Henry undisturbed, war flared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former State Department official said today he tried to warn Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that the 1973 Middle East War was imminent, but Kissinger's aides ignored the report because they didn't want to disturb him.

Clint told the House Select Committee on Intelligence he had tried to forward a written report to Kissinger, but Kissinger's staff declined to pass it on because they did not want to disturb him. Clint offered no explanation why Kissinger's staff acted in this way.

He acknowledged, however, that he could have overridden the staff by placing a personal call to Kissinger in New York but decided against such action, although he had done so in the past during other crises.

He said there was some "rather timid cautionary advice" but it was watered down with qualifications. Wohensmith said the analysts talked of limited action and not an all-out war.

Senate's DES ban no surprise to area feeders

By DIANE ALTERS Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — In recent years cattle feeders have cut down their use of the growth-stimulating hormone DES, and the U.S. Senate's recent vote to ban it is no surprise to area feeders.

The U.S. Senate voted this week to prohibit the use of DES in growth stimulant for cattle until research proves that DES-fed beef will not cause cancer in humans. The hormone had been banned for a time about three years ago.

Ralph Olmstead, another cattle feeder who operates Olmstead Cattle Co.'s feedlot with his father and two brothers, also scored the Senate action, but said use of DES had already declined.

Olmstead said DES allows beef growers to produce more beef less expensively and any ban on DES would reduce the supply of beef.

Trustees again delay teacher items

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Staff
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school trustees and teachers agreed to negotiate but so far haven't been able to agree on the items they've negotiated.
 Trustees Tuesday night delayed action, again, on items negotiated with teachers several months ago.
 Teachers, approved—the negotiated items July 17, according to Philip East, teachers negotiating team representative.
 Negotiated items state assignments of certified employees are made with the approval of the board of trustees. In addition, the proposed agreement specifies that beginning in 1976-77, contracts shall state the teacher shall be assigned within his "area of certification" and also list the building assignment.
 Also, according to the proposal, "the administration shall notify any certified employee being considered for reassignment as soon as possible. In the event of dissatisfaction any certificated employee may come before the board of trustees and administration for review."

 The proposed items caused some consternation at the meeting.
 Trustee Tom Kieley and Supt. George Staudaher questioned the need for the provision stating a teacher shall be assigned to his area of certification and the requirement of a building assignment.
 Staudaher said teachers, for many years, have only been assigned in their areas of certification, and added teachers have always been consulted about possible changes in assignments, including changes from school to school.
 Originally, teachers were hoping to have grade and room assignments included in the contract, according to Ruth Day, a member of the board's negotiating team. But Mrs. Day said the board's team felt this provision would not be acceptable to the administration, because it was too inflexible.
 Contracts previously read the teacher will take on such duties as the superintendent shall assign, according to East.

 Staudaher and East discussed the proposed contract amendments for several moments, with Staudaher questioning the need for the written provision.
 Staudaher said to East, "you don't trust me, is that what you're saying?"
 East replied, "no, sir, that's not what I'm saying." He maintained that teachers felt the vague contract wording was a "sore spot" and preferred what he termed a more "professional" and specific assignment policy.

Trustees also questioned the need for a written statement saying a teacher could appear before the board. A teacher may always come before the trustees, they said.
 However, East said the proposal was included to provide a way for teachers to circumvent the established grievance procedure if they needed immediate solutions for their dissatisfaction.
 Trustee Frank DeLuca, a member of the board's negotiating team, proposed the board ratify the items.
 "We have had several meetings and discussed all aspects. . . I feel we were acting in good faith," De-Luca said, adding he believed the agreement was "a good one."

 Ruth Day, also a negotiator, said she favored approving the items if the teachers wanted the items "written down," she said, that was "Okay. I don't care."
 But trustees delayed action, saying new board member Lee Eldredge was not familiar with the proposed items and background.
 Mrs. Day told East, "Since we have a new board member, we'd like to wait a few more weeks. We're really not stalling you."

$600,000 damages sought in suits

TWIN FALLS — Two law suits seeking $300,000 damages each have been filed in Fifth District Court here against Truck Equipment Sales Co. and Magic Valley International.
 The suits were brought by Michael R. Gill and Charles M. Baker, following separate accidents with potato bulk truck beds manufactured by Truck Equipment Sales Co. and sold by Magic Valley International, Twin Falls.
 Gill charges in his complaint he was using the truck bed on a bulk potato project April 8, 1975, when his hand became caught in the belt. He was employed by Don Church at the time the Church is named as a defendant in the Gill suit.
 "He charges negligence on the part of the defendants for failure to warn of the dangers of the equipment and for the manufacture and sale of faulty equipment. Gill's complaint charges he suffered severe flesh and bone damage to the hand which impaired his ability to work and earn a living. He asks $300,000 general damages and $10,000 special damages in addition to court costs.

 Baker, who also asks $300,000 general and $10,000 special damages, states he was injured March 21, 1975 while unloading potatoes and using a Truck Equipment Sales Co. unit on the Bell Rapids Project. His right hand became caught in the belt; he states, resulting in severe damages.
 Both plaintiffs request a jury trial.

Grantsmanship fastest growing game

WASHINGTON — The General Accounting Office provided a new insight into the nation's fastest-growing and richest sport in America. This is not tennis, as you might surmise. It is grantsmanship.

The first federal program of outright assistance to the states, so far as the GAO is concerned, was the Morrill Act of 1862, providing aid to land grant colleges.

As you might expect, the greatest concentration of handouts is to be found in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. HEW is known to administer, more or less, some 274 programs.

players $1 billion. The 1965 figure was $109 billion. By 1970 it had more than doubled, to $24 billion. In the last fiscal year, grants came to $51.7 billion. The GAO estimates that federal assistance now comprises 22 per cent of state and local expenditures.

These are the playing fields of the expert grantsman. "Dilettante" state governments maintain a grantsman at home and a grantsman in Washington. The two stay in constant touch.

Let's turn Panama back to Colombia

Everyone is agreed that, in respect of the Panama Canal, we are headed for confrontation. It's our fault, mostly, though the anti-colonialist zealots play a role in it.

Nobody, outside the deejays in Radio Havana, talks about the United States giving up its naval base in Guantanamo Cuba, and the reason is every bit as simple as that we have no intention of abandoning the Panama Canal if the United States hadn't begun, as it did under Eisenhower, making concessions on the subject.

What then streams forth, in all probability and given the dynamic flux of the world situation, is the Soviet Navy. And of course it is the Soviet Navy we are properly concerned about in Panama.

Meanwhile Henry Kissinger has gone there to mollify Torrijos, and Ambassador Bunker, the kindest and most intelligent of men whose footsteps, unfortunately, are dogged by historical scavengers, is down there trying to work something out.

Now comes the tough part for Henry

LOS ANGELES TIMES
WASHINGTON — The easy part of Henry Kissinger's negotiations in the Middle East is over.

