Ford unhurt in crash

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — At the intersection which the police neglected to guard, President Ford's yellow automobile coming on collision course, braced himself and said, "Be careful!"
Secret Service Agent Andrew Hutch, at the wheel of the $300,000 bulletproof limousine, swerved the steering wheel left but the 1973 yellow Buick crashed into the right front fender of Ford's car.
"I landed on top of the President," said Fredrick K. Belbel, Connecticut State Republican chairman and Ford's host. Ford said he suffered no harm: "I feel great."

No one else suffered physical injury, not the six teen-agers — four male and two female — police found in the yellow car; not Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn., the third man in the limousine rear compartment with Ford and Belbel; not Hutter nor Ernest Luzania, his fellow agent in the right front seat.
It was 23 days after one woman pointed a pistol at Ford in Sacramento and 22 days after a second woman fired and missed Ford with a second pistol in San Francisco in incidents that excited national concern over presidential security. And the Hartford Police Department admitted it had done wrong.
No policeman had been guarding the intersection of Market and Talcott Streets.
Police Chief Hugo Masini said, "Apparently the driver had a green light and apparently nobody was blocking the intersection" to clear the way for the presidential motorcade taking Ford from a GOP fundraising speech to the airport. Masini ordered a department inquiry.

Minico accidents claim 2 lives

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer
PAUL — Two men were killed in separate accidents Tuesday in Minidoka County.
Leslie Thomas Harper, 82, Paul, died when a car struck him about 11:15 a.m. Tuesday.
Harper was walking across Highway 25 about a half mile west of Paul when he was hit.
Jack Garland Smith, 29, Rupert, was killed shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday when the pickup truck in which he was riding was hit by a Union Pacific train about a mile west of Minidoka.
Thomas Mackey, 47, Burley, was driving the pickup. Mackey was listed in fair condition at Minidoka Memorial Hospital today.
Harper was struck by a car driven by Kim E. Vandever, 17, Heyburn.
A Minidoka County sheriff said Harper and his son, Larry, were walking from their home to a loaded beef truck parked on the other side of the highway.
Miss Vandever saw the two pedestrians and honked her horn. The younger Harper stepped back, but his father did not.

The driver applied her brakes and swerved. The older man then apparently saw the car and stopped.
The car struck him, knocking him about 17 feet. He died instantly. The car went on to clip the back of the parked truck and hit a tree.
The deputy said Miss Vandever's speed apparently was not excessive. It was estimated at 40 miles per hour.
Mackey's pickup was hit by a four engine train going east.
Engineer D. E. Perkins, Pocatello, told the investigating deputy that the pickup pulled onto the track from the north and it either stalled or the driver tried to back it up after seeing the train.
Perkins said the car was only 1,000 feet away. He applied the brakes, but the train smashed into the passengers' side of the door.
Both Smith and Mackey were thrown from the pickup as it rolled, one lying on each side of the pickup where it came to rest 84½ feet away.
The deputy said Smith probably was killed upon impact. The pickup apparently rolled over his body.

After 'awful headache,' Larry Ek improving

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer
NEW YORK — "I feel a lot better now. I had an awful headache."
—Cerebral palsy victim Larry Ek, recuperating at St. Barnabas Hospital in the Bronx after the implant last week of an electronic stimulator next to his brain, is getting out of bed to walk a little every day. Slowly, he is learning to increase his muscular control.
Ek received the implant last Wednesday. Three days ago the electronic stimulator, designed to prod brain cells into exerting increased control over his tightened muscles, was turned on at a low voltage.
Since then, Ek has been able to point a finger, he could not straighten before. His speech has also improved, although the improvement is not yet consistent. He is able to speak a few words with almost perfect clarity, but then the effort becomes too much and his speech becomes garbled again.

"You do understand that this is going to be a slow process," said Ek's mother, Ada, who is staying with him during the recuperative stage.
"You're going to see improvement all the time, but it is going to be slow."
Ek said the stimulator, although connected, has only been turned to half the voltage that it will eventually reach.
"They expect me to be able to use my hands and feet a little more," Ek said, "Right now I feel like I'm glad I did it. A couple of days ago I just wanted to get back home."
Two or three times a day Ek is getting out of bed and walking a few dozen steps. His will to work has impressed the nurses on his ward, who have told him he has shown improvement.
"The nurses can't believe it," he said. "They say 'Are you sure you had an operation?' I say, 'I think so.'" Ek expects to be at St. Barnabas for at least three weeks, mostly working by himself to learn muscle control. He wants to come back to Twin Falls as soon as he can.

"I just don't like hospitals," he said. "I want to get out as soon as I can."
Ek has received lots of mail and says he reads it all. He said he was especially pleased by letters sent by the children of Bickel School.
"Tell them thank you for sending the cards," he said. "I got a whole batch of cards from Bickel School."
Ek also asked that his "pool buddies" at the Barrel Inn near his home write to him.
"I'm sure he'll show improvement before he leaves," Mrs. Ek said. He is more relaxed — more relaxed than he's been for awhile... It's kind of nerve wracking, but it's a lot better than it was when he was under. I'm just happy that he's getting along as well as he is."

Henry defies House Cyprus info demand

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was decided to defy a subpoena by the House Intelligence Committee, for secret documents on Cyprus despite fears that the White House will not stand firmly behind him.
State Department officials said a formal letter from Kissinger to Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., committee chairman, will be delivered today, the deadline for compliance with the subpoena.
The officials said Kissinger will cite the President's constitutional right to control foreign policy even though it is uncertain that President Ford will support the secretary in such a clear-cut confrontation with Congress.
The officials, presumably reflecting Kissinger's attitude, complained about the tendency of Ford's aides at the White House to "cave in" to Congress and not protect the eroding foreign policy powers of the executive branch.
Pike has vowed to ask the House to cite "someone" for contempt if the Cyprus documents are not turned over to his committee. By a vote of 10 to 3, the committee agreed last week to request that the House endorse the demand for the documents.
But there were intimations out of the committee Tuesday that Pike might seek to negotiate a compromise with the White House, particularly in view of indications that Kissinger did not have Ford's unqualified backing on the issue.

Last month, Pike stopped short of a complete confrontation with the White House over his demands for documents from the Central Intelligence Agency. In that case, a compromise was achieved that avoided a court test.
But Kissinger's aides seem aroused enough about the issue to fight it all the way to the courts, provided the President does not again decide to work out a deal with his colleagues in the House.
Pike's committee is seeking memos of dissent that were sent to Kissinger from Thomas Boyatt, the State Department's Cyprus desk officer during the coup there in 1974 and the subsequent Turkish invasion.

Portuguese mutiny ends

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Mutinous troops ended their occupation of a key military base in the northern city of Porto today amid chants of "victory, victory" from a crowd of leftist outside.

The soldiers, belonging to the army's northern division, agreed to leave the base after army chief Gen. Carlos Fabiao promised them they would not be punished and said they could remain together as a unit.

Soldiers from 18 other units who joined them in their protest also left the barracks.

The rebellious troops went to the artillery base after being ousted from their own base by loyalist commanders.

Under the agreement with Fabiao, the troops and their school will be moved to a new site.

Their former barracks in the center of Porto will be turned into a base for a northern military security force to be known as the April 25th Battalion, Fabiao said.

While leftists cheered Fabiao's concessions to the mutineers as a victory, many of the demands of the troops were not met.

They had asked for the ouster of northern military district commander Brig. Antonio Pires Veloso, a return to their own barracks, and an end to the purge of leftist troops from the army.

The drivers school mutinied eight days ago when two leftist officers and five enlisted men were transferred to the school. Troops loyal to Veloso then evicted all soldiers from the facilities.

Fabiao told newsmen an inquiry would be held to investigate mutiny and it would issue its report within 10 days.

Forest fire evidence sought

EAGLE, Colo. (UPI) — Forest Service officials are trying to gather evidence for a suit against the persons responsible for a forest fire which caused more than $7-million damage in the White River National Forest.

"We feel we have a pretty good handle on the responsible persons," Severson said. "We will be taking it to court if we think we can make a case out of it."

The fire burned 4,438 acres of timber after it broke out in an elk hunters' camp Saturday afternoon.

"The fire is under control but it is not completely out yet," Severson said. "Fire crews will remain on the scene until the fire is extinguished, but many of the firefighters were sent home this morning."

The fire, centered in an area 16 miles northwest of Eagle, was the worst on national forest land in Colorado since records began in 1883, Severson said. About 475 professional firefighters, nine bulldozers and several aircraft were used to battle the blaze.

The costs of fighting the fires, in this case about $600,000.

The blaze, brought under control Tuesday afternoon, burned an estimated $6,712,000 worth of aspen, spruce and pine.

FRIENDS COMFORT Pat Lee, left, after her release with a message for officers surrounding a Lake Tahoe resort. She was held hostage for part of the nine-hour siege Tuesday. A federal agent who served in Vietnam with a mate identified as Ken Meller, 34, talked him into surrendering (UPI)

Hostage released

KINGS BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — An ex-Marine suspected of robbing a bank and killing a policeman held three persons hostage but was talked into surrendering by a federal agent who served with him in Vietnam, ending a nine-hour siege.

Ken Meller, 34, was held without bail for investigation of kidnaping and assault with a deadly weapon.

Sheriff's Inspector Mel McDougal negotiated with Meller throughout the ordeal Tuesday at a Lake Tahoe resort beach club and described the atmosphere in the building as "very casual."

He said Bob Berry, 21, the last hostage released, watched the baseball World Series while the talks proceeded.

McDougal was asked if he was afraid Meller might kill him.

"Yes, when he had the rifle pointed at me. But he said he didn't want to kill anyone."

Meller agreed to surrender after talking to federal firearms agent Larry Clendinen, who served with him in Vietnam. The agent was flown from San Diego to Meller's request.

The suspect released beach club manager Dennis Wahn, 27, and Pat Malley, a plumber, earlier in the afternoon.

Placer County Sheriff William Scott described Meller as an electronic technician who served two tours of duty in Vietnam with the Marines before receiving an honorable discharge in 1969.

He said Meller was from "the East" and had come to northern California "a few weeks ago."

Scott said Meller rambled on in his discussions with McDougal about a broken love affair, his life in the Marines, and his family background.

Shortly after holding up at the beach club, a man answered the telephone and told UPI: "I want to get my own future resolved ... I am not a publicity seeker. Thank you for calling."

McDougal said the turning point in the negotiations came when Clendinen arrived.

Earlier, officers said Meller nervously shifted the rifle muzzle toward the hostages, Alvin Lovett, a psychologist, also talked to Meller.

Following a car and foot chase, about 50 police officers and FBI agents surrounded the octagonal lake-front building at the Innisfree Beach and Cabana Club, a recreation complex for condominium owners at the high Sierra lake.

Pat Lee, a bikini-clad club member, was briefly held hostage but was released with a note from her captor asking for negotiations.

Police, said Meller, wearing a ski mask, allegedly robbed a bank of about $4,200 in Round Hill, Nev., fatally shot a Nevada Highway Patrol officer and then forced a motorist in a van truck to drive him to Kings Beach, a resort community about 30 miles around the lake from the bank.

The Nevada Highway Patrol identified the dead officer as Gary Gifford, 29, a six-year veteran of the force. Gifford was found shot in the head about five miles from the bank.

IRS checks Idaho bank donations

BOISE (UPI) — An officer of the Bank of Idaho has confirmed that the Internal Revenue Service is auditing the bank in connection with political contributions.

Joseph A. Moore, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said Tuesday the audit was in connection with contributions made by the bank during 1972 and 1973 for which the bank took deductions on its income tax returns.

Moore said the amount of contributions in question over the period of the audit is approximately $5,000.

Appropriate governmental agencies have been notified concerning the deduction of these contributions and is assisting the inquiry, Moore said.

Bank of Idaho is a subsidiary of Western Bancorporation, Los Angeles. Another subsidiary, First National Bank of Oregon, also is under investigation for tax irregularities for political contributions.

Ralph J. Vess, Western board president, said the probe of First National developed from an investigation of the Bank of Idaho.

Ford, limousine passengers unhurt

"It was a simple accident," a Secret Service agent at the scene said. But at Hartford's Bradley International Airport, while four policemen shielded the dented right side of the limousine from photographers, a Hartford police official rubbed his hands and faced his President.

"Mr. President, I'm sorry. I'm so sorry," he said.

Ford put his right hand on the shoulder of the police official, whose chest had sank nearly to his chest.

"Don't worry about it," Ford said, smiling, and inquired about the condition of those in the other car.

At a Hartford police station, officers questioned and released James Salamites, 19, of Meriden, driver of the other car. They gave him a blood test to determine alcoholic content. Police spokesman Gordon Damon said he was not charged and "may well be innocent of any charge."

Salamites emerged from the questioning and said, "It was a very unfortunate incident, and I am glad that nobody, including the President, got hurt."

The police pointed the finger at themselves. Snid Damon: "It appears we had no policeman at the intersection. Local police were responsible for security at the intersection."

"I don't see that the other driver did anything wrong. I am convinced it was an accident," said Lt. Thomas Grant Jr., who headed the police investigation.

An hour before the accident Ford stood in front of 1,500 persons at the GOP dinner in the Hartford Civic Center and joked about Hartford traffic.

"Trying to drive into Hartford is a fascinating experience," he said. He ticked off the underpasses and overpasses, the cloverleaves and the "on ramps and off ramps." "A motorist in Hartford, he said, has the same woe as Democrats in Congress — "No matter which way you go, it's wrong."

The Republican audience whooped in laughter. Ford's face dripped sweat when he emerged from the Civic Center but he was grinning, having raised some $130,000 for the 1976 GOP campaign. He paused at the doorway and shook the hands of all the police near the car.

Less than a minute later, as the limousine — a police cruiser ahead and the Secret Service open-top limousine behind — sped down narrow, ill-lit Talcott Street toward Market, Hartford's main downtown street, persons in the Ford motorcade took it for granted each intersection was blocked by a policeman.

It is always done. But not in Hartford Tuesday night.

Police said the yellow car had the green light. They said they also were investigating why no police were at the intersection in the 300-yard-long stretch of Talcott leading to Market.

Brevity not a winner

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — President Ford Tuesday night congratulated four winners of a Republican party-sponsored essay contest on the subject "What I Would Say if I Were President."

Rate hike hearings Monday

BOISE (UPI) — The Public Utilities Commission will hold hearings Monday on an application from Idaho Power Company to increase rates by 26 per cent and from Intermountain Gas Company for increases to bring in $3.9 million.

The commissioners will start the Idaho Power hearing at 9:30 a.m. and set aside time at the beginning of members of the public to make comments.

The remainder of the hearing will be for the purpose of hearing direct testimony and cross-examination of the commission staff and intervenors.

The Intermountain Gas hearing on the request to raise rates to generate additional revenues of $3.9 million will begin at 4 p.m.

The firm contends the increase "coupled" with refunds ordered earlier by the Federal Power Commission, would be sufficient to cover an increase in the price of Canadian gas beginning Nov. 1.

The application notes the overall increase will be five percent with a 3.3 percent increase for residential users.

Building site

THIS PARCEL of land located on 12th and D Streets was donated by the city of Rupert for construction of an Adult Development Services Center. The center's board of directors has $20,000 from the state legislature and $5,000 from Minidoka County toward the construction.

Building scheduled in Rupert

By SHANE O'NEILL

Time-News writer
RUPERT—A 1,000 square-foot building in Rupert to house a program for handicapped adults is being planned by the Adult and Child Development Center.

The program is expected to begin late this week. The building is being planned to upgrade facilities available to the handicapped. The Adult and Child Development Center here is an adjunct of the Health and Welfare Department program for Region V, headquartered in Twin Falls.

