Perfect day draws big TF Fair turnout

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Writer

FILER — The "weather is perfect" for first day fairgoers, according to Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls County fair.

East End residents are being honored today. The opening day of the fair was the usual "last minute rush," but things are going well, Shouse said. He said he hopes today's attendance will reach 11,000. "There are an awful lot of people on the grounds already (9:45 a.m.)," Shouse said.

He said fair officials hope to increase this year's attendance by 2,000 from last year's total of 65,000 which was an increase of 5,000 from the previous year.

This year's fair theme, "A Time to Remember," is being carried out in special booth exhibits and fair activities.

Thursday is designated Twin Falls Day, traditionally the largest day of the fair.

Today's activities opened with the Angus and Junior Angus cattle shows. Also scheduled were Charolais and Shorthorn shows this afternoon. Horses will be judged and 4-H fitting and showing will be judged today.

Members of 4-H clubs will assemble at 7 p.m.

today for the grand march into the rodeo grounds. The Ruhl Junior Riding Club will be featured in pre-rodeo entertainment. The rodeo will begin at 8 p.m.

Early arrivals today watched the American Legion color guard raise the flag on the fairgrounds flagpole. Shouse said fairgoers are encouraged to watch the flag raising ceremonies daily at 9 a.m. and lowering daily at 5 p.m.

"There was a marked increase in Arabian horse entries," officials said. In recent years, there were just several entries, compared to 30 this year.

Shouse said that, in general, exhibits may be increased by a few, but there is no space to allow for a large increase. He said the fair board is keeping the picnic area clear so there could be no expansion in that area. He said the fair board has been given most of the land over to the highway, but it would be expensive to develop since a large ditch would have to be filled.

"He said he thinks the fair will eventually grow enough so some of the land will have to be built on, but said it won't be very soon. He said some of the land is occasionally used for parking now.

Thursday's events open with Quarterhorse performance classes and a polled Hereford cattle show. Most of the morning is scheduled for 4-H demonstrations and Appaloosa horse performance classes are scheduled for the afternoon.

A new event this year is a showing of exotic breeds of cattle, scheduled for 1 p.m. in the beef area. The Open to the World Steer Show is scheduled for 3 p.m. and Junior Hereford cattle will be judged at 4 p.m.

Shouse said he thinks the Open to the World Steer Show is one of the attractions responsible for the steadily increasing attendance. He said it is developing into a really large show with as many as 100 animals in a class. He said there is a nationally known judge which helps to draw more entries and spectators.

In judging of Grange booths, the Hollister Grange won the special theme award given by the fair board. Lucerne Grange best original arrangement and appearance award; Cedar Draw Grange, best quality of produce and fruits; and Fairview Grange, best artistic arrangements and general appearance.

Sandra Yoder, Filer, received first place and the T.T. Creed trophy in junior gardeners produce.

Oil compromise chances better

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today chances are "somewhat better" for a compromise on oil-price controls now than the Democratic leadership is trying to line up support for President Ford's plan.

Scott said the fact that congressional leaders are more amenable improves the chances for a plan to eliminate controls over 30 months.

The controls expired at midnight Sunday. Ford is delaying a veto of a congressionally approved six-month extension of the ceiling until Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield determines whether he can win support for a shorter extension followed by a compromise.

Mansfield has scheduled a meeting with the Senate Democratic Caucus Thursday to discuss the oil price issue.

Mansfield said Tuesday he will schedule a veto override vote for Sept. 10 so that if the compromise attempt fails Congress can work its will on the extension question.

Scott said after a meeting with Ford "my view is we will schedule a veto override vote for Sept. 10 so that if the compromise attempt fails Congress can work its will on the extension question."

Scott said after a meeting with Ford "my view is we will schedule a veto override vote for Sept. 10 so that if the compromise attempt fails Congress can work its will on the extension question."

Democrats can win backing for the compromise and if they can't it would reflect very seriously on the Congress' ability to pass needed legislation.

Scott said House GOP Leader John J. Rhodes said that during the August recess, their constituents complained about Congress' failure to pass an energy program.

Rhodes said "the people of the United States are tired of Congress' procrastination. I'm afraid we're headed back for the same swamp of indecision."

Scott said "I found a general disgust with Congress wherever I went" and people asking "why doesn't Congress get off the dime" on energy.

Democrats on both sides of the Capitol met Tuesday to discuss the energy possibilities. A source said prevailing sentiment was to try to override Ford's veto.

Gem FHA hikes home loan rate
BOISE (UPI) — Interest rates on Farm Home Administration home loans increased today to nine per cent.

State FHA Director, Willard Stevenson said the increase affects only those families with yearly incomes of over $8,500.

He said those families earning less than $8,500 annually will still qualify for federally-subsidized interest rates on home loans in communities with less than 10,000 population.

Gunman surrenders at Lake Tahoe
SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI) — A gunman who held off police for 17 hours in a tense siege in which one of three hostages was killed and a policeman seriously wounded surrendered early today.

James Locklear, 24, the older of two brothers who became enraged and drew guns during a poker game, climbed out the window with his hands up on a second-story balcony shortly after 8 a.m. after police fired tear gas into the apartment.

Israeli jets, guns pound camps
By United Press International

Israeli jets bombed a Palestinian refugee camp near the city of Tyre today, and Israeli artillery units pounded southern Lebanese farmsteads, Lebanese and Israeli military spokesmen said.

A Lebanese communique in Beirut said six Israeli fighter-bombers attacked the Bourghollyeh camp, scene of a similar raid on Aug. 28 and wounded seven civilians. The Palestine News Agency WAF said three persons were also killed.

Last stop for Henry in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger briefed skeptical Syrian leaders today on the details of the new Egyptian-Israeli peace pact and then flew home to Washington to report to President Ford, ending 15 hectic but successful days of shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East.

Kissinger's blue and white Air Force jet left Damascus at 4:30 p.m. for a refueling stop in London en route to Washington, later than he had planned.

In a brief departure statement, Kissinger said that he reviewed with President Hafez Assad "developments in the Middle East as I understand them and did so in a very frank and cordial manner."

Kissinger spent three hours and 10 minutes in the Syrian capital after his arrival from Jordan. He met Assad at the presidential palace for 75 minutes.

A U.S. official in Damascus said Kissinger apparently failed to win Assad's unconditional approval of the Egyptian-Israeli accord.

The official said "the atmosphere during the talks was restrained."

Joint TF law enforcement building dead

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Plans to build a joint city-county law enforcement building in Twin Falls has been abandoned.

The Twin Falls City Council Monday night voted to call for bids on a new police station for the city alone, estimated to cost about $500,000. The move effectively meant that the council has abandoned a proposal to build a joint facility with the county.

The vote to construct a separate police station followed a Monday luncheon meeting attended by the city council and the county commission.

In that meeting, county commission chairman Merl Leonard said it would be "safe to say it would take several years to make a decision" on the joint building.

Pressing by time and increasing costs, the city council decided to proceed with plans for a separate station.

The county has "tabled" its plan to build a second story on to achieve a joint facility.

Councilman Paul Ostyn said Monday night.

City policemen deserve more than the existing "rat hole" station, he added.

Councilman Leon Smith said any savings connected with the joint building would be "eaten up" by inflation and rising materials prices. If the project is delayed for several years, Mayor Winston Jones cast the only negative vote on the call for bids. He said he still has "hope that something will happen that will allow us to have a joint facility."

The county has "tabled" its plan to build a second story on the Judicial Building. Commissioner Ann Cover said it "only makes sense" to wait and see if property next to the Judicial Building will be put up for sale by the Twin Falls School Board. The school trustees recently decided not to sell a strip of the O'Leary Junior High School property for construction of a joint law enforcement building.

However, the school may be replaced in the future and the land sold.

Bids on the new city police station, to be located behind City Hall, will be opened on Oct. 10.

Bangladesh aide flays rich nations
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The finance minister of impoverished Bangladesh said today the world's rich countries have failed to keep their promise to transfer real wealth to developing areas and save the poorest nations from "utter misery" and starvation.

A.R. Mallik said some encouraging steps have been taken. "But we have yet to find satisfactory answers to the overall issue of the transfer of real resources to meet the needs of the developing countries."

Lisbon army wants Goncalves out
LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — The army today demanded the ouster of Communist-backed former Prime Minister Vasco Goncalves as armed forces chief and threatened to boycott a crucial meeting of the 240-man Armed Forces Movement to enforce the demand.

Army commander Gen. Carlos Fabiao handed the demand to President Francisco de Costa Gomes at a meeting at Bettim presidential palace last night, army sources said.

TF Council hikes pay

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council Monday night approved a 100 per cent pay raise for city councilmen and a 150 per cent hike for the mayor.

The pay hike, approved without discussion, will boost the councilmen's salary to $300 per month from $150 and the mayor's pay to $500 from $200.

Mayor Winston Jones and Councilman Henry Woodall voted against the raises.

Councilmen Leon Smith, Paul Ostyn, Stephen Lincoln, H. E. Cheney and Stephen Bancroft supported the raises. At an earlier meeting, Jones said he considered a council post to be a community service.

Smith, who proposed the pay hikes, said the raises probably would encourage more people to seek a council seat. Currently, only those who can afford to serve or are allowed to be away from their regular jobs run for the council posts, Smith said. The raises are effective Jan. 1, 1976.

Cycle crash claims life

ELBA — A Rupert man died Tuesday of injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident near here earlier.

David LaMar Wilcox, 58, died at Bannock Memorial Hospital in Pocatello. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. Saturday about two miles south of Elba.

Cassia County sheriff's deputies said Wilcox rode into loose gravel while making a left turn and lost control of the cycle. It went into a borrow pit and overturned.

Wilcox was taken to Mindoko Memorial Hospital, then transferred to Bannock Hospital that evening for more specialized treatment. (Obituary, p. 3)

'Rodeos are harder on men than on animals,' Sooner vet says

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
TIME News writer
FILER "Rodeos are harder on the men than on the animals," according to Dr. William E. Brock, dean of the Oklahoma State University Veterinary College.
 In recent years, rodeos have come under attack as being a cruel sport, and some efforts have been made to abolish it as a sport.

