TF city tax bill on rise

BY GEORGE WILEY
Times News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Despite a tax increase, the proposed 1976 Twin Falls City budget shows a decline of about $2.7 million.

When the special funds, including the sewer project, are excluded, the general fund budget shows a substantial increase. The general fund budget calls for a 14 per cent increase in spending, rising to a total of $2.36 million this year.

Japan seeks American testimony
TOKYO (UPI) — The foreign ministry Wednesday asked two American businessmen to testify before parliament on Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s alleged $12 million payments to high Japanese officials, ministry sources said.

But because of property reappraisals and an expanded tax base, the city taxpayer will probably pay less than 11 per cent more this year.

Grants by the city decreased to $1.88 million this year from $1.76 million. Almost all of the decrease was due to fall-off in federal social welfare income.

Without an increase in revenues for this year, the city said, taxpayers would face a reduction in services.

House halves school levy

BOISE (UPI) — With 10 votes to spare, the House completed legislative approval Tuesday on a bill to lower the eight-mill county school levy to four mills.

Earlier, the House approved the bill and sent it to the Senate where it was amended to increase the appropriation from $6,120,000 to $7,761,500 in general fund surplus money.

Open house honors Buhl deputy on retirement

BUHL — Chief deputy Curt Pryor was honored at an open house Tuesday at the Twin Falls County Sheriff's office.

Pryor, 60, retired Monday after nearly a quarter century of service as West End deputy stationed in Buhl.

The open house in Pryor's honor was held Tuesday afternoon in the sheriff's license office at the Twin Falls County Courthouse. County commissioners and other county agency heads attended.

Pryor began his career in law enforcement in 1948 when, at the age of 31, he joined the Buhl police department. Prior to that he had worked shearing sheep and driving truck.

Pryor grew up in Coltrami and moved to Buhl in 1937. At the time he joined the Buhl force, his father, Clyde, was Buhl chief of police.

Pryor stayed on the Buhl force for six years before being moved to work as West End deputy for the county for nearly four years before moving to Washington to resume sheep shearing in 1952.

Three years later, he returned to Buhl under Sheriff Jim Benham, retaining the post until his retirement Monday.

"I got along good with everybody, especially the kids," Pryor said. "The sheriff was tickled in death when I came back to work. That makes a man feel pretty good."

Pryor said he assisted with numerous accidents and drawings over the years in Buhl.

Maybe his most exciting moment, he said, was when he arrested three men following an armed robbery in Hansen and recovered the stolen $1,000.

"I've tried to make myself available anytime anybody needs anything."

A one-time professional fighter in a group that changed since his early days.

"It doesn't seem like the law enforcement officer has the authority he used to have."

He's been a real faithful, he an attorney and a judge and everything else to be a law enforcement officer nowadays.

The county has changed, he said. "There's lots more people and lots more land. There are lots of acres of farmland that were just sagebrush when I started there."

Pryor will continue to live in Buhl, where his son, Bill, 40, recently retired from the Air Force, has become the third generation to join the Buhl police.

Pryor may trade his big house for a smaller one.

"It's gonna bother me for a while," he said of his retirement.

"There will be a little running around now and so does my wife, so we're gonna give them the house."

"I've really enjoyed working with all the law enforcement agencies in the state and the cities and counties around."

He said, "All the guys I've worked with have been great. Pryor said it was his honor to be a deputy for 28 years."

Mary Hill, department commander, Boise, will make her official call Friday.

The next meeting is March 15 at Sunset Senior Center.

Hearing on Friday

TWIN FALLS — This weekend from Boise Preliminary hearing for Robert Birch, 34, formerly of St. Anthony, has been set for 10 a.m. Friday before Magistrate Court Judge Daniel Mehl.

Birch requested a hearing on charges of kidnapping his former wife, Feb. 16 in Twin Falls. She was returned home unharmed after officers located an automobile just northwest of Twin Falls several hours after she disappeared from her home in Twin Falls.

Dr. Birch, who formerly practiced medicine at a clinic in St. Anthony, was returned this weekend from Boise where he has been undergoing psychiatric treatment in the state prison hospital.

Since his arrest the night of Feb. 16, officers say he has cut his wrists but not sufficiently close to the veins or arteries to cause excessive bleeding. When he was arrested he reportedly fired a revolver into the upper left chest area just before officers reached the car in which he was seated.

House halves school tax

Ford wins backing

Gas tax, auto fee hikes for road revenue sought

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation Committee is going to try for $92 million in additional highway revenue, including the floor gasoline tax and car registration fee increases.

Under normal procedures, the three-bill package should come up for final consideration on Monday about Friday.

Chairman John O. Simpson, R-Driggs, warned the committee he felt it was making a mistake. He tried unsuccessfully to get it to stay with a simple $10.20 increase in the motor vehicle fees.

In the package sent to the floor are bills to: — Raise the gasoline tax to 19 cents from 18.

— Hike the car registration fee to $19.

— Lift the Department of Law Enforcement to one-third of the motor vehicle fund revenue.

The committee decided to debate the first two bills together but to let the third stand on its own. Without the third, the Department of Transportation would realize only $6.8 million in additional revenue.

Sessions reminded the committee that an earlier poll of House caucus members indicated only 24 solid votes for the package. Transportation committee members said they felt the road may be changing as the legislature starts thinking down adjournment trail.

Meanwhile, a four-mill property tax relief bill made it through the legislature and headed for the desk of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

It lowers to four mills from next year only the county school levy. Similar legislation was enacted the past two years — providing the temporary tax relief out of general fund surplus. This year, the price tag is $6,750,000 money on building and other projects.

Approved 39-29 on the first go-round Tuesday, the bill came up for reconsideration just before adjournment. Efforts to reconsider and defeat it, however, failed 28-38.

This means the governor will have to decide whether to sign the bill, let it become law without his signature or, in this election year, veto the tax relief and thereby assure a four-mill property tax increase next year.

The House also completed legislation on a major vehicle inspection act. This measure, which originated in the Senate, also goes next to the governor for consideration.

Senators killed and then revived a bill to establish qualifications for county sheriffs. The bill would require sheriffs to complete the Peace Officers Standards and Training course prior to taking office.

After an hour-long debate the House approved 43-25 a resolution to restore the 1962 position to the old St. Alphonsus Hospital in the Capitol Mall. Then it defeated on the 33-33 vote a move to reconsider the measure. The resolution heads for the Senate.

Elsewhere on the legislative scene, The House approved 66-22 a Senate resolution to appropriate $2,700,000 from the general fund to pay the entire cost of each state employee's group health insurance.

Minority Leader Patricia L. McDermott, D-Pocatello, asked who really will get this "tax relief."

In Bannock County, she said, a homeowner whose property is appraised at $20,000 will get $14.24 in tax relief. Idaho Power Company, however, will receive $7,397 in relief. Union Pacific Railroad will realize $10,992, Mountain Bell Telephone Company $16,325 and "poor, old Intermountain Gas who needs the relief so bad $7,392."

She said "she does not know how other legislators will explain their votes back home but she will have difficulty explaining she gave a homeowner $14.24 in tax relief at the same time she gave $23,722 to Bueyras Erie."

Rep. Lyman G. Winchester, R-Rama, said taxes are levied uniformly and tax relief should be given uniformly. He said corporations do not belong to just one person but to many stockholders.

If utilities do not get their share of tax relief, he said, they simply will go to the Public Utilities Commission and ask for a rate increase "so the little guy gets hit again."

Rep. Russell Westberg, D-Soda Springs, said there are a lot of other priorities to be considered — including roads and public works. He said these should be on tax relief until all other needs of the state are met.

He added that the excess funds were collected from those who pay income and sales taxes and not from property taxes. He said if there is relief it should be in the form of income tax rebates.

Sheriff standards revived

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Senate first killed and then revived Monday a bill to establish qualifications for county sheriffs.

The bill, which would require sheriffs to complete the Peace Officers Standards and Training course prior to taking office, originally was killed 19-15.

Reconsideration was asked by Senate Minority Leader Cy Chase, D-St. Maries, who said he would like to see the bill amended so that a time-limited sheriff who seeks re-election would not be required to complete the course.

Action on the bill was reconsidered and by a vote of 19-15 senators agreed to send the bill to committee of whole for amendment.

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, carried the opposition to the measure, saying the bill was "interfering in the affairs of the county."

Yarbrough argued the people were qualified to determine if the man elected to the sheriff's office was qualified. He said the legislature was "meddling in county business" and there was the possibility a person elected would not be accepted.

Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry, said the measure, which had the support of the sheriff's association, was "nothing more than a 'backdoor approach' for an increase in wages."

But Sen. Robert Szayik, D-Barley, contended that sheriffs who took the course and were better qualified should receive a better salary.

He said the bill didn't deal with salaries but spoke to "qualification and training."

The Senate also killed, 17-18, a bill to authorize license, insurance agents who also are supervised lenders to make insurance sales that are not in connection with the making of a loan.

I. Gov. John Evans cast the deciding vote after a 47-47 tie.

Plan passes

BOISE (UPI) — After a four-hour debate the House tentatively approved today a plan to save the 1962 addition to the old St. Alphonsus Hospital in the Capitol Mall.

The House approved 43-25 a resolution to restore the section and its towers but Rep. C. L. "Buck" Miller, R-Caldwell, saved a battle of possible reconsideration.

Rep. Ron Twilgar, D-Haise, said unless the resolution was passed the entire old hospital would be demolished this summer to make way for a $4 million state office building.

Auto inspection repealer passes

BOISE (UPI) — By a vote of 43-26, the House completed legislative action Tuesday on a bill to repeal Idaho's motor vehicle safety inspection act.

Floor sponsor Noy Brackett, R-Twin Falls, said the intent of the law was good but the results were bad. Although a number of states have these programs, he said, Arizona does not require inspections, California does not fund the program and Illinois inspects trucks only.

Rep. Harry H. Hurler, urged the House to kill the Senate-initiated bill. He acknowledged there are faults in the system but he said a lot of "old folks" depend upon it to keep their cars in good condition.

"The only thing wrong with it is the public who want to drive into the inspection station and have the sticker put on without inspection," Hale said.

Rep. Patricia L. McDermott, D-Pocatello, called repeal of the law irresponsible.

Program fails goals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A four-year, $140 million antirape program in eight cities has achieved significant gains but failed to meet ambitious goals of reducing all street crime, according to a study released Tuesday.

It was said to be the biggest discretionary grant program ever financed by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The program — under way since 1972 in the "high impact" cities of Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Newark, St. Louis, and Portland — is scheduled to end next December.

