

Madrid cops slain

MADRID (UPI) — Bands of terrorists armed with sawed-off shotguns killed three Madrid policemen and critically wounded a fourth today while an emotional crowd of a million persons celebrated the 39th anniversary of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's rise to power.

Franco, angered by widespread European and world reaction to Spain's execution of five terrorists Saturday for the slaying of other policemen, said the violent anti-Spanish reaction was a foreign plot against Spain by Free Masons and Communists.

The almost simultaneous attacks on policemen in different parts of the city was the largest guerrilla operation in a wave of political violence that has hit Spain in recent months.

Many Western diplomats earlier boycotted a reception of Franco's proclamation as Spain's leader during the civil war. At least 15 nations have recalled their ambassadors from Spain in protest against executions.

Their countries had been angrily denounced Tuesday night by Premier Carlos Arias Navarro for what he called their "boundless hypocrisy."

Deaths of the policemen today brought to 22 the number slain by guerrillas this year. More than 30 civilians died in political violence during the same period.

Rules set on Viet papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House committee today accepted the conditions set down by CIA Director William E. Colby for turning over secret intelligence reports on Vietnam.

The panel also agreed to restrictions on what parts of the report could be made public.

Colby answered a congressional subpoena Tuesday night and with the backing of President Ford turned the documents over to the House Select Committee on Intelligence after deleting some 50 words and demanding extreme care in making the information public.

The committee voted 10 to 3 to accept the documents after heated debate on whether this would set a precedent for material requested by the committee from other executive branch agencies or departments.

Rep. Robert McCloy, R-Ill., the ranking Republican on the 13-member panel, said he met with Ford Tuesday and had been assured the administration would cooperate with investigative groups.

Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., the panel chairman, released the text of a secret letter sent by Colby to him stipulating the conditions under which a stack of documents on the 1968 Communist Tet offensive in Vietnam had been turned over to him.

The Colby letter, which was declassified, told Pike he was forwarding material subpoenaed by the committee with the approval of Ford.

But Colby said, "This is forwarded on loan with the understanding that there will be no public disclosure of this classified material (nor of testimony, depositions or interviews concerning it) without a reasonable opportunity for us to consult with respect to it."

"In the event of disagreement the matter will be referred to the President. If the President then certifies in writing that a disclosure of the material would be detrimental to the national security of the United States, the matter will not be disclosed by the committee, except that the committee will reserve its right to submit the matter to judicial determination."

Pike said some 50 words had been censored from the material and he had been told that one subpoenaed cable could not be found.

In his letter to Pike, Colby explained the deletions.

"In some 12 instances in the enclosed classified material, excisions have been made of particularly sensitive matters. In 10 of these instances, they would pinpoint the identity of individuals who would be subject to exposure. In two cases this would violate an understanding with a foreign government that its cooperation will not be disclosed."

But Colby also said he was willing to discuss with the panel the specific reason for each excision "due to the exceptionally high risk involved."

In case of disagreement, he said, the matter would be submitted to Ford under procedures he outlined in his letter.

Pike said the deleted material had been explained to him Tuesday night and he was satisfied that it was legitimately excised.

Mutinous troops seal Lisbon street
LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Mutinous troops sealed off the streets leading to a Communist-controlled radio station in downtown Lisbon today and set up a mortar on the balcony to battle any attempt by the police to occupy the facilities.
A small group of leftists gathered outside the studios of Radio Club in support of the soldiers armed with automatic rifles and teargas.

Pershings for Israel plan rejected
PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger today all but ruled out any delivery of Pershing 450-mile range missiles to Israel.
Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger virtually promised the surface-to-air missiles six weeks ago in exchange for Israel's signature of the Sinai peace agreement with Egypt. But Washington has been backtracking ever since.

Ford plugs more revenue sharing
CHICAGO (UPI) — President Ford told 33 mayors of small midwestern towns today any failure by Congress to extend the general revenue-sharing program could have "catastrophic" consequences.
Ford met with the mayors, mostly from Illinois, along with a few from Michigan and Wisconsin, and urged them to push for a five-year extension of the program which expires Dec. 31, 1976.

Fighting closes Danbury high school
DANBURY, Conn. (UPI) — Fighting broke out today among several hundred students, some armed with chains, belts or other weapons, at racially troubled Danbury High School forcing officials to close the school for the second time this year.
A Danbury Hospital spokesman said 13 persons — 10 students or teachers and three policemen — were treated at the hospital's emergency room. One of the injured, a girl student, was operated on for a head injury.

Russian grain sales talks proceed
MOSCOW (UPI) — The chief American negotiator at talks between the United States and the Soviet Union on a long-term grain deal said negotiations were going smoothly, but it was too early to predict when an agreement will be reached.
"Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs Charles A. Robinson, meeting with Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolchev, said "at the moment we are in the process of negotiations and they are going along well."

Hammer balks at pen term, fine
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrialist Armand Hammer said in court today he was willing to plead guilty to three counts of violating federal campaign laws for making a $100,000 contribution to the 1972 Nixon campaign.
But his plea was delayed when Hammer balked at receiving a possible sentence of up to three years in prison and $3,000 fine.

House OK's 5% federal pay hike plan
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today gave final approval to President Ford's plan to give a 5 per cent pay raise to some 3 million federal employes and military personnel as well as Congress itself.
Opponents of Ford's plan were pushing for an 8.66 per cent pay hike.
The 273 to 123 vote came in parliamentary maneuvering after Rep. Herbert Harris, D-Va., sought to bring to the floor a resolution that would have disapproved Ford's lower pay raise proposal and ordered the higher pay into effect.

Suspect seized

COVERED BY A jacket, a woman identified as Carmen Teresa Pallas was escorted into a Chicago police station, left, after being arrested Tuesday for having a gun in her purse near where President Ford entered the Conrad Hilton Hotel. She was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and failing to register as a gun owner. Police said the episode had no connection with Ford. The President, right, told a GOP fund raising dinner he hopes to visit all 50 states this year and said he is confident a long term grain trade agreement will be reached with Russia. Gem agency leads aid hunt

BY DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Vocational Rehabilitation Service "VRS" will coordinate an effort to find financial aid for Jack Nipper, a Twin Falls hemophiliac.
VRS representatives, in a meeting with Nipper Tuesday, said aid from public agencies will be easier to secure if it can be restricted to a specific time period, after which an insurance policy or another private funding source must cover most of Nipper's medical costs.
Lou Rodriguez, a rehabilitation specialist with VRS, was instructed to check the provisions of a group insurance policy Nipper recently took out through his Twin Falls employer. If the policy will take effect within a year and cover Nipper's "pre-existing" hemophilia, the VRS will try to come up with a year's funding until the policy takes effect.

Nipper, 21, who has worked two years as a clothing salesman at Alexander's Men's Wear, has lost financial aid from the Social Security Administration (SSA) and the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IDHW) because he earned "market" money at his job. He makes about $400 per month.
The SSA says Nipper can earn no more than $210 a month to qualify for aid under the federal agency's Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program. Qualification under the SSI program also is the key to Nipper's receiving help from the state. He must meet SSI aid requirements before the state will help him.
Nipper suffers from "classical" hemophilia, the most serious form of the hereditary affliction. His blood lacks a clotting element which stops the flow of any cut or internal injury.
Without frequent injections of concentrated clotting elements, he can bleed to death from the slightest bump or laceration.

The cost of treating the disease reportedly exceeds Nipper's earnings. His father, Arthur Nipper of Eden, estimated that Jack's medical costs run between $15,000 and $35,000 a year, depending on complications.
Merl Eden, area manager for the VRS, Tuesday said his agency's goal is to "take physically and mentally handicapped people and get them back into gainful activity (a job)."
He said Title 20, a new federal aid program administered by IDHW, may provide some money.
Roger Lilleks, an SSA operations manager who also met with Nipper Tuesday, held little hope for help through his agency. He said Nipper's Social Security account has been closed because of his job earnings and could be reopened only if Nipper's employer claimed that he is getting "preferential treatment" in the job.
The employer must state that Nipper is getting special treatment because of his illness that would drop his actual pay below $210 per month. The employer effectively would claim that Nipper is being subsidized.
That method was discouraged because of the mental impact it might have on Nipper.

Lincoln crash kills Nampans

SHOSHONE — Two Nampa men are dead and another in serious condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital as a result of an automobile accident Tuesday.
Sheriff B. J. Anderson, Lincoln County, said Jerry Lee Jackson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jackson, Nampa, was dead at the scene of the accident, ten and one-half miles north of Shoshone on Highway 93. He died of a broken neck.
Victor Darrell Good, 27, died at St. Benedict's Hospital at 10 p.m. of chest injuries.
Good and Jimmy Sanderson, 32, Kuna, were taken to St. Benedict's in Jerome by Shoshone ambulance. Sanderson was transferred to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

According to family members, the three had been working in Hailey and were en route to Twin Falls to meet Jackson's father.
A minister reported the car carrying the three passed him at a high rate of speed. Sheriff Anderson said. The accident occurred on a straight stretch of highway. The car left the roadway, traveled through the air 60 feet, rolled twice and burst into flame.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The price of farm products rose an average 3 per cent in the month ended Sept. 15, compared with mid-August levels, a new Agriculture Department report says.
The department said Tuesday the September increase in prices for raw farm products was due mainly to a rise in wheat, milk, beef, hogs and eggs. Corn, soybean and potato prices went down.
The increase was 7 per cent over a year ago. It plucked up a price upswing which began last April and leveled off during August.

Administration economists predict retail food prices will increase only slightly during the closing months of the year. Consumer prices are expected to rise an average 9 per cent above 1974 for the year as a whole, while increases of about 14.5 per cent were recorded in the two previous years.
The September report showed wheat prices up again, though still below a year ago, indicating the impact of increased foreign demand for American crops including Soviet grain purchases. But declines for corn and soybeans apparently reflect some of the cooling-off impact of the government's August suspension in sales to Russia.

The report showed hog prices, which have been rising due to tight supplies, reached a record $58.50 per hundredweight in mid-September compared with $33.70 a year earlier. Beef cattle rose to $34.90 in September compared with $32.60 a year earlier.

Hailey air traffic soaring rapidly

BY DIANE ALTERS
Times-News writer
HAILEY — Air traffic is growing so fast at the Hailey airport that it soon may be busier than the Twin Falls City-County airport at Joslin Field.
And the rapidly growing Sun Valley Key Airlines isn't waiting for the squabble over location of a regional airport to end before plunging ahead with plans to increase its traffic.
Sun Valley Key plans to add two 48-passenger planes to its fleet in order to handle the growing load of skiers and others heading to this resort community from Boise and Salt Lake City airports, bypassing Joslin Field and the regional airport to the south.

