Rail contract unsettled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Weary federal mediators trudged hotel hallways between railroad and union negotiators today but no contract agreement was reached in more than 16 hours of talks to avert a nationwide strike Monday.

The meetings were still going on late this morning.

Before going into the nightlong bargaining, officials on both sides indicated progress in the dickering over a new contract to replace one which expires at 12:01 a.m. Monday. A rail strike could severely damage the nation's freshening economy.

Guardmen due in Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — State officials plan to have 300 state troopers and 600 National Guardsmen on duty to help keep order during Boston's second year of school desegregation this fall.

State Public Safety Secretary Charles Barry disclosed the preliminary safety plan while discussing his office's proposed, $48.2 million budget before the Massachusetts House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday.

"It was the first indication National Guardsmen would be on the streets for the desegregation effort."

Space reports slapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says commercial television networks are reporting the Apollo-Soyuz project without the objectivity they bring to other news events.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate today, Proxmire said only public television is reporting the space program objectively.

Pilots call off strike

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The Air Line Pilots Association struck Northwest Airlines for an hour and a half today before ordering its 1,550 pilots back to work. The strike apparently was triggered by a mistake.

Pilots walked off their jobs as scheduled at 2 a.m. while negotiations between the ALPA and Northwest continued.

The company had said ALPA negotiators had told company negotiators Northwest flights would continue to be operated while the marathon bargaining session continued.

However, sources said pilots apparently never were told of the agreement and walked off their jobs and set up picket lines as scheduled.

Rare sheep escape blaze

WARNER SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Flocks of rare desert bighorn sheep escaped the flames of a brush fire that has devoured more than 8,000 acres of their habitat, wildlife biologists said today.

Firefighters battling the blaze that broke out Monday afternoon expressed optimism that the fire would be brought under control tonight. If winds favor them, but said the fire was still well out of control and "causing problems" on its northeastern front.

"The sheep are apparently fine," said a biologist at Anza-Borrego State Park. Of the 3,000 known desert bighorns, an endangered species, about 450 live in the rugged canyons and desert flats of the park, about 50 miles northeast of San Diego.

Actor breaks ankle

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor William Shatner broke his right ankle while filming an episode for the television series "Barbary Coast." A horse stepped on his foot.

Paramount Studios said Wednesday the incident occurred Tuesday night and is expected to keep him off his feet for about two weeks. Shatner formerly starred in the "Star Trek" TV series.

Prostitution; exclusively female

BROCKTON, Mass. (UPI) — A man accused of prostitution has been acquitted by a judge who said only females can be charged with the offense.

"I am satisfied that a male cannot commit the crime of prostitution," District Judge George Hurd said Wednesday at the end of a one-day trial.

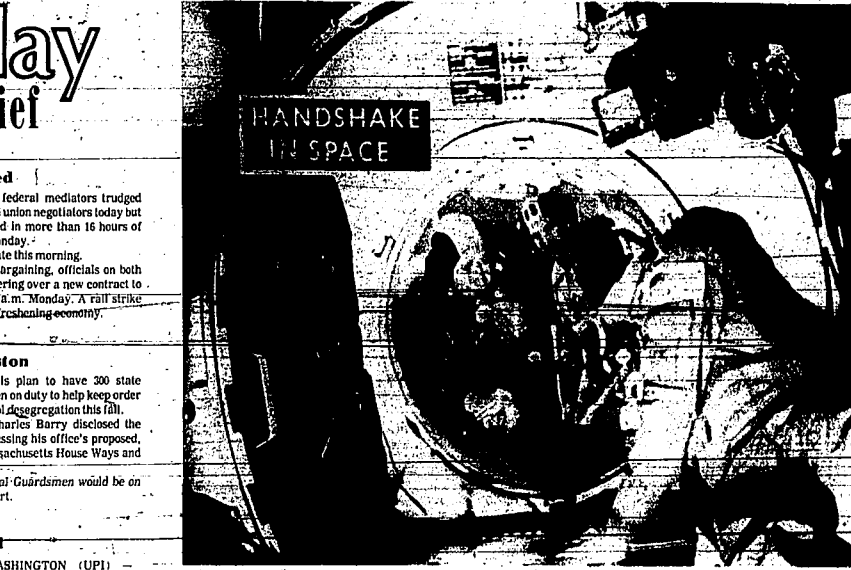

Frederick Doane, 31, a masseur, said he was surprised with the outcome.

"I thought I wouldn't be found innocent," Doane said. Doane, married and the father of two children, was arrested May 25 by a policewoman.

Arsonist sentenced

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — Peter Leonard, whose surprise request to withdraw a guilty plea was rejected, has been sentenced to 15 years in jail for imprisonment for starting a fire that killed 24 people at a Port Chester, N.Y., discotheque.

Leonard, 23, pleaded guilty last month to setting the June, 1974 fire to cover up a burglary of a bowling alley that was part of the same commercial complex housing the popular Gullivers discotheque on the New York-Connecticut border.

AMERICAN commander Thomas Stafford, right, shakes hands with Soviet commander Alexei Leonov during recent training exercise for Apollo-Soyuz mission. The historic handshake in space was scheduled for 1:17 p.m. today, about three hours after three American astronauts and two Soviet cosmonauts rendezvous and linkup in space. (UPI)

Space linkup 'smelly'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Three American astronauts and two Russians docked in orbit today and a few minutes later Apollo commander Thomas Stafford reported an acrid, burning smell in the docking module linking the two ships.

Mission control ordered Stafford, Vance Brand and Donald "Deke" Slayton to put on their oxygen masks.

Stafford, veteran of three space flights, calmly replied that the masks were at their sides, ready for use if necessary.

There was no indication the astronauts were in danger.

The two Russian cosmonauts, Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov, waited quietly in the Soyuz spacecraft, linked to the docking module which is attached to the nose of the Apollo.

Moscow center reported all was normal aboard the Soyuz.

The Americans said the smell resembled burning glue or acetone.

"I'm just standing by here to see if I feel any different, but I still feel pretty good," Slayton told concerned ground controllers fearing that there was a possibility that gases might overcome the pilots. "I still feel pretty good. I'm not used to sniffing glue."

A few minutes later, Slayton reported he had entered the docking module and everything was still okay: "No health problems."

"The docking itself went very smoothly and Stafford exclaimed, "We have succeeded."

"We are looking forward to shaking hands with you aboard Soyuz," Leonov said.

Church may ask CIA cut

BY DIANE ALTERS Times-News writer

IDAHO FALLS — Senator Frank Church, D-Idaho, told the Idaho Falls Post-Register Wednesday that if the CIA has engaged in secret spying at the White House that he will call for dismantling the agency and establishing a new line of authority.

A spokesman for Church's Senate Intelligence Committee now probing alleged illegal activities of the CIA and FBI today offered additional Church statements on the agency.

The spokesman said Church told a Baltimore paper Wednesday that detailing CIA employees to the White House is not proper as long as the President knows about it. The spokesman said Church said, "At present, however, there is no suspicion in the CIA spying on the President."

"He has repeatedly taken the view that there is no evidence of a spy planted in the White House," the spokesman said, noting that the investigation is "incomplete yet."

Press reports have said the CIA had infiltrated the Nixon White House without President Nixon's knowledge.

Alexander Butterfield, the man who revealed the existence of Nixon's secret taping system, was identified as the operative, but has denied the reports.

According to United Press International, Church told newsmen Wednesday in Washington that his committee is "having trouble" getting information it wants on an investigation of the FBI.

The committee hopes to complete and report by the end of July its "investigation" of alleged CIA assassination plots involving foreign leaders.

Agency head quits

By GEORGE WILEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The director of the South Central Community Action Agency resigned under pressure Monday night, apparently after months of inter-agency staff dissension.

According to SCCAA board member, William Chancey, who is also a Twin Falls County Commissioner, the resignation of director Bob Russell was accepted effective immediately Wednesday night.

Russell has previously submitted his resignation effective in September, Chancey said.

Chancey said Russell had been under pressure for some months to clear up agency staff dissension or resign. Asked what the dissension was about, Chancey said he could not "lie any one thing down."

"It's just been a matter of little things, and it just came together," Chancey said.

However, according to a second SCCAA board member the conflict revolved around the administration of the local Head Start program.

"The real issue is who is going to run the show here (at Head Start) — whether GAA is going to have the authority to run the organization — and as far as I'm concerned the Head Start staff will not accept that," board member Roy Sletten said. "The problem was not solved by Bob Russell leaving as far as I'm concerned."

US grain firms plan wheat sale to Soviets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two U.S. grain companies have contracted to sell 3.2 million tons of wheat to the Soviet Union and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned today such deals must be closely monitored to protect American consumers.

"Butz has been warned — I hope he's not burnt again," Mansfield said. "The deal should be scrutinized most carefully. The cost of living could be affected."

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz promised the shipment of 117 million bushels of winter wheat — most of it from the United States — to Russia over the next 12 months will not send prices of bread and other grain products soaring in American markets as a much bigger deal did in 1972.

Cook Industries, Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., announced Wednesday night it will sell 2 million metric tons to the Soviets and Cargill, Inc., said in Minneapolis at the same time it has made a similar sale of 1.2 million tons.

The deals could total an estimated $350 million or more.

"The sale of wheat we made to the Soviet Union allows for shipment from origins other than the United States, while most will probably be shipped from the United States," said Cook Board Chairman E.W. "Ned" Cook on arrival in Memphis Wednesday night.

The firm also deals in grain grown in Canada, Europe and Australia, a Cook spokesman said.

"The transaction was conducted with the full knowledge of the USDA and the administration," said Cook.

The Canadian Wheat Board announced today that it will also sell two million tons of wheat to Russia, which has suffered crop losses due to bad weather.

Mansfield said U.S. foreign grain deals "should be watched with a very sharp eye to see that what occurred in 1972 will not occur in 1975."

Cargill Inc., announced in Minneapolis Wednesday night that its European affiliate in Geneva, Tradax, had reached agreement to sell another 1.2 million tons to Russia.

A spokesman said U.S. wheat will be used to fill the order.

The Agriculture Department confirmed the Cargill sale today.

Prices were not known, but the deals would be worth more than $350 million at the current market level.

Both Cargill and Cook were among dealers that sold grain to the Soviet Union in 1972. That year Russia bought 400 million bushels of wheat and 160 million bushels of feed.

Economic decline slows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The output of the nation's economy declined at an annual rate of only 0.3 per cent during the second quarter of 1975, the Commerce Department said today in one of the most encouraging signs yet that the country is coming out of the recession.

The department also said the rate of inflation was at its lowest level in 2½ years.

The second quarter figures on output, as measured by the Gross National Product, showed vast improvement between April and June when compared with the January-March quarter.

The 0.3 per cent slip in the GNP was the smallest quarterly decline since the recession began in early 1975.

The modest decline also comes on the heels of a huge 11.4 per cent drop in the first quarter, the worst three-month performance by the U.S. At the same time, prices rose at a 5.1 per cent annual rate in the April-June quarter, an impressive improvement over inflation rates of 8.4 per cent and 14.4 per cent in the previous two quarters, the department said.

The department said the latest GNP stood at $143.4 billion ($1.4 trillion).

The GNP measures the value of virtually all goods and services produced during a given period and is the broadest measure of the economy's health.

The latest figures indicate the economy's growth rate, when adjusted for effects of inflation, was far closer to "zero growth" in the second quarter and that the expansionary phase of the business cycle may already have begun.

Gem law for county services applied 'haphazardly'

By BILL LAZARUS Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A state law requiring counties to furnish office space and janitorial services for state public assistance programs is being applied haphazardly.

Some counties pay. Some don't.

And the state isn't planning to enforce the law.

According to Howard Jamieson, manager of administrative services for the State Department of Health and Welfare, all but 12 Idaho counties pay at least something to help defray costs of local welfare programs.

But three counties, which house HAW offices, don't pay anything for rent or janitorial services. And nine other counties which have no HAW offices located in their counties but which receive services from offices in adjacent counties don't pay anything to defray costs of those services.

The three counties which have HAW offices but don't pay are Gooding, Boundary and Bonner, according to Jamieson.

In at least one case, the state reportedly has told a county it didn't need to pay.

Ben Glauser, chairman of the Gooding County Commission, said that Gooding County used to contribute until HAW moved into a state owned building about two years ago. At that time, he said, HAW told the county that helping to pay for space would no longer be necessary.

Idaho law provides that "each county shall furnish adequate quarters, including janitor service for the office of the personnel of the department (of public assistance), employed in the county."

According to Jamieson the law is out-of-date and unclear. The problem, he said, is that HAW, although it incorporates public assistance programs, is a far broader department than the old Department of Public Assistance.

Under "strict interpretation of the law" counties would have to pay for all HAW office space, he said, adding that Ada County would ever be responsible for the department's state office in Boise.

The department now runs environmental, mental health, drug abuse and many other programs which would generally not be considered "public assistance programs." Even so, Jamieson said, "today it's almost impossible to tell where public assistance begins and leaves off."

So, the state "then has had close to 'zero growth' in the second quarter and that the expansionary phase of the business cycle may already have begun."

Caused by gab

Crew's 'chatting' caused air crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the previous 15 minutes, the crew had talked about Richard Nixon about impeachment about used cars. Then "the captain told the first officer, 'All we got to do is find the airport.'"
Three seconds later, Eastern Airlines flight 212 crashed and burned on its approach to the Charlotte, N.C., airport.
Seventy-two persons died. "The probable cause of the accident was the flight crew's lack of altitude awareness at critical points during the approach due to poor cockpit discipline," the National Transportation Safety Board ruled Wednesday.
During the quarter-hour before the crash, the board said, the crew chatted, "with strong views and mild aggravation," about impeachment, the pardon of former President Nixon, Arab and Swiss financial holdings, used cars and an amusement park near the airport.
The board said the crew's "extraneous conversation" was "distractive and reflected a casual mood and lax cockpit atmosphere, which continued throughout the remainder of the approach and contributed to the accident."
There was dense, patchy ground fog near the airport when the Douglas DC9 went down at 7:34 a.m. The official report said the plane was lower than it should have been, probably because the pilot lost visual contact with the runway because of the fog.
The crew's disregard of a low-altitude warning signal, the board said, "may be indicative of the attitudes of many other pilots who regard the signal as more of a nuisance than a warning."
Capt. James Reeves was among the 72 persons who died in the crash. First officer James Daniels, who was flying the plane, was among 10 survivors.
The flight originated in Charleston, S.C., en route to Chicago with a stopover in Charlotte. It crashed in an open field surrounded by dense woods and underbrush 3.3 miles short of runway 36.
The safety board, ruling out any "mechanical problems, said Reeves had failed to call out required altitude reports and that both men were distracted at a critical point in their descent by gawking out the window at an amusement park below.

The board said the cockpit voice recorder showed that during the descent to Charlotte the crew "engaged intermittently in conversations not pertinent to the operation of the aircraft."

Another finding was that "survivors who had been wearing double-knit garments of man-made fibers reported that these materials melted, adhered to their skin and could not be removed."

China oil studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Intelligence Agency specialists and published Wednesday by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.
"There are some optimistic highlights uncovered by this study that indicate China may be showing a preference for economic performance over military expansion," Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., committee chairman, said in a statement accompanying the volume.
The section, entitled "Defense Economics" indicates that China:
... Dropped procurement of conventional military hardware by a startling 25 percent after 1971.

Mobil payments to Italy reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mobil Oil Corp. contributed hundreds of millions to campaign coffers of Italian politicians over a period of years, Senate sources say.
Officials of the nation's third largest oil company were testifying today before the Senate Subcommittee on Operations and Administration, which is investigating oil company payments to foreign government officials.

Mobil has not acknowledged any amounts. But the company has said contributions were made in Canada and Italy. It said that in both places political donations by corporations are legal.

The sources said the Mobil payoff pattern was "in the same vein" as those of Exxon Corp., which confirmed at Wednesday's subcommittee hearing that contributions of at least $16 million were made from 1963 to 1971.
Subcommittee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, quoting from previously secret Exxon documents, said payments were made to Italian legislators and ministers for favorable legislative treatment.

Monsieur said Exxor was having difficulty determining the exact amount because of the manner in which the payments were handled.

