Energy development corporation proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Ford said today he would ask Congress to create a $100 billion government corporation to accelerate research and development of U.S. natural resources and give the nation energy independence within 10 years.

Ford said the proposed "Energy Independence Authority" will have the power to take any appropriate financial action — to borrow and to lend — in order to get energy action by private industry.

But he said it would "serve as a catalyst and stimulant, working through, not in place of, American industry."

Ford outlined his plan in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Council as he neared the end of a three-day visit to California. His announcement came about a week after the idea was first submitted to him by energy advisors and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

In his speech, Ford left open the question of exactly how the government corporation would obtain the capital to carry out the financial actions he described.

But White House officials said that the corporation would sell federally-guaranteed bonds to the public to get most of the money and that the Treasury would provide initial "seed money" in return for stock in the corporation.

"The time has come for action on energy independence," Ford said. "Accordingly, I will shortly ask the Congress to erase all doubt about the capacity of America to respond."

"I will propose an entirely new $100 billion government corporation to work with private enterprise and labor, to gain energy independence for the United States in 10 years or less."

Ford made two major speech appearances Sunday — first in dedicating a new law school at Stanford University, where he faced a polite but unenthusiastic audience, and later at Disneyland, where he was given a rousing welcome at a banquet of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

The creation of an agency to float loans to private industry for energy research has been under consideration at the White House for several weeks. The ultimate goal is to make the United States independent of foreign energy sources.

Ford's energy advisers and the Domestic Council have scrutinized the plan carefully. It reportedly may involve an outlay of as much as $100 billion, with the private sector footing the major costs.

During the President's brief trip to Anaheim, Calif., Sunday night, he told the gathering-of-insurance executives at the Disneyland Convention Hall he was concerned about those who couldn't find work in America.

Sierra Life testing law

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sierra Life Insurance Co., Twin Falls, has been ordered not to conduct any new business in Nevada or Montana until the company is judged financially solvent under Idaho insurance laws.

The Idaho Department of Insurance requested a hearing in August to study the company's assets. The findings of the independent hearing of lawyer Walter Blinnert, a Boise attorney, are expected to be released this week.

Sierra Life President Fred M. Frazier said today the company was deliberately testing the law on investments.

He said there was no question of the company's financial solvency and added the matter "had been blown out of proportion."

"We don't owe anybody a dime," Frazier said. "We probably got $600,000 in the checking account and nearly $20 million in assets."

According to Chief Deputy Insurance Director David Vaughn, Boise, the hearing was designed to rule on the admissibility of certain company assets.

Idaho and other states, require insurance companies to invest in only certain types of assets, Vaughn said. "Land speculation is not one of the accepted types," he added.

"The cease-and-desist" orders in Nevada and Montana don't affect current Sierra Life policyholders there, according to insurance commissioner officials. The company can still service its accounts, but cannot take on new business.

The assets in question are primarily land holdings, according to Vaughn, including property in California, Colorado and Idaho. The property is not actually owned by the company, Vaughn said, but is held as collateral for loans Sierra Life had made.

The cease-and-desist order was issued in Nevada by action of the insurance commissioner, Vaughn said. Nevada doesn't require a hearing before the commissioner takes action as Idaho does, he added.

Henry proposes new US efforts

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger proposed new American initiatives today towards peace in the Middle East and Korea.

In a major speech to the United Nations General Assembly, Kissinger suggested that one next step in the Middle East would be an "informal multilateral meeting" to decide where to go after the fulfillment of the interim accord he has negotiated between Israel and Egypt.

American officials said Kissinger already had broached the idea to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and that Russia — but not the Palestine Liberation Organization — would be included in the informal talks if all states concerned agree.

On Korea, Kissinger proposed a four-power conference of the United States, China, South Korea and North Korea to discuss how to preserve the 1953 armistice agreement which ended the Korean war and also the possibility of a further agreement.

Kissinger said:

"At such a meeting, we would also be prepared to explore other measures to reduce tension on the Korean peninsula, including the possibility of a larger conference to negotiate a more fundamental armistice."

On the Middle East, Kissinger's speech concentrated on the road ahead — how to "sustain the momentum of negotiations" — after the latest Egyptian-Israeli accord and suggested three possibilities:

"We have made it clear that we are prepared to make a serious effort to encourage negotiations between Syria and Israel."

— Consultations in the coming weeks on the possibility of reconvening the Geneva peace conference, which the United States and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen.

Cattle carving followed death

HAILEY — A Colorado State University pathologist who has been following cattle mutilations around the West says many of the cattle die of natural causes and then are carved up.

Dr. A. E. McCesney, veterinary division pathologist at CSU said the last six cattle he examined in Colorado all died of natural causes and then were mutilated.

The CSU professor believes some of the more recent mutilations in his state and elsewhere are possibly the work of pranksters because knife marks on the carcasses are not smooth or professional.

The ragged saw cuts on recently found cattle in Colorado also could be the work of new members of a satanic cult, McCesney said.

The Colorado professor said reports of bright lights appearing in the night sky during the time of the cattle mutilations correspond with reports in Idaho of unidentified lights on evenings when mutilations occur.

About 15 mutilated cattle have been discovered in Idaho in the last two weeks.

Blaine County ranchers generally believe the mutilations, which usually involve removal of sexual organs, are the work of a satanic cult.

The Colorado professor studying the mutilations agrees that a cult could be involved.

Nixon responsible

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today denied it was holding Richard M. Nixon responsible for an unexplained 18 1/2 minute gap in a White House tape used as evidence in the Watergate investigations.

Herbert J. Miller, Nixon's attorney, told a three-judge federal court panel that Nixon has repeatedly denied in sworn testimony to Watergate investigators he had anything to do with the gap in the tape recording.

Miller challenged Justice Department attorneys to show "that his (Nixon's) personal responsibility was denied under oath."

Erwin Goldbloom, a deputy assistant attorney general, responded by denying the government had accused Nixon of responsibility.

The attorneys were referring to a government brief justifying action by Congress to take out of Nixon's control 42 million pages of White House papers and 888 reels of tapes so they could be preserved for history and, in part, made public.

Tests for Corder

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder remained in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital this morning undergoing diagnostic tests.

Hospital officials said Corder was admitted Friday, but they declined to release information about the tests being made or the length of Corder's expected stay at the hospital.

Corder had previously been reported to have taken a vacation.

Senate panel to probe Anderson plot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence will investigate reports that a senior official in the Nixon White House ordered the assassination of columnist Jack Anderson, a committee spokesman said today.

The Washington Post reported Sunday that Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. (old associates that a "senior" member of Richard M. Nixon's staff ordered him about five years ago to assassinate Anderson.

Egyptian, Israeli negotiations stall

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Egyptian and Israeli negotiators failed to meet an early deadline today for drawing up military protocols implementing the Egyptian-Israeli peace agreement, but met in the afternoon for intensive negotiations.

Probers hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James Schlesinger said Sunday Congressional investigations of U.S. intelligence agencies may already have gone too far and damaged the nation's security.

In a televised interview, Schlesinger, a former CIA director, said the investigations are "running to abuse." He appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Clemency board defends efforts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The majority of the 18-member Presidential Clemency Board today defended the board's year-long effort to reconcile Vietnam-era draft resisters and military deserters against criticism from a four-member minority.

"In the executive order of Sept. 18, 1974, the President indicated his hope was to heal the wounds of a very difficult and trying time in America's history," the 12-member majority said.

Eloise menaces US Gulf ports

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Eloise, packing winds of 85 miles an hour, churned toward the Gulf Coast ports of Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., today and residents boarded up their homes and prepared to move inland.

New Chevette ties for mileage honors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new Chevrolet Chevette — at 33 miles per gallon — gets the best overall gas mileage of any 1976 model American car, the Environmental Protection Agency announced today.

The small Chevette tied with two Japanese imports — the Datsun B210 and the Subaru — for top honors. It was the first time an American car appeared in the top five since EPA began testing for fuel economy.

EPA Administrator Russell Train said overall '76 model cars will average 17.6 miles per gallon, compared to an industry average of 15.6 for 1975 models and 13.9 in 1974.

"The 1976 cars indicate that the automakers have gone more than halfway since 1974 in achieving the President's goal of a 40 per cent fuel economy improvement by 1980," Train said.

The 1976 average figure is 12.8 per cent above last year.

The 33-mile per gallon figure for the Chevette, Datsun and Subaru models is based on city and highway tests. The Chevette won top honors in the city driving category at 30 miles per gallon, compared to 29 for the Datsun and the Subaru.

In the highway tests, the Datsun B210 came out on top at 41 miles per gallon compared to 40 mpg for a Renault and 39 mpg for the Chevette and Subaru.

The worst miles per gallon figure by an American car was recorded by a Plymouth Gran Fury station wagon which averaged 12 mpg — 14 in the city and 15 on the highway.

The absolute rankings in the EPA figures went to three Rolls-Royce models — the Silver Shadow, the Corniche and the Camargue — all of which averaged 11 miles per gallon, 10 in town and 10 on the road.

The Jaguar X-12 also averaged 11, nine in town and 14 on the road.

In the overall city-highway figure, the winning Chevette was a manual transmission with a 98 cubic inch engine. A second Chevette with an 85 cubic inch engine came in second in that category at 32 miles per gallon as did a Renault 5 with a 79 cubic inch engine.

Here are the others in the top five in the city-highway average group:

Peugeot 504 diesel and Peugeot 504 diesel wagon came in third at 30 mpg.

In 4th place at 29 mpg were Audi Fox manual transmission 97 cubic inch, Audi Fox station wagon 97 cubic inch, Austin Morris MG Midget 91 cubic inch, Chevrolet Chevette automatic transmission, Datsun B210 automatic transmission, Subaru Wagon, Triumph Spitfire, Volkswagen Dasher and Volkswagen Dasher Wagon.

Five place at 28 mpg were Audi Fox automatic transmission 97 cubic inch, Audi Fox station wagon, Ford Pinto, Subaru automatic transmission, Subaru wagon automatic, Toyota Corolla, Toyota Corolla wagon, and two additional models of the Volkswagen Dasher.

Ketchum quads home

KETCHUM — "They're fine, they're wonderful! I'm really glad to have them home, that's the best part of it."

Sue Kelleit, Ketchum, was speaking of three of the quadruplets which returned home from a Seattle hospital Sunday.

The fourth baby is still at the University of Washington Hospital for observation but is expected home within two weeks, Mrs. Kelleit said this morning.

Mrs. Kelleit said the quads, her first children, would also be her last. She gave birth to the two boys and two girls after taking two small doses of a fertility drug.

Her husband, Richard, a Ketchum real estate broker, has since had a vasectomy.

