Prison blaze backfires

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Six juveniles in the Locomotive County Prison set several mattresses on fire today in an apparent plot to gain their freedom, but were trapped in a locked room. Three died and the others suffered serious injuries. A guard and a policeman suffered smoke inhalation but were not seriously hurt. "I understand that the juveniles set the fire by burning several mattresses," a fire official said. "They did not understand what they were doing. It was a plot to get out of there. That may not be the official account right now, but that was pretty much what happened."

Winds delay nuke test

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — Strong winds today forced at least a 24-hour delay in the test of a nuclear weapon beneath the desert. At dawn, the wind was blowing 35 miles an hour in a north-northeasterly direction. Test officials cancel or postpone nuclear tests when strong winds are blowing because any radiation leak would be quickly swept off the test site. A spokesman for the Energy Research and Development Administration said officials would study the weather situation later today and decide when to reschedule the blast, code named "Imlet."

Prince no libber

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles is none too keen on women's lib, he told a women's magazine in an interview published today. "Women's liberationists rather annoy me because they tend to argue all the time and start calling you a male chauvinist pig and frankly, it becomes rather uninvited," the prince said in the second published installment of a copyrighted interview with Woman's Own magazine.

Henry slaps contempt charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has labeled an attempt in Congress to cite him with contempt of Congress as "frivolous." A House Intelligence subcommittee chaired by Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., voted to ask Congress to cite Kissinger for contempt because the administration failed to produce documents the committee desired for its investigations. "I think it's a frivolous citation," Kissinger told reporters en route from an economic summit in Paris. Kissinger also classified reports about an erosion of his influence on the President as "minor league stuff."

Former CIA chief investigated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department is investigating whether former CIA Director Richard M. Helms perjured himself before congressional committees regarding the agency's activities, department sources said Monday. Investigators are studying the records of Helms' many appearances before House and Senate intelligence and other committees over the past two and one-half years, the sources said. Helms was CIA director from 1968 until 1973, when he was appointed U.S. ambassador to Iran by former President Nixon.

Won't testify

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Radical sports adviser Jack Scott, who figured prominently in the FBI's search for Patricia Hearst, says he would go to jail rather than testify for the prosecution in the federal bank robbery trial of the newspaper heiress. Scott was named by Rolling Stone magazine as the person who drove Miss Hearst from California to a Pennsylvania farm hideout after she joined the Symbionese Liberation Army—the group that kidnapped her in February 1974, from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment.

Poll shows worried public

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American public is deeply worried about a high rate of inflation, but consumers' willingness to make major new purchases has increased dramatically in the past two months, the Harris Survey reported today. "As a result, the Christmas shopping season promises to be a successful one," Louis Harris said. From interviews with "a cross section of 1,519 households," the Harris Survey reported the number of people who said they might buy a new car during the next six months has risen to 20 per cent, up from 12 per cent a year ago.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Henry S. Reuss of the House Banking Committee said he was told that President Ford will decide today whether to accept a bill to provide federal aid to keep New York City from going bankrupt. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he too expected a decision soon — and expected that Ford would endorse a plan to provide $2.5 billion in loans or loan guarantees to tide the city through its financial crisis. Reuss said his information came from Treasury Secretary William F. Simon. He said Simon told him on the telephone today that he would meet with Ford this afternoon and then notify leaders of Congress whether Ford would accept, seek amendments to or continue to oppose a loan guarantee bill that comes up for debate today and for a final vote Wednesday. The House takes up today a $3 billion loan guarantee bill. Congress is to recess at the end of the week until after Thanksgiving. Javits said the "final, final plan" involved $2.5 billion in loans — either a direct loan from the Federal Reserve or a loan guarantee approved by Congress and signed into law by Ford.

In the House, supporters of the loan guarantee bill looked anxiously for the long-awaited "signal from the President." They said they needed Republican votes to pass the bill. Carey was coming here today to lobby for the bill. Awaiting a signal from Ford, the New York state legislature appeared stalled on passing the heavy new taxes Carey has called for to help the city and the state meet their financial crises. House debate on the federal loan guarantee was abruptly postponed Monday in hopes that Ford upon his return from the European economic conference would say what sort of a bill he could support. There was no public statement from Ford on his return Monday evening, but there were reports an announcement was being readied for today. Carey, in laying out his rescue plan for higher taxes — a state employe wage freeze and a moratorium and stretchout of debt repayment from Washington. Brooke said he would urge a Ford to support it, too. Brooke previously opposed aid to New York.

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's doctors today battled to save him from bleeding to death internally, using medicine and transfusions rather than surgery. Franco lapsed into critical condition, unable to take a fourth operation. Already in "very grave" condition with four machines supporting him, Franco, 82, suffered the latest in an avalanche of complications at 1:30 a.m. A medical bulletin 12 hours old said he "has been submitted to medical treatment." "His condition returns to critical," the medical bulletin said. "The setback, marking the eighth crisis in his 22-day survival battle, appeared with bleeding through the mouth. It was symptomatic of another rupture of the aortic arch, holding together the remnant of his stomach. Franco's surgeons resorted quickly to emergency surgery last Friday to patch up the first rupture. It was the Franco's third life-saving operation and pushed him to the brink of death. A spokesman at La Paz hospital said Franco's low blood pressure and temperature precluded immediate surgery this time. His stomach wall was said to be almost too flimsy to be resected again.

Senate OKs Rumsfeld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today overwhelmingly confirmed former White House Chief of Staff Donald H. Rumsfeld to be secretary of defense. The Senate approved Rumsfeld by a vote of 95 to 2 after six senators praised former Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger during a half hour debate. Schlesinger was fired by President Ford Nov. 2. Immediately after confirming Rumsfeld, the Senate passed by voice vote a resolution offered by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., commending Schlesinger for the job he did at the Pentagon. In two days of confirmation hearings, Rumsfeld stuck closely to the "defense concepts" containing "definite" Secretary of Defense R. Schlesinger, asserted that debate should not result in a lowered U.S. guard and declined to categorically rule himself out as a vice presidential running mate with President Ford in 1976.

Franco suffers critical setback

The 1:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EST) medical bulletin, the 54th of Franco's ordeal, said: "During the early morning, the post-operative course of his excellency has been interrupted by a new and serious intermittent digestive hemorrhage which has been submitted to medical treatment." "His condition returns to critical." Members of Franco's family, top aides and most of his 32 doctors rushed to the hospital in the middle of the night. His wife, Carmen, remained at the El Pardo palace praying. "Much grief, much sorrow — I cannot say more," Franco's younger sister, Pilar, told reporters in the lobby of the hospital.

TF bank to blast away at pesky birds

The council was asked for a temporary waiver of not more than two weeks of the city ordinance which forbids the use of a firearm in the city. With the aid of a 12-gauge shotgun and special ammunition, Angerbauser told the council members, the bank hopes to blast the birds out of their afternoon perch. But Angerbauser hastened to assure the council, "We do not intend to mistreat the birds in question... We do not intend to annihilate them." The shotgun will fire a two-stage charge, an immediate blast followed by the explosion of a freeracker-like projectile, Angerbauser said. The noise is designed to disturb the birds in an attempt to get them to change their roosting place. Angerbauser said the bank decided the harassment technique was the most effective after researching the problem with state wildlife officials. The special ammunition was provided by the state, he added. The council, after getting on approving nod from City Police Chief Frank Barnett, okayed the temporary waiver of the ordinance for the bank. Angerbauser said he would fire the volley of shots which could last up to 20 minutes. He predicted that a city police officer be in the vicinity "so people know there's not a maniac down there."

Church eyes primary

WASHINGTON — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, is considering entering the Massachusetts' March 2 presidential primary. A spokesman for Church today said that the senator "is saying from all indications that it does look like that would be a primary he would enter." But Church is sticking to his long-held position that he would not decide to run until after the Senate Intelligence Committee, which he chairs, finishes its work next month, Don Watkins, press secretary for Church, said today. An "informal type movement" for Church already has started up in Massachusetts he said. But Watkins added the movement is "not with Church's blessing," though the senator "can't stop it." Church hasn't yet decided which primaries he might enter, but believes that in order to be a "viable candidate" he would have to enter other primary races, Watkins said. In a recent interview with the Boston Globe Church said he found "considerable support in Massachusetts and would make a decision on entering the state's primary around the first of the year." "I might throw my hat in the ring in Massachusetts if there is any more room in the ring," Church told the Boston Globe. He would be the 10th candidate to enter the primary if he does decide to run.

