Valley growth varies

By GORDON JUDD
Times News Writer
Part of a series

MAGIC VALLEY — During the 1965-72 period of rapid Idaho economic growth, some Magic Valley counties showed in the growth more than others, according to a recent study.

Total wages and salaries grew at strikingly different rates in the Valley with growth ranging from a low of 29 per cent to a high of 132 per cent during the period.

AS A STANDARD OF COMPARISON, Idaho gained 10 per cent.

These conclusions were part of a study of Idaho personal income published by Professor W. Lamar Bollinger at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

In an earlier study, Bollinger concluded that Idaho's "boom" has not yet come. And in his new study he remarks that "it has begun to happen."

The study points out that "in general, the computation of the income of an area is the one process likely to be most revealing of the nature and structure of its economy."

The "latest figures" contained in the study rank Magic Valley counties in relation to other counties of the state for 1972 and 1963 as follows: Camas, 7-3; Blaine, 9-10; Coeur d'Alene, 10-1; Gooding, 24-30; Jerome, 15-6; Lincoln, 19-12; Minidoka, 11-8; and Twin Falls, 12-13.

Cubans repulsed

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Pro-Western forces beat off an offensive led by 2,000 Cuban troops in a battle to capture Sunday and overrun a Marxist position in the southeast, capturing 10 tons of equipment, the force's official spokesman said today.

He said the MPLA and its Cuban spearhead troops were regrouping for guerrilla and conventional assaults on the town. "But we are quite prepared for them," he said.

He said UNITA forces attacked MPLA positions about 50 miles north of Lubao in an Eastern UNITA-held town straddling the Benguela railroad, capturing 40 tons of equipment.

Prison closed to visitors

BOISE (UPI) — Officials closed the state prison to visitors Sunday evening in an attempt to reduce tension following a riot since Friday.

Warden Richards Anderson said about six inmates will be disciplined for getting drunk, apparently on homemade brew concocted in the prison kitchen. He said there were several minor incidents between guards and inmates.

Anderson said the Sunday evening visitation was canceled to reduce the number of outsiders as guards and staff members tried to pinpoint troublemakers. He said officials have not decided whether to cancel today's visitation.

Saturday afternoon an inmate grabbed a radio from the pocket of a guard and another inmate slipped. Petrowski-Kislik said one inmate tripped a guard as he was leading an intoxicated prisoner to his cell.

County clerks rap proposal

BOISE (UPI) — County clerks in Idaho have criticized a proposal to conduct Idaho's presidential primary by mail because it could result in voter fraud.

Mary Kautz, of Weiser, legislative chairman for the Idaho Association of County Clerks and Records, said county clerks adopted a resolution last June opposing any kind of a mail-out election.

She opposed a proposal by Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, that the May presidential preference primary, by conducted by mail. Murphy said his bill would "save money, increase voter participation and save time, gasoline and inconvenience to the voter."

Murphy also said the bill provides "ample safeguards against any fraud."

'Town meets' end

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, has ended a series of 19 "town meetings" in which he invited citizens to tell their representatives what's on their minds.

Symms offered more than 100 persons a free book and advice about government during the final meeting Saturday at Boise State University.

The book, entitled "The Inevitable Bread Machine," was concerned with the free market system and so-called Symms' advice on preserving capitalism and reducing government controls.

Symms has held 19 meetings in the past 10 days from the Canadian border in Southern Idaho.

Magazine names Russian agents

PARIS (UPI) — Two Soviet embassy officials today became the first Russians to be publicly named as intelligence agents in a worldwide scramble to unmask CIA operatives began last year.

The left-wing magazine Le Nouvel Observateur identified Ivan Petrovich Kislik as "the resident" agent in France of the KGB — the Soviet counterpart of the CIA.

The magazine also identified Nikolai Evdtkimov as a leading member of the Paris branch of GRU, the intelligence-gathering arm of the Soviet Army general staff.

"For once the shoe's on the other foot," said one Western diplomat.

Some 100 Americans around the world have been named as CIA agents by various publications since last year.

One of them, Richard Welch, was gunned down outside his home last month after the Athens News identified him as the CIA station chief in Greece.

"It's damn nice somebody's putting this thing in perspective," said a Western diplomatic source of the French weekly's identification of the Soviets.

Contacted by telephone, Evdtkimov would only say: "I haven't read the article. Thank you for your attention, Goodnight."

Kislik was not available for comment.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "We have devoted a couple of weeks to the Jacoby transfer bid. It is an artificial convention, but one that fits in perfectly with standard American bidding. Other modern conventions don't and if you want to try some of them you are likely to get into trouble."