The proposed regional airport southeast of the Interstate 80 U.S. 30 interchange will have "no bearing at all" on Sun Valley Key plans, according to Brent Wiseman, vice president of sales and service at the airline's Salt Lake City office.
The line expects to handle 40,000 arrivals and departures during 1975, largely because of increased promotion of Sun Valley, Wiseman said.
Two years ago the airline handled only 14,521 arrivals and departures at the Hailey airport. By 1974 it had doubled to 28,541. The numbers don't count private air traffic.

In comparison, there were arrivals and departures at Joslin Field totalling 68,556 in 1974, according to Civil Aeronautics Board figures.
The growth of Hailey air traffic is important because it may come into direct competition with traffic expected at the regional airport and Joslin Field to the south.
A study conducted for the Regional Airport Authority by International Engineering Co., Boise, in 1973, predicted 535,220 landings and unloadings at the regional airport by 1992 — about 15 times current levels at Joslin Field.

Raw farm product prices take summer upswing

An index of prices received by farmers for food grains, including wheat, increased 4 per cent during the month but was 5 per cent below a year earlier. Dairy products, including milk, rose 6 per cent during the month and averaged 12 per cent above a year ago.
Farm spokesmen have been warning consumers to expect rising retail prices this fall and winter and the report showed average prices for all grades of milk were $6.86 per hundredweight in September compared with $3.07 a year earlier.

Colonial welcome for Japan's emperor

US spy funds concealed in Air Force fiscal bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Somewhere in the $2,010,400,000 set aside for "other procurement, Air Force" in the fiscal 1976 appropriations bill are the operating funds for the Central Intelligence Agency.

One senator tells the story that when he was a newcomer in the House, he tried to find out why the Pentagon needed so much money for a military construction project. He got no results until an old-timer took him aside and explained most of it was for the CIA.

The precedent was broken this year when the House Appropriations Committee said the spy funds were in the Pentagon appropriations bill.

Both agree that if the House votes today to reveal that appropriation, further probes are possible.

Energy meet set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of a House-Senate conference committee working to draft an energy bill announced today they will hold a rare meeting with President Ford to try to "end the name calling" and agree on an overall energy policy.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito, on his first trip to the United States, made a point of honoring the memory of the American general who accepted the surrender of Japan in 1945 and then helped rebuild modern Japan.

The only Japanese monarch ever to make a state visit to the United States ordered a wreath of white mums and red carnations placed on his behalf at the MacArthur Memorial in nearby Norfolk.

Japanese officials said his decision Tuesday to honor the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the commander of allied occupying forces who kept Hirohito on the throne after Japan's World War II defeat was an impromptu one.

The emperor and empress Nagako also will receive MacArthur's widow when they visit New York Sunday.

They planned to spend today touring some of the relics of colonial America, including the governor's palace and the House of Burgesses dating from the late 1700s.

The official part of their goodwill visit begins Thursday when President and Mrs. Ford formally receive them at the White House.

The emperor and empress Nagako also will receive MacArthur's widow when they visit New York Sunday.

They were warmly greeted by several hundred persons at Williamsburg airport, where a red carpet was rolled out, a file and drum band played and spectators waved flowers and homemade Japanese flags.

Two young conservationists raised banners denouncing the killing of whales by Japanese fishermen, but the imperial couple did not see the demonstration.

College students, dressed in karate uniforms unfurled Japanese flags as the emperor and empress passed them. The royal couple spent the rest of Tuesday relaxing in their Williamsburg suite.

Rupert Teamsters to meet with Kraft

RUPERT — Teamster negotiators will meet Kraft officials Friday for a third time since a five-day strike earlier this month.

Walter Smith Jr., Twin Falls, Teamster business agent, said two sessions have been held since strikers returned to work Sept. 15 at the Rupert plant with the company's agreement for new negotiations.

Smith said the third meeting is scheduled Friday. Apparently, no substantial progress has been made toward a cost-of-living clause, a major objective of the workers.

The 87 production employees at the Rupert plant walked off the job on Sept. 10 after they voted to reject a company "final offer" on a three-year contract. Another 45 Kraft workers at three smaller plants (Blackfoot, Ririe and Carey) remained on the job, although they belong to the same local.

Teamsters said they were not satisfied with the company's wage offer. The basic wage now is $3.57 per hour for men and $2.92 for women.

They also wanted a cost-of-living, elevator clause similar to one now in effect at Kraft's processing and packing plant in Pocatello.

Probation given to TF woman, 22

TWIN FALLS — A 22-year-old Twin Falls woman, Jants Deborah Gwin, was placed on probation for an 18-month period when she appeared in Fifth Judicial District Court for sentencing on an embezzlement charge.

She was charged with embezzling $430 May 5, 1975, while working as a clerk for the Fearless Farris Stinker Service Station, Twin Falls. She entered a plea of guilty.

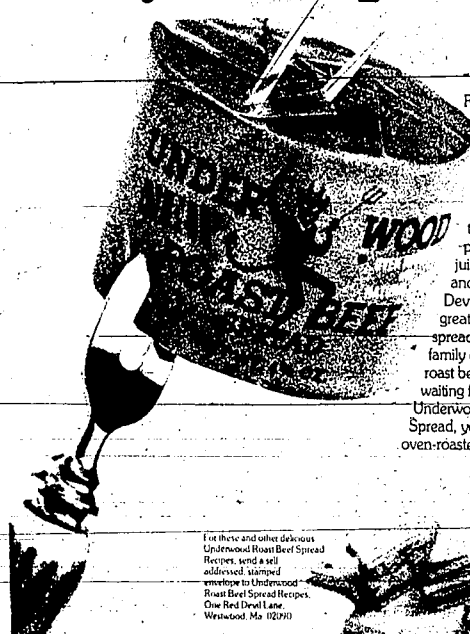

Judge Theron W. Ward sentenced Miss Gwin to 14 years in the state prison, but suspended sentence for the 18-month probation period.

At the end of that time if she completes a satisfactory probation, she will be allowed to withdraw her guilty plea and substitute one of innocent and charges will be dismissed.

In other news, charges of delivery of a controlled substance against James R. Lowder, 21, Twin Falls, were ordered dismissed by the court. He has completed satisfactory probation.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Alexander Anton Otto, 24, TWIN FALLS, charged with delivery of a controlled substance. He was arrested Oct. 22, 1974, and has pleaded guilty to the charge.

Safe communication with the President

President Ford insists he must maintain contact with the American People, even if he must take risks to do so.
Perhaps mindful of his reclusive predecessor, Richard Nixon, who walled himself inside the White House, Ford intends to "press the flesh." He will bring himself to the people for them to see, hear and touch. He will do so even knowing that other assassins lie in wait.

Of course the President is right. He must maintain contact with the people. He must be seen, heard and felt by Americans of every caste. Still, the President confuses a quick handshake, the cursory "hello, how are you," with real communication with people.

The American people need real communication with their President. There must be some way for the President for an hour to tell him how he sees the situation and express his hopes and fears. The President has many hour-long talks. But almost always these are with politicians, bureaucrats or foreign dignitaries. His contacts with the check are usually only symbolic: a kiss on the cheek of a teenage beauty queen, the handshake at the airport.

Instead of spending time in symbolic demonstration of his accessibility to the people, President Ford should cancel some of his trips and spend time in earnest conversation with handfuls of ordinary citizens.

Presidential security could be easily arranged for such groups, and citizen-President communication would be enhanced.

It would be far better than to continue the present practice of plunging into the crowds in a kind of roulette with gun-toting assassins. It's only a matter of time until the crowd-pleasing kind of Russian roulette will kill another President.

Communication between people and President implies that somebody is alive at each end of the conversation.

Sadat arms request gains sympathy

Chicago Daily News—Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's generous welcome when he visits here in late October will include favorable consideration of his desire for U.S. military aid. It could kick up a storm in Congress and arouse pro-Israeli forces in this country. But President Ford, in the charge of some of his diplomatic advisers, has publicly indicated his sympathy for Sadat's anticipated request for arms assistance.

Ford revealed, at a breakfast with the Los Angeles Times editorial board last weekend, that U.S. arms aid to Egypt is under discussion. He even suggested an "implied commitment" had been made to the Egyptian leader.

Presidential spokesman Ronald Nessen said Friday, in response to questions, that the United States had made "no specific commitment" to Sadat to supply arms. He admitted, however, that the United States was committed to consider Egypt's eagerness to widen its sources of supply.

In the diplomatese designed to obscure rather than enlighten, Nessen volunteered the information that, for two years, Egypt has sought to broaden its relations with various countries, including the acquisition of military equipment. Washington has indicated to Cairo, Nessen said, that it would be difficult to furnish arms to Egypt so long as a "state of war" exists in the Middle East. The spokesman recalled that Ford has said the United States wants to help improve Egypt's standard of living and its movement toward peace.

To bolster Sadat's confidence in the course he has taken with the Sinai agreement, top U.S. officials are prepared to give him as much assistance as possible, economic, diplomatic and military. He is indubitably the administration's favorite Arab leader at the moment, for both Ford and Sec. of State Henry Kissinger credit him greatly for braving the wrath of his militant Arab neighbors in agreeing to the interim agreement with Israel.

PETER LISAGOR

Shortly after the Sinai pact was initiated, Sadat denounced the Russians with whom he once did business on an extensive scale, declaring that they had abandoned him in his "year of decision" and that "no person with dignity can accept the method of Russian dealing."

Sadat's relations with the Russians steadily deteriorated after he ordered Soviet technicians out of Egypt. He complained to Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., who visited him last January, that the Russians did not replace his equipment losses in the October War with Israel in 1973. He turned to Western European countries to fill the void, and last summer he indicated to a group of touring U.S. congressmen that he might be interested in purchasing American military supplies.

As a part of the Sinai agreement, it is understood that the United States will provide Egypt with sophisticated radar equipment and train their technicians in its use as an early warning system in the Sinai passes.

But Sadat's interest obviously goes beyond that. U.S. officials say that he has submitted no "shopping list" as the Israelis have, and that he has nothing "spectacular" in mind. It is nonetheless apparent that the United States is moving toward the role as an arms supplier to Cairo in selective areas, at the risk of opposition from those who believe the United States is already too deeply involved in the Middle East or who fear that Washington's ties to Israel might be loosened by an Egyptian arms transaction.

Diplomatic officials say that Sadat has a greater interest in obtaining U.S. economic aid to improve Egypt's chronically depressed economy. But even more important, he needs assurances from this country that it will keep the momentum going toward an overall settlement in the region, but more immediately seek to promote some agreement between Israel and Syria.

