

Franco growing weaker

DOCTORS reported "at midday today that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco is sinking gradually toward death but is refusing treatment or anesthesia because he wants to remain lucid. Franco, 82, has suffered a series of major heart attacks and other complications. A staff of doctors remained at his El Pardo Palace. (UPI)

Court control for NY?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today proposed legislation permitting a federal court to assume control of New York City's finances if the city defaults on its debt. Such court control, the President said, would assure that vital services to New York City's 8 million residents would not be interrupted. Ford said he would veto "any bill that has as its purpose a federal bail-out of New York City to prevent a default." This was a hardening of his previous stand in which he had not yet seen any legislation he could sign. The people of America are asking why New York City should get special advantages, Ford said in a speech prepared for delivery before a luncheon of the National Press Club. "Why, they ask, should all the working people of this country be forced to rescue those who bankrolled New York City's policies for so long — the large investors and big banks," Ford said.

Ford expressed confidence New York City's default — which could come as early as Nov. 17 — would not cause a financial panic. "We have heard enough scare talk," he said. Ford said the financial markets had already anticipated and discounted the possibility of the city's default. Ford said the legislation he was proposing would give the U.S. District Court in New York "authority to preside over an orderly reorganization of New York City's financial affairs — should that become necessary." But in order to file a bankruptcy petition with the courts, the city would also have to present "a good faith plan" for repaying its debt and "a program for placing the fiscal affairs of the city on a sound basis." Then, Ford said, the court would be empowered to authorize debt certificates — a type of bond — covering new loans by the city. Future revenues would be bound to pay off these new debts. New York owes $12.3 billion. Since March it has not been able to sell bonds to raise money to pay debts as they become due. Without a federally guaranteed loan, it is expected to go into default on its debts when the new round of bonds become due. Some Democrats in Congress are pushing legislation to provide $4 billion in guaranteed loans. But the proposals have aroused hostility in and out of Congress. Under Ford's proposal, the holder's of the city's bonds would have to wait for repayment and for interest. But Ford said his plan would prevent the city's funds from being tied up by lawsuits, provide for an orderly plan for repayment to bondholders and provide for a way of new borrowings while the city is in default. today in brief

NSA 'watch list' named hundreds
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief of the National Security Agency said today that for six years the communications of 1,650 Americans and 3,000 foreigners on a secret "watchlist" were subjected to electronic interception. Lt. Gen. Lew Allen Jr., in an opening statement to the Senate Intelligence committee, said those named on the watchlist included suspected or known drug traffickers, persons who posed a potential threat against the President's life, terrorists and antiwar activists and travelers to Cuba and North Vietnam.

Mixed reports on women's strike
By United Press International
Feminist leaders reported strong support today for a nationwide feminist strike, but employers around the country reported no significant absenteeism among their women employees. First Lady Betty Ford and Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso were among the women who did not honor the strike. Spot checks of federal agencies and major employers in big cities across the nation also indicated little support for the strike.

Economists encouraged by figures
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government reports said today that oil imports have increased to fuel expanding American industry and consumers spending increased in September — two encouraging signs of the nation's recovery from continuing recession. The Commerce Department said U.S. international trade on a balance of payments basis declined $1 billion from the second quarter to the third due to increased oil imports.

Americans escape fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Warring Christian and Moslem militiamen fought with mortars, rockets and automatic weapons throughout Beirut today and Lebanese security forces penetrated battle zones in armored cars to evacuate Americans and other foreigners trapped by the fierce fighting. The rescue mission was carried out at the request of the United States. The evacuation of American nationals from the strife-torn Lebanese capital was accelerated with the departure of 160 nonessential staffers and their dependents and a group of 50 teachers from the American Community School. Beirut airport was crowded with foreigners leaving at the rate of about 400 per day. France today joined other nations in advising citizens to get out unless there were compelling reasons to remain. An estimated 75 persons were killed and more than 150 wounded in the past 24 hours, raising the casualty toll from seven weeks of civil war between right-wing Christian and left-wing Moslem militias to about 850 dead and 2,300 wounded. A convoy of internal security forces in armored cars and personnel carriers stormed through the eastern lines around the embattled Kantari district of downtown Beirut and evacuated several hundred persons, including 200

Lebanese and foreign nationals, from the embattled and burning Holiday Inn. The guests' and hotel staff, including American, French, British and Swiss nationals, got out just as a fire touched off by another mortar shell, the second to hit the building in two days, swept through part of the hotel. Beirut Radio said the 150 hotel employees and 50 guests had been evacuated and "are now safe and unharmed." A number of guests were still trapped however in other nearby hotels, including the St. George and Phoenix where fierce fighting with rockets, mortars and machineguns raged on into its fifth day. Promoted
AIR FORCE Maj. Gen. Alton D. Slay won his third star Tuesday as the Senate approved his promotion by a 69-43 vote. Slay helped cover up the unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam in 1972. He said he carried out his orders on the assumption they were issued with proper authority. (UPI)

MV government council may face funding cutoff

BY BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Council of Governments may face a cut-off of local funding soon. Several county commissioners contacted by the Times-News expressed reservations about funding to fund the organization. Currently, eight Magic Valley counties are funding the council through this year. The purpose of the council is to screen and approve all applications for federal funds coming out of any of the counties, according to Merl Leonard, Twin Falls County commissioner. But usually, Leonard said, the council just sends the funding applications to the counties which would be affected by the federal grant for review. Then, MVCOG gathers up the reviews and sends them back to the government. Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, Jerome, Camas, Blaine, Lincoln and Gooding counties are members of MVCOG. "It's a bureaucratic shuffling of papers as far as I'm concerned," Leonard said. He said that there is a "duplication of services" since each individual county could review federal grants on its own without going through MVCOG, he said. "We have had to see any direct or great amount of direct benefits for the dollar spent," Leonard said. He said, however, that it's "difficult to say" whether the counties will continue to fund MVCOG. Bill Chancey, Twin Falls County commissioner, and treasurer of MVCOG, said, "I think perhaps there's a place for it. But we're going to have to review the price tag." But he added, "I think that so far we probably getting the value reviewed as of now" when asked if the program is worth continuing. John Van Orman, Jerome County commissioner, said there has been "a lot of discussions" as to whether MVCOG has been "providing anything substantial." "I think the counties are going to take a pretty hard cold look" at continuation of MVCOG funding, he said. He said the purpose of MVCOG should be to help city and county planning and to help resolve differences between counties, and not to become "another entity of government." "What's happened recently," Van Orman said, "is that several of these councils of government got out on a tangent — trying to become another entity of government." He said that recently, however, MVCOG has become involved in some useful programs. He said the council has been working on ways to make all Magic Valley counties eligible for public works funds. Van Orman said that at this point he doesn't know where he stands on continuing funds to MVCOG. "I feel we're getting involved in too many different things," Minidoka County Commissioner Fred Maler said, expressing his personal feeling that the council is probably not worth funding. But, he said, he would have to review the matter with the rest of the commission before he reaches a definite conclusion. "I think it's just an extra organization which we don't have much use for," Ward Mills, Lincoln County commissioner, said. He said he did not know how the commission would vote as a whole, but that he personally feels MVCOG provides just a duplication of services.

Tells threat
TWO INCH thick psychiatric report is displayed in San Francisco by Al Johnson, attorney for Patricia Hearst. A court order bars him from disclosing its contents, but he said a hearing on her competency is set for Nov. 3. He also said her mail has included both marriage proposals and threats against Miss Hearst and her parents. (UPI)

Sadat plugs Palestinians again
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat urged President Ford to open a dialogue with Palestinians aimed at bringing peace to the Middle East and then flew to New York today to address the U.N. General Assembly. Sadat's departure from Andrews Air-Force Base outside Washington was delayed about 15 minutes, when a protocol argument erupted at planside.

McClellan backs Pentagon funding
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., urged the Senate Appropriations Committee today to reject any proposed spending cuts in the House-passed money bill for the Pentagon. "I do not recommend further reductions" in the fiscal 1976 measure, McClellan said in a statement prepared for delivery as the defense appropriations subcommittee began deliberations on the bill.

Soviets loft new Cosmos satellite
MOSCOW (UPI) — The 77th earth satellite in the Soviet Union's Cosmos series was placed in orbit today to conduct space research, Tass news agency said. All equipment aboard the Sputnik was functioning normally, it said.

New SALT round continues
GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — The United States and Soviet Union today continued their new round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) amid increasing doubts that any agreement can be reached by the end of the year. President Ford and Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, at their summit in Vladivostok last year, set the end of 1975 as the target date for a new SALT treaty.

Daily life skills lacking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A "shocking" 20 per cent of adult Americans have difficulty coping with necessary everyday skills like shopping or getting a driver's license, a government study revisiting traditional concepts of literacy showed today. The report on the four-year Adult Performance Level Study, released by the U.S. Office of Education, redefined the concept of so-called functional literacy as being more than the ability to read or write at some arbitrarily chosen grade level in school. Skills necessary to function as an adult or to cope with everyday demands also include reading job notices, making change, locating community services or understanding insurance or income tax concepts, the report said. By these standards, 19.7 per cent of Americans aged 16 and older "function only with difficulty," and another 33.9 per cent "are functional, but not proficient," said the report. "It is surprising, perhaps even shocking, to suggest that approximately one of five Americans is incompetent or functions with difficulty and that about half of the adult population is merely functional and not at all proficient in necessary skills and knowledge," the report said. The study was based on five national surveys of adults measuring reading, problem solving, computation and writing and the ability to apply these skills to everyday life situations involving jobs, health, government and law, community services and "consumer economics."

TF planner charges foes trying to scuttle plan

By GORDON JUDD
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls city-county planner David Richey has lashed out at local forces he says are trying to scuttle a strong comprehensive plan and get him fired. Richey defended the plan as a "solid effort" and criticized the City Council for failing to bring its critics to the planners. He claimed local real estate interests are trying to force his removal. "City and county elected officials don't act as though they are as interested in planning as our citizens do," Richey said in an interview. "We have a political machine that is primarily financed by those who make their money from real estate sales. It doesn't do any good to talk with them (elected officials). They do what they want to anyway," he said. However, he said, the real estate interests "do fall a little short of being in complete control, because they have been working for some time to get me canned and so far they haven't been successful."

Richey has been under fire in recent months, particularly since his first draft of the proposed county comprehensive plan was made public. Richey agrees his days as local planner may be numbered. Richey was hired as planner in 1974 after formation of the City-County Joint Planning Council late in 1973. Planning work began early in 1974. "I believe in the need for a plan, and the plan itself," Richey said. "I put my heart and soul into it on the basis that I was going to be one of the guys living with the decisions that we make in planning," he said. "I bought a home here and I've conducted myself on the basis that I was going to stay." As 1974 ended work was progressing well and his staff was developing a lot of information for the plan, he said. "We were using a two-part system which involved citizens," he said. First, the citizens wrote down their ideas and then they would hear speakers on the subject. The citizen groups would then discuss what they had heard among themselves and at their next meeting they would vote on issues. "This allowed the planning process to get input from citizen groups who had tested their original views against the views of others," he said. "About January 1975, city and county officials discontinued this program," Richey said. "They didn't seem willing to trust the citizens to plan," he said. "Instead they wanted all the planning done in-house." "There has to be debate to get people's minds going and in order to get most people satisfied with the plan," he said. Richey said that part of the reluctance on the part of elected officials is due to their realization that the plan they finally adopt will have legal "teeth" so that citizens can take legal action if it is not followed. "Officials seem to fear the citizen who will say 'Hey, you guys, you just did what the plan says we weren't going to do.'" "Citizens are supporting the plan because they want a plan to hold on to," he said. (Continued on p. 17)

'Favor' blasted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader charged today that thousands of Americans have been killed on the highways because the Nixon administration "boled out" a "political favor" by blocking installation of life-saving air bags on passenger cars. Nader cited the incident — which he called "the auto industry's Watergate" — as a major example of ineffective government regulation as Senate hearings opened into government regulatory agencies. The consumer advocate said a recent study by a former General Motors Corp. official estimated that 37,000 lives and $18.6 billion could have been saved had the so-called "passive restraints" been required equipment starting three years ago as the government originally planned.

Focal points of Beirut battle

Americans escape battle

 Most hospitals were trapped under fire and were running out of food, medicines and blood for the wounded who lay crowded in rows along the corridors.
 The Health Ministry said it could not respond to appeals from hospitals for blood because gunmen were firing on ambulances and mobile blood banks.
 "If this continues," said one doctor at a downtown hospital, "the wounded who might otherwise be saved will be dying in our wards like flies."
 Moslems attacking Christian positions around city's most expensive seaside hotel district appeared to be gaining ground in their push toward the Holiday Inn, a Christian stronghold.
 Witnesses said the Moslems pushed north from the main uptown shopping district to within a few hundred yards of Clemenceau street, one block south of the Holiday Inn.
 There some 200 persons, including American, British and French nationals, were trapped under heavy fire.
 The Moslems stormed through high-rise apartment buildings in the formerly Phalangist-held area and dragged away frightened Christian residents, witnesses said.
 Two Americans and an Australian woman trapped in the area were among those reported missing.
 They were identified as Dr. Jean Markarian, dean of Lebanon's Haligzian College, and his wife — both American nationals — and an Australian woman whose name was not immediately known.
 Armed men invaded their apartment near Clemenceau Street Tuesday evening and took them away.
 It was not immediately clear whether they had been seized by leftist Moslems or Christians who have evacuated a number of persons from the area over the past two days as the fighting intensified.
 Two other Americans, both officials of the United States Information Agency, were kidnapped last week and are still missing; Charles Gallagher, 44, of Roanoke, Va., and William Dykes Jr., 55, of San Jose, Calif.
 A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Lebanese authorities organized the evacuation at the United States' request. He said security forces were also trying to evacuate foreigners trapped in their homes in embattled areas.
 A wounded American newsman, Phillip Caputo of the Chicago Tribune, was among the first group of evacuees. He had been trapped in the embattled Trad Hospital near Hamra Street where he had been taken after being shot by Maslem gunmen last Sunday.
 "We're in the process of trying to get everybody out," the embassy spokesman said.

Plan proposed

 The President was critical of the way the city had carried on its fiscal affairs over the years.
 "During the last decade," he said, "the officials of New York City have allowed its budget to triple. No city can expect to remain solvent if it allows its expenses to increase by an average of 12 per cent every year, while its tax revenues are increasing by only 4 to 5 per cent a year."
 Ford said the bills in Congress to provide loan guarantees would disrupt the U.S. system of federalism.
 "I see a serious threat to the legal relationship among our federal, state and local governments in any congressional action which could lead to disruption of this traditional balance," he said.
 "Our largest city is no different in this respect than our smallest town. If Mayor (Abraham) Beame of New York City doesn't want Governor (Hugh) Carey to run his city, does he want the President of the United States to be acting mayor of New York?"

Body discovered
 SHOSHONE — Mrs. Frances E. Nordyke McLean, 44, was found dead about noon Thursday in her room at the McFall Hotel, Shoshone.
 The cleaning woman at the hotel found her hanging by the neck from a scarf tied to a clotheshook. She had apparently tied the scarf around her neck and then stood on a suitcase, pushing the suitcase aside and hanging herself, according to B.J. Anderson who investigated.
 She had lived in Shoshone since June and was employed by the McFall Hotel. Funeral services were in Boise.