Jim: "Of course, there is one exception: the Jacoby transfer bid, which everyone should use, N.Y. 10019" but even here there are potential problems.

Oswald: "Today's hand shows Blackwood at its best. North asks for aces and bids seven hearts when South shows him the missing two." Jim: "North did take some slight chance when he bid seven. South might have held three little spades. In that case a spade finesse would have been needed."

Oswald: "You don't get anywhere worrying about these possibilities. A winning bridge player must take sensible chances and the odds are that South would not be looking at three or four small spades."

Ask the Jacobys

A Montana reader wants to know why you use the five club response to Blackwood to show no aces or four aces.

The answer is that there's no chance to go wrong here and by responding five clubs to show four aces you leave the five notrump rebid open to the Blackwood bidder.

Wedding fashions

Early gowns modeled

TWIN FALLS — Wedding gowns dating back as far as 1909 were modeled during the January luncheon meeting of Magic Valley Christian Women Thursday afternoon.

Members noted styles have not changed as greatly as the costs. One gown, modeled by Mildred Jellison, dated back to 1909 and was worn by the model's grandmother, Elsie Wohlb, now 91 years of age. Fashioned of silk mul with many tiny tucks and insertions. It was made by a Twin Falls seamstress for $10 and copied from a picture in a Montgomery Ward catalog.

Mrs. Jellison also wore it for her wedding in 1937. She said it was made for Mrs. Wohlb who weighed 48 pounds causing the 125-pound model to hold her breath while wearing it.

Anne Allison modeled a 1911 gown owned by Anne Steale and worn by the latter's grandmother. The two-piece skirt and blouse were fashioned of delicate white cotton with a round neckline and bouffant sleeves, ruffles and a pink sash.

Carolyn Miller modeled a dress also owned by Anne Steale's family. It was worn by her mother in 1939 in Oregon and made of rose embroidered satin with leg-o-mutton sleeves and a six-foot-long train.

Mrs. Steale, who did not attend the program, furnished three of the gowns modeled during the luncheon fashion show in the Holiday Inn.

Old system weddings last

DEAR ABBY: You're wrong when you say that a person can't learn to love someone.

In the old country, the marriages were arranged by the parents or a matchmaker, and those marriages were more solid than our modern marriages are.

In China, Japan and India, marriages were arranged while the children were growing up. The couple learned to love each other, and you never heard of divorces.

Here, a couple of dizzy kids decide they're "in love," and before you know it, they're married. Then they have a baby or two, and discover that their "love" has worn off, so their parents have to help raise the babies while they get a divorce and start looking around for somebody else to fall in love with.

I'll bet that if we went back to the old system of arranged marriages, we'd have a lot fewer divorces.

And by the way, in case you think I'm an old fogey, I'm only 28.

SINGLE AND STRAIGHT

DEAR SINGLE: A return to "arranged marriages" as a move to reduce divorce is as plausible and logical as returning to mutilation and torture to cut back crime. Both are remnants of a grisly past, imperfectly remembered.

Old system weddings last

DEAR ABBY: There must be thousands of women in my position, so if you have an answer for me, please print it and help all of us.

I am married to a man who has children by a previous marriage. I love his children and they love me. The problem is their mother.

On occasions such as first communions, birthdays, weddings, etc., she makes it clear to me that I am not welcome, and that if I attend, she will leave.

Naturally, I stay away. When the children ask me why I didn't come, I say that I was "ill." I don't want to tell them the truth because it would only cause trouble.

Maybe lots of women will see themselves in this letter and decide to be big enough to let their husbands' present wives share in their children's celebrations. We love their children, too.

EXCLUDED

DEAR EXCLUDED: Here's your letter. I hope it helps.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a good-natured mother-in-law who insists on cooking a large elaborate dinner on holidays for the same good year after year? I begged her to let me cook "Thanksgiving dinner" this year and she downright refused. I love to entertain, and she knows it, but she gave me the excuse of "you don't have enough room" and "I have more time than you" (since I work).

She is the best mother-in-law a girl could ever ask for, in more ways than one, but I think this is going too far. I would love to give her a relaxing holiday just once so she could enjoy herself also. Maybe she does not think I could handle it (my husband and I have been married for one and a half years) but I've entertained as many as 26 before.

Abby, I know she reads your column faithfully so maybe you could suggest that enough is enough?