Getting tough with third world

Wall Street Journal
Secretary Kissinger's Milwaukee speech this week got its main news value from the hint that the U.S. might simply ditch the UN if Third World members keep trying to turn it into a Roman circus.

But it contained another message for the have-aunts that encourages us to hope that the administration is finally formulating a sound and tenable international economic policy. The message was, in essence: Don't expect the U.S. to serve you up prosperity and don't think you can get it through extortion.

Said Secretary: "Either societies create the conditions for savings and investment, for innovation and ingenuity, for enterprise and industry which ultimately lead to self-sustaining economic growth or they do not. There is no magical short cut and no rhetorical substitute."

Has Ford ever read Solzhenitsyn work?

The very worst part of it is that Gerald Ford has a certain reputation for spontaneous goodwill. There probably isn't a bureaucracy surrounding any world leader anywhere in the free world who would complain to a chief of state that he gives an audience to anybody whose ties to politics are closer than Shirley Temple's.

of the free nations of the world in juxtaposition with those of the enemy, is their moral - yes, moral - superiority. There is a genuine integrity in people like Mao Tse-tung, and even such historical imitations as Lenin and Brezhnev...

The White House replied that the President does not send messages "to commemorate commercial occasions" (it was the 6th birthday of Regency, not of his company); that the toastmaster should apply to the Secretary of Commerce for a message.

Safety in school big problem

WASHINGTON - 300 Ohio youngsters arriving at a public school early morning not finding the quiet atmosphere of instruction, enrichment and encouragement, but instead an environment dominated by fear, chaos, destruction and violence. The speaker was Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., introducing the "Juvenile Delinquency in the Schools Act of 1975."

violence directed against teachers... is indeed alarming; the principal victims of the rising tide of crime in our schools are not the teachers, but the students. All of which gives vital urgency to a campaign under way by the National Committee for Children - Education, a new nonprofit organization dedicated to increasing citizen involvement in the affairs of the nation's public schools.

Churchman's letter said nonsense

WASHINGTON William Johnston of New York, president of Episcopal Churches for South Africa, has delivered himself of a public letter once more denouncing South Africa for what he terms its "apartheid in Namibia."

Mother of Her Country

Some members of Congress have been quick to respond. "The people are white. Forty-five per cent are Okapians." The others are members of seven distinct tribal groups - Okavango, Herero, Caprivi, Bushmen, and others. The concept of nationwide, or "oneness," scarcely exists.

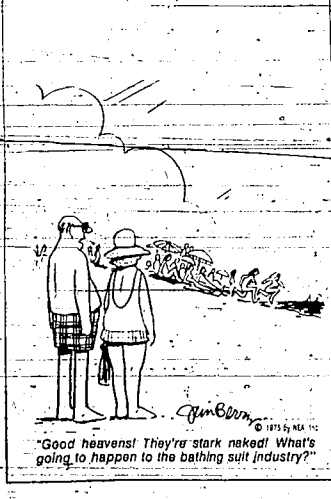

What we are talking about is South West Africa - The territory stretches for some 300 miles along the west coast of Africa, south of Angola, and lies between the Cape of Good Hope and is inhabited by some 700,000 persons. To suggest that these people constitute one "Nambian people," having a watchword of "One Nation, One Namibia," is so gross a misstatement of fact that one is astonished to see it emerge from the pen of an Episcopal churchman.

Critics want to change drug enforcement agency

By Congressional Quarterly
WASHINGTON - Congressional critics of the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) want to reorganize the government's fight against illegal drug traffic - only two years after the super agency was formed.

President Ford has said he is committed to maintaining the DEA. Nevertheless, he ordered a White House task force to "undertake a comprehensive review and assessment" of the overall federal drug program.

Solzhenitsyn: victim who became a hero

By WILLIAM V. SHANNON
© 1975 N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON
Alexander Solzhenitsyn steps into American life out of the pages of a Dostoyevsky novel. A deeply religious man and a moralist, he is preoccupied with fundamental questions of what is truth and what is justice. He sees every issue, local and small, personal and political, in terms of good and evil.

He is a victim who became a hero, a teller of tales who became a symbol, a uniquely Russian prophet who became an American prophet of the west. He speaks of sin, shame, and redemption, concepts which our neo-pagan society with its secularized atmosphere and deeply corrupt popular culture can barely comprehend. It is no wonder that he has been invited to warn and instruct us; we are bemused and baffled.

As well as a powerful novelist and a moral prophet, Solzhenitsyn is also an informed, uncompromising critic of American theory and Soviet practice. In this third role as political critic, Solzhenitsyn has recently been provided with forums by

A.F.L.-C.I.O. president George Meany who underwrote the cost of large public banquets here and in New York for invited audiences. Meany regards these appearances as useful demonstrations against the Nixon-Ford-Kissinger policy of détente with the Soviet Union.

Solzhenitsyn does indeed make a powerful argument against the moral emptiness of détente as it is now being practiced. He indicts the greed of businessmen who are prepared to sell anything to the commissars, including police security devices. He throws on the defensive those politicians and intellectuals who confuse conciliation with appeasement.

Despite the clarity and force of Solzhenitsyn's analysis, however, his speeches are unlikely to produce firm political action. Although the trade unionists and their guests applaud his words and some reactionaries use his remarks to attack the concept of détente, there is not an American life leader among the conservatives or liberals the moral energy and political will to mount a campaign to put his ideas into effect. Nearly 30 years of political struggle with Communism and two costly wars in Korea and Vietnam have created the will in Americans. For the money at least, we as a people have a need to regroup and rethink our alternatives.

Moreover, to Americans across most of the political spectrum, détente is morally acceptable because it lessens the chance of a nuclear war occurring on account of a failure of communication between the opposing leaders.

Secondly, it opens up the hope — fragile and speculative though it is — that increased trade and travel may lead to some reform of the Soviet system.

Solzhenitsyn, of course, regards both "reasons" for détente as pathetic excuses. He would return to the full rigors of the cold war and hope to see the Soviet system fall further behind the West, eventually changing because of its own stupefying inefficiency and arbitrariness. He may well be right, but Western leaders are not unreasonable in calculating that prospects for peace are improved rather than worsened by a positive instead of a negative approach to the Soviet tyrants.

A policy of détente, however, does not require moral surrender, such as President Ford's decision to snub Solzhenitsyn. The decision is almost inexplicable because it is like passing up the opportunity to have a conversation with Tolstoy or private citizens, some to be embarrassed by someone who makes an absolute, unqualified defense of the idea of human freedom.

It ought to be possible for American leadership to recognize détente without bargaining to maintain a civilized tone. In dealing with the Russians while preserving their own moral perspective on the Russian system, Jefferson or Lincoln or John Kennedy could have carried off this intellectual and political feat. Richard Nixon, so morally compromised and ambiguous a figure, could not. Their avoidance of Solzhenitsyn indicates that Kissinger, the sorcerer's apprentice, and Ford, nominally his new master, are likewise incapable of it.

As the politicians and diplomats fumble, Americans can still benefit from Solzhenitsyn's moral counsel. Less important than how we choose to live in the world with our enemies is how we choose to live with ourselves. Freedom, he points out, is not an end in itself but "a means by which we can attain another and higher goal." That goal is to lead a morally worthy life.

After all the fashionable causes of the moment — abortion, women's rights, "gay" liberation, — have achieved their goals, there will still remain the enduring problems of how to invest our lives with moral content and how to create a culture worthy of human beings. Only a visitor from a land where freedom does not exist could ask so penetratingly the question — to what good use are you putting the precious gift of freedom?

Energy policy battle lines up

By LEONARD SILK
© 1975 New York Times
NEW YORK — The battle between President Ford and congressional Democrats over energy policy is on, and while it is impossible to say where it will come out, oil prices are likely to rise substantially.

President Ford is strongly for decontrol of oil, but he has indicated a willingness to compromise with Congress over phasing decontrol of "old" oil — the $5 a barrel — in over a period of two and a half years and putting a "cap" of $12.50 on a barrel of "new" domestic oil.

consumers will fully affected. In the price of gasoline, home heating oil, electric bills and all the other ways fuel gets into the cost of living.

It would also put extra costs on airlines, utilities, state and local governments — and, through them, on taxpayers.

It would also tend to increase the prices of substitute fuels, such as coal and gas (especially if Ford also won his battle to decontrol natural gas as well as oil).

As well as a powerful novelist and a moral prophet, Solzhenitsyn is also an informed, uncompromising critic of American theory and Soviet practice. In this third role as political critic, Solzhenitsyn has recently been provided with forums by

Army, university secret tests with LSD reported

Northrop exec quits

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Thomas Jones resigned Wednesday as chairman of the board of the Northrop Corp. under criticism from the board of directors over the aerospace firm's illegal political contributions and secret payments to Arabian generals.

Jones remained as president and chief executive officer but he has been expected to resign by the end of the year. The board, acting under an agreement settling a lawsuit by stockholders, said Jones would be replaced as president by June of next year, and instructed that the new president be capable of taking over as chief executive officer as well.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army and the University of Maryland tested LSD on hundreds of persons, including some soldiers who did not know they were being given the drug, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said the experiments took place under a contract between the university medical school's Psychiatric Institute in Baltimore and the Army's Edgewood Arsenal.

On at least one occasion, Army testers gave LSD to a group of five to 10 soldiers at Edgewood, according to the report. The overall testing program began on a fairly large scale in 1956 and continued until at least 1969.

The Post quoted "one of the program's senior research officials," who asked not to be named, as saying testing also was conducted at the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground and was aimed at learning how effective LSD might be as an offensive wartime weapon.

It quoted retired Maj. Gen. Lloyd Fellenz, Edgewood commander between 1956 and 1959, as saying LSD testing was conducted at Edgewood and at Ft. Bragg, N.C. It said Fellenz reported he had been given LSD once during a training exercise at Ft. Bragg.

Fellenz could not be reached for comment at his St. Petersburg, Fla. home.

A spokesman for the University of Maryland said no records had been retained of any LSD testing.

Dr. Enoch Calloway, described as a former University of Maryland researcher involved in the tests and now living in San Francisco, said he recalled LSD being given to a volunteer group of graduate nurses at the medical school to determine whether a potential antidote to the hallucinogen was effective. The Post reported Calloway said he was not aware of any tests made on unsuspecting subjects at the university.

But the newspaper said another civilian researcher reported "an LSD mickey" was slipped-in the drinks of about a half dozen soldiers brought to Edgewood in 1958 from Ft. Holabird near Baltimore. They reportedly were told they would be subjected to chemical testing.

One researcher said there were "some close calls" at the beginning of the testing program on human subjects including one man who had to be hospitalized and who remained in serious condition for several weeks.

The Rockefeller Commission report said the Central Intelligence Agency was involved in testing LSD on volunteers and "some" unsuspecting subjects, including one Army scientist who later committed suicide. The Post said its sources did not know of any CIA connection with the Edgewood project.

Market leaders mull US dollar

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Leaders of the nine European Community nations met today to discuss possible ways to raise the value of the American dollar as part of the American dollar adjustment policy.

French spokesmen denied reports that President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing had formally proposed to the Common Market summit that the leaders of the United States, Japan, France, Britain and West Germany meet to discuss monetary reform.

But conference sources said the money summit, suggested earlier by Giscard in newspaper interviews, still commanded attention as the final day of the two-day conference began. They said Giscard might make a formal proposal on the idea before the meeting ends.

The United States has shown an enthusiasm for the summit and smaller Common Market countries are reluctant to entrust their larger allies with their financial futures.

Conference sources said the leaders had agreed that the current monetary system of free floating exchange rates had driven the dollar too low and fueled the European recession by giving US exports an "artificially competitive edge" on world markets.

The Europeans want to ask the Americans to change the monetary system to limit fluctuations on the market.

But the United States advocates of the current "free float" exchange rates, is expected to resist Western European pressure for more monetary controls.

Many economic authorities have blamed the free float, which allows currency values to fluctuate on the basis of market prices, for creating inflation and business uncertainty.

The nine Common Market leaders agreed Wednesday at the opening of a two-day summit meeting that only international action — with American and Japanese cooperation — can end the recession.

"We must convince the United States to go along with us," West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt said.

Schmidt and French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing said a more controlled international monetary policy could be a major step in stabilizing the world economic situation.

But a high official in one Common Market country said the leaders do not want to return to the rigid fixed exchange rates that existed before the free float system began in 1971.

Egypt, Israel agree on pact

By United Press International

Egypt and Israel have reached agreement on the general principles for a new interim peace accord, an Israeli government source said today in Tel Aviv.

He said despite Egypt's threat to quit U.N. troops from the Sinai, the agreement could succeed, "if things are played right."

"The general principles are agreed," the source said. "The principles on which the next agreement would be based are understood."

However, he cautioned that an Arab move to expel Israel from the United Nations could hinder the talks.

"We will continue the negotiations," he said. "But we will continue the negotiations."

The foreign ministers of 40 Islamic nations voted at a conference this week in Jidda, Saudi Arabia to seek Israel's expulsion from the United Nations and other international organizations.

The Israeli source said it was too early to predict if such a move would succeed, but said if it did it would affect the operation of U.N. peace-keeping forces in the Middle East.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger told a news conference in Milwaukee Wednesday the United States would oppose strongly any effort to oust Israel from the United Nations. He also said the United States was worried about Egypt's decision to renew the U.N. mandate in the Sinai desert.

Egypt announced early this week it would not renew the mandate of U.N. forces in the Sinai.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said Egypt's decision

Bids milled

TWIN FALLS — Members of the South-Central Idaho Health District Board are considering two bids for finishing part of the basement of the district building.

Two bids were received Wednesday for the finishing to provide office space for the environmentalists. The firm, however, stipulated a 60-day completion date in violation of bid specifications calling for completion by Sept. 1.

Wills Inc., Twin Falls, the firm which renovated the old Legion Hall for the district offices a year ago, submitted a bid of $15,585 and stipulated Sept. 1 as completion date.

Board members debated at length over whether or not they could accept the low bid if the bidding firm can meet the specified date, if they could reject both bids since specifications did not state the board reserved the right to reject all or any bids, or if it is bound to accept the high bid which fully meets specifications.

An attorney was called twice during the meeting but could not furnish a "top of the head" opinion. The board told bidders it would announce a decision by 11 a.m. Friday.

TWIN FALLS — South Central Health District trustees voted to deny subdivision sewage permits on subdivisions which don't follow formally approved building plans.

In doing so, the board supported the district's medical director, Dr. Wayne Carle, who urged denying permits on subdivision which fail to follow already approved, recorded and filed plans.

The action followed a report by Dr. Carle on his decision to deny such requests as being in violation of existing regulations. He said a developer has filed a plan showing some half dozen six-acre lots.

These lots have been sold and at least two have been again subdivided down to one and one-half-acre lots, each requesting a septic tank permit with the health district officials not realizing the requests were all on one or two of the original lots.

Dr. Carle said the developers will probably take the matter to court which will give the district an answer as to where it stands for future action. Dr. Carle said under the county zoning ordinance, each landowner can subdivide, at least once which eliminates the five-acre agricultural zone restriction.

The present request, he said, is in a residential zone but the development which is taking shape would make it a high density area with septic tanks of a number that might threaten water supplies.

Dr. Charles Parker, Halley, reported to other board members on the meeting he attended in McCall to discuss health service areas in the state. The controversial plan, which could eliminate the individual health district boards around the state, was slated for discussion in a meeting in Twin Falls today.

All members were urged to attend, along with Dr. Carle, to support retention of health district boards. The board has previously taken a stand urging continuation of the health district structure as a means of local control and support of public health services.

Agency director defends contract

BOISE (UPI) — The state director of Health and Welfare Wednesday defended his award of a contract to a private college by listing more than two dozen grants and contracts to public institutions.

Dr. James A. Bax, at the same time, appealed to the State Board of Education for closer cooperation between his agency and theirs — especially in providing college level credit courses for in-service training.

He also agreed to furnish a representative for the board's post-secondary planning committee so that both his department and the board can be aware of what the other is doing and needs.

The Department of Health and Welfare came under fire from legislative and other sources recently for its award of an $18,000 contract to the private College of Idaho for a drug substance workshop. Some felt it should have gone to a state institution. Other contracts with the C of I have since come to light.