Decision pending

BOISE (UPI) — Hearings on Idaho Power Company's request for a 26 per cent rate increase ended Tuesday and the Public Utilities Commission has until mid-January to reach a decision.
 More than 2,500 pages of transcripts and about 210 exhibits were received from 37 witnesses during the 14 days of hearings before the PUC.
 The company presented rebuttal testimony at the concluding hearing Tuesday, defending its $115 million cost overrun on construction of the Jim Bridger, Wyo., generating plant. Capitalization of Jim Bridger is a major component of the rate increase request.
 John Barkle, project manager for Bechtel Corp., which built the plant, said the overrun was caused by unanticipated low labor productivity, adverse weather and additions to original building plans. He said the additions amounted to $76 million extra.
 He said the company had a high worker turnover because of low wages in the Rock Springs, Wyo., area, poor housing and poor recreational facilities.
 Glenn Perkins, cost and scheduling supervisor for Bechtel, said the project required 13,000 laborers hired to maintain a work force of 1,100.

Regional airport fails to impress TF officials

By GORDON JUDD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — City and county officials still aren't sold on the idea of joining the South Idaho Regional Airport Authority (SIRAA).

At a meeting of the regional airport commission Tuesday night, the chairman of the SIRAA, George Forscher, told city officials Twin Falls would pay five times less for airport services if the city would join the regional airport fold.

But the City Council wasn't impressed. Forscher held out a plum to the city saying if the city joins the regional airport team, the SIRAA might take over the cost of maintaining Joslin Field until the regional airport is completed.

Again, the city and the county officials weren't buying the idea.

"Our taxpayers gave us a mandate to stay outside this authority," Merl Leonard county commissioner said. "There is a cloud over the situation and the people of this area (Twin Falls County) will have to have many more answers before changing their position."

Leonard said residents of Twin Falls feel that it would be better to keep on paying $100,000 to $150,000 per year in taxes to pay the present costs of operating Joslin Field than to take on an "unknown."

City Manager Jean Milor said based upon original estimates which called for 45.50 per cent participation by Twin Falls city-county residents if they joined SIRAA, a $4.5 million expansion program at Joslin Field will cost city-county taxpayers no more than joining SIRAA and paying for their share of a $10 million new airport.

SIRAA officials admit at the moment there is no federal money earmarked for the proposed regional airport.

And, an official of Idaho Transportation Department estimated Tuesday it might be next July before Congress releases funds for such projects.

"I think it's ridiculous to even ask you (Twin Falls city-county residents) to participate until the 'master study' is completed," Dr. L. V. Ruebel, SIRAA trustee, said.

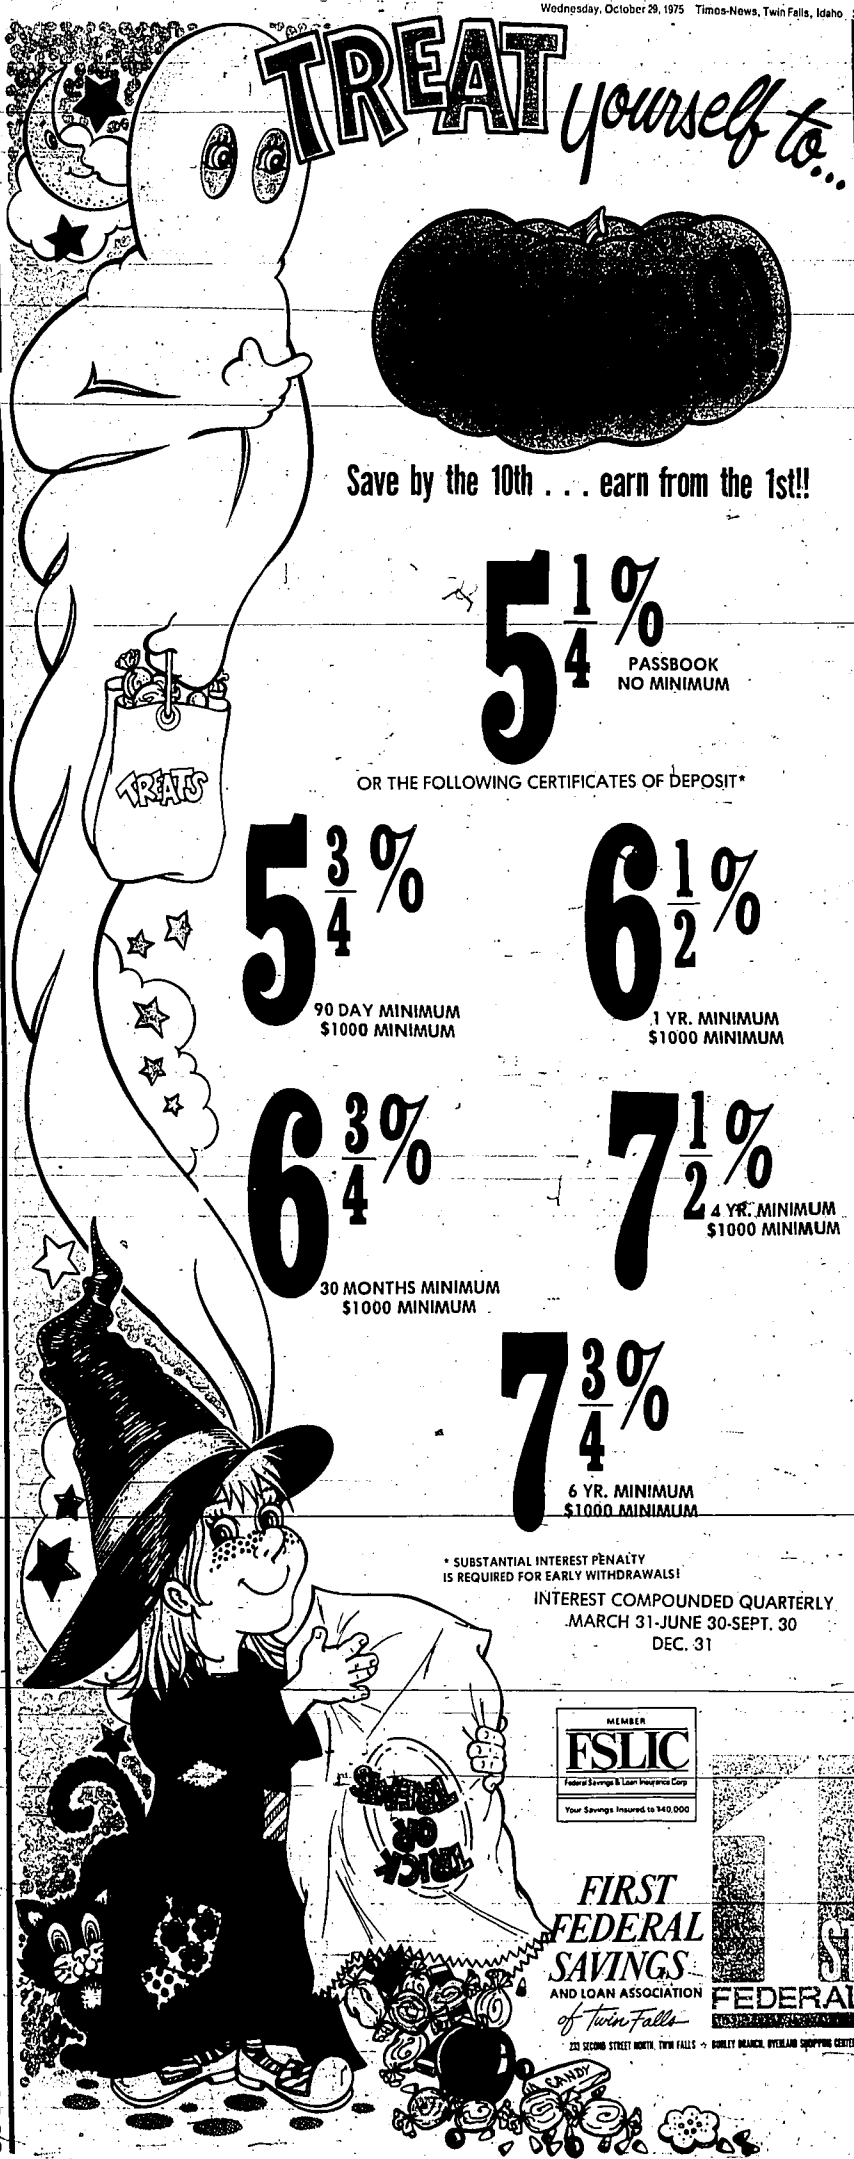

"We hope to show you that it will save your taxpayers money and if we can't show you this we don't expect your participation," he said.

SIRAA officials said federal funds are available to finish the master study now being prepared by TAP Inc., economic research aviation consultants.

"We should have a draft of the master study finished by May '76," James H. Monger, vice president, TAP Inc., said.

The master study is being done on the parcel of land south of Interstate 80 and east of Highway 93 he said. The study will address itself to questions concerning feasibility of such things as one runway, effect on underground water in the area, and will give much more detailed information on building costs than have previously been available, Monger said.

Both county and city officials expressed willingness to meet again with SIRAA officials after the master study has been completed and definite cost estimates are available.

TF students celebrate

TWIN FALLS — Nearly 1,400 Twin Falls Junior High students paraded from their respective schools to the high school to celebrate the end of the fall sports season.

O'Leary Junior High School calls it Red and White Day. Principal Carl Snow said about 900 students made the trip on foot to the high school.

Robert Stuart Junior High School calls it Robert Stuart Day and reported about 500 students made the trip.

Football teams from both junior highs will play each other, one game for the heavyweights and one for the lightweight.

Drill teams from each school will compete at the half times and between the two games.

Snow said the theme of Red and White Day was the bicentennial. Homeroom doors were decorated and judged by PTA president Bob King, Supl. George Staudacher and Twin Falls High School Principal Frank Charlton.

At Robert Stuart Junior High the students appeared in costumes of their favorite movie and television stars. Awards were presented to the best costumes.

TF women hurt in accident

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls women were treated at Twin Falls Clinic Hospital for injuries this morning after a one-car rollover on U.S. Highway 30 west of Twin Falls.

Sheriff's officers said a car driven by Patricia Lynn Anthony, 23, Twin Falls left the highway and rolled over one and one half times as the driver attempted to avoid striking another vehicle which had stopped in the lane of traffic to make a left turn.

Officers said the driver said she did not see the second vehicle until she was almost upon it. Both were traveling west. The accident occurred about 7:45 a.m. two and one-quarter miles west of Twin Falls.

Les Anthony and a passenger, Machele Leslie, 23, Twin Falls, were treated for cuts, bruises and held at the clinic hospital for X rays. Neither was seriously hurt, officers said.

Personal diplomacy fashionable but dangerous

WASHINGTON — Personal diplomacy is fashionable these days. We have pictures of Henry Kissinger shaking hands with Chairman Mao...

when he got to Peking this time. Chou En-Lai was too ill to see him and it is doubtful that they will ever meet again. Likewise, it was thought here that negotiations with Spain for the use of military and naval facilities in that country ought to keep in mind the pride and prejudices of Generalissimo Francisco Franco...

Nov. 17, 1974. This is not to say that personal diplomacy does not have its use or that Kissinger's own personality, character and wide-ranging mind have not made great contributions to some of the more positive events of recent world history. It is doubtful, for example, that Egypt would have taken even its limited step toward an accommodation with Israel unless Kissinger had won the confidence of Sadat.

Willy Brandt of West Germany, who left office for other reasons at the height of his influence in world politics. One does not dwell on the past to be morbid but to question the domination of personality in political affairs and to point to the instability of almost all of the major political leaders at the present time.

Proficiency tests could aid schools

A high school diploma today often says more about a student's endurance than his academic achievement. A diploma means the student made it through 12 years of school with passing grades, but it doesn't say much about his ability to read, write or solve simple mathematical problems.

In order to deal with the problem, the state of California will soon begin administering a stiff "high school proficiency examination" to help settle such questions.

The examinations would be so difficult that the average senior will barely be able to pass it. If a student of average class can pass the exam, he would be able to leave high school and begin work or college.

State colleges would be required to treat the passed exam as if it were a high school diploma. California educators see several advantages in the program. They expect it to give an incentive for restless students to try to pass the exam rather than become truants or dropouts.

California, unfortunately, has not carried the test idea far enough. Its test would be optional. If it really is a stiff one many students won't even try to pass it for fear of failure and embarrassment. It would be better to routinely administer the test to every graduating senior, making test performance part of the student's permanent record.

Then the graduate would have his diploma, grade average and test performance to offer colleges and prospective employers. As important, the scores would provide one fair way of judging the teaching performance of each school system.

As it is now, parents and the community have no reliable way to judge the quality of education offered by a local school system. Across-the-board testing should give some clues.

The most important effect of quality control in the school system would be its probable impact on student performance. A student who knows he must master a subject area rather than simply pass a course may have more reason to hit the books.

The notion of quality control testing may also have its place at the College of Southern Idaho and Idaho's four-year colleges.

There are a good many college graduates who also can't read well, write fluently or even work a percentage with any reliability.

UN may get call in Lebanon

By NEA/London Economist News Service. BEIRUT — (LENS) — Lebanon can now boast, if that is the word, of having in Beirut the most battle-scarred of all the Arab capitals.

The earlier rounds of fighting were started by fighting Christian Phalangists. In the fighting that led to the latest ceasefire, the Muslims were taking revenge for the burning down of a Moslem souk by the Phalange. They drew in their leftist allies, who in turn pulled in the leftist Palestinian groups of the PLO.

The successive rounds of fighting have shown that neither side has been capable of improving its position on the ground in a major way. The Phalange has for some time wanted to widen the Lebanese conflict, it has achieved the first through last week's meeting of Arab foreign ministers in Carico.

detente, which they condemn as a policy of "illusions" that could lead to "grave consequences." It is more than fairly self-deprecating for an American President to journey all that distance to placate the uneasy Chinese.

The symbolic value of the trip at this time is also questioned on the grounds that the Chinese leadership is enfeebled by age and illness (Dr. Kissinger's prognosis of Chinese premier Chou En-Lai, over dinner in Ottawa recently, was that he is dying).

Chairman Mao Tse-tung held court for Kissinger in Peking and permitted pictures to be taken, presumably to discount stories of his invalidism and to reaffirm that the Washington-Peking connection still has theological blessing. But that hardly justifies a mission of homage on Ford's part.

Consequently, the suspicion spreads that the trip has no apparent virtue beyond making the Russians nervous and elevating Ford's appeal to American voters by casting him in the role of a statesman. Neither purpose is persuasive to those who believe the President might spend his time more usefully at home.

This business of traveling to induce nervousness in adversaries, real and potential, could be getting out of hand. To keep Moscow nervous, Ford must go to China; to keep China nervous, Brezhnev must come to Washington; to keep Ford nervous, Reagan must go to New Hampshire and Florida; to keep Reagan nervous, Ford must go to California; to keep other Democrats nervous, George Wallace must go to Europe; to keep Wallace nervous, other Democrats must go to Alabama. Egypt's Anwar Sadat comes to Washington, and Israel's Yitzhak Rabin checks out west-bound flight schedules. It is this keeps up, the world's politicians may turn out to be a collection of nervous wrecks.

The notion that, Ford can make political capital as a latter-day Marco Polo is seriously doubted now that the novelty of summitting has worn off. Richard Nixon made a big score in Peking in 1972 because his visit represented a diplomatic breakthrough of stunning scope, but not all the cheering millions in the streets of Cairo and Alexandria could save him from himself.

Ford gained little in public standing from his summer excursion to Bonn, Helsinki, Bucharest and Belgrade, and the guess here is that the people have become long-distance locomotion for statesmanship.

Lifting a glass of the murderous mal-tal liquor to toast Chou En-Lai, as Nixon did, was a breathless spectacle, given the enduring eminence of the elegant and urbane Chou in contemporary history and Nixon's astonishing turnaround in his attitude toward the Communist chieftains. But Ford toasting Teng Hsiang-ping and Chiao Kuan-hua?

