UAW chief leaves strike option open

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock warned today that the union would not hesitate to call a strike in this year's contract talks with the automotive Big Four if it becomes necessary.

In opening remarks at a three-day Production Workers Conference to set union goals, Woodcock said the auto companies should not count on the "fragile" state of the economic recovery to prevent a strike.

Not a dream

DENVER (UPI) — Television newsmen Don Kinney is having a hard time realizing it's true that he owns a 1976 Cadillac, a gift from singer Elvis Presley, currently vacationing in Vail, Colo. Presley bought the car for Kinney after hearing and liking Kinney's report of how he purchased notes for four members of the Denver police department who had provided security for the singer during a concert tour in Colorado two years ago.

Shell cuts gasoline price by cent

HOUSTON (UPI) — Shell Oil Co. today announced a 1 cent per gallon decrease in the price of gasoline effective immediately. The nationwide reduction applies to all classes of trade, resellers and consumers. Shell said the reduction reflects current market conditions.

Home mortgage interest rates dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Average interest rates on home mortgages dropped 0.3 per cent in 1975 to reverse the upward trend of recent years, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said Wednesday.

Buyers of new homes in December paid an average interest rate of 8.91 per cent on their mortgage loans. This compared with 9.37 per cent in December, 1974. Buyers of used homes paid an average interest rate of 9.29 per cent compared with 9.00 per cent a year earlier.

Concorde flights launch SST era

LONDON (UPI) — Two Anglo-French Concorde jetliners took off from airports in Paris and London today, inaugurating the age of supersonic air travel with a mighty roar. At precisely 11:40 a.m. (14:40 MST), the droopy-nosed birds lifted off simultaneously from London's Heathrow and Paris's Charles de Gaulle airports bound for Bahrain and Rio-de-Janeiro on their champagne maiden flights.

He's hopeful

BOSTON (UPI) — Making his first northern campaign swing, Alabama Gov. George Wallace said today he doesn't expect to do well in the March 2 Massachusetts presidential primary, "but I just don't want to be last."

On Tuesday in Chicago, Wallace charged that other Democrats aspirants think he is a "nuisance" and have banded together to defeat him on the primary campaign trail.

Italy halts foreign exchange trade

ROME (UPI) — Italy stopped all foreign exchange trading today to stem an outflow of dollars that threatens the Italian lira during a period of government crisis.

Chancellor Premier Aldo Moro ordered the move after an early morning emergency meeting of finance officials.

Moro said in a statement that repayment of international loans and removal of import restrictions had eroded the nation's supply of dollars.

In addition, government sources said Italy spends more than half a billion dollars, about half of its free reserves, to support the lira in the first 20 days of January.

GP's asked to join medical strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Seeking specialists called on general practitioners to join the 21-day-old doctors' walkout this week to increase pressure on the state government.

Dr. Layman Hoffman, a spokesman for some strike organizers, called on "primary care physicians to stay out of their offices Thursday and Friday of this week."

"Most of them are supporting the protest in many ways and this is a call for intensification of the slowdown," he said.

There was no immediate indication how many of the general practitioners would respond.

Church asks for intelligence panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Frank Church of the Senate intelligence committee today proposed creation of a new Senate panel to oversee virtually all American intelligence operations.

In prepared testimony before the Senate Government Operations Committee, the Idaho Democrat gave the first public outline of oversight legislation his investigative committee is now drafting.

Church proposed the new, nine-member panel should have "broad, positive authority to disclose classified information on covert operations if, in the interest of national security, it is necessary to do so."

Church also called for "a nine-member standing committee" to be staffed by lawmakers serving terms of no more than six years. Their oversight powers would be sweeping in scope.

New TF dog pound planned

TWIN FALLS — Tentative plans call for construction of a new city dog pound within 90 days, according to Twin Falls City Manager Jean Miller.

The city's dog impoundment contract with the Twin Falls County Humane Society expired Tuesday. Miller said the contract was not renewed because the society's facilities on Maxwell Avenue are not adequate.

"City dogs were temporarily transferred Tuesday to various locations," including local veterinarians' facilities, Miller said.

He said owners of missing dogs can check with the city clerk's office to find out where the animals are being held.

The temporary impoundments probably will continue for "a 90-day interim period," until funds for a new pound can be budgeted, according to Miller.

He estimated the new facility will cost about $25,000. Revenue sharing funds will be budgeted for the project, he said.

Miller said the pound will "very likely" be constructed "in the general vicinity of the city shop area" near Sixth Avenue West and Second Street West.

Miller said the council's action might make it impossible to find another qualified professional. "What would you do if you were a pro and they fired a man with 15 years' experience just six weeks before the season opens?"

Crumblish supported Thomsen's charge that the firing was the result of a personal vendetta by Mayor Paul Ostyn. "There was never any conflict on the contracts until Paul Ostyn was put on the council," he said.

Crumblish also pointed out that the only two city councilmen who play the municipal course are H.E. Cheney and Stephen Lincoln — voted for Thomsen's contract.

In an interview Tuesday, Thomsen said he had "no apologies" for "the way I've run my business." The council's action reportedly was prompted by Thomsen's alleged poor public relations abilities and frequent absences from the course.

President Ford today proposed a "major turning point for the American people" with a $394.2 billion budget which, he said, concedes the federal government cannot solve every problem in the land.

Laced with cutbacks and sure to be controversial in an election year, the fiscal 1977 plan emphasizes stronger national defense, the search for energy, higher tax cuts for wage earners, business and investors and making elderly sick and working poor pay more of their own way.

Social Security taxes would go up in order to save the troubled fund which pays retirement benefits to most working Americans.

If passed by Congress, it would mean a federal spending record, but Ford said its relative austerity would strike a proper balance between the needs of the nation as a whole and Americans who are actually poverty stricken.

The President said defense and energy received the highest priorities in his proposal for fiscal 1977 being sent to Congress today.

"This is not a policy of the quick fix. It does not hold out the hollow promise that we can wipe out inflation and unemployment overnight," Ford said.

For the first time, a president's budget will be reviewed by the new joint congressional budget committee. It is likely to be frisky and independent both in dealing with Ford's proposals and suggesting its own.

Although he proposed spending $43 billion more than the government will collect in taxes and receipts, Ford said the budget represented "responsible fiscal policy."

The expected deficit in the current fiscal year is $76 billion.

"If we try to stimulate the economy beyond its capacity to respond, it will lead only to a future whirlwind of inflation and unemployment."

Washington (UPI) — President Ford gave the picture of his spending plans in billions, not just adding to the national debt but also cutting it.

Q: Is symbol of transition quarter, the three months between the end of fiscal 1976 on June 30 and the beginning of fiscal 1977 on Oct. 1. From FY 1977 on, the government's accounting year will begin in October instead of July.

1975 Spending: $324.6; 1976: $373.5; 1977: $394.2. Income: $281; $297.5; $313. Deficit: $43.6; $76; $81.

The budget will generate controversy in this presidential election year, but one of the potentially most explosive proposals — the higher payroll taxes to finance Social Security benefit increases — won support from Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Instead of raising the $16,300 ceiling on wages subject to the 3.85 per cent Social Security tax in 1977, Ford proposed increasing the tax rate to 6.15 per cent. This would increase the maximum obligation to $1,014.75 a year.

Economists consider this regressive because it takes 6.15 per cent of gross income from workers earning under $16,300 and 3.85 per cent from those who earn more.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department said today the inflation rate in December climbed 0.5 per cent and increased 7 per cent for all of 1975, the smallest yearly rise in three years.

The increase in the Consumer Price Index, measured on a December-to-December basis, was well below the 12.2 per cent jump during 1974 and the 8.8 per cent climb in 1973. The CPI is the most commonly used measurement of inflation levels.

"The improvement is becoming more gradual," he said, "but in perspective it is substantial when compared to the 12 per cent level of last year."

Service cost increases were a major factor behind inflation during December and the full year. Pate predicted the prospect for better mortgage interest rates might soon ease the pressure on service prices.

Pate also saw "further room for moderation in food prices — particularly meat." While one of those economists, Assistant Commerce Secretary James Pate, said today the "improvement last year" was "a little bit greater than what the administration anticipated."

But he cautioned the improvement will be more gradual in 1976, when inflation is expected to be about 4 per cent.

TF golf panel head prepares protest against firing of pro Clyde Thomsen

By DAVE HORSMAN Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Ray Crumblish, chairman of the Twin Falls Golf Advisory Commission, Tuesday said he would lead a protest against the firing of Clyde Thomsen as professional at the municipal golf course.

The Twin Falls City Council, in a close vote Monday night, rejected a proposal to renew Thomsen's annual contract. City Manager Jean Miller was instructed to compile a list of possible replacements.

The golf advisory commission had unanimously recommended the rehiring of Thomsen in a Jan. 6 vote. Thomsen has worked at the city-owned golf course for 15 years.

Crumblish supported Thomsen's charge that the firing was the result of a personal vendetta by Mayor Paul Ostyn. "There was never any conflict on the contracts until Paul Ostyn was put on the council," he said.

Crumblish also pointed out that the only two city councilmen who play the municipal course are H.E. Cheney and Stephen Lincoln — voted for Thomsen's contract.