He managed to get an agreement between Egypt and Israel. The tough part now begins. He has to persuade Congress he did the right thing. This will require shuttle diplomacy of infinite delicacy, and Henry will be traveling between the White House, the State Department and Capitol Hill for the next two weeks trying to get the Senate and House to forget their bitter differences with the administration and agree to his peace formula.

But in Washington it's another story. To most people in this town Henry is another face. When a secretary of state negotiates in his own country, protocol goes out the window and the most Kissinger can hope for from Congress is his shuttle diplomacy is that they'll save him a parking place.

But don't you see, we won't abandon it, they reassure us. We'll merely modify the existing situation, which is unacceptable to Panamanian pride, and still maintain effective military control over the area.

- 1) We don't "lease" the canal — we compensate Panama for the use of the railroad, not the canal, which is ours.
2) We don't make a profit from the canal, we maintain all revenue back in toward its maintenance.
3) If we are going to straighten out historical pride, then we should begin not by enhancing Panama, but by eliminating it, and returning it to Colombia whence it was wrested by international hanky-panky at the turn of the century.
4) If France and England weren't able to maintain, according to the schedule agreed upon, their hold on Suez, how could we expect, having relinquished effective operational control, to contain the likes of Torrijos?
5) The big and important countries of Latin America, Venezuela excepted, aren't all that hot to give little Torrijos the keys to a canal on which they depend so heavily. There has been formalistic pressure from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, and Ecuador.
Resolved, the United States should hang on to its canal in Panama.

Bax decides time arrives to move along

(Editors note: This is the first of two dispatches based on a lengthy interview with James A. Bax, resigning health and welfare director. Today: Looking Back.)

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — James A. Bax ran down the west steps of the Bialehouse, leaped into the air and the crowd.

After three and one-half years as one of the most controversial state officials, Bax had just come from a news conference at which his resignation as health and welfare director was announced.

"I felt like a great weight had been lifted from my shoulders," he said later in an interview.

It was a great experience, he said. But the time had come to move on to other things.

Ten years ago, Bax quit his $125,000-a-year job as executive vice-president of Secrest Oil Company to try to make some changes in government. He served as state health director under two governors in Florida, as a commissioner in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C., and, most recently in his state post in Idaho.

After he got into government, he said, he found out it was far more complex than he realized and that one man cannot make the changes.

"I think government is like a turtle on its back and I don't know if government has the ability to right itself," he said.

At the state level, he said, the legislature comes to the capital for a short time each year, tinkers with the system and goes home. Meantime, he said, the structure of government grows increasingly complex to the point where few if any of the lawmakers realize what they have created.

"There is no one in the legislature even on the threshold of understanding the complexities of this department," he said of his sprawling, 2,300-employee agency. "There are some who come close to it — I think (Sen.) Dick High comes close to it and (Rep.) Bill Roberts does at times. (Sen.) Dick Smith does."

"These officials have created a whole system of government that's gotten away from them."

Bax said "They respond to crises. They stoke special interests. About the only control is the media — the press. The whole system now is self-perpetuating."

At the national level, he said, the system is complicated by congressmen like Idaho Reps. Steve Symms and George Hansen "who have simple answers" to complex problems.

One of the great difficulties in administering his agency, he said, has been dealing with unworkable federal legislation.

"One of the people I think highly of is Orval Hansen. I think he was a super congressman. He was able to influence legislation. He tried to straighten out programs — not just vote against them," he said of the former Idaho congressman.

Looking back on his three and one-half years in Idaho, Bax said he felt he stepped on a lot of toes, made a lot of mistakes.

"I think the personal approach, if I had time to do it, would solve a lot of problems."

One of the more painful recollections of his tenure in Idaho, he said, was the death of 11-year-old Jeff Hodgson, Pocatello, on a state-sponsored survival training course in the southern Idaho desert.

"This thing with the Hodgson kid was just an unbelievable tragedy," he said. "After it was over I felt obligated to defend the seven employees against that capricious criminal suit against them."

"I think that hurt. It would have been a lot easier to take the political out and fire them. But I thought it was more of a political charge than a charge of substance."

"That was the roughest, most disturbing situation I've ever been through. The situation cut very deeply... to be in charge of an agency that had people responsible for that thing occurring."

"When you have 2,300 employees I don't know how you can prevent that sort of thing. I obviously messed up."

Bax said he learned two very valuable lessons about Idaho: the people are used to direct access to their public servants and that in Idaho "you deal with people on a one-to-one basis, you don't deal with them in groups."

Although Bax feels he has made progress in revitalizing the "bureaucratic, rigid, rigorous, consipated old Health Department," more needs to be done, he said. His staff needs more training, there should be more local control in the regions and the state should have a "medically needy" program to assist elderly couples confronted with expensive, terminal illness.

Bax thinks Gov. Covel D. Andrus ought to look at the agency's present personnel for a new director. "He said there are many in the department who could do an excellent job in his post."

"I don't think it would be a bad idea to get a woman to run this department. That would do a lot for our affirmative action problem."

"In a few years, if you ever takes this job if he takes it without liming out all the pitfalls he is too naive to manage this department. In the other hand, he takes it knowing the problems he probably will be too stupid to handle it."

Interior post nominee expert manager

By United Press International
Tom Kleppe managed a bank at the age of 21, once bowled a perfect 300 game, and turned down a bonus to play baseball in the St. Louis Cardinal farm system.

He has been described by associates as a "go-getter." Chances are he will need all his managerial expertise and energies to handle the increasingly controversial job of Secretary of the Interior.

Kleppe was nominated Tuesday by President Ford to succeed former Wyoming Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, who went through such a grueling, rigorous confirmation process that he was hospitalized shortly after with emotional disorders.

With conservationists and environmentalists increasingly protective of natural resources, and with activist Indian groups vocally demanding better treatment, the Interior Department has become one of the hotspots in the federal government.

Since January, 1971, the balding Kleppe has been head of the Small Business Administration. It was not always a smooth road.

There was a congressional investigation in 1973 of alleged wrongdoing including bribery, kickbacks from small business borrowers to lending officials, and illegal or improper loanmaking.

Called as a witness, Kleppe said the charges were political, and denied wrongdoing in a 97-page statement that took two hours to read. He said the "SBA and I have nothing to hide."

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., at the time, House Banking chairman, said Kleppe minimized the seriousness of the problem and offered testimony "largely self-serving."

The scandal eventually died down, with Kleppe pledging to conduct an "internal housecleaning." He changed personnel in the regions and offices, where the greatest abuses were found — and eventually fired the SBA official whose allegations triggered the probe.

At age 47, Kleppe managed his father's grain elevator in the tiny town of Kintyre, N.D. — his father, the year he became eligible to vote, he was named manager of a small bank in Napoleon, N.D.

At 29 he was vice president of the Gold Seal Wax Co. and at 30 was elected mayor of Bismarck — the youngest chief executive of a capital city.