The President is unlikely to be dissuaded from taking his summer to Cathay by the fog of his critics. He's a traveling man, as restless and mobile as the late Lyndon Johnson, and his principal adviser and agent, Kissinger, is an impatient citizen who would disagree with the observation of the late Adlai Stevenson that hurrying history is not the work of a wise man.

Kissinger would be more inclined to agree with Arnold Toynbee, whose death the other day was a reminder of man's struggle to make order, that which is disconnected and often chaotic. But to Toynbee, the pace of civilizations was glacial, and he got his inspiration for his bulky study of history while riding a train across Bulgaria in 1921. B.D. (before death), contemplating the landscape. As the train chugged slowly along, Toynbee made notes and had long gloomy thoughts about man's upward reach toward the light.

The swift flight of the presidential jet is scarcely conducive to reflective thought, and the President is not a contemplative man anyway. He doesn't make notes on the course of mankind. And if things get too dull in China, Kissinger can keep the boss beguiled with quips as they make their way around beautiful downtown Peking.

Arms required for protection

Editor, Times-News: Question: What is the cause of the increase in crime?

We have the anti-gun group that blames guns; a recent article in the Times-News, blamed automobiles. What is the answer?

There is only one common factor that is present in all crimes, a person or persons — the criminal. Why the increase in crime? Perhaps this will answer that question in part.

A recent study by the California Senate Juvenile Delinquency Committee reveals that nearly 70 per cent of all convicted felons were released on probation following sentencing, 62 per cent of the people who commit homicides in California have been previously arrested for crimes of violence and, on the average, the person had been arrested two and one-half times prior for felonies. Felony crimes have tripled in the last 13 years while prison sentences have decreased 66 per cent.

"Who is to blame? What is to blame? I believe in rehabilitation where possible but from the books of these figures my conclusion is that we have to look hard at the Department of Health and Welfare, and the pressure placed on the judges to turn these criminals back on the streets. I can see a first time offender on probation but an average of two and one-half times."

This makes it all the more important to protect our right to keep and bear arms for our own protection and the best way I know to do this is to belong to and support the National Rifle Association. RAYMOND J. RANDAL, TWIN FALLS

States draw blame for food stamp fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lax administration by the states is the main reason so many ineligible persons are getting food stamps and they may be asked to reimburse the federal government for their errors, says a Treasury official.

A Treasury Department study—upon which President Ford relied in proposing to off 3.4 million persons from food stamp eligibility, said Tuesday more than nine million persons using food stamps are either not eligible to get them at all or get too many or too few.

About two of every five persons using food stamps got too many, the study said. And, as a result, one of every eight eligible persons got less help than they were entitled to. About 19 million persons get food stamps to help them pay grocery bills.

The number of errors in the program are "incredible," said Treasury official Hazel Gale.

He said the states' sloppiness in administering the program costs the federal government between $500 million and $1 billion a year. Because the states are liable for mistakes, Gale said, the results of the study indicate states will either have to repay the funds or reduce the number of food stamps they get in the future.

Currently, a family with income of $12,000 or more a year can be eligible under extreme circumstances, such as high medical bills or unemployment.

The study found the worst abuses were in Massachusetts, where errors were made in 93 percent of the state's food stamp cases. Rhode Island and Illinois. Rhode Island officials made errors in 84 percent of state food stamp cases. In Illinois, 51.5 percent of those receiving food stamps were not eligible.

Even in the best administered state programs, Oklahoma and Washington, errors were made in nearly one of every four applications for food stamps. Idaho had the lowest number of ineligible, 2.3 percent, but over-issued to eligible persons 23.3 percent of the time.

Gale, deputy director of the Treasury's new materials office, helped write the study that President Ford used to develop his proposed legislation to trim the food stamp rolls by 17 percent next year.

Ford proposed to Congress last week that 3.4 million persons should be cut from the food stamp rolls to save the federal government $1.2 billion a year. The President would allow the income ceiling for eligibility to $12,000 a year for an urban family of four or $8,000 for an urban family of four that includes one person over 60 years of age.

Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., later added that even if such an amendment did pass Congress it would take "at best" six or seven years before it was ratified by the required three-fourths of the states.

Nevertheless the Committee stands a good chance of voting out such an amendment and forcing the Senate into one of the most emotional debates of the session.

Sen. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky., acknowledged such a probability when he told the committee: "It has been said that this issue should not be brought to a vote in the House and Senate because it would tear apart Congress. Let me or, hazie that it is better that Congress be torn apart than the session."

Clash between probers, White House into open

WASHINGTON — Escalating differences between the Senate Intelligence Investigating Committee and the White House on how much should be disclosed about U.S. spying have now broken into the open.

The argument has never been far below the surface.

However, both sides have usually managed to come up with an acceptable compromise that frequently occurred shortly before public hearings were to be held on a particular aspect of intelligence.

In the view of Chairman Frank Church, D-Ida., and his top staff members such compromises did not suffice what they see as the essential integrity of the investigation — as the duty to explore what they viewed as illegal acts in the name of national security.

In the White House view — and probably the CIA's as well — the matters made public, while disagreeable and uncomfortable, did not essentially compromise the national security.

But now both Church and Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., have taken broad swipes at the administration, as well as the CIA and the Defense Department for what they regard as attempts to stifle further committee revelations.

The public airing of the anger comes as the panel began consideration today of the activities of the National Security Agency (NSA).

President Ford has been against any public discussion of the NSA, the largest unit of government responsible for the nation's defense with a capacity to intercept, read, decode and otherwise learn the secrets of foreign countries through their electronic communications.

Church told reporters yesterday that objection to the committee inquiries were now being made on a "broadening front," but added that his committee was going ahead with the NSA inquiry, nevertheless.

Such a session started last Friday under a house subcommittee headed by Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y. But it was adjourned in short order after brief testimony by representatives of the American Telephone and Telegraph Corp., who had barely tapped the host of intelligence agencies' monitoring of telephone and telegraphic communications.

Church also said CIA Director William E. Colby had asked the committee at Tuesday's executive session, at which events in Chile — prior to the overthrow of its government in 1973 — were under discussion, not to hold a public hearing.

Pachyderm dies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ziggy, who took the name of his patron, showman Lorenz Ziegfeld, and rose to stardom as a "bad boy" in the circus and the zoo before spending 30 years in solitary confinement, is dead.

The ill-tempered 13,000 pound bull elephant, believed to have been the largest pachyderm in captivity, died late Monday at suburban Brookfield Zoo.

When, more than 50 years ago, the Asian elephant was being unloaded at a New York dock at the age of 2, Ziegfeld spotted him and bought him as a birthday present for his 6-year-old daughter.

House panel eyes 'risks'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The House Select Committee on Intelligence is in the midst of a closed-door investigation into what its chairman has termed the "risks" posed by undercover intelligence operations carried out by American agencies both in this country and overseas.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, who heads the 13-member committee, has declined to specify the covert activities that are being examined, except to say that his panel is "discussing risk, from the risk of violating individual rights of citizens to the risk of war."

Committee sources have confirmed, however, that one area of concern is secret "American intelligence gathering" forays aimed at unfriendly nations that might be discovered or acknowledged by the United States, prompt a diplomatic or even a military reaction.

Tape session set

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — President Ford will answer before videotaped interrogations in Washington on what he saw and heard when Manson cultist Lynette Fromme allegedly aimed a .45-caliber pistol at him.

The tape consists of the attempted assassination trial of Miss Fromme which begins next Tuesday, but a federal judge ordered it cannot be broadcast publicly.

Acting on White House orders, federal prosecutors asked U.S. District Court

Judge Thomas MacBride to modify his order that Ford answer before videotape cameras a defense and prosecution questions about the Sept. 5 incident in which Miss Fromme allegedly aimed the automatic at him point blank.

But MacBride refused Tuesday to change his mind, labeling as "unacceptable" the alternatives suggested by the prosecutors — a transcribed deposition or written questions and answers.

The White House announced it will not appeal the order.

Leftists decry attack plot

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — A group of leftist army officers today accused air force commanders of stockpiling weapons and supplies in preparation for an attack on Portugal's pro-Communist forces.

The group said they have accumulated evidence that "only permits us to conclude that the reactionary sector of the air force is making preparations to launch a mass operation."

The statement by the "Air Force

Revolutionary Vigilance commission" said the preparations were being made at individual bases around the countryside, including an obsolete North Atlantic Treaty Organization base south of Oporto.

The group, set up by far left air force troops without official approval, is similar to civilian vigilance committees created by the Communists and their supporters.

Official chill greets Sadat in NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — An official chill descended on New York today to signal the arrival of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in the city's largest Jewish city.

Mayor Abraham Beame backed out of plans to present Sadat a key to the city and declined to greet Sadat at the airport.

Beame, citing a United Nations committee's recent approval of a resolution linking Zionism to racism, also called off plans to pay a courtesy call on Sadat at his hotel, apparently despite State Department urging to go ahead with it.

The city's only official welcome planned was a meeting by Beame's protocol chief, Public Events Commissioner Angier Biddle Duke.

Sadat's chief spokesman said Tuesday the Egyptian President had "no reaction whatsoever" to Beame's snub.

Gov. Hugh Carey, citing previous commitments involving the city's fiscal crisis, also said he would not be on hand to greet Sadat. A Carey spokesman said the "governor" was not snubbing Sadat. The spokesman said the State Department had set up a Carey-Sadat meeting without checking first with Carey's office.

Sadat's spokesman, M. Bashir, said in Washington that it was Beame who originally asked to meet the Egyptian leader. Bashir said Beame had asked the Egyptian consulate in New York May 14 if he could meet Sadat during his visit to the city "and we accommodated him."

A spokesman for Beame denied that a formal request for a meeting was made.

In calling off plans to present Sadat with a key to the city, Beame said, "I believe it would be an act of hypocrisy on my part to participate in any welcoming ceremony with any chief of state who has been party to the United Nations resolution which seeks to revive a new form of racism as a substitute for the principles of understanding and peaceful negotiations upon which this world body was formed."

Golan clash leaves 2 dead

TEL AVIV — Israeli forces killed two Arab guerrillas and captured five in the central sector of the Golan Heights, according to a military communique issued today.

A formal complaint has been lodged with the U.N. Disengagement Observation Force, foreign ministry spokesman Binjamin Navon said.

The incident was said to have occurred at 1:30 p.m. local time Tuesday after the seven Arabs, described by the military command as members of El Fatah, infiltrated Israel-held territory from Syria. There were no casualties on the Israeli side, a spokesman said.

Basing his statements on information extracted from the captives, the military spokesman said the band set forth from the Syrian town of Suweida, where, he said, they underwent training for sabotage operations in Israel.

The guerrillas were said to have headed for "a civilian target" in the Golan Heights, but officials were not prepared to identify it.

even though the idea met with immediate resistance from Israeli and American government officials.

"It might be in your minds a grandiose dream, but in our minds it's a realistic plan," explained Ir Rubin, West Coast coordinator for the group.

The JDL will recruit men and women, Jews and Gentiles — preferably those with previous military service — to go to Israel and free soldiers there to go home and boost their nation's economy.

"We feel that the pressure on the state of Israel both from within and without is extraordinary," he explained.

"We think it can culminate in a nuclear disaster.

"The pressure from Henry Kissinger and from Gerald Ford continues. We believe it is mandatory now that we do something in order to save Israel from dire peril."

League seeking guards

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Jewish Defense League plans to raise an army of one million armed volunteers to guard Israel's borders and help protect the Jewish nation from "a nuclear disaster."

Spokesmen for the group insisted Tuesday that their scheme is a viable and necessary one.

even though the idea met with immediate resistance from Israeli and American government officials.

"It might be in your minds a grandiose dream, but in our minds it's a realistic plan," explained Ir Rubin, West Coast coordinator for the group.

Asks Yanks back

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky believes American troops should return to Vietnam to serve as a "rally point" for Vietnam se who want to resist the current Communist government.

Ky also told a University of Alabama audience Tuesday night that a number of atrocities by U.S. South Vietnamese and Communist troops in Vietnam still have not been revealed to the American public.

even though the idea met with immediate resistance from Israeli and American government officials.

"It might be in your minds a grandiose dream, but in our minds it's a realistic plan," explained Ir Rubin, West Coast coordinator for the group.

Suspects jailed in London bombing

LONDON (UPI) — Police said today they arrested two women and four men suspected of planting a bomb last week that narrowly missed Caroline Kennedy, the daughter of the late president John F. Kennedy.

The Thursday bomb attack blew apart a car of British Member of Parliament Hugh Fraser, killing Prof. Gordon Hamilton Fairley, one of Britain's leading cancer researchers who had looked underneath the vehicle.

The six suspects were not identified and were being held in secret locations against the possibility of a rescue attempt.

Police said the two women were sisters.

The blast came just before Fraser was to drive Miss Kennedy, staying with the Fraser family, to an art class.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said the suspects were arrested under an anti-terrorism act that provides for detention without charge for 72 hours.

The arrest came after a man was picked up on traffic charges earlier in the week whose clothes, police said, showed traces of explosives.

Tuesday night, the other suspects were taken into custody in south London.

Throng goes for border

MARRAKESH, Morocco (UPI) — A truck caravan of 35,000 Moroccans, the largest contingent yet of volunteers for the march into Spanish Sahara, set out for the border early today despite diplomatic moves for a settlement.

In Madrid, Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki and Mauritanian Foreign Minister Hamdi Ould Moukass Tuesday presented Spain with a plan to partition Spanish Sahara between Mauritania and Morocco, Moroccan sources said.

Spanish military authorities, meanwhile, announced plans to evacuate Spanish civilians from Spanish Sahara in the first two weeks of November, when the Moroccan marchers are expected to arrive.

In El Ajun, capital of Spanish Sahara, Spanish troops occupied key points of the city and clamped a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Officials said the move was designed to head off terrorism by factions opposed the march of 350,000 unarmed volunteers into Spanish Sahara called by Morocco's King Hassan.

In Casablanca, hundreds of trucks carrying 35,000 march volunteers rolled toward the frontier 500 miles to the south over humpy, sand-swept roads.

Device tested

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI) — The Soviet Union today exploded an underground nuclear device in Siberia, the Uppsala Seismological Institute said.

The test, seeping shocks measuring 6.7 on the open-ended Richter scale, occurred at 5:47 a.m. (9:47 p.m. MST).

"It was a relatively strong test, which can be compared with the nuclear test carried out Tuesday by the United States in Nevada," Prof. Marcus Baath of the Institute said.

TF Soroptimists honor 6 TF women at Founder's Day fete

TWIN FALLS — Soroptimist International of Twin Falls honored six women, nominated by Twin Falls women's service clubs, at a Founder's Day Dinner Tuesday night.

The honorees include Mary Helen Perry, Altrusa Club; Mrs. Doris Harper, Magic Valley Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Harper is active in her church, in Eastern Star and in Magic Valley PTA and is aided by those who know her to be truly a woman helping women.

Mrs. Perry taught first grade for 12 years and was principal of Washington School for 14 years. She is now retired and is active in ISVP and serves as president of the retired teachers organization. She supervises the student teacher program and teaches a class and is chairman of an influential committee in her church. People who have known Mrs. Perry say "She is keenly interested in the lives of others and ready to help."

Mrs. Harper has been active in several organizations. She organized the loan fund for girls attending CSI through the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's Club.

She was responsible for formation of the first group of senior citizens in Idaho, the Silver and Gold Club.

She helped make arrangements for the Twin Falls senior citizens bus. She is a charter member of the Magic Valley Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Harper is active in her church, in Eastern Star and in Magic Valley PTA and is aided by those who know her to be truly a woman helping women.

Mrs. Bender has worked at the Easter Seal Clinic for the past 10 years, giving massages and helping handicapped children with exercises. She has also worked mending hospital linens and sewing pinkies with the Hospital Guild for several years. She has helped make the Christmas baby stockings. For many years she has helped community residents by twin sitting and caring for elderly people when their family is out of town.

