Illness hits hard in Valley

TWIN FALLS — A serious outbreak of flu-type illness has hit hard in Magic Valley, according to hospital officials and doctors here.

Dr. Paul Miles, a Twin Falls pediatrician, said, "Most of the stuff that has been sweeping around is viral, rather than bacterial." He said he does not know whether it is the same flu that is hitting the rest of the country so hard.

The Carey schools closed Monday at noon and hope to re-open Thursday also. School officials there said 40 per cent of the faculty was out Monday with a flu-type illness and up to 26 per cent of the elementary students were out.

With rescue workers still trying to reach victims in remote mountain areas, officials are predicting a death toll of 25,000. The United States has been asked to send in Green Beret medical and communications teams to be flown by helicopter to isolated mountain villages to check for survivors and injured. (UPI)

Study backs Pioneer plant

BOISE (UPI) — An independent consulting firm's analysis of Idaho Power Company's future energy needs released today showed the utility faces power shortages by 1981 without additional trade agreements and a coal-fired plant.

contrast, anticipates a continuation of the historic trend of electricity usage growth in the residential and commercial-small business industrial sector.

The commission requested the report for an independent determination of the need for the coal fired steam generating plant which would be 25 miles east of Boise.

Historically, such a rapidly growing economy would have created a faster rate of growth of electricity consumption — on the order of 16 per cent annually — however, the Idaho Power Company load growth will be dampened by the presence of the heavy chemicals industry load which is not expected to increase significantly, and by increasing costs of electricity.

UN choice?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton Jr. is being considered to replace Patrick J. Moynihan as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Legislative nod for regional airport idea in 1967

by passing the Regional Airport Act in 1967. But a sentence in Idaho's regional airport law requires a proposed location be established for the regional facilities before voters decide whether to join an airport authority.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said the state legislature thought the proposed location of a regional airport should be known to voters before they signed petitions authorizing elections to set up regional airport authorities.

Land plan limits win House OK

BOISE — By a one-vote margin Tuesday, the House passed a bill with sweeping provisions aimed at land-use planning.

Several opponents argued on the House floor that the bill would open local zoning ordinances, which have been in effect for decades. They suggested a measure which would simply repeal the state land-use planning bill passed last year, instead of such a sweeping proposal.

Whatever the scope of the measure, it is very unlikely to become law. It would have to pass the Senate and then withstand an almost certain veto of Cecil D. Andrus, a long-time land-use planning proponent.

Sen. Lytle Cobbs, R-Boise, chairman of the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee, in an interview Tuesday predicted there was a "strong possibility" that his committee would hold the land-use legislation it is considering.

Sen. High admits the airport law was not patterned after laws in other states, or federal law, and was drawn up "pretty much from scratch."

In 1972 it suddenly became clear that the state Regional Airport Act should have been "let more closely to federal regional airport legislation."

analysis

Valley's regional airport would be located on the north side of the Snake River, just to the south and east of the 1967 intersection with U.S. 83.

After voters had already expressed their preferences on a regional airport authority and after the SIRA board of directors had established a regional airport site, federal laws relating to airport site selection apparently were read for the first time.

Idaho House passes land bill

The land-use planning bill enacted last year essentially requires local governments to create their own comprehensive plans.

Hoffield said the purpose of the house bill is to repeal last year's act, not to destroy existing ordinances. He said the bill's impact on existing ordinances is "unclear to me" but added that "common sense" would allow ordinances to remain intact.

Antone had another opinion. He said he is afraid that the bill would be a threat to zoning ordinances which have been on the books for years. This proposed law, he said, could create a "hodgepodge" of some planned areas and some unplanned areas. The existing land-use law, he said, leaves planning "up to local control."

"It gives the local government something, the federal government moves into it, he said. But Antone added, "I'm not going to support any other land-use planning bill."

Rep. Roy Ruppert, R-Twin Falls, said, "I feel that the bill last year was too severe. I do not feel that it is local. I feel that it will end up being state-dominated."

He said the bill passed by the House "may go too far the other way," since it would likely hurt existing zoning ordinances. "But I think it will give us the chance to come back in with something reasonable," he said, adding that a bill to protect existing ordinances "later" could be passed.

Rep. J. Vard Chabourn, R-Albion, said he would like to see a bill simply repealing last year's planning proposal, "but in the absence of that, this was perhaps the only chance that we'll have to express our feelings on compulsory land-use planning."

Chabourn did not believe that the house bill would threaten existing zoning ordinances.

"It just helps a person's individual rights without really disrupting the planning," said Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl.

"It gives the local property owner the right to say whether he wants his land planned... I don't think it would affect zoning ordinances that great," Rep. John Brooks, R-Gooding.

In later debate, he said, "I think that we should not succumb to so darn much fear when we try to manage our own affairs."

Rep. Ray Infanger, R-Salmon, had another view. "Each of us needs regulation and this bill regulates the regulators," he said.

"I would resent any person or government or what not that tells me what to do that tract (my) land," Wayne Tibbitts, R-Lorain, said.

Rep. Patty McDermitt, D-Pocatello and House minority leader said, "The thrust of this legislation is to wipe out every zoning ordinance in this state."

He said if the legislators do not like the land-use planning bill, passed last year they should "be a little more responsible and come out and repeal it."

Even on the reconsideration vote, the bill is far from approved. It is on a 34-35 vote, but Rep. J. Vard Chabourn, R-Albion, switched his vote to pass the measure.

"I warn you that it (land-use planning) will be the biggest land grab that has ever been promoted... and the grabbers will be those in the bureaucracies who represent property owners," Rep. John Reardon, R-Boise said.

But Rep. Perry Swisher, D-Pocatello said the purpose of the legislation is "to put us back into our system, but we can't get there through anarchy." He said a bill such as this would lead to anarchy in planning.

"We can't move backward. We can't move ourselves out of government. We must take the government that we have and make it responsive," Swisher said.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 11 — Soldier James McCormick was found guilty by court martial of assault, beating and robbing Sgt. Samuel Marston and sentenced to receive 39 lashes. He also was ordered to reimburse Marston four pounds out of his pay.

Patty's account termed 'absurd'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — With Patricia Hearst's trial bogged down in legal technicalities, two of her former Symbionese Liberation Army comrades denounced as "absurd" her story of being raped and beaten while a captive.

William and Emily Harris termed "a series of lies" the newspaper heiress' testimony about her 19 months underground with the terrorist band.

They said Tuesday she was never sexually assaulted, beaten or harmed and could have gone home any time after joining the SLA.

Miss Hearst testified Monday she was sexually assaulted in a tiny closet by more than one of her kidnapers, punched in the eye four times by Harris and threatened with death "hundreds of times."

She said she joined in a San Francisco bank robbery, shot up a Los Angeles sporting goods store, helped kidnap a high school student and stayed with the Harris for 1 1/2 years out of fear of them and the FBI.

"She was never sexually assaulted," said Harris. "This is totally absurd."

"She was at no time beaten," added his wife. "She was at no time harmed in any way, on the fact that she did not live with Bill and myself."

"She had total freedom of movement after that time, and I think this is only obvious from the fact that she did not live with Bill and myself."

"She had total freedom to do whatever she wanted to do, even if that was to return to her family."

Miss Hearst's bank robbery trial was still being conducted outside the presence of the jury. U.S. District Judge Oliver Carter was listening to testimony about incidents that occurred after the holdup in order to decide whether they can be admitted as evidence.

Three San Francisco residents who allegedly were brought in off the street by SLA chieftain Donald "Chicago" DeLoach to view Miss Hearst after her abduction were ordered by Carter to return to court today.

"They refused to testify outside the grounds of self-incrimination. The judge granted them immunity from prosecution and ordered them to answer the prosecutor's questions."

The jury of seven women and five men was in court for only a half-hour Tuesday, to hear two prosecution witnesses describe where they found cartridges from bullets fired in the April 15, 1974, holdup of a Hibernia Bank branch.

The jurors were absent earlier in the day when a college student testified Miss Hearst told him she was "a willing participant" in the robbery and showed him a cyanide-coated bullet from her gun.

Barcelona's fire brigade strikes

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — The Barcelona fire brigade went on strike today demanding for a pay raise and freedom from income tax.

The strike was part of a wave of walkouts and street protests that have swept Spain in the past few days as workers are centered on pay demands, but often linked to political issues.

The firemen said emergency services would not be affected by their strike.

The 500 members of the municipal fire brigade want a $107-a-month pay raise, increased overtime payments, an extra month's salary and freedom from income tax. If accepted, the demands would boost the firemen's salaries by about 25 per cent.

The same demands have also been made by Barcelona's 13,000 municipal employees. Chauffeurs employed by the city refused today to do their first morning chore — picking up city hall officials at their homes to drive them to work.

More than 3,000 school teachers had also gone on strike in the Barcelona region. In Madrid, hundreds of police Tuesday evening sealed off the Retiro Park area and closed the capital's central park to prevent construction workers' picketing, a rally sponsored by the illegal left-wing workers' commissions labor movement.

The strike movement started early today with a walkout of Madrid subway workers. As many as 300 workers were locked by labor disputes at one time in January.

Assaults continuing

BOISE (UPI) — Two Basque visitors from Spain said today attacks on the major Basque towns will continue until the Spanish government grants a minimum of freedom to the Basque provinces.

Jose Luis Alvarez Empantua and Juan Celaya Letemendi made the comment during a news conference while visiting Idaho's Secretary of State, Pete T. Conners, as a leader of the northwestern state's Basque communities.

Alvarez said the Basque militant separatist group ETA will continue the attacks on Basque towns "that are hostile." The attacks are retaliation for the suppression of the Spanish government imposed on the Basque people.

KING HILL — The King Hill Grange will hold a potluck dinner at 7 p.m. today at the Grange Hall. Those with birthdays since last July will be honored.

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls School District Faculty and Staff will have a meeting of the school year Thursday at 7:18 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Norm Thomas, 280 Lincoln. Everyone is urged to attend.

New tax relief measure emerges from committee

BOISE (UPI) — House taxwriters gave the legislature another shot at tax relief Tuesday when Republicans forced a bill out of committee on a 9-6 party-line vote.

This bill, which should come up for a final vote of the House Thursday under normal procedure, reduces the eight-mill county school levy on property permanently to four mills. The $6.8 million lost at the local level would be made up next year out of the $9.9 million general fund surplus and thereafter from ongoing revenue.

During the past two years the legislature has lowered the mill levy, using surplus funds to replace money lost at the local level. Unless it reduces the levy again next year there will be a four-mill property tax increase.

Democrats opposed the bill on grounds the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee still is attempting to set a general fund budget and that this could be disruptive at this time.

Rep. Ralph Olms, R-Nampa, made the motion to report the bill to the floor with a favorable recommendation. He also moved to hold two alternatives in committee until the fate of this measure is known.

One of the alternatives would fund the reduction out of surplus for one more year. The other would fund it permanently out of the sales and use tax receipts.

Chairman Steve Antone, R-Rupert, suggested perhaps the one-year bill ought to accompany the "combination" bill to the floor but Olms said he felt that would lead to debating one proposal against the other.

Rep. Karl Koch, D-Hammett, opposed sending out the bill at a time when the budget committee already is having money problems. Rep. W. I. Merrill, D-Blackfoot, said the joint committee would be working on the mammoth Health and Welfare budget the next couple of days and he felt the timing of the tax relief bill was wrong.

BOISE — Abolition of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee has been advocated by Rep. Gordon Hollifield, R-Jerome.

Hollifield said in his opinion it was time to "get rid of the state Joint-Finance Appropriations Committee because they were costing the taxpayer too much money."

He said the committee seems to believe that "their job is to provide as much money as possible to various state agencies." Hollifield said the recent action by the Senate on the highway funding showed complete lack of concern for the taxpayer.

In a cooperative effort, Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, and Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairmen of the Joint-Finance Appropriations Committee were able to convince the Senate that the taxpayers should have a tax increase," Hollifield said.

The Senate last week defeated a proposal to fund the Department of Law Enforcement from the general fund, which had passed the house. Among arguments against adoption of the law enforcement measure was that if it was approved, it would mean that the public school funding bill would have to be returned to the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee for a downward revision.

Senator Barker said passage of the measure would cut into education and welfare by more than 77 per cent. Barker said he didn't think he could go back home having voted roads ahead of education.

