

Smokers, drivers, voters affected by new Idaho laws into force today

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Smokers, drivers, alcoholics, voters, farmers—just about everybody will be affected in some way by about 14 new Idaho laws taking effect today.

Did you like to puff a pipe or cigarette during those draw-out board meetings? Well, no longer, unless you're willing to choke down the $5 to $10 penalty for smoking at public meetings.

Persons in wheel chairs should start to find traveling easier. All new and reconstructed city curbs must now be built with ramps.

Drivers will find that when they go to have their car registered they will need to prove they have liability insurance.

Another new law makes it legal for farmers to drive tractors more than nine feet in width on public roads during the day. The width limit for other vehicles is now 8.5 feet, up six inches.

If you like to drink one too many occasionally you may be pleased that the state's new policy is to not put people in jail just for drunkenness. The Alcohol Treatment Act, however, does provide for a rehabilitation program.

And for the smokers who find three-fourths gallon containers in the grocery stores. This new law passed the legislature by a wide margin, despite protests, that the state should not regulate the use of milk containers.

Barbers will find that their profession has been redefined from "shaving or trimming the beard or cutting the hair" to include "trimming, arranging, curling, waving by any method, straightening," the hair. Besides the new definition, the training period to become a barber is now nine months and an examination must not only be taken, as before, but passed.

The person who likes to give a few dollars to a political campaign will find he can get some of it back from the state. Individuals will be able to deduct up to $5 and couples up to $10 on state taxes for political contributions.

But for people desiring to oust an elected official, times will be tougher.

The period for implementing a recall petition has been shortened from 90 to 60 days. More importantly, the number of votes to recall an official must now equal the number of votes that person gained in the general election.

Up to now recalls were successful by a simple majority vote in the special election.

Voters will, find now that their voting registration can be canceled if they haven't voted for four years. Previously, the registration was good for eight years.

Persons interested in changing the weather overhead may be glad to see that weather modification districts, which can levy taxes for a "weather modification fund."

Drivers of school and passenger buses and of trucks and explosives will now have to stop at railroad crossings within city and residential districts unless there is a policeman present to wave them on.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The California Chapter of Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative group, endorsed Ronald Reagan as a Republican candidate for president Monday.

Detente denounced

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford told black leaders today that economic hard times are ending, but the administration will not "turn its back" on the concerns of the poor in its effort to halt the depression.

While stressing that that equally for blacks can be achieved only through full economic opportunity, Ford would not promise any easy solutions or specifics for blacks in his speech prepared for the 6th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Obviously," he said, "some indicators will continue to be depressed for a few months, because they record only what is past. But I am confident the economic decline is over."

Striking a note reminiscent of a President Lyndon B. Johnson, Ford said he was speaking as president of "all the people" to discuss the "common problems and common sense approaches" which blacks and whites can achieve together for America.

"An unstable economy is the enemy of equal opportunity," Ford said. "While important advances can be made offering economic good times they can be quickly and cruelly erased during hard times."

"America is an economic family. We must live by the rules that any family must follow. We cannot spend more than we earn by endless borrowing. We must end our propensity for short-term solutions at the expense of long-range setbacks."

At the same time he said a policy of fiscal restraint "does not mean this nation will turn its back on major problems of employment, housing, transportation, health care and education."

The convention opened Monday with a sharp attack against the administration by NAACP Board Chairman Margaret Bush Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson cited Ford's recent vetoes of employment and housing bills as indications the administration is "different and unresponsive to the humiliation and suffering that millions of Americans are enduring."

TF gasoline prices on rise again

By DIANE ALTERS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Gasoline prices are going up all over the nation this week and Twin Falls prices are no exception.

Thanks to wholesale price increases by four major oil companies this week, some local gas stations either have raised their prices or see increases ahead to cover their increased expenses.

Tomorrow's prices will go up 2 cents at the Lakes Center, according to manager John Wilson, who said Standard Oil's wholesale increase will push his regular 49-cent, pumped gas up to 51 cents a gallon, up from 49.9 cents.

"You bet it's going up," owner Gilt Craigie of Craigie Chevrolet said today. "I can wholesale increase things like tires up to 50 cents for regular attempt-pumped gas. He said it was another 'business' increase."

A telephone call from the Standard distributor, Atlantic Richfield, also boosted its prices 2

Vinyl chloride ban requested

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumers are being exposed to cancer-causing vinyl chloride in a variety of plastic packaging items ranging from lunch meat to mouth wash, a Ralph Nader research said today.

The Health Research Group asked the Food and Drug Administration to ban all such packages, to prohibit vinyl chloride in all food products and to remove from the market any food or drug previously produced in vinyl chloride packaging.

The group said the FDA has been aware of the problem for more than 18 months, but has failed to take any final action.

Vinyl chloride, a gas used in the production of the widely used solid plastic material called polyvinyl chloride, has already been banned as an propellant in aerosol spray. It has been linked to at least 19 cases of liver cancer among

Quakes jolt Yellowstone

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (UPI)—Yellowstone's "big" and largest of the nation's national parks has shaken by a jumble of 27 tremors Monday, triggering landslides that blocked one of its major roads.

The strongest earth tremor hit 6.2 on the Richter scale and rocked a large area of the Northern Rockies shortly before 1 p.m. The epicenter was put in the Gallatin National Forest, about 50 miles from the center of the geothermal near the park's rim.

Monday's quakes were felt over a broad area of Montana with reports coming in from Great Falls, Bozeman and Billings. But no damage was reported in those areas.

In Yellowstone Park, a major road between Norris and Madison Junction in the west-central part of the park was blocked by a landslide, but the road was expected to be open today.

There were no indications that the quake was noticed in the Magic Valley.

State Carver of the Park Service was eating lunch when Monday's most severe tremor struck.

"The whole floor started quivering," he said. "There wasn't any noise or noise either. There was just a steady rilling of the floor."

"I saw right away what it was. There are no freight trains going through here."

A policeman in the small city of West Yellowstone on the park's rim said it was "a little shaky" there, but he added that there was no damage and the residents seemed to be taking the quake in stride.

The initial 6.2 California seismographic station at Berkeley timed the most severe quake at 12:56 p.m. Yellowstone time and a spokesman said there was a whole swarm of quakes. That was the strongest.

Earthquakes with a Richter value of 7 or more are commonly considered major in magnitude. The Richter scale is based on the maximum of recorded earthquakes in the world at 8.3 or 8.9 level, but Richter numbers are not used to estimate damage, just intensity.

Pants and all

TWIN FALLS—Alfred Larson, 66, Highland Ave., told police someone broke into his house while he slept and stole his trousers.

He said the trousers contained a wallet with about $20 and a coin purse with some small change. The burglary was reported this morning.

Idaho 85 Wednesday

TWIN FALLS—Mayor Johnathan Shedd took the city to the state capital of Boise Wednesday to celebrate the 85th anniversary of statehood Wednesday, July 3, 1890.

Shedd said the city will have a parade and a picnic on the day, state records show there were a number of celebrations in the form of parades and the like in Boise 85 years ago.

State officials say there are no indications that the city will have to wait until Friday for their holiday along with the rest of the nation.

Information in the Idaho Almanac published in 1951 in connection with the 75th anniversary of Idaho's admission to the Union as the basis of having "laid sufficient population" 1890, thanks to mining, railroads and many other cities.

Fred T. Dubois, a leader in the fight for Idaho's statehood, the almanac says, capitalized on the current heated issue of the day—polygamy and the anti-polygamy laws to have Idaho admitted as an independent state.

This was in spite of the fact that the earliest permanent residents were the band of LDS Church members who had been in Utah since 1847.

He established the Territory of Idaho as an independent state in 1847.

CB'ers aid police in suspect capture

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News Staff Writer

HANSEN — Citizens band radio buffs Sunday aided state police in the apprehension of an accused hit-and-run driver.

A 16-year-old Burley youth was charged with speeding and failure to remain at the scene of an accident with injuries Sunday afternoon after he fled a collision on Interstate 80 near the junction with Highway 50.

State police collared the youth after a chase at speeds up to 80 miles per hour over rural roads, but police might not have caught up with the youth except for the work of alert CB'ers.

According to Idaho State Police patrolman Frank Mogensen, the youth was proceeding west on the interstate when he ran into the rear end of a vehicle driven by Kenneth Lee Meeks, 33, Nampa, as Meeks slowed for a truck which had lost a wheel.

The youth, Mogensen said, was watching a flagman who was routing traffic around the stalled truck and failed to see Meeks slow in front of him.

Mogensen said the collision forced the Meeks vehicle off the highway and caused extensive damage to the rear of the vehicle.

Immediately after the collision, Mogensen said, the youth pulled into the median strip and turned east on the interstate.

"At that point Jack Weatherble, a Consolidated Freightlines driver from Burley, Utah, contacted CB'ers over his citizens band unit and advised them of the hit and run.

Meanwhile, according to Mogensen, John R. McArthur, Eden, was driving his car when he heard the message over his CB radio.

He spotted the youth in the hit-and-run vehicle heading south toward Twin Falls on Highway 50 at a high rate of speed.

MERRILL radioed the information to two ISP patrol cars which were on the way to the scene of the stalled truck. He also attempted to follow the hit-and-run vehicle but lost it near the Kimberly or Hansen junction, Mogensen said.

Merrill continued on into Twin Falls, turned around and was back to the Kimberly.

Hansen sightings on Highway 50 when he again spotted the runaway car. He followed the vehicle back near the scene of the accident and down the frontage road to Burley, running parallel to the interstate. He also radioed the information to the ISP a second time.

Patrolman Rich Wright, who was driving near the scene of the accident, then took after the youth who had outrun Merrill. He also radioed that he was being followed.

Chasing down the frontage road at speeds up to 80 miles per hour, Wright caught up with the hit-and-run car and placed the youth under arrest.

Merrill, the driver of the vehicle which was hit, suffered a whiplash but was not hospitalized.

The youth was not injured. He was charged with speeding and leaving the scene and scheduled for arraignment next week in Fifth District Court.

Mogensen gave the credit to the CB'ers.

"These guys are going out of their way," he said. "Within an hour (Sunday) we had two more accidents on the interstate, both reported by CB. That saves a lot of time. It really does. We just want to let these CB-radio-know-we appreciate it when they back us up like this."

Burley doctor sued

BOISE (UPI) — A Utah woman has filed a $50,000 damage suit against a Burley physician, claiming she was deceived about a cataract operation.

Martha A. Hunsaker, Ogden, brought the suit in U. S. District Court against Dr. E. J. OGDEN, who alleges his cataract operation on her eye was unsuccessful and that he "falsely and with intent to deceive stated that he removed plaintiff's cataract."

