Campaign aid given out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Aides for seven presidential candidates, including President Ford, picked up government checks today at the Treasury Department to help finance their campaigns.

It was the first time ever that direct taxpayer subsidies have been allocated to presidential contenders.

Ford's emissary received a check for $374,322, the second highest total dispensed under the new law which requires the government to match small, private donations raised by presidential candidates.

Checks for four other candidates who have qualified for the subsidies but did not send representatives to pick them up will be mailed to them, a Treasury spokesman said.

Assistant Comptroller Jim Neeley said the Treasury started handing out the checks, totaling about $1.88 million for all 11 candidates today in compliance with a new law that requires the government to match small, private donations raised by presidential candidates.

Representatives for Democrats Sens. Lloyd Benenson of Texas, Henry Jackson of Washington and Birch Bayh of Indiana, Rep. Alan Cranston of Arizona and former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford picked up their checks today received $100,000.

He said the remaining checks for Democrats Jimmy Carter, Fred Harris, Sargent Shriver and George Wallace will be mailed out later today. Each of them will receive $100,000.

The eight candidates who received $100,000 are claiming additional funds of $1.3 million, but FEC auditors are still reviewing the claims so the $100,000 represents an initial payment.

To qualify, a candidate must first raise at least $100,000 in donations of $250 or less, including at least $5,000 in each of 20 states.

The money is appropriated from tax funds collected from persons who voluntarily designate on their federal income tax returns that $1 of their taxes may be used for the purpose.

Pro-West Angolans claim Cubans slain

By United Press International

Anti-Communist forces have killed at least 90 Cuban troops fighting with the Marxist independence movement in Angola in the past five weeks, according to military sources with the pro-Western army.

The sources told UPI the Joint Angola National Union and the National Front for the Liberation of Angola killed 50 Cubans in a single battle near Galuba, 230 miles southwest of Luanda Dec 14. Luanda and the central part of the country are held by the Soviet-backed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola.

The sources said since the pro-Western forces began their offensive against the MPLA in mid-October, 80 Cubans were killed and 15 captured and 1,000 MPLA troops died and 400 were captured.

They said the battle for supremacy in the former Portuguese colony appeared to be swinging in favor of the pro-Western forces, despite an MPLA buildup of troops and weapons for an assault on ENLALines in the North.

Captured Cubans interrogated by the combined forces described the MPLA troops as demoralized and cowardly and Cuban officers had to shoot some who tried to desert, the sources said. The Cubans told their questioners the Russian advisers "estimated at about 500 did not go to the front lines."

Earlier dispatches from Silveira-Porto, Angola, said pro-Western forces battling Soviet-backed rivals for supremacy in Angola have appealed to the United States to restore the military aid cut off by the Senate two weeks ago.

Officials of the National Front for the Total Independence of Angola and the National Front for the Liberation of Angola concluded a New Year's review of the year-long civil war with a call for the Senate to reverse its decision.

The Senate, fearing the United States might be drawn into a Vietnam-like war in Africa, voted to cut off overt aid to the pro-Western forces in the former Portuguese colony.

Jorge Sampaio, an official of the Union for the Total Independence of Angola, said Western nations were unreliable friends.

"Many African politicians have told us that it is now safer to identify with the USSR because when you expect Western nations to help, they don't," he said.

"The United States is just waking up to the Russian threat in this part of the world. We are still hopeful that President Ford and Congress will see the writing on the wall before it is too late."

The Organization for African Unity has scheduled an emergency conference in Harare, Zaire, to discuss the situation in Angola.

At the same time, the Popular Movement is believed preparing a new initiative, possibly escalating the ground war.

Learns hard way

BURLEY — An Oregon man learned the hard way the penalties from justice avoid police stations.

Michael J. Neary, 35, dropped by the Burley Police Station Thursday asking for some more gasoline so he could continue on his way.

Police gave a quick check and discovered that Neary was being sought on a felony charge in Oregon.

Neary was arrested on an Oregon charge of failure to appear in court on an assault charge and held for Oregon officers.

Abort ban pushed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Roman Catholic bishops are circulating a proposed pastoral letter that urges Catholics to seek support of all Americans for a constitutional amendment prohibiting abortion.

The draft letter was prepared by the Bishops' Committee for Population and Family Activities and is being circulated for use as the Jan. 22 anniversary of the Supreme Court's 1973 ruling liberalizing abortion laws approaches.

"Laws that permit the arbitrary destruction of human life — before as well as after birth — are unjust and immoral," the letter said.

The proposed pastoral letter, which bishops may modify or use at their discretion, urges Catholics to "move out into the society," by encouraging non-Catholics to support the anti-abortion effort.

It also supports "local pro-life action groups which are separate from the church and involve the efforts of all who are committed to the value of human life, Catholic and non-Catholic alike."

Sparkman hopes Soviets avoid 'bog'

Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says he hopes the Soviet Union does not get bogged down in a war in Angola like the United States did in Vietnam.

"That may sound strange," said Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., "but I just would hate to see Russia take on the kind of struggle that might have strong pull on us to offset it."

Sparkman said the fears that the civil war in the newly-independent Southwest African nation "could very well become the quagmire" for the Soviet Union.

He said he is "rather afraid" of the allegation that the United States might be helping the Portuguese give up 500 years of colonial rule there last November.

"I think whatever action we take ought to be cautious because that is 7,000 miles from here and while it's a kind of situation that we don't like, I think we've got to be careful how we carry it off," Sparkman said.

He said he supports the use of "limited" CIA funds in Angola, but "I don't believe we ought to move in there with any armed forces or anything of that kind and take sides."

The Senate voted just before its Christmas recess to deny any further U.S. aid to one of the warring factions in Angola.

During that debate Sparkman supported a compromise proposed by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, that would allow the CIA to spend whatever money is already in the pipeline in Angola, but require any further expenditures to be specifically approved by the Senate.

The House is expected to take up the question soon after Congress returns to work Jan. 19.

Sparkman said he believes the Ford administration should seek negotiations with the Russians in Angola.

"These negotiations, he said, should be "fied in with détente."

"If I think Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is capable of negotiating a settlement with the Russians on the adverse side, that then that help in Angola would have no effect," Sparkman said. "I think that is good and I hope the administration will continue to push it."

Despite the problems with détente brought up by Angola, Sparkman said he still "favore" administration efforts to continue better relations with the Soviet Union.

"I think our intentions are right," Sparkman said. "The thing that seems to be giving trouble is making détente a two-way thing. We got to learn to work out these differences in a way that will permit things to continue to run and maintain good relations."

"It's not for one side to have the whole thing."

Betty recovers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Lady Betty Ford still will from Intestinal flu, spent Friday catching up on her mail, her press secretary said.

Sheila Weidenfeld said Mrs. Ford was feeling "much better" but still has to "regain" full strength. She said Mrs. Ford was catching up on her mail and looking over invitations received at the White House while the Fords were on their holiday trip to Vail, Colo.

Mrs. Ford also is making plans for the New Year and working on calendar dates. Mrs. Weidenfeld said Mrs. Ford was Jack and Steve, 19 — were at the White House, but Steve will be heading west Saturday. He is quitting Utah State University, where he was a freshman, and going to California to work as a rancher, and continue his schooling.

Right in step

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bicentennial Year has hit the White House.

Embossed on Air Force One is the Bicentennial emblem.

And now the White House police officers are sporting new badges with the American flag colors and inscribed with the bicentennial dates — 1776-1976.

Lisbon guard office bombed

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — A bomb hurled from a passing car exploded today outside headquarters of a National Guard unit whose members had killed three jetted demonstrators in a New Year's Day shooting clash in the northern city of Oporto.

The bomb, which exploded at the gates to the unit compound, caused little damage and no injuries. It was apparently tossed in retaliation for the incident Thursday in which guardsmen killed three persons and wounded six others in a crowd of protesters demonstrating outside an Oporto prison.

The blast coincided with the appearance of far left posters demanding the arrest of the policemen who had fired on the crowd.

In the clash, the Republican National Guardsmen said they also hit and estimated 2,000 protesters only after firing in the rock throwing crowd fired automatic rifles and pistols at them.

The police gunfire, which killed one West German and two Portuguese propagandists, created fears of another wave of leftist violence.

Many of the leftists who participated in the Oporto protest met this morning to discuss new ways to express their demands.

Mr. T-N So far, this new year sounds a lot like the says old.

Beirut forces pulling back

BEIRUT (UPI) — The scheduled withdrawal of civil militia forces from Beirut has been reported to have started but some civilians are taking refuge in their homes during nine months of civil war remained closed.

Muslims firing their guns into the air to celebrate the new year touched off a series of sniping gun duels with rival Christians during the night, but by morning the clashes had subsided.

A new cease-fire agreement reached last week provided for the phased withdrawal of Christian and Muslim militia forces from the streets and a reopening of the capital by today.

But the nightlong shooting scuffled hopes of meeting today's deadline. For reopening the capital after nine months of civil war that has left at least 4,000 persons dead and 17,000 wounded.

An afternoon security bulletin said total calm prevailed in the capital. The government radio said it hoped the calm would last and that confidence would return to allow banks and businesses to reopen.

TF City pay hikes of 9.5% expected

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls city employees can expect average pay increases of about 9.5 percent during 1976.

According to City Manager Jean Miller, the City Council is tentatively planning to budget for average increases of 2 to 2.5 percent above inflation.

City officials expect inflation to be about 7 percent during 1976. If so, average pay increases would total about 9.5 percent. In addition, some individual employees receive a seniority step increase and promotions.

Miller said a study submitted last year and to raise employe salaries every three months according to changes in the consumer price index. As prices rise, so would salaries.

Miller said the budget will not be final until approved by the City Council in late February. He said there are 170 full-time employees and 42 part-time. Eight of the additions will work at the new sewage treatment plant.

He said the city estimated at this time living costs will continue at about the same rate of increase, or about 7 percent during the year. Budgeting will include a little percentage and will probably allow for about 1 percent if needed.

Miller said the same program is proposed for the Twin Falls firefighters.

The city has offered a 2.5 percent base salary increase at this time and has agreed to give quarterly increases through the year, equal based on the cost of living index as established by the Department of Labor.

Miller said this proposal is still under negotiation and any agreement reached does not become effective until the next contract is signed.

Until such a contract is signed firemen are working under terms of the old contract and long negotiations are delaying salary increases for the firefighters, Miller said.

The city council will probably adopt a salary program in advance of budget adoption. Miller said New Year's parties will affect the beginning of the year and the budget is not adopted until April.

Big storm belts Midwest

By United Press International
A major winter storm which paralyzed southeastern Wyoming and dumped nearly two feet of snow on western Nebraska belted the Upper Midwest with powerful blowing snow today.

In Allentown, Pa., the busy Harrisfield International Airport and out visibility to 600 feet. The metropolitan area was blanketed.

The Wyoming Highway Patrol said traffic was beginning to move again following the New Year's Eve deluge which piled up a record 15.8 inches of snow on Cheyenne.

The storm, spawned by a huge arctic cold front, buried Chadron, Neb., under 30 inches of snow. Morning temperatures in the northeast were in the 20s.

The storm, spreading over the Dakotas and Minnesota, Michigan's Mac Lean of Longmont, Colo., announced from a snowbound Wyoming motel Thursday, "I ain't stepping one foot out the door until the snow and wind quiets."

Cheyenne, Wyo., was buried under nearly 17 feet of snow. Winds piled up seven-foot drifts. Foot-deep snows were common in parts of the state.

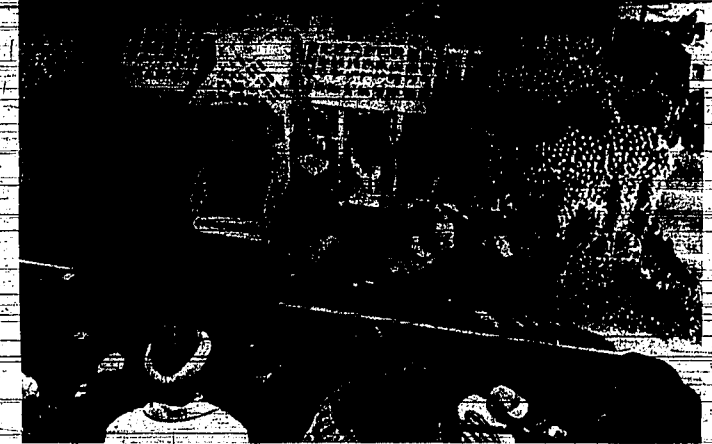

Fifteen motorists stuck on Cheyenne's snow-packed streets made it to high school. They welcomed in the New Year with chili and soda pop.

There was heavy drifting in Colorado and numerous traffic accidents were reported.