Center Supervisor Mike Bringhurst said the board hopes Cassia County will provide the $5,000 still needed to begin construction on the building. A request was made in August, but no action has been taken by county commissioners.

The Idaho legislature appropriated $20,000 to the Minidoka County in 1972 and that cash became available recently if the local area provided the land and $10,000 more. Rupert donated the land. Minidoka County commissioners approved $5,000 toward the local cash figure in July. Both the land deed and the $5,000 check were forwarded to the Department of Public Works.

Two recently-hired staff members will complete home visits and reports this week. The center plans to begin some evening social groups immediately, with other programs to follow.

The services will focus on "improving the handicapped person's capability to provide for himself and to function at his maximum level of ability in his home, neighborhood, activities, work and community," Bringhurst said.

Services will include psychology, social work, medical, education, speech and hearing and vocational assessment. They are intended for those not at the level served by the Magic Valley Rehabilitation Service, which offers work evaluation, work adjustment training and job placement.

Bringhurst said the center has listed 32 handicapped people in Cassia County and 35 in Minidoka County from public health records. The oldest is 64.

Most are retarded, Bringhurst said. Several also have physical problems. The child development center is located in the old armory building north of the canal in Rupert. The City of Rupert donated use of the building.

The board of directors raised $4,000 in contributions and labor and additional materials were donated for renovation and expansion of the building, which opened in 1972. It has a staff of nine people, all of which will have some duties with the adult program.

Bringhurst said only limited services can be provided to handicapped adults in the present facility. Some have been moved to boarding homes in Twin Falls.

Others are placed at the Idaho State School and Hospital in Nampa.

Most are referred to social adjustment training to prepare them for more advanced programs. Severely handicapped adults have a day activity program offered in conjunction with the adult services center to provide socialization, parental relief and "the highest level of functioning possible to prevent regression," Bringhurst explained.

Bringhurst said, "Many adult handicapped individuals... are currently involved in no activities and are receiving no services which would help them to improve themselves."

He called the Adult Development Services Center "a very real and urgent need."

Magic Valley judges skeptical; juvenile records remain secret.

By GORDON JUDD

Time-News writer
TWIN FALLS—A sampling of Magic Valley judges shows most are skeptical about publishing names of juvenile offenders as a means of deterring crime.

The question arose when magistrates in Idaho Falls, Mountain Home and Pocatello began releasing names of juvenile offenders convicted of serious crimes earlier this year.

Under Idaho law, the judge has the choice of keeping juvenile records confidential. In practice, most juvenile records have been routinely closed.

A sampling of Valley magistrates shows that none favors making names of juvenile offenders available in every case. Most would permit publication of records in serious cases, however.

Magistrate J. Paul Smith who conducts juvenile proceedings in Twin Falls County has mixed feelings about making the records of juveniles available in most cases. "Although it is possible that making the names of juvenile offenders public might have some deterring effect in certain cases, I don't favor this practice," Judge Smith said.

He was joined by Magistrate Russell Shaud, Jerome County, who said, "I don't believe in publishing the names of juveniles for a first offense."

"I feel most juveniles are entitled to 'one mistake' without having their names made public," Shaud said.

"For a violent crime or a 'real serious offense' I allow publication even for a first offense," Shaud said. He also allows publishing the names of juveniles convicted of a second offense.

A similar position was taken by Cassia County Magistrate George Grana.

"I would only allow names to be published in cases involving serious felonies at present," he said. "I am waiting to see the results of what the magistrates in Bennequin County are doing."

Although he presently does not allow use of juvenile names, Gooding County Magistrate Charles Shaw said, "I am looking into this matter."

He declined to say which way he is leaning, but would say "I am not in favor of being made to feel that he is a criminal."

1974 personal income increases in Gem State

TWIN FALLS— Idaho was one of only 15 states which experienced an increase in real personal income in 1974. This is one of the conclusions drawn by the quarterly First Security Bank Newsletter distributed this week, according to Kenneth J. Newman, vice president and manager.

Although personal income increased in 47 of the 50 states, increases in the consumer price index wiped out the gain in real income in all but 15 of them.

Personal income in Idaho in 1974, at $3,929 million, has increased in one year by $558 million or 16.6 per cent. When adjusted for the 11 per cent increase in the consumer price index there was an increase in real personal income of 5.6 per cent.

On a per capita basis personal income increased in Idaho by 13.2 per cent, to $4,918, an increase in real income of 2.2 per cent.

By 1974, the report continues, Idaho ranked second among the states in percentage increase of total personal income in the year and well above the national average increase in real income and in per capita income.

A major factor in the increase was the significant growth in income from processing of agricultural products, plus a substantial increase in employment in almost all categories. Personal income from nonfarm sources which had increased by 10.3 per cent nationally, was increased by 13.4 per cent in Idaho.

In this category Idaho was fourth among the states.

Personal income nationally in 1974 increased by $97.5 billion, 2.3 per cent. After adjustment for the increase in the consumer price index real personal income declined by 1.7 per cent nationally.

Wages and salaries and other labor income in Idaho represented 59.1 per cent of total personal income, well below the national figure of 70.22 per cent. Net farm income in Idaho represented 15.3 per cent of the total, well above the national average of 2.44 per cent.

The agricultural industries accounted for 21.34 per cent of the total income in Idaho. Manufacturing, although increasing substantially, was well below that of the nation. Contract construction, transportation and utilities were well above the national average.

Trade, wholesale and retail, contributed 15.65 per cent of total income in Idaho and was slightly below the national average of 16.50 per cent.

Government represented 16.4 per cent of total income from major industrial sources in Idaho, compared to 17.6 per cent nationally, according to the Newsletter.

We're traders, not suitors

The United States has a golden opportunity to drive a tough trade bargain with the Russians...

Soviet agricultural officials say a drought has hit wide sections of that country's crop producing areas.

While there had been earlier hints of crop losses to dry weather, the admission of widespread crop reductions has led to an estimate that the Soviet grain production will fall 45 million tons short of the 215 million tons the nation needs.

The rest will have to be purchased abroad, and no doubt the Kremlin traders have their eyes on American bumper crops of corn and wheat.

This gives the U.S. an excellent opportunity to drive a shrewd Yankee bargain, unless the detente-at-any-price philosophy interferes.

For instance, the U.S. might start by selling its grain at a fair market price, one high enough to provide American farmers a decent return.

Then that money can be used to purchase Soviet oil, perhaps at something below prevailing exorbitant prices set by the OPEC nations.

If the U.S. has something the Soviets really need, then we are in a better position to lean on the Russians on other diplomatic matters.

For instance, the U.S. might be in a stronger position to demand strict adherence to the terms of the Helsinki summit treaty or maintenance of a "keep your nose out of the Middle East" posture.

Perhaps mutual interdependence of the Soviet and American economies will give further incentive to press mutual arms limitations, mutual reduction of military forces in Europe and putting the brakes on nuclear weapons buildup.

If any sort of deal is worked out with the Soviets, they should understand that if they don't stick to their end of the bargain the U.S. will keep its grain and they can do without.

If the situation were reversed; we know who would be required to pay in full.

If the U.S. acts more like a trader than a diplomatic suitor, detente can become a two-way street.

Leadership may be key

NEW YORK — In 1888, when Lord Bryce wrote his classic volumes on "The American Commonwealth," he thought America was sailing "a summer sea" and setting a course for responsible liberty that would be a model for the world.

Now Irving Kristol and Nathan Glazer have produced a thoughtful and troubling tenth anniversary issue of "The Public Interest," which looks at "The American Commonwealth since 1976" and finds that the seas are stormy and the outlook for liberty and democracy are bleak and distressing.

"What have we learned?" Daniel P. Moynihan asks in his introduction to this provocative analysis of our first 200 years. We have learned—alas—he suggests,—that neither liberty nor democracy is prospering in the world, that neither would seem to have a future as auspicious as their past.

The most important fact about the American political experiment almost a century after Lord Bryce's summer seas, Moynihan says, is that the world in general has rejected our democratic model and turned away from our course.

Bryce thought that America's institutions were the answer to mankind's longings, "towards which, as by a law of fate, the rest of civilized mankind are forced to move."

Moynihan, now our ambassador to the United Nations, former U.S. ambassador to India, and the hapless presidential nominee today, concludes rather sadly that Bryce was wrong.

"To the contrary," he says, "liberal democracy on the American model tends to the condition of the monarchy in the 19th century: a holdover form of government, one which persists in isolated or peculiar places here and there, and may even serve well enough for special circumstances, but which has little or no relevance to the future. It is where the world was, not where it is going."

The authors of this remarkable "Public Interest" survey of our history — Robert Nisbet, Martin Diamond, Nathan Glazer, Irving Kristol, Samuel Huntington, Seymour Lipset, James Q. Wilson, Aaron Wildavsky, and Daniel Bell — are not casting far or wide when they are trying to define where we are 200 years after the Declaration, and where we're going. They ask awkward questions.

Has popular democracy gone too far? Have our expectations outrun our resources? Have the spirit of protest, the muckraking impulse to expose got out of hand? Will life bear in any society all this endless psychological analysis, when the old faith and values of the Republic in Bryce's days are gone?

On the whole, their answers are not reassuring. They see the decline of unity and even of patriotism in the nation; the erosion of respect for parents, teachers, and all the other old values of the past. Clearly the predominant trends of the last generation trouble them and make them anxious about the future of democracy and even the security of the Republic.

Sam Huntington, for example, notes the predominant trends of the 1960s: the challenges to the authority of established political, social and economic institutions. The reaction against the concentration of power in the executive branch of the federal government. The emergence of public interest lobbying groups with their increased concern for the rights of minority groups; blacks, Chicanos, and women.

And a pervasive criticism of those who possess or are even thought to possess excessive wealth or power. In short, the spirit of protest, the spirit of equality, and the impulse to expose and correct inequities, much of it good and long overdue, are abroad in the land, but at the same time almost seem to be overloading the democratic process, and bringing the edifice, particularly New York, to the verge of bankruptcy.

When we search for the answer to this pickle, as all thoughtful men and women are doing these days, some conclude that the American political system is wrong, others that the whole capitalist system is wrong, but the guess here, as Lord Bryce suggested in the first place, is that the fault, and maybe the remedy, lies in the quality of our leadership.

JAMES RESTON

When Bryce wrote the American Commonwealth almost a hundred years ago, he said that "perhaps no form of government needs great leaders so much as democracy."

Bryce saw America as the presiding nation in a divided and troubled world. He saw it in terms of centuries and continents, looking to the essential power and yearning morality of the New World.

"What is left if it were this is gone?" Moynihan asked, as if this so much of our age rather the beginning of a new era. Who is to say, in any given time, H.G. Wells asked, that there are any endings to human aspiration?

"This man," Wells wrote, "this wonderful child of old earth, who is ourselves in the measure of our hearts and minds, does but begin his adventure now. This planet and its subjugation is but the dawn of his existence."

"He will bring his solvent intelligence to bear upon the riddles of his interaction, transmit, jealousy and every passion, control his own interests."

"Sometimes in the dark sleepless solitudes of night, one ceases to be so-and-so, one ceases to bear a proper name, forgets one's quarrels and vanities, forgives and understands one's enemies and oneself, as one forgives and understands the quarrels of little children..."

So some people are thinking about the philosophy of the coming age, including the editors of The Public Interest. On the whole they are pessimistic but as they say, nothing would please them more than the future discovery that their anxieties were exaggerated.

"You've got to be firm, Mr. Colby."

Ford yields to lobbying

WASHINGTON — President Ford yielded to the persuasive lobbying of West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and other European leaders in agreeing to attend an economic summit of key Western nations in France next month.

The President's own economic advisers originally opposed the meeting, suspecting that the Allied heads of government were bent on imposing their ideas of monetary reform upon the United States. Treasury Secretary William Simon was especially skeptical.

Consequently, Ford recruited former Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, now with the Bretton Corp. based in San Francisco, to travel to Bonn, Paris and London to explore and "help crystallize" the issues that might be discussed at a top-level conference of the major industrial states of West Germany, France, Britain, Italy and Japan, with Canada as a probable addition, according to administration sources.

The meeting will be Nov. 15 to 17 at a site in France to be selected by President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, who is looking for a quiet secluded chateau somewhere outside of Paris. Giscard wants the meeting to be as informal and free of protocol as possible, officials here said.

The idea for such a conference originated with Giscard, who wanted to emphasize monetary matters. Ford's economic advisers opposed it at that time.

However, when the President attended the NATO summit conference in Brussels last May, Schmidt took the lead in urging that the key nations meet to bring into better alignment their policies for dealing with the twin problems of inflation and recession, and to coordinate other economic activity, including how to cope with rising oil prices.

A trained economist, Schmidt made a compelling argument for greater co-operation. Again, when Ford stopped in Bonn en route to the European security conference in Helsinki in late July, Schmidt pressed his case and through him had the President's agreement. The German leader virtually announced plans to hold the meeting at a joint news conference with Ford.

In Helsinki, though, U.S. officials minimized the prospect of such a meeting, reportedly because Simon and others back in Washington still opposed it.

Schmidt continued to voice his concern about U.S. policies, on which he felt economic recovery of Allied nations greatly depended.

In mid-September, Ford dispatched Shultz to Europe to begin preliminary discussions with Schmidt and Giscard, who held the former Cabinet officer in high regard. Last weekend, Shultz firmpled plans to schedule the summit in a series of discussions.

U.S. officials admit that this summit will be more in the nature of a lofty "hall session," but quickly add, "with a purpose." It differs from other summits, they say, in that the heads of government will not negotiate or consummate any deals in the French meeting. They will concentrate on their own domestic economic progress and discuss ways in which they might better put their economies in order.

These officials stress the interdependence of the major industrial economies, and the summit, as State Department counselor Helmut Sonnenfeldt put it Friday, will provide "a fresh impulse and a fresh impetus" to courses of action now in progress to deal with inflation and economic well-being.

The role of Shultz in the conference itself remains undisclosed. Some officials believe the President may want him close at hand as a consultant. But the conferees have agreed that the principals will be supported in the meetings by only two aides. At the moment, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Simon are expected to sit with Ford.

Guerrilla challenge

Christian Science Monitor

The latest Montonero guerrilla operation in Argentina is at once evidence of how daring and strong the guerrillas have become and indication of the ineffectiveness of government to deal with their challenge.

In the incident, a force of 50 or more guerrillas attacked an Army garrison in the northern city of Formosa, some 500 miles from Buenos Aires, and fought a bitter skirmish in which casualties were high on both sides. They then escaped by fleeing in a jetliner belonging to the state airline which had earlier been hijacked by colleagues. Although the escape part of the operation did not go according to plan, the guerrillas were able to muster a variety of assistance which allowed them to elude a huge dragnet.

This sort of operation is nothing new. But it was the most audacious action by the Montoneros since August when they bombed a Navy destroyer in the port of La Plata and blew up a runway at Tucuman airport. Only days before those incidents, the Montoneros had staged 175 simultaneous bomb blasts aimed at Buenos Aires.

The Montonero challenge is serious. It may not be enough to bring down the government of Maria Estela Martinez de Peron, but it adversely affects just about everything that happens in Argentina. Effective counteraction by government is needed. This includes police and military operations to ferret out the guerrillas.

More importantly, it involves new initiatives by the government to solve the array of economic and social problems besetting Argentina — problems which the guerrillas feed upon. Inflation, unemployment, business bankruptcies, governmental inefficiency, and lagging agricultural and industrial production are part of the picture. Unless these problems are met, there can be no long run or no real solution to the guerrilla menace.

