Natural gas lack seen for East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's spokesman says there will be no gasoline shortage for motorists this summer but that natural gas will be scarce in the fall and winter.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters those predictions emerged from a meeting President Ford held Tuesday with his energy advisers.

Abducted

BEIRUT (UPI) — U. S. Army Col. Ernest R. Morgan, 45, abducted from a land at a roadblock on Beirut's outskirts Sunday, is still being sought.

Embassy officials here said they have had no word about Morgan, who is with the U.S. military command in Ankara, Turkey. He had attended a Central Treaty Organization meeting in Pakistan and was making a stopover in Beirut when he was seized.

Farm prices lead drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices, registering their fifth decline in seven months, dropped 0.1 per cent in June, the Labor Department said today.

The June decline after small increases in April and May was another indication that the inflationary pressures of 1973-74 were continuing to ease.

The wholesale index now stands at 173.7, compared with the 1967 base of 100. This means that a representative sample of commodities sold in wholesale markets has risen in price from $100 eight years ago to $173.70 last month.

Leading the decline for June were farm prices, down 1.4 per cent. Agricultural products fell fast enough to offset a relatively modest 0.3 per cent rise for industrial commodities, which includes steel, petroleum and other industrial goods.

Wholesale prices have risen 11.6 per cent in the past 12 months, high by historical standards but a much softer inflation rate than late last year when farm and industrial prices were increasing at a rate better than 20 per cent annually.

The 1.4 per cent drop in prices of farm products and processed foods took normal seasonal factors into account. On an unadjusted basis prices in this category rose 0.6 per cent, less than usual for midsummer.

Fruit and vegetable prices were sharply higher last month, and live poultry and livestock prices also rose. But eggs, plant and animal fibers, hay and grains all dropped.

In the processed food and feed area, poultry, meat and animal feeds accounted for most of the June rise, but these largely were offset by declines in sugar, fats and oils, and cereal and bakery products.

The moderate behavior of the wholesale index in recent months bodes well for the fight against inflation. Price changes in primary markets ripple through the rest of the economy and the consumer eventually feels their impact at the retail level.

Fuels, the commodity contributing most to inflation in recent months, was the main factor in the 0.4 per cent industrial price rise. Crude petroleum, gasoline, distillate fuel and liquefied petroleum gas all rose.

However, electric power, natural gas and bituminous coal prices were down at the wholesale level.

Four other commodity groups were sharply higher in June: hides, skins, and leather; textile products and apparel; machinery and equipment; and furniture and household durables.

Industrial prices make up about three-quarters of the wholesale index and thus carry the most potential inflationary clout. The fact that they have risen at a modest 3.4 per cent annual rate in the past six months will be welcome news for President Ford's economic advisers.

Here is a sample of wholesale prices that have fallen by large amounts since June, 1974: plant and animal fibers, 28 per cent; crude vegetable oils, 30 per cent; wool products, 10 per cent; synthetic textiles, 11 per cent; hides and skins, 12 per cent; and inedible fats and oils, 32 per cent.

US jobless rate shows slight dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped 0.6 per cent to 8.6 per cent in June, but due to an influx of students entering the labor market the jobless situation remained unchanged from May, the Labor Department reported today.

Although the unemployment rate last month was not so encouraging as it might appear by the state of the drop from May, it was a signal that rising unemployment may have halted.

The six-tenths of a per cent decline from the 9.2 per cent in May was at the lower end of a scale that government analysts had estimated would be needed to show improvement in the jobless picture, which had been deteriorating for the past 14 months.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which compiles the monthly data, said employment held steady at 84.4 million workers in June. Employment rose in the nonfarm sector but was offset by a matching decline in agriculture, BLS said.

Although the number of workers held steady in June, the total labor force for purposes of calculating the jobless rate declined by 600,000 in June, BLS said.

This decline contributed to the "technical" drop in unemployment although in actual terms, the jobless rate was unchanged from May. A study of figures for July will be necessary before a better analysis of unemployment conditions can be made.

The statistical quirk which somewhat distorted the jobless figures is directly tied to the influx of summer workers.

Female prospect splits TF club

TWIN FALLS — Toastmasters are meeting the prospect of accepting a woman to their club with their tongues.

Millie Anderson, Twin Falls, has been trying to join the feisty Toastmasters Club No. 146 since she finished the club's eight-week "speech craft" course last week.

Her efforts have split the club's membership into camps of support and opposition, with the majority sentiment apparently resting with the opposition.

In a narrow margin, members voted Tuesday to send the matter to the club's "stagnant" committee headed by L. James Koutnik, which it would be expected to do through August. But the decision was shortlived at the end of the meeting after objections to starting the woman's Club president Darwin Boyle said after the meeting that he planned to send out ballots to all the club's paying members so they could vote on Ms. Anderson's application during the next two weeks.

Pro-US students demonstrate

BANGKOK — Thailand (UPI) — An estimated 1,000 pro-American students massed outside the U. S. embassy compound today and presented an embassy official with a letter halting relations between the two countries.

At the time the students disbanded, an anti-American rally was scheduled to begin on the opposite side of the city.

First power plant hearing Aug. 4

BOISE (UPI) — The first technical hearing on Idaho Power Company's application to construct a coal-fired generating facility in Ada County will be held at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 4 in the statehouse.

The hearing will be for the sole purpose of placing in the record Idaho Power Company's direct testimony and evidence in support of its application for a certificate of convenience and necessity and for clarifying questions by the commission staff members and intervenors.

Anti-Indira protests persist

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Foes of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi are defying her week-old state of emergency with marches, rallies and sabotage in three of India's most populous provinces.

Travelers from Bihar, Gujarat and Tamil Nadu said Wednesday the three states have been in turmoil since Mrs. Gandhi launched a crackdown against her political opponents last week.

TF job seekers outnumber slots

By DIANE ALTERS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — If you're looking for a job, Idaho Department of Employment figures paint a bleak picture of your chances of finding one.

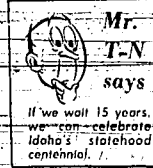

On June 30, the Twin Falls office of the department had 1,084 names in its "active file" of people looking for work. On the same day, it had only 60 non-agricultural jobs to fill, according to Larry Drexler, assistant director at the Twin Falls office.

Last year on June 30 the department had 110 jobs to fill, almost twice this year's openings, Drexler said. Although he did not have a count of the number of people on the "active file," he said that 593 people had applied for work during June 1974 compared to 588 during June 1975.

Last June 1, 165 people were unemployed in a work force of 21,000 people, compared to 14,000 people unemployed this June in a work force of 22,045. The unemployment rate, however, was 5.4 per cent this June compared to 6.6 per cent last June, Drexler said.

Both unemployment rates are the department's preliminary estimates for the month. A different method was used to compute this year's figures and last year's figures, making the two figures difficult to compare, according to previous department publications.

Ted leads Demo prospect poll

NEW YORK — A Harris survey of 1,028 Democratic and independent voters gives Sen. Edward Kennedy a 31 per cent plurality as the first choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace ranked second in the list of 24 potential candidates with 15 per cent support for the nomination.

If Kennedy were not a contender, as the Senator himself has insisted, Wallace would be the front runner for the nomination, the survey showed.

Ford refuses to meet writer

WASHINGTON (N.Y. Times) — A White House official said Wednesday President Ford had refused to meet with Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn on advice from the National Security Council.

Solzhenitsyn, who has been critical of the Soviet system in his writings, was deported from his homeland last year, and Ford, according to the White House source, that a meeting with the exiled writer would be inconsistent with the policy of détente.

For several days, the White House has been avoiding saying that Ford does not want to see the author.

NY bank boosts prime rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank today raised its prime interest rate to 7 per cent from 6 1/2 per cent, reflecting the Federal Reserve's steps to slow the growth in the nation's money supply.

It was the first increase in the key interest rate barometer since Jan. 3 and reverses a drop in the rate which has been declining steadily since last September when it was at an historic high of 12 per cent. In January, the rate took a temporary jump and then resumed its downward trend.

The formula Citibank uses to determine its interest rate — short-term interest rates on commercial paper and government loans — actually justified a full one-half-percentage point increase to 7 1/2 per cent.

Housing measure into law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has signed the middle-income housing bill without saying whether he intends to release any of the $10 billion it authorizes for the government purchase of mortgages.

Ford said in a mid-day ceremony in the Rose Garden Wednesday that a housing recovery already was under way even though the housing industry, suffering upwards of 40 per cent unemployment, contends construction activity is at half the level of a few years ago.

The new law extends through next June 30 an existing program under which the government can buy mortgages from banks, savings and loan institutions and other lenders.

The difference between what the government must pay to borrow money and what it receives when it subsequently sells the mortgage represents the government subsidy.

Valley obituaries

Jewel Ledbetter

GOODING — Jewel Ledbetter, 75, Gooding, Idaho, Wednesday, died at the Gooding County Hospital. She was born Oct. 6, 1899, at Golden, Mo., and married Charles Ledbetter on Jan. 6, 1916, at Viola, Mo. The couple came to Idaho in 1911 and they have lived in this area since then. She was a member of the J.O.C. Club of Hammett, Mo. Ledbetter died June 19, 1975. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. George (Hattie) Arkoosh, Gooding; one sister, Mary Elizabeth Rivers, Hayward, Calif.; and nine grandchildren. She was preceded in death by one brother, one sister and one great-grandchild. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday at Thompson Chapel. Interment will be in the Elmwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel Friday afternoon and evening until service time Saturday.

Evelyn Livingston-Wilson

BOISE — Evelyn Livingston-Wilson, 55, Boise, former Twin Falls resident, died at her home. Mrs. Wilson was born in Twin Falls to Washington, D.C., in 1922 and in Boise the following year. She operated the Personnel Service of Magic Valley, a private employment agency, and was a member of the Presbyterian Church here. She was a past president of the Altrusa Club and a former member of the Twentieth Century Club. Born in Texas Oct. 26, 1910, she was married to Ralph C. Wilson at Odessa, Tex., on March 6, 1943. He died in 1970. Surviving are a son, two daughters, four sisters and one brother. Funeral services for Mrs. Wilson will be conducted at 1 p.m. Monday at the West Mortuary Chapel with Rev. Robert Van Nest officiating. Burial will be in the Twin Falls Cemetery. Friends may call at the mortuary Sunday and until noon Monday.

Hunting for job tough

Job openings have been "short all of calendar year 1975," Drexler said, and he blamed the recession, seasonal aspects "for the shortage. There is usually a July slump after peaks in the spring, he said. Among the job seekers are people who have jobs but may want better ones, people who might not accept a job offer, people who are "desperately looking for any job," and some who are merely required by law to register for work, according to Drexler. Most of the job seekers are from the Twin Falls area, with a few from Buhl and Mullan. Not all people who look for work register with the department, nor do all employers notify the office when they have openings. "We're in bad shape on job orders," Drexler said, and the number of openings changes rapidly. "Some jobs we always have around," he said, Commission says the office has many "typically always available" or if a person comes in with qualifications for such a job, "we could develop an order" for that person's skills, Drexler said. Many jobs are "very limited," he said, and "we're filling them almost as fast as they come in." Some domestic work, some babysitting and some clerical jobs are available. Clerical job openings, Drexler said, "don't last very long" because a lot of people want them. Laborers work is often available. Short-term driving jobs, and sprinker, pipe moving are common ones.