She has taken food and flowers in sickness and death. All of her services have been without pay.

She was born in Czechoslovakia, and came to the United States when she was 12. She was a member of a family with 11 children and when her father was killed she had to begin working in order to help support the family. She is a member of the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's Club and other women's organizations.

Mrs. Reed organized the first YWCA in Twin Falls and served as its first president and organized the business girls of the Y into a club with 46 members.

She was instrumental in bringing USO to Twin Falls during World War II and was state chairman of the Twin Falls County War Bond drive. She has worked in the United Methodist Sunday School and Church and served as president of the Bicket School PTA for two years.

She began the hot lunch program at the Junior-senior high school when hot soup and cocoa were made in members' homes and carried to the school in milk cans to serve to the students.

She was a Camp Fire leader for many years and has been a working member of the Twentieth Century Club for many years. She received the Junior Chamber of Commerce Golden Key Award for exceptional work with youth and mothers and is still active in many organizations.

Mrs. Stafford is social director and admissions clerk at Sky-View and Hazel Dell homes and works to help women make the adjustment to leaving a home they have maintained for many years. She maintains contact with the members' families and plans special foods and diets when needed as well as organizing enjoyable activities. She has traveled with her husband, Dick, to Europe and the Mediterranean countries. She is a member of the Soroptimist club and helps with the Golden Age Club, sponsored by the Soroptimist Club and the city of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Prinee directs all programs at the "Y" for women. She served as general director for "Women's Awareness Week" in March.

In May, the women's center at the "Y" was opened. She plans women's programs and activities which include noon forums, discussion groups, assertive awareness program and others.

Mrs. Prinee and her husband, Tim, moved to Twin Falls 15 months ago.

Abby

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I attended the third funeral in two months, and I promised myself I would not attend another whose services were conducted by this minister. Each time I was trapped for over an hour with a preacher who started with the sins of Adam and Eve and worked his way through the New Testament. He said nothing to comfort the family and made no mention of the deceased. Instead, he launched into a tirade, calling everyone present "sinners" and predicting that the world was going to hell because of its greed and selfishness. Then he wrapped it up with a pitch to raise money for the church's building campaign. It was revolting!

Minister rapped

People come to a funeral to pay their last respects to the deceased, not to be bawled out by the preacher or to be solicited for money.

What is your opinion of a minister who would take advantage of a full house in the above manner?
REVOLVED IN ROANOKE

DEAR REVOLVED: I think he's a short-sighted opportunist—who believes in shooting the ducks while they're flying.

DEAR ABBY: My husband retired recently and found himself with very few pleasures and interests, so he bought a myna bird. Now he spends all his time teaching the bird "dirty words and vulgar phrases."

Needless to say, a four-living myna bird is a source of much embarrassment when I have my bridge club meetings here. Also, it's a very bad example for my grandchildren who visit me often.

I have asked my husband to please get rid of that bird, but he refuses.

Please help me before I move in with my daughter and her family.

SERIOUS IN EUGENE, ORE.

District 38, Springvale; complete term reports, complete census, no grade books.

Rebekah Lodge plans trip

JEROME — Members of Springing Rebekah Lodge No. 1140 will make their annual trip to the Home on the Hill, Caldwell, this weekend, it was announced at a meeting Monday night.

The trip is made annually to donate packaged food to the home. No home canned food can be used. Gifts may be left at the Lodge Hall each morning until 1 p.m.

Mrs. Mildred Walker was appointed lodge deputy for Springing Rebekah Lodge by Mary Lee Martin, Gooding, district deputy.

Ellen L. Platt, president of the Idaho Rebekah State Assembly, will make her official visit to the lodge Jan. 26.

A meeting of the development plan district extension clubs for Rebekah and Odd Fellows will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Wendell Lodge Hall.

Mrs. Willard Shropshire received the dedication of civility at the state meeting and received gifts at Monday's meeting.

Anna Hiatt was honored with a traditional memorial service conducted by Mrs. Lois Heading, Mrs. Verla Nelson and Mrs. Elsie Adams.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Mary Mann, Mrs. Mabel Overton and Mrs. Maud Metcalf.

Minipill acceptance limited

© Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — Minipills, progestogen-only oral contraceptives — far from heralding a new era in birth control, have gained only limited acceptance according to a report from George Washington University (GWU) here.

only small doses of the sex hormone progestogen, rather than the combination of progestogen-estrogen of the older oral contraceptives, were introduced in the late 1960s. Because they did not contain estrogen, considered the culprit in many of the side effects that afflict women taking the pill, including breakthrough in providing safe, effective and convenient contraception. But practical experience with the minipills has shown that they are not as effective as combination pills in preventing pregnancy and that they cause irregularities in the menstrual cycle that are disconcerting to large numbers of users, the report said.

The menstrual irregularities — bleeding or spotting between periods and variations in length-of-menstrual-cycles — are a major reason women have discontinued use of the minipills, up to 20 per cent in some clinical trials. The minipills also require users to take a pill every day, unlike the traditional combination pills that are taken for 21 days and discontinued for seven, with a corresponding increase in the regularity of menstrual cycles.

The GWU report also showed that forgetting the minipill for just one or two days, or losing its effect because of vomiting or diarrhea cuts markedly lower its contraceptive effectiveness. The minipills were shown to be about as effective as Intrauterine Devices (IUD's) in preventing pregnancies. If taken as directed, with a pregnancy rate of about two per 100 women, this means that over any one year period, two out of 100 women using the minipills would become pregnant.

The minipills are being used by no more than 150,000 women out of the 50 million taking oral contraceptives world-wide, the GWU report said.

However, the GWU report noted that the minipills did cause fewer alterations in the metabolism than the combination pills, and were a useful alternative for women who are breast feeding their children or who should avoid estrogen for other reasons.

Haunted house

THE Twin Falls Joy-C-ettes will present a "haunted house" this week at the National Guard Armory next to the College of Southern Idaho. Above, Cyd Dillon, co-chairman of the event, holds up sign advertising the haunted house open from 7 p.m. through midnight Thursday through Saturday. Proceeds will go toward Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets for the needy.

TWIN FALLS — The Downtowners will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Rogerson Roundup Room to finalize plans for their Christmas promotion. A possible raise in dues will be analyzed and plans for the annual election of officers for the coming year will be discussed.

JEROME — Members of the Jerome Toastmistress Club will have a second annual book fair from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the H & R Block office, West Main. Offerings will include novels, historical material, mystery paperbacks and hard cover books, plus some National Geographic and other magazines. Funds will be used to support club projects.

TWIN FALLS — Albert will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Fireside Lounge of the Presbyterian Church. Interested persons are invited.

This bid suggests the possibility of "defending" at clubs in case East-West have the hand. It also suggests game possibilities if South has the balance of power. South does have the balance of power. He has 10 high-card points and good club support. He also has a balanced hand with a spade stopper and decides to try for the game in a notrump. He bids two notrump and North is happy to take him right to game. There is no problem in the play. South takes his king of spades and promptly cashes six clubs, with two hearts before giving up the lead.

ASK THE GOOD'S

A Michigan reader wants to know if we recall a diamond-opening bid in our right with: AQJ76 ♠51 ♦K832 ♣75. The answer is a resounding affirmative. We don't have an opening bid, but we do have a good spade suit and when you have a good spade suit it behooves you to get into the action. (Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby
 The object of bidding is to win as many points as possible with good hands and lose as few as possible with bad ones. General experience has shown that when you hold 13 or more high-card points you will do well to open the bidding. It has also shown that when you want to compete against an opponent's opening bid your main requirement is playing strength. When you overcall, you risk getting doubled. North has an opening bid. It includes a six-card club suit and North gets right into the action with a two-club overcall.

Business remains open despite fire

TWIN FALLS — Insurance adjusters were working today to determine damage estimates in a storage room fire Sunday at the Twin Falls Club on Falls Avenue.

Fire Department Capt. Ted Poulton said the fire cause has not been determined and is still under investigation. It broke out in a food storage room at the rear of the building and was pretty well contained in that one room, he said.

In fact, Poulton said, the fire was just about out when firemen arrived because the heat had melted a copper joint fitting on a water pipe causing water to spray into the room and quell the blaze. Otherwise, he said, the entire building would probably have been damaged.

Shelving in the storage area collapsed and smoke spread through the entire club and officials of the business said considerable kitchen cleanup will be required before the club is back in full operation. A luncheon scheduled for today is being catered from the Depot Grill. Officials said the business will be in full operation shortly.

Employees of the club left about 2 a.m. Sunday, the fire department official said, and discovered the fire on returning about 8:55 a.m.

The club is located across the street from the fire department substation and equipment was on the scene immediately. Firemen finished putting out the fire and cleared smoke from the building.

Lack of money occupies consumer groups

Washington Star WASHINGTON — The cost of food still outrages it and concern-causing substances still frighten it, but the preoccupation of the consumer movement these days is money — the lack of it.

The movement is almost broke. It is living a precarious, hand-to-mouth existence dependent largely on the survival instincts of its leaders, who scratch around for the few public-interest dollars still left.

The pickings are pretty slim during shaky financial times because most supporters of the movement come from the middle class, consumer leaders say. This means that a $15 contribution to a consumer group is one of the first expenses to be cut by a family trying to stay within a household budget.

"Consumerism is a luxury item during bad economic periods... Its as simple as that," says a Washington-based public interest lawyer.

It is the government, always a fat target for the lean, hungry consumer movement, which is now a major financial support of it.

Most groups, while willing to alter their activities to qualify for government money, would rather die a natural, economic death than grasp at the carrot of corporate money which often is dangled before them.

The effects of the lack of money on the work of the movement are sometimes subtle and sometimes so obvious they are painful for its members to see.

Lack of money means fewer professionals in the movement, less visibility on Capitol Hill, less time to argue matters of health and safety before regulatory agencies and no funds to organize the grass roots, especially on election issues. The impact has been felt nationally in planned programs that never got off the ground. Most were intended to supply organizations with funds and expertise before the coming elections.

At the state and city levels the combination of no money — and in many cases smaller memberships — is more obvious. Consumer leaders say the money crunch is likely to be felt locally in the following areas:

- Utility rate cases and the expert testimony local public interest groups have provided.
- Consumer representation on and before local public service commissions.
- Lobbying before state legislatures on issues including prescription drug prices, milk marketing orders, hospital costs and no-fault insurance.
- Consumer pressure on local candidates to endorse public-interest projects as part of campaign platforms.

Elleen Gorman, executive director of the National Consumers Congress, finds herself hustling for dollars for the first time in her consumer-oriented career.

Seven days of testimony ends, case goes to jury

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The jury began deliberations today in the first degree murder trial of Everett Hofmeister after lengthy testimony prevented the case from going to the jury as expected Tuesday.

The six-man, three-woman jury heard seven full days of testimony before beginning deliberations.

Hofmeister, 44, is accused of the strangulation death of his wife, June Darlene, near Sandpoint in July of 1974. The trial was moved to Lewiston on a change of venue.

One of the last few witnesses to testify was William Cronie, Boise, a consulting engineer, who said Mrs. Hofmeister's strangulation could have been caused "when her sweater became entangled on the gearshift or another knob of the truck in which her body was found."

Earlier in the trial, a crime lab expert testified for the prosecution that he believed the truck was traveling north to 13 miles per hour when it went over an embankment.

But Cronie said there were too many unknowns to determine just how fast the truck the woman was driving went down the embankment.

Mrs. Hofmeister was first thought to have died in a traffic accident, but an autopsy revealed she was strangled and authorities classified the death as homicide.

Hofmeister, former Bonner County prosecutor, was later indicted by a grand jury for the murder.

Earlier Tuesday, Lodge refused to admit the testimony of a polygraph operator that Hofmeister had nothing to do with the death of his wife based on findings of a polygraph test.

Lodge said further examination into the admissibility of polygraph results is needed by the courts.

In an earlier ruling, Lodge denied a motion for acquittal on grounds of insufficient evidence, but agreed with defense attorneys outside the presence of the jury that not enough evidence was presented with which to convict Hofmeister of first degree murder.

Hofmeister also took the stand in his own defense and denied killing his wife, but admitted having a love affair with his secretary, Phyllis Tibbels, prior to his wife's death.

McClure co-sponsors bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, announced today he is co-sponsoring Pres. Gerald Ford's National Food Stamp Return bill.

McClure said the present food-stamp program, which is expected to spend more than $6 billion in the coming year, "has become a haven for freeloaders and those who seek every government handout."

"There is a need for low-income families to receive help," he said, "but the ever increasing number of higher-income recipients is seriously overburdening the American taxpayer."

Fiscal officer sought

BOISE (UPI) — The Office of the State Board of Education once again is looking for a fiscal officer.

Winn Sanderson, whose appointment as chief fiscal officer and deputy director for fiscal planning was approved by the board earlier this month, declined to accept the position for "personal reasons."

Instead, he will retain his post as financial vice president at the University of Nebraska.

Persons who applied for the job vacated when Dr. James Todd became financial vice president of Portland State University are being re-interviewed, a spokesman for the board said.

McClure asks premium audit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, announced Tuesday he has requested an audit of the proposed increases in health insurance premiums, especially those of Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Aetna.

The Civil Service Commission last week announced that many federal employees will be paying 55 per cent and more under the increases.

McClure joined other senators in asking the General Accounting Office to undertake an immediate audit of the proposed increase in health insurance premiums.

"If such an increase is found to be required, then I urge the GAO to provide Congress with a breakdown of the various components of the increase, and actions, if any, that Congress should consider to prevent or reduce such increases in the future."

The nation's health expenditures in 1974 totaled $104 billion, an eightfold increase since 1950; he said.

Moving expense claim challenged

BOISE (UPI) — State Auditor Joe R. Williams challenged today a $1,964.90 claim for moving expenses of a new state employee from Idaho Falls to Boise.

"This is not a transfer," the auditor said, pointing to regulations that provide for certain intrastate moving expenses when state employees are transferred permanently from one community to another.

"This is hiring a new employee."

Williams said he will take the claim, submitted by David W. Haderlie, a transportation investigator recently hired by the Public Utilities Commission, to the Board of Examiners today.

He said he did not object to one portion of the claim, which asked for reimbursement of $97.92 for mileage and other expenses involved when Haderlie was interviewed in Boise for the new job.

Holiday pay questioned

BOISE (UPI) — An assistant attorney general held Tuesday that part-time and temporary state employees were entitled to holiday compensation if their scheduled work day fell on a holiday, but state authorities don't see a problem with back claims.

Deputy Attorney General Christopher Bray issued the opinion on holiday compensation for Richard L. Barrett, state personnel director.

Barrett said he doubted there would be many employees who would be entitled to any back compensation since the law in 1972 and holiday provisions were clarified by the legislature earlier this year.

He said he asked for the clarification after being asked the question from other agencies, including the Department of Employment. He said the question had been raised before the employment department sought an answer.

Dave Lewis, head of personnel for the Department of Employment, said that his agency made a query about a holiday com-ensation this past month when a question was raised this month. He said the agency had not in the past paid "hourly employees" for holiday work.

Lewis said that he wanted clarification before November rolled around because there were two holidays that the department would have to face.

"I see no massive claims on the state because of the opinion," Lewis said.

He said a question was raised about the Columbus Day holiday, but he didn't see any "threat of a claim."

Barrett said he couldn't see where the state would be "caught in big overtime compensation" because of the opinion. He foresaw any claims.

Bray said that there was no question of claims raised in the request for an opinion. He said it was written strictly on whether temporary or part-time employees working on holidays were entitled to holiday compensation.

Aide backs revolver use

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The campus security director at Lewis-Clark State College defends the use of revolvers by student officers comprising the state's only fully-armed campus security force.

Herb Allen said the state student officers are responsible for a reduction in crime on campus.

