

today in brief

Lisbon protesters injured by troops
LISBON, Portugal, (UPI) — Troops injured several protesters with gunfire, rubber bullets and teargas today in Porto when Communists joined the extreme left in open defiance of the government.

Hospital spokesmen said at least two demonstrators were wounded by gunfire in the clash outside the Porto barracks of a disbanded left-wing army unit. They said several others were treated for less serious injuries.

UN welcomes Hirohito, Sihanouk
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United Nations mixed a red carpet welcome with unusually strong security precautions today for Japanese Emperor Hirohito.

The same greeting awaited Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Hirohito and his wife, Empress Nagako, were whisked through U.N. headquarters, visiting the secretary general's 30th floor office with its spectacular views of New York and the Security Council and General Assembly chambers.

Recuperating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, 57, is receiving chemotherapy treatment for a blood plasma disease her doctors say is manageable. Her physician, Dr. Thomas O'Brien, said Mrs. Mitchell is improving daily and may be able to leave the hospital by the end of this week. The disorder was diagnosed after she entered the hospital for treatment of cracked ribs. She has been told she can continue an active life when she is out of the hospital.

Levi challenged to break boycott
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Jewish Congress today challenged Attorney General Edward Levi to devise a way to prohibit the Arab boycott imposed against Israel from working in the United States.

In a letter to Levi, who opposes currently proposed legislation which would make it a crime for U.S. firms to honor Arab boycott requests, the AJC said it was "time that the government found effective means of enforcing the anti-boycott policy expressed in the Export Administration Act."

Henry slates China visit Oct. 19
HONG KONG (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit China Oct. 19-23, the official New China News Agency announced tonight.

"It has been agreed upon through consultations that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, United States Secretary of State and assistant to the U.S. president for National Security Affairs, will visit the People's Republic of China from October 19 through October 23, 1975," the agency said.

Mrs. Elsie Self, TF pioneer, dies
TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Elsie A. Self, 89, Twin Falls pioneer and business woman, died in a nursing home here Sunday after a short illness.

Mrs. Self came to Twin Falls with her husband, Grafton, in 1910. They operated the Self Manufacturing Co. until his death in 1943, after which she continued to operate that firm with her son. Mrs. Self operated a millinery store and other business enterprises here and started the Lincoln School hot lunch program.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday. (Obituary, p. 2)

Pacemaker implant slated for Larry Ek Tuesday

NEW YORK — Tuesday morning will be the moment of truth for Larry Ek. At 7:30 a.m. the 23-year-old cerebral palsy victim will undergo surgery to install an electronic "brain-pacemaker" designed to relieve his crippling condition.

The surgery will follow months of planning by Ek during which time a community fund drive raised close to $11,000 to cover the cost of the pioneering implant procedure.

Ek said this morning the chance for improvement with the implant "looks pretty good."

Examined at St. Barnabas Hospital in the Bronx by Dr. I.S. Cooper, the physician who designed the implant, Ek said he was told, "I'll improve real good. He gave me a good chance of coming out of it."

Ek said both he and his mother, who accompanied him to St. Barnabas, were "awful nervous right now."

The surgery, he said, will take about six hours and will be followed by three or four days of recovery in intensive care.

After that, Ek will receive physical therapy and instruction in the use of his crippled arms and legs.

The implant procedure uses an electronic stimulator to nudge brain cells into performing muscle control functions normally performed by cells "stayed dormant or dormant birth of cerebral palsy victims."

Ek first heard of the procedure while listening to a radio program last year. He then contacted a Boise neurosurgeon who put him in touch with Dr. Cooper and the St. Barnabas implant team.

A fund drive for Ek began last December and by this summer had reached its $10,000 goal. Funds were raised through dances, theatre and musical performances—and other benefits. Dozens of service clubs and local businesses participated.

In March, Ek travelled to New York where he was given the go-ahead by the St. Barnabas medical team.

While at the hospital, Ek met and became engaged to Sherry Hamilton, a Texas woman in her early twenties who like Ek was a cerebral palsy victim scheduled for implant surgery.

Miss Hamilton underwent surgery in August, and according to Ek showed definite improvement. But Ek has not heard from her lately. After her surgery she broke off the engagement.

2 TF candidates file

Twin Falls — Only two candidates have returned petitions for four Twin Falls City Council seats open here.

City Clerk Edythe Koenig said completed petitions had been received from Chris Talkington and Gordon Cox. The filing deadline is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Four council positions will be on the ballot in municipal elections Nov. 4, including seats now held by Stephen Bancroft, Stephen Lincoln, Leon Smith and Winston Jones, incumbent mayor.

Bancroft, Lincoln and Smith have all taken out petitions, but have not yet returned them. Jones has announced he will not seek re-election.

Margaret Youtz also has taken out, but not yet completed a petition. To be a candidate, a person must file a petition with the signatures of 40 qualified registered voters for the city of Twin Falls.

Campaign funds case due airing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today held its first formal session of the 1975-76 term and agreed to review controversial cases involving the federal campaign financing law and a complex state abortion statute.

After Chief Justice Warren E. Burger gave the nine-member Court into its 185th term, the justices announced which cases they had decided to test for oral argument and written opinion over the next several months.

Justice William O. Douglas, who suffered a stroke in December and has been confined to a wheelchair, was ruled by court police to his seat on the bench. Douglas' health has been a major question mark, but he appeared alert during the first session.

The Court scheduled four hours of oral arguments on the 1974 election reform act, which provides public financing of presidential elections and limits amounts contributors may give and candidates may spend.

The appeal is from an Aug. 15 decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals here which put constitutional approval on virtually all the complex and controversial statute. It was challenged by an assortment of independents and civil liberties groups, including Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., and independent presidential candidate Eugene J. McCarthy, the former senator from Minnesota.

The Court also will face several other tough issues this term, including capital punishment, and school desegregation.

Grain purchase talks continue

MOSCOW (UPI) — American and Soviet talks on Russian grain purchases in the United States resumed today, clouded by discouraging harvest figures from the Ukraine.

The U.S. delegation, led by Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs Charles A. Robinson, last week met five times with Soviet officials. There was no indication how much longer the negotiations would last.

The delegation is trying to put Soviet grain purchases on a more stable long-term basis to avoid price disruptions on the American market.

Vladimir V. Sheberitsky, first secretary of the Ukraine Communist party, indicated recently the harvest in his region may be cut by a third from the 49-million tons targeted for 1975.

From the figures he gave, it also appeared the harvest would be down 20 per cent from the annual average for the current five-year plan ending this year.

In a speech abstracted by the party newspaper Pravda, Sheberitsky said the average annual grain production of the Ukraine for the planning period will be 40 million tons.

Since production at the end of 1974 stood at 166.5 million tons, it appeared this year's harvest would therefore be only 23.5 million tons.

Western agricultural experts said a bad harvest in the Ukraine—Russia's breadbasket—could overshadow similar disappointments in the climatically similar regions of the northern Caucasus and southern Russia.

Texas crash kills TF minister's wife

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls woman was killed and her husband seriously injured Sunday in a one-car automobile crash near Fort Worth, Tex.

Linda McGruder, 30, was killed instantly when the car driven by her husband, Rev. Carroll McGruder, 28, veered off the highway and struck a concrete bridge embankment.

McGruder, who is pastor of the Bethel Temple Church, Twin Falls, is in the intensive care unit at Harris Hospital, Fort Worth, but reported in good condition and expected to recover. He sustained injuries to both ankles, ribs, knees and thigh.

The accident occurred at 4:11 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 35 west of Fort Worth.

Rev. and Mrs. McGruder had moved to Twin Falls last March from Windfall, Ind. They were attending a general ministers convention of the United Pentecostal Church in Texas.

Funeral services will probably be in Mrs. McGruder's home town, Indianapolis, Ind.—with a memorial service planned for Twin Falls, according to assistant pastor Mike Henson.

The couple has two children, Shawnee, 3, and Eric, 7, who were not with them at the time of the accident.

Jerome woman's body recovered

JEROME — The body of a Jerome woman missing more than three months was found Sunday in the Northside Canal. Jerome County officers said today they are investigating possible foul play in the death of Nora Cook, 41, Jerome.

Mrs. Cook disappeared June 25. Her body was discovered in her car Sunday afternoon in the Northside Canal, 300 feet west and downstream of the canal bridge on State Highway 79, three miles north of Jerome.

Gene Fredericksen, Jerome County prosecuting attorney, said today "we have not yet ruled out the possibility of foul play in Mrs. Cook's death." Until foul play has been ruled out, he said, "we are not considering it to be an accident."

A canal company employee spotted the dark tan station wagon in the canal after irrigation water was turned off for the season.

Mrs. Cook, mother of three children, had told her children she would be home about 11 p.m. June 25.

Lincoln County Sheriff B. J. Anderson reported seeing her leaving Shoshone headed for Jerome at about 1:15 a.m. June 26 with an unidentified man in her car.

When the car was recovered, there was no sign of the passenger.

Jerome County Sheriff Eliza Hall said officials are not sure if the car came from the canal from the highway which comes into Jerome from Shoshone and floated downstream or if it entered from another area.

The guard rail on the northeast side of the bridge on Highway 79 was bent back and would have allowed a vehicle to enter the water there.

Examination of the rail has failed to show whether or not Mrs. Cook's car went into the canal at that point. A resident of the area reported the rail has been bent for about two years.

Mr. T-N says

We should try to think of 'Jaws' as just another big fish story.

'Jaws' keeps packing 'em in after 8 weeks'

By KRIS COLEMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — You might not think a movie starring a shark would draw too many people in a city more than 500 miles from the ocean.

But "Jaws" is not only the highest grossing movie in the country. It's the most popular movie ever to be shown at the Twin Cinema in Twin Falls, according to Wayne Kullander.