Bax gave the board what he called a partial listing of more than two dozen grants and contracts, ranging from $600 to $42,000, his agency had directed to the three state universities the past two or three years.

But he also told the board that private institutions are often easier to deal with and geared to move faster than those in the public sector.

Slate Reps. Dorothy Reynolds, D-Caldwell, a junior high teacher, and Perceval Wesche, R-Nampa, a faculty member at the private Northwest Nazarene College, both said private as well as public institutions should be considered for contracts and grants.

"I think we can make a contribution as well as the public institutions," Wesche said.

Meanwhile, the board recommended $9 million in budget increases next year for higher education in all other institutions under the board except public schools. This is above cost of living increases.

Approved appointment of Dr. Judith Ann Templeton, 36, as the first woman director of an agriculture experiment station in Idaho. She will succeed Joe Dahmen, Caldwell, and Franklin DeLancey, Parma, as head of a newly combined station in the Caldwell-Parma area. Dahmen was moved to Moscow and DeLancey retired. Dr. Templeton will be paid $26,500 a year.

Agreed to include the salary and fringe benefits of Deputy Attorney General James G. Hargis in its budget for next year with the understanding he will be available full time for education. But the board deferred until later a request for an assistant to Hargis to be assigned to public schools.

Bax urged the board to assist him in organizing the joint efforts of the Health and Welfare and Education departments so they can do a better job. For instance, he said, his agency has 800 social workers and cannot put them in master degree programs in Idaho.

He said his department has many short term, in-service training aids in local communities.

Bax also spoke to a need for providing kindergarten programs for handicapped five-year-olds and the department of education responded that such plans are in the works.

He said Health and Welfare stands ready to assist public schools through its child development centers. But he said the schools would have to pay most of the costs.

During a two-hour period, the board made nine major decisions that set the budget guidelines for the forthcoming fiscal year's recommendations.

Burley's anti-bias plan 'doubted'

By DAVID BOCKMAN

Times-News Staff
BUHLEY. Civil rights leaders in Burley are skeptical of the Cassia County School District's plan to end discrimination.
 Civil rights activists were contacted by the "Times-News" for comment on the plan which was released Monday night. The reaction ranged from outright doubt to "we'll wait and see."

Pablo Fuentes Jr., a community health organizer, questioned the sincerity of efforts by the district's board and administration to end discrimination.

 "It seems to me they are doing a very mediocre effort. They are making some effort but they don't seem to want to implement the law the way it should be," Fuentes said after learning of the plan.
 David Medina, chairman of the Freedom of Speech Committee, a Burley Chicano organization, who has frequently criticized the district's treatment of minority students, complained that his response to HEW charges of discrimination and violation of the federal Civil Rights Act by the school district.

 The district has not challenged the HEW charges but has indicated an effort will be made to comply with the law in the future.
 The district's plan promised "equal educational opportunity for all students," a discipline code that is "just and free of bias and prejudice" and has indicated an effort will be made to revise the special education program, and to hire a staff representative of the community's ethnic makeup.
 The plan also promises to conduct a "needs assessment" of the special education needs of the 10 per cent of the district's students who are Chicano, many of whom speak Spanish as their primary language.
 The plan states the school board agreed in January to conduct the needs assessment and an advisory committee of administration, teachers, parents and minorities was appointed.
 Fuentes is a member of the assessment committee and is also a member of the plan to his treatment as a member of that committee.

 According to Fuentes, the committee is controlled by school personnel with little representation from the Chicano community.
 Fuentes was notified at one meeting of the committee and hasn't been invited back.
 "There's been no word" about the assessment committee for over a month, Fuentes said. "I wonder if it will get off the ground."
 Helen Almanza was also appointed to the assessment committee. She said she was given only one day's notice before the only meeting of the committee. That was not enough and she could not attend.
 The Burley School District is "just not sensitive" to the needs of the Chicano people, Almanza said.
 Norman Hurst, the district's instructional director, defends the handling of the assessment committee. "The need assessment can't be done overnight," Hurst said.

No women allowed

TWIN FALLS. There's nothing personal, of course, but the Twin Falls Toastmasters 149 won't let Mills Anderson join its club.
 By a vote of about 15 to 4, the membership voted Tuesday night to stick with their long-standing rule of no women in the club.
 Ms. Anderson says her feelings are not hurt and she won't take the all-male club to court.

The vote was an open verbal vote with Ms. Anderson present.
 "They have all told me I would make an excellent member and they personally like the idea, but they don't want to change their all-male status," Ms. Anderson said.

She attended an eight-week Toastmaster speechcraft session as a guest of the club and then, to the surprise of most members, submitted her request for membership. She was not the only woman to do so, but the only individual to complete the full eight weeks of the course.
 Anderson said she has been invited to attend as a guest, but not as a member. She is not interested in Toastmaster clubs, Ms. Anderson says, but may attend the I.B. Perrine Toastmaster Club which has invited her and which she understands will accept women members.

Shoshone residents give likes, dislikes for survey

SHOSHONE. Idaho (UPI) — Shoshone residents appear to be happy with life in their small community.
 Results of a survey on the economics and attitudes of small communities released by University of Idaho Extension Service officials in Shoshone Tuesday night indicated that residents of small communities generally were happy with their lives.

The survey covered six Magic Valley communities.
 Specific figures released Tuesday night related to the likes and dislikes of Shoshone residents.

Joel Hamilton, professor of economics at the university told 20 community leaders "the small towns are coming back, but the ease of travel has made a small market area for merchants in small communities."

 Of the 229 questionnaires mailed to Shoshone residents in December of 1973, the university received responses from 132.
 Hamilton said the survey of Shoshone residents seemed to speak well of local government as most indicated they were pleased with the quality of government.

Topping the list of faults were: lack of adequate grocery facilities; dry goods, automotive and farm implements.
 The survey showed a heavy percentage of those responding felt that job opportunities did not encourage young people to maintain homes in Shoshone.

The survey also indicated the school system is falling to prepare students for good job opportunities.

Food mart chain accused of false advertising

Thursday, July 17, 1975 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 11

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission today accused the Kroger Co. — the nation's third largest supermarket chain — of advertising products its stores do not have in stock, and of charging consumers higher prices than listed in its ads.

The company, which operates 1,265 stores in 20 states, said the FTC's information was based on a two-year-old survey involving many of its smaller stores, some of which have since been closed.

It said it was its policy to have all advertised items available at the prices billed and that checks are made to make sure stores are complying with that policy.

The FTC in its complaint said a "significant number" of Kroger stores checked did not have a "substantial number" of advertised items available. In some cases, it said, the items were in stock but were actually selling at higher prices than promised.

The complaint accused the chain, which rang up sales of $1.8 billion in 1973, of false, misleading and deceptive advertising. Kroger can now take the matter for a hearing before an FTC administrative law judge.

To settle the complaint the agency proposed an order which would require that all advertised items be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each Kroger store covered by the advertisement.

Kroger would also have to mention in its ads the FTC's requirement that the products be available and post-notice at check-out counters telling consumers if items are unavailable. It would also invite them to ask for rain checks, as well as asking them to report incorrect prices and overcharges.

The case is similar to one against A&P, the country's No. 2 chain, in which the FTC reached a final agreement earlier this year. In that case the company was accused of advertising unavailable sale specials to lure customers into its stores. The company signed an agreement promising to keep such items in stock.

Land sale 'illegal'

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — The Blaine County assessor and the planning and zoning administrator say land is being sold illegally in the county.

Alan Reynolds, zoning commission administrator, said Wednesday his office is searching the county records to find these illegal land sales that have been recorded but not plotted as subdivisions.

Under Idaho code, a person who sells five or more parcels of land, where each parcel is under five acres, must file a subdivision plat. The Blaine County ordinance is more strict, requiring a plat whenever a parcel of land is split for sale or trade.

Reynolds and county assessor Del Nicholson say Gimlet developer Ted Teren has violated the county and state law. Nicholson counted 15 warranty deeds that have passed through his office concerning land sales in Gimlet on Teren's land.

Most of the sales were under five acres. The lost weed said in unapproved subdivisions, Nicholson said.

Developer Gerald Sherman is in violation of the law as well, according to Nicholson. Sherman owns land on both sides of Broadford Road near Bellevue.

Nicholson said warranty deeds recorded show that Sherman has sold 12 parcels of land, many of which are under five acres, without recording a plat.

The assessor contends Bob Hatto, East Fork Road, has never filed a plat on a subdivision he owns. Nicholson said there are nine deeds recorded on the land but no final plat has ever been filed with the county.

Administrator Reynolds said the three developers are not the only violators. He said the planning and zoning commission is going to research all illegal land sales.

When the research is completed, the deeds will be returned over to the county prosecutor.

Deputy county prosecutor Buzz DuPont said "we definitely would like to go after them."

He said under state law, illegal subdivisions can be fined up to $100 a lot. Under the county ordinance, they can be fined up to $300 a lot.

He said the fine was very small to some developers who may continue to develop and pay the fine.

"I think some jail time would be a definite deterrent."

Fire cause unknown

REMAINS of the Moonstone Lodge and Motel were sifted today by special investigators in hopes of discovering the cause of the early Wednesday fire. Blaine County Sheriff Orville Dresler estimated damage at from $200,000 to $1 million. The resort lodge is owned by Orville Leavell. The lodge is located between Timmerman Hill and Fairfield.

McCulloch plans zone rule appeal

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — McCulloch Properties Inc. will appeal a zoning decision which blocked a 2 1/2-square mile development west of Hailey.

The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission denied the request Tuesday night, pending approval of the county comprehensive plan. McCulloch wishes to rezone A-1 land (the lowest density classification) to A-2 and A-3, which are higher density designations.

Woodside manager, Jim Adams, said today the commission request to wait was based on unsound reasoning. He said McCulloch's plan is identical to the proposed comprehensive plan of the area.

"McCulloch wants to build a ranch-style equestrian concept on the property. If the land was rezoned, McCulloch could apply for a planned residential unit development, which would allow maximum construction of 47 units.

McCulloch is proposing to set aside 994 acres in the project as an open space district, leaving the building in a relatively small area, by comparison.

Commission chairman, Nick Purdy, said the entire valley leading from Hailey up to the proposed subdivision should be considered together. To rezone McCulloch's property and leave the rest in A-1 may not be the best and highest use of all the land, he said.

"Woodside is just beginning to get started," Purdy said. "What's the hurry. Why don't we do this in an organized manner?"

Purdy said there is no guarantee once the property is rezoned McCulloch will develop it. Commission members were skeptical of a land sale after the rezone to an unknown developer.

Commission member Jack Basolo also cautioned about the need of another subdivision now. Commissioner Don Angell, a Hailey city council member, said the city thinks the proposal is sound. However, Angell said many members of the council are uncertain whether McCulloch will follow through and develop or sell the land.

The commission voted down a motion to approve the rezone, then voted five to two to disapprove.

Budget OK'd at Wendell

WENDELL — The Wendell School Board has adopted a $14.3 million budget, an increase of about 46 per cent over last year.

The budget, approved Monday night at the board of trustees meeting, reflects new construction costs and rising costs in general. Supt. Lawrence LaRue said the maintenance and operation part of the budget was $684,525, about 15 per cent more than last year's $595,546.

The bond interest and redemption fund this year is $528,900, and the bond building fund is $558,208. Last year's budget set bond interest fund at $27,572 and the bond building fund at $316,622.

The district dropped the summer migrant program this year, La Rue said, and lost about $12,000 in federal funds, which is shown by the decrease in special state and federal funds in the budget. This year's budget shows $39,037 this year in both state and federal funds and $43,687 last year in federal funds alone.

La Rue said school board members were not satisfied with the program.

Sizeable increases in expenses boosted the budget, according to LaRue. Heating costs for gas supplied by Intermountain Gas went from $7,000 to $10,000, with fire insurance increasing from $6,500 to $12,000 when the district decided to increase insurance on the buildings because replacement costs have gone up.

Costs and an additional maintenance person for buildings under construction have added to the bill, as has a 9.5 per cent salary increase. Other maintenance rose from $5,200 to $12,500. Instructional supplies have also gone up $8,000, LaRue said.

The board also swore in Vard McHae as an incumbent board member from zone 3. He was elected board chairman, with James Campbell vice chairman.

TF man charged

TWIN FALLS — Bill Edwards, Twin Falls, was charged with grand larceny after he was arrested by city police in connection with the theft of a lawnmower.

Rudy Ashenbrenner, owner of Price Hardware store, was walking down the street when he saw a man pushing a lawnmower from the alley across the street to a parked pickup truck.

He also noticed a red sales tag from Price Hardware on the lawnmower. On returning to his store he found there had been a lawnmower sold within the last few hours, but the one was missing from a display in front of the store.

He notified police and the suspect was arrested a short time later. Value of the missing lawnmower was $179.

Hot-dry weather expected

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley residents can expect normally hot and dry weather during the next month with not much variation from seasonal averages.

According to the National Weather Service Office for Agriculture report for mid-July to mid-August, the outlook for temperatures near seasonal norms throughout all of Southern Idaho with rainfall also expected to be about normal.

The normal precipitation for Twin Falls during the period is 20 inches.

Daytime temperatures are expected to average in the mid-80s with nighttime lows in the 50s and in the 50s at higher elevations.

Vandals 'egg' same car twice

TWIN FALLS — Jerry Moss is getting a little more than three dozen of cleaning eggs from his new automobile.

About three weeks ago he spent $40 getting it washed and stains rubbed out of the paint.

Wednesday night someone returned and spattered eight dozen eggs on the same vehicle. After an overnight delay, he said, it may require a new paint job.

The problem is, he told police, the culprit thinks his car belongs to someone else and they are apparently trying to cause difficulties for someone else but keep mixing up the intended victim's car with Moss' new vehicle.

Meet set tonight in Jerome

JEROME — The Magic Valley Association of Governments will meet today at 8 p.m. in the Jerome County Courthouse.

Principal item of business is the future of the group, which includes county commissioners and representatives of most governmental units within the Magic Valley. Dell Taylor, Gooding, is executive director of the group.

Minidoka public hearing tonight

RUPERT — The first public hearing on the proposed Minidoka County comprehensive plan is tonight.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the county courthouse in Rupert.

The plan still in draft form, calls for preserving the rural atmosphere and agricultural economic base of the county. The most controversial aspect of the plan is a call for a ban on building of new homes in agricultural areas on less than 20 acres.

The plan also calls for prohibition of residential development in agricultural zones, restriction of new subdivisions to buffer zones around existing towns, discouragement of strip commercial development and for landlord-tenant legislation.

Fair dates announced

FILER — The Twin Falls County Fair is scheduled for Sept. 24 and will have as this year's theme "A Time To Remember."

This theme should be a fitting prelude to next year's bicentennial observances, fair board members said.

The fair will again feature a Miss Rodeo Idaho queen contest with Gene Hull as chairman. Entries for the queen competition will close Aug. 25, Hull said.

Young ladies who have been selected queens of riding clubs, fairs or other western events will compete for the title of Miss Rodeo Idaho.

The winner will go to Oklahoma City to compete in the national finals for Miss Rodeo America.

Queen contestants will be entertained at several events during and before the fair, and will appear each night during the rodeo. The queen will be selected and crowned during the final night of the fair and rodeo.

HAW policy haphazard

Some counties feel the need for the services and try to stimulate them by helping out. Other counties may not have as much money and may have a "different attitude toward the need for services," Jamieson said.

"It's kind of a jargonizing thing" to get the counties to contribute, he said. Currently, he said, counties contribute about 30 per cent of all HAW office space.

Jamieson said he would not expect the department to file complaints with the attorney general to force the non-paying counties' to pay.

Instead, he said the department is drawing up a proposal to change the law so that HAW would be entirely responsible for providing its own office space. The department had proposed a change during the last legislature, but the proposal died in committee, he said.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl and chairman of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, said he would be receptive to the idea of so changing the law, if federal rules do not require some local funding of office space.

But, he said, there is "merit to having counties involved" since local officials act as a check on HAW spending for offices.