"We're very pleased to have them home and get this parenting started," Mrs. Kelleit said of Gwen, Tyler and Lucas, the three babies at home, "because anticipating it was probably the worst part of it."

The fourth child, Abby, is in good health, she said, but simply being held for observation. The babies range in weight from just over three to just over four pounds.

Patty's visitors

Patty may take stand

FORMER HIGH school classmates of Patricia Hearst, Christine Johnson, left and Kate Minott visit Miss Hearst Sunday at the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif. Sunday, Miss Minott said the last time she saw Patty was "just before she was kidnapped." (UPI)

Public statement from Miss Hearst since June 7, 1974, when her tape-recorded voice proclaimed love for Willie Wolfe, one of six Symbionese Liberation Army terrorists killed in a shootout a few days earlier with Los Angeles police.

Miss Hearst, who was wanted on 22 felony warrants, including bank robbery and flight to avoid prosecution, must explain to U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter, who, among other things, she signed "urban guerrilla" as her occupation when she was booked into jail.

Carter denied her release on bail last week, saying he had to be convinced Miss Hearst was not a "flight risk." The FBI sought Miss Hearst for 19 months, as a kidnapping victim and later as a "soldier" in the terrorist group that abducted her.

Her mother, Catherine, after a visit with her daughter at the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City Sunday, said

Security measures elaborate

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — Low key but elaborate — by Idaho standards — security is set up to protect the 11 state chief executives attending the Western Governors Conference here this week.

Richard Cade, director of the Idaho State Law Enforcement, and State Police Capt. Dean Bennett are in charge of 36 officers assigned from the State Department of Law Enforcement.

In addition, they have a backup of local law enforcement personnel should they be needed.

Prior to the conference, the department asked each of the states represented at the meeting. If there were any recent threats against their governors.

Only Montana, whose Gov. Thomas Judge is ill and not in attendance, said there had been a threat. Judge's Helena residence has round-the-clock police protection.

Cade said four governors — those from Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Washington — brought bodyguards with them.

He said the security officers do not anticipate any problems during the three-day conference "beginning Monday, but there's always that chance somebody will be doing something so they will get their name in the paper."

"We've got 24 hour protection around the Lodge Apartments where the governors are staying," Cade said. "Then we will have security at the conference and their other activities."

Only 13 state police are in uniform, "because we want to keep this low key," Cade said.

He added no changes in security precautions for the conference have been made since the assassination attempt on the President.

Regional workshop on needs at Rupert

RUPERT — A regional workshop on school needs assessments was held Friday at Rupert.

The workshop was conducted by John Briggs, consultant on mathematics and on elementary approval for the Idaho Department of Education.

Mindokla County elementary principals and the district's newly-formed needs assessment steering committee were on hand for the all-day session at Washington School here. Others attending included educators from Twin Falls, Buhl, Dietrich, DeLo and other areas in this region.

The workshop was to provide training for spearheading comprehensive assessments of the needs of students and schools in the various districts.

The Mindokla County School District appointed its needs assessment steering committee earlier in the week. It includes Leo Moore, Rudy Santos, Mrs. Harry Whitting, Heyburn Principal Boyd East, East Minnie Junior High Teacher Ann Harding, District Trustee Fern Hunter, Mrs. Ken Stufeldt and District Curriculum Director Floyd Merrill.

Principals in Mindokla County attending the session included Sherman Peck, Acquia; Garth Baker, Washington and Pioneer; Gene Snapp, Memorial and Lincoln; David Borden, Pershing; Lund Christensen, Paul, and Earl Heyburn. Merrill said various committees will be chosen representing the different communities and organizations in the district.

He said the district will seek input from parents, students, community groups and individuals, teachers, trustees and others to ascertain the needs of the students and the schools.

He said the purpose of the assessment is to improve the schools' educational opportunities for the students.

All elementary principals will be involved as part of a new state elementary approval or accreditation process.

Briggs said the assessment involves an overview and specific consideration of problems in order to find solutions for them. He said the state wants each district to have the assessment but there are no penalties for failure to comply.

Doctors introduce plan for Idaho 'peer review'

By DIANE ALTZERS
Twin Falls — A group of Idaho doctors has offered a plan to meet new federal requirements for "peer review."

The federal government requires that boards of physicians be formed by the first of the year to oversee medical services given patients who receive federal benefits like Medicare.

The groups, president, Dr. John B. Meyer, Coeur d'Alene, says the doctors group is trying to keep review in the hands of local doctors and out of federal hands.

Idaho hospital administrators who must agree to some kind of peer review procedure for their hospitals by the end of October, are reacting to the proposal with varying degrees of interest.

The proposal — a cumbersome, densely worded document — stems from a federal law requiring hospitals to review the care given to patients who receive federal benefits like Medicare.

Between 40 and 45 percent of all sick people in Idaho are covered by such funds, Meyer said.

The proposal, a draft memorandum of understanding, was sent to hospital administrators in August, according to Meyer, an anesthesiologist who heads the Idaho Professional Review Organization Inc. (IPRO), a group of Idaho doctors responsible for "peer review" in the state. Under peer review, doctors judge the care rendered by other doctors.

Hospital administrators disagree with some parts of the draft memo and with the way it suggests review be implemented, rather than with the idea of review itself, according to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Adm. James Rosenbaum.

Boise, Oct. 13 — Last month, administrators from 33 of 43 hospitals in Idaho voted to reject the memorandum of understanding, according to Rosenbaum. The action was "unofficial," he said, and official action will be taken when the Idaho Hospital Association's House of Delegates meets Oct. 1.

under the proposal, he said, because the review coordinator must look at them.

The hospital board, medical staff and administration may be circumvented, he said.

Rosenbaum also objected to the memo's basis: "The IPRO (peer review) basically is designed by the federal government to reduce the cost of medical care by reducing service," he said. He said he feared service would cost more as hospitals spend more to hire extra people and perform additional paperwork to comply with the review process.

The review is supposed to reduce the number of days someone stays in a hospital, he said.

But a patient stays fewer days, on the average, in Idaho than in other hospitals in the nation, according to Rosenbaum.

"It will cause the physician to be overcautious as opposed to (using) standard practice," he said.

A committee of doctors, the administrator, nursing director and other officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital already conduct reviews, according to Rosenbaum.

The committee reviews deaths, autopsy reports, infection reports and records, "to determine if there is a need to alter patient care techniques," he said.

The hospital has had review procedures since becoming accredited in 1953, and reviews are part of the accreditation process, he said. "The hospital does even more than required," he said.

"No one objects to a peer review that's not a picky type of thing," he said. "If it's done on the basis of outcome, if the standard of care in a community is brought into consideration."

He said he felt doctors in the hospital would "stand above" doctors in other areas.

The present review committee, known as a "utilization review" board, was not just a rubber stamp, he said. "Frankly, in this hospital, members of the utilization review committee have never hesitated to discipline a physician if he is negligent," Rosenbaum said.

He said some proposed review procedures would "overlap" present ones.

"I don't want to muddy the water," Rosenbaum said, citing a "good strong possibility that we can overcome" disputes over the review proposals.

Physician review organizations must be formed before January 1976, according to the law, which "was passed in response to concern over increasing hospital costs," Meyer said.

"We would rather see this kind of review in our organizations," Meyer said. His organization has a board of doctors now appointed but to be elected by other doctors in Idaho by the end of the year.

Members of the board are subject to recall and approval of peers.

The management and personnel are entirely local and in our control," he said, subject to "certain standards of performance" set by federal law.

The Idaho (IPRO) will represent the different areas of the state, a makeup Meyer said is a result of a "firm stand" his group took against federal officials, who opposed geographic representation on the board.

Of the eight directors on the IPRO board, two will be from southeastern Idaho, two from southwestern Idaho, two from Boise area, he said.

The temporary IPRO board is staffed by practicing physicians who are donating a heck of a lot of time and energy," Meyer said. They include specialists and general practitioners.

Meyer said one of his tasks was to "keep beds at bay."

"We have the law, we have to meet with certain provisions of the law, and we're trying to do that in the best interests of Idaho physicians," he said.

Meyer said he had not heard from the Idaho Hospital Association, and was not aware of any comment from it.

"Quite frankly, I will be very pleased to hear the hospital's specific objections," he said.

"We're required to approach each hospital administrator and seek his signature as an individual," each administrator will be personally approached," Meyer said.

Kootenai Memorial Hospital, Coeur d'Alene, signed the draft memo last month and has been performing all the things mentioned in it, according to Meyer, who said doctors find that reviews are "easier" when conducted under an organized plan.

In fact, he said, Kootenai Memorial had operated under the procedures for about a year, and the program had been "well accepted."

Meyer said the review is "supported by federal dollars, but the entire management of the program is vested in local physicians."

Among the procedures suggested in the draft memorandum are:

— A hospital will work with the IPRO, allowing the IPRO to "evaluate and monitor the effectiveness of the hospital review system."

— The review will be paid for by whoever does it.

— The IPRO may delegate at least one of its review functions to the hospital, but the IPRO is responsible for the hospital review's effectiveness.

— The review will determine if services were medically necessary, that the quality of services meets professionally recognized standards of health care and whether the services could have been done on an out-patient rather than in-patient basis.

Roughly, reviews would determine whether admissions were necessary, whether the hospital stay of a patient was appropriate, whether he or she was discharged properly; The review board has no say over fees charged to the patients, according to the draft statement.

It's up to the hospital and the IPRO to decide who performs certain stages of the review process and each party signs an agreement binding for 12 months, establishing who oversees what. The hospital can decide to change its review functions if new circumstances arise, or its review functions can be changed if it doesn't live up to the agreement it signed, according to the draft memo.

The memo indicates there is evidently some leeway in rules for performing a review, based on local circumstances.

The person who conducts the review, the review coordinator, can be chosen by the hospital or the IPRO, according to the memo. The coordinator must have access to charts, records, and other information, and attend staff meetings. Four medical evaluation studies must be done yearly.

If a hospital conducts its own review, it chooses the coordinator. When a hospital's reviews are conducted by an outside group, the IPRO hires the coordinator, although the coordinator can be approved by the hospital.

"Most bureaucrats will not consult" with the hospital, Rosenbaum said.

The IPRO must help the hospital comply with data requirements and provide technical assistance. Review coordinators, if hired by the IPRO, will be selected with approval of the hospital.

An IPRO stamp of approval must be on each claim for Medicare and Medicaid for the claims to be paid.

On patient's charts, doctors must record the diagnosis, test results before admission to hospital, medical plan, explanations of extended stays in the hospital, reasons for treatment and where the patient was sent after discharge.

Extra water flow slated

SHOSHONE — Magic Reservoir contains 111,800 acre-feet of water, compared to 32,000 acre feet a year ago.

According to Leon Grieve, manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., directors have decided to allot seven days of water to be used in October providing enough Magic water users notify them, directors or the Big Wood office by Monday.