Shoshone officers win 8 hour shifts

SHOSHONE — City police in Shoshone were authorized by the city council at the Tuesday night meeting to work eight hours each. The two city police officers, John Shaffer, chief, and his assistant, Edwin Critchell, will set up their own schedule, being sure to include a coverage for the night hours. The council also authorized purchase of some handcuffs and a holster for the assistant chief of police to use. Consideration is being given by the council to a request by an insurance representative for permission to contact city employees regarding a tax shelter-type insurance program. A total of $96.75 was received from magistrate's court for the city's share of fines the past month. Authorization was given for replacement of 175-watt mercury vapor lamps at the North Birch and Third Street and North Birch and Fourth Street area where they had been blown out by lightning. Approval was given on the small wading pool at the city park, to allow use by small children. The new swimming pool is not yet completed. An ordinance amending the Code, TV ordinance, was passed in which laws are amended and the fine is set to be no more than $100 as well as other changes as required by the Federal Communications Commission.

Rains end in Dakota

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — The rains have stopped, but the southerly Red River Valley is under water and even water farmers say they can't remember when they've seen more. More than a foot of rain fell in the agricultural region of Minnesota and North Dakota during the past week, turning fields into "oceans," forcing persons from their homes and causing hundreds of millions of dollars in damages and crop losses. Many roads were washed out or submerged by floodwaters and persons able to tour the hardest hit areas by air described chains of lakes where fields should be.

Onis R. Kendrick

BOISE — Onis Robert Kendrick, 61, died Thursday morning in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Boise following a long illness. He was a long-time Buhl resident and farmed in the Deep Creek area for many years. Funeral services will be announced by Buhl Hopkins Funeral Chapel.

Max E. Hill

GOODING — Max E. Hill, 57, Gooding, died Thursday morning in Green Acres Terrace Nursing Home. Services will be announced by Thompson Chapel.

Guy H. Bottles

RICHFIELD — Guy H. Bottles, 70, Richfield, died at the Wood River Convalescent Center in Shoshone, Wednesday morning. He had been a patient there only a few days. Born Oct. 25, 1904, at Cardin, Ind., he was reared near Miles City, Mont. For a number of years he lived at Summerville, Ore., and after service with the Armed Forces World War II he lived in Richmond, Calif. He also worked on railroads for 14 years before moving to Richfield. Mr. Bottles had served as sexton for the Richfield Cemetery the past 10 years. He belonged to the Richfield Community Methodist Church. Survivors include one sister, Mrs. Scott (Sylvia) Irwin, Richfield. Graveside services will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Richfield Cemetery with Rev. Nathan Ware officiating. Military gravesite rites will be conducted by the Richfield American Legion Post. Friends may call at Bergin Funeral Chapel in Shoshone Friday and until 1 p.m. Saturday.

Mary C. Fox

JEROME — Mary C. Fox, 88, Jerome, died Wednesday afternoon at St. Benedict's long-term care unit. Services will be announced by Howe Funeral Chapel.

Michael E. Ellis

ROBERT — Michael Edward Ellis, 21, Kent, Wash., died Tuesday. Injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Interstate six seven miles north of the Idaho-Utah border. Born Sept. 30, 1953, in Dallas, Tex. He attended schools in Auburn, Wash., and was employed by Pacific Northwest Telephone Co. Mr. Ellis is survived by his parents, a mother and a grandmother. Funeral services and burial will be in Keim Local arrangements are under the direction of the York-Hansen Mortuary.

Mildred K. Schweitzer

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Mildred Katherine Schweitzer, 56, Corvallis, Ore., former Buhl resident, died Wednesday. Born April 15, 1918, in Millard, Neb., she came to Buhl from Nebraska in 1936 and moved to Corvallis in 1974. Surviving are her mother, a brother, Richard Schweitzer, Buhl, and four sisters, including Mrs. Russell (Elvira) Sheridan, Buhl. Her father preceded her in death. Graveside services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Sunset Memorial Park with Rev. Steven M. Sheridan, United Methodist minister from Eagle, officiating. Reynolds Funeral Chapel is in charge. Memorial contributions may be made to the Benton County Retarded Association, care of the McHenry Funeral Home, 206 Northwest Fifth St., Corvallis, Ore. 97330.

Hospital project begins

TWIN FALLS — Construction crews are moving into Magic Valley Memorial Hospital this week to begin the $74,800 remodeling project and patients are getting apologies from the staff.

Small information sheets have been printed by the hospital and will be given each patient admitted from now through completion of the work.

The leaflets explain the hospital is sorry about the dust, noise and disruptions due to the construction, however, the hospital officials say it has been necessary of late to put patients in the new lounge, treatment rooms and pediatrics areas because of crowded conditions. There will be 25 beds added during the current project.

The first work slated by the contractor, "Hansen and Co." will be enclosing the third floor patio area and remodeling there to make space for offices now occupying the second floor. The area vacated by these offices will then be vacated for patient rooms. Also on the third floor will be a three-bed psychiatric unit. New pantries will be installed on each floor to better serve the patients.

MILLS ANDERSON seeks membership

TF men's club weighs decision

"Without a doubt Mills would make a better member than some have," Harald Gerber said, "but we come to the fact that she is a woman and she doesn't want to be considered a woman."

The question, he said, is "do we accept non-Mills women in general?" Gerber maintained that accepting women would change the freewheeling spirit of the club.

"Why can't I be treated as a person, not a woman? Do you really think there's 20 women lined up behind me dying to be a part of you?" Ms. Anderson said in her statement to the whole group at this meeting.

Steve Smith, described as having the "hairline of a Socrates" also spoke against accepting women into the club.

"When in the course of human events and your wife is gone for two weeks a man is going to say what he damn well pleases!" Smith began.

He said accepting women would be "an excellent change for the club" since "one good old-fashioned female broad" would make members' wives jealous.

Music workshops set

TWIN FALLS — The first three one-week workshops in music will begin this Monday at 9 a.m. at the College of Southern Idaho.

The workshops are primarily for junior and senior high school students and last from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Norman Logan, from the music faculty at the University of Idaho will be the guest artist for the vocal workshop July 7-11.

The cost for the workshops is $15 for the week of $25 with private lessons. Students interested may contact the CSI Music Department or come in at 9 on Monday.

The two other workshops are for woodwinds July 14-18 and brass July 21-25 and these will have guests artists. Assessing the guest artists will be the CSI music faculty.

Death plots may be justified, Hansen says

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The United States may be justified at times in plotting assassinations of foreign leaders, according to Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho.

"If we need our GIs to fight... that's acceptable. Is it any less acceptable to have another branch of our government fighting the same battle at another level?" Hansen said in an interview Wednesday.

"I don't think there's anything moral about war," he said when asked if the reported Central Intelligence Agency plots to kill foreign leaders were "wrong."

But, the congressman added that many people believe lives could have been saved had Hitler been assassinated.

"That same line of thinking could have been involved in the CIA's attempts," he said.

Hansen maintained that the United States "must be very careful" in plotting assassinations. But he said that this type of action may be justified when the security of the nation is at stake.

He said, however, that the CIA "has been very badly misused" in peacetime to overthrow "friendly" governments. By helping to depose Cuba's Juan Batista, he said, the CIA had worked to replace "a friendly dictator with an unfriendly dictator."

The same thing happened, he said, when the United States helped to overthrow South Vietnam's Ngo Dinh Diem because the country "apparently wasn't pure enough democratically."

"I don't think the CIA should be used as purifier of foreign governments, especially friendly ones," he said.

In any case, Hansen maintained that the assassination plots should not be made public.

"I don't see any good purpose that could be accomplished... I don't suspect the Russian secret police are going to open their books to say what parts they had to play in the assassination attempts of people around the world or what part they may have had to play in the Kennedy assassination," he said.

He said, he believes Sen. Frank Church's committee investigating the CIA "has the tiger by the tail," but added, "I hope they can put it down gently without destroying our intelligence division."

On another matter, Hansen supported President Ford's unwillingness at a recent press conference to rule out the possibility of a first strike with weapons.

"I appreciate that really, I think when you say you won't do something you're tempting somebody to try you," he said.

"I don't see the necessity of using a sledge hammer where a tack hammer will do," Hansen said.

But tactical nuclear weapons could be used "anywhere where American interests are involved; and particularly here at home" in case of attack, he said.

If North Korea were to invade South Korea the United States could supply "technological support."

"That does not rule out the use of anything in the arsenal as far as I'm concerned — that's what we have it for," he said.

No fireworks permitted

TWIN FALLS — No fireworks, including the safe and sane variety, are permitted on the Sawtooth National Forest.

Forest officials reminded persons planning Fourth of July holiday outings on national forest land to leave the fireworks home.

Fire dispatcher Dick Stanley said a regional forest order prohibits the discharge of all types of fireworks in Southern Idaho from May 1 through Oct. 31.

Violators of the order are subject to prosecution under federal law, he said.

Stanley said the closure on fireworks is especially important because of the abnormal growth of chesnutgrass resulting from heavy late spring moisture. Present fire conditions on the forest are high.

TF couple files suits

TWIN FALLS — Two separate suits have been filed in Fifth Judicial District Court here by Don and Barbara Wolverton of Twin Falls as a result of accidents in which they were involved.

Don Wolverton is seeking $25,000 general damages plus $10,000 medical costs, $2,902 in loss of earnings and $250 damages to his vehicle. The complaint names Albert McMahan, Twin Falls, as defendant and charges negligence on the part of the defendant in a traffic accident in which their vehicles collided Aug. 26, 1974, at Second Avenue and Third Street North.

Don and Barbara Wolverton are plaintiffs in another suit seeking $10,000 general damages, suffering and general damages, $75 damage to a bicycle and $5,000 for pain and suffering as the result of a bicycle accident in which Mrs. Wolverton was injured June 10 on Main Avenue West in Twin Falls.

Named as the defendant in this suit is Ernest Poulignon, Twin Falls. He was charged with driving while intoxicated after his vehicle and Mrs. Wolverton's bicycle collided. He made a left turn onto Main Ave. West.

Moynihan brings tougher US stance to UN

WASHINGTON — Daniel Patrick Moynihan, urbanologist, politician, author, educator and diplomat, has embarked upon his new career as U.S. ambassador to the U.N., vowing to say what he is instructed to say. If the outspoken former Harvard professor and ex-ambassador to India, Gandhi and India, he will disappoint almost everybody here, especially including President Ford.

After declaring that the United States will seek to correct what the developing nations "see as injustices" and will engage in a dialogue of candor and directness and of understanding and respect for the concerns of all U.N. members, Ford said: "At the same time, he will firmly resist efforts by any group of countries to exploit the machinery of the United Nations for narrow, political interests, or for parliamentary manipulation."

What triggered Scall's criticism was a series of actions by the U.N., including a vote to suspend South Africa from the remainder of the session, the grant of observer status to the Palestinian Liberation Organization, and the limiting of Israel to one speech in the debate on the Palestinian issue.

domestic affairs, he proposed in a memorandum that leaked that the administration would do well to treat the racial issue in the United States with "benign neglect."

Peace not built by assassination

George Hansen, Idaho's Second-District congressman, supports some assassinations of foreign leaders.