According to Hollifield, Senator High has reversed his position and has indicated that severe reductions in the Governor's budget would be necessary to fund the high-ways $8.2 million requested by removing the funding of the division of law enforcement from the department of transportation.

"This is true and exactly what the conservative Republicans want," Hollifield said.

Hollifield added he thought Senator Barker should be aware of the fact that there was more to state government than education. "It's about time someone started looking at the increase in Health and Welfare, which is $17,832,000. Which in my opinion is unreasonable."

Rape bill passes

BOISE — Magic Valley senators were split as a revision of the Idaho statute on rape passed the Senate 27-7 Tuesday.

The bill would add sexual assault to the present rape statutes and would also provide that an offender can be convicted upon the uncorroborated testimony of the victim.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, and Sen. John Yeast, R-Rupert, voted for the measure. Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, and Sen. James Yost, R-Wendell, voted against it. Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, was absent.

The measure now goes to the House for consideration.

Gem health, safety act introduced

BOISE (UPI) — Chairman H. Deans Summers, R-Boise, of the Senate State-Affairs Committee broke a 4-4 tie Tuesday to introduce a bill to establish an Idaho Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Bill sponsor, Sen. Cy Chase, D-SI, Marley, noted that every year since he has been in the legislature there have been memorials asking Congress to "ease off" with the way the federal government treats people with regards to the federal safety and health act.

"It's ridiculous the way the feds treat the people of the state," Chase said.

Sen. Dick Smith, R-Redburg, said he felt the federal inspections were adequate and there was "no point in the state getting involved in this act."

Sen. Robert Kinghorn, D-Pocatello, said enforcement of OSHA would be "much better accepted by the people of the state if it is administered by the state."

Para-veterinarian bill given airing

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. C. L. "Butch" Otter told a score of opponents to his para-veterinarian bill Tuesday the measure would give consumers a "freedom of choice" concerning who would care for their animals.

The bill was introduced during a public hearing of the House Agricultural Affairs Committee.

The legislation gives a person who has had instruction or practiced under veterinary medicine the privilege of treating animals with the owner's permission. However, the para-veterinarian would have to notify the owner in writing that he does not possess a license.

Otter said he has "no bone to pick with veterinarians, and didn't want to shadow the profession."

H. W. Kershaw, president of the Veterinary Medical Association, said if the bill were enacted, "Idaho would be the least desirable place for veterinarians and the consumers, and economy would suffer. The proposed bill opens a whole new bag of snakes."

Bill Ewing, a small animal practitioner, called the legislation regressive and that it would take away the "bread and butter business."

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, said the bill should have been held in committee instead of "causing the expense of those licensed veterinarians that had to come to Boise to testify in a public hearing."

Reid said he doubted the measure would come out of committee since there is "no possibility" of legislation of this nature being passed at this time.

Bill sponsor, Sen. Cy Chase, D-SI, Marley, noted that every year since he has been in the legislature there have been memorials asking Congress to "ease off" with the way the federal government treats people with regards to the federal safety and health act.

"It's ridiculous the way the feds treat the people of the state," Chase said.

Sen. Dick Smith, R-Redburg, said he felt the federal inspections were adequate and there was "no point in the state getting involved in this act."

Sen. Robert Kinghorn, D-Pocatello, said enforcement of OSHA would be "much better accepted by the people of the state if it is administered by the state."

Level out your gas bill

With the heating season here, some people are paying a pretty high gas bill. So we have come up with a way to help make your gas bill more tolerable. It's called the "level pay plan". It works like this: Each month, for 11 months, you pay a fixed gas bill, based upon your estimated usage during the entire year. On the 12th month, we settle. You get a larger or a smaller bill based upon your actual usage. Our "level pay plan" can help you budget your finances since you can spread the cost of heating your home over the summer months. Call us today. It will make it easier for you to live with your gas bill. For ways to help you reduce your total gas usage, call your gas man. He will tell you about insulating tips and other good things about saving Natural Gas.

End to Gem joint finance panel proposed

Bargaining bill battle continues

BOISE (UPI) — An attempt was to be made in the Idaho Senate today to force out of the State Affairs Committee the controversial bill to allow collective bargaining for state employees.

Last week, the committee voted along party lines to hold in committee the bill, which was the subject of a four and one-half hour hearing. A solid vote of Republicans blocked the bill from advancing to the Senate floor.

"I'll try to put it out," said Sen. Robert Kinghorn, D-Pocatello, the chief sponsor of the bill.

Kinghorn served notice on the committee Monday that he would try to force the bill out. He said, however, he had reservations that he could gain the necessary votes to have the bill reported to the floor.

In legislative action Tuesday, the House, meeting itself from morning to afternoon, approved 35-34 on reconsideration a bill to require a land-owner's written consent to include his property in a land-use plan.

The bill applies both to present and future land-use plans.

At first, the House killed the proposal 32-35. Then, after lunch, it reconsidered its action and passed it by a single vote — Rep. Virgil Kraus, R-Mountain Home, changing his vote from "no" to "aye"

Checks held

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation Committee Tuesday voted to "hold" a bill to limit mandatory car safety inspections to time of sale instead of every year.

Barring a floor fight or a change of heart in committee, this bill will bury the bill for this session of the legislature.

No American currency could be more appropriately issued to honor the Bicentennial than the new $2.00 bill. This denomination is as old as America itself and as rich in heritage.

The $2.00 bill originated on June 25, 1776 when the Continental Congress authorized its issuance in the form of... bills of credit for the defense of America. During the Civil War, Congress authorized the $2.00 denomination as U.S. currency. It reappeared subsequently as over-size Notes, Silver Certificates and Treasury Notes with various portraits appearing on these different versions including Alexander Hamilton's.

Askew thinks nation's leaders lack candor

Gov. Reubin O'Donovan Askew of Florida was born in Muskogee, Okla., on Sept. 11, 1928. He is a graduate of Florida State University and of the University of Florida Law School. Between college and law school he spent two years as an Air Force officer. He began his public service career in 1954 as an assistant solicitor of Escambia County and was elected to a state representative in 1958, a state senator in 1962, and governor in 1970. As governor, Askew pushed through a massive tax reform program. Other Askew reforms include the reorganization of environmental agencies, the strengthening of election laws, enactment of a health maintenance organization law. He delivered the keynote address at the 1972 Democratic National Convention and is chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference. He is married and has two children.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Candidates for the presidential nomination of their parties, and other political leaders, were invited by Newspaper Enterprise Association to contribute articles concerning presidential character: What sort of person should be elected president on Nov. 2, 1976, and why? Following is one of these contributions.

BY REUBIN ASKEW
Faith in elections cannot be purchased with money. It cannot be preserved with empty words. The price of the faith of the people is high. They ask for honesty and vision. They ask for an abiding commitment to something more than ourselves. As we consider who we will ask to lead us in 1976, we should consider the price of faith. And we should consider as well those oft-abused words, honesty and vision. For what we need in the way of leadership in America is a willingness to pay the high price of public office. We need, too, an honesty about the bewildering problems we face as Americans. And we need vision to help us overcome those problems. I have always been an optimist. As an optimist, I cannot help but believe that the events we share in these uncertain days are not justified, even by the dreariness of recent events. And we cannot allow these fears to persist. We have lost a war. We have lost a president. We have lost our hollow dreams of a manifest destiny. Yet it is my belief that, whatever our mistakes and whatever our misfortunes, we have not yet lost the confidence, the resourcefulness and the abiding optimism that may always characterize our people. We can keep that confidence, we can employ that resourcefulness and we can nourish that optimism by ending the deep-seated suspicion our people feel toward our government and toward all our other institutions. We all know the reasons for this suspicion. We know only too well the reasons for skepticism and cynicism. But, to my mind, there is still far more reason for faith... faith in the resiliency of a people who have overcome adversity before and who, with honest and forceful and imaginative leadership, can restore prosperity and purpose to our troubled land... and begin to believe in themselves once more. But this end can only be achieved if those who lead America are more candid with themselves about the problems America faces. And we seem to lack this candor. We seem to have under-estimated our people—are people—and our afflictions. We should be candid in acknowledging that our democracy is not as democratic as it should be. We should be candid in conceding that our equality of opportunity is not very equal. We should, above all, be candid in addressing the problems of our economy. We need greater assurances in America that competition is still possible and enterprise is still free. We need a broader understanding that economic prosperity is the necessary foundation of our social and political freedom. These Americans—all parties, all phases and all persuasions—could help us decide what is working in our country, what is not working and, most important, what needs to be done if we are to at last fulfill the bright promise of our Declaration of Independence. And as the Continental Congress that adopted that Declaration, this new Alliance of Americans could foster a reappraisal of our institutions and a readjustment of our lives to fit the altered realities around us.

I do not pretend to have all the answers to our problems; I believe, though, that, together, with a common faith, we can find those answers. What troubles me most is that those who keep telling us they know all the answers do not seem to even understand the questions.

So, we continue spending ourselves into bankruptcy, squandering our resources and wasting our wealth. We continue sanctifying competition in America, even as we apparently siffle it.

And still the people do not have the housing or the health care or the employment that they need. The promise of the Declaration of Independence remains but a promise.

I firmly believe, that, if we are to finally keep that promise, we must be more concerned with what leads us in 1976; than with what leads us. More important than whose banner we carry is that that banner will last.

The future will not belong to those who cannot find hope, cannot offer hope, and instead reduce the world and all its complex problems into misleading simplicities.

The future will belong to those who are willing to pay the price of faith... those who can fashion vision and conviction and uncommon courage into an unwavering commitment to the great dreams we have always cherished as a people.

Letters

Only for entertainment

Editor, Times-News: One can always be rewarded for reading William Buckley's column. Often he assesses problems within the American setting with considerable insight and expertise. Occasionally he's so myopic that one can only read this column for the entertainment value. His column appearing in the Times-News on Jan. 22 was definitely appropriate to the latter category.

Can Buckley be so concerned with the lack of Chou's compassion that he overlooks the introduction of opium into China by Christian Westerners, especially the British. It is one of the greatest crimes in history that greedy Westerners, including Americans, exploited a human weakness to the extent that 10 per cent of the entire Chinese population became hard core opium addicts.

In that column he took to task a recent apology for Chou En-lai. According to Buckley, Chou was the Asian version of Ribbentrop and Molotov, both mechanically devoted to their leaders' policies of war, genocide and mass murder of dissidents. Such a comparison is reasonable, because Chou assisted Mao Tse-tung in the Communist Revolution in China which saw persecution of Christians and the execution of political opponents. I submit that his comparison has a twisted logic and shows such a complete ignorance of Asian politics and history that he ought to restrict his comments to domestic affairs. I am the last to argue that Communism is the good cause; it is both Godless and stifling. In China, however, a revolution of that type was probably not only inevitable but the result of a need that China is a better place today than at any other time in the last two centuries.

Both Sun Yat-sen's Revolution in 1911 and the subsequent revolution of Mao were anti-Western and anti-Christian in nature. The Chinese are historically minded—a word Chou forgot that the introduction of Western ways, including Christianity, had brought anything but misery to China. The 19th century witnessed the Taiping rebellion inspired by a Christian mystic, Hung Hsiu-Chu'uan, who thought he was the brother of Christ. When the dust settled from that uprising some 14 million people were dead.

Back to the UN's looms

GENEVA — It is a little early to take the organized measure of European reaction, but not too early to feel vibrations one would expect to feel in the United States.

What it came down to is: They always end up ahead. It appears to be something of a law of nature.

Shortly before leaving New York I dined under cosmopolitan auspices and found myself listening at dinner to an ambassador to the United States from a western power. Inevitably the subject of Moynihan arose. It is impossible to quote utterly impossible. A probe of the ambassador's position got one no further, really, than to uncover this: that Daniel Patrick Moynihan had interfered with the ambassador's courtesy. One who has no idea of diplomatic business cannot know how serious an offense this is.

Kissinger's pursuit of detente makes it difficult for him to say certain things

But that does not mean that he desires that certain things should not be said.

So what is it then? Perhaps, as some of Moynihan's detractors would say, the margin is too thin-skinned. He can take it from the PLO, and from the Russians, and from the Colonel Amnis; but not from his colleagues in the international bureaucracy, and certainly not from the embassies from the West. His decision to step down was probably motivated by a combination of exhaustion and resignation.

But the vibrations one feels are truly despondent. They seem to tell us: It always happens in one way. When last was someone conspicuously beaten down for advancing the Communist position?

