Soviet demands stall shipping talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — The U.S. assistant secretary for Maritime Affairs said today that new demands by the Soviet Union made it impossible to conclude a joint shipping agreement and left immediately for the United States.

The impasse could block U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union. Robert J. Blackwell said the Soviets demanded to pay only world charter rates for shipping the grain, whereas the United States wanted an adjustment to pay for the higher cost of building and operating American vessels.

Britain ends Ulster detention policy

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Britain today announced the end of interment without trial of suspected IRA and Protestant gunmen in a major policy switch in Northern Ireland.

Britain's chief minister in Northern Ireland, Merlyn Hews, freed 46 men immediately and revoked detention orders on 27 others who will have to remain behind bars to serve out separate court-imposed sentences.

"As from today no one is being held under a detention order," Hews said in bowing to demands from both Catholic and Protestant communities to abolish the practice.

Enters plea

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel and five defendants pleaded innocent Thursday to a 24-count federal indictment charging them with mail fraud and anti-racketeering law violations handed down Nov. 24.

Mandel said he welcomed a trial, which was set for May, but would fight a federal prosecutor's request for a gag order aimed at reducing influence on potential jurors in the case.

Chrysler plans January plant shutdown

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. said today that it will close five assembly plants during the first week of January to help prevent a repeat of the inventory buildups that led to massive layoffs last winter.

A Chrysler spokesman said four car facilities and one truck plant will be closed for the week beginning Jan. 5, idling 13,900 workers. The only two U.S. plants producing cars will be building Chrysler's new luxury compacts—the Plymouth Volare and Dodge Aspen.

US mail embargo to Canada lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The end of Canada's postal strike has ended the U.S. Postal Service embargo on mail for Canada.

The embargo, imposed Oct. 22, was lifted Thursday. The Postal Service said the Canadian Postal Administration, which had requested the embargo, sent word that it is now able to accept U.S. mail.

Scott retires

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh L. Scott, 75, announced Thursday he will retire after a 23 year career in Congress. Scott said he will not seek a fourth term in the Senate in 1976.

Scott cited age, family considerations and a large number of potential candidates among factors in his decision, which will open the way for a spirited fight not only for his seat but for his leadership post in the Senate.

Israeli planes trigger Lebanon alarms

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli warplanes flashed across the border into Lebanon today, triggering warning sirens in coastal cities fearful of air raids similar to those that killed more than 100 persons earlier this week.

Eight planes flew over the northern city of Tripoli, site of two air raids Tuesday, then broke the sound barrier over Beirut, before flying home. No attacks were reported. Bombing and strafing raids by some 30 Israeli warplanes killed more than 100 persons and wounded at least 100 others in Palestinian refugee camps in northern and southern Lebanon Tuesday.

Burley publisher stricken

BURLEY — South Idaho Press newspaper publisher Lloyd Hollinger remains in intensive care today following a heart attack.

Hollinger, 65, suffered a mild heart attack Wednesday evening. He is listed in "stable condition" this morning according to hospital officials.

Ford stresses US Pacific role

JAKARTA (UPI) — President Ford, buoyed by "very, very constructive" talks in China, arrived to an enthusiastic welcome by 100,000 Indonesians today and declared America is "a Pacific nation" — despite the embarrassment of Vietnam.

"The toast 'AFC' brought in his hour," Ford told this rich nation the United States is dedicated to peace and progress in the Far East.

It was what President Suharto wanted to hear — America has no intention of pulling out of Asia, despite a lower profile in the aftermath of the Vietnam War.

The residents of the world's sixth largest country gave Ford, his wife Betty and daughter Susan a warm welcome. Thousands of school children holding pastel parasols against a soft, tropical drizzle waved U.S. and Indonesian flags and cheered and sang to the presidential motorcade.

The largely ceremonial, 10-hour visit to Jakarta came on the heels of a four-day visit to Peking which Ford and his advisers hailed as a sign that U.S.-China relations are sound and healthy — and sure to get better — despite lingering disagreements over Taiwan and detente with Russia.

The talks are certain to center on energy — Indonesia is one of the largest producers in the world and supplier of 11 per cent of America's imports — and increased U.S. military aid, which has dropped by more than 75 per cent over the last several years.

"We remain firmly committed to peace and security in Southeast Asia and throughout Asia," Ford told his hosts.

"We see our own prosperity and progress linked with the past populations, the dynamic economies, the abundant resources and the rich cultures of this great region."

"We share a commitment to economic and social progress," he said. "We share the realization that international cooperation is essential for international stability and prosperity."

Ford's visit is a show of support for Suharto — who came to power by crushing a Communist coup in 1965 — at a time when Communist power in Southeast Asia is growing at a rate causing consternation to U.S. officials.

Indonesia, with a population of 135 million, is a major U.S. ally in Southeast Asia. Although it has 13,000 islands curving in its archipelago, 90 per cent of them live on Java — many in virtual poverty.

But crude oil is Indonesia's ace in the hole. The country is a member of OPEC and a key piece in the world's oil puzzle.

In his response toast, Suharto expressed Indonesia's misgivings about the situation in Southeast Asia and urged the United States to remain a force to be reckoned with in the Pacific.

"Cooperation between Indonesia and the United States on a basis of mutual respect and equality will contribute to post-war stability in this region," Suharto said.

Children set free

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Terrorists holding a score of hostages in the Indonesian consulate forced captives at gunpoint today to stand on a balcony, blindfolded and with an electric cable around their necks. But they freed five children who had been among their captives.

The gunmen had been holding 26 persons, including 11 children. They released three children shortly after 4 p.m. when they allowed a mediator to enter the dark brick building. Another two children were freed when he came out of the consulate 45 minutes later.

Another terrorist band held dozens of hostages aboard a hijacked train at Bollen, where a 1,000-man force of troops and police appeared ready to attack to free the captives — held since Tuesday morning. The gunmen allowed police to carry off the bodies of three hostages they had killed and dumped out of the train.

Both groups of terrorists were South Moluccans, seeking independence from Indonesia of their former Spice Islands homeland — once a part of the Dutch Empire.

Dutch Premier Joop Den Uyl told a news conference this evening his government would not judge on its rejection of the gunmen's demands, which included the immediate release of some 25 South Moluccans held in Dutch jails for offenses connected with their campaign for independence.

He said since the gunmen had shot dead three hostages, any acceptance of their demand for safe conduct "out of the country" was "unacceptable if we are to prevent recurrences and maintain law and order."

He said the government's prime consideration was to save the lives of the hostages "as far as possible."

Different script in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Fire Department doesn't follow the television script, according to the department's chief.

Television fire departments commonly rush forth to provide emergency medical service.

But in Twin Falls, people needing emergency medical assistance should call the ambulance, not the fire department, he says.

Fire Chief Bobby Bopp said his department does have 10 men trained as medical technicians, and their skills are put to use in administering medical attention during fires.

"Certainly, we would not refuse to respond to an emergency call in Twin Falls, but we would also assist the persons involved in contacting the proper agencies," he said.

He said his department presently is not staffed to take on the added responsibility of providing emergency medical services beyond those connected with fire fighting.

Ex-CIA agent advises cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former CIA agent advised Congress "in sorrow" today to strip the spy agency of its power to conduct covert operations and to create a manageable force to handle such "heavy" tasks abroad.

"I am convinced that the CIA is the organization best suited to carry out covert action operations," David A. Phillips told the Senate Intelligence Committee in prepared testimony.

"Despite this, I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the charter for covert action should rest elsewhere. I say this more in sorrow than in anything else."

His suggestion for a separate bureau, staffed by no more than a hundred persons, followed a report by the committee's staff Thursday that the CIA had conducted extensive covert operations in Chile to influence the destiny of the governments.

Phillips, a 25-year CIA veteran who retired this year, said covert action "is a stimulating business, a heady experience for those who sponsor it and for its practitioners."

But if it is not used in moderation, he said, "it is as dangerous as any stimulant."

"Effective and responsible accountability requires practical operational considerations," said Phillips.

More Americans working

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate fell 0.3 per cent to 8.3 per cent in November, the sharpest decline in six months, the Labor Department said today.

The decline, which neutralized a 0.3 per cent increase in October, provided an encouraging economic sign — particularly when coupled with the news Thursday that wholesale prices had remained unchanged in November.

The number of jobless persons fell by 300,000 to 7.7 million in November. This was the biggest percentage decline for unemployment since it dropped from its recession peak of 9.2 per cent in May 1962 to 6.6 per cent in June.

Adult males, teenagers and full-time workers benefited most from the decline.

IEA leaders make pitch for bargaining measure

By LINDA LEE

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Education Association leaders brought their pitch for a collective bargaining bill and other legislation to local legislators Thursday night.

Wayne York, executive secretary of IEA, outlined four major issues in an after-dinner speech to the legislators.

"Topping York's list is a renewed effort to encourage a collective bargaining bill for teachers."

"A collective bargaining bill would make meaningful negotiations possible," York said. "Teacher negotiations are here to stay and we need good guidelines."

York said superintendents and school boards throughout the state continue to be "violently against" such action.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, who attended the IEA gathering, said he feels collective bargaining will remain as controversial an issue as it was during the last legislative session. He said if it passes it will be by a narrow margin.

York's second request was for a $21.1 million increase in educational funding from the state. If this increase is granted, it will bring state funding up to $78.6 million.

Earlier this week Gov. Cecil D. Andrus made public his opinion that IEA was asking too much. He said his budget request would include a lower education increase request.

York said last year the legislators granted a $10 million increase.

Other IEA requests included action for an improved retirement law for teachers and equalized funding for school districts.

York said the IEA wants the "same money spent for each child's education regardless of where the child lives."

Basically the IEA is requesting the mill tax levy minimum level be raised from 22 mills to 27 mills, according to Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl.

Due to varying tax bases from district to district, this equalized funding action "would help large school districts more than small districts."

York, High and Barker agreed that legislators would vote equalized funding depending on whether it would benefit the districts each legislator represents.

Barker said he would support the action, but he warned that for the last four years similar action has been considered without success.

Barker, who is chairman of the Senate Education and Welfare Committee, said he has been working with an interim committee which is recommending a change in the "public school formula to insure more equalized funding."

Snow sports gain impetus

MAGIC VALLEY — Two ski resorts in the area are operating on a seven-day a week basis and snowmobiling is listed as good in several areas, the Sawtooth National Forest officials report.

The weekly recreation reports for the winter season began today and will continue through spring closure of ski areas.

Pomerele, south of Albion is operating with 24 inches of snow at the lodge and 42 inches at the top of the slopes. The main double chair lift and beginner rope tow are operating with very low snow conditions on the new double chair. Snow lifts or chairs are advised.

Sun Valley, also operating daily and with special lift rates in effect through Dec. 12, has 28 inches on top of Bald Mountain and eight inches on the valley floor. Skies will be primarily on lower Warm Springs and Flying Squirrel runs. The Lower Warm Springs and Plaza lifts are operating.

Snowmobiling is listed as good in the Howell Canyon area and some snowmobiling is being done in the South Hills south of Twin Falls and in the Baker Creek area north of Kelcham. Banner Summit has about three feet of snow and Bull Trout Lake area reports good snowmobiling.

Cross-country skiing is also reported fair to good in most areas. It has six inches of snow on the level and Galena Summit from two to four feet.

Mr. T-N says
And some days the snow shoveling is fine exercise, too.

Rupert death

RUPERT — A 71-year-old semi-invalid found dead at her home here Tuesday apparently died of suffocation.

Amy Nix also showed signs of having been beaten. Her nose was broken and there were bruises on her head.

Rupert police are continuing an intensive investigation. A window in the front door of the 324 East 6th St. home had been broken.

Basically the IEA is requesting the mill tax levy minimum level be raised from 22 mills to 27 mills, according to Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl.

Andrus says $22 million in school aid 'too high'

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a news conference Thursday he cannot go along with the State Board of Education's recommended $22 million increase in state aid to public schools.

Andrus said the proposed increase is too high in light of anticipated increases in the general fund and said, "I surely will recommend a lesser figure to the legislature."

Members of the Board of Education and others were well aware, he said, there is not that much money to be given to the schools. But he said that does not make the request irresponsible.

"They are charged with the responsibility of being advocates of education," he said, adding that the politicians have the duty to face the realities of the situation.

He said he will propose some form of revenue increase for road construction and maintenance and "very, very possibly" will recommend a combination of revenue hikes and program cutbacks.

"For the Department of Health and Welfare, he said, he will propose some supplemental appropriations — including one for shelter homes. He said money appropriated for that has run out and the agency is using other HEW funds to keep the program going.

Legislation will call for a nominee for state health and welfare director before the Senate for confirmation prior to legislative adjournment. The post has been filled by Andrus' special assistant, Joe Nagel, on an acting basis since James A. Bax left the post Oct. 1.

At least two of the six land-use planning bills defeated at the last legislative session will be put before the legislature again in January, he said, including one sought by the cities.

Asked about his opinion of a move to repeal the land-use legislation enacted at the last session and to require planning at the county level, Andrus indicated that is the work of those opposed to any land-use planning. He said the legislation on the books provides for local control.

Andrus returned to his office Thursday from Washington, D. C., where he attended the Democratic Governors' Conference Tuesday and Wednesday. He said he traveled by commercial airplane and paid for his ticket and his hotel room out of his political trust fund because he did not want to "put up with the harangue" if he used tax monies.

Last year, he flew to Hilton Head Island, S. C., by Air National Guard plane to attend the Democratic meeting.

The governor said he was surprised at the attitude of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter toward federal revenue sharing with the states and added it would cost him some gubernatorial support in his bid for the presidential nomination.

He disagreed with Carter that the revenue sharing money was spent for the wrong things, noting that in Idaho it went to education. Carter is one of nine announced candidates for the Democratic nomination who appeared before the Democratic governors at the Washington, D. C., session.

Andrus said if the Democratic National Convention becomes deadlocked on a choice for a presidential nomination, that Sen. Hubert Humphrey may come out of the wings and grab the nomination.

The governor's own choice for president is Idaho Sen. Frank Church and he said that from the reaction of his colleagues to the nine candidates who appeared before them, he has the edge at present, and he thinks Church has his good chance for the nomination on a narrow margin.

Storm moves out of coastal areas

By United Press International
The latest Pacific storm moved out of flood-stricken Pacific Northwest coastal areas into the Intermountain West today.

More than 2,000 refugees, including Indians driven from their reservations, waited for floodwaters to subside.

Waters were still rising in a few areas, including stretches of the Chehalis River in Washington's Grays Harbor County, but cooler weather and glimpses of the sun gave lowland dwellers hope that the worst was over.

The refugees, many carried to safety by helicopters or boats, camped in churches, schools, garage halls, and motels.

