Census hails Idaho growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A mid-decade census shows Idaho's population has increased nearly 15 per cent in the last five years.
Population increases in the West and South have accounted for 85 per cent of the nation's growth in the first half of the 1970s, a Census Bureau report said today.
Only four states — Florida, Arizona, Nevada and Alaska — are listed as having higher growth rates than Idaho according to the preliminary report.
The mid-decade census of the United States puts the country's population at 213,121,000 for 1975. That represents a 4.8 per cent increase from 1970.
The sunshine states of Arizona and Florida had the fastest growth rate of the seventies, up 25 per cent in population.
On the other hand, Washington D.C., New York state and Rhode Island lost population over the past five years.

Census Bureau officials say if the West continues to grow at the current rate of 8.7 per cent by the year 1980 Congress probably will have to reapportion its membership to reflect more accurate congressional representation of the nation's population.
Regionally, the population of the northeastern states grew only eight tenths of one per cent in the first half of the seventies.
The South grew 8.4 per cent in the first five years of the decade.
In the west, Nevada's population rose 21 per cent in the last five years. Alaska grew at the rate of 16.3 per cent. Colorado population increased 14.7 per cent and Utah had a 13.8 per cent growth rate.
Washington D.C. had the greatest loss with five per cent of that city's population moving away since 1970.

NATO agrees to warhead pullback

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — The 15 NATO nations agreed today to tell the Russians the United States will withdraw 1,000 of its tactical nuclear warheads from Western Europe if the Soviets pull back 1,700 tanks from Eastern Europe, alliance officials said.
The officials said the proposal, which was devised and strongly backed by the United States, will be presented to the Soviets next Tuesday at the East-West force cut talks in Vienna.
The talks recess on Dec. 18, giving the Russians the Christmas and New Year's holiday to prepare a reply.

The Vienna talks resume Jan. 26. But there was speculation that the Soviet response will come only in February, when Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid L. Brezhnev addresses the party congress in Moscow.
The American proposal was submitted to NATO a year ago and has been shaped and refined at alliance headquarters since then. It finally was approved Friday by foreign ministers of the 15 nations in their annual winter meeting.
Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger strongly favored the new proposal. In an attempt to get the stalled Vienna talks moving again.

Boston 'mourns'

BOSTON (UPI) — White students boycotted South Boston High School and rush hour morning traffic was deliberately snarled today to protest the school being placed under federal control.
Only about six white pupils showed up for classes at the school, placed in federal receivership this week by U.S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity.

Commuters coming into Boston through the South Boston area ran into a massive traffic jam. Anti-busing forces stalled cars, intentionally on the roads and bridges and in tunnels as part of a protest plan.
Police would not officially lay the blame for the huge traffic jam on the desegregation controversy. One officer said "today was supposed to be some kind of Black Friday to show objection to South Boston High going into receivership." Another police spokesman said the number of breakdowns were "not much heavier than normal" for one of the first cold days of winter.

A spokesman for the AIA Auto and Travel Club said their free "Rush Hour Rescue" program found that of the 15 stalled cars they helped, about 10 cited problems of "suspicious origin. Some claimed they were out of gas, and once we pushed them off the road, they cranked up and drove away."
A number of cars were towed by police to clear the traffic lanes. A helicopter traffic watcher for a radio station said in all, some 30 vehicles were disabled or abandoned on the main-travel arteries during the morning rush hour.

The anti-busing group ROAR (Restore Our Alienated Rights) Thursday had called for a "day of mourning" to protest the Garrity decision.
All ROAR members in the city were urged to wear black in sympathy for parents and students at South Boston High.
Black-bordered signs reading "Remember Black Tuesday" were placed on street corners and buildings Thursday. Tuesday was the day Garrity issued his decision, which also stripped the Boston School Committee of virtually all its powers over the city's desegregation efforts. Garrity said those efforts to achieve racial balance and harmony were inadequate.

Garrity's decision stemmed from a petition charging that black students at the high school were harassed, physically abused and deprived of an education. The complaint was filed by the NAACP, on behalf of the black community.
The order gives the federal court direct control of South Boston High School. The court has already appointed school District Supt. John McDonough receiver.

Chilly dawn

The Vienna talks resume Jan. 26. But there was speculation that the Soviet response will come only in February, when Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid L. Brezhnev addresses the party congress in Moscow.
The American proposal was submitted to NATO a year ago and has been shaped and refined at alliance headquarters since then. It finally was approved Friday by foreign ministers of the 15 nations in their annual winter meeting.
Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger strongly favored the new proposal. In an attempt to get the stalled Vienna talks moving again.
Basically, the proposal offers the Soviets the withdrawal of 1,000 of America's 7,200 tactical nuclear warheads based in Western Europe — most of them in West Germany. In addition, the United States would pull back 20,000 of its 300,000 soldiers in Western Europe.
In return, the Soviets would withdraw a tank army of 1,700 tanks and 60,000 men from Eastern Europe.
In addition, Russia would be asked to approve the principle of East-West force parity in central Europe. The Communist Warsaw Pact currently is superior in number of men and equipment and the Communists have refused Western insistence that the Vienna talks must eventually lead to equality.
Most of the proposal was agreed on in advance by the 15 nations, with only the timing left for decision today. West Germany had hoped to postpone its submission until after Christmas, while the United States had urged speed.

Kissinger, in his opening speech here, also warned the Soviets against upsetting détente through their military shipments to Angola.

TF teachers support O'Leary replacement

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls school teachers agree with trustees that O'Leary Junior High School building is outdated and should be replaced.
"We came out in favor of the bond to build a new junior high school mainly because we need one," Phil East, president of the Twin Falls Teachers Association said today.
East said at a meeting of the association Thursday night the teachers decided to work with the school board and administrators to show school patrons the building is outdated and requires extensive remodeling or a new building.
East said another education problem in the city which teachers will be discussing with the board and administration is the student teacher ratio. In some elementary classes, he said, this is 35 to one.
"Some classrooms have too many students for the most effective learning environment," East said.

Pollution effort lags; money, red-tape blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The multi-billion, dollar effort to clean up America's polluted lakes and streams is lagging far behind schedule because of inadequate federal funds, excessive red tape and wide-spread legal challenges, a government commission said Thursday.
The National Commission on Water Quality estimated there is little chance that private industry can meet congressionally set 1977 cleanup standards before 1980 and that publicly owned sewage treatment works can meet them before 1986.
Even so, the commission said in a 814-page report, "We are encouraged to find that in many areas of the country the water is not only improving but it is improving faster than most had expected."
Water quality goals set by Congress in 1972 represent "a major milestone in the environmental history of the country and are worthy of a major national effort," the commission reported after a two-year, $17 million study.

Achieving those goals could cost up to $60 billion, the commission said, but would restore a large portion of the nation's presently polluted waters" and bring annual economic benefits estimated to be $1.4 billion in 1980, $7.2 billion in 1985 and $7.8 billion at the end of the century.
"Nationally, however, the program is behind the schedule the Congress set," the report said.
"An important cause of delay was the impoundment of funds in the federal grant program for municipal sewage treatment. There have been other factors also: the complexity of the law, bureaucratic complexities and extensive litigation.

NY garbage strike ends
NEW YORK (UPI) — Private sanitation workers today approved a contract with some 450 carting companies, ending a 12-day-old strike that has left tons of garbage stacked in front of restaurants and other commercial buildings.
State mediator Vincent McDonnell announced at 6:37 a.m. that the members of Teamsters Local 618 had accepted "a last and final offer" from the carting firms on a three-year contract. The pact provides a $15 pay hike in the first year and $13 increases in the following two years. McDonnell said.
The private sanitationmen pick up about 8,000 tons of refuse daily from city streets.

Judge halts Christmas divorce

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — A judge saved two marriages with a moratorium on divorce suits during last year's Christmas holidays and he hopes to do even better this year.
District Court Judge Raymond Naffke announced Thursday he will accept no more divorce cases until the day after Christmas.
Naffke says his ban on divorce cases has been criticized, but he thinks he is right to try to keep families together through the holidays.
"I might be technically wrong in taking this stand, but I'm convinced I'm morally right," he said.

English reject gallows

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons voted decisively Thursday against bringing back the gallows despite growing anger in Britain over Irish Republican Army terrorist attacks.
By a vote of 361 to 222 with about 30 abstentions, the House threw out a motion demanding "capital punishment for terrorist offenses resulting in death."
The new "bring back hanging" demand was spurred by an IRA bullet-and-bomb campaign that has killed more than 50 persons and injured another 600 in Britain.

Reagan pulls ahead of Ford

A new Gallup poll shows Ronald Reagan has moved ahead of President Ford as the choice of Republican and independent voters for the GOP presidential nomination.
The poll showed Reagan was favored by 49 per cent of Republicans questioned in late November, Ford by 32 per cent. That was a sharp reversal from the Gallup figures in mid-October, which showed Ford leading Reagan 48-25.
Among independents, 27 per cent favored Reagan and 26 per cent favored Ford in late November, compared with mid-October when Ford led 26-20.
The poll coincided with the formal opening of the presidential primary season Thursday.

Chicago good Samaritan gives hand to immigrant

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Masny, a Polish immigrant who has lived under Chicago's slums for nine years, is going to have a "nice Christmas" this year, because of a "good Samaritan."

Abel Perez, 33, picked up Joe, 66, from under a viaduct Wednesday and offered him free room and board.

"I saw in the newspaper about this man being stranded by the viaduct," Perez said. "I said to myself, 'I'm going to pick up this man, hon. I took my daughter to school and then picked him up.'"

Masny had been sleeping and eating with his dog under the viaduct since last summer.

Perez said, "I'm living under the viaducts throughout the city for the last nine years."

"He's not a bum, not a babe, a drunk or a no," Perez said. "He just had a bad break in life. In our society, you're either the strong or the weak."

Perez, an automobile mechanic who owns two small apartment buildings, said he "picked Masny up" because "I guess anybody else would have done it. I felt sorry for the man. I did the thing that any other normal citizen would have done."

"I've been there. I know what it's like to be down and out. Sometimes it feels like the end of the world."

"I came from Texas. We arrived on a cold, winter night and we didn't have an apartment to stay in. We had a refrigerator that didn't work, no couch to sit on, no beds to sleep on. Now I'm the owner of a few buildings. Now I have a chair to sit on and a table to eat off. You just don't forget things like that."

Grisly reminder

A 55-gallon drum of the type reportedly used to transport the body of former Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa to New Jersey lies in the 47-acre landfill area in Jersey City where the FBI has obtained a search warrant to dig for a body. The FBI announced Thursday it had been told by an informant where to look for a grave on the sprawling site. (UPI)

Hoffa witness emerges

DETROIT (UPI) — A new witness emerged today as the focus of the James R. Hoffa investigation, which is shifting between Detroit and New Jersey.

In Detroit, the brother of a New Jersey witness emerged today as the focus of the James R. Hoffa investigation, which is shifting between Detroit and New Jersey.

In Newark, N.J., federal sources said an informant "proven reliable in the past" could pinpoint the location of a body in a dump reportedly used as a gangland graveyard.

The sources did not mention Hoffa, but the disclosure came on the heels of a report that his body was "transported" in a 55-gallon steel drum and buried in a 47-acre Jersey City dump.

The FBI has obtained court permission to dig in the dump, but digging had not started by Thursday.

Both developments came one day after U.S. Attorney Ralph B. Guy Jr. said the FBI had developed "significant" leads in a multi-state investigation into the Hoffa case.

Stephen Andretta, 40, of Little Ferry, N.J., was cited for contempt of court Thursday by a federal judge who one day earlier had granted him a stay in a suit from prosecution in return for his testimony.

Ohio woman jailed in kidnap scheme

DETROIT (UPI) — A 24-year-old Ohio woman, the fourth suspect in a $250,000 kidnap scheme that ended with a Detroit bank officer dead of stab wounds, was jailed Thursday night on a $100,000 bond.

The woman, Sharon Schuettell of Columbus, was charged with aiding and abetting in the abduction of James J. Crawford Jr., 25, whose body was found Thursday along a rural dirt road near the central Ohio town of Newark.

Her arrest was announced 24 hours after the FBI reported the arrest of three men, who were jailed in lieu of an overall $700,000 bond on extortion charges.

Police sources said the three men were likely to face federal kidnap charges.

Authorities withheld details of the investigation that led FBI agents to the suspects, but police sources said an informant was involved.

Crawford, a bachelor who lived in suburban Grosse Pointe, was abducted a week ago today as he arrived for work at a National Bank of Detroit branch where he was the assistant manager.

Tax panel set for veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee has prepared a modest tax relief bill destined for a veto.

After a two-hour meeting Thursday at the White House, President Ford and Congressional leaders braced for what may turn out to be the last White House-Congress clash in 1975 and the political ripples that will wash into the 1976 election year.

In short, the President told four senators who met with him that he will veto legislation to extend for six months the 1975 antirecession tax reductions if the bill fails to include a promise to put a lid on spending in the fiscal year beginning October, 1976.

And the senators warned they were planning to go ahead and pass their tax bill and then round up the votes to override a veto.

If the veto is sustained, taxes withheld next year will increase.

A veto of a tax reduction bill has been ranked with "shooting Santa Claus," but after the White House session, Sen. Russel Long, the scrappy chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said there was "no doubt" Ford will veto the bill that Congress sends him in its last planned week before the holiday season adjournment.

"I made just one small request," said Long. He explained he asked Ford to avoid lingering over his veto, allowing the Congress to react quickly "so some people don't have to miss their Christmas holidays."

The President repeated his position: no reductions in taxes without a pledge of dollar-for-dollar reductions in future spending plans.

The Democrats have stood equally fast by their principle, refusal to put a ceiling on a budget sight unseen.