American Falls reservoir contained 539,000 acre feet of water this week, compared to 324,000 a year ago. The American Falls delivery will be cut to 80 per cent by Saturday. Milner-Gooding water will be run until Oct. 10, Grieve said.

Pie fight sweetens 'pot'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The world's largest pie fight was a mess.

An estimated 1,500 cheering fans paid $1.00 each to watch 200 competitors who paid $100 each to enter, had cream pies at each other in a boxing ring at the Cow Palace.

"I never worked service for a pie fight before," a policeman said.

There were 20 teams of 10 players each. Each team was armed with 70 pies "donated" by a bakery.

The event Saturday was to raise funds for the blind. A Lions Club chapter in Belmont thought up the idea.

Judges who included city councilmen and county supervisors scored on direct facial hits. Winners got gold-plated pie tins.

McClure attacks FCC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, today co-sponsored a Broadcast License Renewal Act designed to ease the restrictions and paperwork and extend the license period for broadcasters.

"Broadcasters are continually being harassed by Federal Communications Commission red tape, especially when it comes to renewing their broadcast licenses," McClure said.

"As it now stands," he added, "each broadcaster is faced with possibly losing his license each three years."

McClure said his bill would extend the license period to five years and would require automatic approval of license renewals. If the broadcaster has provided good service to the public.

He said at present "broadcasters face the possibility of having their front doors closed every three years if their licenses are challenged. This is simply not fair and few other industries are regulated so closely."

The senator said major provisions of the proposed act are:

- To provide a five-year license term.
- To require the FCC to renew a station's license providing the station has served the public needs and has not been characterized by serious deficiencies.
- To clarify and simplify the FCC rules, regulations and procedures and to reduce the amount of paperwork required of broadcasters for license renewal.

Governor's aide slaps 'sins' in flack editorial

Editor, Times-News:
As a rule I do not usually comment upon editorials for I recognize of course your right to say what you want on your own editorial page. For several in judgement, I must take exception to the editorial of Sept. 15 entitled "Reprieves needed, not more flacks."
Before making my major point of criticism I would first like to correct some admittedly minor points in the editorial. For example, the "state" did not hire Sandra Walkinson, Dr. Roy Truby did, and his hiring of her obviously had to do with his desire to obtain a qualified and talented person and not because she was probing deeper and deeper into the so-called machinations of the state's Department of Health and Welfare.

The implication that the state bought her off, so to speak is a disservice both to Sandra and to Roy Truby.
You also impugned the integrity of the Lewiston Morning Tribune's aggressive investigative reporter Jay Shelley, for your implication clearly is that at an opportune time he will forsake his dedication to the public good for services to a mere presidential prospect.
Your other possibly minor sin is that of omission, for in the listing of excellent reporters who have become flacks you clearly were remiss in not including on the list your own very talented and highly thought of sister-in-law, Lindy High, who worked for UPJ covering the Staihouse beat for several years.

Fairgoers separated

Editor, Times-News:
During the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo, our family was separated for the rodeo because of an error in judgement, or should I say identity, at the ticket office.
We had called and reserved 10 tickets for reserved seats when the notice first appeared in the Times-News to make sure our family would be together for the rodeo. This was due to losing $20 for tickets in a previous year.
When we picked up the tickets, only 6 were left out of the 10. We were told that someone from our party had picked up the other 4. Family members were found and checked to see if they had picked up the tickets. We found that they had not picked any up. So back to the ticket office we went.
Because of a cancellation we were able to buy other tickets. So three of our family ended up on the top row of the bleachers in row L with the rest in row P in the center. The people who had bought our tickets were complete strangers.
If not for the cancellation, three of our family would not have been able to see the rodeo. The thought of this makes us unhappy as we enjoy rodeos and have not missed one in 18 years.

To correct these errors, we believe that some kind of identification should be presented when tickets are picked up. Or is this like everything else? It helps who you know?

Ruling backed

Editor, Times-News:
We wish to publicly acknowledge and especially to give a big thank you to Attorney General Wayne Kidwell for his recent ruling on the legality of Contests and Sweepstakes in Idaho. The news item did not appear in the Times-News but was carried in the Statesman on Sept. 11th.
Three elements must be present to meet the definition of a lottery, the opportunity to win a prize, the winner determined by chance, and the necessity to pay a valuable consideration.
Mr. Kidwell's ruling clarifies the fact that "valuable consideration" is not present in advertising promotions such as sweepstakes or contests. He emphasized his opinion "does not authorize any wholesale lottery, games of chance or gaming devices."
For the last six years Idaho residents have been unable to enter National sweepstakes because of the former Attorney General's ruling, now Mr. Kidwell has reversed this ruling and I urge all contest fans to write and thank him for his efforts in our behalf.

Elm disease said serious in Valley

Editor, Times-News:
I am writing in reference to the articles in the Times-News Sept. 17 about Dutch elm disease.

As some of the farmers south of Twin Falls could testify, it is a serious problem. Some are without shade trees due to the fact that most of their trees were elms.
In the four or five years since this disease has been in the Magic Valley, it has spread at least as far west as Castleford and as far north as the Jerome area. It has rapidly spread, mainly due to the widespread abundance of the elm leaf beetle which is the prime carrier.

Although it is not very obvious to some, this disease can and does infect the Chinese and the Librarian elms, killing many and severely damaging others. There are trees of this type dying at present from this disease in Twin Falls and surrounding areas. Many Chinese elms have succumbed to it in the midwest.

In some areas such as Boise, the Dutch elm disease has been slowed by timely and consistent spraying and quick removal and proper disposal of diseased trees.
Time seems to be on the side of the disease, however, because most people are not consistent enough nor diligent enough in matters of prevention. Many people feel that the elm is undesirable tree anyway because it is subject to so many bugs and disease, so why bother.

In the east and the midwest where the elm is a very popular tree, much time, money and effort has been spent fighting this dread disease but mostly in vain. They have since replanted with a disease resistant strain developed from those surviving elms with a strong natural resistance.

In many areas, trees are more susceptible to disease if they have been damaged in an unnatural way, such as root damage or bark damage on the trunk. Or if they are suffering from lack of water or poor soil.

What we must decide as individuals is whether our elms are worth fighting for or whether we should just let nature run its course and then replant with something else.

But it might be advisable for those who value shade trees and have all or mostly elms serving that purpose, to consider starting some new trees before they lose their existing trees.
If some of these remarks seem pessimistic, I'm sorry but they are based on very realistic evidence.

Bridge projects urged

Editor, Times-News:
When I came to the Twin Falls area in 1948, there were three old obsolete bridges coming into town.

One across Rock Creek at the hospital with a very sharp curve on the west end of it. Then curving back across another one across Dead Man's Gulch.

The third one was across Rock Creek at Creed's Crossing on South Blue Lakes Boulevard.

All three of these bridges were so narrow that a car and a truck could barely pass on them. One wondered if they were going to fall into the canyon if there was more than one car or truck on them at a time.

Now with the foresight of the Idaho Highway Dept. and the Twin Falls Highway Dist. we have fills with large culverts through them with wide highways on top that are unlike bridges as they need very little upkeep. Bridges are in constant need of repairs and paint. As for the one at Creed's Crossing and the new one being built west of Independent Meat Co. the cost was very little to the taxpayers of Twin Falls as most of the fills were made from unwanted rocks, old concrete and unsightly tree stumps. These were hauled there by farmers, our towns people or contractors who were either doing a job for private citizens or business in or around Twin Falls.

Now we need one more fill to take the place of the old slinging bridge on South Shoshone Street that according to the Idaho Highway Dept. about two years ago, was 12th on the state's list of bridges to be replaced.

Why not bury our bridges so we don't have to be continually repairing and replacing them?

Big US firms bid on Israeli N-station

NEW YORK — Three major American corporations were understood to have submitted proposals last week to build all or part of Israel's first nuclear power station.

According to a report from Tel Aviv and conversations with Israeli sources in New York, the General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corporation and the Babcock & Wilcox Co. presented their bids to the Israel Electric Corporation last Tuesday. The bids — for a plant with an enriched uranium reactor — are scheduled to be opened today.

A spokesman for Westinghouse confirmed Sunday night that his company submitted a bid for a nuclear steam supply system. Officials of General Electric and Babcock & Wilcox were unavailable for comment.

The Israeli corporation, which is 65 per cent owned by the government, plans to construct the plant at an undisclosed site that will have an initial capacity of 600 megawatts. The station, budgeted at a cost of $500 million, is expected to be completed within eight to 10 years.

At present, the installed capacity of Israel's electric utility industry is 1,700 megawatts. A number of new fossil-fueled power stations are also under development or under consideration there — including a coal-fired plant that has been announced recently — which are planned to give the nation an installed capacity of 4,000 megawatts by the mid-1980's.

In requesting bids for the nuclear station, Israel Electric said that the company selected would be required to give special consideration to Israeli concerns in purchasing material and services for the project. It also specified unusually strict controls on security precautions greater than the generally accepted standards in order to fit the country's needs.

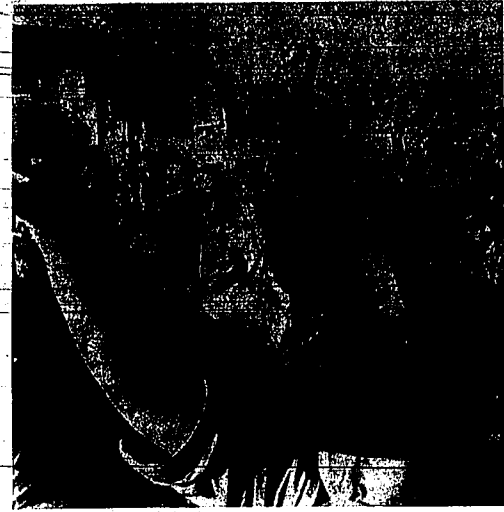

The station, moreover, is likely to provide a market for American companies that are suppliers to the nuclear industry. Many of these companies are also suppliers to the military contractors, who may participate in sales to Israel if its requests for arms are approved by the United States.

By coincidence, the two Israeli government ministers with overall responsibility for the defense and electric utility purchases are now both in this country. Defense Minister Shimon Peres is meeting with American officials in Washington, while Commerce and Industry Minister Chaim Bar-Lev is in New York to promote exports and spur investment in Israel.

A debate has raged within Israel since 1963 over whether to install a nuclear power station. The significance of this decision is heightened by the fact that one of all the energy consumed there is used to generate electricity.

About two years ago, following the start of the energy crunch, the Israeli government decided to go ahead with planning for a nuclear plant. Its goal was to relieve the dependence of foreign oil, which currently supplies the basic raw material for all of its power stations.