Kullander, manager here for Inter-State Amusement, Inc., says 25,000 people have seen "Jaws" in the eight weeks it has been in Twin Falls and it is still filling the theater on weekend nights.

"It's taken me this long to get my nerve up to see it," Connie Harvy said as she collected herself before plunging into the theater. "I read an article that aroused my curiosity and I knew I was going to have to see it."

At $120 million "Jaws" has outsold any movie in history—including "The Godfather" and "God with the Wind," Kullander says. One report has it that the thriller makes $1 million a day.

"I think people can relate to it more than to something like 'The Exorcist' which was very popular, but was about the supernatural."

Kullander says. "That seemed like fiction, but when you're dealing with a great white shark—people know they really do attack people and they can relate to that."

Bearing the theory out is Jerry Couch who says, "You see people get killed in most horror movies and it doesn't mean too much, but this is unusual to me. It really happens."

Couch and his son Jerry Jr. were at the theater last week, but not to see "Jaws," again. "I think I'd be leery of going in the ocean, now," Couch says and his son's head bobs back and forth in total agreement.

One of the shark's victims is a young boy. "When that little boy got it, I decided I didn't like it," Linda Blamiers says, but she is going in for her second time and taking a friend, Edna Pierson, with her.

Pierson, who looks a little uneasy about the whole thing, says she has read the book twice. "It's the shock of it," says Blamiers.

According to Kullander, about 10,000 people himself who gets the biggest screams night after night. Instead, Richard Dreyfuss as the irascibly curious oceanographer, gets the loudest screams every night as he peers up into the murky waters of a stranded fishing boat and from nowhere a mangled body topples down into the light of his lantern.

"That face coming down at you in the boat," Laura Johnston shudders in answer to her favorite "worst" scene in the movie. She has been one of the many to scream loudest for Dreyfuss and the body.

Apparently, people like to be scared by the unexpected, but plausible.

"It's one of the best movies I've seen; it really comes on strong," says Joe Shaffer. "It's really unexpected, what you see," but he adds in disappointment "it didn't look real when the shark jumped up on the boat."

Shaffer's enthusiasm for the movie, as for most, is with the "realistic" theme.

The second most awesome moment in "Jaws," according to Kullander, going on a scream level scale, is when Roy Scheider, as the reluctant sheriff who chases the shark though he has a phobia of boats, is baiting the water and Jaws puts in an unexpected appearance inches from his outstretched hand.

"The crew here enjoys watching the audience more than watching the movie," Kullander says. "We really get screams and popcorn flying."

Utah cops arrest man

TWIN FALLS — To test young Idahoans' skills in judging land, the University of Idaho College of Agriculture is conducting a contest at Burley on Oct. 15.

Contestants will come from all sections of the state. After inspecting various fields, they will evaluate basic characteristics and recommend appropriate soil and water conservation practices.

The contest will be headquartered at Burley High School.

"This will be the fifth annual state and judging contest," Charles G. Painter, UF-extension soil specialist, says.

"Contestants are being selected by Future Farmer chapters and 4-H clubs."

Thieves get tires

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls residents told city police Saturday they found their vehicles on 3702K with wheels and tires stolen.

The thefts Friday night were reported by Rudy Loder, 424 Filer Ave. W., and David Anderson, 325 Sunrise Blvd.

Loder said a 1955 pickup truck at his home was blocked up by thieves and two front tires and wheels taken. Loss was estimated at $230.

Anderson said he also found his 1973 vehicle on blocks Saturday morning and the two front tires and wheels missing. He estimated loss at $250.

Suspension revoked

BURLEY — A sentence suspension has been revoked on a 26-year-old Heyburn area man.

Dennis Price was remanded to the Minidoka County Jail by Cassia County Magistrate George Granata. He will serve a four-month sentence there.

The original sentence was for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors and he had suspended the sentence on condition that he attend the Magic Valley Alcohol Rehabilitation Center.

Price admitted the probation violation. He was arrested Sept. 24 for probation violation and sentence begins from the time of arrest.

Rupert man arraigned

BURLEY — Two felony complaints have been signed charging Henry J. Clark, 24, Rupert, with assault with a deadly weapon.

The complaints were signed by Clark's estranged wife Sandra, and by Perry Archart, Burley.

Clark was arraigned Thursday.

Clark was arrested by a Burley policeman shortly before 8 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 28, at Archart's home, 625 Oriental Ave. He was released on bond on a charge of aggravated assault stemming from the alleged beating of his wife and Archart.

She told Cassia County Magistrate George Granata the two are legally separated.

Bicycles recovered

BURLEY — Five bicycles have been returned to their owners by a Cassia County deputy sheriff.

The stolen bikes were discovered at the Burley labor camp. Two youngsters, ages eight and 10, were taken into custody.

The deputy said the youngsters admitted taking the bicycles and held their 13-year-old sister together with one bike.

The thefts occurred in Burley and the surrounding area. Lee Stroud, manager of the Burley labor camp, notified authorities that the bicycles were lying around at the camp.

Deputies found three other bikes at the camp within the past six weeks.

It is true, that any wages I receive after my death will be free of Federal Income Tax to my survivors?

Answer . . .

It is not required that any Federal Income Tax be withheld by your employer from wages which are paid after death. These wages, however, must be included in the computation of your income tax liability for the year in which you pass away, and a return filed for you.

It is possible that your survivors may receive $5,000 as a tax free death benefit following your death. Your beneficiaries may receive up to this amount plus any credit you have in a stock bonus, pension or profit sharing plan without reporting the amount they receive for Federal Income Tax purposes.

DEAR READERS: If statistics bore you, please read this anyway. One fact might stick in your mind that could save your life:
Last year approximately 12,000 Americans perished in nearly three million fires. And in Canada, there were nearly 900 deaths caused by approximately 79,000 fires.
A large percentage of those who died were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

- The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were:
1. Smoking
 2. Electrical wiring
 3. Heating and cooking equipment
 4. Children playing with matches
 5. Open flames and sparks
 6. Flammable liquids
 7. Suspended arson
 8. Chimneys and flues
 9. Lighting
 10. Spontaneous ignition

Cool tips for fire prevention

The total loss due to fire in 1973 was an estimated $3,001,000,000 in the U.S.A. and $254 million in Canada. Now for some tips that could save your life:

- Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.
- Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.
- Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.
- Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.
- Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.
- Never use flammable liquids for dry-cleaning indoors.
- Never smoke in bed.
- Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 87 per cent of all the fires on which they are sprayed, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat, and the back bedroom.

More recently, some excellent fire-detection systems have become available to homeowners. Ask your local fire marshall about them.

NOW, in case of fire:
If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it falls, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasures—nor even the family pet—is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day!

Jim: "We wrote up a variation of this hand a few years back. We had West make the Machiavellian play of the queen on the first diamond lead, whereupon South relaxed, went after what looked like a sure overtrick by putting up dummy's ace and wound up in the soup when East showed out."
Oswald: "Everything happens in a bridge so we are sure that someone, sometime, somewhere, has actually made this sort of play. We must confess that we can't document it."

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Nevada wants to know what we would partner response one spade to two spades. Our hand is:

▲ Q32W 94 ▲ AQ52 ▲ KQ7.
Our answer is that in spite of the minimum nature of our hand we raise our partner to two spades. A one notrump call with that worthless doubleton in hearts is very bad. The diamond suit really should not be rebid, so we take the least of the various evils. Bid two spades and hope for the best.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys," care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "We answered a question about the perfect safety play a few days ago. How about some articles to illustrate?"

Oswald: "Here is a classic. It has been appearing in this and other columns for years, but it is still a good one. South finds himself in six notrump and needs six diamond tricks to bring his contract in. The safety play is to lead a diamond and duck completely in dummy after West follows. This guards against finding all four diamonds in the West hand and of course, there are no worries: if diamonds break 3-1 or 2-2."

Camp Fire meet set

TWIN FALLS — A basic leader training workshop for Camp Fire leaders at all levels has been scheduled from 9:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

The training will be at the Twin Falls United Methodist Church, Fifth and Shoshone. Lunch, a do it yourself project, will be furnished.

Sue Pack, chairman, said the program is planned to present skills and knowledge to help leaders of Blue Bird, Adventure and Discovery girls. She said topics to be covered include basic program planning, national projects, Blue Bird Solo Flight and Starbird Project.

Adventure leaders will learn about Indian symbolism, Try-Aids, action crafts and other program tools. A ceremonial with Anna Hansen Hayes is planned to conclude the training. Anyone interested in becoming a leader is invited to call the Camp Fire office, 733-6214.

Grange officers elected

KING HILL — The Elmore Pamona Grange met this past week in the King Hill Grange Hall for the regular fall meeting.

Frank Jones, King Hill, was re-elected as master Alvin Janoushek of Mariposa of the Mountain Home Grange as overseer; Spence assistant steward; Mrs. Spence — lady assistant steward; Mrs. Lloyd Swenson secretary; Mrs. Steven Waters treasurer; Mrs. Arnil Janoushek Flora; Mrs. Waters was chosen as a delegate to the State Grange session in Caldwell the last week in October.

Dick Rolet of the King Hill Grange was chosen as steward; Mrs. T.M. Timbers as chaplain; Karl Anderson as gatekeeper; Mrs. Frank Jones as Pamona; Mrs. Arthur Greer as Ceres; Mrs. Anderson as pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Greer were chosen as alternate to attend the State Grange session.

'Blood-chiller' explains economy

Dying of money by Jens O. Parrish

In this book, Jens O. Parrish transforms the dry economic subject of inflation into a white-knuckles kind of blood-chiller.

He begins with a free-wheeling account of the spectacular inflation that all but destroyed Germany in 1923, taking it apart to find out both what made it tick and what made it finally end. He goes on to look at American inflation that was steadily gaining force after 1962.