Teenage writing skills reportedly on decline

Newhouse News Service WASHINGTON — The writing skills of American teenagers are on the decline, according to the latest report of the National Assessment of Educational Progress. Educators announcing the assessment said the problem lies not in the basics of grammar, spelling and punctuation, but in the lack of coherence in essays written by a national sample of 13- and 17-year-olds. The assessment, a project of the Education Commission of the States, graded essays on a scale of 1 to 8. It found that the quality of essays written by 17-year-olds slumped from 5.12 in 1969 to 4.85 last year, during the same period, scores for 13-year-olds dropped from 5 to 4.7. A group of nine-year-olds, however, showed improvement. Although the 1974 teenagers did as well as those in 1969 at punctuation, spelling and the other basic mechanics of writing, they used a simpler vocabulary and a shorter, less sophisticated sentence style, with more incoherent paragraphs. W. Ross Winterrowd, a consultant to the assessment and an English professor at the University of Southern California, said: "We precisely do not need to get back to the 'basics' as the general public convulses them. Any movement that moves writing instruction toward drills in surface features of grammar will inevitably be destructive, for it will shift the focus away from really basic skills." These basic skills, according to Winterrowd, include a mastery of sophisticated sentence structures, the development of essays through the inclusion of detail and the use of transitions that make it possible for a reader to follow the sequence of thought easily from one paragraph to another. Winterrowd and Elizabeth Cowan of the Modern Language Association agreed that the results of the assessment also suggest that teenagers may have very different standards for coherence than the school teachers who scored the essays. Television and the movies, with their greater reliance on visual clues to convey a narrative, may have given teenagers different concepts for coherent written compositions, bolstered by the departure from conventional writing techniques in newspapers and magazines, Ms. Cowan said. However, the assessment also showed a growing gap — particularly among the 17-year-olds — although fewer in number, were better than ever before, while the number and percentage of bad writers increased and the quality of their essays declined.

'No snag' on AF dam

WASHINGTON — American Falls Dam legislation is not stalled and may be passed before Congress takes its Thanksgiving recess, according to Ben Yamagata, Counsel for Sub Committee on Energy Research and Water Resources. Senators Frank Church and James A. McClure informed members of the Senate Finance Committee recently that action by them was urgently needed before the Christmas holidays to completely destroy the joint effort, calling the situation "critical." Yamagata explained that the bill has been delayed because although it was originally reported out of the House Interior Committee favorably it was referred to the Senate Finance Committee then as a separate bill being considered as an amendment to the tax code. Recently the bill was attached as a rider to another bill dealing with tariffs for silk yarn which, according to Yamagata will result in the bill having a better chance of getting on the floor for a vote. "If just all depends on when the chairman (Sen. Russell Long) of the Finance Committee wants it heard on the floor," Yamagata said.

CSI trustee said improving

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho trustee Eilon V. Evans, is reported to be making good recovery from a heart attack suffered Nov. 8. Rena Fuller, a relative, said today Evans was expected to be discharged at Idaho Falls Memorial Hospital where he has been cared for during the past week and a half. Evans is a prominent certified public accountant. Associates requested no visitors.

Homicide ruled in mercy killing

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI) — A medical examiner has ruled 16-year-old Maryjane Dahl was a homicide victim. She died, he said, because someone deliberately disconnected a machine that was keeping her alive. Maryjane died Nov. 2 at Nassau Hospital. She had been undergoing treatment for meningitis, complicated by Hodgkins disease and acute kidney failure.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Janet Sarvent of Upper Nyack, N.Y., and her aunt, Mrs. Jane Sheehan of Selden, N.Y., visited the girl's private hospital room on the night she died. Both were questioned in the matter by the county District Attorney Denis Dillon's office. They left open the possibility a grand jury would be empaneled to hear evidence in the case. Dillon himself refused comment immediately.

YOUNG Garth Allman, 11, Camarillo, Calif., gives a wary smile to a garter snake that bit him at the playground of an elementary school last weekend. He is the first reported victim of a poisonous garter snake bite. Both the boy and the snake were taken to the County USC Medical Center where a doctor said it was the first time in his 25 years as a specialist in snake bites that he had "heard of or seen a venomous bite by a non-poisonous snake." Allman is reported in good condition. (UPI)

Mobile home identified

TAOS, N.M. (UPI) — A real estate dealer says a mobile home used by two men involved in a "shootout" with Oregon police was apparently the same vehicle she sold to actor Marlon Brando last summer.

Frances M. Martin said Monday the FBI had contacted her about the mobile home, which was stopped by Oregon state police Friday night in their search for fugitive American-Indian Movement leader Dennis Banks.

Brando is a friend of Banks and supporter of Indian causes.

Officers in Oregon said they assumed Banks was one of two men who jumped from the motor home and escaped during the shootout. The second man was believed to be Leonard Peltier, 31, wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for attempted murder of a police officer in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1974.

Banks' common-law wife, Darlene Pearl Nichols, 20, Pine Ridge, S.D., was one of three persons in the mobile home who were arrested.

Ms. Martin, who is in the real estate business, said she sold the mobile home to Brando when he was in the Taos area looking at land last May. The Taos woman said she never met Banks.

"On May 26, he left here with the motor home... I got a check back on July 23 and I sent him a title at the time," the woman said.

"Apparently the registration slip still shows my name," Ms. Martin said.

The FBI said the search for Banks and Peltier was concentrated in an area south of Ontario, Ore., where a pickup truck and weapons were stolen from an unoccupied ranch house after the shootout. FBI agents said a fingerprint of Peltier was found in the ranch house, which is located about five miles from the shootout scene.

Rate hike decision soon

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge W. E. Smith says the Public Utilities Commission must decide by January whether the Idaho Power Company can have a 26 percent rate increase.

Idaho Consumer Affairs, Inc., brought suit against the commission, contending the Idaho code is unclear which of two laws is applicable.

11 Scouts injured

HUNTER, Utah (UPI) — A three-vehicle accident Monday injured 11 members of a Cub Scout troop on an outing — one of the boys hospitalized in serious condition and unconscious.

The most seriously injured youth was identified as James Bray, 8. He had still not regained consciousness Monday night, six hours after the mishap. The other youths remained hospitalized late Monday.

The Utah Highway Patrol said a car driven by Lornay Hackford, 21, Kearns, went through a stop light, hitting the station wagon carrying the scouts and knocking it into an oncoming pickup truck.

Court rules on pregnant women's unemployment pay

By JACK C. LANDAU
© Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court has ruled that states may not deny pregnant women unemployment compensation if they are able to work immediately before and after giving birth.

In an unsigned opinion which attorneys in the case say will affect unemployment and pension laws in 19 states and the District of Columbia, the justices struck down a Utah law which automatically barred unemployment benefits to all pregnant women in the last three months before and the first six weeks after they give birth.

The 5-3 opinion said it was unconstitutional to impose a blanket prohibition on unemployment compensation for all women before and after birth because their ability to work "is very much an individualized matter, depending upon each woman's health."

The justices said it was discriminatory to assume that all "women are unable to work" before and after childbirth.

The decision appears to undermine a Supreme Court decision of two years ago which ruled that California did not discriminate illegally against women by denying them state health insurance benefits for disabilities related to pregnancy.

In voiding the Utah law, the justices relied on a case they decided last year striking down a Cleveland Board of Education rule requiring all women teachers to resign after five months of pregnancy on the assumption that they could no longer carry out their teaching duties.

"The presumption of incapacity" due to pregnancy, said the justices, "is virtually identical to the presumption found unconstitutional" by the court in the Cleveland case.

"Freedom of personal choice in matters of marriage and family life," said the opinion, "is one of the liberties protected" by the Constitution and therefore each woman is entitled to an "individualized" determination of her ability to work.

The Utah Supreme Court, in upholding the law, said there was no sex discrimination involved.

"Should a man be unable to work because he was pregnant, the statute would apply to him equally as it does to her (a woman)," the Utah court held. "If she could prevail upon the Great Creator to so order things, she would be guilty of violating the equal protection of the law unless she saw to it that man could also share in the thrill and glory of motherhood."

Files open to sons Sons win right to see FBI files on Rosenbergs

By ED ROGERS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The sons of executed atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg have been trying for years to clear their parents' name, most recently by petitioning under the Freedom of Information Act for secret government documents.

Finally, brothers Michael and Robert Meeropol have won the right to see almost 30,000 FBI documents on the legal proceedings against their parents — if they can afford them.

The FBI said Monday that before the Meeropols or anyone else can get the papers they must pay a search and duplicating fee of $23,451.80. The law provides the government may charge applicants for information "reasonable" fees.

The brothers and their lawyers said today they will fight to get the papers without charge.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley Monday wrote Meeropol lawyer Marshall Perlin: "Kindly forward your check upon receipt, we will forward the documents to you forthwith."

Perlin, interviewed by UPI, responded: "All I can say is that I'm astounded and I believe this represents either petty retaliation or a means of making it very difficult for my clients to get the files."

While declining to say whether the Meeropols have the cash ready to put up, Perlin declared they are going to get the files one way or another.

Michael Meeropol, interviewed at his Wilbraham, Mass., home by the Springfield Mass. Union, said the FBI demand for payment would be challenged in court.

"We shouldn't have to pay a search charge," he said.

He also said only about half the Rosenberg documents have been offered by the FBI: "We know there are at least 60,000 pages and possibly more in the files which we want access to."

A Justice Department spokesman said if the Meeropols do not pay the fee in a reasonable time, perhaps a day or two, the FBI will offer the files to anyone who will pay it.

IP hearing continues

BOISE (UPI) — An environmental scientist says two million cubic feet of sludge will be emitted from the proposed Pioneer coal-fired generating plant each year if scrubbers are required.

Dr. Louis York, Denver, chief environmental scientist for Stearns-Roger, Inc., the company designing the plant, said the sludge contains large quantities of calcium sulfate, calcium sulfite and gypsum. All are bad for farmlands if they are in high concentration, he said.

York testified in the third phase of hearings before the Public Utilities Commission Monday on Idaho Power Company's request for authority to build the 1,000 megawatt plant near Orchard.

Intervenor's are cross-examining the company's direct case in this phase.