Perhaps the first step would be a carefully-drawn economic package imposing wage and price restraints on a nation unaccustomed to such measures. This sort of austerity program — designed to be sustained over the long haul — is a must.

Time to talk tough

WASHINGTON — Speaking for all 46 members of the African bloc at the United Nations, Daniel P. Moynihan, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, had launched "uncivil attacks" on Idi Amin, the president of Uganda.

"I'm glad those guys got the lead. Short of bringing on the firing squad, there is no other way to address a madman of Amin's ilk. Moynihan said in a San Francisco speech when he borrowed a phrase from a New York Times editorial to describe Amin as a "racist murderer." Well, what else? A report by the International Commission of Jurists, a respectable liberal outfit, says that 25,000 to 250,000 Ugandans have been murdered since Amin seized power in 1971.

At any rate, Moynihan called a racist murderer a racist murderer only in an offhand reference to Amin's recent demand that Israel be expelled from the UN and that the Jewish nation be demolished as a state. "It is no ac-have reminded that gaggle of elegant and hedonistic half-wits that there is a limit to our patience.

Forget the Israeli cause for a moment. A nut like Amin is not going to be headed when the G-15 for Israel's extinction. But as Moynihan pointed out at a reception after his San Francisco speech, Amin had "slandered" all the American people by saying that the U.S. was "run by Zionists." We don't have to take that kind of "insulting" drive, and the reaction of the Moynihan-Mitchell team should be read as a rebuke to the General Assembly itself, which gave Amin standing ovations both before and after his slanderous speech.

However, I do not plan to hang my thumbs waiting for our ever loving allies to embrace integrity and a single standard. Fifteen European countries recalled or kept home their ambassadors to Spain when Franco executed five terrorists for cop-killing. If any of those governments has officially denounced Amin for the wholesale slaughter of his own people, it has not come to my attention.

Very well. We can stand alone as a country that makes no concessions, ever, anywhere, to Communist Russia and in leftist Uganda as well as in Fascist Spain. Meanwhile, Moynihan has figuratively dropped Idi Amin into the garbage can. "We are not here," said Moynihan, "to hear totalitarian dictators lecture to us on how to run a democracy."

Let's hear it for a diplomat who can still speak plain English.

ANDREW TULLY

cident. I fear," said Moynihan, that Amin is head of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), and he called upon that confused assembly to disavow Amin's remarks.

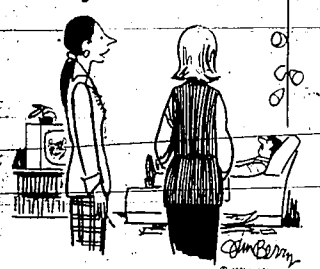

Moynihan's speech was not greeted with Washington, but at this writing there is no sign of administration displeasure with his comment. "I said what had to be said," Moynihan told reporters. "I do not mean to go on talking about it."

He doesn't have to. He's got Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the NAACP, on the U.S. Delegation, and Mitchell, perhaps the most effective lobbyist for black causes on Capitol Hill, used language almost as tough as Moynihan's in replying to Dahomey's Adjibade. Emphasizing that he was speaking for the U.S. government, Mitchell called Amin's speech "an affront to millions of citizens of the United States."

Indeed, Mitchell managed both to compare Amin to Hitler and to sternly tease Adjibade about his concern for slavery. "If we had been less courteous with that dictator (Hitler) in the beginning, immense human suffering would have been avoided," Mitchell told the General Assembly. He also reminded his audience that Amin's words were the kind used through centuries to persecute minorities, especially Jews.

For Americans, the stand taken by Moynihan and Mitchell is cause for rejoicing. If not dancing in the streets. We have taken a lot of vicious nonsense from too many fourth-rate "nations" in the UN, and at last a couple of our boys now

BOB DUMONT, group member

Involvement group key

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Smiling and enthusiastic, Bob Dumont explains how he got involved with "Up With People."

Raised in Kellogg, Dumont was attending school at a junior college in Lewiston, Kan., when he first heard of the musical group. He met one of the "main people," he recalls, talking about the group, applied and after interviews and other screening processes, got accepted.

"Up With People," a musical group with a positive approach to contemporary problems, was founded in the 1960s. This year more than 700 cities across the United States will just "Up With People" performances. The group is slated to perform in Twin Falls Nov. 1 and 2 at the College of Southern Idaho.

Bob Dumont was lucky; he was accepted into the group. Each year, about 7,000 college men and women apply in the case of 150. Out of these, only one in 18 makes it.

"Up With People" makes an attempt to join young persons of all races, national origins and colors into a harmonious group.

Dumont, for example, is mostly Elsiehead Indian, with a trace of French blood. According to "The Agency" (the omnipresent Bureau of Indian Affairs), Dumont is 42/64 Flathead Indian.

"The agency," he says, "is very technical."

Taking advantage of "Up With People's" agreement with the University of Arizona, he is taking college courses on the road and talking to major in political science. His goal is to attend law school and specialize in Indian law.

Dumont, like the other cast members, will spend 14 months on the road with the "Up With People" show, living out of a suitcase.

Like other members he will pay $3,500 for the "Up With People" tuition. Again like others, Dumont receives scholarship help which pays for most of the tuition.

Expressing what he feels is the essence of the "Up With People" philosophy, Dumont says, "We're just a group of people who care."

The program is a "ship for our ideas." The musical format lets the group "express ideas and values about life in general," Dumont says.

He mentions one of his favorite songs, titled "What Color is God's Skin?" A little boy, being tucked in for the night, asks his father: "The question Daddy replies: 'It's black, brown, it's yellow, it is red, it is white. It's my man's the same in the good Lord's sight.'"

The songs really have a message behind them, Dumont says. The group once performed in Denver in an area where there had been racial tension, he recalls. At the beginning of the "Up With People" performance, the different racial groups were totally separated but after the show, which included the "What Color is God's Skin" song, many people in the audience began to mix and talk with each other.

Dumont says the opportunity to join "Up With People" was "something that comes only once in a lifetime. It's only one year out of your life and probably the one you'll remember."

Still and all, traveling across the country by Greyhound bus and living out of a suitcase and other people's homes for more than a year can be trying at times.

But the ideas from the show help out. "We try to keep them in mind," Dumont says. "We're trying to tell people they should get along. If we can't, then we can't expect them to."

Dumont insists the close living and working situation doesn't foster romances.

$55,000 suit filed

TWIN FALLS — Mark A. Knapp and his mother, Ardith Sharp, sue legal guardian, defaulted suit in Fifth Judicial District Court here for $53,000 as a result of a traffic accident in which Mark was injured.

The suit charges Knapp was a passenger in a vehicle owned by Norman Nison and driven by Russell P. Johnson, Oct. 10, 1974. He was injured when the vehicle was involved in an accident near Eller. The suit, charges, and suffered injuries as a result of carelessness and neglect on the part of Nison and Johnson, defendants in the case.

The plaintiffs seek $50,000 general damages and $3,500 medical costs.

Jaycees push coupon book project

TWIN FALLS — The Jaycees of Twin Falls are having trouble selling their fund-raising coupon book.

Roger Stewart, chairman of the family helper project, feels that they have had bad experiences in the past with coupon books sold here. The previously sold coupon books required the holder to make additional purchases in order to make the coupon value good.

Related picture p. 11

However, Stewart said the family helper coupon book which sells for $12.50 guarantees the purchaser $120 worth of goods and services without the need to spend an additional penny.

The Jaycees were hoping to project about $6,000 with this project to help with their upcoming projects. These projects include winterizing homes of low income, elderly persons, a Christmas shopping tour for needy children and Little League uniforms.

Since the coupons went on sale in mid-September, only 25 per cent of the expected sales have been made, Stewart is disappointed in the sales progress.

Among the values offered in the family helper coupon book are six dinners at the same local restaurant, four rolls of color film developed, entertainment and one water bed patch kit.

Discussed Department of Labor officials inspection of the school buildings and building needs for the district.

'Ideology war goes on': Leonid

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Communist leader Leonid Brezhnev has warned the West that détente doesn't mean an end to the Kremlin's ideological war against capitalism.

"Relaxation of international tension by no means eliminates the struggle of ideas," Brezhnev said Tuesday night during a dinner for visiting French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing. But Brezhnev said he believes détente is vital to East and West. He said he is hopeful for progress toward a relaxation of military tensions around the world.

"Reduction of military confrontation in Europe, limitation of armaments, and disarmament are such a sphere of international affairs where good will and initiative of the states are now particularly necessary," he said.

Brezhnev greeted Giscard d'Estaing with a hug and hand-shake at Moscow airport Tuesday morning at the start of four days of political and economic talks with Soviet leaders.

The French president was the first major Western chief of state to visit Moscow since last summer's Helsinki summit recognized the Soviet land claims of World War II and urged a free flow of people between East and West.

At the Kremlin dinner ending the first day of talks, Giscard d'Estaing expressed hope for increased economic cooperation between France and the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev's speech was generally conciliatory despite his reaffirmation of an "ideological war" between Communism and capitalism.

The Soviet leader renewed his call for an international treaty banning development of new weapons of mass destruction.

Australia government threatened

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — The conservative opposition vowed today to reject Prime Minister Gough Whitlam's new budget, threatening the fall of Australia's minority government.

The move could leave Whitlam's Labor party government without funds to run the country and force the prime minister to call a new parliamentary election.

Malcolm Fraser, head of the Liberal-Country opposition, told a news conference today his coalition would vote in the Senate to reject Whitlam's 1975-76 budget.

The conservative opposition leader said he would delay passage of the budget until Australians went to the polls to elect a new parliament.

"The opposition now has no choice — we will use the power vested in us by the constitution and delay the passage of the government's money bills through the Senate until the parliament goes to the people," Fraser said.

The opposition, which controls half the 60-seat Senate, blamed the Whitlam government for a scandal that forced the resignation of Minerals and Energy Minister Rex Connor.

Connor gave up his cabinet post Tuesday after the opposition accused him of involvement in a government attempt to borrow $4 billion from the Arab world without going through normal channels.

A spokesman said Whitlam, who came to power in December, 1972, would only call an election for half the Senate if forced to go to the polls.

But an opposition spokesman said he expects the prime minister to call a general election for both houses of parliament on Dec. 2.

Whitlam's Labor party, which has been in office for 34 months, has a 27-seat minority in the Senate and needs the support of the opposition to pass the budget. There are three independents.

Collection denied

CHICAGO — A U.S. District Court judge has ruled that the statute of limitations prevents a Yugoslavian Jew from collecting $1.8 million in damages from a reputed former Nazi who allegedly confiscated his factory in World War II.

Judge Joel M. Flaum ruled yesterday in a suit brought by Hayim Kalmich, now of Toronto, against Karl Bruno, a Chicago resident who allegedly belonged to the S.S. during the war.

Kalmich had contended that the Nazis confiscated his textile business in Belgrade in 1942 and sold it to Bruno.

Flaum decided that the five-year statute of limitations under Illinois law had expired. Kalmich received a partial award in 1946 from the Yugoslavian War Crimes Commission.

Marines striking 'Little Saigon'

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI) — Marines are striking the tents in "Little Saigon," first and biggest of the Vietnamese refugee camps, which is closing down after housing almost 50,000 Vietnamese, sending most on their way to the new lives they sought and a few back to Vietnam.

Others, still without prospects, face being sent to another camp in Arkansas, a prospect that has caused tensions to rise, provoking fistfights and depression among those facing more time in limbo.

Marines have already dismantled one of the eight cities of tents and quonset huts on the Camp Pendleton base. Others stand deserted. Few persons can be seen on the road linking several of the main camps, thronged only a few months ago with Vietnamese looking for friends and relatives in other camps.

The camp is to be completely shut down by Oct. 31, Nicholas Thorne, State Department coordinator, said Tuesday. Although more than 4,300 refugees remain, homes are being found for them, he said.

"At the present rate we expect to be down to zero by the end of the month," Thorne said. "We are trying not to send anyone to Ft. Chaffee" — the Arkansas Army camp where all Vietnamese still dependent on the U.S. government will be gathered for the winter.

The camps at Indiantown Gap, Pa., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., also are being closed. Chaffee is the only refugee camp suitable for winter quarters.

Tropical storm moves

MIAMI (UPI) — A tropical depression in the southwestern Gulf of Mexico was reported about 200 miles west of the northwest tip of the Yucatan peninsula early today and moving northward.

Weather reports and satellite pictures indicated the disturbance, which took shape Tuesday, had a poorly organized center. It was expected to drift northward with little change in strength except, the National Hurricane Center reported.

Higher sustained winds at 5 a.m. EDT were 30 to 35 miles per hour.

An Air Force reconnaissance plane was scheduled to fly over the depression today.

Forecasters said the depression was interacting "with a large high pressure system over the southeastern United States" which was causing it to tend to 25 to 30 mph winds "for a few hundred miles northeast of the center."

Small craft around the southwest Gulf were advised not to venture into the open waters.

Kissinger cites Canadian role

OTTAWA, Canada (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger says Canada has graduated "from 'junior partner' status and must join the world's industrialized nations at an economic summit with third world countries next month in Paris."

"We have closer consultations with Canada than any other country," Kissinger said during an exchange of toasts at a dinner for him hosted by External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen.

"We have more common problems and the need for more parallel solutions on a wide range of issues. Canada is no longer a junior partner, but a country which rightfully makes its place in world economic circles and whose participation is crucial in meetings between producers and consumers in the economic summit being planned for Paris in November."

Diplomatic sources in Ottawa said France was mainly responsible for blocking Canadian participation at the conference, which is intended to establish new international economic relationships.

During his two-day visit, Kissinger is expected to focus on the controversial issue of Canada's dependent energy policies, during talks with MacEachen and other cabinet ministers.

Kissinger, a top salesman of President Ford's plan to gather industrialized nations under an agreement to counter the power of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, was miffed by Canadian refusal to back the plan. He also is likely to discuss with Prime Minister Trudeau

Canada's controversial order to cable television stations to delete U.S. advertising for Canadian broadcasts.

At the dinner in his honor Tuesday, Kissinger said he recognized policy differences between Canada and the United States, but minimized their importance.

"We can deal with each other without complexes," he said. "We can found our relationship on the consciousness of interdependence. We can live with disagreements, recognizing the different origins and the different backgrounds and the different domestic necessities."

Mutiny survivors in custody clash

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — West Germany and Indonesia both want custody of the five survivors of an apparent mutiny and multiple murder at sea.

The United States has decided to deport the men, although the decision on where to send them rests with an immigration judge.

The survivors of the Panamanian freighter Mimi-4 were Indonesian seamen and a Filipino cook, were rescued from a life raft in the Old Bahamas Channel off the north coast of Cuba last week. Left aboard the sinking vessel were four slain West German officers.

There have been persistent reports that one of the five murdered the Mimi's officers and scuttled the ship.

The five men, held at the city jail here, go before Immigration Judge Joseph Monsanto in Miami today for a deportation hearing.

Louis T. Gideli, deputy district director of the Immigration Service office at Miami, said both of the foreign governments interested in the case have contacted U.S. authorities.

Sea probe set

NEW YORK — Approval has been given for a bold venture in which scientists riding deep-diving submersibles will explore a colossal trench in the floor of the Caribbean three to four times deeper than the Grand Canyon.

As the first step in the project, the Navy survey ship Wyman is scheduled to sail from Port Canaveral, Fla., on Nov. 4 to undertake from the surface high-precision mapping of the Cayman Trough, as a prelude to the dives.