New lights win nod

TWIN FALLS — New traffic lights will be installed at two busy Twin Falls intersections, along with left turn signals at another key intersection.

The Idaho Transportation Department has received a bid of $117,125 for installation of new signals at Addison Avenue East and Locust Street and at Addison Avenue East and Eastland Drive.

The bid also was for replacement signals at Shoshone Avenue and Fourth Avenue North and East and at Shoshone and Sixth Avenue North and East.

According to Twin Falls City Manager Jean Miller, left turn signals will be added at the intersections of Shoshone Street and Second Avenue North and East.

Miller said the signal was in place at Shoshone and Second and the control mechanism will be installed shortly. Until then, he said, the light will flash red and yellow.

Palestinian forces gain

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Thousands of Palestinian troops from Syria have driven Lebanese army troops from a strategic crossroads position and advanced into the foothills of Mt. Lebanon in an apparent attempt to grab as much territory as possible today before a cease-fire is called.

The clash, also known as the so-called "cavagade capital," was the first between the Palestinians and the Lebanese army, and it followed an all-out Palestinian and Moslem assault that left most of the countryside under Moslem control.

Official Lebanese sources said an estimated 4,000 troops of the Syrian-based Palestine Liberation Army crossed into east Lebanon Tuesday to link up with another 4,000 massing around Chouira in the Bekaa Valley, 25 miles east of Beirut.

Diplomats observed that the so-called offensive apparently was launched to secure as much territory as possible before today's arrival of Syrian officials in Beirut to discuss a truce.

The three-man Syrian delegation included Foreign Minister Abdel-Halim Khaddam, Chief-of-Staff Maj. Gen. Hikmat Chehail and Air Force commander Vice Air Marshal Najji Jamil, who planned to meet Lebanese President Suleiman Franjeh.

But due to the deteriorating military and political conditions since Monday, there was growing concern among Arab diplomats and other observers that the Syrian mediation may have come too late.

Christian forces underscored that belief in a Tuesday night broadcast over the Voice of Lebanon, their pirate radio station, in which they issued a declaration of no-peace with the Palestinians.

Since the stepped-up fighting Monday, the number of casualties has risen to more than 150 dead and 325 wounded, police said. The estimated toll for nine months of civil war climbed to more than 9,500 dead and 20,000 wounded.

Moslem leftists and Palestinian guerrillas also launched a fierce assault on Christian positions in downtown Beirut, shelling the commercial center with rockets and mortars in an effort to capture two main squares.

There were reports that President Franjeh's hometown of Zgharta, a few miles southeast of the northern city of Tripoli, was being besieged and coming under heavy shelling.

Communications with Zafie and the eastern sector of the country were lost and most information reaching the capital was from army points.

The Christian Phalangist radio station, the Voice of Lebanon, in a broadcast late Tuesday night said that the Christian militias were forming a united command and may be launching a "major military operation" shortly aimed at "liberating the entire Lebanese nation from its usurpers, no matter how long it takes."

The declaration was not official and observers were divided over how much importance to attach to it. But it was clear it would amount to an open declaration of civil war, threatening the Syrian peace efforts.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Jan. 21 — Rhode Island Gov. Cooke defended the sale of supplies to British warships by residents of Newport on grounds the town was defenseless and their refusal to do so would result in bombardment.

High gas profits called supply key

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — A House subcommittee staff contended today one reason natural gas producers can hold back supplies until prices increase is that many of them are owned by oil companies doing an increasingly profitable business.

The charge is in a staff memorandum to Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House subcommittee on energy and conservation, which held a series of hearings into gas supplies and prices.

"To deliberately delay gas production, producers must have adequate cash flow to meet current expenditures," the memorandum said.

"But the staff of the energy and power subcommittee found that the cash flow of the 10 largest oil companies (also among the largest gas producers) had demonstrated explosive growth over the 1970-1974 period, averaging a 92 percent increase and amounting to an estimated $17 billion in 1974," it said.

This, the staff said, is "a level sufficient to afford withholding."

The staff said data from the Library of Congress supports its suspicion that natural gas producers have held gas back on speculation that prices will rise.

Lebanon war background

By United Press International

The Country Lebanon, which stretches along the Mediterranean for 130 miles, is the land of the ancient Phoenicians who extended their lines of commerce around the continent of Africa. About half of Lebanon's three million residents are Moslem, the rest Christian — all living in an area slightly smaller than Connecticut. Lebanon is bordered on the south by Israel, on the north and east by Syria.

The Government National concord, allowing for a Christian president and Moslem prime minister when power shared 6:3 in favor of the Christians.

The Causes of the War The latest outbreak began April 13, 1975 when Christian Phalangist militia commander Josef Abi Assi was shot, and inhabitants of a Christian enclave in a Moslem sector of Beirut ambushed a bus carrying Palestinians, killing 27 persons. Since then, more than 9,500 persons have died in the fighting.

The Background Disputes between the religious factions date back as far as 1958, when conflict over President Camille Chamoun's pro-western policies erupted into violence and Chamoun, a Christian, called for U.S. help. American marines helped stabilize the situation until a new government could be formed. More recent disputes have developed over the presence of large numbers of Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon. The Moslems support the Palestinians but the Christians want to curb their raids into Israel from Lebanon.

The Combatants The Christian Phalangists — A militia led by Pierre Gemayel and composed of an estimated 10,000 well-trained troops. They are better equipped than the Moslems, using such weapons as the U.S. M16 rifle. Other Christian groups have been formed around many political leaders — for example, President Suleiman Franjeh and his 1,000-man militia.

Palestinian guerrillas — An estimated 35,000 troops, located in Lebanon, made up of such groups as Al Fatah, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine and smaller units. Most are equipped with Soviet-made weapons.

Lebanese Army — Nearly 20,000 men outfitted with the latest Western arms, including tanks, and Mirage fighter planes.

Palestine Liberation Army — A force based in Syria and linked to the Palestine Liberation Organization, used almost exclusively in the past for pulling refugee camps in Syria and Lebanon.

Moslem Militia Groups — A group of unaffiliated, mostly left-leaning forces made up of various neighborhood and political factions.

Reds take key Angola town

LUSAKA, Zambia, (UPI) — Soviet-backed forces claimed today they have captured the key supply town of Ceta in a major offensive against Holden Roberto of the FPLA movement.

In a broadcast by official Luanda Radio, the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola said its Cuban-led troops broke through the southern front established by the UNTPA and captured the important supply town of Ceta along with nearby Santa Comba.

Spokesmen for the two Western-backed forces admitted bitter fighting had raged around Ceta — used by South African troops as a supply base — for many days but said the Cuban-led attack had been crushed with heavy losses for the Marxist forces.

Ceta is 250 miles southeast of the MPLA-held capital of Luanda and only 100 miles north of the provisional UNTPA-FNLA capital of Huambo.

The capture of Ceta would open the road for MPLA forces, supported by Soviet advisers for an approach to Huambo.

Ford proposes $394.2 billion budget

Ford recommended an $8.3 billion increase in the deficit budget, saying "We dare not do less."

The $391.1 billion request, Ford said, means an actual increase in spending beyond the boost to cover inflation. He said he would have to ask for more of the arms-limitation talks with the Russians if not successful.

Ford called for a record $1.1 billion to speed work on solutions to the energy crisis.

The new energy spending proposal was 10 per cent above this year's $4.3 billion budget and included major increases for solar and geothermal power development, nuclear waste disposal research and synthetic fuel production.

Ford, who spent 1975 largely down in a frustrating energy policy fight with Congress, proposed to hold new ventures in his fiscal 1977 budget. Instead he urged prompt enactment of programs sent to Congress last year but stalled in many cases by the policy battle.

He asked Congress to consolidate 50 grant programs for health, education and welfare into four block grant packages valued at $17.7 billion and to give the states greater control over spending these funds.

"In our domestic programs, my objective has been to achieve a balance between all the things we would like to do and those things we can realistically afford to do," Ford said.

His proposed revenue sharing and other returns would require the recipients of some federal aid, like Medicare, to contribute more toward their benefits.

Reid repeated his position of permanent tax reductions for individuals, businesses and investors. He also proposed special new tax advantages for leaders designed to pump funds into residential mortgages, and for builders in high-unemployment areas. Individuals would gain an additional $10 billion in tax cuts at midyear under the Ford plan.

Effective this year, there will be special incentives to encourage ownership of common stock. Taxes would be deferred on funds invested for at least seven years in stock purchase plans.

Ford said the budget was based on assumptions that in calendar 1976 consumer prices would moderate to a 6.3 per cent annual increase, the unemployment rate would dip to an average 7.7 per cent and the Gross National Product adjusted for inflation would increase 6.2 per cent following a 2 per cent decline in 1975.

For the cost of 485 cents a barrel, the national GNP would grow at an annual rate of 4.5 per cent and consumer prices would ease to 1.2 per cent and unemployment fall to 5.2 per cent.

If Congress adopts this budget proposal and these economic projections hold true, Ford said the budget would "flow into surpluses in 1976 with increasingly large surpluses in subsequent years."