 However, he said, a large number of Humane Society directors, veterinarians and college professors have come forward to defend rodeo as a sport and to point out the safety measures and strict rules adopted by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association in the treatment of animals used in rodeo shows.

Bobbi Glasmann, president of the Twin Falls Humane Society, said the rodeo stock of RFA rodeo producers is well treated and steps are taken to protect the animals from cruel handling.
 She said the Cotton Rosser show at Filer is one of the best in the business regarding care of the stock.
 A representative of the Humane Society does inspect the rodeo stock and is present for the rodeo shows in the interest of the stock. Mrs. Glasmann said.

 Brock said the flank strap which is made with leather is covered with sheepskin. There are no sharp or cutting objects attached to it. If pulled too tight the animal will actually be immobilized and veterinarians used this method in the field for casting animals for treatment.

 A flank strap will not mark an animal back if it doesn't want to buck but it will cause a bucking horse or bull to kick higher.
 The electric prod is powered by flashlight batteries and produces five to six thousand volts of electricity but virtually no amperage, so the burning power of an electric prod is absent.

 The Rodeo Cowboys Association invites authorized representatives of the American Humane Association to be present to inspect all livestock facilities and the handling of animals. Any association member guilty of mistreatment of livestock, may be fined by the board of directors.

 Locked rewsels are barred for use on hardback horses or saddle broncs as are wooden paddles. A neck rope must be used and cut, may not be busted. The rope is to be removed from the calf's body as soon as possible after the tie is completed.
 The placing of fingers in lips, eyes, or nose of steers while wrestling is forbidden. No animal shall be beaten, mutilated or cruelly prodded. Animals for all events will be inspected before the draw and no sore, lame, hot or injured animal, or animal with defective eyesight shall be permitted to perform.

 No sharp or cutting objects in straps shall be permitted.

You'll be paying the bill, so let Congress know your choice!

Congress is about to make an important decision that could affect the cost and gas mileage of your car for years to come.
 Since you will be paying the bill, we thought you should be aware of two major alternatives being considered by Congress right now. They concern the control of emissions from cars. Should the standards governing automotive emissions be made even stricter than they are today? Or are they strict enough now? Take your choice.

Choice 1

The President and his Administration have evaluated the pros and cons of current law governing emissions and recommend that the standards for today's cars be extended for five years.

Results

- There will be continued improvement of air quality as new cars replace old cars. (Compared to pre-controlled cars, today's standards result in reductions of over 80% for hydrocarbons and for carbon monoxide and about 40% for oxides of nitrogen according to industry data.)
- Working with current standards, automakers can meet their individual commitments to the President and improve industry-wide gas mileage between 1974 and 1980 by an average of at least 40%.

Choice 2

Present Federal Law calls for even stricter emissions standards for 1977-1978 model cars than those required today. Some members of Congress favor these stricter standards.

Results

- Stricter standards would add only marginal improvement to air quality. (California is an exception. It has a special air quality problem and has its own special standards.)
- To our knowledge no auto manufacturer yet knows how to meet the 1978 standards on a mass production basis. Current "best effort" experimental systems however indicate the following fuel economy and cost penalties:
 - your gas mileage could be reduced by 5% to as much as 30% according to publicly stated company estimates.
 - the cost of your car could increase by an estimated $150 to $400 according to company estimates in statements to Congress.

Where do you stand?

These are the choices. We thought you ought to know what they are, and what they will mean to you as a customer. Your United States Senators and Representative should know what you think. Write to them.

Let your U.S. Senators and Representative know your choice.

Roulette of the seas

Ecological roulette is what a Massachusetts fisheries official calls the dangerous game being played with ocean resources as long as they go unregulated...

As the schooner was leaving Boston for its next display stop in New York, President Ford was coincidentally telling New Englanders of the dangers of the sea...

Certainly the Atlantic fishermen are aware. They want Congress to pass legislation declaring a 200-mile economic zone for the U.S. without waiting for a growing international conference...

President Ford and Dr. Kissinger are wisely giving the sea conference a chance to reach agreement, slow and unwieldy as the process is when so many scores of countries are involved...

Still the Kissinger position is a step forward, President Ford's remarks are welcome - and it can only be hoped that there will be additional public concern in the wake of the Norms & Glads...

The Law of the Sea Conference meets again in March. If it fails to join the scheduled state of a draft treaty, more nations are likely to join the 200-mile club on their own...

Smothered in soup

Secretary of State Kissinger's address to the United Nations, delivered for him by Ambassador Moynihan, may not entirely smother the slender cries for a 'New Economic Order'...

A. Creation of a Development Security Facility (DSF) in the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to stabilize export earnings of Third World countries through the business cycle...

B. Expansion of the World Bank's International Finance Corporation (IFC) to $400 million in capital from $100 million...

C. Creation of an International Energy Institute (IEI) to join the International Energy Agency (IEA) and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA)...

D. Expansion of the Consultative Group for International Agricultural Research (CGIAR)...

E. Create an International Industrialization Institute (III) to sponsor and conduct research on industrial technology...

F. Create an International Center for the Exchange of Technological Information (ICETI), as a clearinghouse for the sharing of ongoing research...

G. Creation of a World Food Reserve (WFR) of at least 30 million tons of wheat and rice...

H. Creation of a Consumer-Producer Forums (CPF) for 'every key commodity' to discuss how to promote the efficiency, growth and stability of its market...

I. Creation of a Two Billion Dollar Trust (TBTD) in the IMF to help poorer countries with balance-of-payments financing...

J. Creation of an International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD) with the United States shipping in $200 million...

Secretary Kissinger also proposed creation of an organization to coordinate and finance technological assistance in nonfood agriculture and forestry...

Fairly stiff price buys time of Mideast peace

WASHINGTON - In the Middle East, Henry Kissinger has negotiated a period of peace at a fairly stiff price...

Nothing has been settled, and the Congress is worried about the cost and dangers of putting American men and arms on the line...

Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader in the Senate, is uneasy about the whole deal. He feels that the accommodation between Israel and Egypt rests on promises of American men and money which the Congress knew nothing about...

and on Capitol Hill, but came to the conclusion that unless Washington tried to mediate in the struggle, there would be another war in the Middle East...

He is in the middle now, and will probably be blamed for whatever goes wrong in an uncertain and ambiguous compromise...

For most of the progress toward peace in the last generation, as he sees it, has been made by a series of untidy accommodations between the major powers, which nobody liked but agreed to...

Department, has always been for compromise. His argument is fairly clear. In the period between the two world wars, the statements of the major powers, if that's the right word for them...

He was dogmatic about Vietnam and often seems indifferent to the coming struggles in Latin America and the rest of the hungry world...

But on the larger questions of the Soviet Union, China, or the Middle East, which may risk another world war, he is cautious and plays for time.

That is what he seems to have been doing in the Middle East. He has established a close personal relationship with President Sadat of Egypt...

Kissinger may be right or wrong on this, but he has kept trying to prove his point with the approval of President Ford...

It is a mad sort of diplomacy. The old traditionalists in the Oval Office in Paris and the Foreign Office in London watch his flying shuttle with astonishment...

For given the predicament in the Middle East, and Kissinger's long and arduous efforts at conciliation, they have no practical alternative...

They can say he has not kept them informed, and has negotiated an agreement that depends on American promises he had no authority to suggest...

Pure elections, free speech case before court

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Supreme Court begins its new term a month hence, and shortly thereafter we will find out whether the spirit of the late Hugo Black still breathes in the marble halls...

Black was the greatest advocate of free speech ever to sit upon the Court. This term will bring one of the greatest free speech cases ever argued...

The case, brought by Sen. James L. Buckley of New York and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, challenges the constitutionality of the Federal Election Campaign Act that became effective in January...

Adopted by Congress in a spasm of post-Watergate morality, the act imposes sweeping restrictions upon elections to federal office. The act limits campaign contributions...

and it creates a Federal Election Commission with broad powers of enforcement...

The Buckley-McCarthy test case raises a number of constitutional issues, but the greatest of these go to First Amendment freedoms...

How does it go? he would ask. 'Ah, yes. Yes. It says 'no law.' Those are plain words, are they not? 'No law.' It says that Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech...

The mid Alabama eagle comes to mind again as one reads the Circuit Court's 118-page opinion of Aug. 15 in the Buckley-McCarthy case...

regulate the quantity of debate in the political arena. None not even Congress, can ascertain the proper quantum of public discussion of issues...

Political contributions, in Tamm's view, are a form of political speech. Whether such contributions take the form of money or services...

By the same token, how can campaign expenditures constitutionally be limited or restricted before in our history has Congress attempted to...

in the majority view, abridgments of free speech are justified in terms of a 'compelling interest' in pure elections...

The Supreme Court, as it now is constituted, has a mixed record on issues of free speech. It has ruled 5-4 that 'obscene' speech may be abridged...

One wishes Black were still around to help decide it.

Washington Star Syndicate

It will happen this way

Very well, then, here is what probably will happen. In October, Ronald Reagan will announce that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination...

Right now I propose to give the voters a chance to decide whom they wish the Republican Party to nominate...

A considerable effort will be made to transform what is really a routinely ambiguous political response into an act of free leadership...

Reagan's threat to Ford is that he was born with an uncanny ability to persuade; to marshal his arguments in a way that combines drama and didacticism...

Reagan's threat to Ford is that he was born with an uncanny ability to persuade; to marshal his arguments in a way that combines drama and didacticism...

That is the reason why Reagan cares less than the professionals think he should care about the matter of announcing quickly, and lining up his political rallies quickly...

It is hard to say. Everyone remarks the fairly sharp turn to the right of President Ford, and assumes the causal relation: he is attempting to occupy ground Reagan would otherwise occupy...

No, the agents of Ford will be, almost certainly, big-name conservatives. Roughly speaking, the same gang who traveled New Hampshire 12 years earlier in behalf of Barry Goldwater...

Here you have what will prove a poignant situation. Making the snows of New Hampshire, with Reagan going about the state making effective speeches, eight after night, accompanied by the governor, and backed by the Manchester Union-Leader...