Early next year three vessels at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, including its deep submersible Alvin, will begin exploration. It is hoped that the Navy bathyscaphe Trieste, which has reached the bottom of the deepest known oceanic trench, will join the project a year later.

Wallace at NATO

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace visited Prime Minister Lee Harvey Oswald today, then met with American envoys to Belgium and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the third day of his five-nation European tour.

After a half-hour meeting with Tindemans, Wallace said the 13-day tour was part of a presidential campaign.

"I'm not running for President here," he said. "I'm still governor of Alabama."

He then reiterated his opinion that Europe is a vital link in America's security, a theme that has often cropped up since he began his trip in London Monday.

"We feel strong on American attachment toward NATO and for a strong friendship toward Europe," Wallace told reporters emerging from the office of the Prime Minister.

The governor then drove to the U.S. embassy where he shook hands with U.S. Marine guards before meeting with Ambassador Leonard Firestone.

Bomb damages center

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A "bomb" exploded today in a heavily guarded police station, used as a detention center for political prisoners from both sides in the conflict between Catholic and Protestant extremists.

Police said there was heavy damage and some casualties.

The blast at the Ladas Drive station in south Belfast was heard across the city. A spokesman said a telephone call gave a two-minute warning to the station switchboard.

Both Roman Catholic and Protestant paramilitary groups have charged in the past week that their prisoners are subjected to brutality during interrogation at the station.

Optimistic Chrysler fails to join auto sale climb

DETROIT (UPI) — With the auto industry's first report of the 1976-model year showing a 13 per cent sales jump for the best month-opening period in nearly two years, Chrysler

Corp. today predicted new car sales would top 10 million in the coming year. Despite the optimism, Chrysler was the only one of the "Big Four" automakers that didn't share in the industry's Oct. 1-10 upturn reported Tuesday. Imports, which have been grabbing one of every five sales so far this year, are reported monthly. GM's sales improved 17 per cent over a year ago, Ford was up 16 per cent and American Motors jumped 25 per cent over strike-affected levels of a year ago. Chrysler, which doesn't formally introduce its '76 until Thursday, said its sales fell 14 per cent.

The industry's sales in the first 10 days of October were the best for any month-opening period since November of 1973 and the best year-to-year gain since early September of last

The four companies sold 243,642 cars in early October, up 12.7 per cent from 216,110 a year ago and almost equal to the same period in 1973 just before the start of the Arab oil embargo that triggered the two-year sales slump. The formal introduction of the new models by three of the four U.S. companies was credited with much of the gain — a sharp contrast with the '75 a year ago. Those cars, with price hikes averaging $500, sat unsold in dealer lots and a worsening slump accelerated until it reached bottom this past winter.

Nixon fund donor finds fast 40 G's

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — C. Arthur Smith, the former millionaire who says he is broke, came up with $10,000 for the federal government just in time to avoid questioning under oath about his finances.

Smith's lawyer said his client was a man from his family to pay off federal fines imposed for making illegal political campaign contributions and misusing funds of a bank he closed.

Smith, a close friend and heavy political contributor to former President Nixon, once had a fortune estimated at $20 million. He said recently his only income is $200 a month from Social Security, because the federal government has seized or put liens against all his interests. He has been paying the fines on an installment basis of $100 a month, which would require 33 years to pay off, Smith is 75.

The U.S. attorney's office, saying it was "not satisfied" with Smith's account of his financial condition, obtained an order for a judgment debtor's examination, in which Smith would have to make a full disclosure, under oath, of his finances.

JOHN M. BAILEY received bribe?

Ex-Demo chairman accused

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — While a portrait of the Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey was unveiled in Washington, Connecticut officials disclosed Tuesday a jail alibi promoter said he gave Bailey $200,000 to help obtain a state gambling license.

Organized crime investigators said Bailey, who died April 10 of cancer at the age of 70, was named by David Friend of Hollywood, Fla., president of Connecticut Sports Enterprises Inc. Friends' jail-alibi facility, billed as the world's largest, is supposed to open next month in Bridgeport Conn., and feature parimutuel betting on the popular Latin game.

"David Friend, president, admitted to members of the Statewide Organized Crime Investigative Task Force that he paid $200,000 in cash to John Bailey for his assistance in obtaining a license to operate a jail alibi front," said the state Commission on Special Revenue.

Commission Chairman Paul Silvestri said the payment took place in Hartford on or about April 24, 1974, shortly after the license was granted. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters union pension fund is the principal source of money for the $14 million facility.

Bailey was Democratic national chairman for eight years during the administrations of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and was Connecticut chairman from the end of World War II until his death.

Bailey's reputation was immediately and vigorously defended by Democratic officials in Washington and Connecticut.

'No-fault' malpractice payments?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A law suit told doctors Tuesday they can solve their insurance crisis by making "no-fault" payments to victims of malpractice. "Although the doctor may have to pay more injury victims, he would pay each victim less," said Jeffrey O'Connell, an Illinois attorney who was involved in the introduction of "no-fault" automobile insurance.

Most malpractice settlement money, O'Connell said, goes to lawyers. He said by eliminating court fighting, no-fault auto insurance has cut costs in half.

He spoke at a meeting of the American College of Surgeons, where 1,000 doctor delegates are deeply concerned about the skyrocketing cost of malpractice insurance.

Drunk fish probe hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the government is wasting millions of dollars to find out if drunk fish are more aggressive than sober fish and if rats can become alcoholics.

Proxmire said the studies are being undertaken by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Over the years," Proxmire said, "NIAAA has spent literally millions of dollars in hundreds of experiments to turn normal rats into rodent 'lusers' with little or no success."

The senator said the agency has awarded a $102,000 grant to study the effects of alcohol on aggressive behavior in a species of snailfish. One experiment will measure the effects of gin compared to tequila in a fighting test, he said.

are easy to identify and would agree to pay for these risks. Any other liability would be left to the legal system. "No-fault insurance poses much greater problems for medical malpractice, because the risks are different." But he said the potential savings are worth an experiment, and suggested "no-fault" medicare could be established gradually.

The first step would be a patient-doctor contract in which the doctor agreed to pay any actual out-of-pocket costs the patient might incur as the result of known risks in a planned treatment or operation. In return, the patient could not sue the doctor if he suffered from those specific risks. He could not collect "pain and suffering" settlement in addition to the actual costs resulting from the treatment. O'Connell said he believes such a system would improve the doctor-patient trust. "You could explain to the patient the known risks in a specific medical treatment or surgery and tell him you have insurance that will cover all his costs if anything happens. "The public favors relative certainty of payment of out-of-pocket loss, as compared to a gamble for payment of out-of-pocket loss plus pain and suffering." O'Connell said there are enough "known risks," such as danger of cardiac arrest in surgery, to be covered experimentally by "no-fault" insurance.

Job aid to solon kin hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil Service Commission Chairman Robert E. Hampton helped get a congressman's relative a government job, UPI has learned.

However, Hampton says he did not intend that the relative be given any special treatment. Hampton and the two other commissioners have been accused in sworn testimony of seeking special treatment for certain applicants for federal jobs in violation of the merit system the commission was set up to enforce.

That allegation was made by Charles L. Ryan, a special assistant in the CSC Bureau of Recruiting and Examining, in a deposition given last month and released on Capitol Hill Tuesday. Ryan also said federal agencies sometimes were asked to rewrite job descriptions in order to fit the qualifications of some applicants.

The deposition was taken by lawyers for James Hargrave, a General Services Administration official accused by the commission of violating the merit system.

Ryan said in his sworn statement that his special treatment also was given to job applicants recommended by the White House and members of Congress but that he had ranked requests from commissioners "a little higher."

"I work for them," he explained. UPI learned that Hampton was involved in a request by former Rep. Robert D. Price, R-Tex., that a job be created for a relative of the congressman.

Ryan said Hampton had talked about the job to him during a "hunting trip." Price asked in 1970 that Hampton help find a government job for Dwight W. Jones of Livermore, Calif.

Sara denied only visits

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sara Jane Moore has many comforts of home — but not company — while she awaits a psychiatric determination of her competency to stand trial on charges of trying to shoot President Ford.

The 45-year-old twice-married mother is confined in a private hospital room in the Metropolitan Correctional Center, a new 12-story facility described as one of the plushiest jails in the nation.

"She is only allowed to talk to her attorney, and my staff taking care of her needs," said jail warden John D. Williams. "We have had no difficulties with her." James Hewitt, her attorney, said she "seems to be adjusting to the institution."

New freeze?

SAUDI Arabian Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani said Tuesday his country would attempt to freeze oil prices for another six months after the June, 1976, date set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries earlier. (UPI)

Campaign spending soaring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the post-Watergate law aimed at cutting huge campaign spending, a slew of candidates have already spent nearly $11 million seeking the presidency in 1976. Election day is more than a year away, but figures on file at the Federal Election Commission Tuesday showed 10 Democrats, one independent and two Republicans have raised $13 million in campaign funds and have already spent $10.7 million of that amount.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama accounted for the largest share of the year before election spending. Wallace raised $5.2 million for the 1976 race and has already spent $4.5 million, most of it on costly computerized mail fund raising.

The reports showed four of the 10 Democratic presidential contenders were in serious financial troubles, spending more than they had raised. Those with campaigns in the red were Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma and two former governors, Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

But all four could be bailed out by the government if they qualify, as they contend they do, for federal matching campaign funds under the campaign reform act.

Suits tie up money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than $1.5 million remains in the treasury of former President Richard Nixon's 1972 re-election committee, according to a report filed Tuesday with the Federal Election Commission. But most of the money is tied up in Watergate-related lawsuits and demands for reimbursement of legal fees from campaign officials who were later charged with crimes.

Officials of a trust fund, set up to liquidate the surplus money of the Committee to Reelect the President reported to the FEC Tuesday it had in recent months paid $41,000 — of the amounts requested by a score of people and companies.

Sen. John Barker speaks to Buhl chamber members

BUHL — State Sen. John Barker, chairman of the American Falls Reservoir district board of directors, says he can hardly believe the speed with which the bill to grant tax exemption to revenue bonds to finance the dam reconstruction was reported out of committee in Congress.

Speaking extemporaneously at the end of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Barker said he had supposed it "probably would be Christmas" before the bill surfaced after the parliamentary ruling that it was not in proper form.

He said the original bill had passed the Senate and was changed by the House Interior Committee. "The bill was brought to a vote in the House where it was defeated because the House Ways and Means Committee because it was considered a revenue measure."

Submitting a bill to another committee is usually a delaying tactic, often fatal to legislation, the legislator said. When the committee chairman promised the bill would be acted on that very day, Barker said, "I didn't believe it could be." But the bill speedily was given a new number, objections from the Treasury Department and Internal Revenue Service removed and by midnight the committee has sent the bill on for full House consideration.

It received the two-thirds vote necessary for consideration and was approved Oct. 6 by the full House. Senate approval and presidential signature are the last hurdles, but Barker is optimistic that three years of congressional efforts by reservoir district backers will finally pay off.

"We simply can't move on trying to finance the rebuilding project until we know if the bonds will be tax exempt," he said.

Barker, a veteran state legislator, concluded "It's the most frustrating thing I've even been involved in."

Sam Wedsworth, coordinator of the new multi-occupation class at Buhl High School and several of his students presented a slide program on the job-training program.

Judging contest in Burley

BURLEY — The state land judging contest is being held here today for FFA and 4-H members.

The top four-man team is eligible to compete in the national contest at Oklahoma City next spring.

Five FFA pins and three 4-H pins will be awarded to individuals in the contest. Five FFA team trophies and two 4-H trophies will be presented.

Gifts, certificates will be awarded to the top two adults judging in the contest.

Registration began at Burley High School at 9:30 a.m. with an orientation at 10 a.m. The judging will be at four sites near here from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. It will be followed by an orientation on home-site selection, a new aspect to be included in the contest next year.

Bliss lets bus service contract

BLISS — Bliss School Trustees have contracted out the maintenance of the district's four buses, Supt. Burton Lenker said Tuesday.

The contract was awarded to Dick Walte, Hagerman, who operates the Hagerman school buses. Lenker said Bliss owns and operates its own bus and the contract is for maintenance only.

The board also approved installation of a public address system in the school gymnasium.

Hagerman School sets parent-teacher confab

HAGERMAN — Hagerman Grade School will hold parent teacher conferences Oct. 27.

Supt. Kenneth Black said plans for the conferences were finalized at the Monday night monthly trustee meeting. This is the first time conferences have been held here for several years.

Grade school will be dismissed that day but junior and senior high school will run as usual. Black said parents will be advised through their grade school students of scheduling for the conferences.

Trustees also approved the attendance of Hagerman Future Farmer of America judging team and instructor Wayne Ills at the Portland International Livestock FFA show.

Castleford tot class enrollees up

CASTLEFORD — Castleford has 10 more kindergarten students than anticipated last spring.

Supt. Richard Peters said Tuesday 31 children have registered for the kindergarten class which begins Nov. 3. Since only about 22 were anticipated, the board approved the hiring of an aide to assist in the class.

Peters said classes in the school average about 25 and the school population is not growing in overall numbers. It just happened that some people have moved out of the community who do not have small children and others moved in with that age students, he said.

Mary Ann Blick, board member, was appointed to represent the board at the annual trustee meeting Nov. 6-8 in Boise.

Trustees also took under advisement plans presented by Kevin Varin, agricultural teacher, for a greenhouse to supplement the program.

Magistrate Court Judge Paul Smith released the suspect on his own recognizance.

Famous Scalp Specialist Tells Truth About Saving Falling Hair

These private individual consultations will be held at the Holiday Inn, 1350 Blue Lakes Blvd., N., on Thursday, Oct. 16, from 1:00 to 5:30 p.m. Ask hotel clerk for Mr. J.J. Woolley. He will do the rest. Phone 733-1650.

TWIN FALLS, October 15 — in an interview, J.J. Woolley, nationally famous consultant for the International Hair and Scalp Specialists, Inc., said, "There are many different scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. Using common sense, a person must realize no one tonic or so-called cure-all could correct all the disorders," he explained.

Guaranteed "International, re-regulating that most people are desperate for, offers a guarantee." Woolley said, "Once a person asks himself of the International treatment, his skepticism immediately disappears. You will be given a 14-day guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis."

Hopeless Cases Refused "No Cure All . . . We have no cure-all for slick, shiny baldness. International consultants will accept only clients whose hair we feel sure will respond to treatment. They cannot help individuals who are slick bald, or the majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, called male pattern baldness, where no treatment, including the International treatment, is of any value. Therefore, International will continue their policy of refusing all hopeless cases."

There is one thing Woolley wants to be certain every man and woman knows. He holds appointments "regards" at the temple or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something "wrong" and it should be given immediate attention.

How's Your Hair? "If clients follow our directions during treatment, and after they finish the course, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives," Woolley said, "Our firm is definitely behind the treatment; it all depends on the individual client's faithful observation of a few simple rules."

Free Consultations "This consultation is very thorough and highly technical. It requires 20 to 30 minutes. There is no charge for this consultation and no appointment is necessary. After the consultation he or she is told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost. After starting treatment, a consultant will return to check client's progress."

Fig Tree John travels west only to find more problems

Fig Tree John by Edwin Corie Agocho, Fig Tree John's Apache name, leaves the despoiled reservation after the defeat of Geronimo, travels west, settles with his wife on the desolate shore of the Salton Sea. He only wanted to live alone with his gods and nature. He is hopeless against the encroaching white civilization one thing he will outlast his young wife and leave him alone with his young son.

At Agocho lives with the thought of avenging this outrage; his son grows into young manhood and becomes curious about the surrounding civilization and develops a weakness for Ford cars and a white wife.