Because of a stronger economy and declining federal spending in ratio to the GNP, Ford said outlays for education, training and social services would decline, "both in absolute and relative terms."

Ford said his plan would halt the national drift toward a weaker private sector and a "central government" controlling more and more aspects of American life.

Quarterly output rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite a decline in the real Gross National Product for the second consecutive year, government economists generally encouraged by a 1 per cent rise in the nation's output during the fourth quarter.

"Although it might be moderate, economic recovery is underway," said Assistant Commerce Secretary James L. Pate. "There is no indication of recession in the economic recovery. It is a steady and sustainable recovery."

"The GNP rose 1.1 per cent in the fourth quarter from $120 trillion in the third quarter to $122 trillion in an annual rate."

The real GNP, the nation's output of goods and services stripped of inflation, fell 2 per cent in 1975 from $121 trillion in 1974 to $119 trillion last year.

This marked the second yearly decrease and the largest decline since 1946, when it fell 1.9 per cent, the department said.

But Pate and other government economists were undiminished in their predictions.

"We expect the GNP in the first half 1976 to be up approximately what it was in the fourth quarter, maybe even a little higher," Pate said.

Pate said that despite continued consumer cautiousness, "reflected in an unusually high rate of personal savings recorded for the fourth quarter," "strong growth in consumer outlays in the first half of 1976 is anticipated."

House Democrat endorses budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, cautioned his Democratic colleagues today to resist the temptation to increase President Ford's budget in the face of a "shockingly high" national debt.

"Overall, it can be characterized as a hold-the-line budget, an attempt to slow the general trend of rapid federal growth," said Mahon, a fiscal conservative who stepped short of endorsing the Ford budget.

"If progress decreases and consolidations in social programs that Congress may very probably fail to adopt and it increases increases in defense in which Congress is unlikely to concur fully," Mahon predicted.

He cited the budget's proposed deficit of $43 billion, which coupled with the increase in the public debt of $67.3 billion are shockingly high. "And these levels, as high as they are, are in my judgment likely to be somewhat higher when Congress completes its action on the budget."

"I do not personally intend to abandon the principles which I have so frequently enunciated in the past, that except in times of war or deep depression we should not initiate new programs or expand old ones unless we are willing and able to provide the funds to pay for them," said Mahon.

He indicated he would ignore the goal of House Democratic leaders of sharply increasing public service jobs to cut unemployment and would follow the Republican approach of helping business and industry to expand and thereby open up new jobs.

Rep. Bob Bergland, D-Minn., asked about plans to cut spending on child nutrition programs, said he "wouldn't automatically write it off, even though Congress totally ignored it when it first was proposed a year ago."

"We're all feeling heavy pressures from back home on constituents," Bergland said. He said he discovered talking to spending during the recent congressional recess that even many liberals were "satisfied that this country could go down the drain financially."

IRS opens recheck of Nixon returns

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service has begun a re-audit of former President Richard M. Nixon's tax returns for the year in which he claimed a $400,000 deduction for the gift of his vice-presidential papers to the National Archives, to determine if he is liable for fraud penalties, according to sources familiar with the matter.

These sources, both in and out of government, said that the pardon granted by President Ford protects Nixon from being prosecuted for tax fraud or any other criminal action while he was serving in the White House. But, these sources said, the IRS re-audit is aimed at determining whether the agency should assess fraud penalties against Nixon in connection with the conspiracy to back-date documents to claim the deduction.

Ralph G. Newman, a literary scholar whose appraisal of the value of the vice-presidential papers provided the basis for the deduction, was convicted and fined earlier this month on charges of lying to the IRS and preparing a false affidavit in connection with the back-dating.

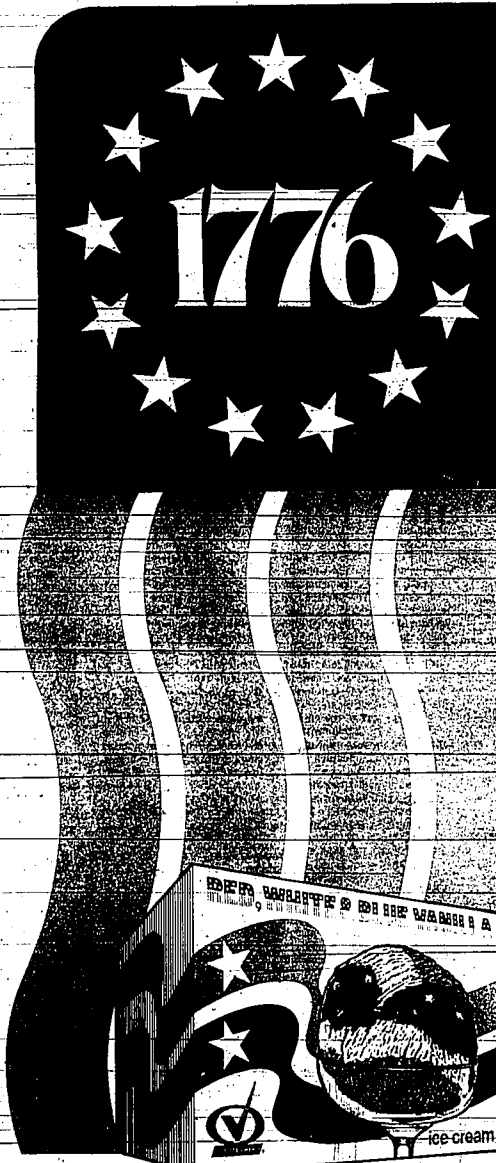

Edward L. Morgan, a former Treasury Department and White House aide, pleaded guilty in 1974 to tax fraud conspiracy in the case and served four months in prison. The Watergate special prosecutors charged and brought Nixon's tax lawyer, Frank Demarco, to trial, but he was acquitted of similar charges.

The purpose of the re-audit, the sources said, is to determine whether Nixon was aware of or involved in the effort to back-date documents that made it possible for him to claim a tax deduction for donating the vice-presidential papers to the archives.

If the IRS determined that Nixon was aware of or involved in an attempt to defraud the agency it could assess a 50 per cent fraud penalty for 1969, 1970, 1971 and 1972. These were the years in which Nixon claimed the tax deduction. There is no statute of limitations on civil fraud cases, according to tax authorities.

When the back-dating of the deed of Nixon's vice-presidential papers became known, Nixon lost the $450,000 deduction for the gift.

Thoughts

In no direction that we turn do we find ease or comfort. If we are honest and if we have the will to win we find only danger, fear work and tears, resignation. Wendell L. Wilkie, American statesman.

One cool judgment is worth a thousandasty councils. The thing to do is to supply light and not heat. Woodrow Wilson, 28th U.S. president.

For three months Ford has been promising a restrained budget or a spending program which is $2 billion above current levels. It is also about $25 billion below what government spending originally had been expected to be in the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

For every dollar that we return to the American taxpayer, we must also cut our projected spending by the same amount. Ford declared last October. He proposed then a $20 billion permanent reduction in taxes, based on a corresponding cut in anticipated government spending for the fiscal year ending in 1977.

STATE OF THE UNION

WASHINGTON — Even as it battles President Ford over his upcoming $20 billion budget, Congress will be shaping later budgets to its own ends on issues more for its own sake.

Democrats and Republicans alike will be looking with interest at Ford's budget to see where it proposes making spending cuts and how sound they are politically.

For Ford last year suggested a 7.5 percent cut in federal spending, but he has now proposed a 10 percent cut. He also has proposed a 10 percent cut in federal spending, but he has now proposed a 10 percent cut.

Decisions shape future

WASHINGTON — Even as it battles President Ford over his upcoming $20 billion budget, Congress will be shaping later budgets to its own ends on issues more for its own sake.

Enough places to get to $395 billion. Commented George Gross, executive director of the House Budget Committee. But I don't think the result will be a whole lot different from last year.

Major dollar savings program changes designed to curb swelling costs and widespread cheating. Confirmed disputes over defense spending and aid to foreign military assistance.

Head tax repeal sought in permanent relief bid

BOISE (UPI) — House lawmakers called for introduction today of a bill to repeal Idaho's so-called $10 head tax, a move that would grant $2.8 million in permanent tax relief.

A filing fee on income taxes, the tax goes into the state's permanent building fund. Supporters of the repeal said there are other possible sources for construction monies.

Rep. John Brooks, R-Gooding, brought the bill to the committee. He said it would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

"If you feel there is no need for anymore building in the State of Idaho?" Rep. Ron Twilger, D-Boise, asked.

Brooks said there is a bill already in the House to take two per cent of the general fund revenues and put it into the permanent building fund.

"The $10 head tax is not the only source," Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, said. "I think this is a regressive tax."

Rep. Perry Swisher, D-Pocahontas, agreed, calling the measure, "a tax on my existence" rather than on his enterprise or activity.

"I think this is one of the most regressive if not the most regressive tax in the state," Swisher said. "There are other ways to collect taxes."

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, disagreed. "I feel this is a privilege tax," Reid said, saying taxpayers should be glad to pay it for the "privilege" of living in Idaho.