Buty McClelland, emergency services director of Grays Harbor County, reported 400 cattle and 220 sheep were stranded and possibly threatened. Floods in that area were expected to reach a peak Saturday.

Of just people telephoning me to ask when the tide was going to go out," she said. "It hadn't sunk in that this was rising water. Some people just didn't take our water seriously."

An instance of flooding was reported near Eastern in rural eastern Washington. Looters grabbed color television sets, guitars, light bulbs, tires, shoes and cans of shrimp from a trucked where a freight train was wrecked earlier this week. They looted the scene faster than salvage workers could pick up the strewn cargo.

Soliah bond uncut

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A federal judge refused Thursday to reduce the $250,000 bail of Symbionese Liberation Army associate Steven Soliah, who had been living with Patricia Hearst.

Soliah, 27, was charged with participating in a bank robbery in which a mother of four children was killed.

U.S. District Judge Philip C. Wilkins ruled against bail reduction to $100,000, saying Soliah had associated with persons who have been known perhaps to have been the greatest flight risks in recent memory.

Soliah, a San Francisco housepainter, was accused of the SLA-linked robbery of a Carmichael bank April 21 when Myrna Opsahl, 32, was cut down by a shotgun blast as she attempted to deposit church collection receipts. Four bandits escaped with $15,000.

If convicted, Soliah faces a 10-year-to-life prison term. "Thus the impetus for flight is largely enhanced," Wilkins said.

$9 million target

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the Idaho Branch of the Associated General Contractors Thursday he will recommend a tax increase next year to raise $9 million needed for highway programs.

Andrus did not specify the type of tax increase he will recommend but said automobile registration and gasoline taxes are the most likely. He said it would raise the additional revenue he will devote to $23 million in federal matching funds.

He said unemployment figures must be brought down and noted the construction industry among non-workers nationally than any other industry.

House approves tax bill; Ford phones veto threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has passed a bill to extend antirecession tax relief and raise new revenues through reforms even though President Ford called from Peking to say that if it reaches the White House without a spending cap he will veto it.

The bill passed Thursday on a 257-168 vote. It triggered the presidential veto threat because the House refused to attach a $335 billion spending ceiling for fiscal year 1977.

The Senate is expected to make some adjustments, holding over until next year the loophole closing provisions to raise $1.1 billion in new revenues while agreeing to a limited extension of the 1975 tax reductions.

Strategists planning Senate revisions hope to produce a bill for a confrontation between an unidentified witness and three New Jersey Teamsters he said kidnaped and killed, former Teamsters International boss James Hoffa.

The meeting was set for Saturday at an identification lineup ordered by a federal judge.

Robert Ozer, head of the "U.S. Organized Crime Strike Task Force" in Detroit, said Thursday two men may hold the key to what happened to Hoffa.

One, he said, was a man who said he saw the abduction.

The other, Ozer said, was a man who named the New Jersey men as participants in Hoffa's abduction and murder.

The existence of both was disclosed Thursday when Ozer appeared in a federal court seeking an order to compel the New Jersey trio to appear for the lineup.

reaffirmed his intention to veto the House bill if there was no agreement to put a lid on spending in 1977 to partly offset the revenues lost by granting tax relief.

A Republican attempt to recommit the bill to the Ways and Means Committee with instructions to report it back with a spending ceiling was defeated 229-202.

During the debate, five amendments were considered and three were adopted. Each would have increased tax burdens for special interest groups. The two that failed involved the real estate industry and multinational corporations which have overseas sales outlets for American-made goods.

The tax relief provisions include a one-year credit which would reduce taxes on individuals up to $240 — 2 per cent of all income up to $12,000. Also, the bill would make permanent the standard deduction tables, a maximum of $2,300 for singles and $3,600 for couples and a minimum $1,600 for singles and $1,900 for couples.

EDWARD KORRY ... lambasts Church

Ex-envoy to Chile flays Church

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former ambassador to Chile told Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Thursday that "no American — not even Mr. Nixon — has had a more devastating effect in Chile" than Church himself, who has long criticized U.S. policy there and now leads a public investigation of CIA activities in Chile.

In a hearing of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, Edward Korry, U.S. ambassador to Chile from 1967 through 1971, heatedly criticized Church for damning all U.S. efforts to prevent the former President Salvador

Allende from taking power in Chile.

A report of the committee, released earlier, said many of those efforts occurred with the approval of Richard M. Nixon. Church was a sharp critic of U.S. activities there before and after the 1973 coup in which Allende was slain.

Korry called Allende a

Marxist who regarded the United States as "the No. 1 enemy in the Western Hemisphere."

Through persistent complaints that no attempt should have been made to impede Allende's election, he declared angrily, Church, "you unwittingly became a powerful agent as an Allende apologist.

for the polarization within Chile, and for the regime of terror that ensued."

"No American, not even Mr. Nixon, had more devastating effect in Chile as I have. Good reason to assert, than you, sir," he declared.

Church listened intently but did not respond.

Hoffa 'lineup' planned

DETROIT (UPI) — Federal officials set the stage today for a confrontation between an unidentified witness and three New Jersey Teamsters he said kidnaped and killed, former Teamsters International boss James Hoffa.

The meeting was set for Saturday at an identification lineup ordered by a federal judge.

Robert Ozer, head of the "U.S. Organized Crime Strike Task Force" in Detroit, said Thursday two men may hold the key to what happened to Hoffa.

One, he said, was a man who said he saw the abduction.

The other, Ozer said, was a man who named the New Jersey men as participants in Hoffa's abduction and murder.

The existence of both was disclosed Thursday when Ozer appeared in a federal court seeking an order to compel the New Jersey trio to appear for the lineup.

Federal Judge James Churchill ordered the lineup after Ozer told him the three men refused to take part voluntarily.

Ozer said he would take elaborate precautions to prevent identification of the witness.

Hoffa vanished July 30 "from outside a suburban Detroit restaurant. Even his family long ago conceded he was slain.

But Ozer created a stir in federal court when he declared Hoffa was kidnaped and murdered and when he said a second witness had fingered three New Jersey Teamsters as "active participants" in Hoffa's disappearance.

Ozer said Salvatore Brigulio, 47, of Paramus, N.J., business agent for Teamsters local 560 in Union City and a close associate of Hoffa, "Tony Pro" Provenzano, for many years the president of 560, was among the three named as the abductors and killers of Hoffa.

House passes ban on HEW bus orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has passed a bill to prohibit the Department of Health Education and Welfare from ordering school districts to bus children beyond their neighborhood schools for purposes of racial equality.

The ban has no effect on court orders.

The issue was raised by a Senate amendment on a $45 billion appropriation for the Departments of Labor and HEW and the House concurred Thursday on a 269-140 vote.

The amendment drafted by Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia restricts HEW's authority to order busing beyond a school nearest the student's home; but it does not affect court-ordered busing or busing initiated under threat of court order which constitute the vast majority of busing cases.

The House approved 321-91 a compromise spending plan for the two agencies for a period ending Sept. 30, 1976, and sent the measure to the Senate where quick action was expected.

President Ford was expected to veto the Labor-HEW appropriations bill since it exceeds his budget request by nearly $1 billion.

The money items in the legislation were never in dispute, but House-Senate conferees were tied up for two weeks over the busing language.

Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., failed, 259-133, in an attempt to weaken the Byrd amendment by including the "next nearest" school in the anti-busing provision. This would have softened the restrictions and made the language identical to existing law.

Rumsfeld mulls budget total

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld says he favors a Pentagon budget for fiscal 1977 that would offset the impact of inflation and increase buying power beyond this year's projected spending of $30.2 billion.

But he refused to agree or disagree with predecessor James T. Schlesinger's contention that the Pentagon should ask Congress to approve programs totaling $11 billion in spending of $10 billion in the year starting next October.

Rumsfeld even refused to confirm a report that the White House Office of Management and Budget wants to limit the Defense Department budget to $10 billion for program authority and $9 billion for outlays.

Chatting in his office with reporters, Rumsfeld said it would be a "reasonable conclusion" that he wants the Pentagon budget to show some increase after making allowances for higher prices in 1975-76.

But he was wary about saying much beyond that — partly because he said he is still "wrestling" with decisions on the new budget.

Schlesinger's demand for a bigger budget than President Ford thought the Pentagon should have was apparently a major factor in the President's surprising replacement of Schlesinger with Rumsfeld.

In view of Ford's orders to trim Pentagon spending plans, economy measures are being weighed by Rumsfeld in his first two weeks in his new post.

A reduction in the 1.03 million civilian employees of the Defense Department is being considered, he said. Rumsfeld's deputy, William P. Clements, said closings of some military bases also may be necessary.

Reagan gains federal funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has become the sixth presidential candidate to meet the requirements for matching federal campaign funds.

An audit report approved Thursday by the Federal Election Commission showed Reagan, a Republican, had raised $5,000 in individual contributions of $250 or less in at least 21 states, one more than the number needed to qualify.

Formal certification will come in a week or two. Candidates can receive up to $5 million of their $10 million limit in matching federal funds.

Last week, the FEC said President Ford and Democratic Sens. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Henry Jackson of Washington, and former Govs. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina had met the requirements.

FEC audits of campaign contributions to former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama have not yet been completed.

Charge against Ike triggers backlash

WASHINGTON — The Senate Intelligence Committee's veiled charge that President Eisenhower personally authorized the assassination of the Congo's Patrice Lumumba in 1960 has triggered a backlash against the committee, raising the first serious doubt among outsiders of its objectivity.

Oddly, the backlash does not come from the committee's Republican minority. Rather, Eisenhower's highest White House aides believe he was uniquely singled out for special blame on the basis of one middle-rank witness whose testimony was totally and flatly repudiated by his superiors.

Since the assassination report was signed by all four Republicans on the committee, the anger among Eisenhower's aides is not yet supported by Republican senators. This could change, however, if the case now being made against the treatment of Eisenhower is specifically considered by the committee.

Whichever the case, the unusual treatment of Eisenhower raises a suspicion over the objectivity of Chairman Frank Church of Idaho, an avowed Democratic presidential opponent.

It can now be accused of more solicitous treatment for a Democratic president, John F. Kennedy, in the Castro and other assassination plots.

The committee's report states: "The chain of events revealed by the documents and testimony is strong enough to permit a reasonable inference that the plot to assassinate Lumumba was authorized by President Eisenhower." That sentence is followed by this caveat: "There is enough countervailing testimony by Eisenhower administration officials and enough ambiguity and lack of clarity to preclude the committee from making a finding that the President intended an assassination effort against Lumumba."

Gordon Gray, Eisenhower's national security assistant in 1960, later protested the private meeting with the committee's staff ten days ago. His complaint: the equal treatment of testimony from a single middle-level White House aide with that of all Eisenhower's top advisers.

The aide on whose testimony the committee based its equivocal charge against Eisenhower was Robert H. Johnson, a staffer of the National Security Council (NSC) who was a note-taker in only two NSC sessions at which Eisenhower was present during the entire administration.

Testifying before the Church committee last June, Johnson said that during one of those two NSC sessions: "President Eisenhower said something — I can no longer remember his words — that came across to me as an order for the assassination of Lumumba." There was no discussion; the meeting simply moved on. Later in his testimony, Johnson said: "I must confess that in thinking about the incident more recently I have had some doubts."

Gray's protest to the committee staff followed by one day a letter to Church from retired Army Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, Eisenhower's chief military adviser inside the White House who later became Supreme Allied Commander of NATO.

Goodpaster, who testified in July on covert intelligence operations during the Eisenhower administration, excoriated the report for highlighting Johnson's uncorroborated testimony while having "no waded down" the rebuttals from Gray, himself and other Eisenhower aides "as to serve to submerge, rather than clarify (Eisenhower's) true attitude in this matter."

Goodpaster wrote Church that there had been no single instance "within my knowledge and memory" of an assassination "course of action" proposed to Eisenhower either in or outside NSC meetings.

Particularly infuriating to Goodpaster and Gray was the committee's contrasting choice of words and phrasing in the Lumumba case compared to the case of Fidel Castro, in which all Presidents were exonerated from assassination charges.

In view of the strained chair of assumptions and the contrary testimony of all the presidential advisers, the men closest to both Eisenhower and to Eisenhower's most intimate advisers, on the other — yet it did not use the words "the men closest to" Eisenhower in referring to Gray and Goodpaster but rather the more distant and formal phrase "Eisenhower administration officials."

Johnson and Goodpaster are not alone in angrily protesting the treatment of Eisenhower. Eisenhower's naval aide, retired Rear Adm. Evan P. Aurand, wrote Church last week that Eisenhower had talked to him about assassination as a tool of policy, but always in the negative. Aurand said Eisenhower told him they might bring a wave of retaliatory assassinations, "wrecking world peace."

Whether private recriminations from Eisenhower loyalists to the Democratic-controlled intelligence committee will change the wording of the poisonous "interim" report sent to the House of Representatives last year is not known. The bitter protests could lead to emotional demands from republicans for even-handed treatment for all Presidents; or repelled by the noxious assassination publicity already damaging the nation's reputation, the Republicans could decide to let the matter die.

Young people back to farms

According to United States census officials, there is a big shift taking place on the farm.

During the past five years the total number of farmers in the U.S. has remained fairly constant.

But the number of young farmers has grown at a remarkable pace during that period.

The 1970 census showed farmers under 35 years of age made up just under 15 per cent of all farmers.

But by 1975 the young farmers made up 21.3 per cent of the total.

The number of young farmers grew from 274,000 to 377,000 during the period, an increase of over 100,000.

There was a corresponding decrease in the number of farmers 60 and over, while middle aged farmers held fairly stable.

If these figures are accurate, they show a shift of enormous importance to the nation and its farm population.

The entry of so many young men into farming is a turnaround from the situation during the past few decades.

Low farm incomes and the lure of city jobs and excitement lead many of the rural young workers to leave the farm.

According to studies in Magic Valley, there had been a major exodus of young people during those decades. Often, the most ambitious and best educated found jobs elsewhere.

The turnaround probably is a direct result of two factors.

First, farm incomes have come up off the floor during recent years. Even though farm prices lately haven't been keeping up with escalating production costs, incomes still remain above depressed levels of the 1950s and '60s.

The second factor is the growing disillusionment with urban life and problems that is spreading through the nation. California once was the Mecca for middle Americans. Now it is losing as many people as it receives.

Interestingly, this second factor, the appeal of rural life compared with city life, may be one reason to be suspicious of the new census figures.

We'll bet that when the final census count is published next year, it will show a large number of the new young farmers are on the smallest pieces of land. Many of these will be people from urban backgrounds trying to escape the mainstream culture by going "back to the soil."

They usually don't work pieces of land large enough for efficient production, but consider the good life ample compensation for lost income.

But even if these countercultural refugees are not counted, the twin lures of better income and lifestyle surely have brought the nation an injection of badly needed new blood.