The Hill Sen. Long's panel has prepared would reduce Treasury revenues by $6.4 billion. Ford's own tax reduction proposal was a much more generous $20 billion but he required a matching reduction in future spending.

Fourth hat for Elliot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot Richardson will be sworn in as Commerce secretary within a few days, making him the only American to hold four Cabinet posts.

The Senate confirmed Richardson for the job Thursday without debate or dissenting vote.

Richardson was named undersecretary of state by President Richard M. Nixon in 1969. He later served as secretary of the departments of health education and welfare, and defense, then became attorney general.

He resigned from the last post after refusing to obey Nixon's order to resign the Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox in the "Saturday night massacre" of Oct. 20, 1973.

President Ford brought Richardson back into the government as ambassador to Great Britain, where he served until being named Commerce secretary during the Nov. 2 Ford cabinet shake-up.

Egg ads bring hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal Trade Commission Judge has ordered a stop to an egg industry advertising campaign which he says falsely claims there is no evidence eating eggs increases the risk of heart attacks.

On the contrary, Judge Ernest G. Barnes said Thursday, "there exists a substantial body of competent and reliable scientific evidence that eating eggs increases the risk of heart attacks or heart disease."

What is exactly the kind of publicity the National Commission on Egg Nutrition was trying to head off when it which launched its "eat eggs" campaign last year with a series of newspaper ads. The organization plans to exhaust every legal channel to overturn the judge's ruling.

Hendrik Wentink, chairman of the egg group, called the decision "an unprecedented incursion upon our right of free speech."

The group's secretary, Robert Fisher of Des Moines, said the ruling was particularly unfortunate because the hearing record was closed before two recent scientific studies could be submitted for consideration. The Barnes' said, was that Barnes was "left out on a limb, dangling from an opinion which does not have a strong scientific backing."

Those studies, Barnes said, include one by Dr. Ivan B. France of the University of Minnesota who studied 17,000 persons, half on a low-cholesterol diet and half not. Fisher said France concluded there was not the "slightest hint of benefit" to those who consumed foods lower in cholesterol.

The second study, he said, was by a Mayo Clinic physician who studied children and found "no correlation in the level of blood cholesterol and the amount of cholesterol consumed by children ages six to 16."

Buyer optimism weakens

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A team of economic analysts warned the federal government Thursday to tread lightly on the sensitivity of American consumers or face a collapse of the nation's economic recovery.

The Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, in its bimonthly survey of consumer sentiment, said recent gains in public optimism about the economy have slackened.

Any more discouraging economic news, analysts said, could shut off consumer spending.

The data suggest that bad news in the months ahead might have an unusually unfavorable influence on consumer attitudes because it would reinforce uncertainties that are already intense," survey coordinators Jay Schmiedekamp and George Catona said.

The economy and the government's economic policy are in the limelight at a time when there is very little confidence in the government's ability to achieve its objectives. It is important to avoid government policies and actions which many consumers might view as a mistake."

One such mistake, they said, would be failure to extend federal income tax cuts.

The survey's index of consumer sentiment, based on interviews in October and November, was at 76.4, 20 points higher than a year ago but matching the lowest point of the 1970 recession.

However, there were bright spots in the findings. Persons interviewed indicated a better personal financial situation than two months ago, and more take-home pay was going into savings accounts than earlier this year.

Respondents also supported optimism in the auto industry by showing more interest in model changes and gasoline mileage than in higher prices.

"But expectations about business conditions and unemployment became less favorable," Schmiedekamp and Catona said. "In particular, pessimism about the long-term economic outlook increased."

Original grand design for Republic better

NEW YORK — Once upon a time, a group of wise men wrote a Constitution for a brand-new Republic... They made a grand design. Almost 200 years later, another group of men, not so wise, took the grand design apart: they balled out New York City.

enumerated powers. And these were truly doctrines — principles of faith, explicitly taught by those who devised the most perfect union... The doctrine of federalism holds that, so far as the structure of government is concerned, our Republic is pre-eminently a union of states.

certain specific powers to the national government. The exercise of other powers they prohibited to themselves. All remaining powers they reserved to be exercised by the states "respectively."

limited to certain enumerated powers has been soaked up in the sponge of the general welfare clause. Even so, the grand design remains in place; the structure is still intact.

The Kremlin and Kapital Hill

Wall Street Journal

The Soviet Union is blaming its horrendous harvest on bad weather, but even the record Soviet crops in the years of glorious weather aren't as bountiful as failed crops in the United States.

AS part of our policy of giving free advice to countries with whom we are peacefully coexisting, we recommend that when the 26th Soviet-Party Congress convenes in February it consider a change in agricultural tax policy.

The problem the Russians have, similar to that of the British and the Liberal Democrats of the 94th Congress, is that they do not understand the incentive effects of marginal tax rates. The Russians produce 75 per cent of their food on their collective farms, which have an effective marginal tax rate of about 90 per cent.

That is, the collective that produces 1,000 bushels of wheat gets to keep 100. If it works like the devil and produces 2,000 bushels, it only gets to keep 200, even though the first 1,000 are easy and the second 1,000 are tough. The Russians produce 25 per cent of their food in private plots, backyard gardens that the collective farmers work in their sparetime. They can keep all of what they produce in these plots.

The obvious solution. It is clear at least to us, is for the Soviets to permit an increase in the size of the private plots and a reduction in the size of the collectives.

The net effect is to cut the marginal tax rate for farm production in the aggregate. For every acre the government gives up, there is a "revenue" loss of 90 per cent of what would have been produced on it, but so much more food will be produced on the plot that there will be that much less the Kremlin will have to buy from us.

We offer the same advice to the British. They must increase the size of their private plots, figuratively speaking. Workers in the lowest taxable income classes now pay a marginal tax rate of 35 per cent on wages, and this goes to 83 per cent for the highest income classes.

The marginal tax rate on interest and dividends rises steeply to a top of 98 per cent. The country is smothering incentive and growth with these incredibly high rates, and should be aggressively turning over public acreage (reducing government spending) to private plots (lower marginal tax rates).

The United States economy to a lesser degree is being depressed by high marginal tax rates, and the problem is being intensified by the failure of Congress to appreciate the importance of their adverse incentive effects. President Ford has proposed the correct solution, cutting $28 billion in taxes and reducing projected government spending by $28 billion, which by our analysis would spur non-inflationary economic growth by converting public, collective disincentives into private incentives.

The liberals in Congress, though, act on the erroneous economic assumption that growth is spurred by spending, not by permitting the productive sector to keep more of what it produces by taxing less out of it.

The tax bill the House passed last week extends the 1975 tax reductions on the grounds that failure to do so would withdraw about $2 billion a month from the public's spending power.

But because this $1 billion a month has to be borrowed, it merely takes money out of the hands of the group and puts it in another. The tax-cut extension would keep the economy from faltering only to the degree that future spending commitments are reduced, otherwise the nation is merely postponing taxes with interest, which is what New York City tried over the last decade with unhappy results.

The House not only rejected the President's approach, but lacked on some "reform" measures that purport to raise an extra $1.5 billion in taxes by closing loopholes that benefit the "rich."

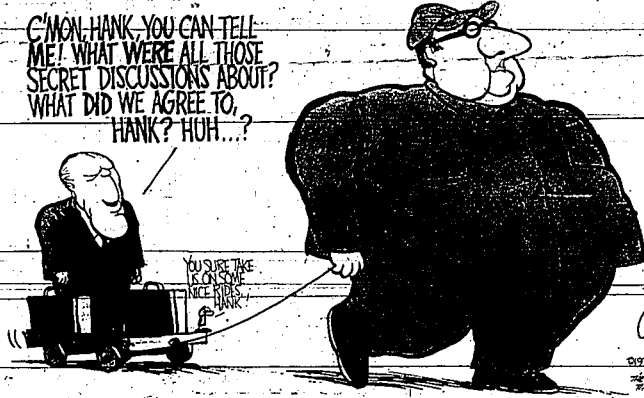

Conceptually, loopholes are similar to the private plots in the Soviet Union, providing incentives for people to put forth extra effort that would otherwise be discouraged by the high marginal tax rates. In the name of "equity," congressional liberals thus close off production incentives to the higher income classes, theoretically the most productive of all income classes.

What would be the effect on Soviet agriculture if the Kremlin look away the private plots without reducing the tax rate on the collectives?

These are the reasons President Ford must veto the tax bill, as he said he will, if it comes to him in the form in which it passed the House. Adding up the benefits of the cuts to the absence of a spending ceiling and the disincentives of the reform measures, the net effect of the legislation would be to damage the economy further.

It would make the national economy more like New York City's, more like Great Britain's and more like the Soviet Union's. In these terms, President Ford could successfully defend his veto with the public, if not on Capitol Hill, all the way to November.

SIMON, HANK, YOU CAN TELL ME! WHAT WERE ALL THOSE SECRET DISCUSSIONS ABOUT? WHAT DID WE AGREE TO, HANK? HUH...?

ANDREW TULLY

Another bird census taker, but from indoors

WASHINGTON — Something nice will get under way throughout the country Dec. 20. On that day, some 12,000 to 15,000 hardy souls will embark on the National Audubon Society's annual bird census, a project that will keep them out in the fresh air through New Year's Day.

This is the kind of operation I wish someone would call to the attention of those advocates of a far-out approach to our national problems who inveigh against the materialistic tone of the American society. It is evidence that America — usually pictured as manufacturing hangers-on or quarreling with shopkeepers — have a gentler side.

I confess at the outset that the mere thought of engaging in such a chilly venture as the bird census — and, though I confess, no to order up another flagon of hot buttered rum and turn the thermostat. Happily, the country is not entirely populated with such craven-idiot-by-the-fires.

The Audubon Society is delightfully undegastified in high-spirited ticks, but figures "delectable" say that last year more than 11,000 brave volunteers tramped fields and forests, counting and classifying our bird life to find out where various species were spending the winter. They counted an estimated more than 17 million feathered friends belonging to about 500 species as they trudged through snow, waded swamps, climbed mountains and scrambled through brush.

They also, I expect, collected the greatest collection of head colds west of the Siberian steppes.

This project impresses me. I am also warmed by the knowledge that a big percentage of the bird counters were business men and business women — not professional idealists. Those counters, who went out as families, undoubtedly included children who had been subjected to the diaper stage to a system of loving discipline which put gentle stress on values outside the realm of the television industry.

ANDREW TULLY

The argument could be made that as an indoors man I lack the credentials for moralizing. Not at all. It seems to me that a salute to the Audubon Society from one who admits its bird-counters are better people comes close to the ultimate tribute. Applause from the individual who regularly subjects himself to 10-mile hikes is merely predictable.

I like birds fine. Some of them steal cherries, but they look cute doing so. In their stead may not be recognizable to a city slicker, but I have yet to run across a bird singing a Beatles word, and that is good enough for me. In short, I stand foursquare in favor of the lark and all others of his kind on the wing.

Nevertheless, I can never be with those bird counters except in spirit. The prospect of spending "a minimum of seven hours in the field," and covering "a circular area 15 miles in diameter" in the dead of winter gives me cold feet. I have seen Eastern Swamplands and frigid Midwestern prairies. Neither is comfortable for a human being unless he is under a house.

But the counters are a harder breed, and far more rustworthy than I might be. Each counter is placed on his own property, not only the birders actually see and identify, and no one's word has yet been found perjured in the more than 50 years the project has survived. A bird watcher obviously would not think of spending the day in a pool hall and then blithely announcing that he had counted 143 robins and 23 godfrey-throated boobies.

These good people deserve medals and all the hot meals they can get. For my part, I will count the next bird I see — from my window, of course.

Hazards in fund cuts

They used to tell us that one of the reasons to do away with the House Committee on Internal Security was that the Senate had a perfectly good Committee on Internal Security of its own, so why the duplication?

After a good many years, the critics were that battle. And now, without anybody much really noticing, they may be about to win the battle to eliminate the last significant legislative watchdog over internal security, unless the full Senate wakes up.

At this writing, the budget of the Senate subcommittee has been cut in half, from $36,000 a month to less than $20,000, which is barely enough to pay the overhead, and not enough to permit it to hold its vital hearings. This economy was effected at a desultory meeting of the Senate on a sleepy Saturday in late July, with only a dozen members on the floor.

There are, here and there in America, citizens who are upset by the creeping indifference to the continuing and awesomely complex question of internal security. One of them wrote to one of the senators who had participated in the budget-slashing.

Now Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon is among the most conscientious men in the Senate. His instincts are adamantly civilized, whatever one feels about the nostrums that attract him. Out of his office went a letter to one correspondent disparaging the work of the Committee in language utterly unrelated to reality. The Senator's letter said that the Senate committee's work had reduced to the staff's "drawing [its] own salary."

The Senator, suggesting the Stokhanovite schedules of other senate committees between 1970 and 1975, drew an invidious comparison. "During this same period of time, which covers six years, this subcommittee held a total of only eight days of hearings." A little while later, another correspondent received from Senator Hatfield what had clearly now become a formal letter. It is necessary in the transmission of a congressional correspondence with, however, a gross alteration. The clause had now become, "this subcommittee held, a total of only eight public hearings on legislative matters..."

Now, the fact of the matter is, that Senator Hatfield is dreadfully misinformed. Since, in this case, one can simply eliminate the possibility that he is intentionally distorting the record, it must follow that he has received gross misinformation. During the last six fiscal years, the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security has held over 50 hearings, which would dispose of Version I letter.

As to Version II, we need to deal with the insinuated qualifier, "on legislative matters,"

That is best answered by looking at the mandate of the Internal Security Subcommittee. Indeed, by merely inspecting its full title. It is called "Subcommittee to Investigate the Administration of the Internal Security Act and other Internal Security Laws of the Committee on the Judiciary."