Screams of protest

DEMONSTRATORS screamed and raised clenched fists at President Ford during his dedication speech at the new home of the Stanford University Law School Sunday. They were kept 100 yards from Ford by light security. The President was also in the spotlight — here reflected as bands of light — at Anaheim, Calif., Sunday night as he addressed the National Association of Life Underwriters. (UPI)

Ford halts oil program portions in new orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has halted part of his controversial oil import tariff and may eliminate all of it before the month ends, but not before petroleum firms pay $500 million in back fees some oilmen hoped to avoid.

The President hopes to prevent potential winter heating oil shortages, give consumers who rely on imported fuel oil a rapid price break, ease the impact of possible domestic oil price hikes and deny the oil industry a huge windfall profit.

Ford's orders and plans were announced Sunday by Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb, whose agency oversees the tariff system.

Zarb said they would be presented today to a U.S. Appeals Court that earlier ruled the tariff illegal.

Ford is dropping immediately his bitterly opposed 60-cent-per barrel tariff on foreign petroleum products such as fuel oil, Zarb said, with the cutoff retroactive to Sept. 1.

Some importers have delayed ordering winter fuel stocks, waiting to see if the fee would be eliminated, Zarb said. Those ordering fuel while the fee was in effect would be at a competitive disadvantage with those who waited until it was lifted.

Failure to resolve that matter now, Zarb said, "might result in inadequate heating oil stocks to last through an unusually cold winter."

He said elimination of the levy on refined products also will rapidly cut by about 1.5 cents per gallon the costs of imported fuel oil for consumers in New England, Florida and parts of California.

Ford will decide by Sept. 30 whether to order a similar tariff cutoff, also retroactive to the first of the month, for the $2-per-barrel levy imposed on the 5.6 million barrels of crude oil the United States imports each day, Zarb said.

He said the President probably will end the $2 tariff if it appears he and Congress cannot break their stalemate over reimposition of domestic oil price controls, which expired last month.

Dropping the $2 tariff would limit price hikes caused by an immediate decontrol of domestic crude oil to 3 cents a gallon, Zarb said.

Meantime, he said, the FEA will collect from the nation's oil companies some $500 million in import fees for July and August.

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI) — The Australian government sent in bulldozers today to seal a coal mine which apparently died in an underground explosion.

Australia in the eastern state of Queensland met with officials of the Thales-Peabody-Mitsui Coal Co. Sunday night and decided to give up the search for the lost miners.

Ronald Canam, Queensland's minister for mines, told reporters there was no hope of finding the trapped workers alive in the Kingsgate coal mine, 465 miles northwest of Brisbane.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Three bomb explosions jolted Northern Ireland today, echoing a threat by militant Roman Catholics to end a seven-month-old ceasefire with police.

An explosion at Portadown, 30 miles southeast of Belfast, critically injured two police officers. Two other explosions in booby-trapped automobiles rocked the towns of Durgannon and Omagh in June, during two persons, police said.

Saigon resistance grows as economic woes worsen

HONG KONG — Refugees from South Vietnam say that economic conditions in Saigon are becoming increasingly difficult and that there is some continuing armed resistance to the Communists, including a "resistance" radio that broadcasts daily.

These refugees, who escaped on fishing boats or departed on legal plane flights, have also reported that some former South Vietnamese officers and officials taken away for re-education after Saigon's fall last April have still not been allowed to return home.

In several cases, the refugees claimed, bodies of their relatives who had been sent off for re-education had been returned after apparently having been killed while clearing mine fields.

These reports coincide with official disclosures from Saigon in the last few weeks that the Communists after a period of tolerating the old free-wheeling economy, are now moving more forcefully to establish their own type of society.

According to recent broadcasts by Saigon's Liberation Radio, up to 100 leading businessmen have been arrested and their property confiscated, all banks except the official National Bank have been closed, black market gas stations have been put out of business, and Saigon's prostitutes, who had continued to ply their trade with North Vietnamese soldiers, are being re-educated.

The broadcasts charged that the "arrested" businessmen were "bourgeois comparador monopolists" who were still "colluding with the U.S. imperialists" by hoarding goods. No mention was made of how long the businessmen, who included several wealthy Chinese and former leaders in the South Vietnamese government, would be imprisoned.

While accounts of the recent refugees from Vietnam may well be biased and are impossible to confirm, the refugees represent a fairly wide spectrum of old Saigon society.

including a former soldier, a teen-age student, a housewife, a businessman and an athletic instructor.

None of the refugees spoke of serious food shortages. But most of those interviewed in Hong Kong said that widespread unemployment caused by the dissolution of the 1 million-man army, the old government and the closing of many businesses was making life difficult.

The problem, the refugees said, was compounded in Saigon by the difficulty of withdrawing money from the banks. Before all private banks were shut this month, a depositor was permitted to withdraw only 10,000 plasters a month for every 100,000 plasters in his account, or about $5 by current rates.

Nuclear weapons, not for Mideast

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — President Ford has put the United States on record as having "no present intention" to provide nuclear weapons capability or know-how to any Middle East nation.

Ford also said there will be a study of the "whole range of development and use" of Pershing surface-to-surface missiles, capable of carrying nuclear warheads, if the United States eventually decides to provide Israel with the missiles.

At a question-and-answer session with students at Stanford University Law School Sunday, the President said he could not categorically say whether or not Israel has nuclear capability.

Asked by a student whether he would try to determine prior to any sale of whether nuclear warheads on the missiles, Ford replied: "They want substantial arms and, in the case of the Pershing missile, the precise language says we will study it."

"I am certain that in the process of studying... we will cover the whole range of development and use."

"We have no present intention of giving any Middle East nation a nuclear capability that would include expertise for development."

Defense Secretary James Schlesinger said Sunday no Pershing missiles could be delivered to Israel until 1978 even if a decision was reached now to provide them.

Asked about the possibility the United States might engage in covert political activities involving the overthrow of a foreign government, the President said: "I wouldn't want to indicate our government is going to interfere in any place in the world, or is going to get involved either overtly or covertly."

Chou takes bad turn?

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, 77, hospitalized almost a year and a half by an undisclosed ailment, may have taken a turn for the worse.

Diplomatic dispatches from Peking cited the premier's failure to meet with former British Prime Minister Edward Heath as an indication that Chou's condition may be deteriorating.

Heath Sunday met Mao Tse-tung, the 61-year-old Chairman of the Chinese Communist party, at the end of his weekend visit to the Chinese capital.

Chinese officials told Heath that Chou also wanted to see him — but doctors forbid the meeting, diplomatic sources said.

Boston teachers reject offer

By United Press International
Boston teachers roundly rejected the school board's "final offer" and vowed to defy a court order and take to the picket lines today, posing yet another problem for the city's school system, still in the throes of a controversial desegregation program.

Strikes elsewhere affected more than half million students.
Boston police beefed up security and said teachers would be subject to regulations concerning large gatherings and picketing. The regulations were instituted two weeks ago, when classes resumed under the second phase of a court-ordered busing desegregation program.

Union President Henry Robinson said the teachers would obey the rules, which forbid picketing within 100 yards of any school.
"The teachers' strike is on," Robinson said early today.
The strike against the 84,000-student Boston school system will "create great confusion in the schools," School Committee Chairman

John McDonough said "Frankly, I don't know where it will lead."

McDonough said schools would open with substitute teachers and maybe some regular teachers.

"Hopefully, many dedicated teachers will show up," McDonough said. "We are urging parents to send their children to school."

What the committee called its "final offer" was rejected at about 2:20 a.m. by Boston Teachers Union negotiators. The round-the-clock negotiations broke off at that time.

The union voted Sunday night to strike because of failure to agree with the committee on a new contract to replace one which expired earlier this month.
A strike would violate state law against such job actions by public employees and an injunction, based on the law, issued by a state judge.

Both sides said the main point of disagreement was a proposal by the committee that instructors work three extra hours a month without pay.

Strikes were settled in the San Jose, Calif., area, in Colonie, N.Y., and in Waukegan, Ill., but other strikes, idled some 565,600 students.

Pennsylvania, Florida and Massachusetts were hardest hit.

Massachusetts strikes, including the Boston walkout, affected 102,000 students.
Strikes in 20 Pennsylvania districts affected nearly 113,000 students. Teachers in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., defied a court order to return to work and continued a strike to press for salary increases. The strike affects 140,000 students.

'Irritant'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson said he knew he was an "irritant" during the Watergate period but he had no reason to believe that Nixon administration leaders would order up his death.
Nevertheless, Anderson said Sunday he had to take seriously the Washington Post report that E. Howard Hunt Jr. had been instructed by a top White House official to assassinate him because the writer of the story was Pulitzer Prize winner Bob Woodward, who helped crack the Watergate intrigues.

Group claims bombings

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — A clandestine right-wing terrorist group today claimed responsibility for the weekend bombing of Prime Minister Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo's holiday residence.

Anonymous telephone callers told international news agencies the Portuguese Liberation Army, known locally as the ELP, early Sunday morning bombed the seaside palace where Azevedo was spending the weekend.

The ELP, a right-wing group formed to overthrow Portugal's leftist military regime, also took responsibility for six other weekend explosions around the country.

Doctors ordered to explain case

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — The foster parents of Karen Ann Quinlan, who has been kept alive for five months by an electric respirator, want doctors to let their 21-year-old daughter die because there is no hope of her recovery.

A judge has ordered Miss Quinlan's doctors to explain why they should not obey her parents' wishes, but Morris County Prosecutor Donald Colonna says the end-of-medical-care for the young woman may be homicide.

Death would be painless, instant and certain if Miss Quinlan's respirator is cut off. A church hearing was scheduled today before Morris County Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr. The legal definition of death, as argued by doctors and lawyers, is a key factor in the case.

Assured by physicians that there is no hope for Karen's recovery, Joseph Quinlan and his wife Julia have asked their daughter be allowed to die "naturally" and "with dignity."
The Quinlans — Roman Catholics with two-teen-age children of their own — said Karen has suffered irreparable brain damage, so her heartbeat and occasional brain waves are maintained only by the respirator, which has cost her family between $100,000 and $200,000.

Karen is a "vegetable," Mrs. Quinlan said.
The couple asked the judge to declare their daughter mentally incompetent and to appoint Quinlan as her legal guardian so they can authorize the "discontinuation of all extraordinary means sustaining vital processes."

On the other side, the prosecutor said the request could constitute homicide. Others interested in the outcome of the court action were Gov. Brendan T. Byrne, Attorney General William F. Hyland, the New Jersey Medical Society and the state Bar Association.

The suit is considered a precedent because it asks a court to condone in advance the termination of artificial devices and at the same time to block prosecution of those involved in that decision.

Doctors originally said they could not diagnose Karen's disease. Last week, however, a prosecutor said the young woman either took a drug overdose or suffered a reaction to a mixture of drugs and alcohol.