Mrs. Hunsaker said in her complaint that an Ogden physician later told her the surgery did not remove the cataract but had damaged her eyesight.

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

WASHINGTON — Senate investigators have determined that Central Intelligence Agency murder plots are not a fit subject for television viewing, a squeamishness that contrasts with earlier promises to tell the full story regardless of who might be hurt.

Charles Frank Church, D-Idaho, of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence and Vice Chairman John G. Tower, R-Tex., say they oppose public hearings of the type that beamed the Watergate scandal into the nation's living rooms two summers ago.

Other committee members have also indicated that they are reluctant to put the assassination investigation on television. The decision to avoid televised hearings applies only to the current investigation of assassinations. Committee sources say full public hearings are still likely on later studies of other phases of the nation's intelligence program.

Church said Thursday televised hearings on assassination "would do maximum injury to our country." He said the committee could keep its pledge to make all facts public by issuing a written report.

"Our purpose is to make the necessary disclosure of the facts to which I think the American people are entitled, but to do it in a way that will not hold up this whole sordid story before the world and telecast it to every corner of the globe," Church said.

Tower added: "I might say further that the matter of assassination must be viewed in a broader context of other operations that might have been available within the restrictions of certain policy guidelines."

That seemed to imply that the alternative to assassination was even more gruesome, but when a reporter protested that he could not understand what Tower was trying to say, the senator responded: "Well, perhaps that's good."

The committee has been listening to evidence of assassination plots in closed-door hearings over the past three weeks. As the evidence of CIA assassination efforts is accumulated, the lawmakers have been sending out signals that televised hearings might be too sensational a way to treat the material. The remarks by Church and Tower made it official.

If the committee keeps its pledge to make a full disclosure, whether it issues its report on assassinations late next month, the facts will be available to members of Congress, historians and careful readers of newspapers.

But the political impact will be much less than would be the case if the story unfolded on the tube. Even the best documented report lacks the drama of a confrontation between a senator and a witness.

Just as defense lawyers sometimes agree to stipulate to facts that are damaging to their clients rather than permit the matter to be established by testimony that might have a greater impact on the jury, the CIA's supporters may prefer to put the Agency's misdeeds on the public record with the minimum of fanfare.

Just as defense lawyers sometimes agree to stipulate to facts that are damaging to their clients rather than permit the matter to be established by testimony that might have a greater impact on the jury, the CIA's supporters may prefer to put the Agency's misdeeds on the public record with the minimum of fanfare.

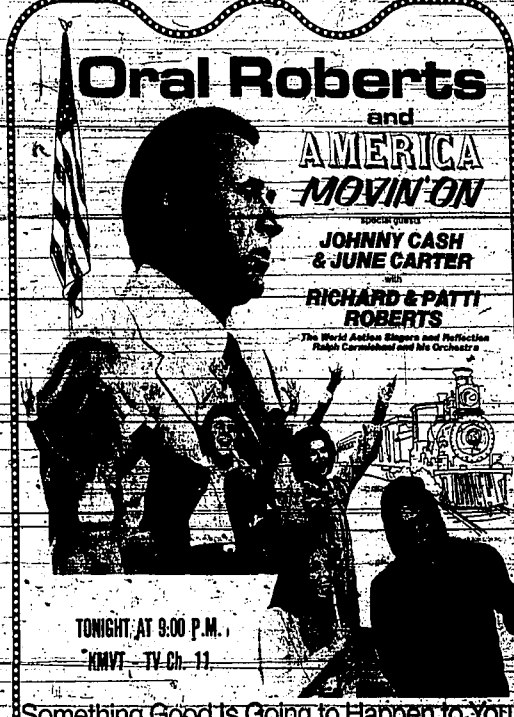

But enough is known of the evidence, the committee has received to indicate that some testimony, at least, would tend to implicate the former presidents.

The Senators may have decided they would prefer to evaluate all the evidence concerning the chain of command rather than give the public a look at the "raw" information.

Meanwhile, the committee and the White House settle a hot dispute over access to documents relative to the assassination inquiries.

After a three-hour huddle with Senators, Ford's chief lawyers agreed to permit the committee to keep the documents as long as it considered necessary instead of returning the papers each night to the White House for safekeeping.

DAV article inappropriate

Editor, Times-News:
Your article in the Sunday issue of June 22, titled "God in DAV Charity Hills," was a very inappropriate article regarding the Disabled American Veterans Organization.
No chapter in a department (state) can have fund raisings without the approval of the department commander and his officers. Ten percent of any fund raisings must be paid to the Blind Veterans of America as they are forbidden by chartered law to have fund raisings.
Also, our National Service Officers in all VA Regional offices are paid a salary not from fund raisings, but from DAV membership dues. Two-thirds of the claims they present to the rating board in Boise.

The Disabled American Veterans is a chartered organization with the Congress of the United States so that our legislative directors do much with senators and congressmen regarding legislative matters.

I have been an annual member of the DAV since 1945 and a life member the last 14 years, plus doing chapter service officer work for 27 years and I am proud to be a member of the Disabled American Veterans.

How about other fund raisers, United Fund, Red Cross and UNICEF? Their money is spent abroad, not at home.

Teams need every player

Editor, Times-News:
I am addressing this to all Eiler parents who have children in Filer Recreation.
To those of you who support the teams — thank you! To those of you who don't — you should see what your kids are missing!
I realize there are some mothers who work. Then there are some who are down-right lazy. I know you may have other children; but why can't you bring them along? They can play at the park while you watch your child's team play. I haven't been able to go to all the practices, but I have been there to see what goes on.

The 2nd T. League had to forfeit one game because the boys' mothers didn't get them up in time to catch the bus. In order to get the boys to follow through — the parents are going to have to follow through somewhere along the line.

Today the Filer teams are trampled by at least 20 runs. They did their best but were severely handicapped by not being able to pull a full team on the field. This really gives incentive, doesn't it? Was your child still in bed when we needed him?

March brings results

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

Last week's "poor people's march" on Washington, D.C., shows that little people can be effective, according to a Community Action Agency official who attended.

Roy Sletten, Twin Falls, one of the Valley people among the four-car caravan from Idaho, returned Sunday from the nation's capital.

There were 10 persons from the Gem state who joined between 5,000 and 10,000 in Washington last week in a lobbying effort to increase funding for continuation or administration of projects conducted by Community Action Agencies throughout the nation.

Sletten said in President Ford's new budget, funding for continuation of projects conducted by Community Action Agencies throughout the nation was cut by a "crippling $76 million."

While the delegates were in Washington two amendments to bring the funding up to the current level and provide "categorical" money for specific uses, were approved in the White House.

The categorical money, as proposed in the amendments, can be used for research, economic development, senior citizens and nutrition.

Sletten credited efforts of the poor people's mobilization prior to the "march" in Washington for having the amendments already in the hopper and up for vote during the week they were there.

A rally was held on the Capitol mall, with Cong. Shirley Chisholm and Hugh Scott as speakers, but the main activity was talking to legislators.

Sletten, who is on the board of directors of the South Central Community Action Agency, said this effort was different from the last poor people's march when there was much fear of violence.

This time there was no talk of violence. People sat on the lawn to hear the speakers but the main activity was in the offices of Congressmen where they should be, he said.

The speakers were participants were Mrs. Betty Mackay, Burley, and a Jerome group including Lucille Hinton, Donna Kennison, Suzzette Schwensen, Darlene Martinez and Audrey Roller.

The 10-day delegations' attendance resulted from a meeting in Boise where the Idaho Community Action Association, a coordinating group for all CAA and individual efforts provided enough contributions to pay for the Idaho group's expenses, Sletten said.

Exhibits by schools, scout troops, Camp Fire Girls, etc., will not be judged but accepted for exhibit.

Awards of a rosette plus $2 for first, $1 for second and $1 for third will be made to three exhibitors receiving the greatest number of first awards.

Entries will be received from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 29 and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 31.

They must not be removed until after 9 p.m. Aug. 2.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, winding up its 1974-75 term, ruled 6 to 3 Monday that a criminal defendant has a constitutional right to act as his own lawyer.

The Court also ruled in a 5-4 decision that a person with his criminal record and therefor a lawyer upon him, even when he insists that he wants to conduct his own defense.

It is one thing to hold that every defendant, rich or poor, has the right to assistance of counsel, and quite another to say that a state may compel a defendant to accept a lawyer he does not want.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger dissented, along with Justices Harry A. Blackmun and William H. Rehnquist.

In the lapses case, the Court did not rule on the merits of a law in North Carolina that automatically appointed the public defender as defense attorney.

Justice Potter Stewart, writing for the Court majority, said: "The question is whether a state may constitutionally halt a person with his criminal record and therefor a lawyer upon him, even when he insists that he wants to conduct his own defense."

112th victim identified

NEW YORK (UPI) — The office of the City's Medical Examiner Monday tentatively identified the 112th victim of last Tuesday's Eastern Airlines crash at Kennedy Airport as Demetrios Giokas of Greece.

A spokesman at the Examiner's office said Giokas was identified by a second cousin from Canada; but a positive identification was held up temporarily.

The death of the badly burned passenger, the only unidentified survivor of the 112th flight from New Orleans, made the crash the 222nd jetliner in the worst single-plane disaster in U.S. history. The man died at 6 p.m. Sunday in Jamaica Hospital from respiratory failure.

Nobel winner calls detente 'senseless process'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Exiled Soviet writer Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, in a fiery 11-hour speech delivered by the secretary of defense and other attendees denounced the current U.S. policy of detente with Russia as a "senseless process" of making concessions to aggressors.

The Nobel Prize winner said true detente could only come when Soviet leaders renounced their aggressive policies at home. Canceled ideological warfare and "inhuman propaganda" allowed free elections and a free press.

The author of "Gulag Archipelago," a best-selling account of Russian prison life, addressed an audience of 2,500 Monday night including Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, Labor Secretary John Dunlop, Patrick Moynihan, the newly confirmed U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and former Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Solzhenitsyn, who has been touring the United States and Alaska for the last two months, came out of seclusion to make his first major public address since he was expelled from Moscow in 1974 for heretical writings and dissident activities.

The banquet, hosted in his honor by APL-CIO President George Meany, got off to an emotional start when the bearded writer embraced and kissed Alexander Dolgin, a former U.S. embassy staff member in Moscow whom he had first met as a prisoner in the Soviet prison camp system.

Solzhenitsyn also hugged Simas Kudirkas, the Lithuanian seaman who unsuccessfully tried to flee to the United States by jumping on a U.S. Coast Guard vessel off Martha's Vineyard, Mass., in 1970. He later was allowed to leave Russia.