After serving four years, he returned to Gold Seal, where he was named president in 1958. In 1964 he again left to become vice president of J.M. Dalm and Co., a Minneapolis investment banking firm.

In 1966, at age 45, he went back into politics, winning election to Congress representing North Dakota's Second District. He was re-elected in 1968, but lost a bid to unseat Democratic Sen. Quentin Burdick in 1970.

He lives with his wife and four children in suburban Kensington, Md.

If convicted, 'Squeaky' could get life sentence

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The indictment read that she "knew and willfully attempted to kill Gerald R. Ford, President of the United States of America."

Two years after the assassination of President John Kennedy, Congress enacted a law making it a federal crime to assassinate or attempt to assassinate a President, vice president, or an official next in line. Until then, such crimes were prosecuted under state laws.

Wednesday, Miss Fromme, a 29-year-old member of the murderous Charles Manson cult, became the first person indicted under that law if convicted she faces a maximum life sentence. The indictment was handed down by a 22-member federal grand jury, Chief U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacRae continued her bail at the maximum $1 million and ordered her arraigned today.

U.S. Attorney Dwayne Keyes said he expects to go to trial in 90 to 95 days.

Last Friday, Miss Fromme pointed a .45-caliber Colt automatic pistol at Ford as he walked across the state capitol grounds at Sacramento. The gun, although loaded, did not fire.

The jury returned the one-count indictment after an all-day session in which seven other routine cases were considered. Among witnesses called was Harold "Zeke" Boro, 66, a retired federal employe and owner of the weapon the red-robed Miss Fromme drew from a leg holster and aimed at Ford from point-blank range.

Boro, described in state intelligence reports as a "sugar daddy" to Miss Fromme and her roommate Sandra Goo, 31, a fellow Manson cultist, was rushed in and out of the federal building amid tight security.

Death sentence asked for five

MADRID (UPI) — The prosecution asked the death sentence today at the opening of a military trial for five urban guerrillas charged with the murder of a policeman in a Madrid street two months ago.

The five defendants are alleged members of the Revolutionary Antifascist and Patriotic Front, a Maoist band famed for police for a long series of slayings, bombings and arson.

The group has claimed responsibility for the assassination of four Madrid policemen since 1973.

The defendants, including a newspaper reporter, were hauled off to trial at an armored brigade headquarters 10 miles outside Madrid.

Teachers firm on strike

By United Press International
The costs of a Chicago teachers' strike mounted at more than $1 million a day in school aid today and the leader of the city's teachers' walkout faced possible imprisonment as the union defied a court return-to-work order.

Nearly two million youngsters across the nation, including New York City's 1.1 million public school pupils and Chicago's 530,000, were caught up in strikes by teachers.

Spokesmen for New York

City teachers said the strike, in its third day, would go on despite a court order to return to work or face fines and possible imprisonment of United Federation of Teachers President Albert Shanker and other UFT leaders.

The strike closed 30 per cent of the city's schools Wednesday and halted education at the rest.

Los Angeles teachers employed at 14 Roman Catholic schools in Manhattan voted Wednesday night to strike the Archdiocese of New York Tuesday unless they reach a new contract agreement before then. The Chicago school strike closed classrooms for a seventh day today. School sources said the school system began losing $3.3 million a day in state aid Wednesday unless additional classes are scheduled later in the year to meet the minimum 180-day school year requirement.

Officials said the school system is saving about $2.4 million a day in teacher salaries, leaving a loss of $1.1 million for each day the strike continues.

Cafeteria workers crossed picket lines of teachers at Wilmington, Del., where a week-old teachers' strike has affected 14,200 students. Newport, R.I., teachers returned to work but those in eight other Rhode Island districts remained on-strike today, affecting 55,500 students. Johnston, R.I., teachers voted on a tentative contract settlement today and could return to classes Friday.

Strikes in Long Island and upstate New York affected some 47,000 youngsters, and a flurry of strikes in Pennsylvania affected 142,000. Other strikes affected 15,000 children in Washington state; 33,000 in Massachusetts; 24,000 in California; 14,200 in Delaware; and 850 in New Jersey and 150 in Ohio.

Panel eyes new evidence

N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence has evidence that the Central Intelligence Agency considered "operational use" of the shellfish poison found in its laboratory, including making suicide pills for agents and "aggressive actions," sources familiar with the events said Wednesday.

The poisons, these sources said, were kept in a laboratory of the technical services division of the CIA, which in 1970 was under the command of Dr. Sidney Gottlieb, the same man who conducted the LSD experiments for CIA. The Senate investigators are expected to interview Gottlieb in closed session later this week.

Meanwhile, a prominent pharmacologist, Dr. Murdoch Ritchie of Yale University, has asked the CIA and the Senate committee to prevent the destruction of the shellfish poison on the ground that it would be valuable for medical research.

He said the poison possessed by the CIA was similar to a poison once mentioned in the fictional James Bond books written by the late Ian Fleming.

The CIA's poison, called Saxotoxin, has properties that make it rare and extremely valuable for research on such nervous system diseases as multiple sclerosis, Ritchie said.

Dr. Ritchie said he believed the CIA's Saxotoxin was part of a hatch prepared by the army at the Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland in the mid-1960's. He said that it was one of the two most potent poisons known, but he said also that it was extremely valuable in medical research. "It would be criminal to destroy this material," he said.

He said he believed that "careful controls" could be worked out to keep the poison from misuse. Ritchie said saxotoxin, which is distilled from butter clams, is similar to tetrodotoxin, a poison made by the Japanese from puffer fish. The puffer fish poison was mentioned in the James Bond novels, he said.

Compromise proposed

N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Key members of Congress have proposed a compromise to the Ford Administration that would permit the sale of 14 batteries of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles promised to King Hussein of Jordan by the United States.

Well-placed Congressional sources said Wednesday that under the compromise offer, made to Secretary of State Kissinger in recent days, the Jordanians would be allowed to buy the 14 batteries of Hawks, which, including a reserve supply, would represent a total of 532 missiles, in return for that the Hawks would be fixed in place and not be mobile, and that the rate of delivery would be stretched out over several years.

Kissinger, in a news conference Tuesday, took a conciliatory position, saying, "We are prepared to discuss with the Congressional committees whether we can find some formula that would ease their concerns."

But Kissinger said that before the administration could make any firm response, "We will have to discuss with the Government of Jordan."

Jerome class plans station

JEROME — Jerome High School students have been given permission to set up and operate a low-band radio station.

Superintendent Percy Christiansen said the high school board Monday he had been contacted by Bill Emerson, senior high vice principal, about the possibility of opening the radio station.

Christiansen said the high school electronics class would establish and run the station, which would operate on a low-power frequency with a radius of 2.5 miles.

The students would broadcast school news, he said.

Several mothers were at Monday night's school board meeting to complain about school matters ranging from poor quality of class rings to the $20-laundry charge for ninth graders.