York also testified that with or without scrubbers the plant will produce 175,000 pounds of radioactive waste in 20 years. He said he doubted if the plant would have to have a license from the Environmental Protection Agency, however, because the concentration levels are the same as all the coal fields of the West.

He also said: — About 50 megawatts would have to be used to run the scrubbers.

Personnel requirements would be 50 per cent higher with scrubbers.

— The volume of sludge created with the scrubbers would be comparable to the volume of ash removed by the precipitators which prevent 99.7 per cent of the particulate matter from going up the stacks.

— Limestone for the scrubbers would have to be mined in an open pit.

An Idaho Power vice president, William D. Arms, testified the utility would reduce its peak load needs and the need for Pioneer if it could increase its hydro capacity, develop more exchange programs with members of the Northwest Power Pool.

Room for skiing and snowmobiling

The forest is big enough for both snowmobilers and cross country skiers. Generally speaking the two uses of the forest don't mix well...

Instead of this squabbling among competing forest users, it would be better to set aside specific areas for specific winter sport uses.

For example, the Forest Service already prohibits snowmobiling inside downhill ski resort areas.

Why not set up similar areas for the exclusive use of cross country skiers and use the existing snowmobiling areas for the exclusive use of snowmobilers?

Cross Country skiing is a fine winter sport, as is snowmobiling. In order to live in peace, these competing groups will have to use some restraint out of respect for the other fellow.

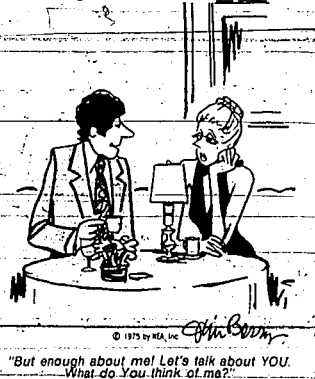

WASPs become endangered species

A few years ago the most frequently denigrated person in America was the WASP. You probably remember him, the White Anglo-Saxon Protestant who was the villain of dozens of books, unpleasant movies and TV shows...

Now it turns out that the much purport WASP actually seems to be having a tough time in comparison with other religious ethnic groups. A recent analysis for the National Opinion Research Center...

We cite this analysis not to lament the WASP's fall from prominence, nor even to make an important point about social and economic mobility in America. We cite it to demonstrate that most of the wrath directed against the poor WASP was the social equivalent of beating a dead or a fading horse.

HOT WATER

High price to pay for sating pride

You are — let us suppose — the head of a company that specializes in the installation of elevators.

You employ regularly 15 men and women, and when you have a big job, you go out into the market and add to your working force as necessary. Every couple of years, somebody in your organization proposes that the workers unionize...

You call it, with an etymological aversion to the motives of which I have not been able to trace, the "common situs" bill. It is Latin for site, and since they insist on calling it that, I'll go along just as I call Casius Clay Muhammad Ali.

Under the proposed common situs act, which has been passed by the House and is now in the Senate Labor Committee, and is coming up now on the Senate floor, you and your employees would, in effect, be faced with two choices. Either join the union, or go out of business.

The reason it is narrowed down to these two choices is that the construction trades are highly organized, the masons, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, bricklayers, etc., through there and there there are exceptions. In 1949, in Denver, a firm engaged in constructing a building subcontracted the electrical work to a small, non-union firm (remember, that since the NLRBA, a non-union firm is defined as a firm that doesn't permit to join the union, not as a firm that isn't permitted, by the employer, to join a union).

I believe the slogan that describes this country the best is "The check is in the mail." My reason for selecting it as the best one is that it is easy to remember. It fits on automobile bumper stickers and millions of Americans have been using it for years.

I must admit the slogan isn't original with me. I first heard my father use it 40 years ago. In fact, every time the phone rang in our house he would say "It's no call on the other end."

One time I asked him after a call from the electric company if the check was really in the mail and he said, "Don't ask such dumb questions. If the check was in the mail you wouldn't be eating meatballs and spaghetti tonight."

My father must have told other people about it because in no time at all I kept hearing the phrase being repeated wherever I went.

The trades union council of the other workers threw up a picket line around the entire site, or situs as the solons denominate it.

Returning to Anglo Saxon, the contractor fired the subcontractor, pursuant to the capitalist ethic that profit comes first. But the subcontractor sued before the National Labor Relations Board, which ruled that he was entirely correct; the contractor didn't have a right under the law to fire him because the Taft Hartley Act prohibits secondary boycotts against different employers engaged in different activity.

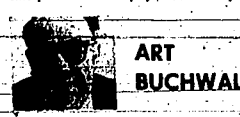

Under that act, if let us say the meatworkers union strikes against a McDonald's hamburger stand, the electrical works at Con Ed can't strike against the generating facility that furnishes light to the hamburger stand.

The Supreme Court absent-mindedly confirmed the NLRB in 1951, and ever since then it has been the dream of the construction unions to get legislation passed that would exempt them from the secondary boycott ban of the Taft Hartley Act.

For, alas, is not disposed to take what they call an "anti-union stand" (it is really nothing of the sort) — it is a profession of choice stands. He has coded the bill for conservatives by coming up with a complicated, syndicalist-sounding plan devised by his labor secretary John Dunlop...

government has "gotten into the act" Now, whether you're waiting for a Social Security check or payment for a highway contract, there is someone in Washington who will tell you in a friendly voice that "the check is in the mail."

I want no prizes for my slogan. But if we adopt it officially I hope my father will get the credit in our history books as being the first American ever to use it. Little did he know in those dark days of the Depression that someday his words would be on the lips of every man, woman and college student in this country.

If the balloon holds...

QUITO, Ecuador — United States policy in all Latin American will be irrevocably mortgaged if there is no agreement with Panama to abrogate the existing treaty acknowledging U.S. rights to administer and defend the canal and occupy a zone alongside it, and if this new agreement is not arranged within the short-term future.

The trouble is that the short-term future, from Washington's view point, starts after the November, 1976, elections. In the meantime, it is always possible that Gen. Omar Torrijos Herrera, chief of the Panama Government, my decide that his own political convenience doesn't lie with that of President Ford.

Torrijos is far from being the hot-headed extremist depicted by U.S. opponents of a new canal deal. He is a populist who hopes to do more for his people and less for the wealthy oligarchy here than this predecessors. But he is under pressure from opposing factions, just like Ford.

Ronald Reagan proclaims "we should give away nothing in Panama." Another Republican conservative, Strom Thurmond, leads a hard core of senators who regard any canal negotiation as yielding to Communism. An evidence GOP bloc exists that would hope to frustrate Ford's nomination should Panama replace New York City as a popular bogeyman.

Ronald Reagan proclaims "we should give away nothing in Panama." Another Republican conservative, Strom Thurmond, leads a hard core of senators who regard any canal negotiation as yielding to Communism. An evidence GOP bloc exists that would hope to frustrate Ford's nomination should Panama replace New York City as a popular bogeyman.

Secretary Kissinger is aware of this delaying factor but he is also aware of the urgent need to get a deal before there is another blow-up like the Panamanian mess in 1964. And, although Kissinger has been getting his lumps from liberals who charge him with favoring Pakistan over India, Turkey over Greece, and even Saigon (then an ally) over Hanoi, it is rare that he is given credit for a liberal stand on Latin America.

Kissinger was quietly supervised contacts with Cuba to ease tensions without upsetting rightwing U.S. opinion. And he has taken special pains to get Panamanian negotiations back on the rails. To do this he has placed in key positions three public servants who worked for Democratic Administrations.

C. I. SULZBERGER

He offered William Rogers the job of assistant secretary for Inter-American Affairs the day Nixon resigned as president. Rogers was known as a Kennedy-Johnson Democrat. Kissinger asked Ellsworth Bunker, who served Johnson, to take over as ambassador-at-large for canal negotiations. And he sent an envoy to Panama, Bill Jordan, who worked for the Kennedy-Johnson governments.

These men have coolly examined the situation and concluded that John Hay was right when he negotiated our first canal treaty in 1903. "We shall have a treaty vastly more advantageous to the United States and, we must confess, not so advantageous to Panama."

Washington has now devised conceptual understandings with Panama that would abrogate the present treaty, and the theory of "perpetuity" regarding U.S. control over United States participation in operating the canal would terminate with this century. There is still disagreement whether the U.S. would share in its defense subsequently.

Bunker acknowledges: "No nation, including ours, would accept today a treaty which permits exercise of rights in a foreign land in perpetuity." Obviously an arrangement is colonialism in an anti-colonial age.

Yet the Panama Canal has become a symbol of Latin independence all the way from Mexico to Tierra del Fuego. Panama has joined the nonaligned block of nations and will be a member of the U.N.'s Security Council next year. No doubt if either Ford or a Democrat win the 1976 election, Washington will rush through an accord.

But nothing can happen before then because of paralyzing politics. Let's hope the balloon doesn't burst first.

the sort — it is a profession of choice stands. He has coded the bill for conservatives by coming up with a complicated, syndicalist-sounding plan devised by his labor secretary John Dunlop, which would set up a board of 10 of us, 10 of them, plus Dunlop and Shirley Temple and one androgynous labor mediator, to attempt to reconcile differences between contractors and unions if a strike threatens.

The fact of the matter is that a critical American liberty is about to be removed from the scene. Since it is not fashionable to talk about our encroaching liberals, one might put it this way. The construction business which does $30 billion dollars worth of activity in America every year, is highly depressed, and it is highly depressed, and it is highly depressed in part because costs are astronomical.