Reid said that the tax laws have been amended to extend the grocery credit on income taxes to those who do not have to pay income taxes so that they can recover the sales taxes they have paid for food.

Meanwhile, the committee voted to introduce a bill by Rep. Russell Westberg, D-Soda Springs, to siphon 10 per cent of the state's phosphate royalties into the four counties from which phosphate is mined.

At present, the state gets about $1 million a year in royalties from phosphate mined on a federal land. Westberg's bill would put $100,000 of those royalties into the counties producing the ore.

Westberg said phosphate mining is on the upswing in southeastern Idaho and will lead to a large increase in population. He said local government needs the additional revenue to cope with the problems brought on by additional services.

In other action, the committee, out of courtesy to the governor — voted to introduce two more proposals to reorganize the State Tax Commission.

One of them, similar to a bill already introduced, would permit the governor to appoint one of the four commissioners as chairman and give him full administrative powers over the Department of Revenue and Taxation. Under the previous bill, however, this one would not give the director 27 quasi-judicial powers the four commissioners now have in the ad valorem tax field.

The other new bill would provide for gubernatorial appointment of a department director and set the commission up as a part-time, policymaking body. Joe Welch, a special assistant to the governor, said this proposal would save about $35,000.

Bottle deposit sought

BOISE (UPI) — The State Department of Health and Welfare is drafting a bill to require deposits on pop bottles, food jars and other containers.

Ed Barker, supervisor of solid waste management, said the proposal would be an incentive to make bottles reusable.

"It would be a combination of a refund deposit system on most containers and a very, very small tax on items not returnable or refundable for recycling," he said.

He said the bill, which probably will not be ready for this legislative session, was inspired by Washington and Oregon laws although it goes far beyond what those states have done.

Study approval asked

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho legislature will be asked to approve the Hay study to implement a new job-evaluation pay plan for state employees.

By a vote of 10-3, a legislative interim committee agreed Tuesday to ask approval of the study with the cost to implement it to be determined by the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee. The negative votes were cast by Democratic members of the committee.

Senate Majority Leader Phil Batt, R-Wilder, moved adoption of the plan, saying "the amount of money to implement this will have to be determined by the joint committee and the legislature."

Bill production start due

BOISE (UPI) — Senate Majority Leader Phil Batt, R-Wilder, said today he hoped the legislature would provide direction by the end of the week to the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee so it could start grinding out appropriation bills.

The joint committee will finish its hearings today and by next Monday committee members hope to start introduction of bills.

"It's necessary that we take action as soon as possible because the joint committee can't draft bills until we give it direction," he added.

Tuesday, an interim committee voted 10-3 to ask the legislature to adopt the Hay study. The negative votes were cast by Democratic members of the committee.

Batt said if the Hay plan was adopted there was "a good possibility" the length of the session could be shortened.

If adopted, Batt said there would be only one question and that would be how much money the legislature wanted to approve to implement the salary schedule. He said he had no idea whether the legislature would go along with the $6 million recommended by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for pay increases for state employees.

As presented, the Hay study calls for a five per cent increase in classified employees. It does not call for the full funding of health insurance, estimated to cost about $2.5 million a year. The five per cent hike would cost about $12 million.

Batt commended the joint committee for the work it has done in the first two and a half weeks of the session. He said the committee completed its work faster than any previous committee in his memory.

He also said the committee could have "every reason to be critical of the rest of the legislature." If a decision wasn't reached immediately on salaries and tax relief.

The committee has worked day and night to complete their work," Batt said.

Office space wins OK

BOISE (UPI) — The Board of Examiners gave the Department of Employment permission today to arrange for new office space in Sandpoint and Blackfoot and to donate 200 bottles of out-of-date medicine to Africa.

But the examiners deferred action on a request from Oliver

B. Turner for $100 to replace clothing that was not returned to him when he was released from the Idaho State Penitentiary.

Road fund shift mullied

BOISE (UPI) — The legislature may prefer to finance additional highway construction with general fund instead of highway users' money, two Republican leaders said Tuesday.

Sen. Paul Batt, R-Boise, and Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, majority leaders of their respective houses, told the Idaho Press Club many legislators would prefer that to raising the gasoline tax.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has asked the legislature for an additional $8.6 million in highway user revenue in order to match additional federal funds of up to $30 million. He suggested increasing the gasoline tax a penny a gallon and then asking our registration fees according to engine size.

"There is a question of whether we want to continue expansion of the highway system," Batt told the headline-hungry press. "I'm not sure we need to match every federal dollar."

"If we can match what we need now by the general fund, we will be putting off the gasoline tax increase."

But, he acknowledged, it will be difficult to find that much money in the general fund.

The House Transportation Committee has introduced a bill to finance the Department of Law Enforcement from general fund revenue, freeing up to $8.2 million in other revenues for highways.

Little said if that can be done he would prefer taking money from the general fund. He said methods other than gasoline tax increases would be more acceptable to the finance committee.

In fact, Little said, the legislature will face the prospect of increasing taxes by not having surplus sufficient to continue the $6 million in tax relief that went to the county school levy and finding the $8 million needed by Transportation.

Demos name speakers

BOISE (UPI) — Senators Frank Church of Idaho and Joseph P. Biden of Delaware will be speakers at the Jefferson-Jackson Bicentennial Banquet Feb. 28 sponsored by the Idaho Democratic Party.

The $30 a plate banquet will be held at the Radeway Inn Convention Center at 4 p.m. with a no host reception at 7 p.m. A limited number of $12.50 tickets will be available for senior citizens and students.

John S. Chapman is general chairman for the party's major fund raising function. Betty Parker is general ticket sales chairman.

Proceeds from the banquet will be divided among centists and the state headquarters.

Court power questioned

BOISE (UPI) — A North Idaho legislator questioned Tuesday the authority of the State Supreme Court to take over pre-sentence investigations.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewiston, said pre-sentence investigation should be in the hands of the Board of Corrections.

Yet, he added, the court is asking the legislature to appropriate from the general fund money to the judicial branch to assume powers invested by the legislature to a state agency and also are asking for federal funds for pre-sentence investigations.

"The only control the legislature has over the courts is we can control the purse strings," Mitchell said in opposing the fact that the courts has attempted usurp authority given the Board of Corrections.

Mitchell said it wouldn't have been so bad if the court would sit down with the board and the legislature and discuss the program and then the legislature could institute proper legislation if a change should be made.

"I think the direction in the state law is very clear," Mitchell said. "At least it was until 1972 when the courts became involved in pre-sentence investigations in Alcoholic Safety Action Program cases and expanded to other areas in 1975."

"This is where the program has been and this is where I think it should be," Mitchell said.

He said financially, the amount of money being discussed was more than $1 million. He said the court wants to add a supervisor, 18 investigators and five more staff personnel.

"This is too much money without planning and coordination," he added.

Mitchell said as soon as the work of the joint legislative Finance-Appropriations Committee was completed he was going to ask the committee be appointed to bring the judicial branch and Board of Corrections together to discuss the problem.

The North Idaho senator noted the legislature has little control over the courts, adding "our only involvement is with the purse."

FBI budget cut proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today proposed cutsback both in FBI spending and in law enforcement grants to states and localities in the fiscal 1977 budget submitted to Congress.

The proposed FBI budget of $166 million represents a $15 million cutback from the current fiscal year. The administration the cuts will force the agency to focus its investigations on fewer but more "significant" crimes.

for fiscal 1977 was 19 per cent above this year's $1.1 billion budget. It included major increases for solar and geothermal power, development, conservation, nuclear waste disposal, research, and synthetic fuel production.

"Assuring our nation's needs for energy must be among our highest priorities," Ford told Congress, putting energy on a par with defense programs he said must expand despite an overall effort to reduce the growth of federal spending.

cent to $545 million. And it projected a $2 billion to start work on a 10 megawatt solar power plant, largest in the world, in New Mexico.

The high priority Ford gave energy reflected a view voiced Monday in his State of the Union message that "there can be neither sustained growth nor more jobs unless we continue to have an assured supply of energy to run our economy."

December. Warning that U.S. oil and gas production still are declining, he said Monday that it was but an imperfect first step and "much remains to be done."

Unlike 1975, when he first outlined the drive for energy independence, Ford launched no bold ventures in this budget. Instead he urged Congress to get on "immediately" with passing or expanding programs he already has proposed.

Wolf kill protested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, acting on demands of environmentalists, suspended federal funding today for a controversial plan to kill nearly all timber wolves on a 3,200 square mile tract in Alaska.

Conservation groups had waged a vocal protest against the experimental, state-run program, designed to test a period of years when should as many wolves as possible be removed from the 13 north of Anchorage would increase the dwindling moose population there.

LA woman wins malpractice suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Velma Bailey Smith won a $659,000 malpractice judgment Tuesday against Dr. Victor Morhaim because a wayward needle interferes with her sex life, ruining her marriage.

She sued the doctor, charging that during a biopsy on Nov. 7, 1971, he inserted a needle "some distance away" from the correct location and it broke.

A piece of the needle is still lodged against her spine and cannot be removed, her lawyer said. During sexual intercourse, the movement of the needle near her spine causes her great pain, her lawyer argued, and she and her husband have separated because of the problem.