He said HAW last year proposed that it be able to tell counties what they would have to furnish. This proposal died, he said, because the committee wanted the agency to specify in the law what its responsibilities and counties' responsibilities would be.

Water plan details eyed

MURTAUGH — Murtaugh city councilmen Wednesday night were given details for proceeding with plans for a city water distribution system.

Voters Tuesday gave overwhelming support to a $191,000 water and sewer revenue bond issue. Councilmen canvassed the vote of 38 for and against the measure.

Gary Marshall of J-P Engineers met with the council to outline plans. He was instructed to prepare design plans for the system and have them approved by the state health authorities.

He said it will be October or November before bids for the project can be let and construction probably will begin until next spring, since approval is needed by the Farm Home Administration on each step of the procedure.

He said it will be up to the City Council to decide the cost to property owners to have the contractor provide service to the individual homes and businesses.

"It was reported the new pump and storage tank are about 90 per cent complete. The new project will hook into these existing facilities.

The Staley starch plant which has been operating in Murtaugh for about a year gets its water supply from its own well until the new facilities are complete, Marshall said.

Golden Eagle unit sets meet

SUN VALLEY — The Golden Eagle Audubon Society is sponsoring an inaugural meeting of the Idaho Audubon Ornithological Council Oct. 11-13 in Sun Valley.

Objective of the Columbus Day weekend get-together will be to share information on ornithological activities throughout the state, according to Mike Swalt, president, Caldwell.

Program for this event will include field trips, presentations by several of Idaho's ornithologists and roundtable discussions.

Minidoka bond vote set

RUPERT — After five years of planning, a proposal to expand the Minidoka County Memorial Hospital will go before county voters.

Earlier this week the Minidoka commissioners authorized a $760,000 bond election to finance construction of a 45-bed geriatrics wing as an addition to the present hospital. The new "intermediate care" wing will expand to 79 the number of geriatrics beds at the county owned hospital.

Hospital board chairman Larry Duff, said Aug. 26 is the tentative date for the bond election. However, that date must be approved by the county's bonding agent, Duff said.

According to Duff, the expansion plan was designed by a group of county residents. The planning group, made of hospital staff, county commissioners, business people and "general taxpayers," has been working about five years on the plan.

In June the Magic Valley Comprehensive Health Planning Council approved the expansion project following a public hearing held in Rupert. Later the state's comprehensive health planning council also gave its stamp of approval to the project.

Ed Richardson, hospital administrator, says there is a critical need for the new beds. The current facility is overcrowded, he said.

According to Duff, an information sheet explaining the need for the expanded geriatrics wing will be distributed to all county residents before the election.

Rupert aides named in suit

RUPERT — Rupert now has plenty of drinking water even though only one of the city's five wells is operating.

The city's primary well No. 2 went out of service when a pump shaft broke last week. The well is not expected to be back in operation until next Tuesday. So far the city has not asked residents to cut back on water use, according to Elmer Schenk, superintendent of city services.

But Schenk said if the No. 1 well also goes out, "We'd be in trouble." He said the city has five wells, but uses only No. 1 and 2.

There is no Reason No. 1 should go out, but when it's serving double duty you always worry," Schenk said.

"If the No. 1 well goes out, the city would try to use well No. 3, 4 and 5. One of them has sand problems and the other two are high in manganese and iron content."

Schenk said the wells could be used in an emergency but the water just doesn't taste good and is discolored.

Gooding eyes 'firewoman'

GOODING (UPI) — The next time you chase a fire engine in the city of Gooding you may see a woman as one of the volunteer firefighters.

The Gooding Volunteer Fire Department has decided to take a vote to see if Julie Petersen, 18, Gooding, will become one of the guys.

And Fire Chief Jack Walschmidt is all for her.

"She's one of the guys," Walschmidt said.

Miss Petersen said she always wanted to be a fireman — "not because of women's liberation, but because I want to help the community."

Whether she gets her chance will depend on a vote by the all-male department, although she already has gone on a couple of fires with the fellows.

She said the only problem she has come across so far "is the guys on the department now want to treat me like a girl and not as a part of the fire department."

The hardest part of the job so far has been lifting the "heavy soaking hoses."

But she says she can manage them and "everything else is easy."

On her first fire, Miss Petersen said it was exciting but she was not sure what she was supposed to do.

"It was just a little one in ailage pit. They had me dressed out in turnouts and boots and I was all ready for it. They said let's see how good the new guy can do and handed me a hose."

She said she put the blaze out without "any problem at all."

Rupert has only 1 well

RUPERT — Rupert's mayor, three councilmen and the city's superintendent of city services have been named defendants in a $300,000 lawsuit.

The suit was filed Monday in Fifth District Court by Donald D. Hausmann, a former electric department employee. Hausmann worked for the city from Nov. 1, 1974, until he was terminated Jan. 23, 1975.

Hausmann charges he was improperly fired by superintendent of services Elmer Schenk in moving outside the Rupert "buffer zone."

The suit also charges that Mayor Wendell Johnson and councilmen George McConally, Clark Cameron and Dwinelle Alford permitted Schenk to fire Hausmann.

Hausmann charges the defendants deprived him of his constitutional rights, conspiracy to violate his rights and failed to protect him from a conspiracy to deprive him of his constitutional rights.

NEW YORK (UPI) —

The stock market, worried about persistent rises in interest rates, opened lower Thursday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a 97-point point Wednesday, was off 102 to 871.09 shortly after the opening. Declines in advances: 173 to 113, among the 429 issues crossing the tape.

Turnover amounted to about 550,000 shares.

Reports the Federal Reserve Board may have tightened credit reins again disturbed many investors. The market has been churning in recent weeks because of Fed actions taken to stem a sharp rise in the nation's money supply.

Short-term money rates have risen as a result of the prime — or minimum — rate for businesses has been raised to 7 1/4 per cent by many banks.

New York's trading first

National City Bank for the first time will raise its prime to 7% per cent — Friday, analysts said. Citibank's formula pegged to money rates, would allow a quarter-point hike.

If interest rates continue to rise, the return on stocks would be less attractive to investors. A sharp decline in interest rates the past eight months—has been one of the major factors in the market's rally this year.

Major Valley and Southwest Idaho will have some variable cloudiness associated with these storms, but little or no rainfall is expected.

Temperatures with continuous on the mild side with highs near 80 and lows in the middle 50s until about Sunday when the sunshine will increase and bring a 6 to 10 degree rise in daytime temperatures.

Profits defended

WASHINGTON — Federal Trade Commission economists confirm that grocery store profits have climbed since 1972 and they say the increase can be accounted for and declined to call them "profiteering."

"The very rapid retail food price increases since 1972 are explained primarily by increases in prices of raw food products," said the report by the Federal Bureau of Economics.

"Food chains did add higher dollar markups as they passed the increased wholesale prices along to consumers. Higher operating costs accounted for most of the higher markups."

The report says that food chain profits since the Korean War. It pointed out that profits dipped in 1972 because A&P started its discount program known as "WEQ — Where Economy Originates." That program affected both A&P's profits and those of competing stores.

Winner roughed up

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — A J. Swain, Portland, Ore., won the opening round of the bull riding competition in the 60th annual Snake River Stampede Tuesday night but slipped quite a bit on his second ride.

Handlers had trouble getting Swain's bull into the chute and when they turned it loose it gave him a twistier of a ride that saw him slammed to the ground and trampled. He apparently escaped serious injury, however, and stayed away from the rest of the evening.

The $434,190 purse resumes tonight and continues through Saturday night.

—In other events Tuesday, the Stanley, Roseville, Kan., took first place in bareback bronc riding with a 74.

Criminal fraud possibility eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service is investigating the possibility of criminal fraud in reports the American Medical Association filed to qualify for a special low mail rate. It pays for its periodical publications, an official said today.

James H. Byrne, assistant postmaster general for communications, said the investigation was triggered by published reports of internal AMA memos that have been leaked during recent weeks to the news media and government officials by a person identified as a former AMA employe.

If the memos are valid, Byrne said, they indicate the AMA may have misrepresented the portion of membership dues that represents subscription cost of the publications mailed to members.

The AMA now receives a preferential mail classification that is based in part on its allocation of dues to publication subscriptions, according to a Postal Service spokesman.

Among the leaked memos was a handwritten note dated September, 1971, and signed by Robert A. Enlow, former head of the AMA's circulation department. The note said:

"We have now lost our friend in the post office who kept us from having to do it and we are in trouble... if they find out that part of the dues are for publications, they will have to tax us."

Byrne said, "The memo and the way it was reported seems to indicate some kind of fraud... The fraud would be in not reporting in not letting us know. If there is something to it, it is defrauding the Postal Service."

Lawyers request Nixon testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for columnist Jack Anderson, saying Richard M. Nixon's ill health may be "exaggerated," have urged a federal judge to make the former president testify in a case involving ownership of his White House tapes and papers.

Nixon's offer to provide written answers to questions is merely an "effort to avoid oral cross-examination on the important and novel issues in this case," the lawyers charged.

Lawyer William Dobrovir said written answers would be "virtually useless" in efforts to explore Nixon's motivation for gaining control of materials "worth millions of dollars." He said an affidavit already filed by Nixon is filled with "self-serving, conclusory and hearsay assertions."

Anderson is one of several persons intervening in Nixon's challenge to the constitutionality of a law awarding custody of his presidential materials to the government.

His lawyers notified Nixon earlier this month of plans to take an oral deposition — in which the former president would have to answer questions under oath. Nixon's lawyers objected, saying a trip to Washington would present "an unreasonable risk to his health."

Shark attacks teen

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A 14-year-old girl sustained severe lacerations on her left arm when attacked and bitten by a four-foot shark while swimming less than 200 feet off this northeast Florida resort city's downtown beach Tuesday.

Capt. John Crisp, head of the city lifeguard detachment, identified the victim as Beverly White of New Smyrna Beach. She was released after treatment at Fish Memorial hospital for three deep gashes in her left forearm and a number of other less severe lacerations. She also suffered a minor laceration in her side, apparently from the shark's fin, Crisp said.

The girl was in chest deep water, swimming with a companion, Steve Morris, when the shark attacked, Crisp said.

Maoist guerrillas promise violence

MADRID (UPI) — Left-wing urban guerrillas who killed a Madrid policeman with a machine gun said today the murder was part of a "plan of violent action against fascism" and that more would follow.

The Revolutionary Antifascist and Patriotic Front, known locally as FRAP, sent letters to news organizations stating its future plans.

The clandestine Maoist group said the plan was designed to stop alleged mistreatment of militants arrested by police, and to forestall possible death sentences against two Basque separatists indicted for murder by a military judge.

"We will continue this struggle with all our force," the statement said.

The policeman, Lucio Rodriguez, 24, was killed by a burst of submachine gun fire from a car Monday night as he was guarding a building housing the computer center of the Spanish Airline Iberia.

"The execution of the policeman by a commando of FRAP is an answer to the tortures to which some recently arrested militants have been submitted," the statement said.

Doctors found five submachine gun bullets and a slug from an air rifle in Rodriguez' body. The stolen car used by the slayers was later found abandoned.

Spanish television said five arrests have been made, but gave no details. FRAP has a record of violent action including the knife slaying of another policeman on May Day, 1973.

High government and military officials attended a funeral mass today for the slain policeman.

The slaying and the new threats momentarily shifted the focus of political violence from the Northern Spanish Basque region where a dozen persons including four policemen have died in crashes since the government declared a "state of exception" — a partial suspension of civil rights — three months ago.

"Political unrest in the Basque country has recently been fueled by the upcoming military trial referred to in the FRAP statement.

Assuring natural gas supply for Idaho residents.

PART 4

Natural gas for your home will be there when you need it!

Because your home will have top priority for gas, that's our commitment. In fact, the Federal Energy Code requires us to provide gas to residential users before commercial and industrial users. Even in times of severe shortage, your home will have top priority.

Intermountain LNG plant

To help insure adequate supplies when winter demand is high, we've recently completed a storage plant between Caldwell and Boise. It stores gas in a liquid state and allows us to save much of the gas that comes through the pipeline in the summer time, when demand is low. And since the amount of gas available from the pipelines is constant year-round, our LNG plant allows us another source of additional gas to handle winter requirements.

Northwest Pipeline storage plant

Our pipeline supplier is now building an LNG Plant in Washington. We have contracted the purchase of a portion of the storage gas during peak usage periods. And to further assure our residential customers of gas in the winter we participate with other west coast utilities in the underground storage of natural gas.

So if your home has gas, natural gas will be there when you need it.

American income rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spurred by a special $50 payment to Social Security recipients, income received by Americans rose $2.6 billion in June, the Commerce Department reported today.

The one-time dispersal of $50 in Social Security payments was responsible for most of the rise, the department said.

The June increase in personal income, exceptionally large by historical standards, reflected a surge in spendable cash to consumers.

Whether they choose to spend this for goods and services or slash it in savings accounts will be a major factor in how fast the economy recovers from its current recessionary depths.

Zarb predicts gas hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb today predicted gasoline prices will increase from two to five cents a gallon by Labor Day.

He insisted, however, there was no collusion by the oil companies to raise prices.

Zarb told a Senate subcommittee that a curbing of gas refining by the oil companies was due to "a combination of unforeseen refining problems."

"We have seen no evidence that there is a conspiracy to promote a shortage in anticipation of higher price levels," Zarb said.

Zarb spelled out the administration's outlook for the near future as both the Senate and House focused attention on energy, particularly oil prices.

The Senate Tuesday approved a six-month extension of oil price controls, and Speaker Carl Albert said the House would take the same approach.

Later today, President Ford is expected to submit to Congress his proposal to more than double the per-barrel cost of oil over the next 30 months. Zarb said barring any oil price increase by the oil-producing nations, he estimated gas prices would rise from between two to five cents a gallon, varying in different parts of the country.

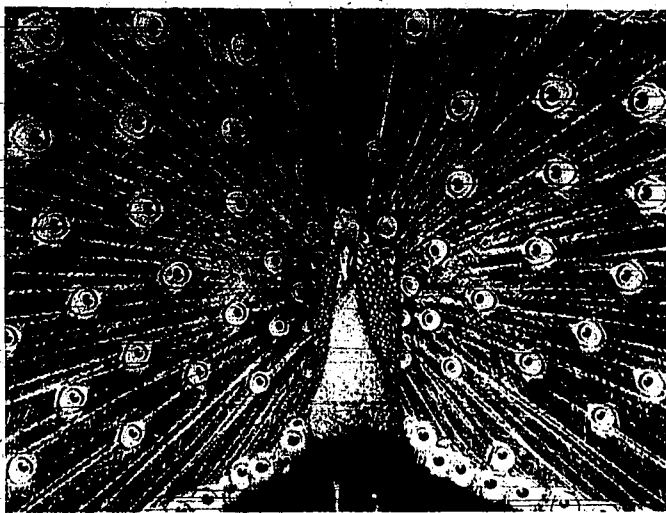

"We don't anticipate shortages although there could be spot conditions. We see adequate crude stocks on hand and we see no need at the moment for shortages," Zarb said.

The Federal Energy Administration, Zarb said, had found there were "abnormal gasoline stock drawdowns with gasoline stock levels being reduced to the million barrels at the end of the first week in July."

"It has been suggested that deliberate decisions to delay increasing refinery capacity utilization were made to firm up prices, even at the risk of creating a shortage. We have no evidence to demonstrate that this was the case."

The reason for the lower levels of refining, Zarb said, were due in part to "an unusual number" of refinery malfunctions or accidents, surplus inventory stocks and understating gasoline demands in the early part of the summer.

The showdown between the administration and Congress on energy will come when Ford formally submits his proposal, which would hike the price of about two-thirds of America's oil production from $2.25 to $13.50 a barrel.

Senators accused of sniping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Deputy Attorney General Laurence Silberman has decried an alleged coverup of a Drug Enforcement Administration scandal, and accused two senators of taking "cheap shots" at him.

Silberman told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee Tuesday a full review by some of the "very best men" in the FBI's investigations division had convinced him allegations against former DEA chief John Bartels were untrue.

He said the FBI probe failed to reveal any criminal aspect of the case, in which DEA officials had charged Bartels, impeding an internal agency investigation.