In an interview in Twin Falls Tuesday, Hansen said the CIA may be justified in planning such assassinations. "If we send out GIs to fight... that's acceptable. It is any less acceptable to have another branch of government fighting the same battle at another level?" he asked.

The real problem with Hansen's line of reasoning is its oversimplification. He fails to distinguish war from peace, and fails to distinguish limited from all-out war.

Clearly, CIA assassinations are out of line in times of peace, even if relations between countries are strained. Under a cold war situation assassinations would be an act of war and not of peace.

But even a state of war may not justify assassinations. All wars since the end of World War II have been deliberately limited by the combatants. Nuclear, chemical and most biological weapons were not used in Korea and Vietnam. Assassination of opponent leaders was not used either.

Fortunately for the human race, both sides agreed that nobody would benefit from escalation toward all-out conflict.

The problem of assassination is that it is viewed differently by the leader being assassinated than by his fellow countrymen. The death of a leader is a severe blow to a nation, but not a final blow. Unfortunately, the leader under attack may not agree. For him, an assassination is the most serious threat possible.

So if a leader survives an assassination attempt he is likely to respond irrationally with the greatest force at his disposal.

Hansen argues that an assassination of Hitler would be a life saver. Surely. But what if Hitler were alive today and in command of thermonuclear missiles. Would an assassination try be worth the risk?

War may be hell, but it also has a curious moral structure designed to prevent it from getting out of hand.

One of the tenets of this somewhat warped moral system is that assassination — along with hydrogen missiles and other awful weapons — won't be used except as a last resort.

In short, GIs do the fighting. National leaders don't.

Frankly, we would prefer a system in which leaders did the fighting while soldiers watched the outcome. But in the world as it is today, the mutual decision to shield national leaders is a workable tool which helps limit warfare for everyone's benefit.

If world peace is ever to be built, it will rest on an assassin's free foundation of mutual restraint.

Cutting regulation worth trying

WASHINGTON — President Ford has latched onto a popular issue in his declared intention to reduce the over-regulation of American life.

It will be a wonder if he gets anywhere, but even the possibility is marvellously appealing. In an ideological sense, according to the American Heritage, the regulatory powers of government would be sharply limited. The state would exercise its authority only in cases of clear and present danger to the public health, safety, and welfare. Otherwise, government would let the people lead their own lives, for good or ill, and leave "regulation" largely to the marketplace and to the common law.

Manfully, today's society is far removed from that ideal. The regulatory power of the state pervades both business life and human conduct. The process functions like one of those fantastic "breeder" reactors, whose astonishing property is to create its own fuel as it goes along. The regulatory power is a kind of gas; it expands by natural law.

In his speech to members of the National Federation of Independent Business, Ford made a promise: "I hear your cries of anguish and desperation. I will not let you suffocate." The anguish and desperation are real. Suffocation is precisely the result. Today's American man, small or large, scarcely can breathe in the oppressive atmosphere of over-regulation.

The paperwork burden alone is beyond belief. Even in the smallest company, the daily routine is a routine of licenses, permits, applications, reports, returns, and forms, forms, forms.

It is the Federal Trade Commission's specialty in imposing its ponderous "line of business" reporting requirement, the nation's largest corporations will stagger under the load. This colossal statistical program would give employment for the next century to perhaps 10,000 clerks, typists, programmers, inspectors, analysts, supervisors, and computer specialists, all of them industriously compiling data of no use to anyone.

It is a fair surmise that over-regulation of the automobile industry contributed heavily to the recession. The regulators demanded an unflinching seatbelt interlock, which the people despised. They demanded oversized bumpers, which added to weight. They demanded two wheel converters, which sink up costs. Thanks chiefly to Sen. James L. Buckley of New York, the hated interlock has been banished, but the other requirements remain. Car prices have soared out of sight, and the whole economy suffers. A couple of years ago, Congress created the Consumer Product Safety Commission. It is the busiest little factory in town. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration builds its own empire. Among the current bureaucratic battles is a war between OSHA and the Environmental Protection Agency over permissible noise levels in industry. If OSHA wins, it will cut industry, which is to say the public, only $13.5 billion. If EPA wins, it will cost us $31 billion.

Every day the Federal Register spews forth scores, hundreds, thousands of amended regulations, proposed regulations, and final regulations.

JAMES KILPATRICK

Ford said the last count of federal farms found 24 in regular use. State and local governments have at least as much more. The forms are meant to be understood by only poorer ordinary citizens, taxpayers, and employees understand them merrily, if at all. To be sure, most of this busywork has some plausible basis in health, safety, or welfare. None of us want to be cut up by a power mower, or compelled to breathe dirty air. The government's policy makers reasonably may be indulged in the name of pure drugs and uncontaminated meat. Only the most doctrinaire libertarians would put an end to all regulations.

It is the needless, wasteful, suffocating, solicitous, petty regulation that leeches the blood from our national life. What Ford condemns is the holy-toy, high-and-mighty notion that Big Daddy knows best; he condemns the barely concealed attitude that the people are to sleep, and the government, to be awakened. These notions and attitudes provide the fuel that keeps the engines of government going. Ford's aim is to throttle them back. His effort probably won't succeed, but in the name of a free society, it is worth a try.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The new auditor of the City of Berkeley believes in economy so much she is turning back part of her own salary. Program against white-collar crime in works

WASHINGTON — President Ford has come out with a tough program against crime. His message to Congress took care of every type of felony except white-collar crime. I thought this was an oversight until I talked to a White House aide. He said that the president was still working on his white-collar crime program. "The administration is going to get tough on white-collar crime," the aide told me. "What do you plan to do?" "Well, any company that gives illegal campaign contributions to a political party will lose its private plane privileges for two weeks. That's good," I said. "What about executives who overcharge the government for defense work?" "We're taking a hard line on that. Any company executive who overcharges the government more than $5 million will be fined $30 or have to go to traffic school three nights a week."

"That will make him think twice. Suppose an oil company juggles its books and cheats consumers out of millions of dollars?" "It could never happen," the aide said. "But if it did, that company would be forbidden to advertise on TV football games for one year."

ART BUCHWALD

"Will you propose any punishment for grain officials who sell millions of tons of rotten wheat abroad?" "We certainly will. Any grain official convicted of selling bad wheat will lose half his tax rebate for 1975." "What about men in high government positions who abuse the public trust and accept graft from crooked contractors?" "The President will refuse to appoint them to the U.S. Supreme Court." "It really sounds like he means business," I said.

"He also said 'white-collar crime is a cancer on our society and we cannot tolerate it in a democratic system. The President has asked the Justice Department to root it out and make examples of the men who would flout the law.'"

"I guess that includes the drug companies that fix prices among themselves?" I asked. "Of course. Practicing lawyers are the worst of all white collar crimes because it hits everyone where it hurts most — in the pocketbook."

"Should drug company officials go to jail?" "Only if they refuse to promise not to do it again."

"Now what about stock fraud where someone steals the savings of widows and orphans?" "We think the widows and orphans should be given probation." "No, I meant the men who perpetrated the stock frauds."

"We believe those matters should be settled out of court." "Has the President made any provision in his white-collar crime message for real-estate operators and developers who sell faulty housing and worthless land?"

"Yes. Any real-estate operator or developer caught defrauding a buyer will not be permitted to buy U.S. government bonds for one year."

"What's that I call law and order. Now one murder question. What penalties are you asking for a government agency that monitors your mail, breaks into your house, taps your phone and reads your IRS return without permission?"

"We are not asking for any." "Why not?" "The President considers them crimes of passion."

3 Democrats boost Ford

By ELIZABETH BOWMAN Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The House vote June 25 to sustain President Ford's veto of an emergency housing bill may be read as another victory for the administration, but the White House got a crucial boost from three Democrats who backed their leadership and convinced some other Democrats to join them.

Those working for an override had known all along that it would be an uphill fight to muster the votes they needed, but a countermove by the three Democrats made their task harder. Major housing and labor groups lobbying for an override felt that the countermove particularly hurt chances of getting vital votes from southern Democrats.

Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, considered one of the leading housing experts in Congress, orchestrated the countermove with Thomas M. Rees, D-Calif., and Robert G. Stephens, Jr., D-Ga., all three are framing Committee members who voted against the final version of the bill.

Working closely with key Republicans and the White House, the three Democrats developed an alternative housing proposal acceptable to the President and sought Democratic support for it. Ford held off his veto until the last possible day to give them time to solidly support it.

Those working for an override were particularly concerned about Stephens, who asked southern Democrats for their backing. Twenty-six of the 41 Democrats who had opposed the conference version of the bill were from the South.

Rees was a big hit, conceded an aide to the key Banking Committee sponsor of the vetoed bill.

Before the override vote, the three Democrats had rounded up more than 50 Democratic cosponsors for their bill. Although lobbyists had regarded confident that many of them would vote to override the veto, the countermove did disrupt efforts to pull the Democrats together to a uniform position.

Ashley contended that his strategy was sound because it was more important to get a bill signed than to prove the Democrats could override a presidential veto after failing to do so three times earlier in 1975.

"When the Democrats go home they're going to find out people don't care about intertribal battles between the White House and Congress," he argued. "They care about getting from point A to point B and then form point B to point C."

Ashley particularly objected to Senate-passed amendments to the bill accepted by House conferees. "He explained his strategy to the House conferees, led by Banking Committee Chairman Henry B. Reuss, D-Wis., of coming in to the Senate, but insisted he had no personal quarrel with Reuss."

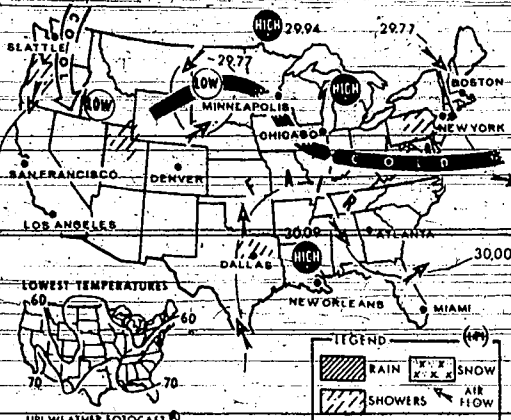

Some Banking Committee observers, however, maintained that Ashley did not get along well with Reuss. The implication was that Ashley wanted to undermine the chairman's bill. Key Banking Committee members also called the Ashley bill a hoax, arguing that it would not require the administration to provide any assistance to the housing industry.

The House Democratic leadership, Banking Committee sponsors, homebuilders and organized labor spearheaded the drive for an override. To some extent, they concentrated on turning around the Democrats who voted against the conference bill and holding on to some of the 28 Republicans who voted for the conference version.