Critics of the program contended that it is not necessary for a college security force to be armed, and even if it were, students should not be the ones wearing guns.

But Allen said crime has declined on the campus because of his student officers, and Jerald Dugger, the college's president, agrees on the need for weapons.

Hearings to resume

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Public Utilities Commission announced Tuesday it will resume technical hearings Nov. 12 in Boise on Idaho Power Company's application to construct a coal-fired generating plant southwest of Boise.

The hearings will be limited to cross-examination of power company witnesses who entered testimony in August. Presentation of evidence by other parties will be scheduled at a later date.

Public hearings were held by the commission earlier this year in Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello and Mountain Home as well as the previous August technical hearing.

Men get top school posts

BY CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Like many Idaho school districts, the Twin Falls district has few women in administrative positions.

However, where women are employed, for instance as teachers, their average salaries are roughly equivalent to the average salaries for men.

The men's and women's average salary figures for the Twin Falls district show less difference than do average figures for the other big school districts in the state.

The top three administrative positions in the Twin Falls district — superintendent, assistant superintendent and business manager — all go to men. In addition, principals for the three secondary schools, meaning junior and senior high, are men.

Likewise, the three vice principals in the secondary schools are also men.

In the elementary schools, where women predominate overwhelmingly as teachers, four out of five principals are men. Of 121 elementary teachers in 1974, school district figures show only 13 were men.

The three directors for the district, including a curriculum and special services director, are men, according to the 1974 report. The one district employe classified as a dean is also a man.

Women outnumber men in other fields. The three district speech and hearing therapists for 1974 were all women and the media specialist for the district was also a woman. Among counselors, there were four women and two men in 1974, and as of that time there was one psychologist, a man.

Salary comparisons for elementary principals, the highest administrative area where a woman holds a position, in the Twin Falls district, show the woman's salary of $15,785 is higher than the average man's salary of $14,338. Comparable 1974 figures for the eight largest school districts show a reverse picture. A woman elementary principal earned an average of $14,655, where men had an average salary of $15,307.

In Twin Falls the average salary for women elementary teachers is $9,213 compared to $8,966 for men. The eight large districts show an average of $9,525 for women elementary teachers and $9,407 for men, less of a difference.

On teacher salaries, experience and education are major determinants, since pay assignments are set according to a salary scale. Salaries for secondary teachers in the Twin Falls district run close for men and women. For the 75 women employed in 1974 as secondary teachers, the average salary was $9,510. The 73 male secondary teachers earned an average of $9,682.

For the eight large districts, the averages showed a greater difference — women earned an average of $9,335, and the men's average salary was $10,197.

Meeting scheduled

MR. and Mrs. Steve Preston and their children, Benjamin, left center, and Emily, will attend a Nov. 7 meeting on breast feeding sponsored by the La Leche League. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Room 108 of the Vo-Tech Building at the College of Southern Idaho. A film and panel discussion will be presented. The public is invited.

Demo session set

TWIN FALLS — Democrats are planning a training session in Twin Falls Saturday to acquaint Magic Valley legislative district chairmen with new rules on choosing delegates for the 1976 presidential nominating convention. According to Steve Carter, Twin Falls County Democratic Party chairman, the session will concern how delegates both to the state and national conventions will be chosen. Under Idaho's new presidential primary law, 80 per cent of the delegates supporting a particular candidate, will be chosen in a primary election, while only 20 per cent will be chosen in party caucuses. All Democrats are invited to attend.

5 seek 2 Hagerman council seats

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

HAGERMAN — Two council seats in Hagerman are being sought by five candidates. The two seats are currently held by Lysle Gilmore, who is seeking re-election and Dean Holt, one of two mayoral candidates. Other candidates include Vern Cox, owner of an egg farm; Barbara Jasper, beauty operator; Bob Lawrason, realtor; and Jack Yarbrough, tavern operator.

All candidates agree the top priority facing Hagerman is to get a sewage system installed. Much of the preliminary work has already been done and the council now is awaiting the engineer's cost estimates. Closely related to the need for the town's first central sewage system is the influx of new people attracted by Hagerman Valley's scenic beauty and mild climate.

VERN COX

Cox, 34, currently is vice chairman of the school board. He says in addition to the sewer project, "We need a lot of work done on streets."

He feels the town needs more tax money to finance such improvements.

He also would like to see better law enforcement and a "general cleanup" of the entire city.

Cox, owner of Moore's Egg Farm, also said there is need for planning and zoning within the city and the Hagerman Planning Commission has "sort of been ignored."

"They might be more active if they thought the council would listen to them," Cox said.

BARBARA JASPER

Mrs. Jasper, 29, a native of Twin Falls, has lived around Twin Falls most of her life. She has been in Hagerman about five years and operates her own beauty shop.

She said in addition to getting a sewage system, "We need more organized city government." She said Hagerman is growing and the council is going to have to make provision and "grow right along with it."

"People have done pretty much what they want to do with their old cars and other junk," she said.

BOB LAWRASON

Lawrason, 51, has been in the Hagerman area since 1960. He first farmed, then moved into town and is now associated with the Hagerman Realty. He is secretary-treasurer of the Lions Club, is lay leader in the United Methodist Church and past president of the North Side Board of Realtors.

"My main campaign emphasis," he said, "is that I'm semi-retired and have the time, effort and desire to follow up on city business."

"We've had good men on the council but they have not had time to follow up on some of the red tape."

In addition to getting a sewage system, Lawrason said more paving is needed. Over half the streets are not paved.

He would like to keep Hagerman as a retirement and recreation area and keep the growth at "normal rate."

He also stressed the need for countywide zoning to control development outside the Hagerman City limits.

JACK YARBROUGH

Yarbrough, 35, has lived in Idaho all his life and is a native of Jerome. He has lived here the past four years and operates the S and A Club. He feels Hagerman needs a plan for controlled growth and the sewer system should be planned to care for expansion.

"A sewer system will help the city 100 per cent," he said, "but it needs to be large enough to care for future growth so in 5 or 10 years we don't have to do it all over again."

"We're going to have a greater influx of people and business, which is good, but if we don't have planned growth we'll have the same problems Halley and Ketchum have."

Yarbrough feels residents will support a bond issue to finance construction of a sewage system.

LYSLE GILMORE

Gilmore, 61, principal of Hagerman Grade School, has been in the Hagerman school system since 1944. He taught at several country schools previously and is a graduate of the former Southern Idaho College of Education at Albion with a master's degree from Idaho State University.

Gilmore says the water system also needs updating. There are two lines from the springs which supply the city water into the chlorinating plant, but only one line from the plant into town.

Gilmore said during the heavy use through the summer the pressure becomes inadequate. He said the council hopes to include this improvement in the sewer bond election financing.

Gilmore, who is completing his second term on the council, feels the sewer system is needed, but many retired people on fixed incomes are "not too anxious" to have it because of cost.

If their septic tanks are working. But others, in a high water table area are anxious to see a sewer system, he said.

Developer may switch tactics

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News Writer

BELLEVUE — For over two years Boise developer Bart Ballantyne has tried to win community approval here for a resort housing development.

But a coalition of Bellevue residents, anti-growth proponents and the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission have kept Ballantyne from getting a foothold in Blaine County.

Now it appears Ballantyne has taken a new approach in his battle to develop a housing division in the Wood River Valley.

The land developer may switch tactics and attempt to develop nearly 1,000 acres of dry land farm ground in a rural area southwest of Bellevue rather than develop his land in the Bellevue triangle.

The Times-News has learned Ballantyne purchased 344 acres of land from Matthew Cloughton, Wendell, five miles south and a mile west of Bellevue on the Glendale Road.

Ballantyne has also purchased the right to buy nearly 650 acres adjacent to that property from the Cloughtons, sister-in-law to Matthew.

Ballantyne and the Cloughtons confirm land sale and option to buy have been completed. Ballantyne says a member of J-U-B Engineers has shown her schematic plans of a cluster plan development including swimming pool, tennis courts and ski area slated for the property.

Ballantyne says J-U-B Engineers are staking the property now. He would not disclose his development plan, but says he is considering a development in the area.

The developer says he will meet soon with the Blaine County commissioners to discuss a general plan for the former Cloughton properties. The commissioners, earlier this year, voted down a Ballantyne housing development in the Bellevue triangle.

Ballantyne owns about 2,000 acres south of Bellevue on both sides of Highway 93. The land is zoned for one house per five acres. His former proposal for the triangle land called for cluster housing and a huge expanse of open space.

Ballantyne asked for a rezone to a higher density on the triangle, but was turned down in each attempt he made before various planning and zoning boards in Blaine County.

He filed suit in Fifth District Court here after the county commissioners finally disallowed the rezone.

A reliable source involved in county government here says J-U-B Engineers representative has mentioned Ballantyne is interested in dropping the suit if the Cloughton properties are rezoned. The Cloughton property is zoned A-1, also allowing one house per five acres.

Ballantyne does not discount the possibility of dropping the suit, saying only, "The commissioners may be interested in this plan because the suit is coming up soon."

The alternate plan will be presented to the commissioners, Ballantyne says, because the planning and zoning commission has indicated the type of development on the Cloughton properties is what they are after.

A tour of the proposed development shows Matthew Cloughton's former land extends from the Glendale Bridge on Big Wood River westward including dry land farm ground and several high benches.

In Cloughton's property, where Ballantyne has purchased an option to buy until February, stretches along high benches and includes several deep canyons. She says an engineer told her the development proposal would place houses on the rims of the canyons and gullies in a "cluster group."

She says the proposal includes huge areas of open space. Survey engineers were staking the property Tuesday.

"I hate to see it go this way," Mrs. Cloughton says, "this land has been in the family since 1918."

However, she says her spread was too large to run alone since her husband died and she would have had to continue leasing it each year if she did not sell.

She feels the sale of her land to Ballantyne will depend in large amount on the rezoning of all the Cloughton property.

Planner chides critics

One of Richey's biggest complaints is lack of constructive input from those who are critical of the plan.

"When I hear things that have been said by the council I'm flabbergasted," he said and added, "They just aren't true."

"All we request is that they give us some comment, including any criticism they want to add, but at least they should take a position," he said.

The plan is scheduled for printing so that it can go to hearings in January.

"Our elected officials are going to have to hold some hearings and decide whether they are going to adopt the plan without amending it so much that it has no muscle," Richey said.

"I am happy with the plan as it is printed," Richey said. "It may not be the 'Hollywood image' but it is a solid effort," he said.

Richey admitted he might do some things differently if he were just coming to town. "I came in not knowing other people's pecking order and I've crunched in all over the place," he said.

"I had a choice when I came here of whether I was going to do things in an honorable fashion within the context of my professional ethics, or just smile and do what I was asked," Richey said. Richey made it clear he feels that if he is fired, his successor will be asked to smile and say "yes."

"My goal has simply been to protect places where our people live and enjoy life," and "their pocketbooks," he added.

today in brief

Meet set with highway district

BURLEY — The Cassia County commissioners Monday called highway districts in the county to a meeting Nov. 10. The commissioners decided to set a 10 a.m. discussion Nov. 10 on a lawsuit by the city of Nampa against the Nampa Highway District. The suit by the city seeks a larger share of the highway users funds turned back to local government by the state. The commissioners invited representatives of the Burley, Albion, Rath River, Oakley and Murtaugh highway districts to present their views concerning the controversy over division of highway user tax funds.

Project support urged

BUHL — Buhl Chamber of Commerce members were urged to participate in the "Idaho's Tomorrow" project. Ken Self, Twin Falls, speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting, said the citizens heading the project hope to get "tens of thousands" of replies to a questionnaire asking opinions on all phases of life in Idaho in the next 20 years.

Members were urged to fill out the questionnaire and return it next week. The questionnaires ask what type of priorities citizens want in the future development of the state. The results will be made available to the governor, legislature and other interested groups, Self said.

Finance chairman named

JEROME — A Jerome attorney has been named finance chairman for the North Side district of the Boy Scouts of America. Robert E. Williams has been named to the position for 1976 according to Jim Jones, Jerome, district chairman.

Jones said Williams will be responsible for supervising the gathering of donations from businessmen, scout families and community members in Jerome, Gooding and Camas counties.

TF break-in probed

TWIN FALLS — A break-in at Twin Falls tractor and implement Co. was being investigated today by city police. Officers said apparently nothing was taken from the building, but a forced entry was made in a storage building adjacent to the main building and burglars then broke into the office area of the main structure.

After ransacking the property, officers said, the intruders apparently left by the same route through which they gained entry.

2 Injured in accident

GOODING — Two Gooding residents are listed in good condition today at Gooding Memorial Hospital following a two-car accident two miles south of Hagerman Monday night. Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn said Andy Ramirez, 17, and Jim Williams, 63, were injured when the car Williams was driving struck the rear of a panel truck, whose driver, Steve Warren, Bliss, was stopped to make a left turn.

The accident occurred on Highway 30. Bunn said Williams would be charged with driving while intoxicated.

Burley woman escapes injury

BURLEY — A Burley woman narrowly escaped injury this morning when her pickup camper flipped at the main intersection in downtown Burley. Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn said the pickup was driven by Norman Bailey, 54, Rupert, at 8:05 a.m. today.

Bailey was cited for failure to stop at a red light. Burley police said Mrs. Amen was driving north on Overland Avenue when Bailey drove through the red light, heading west on Main Street.

The Bailey pickup hit the camper in the right rear fender, shoving it nearly 50 feet down the street. The Amen pickup flipped onto its top and the camper flew off. Police estimated $1,100 of damage to the Amen pickup and $200 to its camper. The Bailey pickup was considered totaled with $400 damage.

Railroad track shift eyed

RUPERT — A shift of a Union Pacific railroad track to outside the city could solve Rupert's major traffic problems.

CH2M Engineers, retained to make a traffic study for the city, made that statement at a public hearing Tuesday.

Ernest Bramwell, representing the Boise firm, estimated the cost of relocating the railroad switching track at $2 million. He considered it "the happiest solution for the city and the railroad."

Bramwell admitted that the long-range proposal was a costly one, but said the city would always have the railroad track problem and the tracks would always divide the city.

He proposed that the present F Street crossing be eliminated in favor of a crossing from G Street at right angles to the railroad and State Highway 2.

Bramwell said the new approach would route traffic off the town square and avoid congestion there. G Street is considered one of the major collectors for the city and could carry traffic from one side to the highway without entering the town square traffic.

The viability of G Street as a traffic carrier to Highway 24 was a key portion of the preliminary proposals presented Tuesday, but CH2M admitted the cost problem.

Bramwell said Union Pacific foresees the time when the switching track area inside the city will be inadequate, but at this point would want the city to stand the cost of any move.

Bramwell said that 23 feet of clearance would be required for an overpass, requiring several hundred feet of approach even at an 8-10 per cent grade. He said an underpass of 15 feet would be better, but would still face the problem of intersecting streets.

Sign dispute could lead Bliss merchants to court

BLISS — Bliss businessmen have installed a large community sign on private land along Interstate 80 and are prepared to go to court if necessary to retain it.

Bill Bunn, who operates a grocery store in Bliss, said eight businessmen have banded together to purchase the sign, installed a few weeks ago on the east side of the Bliss turnoff, to attract interstate travelers.

A similar sign, advertising Bliss as an "easy off-ramp on" community with 24-hour facilities, is being left for installation on the west side of town.

The businessmen have leased the private land on which the signs are located. Since the town was bypassed by the Interstate last-summer business has dropped some 40 per cent.

Bunn said, "We have contacted our Idaho congressional delegation and they tell us the federal people are not putting pressure on the state highway department to enforce the regulations against signs."

"Bliss businessmen, as well as two men who operate tourist attractions in the Shoshone area, all have been told by Idaho Department of Highway officials that federal funds will be cut if the regulations about keeping signs off the highway routes are not followed."