This is a passionate tale of an embittered father's struggle to save his son. The differing psychology between the two men—the impulsive and the violent and terrible consequences provide one of the most profound psychological descriptions of the Indian ever written.

Journey by Robert Massie This is a galvanizing personal drama of Robert Massie and his wife Suzanne, sharing the story of their long struggle against their only son's hemophilia. The two speak in alternating chapters. Suzanne tells about Bobby—the struggle for physical survival, the effort to keep him growing, to find the doctors and schools, to help him to take command of his own life.

Robert Massie takes us deeply into the struggle to understand the science of Bobby's illness and to find the money to support it while containing his own emotional turmoil.

And from both we come to understand how America is betraying his chronically ill; the failure of the government to live up to their responsibilities—and the grotesque comedy of the puffed and puffed balls and benefits for compelling "fashionable diseases."

Here is a story of an extraordinary adventure of the human spirit. The Best of William F. Buckley Jr., compiled by David Franke. David Franke now offers, for the first time under one cover, 880 of the witliest, juiciest, most irritating (to liberals and other targets) and most penetrating quotations from the foremost spokesman for conservatism in America. Each quotation is arranged by topic and the exact source is provided. In compiling this volume, Franke had access to the complete works of Chairman Bill. Hopschick by Brian Garfield Miles Knick had an offer to get back into the game, back into the action. The offer was apt, but it came from the wrong source: the Russians. Miles had been shelved by the CIA and was full of bitterness, but he was still extraordinarily American—he'd trade everything in an effort to satisfy his hunger for excitement. But what he could not recreate was pitting himself against the "other side." He craved the ultimate conflict: the life or death situation with no rules. The adventure and suspense of discovering whether he is still a winner makes this tale a real excitement.

diamonds she could have led a fourth diamond and cooked Holmes goose. He would have been forced to ruff high to shut out West's nine. That would take care of one of his honors. He would have had to lead a second one. Betty would win that trick and lead a fifth diamond. Holmes would have to ruff high again and West's nine of trumps would have become a sure winner.

Ask the Jacobys

A writer from Illinois asks for an explanation of the "Rule of Eleven." One of the standard leads against a notrump contract is the fourth best from the longest and strongest suit. This means when your partner opens the seven of spades you subtract seven from 11 which means four spades higher than the seven are in the hands of the remaining three players. Thus, if you are third hand, you can tell how many cards declarer holds that can beat the opening lead by totaling the number in your hand plus the dummy and subtracting this from four. The declarer can also determine the number you hold by the same process.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please help me settle an argument. A few nights ago, I was out with the same gal I always date. We're pretty close. She's very independent about a lot of things, such as opening doors for herself and things like that. Well, I learned to live with that until the following incident occurred.

We stopped at a garage to have something fixed on my car, and because she's a pretty good-looking girl, the mechanic began flirting with her. To start with, this annoyed both of us. When his talk became offensive, I spoke up and straightened him out.

Afterwards, my girl became upset with me, saying it was HER place to straighten the mechanic out if she thought he was out of line.

Granted, if she were alone, it would have been her place. But since she was with me, I thought it was MY place. What do you think?

CHIVALRY LIVES

DEAR CHIV: Most women would be angry with a date who failed to straighten out a presumptuous stranger, but maybe your gal enjoyed it.

In any case, now that you know she prefers to fight her own battles, either give her that privilege or find a less militantly independent girl.

HEW warns travelers of drugs

Chicago Sun-Times
Two Health, Education and Welfare Department physicians have cautioned against using some popular drugs relied on by travelers to alleviate symptoms of diarrhea.

The report, which appears in the new issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is especially critical of Lomotil (diphenoxylate hydrochloride and atropine sulfate), a widely used prescription drug manufactured by G. D. Searle & Co.

The article was written by Doctors Michael H. Merson and Eugene J. Gangarosa of HEW's Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Diarrhea is a common malady among travelers, especially persons visiting under developed countries. A 1970 survey of vacationing Americans in Mexico City found an incidence of 30 to 50 per cent.

Though causes ranging from spicy food to sudden changes in climate have been suspected, none has been proved. Treatment for diarrhea has been confined to alleviating symptoms with drugs ranging from antibiotics to Lomotil, a mild narcotic.

The preparation is available by prescription only in the United States.

The two Atlanta physicians noted that while Lomotil and a few other drugs diminish diarrhea and the abdominal cramps, the preparations may actually prolong the illness. "Diarrhea appears to be nature's attempt to clear the intestine of noxious and harmful agents," the report said.

Reviewing the potential for complications due to prolonged infection, the report said of Lomotil and other drugs: "Until evidence is available demonstrating the efficacy of these drugs, it is questionable whether any of them should be used."

Homecoming queen

NERVOUS but proud was the way Kim Glavin, 19, Twin Falls, described herself after being crowned Idaho State University homecoming queen. Miss Glavin, daughter of Don Glavin and Dee Glavin, both Twin Falls, is studying cosmetology in the ISU school of vocational-technical education.

She balks at chivalry

DEAR ABBY: Even though I am only 13, I have made up my mind to do something I think is very important. Before reading your column I never even gave it a serious thought, but now I would like to donate my kidneys and eyes to someone else after I die.

Juveniles need kidneys, too, and cannot use adult ones, so in case I die before I become an adult, I'd like to leave whatever organs are still usable to some child who needs them.

I am not planning on dying soon, so please don't feel sorry for me.

LAURA MYERS, GARDEN CITY, CALIF.

DEAR LAURA: To become donors, minors need the consent of their parents or guardians. And, Laura, please tell your parents for me that they have a beautiful daughter!

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you 10 years ago, but I didn't take your advice. My problem was that after 33 years of marriage, I found out that my husband was having an affair with a young woman who worked for him.

I told you that although I still loved him, I wanted to end our marriage.

I told me that I should bite my tongue, that as long as I still loved him I should try to forgive and forget, and that I should keep my marriage together, which is what he wanted to do.

My pride was so hurt that I divorced him, anyway. He married the young woman, but soon afterwards, he started calling me, telling me that he had made a terrible mistake. He said he still loved me, could never forgive himself for what he had done and wanted to come "home."

My pride still wouldn't let me take him back. Well, he died a year ago. He left a little something to his second wife, but the bulk of his estate he left to me. He was a rich man, and now I am a rich woman, but that doesn't matter. I really did love me.

Twish I had taken your advice, Abby.

Miss Woods, Magel say vows

TWIN FALLS — Susanne Marie Woods and Robert Pardee Magel were married in a double ring ceremony Sept. 27 at St. Edward's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Woods, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom's parents are Jacqueline Pardee, Salt Lake City, Utah, and Robert Magel, Twin Falls.

Father Michael Kulper conducted the ceremony. The church was decorated with large baskets of white gladioli and pink pom-pom chrysanthemums and silver candelabra.

The bride wore a Victorian style gown of sheer organza in an A-line silhouette. The entire bodice was trimmed with lace and featured a lace neckband, bishop sleeve, and lace wrist bands. Lace appliques trimmed the dress.

Her full length mantilla veil was edged with chamilly lace matching that used for the dress. She carried a formal arrangement of pink carnations and white gladioli.

JoAnn Thompson was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Peggy Pedraq, Kathy Woods and Teresa Woods, all sisters of the bride.

Gary White was best man. Ushers were Stan Moore, Bob Hodge and Gary Motzner.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony in the church reception hall.

The three-tiered cake was topped with an arrangement of lace, lily of the valley and doves. Pink streamers led to sweetheart cakes. The cake was made by Mrs. Luella Robinson. It was placed over a fountain of pink water with floating white pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Punch was served from a silver bowl provided by the women of the parish. Candelabra completed the decorations on the bride's table.

Assisting with the reception were Cynthia Woods and Pam Woods, sisters-in-law of the bride and Margaret Grant and Alyce Peyton, aunts of the bride. Also assisting were Kim Skinner, Nancy White and Kathy Jones.

Janie Draney was in charge of the guest book. John Draney was soloist and provided his own guitar accompaniment. Robert Thompson was organist.

The bridegroom's father was host for a rehearsal dinner at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was honored at pre-nuptial showers given by Sherri Sullivan, Nina Karol, Belva Lammers and Chris Hunt, by Nancy White and Carol Hodge and by John Thompson, Kathy Jones and Mrs. Joe Kallisek.

After a wedding trip to Featherville, the couple resides in Twin Falls. The bride is employed as a registered nurse in the intensive care unit of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and the bridegroom is a police officer for the city of Twin Falls.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I am a woman, age 59, who has had a very bad emotional year—one of those "I don't know how I can get through it!" times. I was strong, and people admired my stamina.
But now that things are calm and swinging my way, I have gone all to pieces. I am tense, nervous, depressed, scared to drive or go any place. I have chronic anxiety. Can you print something on this, and perhaps nix me to feel better? Do I need counseling?

Your experiences are not at all unusual. You don't elaborate on your "bad emotional year," but psychological stress, no matter what the cause, can summon up certain physical reserves to carry us through. Persons under tensions react both physically and mentally.

Stamina brings results

Key glands, such as the adrenals, the pituitary and the thyroid, are called for overtime work. Even the gastrointestinal tract can become involved. As we know, a prolonged period of such tension can produce peptic ulcers.
After all this glandular and emotional activity, the calm after the storm often leaves physical and psychological after-effects. A good example is the soldier who performs admirably during times of great danger and stress, but who may break down afterward. The man or woman whose mate has died usually manages to bear up during what would seem to be the period of greatest stress, only to feel deep depression shortly afterward.
Often, the key is to find an outlet in some new activity. You should, like your friends, realize the strength you could summon up during your bad times. Now might be a good time for you to get an update on your physical condition. Your unpleasant period may have affected your physical well-being.
During your recent problems, a few especially good friends may have been of help to you. Now would be an excellent time to do something nice for them by way of saying thank you. This would also get you back into the mainstream.
You may just now, long after the event, be starting to feel sorry for yourself for all of the trouble you've had. It is this you must avoid.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
Recently I have had a tight feeling in my throat. It feels as if I have a lump in my throat. My doctor says it is from nerves. He called it something that sounded like "globus hystericus." Could you please explain it more thoroughly and tell me if there is anything I can do for it? — Mrs. W.J.

The term is "globus hystericus." "Globus" refers to a ball or a spherical mass. In globus hystericus, there is actually no such object present, only the sensation of it. It is a nervous phenomenon occurring in tense persons. Another common manifestation is the temporary feeling of "a lump in the throat" that one may feel in circumstances of fear or anxiety.
Nerves can play odd tricks and affect different parts of the body. In your case it is the throat. In others it can produce actual physical problems such as muscle tension, headache, a racing heart or bowel disorder.
The use of mild sedation or tranquilizer drugs will help temporarily, but resolving whatever emotional upset is causing the problem is important.

Ortho firm recalls birth control pill

RARITAN, N.J. (UPI) — Ortho Pharmaceutical Co. is recalling a birth-control pill used by 50,000 women because it may contain less than the prescribed dose of estrogen, the chief ingredient in "Modicon" pills.
"It is not known if this reduction in estrogen lowers contraceptive effectiveness," a company spokesman said Monday, adding that other oral contraceptives on the market contain less estrogen than Modicon pills.

He said the firm, a division of Johnson & Johnson, was recalling voluntarily Modicon pills marked since January. Tests showed the pills may have been exposed to strong light that affected them.
He said the recall was ordered after tests on 10 or 20 packages of pills showed they contained less estrogen.
"Women taking Modicon are advised to continue doing so and to consult their physician. The spokesman could not say exactly how many pills would be recalled but said 150,000 of the estimated 10 million women using the birth control pill are using Modicon."

A Message to Newspaper Carriers

from Johnny Miller

"You've Got What It Takes!"

The ingredients for success are no secret from Johnny Miller, whose worldwide popularity, golfing excellence and engaging personality put him firmly in the company of all-time greats. So you can be sure that he knows what he's talking about when he says that newspaper carriers have what it takes. "These young people," he says, "have the qualities to get ahead. Dedication, helpfulness, responsibility and willingness to work are all part of the makeup of every newspaper carrier." There's no doubt that these same traits explain why so many carriers are setting aside a part of their earnings for college and other important future needs. Lots of them use U.S. Savings Bonds to build up this fund for the future, because they know they can count on Bonds. It's the kind of dependability they understand.

So the Treasury Department is proud to join Johnny Miller in his tribute to newspaper carriers. We hope you'll join us in recognizing these young people this Newspaper Carrier Day, 1975.

A Golfing Prodigy...
Johnny Miller swung his first golf club at the age of five. He was national Junior champion, a college All-American and, at 19, the low amateur in the '66 U.S. Open. He set U.S. Open and course records in winning the '73 Open and was named Golfer of the Year in 1974.

TF man injured

TWIN FALLS — One Bubbs, 20, Twin Falls, was listed in serious condition here Tuesday with injuries suffered in a traffic accident Saturday in Gooding County.

He was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Ron Billado, 20, Twin Falls, which left a county road east of Wendell and crashed into a utility pole.

Officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital said Bubbs suffered internal and head injuries and several fractures. He was transferred from the Jerome hospital following the accident.

Driver of the vehicle and two other passengers had been released from St. Benedict's Hospital Tuesday.

Flag flying

'Student demand' needed for decision

KIMBERLY — Kimberly School Trustees have yet to make a decision on resumption of cooperative classes with Hansen.

The joint project where students from both high schools took courses in the other community not offered in their own school became bogged down this fall after several years of successful operation. At a joint meeting of both school boards several weeks ago it was decided to leave the resumption of the program to the superintendents.

Vernon Exner, Kimberly superintendent, said Tuesday the program will be resumed "when there is student demand for it."

RUPERT speaker set
 A corrections official has been named speaker of the annual Farmer-Businessman dinner here.
 Cecil Thompson, corrections coordinator for the Law Enforcement Planning Commission, will speak at the dinner. It is scheduled Nov. 13 at the Catholic Parish Hall.
 The Outstanding Farmer of the Year is announced as climax of the dinner, which is sponsored by the Rupert Chamber of Commerce.
 Business couples host farm couples representing the various farm organizations.

New publication announced
 JEROME — A new publication for horsemen and horsewomen in Idaho will soon be published here on a monthly basis.
 The Gem State Horseman will cover riding events including rodeos, horse shows and business of breeder and riding organizations throughout Idaho.
 Sandy Nevills, publisher, said the tabloid-size magazine will be mailed to horsemen throughout Idaho.
 Norma Aslett, Kimberley, will be writer for the new publication in Twin Falls County and surrounding areas. She may be contacted by calling 423-4361.

Water storage facility eyed
 KIMBERLEY — Plans to obtain an adequate water storage facility for Kimberley moved forward at the City Council meeting Tuesday night.
 Councilmen approved hiring of J-U-B Engineers, Twin Falls, to begin work on preliminary cost estimates to build a 250,000-gallon ground-level storage facility.
 The city has sufficient water but does not have adequate pressure to get it into the distribution lines, according to Edythe Widmer, city clerk. The city now has an elevated water tower with a 70,000-gallon capacity.

Burley celebration planned
 BURLEY — The Burley Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted unanimously Tuesday morning to underwrite the cost of the community bicentennial celebration.
 The event is scheduled for Nov. 8 at the new Burley Junior High School.
 The sum donated by the chamber should not exceed $600, the chamber says, because local businesses are donating most of the food and materials to be used in the celebration. The occasion is being co-sponsored by the chamber and the city of Burley.