The mothers also asked the school district to tell parents how the coeducational physical education program was to be handled and what it involved.

Christiansen said he was not sure the co-ed program was to be conducted because he has not received any directives from the federal government which requires the program.

The superintendent recommended that the mothers go to the teachers involved if they have a complaint. If they receive no satisfaction, they should then take the complaint to the principal of the school. From there, to the superintendent and if still unsatisfied to the school board, he said.

A request is to be made in advance of the board meeting by anyone wishing to bring an issue before the school board, he said.

Christiansen said the district has 165 students enrolled in the kindergarten classes, held in the Grange Hall and Presbyterian Church. The final enrollment figures for the other schools showed a less than 1 per cent increase over last year. A total of 2,136 students have been registered, an increase of only 26 students from last year, Christiansen said.

Carter Luther, vocational agriculture teacher, was given permission to take seven or eight of his students to either Billings, Mont., or Portland, Ore., to participate in a livestock judging contest.

Permission was also given to Warren Van Camp, high school biology teacher, to hold his annual summer field biology class. Next summer Van Camp and his students will spend five weeks traveling through Utah, Colorado, Arizona and Nevada.

The trustees also approved a request from Ephraim Swann, a geology instructor to take his students on a four-day geology field trip to the South Fork of the Boise River.

Three new staff members were hired. They include Cathryn Lee, resource teacher, Jefferson elementary school; Shauna Smith, grade school teacher, Washington School; and Frank Zirkie, school psychologist.

The board members discussed permitting the football team to attend a basketball workshop at Idaho State University, Oct. 25, following the last football HANSEN—Three positions are opening on the Hansen City Council, including the position of mayor, presently filled by Harold Miller, Jr.

A four-year term on the council now filled by Kenneth Daw and a two-year term, now filled by Brent Morrill, are also open.

Nomination forms must be picked up from City Clerk, Dorothea Steelsmith, by Sept. 25 and must have been checked and turned in by October 7. All nominees must be registered voters in the City of Hansen.

Other business discussed at Monday night's Hansen City Council meeting included the re-appointment of Helen Cannon as the city's certified public accountant and the appointment of Steelsmith as elections registrar.

The Round-up Tavern, represented by attorney J. L. Depeu was granted a beer license, although final approval must be granted by the state.

Nice weekend forecast for MV

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley—Fair tonight and Friday. Low tonight 40 to 45. High Friday in the middle 70s. Light winds tonight. Probability of precipitation less than 10 percent through Friday.

Halley, Camas Prairie, Lower Wood River Valley—Fair tonight and Friday. Low tonight near 30. Highs Friday 70 to 75. Light winds tonight. Probability of precipitation less than 10 percent through Friday.

Fair skies are returning to Magic Valley and the chance of showers is now so small that they are not worth mentioning.

Although skies were threatening at times Wednesday, only a few sprinkles of rain were reported from Magic Valley and some bean combines were able to work through the whole day. The remainder of the week should be favorable for all kinds of work or outside recreation.

A large mass of cold air is moving into Montana and the Dakotas, too far east to be a serious frost threat to Idaho. Low temperatures in the Magic Valley are expected to remain in the 40's through the weekend, with afternoon highs 70 to 80. Even the eastern part of the state is not expected to have a hard freeze.

Burley junior high inspection delayed

By SHANE O'NEILL, Times-News writer.

BURLEY—The Cassia County School Board inspection of the new Burley Junior High School did not take place Monday as planned.

Substantial completion of the new building now is expected by Sept. 22. The school board Monday night set an inspection tour for 2 p.m. that day.

Superintendent of Schools Harold Blauer brought three monetary issues before the board in connection with completion of the facility.

He said a misunderstanding on specifications and the bid of the company awarded the contract on kitchen equipment left the equipment without installation.

He said the hook-up would cost an estimated $700-$800.

He also said he had just received a report that the water heater might not heat water hot enough for the dishwasher to meet state code.

A similar problem was encountered at Mountain View Elementary School. That problem cost $2,300, with the architect paying 23 percent of the cost.

The board directed Blauer to proceed with whatever action was necessary on those two items, but balked at a third one.

Blauer said the junior high has been designed with a space above the lockers for cabinets. He said this was not to be done in the shop wing, but the contractor had left the openings.

The superintendent said the school could use all the cabinets it could get and suggested having cabinets built in the home economics and sewing rooms and in the arts and crafts section.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee, which voted last year to end the oil depletion allowance, now has begun a move against those who use oil industry investments to avoid taxation.

The committee voted 18-0 over "last-minute objections from the Ford administration, to abolish 90 per cent of the tax shelters available to outside investors in oil and gas drilling.

Current oil industry tax advantages would "not" be directly affected. The losers under the current law are those who if it is sustained by the House and Senate — would be wealthy professionals; businessmen and others who have substantial excess cash and wish to delay or avoid taxation through quirks in oil tax law.

Oil state members warned the oil companies would lose badly needed investment income.

Shelters would be abolished for "development" wells — those drilled in fields where other wells are already producing. Development wells account for about 50 per cent of all new oil and gas wells.

"A last-minute effort by Rep. Joe Wittgenor, D-Tex., preserved the shelter opportunities for those who invest in "exploratory" wells — those drilled more than two miles from current wells or in reservoirs that have not yet been tapped by producing wells.

Persons with large incomes invest excess cash in a drilling partnership and in turn can claim their investment was used for intangible drilling expenses. They take an immediate deduction, thus sheltering their income from taxation until they receive profits.

In addition, if they hold the investment six months or longer and then sell, the sale proceeds are taxed at a more favorable capital gains rate.

The administration originally supported an end to oil tax shelters, but announced a change in position Wednesday morning.

Gas line treaty near

© Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — The United States and Canadian governments have reached agreement on the main points of a treaty regarded as an essential step for construction of a 6,200-mile pipeline to carry Alaskan natural gas down Canada's Mackenzie valley to the United States.

The treaty is expected to be signed during Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's visit to Ottawa, scheduled for Oct. 14.

The treaty, a U.S. official said, would provide for "non-interference" in the inter-country flow of oil and gas.

The pipeline, planned by a consortium of 18 U.S. and Canadian companies, would deliver 4.5 billion cubic feet of natural gas a day to most of the United States and Canada. This would provide much-needed heating fuel for millions of homes and businesses, plus fuel for industry.

Spouses of the 48-inch line say gas should be moving to main points in the U.S. four years after the start of construction. But they point out that plans for the pipeline are moving so slowly through complex regulatory proceedings in Washington and Ottawa that it may be 1982 at the earliest before the gas could start flowing.

El Paso Natural Gas Co. has made a competing proposal to lay a pipeline along the same corridor as the trans-Alaska oil pipeline now under construction, and then to transport the gas in liquefied form by tanker ships from Alaska to a port near Los Angeles.

