Gulf suspends Angola operations

US oil demands showing decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy officials say the overall demand for petroleum products is considerably less than in the past two years and, at the same time, they are sharply lowering the projected size of natural gas shortages. In early December, use of all petroleum products averaged 16.4 million barrels a day, more than 7 per cent below the level at the same time in 1974 and nearly 10 per cent below the same time in 1973. The Federal Energy Administration reported 42 barrel holds 42 gallons.

NATCHEZ, Miss. (UPI) — Six children died early today in a fire that consumed the house in which they were sleeping. Fire built in car saves 3 stranded TF fishermen

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls fishermen stuck in South Hills snow Saturday night survived freezing temperatures by building a fire in their car.

Robert Salinas Jr., 10, Tony DeLeon, 17, and Arturo Brewster, 23, were on a fishing trip at Salmon Falls Dam and decided to cross over the South Hills to reach Murtaugh Lake, according to Robert Salinas Sr. But about 20 miles east of Rogerson their car became stuck in heavy snow. They were prepared for the freezing night temperatures. But they managed to survive by building a fire on a truck flywheel which happened to be in the car, Salinas said. The next day the three walked about 17 miles to Highway 93 and then managed to catch a ride to the state port of entry at Hollister. The three were reported missing at the Twin Falls County sheriff's office at about 3 a.m. Sunday by the elder Salinas, who said the boys had planned to go fishing at either Murtaugh Lake or the Salmon Falls Dam area, police records show. Two Twin Falls County cars and one car from both Owyhee and Jerome counties were sent to search for the boys. The acting sheriff for Twin Falls County also joined the search, flying over the Salmon Falls Dam and Roseworth areas, officers reported. The search ended about 3 p.m. Sunday after the boys arrived at the port of entry. Salinas said he had spent Saturday night searching for the boys at Salmon Falls Dam and other fishing areas they commonly went to before calling the sheriff's department. After the boys were found, he said, he spent the rest of the day and much of Sunday working with the older boys to free their car which he said was buried "deep in the snow."

Soviet radar station built

—(USAKA, Zambia (UPI) — The Soviet Union has completed the installation of a sophisticated radar system in the Angolan capital of Luanda to support supersonic warplanes in ground and air attacks, pro-Western nationalist sources said today. They said they feared a decision last week by the U.S. Senate to cut off further aid to two nationalist groups fighting in Angola would encourage Moscow to extend its own military commitment to the third-Angolan Movement, The Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola. Russian technicians have now completed work on the highly sophisticated radar interception system in Luanda for use in guiding MIG fighters in attacks on both ground and airborne targets, according to the sources close to a pro-Western group, the Union for Total Independence of Angola.

Crash claims Kimberly man

ELY, Nev. — James Blommer, 42, Kimberly, was killed Saturday morning in a two-car accident east of Ely. By coincidence, the crash involved two Twin Falls County cars. Blommer, smashed into a vehicle driven by Esichen Daniel, 49, Twin Falls, Daniel's wife, Maria, 45, and son, Steve, 18, were passengers. The Daniels were treated and released at an Ely hospital. Blommer owned and operated Blommer Arts and Emblon Co. in Twin Falls. The accident occurred about 11 a.m. today and all flights would be in operation by Wednesday. A spokesman for the International Association of Machinists said the new, three-year contract with United was approved by more than 70 per cent of the nearly 18,000 members who voted. The United strike coupled with a continuing walkout against National Airlines — a major air carrier to Florida cities — caused the travel problems. Planes and Amtrak trains were fully booked for major runs and bus lines anticipated crowds and called in extra vehicles. Scores of thousands of strikebound travelers had to fend for themselves during the busiest travel period of the year and there was a tangle of crossed reservations and overbookings as tourists scurried for seats. A group of Continental Airlines passengers at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport were

The Austrian government met the demands of the five men and a woman and supplied an Austrian airliner to fly the anti-Israeli terrorist group in Algiers with 36 hostages. 11 of them ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. The Algerian oil minister was one of the 11 aboard the plane. Technically, he had been freed in Vienna and made the trip voluntarily as a non-hostage although covered by the terrorists submachineguns. Three persons were killed in seizure of the Vienna OPEC office by the group of Palestinian commandos thought to include a mysterious Venezuelan terrorist known as "The Jackal" — sought for the murder of two Paris policemen and bomb activities in London. About 40 other hostages — Austrians and OPEC employees — were released before the 12-mile trip to Vienna's Schwechat Airport from OPEC headquarters. The Austrian government said it was supplying the getaway plane for the guerrillas to save the lives of the captured ministers including Sheikh Ahmed Zaki of Saudi Arabia. Algerian Energy Minister Belaid Abdesslam, who mediated between the guerrillas and the Austrian government after the Vienna attack, boarded the Austrian plane for the flight to Algiers. Although technically not a hostage he also left with the hostages when the plane took off from Algiers, possibly for Tripoli or Benghazi, Libya. Those released in Algiers were the delegations from Venezuela, Nigeria, Ecuador and Indonesia. Still aboard the plane were the delegations from Saudi Arabia, Iran, Kuwait, Libya, Iraq and the Algerian volunteer. The ministers from the Arab Emirates and Qatar had missed the Sunday meeting and were not captured. Some of the hostages were released in Algiers after 6 1/2 hours of tense negotiations between Algerian Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika. But the guerrillas refused to permit the others to leave the plane and it was piloted for the flight to Libya. The aims of the guerrillas still were still obscure. They had condemned Arab states which have "negotiated" with Israel, including Iran which sells it oil, and at one time said they wanted to "liberate" Saudi Arabia. Their two prize prisoners were Sheikh Ahmed Zaki and Iranian Oil Minister Jaamshid Amouzegar, who is also the Iranian Interior Minister and with the Sackal has often acted as chief spokesman for the 43-member OPEC. Three persons were killed in the takeover and four others wounded, including a 19-year-old terrorist who was shot in the stomach. The wounded terrorist was taken off the plane after it landed at Algiers, and rushed off in an ambulance. There was speculation one of the band was Carlos Marlinga, a Venezuelan charged with killing two police officers in Paris and the object of a worldwide manhunt. Among the high officials still held by the terrorists were the oil producing world's two top negotiators — Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yaman, Saudi Arabia's oil minister, and Jaamshid

Yaman and Amouzegar frequently act as spokesmen for the OPEC, which was meeting in Vienna to discuss whether to raise oil prices still further when the terrorist band broke in Sunday, killing three persons and wounding four, and taking the minister and their staffs hostage. After three hours of negotiations at the Algiers airport, talks between Algerian officials and the chief of the terrorist gang ended at 1:25 p.m. A gas truck roared up to the Austrian Airlines jet that had brought the gunmen and their captives to Algiers and filled it with fuel. The pro-Palestinian guerrillas during their negotiations with Algerian officials released a communique charging "American imperialism and capitulating reactionary forces in Arab countries" are plotting together to smash Arab solidarity. In Vienna the guerrillas had demanded money for the Palestinians.

SV talks continue

SUN VALLEY — Sun Valley Company and United Transportation Union representatives continued contract negotiations today. The union's 13 ski bus drivers have been on strike since Dec. 13. Bob Lutz, personnel manager for the company, said negotiations would continue today. He would not comment on how close the sides are to a settlement. The strike has affected over 100 employees. Members of the Ketchum — Sun Valley Trades Council voted to honor the drivers' picket lines last week and have not reported for work. The company has hired non-union workers to maintain recreation equipment and drive the buses. Officials say the strike has not affected business and the resort is operating as usual. The bus drivers are striking for higher pay. They also object to company-proposed changes in the contract language.