Bicentennial list growing

TWIN FALLS — Planning of events for the bicentennial observance in Twin Falls is continuing with more than 20 special activities on schedule for this year and 1976. Arlan Call, chairman of the Twin Falls Bicentennial Committee, said events will include such things as conventions of patriotic groups, special musical programs and events, and even hopefully the dedication of the new Perrine Memorial Bridge across Snake River sometime in 1976. Several bicentennial events were held earlier this year. The committee has confirmed definite dates and arrangements for other events, including the Armed Forces demonstration vans to be on display Aug. 28 and 29. The vans will be situated behind the Bank of Idaho building and open to the public. In August, the bicentennial wagon train will move through Magic Valley, stopping Aug. 10 for at least one night. There will be eight wagons and 40 permanent members of the train. With their own 16 by 20-foot stage, they will perform a 50-minute show of western pioneer life. Other coming events include the Old Time Fiddlers bicentennial wagon train show also on Aug. 10 in conjunction with the wagon train visit here, and a proposal by J. C. Penney Co. to present public schools with historical musical scores. Call said a number of other events are planned for later this year and next and some are in the projection stage only. The Idaho Federation of Music Clubs is planning to sponsor a pageant in Sun Valley or Boise or possibly both cities. The pageant is being prepared for September of 1976. Twin Falls County Republican Women is planning to sponsor an essay contest for students of grades 1 through 12 after school begins this fall. The contest will follow a national bicentennial theme and winners will be announced and honored in 1976. A joint sponsorship by the College of Southern Idaho and Twin Falls Public Library is scheduled to bring the "American Issues Forum" program to Twin Falls.

Assault count dropped

BURLEY — Charges of assault with a deadly weapon against Genevieve Patricia Daniels, 20, Oakley, have been dropped by the Cassia County prosecuting attorney. Prosecutor Alfred Barrus dropped charges after an hour of testimony during a preliminary hearing in magistrate court here Monday. Daniels had been charged with hitting Robert Rowland, Oakley, following a family fight on the Anderson Land Ranch a week ago Sunday. Barrus said he dropped the charges because of a lack of evidence and because testimony Monday indicated Daniels acted in self-defense.

Intruder scared off

TWIN FALLS — A security officer on routine patrol heard noises inside Beymer Paving Co. offices on Floral Avenue about 1 a.m. Wednesday and apparently frightened a burglar from his work. Buddy Deweese called police when he heard a noise in the building and reported he believed a burglary was in process. As officers arrived they heard another noise, this time gals breaking. They found a shattered rear window but no burglar.

2 Gem agencies seek injunctions

BOISE (UPI) — Two northern Idaho organizations are seeking injunctions to prevent the State Land Board from enforcing the Forest Practices Act which they say is unconstitutional.

The Committee to Repeal the Forest Practices Act, led by A. Williams, Sandpoint, president, and Kootenai County Christian Science Committee, Richard G. Butler, Hayden Lake, marshal, filed the action.

Statements filed with the suits contend the act is "repugnant to and in direct conflict with the Constitution."

Notice of the suit was served on Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Wednesday. The case will go before U. S. District Judge Hay Mc Nichols.

They ask an injunction preventing the State Land Board and its agents from enforcing the act until a full hearing can be held and ask that the injunction remain in effect until the act can be challenged in court.

The act purports to delegate powers to the State Board of Land Commissioners, or its agents, to control, regulate or even stifle the fundamental property rights of individuals and to give absolute and arbitrary power over the actions of all who are in the business of Forestry, the suit was filed by Williams said.

They contend neither the state nor federal constitutions authorize such a delegation of power, that the legislature

Idaho law ahead of court ruling

BOISE (UPI) — A Supreme Court ruling that it is unconstitutional to confine mental patients to institutions if they are not considered dangerous is not expected to have much impact on Idaho.

Robert J. Decker, who is taking over direction of the state programs for mental health, child development, developmental disabilities and substance abuse, said today Idaho laws already protect the mentally ill.

Decker said the Idaho law "already reads that a person must be considered dangerous to himself or others before he can be committed to an institution."

"We're really way ahead of the game in that respect and the commitments that are taking place in Idaho would be in agreement with that decision."

As regards to the decision made by the court, we are in compliance substantially with that decision.

The Supreme Court ruling that Kenneth Donaldson, 57, of York, Pa., was confined for 15 years and without treatment even though he was not considered dangerous is expected to bring the release of

Idaho park title case prepared

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Wayne L. Kidwell meets in Washington, D. C. with the solicitor general July 9 to present Idaho's case for retaining title to the Shoshone State Park in northern Idaho.

Kidwell said he will present a legal brief at that time outlining the state's position in the matter. After that, he said, it will be up to the solicitor general to make a recommendation to the Secretary of State.

Idaho's Coeur d'Alene Indian Tribe has challenged the state's title to the park on grounds the leasing of cottage sites there along Lake Chatcolet breached an agreement with the United States to use the park only for "public purposes." The state contends the cottage sites constitute only a small portion of the acreage, that they are put up for bid every 10 years and therefore the use is a "public" one within meaning of the agreement.

The attorney general met recently with Robert Delwo, attorney for the tribe, in Boise. At that time he said he felt it would be premature to attempt to negotiate with the tribe. Delwo indicated at that time that he, too, plans to seek a meeting with the solicitor general to present the Indians' side of the case, Kidwell said.

After the solicitor general makes his recommendation the decision on whether the park should revert to the United States will be up to the Secretary of State.

Kidwell has told fellow members of the State Land Board that if it appears the state may lose title to the land it may have to cancel the leases in order to retain the acreage.

Should the United States take back the land and give it to the Indians, the original owners of it, Kidwell said, they may continue some of the leases in the park.

Technical problem jeopardizes funds

BOISE (UPI) — Legal technicians have jeopardized $25 million in state and federal monies for Idaho's offices on Aging and Equal Opportunity.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, by executive order, recently abolished their parent agency, the Department of Special Services, and placed them under different departments as of July 1. He put Aging under the Executive Office of Governor and Equal Opportunity under the Department of Health and Welfare.

A legislative appropriation to pay their bills and employee salaries, however, was made to Special Services — the agency that ceased to exist

Fall claims MH man

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — A Mountain Home man died in a fall on Tuesday morning, they decided to walk out of the canyon area. In climbing a 400 foot cliff to get out, Webb fell 70 feet, killing himself. His companions were not hurt.

The body was recovered Tuesday by search and rescue units from Elmore and Ada counties, the Mountain Search and Rescue unit and citizens from Smith's Prairie. The Elmore County sheriff released the report on the death today.

Racial status eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary Howard Callaway says racial tension is still a limited problem for the Army and opportunities for minority groups and women must be further increased.

Callaway is out of the Army today. He is working full-time on President Ford's 1976 campaign. He touched on the racial situation Wednesday in a news conference. Callaway said there were still racial problems: "It's so much better than it was, but we still have a lot of racial tension in the Army. It's sort of a true right now instead of anything open."

CANCER GEOGRAPHIC PATTERN

Cancer death atlas prepared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High death rates for lung cancer and stomach cancer have been found in predominantly rural, seacoast areas along the Gulf Coast from Texas to the Florida Panhandle.

A cluster of suspiciously high rates of colon cancer for both sexes is reported for some southeastern Nebraska counties.

These and other clues to the epidemiology of 35 types of cancer among white persons are disclosed in the National Cancer Institute's first county-by-county atlas of cancer deaths. Future reports will cover non-white persons.

"Inspection of the maps for the various cancer sites (parts of the body) reveals striking differences in the geographic patterns of mortality," said the report which became publicly available Wednesday.

The report is being mailed to cancer epidemiologists who study disease distribution and incidence rates, and to Comprehensive Cancer Centers throughout the country to help them trace possible environmental, genetic or other causes of cancer.

Based on a study of some 6 million cancer deaths between 1950 and 1969, the atlas provides the first tentative scientific interpretation of more than 700 pages of raw data released last year for each of the 3,056 counties in 48 mainland states.

Among the findings:

- For all counties with a white population of at least 10,000 persons, the bladder cancer death rate for males is highest in Salton County, N.J.
- About one-fourth of the workers in that county are employed in chemical and allied industries, and workers exposed to chemicals such as 2-naphthylamine are known to have an increased risk of bladder cancer.
- Of the 21 counties in New Jersey, 18 have bladder cancer rates for males among the highest in the nation: 15 are among the highest for colon cancer among males, and 18 for colon cancer among females.
- The map for lung cancer indicates excessive deaths are limited to highly populated urban areas where cigarette smoking and air pollution are most prominent. The rates are highest along the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, particularly in Louisiana where 38 of the state's 64 parishes have lung cancer rates in the highest 20 percent of all U.S. counties. Of the 31 American counties in the top 1 percent for lung cancer, 13 are in Louisiana and 7 are along the Gulf Coast and the Atlantic Coast from northern Florida to Charleston, S.C. Lung cancer is also high in the New York City area and New Jersey.
- High rates of stomach cancer were found in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and upper Michigan, suggesting ethnic factors are responsible. The high rates in both sexes relate closely to the geographic concentration of persons with ancestors from Austria, the Soviet Union and Scandinavia.
- Stomach cancer rates in those countries are higher than in the United States.
- Cancers of the colon and rectum, believed to be related to diet, were found in both sexes at above average rates in the northeast (New Jersey, southern New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts) and in urban areas along the Great Lakes (Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee).
- Low colon and rectum cancer death rates were found in the southern and central United States.
- Surprisingly, breast cancer showed a similar pattern to colon and rectum cancers, suggesting that this disease may have an environmental factor in common with cancers of the large intestine.

Final checkout for astronauts

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The federal space agency is going ahead with plans to send three American astronauts to a space Soviet cosmonauts despite a U.S. senator's request it be postponed.

The astronauts were taking their final checkouts today in the Apollo spacecraft that will carry them to the meeting in space two weeks from now.

"The National Aeronautics and Space Administration kept the Apollo-Soyuz test project on schedule for a July 15 launch despite a request from Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., that it be delayed."

Proxmire said in Washington the CIA has doubts about the technical capability of the Russians to handle the rendezvous mission with the American astronauts and the orbiting Salyut space station.

Dr. Glynn Lunney, technical director for the Apollo mission, said "NASA has concluded that the Soyuz-Salyut 4 mission does not constitute a hazard" for the mission.

Women's rights plan set up

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The International Women's Year Conference has ended two weeks of frequent political bickering on a brief note of harmony — adoption of a 10-year plan of action to advance women's rights.

But differences still dividing the delegates emerged in a politically sensitive document calling for the elimination of Zionism, imperialism and apartheid.

The plan of action, adopted by consensus at Wednesday's final session, was billed as the major work of the United Nations-sponsored conference.

It stressed the need for U.N. states to end discrimination against women and improve their opportunities in education, employment, politics and leadership.

The Declaration of Mexico, which condemned Zionism, was passed by a vote of 89-2 with 19 abstentions. Israel and the United States were the only countries voting no.

It was sponsored by the Group of 77, non-aligned nations, including host country Mexico.

"When you talk about eliminating Zionism, what you really mean is the destruction of Israel," said one angry Israeli delegate.

A delegate from the Netherlands said the document "might possibly be a prelude to a move to expel the United States from the United Nations when the General Assembly meets in September."

The declaration called for "the elimination of imperialism, colonialism, neocolonialism, foreign occupation, Zionism, alien domination, 'racism' and apartheid."

The 1,200 delegates from 143 countries also passed resolutions urging the United States to leave the Panama Canal and the Chilean

Jitters grip Pioneer

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Pioneer 10's sudden case of the jitters is being caused by the unmanned spacecraft's star sensors, the space agency reported Wednesday.

Pioneer 10, headed toward the planet Jupiter, began its erratic wobbling on May 4 during a routine change in orientation. Officials at the Ames Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the wobbling was caused by the failure of the sensors to remain navigationaly locked on the proper star.