Arms aid is the more striking and dramatic feature, these officials assert, but economic and diplomatic activity is more important to Sadat's purposes in the near future.

No solution to nation's economy woe

WASHINGTON—No sir, said the man at the White House's Council of Economic Advisors, wage and price controls have NOT been discussed, even as a contingency.

Yet President Ford admits through assorted spokesmen that the cost of living will increase at a higher rate during the next six months. The 0.2 per cent rise in the Consumer Price Index for August was the smallest monthly increase in three years, but a White House press officer said the increase "is lower than we expected and we do not expect that rate to be sustained."

Incredible? No, that's the way it is. No wonder Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board—and no socialist—is pleading for a voluntary system of private economic power.

Burns describes his proposal as "modest," which may be an understatement given the high price of peanut butter. But at least it's a half loaf. Specifically, he would rely on "quiet government intervention," public hearings on down even during a recession such as has plagued the economy for almost a year. Sure, he says, there have been some favorable signs of economic recovery; but confidence has been shaken by a new threat of double-digit inflation. In short, Washington has not solved the problem of the highest cost of living.

For example, sales are sluggish in the aluminum, steel, automobile and chemical industries, which Burns describes bluntly as "depressed." Yet prices for these products have continued to rise. Indeed, even the virtually moribund Council on Wage and Price Stability roused itself the other day to warn of the "danger" inherent in steel price increases.

ANDREW TULLY

This curious, not to say sinister, situation clearly is gnawing at the people's confidence in the administration's ability to reduce the cost of living. The end result, as Burns sees it, could be another recession. There is something wrong somewhere when almost everything goes up in price in a time of weak demand. Burns calls it "a new pattern of wage and price behavior." I call it mass greed—the spectacle of business and labor determined to get their out of a sick economy.

Yet, we have Sen. Hubert Humphrey once again saying that the economic pump needs priming. If the low rate of inflation continues, he says, it may well mean the broadening of support for increased federal spending to create jobs and income "to produce a rapid recovery from a tragic recession..."

Humphrey is not alone. Other members of Congress—most of them Democrats—have been urging increased federal spending to "cure" an 8.4 per cent unemployment rate and boost industrial production that is still 10 per cent below that of a year ago. Well, the federal budget deficit for the fiscal year which began last July 1 will be well over $60 billion. Bigger federal deficits would drain even more buying power from consumers, slow the economic recovery which has been picking up speed, and increase the cost of living.

So thank heaven for Arthur Burns. He's not only opposed to excessive government spending, he has the guts to take an unpopular position against an excessive demand for more of the "good things" of life. Burns noted "the changing character of our economic institutions which stress more generous pay, more holidays, longer vacations and more coffee breaks." That shoe fits a lot of feet.

Thought

George Santayana, American author, said, "Columbus found a world and had no chart save one that Faith deciphered in the skies."

We may all become opsimataths in time

SCRABBLE, Va. — Not long ago my brother-in-law, William F. Buckle Jr., ventured a kindly comment on Nelson Rockefeller.

He said Rockefeller's opsimatath would be welcomed. It was perhaps the nicest thing Buckle ever said about Rockefeller, and doubtless it is better to be praised for one's opsimatath than not to be praised at all.

But what did it mean? Opsimatath might once have implied, meant it what? I tripped over the vice president's opsimatath while loafing around the editorial rooms of the Washington Star, and inquired of the first ten journalists who passed by if they had ever met opsimatath or knew anything about it. Alas, no. This was a new boy on the block. Later in the day I conferred with Messrs. Martin Agronsky, Hugh Sidney, Peter Lisagor, and Carl Hoxan, journalists of vast erudition. Not a one of them had encountered opsimatath or even heard of opsimatath.

What it means is, the ability to learn late in life. Those of us over 50 demonstrate our opsimatath well, looking up opsimatath and putting it lovingly in the wax collection. One never knows when an opportunity will come along to say something friendly, if not about Rockefeller, perhaps about Senator J. V. Opsimatath. It is a perfectly splendid specimen.

Only my brother Buckle could have captured this butterfly noun. He nets them by the dozens. A new anthology of his writing just came from the publisher's press, bearing an irrelevant title: "Execution Eve and Other Contemporary Ballads." Prowling at random through pages of pure delight, the reader will come face to face with: opsimath, opsimatath, affluant, hubristic, amindawards, etiose, discretely, desuetude, repositing, presidential, alumburated, synch, scache, myxomoran, hubricious, androgynous, actualizable, and velocity.

mean by "to immaneathe the eschaton" What it means is, "to come to inhere in the worldly experience and subject to human dominion that which is beyond time and therefore extrawordly." But of course most of his readers already knew that.

These are what Westchester Pogor used to call "out-of-town words." Every writer loves them. Some years ago I happened to be looking up "living in mud." It was love at first sight. I yearned for a chance to trot her out for public use, but happily circumstance, the battleship Missouri being ramped in ground in Hampton Roads, My editorial was captioned

JAMES J. KILPATRICK

"The Umnicuous Mo." It was a triumph of obscurity.

Edwin M. Yoder Jr., associate editor of the Star, has compared this infirmity in writers to alcoholism. No cure is known to exist. Once the young writer succumbs to etymological spiritis, he remains syntactically stewed. His rhetorical hubbubness can no longer be restrained. He cannot get enough. He begins to invent words. The editors of the Columbia Journalism Review just invented "celebrification." They are plastered on language. He! Or his, hae, hae!

My younger brother in the pundit business, George F. Will, is showing unmistakable symptoms. He has been in this racket for only a year. The other day he wrote a splendid piece on Patty Hearst, whose arrest provided a coda to a decade of political infantilism, the excess of which could be comprehended in a manifestation of bourgeois Weltanschauung.

The lad will go a long way.
An addition to such peacock prose is a vice far removed from the ailment known as gobbledegook. As a public service, the Star has been running daily examples of the latter infirmity. An interoffice memorandum of Amtrak, for example, explains that in order to maintain systematized reciprocal flexibility, the Western Region has expanded on the location code identification in conjunction with accounting via verbalization. The General Accounting Office reports that in certain circumstances, the application of the comparability principle to federal benefits in a framework of total compensation comparability would be consistent with non-federal practices.

That kind of thing is not only innumerable but also intolerable. The composers of gobbledegook are to be scorned. The discoverers of opsimatath should be loved. Without their assiduous peregrinations through the labyrinthine mazes of lexicography, we might dwell forever in the simplistic pages of Dick and Jane and Spot, their ubiquitous canine.

With the help of Messrs. Buckley and Will, we shall all be opsimataths, by and by.

Energy clock running out

Washington has given itself another month and a half to work but a policy to meet U.S. energy needs for the immediate future. But in putting off the question of domestic oil price controls until Nov. 15, Congress and President Ford still remain as far apart as ever on a basic approach to curbing down consumption and raising production of energy sources.

"This is the last extension," Mr. Ford warns, and the recent agreement among foreign oil producers to raise their price another 10 percent gives further warning that two years of compromise between the President and Congress on the question will have to be broken now—either through compromise or a new view prevailing. If not, the only result could be a wrenching jump in prices, bringing with it a further jolt to the economy with added inflation and unemployment.

Mr. Ford continues to insist on at least gradual decontrol of oil produced in this country in order to encourage Americans to conserve and stimulate oil companies to explore and develop new sources. Congress is just as adamant in its desire to leave price controls in force in order to protect the consumer.

The congressional votes and presidential vetoes of the past months indicate that the best, perhaps only, political compromise available is a partial decontrol of domestic oil prices over time to oil companies, time, coupled with taxing schemes which would prevent oil booms—benefiting from the nation's energy plight and ease the crunch to the petroleum-consuming taxpayer.

In any case, what the country desperately needs is forthright leadership to encourage conservation of energy supplies, something so far lacking either in White House pronouncements or the President's lame-duck plan for an "energy-independence authority."

Just how far away the U.S. is from energy independence was made plain with the decision by OPEC countries to raise the price of their oil another notch over the next nine months. This means the price of foreign oil will have been boosted 10 percent over 18 months' time, about the level of current inflation, and but a small part of the 400 percent rise experienced since the energy crisis began over two years ago.

But this apparent leveling of prices by the foreign cartel should not be seen as reason for an easing of concern. Divisions among the 13 members of OPEC and words of recession with an accompanying lowered demand for oil have given the cartel a new impetus. Higher oil prices in the next three to six months, if not, predicted and even more forces should not be a similar benefit of the U.S.

Other opinions

Rome (Ga.) News-Tribune—In the last 20 years huge annual federal deficits have become the rule. This is not the fault of the Congress, apparently. It ticks the record for the past two decades.

But the fact remains that the Congress has passed certain tax and social insurance bills that increase certain high-ranking federal officials and U.S. judges.

Their proposed pay increase is highly dangerous because it adopts for the first time the principle of semi-automatic salary increases for Congressmen.

We are told that many able federal agents are leaving the bench because the pay is not commensurate with what they could earn in private law practice. We can see that from the rustiness of some of the federal judges. It is a sad state of affairs. It is understandable that energetic federal judges should be offered to attract and hold key executives.

But, Congress know what they are going to make when they do so.

Mayor seeks second term

PAUL — Mayor Robert Larsen announced today he will run for a second term. Larsen's announcement meant that all elective officials involved hope to remain in office.

Mildred Stimpson, finishing a two-year term, filed her petition for a four-year term Tuesday. Otto Riedinger, completing nine years on the Paul council, picked up a petition Tuesday and said he thinks he will run. "I just enjoy being on the council," said Stimpson. "I have a deep interest in the town. I've been here all my life."

Larsen said he would like to see housing for senior citizens and wants to work for expansion of parks and recreation facilities in Paul. A challenge has developed in Heyburn, where former councilman Bob Hambleton has taken out a petition.

Bud Scovill and J.R. Brown are both up for re-election, and both have indicated they probably will run again. Craig L. Water and sewer projects are also on the project. Brown said, "I'd like to see they're done as good as we can do them."

Scovill was less certain of his candidacy, but said, "I kind of think I will run." At Rupert, two council seats are up for election. They are held by Ted Creason and Clark Cameron.

Creason has announced he will run for election. Cameron said he is still undecided. Martin O'Donnell took out two petitions Monday but would not say who might use them.

At Acequia, Councilman Curtis Blair, now filling a vacancy left when Fred Maier moved from the city, said he plans to seek re-election.

"I'd like to see the city park going," he said. "We've talked about it as a bicentennial project. We have the ground — all we have to do is clean it up and get grass going." Gerald Harmon's term also is ending. He said he is not planning to run again after holding the seat for three terms, but will not make a decision until next Monday.

