Campaign utilizes 200 volunteers

TWIN FALLS — The United Way of Twin Falls is a completely volunteer organization. It is administered by a board of approximately 50 local community leaders and the drive itself involves more than 200 business, professional and community people. Organization of the fund drive each fall is headed by a campaign chairman, with eight divisions dividing the community by size and type of business. The divisions and their leaders are Blue Chips, Steve Berg; commercial, for businesses with less than 15 employees, Betty Dameron; bonded executives, for larger firms with 15 employees or more, Ralph Carpenter; government, Hazel Wilder; medical, Linda Smith and Elaine Phillips; professional, Pat Harder; education, Doyt Srincoe, and special gifts, Hoy Hooper. Some of the division chairmen have only "plain workers" under them, who do the actual soliciting, but in the commercial division, for example, there are 10 team captains, each of whom has from 10 to 20 workers. Mrs. Dameron said the city is divided geographically by business districts, with captains for north, south, east and west sections of downtown Twin Falls, South Park, Kimberly Road, Addison Avenue East and West and Blue Lakes Boulevard North and South. There are 14 bonded executives under Carpenter's leadership who will contact the larger firms. In Mrs. Wilder's division, sub-chairmen have been named to contact city, county and state officials. In the medical division there are sub-chairmen for doctors, dentists, veterinarians, optometrists, pharmacy and chiropractors, while the professional division includes accountants, lawyers, architects and engineers, contractors, United Way agencies, clergy and insurance. The education division is divided between District 411 and CSI.

United Way drive opening in TF

TWIN FALLS — The 1975 United Way fund drive officially opened today in Twin Falls with a kickoff luncheon this noon at the Blue Lakes Inn. Goal for this year's community fund drive is $147,000, only $7,000 more than last year's goal of $140,000. The funds will be divided among 11 charitable agencies which provide a wide range of services for Twin Falls residents. A new member of the United Way agencies (this year is United Cerebral Palsy of Idaho, which offers diagnostic and therapeutic help at the Elks Rehabilitation Hospital, Boise. According to Tajuana Cochran, director of the organization and a special educator of developmental services at the Adult and Child Development Center in Twin Falls, a number of children from this area have benefited from the diagnostic program offered by United Cerebral Palsy. She said plans are under way to expand the adult camping program to include one within easy commuting distance of Twin Falls. The GCP also cooperates with the adult handicapped swimming program being developed through the YMCA and YWCA in Twin Falls. The other agencies and their 1976 requests, as approved by the United Way directors, are:

- YWCA, $13,000
- YMCA, $12,000
- Camp Fire Girls, $7,500
- Artthritis, $2,500
- Salvation Army, $24,000
- Boy Scouts, $45,111
- Red Cross, $26,083
- USO, $700
- Girl Scouts, $3,180
- Mental Health, sponsors of Hotline, $1,800
- United Cerebral Palsy, $1,700

Dr. Terry Smith, president and campaign chairman, said the agencies will receive their full requests only if the campaign raises its goals. If not, the available funds will be prorated among the participants. Last year's campaign has raised about $98,000 to date, according to Darl Glead, executive director of the United Fund. About $10,000 already has been turned in for this year's drive, mostly through the Blue Chips division, headed by Steve Berg. This involves all members of the 50 board of directors, each of whom is assigned to one of the four standing committees: financial, public relations, campaign and agency relations. The United Way was born in Twin Falls in 1962 as the result of concern by community leaders of the duplication of effort and campaign costs in running so many fund drives. The drive has grown steadily since that time to a record high of $105,024 pledged during the 1974 drive. Through the agency relations committee, headed by Jim Willis, the operating and financial practices of each of the 11 agencies are carefully reviewed and analyzed prior to allocating funds. Donors making contributions through the United Way can be assured their money will be used for real community needs, Glead said. Costs for the drive expenses run approximately 8 per cent, or about $9,300, which is much less than administrative costs of some fund raising organizations which sometimes runs from 30 to 60 per cent, Glead said. United Way officers for 1975-76 are Dr. Terry Smith, president and campaign chairman; Darl S. Glead, executive director; Tom W. Sifers, vice president; Ruth Kingsworth, secretary; Jim Barnhart, treasurer, and Jim Willis and Fred Frazier, executive committee. Members of the Agency Relations committee are Willis; Bill Routh, Rudy Ashenbrenner, Dr. Howard Ronk, James Rosenbaum, Willford W. Frantz, Bill Babcock, Nancy Brown, Earl Faulkner, Bill Workman, Charles McManaman, Jerry McGrath and Bob Gordon.

Here's how to give

Letter urges fund support

To the Citizens of Twin Falls: Once again we have the opportunity to demonstrate our concern for the quality of life in our community and the plight of some of our less fortunate neighbors. Contributions to the United Way of Twin Falls directly touch many lives and mean the difference between good community to live in and just another town. Approximately 200-300 of you are directly involved in the campaign to raise $147,000. This is a local effort, using local volunteers with the money benefiting local people. Campaign costs are minimal and the bulk of the money goes directly to programs, not for administrative costs or fund-raising. The eleven member agencies have shown a good deal of self-discipline and restraint in their budget requests. These requests have been carefully reviewed and approved by the local citizen board of the United Way. The needs are legitimate and pressing.

I urge each of you to examine your conscience and give according to your ability. It's only through your commitment and concern that the United Way concept is successful. THANKS TO YOU IT WORKS FOR ALL OF US.

Sincerely,
Paul T. Smith
President & Campaign
Chairman

Two front pages today

TWIN FALLS — There are two front pages in today's edition of the Times-News. This page tells about the United Way campaign to raise $147,000 to support 11 community agencies which serve Twin Falls adults and children, including servicemen overseas. The usual front page containing major news events of the nation and world is found on page 3. This year's United Way goal of $147,000 is 5 per cent above last year's goal of $140,000, according to Darl Glead, executive director. After administrative costs are deducted, the remainder of all money raised is divided between the agencies, in proportion to the requests.

Story time Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — Bedtime stories, designed to bring pleasant dreams, are offered by the Twin Falls Public Library in a new children's program.

Each Tuesday from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. children from three to five are invited to the library for stories read by Debra Park in the children's department.

Parents are invited to bring their youngsters in their pajamas and nightgowns, ready for bed and then take them home to bed immediately after the stories. Mothers and fathers may browse in the upstairs library or run an errand and return for their children at the conclusion of the program.

Mrs. Park said that for the classes have been small and the children have lots of personal attention during the reading. She said she is hoping more children will attend as the program becomes better known.

STORIES to put the small fry to sleep are offered for children three to five years of age each Tuesday evening in the Twin Falls Library. Debra Park, children's librarian reads to pajama-clad Tyler Porter, Annie Porter, Michele Phillips and Mike Wolter.

Student workshop planned

SHOSHONE — The seventh annual conservation workshop sponsored for students of the fifth grade in Lincoln County is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at the 4-II camp north of Bellevue.