KKK robes, cross burnings become ceremonial, wizard says

By BRUCE B. BAKER
ATLANTA (UPI) — Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton says members of the Ku Klux Klan now wear business suits, not robes, to conventions. Robes and cross burnings are mainly ceremonial.

Imperial Wizard James R. Venable contends the Klan is not much different from any other secret society, such as the Masons or the Knights of Columbus.

Klan leaders all insist they are working through the establishment for goals they think are needed to keep America great. They even have a candidate for president, Dale Rousch of Ohio.

BUK KLUX KLAN literature is as strident as ever. The campaign against blacks, Jews and Catholics has not changed.

For example, a book by Venable, last updated in 1974, states: "One drop of Negro blood in a white man's veins does not create another white man. It creates a Negro, forever kinking the hair, flattening the nose and thickening the lips. Also, it forever dulls the intellect."

The book says that while the Klan is not anti-Catholic, "it plies all Catholics in their foreign papal enslavement and prays that they may be free of it."

Luminae some of the enemies of the Klan in one sentence, Venable said: "We now know that the greatest group of salesmen we have for our cause are the Kennedys, the Martin-Luther-Kings, the Jake Javitses, the Goldwaters, and all the twine rabbits or Jews."

The Klan originally was founded in 1865 in Tennessee. Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, a Confederate Army veteran, was the grand wizard and as the organization spread to other states the state leaders were Grand Dragons, usually were men who had been prominent Confederate Army officers.

The purpose of the Klan in those days was to control former black slaves and to offer protection against white carpetbaggers trying to exploit the South during the days of reconstruction. It eventually was disbanded by Forrest.

The Klan was revived in 1915 at Stone Mountain, Ga., with a rally on property then owned by the Venable family. The original Klan had the respect of many in the South but the revived Klan and its offshoots have been condemned in all parts of the country.

During the 1920s it was connected with lynchings and whippings of blacks. Sometimes Jews and Catholics were targets.

It is estimated as many as four million Americans belonged to the Klan in both the South and the North during its high-water mark in the 1920s.

Venable says there now are 42 separate and distinct organizations known as the Klan in the United States. The two largest are his group, the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and the United Klans of America headed by Shelton in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Presidential candidate Rousch is the Ohio grand dragon of the United Klans and Scott Nelson, who had been nominated as the "Vice President" candidate but dropped out of the race last month to run for mayor of Houston, is imperial wizard of a group known as the Texas

Piery Knights of the KKK.

The present position of the Klan regarding Catholics indicates something of a disagreement.

Rousch said in December, as he announced his candidacy for president, that Catholics can apply for membership and that in Ohio more than 50 percent of the members are Catholics. He said this was a national program.

Venable disagrees emphatically. When asked about Rousch's statement, he said, "He was wrong. A Catholic, if he renounces his ties to the Pope of Rome, we accept him." But Venable indicated he thought his organization would rule out good Catholics, loyal to their church."

Venable, a 70-year-old attorney, later said of Rousch,

"He's probably playing politics. He's got it in his head to run for president. "First of all, the Klan can never get on the ticket. The Klan could never get a candidate elected at this time. I don't think George Wallace even has a chance to get elected President."

Between lines of Sinai accord

By RICHARD H. GROWALD
UPI Senior Editor
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (UPI) — Between the lines of the Israeli-Egyptian 10-month peace settlement:

— The United States, Egypt and Israel are not sure it will work. They hope it does. It is the only way all three could agree for blocking what Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says has been a snowballing movement toward a fifth Arab-Israel war.

Kissinger admits the courage of the Israelis in changing the policy of a generation, in trusting to diplomatic promises instead of solely on force of arms.

— Never forget how difficult it is for a small country to make decisions when it knows it cannot afford to make a mistake by joid the Israelis when they initiated the pact.

— Kissinger has developed an admiration for the courage of Egypt's President Anwar Sadat. No Arab world leader ever before talked compromise with Israel. Much of the settlement's success will depend on Sadat's ability to tame anti-Israeli extremists in the Arab world.

— Egypt dared to deal with Israel partly because supporting a war economy was leaving the country in what Sadat has publicly called "horrible" financial shape.

— Israel traded what Kissinger called "the tangibility of territory" for the "intangibility of diplomacy."

— Why? One reason was U.S. pressure.

The United States almost closed the spigot on arms-aid to Israel until Israel decided to try the diplomacy. It rejected when Kissinger finally sought a Cairo-Jerusalem pact—in March. The Israelis understood but did not like it.

— One criticism by past opponents inside Israel was that the nation was becoming a U.S. puppet.

Another reason: Israeli leaders came to accept the idea that time was not on their side. The Arabs were getting richer and better armed. Israel was feeling even a rise in pro-Arab or at least non-partisan Middle East sentiment in America.

— Russia stayed out of the Kissinger diplomacy because, say some observers, it could do nothing else. Egypt, once its partner in Middle East strategy, had never influenced Jerusalem into compromise as well as Washington could. Also, the Russians sent in, un-welcome and high bills for the aid Egypt needs.

— Israeli economic weakness would have demanded that the United States ante up annual aid in the billions with or without the settlement. The agreement may help in beginning to ease the war threat that causes Israel to devote most of its gold to arms.

— Kissinger would deny it

Complete abolition of EPA mandatory

Editor Times-News:

The complete abolition of the tyrannical and totally unconstitutional Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is a matter of the utmost priority. The constitutional scholar Dan Smoot summed up the necessity for this action in the following words: "We must resolve either to kill them or to let them kill us. No middle ground is possible. The federal regulatory agency cannot be abolished, but it cannot be tamed."

Created by an Executive Order on December 2, 1970, ostensibly to stop the pollution of our natural surroundings, the EPA was actually created by promoters of a worldwide conspiracy to serve some very different purposes. Among the real purposes of the EPA are the following: A To add dramatic reports in the news to increase the size, reach and extent of the federal government while seeking always to reduce individual responsibility over just as many private and business endeavors as possible. B Through the agency's extreme regulation of business and industry and the outright prohibition of certain essential activities to assist in achieving serious shortages of all types of materials and fuel as a part of a conspiratorial goal.

This would change our free enterprise system from one of overproduction, with a million salesmen trying to move the too much into one permeated by the communist philosophy of scarcity where there is always a production with a million ration clerks trying to divide the too little and thereby stagnating all progress in raising the standard of living. Such a transformation in absolutely essential, of course, to the eventual "comfortable" merger of the United States and Soviet Russia to a World government under the United Nations planned for us by one-worlders.

Because of the EPA's potential control over every aspect of our lives, Barron's

Eglin Viets find homes

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI) — Authorities say all 876 Vietnamese remaining at the refugee tent city here have sponsors who will take them before the center's scheduled closing on Sept. 15.

Air Force 1st Lt. Steve Phelan, center spokesman, denied reports that only 600 of the refugees still at Eglin have sponsors and the rest would be sent to Fort Chaffee, Ark.

"As far as we know, all of them here are sponsored. The only way any of them would go to Fort Chaffee is if the sponsorship broke down," Phelan said.

The Labor Day weekend saw 82 Vietnamese phased out of the tent city and put into the hands of sponsors. More than 700 refugees were sent to Fort Chaffee last week to join the more than 16,000 already there.

Animal shows slated

By MARJORIE LERMAN
Times-News Writer
FILER — Animal acts are always a favorite during the Twin-Falls County Fair and Rodeo and this year D. C. Copburn will present several of his very special ones.

Showman is a huge white brahma bull who weighs over a ton, and Frosty is a bouncy white Spitz dog who performs tricks with the bull. This act has been consistently chosen as one of the best animal acts in rodeo.

Shag and Clyde are two beautiful Old English Sheepdogs, and Speedy and Pedro Gonzales are the zany hand-riding rowdy monkeys.

Sheep dogs were used for herding sheep over a hundred years ago in England. They are rarely used for working dogs now, but because of their gentle disposition, they are popular as pets. D. C. Copburn has the only known working Old English Sheepdogs in the world being shown on exhibition.

Copburn, of Meridian, Okla., is one of the youngest and most successful animal trainers in the country and is known as "Mr. Showman" because of his ability to show all types of animals under any arena condition.

In addition to being well known for his animal training abilities, he has also earned a reputation as being one of the most entertaining comedy barrel clowns in rodeo today.

D. C. Copburn was a high school and college All Around Champion Cowboy contesting in three events. In 1961, he sustained a serious back injury while competing in the bull-riding. While mending, he began to give more serious thought to animal training.

He had begun to train, and slowly began to train some outstanding rodeo acts.

In addition to his trained animal acts, Copburn is a skater of professional quality, and he and his wife, Leticia, own and operate a skating rink at Gullifer, Okla.

Police clear 'Ted'

SEATTLE (UPI) — The smooth talking young man who lives in a town within 50 miles of Seattle is named Ted.

Although the police have checked him out thoroughly and say flatly he's not the guy they want, some of his townspeople cannot be convinced he is not the same Ted who wore an arm in a sling, playing a sympathy angle to lure young women to their deaths.

"My name is Ted all right," the young man told The Seattle Times. "But there's another one out there somewhere who has been complicating my life."

Ted said he was aware of the rumor that has been circulating around him for several months and has not allowed himself to be intimidated.

"I don't have a very high opinion of people who gossip," he said, "but I grew up in this town and I plan to stay here."

Ted said he wasn't surprised when he learned he was being investigated.

"This guy (the man sought in the murder mystery) is supposed to be reasonably good looking and a good talker," he said. "Well, I'm certainly both of those."

The remains of six of the missing women were found months after their disappearance, east of here in two remote wooded areas within several miles of each other. At the site where the remains of two women who disappeared from a state park the same day were found, the bones of a third person also were found. With no teeth to compare to dental charts, the third person has not yet been identified.

One of the two women who vanished from the park was seen by several witnesses talking to a young man who gave his name as Ted, wore his arm in a sling or cast and said he needed help to load or unload his sailboat.

The same sympathy incident later was reported used at Central Washington State College at Ellensburg. The remains of a coed missing from that campus were found along with those of three other missing college age women at the second site east of here.