United flies again; holiday crush continues

By United Press International
United Airlines Flight 118, a 747 Jumbo, sometimes called the "Redeye Special," took off from Los Angeles shortly after midnight with 110 passengers for Chicago to signal the end of a two-week strike against the nation's largest air carrier. A spokesman in Chicago said airlines would fly "36 per cent or better" — more than 558 flights today — and would increase to full service by Christmas Eve to help ease the snarl of holiday travel. — The crush has caused long lines, several snafus and many lost tempers at airports. Striking United machinists approved a new contract with the airline Sunday and began returning to their jobs today, ending a two-week strike. United — the nation's biggest domestic air carrier — said some flights would resume today and all flights would be in operation by Wednesday. A spokesman for the International Association of Machinists said the new, three-year contract with United was approved by more than 70 per cent of the nearly 18,000 members who voted. The United strike coupled with a continuing walkout against National Airlines — a major air carrier to Florida cities — caused the travel problems. Planes and Amtrak trains were fully booked for major runs and bus lines anticipated crowds and called in extra vehicles. Scores of thousands of strikebound travelers had to fend for themselves during the busiest travel period of the year and there was a tangle of crossed reservations and overbookings as tourists scurried for seats. A group of Continental Airlines passengers at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport were victims of a cascade foulup Sunday. The 424 Denver-bound passengers aboard Continental flight 29 were on the tarmac and ready for the plane's departure. But there was no crew. A Continental spokesman said the crew that was to fly the plane had been misdirected and flown — as passengers — to Los Angeles, where they had been told to pick up their luggage. Another crew had to be brought to Chicago from Denver to handle flight 29, which left four hours late. A Continental spokesman said overworked operators — who cope with the biggest travel days in Continental history Friday and Saturday — had been working 20 hours a day to handle holiday traffic, the spillover from the United strike and problems caused by fogged in airports at Los Angeles and Seattle. He said a weary worker made a mistake and misdirected the flight crew for flight 29. A Snowstorm slowed traffic from airports in New England and forced temporary closing of Logan International Airport in Boston Sunday. Weather problems eased somewhat today, allowing flights to continue. Hundreds of thousands of travelers clogged Florida resorts and more were on the way today. These travelers could get plane or train service hopped into their cars and headed for the sunshine. Florida turnpike director Bruce Caswell said that for the first time in 1975, gasoline sales at service stations along the toll road were higher than year ago sales. "We were 20 per cent off in traffic all year through Wednesday of last week," Caswell said. "Then on Thursday and Friday service stations started reporting record business."

Storms spread swath

By United Press International

Winter in its first day clogged New England with up to 16 inches of new snow with more in the forecast today. Thrust sleet and freezing rain southward in the northern coastal states and dimmed Arizona and parts of Southern California will fog.

It was a hazardous day for travelers in the hard-hit regions. "Bad" had "was the way" an auto-travel club spokesman described New England roadways.

Two deaths were ascribed to the storm in New England, one a "Dodge" (manufacturer) "wreck" vessel capsized in gale winds, and the other a snowmobile operator whose vehicle crashed through thin ice.

Boston labored to clear away 14 inches of snow. Logan International Airport was forced to close snowplows to keep a single runway open for incoming and outgoing flights—Boston schools, due for their Christmas holiday Wednesday, closed for the day and teachers called off a scheduled demonstration in front of the federal building—which was closed anyway.

The National Weather Service issued travelers advisories for southeastern New York, Pennsylvania, and northern New Jersey, where the snow deteriorated into sleet and freezing rain. Coastal gale warnings were posted from Maine to Virginia.

More snow was forecast and winter storm watches were issued.

Dense fog developed over most of Arizona and formed along the southern coast and central areas of Southern California. Frost extended into northeastern Florida.

Snow, a light dusting, fell around New York City.

Question...

You recently told survivors of World War II and II casualties how they could apply for a Gold Star Lapel Button. Your son was killed in Viet Nam; am I entitled to a Gold Star?

Answer...

Yes, you are entitled to wear with honor a Gold Star insignia. If you will contact us we will make a request to the United States Government for you.

Until recently the survivors of veterans who died in action against enemies of the United States after the Korean Conflict were not entitled to a Gold Star award. This has been changed. Now by an act of Congress, widows, parents and next of kin of those who have lost their lives in action since July 1, 1958, are entitled to receive Gold Star Lapel Buttons from the Department of Defense.

Spending brake?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State of the Union address President Ford will deliver to Congress next month probably will contain many new spending programs. If any, one of his top assistants has suggested.

Economic adviser L. William Seidman was asked Sunday in a broadcast interview if Ford would propose "a new program" blueprint for next year in his speech.

Seidman said Ford will answer that, but his program will be limited to a $395 billion budget ceiling for fiscal 1977.

"I wouldn't agree with you that he has to propose new and expensive programs in order to propose a good blueprint for this country," programs that will lead to the spending of "another Great Society-type effort," he said.

Hunter becomes target

KUNA, Idaho (UPI) — A Boise man who went hunting south of Kuna Saturday afternoon found himself at the wrong end of a rifle when he was shot by a passenger in a white pickup truck.

The Ada County Sheriff's Department said Patrick P. Colver, 30, was shot in the left buttock while sitting on a rock about one-half mile from Kuna Cave Road. Colver told authorities a white pickup stopped about 500 yards from him and the passenger fired at him.

After being hit, Colver said he called out and fired two shots into the air to warn the persons in the truck he was there, but the pickup drove off before he could get a look at the occupants.

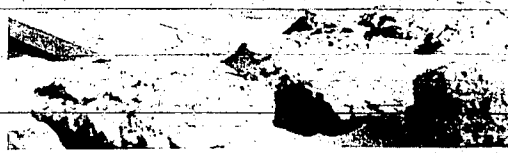

Colver said he thought two persons were in the truck, described as a late model pickup with a white cab-high camper. He was treated for the wound at a Boise hospital.

Gem travelers hampered by fog

BOISE (UPI) — Foggy weather has replaced the United Airlines strike as the biggest obstacle to Idahoans attempting to reach their holiday destinations.

Now that the two-week-old United strike is apparently over, the airline should have 80 per cent of its regular flights operating by Tuesday and 100 per cent by Wednesday, according to United Supervisor Frank Shell. He added that continuing fog could hurt operations just as much as the machinists' strike.

"The weather is now a bigger deterrent for airline travel than the strike," Shell said. The National Weather Service expected fog over southwest Idaho to slowly decrease today as temperatures warmed up.

Charles Cox, Boise manager for Hughes Airwest, said the present airline situation, with the strike and weather conditions, is the worst he has seen in his 20 years with the airline. He said despite being the only major carrier during the United strike, Airwest probably has lost money because of weather conditions.

The strike and fog have also hampered operations of the U.S. Postal Service in Boise. During the time of Year when millions of pieces of Christmas mail flood the Post Office.

Jim Matteson, a post-office supervisor in Boise, said the postal service prepared for the Christmas avalanche by hiring 21 temporary workers and asking full-time employees to work overtime.

When the United strike grounded Boise's major air carrier, the post office asked Hughes Airwest to shoulder the entire burden. But the next day the fog rolled in, closing Boise Municipal Airport to mail service for all but a few days since Dec. 7, Matteson added.

He said trucks were dispatched to places as far away as Salt Lake City, and a plane was borrowed from the Interagency Fire Center. These efforts jelled into a "smooth operation" that is expected to get nearly every piece of mail delivered by Christmas Eve, Matteson said.

There are 1,232 inspected fallout shelters in Rhode Island, according to the state Defense Civil Preparedness Agency.

Senate panel's inquiry may open way to changes

By BRUCE F. FRIED Congressional Quarterly WASHINGTON - If a Senate office wants a Manila envelope, it orders it from the Congressional Record clerk. But for a white official envelope, it has to go to the Senate printing clerk.

The reason: The United States Senate, with a $107-million budget and 6,000 employees, has no central agency to disburse office supplies. "That's just one of the time-worn shortcomings of the temporary Commission on the Operation of the Senate which is controlling in the first systematic effort to determine how efficiently or inefficiently - the Senate is managing its complex affairs."

The nine-member panel, known informally as the Culver Commission after Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, who proposed its creation, will present its recommendations to the Senate leadership next September. The panel's findings will be awaited with special interest, for there is growing concern that the Senate's inefficiencies may be impeding its ability to legislate.

"During my years in this body," said Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., "I have come to know first-hand the problems which prevent this institution from being as efficient and as capable a body as is needed to resolve the very serious problems which face the nation today." "These problems go beyond difficulties in ordering envelopes. For example: - Senators do not control their office budgets and cannot spend the money to meet their special needs. Under the current system, priorities are not clearly defined. Funds are allocated for specific items such as stationery, staff hiring and business equipment. The offices also receive fixed paper and envelope allotments."

- The Senate is administered by agencies having overlapping jurisdictions. The Senate restaurant is a case in point. It is run by the Capitol architect, the sergeant at arms, the Commission on Arts and Antiquities, which divide up responsibility for food service, floor coverings and wall hangings.