Hundreds of motorists were stranded in motels. Moon's party and others like it could last quite a while. Snows tilted over the Plains since Friday and through the storm.

Freezing rains on the fringes of the storm were reported in parts of northern and southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois.

Snowbound party goers celebrated over the New Year's Eve and through the storm.

Parade launches US bicentennial

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The 87th annual Tournament of Roses parade, marred only slightly by an earthquake and the usual aridity, ushered in America's bicentennial year Thursday in a celebration of flowers, patriotism and nostalgia.

Singer Kate Smith, whose rendition of "God Bless America" has become a national institution, led the parade as Grand Marshal, only the third woman to honor.

"I hope and pray to God that we can have peace throughout the world," she said.

The parade was the first official event of the bicentennial.

Proclaiming — America, Let's Celebrate! — the 3-mile, two-hour spectacular floated down Colorado Boulevard under bright, blue skies and temperatures in the 60s.

An estimated 1.5 million spectators watched the parade, some of them after camping out all night in chilly 39 degree temperatures to get a spot on the crowded curbside.

Halfway through the parade, an earthquake measuring 4.2 on the Richter scale jolted a large area of Southern California, but it was apparently felt by only a few spectators and did not disrupt the parade.

Ninety-four adults and 15 juveniles were arrested, mostly for drunkenness, officers said.

An off-duty policeman yanking for the tournament accidentally shot himself in the leg with his own .38-caliber police shot. Robert Shields, 44, was reported in good condition at Huntington Memorial Hospital.

Squawks may trim oil lands

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government intends to lease 12 million acres of Massachusetts coastal and "border" oil area, but drilling, but environmental complaints may reduce the New Jersey offshore acreage available for drilling.

Interior Department spokesman said Thursday comments by state officials, environmental groups, fishing industry representatives and others opposed to offshore drilling.

The department's Bureau of Land Management said 206 tracts comprising nearly 12 million acres of offshore seabed in the Georges Bank Trough off Massachusetts had been selected for "intensive study" for a draft environmental impact statement required under the National Environmental Policy Act.

If approved, they would be opened to lease starting in August. The tracts are from 50 to 200 miles off Nantucket Island. The bureau said they were among 1,227 tracts on which oil companies had said they would bid if they were offered for sale.

It said the tracts were selected after reviewing the recommendations of other federal agencies, state and local governments, and organizations concerned with environmental protection and the use of natural resources.

The department said public hearings would be held on the draft impact statement, and that it would then be submitted to the President's Council on Environmental Quality before a final decision is made.

Quakes jolt US, Greece, Pacific

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first earthquakes of 1976 struck Southern California, Greece and the South Pacific Thursday, jolting a child in Los Angeles and killing a child in Greece.

The California quake shook a large area, rattling windows and shaking furniture over four counties. It disturbed millions of residents but caused no injuries and did no serious damage.

More than 40 tremors shook western Greece Wednesday and Thursday, killing a child in the village of Kastaki, and injuring two persons in Famila.

The strongest quake registered 4.75 on the Richter scale. The government said 123 homes in Greece were destroyed and 300 damaged. Tents were set to shelter the homeless villagers.

The Southern California tremor "was one hell of an earthquake, a really great one," said Mrs. Carole Schlicheck of Buena Park. "We live in a two-story house and it was swaying."

The tremor, which registered 4.2 on the Richter

Ford vetoes 1, signs 14

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has vetoed a bill that would have named the secretary of the treasury a member of the president's National Security Council.

Ford signed 14 bills in the last session of Congress, the White House announced Thursday.

In a veto message, Ford said the measure was "unnecessary" since the treasury secretary already was already privy to NSC matters concerning his office. But Ford also said the bill would restrict a president's freedom in choosing the personnel of his chief advisory body on national defense matters.

Ford Thursday signed bills which will:

- Discourage banks from refusing to make mortgage loans to buyers of homes in neighborhoods which the banks consider to be on the decline.
- Authorize the federal government to pay state and local governments for the cost of guarding foreign missions, diplomats and other visitors. It also expands the size of the Executive Protective Service, the Treasury's uniformed force guarding the White House.

Hushen is deputy to Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

A White House source earlier told UPI Hushen had resigned effective Dec. 31.

Hushen confirmed Thursday that he is planning to leave and said he will be taking some time off this month.

Hushen has been sending out press releases previously served as a press secretary to Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

New building to top 1976 events at College of Southern Idaho

BY LINDALEE

TWIN FALLS — The most important event for College of Southern Idaho in 1976 will be the completion and opening of the vocational-technical building.

The new building should be completed by July 1, according to Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president. It will be the largest structure on campus, he said, with 100,000 square feet of usable space.

At the present time we have six facilities for campus and we have when we get this building to make nine, of the off-campus rental locations," Taylor said.

The new building will be completed and occupied this year also, Taylor said he expects the expansion to be finished by April and hopes to have it through the summer school.

According to Taylor, the expansion will provide an added incentive to expand the agricultural curriculum. The building will be used to display and store livestock.

CSI also expects to make large steps in the completion of its grounds-work. Taylor said he hopes the road which will loop through the campus past the maintenance building to the new vocational building will be completed.

The access road which will run north of the main campus from the vocational building to the maintenance building and connect with the loop road through campus has been promised to CSI by the city for completion in the summer.

The area near the fire sub-station and the outlet will be enhanced with walkways, trees and grass.

The 17-acre-plus area immediately behind the fire sub-station and in front of the National Guard Armory has been donated for development into a park to be joint project with the city, Taylor said.

CSI continues to work toward finding housing on campus for the National Museum of Idaho history. CSWS have an $80,000 federal application pending, part of the bicentennial '76-to-build historical museum," Taylor said.

CSI will make its budget request to the Joint Appropriations Committee on Jan. 12. The request is based on an anticipated 6 to 10 per cent increase in student enrollment in vocational and academic programs continued.

From the looks of the legislative situation, it shouldn't be very optimistic, Taylor said.

Other changes for CSI in the new year will involve federal legislation which prevents discrimination on the basis of sex. The so-called Title IX provision of the Education Act calls for the end to sex discrimination in all phases of education from curriculum, extracurricular activities, to employment practices.

Taylor said he is not sure what the full effect of Title IX will be on CSI athletics, but he feels the college is making progress in the area of employment practices in both the hiring of women and minorities, he said. CSI is trying to reflect the Magic Valley pattern.

In this area, 65 per cent of the men and 62 per cent of the women work, Taylor said, and 62 per cent of the employees are men, and 38 per cent are women.

CSI is the largest in the population is Mexican-American and his staff employs a little over 2 per cent Mexican-Americans.

"CSI will work toward raising that level."

The big event of January will be the Rocky Mountain Community College Consortium at CSI on the 15th, 16th and 17th of the month.

"The purpose of the consortium is to exchange ideas and learn from each other," Taylor said.

IRS seeks volunteers

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls office of the Internal Revenue Service is again seeking volunteers to help certain classes of taxpayers prepare their tax returns.

Under the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program, volunteers help taxpayers who cannot afford to pay a professional but still need help in filing their returns.

The volunteers will receive 15 to 20 hours of training by the IRS in the preparation of relatively simple tax returns. The training will be from 7 to 10 p.m. Jan. 5 through 8 and 12 at the College of Southern Idaho.

"Any individual or organization interested in helping with VITA should call Tom Hamilton or John Eastham, 734-4660.

Spots of ice dot Idaho's highways

BOISE (UPI) — Southwestern and eastern Idaho highways were generally icy today with icy spots and broken snow flurries reported in most areas in the North.

By road, here was the report from the Idaho Division of Highways and the Department of Law Enforcement:

- U.S. 95 — Boise-Hill Near Meadows, icy spots; White Bird Hill-Grangerville, snow floor; Caldwell-Hill, icy spots; Moscow-Sandpoint, icy spots; Bonanza Ferry, snow floor.
U.S. 20 — Hamlet-Pranyon, broken; Lewiston-Pranyon, broken; Snowflake, snow floor; Caldwell-Near Meadows, icy spots.

'Big stink' visitor safe for time being

BOISE (UPI) — Gordon Reed said he has had a problem. "You might say it is a getting rid of an unwanted tenant without creating a 'big stink,'" he decided he'll just forget the problem for now.

Reed has tried to rid a skunk from under his mobile home on highway 21 northeast of Boise, but without success.

He said he talked with the Idaho Fish and Game Department and was told that some people try to coax skunks under their summer cabins to control mice and pack rats.

"I have a lot of trouble with pack rats, so I think we are going to just leave them alone," Reed said. Besides, no one has a sure fire method of getting him out.

"He said some persons have suggested muthalls and he has tried them and they don't really work."

Reed said the Fish and Game Department seem to think come spring and summer the skunk would move on. "So I talked it over with my wife and we decided to hang on."

TF burglars busy New Year's Eve

TWIN FALLS — Burglars were busy in Twin Falls New Year's Eve with 17 burglaries.

City police here reported several automobile burglaries and the theft of tire extinguishers from the U.S. Forest Service warehouse yard.

Ken Garrison reported a citizen band radio valued at $189 was taken from his pickup truck while it was parked at 321 5th Ave. E. Wednesday night.

Another radio, valued at $175, was taken from a tractor and trailer owned by Tractor Farms, The vehicle was parked at the 17th's home on 7th and 17th Avenue. The radio equipment was not missed until Wednesday afternoon, but disappeared sometime during the past two days.

Mrs. Tonia Schurzman, Bull, told police someone took into her car while it was parked at the Grand Lounge Wednesday night. She said clothing items and a small purse were missing. Loss was estimated at $70.

Another citizen band radio valued at $400, was reported taken from a pickup truck owned by Terry Lancaster. He said the theft occurred between 11 p.m. and 11:35 p.m. while the vehicle was parked in the 100, block of Second Avenue South.

Officials at the Van Gas Co. on Kimberly Road reported broken out of their building. Officers said it appeared a handful of marbles had been thrown into each window. Damage was estimated at $100.

10 ranchers file DDT damage suit

SPOKANE (UPI) — A $260,000 damage suit has been filed in U.S. District Court against the federal government by ten ranchers whose cattle were contaminated by DDT in the summer of 1974.

The ranchers contend they couldn't locate their cattle to market because the animals ingested the pesticide while grazing on the Colville Indian Reservation.

The Forest Service sprayed 16,000 acres of reservation land as part of a threeside project to halt a tussock moth infestation in the Northwest. About 6,300 head of cattle on the reservation at the time were contaminated.

Indian ranchers received $230,000 in emergency aid from the Bureau of Indian Affairs; but the Department of Agriculture denied aid to non-Indian ranchers.

The ranchers brought suit against the federal government administered the general pesticide without obtaining permission to enter leased grazing areas on the reservation.

Nampa city official says building down

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Sam Shields, Nampa city building official, reports that 1975 was the lowest year for construction in Nampa since 1968 when he first started keeping records on building starts.

Shields said the number of houses was double the previous year, but commercial building was way down.

He said he didn't know where to put the blame, but added that the outlook for this year is better for commercial building if all of the calls for information his office has had are any indication.

Shields said 361 building permits were issued during 1975, with a total valuation of $3,853,379. The previous year, 372 permits were issued with a valuation of $9,338,313, he added.

Weather stalls mountain assault

GRAND TETON PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Sixty-seven-year-old Paul Petzold has looked down on the world from the 13,776-foot peak of Grand Teton a half-dozen times before — and he says he will see it again this year.

Petzold's eighth try at the mountainers Thursday failed in his annual New Year's Day assault on Grand Teton peak because of high winds and 25 below zero temperatures. But he said they would not turn back, and would resume the climb today if the weather clears. The group had vaulted out a heavy winter storm in snow caves and tents on the mountain's lower saddle at 11,700 feet Wednesday before trying to reach the summit. High winds, clear air and high winds and the extreme temperatures forced the climbers back.

"There's more snow up in the saddle than I've ever seen," Petzold radioed a ranger after Thursday's unsuccessful climb. "It's windy and it's cold, but it's pretty."

Alan Atchinson, chief ranger at Grand Teton, said Petzold also was worried about a buildup of fifty feet of frost and cloud condensation which freezes in layers.

"That's going to be a problem," said Atchinson. "It makes the country look spectacular but it's hard to climb."

Petzold was leading his 11th mid-winter attempt on the peak. Five previous tries have been turned back by wind, snow and sub-zero temperatures.

Ten members of the group spent the night at the saddle, while 17 others were camped 1,000 feet below at the Middle Teton Glacier. Included in the group were several instructors from the National Outdoor Leadership School which he founded in Lander, Wyo., more than a decade ago.