To contribute to this economic moment a piece of legislation which will 1) make it easier for a single union to close down an entire construction project; and 2) put pressure on non-union and free-lance laborers to organize and in many cases raise costs, which 3) will be passed along to the consumer, which 4) will lessen the demand for construction, 5) which will increase unemployment, is — a high price to pay for satiating pride.

Bicentennial slogan?

WASHINGTON — My colleague Jack Anderson has been running a slogan contest for the Bicentennial.

He is offering all sorts of prizes to the person who will come up with the words that will describe this country the best.

I was thinking of entering the contest, but I knew I couldn't win because people would think it was a put-up job. Since I hate to see my slogan go to waste I have decided to use my own column to publicize it.

I believe the slogan that describes this country the best is "The check is in the mail."

My reason for selecting it as the best one is that it is easy to remember. It fits on automobile bumper stickers and millions of Americans have been using it for years.

I must admit the slogan isn't original with me. I first heard my father use it 40 years ago. In fact, every time the phone rang in our house he would say "It's no call on the other end."

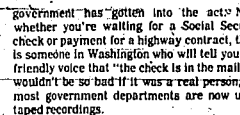

One time I asked him after a call from the electric company if the check was really in the mail and he said, "Don't ask such dumb questions. If the check was in the mail you wouldn't be eating meatballs and spaghetti tonight."

My father must have told other people about it because in no time at all I kept hearing the phrase being repeated wherever I went.

that the people telling the tale got help from an unexpected source — the U.S. Post Office. As time went on postal service got so bad in the country that no one could tell if the person who said the check was in the mail was lying or not. Today it's impossible for anyone to know if the debtor is telling an untruth or if the check is really lost somewhere in a mailbox between St. Louis, Mo., and Butte, Mont.

This has encouraged almost everyone in the country to blame the mails for the lack of payment of a bill.

For a long time only individuals and private enterprise used the ploy. But recently the

Judge grants six-week delay in Hearst trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst's attorneys, wiffing a six-week delay in her bank robbery trial, are confident her mental condition will have improved enough during the extra time that they can "properly prepare her defense."

"We won," defense attorney Albert Johnson said Monday after U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter agreed during a closed-door meeting to postpone the trial from Dec. 15 to Jan. 26.

"It's the case of the century," another defense lawyer,

John Kleines, told newsmen. "All kinds of new laws are going to come out of this. The courts are going to have to face up to the legal aspects of duress."

Johnson said after the one-hour 20-minute meeting with Carter that the hearing had improved and we will be able to provide an adequate defense on that date." His client did not attend the conference.

The defense legal team had said Miss Hearst was on the edge of a nervous breakdown as a result of her 19 months with the Symbionese Liberation Army which abducted her Feb. 4, 1974.

The newspaper heiress' lawyers said they needed more time to prepare her defense than was permitted under the new federal speedy trial act which required a defendant to be put on trial within 90 days of arrest.

Miss Hearst, 21, daughter of San Francisco Examiner president Randolph Hearst, underwent two months of psychiatric evaluation in San Mateo County Jail in nearby Redwood City before Carter ruled, she was mentally competent to stand trial.

U.S. Attorney James Browning Jr. did not oppose the trial delay because of a decision by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals last week in the case of Sara Jane Moore, 45, accused of trying to kill President Ford.

The appellate court said the 90-day federal trial requirement should not include time spent during a psychiatric evaluation.

Carter set Dec. 11 for a hearing on pre-trial motions and canceled a hearing scheduled for Thursday to

Court takes Quinlan case

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey's highest court has decided it will rule — on a speeded-up basis — whether comatose Karen Ann Quinlan can be taken off a life-sustaining respirator and allowed to die.

In a rare action, the state supreme court Monday asked attorneys for Joseph and Julia Quinlan, doctors, a court-appointed guardian and state Attorney General William Hyland to file their briefs.

No date was set for oral arguments.

The request bypassed the appellate division of superior court, where the parents' lawyer, Paul Armstrong, Monday filed an appeal of a judge's decision that the respirator cannot be unhooked.

Armstrong went to the appellate division after the parents decided to appeal Judge Robert Muir Jr.'s decision that Karen does not have a constitutional "right to die."

Muir's unprecedented decision held that to take the 21-year-old woman off the respirator, which "has" been keeping her alive for almost seven months would constitute homicide.

Karen Ann has been in a coma since reportedly taking a combination of drugs and alcohol. Her parents asked the court to permit the machine to be unplugged to allow her to die with "grace and dignity."

But Muir said last week,

"The single most important temporal quality Karen Ann Quinlan has is life. This court will not authorize that life to be taken from her."

Armstrong, in a brief filed Monday after filing his appeal, said, "The basis of the appeal is that the decision, while cataloging the status quo, poses the question without solving them."

"The questions that were set forth in my original brief will certainly be advanced within the elements of the appeal," he added.

Eldridge Cleaver: 'new perspective'

Cleaver cites changed US

JARVIS (UPI) — One-time Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver says his changed perspective on America prompted his decision to return to the United States and face a possible prison sentence.

The 40-year-old Cleaver, who fled the United States seven years ago, said he and his wife Kathleen would fly today to New York, where he will surrender to U.S. authorities.

California officials said Cleaver would be arrested on charges of parole violation.

The former Black Panther information minister is also wanted on a 1968 federal

Foiled assassin ruled mentally OK

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sara Jane Moore, a psychiatrist said, was "keenly aware of what it is all about."

A federal judge agreed and set Dec. 15 for the start of her trial on a charge of trying to kill President Ford.

U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti ruled Monday Miss Moore, 45, a former FBI informer, was mentally competent to stand trial. He agreed with four psychiatrists and two psychologists that her mind is not so disordered as to hinder her defense.

"However, Conti called a hearing for this afternoon to allow her attorneys to plead for a delay. Pretrial motions will be argued Nov. 26.

Dr. William Menninger, one of the psychiatrists, said Miss Moore had been hospitalized seven times for mental treatment in the past 25 years and in 1954 she was labeled "psychotic" at Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

But, he said, Miss Moore was "keenly aware of what it is all about — she does recognize the seriousness of the charges

Secret pact disclosed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Details of a secret agreement between the United States and France signed at the end of the Lambeaulet economic summit will be made public next week, administration officials say.

They disclosed the existence of the agreement on stabilizing currency exchange rates during Ford's flight back from France to Washington Monday.

But they said the United States did not back off its insistence on maintaining a "floating" exchange rate for the dollar, although France wanted a return to a fixed rate.

Ford made no statement to the group of government officials gathered to greet him on his return.

The President was to meet today with energy chief Frank Zarb to decide whether to sign the compromise energy bill sent him by Congress last week. Treasury Secretary William Simon said the decision is "a close call."

Ford planned to stay in Washington until Nov. 29 when he leaves for four days in China, during which, warrant charging interstate flight to avoid prison after conviction of assault and intent to murder during a shootout with Oakland, Calif., police.

Before leaving the French capital, Cleaver told a news conference at his lawyers' offices: "Prison holds no terror for me. I've been in many prisons for long periods of time."

"And if I was terrified, when, really, I wouldn't be doing this. I wouldn't do it, because there's nothing compelling me to (do) — this except my own desire to close the books on that whole period and to get on with some other things."

Cleaver, who traveled widely and lived in Algeria and France since fleeing the United States, spent 19 years of his life on probation, parole or in prison.

He said he decided to return and surrender because "the situation in the United States has changed, the situation in the world has changed, everybody has changed."

Fromme judge 'worried'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The trial of Lynette Fromme on a charge of attempting to assassinate President Ford stalled today as a "plenty worried" judge reviewed a defense motion for dismissal or a mistrial.

If U.S. District Judge Thomas MacBride dismissed the case, the 27-year-old apostle of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson would go free. If he declared a mistrial, the case would be retried.

Defense attorney John Virga accused the prosecution Monday of "willfully and intentionally suppressing evidence" which he said could exonerate Miss Fromme. He moved for dismissal or mistrial.

"I'm plenty worried," MacBride said. "I'm quite

HUSKY

STOCK ROOM CLEAN OUT

MacBride ordered a recess until Wednesday when he will rule on Virga's motion.

Virga charged that assistant U.S. Attorney Donald Heller suppressed a statement made by James Darrin to police in which he quoted Miss Fromme as saying immediately after she thrust a .45-caliber automatic at Ford, "It's not loaded anyway, it's not loaded anyway."

Heller said that since making the statement Darrin had changed his mind in talking to FBI agents and now quoted Miss Fromme as saying, "It didn't go off anyway, what are you worrying about?"

Because of this switch, Heller said, he had not brought the original statement of great value.

Hard times hit Texas farmers

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Pete Isbell says "anyone getting into the dairy business today is going to have to run a bank first. Then go see a psychiatrist."

A vegetable farmer in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, meanwhile, finds a fulltime outside job to support himself because the yield from his 80 acres isn't enough for a living.

And, a rice grower in Southeast Texas doubts the farmer will survive unless he organizes in co-ops.

To bail out farmers like these the Texas Agriculture Commissioner recommends solutions not used since the Great Depression.

"Hard times are upon the small Texas farmer, a UPI survey shows, despite the comparatively favorable position the state as a whole occupies on the economist's charts nationally, and they don't seem to be getting better."