The results are falling far short of the original goals of reducing street crime and burglary rates by 5 per cent in two years and 20 per cent in five years, the analysis indicated. It said the goals were "unrealistic."

Committee holds negotiation bill

BOISE (UPI) — By a 6-4 vote, the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee decided to hold a teacher negotiations bill sponsored by the Idaho School Board Association.

Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, moved that the bill be held in committee and have the school trustees work with the Idaho Education Association to come back next year with a compromise measure "we can all appreciate."

But Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, argued the committee would be "abrogating the responsibility you have" by sweeping the matter under the "carpet for another study."

He said there was a real problem at present and a year from now there would be times "more unresolvable" in the schools.

Sen. James Yost, R-Wendell, said "this is probably the most important thing the legislature is going to do because we haven't done anything yet."

An attempt to amend the bill to eliminate some of the objections was defeated by a 5-5 vote.

The bill removes automatic renewal of contracts for teachers, establishes procedures for negotiations, provides procedures for appointment of fact finders and mediators and sets time limits for negotiations.

Cobbs referred to the bill as "a watered down version of what we have" while Sen. Robert Szayik, D-Barley, contended it was a "unilateral bargaining bill."

He said there was a real problem at present and a year from now there would be times "more unresolvable" in the schools.

WASHINGTON - From the stage of the Kennedy Center, it was hard to see the girl's face or to guess at her age... 'The National Town Meeting radio show was being taped, and she had waited a long time in a side aisle to ask her question. It was a sad question about happiness.'

Are we less happy than the people of Africa? Of India? Of South Africa? One does not have to recite the cherry histories of Polynasia to note the palpable fact: Other areas of the world know vastly more equanimity, more personal freedom, more misery - and much less personal freedom - than Americans have ever experienced.

The young woman recalled America's beginnings. She supposed our people were happy then, and she thought them less happy now. The same document that proclaimed a fight in the pursuit of happiness also proclaimed that all men were created equal. It was not so.

60 percent of our people are high school graduates; less than one percent are illiterate. We too easily paint over the religious bigotry that long infected America. Most of this is gone now. We became the poor participant in a game we forgot that ever much of our history, blacks-women, and 18-year-olds could not vote at all. We fret at denials of freedom in our own time, but we have the freest press in the world and the most extensive systems of communication.

Energy conservation still not accepted

With all the hubbub over the energy shortage, Americans still don't show much enthusiasm for cutting their energy consumption.

Gasoline prices have doubled in less than five years but American consumption has dipped a meager three or four per cent.

Natural gas prices have gone up at a rate of nearly 10 per cent a year since 1970 but American hunger for the fuel has diminished only a few notches.

In addition, the embryonic efforts to establish recycling centers around the country to collect aluminum, glass and paper have turned into projects for the Boy Scouts and the local church. The majority of the population steers clear of any substantial recycling effort.

Only this week the Idaho legislature turned back a bill which would have required the use of returnable containers for beer and soft drinks. The legislators simply didn't hear any support for the bill from most Idaho consumers.

The biased consumer response to energy conservation and recycling is a luxury Americans cannot afford. The wolf at the door is only temporarily distracted by a mild economic upturn and an acceptable supply of fuels.

Arab nations certainly haven't changed their philosophy of financing an economic revolution in the Persian Gulf by milking industrialized nations through high-priced oil. Rising oil prices unquestionably are a part of the next decade.

Shortages of raw materials for industrial uses also can only get worse in the next 10 years, seriously affecting the price and the availability of some manufactured products.

Increasing costs for other energy forces such as electricity and natural gas surely will force a tremendous upsurge in prices for all industrial users, including the manufacturers of beer and soft drink containers. This increase can't help but be felt in the consumer's pocket book.

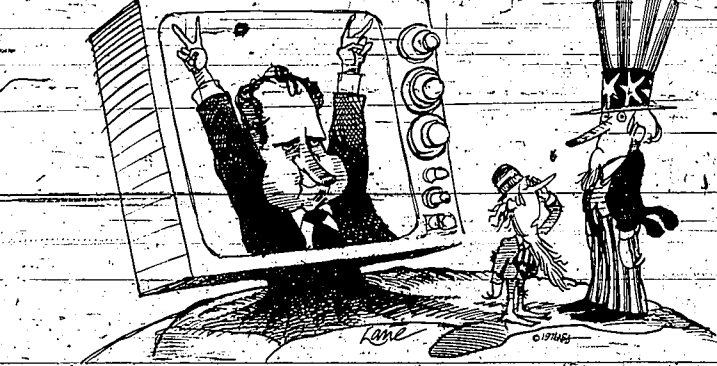

To put the issue in more personal terms, the current ease with which all Americans can buy energy and consume products built with relatively low cost energy is a closing chapter of our history. In a very short time we will be forced to resort to major energy conservation measures if we want to maintain our present standard of living.

While the prospect of radically changing our wasteful ways scares some people, these changes can be relatively painless if we start changing in time.

West Germany, for example, has a standard of living roughly equal to the United States and yet uses only half the energy of an average American. In West Germany, tax incentives are given people who use smaller cars, insulate their houses and recycle. At the same time, German industrial concerns generate their own electricity from the energy lost in production of manufactured products.

Americans don't have to fear energy conservation or view it as some threat to our way of life.

Instead, Americans should realize that energy conservation and recycling are the tools this nation must use to maintain our affluent lifestyle.

... just woke up from a three-year nap. What's new?

'Reform' candidacy Church course?

By NEA (London Economist News Service) WASHINGTON - (AP) - Circumstances, in addition to his own well developed sense, have made Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), famous as an authority on dirty tricks in foreign parts.

His major work in this field, the final report of the Senate select committee, "to study government operations with respect to intelligence activities," has to be completed by March 15, and once that is done he will feel free to announce himself as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Already fund-raising letters have gone out from an office in Washington not far from the capitol where the telephone is answered with: "Good morning, Church for president."

Whether he expects to be the center of international intelligence operations and the impossibly of corrupt practices by American corporations abroad is the next thing to recommend a man to an electorate searching for its next president is a matter on which doubt is well advised.

The fall-out of bad news that was left from Holland to Japan recently from Sen. Church's offices did not come from Sen. Church, the chairman of the Senate select committee on intelligence. It came from Sen. Church, the chairman of the subcommittee on multinational corporations of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation long since admitted having scattered many millions of dollars round the world in sweeteners and secret commissions to important foreigners to help the sales of its military and civil aircraft. It put up a long struggle against disclosing all the details, and particularly the recipients' names, believing that to tell all might be bad for its future business.

By a bishop that is having unfortunate consequences for eminent men in several countries, some papers that revealed the obvious details were wrapped up in a bundle going from the company's auditors to Sen. Church's subcommittee. The fall-out in the first instance, in the hearings two weeks ago by Carl Ketchikan, the Lockheed president, was spared having to name the names in public, but did have to tell the staff, and he had to make public much detail that corroborated rumors long familiar about who had got the money in Holland, Germany, Italy, Sweden, Japan and elsewhere.

Roughly what has been admitted amounts to some $22 million in improper payments since 1970, though obviously there were others earlier. Two of the three payments alleged to have been made to Prince Ferdinand date from 1961 and 1962; when the Lockheed F104 fighter was being sold.

Luck bad for some, good for others has been having a field day, but it is not by chance that Frank Church is chairman of two committees that have been exercising hard consciences from the intelligence community and the multinational corporations concurrently.

An early ripple of the wave of soundings that destroyed the Nixon administration came from the allegations against the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. published by Jack Anderson, the columnist, early in 1972.

respected by sitting on a subcommittee on multinationals, with Sen. Church in the chair, he waited until the presidential election was over and reopened the subject with public hearings in the spring of 1973, when the Nixon administration was beginning to get into trouble over the Watergate scandal.

What with one thing and another, the CIA became a tempting target for investigation, and so two years ago the Senate set up the Select Intelligence committee, the life of which is now about to expire.

Sen. Church was a natural choice for chairman. In his handling of the hearings he has shown a great flair for publicity and has been careful to avoid the partisan and intra-party quarrels that gave the parlied committee of the House of Representatives a checkered and unimpeachable death.

more is rather honest, Church would make more of it. He is, however, more ambitious than that and most likely will take a shot, or more probably two shots, at the presidency.

At age 51 he has 10 years in the Senate behind him, an unusual thing, but then he was a boy-wonder who won an American Legion scholarship to university at 16 as a reward for his oratorical skill. The same talent, eked out with a useful political connection by marriage in Idaho, brought him into the Senate in 1952.

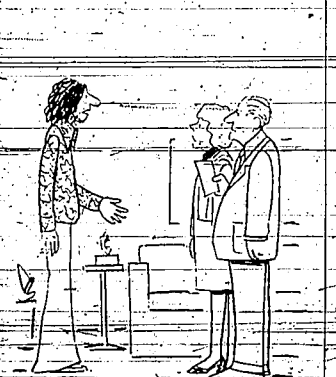

Representing Idaho as a liberal Democrat, which by and large Church is, is not an easy thing. Coming from there he has to oppose gun control, a favorite liberal cause, and does so flatly. He supported President Ford's handling of the Vietnam incident.

Step by step he has differentiated himself from the so-called liberal Republicans that

Sen. Church: 'scourge of intelligence agencies, ingulcor of corrupt corporations'

Berry's World

But because I got straight 'A's doesn't necessarily mean I'm probably just another average student!

The report of the House committee was killed up at least until to sleep, by a decisive vote of the full House on January 29, before that same couple had got loose and large parts of it were printed in the Village Voice, that the Church committee has never made the agreement with the White House which the Pike committee was accused of violating.

It expects, and is taking care, that no blot of scandal will arise in publication of what, if Sen. Church has anything to do with it, will be known as the Church report. Already there is a Church bill in the Senate, the subject of much future debate, to provide for future Senate oversight of the intelligence community.

If he stays in the Senate, Church can almost count on being the next chairman of the foreign relations committee, assuming that Sen. John Sparkman vacates the seat on his 79th birthday at the end of 1974. Under Sparkman's com-limited, the presidential war power an Indochina from 1970 and 1972; first the Copper Church amendment, then the Case-Church one, the name Church cropping up regularly and not by accident - it had a start in 1971 by coming out flatly against the entire foreign aid program which might be the action of a liberal or, again, might not.

Now he has an additional reputation, that of a stern monitor of the great corporations, a position that goes down well enough in Idaho and other parts of the country besides, but one that he will have to share with other liberal Democrats who have got into the campaign earlier.