Death ruled accidental
 GOODING — The shooting death of Donald Black, 20, Gooding, has been determined as accidental, the Gooding sheriff's office said today.
 A 15-year-old boy taken into protective custody Sunday was released to his parents Tuesday.
 Sheriff Earl Brown, in a statement released Tuesday, said investigation by city and county officers and the prosecuting attorney have found that Black was fatally shot with a shotgun Sunday afternoon at the Gooding home.
 The accident occurred as Black and a companion returned from a duck hunting trip. Black was shot in the head at close range and died about an hour later in Gooding Memorial Hospital.

Burley chamber changes title
 BURLEY — Agnes Anderson completed 18 years as secretary-manager of the Burley Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.
 The chamber board of directors voted Tuesday morning to change the title secretary-manager to executive secretary.
 Chamber directors gave her nod Tuesday to electing officers from among the board of directors, rather than continuing the current policy of three-year advancement from second vice president to the presidency.
 The number of directors was cut from 16 to 13. Ballots for election of new board members are to be mailed within the next few weeks, under the direction of a nominating committee.
 Jack Snow, chairs the committee, which includes Forrest Hall, Charles Hendricks, Shirley Povlsen and William Wetstein.
 The board voted to underwrite costs to $600 for the Town Meeting 75 Bicentennial activity scheduled in Burley Nov. 8.
 It also approved funds for certificates of award in the state FFA and 4-H lamb judging contest being held here today.

ARCHITECT William Richardson, Richardson and Richardson, Salt Lake City; Jerry Green, Ketchum architect, and Charles Ward, Cassia County school trustee, tour the new Burley Junior High School prior to moving in equipment and beginning use of the school.

Tour school

BURLEY — The Cassia County School District plans to occupy the new Burley Junior High School on Nov. 1.
 The board set the tentative date of Oct. 30 for a final architectural inspection of the building with intent to occupy it the following day.
 The action was taken Monday on recommendation of William Richardson of Richardson and Richardson Architects, Salt Lake City.
 The board inspected the building Monday, but Richardson pointed out that it was not substantially complete because all the cabinet work was not in and the mechanical systems had not been balanced. Richardson suggested that the date of substantial completion be the date of the final inspection.

School nears completion

 The building was to have been completed on Sept. 1. The contractors asked for a 45-day extension to avoid a $100 per day penalty clause in the contract. The board tabled the matter until completion of the building.
 Dr. Paul Brown, board member, pointed out that the strike lasted only 28 days and that it was costing the district $100 a day to bus students to Declo.

Attorney definite on suit

HAILLEY — Despite delays, Idaho still definitely plans to file suit against the U.S. Forest Service over water jurisdiction, a deputy attorney general said Tuesday.
 Deputy Peter Heiser said the state "definitely" will file suit. The statement from Heiser is the first statement that the state will sue.
 The water controversy began in June when the Times-News reported the Sawtooth National Recreation Area had failed to apply for a state permit to drill a well above the proposed headquarters site at North Fork seven miles north of Ketchum.
 Subsequent investigation by the attorney general's office confirmed the SNRA drilled nine wells inside the SNRA without applying for or obtaining an Idaho Department of Water Resources permit.
 The attorney general immediately launched an investigation into the matter. Atty. Gen. Wayne Kidwell said he planned to sue if the Idaho State Land Board voted to pursue the issue.
 The land board, consisting of the governor, attorney general, secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction and the state auditor voted unanimously to file suit on Sept. 5.
 Tuesday, Heiser said, "We're going to go ahead with the well case. We're going to do it."

Air crash suit Idaho's longest?

By BILL LAZARUS
 Times-News writer
 BOISE — A Sun Valley Airlines crash near Fairfield over three years ago has prompted probably the longest and most expensive civil suit in Idaho history.
 Millions of dollars are at stake in the four-way suit now taking place in U.S. District Court.
 According to Steve Douglas, chief deputy clerk of the court, hours to the five persons killed in the crash and Sun Valley Airlines are suing three national aircraft companies, one an aircraft manufacturer, one an engine manufacturer, and one an engine overhauling firm.
 Also, heirs to one of the passengers killed is suing the now defunct Sun Valley Airlines itself.
 With four separate cases filed in the suit, Douglas said "it would take a statistician" to figure out the total amount of money the plaintiffs are asking.
 But he confirmed the total would be in the millions and said he "wouldn't be a bit surprised" if it is as high as a rumored $13 million.

 Already, Douglas said, the trial may be the longest in U.S. District Court history here. In the past several court years, he said, he could only remember one case that lasted as long as 20 days in the district court.
 "We're at the 22nd day of trial to date and there's no end in sight," he said.
 Parties involved in the suit have estimated the trial will last 10 to 12 weeks, but "they may be optimistic the way things are going," Douglas said.
 The trial, presided over by U.S. District Court Judge J. Blaine Anderson, started Sept. 15 and is scheduled to go on until Nov. 7, 1975 if it recess for a month.
 The trial stems from the Feb. 20, 1972 crash of Sun Valley Airlines' Beech Queen-Aire twin engine plane near Fairfield.
 Killed in the crash were Roland H. Smith, pilot and president of Sun Valley Airlines, Otto Carlton, Halley, mechanic, and three passengers: Dr. H. McCabe, Columbus, Ohio; Lisa Merritt, Santa Barbara, Calif.; and Lynn Keily, Ketchum.

Hookups to sewer win nod

By BART QUENELL
 Times-News writer
 HAILLEY — James Adams, manager of McCulloch's 645-acre Woodside subdivision, has told the Blaine School District not to worry about a 1974 sewer agreement.
 McCulloch promised Blaine County schools could hook onto a sewage disposal plant to be constructed by the company. While the school currently is under construction, the sewage treatment plant isn't installed.
 "To date, we have spent some $200,000 with the manufacturer of this plant and obviously fully intend to meet the 1974 deadline in time to service Woodside's requirements, as time as your new high school," a letter from Adams said.
 But Woodside's sales program has been bleak after an initial rush of single-family homesites on the north end of the development. Some residents here were wondering if McCulloch Properties Inc. would continue with its original plans.

There were no survivors.
 Being sued by the defunct airlines and the heirs are Beech Aircraft, manufacturers of the ill-fated plane, Avco-Lycoming, engine manufacturer, and Schneck Corp., the company which overhauled the plane's engine, Douglas said.
 He said McCabe's heirs are also suing Sun Valley Airlines, in addition to the aircraft firms.
 So far in the trial, Sun Valley Airlines is still making its case against the three national companies and no other plaintiffs have been heard.
 The trial is "going to go on and on. There's so much technical testimony involved," Douglas said.
 He said records on the case now fully fill 25 file drawers in the U.S. District Court.
 The trial started with 21 attorneys from all over the nation present, though 13 to 14 are present all the time, he said.
 About 300 of a proposed 1500 exhibits are in Douglas said, adding, "It's taken about three years now to get this ready for trial."

Jerome needs school funds

By CHARLOTTE WELLS
 Times-News writer
 JEROME — Unless funds can be found, the new Jerome High School won't have chairs for the auditorium, bleachers for the gymnasium or paved parking areas.
 Trustees discussed ways to finance the needed items at a meeting Monday night.
 Due to lack of funding, the three items were not included in the original bid for the school but were bid as alternates. Lyle Van Orman, trustee, said the alternate bid on the paving ran from $18,000 to $22,000.
 The paving alone could cost the district up to $35,000, Perry Christensen, superintendent, said. He said he has contacted two paving firms in this area and the firms estimated the costs might now be up to about that figure.
 Christensen said he estimates the bleachers could cost up to $42,000 and auditorium seats would cost $55,000.
 In a related matter, trustees approved having Appleton School building appraised in anticipation of selling the empty structure.

Interstate bypass hurts Bliss, but businessmen don't despair

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
 Times-News writer
 BLISS — Nearly all his business people in Bliss say they have lost money since the Interstate 80 bypass has "taken them off the map."
 Three months ago the highway bypass opened, leaving the tiny town of Bliss half a mile off the main road.
 "Restaurant owners and gas station operators now say their business is down as much as 40 per cent. Some owners have cut their payroll and other restaurants and gas stations have simply closed.
 Nearly all business people contacted confirmed business is slow, but they also say harvest time and beginning of school is traditionally a slow time of year.
 As one restaurant manager said, "No town is dead until the last person leaves." And no one is even thinking of moving. They all are just "tightening their belts" and keeping on going.
 City Clerk Ralph Walston is optimistic. He feels that "although we're hurt now, in the future if the same percentage are going down the road continue to stop we'll probably be right back up." But the improvement will be gradual, he feels.
 Many people tend to blame the signs or lack of what they consider proper signs at the highway exits on either end of this small community. They say this "makes business conditions worse than they need be."

 Some feel a community sign listing all services available in the town and placed off the ramps into Bliss would help the entire town and still not be the eyesore many smaller signs would create. Signs along interstate routes are under strict federal regulation and Bliss business people have been confronted with conflicting interpretations of a maze of federal and state regulations.
 Thelma Pajac, who leases the Circle Bar restaurant, says she has seen such community signs in Washington state, but understands "Idaho's hands are tied here because of the large proportion of federal money involved."
 Geography also is against most of the town. Because of the hilly terrain most of it is completely out of sight from the interstate motorists coming from the west. It is not until drivers reach the east exit that a few of the businesses become visible.
 Location has smitten on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, who purchased the Roadrunner cafe about a year and a half ago.

 Business at their cafe, clearly visible from the eastern exit, is up from last fall, but Mrs. Smith attributes this to the fact they were starting last year.
 Walston said many cars come off the east exit to the service station and cafe nearest them, then turn around and leave instead of going on through town.
 Some business people think if a sign indicating the interstate could be reached either way and a truck could be installed it would help.
 The Oxbow Cafe, next in line from the east exit, also has not been hurt enough to require eliminating any employees. But Paul Pickett, owner, said the bypass has hurt the "impulse stopping" of tourists.
 Ray Moore, owner of the Y. Inn and bar about midway through town, says his restaurant business has fallen off some 40 per cent but the "bar is up." He has laid off from 17 to 21 employees and cut each shift to a minimum. He wishes there were some way to let motorists know Bliss is "only over the hill and not 15 miles away" from the interstate.
 "We'll survive," Art Thompson said, interrupting a game of pool in his Circle Bar on a slow afternoon this week to discuss business. He operates the bar and service station, leasing the restaurant to Mrs. Pajac. He said the bar business remains "okay" but all service stations in town have been hurt.
 Gene and Berta Bauer, whose cafe is at the extreme west end of town, have felt the impact strongly. They have cut their staff from 10 down to two employees, doing much of the work themselves. Mrs. Bauer said the closing of the western exit ramp for about 10 days after the interstate opened last summer "really hurt."
 Only three of the restaurants remain open 24 hours now, and service stations, too, have cut their hours, with only two reportedly remain open around the clock.
 Tony Harbaugh, manager of the Arco Truck and Car Stop, said regular truckers still stop but the bypass has "nearly stopped all car traffic."
 But businessmen feel their regular customers, including residents throughout the state who have long stopped at Bliss when crossing through Idaho, will continue to keep their town "on the map."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices opened lower in moderate trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was behind 1.02 at 824.23 shortly after the opening bell. Declines led advances 124 to 72, among the more than 34 issues crossing the tape.

A strong rally attempt Tuesday was blunted by short-term interest rates would resume their upward spiral, according to Wall Street analysts. Treasury bills rates rose after dropping sharply during the past week and a half.

But earlier in the session investors' hopes for some solution to New York City's fiscal crisis were buoyed by two court rulings releasing state retirement funds for use to help the city meet a debt obligation due Friday, and New York Mayor Abraham Beame's office said the city's projected deficit over the next two years may be overestimated by $200 million, reducing the anticipated debt to roughly $500 million.

Limit losses for spuds, hogs; cattle, grains up

Chicago (UPI) — Potatoes and hogs were down the limit Tuesday.

But in other segments of the commodity trading picture, gains as live cattle posted conspicuous advances.

The May delivery of Idaho russets lost another 50 cents, closing down the limit at 11.68 per hundredweight.

Commodity News Service said Maine potatoes were down the limit in all deliveries, as the price collapse which began last Friday, continued. Only 25 lots were exchanged while pools of unfilled bell peppers reached 11.71. There was no potato sale in the potato market, which continued its radical reaction to the unexpectedly high estimate of fall potato production.

Wheat scored advance of 7 to 12 cents although close to slightly off the day's highs. Short covering at the close was tempered by pressure from a break in soybean contracts.

Both Bangladesh and Chile in the market for U.S. #1480 were higher, but India are expected momentarily. Chicago cash basis was normally unchanged and Gulf prices were steady.

Sugar makers file antitrust actions

By United Press International

Two Colorado-based sugar refiners, sued for allegedly conspiring to fix prices, have filed criminal suits against various sugar users of violating antitrust laws.

The counterclaims, docketed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco Monday by Great Western Sugar Co. of Denver and Holly Sugar Co. of Colorado Springs, were filed in an effort to "dispose of all existing claims or controversies with such customers in one proceeding," a Holly spokesman said.

The suit against the refiners is among several sued earlier for allegedly conspiring to fix sugar prices. Spokesmen for Holly and Great Western said the plaintiffs accused the defendants of price fixing unlawfully including discriminatory sugar prices from the defendants.

Eight firms, including IIT Continental Baking Co., W.A. and National Tea Co., Chicago, are listed in the Great Western suits. Among those charged—in Holly's counterclaims were IIT; Sun Garden Packing Co., San Jose, Calif.; and King Kelly Mar-malade Co., Corvallis, Calif.

Other firms named in the suits included W.R. Grace & Co., Memphis; Superior Beverage Co., Gary, Ind.; Home Juice Co., Melrose, Ill.; Plantation Baking Co., Lake Bluff, Ill.; United A.G. cooperatives, Omaha; and Westinghouse of Chicago; Schulte & Burch, Biscuit Co., Chicago, and Mother's Cakes and Cookies, Oakland, Calif.

A Holly spokesman said the counterclaims brought to 50 the number which his firm had filed against plaintiffs in the sugar antitrust proceedings.

"Although relatively few of the more than 150 named plaintiffs are customers or have any direct relationship of any kind with Holly, these plaintiffs represent a purpose to represent himself as a consumer of sugar purchaser or user in 23 states," the spokesman said.

Controversial bunt play carries Reds past Boston 6-5 in 10

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Six home runs rocketed into the seats Tuesday night but it was a bunt which didn't travel more than two feet in front of the plate that enabled the Cincinnati Reds to defeat the Boston Red Sox 6-5 in 10 innings and take the World Series lead, two games to one.

The decisive play was a sacrifice attempt by pinch-runner Ed Armbrister, which Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk threw into center field. That allowed Cesar Geronimo to reach third base from where he eventually scored the winning run on a bases-loaded single by Joe Morgan.

Fisk's error came after Geronimo had led off the 10th with a single and the debate which ensued over whether Armbrister interfered with him or not could be long remembered as the pivotal point of this World Series.

Armbrister, sent up to bat for winning pitcher Rawly

Eastwick, made a poor bunt about two feet in front of the plate. Fisk pounced on the ball and appeared to have a change of mind, but he was attempting to reach over Armbrister for the ball, his throw skidded past second base into center and the runners wound up on second and third.

The play touched off a raging controversy involving Fisk, Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson and plate umpire Larry Barnett of the American League that lasted several minutes. Fisk claimed Armbrister had interfered with him by bumping him and thus should have been declared out.

"It's a joke to lose a game like that," said Fisk. "You might as well have thrown a cross-body block on the catcher and run to first. I don't know the rule, all I know is he ran into me when I tried to get to first."

Barnett, however, said there was no interference on Armbrister's part.