- There is no accurate accounting of how office space is used on the Senate side of the Capitol.

- Senators find it almost impossible to carry out all of their committee responsibilities. The average senator serves on 16 committees and subcommittees and each one schedules meetings and hearings without regard to what other panels do. A senator may have four different committee sessions to attend simultaneously.

- The commission's writ covers all internal workings of the Senate, from how well senators perform their lawmaking, oversight, and constituent services responsibilities, to whether senators and committees have enough office space and proper office furniture. The only items out of bounds are committee jurisdictions and proposals to change Senate rules.

Carrying out the study are former Iowa Sen. Harold E. Hughes (D), the commission's chairman; Archie Dykes, chancellor of the University of Kansas, its vice chairman; Willard L. Boyd Jr., president of the University of Iowa; Juanita Krebs, vice president of Duke University; Carl E. Sanders, former Democratic governor of Georgia; Wilson W. Wyatt, former Democratic mayor of Louisville, Ky.; and former national housing administrator Robert P. Huefner, director of the Institute of Government at the University of Utah; William H. Seal, partner in the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, and J. Mark Trice, former secretary of the Senate.

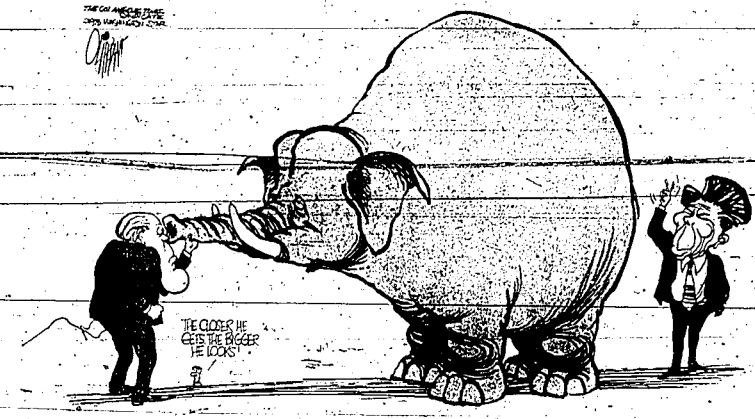

Senate observers hope the panel will be able, to conduct a top-to-bottom study they consider essential if it is to make recommendations on how to bring the Senate's internal structure into the late 20th century.

"They see today's Senate as a 'bureaucratic nightmare.'" "The Senate bureaucracy has developed over 200 years - yet no one has examined the lines of jurisdiction and authority from a scientific management viewpoint," complained a Senate aide. They fear the Senate's vested interests - the secretary of the Senate, sergeant at arms, Capitol architect, powerful Senate sponsors and committee chairmen - in the end may be able to blunt the commission's work.

Commission members and several senators are optimistic the panel can do the job. Former Sen. Hughes told reporters shortly after the commission was named in October that he believed it would have "complete freedom" to carry out its study. "I hope the commission doesn't feel any limits," said Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., a leading member of the Senate reform bloc.

Nevertheless, the commission is expected to narrow its focus over the next several months as pressures develop to limit the scope of its investigation and recommendations. "There's already pressure on the commission to stay away from sensitive areas," said Harrison W. Fox Jr., an aide to Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., who has followed the commission closely.

The sensitive points, as Fox sees them, include the scheduling of committee meetings and Senate business, conduct of legislative oversight, and perquisites and office allowances - items that go to the heart of power in the Senate. None of the senators, aides or commission members interviewed by Congressional Quarterly said they expect the Culver Commission to bury proposals to revise the Senate's structure or streamline its operations. Yet they doubt that it will lead to Senate changes immediately. At the most, they predict the panel will open the way for further changes.

Positive program best course for Ford

WASHINGTON - President Ford can recover from his sagging political fortunes only if he comes up with a positive four-year program for the country.

So says Melvin R. Laird, Ford's old stockpile in the House and former defense secretary. The President needs to present a conceptual long-term program that reflects the best interests of the people, says Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller. "We cannot live in election cycles," he says.

Other Ford supporters inside and out of the government, admit to being troubled by the President's startling decline in public opinion polls, especially since former California Gov. Ronald Reagan announced his candidacy for the GOP Presidential nomination last month.

"They have sought advice for the President, which can be roughly summed up this way: 'It's time to stop thinking in terms of vetoes, of negative responses, of head-shaking diagnoses. It's time to start laying out a Ford blueprint for America.'"

Neither Laird nor Rockefeller nor his other supporters profess to know what the President will do. All express the hope he will do something beyond his own hints of no-new programs, or at least no programs that will stop federal spending past the $95 billion ceiling he has urged upon Congress.

Laird told reporters in Washington the President's main problem has been one of "communication." He has come off badly in the public perception of his performance because of a failure by the administration to present his positions in their best light, according to Laird.

Laird declines to identify any one culprit, saying only that the President can't do it all himself. An unofficial adviser to the President in his present role as an editor-consultant of Reader's Digest Magazine, Laird regrets that Donald Rumsfeld has been made secretary of defense at a time when he was beginning to get on top of his job as major domo of the White House staff.

As the top staff man to the President, Rumsfeld was "chiefly responsible for communications within the White House and among departments and agencies. But Laird stops short of blaming Rumsfeld for the "communications" failure. He also strikes from fingering presidential press secretary Ronald Nessen, who has been under fire from White House reporters for what they consider a generally inept information job.

Laird is less concerned about the past, however, than he is about Ford's immediate prospects. He said the recent Gallup poll showing Reagan running ahead of Ford among Republican and Independents was "a signal" that the President and his aides should "take in heart."

What Ford must now do, Laird said, is to use his State of the Union address next month to lay out a four-year program which would include a national insurance program, a new welfare program that would include a negative income tax, an expanded food-for-peace program in which America's agricultural abundance would be used as "a weapon" in dealing with Communist countries, a tax reform measure geared to greater emphasis on equity capital, a carefully streamlined defense program, an overhaul of retirement programs, Social Security tied to cost-of-living, and wholesale changes in federal aid to state and local governments.

Without being quite as detailed, public Rockefeller also has made a series of recommendations to Ford covering some of the same areas as Laird.

The Rockefeller proposals were based upon the findings made at public forums in six cities by the Domestic Council, soliciting views from some 6,000 citizens on economic growth, resource development, social policy and community building.

The six cities, selected at random, were Denver, Tampa, Fla., Austin, Tex., Philadelphia, Indianapolis and Los Angeles.

"The overriding message," Rockefeller told a news briefing at the White House, was that people are concerned about federal aid tape which inhibits the government from delivering promised services. Instead of looking to Washington for solutions, people increasingly feel that the federal government is "the problem," Rockefeller said.

The vice president proffered a basic optimism about the country, despite complaints and frustrations voiced in the forums. Public concern centered on high unemployment and inflation, excessive government spending and a lagging economy, he said.

Health care costs and lack of congressional action on a comprehensive energy policy were among other concerns revealed in the forums, the vice president reported.

Letters

We know you're okay

Editor, Times-News:

As a proud parent of a teenage daughter of the junior high level and as a member of the Twin Falls community, I wish to express my concern about the series of articles regarding the prevalence of "sexually active" kids and drug users in the junior high schools.

The articles printed thus far as front page news, would indicate to our residents aid to our visitors that these problems are of high incidence, "routine." These conclusions are based upon interviews with people of somewhat extreme positions.

For example, quoting from Tuesday's article on sex in junior high schools: "If you're going with a guy, and you like him, well, things just happen." If this philosophy were the popular trend might we not have more than an occasional pregnancy and more V.D.?

Parents ask your teenager how he feels about that quote. I'll wager he doesn't have the insecurity this young lady obviously feels about her "sexiness" and her "ability to attract" the opposite sex. If he does, perhaps we as parents are not doing our part in teaching and showing by example how to have a good time without dosages of behavior altering substances or Moll Platters adventures.

Is it realistic, as you indicate in and trust the majority of our youth in find friendships - both male and female - which are not sexually based? Do kids today feel less self-worth than when we were kids? Are they more promiscuous? Do they think more about sex? Hogwash!

Maybe they feel more free to express their thoughts than we did but they're no different. Is it not our duty as parents to find for ourselves - if we haven't done so by now - and educate our children in ways to make sensible decisions and try to find solutions which will build our natures and increase our capacities to accept responsibilities.

