave your coolant in the cooling system too long—even when it's PRESTONE II.

A lot of people think a modern coolant can stay in the cooling system permanently—or at least two or three years.

It's true that a coolant will give you anti-freeze protection year after year, as long as it isn't diluted and your system doesn't leak.

But it won't fight corrosion that long.

How often should you change?

You'll find that recommendations in car owners' manuals may vary.

We say once a year.

Some of you may think we say that just to sell more coolant. Others may think we're being perfectionists.

But we've been working with coolants and engine cooling systems since 1927. That's almost 50 years. And our experience says that the best way to avoid corrosion and the expensive damage it can cause is to invest in a fresh fill of PRESTONE II Concentrate every year.

If you've waited more than a year to change, check your coolant now for corrosion.

Take a sample from your radiator. Look for a rusty brown color or loss of natural color of your coolant. Then check for sediment.

These are all indications that you have not

How often should your coolant be changed?

Take a sample

Combustion gas temperatures in your engine can reach 4,500° F. If your coolant can't remove heat adequately, oil can't lubricate metal parts and engine can suffer serious damage from overheating. PRESTONE II Concentrate fights corrosion that slows down heat removal.

changed your coolant frequently enough and that corrosion is already at work clogging up your cooling system.

But even if your coolant looks all right, its rust inhibitors could have lost their ability to fight off corrosion. And you may not know it until it may be too late.

Air conditioners can make hot engines even hotter

We know that a fresh fill of PRESTONE II Concentrate every year will fight corrosion and prolong the life of your engine.

Today's engines are designed to run hotter than those designed before 1962.

You need a coolant that can handle those higher operating temperatures without overheating and boiling over on our fiercest summer days, particularly if your air conditioner is on and building up heat under the hood.

According to PRESTONE engineers, today's cars need a 50-50 mix of water and PRESTONE II Concentrate for protection against boiling over, freezing up and corrosion.

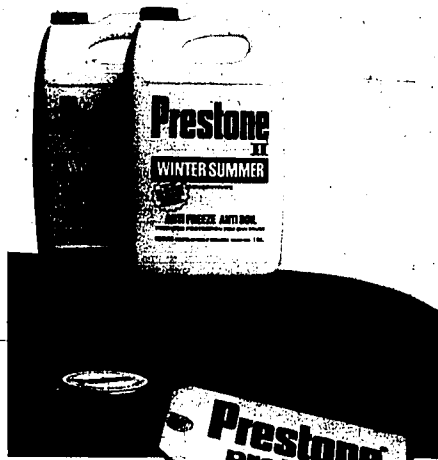

That solution—in combination with 15 pounds of pressure in the system—raises the boiling point of your cooling system to 265°F (and lowers the freezing point to -34°F).

How do you maintain proper pressure? Install a new radiator pressure cap about every two years. Our service experience shows that pressure cap seals can go bad in that time—so you lose pressure and your boiling point drops.

Now that you know what we know, check your coolant carefully for summer protection before the next weekend is up.

Send for free maintenance handbook

Send coupon below for free PRESTONE Cooling System Handbook with complete information on how to install PRESTONE II and lengthen the life of your engine.

SPECIAL OFFER:
New Radiator Pressure Cap—Only $1.00*

If you've read this page, you know how important it is to maintain pressure in your cooling system. It's pressure, for example, that helps keep the boiling point of the coolant above the normal operating temperatures of today's cooling systems. Our experience shows that most radiator caps lose their ability to hold pressure after two years. If you've had your radiator cap for two years or more, you really should replace it.

We'll make it easy. Send us $1 and we'll send you a brand-new radiator pressure cap.

Send me your free Cooling System Handbook. (25¢ for postage, please.)

Please send me a new radiator cap. I am enclosing $1. (Please give car make, year, model and number of cylinders for proper cap. Send money order or check. Make payable to: "PRESTONE Radiator Cap.")