Bunn also said the group is "prepared to go to court with them and go all the way." The Bliss businessmen have hired an attorney who feels "we have a good chance."

"We might go to jail," Bunn laughed, "but we are going to appeal any conviction in the lower courts and carry this right on through."

"I fail to see how anybody — the federal government — can take us to task when we're trying to save our town and businesses and we're not creating any hazard or nuisance," Bunn said.

Many donations and offers of help have been made since the Moon's plight was described in a Times-News story last week, Mrs. Stephens said Tuesday. The elderly black couple, who retired to Hollister in 1970, has been plagued with health problems.

Mrs. Moon suffers from many "major disorders," according to her doctor, and Moon required an expensive operation and physical therapy to regain control of his right arm and leg.

Twin Falls County has agreed to pay a total of $50 of the Moon's drug bills.

Debris dumped

Debris from Washington School is being dumped in the pit dug to supply dirt for the Evel Knievel jump site ramp. John Rose, owner of All Cities Wrecking, the school demolition contractor, said all but good bricks and burnable material is being put in the pit. The debris won't fill the pit, which he said, probably has room for 10 to 12 Washington Schools.

Hogs, wheat post gains; spuds, corn, cattle off

Courtesy Sinclair & Co.
CHICAGO — Tuesday was a mixed day in commodity futures trading.
 Potatoes declined, metals were mixed, hogs and wheat were higher but other meats and grains were lower.
 The May delivery of Idaho russet potatoes wound up at 10.15 per hundredweight, a decline of 45 cents.
 Commodity News Service said Maine spuds continued winding down from the pre-production estimate higher, closing with 50 point limit declines in distant May and April deliveries and 30- to 43 point losses in nearby months.
 Volume totaled 478 contracts with distant months trading erratically. The declines continued to be of principally technical nature.
 Wheat traded on the plus side most of the session, mainly opening strength and closing on a high note. The fact the wheat crop is already stored is a key to its resistance to seasonal pressures affecting corn and soybeans. Chicago cash basis was nominally unchanged at 1.97 1/2.
 Corn traded in a small range and is considered by some observers as technically balanced for a quick upsurge on any price turnabout. The close, prices were a quarter cent lower to 77 1/2 cents higher. Chicago cash basis was nominally unchanged at 21 cents under December for both boxcars and hoppers.
 Soybeans and products tested higher price ground after the opening but then sagged until a sharp rally. Some corn and bull spreading was noted. At the close, beans were 6 to 8 cents higher after nearly November plumbed contract lows. Meal was unchanged to 1.00 higher on regular contracts and 150 lower to 1.50 higher on new meal. Oil closed 7 points higher to 12 points lower.
 Live cattle closed mostly lower in listless trading placed at 8,200 contracts. Steady live and dressed cattle spurred some buying. Prices hovered between 1.50 and 1.75 for most of the day. Lows of the day were reached in the final hour, with less active distant options drawing some support and moving up slightly compared to losses of as much as 25 cents in the early hours.
 Hogs closed near the day's highs in all contracts as the trade was stronger despite cash prices as much as 1.25 February and March 22 and 15-point respectively—and deferred down to 41 1/2 points. Late profit-taking weakened prices after most months held good gains through the day. Short-covering pulled the market off the close.

 The world sugar market closed 31 to 35 points higher on a trade of 2,862 lots. The major news was Peru's announcement of plans to sell 100,000 to 130,000 tons before the end of the year. The Sugar market settled 20 to 33 points lower. The world spuds was pared 35 cent to 14.48 cents a pound. The domestic spot price was cut 18 cent to 15.6 cents a pound.
 A grain rally and favorable September trade figures helped New York silver regain about 1 cent in most months on a trade exceeding 12,000 contracts. Trading edged near the high of 4.25 basis December.
 New York gold turned to a mixed performance, with near month through December showing 90 to 50 point gains while distant lost from 18 points to 1.28. Speculation over IMF gold sales weakened distant month prices, which were also the target of selling. The market held a narrow range most of the day.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower in moderate trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which gained 12.98 points Tuesday on hopes a solution for New York City's fiscal crisis is near, was behind 0.55 to 850.91. Declines led advances, however, 126 to 112, among more than 377 issues crossing the rally.

The market rallied strongly Tuesday following a White House announcement President Ford would make "an important speech" at noon Wednesday on New York City's looming default.

Storage problem

GRAIN ELEVATOR operator John Mavis checks some of the 170,000 bushels of corn from "a bumper crop stored on the ground at his Bradford, Ill., business. Lack of storage for corn and soybeans in the Midwest is a major problem now, but the Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered railroads to give priority for empty cars to elevators where grain is on the ground. Mavis thinks some grain will still be on the ground in January. (UPI)

Fall bull sale slated Thursday

TWILER — The 36th annual fall range bull sale will begin at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds. Judging of the 117 bulls conducted today according to Jim Faulkner, "Bite" sale chairman. Bulls include Herefords, Angus and Galloway. The sale is an annual event sponsored by the Idaho Cattlemen's Association. Ken Trout, Emmett, will serve as auctioneer, and Dr. John H. Lowry, Twin Falls, is inspector. Tom Pence, Payette; J. D. Mankin, Caldwell; and Bill Ross, Jordan Valley, Ore., are judges. Faulkner will be assisted by Bob Henderlinder, Boise, executive vice president, and John Olson, Boise, executive secretary of the cattlemen's organization.

Roland Patrick, Rogerson, is association president; David Little, Emmett, first vice president, and Steve Mahaffey, Tendoy, second vice president. Directors whose terms expire this year are Evan Jones, Harrison; Elvith Gralg-Midvale; Al-Branche; Fairfield; Dick Noh, Rogerson; Robert Amy, Howe; Tom Chivers, Challis, and William T. Evans, Downey. Directors whose terms expire in 1976 are Don Carr, Kootenai; Robert Handy, Priest River; Les Trall, King Hill; Dale Foyle, Leader; Kenyon Weeks, Swan Valley; Delmo Smith, Bancroft, and Blaine Ramey, Blackfoot. Those whose terms expire in 1977 are Don Van Duren,

Lewiston; David Bivens, Payette; Asa Black, Bruneau; Ted Crockett, Hansen; J. S. Montgomery, Paul; John Magelby, Rexburg, and John Hayes, Rockland. Bull sale committee members are Faulkner, Bill Fendall, Grasmere, vice chairman, Dale Thomas, Malad, secretary; Tom Chivers, Challis; T. F. Pence, Payette; Jay Harper, Malia; Tom Prescott, Jerome; Ben Goslin, Horseshoe Bend; Eric David, Bruneau; Thayne Thompson, Downey; Kenneth Naugle, Nampa; Lew Rothwell, Arco; and George Udý, Rockland.

Final payments made

TWIN FALLS — Final payments from U and I like sugar firm to sugarbeet growers totaled $467,019 on the 1974 crop of sugarbeets. This payment brought the total average price paid by U and I for 1974 beets in Idaho to $47.90 per ton, the highest ever paid, and nearly $12 per ton more than last year. The total farm value of the 1974 crop in the U and I production areas of the state came to $15.6 million compared to $16.5 million last year.

State meet key event

BOISE (UPI) — Rolland Patrick, Rogerson, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, said Tuesday the group's annual convention Nov. 20-22 in Boise will be "of critical importance to the future of the industry in Idaho." Patrick said the industry was "gradually pulling out of a monumental depression only to find ourselves beset again by proposals to sharply curtail our access to the public range."

Coyotes kill 8% of West's lambs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If Mary raised 100 little lambs in the western states, coyotes probably would destroy eight of them, according to a report prepared for Congress. A special Agriculture Department report said coyotes account for the loss of over 8 per cent of all lambs born and are the leading cause of lamb deaths in the western United States. The study is based on reports from 9,000 producers in 15 western states. It brings into sharp focus the struggle between economic and environmental interests in the sheep industry.

The study said 940,000 or 12 per cent of docked lambs were lost to all causes in 1974, and coyotes were responsible for the losses of 503,000 or 6 per cent of all docked lambs. Docking is the cutting off of a lamb's tail, usually done at several weeks of age.

Coyotes also were blamed for the loss of 232,000 lambs in the pre-docking period, or more than 2.5 per cent of all lambs born. The combined loss attributed to coyotes of 735,000 lambs was more than 8 per cent of lambs born and more than one-third of the losses to all causes.

Sunflower crop hurt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department says the 1975 Soviet sunflower crop got too much sun and as a result, the Russians will need to import more soybeans to fill the gap in edible oil needs. The shortage of sunflower seed has important implications for the Soviet Union because those seeds normally furnish about 75 per cent of the nation's edible vegetable oil.

Grain sale limits cool accord appeal

DENVER (UPI) — The president of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union says earlier incidents hampering overseas grain sales had cooled the agricultural industry's reception of the long-term grain sales agreement with the Soviet Union. "I hope we see no more Washington or longshoremen indicated embargoes," John Stencel said.

"But I suspect that until farmers are more strongly organized and participate in the political economies of farming, President Ford will continue to believe that food is for politics. I wish he believed that politics should exist for food." Stencel said the Soviet agreement was "a very difficult achievement" because of three months of political interference in farmers' marketings. He said international agreements should have treaty status and not just be convenient agreements between governments or commercial traders. Stencel said he agreed with the Ford Administration that Soviet jumping into and out of the world market had been disruptive, but said relatively consistent purchases of 6 million to 8 million tons of grain annually should stabilize market relationships. "We are anxious that other, better trade treaties be negotiated with still more nations," Stencel said. "But the most important thing is that we get the export wheels rolling again — fast — because we've got upwards of 60 million tons of grains beyond our own need that must be exported."

Brackett gains honor

TWIN FALLS — Noy Brackett, Twin Falls, was named to the NIEE Hall of Fame last week at a dinner in Billings, Mont. The hall was established as a means to recognize and honor individuals who have made outstanding contributions to animal agriculture, their communities, state and nation. Brackett has been active in the Idaho Cattlemen's Association and the American National Cattlemen's Association where he served as regional vice president for two years.

Last limb

LONG a landmark in Gooding, these poplar trees along the Little Wood River are being cut down between Main and Idaho streets by city crews. The trees are being cut down, reportedly, because they cause a hazard during wind storms. Pictured is a workman hauling up the pulley prior to cutting off the last limb of one tree along the river.

Democrats to caucus

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho State Democratic Central Committee will conduct a caucus in the Rogerson Roundup Room on Saturday from 1:30 to 5 p.m.
This session is open to Districts 21-26 including Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls counties.
The Democratic committee plans a series of mock caucuses around the state to acquaint the legislative district chairpersons with the new delegate selection rules and procedures for the 1976 elections.
Saturday's meeting in Twin Falls is open to the public.

Food seminar Friday

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Frozen Foods will host its third sales seminar Thursday and Friday in Twin Falls.
About 65 customers and brokers from throughout the United States are expected to attend.
The seminar will include a tour of the various potato growing areas in Southern Idaho, a tour of the frozen processing facilities of Idaho Frozen Foods and a general business session highlighted by three leaders in the frozen food industry.

Hunters vandalized

BURLEY — Six out-of-state vehicles had tires slashed Saturday night at three Burley motels.
The victims were hunters from Nevada and Utah.
Two tires were slashed on each of two Las Vegas pickups at the Ramada Inn. Two more tires were slashed on a Provo vehicle.
At the Ponderosa Inn, seven tires were slashed on two vehicles from Salt Lake City and Pleasant View, Utah.
A Riverton, Utah, car had two tires slashed at Lampeter, as well as one on a dog trailer.

Non-prescription drugs criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee was told today that some nonprescription sleep aids and tranquilizers do not do the job with their recommended dosages and could cause serious side effects if taken in excess.
Medical witnesses testified during a hearing on the safety and effectiveness of sleep aids and daytime tranquilizers sold over the counter.
Dr. Anthony Kales of the Hershey Medical Center and David Greenblatt of the Massachusetts General Hospital said most of the drugs contain an antihistamine — usually methapyrilene — and sedopam, an alkaloid that was used as early as the middle ages for hallucinogenic effects. Both have mild sedative properties.
But, the doctors said, studies indicate recommended doses of the sleep aids and tranquilizers are ineffective for their stated indications and may be no more than a "placebo."
Also, they said excessive quantities of the drugs may have dangerous side effects such as elevations of body temperature and blood pressure, excitement, hallucinations, delirium and psychosis. Fatal overdoses are possible.
"My own feeling is even if these drugs were effective, they should not be on the market," Kales said.
He said television advertising for the drugs is "giving people the wrong message about medicating themselves," since ads suggest it is "perfectly appropriate" to turn to sleep aids or tranquilizers to cope with daily pressures.
"Perhaps all such advertising would be best left off the tube," Kales said.
Chairman Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., also criticized the manufacturers of over-the-counter drugs for seeking "to make a profit of people's struggle to cope with the frustrations of everyday life" through the powerful suggestion of TV ads.

Mao Tse-Tung writes note to Pres. Ford

TOKYO (UPI) — Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-Tung has promised to meet with President Ford in Peking and has printed the word "yes" in English to back up his pledge.
Disclosure of the written promise was made Tuesday by Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Miyazawa, who spent 30 minutes with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger Oct. 23, when Kissinger landed in Tokyo after a five-day visit to China.
The foreign minister told a news conference that during their meeting, Kissinger suddenly pulled his wallet from his pocket and said, "I want to show you something interesting."
Kissinger took a small paper out of the wallet and showed it to Miyazawa. "It was the word 'yes' printed in 'rather shaky' lines, the foreign minister said.
"This is Chairman Mao's signature," Kissinger quipped.
Kissinger explained that he asked for a promise in writing that Mao would meet with President Ford during Ford's visit to China in December. In answer, Mao took a pencil and wrote his "yes" on a piece of paper, Miyazawa said.
"I guess it now must be one of the treasures of the Kissinger household," Miyazawa said. "People are always asking Kissinger for his signature. Now he's asking somebody else for their signature. That's something new."
Kissinger told reporters traveling with him in China that Mao was learning English, but the one word "Chinese manuscript" in English wasn't mentioned.

Jackson endorsed

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., says he endorses fellow presidential candidate Sen. Henry Jackson's decision to support George Wallace as a running mate, although Udall says he would accept several other southern Democrats in the number two slot.
Earlier in the day, Jackson cleared up reported ambiguities about his position on Wallace. He told CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite he would not share the Democratic ticket with the Alabama governor.
"I'm glad that he is coming around to my point of view," Udall said.
Fewer than 50 women in more than 2,000 industrial firms are expected to earn $20,000 or more in salary annually.

Wilkes-led Warriors top N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jamaal Wilkes poured in four straight baskets in two and one-half minutes of the fourth quarter and registered 21 points overall Tuesday night to lead the NBA champion Golden State Warriors to a 111-94 triumph over the New York Knicks.

In the closing quarter, Golden State scored 34 points to put the game away. It was nip-and-tuck in the third period when Golden State registered 10 consecutive points in another two and one-half minute span to tie ahead 73-65 on the strength of Rick Barry's and Wilkes' penetrating goals.

Braves drub Houston

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Bob McLeod scored 34 points and Ernie DiGregorio added 22 Tuesday night to pace the Buffalo Braves to a 124-108 National Basketball Association win over the Houston Rockets.

The Braves actually broke the game open late in the first quarter when they scored 10 straight points to open up a 34-18 lead. They led 64-51 at the half.

DiGregorio, who missed a major portion of last season after undergoing left knee surgery, added nine assists to the Buffalo attack. Guard Handy Smith added 20 points for the Braves while Ken Charles had 17 in a reserve role.