It is one of the best omens yet for a healthy Magic Valley future.

Chileans say US not linked with Allende ouster

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile — Americans suffer from a kind of political masochism that relishes depicting U.S. policy and its agents as a wicked, corrupt force and relatively recent events in Chile confirm this obsessive malady.

A favorite legend is that Uncle Sam deliberately threw out the benevolent President Salvador Allende Gossens in 1973 while sponsoring a military coup d'etat under Gen. Augusto Pinochet Ugarte, much to the chagrin of his

It is sometimes contended that the plot was engineered by CIA agents who are held responsible, nowadays, for everything from foot and mouth disease to famine in Bangladesh. But many argue that the two U.S. ambassadors to Chile under Allende engineered events producing today's authoritarian regime.

Allende, whom a kith and not around to comment. He committed suicide during the putsch

C.I. SULZBERGER

But I have talked with the presidents who preceded and succeeded him, Eduardo Frei Montalva and Pinochet. About the only thing they agree on is that the U.S. had nothing to do with Allende's overthrow.

In Santiago, Frei told me he knew both American ambassadors well during the Allende presidency. Eduardo Korry, who left in late 1971 at the end of Allende's first year, and Nathaniel Davis, his successor.

Frei didn't pretend to know what the CIA was up to. Nevertheless, he argued it couldn't possibly have stirred up the massive opposition to Allende that followed a 10,000 per cent rise in inflation over three years and a 1,000 per cent drop in the value of Chile's currency.

He said: "As far as I have been able to find out concerning what happened between 1970 and 1973 I know of no act of intervention in internal politics by either Ambassador Korry or Ambassador Davis."

As for Pinochet, who planned and led the coup he assured me here: "I can swear to you as a Christian that I never had any kind of contact with anyone from the CIA or with any ambassador, U.S. or otherwise. I wanted to be free of any obligation to anybody."

"And of course I wanted to protect my intentions, by total discretion, why, afterward, even my family asked what kind of help I received from the United States. I told them: 'Not even good will.' In that I am very much disappointed."

While Pinochet has an impressive credibility gap there is every reason to believe this particular assertion. He revealed to me details of his coup never before disclosed.

These show that he prepared his putsch virtually alone over a long period, taking hardly anyone into his confidence. "Anyone" includes the CIA whose principal function in Allende's day seems to have been trying to help moderate Democratic forces stay alive.

The Agency did oppose Allende at the very start of his presidency and was indirectly involved in the killing of Gen. Rene Schneider in a mysterious conspiracy just afterward. But it was not involved in the Pinochet coup three years later.

Pinochet began worrying about communism in 1949 when he commanded a small security force at a detention camp. He thought Chile had reached the end of the road when Allende was elected in 1970. He became known for anti-communism, but the regime mistakenly dismissed another general named Pinochet and left him in charge.

Thereafter he blandly concealed his opinions and was subsequently appointed army commander. He discussed his intentions with only a handful of high army officers, never telling anyone in the Air Force, Navy or constabulary because he felt these had already been dangerously infiltrated by pro-Allende men.

Finally, in June, 1973, he ordered the Army War College to prepare a "game plan" to protect internal security. Each portion was drafted by separate groups so nobody could understand the project's potential significance.

Pinochet decided to act on Sept. 11, 1973 — four days before an independence day parade. This allowed him to bring military units into Santiago for the customary procession and he billeted them in concentric rings around the city.

But on Sept. 9, Air Force Gen. Gustavo Leigh and an admiral representing the Navy commander, Adm. Marino, visited Pinochet on his daughter's birthday. Leigh, Marino and the national police commander, Gen. Mendoza, now form the four-man ruling junta Pinochet dominates. They asked Pinochet to take action and he agreed to move up his D-Day to Sept. 11. But he never disclosed details of his operational plan.

This he addresses considerable evidence that no foreigner, diplomat or intelligence agent knew anything about his project ahead of time — because hardly any Chilean did. On this point it is logical to believe him.

British envoy dissents

Mr. Ivor Richard, Q.C., is nowadays the toast of the patrimonial class, within the State Department and outside it for his on-so-worldly denunciation of the "regime" of the American counterpart in the United Nations, Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

Mr. Richard is the ambassador from Great Britain, and he is lecturing us now on how to behave in the U.N., his special credentials being England's foreign policy during the century which bred two wars, the Versailles Peace Treaty, and approximately as many dictatorships as there were former British colonies — with the exception of Rhodesia, which Mr. Richard's superiors regularly denounce in accents that would embarrass even Mr. Moynihan.

What is it that upsets Mr. Richard? Well, it is the zeal with which Mr. Moynihan has lately denounced the policies of Colonel Amin, and the Zionist Resolution of the General Assembly. Don't you understand, Mr. Richard said in his speech to the board of directors of the United Nations Association of the U.S.A., that in fact the vaunted Arab-African majority is actually "breaking down"? That is the good news; but five minutes later Mr. Richard asked his listeners to "remember" that the new and weak countries' "desire for unity" became, presumably like the Arab countries — they are so poor and weak.

What really causes Mr. Richard to despair — so much so that he quotes King Lear, and invokes the memory of Savonarola in his speech to the board of directors of the United Nations Association of the U.S.A., that in fact the vaunted Arab-African majority is actually "breaking down"? That is the good news; but five minutes later Mr. Richard asked his listeners to "remember" that the new and weak countries' "desire for unity" became, presumably like the Arab countries — they are so poor and weak.

I do not think that anyone would confuse Ivor Richard, Q.C. with the West End. But I do think English ambassadors to the United Nations should thumb through the charter and the conventions of that body before coming to New York, though to be sure to read about the ideals of the United Nations is not the best preparation for talking it.

brace any particular brand of political theology. If Mr. Ivor Richard were to stand up in the General Assembly and demand that everyone in the room sing "God Save the Queen," he would make himself even more absurd than he has now done. But Mr. Moynihan is not asking the U.N. to accept the hegemony of American ideals. He is asking the U.N. to accept the U.N.'s ideals.

Mr. Richard made great sport of our alleged failure at the U.N. to abide by the vote of the majority; and of our criticisms of the U.N. as an institution — "you surely do not attack Parliament itself." But Moynihan is precisely defending the institution against the brazen usurpation of it by the incumbent delegates. There must be as many anti-racist manifestos in the United Nations as there are Saints' days in Costa Rica. Also, comes a character from

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

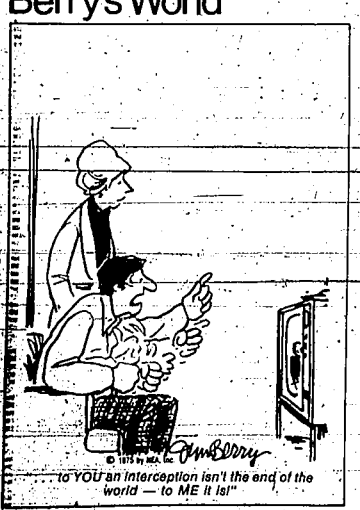

Uganda who practices racism with systematic zeal and begins to attack other nations, including our own. And a few weeks later, by a substantial majority, the General Assembly pronounces Zionism to be a form of racism, an equation even the languid Mr. Richard knows not to be the case. Suppose the General Assembly had ordained that the square root of 25 is three; would Mr. Richard have been as tolerant?

As conceding? Because that, really, is what he is being. Moynihan is taking the United Nations seriously. That is to say, he is attaching importance to its pronouncements and activities. Only by doing so can he invest it with a sense of responsibility. Mr. Richard comes from that long line of English diplomatic wisemen who considered Hitler as "purely an ideological and emotional issue."

Thought for today

Education unit to examine graduate program quality

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — The State Board of Education voted Thursday to examine graduate programs for cost as well as productivity, and approved a funding shift to increase support for the University of Idaho College of Law.

MEETING AT Lewis-Clark State College, the board authorized the Office of the State Board of Education to examine graduate programs at institutions of higher education for costs as well as the number of graduates produced each year.

An initial report showed 65 master's level programs, 26 doctoral programs and seven specialist programs to be unsatisfactory in terms of the number of graduates.

Dr. Clifford Trump, OSBE deputy director for curriculum planning, noted any review should examine program quality, adding, "I think we all recognize the folly of eliminating a low production program and allowing a quality program to continue."

Asked about program costs, he said he initially presumed costs could be cut if low production programs were eliminated, but was now "very skeptical there would be a dollar savings."

He said one institution estimated it would have to hire five full-time English faculty members to replace teaching assistants who would be lost if the graduate programs were discontinued.

The board approved a funding proposal to give more financial support to the University of Idaho College of Law, a move prompted by a session two months ago in which law faculty and students expressed concern that the school might not meet minimum American Bar Association accreditation standards.

A $100 per semester building fee paid by law students will be used for payment on law building interest indebtedness with the remainder used for the academic program. A $5 fee levied on all UI students, now used to repay indebtedness on the education building, will be shifted to the law building in 1978.

The board approved the proposal over the objections of David Warnick, president of the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, who said the student senate cannot endorse the shift only if proposed future student fees would be submitted to a student referendum. But board member Edward Benoit, Twin Falls, said he was "not about to delegate my authority as a member of a board of regents to levy fee to any student."

In other matters, the board: — Signed a statement agreeing the statute of limitations for back pay to 62 Boise State University faculty members will cease as of Dec. 1. Dr. John Barnes, BSU president, said the school could be liable to two years back pay or three years if the U. S. Department of Labor determined salary inequities were the result of a "deliberate, planned violation" of equal pay provisions. He noted, however, BSU made the salary adjustments readily upon recommendations from a committee and had approved salary shifts of $67,318.

— Agreed "no further investigation is necessary" into charges made by former UI student John Orwick that a university professor was using university facilities and equipment to support private work. A report from UI President Dr. Ernest Hartung indicated the professor had followed the proper steps in receiving university permission for his work. — Raised to $550 from $400 per year the tuition charged to students in the WAMI (Washington, Alaska, Montana, Idaho) regional medical program who attend the UI for the first year of medical school. The new charge is the same as that charged at the University of Washington Medical School, which operates the WAMI program.

Office gets facelift

BOISE (UPI) — The governor's office suite in the statehouse is getting an estimated $35,000 facelift, the first since former Gov. Robert F. Smylie remodeled it in 1966.

Del Bowman, a Boise interior decorator, was hired at $2,500 to select materials, colors and furnishings and supervise the entire project through completion and acceptance.

Work includes repainting and necessary patching, recarpeting except in the personal office of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, and repapering in all areas where wall paper now is evident.

The project also includes refurbishing of the reception area, plus several desks, chairs and small work room furnishings in newly-acquired office space across the hall.

The legislature appropriated $50,000 to cover the work, but John D. Hough, administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, said it appears about $15,000 of that appropriation will not be needed.

Delay ordered

BOISE (UPI) — District Judge J. Ray Dartsch denied Thursday a motion to set aside the first degree murder conviction of Thomas Eugene Creech but continued the matter until sometime in January for possible further psychiatric evaluations.

Dartsch tentatively scheduled another hearing in January, although a firm date wasn't set.

The judge made the decision after Bruce Robinson, Nampa, Creech's attorney, requested that his client undergo more psychiatric testing.

Rate hike studied

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission took under advisement Thursday an interim rate increase that would give Utah Power and Light Co. a rate hike of 15 per cent to all classes of service. The increase would be effective Jan. 1 if the commission approves it.

St. Luke's project under way

BOISE (UPI) — St. Luke's Hospital in Boise announced Thursday it has launched a nine-month project aimed at speeding and smoothing the return home of former hospital patients who are now being cared for in skilled-nursing homes.

The hospital is pursuing the project under a subcontract from the Program for the Analysis and Planning for Improved Distribution of Nursing Personnel and Services of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education. The project is funded by the Division of Nursing, Bureau of Health Manpower, U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare.

Hospital officials said the project is designed to assist the person who is a skilled nursing home and wants to return home to find supportive services which will enable him to maintain a more independent living situation.

The project is now developing a model which guarantees and stabilizes the planning for the discharge of those patients from the nursing homes.

Security Council brings PLO into air raid meet

By United Press International

The U.N. Security Council, in an historic decision, has invited the Palestine Liberation Organization to join today's debate on Israeli air raids in Lebanon.

The 15-member Council overrode fierce U.S. opposition Thursday in voting 9-3 with three abstentions to seal the PLO for a debate on the "deliberate steps" against Israel for the attacks Tuesday that killed more than 100 Lebanese.

The Council scheduled the session for 10:30 a.m. EST. It will be the PLO's first opportunity to participate in a Council debate.

PLO delegate Basal Amin Aqi took his seat at the horseshoed conference table immediately after the vote, joining Egypt and Lebanon, other non-Council members who demanded the debate.

"The so-called terrorists of today will tomorrow be the rulers—with their Jewish brothers—of liberated Palestine," Aqi said in a brief speech.

"A Palestine for both Arabs and Jews, free of ethnic and religious discrimination, A Palestine free of racist Zionism."

He addressed his remarks to U.S. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan, who had left the Council after denouncing the PLO invitation on grounds it effectively accorded the guerrilla organization status as a member state.

"The PLO has openly declared their hostility, indeed their contempt for the work of this Council," Moynihan said.

Israel, which has refused to negotiate with the PLO under any circumstances, was absent from the Thursday meeting.

Britain and Costa Rica joined the United States in opposing the PLO motion, submitted by Egypt Wednesday as a procedural matter not subject to vote.

Byelorussia, Cameroon, China, Sweden, Iran, Mauritania, the Soviet Union, Guyana, and Tanzania voted in favor of the motion, and France, Italy and Japan abstained.

The vote advanced by nearly five weeks the PLO's expected Council debut. Syria extracted a similar invitation for the PLO to a Jan. 12 Council session as its price for renewing a U.N. peace-keeping mandate on the Golan Heights.

Surinam joins

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Surinam was admitted to the U.N. General Assembly Thursday to bring to 144 the number of countries in the world organization.

Surinam, formerly Dutch Guyana, gained independence from the Netherlands Nov. 25 and immediately applied for U.N. membership. Its flag will be raised alongside those of other U.N. member countries Friday.

Portugal decrees go before cabinet

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Prime Minister Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo today called his cabinet into its second post-rebellion session to approve decrees aimed at ending Communist domination of the state-owned press.

Government sources said the cabinet decrees were aimed at reducing Communist control in Lisbon's government-owned newspapers to one secondary publication, Diario de Noticias, and completely eliminating party influence in radio and television.

They said the Socialists would gain dominance in the main morning newspaper, Diario de Noticias, and the Popular Democrats would have greatest influence in the second, O Seculo.

The prime minister acted as Socialists and Popular Democrats squabbling over the future role of Communists in the government.