If he isn't borrowing money to pay the interest on the money he borrowed to stay in business last year, he's keeping costs down by hanging on to that aging tractor instead of replacing it, fixing that old cultivator with baling wire and hoping it will last a few more seasons.

Isbell, 72, who with his father owns a 130-head dairy near Denton, said five of his dairymen neighbors went broke recently. He is worried.

"They were good guys," he said. "They worked hard. They just couldn't pay their bills."

Isbell said he gets by by living off depreciation of equipment. There is no profit because price increases have raced far ahead of income.

"I don't know how long we can go on borrowing money to sell milk," he said. "I borrowed to buy my last winter and I can pay back the interest — nothing on the principal."

Isbell canceled plans to buy a new pickup truck this year, and the new milk barn he and his dad need is farther away from reality than ever.

If conditions aren't bad this winter as they were last year in keeping his dairy running, Isbell said, he will resort to the worst alternative — "We'll have to sell the son of a gun, I guess."

Isbell's dairy was one of 209,000 farms in Texas last year — a decrease of 292,000 farms since 1935. Not only have farms become fewer but the acreage has decreased.

Total farm acreage in Texas dropped from 145.8 million acres in 1954 to 141.8 million acres in 1973.

Harold Dean, who farms 320 acres of cotton and milo in northeast Lubbock County, said a "small farmer" in West Texas has to have from 100 to 320 acres to hope to break even.

"There are very few college graduates coming out of school and going into farming today," Dean said. "There are a few, but most of them have inherited land and don't have to start from scratch."

A new farmer would have to invest at least $40,000 — $20,000 for land lease and equipment and $20,000 for operating and living expenses the first year, he said.

"The average farmer is on the verge of going out of business today," he said.

Bul, Dean, who considers himself a small farmer, hasn't gone out of business, and likes to think he never will.

"Really, the small farmer can make it if he manages right," he said. "He may not make the kind of money he would like — and he may have to go without some things he wants — but he can make it and make money."

In South Texas, fulltime farmers in the $20,000 a year range are phasing out, being steadily replaced by the farmer who works in town during the weekdays and tends to his farm in the evenings and on weekends, according to Leonard Camarillo of Edinburg.

Camarillo, who works 400 acres in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, estimated it would cost at least $200,000 to get started farming fulltime. Investors can begin with less, but they will find themselves becoming, Camarillo said, what he has become, a "weekend farmer" working at a full-time job elsewhere and tending to the farm in his spare time.

For rice grower F. E. Guthrie of Dayton, president of American Rice Growers which accounts for 40 per cent of the rice crop in Texas and 15 to 20 per cent in Louisiana, the problem is the middleman and "counter-productive government policies."

To survive these obstacles, Guthrie believes, farmers need to form cooperatives.

"This will give the farmer some control from field to grocery shelf," he said. "The farmer is a producer. Very few are knowledgeable about marketing. He spends his time in the fields producing the crop."

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said the plight of farmers dates from the 1950s. He suggested looking to the 1930s for a solution.

"In the '50s we drove out millions of small farmers who were not equipped to deal with highly mechanized, technologically competitive agricultural society. We drove these people into the cities."

As a result, he said, "We have an industry where the average age is getting older and older. If you can't survive now as a small farmer, how the hell are you going to start out as a small farmer?"

Under the guise of a free market system, national agricultural policies have made it almost impossible for small farmers to compete on the international market, Whitesaid.

The answer for Texas and the nation, he said, is a return to offering encouragement to small family farm operations, "the only ones that make sense."

While said farming suffers now much the same way as it did during the depression of the 1930s. He said the government today should, as it did then, come to the farmer's rescue through incentives, such as the low interest, long term loans provided by the old Farm Security Administration.

"We must develop multi-billion dollar investments for this type of program," he said. "Not only did it take them off the welfare rolls and make them taxpayers, but the government made money off the land investments."

Most small farmers are elderly and are land rich but money poor, he said. That is, their net worth may total several hundred thousand dollars, but their net income is low.

"This anti-small farm philosophy we've got in this country is just suicidal," White said. "I happen to believe that the more people out there doing the work that actually own the land, the better off we'd be as a country."

"We have to develop a food and agriculture policy for the nation that not only permits the small farmer to exist but also encourages him to exist."

While last year proposed a statewide program to finance young families who want to go into agriculture.

"Emptying of rural areas in Texas is one of the most tragic events in our history," White said. "Our nation's strength lies in private ownership of the land, especially in the family-owned farm."

The Missouri capitol at Jefferson City is the sixth constructed by the state. It replaced one built in 1840 which burned in 1911 after lightning struck its dome.

Higher beet yields sought

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — A production study aimed at increasing sugarbeet yields and sugar content is being conducted by the University of Idaho College of Agriculture, plant pathologist Harry S. Fenwick announced today.

Fenwick said every Idaho sugarbeet grower has been invited to participate in a factfinding survey that is now in progress.

"We are asking growers to fill out a survey form dealing with all aspects of growing sugarbeets," he said. "The information will be analyzed by computers, giving a complete picture of beet cultural practices in Idaho."

Fenwick said the sugarbeet study is modeled after a successful project undertaken several years ago by the University of Idaho Extension Service in cooperation with the state's potato growers and potato specialists.

"The information that pinpointed the results obtained from various cultural practices," he said. "They were right. Big improvements have been made in potato yields and quality."

Fenwick said findings of the sugarbeet survey will be made available to growers at sugarbeet schools and other educational meetings.

Illegal residues found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Illegal residues of a controversial cattle growth stimulant, DES, are being found in cattle livers at an increasing rate, the Agriculture Department said Saturday.

The department has been fighting congressional efforts to ban the synthetic female hormone. But officials said 12 illegal DES residue cases were found during a sampling program in the third quarter of 1975, an increase over the previous quarter.

The Senate earlier passed a bill banning use of DES in cattle on grounds that the chemical has been shown to cause cancer when fed in large doses to laboratory animals. Once used to treat morning sickness in expectant mothers, the chemical also has been implicated in cancers which afflicted their female offspring.

Cattle industry and Agriculture Department officials contend the amounts involved in cattle feeding are too small to endanger humans and, in any case, can be kept out of meat if cattle producers follow directions for use of the hormone.

Buhl divided on bond pull

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

BUHL — Buhl's $2.3 million bond election for a new high school Thursday may not obtain the required two-thirds majority, even though it has unqualified support of the town's leadership.

Results of an informal telephone poll conducted Monday and today in Buhl shows residents evenly divided between support and tentative opposition of the construction of a three-year high school.

Many of those who did not support the issue said they are "undecided."

The phone survey was divided between addresses listed in town and those living in the country, but there was no other identification as to age or economic background.

Several persons indicated they would not vote to all, some wondered about the cost, but at least half were forthright in the support.

There seems to be solid support for the proposal among civic and business leaders, from Mayor Ted Pence on down. The Buhl Chamber of Commerce, upon motion of Bob Balley Sr., endorsed the proposal at the Monday noon chamber meeting.

Stan Ayers, citizen advisory committee member, showed slides and outlined the proposal at the luncheon.

Gary Loomis, chairman of the speakers bureau section for the advisory committee, said Monday they feel confident about the outcome.

"We have a good plan to provide adequate classroom space for what the community needs and not duplicate any existing structure," he said.

He said the new high school would not include either an auditorium or gymnasium, both because the ones Buhl has are adequate for the present and limits on the district's bonding capacity made them unfeasible.

Supl. Dan Make told chamber members the present high school auditorium is being renovated and the music department has been improved so both these facilities are very adequate.

The new school would accommodate 400 students allowing for future growth. There are now 338 in the three high school classes.

No funds will be used for remodeling present facilities. School patrons who will be out of town Thursday were urged to vote absentee at the superintendent's office.

Polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. Thursday at the high school gymnasium foyer and the Thousand Springs Trout farm office.

TF bar keeps beer license

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Council members Monday agreed not to rescind the beer license for the Chateau Bar here, but they weren't happy about it.

The council at its last meeting voted to revoke the beer license held by Frank Garcia for the Chateau on the recommendation of Police Chief Frank Barnett because Garcia had entered a guilty plea to a felony narcotics charge.

The law says a conviction of such a crime is a basis for revoking a beer license.

But city Atty. Charles Brumbach told the council Monday the supreme court has ruled that a guilty plea does not equal a conviction.

He suggested, and the council agreed, that a change in the city ordinance would solve the problem. A new provision in the ordinance could state that a guilty plea is sufficient reason to revoke the license, he said.

But under the present ordinance, he told council members, the city did not have a legally defensible reason to revoke Garcia's license.

"The present ordinance does not address itself to morals," Brumbach said.

Until Garcia actually receives a sentence for the charge, the license can not be legally revoked, unless the council has other reasons for its action, Brumbach said.

If the judge withholds judgment on the charge, Brumbach said, the council still cannot revoke his license. Brumbach told the council members it was his understanding the county prosecutor and Garcia's attorney were going to ask the judge for a withheld judgment for Garcia.

The judge can withhold judgment for a certain period of time, imposing no sentences and in effect putting the person on probation. At the end of the time, the person may change his plea from guilty to not guilty and the judge may or may not decide to drop the charges.

Police Chief Barnett insisted that the council's first action to revoke the license was right. "I'm not in agreement that it's indefensible under the law," he said.

"There is no way in clear conscience with the facts that I have in the case that I could recommend approval" of the beer license, Barnett said. The chief said he, through the council should stick to its first action, taking the matter up through the courts if necessary.