Lakers outlast Bucks

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Cazzie Russell's long range gunning combined with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's outstanding return to the Milwaukee Arena Tuesday night to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 99-92 win over the stubborn Milwaukee Bucks.

Russell finished with 23 points and Abdul-Jabbar had 30 points, 19 rebounds and nine blocked shots in his first appearance at the Milwaukee Arena since being traded by the Bucks during the off-season.

The Lakers led 52-47 at the half, but Abdul-Jabbar's 16 points in the third quarter helped Los Angeles take a 83-70 going into the final period.

Bulls topple Sonics

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bob Love scored 18 points in the second half and Howland Garrett added 11 in a spurt that boosted the Chicago Bulls to a 101-90 come-from-behind victory over the previously unbeaten Seattle Super Sonics Tuesday night.

Love scored 12 of his gamehigh 23 points in the third quarter, putting the Bulls ahead to stay 63-62.

It was the Bulls' second National Basketball Association win in three outings.

Garrett had a career high 22 points, 12 from the charity line and seven in the final quarter to aid the Bulls' comeback.

Spurs beat Squires

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — James Silas hit for 31 points to lead the San Antonio Spurs to a 108-103 ABA basketball win over the Virginia Squires Tuesday night in a game that was tied 29 times.

Virginia trailed most of the game by about six or seven points until John Neumann hit a three-point goal with 7:56 left to cut the Spurs' lead to 94-91.

But Silas and Colby Dietrick came back with two consecutive baskets for San Antonio to build the lead back to seven points, and the Spurs held the Squires off until the buzzer.

Miami re-signs Speyrer

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins re-signed wide receiver Charles "Cotton" Speyrer Tuesday to replace tight end Jim McFarland, who was put on the injured reserve for the remainder of the season because of back injuries suffered in Sunday's game against Buffalo.

Speyrer, a six-foot, 175-pound alumnus of the University of Texas, previously played for the Baltimore Colts, who traded him to Washington. The Dolphins cut him just prior to the current regular season.

Coach Don Shula said Speyrer would be counted on for duty on the special teams in addition to being a backup at wide receiver.

Plunkett undergoes surgery

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — New England Patriots quarterback Jim Plunkett, who re-separated his left shoulder last Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers, will undergo surgery for the second time in seven weeks at the Palo Alto, Calif., Medical Center Wednesday, the team announced Tuesday.

Plunkett told Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks he expects to begin practicing within five to seven days after the operation.

"Plunkett first underwent surgery Sept. 29 to repair a shoulder separation suffered in a pre-season game against San Diego. A surgical screw inserted in the shoulder at that time was dislodged when Plunkett was tackled during the first period of the Patriots' 24-16 win over the 49ers.

New coach stresses pride

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Ernie Hefferle replaced John North as head coach of the floundering New Orleans football team Tuesday and said he would resort to an intangibles in making the Saints a better ball club.

"We're going to put a big priority on pride," said the 60-year-old Hefferle, a veteran of three NFL coaching stints. "We've got to get that back."

At the same time Saints owner John Mecom Jr. let it be known that Hefferle's reign as head coach — his first such position in the NFL — would be interim at best.

Cocher orders stadium razing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jerry Wolman, former owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, has until Nov. 21 to demolish the now abandoned Connie Mack Stadium because it is a public nuisance.

Common Pleas Court Judge Ned L. Hirsch Monday ruled the stadium, home of major league baseball here from 1929 until 1971, must be demolished because it is a "public nuisance."

Jazz whips Blazers

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans centers Mel Counts and Otto Moore combined to help Portland's Bill Walton to four second half points Tuesday night and lead the Jazz to a 99-90 win over the Trailblazers.

The win was the third in four starts for the Jazz, who entered the NBA last year as an expansion squad.

Sponsors drop racing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. announced Tuesday it is withdrawing sponsorship of the Vets-Parnell Jones and Black American Racers auto racing teams at the end of this year.

Lynn named AL's rookie of year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Lynn, a shy, soft-spoken ex-collegian whose "silver bat" and "golden glove" were largely responsible for bringing the Boston Red Sox their first pennant in eight years, Tuesday was named the American League's Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The 22-year-old center fielder, also the leading candidate for the league's most valuable player award, was named on every one of the Rookie of the Year ballots from 24 baseball writers around the country, two from each AL city. He received 23% of a possible 24 points as one writer, unable to decide between Lynn and his teammate, Jim Rice, split his vote.

Lynn thus became the fourth Red Sox player to win top rookie honors since the BBWAA originated the award in 1947. Other Red Sox winners include Walt Dropo in 1950, Don Swallow in 1961 and Carlton Fisk in 1972. Fisk is the only player ever to be unanimously acclaimed as the AL's top rookie.

Only two years off the campus of Southern California, the 6-foot-1, 185-pound Lynn had one of the best rookie seasons in modern times. He batted .331 to finish second to Rod Carew for the AL batting title and also led the league in slugging, runs scored and doubles. In addition he whiffed 11 homers and drove in 105 runs.

Lynn enjoyed one of the finest games ever played by a major leaguer on June 18 when he drove in 10 runs against the Detroit Tigers in a 15-1 Boston victory. Lynn rapped out five hits, including three homers and a triple, that night and tied a major league record for most total bases in a game (16).

A left-handed hitter and thrower, Lynn also earned a reputation as one of the league's best defensive outfielders. A graceful fielder with looping strides that reminded old timers of Joe DiMaggio, Lynn saved many a game for the Red Sox with spectacular catches. He was particularly skilled in the diving catch, knowing by instinct the proper moment to dive for the ball and seldom coming up without it. His arm also drew raves from rival players.

During the World Series against Cincinnati, Lynn, who was born in Chicago, Ill., but now lives in Santa Monica, Calif., batted .280 with seven hits, including a double and a homer, and batted in a clubbing five runs. He also fielded 23 chances without an error and saved a 5-1 victory for Luis Tiant in the fourth game with a superb over-the-shoulder catch off Ken Griffey in the ninth inning.

Lynn, who went to Southern California on a football scholarship but concentrated on baseball after his freshman year, credits the training he received from Trojans coach Rod Dedeaux with helping him make it to the big leagues so soon.

"Coach Dedeaux drills you so much on fundamentals, over and over in such monotony until they're habit," says Lynn. "It has to help you. There's also that feeling you get there that you can't lose, and you play that way."

One of the most impressive things about Lynn during his first year in the major leagues was his poise. Throughout the entire stretch run for the AL East Division title, and on through the AL playoffs and World Series, the youngster kept his cool and kept continuing to come up with the timely hits and key defensive plays.

"There are things in the majors that make it easier than the minors," said Lynn. "I remember, two years ago at Bristol, I was tired near the end of the season and in a slump and thinking, 'Isn't this thing ever going to end?' In the big leagues, not only are the conditions better, but with the crowds and situation, it is easier to get yourself geared mentally to get up every day."

There is one thing about his sensational season Lynn could just as soon do without, however. He does not like being a celebrity.

"I always was shy, at the back of the crowd, the last one to wear flares," said Lynn. "And I'm still not the kind who likes to be a public personality. I believe in signing autographs and I like to talk to people, but public appearances? No way."

In any other year, Rice, the other half of Boston's dynamic duo, might have walked away with top rookie honors. Serving part of the year as a designated hitter before becoming the regular left fielder, the 22-year-old Rice batted .309 with 22 homers and 102 runs batted in. His season ended on a sad note, however, when he broke his wrist against Detroit on Sept. 21, forcing him to miss the playoffs and World Series.

Lynn and Rice were the first pair of rookies from the same team in the league's history ever to bat .300 and drive in 100 runs.

Fred Lynn

Lynn compared with Sox greats

BOSTON (UPI) — Some fans say Boston Red Sox super rookie Fred Lynn looks like Ted Williams. Others swear he looks like Carl Yastrzemski. The resemblance is more than skin deep.

It was with his bat and glove that Lynn, who was named Tuesday the Baseball Writers Association of America rookie of the year, shows the greatest resemblance to two of Boston's finest players.

"He's a complete ballplayer. He can do it all," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson.

"He's the best young hitter to come into the league in years. I've never seen a rookie with such good bat control," said Baltimore's star pitcher, Jim Palmer. "He has an amazing ability to go with the pitch."

Lynn's rookie statistics compare very favorably to those compiled by Williams in his first season. A 6-foot-1, 181-pounder, Lynn hit .331 last season, second only to Rod Carew in the American League. He led the league in slugging, doubles and runs scored and knocked in 105 runs.

Williams, a 6-foot-3, 190-pounder, had a .327 average, 31 homers and 159 runs batted in his rookie year.

Lynn's rookie statistics far surpassed

Yastrzemski's. In fact, they almost were as good as Yax's output in 1957 when he won the triple crown.

But Lynn, unlike the tempestuous Williams, is quiet, even shy.

"I always was shy, at the back of the crowd, the last to wear flares," said Lynn. "And I'm still not the kind who likes to be a public personality."

In the field Lynn came up with so many diving, tumbling catches that fans at Fenway Park almost began to take them for granted. The sight of Lynn sitting on the centerfield grass holding aloft a ball he had tumbled 10 feet to catch became almost as familiar as the call of the the popcorn vendors in the stands.

Lynn, who was selected 31st in the college draft out of Southern Cal, had one of the first knocks at the plate in recent history when he was nipped in 10 runs on five hits, including three home runs, against Detroit in July.

"When I found out I had 10 rbi's, I figured somebody must be kidding," he said. "That's a whole month's work."

"I just try to go day by day. Play one game at a time—I don't think too far into the future," he said earlier this season.

Utah dominates first offering of Utah-Idaho pro golf cup

JACKPOT — Utah's professionals stormed through the match play final round with eight victories to nail down the Utah-Idaho cup Tuesday.

The Utahns took the trophy, offered for the first time, with a total of 40 1/2 points against 31 1/2 for Idaho.

"Next year let's play on one of your Utah three-par courses so our old guys will have a chance to win," said Rupert pro Al Jones with a smile.

Basically what he said was true. Utah brought a host of young, long hitting professionals and Tuesday's calm, clear day was ideal for their booming game on the long Jackpot course.

The problems were very real. Host professional Billy Downs fired a three-under par 69 and lost four and three to Rusty Guernsey, who carried a 66. John Evans tracked newly appointed Plantation pro Ken Sparks to the same thing.

"I'm two under, playing my heart out and I'm two down," Sparks smiled at the turn. Evans went on to fire a 68.

The professionals from two states met in three different competitions, scotchball, two-man best ball and then the final head-to-head battle. Each nine was worth one team point and the 19 one more, meaning a total of three available in each match.

This first one was underwritten by Cactus Pete's which provided $1600 in added money — plus a huge trophy that the winning couple will hold for a year per win.

Tuesday's results include Rusty Guernsey, Utah, over Billy Downs, 2; John Evans, Utah, over Ken Sparks 3-0; Jon Mauss, Utah, over Mike Renshaw, 2-1; Rich Hutchins, Idaho, drew with Chip Garris, 1-1; Steve Sharp, over Gary Tower, 3-0, and Andy Pierce, Utah, over Clyde Thomsen, 3-0.

Los Angeles suspends Goodrich in midst of contractual feud

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers Tuesday suspended Gail Goodrich, their disgruntled guard who is embroiled in a contractual dispute with Laker owner Jack Kent Cooke and replaced him on their roster with 7-footer Jim McDaniel.

Goodrich, 32, a nine-year pro from UCLA, is reportedly seeking a contract of between $275,000 and $300,000 while Cooke reportedly is offering $175,000 to $200,000. He made an estimated $150,000 as a Laker team that won just 30 games last season.

However, the Lakers have added Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and are regarded as legitimate contenders this season.

McDaniel, 27, signed a one-year contract as a free agent. The Lakers emphasized they weren't required to give any compensation to the Seattle SuperSonics. McDaniel, a former star at Western Kentucky, played in Italy last season after playing three years in Seattle.

"Some clubs made inquiries about me last year," he said, "but Seattle's asking price was too high. The team set the price, so high that nothing came of the inquiries."

McDaniel, who was working out with the Lakers this season.

"Jim McDaniel has an extremely high degree of potentiality," said Laker general manager Pete Newell. "He was one of the top players in the country in college and has all the natural skills to play NBA basketball."

"We plan to use him both as a backup center and forward. He is one of the fine shooters in the game so this gives us the added scoring punch at the forward spot if needed."

Added McDaniel, "I have a great deal of personal satisfaction that I can make the Lakers after my problems the last couple years. I can feel the adrenalin flowing just like I did in college.

Boise State second, ISU sixth in division II poll

MISSION, Kans. (UPI) — North Dakota took over the Division II, lead this week, but Wittenberg College retained the Division III's No. 1 ranking in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's weekly polls conducted by the Division II and III Football Committees.

North Dakota (7-0) moved to the top in its section with a 27-17 victory over South Dakota as Grambling was upset by Jackson State, 24-14. Gram-bling, the No. 1 rated team for the past two consecutive weeks, dropped to fourth place.

Boise State (6-0-1) jumped from fourth to second place, while Eastern Kentucky (6-0-1) used its 13-7 win over Western Kentucky (6-1) to advance from fifth to third spot in the top 10.

Wittenberg (7-0) fought off a tough challenge from Illinois Central (6-1) for a 17-10 victory and continued possession of the No. 1 position in Division III for the fifth straight week.

Utah State (7-0) keeps its No. 2 ranking, but Widener (Pa.) (6-0) and California Lutheran (6-0) ousted Evansville (Ind.) and C. W. Post (N.Y.) from the top five.

Bengals face old pal at Nevada-Reno

POCATELLO — A trip to Reno, Nevada and a date with an old friend faces Idaho State's 6-1 football team this weekend. The Bengals have a 1 p.m. contest with the University of Nevada, Reno in Mackay Stadium. The old friend is "Touchdown Tony" Monroe, leading rusher for the Wolfpack.

KSEI Radio will broadcast the game with Larry Eckenrode mikeside, airtime at 1:40 Mountain Time.

"Touchdown Tony" is a Pocatello High School product who elected to play his college football in Reno. Only a sophomore, he's been the big gun for the Wolfpack-offensively. Running behind a 5-1 offensive line, Monroe has rushed for 329 yards despite playing only three games at tailback because of injuries.

Although Monroe is healthy this weekend, Nevada's two signal-callers are not. Jack Fisher and Joff Tisdell had been battling for the number one job all year, but apparently both will miss the week's game with knee injuries. Fisher was hurt two weeks ago and there is some possibility he could face ISU, but Tisdell was banged up in the 17-10 win over Cal-Hayward last weekend and is out, probably for the season.

Freshman Jim Gray completed only two passes in relief of Tisdell, but one was for a touchdown.

Defensively Reno has a big line, young linebackers, and a tough secondary who will make it tough for ISU's quarterback, Steve Tuschos to keep up his prolific passing. Tuschos threw for two scores in a 20-3 win over Weber that ran the season record 6-1. Ricardo Restrepo accounted for the other ISU tallies with a pair of field goals that ran his placement accuracy to seven successes in ten tries. He's seven of eight from 40 yards on it.

He's also one of ten in extra points.

Punter Steve Holzer made it a big day for ISU's kickers with a 41.3 average on seven kicks. He's had only 12 of his 41 kicks returned this year, for only 54 yards.

"The thing that scares you about Nevada Reno," and ISU Coach Bob Griffin, "is their 16-8 win over Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. That shaped up as one of their toughest games. Cal Poly now has only two losses, to Boise State and Home."

The old injury jinx once again struck the ISU defensive backfield. Cornerback Randy Rehner, the most consistent defensive back, had a freak accident when he jumped to intercept a pass and broke and dislocated bones in his foot while leaving the ground. No one touched him and he's out for the season. It was Rehner's second freak injury, the other being a number of cuts on his arm that required 40 stitches and kept him out of two previous contests.