US ocean liner purchase eyed

ROME (UPI) — The disclosure of a cancer treatment described as useless — and possibly dangerous — by health officials says he may buy the U.S. ocean liner to depend on for use as a floating hospital.

West German J.S. Guentner said Sunday in Geneva he would try to purchase the Independence from the United States Line if "Italian mentality" prevents him from buying two vessels in Italy for $24.5 million.

Communist lawmakers asked parliament over the weekend to suspend the sale of the Italian Line flagships Michelangelo and Raffaello pending investigations of Guentner's "Fronada" microwave cancer treatment device.

"The use of these methods of treatment, have stirred an international scandal in highly qualified scientific circles, which stress the speculative character of this initiative," the lawmakers said in a statement.

Dr. Umberto Veronesi, director general of the Italian National Institute for the Study and Treatment of Tumors, said it is "unthinkable" to treat cancer patients aboard a ship.

"The disease, more than any other, needs combined treatment, highly specialized and interdisciplinary, and requires sophisticated investigation and complex apparatus," he said.

Guentner claims to have cured some 2,000 patients in Perth, Austria, over a two-year period. But the Australian National Health Service said last spring the device is ineffective and may cause cataracts and sterility.

He says his machine "can cure tumors in 80 per cent of the cases if it is begun within the first seven months of the start of the disease."

Murtaugh teenager finds success

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

MURTAUGH — A Murtaugh teenager is one of the busiest and most successful junior horsewomen in Idaho. Julie Conrad is only in her third year of competitive riding. She is secretary of the Idaho Junior Quarter Horse Association, a group with about 80 members in its second year of existence. Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Conrad, Murtaugh area ranchers, and is a junior at Burley High School. She has won 50 first places and placed in the top six 116 times this season. She travels some 20,000 miles in a season to compete in youth events. Often she shows one day and then rides all night to compete the next day at another competition. One August trip is just an example. She left Farmington at 6 p.m. one day after a show and had to show again in Boise at 8 a.m. the following day. Recently Julie won the all-around American Quarter Horse youth trophy at Burley. She rode Lady's J. Hancock to first place in horsemanship, western pleasure and trail. She was second in showmanship and cow-cutting and sixth in reining, polebending and the stake race. In the same show she won grand championship mare aboard Miss Bar Dette. Earlier this year, Julie won the all-around trophy at Bligny and at Moscow. Julie now competes in as many as 10 events and consistently places in the top six. Her circuit includes Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon and Utah. Her victories over the past season qualified her for the American Junior Quarter Horse national finals in Tulsa, Okla. She did not go because of previous commitments on her show circuit. Julie begins training each year in March. Her season is not over until September. Each day she rides each of her horses about an hour, spending a few minutes on each of the 10 events. Miss Bar Dette has been a grand champion several times, including the Western Idaho Quarter Horse Show at Boise. Julie won first place in showmanship there out of 28 entries. Besides training her horses, Julie helps with the ranch work. She does share of branding, dehorning and vaccinating, as well as driving tractors, trucks and pickups. The proudest possession is a plaque received in 1973 naming Goldie Bars the American Quarter Horse Association "supreme champion." Goldie Bars was only the fifth mare in the world to receive that honor.

Home mortgage rates rise

LOS ANGELES — Home mortgage rates are moving up again, threatening to cause more problems for the nation's housing industry just as it is inching out of its worst recession in more than a decade. Most of the country's largest savings and loan associations and many commercial banks have raised their basic home mortgage interest rates by one-quarter to one-half of a percentage point during the last two weeks or so.

US rehab programs facing lean days

TWIN FALLS — America's rehabilitation programs are facing their leanest days since the movement began, according to Richard Corbridge, rehabilitation specialist. Corbridge, rehabilitation liaison for the Region office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said "Priorities seem to be confused when as much money was spent in Vietnam in one day when the war was at a peak as was appropriated nationally for rehabilitation services for one year." Corbridge presented this opinion Wednesday as guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services (MVRS) at which time the trustees for the upcoming year were elected. Newly elected MVRS trustees are C.E. Bossard, president, and Robert J. Colner, both Twin Falls; Theodore O. Gresson, Rupert; Neil Cross, secretary, Eden; Lloyd Duncan, treasurer, Jerome; Mrs. Dolores Hansen, Shoshone; Mr. K.E. Frank, Burley; Mr. James T. Jones, vice president, Eden, and Mrs. Helen H. Lucke, Gooding. Awards were presented to those individuals and businesses providing assistance in the development and growth of MVRS during 1975. Those honored were Bennett's Twin Falls Glass and Paint Co., Crown Printing, George K's, KMYT, Perry Plumbing Co., Inc., Twin Falls County commissioners, Twin Falls office of Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Services, Twin Falls Lions Club, 21st Engineers Company D, U.S. Army Reserve; Miss Vicki Kidd, career development officer, Community Action Agency; Tony E. McNevin, senior program director, Idaho Department of Health and Welfare; Donald Rahe, CPA; Chris B. Talkington, and Florence Vinkenberg, executive housekeeper, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Awards of special significance were the Advocate of the Year Award presented to Kathie Parker, rehabilitation specialist III, Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Service and the Outstanding Employer of the Year Award presented to the Atley Motel and Restaurant.

Industry leaders attribute the increase largely to the growing impact of increased federal borrowing, which, some say, has begun to cause an outflow of savings from their institutions into higher-yielding Treasury bills and notes. They are divided, however, over the extent to which federal borrowing will continue to force mortgage rates upward. In California, where mortgage rates dipped to as low as 8 1/2 per cent last spring after approaching 11 per cent last fall, major savings and loan associations have raised rates to 9 1/2 per cent or 9 3/4 per cent since Sept. 1. Until then, the prevailing rate was 8 1/2 to 9 per cent. The monthly payment on an average home is approximately 25 higher on a mortgage at 9 1/2 per cent than at 8 1/2 per cent. There are scattered regional exceptions, but the pattern is much the same elsewhere around the country as it is in California, where interest patterns have tended to provide a preview of national patterns. In Columbus, Ohio, for example, the Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association raised its prime mortgage rate last week to 9 3/4 per cent, an increase of one-quarter percentage point a week after the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Association in Texas made the same move. In Denver, the Western Federal Savings and Loan Association increased its home-loan rate to 9 1/4 per cent from 8 per cent only a few weeks after it had moved up from 8 1/4 per cent.

There rates apply to conventional home loans, which account for more than 80 per cent of the total. Last week, in another reflection of the tightening money market for home loans, the Department of Housing and Urban Development raised the ceiling on government-insured Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration Loans to 6 per cent from 5 1/2 per cent. In New York, state law puts an 8 1/2 per cent ceiling on such loans.

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M. D.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I have cystic acne on my back and face, also on the chest. It has left unsightly scars. I am under the care of a specialist who injects the cysts in the facial areas. For the acne on my back and chest skin medication is used.

I have been on antibiotics for two years, which in my opinion is a long time.
 What are the causes of acne infection? Does the blood condition have any direct influence? Generally, I am careful to have a balanced diet. Also, can I have dermabrasion on my chest and back, or on my face? — T. S.

This is a rather vicious type and difficult to handle. Vicious because it is unsightly, difficult because it requires special and painstaking attention to control.

Sebura thick, oily substance secreted by tiny glands at the skin surface, is the fault: In cystic acne, this sebura builds up and becomes much like the core of a boll, acting as foreign body. Infection can occur around this. In such cases, a specific infecting organism can be identified in the pustules.

Cystic acne vicious kind

I have used antibiotics for two years. Prolonged use often is necessary—killing of the cysts and removal of the "poor" bacteria. Lancing of the cysts and removal of the "poor" bacteria is necessary. Your blood is not a factor. Diet can be tried. This attention to diet should be more than just a general balance. In some cases, a beer for example, can worsen the condition. Flare ups can occur with other foods, chocolate being a notable offender. Since iodides are often a factor, use of plain non-iodized salt is recommended. (Iodine high) and "rich" foods such as pastries.

Derabrasion is a procedure to remove the scars resulting from acne. It is not helpful in curing the active condition. Once your acne becomes inactive, then you might discuss this with your specialist. For now it seems, at least from your letter, that attempts be made to control your condition is the best program.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 You have spoken about the irreversibility of a tubal ligation and of a vasectomy. Why wouldn't it be possible to withdraw sperm following a vasectomy by inserting a needle into the appropriate place, then using it in artificial insemination when desired?

Surely, sperm still form. They just have no way of exiting. If that is where they were, they use them if one wants to? — M. C.

I don't know of any work going on in this specific area. Your letter sounds like a possibility, but I'm not sure how practical it would be.

Does the sperm does continue to be formed in the body following a vasectomy, and true, they have no way to exit via the testes was duct. But after that your theory may fall apart.

There are many problems. It is not clear, for example, just how subjective the body is in manufacturing sperm after a vasectomy. Nor is it clear how viable such trapped sperm would be for the question of quality arises.

Considering such possible drawbacks and the rather special technique that would be required to obtain the sperm and keep it viable in the process, the chances of successful artificial insemination such as you suggest would seem rather remote.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 Can a person have varicose veins in the hands? Mine are pretty prominent, and I'm wondering whether they are what are called varicose. — Mrs. T.R.

Varicose veins are found in the legs because they represent a circulation problem that stems largely from the fact that the weakened vessels do not allow the blood that puddles in them to overcome the laws of gravity. Faulty valves in the vessels are a factor.

You are probably a third person, which makes the veins in your hands seem more prominent than they really are. They are not varicose veins, though.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's book, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3009, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is for FLAT, the 14-year-old girl with the 30AA bra—and for all the other women, young and old, who wish they were bigger.
 I've been there. When I was 14, I was tall and skinny, and wore a 32AA.
 Now I'm 23 and wear a 38D. Believe me, there are better things to wish for.

It's hard to find clothes that fit or blouses that button without gaping. Finding a bathing suit to conceal my top-heaviness is next to impossible. I can't wear sweaters or blouses without being stared or whistled at, and I've even been subjected to obscene remarks from strangers.
 So tell that 14-year-old to pray that she stays slim. It's a lot easier to cope with.

PULCHRITUDINOUS IN PASADENA

DEAR "PULK": Now let's hear it from a male in Oregon:

Bust size unimportant

DEAR ABBY: About your reply to FLAT—the 14-year-old girl who is worried because "all the dudes go for the buxtyop chicks."
 You advised her to forget about those phony creams and gimmicks to enlarge her bust. You got an A on that.

You advised her to be "patient." You got a C on that because many women in their 20s, 30s and 40s are still waiting patiently for that great "miracle" to happen—which seldom does.