"I was going to let somebody else have a chair," said Harmon. "I suppose I will run if we can't find anybody else to run." Acequia Mayor Vernard Comstock has said he probably will run for re-election. Mildred Mayor Dorothy Courtwright said she probably will not.

Three council positions are open at Minidoka and no councilmen have indicated they will run again. Fred (Chel) Hoyt and Dave Halbert both are undecided. The other seat has been vacant following the death of Gwendolyn Mackintosh.

Skull sent to FBI lab

TWIN FALLS — A human skull found in the Murtaugh County dump has been sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Laboratories in Washington, D.C., for examination. County Coroner Cloyce Edwards and acting sheriff, T.M. Kendrick, said the skull was found by H.R. Martin, Hansen, on Sept. 17, but was not reported to officers until Monday.

Others said it appeared to be an old skull, but only laboratory tests can verify this. Martin took officers to the area of the dump where he found the skull, but bulldozer work in covering the area and no other bones were found. Edwards said, two boys playing in Hook Creek Canyon one-half mile southwest of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital found another human skull in April of this year. A report just received from the FBI reports this was the skull of a white male, 35 to 65 years of age.

National Guard plans open house

GOODING — The Gooding National Guard has planned an open house Saturday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Both the National Guard Armory and Main Street will be used to show national guard equipment. Blank ammunition firings and a mock missile firing will highlight the open house.

Burley planning survey scheduled

BURLEY — A survey of Burley is planned soon by the city's community development office. Ray Roberts, coordinator of community development, briefed the City Council Monday on the survey. Roberts said the survey will give residents "the opportunity to make known their feelings and desires toward the future of the city."

They "will be of vital influence on future city planning decisions." The community development department opened in late May. Personnel have been gathering basic information for the comprehensive plan. Several land-use maps and numerous charts have been collected or drawn, as well as statistical information on employment, taxes, transportation, water, sewer, medical facilities, housing, education and vital statistics.

The survey will cover such matters as length and continuity of residence, reasons for moving to Burley and former residence, opinions on the various services offered by the city, types and cost of housing (both rental and owned), preferred retail locations, family demographics, income, nationality and other pertinent data.

The survey is part of the city's development of a comprehensive plan, as mandated by the state legislature. "This data will be used by the volunteer citizen's planning committee to be formed after the city survey has been analyzed and compiled," said Roberts.

Roberts explained that the survey includes a wide range of "pertinent subjects" and space is provided for additional comments by residents. He said all replies and comments will be anonymous, but he emphasized

Sara phoned cops 5 times on Sept. 22

Chicago Daily News WASHINGTON — Sara Jane Moore made five telephone calls to the Secret Service, the FBI and San Francisco police on the morning of the day she fired a shot at President Ford, Senate investigators have learned.

She tried three times to telephone the two Secret Service agents who interviewed her the previous evening and decided she was not a threat to the President.

On one call, said a Secret Service official, she reached an answering service and was advised to phone again after 9 a.m. Sept. 22.

She failed to reach the agents, Gary Yauger and Martin Haskell, on two later telephone calls the day after San Francisco police confiscated a .44 pistol from her.

Miss Moore also telephoned the FBI office in San Francisco and police headquarters before the allegedly tried to kill Ford as he left the St. Francis Hotel.

"She did not exhibit any urgency," said James T. Burke, assistant director of the Secret Service for protective intelligence. In explaining why she calls were not returned.

In each of the three times she called the Secret Service that day, Burke said, she asked for the two agents who interviewed her on the previous night. She was told they were not available.

Actually, Yauger was assigned to keep an eye on the crowd outside the St. Francis and Haskell was inside the hotel investigating another alleged threat against Ford, Burke told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

The two agents decided that Miss Moore was not a threat to the President after questioning her for nearly an hour Sunday night, Sept. 21.

Secret Service Director H. Stuart Knight acknowledged in testimony yesterday that the interview itself may have led to Miss Moore's attack on the President.

"We might have been the triggering factor," Knight said. "But we find the interview indispensable in making evaluations."

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., asked why the Secret Service interview system failed in the Moore case.

"I'm not sure it did fail, given what we consider are the important items," Knight replied.

Burke, giving a chronology of Secret Service communications regarding Miss Moore, said San Francisco police inspector Jack O'Shea reported she had bought a gun Sept. 21.

Elko land promotion draws fine

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — District Judge Peter Breen Tuesday fined a land sales company $25,000 for making false and misleading statements in the sale of subdivision lots in Elko County.

The fine levied against Landex Inc., was the stiffest penalty ever assessed against a land sales company in Nevada. Landex, with headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz., had sales offices in Las Vegas and Reno and offered both Nevada and Arizona land for sale.

Judge Breen also fined company President Frank Glindmeyer, $2,500 for violating the state regulations in advertising the property in Elko County. The judge ordered Landex to offer restitution of the 900 persons who bought the 40-acre parcels at $130 an acre.

In sales pitches to prospective customers, the company's representatives described the land as "meadows and rolling hills," but Judge Breen said the great majority was actually "montanaside and alkali desert valley floor."

FBI says serious crime epidemic still spreading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The epidemic of serious crime — murders, rapes, robberies, assaults and thefts — is still spreading, according to the latest FBI count made June 30. FBI figures made public Tuesday showed a 13 per cent increase over mid-1974 in reports of serious crime during the first six months of this year.

The rate of increase was down from June 30, 1974, when a 16 per cent rise above mid-1973 statistics was recorded. But Attorney General Edward Levi said, "We can claim no great solace in the fact that the rate in the rise of serious crime has lessened somewhat."

"Crime remains an enormous national problem and current levels are — and must be — seen as unacceptable." The FBI said crime reports actually shot up more sharply — by 18 per cent — in the first three months of 1975, and rose 8 per cent in the second quarter when compared to the same periods of 1974.

The new figures for January to June of this year showed robbery led all serious crimes in rate of increase at 17 per cent. Murder and rape rose 9 per cent each while aggravated assault jumped by 9 per cent.

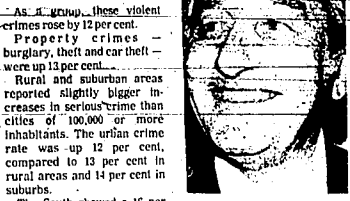

There was a considerable slowdown in trade, dismaying many brokers who experienced record profits in the first six months. The Dow Jones Industrial average fell 85.11 points in the third quarter to 733.88, or 9.06 per cent. It marked its first quarterly loss since falling a whopping 194.54 points, or 24.24 per cent, in the third quarter of 1974, when the economy was in the worst recession since World War II and the Watergate scandal was at its height.

If it is true the market foreshadows the economy by six to eight months, as many analysts claim, the recovery now under way could be erratic. During the first half — the best since 1933 — the Dow average climbed 262.75 points, or 42.64 per cent.

No trial for Patty this year

DEFENSE attorney for Patty Hearst, F. Lee Bailey, said Tuesday his client will not be tried before 1976 because it will take that long to put the case together. He also said she is on the edge of a nervous breakdown and the public thinks the case against her is "open and shut." (UPI)

'Mitt' sought

UNDERCOVER agent of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms was offered $25,000 to kill President Ford, Rex Davis, director of the bureau, said Monday. He said a former mental patient made the offer in a Belleville, Ill., tavern, on Sept. 10 and was subsequently arrested. (UPI)

Union's payment creates dispute

NEW YORK — The United States attorney general and the Internal Revenue Service have become embroiled in an intense dispute over each agency's handling of an allegation that Gerald D. Ford may have received an unusual payment from leaders of the National Maritime Union around 1968.

The prosecutor, Jonathan L. Goldstein, is investigating whether the IRS failed to pursue the allegation after it was made, apparently in early 1974, by a former leader of the union. At the same time, the IRS says it acted "appropriately."

Neither Goldstein's office nor the IRS is believed to have any evidence at this stage that the alleged transaction involving President Ford when he was Congressman ever occurred. Nor has any such evidence emerged in a detailed investigation by the New York Times.

What has developed, however, is a conflict over the treatment of the allegation between two Government agencies that, in a post-Watergate atmosphere, are particularly sensitive to any charge of a cover-up.

The story has two threads that often intertwine. The first is the allegation by William Perry, then administrative assistant to the president of the National Maritime Union, that approximately $2,000 had been raised, in cash, through a union attorney to be given to Ford or someone acting for him.

Sources in both the IRS and the United States Attorney's office said that Perry did not know whether Ford ever received the money and that he had no written evidence to document any part of the alleged transaction.

Ron Nessen, the White House press secretary, said Tuesday that the President had "absolutely no recollection" of having sought a campaign contribution around 1968 from the union — or from union leaders mentioned by Perry as having been involved in the alleged transaction — and "no specific recollection" of having received a donation.

The second, and more complicated, theme is how the IRS and Goldstein's office handled the allegation, which seemed to demand immediate, close attention simply because of the possible involvement of Ford.

NEWHOUSE News Service WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) will prohibit the French-British Concorde SST from landing at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, reliable sources predicted Wednesday.

According to the highly-placed sources, however, the FAA will announce next week, probably Monday, that the Concorde will be allowed to make two flights a day into Dulles International Airport outside of Washington, D. C.

Spokesmen for the FAA strongly denied that any decision has been reached, and said FAA's final environmental report on the Concorde still is being studied at the White House.

Illicit drug use starting younger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Young persons are turning to illicit drugs at an earlier age than ever, says a government study released today. Figures also show an increase in usage among girls and whites. The compilation of four national surveys released today by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, whose director, Dr. Robert L. DuPont, said in a statement that the steady increase in drug use reflected in the findings was "of great concern."

Washington University, said "the trend" toward earlier introduction to drug use is definitely upward. He said findings showed that 4 per cent of children age 12 and 13 had used marijuana in 1972, this figure had reached 6 per cent in 1974. Clinicians also spotted two other trends: "males have historically had more experience than females with illicit drug use, but the sex difference is disappearing — a morning phenomenon; nonwhites have historically had more experience than whites with 'illicit' drugs; but the 'face difference' has disappeared — indeed it has reversed — among the teen-agers."

Ransom frees family

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — All night, General Motors executive William Schulerberg (feared for the life of his family, kidnapped by three tough-talking gunmen. Then unharmed — they came home, freed by the payment of $51,000. "It was an unnerving experience," said Schulerberg Tuesday. "I never want to do that again."

Viet refugees can go home

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — The United States has given 1,600 South Vietnamese refugees permission to return home despite the apparent reluctance of the Communist regime to accept them.

U.S. officials said a South Vietnamese ship that brought escaping refugees to Guam last spring would be used to take the group back in about three weeks.