A Congress that has suddenly become so alert to investigating the conduct of the executive agencies should not find this the appropriate moment to be indifferent to the administration of its own laws. Let alone to the necessity of new laws. During the period in question, the Senate subcommittee conducted extensive investigations into — for example — the human cost of Communism in the Soviet Union, China, and Vietnam; an investigation of vital interest to everyone who wastes his heart and his mind wrestling with moral and geopolitical questions that tormented this nation.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

The committee examined rules of procedure and information for witnesses in respect of internal security, it revealed the legacy of the experiences of Alexander Orlov, examined Soviet disarmament propaganda, reported on the Weather Underground, went exhaustively into marijuana and hashish traffic in defiance of our laws, examined Soviet intelligence and security practices, reported on the long list of Fidel Castro's hemisphere subversion and broken pledges, and issued six studies and hearing records on the awful problems of terrorism and counter-terrorism.

The United States today is crushed by the dilemma brought to light by recent revelations involving the conduct of the FBI and the CIA. Both these agencies were set up by statute essentially for the purpose of guarding our internal security.

"We are friends of liberty everywhere in the world," John Quincy Adams wrote, "but custodians only of our own." It is hard to imagine a moment when we have needed more than we do today hard facts on the basis of which to adjust the scales. What a curious moment to emasculate the only committee of Congress exclusively devoted to such tasks. Friends of Senator Hatfield, from all sides of the political spectrum, would hope that he will reconsider, and are confident that he will reform himself.

Conferees agree on $2.3 billion NYC bailout

All fertilizers said plentiful

SPOKANE (UPI) — The president of the National Fertilizer Institute said Thursday all types of fertilizer are in plentiful supply this year in contrast to shortages of a year ago.

Ed Wheeler, Washington, D. C., said last year's fertilizer shortage, which threatened a loss of crop productivity in the Northwest, was caused by a jump in demand.

"We said farmers want 'full throttle' and fertilizer producers did not have the capability to keep up with demand.

But Wheeler said the fertilizer industry has since spent more than $1 billion on expansion of plants, as a result nitrogen and potash fertilizers are plentiful, and there is a sizable surplus of phosphate.

Wheeler was in Spokane to address the opening session of the Inland Empire Fertilizer Dealers Association.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Brushing aside suggestions for a token, symbolic cut, House-Senate conferees have agreed on a bill providing the full $2.3 billion loan New York City says it needs to stay solvent. Enactment is expected next week despite a last-ditch stand by opponents.

Sitting around a long, felt-covered table, senior members of the House and Senate appropriations committees toyed with the idea Thursday of cutting the appropriation just to demonstrate congressional distaste for helping cities that spend themselves into trouble.

House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., said a cut would show the committees were not rubber stamps.

"From a standpoint of imagery, it might be desirable," he said.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and other proponents talked him out of it. "If we shave it, I think we're asking for trouble," Proxmire said.

"I'm not going to be an obstructionist," Mahon said, relenting.

But Rep. Robert E. Bauman, R-Md., said when the matter reaches the House for final approval early next week, possibly Tuesday, he intends to try — one last time — to kill or reduce the aid program to keep New York City solvent.

Bauman said he would move to send the $10.3 billion catchall, end-of-year appropriation back to the conferees with instructions to cut the New York money. Despite the narrowness of the 213-203 vote by which the House authorized the loan last week, Bauman's effort was given little chance of success.

Meanwhile, in Albany, Gov. Hugh Carey, still worried about possible default on Monday of the state's Housing Finance Agency, announced the layoff of 2,000 state workers as an economy measure.

Carey said bankers sought a commitment from the legislature to increase state taxes by $50 million before agreeing to loans that would prevent the default.

In New York City, several hundred holders of city notes frozen by a two-year moratorium showed up in the Municipal Building as the notes matured Thursday.

Oil permits skipped

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Oil companies, worried by unsettled legal and political battles, have taken only a small fraction of federal effort to drill for oil off the coast of Southern California.

Offshore drilling leases, offered for sale Thursday drew few bids and little money.

The sale may net the government $438 million — less than a third of the $1.5 billion the Interior Department had expected. Only 70 of the 231 tracts for sale drew any bids at all.

By contrast, a sale of leases off Louisiana in March, 1974 brought $2.1 billion. Eight years ago — when the price of oil was only a quarter what it is today — the same companies paid $602 million for leases off Santa Barbara. Just north of there.

Oil companies hung back, partly for technical reasons, but also apparently because of worries they would be gambling millions of dollars. Whether they could produce and sell it — even if they found any — depends on the outcome of a battle between the federal government's drive for energy independence, and determined opposition to offshore drilling from local governments and ecology groups.

A lawsuit by the state of California and 14 coastal cities and counties to block the drilling is pending in Washington.

Patty prompted by 'fear'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst carried an automatic rifle as part of a Symbionese Liberation Army bank robbery team because she feared for her life, a defense lawyer said Thursday.

F. Lee Bailey explained his strategy for next month's trial to U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter this way: "Putting it simply, it amounts to the defense that 'Somebody put a gun at my head and I did what they told me.'"

Carter had called the hearing to listen to arguments on pretrial motions by the defense and prosecution. The U.S. Attorney's office had sought to have the defense disclose whether it would use diminished mental capacity as a strategy.

Bailey said the defense would not claim Miss Hearst was insane at the time of the April 15, 1974, robbery but might bring up brainwashing. He added he would focus on "physical coercion and fear of threats of death."

Miss Hearst, 21, daughter of San Francisco Examiner President Randolph S. Hearst, was kidnapped by the SLA on Feb. 14, 1974. She was arrested here on Sept. 18 on federal charges of bank robbery and using a weapon in commission of a felony. She faces numerous state charges in Los Angeles County.

Miss Hearst was taken to the hearing from her cell at the San Mateo County Jail in nearby Redwood City and upon arrival in the courtroom smiled frequently at her parents and her sister, Anne. She also had an opportunity to chat with them before the start of proceedings.

Bailey said he would raise the brainwash issue "should there be evidence of apparent acquiescence" introduced by the prosecution at the Jan. 26 trial.

Carter said he agreed with Bailey that the trial would turn on the degree of impairment of Miss Hearst's memory.

"I have no quarrel with your statement that there is some doubt, but I know of no attorney, including myself, who hasn't had to deal with this kind of problem with some additional evidence to change his earlier ruling that she was competent to stand trial."

He also noted that he saw no evidence to change his earlier ruling that she was competent to stand trial.

There was no mention of a gag order requested by U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr.

"It's there. If things heat up, but we're not pressing for it," he said later.

Tuckered Santa's helpers

HOLLYWOOD — Santa's working his reindeer too hard. That was the complaint of a couple of "hacking" deer named Redd Fox, left, and Bob Hope, as they prepare for "Bob Hope's Christmas Party". In the show, which will be aired on NBC Sunday, they will be joined by Angie Dickinson and Donny and Marie Osmond. (UPI)

Paralyzed, but richer

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal court jury awarded $5.3 million to Greg Sneed of Miami today. Greg had been paralyzed while playing high school football.

Sneed's sister, Mrs. Susan Daves, reacted to the news by replying, "Fantastic."

Sneed could not answer the phone by himself, but had to have the receiver put to his ear by his mother.

He smiled at the news. See Sports Section

Friends assist stricken family

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Billie Ritchie is broke out of work and almost out of hope. Her two daughters suffer from a rare incurable skin disease which can make exposure to sunlight fatal.

Because of the disease, xeroderma pigmentosa, sunlight-caused freckles may turn into skin cancer on Feb. 12 and Lisa, 10. Doctors say the life expectancy of persons with the disease usually ranges from 8 to 15 years.

time and want to help, but this is a need I can rotate to specifically.

Some residents say they'll provide special glasses the girls need, and a church has offered to help fly them to the Oklahoma City Medical Center, which is treating them free because they cannot get insurance.

Mrs. Ritchie was fired from her job in October because she had to stay home too often to care for her children. Since then, they have lived on $128 in food stamps and have been unable to pay bills.

"I dread the thought of going on welfare, but I am truly at a loss for what to do next. I am trying to find work — I can do almost anything," said Mrs. Ritchie, who is divorced from the girls' father.

"But let's face it, who would hire me fulltime knowing I will need to be off so much to care for my girls."

Since the disease was diagnosed seven years ago, Terri has had between 200 and 300 skin tumors removed, including three major operations in the past two months, said Dr. Pete Dossier, one of several doctors following the case. Lisa also has undergone extensive treatment, but she had two years less exposure to the sun than her older sister.

"Skin cancer is 100 per cent curable, but the problem with xeroderma pigmentosa is that its victims get so many tumors so fast that just one overlooked lesion can become fatal quickly if it spreads to the brain or blood stream," Dossier said.

"The only form of treatment we know of is absolute avoidance of sunlight and frequent operations to remove the skin tumors as they crop up."

'Restrain TV sex, violence'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — CBS television president Arthur Taylor urged broadcasters Thursday to accept restrictions on sex and violence in TV plays for their audience.

Taylor, regarded as one of the prime movers behind the controversial "family hour" concept, spoke to the Hollywood Radio and Television Society.

"Only at its greatest peril can the industry ignore public complaints of sex and violence on television," he said, and broadcasters must "impose self-restraint and self-regulation" in their own "dignity and self-interest." Such restrictions do not stifle creativity, he argued, but deprive writers of the easy plot solutions and attention-getting elements of violence, making nonviolent shows more creative.

But things are slightly more hopeful for Mrs. Ritchie today. Since her plight was publicized, she has received numerous offers of clothing, food and assistance.

"I work for a drapery company and since the girls don't have special blinds on their windows needed to block out the sun, my sister and I would like to provide them," said Gary Vowell. "I read about your problem in need all the

Quiet now, dear...

NEW YORK CITY (UPI) — Oh, the happy life of a politician's wife. Ella Udall, the wife of Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, looks like she is being silenced by her husband to prevent her from giving away some political secret. Udall is one of several candidates seeking the Democratic Presidential nomination. The reason for the hand-mouth routine was not immediately apparent, as all the candidate was doing seemed to be pointing to a map of Queens, N. Y. Mrs. Udall's feelings on the subject were unknown. Her eyes tell a tale, however. (UPI)

Lawmen press manhunt

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Local and federal authorities joined forces today in an intensive nationwide hunt for three Philadelphia men in connection with the knife slaying of a millionaire newspaper heir, John S. Knight III.

Municipal Court Judge Edward T. Quinn issued murder warrants Thursday night for Salvatore Soli, about 38, Steven Maleno, 25, and Isaiyah "Felix" Volendek, 29, all of South Philadelphia.

Chief of Detectives Joseph Golden said the warrants charged the trio with murder, robbery, attempted murder, aggravated assault and criminal conspiracy.

An FBI spokesman said federal warrants for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution would be issued today.

The identities of the suspects were based on "information obtained during the course of the investigation," Golden said.

Asked where the search would take authorities, Golden replied, "Presently we don't know their whereabouts."

Women's rights, yes! Women's groups, no!

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women's rights are more popular among Americans than women's rights groups, a Harris survey reported.

A poll of 1,519 men and women showed a 63-25 per cent majority favored "efforts to strengthen and change women's status in society." Only 16 per cent felt that most pro-women's rights groups are "helping the cause of women," the poll reported Thursday.

A Harris survey in 1970 revealed only 42 per cent of those questioned favored strengthened women's status while 41 per cent opposed it.

The most recent survey indicated 65 per cent of all women polled endorse most efforts to strengthen women's rights, but only 17 per cent felt feminist organizations are getting the job done.

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho endowment funds invested in municipal bonds are secure despite the problems of New York City, but the state is not making any more such investments, the Endowment Fund Investment Board was told Thursday.

William Hepp, investment officer for the board, in answer to questions from the board, said there is $1.76 billion invested in municipal bonds by the Public School Endowment Fund and $358,700 by the state funds.

He said they are investments in Idaho school districts and counties and most are general obligation bonds.

Gregg Wharry, who was elected chairman of the board Thursday, said the bonds "are not marketable" but "are about as good as you can get."

"They are dollar good, yes sir," Wharry said.

However, Wharry said the board is not buying municipal bonds now because they are not considered a good investment for the board.

Board members discussed past purchases of municipal bonds, calling them "a public service" for the communities of Idaho that could not sell the bonds elsewhere.

Wharry said the board is not making the purchases any more because the public service was being performed at the expense of the recipients of investment income from the state endowment funds.

Wharry was elected chairman of the board over dissenting votes by Finance Commissioner Tom McEldowney and board member Charley Boardman. McEldowney said he opposed Wharry's election to that position because of an investigation by the Idaho Attorney General into possible conflict of interest by Wharry.

McEldowney said having Wharry as chairman while the investigation is ongoing could be detrimental to the board.

With tension building and subsiding between McEldowney and Wharry during the meeting, McEldowney walked out when Wharry called for an executive session.

Wharry wanted a closed meeting to go over a discussion he had held with an attorney concerning a suit filed against the board by State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon over control of the Public School Endowment Fund.

McEldowney asked to be excused from the meeting saying it was a public meeting and he did not feel there was anything that had to be discussed that could not be discussed in the presence of the news media.

In other business, the board rejected a request from the Bank of Idaho main office in Boise to accept interest-only payment during the period November to May from a construction company holding a Small Business Administration loan.

Naked man - fatally shot

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — A delicatessen owner was charged with murder for fatally shooting a Camden man who ran naked into his store Thursday, beat four customers and then assaulted the store owner, police reported.

Police said Sam Starling, 28, died of gunshot wounds in the chest and abdomen at West Jersey Hospital around 5:30 p.m., 1 1/2 hours after the incident at Tony's Delicatessen.