Bartels' resignation May 30 at the request of Attorney General Edward Levi was because he was a poor manager not because he was dishonest, Silberman said.

Silberman, now ambassador to Yugoslavia, traveled 8,000 miles to testify and noted Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who have been the most vocal critics of his role in the investigation, were not present.

He accused them of taking "cheap shots."

"I can't tell you how much I appreciate the fact that you were here," Silberman told presiding Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn.

Hunt denies charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ex-CIA agent E. Howard Hunt says he never named former presidential aide Alexander Butterfield as a Central Intelligence Agency contact in the White House.

Interviewed by CBS at Eglin AFB in Florida where he is serving a prison term for the Watergate burglary, Hunt Tuesday denied a report by retired Air Force Col. L. Fletcher Prouty that Hunt had made such a statement to him.

The report was an "unfortunate invention on Mr. Prouty's part," Hunt said.

But Prouty, also interviewed by CBS, stuck by his earlier account that Hunt had named Butterfield as a White House CIA contact during a conversation in the office of a Washington consulting firm with long-time CIA associations.

"The name that they mentioned was Butterfield...the only name that I heard in that office was Butterfield," said Prouty, himself a former CIA contact in the Air Force.

Atomic bomb 30 years old

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It was 30 years ago Wednesday that a group of scientists gathered on a desert in New Mexico and changed the course of history. They exploded the first atomic bomb.

It was, as the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists says, "the birth of Big Science."

The blast at Alamogordo, N.M., on July 16, 1945, ushered in an era of superatomic scientists. Men who previously had little influence in government and had worked in fields virtually unknown to the public suddenly became towering figures in the nation's future.

In the years that followed, scientists such as Edward Teller and J. Robert Oppenheimer became household names — often embroiled in controversy.

More Americans won the Nobel Prize. Six Nobel laureates of the post-World War II period had been involved at the Los Alamos, N.M., laboratory during the war. Nobel-winning physicist Luis Alvarez, of the University of California at Berkeley, thinks that "not only the bomb but radar and other wartime developments" gave the public new awareness of scientists.

In earlier years, he recalls, "if I went to a party, I always said I was a chemist because nobody knew what a physicist did."

But scientists themselves disagree about what has happened in the three decades since the men of the Manhattan Project exploded their bomb in New Mexico and built the ones that destroyed Hiroshima and Nagasaki less than a month later.

Teller often referred to as "the father of the hydrogen bomb," said "it is true that scientists have been more in the public eye, but science has not been. I would almost say that the scientists have become more important and science less, and that is a poor bargain."

"If there would be more public interest in science itself and what we are doing, or in technology itself, that would be a real advantage — but that's not what's happened," Teller said recently. He felt the quality of young scientists has declined catastrophically.

He suggested one reason was many young persons do not consider science as relevant a field as in the past.

"I think there has been a decline in interest," said Mark, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif. "Nowadays we are in the cycle of 'help your neighbor.' Of course science fits importantly into this idea, but there are cycles of popular ideas."

Says Teller: "There used to be an unmercenary admiration of progress, and that no longer exists." Adds Alvarez: "When you walk into a university bookstore and see books of astrology on prominent display, it gives you food for thought."

"I find it a shocking thing; this interest in astrology and exorcism and the occult, almost as if we had gone back to the Salem days."

FBI conducted 100 illegal burglaries

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI apparently conducted dozens and sometimes more than 100 illegal burglaries a year in the early 1960s to gain information in criminal and security cases, the Washington Post reported today.

Quoting a source who said he approved many of the burglaries, the Post reported that most of the break-ins were directed against the Communist Party, extremist groups, embassies and other targets in the category of "security cases."

But the unidentified source also told the Post a number of others were conducted in ordinary criminal cases such as hijackings, bank robberies and kidnappings.

The story quoted former Attorney General Ramsey Clark as saying he ended the practice in 1962 when he got a request from then-FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to burglarize a foreign consulate in Washington.

"I refused, saying I didn't see how an attorney general sworn to execute the laws could authorize their violation," the Post quoted Clark from New York.

The source said the bureau found at times that it could not get sufficient information in cases via legal search warrants.

"These were tough cases," he said. "They (the break-ins) would lead to information that would lead to prosecutions."

The source said the persons used in the break-ins were picked for their ability. "We didn't pick lunatics. You'd pick a man who had nerves of steel."

Each of the alleged burglaries was approved by several different layers of FBI officials, including Hoover, the source said.

"I refused, saying I didn't see how an attorney general sworn to execute the laws could authorize their violation," the Post quoted Clark from New York.

Mass slayer convicted

HAMILTON, Ohio (UPI)—"Play day in now," the prosecutor declared. "Does the defendant pay or does he get paid?"

The choice was blatantly extreme. If the defendant won, he got paid $343,000.

If he lost, he paid — by death or life imprisonment.

"Pay day" came this week for James Ruppert — the lonely, beleaguered defendant — and now his life is empty: He will pay.

Convicted of the largest single family mass murder in U.S. history — his 11 relatives — Ruppert almost certainly will spend the rest of his life in prison. He was sentenced to 11 consecutive life terms — one for each of the 11 deaths.

But Ruppert came close to getting off and getting paid. He was found guilty of 43 counts of aggravated murder only on a 2-1 split decision by a three-judge panel. Had one other judge decided Ruppert was innocent, by reason of insanity, today he would be free to pick up the $343,000 family inheritance.

Ruppert, of course, would have faced an undetermined amount of time in a mental hospital. But a probate lawyer testified the $343,000 — most of it his late brother's life insurance benefit — would be his.

Ruppert, in fact, may yet have a faint chance. His attorneys may appeal — and contest the validity of the split decision.

Besides the controversy over the split decision, the 85-witness trial — which saw 85 days — raised questions about the quality of so-called "expert testimony" from psychiatrists.

Ruppert's attorneys argued their client knew nothing about the family fortune and hence their entire defense on the insanity plea.

Psychiatrists testifying for the defense declared Ruppert insane. He's been legally insane for 10 years, they said.

But prosecution psychiatrists, who also spent hours examining Ruppert, said he was legally sane. He has some mental problems, they agreed, but he's not insane. Admitted one psychiatrist on the stand. "When you're dealing with psychiatry, you are dealing with a science that is not very precise."

Prosecutor John Holcomb finally said to the judges, "I ask you, what is sanity?"

Still, the trial did clear up one essential question about the perplexing murder case. Ruppert did kill the 11 at an Easter Sunday family reunion.

Defense attorney Joseph Bressler admitted his client "pulled the trigger to take the lives of the members of his family."

Also, the puzzle of just what triggered the quick and violent deaths of Ruppert's mother, brother, sister-in-law and eight nieces and nephews was pieced together at the trial.

Question: How's your Volkswagen? sparked the flurry of shots from Ruppert, an expert marksman.

A psychiatrist disclosed Ruppert had long believed his brother Leonard was trying to sabotage his Volkswagen.

So, the doctor explained, it was an unfortunate coincidence that James had his guns with him ready to go shooting when Leonard inquired, "How's your Volkswagen?"

Years of pent-up anger and suspicion, rushed through Ruppert's mind, he became overwhelmed with rage and shot down his relatives, according to the psychiatrist.

Although the prosecution disagreed with much of the defense's psychiatric evaluations, there was not much argument about Bressler's contention that when Ruppert stopped seeing his psychiatrist some time ago it was the "worst thing that could have ever happened."

It was the worst, it turned out, for Ruppert's 11 relatives.

Portugal's troubled coalition crumbles

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — The armed forces dissolved Portugal's troubled coalition government today soon after the last non-Communist party pulled out of the cabinet.

The ruling Armed Forces Movement said it would replace the coalition government with a "non-partisan" cabinet of military officers and technocrats.

"This coalition is terminated," Maj. Vasco Lourenco, a military spokesman, said. "The new government will not be a coalition or exclusively military."

Both the Socialists and Popular Democrats called mass rallies in northern Portugal to pursue their struggle against the possible formation of a Communist dictatorship.

The Communists called these opposition rallies an attempt to create "a climate of strife and violence with unforeseeable consequences."

"The progressive forces of the north cannot remain — and will not remain — with folded arms in the face of this escalation of challenge from the reactionaries," the Communists said.

The Popular Democrats called a big rally tonight in Porto — scene of previous bloody clashes with the Communists — and said it was an "all or nothing situation." The Socialists called their rally for Friday.

"Either they want democracy with a majority or they want a dictatorship with a minority," a Popular Democrats party spokesman said. "We are not willing to compromise over liberty."

The Revolutionary Council appealed to the public to remain calm.

The Popular Democrats resigned from the government at 3 a.m. when the council refused to guarantee them the creation of a western-style democracy. The Socialists withdrew from the cabinet last week over the military's violation of press freedom and other democratic rights.

Molotov cocktails hurled at Japan's royal couple

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Radicals hurled Molotov cocktails at Japanese Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko today during a ceremony at a war memorial. The royal couple was not injured.

Police said Akihito, 41, heir to the Japanese throne, and his wife, also 41, had gone to the Red Star Lily Tower memorial to pray for the souls of 188 high school girls who committed suicide during the final stages of World War II.

As they listened to a woman guide near the memorial, two men in their 20s — one wearing a red helmet and the other a black one — threw Molotov cocktails and firecrackers in their direction.

Flames from the smashed Molotov cocktail bottles shot into the air as police rushed up to guard the royal couple.

Both men were immediately taken into custody. One police officer suffered leg and head injuries.

Police said the radicals were apparently opposed to Akihito's visit. He is the first member of the Japanese royal family to visit Okinawa since the end of World War II.

Radical leftists have claimed Japan has abandoned Okinawa since the war. They have also opposed the presence of U.S. bases on the island and the institution of the monarchy in Japan.

Earlier today, two persons threw an empty bottle at the royal couple's car as they drove from the airport to the war memorial at the southern tip of the island. Both were arrested.

Akihito and his wife flew to Okinawa to formally open the Okinawa International Ocean Exposition Saturday. More than 3,700 police officers guarded Naha airport during their arrival.

Police in Tokyo enforced tight security measures prior to the couple's departure, stopping every car going into Tokyo airport.

Police said some 2,300 persons staged demonstrations in various parts of Tokyo to protest the crown prince's visit. They said 15 persons were arrested.

Rival radical youths clashed at Shimabashi railway station in Tokyo more than two hours after the couple left. Police said one person was killed and 21 others injured.

The incident forced Japan National Railways to briefly suspend train service.

The United States returned Okinawa to Japan in 1972 after occupying it for 27 years.

Class status eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a one-vote margin, the House has reaffirmed its position against required integration of the sexes in school and college gym classes.

The action came Wednesday as the House approved an $8 billion education appropriation bill, which would fund grade school, high school and college aid programs for the 15 months that started July 1. The measure — $1.6-billion over President Ford's budget request — could face a veto.

The House voted 212 to 211 to insist on a provision it previously had included in the measure, saying the government cannot withhold funds to force sex integration of gym classes.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued regulations, due to take effect Monday, under which schools and colleges cannot practice sex discrimination in any program if they want to receive federal aid.

"Unless we insist on the amendment, it means that boys and girls or men and women would have to be in the same gym classes," said Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., chairman of the House education subcommittee that held hearings on HEW regulations.

Reps. Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., and Margaret Heckler, R-Mass., urged rejection of the language authored by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex.

Ruth called for closed meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Prosecutor Henry Ruth Jr. has been called by the House Judiciary's Criminal Justice subcommittee for questioning in private this month about his Watergate investigation.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., sponsor of the motion, said Ruth should be questioned about his actions.

To satisfy the subcommittee and the public that the investigation had been "full, complete and thorough," the nature of Ruth's final report, which he has said he would submit to Congress in August before his office term minutes in September.

The ultimate disposition of materials developed during the investigation.

Although expressing reservations about congressional intrusion into the special prosecutor's independence, the subcommittee's Republicans joined the Democrats in passing the resolution by voice vote unanimously.

Rep. Holtzman told a reporter afterward the closed meeting with Ruth would not preclude open hearings later on the special prosecutor's performance.

She has expressed fears since the third and final Watergate grand jury was dismissed July 3 that Ruth would close up shop with "serious questions" still unanswered.

T.F. Legion shuts out Idaho Falls 7-0

Twin Falls Legion exploded for five runs in the second inning and shut out Idaho Falls 7-0 Wednesday night.

Righthanders Jeff Van Nest and Gary Miller collaborated on the shutout while Gary Huff paced the offense with a three-for-four effort to keep his batting average well above .500.

Twin Falls remains home Saturday, entertaining Caldwell in a pair of seven-inning games at 6 and 8 p.m. at Jaycee field.

Twin Falls' big inning started a little jubilously against Robb Martin. Huff and Scott Williams both picked up bad top singles. But Randy Persinger, after twice fouling off bunt attempts, lined a single to left to score the first run. Lee Williams was hit by a pitch to load the bases and Van Nest added an RBI when he managed a walk.

Clay Bingham's line drive played two more runs with both remaining runners moving up on a throwing error. Bruce Bird wound it up with a base hit worth one run.

Twin Falls added two more in the fourth when Bingham opened with a hit and stole second. He scored on Tim Crist's Texas League while Crist moved to third on a throwing error. Huff sent him home with a base hit.

Kuhn's commissionership may end in firing today

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Bowle Kuhn's hold on his job as baseball commissioner was so tenuous today, speculation was already underway as to his successor.

Kuhn, whose hopes of wangling a raise out of the owners on his $150,000 per year salary were dashed dramatically Wednesday when the American League mustered the necessary four votes for his ouster, was to have his fate settled at a joint meeting of both leagues early today.

But before that meeting was even announced the names of John McFall, president of the Montreal Expos; Frank Cashen, general manager of the Baltimore Orioles; National League president Chub Feeney; California Angels general manager Harry Dalton and Sen. Thomas Eagleton (D-Mo.) were being mentioned by baseball men as possible successors to Kuhn.

The sudden and surprise turnabout of Kuhn's baseball fortunes came after owners Charles O. Finley of the Oakland A's; Jerald Hoffberger of the Baltimore Orioles and Brad Corbett of the Texas Rangers—all not so secret opponents of Kuhn—persuaded the New York Yankees to join them in a swing vote in the ouster movement.

Only a parliamentary procedure, which requires a final official vote to be taken, prevented Kuhn's immediate firing, but upon being informed of the block against him, the "sheepskin" commissioner of seven years said, "Let's get it settled now, one way or another."

And settled it could be, according to American League president Lee MacPhail's hurried announcement late Wednesday.

"We will meet in joint session with the National League at 9 a.m. (CDT) Thursday," MacPhail said, "after which time there will be a formal announcement."

Asked if Wednesday's six-hour-long meeting had dealt with primarily one subject, MacPhail said, "Yes, you could say that."

The joint meeting, which is customarily presided over by the commissioner, could have become only a formally had the four anti-Kuhn owners succeeded in their quest to gain the support of the California Angels. Under baseball rules, a two-thirds majority tight clubs in one league) is needed to block a final official vote.

Still, Kuhn's fate could be decided three ways: (1) he could be fired; (2) the vote could be tabled until after the World Series or the winter meeting at Hollywood, Fla., in late November or (3) one of the four owners could be swayed back to his side by the National League and his contract would be renewed.

But as Finley contended the latter measure was unlikely, "The four votes are firm," the fiery Oakland owner said. "Now it's up to the National League. They could table this thing."

One National League confidant said: "We're doing everything we can to get them to delay their vote. But if they get one more of their clubs to go along with this thing, that's it."

Oddly, as recently as just Sunday, Kuhn's re-election at these mid-summer All-Star game meetings was considered a certainty.

Lack of races hurts baseball

By United Press International
Whether it's Bowie Kuhn, or a successor, one of the big problems facing the commissioner and the various major league club owners during the second half of this season will be a definite lack of interest in a solid product. The "two division" concept, which was organized in 1969 to generate greater fan interest throughout the course of a long season, is not going so well this season and there is a definite possibility that all four world series in the National and American Leagues; could develop into runaways.

With the season just beyond the midway point, the Cincinnati Reds in the NL West, the Pittsburgh Pirates in the NL East and the Oakland A's in the AL West have taken commanding leads which will be difficult for their rivals to overcome in the final 10 weeks of the season.