"As a result, Pioneer sent false signals to the ground controllers indicating that the spacecraft was tilting northward in its journey at the rate of 1 1/2 degrees a day. They said the twisting had not caused the loss of any data from the space probe. They said the craft was traveling 27,000 miles per hour.

CIA hires civil law firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Central Intelligence Agency, in a move that surprised many observers, has hired Arnold & Porter, one of the city's leading law firms, to serve as consulting counsel during Senate and House hearings on the agency.

A CIA spokesman confirmed Wednesday that agency officials have concluded negotiations with Mitchell Rogovin, a partner in the firm who is one of Washington's best-known civil liberties lawyers, that will bring the firm into the case within a few weeks. Rogovin, a former assistant attorney general, will be in charge of Arnold & Porter's work for the CIA.

It could not be learned immediately who William E. Colby, the director of Central Intelligence, and his advisers had decided to retain outside counsel. Colby was said by his office to be out of town until next week. Rogovin and other members of his firm refused to discuss the matter.

A senior official of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence said that he was puzzled by the agency's decision to seek outside counsel.

A number of lawyers noted that there was no legal bar to the hiring of outside private counsel by the agency. It was further noted that many law firms in Washington have handled legal matters in the past under the direction of the CIA.

Many lawyers, however, were puzzled by the fact that the agency had singled out Rogovin to serve. In effect, "as its chief outside counsel."

Since leaving the Justice Department in 1969, Rogovin has been considered one of the most aggressive civil liberties lawyers in Washington.

Wallace breaks leg

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. Wallace's leg, which he left broken, was set in a cast.

The injury is not expected to affect Wallace's campaign for the November presidential nomination. He had announced he would devote most of his attention in the next few months to Alabama problems, and had scheduled only two out-of-state speeches during July and August.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if there is a dress code for church. What is permitted and what isn't? My sister, who is 29 and married, came to church last Sunday wearing a halter top that showed about three inches of her bare midriff.

This sister came to church a few minutes after Mom was seated, and when Mom saw Sis in this outfit, she burst into tears and didn't lift up her head for the whole service. Afterwards, Mom went home and cried all day. She says she is sure Sis is going to the devil.

Maybe I'm of another generation (I am 22), but I didn't think my sister did anything so terrible by coming to church dressed that way. The church is very hot and has no air conditioning. Maybe if the church officials let people dress more comfortably, they would have better attendance in the summer. What do you think?

WARM IN GA.

Bare midriff brings Mom to tears

DEAR WARM: Common sense and a little old-fashioned respect for a house of worship is all the dress code necessary. Your sister shouldn't have exposed her midriff. Your mother shouldn't have cried all day and all the churches in Georgia should be air-conditioned to discourage bare midriffs—and the devil.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me some of the most common clues to look for if I already suspect (which I do) that my wife is meeting another man somewhere during the day?

I am not an overly suspicious man, so you will not be generating trouble where none exists.

In this case, simply asking her will not help.

SUSPICIOUS IN DALLAS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If a woman gets all dressed up to go "shopping," comes home slightly late and out of breath, has no packages and is wearing her pantyhose inside out, I'd wonder where she'd been.

DEAR ABBY: Another solution to "Prune Face," that doctor's wife who wants a facelift, but whose husband said no because he didn't want her to look like his daughter?

Persuade the good doctor to join his wife and get a facelift, too! We'd just as soon you didn't use our names, but it's no secret to our friends and family that my wife and I had a "joint job." We shared the same room and nuzzles—and were delighted with the results.

We were in our mid-50s at the time. It didn't hurt a bit except when I wrote out the check.

Do the best with what you've got (left), we say.

SINALOA, MEXICO

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORRIED-SICK IN CHICAGO": Forget it. If she could really see into the future, she wouldn't be sitting in a cold water flat in Chicago charging $2 a fortune.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

North's jump to four hearts is a very good bid indeed. It shows three good hearts. With four hearts he would have raised hearts right away. It also says: "Partner, you have forced to game. I like hearts and if you want to go on to a slam it is up to you. I have told my ally."

South does want to go on. He had intended to raise diamonds, but now there is no reason to go to the minor suit and let Blackwoods to the slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to three clubs. What do you do now?
Answer Tomorrow

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is nothing to the play of today's hand. The defense takes the first trick, declarer the next 12.

There is a lot to the bidding. North only holds 11 high-card points, but his strong six-card suit gives him a sound opening bid. South's one-heart response is normal and North elects to raise two diamonds rather than give an immediate raise with just three trumps.

South's three-club bid is what's sometimes called a "true reverse". The bid shuts out a return to two hearts and by definition is a reverse bid even though the hearts and clubs have been bid in order of rank. It is also a game-forcing bid.

Cattlemen plan summer picnic

TWIN FALLS—The Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association has announced the annual summer picnic will be Aug. 3 at the Jerome County Fairgrounds.

All members and interested persons are invited to attend, according to Dave Martin, secretary of the board of directors who met recently to schedule the picnic.

The picnic is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and will feature free food and entertainment and door prizes. Those attending are asked to bring a salad and their own table service.

SANDY McBETH plans rites

August rites set

RUPERT—Mr. and Mrs. Ken McBeth, Rupert, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandy, to Randy Holm.

Holm is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Holm, Burley.

Miss McBeth was graduated from Minico High School in 1975.

Holm is a 1975 graduate of Burley High School and is employed by Kings in Burley.

The couple plans on Aug. 8

Circle names new officers

TWIN FALLS—Ted Knight was elected president of the Golden-Wedding Circle at a meeting Monday at the IOOF Hall.

Other newly elected officers include L.V. Nicholson, first vice president; Fred Thieme, second vice president; Pearl Buchanan, secretary-treasurer.

Jeanne Bunch sang original songs to her own guitar accompaniment. Mrs. Marvin Cyster played old songs on the mouth organ. Readings were given by Elmer Anns, David Kitchell and Mrs. Custer.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cleveland, the couple married the longest time (66 years) and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thieme, who most recently celebrated their golden anniversary were awarded prizes.

briefs

TWIN FALLS—Douglas Claude Scott, Twin Falls, has earned a bachelor of science degree in environmental engineering by California Polytechnic State University.

Teacher picks date

FAIRFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. Don Bauscher, Fairfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn, to Dennis Saunders.

Miss Bauscher is an elementary school teacher in Gooding—and Saunders is employed by Big O Tire Co., Gooding.

The couple plans an Aug. 7 wedding and will live in Gooding.

Host families sought for youths

JEROME—Members of the Youth for Understanding exchange programs are looking for host families in the Jerome area.

"We are looking for families in the Jerome area who wish to share their lives with a new 'son or daughter' from another country," Mrs. Don Hawks, Gooding Youth for Understanding representative, said.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Hawks, host families throughout the United States will be receiving 2,300 teenagers from Europe, South America and the Far East into their homes this fall as part of the exchange program.

"Our students develop an awareness of life in the United States through participation in the daily activities of their host family and high school. At the same time they share their own culture and national heritage," Mr. and Mrs. Hawks said.

"They explained that Youth for Understanding students become members of their new family and have the same responsibilities and privileges as other children in the home. Host families provide the necessities—such as food and housing—while students are responsible for their own personal expenses.

Families interested in accepting a student are asked to contact Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hawks, Box 221, Gooding or phone 934-5114.

"THE EAGLE SCREAMS"

IDAHO ADMITTED TO THE UNION, JULY 3rd, 1890

IDAHO'S FOREMOST APPAREL STORE CELEBRATES AMERICA'S SECOND HUNDRED YEARS AND IDAHO'S FIRST EIGHTY-FIVE.

All over the country people are making plans to celebrate America's 200th birthday. And here in Idaho, we're honoring today—the 85th anniversary of becoming an important addition to the United States of America.

In fact, from now till July, 1976, The Paris will be doing its best to make the year long celebration not only significant, but interesting and enjoyable.

It will be a grand and glorious year-long commemoration of the ideals and courage that made of us, a great nation. We thank the thousands of Magic Valley customers whose friendship has helped us grow into southern Idaho's largest and most outstanding ladies' apparel store (now, with fashions for men—and children). We appreciate your confidence that has been the foundation of our history of service to this community.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 You wrote recently on the subject of potassium: I have a friend who has been told she has a deficiency of potassium. She has been taking potassium pills, but they don't seem to help her. In the morning she feels badly - weak and faint. What are the symptoms of a lack of potassium? - F.V.H.
 Potassium, along with sodium, as I mentioned in that column, is essential in maintaining a proper chemical balance in the body cells. It can be depleted by the use of some diuretics, as well as by (chronic) vomiting or diarrhea, in some kidney diseases, or in diabetes.
 The symptoms are chiefly muscle weakness and constipation... low blood pressure, heart irregularity, leg cramps... The potassium level can be determined by chemical tests. ECGs also will reveal a pattern of potassium deficiency.
 Caution is the word in use of potassium supplements; lest too much be given. In the case of your friend, response to potassium supplement therapy need not be immediate or dramatic. It will also depend on the condition that brought on the deficiency to begin with, which, incidentally, should be determined if this hasn't been done already.

Potassium caution stressed

And it will be important to monitor potassium levels in subsequent tests. If the symptoms of weakness can be associated with the potassium therapy, then your friend should report this to her doctor, who may want to adjust her medication.
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I am sending 20 cents to you in care of this newspaper for your booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," for which I am enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing to me. My husband had it for several years. His nose started to bleed a bit, and we had to take him to a doctor once to have it stopped. Wonder if that is in any way connected to emphysema?
 The doctor said it was caused by high blood pressure. - S.K. Emphysema, as you know, is a lung problem caused by deterioration of the tiny alveoli, little sacs of the lungs involved in transferring oxygen from the air we breathe to the body.
 When the lungs are damaged, as in emphysema, the result is a diminished supply of fresh oxygen entering the system. In severe emphysema, a condition called polycythemia can result. Since the red cells of the blood are the ones that carry oxygen, and since the body is suffering from a shortage of oxygen, more red cells are created in an effort to pick up every available bit of oxygen the lungs can hold. This condition can be found in especially high altitude areas because of the rarefied air, and for the same reasons I describe above.
 The result is a thickened blood, which can aggravate heart conditions. Pulmonary hypertension can result. So, yes, the emphysema and the high blood pressure can be related, as can the nosebleeds.
 My booklet, which you ordered, will help you get a clearer understanding of the role of the heart and lungs in the disease.
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I am 19 years old. My boyfriend has had the mumps, and he thinks it is impossible for me to become pregnant by him. But I did. Now he tells me it couldn't be from him. Is this true?
Worried.
 This is true.
 In patients who have had the disease after puberty, the testes can become involved, and they do in about 25 per cent of such cases. The condition is called orchitis, a general term to describe inflammation of the testes. There would have been

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BOHR Miss Zahnd Bohr wed in garden rites

TWIN FALLS - Cindy Zahnd, daughter of Mrs. Zahnd, Twin Falls, and Fred Zahnd, Redwood City, Calif., and John Bohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bohr, Twin Falls, were married June 12 at a garden wedding at the bridegroom's home.
 The home was decorated with yellow and white bells and streamers.
 Rev. Benny Wright performed the ceremony.
 The bride wore white dotted Swiss dress with pink flower background, long sleeves and empire waist tied with a pink ribbon. Her headpiece was a crown of baby roses. The bouquet of wild flowers from the desert was picked by the best man.
 Bridesmaid was Dina Cottrell, Menlo Park, Calif. The best man was Randy James and usher was Ken Bohr.
 The bride was taken away by her brother, Rick Zahnd, Redwood City.
 Music was by Mrs. John Pennell, sister of bridegroom. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Crawford, sister of bridegroom, and brothers Ken Bohr and George Bohr, Twin Falls.
 Out-of-state guests came from Van Wert, Ohio, and Redwood City.