King County police set up a special task force to tackle the baffling missing woman case. One detective said several young men who owned a Volkswagen and wore an arm in a cast or sling complained that "Ted" had ruined their love life.

"As for Ted in the little town within 50 miles of here, a task force spokesman said the young man had been cleared completely. Beyond that, the spokesman said there was little more that can be done to dispel the rumor that has complicated the young man's life."

Sunken island found

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A sunken island 2 1/2 miles from the Northwest Atlantic's surface was found by the research ship Glomar Challenger while drilling into an ocean ridge, according to the Deep Sea Drilling Project spokesman.

The submerged land mass was "by far the most deeply subsided former island" known in the world, the spokesman said in a newly issued report.

The Glomar Challenger was drilling into a ridge extending southwest from the Grand Banks off Newfoundland when it discovered the island. Rock cores brought up from the site, 13,665 to 19,895 feet, contained "shallow-water reef material showing evidence of rainwater solution," the report said. "Unlike the legendary Atlantis, however, this ridge began its long history of gradual sinking more than 105 million years ago."

Debate on economic aid draws attack from China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — China has attacked the United States and Soviet Union, accusing the two superpowers of plundering the developing nations and preparing for a world war.

In a speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Chinese Foreign Trade Minister Li Chiang called Tuesday for a worldwide revolution to smash the "spheres of influence" of the two superpowers.

LI CHIANG — new attack

He was one of the 12-day speakers during the 12-day U.N. debate on economic aid for developing countries. Britain and the Soviet Union were scheduled to address the assembly today.

Soviet Ambassador Yakov Malik, one of the Kremlin's "spiky" foreign ministers, was expected to reply to the Chinese attack.

British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan was to follow Malik in the "Commonwealth External Affairs" Ministerial Assembly. Callaghan was to speak this afternoon.

The Chinese minister said the Soviet Union and the United States "are the biggest international exploiters and oppressors today and they are the source of a new world war."

"To prepare for war, they are intensifying their scramble for sources of energy and raw materials, places of strategic importance, outlets for their surplus goods and markets for their commodities," he said.

He accused them of "establishing an expanding sphere of influence all over the world and stepping up their plunder and control of the third world."

Li Chiang said the times are ripe for revolution with the international situation "characterized by great disorder."

"All the basic contradictions in the world are sharpening," he said. "The factors for both revolution and war are increasing."

The Chinese official said "the peoples of the world want revolution" and "the great current of history is surging forward irresistibly."

U.S. delegation members began consultations with other diplomats on an assembly resolution embodying Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's sweeping economic proposals.

British Ambassador Ivor Richard hailed the U.S. program for economic reforms to bridge the gap between rich and poor nations as the "most, since the Marshall plan."

But a British delegation spokesman said, "This special session of the assembly is an important stage in a dialogue that is going to go on for perhaps 10 years."

NY eyes financial control board

HUGH CAREY — N.Y. governor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new plan to save financially distressed New York City from default would transfer to a state-dominated board of overseers virtually the entire administration of the city.

The complicated proposal, presented Tuesday by the Municipal Assistance Corp., is to be considered by Gov. Hugh Carey for submission to a special session of the state legislature Thursday.

The plan includes a more than $2 billion financing package to see the city through the end of November as well as recommendations for elimination of New York's $3.3 billion deficit.

Carey met with President Ford Tuesday to seek ways for the federal government to help the city. But White House spokesman Ron Nessen said, "The President made no promises, no commitments."

Nessen said Ford felt "federal assistance is not the solution to New York City's problem."

The governor said he was "encouraged" by the talks.

Under the MAC plan, an Emergency Financial Control Board — to be composed of the governor, the mayor, the state comptroller and a fifth member to be selected by the governor — would be responsible for preparing accurate estimates of New York's annual revenue.

The revenues would be placed in a special account, a provision which effectively puts the city on an allowance.

The mayor would be able to spend the money on any programs he deems appropriate as long as he does not exceed the board's estimate.

The board also would have the power to audit city agencies, review programs, approve all city contracts and proposed borrowings "for compliance with the financial plan."

City officials who permit the expenditure of funds in excess of authorized amounts would be subject to criminal penalties and removal from office by the governor.

In the event of default, the board would divert money to maintain vital services.

To accomplish this and give the board time to develop a rehabilitation plan for the city, creditors would be required to give the city 30 days' notice before plans to sue for collection. The city could file a petition for a 60-day stay of court action.

Mission unknown

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — The huge barge of the Glomar Explorer is back at its berth from sea trials off Catalina Island.

Both the barge and its mother ship left Avalon last Thursday night. In the Catalina trials, the barge was submerged for at least part of several days, but officials of Global Marine Inc., which operates the Glomar, would not say what the undersea tests were all about.

The football field-sized steel barge was built for undersea salvage. The vessels raised the nuclear submarine from the Pacific floor last year on a mission that eventually was revealed to have been sponsored by the Central Intelligence Agency.

After the first armed clashes of the Revolution, the patriots made one more attempt to settle their grievances with Great Britain by means short of war. The Olive Branch Petition written by John Dickinson, was adopted on July 5, 1775, by the delegates of the Continental Congress and carried to London by Loyalist Richard Penn. The petition reiterated the grievances of the colonists, but professed their attachment to the King, expressed the desire for a restoration of harmony and begged the King to prevent further hostile action until a reconciliation could be worked out. Penn reached London on Aug. 14. On Nov. 9 the Congress learned that George III had refused to see him or receive the petition. The World Almanac recalls.

Strikes spread across US

By United Press International — West Virginia coal miners ignored a general back-to-work movement and a $100,000-a-day fine today to continue their wildcat strike and Chicago teachers hit the picket lines, closing classrooms to some 530,000 students.

The 26,744-member Chicago Teachers Union went on strike against city schools today, closing classrooms to some 530,000 students in the nation's second largest city. Police were ordered to classrooms to protect staff members and non-striking teachers ordered to report for work even though students were told to stay home today — the first scheduled day of classes.

Sept. 22 is, no contract set. The union is seeking. Officials of New York and Los Angeles teachers unions also said there could be strikes in those cities later this month.

Stewardesses walked picket lines to keep National Airlines grounded for the third successive day in a dispute over an expired work contract. Contract negotiations were to resume today.

President Ford Tuesday signaled an emergency review panel in efforts to avert a strike by 85,000 railroad shopcraft employees. The board was given 30 days to report its findings. The major issue reportedly was work and safety rules.

Disident coal miners went back to work in half a dozen states but some 30,000 miners remained out in West Virginia, despite a $500,000 contempt fine against the union that amounted to the "right to strike" clause in the UMW contract.

Teachers in five Michigan school districts — four in the Detroit metropolitan area — walked out Tuesday in an action that affected nearly 80,000 students and 3,200 teachers.

The 4,000-member Boston Teachers Union voted over-whelmingly Tuesday to strike.

The strike-riddled Berkeley fire department was down to two trucks and the men Tuesday. A spokesman said strikers said "we're gearing up for a long strike."

Berkeley teachers went on strike today in a contract dispute.

The wildest strike had idled 60,000 miners. But United Mine Workers members returned to work in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Alabama, Virginia and parts of West Virginia.

Most holdouts were in southern West Virginia, where the strike started Aug. 11 and mushroomed into a nationwide crusade to adopt a "right to strike" clause in the UMW contract.

Industry future 'rosy'

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. is painting a rosy picture of the auto industry's 1976 prospects but says ending a prolonged industry slump depends on cooperation from Washington — and a little bit of luck.

President Lee Iacocca, launching the annual fall ritual of introducing the new models, said Tuesday Detroit "this coming year would pull out of its worst car sales slump since the Depression of the 1930s."

He said it might even turn into a boom year because the recession "is winding down," consumer confidence has returned and car prices — at least for Ford — are "VERY MODERATE."

He did not disclose the new prices, but said Ford would keep its increases "considerably smaller" than last year, when the price of its 1975 cars went up an average 4 1/2% at the introduction.

Nor did Iacocca predict how many new cars Detroit will sell next year.

General Motors Corp. Chairman Thomas Murphy recently forecast sales of $1.5 billion, more than two billion above what the four major auto companies sold this model year. But industry analysts called that an optimistic figure.

GM, Ford, Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. said Tuesday they plan to build about 678,000 cars in September, the highest number since last October. The figure is down about two per cent from last September.

Congress split over Sinai role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress appears sharply divided over whether American technicians should be sent into the Sinai Desert to monitor the new Israel-Egyptian peace agreement.

Returning to work after a month-long vacation, Congress must decide whether to approve a request by President Ford to allow the use of about 150 U.S. civilian technicians to guarantee that no violations occur under the interim peace pact.

Presidential press secretary Ron Nessen said Tuesday that based on a White House check with more than 30 congressional leaders in both parties, Ford believes Congress will approve sending the technicians.

The President was meeting with Republican congressional leaders this morning (in strategy for seeking that approval. This evening he goes to the airport to welcome Secretary of State Henry Kissinger back from his Middle East shuttle diplomacy.

On Thursday, Ford, and Kissinger will brief congressional leaders on the agreement and other issues.

Ford hopes Congress will give its approval within two weeks. Congress also returned to the continuing controversy over oil prices. Congressional sources said a major effort will be made next week to override President Ford's veto of a six-month extension of price controls.

Congressional reaction Tuesday to Ford's Middle East request came down hard on both sides of the issue.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said it would "set a bad precedent," and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said he had "serious reservations" about sending Americans into the Sinai.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a ranking member of the foreign relations committee, said use of American technicians in the Middle East should be made "subject to the express condition that the Americans will be withdrawn at once in the event of new hostilities."

However, both Sens. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., and Alan Cranston, D-Calif., argued there were "risks" in sending Americans into the war-torn region but that they were worth taking to insure a Middle East peace.

Voice of the law

Citizens' posse loses in clash with officers; 4 members jailed

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — The heavily armed members of the "citizens' posse" lined at the entrance to a field and declared themselves the law over 200 acres of tomatoes.