The Reds, who have won 61 of their first 90 games and are riding a 18-game winning streak, hold a tremendous 12 1/2 game lead over the defending NL champion Los Angeles Dodgers and would have to suffer an almost total collapse to lose it.

Of course, there have been dramatic "shakes" in the history of the game—the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1962, the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1962 and the Philadelphia Phillies of 1964 to name a few—but they haven't occurred very often since a 20-7 record since June 17.

Only the AL East still resembles a pennant race, but the way the Boston Red Sox have been playing it might not be one for long. The Red Sox, after losing seven of nine earlier this month, have put together a seven-game winning streak and now lead the New York Yankees by 4 1/2 games.

All 24 teams will resume play today after the three-day AllStar break, with 13 games on the schedule.

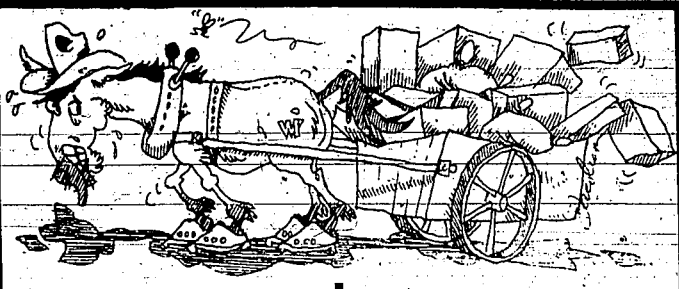

In the National League, Atlanta is at New York, Cincinnati at Montreal, Chicago at San Diego, Houston at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at Los Angeles and St. Louis at San Francisco in night action.

The American League has California at Milwaukee in an afternoon contest, Detroit at Chicago for a twi-night doubleheader and New York at Texas, Kansas City at Boston, Oakland at Cleveland and Minnesota at Baltimore in night games.

NL vetoes designated hit idea

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The National League, in a separate meeting Wednesday, voted for the fourth—straight year against adopting the designated hitter rule currently in use by the American League.

According to NL President Chub Feeney, the vote was 10-2 against the designated hitter rule and in a separate vote the league decided by an 11-1 margin not to adopt a designated runner rule.

Intermountain-AAU swim meet opens here Friday

The Intermountain AAU swimming tournament and rough water distance test are scheduled for Twin Falls this weekend.

About 500 swimmers from Idaho and Utah will converge on the Harmon Park pool Friday and Saturday to crown a hundred or so champions in the various strokes, distances and age groups.

Sunday action shifts to Dierkes Lake for the rough water test, which ranges up to a mile for most age groups.

Magic Valley Swim club coach Pete Blumenthal believes the meet will be the toughest competition his charges have faced this year.

The favorite doubtlessly will be the Pirate swim team of Magna, Utah, a perennial champion—and usually by a mile: Boise Y team generally finishes well in the team standings.

The pool events will start with qualifying at 9 a.m. both days and probably not finish to an end until about 9 p.m. each day.

The event is hosted by the Magic Valley Swim Club which is co-sponsored by the Twin Falls recreation department and the YW-YMCA of Magic Valley.

NL vetoes designated hit idea

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The National League, in a separate meeting Wednesday, voted for the fourth—straight year against adopting the designated hitter rule currently in use by the American League.

According to NL President Chub Feeney, the vote was 10-2 against the designated hitter rule and in a separate vote the league decided by an 11-1 margin not to adopt a designated runner rule.

Study indicates cattle and elk don't mix on grazing ranges

SALMON—When cattle move into an area elk respond by moving out to areas that are not being used by cattle, Terry Lonner, Montana Fish and Game research biologist from Bozeman, said here.

"Discussing the Long Tom Elk study on a tributary of the Big Hole River 25 miles southwest of Butte, Lonner noted significant results from interactions between cattle and elk.

"The findings to date strongly show there is a negative interaction of elk toward cattle on summer range."

The objectives of the study are to determine specific ecological requirements of elk; the influence of a major logging operation on distribution, movements and habitat use of an elk population on an important summer range; and to provide guidelines to insure maximum compatibility between elk management and timber management. The study is in the prelogging stage.

Lonner noted that the detriment of elk moving out when cattle move in has not been measured yet. He said there are strong indications that a potential interspecific indirect—and direct—force competition may occur on summer range where elk and cattle occur. Further study should help clarify the degree of this competition, he added.

Grade school soccer loop to be formed

TWIN FALLS—Fourteen teams will join in a new soccer club here in the Twin Falls area.

According to Chris Brewer the YW-YMCA has agreed to let the soccer club have the program under the Y's offices.

Also, the school board has agreed to let the club use the high school football field and the Lincoln school field for practice sessions.

Brewer, a former player in college, said the Twin Falls Peppal Company has donated money for the program. Also, the Peppal Co. has provided a furnished pictures for the soccer club to be held at the end of August.

According to Brewer the Co. is a sponsor of an annual event which will stage a soccer match to help promote the sport.

The 14 teams will be composed of third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders who will be chosen from the August clinic. Brewer emphasized the need for coaches along with the participation of the Magic Valley youngsters.

Gooding amateur entry hits 50

GOODING — More than 60 golfers from the Boise and Magic Valley have entered the annual Gooding amateur golf tournament.

Course manager Lee Fitchman said the 50 mark was passed Wednesday afternoon giving the tournament committee hopes of reaching the 100 mark.

The tournament will allow participants to play with fouromes of their choosing and at their convenience Saturday. The field will be flighted and assigned tee-off times and pairings for Sunday's finale.

Chipping and driving contests will spice Sunday's final round.

Anthony Davis fined

IRVINE, Calif. (UPI) — Running back Anthony Davis, who had a run-in with an assistant coach last week, has been fined $500 by the Southern California Sun.

"He smarted-off to Ernie Wheelwright and the coaches just won't tolerate it in front of the other players," said Sun president-general manager Larry Hatfield. "If it'd happened on a one-to-one basis off the field, nothing would have come of it."

Head coach Tom Fears said, "It's no big deal. I've levied about 25 fines in camp. It's a closed incident."

Ex-player blasts rule

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Former Washington Redskins center George Burman said Wednesday elimination of the "Bozell rule" would have little impact on professional football.

"It's really a rebuttal witness at the Rozelle rule trial in U.S. District Court," Burman said the rule and the draft have little to do with competitive balance in the league. He said it could function just as well in an open market situation.

Burman, now an assistant professor of economics at Carnegie-Mellon University, said scrapping the rule, or optional-compensation clause, would have an impact only "in increased players' salaries, improved working conditions and, at most, reduced profitability of these clubs."

Olympic coverage restricted

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (UPI) — The Rev. Bernard Fell, chairman of the Lake Placid Olympic Committee, said Wednesday that the village's major problem in playing host to the 1980 games will be reporters, the competitors' parents and national Olympic committees.

Rev. Fell told the Lake George-Lake Champlain Regional Planning Board that his North Country village wanted to stage an Olympiad in the style of the early Greek games. He said they were not for a small meeting and sharp competition.

But, he added, parents, the news media and national committees are "harassing influences" who interfere with the athletes' concentration and disturb competition. Rev. Fell said the number of newsmen at the 1980 games will be restricted.

In 1972, Munich officials accredited 4,800 journalists to cover the event. Lake Placid officials, he said, will accredit only 1,200. "There is no reason why news organizations can't pool their reporters and still do a creditable job," he added.

Broncos sign WFL player

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos Wednesday announced the signing of J.D. Smith, a 6-1, 195-pound running back who played in the world football league last year as a free agent.

Smith played last year with the Hawaiians of the WFL. The 26-year-old athlete graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1973 and had a brief trial with the Broncos following graduation.

Bengals clear air on players

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI) — Essex Johnson and Bob Maddox were both back at the Cincinnati Bengals training camp today.

But each had to sign special statements Wednesday to resume their pro football careers.

Johnson, a running back waived earlier this week by the team, signed a form excusing the Bengals from legal responsibilities if he reinjures his gimpy right knee.

Maddox, a defensive end who recently pleaded guilty to a drug charge, signed a statement agreeing that the Bengals can have him medically examined at any time.

Despite the conditions, both players indicated they wanted to stay in training camp and try to make the team.

Johnson was waived Monday after doctors told coach Paul Brown there was a risk of the halfback permanently injuring his right knee, which has been operated on twice during the last 18 months.

Allison quits racing team

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Stock car driver Donnie Allison says he and the Digard Racing team are splitting up after three years.

Allison's announcement did not make it clear whether Allison resigned or was fired, but the rift had been rumored for several days.

Allison said he intends to return to Hueytown, Ala., as the base of his operations and remain active in Grand National and Sportsman races. He said he already has been offered rides in both types of events.

Trio hasn't shaken lightning effects

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Three weeks after being struck by lightning, Bobby Nichols, Lee Trevino and Jerry Heard are experiencing widely different after-effects.

Nichols was to be in the field today when the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic opened, but he called earlier in the week from an Akron, Ohio, hospital where he was undergoing tests. His ailment was not disclosed but was believed related to the freak accident that occurred June 27 at the Western Open in Oak Brook, Ill.

Trevino took a couple weeks off before rejoining the PGA tour. He still did not feel 100 per cent Wednesday after shooting a five-over-par 76 in the pro-am event at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Heard, however, was played well in the preliminary round, shooting a two-under-par 69. "I'm not — back — yet physically, although I'm almost there," said Trevino, who normally would be considered "a favorite" in the tournament avoided by many big name players. "Let's say if I shoot a 77 now I don't get upset as much as I used to."

"Right now I'm just not as strong or as accurate with the iron."

While Heard was stronger than Trevino, his shot-making was no match for low pro scorer Charles Coody. The former Masters winner shot a course record 64, seven strokes under par. Cliby Gilbert and Bob Meene each recorded 66.

Winner of the 72-hole tournament, which finishes Sunday, will receive a $40,000.

Archers need special stamp

Archery hunters interested in the August 30 opening in several units of the state for deer and elk will have to buy a $3 stamp this year.

The Department of Fish and Game, at the suggestion of many of the state's bowhunters, has printed the stamps which can be stuck to the back of a hunting license.

Each archer must have a valid Idaho hunting license and the appropriate game tag in addition to the stamp, the department said.

Wildlife laws put in modern English

BOISE — It has been called the most comprehensive, difficult to understand.

These are the primitive descriptions of the Fish and Game Code Book.

A code book that caused headaches brought together by Baird, enforcement bureau chief at the Department of Fish and Game; Hawley Hill, former enforcement chief; and Ed Scholes, a former staff conservationist.

The three men began to rewrite the code book in 1970. Now, five years later, the content of the code book has been reorganized, the first known rewrite of the lawbook.

"There have been no new laws added," Baird said, "and the intent of the laws on the books now has not been changed. It amounts to a cleanup.

Over the years new laws have been added to the code that have resulted in rules of the same subject scattered haphazardly from the beginning of the book to the end.

"The recodification has brought these related laws together and has eliminated repeated laws," Baird said. A few obsolete laws have been deleted in the rewrite, he said.

The recodification draft, a new code book trimmed from 41 chapters to 21 with one-third of the "wordage" removed, now goes to a legislative interim committee composed of members of the Idaho House and Senate.

The committee is expected to hold public hearings on the draft code book before it is introduced as a bill in the next legislature, Baird said. The legislative council's staff is reviewing the draft now, he said.

One example of an obsolete law, Baird said, is 36-1406, a law passed in 1919 that says no one can have over 30 pounds of deer meat or 10 pounds of elk meat that is "dried, smoked, evaporated or jerked."

With a limit of one deer, a hunter might be breaking the law if he took his limit this year but had smoked meat leftover from last year's deer, Baird said.

Few hunters will dry, smoke, evaporate or jerk their venison these days, although some do on their meat. In any case, there is no justifiable reason to limit such stores of meat in possession so long as they were legally taken, Baird says, and the new code deletes 36-1406 as "outdated and unenforceable law."

Sun Valley cousins set biathlon tryout

SUN VALLEY — Two Blaine County cousins will compete on the Junior training squad for the 1978 Olympic biathlon team, U. S. officials announced today.

Gary, 18-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swaner, Halley and Doug, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swaner, Bellevue, will race in regional tryouts in November in Alaska, Wyoming, Minnesota and Vermont to qualify for finals at Lake Placid, N.Y.

The Swaners, members of the Sun Valley Nordic Ski Team, polished their rifle shooting techniques with Sun Valley Gun Club Director Ben Hurlig and trained extensively with Nordic Ski School Director Leif Odmark and Nordic Coach Rob Kiesel. The boys are the first from this area to be named to a Biathlon Team.

The Biathlon is one of the oldest of the traditional events in the Winter Games combining cross country running with target shooting. The XII Olympic Winters Games at Innsbruck, Austria, begin February 4, 1978, with Biathlon events at nearby Seefeld-Teils.

ABA to shift club to Hartford or Baltimore

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — The American Basketball Association is considering Baltimore and Hartford, Conn., as two possible sites for the ABA Franchise the league says will move from here, Memphis Sounds president Mike Storen says.

Storen's statement came after ABA Commissioner Dave Debusschere announced Wednesday in New York that, after five uncertain years, there would "definitely not be an ABA franchise operating in Memphis next season."

League officials "are negotiating with Baltimore and Hartford" on the future of the team, said Storen, who resigned as ABA commissioner in 1974 to take over the struggling Memphis franchise.

"The status of the team is still up in the air," Debusschere said. "We have several options available and hopefully we will have an announcement by the end of the week."

Wednesday's statement came as no surprise, as the team has never had a winning year either on the court or at the box office. In the 1974-75 season, the Sounds finished 27-25 and drew an average attendance of about 3,000 to games.

The team, which moved to Memphis from New Orleans in 1970, had also been unable to meet two conditions to keeping the team in Memphis set down by former ABA Commissioner Ted Munchak in April — sale of at least 4,000 season tickets and development of local ownership.

The franchise was again almost at the point of collapse in 1972, but sports magnate Charles O. Finley, owner of baseball's Oakland A's, stepped forward at the last minute to buy the team and operate it for two seasons.

Forbes trial concludes today

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Closing arguments were scheduled for today in the assault trial of Boston Bruins hockey player Dave Forbes.

Forbes is charged with aggravated assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with a fight with Jank 4 during a game between the Bruins and the Minnesota North Stars.

Minnesota player Henry Boucha's right eye was injured during the fight.

Forbes testified Wednesday he may have had his hockey stick in his hand when he hit Boucha following a stint in the penalty box, but he said he didn't intend to use the stick as a weapon.

Hockey players are "taught from very early days to stand up and defend themselves," Forbes said, because unless a player acts aggressively on the ice, "other players know that he will not pursue the puck" aggressively.

The Boston forward told the court he felt he had to retaliate after Boucha hit him from behind during their first altercation on the ice. The incident resulted in seven-minute penalties for each player.

Jones ends race year

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Vels-Parnelli Jones Racing Team latched the doors on its garages and shipped cars to its California headquarters Wednesday, ending its participation on the U.S. Auto Club championship circuit this season.

In a telephone interview from Salem, Ore., where he was making a personal appearance, Jones said the team "made only a commitment to run the three 500s."

Jones, the 1963 Indianapolis "500" winner, had contracts with drivers Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa. He said financial problems were behind his decision to halt his USAC activities.

"I'm not mad at anybody. USAC could be expanding and saving tracks like Ontario and Trenton, but they're not doing anything," Jones said. "You don't have to be blind to see what they're doing to us."

'Home grown' name of game these days

By CRICKET BIRD

TWIN FALLS — With five sons and prices the way they are, Ann Graefe decided to plant a vegetable garden this year.

Mrs. Graefe is not alone in taking up gardening to crimp inflation's style.

Seed companies reported a big increase in sales of packet seeds. Says Ted Young, Northrup-King's international division sales manager, "As far as vegetable seed packets go, sales are considerably higher."

Though sales figures are still being computed, Young says he estimates seed packet sales could be 20 to 50 per cent higher this year.

"Everybody must have decided to plant a garden," he says. Of course, some of those seed packets may be stuck away with the good intentions in the kitchen drawer. Young adds:

Mrs. Graefe puts it bluntly: "We just can't afford not to plant a garden this year."

