Yanks win 2 silver medals at Innsbruck

INNSBRUCK (UPI) — Bill Koch and Sheila Young earned the United States two silver awards today in the first three medal events of the Winter Olympics while Austria's favored Franz Klammer won the spectacular downhill slalom race.
Both American racers were unexpected. Koch, 20, made history by becoming the first ever U.S. runner to win an Olympic cross-country medal. Young, one of the favorites at the skating sprint distances, won her award at 1,500 meters.

Asks prosecutor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Frank Church of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence called today for the appointment of a special prosecutor to investigate and prosecute crimes committed by the CIA and FBI.
In a Senate speech, the Idaho Democrat urged the office of the Watergate special prosecutor be modified to pursue crimes uncovered during the year-long congressional investigations of the U.S. intelligence community.

French provincial troops on alert

DJIBOUTI, Afars and the Issas (UPI) — French authorities today ordered its 5,000 provincial troops on war-time alert because of a border clash with Somalia over the dramatic rescue of 30 school children from nationalist gunmen.
Eight persons died in the shootout Wednesday, including six guerrillas, one girl hostage and a Somali soldier.

Ohio train crash kills 4 crewmen

ARCHBOLD, Ohio (UPI) — Two Penn Central freight trains, unaccountably switched onto the same track, collided head-on with a tremendous explosion near this northwestern Ohio community early today. Four crewmen were killed.
Two crewmen on each train were killed, said Howard Gilbert, director of Information Services for Penn Central.

Triumph seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today he thinks Ronald Reagan will defeat President Ford in the New Hampshire presidential primary and probably in Florida as well.
But in an interview with United Press International, Goldwater said he believes Ford "is coming up" and will wind up with the GOP presidential nomination next August.

Italian Socialists back minority rule

ROME (UPI) — The Socialist party agreed today to provide indirect support to Premier Desigue Aldo Moro's proposed minority government, raising hopes for an end to Italy's 29-day political crisis.
The Socialist directorate gave the nod to Moro's government plan after reviewing and approving his emergency economic program.

Newark teachers defy court, stay out

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — School teachers said they would defy a court's "back-to-work order" and stay off the job today, disrupting the education of 78,000 students for the fourth straight day.
A spokesman for the Newark Teachers' Union said the city's 4,000 teachers would not obey Superior Court Judge Irwin Kimmelman's order to return to work.
"Our position is no contract, no work," a union spokesman said.
About 80 per cent of the teachers were off the job Wednesday and none picked the city's 102 public schools.

Hoffa suspect wants out of jail

DETROIT (UPI) — A New Jersey Teamster being questioned by a grand jury probing the disappearance of former Teamster boss James R. Hoffa says he is ill and should be freed from a federal prison where he has been held since December.

Henry asks 'leakproof' CIA guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger today asked a Democratic Congress to end its feud with Republican Gerald Ford over intelligence and foreign policy and called for a bipartisan committee to oversee the CIA.
"The present relationship has reached a point where the ability of the United States to conduct a coherent foreign policy is being eroded," Kissinger told the Senate Government Operations Committee.
"This is certainly true in the intelligence field," he added, calling for "a sounder relationship between the executive and the legislature."

Kissinger expressed "fervent hope that we can rapidly end the divisive debate over the intelligence community which has been so harmful over the past year."
"I believe the best oversight is concentrated oversight, ideally by a joint committee," he said, at the same time strongly emphasizing the importance of security.
"One has only to look at the recent leakage indeed official publication of highly-classified materials and... unsubstantiated charges and personal attacks against the executive branch) to see the point the relationship has reached and the harm we are doing to ourselves," Kissinger said.

"I strongly believe that any legislation to establish an oversight committee must include safeguards for the protection of this sensitive and important information. Classified information given to the Congress should not be made public without the concurrence of the President or his representatives."

Kissinger apparently referred to the House Intelligence Committee where numerous leaks of confidential CIA information have allegedly occurred.
The House has refused to permit the committee to publish its report — already leaked to some news media — until it has been okayed by President Ford.
The intelligence committee, meanwhile, was looking into a permanent oversight committee.

Panel sets Gem junior college fund

BY BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

BOISE — The Joint Finance Appropriation Committee approved a $2.8 million budget for Idaho's two junior colleges Wednesday.
Most will go to the College of Southern Idaho. The recommended fiscal year 1977 increase stands 13 per cent above this year's general fund appropriation to CSI and North Idaho College.
According to Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, committee co-chairman, this increase is lower on a percentage basis than the junior colleges have experienced in recent years.
"It still doesn't meet the needs as far as the junior colleges are concerned," Roberts told the Times-News today. He added, "It's a matter of trying to make the college needs with the total money available."

He said the committee is not shifting its priorities in regards to funding junior colleges, but just has less money to work with this year.
CSI's share of the money, he said, will be determined by a formula based on the equivalent number of full-time students at the college this fall. Roberts said the nearly $2.8 million budget stands above the governor's recommendation for the junior colleges of about $2.5 million.

But Larry Schlicht, education fiscal analyst for the governor's division of budget, policy planning and coordination, said that when all factors are considered, the committee's recommendations matches the governor's recommendation.
Schlicht said he does not know whether the proposed budget would just provide for continuation of CSI's current program or whether it would allow for expansion. He said this depends upon some variables.

"If you make the assumption that the institution's estimate of other sources of revenue (from local and federal sources) are correct, then I would call it a continuation budget," he said.
But Schlicht has maintained that CSI's projections of revenue from other sources have proved low. Another factor, he said, is what the junior colleges will do with salaries. He said that under the governor's recommendation there would be a five and a half per cent cost of living increase plus a three per cent merit increase. He said he would not say whether the colleges would choose. But Schlicht added, the junior colleges are given discretion as to how they spend their money so the salary money could go toward expansion of some programs.

He said the junior-college increase at 13 per cent stands slightly above the 12 per cent average increase recommended for all agencies under the Idaho Board of Education.
The House and the Senate will have to approve the budget recommendations of the Finance Appropriation Committee before the proposals are sent to the governor for final approval.
In another matter, the Senate passed a resolution to set up a special committee to study policies toward junior colleges.
The resolution cites "an apparent lack of consistent policy toward the system of junior colleges" and says "the current state of the law regarding their role is confusing, ambiguous and some times conflicting."
According to Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, the resolution stems from recommendations by the attorney general's office, the state board of education, and the junior colleges themselves to clarify numerous matters concerning the junior colleges.

Some problems that have recently cropped up, he said, involve tuition payments by counties, allocation of junior college funds between the two junior colleges and whether the state auditor or the junior colleges should pay certain Social Security taxes. Baker said the resolution is not controversial and is just to provide some clarification.

TF woman escapes abductors

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls housewife reportedly was kidnaped Wednesday at gunpoint from a grocery store parking lot, but managed to escape unhurt when her two assailants stopped their car on Interstate 80.
Judy Murray, 23, told police she had gone to a grocery store in the 500 block of Main Avenue North in Twin Falls when two men approached her. They asked for a ride to get a jack to repair their disabled car.
The woman said the men then abducted her at gunpoint and took her car.
She told Mountain Home police she managed to escape when the abductors stopped the car on the interstate near Hammett.
She ran to a nearby farm house and notified police officers from there.
Officers in Mountain Home said her abandoned automobile was found near the junction of Interstate 80 and Idaho 80.
Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said in Twin Falls the woman was returned home safely and the incident is still being investigated. He said a search is being made for two young male suspects.
He said the incident occurred at 7:24 p.m. Wednesday but he did not know the time the woman called Mountain Home officers.

Salmon Falls Canyon proposal wins OK

BY SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — A recommendation to preserve the 1,200-acre Salmon Falls Canyon as a "natural area" has been approved by the Bureau of Land Management Multiple Use Advisory Board.
The BLM advisory board, chaired by John Pierce, Malibu, was held five months ago to make recommendations to the BLM on land use in the Burley district.
The board recommended action says the Salmon Falls Creek area should be designated a primitive natural area from the Salmon Falls Dam to Balanced Rock, only four miles from the Snake River. The distance is about 26 miles.
The recommendation says that "mechanized vehicles be allowed in the canyon and that quarter mile buffer areas on each side of the canyon be established.

The board did not go into detail on uses that would recommend for the buffer zone. It called for protective withdrawal but wanted additional information before listing any added protective measures.
The bureau also is considering limiting mechanized vehicles to existing roads and trails in the Salmon Falls Creek area.
Salmon Falls Creek runs into the Snake River about seven miles northwest of Buhl. The canyon runs back 30 miles to the Salmon Dam Reservoir and another 10-12 miles to the Nevada state line.
Nick Cozako, district manager for BLM, estimates the canyon is 1,200 feet "in most places."

The half-mile buffer zone would encompass about 13,000 acres. It was one of two proposals presented by the bureau — the other was for a half-mile on either side of the creek's center line.
Cozako said the advisory board is unlikely to expand the buffer zone when it receives additional information. It could recommend a ban on additional uses.
The canyon is unique because of its relatively pristine state despite its proximity to Twin Falls. The BLM board said.
The stream itself is too narrow and shallow for boats, not even offering enough water for canoes.

AF Dam plans win approval

POCATTELLO — A three-man board of dam construction experts gave its approval Wednesday to the construction plans for the American Falls replacement dam.
Thomas Schaller, authorized representative for American Falls Reservoir District No. 1 in construction of the dam, said the three-man board had only minor comments regarding the plans and specifications developed by Bechtel Engineers.

"Everyone was in concurrence that it is a good project and entirely feasible," Schaller said.
The two-day meeting was to get some independent expertise involved in safety features of the dam," Schaller said.

The board of engineering consultants reviewed the dam site and the plans and specifications for the new dam.
The next step is a meeting with Bureau of Reclamation officials in Denver Tuesday and Wednesday for a federal review of the plans and specifications.

Schaller said the consulting board is not unique to American Falls Dam. He said it was now a standard practice in all hydro projects "to assure safety of the dam, economy of construction and the aesthetics of the total finished project."
This week's review by the consulting board was the second time it has reviewed the project. The same engineers also reviewed the preliminary concept before the plans were drawn.

Schaller said all three are experts on construction of dams and were hired from various parts of the county by the owner, American Falls Reservoir District No. 1, which is the prime agency in the replacement construction project. The board includes W. L. Chadwick, T. M. Lays and J. G. Thon.

Also at this week's meeting, in addition to representatives of Bechtel Engineers who presented the plans and specifications, were Cecil Hobby, authorized representative of all specialholders except American Falls District No. 1 and Robert Hogg and other representatives of Idaho Power Co.
Idaho Power has agreed to pay about half the cost of the project in return for the falling water rights.

Winter chills Magic Valley

TWIN FALLS — Snowfall from Wednesday's storm has ended but roads are still slick in the Magic Valley.
William Galkin of the National Weather Service says temperatures are not expected to rise above freezing today and may not warm above 25 degrees before Saturday.