But Brumbach replied that he believed the council would come out behind in a legal test.

The council decided to attack the problem by changing the law.

Although they voted not to revoke Garcia's present license, they tabled action on his application for renewal of the license for next year.

And they directed Brumbach to prepare a new ordinance.

In other business the council:

— Approved new rates for the Twin Falls golf course. Rates are $3 daily, $4 weekend, $1.50 Junior daily rate, $2 twilight, $2 senior citizen rate, $90 for an adult season ticket, $50 for college season passes, $40 for high school season tickets and $75 for season cart storage.

— Agreed to transfer a city-owned alley to private landowners. The cross block alley is located between Shoshone and Second streets west and runs parallel to Shoshone from Third Avenue West to the main alley. The ownership will go to Willis Inc.

— Appointed Mrs. Jeaney Jenkins and Rev. Robert Van Nest to the Twin Falls Housing Authority.

— Transferred ownership of about a 300-foot by 30-foot right-of-way strip north of Shoup in line with Madrona Street from the city to L. H. Cress and John D. Alkin.

— Approved an addition to the city agreement with Kimberly over sewer lines. The addition states that because of defects found in the trenching system for the lines, if settlement occurs in the future, the responsibility for repairing the trenches will lie with Kimberly.

Views differ on when work will start on access road

By LINDA LEE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho Board and Twin Falls city engineers have some difference of opinion about when work on a new access road to the north campus will begin.

At Monday night's board meeting, CSI President Dr. James L. Taylor said the city will begin next week to cut a road from Washington Street to Blue Lakes Boulevard mid-way between and parallel to Pole Line Road and Falls Avenue.

Gerald Meyerhoeffer, assistant to Taylor, said work would begin at the Washington Street end of the proposed road.

He said the road would provide access to the vocational-technical building and the new exposition center.

Meyerhoeffer also speculated that the north side of the new road would be developed for housing.

City engineer George Michael said today that he issued a work order on the access road last week, but that he did not mark it urgent. He said when work begins depends on other work the street department has.

"It will be a spare-time project," Michael said.

City streets are partly financed by adjacent property owners. Michael said if they provide the required funding the new road could be finished by mid-summer.

Michael also added the city does not yet have permission to put the road through to Blue Lakes Boulevard. The current plan is to extend it from Washington Street to the Perrine Coulee.

Other CSI board business included approving a lay committee for the vocational-technical building.

Members approved were Dave Chadwick, Hollister; Bob Scott, Jerome; Thane Lancaster, Filer; Bob Harney, Twin Falls, and Tom Prescott, Jerome.

According to Meyerhoeffer, the committee's responsibility will be to determine the best public use of the vocational-technical building. They will review and approve requests to use the facility by public groups in the Magic Valley area.

Members will be required to meet twice a month in noon-time meetings, Taylor said.

The board also discussed whether the new exposition arena will be required by the life safety code to install a sprinkler system. Taylor said he would forward a letter requesting an opinion on the matter to the Twin Falls City Council.

"You can read the code and get anything out of it you want," Bob Blastock, CSI board member, said.

Taylor reported to the board on the status of next year's budget report to the state. He said he and board business manager, Carl Black, were in Boise last week reviewing guidelines for submission of the budget with the governor's office.

Taylor said the CSI budget would be presented to the Idaho Board of Education in early December and to the state Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee in January.

TF library budget eyed

TWIN FALLS — The book-buying fund would receive big increases under next year's proposed budget for the Twin Falls Public Library.

Total budget allocation for the library would decrease about $450 from this year's budget. But more money would actually be available for running the library and purchasing new materials.

The principal reason is that about $17,000 of last year's $173,719 budget went into the new building. This coming year the total budget would be $173,267, if approved as proposed, but no funds would go into the building.

The proposed budget, developed by the library board, has been presented by library director Arlan Call, to the City Council, but the council has not yet acted on the proposal.

Under the proposed budget, expenditures for books would increase 40 per cent, from $20,000 last year to $28,000. The figure is comparable to the book fund before the construction of the building addition, Call said. In 1974, the library spent $26,000 on books.

"The proposed budget, though, isn't an increase in total monies ... gives us more room," Call said.

Total purchase funding would increase about 21 per cent, from $11,500 to $13,200, included are funds for books, equipment, periodicals, bin-ding records, microfilms and art reproductions.

Funding for employee salaries, retirement, Social Security and health would increase only 2.5 per cent. However, Call says employees would average a 9 per cent wage increase.

He said changes in personnel program for the disbursements, the 10 per cent individual salary increases proposed and the 2.5 per cent total increase.

Under operating expenses, big increases are seen in utility, insurance and custodial costs, partly due to the larger building, Call said.

JOHN ROSHOLT

TF man heads national unit

TWIN FALLS — John A. Rosholt, Twin Falls attorney, has been elected president of the National Water Resources Association.

Rosholt, a member of the firm of Parry, Robertson, Daly and Larson, was elected during the national convention in Honolulu. It was announced today by Otis Peterson, Boise, a convention delegate and retired U.S. Bureau of Reclamation official.

Peterson said Rosholt and many of the other 100 Idaho delegates to the convention have not yet returned from Hawaii.

The association, formerly the U.S. Reclamation Association, is made up of reclamationists from 17 western states, including Hawaii. Organized to represent the irrigation interests of the west, the Water Resource Association now deals with other water resource uses.

Rosholt formerly served as vice president of the national group, and Peterson says, "If tradition holds true, he will probably be re-elected in 1976 and will then head the organization during the national convention's 1977 session in Idaho. The meeting which will attract 1,000 to 1,400 of the west's leading water authorities will probably be held in Boise, Peterson said.

today in brief

1 candidate files

TWIN FALLS — Only one candidate has filed for election to the Twin Falls Highway District board, with the filing deadline at 5 p.m. Nov. 21.

The election will be held Dec. 1 and highway district officials say anyone wishing to file for candidacy may pick up a petition at the highway office and file it prior to the deadline.

One vacancy, the director for subdistrict 3 southwest of Twin Falls, is to be filled this December. Ora Jones, who has held the office for the past 12 years, is not seeking re-election.

Elmer A. Ihler, who farms southwest of Twin Falls, is the only candidate to file thus far.

Those seeking election must be residents of the subdistrict they hope to represent and may check boundaries of the subdistrict at the highway office.

Absentee ballots will be accepted for the election up to the time the polls close on Dec. 1. Voting Dec. 1 will be from 1 to 7 p.m.

TF thefts probed

TWIN FALLS — Several thefts, including a possible embezzlement from Smith's Food King store, were under investigation by Twin Falls city police today.

Police reported officials of the firm discovered shortages in three cash registers which occurred sometime between Nov. 7 and Nov. 14. After checking out the "informants" with the bookkeeper and check-out workers at the registers, it was reported to police Monday. About $89 total is missing, officers said.

Dorothy Knoble, librarian at the Morningside School, reported the theft of a hand carved carving set from the library display case. It was owned by Marion Langdon and valued at about $100.

The Department of Health and Welfare officers, 630 Addison Ave. W., were entered during the weekend, but nothing taken. About $15 damage was caused to a door frame of one of the offices where entry was suggested, officials said.

Friday's incident, 425 Second Ave. S., told police someone broke into its office and removed a small camera and a camera. Loss was estimated at $195.

Murray youth cited

TWIN FALLS — Kelly Ray McFarland, 17, Murray, Idaho, received cuts and bruises and was cited for leaving the scene of an accident in the 300 block of Pierce, Twin Falls, Sunday night.

McFarland told police he was racing a black and white pickup, causing him to hit the rear of a parked vehicle owned by George Herrick.

Book Week under way

TWIN FALLS — "Curious? Read!" is the theme of Children's Book Week Nov. 17-21.

The Twin Falls Public Library is sponsoring special activities throughout the week. Check downstairs for a calendar of events. New Books your children will enjoy:

Smith, Doris Buchanan "A Taste of Blackberries." New York: Thomas Crowell Co., 1973.

Jamie was a special friend, but a showoff. His reaction to be slings in the neighbor's yard was taken as another act, but finally the friend who tells the story must accept it as a tragedy and learn to accept Jamie's death. This touching, yet realistic, story pleasantly expresses genuine grief which all ages must deal with.

Franksters frighten residents?

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Garrison 416 Adams, Twin Falls, were sitting at home Sunday evening when they heard a car pull up in front of their house followed by a male voice commanding them: "Come out with your hands up." Mr. Garrison went to the front door in time to see a vehicle which he identified only as a dark top, light bottomed vehicle pull away.

According to the Garrisons it couldn't have been a police or sheriff's vehicle giving the time to the possibility that some pranksters are using a loud speaker to frighten area residents.

SV project bids under way

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — Subcontractors began bidding today on the first phase of a massive $60 million expansion of Sun Valley.

The 10-year project, which will accommodate 2,000 to 2,500 more guests when completed, is the brainchild of Chuck Dwight, president of Dwight-Fenton Company, developers of the $100,000 and up Wildflower condominiums.

The San Francisco architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill has been hired to plan the four phase project which will consist of a serpentine street winding in and out of the village core, consisting of two and three story buildings.

Commercial enterprises will make up the first story of the complex with residential and hotel rooms sharing the second and third floors.

The Sun Valley will remain the predominant structure after the project is completed, according to Dwight. The serpentine street will stretch north of the present village core, nearly to the Trail Creek Highway.