She's had tomatoes before, but now has planted lettuce, beans and other vegetables. And like many other gardeners, she plans to can and preserve all she can. A home economics instructor, she knows how to make the best of the fruit and vegetables she has.

For some town dwellers, small lots pose a restriction on the room available for gardening.

But Billie Thornton found one way to squeeze in a garden; she plowed up the park way and planted her vegetables between the street and sidewalk.

"This is the third year we've done it this way," she says. "I know that they laughed at us the first year we did it."

But she grows enough vegetables in her streetside plot to freeze and can and even have some left to share with the neighbors. With growing children, Mrs. Thornton is like many others who garden with an eye to saving money.

Looking over some trees dotting the curbside plot, she says, "I'm sure that if I had trees we probably would dig the whole thing up and plant a garden."

Herb Allred, another Twin Falls City resident, is no newcomer to home gardening. As he surveys his straddle plot roved with corn, lettuce, beans and other vegetables he says, "I've been going 50 years or so" on gardening.

Canning is a yearly affair in the Allred home, with the savings in food budget not ignored.

Beans growing in window boxes or tomatoes ripening in hanging baskets under patio eaves mark the homes of green thumbs in mobile home parks.

In parks where ground is at a premium those who like to grow gardens do a lot of improvising.

Lafee Morson, who has a mini-garden of several types of vegetables on a tiny spot of unoccupied ground beside her mobile home, said she tried it because "I needed an excuse to get outside, and besides, I like to grow things."

Lavaughn Larson, another mobile home resident, said last year a single tomato plant growing in a large paint can provided enough fresh tomatoes for the family table throughout the late summer and fall. She also finds hanging baskets are good for tomatoes as well as flowers.

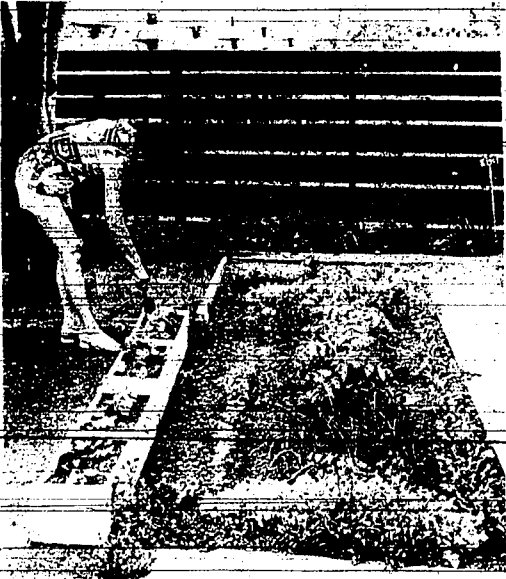

"The home grown tomatoes taste a lot better than those from the grocery stores and it is much handier to step out the door and pick my own," she says.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Good news for the singles who want to own homes.

You can — if it's a big IF, but home ownership is within your reach.

You start with money.

The matter of singles and home buying came up because this column recently told of a national survey of 1,000 single women from young to middle years and beyond. Three out of five preferred the single family residence over apartment dwelling.

No sooner was the study reported than my desk was swamped with queries. The big question: All right, we too want to own a home, but how do we acquire it?

One secretary, with Ligeia a longer in check, said she rents an apartment but "if you can lend me $30,000 I'll buy a house... that's my dream."

She also wanted to know if a single man stood a better chance at financing than a woman. I found no discrimination. Money has to be

So here go the guidelines for single men and women and just as well could apply to any other buyer: gleaned from talks with a bank, a private mortgage insurance company, and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington.

Start with credit qualifications. Jackson W. Goss, president of Investors Mortgage Insurance Co. Business, a private mortgage lender, said with job stability as primary. The final decision would be up to the lender, but it would consider the length of employment and responsibility.

Another single's position. Lenders like to see five or more years with a company as a gauge.

The company that employs the buyer is important, not one that has been in business a short time. The better the company, the better the risk, in the lender's view.

An account with the lender is important. The buyer must have sufficient account to cover at least 10 per cent down payment, although there are some five per centers popping up here and there.

Amount of down payment varies, normally 10 to 20 per cent.

Raymond Forsyth, assistant cashier with the First National City Bank, the nation's second largest commercial bank.

Actually, it averages about 25 per cent, usually said a spokesman for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Mortgage insurance companies will insure the lender for the difference up to 20 per cent of the loan. And the lender pays the insurance premium.

The board said the 25 per cent down payment was an completed transaction, both for newly built and older houses.

Competition: another factor. If you want to buy a house, the lender will check your credit, but they also check the credit of the seller.

Some other tips from Goss:

If self-employed, you will have to prove staying power at business.

A financial statement is important. It should show income, job structure, and a five-year projection of finances.

Monthly mortgage payments should not exceed 28 per cent of gross monthly income. Then consider another 10 per cent for other commitments, such as credit card payments, maintenance.

Establish and retain excellent credit ratings. Pay bills on time and keep a good credit record with your credit reputation.

The major obstacle facing single buyers is the down payment. One solution is a systematic savings program that encourages the individual buyer to open an account with a lender, saving a set amount each month until there's enough for that all-important down payment.

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

For the future eyesight of babies will you please comment about carrying babies in a reclining position so that they must look directly into the sun? Is it injurious? It seems very thoughtful to expose the dear little ones this way. — MRS. E.B.

It is, of course, unwise to allow infants' eyes to be exposed to the sun. This is particularly dangerous even while the infant is sleeping. I have seen mothers wheel their small children out into the sun in shaded strollers without considering the fact that the sun will eventually move around to a point where it beats down directly onto the eyes.

Infants should be positioned so that the sun will strike the top of the head covered. Exposure times should be brief. Most infants will squint and blink up sufficient fuses when the sunlight strikes their eyes, but some may not. They may even get a headache from the bright object in the sky an attractive one to stare at.

Direct sunlight can cause retinal damage in persons of any age.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

Eight years ago I had a sinus trouble, for which I went to a doctor. He prescribed some medicine and a nasal spray. At this time I am still having trouble. I can't breathe without it. I have to use it eight or nine times a day.

As soon as it wears off, my air passages close up tight. I have to breathe through my mouth, and my ears plug up, and sometimes I start getting a terrific headache.

Watch infants' eyes

What on earth am I going to do to get this thing? I have tried three times to throw mine away, but I never got through the first 24 hours because of the breathing problem.

If it did stop, would I ever be able to breathe through my nose again? What should I do? — MRS. A.P.

Get your nose under a physician's care as quickly as possible. You will be in the hands of a specialist already. How much damage has been done to your nasal membranes would be impossible to determine without direct examination. Yours is one of the worst examples of abuse of medication I've encountered in some time.

From this distance there is little other advice I can offer, and I use your letter as an object lesson — granted a most extreme one — on some of the rebound effects from indiscriminate use of such medications. You may have more serious results, but gradually, but ultimately, for your health, you will have to somehow throw the darn thing away.

I hope readers learn from your mistake. There are more sensible ways to fight such problems. I discuss them in my booklet on sinus disorders. It may be late for you, but if you want to learn about the mechanisms involved, a reading of it would be helpful. For a copy, of my sinus booklet, send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper. Enclose a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Besides damage to your nasal passages, there may be some damage to your lungs. After your years of use of this material you should have a most thorough examination to begin a general "repair job."

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

I have discharge from my breast, have had it for two years. It is dark green in color. No blood. I have had X-rays, and my doctor says it is not cancer.

It is painful, especially around the nipples. I have small breasts, but my nipples have enlarged since having this trouble. What should I do? — Tamal E.C.

This could be a papilloma, a benign growth, or a cyst in the milk ducts. This can often cause your symptoms. Although they are non-malignant, they are often removed surgically with minimal disfigurement of the breast itself.

You probably should have this done, since it is causing you distress.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

My husband has been taking two tablespoons of ocean water every day for five months. He claims it helps the pain of his joints. — Mrs. J.

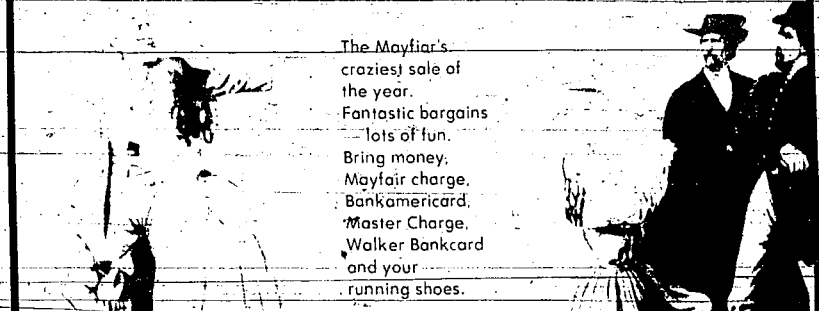

What bothers me is he has gained weight, and I have been wondering if the water could be harmful. Could it cause high blood pressure? — MRS. V.L.

I thought this salt water nonsense had been squelched for good, but it seems to persist. I assume your husband is using the salt water for an arthritic condition. It will not help a whit. He'd be better off using aspirin.

Sea water is high in salt content, and if he took enough, it could be a factor in weight gain, since salt tends to hold liquid in the body. It could also aggravate a high blood pressure condition.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune, N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a very good friend. He is 34, single and a professional man. He's good company, and we enjoy having him over.

We know he'd like to be married and have a family, and he would make some woman a fine husband, but he is very much overweight. Besides that, he has a very bad odor because he seldom takes a bath or changes his clothes.

When he leaves, I have to spray the room. We are embarrassed to have other people over when he's visiting, and it's impossible to find him a date because we don't know any single girl who can't smell.

How can we make him realize the seriousness of this problem without losing a good friend?

BREATHLESS IN N.Y.

DEAR BREATHLESS: It would be an act of kindness if you (or your husband) would tell your friend that he simply must bathe and change his clothes regularly. Let him know that he has an offensive odor. It's hard to believe that a person could be this insensitive. Perhaps HE can't smell.

TOPS
HANSEN — Eating less can become just as much a habit as eating more.
This was the thought given at the TOPS ID No. 84 Club by Mrs. Marybeth Howard, leader, at the home of Mrs. Dorothea Steelsmith.
Meetings are held each Monday evening at the Steelsmith home and guests or interested persons may attend. Weigh-ins are held on Wednesdays and the meetings start at 7:30 p.m.
Lena Bohm was best loser of the week. Gainers are to eat from small plates and the penalty for this week.
Mrs. June Wilson, Mrs. Carolyn Bowman and Mrs. Charbell Soren were monthly losers. They were honored with gifts.
Debra Sims, state supervisor, Peacelle, will hold a district meeting at the club July 21.
Since this was the eighth birthday anniversary of the club, five charter members were honored and had their pictures taken. Charter members are Mrs. Howard, Miss Bohm, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Bernece Simmons and Mrs. Steelsmith.
Mrs. Shirley Harris was program chairman for honoring the quarterly winner, Mrs. June Wilson who was a winner for both DIVISION B and the "winner" for the quarter.

Odor sends women off

DEAR ABBY: I've been waiting on tables for only three weeks, but I have a problem that only you can solve. I was told that under no circumstances should a customer help himself to coffee. The coffee is on a burner in full view of the customers, and sometimes if the waitress is busy and can't get to the customer fast enough, he will get up and get his own coffee.

Please tell me how a waitress can STOP someone from getting his own coffee? (We aren't allowed to hit a customer.)

Also, we are told that no customer is allowed to move tables or chairs, even to accommodate people who joined his table later. The waitress is supposed to do that, but what if the customer doesn't ask and just drags up extra chairs from another table?

I was told that if anybody else helped himself to coffee in my station, or moved the chairs or tables, it would cost me my job. Is that fair?

STUMPED WAITRESS

DEAR STUMPED: No. But such rules are made to keep you on your toes so that no one will attempt to pour his own coffee or clutter the aisles with extra chairs (a fire hazard). When you see a customer breaking these rules, tell him most emphatically that it will cost your job if he doesn't desist.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine wanted to show her appreciation for a favor I did, so she gave me a box of candy. It was a well-known brand and not cheap, either.

When I got home and opened the box, I found it was empty. Of course, I threw it in the garbage immediately. Should I tell my friend that the candy was wormy? I know she would be upset if she knew. But since there's no way of proving it, she can't get her money back, so why make her feel bad?

On the other hand, I don't like the idea of telling her that the candy was great when it wasn't edible.

IN A BIND

DEAR IN: Tell her the truth. Even though she can't produce the evidence, she can report the candy to the manager. He would appreciate knowing, and if he's smart, he'll give her an edible box.

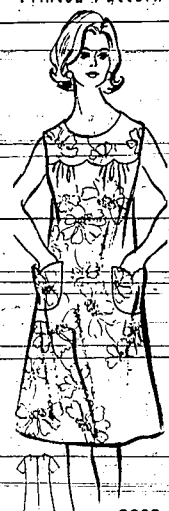

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 "Lasky" Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long self-addressed, stamped, #10 envelope.

Women try to better marriage

CHICAGO - During the past year, a growing number of women have been attending classes to learn, among other things, the four A's: accepting, adapting and appreciating. It's their husbands they are intent on accepting, admiring, adapting to and appreciating. Their purpose? "To make a poor or good marriage a superlative one," says Diane Blacker, an instructor of a Total Woman Course. Courses in marriage enrichment for wives interested in putting more excitement into their home lives may seem like an anachronism in these times of focus on women's liberation. Yet scores of women across the country are choosing to enhance their marriages by being treated like a queen, treat him like a king, gossip or "blame" the housewife - Marabel Morgan, author of "The Total Woman" book that prompted her marriage enrichment courses. There are 77 women in classes across the country who have taught the course to about 70,000 women during the last year.

Why are women interested in spending $15 for a four-session "course" of two-hour classes to hear such blarney credos as "The total woman is not just a good housekeeper, she is a warm, loving, humorous, she is not being a submissive sex partner, she is a stizzling lover, she is not just a nanny to her children, she is a woman who inspires them to reach out and up."

Some women say they want to find a way of peaking up a dull, loveless state. Others say they believe taking such a course makes them more aware of how other women are coping in their marriages, and they hope to exchange ideas. Still others say they are merely curious.

"I came from a broken home, and I'm determined not to have one for my children. So, I'm taking the course to learn whatever I can to avoid it," said Myra James.

"This course is putting the romance back into my marriage of 14 years," said Joan Kotach. "It's like when my husband and I were dating. After being together for several years, you tend to forget how romantic that was."

Miss Kotach said she had done her homework assignment from the previous class, which included organizing her time better so she could get spassed up for dinner.

His partner were playing standard American in which the single raise might be made with as little as six supporting points.

In their system the simple rebid to three spades - and Partner, I really should bid game, but am giving you leeway in case you raised me to two with almost nothing - Hence, North goes on to four. The hand fit perfectly. South has to lose two club tricks, but can ruff his last club. The six of diamonds is discarded on the queen of hearts and in spite of the spade finesse being wrong South makes his four spades.

ASKING THE GOODBYES

A reader from Winnipeg asks: Why do you open one club with this hand: A K 1 1 0 7 5 3 A 8 1

The is normal correct procedure and has been so for over 40 years. The idea is to facilitate rebidding while showing the level that your spade suit is just a four-carder. When you do open one club with this type of hand and partner raises to two clubs, don't rebid. Just pass.

Wood River Reservoirs area tour set July 29

GOODING The Sixth Wood River Reservoir Area WRRRA summer tour and steak fry will be held July 29 in Gooding County.

According to Don G. Frederickson, Wood River Reservoir Area chairman, each year the Reservoir Conservation and Development Council invites the interested citizenry to view accomplishments of working groups, local governments and individuals throughout the four-county WRRRA.

The inspection this year will be the new hydroplane launch growing facility at Gooding. This relatively new process produces the red delicacies during the seasons when tomatoes are scarce.

The new Gooding County landfill, also the 25th landfill offered by the Gooding County Commission will be closed in the closing of five community dumps and establish ment of a central landfill facility for all of Gooding County.

The new construction at Malad State Park near Tuffin will also be viewed. Park manager Rick Cummings says the Idaho Parks and Recreation Department hopes to open the facility.