Each of the liberal Democratic candidates suffers a difficulty - in differentiating himself from the others; this may be Church's difficulty, too. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Letter writer answers blast

Editor, Times News: A Feb. 22 letter of Sidney N. Sill, M.D., who identifies himself as being Jewish, blasts Times News and a February 13th letter-writer, inferring concern for "Christianity" is in reality only concern for "Arab" bigotry, accusing the writer of "lies," "mistruths," "vicious propaganda" and "clumsy attempts" in discussing the so-called "persecution of Soviet Jews" and others.

All anti-semites there were 1,000,000 Jews in Germany at the time of WWII, whereas Klaus J. Hermon, writing in the non-Zionist Jewish publication ISSUES had set the figure at 600,000. But whether 3,000,000 or 600,000, "it would be difficult to eliminate 5,000,000 would it not? No," it was Hermon who wrote that "Germany's 600,000 Jews were vehemently rejected Zionism." And it was the Jewish writer, Hannah Arendt (recently deceased), who exposed the Zionist role as to the Judenrats in Germany. (See National Jewish, November, 1964). (Editorial, "Soviet Jewry," 1/27/76) "Soviet Jewry" is Germany's 5,000,000 Jews at time of Hitler, not a "quote" Rudolph Hess, "to support Gribble's lies" - merely suggested the work about Hess still imprisoned at Spandau, authored by Eugene Gribble, former American and Soviet time flier, who died by these same facts, along with a lengthy list of publications not readily available, some not published in America.

The English translation by historian Harry Shulman of "The Diary of Esther (European Jew) 1941," authored by the French European Jew Paul Rassinier, is a carefully documented treatise, using almost exclusively Jewish sources. Professor Rassinier, a one-time prisoner at Dora and Buchenwald prisons in Germany, during WWII, supplies evidence in support of the 1948 "Report of the International Committee of the Red Cross on Its Activities During the Second World War." Therein, it is reported that a total of 17,450,000 lives were lost from all causes - of which 300,000 were "victims of war-related violence and persecution of religion who died in prisons and concentration camps between 1939 and 1945 (not incl. USSR)."

That official report also points out that while 200,000 of all persecuted groups, many of whom were not Jews, died from all causes, there were more than 17,000 Jews who died for reasons other than persecution - illustrating quite clearly that Christians have suffered far more than have Jews!

Incidentally, Rassinier, in discussing the so-called "Zionists," uses the term "racism": "If Dr. Sill thinks some of us are too concerned about 'Arab travails,' he should contact American Jewish Alternatives to Zionism, Inc., Suite 204, 133 Eas 24th St., New York, N.Y. 10021, and secure in report of President Elmer Berger (Hambill), #2 specifically devoted to Israel - Zionism in the Palestinian, and the role of Mr. Meynighan. One can learn a lot there about "Arab travails, expanded by a non-Zionist American Jew."

I am not Jewish, Arab or German; merely American, a combination of English, Irish and Scandinavian mixtures and a Christian. I could offer many anti-Jewish sources; but do not wish to add "anti-semitic" to the charges of "lies," "mistruths," and "vicious propaganda, already applied in me by Dr. Sill."

TERESSA D. HENDRY Jerome P. S. Edward L. Koch, New York representative and recipient of copy of letter so setting in Dr. Sill, has sent me an item from Congressional Record of January 22, 1976 (one had already submitted, along with the same that "Vain" letter indicates "secretly" literature, reflecting the other side of "the issue." The article refers to ending Arab boycott in the United States against American citizens and Israel; through the Foreign Boycott 1975, which he introduced. Interestingly the expansion of the legislation are comprised of 34 Democrats and 1 Republican (Benjamin Gilman of New York); 15 are from New York; 3 from Michigan; 2 from Minnesota, Pennsylvania; Texas; 1 from Illinois; and 1 each from Ohio, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Georgia, Arizona, Maryland and California. Just what is boycotting whom? T. H.

Tough gun control bill returns to subcommittee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee has killed a tough gun control bill which would have banned cheap, easily concealable handguns after what one supporter called "one of the most blatantly crass lobbying campaigns ever."

This kills gun control legislation for this year," declared Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., one of the bill's chief supporters.

The committee unexpectedly voted 17 to 16 Tuesday to send the gun control measure back to its crisscross subcommittee. The motion was made by Rep. Thomas Hatch, R-Ill.

While the bill was intended to ban the sale and manufacture of new handguns, it would not have affected the more than 40 million existing handguns presently in circulation.

The bill's supporters complained of an intense lobbying campaign against the bill by the National Rifle Association.

Rep. John Scherling, D-Ohio, said "This was one of the most blatantly crass lobbying campaigns ever."

Gun control supporters said the measure would have curbed the proliferation of the small, cheap handguns most used by criminals. Opponents said it would have banned many handgun models used primarily by sportsmen and made it more difficult for law-abiding citizens to obtain firearms for self-protection.

Other key features in the bill included:

- Mandatory sequence for anyone using a firearm in the commission of a felony.
- Higher license fees and stricter licensing procedures for gun dealers.
- Tougher laws to prevent illicit firearm traffic by making it a felony to knowingly sell a gun to a person with a criminal record.
- Limit any person to only one handgun purchase a month.
- Require a 21-day waiting period for anyone wishing to buy a handgun.

WILLIAM CROOK scores intentions

Pentagon asks probe of payoffs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has asked the Justice Department to investigate allegations that Lockheed Aircraft Corp. paid cash to U.S. Peace officers in connection with overseas contracts.

"Our general concern, Mr. Richard A. Wiley has furnished the entire matter over to the Justice Department for investigation," Pentagon spokesman William E. Greener said Tuesday.

In a related development, a Texas businessman said the State Department did nothing when he complained that Italian President Benigno Zaccaria "dumped" a half-million-dollar order and half-ownership of his company in April, 1975.

William Crook said the refusal of his firm, Transinter, Inc. of Texas, to meet the demands last year led to the confiscation of equipment and cancellation of a contract to develop the Italian island of Tortuga into a free port and tourist center.

Senate panel gives nod to Scranton for UN post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William W. Scranton, who has been named U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, believes cooperation is better than confrontation with the Third World bloc which was frequently and sharply criticized by his predecessor, Daniel P. Moynihan.

Scranton's confirmation appeared certain as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended approval Tuesday. The full Senate was expected to approve the appointment swiftly.

"I have a very deep personal concern about our relations with the Third World," Scranton told the committee. "I feel they should naturally be our friends, not naturally be our enemies."

During hour-long testimony, Scranton said his position should not be taken as criticism of Moynihan's sharp denunciations of Third World nations made him one of the most outspoken and controversial American representatives in the world body.

Scranton called Moynihan "a close personal friend," and

WILLIAM SCRANTON clears hurdle

He said he favors an even-handed U.S. role in the Middle East along with assurances for the military security of Israel.

Scranton said he thought the period of confrontation that characterized Moynihan's tenure was necessary because of the situation that developed there of strong blue-voicing against U.S. and Israeli interests.

But he indicated he does not feel it is necessary anymore.

"I think they (the Third World bloc) do realize we want to help — and that it is to their advantage to cooperate with us," Scranton said.

"I would hope that we could be more 'cooperative' where they are cooperative, but undoubtedly we will have some confrontations with some African countries."

Scranton was asked if he believed in cutting foreign aid to countries that do not support the U.S. position in U.N. votes.

Spring, winter battle

By United Press International

Spring and winter battled for dominion over the nation Tuesday but each appeared holding its ground. The only losers were residents of snow-clogged or rain-soaked battlegrounds.

Snow, ice storms and battering rains raked the west, the Midwest and portions of the Northeast while aggressive weather set flowers in bloom from coast to coast of the nation.

The violent clash of the seasons claimed at least ten lives.

Accidents on icy highways killed two persons in Minnesota, two in Wisconsin and one each in Michigan and New York. Four Union Pacific Railroad trains and a freight train rumbled into the rear of a small, motorized car during a blinding blizzard near Montpellier, Idaho.

Powerful snows howled much of the west, the plains and the upper Midwest and another snowstorm ploughed primary voters in much of Massachusetts and Vermont.

The town of Mount Holly, Vt., postponed voting until Friday after up to eight inches of snow bogged roads.

Up to four feet of snow clogged the California Sierra and 20 inches cluttered in Utah's high country. Rescue workers searched the Sierra for two lake Tahoe youths missing since Sunday on a cross-country ski outing.

South Dakota and Nebraska also were hard-hit.

Ten inches of snow belted portions of Michigan, stacking into five-foot drifts.

More than 20,000 Detroit homes and businesses were left without power for a time as freezing rain and high winds ripped down power lines.

Freezing rain laid down a treacherous carpet of ice from central Wisconsin and Michigan into southern New England.

Trees and power lines snapped under the weight of the clinging ice in Erie, Pa., and portions of central Michigan.

Patrols thunderstruck, buffeted by gusts of Wisconsin, Indiana and lower Michigan.

Orion and lower Michigan were reported northwest Indiana, and officials were considering evacuations along the Muskegon River in lower Michigan.

But spring blossomed to the south and east.

Poppythills and japonica flowered in Southern Illinois as temperatures hovered near 80 and flowering bulbs burst into bloom in Indianapolis.

New tactic asked

MIAMI (UPI) — Ronald Reagan's top aides are advising him to violate the 11th commandment he adopted at the start of his campaign — "How shall we speak ill of another Republican?"

Since then Reagan has refused to attack President Ford repeatedly, the party for the November election.

Now David Keene, southern coordinator, and Tommy Thomas, Florida campaign manager, feel he has to go after Ford or forfeit not only the March 9 Florida primary but the nomination.

At a news conference in Tallahassee, Thomas said Tuesday he has urged Reagan to change his strategy but so far has received no commitment from the former California governor.

The first indication whether Reagan will heed the advice will come Thursday when he starts a final four-day blitz in the state.

Thomas charged that the Ford campaign has called Reagan everything from a right-wing extremist to a backdoor socialist without provoking Reagan into similar tactics.

Case against tire companies dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After nearly six years of investigation, the Justice Department Tuesday dropped civil antitrust suits against the nation's two largest tire manufacturers because of lack of evidence.

Thomas E. Kauper, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, said he dismissed the suits against Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. "with the greatest reluctance" after deciding he could not prove his cases in court.

The suits had charged the companies with illegally trying to monopolize the tire replacement market by lowering prices to force smaller competitors out of business.

Kauper said he reached the decision on the basis of evidence compiled since the civil suits were filed in U.S. District Court in Cleveland Aug. 9, 1973, and in reevaluating evidence the department had obtained in four years of investigation before the filing.

A stipulation filed with the court allows the government to revive the suits at any time it sees fit.