TWIN FALLS — Louise Harrol, Harold Waggoner, George Hooper and Elizabeth Havens were honored for birthday observances at a meeting of the Golden Age Club.

Music for dancing was provided by Harold and Vena Waggoner, Fred and Hallie Craig, and Kathryn and Marilyn Schwart. Assisted by two young violinists from Idaho Falls. Mrs. Craig served as accompanist for community singing led by Eiva Olson, John Henderson, Jack Campbell, Lewis Smith and Lillian Arango.

Emma Stone baked the birthday cake.

Dave Mitchell, Mrs. Havens, Addie Radakovich, Homer Huddleston and Margaret Huddleston were appointed to the nominating committee by John Henderson, president.

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Sharon Edwards had a surprise visitor Wednesday morning.

When she opened her front door about 10 a.m., she found a baby porcupine huddled in the corner of the house and attached garage. It apparently had followed the small creek which flows through the subdivision where the Kent Edwardses live at 222 Plainview Drive, northeast of town.

Sheriff's officers took the unwanted guest to Rock Creek Canyon off of Pale Line Road where he reportedly started a man taking water samples.

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City sewer improvement program, a $6-million conversion project at the city treatment plant, is making good progress, City Manager Jean Milar said today.

He said it will not be long before some of the pieces begin fitting together to show the eventual scope of the improvement.

In addition, the city is taking steps to build additional sewer lines, including one on Eastland Drive toward Independent Meat Co. where regular city lines will then begin serving that industry and several others in that area.

Another project, about two miles of sewer line needed to connect the airport to existing lines extending just south of the old city filter plant, is in process.

The Environmental Protective Agency is currently reviewing final plans for the additional line which will make the airport part of the city system.

Milar said a supplemental line has been designed and installed at the airport to help the facility until the main line construction can be completed.

Milar said in wet weather, septic tanks, including the one serving the airport, frequently fill and percolate to the surface. The additional line into the tank and drain field is expected to handle this situation even in unusually wet weather, Milar said.

Bell ringing set at Buhl

BUHL — Bells will ring in Buhl July 4, commemorating the original Liberty Bell's proclamation of independence for the new nation 193 years ago.

Mrs. Joseph A. Hutchison, who has a son in Cub Scouts, said it is a long-standing tradition with Cub Scouts to ring bells four minutes at varying times in the different time zones so the sound will be simultaneous across the nation.

The Buhl festival will be from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Hutchison said this has been done in the past here, but discontinued in recent years after the rope which is attached to the bell at the fire station broke.

With the current emphasis on bicentennial observances, Mrs. Hutchison said she called the Buhl festival and called Fire Chief Walter (Dub) Hamer.

He agreed to get the bell hooked up with ropes and Cub Scouts from Pack 5, sponsored by the Buhl First LDS Ward, will man the two ropes in commemoration of July 4-1776, when bells across the new nation signaled the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

A bell owned by the Buhl Kiwanis Club which can be mounted on a trailer also is planned to assist in the observance.

Forest service well permits checked

By BART QUENNEL, Times-News writer

BOISE — A nationwide search is on to find out if the U.S. Forest Service (USFS) complies with state law anywhere in securing permits to drill wells on reserved land.

Idaho Atty. Gen. Wayne Kidwell said Wednesday evidence the agency has compiled elsewhere would be beneficial in his anticipated suit by the state that nine wells drilled inside the Sawtooth National Recreation Area were dug illegally.

The SNRA has drilled nine wells for campgrounds since 1972 without securing a permit from the Idaho Department of Water Resources. Forest service officials have claimed the federal government does not have to secure a permit to drill wells on reserved land. Reserve land is land set aside for the public when the national forests were established.

Kidwell said it will be at least a month before a suit is filed with the Federal District Court in Boise. He said the evidence will be thoroughly researched before a filing decision is made.

Kidwell recently returned from an attorney general's conference where he found many attorneys generally agree in job as friends of the court in a suit against the USFS.

"This suit will have a nationwide effect," Kidwell said. "If it is filed, I am sure it will go to the supreme court."

The forest service is suing the reserved lands doctrine, Kidwell said, to defend their right to use all water within the boundaries of a national forest.

However, the reserve lands doctrine applies to land set aside for Indians when the white man started settling the country, he said. The U.S. Supreme Court recognizes the reservation doctrine, he said, and the right to use resources on that land.

The court has never addressed the question of state rights in forest service land, according to Kidwell. Written into the bill establishing Idaho's statehood in 1890 is language giving Idaho jurisdiction over all underground water within its boundaries, Kidwell said.

Kidwell said if the forest service applied for a permit, it would probably be granted.

"I'm not contending the amount of water needed for the SNRA," Kidwell said, "I just want them to comply with state law."

Before filing suit, Kidwell said, he would give the forest service a chance to comply with state law.

"I am still of the opinion we have argued suit," Kidwell said. "There are several instances where state sovereignty has stood up in court."

Views differ on farmland regulations

By GEORGE WILEY, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls' three county commissioners favor further regulation of residential construction in areas of prime farmland.

But two of the commissioners oppose a proposal to increase the minimum farmland lot size from five to 10 acres. A third commissioner will not commit himself on minimum lot size.

Last week planner David Richey presented a "discussion draft" of a comprehensive land-use plan for the city and county to the joint city-county planning council for which he works.

In that draft, Richey proposed that a minimum lot size of ten acres be imposed in all areas zoned for agricultural use. Such a restriction, he argued, was the only effective method of preventing urban sprawl in agricultural areas.

The proposed limitation proposal applies only to the five-acre state and rural agricultural L, James Koutnik, who is also a member of the county zoning board.

Koutnik called the proposal "totally unrealistic" and suggested it had "no justification except to keep another bubble-headed bureaucrat from doing his job."

The present county zoning ordinance, Koutnik said, is adequate to prevent sprawl in agricultural areas.

"I think that if a farmer wants to sell off his land under state law into five-acre tracts, he should be able to do so," Koutnik said. He added that in some cases the county should continue to allow one-acre residential tracts in agricultural zones.

The county currently, like the state, defines the minimum agricultural tract as five acres, but county policy allows the landowner to divide and sell his five-acre ones, down to a minimum lot size of one acre.

Asked about Richey's proposal to limit tracts to ten acres, Twin Falls County commissioners all said preservation of agricultural land was a necessary goal of land-use planning, but they generally favored retention of the five-acre minimum parcel with controls imposed to prevent such parcels being split and sold as smaller lots.

"I think that's so severe as far as ten acres," said county commission chairman William Chaney. "I think if we stayed with our five acres and held to our five-acre this is what it should be."

Chaney added that controls to prevent the present "circumventing" of the five-acre minimum tract may have to be imposed, another said he would favor such regulations to protect farmland.

"It looks to me like we're going to have to revamp our ordinance that we do have at the present time," he said.

Commissioner Ann Cover took a similar stance.

"The main thing is that we've got to keep them from splitting it up, whether it's ten acres or five acres," she said. "What has happened is that they are abusing the original intent of the five-acre policy which was designed to allow construction of homes for blood relatives of farm families."

Mrs. Cover said she favored a five-acre limit on lot sizes, so long as the five acres could not be further split.

"Ten acres for most people is just too much to handle (as a homestead) but too small to farm," she said.

Koutnik, she added, persons desiring a rural lifestyle should be given the opportunity to purchase it, but without destroying the agricultural nature of the farm areas.

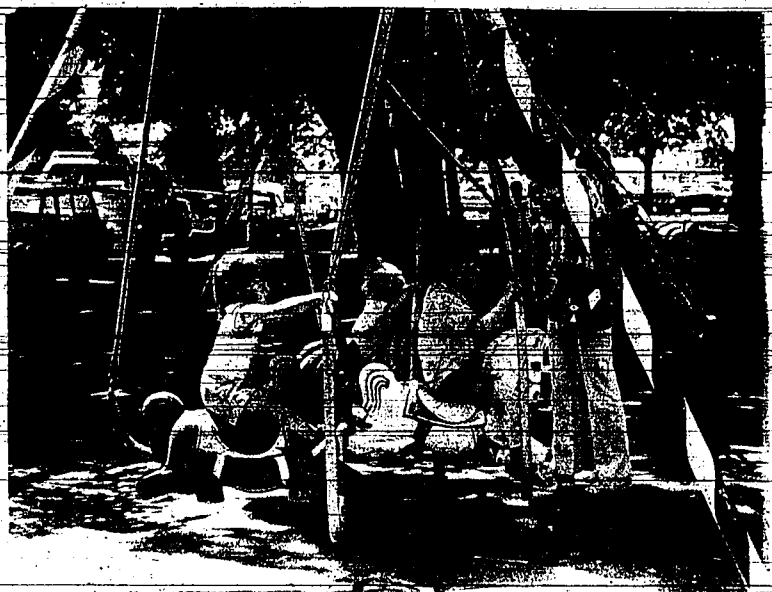

"I definitely feel that that farmland is the thing we have to protect the most," she said.

Commissioner Merril Leonard agreed with the construction of the prime agricultural land, but declined to commit himself to a minimum lot size.

"It's going to take a lot of study to determine how the land is used," he said. "The question of land use may change overtime with growth."

Leonard called the determination of minimum lot size "a real difficult question to answer at the present time," adding that he was "in favor of the preservation of agricultural land."

"There's going to have to be some regulations," he concluded, "and we're going to have to live with those regulations. But I think it has to be flexible enough to deal with land use change and growth."

CAA solar heat project may aid Valley families

TWIN FALLS — The South Central Community Action Agency has initiated a project to develop solar heating units for low-income families in the Magic Valley.

The project is successful use of the solar device could cut heating costs by 50 to 90 percent, according to SCCAA housing and alternative energy director Richard Leslie.

The first step in the project, Leslie said, will be to establish a working demonstration model of a solar heating unit. The model installation will then be used to seek further funding for the construction and installation of the units.

According to SCCAA director Bob Russell, the project could even result in a factory to construct the units and would thereby represent a new industry for the Valley.

Funds for the demonstration model, which would be installed in a local home, are expected to come from a $5,000 alternative energy grant from the federal Community Services Administration, Leslie said.

The $5,000 grant would be coupled with an additional $20,000 grant to fund winterizing of low income homes in Twin Falls, Jerome and Castia counties, Leslie said.

Winterization — the installation of insulation, weather stripping and double strength glass or storm windows — is a necessary step to make the solar units effective, Leslie added.

He said Twin Falls is in the middle range on the scale of solar radiation units (Langley) received and that the use of solar furnaces is "definitely feasible" in the area.

The solar units, Leslie said, could either be used in hot water for circulation or to heat stoves or Glapier stoves which would retain the heat over several days during cloudy weather.

Lincoln eyes fair awards

SHOSHONE — The Idaho Cattlemen's Association will present awards for the top 41 beef project at the Lincoln County Fair Aug. 1 and 2.