2 youths use stick to rob store clerk

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho police reported that two youths threatened the clerk at the Overland Beverage and Heavy Shop Thursday night and fled on an undeveloped amount of money.

Officials said the youths were about 17 years old. They said the two entered the store after 11 p.m. and threatened the clerk with a stick.

Wearing ski masks, the youths demanded that the clerk hand over the store's money. They took the money and fled.

Accident claims man

ELK CITY, Idaho (UPI) — Douglas D. Peacock, 19, Pasco, Wash., was Idaho's only New Year holiday victim and was the last person to die in a traffic accident in the Gem State in 1975.

Peacock died when a car driven by his father slid off Highway 14 near Elk City Wednesday night and rolled into the Clearwater River.

Six police said preliminary figures showed that Idaho's 1975 traffic death toll was 298 persons, a decline of 55 from the previous year.

Message from the raccoons and fish

The survival of most living creatures in southern Idaho depends upon the Snake River. Man is the most prominent animal using the water of the Snake as lifeblood.

Irrigation water from the river electrically turns desert into fertile farmland. Hydroelectric power from the river keeps industrial concerns operating, providing jobs for hundreds of city people.

Human users of the Snake River often forget the other animals who also rely on the mighty river. Fish of every variety live in the river, smaller aquatic life such as clams and crayfish cling to the riverbed and many furbearing otters and raccoons scurry along the banks.

In the next two decades the Snake will be asked to provide even more help for the needs of man. Inevitably, when man asks for more, other animals end up with less.

Only the two-legged animals on the flatlands have any real power to control how Snake River water is used. The fish, raccoons, water birds and crayfish are conspicuously absent in the state legislature or at water users meetings.

As a result, what the human decisionmakers think is best for the Snake River usually ends up being synonymous with what which is best for the human population.

The latest proposal for the Snake will turn nearly 300,000 acres of desert into farmlands in the coming two decades.

This plan, under consideration by the Bureau of Land Management, will require a tremendous increase of irrigation water from the Snake River.

From the standpoint of the human population, additional irrigated lands will mean a better economy, and a better opportunity for new farmers. For those reasons, most of us probably will cheer the plans to use more Snake River water.

Taking additional water from the Snake to irrigate 300,000 more acres of desert will leave less water for the fish, the clams and the raccoons.

In some years, when the water level of the river is exceptionally low, the entire fish population of some portions of the Snake could be destroyed by the demands for irrigation water.

Before the final plans are made to use up more Snake River water, however, we human decisionmakers should take two small steps to help out the other creatures who depend upon the Snake.

First, we need to establish a minimum stream flow for the river to insure that in the low water years the other animal populations are not destroyed by our use of the water. Minimum stream flow legislation won't hurt existing water users and would greatly help maintain fish and game wildlife in low water years.

Second, we need to hold the line on water quality in the Snake River. Polluted waters are as dangerous to aquatic life as no water.

Maintaining a minimum stream flow and a water quality standard in the Snake River will assure that all the living things who depend on the river can prosper with the addition of more Idaho farmlands.

WASHINGTON — The senior senator from Maryland, Charles McC. Mathias, is one of the most attractive members of the upper chamber. He is a nominal Republican, a liberal, a gentleman and a scholar. Lately he has been brooding about the two-party system. He believes in it, but he fears the system is going to the bow-wow.

A Very Bad Thing. In an article in the Dec. 27 Nation, Mathias develops his ideas. In his view, both major parties are failing to meet the people's needs. They are failing on the issue of jobs. They have failed to come up with meaningful welfare reform. They have failed to reduce crime, to clean up the bureaucracy, and to deal with problems of race relations. They have done nothing constructive about the quality of urban life.

parties have followed public-opinion polls down to the lowest common denominator. The result has been, insidiously, wesselling and hypocrisy, and the public has seen it for what it is. I believe we can no longer afford ideological reflexes, principles that are compromised to feed the alligators of the Left and Right or candidates who are sold like soap.

present moribund party system. This is high octane stuff, but it is mostly gaseous diffusion. It is the stuff of which two-day seminars are made. When only 15 percent of the party identifies itself, then as a party, Republicans, 33 percent as Democrats, and 46 percent as independents, the old two-party system plainly is in trouble. Everybody knows that.

CHINSAI, Zambia — The combination of liberal, isolationist and politically-motivated forces in the U.S. Congress which seems to get the executive branch on Angola regardless of consequences might do well to heed the words of Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda before crippling American freedom of action.

even understanding of South Africa's actions, much as he opposes Pretoria apartheid and South West African Namibian independence. "Once Portugal was out of Angola" (whose independence was declared Nov. 11, 1975) "there was no justification for Soviet support of the MPLA." Kaunda told his visiting "long conversation and private retreat in the Tanzanian border area where he was brought up. (MPLA is the Angolan guerrilla movement aided by Russian advisers and arms plus Cuban combat troops and opposed by the UNITA-FNLA coalition) perceived by Washington, South Africa and Zaire.

Kaunda continued. "We are a nonaligned nation and we spoke out plainly against the United States on Vietnam. Now we must be morally and politically courageous and tell the Soviets: You are wrong. As for U.S. arms help for other Angolans, that was the effect of the situation, not the cause. A truly nonaligned country must condemn Soviet influence in Angola. It is not just a political issue; it is a moral issue."

"Before Angola's independence we pleaded for a government of national unity. He could see the growing Soviet support and arms being sent in. Why did Moscow believe it could give massive support to the MPLA and the U.S.A. would intervene? The Soviets should have urged MPLA to find a political solution, as we have been urging all along."

letters Education in Blaine County

Editor, Times-News: "We now are no longer willing to be average. We want to be better than average." This statement was made by the superintendent of the Blaine County School District at a meeting of the school board on Dec. 9 as reported in the Wood River Journal. Dec. 10. The citizens of Blaine County should be greatly pleased by such an announcement.

entire quality of students accepted by some of the nation's finest colleges, universities and service academies. Certainly these accomplishments speak well of the local school system and, in no small part, of the teachers themselves.

"Christians have no right to select Angola's political leaders." It is a clear dig at Moscow. The UNITA-FNLA coalition has every right to request arms from the U.S.A. when the MPLA receives such arms from the Soviet Union. We cannot complain about this — until reason at last prevails in Angola.

soldiers of fortune none are there. He hopes for an immediate ceasefire and a political solution. Unless there is such a formula, he warns foreign forces won't leave a trace.

This law and other codes provide school boards with the authority and responsibility to remove incompetent and otherwise unqualified teachers from the employ of the school districts. The law also provides the right of the process to a teacher who is being removed, not "tenure."

Table comparing average teacher salaries in Blaine County with other Idaho counties and states. Includes columns for county/state and average salary.

A comparison of some of the salary schedules of other school districts in the state (rounded off to the nearest $100) to that of Blaine County is also interesting. They are listed with base salary and top salary:

This reasonable attitude is expressed in condensed language by statesman, intimately concerned with the outcome in neighboring Angola, Zambia's main outlet to the sea (via the Namibia railway) has been blocked by the conflict. Yet despite his weak nation's vital interests, Kaunda speaks out with more wisdom and courage than many nonaligned leaders who try and tell the Third World what's good for them.

The most recently evaluated S.A.T. scores for Blaine County reveal the following: Nationally in the past 10 years, the average verbal score for college-bound students has declined from 475 to 440 and the math score from 501 to 480. In the Blaine County School System, the average for students who have taken the tests is 456 for verbal and 515 for math, both of which are well above the average of the nation as a whole.

And so the Blaine County School Board professes pursuing a goal of allegedly unavailable above average education. And what enticement does it offer those prospective superior teachers with which it would like to fill the teaching system of Blaine County?

It offers a below average salary in a below average state with below average expenditures and it champions the removal of the due process guaranteed to a teacher whose contract is not being renewed.

Kim eyes new year

HONG KONG (UPI) — North Korean President Kim Il Sung called on his nation to be fully prepared because the United States and South Korea "are consistently maneuvering to provoke a new war" in the divided peninsula.
In his New Year's Day address, Kim also said the North Koreans must accelerate the building of socialism in 1978, give support to their compatriots in South Korea and strengthen ties with world revolutionary forces.

Ex-wife stands in

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Thomas J. R. Moore's intended bride was able to hold his ex-wife's ex-wife stand in for him at the wedding ceremony.
The Rev. William Gardner of the Good News Tabernacle performed the marriage and said the groom, 57, and his ex-wife were "obviously still good friends."
"I know all about things like this," the former Mrs. Moore said. "We were married for 15 years."

Mrs. Navaretti, mother-in-law of a Fiat boss, was reportedly ransomed for nearly $1 million. (UPI)

Hunger strike ends

ATLANTA (UPI) — Comedian and civil rights activist Dick Gregory ended a week-long hunger strike New Year's Day and urged President Ford to guarantee a basic diet for every American.
Gregory and more than 120 other persons drank orange juice to end their hunger strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. They had consumed nothing but water since Christmas Day.

Fire claims six

NEWBORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A New Year's day fire swept the home of a cottage music professor, killing six persons, including three children.
A neighbor said he was awakened before dawn by the screams of children in the home of David-Michalski, 47, a professor at Cal State Fullerton.
The fire killed Michalski, 47, his wife Sarah, 39, their children Pamela, 4, and Alexander, 1; Michalski's secretary, Lillian Sabeh, 54, of Placentia, Calif., and her daughter Elizabeth, 10.

No rest planned

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is working at his usual pace and does not plan a period of rest following the strenuous Holy Year schedule, Vatican spokesman Federico Alessandrini said today.
Alessandrini earlier said reports of a rest period for the pontiff seemed probable.
"But after checking with higher authorities," he told reporters, "the report that the Holy Father is taking a period of rest does not correspond to reality."

Teens claim record

TRUMBULL, Conn. (UPI) — "Our hands fest were very stiff and shaky," said Mary Abena, 15, after she and three friends dived for 22 hours and 12 minutes.
The four high school girls claimed a new world's record Thursday for nonstop applause.
They said the previous mark in the Guinness Book of World Records was 24 hours and 20 minutes.
The three other clappers were Laura Owens, 16, Mary Johnson, 15 and Lina Bennett, 15.

Record spoiled for mailman

CARR, Colo. (UPI) — A 59-year-old mailman who doesn't let rain nor darkness might keep him from his spotter's record this record spoiled New Year's Eve by a blizzard which also kept him from getting home for 20 hours.
"The blizzard was so bad you just couldn't see a thing, and I just ran into a snowbank and got stuck," said Loren Balmer Thursday. "I couldn't even get out and walk for help. I just had to sit there and wait it out."
Balmer, who delivers mail to 41 houses along a stalling route, said he welcomed the new year from inside his

Passengers terrorized

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eleven teenagers terrorized 15 passengers on a subway train in Brooklyn Thursday night, threatening them with convulsing looking toy pistols and knocking some of them to the floor.
Transit police said the youths evidently meant to rob the riders of the train, but all they took was $3, a wrist watch and a portable radio.
A police spokesman said the youths, aged 14 to 18 years old, trooped into a car on the Manhattan-bound train at the Ditmas Avenue station.
Two of them pulled toy pistols and a third an unloaded "pen gun" capable of firing .22-caliber bullets, the spokesman said, and that the toy guns looked good. They could feel anybody.
The youths punched several riders, knocking them to the floor, police said, and one took the foot from the fear-stricken passengers. No one was seriously injured in the incident.
A few riders escaped the car at the Church Avenue station where they told Transit Police what happened.

Judge dismisses Hughes suit

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — The call came in a public telephone booth just two minutes after schedule. The man picked up the phone and answered, "662."
Then he "wrote down 'TX17498KL'" hung up and drove away in a battered seven-year-old car.
The mysterious message, said, "I wrote Walker's name from a telephone booth. Hughes and contained coded instructions for Walker to follow concerning a lawsuit filed in Albuquerque."
A judge this week dismissed the suit, filed by Richard Hughes, 30, who claimed to be the illegitimate son of the reclusive billionaire. He told the court he communicated with Howard Hughes via a radio transmitter surgically implanted in his head.
A statement provided the court as possible evidence of Richard Hughes' claim purporting to be "signed" by Howard Hughes and admitted he had fathered the younger man, but District Judge Phillip Romano, refused to accept the statement and said it was to get further instructions from Hughes through a call to Walker, of Las Vegas, Nevada, the public booth Wednesday.

Venezuela seeking fresh oil markets

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuela's nationalized oil industry today began looking for buyers for half a million barrels of oil a day, which international oil companies rejected as too high-priced to allow them a profit margin.

The international oil companies, whose $4.7 billion assets were nationalized Thursday in the biggest political takeover of foreign investment in history, purchased only 1.5 million barrels a day, half a million less than the Venezuelan government wanted.