MOUSE

DEAR MOUSE: Your mother-in-law obviously "enjoys herself" being in command of the holiday feast.

Demonstrate your dinner skills for others and let your "good-natured" mother-in-law have a good time — her way.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 89700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Red tape slows good deed efforts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Forty policemen at Central Station are being hampered by red tape in their efforts to donate a day of sick leave each for a fellow officer dying of cancer.

Officer John Orlando, father of four and a former Policeman of the Year, is a few months shy of time required for 10-year retirement benefits for his family. The donated sick leave would make up the difference.

His fellow officers have petitioned the Police Department and Mayor's office to allow them to donate the time, but the Retirement Board has ruled the action illegal.

But Mike Hebel, an attorney for the Police Officers Association, said: "The matter is not dead."

"We're doing it because he's a fellow worker and doesn't have any recourse of help other than us. He's fighting, and we're trying to help him."

Sill mystery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Temples and World Forum Elizsimmons says he has no idea what happened to James R. Hoffa, the former union chief who disappeared last July 31.

In an interview with the News & World Forum published Sunday, Elizsimmons said he doesn't think Hoffa's disappearance had anything to do with union affairs.

China visit

Tidal wave — only a ripple

ADELAIDE, AUSTRALIA (UPI) — Believers fled to the hills, skeptics drank champagne — the beach and Adelaide — predicted "doomsday" tidal wave passed with a six-inch ripple.

Johan Nash, a house painter and self-styled clairvoyant, announced Jan. 18 that God would destroy Adelaide with a giant tidal wave and earthquake at noon today to punish sinners.

Nash was so sure of his vision that he took a $30 advertisement in an Adelaide newspaper warning the city of its impending doom. Many residents of the South Australian capital believed Nash and fled to the hills near the city.

Two hours after the predicted disaster, they were still there drinking champagne and eating meat pies.

"I was urged by community, business and church leaders to make a statement," Douson said. "I decided to come down here in person because so many people have said that I had a helicopter waiting on my front lawn just in case."

Chances have been predicted for the city.

But about 2,000 non-believers gathered on the beach nine miles from Adelaide for "earthquake parties."

The skeptics, wearing business suits — bow-ties, sneakers and hippos, sipped champagne and ate meat pies on the beach in white sweaters their "last hours."

A liquor company furnished a special Adelaide survival kit — a five gallon plastic drum, bottles of brandy, rum, gin and champagne with instructions that the drum could be clung to in the event of a tidal wave.

Affair charged to JFK

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's still another accusation, against John F. Kennedy, while he was in the Navy he had an affair with a Danish woman, a journalist suspect of being a spy.

The latest in a series of charges against the former president came in an article in the National Enquirer, which said Kennedy was transferred from Naval Intelligence to sea duty in 1941 because of it.

The Enquirer identified the woman as Ingo Arvad, a former Miss Europe, working for the Washington Times-Herald.

INGO ARVAD girl friend?

Their concern was that this woman was using Kennedy to find out all she could about what was going on in the Navy Department and the Office of Naval Intelligence.

Hunter pointed out to Kingman that Kennedy's father had been ambassador to Great Britain and was close to President Roosevelt and that Kennedy did not have access to any sensitive information.

Band collects $9,000

CONCORD, Calif. (UPI) — The band played on and on until it had $9,000 for new uniforms and a fine in the record books.

The 100-strong Ygnacio Valley High School Band played continuously for 41 hours five minutes, ending Sunday. The old Guinness Book of Records mark was 40 hours set by a band in Indiana last spring.

A spokesman for the weary musicians said the band had collected $9,000 in donations and pledges for its new outfits.

Butz speaks

WAUSEON, Ohio (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz predicts that American voters will respond in the 1976 elections to Republican proposals for reduced federal spending and less government involvement in their economic and personal lives.

Americans are "now seeing the futility" of liberal programs that produce few results while piling up massive government deficits and building "an ever more dominating central government," Butz said at a fund-raising meeting for Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, Saturday.

Added attraction

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — The crowd at the Santa Anita race track got an added attraction following the feature race Sunday when a homemade single-engine airplane made an emergency landing on the track's fence.

Eldon Johnson, a deputy sheriff with the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, landed the craft on the track just minutes after the sixth running of the $54,700 San Carlos Handicap.

Johnson said he was forced to make the emergency landing when the plane's propeller became unbalanced.

There were no injuries or damage to the track. The ninth and final race was run after a short delay.

Israel eyes visit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Israel hopes to turn the 11-day visit of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to the United States into a public relations coup that will eclipse the reception given to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and warm up relations between the two countries, Newsweek said Sunday.