As at least one Soviet newsman listened, Solzhenitsyn denounced the Soviet Communist Party and government as "the most powerful system of persecution" in the world which had condemned millions to death by starvation or hard-labor.

Solzhenitsyn berated the West and the United States for a "senseless process of endless concessions to aggressors" in Moscow, declaring: "Power with continual retreat is no power at all!"

Fiscal year what?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Chinese might call it "the Year of the Red Ink."

For the government, it's simply fiscal year 1975. It arrived today and, despite the lack of fanfare, a big fiscal hangover is expected.

The government traditionally runs its budget year from July 1 to the following June 30 and in the next 12 months, the administration expects to run up the biggest budget deficit in history, $49 billion.

Next year, however, the fiscal year will begin Oct. 1, and there will be a three-month transition period to adjust to the new fiscal calendar.

CIA makes full report on 'asset's' drug case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The CIA has issued a public report on the "Putnam Khrushchov Case," involving one of its former "assets" in an agency drug case.

The report, which was dropped because Khrushchov's defense undoubtedly would have divulged sensitive information about intelligence sources and methods, including identities of employees and agents, and ongoing operations which could not have been produced without the termination of these operations and the disclosure of the usefulness of those employees and agents.

Drug charges against both Khrushchov and a Peace Corps member, Bruce Holt, were dropped and plans to use Khrushchov as a protection witness were scrapped. Three other persons pleaded guilty to charges relating to the shipment of 59 pounds of opium and were sentenced to prison.

The CIA documents said Khrushchov, 30, "admitted having been actively engaged in shipping the narcotics and stated that he furnished the wax paper, twine and wrapping paper for this particular shipment."

They described an April 15, 1974, meeting between CIA's top legal officials and then-assistant attorney General Henry Peterson and his deputy.

"It was explained by the CIA that Khrushchov was an agency asset who had been used to report on narcotics traffickers in Thailand, but of course had not been authorized nor directed to participate in the illegal shipment of narcotics for which he was indicted in Chicago."

Kidnaped

COMO, Italy (UPI) — Five men today kidnaped Cristina Mazzari, 19-year-old daughter of a wealthy Milan trader, police said. She was Italy's 27th kidnaped victim this year.

She and two young friends were seized at gunpoint at 2 a.m. outside her father's summer villa at Eupilia near Como, as they returned home from a party, police said.

The kidnapers later released Miss Mazzari's companions, police said.

There was no immediate ransom demand.

Pool completed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $61,000 swimming pool financed by private donations has been completed on the White House South lawn.

The pool, ready for President Ford's use today, was filled during the weekend and the cleanup and landscaping was finished Monday.

The pool, one-third the size of an Olympic pool, is located about 60 feet south of the West Wing of the White House. The President will be able to reach it by going through the basement and a tunnel with steps leading to within a few feet of the water's edge.

The pool was formerly occupied by dog kennels.

Benefits extended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has signed a bill extending eligibility of people out of work for more than a year to get extra 13 weeks of unemployment compensation.

He signed the bill Monday eight hours before the program was to expire.

Congressional leaders have said more than 14 million persons are expected to benefit from extension of the program.

The emergency measure continues existing law under which a total of 65 weeks of benefits are available to jobless workers.

It also continues a special anti-recession program of

Hard line remains

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits said today he has found no change in the hardline Soviet position on easing emigration of Russian Jews.

"There has been no change, nothing new," the New York Republican said before the start of a second day of talks between 14 visiting Senators and Soviet legislators. "There were no surprises on either side."

The senators set nuclear arms limitation as the major topic for today's discussions.

Javits said the eight hours of talks Monday included heated exchanges on the trade and emigration issue. He has been one of the Senate's most vocal supporters of eased emigration restrictions for Soviet Jews.

"Things got hot," he said, "I thought it the best time to get out my complete position and I did."

He said he told his Soviet hosts he remained confident the United States and the Soviet Union could resolve their differences over trade.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., told Monday's meeting he thought the 1975 Soviet-American trade bill collapse over the emigration issue "was to a significant extent the result of inadequate congressional executive communication."

Searcher tactics defended

OGALA, S.D. (UPI) — The FBI denies its men are using heavyhanded tactics in the search of the Pine Ridge Oglala Sioux Reservation for the killers of two of its agents.

Indians have charged agents had entered their homes without warrants and had otherwise acted in heavyhanded fashion.

FBI spokesman Tom Colby denied it Monday.

"There may be people out there armed but we're not getting heavyhanded," he told press briefing.

Agents Jack Coler and Ronald Williams, both 28, were shot down Thursday when they tried to serve a warrant at a house in Oglala. Authorities said the slayings were execution style and that some Indians at the house were entrenched in bunkers.

One Indian was killed in a subsequent shootout.

About 200 heavily armed agents were searching the 3,000-acre reservation for the 16 persons. FBI had said they were involved in the killings.

One man, Herman Thunder Hawk, was arrested during the weekend and has been questioned. But FBI officials said they were not sure he was at the house at the time of the shootings.

Colby said no negotiations were planned with leaders of the militant American Indian Movement, a major dissenting faction on the reservation and the leading group in a 71-day occupation of the hamlet at Wounded Knee in 1973.

A woman who claimed she was a relative said Monday the Indian killed Thursday, Joseph Stuntz, 24, may have been an AIM member.

John Sumit, 27, of Monticello, Minn., said Stuntz was one of three Indian children he had adopted. She said she believes he joined AIM about two years ago. His wife and two sons live in Washington State, she said.

Attorney asks trial transfer

BOISE (UPI) — Counsel for Thomas Eugene Creech, a suspect in a double slaying near Donnelly last fall, Monday requested transfer of the trial to Coeur d'Alene. Creech's attorney, Bruce O. Robinson, said Creech, told District Judge J. Ray Durtsch he selected Coeur d'Alene because it is "the only place in the State of Idaho that has not been deluged with overcoverage by the news media."

Robinson also said the northern Idaho town's proximity to Spokane would make it ideal for transportation considerations. Judge Durtsch said he would "consult other judges in Idaho before announcing his decision July 10 at 3:30 p.m."

Lynn E. Thomas, deputy attorney general, representing the state, said he had no particular objections to moving the trial to Coeur d'Alene but mentioned as a second location, Pocatello. Creech is charged with first-degree murder in the slaying Nov. 5 of two men whose bodies were found along Highway 55 near Donnelly. He also is a suspect in murders in Oregon and several other western states.

Gem pilot project set

BOISE (UPI) — A $50,000 will be awarded the State Health and Welfare Department to fund a demonstration or "pilot" child-protection program within region five.

The program will serve as a pilot project for Idaho's child health and welfare regions.

"This is just one example of the many affirmative and aggressive actions we have taken over the past few months and are taking currently to cope with child abuse and neglect reports coming to our agency in crisis proportions," said Roy Haney, region five director.

The Comprehensive Emergency Services program will be designed to provide immediate aid to families and children suddenly confronted with serious domestic situations, he said.

Emphasis in the demonstration program will be placed at Elmore County.

Challenge eyed by ex-director

BOISE (UPI) — Suspended State Mental Health Director Jack Steneck says he will challenge an attempt by the Department of Health and Welfare to abolish his job July 15.

Steneck was suspended last Nov. 6 after two allegedly unfavorable reports on his job performance. He has received his $2,019 per month salary, however, and taught in the Social and Urban Studies Department at Boise State University. He has not worked since May.

When notified of his termination in November Steneck filed a grievance against the department and independent arbitrators were chosen to hear the grievance but so far have been unable to settle on a third hearing member.

Howard Jameson, administrator of management services for the department, said Steneck's job was being terminated because of "budget constraints" and because the position does not fit into the agency's management plans.

He said the action will make Steneck's grievance moot but Steneck disagrees.

"You bet I still have a grievance," Steneck said.

He said he had invested too much in legal fees not to pursue his case. He added he has turned down several job offers while waiting for the grievance to be settled.

Review asked
CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A spokesman for the Southwestern Idaho Development Association has asked Idaho's attorney general to help obtain a review of pending Hells Canyon recreation area legislation.

The legislation approved by the Senate, now awaits House action.

'No' votes mount

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission has received 300,000 pieces of mail against any ban of handgun ammunition and only 500 for it, Sen. James A. McClure said today.

"If there was any doubt about how Americans felt on this issue, it vanishes with this response," McClure said.

"And this is really just the beginning."

"This is a clear case where the consumers of a product don't want control or regulation through the guise of any so-called protection," McClure said. "This proposed ban on handgun ammunition is nothing more than back-door gun control — and people just won't stand for any further gun control."

"They want to see criminals controlled — not guns," he said.

McClure is the author of legislation in the Senate that specifically would prohibit the commission from issuing any regulations dealing with any aspect of firearms or firearms ammunition.

Workers strike in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Thousands of state employees set up picket lines at government office buildings across Pennsylvania today in the first major public workers strike in state history.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees authorized the strike at a stormy meeting of an executive board members Monday. Their leader accused Gov. Milton S. Shapp of trying to destroy the union.

"I haven't any doubt that this is a direct attempt to break this union," said Gerald McPhee, AFSCME executive director. "They're going to take us on and break us because we have come so far in the last 10 years."

The AFSCME strike came after McPhee reported that a meeting Monday afternoon with Shapp was fruitless. He said Shapp would not budge from the state's last offer of a 3.5 percent wage increase, which would cost $27.5 million during the next 12 months.

AFSCME is seeking a 10 or 11 percent wage increase that would raise the average salary of state workers to about $10,919. The administration's proposal would increase average salaries to $10,373.

The Shapp administration planned to go into Commonwealth Court today to seek injunctions that could send many strikers back to jobs that are considered crucial to the health and safety of Pennsylvania.

AFSCME represents 73,000 state workers in virtually every government department. After other unions learned of the remaining vote for a strike, they voted to join AFSCME on the picket lines.

They included the 12,000-member Pennsylvania Social Services Union and the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, with 2,300 members. They cover most nurses who work for the state and almost all county social welfare workers.

Feminist talks said 'sabotaged'

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — American author Betty Friedan has accused "the powers that be" of deliberately sabotaging the troubled international feminist talks.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said any future international women's conference must change its orientation to avoid manipulation of the male power structures.

Ms. Friedan said the Tribune, an unofficial conference, running at the same time as the U.N.-sponsored International Women's Year talks, "was so threatening to the powers that be, they had to disrupt it."

Her remarks followed Monday's break-up of a Tribune session by a group of Latin American women showing "Down with Imperialism" and "Feminist Goals."