A spokesman for the Camden County Prosecutor's Office said that according to witnesses, Starling ran into the store without any clothing on and began beating four customers at about 3:45 p.m.

Moynihan labels UN as 'absurd'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Daniel Patrick Moynihan, calling the U.N. General Assembly "a theater of the absurd," says he is beginning to feel that contempt for the world body is "increasingly deserved."

Moynihan, a frequent critic of the United Nations, made the remarks Thursday night in a speech opposing a report by the U.N. Decolonization Committee. The report charged the United States maintained Virgin Island bases as a threat against Caribbean and Latin American countries. It also charged the United States supplied "massive" military aid to South Africa and Rhodesia's white-minority regime through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. "These are lies...lies," Moynihan said in an emotion-choked voice.

Despite his objections, the assembly approved the report by a vote of 108-3 with 15 abstentions. Nicaragua and Israel joined the United States in opposition. "The General Assembly has become a theater of the absurd," Moynihan said. "We pretend seriousness to an audience that realizes that it is all pretense."

"I begin to feel that the world's increasing contempt is increasingly deserved," he said. "I begin to feel that the world's increasing contempt is increasingly deserved."

Hijacked train 'boobytrapped'

BEILEN, The Netherlands (UPI) — Fanatical South Moluccan gunmen were reported today to have boobytrapped their hijacked train with explosives in a bid to keep Dutch marines from storming the stronghold and freeing their 26 hostages.

The Bible-carrying gunmen, who prayed and wept as they killed three cops in the siege, set the train and 72 hostages 11 days ago. They are battling to set up a republic in their Spice Islands homeland in the Pacific that is now ruled by Indonesia.

A second band of South Moluccans is holding 25 hostages in the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam.

Dutch newspapers reported that one of the gunmen who surrendered when he wounded himself and two hostages in an explosion on the train told police the South Moluccans had rigged the train with bombs set to explode if any attempt is made to storm the train.

Hostages in good condition

LONDON (UPI) — Four Irish Republican Army gunmen told police today the middle-aged couple they have held hostage for six days were in good condition.

It was the first word in four days on the condition of the hostages, John Matthews, 51, and his 53-year-old wife Sheila, who have been held since Saturday in their downtown London apartment. Using a loudspeaker dangling on a cord outside the second-story apartment window, police held a strained, 22-minute conversation with the gunmen, who are wanted for a wave of London bombings.

The four IRA gunmen refused to negotiate for the hostages' release and would not allow Mrs. Matthews to talk to a relative who stood with police surrounding the building. "It would upset her too much," one IRA man shouted to police. Thirty feet away from the Balcombe St. apartment, police set up a tall plastic screen to block the gunmen's view and prevent sniping at police.

British hospital crisis settled

LONDON (UPI) — Hospital administrators today agreed to end a month-long work slowdown that has thrown Britain's health service into the worst crisis of its 27-year history.

A spokesman for the Interns said an undisclosed settlement package would be submitted to intern associations Tuesday with recommendations it be accepted. They said normal work routines could begin as early as Wednesday.

Earlier this week a 5-month-old baby died in an ambulance when two hospitals told the ambulance driver they could not accept the child for treatment.

The Interns have been working strict 40-hour weeks in a dispute over payment for overtime. The action closed nearly 20 hospitals and provided emergency treatment only at scores of others.

Interns routinely work 80 hours a week or more and said that under the government's inflation-fighting pay ceiling they were getting 22 cents an hour or less for their extra work.

Man-eating cat killed

BUENAVENTURA, Colombia (UPI) — Police today reported a ranch hand killed a six-foot, 200-pound jaguar that had devoured an entire seven-member family, 50 cattle and several dogs and cats.

Police in Cisneros on Colombia's Pacific coast said over the past two years the jaguar had killed "the Martinez family," consisting of seven persons as well as the cows and domestic animals.

Jose Antonio Torres, a ranch employe, stalked the jaguar earlier this week and killed him with a single shot from a 12-gauge shotgun, authorities said.

"The body of the jaguar was taken to a taxidermist" for preservation in a museum.

Lebanese leftists surround hotel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Leftist troops attacking from three sides swamped desperate right-wing forces in the Holiday Inn today, setting the building ablaze and blocking the only escape route from the last Christian stronghold.

Leftists, crunched in the besieged Holiday Inn, leftists dug in behind sandbagged positions and fired thousands of rounds of rifle and machinegun bullets at the right-wing defenders. The Christian forces returned the fire, but Moslems lodged in nearby buildings battled sear. The fighting broke out despite the start of a Muslim holiday, and the announcement of the 15th cease-fire since September. In the streets around the besieged Holiday Inn, leftists dug in behind sandbagged positions and fired thousands of rounds of rifle and machinegun bullets at the right-wing defenders.

Program at academy

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Christian Academy at 798 Eastland Drive North will present a Christmas program tonight at 7:30. Joseph Wallis, principal, reports that the theme of this year's program is "Christmas Around the World." It includes Christmas greetings from many lands, singing of carols and a play recounting the eve of Christ's birth. Wallis says all are cordially invited to share with the parents and friends of the Twin Falls Christian Academy a unique demonstration of Christian education in action. Nursery facilities will be provided.

Concert scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Bob Clay and the Jubilaires will present a concert of gospel music at the United Brethren Church in Christ. The concert will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and is open to all interested persons. The church is located at the corner of Third Avenue and Third Street East behind the city hall.

Church goes up

HEAVY beams will form the supports for ceiling and roofing of the new sanctuary of the First Assembly of God Church at Shoup and North Locust Streets. The new building, adjoining the existing church is expected to be completed by early summer. The old structure will be used for Sunday School and other activities. Worship services will be in the new building.

Lecture tonight

SHOSHONE — Second in the series of "Know Your Religion" lectures for the Twin Falls area will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Twin Falls West Stake. LaMar C. Berrett, professor of church history and doctrine from Brigham Young University, will be speaking on "The Mormon Interest in Israel."

Session slated

HAZELTON — A group session to hear the doctrines of Col. Robert Thieme, pastor of Berechah Church in Houston, Tex., is scheduled at 10 a.m. Sunday. Those interested in the fellowship may call 826-596 for more information. Col. Thieme teaches Bible doctrine verse by verse from the original languages. His theology is conservative and oriented strictly to grace, according to church officials.

Circle meets

FILER — The Judson Circle of the First Baptist Church held a Christmas party in the Memorial Fellowship Hall of the church with husbands as guests. A gift exchange was held. Hostesses were Mrs. Lauren Butts, Mrs. Diane Schroeder and Mrs. Keith Peterson.

Clover women hear story

FILER — Mrs. Edgar Meyer presented the topic study to Clover Lutheran Women's Missionary League members at the December meeting in the Clover school. The group sang "Joy to the World" and Mrs. Meyer presented a prayer. The Christmas story from the Book of Luke was read in union. Mrs. Andrew Loesel and Mrs. Ivan Schroeder were welcomed as new members. The group was urged to save all commemorative stamps for missions and also to save regular postage stamps for hospital epileptics. The committee for the Christmas party were announced: Mrs. Lyle Lieberman, Mrs. Dennis Lutz, Mrs. Eugene Schroeder, Mrs. Gary Schroeder, Mrs. Elmer Aufderheide and Mrs. Raymond Schmidt will be in charge of treats; Mrs. David Lutz, Mrs. Clyde Schroeder, Mrs. Ray Ohlenschlaer, Mrs. Vernon Lassen, Mrs. Larry Wolter and Mrs. Dorothy Fischer. Christmas trees: Mrs. Wayne Jagels, Mrs. Donald Martens, Mrs. Ed Lierman, Mrs. John Lutz, Mrs. Kenneth Reinke, Mrs. Richard Nystrom, Mrs. Edgar Meyer and Mrs. Arthur Kaster, juteben-and-dining room committee. Mrs. Harold Ginther and Mrs. Arthur Kaster were appointed to audit the treasurer's books. Special projects group reported they will send their offering to the "This is the Life" program which is on KMYT every Sunday morning. Officers elected for the coming year include Mrs. Lyle Lierman, president; Mrs. David Lutz, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Schroeder, secretary, and Mrs. Wayne Jagels, treasurer. Rev. Andrew Loesel installed the new officers. Mrs. Wayne Jagels was in charge of the closing devotional service. Several Christmas carols were sung and the meaning of the colors and symbols of the "Christmomen" were explained. Mrs. Gene Schroeder and Mrs. Wayne Schroeder were hostesses. Mrs. Gerald Reinke and Mrs. Martin Roesler were members-at-large.

Wendell church anniversary set

WENDELL — Christ Lutheran Church will celebrate its 25th anniversary Sunday. Guest speaker will be Rev. Gilbert C. Moore of Los Angeles, the first full-time pastor of the parish. The Wendell church was Moore's first parish after graduation from seminary. During its 25 years of existence, the church has been served by five pastors and is presently served by a vacancy pastor, Richard Luttrell, D. C. E. of Clover Lutheran School.

Program slated

TWIN FALLS — The Free Will Baptist Church will hold a Christmas program early this year. The event will be held this Sunday at 8 p.m. in the church. It is open to the public. Included will be performances by the small children and singing of Christmas songs, followed by the Christmas play, "No Plow For His Head." This will be presented by youth classes of the church.

Party tonight

FILER — The Young Adults of the First Baptist Church will hold a Christmas party today at 7 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Knutsen. A potluck dinner will be served. There will be nursery service at the church for young couples with small children.

Sermon listed

TWIN FALLS — "God, the Preserver of Man" will be presented Sunday as the lesson sermon at the Christian Science Church. Services are at 11 a.m. Sunday and 8 p.m. Wednesday at 160 Ninth Ave. E. Sunday school is at 9:45. The Reading Room at 115 Second St. W. is open Monday through Saturday from 1-4 p.m.

KH dinner set

GLENNES FERRY — The United Methodist church will have a potluck dinner in Greer Hall Sunday. There will be a meeting of the board of trustees after the dinner, and members will have a "Hanging of the Greens" in preparation for Christmas. The December meeting of the United Methodist Women will be at 1 p.m. Dec. 17 in Greer Hall, with a salad luncheon. This will be a regular meeting with a program and business meeting.

Film at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The First Baptist Church, Adams and Birch streets, will show the film, "A Thief in the Night," at 7:30 Sunday evening. Church officials say the film is highly rated as a dramatic and penetrating contemporary life situation depicting the Christian faith. The public is invited and a freewill offering will be taken.

Party set Wednesday

SHOSHONE — The annual ward Christmas party for the Shoshone LDS church will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the church recreation hall. There will be a special program and Santa will make a visit with treats for the children. There will be no Primary or youth meetings on Dec. 24.

Cantata set

TWIN FALLS — A Christmas Cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" by John Peterson, will be presented Sunday at the 11 o'clock service of worship by the Choral Choir of the First United Presbyterian Church. Featured soloists will be Mrs. David Mead, Dr. Richard Snider and Mr. John Bennett. Mrs. Hugh Phillips will narrate the cantata. Accompanists will be Mrs. Charles Allen at the organ and Mrs. Charles Albright at the piano. Directing the cantata is A. G. Gerdes. The 9:30 a.m. Discussion group will meet in the Friends Lounge as usual. The topic will be the Christmas Story. The Mariner's Group will meet Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Upton, 1775 Princeton Drive.

2 services resume

TWIN FALLS — The First Baptist Church resumes its two-service schedule on Sunday at 8:30 and 11 o'clock. The guest speaker will be Alan Pierce, Castleford, with Stanley Walters as worship leader. A special business meeting will be conducted during both services concerning the calling of a minister. Special music will be a solo by Mrs. Callie Smith during the 8:30 service and a Senior Choir anthem, "Gentle Mary" in the 11 o'clock service.

Moslems celebrate

Chicago Daily News AMMAN, Jordan — Government operations in much of the Middle East came to a halt Thursday as Moslems throughout the world began celebrating the biggest holiday of the Islamic year. For weeks now, packed buses jammed with weary religious Turks have dribbled through Syria and Jordan en route to Mecca in Saudi Arabia, the holiest city of Islam. In Damascus, the exhausted Turks were everywhere: squatting on main streets eating a makeshift banana lunch, pouring water on dusty feet and lining up for hours at the Jordanian embassy to get visas to pass through Jordan.

Progressive dinner held

FILER — The Challenge Class of the First Baptist Church held a progressive dinner, beginning with juice at the home of Mrs. Frances Wells. Mrs. Pearl Neisen served canapes and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Melon served the salad. The main course was served at the church with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Peterson as hosts. Dessert at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoag was followed by coffee and devotions at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Roy Watson.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune, N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Cathy is my best friend. We are both 16. Cathy spends a lot of time at my house. When my father is home, he has the habit of kissing Cathy on the lips whenever she arrives and goes home. Do you consider this proper behavior for a 38-year-old man?

Also, my father is always trying to get Cathy to sit on his lap. Sometimes she does and sometimes she doesn't. I don't know if this is embarrassing to Cathy or not. As a daughter, it doesn't bother me, but I sure wouldn't want Cathy's father kissing me on the lip or asking me to come sit on his lap.

What is your opinion?
DADDY'S DAUGHTER

Dad too friendly

DEAR DAUGHTER: I think Cathy is a little too OLD to be kissed on the lips by your father. And your father is much too YOUNG to have a 16-year-old girl on his lap.

DEAR ABBY: Allen and I have been married for four years and have a darling baby girl who is nearly 3. Allen is an excellent provider, and I am content to stay at home and be a full-time wife and mother.

My problem? I feel that woman was put on earth to serve her husband and bear children, but every time I mention having another baby, Allen explodes. He says, "One is enough and that is final!"