Kennedy's 'mistake'

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary under President John F. Kennedy, says the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in 1962 was Kennedy's "most serious mistake," but American public opinion contributed to the decision to launch the plan.

"I believe the landing in the Bay of Pigs was perhaps President Kennedy's most serious mistake."

Big surprise

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Four months ago Henry Lacy's 82-year-old girlfriend told him he was "crazy" to undertake a cross-country bicycle trip from Long Beach, Calif. to Fort Myers, Fla. To surprise his only daughter.

Lacy, 72, remembered that remark when he arrived last week to find his daughter had moved and left no forwarding address with any of her neighbors.

"I wanted to surprise her; but it turned out she surprised me," he said.

Karen's complaint

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Karen Black has lost a legal battle over a movie in which she plays a male homosexual.

Miss Black two weeks ago won a temporary restraining order against Sherwin Tilton, a student at Art Center College of Design. She said she had appeared in his movie "Open" in a favor, believing that it would be shown only in his classes, but had learned of plans to distribute the film commercially.

Remedy for boredom

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — If you're bored you could always learn to play "Twelfth Street Rag" backwards and upside down on the piano.

Mrs. Frances Fairley, 60, of Memphis, could teach you. She's been playing it backwards and upside down for years.

"I'm not sure how I got started playing this way," the professional pianist said Tuesday. "I guess it happened one day when I was dusting around the piano. I just started fooling around."

Redford appointed

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Movie actor Robert Redford has been named chairman of the Provo Canyon Sewer District.

Redford, who owns the Sundance Ski Resort in the canyon, was named Tuesday as chairman of the district which is trying to get a sewer system for the scenic canyon.

All in the family

ORANGE, Calif. (UPI) — Police say Yvonne McCaslin and Rico Wiley kept it "all in the family," running an armed robbery ring using their three children, two boys and a girl ages 12 to 17, and a 15-year-old friend.

The Garden Grove family is believed to be responsible for up to 20 recent holdups in Orange and Riverside counties, officers said.

Police said the family used the same method of operation in all of the robberies. The woman and her 12-year-old son would walk into a store, pretending to look at merchandise, and then the father and three other children, armed with guns and wearing masks, would burst in and rob the place, a police spokesman said.

610 mile jogging claim disputed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Phil Saad, a 51-year-old runner cleaner with a heart condition, says he ran himself "king of the jiggers" and claims he ran and walked the 610 miles from Denver to Kansas City. But one report says Saad rode rather than ran at least one-third of the way.

Saad, who jogged into Kansas City Sunday night, held several reporters he had been running or walking for 194 hours. He said his journey, which included a 28-hour, 230-mile run between Denver and Colby, Kan., began in Colorado Jan. 11.

However, an article in the biweekly Colby Prairie Drummer quoted a Greyhound bus driver as saying Saad was aboard his bus from Denver to Colby. A motel clerk was quoted also as saying Saad checked into the motel during the time he said he was "jogging."

"I swear this day on my mom's grave I did not hitchhike," Saad said Tuesday. "I made it August 21, 1967, in cold fronts and everything else, and that's the damn truth. I don't care what anybody says."

His ex-wife, who said she received two or three letters a day during his trip, staunchly supports Saad's account.

Jackie Saad said when she met the runner in Tonganoxie, Kan., Sunday for the last leg of the jog, his feet were black with blisters and his weight was down to 136 pounds.

"I don't doubt him. I got letters from him that were so detailed, there was no way he could have made it up," she said. "I believe him because I know him. He's perfectly able physically to do it."

Mrs. Saad said she followed the runner Sunday on the 48-mile stretch from Tonganoxie to Kansas City in her car and clocked his time at eight hours.

"I want to be recognized as the old man who did it. I just want to say that when you get the best here," he said.

Sale ban sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York City already bans its sale. Canada will stop importing it Feb. 1. Now Congress is being asked to prohibit it nationally.

It's the "miniature slug" gun.

Looking like a flashlight, the gun expels miniature harpoons carrying 2000 volts to its victim and the pain renders victims incapacitated for several minutes.

Rep. Lawrence Coughlin, R-Pa., said Tuesday he plans to introduce legislation to classify the weapon as a "destructive device" under the Gun Control Act of 1968.

Federal school feeding subsidy plan due another trip to hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today asked Congress to take another look at his previously rejected plan to eliminate federal school feeding subsidies for children above the poverty level.

The plan is part of a proposal to fold 15 existing child aid programs including one supplying extra nutrition to exceptional mothers and infants — into a single block grant program funneled through states and available only for poverty children.

Ford revived the proposal in a suggested budget which would cut overall federal spending on food aid — including both child nutrition and food stamps for needy families — by about $1.3 billion, from nearly $8.4 billion in the current fiscal year to $7.1 billion in the 1977 fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Officials said operating levels in the two programs actually would slip a total of $1 billion — $800 million for stamps and $200 million in child aid — but the timing of cash outflows will limit the spending decline during the fiscal year to $1.3 billion.

Congress approves the block grant concept for children this time, experts said it would cut potential federal spending in the 1977 fiscal year by about $1.2 billion. This would include a $700 million cut in school lunch outlays.

The cut in lunch subsidies might force an increase of more than 25¢ a week in fees paid by about 14 million children who pay "regular" school cafeteria prices, with even greater hikes for most of the 1.4 million youngsters who currently buy lunches at token prices averaging 10 cents a meal.

Free school meals for children in families with incomes under, or possibly slightly over the poverty line would continue under Ford's budget proposals for fiscal 1977, however, and he said

"under my program, all needy children can be fed but subsidies for the nonpoor would be eliminated."

Help would go to an estimated 700,000 not reached by existing programs, he said.

The overall cutback of $1.3 billion in spending on all food programs shown in the budget will materialize only if Congress accepts two major changes in programs operated by the Agriculture Department. These include the controversial revision of child nutrition programs, and set of sweeping reforms proposed last fall for the food stamp program, which currently costs an estimated $5.6 billion.

If Congress fails to change either the food stamp or child feeding laws, experts estimated that spending in both food programs will rise in the new fiscal year with combined costs climbing to about $9.5 billion instead of falling to about $7.1 billion.

The Ford plan for children would combine programs which are running at a total of $2.7 billion in the current fiscal year — and which could rise to nearly $3.2 billion in the next fiscal year if no legislation is passed — into a single $2 billion block grant program for states.

Under existing law, more than 25 million children eat school meals, including about 10.6 million who get free meals and nearly 1 million who get token priced meals. Under the Ford plan, officials estimated about 11.3 million would get free meals while non-needy children would lose subsidies now estimated at 25 cents per meal in cash and commodities.

Sugar firm fined over price fixing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California and Hawaiian Sugar Co. was fined the maximum $100,000 in federal court Monday on a "no contest" plea to fixing sugar prices.

C&H was among six companies indicted in 1974 for price fixing in the Midwest and California-Arizona markets.

Bailey Lane, C&H attorney, told U.S. District Court Judge Robert Schaecke the firm had changed its mind about going to trial and was "content to accept the maximum fine on each of the two counts against it."

The company pleaded no contest to price fixing "some time prior to 1970 and at least through 1972."

Five of the other firms pleaded nolo contendere last August and were fined a maximum sum of $300,000.

They were Amalgamated Sugar, Ogden, Utah; American Cane and Great Western, both of Denver; and Consolidated Foods Corp., Chicago, each fined $50,000; and Holly Sugar, Colorado Springs, fined $100,000 because it was charged on two counts.

Still pending are civil suits against the six companies. Prosecutor Robert Staal said they were also "filed by the government's antitrust division but were shelved pending outcome of the criminal cases."

Awaiting trial also are antitrust suits filed by supermarket chains, canners and makers of candies and soft drinks, among others. The suits seek damages in the millions.

They are expected to be tried in San Francisco by Federal Judge George Boldt, assigned from Tacoma, Wash.

Northwest fund proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford proposed today that more than $16 billion be spent in Washington and Oregon to continue raising the Columbia River and to develop other water resources of the Pacific Northwest.

Of the total, more than $227 million was earmarked for Washington and more than $60 million for Oregon.

So new starts were proposed, but the budget for fiscal 1977 calls for installation of two more generators at the Grand Coulee Dam in Washington to produce 1.3 million kilowatts of additional electricity.

Work on the third powerplant would cost $43.9 million. An additional $23.9 million was budgeted for irrigation facilities, bringing the total budget for the Columbia Basin Project to $68.8 million — $9.4 million less than the construction program for the current fiscal year.

The major item in the Washington budget was $70 million to continue work on additional power units for the Chief Joseph Dam.

The budget also included $38 million to continue work on the second powerhouse for the Bonneville Dam between Washington and Oregon.

The Bureau of Reclamation asked for $11 million for construction in Oregon, including $9 million for the Tualatin Project, $1,670,000 for the Klamath Project and $700,000 for modifications in the Savage Rapids Dam Fishway in the Rogue River Basin Project.