The sales contracts formed part of a negotiated nationalization which included compensation payments of $7.5 billion for the unamortized part of the companies' assets as well as contracts to supply technical assistance to the state-run industry.

Meetings set at Gooding

GOODING — Ernest H. Chamberlain, Boise, will hold a week-long series of meetings at the Gooding First Christian church beginning Sunday. Services will begin Sunday morning and evening meetings are scheduled Sunday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Chamberlain has preached throughout the U.S. and has a background in evangelism as well as personal pastorates. He is past president of the North American Christian convention and taught at the Engel School College of the Bible and is employed at Boise Bible College. He will be available for counseling at the Gooding church throughout the week of Jan. 4, according to Rev. Harold Hake, host pastor.

Series begins in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Valley Christian Church of Twin Falls announces a series of "life-situation sermons" to be delivered by the pastor, Dr. Carlton C. Buck, on Sunday mornings at 11 during the month of January. According to Dr. Buck, a "life-situation sermon" is one which deals with a current problem, personal or social, and one which brings biblical teaching to bear upon it. In the series announced are the following topics: Jan. 3, "Faith and Ethics"; Jan. 11, "Handling Fractured Dreams"; Jan. 18, "The Bible and Mental Health"; Jan. 25, "Keeping Our Sanity." The general public is invited.

Memorial service planned

TWIN FALLS — At the First United Presbyterian Church this Sunday morning a memorial service and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed. The first Sunday of the new year the church is having communion, a form of dedication for the new year, and will remember friends and members of the church who have died in the past year and their contribution to the life of the church. Rev. Robert Van Nest will deliver a short message entitled "Somebody's Watching Us." A 9:30 service will be held in the fireside lounge and church school is offered for all ages. Nursery care is provided during the services of worship.

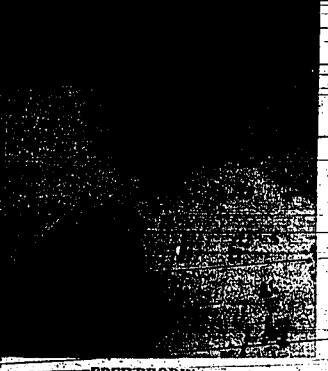

God's sermon topic

TWIN FALLS — The title for the lesson sermon this week at the Christian Science Church will be "God." Services are at 11 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Wednesday at 160 Ninth Ave. E. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. The reading room at 115 Second St. W. is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Church academicians, laity feel isolated

By DAVID E. ANDERSON UPI Religion Writer One of the commonplaces of American religious life is the notion that what goes on in the seminaries is radically unrelated to what goes on in the churches. The laity is assaulted by journalistically popularized versions of complex, demanding theological efforts and throws up its hands at reports that "God is dead," that Jesus has become an urban guerrilla. Academicians, for their part, sometimes feel isolated and dissatisfied from the laity when, after years of work and study, their effort to illuminate the faith for this particular time is met either with a puzzled frown or a yawn of indifference. The moderator of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. has an idea that could put a small dent in those mutual suspicions and stereotypes. The Rev. William F. Keescker, at a recent meeting of the Presbyterian Church's Council of Theological Seminaries, outlined a vision of theological professors, trooping the steps up down Main Street, visiting in the homes of the sick and shut-in and calling on prospective church members. Keescker calls his idea a "reciprocal sabbatical." It is accepted, first by the council and then by the general assembly. It would work this way: Every seven years, more or less, the teacher in seminary, an ordained minister preferably, for one semester would go to one of the hundred churches which contribute 50 percent of the General Assembly mission dollar and there become a co-pastor, lasting with the senior pastor of the church.

FRED BRODIN

Eskimo man to speak to merchants in TF

TWIN FALLS — Fred Brodin, an Eskimo who came to the United States from Alaska with a singing band, will be principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship Saturday night. Frank Barney, president of the local fellowship, said Brodin, who has constructed his trade in Twin Falls, has an infectious and heart warming message. He progressed from a simple band to a brilliant ministry of music, Barney said. A special meeting will be held in the Roundup Room of the Roundup Hotel beginning at 7 p.m. with a dinner. The business meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. Men, women and young people are invited to attend. Reservations for the dinner may be made by calling Barney.

Court upholds verdict

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An ecclesiastical court of appeals has upheld the guilty verdict of the Rev. William A. Wendt for disobeying his bishop by allowing an irregularly ordained woman priest to celebrate the Eucharist. The appeals court included three priests, three women and a lay lawyer. In acting to uphold the lower court verdict, the appeals court divided 4-3 along sexual lines, with the men voting to uphold and the women voting to overturn the decision. It offers that Wendt acted out of conscience. Nearly all of the judges filed separate opinions on the issue. The decision, handed down Wednesday, was the furthest the church has gone in the Episcopal judicial system. The court chose to rule on the narrow issue of whether Wendt broke his ordination vows by defying Bishop William F. Creighton and allowing the Rev. Alison Cheek to preside at a celebration of the Eucharist at Wendt's St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church last November. Ms. Cheek was one of 11 women irregularly ordained to the priesthood July 29, 1974, in Philadelphia. She has since joined the St. Stephen church as a part-time priest and participated in another irregular ordination service of four other women deacons held at St. Stephen's this past summer. Wendt was the first person to sue the Episcopal Church in an ecclesiastical court following the controversial Philadelphia ordinations. He was found guilty of disobeying Creighton in a three-day ecclesiastical trial in May. That trial also set the stage for contempt Presiding Bishop John M. Allen for failing to appear to testify at Wendt's trial. Rev. A. Theodore Eastman, the main majority opinion, said the central question in the case "is the obedience of the accused to his ordination vows" and "whether Wendt acted in a 'godly admonition' from the episcopate when the bishop 'required' that Wendt not permit Ms. Cheek to celebrate the Eucharist at St. Stephen's. Nearly all of the judges in the majority voted in support of women's ordination.

Americans biblically illiterate

By DAVID E. ANDERSON UPI Religion Writer American Christians, who claim to be the people of the Bible, are often remarkably biblically illiterate. The book, which is the most widely bought, sold and given volume in the history of the printed word, is also probably the most unread. For the last 35 years, however, a group of dedicated laymen have been seeking to call attention to the Bible and promote its reading and use, particularly in the home. This year, the week of Nov. 23-30 will mark National Bible Week. The annual observance sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee. President Ford is honorary chairman and the group plans to honor singer Johnny Cash for his inspirational songs, his popular film, "Gospel Road," and his autobiography "Man in Black." The group has also lined up an impressive group of dignitaries to aid in their effort to promote Bible reading. The honorary co-chairmen include Billy Graham, former U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, Sen. J. William Fulbright, Art Linkletter, labor leader George Meany, Cardinal Lawrence Shehan and Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church. The National Scripture Commission (the first "BIBLE IN OUR WILDERNESS AND GOD'S JUDGMENT OF OUR TIMES," said Dr. Clair Randall, General Secretary of the National Council of Churches.

Pope Paul calls for peace

Catholic priests refuse funeral fees

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI Thursday called for more positive and speedy progress toward peace in the New Year of 1976. "Peace is possible; it is a duty, it is necessary," the pontiff said in his homily during a mass in St. Peter's Basilica marking the 9th annual Vatican-sponsored World Day of Peace. "People are becoming convinced that nothing lasting can be done for man's well-being unless people live in harmony, respect others' rights and engage in friendly discussions and constructive talks," the Pope said. "We nourish the firm hope that progress towards peace will be more positive and speedy" in the New Year, he said. "We are all responsible for peace and can all contribute towards the building up of a society based on love." The Pope said "The real weapons of peace, those which endure throughout life in society, are goodness and love."

Evangelist says world in danger

MONTREAL, N.C. (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham, citing this week's bombing at New York's LaGuardia Airport, predicts 1976 will be a very serious, dangerous year for the whole world. "Congressional committees have been told there are 200 terrorists in the United States ready to activate in 1976," he said. "Our hope is in Christ." Graham held a news conference Tuesday to discuss his recent three-month crusade tour through the Far East and to release the text of his New Year message, a 30-minute program taped in England this month and scheduled for broadcast on radio and television Thursday. In the message, Graham cites a rising crime rate, drug addiction, the financial crisis of major cities, and divorce and abortion as evidence the nation's problems are getting worse every day. "As I return home, I am feeling that the American people are almost drugged and are oblivious to the events at home and abroad that cause the atomic clock to move closer to midnight. 'I do not believe that we will be a free democracy 24 years from now, in the year 2000, unless a dramatic change takes place within the hearts of the people of this nation. I am calling upon Christians everywhere to a time of humiliation, prayer and fasting during this 200th anniversary. There is no possible solution to the problems we face apart from a change in the spiritual atmosphere,' said Graham. Graham said he talked by telephone with former President Nixon about 10 days ago and "I personally think he is over the psychological problems" of Watergate and his resignation.

Catholic women 'quiet'

NEW YORK TIMES Service DEB'TROIT — With a law plan for strategy and Clinton calls for struggle 1,200 people from throughout the United States, most of them nuns, ended a meeting on the ordination of women to the Roman Catholic priesthood. "Fifteen women" in the Episcopal Church, which has been in turmoil over the issue, particularly since some women were ordained "irregularly" more than a year ago, most Catholic women have been quiet about it. No such concerted effort had been made to draw attention to their cause. Although no one seemed hopeful of any quiet victories, the feeling here after three days of speeches and intense discussions was that a movement had begun. "It gives visibility to the movement of Roman Catholic women in raising ordination to the level of an issue," said Sister Marjorie Tuite of the Jesuit School of Theology in Chicago. "It's as if Sister Fairfield Hughes, a student at the school, put it. 'We're establishing a possibility.' The differing structures of the Episcopal and Catholic Churches' account in part for differences in the timing and style of their women's movements. In the Episcopal Church, law is made by a bicameral convention consisting of houses of bishops and of clerical and lay deputies. Thus, indeed, are considered to have a fairly good chance of success at the church's next convention in 1976.

Vatican prepares document

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican watchdog body over faith and morals has prepared a document on sexual ethics for Roman Catholics. Vatican sources said Tuesday. The document, already the 16-page document, which is printed in 10,000 copies but still awaiting final clearance by Pope Paul VI, would restate the Vatican's existing policies of opposing all artificial means of birth control as well as premarital sex. "The sources said news reports that the document would ban all forms of sex for pleasure were incorrect. The Vatican has long been on record as allowing the Ogino-Rhythm method of sex for pleasure during the woman's infertile periods. The sources said the document was prepared by the Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, successor to the medieval Inquisition. Officials of another Vatican department, the Congregation for Catholic Education, said they were working on a separate document about sex education. They said this was still in an early stage and unlikely to be completed before 1977.

Fire, water concerns for new Hansen mayor

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times News writer

HANSEN — Upgrading the fire department and increasing the city's water supply are top priorities for Hansen's new mayor.

Galen Stimpson, 27, industrial-education teacher at Hansen High School, will be installed as mayor Jan. 12. He succeeds Harold Miller Jr., who Stimpson says "has done a fine job."

The new mayor says the town now has a single truck and a very small volunteer fire department. He would like to see a better truck and more volunteers.

With Hansen growing as much as it has in the past few years, the water supply is being used almost to capacity, the young teacher says. Pressure is still adequate in the new housing addition north of Highway 30, but "it probably won't be in some spots in the old part of town."

The water system is being "pushed during the summer," and Stimpson said he is investigating possibilities of a federal grant to finance a second well.

The town's old water storage tank was demolished a few years ago and a new storage tank and pump installed. There is need for an additional well, to increase the water supply, Stimpson said.

While "not as pressing" as fire department or water system improvements, recreation is second.

"The town's old water storage tank was demolished a few years ago and a new storage tank and pump installed. There is need for an additional well, to increase the water supply, Stimpson said.

are also a concern to the new mayor. Currently Hansen has a city park with a baseball diamond, but that is the only facility available.

He "shows some 'fire' possibilities of providing other recreational facilities for adults as well as children.

The Hansen city zoning commission will be revitalized, with Kenneth Daw, retiring councilman, as chairman. Several more people are needed to complete the commission. Stimpson said the retiring mayor has agreed to serve on the planning commission.

The commission will review the present zoning ordinances, Stimpson said. The growth of Hansen from some 500 persons a few years ago to an estimated 2,000 now necessitates a "new look" at zoning, he said.

The city will not receive the full value of the increase tax revenue from the new homes this year, but should by 1977, Stimpson said.

In addition to the 200 new homes in the Hansen Estates north of Highway 30, there are 200 to 300 new homes have been built on vacant lots throughout the town this past year, Stimpson said.