The Socialists said the Communists must publicly condemn last week's abortive leftwing military revolt and pledge loyalty to the Socialist-dominated government. But they said they opposed ousting the party from the cabinet because it would create a political imbalance.

The left-center Popular Democrats accused the Communists of inspiring the two-day rebellion and demanded they be removed from all levels of government as punishment.

Communist party chief Alvaro Cunhal told the newspaper Jornal Novo that some of the officers involved in the ill-fated uprising had connections with his party, but denied they were official members.

"They were not our militants, nor did they always think like us. At times, they caused us great embarrassment," he said.

Soviet radar unit eyed

WASHINGTON — American intelligence sources say the Ford administration that the Soviet Union has recently constructed a large-scale radar station on the Kamchatka peninsula that raises new questions about possible Soviet violations of the 1972 Strategic Arms Limitation Agreements.

"According to well-placed administration officials, the Russians have built very modern 'phased-array' radars" in the northern Kamchatka area for use in testing defensive missiles known as antiballistic missiles (ABMs).

High-level discussions are now under way within the administration on whether this new ABM radar was in violation of the 1972 treaty on defensive missiles and what to do about it.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, the retired chief of naval operations who was in charge of the radar site, told the House Select Committee on Intelligence this week that this was a "clear and precise" violation. But some administration officials are not so sure.

Like other alleged Soviet violations of the 1972 ABM treaty and the accompanying limited accord on offensive weapons, it is almost impossible to prove that the Russians were not in technical compliance with the agreements.

Despite several allegations of Soviet violations, the Administration has consistently concluded that at worst the Soviet Union was not living up to the spirit of the agreement.

President Ford has stated there were "no violations."

Nevertheless, the Soviet actions have created something of a political storm in Washington. The Kamchatka radar being only the latest flurry.

Political conservatives such as Zumwalt, a possible candidate for the Senate in Virginia, as well as others, like Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., are arguing that the actions demonstrate that the Russians cannot be trusted and that the Administration was naive.

Moreover, because of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's direct role in negotiating both the 1972 accords and the current efforts to

London MD slowdown claims 7th

LONDON (UPI) — London's largest emergency treatment facility has decided to close its doors, the seventh in a series of physicians' work slowdowns that has crippled Britain's National Health Service.

King's College Hospital Thursday announced the closing of its emergency department this weekend. The unit, the seventh London emergency facility to close down in a week, treats as many as 200 patients daily.

Some 19,900 interns last Friday banded all overtime, claiming they earn less than blue collar workers despite working up to 80 hours a week.

A Health Department spokesman said the action was particularly dangerous since the majority of interns are now working fixed hours, drastically cutting hospital services during the night.

The country's 11,000 senior physicians joined the slowdown Monday, restricting treatment to emergency cases to ban the use of public hospital facilities by doctors and private patients.

Sheriff innocent of sex charges

TISHOMINGO, Okla. (UPI) — A 64-year-old sheriff was acquitted Wednesday night of charges of soliciting sexual favors from women prisoners and jail visitors and was reinstated immediately.

A district court jury found Johnston County Sheriff Everett Stewart innocent of charges he used his office to solicit or obtain sexual favors and of negligence in allowing a woman prisoner to escape.

"This is the happiest day of my life," he said. A crowd of about 200 in the courtroom broke into applause when the verdict was announced.

Seven women testified Stewart made sexual advances while they were either prisoners or jail visitors, including one who said she had sexual intercourse with Stewart to avoid paying a fine.

None had reported the incidents before Linda K. Hill, 29, brought her charges.

Stewart testified Mrs. Hill was nude when she called him to her cell the night of Aug. 20.

"She was just as naked as she was born on this earth," Stewart said. "I told her to put her clothes on or I would put her in the crazy cell."

He said about 30 minutes later Mrs. Hill began "squalling and making plenty of racket" that he went to remove and was having a diabetic attack.

"I never once gave it a thought except to help that lady," Stewart said. "When I entered the door she hit me with a chair leg. I was bleeding so bad I couldn't see. I kept feeling something hot. I thought she had cut me with a knife."

Earlier Mrs. Hill testified she threw hot coffee on Stewart and hit him with the chair leg when he said he intended to have sexual intercourse with her.

Mrs. Hill escaped during the fracas but was recaptured a few hours later.

Several veteran law officers testified women prisoners frequently offer to trade sex for freedom.

"A law-enforcement-officer-deals-with-the-lowest-class-of-people that is," said retired Coal County Sheriff Tom Banek. "I'd say this. If a law enforcement officer does accept the proposition of a female prisoner, he is crazy."

"They will do anything to get out of a sentence."

Forestry council opposes corps plan

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho Forest Industry Council voiced its opposition today to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers jurisdiction over the discharge of dredge and fill materials into all of the waters and wetlands of the country.

The council is composed of the membership of the North Idaho and South Idaho Forestry associations.

Council President J. C. Venishnick said, "The council does not feel that all lands in our country which have moisture on them can be included within the statement 'navigable waters of the United States'."

He said although a judicial decision has stated that the Corps be given permit authority over navigable waters, the council feels that judicial extension of the jurisdiction of the engineers should not be undertaken without definite action by the Congress.

"We oppose the interim final regulations with the knowledge that an unreasonable and costly permit system would be imposed," Venishnick said. "We also believe that Section 404's program was intended only to apply to pollution discharges as defined, not to the various earth-moving activities now proposed."

Venishnick said once again the nation's citizens are faced with a program which would extend jurisdiction of the federal government. He said it would be a costly and burdensome program which will, "in many instances, be a duplication of effort for the several federal and state agencies already involved with the same problems."

The council president requested that the cost-benefit ratio figures for the program be revealed by the Corps.

Wolf blamed for ticket loss

BOSTON HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — Betty Conway bears a variety of excuses for motorists who do not have a toll ticket when they leave the Ohio Turnpike.

"The latest toll collector had to write was 'Lost ticket, Wolf ate ticket.'"

A gray-haired man in his 70s drove up to her booth recently, informed her he did not have his ticket and told her "a wolf ate it."

Medical aid phoned

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — That tired, run-down feeling and nicotine fits apparently are leading complaints of many area residents.

More than 200 residents — most of them women — called the TelMed information service during its first day of operation this week. It provides free medical information about more than 100 subjects, on tape.

Dorothy Gallagher, executive secretary of the Washoe County Medical Society which sponsors the service, said among the leading tapes requested by callers were number 42, "I'm Just Tired," and number 25, "Hypertension and Blood Pressure."

Electric dart gun being investigated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission is investigating whether it should ban an electric "stun gun" that shocks its victims with current-carrying darts.

The gun has been promoted as a self-defense weapon for warding off and immobilizing attackers without seriously hurting them. It has also been used in at least one robbery and has been banned in Nassau County, N.Y.

The commission was petitioned for a ban or other control by Charles A. Tamm of Washington, D.C., who said the weapon is a "hazardous product because no feasible consumer product safety standard would adequately protect the public from the unreasonable risk of injury associated with it."

The specific product is called the "Taser F-1" or the "Taser Public Defender," manufactured by Taser Systems of Los Angeles.

Efforts to reach company officials for comment were unsuccessful.

The gun resembles and functions as a flashlight unless the user pushes a release bar. When that happens, current from the commission, the device discharges "two small barbed contacts connected to five wires which conduct a 50,000-volt charge."

Cabaret highlights month

TWIN FALLS — Cabaret Information will highlight Snake River Area Council Boy Scout activities for the month of December.

Clay Hart and Sally Flynn, from the Lawrence Weik show, will headline the cabaret to be held Dec. 11 at the Ponderosa Inn in Burley. Co-starring will be Teri Harding, Miss Idaho 1976.

Council and district officers met in November to review the 1976 budget of $121,140 and set goals.

Also in November, Steve Houser, Post 71, was elected EPA chairman for the council and Richard Crowley, Post 79, was elected vice-president.

Two Explorer Olympic competition events, a table tennis tournament and swimming competition, are set for December. ## Light rain expected in Valley

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley — A light rain at times tonight and Saturday, likely changing to snow for a brief period late Saturday. Gustly winds at times. Low temperatures tonight in the teens. Warmer Saturday with highs round 50, but turning cooler late in the day. Probability of precipitation, 80 per cent or more through Saturday.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley — Mostly fair tonight. Low temperatures in the teens. Increasing clouds Saturday with light snow likely late Saturday. The highs near 35. Probability of precipitation, increasing to 60 per cent or more late Saturday.

Synopsis: The penetration of cold air following Thursday night's cold front is very weak, and warmer air was already pushing back into the plateau region this morning ahead of a storm off the California coast. Pressures were not falling in northern California as they would have been if the offshore storm system were moving inland. Therefore, only a little light rain was expected in the Magic Valley through tonight and early Saturday.

Part of the California storm should be moving inland Saturday and bring a change to cooler and some light snow to the Magic Valley late Saturday or Saturday night.

A clearing trend should follow Sunday and Monday. Temperatures will be warmer ahead of the storm, but cooler behind it. No bitterly cold weather is in sight.

Rosenbergs intended silent death together

By ORR KELLY
Washington Star

WASHINGTON — A "whisper" in the corridors of the FBI that Julius and Ethel Rosenberg intended to "go to the chair without uttering a word" if they were both given the death sentence.

The warning — which came true — came from Jerome Eugene Tartakow, a car thief and con man, who was imprisoned with Rosenberg in the Federal House of Detention in New York. The warning was relayed to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in a memo written on April 2, 1951.

The document was included in some 20,000 pages of documents on the case made available to the press Wednesday by the FBI in response to a court order under the Freedom-of-Information Act. Pages of more than $1,000 were recommended a 30-year sentence, rather than death, for Mrs. Rosenberg.

The April 2 memo was written within days of the Rosenbergs' conviction on March 29, 1951, but before their sentencing.

Midway in the trial, FBI agent William F. Norton Jr. had written a memo describing information received from "confidential information T-1 of unknown reliability," the newly released documents disclosed.

"Informant T-1" is known to have been Tartakow.

The informant, according to Norton's memo, told the FBI that Rosenberg was advised by his lawyers that he probably would be convicted and that he might receive the death penalty.

Squatters booted off BLM land

BACKBONE, Utah (UPI) — The armed resistance never materialized and U.S. marshals quickly moved more than a dozen illegal homesteaders off Bureau of Land Management administered lands in Cottonwood Canyon.

The marshals said Wednesday they moved the remaining three families off the lands six miles north of here "with no violent resistance." The 13 squatters who remained despite a federal court order to move included six adults and seven children.

"We secured the area before dark," said U.S. Marshal Royal Butters. "Our men also confiscated about a dozen firearms, including handguns, rifles and automatic rifles, several vehicles and a 70-by-14 foot house trailer."

"The people are free to claim their personal belongings," Butters added. "But the firearms, vehicles and house trailer are now the property of the federal court."

Police Constable Joseph Self proclaimed he and 14 of his "deputies" would set up a road block to stop the federal agents — but when the "constabulary" of the federal agents said Joseph and his followers backed down.

Carmen Joseph, one of several of Joseph's wives, said in Salt Lake City that the marshals took the evicted families off BLM land and "dumped them on the road" and then headed back into the canyon to confiscate the trailer and trucks.

Butters said Federal Judge Aldon J. Anderson was scheduled to rule on a motion from the U.S. Attorney's office for a supplemental order to remove Joseph and his followers from the townsite of Backbone — which is six miles inside BLM lands.

The marshal said his agents will continue to patrol the area for some time. "If any of them move back to Cottonwood Backbone, we'll just have to go in and move them out again," Joseph and some of the other original homesteaders in Backbone said last month, saying "they won't let us be homesteaders, so we'll be city-

DEAR ABBY: I need advice badly and have no one to talk to.
My girl friend told me that from the age of 10 until she was 16, her father continuously molested her every chance he got, when no one was home.
She never told anyone about this because he threatened to kill her if she did.
The problem is that there are still seven younger girls at home, and she is afraid he will do the same to them.
What can be done to make her father seek help without her finding out? Also they don't have much money in case he needs psychiatric treatment.
She doesn't want revenge, and she doesn't want the police to lock him up because her mother needs his paycheck badly.
I told her to threaten to call the police if he molests any of the other girls. Do you think that would work? He is a strict father, and all his children fear him.

HELPING A FRIEND

Father abusive

DEAR HELPING: Tell your friend that she should confide her fears to a clergyman, doctor, teacher, relative or some other responsible adult. Assure her that her father is a very wicked man and if he doesn't get help immediately, the consequences could be tragic.
And please write again and let me know what has happened. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged, unattached, single man who enjoys being well-mannered. I am fully employed in a position that pays a modest salary.
For the last year, I have been the constant escort of a well-to-do widow who is somewhat older than I am. She will do widow who is somewhat older than I am. She foots the bills for dining out and attending the theater, symphony, concerts and opera; which we both love; (I could never afford it.)
The talk around town—that she is "keeping" me—is totally untrue. She has never given me one penny or paid any of my bills.
Would you call me a "pigolo"? And do you see anything wrong with this arrangement? There is no romantic involvement.

TALKED ABOUT

DEAR TALKED: A "pigolo" is a man who is supported by a woman. You're not a "pigolo" with the arrangement. In fact, I think it's a good one for both of you, and as such, I'd tune out the talk.

DEAR ABBY: My son left his wife and children for another woman.
I have always had a very warm relationship with my daughter-in-law. She is a fine person, and I still love her. Besides, being friendly with her makes it easier for me to see my grandchildren, whom I adore.
My son has told me in no uncertain terms that he considers it highly unethical for me to maintain a close friendship with his estranged wife.
Is there a code of ethics on this? I'll continue the friendship with her unless you say I'm wrong.

OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR OLD: Continue the friendship. The unethical one is your son.

TF woman's book chosen for reprint

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Library of Congress has chosen a book written by a Twin Falls woman for reproduction in special editions for the visually handicapped.

Mrs. Anna Hayes, author of "Bucksin and Smoke," said Tuesday, "I was very much excited..." She received a letter from the Library of Congress Monday requesting permission to reprint the book in embossed or large type editions or to record it.

The special editions would be for blind or physically handicapped persons unable to read ordinary print.

Mrs. Hayes, who says she doesn't believe in women's lib, wrote the book because she felt women deserved more notice for their part in settling the West.

"I felt that men get all the credit for taming the wilds," she said. "This book is about women — every bit of it."
The book was published in 1971 by Naylor Co.

The book, Mrs. Hayes

continued, "shows what pioneer women had to endure and accomplish in an utterly empty country... and they did much."
Most of the women who figure in the book are friends and relatives of Mrs. Hayes, who was born in Rock Creek and grew up in Cottonwood and Albion. Her father, John Hansen, came to the area in 1878.

And Mrs. Hayes says her mother's first remark upon seeing her new home, a vast expanse of sagebrush and dusty prairie — "This is a wild and empty country."
The frontier country which faced the new settlers made even bare existence difficult, Mrs. Hayes says. "It was a rough time for women."