Supt. Garth Miller of the Hansen schools decided to close schools in his district because the school buses could not get through to many students living in the South Hills area. He said the snow was "packed quite solid during the night by the wind."

The plan to create the natural area was presented in 1972-73, at public hearings. Cozako said. The public generally accepted it and recommended pursuit of the designation.
Two studies were conducted in the area last year. Neither is completed, written conclusions have not been returned, but preliminary findings have been presented.
Dr. Robert Butler and graduate students from Idaho State University made a study of archaeological values. Dr. Charles Trost of the ISU biological life sciences department headed a study of flora and fauna.
The preliminary findings in both cases indicated things unique to the area that would warrant designation as a natural area.

Defense contends Patty brainwashed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst joined her kidnappers in a bank robbery after she "broke" free by locking her in a dark closet for weeks and then sexually abusing her, contends defense attorney Lee Bailey.

Bailey outlined his "brainwashing" defense to a newly sworn jury of seven women and four men in an opening statement which conceded the accuracy of 90 per cent of the prosecutor's case against the newspaper heiress.

He said the "crazy people" of the Symbionese Liberation Army staged the April 15, 1974, holdup to display Miss Hearst "like a prize pig" before the bank's cameras so the public would learn treating her like an outlaw.

Prosecutor James Browning told the jury she was a willing convert to terrorism who voluntarily joined her captors in the holdup, made tape recordings bragging about it, and passed up chances to escape at the time and again the next month in Los Angeles.

After the judge rejected defense objections, Browning told jurors the government would prove that "a month later she sprayed a Los Angeles sporting goods store with bullets from the same semiautomatic carbine used in the bank robbery. He said it was found in her apartment when she was captured last fall.

With the jury selection and opening statements out of the way, the first prosecution witness was subpoenaed to testify today.

Miss Hearst sat impassively Wednesday while Browning and Bailey outlined their cases exactly two years to the day after her kidnapping from a Berkeley, Calif., apartment.

"As they walked Patty freely from her home, she began to resist, and they pushed her hard in the check with the butt of a rifle, causing her serious injury," Bailey said.

"Patty Hearst was taken to an apartment, she knew not where, she was blindfolded at all times, and they hit her in the chest in which there was no light and kept her for a length of time we will never know with precision.

"I think, as the evidence unfolds, you will find that it comes out something between six and nine weeks."

He said Donald DePrece — "Field Marshal"

Cluque" of the SLA — had read books in prison about the brainwashing of American soldiers in Korea and Vietnam and tried to persuade Miss Hearst she had been abandoned by society, by her parents and by law enforcement officials, who would kill her if she tried to turn herself in.

"Not very long prior to the robbery of the Hibernia Bank she was released from the closet. But while there, was subjected to continuing threats on her life, deceptive pieces of information, and she would only get information from her captors as they chose to give it her, true or false.

"She was sexually abused, and convinced on a daily basis that her only means of survival was to attempt to avoid offending those who had her in her custody."

Bailey said experts on brainwashing would testify that Miss Hearst held out for longer than could be expected, but "she nonetheless broke" and "was a prisoner of war for 20 months, that she never had the opportunity to escape, and that she had every reason in her condition to believe that she had nowhere to go."

Browning didn't mention brainwashing as he recounted the $10,600 holdup of the Sunset Branch of the Hibernia Bank and the wounding of two customers who wandered in during the robbery.

He said the prosecution will introduce a tape recording made after the robbery in which Miss Hearst said she had joined the SLA as "soldier" Tania and ridiculed the idea she had been brainwashed.

Bailey said the statement was "scripted" by SLA member Angela Atwood and that Miss Hearst was forced to read what was written.

Angolan leader assails lack of help from West

By United Press International
Anti-Marxist Angolan leader Holden Roberto today bitterly denounced the "terrified" West for allowing the Soviet Union to "attack Africa, with impunity."

"The terrified West lets everything go by, swallows everything," Roberto said in an interview published in the Johannesburg South Africa newspaper Sunday Daily Mail.

"I got down on my knees before Hitler and then Stalin and now Brezhnev."

"In exchange for wheat, technology and economic aid, Russia and her satellites attack Africa with impunity," Roberto said.

The interview came as pro-Western forces reported from Lusaka, Zambia, they had stopped a major drive by the Soviet-backed Angolans and Cuban allies into the southern part of the country.

Roberto, president of the National Front for the Liberation of Angola, was routed from his northern strongholds last month in a Cuban-spearheaded Marxist offensive.

South Africans siding the National Front and its pro-Western ally, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, pulled out of the southern fighting late last month, leading to further reverses.

Roberto told the newspaper that if the West had supplied the National Front with "half a third even of the stuff the U.S.S.R. is giving the Communist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, we would be certain of crushing the Soviet-Cuban allies."

He dismissed the fighting qualities of thousands of Cuban forces in Angola as "hopeless." But he said he could not match the sophisticated Soviet weaponry.

"The Cubans aren't the problem," Roberto said. "Their arms, that's the problem."

The Popular Movement, aided by some 12,000 Cuban troops and backed by some 250 Soviet tanks, several weeks ago launched an offensive southwest toward the pro-Western capital at Huambo in a bid for a quick victory in Angola's civil war.

But in Lusaka Wednesday, pro-Western spokesmen said the pro-Western allies mined roads, blew up bridges and launched behind-the-lines guerrilla attacks to disrupt and finally stall the Popular Movement's southern offensive.

U.S.S.R. is giving the Communist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, we would be certain of crushing the Soviet-Cuban allies."

The Commerce Committee approved the bill by voice vote, based on a recommendation from the Department of Transportation which said an extension would result in a 1 per cent savings in electricity nationwide and a 7 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities.

Mountain states hit by big storm

By United Press International
A blustery snowstorm swept across the West today, leaving motorists to curse snow-blazed roads and farmers and ski resort owners to celebrate the money-making melting.

Travelers' warnings were issued from California to Illinois and from Wyoming and Nebraska to Texas today as the storm-headed east. A winter-storm warning was in effect for the mountains of Arizona and storm watches were posted for portions of Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Driving conditions were hazardous from Montana and Idaho south to mountainous northern Arizona as the storm hit the mountains Wednesday. Up to a foot of snow clogged some mountain areas.

Winds whipped up drifts in Colorado, and Fort Collins reported six inches of new snow.

The storm dumped up to eight inches of snow in the foothills of the Sierras near Reno Wednesday and piled up three inches on the steep slopes of the city's casitas.

The snow came as a boon to the parched Sierra Nevada, where some ski resorts have closed for lack of snow and others are struggling through their worst season in years.

"This is the answer to our prayers," said Bill Boardman of Squaw Valley, Calif.

Long-awaited rain was welcomed by farmers in Southern California.

Not so delighted were commuters caught on freeways, clogged to a standstill by rain slick surfaces and resulting auto crashes. The highway patrol reported 54 accidents in the Los Angeles area, about three times the average on a sunny day.

The first rain and snow in almost two months fell on Southern California Wednesday but weather forecasters and agricultural experts said much more is needed to end the area's drought.

The rain continued today and locally heavy showers were forecast for portions of southwestern California.

The storm Wednesday brought 1.3 of an inch of rain to central Los Angeles, boosting the total for the year to .72 — less than 10 per cent of the average for this point in the year.

Longer DST eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation would use daylight savings time for eight months a year, rather than the present six, under a two-year experimental bill approved by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The measure calls for daylight savings time to be in effect from the first Sunday in March until the second Sunday in November for calendar years 1976 and 1977.

If approved by both the Senate and House, the nation would convert to daylight savings time on March 7 rather than April 25. At present, the Uniform Time Act of 1966 authorizes daylight savings time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October.

The Commerce Committee approved the bill by voice vote, based on a recommendation from the Department of Transportation which said an extension would result in a 1 per cent savings in electricity nationwide and a 7 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities.

Rocky, Barry say Ford probable GOP nominee

By United Press International
 Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater, symbolic leaders of opposing wings of the Republican party, agree on one thing — President Ford probably will be the GOP presidential nominee.
 Sen. Edmund Muskie predicts his colleague and longtime running mate, Hubert H. Humphrey, will wind up as the Democratic nominee.
 As the speeches proliferated, Ford named a New Hampshire man Wednesday to a key federal post in advance of his visit to the state to campaign in the primary contest. Ford also dangled before New Englanders a regional energy center, and Democratic candidate Morris Udall spoke of centering a crash energy program in the region.
 New Hampshire Sen. John Durkin, a Democrat, accused Ford of playing politics with his appointment of former state attorney general Warren Rudman to head the Interstate Commerce Commission and said he has information of a forthcoming Ford appointment for an official in another early primary state.
 Rockefeller, in remarks at a meeting of reporters, said Wednesday he expects Ford to beat Ronald Reagan in both New Hampshire and Florida. He also hinted he might seek the nomination if Reagan does much better than Ford in the early going.

 "I withdrew as vice president," he said. "My statement included the vice presidency only, as to availability. Beyond that I have no plans. It's a very fluid situation."
 In an interview with UPI, Goldwater said Reagan might defeat Ford in New Hampshire and Florida but "my huncher tells me that Ford will continue to come up and will in all probability get the nomination."
 Muskie said that if he had to bet — and he doesn't want to this early — his money would be on Humphrey for the Democratic nomination.
 "I think what we need as a president is a man with the confidence and support of the country, someone the people will follow," said Muskie. Humphrey's running mate on the Democratic ticket in 1968, Hubert certainly had that ability in the past, but in 1976 it has yet to be fully demonstrated."
 Beyond personality, there were two major campaign issues Wednesday — energy and abortion.
 An written replies to questions from the Boston Herald American, Ford said New England is an "attractive" site for a proposed solar energy installation but that a decision's still months away.

Concorde bars still up

By United Press International
 The controversial Concorde supersonic transport plane has won a go-ahead to fly daily to Washington from France and Great Britain, but it may be denied entry into New York.
 Transportation Secretary William Coleman granted permission to land the 1,300 mile an hour plane at Washington's Dulles Airport and gave federal approval for landing at New York's Kennedy Airport.
 Coleman's permission is all that's needed at Dulles because the federal government operates the airport. But New York Gov. Hugh Carey has veto power over whether the plane can land at Kennedy and he has been outspoken in his opposition.
 "My position has not changed," Carey said after Coleman's decision. "I am concerned about the Concorde flights because of environmental problems. Including noise; safety considerations, particularly in the takeoff, and the economics in operating the flights."

 Reactions to Coleman's ruling were jubilant in Britain and France, where 40,000 jobs are tied to the Concorde, and mixed in the United States.
 Coleman's clearance Wednesday for four SST flights a day to JFK Airport and two a day to Dulles Airport startled even the staunchest Concorde supporters, who expected no more than a six-month trial period at Dulles.
 It outraged those who hoped he would ban the Anglo-French SST. Opponents of the superset promptly regrouped for battle in the courts and the Congress to reverse Coleman's decision.
 In granting the full-daily-flight schedule sought by British Airways and Air France — but not the permanent landing permit — Coleman overturned every objection offered by environmentalists and other anti-SST groups.