The day before Moynihan resigned, Moscow unleashed a bitter denunciation of Ford and Kissinger for criticizing its actions in Angola; the typical venting in the Big Lie. And, for that reason, nearly unnoticeable in the historical rhythms of the day, no European ambassador, dining out in New York, will bother to tell you that Ambassador Malik is an impossible man. Western ambassadors are trained to accept impossible men provided they are Communists, or Third World.

I do believe that the United Nations would be more disconcerted by Ambassador Malik if he confessed to engaging in an act of colonialism in Africa than if he denied it. Nothing is more vexing than a change in the routine.

So then we will come back to the tugline. There are many Americans — one thinks of Moynihan's predecessor, John Scall — who believe everything Moynihan believes. But that is not the point. It is the point that the establishment's meat-cleavers go quickly to work to reduce our people to the post-race model.

Moynihan was too big a man, in every way, to permit the process to work on him, so he quit; and now the U.N. can get back to the business of weaving the Emperor's clothes; unobserved, tired and boring.

Appreciative

Editor, Times-News: In times of crises little things often make the difference. Last week Mrs. Anne Arrington of Twin Falls died at the age of 83. In the days immediately following her death many people lent support and sympathy to her husband, Jacob Arrington, and to her children, Mrs. Velma Cox and Mrs. Valene Crockett of Twin Falls and Mr. Melvin Arrington of Prewitt, Utah. These surviving family members have tried to personally thank all those who helped them through this period of grief. We of the Arrington family would, however, like to publicly express our appreciation to Officer Jim Milton of the Twin Falls Police Department for going beyond the call of duty in carrying out his responsibility during the funeral procession. Officer Milton was stationed at the entrance of the Twin Falls Cemetery. He stood at full attention, saluting the casket as it passed. Officer Milton's behavior touched all of those taking part and added to the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion.

We of the Arrington family want to let Officer Milton and the Twin Falls Police Department know how much we appreciate the fine manner in which they carry out their many duties and responsibilities. THE ARRINGTON FAMILY JACOB F. ARRINGTON Twin Falls

What we want from Patty

Patty Hearst has finally spoken about her life as the nation's best known revolutionary.

The frail 20-year-old girl, on the witness stand in her own behalf, has renounced any connection with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

With her parents sitting in the front row of the courtroom gallery and with the best criminal lawyer money can buy as her counsel, Patty has begun the long road back from world's most celebrated radical to world's most all-American girl.

Patty says her days with the SLA were full of death threats, sexual assaults and forced statements in support of the militant band. Never did she renounce her parents, her upbringing or her past unless a threat was made upon her life. That's Tania's story in the courtroom.

After Patty's spectacular renunciation of the SLA, the only surviving members of the revolutionary band, Bill and Emily Harris, have denounced her statements as lies. The Harris remember the Tania of old and say that the heir to the Hearst newspaper fortune freely embraced the SLA after her capture and was never abused or forced to cooperate.

The truth in the Patty Hearst case will be difficult to find. Clearly, Tania's actions while on the lam with the SLA don't suggest a frightened fugitive.

She took part in a bank robbery, she sprayed a sporting goods store with machine gun fire and she repeatedly made public announcements denouncing the fascist pigs.

But in federal district court, with her future at stake and the SLA destroyed, the shadow of Tania has slipped away and Patty Hearst returns as the little rich girl from Hillsborough.

Patty's claim that she never was a willing partner with the SLA is just what America wants to hear. Her months of hiding her statements against her family, her support for a futile revolutionary cause all seemed wrong to the American public.

Now, from the confines of the American legal system, Patty is telling us that we were right all along. She isn't a criminal, just a mixed-up kidnap victim.

That's what we all would like to believe even if the real truth in the Patty Hearst case is somewhat different.

More than anything else, Patty's trial has become a metaphor for Americans who believe the ultra-radical fringe elements in society ultimately will lose out to the reasoned, moderate political statements.

House intelligence panel draws list of ways to prevent abuses

REP. OTIS PIKE
... report ready

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House intelligence committee has folded its tent, leaving behind an unpublished report on "atrocious and horrendous things" done by the CIA and FBI and a stack of recommendations on how to prevent illegal activities and abuses.

"These proceedings are closed," said chairman Rep. Otis Pike in ending the committee's work Tuesday.

He gave members until today to forward any final minority observations they might have on a package of approved recommendations and said it all would be sent to the full House for action soon.

The 13-member panel's mandate expires tonight at midnight, leaving only the Senate intelligence committee in business until it also runs out of time at the end of the month.

Both committees have proposed permanent House and Senate oversight panels. With the filing of the House committee's recommendations, the way was opened for a decision by Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., on what to do with its controversial 339-page report the fruit of a year's investigations.

The House voted Jan. 30 to ban publication until President Ford had a chance to delete material he thought might harm intelligence activities.

Pike said the document contains "atrocious and horrendous things" which should be made public and "not swept under the rug."

He refused to submit it to censorship. Instead he sent the 2,000 printed copies to the Clerk of the House who locked them up pending further action.

Republican leaders to go over the report with an official of the executive branch to decide what could be printed.

Pike still hopes the full report can be published. "I don't like the concept that American society is so weak the facts can't be made known," he said. "America will only end up the weaker."

"I hope the report is published but I will not have a report that is censored."

The committee's recommendation package, approved by a vote of 9-1 Tuesday, included establishment of a permanent House oversight panel with extensive powers to control covert actions, budgets, and criminal prosecution of intelligence agents among other things.

"It also recommended" the CIA, FBI and other intelligence groups be prohibited by law from using in any way institutions or personnel of the media, education or religions, and that the Defense Intelligence Agency be abolished.

There were suggestions Albert might propose a committee including himself and Democratic and

Ford threatens works bill veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House says President Ford will veto a public works projects bill designed to create 600,000 jobs. But the House wants to send him more legislation to provide additional jobs for the unemployed.

A veto within a few days was promised by the White House for legislation providing $6.2 billion for projects such as construction of municipal buildings and sidewalks, and aid to present state and local governments from laying off another 100,000 employees.

Undaunted, the House voted 239 to 154 Tuesday to expand the public service job program from 220,000 persons to 600,000 and continue it through the next fiscal year.

At present, the federal government pays state and local governments to hire workers they could not otherwise afford.

The 280,000 jobs which backers say the new bill would create would be mostly outside government — in nonprofit community groups, colleges and Indian tribes. The jobs would involve projects such as neighborhood cleanup, planting trees, making bicycle paths, fixing up public housing or painting classrooms.

The White House did not say immediately what Ford thinks of the new bill, but many House Republicans fought it.

Ford has announced plans to phase out the public service job program during 1977. The administration says public works and public service programs do not provide lasting jobs and are not a long-range solution to the problem of unemployment.

Snowplows save 30 from trapped bus

SILVERTON, Colo. (UPI) — Snowplows, chugging through shoulder-deep snow Tuesday to rescue 30 persons trapped in a bus overturned by an avalanche that pushed the vehicle near the edge of an 11,000-foot mountain pass.

Authorities said one person was injured. Joseph Lovato, who had a history of heart problems and diabetes, suffered a seizure and was in satisfactory condition at Mercy Clinic in Durango.

The Continental Trailways bus carrying 12 passengers was hit by an avalanche and pushed to the edge of the road Monday afternoon. The slide also pushed a school bus filled with hard-rock miners from the Ouray Mining Co. of Ouray, Colo., over the edge of the highway and into a gully.

"We smashed windows to get out of the bus and were out walking around and just got back inside when a slide knocked the front of the bus four feet to the edge of the mountain side," Continental driver Richard Robbins said. Robbins said he and other passengers dug through deep snowdrifts to reach the miners and two other persons whose car was buried by the slide. Four men, two Forest Service Employees and two of the miners, walked seven miles to Silverton for help and the other persons spent the night in the bus.

JFK death report out

© Chicago Sun-Times

WASHINGTON — A physician who has studied the John F. Kennedy assassination closely for a decade says he has been able to demonstrate conclusively that only two bullets — both from the rifle fired by Lee Harvey Oswald — were responsible for the President's death in Dallas in 1963.

A detailed report on experiments that prove this contention, according to Dr. John K. Lattimer of New York City, is published in the latest issue of the Journal, Surgery, Gynecology & Obstetrics. The experiments were carried out last spring by Lattimer and his two sons, John, 24, a medical student and Cory, 22.

Interviewed by telephone, Lattimer said Kennedy's death can be accounted for satisfactorily by two bullets coming from the rear and above — and that there is no reason for a third shot from the front — or the front-oblique direction.

"The fact that Kennedy's head was propelled forward backward in the instant of the second bullet's impact is a point raised repeatedly by adherents to a "two-gun" theory of the assassination."

Bob battles phone company

SEATTLE (UPI) — An attorney for actor Robert Cummings says the state supreme court will be asked to block Cummings' trial on charges of using an electronic device to cheat the telephone company out of long distance tolls.

Attorney Harry Wilson already has argued unsuccessfully that the charges should be dismissed because Cummings was charged both in district court and superior court.

Police said Cummings was using a "blue box" to duplicate tones used by the phone company's long distance computer system to make free calls.

The company estimated Cummings had placed more than $4,500 worth of calls between Oct. 9 and Dec. 16, the day he was arrested.

O'Neal on probation

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Ryan O'Neal, charged with possession of marijuana, has asked to be placed in a probation program.

O'Neal and his lawyer appeared Monday before a municipal court commissioner to make the request. Court records showed today, if accepted, O'Neal would not be prosecuted if he successfully completed a six-month program of classes and counseling.

The charge would be dismissed and only the arrest would remain on his criminal record.

O'Neal was arrested Jan. 7 by police who searched his home and said they found five ounces of marijuana.

Brando declines

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Marlon Brando turned down the NAACP's humanitarian award, saying only a black person can understand black suffering.

It was to have been presented to Brando at the association's Image Awards banquet Saturday. Leaders of the group said he sent a telegram "respectfully declining this honor."

"I don't think there is a white man who can know what that black experience is," Brando said. "Only those who have suffered the social inequities so brutally enforced have the credentials of pain to speak of that experience, and they are the only ones who rightly deserve the honors for having sustained it."

Weed may cancel

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Steven Weed, Patricia Hearst's kidnaper when she was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army, threatened to cancel a scheduled appearance on the Merv Griffin show Tuesday if reporters were present.

Weed was scheduled for taping of an interview concerning his book about Miss Hearst's kidnapping.

He apparently discovered reporters had been told of the interview. Spokesmen for Griffin said Weed warned he would quit camera if reporters were present.

None showed up and Weed appeared as scheduled.

Ex-governor jailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana must serve four months in prison for being the middle man in a $54,000 illegal contribution to Richard Nixon's 1972 campaign, according to a U.S. Court of Appeals.

Babcock pleaded guilty to receiving the money from Armand Hammer, the president of Occidental Petroleum Corp., and delivering it to Nixon's reelection campaign committee in his own name and that of four other officials of Occidental International Corp.

Babcock was a businessman in Helena, Mont., at the time Occidental's Washington executive vice president.

Hammer donated a total of $100,000 to the Nixon campaign.

Loot stashed

WESTWEGO, La. (UPI) — Three young burglars, looking for the perfect place to stash their loot, decided to hide it in a town police said.

The merchandise — worth about $400, including a tape deck, calculators, clock radios and change were recovered by detectives from a tomb at Westwego Cemetery.

Police said the apprehension of the three youths cleared up nine house burglaries and those at a nearby school. The suspects' names were withheld because of their ages.

Boxcar ride ends in Pocatello

POCATELLO (UPI) — A Los Angeles man took a snooze in a railroad boxcar at Las Vegas and wound up in Pocatello nearly frozen.

Max William King Jr., 31, told police he hopped a freight in Los Angeles, hoping to reach Tucson, Ariz. He said he got off in Las Vegas and, on Sunday, got into a boxcar to take a nap.

While he slept somebody closed and locked the door, trapping him inside. From there, King said, he went to Salt Lake City where the train stopped overnight. Crews for help apparently went unheeded.

About 2 a.m. Tuesday, the train pulled into Pocatello. A Union Pacific employee walking alongside the train just after it pulled into the yards when he heard King scream. He found the man in the locked boxcar and summoned both police and an ambulance.

King was taken to a hospital for treatment of extreme exposure.

The train on which he was found was bound for Portland.