Robert Keeley, an official of the Interagency Task Force on Indochina Refugees, said Tuesday President Ford has authorized the repatriates to return home.

But Keeley said the Provisional Revolutionary Government in Saigon has yet to approve the move despite a visit by U.N. refugee officials to Indochina two weeks ago.

"We are assuming that the South Vietnamese authorities will not turn back their own citizens," he said.

Zia Rizvi, assistant to the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees, said the South Vietnamese government wants more time to screen the repatriates.

Actually, we will bid game with 13 points or an opening bid opposite an opening bid on the theory that you should not wait for sure things.

North bids two notrump to invite game with his 12 points and South accepts the invitation with his 14 points. His hand is minimum but not too minimum.

South wins the first trick with his king of spades over East's Jack. He proceeds to knock out the ace of diamonds next and with everything behaving nicely will wind up making four or even five notrump.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Iowa asks, "You are playing duplicate with a strange partner. He responds three spades to your one-club opening. You pass with a minimum hand with a singleton spade. You miss a club slam and he informs you that his three-spade bid was super-forcing. What system was he playing?"

One of which we have never heard and certainly not one that is normal in the Great State of Iowa.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBYS MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Six points is the bare minimum for a normal response to a one bid in a suit and seven points the normal minimum.

Thus, when your partner opens the bidding, the rule of the ace and the king tells you that with 10 points (7 plus 3 for a king), you should consider inviting game even if partner shows he has opened a minimum-type hand. With 11 points (7 plus 4 for an ace), you should make some game try. With 14 (7 plus 7 for an ace and a king), you should bid a game.

Tragic common bond draws 125 family members for 'reunion'

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The 125 known descendants of early California pioneer Antonio Joseph have a tragic common bond — their family suffers from a unique and incurable disease.

Forty-eight family members have died of "the Joseph disease" in the past 130 years. Eighty of the surviving descendants, ranging from 18 to 80, came to Oakland during the weekend to learn that as far as doctors know, they are the only humans who suffer from it.

The neurological ailment first strikes family members between the ages of 18 and 42, and the victims soon become spastic and invariably are bedridden or confined to wheelchairs. Victims become unable to control their muscles and as their condition deteriorates, they become susceptible to all kinds of other ailments, such as pneumonia.

Death usually comes 10 to 30 years after the first signs of the Joseph disease are detected.

Those who gathered for the unusual reunion came from California, Nevada, Oregon and as far away as Texas to meet with genetics specialists

Dr. William L. Nyhan of the University of California at San Diego and Dr. Roger Rosenberg of Southwestern Texas University, of Dallas, The National Genetic Foundation of New York assisted in setting up the meeting.

Those who showed up for the unusual reunion were in a wide variety of physical conditions. Some were healthy; some were in wheelchairs; others required canes.

All were examined and many were told that they had no trace of the dread family disease. But some learned for the first time that they already had some of the symptoms.

The doctors told the Joseph clan what they knew about their family's unique disease after a lengthy study of family medical records.

The meeting was not all somber as the relatives, matched family albums, wedding pictures and mementos. Most had never met many of the others.

The patriarch of the family, Antonio Joseph, came to Northern California from the Azores around the time of the gold rush.

ROSE MARIE SILVA, 43, Livermore, Calif., a great granddaughter of Antonio Joseph, said a brother was dying of the disease. She wrote the National Genetic Foundation expressing concern for two nieces who had recently married and her children.

The National Genetic Foundation became interested in the family's plight and Mrs. Silva was instrumental in contacting all members of the family to set up the meeting.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old professional man who just getting started on a shoestring, you might say. A very bright (but terribly overweight) 26-year-old woman has been aggressively pursuing me. She's good company, but I have no real love interest in her. I do not like being seen with her because of her size. (She wears clothes that look like tents or maternity clothes.) She has plenty of money, since she just came into an inheritance, and has been buying me some very expensive presents. She has offered to buy me a car, but so far I have refused although it would come in very handy. She is an excellent bed partner, but I have to take her out public occasionally, which makes it awkward. My brother, who has met her, tells me that if I do not have marriage in mind, I should not see her or accept any gifts from her. What do you advise?

CANADIAN

DEAR CANADIAN: Your brother is wiser than you are. The more you accept from this girl, the greater your obligation. Furthermore, she may equate your accepting her as a bed partner with having a "real love interest" in her — which you have not.

The advice from here is to either level with her or say goodbye.

Brother wiser

DEAR ABBY: Why should anyone be made to feel guilty for having mistaken a boy for a girl? I wouldn't let the kid put the onus on ME, I'd put it on HIM, where it belongs. This happened to me once, and I asked, "Well, if you don't want people to think you're a girl, why do you go around looking like one?"

VIVIAN G. PALM SPRINGS

DEAR VIV: Thanks for a beautiful gender bender!

DEAR ABBY: I am a professional entertainer. I love to sing, and being on the bandstand, showing people a good time, is what it's all about.

I have a very real gripe: Invariably, there is a frustrated singer in the audience. He (or she) will dance as close to the mike as possible and sing loudly along with me. It's very distracting to hear someone singing a beat behind (or ahead) and usually off-key.

I want everyone to enjoy themselves, but not at my expense. After all, someone just might be trying to listen to ME.

The orchestra and I practice long, hard hours to make our music good, and it bugs me to have somebody who is on his little ego trip louse it up for everyone else.

If some self-styled vocalist wants to be where I am, let him take voice lessons as I did, form a group and take it from the top, boy! I hear you also get paid.

If you're there in the audience, please, don't sing!

Cenarrusa asks US to withdraw military, economic aid to Spain

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa is asking the U. S. government to withdraw economic and military support to Spain because it is "a ruthless, coldblooded, fascist nation."

Cenarrusa, a leader of Basques in the Northwestern States, said today he is trying to arrange meetings with the White House, the Department of State and the Idaho congressional delegation to discuss the execution by Spain of five Basque terrorists.

He said he would ask the White House "to immediately withdraw all military and economic aid to Spain and recall the U. S. ambassador to Spain."

He also said he would urge the nation's leaders "to support other countries in the expulsion of Spain from the United Nations and to demand that all political prisoners in Spain be released from prisons."

The ideals set down in the Declaration of Independence are the very things that the Basques are trying to obtain today, he said.

"If we support (Gen. Francisco) Franco, we don't believe in the Declaration of Independence, and I can't support an administration that will support economically and militarily a fascist country that is ruthless and cold-blooded, that is torturing and persecuting the Basques who are a democratic people."

He warned that when the Franco government falls, communism will take over "because democracy is being so suppressed by the Franco regime and communism is going against what the Basques believe in."

"They are a democratic, freedom loving people and there should be a total general amnesty for all Spaniards and Basques and all political prisoners today."

The Idaho Republican said the United States owes more allegiance to the Basques than

PETE CENARRUSA asks aid end to the Spanish because of the help the people of the Pyrenees gave the Allied Forces during World War II.

He said the U. S. government in 1972 had spent $2.4 billion to Spain in military and economic aid.

"Where is our principle? What's that I ask and that's what the Basque people over there are asking."

"Do we have to support a ruthless, coldblooded, fascist government that opposed the allies in World War II, was a friend of Mussolini and Hitler? The Basques helped the Allies in World War II, they smugged the American and Allied fliers from southern France to Gibraltar and the safety of English hands."

He added the Basques had a brigade that fought with the Allies while Franco supported Hitler and Mussolini to the extent that they could. Where is our principle when we turn down our friends and support our enemies?"

Cenarrusa said Basques from other states in the Pacific Northwest have called him to discuss what they can do to make the public aware of the situation and show their support for the Basques living in Spain.

University plan eyed

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — University of Idaho President Ernest Hartung, was asked Tuesday by the faculty council to work towards development of a five-year plan for the university, future of the university.

The future thrust of the university and the question of whether research and graduate programs will be given more emphasis than undergraduate programs have been the subject of much debate in recent months.

Controlling stock sold

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — Former congressman Ralph Harding announced the sale Tuesday of controlling stock in the cattle feedlot he established near Blackfoot to Jack Harris, a Coalinga, Calif., cattle feeder.

In announcing the sale, Harding said Harris will assume total control and management of the feedlot and that Harding is resigning as chairman of the board of directors.

Power needs reduce reservoir level

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Power Company because of unusually warm, dry weather has drawn down the level of Brownlee reservoir in Hells Canyon to produce enough power to meet customer needs, the company announced Tuesday.

P. K. Barron, superintendent of plant operations, said the September load this year was eight per cent greater than a year ago.

He said the reservoir as of Tuesday was drawn down seven feet and the level may dip another three feet or more. Normally, Brownlee has been held at a full stage until much later in the season.

Speeding action emphasized

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's chief law enforcement officers issued a communique Tuesday directing State Police officers to take appropriate action when they see vehicles exceeding the posted speed limits.

John Bender, director of law enforcement, and Superintendent Kenneth DeYoung of the State Police issued the communique to add emphasis to what they described as an already vigorous program of driver speed violation enforcement.

Education campaign resumed

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho department of education and other agencies during October are repeating a campaign to find children who are being denied their right to an education.

The "Idaho Child Find" campaign in May 1974 found 500 out-of-school children — 160 of them were out of school because of handicaps. By the end of the 1974-75 school year, most of the children had been placed in educational programs.

The October program limits have been extended to cover any person up to 21 years of age with unmet special needs.

Judy Schrag, director of special education for the department, said early intervention for the preschool child can do a great deal to prevent later school handicapping conditions.

Predators' slate clean

FORT - COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — A veterinarian said Monday humans are not predators responsible for mutilating the carcasses of cattle which he and other animal pathologists examined.

Dr. A.E. McChesney of Colorado State University said 6 of the 16 animals examined died of natural causes. He said the remaining carcasses were too decomposed to determine what killed the animals.

"There is no question about it," McChesney said. "The mutilations we found were done by some kind of sharp instrument, probably a knife. They all were done after the animal was dead."

McChesney and two other animal pathologists examined 16 of the more than 200 carcasses allegedly mutilated since April in Colorado. Similar reports of mutilations last year in Texas were determined to be the work of predators.

McChesney said he and other veterinarians found no indication the cattle they examined were killed by use of tranquilizers or poisons and said there was "no sign of them being roped, thrown or captured in any way."

He said some of the mutilations of the carcasses corresponded to those reported by authorities in Idaho and Wyoming. McChesney said veterinarians in Wyoming determined mutilated carcasses they examined died of natural causes.

Gem beet, potato harvest picks up

BOISE (UPI) — Harvest of potatoes and sugar beets in Idaho is expected to be in full swing by the end of the week, the state Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The service noted that excellent weather has allowed all harvest activities to progress unimpeded.