Abby, I've always wanted six children, but I'd settle for just one more. To me a large family means everything. I have literally begged him, but he refuses to hear of it. In fact, he says if I get pregnant, he will divorce me!

I went on the Pill after our first child was born, but I stopped three weeks ago. Allen doesn't know I stopped, and he'd hit the roof if he did.

If I do get pregnant, what is my next move? I hate being underhanded, but it was my last resort.

Please help me.
WANTS ANOTHER BABY.

DEAR WANTS: You say a large family means "everything" to you and that your husband has threatened to divorce you if you become pregnant! To compound the problem, you're playing Vaticana roulette. You had better jeu with Allen. You just might be married to the wrong man.

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a girl who refers to herself as a "fermidat." I consider myself a gentleman and not the "bear-bitch" she calls me.

Here's my problem: Nancy objects to my doing things like opening doors for her, helping her with her coat and standing up when she enters the room.

These old-fashioned courtesies have become second nature to me, and I feel foolish when Nancy refuses to allow me to perform them.

This is the only thing that bothers me in our otherwise perfect relationship.

I hope you print this, because Nancy reads your column, and I want her to see it.

DEAR "S": All right, so assuming she sees it—that still doesn't solve your problem. Nancy says these old-fashioned courtesies have got to go, and you feel foolish capitulating. If you want your "otherwise perfect relationship" to get off the ground, either start treating Nancy like one of the boys or find a girl who doesn't regard the old-fashioned courtesies as chauvinistic.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The whole subject of part score bidding has been given very sketchy treatment by writers. There is a good reason for this. Each part score creates its own special problems.

There is one area of general agreement about two bids with part scores. It is that the strong suit two bid is a one-round force even though it is a bid of game.

With 60 on score, North elected to open two hearts. South responded two notrump and North decided to pass. His reason was that his hand should take eight tricks and might not take nine.

His idea turned out to be a good one. The defense started with five spade tricks. South discarded the six of diamonds and Jack of clubs from dummy and took the final eight.

If North had played at three hearts he might have found some way to make the contract but it would require considerable help from his opponents and we have found opposite ends don't always cooperate.

Ask the Jacobys

A Mississippi reader wants to know the correct rebid with:

▲ AKxxx AQxxx xxx x after you have opened one spade and partner has raised you to two spades.

The answer is that you bid four spades. You should want to be in game. Why not just bid four hearts?

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Gift exchange held

TWIN FALLS — A Christmas party and gift exchange were held by members of the Club-Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ira Hoffman.

Mrs. Leland Britze was assistant hostess.

The club collect was read by Inez Boyd. Each member contributed to the Christmas program.

Birthday and Christmas cards were sent to absent members, and persons at the Magic-Valley Living Center.

The white elephant was won by Jewel Von Ins. Grace O'Harrow gave the closing prayer.

The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Nesbitt with Eva Olson assisting.

Soroptimists hold yule dinner party

TWIN FALLS — Members of Soroptimist International of Twin Falls and their guests met at the home of the president, Shirley Easton, Tuesday evening for a Christmas potluck dinner and party.

The tables were decorated with Christmas centerpieces and gifts were placed under a lighted Christmas tree. After the dinner the president took up a collection to help with a Christmas basket for a needy family. She also urged members to furnish food and help with the baked goods sale to be held today at J.C. Penney Store.

The group sang a number of Christmas carols, accompanied by Teala Percin at the piano. A gift exchange and a drawing for a special gift closed the meeting.

Women of Moose set dinner fete

TWIN FALLS — The Local Order of Moose and Women of the Moose will hold a treat-making day for the children's Christmas party on Thursday at a Moose home.

The Christmas dinner-dance will be held Dec. 20 with dinner at 5 p.m. and dancing at 6 p.m. The children's Christmas party will be held Dec. 21 with a potluck dinner at 5 p.m.

A hayride and Christmas caroling for teenagers is set for Dec. 22 at 6:30 p.m. Children under 9 must be accompanied by parents. Retirements will be served after caroling.

Bridge costly

KING HILL — Engineers have estimated it will cost $35,000 to put the Snake River Bridge near King Hill in good shape.

Frank Jones, master of the King Hill Grange, told Grangers at a meeting Tuesday that Boise engineers had made the $35,000 estimate while another group of engineers said the bridge could be repaired for $5,500 well enough to carry a 10-ton load. The bridge would carry a 20-ton load before it was damaged recently by a vehicle accident.

During the meeting, members voted to donate $30 for the annual project of outfitting a child at the State School for the Deaf and Blind at Gooding. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kenyon volunteered to visit a 9-year-old boy at the school and to purchase clothing and other articles for him.

Dagmar Vogel, an exchange student from Eldingen, Germany, spoke to the group about her homeland and schools.

The annual Christmas party will be at 8 p.m. Thursday with a visit of Santa and a gift exchange. Each Grange woman is to contribute two dozen Christmas cookies.

DAVID C. SKINNER

Eagle Scout award given

TWIN FALLS — David C. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Skinner Jr., Twin Falls, received his eagle scout award during court-of-honor ceremonies at the First Baptist Church.

He is a member of Troop 69, sponsored by the First Baptist Church and is a sophomore in the Twin Falls High School. David is active in softball, basketball, football and track.

Harbor House plans party

TWIN FALLS — Board members of Harbor House, Twin Falls, met Tuesday to discuss holiday plans and set Dec. 16 as the date for a party for children, house parents and board members and their families.

The house parents, Wayne and Joan Hill, reported on holiday decorations being made by the children, but said they need a Christmas tree and lights.

Mrs. Stone reported the Girl Scouts visited Harbor House, bringing gifts of food items and the Twelfth Century visited and distributed canned food. There are currently six children in the home, she said, and have decided their Christmas gift exchange will include a maximum of $1.50 per gift and will also include "giving of themselves" such as providing personal services for each other at Christmas time.

It was announced new brochures on Harbor House will soon be available for interested persons.

Wayne Hill announced the state meeting of the Idaho Association of Residential Group Homes will be held in Twin Falls in February with a visit to Harbor House. Hill is secretary of the state organization.

Professors say cyclamate may not be cancer-causing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The once-popular artificial sweetener cyclamate may not cause cancer after all, according to the preliminary findings of a government-sponsored panel of university professors.

Three of five committee members concluded Wednesday

there is no evidence to show the sugar substitute is capable of causing cancer, as was suspected when cyclamates might be a very weak cancer causer. But committee chairman Arnold L. Brown said: "We are confident that this is not a strong carcinogen—cancer causer like tobacco smoking."

The panel, created by the National Cancer Institute at the request of the Food and Drug Administration, emphasized its findings were preliminary. But Brown, professor of pathology at Mayo Medical School, Rochester, Minn., said the final report expected Jan. 13 will represent Wednesday's conclusions.

"I think in general all of us are convinced that cyclamate can't be incriminated as a strong carcinogen," Brown said in an interview after the panel concluded a five-hour meeting at the National Institutes of Health. "No way. But we still have a little reservation in the back of our minds that it might be a very weak one."

Kennel permit denied

HEYBURN — A request for a commercial kennel permit was turned down Wednesday night in Heyburn.

The request was denied because the location is in a residential zone.

Mayor Harold Hurst instructed City Attorney Tom Church to rewrite the city's present ordinance to clarify requirements for commercial kennels.

Heyburn's city ordinances will not allow more than two dogs without a kennel license.

Church reported that a non-commercial kennel permit can be obtained if 75 per cent of the residents within 300 feet of the property signed a petition agreeing to it.

He suggested that a similar requirement probably was intended on commercial permits, but the ordinance is not clear. In any case, he said, the request is in residential zoning and should be denied.

Ad prompts pranksters

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI) — "Help! Desperately need financial aid. Hard working gal all alone in 50s 'phased out.' Lost everything."

So read the small classified ad in Harper's Magazine placed by Lisa Hale, who says her husband left her three years ago, she lost her job and her three dogs died.

But responses have not brought sunshine to her life.

"One proposal, two convicts who are lonely, one prayer, two $1 bills and five chain letters and a prank check signed, 'Nixon,'" she lamented.

your health

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give any advice to an insomniac, or a partial one, who invariably can drop off to sleep practically immediately upon going to bed, but awakens two to five hours later, unable to return to sleep?

I have had an examination recently and am in good health. This question boils down to this: how can a person learn to return to sleep? — L.R.,

You have labeled yourself an insomniac, or a partial one, at least. Are you? Most people sleep more than they think they do, and often people who think they are not getting sufficient sleep are getting about what they require. I recall instances where hospital patients have complained to me during rounds of not getting a wink the night before. In most cases nurses reported the patient "slept like a log."

Insomnia can occur for both psychological and physical reasons. Psychological factors include tension, worry, anxiety, sometimes a rebellion against sleep itself. Physical reasons can include discomfort (warm rooms, poor mattresses, etc.), joint or muscle discomfort, or difficulty in breathing.

Some insomniacs have been found to have a drop of blood sugar during the night, creating restlessness and hunger. A small protein snack before retiring can correct this.

You don't tell me your age. Older people require less sleep depending upon the degree of daytime activity. Perhaps a walk in the evening or some exercises would help, and there is always the warm glass of milk — a toddy, even. An avoid caffeine products in the evening meal or before retiring. An aspirin or two with a glass of milk is wonderfully effective in some cases.

AFS workers

TWO CANDIDATES for American Field Service assignments abroad, Janet Burkhardt and Pat Donnelly, lend a hand in the gift wrap department of the Idaho Department Store. Gifts wrapped Saturday will require a 25 cent donation to the AFS program to help defray costs of sending the two abroad.

Insomnia discussed

There is a tendency in this pill-popping society to resort to drugs. Avoid this. You can quickly find yourself on a seesaw involving the need for pills to correct yourself... to pop you up in the morning.

I think we all have little valleys of insomnia in our lives. With some of us it can become an obsession that we take to bed with us. I've found the ultimate weapon against garden variety sleeplessness to be a book. Some recommend a dull book, the duller the better. I would prefer a good, engrossing book, one you don't want to put down.

Strangely, a half hour of concentration on a good yard will find the eyelids dropping — and there you go, into the arms of Morpheus.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause the permanent teeth to grow in real late? Two of my teeth in front didn't grow in until I was 21 years old. — Mrs. A.W.

Deciduous or baby teeth begin to erupt by about the sixth month. The permanent teeth begin to replace them approximately between the sixth and 13th years. These normally grow into the spaces left by the baby teeth, but there are factors that can delay this process. The opening may not have been large enough to allow easy emergence.

There may also be crowding of the frontal teeth. Thumbing can alter the position of the teeth. If the other permanent teeth appeared on schedule, it is most likely some mechanical factor involved.

Your dentist can give you other clues about this, from the position of your "late bloomers."

CONFIDENTIAL NOTE — To the young woman who was sexually assaulted: You should be examined, and you should have reported the incident to the police. Your information might well lead to the apprehension of this attacker. I understand that most rapists are chronic offenders, and bits of information accumulating from the victims often can lead to apprehension. The medical examination would be a precaution against venereal disease. Both the doctor and the police officials would handle this matter in the utmost confidentiality. To relieve your mind, at least have this done.

Typical of what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure — Hypertension" by Dr. Thosteson. Write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Christmas wrapping funds AFS program

TWIN FALLS — Holiday giftwrapping, usually a free service at the Idaho Department Store, will cost 25 cents Saturday — but it is for a good cause.

John Massey, manager of the store, has donated the gift wrap service to the American Field Service student-exchange program Saturday and will ask customers to donate 25 cents per package to help the student program.

This year, the AFS hopes to send two students abroad. Janet Burkhardt and Pat Donnelly are candidates for assignments in foreign countries. Janet hopes to spend the entire school year next fall in a foreign country and Pat hopes to go to a foreign country for a three month period this summer.

If both are accepted by AFS, the organization will help defray their expenses. The Saturday gift wrap will help raise funds toward this goal. A gift of $200 was presented by the Twin Falls Bicentennial Committee for assistance the American Field Service provided during the Danish Boy's Choir concert here.

There is a tendency in this pill-popping society to resort to drugs. Avoid this. You can quickly find yourself on a seesaw involving the need for pills to correct yourself... to pop you up in the morning.

I think we all have little valleys of insomnia in our lives. With some of us it can become an obsession that we take to bed with us. I've found the ultimate weapon against garden variety sleeplessness to be a book. Some recommend a dull book, the duller the better. I would prefer a good, engrossing book, one you don't want to put down.

Strangely, a half hour of concentration on a good yard will find the eyelids dropping — and there you go, into the arms of Morpheus.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause the permanent teeth to grow in real late? Two of my teeth in front didn't grow in until I was 21 years old. — Mrs. A.W.

Deciduous or baby teeth begin to erupt by about the sixth month. The permanent teeth begin to replace them approximately between the sixth and 13th years. These normally grow into the spaces left by the baby teeth, but there are factors that can delay this process. The opening may not have been large enough to allow easy emergence.

There may also be crowding of the frontal teeth. Thumbing can alter the position of the teeth. If the other permanent teeth appeared on schedule, it is most likely some mechanical factor involved.

Your dentist can give you other clues about this, from the position of your "late bloomers."

CONFIDENTIAL NOTE — To the young woman who was sexually assaulted: You should be examined, and you should have reported the incident to the police. Your information might well lead to the apprehension of this attacker. I understand that most rapists are chronic offenders, and bits of information accumulating from the victims often can lead to apprehension. The medical examination would be a precaution against venereal disease. Both the doctor and the police officials would handle this matter in the utmost confidentiality. To relieve your mind, at least have this done.

McGovern reaffirms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., responding to criticism from within the Democratic party, today reaffirmed his support for school busing until an alternative way to achieve desegregation is found acceptable to the courts.