Firestone said in a statement it was pleased by the government's decision.

"We think such action is in the best interest of the government and Firestone," the statement said. "In the long run it will prevent the waste of additional time and money by both sides."

The suits also alleged both companies made acquisitions of other companies in violation of antitrust laws.

"But my review has convinced me we cannot now establish the key elements of these cases under any theory we can or should legitimately advance," Kauper said. "It has been with the greatest reluctance that I have come to the conclusion that the complaints in these cases should be dismissed."

Kauper made the comments in a memo to Attorney General Edward H. Levi.

A Justice Department spokesman said the department had spent $1 million in preparing the cases for trial after filing the suits, with much of the expense covering the costs of duplicating masses of documents that were filed with the court.

Nuclear regulator safety questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four engineers who contended nuclear regulators are in "different" to safety did not mention anything a "hard-nosed" Nuclear Regulatory Commission was not already looking into, the NRC chairman said Tuesday.

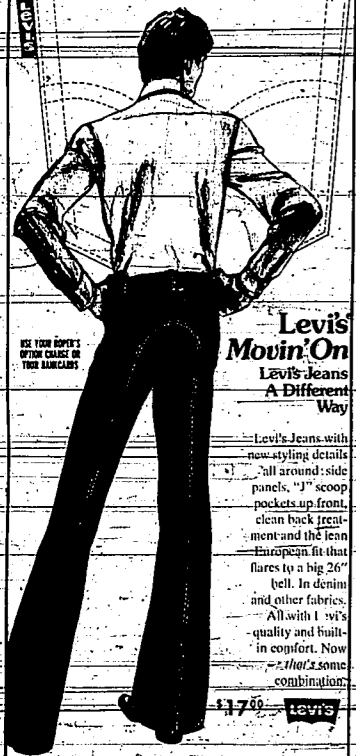

NRC Chairman William A. Anders testified before the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee. After he spoke, all the other commissioners stood and endorsed his defense of the commission.

They said there is room for safety improvement, but not for the contention that they do not care about safety.

The commission had been attacked recently by three former general electric engineers and one former vice-engineer who had quit their jobs with considerable publicity, alleging lack of safety in the nuclear industry.

"All the technical issues the four engineers have raised had previously been raised in our regulatory staff, by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, or by participants in the licensing process," Anders said.

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU SPEND ON FOOD?

If you're wondering how much you should be spending on food each week, latest USDA Weekly Cost of Food Guide may be quite helpful. Just find the size group of your family, pick one of the three cost plans ranging from low to luxury, and add it up. You may find you are eating well and spending less than the national average. If so, congratulations.

If you're spending more than average, you may want to change your food plan. Bone-Bone budgeting is called for in the low-cost plan; the liberal plan uses convenience foods and more luxury items; the moderate plan is a balance of both convenience and home-prepared foods.

CLIP AND SAVE THIS GUIDE FOR USE NOW AND COMPARISONS LATER.

USDA COST OF FOOD AT HOME FOR A WEEK

(Adjustments for other family sizes given below.)

Per Individual	Low-Cost	Moderate	Liberal
WOMEN
20-24 years	11.80	14.80	17.70
25-34 years	10.50	12.10	15.40
35 years and over	10.90	12.10	15.40
MEN
20-24 years	14.80	18.70	22.40
25-34 years	12.80	16.10	19.30
35 years and over	12.90	16.10	19.30
CHILDREN
1-2 years	6.40	8.10	9.70

12-14 years	12.80	16.10	19.30
15-19 years	15.10	18.10	22.40

ADJUSTMENTS:
1. For a person eating lunch only 5 days a week, subtract 25 percent or one-third with the cost shown.
2. Adjust to your family size as follows: for a 1-person family add 25 percent; for 2 persons subtract 25 percent; for 3 persons subtract 50 percent; for 4 persons subtract 75 percent; for 5 persons subtract 100 percent.
3. Adjustment is necessary because larger families tend to buy and use food more economically.

Huston added to FBI list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest member of the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives is a suspected bank robber, whose right arm carries a tattoo reading "In Memory of Mom."
The FBI said Patrick James Huston, 45, and two other men were arrested shortly after they allegedly robbed a bank in Queens, N.Y., in September, 1974. All three escaped last March and the other two were captured and convicted.
The FBI said Tuesday Huston also was involved in a shootout with police in which two persons were killed.

One time too many

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A Cleveland lawyer with a history of impersonating a lawyer tried to pull off the stunt one time too many Tuesday when he answered a lawyer's telephone while burglarizing his office, police said.
William Summers, of Summers, Peitz, Burke & Hildebrand, said he called his office at 7 a.m. expecting to reach the answering service but got a masculine voice instead; Summers said he told the office would not open until 9 a.m.
He hung up and called the police. The man who answered the telephone had given the name of an attorney no longer with the firm.

No monopoly

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Banker David Rockefeller says American businessmen find no monopoly on the age-old practice of bribes and kickbacks.
Rockefeller, attending a business conference, was asked by reporters Tuesday about "real" bribes in multinational companies paying kickbacks and illegal commissions on contracts with Iran.
"It is disappointing... that there has been this kind of thing on the scale that has come out," he said. "And it is unfortunate... the way it has come out."
"Bribe" hits again

Bribe hits again

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A Cleveland man who stole a Greyhound bus Tuesday and got help from a suburban police officer when it broke down finally was caught when he went back to try to steal another bus, police said.
Police said Beachwood Police Officer William Gers called a tow truck for the suspect, 22, when the bus stalled in nearby Heathwood. Gers said the suspect rode back to the Greyhound garage and then left, saying he was going to see the supervisor about getting another bus for his "shuttle run."

George quits

LONDON (UPI) — Lord George Brown, deputy leader of the Labor party for 10 years and Foreign Secretary from 1974 to 1976, resigned from the party to protect his political future.
George Brown, 61, said in a statement, "The Labor party has become part of the Establishment... It will be nothing if it ceases to be the defender of individual freedoms."

Prayer first

EATON RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — It will be prayer first, then patriotism this Bicentennial year in Eaton Rapids.
The citizens of this southern Michigan city of 4,394 will celebrate July 4th one day late because July 4 falls on a Sunday and ministers said religion should take precedence over all the fireworks and parades marking the nation's 200th birthday.
The city council agreed.

New 'community'

A TEMPORARY housing development of tents has sprung up in Manhattan, Kan., with streets such as Hartman Avenue named after Wildcat basketball personalities and coach Jack Hartman. The "community" of K-State basketball fans, outside Aberrant Field House, home of the Wildcats, began appearing today as anxious fans await the opening of the docu-look of the game between K-State and Missouri. (UPI)

Sheila wins pancake race again

LIBERAL, Kan. (UPI) — Pancake race champion Sheila Turner doesn't mind whether she runs in track shoes on a cinder course or in an apron with a handle in her hand in a street. It's still a race.
Mrs. Turner, 22, won the 27th annual Shrove Tuesday race for the second year in a row, beating the winner of the Olney, England, competition by 1.3 seconds. Her time of 59.7 seconds over the S-shaped, 415-yard course compared to the world record she set last year of 58.5 seconds.
"I don't really think there is a secret. You just get out there and run as hard as you can," said the mother of one and wife of an oil field worker.
Sheila ran hurdles and relayed at her high school and junior college track teams and said track is her favorite sport.
But pancakes are not her favorite food.
"My favorite food is probably Mexican food," she said, adding "but she eats pancakes because she's a runner." "I'm not a runner. After the while" but more often than she did a year ago when she said after the race, "I can take 'em or leave 'em."
Susan Hillier, 25-year-old wife of an oilfield team book-binder, won the Olney race in 61 seconds. Both winners received a traditional kiss of peace at the finish line.
About 2,000 spectators lined the race course at Liberal, including Gov. Robert F.

Bennett and a mining prospector from New Mexico who made authentic sourdough pancakes for the runners. The Liberal race was followed by the Olney race. The hundreds of spectators crowded into the village church for a traditional service conducted by the vicar the Rev. Donald Collins.
According to legend, pancake racing began 500 years ago when a British housewife was fixing pancakes on Shrove Tuesday to use up animal fat before Lent when she heard church bells calling townspeople to services. In her

Encyclopedia firms investigated by FTC

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission announced today an investigation aimed at encyclopedia companies whose fast-talking salesmen mislead customers into thinking they are getting something free when they enroll.
FTC sources said among things the commission will check is whether the companies are using a sales pitch which tells customers falsely they have been selected to receive special price offers.
Investigators also will look for misrepresentation in telling customers they will receive encyclopaedia volumes for nothing if they buy year-

CB's 'new tool' for drug runners

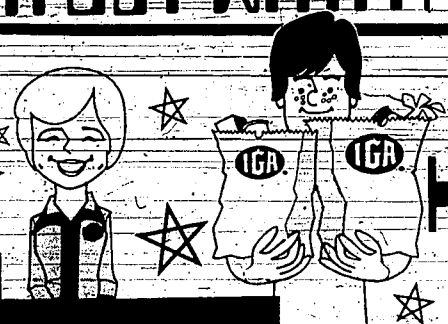

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — New Mexico State Police say citizen band radios, a handy tool for motorists trying to avoid speeding tickets, are also popular equipment for drug runners.
"It's become just another tool for individuals transporting contraband," said Sgt. Roll Curran, a state police narcotics officer.
State police have mixed reactions about the rapidly expanding use of citizen band radios. Although they can be used to assist law enforcement, their prime use seems to be by speeding motorists trying to avoid police.
Since a large amount of drugs is smuggled through New Mexico on its highways, the CB radio is helping drug runners avoid police for a different reason.
Curran estimates 75 per cent of all state police seizures of more than 100 pounds of drugs, particularly marijuana, have involved the use of a CB radio in some form.
"About 90 per cent of the traffic on the CB radios is to find out where 'Smoko' (a police officer) is at, and you don't know whether the person wants to know that because he's speeding or because he's carrying a load of grass across the state," Curran said. "The drug runners are getting the hate so they stay in the church with skilled and panicle in hand. It became a tradition in Olney and the Liberal women proposed an International competition in 1950.

But Curran and Capt. M.K. Alexander say there are no advantages for police officers in the growing use of CB radios.
Alexander said 115 of the state police cruisers are now equipped with CB radios, roughly half of the black and white units on the force.
"I think it more than it harms it," said Curran.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1970 by Charles Scribner's Sons, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Mrs. Ready Kilowatt wrote to you complaining that at bedtime, all her electrician husband wanted to do was talk about his business, while she had other things to mind.

You should have advised that wife to learn the lingo of her electrician husband so they could make contact that would be satisfactory to both.