"It is interesting that disruptive efforts have been aimed at the Tribune, where the real women of the world are meeting, rather than at the official conference, where there is nothing but rhetoric going on," Ms. Friedan said.

Monday's disturbance came as the Tribune's 3,000 delegates discussed ideas for a U.N. plan on women's rights. The outbreak followed a similar demonstration last Friday by several hundred Latin American women.

"We want to discuss the problems of the Third World, not feminism and other bourgeois concerns," said one of the Latin American women.

"I don't think there ought to be another conference like this one," Rep. Abzug said Monday.

She said women should meet in the future "without the manipulation of the male power structures, under whose auspices they've arrived here."

Tighter grain inspection plan proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz will propose to Congress a cooperative federal-state system to tighten inspection procedures in an attempt to eliminate alleged corruption in the grain-export trade of the United States government, sources said today.

Such a decision would come in the face of growing criticism of the Agriculture Department's grain division, which is known to favor federalizing the inspection system.

But the secretary is said to have chosen the federal-state arrangement for six possible choices offered to him by staff experts because of the need he sees to continue good relations with the states in a wide variety of other federal-state programs.

Even before receiving the staff proposals, Butz had told reporters he was "leaning" toward a federal-state system.

A general acknowledgment of a need for a change in the grain inspection system has grown out of an investigation of alleged corruption in the handling, grading and weighing of grain that began in New Orleans and spread to Houston and other major grain ports.

Under the present system, grain is inspected and graded by inspectors licensed by the Department of Agriculture but employed by private or state agencies or agencies created by boards of trade or chambers of commerce on which grain companies and shipping interests are heavily represented.

Some state and private supervisors attempt to spot-check the work of the federal, and state inspectors.

The system has lent itself to questions of conflicts of interest and allegations of bribery and improper influence on inspectors to spot-check out of the current investigation.

In addition, foreign buyers have complained that they have received improperly graded or mislabeled grain.

As a result, received less value than they paid for. American farmers and others fear serious adverse effects on the United States grain-export trade.

Government sources say that staff experts presented the secretary with the following choices for legislative proposals:

— An all-federal inspection system with some federal inspectors but continuing state agency inspection in states where such agencies already exist, with the option for other states to create such agencies.

— A similar federal-state system but one that would limit state agencies to inland points and require federal inspection at all export ports.

— A system that would include state, federal and private inspectors, but with the right of federal supervisors to move in and perform original inspections when situations called for the action.

Under the present system, federal agents can perform only secondary inspection, either as a supervisory function or on appeal from original certification of grades.

A continuation of the present private and state system but with tightened requirements on performance and supervision.

Still another option was offered, said to combine various features of other choices, but details of that sixth plan could not be learned.

It is understood, however, that none but the all-federal and the federal-state options were even given serious consideration.

Grain division officials are said to favor generally the all-federal plan because of problems that have been turned up in some of the state agencies now in existence.

Inspectors in at least one such agency are known to be under investigation and the division has encountered problems with others in the past.

The proposed system is said to envision supervision and standards that would seek to alleviate such problems.

The present inspection system is virtually self-supporting, except for the overhead costs of the official agencies in Washington that oversee the grain quality control mechanism.

Near record 2nd quarter for stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market completed a near-record second quarter Monday, continuing a sharp six-month rally that has boosted the value of New York Stock Exchange issues by more than $76 billion.

And if the market foreshadows the nation's economy by six to eight months, as many economists believe, the recovery from the worst recession since 1937 is right on schedule. Six months ago, the market began its recovery from its worst performance since 1937.

Castro plot details hidden

NEW YORK (UPI) — CIA officials attempted to hide the agency's role in several attempts to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro by withholding from the Rockefeller Commission several pages of a secret internal report, the New York Daily News reported today.

The internal report, made by the CIA inspector general in May, 1972, told of the assassination attempts and detailed illegal domestic spying by the agency.

The News said William Colby, CIA director, admitted Monday that the report had not been turned over to the Justice Department or to the White House, he said in a "misleading briefing" was the reason.

The White House had not been advised of the information in the report, the newspaper said.

Figure misleading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Department officials expect a sharp decline in the "national unemployment rate" for June, but warn its advance that may be little more than a statistical trick.

Spectacles said the huge influx of students seeking summer jobs at this time of year could give a misleading impression when the job figures are reported on Thursday.

Unemployment hit a year peak of 9.2 percent in May. The experts think that number may be a little high after they get through with the process of statistical refinement.

Jeffus, Shitskin, commissioner of labor statistics, decried the unusual warning to reporters who normally write about the Labor Department's monthly report on employment and unemployment.

He recalled that the Labor Department reported a large drop in unemployment between May and June in 1971, when the rate went down from 6.2 percent to 5.6 percent. Joblessness rose to 5.8 in July and 6.1 in August that year.

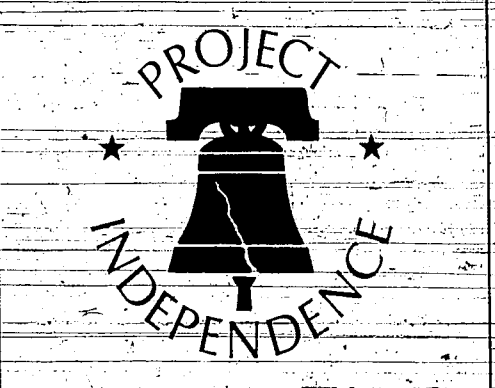

Later, a revision for the figures put the May jobless rate at 6.0 percent and the June rate at 5.8 percent. The July rate has revised upward to 5.9 percent and the August figure remained at 6.1 percent in 1971.

Energy Independence begins at home

America's independence from foreign energy sources begins at home — your home.

If all depends on how conscientious each of us is about things like insulation, weatherstripping and caulking our homes — and practicing wise energy use in our daily lives.

The Federal Energy Administration says cooling and heating homes consumes about 11 percent of all the energy the United States uses in a year.

According to the same agency, insulation can increase temperature-control efficiency for heating and cooling by as much as 20 to 30 percent. Caulking and weatherstripping can reduce a family's energy consumption by 10 percent or more.

Call Idaho Power for help in getting greater energy efficiency in your home. One of our Energy Advisers will be glad to visit your home (or your place of business) and suggest ways you can make the energy you use go further. His advice is free.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, I had a child out of wedlock. I never married the baby's father, but we lived together as husband and wife up until six months ago. When we decided to split up, there was no big scene and no hard feelings. He quietly moved out, and I went to work. I told the people at work that my husband and I were splitting up. Naturally, they assumed we were getting divorced.

An attractive bachelor (one of the Bosses) asked me for a date. I accepted, and we hit it off wonderfully well. Our date led to another, and now we are together almost every evening and weekends.

I know he is serious about me. He asked me if I had filed for divorce yet, and I avoided giving him a straight answer. Here is where I need your help.

If I confess that I had a child out of wedlock and never married the baby's father, will he live with him for over two years. I wonder what this other guy will think of me. I don't want to make up any lies, but if I tell him the truth, he might think I'm a tramp. How much should I tell him?

NEEDS ADVICE

Tell him everything

DEAR NEEDS: Tell him everything. Your past doesn't necessarily make you a "tramp." Many learn and mature from past mistakes, and the fact that you don't want to lie now shows that you have both learned and matured. Level with him, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of the better apartment-house owners will accept a couple with dogs or cats but won't rent to a couple with a child? The most damage our 4-year-old son could do is to crayon up the walls, whereas a dog or cat could completely ruin the place. We are sick to death of being turned away so though we were undesirable because we have a child. I am also insulted that my son is classed lower than a dumb animal. We would be willing to put up a deposit to cover any damages our little 30-pounder might do.

Print this, please. I am sure other parents of young children share my problem.

MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I sympathize, dear. But it's not only property damage that concerns apartment owners. Children sometimes make more noise than some adults can tolerate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress with a pet peeve: women who come in with escorts and refuse to speak to me. When I ask for their order, they ignore me, turn to their escorts and tell them what they want. Then the man gives the order to me. This is ridiculous. It's not my business what they do. This happens all the time, and it burns me up. Maybe if you print this, it will have some effect on women who are guilty of this humiliating practice. Thanks a lot.

BURNED

DEAR BURNED: Sorry, but according to the etiquette book, the gentleman should order for both the lady and himself. This is practiced in the more elegant and formal restaurants. But in the interest of common sense and expedience, I think it's time that mob-eaten rule was dropped.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE IN SILVER SPRINGS, MD.": Tell your parents at once. I guarantee they won't kick you out of the house. In times of trouble, your parents are your best friends. Tell them today!

Couple recites vows in garden ceremony

KIMBERLY — Patricia Marie McClenny and Robert Wayne Conrad were married in a 2:30 p.m. garden ceremony June 14.

The wedding was in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. M.P. Ericson, aunt of the bride, who resides north of Filer.

Rev. John Be Sims, Twin Falls, conducted the ceremony beneath a white trellis arch decorated with greenery and flanked by flowering plants with a background of live shrubbery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. McClenny; Kimberly is the bridegroom's sister. The bride and groom are the late Mrs. and Mrs. Max Conrad, Rupert.

The bride wore a gown of pink and lavender floral print polyester sheer over pink with white lace trim and a large, purple bow at the back.

The floor-length dress featured a fitted bodice with V-neckline and a full skirt. The long sleeves were gathered to wide fitted cuffs.

She wore a wide-brimmed white hat trimmed with white and lavender floral print cattail orbeds with netting and leaves tied with a cascade of ribbons and beads. She wore a birthstone necklace, a gift of her father, a family turquoise ring borrowed from her mother, and a pearl brooch borrowed from Mrs. Craig Wright.

Suzi McCauley, Worland, Wyo., was maid of honor. Mrs. Larry Ruckel, Kenai, Alaska, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Gary Ingersoll, Salt Lake City, was best man. Tim Conrad, Salt Lake City, brother of the bridegroom, was usher.

Jaret Ruckel, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Dacia Roy was flower girl. Maria Coats, Kimberly, was soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony.

A cake, formed by two Strawberry creme hearts joined by a cascade of pink roses, was placed on a table covered with a pink table cloth.

Mrs. M.P. Ericson, Filer, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Dell Gillard-Salt Lake City, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Martin Landholm, cousin of the bride, assisted with the reception.

Sheri Stout, Kimberly, cared for the gifts. Mrs. Craig Wright, Forest Grove, Ore., was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner. The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Dell Gillard and Mrs. Gerald Bowcutt, sisters of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to the Oregon coast, the couple resides in Salt Lake City, where the bridegroom owns and operates an automotive shop and the bride is employed as a receptionist for a doctor.