We can't stop teens from feeling or growing into adults, so how about giving them a chance to learn how to be more efficient in dealing with problems connected with those feelings?

If they don't find answers at home, then where will they find answers? We all have been or will be faced with the questions of "should I" or "shouldn't I." How we react to the situation will be determined by our previous experience and training.

I feel very concerned that more isn't printed about kids who are definitely finding answers and are trying to grow with responsibility and wise decisions. How about it? Isn't that front page stuff to us Subscribers? There are two ways to get attention: do something destructive or do something outstandingly good. It is very easy to get attention the first way and very hard to get it the second way.

Maybe we should ferret out those youngsters who are not so obvious but who contribute a great deal of good toward their own edification as well as that of others. How about those kids who "alter" school jobs? Why not do a survey about them? How about those who visit the H.I.V.?

How about those who are charged with the care of their younger siblings while Mom or Dad works in or outside the home? And about those teens - and they were plentiful - who cared enough about their own intellectual nourishment to keep up high grades this fall? These are the kids I'm proud of and I'd like to hear more about, agreed?

Perhaps that young eighth grade leader needs a little more faith in those who put him where he is. I would hope he realizes there are a lot more kids who can find security in social relationships which are not sexually oriented than he been led to believe.

To those junior high and other kids black-listed unjustly, I say "Hang in there, kids, we love you and we know you're okay."

Behind our Vietnam war?

Editor, Times-News:

The assassination of Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother-in-law was authentically reported by foreign correspondents of the stripe of William Lederer and Marguerite Huggins more than a decade ago and yet never fully accepted by the powers that be.

Those of us who keep track of our contemporary history see no reason why this should not be the subject of so much controversy.

The powers that be at that time was the National Security Council headed by President Kennedy. We had diligently devoted that Dien Bien was at odds with our intellects to abridge armed forces in Vietnam.

So the story goes, Averil Harriman, erstwhile secretary of State for political affairs, and Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs, were outstanding proponents of the "Diem must go" school. Their message of Saturday, Aug. 24, 1963, by triggered the assassination. Their message did not suggest such a thing. Their message simply threatened the withholding of all foreign aid to South Vietnam unless...

Incidentally, on this important weekend, the President was at Hyannis Port. McTone was in California; McNamara was on vacation; Bush was attending a baseball game; Gen. Maxwell Taylor was not advised of the cablegram until some time later. This was the National Security Council.

The National Security Council purported to be much exercised by this irregularity. Hilsman was fired. Harriman is still among these errant.

We are inclined to doubt that a man of Harriman's experience would have taken it upon himself to go out on a limb entirely on his own.

Thus, our war in Vietnam? RAY HOWELL

Asian side talks in March

Washington Star

MANILA - The Philippines secretary of foreign affairs, Carlos P. Romulo, is expected to go to Washington in March to open negotiations on changing the conditions for U.S. use of military bases here.

Neither Philippine nor U.S. officials foresee any meetings and hearings without regard to what other panels do. A senator may have four different committee sessions to attend simultaneously.

The commission's writ covers all internal workings of the Senate, from how well senators perform their lawmaking, oversight, and constituent services responsibilities, to whether senators and committees have enough office space and proper office furniture. The only steps necessary to conclude the negotiations.

They also "agreed that it was timely to conclude negotiations on a new agreement on trade, investment and related matters..."

But officials are now unclear on when those talks will open. Economic relations are more complex than the bases question.

There are seven military reservations in the Philippines still under U.S. jurisdiction out of the 23 set aside by the United States when it granted this nation independence in 1946. The two principal ones, Clark Air Force Base and the Subic Bay naval base, are the largest U.S. military bases in the western Pacific.

New poll shows Ford or Reagan beating Hubert

By United Press International

President Ford insists he is not worried about a recent poll showing him falling behind Ronald Reagan among Republicans and independents. He says that if he is a good president the poll won't matter.

"I think the final answer comes in the ballot box and if I do the job... that will be the test, not any interim polls," Ford said in answer to reporters' questions Saturday about a recent Gallup poll showing Reagan coming from a wide margin. That was surprising because a Harris poll Friday showed exactly the opposite — Humphrey beating other Republicans substantially.

"That the Minnesota senator keeps saying he doesn't want to run for the Democratic nomination is a good sign," Ford said. "It shows he is standing in the polls."

Today's Gallup poll, based on 1,073 registered voters across the country queried after Ford's trip to China, showed Ford over Humphrey 51-39 and Reagan over Humphrey 39-42. Friday's Harris poll, based on 1,214 persons identified as likely voters and taken before the China trip, showed Humphrey over Ford 52-41 and over Reagan 59-43.

Ford also said Saturday at an informal news conference his campaign manager, Howard Callaway, "overall... has done a good job" based on reports from many states holding primary races and that he will campaign in New Hampshire and Florida "if there is time."

In other developments:

Chief Justice Warren Burger could rule this week on a move to keep the Federal Election Commission from distributing the first portion of federal matching funds to presidential candidates until the full court rules on the campaign reform law's constitutionality. If he acts to hold up the money, the campaigns of several Democrats — notably Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall, Terry Sanford and Fred Harris — could be hurt severely for lack of the funds.

Carter, former governor of Georgia, begins a campaign swing through New England today. In an interview with a TV station from his Plains, Ga., home Sunday, Carter said his opposition to an antibusing amendment has hurt him somewhat in Boston. He also complained that Udall in campaign stops in the North and Midwest is unfairly likening him to George Wallace. Lester Maddox and other Southern politicians who laugh at integration.

Democrat Lloyd Bentsen said Saturday in Chicago, Wis. "The No. 1 issue in this election is the economy," and that deficit federal spending must stop. To counter the problem of fuel prices, Bentsen said, he is proposing giving businesses 10 cents credit for every question they are asked on government forms.

No Attica coverup despite brutality

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Lawmen rebuking Attica prison in 1971 after a riot that left 43 persons dead committed "acts of brutality" but there was "no intentional coverup" of official misconduct, according to a report released by Gov. Hugh Carey.

"Clearly the state has dealt unfairly with the inmates and affirmative action is necessary to correct the situation," former state supreme court Justice Bernard Meyer said in the report Carey released Sunday.

Carey had asked Meyer to look into charges of "selective prosecution" of inmates in the aftermath of the Sept. 9-14, 1971, rebellion, one of the nation's bloodiest, at the maximum security prison.

Of the 43 killed during the rebellion, a guard and three inmates were believed slain by prisoners while 29 inmates and hostages died from police bullets in the riot and 29 others were wounded.

Meyer said only one law enforcement officer has been indicted in the riot while 62 inmates have been charged. But he told Carey errors by state police and "mistakes in judgment" rather than a coverup by chief Attica prosecutor Anthony Simonetti were responsible for the imbalance.

Self-Employed? First Federal's Keogh Retirement Plan Can Save You $3750* In Taxes This Year!

What Keogh Is.

The federal Keogh Act establishes a framework for the establishment of an improved tax-sheltered retirement plan to the self-employed.

In a nutshell here's what Keogh can do for you:

- Each year you can contribute up to 15% of earned income or $7,500, whichever is less.
- Earnings on your Keogh plan accumulate tax-free until you retire. You pay income tax only after you retire, when you will likely be in a lower tax bracket.

- The Keogh dollars you invest for your retirement are 100% tax-deductible (up to $7,500) each year.
- Your Keogh investment cuts your taxes for the current year — up to $3,750* for an individual in the 50% tax bracket, for example.
- The income earned by your Keogh funds is also exempt from federal income taxes until you begin withdrawals from the account.

Starting your Keogh Plan.

To receive tax credit in the current year you must open your Keogh account by December 31st. You then have until April 15th of the following year, to determine the amount of your contribution and deposit it into your Keogh account.

Who is eligible.

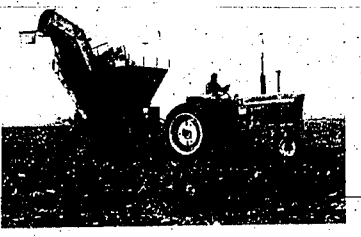

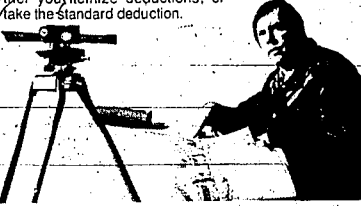

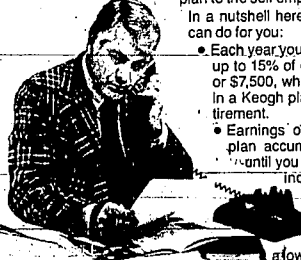

Any self-employed individual can start a Keogh plan. Included are sole proprietorships, partnerships, farmers, ranchers and professional people, such as accountants, attorneys, architects, dentists, doctors, engineers, etc.