The young mayor is a native of Idaho and has lived here since he began his first teaching job in Hansen five years ago.

Stimpson said "all citizens are invited to the monthly city council meetings, held the second Monday.

Appointed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Shiner, Twin Falls, banking official, has been named to the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital board.

County Commissioner William Chancy announced the appointment Wednesday. He said Shiner will succeed William Davis, who has resigned from the board following 16 years on the board. Both men are from Twin Falls.

The appointment became effective as of Monday, Chancy said. He said the county commissioners appreciate the service given by Davis over the past five years. Davis resigned because of demands of his private business.

No sex discrimination in world of mercenary

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — An organization which recruits mercenaries for foreign wars is an equal opportunity employer, when it comes to women.

James Scott, director of EL Kamas Enterprises, which recruits mercenary soldiers, is an equal opportunity employer, when it comes to women.

In an interview with the San Diego Evening Tribune, Scott said women are "wanted."

"They are particularly good at intelligence work and have received applications from female pilots and demolition experts," he said.

He has been working with these skills on his payroll for many years.

Scott, 31, said he was with Special Forces and an agency operator under U.S. contract in Vietnam.

He and his partner, G.J. Longo, Tartaglio, described as a psychological warfare and infiltration specialist, told the newspaper EL Kamas has been in business for 13 years.

EL Kamas was started in 1962, Scott said. "The headquarters was office in Washington, but we sometimes feel we need to shift headquarters after getting too much public exposure."

The organization recently discovered operating on the top floor of Anheilm's seven-story EL Coniga Bank Building under the guise of gathering information on unidentified flying objects, the newspaper said.

It served as a nerve center for a coast-to-coast hiring network with field offices in Houston, New Orleans and Miami.

"We function like actors' agents," Tartaglio said, "we keep up-to-date lists of available talent."

Tartaglio, 37, said he has position for administration and operations in the business and has worked in Vietnam, Central and South America and Africa. He said he was kept by a Royal Navy patrol boat in the Mediterranean.

Contempt case

TWIN FALLS — A woman is seeking to overturn her sentence for contempt of court.

A petition for a writ of review and order to show cause has been filed in Fifth Judicial District Court naming Magistrate Court Paul T. Smith as defendant.

Kaye Stacey filed the action against the judge as a result of a contempt of court action against her.

She asks the district court to order a review of the sentence of the magistrate and order him to show cause why the action should not be dismissed.

Pro-western Angolan movement blames Soviet war involvement

SILVA PORTO, Angola (UPI) — A pro-western nationalist movement in Angola has called for an immediate ceasefire in the African nation's civil war, and demanded the withdrawal of Soviet, Cuban and South African troops from the fighting.

The movement blamed the Soviet Union for the war, saying "no one can justify the USSR's involvement in Angola." This is the cause of the civil war.

The true cause came despite reports from intelligence sources in South Africa that a pro-Soviet Cuban platoon an offensive within two weeks using fresh Cuban troops and a newly arrived squadron of Soviet-built jet fighters.

The pro-Western group, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, also called Wednesday for a cessation of the war, and an all-party conference to be held within Angola, the introduction of a neutral force to mediate negotiations to resolve the conflict and the formation of a transitional government.

The intelligence sources in Johannesburg, South Africa said Wednesday the number of Cuban troops sent to Angola of 7,500 men.

The Russian MIG21 jet fighters and other sophisticated weapons reportedly were assembled in Lunda.

The group said the Popular Movement hopes to launch the assault before the Jan. 10 emergency meeting of the Organization of African Unity in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, called to try to end the fighting.

The National Union has strongly denied the South African troops in Angola have been cooperating with the nationalist movement and a top level movement official said after the meeting he was confident South African troops would be out of the former Portuguese colony within a matter of weeks.

But even as movement leader Jonas Savimbi called the call for the South African to leave, this reporter saw two jeep loads of white troops, apparently South African — riding through the streets of this military stronghold.

The movement manifesto said the "most visible guarantee to peace" was the eventual formation of a national government between the three warring groups — which include the Western National Front for the liberation of Angola.

To achieve this, it called for an immediate cease-fire, a tripartite conference to be held within Angola, the introduction of a neutral force to mediate negotiations to resolve the conflict and the formation of a transitional government.

The intelligence sources in Johannesburg, South Africa said Wednesday the number of Cuban troops sent to Angola of 7,500 men.

Hospital mistake uproots two boys

MOSCOW (UPI) — On June 12, 1967, two boys were born in a maternity hospital in Moldavia.

Schoolmistress Ksenia Tanosova, a rich blond woman, got a dark 'bypskin' baby. Her husband, a poor-brainied housewife, took home a blond baby.

Mrs. Tanosova took the dark baby, Valery, to the wealthy home of her accountant husband.

The blond child, Sergei, went to the poor home of a war cripple where he had to share the table with nine other children.

The newspaper literature naya Gazeta, which reported the story Wednesday, said the accountant, Ivan Tanosov, always had doubts about his "sons' background and his wife tried to lighten the boy's skin with salt.

Tanosov entered him in a school, where he spotted another boy who strongly resembled his wife. He requested "lost" lists, and doctors also examined the children had been switched at the hospital.

The newspaper said Tanosov look like a doctor, but the judge decided it was impossible to rule that a mistake "had been made."

So Tanosov took Sergei to his own home.

Attracted by the higher living standards, Sergei decided to stay with the Tanosovs.

Valery, meanwhile, became the boy nobody wanted, spending a lot of time in railroad stations and sometimes with the Zaldos.

The newspaper said the supreme court ruled that both boys should go to whom they until they are 18, when they can choose for themselves the family they prefer to live with.

A report for the newspaper said he visited the orphanage and found "there were lots of visitors for Sergei, since both families believe he is their son, while nobody goes to Valery."

The newspaper said negligence of the province government Tanosov because of his "lack of heart" in turning out Valery. But he refuses to relent. The newspaper said Tanosov was wrong to go to court in the first place.

"What about the 10 years of the boy's lives?" it asked.

Soviets support arms control pact

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union Thursday strongly supported the signing of a new long-term arms control agreement with the United States, saying it rejected attempts from U.S. "reactionary circles" to sabotage the pact.

It also "denied" allegations that "Moscow had 'sold out' provisions of a weapons pact already signed with Washington."

"The Soviet Union stands for the strict and conscientious fulfillment of earlier signed agreements and for the drafting and conclusion of a new long-term agreement on the limitation of strategic arms," an article in the Communist Party daily Pravda said.

"The strategic arms limitation talks are a matter that is too serious and vitally important to be used for the conscious sowing of distrust," it said.

Pravda's article was signed "Observer," an indication it had the highest Kremlin approval. The piece was published approximately two weeks before the scheduled arrival of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger "for talks on arms control."

Kissinger was to have visited Moscow last month, but delayed his trip at the last moment because of disagreement over the weapons issue with the Soviets. Officials said the differences were sufficient to have delayed indefinitely Soviet Party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev's visit to Washington originally planned for last year.

Buhl firm eyes European market

BUHL — The Green Giant Co. plans to expand its European production into France next year, a firm research agronomist said here Wednesday.

Jerry Renfro, who has been with the company since 1957, told Buhl Kiwanians he served as a consultant to an agricultural cooperative in Pau, France, for eight months last year in anticipation of the start of production there in 1977.

Renfro said he and his wife experienced cultural shock in Pau, a city of about 100,000 in southwestern France, during their stay from April to November.

There are many former cooperatives in France, he said, and this particular one specializes in production of field corn for sweet corn. The crop in Pau produces 12,500 acres of hybrid seed corn for sale throughout Europe and some export. It has some 7,000 grower members, Renfro said.

Greer-Giant plans to have French farmers, through their cooperatives, grow sweet corn for the cannery. The US firm now has operations in some other European countries but not in France.

Renfro worked with the company agronomists testing various strains for the planned production.

He described the three-fold impact of having only a few persons who spoke English, seeing nothing but small cases and meeting the metric system "head-on."

He thanked club members for sending him a set of Kiwanis International table flags which he presented to the newly formed club in Pau. The gift "really made a hit," he said.

FPC orders pipeline payment end

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission says pipeline companies must stop making advance payments to producers for exploration and development of natural gas reserves and "passing" the charge on to their customers.

Instead, the commission urged pipelines and producers to find "other means" to generate capital needed for research, exploration and development of onshore and offshore reserves.

An order issued Wednesday ends the advance program for onshore and offshore production in effect for four years. Pipeline companies that previously made advance payments can continue to recover the cost in the form of higher base rates to customers — but can make no further increases.

The commission also terminated the "passing" advance payment program, saying it was contrary to the national interest since a few pipelines were able to tie up the gas reserves in that state with little or no benefit to the consumer.

In the case of contracts that provide for advance payments "in the future," FPC said rate base treatment of the advances can continue for up to five years.

Through April 15, 1975, a total of $2.1 billion had been advanced to producers for exploration and development in the lower 48 states, Alaska and Canadian areas.

The commission estimated about 1 trillion cubic feet of offshore reserves and about 6.1 trillion cubic feet of onshore reserves reached the market faster because of the advances, but those quantities would have been recovered even without the payments.

The FPC said offshore production has been speeded somewhat, but the program simply had not had "the significant substantial impact on development of natural gas reserves that was expected of the program at its inception."

"The commission said the impact on onshore production was greater since "much" of the new proved onshore reserves would not have been developed without advance payments, but the results are not sufficient to continue the program.

Among the new incentives that should help generate the needed capital for natural gas exploration and development, the FPC said, is an increase in the flowing gas rates for producers mandated under another commission order issued Wednesday.

Silver Creek sale questioned

By BART QUENELL

SUN VALLEY—A picture in a Boise sporting goods store shows a smiling man holding a four- and one-half pound rainbow trout caught this November in Silver Creek.

The sight is unusual. Fishermen do not often catch fish that large in the emerald waters of Silver Creek anymore.

The Idaho Fish & Game Dept. now has the chance to buy and manage Silver Creek. But fly fishermen, sportsmen and local ranchers have questioned how the water and adjacent land will be managed if the Department is able to raise the purchase price of $500,000 in the next three years.

"The department will be given the chance to protect 1.5 miles of some of the best fly fishing water in Idaho," says Sun Valley Company, which is selling the land. The entire purchase includes nearly 500 acres on both sides of the winding stream.

The Nature Conservancy, a world-wide land preservation organization, has given Bill Janss, company president, $15,000 for an option to buy the land which begins at Kilpatrick Bridge and stretches upstream, including Loving Grove and Sticker Creek tributaries.

week trying to explain how that land will be managed.

Most interested groups say the purchase by the state department "could be beneficial." However, protective assurances have not been made.

Beesly said this week only one deed restriction has been formalized. The entire stretch will remain fly fishing only, he said, and the deed passed to the Idaho Fish and Game Department will carry that restriction.

Any other restrictions he said, will come from a committee composed of renowned fly fishermen, several state agency heads and a Nature Conservancy official.

The issue of restrictions is touchy with the fish and game department. State office officials figure the department's own management can take care of the stream and adjacent land.

Many fly fishermen and ranchers here are not sure the present state management shows the needed restraint. Picabo Valley ranchers point to land now managed by the state as "grown over weed patches."

Fly fishermen use the adage the fish and game department has a policy "to get as many people on a stream to catch as many fish as possible."

Greenley denies this charge. He is adamant that policy decisions are changing and the state is adopting a new approach to establish quality fishing, rather than quantity fishing across the state.

Region Five public relations director, Stu Murrell said Picabo ranchers have a good point to make about the potential of farm ground along Silver Creek.

Murrell said the fish and game department would probably not be opposed to the idea of selling or share cropping some of the land that will not be needed for access or for wildlife habitat.

fly stubble makes excellent cover and provides feed for ducks and geese. Murrell said. As long as proper setbacks are made, he felt the department would look favorably on crop production on a portion of the 300 acres.

"The basic thing is to assure access to that portion of the stream," he said. "The regulations will be up to the commission."

Weed patch?

BILL MOLYNEUX, a Picabo rancher, overlooks land managed by the Idaho Department of Fish and Game, which he says is a weed patch. Management of fish and game property in Blaine County has stirred criticism of a plan where the fish and game department will buy 500 acres of Silver Creek and adjacent land.

Burley man injured

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

BURLEY—A Burley man was injured New Year's Eve when his pickup rolled over on South Almo Avenue.

The accident was one of three DWI-related accidents in a four-hour span on New Year's Eve.

Thomas J. Wake, 38, Burley, was headed north on Almo Avenue near 27th Street about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday when he lost control of his pickup. Burley police said the pickup went off onto a ditch on an angle, slipped and rolled over on its side.

Wake was knocked unconscious. Police were able to gain entry to the locked car by knocking open a wing window.