Rabin is scheduled to arrive later this month, the magazine said.

Hawkeye caucuses mark presidential race start

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The presidential race was on today as Iowans headed for precinct caucuses — the first step in deciding who will win Iowa support in the Democratic and Republican presidential nominating conventions.

The caucuses mark the nation's earliest test of candidate strength in the Republican and Democratic presidential races.

Some 100,000 Iowa voters were expected to show up for Democratic and Republican precinct caucuses tonight.

Campaign organizations for the six serious Democratic hopefuls have attempted to mobilize forces to gain support in the caucuses.

A candidate needs 15 per cent support among those in attendance at any of the 2,500 Democratic precinct caucuses to win delegates to the next step of the selection process.

Republicans face a less crucial test of strength. Although Ronald Reagan endorsement promised a strong challenge to the Gerald Ford record, since the GOP candidates need only a 25 per cent support in the GOP precinct caucuses to win delegates to the next step of the selection process.

President Ford made no appearances in the Hawkeye State since he attended the Iowa State Fair last August. Reagan, a former sportscaster on a local radio station, stopped 45 minutes while his plane refueled in Des Moines Saturday.

Six Democrats have spent a total of more than 85 days drumming up support in Iowa. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter forged the campaign trail last February. A substantial majority of voters in the state have personally met and heard him speak. Carter's name has bobbed up as a frontrunner more than once.

Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh also did well in various straw polls. With many of the state's Democrats supporting 304-announced candidate Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, at least four other candidates vie for the important third place at the caucuses.

Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, Washington Sen. Henry Jackson and R. Sargent Shriver all looked for a strong showing in Iowa. Without it, candidates' camps feared backluster appeal further along the campaign trail and the threat of dried up funding.

After the balloting, the precinct caucuses will be the grounds for discussion of the party platform.

Delegates selected in GOP caucuses tonight to county central committees, which will elect delegates to the county convention. Delegates selected at the county convention move on to district caucuses, where most of the state's GOP national delegates will be chosen.

The remaining GOP national delegates will be elected at large during the Republican state convention.

The Democrats have a slightly different selection process. Delegates selected at precinct caucuses tonight move to county conventions, which will elect delegates to district conventions. The district conventions will choose delegates to the state convention, where the state's Democratic National Convention delegates will be chosen.

Reform sought

CHICAGO — Republican state chairmen have urged that their party consider a new method of nominating vice-presidential candidates.

The chairmen voted 42 to 2 this weekend for a resolution calling on the Republican National Committee to consider at its February meeting a change in the ground rules for vice-presidential selection.

The plan was advanced, but the resolution urged that the nomination of the vice president should be given the same kind of deliberation and careful consideration as candidates for the Presidency, and his or her nomination should be as much the choice of the delegates to the Republican National Convention as the presidential nominee.

CIA still producing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA Director William Casper said today that the agency in 1975 "still produced the best intelligence in the world."

"You can't possibly go through a year such as this of denunciations all around the world, accusations of all sorts of things, exposure of our operations, exposure of the names of our people without causing foreigners who worked with us and foreign intelligence services to draw back and evidence fear of being involved with us," Casper commented recently.

Yet, he said, the agency still produced "the world's best intelligence." After nearly a year of disclosures about CIA assassination plots and secret operations, the federal government now is moving to bind the wounds and reform the American Intelligence Community.

Better protection for agents likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former CIA agents and other security-granted government employees may face criminal penalties if their public statements endanger American interests.

The move toward greater protection of agents was predicted over the weekend by both administration and congressional sources.

At a Pittsburgh news conference, Senate Intelligence Committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, called for criminal sanctions against former CIA agents who "turn against and identify those with whom they have worked."

Church said it was "despicable" that anyone would reveal the names of American agents working abroad.

"I would recommend to the committee that we have legislation that would assess penalties in people who disclose the identities of our sources abroad," Church said.

A high CIA spokesman said in Washington the Ford administration plans to propose such a law providing criminal procedures against former agents and other sworn government employees if they release classified information endangering American spies. Both Church and the CIA official said the current secrecy laws is inadequate.

Voting, budgets in Congress' eye

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 94th Congress returns for its second session today, with an eye on the federal budget and the November elections, which could turn out of office the wave of freshmen elected in 1974.

Fighting for his political life, Ford is expected to reject any program that might swell his proposed budget of over $80 billion, which will be presented to Congress Wednesday.