The winner will receive an engraved silver belt buckle and a certificate entitling the 41-er to an honorary one-year membership in the association with free subscriptions to the Bulletin and Producer magazine published by the association.

The Idaho Angus Auxiliary will present a silver belt buckle to the top Angus animal of the fair. Pins will be presented to other entries.

The South Central Charolais Breeders Association will present $100 to the 41 member who wins the grand champion animal contest if the animal is a Charolais or a Charolais cross and also a trophy for the top Charolais animal.

The Idaho Hereford Association will present a plaque for the top Hereford animal provided it is sired by a registered Hereford.

At the fair a $10 cash barn award will go to the 4-H club or FFA chapter which keeps the section of the barn the neatest and cleanest during the fair. The award will be provided by the Lincoln County Fair Board.

Rosettes will be given to the top three club exhibits in the 4-H building and the barns.

TF aides to drop charges

TWIN FALLS — City officials plan to drop misdemeanor charges leveled against a Twin Falls man for dumping tons of paper in Rock Creek Canyon.

Charges were brought against Gene Hamilton, owner of Hamilton Insulation and Roofing Co., for dumping the paper down the canyon wall.

Hamilton, who owns the property where the dumping occurred, has said the action was part of a landfill project.

Hamilton's attorney Monte Carlson said today the dumping had been followed by loads of dirt designed to cover the paper. He charged that a city sewer pipe in the area was leaking raw sewage into Rock Creek and said Hamilton has halted his landfill project with the hope the city will repair the leaking pipe.

City Atty. Charles Brumback said the city decided to drop the charges because Hamilton agreed to sign a written statement that he will discontinue dumping in Rock Creek Canyon.

According to Brumback, Hamilton also has agreed to clean up the debris he has dumped or already has cleaned it up to the satisfaction of Joe Koon, city sanitation superintendent.

Carlson said he could not give details of the city's proposal to Hamilton because of an agreement between the city and Hamilton was still under negotiation.

Brumback said the city will press the issue if further violation continues, but added the matter appeared to be settled satisfactorily at this time.

After Hamilton dumped the paper, city street crews brought dirt to the canyon to cover the paper.

Hamilton says he wants to build a road into the canyon so he can gain access to clean up the creek side area.

today in brief

Eden teen listed as fat

EDEN — Mike K. Black, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Black, Eden, was listed in fair condition in Magle Valley Memorial Hospital today following a motorcycle and car accident Wednesday night.

The youth's cycle collided with an oncoming Volkswagen, causing the cycle to pass over the top of the vehicle, according to reports. He was apparently riding on a gravel roadway with dust from other traffic obscuring the vision of both drivers.

Black suffered a compound fracture of the left femur, an injured left arm and lost part of his left index finger, hospital officials said. They said a helmet prevented head and face injuries. He was admitted to the hospital shortly after 10 p.m.

Jerome sheriff's officers said the Eden area deputy is still investigating the accident and details would not be available until later.

Trash collection on schedule

TWIN FALLS — Regular garbage and trash collection schedules will be maintained in Twin Falls this week in spite of the holiday.

City officials say that Parks and Sons Co., contractor for the collection, will not take a holiday. Persons whose pick ups are normally on Friday should plan on the regular schedule.

Purse stolen from TF woman

TWIN FALLS — City police in Twin Falls are looking for two young men who stole a purse in a mid-afternoon robbery in downtown Twin Falls.

Police said Mrs. Dorothy Talley and her mother, Mrs. Sarah Bell, both Twin Falls, were walking across a downtown parking lot when two young men about 10 to 18 years of age approached. One grabbed the purse from Mrs. Talley's hands and the other attempted to take Mrs. Bell's purse.

When Mrs. Bell resisted, she was knocked to the ground, suffering bruises and abrasions.

Mrs. Talley said her purse contained such items as a leather wallet and key case set, her glasses and about $20 in cash. She estimated loss of the purse at $20.

The incident occurred at 4:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Death said from natural causes

MURPHY, Idaho (UPI) — A medical examination indicates that a man found dead by his son Monday apparently died from natural causes.

Samuel Arthur Maupin, 51, Melba, was found by his young son living near his pickup truck about a mile south of the Walter's Ferry Bridge across the Snake River. He was dead on arrival at a Nampa hospital.

BEA threatens strike

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise Education Association has threatened to strike in September if money budgeted for new teachers is taken from funds earmarked for teachers' pay increases.

Earlier this week, it appeared the contract dispute between the BEA and the Boise School Board had been resolved. Both sides indicated they approved a fact-finder's proposal to give the teachers a 10 per cent pay hike.

But Jack White, a leader of the BEA, said there is no way he and others will recommend approval of the proposal the way Acting Superintendent Ron Runyan interprets it.

Child abuse cases up

BOISE (UPI) — Reports of child abuse and neglect in Ada and surrounding counties are up 23 per cent since 1973.

Two years ago, Region IV of the State Department of Health and Welfare had three persons checking approximately 20 complaints a month in the Ada Valley, Boise and Today, according to Ron Paulson, H&W social services manager, there are 28 persons working in child protection — including 16 caseworkers handling children in foster homes and seven doing only investigations of complaints.

Sleeping bag stolen

TWIN FALLS — A sleeping bag and several other items were taken from a truck at the freight terminal of Gibson's store Wednesday afternoon.

City police and several witnesses saw two young men about 18 years of age enter the truck and remove the items. Full extent of the loss has not been determined.

Many camping areas filled

TWIN FALLS — Holiday campers heading into the north portion of the Sawtooth National Forest will be a bit late if they expect to spend the weekend in the more developed and popular areas.

Sawtooth National Forest officials say Alturas, Redfish and Stanley Lake areas were filled to capacity Wednesday night and will probably remain that way through Sunday night.

The best bet for late arriving campers would be along the Salmon River below Stanley or in more remote and smaller areas.

Some space is still available in the South Hills, but Sawtooth officials say side road use in that area as well as to the north is not advised.

Heated discussion at Jerome ends in rezone defeat

JEROME — Rezoning ordinances for two proposed townhouse complexes in Jerome were defeated for lack of a motion to pass them in a City Council meeting Tuesday.

Following a heated discussion between city residents and the city council, Jerome Mayor Charles Hancock called for motions to rezone. Land owned by Lew Rowland and Neal Brutsche. But the councilmen remained silent, relieving themselves of the necessity of voting on the ordinances.

More than 25 residents in the South Ellingre area, where Rowland had proposed construction of a 28 unit townhouse, protested the development to the council. No one had ever lodged a protest against Brutsche's proposal for a 40 unit townhouse at 10th Avenue and Buchanan.

Bill Cannedy, spokesman for the protesting residents, gave each councilman a copy of Senate Bill 1189, the land use planning bill, and cited passages in the bill as grounds for requesting a delay in approval of the ordinances. Cannedy said the purpose of the act, which became law July 1, was promotion of the health, safety and general welfare of the people.

"The bill is also to protect property rights and enhance public values, to insure that adequate public facilities and services are provided to the people in reasonable cost and to avoid undue concentration of population and overcrowding of the land, which the townhouse complex would do if it were permitted," Cannedy said. "Since the rezoning of the property constitutes a special use permit, conditions may be attached to the permit to minimize the impact on the area," he said.

Cannedy gave the council a list of nine questions which, he said, if satisfactorily answered, would negate the need for a delay of action on the ordinances by the council.

Cannedy said satisfactory answers could not be given, the residents would request referral of the application to the new planning zoning board for study.

Council members, attempted to answer the question resulted in a heated discussion between the council and the protesting residents. It was called a far and I don't much care for it. We have tried to answer your questions. We have held public hearings on several of these different questions, but none of you could ever be bothered to show up for the hearings."

Cannedy said further development of Garfield street would be completely blocked, preventing 255,617 square feet of property in the area.

Rowland said he tried to buy property to the area to extend Garfield Street, but was turned down by owners.

Ed Evans, city works director, said he had been turned down in his attempt to secure rights-of-way for extension of Garfield Street. A program given by Evans in the program to widen the street and provide curb and guttering with a pedestrian and bike path failed to satisfy protesters concerned about congested traffic conditions and pedestrian safety in the area.

"If you propose what this zone residential one, which will not permit any horses or livestock, we'll consider it. However, I think you had better live with the townhouse and live with the people."

Cannedy said he would rather live with horses because "they are very honest and they perform and you can't rely on people."

Hancock said "you are right and sometimes the horse kicks the hell out of you."

Cannedy said "that is just what is happening to us. We are getting the hell kicked out of us by this council."

When Rowland asked if the council could do anything to stop him from building his apartment complex, instead, he was told that if he built all city and state building requirements all he has to do is apply for a building permit.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, which has shown concern over rising short-term interest rates, slipped lower in early afternoon trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a seven-point loser Wednesday, was off 1.95 to 868.43 shortly after the opening. Lower prices advanced 102.09 among the 30 issues crossing the tape.

Just as the market opened, New York's trending First National City Bank announced it would raise its prime rate to 7.75 percent from 7.50 percent effective Monday. Speculation over this move sent prices skidding Wednesday.

Also, the Labor Department reported its wholesale price index dropped 0.1 percent in June and the nation's unemployment rate, because of a statistical adjustment to minimize the effect of summer workers, declined 0.6 percent to 8.6 percent in May. But the jobless rate essentially was unchanged.

The Commerce Department was to report on the nation's balance of trade.

Observers, noting the Dow average had risen 42 percent in the first six months of the year, said the market was "overvalued" and skidding.

Most averages have reached their highest level in more than a year.

Potatoes closed higher in all options after 7,217 loads with final prices slightly off the day's highs. Good case prices, estimates of lower summer crop and flood River Valley flooding were key factors.

Corn fields doing fine

WASHINGTON (CNS) — Much of the nation's 1975-76 corn crop was in good to excellent condition during the week June 23-29 as hot and humid weather promoted growth at a rapid pace, the Agriculture Department said today in its weekly weather and crop report.

Over much of the corn belt, USDA said, adequate to surplus moisture conditions prevail, although shortfalls are causing stress in the Appalachian states.

USDA reported the height of this year's corn crop is averaging above both last year and the norm. Iowa corn fields averaged 30 inches high, the most advanced averaging 47 inches. Illinois corn averaged 45 with the most advanced about 60, USDA said.

Growth and development in the North-Central regions continued ahead of last year and in all the major states, except Minnesota, outpaced the normal progress. USDA said. Weeds, downroot and yellowing in low spots continue to show up from wet fields in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, USDA added.

In the South-Central and South-Atlantic states, USDA said, corn continues to show excellent growth, but moisture shortages are showing up in Kentucky, North-Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Inclement weather, USDA said, restricted soybean plantings in many areas and slowed small grains, combining where soybeans will be planted as a second crop. Still, by June 29, soybean plantings were 95 per cent complete, outpacing 1974's 89 and the normal 94.

In the North-Central states, USDA said, soybean plantings were virtually complete, except in Kansas, Michigan and Missouri and other areas where soybeans follow winter wheat or other small grains. Planting in the South-Atlantic states was 92 per cent complete, and in the South-Central Region 88 per cent complete, USDA said. In Arkansas, USDA said, planting was 91 per cent finished, and 85 complete in Mississippi.

Soybeans in Illinois were in good to excellent condition and in mostly good condition in Iowa, USDA said, although late stands were uneven and showing some disease and insect problems. The average height in Ohio was 42 inches, USDA said, 4 above normal.