In terms clear and fascinating enough for any layman, but with technical validity enough for any economist, he applies the lessons gleaned from the German inflation to find that too much about the American inflation was the same, lacking only the inexpressible further deterioration that time would bring.

The book concludes by charting out all the possible future prognoses for the American inflation, none easy but much less catastrophic than others.

Odd Women by Gail Godwin

At 32, Jane Clifford has achieved the professional and economic independence that the Liberated Woman takes for granted. Yet as the novel begins, an increasing and ominous sense of her "sadness" is starting to loom upon her. She has been drawn to those who are dramatic, turbulent, visionary, and self-assured, and is constantly measuring herself against them.

An unexpected death plunges her back into her North Carolina background, back into the old relationships, the old demands made on her (and by her). Suddenly, in one week, she propels herself out of the tense safeties and controls of her "liberated" situations.

She goes "home" and embarks upon the crucial and frightening journey toward all she might become.

Continuous interest Passbook savings

Compounding means adding the interest you've already earned so it can start earning interest, too.

Continuous interest, compounded continuously, on Passbook savings, is the most favorable method of computing interest, for you, the customer.

Continuous interest equals more interest over a period of time. For example, our 5% per annum rate grows to 5.13% actual yield when left for a full year.

Savings certificates = higher interest

When what you're saving for is down the road, a savings certificate can earn you a much higher interest rate while you're getting there.

First Security pays from 5 1/2% to 7 1/2% per annum depending on how long you want to save, from 3 months to 6 years or longer.

For next summer or 10 years from next summer, First Security can keep your savings growing at the highest legal bank rate. Insured, of course, to $40,000.

Federal regulations require substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal on certificates. All interest paid or credited quarterly.

Here are texts of US accords in Sinai

Editor's note: Because of interest in the current debate in Congress over approval of American observers in the Sinai, the following article is reprinted from the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 — Following are the texts of three documents relating to the recent Sinai agreement between Israel and Egypt. The first is a memorandum of agreement between Israel and the United States relating to American aid to Israel and diplomatic actions in the Middle East; the second, entitled "Assurances From the United States Government to Israel," augments the first document's aid provisions; the third is entitled "Assurances From the United States Government to Egypt."

Memorandum The United States recognizes that the Egypt-Israel Agreement initiated on Sept. 1, 1975 (hereinafter referred to as the agreement), entailing the withdrawal from vital areas in Sinai, constitutes an act of great significance on Israel's part in the pursuit of final peace. That agreement has full United States support.

The United States Government will make every effort to be fully responsive, within the limits of its resources and Congressional authorization and appropriations, on a long-term basis, to Israel's military equipment and other defense requirements, to its energy requirements and to its economic needs. The needs specified in paragraphs 2, 3 and 4 below shall be deemed eligible for inclusion within the annual total to be requested in FY 76 and later fiscal years.

Israel's long-term military supply needs from the United States shall be the subject of periodic consultations between representatives of the U.S. and Israeli defense establishments, with agreement reached on specific items to be included in a separate U.S.-Israeli memorandum.

To this end, a joint study by military experts will be undertaken within three weeks. In conducting this study, which will include Israel's 1976 needs, the United States will view Israel's requests sympathetically, including its request for advanced and sophisticated weapons.

Israel will make its own independent arrangements for oil supply to meet its requirements through normal procedures. In the event Israel is unable to secure its needs in this way, the United States government, upon notification of this fact by the government of Israel, will act as follows for five years: at the end of which period either side can terminate this arrangement on one year's notice.

(a) If the oil Israel needs to meet all its normal requirements for domestic consumption is unavailable for purchase in circumstances where no quantitative restrictions exist on the ability of the United States to procure oil to meet its normal requirements, the United States government will promptly make oil available for purchase by Israel to meet all of the aforementioned normal requirements of Israel. If Israel is unable to secure the necessary means to transport such oil to Israel, the United States government will make every effort to help Israel secure the necessary means of transport.

(b) If the oil Israel needs to meet all of its normal requirements for domestic consumption is unavailable for purchase in circumstances where quantitative restrictions through embargo or other means prevent the United States from procuring oil to meet its normal requirements, the United States government will promptly make oil available for purchase by Israel in accordance with the International Energy Agency conservation and allocation formula as applied by the United States government, in order to meet Israel's essential requirements. If Israel is unable to secure the necessary means to transport such oil to Israel, the United States government will make every effort to help Israel secure the necessary means of transport.

Israel and U.S. experts will meet annually or more frequently at the request of either party, to review Israel's continuing oil requirements.

In order to help Israel meet its energy needs, and as part of the over-all annual figure in paragraph 1 above, the United States agrees:

(a) In determining the overall annual figure which will be requested from Congress, the United States Government will give special attention to Israel's oil requirements. In addition, for a period as determined by article 3 above, will take into account in calculating that figure Israel's additional expenditures for the import of oil to replace that which would have ordinarily come from Abu Ruweis and Ras Sudar (4.5 million tons in 1975).

(b) To ask Congress to make available funds, the amount to be determined by mutual agreement, to the government of Israel necessary for a project for the construction and stocking of the oil reserves to be stored in Israel, bringing storage reserve capacity and reserve stocks, now standing at approximately six months, up to one year's need at the time of the completion of the project, will be implemented within four years. The construction, operation and financing and other relevant questions of the project will be the subject of early and detailed talks between the two governments.

The United States government will not expect Israel to begin to implement the agreement before Egypt fulfills its undertaking under the January, 1974, disengagement agreement to permit passage of all Israeli cargoes to and from Israeli ports through the Suez Canal.

The United States government agrees with Israel that the next agreement with Egypt should be a final peace agreement.

In case of an Egyptian violation of any of the provisions of the agreement, the United States government is prepared to consult with Israel as to the significance of the violation and possible remedial action by the United States government.

The United States government will vote against any Security Council resolution which in its judgment affects or alters adversely the agreement.

The United States government will not join in and will seek to prevent efforts by others to bring about consideration of proposals which it and Israel agree are detrimental to the interests of Israel.

In view of the long-standing U.S. commitment to the survival and security of Israel, the United States government will view with particular gravity threats to Israel's security or sovereignty by a world power. In support of this objective, the United States government will, in the event of such threat, consult promptly with the government of Israel with respect to what support diplomatic or otherwise, or assistance it can lend to Israel in accordance with its constitutional practices.

The United States government and the government of Israel will, at the earliest possible time, and if possible within two months after the signature of this document, conclude the contingency plan for a military supply operation to Israel in an emergency situation.

It is the United States government's position that Egyptian recognition of Israel's right to freedom of navigation through the Suez Canal, the Strait of Tiran and the Strait of Gibraltir as international waterways, will support Israel's right to free and unimpeded passage through such straits. Similarly, the United States government recognizes Israel's right to freedom of flight over the Red Sea and such straits and will support diplomatically the exercise of that right.

The United States government shares the Israeli position that under existing political circumstances negotiations with Jordan will be directed toward an over-all peace settlement.

In accordance with the principle of freedom of navigation on the high seas and free and unimpeded passage through and over straits connecting international waters, the United States government regards the Straits of Babel Mandeb and the Strait of Gibraltir as international waterways. It will support Israel's right to free and unimpeded passage through such straits. Similarly, the United States government recognizes Israel's right to freedom of flight over the Red Sea and such straits and will support diplomatically the exercise of that right.

In the event that the United Nations Emergency Force or any other United Nations organ is withdrawn without the prior agreement of both parties to the Egypt-Israel agreement and the United States before this agreement is superseded by another agreement, it is the United States view that the agreement shall remain binding in all its parts.

The United States and Israel agree that signatories of the protocol of the Egypt-Israel agreement and its full entry into effect shall not take place before approval by the United States Congress of the U.S. role in connection with the surveillance and observation functions described in the agreement and its annex. The United States has informed the government of Egypt agreement to the above.

On the question of military and economic assistance to Israel, the following conveyed by the U.S. to Israel augments what the memorandum of agreement states.

The United States is resolved to continue to maintain its policy of providing through the supply of advanced types of equipment, such as the F-16 aircraft. The United States government agrees to an early meeting to undertake a joint study of high technology and sophisticated items, including the Pershing ground-to-ground missiles with conventional warheads, with the view to giving a positive response. The U.S. administration will submit annually for approval by the U.S. Congress a request for military and economic assistance in order to help meet Israel's economic and military needs.

The United States intends to make a serious effort to help bring about further negotiations between Syria and Israel, in the first instance through diplomatic channels.

In the event of an Israeli violation of the agreement, the United States is prepared to consult with Egypt as to the significance of the violation and possible remedial action by the United States.

The United States will provide technical assistance to Egypt for the Egyptian early-warning station.

Professor's remarks encouraging to some

WASHINGTON — Today I'm pretending I'm one of those crazies who want to assassinate President Ford, and I find encouragement in the remarks of one Alfonso Pinkney, professor of sociology at New York City's Hunter College. Somebody from the New York Times asked Pinkney for his views on the two attempts on Ford's life, and then a second somebody in authority actually decided to publish them.

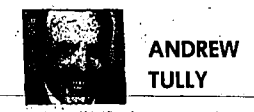

As a make-believe potential assassin I am delighted. Pinkney understands me. He provides justification in advance for my desire to get my picture on the cover of the Time Magazine. As follows:

"If the citizens of the county are treated decently, then a President can walk anywhere among them, unharmed... There is basically an anti-humanitarian ethos that has run through our culture. If Gerald Ford goes around running the country by veto, by offering welfare to Lockheed (the airplane builder), there could be more assassination attempts. I'm convinced that all the people who do these things are crackpots."

See what I mean? People who try to murder

Presidents are not really wicked nor out of their mind. They are, instead, concerned citizens who perceive it their duty to remove a chief executive on the grounds he is not treating the citizens of this Republic "decently."