For the first time, Congress must work out its own budget. Under a law taking effect in fiscal 1977 starting in October, Congress must meet its budget or raise taxes.

Here is a summary of the main issues this year. ECONOMY — A strong push by Democrats for legislation creating jobs as long as unemployment is about 8 per cent and for an extension of unemployment benefits.

ENERGY — Dispute over oil prices resolved last year; fight this year possible on deregulation of natural gas prices. Congress might try to tap military oil reserves for civilian use, adjust environmental standards to accommodate energy plants, tax energy users, provide tax incentives for energy technology. No gas tax.

FOREIGN AID — Waiting for congressional approval is Ford's request for aid to the Middle East, which helped make the interim peace agreement between Israel and Egypt. Ford wants $2.2 billion for Israel and $500 million for Egypt.

TAXES — Prospects are for moderate changes but no major restructuring that could be ballooned as reform of the tax system. Because of the election, individual taxes could be cut more after June 30.

CRIME — Revision of the federal criminal code is languishing in committees. There also will be a push for gun control, especially "Saturday night specials." Opposition is formidable.

REVENUE SHARING — Congress must extend, kill or make permanent the revenue sharing program. The administration is for it, but there is concern that all share — need or no need.

CONSUMERS — The big bill, to create a consumer advocacy agency, is in a Senate-House conference and Congress may hold it until Ford has vetoed it at a politically more critical time. Legislation whose prospects were bright last January but now are doomed include: A national health insurance program, no fault car insurance, expanding picketing powers at construction sites and increased farm price supports.

Reagan favorite in Dixie

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan is the South's choice for President over all other Republican and Democratic candidates, including President Ford, according to a poll released Sunday.

The copyrighted poll was conducted by the Darden Research Corp. Jan. 9-13 among 601 registered voters in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Reagan placed first among 14 declared or potential candidates — from both parties in response to the question, "Of all the people running for President, who do you favor at this time?" The former California governor was the choice of 49.8 of the poll participants.

Ford was a close second with 17.6 per cent and Alabama Gov. George Wallace was third with 12.1 per cent. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., was fourth with 3.7 per cent, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter fifth with 3.2 per cent, and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., sixth with 2.2 per cent. No one else got more than 2 per cent. Thirty-four per cent had no opinion.

In a one-to-one contest, Reagan got 42.9 per cent and Ford 37.9 per cent with 19.1 per cent expressing no opinion.

Wallace was the choice of 41.0 per cent of the participants in a one-on-one contest with Carter, the choice of 34.6 per cent. Last September a Darden poll had put Wallace ahead of the former Georgia governor 51.4 per cent to 29.4 per cent.

Reagan was the choice of 50.7 per cent of the participants in a two-man race with Wallace. Wallace got 41.4 per cent.

$20 million suit filed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The pressmen's union, on strike against the Washington Post since Oct. 1, filed a $20 million counter claim Saturday to a Post civil suit which claims the union broke a court injunction against violence and mass picketing.

Local 6 of the International Printing and Graphic Communications Union, representing the pressmen, charged that the newspaper had "entered into a conspiracy with others to cause grave injury to the name of Local 6 and to diminish the capacity of the union to represent its interests and the interests of its members with other employers with whom Local 6 has dealings and to ultimately destroy the union entirely."

David Wells, Castelford, was named president; Max Burton, Burley, vice president and Don Norris, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer. The members also named three board of director members at large including Allan Andrews, Twin Falls; Jack Kinyon, Castelford and Larry Craig, Midvale.

Bob Holloway, Twin Falls, who has been instrumental in getting the Alumni Association organized, said there are three chapters in Idaho now with one year's operation to their record. These include Twin Falls, Castelford and Burley.

"By this time next year we expect to have about 30 or 40 chapters affiliated and a full fledged state organization going," he said. Holloway said there are about 12 chapters now ready to formalize their organization and become part of the state association. "Purpose, he said, is strictly supportive. The organization is being formed to assist the FFA program and individual members in any way possible, but not as a governing or director organization. Membership is open to anyone interested in the FFA programs. They need not be former Future Farmers.

Message may ask tax hike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford put his message touches on his State of the Union message Saturday, with aides saying he probably will propose a hike in the Social Security tax and bigger Medicare benefits, and cuts, but a tax break for firms in high unemployment areas.

The President, to deliver his decision-year speech at 10:30 A.M. EST Monday to a joint session of Congress, declined to disclose any specific plans and he cautioned reporters: "Better wait and see—it's always a big gamble when you speculate."