Four members of the group, which called itself "Posse Comitatus," later were arrested by a force of 15 to 20 sheriff's deputies Tuesday — but not before a sheriff's inspector was injured by a shotgun blast and the posse allegedly raised weapons at the deputies.

The "Posse Comitatus" said it had decided to make a stand for property rights by denying United Farm Workers Union organizers access to the property owned by Western Tomato Growers.

Leaders of the group said "Posse Comitatus" was the title of the historic bands of citizens gathered by a colony sheriff in the frontiers days to hunt down outlaws. They said they intervened in law enforcement activities only when asked.

They said they came at the request of the company, which was protesting a state agricultural labor relations board regulation allowing union organizers limited access to private fields.

Deputies arrived to arrest Francis Gillings of Tracy, Calif., a gas station operator and one of the posse organizers, for a traffic violation. A Seattle engineer and Gillings' shotgun fired, injuring the inspector, officials said.

Three other men, including a 14-year-old boy believed to be Gillings' son, allegedly pointed weapons at deputies and were arrested on charges of assault on a police officer.

In a telegram to state Attorney General Evelle Younger, the SHERIFF'S Inspector Dan Delfatto aims shotgun as he orders members of a citizens' posse to surrender in a tomato field after they allegedly raised their guns against deputies stationed to maintain order. Other deputies subdue posse members. The clash came as posse members prevented United Farm Workers organizers from talking with pickers. (UPI)

California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, urged immediate action to assist officials in San Joaquin County "to disarm vigilantes and prevent them from violating the lawful organizing rights of representatives of the United Farm Workers Union."

The "posse" included the manager of the ranch, at least one teen-ager and several pistol-packing women in beehive hairdos. Most posse members hefted shotguns, heavy bore rifles or handguns. One carried a .45-caliber automatic in a shoulder holster.

Many were shiny numbered "Posse Comitatus" badges. One man's leather gun belt was cinched up with a buckle bearing the inscription "Field Boss."

"We're law-abiding citizens," said a posse member who asked to remain anonymous. "We're just here to protect the property rights of this farmer."

Dockers load ship

By United Press International

Longshoremen lost a second court battle — and — finished loading a ship with 20,000 tons of American grain bound for Russia, and AFL-CIO President George Meany brought his vocal support for the dockworkers' grain boycott to a sympathetic audience today.

Loading of the freighter Anna M resumed Tuesday night at Reserve. Later, after federal judge Alvin Rubin in New Orleans ordered members of the International Longshoremen's Association to finish the job.

They had quit Sunday in protest against the grain deal, which the union and Meany said would raise food prices for American consumers.

Meany, in a letter to labor leaders, released Tuesday, accused critics of the boycott of trying to drive a wedge between farmers and labor.

The Anna M is the first Russian-bound vessel docked at a Mississippi River grain elevator since the ILA announced its boycott.

One-third of all U.S. grain shipments go through New Orleans, expected to be the departure point for a substantial share of the grain sold to Russia.

Polygamist bids for 36,000 acres

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Polygamist Alex Joseph says losing a claim to 2,000 acres of southern Utah doesn't bother him. Now he wants 36,000 acres — including the two proposed sites for the Kaiparowits Power Plant.

Joseph and 12 followers filed applications Tuesday for reclassification of the land in Kane County ten days before his original band of homesteaders were supposed to vacate their desert farms under terms of a federal court order.

"About 20 new homestead applicants moved onto their new land today and more are on the way," Alex told a news conference in Salt Lake City, held simultaneously with the filing of claims at the Bureau of Land Management Office in Kanab, Utah.

"We do not intend to homestead for a long time," he said. "We have no intention of leaving."

The 29-year-old self-styled religious leader, wearing a blue band around his braided black hair, was flanked by Carmen Joseph, one of more than a dozen wives, as he talked with newsmen.

"We've got about 90 new followers," he said. "Some of them have filed claims on Nipple Bench and Four Mile Bench."

The two locations are among sites being considered for the $3 billion Kaiparowits coal-fired power plant which has been in the planning stages for more than 10 years.

But Richard Fagen, BLM district manager, said Joseph's latest legal maneuvers would not change anything.

"The Secretary of Interior will have to reclassify the land for homesteading, and that will never happen," Fagen said. "The land is simply unsuitable for agriculture. He still has to be out by Thursday."

Joseph, leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Solemn Assembly, and about two dozen families had claim earlier this year to an area in Cottonwood Canyon, midway between Bryce Canyon National Park and Lake Powell. They built roads and shanties and planted a crop of potatoes along the Paria Tusher.

But U.S. District Judge Aldon Anderson ruled Aug. 3 that the land was not open to homesteading and gave the squatters 30 days to clear out.

Agent-Oswald link never considered

HOUSTON (UPI) — A former Texas attorney general says the Warren Commission apparently relied on the integrity of the FBI and CIA and did not pursue a possibility agents may have had a connection with Lee Harvey Oswald, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Wagner, Carr, wrote a letter to J. Lee Rankin, general counsel for the Warren Commission, investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, suggesting that every FBI and CIA agent in the Dallas area before Kennedy was slain Nov. 22, 1963, be interviewed under oath to see if there was any link, the Chronicle said in a copyrighted story Tuesday.

Carr said his letter was never acknowledged and he has no indication his suggestion was ever followed.

"At the time I thought the suggestions were basic, very elementary. There were no doubts in my mind that they (Warren Commission) wouldn't do these things," Carr told the Chronicle.

"All along, I kept assuming they were interviewing all sorts of FBI and CIA people, from top to bottom. There was no way to double check, though, to see if they were."

Bargain law eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is on the verge of unveiling legislation intended to bring some order to the chaos of collective bargaining in the construction industry, sources said today.

The bill is the product of talks between Labor Secretary John Dunlop and representatives of labor and management. Two of its features include national oversight of contract disputes and a brief cooling-off period before a strike.

Industry sources expected the bill to be unveiled either today or Thursday, but spokesmen in the Labor Department refused to confirm those predictions.

Labor appeared ready to support the bill, which will strengthen the hand of national construction labor leaders. But a spokesman for the Associated General Contractors, representing about 8,500 contracting firms in talks with Dunlop, refused to comment until the measure is made public.

AFL-CIO President George Meany indicated last week that he and the AFL-CIO construction unions approve of the bill.

Crime theft key

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army says old-fashioned crime, not politics, is the underlying reason for most of the weapons thefts from its arsenals.

Most of the Army weapons thefts are relatively simple: A lock is broken on a weapons room at a National Guard armory or other Army installation. Ammunition, rifles and pistols are stolen. The M16 and the .45 pistol are the most popular guns stolen. The reason, money.

A spokesman said Monday the Army's Physical Security

Burley studies property value

BURLEY — Property values dropped in north Burley this year while increasing on the south side of the Snake River, the Burley City Council heard Tuesday night.

City Clerk F. E. (Bud) Brinegar told the council he had assessed the assessed valuation figures from Cassia County by phone earlier Tuesday.

Those for the Minidoka County portion within the city limits had already arrived by letter.

The council approved the figures and set the amount of taxes to be raised in each of the two sections of the city, but voiced its unhappiness at an $1,100 drop in valuation in the Minidoka County portion of the city.

The Burley council already had determined the total general ad valorem taxes to be raised at $304,000.

Tuesday night the council ordered $287,888 of it to be raised in Cassia County, $16,112 raised in the small Minidoka County area.

Jerome planners meet Thursday

JEROME — The Jerome Planning Council will meet Thursday in an effort to decide on a proposal to hire a professional planning firm.

The planning council members met last week and played a decision on their recommendations to the county commissioners concerning completion of the Jerome County comprehensive plan and the hiring of a planning concern.

The planning council has heard two proposals from professional firms during the past month. Jerome county commissioners say they are considering hiring a professional firm to wrap up the plan but want planning council members to have a say in the decision.

The cost of a professional firm ranges from $15,000 to $36,000 depending on which firm the county hires and what degree of services they request. Forrest Hymas, chairman of the planning council, said they are only considering two firms' bids — Marsden and Associates, a Boise planning firm, has outlined a six-months proposal for completing the county plan at a cost of $15,000. Forrest said the other firm, J-U-B engineers, Twin Falls, proposes a varied figure, based on the amount of help needed by the county.

Promoters eye bigger fete next year

NAT-SOO-PAH — Pat McCurdy said today he and other promoters of the Country western musical festival Labor Day weekend hope to do it again next year on a bigger scale.

"I plan to meet with the county commissioners and sheriff to work out details well in advance and for a bigger and even better event," he said.

McCurdy said he believes final attendance figures will show between 3,000 and 6,000 persons attended.

Sheriff Paul Corder earlier had estimated attendance at 1,000.

McCurdy sold more than 1,000 tickets were sold in advance in Boise alone and about 700 were sold at the gate at the swimming resort Saturday.

He said there were no major problems, although the Tar-water group, star performing organization of the festival, stopped 30 minutes short of its contract when one or two people from the crowd began heckling them by climbing on the stage and arguing.

McCurdy said the "Brother's Speed," a motorcycle group from Boise, assisted with the site security and also cleaned up all empty beer cans and other debris and trash after the festival concluded.

DEAR ABBY: I am 62 and the wife is 69. I like old-time dancing, polkas, schottisches and square dancing. My wife never did care much for dancing so she quit going with me about 15 years ago. She is not handicapped in any way and could dance if she wanted to.

My problem: I would like to go stag to a public dance once a week. It's great fun and good exercise. My wife is very much opposed to my going to a dance without her—yet she refuses to go. Is that fair?

To me, going to a dance once a week is no more wrong than playing poker or bowling. Old-time dancing is not the romantic kind where partners hang on each other in close embrace. I maintain that it's healthier to dance than sit around playing cards.

I do not intend to get involved with other women. Am I being unreasonable?

C. IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR C: Not I'm convinced. Now all you have to do is convince your wife.

He wants to go stag

DEAR ABBY: I agree—one is as old as he feels. But at 69, not many people are feeling me lately. What an age in life to call a "sexagenarian"!!!

DON IN PASADENA

DEAR ABBY: I'm another college graduate who would feel like an idiot asking this question of anyone else, so I'm asking you.