The $138.1 million budgeted by the Corps of Engineers for continuing construction in Washington included: Ice Harbor Dam additional units, $2.1 million; Little Goose Dam, additional units, $24.6 million; Lower Granite Lock and Dam, $11 million; Lower Granite additional units, $21.9 million; Lower Monumental Dam additional units, $19.9 million; The Dalles Dam additional units, $300,000; and Wahkiakum County Consolidated District No. 1 flood control, $600,000.

The Army Engineers' $71.2 million construction budget for Oregon included:

Applegate Lake flood control project, $1 million; Beaver Drainage District flood control, $1,399,000; Coos Bay navigation project, $10 million; Cougar Lake multiple purpose project, $87,000; John Day Lock and Dam, $11 million; Lost Creek multiple purpose project, $7.5 million; Lower Columbia River Bank protection, $30,000; McNary Lock and Dam, $700,000; Scappoose Drainage District flood control, $2,680,000; and Willamette River Basin Bank protection, $50,000.

Ford urges 60% hike for sewage plants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today proposed giving state and local governments $7.7 billion for sewage plant construction in the next fiscal year, a 60 per cent hike over this year's funding almost double that spent in fiscal 1975.

The payments — made by the Environmental Protection Agency under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act — represented the most significant increase in the EPA budget for fiscal 1977 starting Oct. 1.

Ford expressed displeasure, however, with the way America's water cleanup program is lagging. He said the new sewage plant funding will be the last before the program returns to the pollution control act.

He also said he plans to propose changes in the Clean Air Act, making it easier for power plants and industries to burn coal, to provide a better balance between the nation's environmental and energy goals.

"Approximately $10 billion of the $18 billion allotted to the states for construction of 'waste water' treatment plants currently remains unobligated," Ford said. He said $6 billion would be unobligated at the start of the new budget year and "consequently, no new budget obligation authority is requested for 1977."

The changes in the water pollution act, Ford said, will focus federal aid on "meeting the needs of existing population" and providing new incentives to meet water quality standards in the most efficient way.

Feds heed feminists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an apparent bow to feminist objections, the fiscal year 1977 budget avoids the word "manpower" in describing federal job training and employment projects.

"This word change has no effect on the composition of the function of such programs," the budget explained.

Rita Hayworth 'ill'

LONDON (UPI) — Her blonde hair disheveled and a Friday to a fellow passenger looking "very ill," actress Rita Hayworth had to be assisted off a jumbo jetliner on arrival from Los Angeles today.

She was accompanied by a photographer being helped down the back steps of the plane 30 minutes after it landed at Heathrow international airport. Two uniformed airline employees supported her at each side.

She reportedly left a French woman passenger that "there was a bit of shouting going on and whether she was drunk or not we do not know but she looked very ill."

Miss Hayworth, 57, and her five-member entourage eventually were driven from the plane to a reception suite normally used by visiting government heads and officials, and later she was taken to a hospital leaving her personal luggage at the airport.

Kennedy photo will stay

BURLINGTON, Iowa (UPI) — The Burlington Area Catholic School Board voted Monday night to keep the portrait of John F. Kennedy in the Notre Dame High School library, despite recent reports about the late president's sex life.

One of the board members said the issue should not have been brought to the point in the first place.

After meeting the students to keep the portrait on the wall, the Rev. Donald Fitzgerald said, "This should never have been brought to this meeting in the first place. It's a matter of discipline, not policy. You (Principal Dave Walker) should have handled this."

It's ridiculous, utterly ridiculous. Eighty persons attended the BIGHORN SPORTS AND WESTERN WEAR 207 East Main, Jerome. Winchester 209 SHOT SHELL $1.00 PRIMERS $1.00

Jemison the father of three NDHS students was out of town on business and did not attend the meeting. Earlier, he said he'd acted solely as a parent and not in his capacity as president of the Notre Dame Home and School Association.

Story irks hospital but fees may decline

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital trustees Tuesday dashed out a Times-News story which said six hospital doctors can expect to divide more than $600,000 in fees this year.

Hospital administrator Rosenbaum said today that the hospital currently is attempting to negotiate a more favorable fee arrangement with the doctors.

Under the current contracts, the doctors are paid $2.50 per hour for after-expense income of their departments, and the hospital gets 37.5 per cent.

Rosenbaum said there had been "some progress" in negotiations on the fee split arrangement. "I'm hopeful that the matter can be resolved by the next board meeting."

He said that if anticipated volume holds, less money would be paid per man if there are four pathologists hired.

"We anticipate each pathologist would receive $80,000," Rosenbaum said.

However, he cautioned that "a lot depends on what kind of business we have."

Hospital trustee Dr. Ben Katz said the loss of Dr. Carle was a blow to the hospital. He said Dr. Carle's reputation had been responsible for much of the hospital's business from other counties.

He estimated that Dr. Carle's out-of-county business may have brought in more than $1 million to the hospital.

Hospital trustee R. W. Pierce said the rapidly growing quantity of business in the hospital lab and X-ray departments shows the hospital is not charging more than the public can afford.

He said the hospital board's policy was "the patient comes first, the cost comes second."

A SUNKEN rowboat still clings to its mooring at the dock of Banbury Hot Springs along the Snake River west of Buhl. The hot springs are closed for the season.

Camas income rate of gain slows

By GORDON JUDD Times-News Writer

FAIRFIELD — Camas County per capita income has risen in the past decade but not rapidly enough to maintain its third place ranking in the state.

This and other facts about Magic Valley's least populated county become known as a result of a study conducted by LeMar Bollinger, professor of economics at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

In 1965 Camas County had 817 residents and a per capita income of $3,124 which compared with the then statewide average of $2,451.

County's population had declined slightly to 720 persons and its per capita income, although rising to $4,218, was not enough of a gain to maintain its standing, causing it to finish in seventh place.

Camas County continued to lead the other eight counties comprising the Magic Valley however, with its "success competitor" being Blaine County which rose from eighteenth to ninth place.

Comparing wages and salaries received by both workers and owners of businesses and farms in this small county, which is primarily agricultural, revealed that from 1965 to 1972 the total growth amounted to 31 per cent.

behind with 29 per cent. Statewide, Idaho grew at a rate almost three times faster at a reported 76 per cent.

As in the past, farm incomes of salaried farm employees and farm proprietors (owners) incomes were the largest single source of non government income but both sources of income declined by 39 per cent.

However, the number of farms actually increased slightly from 103 to 105 in the study's eight-year period.

Local state and federal salaries and wages made up 41 per cent of Camas' total receipts compared with the previously mentioned farm income which amounted to 23 per cent.

Public school teachers wages accounted for $149,000 while federal civilian employees earned $17,000.

Manufacturing incomes which had amounted to $282,000 from lumber products declined slightly to $242,000 by the end of the study period.

Although the amount paid to Camas residents for Social Security benefits increased slightly the increase could largely be explained by increased benefits.

As a county Camas residents draw very little assistance from any other source. No one was on food stamps during the entire eight-year period.

Public assistance payments dropped from a minimal $9,000 down to $4,900 at the end of the study.

OSHA inspects Ketchum plant

By BART QUESNELL Times-News writer

KETCHUM — The Scott USA goggle and pole plant in downtown Ketchum was inspected Tuesday by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and an official with the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

The inspection is the result of allegations by employees that toxic fumes used in the manufacture of goggles are causing sickness. Many employees also contend the fire danger is extreme in the plant.

Scott USA officials have disputed claims that the plant is full of toxic fumes which have said nothing about the fire danger.

In a related inspection by the Ketchum Fire Department last Friday, Scott USA was found to be deficient in many areas of fire safety.

An OSHA official said today the results of the inspection would not be complete for several days.

However, Howard Burkhardt, environmental division chief of the Department of Health and Welfare, said one of his men who followed the OSHA inspector yesterday, found little evidence of chemical discharges into the air inside the plant.

Burkhardt said it appeared when the HAW division chief of the Department was little smell from toxic gases and chemicals.

Burkhardt conducted interviews with employees, but few workers seemed concerned with the chemical problem.

hated in the center of the room. Ventilation rods are now within 16 inches of the workers' faces, he said.

"If they keep their work on the table there should be no problem with breathing fumes," Burkhardt said. The plant was found visually satisfactory and that smells from chemical vapors were minimal.

The state took no separate tests, he said, leaving that to OSHA.

It was very hard to find anything hazardous," Burkhardt said.

The solvent methyl-ethyl-ketone was covered and appeared safe, according to Burkhardt.

The Ketchum Fire Department report differs from Burkhardt's report of safety in the plant.

A minor fire in this area would very probably result in a loss of life to the employee working in the area because of the exit problems and toxic combustion fumes in the area.

"We will forward a complete report on our findings shortly, however, in the interim we wanted to advise you of the seriousness of the situation and recommend that the product area be relocated."

Rings reported stolen

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Kenneth Straughn, Twin Falls, reported the theft of two rings valued at $2,000.

She told the Twin Falls city police she had her automobile unlocked in front of 976 Sunday Blvd. and her purse was in the vehicle.

Connie Akers, Twin Falls, reported her vehicle was damaged on the Bowldrome parking lot Tuesday night. She said two tires were slashed and the radio antenna broken.