You advised her to wear a padded bra so she would "at least look better in clothes." On that, Dear Abby, you got an F! The poor girl has already swallowed too much cultural nonsense about a female's worth being directly related to her chest measurement.

Abby, no intelligent man gives a hoot about the size of a woman's breasts. It's the person they're attached to that counts.

OREGON MALE

DEAR MALE: I'll take the A and C, but please be fair and mark that "F" up "tr" + "d."
 I agree, we should accept the bodies God gave us, but most insecure adolescents need a little bolstering (and upholstery) until they attain that enviable state of total maturity.

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your advice. However, your response to the poor, flat-chested 14-year-old girl ("get a padded bra") was a crock of polyfoam!

A-OK

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letters from FLAT, I felt I should reply.
 One of my best friends is 14, and she's also flat, but she's the most popular girl with the boys at the parties we have.

She may be flat, but she has a wonderful personality, and people just love to be around her. She's very kind and never puts anybody down and is the kind of person who makes friends right away with girls and boys, too.

Sure, there are a lot of boys who just want a girl for her body, but who needs a guy like that?
 I'm 14, 6-foot-8, 119 lbs. and don't have much of a bust either, but it doesn't bother me a bit because the right kind of boy won't care.

FLAT AND HAPPY

DEAR ABBY: Tell FLAT to thank God for her healthy little breasts. May they always remain healthy. Sign me, DOUBLE MASTECTOMY.

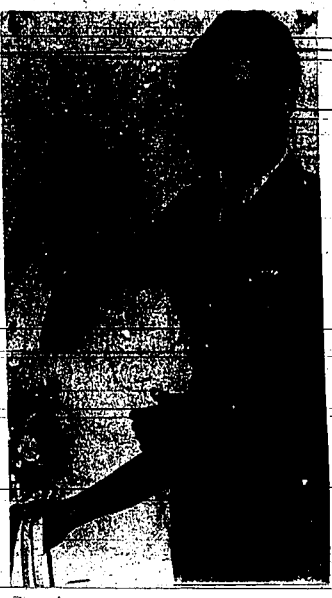

DEAR ABBY: May I give FLAT a little advice?
 If you envy all those big-busted girls because the boys look at them, you'd better be glad they're looking at THEM and not you!

I'm in and also flat, but I consider myself lucky because when a boy looks at me, I know it's not because I'm big-busted.

So consider yourself lucky, because when the right guy comes along, he'll love you for what you are, not for what you have!

The bride was graduated from Jerome High School in 1974 and has been employed at the A and W Drive-In and Paul's Market, Jerome.

Yawn! Superb play wins again

Jim: "This caused North to come out of his shell and in spite of the fact that he was sure his partner held only four hearts, North jumped to the heart game."
 Oswald: "There wasn't too much to the play. Just one very good play by South at trick three. The defense had started with three rounds of spades and South quickly discarded a club from his hand instead of ruffing. West shifted to the king of clubs, but the boat had sailed without him. South won, drew trumps and discarded his last two losing clubs on dummy's two diamonds."

Ask the Jacobys

A Hawaiian wants to know what is meant by double dummy play.

If bridge were played with two players and two dummies it would mean that each of the two players would know where every card was. Thus, they would be able to make all perfect plays. In other words, double dummy play is that which would occur when the location of all cards was known.

Oswald: "South really got a lot of mileage out of his 15 high-card points. His reverse in two hearts had to represent his full strength and then some. Yet after West tried two spades and North passed, South refused to give up and tried three diamonds."

6 escape serious injury

HAILEY — Six area people escaped serious injury when the pickup truck they were riding in flipped Friday night between Ketchum and Hailey.

Gary Haworth, 25, the driver, Rodd Heinlein, 26, Robert McCroskey, 31, Linda Bassett, 27, and Paula Starr, 27, all Ketchum, and Michael Root, 27, Sun Valley, were treated at Moria Community Hospital and released.

The 1974 pickup owned by Root Hotel Builders, Sun Valley, was northbound about 10 p.m. Friday night when the accident occurred. The vehicle was travelling too fast to negotiate a curve causing it to leave the right side of the road, according to the state police report.

The driver then over-corrected as the vehicle struck a delineator post and came back on the road causing the vehicle to roll. The pickup came to rest on its top on the left side of the road.

5 injured in trailer fire

CAREY — Five people from Paul are in guarded condition today at Blaine County Hospital following a trailer fire Friday night near Carey.

Art and Louise Hadley were camping by the Little Wood River Bridge eight miles south of Carey, Friday night, with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Hadley, and two grandchildren, when the fire erupted about 10 p.m. Friday. Blaine County deputy sheriff, Don Green, said Mrs. John Hadley was taking a gas lamp to the door of the trailer to fill with fuel. She reported, later, the fire erupted from the lamp and spread rapidly.

John Hadley fell directly into the flame according to Green, but was picked up by the belt and thrown out of the blazing trailer by Art Hadley.

Art Hadley received severe burns, when he re-entered the trailer to rescue his granddaughter who was asleep inside. He wrapped her in a blanket and passed through the fire again on his way out.

Mobile home hit by fire

BURLEY — Fire partially gutted a mobile home Sunday evening at the Bel Aire trailer court here.

The fire broke out about 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Harry L. Jackson home.

Firemen confined the blaze to the living and dining areas, but damage was estimated at $700. The pilot to the gas furnace had been left on.

Burley fire officials said ventilation was not adequate and the fumes ignited, causing a flash over. They said Jackson was singed but suffered no burns.

The Burley fire department sent two pumps to the scene and put the fire out in a few minutes.

KH Grange meet set

KING HILL — The King Hill Grange will meet Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Grange Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson will serve on the refreshment committee. Election of officers for 1975-76 is planned.

BSU headquarters for program

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State University will be the headquarters of a new program, designed to improve special education in Idaho this year.

Lynn Ellis, who worked on a special project last year at BSU, has been chosen to administer the state-wide program and coordinate a team of regional consultants located at each of Idaho's three universities.

Under the new program, the Idaho Department of Education will look at school district needs for handicapped students while the three consultants will offer ideas, new materials and in-service training to local special education teachers.

Cascade said 'good source'

CASCADE, Idaho (UPI) — The Cascade area has "good geothermal potential," according to a Boise State University geologist who spent most of the summer studying the region.

For two months Dr. Monte Wilson of the BSU geology department did geologic mapping to pinpoint faults in the Cascade area that might contain pockets of hot water. He also located eight hot springs in the region and conducted tests to determine the temperature of the subsurface water.

Based on these findings, Wilson commented the land around Cascade "could be a good source of geothermal space heat."

Ketchum meet scheduled

KETCHUM — A public meeting will be held by the Governor's Advisory Council on Comprehensive Health Planning on Thursday Oct. 2.

The meeting at the Holiday Inn will be held to present the findings of its special task force that was established to assist in the implementation of the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974 (P. L. 93-641).

This task force has been analyzing the Governor's Executive Order No. 75-4 in relationship to P. L. 93-641. A document has been prepared that will be reviewed at the public meeting. Dr. Fred Gruber, chairman of the task force, encourages responses from interested groups and individuals.

Copies of the document may be obtained through the Health and Welfare, Statehouse, Boise 83720 (384-3269).

TF police probe break-ins

TWIN FALLS — Police today were investigating two apparently unrelated break-ins at and near Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

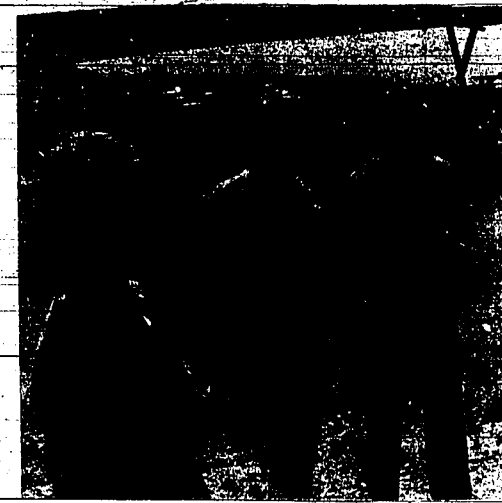

Pediatrician Dr. E. H. Wright, Twin Falls, told police his car was broken into Saturday during the day while it was parked on the west side of the hospital. Taken, Wright said, were a medical bag, a tape player and other articles valued at about $50.

The second break-in occurred late Saturday when a screen was pryed off and a window latch broken to gain entry to the pharmacy on the first floor of the hospital.

According to police reports, drawers in the pharmacy had been pulled open but no drugs or other supplies were reported taken.

The break-in occurred between 10:15 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., according to hospital employees. A male nurse told police he observed two men running across the hospital lawn after hearing a noise from the pharmacy area.

Chief of detectives Tim Qualls said there was "nothing to tie together" the two break-ins. No narcotics were known to have been in Wright's medical bag, he said.

County tour

BLM, TF officials tour 'mutual concern' areas

TWIN FALLS — U.S. Bureau of Land Management officials and the Twin Falls County Commission Thursday toured the county to study what the commissioners termed "areas of mutual concern."

Nick Cozakis, manager of BLM's Burley District, led the tour, an annual event that permits county officials to comment on federal land uses.

The group reviewed Idaho Power Company's request to erect a major powerline which would enter the county north of Jackpot, Nev., and run northeast to the Hunt substation in Jerome County.

The power firm has filed for the right-of-way but final alignment of the line has not been determined, according to Josh Warburton, manager of BLM's Magic Resource Area.

He said the BLM has suggested that the line enter the county east of Salmon Falls Creek, which would eliminate the need to cross the waterway south of Salmon Falls Reservoir as proposed by the power company.

The visual impact of the line would be decreased under the BLM plan, Cozakis said. Idaho Power claims the BLM route would cost an extra $50,000 because it would be longer, he added.

Cozakis said the final route should be determined this year and construction may start next year.

The BLM and county officials also visited the Salmon Falls recreation site, where Warburton outlined progress on a resource study of Salmon Falls Canyon covering a 20-mile section north of the reservoir.

TWIN FALLS County Commissioner Ann Cover, Bureau of Land Management area manager Josh Warburton, and BLM really specialist Karl Simonson, from left, met Thursday at Salmon Falls Reservoir recreation site. The county commissioners and BLM officials toured the county to view areas of "mutual concern."

Animal and plant resources are being "inventoried," as well as archeological sites, he said. The BLM will propose "some sort of protective withdrawal" that will keep significant parts of the canyon in public control, according to Warburton.

The group also discussed: — a 400-acre tract of BLM land on the Snake River north of Buhl that could be turned over to the county for use as a recreational site. The land lies in an area known as the Buhl Sand Dunes and fronts on a section of the river facing Box Canyon on the north. Warburton said the site might be used by off-road vehicles, picnickers and campers and for water-based sports.