How the Keogh Plan works.

Each year you may contribute $7,500 or up to 15% of earned income, whichever is less. If you happen to have a bad year you may reduce your contribution to 100% of earned income or $750, whichever is less. You may deduct 100% of your Keogh contribution (up to 15% or $7,500) each year from gross income, no matter whether you itemize deductions, or take the standard deduction.

How benefits are paid.

You may not withdraw funds from your plan without penalty, before age 59½. You must start withdrawals before age 70½. Your Keogh withdrawals may be spread out over your retirement years or taken in a lump sum. Either way the retirement law provides a new tax break to minimize taxes on your funds.

How your Keogh Plan funds grow here, with daily interest.

Artists honored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Son and discman Ben Vereen was named entertainer of the year and comedy duo Lucille Ball received the special Golden Award from the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Vereen, who was also voted song and dance star and rising star of the year at the presentation Sunday at Caesars Palace, was the first entertainer to win three awards in the six-year history of AGVA.

A committee headed by AGVA honoree, actress Cyndi Lauper, and executive vice president Jack Bull, selected Miss Bull for the Golden Award for devoting "a lifetime to entertaining the public."

Precious Golden Awards went to Jimmy Durante, Jack Benny, Kate Smith, Duke Ellington and Burns.

Other AGVA winners included: Paul Lynde and Joan Rivers, comedy; John Denver and Shirley Bassey, singers; Tony Orlando and Dawn, vocal group; Kathy Ribby, novelty act; Liberace, instrumentalist; Linda Ronstadt, country star; and Tony the Wonder Horse, animal act.

Colby to Norway

NEW YORK (UPI) — William Colby, outgoing chief of the CIA, will be offered the post of American ambassador in Norway, Newsweek magazine says.

In its current issue Newsweek said "President Ford has found a post for CIA chief William Colby, who is to be replaced by George Bush. Ford will offer Colby the job of ambassador to Norway."

Stories air Kennedy's private life

By United Press International. President John Kennedy was handsome and fun-loving and "never stopped pursuing attractive women," says Time magazine in this week's edition.

Washington has buzzed with gossip about women in Kennedy's life for years, and several publications aired the stories this weekend.

Time also said Kennedy's frequent visitors at the White House were "housewives named 'Fiddle' and 'Paddle' by the Secret Service, often traveling with Kennedy. The magazine did not identify them."

JUDITH EXNER "close friend"

Newsweek magazine reported stories of Kennedy's love life "with stenographers and stewardesses, an off-broadway star, and a Hollywood Star-in-the-making, a syndicated reporter and an ambassador's wife."

Author Richard Condon, who said he has spent 15 years researching the late president's sex life, was interviewed in the London Sunday newspaper, News of the World. He said Kennedy had "scored" with 470 girls by the time he was elected to Congress.

"When he entered the Senate only five years later his total, by his own records, was up to 903. By the time he was President this score had soared to nearly 1,600.

"He even made love to three women on the morning of his inauguration."

The latest in Kennedy's sex life was prompted by a Senate committee report last week, which said a "close friend" of Kennedy was also a close friend of men in organized crime.

Mrs. Judith Campbell Exner later held a news conference in San Diego, Calif., to announce she was the "close friend" in the report. "To me," she said, "was Jack Kennedy and not the President."

US delegation on way to Hanoi

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — A U.S. congressional delegation arrived in Bangkok Saturday on the way to Hanoi to claim the remains of three missing American pilots killed in the Vietnam War.

The four-man delegation, due to fly to the North Vietnamese capital, Sunday, said the congressmen would try to speak with Hanoi officials about additional missing Americans.

Family politics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Ford, the President's son, says he'd rather his father didn't win the White House in next year's election because of the strain on family life, Newsweek magazine reports.

"In terms of my own personal selfish reasons, I'd rather he didn't win," the magazine quoted the President's son as saying.

Newsweek said Betty Ford has softened her once-rigid opposition to her husband's 1976 presidential bid and intends to campaign with him.

Mental patient rescued

GALESBURG, Ill. (UPI) — A 15-year-old mental patient who ran away from a state institution perched on a 75-foot high tension tower for an hour in freezing weather during the weekend until rescued by an Illinois Power Co. employee.

A spokesman for the power company said the boy remained in the center section of the tower for about an hour and could have been electrocuted had he ventured onto the structure's arms which carried 69,000 volts.

Lift truck operator Ben Drago used a bucket to lift himself, part of the tower and three climbing the rest to bring the boy down from 75 feet. The temperature during the morning rescue was about 29 degrees.

Moynihan scored

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist Party newspaper Pravda has attacked Daniel Moynihan, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, for "insulting and defiant" behavior at the recent General Assembly session.

An article signed by Yuri Zhukov, one of Pravda's top commentators, said Sunday the meeting of the General Assembly had been "fruitful" despite the efforts of Moynihan.

Concert pianist honored

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Concert pianist Jose Iturbi, who gained great popularity when he turned to retiring, was presented the Grand Cross of the Order of Isabel the Catholic from the King of Spain.

Iturbi, 80, received the decoration Saturday from Andres Drake Alvarez, the Spanish Consul General in Los Angeles.

Born in Valencia, Spain, in 1885, Iturbi was recognized as a child prodigy at the age of 3 and went on to become one of the best known pianists of his day. At the peak of his popularity in the 1920s and 1930s, Iturbi averaged 100 concerts a year in the United States, Europe and South America.

Trademark gone

TOKYO (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka has shaved off his famous trademark, his moustache.

Tanaka appeared Friday at a lower house session without the moustache, and his new look renewed speculation about a political comeback.

Tanaka, 57, stepped down from office in the midst of corruption charges in December, 1974. He has kept away from the political arena since, but he is still young, tough and heads the largest political faction in the ruling Liberal Democratic Party.

Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a French architect and engineer who served in the colonial American army during the Revolutionary War, drew up the plans for Washington, D.C.

Mr. Claus recommends the Walker Bankard, the year-round Christmas card.

That's because the Walker Bankard gives you benefits all year 'round. The first time you notice it will be in January when you start making payments on all those gifts you charged in December. The Walker Bankard has a lower average annual percentage rate than the other major charge cards—so you pay less overall. That's a nice gift for you!

More than four hundred merchants and thirty-five hundred consumers in the Magic Valley now take advantage of the Walker Bankard, the year-round Christmas card. Like Mr. Claus, they know a good deal when they see one.

Lebanon mediation efforts continuing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian efforts to mediate an end to Lebanon's bloody civil war moved to Damascus today in the wake of weekend battles in Beirut and surrounding areas that pushed the week-old ceasefire toward collapse.

Government sources said Premier Rashid Karami planned to arrive in Damascus today for talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad aimed at shoring up the latest ceasefire — supposedly in effect since last week but broken scores of times.

Leftist parties and Palestinian representatives met Sunday and issued a joint statement urging all sides to lay down their guns during the Christmas and New Year holiday season.

But the calls for peace had little effect. In Zahle, 25 miles east of Beirut, warring Christians and Muslims battled with mortars and machineguns and fired at army units sent in to separate them.

Argentine aides quit

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — The air force today announced the surrender of military officers whose five-day stretch of President Isabel's tenuous hold on the Argentine government was the breaking point.

The rebel army, right-wing nationalists calling themselves the Blue Andor Company, seized the Moron base and the airport Thursday morning, accusing Mrs. Peron of being unable to govern and for "betraying" the Argentine.

Authorities said four persons died, bringing casualties since the latest round of fighting erupted two weeks ago to 725 dead and more than 1,150 wounded.

The death toll since the civil war began last April topped 5,700 dead and 12,000 injured. Shooting also broke out in scattered areas of the capital and on the outskirts of Tripoli.

Viets return Yanks' bodies

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — North Vietnam has returned the remains of three American pilots, three years to the day after one of the men died in the flaming wreckage of his B52 bomber.

They held out until early today, rejecting a Roman Catholic archbishop's mediation effort, vowing to continue the uprising despite their failure to rally the army and navy to join them.