Viki Sobotta, 1109 Elizabeth Blvd., told police someone broke into her home Tuesday afternoon and took her purebred Irish Setter. The dog was valued at $275, she said.

TF man treated

TWIN FALLS — Gene C. Bailey, Twin Falls, was treated for a facial laceration Tuesday night after allegedly being assaulted by two men, city police reported.

Bailey was treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and released. He told officers he asked two customers of the restaurant where he works to "quiet down" and an argument followed.

He said the two invited him outside to settle it and when they went outside a fist fight followed and one of the two pulled out a pocket knife and slashed him in the face.

Investigation is continuing. Officers said the incident occurred in the 200 blocks of Addison Avenue West.

Meet set Thursday

BOISE — The American Falls Space Holders Executive Committee will meet here Thursday at 10 a.m. to reach decisions on construction of the American Falls Dam replacement.

The meeting will be followed by a press conference at noon conducted by Rod Vissla, director, Pacific Northwest Region, Bureau of Reclamation, and John Hosholt, Twin Falls attorney, representing the American Falls Reservoir District.

TF law regulates large gatherings

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners Tuesday afternoon stiffened the county's ordinance for controlling rock festivals and other large gatherings.

TF law regulates large gatherings

also excludes any assemblies held within cities. Major changes over the previous ordinance include an increase from 250 to 500 persons in size of gatherings coming under the ordinance.

The license fee was increased from $100 per day to $300 per day of the event. There is no specific limit on time over which the event may extend. Previously gatherings were limited to 48 hours.

Licensed physicians and nurses must be provided with one doctor for every 1,000 persons and one nurse for every 500. Plans for handling health and sanitation needs must be submitted to the South Central Idaho Health District at least 15 days prior to the event.

The amended ordinance calls for adequate free parking, telephone service and camping facilities approved by the sheriff if required by overnight attendance.

underwritten by a surety company holding the county harmless from any damage or problems arising from the granting of the license.

There is also a performance bond of $15,000 required to insure compliance with terms of the ordinance and another $2,000 deposit with county commissioners to cover damage to adjoining or non-adjointing property.

Facility ready

SALMON — The Federal Aviation Agency's aircraft, navigational facility atop Lake Mountain near here has brought to an end the largest "blank" area for pilots flying in the United States.

Carol Jarvis, who operates Salmon Air Taxi, said pilots now can receive distance and directional information and can fly a straight line to and from Salmon.

The FAA installation includes a VOR, an electronic navigational aid which provides a low altitude airway connection with Dillon, Butte, Missoula, Dubois, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Twin Falls, Burley, Boise, Elk City and McCall.

LDS musical slated in TF

TWIN FALLS — The contemporary Mormon musical "Saturday's Warrior" will be presented at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium Friday and Saturday.

"Nightly performances will be at 8 p.m. with a matinee at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday."

More than 300,000 people have seen this popular musical based on the LDS Church religious belief pertaining to the plan of salvation.

Saturday's Warrior refers to youth of today, the valiant who are born at this time on the Saturday of the earth's life. Just prior to the ushering in of the millennium.

The musical has been a sellout wherever it has appeared across the country. It is presented by OMEGA Productions, Inc., with contemporary music by William and Lee DeAzedo, noted in the motion picture industry.

All seats are reserved for the performance this week in Twin Falls handled through advance ticket sales.

Defense spending increase to $101 billion sought by Ford in '77 budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today asked Congress to increase defense spending to $101.1 billion, declaring, "We do not do less." It was an indication his efforts to limit growth at the Pentagon door.

He said the requested increase of $8.3 billion includes a reduction in personnel and that more might be needed if the SALT talks faller and the nuclear arms race expands. There would be a total of $5.1 billion in foreign aid and for sales of U.S. military equipment.

Ford told Congress it would have to pass legislation permitting him to cut about $2.8 billion from the defense budget or spend that much more if they do not agree.

"I am recommending a significant increase in defense spending for 1977," Ford said. "If in good conscience I could propose less, I would. Great good can be accomplished with other uses of these dollars."

"My request is based on a careful assessment of the international situation and the contingencies which we must be prepared to meet."

The amounts I seek will provide the national defense it now appears we need. We dare not do less. And if our efforts to secure international arms limitation failer, we will need to do more."

Ford said this budget would provide $7.4 billion in new spending over an above-inflation rate. He said these real increases should continue to $149.7 billion in 1981 — $121.9 billion in 1978 dollars.

"This budget provides for the essential real growth which will ensure that the United States can fulfill its objectives of mutual security, international stability and peace," said Defense Secretary Donald H. Regan.

Spy budget hidden

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1977 federal budget again conceals the amount the United States spends on spying. There has been considerable debate in Congress to publish the total amount, believed to be about $2 billion, but so far all pressures have resisted. The House defeated an attempt to publish the CIA's budget during debate on the 1976 fiscal 1976 appropriation.

Spuds advance, cattle ease down

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. CHICAGO — Potato futures advanced sharply Tuesday. A major factor in the gains was suspension of customs duties on spuds until March 29 by the European Economic Community, apparently a move to relieve a 20 per cent shortfall in the EEC crop. It does nothing to encourage import of processed potatoes, which remain under a 21 per cent duty.

Both Idaho and Maine potato futures closed higher. The May delivery of Idaho russets gained 23 cents, closing at 12.50 per hundredweight.

Chicago cash basis for boxcars was unchanged at 6 cents under March while hoppers were a cent lower, 5 under March.

Meat closed the leader in the soybean complex and was the only gainer, posting gains including 11.50 for January. Beans were 1 1/2 to 2 cents lower, and oil gave up 35 to 45 points.

Rupert mart mixed

RUPERT — The market was uneven at the Valley Livestock Commission sale Monday.

Heifers, 500-600, 29.50-31.50; yearling heifers, 590-700, 29.50-31.50; Holstein steers, 400-700, 24.00-27.00; Holstein steers, 700-1,000, 26.00-30.20; feeder bulks, 21.00-23.00; baby calves, 10.00-30.00.

TWIN FALLS — Jean A. Burkhardt, Twin Falls, has been named to the scholastic honor roll for fall term at Oregon State University. She is a sophomore majoring in home economics.

The Veterans Administration wants $17.2 billion in new pensions to 4.8 million veterans and increase VA hospital staffs. The administration says it wants to cut GI bill benefits for the all-volunteer force and cut down educational eligibility for people new on duty.

The administration wants an additional $14 billion in security support assistance money to help nations, mostly in the Middle East, arrange their budgets so they can purchase those arms.

The budget revealed that the cost of supporting the 300 American technicians to keep the cease-fire lines in the Sinai desert will be $32 million.

Development requests include more work on the B1 bomber, the light-F16 fighter, the Trident missile-firing submarine, a new intercontinental ballistic missile, a new Army tank and the nuclear-powered cruise missile, an item which has complicated the SALT talks.

The Pentagon increasingly is turning to foreign military sales rather than direct foreign aid. It is asking a sales program of $2.1 billion and the budget request said a substantial portion of which will

In today's competitive marketplace, The Times-News is the best way to reach active shoppers wherever they are.

This year, as our nation celebrates its 200th birthday The Paris Company will complete 25 years of successful retailing in Twin Falls. In just 25 short years, we have grown into one of the northwest's largest outlets of apparel for women, juniors, sub-teens and children.

We're looking forward to many more years of service to our many good friends and customers in Twin Falls and the Magic Valley.

A planned advertising program will continue to play an important part in our growth and leadership in the retail field through the next decade.

We believe in offering our customers an outstanding selection of the merchandise they want when they want it — with complete customer service that is unequalled anywhere.

Today's busy women-on-the-go (our customers) consider newspaper advertising as the kind which "saves them the most time", and is "most useful" in deciding what to buy. And that's why we will continue to invest 80% or more of our media advertising budget with the Times-News.

DEAR ABBY: For three months during the past year I worked as a part-time secretary for a lawyer. I quit because I felt rather uncomfortable about certain things.

To start off with, my boss told me when I answered the phone to say that he wasn't in. It seems I had to constantly lie to his clients. Also, I know that he owed people a lot of money and was constantly dodging them.

Because I felt that he wasn't on the up and up, I quit. Now the problem is this: I plan to look for another job, but what do I put on the application blank where it says, "The reason for leaving your job."

"If I put down, "For personal reasons," it sounds as though he made a pass at me, which isn't true."
CLIFTON, N.J.

DEAR CLIFTON: Why not say that you were not happy with the working "conditions," which you weren't!

MR. AND MRS. DAVID SHORHOUSE

TF miss, Shorhouse recite nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS — Janet L. Cheney and David E. Shorhouse were married Jan. 2 at the Twin Falls United Presbyterian Church.

Rev. B. Van Nest performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar flanked by candleabra, centered with white flowers and blue ribbons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted N. Cheney and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Shorhouse, all Twin Falls.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, styled with a chapel train. The dress featured a sheer, sweetheart neckline edged with lace. The gown was fashioned with long tapered sleeves.

Her veil of tulle was edged with lace and was held in place by a tiara of cream-colored flowers. The dress was worn by her mother at her wedding. The bride wore her grandmother's heirloom watch necklace.