When a person has his eyes examined and is told that he has 20/20 vision, what do the numbers signify?

ANOTHER DUMMY

DEAR ANOTHER: You're no dummy. Very few people who are not in the profession of prescribing eye glasses know the answer. If didn't, so I asked.

20/20 vision means that what you see at a distance of 20 feet, a person with normal vision sees at 20 feet.

20/40 vision means that what you see at 40 feet, a person with normal vision sees at 20 feet.

This method of expressing visual perception does not relate to the eye's need for eyeglasses. The degree of sharpness WITHOUT eyeglasses describes the ability of the unaided eye; while the degree WITH CORRECTION (wearing glasses) states the best vision obtainable.

An eye without corrective glasses could be 20/100, but with glasses, 20/20. However, even with the best corrective glasses another eye may be capable of seeing only 20/60. Is that clear?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hailey miss, Peterson exchange promises

HAILEY — Pamela Gaye Buttram and Dennis Erwin Peterson, both, were married in a 4 o'clock ceremony Aug. 16 at Community Baptist Church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Everett Berrey in the presence of family and friends. The church was decorated with double candelabra holding apricot tapers set off with arrangements of deep apricot gladiolus and blue star flowers. Ivory satin bows accent the high neckline. Layered cutleeves of net featured flowerlike embroidery and imported satin-organza followed an A-line skirt down to a ruffled border of nomenclature and pearls.

Imported matching nomenclature lace cascaded to a chapel train.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buttram, Hailey, and parents of the bridegroom are Erwin Peterson of Sacramento, Calif., and his late wife.

Miss Buttram, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of English net, imported satin and organza. Embroidery traced a cameo on the net bodice to accent the high neckline. Layered cutleeves of net featured flowerlike embroidery and imported satin-organza followed an A-line skirt down to a ruffled border of nomenclature and pearls.

Imported matching nomenclature lace cascaded to a chapel train.

Loss of one's job could be hazardous

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Losing your job may be hazardous to your health, according to research done at Brown University.

A typical scene: The average American loses his job, the resulting tensions and fears rattle for days. Finally he is rushed to the hospital with chest pains. He may have suffered a heart attack.

But a leading physician says it is possible the man's condition is all in his mind—that he has succumbed to psychosomatic illness.

Dr. Sidney Cobb, professor of community health and psychiatry at Brown, says increasing numbers of men are being brought to hospitals thinking they have just had a heart attack. In reality the pains are being caused by a buildup of emotions, fears and desires.

Cobb recently was elected president of the American Psychosomatic Society, Inc. He says the illness also causes above average incidences of hypertension, peptic ulcers and diabetes among men who have lost their jobs, as well as members of their families.

"The present recession has triggered additional psychosomatic illnesses, much of it due to job termination," he said.

In 1963 he made a study of 100 urban and rural factory workers who were anticipating losing their jobs. One Detroit auto paint company announced it would close in two years. That announcement, Dr. Cobb said, created a "period of anticipation" in which the workers frequently worried about their jobs and where to find new ones.

He compared 100 long-term workers about to lose their jobs with 74 in the same age group whose jobs were safe. The incidence of suicide was 30 times the national rate among the men who were losing their jobs.

Buckendorf will be doing graduate study at Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis.

from one to five notrump as an all suit Stayman grand slam invitation.

North has only 18 points opposite his partner's notrump opening, but he has two four-card minor suits and is definitely interested in seven. If South can show a four-card fit for either of them.

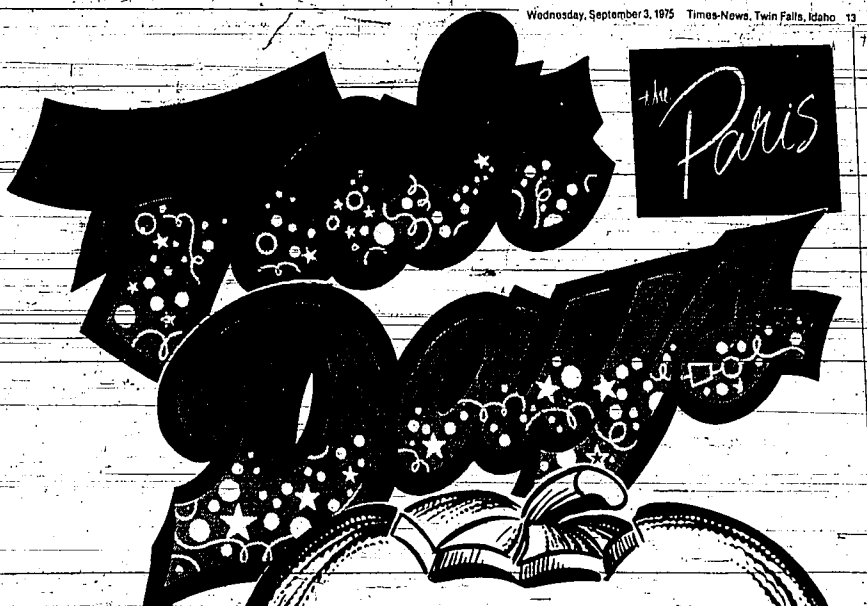

When South does bid six clubs, North is off and running. His six-diamond call announces that he has grand slam interest. South's six-spade bid accepts the idea of a club grand slam. South has a mere 18-point notrump but his doubleton diamond looks like money from home. Hence, his six-spade bid. This is enough for North. He bids seven clubs and South has no trouble making the club grand slam. On the other hand, there are only 12 tricks at notrump.

All suit Stayman, as the name implies is a form of the Stayman convention in which the response is in the cheapest decent four-card suit.

Most modern experts use the jump from one to four notrump as a slam invitation, the jump from one to six as a stop bid not that they aren't stopping from one to three as good, but pretty high — and the jump not forcing.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I am a girl of 16, soon to be 17 in two months. I live in a very small town where something like this can get around, and you know what would happen?
Problem: I have gonorrhea, and I can't go anywhere to get help because I don't want to embarrass anyone. I read somewhere that gonorrhea is more serious in women, that they can go blind. Please help me, because I don't know what to do. No Name, Please.
Here's what you have to do. You have to gather every bit of courage you can and go to a doctor immediately. The consequences could be quite serious for you if you delay. The infection can spread quickly to the Fallopian tubes and other areas of the body.
It could even cause you to become sterile. Otherwise VD is no respecter of sex.
Scary? You bet, and I hope I've scared you and other young people with your problem (the numbers must be astronomical from recent reports) into seeking prompt treatment. Young girls should also know that while the pill, which many of them use, may be a dandy contraceptive, it will not prevent VD.

Girl has small-town problem

As a matter of fact, there is evidence that the pill can, in fact, make women more susceptible to gonorrhea. It does this by changing the vaginal membrane chemistry, making it more hospitable to the germ. The best method to assure women they will neither become pregnant nor contract VD in intercourse is the use of the condom by their partners.

But remember, some discharges in young girls, that may appear to be VD, caused need not be at all.

Although your community is small, you should see a doctor. These problems are handled very confidentially.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I would like to know how food cooked in wine or flavored with an alcoholic beverage would affect an alcoholic who is taking the drug Antabuse, or an alcoholic who is trying to maintain sobriety without any drugs.

I like to entertain by cooking, and many of my best recipes call for some alcoholic beverage addition. — Mrs. J. G.

Much gourmet cooking does involve such things as marinating with wine sauces. Most of the alcohol probably disappears with cooking, but in recipes that don't call for cooking it does, of course, remain. In either case, because of the nature of the drug you mention (it causes violent symptoms in the presence of alcohol), I would recommend that you exercise prudence and not use wines, etc.

If such a drug were to be prescribed, it would be done with careful instructions about this.

I am sure you can gather some succulent recipes that will turn your friends on rather than your husband. It does not require much alcohol to upset the Antabuse user or tip the abstainer from his sobriety.

It could be like hiding some strawberries in a recipe and serving it to a person who has a violent allergy to that fruit.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I have been taking estrogen supplements for over a year. At age 77 do you think they are of any benefit to me? — Mrs. A. That is very nearly impossible to answer for me.

The obvious question is why were you placed on the estrogen therapy to begin with? If, for example, it was for post-menopausal estrogen-deficient vaginitis, then the effectiveness of the estrogen use would dictate future use.

A general rule is that the dosage be the lowest possible one to produce the desired effect. Discontinuing the estrogen completely would quickly tell you how effective it was. Perhaps at some future date your doctor will suggest an adjustment in your dosage. For now, continue with your prescribed dose as long as it is of help to you.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened lower Wednesday... In moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 2.27 to 821.42 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 259 to 132, among the 549 issues crossing the tape.

A major concern of Wall Street was the prospect of New York City defaulting on its debts. A bill has been proposed to suspend the bondholders' first lien rights if the city defaults.

Many on Wall Street were discouraged Tuesday by the Treasury Department report the federal government registered a $1.05 billion deficit in July. A short time before, Treasury Secretary William Simon had said he was concerned the government had done too much, not too little, to stimulate the economy.

Idaho down, Maines up; meats gain, grains off

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. CHICAGO — Idaho was down, Maines were up. In other trading on the commodity futures exchange, Tuesday, meats were stronger, grains were weaker, and metals plummeted. The May delivery of Idaho russet potatoes closed limit down at 13.43 per hundredweight. Pork bellies skidded to limit lows during the day but recovered to 86 cents in closing at 80 points down. Bellies followed grains but there was pressure from locals and profit taking. Wheat gave ground under the influence of other grains. production for late maturing corn and soybean fields. The world sugar market plunged, with limited October down 1.09 cents to a full cent. Volume was 3,111 lots. Egypt's low tender prices were given as the principal cause.

Contest not for squeamish

RUSSELL SPRINGS, Kan. (UPI) — The annual cow chip tossing contest in the official and permanent cow chip throwing capital of Kansas is not for the squeamish. The contestants, including Gov. Robert Bennett, had to choose the chips by hand Sunday from a wagon loaded with manure. Gloves are not allowed. "We don't use any gloves because that would lose the effect of the whole thing," said Mike Baughn, president of a local historical society sponsoring the event. "We use cow chips because there's an abundance of them around here and because they're cheaper than throwing something else." This was the first time for the contest to be held in the official cow chip throwing capital of Kansas. Baughn said the contest was held in Russell Springs last year, but that was before the Kansas legislature designated the town as the official spot. "It's good for our tourists to have something like this," Baughn said. "It's something unique and unusual. We don't feel bad about it."