Wake was treated and released at Cassia Memorial Hospital. Police then cited him for DWI.

Damage to the pickup was estimated at $1,600. The pickup also ripped out 20 feet of fence valued at $100.

Two other drivers were cited for the same offense early Thursday morning after they struck other cars twice.

Lea Mae Roberts, 46, Jerome, was parked on the north side of Main Street, west of Overland shortly after 1 a.m. Thursday.

Burley police said she pulled her car forward and struck the car in front of it. She then tried to back off, but her car was hung up on the one she had struck, so she pulled forward, and hit it again, while disentangling her vehicle.

Damage to the other car was estimated at $250.

A Blackfoot man whose vision was blocked by a fuel tank backed into a stopped car twice shortly after 2 a.m. Thursday on Oakley Avenue near Main.

Ronald Jacobsen, 37, backed out of his parking space and into a car driven by Lois Carol Schultz, 33, Burley, who had stopped to let her husband, Les, out of the car.

Police said Jacobsen pulled back into the parking space, then backed into the car again.

Damage to the Schultz car was estimated at $200 with $100 damage to the Jacobsen vehicle.

Taylor home

TWIN FALLS—Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, is back home resting after a lengthy series of hospital diagnostic tests.

The tests were run at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital in Twin Falls. Dr. Taylor was in the hospital for a week before Christmas and returned Dec. 23.

He is now home resting and expects to be back on the job Monday.

"It's looking pretty good," Taylor said. "They just wanted to be sure everything was working right." He declined to say what tests were performed.

Taylor said it was easier to have a complete series of tests if you stay in the hospital. He said the length of his stay was not a cause for alarm.

Woman injured, driver charged

TWIN FALLS—One woman was injured and a driver charged with driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident here Thursday night.

City police reported a vehicle driven by Raymond DeVore Armstrong, 35, Twin Falls, was traveling east on Filer Avenue East when it left the roadway and hit a power pole in front of Chandler's store. A passenger, Alice Armstrong, 64, Twin Falls, was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance, treated and released. The driver and another passenger, Velma Armstrong, 31, escaped injury.

Officers said the vehicle was identified at the scene as the same vehicle, a short time earlier, had torn out at least 50 feet of redwood fencing at property owned by Louise Frazier, 1308 Elmwood Circle.

TF business reports damages

TWIN FALLS—Damage estimated at $200 to the Vegas Car Wash building on Main Ave. 52 was caused Thursday.

George Waring, building owner, told police someone broke out several windows in the building prior to 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Frank Baker told police someone caused $200 damage to his vehicle while it was parked at his home, 703 1/2 Ave. 16. He said two new tires on the pickup were slashed by vandals during the night Thursday.

W. S. Hatch, Woods Cross, Utah, reported someone broke into his automobile while it was parked in the 1900 block of Kimberly Road. A $50 radio was taken from the vehicle, he said.

Buhl woman listed 'good'

TWIN FALLS—Linda Garrett, 24, Buhl, was listed in good condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where she is being treated for injuries following a traffic accident.

She was hospitalized following an accident near Clear Lake Canyon New Year's Eve. State police investigated the accident. Miss Garrett suffered bruises, cuts and possible internal injuries.

Envelopes obsolete

RUPERT—Mihidoka County has about 2,000 obsolete, recent stamped envelopes.

The envelopes were purchased last week after county commissioners told assessor Scott Ervin to order them for residents to return declarations of personal property.

Ervin purchased 1,500 ten cent stamped envelopes to go with an estimated $400 he already had on hand. A 13-cent postal rate on first class mail went into effect Thursday morning.

Ervin said there would be no loss to the county, since the post office cost an another 1 cent onto the envelopes to meet the 13-cent requirement.

"It was just a matter of whether we pay now or pay later," said Ervin.

The assessor had purchased a similar number of 13-cent envelopes prior to an injunction that delayed the postal increase from 10 cents to 13 cents.

Buhl boy victim of shooting series

BUIH—Brent Fairchild, 12, Buhl, was the victim of the eighth consecutive New Year's Eve shooting in Twin Falls County.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the boy was accidentally shot in the upper leg about 6 p.m. Wednesday while playing with two other boys on a farm west of Buhl. The boys walked to a nearby farmhouse after the accident and the Fairchild boy was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance. He was treated and then released Thursday.

Sheriff Corder said the wound was in the flesh between the hip and knee. He said apparently a bullet from one of the other boys' guns glanced back, catching Brent in the upper right leg.

Ambulance owner Cloyde Edwards said most of the other New Year's Eve shooting victims have not been as lucky as Brent. The shootings have included homicides, suicides and some have been accidental.

Pigs 'killed by dogs'

BURLEY—Two large dogs reportedly killed two pigs and chewed two others badly Tuesday night.

Jay Whitby, Burley, told police Wednesday that the two pigs, each weighing about 100 pounds, were killed by dogs Tuesday.

90-year-old Wendell woman takes first airplane ride

TWIN FALLS—A 90-year-old Wendell woman took her first plane ride this morning, "a little frightened, but excited."

Mrs. Rose Dille left JoAnn Field this morning with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dille, Kimberly, on a flight to Oatland, Calif., where they will visit the Joe Dille's oldest daughter and the LDS Temple.

In addition to the first time for flying, another first for the spry Wendell resident was her attire: she was wearing a pantsuit.

"This is the first time I've ever got her into one of her daughters," Mrs. Vivian Stanger, Kimberly, said Thursday.

Mrs. Dille has lived in Wendell nearly 50 years and is known throughout the area for her long years of service to her church. She still provides flowers for church services during the summer and sang in the choir of the Wendell LDS Ward for many years.

She has not sung with the choir since the death of her husband, George, last October. They were married June 29, 1906. The Wendell LDS Choir honored Mrs. Dille at the Christmas cantata for her many years of singing, Mrs. Stanger said.

Mrs. Dille was the first baby born in Rexburg, back in pioneer days of 1885 and the doctor who delivered her second child also had the distinction of being "first" in local history. Mrs. Stanger said. He was the first person in Rexburg to have an automobile.

Shoshone sets train halt

SHOSHONE—Trains will be halted to allow post-basketball game traffic to clear Shoshone streets next Tuesday evening.

Paul Wyatt, Union Pacific trainmaster, said Wednesday that instead of stationing flagmen at crossings, any trains approaching Shoshone about the time the basketball game ends will be halted outside town.

Those trains will remain stopped for whatever time is necessary to allow auto traffic to "thin down" after the game, Wyatt said.

Earlier, there were reports that the railroad would station flagmen at the three crossings, crossing following the game as a safety measure.

Concern over crossing safety in Shoshone has risen sharply since a mid-December collision between a car and a train killed three teenagers. Last action flagmen at the three crossings is nearing completion.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened Friday, the first trading day of the 1978 calendar, with trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which finished unchanged Wednesday, was ahead 1.02 points to 852.83 after the opening. Advances led declines, 236 to 108, among the 512 issues crossing the tape.

Low priced stocks dominated the action Wednesday, the last day of 1977, indicating speculators were hoping for an early 1978 push. The action was considered typically by many analysts.

Investors have been watching for signs as to what course the economy will take during the coming year. There is a consensus—the pace will be gradual, not rapid as some anticipated. There are many uncertainties in this election year.

President Ford, in a year-end interview Wednesday, again called for a 2.5 percent tax cut, accompanied by a $58 billion federal spending ceiling.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2—Congress adopted a resolution urging the colonial governments to explain the reasons for the conflict. Honest and well-informed reports are necessary to necessary confine confirmed troops. New Jersey was directed to raise two battalions for Washington's army.

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thanks to a record first-half stock market in 1977, investors' best gain in 21 years. The outlook is for a continuation early in the new year, but there are many uncertainties.

For the year, the Dow Jones Industrial average gained 28.17 points, or 3.324 percent, to close at 852.81. That was the largest percentage gain since the widely followed indicator rose 43.62 percent in 1954 and the best point gain ever, eclipsing the old mark of 146.15 points in 1958.

In 1978 prices plunged to rock bottom levels that actually set the stage for the 1973 advance. The 1974 Dow lost 24.32 points, or 2.77 per cent, — the worst performance since 1937. That point loss was the worst on record. Most observers judge the Dow's overall performance on percentage changes.

The value of all stocks traded on the NYSE may show an increase of $180 billion for the year, but it will be a disappointing figure considering value had risen $211.9 billion in the first six months of the year. Final figures will not be available until sometime in January.

The Dow's general level also was somewhat disappointing, considering it had gained 28.72 points, or 4.26 per cent, the first six months of the year in the best performance since 1933. It reached a high of 881.81 on July 15, up 304.21 points from its 1952 low of 577.60 on Dec. 6, 1974.

On a broader scale, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index gained 21.83 to 90.19, or 31.549 per cent, and the New York Stock Exchange common stock index rose 11.51 to 47.61, or 31.857 per cent.

Advances routed declines, 1,827 to 216, among the 2,143 issues traded during the year. That performance contrasted sharply with that in 1974 when 1,839 issues lost ground and only 176 advanced.

The big story of 1975 was the record volume of 4,028,458 shares of 315 company stock, valued at $1.742 billion, traded in 1975. Daily volume averaged a record 18,511,993 shares. The 1975 turnover, including 2.6 billion shares in the first half, shattered every NYSE volume record. The old annual record was 4,138,188,000 shares in 1972.

The first bull surge was propelled along by a federal court decision in favor of IBM over Telek on Jan. 24. Cashland institutions, which had been sitting tight, jumped for two years, storming the market in 1974.

If the market is a harbinger of things to come in six to eight months, as many on Wall Street contend, the economy should improve through the first half of the year but the going might be difficult.

During late 1974 and throughout 1975, the market, as measured by the Dow Jones Industrials, generally declined a bottom to the

Bond-market sets records in 1975

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attention in the bond market in 1975 focused on the fiscal problems of New York City which created havoc in the municipal sector, but the year was a record one in many respects.

During the year, a sell-off in high in new financing volume, as did several segments of the capital market.

The market for new corporate bonds was a double whammy, which virtually doubled in 1974, almost doubled again in the first half of 1975, when volume in several months neared $1 billion. The pace slackened in the final six months, but for the year as a whole, the volume of new issues was 21 per cent ahead of 1974.

Industrial issues of medium term focused on the record volume increase in the first half as well as for the decline in the second. Utility new issue volume tended to be steady and there was a moderate recovery of convertible bond popularity.

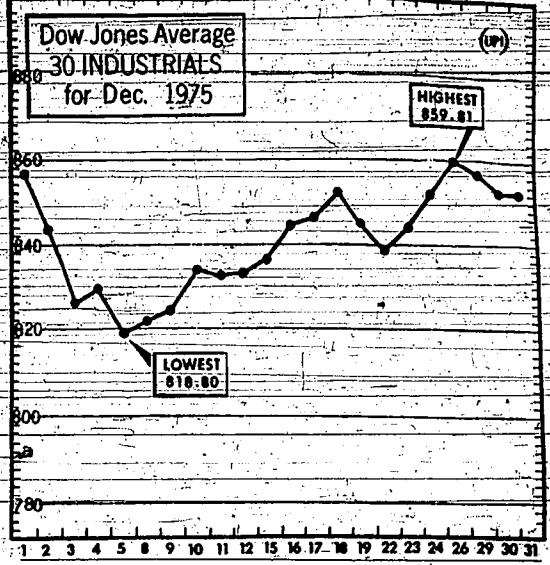

In looking ahead to 1978, the picture is somewhat uncertain. Factors which will affect the bond market include the rate of economic recovery.

Some forecasts anticipate rather slow growth in the early part of the year, perhaps throughout the first half, with only moderate acceleration in the second half. Others are more optimistic, seeing a vigorous, sustained recovery.

The action of the Federal Reserve with respect to monetary policy will have a profound effect on short-term interest rates, which will be dependent in part upon how this agency judges the pace of economic development.

While the rate of growth in the economy and the level of interest rates will affect the market for bonds, it is well to point out there is no particular correlation between the volume of debt securities and the rate of spending. There is some feeling among Wall Street economists that long-term interest rates will continue to head downward in the near future, ultimately, perhaps by as much as 100 basis points by mid-1978.

The outlook for short-term rates is for moderate change, with disagreement among

First half spurs mart gain

most postWorld War II recession, a sharp economic pickup and a slower pace.

Almost six months after the Dow reached its December 1974 low, the recession bottomed out and the Dow stood at 858.73 on May 14. Since the average reached its 1975 high in July, the economy, which rebounded sharply in the third quarter, should continue to improve through January and then grapple with uncertainties.