The new sewer systems of Hagerman and Wendell will be discussed. Wendell's sewer additions are virtually complete while Hagerman's is just starting.

The Niagara Springs Steelhead Hatchery will be viewed. This hatchery is a vital part of the Idaho Fish and Game Department's charge of propagating and preserving steelhead runs in Idaho's rivers and streams.

The steak fry will be held in Dunsmuir Memorial Park at Niagara Springs. This park has been donated to the Gooding County Idaho Parks and Recreation Department and Idaho Power Co.

Many improvements at the Dunsmuir park could be made to this heavily used recreation area," Frederickson said.

The project has "good potential" for an R&D measure for construction of basic facilities.

The steak fry will be under the auspices of the Gooding Soil Conservation District, whose members have served as cooks for the event the past five years.

This year the menu will include T-bone and new york cut steaks, green salad, corn on the cob, hard rolls and beverages. A nominal charge of $2.00 will be charged to cover the cost of the steak.

Everything else is free.

The tour starts from the Gooding Courthouse at 115 1/2 N. in buses furnished by the WRRRA. The day's activities will conclude at about 7:30 p.m.

All interested persons are cordially invited.

Reservations should be made by contacting the county agents in Halsey, Earlfield, Gooding or Shoshone or at the WRRRA office in Gooding by July 29.

FAIRFIELD — Anyone wanting transportation to Camas Prairie from North Carolina can obtain it by driving the new school bus the district has purchased out to Fairfield.

Supt. Harold Stroud said the 54-passenger bus can be picked up at High Point, N.C., as soon as the factory notifies the district it is ready, hopefully about Sept. 1. The driver will be paid $500, the amount it would cost the school district if the bus has to be shipped. The driver would have to pay all expenses to bring the bus to Fairfield.

Purchase of the $11,096 vehicle was approved by trustees last week, Stroud said.

LeRoy Packham was re-elected chairman of the board at the July meeting Monday night. Top Spackham was named vice chairman and Beverly Gaskill was rehired as clerk.

Salvage firm finds rich buried treasure

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The 10 bronze cannon alone will bring about $20,000 each. But their discovery may be more valuable importance — $100 million in gold and silver, which has lain on the sea bottom for 323 years.

Treasure Salvages Inc. thinks it has found the Spanish galleon "Nuestra Señora de Atocha."

If it has, Treasure Salvages vice president Bleth McHaley says the treasure is waiting. "938 silver bars, each weighing 1,000 ounces, and more than 3,000 ounces of gold." In all, she says, worth more than $100 million.

The Atocha sank in 1622 during a hurricane. The whereabouts of its wreckage has baffled treasure hunters for centuries.

Recovery of the 10 bronze cannon in three days from the ocean floor 40 miles west of here has convinced the salvage firm it has found the Atocha. Ms. McHaley says the Atocha was the only ship in the Spanish treasure fleet in 1622 to carry that many guns.

In all, the vessel according to Spanish archives had a total of 18 guns. Discovery of the weapons was itself the "largest find of bronze cannon at a single site in the history of treasure hunting," says Ms. McHaley. Each cannon weighs about two tons and is worth about $20,000 in the current market.

Divers found five of them Sunday and Monday, and the other five Tuesday.

"A rival treasure hunter came down here to see the cannon and he said, 'It is all over but the accounting,'" Ms. McHaley said.

Two years ago the firm found $5 million in gold and silver bars and other artifacts nearby. But there were still doubts the find belonged to the Atocha.

"We were sure then it was the Atocha because markings on the three silver bars showed they were listed on the Atocha's manifest," Ms. McHaley said Tuesday. "But the find today absolutely confirms it."

The wreckage lies 50 feet below the surface in an area of sea bottom called "The Mud Puddle" by the 40 divers employed by the firm.

Although silver found in other wrecked treasure ships has been virtually worthless due to oxidation caused by sea water, Ms. McHaley expected the Atocha's silver to be in good condition.

"Everything we have found so far has been in good condition," she said. "That is because it was covered over by sand within 30 days."

The firm has been hunting treasure around Florida since 1963, but its only previous major find was off Vero Beach, where it located between $6 million and $10 million in gold, silver and artifacts from a 1715 Spanish treasure fleet.

FOR YEARS Americans have called old age the golden years but few in the younger generation have any insight into the health plight of the elderly. Debbie Done, a senior health science major at the University of Utah Salt Lake, had an arm, hand and legs taped to stimulate paralysis and other infirmities as she tried to perform a normal task of walking down a hall in a workshop that lets the participants experience the problems they will be treating.

Murtaugh revises policy

MURTAUGH — Members of the Mountain School Board have adopted a revised clothing policy for students.

In the future girls as well as boys may wear jeans to school, but they cannot be faded, frayed, ragged or bleached.

Girls cannot wear halter tops with bare midriffs and they cannot wear shorts to school. In the past, only boys could wear jeans.

No other changes will be made in the school policy for the coming year, school board members said.

In the July meeting, the board reorganized but re-elected all officers. Earl Wright, Jr. is chairman; Robert Alfred, vice chairman; Ralph Breeding, transportation chairman, and Jeannine Bennett, clerk.

School Supt. Florit Hulse was asked to go ahead with plans to resurface all of the asphalt playgrounds in the district. He will hire a firm on the best price basis.

The board also voted to rehire Mary Christensen as head cook for the school's hot lunch program.

Vaccine for tooth decay?

Young leukemia patient gets last wish

LONDON (UPI) — Scientists at the Royal College of Surgeons dental science unit say they have developed a vaccine that can prevent tooth decay.

The vaccine consists of dead cells extracted from bacteria which cause dental decay and it has been shown effective in tests on monkeys carried out over a four-year period.

A report published in the British Dental Journal said a group of monkeys were treated with the vaccine and then fed a sugar- and carbohydrate-rich diet designed to induce dental illness. The animals' teeth showed no sign of decay.

But a test group of monkeys that had not received the treatment suffered extensive dental problems after having the same diet.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nineteen-year-old Terisa Sadaukas realized her last wish today. She returned home to Chicago to die.

Doctors at Baltimore City Hospital in Baltimore, Md., told the young leukemia patient Tuesday she had only a few days to live and consented to her wish to travel home to Chicago.

But commercial airlines refused her passage, explaining that they were not equipped to accommodate passengers in her condition.

The prospects for returning home seemed bleak until Tuesday evening, when a friend told Lewis Emery of Rockford, Ill., of a television spot on Miss Sadaukas's problem.

Emery, 65, who operates Emery Air Charter, a firm which specializes in transportation of seriously ill persons, donated the services of a crew and an airplane.

The plane arrived at O'Hare International Airport early today and Miss Sadaukas managed to sit up for the reunion with her father, brother and four sisters who had gathered at the airport to welcome her.

"Somebody had to bring her home and we were the only ones who could do it," Emery said. "There was nothing otherworldly about the airlines' refusal to take her. They're simply not equipped to do it. They can't keep oxygen going on one of these wide-bodied jets with people smoking and all. There could be a big explosion."

allowed Miss Sadaukas's doctor in Baltimore to monitor her condition throughout the flight.

Miss Sadaukas's mother, Janina, was aboard the plane when it left Chicago and accompanied her daughter on the flight home.

Shriver okays support group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sargent Shriver, a Kennedy brother-in-law and Democratic vice-presidential candidate in 1972, has authorized formation of a "Shriver for President" committee.

The committee, backing the former Peace Corps director for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, was registered with the Federal Election Commission Tuesday by David Birnbaum, one of Shriver's law partners.

A spokesman for Shriver emphasized he was not formally declaring his candidacy yet but was authorizing formation of the committee. The committee so funds could be raised and spent on his behalf under the federal election laws.

The committee will be headed by Shriver's chairman in 1976, the Pittsburgh Steelers football team; former ambassador William McCormick Blair, and former American-Bar Association President Chesterfield Smith.

The committee treasurer will be Luvo Sanchez of Washington. Shriver, brother-in-law of President John Kennedy, was the first head of both the Peace Corps and the Office of Economic Opportunity and served as U.S. ambassador to Paris.

Officials check seafront bars

SOUTHEND, England (UPI) — Local government officials are touring the seafront bars of this south England holiday resort checking out the topless dancers, and all in the course of duty.

Holiday makers complained that the girls, advertised as "topless dancers," had too many clothes on and therefore contravened the trades description laws.

Consumer protection officials are visiting the bars to make sure that the customers are getting value for money.

Spy suspect charged

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sarkis O. Paskallian, arrested by FBI agents last month as an alleged spy, has been indicted on charges of photographing a top secret U.S. military document and transmitting it to agents of the Soviet Union.

Named as undicted co-conspirators Tuesday were two officials attached to the Soviet Mission to the U.N., Eduard B. Charcuyan, a third secretary for the mission from 1971 to 1974, and Abdulkhalk Gadzhlyev.

NH motorists should heed warning

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Motorists driving in New Hampshire had better heed the warning of Gov. Meldrim Thomson's top aide and treat the governor's car like a state police car.

Peter Carr, 48, of Hingham, Mass., who didn't, lost his New Hampshire driving privileges for 60 days Tuesday.

Carr said the governor's car was in the passing lane traveling at less than 55 miles an hour June 8 and blocked him when he tried to pass. Carr said when he reached Massachusetts, he passed on the right, which is legal.

Carr also made an impertinent gesture in Thomson's direction, "which he richly deserved."

Thomson filed an official complaint with the motor vehicle department saying the incident occurred in Manchester, N.H., 16 miles north of the Massachusetts line.

Improper operation of a motor vehicle at a hearing he did not attend because "it was the governor's word against mine and I felt there was no way I could win."

"Citizens should be aware that the governor's official vehicle is at all times operated by a member of the New Hampshire State Police. The officer is obligated to enforce the law in the same manner as though he was operating a standard state police cruiser while on routine patrol duty," aide Jay McDuffee said Tuesday. McDuffee said Carr's vehicle "was observed operating at 70 miles per hour in a 55 mile per hour zone while illegally passing on the right. He was duly signaled to slow down by the governor's state police driver. That Mr. Carr's irritation prompted an obscene gesture is regretted," McDuffee said.

Storms wash away lower food price hopes

By JEANNE LESEM

UPI Food Editor
Territorial rains and windstorms this week washed away any remaining hopes of lower retail prices for fruits and vegetables at the late summer peak of the harvest season in the Northwest—and several other areas of the country. Food prices in general continued to rise, although the cost of feeding a family of four in New York City last week dropped 6 per cent from the previous week.

The New York market basket figure is based on a weekly 38-item study by the Department of Consumer Affairs. It cost $77.41 last week, 35 cents less than that of the week ending July 4.
But in Dallas supermarket, the price of a pound of butter rose to $1.22 a pound, while chicken was as dear as meat in some cities covered by UPI's regular survey of basic food prices in the United States.

Hartford's top price of 99 cents a pound for whole broiler-fryer chickens was almost double the average of 58 cents recorded March 16. The low of 48 cents a pound in San Diego was 10 cents below the average. At the higher prices, about the only way to save money is by using the blade in combination dishes, such as main dish salads or hot entrees, including Spanish paella and chicken a la king.

Bargains in pork chops were equally hard to find: A high of $3.29 a pound for loin end chops was reported in Cincinnati, almost a dollar above the average. The low, 99 cents, was in Phoenix.

The butter price in Dallas represented a 26 cent a pound increase over the average during the base week last March 16.

US team to study Soviet crop

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A four-man team of American experts is scheduled to leave Friday for an on-the-spot assessment of the importance of Soviet spring wheat crop. Agriculture Department officials have confirmed. Government and trade circles, meanwhile, are awaiting reports from negotiations underway in Moscow between several private U.S. grain firms and Soviet officials who reportedly are interested in buying up to 10 million tons of American corn and wheat for the coming year.

Soviet grain crops currently are reported about 10 per cent below the initial Russian goal of nearly 216 million tons. The United States is hoping for a record corn crop of 153.6 million tons and a record wheat harvest of 59.5 million tons.

More questions about the final Soviet harvest estimated at 195 million tons of all grains by U.S. experts on July 9, were raised by an Agriculture report Tuesday. It said crop prospects west of the Volga river were improved by rains over the July 4 weekend, but "drought lingers and crops are suffering" in major spring wheat areas east of the Volga.

Agriculture officials were reluctant to furnish details of the spring wheat loan visas for the group were received. A spokesman did confirm the group plans to begin work in Moscow July 21 and tour Russia through Aug. 2.

Last summer, a similar spring wheat team went to Moscow but returned ahead of schedule when Soviet officials refused to permit visits to key growing areas. Soviet cooperation with a U.S. team which toured Russian winter wheat areas recently has raised hope the 1974 problem will not be repeated, a department source said.

Spring grain production normally makes up 64 per cent of more of total annual Soviet grain output.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: As long as you don't try to force anything of a romantic nature or where entertainment is concerned, you now have an excellent day and evening-to-go-after-what-you-want-in-a-direct manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Once your work is done, get out to new sites with interesting persons and have a good time. Investigate new outlets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Improve diet and feel better; forget social amenities awhile. Handle practical affairs. Be more objective in discussions with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give immediate attention now to any association matters. Listen to what partners have to say. Take care of prestigious civic matter.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can accomplish much today; be more cooperative with fellow workers. Take better care of your health. Aid a deserving person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into recreations that are uplifting now, but don't pick on others. Turn a new acquaintance into a good friend. Be patient.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Please kin more to have fun. Have fun tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to dash about and visit, which is good, as long as you stop worrying about what cannot be helped.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do whatever will improve your money matters. Sizer clear of that gossiping friend who could keep you from constructive work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Avoid petty higher-ups who're in a bad mood. Keep busy at your activities. Evening is fine for social activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Extend your influence far beyond present boundaries and meet interesting personalities. Get ahead faster. Plan schedule.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) See key persons who can be of real help to you while having a good time, as well. Avoid advisers now who're greedy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle credit and professional matters well. An associate could criticize, but this is because he has potential. Be patient.

"IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY," he or she will be deeply interested in whatever is of a philosophical nature, particularly where religious thought of other countries and people are concerned. So saint education along such lines and give courses in foreign languages, psychology and astronomy. Imports and exports also could be a fine outlet here.

"The stars and planets do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

what's what

L. M. Boyd

Harpis for a long time now have been associated with angels. Presumably, that's why any woman who plays a harp is automatically regarded as delicate, ladylike and pure even if she has the morals of an alley cat. Likewise, men who play the violin draw spontaneous respect as being honest, lustless and innocent of skulduggery, even if they're rabunbunious fiends. Or so observers our Love and War man.

IT'S POSSIBLE you didn't realize the pipelines of this country stretched end to end could be wrapped round the earth 13 times.

THAT POISONOUS SNAKE that bites the most people in this country is the copperhead.

BLIZZARD Q. "What's the Weather Bureau definition of a blizzard?"

A. Has to be below 20 degrees F. with wind blowing more than 30 m.p.h. And snow flying. Not necessarily snow falling. It can be blowing heavily. There is such a thing as a blizzard without fresh snow.

IT WAS NOT for nothing that Paul Hevere rode through the night crying "The man on the beach," not, for nothing. He billed the Massachusetts State House, for 10 pounds 4 shillings to cover his expenses. That was the equivalent to today's $23.59. He collected it, too.

BEER, RICE and sake is the standard diet for those heavyweight Japanese wrestlers.

VOICE What the voice of the prehistoric tyrannosaurus really sounded like nobody knows. But in the movie "Dinosaur," it sounded like the scratch of sandpaper plus the roar of a jet engine plus the crying of a baby, because that is what it was.

ABOUT SEVEN out of every 10 shooting crimes are committed with handguns. . . CONTRARY to the wide-spread canard, only one out of every 25 advertising executives suffers from ulcers. . . OUR LANGUAGE MAN is trying to find out where the expression "his nibs" got started in reference to this or that boss. . . THAT ATHLETE most likely to come from the largest families is the wrestler. . . EXPERTS on romance say fellows tend to marry girls with vocabularies similar in size to their own.

JUST ABOUT 300 people a year drop into New York City's Police Emergency Division to get tight rings sawed off their fingers.