Rains and humid weather also slowed the small grains harvest in much of the nation's midsection, USDA said, while drier conditions allowed good harvest advancement in the South-Atlantic region. Hot and humid weather hastened small grains development over much of the North-Central states.

By June 29, USDA said, the winter wheat harvest was only 29 per cent complete, trailing last year's 51 and the more normal 40. In Kansas, wet fields slowed the harvest so it is only 10 per cent complete, compared with 75 in 1974 and the normal 45.

Rain and humid weather also delayed the Oklahoma harvest to only afternoon cuttings, USDA said, so that 79 per cent was combined compared with a 1974 figure of 96. In Texas, high winds, hail and rain stopped the harvest until late in the week of that the harvest is only 69 per cent complete, compared with 96 in 1974 and the usual 87.

Wheat harvesting progressed well in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, USDA said. The harvest started in Colorado and Ohio, USDA said. Only 60 per cent of the crop has turned corn in Nebraska, the department reported.

Plowing under

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI) — A lettuce grower in the heart of the nation's "Salad Bowl" says he will plow his crop into the ground.

Salinas Valley farmer Tom Merrill said Tuesday he would lose money if he harvested his crop.

Growers were being offered $1.30 a carton for lettuce, now selling in grocery stores at about 39 cents a head.

Observers said that a depressed situation had been created by a combination of over-production and resistance on the part of the nation's housewives to the high market price.

Sheepmen see relief

KAYCEE, Wyo. (UPI) — A temporary injunction issued against the Wyoming Wool Growers Association against the 1972 order which banned the interstate shipment of certain chemical pesticides used in predator control.

Melke said sheepmen and cattlemen will have to be careful to abide by the law. One of the stipulations of the court order was that the toxicants would be administered only by qualified state and federal officers on state and private lands.

"Because of the injunction ordered by the court, we are now assured that chemical toxicants will be available for predator control in Wyoming beginning next fall," said Don Melke of Kaycee.

Concentration hikes meat price

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Farm experts said Tuesday higher retail meat prices are partly a result of concentration of operations by meat packers and chain stores.

Their testimony was given before a subcommittee of the House Small Business Affairs Committee on proposed legislation to restrict so-called vertical integration of farm production. The hearing was held at the suburban Florissant City Hall.

A vertically integrated operation controls all aspects of meat production — breeding, raising, slaughtering and marketing.

Subcommittee Chairman Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, said vertical integration has helped cause the "spread" that has become somewhat institutionalized between what the farmer receives and the consumer pays.

Severe weather in June hasn't caused Kansas farmers to abandon significant amounts of wheat acreage according to Robert Schulte, assistant state statistician for the USDA Statistical Reporting Service in Topeka.

Schulte said the State Statistical Reporting Service estimated in its July report that Kansas will abandon approximately 600,000 acres of the 12.5 million acres of wheat planted.

Schulte added that the July figure is 100,000 less than estimated in June. He acknowledged that hail, flooding and high winds caused some damage to the Kansas wheat crop in June but he said beneficial rains in northern Kansas have offset those losses.

"We've allowed for adverse weather," Schulte said.

L.C. Carpenter, vice president of Midcontinent Packers Association, Columbia, Mo., said "Practical anti-trust measures should assure that large chain stores and packers cannot control the market."

"Yet," Carpenter added, "experience has proved that present legislation and anti-trust mechanisms are insufficient to assure an open and readily available market."

Carpenter called for legislation to prohibit packers and large stores from owning feed lot and retaining rights by packers to other packers.

"The family farmer continues to prove that he is the most efficient of farm operations," he said.

Wise no-hitter ends with 2 out in 9th

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rick Wake of the Boston Red Sox, who missed by one out of recording his second career no-hitter Wednesday night, said the left-hander snuffed out the left-hander down 7-0 in the ninth inning and he had no speed left in his fastball when George Scott returned to ruin the no-hit bid.

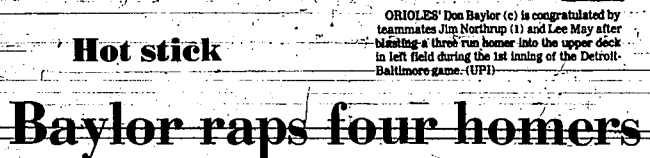

Wake had retired the first two batters in the ninth inning but walked Bill Sharp on four pitches, then surrendered back-to-back homers to Scott and Bobby Darwin before settling for a two-hit, 6-2 victory over the Milwaukee

Royals rip Rangers 7-5

JOHN LAYTON, Tex. who hit three homers against Texas Tuesday night, delivered a two-run blast in the 10th inning Wednesday night that gave the Kansas City Royals a 7-5 victory over the Rangers and snapped their four-game losing streak.

The bespectacled right-hander, distraught over losing the no-hitter, paced back and forth in the trainer's room for nearly 15 minutes before coming out to face reporters, then five minutes into the questioning.

"I was just trying to jam him," Wake said, referring to Scott. "He's just a good hitter, that's all."

Baylor raps four homers

DETROIT (UPI) — Don Baylor hit home runs his first three times up Wednesday night to drive in five runs in the process becoming the 18th player in major league history to hit homers in four consecutive official runs. Baylor's 15th homer of the season, to lead the Minnesota Twins to a victory over the California Angels.

Baylor equaled his previous major league high by hitting his 11th homer with two aboard to cap a four-run first inning. The left fielder added solo homers, his 12th and 13th of the season, to lead off the third and fourth innings.

The 26-year-old outfielder had hit a three-run homer against Boston Tuesday night and then walked in his last plate appearance of that evening against the Red Sox prior to completing his string against Detroit. But he popped foul to Aurelio Rodriguez with one on and two out in the fifth inning in his bid to become the first player ever to hit homers in five consecutive official times at bat.

Twins dump Angels 9-4

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Dan Ford drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double in the fourth inning and Rod Carew knocked in two runs in the eighth Wednesday night to lead the Minnesota Twins to a victory over the California Angels.

Twins manager Tom LaSorda said the team was "in good luck" after a 4-0 lead in the eighth inning.

Angels manager Gene Baker said his team "didn't play well" in the eighth inning.

White Sox pop Oakland 5-4

CHICAGO (UPI) — Brian Downing singled with two out in the ninth inning to score Jerry Hairston with the run that gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Oakland A's Wednesday night.

It was the White Sox' 10th victory in their last 11 games and only the second loss to Oakland in its last 11 outings.

The White Sox' winning rally started after Ken Henderson and Bill Melton filed out.

Dodgers over Padres 6-5

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Garvey singled with the bases loaded and two out in the 14th inning Wednesday night to pull out a 6-5 Los Angeles Dodgers victory over the San Diego Padres.

Paul Ray Powell, called up Wednesday from Albuquerque to fill in for the injured Joe Ferguson, led off the inning with a single, was sacrificed to second by Willie Crawford and after two intentional walks to Dave Lopes and Jim Wynn, loaded the bases. Garvey, singled to left to bring in the winning run.

Reds clip Astros 4-3

CINCINNATI (UPI) — George Foster's three-run homer of Larry Dierker in the sixth inning Wednesday night gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros.

Foster's homer, his 13th of the season, came after infield singles by Ken Griffey and Dan Driessen and wiped out a 3-1 deficit.

Phillies over Cardinals 5-3

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dick Allen's two-run triple in the eighth inning Wednesday night gave the Philadelphia Phillies a come-from-behind 5-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Indians stop Yankees 3-2

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Duane Kulper scored the winning run in the ninth inning when a throw from centerfielder Bobby Bonds scooped past baseman Graig Nettles Wednesday night to give the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are eager to build a new activity for yourself while at today's recreations and would be wise to do so. Consider every single detail to advance quickly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) No matter what you may be concerned with keep in mind ways to improve monetary position. Get a more solid structure beneath you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you study personal anxieties more objectively, you can get them solved quickly. Then step out for a good time. Be generous.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can quietly enjoy recreations today. Plan ways to make your future brighter. Make sure you get that important bill paid.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can have a delightful time with good friends. Make incursions into greater success via the social ladder.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Do something civic and patriotic. Attend picnics, parades, etc. Spend your money wisely and ask for help to others, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Out to some new site where you can get inspiring ideas for the future and be happy. Making new and worthwhile friends is easy now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get at those tasks usually difficult to handle and they are soon behind. Take a more optimistic attitude about the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Good day to celebrate the holiday with associates and come to a fine meeting of minds. Impress bigwigs met today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Build up health, then be off with associates to places that are enjoyable after you've handled important work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get together with compatibles today at mutually enjoyable activities. Show affection for loved one. Don't drive after drinking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle basic matters to make the future easier, more successful. Include family in important activities. Be wise with mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day to visit with friends and relations and reach a fine understanding. Show loyalty, especially to mate.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a peculiar magnetism and others will want to spoil your progeny, so be sure to prepare for some profession and give little duties to handle early so you do not have a hanger-on, but a most dynamic and successful son or daughter. Find out early what the forte is here and slant the education along such lines. A good athlete. Religion a must.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

What would happen to us if all the couples who want a child could choose in advance whether it was to be a boy or a girl? The laboratory experts are trying to develop that possibility, as you may know. But it would be a calamity, some students of the matter contend. Surveys indicate there soon would be a surplus of far more than 300,000 boys every year. They believe such a medical breakthrough within one generation would lead to marriages in which one wife would have as many as half a dozen husbands. The aforementioned students who call this situation a calamity were male, please note.

BRINK

Q: "What's the most popular alcoholic drink in Brazil?"
A: "A native white lightning called Cachaca. It's about 25 percent kickier than most American whiskeys."

TWO-THIRDS of the world's oil does not come from the Middle East. But two-thirds of the world's oil field equipment does come from Houston, Tex. And you can't get out the oil without the oil field equipment. Such is the cunning observation of a brittle theorist who proposes an embargo on the exportation of such tools in the next emergency. Shrug. That could turn into quite a bonanza for the Soviet manufacturers, what?

THAT ANIMAL which tends to sweat the soonest and the most with the least amount of effort in proportion to its size is the horse.

EYE EXAM

Unfortunately, on the morning this young lady went to her eye doctor, she was suffering from a most miserable hangover. Now it's a fact that the glasses said doctor prescribed were just fine, but only when she's hung over. Let this serve to teach, my son. Lay off the sauce for a couple of days before your next eye examination.

TO THAT LIST of famous fellows born on July 4th, add the name of the great Louis Armstrong. At New Orleans, in 1900.

NO OTHER superstition in America is so strongly held by so many as the fear of walking under a ladder, according to students of such matters.

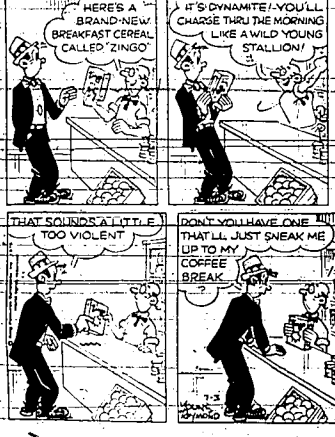

WHAT PUZZLES our Language man is why a nagged husband is referred to as "henpecked." Hens may peck, but they don't peck their masculine mates. No male known is more the master of his flock than is the rooster.