Harvest of small grains needed completion by last weekend and many other crops also were in the wind-up stages, the agency said. Fruit harvest continues active with grapes, peaches, plums, pears and some apples being harvested at the present time. The apple harvest should be in high gear by next week.

The service also reported that most pastures and ranges continue to provide adequate forage for livestock, although all ranges are in need of moisture. Cattle are continuing to be moved off of summer ranges down into the lower valleys for wintering.

Honey output declines

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho bees are producing honey at a slower rate this year than a year ago, the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The agency said commercial honey production this season is expected to be 3,744,000 pounds, which would be 37 per cent below the 1974 production of 5,952,000 pounds.

Lower yield at an expected 39 pounds per colony was blamed for the reduction. Last year colony production was 64 pounds, although there were three-per-cent fewer commercial colonies.

Size declines

SALT LAKE CITY — The Utah Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says harvesting of the state's fruit crop for 1975 is well underway, but all varieties of fruit lack normal size.

The state agency said picking of pears and peaches was about 80 to 85 per cent complete as of the end of last week, while the apple harvest was just getting underway and was about 25 per cent done.

The service said Monday that all three varieties of fruit were running slightly smaller than normal, but demand is excellent.

Fall weather pattern continues

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area:

Continued fair. Cool tonight with low temperatures 35 to 40 with a few patches of light frost. Sunny and warm Thursday with highs 75 to 80. Light winds tonight. Probability of precipitation near zero through Thursday.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley:

Continued fair. Cool tonight with low temperatures in the middle 20s. Sunny and warm Thursday with highs in the middle 70s. Light winds tonight. Probability of precipitation near zero.

The fine fall weather pattern is expected to continue through the weekend. Warm afternoons and cool nights with a little frosty light frost will continue. No precipitation is in sight.

Continued excellent weather for fall harvest operations and fall recreation activities is expected.

September was one of the driest Septembers on record for Idaho in general.

Some totals around the state include: 0.1 to .86 compared to a normal of .41; Lewiston a trace, compared to .86 for a normal; Pocatello, .03, compared to a normal of .01.

At the Weather Service office serving Twin Falls, .02 of an inch was measured, compared to a normal of .60, however last year our average temperature was 59 degrees compared to a normal average of 58.

Wyoming mutilation probed

GILLETTE, Wyo. (UPI) — Sheriff Spike Hatky said Tuesday no predators were involved in the mutilation of a calf found on a Campbell County ranch, the 17th apparent cattle mutilation reported in Wyoming in recent weeks.

"I've never seen a predator carrying a sharp instrument around, and there's no doubt a sharp instrument was used," he said.

Hatky said the calf was found Friday on the Phadis Kennedy ranch 30 miles north of Gillette. No tracks or other evidence was found near the animal, which had been dead one to two days near a waterhole, he said.

Hatky said the calf's sex organs had been removed and the stomach cut with a sharp instrument. A veterinarian who examined the animal couldn't determine the cause of death, he said.

Aide transferred

BOISE (UPI) — Guy W. Nutt, state conservationist for the federal Soil Conservation Service in Idaho since 1971, will become SCS state conservationist in Oregon Oct. 12.

Nutt will be succeeded in his Idaho post by Amos I. Garrison Jr., deputy state conservationist for Colorado.

The Soil Conservation Service provides technical services for local soil conservation districts.

Honors awarded for lab safety

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Federal and contractor employees at the Energy Research and Development Administration's Idaho National Engineering Laboratory recently became eligible to receive outstanding on-the-job safety awards, officials announced in Idaho Falls today.

Some 350 employees of the administration's Idaho Operations Office have earned a Safety Award of Merit by working 1,450,000 man-hours without a lost-time injury during the period of April 25, 1973, and March 26, 1975.

The same award went to Aerojet Nuclear Company's 2,726 employees for 1,250,000 man-hours without a lost-time injury during a period of June 19, 1974, through Oct. 2, 1974.

R. Glenn Bradley, manager of the Idaho Operations Office, said "the awards earned by ERDA and Aerojet Nuclear employees are a high tribute to their never-ending safety awareness and to the intensive year-around training and guidance programs conducted by the Laboratory's safety staff."

This is the seventh Award of Merit received by the former Atomic Energy Commission and ERDA employees and the fifth received by Aerojet Nuclear.

Defendant dropped

BOISE (UPI) — Federal District Judge Russell E. Smith has signed an order dismissing Michael Mac Butch of the Credit Bureau of Pocatello and the business as defendants in a civil rights suit filed by Rep. George Hansen.

Only Mel Morgan of Pocatello, 1974 Democratic state treasurer, and Nale Morgan Jewelers, Pocatello, remain as defendants.

Hansen and his wife, Connie, seek $301,805 damages in the suit, alleging their privacy was violated to damage them politically. Morgan is alleged to have obtained a credit report on the Hansens.

The decision to drop Mac Butch and the credit bureau resulted from information gathered through depositions, investigation and testimony in last spring's criminal trial of Morgan by the government, the court said.

Pipeline talk set

BOISE (UPI) — Robert W. Ward, president of the Alaskan Arctic Gas Company, will review construction progress of the Alaska pipeline for members of the Special Business and Industry Committee of the Greater Chamber of Commerce Friday evening, chamber officials said today.

They said Ward, a former lieutenant governor of Alaska, also will provide a report on the status of market development.

Chamber officials said "It is most important that we hear pipeline routing alternatives so that our support can be directed where needed."

Building panel sets meet

BOISE (UPI) — Location and financing of new state office buildings will be discussed by the Idaho Building Authority at its meeting Friday. It was announced today by D. E. "Skip" Chilberg, Department of Administration director.

Chilberg said the group would meet at Lewis-Clark State College in Lewiston.

Land use plan approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Land Use Plan for the South Fork Payette River Planning Unit on the Boise National Forest has been approved and will be implemented immediately, Forest Supervisor Ed Maw said today.

Maw said the plan provides the direction for the management of Forest Service lands within the unit and replacing former direction provided in the 1915 multiple-use plan for the area.

Blind aid unit opens meet

BOISE (UPI) — The Western Regional Conference of Librarians Serving the Blind and Physically Handicapped will meet in Boise Wednesday through Friday.

Delegates will tour the library facilities for special services and the Idaho Commission for the Blind. Meetings will discuss recruiting, utilizing time and talent of the volunteer readers and radio reading services in operation or planned in western states.

Local control foes rapped

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The executive director of the Association of Idaho Cities accused big-business of opposing "local control" Tuesday.

"In Idaho we hear an awful lot about local control... but the legislature is heavily influenced by big business, Floyd Decker said. He said that Idaho Power Co., real estate groups, Morrison-Knudsen, banks, developers except Boise Cascade, railroads and the Idaho Associated Taxpayers, which he said represents all these interests, had fought bills designed to promote local control.

"I think these groups are literally scared to death about losing control over the tax structure of this state," Decker said. He maintained that big business can wield strong, concentrated power in the state legislature but would have a more difficult time influencing local governments.

This year the AIC pushed House Bill 80, a measure designed to let cities adopt any type of tax with voter approval. Currently, Idaho cities are only allowed to levy property taxes.

Decker maintained that opponents of House Bill 80 also opposed the governor's land-use planning legislation which he said he put the planning on the local level. Both the taxation measure and the key land-use bill passed the House 37-33, with only three or four representatives favoring one and opposing the other measure, he said.

Had a roll-call vote been taken House Bill 80 probably would have passed the Senate by one or two votes, Decker said. But he said that the bill was defeated because "in a vote we vote to strike the 'emancipating clause' which makes the measure effective."

"Local control is a fallacy in Idaho... We've got a bunch of people in the legislature who talk that way, but they don't mean it. They don't vote that way," he said.

Next year, Decker said, AIC will back a three-point "home rule" program.

The association will propose legislation to let "cities carry out any function or perform any services that they see fit unless it has been prohibited by the Idaho Code or the state constitution. Currently, Decker said, city governments must obtain permission from the state legislature to do anything they are not already authorized to do.

Minidoka youths attempt to snitch Burley HS rock

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The new "spirit rock" at Burley High School as they sited up the rock for removal Tuesday.

For the second time in a week and a half, Minidoka County youths have tried to rip off the enormous rock brought down from the hills on Sept. 20 by Burley high school students.

Both times the Minidoka thieves have been caught by Burley police. This time charges were filed against Theodore J. Cameron, 18; Daniel Duffin, 18, and two juveniles, 15 and 17, all of Rupert.

They were arrested at 2:35 a.m. Tuesday at Burley High School as they sited up the rock for removal. They are charged with trespass and destruction of property. All were released to their parents or guardian.

The latter charge stems from breaking of the sidewalk which occurred when the Minidoka pranksters rolled away the Burley rock. Burley High Principal Thomas Gruwel said the lawn was torn up in the first attempt one and one-half weeks ago, but he did not press charges.

"From now on when anyone sticks his nose across that sidewalk, we're going to prosecute," Gruwel said.

On Sept. 21 Minidoka youths used a trailer and a heavy loader from Kloepper Concrete of Paul in their attempt to remove the 4-foot-high, 6-foot-long rock. Tuesday's equipment included a loader and a big truck from Cameron's Equipment in Rupert.

The rock was brought out of the mountains Sept. 20 by Burley Student Body President Marvin Green and some students recruited for the task. It was the second "spirit rock" at Burley High.

Both Burley and Minidoka high schools once had rocks. Both disappeared a couple of years ago.

"They served the same purpose as one that has sat at the Twin Falls High School for a dozen years, providing both a symbol and a focal point for painting pranks of students from rival classes and schools.

"The rocks might change from one color to another overnight, sometimes even showing stripes. After one sports contest hosting Pocatello, the Minidoka rock sported an Indian head until Minidoka students got on the red paint brush again.

"They never painted on the building while we had the rock," remarked Minidoka Principal Glen Maughn. "If the students would get another one and concrete it in, I'd be happy to see it."

"I guess the boys scared the river (at Minidoka) just can't stand it," said Gruwel of the new Burley rock.

He also said the rock had kept students of his and other schools from painting on the high school building.

FOUR Rupert youths were arrested early Tuesday morning at the Burley High School "spirit rock." The youths had a trailer and a loader were making the second attempt in the past one and one-half weeks to remove the 4 by 6 by 6-foot rock from in front of the high school.

Big campaigns seen in Cassia

BURLEY — Malta and Burley already show signs of a strong campaign toward the Nov. 4 municipal elections in Cassia County.

At Albion there has been talk of a full slate of candidates seeking to move on to the City Council, although no petitions had been taken out by Tuesday afternoon. City Clerk Elaine Osterhout said she had received one inquiry. Before the petitions were ready.