Jackson offers straight talk about America

EDITOR'S NOTE: Candidates for the presidential nomination of their party and other political leaders were invited by Newspaper Enterprise Association to contribute articles concerning presidential character...

By HENRY M. JACKSON
Many Americans today are disillusioned with their government. This is not surprising. They have watched Watergate...

What we need today is some hard thinking and straight talk about government, and about America and then the sharp, efficient management to translate plans into reality...

of American families. And it is a policy of social dynamism, for 10 percent of our black youth are unemployed. This policy is the cause of the incredible budget deficit of the Nixon-Ford years...

And this bankrupt policy has not brought inflation to an end. Every real effort to stop inflation gets a cold shoulder from Mr. Ford...

time has come to end the mismanagement which has characterized the last seven years. The answer is poor performance in Washington...

dangerous world. The notion that government should fold up its tents and fade away into the night is a hopeless, unrealistic one. What's required is competent management of the tools of government...

Jackson administration
And let me add this: The management of the tasks of government these days is complex and difficult. It requires the dedicated efforts of the best informed, most experienced men and women we can find...

I understand the view of so many Americans that the government is not doing things for them but is doing things to them. They sometimes wish it would just go away. It won't. It can't. The answer is not a government which abandons the responsibilities placed on it in the Constitution...

Sen. Henry Martin Jackson was born in Everett, Wash., May 31, 1912. He received an LL.B. degree from the University of Washington in 1935 and began practicing law...

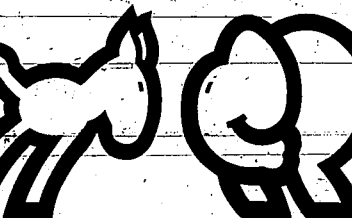

Local art is cultural conduit

When we think of our local heritage we most often think of old-time newspaper photographs and the stories retold by old-timers. We seldom think about art. But each year the county fairs are jammed with paintings of crumbling-pioneer-cabins, old-mine shafts and mountain meadows dotted with grazing animals...

Defense priorities

Congress had barely settled on the size and shape of the defense budget for the current fiscal year when President Ford last week sent to Capitol Hill his military spending list for 1977. In these times of particular concern over government spending and international relations...

Technology's impact on political process marked

SAGINAW, Mich. — All of us are at least dimly aware — it is impossible not to be aware — of the impact of changing technology on our lives. But what is the impact of technology upon the political process? It is far more pervasive than is generally thought...

leadership over the past 25 or 30 years. In the view of many observers, the quality is down. Is it merely coincidence or is there some correlation between declining leadership and expanding technology? Are our leaders so bewildered by the rush of events that their trumpets give an uncertain sound? The Saginaw scholars suspect this is true...

It is small wonder that today's member of congress, looking at the legislative calendar, feels out of its depth. How is he to cope? He feels the impact of technology like a stone in his stomach. Somehow he is expected to understand — he is expected to demonstrate the quality of wise leadership — in atomic fusion, solar energy, sulfuric emissions, genetic drugs, superionic transport, and sequential contractures...

Psychosomatics derive aid from massage parlors

WASHINGTON — Los Angeles, D.C. is now discussing a new bill which would outlaw or restrict the opening of massage parlors in the city. This is not a local problem as massage parlors have become one of the fastest growing industries in the United States. It is now estimated that there are more massage parlors in the country than McDonald's hamburger stands...

Fifty per cent said they had back trouble, 20 per cent said they suffered from bursitis and 25 per cent said they had tennis elbow. And they felt the massage parlor could cure them. Yes, they said they had tried everything else and they had come to a massage parlor as a last resort...

When you examined them did anyone seem sick to you? No, that was the amazing thing. Except for a few patients I have never seen any psychosomatics. But you couldn't tell them that? I said, Of course not. The worst thing in the world is to tell someone who thinks he needs a massage that he doesn't...

better, those who said they had bursitis told me it had disappeared, and those with tennis elbow kept swinging their arms like Arthur Ashe. I concluded that most men who go to massage parlors are psychosomatics. Psychosomatics have a right to live, too. I said, I'm not being critical. Applebaum said, I'm just giving you my findings. If you read my paper you'll notice that I said that many massage parlors, as most of them are now constituted, have no known medical benefits...

Berry's World

If you don't win, it won't be the end of the world, but you will have to go back to taking the garbage out again!

But Dr. Heinrich Applebaum of Sauna University has just completed research in the field and has published his findings in a paper: "Massage Parlors — Who's the Rub?" Dr. Applebaum said he had examined a number of men who had visited massage parlors in the past year and this is what he discovered: "The most interesting thing," Applebaum told me, "was the similarity in names of all the men I talked to. Everyone said his name was John Smith..."

I THINK IT'S TIME WE FOUND ANOTHER LINE OF WORK, PHILIPSON...

Ski slopes new sport for blind

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI)—Elizabeth Ulrich stood at the top of the snow-covered Timber Ridge slope and with the help of a guide, skillfully maneuvered her skis into position.

Blind since birth, 10-year-old Elizabeth couldn't see the hill before her. But gripping a bamboo pole, she stepped off and began a slow descent while the guide, holding the end of the pole, called out instructions.

"I can feel the bumps through my skis, but it doesn't last long," Elizabeth said afterward. "It feels real good to be out in the air."

Elizabeth is one of 15 blind skiers who take to the slopes each Wednesday night as part of the Bold Outdoor Leisure Development program sponsored by the Kalamazoo Valley Intermediate School District.

The program was founded in Aspen, Colo., in 1969 by Jean Eymere, a former member of the French Olympic ski team who lost his sight due to diabetes. Eymere wanted to "do something about" and get blind children and adults out in the fresh air and "motivate their bodies."

He uses a two-way radio communication system to instruct the blind skiers before learning that verbal contact was the best teaching method.

The technique at Timber Ridge advances the skier slowly. Each skier has a sighted guide, usually a family member or a BOLD staffer, and both hold onto a bamboo pole with outstretched arms.

"I turn my head and come the guide's command, 'Good. That's turning you to the right.' You're going a little too fast. Turn both heels out. That's right. Feel yourself slowing down."

Charles McDonald, a Lansing ski instructor who organized the BOLD program, said the guides are a temporary accommodation. Eventually, he said, the students will ski without the poles with an instructor calling commands from five or six feet back.

"The lessons vary to suit the individual," McDonald said. "At first we thought we had a skiing program that was ideal for every blind skier. We found that wasn't so."

Some of the students are braver than others and some catch on more quickly. "I was amazed by how fast they caught on," said Carol Duczynski, a teacher consultant for the blind to the Kalamazoo school system.

The slopes are becoming more crowded as others find out about the program and join in. When the snow melts, the school system hopes to launch a year-round recreation program, including such activities as tandem bike riding. "It's kind of a dream right now," Miss Duczynski said.

Robber's gun familiar

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mike Ipraham glanced at the pistol a robber pointed at him in his Third World Market and recognized it at once—"It was his own."

Ipraham told police that the gun had been taken from him in an Oct. 18 holdup which netted the robber $500.

This time, he said, the bandit got $2,000.

Nurse's aide indicted for mass murder

CHICAGO (UPI)—Denise Watson, a 21-year-old nurse's aide, clutched her gloves and a copy of the charges and heard herself indicted for one of the worst mass murders in Chicago history.

She said it was an accident. Ms. Watson was indicted Tuesday on 47 counts of arson and murder for allegedly setting a fire that claimed the lives of 15 elderly and infirm patients at the Wincrest Nursing and Rest Home last Friday.

Police said the pregnant woman had "a bad history of pyromania." She reportedly said she had lighted a match in a closet to look for something but had accidentally dropped it.

She appeared in Violence

Court before Judge Maurice Pompey, who conducted a preliminary hearing on initial single charges of arson and murder brought by the state's attorney's office.

Informed of a grand jury indictment expanding the charges, Pompey appointed two public defenders to represent Ms. Watson, then ordered her held without bond in Cook County Jail.

The indictment named Ms. Watson on three counts of murder for each of the 15 victims of the blaze plus two counts of arson.

She faced arraignment on the charges today before Chief Criminal Court Judge Richard Elitzberg.

Ms. Watson had worked at the nursing home less than two weeks and was herself hospitalized for smoke inhalation after the fire, which trapped the victims in a chapel where they were attending Roman Catholic mass. She was arrested Monday after her release from the hospital. Assistant State's Attorney Michael Eicaro said the nurse's helper at first denied any knowledge of how the fire started.

Psychologist says new 'line' needed

CHICAGO (UPI) — A psychologist says teenagers need a new line to turn back the advances of boys "on the make."

"We need to introduce the women's liberation movement to the schools. We need more courses in parenting in psychology. We need to show young people that life is worthwhile and that 75 per cent of births to teen-age mothers require some form of public subsidy."

Flinders keepers

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — A federal judge has ruled the diving firm that discovered the wreckage of a 17th-century Spanish treasure galleon does not have to share its haul with the federal government.

In a ruling made public Wednesday, U.S. District Judge William O. Mahoney of Miami said the wreckage of the Nuestra Señora de Atocha belonged to Treasure Salvors Inc., the firm that found the galleon 57 miles west of Key West.

The Atocha sank in 1622 with 30 tons of silver aboard — none of which yet has been found.

Grier takes stand

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former professional football star Roosevelt Grier testified Wednesday as character witness for deputy Mayor Maurice Welner, on trial for allegedly making homosexual advances toward a policeman in a movie theater.

Betty to campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Betty Ford, feeling better after a fight with a chronic arthritis ailment, will make her campaigning debut for her husband this weekend in New Hampshire.

Rest eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Connally, former Under Secretary who was acquitted on bribery and conspiracy charges, may be returning to Washington.

Kunster criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., asked the New York Bar Association Wednesday to begin disbarment proceedings against activist attorney William Kunster for his comments on domestic political assassinations.

Promme finally

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Walter D. Promme will be allowed to testify in the death threat trial of fellow Manson cultist G. Gordon Liddy, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Court

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride Wednesday granted Miss Good's request that Miss Promme be subpoenaed as a defense witness at Miss Good's trial on charges of conspiring to mail threats and threatening violence in telephone calls.

Andrus' Washington trip costs Idahoans $3,000

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' trip to Washington, D.C., to confer with the president and his cabinet last December cost Idaho taxpayers $3,000 in air fare alone, UPI learned Wednesday.

Because of scheduling problems during the United Air Lines strike, Andrus and a member of his staff traveled by Learjet his staff said was arranged by Boise businessman Ken Tyrer.

Tyrer was supposed to pay half and Andrus half since Tyrer also was planning a Washington trip, and because of the airline strike, had schedule difficulties.