"I ruled that it was simply a collision," said Barnett. "It is interference only when the batter intentionally gets in the way of the fielder. I signaled that the ball was fair and in play."

Given a break on Fisk's errant throw, the Reds capitalized after Pete Rose was walked intentionally to load the bases. Reliever Roger Moret struck out pinch-hitter Merv Rettenmund, but Morgan followed with a long drive over the head of centerfielder Fred Lynn, who was playing in shallow in hopes of having a play at the plate.

Prior to Morgan's 10th inning heroics, the game had been highlighted by a record-tying home run barrage. Each team hit three home runs, with Johnny Bench, Dave Concepcion and Cesar Geronimo connecting for the Reds and Fisk, Bernie Carbo and Dwight Evans belting homers for Boston. Carbo's homer was only the 11th pinch-hit homer in World Series history.

The Reds appeared to have won the game in the ninth inning but some questionable strategy on the part of Manager Sparky Anderson enabled the Red Sox to tie the score. Reliever Will McEnaney, the fourth Reds pitcher, struck out Fred Lynn to open the inning but gave up a single to Rick Burleson. Manager Sparky Anderson, known as "Captain Hook" because of the way he yanks pitchers so quickly, then summoned Rawly Eastwick, who immediately was tagged for a game-tying homer by Evans.

Starting the argument

COLLISION at the plate between bunter-runner Ed Armbrister and Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk, eyeing a popped up bunt in the 10th inning, ignited a big argument about interference Tuesday night. It wasn't called and Cincinnati won 6-5. (UPI telephoto)

Armbrister disclaims trying to interfere with Sox catcher

CINCINNATI (UPI) — "No," emphatically declared Ed Armbrister, "there was no way I was trying to block him."

The Cincinnati pinch-hitter said he didn't think he interfered with Boston catcher Carlton Fisk in a controversial play that helped the Reds win Tuesday night's extra-inning World Series game.

Tied 5-5, Armbrister was trying to bunt Cesar Geronimo to second base, but his bunt just trickled in front of the plate and Fisk tried to scramble out to grab the ball for a play at second.

But the quick-moving Fisk collided with the slow-moving Armbrister and Fisk's off-balance throw to second went into center field, allowing Geronimo to take third.

The controversial play became crucial because Geronimo subsequently scored on Joe Morgan's hit to win the game, 6-5.

"I just stood there and looked at the ball," Armbrister said of his hesitation at the plate. "I wasn't trying to interfere. He (Fisk) hit me from behind and kind of tripped me a bit."

"I thought he would argue there was interference, but that's just the way the play went," added Armbrister.

Home plate umpire Larry Barnett said after the game he did not call interference because he felt Armbrister did not "intentionally" interfere with Fisk.

Barnett termed the incident simply a "collision."

"As for Armbrister's hesitation before he ran to first," the American League umpire said, "it was simply part of the process of getting to first base."

Barnett added it was "a judgment call — the type that umpires have to make."

Reds catcher Johnny Bench said he didn't blame Fisk for arguing about the play, but added, "I didn't think it was interference."

"It wasn't interference unless Armbrister moved into him," said Bench. "I asked Sparky (Reds Manager Sparky Anderson) about it and he didn't think it was interference."

But remembered being disappointed because it was a bad bunt.

"I wanted to push it way out but it took a high bounce right in front of the plate," he recalled. "I was standing there and I felt him (Fisk) from behind. I saw him make the throw to second. I could see the throw was going to be high. But that's just the way the play went."

Said Anderson of the play, "It was strictly a judgment call and we can't argue with the umpires' judgment."

Asked if he would argue if he were Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson, Anderson replied, "Thank God I'll never have to decide whether to argue on the Armbrister situation."

It was home run power—a two-run homer by Bench and solo shots by Geronimo and Davey Concepcion—that gave the Reds most of their runs and Anderson sighed, "Our club was overdue."

Morgan, who drove in the winning run with one out in the bottom of the 10th, said he went to the plate "with my mind made up not to strike out, just to hit the ball somewhere."

Sportsmen hear logging proposal

Proposed harvesting of beetle-infested pines in the south hills was outlined for sportsmen Tuesday night.

Speaking at the Twin Falls County Fish and Wildlife Conservation corporation, Cassia division Ranger Lew Nelson spelled out the alternatives.

Noting there currently "isn't a stand" of lodgepole pine not infested now, Munson said it was only a matter of time until all that species in the mature class would be wiped out.

Within a few years, these dead trees would topple causing timber fall impenetrable to wildlife, livestock and man.

Eventually fire would race through these deadfalls and the immediate result would be millions of young lodgepole seedlings sprouting too densely to expect more than stunted or dwarfed stands.

Further, the infestation could move into the Albion and Sublett divisions leaving the entire southern rim of Idaho a state of forest decay.

Munson obviously favored the logging concept for both practical and beautification reasons.

He said investigation shows approximately 300 million board feet of timber available to harvesters. The cutting would affect lodgepole pine only.

This would provide the nation with needed wood fiber plus help stem the encroachment of the beetle into new areas.

Basically the lodgepole pine would be used for sawing of 2 County Fish and Wildlife probably being converted into paper products in a chipper operation.

"We have received great interest from a large number of people and firms," Munson said.

In answering a question, he said one firm had expressed interest in establishing a mill south of Hanson while another leaned toward a site toward Hollister.

He added that any firm taking the lumber contract — should it be let — would be guaranteed the 300 million board feet. Most would like that spread over a 10-year period to amortize the cost of the sawing-chipper construction. But that would be the end of the operation and the new plant would not perpetuate itself on new cut areas.

In addition, the three smaller mills, the post and pole operations and the firewood permits would still be continued.

Munson said it appears the area provides optimum lodgepole growing. He said some with 38-inch diameters have been found with a large number in the 24-inch area. Generally anything over 10 inches of that species is considered large.

Reforestation would be accomplished by manipulation of slash burning and other management plans during the cutting operation. Munson noted lodgepole cones will not drop their seeds until exposed to heat.

By planning the slash burns, the regrowth should be good and thinning would assure a good stand of healthy, vigorous trees. He noted one sample plot in the 1966 Magic burn area had turned up 135 seedlings in a square foot, compared with the desirable one tree per eight feet.

If natural and manipulated reforestation does not succeed, the forest service will plant seedlings in a method which has proved very successful in the south hills and turned up a strong 87 per cent survival rate.

From other economic standpoints, the cutting should benefit both wildlife and livestock interests since it would assure good understorey growth — particularly in the early stages.

The logging plan would necessitate improvement of the main access roads — Rock Creek canyon from the current pavement end to a point above the ski lodge and that road out to Hollister. Munson said the cost would just about be covered by logging concession fees but the enhancement of the road for livestock, recreational and other uses would more than justify the average.

COMMISSIONER Pete Rozelle of the NFL told the house judiciary subcommittee that if players were allowed to market their services from team to team without restriction, more than half of the present pro football franchise would be driven out of business in a few years. (UPI telephoto)

Rozelle cites need for reserve clause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spokesmen for the pro football players union are willing to accept a continuation of the college draft if a player is given a chance during his career to switch teams freely.

National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle, however, is convinced that if Congress outlaws the reserve clause and other player contract restrictions, more than half the cities now enjoying major league football would lose their franchises in a matter of years.

Rozelle and leaders of the NFL Players Association came out as expected Tuesday — on opposite sides of the question at a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing on legislation which would prohibit the reserve clause binding a player to a team in professional sports.

NFLPA President Kermil Alexander and Executive Director Ed Garvey proposed Congress enact a bill which would permit a team to sign a player to a two-year contract but ban any proviso that would bind him to longer service unless he wished.

Garvey told the subcommittee headed by Rep. Peter J. Rodino D-N.J. that if the NFL owners insisted, the college draft could continue on condition a player would not be bound beyond two or three years.

But the United States would allow a player to negotiate with any team once his contract expires. "By adoption of this legislation, congress will at least give the player an opportunity, at one point in his career, to negotiate openly and honestly with other players."

Rozelle countered that "football is nothing more than a form of entertainment" and should not be subjected to rigid antitrust legislation such as proposed by Rep. John F. Selberling, D-Ohio. He commented: "An unqualified free market for players would destroy playing field equality, fan interest, TV values and even the league itself. Under such conditions, the league would be down to ten or so teams in a matter of years."

In defending the present system, the commissioner said: "I am personally convinced that many current player critics would never have been able to obtain employment within the NFL had it not been for the NFL's equalization rules."

But Alexander told the House group: "If sports are important to our society, it is in part because of the example we set for the young people. The worst example we can set is to justify a system that robs a man of his dignity in order to save wealthy owners some money."

"The only people who benefit under the current system are the superstars. Only the superstars can make a meaningful threat to retire if they are not paid enough."

Rozelle said in opposition: "If the entertainment level is kept high everyone benefits. That is what all the player controls in professional football are all about — to bring about a dispersion of the more talented players."

Livingston climbs in AFC stats

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Livingston, who suffered for years on the Kansas City bench waiting for Len Dawson to grow old and retire, has finally emerged from his perennial backup position to become the Chiefs starting quarterback.

According to statistics released Tuesday by the American Football Conference, Livingston, who completed 10-of-16 passes for 170 yards and three touchdowns in Kansas City's startling 42-10 thrashing of Oakland, moved into second place in the AFC passing ratings just a shade behind the leader, Terry Bradshaw of Pittsburgh.

The victory was the first of the year for the Chiefs while the Raiders suffered their first setback.

Perhaps the most amazing statistic of all is Livingston's propensity to complete touchdown passes. At the moment, 11.5 percent of the 23-year-old's losses have resulted in scores. In contrast, Bradshaw has a 7.1 touchdown percentage.

Jumper sets games record

LONG JUMPER Kathy McMillan of Raeford, N.C., set a new Pan-American games record of 21-2 1/2 during semi-final of the event Tuesday. (UPI telephoto)

US cage team tops Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Otis Birdsong, held scoreless in the first half, led an American rush early in the second half Tuesday night that brought the United States a 99-70 victory over Mexico to stay undefeated after two contests in the Pan American games.

The U.S. held only a five-point lead at the half and had trailed by three at one point during the first 20 minutes. But five minutes into the second half, Birdsong hit two straight buckets and the Americans quickly opened up a 14-point, advantage.

Birdsong, from the University of Houston, finished with 16 points to lead the Americans.

The wildly cheering Mexican crowd saw its team overcome a 14-point deficit to take a 35-33 lead on the play of Rafael Palomar. But the U.S. rallied for nine straight points, seven of them by Norm Cook. Cook scored 24 points in the U.S. opening victory over Argentina.

Following Birdsong in scoring was Eric Grunfeld of Tennessee with 14 points.

SPRINTER Silvio Leonard of Cuba is helped on a stretch after falling into the Pan-Am stadium moat. He won the 100-meter dash but in his exuberance continued running after going through the tape. He missed seeing a two-foot barrier by the moat and toppled in. (UPI telephoto)

U.S. wins three of six Pan-Am events

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The United States track and field team struck back at the Pan American Games Tuesday by winning three of six finals, but the drama came when Cuba's Silvio Leonard fell heading into the stadium moat after winning the 100-meter dash.

With the marksmen continuing to shoot straight and true for three of a possible four gold medals, the United States kept pace with Cuba in the chase for overall victory.

U.S. track victories were gained by defending 3,000 meter steeplechase champion Mike Manley of Eugene, Ore., in a slow 9:04.3; James King of San Diego in the 400 meter intermediate hurdles in 49.80 seconds and Pamela Jiles in the women's 100 meter dash with a time of 11.28.

The most dramatic moment of the day, however, came after the men's dash, in which Leonard's anticipated clash with Bill Collins failed to materialize when the Houston runner's thigh bannage slipped after only five meters.

Leonard, the co-world record holder for the dash, won by about a half meter from Trinidad's Halsey Crawford in 10.15. He was so excited he continued running, veering right to wave to the crowd, and before the fans could acknowledge his waves, Leonard had fallen from sight.

The 23-year-old Cuban fell about 15 feet into the trackside moat, something that is standard equipment at all Latin stadiums to keep excitable fans at bay.

After what seemed like an age, Leonard was removed from the stadium with injuries to his right leg, his uniform covered with dirt and with bruises all over his body.

"He came out for the victory ceremony, assisted by teammate Hector Ramirez, who took the bronze medal, but could not get up on the podium without the help of Ramirez. It is unlikely Leonard will be able to run in the relay or 200 meters, although Cuban physicians said he had suffered no broken bones.

"I suffered a muscle spasm in my left leg and was unable to control my legs. I tried to snatch at the guardrail when I realized I was on top of the moat, but it only broke my fall. I was going too fast," Leonard said.

Collins said: "There is a grudge between the U.S. and Cuban athletes, but none of us wanted to see him get hurt. Leonard is a great athlete."

King beat defending champion Ralph Mann of the Beverly Hills Striders by about a meter, but he confessed, "I never thought I had the gold medal won until I crossed the line. I could hear Ralph behind me all the time."

Martha Watson of Los Angeles appeared to have a lock on the long jump gold medal when she cleared 21 feet 6 1/2 inches, but Cuba's Ann Alexander came up with a final jump of 21 1/2 to win. Kathy McMillan of Raeford, N.C., who broke the Games record earlier in the day during the trials, had to settle for the bronze after clearing 21 3/4.

Canada's Bruce Pirnie won the shot with a toss of 63-3, nearly 10 feet before Brian Oldfield's world (pro) record, after Terry Albritton of Newport Beach, Calif., fouled with five of his first six trials. Albritton lost to Canada's Bishop Dolegiewicz on the count back for the silver after both threw 62 1/4.

All the shooting range, Hershel Anderson of Columbia, Ga., picked up his second gold medal when he scored 387 of a possible 400 to win the air pistol event. He also led the U.S. team to victory over Mexico and Brazil.

The U.S. picked up another gold when David Ross, a Houston business executive, won the English Match gold with an almost perfect 598 out of 600. Cuba finished ahead of America and Mexico for the team gold.

Brazil's Athos Tisoni shot 199 of a possible 200 to win the individual steel gun medal. The U.S. baseball and basketball teams were not scheduled to appear until nightfall, but the volleyball team came back on court for the second time in 14 hours to defeat the Bahamas, 3-0.

In field hockey, the U.S. tied host Mexico, 1-1.

Murtaugh will return to Pirates' helm

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Reported on the verge of retiring at least a dozen times during the last two years, Danny Murtaugh has informed the Pittsburgh Pirates he'd like to continue managing and they will make it official Wednesday by rehiring him for the 1976 season.

The Pirates have called a news conference here Wednesday at which time General Manager Joe Brown will announce the 57-year-old Murtaugh is returning to handle the club next year.

Under Murtaugh's leadership, the Pirates won the world championship twice, beating the New York Yankees in 1960 and the Baltimore Orioles in 1971.

They were beaten in the National League playoffs, however, the past two years, first by the Los Angeles Dodgers in four games in 1974 and by the Cincinnati Reds three straight last week.

Before the Pirates met the Reds, there were reports that Murtaugh, who suffered two mild heart attacks in the past, would retire if Pittsburgh went on to win both the playoffs and the World Series.

The rumor spreaders even had his successor all picked out.

Gene Mauch, fired as Montreal manager two weeks ago, was considered the No. 1 candidate to replace Murtaugh.

"Brown left the decision about next year strictly up to Murtaugh as he has done for the past few years.

Bell nears 1,000 yards in half year

MISSION, Kan. (UPI) — Through five games, Southern Cal's Heisman Trophy candidate, Ricky Bell, is only 60 yards short of reaching 1,000 rushing yards, according to figures released Tuesday by the NCAA Statistics Service.