Eight men had taken out petitions in Burley as of Tuesday afternoon, including two current councilmen. Two petitions were filed by Wednesday morning.

Clay Taylor, now completing his first term, took out a petition Tuesday. Leonard King, appointed to the council on the death of Jerry Wyant last year, took out a petition last week.

John Struchen, a vice commander in the Minidoka Search and Rescue unit, filed a petition Tuesday for a council seat. Struchen's petition was returned to him this morning because it lacked the 40 valid signatures.

Others who picked up petitions early this week included Ray Barlow, James Henderson and Ralph Rasmussen. Don Chessman and Steve Westfall announced their candidacy last week.

Four seats on the Burley council will be before the voters, three for four years and one for two years. L.V. Morgan and John Croft have announced they will not run for re-election.

Both Osmer (Bob) Smith and Boyd Both are up for re-election at Malta next month and both have taken out petitions. Mayor Wallace Briggs also has taken out a petition.

The Malta voters also have to replace Margaret Whiting, whose seat has not been filled. Bud Tracy and Ted Higley have taken petitions, said city clerk Gene Baxter Tuesday.

and have indicated they will seek that two year term.

Albion councilman Jay Nielsen said Tuesday he will not be a candidate for re-election.

"I've been in eight years and I think it's time for someone else to have the blessings," Nielsen said. "You get a little bit dull. It's time for someone else to take a period."

Two other council seats and the mayor's post also are on the Albion ballot. Councilman Marvin Tremaine is the only one who will not face the voters this year.

L.W. (Whitley) Groves was hunting this week, but his wife said he does not plan to run because he is taking a job as inspector for the city. Groves was appointed to the council; his replacement will be elected for two years.

The remaining councilman, Rev. Alva Wunder, could not be reached today for comment on his election plans.

Mayor Douglas Mahoney, appointed from the council to replace Odeen Redman, was undecided early this week whether or not he would run for re-election.

Burley teen charged

BURLEY — A summons was served Tuesday afternoon on a 16-year-old Burley girl charged with aggravated assault.

The charge stems from an incident at Safeway in Burley about 8:30 p.m. Sept. 8. Store employee Alta Heaton was checked at Cassia Memorial Hospital and released the same evening.

Mrs. Heaton told Burley police she was following two girls around the store, checking for possible shoplifting.

"She said one of the girls grabbed her and threw her to the floor, injuring her neck.

Rupert man heads state group

SUN VALLEY — The Idaho Hospital Association has elected Ed Richardson, Minidoka Memorial Hospital administrator at Rupert, as its new president.

The association made its selection Tuesday at a convention in Sun Valley.

2 seek Hansen post

HANSEN — Interest is being shown in the Hansen mayor 1976, with two men already filing petitions for the post held by Harold Miller Jr.

Miller said he is not seeking re-election. He served three years on the council before filling one four-year term as mayor.

Three other petitions are being circulated, according to Dorotea Steinhilber, city clerk. A mayor and two councilmen will be named in the Nov. 4 election.

Majority candidates include Ralph Simmons, farmer and businessman, and Galen Stimpson, Hansen school teacher.

Terms are expiring for Kenneth Daw, who will not run again, and Brent Morrill, who is campaigning a petition. He was appointed to fill the unexpired term of John Brashier.

3 petitions filed in Filner

FILNER — Three petitions have been filed for the two Filner council seats to be filled in the Nov. 4 city election.

Candidates include Charles Crawford, incumbent; John Glendon, Filner Mutual Telephone Co. employee, and Grant Neyman, who is retired.

Terms will expire for Crawford and Gordon Hendrix, who said he will not seek re-election, because he is building a home out of town.

Gooding vote interest slow

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

GOODING — Interest in Gooding's city election, with four posts to be filled Nov. 4, seems to be getting off to a slow start.

Only one nominating petition has been taken out to be circulated, according to City Clerk George Silva. The petition is for Duane Clemons who is serving out the remainder of the term of Valdo Gray who resigned.

Three council seats as well as the mayor's post are to be filled in the election. The larger than usual number of vacancies results from resignations in the past two years as well as the recall of Mayor Leo Rice this spring.

Councilman Gene Kelly succeeds Rice as mayor and Robert Reed was appointed to fill Kelly's term. James Alastra, appointed when Paul Klingler resigned after moving from the city, is the third councilman whose term expires.

Mayor Kelly said today he has mixed feelings about seeking re-election. He is trying to get someone else to run, he said, and would be "glad to help them learn their way."

"I've talked to quite a few people," Kelly said, "trying to get them to run but they are sort of afraid to because of the recall situation."

He said he has been urged to run by a few people, but "the thought of another four years is a long time." Kelly has served on the council the past seven years. He said some people "seem to take it for granted" it'll run.

Kelly told the Times-News today, "Things have been running smoothly."

Councilmen are paid $60 per month and the mayor $85. Kelly said he had tried unsuccessfully to get the amount raised to $100 and $150, thinking this might draw more interest.

He said younger people are needed on the council.

Kelly said it is important to have a woman on the council. There are unofficial reports that Doris Vaughn, who was active in the recall movement will be a candidate. She was unavailable for comment today.

Both Reed and Alastra said they have not decided whether to seek election, but Alastra said he probably would not run.

3 seek posts at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — Three men are seeking election to the Kimberly City Council and the mayor wants to continue in his job.

Two councilmen posts are up for election in the Nov. 4 city election.

Mayor Von Nebeker filed his petition Tuesday afternoon. He said there is one more project he would like to see accomplished in Kimberly — a new water system. Plans already are under way to obtain adequate storage facilities and Nebeker said today he would "like to see it through."

City Clerk Edythe Widmer said a petition has been filed for Kent Taylor, a Twin Falls attorney who resides in Kimberly, and other petitions are being circulated for Avis Allen, a longtime local barber, and Charles (Coon) Slindley, manager of a local fertilizer plant.

Councilman Lou Porter, whose term is expiring, said he has made up his mind about whether or not to seek re-election, but is not ready to announce his decision.

The other councilmen whose term is expiring, Russell Ellor, said his decision was easy. He is not going to run.

TWIN FALLS — School enrollment across the Magic Valley level with last year, but a mini baby boom has boosted first grade figures slightly.

Just above 28,000 students are attending classes from kindergarten to high school in school districts across the Valley's eight counties.

In grades one through 12, about 26,700 students are attending Magic Valley schools, compared with about 26,670 last year for the same grades.

First graders account for 2,268 of these students this year, compared with 2,156 last year, about a 5 per cent increase in first grade enrollment.

Kindergarten classes are available for the first time this year in many districts, with 1,370 students enrolled so far. The total classes have not begun yet in Buhl, Castleford or Dietrich, and none are set for Minico.

The Twin Falls district is the largest in the valley, with 6,636 students in grades one through 12, a slight decrease from last year's figure of 6,126 students. Kindergarten classes in Twin Falls are up from 1,118 last year.

Analysis set on aquifer study

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — The Silver Creek Aquifer study is moving into its second year with analysis of the data collected to begin soon.

The study began in 1974 after area residents became concerned Silver Creek water quality was deteriorating.

With completion of the second year of data collection, a computer model of Silver Creek will be developed.

The model will aid local government in making land-use decisions which will not harm the underground aquifer feeding into Silver Creek.

the study. Charles Brockway, University of Idaho hydrologist, showed slides Tuesday night to upper Wood River water users. The slides were taken with infrared film and show which fields are heavy water users in the triangle.

He said every irrigation diversion will be studied and programmed into the computer model. Seepage from the irrigation canal system will be studied as well.

Initial studies show seepage loss in the district 45 percent, which feeds the triangle loses up to 17 per cent of its water in certain areas.

Joe Moreland, U.S. Geological Survey official, said his office is measuring the underground water system throughout the triangle. His office hopes to know at what levels and in what geologic structures the aquifer is contained.

Moreland concurred with Brockway that the underground triangle aquifer is a difficult water body to study. He said artesian wells appear beside natural wells in the triangle.

He said there is a geologic divide near Big Wood River, not yet determined which shoots water to the east into the triangle. The agencies are trying to determine where the divide is and to what degree it diverts water to the aquifer as opposed to another to the west.

The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IAHW), is taking surface water quality checks as well to determine the amount of pollutants in Silver Creek. The Idaho Department of Water Resources is checking the ground water quality.

All data collected will be put into a report and released later this fall, according to Myrand

Packer, department of water resources official.

The study has far-reaching effects for all users along Big and Little Wood Rivers as well as Silver Creek. The three all interconnect and water users along the entire stretch are affected.

Agencies participating in the study include the University of Idaho, the Soil Conservation Service District, Department of Health and Welfare, the Extension Service, the U.S. Geological Survey, the Agricultural Research Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

It has been written that blonde girls with big feet are unusually patient. But they have an evangelical streak in them. With a secret desire to carry the light of truth into the world of darkness. They make good missionaries' wives. So says an analyst who, despite some ridicule, insists physical characteristics reveal personality traits. Our Love and War Man used to be rather skeptical about those contentions. But he now says that generations of research by scholars at Harvard suggest there may be something to such notions, after all.

PRESCOTT

Ancestors of people named Prescott stayed at the "Priest's Cottage" in the villages of Old England.

NOBODY in Europe had ever heard of syphilis until Christopher Columbus's crew got back from the New World trips.

Q. "HOW DO the sheep in Montana compare to the population there?"

A. The sheep are dumber. Wait... that's too flip. About two sheep to each person.

LOOKS AS THOUGH no further argument is possible against the old line that men are more "red blooded" than women. They are. A man has far more red corpuscles than a woman of the same weight and height, say the science boys.

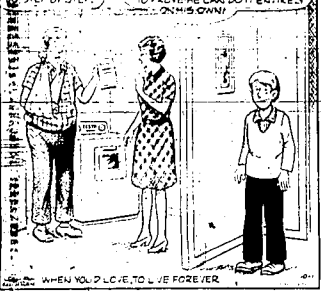

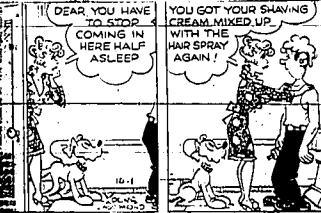

LIMERICK

To our annual limerick contest, William K. Alsop, Jr., offers one more: "A woman in Thief River Falls... Was a glutton for beef-liver balls... When she yelled, 'Dinner's ready!'... Her spouse muttered, 'Steady!'... The beef-liver grief-griev calls..."