But aides continued. Pepsi's Ford would recommend the Social Security, Medicare and business tax changes in his address, and spell them out Wednesday in the federal budget he recommends for the 1977 fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

They said the budget would call for spending of about $94 billion, with an expected deficit of roughly $43 billion, and the overall policy was aimed at maintaining economic expansion but slowing the growth of federal costs.

Ford interrupted work on the speech to brief the chairman of the "National Governors' Conference," Republican Robert D. Ray of Iowa. "This is the fifth draft," he told Ray as reporters watched the start of the meeting. "We are going to have one more and that's it."

White House officials said Ford decided to recommend an increase in the Social Security tax rate from Halley and Michael Andrew Hayes, Ketchum, both driving while under the influence, and Jeff Kirk Jones and Tracy Elizabeth Thorpe, both Halley, violation of restriction. Those in Cassia County include Robert E. Decker and Liddon Ray Finch, both Burley, and Sidney Louis Wincell, Dexto, all driving while under the influence.

Kennedy seeks resolve

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., urged the administration Saturday to take major diplomatic initiatives to resolve the Cyprus problem.

"Since the lifting of the Turkish arms embargo last year, no progress has been made on Cyprus," said Kennedy, who chairs the judiciary subcommittee on refugees.

"And so the credibility of the administration is still at stake. And the prestige of our country is still on the line."

Waterusers vote on AF Dam

TWIN FALLS — Five small wateruser organizations in the Upper Snake River area voted today on whether to join the American Falls Dam replacement project. If the proposal passes in all five elections, the project will have the support of about 65 per cent of the reservoir apportionees. Voters in the Burley and Mindoka Irrigation Districts, which represent about 14 per cent of the reservoir storage space, rejected the proposal in elections last week. The other 3 per cent will be voted by apportionee organizations in the next two months. John Rosholt, attorney for the American Falls Reservoir District, said today: "At this time, I very definitely presume" the $44.7 million replacement project will proceed. Participants in the project must decide whether to continue without the support of the Burley and Mindoka districts. The American Falls Reservoir District board of directors, the reservoir apportionees' executive committee and representatives from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and Idaho Power Co. will meet Thursday in Burley to make that decision. "I'm really hopeful that, before the thing gets going, the districts (Burley and Mindoka) will reconsider and successfully pass elections," Rosholt said today.

Troublesome crossing at Jerome's Washington school

Jerome eyes student safety problem

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer

Jerome — Safety of grade school students at Washington school remains an "critical problem" for the Jerome school district. Percy Christensen, superintendent, said the safety of first and second grade students who must cross state highway 79 to get to school is "a major concern of mine and the district. All efforts by the district to alleviate the problem have ended in no action being taken. We have a serious problem at Washington with the heavy amount of traffic that goes by the grade school," Christensen said. Christensen personally has stationed himself by the school on several occasions, when school was opening or closing, for the day. "One day when I was watching, it took the school bus 10 minutes to get across the street because of the traffic flow, can we expect kids to make it if we traffic won't even yield to a bus," Christensen said. He said the district also has a problem of traffic safety at the junior high and high school and Jefferson school, but noted it wasn't the same. He said at Jefferson Grade School, most of the cars are parents and they show a great deal of concern for the students. Traffic at the junior and senior high complex "is slower," he said. The situation is different at Washington School because people are headed for the interstate going to work and at the same time students are going to school. Adding to the problem is the shift change at Tupperware which occurs the same time school dismisses. "We have been real lucky so far that a student hasn't been killed. The speeds are so much higher since the cars are just leaving a 35 mile an hour zone to a 25 mile an hour zone one block before they reach the school," Christensen said. The students are not completely unprotected. Last year the Jerome police department purchased a hand held, battery-operated stop light. The light is used by the teachers to monitor traffic. Each morning and evening one of the teachers stands in the middle of the highway holding the light high, hoping the traffic will stop to let the students cross. Also assisting when possible is the Jerome police department, which stations patrol cars by the school when they are not needed elsewhere. Several teachers and businessmen in the area have said they could see and hear a remarkable drop in the speed of the traffic when the patrol car was present. Christensen said his efforts to have a stop light installed at Washington have so far proved futile. In a letter from the State Department of Transportation, dated Jan. 9, 1976, and addressed to Christensen, M. R. Laraway, P. E. district traffic engineer, once again turned down the district's request for the traffic light because "traffic volume on both D and E Avenues is insufficient to justify the signals."