The Gross National Product soared 13.4 per cent in the third quarter, demonstrating the rebound. But many investors were disturbed when the government's index of leading indicators leveled off in the final quarter. This would indicate the GNP growth had slowed.

Interest rates, as was the case in previous two years, played a large role in the market's 1975 performance. And in later months, so did the New York City financial crisis. The outcome of that situation won't be known for months, maybe years.

A revival in July of inflationary forces, genesis of the market in 1973-74, prompted the Federal Reserve Board to tighten credit a bit. Short-term interest rates climbed as a result.

The prime rate, for example, rose from a low of 7.71 per cent to 8 1/2 per cent before declining again to 6 3/4 per cent. The prime had dropped sharply during the first quarter of the year after reaching an all-time high of 12 per cent in 1974.

Because of the 1975 tax cut and lack of business activity, the nation's money supply climbed at a 13 per cent rate during the early summer, according to Arthur F. Burns, Fed chairman. When the money supply situation was brought under control in the fall, interest rates began to decline and the market started to move higher again.

Bill New York City nearly went bankrupt and needed federal aid among other things, to stay solvent. The crisis brought a potential October rally and still remains a major concern on Wall Street.

As the market moved into 1976, one of its biggest uncertainties will be the presidential election. The economy and the government's huge budget deficit will be among key issues.

Wall Street is worried inflation may be rekindled and that oil producing nations may raise oil prices substantially in June.

The old Wall Street theory "as General Motors, GM, was the sixth most active Big Board issuer, gaining 27 points to 57, on 29,200,700 shares. GM and the auto industry, generally, have snapped back sharply from the recession. GM officials believe 1976 sales will be the best in three years.

Polard topped the Big Board actives, gaining 12 1/2 points to 31 on 49,830 shares, because of the company's problems with its SX-70 camera sales and some disappointing earnings for 1975.

In the corporate bond market, the expectation is that the pace of new issues may decline by as much as 50 per cent from the record levels of 1975. The volume of new issues is being a month. In contrast to 1975, when individuals were a potent force in the bond market, institutions are expected to be more active in 1976.

In the tax-exempt bond market, volume should decline somewhat as "municipal revenues pick up along with the economy and growth in state and local government. After their bitter experience with New York City securities, individual buyers are turning more cautious and are expected to pass up some of the more attractive issues.

The Federal Government will again dominate the credit markets in 1976, but its ap-

UCLA rips Buckeyes' national title dream

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—John Sclarra thought he'd be the Rose Bowl and he's the man who brought us through it to victory. UCLA's delightfully happy Dick Vermell said.

"He's a great football player. I'll be damned if there are seven better college players in the country" as the Heisman Trophy voting indicated.

"Vermell, the former Los Angeles Rams assistant, spoke

Thursday night minutes after his greatest coaching triumph, a 23-10 UCLA victory over heavily favored and No. 1 ranked Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

Sclarra fired two touchdown strikes to Wally Henry in the third quarter and Wendell Tyler streaked 54 yards for a third score in the fourth period.

"We didn't have any pep talks at half time," Vermell continued. "We knew that we were fortunate to be trailing only 3-0 after our weak offensive performance in the first half."

"But the players also knew that we could win the bowl game. We spent the whole intermission making technical adjustments."

"Bombastic" Woody Hayes, the Ohio State coach, was impractical in defeat—he refused to show up at the Rose Bowl interview room and ordered his players and his assistant coaches not to talk to reporters.

Averaging a 41-20 defeat administered by Ohio State at the Los Angeles Coliseum Oct. 4, the Bruins, two-touchdown underdogs at game time, cost the Buckeyes their first national championship since 1956.

Badly outplayed in the first half when they could only register two first downs and 48 total yards, the Bruins took charge of the game at the outset of the second half and picked it up.

Sclarra, a second team All America who is considered too small to play quarterback in the pros, put UCLA ahead 9-3 5:53 into the second half on a 14-yard touchdown pass to a speedy Henry. He teamed with his flanker on a 67-yard touchdown bomb at 13:49 of the third quarter.

Sclarra was voted the player of the game.

"Tyler showed up UCLA's tremendous upset when he ran 54 yards for the third UCLA score of the game with 2:42 remaining." Tyler, wearing a cast on a broken wrist, completely outplayed double Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin of Ohio State, rushing for 172 yards on 21 carries, while Griffin was held under 100 yards, gaining 93 on 17 carries. Tyler gained 166 of his yards in the second half.

Tom Klaban kicked a 42-yard field goal at 6:40 of the opening period to put the Buckeyes in front 3-0 and Ohio State totally dominated the rest of the first half, rolling up 114 yards and 11 first downs.

But Klaban's field goal was all the points Ohio State could muster and the Bruins came out a different team in the second half. They took the opening second half kickoff and marched to the Ohio State 16 in nine plays. Brett White then kicked a 33-yard field goal to tie the score at 3-3 with just 2:44 gone in the second half.

After Sclarra's two TD passes to Henry, Ohio State came back and went 65 yards in 12 plays with bruising fullback Pete Johnson capping the drive with a three-yard run to make the score 16-10 with 1:48 remaining.

The Buckeyes' Craig Cassidy intercepted a Sclarra pass and his run back, plus a UCLA personal foul penalty on the play, gave Ohio State the ball in the UCLA 35.

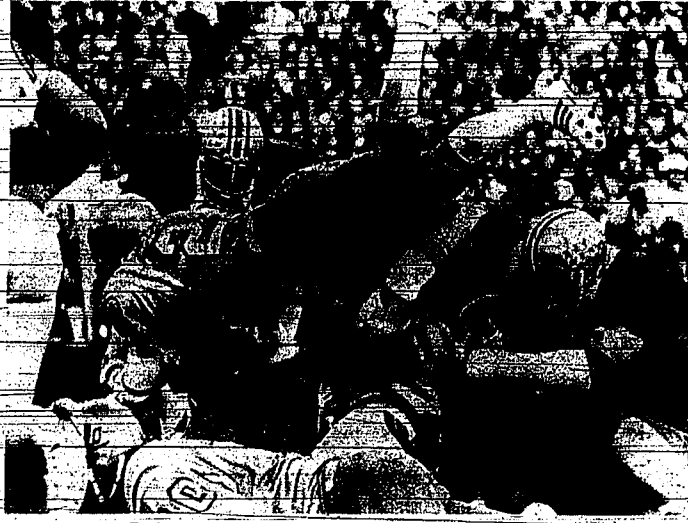

But on the very next play, Barney Meyer of the Bruins intercepted a Cornelius Greene pass and returned it 30 yards to the UCLA 43.

Ohio State got the ball back with 5:20 to go but, on Ohio State's second play, Greene was intercepted for the second time in the game, this time by Pat Schmidt. At that point there was 3:17 remaining.

After a seven yard gain by Eddie Ayers, Tyler cut off fullback and rambled down the left sidelines to tie UCLA's big victory.

Sclarra, a 5-10, 178-pound senior, completed 13 of 19 passes for 212 yards. He was held to 39 yards passing in the first half.

For the Pacific 8—it was the sixth win over the Big Ten in the last seven Rose Bowl classics.

Arkansas tops Georgia 31-10 in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (UPI)—Without a calendar handy it would have been easy to mistake New Year's Day for Halloween at the Cotton Bowl Thursday.

It was the Georgia Bulldogs who tried to trick Arkansas. But the treat went to the Razorbacks—a 31-10 triumph over the Bulldogs, Arkansas' first bowl win in seven years.

Holding a comfortable 10-point lead late in the first half, Georgia committed two costly turnovers—both of them coming on a trick play—and

Health, confidence helped UCLA cause

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—"We were a little more confident and a little healthier this time," UCLA quarterback John Sclarra said after directing the leading Bruins to a shocking 23-10 victory over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl Thursday.

"At half time, there was no emotional talk. It's not a rah-rah game."

"Besides, why should we be discouraged? We were the big underdogs and we only trailed 3-0. Our offense had 1300 a chance to move the ball yet."

"Defensively," the Bruin quarterback continued, "we did a great job against their offense. Offensively, in the first half we saw 20 defenses had to be seen before us. Ohio State was using an eight-man front. We had to make some technical adjustments at half time."

Although his Bruins probably cost Ohio State the national championship, Bruin coach Dick Vermell said he felt the Buckeyes were probably "the best team in the nation over a 12-game schedule."

"I would not be anywhere in the top five," he added.

Arkansas, despite being outplayed through almost all of the first two quarters, escaped with a 10-10 deadlock at intermission.

Arkansas used the momentum they had seized at the end of the half to bore away reliently until Georgia finally collapsed, resulting in a 21-point, Razorback fourth quarter. Georgia could manage only two first downs and 60 total yards in the second half.

The Razorbacks broke through in the second half on a drive from quarterback Scott Bull to Freddie Douglas that set up the go-ahead touchdown with 11 minutes left in the game.

"The way Georgia took it to us in the first half I would not have been surprised if everyone had given up on us," said Arkansas coach Frank Ruggles.

"That's the finest second half we've played against a good team in a long time. I thought the key play was the pass we hit to Freddie and because we played the second half mostly on their end of the field we were able to play with recklessness."

Georgia players were chiefly distressed at the failure of their trick play, which, if it had worked, would have given the Bulldogs a 17-3 halftime advantage.

"But Arkansas was not fooled and got on the players quickly for it to develop," said Georgia quarterback Ray Goff. "That play definitely hurt our momentum."

Georgia's ball control offense dominated the opening minutes of the contest—and Arkansas was fortunate to be trailing only 10-0 at that point. But in quick succession, the Bulldogs committed two critical blunders—one of them on a trick play—allowing the Razorbacks to draw even at halftime.

With the momentum of the game changed, Arkansas threatened throughout the second half to break it open. But the Razorbacks missed three field goals and could not score until 11 minutes were left in the game.

Bull's 35-yard pass to Douglas—the only long pass completed by either side all day—moved Arkansas to the Georgia 12—and three plays later Roland Fuchs scored what proved to be the winning touchdown on a five-yard run. Arkansas extended its winning margin later in the final quarter on a one-yard scoring run by Michael Forrest, set up by an interception in Bulldog territory by cornerback Howard Simpson, and a five-yard run by the game's leading ground gainer, Ike Ertle.

Georgia moved in front on a 33-yard field goal by Alan Leavitt and a 21-yard scoring toss from backup quarterback

But, despite Dooley's gracious comments, the Georgia Bulldogs had to feel that they helped Arkansas a little too much.

Leading 10-0 with the seconds ticking away in the first half, Georgia turned to the ball over twice—once on a busted trick play that was diagnosed by the Razorbacks before it could unravel—and allowed the Razorbacks to tie the score at 10-10.

"Turnovers are usually the difference in a bowl game, especially in a bowl game," Dooley said. "And we had some critical ones. At the same time, we could never get on when we needed one."

Arkansas and Georgia were both overlooked nationally during the year, although both teams posted 9-2 records. Razorback players and coaches, after Arkansas' win over Texas A&M to close the regular season, said they felt they could play with any team in the country.

DALLAS (UPI)—Arkansas' first bowl bid is personal honor—and that of the Southwest Conference. And the Georgia Bulldogs were properly impressed.

"Arkansas was every bit as good as we expected," said Georgia coach Vince Dooley following the Razorbacks' 31-10 triumph in the Cotton Bowl Thursday. "They were a complete football team—as I said before the game, and they showed it in the second half."

"Arkansas never let us out of the hole and their offense took it to us."

Oklahoma beats Michigan, stakes U.S. title claim

MIAMI (UPI)—The Oklahoma Sooners, barred from bowls and television for two years for recruiting violations, returned in style Thursday night.

The second-ranked Sooners beat fourth-ranked Michigan 14-6 in the Orange Bowl and probably won the national collegiate championship as well.

Ohio State, the number one team in the last poll, was upset 23-10 by UCLA in the Rose Bowl Thursday, and the Sooners are expected to move up a notch when the final poll is announced Saturday.

The long absence from national view appeared to give the Sooners early game jitters but senior Steve Davis, who has guided Oklahoma to a 32-1 record in his three years as starting quarterback, finally got their moving late in the second period. Davis passed for 30 yards, then pitched out of an end-around to Billy Brooks on a 39-yard play that got the Sooners their first touchdown and scored the other half of their 14-yard keeper. Davis worked up 118 yards total offense Thursday night to give him a career total of 4,151 yards.

Davis had said before the game that he felt like a sophomore going into the Orange Bowl "because although I've been playing for three years, I've never been in a bowl game."

He may have felt like a sophomore, but he played like a veteran.

Brooks broke open the scoreless dual with 5:07 left in the first half when he took a pitchout from Davis, an end-around, shook off several would-be tacklers and broke in the clear on a 39-yard touchdown jaunt.