Even when the area became populated enough to support two stores, one run by Mrs. Hayes' father, "there was not one thing for women" to buy. Shoes and clothes were all made for men, she added.

Mrs. Hayes developed her pride in the accomplishments of frontier women by watching the people around her — the Indian women, the older women, the young women — all struggling against the difficulties inherent in a rough, new community.

And her stories show she grew up with the frontier spirit, too. She recalls riding her bicycle as a young girl. When she reached the outskirts of town, she would take off her skirt, hide it under a bush and finish the rest of her ride in her bloomers.

An avid reader, Mrs. Hayes was visibly delighted over the selection of her book for the special editions.

And age hasn't seemed to affect her vitality much. She laughed over a comment, made by a little boy when she told him she was "an Idaho native."

Book chosen

PIONEER Twin Falls resident Anna Hansen Hayes holds her book "Bucksin and Smoke," which was recently chosen by the Library of Congress for reproduction in special editions for the handicapped. She says she wrote the book all about women, because "men get all the credit for taming the wilds."

Consumer protected

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican congress has passed what must rank as one of the world's toughest consumer protection laws.

Among other things, the bill provides: — Jail terms for dishonest television repairmen.

— That a garage mechanic failing to repair an automobile properly the first time will be required to lend his customer another car while the first vehicle is back in the shop.

Retailers tell customers how much they the retailers paid for goods they are selling. The law also permits the government to set ceilings on retail credit rates and all retail prices. Approval by congress was unanimous and President Luis Echeverria said he would sign the bill, when it goes into effect next year.

You're going to spend a lifetime living with your IRA plan. Don't settle for one that offers less than Metropolitan's.

You've decided to start setting aside a retirement nest egg for yourself. And because the company you work for doesn't have a pension plan, or if you're self-employed, you've decided to set up a personal retirement plan of your own. But you're not sure how to do it.

Some ways Metropolitan Life can help.

Start with this: Your local Metropolitan Life Representative will arrange your Individual Retirement Account for you. We're nearby and can meet with you at your convenience.

Then, if you move, your IRA plans move with you. Wherever you go you can find another Metropolitan representative familiar with your plan who will be ready to work with you.

Furthermore, we can help you coordinate your Metropolitan IRA program with your life insurance if you wish. We will do all the work.

Now for the two plans.

There are two retirement plans Metropolitan would like to talk with you about.

In the first, our Flexible-Purchase Pension Annuity, you contribute as much as you can afford each year up to $1,500. (And this $1,500 is tax deductible.)

You can begin receiving income from your retirement deferred annuity starting as early as age 59½. And these benefits will provide you with a guaranteed fixed income for life. They are considered to be ordinary income for tax purposes. But since you'll be retired, chances are you'll be in a lower tax bracket than you are now.

In the event of death, the guaranteed cash value of the annuity, or the sum of all purchase payments (whichever is greater), will be paid to your beneficiary.

In the second plan, our Endowment Policy with Optional Features, you pay a fixed premium of not more than $1,500 a year for a specified number of years. You choose the amount and the number of years. And most of your contribution is tax deductible.

If you qualify, your Metropolitan Endowment Policy will have a provision which will waive payments if you become totally disabled, a feature you won't find in many IRA plans.

Also under this plan, death benefits will be paid to the beneficiary whether the individual dies while paying into the plan, or after retirement.

You can combine them.

If you like, you can combine the two plans — annuity and endowment — in a single IRA program. This enables you to get the full $1,500 deduction and have the advantages of each of the contracts.

Greater flexibility than other plans.

Under both plans, the annuity and the endowment, Metropolitan can provide your benefits in a number of ways. Among these options are:

1. Income guaranteed for your life (or for specified periods of time).
2. Income guaranteed for your life and the life of your spouse (or for specified periods of time).
3. Guaranteed return of proceeds.

You can't find greater flexibility for retirement options with any other IRA plan.

Act Now.

Talk to your Metropolitan representative as soon as possible. Find out about all the benefits and options available to you in these plans before 1975 runs out. If you act promptly there is still time to receive the Federal Income Tax deduction of up to $1,500 this year.

your health

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
My husband has had a duodenal ulcer for many years. Recently he developed shortness of breath when climbing stairs. His doctor advised him to have a blood test and it showed him a trifling low potassium.
He recommended that I serve him orange juice or a banana daily. Each of these items aggravates his ulcer, although his doctor cannot understand why.
Ordinarily, the ulcer seldom bothers him, but apparently he cannot tolerate the juice or banana. What other fruit or vegetable can you recommend to help build up potassium requirement, and which will not affect his ulcer? — Mrs. R. B. F.

I share your doctor's reaction. The banana, a rather bland fruit, should not aggravate your husband's ulcer. In fact, it is recommended in some ulcer diets because of its low residue. And contrary to popular opinion, the orange juice does not increase stomach acidity, so he should have been told to tolerate that also.

Ulcer aggravated

Both of those fruits have the double advantage of high potassium content and rather low residue. Other fruits as dates, raisins and prunes are also high in potassium but higher in residue, so they probably wouldn't do for your husband. You might try cooked dates or cantaloupe, both of which also are good sources of potassium.
The orange juice was a good selection for another reason. Persons on ulcer diets often do not get sufficient vitamin C. So you should be sure that he is getting vitamin C from some source, either food or supplement.
There may be another important factor involved here. This could be a trying time for your husband mentally. He has discovered his shortness of breath, and now is told his system apparently lacks an important mineral, which could, incidentally, be a cause of that shortness of breath. Nervous tension can be a contributing factor in ulcer aggravation.
Your husband should be made aware of this possibility so that he can come to terms with it. If this is what is involved. Perhaps he is smoking more heavily than he should from sheer nervousness over his physical health. This could aggravate an ulcer condition.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
I would like some information on fatty liver. I was hospitalized and was found to have blood lipid levels of 300. What does this mean? — Mrs. R. F.

A fatty liver is, as the name implies, a liver in which there is an inordinate amount of accumulated fat, sufficient to produce a large, pale organ. Obesity, excessive alcohol, diabetes, and certain vitamin deficiencies can be involved.
The figure you quote has no meaning unless you know just what it represents. If it is a measurement of the total blood lipids (cholesterol, triglycerides, phospholipids, etc.), it would be within normal range, if it refers to cholesterol alone, for example, then it would be ominously high.
As to the fatty liver itself, treatment would depend on its cause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
What does "livoscoliosis" mean? — Mrs. C. O.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
What are the dangers of a 14-year-old boy getting emphysema from smoking? This boy seems to have a cold and a cough so often. I am worried. Do you think parents ought to allow children that young to smoke? — S. H.

Of the several factors leading to emphysema, smoking ranks high. The cough implies undue lung irritation, which could be a direct result of the smoking.
Starting the habit as early as 14 makes the boy a prime candidate for emphysema by age 40 or 50, depending on the durability of his lungs. Then, the damage cannot be repaired.
Do what you can to discourage it.
Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Ask the Jacobys

A Michigan reader wants to know what to bid with:
▲ Q 4 W K 3 2 ▲ 7 4 J 6
after your partner has doubled a one-diamond opening by your left hand opponent.
This is an easy one for modern bidders. Just cue bid two diamonds. You want to get to game somewhere. Make your partner bid a suit. He is likely to bid a major whereupon you raise him to game.
(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Some 40 years ago there was going to be an all-expert rubber bridge game at the Jacoby home. Harold Vanderbilt (the inventor of contract) was drafted to play one rubber with her husband until the fourth arrived.
On what turned out to be the final hand of the rubber Jacoby improvised a bid that brought in an impossible grand slam for him. He sat North and was faced with the problem of what to bid over West's five-heart bid. He realized that if he could stop a heart lead his partner would wrap up seven spades. How could he stop it?
A cue bid followed by a seven-spade bid would be too obvious. Finally he solved his problem by just bidding seven spades.
It was up to West to lead. He thought and thought some more. Vanderbilt arrived while he was thinking and was told to stay away from the table until the hand was finished.
It didn't take long. West decided that North was surely void of hearts. He led the king of clubs and Mrs. Jacoby had no trouble making all the tricks.

No cue stick needed to run this pool table

LATAN, Mo. (UPI) — Pool hustlers beware: Chief Itlan, the pride of this tiny northwest Missouri town, doesn't even need a cue stick to run the table. It's all in his front paws.

The one-year pool veteran is a shaggy black 2-year-old poodle, named after the 100-person community. He's owned by Kenneth and Lois Woods, 29-year Itlan residents.

They admit it's their fault, the dog dominates the coin-operated pool table in one corner of their small country store.

"I got him started by shuffling one ball on the table and rolling it into the pocket," Woods says. "I kept putting him up there and he just sort of got interested."

Now Chief Itlan stands in front of the pool table, nudging the balls with his nose.

"Anytime you get a quarter out, he gets real excited and runs around in a circle," Mrs. Woods says.

Then the serious business begins. Woods racks up the colored balls and Chief Itlan makes his break with a swift kick to the cue ball placed at the opposite end of the table.

The poodle loops around to the scattered balls, pouncing on them to sink them or bat them in with a variety of trick shots as he hits the cue ball around the table.

"We've thought about inviting Minnesota Eats over for a challenge," Mrs. Woods said. When Chief "scratches" by pocketing the cue ball, he runs to the end of the table where the ball automatically reappears. It barks until someone places it back on the table, and sometimes even prolongs his game by playing only with the cue ball when he has only two or three balls left on the table, Woods said.

The couple said they knew Chief Itlan was destined for the felt-topped table by an incident that happened about a year ago.

"We found a nickel in his basket," Mrs. Woods said. "We think he was saving up for a pool game."

CHIEF Itlan, a 2-year-old poodle owned by Kenneth and Lois Woods, is the pool shark of Itlan, Mo., a community of about 100 persons located in the northwest part of the state. The Woods own a small country store in which they have a coin operated pool table on which the dog will push all the balls in the pockets in about 10 minutes. (UPI)

No power shortage likely, aide says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There won't be any electrical power shortages this winter because there is ample reserve generating capacity, the Federal Power Commission says.

But the agency warned Americans they must continue to conserve energy where they can.

The annual winter electric load forecast Wednesday said, "Although electric energy supply does not appear likely to present a major problem in the 1975-76 winter, it could become critical in a few years because of delays in construction of nuclear plants now under construction and the expected future tightening of fossil fuel supplies."

"If electric load growth returns to historic rates, the energy supply problems will become even more difficult," the report said.

The FPC estimated the winter's peak load will be 329,157 megawatts and that "dependable resources" of electricity total 477,919 megawatts.

That means a cushion of 45.2 per cent above the highest projected demand.

The reasons? Americans are conserving, the winter has been mild, new generators have started up and, even though natural gas is in short supply, utilities have access to plenty of alternative fuels, the report said.

The margin of safety is even larger than usual, the report said. But it noted, "This is regarded as a temporary situation, and it is expected that an improving economy, with concomitant increase in demand, will result in reduced margins by next summer and next winter."

'Powderkeg' discovered

SALMON (UPI) — Lemhi County employes virtually have been sitting on powderkeg and they didn't know it.

Three sticks of dynamite and some eight blasting caps were found in a vault room beneath the old county shop building at the rear of the courthouse. They were discovered by workmen dismantling the building.

Sheriff Bill Baker said the dynamite probably had been in the vault for many years. He said the caps posed more of a threat than the dynamite if someone had jarred them sufficiently to set them off.

Sheriff's officers took the sticks and caps to the city dump and disposed of them.

The county plans to utilize the tin in the old shop building to construct a storage shed at the new shop located on U.S. Highway 93. The area behind the rear of the courthouse will be used for parking by county employes to relieve congestion at the front of the building.

CARTHAGE CONSPIRACY

The Trial of the Accused Assassins of Joseph Smith

DALLIN H. OAKS AND MARVIN S. HILL. Prophet Joseph Smith's murder in 1844 climaxed the five-year "war" between Mormons and non-Mormons in the Nauvoo, Illinois, area. Did justice or expediency prevail at the ensuing trial? In this dramatic story of the conspiracy surrounding Smith's assassination, two Mormon scholars discuss that justice sometimes wins at politically motivated and popularly supported crimes. They analyze the situation created by Mormon/non-Mormon discussion and attempt to pinpoint just why "a respectable set of men" were able to commit murder with impunity.

Death report 'exaggerated'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Thomas Hafner figures the reports of his death have been exaggerated — possibly by his ex-wife.

She filed suit to divorce Wolfe two years ago, charging him with mental cruelty, and was granted temporary custody of their 9-year-old child, given $200 a month child support and occupancy of their Winnetka home, although she now lives in Fremont, Mich.

Wolfe filed a countersuit seeking an annulment and custody of the child after he learned Hafner's death certificate was a forgery. He said his wife and Hafner were divorced sometime in the early 1960s.

"I was shocked when I found that out because my whole life with her was a big lie," he said.

Wolfe, a Roman Catholic, said he would never have married his wife had he known she was a divorcee rather than a widow.

Hafner, 43, came to Chicago from Denver to testify in the case and to prove he is still alive.

Hafner was to testify in Cook County Circuit Court Tuesday in the divorce case. But Judge Robert Hunter continued the hearing until Thursday after taking under consideration a motion for a change of venue.

Group says stores 'fixing' beef cost

Chicago Daily News. CHICAGO — Ten supermarket chains and two related organizations have been charged in a federal court suit with beef price fixing.

The suit was filed in Des Moines Tuesday by a group called the Meat Price Investigators Assn., on behalf of 500 cattle feeders in 45 Midwestern states.

The suit said the defendants have, since 1963, conspired to set wholesale beef prices at low levels while charging artificially high retail prices to consumers. A spokesman for the group which filed suit said it wants the practice stopped and damages paid.

The 10 supermarket chains defendants in the suit include Jewel Companies, Inc. of Chicago; Great Atlantic, Pacific Tea Co. of New York; Safeway Stores Inc. and Lucky Stores Inc.; both of California; Kroger Co. of Ohio; American Stores Co. of Delaware; Wing, Dixie Inc. of Florida; Food Farm Stores Inc. of Pennsylvania, and Grand Union Co. and Supermarkets General, Corp., both of New Jersey.

Also named were the National Assn. of Food Chains, a supermarket trade association, and National Provisioner Inc., a market information service.

A spokesman for Jewel, the largest food retailer in the Chicago area, said he could not comment on the suit until Jewel had received a copy of the complaint.

But he issued a prepared statement saying the allegations were "in conflict with the facts of Jewel's open market purchase of beef from a variety of packers and the competitive sale of beef at retail prices so low that beef has been sold at a loss in Jewel food stores in 1974 and in 1975."