Well now, I have always feared that there were more nuts on college faculties, especially in New York, than was generally assumed. But not until Pinkney surfaced in the Times did I believe that even one college professor actually had concluded that assassination was understandable, and maybe even a respectable means of political action. Pinkney, in effect, says it is Ford's fault that there are people who want to kill him. He seems to suggest that because Ford, in his opinion, has misbehaved, we "can't blame" the "Squeaky Frommes and the Sara Jane Moores for trying to knock him off.

Because everybody is presumed innocent until proved guilty, I am practically sure Pinkney would not himself go running for Gerald Ford. For one thing, that type of pedagogy doesn't go around taking those kinds of chances for the underprivileged. Mostly, they confine themselves to weeping for the unwashed or poor, and "understanding" them.

But unless I have misinterpreted his words, Pinkney does seem to come close to the act of incitement to violence, as defined with considerable disfavor in most courtrooms, among law enforcement officials, and even by some criminal lawyers.

Boiled down, Pinkney says this: There are circumstances under which a President should be afraid to go out and meet the people. In Ford's case, he is afraid by too much use of the veto and by bailing out Lockheed. Certain people, not all of them crazy, feel strongly enough about Ford's misbehavior to murder him. These people are victims of Ford's policies. Therefore, Ford should beware.

Enough! Reading Pinkney's words, I don't know whether to cry or punch him in the mouth.

Annals of America

By Encyclopaedia Britannica Patrick Henry's 1775 speech pleading for liberty or death contained these reasons for seeking independence:

We have petitioned; we have remonstrated; we have supplicated; we have prostrated ourselves before the throne and have implor'd interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the Ministry and Parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrances have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne. In vain, after these things, may we indulge the fond hope of peace and reconciliation. There is no longer any room for hope. If we wish to be free; if we mean to preserve inviolate those inestimable privileges for which we have been so long contending; if we mean not basely to abandon the noble struggle in which we have been so long engaged, and which we have pledged ourselves never to abandon, until the glorious object of our contest shall be obtained; we must fight! I repeat it, sir, we must fight! An appeal to arms and to the God of hosts is all that is left us!

Major problems confronting Supreme Court

By JACK C. LANDAU Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court opens its 1974-75 term today facing three separate constitutional problems. They include more than 1,200 pending cases which must be acted upon, the illness of Justice William O. Douglas, and the increasing pressure for a mini-Supreme Court to help the Justices' workload.

The cases. As in past years, the court has a broad spectrum of appeals seeking legal solutions for some of the most controversial political and social questions of the day — abortions, cross-district school busing, sex and age discrimination, aid to religious schools, racial discrimination in jobs and housing, prison reform, police searches, and wiretapping.

— Douglas. Except for a few days last March, he has been away from the Court since last December. He has participated in some cases since then but the evidence appears to be that the court itself has some questions about his physical fitness.

It has not handed down any cases in which Douglas was the fifth majority vote. Speculation, without any hard evidence, persists that he is being urged to resign and that he is trying to stay on the court until next year in the hope that a Democrat may be president and will fill the Douglas seat with a liberal on the now conservative-dominated court.

Supreme Court does not have time to decide. A blue ribbon Commission on Revision of the Federal Court Appellate System, with members appointed by Congress, the president, and the chief justice — formally has voted to endorse the concept. The chief justice and the three other Nixon appointees favor the new court. Douglas and three other justices oppose it in varying degrees. And Justice Byron White favors it on a limited, experimental basis.

Congress may start hearings some time next year. It is against this background of reported internal problems with Douglas and external problems with Congress over the establishment of a mini-Supreme Court that the court convenes to address itself to its main job of deciding cases.

Here is a summary of some of the issues which the court will face this term. It has granted full reviews to 100 cases and the others have not been acted upon.

— School desegregation. For the first time in 20 years, the Supreme Court has not agreed to give a full review to any significant school desegregation case. The most bitterly contested recent order involving Boston was denied review last term and no new appeal is pending.

But several important cases are on the docket and the chances are that the court will give a full review to some of them. They involve "cross-district" busing. The Court has predominantly white suburbs around Wilmington, Del., be required to consolidate with the predominantly black Wilmington city school district?

Two other school desegregation cases — the first of their type — have reached the court on the question of whether all-white private schools may exclude minorities.

The two Virginia private schools argue they have a right under the First Amendment to freedom of association. Lawyers for minorities argue that the federal civil rights act bars contracts in this case; for educational services which discriminate on the basis of race.

In another highly controversial school area, the court has agreed to review "the constitutionality of state aid to religiously affiliated colleges in Maryland if the funds are used for non-educational purposes."

Housing discrimination. The problem of high-impact minority housing patterns in the cities are producing not only inter-district school cases but also inter-district housing cases.

The court has agreed to hear a case in which the federal government has been ordered to adopt a metropolitan-wide public housing plan designed to locate inner city blacks in predominantly white, middle class Chicago suburbs.

A second appeal is against the New Jersey Supreme Court's voiding a town zoning plan which it had effectively precluded low and moderate income housing by limiting housing to single-family houses. The township is near Camden, N.J., which is increasingly black.

Church, Colby air Castro death plot ties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The CIA tried several times to assassinate Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, according to Sen. Frank Church.

CIA Director William Colby also appeared to acknowledge the attempts — although indirectly — in an interview Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Colby was asked about assassination attempts. He said in 1973 he ordered the CIA to have nothing to do with assassinations and he added he did not think it good to carry on a public discussion about them, partly because "so many of the facts of these things... are very murky as to who was part of it and where — where the approval and how detailed the approval was."

By referring to the details of the approval, Colby appeared to be conceding the event.

Church was more blunt.

"Yes," he said on ABC News' "Issues and Answers" program when asked "did former CIA director Richard Helms confirm in secret testimony before your committee that the CIA attempted to assassinate Fidel Castro..."

The Idaho Democrat was asked how far back the attempts to kill Castro went.

"The attempts go back beyond the Kennedy Administration," he said.

Then he was asked about "the plans."

"The plans and attempts," Church said.

"When this report comes out you will find both plots and attempts, and they span many years. They span the years from the Eisenhower administration through the Kennedy administration and into the Johnson administration," Church said. Church said "yes" when asked if there were attempts in the Johnson administration "and this will become clear from the report." But Church added that there was no solid evidence that a president knew about the attempts or plans.

Such activities were "turned off" during Johnson's administration, "and there is much conflicting evidence which demonstrates that an awful lot of CIA activities were going on that were not properly revealed to those above," Church said.

Colby, asked about the effectiveness of intelligence, insisted that the U. S. Intelligence system would alert the government of any potential attack.

"I think today we have the best intelligence in the world, and the American people can be assured that we can (alert) our government of potential attack or other kinds of problems that we face."

In Colby's interview, he answered no questions about his future as CIA director — a future jeopardized by Church's committee and another investigation by the House Intelligence Committee. But he said, "I don't think I'm an essential element" and suggested a "new face" might be appropriate after the investigations.

Church said his committee's investigation turned up things "clearly illegal" and, "yes, indeed," criminal prosecution might be warranted, such as in the opening of mail. But he said it was not certain if any plots or attempts against the lives of foreign leaders violated federal law — and his committee would recommend legislation to make them illegal.

While Colby denied the likelihood of criminal prosecution because "there is no one within the CIA that could be convicted... be found actually guilty," Church said, "If there were not some possible basis (for action)... the Department of Justice would not be looking at it now."

Church said he hoped the Senate committee would hear President Richard Nixon to testify about assassination and other matters, and if Nixon refused to appear, "I personally would favor issuing a subpoena."

'UFO trip' link to missing score?

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — I have a friend who left town to follow them and I don't know if he's coming back, or when."

The young woman told about one of the 20 persons who have vanished from Newport, Ore., after attending a meeting in nearby Waldport where "an average looking" couple talked of UFOs and "giving away all one's possessions."

The Waldport woman, who declined use of her name, said she heard of the meeting from operators of the Waldport Inn, where the session took place.

The woman said her friend had 150 acres and "quite a sum of money," but she didn't know if he gave it all away before he disappeared.

"He was extremely enthused about what these people said," she reported. "He was sort of a drop-out from society."

The Lincoln County sheriff's office was investigating the case, including a report from a woman who received a post-card from her son, mailed in Colorado, who was believed to have been influenced by the couple.

"I have completed my training. I am leaving this earth and will not see you anymore," the son was quoted as saying.

The couple reportedly told the audience that volunteers would be prepared at a special camp in Colorado for a better life — another planet and was picked up by a UFO in the next 10 years. The Colorado location was not specified.

The woman, whose son is missing, did not give her name, but Ron Sutton, chief criminal deputy for the county on the Oregon coast, said, "we'll attempt to find out who she is and talk to her."

The son reportedly was one of the more than 100 persons who attended a Sept. 14 meeting.

"They quoted the Bible and said they were messengers," the Waldport woman said. "They said they came to help many people find the way to truth through the teaching of Christ."

"They talked about beings in outer space who use space ships, and you could leave by that type vehicle."

"They were very believable."

Sutton said the name used by the man in renting the meeting room at the Inn, for which he paid $50, was undoubtedly an alias. He said other people described the couple as "fortyish, well groomed, straight types."

Posters erected as far away as California, he said, the meeting as a speech by a man from outer space, according to Sutton. He said instead the man and woman spoke.

Kennedy sisters reunited

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rosemary Kennedy, retarded sister of late President John F. Kennedy, strolled Chicago's Loop for nearly five hours Sunday before she was reunited with her sister, Eunice Shriver, who had reported her missing.

Miss Kennedy, 55, a resident of a private home for the retarded in Wisconsin, was found unharmed by a television news crew.

She was in Chicago for the day to visit with her sister, Mrs. Shriver, who had arrived the day before to attend a $100-a-plate benefit dinner for retarded children.

Miss Kennedy, who is the fifth of nine children and who has been institutionalized for the last 33 years, was brought to Chicago by two nuns from St. Colette's School in Jefferson, Wis., about 25 miles west of Milwaukee.