Policewoman files discrimination suit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Police Commissioner Joseph O'Neill says God did not give Penelope Grace the muscles to be a good beat cop — but she is using her legal muscle to challenge his claim.

Mrs. Grace, 34, a 10-year policewoman, says she decided to file her sex discrimination suit against the police department when she was denied an opportunity to take the test for detective and corporal.

The case is being heard in federal court.

Her suit, and another brought by the Justice Department, charge the city with a "pattern of discrimination" against women in its police hiring and promotion policies.

The city contends women are not able physically to perform the same duties as men and that suits the discrimination exists.

O'Neill has said in a sworn statement that women cannot hold jobs traditionally held by men "because God, in his wisdom, made them different."

Mrs. Grace said that right after she filed her suit she was fired and placed under surveillance. She later was rehired.

She said that when she was tested for a police job in 1965 she had to undergo an oral interview which was not required of male applicants.

During that interview, she testified, she was asked whether she had a "steady boyfriend and did I live with my mother."

Before testimony got under way in the nonjury trial, Justice Department attorney Sarah Cameron told U.S. District Judge Charles Weiner that women are performing satisfactory patrol work in such cities as "Detroit," San Francisco and Chicago.

Found dead

JENNIE Riemel, 25, Boston, was found murdered Tuesday in her South End Apartment by her 11-year-old son, Robert. Tanya performed as a stripper in a club located in Boston's "combat zone," the city's officially designated adult entertainment area. She was featured Feb. 8 in a Boston Globe feature article. (UPI)

Fanne Foxe says act 'cleaned up'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Fanne Foxe has cleaned up her act, so to speak, and those gathered to see what Wilbur Mills saw in her ended up seeing very little after all.

"I don't strip any more," said Mills Foxe, whose real name is Annabel Ballietella and who was a factor in the decline and fall of once powerful Wilbur Mills from his position as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

She opened a six-night stand in a local club Tuesday in the heart of Wilbur Mills country. Her act consisted of some light comedy, some dancing with a couple of male dancers who traveled with her, the singing of a few Broadway show tunes and no music and grind at all.

The audience — less than the predicted capacity — was polite and the few plainclothes detectives on hand just in case didn't have anything to do.

"Stacey Tamplin," said a fellow at the bar, downing his drink and exclaiming:

Heyburn benefit planned

HEYBURN — The Heyburn Lions will hold their third annual oriental dinner Saturday at West Minico Junior High School.

Proceeds of the dinner will go to pay off the balance on a concrete bill for construction of the track at West Minico. Funds derived from the previous two oriental dinners also went toward improvements at the junior high school.

The first dinner, in 1974, went to the purchase of three sets of bleachers for the school. Last year's proceeds were used in construction of the track, which was laid out and begun in July.

The track required 60 yards of concrete and the total project cost was $7,500. The Lions Club has paid $4,000, another $2,000 came from Minidoka County School District and West Minico Junior High Student Body donated $750.

The Lions Club still has $750 to pay on the concrete bill. Charles Clark engineered the project and the Lions hired operators for Project Mutual Telephone Co-op's trenchers. Other labor was donated by the Lions Club members and their families.

Jim Brown was chairman of the project and Bo Isaak co-chairman.

Saturday's dinner will be from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the West Minico Luncheon. Donations are $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for students and 75 cents for those under six years old.

The oriental dinner is strictly a home-cooked meal. Lions and their wives held a Chinese noodle-making session in the West Minico kitchen for the dinner, under the direction of general chairman Sam Ogawa and his wife, Mary. Others working on the noodles included Isaak and his wife, Vicki; Bennett and Ruby; Daniels; Sunny; Smith; Lloyd; and Roberts; Bartlett; Marsha Woods and Doris Bolt.

Committee chairmen for the dinner include Mary Ogawa on Chow Mein.

Special wrap

HOW do you wrap an eight-foot antenna for mailing? Detective Jim Kistler thinks he found the answer, but fellow officers are not so sure. They say he used $5 worth of black photo tape and 3 cents worth of cardboard. The stolen antenna was wrapped for return to the owner in California and did present something of a problem, Kistler says. He declined to pose with his work of art.

Position may be created at Burley

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer
BURLEY — Burley High School may get a vice-principal.

The Cassia County School Board is considering a proposal made by Trustee Paul Brown for the third straight year.

The board approved rehiring principals for the schools in the district Monday night. It left that position open at Malta and will discuss Brown's proposal later.

Dr. Brown pointed out that the school had 725 students. He said student activities are "really hurting" at Burley High, with not many more than four clubs on campus, while Minico High School has numerous organizations. Brown said the Burley curriculum also "keeps getting squeezed down."

Principal Tom Gruwell had said earlier that Burley is the only high school its size in the state without an assistant principal and an athletic director.

Brown suggested that the new man also handle duties of athletic director. Superintendent of Schools Harold Blauer agreed and said the two jobs could be combined, but the actual duties should be left to Gruwell's designation.

Chairman Dan Crane proposed that the district advertise for salvage bids on Miller School. He said the queries indicated the land would be worth as much without the building.

Filer school meets slated

FILER — Needs assessment meetings for Filer district school teachers will be held Friday at the high school. There will be no school in the afternoon and buses will leave the school at 12:55 p.m.

The needs assessment program will hold public meetings Feb. 17 in the high school and Feb. 19 at the elementary school, both meetings starting at 8 p.m. Filer schools will be closed Feb. 16 for Washington's birthday.

Crane said the likely use would be residential, since the area is zoned that way and the location has little commercial potential.

The board approved an application for the district's allotment of $6,200 in Title IV funds to be used for library materials.

Trustee Gerald Frost commented that he opposes (retreat) funding and feels the district should gradually get away from them. He said he can "also see what would happen if we cut ourselves off of these funds," and would support the Title IV application.

John Adams said the district level was not the place to take a stand against funding. He said that should be done in Washington.

The board approved tuition for two students Cassia County Magistrate Judge George Granata sent to the Idaho Youth Ranch.

It also directed the administration to check into the reduction in fire rates if the fire alarms at Mountain View Elementary and Burley Junior High were hooked up directly to the fire station.

The PTA Council textbook committee delayed its request for parent input into textbook selection. The board also put off designating dates for meetings in Malta and Oakley.

It did not pick up the suggestion of Gary Turner, president of the Cassia County Education Association, that teacher negotiation sessions be held during school hours and the district and association share the cost of substitute teachers for the negotiators.

Blauer suggested the association make the proposal an item for negotiation and said negotiations this year should be in the evening.

Blauer presented to the board a list of starting and top salaries for teachers throughout the state.

UNIT PRICING CAN SAVE YOU MONEY!!

Economists say that you can save at least 3 percent on your annual food bill just by reading the unit prices. Over a year, 3 or 4 percent really adds up. That's why we introduced unit pricing more than a year ago to provide valuable information for budget conscious shoppers.

Unit pricing won't tell which brands you should prefer for quality and taste, but it does give you a standard for comparing prices.

The unit price compares the price of different sizes and/or different brands of similar items at a glance. Here are two examples of our unit value price stickers which you might find with two different cans of pears: In example one, the price of pears is 41 cents-per-pound, while in example two, the price of pears is 35.7 cents-per-pound.

At Smith's, the unit price measure is given in different ways: 1) by ounce, pound or quart for most grocery items and frozen foods; 2) by actual count for paper-towels or napkins; 3) by square inches or feet for foil, waxed paper, etc.

Shop with us or the next few weeks and pay particularly close attention to unit prices. After a week or two, check and see just how much you've saved — I think you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Hagerman cancels science fair

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman High School will not have a science fair this spring, but officials hope to have some other type of public display to replace it.

Supt. Ken Black told trustees Monday night both public interest and student participation in the science fair has dwindled in recent years. He said he plans to work with teachers to come up with another type of display, perhaps including vocational classes.

Trustees approved a field trip to the Idaho historical museum and the state capitol in Boise for fourth and fifth graders and a visit to the legislature Friday for eighth graders.

The board authorized use of the home economics room for adult sewing classes taught by Faye Tupper, Hagerman.

Registration set March 1

HOLLISTER — Registration for Hollister School kindergarten will be held March 1 at the school, according to Mrs. Ralph Schell, instructor. The sessions will be held Mar. 1 through May 28. Children who will be six years of age by Oct. 31, are eligible. Parents must provide proof of the child's age with a birth certificate or baptismal certificate when children are registered.

Sessions will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Children may ride the school bus in the morning but will need to be called for by parents at noon.

Pupils listed at Valley

VALLEY SCHOOLS — The second nine weeks honor roll was announced this week by Valley High School principal Craig Hall.

Those maintaining a straight A average were: seniors — Suzie Bodenhamer, Nancy Bruns, Karen Christopheron, Laura Fitzpatrick, Kim McDonald, Garth Miller, Bob Pangburn, Dan Ritchie, Stacy Smead, and John Stewart.

Students plant tree at Wendell

WENDELL — The Wendell High School sophomore class planted a tree near the new physical education building as a memorial to Michelle Humber, who was killed last year in a horse accident.

Recognition for the tree planting was one of several proposed student projects approved Monday night at the school trustee meeting.

The Future Homemakers of America were given permission to auction a quilt and cakes at a basketball game and the Junior class will sell garden seeds, first aid kits and pencils to raise money for class projects.

Judy Christopheron, PTA president, presented a survey to the board taken by PTA members to determine the number of pre-school children in the district. The survey is part of the needs assessment program. Wendell has had kindergarten classes for several years.

Trustees discussed the curriculum needs study prepared for both elementary and secondary schools by committees of patrons, teachers and the school principal.

The board granted permission for math teachers in the district to attend a conference at Boise State University March 26-27, but denied a request for junior high students to hold evening dances.

Jim Smallwood, of Thompson and Kolbo, Architectural firm, Boise, discussed final work on the new p. e. building with trustees.

He'll be in Twin Falls for a bit of birthday hoopla — in his colonial attire — and visiting Twin Falls Merchants. George will be giving souvenir American flags to customers visiting Twin Falls this week.

Mortician reveals casket 'markup'

BUHL — The average price "markup" on burial caskets is "two and a half times," a Buhl mortician told Chamber of Commerce members here at this weekly Monday noon luncheon.

George Farmer, owner of Dickard Funeral Chapel, said, "You may think this is a big markup but it is the only part of a funeral where the director can make a profit."

He said the actual cost of conducting funerals at his firm is $525. This figure was arrived at by dividing his yearly operational expenses — by the number of funerals conducted each year.

Farmer said his prices start at $615, but that families having no financial resources are always "taken care of." Social Security benefits provide $255 for funeral expenses, he said.

The speaker said the Federal Trade Commission has recently investigated the mortuary business nationwide and is proposing several rules "which are still being discussed."

He said morticians now have to give their customers a "written list" of services and costs.

This love cracked up

TWIN FALLS — Love may not be all it is reputed to be.

Divorce granted in Twin Falls included a legal action in which Robert Michael Love sued Pamela Gail Love for divorce.

Judge Daniel Meek granted the divorce on grounds of irreconcilable differences between Mr. and Mrs. Love.

Burley substation subject of meeting

BURLEY — A public meeting will be held Tuesday on construction of electrical facilities for the proposed West Burley substation.

The meeting will be conducted by Bonneville Power Administration's staff in the Minidoka room of the Ramada Inn. It will cover a draft facility location supplement to BPA's environmental statement on its 1977 construction program.

The change involves constructing about seven miles of 138 kilovolt transmission line between the planned West Burley substation and BPA's Unity substation.

Alternative line locations will be presented for the proposed facility and comments taken from the public regarding environmental impact.

Written comments may be made to BPA until Feb. 20 for inclusion in the final environmental supplement.

The transmission line is to be constructed on a single pole agreement through a joint agreement between Burley and Unity Light and Power Co. Also covered in Tuesday's hearing will be temporary installations of a transformer at the West Burley site by this fall and permanent installation there of a larger transformer which will be owned by Burley and Unity Light.

According to BPA, rapid growth of electrical loads in the Burley-Unity service areas are expected to cause an overload by next January.

Burley and Unity Light have developed a joint project for construction of the West Burley substation this year.

BPA is to provide a temporary transformer under an interim lease agreement until the larger Burley-Unity transformer can be installed by the fall of 1979.

BPA estimates that the $138 kilovolt facilities will be required by that time to prevent further electrical overloads.