Guests attended from Salt Lake City, Brigham City and Tremonton, Utah; Forest Grove and Hillsboro, Ore.; Meridian, Jerome, Murtaugh and Kimberly, and Kenai, Alaska.

Hints

Bonnie Cashion's fall collection has a bi-centennial theme. Inspired by the dress of the Pilgrims; the West and the Indians. Included are fringed jackets and dresses.

Fashion designers may be expecting a colder than usual winter. Many fall collections showed deeper and bulkier textures than ever and close-fitting clothe hats.

Reunion dance slated

JARBIDGE, Nev. — The Reno Racketeers will provide dance music for the Jarbridge Commercial Club Reunion dance July 4.

There will be a chuck wagon feed at noon July 4. The event is a part of the bi-centennial celebration and will be in Jarbridge.

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 16-year-old girl. My problem is one you probably hear about often — acne. But mine is not on my face. It's on my back and breast area. Near the neck it seems to be worst. When the beach season here, I begin to get that old bathing suit problem. Any suggestion? — Miss B. R.

Your mother's case of what is called "acne mechanica," about which a recent study has been done at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

According to the study by the school's department of dermatology, at least 15 per cent of acne cases treated by physicians may fall into this category, in which physical irritations are involved. It is also called stress acne, and it seems to prevail among those whose skins are already prone to the acne problem.

New acne problem emerges

Among causative factors listed by researchers are bras, turtleneck sweaters (which might apply in your case) and other tight-fitting clothes. Among athletes it can be football chin straps and football helmets. In the case of office workers, the backs of his seats or chairs — have been found to be factors.

If your acne is limited to particular areas of the body, you might check your list of wearing apparel and see if you can by elimination find out what's causing your problem. It's worth a try. My booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples" could be of further help in a general understanding of the condition. For a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper and enclose a long stamped and self-addressed envelope.

While acne is generally considered a problem of younger people, they have for a decade claimed an "acne" similar to that mentioned above. It is called "acne mechanica" and can be found in some truck drivers whose backs are in contact with seat cushions on their trucks over long periods of time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I am 65 years old and have an enlarged prostate. It is not a chronic condition. About once a year or so it will flare up. I go to my doctor and he massages it and gives me antibiotic pills. Within a week or so I am all right.

Can you tell me if drinking a glass of wine before dinner has any effect on this, causing the prostate to become infected, thereby creating the urinating problem? — G. A. M.

Perhaps we don't have the same definition of the term "chronic." My definition is a condition that persists over a long period of time. From your letter I would call your prostate problem a chronic one.

Your urination disturbance originates from the periodic enlarging of the lobes of the gland with an ensuing congestion. The result is a narrowing of the urinary outlet.

But to your specific question, I doubt that the glass of wine would worsen your condition. If your prostate gives you more trouble than you now report, however, you might have to consider surgery, which quite often ends the problem entirely.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 Can you tell me if there is something a person can use instead of the usual deodorants? I cannot use the regular underarm deodorants because of the chemicals in them. — D. C.

If your problem is severe, you might consider shaving under the arms. Hair can hold moisture and bacteria, both part of the general odor problem. You should try dusting with a non-medicated powder after careful bathing of the area with plain soap and water to see if this improves things.

Also, I'm sure there are other deodorants on the market which do not contain the specific chemical you suspect to be the cause of your problem.

Finally, there is a paste you can make from baking soda and water, and this has been helpful in some cases such as yours.

INTEREST COMPOUNDED EVERY DAY

Your interest on regular savings is compounded daily. This has the effect of increasing earnings to you. For example, the 5% annual rate of passbook savings will actually earn 5.13% in a year's time. This is because interest is earned every day... day in and day out... on previously paid interest as well as on the principal for that account. Earnings on earnings. Interest is earned from date of deposit to date of withdrawal for active accounts.

Idaho First — where interest every day is quite a bit more than everyday interest.

South's two-heart bid was a classic reverse call. North had to return to clubs at the three level if he wanted to bid clubs. As it was, North bid three hearts and South settled for game.

He managed to make six due to the very even way his opponents' cards were divided. He ducked the first diamond, won the second one, cashed ace-king of clubs, ruffed a club, played dummy's king and jack of hearts and overtook with his queen after East played the 10.

Then he ruffed his last diamond, played ace and another spade ruffed in dummy.

In the language of bids a reverse bid should always show extra strength. More important you and your partner should know just what a reverse bid is. We define it as any bid of a new suit that shuts out a rebid to an earlier bid suit at the lowest possible level. We recommend that a reverse bid by sponsor be a one-round force and guarantee at least 15 points; a reverse by responder be a game force and show at least 12 points. For the rest of this week we will know reverse bids at work.

'25 class displays pictures

TWIN FALLS — A display of individual class pictures taken in 1925 was one of the highlights of the 50th Reunion of the class of 1925 from Twin Falls High School Saturday.

Larry Hall, chairman of the reunion committee, said 71 classmates and their spouses attended a reunion dinner Saturday evening at the Blue Lakes Inn. He said decorations consisted of blue and gold tablecloths with small arrangements of blue, gold and white flowers representing the class and social colors. Large bouquets of flowers in the same color placed around the room completed the decorations.

He said original graduation dresses worn by Anita Bice Torrens and Dorcas Sheldon were displayed as well as pictures taken at the class sneak day. Class members also saw copies of the school newspaper and pictures from the '25th class reunion.

Hall said people attended the reunion from New Jersey, Florida, Utah, California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho. He said Mrs. Ethlyn Lindley-Walington, the class' English instructor and Marion Barnes a former instructor were special guests. Mrs. Walington reminisced about experiences with the class.

Hall said Albert Murphy, class member, was master of ceremonies and that poems were read by classmates Edna Carter-Jakway and Dorothy Fuller Montooth. He said Earl Peck spoke for the "long suffering spouses" of the committee members. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weaver headed the decorations committee.

He said class members met for a coffee hour at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at O'Leary Junior High, the original high school building from which the class was graduated, for "visiting" and reminiscing.

Irwin wins Western, hits 1-under 283

OAK BROOK, Ill. (UPI)—Hale Irwin proved himself a prophet Monday.

Midway through the $200,000 Western Open, he said, "Anyone within six shots of the leader should be super. Anything can happen on this golf course. Shoot two par rounds and you might pass everybody."

Irwin didn't lead at the halfway point. George Johnson did, by a stroke. And Irwin didn't shoot two rounds of par-7 at a par 7 and a two-over par 7.

But he stayed ahead of everybody... helped when Johnson collapsed on the final three holes and went bogey, triple bogey, double bogey, for a total of six over par. Johnson's collapse was the only untimely show-up in Irwin's tie for seventh. Bobby Cole from South Africa finished one stroke behind Irwin.

Irwin wound up with a one-under par 283 for 72 holes on the 7,602-yard, par 71 Butler National golf club and the $40,000 top prize money. Irwin boosted his 1975 tour earnings to $175,627, still about $5,000 behind Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller in the standings.

"It was the most nerve racking experience I've ever been through," Irwin said. "I felt like I had to eliminate some of the mistakes I'd been making. I had to get rid of a lot of the bogeys. I did, and I got rid of the birdies, too."

"But I had 16 pars and two bogeys in the afternoon, and that's hard to beat playing under the conditions we had. The greens were extremely bumpy and the course had dried up considerably. It was an entirely different course than we had in the morning. Irwin two-putted for a par on the right off the fair in the afternoon and you better believe I was watching the scoreboard."

Irwin, playing for pars, might never have caught Johnson. But the 36-year-old Johnson, trying to become the second black golfer to qualify for the Masters tournament with a victory on the main pro tour, blew up on the 17th.

"It was a crummy shot," Johnson said. "I don't know what I did. It was a bad shot... What he did after a drive into the left rough, was to try to hit a nine-foot back into the fairway. Instead the ball tumbled over a fence and out of bounds. Johnson took a triple bogey seven, fell four shots behind Irwin, and later was in the clubhouse at seven par 214 after making to-back scores of 71 and 63 in the 36-hole finale Monday, took second place and pocketed $22,800. The final 36 holes were required because the tournament had been rained out two previous days.

Irwin believed he won the tournament on the 11th hole, where he put his tee shot in the bunker. In the morning, he did the same thing but came out of the trap into the water and got a double bogey. In the afternoon, he said, "I took out a six iron and when I hit it I knew it was a hell of a shot. It went 155 yards out of the bunker, over the water, into the wind and on to the middle of the green."

Southeastern champs of 1975 may be decided on television

ATLANTA (UPI)—The early line on southeastern conference football predicts that the 1975 championship will be decided until the final weekend of the season—at the nationally televised Alabama-Auburn game.

The consensus is that both Alabama and Auburn have a good shot at going unbeaten until their showdown finale.

Alabama, 11-3 last year and No. 1 in the nation until losing by two points (11-13) to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, has 14 starters returning, eight of them on offense.

Auburn, upset by Florida (15-14) and a 4-point loser (7-13) to Alabama in a 5-2 season, has a few more replacement problems, but returns 35 lettermen from the team that crushed Texas (27-3) in the Gator Bowl.

And Auburn has an added incentive. Shug Jordan, dean of the SEC coaches (25 seasons, as head coach at Auburn), is retiring at the end of the '75 season and you can be sure the War Eagles will be battling to send him out a winner.

But you can count on Alabama's Bear Bryant coming up with something just before the kickoff.

Florida, 8-5 last fall before losing by three points (13-10) to Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl, carries a darkhorse label, especially since the Gators have a lot of offensive performers returning. But Florida keeps living up to its reputation for losing key games.

Anderson appointed to Ski Foundation

PARK CITY, Utah (UPI)—Veteran ski official Graham Anderson of Seattle was appointed Monday as vice president of the U.S. Ski Education Foundation, the fund-raising arm of the U.S. national ski team.

Anderson, 41, a former competitor at the University of Washington and ski coach in the Pacific Northwest, will work with foundation president Bradford Briggs as coordinator of special programs and committees.

A member of the U.S. Ski Association since 1960, Anderson has served as president of its alpine competitive committee and as chairman of its international competition committee for both alpine and nordic skiing.

He has also acted as secretary general of the F.I.S. World Cup Commission, on its Olympic ski games committee and as North American representative on the F.I.S. alpine ski committee.

Anderson immediately urged public support of the U.S. ski team during the coming season, which will be climaxed by the 1976 Winter Olympics. "Without it, we have literally no chance to win," he said.

NCAA notifies MSU of hearing delay

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The NCAA notified Michigan State University Monday that it is again delaying a hearing on alleged equipment violations in the Spartans' football program that have been the subject of an NCAA investigation.