Ford seeks compromise to keep fuel price lid

Sens. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and Hubert Humphrey, D-Min., indicated they will be haggling over this, and possibly a counter-proposal for a 60- or 90-day extension and a phaseout of controls over a period longer than 39 months.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said the most Ford would accept probably would be a 60-day extension and 39-month phasing out.

Zarb said he does not favor any price increases for several weeks because oil companies know a compromise might reinstate controls retroactively. But he said decontrol without a compromise would cost Americans $5 billion in higher fuel costs the first year.

In case there is no compromise, Ford Wednesday sent Congress a series of legislative proposals to soften the impact. He called for:

- Removal of the $2-per-barrel petroleum import fee, which was thrown out by the U.S. Court of Appeals but appealed Wednesday to the Supreme Court.

- A rebate system to give farmers six cents a gallon from the windfall tax and other consumers roughly half that amount. The plan would offset higher energy costs for low-income families and partially offset them for those earning more than about $15,000 a year.

Legal and administrative safeguards for independent oil refiners and marketers, and for operators of small service stations.

Ford also asked Congress for steps to help offset an expected shortage of natural gas this winter, including lifting of price controls on some emergency purchases.

The real meaning of the Senate vote is that Ford now knows he is in a strong position to bargain with Democrats over terms of a temporary compromise and over his long-range plans to reduce the country's reliance on foreign oil by gradual price rises.

GM head sees car sales up

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Chairman Thomas Murphy, in the most optimistic outlook yet from the slumping auto industry, predicts a 20 per cent jump in new car sales next year.

Murphy's prediction Wednesday night of new car sales "comfortably" above 10 million, including imports, in 1976 was in contrast to a projection by Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., who saw a 9.5 million year.

The GM chairman, on the eve of the firm's 1976-model press preview, said he based his prediction on indicators which provide "clear evidence that recessionary forces have now run their course and the economy is again on an upward path."

If Murphy's view holds true, sales next year would end a two-year slump that began with the start of the Arab oil embargo in the fall of 1973 and deepened during this year's recession.

Sales this year, including imports, are expected to total 8.5 million cars, compared with 8.85 million last year and 11.4 million in record 1973. This year's sales would be the lowest in 17 years.

Nowhere, however, did Murphy indicate whether he believes import car sales, at a record one of every five this year, could be slowed.

Evidence revealed

DETROIT (UPI) — The federal government, engaged in two legal battles over a car it said it suspects was used in the abduction of James Hoffa, disclosed Wednesday FBI agents found a 1965 Buick Wildcat in the trunk of the vehicle.

The car was owned by Joseph Giacalone, 22-year-old son of reputed Detroit Mafia don Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone.

Earlier, federal investigators said special tracking dogs traced Hoffa's scent to the car's back seat and trunk.

In the event that Mr. Hoffa's body is recovered and found to contain shotgun pellets, government lawyers said Wednesday in a federal court appeal, the car and the weapon would be vital to the case.

The car was borrowed from the younger Giacalone and was in the same garage at the same time Hoffa vanished from outside a suburban Detroit restaurant.

Utah-Idaho interchange agreement bogs down

BURLEY — A Utah-Idaho student interchange agreement has bogged down at least temporarily.

The Cassia County School District is continuing to cover the same route it did last year in the Stanrod and Naf areas near the Utah border. Bus Superintendent Leon Robinson said the school board would not pick up students living on the Utah side of the border and took them to Cassia schools because it was easier for the students to reach a Cassia bus.

Robinson received word last month to make a trade-off agreement with Box Elder County in Utah because of complaints on the length of the bus run.

Under Robinson's proposal the Utah bus would pick up five Utah students and six Idaho students in the Stanrod area. The Cassia bus would pick up four Utah students in the Clear Creek area, as well as two Cassia County students.

Robinson said the switch would cut 15 minutes off the bus run. However, he said, Box Elder does not want to extend its bus run. It wants Cassia to haul the youngsters to the Utah border.

Robinson recommended against the Utah idea and no action was taken.

The bus superintendent did ask for a written policy on the distance off a direct route a bus would go to pick up a student. He said he had received several requests from parents a half-mile to a mile off the bus route.

He recommended that the district go only on roads the highway district maintains.

The board took Robinson's recommendation for a 3/2-mile extension to pick up three children at the Dan Gorringer ranch near Oakley, subject to Robinson's approval of continued highway district maintenance.

Mrs. Gorringer also raised the point of trucks not slowing down at the Anderson feed yard. She said there is a stop sign for trucks crossing the other road, but they seldom stop.

"I'd hate to see a husband of kids get hit," she said.

In discussion of the distance buses should go from the main road for pickups, Trustee Charles Ward, Malta, was concerned about first grade students having to go more than a half-mile to reach the bus.

He suggested that the bus pick up youngsters a half-mile or more from the main road until they reach the fourth grade.

The board directed Robinson and Supt. Harold Blauer to draft a policy to that effect, but only after considerable discussion.

The talk centered around the difficulty of cutting off the extra-mileage pickup when students get older and of children in town having to walk a greater distance than the half-mile.

Ward argued that youngsters in town can find a place to go if they get cold, whereas rural youngsters cannot.

Tomato crop goes to pot

WOOD RIVER, Ill. (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. John Sberaka planted tomatoes in their backyard and got marijuana.

The Sberakas said they planted 13 tomato plants bought from a mail-order firm that advertised the plants would grow 20 feet high.

Mrs. Sberaka said she was watching a television program which showed a marijuana ana plant, and it looked like the plants in her backyard. A careful check showed the Sberakas had been growing one tomato plant and 12 marijuana plants.

The Sberakas notified police, who asked if the couple to destroy the three pot plants that were still living Tuesday.

Lamprey Pie

Sea lampreys, abhorred to most people, were considered delicacies for centuries. The parasitic fish was a favorite dish of Roman Emperor Vitellius. A medieval French recipe called for stewed lampreys marinated in wine and England's King Henry I repeatedly died from eating too much lamprey pie.

District 4-H fair set

JEROME — The annual South Central Idaho District 4-H fair will be held Thursday through Saturday at the Jerome County Fairgrounds.

Counties participating include Jerome, Blaine, Elmore, Gooding, Lincoln, Camas, Twin Falls, Cassia, and Minidoka. Over 900 4-H members from the nine counties are expected to compete in the three-day event.

Jerome County extension agent, said, Jerome will be in charge of the style review and the dairy portion of the agriculture section.

Wilson said each county is allowed to enter three blue ribbon winners of a project or those that the judge feels are qualified.

All blue ribbon style review winners are eligible to compete, he said.

Two teams are eligible from each county for livestock and home economics judging contests and each county can send those the judge designates as eligible for home economics and agricultural demonstrations.

There are three demonstration categories: agriculture, home economics, and all miscellaneous.

Counties may send one demonstration in each of dairy, foods, farm, poultry. All contestants must be at least 14 years old by Dec. 31, 1975.

The fair begins at 1 p.m. Thursday with 50 projects except livestock and dogs to be checked in.