Burglaries under investigation

IN THE VILLAGE located near Tecpan, Guatemala, on the road to Guatemala City, water is very scarce. What is available is carefully rationed. A line of women with various types of utensils wait their turn for a few scoops. Food and water are available but scarce in most of the devastated areas. (UPI)

TWIN FALLS — Several burglaries of automobiles and two motel break-ins were under investigation by Twin Falls police Tuesday.

Richard Jones, Portland, Ore., told police someone broke into his parked automobile while he was dining in a Twin Falls restaurant Sunday night and stole his purebred Afghan dog. He said the dog, a light cream colored purebred animal with long hair, was valued at $500. He said he locked the vehicle and it was unlocked with a door slightly ajar when he returned to the parking lot.

Dan Eslinger said his car was broken into and a citizen band radio and an eight-track tape player and some tapes taken. The vehicle was parked at 525 Madison St. when burglarized. He estimated loss at $416.

S. Kelly Hill, Twin Falls, said his vehicle was entered at the Twin Falls High School parking lot and a stereo player taken.

William Ralph told police someone broke into the office area of the Western Motel on Kimberly Road, took $25 from the cash box and then entered, an adjoining apartment where $400 in cash was taken.

About $300 in tools disappeared from the rear room of the Sunshine Laundromat on Addison Avenue East. Sylvia Houk said the tools were in a metal box and the thieves took the box and tools.

Ray Seafie reported the theft of an eight-track stereo player from his car while it was parked in the 100 block of Fourth Street East. A 10-year-old juvenile was arrested by city police and charged with the theft.

service news

TWIN FALLS — Airman Terry J. Freeland, daughter of Mrs. Gloria L. King, Twin Falls, has graduated at Keeler AFB, Miss., from the U.S. Air Force airborne radar repairman course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The 27-year-old qualified to operate and maintain aircraft early warning radar units and related test equipment, is being assigned to Bergstrom AFB, Tex., for duty with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Airman Freeland is a 1973 graduate of Twin Falls High School and attended the College of Southern Idaho. Her father, Martin D.L. King, lives in Kimberly.

326 2nd Ave. E., Twin Falls, 753-3312

Trophy presented

TWIN FALLS—Annette Jenkins won the traveling trophy for best performance at the Twin Falls Toastmasters Club meeting on Friday.

She gave the education lesson on how to give a speech in a speech contest. Veronica Detweiler also gave an education lesson.

Table topics were led by Louise Konantz who presented the red pencil for best impromptu speech to Marjorie Hartley.

The invocation was given by Eddie McFarland and the welcome by Virginia Bitzenburg. The business meeting was conducted by president Frances Hesselholt. Miss Bitzenburg was grammarian and Shirley Murrell was general evaluator.

A speech contest will be held Feb. 20 at the Owl Inn.

Violet order eyed

TWIN FALLS—Members of the Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club have voted to order rooted cuttings of the new African violet varieties for the coming year's project.

The club met Monday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Duggan. Mrs. Duggan presented a program on hanging baskets and distributed the new yearbooks.

Roll call was answered with "Thoughts on Centennial Remembrances."

Mrs. Duffert Tortan received a small plant from the business and valentines were exchanged by members.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 8.

BPW meets in TF

TWIN FALLS—Magic Valley Business and Professional Women met Monday at the Colonial House.

Linda Clark, state BPW young careerist for 1974, was guest speaker. She spoke on setting goals and the methods of achieving the goals for America's young women.

This young career woman's speaker will be March 22. Any young woman interested in participating should contact Beverly Whithead, 734-2448.

The next meeting will be Feb. 23 at the Colonial House.

Clinics planned Saturday in TF

TWIN FALLS—Blood pressure screening clinics are scheduled for Saturday at K mart and Feb. 21 at the Lywood Shopping Center.

The clinics will be free and hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Volunteer nurses are manning a trailer donated by Gateway Trailer Center for the clinics.

A clinic was conducted Saturday in front of the ID Store and according to Gary Whitwell, about 150 people had their blood pressure checked. He termed the clinic "very successful."

A few persons were found with high blood pressure, who hadn't been aware of their condition, Whit well said. He said those persons were referred to a doctor.

Whitwell said the clinics are free and urged everyone to have their blood pressure checked. He said high blood pressure is a major cause of strokes and heart attacks.

Idaho exams challenged

BOISE (UPI) — A former New York State attorney has filed suit in Federal District Court questioning the constitutionality of procedures used to test individuals who want to practice law in Idaho.

William R. Burt of Deer Creek Ranch, Hailey, is seeking an injunction to prevent the Idaho Supreme Court, state bar association commissioners and officers from administering the bar exams under the regulations now in force.

Burt, 61, is a native of Philadelphia, N. J., who was graduated from Columbia University School of Law in 1947 and is a member in good standing before the New York State Bar and the Bar of the United States Supreme Court.

After moving to Idaho, he took the bar exam Aug. 8, 1972, at age 58 to open practice in Idaho. His score of 60.2 was below the 70 score required for a passing mark on the exam which was passed by only 28 of the 86 candidates that year.

He took the exam again in February 1975 and again failed it. Burt contends the Idaho statute governing the bar examinations violates the civil and constitutional rights of an older applicant for admission who is an attorney of long standing in another state.

He also contends the proceedings of the Idaho State Bar regarding admissions are implemented in furtherance of a price fixing scheme in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

In addition to an injunction to prevent administering the exam under the bar association's present regulations, Burt is asking the court to convene a three judge district court to review the suit.

He filed the suit against the justices of the Idaho Supreme Court because they approve the qualifications and requirements for admission to the practice of law in Idaho, the bar association officers and its commissioners.

In a brief filed Monday, Burt contended the examination and regulations for practice in Idaho are unconstitutional because they violate the requirements that each state gives full faith and credit to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of other states.

He said they place undue burden and restraint on the free flow of interstate commerce among states, deprive individuals of property without due process by denying an individual the right to engage in the profession for which he is qualified, and unnecessarily restricts and burdens a qualified, experienced attorney from moving to Idaho to practice law.

Burt also asked the court to set aside the results of the August 1972 examination and direct certification of applicants who achieved 50 per cent scores on the test.

He asked the court to direct, the bar association to admit to practice applicants who have practiced law in another state for a minimum of five years. They would be admitted on a motion from one member of the bar in good standing.

15th annual jamboree

WESLEY Stewart, left, and Cliff Hank, right, were star performers at the 15th annual Country Music Jamboree in Twin Falls Tuesday night. Playing with "The Last Resort," the two musicians were part of a three-hour show held at the new Seal Center. At right yodeling Buzz Goertzen sings a specially-composed song for the jamboree which outlined the singer's struggle to find an old yodeling song for the show which was built around the theme, "200 Years of Country." A sellout crowd of more than 1000 people cheered the show and an estimated 100 people were turned away at the door because of the sellout. (Photos by Chris Peck)

New TF school program starts

By LINDA LEE Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — "Something good is happening at school!" is a new program started in Twin Falls schools this week.

With the Twin Falls Education Association, reported Tuesday night at the board meeting that the new program is now in effect.

Phil East, president of the TFEA, requested that the board help the teacher organization finance a new system for letting parents know when their children are making significant progress in the classroom.

East suggested that a teacher select a pupil a week who had done well in school and send one of the cards home to the parents, which says "Something good is happening at school!"

There is room on the card for the teacher to describe the particular progress that had been made.

Supt. George Staudacher said the cards had been printed and passed out to the principals. He said the teachers could get them from the principals when they wanted to start using them.

Other board business Tuesday night included a decision by the trustees to purchase a new planer for the woodshop at the high school. The planer will cost $9,000.

John Moore, assistant purchasing agent for the Twin Falls School District, told the board that the new machine had a life expectancy of 20 years. He said it would replace a 25-year-old machine that no longer served the woodshop adequately.

Board member Richard Ryall, cautioned Moore to get assurance from the dealer that the new planer would meet all Occupational Safety and Health Act standards.

Several trustees questioned the rising cost-of-bills for the school district. Ruth Day expressed concern over the $1,577 bill for last month's kindergarten snacks. She suggested that if the kindergarten children were not eating their cookies the district should not buy so many.

Trustees also expressed concern about the high cost of copy machine use in the schools.

Dennis Messenger, Affirmative Action director for the district, presented the board with a grievance procedure for any student or school employee who felt they had been discriminated against to approve.

Messenger also presented an employe hiring policy which is in keeping with civil rights anti-discrimination law for the board to approve.

Both policies were approved by the board.

Staudacher reported that the high school has been fully approved by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges. He said the school was commended for an excellent report with no deviations from standards.

In an executive board session, the trustees employed the teaching staff for next year.

Budget meet draws only mild interest

TWIN FALLS — Hearings on the proposed 1976 Twin Falls County budget will continue through Friday, but only mild interest has been shown so far in the $10.3 million spending plan.

County Commission Chairman Merl E. Leonard said only three persons attended a special hearing session Monday where department heads outlined their spending proposals and answered questions. Leonard said those attending did not protest any of the department budgets, but did ask questions about the bond issue, county fair and parks and recreation proposals.

No one appeared to comment on the budget at Tuesday's hearing, but county officials said they will keep the hearing open to give everyone an opportunity to discuss expenditures. The commission opens to open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

This year's spending plan shows a 7.6 per cent increase over last year's $9.6 million budget. Leonard said he interprets the sparse turnout by taxpayers to mean the public is generally in agreement with the spending program.

"We have attempted to hold the line on spending and to purchase only the equipment each department genuinely needs. County employes were each given a $50 per month raise, which accounts for most of the cost-of-living increase in our budget," Leonard said.

He said some parts of the budget were cut by sizeable amounts, including the revaluator work in the county assessor's office. The first five-year revaluation has now been completed. Assessor Ronald Taylor feels the work can continue with only office staff directing the work. He said this will save about $22,000.

The county poor fund, airport and the public defender divisions of the budget have also been reduced, Leonard said. The public defender budget was cut when a better bid was received and by efforts on the part of the courts to have those using the free legal services pay back some of the costs to the county. Election costs dropped by completion of the payment contract for voting machines.

Valley educators discuss collective bargaining laws

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Don Kuehn, Kansas City, Mo., representative of the American Federation of Teachers, was in Twin Falls Tuesday to discuss collective bargaining legislation with area educators.

Kuehn said he was asked by the Idaho Federation of Teachers to assist in getting collective bargaining legislation now before Idaho lawmakers into a form more favorable to teachers.

Kuehn said it is unknown at this time if the present bill, which would allow collective bargaining by public employes, will even get to the floor for a vote. But he said the American Federation of Teachers and other public employe groups will continue to press for such legislation until it is provided.

He said there is only one revision the teachers are urging in the present bill. This is a provision that principals and vice principals be included in the teacher group.

"Certainly they should have collective bargaining rights, too, but they constitute administration rather than teacher level and should have their own separate programs," Kuehn said.

Kuehn met with individual teacher groups in Twin Falls Tuesday to answer questions regarding collective bargaining, and to explain to teachers the importance of some bargaining rights.

He said there are only 13 states left without such rights for public workers. Idaho is one of the 13.

"Many legislators and citizens object to giving public employes a right to strike. They do not like it if collective bargaining is backed up with a right to strike, that prevents strikes. Unless there is a prescribed method by which both sides can negotiate their differences, an impasse can continue for months," he said.

"This gives both sides a cooling period of negotiation which in nearly all cases eliminates any strike action," Kuehn said.

He told teachers that the federal labor relations act has protected the rights of other workers since 1934, but public employes and teachers have no such protection.

today in brief

Murtaugh sets term start Aug. 23
MURTAUGH — Murtaugh schools will start the 1976-77 term Aug. 23, trustees decided here Monday night. The board members also discussed holding an annual spring vacation but no decision was reached.

Hansen seeks water system funds
TWIN FALLS — An application for federal funding to further expand the Hansen City water system will be submitted. City Council members voted Monday night to submit the project to the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for "pre-application" approval. If approved, the project would be eligible for 100 per cent federal funding. Gary Marshall, J-U-B Engineers representative, said the project would involve expanding water supplies for the city because of recent and anticipated growth. No cost estimates for expansion of the water system have been made.

A discussion was held on the city's dog licensing program. Council members said there are many dogs in Hansen but few are licensed. No action was taken.