FULLY CHARGED

DEAR FULLY: Why talk? Non-verbal communication is sometimes much more effective. Assuming that the husband's batteries aren't dead, the proper action could lower his resistance and increase his frequency.

Batteries need charge

DEAR ABBY: Last October you had a whole column on fire prevention and suggested having a hand fire extinguisher in every home. Well, that gave me an idea for my married son's Christmas present.

It should make you feel real good to know that gift turned out to be a lifesaver for my son, his wife, two small children and their home!

Words cannot express my gratitude to you, Abby!

CANADIAN

DEAR CANADIAN: Thank! Your letter made my day.

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked you if you thought a grandmother should be expected to sit with grandchildren who were rude and disrespectful. She said she had two married sons who each had two little boys under 10. The sons of one family were a joy to sit with, so she often did, but the other two boys were mean and mouthy, so she refused to sit with them. Her problem was that she was being criticized for playing favorites. You told her to turn a deaf ear to the criticism.

Well, Abby, CRITICIZED made her first mistake when she didn't correct her disobedient grandchildren the first time they got out of line.

One grandson sass me, so I told him that his Daddy didn't sass me when he was growing up and that I wasn't going to put up with it from him, either. Then I gave him a smack and set him down. He was so surprised he sassed me again, so I gave him another smack and set him down again. That was our first and last scene.

Late, I warned his younger sister, "You'd better mind Granding or you'll get what your brother got."

Try to win their respect with love and firm discipline. If it doesn't work, refuse to babysit. Who needs frayed nerves and a headache?

NO NAME, PLEASE

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS MOORE

Invitation received

TWIN FALLS—Members of Magic Chapter No. 82, Order of the Eastern Star, were given an invitation for a meeting of the 19th International Order of Job's Daughters, during a meeting Monday.

The Job's Daughters meeting will honor Masons and members of the OES Monday and will be preceded by a dinner. Those planning to attend the dinner are asked to contact Marian Langdon, director of the meeting.

Plans were made for a program to be given at a meeting of Filer Chapter No. 40 tonight. Grand chapter proceedings were reviewed.

Mrs. Bruce Glendon reported on the sick and visiting committee. The prize and fun night of the pinocle marathon will be March 29. All members are invited to attend.

"Fast matrons" past patrons and "joyous" members will be honored at the next meeting.

Mrs. Richard Pence served as acting chaplain. Mrs. James Page was acting associate conductress.

Members were reminded of the Hatley friendship night, March 15, Richfield, friendship night Saturday, and homecoming of the worthy grand patron, Bill Clark, March 13 at the Twin Falls Masonic Temple.

HANSEN—Kim Elliott and Douglas L. Moore were married in a ceremony at the Kimberly Christian Church.

Rev. Richard Butler conducted the candlelight ceremony before an altar decorated with pink-tinted bouquets of pink chrysanthemums, pink gladioli, burgundy mums and baby's breath.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia K. Elliott, Lakewood, Colo., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Moore, Hansen.

Given in marriage by Clifford B. Lame, the bride wore a floor-length gown of champagne tulle with long sleeves, a fitted bodice and long sleeves. The bodice and upper portion of the sleeves were trimmed with rosepoint lace. The standard collar was trimmed with a ruffe and the full sheer lower sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs trimmed with lace and a ruffe.

Her elbow-length veil of silk tulle from Hansen was held in place by a matching queen's cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses, pink baby's breath and burgundy roses.

Ginger Norman, Lakewood, Colo., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shalene Mortensen, Pocatello, and Marjela Peterson, Murghugh, Kim Ferry, Milwaukee, Ore., was flower girl.

Maria Maria Hansen was best man. Groomsmen were Greg Moore, brother of the bridegroom, and Ken Henry Dave-Russell and Jim Lame were ushers.

Mrs. Ginger Butler, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book. Shavna Mason and Debbie Farley cared for the girls.

The couple was honored at a reception at the church after the ceremony. Decorations were in pink and burgundy colors.

Quartet tables were covered with pink tablecloths and centered with brands snifters holding rosebud posies.

The wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and centered on a lace cover, ed table.

Serving were Mrs. Tammy Russell, Gene Johnson, Mrs. Charles Scott, Mrs. Arty Hancock and Mrs. Raymond Butler. The cake was baked by Mrs. Lewis Reed.

The couple was also honored at a reception Feb. 12 at the Green Mountain Townhouse Clubhouse One, Lakewood, Colo.

Pink and white carnations and roses were used as decorations. The three-tiered wedding cake was placed on a lace covered table. Serving were Mrs. Alta Rice, Mrs. Marie Hill and Mrs. Edna Hanson, Lakewood.

The couple was honored at a pre-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Dennis Butler.

The bride is a graduate of Bear Creek High School. She attended Idaho State University and is employed by Farmers Insurance Co., Pocatello.

The bridegroom is a grandson of Mrs. Beulah Reed, Hansen. He is a graduate of Hansen High School and a 1975 graduate of the Idaho State University Vocational-Technical School of diesel mechanics. He is employed by Dand J Diesel, Pocatello.

After a honeymoon trip in Lakewood, the couple moves in Pocatello.

King and queen plan visit to US in June

WASHINGTON (UPI)—King Juan Carlos and Queen Sophia of Spain will visit the United States in June at the invitation of President Ford.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Tuesday.

Nessen said the visit will underline "the importance" the United States attaches to "relations with Spain and the contribution to America of the Spanish."

The king and queen will be in Washington June 2 and 3, he said.

The visit will mark Juan Carlos' first major foreign trip since becoming king following the death last year of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, who ruled Spain for 40 years. Carlos reinstated the monarchy that fell in 1931 when a military coup overthrew the king.

Ford issued the invitation in May when visiting Franco, asking Juan Carlos to make the trip.

The visit follows a Washington Madrid agreement on a new defense pact giving U.S. ships and planes strategic bases in Spain. It also underlines the American attempt to bring Spain into the western defense alliance despite the hesitations of such allies as Britain and France.

Match-point play with its emphasis on over-tricks should tend to help a rubber-bridge player in finding out special ways to score the contract trick.
 South finds himself in a slightly unsound four-heart contract after East has opened the bidding with one no-trump.
 It is not too unsound. South will have 10 tricks if he can pick up the queen of clubs. Naturally, enough, he postpones the club play until the end of the hand and before he gets around to it he will have found that West held the kind of spades.

 Therefore, in order for East to have more than 15 high-card points and a proper notrump East will be holding that black lady.
 Now South attacks clubs by leading the jack from dummy. If East ducks, South lets it ride; if East covers South's spade cards, to increase successfully against West's 10 spot.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know if we would open the bidding with one spade if holding:
 ♠ A L J 8 2
 ♥ A 10 3
 ♦ A 10 2
 ♣ A 10 2
 Our answer is that we like to open this hand. We count our spot cards in the black suits as fully worth two points and open in spite of holding only 10 actual high-card points.

It would seem that dry skin should become dewier soon, as the end of winter approaches. Au contraire, the skin becomes drier to show its resentment over a lack of protection.

Dry skin can never be over-treated—Moisturizing cosmetics serve the purpose. Number one in this category is liquid, stick or cream powder base, fortified with oils. It may be tinted or untinted. If tinted, the flattering shade matches your skin tone. It should be faced with pink to play down sallowness, as need be.

Pale skin sometimes benefits from an underbase. There are two types: deeply moisturized and tinted to correct faulty skin coloring; formulated to give the appearance of a smooth complexion for several hours. Effects are good, but do not expect miracles.

Be sure to remove powder base with a creamy cleanser and skin freshener. Wash before retiring with a superfatted soap.

As the sun puts out springtime warmth, do apply a sunscreen when you expect to be outdoors for long. A suitable sunscreen is moisturized, greaseless and strongly fortified against burning rays. A hat and deep shade are recommended for fast-weathering complexions. Tan today, wrinkle tomorrow!

NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN

For ways to keep your skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN. It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, exfoliate, protect and make up for dryness. To obtain your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

recite nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS— Pamela Guthrie and Gary Van Engelen were united in marriage by Rev. Robert Van Nest in the First Presbyterian Church, Twin Falls, on Feb. 14.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Holt and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Engelen, all Twin Falls.
The bride wore a floor length white satin gown of pearlescent sole trimmed with re-embroidered lace along the pinaflore style bodice, down the sides of the A-line skirt and across the bottom edge of the skirt and chapel train. The bishop sleeves were trimmed with a wide ruffle and finished with re-embroidered lace.
The bride wore a Jersey bandeau with a side flower trim and three-shoulder length veil. She carried a nosegay of rosebuds with baby's breath and stilled tied with white ribbon.
The matron-of-honor was Mrs. Vicki Jones and the flower-girl was Monica Garrett.
Best-man was Robert Dillon and ushers were Bill Van Engelen and David Van Engelen. Ringbearer was Troy Guthrie.
A reception was held at the Van Engelen home. Table decorations featured candles and red and white flowers in candleabra flower holders.
Reception assistants were Judy Pellow, Jan Garrett, Diane and Debbie Van Engelen, and Sherry Scruggs. In charge of the guestbook was Marilyn Gaskill.
The bride is employed by the Magic Valley Medical Center and the bridegroom is employed by Vans Department Store.
A wedding trip was made to Disneyland and the couple will live at 651 Madison Circle, Twin Falls.

Auxiliary meets

TWIN FALLS—The Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary held its general membership meeting Monday in the hospital auditorium with Flo Harper, president, conducting the business meeting. New member Marge Theisen, Kimberly, was introduced by Mae Chatterton, membership chairman.
The March meeting is annually devoted to regulations and rules and regulations are reviewed. Miss Harper prepared and narrated a slide presentation of pamphlets—photographing the story of the organization and progress of the auxiliary since its beginning in 1959.
An area leadership conference sponsored by the Idaho Hospital Association's Council on Auxiliaries will be held at the Rodeway Inn in Boise on March 23 and 24. Elsie Rosenbaum announced the auxiliary is sending four representatives.
The annual auxiliary spring awards luncheon and style show will be held at the Turf Club on April 5 at 1 p.m. Barbara McKain is general chairman for the event. Tickets are being purchased from ticket chairman Betty Jackson by calling 733-2929.

MR. AND MRS. GARY VAN ENGELEN

Couple marries

BURLEY—Betsy Daggett McMurray, Burley, and Grant Blanger, Oakley, were married in a Feb. 20 ceremony at the home of the bride.
The bride was born and reared in Burley. She is a 1948 graduate of Burley High School and a 1950 graduate of Ogden Business College. She did office work in Burley and Idaho Falls. She has four children, Patrick, Danny and Lisa McMurray, Ivan Daggett, Idaho Falls, is her brother.
Blanger was reared in Oakley. He is a member of the Civil Air Patrol and is employed by Anderson Brothers, Oakley.