The project will ramble south behind the lodge to the present Sun Valley stables. The Sun Valley Planning and Zoning Commission has already approved the plans for the project and 220,000 in revenue sharing.

This year, he said there will be no revenue sharing. The hospital provided a $250,000 share of the building revenue last year through a 312 per cent increase in room rates for all types of accommodations.

This year there will be a flat 85 per cent of 7.5 per cent compared to 7 per cent last year.

Rosenbaum said the significant factor in the hospital budget increase this year is the addition of 22 beds through this year's building project. This will require additional operating revenue in the way of additional nursing staff and other personnel. Other operating costs must also be budgeted on the basis of 148 instead of the former 126 beds.

"At the same time," Rosenbaum said, "the hospital revenue will increase in about the same proportion, making it a balanced budget with big bulks of the revenue coming from payment for services rather than through property taxation.

The new 22 beds on the second floor are expected to be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, and will probably gradually grow to capacity or near capacity use, hospital officials believe.

Rosenbaum said the hospital costs are shifting over the past few years, as is shown in the proposed 1976 budget.

"We used to consider about 65 to 68 per cent of our budget was required for salaries. Now that is more like 59 per cent, and the big increase is in hospital supplies," he said.

"We are paying an average 15 per cent more this year for all hospital supplies than we were a year ago and there is no escape. Some items increased as much as 43 per cent during the past year," he said.

Insurance for the hospital in 1975 increased from $15,000 to $5,000, a more than 200 per cent rise because of malpractice insurance regulations. Hospital officials are hoping to hold it at about that same level for 1976.

Another item this year involves purchase of equipment. Under the press of building fund needs the hospital has been leasing equipment on a lease purchase basis in a number of departments.

John Hayden, hospital controller, said it is to the hospital's advantage financially to purchase this equipment now to save costly interest on lease payments. As much of the equipment as can, providing it is not becoming out dated, will be purchased this year, he said.

Revenue projections for the $6.8 budget include $6.4 million from patient services and $210,000 from county revenue with $4,500 from transfer from special funds. The hospital expects to have a cash balance of $143,000 at the end of the year.

Salaries this year will total $3.4 million with $335,000 in employee benefits. Supply costs are estimated at $1.9 million and medical professional fees at $687,000. The budget includes $26,715 for equipment purchase, including a new chest X-ray generator and unit for the radiology department. This is expected to cost $32,000 and was approved by the board Monday night.

Proposed hospital budget up $400,000

Red Sox get Ferguson Jenkins

BOSTON (UPI) — The American league champion Boston Red Sox announced early today the acquisition of seven-time 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins, a former Cy Young Award winner, from the Texas Rangers for three players and cash.

Red Sox General Manager Dick O'Connell said the Red Sox gave up outfielder Juan Beniquez, a spot starter for the club this year, minor league pitcher Steve Barr and another minor leaguer to be named later.

O'Connell said a communications mixup had delayed confirmation of the deal, which has been rumored for some time.

Defense Department enters auto racing

BRISTOL, Tenn. (UPI) — Larry Carrier, president of the International Hot Rod Association, said Monday Defense Department advertising has given a few drivers an unfair financial advantage over others in automobile racing.

Carrier said that the Defense Department had purchased signs advertising the U.S. Army on a car driven by Don Prudhomme and others to advertise the Navy on a car driven by Tom McEwen.

He said this financial backing with tax dollars helps these drivers become more competitive than other drivers without such advertising contracts.

"We have worked very close with the Army and Navy to help them promote at our races at no cost to them," Carrier said. "We feel that if the armed services want to go racing they should take their money and distribute it like the other manufacturer and accessory companies in the different racing brackets. That way all racers could wear the armed services decals and have a chance at part of the money."

Chicago Bulls sue ABA

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association Monday filed suit against two American Basketball Association teams charging the Utah Stars and Virginia Squires with failing to pay the Bulls for exhibition games last month.

One suit said the Stars agreed last Aug. 22 to play the Bulls $17,000 for a game played Oct. 14 in Salt Lake City, Utah. The other suit said the Squires agreed Aug. 7 to pay $13,000 to the Bulls for a game played Oct. 12 in Norfolk, Va.

A spokesman for the Bulls said the Stars and Squires were in "severe financial" trouble.

Division II Playoffs

MISSION, Kan. (UPI) — New Hampshire, Lehigh, Northern Iowa and Northern Michigan were named Monday to play in the NCAA Division II football playoffs.

They join North Dakota, which was selected last week.

Three teams will be named next Sunday to fill the final spots. One of them will be the winner of the Big Sky Conference showdown between Boise State (8-11) and Idaho State (7-2).

New Hampshire clinched the Yankee Conference title and increased its record to 8-2 by beating Massachusetts (14-1) last week. Lehigh has an 8-2 record. Northern Iowa is 9-2 and North Dakota is 9-1.

First round games Nov. 29 will be played at North Dakota, Northern Iowa, Lehigh and either Boise State or Idaho State. The semifinals are set Dec. 6 at Wichita Falls, Tex., and Baton Rouge, La., and the final Dec. 13 at Sacramento, Calif.

Maravich sidelined

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — "Pistol" Pete Maravich of the New Orleans Jazz suffered a shoulder injury during basketball practice Monday and trainers say he will be out of action for two to four weeks.

"It was just starting to get my strength back in my legs on moves to the goal and then this had to happen," Maravich said. "It's like this has been the history of my career."

Team spokesman Bud Johnson said, "He was going after a loose ball on defense and jumped into the air and came down over somebody's back, then fell on his shoulder."

Johnson called the injury a "second degree separation."

Maravich has averaged 23.1 points a game this season. The Jazz play the world champion Golden State Warriors in the Superdome Tuesday night.

Squires hanging on

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Investors of the Virginia Squires again postponed a decision Monday night on whether the team would become the third ABA franchise to fold this season.

Squires General Manager Jack Anderson said, however, the financially troubled club, which was unable to pay its players earlier in the day, is near a deal to allow it to stay alive and complete the season.

"We are one step away from completing a financial package which would enable us to complete the season," Anderson said following an evening meeting of the franchise's investors. "We expect to have the answer by noon tomorrow."

Anderson refused to elaborate on the package or say where the call would be coming from or who would be making it.

The Squires have scheduled a noon news conference Tuesday to announce their fate.

Dave Cowens recovers

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Celtics center Dave Cowens was expected to come out of traction today and leave University Hospital, where he's been recuperating from a sciatic nerve attack.

The 6-foot-8 center was forced to leave last Friday night's game against Philadelphia after developing a shooting pain from his lower back through his upper right leg.

Team physician, Dr. Thomas Silva, said the traction and heat treatments were prescribed to help relieve the pressure and the resulting back pain.

"Dave is very mobile and active and twists around a lot, placing a great deal of strain on his back," said Dr. Silva. "He's had this problem for a while but it got to a point (Friday night) where the pain became intolerable. He is all right when he moves straight ahead or backwards but when he moves laterally, that's when he gets the pain."

Rams owner recovering

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Carroll Rosenbloom underwent a five-hour coronary bypass operation at Daniel Freeman Hospital Monday and a son of the Los Angeles Rams' owner reported "the surgery went fine."

Rosenbloom, 67, suffered a heart attack last December. He entered the hospital Thursday.

"The doctors tell me the surgery went fine," said Steve Rosenbloom, assistant to the president of the Rams. "They say the next 12 hours are critical but that they expect no complications and if all goes well, he'll be out of intensive care on Wednesday."

In a coronary bypass operation, a vein is transplanted from the leg into the heart's circulatory system.

Prison inmate to fight the Russians

CINCINNATI (UPI) — He was chomping hard on some chewing gum, lurching back in his chair and wearing a long tan overcoat.

When his name was called Monday afternoon for the weigh-in, he pulled off the overcoat and his clinging blue T-shirt revealed a gigantic chest and huge, rippling arm muscles.

The scales registered 231 pounds and when he shook a cannonball of a list at his Russian opponent it was clear why he was called "Jumbo."

Floyd "Jumbo" Cummings is one of nine American amateur heavyweight boxers who will fight a group of touring Russians here Tuesday night — but Jumbo had to go through more red tape to get to Cincinnati than the Soviets did.

Jumbo is currently serving a 50-to-75 year prison term for murder at Joffe, III, and when he flew here Monday it was the first time he had been allowed out of state for a boxing match.

"I can't run (escape) because I've got nowhere to hide," said Jumbo, pointing out all the cameramen at a news conference. "Everybody would know where I am."

"All I plan to do here is sleep in the ring, do my thing and go on back to the crib (prison)."

Jumbo's opponent Tuesday night is 234-pound Mikhail Subbotin, who has won 72 of his 78 fights.

Although Jumbo only started boxing last year and has just had seven fights (winning all on knockouts), he gave Subbotin a mean stare and a shake of his fist at the weigh-in.

"I wanted to let him know what he would be facing," explained Jumbo. "Some of the guys I've hit with my fist said it was like a truck."

The 25-year-old now has an ambitious boxing timetable worked out for himself (Olympic champ in 1976, professional heavyweight champ in 1978) and is counting on "boxing myself back into society."

Jumbo has been out of society most of his life.

The Ruleville, Miss., native spent most of his time from age eight to 16 in a juvenile institution.

"I was out on the hustle," he remembered.

"Not going to school and taking other peoples' bicycles."