"My understanding is Ken then took care of arranging the plane," Chris Carlson, Andrus' press secretary, said. "But, the day before the flight he was forced to cancel out."

"He felt it wasn't fair to force the governor to cancel out on his meeting with the president so he went ahead and paid his half," Carlson said.

Tyrer was out of his office when a reporter tried to call him Wednesday. There was no answer at his home telephone.

The total bill for the travel, submitted to a firm identified as "McLennan, Tyrer & Hoff" at a Portland, Ore., address by Wakehouse Motors, Inc., Portland, was $6,000.

Carlson said Andrus, when traveling on behalf of the state, does not pay coach fare and not first class. United's present round-trip coach fare — up one per cent since the strike — is $322.75 from Boise to Washington, D.C.

Andrus took Carlson with him on the trip and while in Washington picked up special assistant Larry Meloretto, who had traveled to Chicago and then Washington on other business, and Bethine Church, wife of Sen. Frank Church. Memorandums initiated by Andrus and his administrative assistant, John D. Hough, indicate Tyrer paid his half of the bill Dec. 22. Andrus left for the nation's capital on Dec. 17 and returned Dec. 18 after meeting with President Ford and his cabinet. The agenda for the meeting between the governors and the president was worked out at a breakfast meeting of the governors shortly before they went to the White House.

Carlson said he felt the governor could justify spending more than three times the normal travel costs of the trip by the fact a meeting was lined up to discuss food stamp problems with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and by inclusion in the president's "State of the Union" address matters the governors presented to him.

Bargaining legislation hearing brings clashes

BOISE (UPI) — Labor and education locked horns with local government officials over the merits of a bill to provide collective bargaining for public employees.

Appearing before a public hearing of the Senate State Affairs Committee, labor leaders and educators endorsed the proposed legislation while city and county officials and chambers of commerce told why the bill wouldn't work.

Robert MacFarlane, president of the Idaho AFL-CIO, explained the bill "only sets up guidelines for peaceful and fruitful negotiations in the public sector in Idaho."

But Art Dietrich, a Bonneville County Commissioner who said he spoke for the state's county commissioners, told the committee the bill was one-sided. He said there was no provision in the bill for management rights.

Wayne York, executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association, said the bill "permits bargaining free of 'chaos and confusion'" and provides "reasonable procedures so bargaining may work more smoothly and in such a manner that meaningful negotiations can occur."

Not all educators favored the bill. Alan Rose, Moscow, of the Idaho Federation of Teachers, said while his organization favored the concept of collective bargaining it had some misgivings about the bill now before the Idaho Legislature.

Rose said other concerns about the bill deal with merit principles, election procedures, retirement benefits and cooling-off periods.

Jay Burke, representing the Patateville Chamber of Commerce, said there should be a "more comprehensive study" of the bill.

"We feel that more definition and clarification is needed," Burke added.

The Caldwell Chamber of Commerce also went on record against the legislation.

Caldwell Mayor Robert E. Pasley said the chamber opposed it for a variety of reasons, but the greatest concern was the right to strike.

Pasley said the Caldwell City Council also was in opposition because, among other reasons, it was "unnecessary and unhealthy" and an expense "Idaho can't afford."

Urging approval of the bill, Stephen E. Swadley, executive director of the Idaho Public Employees Association, said it was time public employees were recognized as workers with similar needs and desires as employees in the private sector.

Senators frown on biennial sessions

BOISE (UPI) — The idea of returning to the biennial legislative sessions failed to strike the fancy of Idaho's senators Wednesday.

A joint resolution which would put the question before the electorate was defeated 15-4 in a one-third majority for passage.

Floor sponsor of the measure, Sen. Phil Balt, R-Blair, said all that was being asked in this resolution was to give the people of the state to verify what they spoke to several years ago when they approved annual legislative sessions.

Citing the increasing number of bills this year over a year ago, Balt questioned how many of these measures were really important enough to spend the time and effort to print them and debate them each year.

Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, the "Dean" of the Idaho Legislature, said it was necessary to continue with annual sessions to keep abreast with the changing times.

Sen. Les Hartvigsen, D-

Moham, said it would result in less efficiency in the operation of the state and result in numerous special sessions of the legislature. He recalled that one year when the legislature was on biennial sessions there were three special sessions.

But Sen. Walter Vanbrough, R-Grand View, noted that the legislature was not in session to run the state but to "set the policy and guidelines in the way it is run."

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin

Falls, and John Peavey, R-Rupert, both urged deferral of the resolution. They argued that the constant changing problems couldn't be ignored for two years.

"Putting our head in the sand and pretending the problems will go away is really a hollow argument," Peavey said.

High said the legislature would just be "kidding" itself by turning its back on the problems and not meeting them head on.

Road funds measures pending

BOISE (UPI) — Both the House Transportation Committee and the House Democratic caucus backed off on highway funding legislation Wednesday until the Senate acts on transfer of Law Enforcement to the general fund.

Approved by the House, the bill to take Law Enforcement of the highway users' fund is awaiting action in the Senate. Under normal procedures that would be about Friday.

There are several alternatives to raising the $6.6 million the Transportation Department says it needs for road building and maintenance — including one cent, one and a half and two cent increases in the gasoline tax. Increases in motor vehicle registration fees and partial funding of Law Enforcement from the highway fund also have been proposed.

Meanwhile, the Transportation Committee also voted to introduce a bill to limit the motorcycle helmet law to the state highway system instead of requiring the helmets be worn on all public roads. It was seen as a farm exemption to the act.

Royalty share OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved 49-20 and sent to the Senate today a bill to appropriate 10 per cent of Idaho's federal oil, gas or mineral royalties to the counties or townships.

Rep. Russell Westenberg, D-Soda Springs, sponsored the legislation, saying it would help all counties in the state consider the impact of the extraction of the oil, gas or minerals from their ground.

Primarily, however, the bill is aimed at assisting four counties in southeastern Idaho confronted with a rapidly expanding phosphate industry.

Stivers tells fears

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. T. W. Stivers, R-Twin Falls, told the State Board of Education and the House Education Committee Wednesday he fears the federal government will try to run the schools.

Stivers pointed to an affirmative action complaint brought under the Civil Rights Act against the Cassia County School District as a case in point and said if the federal government can control funding, programs and instruction it can run the district.

Expenses increased

BOISE (UPI) — With only one vote in dissent in debate, the House voted 30-3 Wednesday to raise the expense allowances of legislators 35 a day while in session and $1.50 when out of session.

VP hints GOP bid possible

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said Wednesday that he has not ruled out another run for the Republican Presidential nomination. If President Ford is forced out by Ronald Reagan:

"I withdrew as vice president," he said, "my statement included the vice presidency only as to availability. Beyond that I have no plans." A moment later Rockefeller added: "It's a very fluid situation... my situation."

The vice president made it clear, however, that he expects Ford to defeat Reagan in the early primaries and win the nomination for a full term.

"I think he's going to win New Hampshire and I think he's going to win Florida and the nomination," he told a breakfast meeting of 28 reporters Wednesday morning.

Asked what he would do if forced to lead the prospect of Reagan having a clear road for the nomination, Rockefeller replied: "I don't know. I have no idea."

Asked if he could successfully run against the conservative from California if Ford were forced to withdraw, he said: "That's a question. I don't think it's going to happen."

Throughout his 70-minute session with reporters Rockefeller seemed to be dismissing Reagan as a candidate. At one point, for example, he said:

"I think Gov. Reagan is a very articulate man and he has, or at least he had, a speech that was a terrific speech with 28 applauses in it." But now, he added, "Reagan is having technical issues" and reply to the examination of the press. "That's a more difficult situation," he said.

At another point the vice president dismissed Reagan's plan for transferring $90 billion in federal social services to the states as one that would cause "absolute chaos, both fiscally and socially."

He also disputed Reagan's contention that the system of collecting federal taxes and then providing social services results in a big "bite" of money skimmed off in Washington. "The Federal Revenue Sharing Program, Rockefeller noted, gives the states $6 billion a year with administrative costs of only $3 million and fewer than 100 employees working on it.

Rockefeller said repeatedly that he expected Ford to win the nomination but his pointed refusal to close the door himself is the kind of signal of availability he has sent frequently in the past. "I think he will go through to the convention and fight it out through the convention," he said.

Rockefeller also threw doubt on his own potential, or anyone else's for making a late challenge.

TWIN FALLS — U.S. Air Force 2nd Lt. Charles W. Hankins, son of Mrs. Patricia A. Neale, Twin Falls, has been certified as a deputy missile combat crew commander at Malmstrom AFB, Mont.

Lieutenant Hankins, a missile launch officer, was recommended for upgrading by his wing commander after meeting all training and evaluation requirements.

The lieutenant, a 1971 graduate of Twin Falls High School, received a B.S. degree in 1975 from the University of Idaho, where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

SR seeks new home

BURLEY — Mini-Cassia Search & Rescue is seeking a new home for its extrication unit.

The group made an appeal Monday to Cassia County commissioners for a site at the county fairgrounds in Burley. Commissioners expressed interest, but said the matter would have to go to the fair board. Commissioner Weldon Beek said he would contact the chairman.

Struchen presented the rescue unit's proposal for a site in the southwest corner of the fairgrounds between the carnival area and Main Street.

He said the group would like to make a bi-centennial project out of constructing the building, seeking public donations of funds and material to help in construction.

Struchen said Search & Rescue wants a building three bays wide that could open right onto the street. He said the group now has two units and would like to be prepared for a build.

The extrication unit is now housed in the garage at city hall. It is to be covered for inventory storage.

Struchen told commissioners that the rescue group responded for about 15 extrications last year.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know who invented the 4-3-2-1 point count.

The answer is that the late Bryant McCampbell, of St. Louis wrote his friend Milton Work back in 1915 and suggested its use for notrump bidding. Work taught it for years and it became known as the West count.

Charles Goren adapted it to all bidding and while he has never taken credit for inventing it, we want to give him credit for its great success. Everyone uses it today.

New hairstyle perks up women's spirit

Chicago Sun-Times - CHICAGO - At this time of year, a new hairstyle can do wonders for a woman's state of mind. When the winter doldrums get her down and she's tired of tugging at her boots and bundling up, she needs a pick-me-up. So she gives her hair a fix. It perks up her spirits and helps her face the rest of winter.

It also gives her a head start on spring.

Chicago hair stylists tell us this is a time of great variety in styles. But there are some fresh directions for spring.

Many hairdressers see a revival of blunt-cut bobs and short, smooth styles almost like the geometric cuts of the early '60s. Others prefer heavy waves and soft curls to replace the tight frizz of last year. And some like long, thick manes that are either smooth or curly.

Deep, thick bangs are back again. Stylist Chris Secker, of the Jean-Pierre salon, says short, sculptured cuts with deep fringe over the forehead are the rage in London. The styles are similar to the Sasson geometrics of a decade ago, but they are not as severe. There is more softness at the neckline.