The Soil Conservation Service, Lincoln County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service and the Reichfield, Shoshone and Dietrich school districts are organizing the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Churchman, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lemmon, Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Hatmaker, Jerry Hebel and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nishimoto will chaperone the two-day camp.

Ivan C. Hopkins, Lincoln County extension agent, is general director of the workshop this year.

For the past four weekends, the Hatmakers, Shoshone, have spent their time in the hills with several Lincoln Elementary fifth graders helping prepare them for the workshop.

Mrs. Hatmaker, fifth grade teacher at Lincoln, says the trips are part of an environmental nature study. She says the experience is "rewarding" because students are showing a keener interest in the environment.

Others who assisted in the weekend trips are Hebel, Mrs. Calvin Norman, Mrs. Jack Morris, Violet Jones, Susan Murray, Harrell Thorne, Dale Petersen and Laura Solozaga.

Special prices set for concert

TWIN FALLS — All senior citizens and college students can attend the Boise Philharmonic concert in Twin Falls Wednesday night at special prices. Mrs. Don Young, chairman, said today.

Regular tickets for the concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium are $3 but seniors and students will be admitted for $2 if they have membership or activity cards.

The 80-piece symphony will play Handel's "Suite from the 'Faithful Shepherd,'" "The Moldau" and "Three Dances from the 'Bartered Bride,'" both by Smetana and "Amendment I," by Brandon, written especially for this performance.

Guest soloist, Sidney Hartig, concertmaster and associate conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, will play Beethoven's "Concerto in D Major," Op. 61, for violin and orchestra.

Tickets will be available at the door Wednesday night or by calling Mrs. John McKala, 733-0453 or Mrs. Matt Smith, 733-2280. Proceeds will go to the scholarship fund of the Magic Valley Symphony, which is sponsoring the concert.

NG display set Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Headquarters and Headquarters Troop, 16th Armored Cavalry, Twin Falls, will display military equipment on Saturday, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Lynwood Shopping Center.

The equipment will be two scout Jeeps with machine guns; two gamma goats, one with a redefy missile launcher and one with a teletype display, and an army mess truck and an army wrecker.

On Sunday Headquarters and Headquarters Troop will hold an open house and a free pancake brunch for the public at the National Guard Armory on Frontier Road. Hours are from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

On display at that time will be a Huey helicopter, a Sheridan light armored reconnaissance vehicle, a command post carrier and a tank retriever. The mess, communication, medical, maintenance, redefy, scout and headquarters sections will also have their respective equipment open for inspection.

National Guard personnel will put on a pyrotechnic display at that time. All persons interested in viewing the wide variety of military specialties available in the Idaho Army National Guard are invited to attend.

Funds OK'd

MCCALL — Four Magic Valley groups received financial grants Monday.

The Idaho Historical Society Bibebe Film Preservation Project; Sun Valley Center on the Arts and Humanities; the Magic Valley Chorus; and the Twin Falls Music Club were among 27 projects that will be funded under the 50-50 matching grant program of the National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities and the Idaho Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

Educational aide claims Indians' culture killed

By BART QUESNELL

Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — In a denunciation of American education, a national Indian education director said here Sunday traditional education in the United States has killed the Indian culture.

Emmett Oliver, supervisor of Indian education in Washington state, listed several alternatives he believes should be introduced so native Americans can learn "truthfully" about their ancestors.

Cultural heritage classes must be brought into the classroom regardless of the number of Indians in the class, he said. Sensitivity must be developed in teachers and to recognize Indians place different values on education.

Oliver said it was appalling that 200 teachers, graduated recently from the University of Washington, had no exposure of any degree to ethnic studies.

History texts and materials must be revised, Oliver said, to show the real villain and heroes during the invasion of Europeans on the North American continent.

"No one people should always be snow white or dead wrong," Oliver said. "Indian children need to read the accomplishments of their own people as well as the whites."

In addition there needs to be a specific recruitment of Indian teachers, according to Oliver. The establishment of all Indian schools in certain areas operated entirely by Indians is important in parts of the country, he said. The home language must be respected, Oliver said, and taught in the native tongue in a bilingual approach.

One "cultural pluralism" is accepted the place of the American Indian in society can be explored, Oliver said.

Educational institutions have failed the Indian by providing no meaningful substitute for integration," Oliver said. "The socializing effect on Indian children has taken its toll."

Indian children are told not to be like their parents, often characterized as lazy and stupid, he said.

"Our children are learning that more and more acquisition of material goods is the measure of a man," Oliver said.

Trap set for fuel vapors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White Congress grappled again with proposals to shape a national energy policy, the Environmental Protection Agency moved to save nine million gallons of gasoline a year by putting gasoline vapors into the tank instead of the atmosphere.

The EPA said its order to 37,000 service and fleet filling stations in eight states troubled cities to install vapor-trapping devices on their pumps by 1977 was "primarily a pollution control measure and the saving of fuel was 'merely a side benefit.'"

The agency said the devices, costing $5,200 — $7,700 for a six-pump station, could eventually raise the price of gasoline by about one-half cent a gallon.

The areas covered by the order are Baltimore, Boston, Denver, Los Angeles, Sacramento, the San Joaquin Valley of California and Washington, D.C.

House and Senate conferees clarified their first public meeting today on comprehensive energy bills offered by both houses.

In the Senate, emergency natural gas legislation for the winter's expected shortage faced the double duty of a crowded schedule and a clash of proposals.

Sens. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., and Frank Moss, D-Utah, dominated the Senate floor Monday discussing their proposal to combine strict oil price controls with relaxed natural gas price controls to stimulate new supplies.

Opponents supporting an administration-backed combination of emergency gas actions with long-term lifting of gas controls, were waiting for a chance to force a vote on the issue but the Senate schedule before its planned October recess was already crowded.

John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the bill at hand should be only for the winter's emergency and administration supporters should not hold it "hostage" to get the long-term deregulation they want.

In other energy developments:

— Robert C. Seamans Jr., head of the Energy Research and Development Administration, testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee that getting oil from shale rock, and oil and gas from coal, is a long-term program that could take 10 years to produce 1 million barrels of oil a day.

— A Federal Trade Commission study said that in seven Western states — Arizona, Alaska, California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon, Washington — major oil companies appear to be control refining, with little chance for competitors to enter the field. However, it said, was holding off major antitrust action because the coming flow of crude oil from Alaska could change the situation.

'2nd gun' ruled out by panel

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Seven of the most distinguished firearms experts in the United States rendered their verdict Monday on the theory that a "second gun" was fired in the assassination of Robert Kennedy: There's nothing to it.

The conclusion submitted to a Superior Court judge means that Kennedy was shot by Sirhan B. Sirhan and no one else.

After five years of controversy and two weeks of tests, the panel ended the dispute with a 23-word statement to the court: "There is no substantive or demonstrable evidence to prove that more than one gun was used to fire any of the bullets examined."