This confusion was rectified by the Highway Department after a study in 1965, 10 years ago, when Jerome was a community of less than 4,500 people. No interstate highway and no major businesses on Idaho 79 employed over 1,000 people. It seems what was tabulated in 1965 would not apply to the highway today since Jerome's population has increased to over the 6,000 mark. Stimulating this added growth was another report put out by the State Highway Department which has begun acquisition of land along Idaho 79 from the city limits to the I-20 interchange to make a four lane highway. According to his report, the four lanes are needed because of the increased volume of traffic now being experienced along Highway 79. Laraway said in his letter the Division of Highway "must, by law, install signals" only at locations meeting certain minimum volume warrants for vehicles and pedestrians. The traffic and pedestrian volume for both locations (D and E Avenues) falls short of these minimum warrants. The letter goes on to state, however, that a pedestrian and vehicular count will be taken again this year by the highway department.

Laraway also states in his letter that "it has been found that school patrols are most effective for controlling pedestrian traffic at school crossings." They are considerably more economical than signals and command considerable more respect. "Children have a tendency to 'abuse' signals" unless a traffic officer is present. Christensen said he agreed school patrols are effective, but said he didn't think they would work at Washington School. "All we have at the school are first and second graders—and in the highway department, I think I'm going to let a six or seven year old stand out in the street and try to stop traffic they had better think again." Christensen said Jerome businessmen and residents are also concerned and several suggestions have been offered, which included a tunnel under the street or an overhead walkway. Christensen said the overhead walkway would solve the problem, but at this point, the cost is prohibitive. School trustees will meet with the city council in an effort to pool ideas to arrive at a solution to the problem.

Tot class question on Minidoka agenda

By SHIANE O'NEILL Times-News writer

RUPERT — Kindergarten and a textbook are major items before the Minidoka County School Board tonight. The new draft of the controversial policy on selection of instructional materials is basically the one hammered out by a joint committee for that purpose in October. The kindergarten question is one rejected by the school board a year ago when the state established an optional kindergarten program. The board then wanted more information before taking any action on the kindergarten program. "We will work on a kindergarten program if the board will consider the possibility of kindergarten," Superintendent of Schools Darrell Hatfield notified the board over the weekend. "I do not want to spin a lot of wheels," he said. "If you feel you definitely are not interested, we can spend our time more productively." The textbook policy draft, by Roger Lutz, counsel for the district, "to eliminate ambiguities." Hatfield has recommended approval of the policy proposal, which in original form, gained approval of the Minidoka County Education Association over subsequent drafts. It establishes elementary and secondary screening committees, with the professional members to be selected by teachers "or their authorized representatives" from the respective levels of teaching. It also provides for teachers to recommend the textbooks and supplementary textbooks to the screening and review committee. Other educational materials would remain the province of the individual teacher. These include film strips, slides, magazines and other things teachers might use in their classes. The policy proposal also sets out general criteria for assessing text books and establishes committees to review any objections that might arise after they are already in service. The school board also is scheduled to consider a recommendation that the 1976-77 school year begin Aug. 30 and not include a harvest vacation. The calendar committee approved that recommendation following a public hearing last week. Hiring of personnel for next year begins this evening with consideration of contracts for Hatfield and Assistant Superintendent Doyle Lawler, both seeking reemployment on contracts expiring June 30. "I would certainly like to recommend the reemployment of Mr. Lawler," Hatfield said. "I don't think the board will find a more knowledgeable and dedicated person to whom I have referred." Hatfield said. "I enjoy the change in system and the opportunity of serving the board and the school district. I feel I have learned a great deal in the 4 1/2 years I've been with the district and I hope I'm more valuable now than I was then."

Valley fatalities dip

MAGIC VALLEY — Twenty-one fewer people died on Magic Valley highways during 1975 than a year earlier, a reduction of nearly a third. According to the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission, there were 71 fatalities during 1974 but only 50 during 1975. The commission reported a smaller reduction statewide, where there were 14.4 per cent fewer fatalities in 1975 than a year earlier. The number of fatalities fell in all Valley counties except Lincoln. Minidoka County's toll was unchanged. A comparison of 1975 and 1974 figures (in parentheses) shows: Blaine, 4 (5); Camas, 0 (2); Cassia, 9 (13); Gooding, 4 (5); Jerome, 6 (10); Lincoln, 5 (4); Mindoka, 8 (8), and Twin Falls, 14 (24). Camas County was one of two counties in the state with no reported traffic fatalities in 1975. Statewide, the 1975 toll was the lowest since 1967.