— federal plans to designate new areas in the proposed Salmon Project for preservation of wildlife. Warburton said many previous designations are unsuitable, especially for production of pheasants. He said the lands will be turned over to the Idaho Fish and Game Department, which might encourage limited agricultural use of the property to provide cover for the animals. This "sharecropper" concept has worked well in other states, according to Warburton.

— a 320-acre tract south of the Twin Falls County Airport that has been set aside under a federal land-use plan for recreational uses. The county currently has a land fill on part of the property. Several groups, including a gun club and a model plane flying club, have requested use of the site. The county has submitted a plan to take control of the property for multiple recreational uses.

Local controls said TF policy

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

Twin Falls — Local control in granting federal Farmers Home Administration (FHA) home loans has always been the rule in Twin Falls County, according to an FmHA official.

"Our policy in Twin Falls County has been this all along," Russell Gibler, FmHA supervisor of Twin Falls County, said today.

On Friday Frank Elliott, national administrator of FmHA, said his agency plans to halt further home loans in any part of Idaho if local officials request it. Elliott made the announcement "after touring" several FmHA-financed subdivisions in Ada County with Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Many city and county officials have charged that the FmHA loans encourage urban sprawl. Currently, the federal agency grants home loans only if the developments are outside major population centers. Critics claim this causes a drain on city funds when the developments require public services such as water and sewers.

Critics of the FmHA say the loan policy represents federal sabotage of local planning. However, Gibler today said "any subdivision must be approved by the county before we even look at it. This has 'always been our policy,' he added.

Gibler said Elliott's announcement probably "will reinforce the local governing bodies. They will realize that the federal government isn't going to roll over them."

About 150 home loans totaling more than $3 million were granted in Twin Falls County last year, according to Gibler.

Asked if a moratorium on FmHA loans is possible in Twin Falls County, Gibler said that action is more likely in Ada County, where "huge" subdivisions have been built south and west of Boise.

Local officials there have said they want to stop "this monster," Gibler added.

City Manager Jean Milbr today said Twin Falls probably will take action on the FmHA loan policy through the Association of Idaho Cities (AIC).

An AIC panel is studying the situation, he said. Local officials "really like the cities of Idaho will work — through the association," he added.

Twin Falls County Commissioner Ann Cover said the county officials "haven't discussed" Elliott's announcement yet. However, "I don't believe we have near the problems that Boise has," Mrs. Cover said.

25.6% hike asked by IP

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

BOISE — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission today opened cross examination proceedings into Idaho Power Company's request for a 25.6 per cent general rate increase.

Idaho Power Co. proposed the increase, which would bring $24.5 million more revenues to the utility, last June and the public utilities commission has until the end of this year to decide the case.

In earlier testimony the power company presented its case for the increase. Now the commission, plus a wide group of intervenors, will question the company on its presentation and the intervenors will cross examine company presentation.

"The proposed rate increase would not be spread evenly to all users. Hardest hit would be Idaho Power's large industrial users, with Monsanto Corp. paying 174 per cent more for special contract rates for the large power. The average increase for the large Power experiences peak load on its system."

In previous presentations of their case, power company officials said the 10 per cent higher summer rates would tend to bring conservation of energy at times when the utility has the most demand on its system.

Intervenor's in the case include representatives for irrigators, the federal government, Monsanto Corp. and consumer groups as well as Utah Power and Light Co.

The commission has sent aside this week to hold the cross examination hearings. Intervenor groups will be able to present their case on the proposed rate hike in hearings to be held later.

Canyon road problems studied

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

ALBION — Rocky, steep and with a washboard surface describes the seven miles of Howell Canyon road to Pomerelle Ski Resort and the adjacent snowmobile area.

Woody and Sandy Anderson, operators of the ski resort, are trying to find some way to get the road paved.

The Albion Chamber of Commerce supports the effort and the Burley Chamber of Commerce has turned the subject over to its highways committee for study.

Jurisdiction over the road lies with the Cassia County Board of Commissioners and the Bureau of Public Highways districts. They accepted responsibility for the road in July, 1963.

The Forest Service spent $208,000 to provide rough grading and drainage for the road from Highway 77 beyond the Pomerelle winter sports area. The local groups agreed to maintain it and put asphaltic concrete on the surface as soon as economically feasible.

So far there is no pavement. The Burley Highway District maintains the road but has no plans for pavement at present.

The drive up the canyon is beautiful, but it can only be fully appreciated when the car is stopped and the washboard road cannot jostle the passengers.

The dirt and gravel surface has been dug down to rocks by winter and summer drivers who travel the road for recreational activities.

Hunters travel the road in the fall. Most come from Minidoka and Cassia counties and from Twin Falls and Pocatello areas.

Pomerelle stands at 7,600 feet elevation, about 2,000 feet above Highway 77 seven miles by road. The present ski lift japs up 8,700 feet. Harrison Peak is 9,255 feet.

Besides serving the ski resort, the rough road connects nine summer homes near Thompson Flats. The Bureau of Land Management also has a lookout tower on the mountain top.

The service has a quest hut and moves a trailer lookout in for the summer.

The Andersons are not optimistic that the highway district will pave the road. Woody pointed out, "The cost of asphalt paving has gone up dramatically," adding that the problems of road work "are tough enough without them taking on a project like this."

He said the Burley district does an "outstanding job" on maintaining, grading and snowing the road.

But Anderson hopes there are funds somewhere that can finance the paving project. He suggested "the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation."

Contact those in the Idaho Department of Industry and Tourism, Sen. Vard Chaburn is working on the effort for funds.

Jackie Parke, Gooding, who dropped a third place Saturday night relinquishing the first place position to Irene Hughes, who received a time of 13:21 seconds. Second place went to Lisa Sagers, Rexburg, and fourth place to Shirley Daniels, Gooding.

In the novice goat tying Linda Lindor took top honors with a time of 11:52 seconds. Second place went to Lisa Sagers with 12:12 seconds; third place, Sherry Muir, Jerome, 13:35; and fourth place to Lana Brakenberry, one time Miss Rodeo America.

In the break-away roping Lisa Sagers took first with a time of 4:09; second place went to Barbara Clark, Pocatello, with 5:06; third place, Diane Miller, Fairfield; fourth place, Tammy Finney, Buhl.

Jeannie Hansen, Pocatello, took first place in the steer and also won the event with Joann Roche Bancroft, taking second. Third place honors went to Vicki Mae Johnson, Idaho Falls; fourth place to Shirley Ankrum, Pocatello.

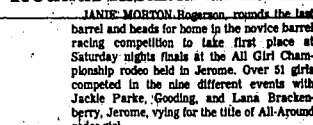

In team roping the only team to rope their steer was Lani Butler, Hazzard, and Vicki Johnson, Idaho Falls.

Fifty-one contestants competed in the nine events, according to Mrs. Shirley Daniels, president of the Golden Valley Girls Rodeo Association, said she is continuing the title trials of the All Rodeo in Jerome each year.

Each of the top winners in the nine major events received either trophies, coolers or a saddle for their prizes as the rodeo closed at midnight Saturday night.

JANIE MORTON, Rogerson, rounds the last barrel and heads for home in the novice barrel racing competition to take first place at Saturday night finals at the All Rodeo Championship rodeo held in Jerome. Over 51 girls competed in the nine different events with Jackie Parke, Gooding, and Lana Brakenberry, Jerome, vying for the title of All-Around rodeo girl.

Lower yields due

Storey wins title, Thomsen, McRoberts, Downs divisions, in Cactus Pete open

Cowboys smother Rams

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — The fearsome Dallas defense, led by Mel Renfro's two interceptions and a withering pass rush, smothered almost every move Los Angeles tried Sunday to give the Cowboys an easy 18-7 opening day upset conquest of the Rams.

With the defensive front of Ed Jones, Jethro Pugh, Larry Cole and Harvey Martin dominating the line of scrimmage, Dallas had surrendered only 67 total yards until a late Los Angeles drive brought the Rams' points of the day.

Dallas was threatening most of the afternoon, and had to settle for four field goals, of 25, 29, 19 and 31 yards by Tom Fritsch—who missed on two other tries—along with a one-yard touchdown plunge by Doug Dennison.

Denver overhauls Chiefs

DENVER (UPI) — Charley Johnson, who threw for two touchdowns earlier, passed 11 yards to Billy Van Heusen with 1:49 to play Sunday and lifted the Denver Broncos to a 37-33 win over the Kansas City Chiefs in an error-prone season opener.

The winning touchdown came just 4:28 after Broncos wide receiver Jack Dolbin ran two yards with an Otis Armstrong fumble for another touchdown as Denver overcame a 33-24 fourth quarter deficit.

Steelers blank Chargers

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Terry Bradshaw hurled two long touchdown passes and Roy Gerela kicked three field goals Sunday as the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers opened their NFL season with a 37-0 romp over the San Diego Chargers.

Three Charger quarterbacks—Virgil Carter, Dan Fouts and Jessie Daniels—were unable to move their team consistently under a hard rush by Pittsburgh linemen Guy Greene, Ernie Holmes, Dwight White and L.C. Greenwood.

The Chargers crossed midfield only three times and their deepest penetration was only to the Pittsburgh 41 on the final play of the opening half.

Vikings drop 49ers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Fran Tarkenton threw a fourth quarter touchdown pass and Chuck Foreman ran for one TD to give the Minnesota Vikings a 27-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers Sunday in the NFL opener for both teams.

Tarkenton marched the Vikings 68 yards in 12 plays with running back Brent McClanahan catching the scoring pass 2:21 into the final period. The score was set up by Tarkenton pass to wide receiver John Gilliam, the Viking veteran who was signed to a new contract last Wednesday after his jump to the World Football League Chicago Winds went awry.

Blocked punts kill Packers

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Detroit Lions turned three blocked punts, including two by Levi Johnson, into touchdowns Sunday and rolled over the Green Bay Packers 30-16 to ruin Bart Starr's debut as a National Football League coach.

The Lions, one of five teams that lost practice time because of the NFL strike last week, failed to mount an offense until the fourth quarter and needed the blocked kicks and interceptions to move in front.

Cards nip Falcons at gun

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Jim Bakken kicked a 25-yard field goal as the clock ran out Sunday to give St. Louis Cardinals a 23-20 victory and spoil the pro debut of Atlanta Falcons quarterback Steve Bartkowski.

The Cardinals moved from their 20-yard line into position for the winning kick as quarterback Jim Hart tossed passes of 29 and 22 yards to Mel Gray.

Hart lofted an 8-yard touchdown pass to Earl Thomas with about four minutes left to tie the game 20-20. Bakken's extra-point attempt was partially blocked by Atlanta's Jeff Morrox but dribbled over the crossbar.