Marc Bonalim, of Marc Bonalim Coiffures, says the "petite head" which is a neat, compact look, is popular in Paris. When he worked with Alexandre of Paris on hairstyles for the fashion collections there, he did short and medium styles that were straight or loosely curled with a body permanent. Focus was on deep bangs, and many of the styles were tapered in a V at the nape of the neck.

Because most women want easy-care hair-styles they can handle themselves with a blow dryer, John Mortimer of the Secondino salon, believes in natural-looking styles that fall in place easily. They can be long and straight or something like a short, layered style with wisps of hair curving toward the face.

Susan MacCoy, of the Drake salon, is cutting hair in graduated layers to make the hair hug the nape and to create volume in the occipital area, the bone at the back of the head. The style can be worn smooth or waved to fit individual head shapes and facial structures.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune & Hearst Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many other people have my problem. I have suffered a 75 per cent hearing loss. You wouldn't believe the amount of money I have spent on hearing aids and therapy. All were useless because my loss is due to nerve damage, which can't be helped.

Abby, everyone shows so much kindness and compassion for a blind or crippled person, but if you happen to be hard of hearing, you are on your own!

If I ask people to please repeat what they've said, they either hurry away and ignore me, or say "Oh, forget it," or "Never mind." Believe me, there is no greater insult to a deaf person.

Deaf ears of concern

Abby, please ask people to be a little more patient with those of us who are hard of hearing. All they need do is to speak distinctly and raise their voices just a little. Thank you.

DEAF AND DISCOURAGED

DEAR DEAF: All right, here's your letter. READERS, CAN YOU HEAR ME OUT THERE?

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the elderly Florida couple who were "shacking up": There is nothing immoral about a couple living together without a so-called marriage license. Remember, Joseph and Mary lived together and were not married until after Jesus was born.

IRVING B.

DEAR IRVING: According to Jewish customs of Biblical times, Joseph and Mary were "betrotthed"—a commitment so binding that if Joseph were to die before taking Mary under his own roof, Mary would become a widow. Or if Joseph backed out, he and Mary would require a legal divorce.

Although Mary and Joseph indeed shared one house, according to Matthew 12:50, "He did not know her (have special relations) until she brought forth her first-born son." This means that even though Joseph and Mary lived together, they did not have relations up to the birth of Jesus.

DEAR ABBY: This is for HAD IT, who has been often fooled by married men who say they're single. Anyone can find out the marital status of anyone else by calling the reference section of his local public library (or by going there in person) and checking the city directory. It lists the husband's name, the wife's name and their places of employment.

Any city, too small to have a city directory is small enough for there to be no question about its citizens' marital status, anyway.

Volunteers attend orientation

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Junior Volunteers held orientation meetings for area teenagers Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the hospital.

Girls from Valley High School, Robert Stuart Junior High School, Kimberly High School and Twin Falls High School attended.

Opening remarks were made by Karen Gillette, junior volunteer president; Carol Puder, vice president; Barbara Honscheid, secretary; and Lorraine Walker.

The prospective volunteers were given information about duties, hospital ethics, personal appearance and uniforms.

Marsha Snow, L.P.N., who works in pediatrics, instructed the girls in hospital procedures, safety measures, dealing with patients and additional details of their duties.

Miss Snow also demonstrated the making of beds, crisis and stretchers, cleaning a unit and pushing a patient in a wheel chair. She then supervised the performance by the new volunteers of each of these duties. Each girl's proficiency was checked.

The final meeting consisted of a tour of the hospital, a written examination and a skill by present junior volunteers.

The next orientation will be held in early June.

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please explain dropsy and its causes? — Mrs. M.E.H.

Today we call the condition "edema," the old name (dropsy) derives from the Greek "hydor," meaning water. The disorder was first known as "hydrops," from "hydra," comes the term "dropsy." Call it edema for simplicity.

By edema we usually mean an abnormal accumulation of fluid in tissue spaces. There can be a variety of factors involved — malfunctioning kidneys, a heart problem, cirrhosis of the liver, or something called "hypoproteinemias," a lowered concentration of blood proteins which changes the permeability of blood vessels. This latter allows excess fluids to escape into the tissues.

Fluid accumulating in the abdomen is called ascites. This can occur from the above causes as well as from malignancy within the abdomen.

Dropsy explained

There can be localized swellings caused by the fluid accumulations. Treatment often is with diuretics to increase elimination of the fluid through the kidneys.

There are so many causes and symptoms of this condition I cannot do much more than make these general comments about it. If you have any unexplained swellings it would be well to have an examination to trace the cause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

I have a fungus condition of both of my big toenails, and I've been told one must use both an external solution as well as take medicine internally. Can this disease definitely be cured?

What is generally used for this? Would an M.D. be able to prescribe for it, or would I have to see a foot doctor? Would there be any side effects in taking medicine internally for this?

Mrs. J.J.

First of all, you would have to be certain it is a fungal infection. There would be a chewed-up appearance and a thickening of the nails. Definite diagnosis can be made by scrapings taken from the affected nails.

The condition can be treated by either local application of fungicide or by use of griseofulvin, which must be prescribed. Griseofulvin can have side effects if used over a long period, and it is usually prescribed in cases where locally-applied medicines have no effect. It is an antibiotic which works especially well against fungus.

Potential side effects which must be reported include: nausea, dizziness and rashes. Such effects have been noted in some persons after long use.

I suggest you have a dermatologist determine just what fungal agent is present prior to use of any medication. Griseofulvin is

Benefit social set for the Heath family

KIMBERLY — A benefit social is planned for Tuesday at the Kimberly LDS Church at the corner of Jefferson and Birch with proceeds going to the family of Eddie and Linda Heath.

The Heaths and their five children, Danny, 10; Debbie, 8; David, 6; Julie, 5, and Shari, 3 months, returned to the Heath family farm about three years ago from American Falls. Shortly after their return, Mrs. Heath gave birth to premature twin boys who died within 24 hours after birth.

Two years later, a fire destroyed a building which housed Heath's private business. Oct. 10, Shari was born. Due to a difficult delivery, Mrs. Heath required extensive surgery and intensive care.

During the first part of January it was discovered she had contracted hepatitis from the many blood transfusions required during her previous surgery. While she was in the hospital being treated for hepatitis, the Heath home burned. The home and possessions were a total loss.

Even with insurance coverage, the loss and medical bills have become an enormous burden. The benefit social is being held to assist the family with its financial responsibility.

The social will include hot dogs, ice cream and pastries for refreshment.

The main attraction is to be a pastry and useful item auction. A slave auction will also be included.

The social will begin at 6:30 and the auction at 7:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to donate to this benefit may call the Tom Chandler home at 423-4587. Pick-up can be provided.

Members of the community and the Heaths' friends are urged to participate.

Dance planned — TWIN FALLS — The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary will hold a dance Friday at 8 p.m. at the DAV Hall.

There will be live music and the public is invited.

The chapter plans a fun night for Feb. 16.

The chapter voted at its Monday night meeting to have a cooked food sale at Easter.

effective only against certain ones. Since you report only the two big toenails being affected I'd also suspect your shoes as a cause, and you should check this.

Readers wanting a more detailed discussion of such nail conditions, which space forbids here, can read my booklet "Solving Your Nail Problems." Send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper, and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

I have had X-rays of my stomach, and my doctor found gall stones. My doctor has recommended surgery to remove the bladder. But I have been told that if you take a teaspoon of olive oil and a teaspoon of lemon juice each daily and night for three weeks this will clean out the stones. Should I try this? — A.R.

The only way you are going to get rid of the stones unless they are small enough to pass, which would be painful experience) is to have the gall bladder removed. No diet will "dissolve" them, nor will any magic combination such as olive oil and lemon juice.

TF planners will hire consultant

By GORDON JUDD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls planners have decided to hire a consultant to help finish their comprehensive plan. But council members agreed Wednesday night on whether to hire a local firm which has been charged with possible conflict of interest.

Members of the Twin Falls County Joint Planning Council, some of them serving on the council for the first time under the new leadership of Chairman Ann Cover, debated the possible conflict of interest of hiring J-U-B Engineers Inc. to act as their consultant.

Although council members could not agree on hiring J-U-B last night, they did agree to hold another meeting Wednesday at which time J-U-B personnel will be invited to answer questions. Council secretary Jean Millar said if the council does not agree to hire J-U-B other planning firms will be invited to make presentations to the council.

J-U-B Engineers presented a proposal to the council in mid-November, calling for the planning firm to immediately begin work on the plan which had been stalled by the firing of full-time planner David Reichey.

Former council chairman Jack Muldoon earlier had urged members to endorse the idea of hiring J-U-B in order to keep the comprehensive plan on schedule.

Muldoon later advised the council members that J-U-B had given a firm "maximum" price of $15,000 for their work, which he pointed out might cost that much since its services were going to be paid for on a time and material basis.

At the December meeting, council members reacted favorably to Muldoon's efforts to get J-U-B hired as their consultant and voted to do so. The council had no funding to implement its vote, however, which Muldoon pointed out was not a vote to actually hire J-U-B but was instead a recommendation to the county commissioners who were then trying to decide whether to fund the council for 1978.

It was possible conflict of interest on the part of J-U-B was first called to the attention of council members in a letter to the council written by a Twin Falls attorney. This letter claimed J-U-B had recently acted "as a consultant to Snake River Enterprises," which had tried unsuccessfully to get a planned urban development (PUD) on Falls Avenue East passed by the city of Twin Falls.

Muldoon argued that the fact that J-U-B had a good record of working for land developers in Twin Falls County could not possibly pose any problems because the "final plan is going to be up to the citizens."

Following the council's year-end meeting, at which time it was announced that the county commissioners had agreed to fund the council for the coming year, the Times-News reported that the two J-U-B planners who would be working on the comprehensive plan had controversial backgrounds.

The former head of regional planning for Ada County, Russ Carter, had suggested that Twin Falls should consider employing a consultant planning firm without contracts with land developers to insure the lack of any possible conflict of interest.

Since that time, J-U-B pledged not to present any applications for land developers while working on the comprehensive plan or to knowingly undertake any project which is in conflict with adopted plans or ordinances.

In a "less controversial" matter the council voted to ask the state planning office to continue to aid it in doing as much work as possible to get the plan written and ready for public hearing.

The council members also seemed to agree that any consultant hired would have to agree to see the plan through all stages of public hearings required under the Local Planning Act of 1975.

Disposal charges due close scrutiny

TF man arrested, released

TWIN FALLS — Carl Peterson, 41, Twin Falls, was released on his own recognizance by Magistrate Court Judge Paul Smith after being arrested on a warrant charging embezzlement. He was given until Friday to raise a $20,000 bond set by the court after he was arraigned on charges of embezzling several thousand dollars from Western Farm Service, his former employer.