At age 17 he bought a $15 bus ticket to Chicago and joined the "East Side Disciples" street gang.

"You wind up going along with the program and the program gets you," he said of his short Chicago stay. He was one of four persons convicted of murder during an armed robbery of a supermarket and has been in prison the last seven years. He claims he is innocent.

"Jumbo comes before the parole board for the first time next year and could possibly be paroled in early 1977.

"He has an excellent prison record," says Warden Dave Brierton, one of four prison officials accompanying Jumbo and staying with him at a downtown hotel until Wednesday's return to prison.

"Naturally, we've taken security precautions, but we're not afraid Jumbo's going to run away," added the warden, who said the "red tape" involved in getting Jumbo out even extended to Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker.

Jumbo has fought outside the prison in his home state several times without incident.

"I'm a whole lot different now than ever before," says Jumbo. "I think about doing constructive things. When a cat becomes 25 he should start setting an example for youth."

"I get a lot of fan mail T write back, but I tell 'em that I'm a fighter, not a writer."

Intermountain coaches picked by US ski team for training

PARK CITY, Utah (UPI) — The U.S. Ski Team Monday named three Intermountain area coaches to assist with training and development of cross country racers.

John Bower, team Nordic program director, picked three-time Olympian Mike Elliott, Rob Kiesel and Dick Taylor as his first regional Nordic coaches, under the team's new regional program.

"This program is designed to give us additional coaches to assist with the training of national team members at summer and fall camps," Bower said. "They will also hold local clinics and races in their areas."

Elliott, Durango, Colo., was one of the top two U.S. cross country skiers from 1962 to 1972. He competed in the 1964, 1968 and 1972 Winter Olympics and in three FIS World Championships. He is employed by the Durango Ski Corp.

Kiesel, Ketchum, Idaho, was a member of the Denver University Ski Team from 1963 to 1965. He is the head coach of the Sun Valley Nordic Team, and is Nordic program director for the USA Intermountain Division.

Taylor, Winter Park, Colo., skied for Dartmouth College in the 1950s, was a member of the U.S. Biathlon cross country skiing and rifle shooting team in 1961 and 1962, and competed in cross country skiing for the U.S. in the 1964 Winter Olympics. He is a high school language instructor.

Johnny Bench has surgery

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Johnny Bench today was recovering from an apparently successful operation on his left shoulder Monday in Oklahoma City, Okla., Cincinnati Reds officials reported.

"Everything went as expected," said a club official. "There were no complications, no surprises in any way."

The surgery, performed by Dr. Donald O'Connor of Oklahoma City's St. Anthony Hospital, took a little over an hour and the Red star catcher is expected to remain in the hospital about four more days.

No cast will be necessary, and although Bench's left arm will be in a sling about three weeks, the slugging star "should be in good shape for spring training next February," said a team spokesman.

The doctor said he removed a piece of "chewed up" cartilage and a tiny piece of bone from the collarbone area of Bench's left shoulder.

Bench had spent much of the 1975 season in pain after the shoulder was injured in a home plate collision with San Francisco's Gary Matthews on April 22.

It was the second operation for the 27-year-old Bench in less than three years. In December 1972, Bench underwent lung surgery for removal of a benign lesion.

Jury picked for Marvin Barnes suit

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A four-man, two-woman civil jury was picked Monday to hear a $1.5 million suit filed against basketball star Marvin Barnes for an attack on a former Providence College teammate.

The jury was sworn in after a 90-minute selection process. Before presentation of the first testimony Tuesday, the jurors and three alternates will be taken by bus to nearby Providence College campus. Their visit will be a "view" of the setting where the October 1972 incident occurred.

Before the trial began Barnes, star center of the Spirits of St. Louis, said he would not see any action with the American Basketball Association until the trial is completed. He was the league's rookie of the year last season.

The trial stems from his 1974 guilty plea to a charge of attacking former teammate Lawrence Kertvirts with a tire iron after a practice session. Barnes was given a suspended one-year jail term with three years of probation in state Superior Court but maintained he didn't do it.

Leonard Decof, attorney for Kertvirts, said his client was struck from behind with "a shattering, vicious blow without warning" outside the college cafeteria.

During opening statements, attorneys for both men said the incident followed a team scrimmage where Kertvirts elbowed Barnes in the mouth while taking a shot, loosening a few teeth.

Decof said the collision was accidental. William A. Curran, attorney for Barnes, said Kertvirts had a history of losing his temper and fighting with other players.

Curran said Barnes hit Kertvirts outside the dining hall with his right hand — from the front. There was a ring on it. "We'll prove that was the sole injury suffered by Mr. Kertvirts. We'll prove to you that Mr. Kertvirts never saw a tire iron hit him," he said.

Kertvirts, who was battling Barnes for the role of starting center that year, claimed he suffered severe injuries including a fractured cheekbone and central nervous system damage.

"We'll prove that four weeks after the incident the doctor told Mr. Kertvirts he could go back and play ball full time... He fully recovered," Curran said.

Decof said he would ask the jury "to mete out a just punishment for Marvin Barnes in the form of dollars. At the end of this case I will ask you for 100 per cent justice."

Cincinnati defeats Buffalo

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ken Anderson passed for a team record 347 yards to spark the Cincinnati Bengals to a 20-24 victory over the Buffalo Bills in a free-wheeling nationally televised game Monday night.

Anderson completed 30 of 46 passes and threw two touchdowns as the Bengals won their eighth game in nine starts and remained tied with Pittsburgh for first place in the AFC Central Division.

Anderson's brilliant passing overshadowed the running of Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, who scrambled for 197 yards on just 17 carries. Simpson had 154 yards in the first half. The previous Bengals record for passing yardage was 352 set by Anderson last year against Houston.

"Cincinnati, which never punted in the game, led throughout but Buffalo stayed within striking distance most of the way.

Placekicker Dave Green, who earlier had booted a 28-yard field goal, guaranteed Cincinnati's win with an 18-yard field goal with just 1:57 remaining.

Rookie Stan Fritts scored the other two Cincinnati touchdowns on one-yard runs.

Buffalo, now 5-4, scored on runs of two and one yards by Simpson, a 10-yard pass from Joe Esquiquito to D. Hill and a 28-yard field goal by John Leybold.

Cincinnati's game plan was to rip apart Buffalo's inexperienced defensive secondary, as evidenced by Anderson's 46 passing attempts.

Pass interference penalties against the out-maneuvered Buffalo defenders were key factors in three Cincinnati touchdown drives.

Dodgers make trades

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In a trade to land themselves a centerfielder, the Los Angeles Dodgers acquired Dusty Baker from the Atlanta Braves Monday night for Jimmy Wynn, Tom Paciorek, Leo Lacy and Jerry Royster.

Baker, 26, led Atlanta with 19 home runs and 72 rbi last season, hitting .261. He had a .900 fielding percentage as the Braves' centerfielder.

He had his best season in 1973 when he hit 21 homers, drove in 99 runs, stole 24 bases and hit .283 for the Braves.

Wynn was the Dodgers' regular centerfielder two seasons ago when the Dodgers won the National League pennant but an ailing elbow reduced his effectiveness in the field last season and he split time at the position with John Hale.

Along in the trade, the Braves threw in Ed Goodson, 27, who hit .208 in 86 games at Atlanta and San Francisco last season. Goodson can play first and third.

Lacy, 27, started last season as Davey Lopez' backup in an at second base but was used in the outfield because of his bat. He hit .314 with seven home runs and 40 rbi.

Wynn, 33, fell from a batting average of .271 in 1973 to .248 last season. He hit 18 homers and drove in 58 runs.

Paciorek, 26, has been a part-time player with the Dodgers the past three years. He hit .193 with one homer and five rbi last season. Royster, 23, won the Pacific Coast League batting title with a .333 average at Albuquerque last season before being called up to Los Angeles where he played in 15 games and hit .220.

SHOES

Q. "How long does it take a youngster to outgrow a pair of shoes?"

A. How old is the youngster? From 1 to 6 years, figure a pair every one maybe two months. From 6 to 10, every two maybe three months. From 10 to 12, every three maybe four months. From 12 to 15, every four maybe five months. From 15 on, those shoes ought to last at least six months.

LOVE AND WAR

Question arises as to whether most newlyweds become disenchanted with matrimony shortly after the wedding ceremonies. Disenchanted is too strong a word, says our Love and War man. But studies do show that most such couples soon learn the matrimonial harness chafes a bit, he says. They tend to be at least slightly disappointed for a while, although the majority recovers to stick it out, as statistics indicate.

GUARANTEE Get RESULTS in 10 Days Or Your Money Back!

Place your ad to sell - buy - or trade in our Classified Advertising Section for 10 days. Pay for your ad before the 10 days are up. (Rate is based on the number of words in your ad). If at the end of 10 days - your item hasn't sold - you haven't purchased what you're looking for - or you haven't traded for the item you wanted to trade - we'll refund your money or run the ad an additional 10 days at no charge. If you get results before the 10 days are up - call and cancel your ad. You'll be charged only for the days your ad actually appeared - and you will receive a refund check for the difference.

Sorry, this offer good for private party ads only. Real estate advertising cannot be accepted. Deadline for receiving ad copy is 11:00 a.m. For the following day's publications.

If you advertise more than one item and you sell one or more of the items, your ad must be considered successful.

TO PLACE YOUR AD: PHONE 733-0931