The panelists were given the two bullets removed from Kennedy and others taken from the five wounded bystanders, and the test bullets fired in the original investigation seven years ago. The panelists fired four fresh test slugs from Sirhan's pistol, shooting them into a water barrel in a jury room converted to a laboratory for them.

The seven panelists, brought in from around the nation, conducted separate tests and were ordered not to discuss the case among themselves until they had each written a separate report. None found any evidence that the bullets removed from Kennedy and those wounded were fired from different guns, the report said.

"The examiners working independently arrived at the same conclusion," said Robert Wenke, presiding judge of the Superior Court, who had ordered the tests.

Wenke opened the panel's report Monday, reading its findings to a packed courtroom, hushed with anticipation.

The finding is "a tremendous blow" to Sirhan, serving a life term for the assassination, said his lawyer, Godfrey Isaac, conceding that the panelists had "effectively put the second gun theory to rest."

Proponents of the theory argued there was evidence to show that more than one gun had been fired when Sirhan opened a revolver at Kennedy at close range in a hotel kitchen in June, 1968. They maintained that more bullets had been fired than the eight held in Sirhan's .22-caliber revolver, and that the bullets recovered bore different markings.

US-Uganda clash menaces cooperation air at UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — An increasingly bitter dispute between the United States and Uganda has threatened the shaky "spirit of cooperation" at the United Nations.

Clarence Mitchell, a black member of the U.S. delegation, fired the latest shot in the confrontation Monday night, indirectly comparing Ugandan President Idi Amin to the late Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler.

Only a month ago, developing nations loudly proclaimed — "the spirit of confrontation has been replaced by a spirit of cooperation" at the United Nations.

The United States pledged to listen to the complaints of the developing "third world" and promised American help in bridging the gap between rich and poor nations.

"But the era of good feeling, may be over," Mitchell said.

"The first sign of trouble came at the General Assembly last week when Amin called for the 'extinction' of Israel and 'accused Zionists of 'colonizing' the United States."

U.S. Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan, in a San Francisco speech Friday, retorted by calling Amin a "racist murderer."

Ambassador Tianlus Adjlaba of Dahomey told the assembly Monday Moynihan's remark was "deliberately provocative" and made him wonder if the U.S. envoy "represents Zionism in the United Nations rather than the United States."

In a reply to Adjlaba, Mitchell attacked African delegates Monday night for failing to speak out about a 1974 report by the International Commission of Jurists on the disappearance of "tens of thousands" of Ugandans.

"A map is just as dead if he is killed by a black person as if he is killed by a white person," Mitchell said.

He said the world "fought a long and costly war" against "a dictator who exterminated millions of humans because they were not members of what he called the master race."

"If we had been less courteous with that dictator in the beginning, immense human suffering and loss would have been prevented," Mitchell said.

He then compared Amin's words to "the kind that have been used through the centuries to persecute minorities, particularly the Jews."

"Usually, such words are preceded by such utterances as 'I like the Jews' or 'Some of my best friends are blacks,'" he said.

Representatives of Uganda and Dahomey, pleading illness, asked permission to reply to Mitchell later.

Retires

RHODE ISLAND Sen. John O. Pastore, a veteran of 22 years in the U.S. Senate, said today he will finish his present term but will not run again in 1976. Pastore is a Democrat. (UPI)

Death rule stay given

NASSAU, The Bahamas (UPI) — The Bahamian government has granted a last-minute stay in the execution of a young American who said God ordered him to kill three U.S. tourists for being "savage and wicked."

The Ministry of Home Affairs announced the indefinite stay Monday night, only hours before Michael Shobeck, a 22-year-old Milwaukee songwriter, was to have been hanged at Fox Hill Prison.

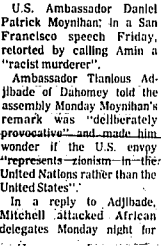

A ministry spokesman said the order was granted in response to petitions by Shobeck's lawyers, American Ambassador Seymour Weiss and several U.S. congressmen.

A Bahamian court condemned Shobeck to death for the Jan. 17, 1974, slaying of Irwin Bernstein, a 44-year-old Oceanside, N.Y., accountant. He was accused of killing two other Americans, but only tried for the Bernstein murder.

Quakes hit

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A series of 18 strong quakes jolted the southeastern Mexican state of Chiapas near the border with Guatemala for nearly six hours Monday, leaving at least two persons dead and collapsing more than 80 homes.

GI Bill near end?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GI Bill which paid for the higher education for hundreds of thousands of veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam may be taken off the books.

The House voted 298 to 106 Monday to cut off education benefits to anyone who enlists in the armed services after Dec. 31, 1975. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Veterans qualifying under the program prior to the Dec. 31 cutoff will have until Dec. 31, 1987, to complete their education. The bill also boosts the current 36 months of education to 45, a provision that the administration opposes.

The measure would also continue Veterans Administration home loan benefits to personnel enlisting after the education benefits end.

Ending the education program will save some $4.4 million next year, the House Veterans Affairs Committee estimated, but extending training time will cost $12.3 million and continuing the home loan program $300,000.

Tells plan

RODERICK HILLS, nominated as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, told the Senate Finance Committee Monday if he is confirmed he will sell his stocks and avoid conflicts of interest with his wife — but share her limousine. She's secretary of Housing and Urban Development. (UPI)

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst is under court order to cooperate with three psychiatrists trying to decide whether she is mentally able to stand trial on federal bank robbery charges.

U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter, who canceled a hearing scheduled today for Miss Hearst because the psychiatrists' report wasn't ready, told the 21-year-old newspaper heiress Monday "to cooperate as fully as she is able."

Results of the psychiatric examination — into the effects of her kidnapping, alleged "brainwashing" and conversion to violent radicalism — will be used by Carter in determining whether Miss Hearst can stand trial or be released on bail.

Miss Hearst's lawyers told the court last week she was not fully cooperating with them, often sitting silent for several minutes while they tried to question her and that her attitude toward them and her parents seemed to vacillate.

Carter said he would reschedule the hearing after the psychiatrists had completed their report and he had turned it over to prosecution and defense lawyers for study.

The judge also ruled that Miss Hearst's statements "shall be forever and absolutely barred from admission in evidence against her in this or any other court, state or federal, in any criminal proceeding."

His immunity order came after the New York Post reported Miss Hearst confessed a number of crimes during her talks with the psychiatrists. Her lawyers denied it, saying "she has not confessed to anything."

The newspaper also said she had "agreed" to turn state's evidence against her former radical comrades in return for a light sentence or immunity from prosecution. That too was denied — by both prosecution and defense.

"The defense attorneys have never discussed her turning state's evidence," said Alfred Johnson, one of her lawyers. "We wouldn't consider it."

"There most assuredly have been no plea negotiations," said Robert L. Stevenson, a Justice Department spokesman.