TWA jet crashlands, 2 hurt

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jetliner carrying 121 persons crashlanded in fog today at Malpensa airport.

A TWA spokesman said there were no fatalities. At least two passengers were reported seriously hurt.

The Boeing's fuselage began breaking up as it plowed nose-first along the ground, airport officials said.

The TWA spokesman said the aircraft was badly damaged.

DEAR ABBY: Our tall, handsome, athletic son served four years in the Navy, returned to civilian life and college, and "married" an underized, effeminate male hairdresser. We have no idea how to handle this situation or our ambivalent feelings.

This "odd couple" came to visit us, and they want us to visit them. They are inseparable and set out a peculiar husband-wife relationship that is both bewildering and disturbing to us.

So far we have been polite, but what the dickens do you say to friends and relatives? We can't condone it.

We love this boy, but as his parents we feel torn and hypocritical to say the least.

TORN

DEAR TORN: You owe friends and relatives no explanation, so don't feel obligated to offer any. Since your son's lifestyle bewilders and disturbs you, either learn to accept it or quit seeing him.

DEAR ABBY: I've been divorced for 12 years. Men and women tell me I'm very attractive. I've had several love affairs, but I was looking for that certain one. Three years ago, I met him. When he asked me out I was on cloud nine! We dated nightly for six months. He told me he loved me. It was heaven.

Suddenly everything came to a screeching halt! I didn't hear from him for two weeks. I knew where he lived and had his phone number, but I'm not one to run after a man. He finally called, saying he'd be over that night. When he arrived he acted as though he'd seen me the night before. I didn't question him, but he tried to make me believe his job kept him too busy to contact me. I knew he was lying.

Shortly after that, some friends took me to dinner, and there he was—with another woman! He stopped by our table and made small talk. I was blind with hurt and jealousy.

Now, for two and a half years this man calls me and drops in to see me, and he thinks I should jump into bed with him because he wants me. I keep telling him to stay away from me, but he pays no attention. I've moved twice, but he finds me, and it starts over. He says he MUST see me.

I'm in my 50s and so is he. I still love him, but I don't want him on his terms. What is the solution?

VAYA CON DIOS

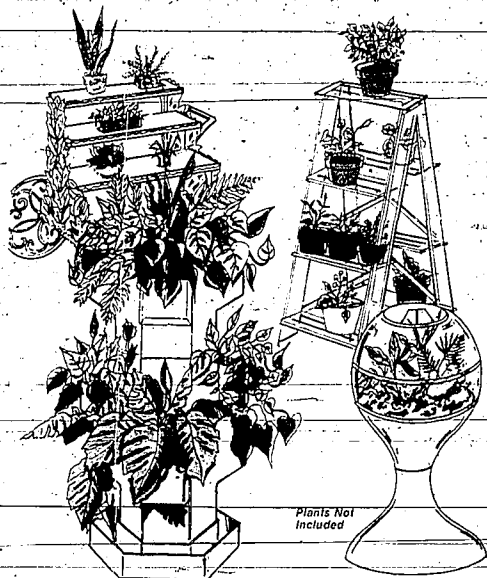

DEAR VAYA: There must be something about the way you tell him to stay away that lacks sincerity. And your behavior after he "finds" you confirms his suspicions that he's got the upper hand. He won't believe that you mean business when you tell him to get lost until you do.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Oswald: "The name 'Uppercut' is given to those trump promotion plays in which a defender plays a moderately high trump to force declarer to use a higher trump and thereby develop an extra trump trick for the defense."

Jim: "West wins the first two tricks with the king and queen of spades. He sees no hope in a trump, diamond or club lead and decides his best chance to get two more tricks is to promote his ten of trumps. An uppercut is indicated, so he leads his five of spades."

Oswald: "East has to cooperate. If he just ruffs with the five spot, South will be able to overruff with the six. However, East sees what his partner is trying to do and plays the eight."

Jim: "That little eight spot has become a killer. South has to use an honor to overruff and now East is sure of two trump tricks and a plus instead of a large minus score."

Fog, strike add to 'port bustle

By LINDA LEE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fog, the holiday season and the United Airlines strike have made the Twin Falls Airport a rather busy place during the last two weeks.

"We have kind of been the regional airport for the last two weeks," Paul Schwaiff, Manager of Hughes Air West said today.

However, with the United Airlines strike settled Sunday night and the fog beginning to lift, Schwaiff expects traffic levels in Twin Falls to be back to normal this week.

"It has been a long stretch of the worst fog blast in the region in 20 years," Schwaiff said. Hughes Air West has been using Twin Falls as an alternate facility due to fog for the last two weeks, he said.

Communications service has been running about double and some Hughes Air West flights have been a little late because of this, Schwaiff said, but he expects everything should be back to normal now.

"Most of my holiday flights are already booked," Schwaiff said, "so people who have reservations should be all right."

Steve Feldman, air traffic control specialist at Twin Falls Airport, said all types of air traffic have been heavier during the last two weeks. He says there has been no problem handling the higher levels.

Feldman said the weather bureau told him the weather is slowly improving and fog periods will shorten.

According to airport officials, air carrier, air taxi and corporate jet operations were more than doubled on Friday due to fog at the Boise Airport.

Feldman said the heavier traffic did not create any fuel shortages and all flights were safely handled.

Airport Manager Harry Merrick said the Sun Valley Stages handled all missing for alternate flights that have been landing in Twin Falls.

Only a very small percentage of the 1,600 local air flights a year are missed due to weather problems at the Twin Falls Airport, Merrick said. On an average, two flights a year are missed because of fog; 4 because of blizzard of the time of flight; and 4 because of wind, he said.

Change protested

By LINDA LEE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A group of Twin Falls citizens doesn't like a proposal to reroute state Highway traffic down their residential street.

Barbara Utley, 139 9th Ave. E., has collected 55 names on a petition designed to keep their street quiet.

They protest a proposed closure of Blue Lakes Boulevard at Ninth Five Points which would cause traffic to be rerouted onto Shoshone Street and then along connector 9th Ave. East back to Blue Lakes Boulevard north.

Ninth Avenue East runs ten blocks between Shoshone and Blue Lakes. It is a residential street with a few churches.

"We decided we could fight city hall," Mrs. Utley said. "We want to preserve our nice neighborhood. The children are 16 children on the street and the idea of having the Lakes traffic diverted down her street is disturbing."

Howard Johnson, engineer

for the Idaho Highway Department in Shoshone, said his department is preparing a proposal for public hearings in the spring which would convert Ninth Five Points to a four-point intersection.

Johnson said the proposal would include closing two blocks of Blue Lakes south of the intersection of Addison and Shoshone. He said the highway department is suggesting a traffic light at the intersection of 9th Avenue East and Shoshone to divert traffic from Blue Lakes up Shoshone and down 9th Avenue East back to South Blue Lakes.

It will probably put 4,000 cars a day down 9th Avenue East, Johnson said. He added that the proposal does not include widening the street, only widening the intersection at Blue Lakes and Shoshone with the connecting street.

Johnson said a similar plan was proposed at public hearings in 1970, but the negative citizen reaction the plan was dropped.

"The final decision will be made by the Idaho Transportation Board after citizen input at public hearings in May of April and after recommendations from the City Council," Johnson said.

City Councilman Chris Talkington said the petitioners against the proposed change at Ninth Five Points were "completely justified in not wanting 4,000 cars a day down their street."

Talkington added, "If they do chose off South Blue Lakes and 9th Avenue East, it will probably lead to a rezoning of RESIDENTS OF Ninth Avenue East do not look forward to the possibility of 4,000 cars a day traveling down their neighborhood street. They have drawn up a petition objecting to a forthcoming proposal by the Department of Highways to route Blue Lakes Avenue East to Shoshone and down Ninth Avenue East to Blue Lakes Boulevard.

9th Avenue.

Talkington said he has not formed his opinion on the matter yet because he has not studied the pros and cons enough. However he did think that any decision to route traffic down 9th Avenue East would be under the jurisdiction of the City Council.

Mrs. Utley said her petition would be presented to County Commissioner Merl Leonard because he was on the committee for proposed street changes in Twin Falls. She said her neighbors will continue collecting signatures and then deliver the petition in late December.

City Manager Leon Milar said any decision to reroute Blue Lakes traffic down a residential street would be the joint decision of the City Council and the Idaho Dept. of Highways.