A complaint charging him with taking funds from the company was signed by W.R. Edwards of Western Farm Service. The theft occurred Oct. 5, 1977, the complaint states.

Sheriff Paul Corder said the man was arrested in Twin Falls Wednesday by a county deputy sheriff.

Items stolen from vehicle

TWIN FALLS — Larry Fife, Twin Falls, told police someone burglarized his vehicle Wednesday night while it was parked at his residence on Second Avenue West.

Missing are a citizen-band radio, antenna, two eight-track stereo tapes and a small camera. Fife estimated loss at $142.

Jerome man named

JEROME — Ray Cobble, Jerome, has been named by Gov. Cecil Andrus to succeed John Van Orman on the Jerome County Commission.

Cobble is owner of Independent Motors in Jerome and has served on the City Council. Competing with Cobble for the vacant seat were Bill Pppest and Al Lee, both of Jerome.

The three names were submitted to the governor Jan. 22. Van Orman resigned from the commission for personal reasons.

Advisory board sets meet

SPOKESMAN — A meeting of the Shoshone-District Multiple Use Advisory Board will be held at 9 a.m. Feb. 12 at the Shoshone Office, Bureau of Land Management.

According to district BLM manager, Charles J. Hanzler, the board will discuss and advise the bureau on the Bennett Hills-Timmerman Hills management framework plan-environmental impact statement, the environmental analysis record on the agricultural development program in Idaho, disposition of the Sun Valley-Ketchum Stock Driveaway, allocation of advisory board range improvement funds and plans for the summer tour.

The meeting will be open to the public and individuals desiring to make presentations to the board, either oral or written, should contact the district manager prior to Friday.

Coordinator named

JEROME — JoAnnita Bragan, registered nurse at Gooding, has been appointed to coordinate the home health care program of St. Benedict's Hospital in Gooding and Carnegies Counties.

Carol Jacobson, St. Benedict's coordinator for home health care agency, said Mrs. Bragan will visit patients who have been dismissed from hospitals in her area and need continued care which can be administered in the home by a registered nurse.

Dr. Paul Vocum, Wendell, will be the new medical adviser for the coming year. Mrs. Jacobson holds SAs, Mrs. Bragan and Mrs. Iris Good will attend a state meeting for home health care in Boise March 4 and 5.

Biologists co-authors publication
KETCHUM — A wildlife biologist with the Spavinouth National Recreation Area has co-authored a publication which recently was printed in Science magazine.

Edward Lingquist co-authored the detailed publication on insect mating hormones entitled "Muklesterone A: A Hormone from the Embryo of the Milkweed Bug."

He worked with noted insect physiologist in the Agricultural Research Service and biochemists of Australia to produce the product.

The article was published in the November 14 issue of Science magazine, 1978.

Lingquist is a former employee of the Agriculture Research Service at Beltsville, Maryland. The publication is the result of work done in ARS prior to his appointment with the Forest Service.

By DAVE HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council has decided to take a hard look at the county's proposal to charge the city about $21,000 for solid-waste disposal this year.

Some councilmen have balked at the idea of city residents paying the $21,000 in addition to the county mill levy for operation of the three county landfills. They say the concept smacks of double taxation, with city residents paying twice while rural residents pay only the county tax.

The council has directed City Attorney Charles Brumbach to investigate the legality of the county proposal.

Councilmen also are critical of the fact that the county is not levying the maximum two mills for the landfills. The county cut the levy to 1.84 mills last year and has proposed that it be reduced to 1.76 mills this year.

"I can't see how the county can ask for an increase in city participation when it isn't taxing at the two mill limit," Councilman Leon Smith said Monday.

The City of Twin Falls contributed $20,000 in addition to the city residents' taxes for the landfills operated last year. The county has asked that Twin Falls pay $21,039 this year.

The county commissioners reportedly said urban areas account for about 90 per cent of the garbage dumped at the landfills. They have indicated the charge to cities in the county would be higher if it was based solely on usage.

But some of the Twin Falls councilmen and Twin Falls City Manager Jean Millar claim that urban usage is higher because many farmers illegally dispose of their trash on their own properties.

Since the rural residents don't have as great a need for the public landfills, the waste disposal levy "is not a popular tax with the rural people," Millar said.

The county commissioners "are pressed with that concept — garbage is a city debt, not a country debt," he added.

"I have long felt that the ultimate goal of the commissioners is to get the rural county out of garbage collection and place it strictly an urban function," Millar said.

Center plan due hearing

GOODING — The proposed alcohol and substance abuse center in Gooding will take a step closer to reality Tuesday when Artie Walker, chief spokesman for the center, meets with the State Land Board.

Walker of Bliss says he will propose the treatment center be allowed to occupy the old Gooding Tuberculosis Hospital for use until the clientele grows enough to pay some of the expenses.

The State Land Board has legal jurisdiction over the hospital.

If the center for alcoholics and other chemically dependent people is given the go-ahead by the State Land Board, Walker says, it is possible it might be in operation within two months.

The next step, after Tuesday's meeting, he says is to be licensed by the State Department of Health and Welfare. The vacant hospital building is large enough to be classified an "institutional operation" under Idaho law which means the structure must meet a number of state sanitary and maintenance requirements.

Walker says he expects to get HAW approval because of the need for the center's services.

"There are thousands of chemically dependent people" in Idaho, he says.

Kenton performance set

HAILEY — Stan Kenton and his orchestra will perform in Hailey March 17. High school music instructor Jim Cutler said the 20-man jazz orchestra has agreed to put on an afternoon clinic for all Magic Valley music students and then move into a two-hour concert at 8 p.m. that night.

The group is touring the northwest, Cutler said, presenting concerts and clinics. Hailey will be the only town near here where the group will perform.

The group is on the road, he said, because of the recent resurgence of jazz and interesting people again are taking in the music.

Cutler said, flyers were sent out last December by the Kenton orchestra detailing the concert tour. Cutler called immediately and was able to secure a date.

Price of tickets is $5 per person. This is not a fund raising activity, he said. The group will cost the school district $3,000.

Consequently, 600 tickets must be sold to offset the cost of the appearance. Ticket sales begin this Friday at the Wood River basketball game. Since there is limited seating in the gymnasium, the tickets will be sold on a first-come first-served basis.

Checks can be sent to the high school here or purchased from any of the high school music students in Wood River High School.

Hazelton man sentenced

TWIN FALLS — Ray Bumgarner, 27, Hazelton, was sentenced to five years in the Idaho State Prison by Fifth Judicial District Judge James M. Cunningham.

Judge Cunningham retained jurisdiction over Bumgarner for the first 120 days of the sentence, with the defendant to appear again at the end of that time for further determination of the sentence.

Bumgarner pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny, burglary and escape. The complaint against Bumgarner alleges he escaped from Twin Falls police by driving his vehicle away from the police station after being given permission to move the vehicle. He was apprehended in the Hazelton area following a chase by officers.

He was charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of furniture from the Wilson Hotel, Dec. 6, 1975, and with burglary of a Twin Falls home on Dec. 7.

In another case, Mitchell-Mattison 19, Twin Falls appeared before Judge Cunningham for sentencing and was placed on 18-month probation after pleading guilty to burglary of a law on Drug June 12, 1975. As specific terms of the probation Judge Cunningham required the defendant to attend school and maintain passing grades and to refrain from use of drugs, including marijuana.

Art show judges named

TWIN FALLS — J. Meredith Nell, executive director of the Idaho Bicentennial Commission, will be one of the judges for the first annual Twin Falls Public Art Show.

The art show, "Living Our Heritage," will be judged April 6. Judges will include Michael Green of the College of Southern Idaho Art Department and Helen Miller, Boise, Idaho State Librarian. The judges will serve in an advisory capacity to the Twin Falls Public Library Board.

Nell is an architect by profession but also an artist.

Any artist who is a resident of Magic Valley may enter one original painting or work. There is no limit as to size, medium, technique or form. Registration is set for March 4 at the Twin Falls Public Library.

Artists of all ages are encouraged to enter their work representing the heritage, development and future of the Magic Valley. The art show judging has been set during National Library Week.

The Twin Falls Public Library will purchase the first-place entry for permanent display in the library. Additional information is available at the library in Twin Falls and other libraries in Magic Valley.

Cash offer made to purchase lodge

By BART QUENSELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Pat Ryan, Clarendon Hot Springs developer and new co-owner of the Hinawatha Hotel in Hatley, has offered to buy the bankrupt Prospector Lodge.

Ryan has written Prospector Federal Savings and Loan Association, Boise, he will pay $155,000 cash for the Prospector Lodge. A portion of the cash will be used to pay off the mortgage.

An affidavit with the Boise-Frost said Ryan's offer is being considered along with several others. No specific selling price has been established for the Prospector although it has been for sale since Prospector received ownership through the bankruptcy.

Ryan says he has bailed out former Prospector owner James Doyle on two other occasions with cash loans of $250,000 and $200,000.

Ryan told Prospector he also is interested in a cash deal on several condominiums Prospector owns if the price is right.

"There is no duller skin in the world than Warm Springs with that beautiful lodge padlocked, plus there are a desperate people out of work in what was a highly profitable business until a few days ago," Ryan said.

The cash sum would pay off all debts Doyle has accrued, Ryan said. However, Doyle is entangled in lawsuits he filed before the bankruptcy proceedings.

Doyle is prepared to drop all his lawsuits, Ryan said, or he wouldn't have made an offer. Ryan said, "But we absolutely are not interested in buying a lawsuit."

Ryan and Hinawatha Hotel co-owners, Derek Gunderson and Aura Courtney, are trying to attract the Canadian market.

Gunderson and Ryan have said before there is a demand in Canada for good skiing and the Hinawatha Hotel could serve as good, low cost lodging.

The Prospector, Ryan speculated, could work together with the Hinawatha to attract Canadian tourists by sharing facilities and programs.

President is to decide next week whether to accept Ryan's offer.

The Prospector has been in financial straits for over two years.

Creditors finally closed the operation for good last fall after repeated warnings.

Ryan, developer of the Jolly Jumper which has sold around the world as a toy for young children, has extensive holdings in Canada, as well as his property in Blaine county.

Opponents of federal grain inspection may fade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials may drop their opposition to a federal takeover of grain inspection at ports if Congress insists on making the change, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a House member Tuesday.

Butz made the comment to Rep. Floyd Filthian, D-Ind., following a House Agriculture Committee hearing.

Grain now is inspected by private and state agencies under supervision of Agriculture Department officials.

In the wake of investigations which already have produced more than 50 indictments charging corruption in grain inspection at Gulf ports, Butz initially had favored reform legislation requiring all grain to be inspected by federal or state agents.

Filthian told a reporter later that "you've just seen the tip of the iceberg" in grain inspection corruption charges to date. He said forthcoming investigative reports will make it impossible for the administration to advocate keeping the private inspector system.