WAS A LITTLE UNDER the weather the other day, so had occasion at home to look at some of the daytime TV game shows. Aren't they too suggestive? Maybe it's just in the delivery. Paul Lynde handles his naughty little lines like a naughty little boy, cunningly enough. But some of those celebrities walk on their wil in barnyard boots. You'd think they'd have enough fetching up to wipe their feet before they came into the living room: Bye now! It's time for my warm milk and cookies.

MAJOR HOOPLE

San Jose lionized for beating Cards

OAKLAND (UPI) — Giant-killing San Jose State commanded most of the attention at the weekly gathering of Northern California football writers and coaches Tuesday. It's no wonder. The Spartans earned the distinction by jumping off to a 3-0 record, winning seven in a row over two years, and polishing off Stanford 36-34 Saturday after bolting to a 30-7 halftime lead. "It's not going to get any easier this week," noted San Jose State coach Darryl

Rogers, who takes on 1-2 California at Berkeley Saturday. The Bears downed previously unbeaten Washington State 33-21 in a Pac Eight opener. Cal has an extremely potent offense," Rogers said. "Chuck Muncie is probably the best athlete on the Coast playing football. Nobody has really stopped them from moving up and down the field."

"The Spartans proved they have a great club and are well coached by defeating two Pac Eight teams," Cal's Mike White pointed out. "That defensive line of theirs is super—I think it will be a great game."

Stanford's Jack Christiansen was more elaborate in his appraisal of the Spartans. "It might be difficult for some people to understand," he said, "but San Jose State has better personnel than six teams in our conference."

"They have great people both on offense and defense," Christiansen added. "We were beaten by a football team with outstanding personnel that got some outstanding breaks in the second quarter and capitalized on them."

Canyon Springs sets two-man best ball

A two-man best ball tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Canyon Springs golf course. Host professional Mike Sessions said the two-day event will allow only a differential of five strokes in a team. He added the field will be flighted after entries are complete. Those interested in participating may call the pro shop or sign in Saturday.

Sox snub pitching, hitting questions

BOSTON (UPI) — The same old questions started anew as the Boston Red Sox get ready for the first American League playoff in their history. Do you think your bullpen is strong enough? Will your hitting hold up in a best of five series? Do you think the pressure will get to your young players?

The Red Sox, who returned to work today after two days off, answered the questions sufficiently during the regular season by holding off a late charge by Baltimore. But this time the opponent is Oakland, winner of three consecutive World Series.

"Everyone on this team thinks we can beat Oakland," said second baseman Denny Doyle, traded from the California Angels early in the season. "We match up very well. I think hitting-wise, we're the same," we have better starters and they have an excellent bullpen."

Boston Manager Darrell Johnson answered the questions in a typically cautious manner: "You're asking me how we match up and I honestly don't know" said the second year manager. "I mean, how can you compare teams with so many intangibles."

"You can have one pitcher who pitches the hell out of the ball for three games, and he comes back and gets battered the fourth game. Then where are you?"

Miami coach becomes first to win weekly honors after loss

MIAMI (UPI) — Carl Selmer served 18 years as an assistant before becoming head coach at Miami (Fla.) last February, but he can't ever remember a team of his gaining so much attention in a losing cause. "Our players did such a lousy job, and his nice people are aware of what they did," Selmer said in a review of the Hurricanes' narrow 20-17 loss to unbeaten Oklahoma last Friday night.

"When you're supposed to be five-touchdown underdogs and come close to beating the nation's top-ranked team, well that's something." In knocking the Sooners out of their No. 1 ranking, Selmer was named UPI's Coach of the Week. It was the first time that this weekly award has been presented to a coach after a loss.

The Hurricanes held the Oklahoma wishbone attack to 163 yards rushing and 176 yards total offense while Miami. "The entire coaching staff and the players did a tremendous job in preparing offensively and defensively for this game. It's just one of those things." It is more unusual when no one expected the Hurricanes to come close after a 38-23 lacing at the hands of Georgia Tech the week before.

Hayward unhappy over trade rumors

SEATTLE (UPI) — Spencer Hayward of the Seattle Sonics is angry over repeated summer rumors that Bill Russell, coach and general manager, was trying to peddle the star forward to New York or Atlanta.

Russell knows Hayward is unhappy but flatly says there's no truth to the trade rumors. "I have never intended to trade Hayward, never wanted to end it ain't going to," the coach of the Seattle NBA club said.

Sonics assistant general manager Bob Walsh made a point of saying much the same at Tuesday's meeting of the Puget Sound Sportswriters and Sportscasters. "We absolutely haven't talked to anyone, there have been no discussions and will be no discussions regarding Spencer," Walsh said. "We feel we are going to work this problem out before the season starts."

Hayward said in an interview at training camp that the problem between him and Russell is one of communications.

Walsh said that even looking at the problem from Hayward's point of view, the problem was difficult to understand because Russell is articulate.

ECAC seeks end to player affidavit

HYANNIS, MASS. (UPI) — The 212-member Eastern College Athletic Conference overwhelmingly approved a resolution Tuesday urging the NCAA executive council to rescind the student-athlete affidavit immediately.

The members, attending their annual meeting, said the eight-page affidavit, which asks a great number of personal questions, was "too cumbersome to administer is probably illegal, because it may violate the Privacy Act, adopted recently by Congress," said ECAC spokesman Richard Hussey. The affidavit, to be administered individually by athletic directors, is used as a document proving the athlete's amateurism.

Buhl votes Nov. 4

Buhl Mayor Ted Pence will not seek re-election but he expects "some definite activity" in the mayoralty race.

A new mayor and three councilmen will be elected in the Nov. 4 city election. Of the three councilmen whose posts are up for election, only Joe Fehrenbacher has a petition being circulated. Peggy McArthur, city clerk, said Tuesday.

Jerry Hawkins said he has not decided whether he will seek re-election and Darrel Loos, who is filling the unexpired term of Don Norris who moved out of the state, said he definitely will not run.

He has served one term previously on the council and then was appointed two years ago to complete Norris' term.

Pence said he knows of at least two other petitions which are being circulated, but he is not at liberty to say who they are for.

"I am interested in the post," Pence said, "but my other duties have got to be taken care of. I am not free to continue."

The mayor said both he and Loos want to make sure there are other people who will carry on in the new city administration.

Buhl pays councilmen a $100 monthly salary and the mayor, $150. This will soon be raised to $125 and $200, but for the time involved, serving on the council still is "very much a civic duty," Pence said.

Jackpot offered cable TV

JACKPOT — Townspeople here have given 100 per cent approval to cable television at a hearing of the Nevada Public Service Commission.

The Jackpot Cable Vision Co., privately financed, has made application for a permit to cable six television stations to the rapidly growing community.

Gedwyn L. Smith, Ontario, Ore., company president, testified his plan calls for three stations from Boise, one each from Salt Lake City and Twin Falls, and the educational channel in Nampa.

Two towers would be erected on the bench immediately west of the town that butts against the Idaho border. Solid aluminum antennas would be used to endure all weather variations, Smith testified.

He has an agreement with Idaho Power Co. to use its existing poles.

A maintenance office would be opened in Jackpot, Smith, who has a cable television system in Sumpter, Ore., said.

An information sheet on planning will be made available to Jackpot residents by the Jackpot Cable Vision Co. in the near future.

Ann Kirkendall, Elko, secretary-treasurer of the Elko Television district, subject to a public hearing and local election, said Jackpot can be included in its taxing district. Jackpot could then enjoy the service of additional television stations in Nevada.

A translator would be placed on 6,120-foot-high Middlestack Mountain nine miles south of Jackpot.

Heber P. Hardy, Carson City, Nev., was the hearing officer.

Lifetime sports stressed

BOISE — There needs to be more stress on lifetime athletic skills such as bowling, swimming and tennis, and less stress on competitive team sports, Ray Truby, State Superintendent of public instruction, said Saturday.

Truby made the remark in a welcoming address at the Idaho State Bowling Association's annual jamboree held Friday through today in Boise.

"Any more to make a football team takes the larger-sized kids," he said. "We need to stress and support the sports where a kid of any size can be successful."

Riders compete Saturday

JACKPOT, Nev. — Preliminary examinations will be required of all horses in the third annual, 57-mile Diamondfield Jack Endurance Ride Saturday from Crockett Meadows eight miles south of Hansen, Idaho, to Jackpot, Robert (Bob) Harney, Twin Falls, Idaho, who is in charge, reports.

Veterinarians will also test horses at the half-way mark and at the finish.

The ride via Deadline Ridge and Shoshone Basin will be hosted by the Magic Valley (Idaho) Appaloosa Horse Club. It is sanctioned by the Appaloosa Horse Club Inc.

Prize money and awards total $1,500. An award of $100 will go to the first horses from Magic Valley to finish in the race regardless of place.

Entry fee for professional riders is $50 and for amateurs $25. Horses will start with a gunshot at Crockett Meadows and should start arriving in Jackpot by 1 p.m., Harney says.

Riders this year will circle the town on the north and west to finish at the hitching post immediately north of the Standard Service station. The extension will add three miles to the former 54-mile run that ended northeast of the Jackpot golf course.

There will be a free barbecue for contestants Friday evening at Crockett Meadows.

Trading post remains open

TWIN FALLS — The closure of Rock Creek Saloon in Twin Falls has nothing to do with operation of Rock Creek Trading Post, according to Bob Hamby.

Hamby said his business, located south of Hansen, is open during its usual business hours.

Rock Creek Saloon was temporarily closed for serving beer after hours.

your health

By GEORGE C. THOSTENSEN, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thostensen: Our six-year-old son is a bedwetter. He is a sound sleeper and never remembers being taken to the bathroom at night. He has worried about this when away from home — at grandma's, once at a pajama party. We have tried everything.

Keep bed wetter clean

I would suggest you see an ear specialist to find out if there is something wrong with the inner ear. This is where the body's balance mechanism is located, and from your description it sounds as though this may be your problem.

In an older person, one might suspect a faulty circulation to the brain, as in a disorder of the carotid artery leading to the brain. And, of course, this could not be absolutely ruled out in your case. In fact, there are several possible causes for dizziness besides a disorder of the middle ear: anemia, low thyroid function, faulty nutrition are but a few. Search for these warrants a fairly complete physical examination.

My grand-daughter is 16, and her problem is the great size of her legs from the hips to her knees. The flesh bulges downward when she sits.

The child's mother had tests made to determine if there was a glandular malfunction. The tests showed none.

You do not tell me her weight. If she is generally overweight, reducing would be in order. General reduction would tend to thin her thighs somewhat. Exercise will firm the muscles of the thighs.

Dear Dr. Thostensen: I am getting married at the age of 49. I wonder if you can have intercourse for the first time at that late age? — D.K.

Dr. Thostensen's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea. Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.