Michigan State officials earlier had been ordered to submit their written response to the charges by Tuesday and a July 11 hearing had been scheduled. The original deadline had been June 2.

MSU President Clifton Wharton Jr. said neither postgame had been sought by the university and that school officials are now ready to respond to the allegations, which have not been made public.

The NCAA did not set any new date for the response, MSU officials said.

Petty, Pearson, waiting

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Time in Friday at Daytona International Speedway for a new chapter in the continuing saga. "The King and Silver Fox."

When the Fox—David Pearson—outdid the King—Richard Petty—to win the July-Fourth Firecracker 400 stock car race for the fourth straight year? Or will the King prevail?

Petty, 37, of Randleman, N.C., the reigning king of southern stock car racing and five-time winner of the Daytona 500, has never won the July 4 race. He has finished second the last four years.

Pearson, 41, of Spartanburg, S.C., called "Silver Fox" because of his black, curly, half-and-foxy behavior on the race track, will be looking for his first National Association of Stock Car Racing (NASCAR) victory this year.

"The fact I've won three Firecrackers in a row doesn't make any difference," Pearson said. "This is a different year. But don't get me wrong. All things being equal, there's no reason we can't make it number four."

Ali says he won't retire

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—World heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali said Tuesday morning he had given up thoughts of retiring and would meet former champion Joe Frazier in Manila, Oct. 1, if he defeated Joe Bugner.

All made the announcement at Merdeka Independence Stadium here less than an hour before entering the ring against Bugner, the 25-year-old European champion from Great Britain.

"My mind was completely made up on retiring," the 33-year-old champion said to a worldwide closed circuit theater and television audience. "But when I saw the greatest fighter of all time, Joe Frazier, want another fight, he's got it."

Frazier was at ringside in the still half-empty stadium when Ali made his announcement.

After planning to show Cassius what it's all about, Frazier said.

Bugner ineffectual against the champ

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—Muhammad Ali still had more minutes to go before he would finish his fight with Joe Bugner Tuesday morning. He looked over the ropes and shouted to Joe Frazier, "You're next, be ready!" Then Ali went out and finished the job—after completing a rout of a top ineffectual, albeit fine, British challenger.

He had said two years ago that one day Bugner would be the world champion and now he repeated that prediction. "I know he can do it," Ali said. "I thought I would knock Joe out in 10 rounds, but Joe Frazier didn't give me such a rough time. Ken Norton didn't and George Foreman didn't."

But it was pure bombast. In the sweating 34 degree heat and crushing humidity, Ali still was able to go through his whole repertoire. He jelled on the ropes, he dropped his hands, he fought when he chose to, and throughout it all, Bugner plodded along, playing into the hands of the champion.

But never coming close to being knocked down.

"It was the heat that did me in," the 25-year-old Hungarian-born European champion said, but it was the same heat for Ali, and at the end of the bout, after landing just one more popping right hand that snapped Bugner's head back, Ali gave his adoring Malaysian followers one last look at the dubious shuffle.

"I thought I could stay away from him for the first five or six rounds and then come in. But I couldn't find a way to do it. I wanted to see how fast he was. I did," Bugner said.

His manager, Andy Smiltz, still has hopes for the future for his blond, handsome fighter, who survived the full

Goss wins over-all in off-road race

RAVIER, Nev.—Milo Goss, La Grande Ore ran away with the overall Championship in Curtis Pet's 1970 Ford Bronco. Goss, 37, of La Grande, Ore., won the 100-mile, 10-hour off-road race by a wide margin. He finished in 10 hours, 10 minutes and 10 seconds, while the runner-up, Bob Drake, finished in 11 hours, 10 minutes and 10 seconds.

Goss added the victories in the "Big Red" class to his overall and eight cylinder win in the 1970 Ford Bronco. Drake had two first and one second place finishes in the one cylinder modified class.

The third overall position was taken by Chandler, Nampa, who finished in 11 hours, 10 minutes and 10 seconds. Chandler was in the four cylinder modified class.

Starting for the overall trophy was based on position of the runner-up in one class. Goss had total series record for two trophies in the cross country miles and winners of the 100-mile race.

The drop and barrel races were run Sunday over 95 degree heat on Jackson's Outer Line race track. The boys' and women's large races were run around a rodeo

Area men cop pro-am honors

AMERICAN FALLS—Jim Packard, Twin Falls funny assistant pro, and amateurs Mark Stout, Twin Falls, and Burt Snyder, Sun Valley, grabbed honors in a pro-am here Monday.

Packard toured the short, tricky course in a smart one-over-par 67, to share pro sweeps honors with Keith Stanwood of Caldwell.

Stout, despite a severe stroke handicap, managed a one-over-par 67 to win gross honors.

But the luckless, and most frustrated one was Bender. He fired a sharp four under-par 29 on the first nine, but then ran into the liberally intersticed out-of-bounds problems, and wound up with incongruous nines of 29-41.

Bender's 29 tied the best ever on the American Falls layout.

An American Falls team of pro Ken Vandenhoff and amateurs Hal Doering, Perry Dennis, Mike Sollenberger and Dave Sollenberger, took the three best total at 178. Dennis Howell and am Den Hillman, 177; Lower; Dave Crozier and Ken Stralford were second at 179; while Jim Packard and am Gary Rene, Mike Schlag, enahut, Stout and Kevin Packard were third at 178.

In the 9-11 prize division, Stout, first at 67, while Bender and Kid Packard tied for second at 70. In net, American Falls' am Hal Holden, at 60, and George Ward, were one two of 60-61.

In the 12 and over, Herm

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Bobby Darwin's 310-foot run put him in the bottom of the ninth inning Monday night as the Milwaukee Brewers came from behind to win a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

The way was cleared for Darwin in a row and moved them to within one game of the second place Yankees in the American League east.

New York had taken a 3-2 lead on Chris Chambliss' lead-off home run in the top of the ninth, but Sixto Escobar beat out an infield single with one out in the bottom of the ninth and then Darwin, batting for Bill Sharp, belted one to Rudy May's platoon in the left field batters for his eighth home run of the season.

Both Darwin, obtained in a trade from Minnesota, and winning pitcher Bill Travers, called up from Sacramento, joined the Brewers earlier in June. Travers went the distance, allowing seven hits, 16 runs, six earned and four.

Milwaukee's first three runs, which were unearned, came in the fourth inning. Robin Yount opened the inning by reaching base on third baseman Grant Nettles' error and George Scott followed with a double to left-center to score Yount.

Dodgers snap Padres 4-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Rex Dyer drove in three runs with a solo homer and single while Andy Messersmith became the first 72 game winner in the National League Monday night when he hurled Los Angeles to a 4-1 victory over the San Diego Padres to snap a five-game Dodger losing streak.

Dyer, who had been hitting .100 in his last 10 games, had a home run and a double in the fourth and fifth innings to lead off the scoring.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Ted Simmons, Ken Reitz and Mike Tyson, banded out two hits apiece Monday night to back the pitching of Bob Forsch and give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

St. Louis' Forsch, who had been hitting .100 in his last 10 games, had a home run and a double in the fourth and fifth innings to lead off the scoring.

Pirates nip Montreal 5-3

MONTRÉAL (UPI)—Rheie Zisk broke a 1-1 tie with his sixth home run in the fifth inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates added three runs in the ninth inning Monday night to defeat the Montreal Expos 5-3.

Zisk injured his right index finger when he collided with Expos' shortstop Tim Lincecum on a forecourt at second base and left the game in the seventh.

Trans-Magic halt studied

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission staff established in testimony Monday that the predecessor to Air-Idaho suspended operations between Idaho cities without authority from the regulatory body.

The hearing is on a complaint filed by the commission. It could result in the loss of Air-Idaho's certificate to fly between Idaho cities.

Also at issue in the hearing is a request by Air Idaho to resume service between Boise, Twin Falls and Halley-Sun Valley.

Richard Shirley, IPUC transportation executive assistant, testified that Air Idaho, which then was Trans-Magic Airlines, suspended operations in July 1974 but did not receive commission authority to do so until later in the month.

A. Bob Jordan of Oklahoma City, general counsel and a director of the Dalhart Corp., which now owns the airline, was called by the staff as an adverse witness to testify on the transfer of ownership from the Sierra Insurance Co.

The regional airline has been charged with failure to gain proper authorization to suspend service last year, failure to notify the commission when service would be resumed, failure to fly a Pocatello-Idaho Falls route as a condition for authority to fly the more lucrative Boise-Halley route and failure to obtain authority from the PUC to sell majority interest in the airline.

The commission will take the matter under advisement once the hearing is completed.

Andrus eyes reappointments

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus plans to discuss reappointment of Environment Fund Investment Board members at a private session with the board July 8.

An aide to the governor said that is the first date the governor can meet with the board members. The session is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. The board's regular meeting will follow at 11 a.m.

A new law which became effective today removes a bulletin conflict of interest on the board. Instead of requiring that at least four members be active in the investment and banking community it simply requires they have experience in banking and investment business.

Satan worshippers possible suspects

COUNCIL, Idaho (UPI) — Sheriff Jim Hileman says he is beginning to "lean" toward a possible cult of Satan worshippers as the reason behind the mutilation slayings of six cows in Adams County.

The cows were found dead north of Council in the past two weeks. Each had its sexual organ, udder and tongue cut off.

Asked about the Satan theory, Hileman said "I can't prove or disprove it."

But, he said, "anything's possible" and added, "I'm starting to lean toward it."

Ada County seeks gunman

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County sheriff's officers are looking for a gunman who shot and wounded a Boise man from a passing car while he worked on a stalled vehicle alongside Highway 41 Monday.

Richard L. Canterbury, 18, told officers he and two friends were repairing their stalled car when another vehicle drove past and a shot was fired. He was wounded in the stomach. His condition was listed as satisfactory today.

Attorney general seeks views

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's attorney general is seeking the views of other western legal officials on a possible court case against the U. S. Forest Service for drilling wells in Idaho without mission from state agencies.

Attorney general Wayne Kidwell, back Monday from a meeting of the National Conference of Attorneys General, said he was pleased that without exception all the western attorneys general, "rel the federal agencies, have overstepped their bounds with regard to appropriation of state water."

Job placement high

JEROME — Job placements stay high in Jerome, according to Joe Skaug, director of the Jerome office of the Idaho Department of Employment.

With joblessness and recession affecting the rest of the nation, Jerome has continued to get precedents for job placement, according to Skaug.

Skaug predicts that June will be another record-shattering month. With only two-thirds of the month gone, the Jerome office of the employment service has placed over 100 persons and expects the figure to go as high as 140 by the end of the month.