Butz, meanwhile, reported he has called all major private grain shippers to meet in his office next week "to discuss what we can do to improve inspection before the passage of any new legislation."

Undersecretary of Agriculture John A. Knebel told the House committee the Agriculture Department and other agencies, including the FBI, are investigating the possible implication of federal employees in the grain scandals which have brought indictments of private and state inspectors and some grain company officials.

Knebel said "certain people" in the department, including some in its Office of Investigation, "are being looked at in detail." He said indictments would be sought if any wrongdoing is found.

Butz earlier had announced a number of administrative steps designed to lighten federal supervision of the existing inspection system. Among them is a decision to send agriculture inspectors abroad to make spot checks on the condition of American grain as it arrives in foreign ports, and orders directing federal inspectors to spot check some ships after loading.

Increase ahead?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government price support rates for grains "may... go up some" this year but no final decision has been made, according to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

Butz Tuesday told members of the House Agriculture committee that a final decision on the supports has not been made and that he is not committed to an increase.

The agriculture secretary told reporters later if an increase is approved, it is likely to be moderate.

Poor weather cuts wheat crop short

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This year's wheat crop will fall short of last year's 2.1-billion bushel record unless growing conditions improve, Agriculture Department experts said Tuesday.

Economists writing in a Wheat Situation summary report noted that although farmers have planted 77.2 million acres to 1976 winter and spring wheat — the largest acreage since 1953 — total production may drop back from last year because drought and cold weather have reduced prospects for winter wheat yields.

In early December, Agriculture's Crop Reporting Board estimated the winter wheat crop would fall to about 1.5 billion bushels, 9 per cent below last year's winter harvest which makes up the bulk of the annual wheat crop.

No new estimates have been issued since then, but weekly crop weather reports have indicated a continuing drought threat. The latest report, issued Tuesday, warned that the condition of wheat and other small grains last week "continued to decline, as soil moisture remains in short supply over most areas of the nation."

Health course set

TWIN FALLS — An animal health course will be held Monday night beginning this Monday from 7-9 p.m. in the auditorium at the College of Southern Idaho.

The course is offered by the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association and the CSI Agriculture Department in cooperation with the Magic Valley Veterinary Medical Association.

The course will be given in a series of four or five. This series will be in beef production and will be taught by a team of ten or more area veterinarians.

A fee of $3 paid in advance, will assure registration. Total registration will be limited to 100 active beef producers. Those interested should contact Herschel Boydston, CSI, phone 733-9554, ext. 299, or C. J. Boss, president, Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association, phone Hollister 658-4223.

Checks should be made payable to the Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association.

Meeting dates, besides Monday night, are Feb. 16 and 23, and March 1 and 8.

Bank meet Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The annual stockholders' meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls will be Tuesday, according to Dave McKinlay, manager.

The meeting will be at the Holiday Inn with registration beginning at 11:15 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon. George Atkins, chairman of the board, will preside.

Judge John Schultze of the Spokane area and past Land Bank of Spokane attorney, will be featured speaker. Other events include a director's report by John Tolce, the association manager's report, a report from the Federal Land Bank of Spokane presented by Dave Burgess and the election of two directors and three year's nominating committee.

In addition to Atkins of Buhl, association directors include Rolce, Eden, vice chairman—Clarence Hallfield—Hansen, Melvin Jagels, Buhl, and Leon Wright, Piler.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls makes and services long-term real estate loans to farmers and ranchers in Twin Falls and the Eden-Hazelton portion of Jerome Counties. The association is entirely owned by the borrower-members it serves.

Baseball awaits judge's decision

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Officials of both the city and the San Francisco Giants Wednesday anxiously awaited a ruling that will determine whether the National League team will remain here or play its 1976 season in Toronto, Canada.

After hearing arguments from both sides Tuesday, Superior Judge John E. Benson took under submission the city's request for an extension of a temporary restraining order that would forbid the nearly bankrupt Giants from being sold to a Canadian group for $13.25 million — $8 million in cash and the balance in escrow to indemnify the Giants owners if they are forced to pay off a long-term contract for use of Candlestick Park.

The judge may rule at any time, but Richard Murray, representing the Giants, guessed the decision would come "within a few days, possibly by Friday" — which would destroy the city's hope of finding a suitable buyer.

"Even if the judge made a ruling today, it still would have been a long wait," added one of the principals involved in the city vs. Giants battle.

Skaters shoulder U.S. medal hopes today

INNSBRUCK (UPI) — While the men's Alpine team is contesting the downhill, the glamor event of the Winter Olympics, a couple of girls probably will be putting America on the medal scoreboard at the speed skating oval today.

Sheila Young of Detroit and Leah Polous of Northbrook, Ill., both were given a good chance of finishing among the medals in the 1,500 meters, although it is not the best event for either of the girls.

Young has had a sore throat for the last two weeks and on the eve of her opening race of the four-event series was carrying a light fever, but she still thought she could do something for her country.

Sheila broke the world 500-meter sprint record at Davos, Switzerland, last weekend but she is not happy with the Olympic oval where she fell during last year's world sprint championships.

"I hope to skate the best I can and then see what happens," Young said on the eve of the competition. Her big event, the 500, comes Friday with the 1,000 on Saturday.

Poulos, a disappointing 24th in Sapporo four years ago, said she is as ready mentally as she is physically for the competition.

"If you think you're good, that's what it's all about," she said. "You have to believe in yourself."

Both Sheila and Leah believe in themselves, and experts say the U.S. has the strongest team in depth at the Games, but the Russians have an ace up their sleeve in Tatjana Averina, world record holder at the distance and at the 3,000 meters, one of two new Olympic events.

Averina stayed home to train at altitude at Alma Ata while the American girls were sweeping all before them on a European tour before coming to Innsbruck.

"Four men will run in the downhill, but on the season's World Cup runs the best one came up as a top 10 place for Greg Jones of Tahoe City, Calif., or Andy Mill of Aspen, Colo., who took a bad slip in training 48 hours before the race.

"Other American entrants in the race are Karl Andersson of Greene, Maine, who will race with the new "wunderski," and Peter Patagoner of Sun Valley, Idaho.

The betting favorite is Austria's Franz Klammer, winner of a four Cup downhill this season, who will have the support of a hometown crowd expected to pack the 3,145-meter run down the Paisscherkofel mountain.

Klammer, who did not go flat out in non-stop (official) training while he tried out and rejected the "wunderski" ski, built at a cost of $120,000 and featuring holes in the tips, is a no-nonsense racer when it comes to the real thing.

If Klammer is to upset, the men who could do it are a couple of Canadians, Dave Irwin and Ken Read, and Bernard Russi, the defending champion from Switzerland.

The downhill was scheduled for 6:30 a.m. EST, or 2½ hours after the first girl steps on the ice oval.

The other medal event of the first full day of the 12-day competition was the men's 30-kilometer (18.6-mile) cross-country race in which any one of 10 men were tagged as a possible winner, including Bill Koch, a 29-year-old from Guilford, Vt.

"The U.S. never has won a cross-country medal at the Olympics, but Koch is an old contender. He finished third in a race last week by defeating Oddvar Bar of Norway, one of today's favorites.

"Ivan Parino, another Norwegian powerhouse, said, "Koch should finish in the top 10. He might even win."

"Bill is quite confident going into the race," said teammate Martha Rockwell of New Lebanon, N.H., America's top woman cross-country skier.

Other events scheduled were the second run in the four-race luge competition for men and women, the second stage of ice dancing and the compulsory ice pair skating.

Three group-B hockey games also were slated, the U.S. team just having a team skate to prepare for Friday's meeting with Russia in the championship bracket.

In the pairs, Colleen O'Connor and Jim Mills of Colorado Springs, Colo., were in third place after the three compulsory figures with a score of 23.0 ordinals (Judge's points) and 59.56 points overall.

Five-time world champions Ludmila Pakhomova and Alexander Gorshkov led with 11.0 and 61.40.

As expected, the luge competition saw East Germans ahead in both events after the opening round, Margit Schannmied in the women's division with Guelter Dietz ahead in the men's section.

No U.S. competitor was even remotely in contention.

Two share Hope meet lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Brian Allin and Jim Colbert, both of veteran pros with nearly parallel careers, shot five under par 67s in the wild Wednesday to share the first round lead by a stroke in the $180,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Former masters champion Charles Coody had a four-under 68 while Jack Nicklaus, coming back after a disastrous 82 in his last competitive round, had a 69 to tie with Bill Rogers. David Graham, Rick Missengale and Bob Payne, Johnny Miller opened with a 71 while Arnold Palmer, who has won the Hope title five times, started with a 74.

Allin, a decorated Vietnam veteran, had a card of 23-25 while playing Indian Wells, considered the easiest of the four courses they use in the five day, 90-hole event, which carries a top prize of $36,000.

Allin had five birds and two bogys on a card of 32-35 at Bermuda-Dunes. He called it his best round of the year and it included one putt of 36 feet, one of 18 and two of 15.

Coody, who tied for fourth at last week's "Hawaiian" Open, had five birds and one bogey on a card of 32-35 at Eldorado.

La Quinta, the fourth tournament course, proved the most difficult on a day in which there were wind gusts of close to 40 miles per hour in the California desert country. Play started in bright sunshine and temperatures in the 70s, but by early afternoon it

Judge sustains arbitrator's ruling

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A federal judge Wednesday upheld arbitrator Peter Seitz's ruling that made two baseball owners free agents, saying he lacked authority to review grievances submitted to arbitration panels.

Major league baseball owners filed suit, asking U.S. District Judge John W. Oliver to rule Seitz did not have authority to hear the cases of Andy Messersmith of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Pete McNally of the Montreal Expos and even if he did he overstepped his authority in making the two free agents.

"The Supreme Court has determined courts have no business overruling an arbitrator's decision," said Oliver. "The federal policy of settling labor disputes by arbitration would be undermined if courts had the final say on the merits of the awards."

He said owners and players who agreed to the use of an arbitrator to solve their problems, "did not bargain for the decision of this or any other court."

Oliver ordered counsel for the players to prepare a final judgment in the case and to submit it to the attorneys for the owners for their agreement. He said it discrepancies developed between the two sides, a hearing would be held Saturday to finalize the judgment.

Messersmith and McNally requested free agent status after playing the past season without signing contracts. They challenged the "pre-nuptial player control" aspects of baseball's reserve clause. The owners argued before Oliver the reserve system was exempted from all parts-of-the-1973 working agreement between the players and owners, including the section setting up grievance procedures. The players disagreed. Negotiations between the players and owners for a contract to replace the 1973 pact, which expired Dec. 31, 1976, have been stalled pending a decision on the matter. Baseball owners had argued they would have no bargaining position left concerning the reserve clause if Oliver upheld Seitz.

During the trial, Oliver made clear his concern was not the negotiating status of baseball owners but rather proper interpretation of the law.

"Congress did not trust this court or any other court with the responsibility of looking out for our National Pastime," he said.