Council members approved retaining J-U-B Engineers to handle city engineering matters during 1976. They also voted to retain Robert Perkins as city police chief and Vernon Hoopes as city maintenance foreman. Perkins was given approval to attend a police academy session for Idaho peace officers at Pocatello Mar. 8.

GF burglary probed
GLENN'S FERRY — The Cooperative Oil store here was burglarized Monday night. The burglars knocked a hole through the door of the firm to gain entry. An undetermined amount of cash and some cartons of cigarettes were taken. The Glenns Ferry City Police and Elmore County Deputy Sheriff George Taylor investigated.

Juveniles face charges
BURLY — Juvenile petitions were expected to be filed today on two Burlay boys suspected of involvement in a January burglary. The petitions were expected to be filed with the prosecuting attorney's office. A 14-year-old is charged with second degree burglary, a 15-year-old as an accessory.

The two boys were arrested last week and later released to their parents. The charges stem from a break-in at a house on Malta Avenue about 1:45 p.m. on Jan. 27. A stereo tape deck taken at the time has been recovered, Burlay police say.

Gooding approves budget
GOODING — Gooding County commissioners approved the 1976 budget of $1.48 million with no public protests Monday.

Margaret Clements, county clerk, said city officials and all county department heads met with commissioners for the budget hearing, but no changes were made from the tentative figures released last month. The new budget is up 14 per cent over 1975.

Mayor Don Morrow, City Clerk George Silva and Councilman Bob Mathews requested financial aid from the county for recreation and to help pay for closing the city dump. Commissioners have set aside $1,000 from revenue sharing money, the clerk said, for the city of Gooding for recreation and have agreed to help all four cities in the county pay for closing the dump.

A separate levy is made to cover the operation of the Gooding airport. The city officials have requested $200 for this. Mrs. Clements said levies are not set until September. Last year the county levied .0075 for this purpose.

Kimberly to ask teacher input on priority views

KIMBERLY — Kimberly school officials will meet informally with teachers here next week to "see what they feel are priorities" before contract negotiations begin.

Supt. Vernon Exner said a committee of teachers has been named to work with administrators in salary negotiations, but there is "some divided opinion" as to what is most important.

"I've heard some of our teachers say they feel fringe benefits are perhaps more important than anything else," Exner said. He said board members spent most of the monthly meeting Monday night discussing items they would like to include in next year's budget and working on the new policy manual.

Among items under discussion for inclusion in the budget are: the possibility of purchasing a new bus, installing new roof on the ag shop and fencing around the football field.

"Now we have to start setting priorities," Exner said. The superintendent reported the Kimberly school has been fully accredited. Trustees rehired James Murgo as administrative assistant and the board worked out an agreement with Merrill-Glenn to farm-school-owned property another year.

The property about seven acres located across the road from the elementary school, was purchased by the district last summer for use in future building. But, Exner said, since "we don't have money to build on it yet, Glenn will farm it another year."

Trustees decided to either rent or lease a mini-bus or station wagon to transport small groups of students to special out-of-town events for the remainder of this year, and hopefully to either purchase or lease one next year.

Exner said insurance agents have said this is much more satisfactory for insurance coverage than having parents use private cars.

He reported the remodeling project in the junior-high-school-science-lab is about completed. New work tables, drains and burners have been installed.

German-type spa eyed at Hailey

HAILEY — A Hailey resident will fly to Germany later this month to confer with officials of Baden-Baden about starting a hot spa on the western Hailey city limits.

Baden-Baden is renowned for its hot baths and health spa. Bill Burt, a Hailey rancher, has suggested that natural hot springs west of Hailey can be used for just such a setup as in the German town.

The hot springs west of Hailey reach temperatures of 141 degrees and have a 350-gallon-per-minute flow capability, Burt said.

"This could be a great source of income to the town," he said. Some spas employ as many as 1,500 people, he said in an earlier interview. The city of Baden-Baden owns two large baths there which attract thousands of tourists who pay well for the service, he said.

Bob Welch will act as the official representative of Mayor L.W. Hengle. The Hailey Chamber of Commerce agreed to give $50 spending money for Welch's trip to Germany.

About $300 has already been donated, Burt said. Key Airlines has promised to book Welch on Trans World Airlines, Burt said, and will provide the round trip free.

Two representatives from Baden-Baden are expected to visit Hailey after the initial conference, he said.

Gem legislature hurt local port plan

Under the federal Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970, a regional airport siting study was required before matching federal funds could be obtained to construct a regional airport in Magic Valley.

The SIRA had never ordered a site selection study. Instead, the proposed location of the regional airport southeast of 1-80N Highway 93 interchange was approved by the SIRA in 1970.

The CHAM Study, already five years out of date when the regional airport vote was taken, did not address the question of possible environmental damage which could result from locating the regional airport just north of the Snake River.

In an attempt to satisfy federal requirements for an airport siting study, the SIRA ordered a comprehensive site study in the spring of 1972.

By the end of 1972, the full consequences of Idaho's Regional Airport Act not conforming to the federal statutes was learned. The 1972 siting study ruled out the regional airport site proposed by the SIRA south of Interstate 80N.

The south interchange site was "eliminated from further active consideration" as a viable airport location, primarily because of the question of environmental damage near the Snake River.

As the result of the 1972 site study the SIRA found itself without an acceptable site for a regional airport even though voters had been led to believe the proposed site south of 1-80N was already chosen.

site for the airport before a vote to join the airport authority was taken in Magic Valley counties.

"The legislators didn't realize a site selection study would be necessary," George Forschner, chairman of the SIRAAS, said. "I don't think anyone did."

At the end of 1972, with an airport authority established and a site for the regional airport made public, the SIRAAS was forced to examine the entire regional airport program.

Disaster threat grows

A winter drought could bring disaster to much of America, endangering the nation's food supplies and bringing higher prices.

The grain belt needs water. So do California's fertile valleys.

A drought is threatening disaster to grain farmers in the Great Plains, the vast area that stretches from Minnesota and the Dakotas down along the Rockies into New Mexico and Texas.

In California, the nation's largest food producing state, the disaster is bad. Farmers already have reported losses of $310.5 billion—and the losses are still climbing.

The dry spell began last fall, and there has been lower than usual snowfall this winter. It is drying things up.

In Washington, Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's chief economist, said it would be at least another month before an assessment could be made. Paarlberg said fall-planted crops such as winter wheat "got off to a start but they've now made a substantial recovery" if there is moisture in the spring.

California's fear the worst. In the usually fertile San Joaquin Valley, grain crops have refused to come up and cattle have been sent to markets underweight for lack of range grass.

"We won't even get the seed up," said grain grower Dick Hewitt, who farms 1,600 acres without any backup irrigation system.

"We have been forced to resort to feeding our cattle with hay at $95 to $100 a ton and liquid supplements," said Chollapa cattleman Darrell Zwang. "And we are shipping cattle to slaughter at 500 pounds rather than the normal 700 pounds, losing money on that end too."

Things aren't that bad in the Great Plains, although much of Texas hasn't had a good rain since before Halloween. The drought in some areas of Texas, agriculture officials said, "verges on disaster."

In the Texas Panhandle, dry north winds have blown soil from around stunted winter wheat. In the south, ranchers are hauling water and hay much as in California.

"If you see the good man who has the rain orders, tell him 'by golly, please get some' in here by March," said Bill Lehmborg, district agent in Henderson, Tex.

Wheat farmers in the western two-thirds of Kansas said the potential for crop loss is severe.

In Kansas, Oklahoma, eastern Colorado and New Mexico farmers are reporting dry conditions.

Oklahoma, where the winter crop is described in poor to fair condition, received some moisture in recent days. But John Cochrane of the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said that "with this cold weather it really isn't helping much at all."

"We can't take much more wind or dry weather or we'll be in bad, bad trouble," said Erwin Witte of the Colorado Agriculture Department.

Gem spuds, cattle dip

Courtesy Sinclair & Co. Idaho, potato and live cattle figures firmed lower Tuesday.

The May delivery of Idaho russets—just another quarter—closed at 11.80 per hundredweight.

Commodity News Service said live cattle turned sharply lower after two days of sizeable advances.

"We won't even get the seed up," said grain grower Dick Hewitt, who farms 1,600 acres without any backup irrigation system.

the day's highs after mixed long liquidation in a defensive opening.

Live hogs rallied in the waning minutes to close with modest gains across the board.

The market closed as much as 42 cents higher after early losses of about 25 cents.

Strength was largely technical. Short covering in the back months at the end was the best support there.

Corn followed wheat's higher lead most of the session in a trade mostly commercial and professional. Lack of sizeable selling and recurrent speculative demand accounted for most of the bid but narrowed to 5 1/2 late in the session.

Reports of blowing dust in the winter wheat belt was a factor in a general advance in the soybean complex. Hedge selling and liquidation were easily absorbed. Beans closed with 6 1/2 to 10 1/2 cent gains, oilseed up 77 to 90 points and meal showed minor to modest gains in all active months.

New York gold eked out 40 to 60 point gains on an estimated 1,226 contracts, showing that a sharp move in silver was not the same in gold. Bearish early trade saw losses of as much as 100 points before improving on the strength of grains and silver.

New York silver, boosted by strong short covering, moved to near limit up about an hour before the close. The market contained near all gains, ending 1,620 to 1,830 points higher on an estimated 18,000 contracts.

Grain exchange 'weather market' active

© N.Y. Times Service

NEW YORK — This is normally the time of year when nothing grows across the nation's vast winter wheat belt but silence, a time when the dormant fall-sown seed is protected by a blanket of snow that will provide needed moisture when the thaws start germinating the seed.

But these are not normal times in the winter wheat region that stretches across the Great Plains, an area that produces 75 per cent of the nation's bread grain.

As a result, the big grain exchanges in Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis are experiencing the most active "weather market" since the 1930's.

It's not really a return to the dust bowl days, a Chicago grain broker said, but things are dry enough to be sending prices up and down like yo-yo's on each round of precipitation.

Commodity price movements "appear to defy logic," said Joseph Batow, executive vice president of Great Plains Wheat—a producers' group.

"The two most significant factors in the market appear to be the weather—and concern as to how it may be affecting the winter wheat crop—and farmer holding, which is also affected by the weather."

Last week, for example, a Santa Fe Railway report expressed concern over erosion in the Southwest. The Oklahoma City Weather Bureau reported that January was the driest month in 89 years.

These and similar reports caused prices to shoot up on the commodity exchanges. But each rise triggered sales by farmers who are still holding a huge amount of grain harvested last year. Virtually all the wheat in the nation is owned by farmers, grain elevator operators, food processors or exporters.

Consequently, the grain markets reflect the confidence or nervousness of the private sector.

To make matters more interesting, volatile price swings in the commodity markets always attract the speculator. He, in effect, takes the risk the farmers and trade interests are trying to avoid.

The sharp decline in wheat prices in recent months reflected in part the reaping of record harvests of 1975—2.2 billion bushels, or 400 million more than the preceding season.

As of Jan. 1, the nation's farmers had 1.4 billion bushels in their possession, or 227 million more than they owned a year earlier.

Because the nation only consumes 700 million bushels of wheat a year, it is export sales that largely determine the price farmers get—especially in January and February before the thaws set off more interest in weather.

But the huge stocks overhauling the market caused many overseas customers to hold back their orders. After all, farmers are expected to produce another bumper crop this year and the rains could become far cheaper.

And so, the weather is the dominant market issue.

Conrad Leslie, Chicago grain statistician, said of the situation in the Midwest: "Our problem could be solved if we received one inch of rain a week for the rest of the month. If not, then the warm weather next month could find the wheat germinating in dry soil."

Daniel G. Amstutz, president of Cargill Investor Services Inc. in Chicago, said: "The next three weeks or so will see your ponds & ditches will pay for itself in water savings. Place your order now so your job can be scheduled before the irrigation season. We'll deliver anywhere in Idaho or Nevada. Contact: Ken Snyder, C.V. Minerals, Inc., P.O. Box 140, Idaho Falls, Idaho 83401. Phone: 734-7196 should tell the story. This far, the winter wheat crop is far from lost. We may not get all we expected, even if we do get sufficient moisture this month, but it's still a long way to May."

BENTONITE is the cheapest way to seal your pond. Water is Money! Most farm ponds have seepage losses of 6 to 25%.

Mahre just misses Olympic medal bid

AXAMER LIZUM, Austria (UPI) — Phil Mahre did his gallant best. It wasn't good enough for a medal but you can't exactly complain when a teen-age skier six weeks away from the B-team finishes fifth in an Olympic giant slalom.