Her bouquet was a chrysanthemum, crescent cascade tied with blue ribbons.

Jerrine Haynes was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Diana Newbury and Pat Hutherford. Jerry Baumer, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Tony Beilin was best man. Rick Merkle and Jon Taylor were ushers. Nick Baumer, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Lynn Hicks was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Phyllis Van Nest.

The couple was honored at a reception in the fire-side lounge of the church after the ceremony.

March date set

Ex-boss had faults

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and very mature for my age. I have a 4-month-old baby son and a full-time job to support us.

To get to the point, I'm very much hung up on a guy who is 20. He's a real great guy until he starts drinking, then he gets terribly mean towards everyone—including me. He wants to fight, and he says a lot of things for which he is sorry afterwards.

When he's sober he begs me to forgive him, saying he didn't mean to hurt me, and because I love him I give him another chance.

I can't count the chances I've given him already.

Should I break off with him the next time he gets drunk, or stay with him and hope he'll outgrow his drinking problem? He keeps promising he will do so.

HOPELESS IN MONTANA

DEAR HOPELESS: Be a wise girl and quit seeing him right now. Tell him that AFTER he has solved his drinking problem, you will pick up where you left off. No one "outgrows" alcoholism. Suggest he call Alcoholics Anonymous, and if he's as "great" as you say he is, he will.

DEAR ABBY: I am on Social Security and have been doing alterations (sewing) to make ends meet.

One of my neighbors asked me if I would alter her dress. It had a full skirt and the hem alone took me three hours to turn up.

When the lady came to pick up her dress, she brought me some flowers from her garden, said, "Thank you," and walked out the door. Abby, I nearly fell on my back! I'm not sewing for flowers.

Abby, dear, how would you have handled this?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I would have stopped her before she got out the door, and said, nicely, "That will be dollars please."

CONFIDENTIAL TO C.K.: Not until we fall victim to a real tragedy do we realize how much energy we have spent worrying about trivialities.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

South went up with dummy's king of spades at trick one and noted the fall of the jack from East. He also noted that there were potential problems so he led dummy's singleton heart. His king lost to West's ace and a second spade lead was taken in his own hand. Then he rifled a heart, came back to his hand with the ace of clubs, fuffed his last heart, led a club to his king, drew West's last trump and claimed the rest of the tricks.

Members of the team include Cotton Crumbliss, exalted ruler; Neil R. Turner, leading knight; Clyde N. Lewis, loyal knight; Larry Horejs, lecturing knight; George P. Michael Jr., exquire; Bob Wallace, chaplain; Vern Bybee, inner guard; and Donald L. McKinster, candidate.

Candidates are McKinster and Leinen, both past exalted rulers.

The team will represent the state at the national ritualistic contest during the national convention in Chicago, Ill. in July.

Leinen said this is the first time the Twin Falls team has won the state contest since 1961. The team has been successful nearly every year in district competition, he said.

George P. Michael and Larry Horejs were named members of the all-star team. They were presented trophies by Robert Jahn, president of the Idaho State Elks Association.

Crumbliss, Turner, Wallace and Bybee were named members of the second place all-star team and Clyde Lewis was named to the third team.

Wallace was second high point man in the contest.

Judges were W. R. Roberts, Price; Utah; Art Miller; Orem; Utah; Harry W. Cushman, Spanish Fork; Utah; Joe

Ask the Jacobys

An Illinois reader wants to know if you should respond one spade to partner's one-diamond opening when holding:

Q: 10xxxxxxx Jxxxx. The reader adds, "We were playing a forcing club."

The answer to that is that you should pass playing any partner would hold both missing aces and where there just wouldn't be enough ammunition for the experts? LETA CUSTOMER RUN THE STORE?

Carolyn Dunn

That's not exactly Dee Smith's idea in hiring me as Customer and Consumer Advisor to the President of Smith's Food King. But it's not far off either, because Dee has felt for a long time that customers deserve a bigger voice in policies that affect their shopping.

In effect, I will be your representative at Smith's Food King. For many years, I have been working with various consumer groups concerning food buying and preparation. Now I have the best opportunity of all — serving you from inside a Supermarket.

My specific assignment is to establish a meaningful communication between our management and our customers: (1) To carry information to Dee on how Smith's Food King can better serve its customers, and (2) utilize my background in food industry to help customers be better shoppers.

Specifically, I'll have a weekly column in each week-end Smith's Food King ad. I'll bring you the latest information on new foods, best buys, open dating, unit pricing, etc. Dee may not agree with all my recommendations, but the recommendations I make will always be in the customer's interest — not necessarily in the Company's.

We have installed a special "Customer to Carolyn" red telephone at my office. Call me weekdays (486-4341) to ask a question, make a comment, or give us your ideas on how we can improve our service. (Call collect, if you live outside the Salt Lake area.)

Dee Smith wants Smith's Food King to be your favorite store. The first step is to drop prices on more than 8,700 items throughout the store. Beyond that, we know you want better service, and better service. It's my job to help see you get them.

Typical age for a girl to get married used to be 18. A lot of wedded couples were 20, true. But now a third again as many do so. Our Love and Marriage man does not know precisely why so many young ladies choose to delay stepping into matrimonial harness, but he suspects that more of them now have a choice because of the rising popularity of The Pill. This big change in the average marriage age has occurred mostly in the last 10 years.

How do you explain the fact that the lordly lions in the Lake Manyara district of Tanganyika live in trees while no lions elsewhere do so?

You know the earth's surface gets 1,800 thunderstorms an hour, but were you aware that rain is falling somewhere all the time?

ANIMAL QUERIES

- Q. "What would you be fishing for if you went fishing with a large clay jar?"
- A. Octopus, probably. That's how the Japanese do it.
- Q. "How soon after they're born can baby rattlesnakes bite?"
- A. Immediately. And painfully.
- Q. "How many men of average weight would it take to outweigh the average rhinoceros?"
- A. Figure about 30.

Not many realize that the man who wrote that World War I ditty called "Pack Up Your Troubles In Your Old Kit Bag" was unable to pack up his own troubles satisfactorily. It rather he Felix Powell. He killed himself. And the man who wrote "There Must Be A Way" likewise was unable to find his own way satisfactorily. That was Sammy Gallop. He, too, killed himself.

BALD

Yes, sir, William Shakespeare, too, was bald. One out of every four apples gets crushed into cider. That's not enough... If you averaged a gain of one pound per year after age 25, you can consider yourself normal, say the medics... Odd that Sir Walter Raleigh didn't know how to spell his name, isn't it? He always wrote it "Raleigh."

Look, nothing you swallow will dissolve gallstones, remember that.

Originally it was called French Wine Cola in 1895 before its makers decided to take the wine out of it, spike it with caffeine, add flavor from the cola nut, and then rename it Coca Cola. That French Wine Cola was sold in used beer bottles as a hangover treatment, and to some minor degree it worked, too, according to the record.

Buhl's cadet police called asset to department

T-N Phones 733-0931
(Or use our toll-free lines)

BUHL — Buhl's cadet police program is an asset to the police department, Patrolman Ken Campbell told the Monday noon chamber of commerce luncheon meeting.

There are 19 students, both boys and girls from high school and junior high school, participating in the voluntary program. He said there is room for a total of 14 youths at one time.

The cadets assist in traffic control, help with record-keeping, accompany law enforcement officers on their patrols and most important, Campbell said, "They let other young people know policemen aren't all bad."

The cadet program was started in Buhl last fall by Police Chief Don Fikur and has no official connection with the school system. Youths must be from 14 to 18 years old.

Supt. Dan Mabe, a chamber member attending the meeting, said during the question period that it "is working 50 times better than I thought it would."

Many large cities have such programs, Campbell said, but Pocatello is the only Idaho city he knows of where there is a cadet training program. In Los Angeles, the cadets are paid $62 per month, "so you can see what value they place on it," the patrolman said. There is no reimbursement in the Buhl program.

The father of six children who said he "loved to see children happy," Campbell discussed the "built-in rebellion" against authority which everyone has.

"If we can show them that law enforcement is for the benefit of the entire community and authority is to help them, then they will eventually align themselves with the establishments," he said.

The patrolman said cadets are discouraged from "turning in" other youths, but he believes the program "already has had some positive effect in curbing vandalism, such as last Halloween."

"Some of the kids said any place they went there were some of the cadets, who were not wearing uniforms.

The cadets have small badges and wear blue and yellow "windbreakers." They have an "observation status" only if they come upon a "serious incident" and are notified a regular officer, Campbell said.

Taxes may benefit alcoholics

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada ranks near last among the states in setting aside money collected from its liquor taxes to support programs treating alcoholics, a state official says.

Ms. Pat Bates, program coordinator for the state Bureau of Alcoholism and drug abuse, says Nevada is one of ten states that returns less than one cent per dollar of revenue generated from the sale of alcohol. She said Nevada is third from the end in this category.

Ms. Bates, writing in the new quarterly issue of "Nevada government today," says Nevada's alcohol problem is costing the economy $68 million a year. She suggests a three-point program which would pump $2.7 to $3 million more into the programs to help the alcoholics.

One alternate, she says is to increase the tax on liquor,