Milar said the County Commissioners were not the right authority to receive a petition on proposed street changes.

Residents want street kept quiet

'Messiah' highlights yule season for MV audience

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — For traditionalists among music lovers, Sunday's performance of "Messiah" was a highlight of the Christmas season.

This is the third consecutive year Carson Wong, music director at Jerome High School, has directed a performance of Handel's oratorio, among the best known of any classical music.

Jerome High School students and other area singers accompanied by the Magic Valley Chamber Orchestra participated.

Soloists were Helen C. Allen, soprano, and Camille Cox, alto, both Twin Falls; Jay Engwiler, Jerome; and Roger D. Vincent, bass, Filer.

Wong, who has devoted considerable time to the development of the chamber orchestra, planned the performance and worked to integrate the adult performers with the children.

The familiarity of many of the "Messiah" numbers probably added to the listeners' appreciation as the prophecy and events of Jesus' birth are described in words literally "lifted" from scripture.

The story behind Handel's production of the work is as dramatic as the music itself and helps explain the grandeur of the work. At 60 Handel's luck had turned. He was sick and debt-ridden even though he had written stately music and been honored by English royalty for years. But his happiness had died.

Recently recovered from a stroke, he wondered why God had allowed him to recover if he could no longer create. Upon returning to his shabby lodgings he found a package containing a libretto entitled "A Sacred Oratorio" from a poet and a note asking Handel to start work immediately on the music, ending with "The Lord gave the word."

Tradition has it Handel, at first skeptical, began to work like one possessed. As he leaped through the passages, the words began to come alive. He completed the oratorio in about 24 days, reportedly working almost continuously, with little food or rest. His servant said, "The just stares at me and doesn't see me. He said the gates of heaven opened wide for him and God himself was there."

When the score was completed, Handel slept as though in a coma for 17 days and the poor servant, thinking he was dying, sent for a doctor. But before the medic could arrive, Handel had revived and he was "bellowing for food, wolfing half a ham washed with endless tankards of beer."

Since he was out of favor in London, Handel took his work to Ireland where it was first performed April 13, 1742, in Dublin. After a triumphant reception there, the work was enthusiastically received in London where at the first performance the crowd, following the king's example, surged to its feet during the "Hallelujah Chorus."

This inspired work drew the same response Sunday as once again the Magic Valley audience rose in respect for the genius which lifted the composer from deepest despondency to "light the dark places of earth as long as there are eyes to lift in some eyes to look to the hills, hearts to hope."

Skis stolen at lodge

TALBORN — A Rupert man reported Sunday that a pair of skis had been stolen at the Pomeroy ski lodge.

Tim Sanders, Rupert, said he left his skis outside for about 10 minutes while he was in the lodge, about 4 p.m. Sunday. When he returned, the skis were gone.

Value was estimated at $100.

Burglary reported

BURLEY — A Burley police officer spotted a slightly open door at a local motel Saturday night and discovered the burglary of four rooms.

The officer was on routine patrol when he saw a door of a Ponderosa Inn room slightly ajar about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. Investigation revealed that four rooms in the area had been burgled.

The doors to the rooms had been kicked in and the television set in each room taken. Nothing else had been disturbed.

Damages to the doors were estimated at $300. Loss in the TV thefts was estimated at $100.

Antenna reported stolen

BURLEY — A citizens band antenna was reported stripped from a car here Friday night.

Arvelta Savage, Heyburn, told Burley police that the CB antenna was stripped from her car while it was parked in Ramada Inn parking lot on the east side of the building.

The report was turned in shortly before 10 p.m. Friday. Mrs. Savage said it was the fourth time the antenna had been stripped from her car.

Ex-Burley resident arrested

BURLEY — A former Burley resident was arrested Sunday in California on a forged warrant.

Raymond Speck, Burley, is awaiting extradition following his arrest at Blythe, Calif.

Speck is charged with three counts of forgery in Burley. The checks allegedly were passed at three different businesses in Burley during November.

The checks allegedly were drawn on a Boise bank, using the name of a Boise resident.

Teens arrested

BURLEY — Two Burley teenagers were arrested at a local shopping center Friday evening on shoplifting charges.

The two juveniles, 14 and 15 years old, were taken into custody about 6:35 p.m. Friday at Albertson supermarket. They were charged with shoplifting.

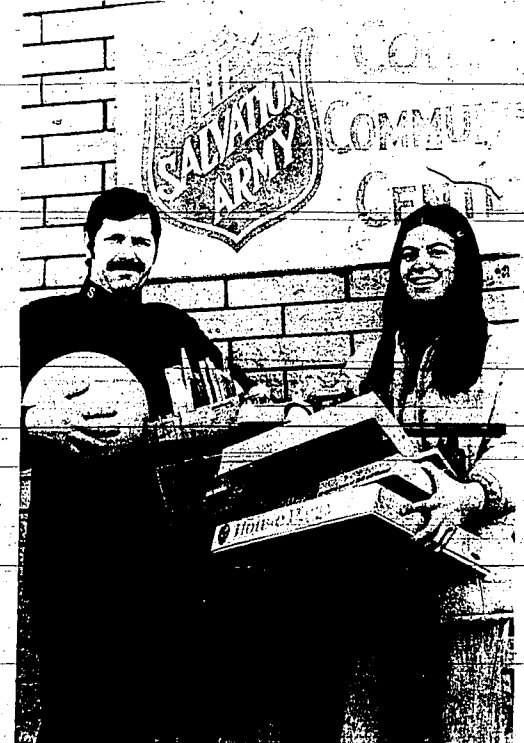

They were released to their parents later the same evening.

No siren

TWIN FALLS City Police car sustained about $1,000 of damage in an accident on Second Avenue North. The police car driven by Dennis Chambers had been speeding up to follow a fire truck when it ran into the back end of a car crossing Second at Fifth Street North. The Twin Falls County Sheriff's office reported the officer had not yet turned on his siren, but was just about to turn it on when he hit the rear end of the other car. Damage to the other car driven by Janet Hyde was estimated at $700.

Bengals top Chargers

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bengals scored three quick touchdowns before the San Diego Chargers could run a play from scrimmage on route to an easy 47-17 victory that gave the Bengals the American Conference wild card berth in next weekend's playoffs.

The Bengals, who finished regular season play with their finest-ever record of 11-3, challenge the Oakland Raiders next Sunday in an opening round playoff game in Oakland. In the regular season, the Bengals defeated the Raiders 14-10.

San Diego, never in the game after fumbling away its first two kickoff receptions, ended the season with a dismal 2-12 record.

Cowboys defeat Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clint Longley, making his first pro start in place of injured Roger Staubach, threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Drew Pearson in the third period Sunday to snap a tie and send the playoff-bound Dallas Cowboys to a 21-17 victory over the New York Jets.

Longley, a second year man from Abilene Christian, rallied the Cowboys from a 14-point deficit and put them into the lead with his scoring pass to Pearson, who beat Rich Scovell in the corner of the end zone.

The victory was the 10th against four losses for the Cowboys, who earned the wild card playoff spot in the National Conference East last week. The Jets suffered their 11th loss in 14 games for the worst finish in their 15-year history. The only bright spot was fullback John Riggins, who gained 60 yards to push his season total to 1,003, the first Jet ever to surpass the 1,000 mark.

Cardinals rip Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals rode record-setting quarterback Gary Morris by Terry Metcalf and Jim Ots into the playoffs Sunday, coasting to a 24-21 regular season ending victory over the Detroit Lions.

Metcalf, who scored on a 14-yard run in the first quarter, got the NFL's all-purpose total yardage record. He was looking for it by accumulating 127 yards. His total yardage of 2,462, including rushes, pass catches and kick returns, broke the record of 2,444 Mack Herron set for New England last season.

Ots needed only 65 yards to set a new club rushing record and got 69 for a season total of 1,076 that gave him the National Football Conference rushing title. It also broke John David Crow's club record of 1,071.

Colts whip Patriots

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A fourth quarter interception by Baltimore linebacker Stan White set up an 11-yard touchdown run by Lydell Mitchell Sunday to enable the Colts to register a come-from-behind 34-21 victory over New England and a berth in the National Football League playoffs.