Any deal would involve Miss Hearst testifying against her former Symbionese Liberation Army comrades — William and Emily Harris and Wendy Yoshimura.

KC firemen end strike

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Striking firemen agreed to return to work today and end a four-day walkout marked by city officials' accusations that some of the strikers were resorting to arson.

The striking union and the city council agreed to take the firemen's key demand of equal pay with police officers to federal mediation. Both sides were scheduled to meet with the federal mediator today.

The agreement was reached in a series of informal meetings beginning Monday night after Mayor Charles Wheeler Jr. agreed during a television debate with the 11th firemen's union officials to try to end the strike immediately.

Currently, annual wages for top scale firemen total $12,996, compared to $15,305 for top scale policemen.

TF council restricts park events

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Council members Monday adopted three recommendations by the Parks and Recreation Commission designed to soothe angry feelings of Harmon Park area residents.

Residents had met with parks and recreation members earlier this fall to complain about conditions at the neighboring park.

The commission took action to limit events at the park, restrict camping and set time limits on nights events.

Ken Self, commission member, told council members the group met three times during September to consider requests by Harmon Park neighbors.

During these meetings residents listed several concerns, including parking problems, softball games, traffic snarls at the annual swim meet at the park, difficulties associated with overnight camping, including one case where a holding tank was emptied in the area. Self said.

The neighbors also expressed concern over ball park and tennis court lights left on late at night, disturbances after midnight, "unspecified molestation of children," vandalism and a lack of police surveillance. Self told the council. The Parks and Recreation Commission made four recommendations to the council, three of which gained approval. The council agreed to limit events at Harmon Park when other special events attracting 150 people or more were planned.

In addition, the council decided to limit overnight camping at the annual swim meet to the Jaycee park area. In an afternoon work session, council members discussed the possibility of banning camping altogether at the park.

"I do not see why we should allow people to camp there at all," council member Steve Lincoln said.

Council member Paul Ostyn countered, "It only happens two nights out of 365," though he suggested a 24-hour patrolman during the swim meet could help solve complaints.

Council member Leon Smith said he felt the swim meet was "a good program. It serves the community well. I don't think we should get too hard on them."

In taking action to restrict the overnight camping to the Jaycee park area, the council members expressed the hope that most of the problems could be alleviated.

The council also approved the parks commission's recommendation to prohibit any softball game innings from beginning after 11 p.m. except in tournament play.

The commission had also suggested increasing police patrols in the park area, with the possibility of hiring a full-time officer or security guard.

But the council decided to study the need for additional police surveillance and discuss the matter with law officials before taking any action.

Jerome bomb threat turns out to be dud

JEROME — An intensive search of the Jerome Junior High School Monday failed to find a "bomb reported" to be hidden in the school.

Ernie Coats, Jerome City patrolman, said the secretary of the junior high received a call at 12:40 p.m. Monday and told Coats the "voice" was feminine. The unidentified caller said, "There is a bomb in the junior high." The secretary told Coats the caller then hung up.

Coats said the Jerome Sheriff's Department was immediately notified and the school was cleared of students who were taken to the football field where they remained for about an hour while a complete search was made of the building by teachers, police department personnel and the sheriff's department.

As a precautionary measure, the Jerome High School was also emptied of students who were not permitted to leave the school grounds while the high school building was also searched by high school faculty.

Both searches failed to turn up a bomb or any evidence of a bomb.

No students were excused.

Whittom to seek reelection

RUPERT — Former Rupert City Councilman W.F. (Bill) Whittom announced today he will seek reelection to that body.

Whittom, who served on the council from 1970 to 1974, said he will file his nominating petition today for one of two seats to be decided in Nov. 4.

Whittom was defeated in 1974 by Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, in a bid for an Idaho Senate seat. He also ran unsuccessfully in 1973 for Rupert mayor. "I want to see representation from all geographical areas of the city," Whittom said today. He said the south side of Rupert, where he lives, currently is not represented on the council.

Potato sorters

THE potato harvest in Lincoln County is in full swing and county farmers say their crop is running about average—with most fields producing about 300 sacks to the acre with some going even higher. Some potatoes are being stored in cellars and others are being trucked directly to processing plants.

Water resources panel studies Snake's ecology

TWIN FALLS — How would the Snake River change if more of its water were used for energy, fish farming or agriculture? A study to determine whether the river can be ecologically balanced while working harder is the subject of a computerized study by the Idaho Department of Water Resources.

Work to computerize water quality conditions of the Snake River from Minidoka Dam to C.J. Strike Reservoir began two weeks ago. Samples of water were taken from the Snake River and its tributaries to be analyzed and charted by computer.

"We know from previous studies that as more demands are made on the river, future flows in the Snake will be severely depleted," department planning administrator C. Stephen Alfred said. "We must look realistically at present and future uses of Snake River water to create a dynamic state water plan."

"For example, the computer program can predict the effect other factors, such as installation of a nuclear power plant, could have on the river. We also hope to use the computer program to assist the Idaho Department of Fish and Game with its study of minimum flows needed to prevent fish kills in the Snake River. In this way, we can look ahead and yew all possibilities of development and preservation."

The study team samples and records chemical and biological conditions of the river and its tributaries using the department's mobile laboratory and assistance from the department of fish and game. The field data will then be used in a computer program to simulate river conditions.

"This computer program for the Snake River will be similar to that already developed over a five-year period for the Boise River," according to study team member Keith T. Anderson. "The computer program simulates information on 24 biological and chemical conditions of the river, and will become a workable tool for water resource planning."

Opinions differ in Gooding

GOODING — After 45 minutes of parliamentary maneuvering Monday night, Gooding City councilmen were right back where they started.

"It's just a difference of opinion," Councilman R. M. Shaver said good naturedly when his motion to have the city remove old sidewalk and provide gravel for property owners was defeated. The city would provide this aid when the owner planned to build a new sidewalk.

The difference of opinion centered on whether or not the city should provide this help for business as well as residential property.

Councilman Duane Clemens said the more inclusive policy would encourage replacement of old sidewalks throughout the town but Councilman Bob Reed and James Alastra disagreed.

"If a business can't afford to put in a new sidewalk, they're on the way out anyway," Reed said.

Reed first seconded Shaver's motion, then withdrew, and Clemens seconded the proposal which was approved by Shaver and Clemens and voted against by the other two councilmen. Mayor Gene Kelly broke the tie by also voting against the proposal.

Then Reed moved that the city provide such assistance in the residential district only and this died for lack of a second after City Atty. Cecil Holbey said he could see distinct possibility of it being challenged on constitutional grounds. Shaver had the last word. He said he "couldn't see the difference — they're all taxpayers." Supt. James Muscat asked the council for additional financial assistance on the joint school-city recreation project. He said 225 yards of gravel are needed to be hauled to land adjacent to the newly-built tennis courts to stop dust from covering the court.

STORAGE PROJECTS: THE PIGGY BANKS FOR YOUR GAS ENERGY FUTURE

The winter heating season is almost here and we're ready to bring you natural gas supplies we've been saving all summer.