Two unheralded Swiss skiers, Heinz Hemmi, 27, and Ernst Good, 26, upset the favorites to win the gold and silver medals Tuesday while Sweden's Inegmar Stenmark, 19, fought back from eighth place on Monday's first run to claim the bronze.

Defending gold medalist Gustavo Thoeni, 24, of Italy, winner of four World Cups in the last five years, went into the run with a 0.42-second advantage, making him all but unbeatable if he kept to his top form. He didn't and he finished fourth with the 18-year-old Mahre of White Pass, Wash., right on his heels.

Greg Jones, 21, of Tahoe City, Calif., moved up from 16th to ninth to take second place behind Thoeni in the running for the combined medal. Mahre's twin brother, Steve, took 13th place and Cary Adgate, 22, of Boyne City, Mich., was 14th.

Curry, Hamill favored to take skating gold medals as winter Olympics continue

INNSBRUCK (UPI) — John Curry was a good figure skater when he lived in Britain, but the day he decided to shift to the United States two years ago, he became a potential Olympic champion.

Curry's moment of truth comes tonight in the final of the men's Olympic competition. With the decision to leave home, family and friends to live and train in a strange country, he was worth the effort?

Figure skating people point out that Curry already has won the European championship since moving to New York, and Denver where he trains under Carlo Eschi, and that he probably will be crowned Olympic champion tonight.

Curry, 26, has no doubts. "The best move I ever made," he said, "I get all the ice time I need thanks to the money provided by my sponsor, and that—ice time—was the purpose of the move."

Curry and Canada's Toller Cranston are probably the best free skaters in the field, and with the free skating counting 50 percent of the marks, the Briton should hang on to beat Russia's Sergei Volkov, the reigning world champion.

David Santner of Park Ridge, Ill., was the best of the Americans in sixth place. National champion Terry Kubicka of Cypress, Calif., was 10th, but he still planned to show his controversial back somersault during his five-minute program.

But Dorothy Hamill is as American as Apple Pie and she probably will win the next U.S. gold Friday when the women's figure skating is concluded.

Dorothy, of Riverside, Conn., was in second place after Tuesday's three compulsory figures. Now the part she dislikes is behind her, and at no great disadvantage to herself, she can skate without worry in the free program compulsory today and later in the final.

Isabel de Navarre of West Germany led after the compulsory but she has no tradition as a free skater and the title was expected to be contested by Dorothy and Dianne de Leeuw, the reigning world champion from California, who is representing Holland. Dianne is third.

Other finals-down-for-decision were the men's 5,000-meter speed skating, the 40-kilometer biathlon relay and the women's slalom.

With the exception of the slalom, in which the U.S. was given an outside chance of a medal, Americans were not expected to figure prominently.

Barbara Cochran won a gold medal for the U.S. at Sapporo four years ago and this time it will be up to Cindy to uphold the tradition of the skating Cochrans of Richmond, Vt.

Lindy does not appear to have the class, but when Barbara won in Japan, she did so without having won a World Cup race. When Rosi Frenkel won the downhill Sunday, it was her first ever in major racing. When Heinz Hemmi of Switzerland won the men's giant slalom Tuesday, it was his first victory in seven years of Cup racing.

The Olympics are a great leveler. It's one race and anything can happen.

There is also Cindy Nelson of Lutsen, Minn. The pressure is off her now that she has won an Olympic medal—a bronze in the downhill—and she may come through, although she does not particularly like slalom racing.

Head Coach Hank Tauer said, "I think Cindy and Lindy both have a very good chance. We'll see what happens."

In the speed skating, Dan Carroll of St. Louis held the best U.S. credentials, but they could not compare with the likes of Dutchman Hans van Helden, victor-Vanflorov of Russia and Sten Stensen of Norway.

In the Nordic relay, the U.S. will have Bill Koch of Guilford, Vt., to pace them, but with the other members of the team two classes below him, there is no way the team can challenge the Russians, Finns and East Germans.

Tuesday's highlight was the silver medal won by Dan Immerfall of Madison, Wis., in the 500-meter speed skating and the stunning 5-4 hockey upset registered by the U.S. over Finland which put the Americans in line for a bronze medal.

Apart from Hemmi, a 5-foot-4 bearded part-time bricklayer who nearly was left off the Swiss team, other champions crowned Tuesday were Evgeny Kulikov of Russia in the 500; Raisa Smetanina of Russia in the women's 10-kilometer cross country, and the East German team of Hans Rinn and Norbert Hahn in the two-man luge.

Vols release star

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Tennessee officially released Irv Chaitman from his basketball scholarship agreement Tuesday so the 6-foot-9 New Yorker, who quit the Vols a week ago, could sign with Rhode Island.

At the same time, coach Ray Mears and his staff headed out on the recruiting trail, looking for another big man to replace Chaitman, a freshman who had become unhappy that he was not a starter with the seventh-ranked Vols.

Chaitman said he had been promised he would start, and just didn't like the idea of sitting on the bench, playing only now and then as 6-foot senior Doug Ashworth's replacement.

Huskies like road games

SEATTLE (UPI) — Washington basketball coach Marvin Harshman says he's telling his players they're actually lucky to be traveling to Los Angeles for "must-win" games against Southern California and UCLA.

"I tell my kids we've got the schedule on our side," Harshman said Tuesday. "We've got five of our last seven games on the road and we haven't lost on the road yet."

Washington, 18-2 on the year and ranked No. 9 nationally, plays USC Thursday night and then takes on UCLA in a regionally televised game Saturday afternoon in Pauley Pavilion, where the Bruins have won 95 straight and 163 out of 165 games played there since the pavilion opened.

Tech drops Texas

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Rick Bullock's 23 point output — which made him Texas Tech's all-time leading scorer — powered the Red Raiders past Texas 71-60 Tuesday night and into a halfgame lead over Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Texas Tech, now 10-2 in conference play, moved ahead of Texas A&M and Southern Methodist by percentage points due to SMU's 69-63 victory over A&M in another game Tuesday night. SMU has a 10-3 SWC record and A&M ended the night at 9-2.

Texas Tech rattled off 12 straight points early in the first half to take a 2-7 lead over the Longhorns and were never approached again. The Raiders led by as many as 20 points in the first half.

SMU stuns A and M

DALLAS (UPI) — Center Ira Terrell scored 26 points and paced Southern Methodist during a wild second half Tuesday night that brought the Mustangs a 69-65 win over Texas A&M.

The game, which dropped the Aggies out of the Southwest Conference lead, was spiced by a temper tantrum thrown by A&M coach "Red" Holt. The A&M coach had to be physically restrained by assistant Norm Reuber after a charging foul was called against the Aggies' Danny Davis with 6:18 to play.

Before Metcalf was through he had kicked the scoring table, thrown a bright red chair onto the court and pushed an SMU security officer who was standing behind the bench.

76ers overhaul Bulls

CHICAGO (UPI) — George McGinnis hit for 23 points, 11 in the third quarter, Tuesday night to lead the Philadelphia 76ers from a 15-point deficit to a 97-88 victory over the Chicago Bulls.

Mickey Johnson scored three points with 1:01 left to put the Bulls ahead 82-81, but a loose ball foul against Bob Love put McGinnis on the free throw line and he scored both shots to put Philadelphia ahead 83-82.

Chicago called time, hoping to get the last shot of the game, but Johnson missed a 15-footer. It was rebounded by Norm Van Lier, but stolen away by Philadelphia's Steve Mix who fouled with two seconds remaining. Mix converted both free throws.

N.C. State coach has Jet job

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lou Holtz, an offensive wizard from North Carolina State whose coaching has been turning losers into winners, was handed another opportunity to work his magic when he was named head coach of the New York Jets.

The 39-year-old Holtz, who turned both William & Mary and N.C. State into winners in his last two coaching assignments, signed a five-year contract. Terms were not announced.

Holtz is an amateur magician, most recently turned N.C. State from a dormnut to a consistent bowl club, leading the Wolfpack to post-season appearances in all four seasons at the school. He will be asked to perform his wizardry again in New York.

The Jets finished last season as the worst defensive team in the National Football League and their 3-11 record and last place finish in the American Conference East marked their worst season ever. Head coach Charley Winner was fired in mid-December and interim coordinator Ken Shipin finished

Wait 'til 1980

U.S. hockey team keeps medal hopes up

INNSBRUCK (UPI) — Given just the little bit it needed from an unexpected source, the United States hockey team appears to be in control of its own destiny in quest of an Olympic medal.

Starting with winless Poland Thursday and concluding with West Germany on Saturday afternoon, the cocky Yanks have a fair shot at winding up the round robin championship with three straight victories that probably would be good enough to earn a bronze.

"I keep telling everyone that we have the best 1-2 goalie combination in the tournament," said Steve Jensen of Michigan Tech. "If Jim Warden can't play, we're still in excellent condition" with Blanc Costock ready to step in.

"I'm confident we'll come out here with a medal." If the Americans do, they'll owe it all to a Russian referee, Viktor Dombrovski, who came through with the biggest vote of the competition Tuesday afternoon when the U.S. shocked Finland, 5-4.

With only 2:36 to play, Dombrovski disallowed an apparent goal by Hannu Kapanen that would have tied the score, ruling that Kapanen had kicked in the puck.

The Finns claimed that the puck first hit Kapanen on the chest and bounced into the net off his stick but the Americans, of course, disagreed.

"Most people in the stadium have a tousy seat and can't see what's happening," Coach Bob Johnson said. "The referee has the best seat and he was in perfect position to see what happened. Jim Warden said it was no goal, and I have to believe him."

"It was a good call from my standpoint."

Jensen, a teammate of Warden at Michigan Tech, led the attack with two goals, the 4th and 5th he has scored for the Olympians since they were put together last summer. Also scoring were Bob Harris, Steve Serlich and Bob Dobek.

Warden, with his third consecutive strong game, was credited with 32 saves.

How surprising a reversal the American win was is best illustrated by the fact that just two weeks ago they dropped a pair of 9-2 and 9-3 decisions to this same Finnish team.

Filer takes cage crown from Indians

EDEN-HAZELTON — The Filer Wildcats overpowered Shoshone 39-28 Tuesday night to win the class B district girls basketball championship.

Filer, playing in the "B" division under a petition from the state board of control, jumped to a 16-4 lead in the first quarter and coasted home.

The Wildcats then will play the 7 p.m. game against the third district runner-up Friday at Nampa west junior high school gymnasium. Shoshone will meet third district champion Wilder at 8:30 p.m. The regional title will be decided Saturday night between the first night winners with that champion moving to the state B playoff at Twin Falls high school the following week.

Pirates edge Declo

DECLO — The Hagerman Pirates, frittering away an early lead, turned to the tail Tuesday night to outlast the Declo Hornets 55-51.

Hagerman hit seven of its 11 free throws in the last quarter, Goss picking up five and Brown adding two at a critical point to let the Pirates escape. Declo closed to within a point on a couple-three occasions but never could take the lead or tie it.

Hagerman dominated the first half with torrid shooting. Goss hit all of his 16 points in the first half while Goss, hitting on medium-range jumpers, picked up 10 of his 21 Tuesday night at Declo.

Hagerman led 17-2 early and 34-15 late in the half. In the third period Declo Hess hit eight and Allen added six for Declo to start the Hornets back.

Solons nip Indians

GOODING — The Gooding Solons fought free-throw battles and finally outlasted the Shoshone Indians 57-51 in a non-league game.

The Solons couldn't keep away from fouls and although they owned a 10-field goal advantage, Shoshone stayed in the thick of things. The Indians hit 23 of 36 free throw attempts while Gooding managed just seven of 17.

Gooding led by as much as eight points in the third quarter. Gooding also had a comfortable margin.

Burley gains finals

Burley gained the Stuart Fresh basketball tournament finals and will await a challenge from a Twin Falls team.

Burley dropped West Minico 56-47 and moved into the finals to face East Minico 58-40 and O'Leary 58-40.

Wednesday night Filer plays East Minico in the consolation semi-finals with the winner going against West Minico at 7 p.m. Thursday, O'Leary and Stuart play at 7:30 p.m. with Burley awaiting the winner.