Apparently I have raised a storm by saying the obvious — the law should be obeyed. That on this issue the Constitution will not be changed, that the antibusing emperor has no clothes," McGovern said. "I have reconsidered my views and I hereby reaffirm them."

McGovern provoked grumbling within the party and from outsiders when he spoke in support of school busing during a Democratic meeting in Louisville last month. Anti-busing protesters marched outside.

"I have even been accused of trying to ride a school bus into the White House," the 1972 Democratic presidential candidate said.

In a Senate speech, McGovern denied advocating that the Democratic party make busing the issue in 1976.

Directors re-elected

BURLEY — Three directors of the Burley Chamber of Commerce have been re-elected and one newcomer named to the board.

John Boeslger, manager of Nordling Paris, is the new member of the board of directors.

Re-elected were Shirley Povlsen, Cassia County treasurer; Gary Asson, co-owner and manager of Bonanza Motors, and Bob Hilliard, manager of Idaho Bank and Trust.

A chamber budget meeting was conducted today. Directors will meet at noon Wednesday at Bryan's Cafe to elect new officers.

Under by law revisions, the president will be elected at the meeting. Previously, the president had been automatic as the end of a three year advancement starting with second vice president.

Mrs. Povlsen is first vice president for 1975. Others nominated for three year director terms included Martell Holland, Y-Dell Bost, Bill T. McNew, Garrett Freight Lines; Ronald Osterhout, accountant; Fred Schloss, Cassia Memorial Hospital administrator; Rick Soliman, Joseph Parsons Agency; Foye Stoddard, Stoddard Furniture; and Lowell Turner, Burley Junior High School principal.

Church plans official

TWIN FALLS — The "Church for President Committee" became official today.

At the same time, political sources said the Idaho senator will soon announce his decision to enter the crowded Democratic field.

United Press International said Church's announcement of candidacy "is likely before the month's end."

The committee formed today will "explore" the senator's chances of successfully gaining the Democratic nomination, Church aides said.

Church must raise at least $5,000 in each of 20 states in individual gifts of $250 or less to qualify for federal matching funds in state primaries.

Church press aide Dan Watkins said today, "The people who know about financing have been telling the senator they think this can be accomplished."

Watkins was more confident. "If he can't raise that, he doesn't deserve to run," he said.

"Asked what states would be likely sources of funding, Watkins said, "I think that's going to depend on some of the people who will be on the committee — based on where they think most of his support lies."

An Idaho finance chairman has not been picked yet, he said. Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus, a Democrat, today said, "Naturally I'm pleased to see the senator take this first tentative step in what I hope will be a successful run for the presidency of the United States. As you know, I've always felt that Sen. Church is eminently qualified to be president."

"I expect that this committee, after exploring the Democratic presidential situation as it now stands, will correctly conclude that Frank Church has an excellent chance to win the nomination when compared with the current field of hopefuls."

"Sen. Church knows that he has my full support and ... that I will do whatever is reasonably possible to help (him) obtain the nomination and go on to win the presidency," Andrus said.

According to a UPI source, the committee will "do some pulling and put some people on the road" to give Church hard information before he decides whether to enter the race.

The filing deadline for the Massachusetts presidential primary — one which Church has said he is tempted to enter is Jan. 2.

"Frankly," a Church source said, "if the field is still as fluid two or three weeks from now as it is now, I think he'll go." The source said Church definitely would not try for the New Hampshire primary, which is the first in the nation.

Rupert death ruling set

By SHANE O'NEILL, Times-News writer

RUPERT — Jerome County Magistrate Judge Russell Shaud hopes to rule before Christmas on motions to dismiss murder and kidnap charges in connection with the Easter Sunday death of a 71-year-old Rupert woman.

Shaud had set Thursday as deadline for briefs on motions to dismiss charges against Ernest and Griselda Rulener, now of Twin Falls, and Jose and Almeria Monreal; Rupert. Shaud said Thursday he expects to begin study of the briefs Monday.

The four defendants are charged in connection with the chain-strangulation death of Ernest Rulener's mother, Anna Marie Rulener.

The Ruleners face first-degree murder and second-degree kidnaping charges for chaining the victim to her bed with a six-foot-long chain. Mrs. Rulener allegedly strangled on the chain.

The Monreals, sister and brother-in-law of Griselda Rulener, lived in the same house at the time of the death. They are charged as principals in the case by virtue of being alleged accessories before the fact.

In addition to the usual motions and grounds for dismissal of charges against all four defendants, defense attorney James J. May, Twin Falls, has cited grounds of lack of due process in the Rulener case because identical charges had already gone to preliminary hearing.

At that hearing, Cassia County Magistrate Judge George Granata reduced the charges against the Ruleners to involuntary manslaughter and misdemeanor false imprisonment.

Minidoka County-Pro-Atty-H-B Manning moved for dismissal of all charges this fall and refiled against all four on the original murder and kidnaping charges.

May seeks outright dismissal of the charges or transfer to Granata's court because Granata already had ruled on the charges at the preliminary hearing. Manning argues that, due to his earlier ruling, Granata might be subject to a lack of objectivity.

Blaine County Magistrate Judge Jerry Wegman was eliminated from the case shortly after—the original charges were filed. The defense took its automatic challenge to eliminate Wegman.

today in brief

Tools stolen from truck

TWIN FALLS — Tools valued at about $300 were taken from a pickup truck owned by Richard Kopp Wednesday night, city police reported.

The pickup was parked in the 100 block of Fourth Avenue South. Kopp told police someone forced open a window to gain access to the tools, he said.

Robert William Dehoney, Twin Falls, told police he was working on a new building in the 200 block of Shoup Avenue West when someone entered his parked automobile and removal of a wallet from the front seat. He said the wallet contained $75 in cash and a number of important papers.

Bankruptcy correction

TWIN FALLS — On Nov. 21 the Times-News reported that Cyrus and George Slatter, Jerome, had filed for bankruptcy.

Subsequent checking of the court record shows that only Cyrus Slatter has taken bankruptcy.

George Slatter has not filed for bankruptcy and the Times-News regrets any inconvenience to him.

Burglars younger

TWIN FALLS — Burglars are getting younger all the time.

Two young men, ages 12 and 9, were arrested by Twin Falls city police and booked at the county jail on charges of burglary and grand larceny.

Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said they have been linked with several small burglaries and have been turned over to their parents pending further court action.

Shoshone girls facing charges

By MELBATHORNE, Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Two Shoshone High School girls have been charged with disturbing the peace and obstruction of justice in connection with vandalism at the Shoshone City Park in October.

The charges stem from alleged threats made against two 13-year-olds who reportedly have information about the vandalism damage estimated at $5,000, and the belief that the girls also have knowledge about the location.

Lighting contests thing of past in Magic Valley

By DAVE HORSMAN, Times-News writer

MAGIC VALLEY — Christmas lighting contests are a thing of the past in the Magic Valley.

A check of seven communities Thursday showed the energy crunch has played a major role in eliminating the seasonal competition.

C.R. Requist, division accounting manager for Idaho Power Co. in Twin Falls, said his firm has no plans to resume sponsorship of a contest. This tradition ended in 1973 when the energy shortage was gaining strength as a national issue.

In Rupert, the chamber of commerce dropped the contest last year "because of the shortage of electricity," according to secretary-manager LaVonne Colbert. However, the Rupert City

Square is "beautifully lit up from dusk until about 10:30 p.m." and "Santal is in his house on the square every Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m."

Mrs. Richard Nelson, secretary of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, said the energy crisis was a major reason for halting that city's contest. The chamber's "big project this year has been buying new Christmas lights for downtown," she said. About $9,000 has been spent on the downtown display lights.

Gooding, Halley and Ketchum Sun Valley also have no plans for contests.

In Burley, Chamber of Commerce secretary Agnes Anderson said the contest was abandoned "at least 6 to 8 years ago" because "people started stealing everything out of the houses and trees. People got discouraged."

Pomerelle, Sun Valley ski resorts open daily

TWIN FALLS — Pomerelle and Sun Valley ski resorts continue operating on a seven-day-a-week basis with the new snow chair lift at Pomerelle expected to go into operation this weekend.

Both resorts report adequate snow and good skiing, although other resorts do not have sufficient snow for operation.

Pomerelle reports between 30 and 42 inches of snow on all runs with a few dry spots. The area has a good base with no bare spots. Woody Anderson, resort owner, said the new double chair lift was tested and passed all tests Thursday and is expected to operate Saturday or Sunday.

This will give the area two chair lifts in operation and help reduce the long weekend lift lines of the past few weeks, he said.

Sun Valley reports 30 inches of snow at the top of Baldy Mountain, 22 inches at the Roundhouse and 5 inches on the valley floor.

Saturday the resort will open all runs on Bald Mountain, including the bowl and regular lift rates will go into effect. All runs have been groomed and lifts on Half-Dollar and Quarter Dollar will also be open as of Saturday.

Cross-country skiing is reported fairly good in most higher elevations and snowmolding is good in areas where there is sufficient snow.

Howell Canyon parking area is open with about 6 inches of snow covering the parking lot and five feet on top of the mountain. In Baker Creek north of Ketchum there is about 12 to 14 inches of snow and Galeata Lodge reports 14 inches with three to four feet on Galeata Summit.

6 TF firms burglarized

TWIN FALLS — Six business firms were burglarized in Twin Falls Wednesday night but with one exception, burglars took only small amounts of money.

Beneficial Finance was burglarized and a file cabinet pulled open to give burglars access to a cash box containing approximately $8,200. In addition to the money taken, company officials estimate $20 damage to the building.

Two real estate firms were burglarized Thursday night in a parking lot near service station. At Gem State Realty a cash drawer was pulled open and about $50 damage caused to gain only $5 in cash for the thieves.

North West Realty on Fairway Drive was broken into and about $20 in change taken from a cash drawer. In addition a calculator valued at $150 was removed from the office area and about $20 damage caused to the building.

At the Moco Service Station, 577 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., burglars caused $75 damage breaking into the building and a cash box. They broke open the cash box which was empty and left the building.

The office building shared by Dr. Rex Hall and Dr. Joseph Lyman on Flier-Avenue-Rust was also broken into and about $30 damage caused. A digital clock valued at $20 was the only item reported missing.

An automobile was also broken into Wednesday night in the parking lot near Frederickson's shop. Mary Sommer, owner of the vehicle, said a purse containing $40 and numerous papers was taken from the vehicle.

End tenure?

HAILEY — The Blaine County School Board is leading a drive to get away with teacher tenure in Idaho schools.

Blaine County superintendent of schools Wayne Fagg said today the school board has solicited support from around Idaho for legislation which would do away with tenured teachers in Idaho schools.

At the state School Trustees Convention in Boise last week delegates voted 8 to 1 in favor of the Blaine County resolution calling for an end to teacher tenure, Fagg said.

Man guilty

HAILEY — Richard Granik, 29, charged with first degree burglary of the Vislonssekers in Ketchum this fall was found guilty Wednesday by a jury that deliberated into the early morning hours.

The Ketchum man was charged along with Guy Dilmar, 36, California, with the theft of nearly $80,000 in jewelry, pictures, sculptures and other merchandise for the specialty shop on Aug. 16.

Twin Falls woman critical

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — One of five Twin Falls County women injured in a car and truck accident in Jerome County Thursday remains in critical condition today in a Boise hospital.

Mrs. Rex (Lucille) Johnston, 47, Twin Falls, was taken to St. Alphonsus Hospital Thursday afternoon for special treatment and examination by a neurologist. She suffered neck and shoulder injuries. Hospital officials this morning said her condition is considered critical pending further examination.

Mrs. Sid (Helen) Tomlinson, 37, Twin Falls, is in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where she is being treated for throat and neck injuries. Mrs. Tomlinson was in the intensive care unit there today.

State police reported the two women were passengers in a sedan driven by Mrs. Gene (Wilma) Champlin, 48, Kimberly, which was struck from behind by a farm truck. Mrs. Champlin escaped with minor injuries as did two other passengers, Donna Feeler, 38, and Helen Connolly, 34, both Twin Falls, who were treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released later Thursday.

Officers said both Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Tomlinson were riding in the rear seat of the vehicle when it was struck from behind by a truck owned by Newcomb Irrigation and Land Co., and driven by Russ Birch, 19, Twin Falls. Birch was injured.

Officers said the truck ran onto the back portion of the car, crushing the roof. Mrs. Champlin was stopped to make a left turn when the accident occurred. Birch was charged with operating a vehicle with faulty brakes and with following too closely.

The women were part of a group of women traveling in several cars to a Methodist Church event in Jerome.

Students may enter contest

BOISE — All high school students in the state have been invited to enter the third annual poster contest sponsored by the Idaho Optometric Association.

The winning poster will be displayed in Idaho post offices, libraries, governmental offices and schools in conjunction with 1976 Save Your Vision Week, March 7-13.

The winner will receive a $100 savings bond and an engraved plaque and plaques also will be presented to the winner's art teacher and school principal.

Deadline for the contest is Jan. 30. All posters entered in the contest will be on display in the Boise Library for two weeks following the deadline.

Death avoided

FIVE Magic Valley women escaped death Thursday when the car they were traveling in collided with an irrigation truck. Mrs. Lucille Johnston is in critical condition today in a Boise hospital and Helen Tomlinson is further condition in the intensive care unit at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened lower Friday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average: a 1.26-point loss Thursday, was off 6.60 to 832.10 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 125 to 78, among the 369 issues crossing the tape.

There was some concern the Federal Reserve Board may tighten credit 500, late Thursday, the Fed reported, the nation's money supply rose $2.4 billion to a record $291.2 billion during the latest reporting period. But trend-setting First National City Bank of New York Friday held the rate at 7 per cent, the lowest in operation.