She and Mrs. Shriver attended an 11 a.m. mass at St. Peter's Church in the loop and became separated — in the vestibule of the church after the service.

Mrs. Shriver, wife of the Democratic presidential candidate R. Sargent Shriver,

ROKs sink enemy ship

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korean Navy vessels and Air Force jet fighters sank a suspected North Korean submarine in the southwest coast early today, military officials said.

Reports said the suspect vessel sank 50 miles south of Taehuksan-Do, 235 miles southwest of Seoul, shortly after midnight.

"South Korean patrol craft sighted the gunboat in inland waters and challenged it about 9 p.m. Sunday, officials said."

"When ordered to halt the boat reportedly changed course and sped away — firing its guns at the South Koreans."

Air Force jet fighters were immediately called in and sank the fleeing boat about three hours later, the officials said.

A search was underway to pick up survivors.

spent an hour searching for her sister with the help of a priest and two other women before flagging down a police squad car.

After Mrs. Shriver told police who she was and that her sister was missing, a massive search was undertaken. It ended when Miss Kennedy, who answers to the name Rosie, was found on Sixth Michigan Avenue by Peter Nolan, 36, a TV reporter.

Although there is a strong family resemblance, Nolan said, he asked, "Are you Rosie? Are you looking for Eunice?" Nolan said Miss Kennedy did not appear frightened or upset, and "I told her to wait with me while I got Eunice."

While Nolan talked with Miss Kennedy, another crew member called police, who arrived and took her to the Conrad Hilton Hotel, where Mrs. Shriver was staying.

Happy Birthday America! 1776-1976

In honor of the occasion, we're doing something new and special for our friends. We're giving away Great American trading cards 30 in all.

Each handsome card is in full color and carries the name and picture of a famous Great American. Pertinent biographical data is printed on the back.

Here's a chance to bone up on American history. Learn names, places and dates in handy reference form. They're an indispensable aid for home study and classroom. A valuable asset in special assignment projects. A neat way to stimulate interest in the most important heritage we have: The American past.

Kids can trade old cards with friends to fill out their own collection — learning history can be fun. That's the idea behind our offer. You'll see the terms in the panel opposite.

Also of historical interest is the fact that we are the originators of the double-deck hamburger, the Big Boy. So for hamburgers and trading cards it'll be an education. We promise.

FREE!

30 GREAT AMERICAN TRADING CARDS IN FULL COLOR

Get them now at your Big Boy Family Restaurant. Each week we're giving away a new Great American trading card — FREE with any purchase. There are 30 cards in all. Each features a different American personality of historical interest.

Madrid seeks to halt Basque raids

MADRID (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government met in special session today to consider drastic action against Basque guerrillas who killed three policemen Sunday with a remote-controlled mine. Within hours, other terrorists killed a bartender in the same Basque region. The three policemen were killed and two others injured when a fragmentation mine blasted their legs. Funeral services were scheduled for the three men later today and were expected to produce more demonstrations in favor of the execution of other police-killing guerrillas.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and his ministers met at 10 a.m. at the Premier's office. The government voted last week at the funeral of three policemen slain in Madrid to continue its policy of executing terrorists convicted of killing policemen.

Twenty-five policemen have been killed by terrorists in the past year.

The latest death was reported in the town of Elorrio in Guipuzcoa Province where unknown gunmen shot and killed Basque tavern owner Ignacio Echave Orogongo. The victim was the brother of Juan Jose Echave, known as a militant Basque separatist who has taken refuge in France. Police said a group of men entered the bar, had a drink and then opened fire on Echave, 45, with automatic weapons. Authorities said the bodies of the three slain civil guards would lie in state in the guards' headquarters in the town of Mondragon. Funeral services were set for 1 p.m. in the Mondragon parochial church of San Juan. The dead were identified as Jesus Pascual Martin, 25, Esteban Maldonado, 20, and Juan Moreno.

Arraignment sought

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The district attorney's office has prepared a court petition asking that Patricia Hearst be arraigned next Friday with Symbionese Liberation Army suspects William and Emily Harris.

Miss Hearst and the Harrises were indicted by the county grand jury last week on 11 counts involving a three-day crime spree in May of 1974, several days before six SIA members were killed in a shootout and fire in South Los Angeles.

Authorities have prepared a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to be served on the U.S. Marshal's office in San Francisco, asking marshals to produce Miss Hearst for prosecution in Los Angeles.

Ford popularity dips to new low

NEW-YORK (UPI) — Only 46 per cent of the people interviewed in a recent poll conducted for Time magazine found President Ford acceptable as the country's next president.

The polling firm of Yankelovich, Skelly and White interviewed 1,016 men and women of voting age, just before Labor Day. The results, which have just been tabulated, show it is the first time the President's popularity, has been so low since Time began its quarterly sampling last year.

However, the Time study said, although Sen. Edward Kennedy outranked Ford in acceptability, none of the Democrats who have announced their candidacy, came anywhere close to matching Ford.

The poll showed 51 per cent of those surveyed considered Kennedy acceptable as the next president.

The main reason given for the lessening of confidence in Ford, was economic. A majority of those interviewed (58 per cent), feel there is doubt about the nation's future prosperity — they feel inflation is here to stay. Only 27 per cent felt inflation would be halted within a few years.

The poll also reported a high degree of skepticism regarding detente with Russia. Most of those polled, 45 per cent, think Russia is reaping more benefits, as opposed to only 3 per cent, who feel the United States is gaining the most benefits.

Some specific issues in the Time survey were criticism of the Ford administration's handling of welfare programs (61 per cent), holding down unemployment (79 per cent), and preventing crime (80 per cent).

Plan aired

N.Y. Times Service WASHINGTON — Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon proposed Saturday that banks holding New York City notes declare a form of debt moratorium to head off a city default, provided the new Emergency Financial Control Board produces soon a "credible" plan for bringing the city's budget back into balance.

In an interview, Simon also suggested a "temporary" addition to the New York State sales tax to help the city and an "immediate study" by the Federal government of whether it should assume a greater share of the burden of welfare and possibly some other municipal outlays.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

I have just completed a six-week bout with iritis. I found out it is attributed to rheumatoid arthritis. Is it possible that I have arthritis elsewhere? I understand it can be arrested but not cured. — Mrs. P.W.

You do not have arthritis of the eye, of course, but the conventional changes occurring with rheumatoid arthritis can be reflected in the eyes.

There is, in fact, a condition that is called "rheumatic iritis," which can accompany general arthritis elsewhere in the body.

Iritis (inflammation of the colored, circular structure around the pupil) is usually chronic, and it can recur over a number of years, so you should not be surprised if the condition reappears.

I believe you are referring to arthritis when you ask whether "it" can be arrested but not cured. If so, you are correct. Arthritis can be controlled, but to date we have no method of actually curing it. Generally, then, treatment for your iritis condition would be in controlling underlying condition — the arthritis, if that is present.

Arthritis can be controlled

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A lot of people say you shouldn't swim after eating, including my mother. New people tell me you can swim after you eat. Please tell me which is right. My mother says you shouldn't eat after you swim. — R.P.

The most common causes of drownings are exhaustion and cramps. Here it is essentially cramps we are talking about. Cramps are caused by a lack of blood supply to the muscles involved. In digestion, especially after a heavy meal, blood is noticeably diverted from arm and leg muscles to the intestines, where it is needed for increased activity.

Vigorous physical activity following a heavy meal may cause cramps in blood-deprived areas. It's best to wait a half hour or an hour after eating to go swimming. Persons with circulation problems should be especially careful. Of course, this applies to any exercise. Swimming is emphasized because of the added hazard posed by the water.

Water temperature can also be a factor: Coldness can divert blood supply from the internal organs to the body surface, thus filtering with the chances of abdominal cramps, especially after a full meal.

LEST YOU FORGET: October is Immunization Action Month, sponsored nationwide by various medical and nursing groups. The U.S. Center for Disease Control estimates that five million 1 to 4-year-olds are inadequately immunized. Despite all of the efforts over the years, children still die from diseases for which safe and effective vaccines exist.

Measles and tetanus can kill. Polio can cripple. German measles can cause birth defects. Mumps can cause sterility. Fortunately, diphtheria and small pox have been practically eliminated. With appropriate action by parents, the other killers and maimers could suffer the same fate.

So the medical profession is appealing to parents, urging them during this month to review their children's immunization schedule and, if needed, to start a full program of immunization or to see that their children have boosters.

Your physician or your local public health association can answer questions you may have with regard to immunization schedules. You'll undoubtedly be hearing more about this in local campaigns. Please respond to these appeals.

Unless properly treated, both glaucoma and cataracts can lead to blindness. If you are afflicted with either of these ailments, or know someone who is, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, for his booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Herrema ransom said only hope

DUBLIN (UPI) — Company colleagues of kidnaped Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema said today the only hope left for him lay in a ransom offer to buy back his safety. But they denied he had offered more than $2 million for his release.

"We must just wait for them to contact us," they said. "It seems the only hope now."

The deadline for Herrema's release passed more than 24 hours ago with no word from the kidnapers. The three Irish Republican Army prisoners whose release they demanded as the price for Herrema's freedom — Dr. Rose Dugdale, Kevin Mallon and Eddie Hyland, were still in jail.

Irish troops and police searched house to house for the kidnaped Dutchman today in one of the biggest security operations ever launched in the Irish Republic. Troops joined police in an intensive search across the country for leads in the case.

Authorities ordered every vacant house in the republic searched. Known sympathizers of the IRA were hauled in for questioning.

Herrema's eldest son, Jella, appeared on Sunday for the abductors of his 52-year-old father to contact him at the Netherlands Embassy.

"Please telephone me," he said. "My father will give you a code."