Bennett threw his chip 90.6 feet and took third place in the VIP division. It was the second time the governor appeared at the contest. Last year he threw a cow chip, but entered too late to be officially counted.

Filming efforts pushed

BOISE (UPI) — The Department of Tourism and Industrial Development wants to increase the use of Idaho's mountains, plains and free-flowing rivers by movie companies.

Department director Lloyd Howe said today his agency is going to give more attention to marketing Idaho's scenery for movie locations.

He said the Walt Disney Studios recently completed a film in southern Idaho and were happy with everything that went on in Idaho. They will be looking around for more sometime when they get a script that fits.

Howe said the department has been doing a little of that type of promotion and "we are going to continue our efforts." "We have a couple more hanging out there on the string, trying to get some decisions."

Using "the state as a movie location" is basically pretty good business," he said. "Whether you get a credit line or not, it can have some publicity effects."

Idaho offers a quality location for making movies "because of the variety of terrain and background."

"One of the things the guy from Disney wanted me about Don't tell somebody you have beaches," acen beaches' because that's something we don't have. But we do have a good variety of mountains and rivers and deserts."

"Particular free flowing rivers are getting harder to find. One hooker into that is they have to be pretty accessible, because of costs."

The Disney crew shot scenes at Mountain Home, along the Snake Fork of the Boise River, at the Bruneau sand dunes, Shoshone and Twin Falls at the Hansen Bridge. Howe said the "biggest problem for Idaho is getting exposure to the location sites/seeker types, the directors and this type of thing."

Giants homer by LA Dodgers 7-3

By United Press International
 Von Joshua, Willie Montanez and rookie Johnnie Lemaster homered to support Ed Halpern's 12-strikeout performance Tuesday and give the San Francisco Giants a 7-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Joshua belted a two-run homer off starter and loser Don Sutton, 16-12, in the third and homer, playing in his first big league game, tied a record held by 42 others when he hit an inside-the-park homer in the fourth in his first at-bat.

Montanez put the game out of reach when he homered in the sixth.

In other NL action, Montreal shaded Philadelphia 4-3. Pittsburgh pounded New York 6-4. Cincinnati routed San Diego 10-4. Chicago downed St. Louis 6-3, and Atlanta defeated Houston 4-1.

Jim Dwyer doubled in two runs in the third inning to lead the Expos over the Phillies and hand Philadelphia its fourth straight loss. Dennis Blair picked up his eighth victory against 14 defeats with relief help from Woodie Fryman and Dale Murray. Larry Christenson, 9-5, took the loss. Rennie Stennett's homer capped a three-run, fourth inning that snapped a 4-4 tie and gave the Pirates a victory over the Mets. The win increased Pittsburgh's lead in the NL East to four games over St. Louis and five games over third place New York and Philadelphia. Dave Kingman hit his 23rd homer for the Mets.

Tony Perez became the Reds' all-time runs-batted-in king when he drove home Cesar Geronimo during a seven-run fifth inning uprising which gave Don Gullett a victory over the Padres. The RBI was the 1,010th for Perez, an 11-year veteran with the Reds and topped the previous mark 1,009 by Frank Robinson. The victory was the eighth in a row for Gullett, now 12-3.

Two errors by second baseman Larry Lintz and an error and balk by pitcher Lynn McGlothen allowed the Cubs to score twice in the seventh inning and defeat the Cardinals. Ray Burris, 12-10, went 8 2/3 innings to pick up the win. Reliever Bruce Dal Canton retired the heart of the Houston batting order with the bases loaded in the eighth, tending to preserve a victory for Carl Morton and the Braves. The save was the first for Dal Canton this year. Morton, 16-15, pitched his fifth straight win over the Astros this season.

Major golf winners play "World Series" tourney

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Next weekend's nationally televised World Series of Golf, for winners of the Masters, U.S. Open, British Open and PGA Championship, was almost the "Jack Nicklaus Invitational."

Nicklaus, who has won the Series four times in the 14 years it has been played here at Firestone Country Club, captured two of this year's major tournaments, the Masters and PGA, and came within three shots of possibly winning the other two.

Jack finished two strokes behind U.S. Open winner Lou Graham, who beat John Mahoney in a playoff, and was only one stroke behind British Open champion Tom Watson, who downed Australian Jack Newton in an extra 18 holes.

Graham, Watson and Tom Weiskopf, winner of the first alternate tournament, the Canadian Open, will join Nicklaus for the 36-hole Series Saturday and Sunday.

"Let's face it, any time you get the winners of golf's major events together, nobody wants to lose," said Nicklaus, who won the PGA title at rugged Firestone just three weeks ago with a four-under-par 276.

"I'll be happy to represent Canada," said Weiskopf, the 1974 Series winner by three shots over Nicklaus who got into this year's event without winning a major tourney. "I'm just delighted to have an invitation."

Graham and Watson will be making their first Series appearances. "My game has been very solid this year," Graham said, "but I have struggled a little since the Open. I was under the weather for about three weeks, but hopefully I'll have it all together for the World Series." This is the last year for the Series at Firestone and also the last year of the four-player format. Next year's event will have as many as 28 players in the field.

Marshall finished for year

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mike Marshall is all finished for the year, with another rib injury, and he may be finished for good with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Marshall, who won the 1974 Cy Young Award at the National League's best pitcher after appearing in a record 106 games and winning 15 of 27 decisions, suffered his latest injury while warming up for a stint against the New York Mets last Sunday.

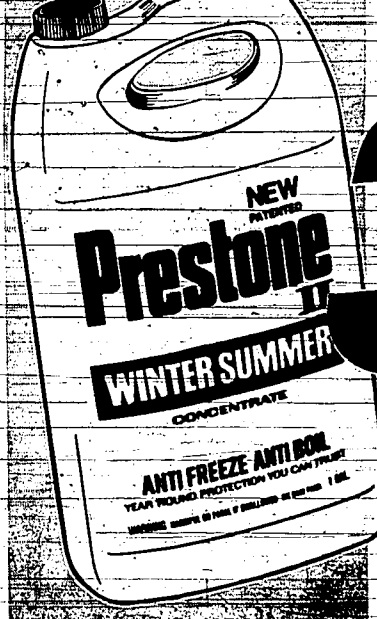

After being examined by the Dodger club physician, it was decided he shouldn't pitch again this year. Marshall suffered a similar injury at the start of the current season and was on the shelf for about six weeks.

The Dodgers, who paid the ace reliever an estimated $165,000 this year, reportedly put Marshall on the waiver list in June but no one claimed him. The Boston Red Sox, looking for relief help down the stretch in their fight to win the American League East, inquired about Marshall last Sunday but that was a few hours after he hurt himself.

Nastase, Vilas make US Tennis quarterfinals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Peace is on the Nastase's mind these days. The peace is what Guillermo Vilas has practiced all his adult life, but there was no peace for their opponents Tuesday as both produced brilliant shotmaking to enter the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Vilas, the second-seeded Argentine, defeated Czechoslovakia's Jan Kodess, the 1973 Wimbledon champion, who has twice been runner-up here, 6-2, 6-0, 6-0, and Nastase, champion in 1972 and seeded 8th this year, removed Raul Ramirez of Mexico, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, 6-7, 6-3, in the tournament's first five-setter.

Also through to the last eight were the 22nd-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, over Francois Jauffret of France, and the unseeded Chilean, Jaime Fillol, who defeated Germany's Karl Meiler, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

In the quarters, Nastase and Orantes clash, while Fillol meets Vilas. In the top half of the draw, it's defending champion Jimmy Connors against the unseeded Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia, while Bjorn Borg, the fifth seed from Sweden, meets another unseeded player, Eddie Dibbs, the other surviving American.

"Peace to everyone here," Nastase told viewers after his 3-hour-20-minute victory over Ramirez, the 22-year-old 11th seed.

"It's fantastic I played like this," said the 29-year-old Romanian whose fiery temperament has got him into trouble with "authorities" on both sides of the Atlantic.

Nastase currently is under investigation — by the International Tennis Council after a complaint by the director of the Canadian Open, who claims that his final match against Orantes three weeks ago following a disputed line call.

"I've had to concentrate twice — on beating my opponent (Ramirez) and on behaving. I can't scream or

Hunt permit odds

If controlled hunt permit applicants have not received their permits in the mail by now, it's safe to say they did not draw.

The computer drawing was held in Boise on August 1, after more than 26,000 applications were received for the Department of Fish and Game drawing.

Odds on drawing a permit this year ranged from a low of four to one to a high of 166 to one. The four to one odds were on deer, and for moose, it was 166 to one. On elk, the odds were 15 to one, 17 to one on antelope, 44 to one on sheep, and 23 to one on goats.

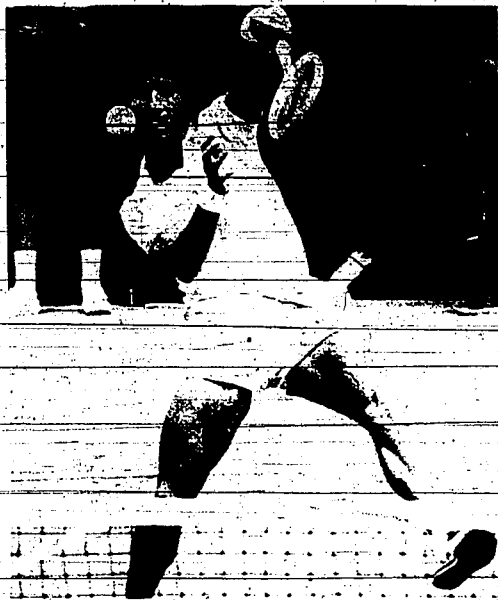

Bob Lee to rejoin Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Vikings Tuesday announced that veteran quarterback Bob Lee, free agent, will rejoin the club by starting his new career with it in 1976.