Northwest Pipeline Corporation operates a natural gas transmission system serving seven western states. We furnish a bit of the gas used in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, and we plan to meet your gas energy requirements for generations to come.

Gas storage projects play an important role in the gas energy future of our customers in the Pacific Northwest.

Northwest Pipeline owns part of the Jackson Prairie storage site near Chehalis, Washington. Over 50 wells beneath Jackson Prairie store enough natural gas to heat roughly 66,000 homes for a whole year—but we draw on it only during the peak demand, winter heating season, when an abundant supply of natural gas is called for.

These wells lie in natural water-filled formations. In summer, when the demand for gas is at its lowest point, gas is injected into a zone of sand and water, 1,800 feet beneath the surface of the earth. The gas displaces the water to create an underground energy reservoir.

Right now, Jackson Prairie stores about 22.5 billion cubic feet of natural gas and is capable of delivering 240 million cubic feet per day. We are participating in expansion of the facility to develop additional storage capacity.

Another energy piggy bank—our new liquefied natural gas plant near Plymouth, Washington—will begin storing the gas this coming winter and will be in full operation by the 1976-77 winter heating season.

The $17-million facility is one of the largest LNG plants west of the Mississippi.

During the milder summer months, it will liquefy up to 6 million cubic feet of gas per day for storage in a huge, 348,000-barrel capacity tank.

It will be capable of vaporizing and delivering up to 150 million cubic feet of gas each day during the peak demand season.

Northwest Pipeline plans to double the plant's capacity with a second storage tank which will have a 522,000-barrel capacity, equal to 1.8 billion cubic feet of vaporized gas.

We are looking at additional storage projects in the Pacific Northwest and elsewhere to help us meet your energy requirements now and in the years ahead.

While we're building our energy nest eggs, you can help. If everyone saves any energy that might otherwise be wasted, America will have sufficient supplies to pull us through these energy "rainy days."

Conservation of all our resources is the energy savings plan that everyone should join.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
 © 1974 by Chicago Tribune-H.N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to say that he was irritated by people who used the expression "making love" when they meant "having sex." The complainer pointed out that the couple who met at a cocktail party and went to a motel to "make love," did NOT "make love"; they had sex, and "love" had nothing to do with it.

Well, now it's my turn to complain: They did not "have sex" they had "sexual intercourse."
Everybody has sex. A newborn baby has sex. The sex is either male or female.
Sex is not something one DOES. It is something one IS!
STICKLER IN OTTUMWA

DEAR STICKLER: You're right, of course. But some people are hung up by the graphic (though correct) terminology, "sexual intercourse." "Had sex" is easier to say and communicates the same message, so let's live and let people have sex, or make love—and who cares?

Speech stickler

DEAR ABBY: Herewith a suggestion that "dirty old man" be retired from further use and "dirty young woman" be substituted.

I walked into the local supermarket yesterday and found myself surrounded by a forest of bare legs, bare backs, bare bellies and halter tops. They were all women and girls who seemed to be very proud of every inch of exposed flesh. The men in the store were reasonably well covered. If a man were to expose that much of himself in public, he would be quickly placed in confinement and labeled a "dirty old man."

Why not women?

YOURS FOR EQUALITY

DEAR YOURS: Your letter was marked Iowa City, Iowa, where it's hot enough in summer to fry an egg on the sidewalk, so I can't fault the women for their bare backs, legs and bellies. If a man chose to expose that much (and some men do), I'd call him sensible, not "dirty."

DEAR ABBY: It was a help to me to read your recent letter from the lady who was disillusioned by the delay in repayment of a small debt.

I recently had a somewhat similar experience. My solution was to renege a policy I formulated years ago and had partially forgotten.
 To wit: Grant a loan only when you are secretly able to consider it a gift. Then, when the borrower pays it back, you will be pleasantly surprised. And if it's not repaid, you will be less hurt.

NOVATO, CALIF.

DEAR NOVATO: Sorry, but a loan is a loan and a gift is a gift, and very few people can afford the luxury of making a gift of a loan. Also, consider the recipient's pride. The burden of gratitude can be too heavy for some. Not everyone will accept a handout.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Couple exchanges promises

TWIN FALLS — Janie Boyd and Ronald W. Carr were united in marriage on the evening of Sept. 20 at the First Christian Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Shirley Lee Boyd and the late Leonard S. Boyd, Jerome. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walker H. Carr, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Raymond P. Jones.

The bride was escorted by her father-in-law down an aisle flanked with blue and white pew bows. She wore a princess-styled gown of white peau de soie which featured a sweetheart neckline.

The gown was adorned with rose appliques and lace trimmed with tiny blue flowers. A sheer lace overlay was attached to the bodice. The puffed bell sleeves were edged with lace scallops and fashioned from georgette.

The gown was styled with a full ruffle encircling the bottom. The detachable train also featured a double ruffle made from georgette.

Her three-tiered elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a small caplet of velvet and eyeslet.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD CARR

The gown was designed by the bride and made by Mrs. Elmer Huether, Twin Falls.

The bride carried a bouquet of baby's breath, bachelor buttons, white roses and blue chrysanthemums entwined with ivy.

The church was enhanced with baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums which were flanked by blue candles. Dave Kay and Doug Hill served as candlelighters. Mrs. Elmira Carlson created all the flower arrangements.

Carr's Moler attended as maid of honor and Randy Austin served as best man.

Doug Hull, Dave Keyt and Dan Robbins were ushers.

Helen Herzinger provided organ music and Keith Johnson, Jerome, was soloist. The couple was honored at a reception immediately after the ceremony.

Guests were seated at tables accented in the bride's colors of blue and white. Floating mums in brassy snifters served as centerpieces.

The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake with candelabra lighting. The cake was baked and decorated by Carolyn Chojnacki, Jerome.

A fountain of water enhanced by a white wire fence decorated the room. Miniature goldfish, seashells and aquatic plants served as ornamentation.

Nancy Allman, Diane Fox, Nona Baldwin and Angie O'Connor served the guests. Mary Austin and Nancy Hull assisted with the gifts.

Lee Ann Boyd, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The bridegroom's parents hosted both a rehearsal dinner and a private reception after the ceremony at their home.

After a honeymoon trip to Sun Valley and the Stanley area, the couple resides in Twin Falls where the bridegroom is employed by Aslett Industries and the bride by John R. Howard and Associates, Realtors.

tricks unless West holds all four against him. Four in the East hand will be no trouble at all since in that case the 10 spot will be finessable.

Therefore, the careful declarer will win the first spade in his own hand and lead a low diamond.

West will be between Seylla and Charlybidis. If he goes right up with the ace of diamonds he will only have one diamond trick and South will make four diamonds, three hearts and two spades. If he ducks, dummy's queen will win. South will leave diamonds to knock out the ace of clubs and make his game with three club tricks.