Afterwards, Jella Herrema said "cash won't be a problem" if the kidnapers demanded a ransom for the safe return of his father, the managing director of the giant, Dutch-owned Ferretco company in Limerick.

Malta aides file for re-election

MALTA — Two councilmen have filed for reelection here. They are the only petitioners filed in Cassia County (outside of Burley) as of the weekend. Incumbents Osmer (Bob) Smith and Boyd Booth have filed petitions to run for reelection. One other council seat, that formerly held by Margaret Whiting, is up for the Nov. 4 election.

Both Bud Tracy and Ted Hingley had taken out petitions for the council Hingley, however, now is moving out of the city and will not run. Tracy has not filed his petition.

Mayor Wallace Briggs has a petition for reelection, but also has not filed.

At Albion, a councilman draft appears to have been stopped.

A petition was taken out by Ralph Heller, Friday, for incumbent Jay Nielsen. But Heller turned it over to Nielsen after obtaining some signatures.

Nielsen said, Saturday he probably will give it back unsigned. He said he still does not plan to run for reelection.

Mayor Douglas Mahoney, appointed from the council to succeed O'Deen Redman, is still undecided about his plans. Mahoney is considering running for the council again, rather than retain the mayor's job.

Other than the one thwarted by Nielsen, only two petitions have been taken out, both for council.

Incumbent Rev. Alva Wunder has a petition, but is not certain he will run.

"I think so," he said Saturday, "but I'm not quite sure."

Lamond Keller has the other Albion petition. Keller is in the livestock business at Declo. He has lived in Albion five years and feels the city could use "new blood" because "an awful lot needs to be done."

The other council seat up for election is that held by L.F. (White) Groves, who has said he will not run for reelection.

No petitions have even been taken out at Declo and Oakley. Oakley Mayor Thomas Miller has announced he will run again for the post, but Councilmen Denver Altom and Ray C. Bedke said they will not be in the race for those seats again.

Declo Mayor George Schrenk announced last month that he will not be a candidate this year. Neither will Councilman Arvil Voyce.

Councilman Jones Leonard said he probably will run again, but has not taken out a nominating petition.

Railroad depot donated to Minidoka

MINIDOKA — The Union Pacific Railroad has agreed to donate its old depot to Minidoka. City Attorney Robert Nielsen told the council Thursday that the depot has been donated and only the signatures are needed to complete the transfer.

The council considered possible uses for the depot, left vacant when the railroad company constructed a new one.

Paul Courtright, head of public works, suggested the depot be turned into a fire hall. Another suggestion was that it be rented to the Minidoka County Historical Society for a museum.

Somebody goofed!

UPSIDE-DOWN flag at Twin Falls County Courthouse Friday probably was a mistake, not a distress signal. "Somebody goofed," said one courthouse employe, and added the courthouse wasn't facing any imminent disasters. An upside-down flag is a traditional distress signal. Soon after the picture was taken, the flag was righted again.

Kick-off fete slated Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The United Way "kick-off luncheon" for all campaign workers and officials will be held Tuesday noon at the Blue Lakes Inn.

All campaign workers and officials are asked to attend the meeting. Worker kits will be handed out to the workers at the luncheon.

Financial institutions of Twin Falls "on their own put their beads together," Dr. Terry Smith, campaign chairman, says, and decided to buy the kick-off luncheon, so there will be no charge.

Miss Idaho, Teri Harding, will attend the meeting.

Wives 'push'

ACEQUIA — The wives are taking a hand in politics here, but it's not a case of women's lib.

The incumbents plan to run again, but only the opposition has taken out nominating petitions. And the women are providing the opposition from behind the scenes.

Nomination petitions were taken out Friday for Larry Wall, Fred Barton and Glen Stephenson, all challenging for council seats. Both Wall and Barton said their wives were pushing for them to enter the races and had obtained the petitions.

Mrs. Stephenson picked up the Stephenson and Barton petitions Friday.

Mayor Vernard Comstock has announced he will probably run again. Incumbent Councilmen Curtis Blair and Gerald Harman also said they will run for reelection.

Nane had taken out petitions as of the weekend. The deadline for filing is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Stephenson farms for Morgan and Shillington. He was unavailable Saturday. His wife said he wants to see the streets in Acequia oiled and is interested in developing the city park.

Barton is a retired farmer who still keeps his hand in the work. He said acequia has many problems, but wanted to wait before naming any specific goals.

Walls remarked, "There is plenty to work on, but we're limited in money."

He said street signs are needed in the town.

MV man gets national post

GOODING — Edward Koester, Gooding, has been elected national vice president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

The association, which is comprised of about 5,000 county agents, elected Koester at its annual meeting held this year in Milwaukee, Wis.

It was the first time an agent from Idaho has been elected as a top officer of the association, according to Koester.

The association also decided to hold a national convention in Boise in 1978. At that time, Koester said, he will automatically become president of the association.

Currently, one of the major projects of the national association is to raise money for scholarships for county agents. The association plans to raise $100,000 by itself and hopes to receive more donations from industry. The money will be used both to help sponsor farm workshops and to help send agents back to school for advanced degrees in agriculture, Koester said.

The purpose of the county agent is to set up educational agricultural programs on the local level. All agents are tied to university extension programs.

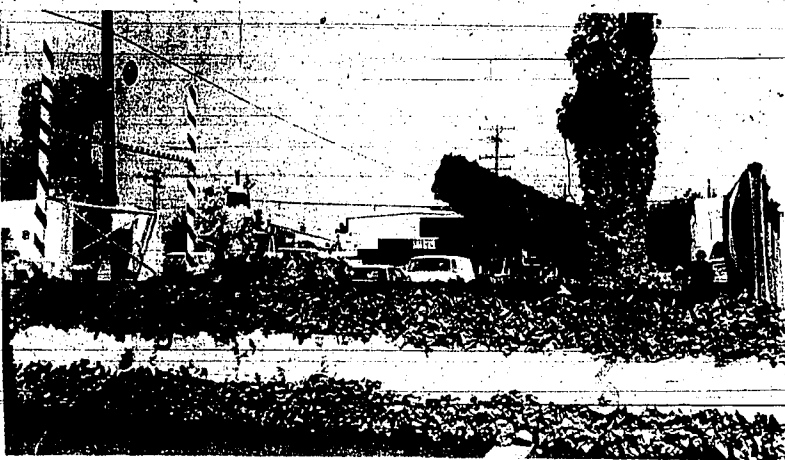

Besides working with the 4-H programs in Gooding County, Koester is involved with performance testing for livestock improvement and soil testing.

Recently, he said, he also has set up classes on gardening and an extension course for credit with the University of Idaho on farm management.

Gooding county has had farmer committees on crops, wheat, dairy and wheat control sponsored by the county agent's office. The committees generally meet once a year to consider particular problems in their fields.

This year Koester plans to set up two such committees on a cross-county basis.

A dairy committee would include dairy men from Gooding, Blaine and Lincoln County while a farm-management committee would include farmers from these counties plus Camas County.

Winning float

Senior class float won first place honors in the Twin Falls High School Homecoming parade Friday. The parade included a large number of entries. Homecoming was climaxed with a successful football game in which the Bruins defeated the Meridian Warriors, 24-21 in the final minutes.

Rupert's incumbent aide first to file for post

RUPERT — Incumbent Councilman Clark Cameron was the first to file for the two council seats before Rupert voters next month.

Cameron took out a petition Friday and returned it later in the day.

Cameron, former mayor of Rupert, said he did not make up his mind to run until late Thursday.

He is the only incumbent running. Ted Creason, who earlier announced he would seek to retain his position, said Wednesday he will not run.

Creason cited business reasons for changing his mind in the past week and decided not to enter the campaign.

Dave Wilson, former waste water plant superintendent for Rupert, turned in his petition for council late Friday. But half of the 60 signatures were not registered. The petition was returned to gain the needed total 40 valid signatures.

Judson Van Every took out a petition late Friday. Two other petitions were taken out earlier by Martin O'Donnell.

O'Donnell has not revealed who might use the two petitions.

Cameron explained Friday that he "thought I might like to get rid of some of the responsibility," but that thought actually decided him to run.

"I want to do something for this community," he said. "I've been here since 1944. I know what needs to be done. It's a matter of getting the money and working together."

Cameron cited the waste water treatment in Rupert and said he wants to see improvements in the southeast part of the city. He also is interested in developing the parks and having more recreational programs for young people.

"You just don't get much done in one term," Cameron remarked.

Wilson said he feels he worked well with the council while heading waste treatment and believes his expertise in environmental control will be an asset to the city. He still consults on waste problems, although now employed at Orela.

Four Burley petitions out

BURLEY — Four nominating petitions for city council were out over the weekend in Burley, at least two of them for unidentified candidates.

Incumbent Cloyd Taylor filed his petition for reelection early this morning.

Berlinda Butters took out a petition Friday. City Clerk Bud Brinegar said he did not know if the petition was for herself or for someone else.

Two petitions were taken out Thursday by C. Bruce Young.

"I'm not at liberty to say," stated Young Friday when asked who planned to run on the petitions.

Young did say that neither was for himself.

Eight petitions have been filed for the Burley council. Seven of them are for four-year terms.

Incumbent Leonard King filed Friday for a two-year term to retain the seat to which he was appointed.

James Henderson filed a petition Friday for one of the three four-year terms before the voters Nov. 4.

Don Chessman and John Struchen refilled their petitions with additional signatures for a four-year term.

Others who have filed for four years include Steve Westfall, Ray Barlow and Ralph Hasmusen.

Two councilmen, L. V. Morgan and John Croft, have said they will not run for reelection.

Family rescued

BURLEY — A family stranded three hours in the middle of the Snake River was rescued Sunday night.

Rescuers pulled a boat free at 9:45 p.m. Sunday from a sandbar at Frenchman's Island.