Chris-Meyerhoefer scored 16 points to pace Stuart while Jensen had 13 for Filer. In the second game, Hernandez topped O'Leary with 12 while scoring honors for East went to Damen with 20. Kerbs' 28 points paced Burley's victory. Just two more than Breece had for West.

Retriever club meets

Flying Red Devils

PAKING by Raft River's Rick Harper sends several Murtaugh Red Devils flying during action Tuesday night. Harper and the Trojans took a 61-58 decision.

Raft River clinches share of loop title

MURTAUGH — Raft River had to go to the bench twice in the last three minutes the last time for the starters — to oust at the rallying Murtaugh Red Devils 61-58 Tuesday night.

The victory clinched it for the Magic Valley Conference and all but locked it up for the Trojans. They can win it themselves Friday night when they host second grade Oakley. But since they have a two-game edge on the Hornets, a victory over Declo would also accomplish the feat.

Meanwhile, Castleford, the other team with a mathematical chance of catching the Trojans, was eliminated by Hansen 45-41 in overtime Tuesday night.

Raft River didn't have much to worry about over the first 29 minutes of the game. With Kenly Hutchinson putting on an early shooting display, the Trojans, dominating both backboards, bounced into a 19-8 lead.

By halftime Raft River was up 33-17 and early in the fourth quarter had margins up to 21 points. With about four minutes left Murtaugh receded off seven straight points and with 3:04 left Raft River's margin was trimmed to 14.

Coach Olani Wallace then platooned substituted and in the next 27 seconds Murtaugh uncovered another seven-point spree to pull within seven. Self, Denny Goff and Davey Andersen picked up those points.

Coach Wallace then replied with the first unit and Briggs, who gave Raft River board control, hit an inside shot.

Denny Goff and Dick Hurd replied for Murtaugh and with 30 seconds left the Devils got the ball back but couldn't score. Raft River then wasted about 20 seconds and remained three up with nine seconds left when Self potted one out of the corner.

Hansen nips Castleford 43-41

HANSEN — Mark Homan hit four critical free throws Tuesday night to give Hansen a surprise 43-41 overtime decision over Castleford's Wolves.

Hansen's win, snapping an eight-game conference losing spell, came as the result of its best defensive effort of the year and a strong fourth-quarter comeback.

Homan's first two free throws shoved the game into overtime and his second pair provided the winning points.

Through the first three quarters Castleford appeared carving out a workmanlike defense, pushing a small lead slowly but surely upward. The Wolves entered the last period with a 35-25 margin before Cliff Borah, the game's top gun with 15, started the comeback.

He tied it at 37-37 with about 48 seconds left in the game.

Twenty immediately re-established Castleford's lead but then came Homan's first two free throws with 11 seconds left. Castleford took the preliminary.

TF, Buhl prepare for girls regional

Twin Falls and Buhl, Magic Valley's class A girls representatives in the regional tournament opening here Tuesday night, have one major problem.

Both will be giving away big height advantages under the boards.

Buhl is scheduled to go against A-1 champion Capital at 7 p.m. Thursday while Twin Falls takes on A-2 winner Middleton in the nightcap.

These classification numbers really aren't necessary, since the state recognizes only class A and Class B divisions in girls basketball. — But the third district voted to complete its district "playoffs" along those lines.

The thing winds up Friday evening at the Twin Falls gymnasium with the first-night losers going at 7 p.m. and the championship game between O'Leary with 12 while scoring honors for East went to Damen with 20. Kerbs' 28 points paced Burley's victory. Just two more than Breece had for West.

during the year with Capital taking a seven-point win.

Both teams have high scoring reputations and Capital particularly stresses defense.

Twin Falls carries the best scoring record into the tournament from this area while Buhl generally is considered a good defensive team — and has had to be since tall Karla Meyer was sidelined with an injury.

So both area clubs are expected to go with heavy pressure against the guards.

Guards are a strong point of the Bruins with Patty Kasel and Brenda Falash. The Bruins also will have to get excellent percentage shooting, particularly from top gun Karen Brown if they hope to return to state. They won the consolation finals there last year.

Judge decides today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Local interests fighting to keep the San Francisco Giants from moving to Canada, faced a decision at high noon by a judge who procrastinated for eight days his ruling that could allow the National League team to leave.

Mayor George Moscone, who has vigorously fought the proposed sale of the Giants, said late Tuesday his aides were working through the night in a last-ditch effort to prepare a counter-purchase proposal that could keep the Giants in town.

"We're trying to get in contact with investors that we've talked to — potential investors — and to find a way to get some of the information that the investors want and transmit it to them," Moscone spokesman Corey Busch said.

Superior Court Judge John E. Benson has deferred ruling since Feb. 3 on extension of a restraining order that had stopped progress on the Canadian purchase. Tuesday he gave officials 24 final hours to come up with a buyer willing to match or come close to an "in principle" offer of $13.25 million proffered by Labatt's Brewery, the Toronto Globe and Mail and a Toronto Bank a month ago.

"I am going to defer any further action until noon tomorrow (Wednesday)," Judge Benson said. "At that time, I would expect that if there are any interested investors in San Francisco, they will offer their decision to make a fair and reasonable offer to keep the team here in San Francisco."

Capital seems to be the favorite in the two-day event, the Eagles bringing a 14-1 record into the fray — the same mark posted by Twin Falls up to now. The Eagles reportedly have two girls over six feet in height while the two local teams scratch to find anyone rising much above 5-6.

Middleton has three girls in the 5-10 area. The two third district winners played once

Charleston named to hall of fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Charleston, recognized as the Willie Mays of his era and once called by John McGraw "the greatest player I've ever seen," was named to the Baseball Hall of Fame Tuesday by the Committee on Negro Baseball Leagues.

Charleston, a lifetime 380 hitter whose career spanned five decades from 1915-54, becomes the seventh player selected to the Hall of Fame by the special committee, which was established in 1971 to recognize players who performed in the Negro Leagues.

Others named to the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine by the special committee include Satchel Paige, Josh Gibson, Buck Leonard, Monte Irvin, James "Cool Papa" Bell and William "Judy" Johnson.

Charleston, a 5-foot-11, 210-pound outfielder-first baseman who died in 1954 at the age of 58, will have his name officially enshrined in the Hall of Fame on Monday, Aug. 9, along with pitchers Robin Roberts and Bob Lemon, first baseman Roger Connor, third baseman-outfielder Fred Lindstrom and umpire Cal Hubbard.

Roberts and Lemon were elected last month by the Baseball Writers Association of America while Connor, Lindstrom and Hubbard were named by the Committee on Negro Baseball Leagues.

of Fame membership to 157. "The committee feels Charleston has as good all-around skills as any player selected from the Negro Leagues for the 'Hall of Fame,'" said Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in announcing Tuesday's selection. "He was extremely talented in each of the five categories most desired for superstardom. He could hit, hit with power, run, field and throw."

Although record keeping wasn't complete during Charleston's era, it is generally agreed that the powerful lefthanded hitter was among the most feared batters in the game. Available statistics show that he had a lifetime average of .380, even though he played until he was 48 years old, and that he combined power with a high batting average.

Charleston played with nine different teams during his long career but his best years were during the mid-1920's when he twice led the Negro National League in homers and also won a league batting title. His best year was 1925 when he hit .430 with 14 homers for the Harrisburg Giants to lead the league in both departments. In 1927 he also led the league in homers with 18.

For three seasons he was named to the East team in the Negro East-West All-Star Game to represent the Pittsburgh Crawfords of the Negro National League. In 1930, as a member of the Homestead Grays, he teamed with such stars as Gibson, Johnson and Smokey Joe Williams to defeat the New York Lincoln Giants and win the black "World Series."

Whether in league competition, playing winter ball in Cuba or against major leaguers in barnstorming tours, Charleston was the man who frequently impressed the other players the most. "Some people said he was the greatest Negro ballplayer, but John McGraw said he was the greatest ballplayer he'd ever seen," says Cool Papa Bell.

"He was a left-handed hitter, but it didn't make any difference—left-handed or right-handed, he could hit them all. Hit as long a ball as anybody. And nobody could play more outfield than he did. He was a type of guy like Willie Mays. He was a sensational ballplayer."

Owners to present new proposals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major league baseball's clubowners are expected to offer several proposals today, including one concerning the reserve clause, which they hope will bring about an agreement with the Players Association.

Informed sources, however, said that Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, is likely to reject the proposals "out of hand" and one baseball executive commented, "they won't get down to serious negotiating until a week before spring training."

The owners announced Tuesday they plan to appeal Judge John W. Oliver's decision upholding Peter Seitz' arbitration making Andy Messersmith and Dave McNairy free agents. The owners' position is that the arbitration panel did not have jurisdiction to deal with the reserve system.

The appeal was announced in a joint statement which said: "despite the decision to appeal, the clubs wish to emphasize their determination to continue serious bargaining. The two sides will meet again Wednesday."

"The clubs are prepared to offer the Players Association several proposals to the basic agreement, including the reserve system, in the hope of narrowing the gap between the two sides and making progress toward a prompt settlement of our differences."

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use more than average care to avoid reacting to adverse conditions, or you could get caught up in the vortex of some difficulties that keep you from achieving your finest goals. Refuse to become emotionally unhappy. Channel forces.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use diplomacy with kin, or serious arguments could result. Quietly get rid of causes of friction. Don't say things you may regret.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) You could ruin carefully laid plans if you speak out of turn with those who count. Quietly dispel discord. Use tact.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to spend beyond your means but should save more right now. Make the evening a delightful social one.

MOON - CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) Keep promises and so avoid trouble; get benefits. Sister clear of the social where troublesome individuals may be.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21) Handle only truly important matters and don't get bogged down with trivia that could waste your day. An adviser gives good ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be understanding and helpful with one who is acting most emotionally. Don't take advantage of others because you can't get your way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Higher-ups could be demanding as they're under pressure, so don't lose your temper. Keep poised, even at home, and all is fine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't make any changes as yet in regular routines, but study into something that is more lucrative and interesting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget some tangent and carry out promises speedily. Mate is not in a good mood, so take it easy. Don't lose temper.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You could be wrong in thinking partner isn't doing right; say nothing. Avoid opposing one, or dangerous confrontation could result.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although routines may not go so well because of planets, keep plugging along and you get enough accomplished.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Encourage those who feel upset today and who mean a good deal to you. Avoid one who could lead you into trouble.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the willingness to work at whatever duty is assigned, but will be more quickly than others, so teach early to be more philosophical and see it that you as parents lead your youngster in the right direction. Then there can be a wonderful life here instead of a difficult one. Give good religious training early.

L. M. Boyd

Do you realize that 37 out of every 100 women over age 40 in this country are without HUSBANDS?

It's estimated that more than 90 out of every 100 of those turning operations known as vasectomies turn out to be successful.

That noted author Graham Greene says he tried seriously six times as a teenager to kill himself. He's 71 now, his literary record indicates he did not fall at everything.

What do you call those big trays you stack the dirty dishes in to cart them from the dining room to the kitchen? Whatever, in Buckingham Palace, they're made of leather, so they won't scratch the gold plates.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "You know that whitish diatom powder you use to filter fish tanks and swimming pools? What's it made of?"
A. The shells of diatoms, which are algae of a sort. Their shells are clam like, but extremely tiny, made mostly of silica.

Q. "Oregon sometime back outlawed throwaway bottles. Has that helped clean up the state?"
A. Somewhat. Litter there since reportedly has declined 86 per cent.

Q. "How long does it take a contestant on a TV game show actually to collect the winnings?"
A. About three months, typically.

STRIPED TIES

The diagonal stripes on ties made in Great Britain run from the left shoulder toward the right hip. Such stripes on American-made ties run from the right shoulder toward the left hip. Why this difference? The British want to be sure the stripe is visible in the knot. So they cut their fabric face-up, where they can get a good look at it, instead of face down as do the American tie makers.

While one set of government experts rates marbled beef as the best, another set contends such fatty meat makes for heart disease. One set subsidizes the sugar growers while another set claims too much sugar creates dental cavities. One set decries that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer while another set hands over an enormous amount of money continually to the tobacco growers.

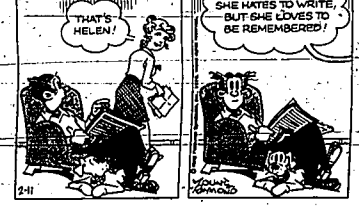

If you're planning to devise a new sort of public transit system, bear in mind that more than 100,000 have folded up as failures in the last 12 years.