In his decision, Oliver said the Supreme Court had held for at least 15 years that doubts of whether a matter could be arbitrated should be resolved in favor of coverage by an arbitration clause.

All pro sports to feel NBA's ruling

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A new era in professional basketball — and perhaps in all sports — was begun this week when National Basketball Association owners saw "the handwriting on the wall" and gave in to the players on all the basic freedom issues that in recent years have also led to lawsuits and strikes in baseball and football.

If baseball and football follow the NBA's lead, will this new era of player liberation bring chaos or a lasting sense of order to the sports world? No one really knows.

"I honestly believe it can work," said NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien of the out-of-court settlement of the players' suit that eliminated the option clause and compensation and brought limitations to the draft. "But we'll know in 10 years."

The settlement is part of a 10-year contract with the players, the final, relatively minor, details of which are expected to be worked out in the near future and presented to U.S. District Court Judge Robert Carter for final disposition.

Actually, football stands to feel the impact of the NBA's settlement more than baseball because, football, like basketball, depends largely on college talent that has already been primed for the professional ranks. Few kids come into baseball out of college ready to play. Baseball depends mostly on a professional farm system to develop talent.

Part of the NBA settlement involves the drafting of college players. A player is drafted and does not sign his name goes back into the pool and he can be redrafted the following year. If he does not sign after two years he can become a free agent. Baseball had a modified redrafting rule that allows an unsigned draft pick to remain in the pool for six months. He can be repicked every year until he is never becomes a free agent.

One outcome both NBA parties are hopeful of achieving is the situation of the seemingly endless lawsuits that have spread like wildfire, especially in basketball, because of the ambiguity of anti-trust laws in relation to sports.

TF and Buhl vie for cage title tonight

Buhl and Jerome stayed alive Wednesday night by winning loser bracket games in the fourth district girls class A basketball tournament.

Buhl, catching a spark from Karen Meltzner, ousted Burley 29-19 and Jerome eliminated Wood River 32-21 in a free throw shooting contest.

Buhl and Jerome will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Buhl gymnasium while the undefeated teams, Twin Falls and Minico, collide for the championship at 8:30 p.m.

The championship is based on single elimination, meaning the Twin Falls-Minico loser will play the Buhl-Jerome winner at 8 p.m. Saturday night for second place. The top two advance to the regional finals in Twin Falls next week. There will be a game Friday night due to a scheduling conflict with the Buhl boys varsity. In Wednesday's opener, Meltzner scored 12 of her 14 points in the second half and also sparked a half-court defense that broke the Indians away from the Bobcats. Buhl led only 11-9 at intermission and Meltzner hit six of Buhl's seven third-quarter points to keep the Indians ahead by one. But Burley managed only two points in the last period when Buhl scored 14.

In the nightcaps, Jerome and Wood River were even in field goals with nine each but the Tigers hit 19 of 42 free throws to lead quite handsly throughout. Shoshone hit six of 20 free throw attempts as the teams were whistled for a total of 56 fouls.

Kimberly, Filer play in cage semi-finals

MURTAUGH - Filer and Kimberly shoot for spot in the southside class B girls basketball finals while Hagerman and Hansen fight to survive Thursday night.

Hagerman sent host Murtaugh to the sidelines Wednesday night with a 31-25 victory and Hansen turned loose its press to eliminate Declo 35-21.

Hansen and Hagerman will play at 7 p.m. Thursday with the loser out with Filer and Kimberly going at 8:30 p.m. The Hansen-Hagerman winner meets the Filer-Kimberly loser in a single game Friday night, the survivor going against the undefeated team Saturday for the title. Due to the double elimination format, the tournament could swing into Monday if the loser bracket team wins Saturday.

Hagerman and Murtaugh staged a tight duel through the first half, the Pirates ahead 17-16 at the midpoint. Early in the second half, Lori Bennett and Beth Fowler, who had 14 and Murtaugh's 16 halftime points, had to retire to the bench for most of the third quarter due to excessive fouls. Hagerman's point production stayed steady while Murtaugh's dipped to two points. Sturtevant scored 10 of her 14 points in the first half to keep Hagerman in contention.

Both Hansen and Declo got off to slow scoring starts, Hansen getting the only field goal of the first period for a 5-3 lead. Hansen's press began wearing Declo down badly in the third quarter when the Huskies hustled into a 24-13 lead and coasted home.

Shoshone, Carey battle for finals spot

WENDELL - Shoshone meets Carey in the championship semi-finals while Camas County and Wendell fight to remain alive Thursday night in the Northside girls sub-district basketball tournament.

Shoshone and Carey will meet at 8:15 p.m. Thursday with the winner advancing to the finals Saturday night at the new gymnasium. The loser will play the Camas County-Wendell game winner Friday night with that survivor filling the other half of Saturday's bracket.

Dietrich and Richfield became the first teams to fall by the wayside in Wednesday's play. Camas County defeated Dietrich 35-20, breaking into a 10-point lead in the second quarter and maintaining it.

Wendell sent Richfield to the sidelines 35-24, the winners pushing a five-point lead to the final margin. The Camas County-Wendell game, at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, should be a donnybrook. Camas County tripped Wendell twice enroute to an undefeated regular season only to see Wendell end that unbeaten best in the tournament's first game.

A Joyce game will be played at 5 p.m. Thursday with Buhl meeting Wendell. That portion of the playoffs began Wednesday night with Jerome topping Shoshone 21-6.

Camas County	8	20	26	31

Kansas St. upsets Missouri 85-81

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) - Chuckie Williams scored 20 of his game high 32 points in the second half and Kansas State, faced with elimination from the Big Eight conference race, rallied for an 85-81 upset of 10th ranked Missouri Wednesday night. Kansas State broke an 11-game Missouri winning streak and a 22-game Tiger home court win streak which extended back to Kansas State's 62-57 win over Missouri three years ago. The loss left Missouri and Nebraska tied for the Big Eight lead at 5-1 with Kansas State a game back at 4-2. Kansas State also got double figures from guard Mike Evans with 20, forward Carl Gerlach with 13 and 10 rebounds and reserve forward Darryl Winston with 12. Willie Smith led Missouri with 23 and Kim Anderson had 20 points and 10 rebounds.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 6, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you anxious to continue putting interesting plans in motion but there are likely to be some obstacles in your path. Check financial arrangements.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may not find it possible to settle a personal affair now, so await a better day. Improve your appearance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Put that plan to work early in the day and be prepared for any possible kinks in it. Much can be accomplished today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find the right ways and means so that you can gain a personal goal. Try not to be too stubborn or you lose out.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A public matter needs to be handled early and then you can be of assistance to a friend who is having trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can now easily handle a problem that has been annoying. Listen to what an influential person has to say.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may want to get out of a promise you have made, but it is best to go through with it now. Be cooperative.

LIIKA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Steer clear of an associate who wants an accounting from you for which you are not ready yet. Avoid any arguments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure you do your fair share of the work or you could incur the displeasure of co-workers. Improve your health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan recreation for the evening and then get right to work with an important routine. Strive to be exact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't lose your temper at home where there is likely to be friction, or you could get into trouble. Keep serene.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Much care-in motion at home and in the outside world is wise now. Show good sense in handling money matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) First get your bills paid and then concentrate on regular routines. Use logic in the handling of problems. Be wise.

"IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY..." he or she will be endowed with much creative talent, so be sure to give him an education as you can since there could be fame in this chart. Give good spiritual and ethical training. Sports are a natural here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

what's what

L.M. Boyd

Among the historical footnotes brought to light in this bi-centennial year is a remark delivered to friends by President Warren G. Harding: "It's a good thing I'm not a woman. I'd always be pregnant."

Only word in the English language which contains six 's' and no other vowels is that set of syllables used to describe a homeless Indian, I'm told. Namely, "tepeeslessness."

You knew the weekly murder rate peaks every Saturday night. But did you know it also peaks twice a year, in December and in July?

The beautician is generally regarded by auto insurance companies as riskier than the average citizen.

COLORS

Q. "You asked why a brown cow can eat green grass and give white milk? For the same reason: a blackberry is black when it's green, note that."

A. Noted.

Samantha Bond of England has a lengthy successful record as a photographer's model who enjoys posing in the nude. Book publishers have found it profitable to print her likenesses on dust jackets. There's something about the expression on her face that sells - red, white and blue - they report. She has been repeatedly called "L'Amour" by that highly merchandisable expression, she said. "Learn to get results by thinking of my favorite chap." Our Love and War man is labeling that item No. 196-A in his "How to Get Results" folder, fittingly.

DEAD FISH

No bride should buy a dead fish without first educating herself on how to figure out whether it's fresh. Lesson No. 1: Make sure the eyes protrude slightly. Lesson No. 2: Be certain the gills are bright red or pink. Lesson No. 3: Pick the dressed roach with a fingertip to determine that it leaves no dent but rather immediately recovers its firm shape.

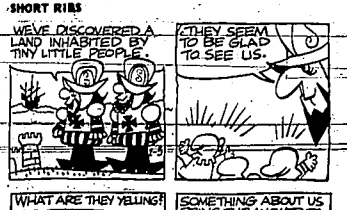

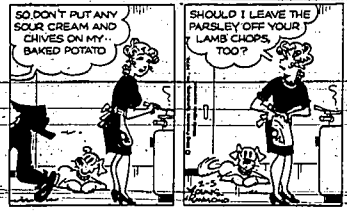

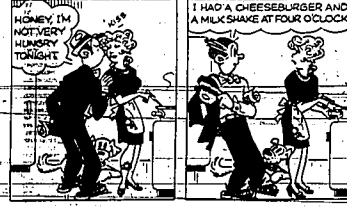

During the reign of England's King George III, a man could get a divorce by claiming his wife had enticed him into matrimony with her perfume.

An outdoorsman of considerable experience says the sport that's easiest of all to learn is scuba diving... All of the light, largest rivers of Asia put together don't pour as much water into the oceans as does the Amazon... Know of no other mother. In this world that's more protective of her young than it is the mama monkey.

Told you about the couple who named their children Winter, Summer and Spring. Failed to mention, however, the parents in Wheatland, Wyo., who named their four boys "Wood," "Sky," "Brook" and "Star."

4-H fair awards discussed

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls County 4-H Council Tuesday night decided to hold a fair to discuss what they would like to see changed about the present system of fair awards. Discussed were the possibilities of eliminating trophies in favor of items such as tool belt buckles, halters or other useful items for high winners and whether or not premium checks should be discontinued and replaced with either cash or pin awards. The possibility of eliminating awards to white ribbon winners was also discussed, with council leaders saying they did not favor such a plan. Questionnaire sheets will be sent out by the county extension office soon to learn the members' preferences about the awards and also to determine what 4-H members would like to see changed about the District 4-H Fair. Members who discussed changes in the organization's bylaws and a final vote will be taken at the next meeting on whether or not to approve the changes.