'Speak up' meet set in Buhl

BUHL — Buhl school district patrons are urged to "speak up" on ways to improve their elementary school Tuesday night. The public meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the elementary school multipurpose room, is part of the School Needs Assessment Project, requested of all districts by the State Department of Education. Karen Fraley, curriculum director who heads the steering committee, said all Idaho schools must be involved in a needs assessment by this spring. Students were to have opportunity to speak up this morning and faculty input was given Friday, Mrs. Fraley said. Patrons attending tonight's meeting will be organized into discussion groups of about 10 persons. Teachers, administrators and students will not sit in on these groups, the chairwoman said.

The proportion of wives who commit that misadventure known as adultery is not really known, evidently. As many as a third of the married women have been so charged in some studies. But our Love and War man is puzzled by the conflicting findings. A most recent piece of research, however, indicates just one out of every 20 wives has involved herself at some time or another in an adulterous affair. He can conclude only that the statistics on this matter are unreliable.

Those conditions are most likely to depress the elderly convicts in prisons? Scholars put that query to inmates of the New Mexico State Penitentiary. High on their list of complaints was "lack of skating."

ROLLER SKATING

"How long have people been going roller skating?" A. Since the middle of the Civil War. More precisely, it was in 1863 that somebody first put four wheels on each of a pair of footboards. Shortly thereafter, a tricker performer named William H. Fuller went on a figure-skating tour around the world. And within five years just about everybody who could stand up on the things was tying on skates.

Deep private swimming pool in the world is probably one in the south of France. I don't have the exact figures on how far down it goes, but it's certainly more than three times the depth of any normal pool. The builders misread the plans. What should have been constructed as feet was misinterpreted as meters. The actor David Niven owns it.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

If you were born 84 years ago, you came into this world at precisely the time when these slang phrases were at their peak of popularity: "Bea! It!" "Sure!" "Clasy." "It's a cinch." "Fancy." "Nitty." "Get your goat." And "What do you know about that?"

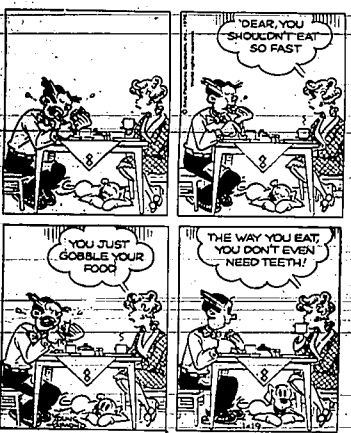

Not only is a diamond the hardest substance on earth, contends a former gentleman friend of Zsa Zsa Gabor, but it's the hardest substance on earth to get back.

In Pidgin English, "cow ell" is butter. "grass belongs head" is hair, and "pants belong letters" is envelope, remember that. Might mention, too, Pidgin English isn't just a bunch of disjointed slang phrases, not anymore. It's recognized now as a real language, one of the world's newest.

What sort of fruit do the people in this country eat most? If you spring this query on the boys down at the corner, young fellow, you may win a small wager. Not apples, not oranges, not grapes, no indeed. Bananas it was!

Emergency group organized at GF

GLENN FERRY — "Emergency Medical Technicians" is a newly organized group in Glens Ferry.

They ask that if any EMT has moved into the area recently to contact this group organized to serve the Glens Ferry, King Hill and Hammett areas.

Gary Enders was chosen as president and Mrs. Jack Edwards as secretary-treasurer at the Thursday evening meeting when by laws of the organization were prepared.

A duty schedule is being prepared so that the police officers will know who is on duty and how to get in touch with an EMT at all times, in an attempt to save lives in emergency situations.

Mrs. Lannie Dillard, a member of the organization, stated that the dues members pay will go toward better equipping the ambulance.

The group will meet the first Tuesday of the month at 8 p.m. at the Glens Ferry Clinic.

Beeper operators have been ordered and according to Mrs. Dillard the state has allotted money to pay for them. "But until that time, making a duty schedule is very important. The police officers will know who to call without having to start down the list with no idea of who might be available."

Since many new people have moved into the area in the past year it is possible there are other licensed EMTs that the organization does not know about. Anyone who is eligible to join the organization is asked to contact Mrs. Edwards at the medical clinic or one of the city police officers for further information.

Bureau of Census sets jobless survey

TWIN FALLS — Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment here this week.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 55,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in November the survey indicated that of the 93.0 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 85.3 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 8.3 per cent, the same as in September, but substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 per cent reached in the second quarter of 1975.