Your new car. Could come from 20 manufacturers, in a dozen countries. Your choice could be logical, or emotional. Rational or irrational. It's a personal thing. Any one is a fine car. They are getting better all the time. But one loan is the obvious choice for every car.

The Timeway Simple Interest Auto Loan from First Security.

Simple Interest means you can control the cost of your loan. And when you pay it. If your situation changes, for better or for worse, your Simple Interest loan can accommodate you. By saving you interest, or giving you a breather. By giving you options that simply aren't available with other types of financing. Your dealer, or the Timeway loan man at First Security will be happy to give you the details. It's your kind of loan.

Tri-county unit mulls rim plans

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer
JEROME — A program for preservation and control of the Snake River Canyon Rim is still being contemplated by county commissioners from Jerome, Twin Falls and Gooding counties, despite organizational problems.

willings to attend the meetings and work. Merl Leonard, Twin Falls County Commissioner, said the idea for forming a tri-county study group originated in Twin Falls for the specific reason of correlating zoning and land use along the canyon rim, since "one side of the canyon complements the other side," Leonard said.

Snake River Canyon has already been made by the Bureau of Land Management. Herold said BLM has compiled a study which sets forth what the BLM plans to do with its land along the Snake River, which according to Johnson, the FVW supports wholeheartedly.

Minidoka land plan attacked

RUPERT — The first public attack on the new proposed city-county comprehensive plan for Minidoka County has come from the City of Rupert.

HAILEY — Who will take my subdivision? Ken Borchers, Sun Valley developer, asked the Halley Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday if the city will be annexing a parcel of land he wants to develop.

Proposed water supply bank explained

BY BILL LAZARUS Times-News Capital Bureau
BOISE — The State Water Supply Bank would help make available up to 1.2 million acre feet of water for development by the year 2020, under the proposed state water plan for the Snake River Basin.

said, but "in cases where such sales do not occur the water bank could be used. Installation of sprinklers, he said, would cause most of the projected 1.2 million acre feet of water saving. An acre foot is the amount of water necessary to cover an acre of land with a foot of water.

$3 per acre because of lower operation, maintenance and construction loan costs. Because the water payments are lower in the Twin Falls area, he said, the Twin Falls water would be more valuable than the Boise water.

Determinations also would have to be made regarding where the water could be sold. If the water were purchased in the Twin Falls area, he said, there would be some desire to keep it in that area. But, he said, consideration also would be made for directing water to areas in which new development is taking place.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is good for using your vitality to get much done and to test your abilities. The afternoon and evening bring obstacles to dampen your ardor.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you get an early start at whatever is important, you have fine results following. Enjoy the social this evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get the support needed from a higher-up for an important project you have in mind. Obtain data from the right source.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Friends can be helpful in the morning but are likely to be testy later, so use good judgment. Sidelstep an argument.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to handle a confidential matter wisely. A career plan should be put in operation without delay.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan some changes you want to make early and then handle regular routines. Cultivate a new acquaintance in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can handle an obligation well, but avoid persons whose views are different from yours. Use good judgment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Make sure you keep a promise you've made to an associate. A plan you have in mind may not work out as you wish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You are enthusiastic in the morning about your work but later become lackadaisical. Don't neglect needed exercise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Engage in those creative outlets that are important early in the day and then go out for recreation's joy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use wisdom in the handling of any problematical affairs at home and you avoid trouble. Take it easy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle important tasks early in the day. Later study your financial situation. Use extreme care in motion tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You know how to handle a practical affair so put your talent to work early in the day. Use your own good judgment.

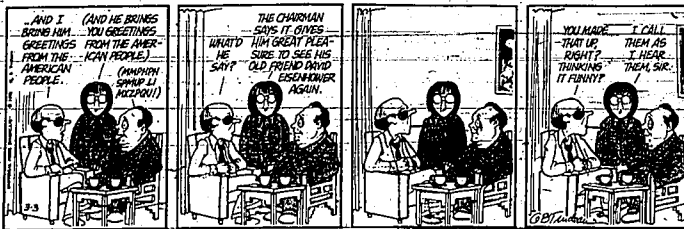

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will require a fine education to become successful. Teach to finish whatever has once been started, since there is a tendency to jump from one thing to the other before it is completed, owing to the many talents.

An essential ingredient in fertilizer is sodium nitrate. Makes the flora grow in a dandy manner. But a lot of it is in one spot though, and you get too much of a good thing. World's largest deposit of natural sodium nitrate is in northern Chile's Atacama Desert. Not much grows there.

PREMIER PAY

Q. "Compare the monthly income of President Gerald Ford with that of whoever is running the People's Republic of China now."

A. President Ford earns almost $17,000 a month plus expenses. What the new Chinese premier makes is unknown, but when Vice Premier Tang Shao-ling was holding down that job a few months ago, he was said to be pulling in only about $200 a month.

Did somebody say "race car"? Was a rare phrase inasmuch as it splits the same way both backwards and forwards? Not at all. Consider: Bird, rib, bomb, mob, party, trap, live devil, seven eyes, girl, pig, daff, dad, diary, dard, elite tile and gata tag.

HOPE CHEST

What our Language man is looking for now is another name for a hope chest. Numerous unmarried young ladies say they don't like the sound of that name. Not dignified enough. A hope chest in Australia is called a slinky box. Don't much care for that name, either. Life locker? Futures closet? No! No! No! I know a girl, still living with her folks, who stacks such collectibles as linens and flatware in a corner of her room which she calls "The Next Place." Any suggestions?

(Or use out-toll-free lines)

BURLEY — The Civil Air Patrol-Idaho wing conference will begin Friday at the Ramada Inn, Burley. The conference is being directed by Col. Mary Harris, Twin Falls, and her staff. According to Col. Harris, registration begins at 5 p.m. Friday and again at 7 a.m. on Saturday. A no-host dinner for the wing commander and her staff and the cadet selection board members and cadets meeting with the board is planned for Friday evening. The host squadron will be the Joe Eagle Squadron of Rupert. They will present the flag ceremony at 8:30 a.m. The morning will be occupied with general briefing of wing staff members.

In the afternoon a representative of the director of aeronautics will give a presentation. Following this presentation, there will be workshops for the different departments. There will be a dinner at 7:30 p.m. with Brig. Gen. Gene Hull as guest speaker. He is a member of the Air Force Reserves assigned to the Pentagon and, presently, teaching political science at the College of Southern Idaho. Other guests include Col. Clarence Fountain and Col. George Falkner of the Rocky Mountain CAP. Planners expect about 300 members to attend from throughout the state.

Twin Falls man arrested for 1st degree burglary

TWIN FALLS — Donald Gene Ballgame, 29, Twin Falls, has been arrested by city police on charges of first degree burglary. Detective Capt. Tim Qualls said Ballgame was charged with drugstore burglary in Twin Falls and also faces a number of county charges. Ballgame has been set at a total of $10,000. A Kerns, Utah, juvenile, who came to the Twin Falls police station to tell officers he was a runaway from Utah, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance. Officers reportedly found a quantity of marijuana among his personal items when he turned them in before being placed in a city jail cell.

Submarine veterans sought

TWIN FALLS — The U.S. Submarine Veterans of World War II are seeking but not survivors of the war in this part of the service. All officers and enlisted men who served on a submarine or submarine relief crew from Dec. 1, 1941 to Sept. 1, 1945 are eligible and have exclusive privilege of membership. Anyone eligible is asked to make himself and his whereabouts known. For information and application forms contact R. L. Mason, P. O. Box 391, McCall, 83308.

Funds used to 'cover retreat'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the past five years the federal government has used the $30.2 billion revenue sharing program to cover a retreat from questions on "poverty, racism, unemployment and urban decay," according to a report released today. The 2 1/2 year project, "Revenue Sharing: The Case for Reform," was conducted by the League of Women Voters Education Fund, Center for Community Change, National Urban Coalition, and the Center for National Policy Review. Despite initial administration disclaimers, the program has been used over the past five years to cover a retreat from the assumption of national responsibility to deal with problems of poverty, racism, unemployment and urban decay. The report said it would current fund by the League of Women Voters Education Fund, Center for Community Change, National Urban

A strong discriminatory impact on minorities and the poor results from the present use of per capita income to determine where the money goes, and the report recommended substituting the percentage of people below the poverty level for the per capita income to address needs more accurately. Black and Hispanic Americans along with women suffer discrimination both as job applicants and recipients of services.

Wood River seeks coach

HAILIGY — Applications for the position of head basketball coach currently are being accepted by Wood River High School.

The job opens this spring because current coach Fred Trenkle is returning to college to obtain his masters degree.

Those interested should mail their resumes and applications to: Athletic Director, Bill Bowman at the Hailig's office.

SEC signs contract with Sugar Bowl

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Southeastern Conference will sign a three-year pact Wednesday to send its football champion to the Sugar Bowl, SEC Commissioner Boyd McWhorter announced Tuesday.

McWhorter said the agreement calls for the SEC entry to get $750,000 per year which will be divided among league schools, far above recent Sugar Bowl payoffs.

If two teams tie for the league championship, the winner of the regular season game between the two will get the New Orleans bid. If the two teams did not play in the regular season, the team which played in the bowl most recently would lose the bid.

"And if neither team has been for the bowl, the Sugar Bowl Committee would make the choice."

"There will be no vote in the SEC on who will go," said McWhorter. "If they are going to be mad, I want them mad at the someone else, not within the league."

In other action on the opening day of the semi-annual SEC meeting, McWhorter announced a one game playoff will be held March 10 in Baton Rouge, La., if Alabama and Tennessee should tie for the league basketball title. Alabama would travel to Tennessee remaining games at Kentucky and Vanderbilt, and the Vols would have to win their finale with Georgia for a tie to occur.

Chargers sign Stikiller

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sammy Stikiller, who led the nation in passing in 1975 as quarterback for the University of Washington, signed a free agent contract Tuesday with the San Diego Chargers.

The club did not disclose terms of the contract with the 5-11, 185-pound Cherokee Indian who played with the Hawaiians of the defunct World Football League last season.

Stikiller tied out for the Los Angeles Rams in the summer of 1973 as a rookie free agent. After being dropped, he played briefly in 1974 with Toronto in the Canadian League.

Dodgers, Cards trade

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Dodgers traded out holder Willie Crawford to St. Louis Tuesday for second baseman Ted Sizemore, rookie of the year in the National League for Los Angeles in 1963.