White's interception gave the Colts the ball on the New England 44 yard line, and four plays later Mitchell scored the winning touchdown with 8:19 remaining to give Baltimore a 27-21 lead. Shortly after the kickoff, Patriot quarterback Steve Gronau was intercepted again, this time by cornerback Nelson Munsey, who carried it 30 yards for an insurance touchdown.

Raiders down Chiefs

OAKLAND (UPI) — Pete Banaszak's third touchdown run of the game—a one-yard blast with 4:51 left—and three key defensive plays by Charles Phillips in the closing minutes Sunday enabled the AFC playoff-bound Oakland Raiders to finish the regular season with a 28-20 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

The victory gave the Raiders an 11-3 record and sent them into the opening round of the next-season playoffs at home next Sunday against the Cincinnati Bengals. The Chiefs finished the year with a disappointing 5-9 record and third place in the AFC West.

Banaszak also scored on runs of five and three yards, and Morris Bradshaw grabbed a 10-yard pass from Ken Stabler as the Raiders built up a 21-13 first-half lead.

After a scoreless third quarter, Jeff Kinney wound up an 80-yard Kansas City drive with a one-yard run to shove the Oakland lead to only a point. Then the Raiders got the breaks they needed to score an insurance touchdown and Phillips set it all up.

First the rookie defensive back downed a punt by Ray Guy at the Kansas City one and on the initial play he recovered a fumble by Ed Podolak at the six. Three plays later Banaszak smashed in from the one for the touchdown that put the game out of reach for the Chiefs.

Bears defeat Saints

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Rookie quarterback Bob Avellini fired three touchdown strikes to light end Greg Latta and ran one yard for another score, leading the youthful Chicago Bears over the New Orleans Saints.

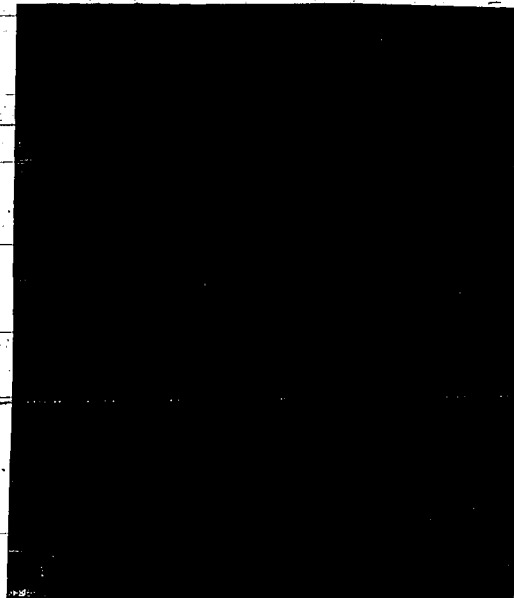

Latta, also a rookie, teamed with Avellini on scores of 13 and five yards in the first half and a 20-yarder in the fourth period. Chicago finished the season with a 1-11 record, against the 2-12 record for the Saints, the worst in New Orleans' nine-year history.

Giants nip 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Larry Watkins powered his way from the one yard line following a pass interference call to give the New York Giants a rain-soaked 26-23 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

Watkins' score was set up when a punt by the Giants' Dave Jennings was downed on the one yard line and the New York defense held San Francisco on downs. Don Clune then returned a Tom Wittum punt to the 49ers' 37 yard line where the Giants began their winning drive.

Both teams thus ended frustrating seasons with 6-9 records.

TOUCHDOWN CARDINALS running back Terry Metcalf (21) makes a move at the right time and scampered 14 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter of their game with Detroit Sunday. (UPI telephoto)

Namath to stay with Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Namath will return to the New York Jets next season.

Both Namath and General Manager Al Ward made that clear Sunday after the Jets ended their worst season in the club's 15-year history with a 31-27 loss to the Dallas Cowboys.

"I have a contract for next season and I intend to honor it," said a battered and bruised Namath after the worst day in his 11-year career. "I really don't want to talk too much about next year. I intend to sit down with management and the front office people very soon and work things out. I want to play. I still think I can play and play well."

Namath completed only 1-67 passes for just seven yards in the loss to the Cowboys before going out early in the final period with bruised ribs. There was talk of his possible retirement to concentrate on acting or television or a possible trade.

"I see Joe as part of our team next season," said Ward, who is looking for a new coach to replace the fired Charley Winner and temporary replacement Ken Shipp. "I couldn't blame Joe for what happened to our team this season. You can't blame any one individual. We just went into a tailspin and the bottom just fell out."

"Joe had an off year but not the kind of year where you'd just give him away," Namath, who signed a two-year, $900,000 contract at the start of training camp in July, led the league in interceptions with 28 and finished well under the 500 mark in pass completions; it must be noted, however, that many of Namath's interceptions came as he tried to rally the Jets from huge deficits. New York's defense allowed 431 points this season, the most in the National Football League, as the clubs won only three games.

"I really thought that we had a shot for the playoffs this year," Namath said. "But everything just fell apart. Things have to get better next season. They just can't get any worse."

Taylor sets record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Philadelphia Eagles' Taylor set a pro football record for career pass receptions Sunday with his first catch for the Redskins in their game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Taylor's grab of a 11-yard pass from quarterback Joe Theismann in the fourth quarter gave him a lifetime total of 105 receptions.

Declo splits Wendell, Valley

Declo lost to the Wendell Trojans Friday night 70-55 and defeated the Valley Vikings 60-37 Saturday night.

Declo led most of the game against Wendell until the Trojans tied it up with six minutes to go at 46-41.

Issacs scored 10 points in the last six minutes to blow the game open for Wendell.

In the Valley contest it was a nip and tuck ball game through most of the first half until Declo was able to gain an eight point half time lead.

Declo put together some good team defense in the second half and never trailed again.

Cavaliers nip Lakers

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Bobby Smith dropped in a 10-footer with 1:59 left and Austin Carr put in a lay-up with 1:12 left Sunday as the Cleveland Cavaliers ran their winning streak to seven games with a 99-98 NBA victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

After Don Freeman's two-pointer gave the Lakers a 96-91 lead with 2:51 left, the Cavs received off six straight points in the next minute to take the lead on a basket by Carr plus two fouls and a jumper by Smith.

Coach of the Year

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Arizona State Football Coach Frank Kush has been named coach of the year by the Walter Camp Football Foundation at Yale.

Kush's 150-39-1 lifetime coaching record is second only to Joe Paterno of Penn State.

The Sun Devils, 11-0 this season, will oppose Nebraska in a nationally televised Fiesta Bowl Dec. 26.

Kush went to Arizona State as an assistant coach under Dan Devine. When Devine moved to Missouri in 1958, Kush became head coach.

Andrus daughter making recovery

BOISE—(UPI) — It will be more than just a normal joyous Christmas for the family of Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

The state's first family has just learned that a second of the Andrus daughters has a serious disease, but has successfully responded to medical treatment, KBCI Television in Boise learned Friday.

The governor's oldest daughter, Tana Mosher, 21, has been seriously ill from toxemia, a disease which affects the structural tissues of the body.

She returned to Boise Thursday night from the Stanford Medical Center in California after being successfully treated for the ailment—She was hospitalized there for six days and was an outpatient for the past four.

Upon her return home, Tana said she was feeling fine. She said she felt she had a "new lease on life" and was healing through treatment by steroids.

She said she had the symptoms of an arthritis type condition over her entire body.

before she went to a Boise physician, who diagnosed her case last April and sent her to an internist. It finally was decided to send her to the California medical center after her kidneys and liver were affected.

Medical authorities don't know the exact cause of the disease, just as they don't know the cause of Hodgkin's Disease suffered by Tana's 19-year-old sister, Tracy.

Tracy's illness was diagnosed in July and she underwent several months of constant treatment at the same medical center where her sister was later treated.

Tana's case is controllable, but not curable. She will have to continue taking steroids and return to California for periodic medical checks.

The cast of characters included the mouse, Tammy Hutchison; Mama, Paul Stewart; Papa, Scott Erickson; St. Nick, Dallas Ward; Blitzen, Jeffrey Jones; off stage voice, Connie Stewart; and pianist, Sara Jane Spencer.

Drama director, Mrs. Orville Sears, directed the play.

The girls chorus and the junior high and high school band performed several Christmas numbers with the music director, Mrs. Clady King, in charge, and Mrs. Olani Wallace, accompanist.

Toronto, capital of Ontario Province in Canada, has more than doubled in population, to 2.3 million, in the past 30 years.