Ask the Jacoobys

A Louisiana reader wants to know if there ever was a reward for being void of trumps.

The answer to this one is that in "Bridge" the first game of the Whist family that allowed for any bidding a player was given a small score in the honor column for "chicane" (notrumps) while "double chicagne" (both partners void) was given double that bonus.

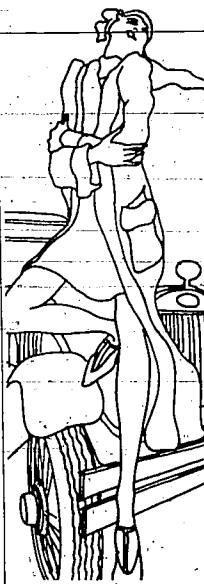

(Do you have a question for the Jacoobys? Write "Ask the Jacoobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It doesn't require any trouble at all to go set at three notrump. All South has to do is to win the spade lead in dummy and go right after diamonds. East will show out. West will take his ace and clear the spades and there will be no way for South to gather in nine tricks.

It is bad luck to find all four diamonds in the West hand, but a careful declarer won't be hurt by this bad luck. He will look over dummy and see that he can always score four diamond

Spanish police removal sought

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Pete Cennarus said Monday comments made to him by Basque separatist groups indicated their terrorist activities would cease if Spain removed Spanish police from the Basque province.

Cennarus said he wants to point out strongly at a meeting Thursday with representatives from the White House, the Department of State, Congress and the French and Spanish embassies that the violence is being provoked and created by the Spanish police.

Cennarus is leaving for Washington Wednesday and will meet with the group in the Rayburn House Office Building at 10 a.m. Thursday. An earlier report incorrectly said the meeting would be Wednesday.

He said if the Spanish police had not provoked such violence, "there never would have been a militant or separatist group called the ETA." Its formation was "the instinct of self-preservation."

Crackdown slows heroin traffic

BOISE (UPI) — A crackdown by local and federal drug enforcement officers on a north Idaho heroin ring has cut street traffic in heroin by 40 per cent in the Lewiston area, the Department of Law Enforcement announced today.

Arrests in the Lewiston area involved 11 individuals who were charged with federal and state charges of sale and or possession of heroin.

The department said charges of sale of heroin were filed against Frank Conover, Lewiston, and Lanny Adair, Lewiston. Cheryl Olson, Clarkston, Wash., was charged with the sale of heroin, possession of heroin and cocaine.

Charlene Flack, Lewiston, was charged with possession of heroin.

Conover and Flack pleaded guilty to the charges and are awaiting sentencing. Adair and Olson are awaiting trial.

Judges decision queried

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court has vacated a life sentence imposed on a man who pleaded guilty to robbery and ordered the Second District Judge John Maynard to reconsider it.

Phillip Gowin appealed his sentence to the high court, contending the judge abused his discretion in handing down the maximum sentence permitted by law. The Supreme Court agreed that Maynard abused his discretion because he based the sentence upon a clearly inadequate presentence report.

The presentence report cursorily noted that Gowin had four prior felony convictions but neglected to outline when or where they occurred, what offense was involved or what disposition resulted.

Hunting trip said unsuccessful

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus returned to the Statehouse today from an unsuccessful elk hunting trip with three old friends in the Orofino area.

"The snows of many winters turned up in my beard," Andrus said, when asked how he did on the five-day trip. "The elk are becoming more scarce and the hills are becoming steeper."

Although nobody in his party got an elk, he said, three others in the camp managed to bag bull elk.

Tax notes issued

BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon has issued $7 million in tax anticipation notes to put the state's general fund back into the black.

By law, Miss Moon can run the fund in the red for 30 days. Then she must issue the tax notes to cover the deficit until revenues enable her to redeem the notes.

Jury selection under way

WALLACE, Idaho (UPI) — Questioning of prospective jurors got underway Monday in the first degree murder trial of Thomas Creech, 24, accused in the 1974 slayings of two men near the southern Idaho community of Donnelly.

Creech's trial was transferred to the Silver Valley on a petition for a change of venue, granted by Judge J. Ray Durtishi, who agreed pre-trial publicity in the case probably would prevent selection of an impartial jury in the community of Cascade.

Durtishi transferred the proceedings here and will preside over the case himself.

Food stamp issue eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure plans to put before the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday a copy of every constituent letter — pro and con — he has received on food stamps.

Earlier this year, McClure asked his Idaho constituents for their views on food stamps and he said he received dozens of letters — most of them citing examples of abuses of the program.

"Since I have co-sponsored legislation to completely overhaul the food stamp program, it is in secret that I am somewhat critical of the present system," he said.

Cattlemen object to grazing cut plan

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Cattlemen's Association was seeking financial assistance from its members today to head off at the pass what the organization feels is a dangerous encroachment on grazing rights on public lands.

John Olson, executive secretary, said the Bureau of Land Management was recommending grazing cuts in the Challis area of 23 to 51 per cent to protect the wildlife and wild horses.

"We do not think that 23 to 51 per cent cuts in grazing rights is little to worry about; rather, we think it is a lot to worry about," he wrote in the association's monthly publication.

Olson questioned why stockmen in the Challis unit must take cuts as large as those recommended by the BLM to protect 450 head of "wild" horses.

He pointed out the Challis Unit of the Salmon-District of the BLM was selected as one of 212 sites in the West to determine grazing impact on other uses of the public lands.

Selection of the Challis site was "unfortunate" for Idaho cattlemen and "may very well set the stage for BLM grazing policies in all of the western states for all of the foreseeable future," Olson said.

He said the Challis unit was not "typical" of grazing units in the West. He said the area under study "is comprised of some of the steepest and dramatic terrain in Idaho and the rest of the country." "In just a few miles the elevation can increase from 3,000 feet to 10,000 feet and rainfall can vary as much as 20 inches per year," Olson said. "Some of the 'typical' uses besides domestic grazing include: big horn sheep, elk, deer, recreation, tourism, and a little old herd of 'wild horses' that number 450 plus."

Protect the pumpkins tonight

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area:
A few passing showers this evening, then clearing and colder tonight. Freezing temperatures likely with lows near 30. Patches of fog Wednesday morning. Mostly sunny and a little warmer with highs near 60. Probability of rainfall decreasing to less than 10 per cent Wednesday.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley:
Clearing and colder tonight with low temperatures 15 to 20. Sunny and a little warmer Wednesday with highs near 50. Probability of precipitation less than 10 per cent Wednesday.
Synopsis:
A cold front and its associated rain area moved through Magic Valley today and is expected to be followed by a temporary clearing trend tonight and Wednesday. A light freeze with low temperatures around 30 likely tonight and again Wednesday night.

The extended outlook is for another surge of rain about Thursday, another light freeze about Friday and Saturday mornings, but a clearing trend with warmer days Saturday and Sunday.