Davis widened the Sooners' margin on the opening play of the final period when he scored on a 14-yard keeper.

Michigan, which came to the Orange Bowl after defeating the Big Ten championship team Ohio State, got its game fully moving through the final period when Gordon Bell scored on a two-yard plunge immediately after Dave Dillich recovered a Sooner fumble at the Oklahoma 2. The Wolverines tried to go for two points after the touchdown but failed to make it.

Oklahoma, which wound up 11-1 on the season after losing only to Kansas, was unable to get its famed wishbone offense going until late in the second period when the Sooners struck 29 yards in two plays.

Oklahoma, which had only four first downs at that time, was at its own 21 before Davis completed a 40-yard pass to Tinker Owens. The very next play was the scoring play on the end-around to Brooks.

Michigan, which wound up with an 8-2 record, dominated play before Oklahoma's first scoring drive. The Sooners gained a total of only three yards in the first 13 minutes of the game and were backed up to their 15-yard line late in the first quarter after the Wolverines downed a John Anderson punt there. Anderson punted inside the Oklahoma 10-yard line twice more in the first half.

Michigan got inside the Oklahoma 35 three times in the first half but Bob Wood was short on field goal tries of 31 and 41 yards on two of those attempts and a motion penalty forced Michigan to punt the third time.

Oklahoma drove 68 yards for its second touchdown starting at its own 32 with less than four minutes to go in the third period. Davis turned in runs of 8, 12 and 16 yards and fullback Jim Culbreath had a 21-yard run to give the Sooners a first down at the Michigan 9. Culbreath lost a yard on the last play of the third period but Davis rolled out to his left, faked a pitchout and then ran for the corner to score the Sooners' second touchdown with only four seconds left in the final period.

Michigan had a terrific night passing, completing only two out of 18 attempts and having three intercepted, two by Scott Hill. The Wolverines did not complete their first pass until they were only 44 seconds left in the game.

Sooners think they should be No. 1

MIAMI (UPI)—Barry Switzer knew the question would come eventually.

"Do you think your team is number one?" The Oklahoma coach was asked after his team's 14-6 victory over Michigan in the Orange Bowl.

"I knew you guys were gonna ask me that question sooner or later," Switzer replied to a roomful of reporters. "I'd like to say we are, but I don't know how the polls are going to come out. There are some great football teams across the country and I think we've played some very big games this season."

"I'd like to think we're number one."

Switzer was aware of the Rose Bowl score (UCLA 23, Ohio State 10) and the inspired "Oklahoma" quarterback Steve Davis said the Sooners knew of UCLA's upset of Ohio State before the Orange Bowl kickoff. Switzer said that gave us more incentive.

"This was the super bowl for us," said Davis. "We knew we had to perform well and it made me more tense."

And who's number one? "I think this team deserves it," said Davis.

Sooner defensive tackle Leroy Selman said the Ohio State loss "made this game more incentive for us," but added he had a feeling Oklahoma would be playing

DANCING Billy Brooks (82) of Oklahoma slips past Michigan's Dan Jilek (81) on an end-around play in the Orange Bowl Thursday. He scored on a 39-yard romp which helped the Sooners post a 14-6 decision. (UPI telephoto)

Brown surprises by leaving Bengal job

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Paul Brown, who has coached more football victories than anyone else in history, resigned Thursday night as head coach of the Cincinnati Bengals.

Brown bowed out with a 45-134-16 record after 23 seasons as a football coach from high school to the pros.

Brown said he would continue as general manager of the Bengals, an expansion team he formed eight years ago. He also is a major stockholder in the club.

Brown appointed Bill Johnson, an assistant coach with the Bengals the last eight years, to be the new head coach.

The announcement of Brown's resignation came as a surprise because, despite his age, Brown remains in excellent health.

The long-keened and unassuming Brown did not make a personal appearance Thursday night to announce his resignation. Instead, he telephoned the team publicity director, Al Helm, and let him contact sports reporters.

"This took me by surprise," said the astonished Helm. "It took me to put out the word, I wished me 'Happy New Year' and wished to remain out of reach."

Johnson, 49, who played and later coached with the San Francisco 49ers before joining Brown's staff here in 1968, said he was pleased with his appointment.

"I am honored that Paul Brown would select me as his successor," Johnson said. "I'm completely in agreement with the program here. This is a rare opportunity and I will do my very best."

Stars hit by suit

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Bill Daniels, owner of the Denver "Major Stars" of the American Basketball Association, has been charged with defrauding season ticket holders in a class action lawsuit.

The suit, filed Wednesday in Utah's Third District Court, demands that Daniels and his company, Mountain States Sports Inc., refund $89,000 to people who bought tickets for games the team did not play.

It also asks for $300,000 additional damages.

The Stars folded Dec. 2 after Daniels was unable to meet his payroll. The Denver businessman said he had lost $3.1 million on the club, which he unsuccessfully tried to sell several times.

In shutting down the club, Daniels sold four key players—Moses Malone, Ron Boone, Steve Green and Randy Denton—to the St. Louis Spirits. He also ended up owning part of the Spirits.

The lawsuit was brought by Charles Fox and his company, Counterpart Sign Inc., which purchased 4,000 "worth" of season tickets for the Stars. It was also brought on behalf of "all owners" similarly situated.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early day can have difficult conditions, so don't become upset if odd situations develop. Later, a new ability is present to make real headway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Avoid conversations in a.m., but the latter part of the day brings good results. A fine social evening is possible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Avoid public affairs in a.m., but later you make much progress with the influential. Handle credit matter early.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get right down to important tasks in a.m. Later you can study into new and interesting enterprises. Show joyfully.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Handle business affairs in a.m., then later you can plan for more efficient operations. Make it late in a.m., but changes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Keep promises. Delve into whatever interests you. Replies on who opposes you with one who is more congenial.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21): Get all your work out of the way early, then take health treatments. Study wardrobe; then shop within budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22): Enjoy recreation needed to relieve tension, then you can do important work later. Don't be sarcastic with mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Avoid touchy subjects at home to prevent arguments. Get work done there. The evening is fine for entertaining.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Do chores early free time for visiting, shopping. Forget controversial subjects, whether written or spoken.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Spend money carefully in a.m. Look about for true bargains in afternoon. Enjoy home and family in evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Improve health and look for a job for visiting, shopping. "Show the lightfulness for good friends. Increase goodwill.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Relieve tensions early, then put new plan in operation. Needed help seems impossible to get in a.m., but comes later.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will get a little strange early in life, and needs guidance and kind discipline to get the mind organized and the imagination controlled. Then upon maturity there can be much success in this chart, particularly if a good education is given. Any profession where you progress will deal directly with the public is fine. Give good religious training early.

THERE'S NOT a building in Washington, D.C., that's as tall as 20 stories... DO YOU KNOW what an intense affair is? That's what an Indian has. Or so says Pete Barbuti... BELIEVE! failed to mention it takes 11 quarts of milk to turn out a pound of butter?

FIRST MAKER of the automobile known as the wood paneled country coach was Volkswagen—it turned out 185. In 1940, they sold for $3,500 each. Private owners shipped 11 of them to this country; if you find one at your local flea market, buy it. In the classic auto business now, it's worth about $9,500.

GAME BIRDS

When considering game birds, please bear in mind there's only one species in which the female chooses the male rather than vice versa in the matter of mating. It's the red grouse.

IF YOU GAINED 3.7 pounds within three months after you quit smoking, you're hitting the national average just about exactly.

WANT TO MAKE a little money next year? Buy now all the U.S. flags you can get. Prices of same are expected to double maybe triple in upcoming months.

IN A HERD of dairy stock, always milk the boss cow first. Such is a relatively recent rule devised by an expert in Germany. His experiments, it's reported, prove the cows will give more milk, if they're milked in the descending order of their aggressiveness. Experienced dairymen here, though, say it tends to happen naturally. The boss cow gets to the gate first, into the barn first, into the stall first. And the second comes in second; And the third is ready third.

Miss Mini-Cassia contest slated Saturday in Burley

BY SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News Writer

Bliss is a two-runnup from the 1975 Miss Idaho pageant are among nine candidates competing Saturday in the Miss Mini-Cassia contest.

The pageant is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday in the convention center at the Ponderosa Inn.

The winner will compete later in the year for the Miss Idaho title.

Stephanie Bessire, former Minidoka County Junior Miss, and Sheri Lynne Borchardt will make their second appearance in Miss America preliminary competition.

Stephanie was second runner-up in Twin Falls last year. Sheri was fourth runner-up.

Trial contest was won by Teri Harding, Heyburn, who went on to become Miss Idaho. The 1975 pageant will participate in the Saturday pageant, which is sponsored by the Burley Rotary Club.

Five Minidoka County beauties and four from Cassia County will make primarily musical talent presentations in the contest.

In addition to the two 1975 competitors—the roster includes Linda Adams, Burley; Tamara Rae Anderson, Burley; Sara Louise Barlow, Burley; Suzan Cheney, Rupert; Suzana Marie Commons, Rupert; Julie Kay Hellewell, Heyburn; and Sandra Robinson, Oakley.

Tami Anderson, a senior at Burley High School, Tami will present the most unique talent presentation—a routine that includes sign language and acrobatics.

She has studied dance and acrobatics for 15 years, teaching the latter for the past four, and has studied sign language for six years.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Anderson, she has a talent scholarship to Brigham Young University and plans to major in communicative disorders.

Tami is 5'5" and weighs 110 pounds; has brown eyes and blonde-brown hair.

Linda Adams, the 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Adams, Burley, plans to sing at Saturday's pageant. She has studied voice and dance.

Linda is 5'4" and weighs 125 pounds. She has light brown hair and blue eyes.

1967 graduate of Burley High School, she holds a real estate degree and worked in realty sales for 2 1/2 years.

She enjoys sports and the outdoors and has five sisters and two brothers. She also likes to travel and has been to Europe and South America.

Gara Barlow

Gara is a 1974 graduate of Burley High School and in her second year at the University of Idaho, where she is employed at the university law library.

The 19-year-old, green-eyed blonde is the daughter of Burley cement mixer Roy Barlow. She is 5'4" and weighs 100 pounds.

Another sports enthusiast, Gara will present a vocal solo Saturday. She was a member of the university's Vagabond Choir, a song leader with Burley High, a music club scholar.

Stephanie Bessire

Stephanie is 18 years old and a student at Ricks College in Rexburg. She has studied piano for 10 years and will offer a solo in the competition.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bessire, Rupert, she graduated 14th in her class at Minidoka High School last year, receiving a Dorian Choir scholarship.

She was a nominee for America's Outstanding Teen-Ager and was second runner-up in the Miss Twin Falls competition last year. She was Minidoka County Junior Miss for 1974-75.

Stephanie is another green-eyed blonde. She is 5'4" and weighs 110 pounds; she plans to work in child development after her graduation from junior college.

Sheri Borchardt

Sheri is a blue-eyed blonde, the biggest flirt in her senior class at Minidoka High School last year.

At 5'8", she is the tallest of the nine contestants and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Borchardt, Rupert. She is a Boleo State University student, she is seeking a degree in theatre arts and plans to teach the underprivileged.

Sheri will offer a dialogue and song presentation in the contest. She was president of the Thespians at Minidoka and has been singing as a soloist and in groups for five years.

Suzan Cheney

Suzan is a graduate of Minidoka High School and Ricks College, where she traveled North America extensively with the college's program bureau.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Cheney, Rupert, Suzan is secretary in Burley. She will present a piano solo Saturday. She also has studied dance.

Suzan is the only brunette in the pageant—She is 5'4" and weighs 110 pounds and has brown eyes.

Sandy Commons

Sandy also will offer a piano presentation. She has studied piano for eight years and organ for two.

The 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Commons, Rupert, is 5'7", second in height among the competitors.

She has blonde hair and blue eyes and weighs 125 pounds.

The Minidoka High School graduate now is studying child development and family relations at Brigham Young University.

She was named queen of her residence hall there and will compete for queen of Heritage Halls in March.

Julie Hellewell

Julie is a 17-year-old senior at Minidoka High School. She is a member of the National Honor Society and manages the school store.

Brown-haired and blue-eyed, she is 5'3" and weighs 130 pounds.

Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hellewell, Heyburn. She plans to attend Brigham Young University and major in early elementary education.

Sandra Robinson

Sandra is the only entrant from outside the Burley-Rupert area. She is a senior at Oakley High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robinson.

The 17-year-old, blue-eyed brunette is 5'5" and weighs 125 pounds.

She has been named most talented and best dressed at Oakley High.

Sandra is a student piano organ and voice and has been active in music at the school. She plans to study dramatics after graduation this spring.