Crawford, a 12 year veteran, came to the Dodgers out of high school and has played his entire career with them. The pitcher reached the superstar status predicted for him and his lifetime batting average is .262. He hit .369 last season.

Both players are 29 years old and no cash was involved in the deal.

Idaho State meets Boise State in first round of Big Sky tourney Friday

POCATELLO — The Idaho State Bengals, with the momentum of a six-game winning streak on their side, meet Boise State in the first round of the Big Sky Conference playoffs in Ogden.

ISU and the Broncos along with West Weber State all tied for first place in the league with a 9-5 record. Weber was chosen by lot to host the four-team single elimination tournament.

Both the Bengals and Boise sport 16-10 season records. Idaho State has hosted ISU twice by identical six-point margins, but Idaho State Coach Jim Killingsworth doesn't think that will make any difference in either team's pregame planning.

"There will be no psychological advantage to either team, and we'll be on a neutral court. Boise has been playing real well or they wouldn't be in first place. Both teams have progressed since their last meeting, and it should be a very close ball game."

Killingsworth sees few changes in either team's game plan.

"I don't think Boise will have to play well because of their balanced offense. They play well underneath and shoot from the outside. Boise will probably make some adjustments for us, but at this time of the year they'll do what get them in the playoffs. I don't think either team will stray away from its normal game plan."

Boise's starting lineup: center Pat Hoke, 6-8, 175 lbs.; forwards Trent Johnson, 6-8, 94 lbs. and Dan Jones, 6-7, 147 lbs.; guards Steve Connor, 6-2, 161 lbs. and Terry Miller, 6-4, 161 lbs.

Hoke leads in rebounding at 7.8 per game. Jones is hitting 59.3 per cent of his shots from the field, and Miller has led the ISU season assist record with 122.

Killingsworth laid the favorite's label on last Weber State, saying, "Winning on our last weekend's road trip shows how well they've been playing. They have to be favored, playing the fourth place team on their own court. Having center Al DeWitt in addition to their other big frontliners gives them added depth."

Looking at the host site, Wildcat Gym in Ogden, Killingsworth commented, "It doesn't make much difference to us that we'll be playing there since we always play well in Ogden. We always shoot well in Ogden. In past years we have won two of our last three in Ogden, and we lost three this year by one point."

Idaho State fought into the playoffs with a 25-23 (at the right fans, 25-23) win over Montana, and a 106-91 win over Montana State (talk about contrasts). Concerning the victory over Montana State, Killingsworth said, "I don't think there is any place in basketball for a complete stall." Since it was the second stall ISU has faced this year, and it was the nation's lowest scoring game this year, the Killingsworths a right to such strong feelings.

The games also had a deflating effect on ISU center Steve Hayes' bid to lead the conference for a second consecutive year in scoring and rebounding, and were bound to hurt his chances for national recognition.

Hayes apparently has won the league championships, although his scoring went down to 19.9 per game and rebounding dropped to 10.6 per game following four points, his only game scoring out of double figures, in a 106-91 win over Montana. Without the stalls Hayes' would average 20.9 ppg and 11.3 rebounds, both of which could place him in national rankings.

Taking an overall look at the weekend, Killingsworth said, "It's hard to judge the Montana game, but we played extremely well against Montana State. We did what we've been trying to do all year — when the opponents are concentrating on Steve Hayes we balanced scoring from others."

Greg Griffin in particular played well, getting 25 points, nine boards, and five assists. He also was the leading scorer against Montana on eight, including a driving lay in that put ISU up 21-21 with 1:26 left. Six Bengals were in double figures against MSU, with Hayes' 11 trailing the pack.

Guards Dennis Green and Ed Thompson closed out the regular-season campaigns. "Easy Ed" had eight assists and 11 counters against MSU, and his two thirties after time had elapsed defeated Montana. Green found his outside shooting eye after a couple of off games and had 16 against the Bengals.

Forward Frank Krahn has regained his scoring eye and then some, hitting six of seven against MSU. Since the season's early moments he is shooting over 50 per cent from the field. Another who is shooting well lately is sub-forward Brand Robinson, who is hitting 61 per cent from the field since January 1st. Other sub-looking good are huge Jeff Cook, and defensive-minded Larry Gahr and Matt Stranigan.

ISU has a slot at the following records, pending playoff results:

1. Individual field goal percentage — presently 55.4 per cent by Frank Krahn (51-92 in 1974); challenged by Steve Hayes (230-381, 59.3 per cent), and Brand Robinson (149-390, 54.4 per cent).
2. Individual rebounding percentage — presently 33.6 per cent by Jim Anderson (745-22 in 1974); challenged by Dennis Green (301-35, 86.6 per cent), and Ed Thompson (166-101, 85.1 per cent).
3. Team field goal percentage — presently held by 1972 team, 47.6 per cent, challenged by 47.9 per cent of the 1976 team.

Ed Thompson's 112 assists already is a school record for one season.

AIRBORNE Craig Falco of Wood River flies to the end of a drive over the back of Glenn McKay during A-2 action Tuesday night. Falco was called for an offensive foul and Wood River won 55-52.

Rieks-North Idaho playoff Thursday

Rieks College will meet North Idaho at 7 p.m. Thursday night in a playoff to see which enters the regional first round.

The two teams met at 7:30 during the regular season, necessitating the playoff. Meanwhile, with the opener only three days away, the Oregon entries still aren't firm.

Only College of Southern Idaho, which for the second time in its history completed the regular season with the national No. 1 ranking in hand, is announced. The Golden Eagles will play at 9 p.m. Friday against the Oregon runner-up over the other Idaho school plays the Oregon championship 7 p.m.

At stake in the regional is the berth in the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kans., March 15-20.

There is a possibility that CSI will have two games going on Thursday night in such circumstances, fans are notified that they will not be admitted to either game. Fans entering the early games would have to pay in to see the junior class and then leave the gymnasium to come back in to see the A-2 championship playoff.

That is necessary because the playoff falls under the purview of the NCAAA (Region III). The individual schools would have no say in it.

The two-game situation would arise if the A-2 tournament goes into a second championship night. It could logically end Wednesday evening.

Meanwhile, Coach Boyd Grant indicated three of his players are having a little health trouble, Kim Goetz, Kenny Davis and Eric Hovey. "They all seem a little weak with upset stomachs but they've all been to practice," the coach said.

"The coach isn't really feeling chipper himself."

"This is always the worst week of the year for me," he said. "Everything is riding on the line now. You know, it's one shot left."

"I know that my kids are going to come out ready to play both games. I know that. But I'm always wondering if someone isn't getting that other team more ready to play," he said.

"Once you get past regional the pressure is off a little. Your aim is to get to nationals. Of course you want to do that too, but it always has seemed to me that that was not a serious goal regional."

Coach Grant said he anticipated someone will try a slowdown against his Eagles sometime during the tournament. "I don't know that for sure, but I think that's how I play CSI if I was going in here with another team."

"That's why I'm in favor of the 30-second clock in all the games that I've been around basketball. I've found out one thing — the 30-second clock with the talent favor the 30-second clock. The others don't just like the coach with the big tall center would like to see the no-dunk rule removed. Last year, I was really against the 30-second clock. This year, I'd love to have it," he concluded.

There will be no advance ticket sales for the Thursday night Rieks-North Idaho playoff. But regional tickets may be purchased at the Blue Lakes branch of Idaho First National Bank, the downtown bank or at the CSI athletic department or business office.

CSI underwrites about $3,000 in expenses for the two-day meet, the funds going to participating teams for travel and meals and for game officials.

Wood River tops Filer, gains A-2 finals

Wood River blew past Filer 57-32 Tuesday night and into the class A-2 district tournament finals.

The Wolverines, who put the Wildcats away in the opening minutes of the third quarter, advance against undefeated Buhl at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the CSI gymnasium. Should Wood River defeat the Indians Wednesday night, an extra session will be played at 9 p.m. Thursday. If Buhl wins Wednesday, the Indians will complete a clean sweep over area A-2 competition and clinch a spot in the next week's slate playoffs in Pocatello.

The 9 p.m. provisional start for the extra session is due to the extra demand on the gymnasium for the Rieks-North Idaho junior college playoff, slated for 7 p.m. Thursday in the gymnasium.

A-2 fans are reminded that this will not be a doubleheader game. These fans wishing to attend both games will have to pay twice since the junior college playoff is in the hands of region III.

NCAAA, and out of the control of local jurisdiction. The gymnasium will be emptied between games.

Filer had the opportunity to give Wood River fits as it penetrated often for inside shots and had seemingly dozens of close-in rebound attempts through the first half. But only a very few would fall.

Wood River hit 10 of the first 12 points in the third quarter to build up a 15-point lead. That expanded to 18 before fault coaches went to the benches.

Filer had the lead only twice, at 1-0 and 3-1 when Wood River turned on a 1-3-1 trap defense that threw the Wildcats for several minutes. During that span Craig Falco, Robin Tracy and Barry Wolf hit a field goal each and House came up with two threes. Tracy wound up that outburst with a follow shot and a 13-3 lead.

Tom Williamson helped sparked Filer back to within five at the end of the period and Filer stayed within three to five over the first six minutes of the second quarter.

The Filer hurry ended with 2:24 left in the half after Jerry Shaffer and McKay had brought it to within one at 22-21. The Wildcats then went the rest of the half without a point while House, Handy Linderman and Warr showed Wood River to a 21-20 half-time advantage.

Linderman, Falco and Tracy opened the second half with two points each before Williamson scored for Filer. Warr then ran in two straight buckets to make (23-21) and it was over.

Tiger-Devsils, GF-Bulldog semi-finals slated tonight

Upstart Dietrich meets Richfield at Gooding while Glenn Perry battles with Kimberly Wednesday as A-3 and A-4 action resumes.

The two matchups are championship semi-finals with the A-3 being the largest since it will clinch a spot in the state tournament for the winner. Not first place, but a state berth.

At Gooding, the winner will advance to within one win of both the title and the state tournament — but it might require a couple of games to cement all that down.

Before these games, Canas County will meet Carey at 7 p.m. at Gooding, the loser going out while Westside takes on Shoshone at 6:45 p.m. at Wendell, another loser out.

Kimberly and Glenn Perry bring the old best records in Magic Valley to their semi-finals. Kimberly was 19-Fand Glenn Perry 16-4 during the year. They split in the Little Five conference and shared the title.

Glenn Perry beat Kimberly — at home with Kimberly nipping the Panthers over the air the remainder of Kimberly.