Adding to investor uneasiness, the gradual recovery in consumer confidence in the first three quarters of this year "halted temporarily" in the fourth quarter, The University of Michigan Survey Research Center reported. The erosion in consumer confidence, linked to increased uncertainty over the economy, could have a long-term impact on market activity, according to Wall Street observers.

$7.4 billion wheat crop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Wednesday estimated the value of the nation's wheat crop at $7.4 billion on the basis of an average price to producers of $3.31 a bushel.

The department's monthly crop report estimated the total wheat production for this year at 2.13 billion bushels — down slightly from earlier estimates but still about 19 per cent larger than the 1974 crop.

The dollar value of this year's crop was set at $7,435,212,000 compared with an all-wheat value of $7,338,354,000 for the 1974 wheat bushels produced in 1974. The average producer price for 1974 wheat was $3.81 — 60 cents a bushel higher than this year, the report said.

Crop experts said the 1975 winter wheat crop totaled a record 1.65 billion bushels, 19 per cent higher than last year.

Cold, blustery weather forecast

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert areas: Partial clearing and winds of 15 to 20 miles per hour tonight. Chance of snow again Saturday afternoon. Highs Saturday in the mid 20s. Lows tonight 5 to 5 above.

The outlook for Sunday, cold and unsettled.

A deepening low pressure system is spreading snow along the Idaho-Nevada and Nevada-Utah borders today. Traveler's advisories for heavy snow and strong gusty winds have been issued for these areas through tonight.

Partial clearing behind the storm system will bring cooler temperatures to the Magic Valley area tonight. Another storm system of the Pacific coast will bring more snow to the Magic Valley Saturday.

With the approach of the storm system this morning, temperatures at the Snake River Conservation Research Center near Kimberly dropped about 11 degrees in an hour and a half, from 44 to 33 degrees.

The extended outlook for Sunday-through-Tuesday for continued unsettled weather with snow flurries at times. Temperatures will remain on the cool side with highs generally in the 30s and lows in the teens and low 20s.

Gem spud production unchanged

HOISE (UPI) — Idaho potatoes remained unchanged from last month at 75.1 million hundredweight but down from the record 81.2 million of the state Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Wednesday.

Production in Washington increased to 38.3 million cwt. from 46,800 cwt. last month and 41,160 last year. In Oregon, the production of 22.8 million cwt. was up from the 22,258 million a month before and 17,482 last year.

"Processing of the 1975 potato crop in Idaho and Malheur County, Ore., through November utilized 15,290,000 cwt. of raw potatoes, processors reported to the service.

Of the total processed, 11,553,000 cwt. were Idaho potatoes and 4,237,000 cwt. were produced in other states.

Processing in Idaho, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oregon and Washington totaled 31,825,000 cwt. of raw potatoes through Nov. 30, 24 per cent less than the comparable period a year ago.

Stocks of potatoes held by growers, dealers and processors in Idaho on Dec. 1 totaled 58.5 million cwt., 500,000 cwt. more than Dec. 1 holdings a year ago.

TF panel formed to combat weed problem

TWIN FALLS — Soil conservation districts in Twin Falls County have formed a committee to meet with county officials on growing weed problems.

Two representatives from the Snake River, Twin Falls and Balanced Rock Soil Conservation Districts will work with the county weed bureau and county commissioners to assist in weed control measures.

In a meeting this week with the county commissioners and weed bureau officials, conservationists expressed interest in helping curb weed spread in the county as an important part of conservation programs.

Merl Leonard, county commission chairman, said the problem is an increasing one and one which is costing more and more to combat.

Along the Idaho-Nevada and Nevada-Utah borders today, traveler's advisories for heavy snow and strong gusty winds have been issued for these areas through tonight.

Partial clearing behind the storm system will bring cooler temperatures to the Magic Valley area tonight. Another storm system of the Pacific coast will bring more snow to the Magic Valley Saturday.

Egg advertising scored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal Trade Commission judge ruled Thursday that the egg industry engaged in false, misleading and deceptive advertising by claiming that eating eggs does not increase the chance of heart attacks.

To the contrary, said an administrative law judge Ernest G. Barnes, "there exists a substantial body of competent and reliable scientific evidence that eating eggs increases the risk of heart attacks or heart disease."

Barnes issued a cease and desist order against the National Commission on Egg Nutrition, Park Ridge, Ill., and "advertising agency," Richard Steiner Inc., New York City, telling them to stop the campaign.

Barnes also suggested that the very name of the nutrition commission was deceptive and that if it is used in future advertising it should clearly disclose that it is composed of egg producers and other individuals and organizations, or relating to the egg industry.

The industry, which had hotly contested the complaint which led to Barnes' order, has already indicated it would appeal any adverse ruling to the full FTC.

The ruling is a preliminary one since the FTC may elect to review it or accept an appeal from the industry.

The advertising in question appeared in such publications as the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal and the Chicago Tribune last year and early this year. Barnes said it was prompted by adverse publicity on the role of eggs in cholesterol buildup which the industry believed "caused severe economic loss...through a decline in sales and per capita consumption of eggs."

Angels add homer muscle with two swaps

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Harry Dalton, often referred to by fellow baseball executives as the "last of the Dalton Boys," acquired 47 homers for $2.4 million bases Thursday when he made two trades designed to give the weak-hitting California Angels enough muscle to make them a pennant contender.

First Dalton, who engineered the deal that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore and created the Orioles' dynasty in 1966, acquired slugger Bobby Bonds from the New York Yankees in exchange for stolen base king Mickey Rivers and 16 games-winning right-hander Ed Figueroa.

Then, moving fast in the speeded up trade mart, Dalton obtained former American League home run king Bill

Melton along with pitcher Steve Dunlap in exchange for first baseman Jim Spencer and outfielder Morris Nettles.

In Bonds, the Angels acquired a proven slugger who hit 32 homers and drove in 85 runs for the Yankees despite frequent injuries in 1975 while in Melton, they obtained a slugger who hit 33 homers for the White Sox in both 1970 and 1971, while Melton, a former American League in the latter season, he hit 15 for the White Sox last season.

"Today we have traded 92 stolen bases for 47 homers," said the exultant Dalton after the second deal was announced. "We came here with the express purpose of landing right-handed hitting power."

Rivers batted .285 and stole 70 bases but hit only one homer last season while Figueroa won 16 games for the Angels. Spencer, acquired by the Angels earlier this week, batted .266 with 11 homers and 47 RBI for the Texas Rangers while Nettles hit .221 with no homers for the Angels.

The Yankees followed up their first deal by sending pitcher Doc Medich to the Pittsburgh Pirates for rookie second baseman Willie Randolph plus pitchers Dock Ellis and Ken Brett.

The Houston Astros, meanwhile, sent Doug Rader, a former Golden Glove third baseman, to the San Diego Padres for right-handed pitchers Joe McInosh and Larry Hardy.

On another front, the National League delayed a decision on the financially-plagued San Francisco Giants. NL president Charles Feeney said the league would extend financial aid to the Giants until Dec. 30.

"There have been several offers to buy the Giants," said Feeney. "And we feel that a sale will be completed by the end of the month."

The trades, of course, were the big news of the day — especially since the previous four days had set a so little player activity.

"We could not have afforded to give up a pitcher of Medich's caliber had we not first made the deal for Figueroa," said Yankee president Gabe Paul when asked if the two swaps were inter-related.

The 21-year-old Randolph, a .339 hitter with the Pirates' International League club at Charleston (W. Va.) last year, was expected to help meet the Yankees' need for middle infield help.

"Randolph was more in demand than any other player in the Pittsburgh ballclub," acknowledged Pirates general manager Joe Brown. "Medich is an outstanding young pitcher, but the price was high, as it usually is when you are dealing with Gabe Paul."

Bonds, 29, was troubled by a nagging leg injury last season after being designated a free agent by the San Francisco Giants in an exchange of $100,000 outfielders. Still, Bonds batted .270 with 32 homers and drove in 84 runs.

"We wanted to let Bonds go," said Paul. "But we didn't feel we could turn down a chance to get the fifth most effective pitcher in our league last year. Rivers gives us protection if Elliott Maddox (hobbled by a knee injury) is not 100 per cent next year."

Figueroa, who like Medich is 27, was 16-13 for the last-place Angels in '75 and his earned run average of 2.39 was as Paul said, fifth-best in the AL. Rivers: .27. RBI: 284, and led the AL in stolen bases with 70.

"Our No. 1 objective when we came to the winter meetings was to trade for a strong right-handed power hitter," said Angels general manager Harry Dalton. "In Bonds, we achieved our goal."

San Diego manager John McNamara said the Padres needed the 31-year-old Rader to solve a long-standing third-base problem.

"Third base has been like a revolving door since I've been at San Diego," McNamara said. "This will allow us to move Mike Irie to first where he will alternate with Willie McCovey."

Designated hitter use set for spring drills

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — The American and National Leagues agreed Thursday to use the designated hitter rule during Spring training, but reserved decision on other pressing problems including franchises, extension of the league championship series to a best-of-seven, and a second inter-league training period.

The joint and separate meetings of the National and American Leagues marked the conclusion of the winter meetings, although the inter-league trading period remains in effect until midnight Friday, when most of the matters were expected to be decided.

The American League, which sought to implement the rule in its home parks for spring training, All-Star games and the World Series, withdrew from the latter two instances but won agreement for exhibition games. Thus, in spring training next season, the dh rule will be used in AL home games.

The extension of the championship series from the present best-three-of-five system was agreed upon by the National League Wednesday but no further action was taken in joint session with the AL Thursday. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said "it is not likely that the championship series would be altered for 1976."

In regard to the troubles in the San Francisco Bay area, which Kuhn admits is "overcrowded for baseball," and is further complicated with the financial woes of the San Francisco Giants, Kuhn said "we'll just have to wait and see what happens. I'd have to say it remains status quo."

Kuhn also denied there was any move afoot to move either one of the Bay area clubs or another team to Seattle, which last out to Bill Vecek's group in a bid to land the Chicago White Sox.

Bonds demands 'incentive'; Angels may read that 'money'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bobby Bonds, traded by the New York Yankees to the California Angels Thursday, promised he'd need "an incentive" before he'd sign a 1976 contract and that can only mean bad news to the Angels' bank account.

"I've given it a lot of consideration. I'm going to need an incentive to play," said the 29-year-old outfielder when contacted by UPI at his home in San Mateo, Calif. "Last year I played hurt; I think I gave 100 per cent in my last year with the (San Francisco) Giants, when I had a lot of differences with the ballplayers and management. The incentive wasn't there.

"Last year I played with heart. The Yankees were like the old Giants with Willie Mays. The Yankees are at the same stage. The heart was there.

"This year, the way I'm jumping around from club to club, I'm going to have to have an incentive. To me, that means a good contract."

Bonds, a $100,000 outfielder last year, was traded even-up from San Francisco for another six-figure outfielder, Bobby Murcer, only a year ago. This time Bonds said he was shocked by no move.

"I was very much surprised, very much shocked," Bonds said. "I guess it's kinda good to be back in California but I was very much surprised."

"I talked contract with the Yankees two weeks ago in New York and everything was just about settled. (Yankees president) Gabe Paul told me he'd call me in a week or 10 days or so. Everything was supposed to be okay."

Asked what his contribution to his new club would be, Bonds replied, "I feel I can hit the home runs for them. I'm not really concerned about my power. I'm blessed with strength. I can hit the ball out of the park for the Angels or anybody else.

"I can improve the club's long ball production. They only had about 40 homers last year as a unit. I honestly feel we're not gonna finish last."

Kimberly meets Murtaugh in finals of Snake River holiday tourney

HANSEN — Kimberly and Murtaugh banged their way into the finals of the Snake River Holiday tournament Thursday night.

Murtaugh, after a tight, low-scoring first-three-quarters watched Valley turn the cold as it ran off with a 45-32 decision. Kimberly, its big height advantage offsetting its foul disadvantage, downed Hansen 55-46 in the nightcap.

The results send Hansen against Valley at 7 p.m. Friday at the Hansen gymnasium while Kimberly and Murtaugh play for the marbles about 8:30 p.m.

Poop shooting was the rule of the night, although Kimberly proved the rule by waxing hot in the early going against Hansen.

The Bulldogs have four men taller than Hansen and they blocked inaccurate shots, returns a couple of dozen follow shots and basically dominated things.

But after a heady start, the Bulldogs let Hansen get them running and the second half was a swashbuckling, players-on-the-floor affair. Kimberly, although holding the lead, kept itself in trouble by refusing to foul.

Hansen gave that back with atrocious free throw shooting, particularly in the late going after they had hauled themselves back into the game on sheer dint.

Kimberly muscled out to a 17-5 first quarter lead and expanded the margin to 21 points. But the Bulldogs' shooting cooled to the third period. Hansen, which really hasn't much firepower from more than a few feet from the basketball, got back into the fray when Russell and Cliff Borah hit points that trimmed the deficit to nine.

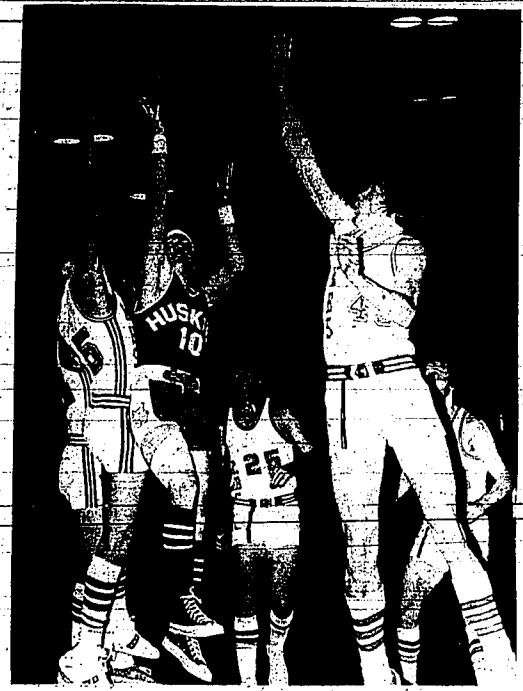

Hansen then got the ball five straight times — three on Kimberly turnovers — and shot one-and-ones on three of those. But the Huskies came up empty. Then with 2:27 remaining, Lockwood hit two treas that made it 51-41 with plenty of time.