Soil temperatures will lower 5 to 10 degrees, resulting in readings at the four-inch depth near 50 degrees Wednesday and Thursday mornings. Potato harvesters will probably be in the field again Wednesday but bean combines will likely sit idle until at least the weekend.

Wise - Holtzman meet in third game

OAKLAND (UPI) — Rick Wise and the surprising Boston Red Sox, not the least bit awed by what has taken place to date, try to supply the knockout blow to the Oakland A's tonight and complete a sweep of the three-time World Champions in the American League Championship Playoffs.

The Red Sox, who won Saturday's first game in the best-of-five series on A's pitcher and the pitching of Luis Tiant and the second on home runs by old pros Carl Yastrzemski and Rico Petrocelli, are underdogs in tonight's game, which gets under way at 8:30 p.m. EDT, but are favored to take the series, even though it now has shifted to the A's home park.

Ken Holtzman, who lost the first game of the Series, is coming back in two days' rest to see if he can stop the Red Sox and keep the A's alive. If he and the A's are successful, then on Wednesday Vida Blue will face Tiant in the fourth game. Beyond that neither A's skipper Alvin Dark nor Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson cares to speculate about his pitching plans.

"We are planning on winning the third game," said Johnson, quickly adding "It's the only way we can go into the game. We have to feel we will win."

"I hope I am in a position to decide who will be my fifth game pitcher," said Dark. "Right now the only man I'm thinking about is Holtzman. I have a world of confidence in Ken. I'm sure he will do a good job. I'm glad to face them."

Holtzman pitched on two days' rest way back in May and was successful. He went six innings with no decision against the Chicago White Sox on May 3, when came back to beat the California Angels on May 6 with a 6-1 inning stult.

"I'll go out and work as hard as I can for as long as I can," said Holtzman, who has been very successful in post-season play the last two years.

"There is no way to tell now how I'm going to feel. I'll have to wait and see once the game gets started—I don't mind going to come back on short-notice. Heck, I've got all winter to rest my arm."

Wise, who won 19 games for the Red Sox during the regular season, will be working with nine days rest. In his case too much rest can be worse than not enough. It's his first post-season action ever but he says that shouldn't make a difference.

"I'll give it my best effort and hope it's good enough," he said. "More than that I can't make a prediction. I've pitched against the A's before and frankly, I'm glad to face them in this park than back home."

The difference between Fenway Park and the Coliseum is about as wide as it could be. While little Fenway is a hitter's park, especially with lefthanded pitchers, the Coliseum is a pitcher's paradise, with its spacious outfield and long aisles in left and right center.

The wall in left field at Fenway, according to captain Sal Bando, was what did the A's in in the first two games.

"We thought about that wall too much instead of ignoring it," said Bando.

STARTING PITCHER Ken Holtzman will come back from the two days rest to start for Oakland when the A's resume their series with Boston Tuesday night. He started the opener which Boston won. (UPI telephoto)

Morgan says he can steal Bucs series

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Joe Morgan doesn't believe the Pittsburgh Pirates will be able to stop him from stealing in the National League playoffs.

Morgan isn't just picking on the Pirates. He doesn't think anybody can stop him. The Cincinnati Reds' second baseman, who has stolen four bases in four tries in the first two games of the series, firmly believes he can steal off any pitcher — in baseball — simply because he has worked hard at perfecting his skill.

"They can't stop me," says Morgan. "because I work harder at stealing bases than they (the pitchers) do at holding people on base. In spring training I have the batting practice pitchers work on holding me on base, then I practice my starts. And I'm always studying pitchers, watching their moves to first base. If I put so much work into it I should have an advantage over the pitchers."

Unlike many players, Morgan, who has stolen all of his bases in this series off lefthanded pitchers, prefers lefties to right-handers when it comes to "demonstrating his speciality."

"I find it easier stealing off lefties because I can see every move they make," says Morgan. "If I can see everything going on it makes me a better runner. Actually, I'm not that fast. But I'm quicker than most other guys. After two steps I'm going at full speed. In a race I could never beat a guy like Lou Brock. But Lou doesn't get as big a lead as I do."

Morgan will get to see another left-hander Tuesday night in the third game of the championship series. John Candelaria, a rookie, will be pitching for the Pirates and Morgan, although he has never faced the youngster, has studied his moves from the bench.

"His move is not superior," Morgan admits. "I've never faced him in a game, but I've got my own ideas about what he can do. He pitched against us twice this year but I didn't play either time. I watched him closely from the bench and he impressed me as a pitcher but not with his pickoff move. He looks like a normal left-hander."

"I'm a hard guy to impress, though. Steve Carlton of the Phillies probably bothers me the most of the left-handers and Andy Messersmith of the Dodgers has the best move among the right-handers. But nobody bothers me very much. Eventually they have to throw the ball to the plate."

Morgan stole 67 bases this season, equalling his major league high, and was caught stealing only 10 times. He is the only member of the Reds allowed to steal whenever he wants, but his philosophy of stealing differs from many other players. At times his views on base stealing even conflict with those of Reds Manager Sparky Anderson.

"I don't like to steal bases just for the sake of stealing them," says Morgan. "At other times, I don't think it's necessary. Invariably you will pull a lot of muscles if you steal a lot of bases. Also, I play a position where there's a lot of contact. If I were to steal all the time, my legs would eventually be gone."

"I don't even look for a sign usually, but sometimes Sparky doesn't think I'm stealing enough and he'll give me a sign to go. He knows how I feel about stealing too much, though, and a lot of times he'll tell me not to go. The number of bases I steal doesn't excite me. Feeling that nobody can stop me. That gives me a thrill."

Olympic chief wants reports

MONTREAL (UPI) — International Olympic Committee chairman Lord Killianin says he's certain all installations will be ready for the 1976 Summer Olympics, but he has asked for weekly progress reports.

"I am fully confident that the Games will open on July 17, 1976 in Montreal," Killianin said Monday after a four-day inspection tour of the Olympic site.

"This is not to say we can all go home and relax, there is a great deal of work to be done and we must enjoy the fullest cooperation of everybody."

"But if we all work together, there is no doubt in my mind that everyone will know that Montreal and Canada have accomplished some of the greatest Games ever held."

Killianin said the only criticism he had was with communications between Montreal Olympic organizers and the IOC and the 21-nation General Association of International Federations.

"The lack of communication rests in Montreal," Killianin said. "If you're not informed you pick up every rumor."

The IOC head said he had asked Montreal organizers to forward a weekly progress report, detailing every structure which had been put in place.

Killianin said he had been a little concerned after the July visit to Montreal by IOC vice-president Herman van Karsbeek and technical director Harry Banks.

"When I looked at the plans then, I believed things were six weeks behind schedule. But the way things looked now, I believe they're caught up."

Killianin said he had assurances from Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau that the complex would be completed on schedule, despite the onset of winter, when the construction pace slows down.

Killianin said the GAIF executive, which also conducted a tour of the Olympic site this weekend, had no serious reservations about the technical aspects of the construction progress.