At 9 a.m. Friday, the horse judging and other fair judging activities including dogs, exhibits and home economics demonstrations will be conducted. On Saturday the home economics judging contest begins at 9 a.m. At 9 a.m. livestock fitting and showing, followed by quality, and the livestock judging contest will be held.

Classes scheduled

SHOSHONE — Friday afternoon enrichment blue classes will begin at the Lincoln Elementary School Friday, Sept. 12.

Mrs. R. G. Nether is the coordinator of the program this year.

The program is in its third year, first funded by Title III Federal Funds which helped set up the area media center library and initiate the blue classes, whereby numerous classes were offered to the children on the one-a-week basis.

The first classes of the next six weeks will feature piano, bike safety, hikes, typing, first aid, flower arrangement, photography, oriental cooking, creative dance, weaving, environmental study, basketball, tennis, biology, baby sitting, archery, and fall gardening.

SAN FRANCISCO — Consumers will have to stop spending and start saving to provide investment capital for the nation's economy.

That word comes from analyst Herber Runyon at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, who says that from $4 to $5 trillion worth of capital funds will be needed to develop energy supplies and pollution control, with the bulk of the capital needed for modernizing and expanding in existing industries.

Savings are the main source of capital funds, with the federal government making the terms for borrowing money strict or lenient as the need arises.

Production, inflation and taxes all play havoc with savings. The U.S. tax structure tends to favor spending over savings, according to Runyon, with personal and corporate income taxes providing the major share of federal revenues.

Economic observers predict a big job ahead for the nation's money managers, who must supply savings to meet investment requirements in the next decade, Runyon said.

Private savings, which have been about 16 per cent of the gross national product for the last 20 years, must increase. Production would increase and inflation must be held down to depress the cost of capital goods.

The Budget Reform Act of 1974 would end more than a decade of big government deficits, taking the Treasury Department out of financial markets. Demand on credit markets would be lessened and more funds would be available to business borrowers to meet expansion and modernization needs, Runyon said.

The lightning wheel snail lays a large, almost transparent egg case which is made up of tiny sections and shaped in a coil. Thousands of baby snails hatch from the case, with about 25-30 snails hatching from each section.

Self-defense offered

TWIN FALLS — Self-defense for women will be taught in a class beginning Sept. 24 at the College of Southern Idaho.

The course, requiring a $20 registration fee, will be offered each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. on the east deck of the gymnasium. There will be 18 hours of contact instruction offered during the program.

The course will emphasize methods of effective defense for attacks most usually encountered by women and will include breaks for various holds, submission holds, counter-attacks, and the use of apparel for defense. Instructors will be H.D. Fisher, Green-belt, American Judo expert, and C.D. Grant.

Rupert miss, McBride marry in Idaho Falls temple rites

RUPERT — Melani Stallings and James McBride were united in marriage Aug. 22 by President Miles in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple with close relatives and friends attending.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherril Stallings, Rupert. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Glen McBride, Rupert.

The couple was honored at a wedding breakfast after the ceremony at the Stardust in Idaho Falls hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

The bride greeted the reception guests that evening at the Acequia Ward Cultural Hall wearing her all-lace gown styled with a square-necked neckline accented with sequins and seed pearls, traditional long pointed sleeves and pointed waistline.

The long full skirt was fashioned with gathered layers of lace which formed the train. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a daisy-covered headpiece. A cascade of red roses centered with a white orchid and tied with red satin streamers and white lace formed the wedding bouquet.

Bridesmaids were sisters of the bride, Tammy and Laurie Stallings; Teresa Andrus, a cousin; and Andrea Mickelson, a long-time friend of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Lisa Stallings and Kristine Mc-Bride, sisters of the bride and bridegroom.

Bruce McBride served his brother as best man and the groomsmen was Kent Stallings, brother of the bride.

An old fashioned theme was carried out with refreshment tables being covered with red and white gingham cloths centered with baskets of gingham flowers and lilies-of-the-valley. White milk cans of large red tissue flowers draped together with gingham ribbon and bows separated the refreshment area.

The gift tables, cake and bride's book tables, were covered with white cloths draped with red and white gingham accented with black velvet bows.

The bride's trousseau was displayed on and among antiques owned by a grandfather of the bridegroom.

Jenice Jensen was at the guest book. The gifts were taken care of by Diane Cowley, Cynthia Jensen and Cynthia Lyman, roommates of the bride. Presiding at the refreshment table was a cousin of the bride, Gaylene Taylor. Others assisting were cousins and friends of the couple.

The all-white three-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells, was made and decorated by an aunt of the bridegroom, Janet Schofield, and was displayed before a red velvet backdrop.

At the piano with background music throughout the evening was Shanan Stephenson.

The couple had all six grandparents attend the wedding and reception with them.

The newlyweds honeymooned in and around Denver, Colo., where the bridegroom recently fulfilled a mission for the LDS Church. They reside in Salt Lake City, where the bride is a secretary at the University of Utah and the bridegroom will attend business college.

Pre-nuptial affairs included showers given for the bride by her roommates in Salt Lake City and in Rupert by Andrea and Cynthia Mickelson and Cindy Facer.

HEALTH SPENDING
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Health spending in the United States reached $485 per person for the year ending in June, 1974.

The Texas Department of Health said the national figures represent an increase of 10.6 per cent in health spending over the previous year.

Hospital care was the largest category of health expenditure, accounting for 29 per cent of the total spending.

Diamond for navel

DEAR ABBY: Our problem concerns a young couple who lives near us. I'll call them Joyce and Bill. He's 20 and she's 19, and they've been married for 10 months.

We could be a happy foursome but they overdo the lovey dovey bit. They're always cuddling, kissing and fondling each other. It really gets embarrassing.

I suggested having them over for bridge last night because they really are good company otherwise, but my husband said the way they carry on is too sickening.

Is it possible for a couple to be TOO married?

How can we let Joyce and Bill know that we would see more of them if they would save that love stuff for their own bedroom? We hate to hurt their feelings.

ANOTHER COUPLE

DEAR COUPLE: It's not possible to be TOO married, but it is possible to carry the lovey dovey bit beyond the limits of good taste in public.

Technically, Joyce and Bill are still honeymooning, so don't be too critical. In time they'll cool off. (But frankly, isn't their behavior preferable to that of couples who put down, needle and belittle each other?)

DEAR ABBY: I'll soon be having my first baby, and I plan to breast-feed it.

I'd like to know how you and others feel about seeing a mother nursing her baby in doctors' offices, waiting rooms, shopping-center malls, restaurants, etc.?

With the increased popularity of breast-feeding, plus Women's Lib, I have seen more and more public breast-feeding.

Does it make some people uncomfortable to witness it? Should I hide from house guests and visitors?

MOTHER-TO-BE

TF miss, Wiggins wed in temple rites

TWIN FALLS — Cynthia Jane Warren and Bradley Ogden Wiggins were married Aug. 22 in a ceremony at the Salt Lake City, Utah, LDS Temple.