"We're by far the most productive office of our size in the state. No one else is even close to us in job placements," Skaug said.

Jerome comparison of joblessness during the same 4.0 per cent for Jerome while on the national level it was at 9.2.

Skaug said his office will be moving into new quarters July 2. The department has signed a 10-year contract with S. A. Kolman for office space at the new office building Kolman is now building in the 100 block of East First Street.

Sentencing postponed

BURLEY — Sentencing for Tony and Julia Peña, Burley, for the involuntary manslaughter death of their infant son, has been postponed to July 8.

In June the Peñas pleaded guilty to the Dec. 7 manslaughter of Tony Peña Jr., 10 months. Sentencing had been set for today in Fifth Judicial District Court.

According to the complaint filed by Cassin County Prosecutor Alfred Barris, the youngster, 2 1/2 years old, suffered severe injuries, including bruises, contusions and broken ribs, and suffered malnutrition before he died.

Sentencing was postponed awaiting completion of a presentence investigation. The maximum sentence for involuntary manslaughter is 10 years.

Minidoka land plan calls for farmland guard

At the same time, the number of farms dropped from 1,120 to 978 while the number of acres per farm also dropped from 221 to 303 acres.

To forestall further encroachment on the county's agricultural economic base, the plan calls for the prohibition of new residences on less than 20 acres in areas zoned agricultural.

Exceptions to the restriction would be granted in already-plotted subdivisions, land deemed uneconomical to farm, or where intensive agriculture exists on less than 20 acres.

Icenbice says the 20-acre limitation will probably be one of the more controversial recommendations of the commission's plan. But, he says, the limitation is designed to prevent urban sprawl and preserve agricultural land, a goal most county residents support.

Health plans receive nod

TWIN FALLS — The state health facilities review council Monday recommended approval for construction of three health projects in the Magic Valley.

Recommended for approval by Dr. James Bax, Idaho Health and Welfare Department chief, were an addition of 45 intermediate care beds at Minidoka Memorial Hospital, and the addition of 52 intermediate care beds at the Burley Care Center.

Members of the State Health Review Council also passed on a proposed mental health services center to be built in Twin Falls, advising Bax the project should not be subject to review by the council, primarily because it has no inpatient facilities.

Still awaiting an answer on a grant application for $22,222 from the federal government, the mental health services center would probably be constructed adjacent to the Child Development Center here.

The new building would primarily house office space for therapists treating out-patients. Dennis Murray, region 5 mental health services manager, said today he anticipates the government will approve funding for the new center "in the near future."

The grant application was made in February.

The council approved the projects "subject to their meeting the regulations," according to Dave Leonard, health planner for the facilities development area.

Plans for both the Burley Care Center and Minidoka expansion must still be approved by the state's architect to assure they meet regulations, Leonard said.

The Minidoka hospital plans to hold a bond election in the county to seek funding for the project, with cost estimated at about $760,000. If approved, the hospital would have a total of 79 geriatric beds.

The project at Burley Care Center — a privately-owned facility — would cost an estimated $312,000, and bring the total bed number to 82.

Bax must take action on the council's recommendations within 30 days, Leonard said.

Highway official speaks at Buhl

By LORAYNE O. SMITH

BUHL — Traffic should be moving on the Interstate section nearing completion at Bljss by Aug. 1, Howard Johnson, district highway engineer, said here Monday.

The highway department official addressed the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, alerting them to some expected inconvenience in connection with the improvement project on the Clear Lakes Road, now under way.

In answering a wide range of questions, Johnson said, hopefully, all of Interstate 80 through Idaho will be built by 1980 and predicted completion of all finishing details by fiscal year 1981-82. He also said the section between the King Hill interchange and Glenns Ferry should be open by late next year.

Work on the half-million-dollar Clear Lakes project has already started by the Lone Pine Construction Co., which was awarded the $490,000 contract last week. The engineer said the contract does not include asphalt, estimated to cost another $51,000 or engineering costs of about $49,000.

Johnson said about 78 percent of the project, with the Buhl Highway District contributing 22 percent and the Idaho Highway Department supervising the project.

Johnson said traffic will be detoured "off and on" through Melon Valley and that area residents "probably would go into winter with a gravel base." The project will flatten curves and eliminate the steep cutbacks, he said.

Trespassers ignore sign

TWIN FALLS — When the "closed" sign is posted at night at Dierkes Lake it means just that, city police report.

Two parties that included five young people were arrested at the lake area and charged with trespassing Monday night. City police received a call from the park caretaker that the trespassers were in the park after it had closed. Three of the young boys were sleeping in the park and two others were at the park's swimming area.

Officers said vehicles had been parked outside of the fence and the young men apparently climbed the fence into the park area.

Blaine reports injuries, coronary

SUN VALLEY — Three persons were rushed to Moritz Community Hospital here Monday, two with injuries suffered while working in construction and one with a coronary.

Dean Rappleye, 48, Bellevue, is in serious condition under intensive care, following a coronary attack Monday afternoon. Relatives brought Rappleye to the Ketchum Medical Clinic where he was transported by ambulance to Moritz.

Alan Blair, 49, Ketchum, suffered a broken wrist and lacerations about 1:30 p.m. as he fell from a scaffolding. Blair was working for Beck Construction on Prospect Road in Sun Valley.

Arnold Budlong, 19, Ketchum, working for Sun Valley trail crew on Bad Mountain, was injured while operating a crawler near Eye Falls under the No. 5 chalfir.

Sun Valley officials did not say how Budlong was injured. Moritz officials said he suffered a broken arm and leg and was in satisfactory condition today.

Minidoka land plan calls for farmland guard

By DAVID BOCKMAN
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Between 1964 and 1969, the date of the last agricultural census, Minidoka County lost almost 22 per cent of its farmland.

Highway construction and urban sprawl took much of the lost farmland, according to Howard Icenbice, chairman of the Minidoka County — City Planning Commission.

The commission recently released a draft of a "comprehensive plan" that calls for preserving the rural atmosphere and agricultural economic base of Minidoka County. The commission has scheduled a public hearing on the plan July 17.

"Agriculture and resource conservation are included in part one of the nine-part plan. According to that report between 1964 and 1969, farmland in the county dropped from 369,000 acres to 296,000 acres. In 1964, farmland took up 75 per cent of land in the county in 1969 only about 62 per cent.

Icenbice says, "so if the number of farm acres is decreased, the economy deteriorates."

The county's water and soil resources must also be preserved, the plan states, increasing population, now estimated at 18,000, or 3,000 more than the 1970 census, is "creating increasing demands on the water resources."

According to the report, current abundant irrigation water, has led to poor water management, flood irrigation in cities is overused, and contributes to high-subwater, crop protection herbicides and cover crops which help prevent erosion are inadequate, some lands are overgrazed and there is a weed problem.

The plan recommends:

The water supply be preserved through proper conservation, sprinkler irrigation systems be stressed in development of new farmland, sprinkler systems be used for lawns and gardens; irrigation districts make measuring facilities and programs for computer irrigation available.

Soil be conserved through proper crop rotation and conservation measures, federal agencies be encouraged to provide assistance in planning and funding soil erosion measures such as use of cover crops and windbreaks for land subject to wind erosion, overgrazing be discouraged and that wildlife would be preserved by adoption of proper laws, increased coordination between the fish and game department and private landowners; a fund be established at the county level, at minimum expense, to compensate landowners for property destroyed to intensive residential or industrial development be allowed adjacent to the National Bird Refuge.

Idaho aides gain in stock disease fight

BOISE (UPI)—While brucellosis has been on the upswing among Idaho cattle herds, its not considered to be widespread and officials of the state Department of Agriculture appear to be getting an upper hand.

Dr. W. G. Nelson, assistant to the chief of Animal Health for Idaho's Agriculture Department, said that so far the incident concerns about one per cent of the total cattle population of nearly two million head.

Of the total number of cattle roaming the Idaho ranges and farms, there have been 2,940 confirmed cases, Nelson said.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus authorized expenditures of $250,000 to combat the spread of the disease.

Nelson said that these funds already had been expended, primarily to repay farmers where the department has had to eradicate herds "to halt spread of the disease, which also can be spread to humans."

Nelson said that in some cases—the only way to eliminate spread of the infection is to entirely destroy a herd.

He said the agency had expended its funds and had to seek emergency funds from the governor. He added that a new fiscal year was right around the corner—July 1—when funds appropriated by the last session of the legislature would be available to combat the disease.

So far, Nelson said, the disease has been detected in at least 100 herds. He said probably about one per cent of the animals were considered infected.

Idaho had been considered brucellosis free, which means that it had less than one per cent of the disease.

Nelson said that the disease was in southern Idaho.

"Everything north of the Salmon River has been certified as free. Brucellosis is only considered in the southern half of the state, but that is where the large trade areas are."

Idaho had achieved a brucellosis-free certification in 1971 which meant that there was a low level of the disease. It was not completely free, but had less than a one per cent incidence.

Since then, the disease has been on an upswing in the state, although officials are not certain how the increase came about.

They said it was assumed it was due to cattle purchased out of the state by Idaho cattlemen. In an attempt to halt this, officials said, laws were changed last year to halt spread of the infection.

Nelson said laws were changed "so we can get a jump on the infection and once more get ahead of it."

He said that the agriculture department has averaged 15,000 to 20,000 tests per month throughout the state to determine if herds have been effected. Also, he added, the agency is checking every cow going to market.

Nelson noted that the incident of the infection was now on a down hill descent. Hopefully, he said, there will be a complete elimination of the disease.

"It's best if there is none. If it hits 100 herds, then there will be 200 and then all the counties are infected."

Nelson said the infection becomes a real economy hardship on the farmer.

The funds provided by the governor—which primarily when to slaughter the infected herds are being used to reimburse the farmer for his loss and for the protection of those ranchers in adjacent areas, Nelson said.

Major infected counties so far have been Franklin, Jefferson and Owyhee counties.

Dr. Leo Snyder, veterinarian supervisor, cautioned those buying livestock to make certain they had been tested.

"It would help police the situation," Snyder said.

Sugar, spuds, meats gain

Courtesy Sinclair & Co.
CHICAGO—Sugar, potatoes and meat futures closed higher Monday.

Idaho russet potatoes gained four cents in the May 1976 delivery, closing at 9.49 per hundredweight.

Commodity News Service said rallies in the Red River Valley produced gains in Maine potatoes of 1 to 15 points after a 12 to 25 point opening jump. Producers are the key to the gains near the close. Trade totalled 3,607 contracts.