The oft-injured secondary has allowed no touchdowns passes this year, remarkable because of injuries that sidelined Randy Mitchell, Dave Benko and Rehner for the season. Terry McIntyre and five games, Ken Parks and Rehner for two games each, and who's next. Either Bill Dennis or Bill Taylor will get his first collegiate start on Saturday.

"Weber State had a fine defense," commented Griffin. "They took away our inside running game with an eight-man front and forced us to pass long. We were successful twice to Kevin Crocker for touchdowns, and had several others incomplete by a small margin."

Award winners for ISU were Crocker, kickers Restrepo and Holzer, offensive tackle Bob Howard, and noseguard Mike Luganskas. Luganskas and Joe Jussem teamed up at noseguard and made 18 tackles between them.

Promise for the future was shown in the secondary on the field in the fourth quarter. Three freshmen, including Bill and Melvin Taylor, and Holzer, kept up ISU's no TD pass record against an all-out Wildcat aerial assault. Weber had only 57 passing yards, and 185 yards total offense.

Magic Valley's cross country runners point for championships on weekend

The wounded College of Southern Idaho points for a regional title while Magic Valley high schools could make a sweep of state prep honors in cross country action this weekend.

Coach Jim Blaisdell will lead his Golden Eagles against powerhouse teams from Oregon Saturday without two of his top five, or six runners.

Sophomore Craig Pate is out due to an appendectomy last week and frosh Mark Singleton, who hasn't been able to complete his past two seasons, will be out with leg problems.

"Defending champion" Lane (community college) is definitely the team to beat. Unless our depth picks us up, we'll have a tough time beating them. Clackamas and Central Oregon also are strong and I guess the real battle will be for second place," Coach Blaisdell said.

Second is important since it qualifies a team for nationals. "I believe that Johnny Hunter will give us a good shot at taking the individual first and Steve Kaufman should be pretty close to him," Coach Blaisdell added.

In the prep wars at Lewiston Friday, Twin Falls could take both the boys and girls titles. The girls appear to be a shoo-in while the boys will have competition from a couple of quarters — not the least being Blackfoot. Blackfoot probably would be favored in the event on the basis of seasonal performance.

But the Bruin girls have lost only to out-of-state Ontario and swept the Southern Idaho Conference championships.

Jerome should be back for another state title but will be hard pressed to repeat its perfect performance of last year when it took the first five individual places. The reason, it is largely seems to be Buhi's Mark Tappan, who probably will be favored to win the individual championship. Filer's Oehsner also should show up well.

The Class B girls may well break down into a battle between Wood River and Jerome. Wood River has won the last couple of meetings.

For individual honors it appears that Twin Falls' duo of Debbie Brice and Brenda Falsh will be strong in the A division with Miss Sewell or Sue Shay giving Wood River a good chance for an individual gold medal.

Maddox sues New York City for injury sustained in Shea park

NEW YORK (UPI) — An attorney for New York Yankee outfielder Elliott Maddox said Tuesday that his client is suing New York City for $1 million for a knee injury sustained last summer during a game at the city-owned Shea Stadium.

Attorney Lawrence M. Rosenberg said Maddox filed his claim on July 22, within the required 90 days after an accident plaintiffs must file suits against the city. He is charging that was hurt in a game with the Chicago White Sox last June 13 because of inadequate drainage in the stadium's outfield.

"There seemed to be some confusion," Rosenberg said, referring to published reports in which Maddox himself was quoted as saying he knew nothing about the suit.

"He's already testified at a hearing against the city," the lawyer said.

Papers filed by the 26-year-old centerfielder charge that his injury "was caused solely and exclusively by the negligence of the City of New York and others in the design, construction, operation, maintenance and upkeep of said outfield in that it does not have adequate drainage or runoff of rainwater or in failing to remove rainwater."

The claim said that "at approximately 10:45 p.m., on June 13, Maddox sustained serious injuries to his right knee, consisting of torn medial collateral ligament and other injuries the full extent of which are not yet known."

Because of the injury Maddox could not play for the rest of the season and subsequently underwent surgery.

"He's protecting his rights for the future," Rosenberg said, in case he cannot play again because of the injury. He is asking for compensation for "pain and suffering and loss of earnings, if any," his lawyer said.

A spokesman for Comptroller Harrison J. Goldin said the claim, made public Tuesday, "is in the processing pipeline" and that a decision will be made whether to offer a settlement or contest it in court.

Burley meeting tonight may change southern Idaho athletic alignment

BURLEY — Superintendents from several high schools throughout Southern Idaho are scheduled to meet Wednesday night to discuss possible realignment of athletic conferences. The possible fractionalizing of the Southern Idaho Conference appears at the core of the movement which surfaced last week in Rupert. Although many of those attending Wednesday night's meeting have only a vague notion of the full proposal, all apparently will attend. A Times-News report last week stated that Caldwell, Nampa and Minico — already members of the SIC — are proposing a "lower" division of the conference. This would take the lower enrollment schools away from the three Boise, two Pocatello and two Idaho Falls schools. At a principal's meeting Monday, it was indicated Twin Falls' decision might be pivotal in the final decision. However, Superintendent George Staudacher, Twin Falls, Tuesday night said until he is fully acquainted with the proposal, he doesn't believe the Bruins would favor leaving the SIC. It appears that the head men from all the SIC schools, Mountain Home, Burley, Blackfoot and Bonneville have been invited to the meeting. This may not include representatives from the three Boise Schools and rapidly growing Meridian. Bonneville already has been accepted into membership of the SIC for all sports and activities in the 1976-77 school year. The proposal follows a 25-year history of larger A-2 and smaller A-1 schools to find a comfortable conference alignment. The search has caused the death of the old fourth district Big Seven Conference, formation of an 11-team Cross State Conference (which now is down to four members), introduction of the South Central Idaho Conference and Eastern Idaho Conference (now down to four teams) and through admittance of Minico and now Bonneville into the SIC. It is known that Caldwell and Nampa have made overtures of membership into the Snake River Valley A alignment in previous years but have been rebuffed. That the current proposal will be made totally by superintendents is judged by the fact athletic directors and coaches have been expressly instructed to stay away.

Starr, Packers find road back tough

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Bart Starr reaches the midway point of his first season as coach of the Green Bay Packers Sunday and he has found out one thing the hard way — the road back is a tough one. Starr's Packers, winners just once in six starts so far, take on the Minnesota Vikings at Lambeau Field here and, unlike a few years ago, it will be the Packers, not the Vikings, who will be fighting near elimination from the National Football Conference Central Division race. The Vikings are unbeaten in the regular season so far and a win Sunday would put them six games ahead of Green Bay with only seven games to play. The situation is almost the reverse of what it was in the 1960s when Starr was quarterbacking the Packers and Minnesota was still struggling to throw off its expansion image. Still, hopes of the past two weeks have given Starr and the Packers events that they will be able to overcome the odds and move into the second half of the season on a winning note. Two weeks ago Green Bay handed Dallas its only loss this year. Sunday they played the defending Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers even before losing a 16-13 decision on a field goal in the closing seconds. Now the Packers must play the team that finished second to the Steelers last year. "When you take 26 teams and pick the top two and you go against them on successive weekends, it shows you what you have to get ready for," Starr said. "I think Minnesota looks better so far this year than at any time I have ever seen them," Starr said. "They are a fantastic-looking football team." There's also the matter of Minnesota's unusual domination in games played in Wisconsin. While the overall series is even at 14 wins each, Minnesota has won nine of the 14 games played in Wisconsin. Starr said Tuesday the Packers should be in good physical condition for the game with the possible exception of tackle Ernie McMillan, who is troubled by a knee injury. Green Bay's biggest problem will be in bringing life back into its faltering running game, which has averaged about 95 yards a game this year. John Brockington, who gained more than 1,000 yards in each of his first three seasons and had 883 last year has just 452 yards in six games. Brockington, however, has enjoyed some of his best games against the Vikings. "I think if we can get him untracked a couple of times, his confidence is going to be helped a great deal," Starr said.

Hagerman, Kimberly advance to semi-finals in volleyball

EDEN-HAZELTON — Hagerman and Kimberly remained undefeated in the southside girls volleyball tournament Tuesday night. Hagerman defeated Murtaugh 15-2, 15-9 while defending champion Kimberly was topping Castelford 15-10 and 15-11. In other action, Hansen needed three sets in dropping Deelo 15-15, 15-6, 15-5 while Valley was beating Oakley 15-6, 15-13.

Acclon resumes at Valley gymnasium at 6 p.m. Wednesday with Hansen against Castelford and Murtaugh against Valley. The losers will be eliminated. The championship semi-final meeting between Hagerman and Kimberly is 7:30 p.m. The winners of the first two games will meet at 8:15. The tournament ends with two games — three if necessary — Thursday night.

TF, Jerome, Filer and Minico post volleyball tourney wins

JEROME — Twin Falls, Jerome, Filer and Minico advanced undefeated into the second round of the girls class A district volleyball tournament Tuesday night. Twin Falls opened the session by bouncing Burley 15-0, 15-12 and Jerome followed with two straight over Buhl 15-13, 15-11. Filer went three winning against Wood River, matches the play at the line, without a huddle, "digging" one man left, out and in, and another right, out and in. Lash was the one who went right, and Thornton said "I looked right and there was nobody there so I threw it. They must have made some mistake, but I didn't know what it was."

Wednesday at Jerome gymnasium. Twin Falls takes on Jerome and Filer meets Minico in the quarterfinals. In the loser brackets — all losers being eliminated — Wood River meets Gooding; Burely meets the loser of Filer-Minico, and winner-Wood River-Gooding vs. loser of Twin Falls-Jerome. Champions will be crowned Thursday night.

Fry wins honors

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — Among the knick knacks in the office of North Texas State football coach Hayden Fry is a scale model of a dream. It is a miniature football stadium — built by a member of the school's art department. The stadium is a double decked affair with a huge scoreboard. And then on the scoreboard are letters which inform everyone that North Texas is in the process of whipping up on Ohio State. Instead of that little stadium being looked upon as a dream, it might have been considered more of a joke. At least until last Saturday. In a shocking turn of events, North Texas defeated Tennessee 21-14, giving the Eagles instant national publicity and winning for Fry UPI's national coach of the week honors. "I don't think the players or the people of Denton (situated 40 miles north of Dallas and Fort Worth) realize what all this means yet," Fry said. "North Texas has never experienced anything like this before. Until you win one like this you don't know how great and wonderful it is. We have an enrollment of 17,000, we are growing, the Dallas-Fort Worth area is expanding this way. "The future is obviously ahead of us."

GUARANTEE

Get RESULTS in 10 Days

Or Your Money Back!

Place your ad to "sell" - "buy" - or "trade" in our Classified Advertising Section for 10 days. Pay for your ad before the 10 days are up. Rates are based on the number of words in your ad. If, at the end of 10 days - your item hasn't sold - you haven't purchased what you're looking for - or you haven't traded for the item you wanted to swap - COME IN to the Times-News Office and we'll cheerfully refund your money. IF YOU DO get results before the 10 days are up - call and cancel your ad. We'll be charged only for the days your ad actually appeared - and you will receive a refund check for the difference.

Serious, this offer good for private party ads only. Real estate advertising normally accepted. Deadline for receiving ad copy is 11:00 a.m. for the following day's publication.

If you advertise more than one item and you sell one or more of the items, your ad must be considered successful.

TO PLACE YOUR AD: PHONE 733-0931

Times-News

Times-News Guaranteed Results Classified Ads

Your ad must be paid for before the expiration date of the ad in order for the guarantee to be in effect. One item only. No rest/escape or pets.

Private party ads only. If your item doesn't sell, we will refund your money OR run your ad 30 more days without additional charge.

Funds must be picked up within 30 days of the expiration date of the ad. Refunds are non-transferable.

Five candidates seek Gooding posts

GOODING — One of the two Gooding mayoralty candidates favors getting more industry to increase the area payroll while the incumbent wants more advance fiscal planning.

Don Morrow, owner and operator of Morrow's Grocery Store here, is making his first attempt at public office, opposing Mayor Gene Kelly in his bid for re-election. Kelly was named mayor last June after the recall of Leo Rice.

A native of Shoshone, Kelly, has lived in Gooding since 1942. He is an oil distributor, has been lay reader and senior warden in the Episcopal Church and has served as Masonic lodge master. He has served on the City Council since April 1969 when he was appointed, and then was elected to a two-year and four-year terms.

Twin Falls:

Morrow also feels the facilities at the former TB hospital should be checked into to see if more use cannot be made of them.

In the City Council race, a school lunch manager, vocational teacher and range technician are vying for two four-year posts to be filled in Tuesday's election.

Mrs. Georgia Echelta, 41, is kitchen manager of the lunch program at Gooding High School. Harold Reed, 41, is a vocational education instructor at the Idaho State School here, while Robert Moline, 42, is employed with the Bureau of Land

Management:

Mrs. Echelta, who has lived in Gooding eight years, is past president of the school PTA and holds certification membership in the organization. She has six children, five of whom are in high school, including a set of twins.

She feels the City Council should be made up of a cross-section of people, to better represent all the citizens and she is concerned about the lack of recreational facilities in Gooding.

There is a swimming pool, some Little League and tennis courts have just been completed, "but not everyone is interested in baseball or tennis." She said there is little else for young people to do but "drag mats."

The candidate also believes people should be better informed about their city's business.

"Everyone, young and old, should feel free to come to meetings and express their views. The council, in order to be effective, should welcome comments and show interest in the people they represent," she said.

Reed, 41, a native of Minnesota, has a B.S. degree from Winona State University, Minn., and has lived here the past 12 years. He has been active in the Gooding Lions Club and belongs to several professional groups.

He feels developing a more realistic budget and living within it is the most important duty facing the Gooding council.

"The large increase over the past few years in the city water rates is a prime example of an irate public uninformed as to the need," he said. "I think we can be more prudent with our budgeting and get more out of our tax dollar."

Reed says city planning and zoning is another important area that the council must deal with before it gets farther out of control. Gooding is a growing community and needs more housing, he said.

"We need to set up hard, steadfast guidelines for contractors and home developers which would eliminate haphazard growth. We have a beautiful city and the quality of life and environment we now have must be maintained," the candidate said.

Reed also mentioned more should be offered the city's youth in the line of organized and sponsored recreational activities.

Moline, a native of Fairfield, was graduated from Gooding High School and has worked with the BLM ever since 1959. He has lived in Gooding since 1943.

He feels there should be public input into the city business and he attended 13 meetings in a row and then "at least 20 more."

"I don't think I've got all the answers," Moline said, "but possibly I can interject my past experience. I think we should have good government within our budget."

He believes future planning is needed and "we can't sit and wait till problems occur, then manage by crisis. We should project our needs and then plan for them," Moline said.

Cassia court eyes new recorder

BURLEY — The Cassia County Magistrate Court is getting pressure to improve its recording system. Judge George Granata told county commissioners Monday.

The court makes tape recordings of its proceedings. "Our unit is inferior," Granata said. "It just doesn't get the job done."

Commissioners indicated they would be willing to put a new tape recorder in the next budget, but said money would not be available until March.

Granata said magistrate court is "getting more and more really important cases."

He said he had civil cases on his docket just under the $3,000 maximum and some cases over the $3,000 figure had been sent down by district court for hearing in magistrate court.

Granata also cited child custody cases coming before him.

The judge said a four-track recorder had been developed especially for court work and could be installed for $2,700 by A.Z. Electronics, Boise. He added that the Boise courts are using it now.

Granata told commissioners that Clint Shaw, administrative judge, may soon be sending a part-time magistrate a couple of days a week to hear strictly traffic cases in Burley. He proposed the present system might be used on those cases.

He also pointed out that the four-track system was portable and could be used for zoning and other hearings.