Elder Loren C. Dunn, of the First Council of the Seventy, performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Warren. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Wiggins, Tooele, Utah.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at "The Heather." A garden reception was held that evening at their home.

A reception honoring the couple was held Aug. 23 at the LDS Church 5th Ward Cultural Hall.

Guests were greeted before a backdrop of white Austrian drapes with blue chiffon valance. Large cherub vases holding yellow Spider chrysanthemums, white carnations, fern and baby breath were at each end of the line.

The bride wore a floor-length Bridal Original dress of white dacron polyester and chantilly lace decorated with white pearls. The gown had a high neckline with a ruffle, a fitted bodice and long lace sleeves with covered buttons and a ruffle at the waistline. It had a chapel-length train.

The bride's waist veil of illusion net was held by a matching lace and pearl headpiece. The veil was made by Maxine Trout. She held a cascade bouquet of yellow baby roses, white Pixie carnations and Ming fern.

Attending the bride were Cheryl Anderson, Eden, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Dea Bartlett, Buhl; Jean Hartzell, Evanston, Wyo.; and Cathy Gilson and Penny Barker, Kearns, Utah. All were college roommates of the bride.

Best man was Scott Wiggins, Tooele, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Lloyd Warren, brother of the bride, Dean Stewart, Karl Arnitage, and Ray Gibbons.

A four-tiered white cake was decorated in the bride's colors, topped with white bells and surrounded at the base with greenery and baby breath. It was made by Pauline Watrott, Buhl. Maxine Trout presided at the cake table.

Assisting at the buffet table were Connie and Karen Miller. They served fruit cups and "yellow punch" from a silver punch fountain. Also helping were Pam Heinrich, Tammy and Carrie Wilkerson, Sheri and Trudi Hunter, Boise.

Guests were seated at quartet tables which were covered with blue then a white sheer lace overskirt. Cherub vases held Pixie carnations, yellow and white roses and blue baby breath for a centerpiece. Strands of blue net also decorated the hall.

The bride's table featured her bridal bouquet, her china, silver and casual place settings.

The usher was Dennis Nipper. Carrying the gifts was Karla Nipper. At the guestbook was Sandy Eldridge. Piano was played during the evening by Jerry Vanderdoes. Brian Wiggins gave thank-you scrolls.

Special guests were Martha Heinrich, grandmother of the bride, and Charles Warren, Buhl, grandfather of the bride.

Showers were given for the bride by Dea and Karla Nipper and Cheryl Anderson, Dea Bartlett, Penny Barker, Cathy and Sherry Gilson.

The couple spent their honeymoon at "The Homestead" in Heber City, Utah. They will reside in Ogden, Utah, where the bridegroom will continue his education at Weber State College majoring in pre-dentistry.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened mixed Thursday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was off 0.47 to 817.19 shortly after the opening. Advances included 142 to 139, among the 454 issues crossing the tape.

Investors have become increasingly concerned about inflation reports and the rising interest rates and the impact of the Federal Reserve. The week has indicated a trend setting First National City Bank of New York will raise its prime rate to 8 cent from 7 1/2 per cent Friday. A major money management firm Wednesday predicted higher rates.

Analysts said many investors may wait out the session for Federal Reserve reports at the close of trading on the nation's money supply and loan demands at New York's leading banks. Last week's report of a sharp increase in the money supply led to fears the Fed would further tighten credit.

Late Wednesday, the Treasury said it may have to raise between $3 and $6 billion more in new cash than anticipated only a month ago to finance the huge first half federal deficit.

Inflation fears increased when the cabinet failed to override President Ford's veto of a bill extending oil price controls for six months.

Gem, Maine spuds gain

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. CHICAGO — Idaho and Maine potatoes advanced Wednesday.
The May delivery of Idaho russets closed with a 30 cent gain at 15.00 per hundredweight.
Commodity News Service said May Maine spuds wound up with a 50 point limit advance while other months were up from 2 to 45 points. March was up 2, November up 12 and April gained 45. The difference between March and May was attributed to expectations of adequate stored supplies through March. May closed at 17.70.

Wheat futures jumped 7 1/2 to 10 cents on the report of the lifting of the FALCO dock boycott, but finished the day to 4 cents higher with some late speculative buying attributed to a strong performance by soybean oil.
Corn gained on trade ideas of smoother operation of export facilities and office efforts to expedite grain business between the U.S. and Soviet Union. An early advance of up to 7 cents wound up with 3 1/2 to 5 cent advance for the day.
Live cattle hit highs for the year, with brisk short covering fueling the move, which saw October lead with a dollar gain. Cash conditions held firm. The PIES ban is expected to increase production costs. Feeder prices were higher in active trading. Hogs gained for the sixth straight day, with October gaining 122 points and closing at 59.15. Other contracts closed 72 to 100 points higher. Demand for pork products is providing a solid market base. Pork bellies posted limit gains at the opening and stayed there all day, setting seasonal highs. The limit up situation produced light trading of 605 contracts.

The world sugar market moved slightly higher, closing up 20 cent to 30 cent on 3,156 lots. Sugar 12 was settled nominally .08 cent higher but was not traded. The world spot price was hiked a quarter cent to 16.1 cents a pound. The domestic spot price was raised .10 to 18 cents a pound.
Chicago Board of Trade gold closed 1.00 to 1.20 lower, September, ending 70 cents on the day. Fears of higher oil prices which might encourage U.S. gold sales to equalize the balance of trade had a bearish effect.
Nearby silver closed 1.20 cents higher on the CBT, with deferred months gaining 2 to 3 cents widening spreads. Fears of higher oil prices helped bring silver off the lows.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South looked over dummy and applied the C of ARCH. He counted his winners and saw that, while there were 12 in theory, he ought to be satisfied with 11.

Eight trumps and three diamonds would come to 11 and he decided the way to go about this would be to attempt a sort of dummy reversal.

He rose with dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a heart, entered dummy with the queen of trumps, ruffed another heart, entered dummy by leading a spade, used his last trump to ruff a third heart, got back to dummy by ruffing another spade, cashed dummy's last two trumps and the last two diamonds while conceding his last two hearts as losers.

The hand is worthy of considerable study. Note that if declarer goes after 12 tricks, he will have to lead a second diamond early. It will be ruffed by East, whereas a trump lead will reduce South's winners from 12 to 10.

Ask the Jacobys

A letter from Alaska asks what dealer should do with 11 clubs headed by the jack and the ace-queen of spades.

This is one of the oldest joke problems in bridge. As far as we know it was first devised by the late Joseph B. Lee of Brooklyn as an auction bridge question. The catch is that they ask, "What should dealer do?" The answer is, "Get a new pack of cards." In order to have 11 clubs headed by the jack you have to have two that are the same.