All sugar deliveries were up the limit of a cent on a trade of 3,945 lots. July expired at 14.35 cents a pound. The pound sterling slump was the key to the gain. Sugar 12 nutmegs were untraded by settled normally a cent higher. The world spot price was hiked 1.05 cents to 14.35 cents a pound. The domestic spot was hiked a cent to 16 cents a pound.

Live cattle futures gained sharply late in the session, with final quotes up a dollar in the spot month, but back months were weaker, gaining 25 to 77 cents. Feeder prices were higher in light trading. Local short covering and stop loss buying in live hogs lifted prices late in the session, with all months closing higher. July was 97 points, other months gained 12 to 65 points on a trade of 6,348 contracts.

Pork bellies recovered from earlier weakness, closing 40 to 72 points higher, following the cattle and hog trends. Opinion about the market's direction remained divided, some traders feeling it will go higher but others thinking it has topped out.

Favorable weather and a private estimate of increased acreage kept corn on the defensive, and futures finished with losses of 1 to 2 1/2 cents. Chicago and Gulf cash prices were steady.

The Leslie wheat crop estimate of 1,623 billion bushels was slightly above the June 1 federal estimate of 1,618 billion bushels. That, plus lack of "spot" news, helped keep wheat futures on the defensive.

Despite some speculative buying, wheat closed a quarter cent higher to a cent lower. Chicago cash prices were nominally unchanged.

Soybean complex closings were down with beans off a cent to 4 1/2 cents; old down 10 to 45 points and meal off 20 cents to a 1.00 July through January. More deferred months showed some variation.

Silver futures on the Chicago Board of Trade firmed in a narrow trading range.

Common feeder steers 28.00-30.50; common feeder heifers 29.00-34.00; whiteface feeder steers 38.00-41.00; whiteface feeder heifers 29.00-34.00; Holstein feeder steers 26.50-30.00; Holstein milk cows and heifers 26.50-28.50 per head; feeder, cows 19.00-22.50; canners and cutters 20.50-22.00.

Hogs steady at Burley; feeders off

BURLEY—Hogs were steady to 3.00 higher at the Burley Commission Yards on June 26.

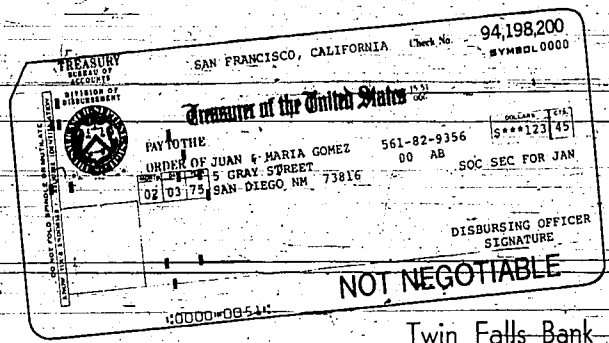

Feeder cattle were in slow demand and killer cows were under pressure.

Critics stymie reforms in plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Efforts to force food stamp officials to pass out stamps before they check on the eligibility of applicants appear to have bogged down, temporarily at least, in the House.

Advocates tried to push the plan through the House Agriculture Committee before Congress goes to its July recess. But they were stymied by critics who demonstrated that placing the bill on the House floor would touch off a broad-scale battle over basic food stamp policy which Democratic leaders do not yet want to schedule.

The food stamp reform scenario, as originally planned by Agriculture Committee Chairman Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., called for a thorough study of the mushrooming program leading up to an in-depth committee review and presumably major legislation later this year or possibly in 1976.

But Foley opened a Pandora's box when he went along with committee liberals recently in calling up a bill providing for "on-the-spot" issuance of stamps to new applicants.

Opposition to the Senate passed version earlier forced Foley and other committee leaders to retreat. The plan was tightened by requiring stamp officials at least to verify the name and address of an applicant before issuing a three-month stamp allotment, and by allowing counties to ignore the on-the-spot approval plan if they already were processing applications without more than 30-day delays.

But critics, including Rep. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, pressed for further changes. Symms unsuccessfully offered amendments to bar use of the quick-approval plan for college students or strikers.

Valley PTA team placings reported.

MOSCOW — Magic Valley teams placing in the state Future Farmers of America judging contests at the University of Idaho are announced.

Maui Swan, Oshkosh, was second in the five high individual winners for livestock judging with 382 points, and Bob Pangburn, Valley High school, was first place individual in rafter cutting.

Michael Solonka, Jerome, was among four contestants tying for top honors in the tool identification contest while the Buhl team of Rick Novacek, Dennis Ewing and Chris Roberts received first place out of a possible 500 for first place in the dairy cattle judging.

Dennis Ewing, Buhl, was four in the five high individuals in cattle judging.

The Gooding team of Tim Miller, Wallace Colter and Mike Westendorf was third in dairy products. Ted Moody, Gooding, was among the three high individuals in dairy cattle judging. Gooding, Colter and Wallace Colter and Herb Freidrichsen, both Gooding, were among the top-ranking contestants for showing sheep.

Brett Peterson, Jerome, was high individual in crops. A Hagerman team of Guy Peterson, Doug Bennett and Lynne Hall was third in poultry judging and Hall was among the high individuals.

Transport limits set

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — An outbreak of brucellosis in Idaho beef cattle herds has prompted the Oregon Department of Agriculture to establish controls on the movement of beef cattle from Idaho into Oregon.

Beginning August 1, cattle originating in Idaho must be tested prior to entry into Oregon and then quarantined from other livestock and released no sooner than 30 days and not longer than 60 days after test.

The controls will remain in effect "until such time as to the best of our knowledge the brucellosis infection in livestock in Idaho is controlled and adequate surveillance maintained over known reactor herds," according to Dr. Glenn Heu, administrator of Oregon's Animal Health Division.

Range gains

CHEYENNE (UPI) — Wyoming has considerably better crop and rangeland prospects in 1975 than last year, according to the Wyoming Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Last year at this time the pastures and ranges were judged generally fair to good.

Douglas C. Melton, assistant agricultural statistician, says the rating now is good to excellent.

White dove released in memory

Indian powwow, trophy shoot held

SUN VALLEY — The annual Shoshoni Indian Powwow and Trophy Shoot ended here Saturday with 29 new chiefs joining the tribe. Hundreds of people across the United States who belong to the Shoshoni Indian organization participated in the shoot and ceremonial. As they do each year the group released a white dove in ceremonies Thursday to commemorate "braves" who have died each year.

The first Shoshoni Indian shoot and ceremony was held in 1940 and has become an annual event at Sun Valley. The Shoshoni Indians were chosen over the Blackfeet and Nez Perce because the surrounding territory was

Peggy Hunter, Hawaii; Sam Levitz, Arizona; Steve Peterson, Montana; Mrs. A. D. Sachs, Nevada; Fred Scheer, Louisiana; Paul O'Brien, Arizona; and Mrs. C. E. Guderson.

Riders welcome

SALMON — The Lemhi County Fairgrounds is a busy place and anyone who wants to ride his horses there is welcome.

But Scott Brown, fair-board chairman, suggests that groups wanting to make use of the fairgrounds—make application to avoid interfering with other organizations.

The official said the fairgrounds is open from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and is in pretty good shape, noting the rundown condition that existed years ago.

Brown said that organizations charging the public for programs are asked for a $25 cleanup deposit.

Brown indicated that reports that the fair board had turned down a request of the Salmon Chamber of Commerce to use the fairgrounds again for a fireworks display during Salmon River Days are not true.

He said he had suggested that the chamber move the fireworks to a different location because of the safety hazard.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 2, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Flatters connected with the past can be adverse for you today and tonight. Think in terms of the future and how you can expand your activities along new lines for greater success. Then you can achieve a great deal. Romance, socially favored in p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Fine for producing a good deal in the outside world. Try to meet influential persons hitherto unknown to you.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plans are apt to move slowly now, so keep busy working, but with care, on new ideas that arise. A social time in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Win favor of dynamic partners for future backing. Be more concerned with the social now and get a little rest from the practical.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Confer with those who "have" expert "know-how," but double-check against your own good judgment today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget that old situation just get into new interesting outlets that lift your spirit and put more money in your pocket.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get away from stale ideas which hold you back today and look into new and more lucrative ways of operating. Please loved ones.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Reach a better understanding with an associate who has fine ideas, can help you. Evening is fine for recreation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find new systems and gadgets. Don't go off on any tangents. Make your job pay off handsomely instead of quitting in disgust.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Follow your intuition. Don't let money matters no clear to you. Pursue personal goals. Meet with new associates.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listen to what a wellheeded advice has to say. Don't be upset about some partner who is acting emotionally. Try new approaches.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do only needed work since things may not go so well early. Then handle your responsibilities in an intelligent way.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Concentrate on adding to present income instead of going out for pleasure. Today and you're ahead of the game.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have to be taught early to rise above disappointments and mistakes of the past, and to learn from them, so the future becomes successful. Teach especially to know when to make the wisest changes left growth. There will be much ability at putting new ideas to work to improve old ones that have become obsolete, and so to revive them to great profit. Send to college. Give religious background early.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

An exporter of chewing gum years ago whimsically changed the color of the pack wrappers from green to purple. Sales in China dropped off to pitiful nothing. People there were the color for mourning. Previous buyers thought the new gum was meant to be chewed only at funerals.

RABBITS don't perspire. Neither do guinea pigs. Remember that.

ABOUT ONE out of every 20 bank chargecard holders are behind in their payments.

HOW DO YOU account for the fact that the life expectancy of the average citizen hereabouts is five months shorter today than it was nine years ago?

BABY RUTH

"Quick Louie, identify the candy bar that was named after the world's most famous baseball player?"
 A. Now there you have me. You don't mean the Baby Ruth, do you? That was named after the oldest daughter of President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland.

AM ADVISED that no other American game even comes close to football in the number of rules that govern play.

AMONG THE MOST noteworthy of famous last words, possibly, was the dying comment of the Frenchman, Dr. Leutaud, physician to the king. His confessor asked him, "Do you believe?" And Leutaud replied, "Yes, in everything but medicine."

CEMETERY

In their own various languages, the ancient Greeks originally referred to a graveyard as a "sleeping chamber." The Romans called it a "yard of peace." And the Hebrews identified it as a "house of eternity." Our word "cemetery," translates roughly out of the Latin as "dormitory for the dead."

SPEED OF THE average meteor is about 26 miles a second.

PET FOOD BUYERS spend twice as much money on that sort of grub as they spend on breakfast cereals for themselves.

A TEAM of medical specialists in Birmingham, England, contend their studies prove that one out of every 20 expectant fathers suffers morning sickness when the wife is pregnant. It has even occurred, they say, that one such father or another has swallowed soap to bring on nausea. A sort of share-of-the-pain compulsion, evidently.