Cowboys batter Bears

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bert Jones squirmed his way through buffeted Chicago tacklers and bamboozled their defensive backfield with his passing Sunday in a 35-7 Baltimore Colts romp over the Bears.

The third-year quarterback from Louisiana State, son of Cleveland Browns' great Dub Jones, threw touchdown passes of four and seven yards, both to Glenn Doughty, and his bolts past the Bear pass rush helped set up all three Baltimore touchdowns in their 21-point second quarter.

Bills bury Jets

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — O. J. Simpson, who rushed for 173 yards, combined with quarterback Joe Ferguson for five touchdowns Sunday as the Buffalo Bills scuffled the New York Jets 42-14 in the season opener at Rich Stadium.

Simpson, who also rushed for two touchdowns, had runs of 31 and 49 yards called back because of penalties against Buffalo. Ferguson tossed two touchdown passes and ran for another as the Bills took advantage of Jets' mistakes throughout the game.

Giants outlast Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ron Johnson scored on two short touchdowns Sunday to help the New York Giants overcome a late deficit to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 23-14.

In a lackluster game, the Giants, who missed one day's practice because of the National Football League's players strike, handed the Eagles their eighth straight opening game loss.

After the Eagles had crept to within two points with less than a minute to play, the Giants put the game out of reach when quarterback Greg Munn hit wide receiver Ray Rucker with a 50-yard scoring pass.

Oilers nip Pats on fumble

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Strong safety Willie Germany scamped 48 yards with a first period fumble recovery Sunday for the only points of the game as the Houston Oilers defeated the New England Patriots 7-0 in a National Football League season opener that was voided by an unsustained offense.

Germany's touchdown came at 4:24 of the first quarter after Mack Herron fumbled at his own 46 yard line.

Redskins drill Saints

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bill Kilmer tossed four touchdown passes—two to them to Charlie Taylor—and the Washington Redskins routed the New Orleans Saints 41-3 Sunday to provide Coach George Allen with his 10th opening game victory without a loss.

The Redskins, one of five pro teams that went out on strike last week, showed no signs of rust from their two-day layoff as Kilmer completed 14 of 26 passes good for 199 yards.

After both teams traded field goals in the early minutes of the game, Kilmer struck quickly with three completions good for 65 yards and a first-quarter touchdown to put the Redskins ahead for keeps.

JACKPOT — Steady Tom Storey of Las Vegas — when he's not touring—but together another two-ender par round Sunday for the $20,000 Cactus Pete's open golf tournament.

Storey's four-day tournament scoring was unremarkable but dead-end steady as he was two under three times and one under the other. His 273 total gave him a two-stroke advantage over Bob Bellef of Ogden for the grand championship.

Meanwhile, Twin Falls munny pro Clyde Thomsen — knocking in a 45-foot put with a 4 1/2-inch "drift" for an eagle on No. 14 — claimed the senior's championship. Phil McRoberts, Twin Falls, carved out an even par to share first place money in the Sunday special for amateurs with Tom Ward of Billings, Mont. And host professional Billy Downs, with a two-ender to win the Northern Chapter title with a 270.

All the divisions were intermingled in the overall scoring of the four-day tournament, the pros playing two days each at Jackpot and Twin Falls munny. The Sunday special was for amateurs who made the low 90 after their own 54-hole tournament.

McRoberts, who finished 10th in the three-day competition, was not to be denied Sunday as he played consistent par golf. Ward, who also was up and down Thursday through Saturday, matched him.

The tournament sponsors, Cactus Pete's and Horseshoe Club of Jackpot, announced at completion of Sunday's round next year's event will be held Sept. 17-20.

Following Storey and Bellef in the overall pro finish were defending champion Bob Erickson, San Antonio, Tex., and Bill Downs of Jackpot at 279. Fred Stinclair, John Kinsey of Bozeman and Jim Russell, Yuma, Ariz., were knotted at 280 with Elkhorn pro Tom Sanderson at 281.

Doug Campbell and Mike Renshaw, Idaho Falls, followed at 282 and 283, respectively, while Chuck Hogan and Guy Cullings were at 285.

Thomsen, Rich Hutchins of Boise and Ken Sparks of Nampa shared 286 with Nor Guernsey, Chip Garrison, Dan Poulton, and John Wilkinson at 287. Tom Williams, Kean Reid, Jim Packard and Willie Moschetti were at 289 and Bob Jerhoff was alone at 290, rounding out the play list.

In the senior division, Thomsen, who was one-over par in two rounds at Jackpot, held a five-stroke advantage over runner-up Bill McCarty, 286-291.

Mark Hopkins was third at 293, followed by Mike Geriello Sr., American Falls, at 297. Al Jones, Rupert, 301; former national seniors champion Willie Barber, 305; and Ray Honsberger, Boise, and Dick Kramer, Salt Lake City, 306.

Don Branca, Salt Lake City, who won the amateur prize over the first 54 holes, seconded McRoberts and Tom Ward in the Sunday special with a 74.

STEELER John Fugas fumbles the ball after being hit by Chris Fletcher (44) of San Diego. Pittsburgh recovered and went on to a 37-0 victory. (UPI/Telephoto)

Pittsburgh needs two wins to cop title

BY NEIL HERSHBURG
UPI Sports Writer
The Philadelphia Phillies find themselves running out of one of man's most precious commodities—time.

The Phillies managed to hold on to their faint hope of winning the National League East title for at least another day with a 4-2 victory Sunday over the New York Mets. But despite the victory, Philadelphia moved one step closer to elimination as the frontrunning Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 5-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The victory reduced the Pirates' magic number to two as both clubs head into the final week of the season.

The Phillies, winner of nine of its last 13 contests, invaded Pittsburgh tonight for a final showdown but only a miracle can save the Phillies from another "wait until next year" campaign. Philadelphia trails Pittsburgh by six games with only seven games left to play.

The Pirates, meanwhile are anxious awaiting the arrival of their cross-state rivals. "Not exactly with open arms, however, but more likely with the same hostile bats that have been used to batter opposition pitching all season long. "It's appropriate we clinch the title Monday night when we play the Phillies," said Pirate outfielder Al Oliver. "That's the team that has been chasing us most of the season."

Dick Allen's two-run double keyed a three-run fourth inning that helped the Phillies to victory. Allen's double off Met closer Jon Matlack, 16-12, followed singles by Larry Bowa and Greg Luzinski. Allen was thrown out at the plate on Jerry Martin's single. Mike Anderson doubled in the final run of the inning.

In other games San Francisco edged San Diego 2-1, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 5-0, Houston whipped Los Angeles 4-1, and Montreal nipped Chicago 5-4.

In the American League Boston topped Detroit 6-5, Baltimore blanked Milwaukee 5-0, Texas ripped Chicago 8-2, Kansas City edged Oakland 2-1, Cleveland beat New York 3-2 before losing 11-5 and California defeated Minnesota 5-2.

Pirates 5, Cards 3
Oliver's run-scoring single capped a four-run eighth inning that gave Pittsburgh, winner of the NL East crown four of the past five seasons, its victory over St. Louis. The Pirates trailed 3-1 in the eighth when Manny Sanguillen singled, pinch-hitter Bob Robertson walked and Willie Randolph, batting for winning pitcher Jerry Reuss, drilled an RBI single.

Rennie Stennett then bunted and pitcher Mike Garman threw wildly to third as the tying run scored. Richie Hebner's sacrifice fly scored the third run and Oliver singled home the final run of the inning.

Giants 2, Padres 1
John Montefusco struck out seven in run his season total to 211 the most by a rookie in the National League in 64 years, in pitching the Giants over San Diego. A crowd of 15,441 saw the Giants extend their winning streak to five games in their final home game of the season and perhaps the final game ever in San Francisco.

Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the NL rookie strikeout record of 27, set in 1911. Montefusco is scheduled for one more start and may be used in relief if he gets close to

Nicklaus loses twice but U.S. keeps Ryder cup

LIGNONIER, Pa. (UPI) — The U.S. tour "I played badly. I was just lucky," said Barnes after the morning round. "I know I will have to play a damn site better than I did this morning if I meet him this afternoon."

A 53 edge in the morning singles at Laurel Valley Golf Club gave the Americans an insurmountable 17½ to 6½ edge before the British-Irish team recouped some pride by winning in the afternoon 4½ to 3½.

Barnes, a 6-foot-2 pipe-smoking Scotsman, defeated Jack Nicklaus 4 and 2 in the morning then came back to lend some dramatics to the afternoon play by beating Nicklaus again 2 and 1.

Peter Oosterhuis also was a double winner for the British, defeating Johnny Miller 2 up and J.C. Snead 3 and 2. The victories kept Oosterhuis unbeaten in Ryder Cup singles play with five wins and one tie.

Bob Murphy was the only American to win two matches, a 2 and 1 over the British Maurice Bembridge by the identical 2 and 1 scores.

Hale Irwin led the U.S. charge with a total of 3 points, getting half of them Sunday in a standoff with Tommy Horton and a 2 and 1 decision over John O'Leary.

Two other afternoon matches ended 2 and 1 with Horton beating Lou Graham and teammate Norman Wood outlasting a tired Lee Trevino.

In the other afternoon matches Ray Floyd's biggest mistake was not hitting Jacklin 1-up and Al Geiberger and Bernard Gallacher tied as Geiberger won the last two holes.

Trevino tied with Gallacher, Gene Litter won over Brian Huggert 4 and 2, Bill Casper beat Ramon Davy 3 and 2, Tom Weiskopf with Guy Hunt 5 and 3 in the other morning matches.

After the cup victory had been clinched on Weiskopf's triumph, the attention centered on Barnes and Nicklaus, the leading money winner on the Bengals one-yard line.

Bengals edge Browns 24-17

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bengals jumped off to a quick 14-0 first quarter lead but then had to fight off a last-half rally by the Cleveland Browns to escape with a 24-17 victory in an NFL opener Sunday.

The Browns trailed 24-3 late in the third quarter, but scored two touchdowns within 48 seconds to cut the margin to 24-17.

Minutes later Cleveland blew two golden opportunities to tie the game when quarterback Mike Phipps kept fumbling the center-snap on the Bengals one-yard line.

DOE NIGHT
You've heard of Stag Night at one local lounge or another, but have you ever heard of Doe Night? A bar in Stairline, Ida., has instituted such. One night a week there, various young men replace the go-go girls on stage. They bump, grind, strip, and get downright naughty. I'm told. Report is the audience of women squeals mightily, tossed coins on stage, and some put small bills in their bosoms to be extracted by the performers with their teeth. Cost of tickets to Idaho varies, depending on where you live, young lady. See your travel agent.

THE MARKETING MEN report that the typical father only buys a topcoat every eight years while his son on the home buys one every four years. Is that equitable?

DID I ALREADY tell you there are only six companies left in the United States that make weather vanes? Pity.