Andrus, in Washington for a meeting of Democratic governors, said he has been enjoying with mutual supporters in Massachusetts to ensure that the Idaho senator is on the ballot there.

Civil war hinders detente

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Black African "resistance" repeated warnings by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and a growing death toll have failed to halt the Soviet Union's military intervention in the Angolan civil war.

Kissinger has told the Kremlin that East-West detente is in jeopardy. For the first time since the Congo crisis 15 years ago, big power rivalry has been introduced to Africa.

"This Soviet involvement is resented by Africans most of all, but the United States cannot remain indifferent while an outside power banks upon an interventionist policy the continuation of which must inevitably threaten our relationship," Kissinger said.

American military analysts say Russia's commitment is aimed at the strategic prize of its first naval base in the south Atlantic. They say the base would complement the Soviet Union's current domination of the Indian Ocean.

Portugal yielded its fivecentury colonial hold on Angola three weeks ago, leaving "without shame," according to departing High Commissioner Adam Estrela Cardoso — but did not choose among the three warring guerrilla independence groups when handing over power.

Russia stepped in with a big buildup of weapons for the 20,000-strong army of the Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, which has overwhelming tribal support from the Kimbundu people in the capital.

The recent arrival of 3,000 Cuban combat troops has tipped the military balance in favor of the Marxists, according to South African military sources.

The sources say that unless the two non-communist groups receive a speedy and large-scale injection of western

Cat mothers mice

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Izzy Dzworetzky's cat has been raising five baby mice, along with her own two kittens.

Farm hands at Sonderjout estate about 40 miles southwest of Johannesburg recently killed a mouse and discovered her babies, their eyes still closed.

They showed the baby mice to the cat as an experiment.

Shootout charges filed

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — Four felony charges, including attempted murder, are on file in Ontario Justice Court against a fugitive believed involved in a shootout near Ontario Nov. 4.

Byron Chatfield, assistant district attorney at Vale, said the charges were filed against Leonard Peltier. Authorities believe Peltier and American Indian Movement leader Dennis Banks were the two men who escaped in the darkness after the shootout.

One of the men, believed to be Peltier, leaped from the ground where the suspects were being held and ran for a nearby field. As he reached the fence he turned and fired at the troopers.

The second suspect fled from the scene after hiding in one of the vehicles stopped by Oregon State Police and trying unsuccessfully to drive it away while police were questioning others.

Charges filed against Peltier include attempted murder, attempted use of a dangerous weapon, first-degree burglary and unauthorized use of a vehicle.

The latter two charges resulted from the theft of a rifle and vehicle from an unoccupied ranch house near Nyssa, discovered two days after the shootout.

Ford forgives band despite fight song

PEKING (UPI) — President Ford lifted a glass of California champagne to toast the leader of the Chinese Red Army band today. Clearly, all was forgiven.

Somehow, inexplicably, during the banquet given Ford the night he arrived, the band swung into the Michigan State University Spartan fight song.

Ford, a former football captain at Michigan, must have noticed he was being serenaded to the tune of the hated archrival.

All the White House could say was that someone may have slipped a ringler into the sheet music brought from Washington.

Young marksmen take aim with their B-B guns

Sighting down the barrel of a B-B gun

Jaycees project teaches safety

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A total of 15 grade school boys and girls are currently learning gun safety by handling and firing B-B guns. They are enrolled in the Twin Falls Jaycee program which is co-sponsored by the Daisy B-B Company.

Paul Quintana, chairman of the Jaycee committee, and one of the instructors, said the program covers a seven week training program after which a team is selected from the group and continues to target practice during an additional three weekly sessions.

The sessions are held each Tuesday night in the National Guard Armory which is donated to the Jaycees for their project. The program is designed to teach youngsters at an early age about fire arms and safe handling of all types of guns. The course covers an introduction of various kinds of guns including rifles, shotguns and various sizes and types of ammunition.

All of the guns and ammunition for the course are furnished by Daisy B-B Co. and the youngsters fire only the B-B guns. In the current session students were asked to enroll from the Sateoath and Harrison schools.

Another session is planned in January and early February for the remainder of the grade schools in Twin Falls. Quintana said Tuesday will be the final night of the seven week program and it will be parents night. The team will be selected at that time and announced. These youngsters will continue shooting practice in prone, sitting and standing positions and will be eligible for competition in a state contest later. Winners at the state level can compete in the international.

Quintana said the Jaycees plan to invite the next year's state meet to Twin Falls. In addition to the shooting contest, each student enrolled in the program must take a written test which also serves as a basis for team selection.

Witnesses heard in McCoy trial

RUPERT — Prosecution witnesses began testimony Thursday in the trial of a former Blackfoot magistrate judge charged with embezzling nearly $3,300 in bond money.

Opening statements were heard in Fifth District Court Thursday in the case of Eugene L. McCoy, former judge in Bingham and Twin Falls counties.

McCoy faces four counts of embezzlement stemming from his handling of bond money paid to the Bingham County Sheriff's Department between Oct. 17, 1973, and September, 1974. Bingham County Prosec. Atty. Reed K. Larson is being assisted by Gordon Nilsen, deputy state attorney general.

In his opening statement, Larson said the prosecution would prove that McCoy would go to the sheriff's office, count the bond money and check it against receipts (initialing and often dating them) and take the money and citations or complaints to his office.

Larson said he would produce the defendant's own written statement. Chief witness for the prosecution will be Boyd Sumner, a Bingham County deputy sheriff now attached to the prosecutor's office on special duty.

Larson said the written statement admits that McCoy sometimes added bond money with his own, that "he spent some" and returned "some" with some money not returned.

"There is very little dispute on most of the facts," defense attorney R. M. Whittier told the jurors. But he said the defense would show that no criminal act was committed and that McCoy was never assigned as "collector of fines" and had not "secreted" the money, both elements charged in the indictment.

The defense attorneys admitted McCoy failed to use "proper accounting procedures" and charged Bingham County failed to set up proper audit controls.

Whittier told the jury he would show that McCoy was overworked, having lost his assistant magistrate in a car accident and only after some time getting a replacement without legal training.

The first count against McCoy charges he appropriated $300 on Oct. 17, 1973, in $100 bonds from Kim Lamont Lee, Gary Craig Fletcher, Duane M. Gelse, Timothy Lee, Curzon and William Theodore Cutler.

Also listed with a $250 bond by Leslie James Lowder, taken Nov. 29, 1973, and a $500 bond by Pauline Holmes for Brady Holmes, taken Aug. 30, 1974.

The fourth count named a "continuous series of withholding bond moneys" paid by various individuals on various dates up to Sept. 30, 1974, and totaling $2,043.

Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood received the case when Seventh District Judges were disqualified. He removed the trials to Rupert when attorneys were unable to agree on a jury in Bingham County.

Police follow scent

TWIN FALLS — Burglars broke out a window at Crowley Pharmacy sometime between 2:30 and 4:15 a.m. today and removed 12 bottles of Chanel No. 5 cologne.

Officials of the store said the bottles were just inside the window as display items. Five bottles of spray cologne, also Chanel No. 5, were also taken.

Robert James reported someone drove into his 1964 pickup truck sometime Thursday night while it was parked in his driveway. Damage was estimated at $600.

Police said tracks indicated a vehicle had failed to negotiate the corner at Fillmore and Heyburn, cut through the lawn at 291 Fillmore, passed between two trees and into the yard of James at 275 Fillmore colliding with his pickup truck. The second vehicle left the scene.

Sign companies urge Idaho to fight federal ruling

By LINDA LEE
Times-News Writer

Highway sign companies are pushing Idaho into a confrontation with the federal government in order to obtain more than $200,000 in additional payments for road sign removal.

The sign companies are seeking reimbursement for signs which have been illegally permitted to stand on areas where the state has contracted with property owners to prohibit erection of roadside signs.

Under the Federal Highway Beautification act of 1965, the state and federal government must remove certain roadside signs. The sign owners are reimbursed if the signs were erected and legal before 1965.

But the state and federal governments have not compensated sign owners who erected illegal signs on areas where the signs are contractually prohibited, areas termed "negative easements."

Idaho Falls Attorney Terry Crapo, representing sign companies throughout the state, wants the State Board of Transportation to challenge the U.S. Department of Transportation over the issue of signs erected in these negative easements.

Crapo claims the Idaho Highway Department for years has neglected to enforce the negative easement prohibitions. As a result, he says, many billboards had been erected prior to 1965 in such areas for years without action from highway authorities.

According to Crapo, signs which have been allowed to stand in these areas for over three to five years should be considered legal signs.

Therefore, he claims, the sign owners should be reimbursed when the signs are torn down.

Crapo claims the Idaho attorney general agrees that the signs become legal after standing for a long period of time without state action.

Bruce White, right-of-way supervisor for the Idaho Highway Department, said Thursday if signs erected in negative easement prior to 1965 without action from the highway department were now considered legal, the state and federal governments would have to cough up $20,000 for signs they have already removed without reimbursement.

According to White, there are many more negative easement signs yet to be removed which would also have to be purchased.

Slater said in the McEggar Valley area there are negative easement signs owned by the Cosgriff, 3K Corp. and the S.M. sign companies.

"Until the state purchases some of the signs and the federal government either participates or refuses to do so, Crapo said, "we can't get anything resolved."

"You're asking us to stick our necks out," said Faber Tway, chief legal officer for the Idaho Division of Highways. By state law the Idaho Dept. of Highway is not allowed to purchase signs without federal funding for the purchase.

TF firemen not like TV

"Besides that," he said, "we are already criticized because we cannot go outside of the city to fight fires and it would be difficult to give emergency medical assistance that would stop at the city boundaries."

Bopp said he thinks such a service should be on a "county-wide" basis if established. At this time, he said, there is an ambulance service with men as well as better trained in medical care than the firemen.

Bopp said he feels the emergency service is being adequately handled by Magic Valley Ambulance Service.

If the private firm were ever to discontinue operations, Bopp said, the cities and county would have to work out a solution.

"We might be able to work with such a program by handling all communications, but if we were to take on medical services as some other fire departments in Idaho have, we would have to expand our forces."

Bopp said the department now has a force of 12 men leaving 12 for each shift. With about one of these on vacation or taking time off there are 11. Another is tied up on communications which cuts it to 10 men per shift. They man two fire stations and handle fire duty at the airport on a per-flight basis, which leaves little time for an additional emergency duty, Bopp said.

Because of television dramatization of the firemen as medical technicians, Bopp said, many people now think of the fire department, when an emergency arises.

"We do respond to an emergency call received and may even send a man to the scene to make certain the proper authorities arrive and we will help if needed, but it is not a regular practice," Bopp said.

Idaho Falls and Lewiston have added this type of service through their departments, Bopp said, but at the time the service was added they found it necessary to increase their staff.

Needs assessment 'needs improvement'

BELLEVUE — Nearly every school in Idaho has conducted or is in the process of conducting a needs assessment program, which will probably fail, a Bellevue teacher who recently completed his master's thesis on the subject said Tuesday.

Tom Meagher, a third grade Bellevue Elementary School teacher, researched needs assessment programs in Wendell, Blackfoot and Pocatello school districts last year to see if the program had been successful.

He said the districts, to some extent, had performed functions to improve what was needed. In each instance, he said, the districts had conducted the necessary public input meetings but never followed through with the goals felt needed to improve the school.

"As I begin to obtain data from various school districts, regarding the effectiveness of their needs assessments since they were completed, I was confronted with the same dilemma which almost prevented me from becoming a teacher," Meagher said, "that being the inability of many educators to follow through with something they start until it is completed."

Meagher believes the needs assessment program could work if the money and commitment were available. He said needs assessment programs require full-time workers getting paid for their work before the thing will succeed.

"It is not used in the way that it was originally intended, then it will, and it's my belief has become another antiquated educational project pushed to the side to accommodate a new 'priority' that is vague," Meagher said.

Meagher was told during his research that several districts had implemented certain needs. He found that central office workers, superintendents and curriculum directors knew about the needs assessment programs in their schools, but inconsistencies kept popping up, about how well the needs were being taken care of.

"Part of the problem is the attitude in the educational field that education cannot change and new ideas will not work, Meagher said.

"We've tried it before and it didn't work," Meagher said is indicative of the feelings of many educators.

He said as in most things, communication and commitment have been lacking in the needs assessment programs.

Youth ranch to add building

RUPERT — The Idaho Youth Ranch is planning a third lodge for the troubled youngsters under its care.

The building would house another 12 boys, according to Neil Howard, executive director.

Bryce Julius, program director, says the ranch facilities are now full, housing 30 boys. He said the waiting list of 15 boys is the "longest waiting list in our 20-year history" and new applications are arriving almost daily.

The ranch, located 14 miles north of Rupert, is seeking donations to fund the construction of the new lodge. Howard said efforts are being made to get substantial contributions of building materials to keep the cost to $80,000.

Unclaimed items sold

TWIN FALLS — Approximately $1,500 went into the Twin Falls city treasury this morning as a result of the sale of a collection of abandoned and unclaimed bicycles and automobiles.

The sale, conducted by the Twin Falls Police Department, featured 39 bicycles and six automobiles, all in various conditions and states of repair. Bill Stonemetz, police officer, served as auctioneer. He said there was a good turnout and at one point his own pickup truck which he used for an auctioneer's stand, was almost purchased by a eager customer who thought it was one of the surplus items.

The highest price brought for a bicycle was $87 and others sold for prices down to $10.

DAV unit plans dance

TWIN FALLS — The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary will sponsor a dance tonight at 8 p.m. at the DAV hall here. Archie Turner will furnish the music. Open to the public. Auxiliary members state a notice in the Times-News Thursday reporting there would be no dance this week is not correct.

Jerome man elected

JEROME — A member of the Jerome County Commission has been elected to the Northwest Federation for Human Services Board.

Selected at the association's board meeting in Anchorage, Alaska, was John Van Orman. Jerome is a member of the Idaho Board of Health as well as the county commission.

Cherie Gonyaw of Washington State, federation board chairman, said the federation has recently been awarded a national contract to evaluate the effectiveness of social services and to train people in all 50 states in methods to improve management of their social services programs.

Dr. James A. Bax, Boise, former U.S. commissioner of community services, is federation president.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened higher Friday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.79 point to 829.50 shortly after the opening. Advances, led by declines in 108 months, were 458 issues crossing the tape.

Just as the market opened, the Labor Department reported unemployment in November fell 0.3 per cent to 6.3 per cent. It was the sharpest decline in six months and neutralized the 0.3 per cent rise in October. The October increase in joblessness was one of the factors leading to questions about the strength of the economic recovery.

Giant dairy co-ops misuse muscle, meet told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A few giant dairy cooperatives dominate up to 90 percent of the milk supply in some regional markets and are being mostly exempt to boost consumer milk bills by $175 million or more a year, speakers at a milk marketing conference charged Thursday.