"Vikings spokesman said Lee and Minnesota general manager Mike Lynn reached an agreement after two days of negotiations.

Formal contracts have not been signed, the Vikings said, pending sanctions from the national football league and attorneys for all parties concerned.

Lee, 29, was drafted by the Vikings in 1968 and spent his first season on the last squad. He was a member of the Vikings active roster from 1969 through 1972. In 1973 he joined the Atlanta Falcons as their regular quarterback.

Moonwatch wins top honors

RUPERT — Idaho Moonwatch combined the top jockey and the top trainer to win the Minidoka County Quarterhorse Futurity Monday.

The race card ended 11 days of events in connection with Minidoka County Fair.

Idaho Moonwatch won on the strength of a disqualification after Boy Image had come in the photo line first.

Boy Image, with Terry Sadler in the silks, and the fast-qualifying Trend's Runaway, ridden by Steve Tippings, both were dropped in their finish.

Trend's Runaway ran outside from the gate and nearly crossed the field before straightening out. Boy Image bore in; the stewards ruled he interfered with Idaho Moonwatch and Two Car Crash.

After the claims were settled, Idaho Moonwatch was the winner of $9 and Two Car Crash second at $6.20. Boy Image finished third, with Trend's Runaway fourth.

Trend's Runaway had run a 13.50 seconds for the fastest qualifying time Saturday.

Phillips had run a 13.53 and Idaho Moonwatch TFS over the two 50-yard course.

Butch Deck scratched after the post parade.

Carl Cronquist, Blackfoot, was Idaho Moonwatch's trainer and his closest competitor in the three-day Rupert meet.

Cronquist had first call on Jockey Tim Holdaway, who earned an identical edge among the jockeys. Holdaway had two victories Monday for a total of eight.

Randy Timme rode only one winner Monday and ended with six for the meet.

Idaho Moonwatch is owned by Ted Edwards of the Blackfoot area. The Season Boy Image is owned by K. Bowen, Ralph Taylor is owner, and Brent Taylor trainer of Two Car Crash.

Trend's Runaway, the horse that ran away to the outside at the outset and lost all chance of victory, is a local horse owned by Larry Olson and trained by L.W. Burns, both Rupert.

The Futurity also came up with the biggest payout of the day, $241 pay off for those holding a winning $2 ticket.

The betting handled Monday was $14,845, giving a record total handle for three days at Rupert of $33,083.

Racing officials said this was up 20 per cent from 1974, which was the previous record.

Sue's Brother also with Holdaway aboard, won the consolation run. Again Cronquist was the trainer. The owners are Joe Beck and Nolan Botsaun.

Trend's Runaway ran second with Sadler as jockey.

Miss Twice Charge earned better's top money of the day, paying $28 and the relief of Steve Tippings in the second.

Cornell Stuart is the owner and Gene R. Cosse the trainer.

Fisk leads Boston by NY Yankees 7-4

By United Press International
Carlton Fisk, returning to the lineup after a nine-day absence due to a hand injury, knocked in three runs Tuesday night to halt Boston's three-game losing streak and give the Red Sox a 7-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Fisk, starting his first game since splitting a finger Aug. 23 in Chicago, drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in a four-run third inning, and also singled home a run in the fifth after Fred Lynn had doubled.

Boston also added single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

In other games California downed Oakland 4-1, Baltimore beat Cleveland 3-2 in 10 innings before losing 2-1, Kansas City tipped Chicago's 1 in 12 innings, Minnesota trimmed Texas, 5-3 and Milwaukee edged St. Louis 6-5.

Frank Tanana struck out 14 batters and allowed just five hits and Mickey Rivers doubled home two runs during a four-run eighth inning rally to give the Angels their triumph over Oakland.

The speed-sterling Angels also stole a pair of bases to become their first major league team since the 1916 Pittsburgh

Pirates to steal 200 bases in a season.

Tanana ran his major league strikeout lead to 222 by fanning every batter in the Oakland batter except Gene Tenace, who collected three of the A's hits—Tanana has now won 12 of his last 14 decisions including five in a row to improve his record to 14-4.

Debutant hitter Rico Carty slammed his 16th homer in the eighth inning to give Jim Bibby and the Indians a victory in the nightcap and a doubleheader split after the Orioles won the opener in 10 innings on Bobby Grich's bases-loaded single.

The split left the second place Orioles six games behind Boston in the American League East.

Carty's homer came with two-out in the eighth of loser Doyle Alexander, 6-0. Bibby improved his record to 5-4 with the triumph.

In the opener, the Orioles made Mike Cuellar, 14-10, a winner as Ken Singleton singled home the tying run in the ninth and Grich delivered the game-winning off-ex-Oriole Don Hood in the 10th.

George Brett's two-out run-scoring single — his fourth hit of the game — touched off a three-run 12th inning rally that carried Kansas City past the White Sox and denied Jim Kaat his 20th win.

Amos Otis doubled after two were out in the 12th before Brett's hit sent him across with what proved to be the winning run and then the White Sox collapsed. Kaat (9-11) gave up his first walk of the game to John Mayberry and Harmon Killebrew was safe on Bill Melton's second error of the game-to fill the bases. Al Cowens then singled to score both Brett and Mayberry.

"Home runs" by Dan Ford, Rod Carew and John Briggs stacked rookie Jim Hughes to his 13th victory in the Twins' victory over Texas.

Trailing 3-1, the Twin came back to chase starter Steve Harlan (8-9) for three runs in the fourth. Lead-off batter Jerry Terrell walked and Harlan then yielded back-to back-homers to Garvey and Briggs to put Minnesota in front 4-3.

George Scott collected three hits and drove in two runs to lead the Brewers over Detroit.

Scott followed a double by Bill Sharp with a double of his own.

Chicago Winds football team expelled from WFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Intensely fearful of "exposing" themselves to the same kind of nonsense as last year, the World Football League announced Tuesday the immediate expulsion of the Chicago Winds and the dispersal of their players to the other 10 league members.

Although the move took the WFL out of one of the country's most lucrative markets so that the league no longer has a franchise in either Chicago or New York, League President Chris Hemminger claimed the action strengthened the young circuit.

The Philadelphia Bell was the biggest gainer, claiming nine of the disenfranchised players, including wide receiver John Gilliam and quarterback Pete Bestard.

"The integrity of the Hemminger Plan must be kept intact at all times," League President Chris Hemminger said in announcing the move. "To shut down a potential problem is a much more responsible act than to allow the potential for future problems even to exist. We're not willing to gamble on the future of the league."

After two disillusioned investors withdrew $175,000 they had on deposit with the league's legal counsel, the WFL Board of Governors met here Monday night and voted 10-1 for the revocation of the Chicago franchise. The only dissenting vote was cast by Kenneth Zak, the Winds' governor, and Hemminger admitted the possibility of a lawsuit being brought against the league.

"Still," he said, alluding to the league's 1974 debut when it piled up incredible debts and a lot of ill will, "I'd rather we have internal problems than external problems with players, creditors and communities. We're not playing checkerboard with communities."

Chicago's problems were strictly internal and involved the complicated matter of finalizing partnership papers. According to Hemminger, the club backers initially met the stringency—capitalization requirements of the Hemminger Plan.

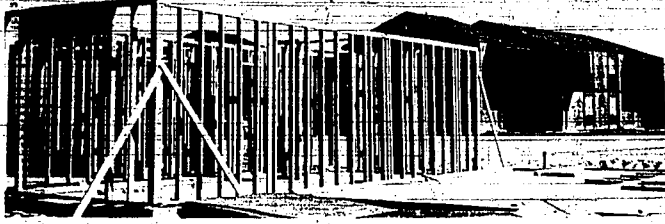

However, there were two investors who were wary of turning over their money to the team pending finalization of all legal documents, and instead placed $175,000 on deposit with the WFL's legal counsel. The WFL pressed the Winds for more than a month and a half to take care of the required paperwork, and when they didn't, the two investors, when Hemminger declined to name for the time being, withdrew their money.

When "this" happened, it caused Chicago to be under their required money position. Hemminger explained, and the remaining investors could not or did not wish to replace it.

"Our men aren't promoters and they won't stand for that," Hemminger said. "Otherwise we're exposing held no-cut contracts. Of these, Gilliam and Bestard went to Philadelphia and defensive end Larry Jameson and running back—Mark Kellar going to San Antonio.

Best-dressed working girls in the world are airline stewardesses. Or so contends one style expert of renown. That claim is explained by the fact that most of their costumes are created by big-name designers.

MORE TO-DO should have been made last month over the 200th birthday of Tucson, Ariz. I think August of 1775 was the year that the Spanish-Don with the unlikely name of Hugh O'Conner established as an outpost of New Spain the Presidio of San Augustin del Tucson.

COFFEE BREAK

Q. "In the lingo of the Latins, what does 'onces' mean?"
A. That translates "elevenness." Refers to the 11 a.m. coffee break. That morning coffee break has become almost as popular in South America as the English-tea time.

MAYBE YOU didn't know the Mojave Desert is three times as big as Connecticut.

HOW DO YOU account for the fact that women who live in the suburbs get more headaches than women who live in the city centers?

IF YOU LOOK at the moon while standing on your head, it only will seem to be about half as big as it will appear, if you look at it while standing on your feet. Client asks why. I don't believe anybody yet has figured out why.

RESTAURANTS

Did I tell you there's one restaurant for every 540 people in this country? Believe so. Failed to mention, however, that the business experts now predict there will be fewer restaurant failures than ever.

CHET L. SWITELL says the most unusual castle in the world is the Topler Castle at Rothenburg, Bavaria. It's six stories high with only two rooms on each floor—Avers-her. "Very much like keeping house on a ladder."

THAT WORD "paradise" originally was the Persian word for a royal amusement park.

THERE'S a whole batch of New Yorkers who unfaithfully go to the final performances of Broadway shows, the sadists. No, that's unfair. They're theatrical history buffs. Most of them have seen the beginnings. They don't want to miss the endings. They're called Swan Songers.