"Their views are the same as mine. But we must not let up for one moment," Killianin said.

Maravich injured

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Pete Maravich, the leading scorer last year for the New Orleans, suffered strained knee ligaments in an exhibition game against the Denver Nuggets Sunday and may miss the team's first Louisiana Superdome appearance, a Jazz spokesman said Monday.

"He is a doubtful starter for the game against Kansas City," the spokesman said, referring to Wednesday night's Superdome doubleheader pitting San Antonio of the ABA against Atlanta and New Orleans against Kansas City.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1975
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now envision expanding your activities. Get the desired information, although it is not yet time to start the new ventures. Be on the alert for new acquaintances who can give you any needed knowledge.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to make changes of all sorts but these should be studied carefully before you do, or you could make the wrong ones.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be thorough in handling your responsibilities today and get good results. Keep promises. Mate is moody, so do not lose your temper.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You understand better how to become more successful, but don't argue with an associate. Be firm and sidestep an enemy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk over with fellow workers how best to "handle" work and learn to do so intelligently. Take exercise to be stronger, less nervous.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Engage in recreation but don't neglect some important responsibility. You have to work at pleasing mate, but it will be worth the trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Home and family need more attention and you should now devote yourself to such. Some new venture is in the offing, but needs much study.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have much shopping, keeping of appointments, chores to do, so get an early start. Drive carefully. Avoid one who tries to deter progress.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keep busy at practical matters and improve your financial position quickly. Learn to what a business expert suggests for your betterment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Improve your home, place of work so that you can become more efficient and comfortable. Improve your good looks, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Complete duties left unfinished so that you clear the slate for more important activities later on. Reach better understanding with mate.

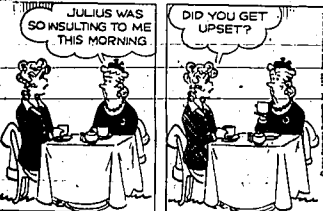

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be gregarious. One friend in particular can be of great service to you. Take time for that important business matter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handle any public or civic affairs more conscientiously today and get better results. Pay bills now. Don't take any chances with your credit.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have tremendous thoughts and will become interested in national and international affairs early. The education should be ample and slanted along lines that will fit your progeny for government work in particular, or for the clergy, teaching, etc. There is much ability at changing existing conditions, since the willpower is great, the willingness to work pronounced. Teach early to be tactful. Give a good cultural background, spiritual training.

Maybe you've heard about that bird called the homed grebe. Mostly, what it eats is feathers. In fact, 60 per cent of its diet is feathers. The rest of what it eats is fish. And the science boys finally have figured out that it eats all those feathers to strain out the fish bones.

THE NAME "Fraser" originally in France meant "hairdresser."

IT'S SAID none of the 50 states are without at least a few wild bobcats.

WAS NOT so many years ago in Thailand that any girl who was still unmarried at age 30 had the right to apply to the government for a husband.

KIDNEY
 Q: "If a surgeon takes out my left kidney, what happens to my right kidney?"
 A: It gets considerably bigger to pull double duty.

WHAT DO YOU want engraved on your tombstone? That great-western painter Frederick Remington said all he wanted as his epitaph was: "He knew the horse."

QUICK, NAME that red-haired voyager from Europe who is credited with discovering the New World. Leif Ericson, you say? Maybe, don't know. Do know that Christopher Columbus had red hair, however.

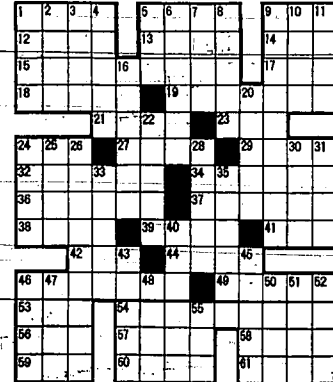

LOVE AND WAR.
 Pregnancy is usually named as the most common reason why some couples choose to elope rather than to marry conventionally. But our Love and War man, who also has looked into that matter, says there's another reason: When a lad and his maid still have doubts, they're apt to jump to the wedding to get it over with. That notion of struggling with uncertainties during the days or weeks or months of waiting is too tough to face.

REMEMBER, it's against the law in Kansas to eat rattlesnake meat in public... DID I TELL you the population of New York City travels more miles by elevator than by subway?... IF ALL THE ICE in Antarctica were to melt, the water would rise right up to the Statue of Liberty's nose.

Minidoka board has 4 seats open

RUPERT — Four supervisors will be elected for the Minidoka Soil and Water Conservation District Nov. 4.

Three supervisors plan to run for reelection, while the fourth incumbent whose seat is on the ballot will not run.

Bernard Scott announced that he will not remain on the board. Assistant Supervisor Herman Hergenroder has taken out a petition for a board position.

Incumbents Howard Icebice, Blaine Hodges and Theodore Fujiki also have taken out nominating petitions.

The election will be held at the district office from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 4. Petitions are available there and must be returned by noon Oct. 28.

Candidates must own or operate farm land in Minidoka County. Residents of unincorporated land in Minidoka County are eligible to vote in the election.

More competition for Gem potatoes

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho potato processing industry has come through a tough year and can expect increasing competition in Oregon and Washington, according to executives of several Idaho potato processing firms.

Gerald Herrick, vice president of Ore-Idaho Foods, Inc., said the recession reduced buying of frozen foods in retail markets about 10 to 15 percent.

He added the Idaho potato industry is still in a strong position, since the nationwide spud crop will be down slightly this year.

"Future expansion of acreage to provide higher yields is necessary if we are to compete with neighboring states," he said.

Occult draws rap for cow mutilations

DENVER (UPI) — Michael Warnke, a former member of a California satanic cult, says the more than 170 suspected cases of cattle mutilations in Colorado are probably the work of devil worshippers.

"I don't think the mutilations are accidental or being done by other animals," said Warnke, who was a member of The Brotherhood from the age of 12 until he was 20.

"Based on the fact of missing parts and the frequency of mutilations, I would guess it is occultic activity. And all occultic things stem from Satan," he said.

Since last spring the cattle mutilation cases were reported in 19 Colorado counties and in many cases, the animals' sex organs were found missing and their ears and tongues amputated.

Warnke, 29, who is now a deacon in the Holy Apostolic Church, said members of his satanic group sacrificed dogs during ceremonies and mixed the animals' blood with wine for "communion."

He said members were sometimes required to perform sexual acts in front of other members and sacrifice a finger or give a half cup of their own blood for the service.

Dairymen set meet

POCATELLO — The annual meeting of the Idaho Dairymen's Association will be Nov. 6-7 at the Holiday Inn, according to president Alvin Smutny, Twin Falls.

All 4,000 active dairy farmers in the state are members of the IDA, Smutny says, and are invited to attend. The program for the meeting is built around the question, "Is There A Better Way to Market Idaho Milk?"