Randy Givens then hit a field goal that started Kimberly back to its 11-point final margin.

Valley kept Murtaugh pretty well outside through the first three quarters with a zone defense and the Devils weren't hitting from fibre. But Valley wasn't any hotter and the teams were always within a point or three of each other. As the fourth quarter started, Valley's shooting completely collapsed.

The Vikings struggled over seven minutes without a point while Murtaugh slowly pushed his 29-29 quarter lead into a 15-point margin.

In the fall timber LEAPING Cliff Borah (10) of Hansen darts Steve Pullmer (35) and Conls (43) of Kimberly on this drive. The ball was tipped away and Kimberly went on to win.

Kopay figures admitting liking boys 'might help somebody'

WASHINGTON —(UPI) — Former pro football running back Dave Kopay, in a Washington Star interview, says he publicly admitted he prefers sex with men because "it might help some people."

Kopay, in an interview with Star writer Lynn Rosellini published Thursday, also said he believes a Star story which contended about five per cent of National Football League players are homosexual or bisexual, approximately in line with psychologists' "national average" of homosexuality among males. The story said three starting quarterbacks are among the homosexuals and bisexuals.

"I hope if (the disclosure of his homosexuality) might help some people," he told the Star. "Especially young people who are going through similar experiences and haven't had anyone to talk to about it."

Kopay, 33, had a 10-year career with six NFL clubs and the Southern California Sun of the defunct World Football League before quitting last year. He captained the University of Washington's Rose Bowl team in 1961.

Kopay told the Star he doubts if any active pro player would admit homosexuality.

"Every pass that he (a gay quarterback) threw asked would be interpreted as a failure in courage," he said. "If he happened to duck under a blitz by the defensive line, he'd be a 'sissy,' regardless of the fact that 1,200 pounds of muscle, were trying to knock his head off."

Kopay said he would like to coach, but that he cannot get a job with any college or pro team, possibly because of his sexual preferences.

"They say, 'You're not qualified; you've never coached anywhere,'" he said. "But most people who have played 10 years in the NFL step right into coaching jobs. I hate to think that they're that small." But you've got to wonder."

Indiana edges Notre Dame

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Quinn Buckner missed two free throws with 23 seconds remaining, then sank a pair with 11 seconds left Thursday night to preserve a slim 61-60 victory for No. 1-ranked Indiana over eighth-ranked Notre Dame.

Buckner was fouled intentionally both times as the Irish sought to get the ball in the final minute of play.

Scott May connected on both parts of a one-and-one to give the Hoosiers a 61-58 lead with a half minute to play, then Notre Dame junior Adrian Dantley led the ball on a charging foul. Notre Dame's Bruce Flowers intentionally fouled Buckner, who has the worst percentage from the free throw line among the Hoosiers, in hopes of getting the ball back.

The strategy worked as Buckner missed both shots. IU's Kent Benson tried the same thing against the Irish's Dave Ballou, but he hit both ends of a one-and-one to close to within 61-60.

Don Williams fouled Buckner the second time and a very tense crowd of more than 17,000 fell to silence while he hit both shots, giving him 16 points for the game and the Hoosiers the lead they needed to make it through the final 10 seconds.

The game was tight through the first half, with Notre Dame taking a 16-13 lead when Dantley made a free throw after IU Coach Bobby Knight was called on a technical foul. However, IU rallied to lead 25-19 and was on top 29-24 at the half.

The Hoosiers built up as much as a 14-point lead in the second half at 51-37 as May, who finished with 25 points, led the way. But the Fighting Irish surged back to within 53-50 on Flowers' steal and layup with eight minutes to go. The teams traded baskets through the final stretch.

UPI names Selmon lineman of year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma, considered by his defensive coach as the best defensive tackle ever to play on a collegiate level, has been named Lineman of the Year by the United Press International.

The 6-foot-2, 256-pound Selmon, one of three brothers to have gained All-American recognition at Oklahoma, won the UPI's top lineman accolade in a balloting of 100 sportswriters and sportscasters from across the nation. He received 29 votes and edged Notre Dame's 6-5, 270-pound defensive tackle Steve Niehaus by just four votes.

Center Rik Bonness of Nebraska and defensive end Leroy Cook of Alabama tied for third with 11 votes apiece while linebacker Ed Simmon of Texas A&M received six votes.

Selmon, who combines teams with known as a scholar-athlete with a 3.36 average in special education, was the midsafety of a defensive club that was one of the nation's most respected. He was credited with 132 tackles, 88 of them unassisted and had 10 tackles that resulted in 48 yards in losses. He also recovered four fumbles and blocked a kick.

Teacher strike hits city cagers hard

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — High school basketball courts have been silenced by a two-week city teachers' strike which is threatening the future success of would-be college or professional players.

"Although the strike may not affect the basketball player who proved himself an unmistakable star last season, college coaches say it could have serious effects on up-and-coming players who needed this season to convince college recruiters they have winning potential."

"The lack of exposure will certainly hurt them, especially with out-of-town coaches," said John Cinicola, Duquesne University basketball coach.

"Recruiters from the tristate area know who the good city players are, but even then, it could be risky to recruit a player on his performance as a high school junior. It might have been a peak," he said.

Bob Hill, assistant basketball coach at Pitt, said the Panthers would take a chance on a player who had a great '74-75 season, but not on an unknown.

"If a player was great as a junior we'd still recruit him. We'd be willing to take the chance," Hill said.

"But just the ones that were truly great players."

Jerry Tarkenton, Nevada-Las Vegas coach, agreed the lack of exposure would hurt players' prospects but also indicated a prolonged slump in competition and practice time could have serious effects on a player's skills.

"Junior, and senior years are peak development periods," said Tarkenton. "If the strike lasts for one month, for two, that would surely hurt the kids."

The teachers went on strike Dec. 1 and contract negotiations have been fruitless. Union officials threaten the strike could last as long as two months.

City players have been practicing at semi-private gyms, sometimes under the unofficial tutelage of their coaches.

But Peabody High School Coach Norman Frey said practices "just aren't enough."

"We lose our competitive edge as the strike wears on," Frey said. "It's difficult to practice constantly and not play."

Frey was also concerned that the strike could have lasting effects on the city's basketball program.

"This could sound the death toll for city basketball," Frey said.

Kansas outlasts BSU 61-56

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Herb Nobles scored 25 points and grabbed 16 rebounds Thursday night, leading Kansas to a 61-56 victory over Boise State of Idaho.

The Jayhawks struggled to a 35-32 halftime edge, but Boise swapped leads with Kansas early in the second half.

With 7:01 to go, Nobles hit an eight-foot jumper to put Kansas in front 49-48. The Jayhawks then produced eight straight points and held on to the edge to the finish.

CSI Eagles entertain Western Wyoming tonight

Dangerous Western Wyoming invades Twin Falls tonight to test College of Southern Idaho's undefeated record.

Western Wyoming, back on the CSI slate for the first time in five years, returns three starters from last year's team that wound up ranked sixth in the nation — two ahead of the Eagles who went on to win second in the national tournament.

Western was upset in the regional finals by Sheridan, a team which gave CSI a tough game until the closing seven minutes of the national tournament opener.

The Eagles will make their final home appearance before the holidays Saturday night when they entertain the Jayvees from Weber State. Not much is known about that aggregation.

Griffin still after national crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archie Griffin of Ohio State, declaring the feeling was even greater the second time around, officially picked up his second straight Heisman Trophy Thursday night but said his collegiate career would not be complete until the Buckeyes have wrapped up the national championship.

The 5-9 tallback, the only player ever to win the Heisman Trophy twice, said that he didn't believe a year ago anything could top winning the Heisman for the first time...until last week when he won it again.

"Not very many people expected me to do it," said Griffin at the Benjamin Franklin School Annual Heisman dinner. "Last year when I stood up on the stage, it was an experience. I thought I could never feel again. Instead, here tonight the feeling I have is even greater than a year ago. It's a moment I will always remember for the rest of my life."

"But winning the national championship is still my ultimate goal. This is the one thing I've always wanted. I've never played on a championship team and I want this more than anything else. A national championship is a team award and not an individual award. It's something we can all share in."

Helmet maker loses in injury suit

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal court jury Thursday ordered a helmet manufacturer to pay $5.3 million to Greg Stead, paralyzed from a broken neck he suffered while making a tackle in a high school football game four years ago.

Stead, paralyzed from the neck down, filed a $5 million damage suit against Riddell Inc., of Chicago, identified as the manufacturers of a helmet he was wearing at the time of his injury.

Stead's attorney, Carl Rentz, said his client's head was flung up and backward after the face guard on Stead's helmet was kicked by a player he was trying to tackle on the opening kickoff of the Edison-Norland game Sept. 30, 1971.

It was alleged that when Stead's head jerked back, the padded back of the helmet broke his neck between the fourth and fifth vertebrae.

During testimony, Rentz attempted to show the alleged improper design of the helmet resulted in the injury.

Stead, 20, sat through the five-week trial in a wheelchair. Both sides in the case used sports physicians and sports equipment researchers as witnesses in the trial and showed films of the play.

Riddell attorneys claimed that no proof was given that Stead was wearing a Riddell helmet. They said his injury was caused by an improper tackle which forced his head downward.

Lot of guesswork has been printed as to whether blue-eyed people really are more sensitive to pain than are brown-eyed people. Now the University of Iowa's Dr. H. Stanley Thompson confirms that claim. He says blue-eyed patients react with greater sensitivity not only to pain but to drugs. They seem to need smaller doses than brown-eyed patients. It has been reported that the sensitivity goes from blue eyes in descending order through hazel, green, brown and finally dark-brown eyes.

IT HAD BEEN customary for a wine bottle cork to be about two inches long. Until recently. The price of cork, too, has gone up. And the demand for cork is likewise up. For platform shoes, mammy. That explains why a lot of wine bottle corks now are only an inch and a half long.

WHERE IN the world is the daily temperature range the most extreme? In the Gobi Desert? In the hills of Afghanistan? In the highlands of China? No, in Reno, Nev. Or so I'm advised by a subscriber there. Reno alone averages a 45 degree F. difference between its daily highs and lows.

ONLY 14 PER CENT of the sex crimes are committed by separated, divorced or widowed men. Blame renegade men for 26 per cent. The single fellows are responsible for the remaining 60 per cent.

JOURNALISM

The writing and broadcasting schools are expected to turn out about 104,000 graduates in upcoming months. They'll be looking for work on newspapers, in publishing houses, with broadcasting stations, and at the various agencies that grind out printed matter. It's going to be pretty tough. Maybe the newspapers will hire as many as 2,600 new reporters. Figure the broadcasting stations might put on another 500 announcers. It's estimated 1,100 technical writers will find jobs as well 4,400 public relations hands. But at least 90,000 of those graduates will wind up looking for paychecks elsewhere. Why didn't somebody let those kids know what in the deuce was ahead of them?

service Give swim lessons as gift

GLENNIS FERRY — S. Sgt. Aeronautics Technician Donald A. Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole, is aboard the U.S.S. John F. Kennedy aircraft carrier.

His home base is North Island, in the San Diego area. His ship sustained damages and some casualties in the collision with the Belknap in Mediterranean waters in November. He is a repair man on radar and radio on the 5-3A, Viking planes. The Viking is the navy's newest aircraft — the first completely computerized carrier based jet antisubmarine aircraft.

The fires that broke out after the collision were fought for 15 hours, and complete casualties from both ships is not known at this time. Dave wrote his mother that day but the letter was not mailed until 10 days later, which concerned Mrs. Cole.

He has served in Spanish, Italian, Mediterranean, Atlantic and waters near Sicily. His ship is now based at Augusta Bay, Md. He is a 1968 graduate of Glenns Ferry High School — and enlisted in November 1968.

TWIN FALLS — The YMYVCA has a suggestion for Christmas shoppers — a gift of swimming lessons at the "Y's" year-round heated indoor swimming pool.

Payment for lessons entitles the purchaser to lessons for a year. Cost is $15 for a non-member between three and five years of age; $5 for a member; $12.50 for ages six through 12; $4.50 for a member; $15 for a non-member teenager or adult; $5 for member; $20 for parent and lot non-members, and $10 for members.

For further information call 733-4384 or check at the "Y" at 1751 Elizabeth Blvd.

OLA CANNON, left, presents Terry Lechner, chairman of the board of the McAuley Home for Girls, Buhl, and Barbara Karel, director of the home, a check for $100 on behalf of Altruism Club. Club members also donated canned foods to the home.

Jarbidge book only history

JARBIDGE, Nev. — "Gold Fever," a book by Helen E. Wilson, is the only printed history of Jarbidge, Nev., according to James Higgins, Jr., curator of manuscripts at the Nevada State Historical Society, Reno.

The few remaining hardcover books of the limited edition are going on the collector's list and softbound books are still available at book stores, according to the author.

"Gold Fever" is a non-fiction story about early residents of the Jarbidge gold camp.

Cassia tops goal

TWIN FALLS — Cassia County, under the chairmanship of G. V. Anderson, was one of eight counties to top the 100 per cent goal in purchase of Series E-41 Savings Bonds for October.