Richard Dennis, Burley, and his family had lodged their 17 and one-half foot inboard motorboat in midstream near the island, about 6:45 p.m.

'Jaws' tops TF Cinema records

"The audience reaction is funny," Kullander says, "they'll be talking and laughing and you think they'll never get quiet, but when that shark hits the girl in the first scene, you could hear a pin drop."

Though it might not seem like a children's movie, they seem to love it, too.

Alan Yurkevich recalls, screwing his nose up in enthusiastic horror, and his friend, Mike Lavigne reminds him of the "eye that pops out."

"It's the best," they both agree as they are led off to another movie about space creatures.

"There are not too many good action pictures that tie your stomach up in rinds" before the good guy comes in and saves the day, Kullander says. "And in this one you're not a bit convinced the good guy is going to come through."

Kullander says he has no complaints against "Jaws," although he has witnessed more than one parent leave the theater for a brief spell in the lobby.

"I think we did have one parent drag his child out," Kullander says, "but that happens sometimes in a Walt Disney movie when an animal gets killed. It's not unusual."

How do most people look as they walk out of "Jaws?" — "relieved," Kullander says, because the shark finally got blown up.

It's hard to find anyone who's not enthusiastic about "Jaws" for one reason or another, but William Kenley was at least lukewarm.

"I'm just going to see this 'cause his movie's not here yet," he says with a shrug of his thumb toward the announcement of an upcoming John Wayne movie.

Fire destroys shed

HEYBURN — A shed was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon just north of here.

The fire was reported about 3:30 p.m. Sunday along Interstate 86. It involved a small shed owned by Carl Semmes, Heyburn.

West end fire chief Elmer Petzer said the shed was totally consumed when the firemen arrived. He said the fire did not spread to any other areas.

Chief Petzer said the department was unable to determine the cause of the fire.

'Instant replay' eyed at Paul

PAUL — An instant replay of the 1971 mayoral election could be shaping up in Paul.

Mayor Bob Larsen has filed for reelection. Former mayor Harold Wilson has taken out a petition for the mayor's position.

Larsen defeated Wilson for that post in 1971.

Incumbent councilmen Otto Reisdinger and Mildred Stimpson also have filed their nominating petitions for the council. But they may also face a battle.

Jack Woodward has taken out a council petition. Woodward was beaten two years ago by Mrs. Stimpson. He is a retired fireman from California.

Dietrich meet tonight

DIETRICH — The public is invited to a meeting of the Dietrich Highway District No. 5 at 9 p.m. today at the highway office.

A review will be held of rural functional classification of highways and streets in the district.

Insurance aide to speak

TWIN FALLS — R. Craig Fisher, district manager of Blue Cross Insurance, will speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Twin Falls Judicial Building.

He will discuss insurance programs for the monthly meeting of the Twin Falls chapter of the Idaho Public Employees Association, according to Hazel M. Wilder, president. All public employees are urged to attend the meeting.

4-man race develops in Heyburn

HEYBURN — A four-man race has developed for two council seats here and a battle for the mayoral position is likely.

Mayor Harold Hurst already has filed for reelection on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Carroll Fred Dayley has taken out a petition "and is considering a race for mayor."

"I probably will go for mayor," Dayley said Saturday. "But I haven't really made up my mind."

Petitions for council have been filed by incumbent J.R. Brown and former councilman Bob Hambleton.

Two council seats are before the voters. The other is held by Bud Scovill, who has taken out a nominating petition and said he plans to run.

Dean Baker, a Burley High School electronics teacher, also has a petition and plans to run for council.

Baker said Saturday that he believes people should be involved in city government and he wants to help with the problems ahead with water and electric utilities as a result of Heyburn's "fantastic growth."

Grave robbing charged

BY BART QUENNEL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — Indians charged a Janss Foundation anthropologist with "grave robbing" at the Native American Conference here Saturday night.

Tony Berlant, co-director of an archaeological "dig" in New Mexico studying the old Mimbres Indian culture, presented a slide show of art work of an American Indian culture which died without explanation in the 12th century.

He discussed how diggers were finding beautiful pottery and how each piece appeared to be punctured by the tip of an arrow.

"It is pretty clear," Berlant said, "the holes were made to release the spirit of the pot. He said the Janss Foundation, California, had funded some of the excavation work."

Bill Janss, president of Sun Valley Co., who sits on the board of trustees of the foundation, said later he thought the foundation is no longer funding the project.

As the slide presentation concluded several native Indians blasted Berlant as a "grave digger."

Ed Edmo, Indian poet, asked Berlant why he digs up the bones of Indians. "You are desecrating the dead," Edmo said. "You are receiving stolen property, a felony. If I went out to dig in your graves I would be put in jail. When whites do something it's right, when Indians do something they get busted."

Berlant replied that excavation is a profound moral issue. He said the pots were on private land, he did not sell the bowls he found and he was excavating the sites to discover a great human legacy belonging to everyone.

Berlant was confronted by another native American who said, "There are things learned from graves. The whites forget about their dead. The Indians believe the dead came back as spirits. There is no death — only a changing of worlds."

Jim Belson, director of the Sun Valley Arts and Humanities center which sponsored the conference, said the choice in the Mimbres Valley is the destruction of all remains or the preservation for the public.

Belson was echoing Berlant's words that the valley should be set aside as a national monument. Berlant said the land soon will be cut into parcels and sold as a subdivision if quick action is not taken.

Indians were not satisfied, however, with Berlant's answers. The Indians, too, want the land secured against intrusion but continued to blast Berlant for stripping the graves of their ancestors.

One Indian woman asked Berlant "Why don't we go dig in George Washington's grave to see if he really did have wooden teeth?"

Greenley views set for TF meet

TWIN FALLS — Joe Greenley, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department soon will have a chance to defend himself in person here.

The Idaho Wildlife Association and the Twin Falls Wildlife Conservation Corp. are planning a public meeting in Twin Falls at which Greenley can answer questions from persons wishing to remove him from office.

Orval Willis, Twin Falls pippetter and hunter has started a petition drive to oust Greenley. He claims to have "several hundred signatures" on the petitions which have been circulated in Twin Falls and Jerome.

The petitions charge that Greenley's administration "has become so political...that it no longer serves the hunter and sportsman."

Don Zuck, vice-president of the Idaho Wildlife Federation, today defended Greenley.

"As far as the federation is concerned Mr. Greenley is a very honest, dedicated and capable man and the charges brought about by this petition are unfounded," he said.

Zuck said that he has contacted both Greenley and Willis and that both men have agreed to a public meeting where Greenley can defend himself.

"I think trying to fire a man who you've never talked to or discussed the issues with is out of the question," Zuck said.

He said he is now looking for a place in Twin Falls to hold the meeting, which should occur within a week and a half. The date has not been set.

Writers present top title

TWIN FALLS — Frances P. Reed, Boise, former Twin Falls resident, is the Idaho Writers League "Writer of the Year."

She was awarded the top title during the state convention held in Twin Falls. Bernice Ferris, Pocatello, was named "Poet of the Year."

The three-day convalescend Saturday with Jerry Van Ins, president of the Twin Falls chapter, acting as general chairman.

The poetry luncheon Friday was presided over by Sudele Hager, Kimberly, state poet laureate. Awards were given to Ada Lemle, Idaho Falls, first place in assigned titles, serious verse; Betty Rohmschleb, Cour d'Alene; and Easther Hoag, Idaho Falls, tied for first place assigned titles, light verse.

Series upon verse winners were Frances P. Reed, Boise, first; Otilia Baydell, Boise, second, and May Burkhart, Twin Falls, honorable mention.

Lora Fleming, Pocatello, the 1975 poet of the year, talked on regional poetry, and serious verse was discussed by Marguerite Hubberry, 1974 poet of the year.

Mrs. Burkhart, Twin Falls, spoke on light verse. She is the 1973 poet of the year.

Dr. Jim Belser, Sun Valley center for the Arts and Humanities director, was banquet speaker Friday night. He discussed writing and selling serious titles, and general chairman, Mrs. Van Ins was toastmaster and Alice Reed, Twin Falls, sang several biennial songs, accompanied by Sylvia Grooms, Twin Falls.

Dorine Goertzen, Boise, editor of the magazine "Invisible Idaho," spoke on regional prose at the Saturday morning session. The biographical essay was discussed by Ethlyn Wainington, Twin Falls, author of book length biography and magazine essays.

Dorothy Prather, O'Leary Junior high school librarian and award winner of adult fiction, spoke on juvenile story writing. Arthur Dean Pettinger, College of Southern Idaho instructor, spoke on creative writing and selling the short story.

Virginia Ash, Buhl, presided at the prose award luncheon Saturday, assisted by Laura McAnally, Hagerman, and Mrs. Burkhart.

Fiction writing and article awards were presented by Claire T. Bowling, state league first vice president.

Mrs. Reed, Boise, received first place for article writing, and Ethlyn Rich, first for juvenile stories. Mrs. Burkhart received honorable mention in adult fiction and Mrs. Van Ins, honorable mention for adult fiction.

At Friday's sessions Rosemary Haley, Twin Falls television talk show hostess, discussed interviewing for television. Richard G. High, managing editor of the Times-News, discussed "Newspaper Quirks."

Minidoka vote 'up for grabs'

MINIDOKA — The entire city government of Minidoka appears up for grabs as Tuesday's filing deadline for nomination petitions nears.

As of the weekend, two councilmen are eyeing the mayoral post being vacated here by Dorothy Courtright.

Ken Homer took out a petition Friday morning for mayor. He is the only councilman who would not have to run this year to retain his council post.

If he files for mayor, he will have to resign the council seat, Mayor Courtright said.

Councilman Dave Halbert filed a petition for mayor.

Mrs. Courtright, who has served as mayor for 11 years, has said she does not plan to run again.