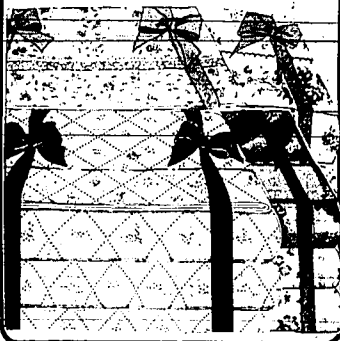

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in the column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

IF-TF, Senator-Buhl games top schedule

Key conference games and football and ten highlight this Friday's high school football schedule.

In the Southern Idaho Conference, the Twin Falls Bruins will take on Idaho Falls at Bruin Stadium while the Minico Spartans will be home to the always tough Highland Rams. There's not a loss yet among the four.

—You'll have to bring your own—and football will be served at Filer where the Wildcats will be hosting the Wendell Trojans in a rare 5 p.m. starter.

The South Central Idaho Conference also boasts to life with mainliners such as Gooding at Buhl and Jerome at Mountain Home and it's a full slate in the Magic Valley and Snake River alignments.

Twin Falls Coach Denny Almqvist felt winning the first two would be crucial to his Bruins' success. He has the Jerome win with an impressive offensive display.

What Idaho Falls brings isn't known. The Tigers just nipped Bonneville in a past return two weeks ago and Skyline lapped the Bees 41-0. Skyline is expected to be a top contender.

Idaho Falls last year was the most amazing offensive team in the league's history. It scored over 45 points three times—and lost them all.

Therefore, the Bruin defense is expected to see all kinds of things. It was the defense that had trouble getting started against Jerome.

"I'm not worried about the defense that much, I know we have some good athletes on the unit and they'll hit people. It's a young unit and should improve right along," Coach Almqvist says.

Minico displayed what it was expected to be in beating Burley Kyle Uscola and the Tigers definitely have the passing game to think about. Mark Schiller to Kale Berriochio give Mountain Home a potent passing—400—and Mark Mangray is a strong runner.

Jerome looked quick with quarterback Greg Thibault and halfback Nick Frings in its juling against Twin Falls. And Thibault to Dave Hefner is now a proven scoring combination.

Wood River takes the SCIC banner to Boise where the two victorious Wolverines meet Bishop Kelly. Glenns Ferry also goes westward, the Pilots traveling to Homedale, traditionally an A-3 grid power.

In the lone Little Five game, the Kimberly Bulldogs, nov 1-1, will be a Valley 1-1, winding up that traditional east-end series.

Cassiaford will take its 2-0 record to Shoshone which is 1-1.

In an all-Cassia County tussle, the Oakley Hornets aim at Rati River's 10-game winning streak while another Magic Valley Conference battle finds Murtaugh at Hagerman.

In eight-man, newcomer Clark County of Dubois will be at Camas County while Hoekland goes to Carey. These will be the first Snake River league games to count in the standings.

Working Filer just is complaining that he isn't getting to see the home team due to the Friday 1 p.m. starts. Since most of them get off at 5 p.m., there should be a good crowd.

At Buhl it's the old defense meeting the old offense. Gooding comes into the thing with a shutout and a 7-6 loss that was no fault of the defense. It came on a blocked punt that gave Bishop Kelly the ball on the three.

Idaho joined by 13 'friends' in bid for compact membership

BOISE (UPI) — Thirteen organizations have joined in support of Idaho's fight in the U.S. Supreme Court to save the anadromous fish runs within the Columbia River Drainage. Attorney General Wayne Kidwell said today.

Kidwell said that former Gov. Robert E. Smylie was representing the organizations, which filed a brief with the court.

The organizations are from Idaho, Washington and Oregon as well as national groups.

Idaho is asking that it receive title to the fish which travel from the Pacific Ocean up the Columbia River to spawning grounds in the Gem State. The state claims it is being deprived of this resource and fears the steelhead and salmon may be destroyed unless Idaho has a stronger voice in the Columbia River Compact composed of Washington and Oregon.

Kidwell said the organizations joined Idaho as "friends-of-the-court" after their board of directors and/or legal counsel had reviewed the state's complaint against its neighboring states and accompanying briefs.

In his brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, Smylie said the organizations are composed of a variety of the constituents who share a common concern over the continuing decline in the anadromous fish runs within the Columbia River Drainage and the injury being done to the valuable and unique natural resource.

"The issue presented to this Court is not simply which state shall have access of the greater plurality, but whether a marvelous and valuable unique life form shall be preserved or allowed to be despoiled," Smylie said.

He said only an "exercise of original jurisdiction" by the U.S. Supreme Court can protect the life cycle of the threatened fish runs. He said the organizations have no alternative available other than the high court to protect their interests.

Smylie said the remedy sought by Idaho will serve their interests and will not burden the court with administrative obligations.

"An order apportioning the rights to fish according to production within each state will encourage the states to increase their facilities for the breeding of fish," Smylie said.

Sage grouse, partridge seasons open Saturday

The upland game bird season, with sage grouse taking the spotlight, opens throughout Magic Valley this weekend.

The sage grouse along with other grouse species and Hungarian Partridge, chukars and quail become legal targets at daybreak Saturday morning.

The sage grouse season will cover two weekends — Sept. 13-21 — in all the Magic Valley counties. The bag limit will be two sage and or sharp-tailed grouse.

To the north Lemhi, Custer and Butte counties will have a Sept. 13-21 season with the limit set at three birds. Again western Owyhee county will have the longest season, running from Sept. 13 through Oct. 5, with the daily limit being three grouse.

For huns, chukars and quail, all of Magic Valley will be open from Sept. 13 through Dec. 28. The daily bag limit is 10 of each species.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department warns hunters to expect spotty success for sage grouse.

Biologists report that the past spring was good for reproduction, the large amount of moisture bringing with it solid foodstuffs such as wide-leaved plants and insects. These provide good building blocks for the young birds.

But at the same time, the brood stock was at about a 10-year low and even bumper nesting conditions could not have returned populations to the abundance that greeted nimrods five and six years ago.

Hunters also may take any mourning doves they find about through the evening of Sunday, which ends a two-week season. All of Magic Valley similarly is open to cottontail and pygmy rabbits from Sept. 1 through Feb. 29. Rabbit limit is eight in aggregate of both species.

Oilers cut six vets

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Oilers Wednesday cut six veterans, including running back Vic Washington and wide receiver Jerry LaVias, two young veterans who ripped apart defenses in their early pro years but who never rekindled the sparks for head coach Bum Phillips.

"You talk about a tough decision," Phillips said. "Both those guys are under 30 years old with plenty of potential left."

Nicklaus, Miller favored

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus and defending champion Johnny Miller lead the talented field for the third annual World Open golf tournament beginning Thursday over the stoney Pinehurst No. 2 course.

the highly touted course, made even tougher this year by higher rough off the fairways.

"Any time you have a tournament on a great course like Pinehurst No. 2 you have the makings of a good tournament," said Nicklaus, the leading money winner this year.