But dairy farmers and others who support cooperatives and the complex federal milk marketing order program "come to exactly the opposite conclusion," an Agriculture Department official told the conference sponsored by the Community Nutrition Institute.

Backers of the milk programs say farm prices for milk were low until recently in spite of government support programs and co-op bargaining for premium prices, according to Donald Wilkinson, head of an Agriculture Department agency which administers federal marketing orders.

One critic, former Food and Drug Administration official Peter Barton Hutt, told the conference that "flagrantly illegal cooperative activity... is costing the American consumer hundreds of millions of dollars each year."

Hutt said the price action results from co-ops use of a price formula created by federal milk marketing orders—under which—the government sets minimum prices which must be paid to farmers. Using those floors as a base, he said, cooperatives in many areas are able to force handlers to pay premiums above the government-set floors.

Robert T. Masson, a Justice Department attorney, said some of the giant regional "mega co-ops" like Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and MidAmerica Dairymen and Dairywomen, Inc., "often control over 70 percent of the milk in their respective federal order markets and not infrequently control over 90 percent of the milk."

Hutt claimed the premium prices negotiated by cooperatives cover more than half of the nation's bottled grade milk and are illegal because "they result in an undue enhancement of the price... to the consumer in violation of the Capper-Volstead Act." He said the Agriculture Department has ignored laws requiring it to attack "undue" price boosts and to dismantle marketing orders whose "nonfunctional" premiums are being paid.

A dairy farm spokesman, however, asked "why we've had so many dairymen forced out of business by a price-cost squeeze in recent years if prices are unduly high."

Another spokesman, President Lester Jones of the Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative which serves the Philadelphia market, added, "my wife knows there are months when the milk check will not pay the bills."

Timber sale ruling eyed

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — The Idaho Forest Industry Council was assured today a Congressional committee will closely watch developments of a court decision that sale of National Forest land timber be only of "either large, dead, or mature trees that have been individually marked."

The assurance came from Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, in a letter to Joe Venishnick, Sandpoint, council president.

Foley informed Venishnick he has directed his staff to keep close watch on developments concerning the August decision by a West Virginia Court of Appeals judge.

The council contacted Pacific Northwest Congressional delegations urging that, if necessary, Congressional action be taken to provide the solution to what has become a complex and controversial issue.

Foley said he understands the U.S. Forest Service is actively considering a revision of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Act in light of the recent decision.

"Should this happen, the committee will have the opportunity to consider this issue as part of its general review of the Assessment, Program and Statement of Policy during hearings to be held after receipt of these documents," Foley said.

"It is evident that this approach would allow the committee to look at Forest Service policies in timber management as a part of that agency's overall program in managing the renewable resources of the National Forest System in keeping with guidelines established by the Multiple Use-Sustained Yield Act of 1960."

New source for sugar?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sweet sorghum is on its way to joining sugarcane and sugarbeets as an additional source of crystalline sugar, the Agriculture Department said today.

Officials said processing tests on sweet sorghum have been completed by Agriculture Department researchers in Weslaco, Tex., at facilities owned by the Rio Grande Valley Sugarcane Growers, Inc.

Spokesmen said new sweet sorghum varieties were used in the experiments which resulted in production of 22 tons of raw sugar from sweet sorghum.

Meat output up

BOISE (UPI) — Commercial red meat production in Idaho in October was up two percent from the previous October, the State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

The service reported this October's red meat production totaled 4.1 million, compared to 3.9 million a year earlier.

Cattle slaughter—this October totaled 55,000 head, compared with 53,500 in October, 1978. Hog slaughter at 8,100 head was down from 10,400 a year ago.

Officials said average liveweight of cattle in 1,085 pounds was up from the 1,076 pound average of a year earlier. October hog weights averaged 233 pounds compared with 227 for October, 1978.

Rural development draws attention

WASHINGTON — During fiscal years 1971-75, staff years devoted to rural development information and technical assistance climbed from 3,200 to 5,513, a gain of 72 percent.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports. This increase in staff years devoted to rural development and significant achievements in 10 program areas are noted in USDA's sixth annual report on information and technical assistance published today.

The report is issued to Congress each year in compliance with Title IX, Section 901 of the Agricultural Act of 1949.

The report for fiscal year 1975 points out that USDA and the state cooperative extension services assisted in more than 180,000 different community projects during the year. Some 41,000 feasibility studies and more than 100,000 conferences and meetings related to rural development were conducted.

Accomplishments cited are in organization and leadership development, comprehensive planning, community services and facilities, housing, health, and welfare, manpower development, recreation and tourism, environmental improvement, business and industrial development and rural cooperatives.

Single copies of the report are available from Information Staff, Rural Development Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Rice quotas threatened

NEW YORK Times Service — Officials — Earl Butz, the secretary of agriculture, warned Wednesday that without remedial legislation before Dec. 31, he would be forced to impose "rather severe" production quotas on rice.

Butz told the Senate Agriculture Committee that American rice growers are confronted with a difficult situation due to the loss of key markets in Cambodia and South Vietnam, combined with more abundant supplies of wheat available on the world market.

He urged Congressional action so that he would not have to impose acreage restrictions, which he said could be as low as 1.65 million acres for rice next year.

SECOND-DISTRICT Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, addresses members of the Idaho Farm Bureau during the organization's 36th annual convention in Coeur d'Alene this week. Hansen congratulated the Idaho farmers for their increased production this year. Farm-Bureau officials said membership is at a record 18,971 families this year.

Letters to Corps sought

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Republican State Chairman Vernon Ravnosoft urged today, persons interested in "further intrusion by the federal government in the matter of regulations concerning all of our water" to write the Army Corps of Engineers no later than today.

He said this applies equally to those who favor or oppose proposed final regulations.

Idaho people should know, however, that these proposed regulations will duplicate Idaho state control of stream beds and will call for federal permits for disposal of materials into navigable waters," Ravnosoft said.

He said citizens also should be aware the law now defines navigable waters as "waters of the United States." He said the Environmental Protection Agency has construed this to include all waters.

Ravnosoft observed that Idaho already has a stream bed program that is functioning.

Ravnosoft said letters should be addressed to: Chief of Engineers, attention DAENCO-W-N, Forrestal Building, Washington, D.C., 20314.

New order calls in pimientos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has announced the recall of some canned Spanish pimientos.

The announcement Wednesday involved cans manufactured by Jose Maria Garcia Gomariz of Murcia, Spain, and which because of poor canning methods could cause "bacterial outgrowth." No illnesses have been reported in connection with either this or 29 previous recalls of pimientos or pimiento products.

They were recalled by three different American firms. In all cases the cans bear the Foreign Registry No. R.E. 25,066 and the label.

The first were whole and diced, "Vesco Brand Canned Spanish Pimientos" distributed in California and recalled by Sonoma Mission Foods Inc. of San Francisco.

The second recall involves "Roland Whole Red Pimientos" recalled by Bruno Scheidt Inc., New York. They had been distributed nationally and internationally.

The third action involved "Donbar Brand Canned Spanish Pimientos," diced, broken and whole, recalled by Moody Dunbar Inc., Limestone, Tenn., and distributed in Tennessee, Georgia, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Kansas, New York, Florida, Illinois, North Carolina and Virginia.

The unprecedented demand for ORTHO UNIPEL Pelletized Fertilizers throughout the northwest is resulting in a $43 million expansion of our manufacturing facilities in Kennewick, Washington. Construction will be underway by mid 1976. Why this preference for UNIPEL Fertilizers?

Because UNIPEL is truly a unique line of Fertilizers. UNIPEL products consist of pellets that are uniform in size, composition, shape and density. Shipped by bag or bulk, UNIPEL products help assure even distribution of fertilizer containing precisely formulated amounts of plant nutrients. They are dust free, provide uniform feeding of crops, result in uniform maturity of crops which facilitates mechanical harvesting.

UNIPEL is highly recommended for many crops, including small grains, potatoes, sugar beets, vegetables, fruit, mint, pasture and rangeland.

This is the second planned expansion program for our Kennewick plant, but will in no way interfere with present production. It will increase our capacity from 200,000 tons annually to 550,000 tons of UNIPEL, Ammonium Nitrate and ANS Fertilizers. Once again, Chevron Chemical Company is proud to serve this community and the surrounding areas.

Riverside cuts football

POMONA, Calif. (UPI) — The University of California at Riverside announced Thursday it is giving up intercollegiate football competition because of financial losses.

UC Riverside Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker said the decision was made because of other priorities in the $305,000 athletic budget allocated to cover 10 men's sports and six women's sports.

The allocation for football was $160,000, Hinderaker said, and the team had to operate at a deficit because of poor attendance. The Highlanders drew only 15,475 persons at four home football games despite a winning record. They finished the 1975 season 7-3 and were 4-0 in the conference.

Andrus names aides

ORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Doc Andrus, who takes over Jan. 1 as athletic director at Oregon State, Thursday appointed two aides.

Paul Valenti, who resigned as basketball coach at the end of the 1970 season, was named associate director. He has been an assistant to outgoing Athletic Director Jim Barratt and also tennis coach.

Valenti played basketball at Oregon State in 1949-52 and returned in 1963 as an assistant to the late State's Bill Valenti, who became head coach in 1965.

Andrus also said he would keep Jack Italey as an administrative assistant with emphasis on academic counseling.

Navy player honored

CENTERVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Defensive back Chet Mueller is a co-star in Navy's first winning season. In the last 12, Thursday was named Division I Player of the Year by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

The senior from Kettering, Ohio, made three interceptions, caused three fumbles and averaged nearly eight tackles a game from his rover back position as Navy compiled a 7-4 season. He was instrumental in the Midshipmen's 17-0 win over Pitt.

The 6-foot 180-pound defender, whose full name is Chester Charles Mueller II, is the son of a civil engineer who was a basketball player and a gymast at the University of Cincinnati.

Ex-Purdue coach dies

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Jack Mollenkopf, who tutored such stars as Lenny Dawson and Bob Griese during his 14-year stint as Purdue football coach, died Thursday at the age of 70.

Mollenkopf, who retired after the 1969 campaign, died in a Rochester, Minn., hospital. The veteran coach, who had just one losing season at the helm of the Bollersmokers, died at the Mayo Clinic, where he was admitted in October for treatment of stomach cancer.

It was his second bout with cancer. He had surgery several years ago.

Two gridders arrested

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Two freshmen on the Orange Bowl-bound University of Michigan football team were freed Thursday after a 10-hour, two-man-and-a-half-hour hunt — they were arrested on burglary charges.

Robert J. Franks, 19, of Grand Rapids, and Leon E. Richardson, 18, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were arrested early Wednesday near a jewelry store that was burglarized.

Franks, a walk-on non-scholarship defensive back, is the son of former Michigan star guard Dr. Julian Franks, a Grand Rapids resident. His father, Max, is a sophomore wingback for the Spartans.

Richardson was an All State linebacker and running back at Fort Wayne last year.

Coach Bob Schembeler refused comment pending a discussion of the matter with his two players. He said any disciplinary action would be a private matter between himself and the two players.

Prince says he's No. 1

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Former Pittsburgh Pirates chief game announcer Bob Prince said Thursday he is "the No. 1 man" under consideration by the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) to broadcast its Monday night baseball games next season.

Prince, fired in October from the Pirate announcing job, which he had held for more than 20 years, said he hoped to negotiate doing games for both ABC and the Houston Astros, with whom he recently signed a one-year contract.

"But I gave my word to stay in Houston, so they'd have to give me permission for any deal with ABC," he said.

Prince auditioned last month with ABC, which is taking over the Monday night telecasts next year.

Illinois nips Missouri-Rolla

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Rich Adams scored 20 points to lead four men in double figures for Illinois Thursday night and the Illini held on for a 67-65 victory over Missouri-Rolla.

Adams also pulled down 10 rebounds. Nate Williams scored 19 points; Mike Washington had 13 and Audie Matthews chipped in 12.

Ross Kille had 20 points for the Miners. Royce Bessell 14 and Mark Franklin 13.

The Illini held a 37-25 lead at the half, then midway through the second period; Rolla hit on

Kings rally past Cavaliers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Scott Wetman ignited a third quarter rally Thursday night to lead the Kansas City Kings to a 105-101 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

With the Kings holding a 53-52 halftime lead, Wetman scored 19 of his game-high 24 points in the third quarter to pull Kansas City to a 15-point, 88-74, advantage.

Led by Campy Russell with 23 points, the Cavaliers rallied to outpace the Kings 27-16 in the final quarter and narrowed the gap to four points, 102-97, with 3:36 to play. But Jimmy Walker, with one short and one long jumper, preserved the victory for the Kings.

Fastbreak, press lead Minico to 78-41 decision over Buhl

RUPERT — Minico's Spartans turned on the quickness Thursday night and rolled over the Buhl Indians 78-41 in the opener for both teams.

Minico's lopsided victory averaged a similar walkoping Buhl—delivered on the same court last year.

Although quickness was assumed to be Buhl's forte — particularly in the guard line — Minico proved considerably the quicker team. And that dominance extended through the 10 men Coach Gerald Mayes carries on his varsity.

Minico unsettled Buhl bodily with a full court press, not stealing the ball as often as forcing turnovers and taking the Indians out of their offense. The Spartans' biggest plus was a fastbreak that consistently beat Buhl Indians.

Minico opened with a 4-0 lead and went up by nine points in the first five minutes.

As the second quarter opened Buhl slipped back to within 16-12 and appeared setting down for a good game. Then quickly Minico forced three straight turnovers.

Minico converted into six points — four from Jesse Miller and two from Haskins, and Kyle Uscola chipped in with a fastbreak cripple when Buhl finally did get off a shot.

Miller hit two free throws and Pruitt a field goal before Steve Hill was able to hit his bucket for the Indians. By then Minico was up 35-20 at intermission.

The Spartans blew it open with a torrid spree in the third quarter, hitting five straight shots. Cowell got the first two.

Uscola's three-point play, Brent Redekopp back-to-back field goals and then a flinder by Miller.

From that sizzling start Minico went on to enjoy a 52-point second half with the final score being the largest of the night. Pruitt's drive along the baseline netted the first 30-point margin with 2:02 to play.

Marcia also took the preliminary 40-35.

Injuries hit Hogs on eve of showdown

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas will have the homefield advantage in its Saturday showdown with Texas A&M, but the Razorbacks will be hurting in a more important category — injuries.

Coach Frank Broyles announced Thursday backache, Ekwowood, definitely would not play in the game and halfback Ike Forte probably would not play. Ekwowood has a sprained knee and Forte dislocated three toes in his right foot.

Starting cornerback Brad Thomas was questionable because of a knee injury, as was backup tight end Marvin Dally, who has an infected leg. "I believe our young players can do it with Roland Fuchs," Broyles said. "We've got to do what we do best, regardless of what their defense can do."