Bell now has 940 yards on 151 carries, averaging 6.2 yards a carry and 188.0 yards a game. Bell has a 213 yard lead over runnerup Jerry Eckwood of Arkansas, who is racing off a 9.2 yards a carry average with 727 yards on 75 carries.

Fullback Pete Johnson of Iopankno Ohio State maintained his scoring lead with 84 points on 14 touchdowns.

Toledo's Gene Swick is the passing and total offense leader. Swick has hit 122 of 187 passes for 1,510 yards. Swick has hit on 65.2 per cent of his passes. In total offense, Swick has 1,474 yards, an average of 245.7 yards per contest.

Foreman shares NFC receiving lead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chuck Foreman, who many call the best run-back back since Larry Moore, did everything in Sunday's victory over the New York Jets and as a result found himself tied with Green Bay's Ken Payne as the top pass receiver in the National Football Conference.

Foreman, who scored an NFL-leading 21 touchdowns in 1974, had been hampered through the first three games with nagging knee injuries. Against the Jets, however, Foreman returned to top form, rushing for 96 yards, catching nine passes for 105 more, scoring three touchdowns and throwing several crunching blocks.

"Chuck is strong to the inside and fast on the outside," says Fran Tarkenton, the Minnesota quarterback. "He is a super player with a lot of natural abilities you can't give a person. He can beat you running or receiving. And, with all due respect to O.J. Simpson, Chuck is the best all-around back in the league."

"I had to describe myself as a 'depend-on-the-situation' back," I'm always thinking of the first down. If it's third-and-two, I'll be a power runner, trying to get two yards for the first down. If it's third-and-twelve, I'll be shifty, trying to break away—or slipping out as a receiver, looking for an opening in the zone."

NBA commissioner makes Chamberlain free agent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Will Chamberlain, a big man with a reputation for getting what he wants whenever he wants it, got his wish Tuesday when NBA Commissioner Laurence O'Brien declared him a free agent.

In a prepared statement, O'Brien said he was removing Chamberlain's name from the Los Angeles Lakers' suspended list, thereby making him a free agent able to sign with any team in the NBA.

O'Brien's decision, however, was a direct contradiction to the premise of his statement in which he said he would not react until Chamberlain fulfilled certain obligations.

"Previously, I stated and reiterated that, Will Chamberlain must report to the Los Angeles Lakers and if the Lakers elected to utilize his services, I would personally intervene in getting what he wants whenever he wants it, to determine the respective rights of the parties, including the rights, if any, the Lakers retained in Chamberlain's services," O'Brien's statement said.

"Weeks have elapsed and Chamberlain has not fulfilled this requirement. His attorney has written letters and issued numerous press statements, but in no way has there been a good-faith effort to resolve this controversy.

"With our season a scant nine days away, these tactics have created an increasingly untenable situation for the Lakers in terms of their roster and for the NBA."

The decision thus silenced a three-week battle of words and threats between the Lakers and Chamberlain's lawyer, Seymour Goldberg, that arose when the New York Knicks asked the NBA for permission to talk contract with the 7-foot-1 center who dominated basketball for more than a decade. The fact that Chamberlain had not played for two years, was 39-years-old and commanded more than $450,000 in salary did not deter New York.

When the Knicks and Lakers couldn't agree on a compensation, however, Chamberlain claimed he had already fulfilled his obligation to the Lakers by sitting out the past two seasons.

The Lakers, in turn, claimed that if Chamberlain returned to the NBA he would have to report to them under the option year term of his contract.

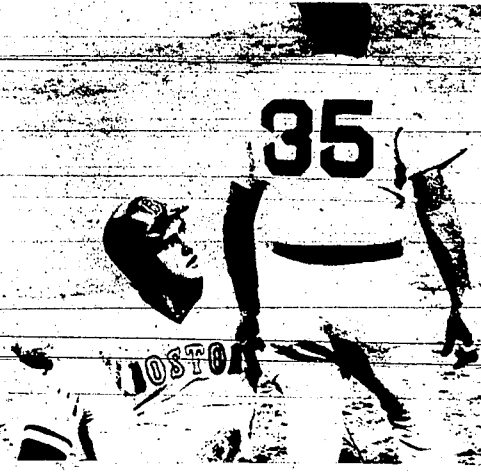

So, O'Brien said, he was resolving the controversy by giving Chamberlain what he wanted, his freedom to sign with any other team.

It was known, however, Los Angeles was not really interested in having Chamberlain as a player again since the club obtained Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, and his $500,000 salary, during the off-season.

The Lakers surprisingly took O'Brien's decision calmly. Pete Newell, the Los Angeles general manager, said the club was relieved the matter had been settled and he had no reaction to the commissioner's decision.

"Originally, the NBA said that he was our property, then they made this ruling," said Newell. "The matter has been something that has been handled entirely by the NBA office."

Mike Burke, the president of Madison Square Garden Inc., which owns the Knicks, and Eddie Donovan, the New York general manager, immediately planned to fly to Los Angeles after learning of Chamberlain's free agent status.

Carey ends Camas win string

CAREY — The Carey Panthers pinned the first loop loss on Camas County's volleyball team in two years Tuesday night.

In a kind of swap, however, Camas County handed Carey's Jayvees their first loss in the preliminary 3-15, 15-11, 15-13.

The Carey varsity won 4-15, 16-14, 15-10.

Monday night Carey trimmed Dietrich in straight sets 15-3, 15-6.

Interior holding scored

CHICAGO (UPI) — College football officials frequently are ignoring offensive holding in the line without calling penalties.

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler charged Tuesday, and he suggested that the middle guard would disappear on defense because of lack of protection against the violations.

Schembechler, speaking by telephone to a football writers meeting, was asked to compare his own nose guard, Tim Davis, and Northwestern's Paul Malby, both rated among the Big Ten's best.

"They're of the same mold," Schembechler said. "They have good arm and shoulder strength and great quickness and there aren't many of these left. There won't be any of them unless the officials start calling holding."

Bears sign Carter

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bears Tuesday announced they have signed Virgil Carter, veteran quarterback they once released in a dispute over team performance, and released veteran linebacker Jimmy Gunn.

Carter, 29, was with the Bears in 1968 and 1969. He moved to Cincinnati after a season in which he was critical of the Bears' performance, and played there two years, sat out 1973, and played in 1974 with the Chicago Fire of the World Football League until sidelined by an injury.

Swimmer stricken

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Rick Colella, the only male American swimmer in the running for four gold medals at the Pan American Games, missed practice Monday and Tuesday with a bad case of Meckelium's syndrome.

Colella, 23, of Seattle, Wash., stayed in bed in the Pan Am Village on doctor's advice.

"He's coming around now, but boy he was really sick," said a worried Ron Bellatore, the coach of the American men's team.

WFL pins hopes for survival on new marketing promotions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brevet by financial difficulties and steadily dwindling attendances, the 10-team World Football League's board of governors were hopeful Tuesday that recent marketing innovations will save the league, at least for the remainder of the 1975 schedule.

WFL president Chris Hemmeyer released a statement in which he said, "The WFL has now concluded its two-day marketing meeting in New York. New and innovative marketing plans which have been placed in effect should insure an attendance increase and continue to firm up the stability of our league."

"We are not going to widely speculate about the viability of the WFL, because its viability to us has never been in question.

"We've paid all our players and the league is current in meeting all financial obligations. We will not entertain questions about our finances as these questions are internal matters.

It is speculated that the more affluent WFL teams, such as Memphis and Southern California, may have been forced to subsidize the weaker ones. Last week $500,000 was assessed from the more successful league members in order to keep Portland and Philadelphia operational.

Hemmeyer would not comment on the new marketing aspects because he felt speculation about the viability of the WFL has slowly caused a decrease in the weekly attendance figures.

Nevada rebates scored

LAS VEGAS, Nov. (UPI) — Two members of the Nevada Dairy Commission are co-authors of a new bill which gives thousands of dollars in illegal kickbacks to prime customers, a state investigative report showed Monday.

The report detailed kickbacks or "discounts" granted customers of Anderson Dairy and Model Dairy in the Reno area as well as other dairy distributors throughout Nevada.

Dairy Commissioner Glenn J. Coon of Las Vegas is general manager and vice president of Anderson Dairy Inc. Model Dairy in Reno is headed by Nevada Dairy Commissioner Barry Brooks.

Dairy commissioner Muriel Stevens said Monday if the commission itself did not institute disciplinary action for whatever reason then the entire matter would be turned over to the Nevada Attorney General.

"I have been saying from the beginning we want some disciplinary action. I am not for accepting it under the rug," said Ms. Stevens.

Assemblyman Lloyd Mann, D-Las Vegas, demanded the resignation of three members of the commission last week because he said they were involved, or had knowledge, of the illegal kickbacks. Mann made public a portion of the report last week and Monday turned the entire investigative memorandum over to the news media.

The investigative report said Crescent Dairy Inc., doing business as Anderson Dairy in Reno, kicked back $90,114 between Aug. 1, 1974 and July 31, 1975 to prime customers, according to Thomas Bahan, general manager and secretary-treasurer of the company. He said it included $18,200 to Warehouse Markets during that time and $34,000 to Mayfair Stores.

In southern Nevada, Anderson Dairy has 85 written lease agreements, most of which involve payments to retail stores for leasing shelf space, the report quoted Anderson Dairy officials as saying.

Model Dairy gave kickbacks in Reno ranging from five per cent to 15 per cent, according to the report, to Giant Discount (5 per cent), V and T Market (10 per cent), Save Time (10 per cent), Food King Group (10 per cent), Albertson's (10 per cent), Haley's (15 per cent), and Clark's Market ($80 a month).

Researchers boost Utah apple crop

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — With the help of agricultural researchers, Utah's apple growers produced a record harvest this year.

"This year Utahns can look for some of the nicest apples in the state's history," said Ben W. Lindsay, director of the Division of Agricultural Development.

"It is anticipated the 1975 crop will bring a return to our producers of more than $4 million," Lindsay said. "We are looking for the largest apple crop in Utah's history."

The Utah Agriculture Department official said the state's growers produced the 1975 record harvest even through numerous orchards have been replanted in many areas of the Wasatch Front by residential and commercial development.

"The orchard producers have moved out into other areas," said Lindsay, "where, with improved varieties and cultivation practices, we are still looking at an excellent quality fruit."

He said horticultural scientists have developed new varieties of apple trees that mature to fruit bearing size more quickly than older varieties. And they have developed fruit varieties that will hold onto the tree longer, thus reducing the number of apples reaching markets with bruised and broken skin.

Forest act OK granted

BOISE (UPI) — The State Land Board voted 21 today to approve the rules for implementing the Forest Practices Act despite objections from the attorney general that some of the regulations are too vague.

The 1975 legislature passed the Forest Practices Act to establish minimum standards for harvesting trees from the forest lands of Idaho. The rules cover road building, cleanup and reforestation procedures.

The act became effective July 1 but its implementation has been delayed while the State Department of Lands completed the rules and waited for approval from the Land Board.

The act has stirred considerable controversy in northern Idaho and two groups filed against the state in federal district court seeking to prevent the implementation of the act.

At the September meeting of the Land Board, Secretary of State Pete Conrath raised questions on the constitutionality of the rules, splitting the board 22 along political lines. Gov. Cecil Andrus voted against approving the rules at that time to avoid a political confrontation over the rules within the board.

Attorney General Wayne Kidwell told the board he failed to see why there was such a rush to adopt rules "that have not been well thought out."

He said the legislature wanted to establish minimum standards for the forest industry to protect the forest resources.

He said the reforestation section "shows some minimum standards." Jack Gillette, assistant director in the Lands Department, said the committee drafting the rules had legal assistance in their preparations and the members considered the statements and opinions from the public gathered in hearings around the state.

Superintendent Roy Truby said he did not think it was up to the board to determine the constitutionality of the rules, that could be left to the attorney general.

Red wants rebuilding for jobless

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Unemployed Americans should be hired to help rebuild North and South Vietnam, the chairman of the Communist Party of the United States said Tuesday.

Henry Winston, just returned from a conference with the Communist leaders of South Vietnam, said the United States is bound by the Paris peace accords to help repair the ravages of a generation of war in both Vietnam.

He suggested the U.S. unemployment problem could be solved if the government hired the jobless and sent them to Vietnam to rebuild the nation.

He said the Vietnamese people bear no grudge toward the United States.

Vietnamese refugees who fled the Communist conquerors have nothing to fear if they return home, he said. They will be subjected to a "process of re-education" but there is no "terror or violence" against them, he said.

Grain barge flow starts

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Millions of bushels of grain from Washington, Oregon, and Idaho are being moved down the Columbia-Snake River system by barge Tuesday.

The reopening of the locks and dam signaled an end to the annual maintenance shutdown by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

More than a million bushels of grain has been lying on the ground here awaiting the reopening. The scene was much the same in ports between here and Portland where grain storage capacity could not meet the needs of the largest wheat crop ever.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing thoughtful things for good friends will be appreciated and will strengthen the alliance. Strive for happiness.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to public duties early so you don't lose out in an important business deal later. Steer clear of a troublemaker.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to handle the minute details of a new plan you have in mind. Do research that is important. Relax tonight.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Deal fairly with debtors and creditors and excellent results will follow. Make sure everything is spic and span at home.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You would be wise to carry through with your end of any agreements made with others. Engage in your favorite hobby.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan time to get your environment more charming so you will feel happier. The evening is fine for entertaining friends.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to eradicate any errors you have been making lately. Show the depth of your affection to the one you love.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you don't lose your temper at home or there could be unfortunate results. Don't neglect correspondence.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you work carefully so that you don't make errors at work today. Extreme care in motion is important now.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use caution in the handling of finances now, or you could make costly errors. Spending less and saving more is wise.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't broadcast any possible unhappiness to others at this time. Avoid the source of your discontent. Relax tonight.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may want to argue with others and should be taught early to conserve energy for more constructive activities, otherwise your progeny could get into needless trouble. A fine career for the fields of engineering.

what's what

L. M. Boyd

Women who make their living by finding jobs for other people tend to be suspicious of extremely handsome men. Or so recent surveys indicate. This is not necessarily true of nurses, secretaries, school teachers. Just those lady employment counselors. They're apt to question the better looking men with some cynicism as to why they're out of work. Can you explain this phenomenon? I can't.

ROBERT REDFORD, Paul Newman and Steve McQueen are said to be the top box office movie stars in this country, but worldwide, no actor is more popular than Charles Bronson, the highest paid performer of them all.

WIDOWS

Average age of the widows in this country is 58. A DOG kept awake for four to five days and night probably will die, remember that.

HERE'S-TO the "imaginative" taxpayer—clerk—who addressed an envelope to Collector of Taxes, Seattle City Hall.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture spent $1,139,417 to find out that mothers generally prefer children's clothing that needs no ironing. You could have told the Department that for half the price, what?

JOE AND HOWARD

Q. "Is it true that Howard Cosell and Joe Garagiolo have a running feud going?"

A. Not exactly. They don't pay much attention to each other. I don't know what Howard says about Joe, but Joe says about Howard: "I consider Cosell a flunk-out lawyer. If he had breakfast, lunch and dinner with everybody he says he does, he'd weigh 67.3 pounds."

IT TAKES 1.53 acres of cultivated land a year to feed a person who eats meat, but it only takes half an acre to feed a vegetarian.

AGAIN AM ASKED if a white couple has ever given birth to a black child as the result of the fact that one of them had a black ancestor. Research fails to turn up any authenticated case in which a couple produced a child darker than the parent with the black forebear.