Councilman Chester Hoyt filed a petition for reelection Tuesday night. Hoyt has his home up for sale, but said he hopes to continue service on the council if he remains in the city.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Speculation the Federal Reserve Board has eased its monetary policy carried prices higher in active trading Monday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 2.68 to 815.89 shortly before noon EDT. The closely followed blue chip indicator gained 29.05 points in the past session.

Speculation of federal aid to prevent New York City's default on debts and lower interest rates.

Advances led declines, 874 to 334 among the 3,388 issues traded after maintaining better than four-to-one lead earlier in the session.

Volume came to about 7,000,000 shares, compared with 6,180,000 shares traded over in the same span Friday.

The Federal Reserve Board said Friday it would continue the banking network in a move to drive down short-term Treasury bill rates. The action sparked speculation the Fed may have relaxed its monetary policy because of a "stronger" money supply for the latest reporting week.

Investors apparently took heart from a survey of the National Association of Business, Economists indicated the recession has ended and recovery, although moderate in strength, will extend through 1976.

On a somewhat grim note, however, the National Association of Purchasing Managers reported renewed inflation overshadowed a rebound in other areas in September. Prices rose "at a worrisome pace" last month, according to the survey.

Virtually all major stock groups attracted buying interest with the oils and chemicals pacing the rally.

Wheat grower says Meany hurt farmers

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Spokesmen for grain and livestock farmers say AFL-CIO President George Meany hurt the American economy instead of helping it when he halted grain shipments to Russia.

Don Woodward, Pendleton, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, and Don Ostense, executive vice president of the Oregon Cattlemen's Association, made their comments Friday on a panel about food at the Western States Republican Conference.

Woodward said if American farmers are not free to export their surpluses the nation faces a return to government spending for stockpiling the excess and paying farmers not to produce.

In response to a question, Woodward said Canada has tried the system of government negotiation of grain sales to insure a fair price to the farmer and is no better off than the United States in dealing with Russia. "There is a better chance for world peace and cooperation if we let them buy on the same system as any other customer," he said.

Ostense noted that recent reports show the United States with a favorable balance of trade "for the first time in many years. More dollars are flowing in our direction primarily because of the worldwide demand for U. S. agricultural products."

Turning to Meany's action as longshoremen refused to load grain piled up at Lewiston port, Woodward said the grain piled outside, but heavy rains could be caused primarily because of the actions of the longshoremen in dealing with Russia. "There is a better chance for world peace and cooperation if we let them buy on the same system as any other customer," he said.

Grain piles up at Lewiston port

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The closure of the Snake and Columbia rivers to barge traffic has resulted in a stockpile of more than 2.6 million bushels of wheat at the Port of Lewiston and a temporary halt to operations at grain elevators.

The two-river navigation system is closed until Oct. 12 to permit repairs to damaged locks at two dams.

Both elevators at Lewiston are full, and another 1.1 million bushels is piled up on the ground, much of it from Montana and the Dakotas.

Port officials say they don't expect any damage to the grain piled outside, but heavy rains could be caused primarily because of the actions of the longshoremen in dealing with Russia. "There is a better chance for world peace and cooperation if we let them buy on the same system as any other customer," he said.

October warmth forecast

TWIN FALLS — The month of October is forecast to average warmer and drier than normal.

Farmers have made progress during the past month under favorable conditions for harvesting small grains, beans and hay.

According to the USDA statistical reporting service, the fall harvest is in the mop up stages as October begins, except for fruit, potatoes and sugar-beets. Winter grains are 30 to 50 per cent seeded.

The 30 day outlook for less precipitation than normal would indicate that farmers should be able to make progress getting out the late potato and beet crops and the fruit harvest, but much of the small grain will need supplemental irrigation for good germination.

The statistics for the past years show that precipitation in October has averaged about .15 to .25 of an inch per week in the Upper Snake River Valley from American Falls to Ashton and about .10 to .20 of an inch per week in the Magic and Boise Valleys.

The northern part of the state is usually much wetter in October with the valleys averaging around one half inch per week.

From this point on what do you know about building a building?

You've got your lot, now what? Well, there are clearances, permits, rights-of-way, planning, budgeting, designing, contracting, clearing, excavating, constructing, roofing, finishing, interior finishing, grounds work, landscaping, etc., etc. You can learn about all these things yourself. Or you can get in touch with us. We take care of every detail, from the first steps to the last. As much as you want us to handle, we'll handle. So give us a call when you're ready to build. Even if you don't have your lot yet.

PARKING PROBLEMS? NOT AT CAIN'S!!

At much expense we acquired the lot at the rear of our Big Store several years ago to accommodate our shoppers with FREE PARKING. We urge our shoppers to use it and SOLICIT THEIR COOPERATION IN NOT ABUSING IT.

PLEASE LEAVE YOUR CAR HERE AS LONG AS YOU ARE IN OUR STORE, but due to the fact that we have only 22 stalls we ask that you remove it when you leave our store.

Thanks . . . The Management, Cain's

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There are all kinds of opportunities for you to uncover any facts and figures you need to get into a specific plan of action, or to round out your knowledge on a subject. This can bring considerable success, happiness in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Discuss with closest ties how to gain your mutual goals more speedily. Handle responsibilities of any kind. Use greater efficiency.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Discuss with associates how to have increased success with mutual projects. You can receive with others more readily.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Delve into whatever work you have to do until it is completed and benefits desired. Therefore, try to please co-workers more. Have fun.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Enjoy amusements to relieve tensions. Impress right persons with your realistic "business" ideas. Much benefit can come to you in the days ahead.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle those affairs at home early for more security and harmony. Study further into new venture so you can be successful.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Gain the advice you need from a "higher-up" about any questionable matters and work commitments. Get needed data. Relax at home, in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study practical matters, to find some new, more efficient system for greater benefits. A clever financial expert can be of assistance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Approach good friends for assistance with your most cherished plans and available "business" ideas. Take no chances with your reputation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy gathering information you need. Don't get entangled with others, especially those who could lower your standards.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) See good pals you have had little time for or who have not been available of late. Give a party, if necessary, to repay social debts.

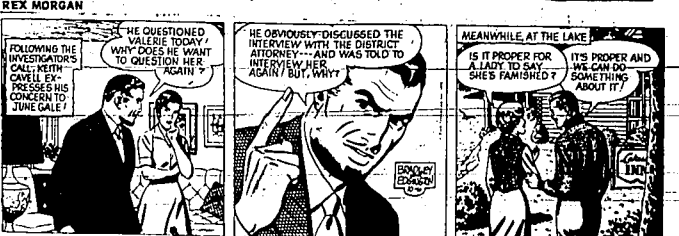

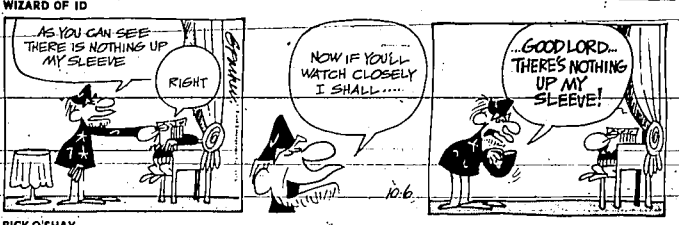

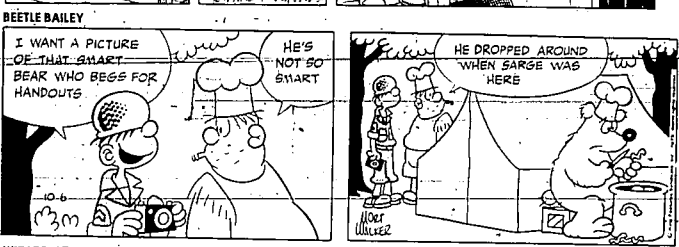

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle public and career matters efficiently for fine benefits now. A matter of importance arises. Dress elegantly for that social affair in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Analyze your career aims and the best way to attain them. A new contact can be of great assistance to you. Spend a lot at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... or he or she will have deep thoughts, new ideas and fine talents and should therefore have the finest education possible. Your progeny can then become a real leader in chosen profession which could be in government. Your son or daughter will make a plan early and then carry through with it skillfully. Give fine spiritual training early. A natural at sports.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

BLONDIE

what's what

L. M. Boyd

Young men and girls between ages 16 and 19 tend to abandon their reasoning powers in romantic attachments no matter how good the judgment might be in other matters. This odd loss of common sense sometimes occurs again between the ages of 39 and 45. And it's likely to crop up once more in the late 60s among those whom deaths leave in solitude. Such is the contention of a renowned expert on matrimony. Our Love and War man confirms the finding. But he cannot explain why clear-thinking people suddenly develop blind spots about affection. No doubt he missed a course or two in biology.

HOUSES

Why are houses of ill repute outlawed in Las Vegas and Reno when they're permitted in most of the other Nevada towns?

—A. Because the big operators in Vegas and Reno found out they can make more money in the gaming spots if the visiting gentlemen bring their wives.

REMEMBER, a pythoness is not a snake, but a witch.

—UNDERSTAND the TV set-makers will be putting out pushbutton tuners pretty soon. But why?

IT'S NOT LIKELY that anybody called Campbell will admit it now, but the early Scots originated that name to mean "crooked lip."

CB RADIOS

Those drivers of cars without citizens band radios in them don't realize what's happening out there on the highways. I suspect. Men and women who make their living on the road have put together an immense conversational underground. They know the whereabouts of every lawman on wheels. They do not seem to resent the traffic light givers even as much as they're resented by said officers. It's an adversary relationship something like that of honorable professionals in ethical competition. Mostly they're not just courteous, but extremely friendly. Occasionally young punks use their eighteen-wheelers like weapons. But the seasoned truckers don't. They're now in charge of the pavement. You eighteen-wheelers, you have a good day today and a better day tomorrow, hear?

TAKE HEART, my dear, with the report that the waist measurement of the Statue of Liberty is 35 feet.