Fuchs is a senior halfback. Alternating at the other halfback spot against the nation's No. 1 defense will be freshmen Michael Forrest and Ben Cowins.

The other man in the Razorback backfield will be quarterback Scott Bull.

Broyles says he hopes Arkansas has plenty of those Hogsling fans in evidence for the game, which will air on the Southwest Conference's Cotton Bowl representative.

"We hope to have the involvement of our fans as they were for the Southern Cal game," Broyles told a news conference via telephone hookup. "Obviously, when the fans are involved, it's a big factor in hoping our fans will be ready and involved."

Little Rock, was the site when Arkansas whipped Southern Cal in the 1974 season opener to a continuous roar of the partisan crowd.

"When the fans are involved," Broyles said, the Razorbacks is a help.

Another big factor will be the Razorbacks' second-in-the-nation offense, can penetrate the first-in-the-nation Aggie defense. "They have no weak spots," Broyles said of the A&M defense. "They are a complete football team in every respect. They have unusual talent and speed at every position."

Offensively, Broyles said, A&M is like any other wishbone team. "The burden will be in the trenches on running plays because of the quick hit of the fullback and protecting against the deep pass," he said. "That's the problem."

"I think both teams will be very much ready to play," Broyles said. "I don't think either team will have an emotional advantage over the other because so much is at stake."

A&M Coach Emory-Bellard said he did not think the emotion expended by the Aggies in last week's victory over Texas would have anything to do with Saturday's game.

"We've got a very tough opponent in front of us," he said over the telephone hookup. "They are an outstanding football team, capable of a sustained march. They are a very aggressive, quick defensive team. They're as good as we've faced this season. We've got to contain their offense and we've got to throw the football and play a solid kicking game."

Bellard said quarterback Mike Jay, who in June last year in the Texas game, definitely would miss the game. He said junior David Shipman, the starter at the beginning of the season, would replace Jay and freshman Keith Baker would serve as backup.

Berra to return to Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees will sign former Met manager Yogi Berra as an assistant coach Friday and this reunite him with Manager Billy Martin, who played with Berra on five Yankee World Championship Series from 1950 through 1956, when Martin was the club's second baseman.

Berra was first manager of the Mets midway through last season after leading them to one National League championship in his three seasons as manager.

Berra managed the Yankees for one year, in 1964, and it marked the last time the Yanks appeared in the World Series.

Berra was a member of the Yankees' team from 1946 through 1956, playing on 14 American League pennant winners and 10 World Championship Series.

Five of those championships were won from 1950 through 1956, when Martin was the club's second baseman.

Martin took over for Bill Virdon as skipper of the Yankees last August after being fired the summer as manager of the Texas Rangers, his third managerial assignment.

Seattle makes bid for Chicago club

SEATTLE (UPI) — Businessman Les Smith and entertainer Danny Kaye, who want to bring the "Chicago-White Sox to Seattle," will go to Florida Sunday to talk to American League owners about approving their purchase bid instead of a sale to Bill Veck.

The club owners meeting in Cleveland Wednesday said they would be happy to let Veck's group buy the Sox, but they didn't like his financial position and gave him a week to come up with more backing.

Smith and Kaye said the delay might be just what they need to grab the Sox for themselves. "We didn't want to go to Cleveland and appear to be hustling votes in our behalf," Smith said. "We don't act that way. But now that the league has stipulated it doesn't like Veck's financial structure, I think it is incumbent on us, without immorality, personally to acquaint the club owners with our situation."

The American League owners will be in Hollywood, Fla., for the annual winter meeting, which starts Monday.

Another, less friendly group from Washington State also will be at the meeting.

Attorney General Slade Gorton will lead others in discussions with the American League about a $20 million, job-damage suit filed by the state, county and city after the brief one-year stay of the Seattle Pilots in 1969.

That action is slated for court on Jan. 12, 1976, unless the league makes legal steps toward bringing a new team to the city.

Speaking of the still-pending sale of the Sox to Veck, Gorton said: "I'm disappointed it was not resolved in our favor. Unless it is, the trial goes forward. Seattle has done everything required. It now is up to the league to meet its commitment."

John Allyn, White Sox owner, confirmed Smith's views that Seattle had a good chance for the club.

"If Veck's group fails to meet the money terms, my only alternative would be to sell the Sox to Seattle interests," he said.

TF nips Filer on last-half surge

FILER — Twin Falls broke away in the third quarter to defeat Filer 46-30 in girls basketball Thursday night.

Filer stayed within five points of the favored Bruins through the first half. But in the third quarter Filer managed six points while Twin Falls blossomed with 18.

Sallyburg and Engelhart provided most of the scoring in the break-away—but Filer contributed in its own ways by committing 21 fouls and 10 turnovers.

Also aiding the Twin Falls.

Lopez KO's ex-champ in seventh

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Former bantam and featherweight world champion Ruben Olivares of Mexico City was knocked out by Danny "Little Red" Lopez in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder Thursday night at the Forum.

Olivares, bidding for another world title shot against World Boxing Council featherweight champion David Kelley of Ghana, was counted out by referee Dick Young at 1:59 of the seventh after being floored for the fourth time in the exciting slugfest.

Lopez, 23, of Alhambra, Calif., 125½, earned the scheduled title fight with Kelley, which is planned for next February at the Forum, while scoring his 27th knockout among 28 wins and three losses. Olivares had lost the title to Kelley last September.

N.C. beats Seton Hall

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sophomores guard Phil Ford scored 25 points and had 10 assists Thursday night to lead fourth-ranked North Carolina to a 75-63 victory over Seton Hall.

Ford scored 19 of his 27 points in the second half as the Tar Heels successfully repelled a late bid by Seton Hall with their famed four-corner offense.

Center Mitch Kupchak added 20 points for North Carolina and Walter Davis contributed 16.

Guard Glen Tynes was a virtual one-man show for Seton Hall with 23 points.

The Pirates took a 25-24 lead with 3:17 left in the first half but North Carolina scored the next six points to enjoy a 30-25 margin at halftime.

Stanford Robber Barons?

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University students Thursday rejected by a more than 1-2 margin Indian as their athletic nickname.

Students voted 1,700-795 against the nickname in an advisory election, and the results will be presented to the student senate on Monday. The senate will decide whether to recommend them to the administration.

The Indian nickname was abolished in 1972 when Cardinals was selected as a replacement, but recently there has been a growing sentiment among some alumni for its restoration.

American-Indian groups protested the nickname on grounds it was demeaning to Indians.

The students also selected Sequoias as their first choice for a new name.

The vote was: Sequoias, 1,595; Robber Barons, 1,576; Trees, 1,612; and Cardinals, 1,309.

Injuries hit 'Skins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Redskins, who need a victory at Atlanta Sunday to stay in playoff contention, are favored despite the questionable status of two team leaders—quarterback Billy Kilmer and all-pro safety Ken Houston.

Kilmer aggravated a broken bone in his foot and Houston sprained a knee in Washington's 31-30 victory over Minnesota last Sunday. The win gave the Redskins a 7-1 record, one game behind St. Louis and Dallas in the National Football Conference Eastern Division.

Sunday, Dallas and St. Louis play each other—and that means the Redskins will be keeping an eye on that game as they play the Falcons, who are 3-4.

The difference began to show when Brigham-Young's leading players, 6-9 center Jay Chessman and 6-9 forward Troy Jones, both fouled out under the pressure of the UOP pressing defense.

Cal drops Idaho State 76-65

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Senior guard Rickie Hawthorne scored 17 points and guided California to a 76-65 nonconference victory over Idaho State Thursday night.

The Bears, now 2-1, were trailing 22-18 with 4:29 to go in the first half when reserve guard Kent Thompson scored six points and Hawthorne added five in a 17-0 outburst which broke open the game.

The spree gave Cal a 35-22 lead early in the second half.

The Bears, also 2-1, fought back behind forward Greg Griffin to pull within 34-38 but a 12-2 spurt by Cal gave the Bears breathing room again.

BYU jumped off to a 13-0 lead and never trailed in the first half, but UOP chipped away until it was within four points, 33-37 at the midway buzzer.

A pair of 15-foot jump shots by Mike Peet and Jim Hurley pushed UOP ahead early in the second half. The lead changed hands seven times until UOP went in front to 41-37 at 4:52 on a Mike Peet layup with 2:52 left.

Burley overhauls Jerome

BURLEY — Miller and Hodge scored 19 points between them in the fourth quarter to rally Burley's girls past Jerome 38-28 Thursday.

Jerome nursed tight leads throughout the first three quarters but then saw its collective shooting eye fail. Meanwhile, Miller hit 11 of her 19 points and Hodge picked up half of her 16 to spark the breakthrough.

Jerome won the preliminary 15-9. The Tigers will invade Twin Falls Dec. 15.

Jerome — Wilson 11, Haffield 4, Thomas 11, Bulcher 2, Burley — Cruise 2, Harris 2, Miller 19, Hodge 16.

NIT field slides as TV money leaves

NEW YORK (UPI) — The future of the National Invitation Tournament, on the downside in quality for the past three years and which recently cut the field in half, was further threatened Thursday when the Columbia Broadcasting System, citing "superior competition" fielded by the NCAA, confirmed it would not renew postseason college basketball television agreements that date back to 1966.

The likely lack of a TV contract and the poor state "needs" resulted in Madison Square Garden officials and the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association, which runs the NIT, deciding last month to cut the NIT field from 16 to eight teams for the annual March post-season college tournament.

"CBS has been televising the NIT from Madison Square Garden for the last 10 years, but superior competition fielded by the NCAA and declining TV ratings in NIT coverage convinced us not to renew the contract," said a network spokesman.

"We thought about dropping the NIT last year because of sliding audience interest, but decided to give it another year."

The spokesman said it was impossible for the NIT to compete with the NCAA for top teams, especially with the NCAA currently considering a move to take in more class independents by increasing its field from 32 to 40 teams.

"How can you compare an NCAA game that, for instance, pits Marquette and North Carolina State, with an NIT tourney that has St. John's playing Rutgers. The television viewer wants to see name players and top ranked teams."

The NIT field also has been hurt the past two seasons by the Commissioner's Tournament, an NCAA post-season affair that invites conference runners-up.

In explaining the NIT field reduction, Rob Franklin, the Garden's director of amateur athletics, said, "The NIT is a quality tournament and we want to keep it that way. Realistically, the availability of quality teams for the NIT is limited. We'd rather have less teams and more quality."

Franklin said that CBS and NIT officials had met several times to discuss contract renewal, and was "shocked" the network had declined not to continue the pact.

NBA will draft young ABA stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five American Basketball Association players, who either skipped or prematurely left college to play pro ball, will be the subject of a special supplementary draft Tuesday by the National Basketball Association as it gears for the possible collapse of the younger league.

Three ABA teams have folded in the last two months and two of the remaining seven clubs are in severe financial difficulty. The seven surviving clubs have already applied for admission into the NBA.

The five underage players, headed by Moses Malone of St. Louis, would, if chosen, become eligible to play in the NBA should the ABA fold before the current season ends.

The five players—Malone, Skip Wise, Charlie Jordan, Mark Olbering and Mel Bennett—all signed to play with ABA teams before their college eligibility expired and never filed for hardship to become available for the NBA draft.

The special draft has a catch in it for teams who want rights to one of the five. If a team selects a player on the first offering, it must forfeit its first round pick in the 1976 draft, or, if not possessing a first round 1976 choice, then the first round of the next draft year in which it possesses such pick.

Selections made after the first offering would mean forfeiture of a college draft pick in a corresponding round. The draft will continue through 10 rounds or until all the players are taken.

Choices will be made, starting at 2 p.m. by telephone conference call, in reverse order of the standings of the teams on a consolidated basis determined as of the close of 1974-75 championship season.

Amateurs rip N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charging the city has neglected the needs of amateur athletes while lavishing huge sums on the Yankee Stadium renovation project, a group threatened Thursday to disrupt next April's opening day for the New York Yankees.

Cary Goodman, head of Sports for the People, said the group might attempt to hold the stadium "hostage" if $2 million in funds is not released to rehabilitate nearby Macombs Field.

The field, located across the street from Yankee Stadium, is a decaying facility containing a football field, running track and two baseball fields. It was leased Monday that the city had quietly abandoned plan to spend $2 million upgrading the neighborhood and instead was going to give the Yankees $300,000 for equipment, including private toilets and catering facilities for VIP boxes.

Michigan State found guilty

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The NCAA Infractions Committee cited Michigan State University's football program Thursday for unspecified rules violations.

MSU President Clifton Wharton Jr. announced the university is appealing "certain" findings and proposed penalties in their decision.

Wharton said the university was ordered by the NCAA not to reveal either the findings or the proposed penalties.

The appeal will be heard Jan. 11-13 at a session before the NCAA Council, Wharton said.

No penalties will be imposed in the interim.

The NCAA probe of Michigan State's recruitment practices first became public last

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1975
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use self-control and do not become involved in any arguments, especially where those of positions of power and influence are concerned. Think of improving credit rating. Good for repairs to property.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to duties now, that will help you get a head start on business matters Monday. Buy needed gadgets. Then out for recreation.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study fine new ideas but wait to start them. A new ally could lead you astray, so quickly sever the connection.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep any promises made, though not in the mood, then you insure success. Don't argue with loved one, but be kind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't show annoyance at partners since soon everything is okay. Keep up your end of work. Avoid an opponent or there could be trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy at duties even though you want to play. Don't be liked by a fellow worker, but smile and all turns out fine.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't go running off to highly expensive amusements that would not be much fun, anyway. Make this a quiet and happy day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Make life at home more harmonious and be helpful to kin. A new venture interests you but don't get into it yet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be most careful in motion of all kinds now and therefore avoid danger. Don't criticize, but reason with, an associate, or big argument develops.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't think money will solve vexing problem, since it would only mean further expenditures in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think of the problems of others and yours will then seem small in comparison and you soon solve them. Study hard.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy at work and you soon are free of dependency. Help the unfortunate. Be careful of a troublemaker.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A friend under pressure may not help you with a problem now. Be more self-reliant. Not a good time for group meetings.

IF YOUR CHIEF IS IN TROUBLE... he or she will jump into any difficult situation just to prove ability at solving it, but is apt to borrow trouble and should be taught to tend strictly to own affairs. Then the life becomes most successful, especially in such fields as property management, mining, production of sound, or anything beneficial to society. Give a good, practical education.

Canada's Northwest Mounted Police moved westward a little ahead of most of the settlers. But the lawmen of the United States didn't, generally. Rangers, marshals and sheriffs for the most part only took charge after they were needed. As a result, this country's folk lore glorifies all sorts of gunslingers whether they drew and fired for the law or against it. Canada's law doesn't. There's no literary section of shootouts in Canada's own library of fact and fiction.