Dietrich has had "things going for it" in the A-4 tournament, defense and usually early hot hand by Lari Perron. Another thing gutting Dietrich is the fact the Devils have lost twice to Richfield. They have to be a little more slug and Richfield perhaps a little complacent about that recent history.

Canas County and Carey split during the season and, with Richfield, co-held the Northside Conference title in the Basist/T drawings. They entered the event as the No. 1 and No. 2 seeds.

Both tournaments continue Thursday night with the Westside Shoshone winner meeting the Glenn Perry-Kimberly loser at Wendell in a single game. The Canas County-Carey winner plays the Dietrich-Richfield loser at Gooding. That one will favor

Lurie, total stranger buy Giants

Yesterday's rookie tomorrow's millionaire

NEW YORK (UPI) — Super smooth Freddie Lynn, first ever to be named MVP and Rookie of the Year in the same season, has let the Boston Red Sox know he is willing to sign a three-year package with them totaling $13 million.

While the baseball market and players have been trying to work out a new Basic Agreement the past 76 weeks, negotiations over Lynn's contract have been taking place over the long distance telephone almost daily between his business representative, Jerry Kapstein, and John Chalbone of the Red Sox.

Both vigorously denied a published report Tuesday that the 23-year-old centerfielder was asking for $2 million — including salary, a bonus, and an insurance policy — over a three-year period.

"Those figures are not correct," said Kapstein from his home in Springfield, Va. "I made out a request for $1 million and that is what I have talked and will continue to talk in good faith, and in confidence, with John Chalbone. My only comment other than that is I feel Fred Lynn is worth every penny I'm asking for him. We did not put our figures out of threat."

Branding the published $2 million figure which Lynn is supposed to be asking as "absolutely false," Chalbone said the second-year outfielder had never asked for that.

"We made our original offer and he has told us what he wants," said Chalbone in Tampa, Fla. "Where do we stand now? I'm negotiating with Jerry Kapstein, and that's where we stand."

Kapstein is baseball's busiest player adviser. He represents 75 major leaguers, including Carlisle Fisk and Rick Burdison with the Red Sox as well as Lynn.

While neither Kapstein nor Chalbone would talk specific figures, Lynn is known to be seeking a multi-year contract. He'd prefer one for three years or even four but might be persuaded to sign a two-year term.

According to the published $2 million report, Lynn is asking for escalated figures over the next three years, starting with $35,000 this year, $150,000 next year and $250,000 the year after. That would total $495,000 over three years and those figures are understood to be close to what Lynn is seeking.

He also would be given a $500,000 insurance by the Red Sox, similar to the policy Jim Caffery Hunter received when he signed as a free agent with the New York Yankees last year.

In addition, the report said Lynn wants a six-figure bonus should the Red Sox get into the World Series again.

That part of the report isn't true, although Lynn is seeking a number of incentive bonuses, and when everything he's asking for is lumped together, it comes to $1.3 million over three years.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Financier Bob Lurie and Phoenix meat packer Bud Herseth purchased the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night and Bill Higney immediately was named manager of the club which will remain in San Francisco.

The National League, after the first meeting, gave its blessings to the new ownership with a unanimous vote. Purchase price of the financially plagued club was $8 million in cash to Higney Stadium and the National Exhibition Co. Lurie will own 51 per cent of the new organization and Herseth 49 per cent.

Higney, who was the Giants' manager when the club moved from New York to San Francisco in 1958, was the odds-on choice to become manager if Lurie was successful in obtaining the club. Lurie had hoped to put off naming a manager until Wednesday but Herseth tipped the word in Phoenix.

"Mr. Lurie just said Bill Higney is going to be our manager and I guess you can quote that because he already said that I think I might go along with it," Herseth said. "Like Lurie, he was overjoyed in owning a major league baseball team."

"Naturally, I'm delighted," said Lurie. "This is something I have been after for a long time. I think we are going to do all right on the field and we are going to be entertaining to the point where, people, will come and see us."

"I bought in for a combination of business and pleasure," said Herseth. "I'm a meat packer — kind of a tough old life — and I have a few dollars. I'm 55 and I thought I'd spend a little of my life trying to promote pleasure instead of business."

Left out in the cold was sportswriter Bob Short, who had sought to buy the club in partnership with Lurie but was not acceptable to the other 11 club owners in the National League. One report had it that the club owners didn't like that partnership because Short's 25 per cent was in paper and not cash.

Lurie and Short, who once owned the basketball Lakers and the American League Senators-Rangers, had been given approval by the N.L. at a meeting in Chicago last week but several unnamed conditions were imposed on them before they could complete the purchase.

Lurie came home from Minneapolis Monday afternoon, after spending three days with Short, who is in Minneapolis hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a fall. He announced they needed more time to get their deal straightened.

National League president Charles "Chub" Feeney polled club owners Tuesday morning for their reaction and they told Lurie flatly they didn't want Short.

Then Lurie called Herseth, who owns the largest meal packing plant in the Phoenix area, on a suggestion by Mayor George Moscone.

"I was a little bit of a reluctant Lurie said. "We talked only a few minutes and he was agreeable to coming in with me. I can't tell you how much San Francisco baseball fans love this man. Without him, I don't believe we could have made the deal. Also, the mayor deserves a lot of credit. He was in this with me every step of the way."

As for Short, Lurie said only that he was genuinely sorry he couldn't put over the deal with him.

"I have a lot of respect and admiration for Bob Short," Lurie said. "I'm sorry things didn't work out, but he'll be back in baseball again one day."

Lurie said Herseth will come to San Francisco on Wednesday to be introduced around.

"I don't know the man all that well," said Lurie, who has realized a lifelong dream by finally winding up as the owner of a Major League baseball team. "But I hope to get real acquainted in the days ahead."

They tell me he is a helluva sports fan."

Lurie, by owning 51 per cent in the "new" Giants, will serve as chief executive officer and president of the club in league meetings, although Herseth will, according to Lurie, share equal responsibility.

In Minneapolis, Short said he and Lurie were unable to complete the deal because Senators-Rangers had been given approval by the N.L. at a meeting in Chicago last week but several unnamed conditions were imposed on them before they could complete the purchase.

Lurie came home from Minneapolis Monday afternoon, after spending three days with Short, who is in Minneapolis hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a fall. He announced they needed more time to get their deal straightened.

"Bob is a nice guy but he is inexperienced in baseball," said Short. "Acting for my partners — MFL Corp. of Minnesota — I believed I should be the club spokesman in league matters. If I'm sorry, too, we couldn't work it out and I have sent my apologies to Mayor Moscone."

The National League office issued a simple statement upon approving the Lurie-Herseth purchase.

"The National League today approved the purchase of the San Francisco Giants by Bob Lurie and Bud Herseth of Phoenix, and the club will remain in San Francisco," a league spokesman announced.

"Lurie will own 51 per cent and Herseth 49 per cent and Lurie will serve as the club spokesman in league matters."

N.M. players won't practice

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — The University of New Mexico basketball team, mired in a dispute between coach Norm Ellenberger and five players who want him fired, took the day off from practice Tuesday.

The labors of the Western Athletic Conference race and about to complete a disappointing season, will take on the University of Texas-El Paso Saturday night in a final WAC game. A win by the Miners could put them into a post season tournament since they are currently second in the league with a record.

Five team members and a former player Monday said they would not return to the squad next season if Ellenberger was still the coach.

Ellenberger has two years to go on his current contract and Athletic Director Lavon McDonald told the unhappy team members there were no coaching changes anticipated.

"You have one man to run the team and he does the job," McDonald said. "Norm is going to be the coach next season."

The five current team members—Ricky Williams, Dale Slaughter, Larry Gray, George Berry and Mike Patterson—were joined by former labo player Larry Forte in a lengthy meeting with Ellenberger. All have one or two years of eligibility left with Williams, Gray Berry and Patterson currently starters on the team which is 15-11 overall and 7-6 in the WAC.

Kapp says Rozelle killed his NFL career

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An attorney for Joe Kapp in his damages suit against the New England Patriots and the National Football League said Tuesday during a three-hour opening statement to the jury that NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle kicked the star quarterback back out of football and deprived him from making a living.

The attorney, Charles E. Hanger of San Francisco, said evidence he will present during the trial, in which Kapp is seeking damages, will show that Charles H. Sullivan, president of the Patriots, was perfectly willing to let Kapp play under a memorandum he had signed in 1970 but he was over-ruled by Rozelle.

"We will present evidence in this case," Hanger told the jury of four women and two men, "that Rozelle, as commissioner of the National Football League, over-ruled Sullivan and threw Joe Kapp out of football, thereby prohibiting Kapp from making a living."

"The fact Mr. Rozelle insisted Kapp sign a standard player's contract, a contract which has been found in violation of the anti-trust laws, will prove our case," Hanger continued. "The judge who is sitting in this case ruled that the players contract is illegal, and that is a contract Mr. Rozelle still upholds."

Hanger, a large man who might have played football himself, remained cool throughout his lengthy presentation to the jury. After a long afternoon session Judge William C. Swygert who interrupted Hanger every time he presented figures for a Wednesday when the defendants will make their opening statement, also expected to take up three hours.

Hanger and his group of attorneys are hopeful of putting Kapp on the stand Wednesday afternoon as their first of about 20 witnesses. The defense indicates it will call as many as 40 witnesses and Judge Swygert already is planning on a trial lasting at least three weeks and maybe four.

At the heart of the case is Kapp's claim that he didn't quit the Patriots in 1971 but was locked out after Rozelle insisted he sign a standard player's contract. He had signed a three-year memorandum with the Pats the year before calling for a total of $600,000. He received $154,000 of that amount at the time he left the club.

Ford drops use of term 'detente' but policy it represents not changed

WASHINGTON Star—President Ford has quit using the word "detente," but without changing the policy it has come to represent.

Ford's abandonment of the term comes at a time when the policy it symbolized has come under attack from his own Republican challenger, former governor of California Ronald Reagan, as a "one-way street" and has been defined by Moscow as permitting continued Communist gains.

Reagan, who is essentially on the defensive in the next big matchup with Ford, the Florida primary on March 9, is likely to seize on the President's statement as a sign of political weakness.

The administration has for some time been looking for a substitute label for its policy toward the Soviet Union. Under the name of detente, it had become increasingly controversial. But Ford offered no single handy term to replace it.

"I think what we ought to say," Ford said Monday, "is that the United States will meet with superpowers—the Soviet Union and with China—and seek to relax tensions so that we can continue a policy of peace through strength."

The emphasis on U. S. military strength followed Ford's increased military budget proposal and political criticism that this country's armed forces have declined in comparison with the Soviet Union's forces.

Reagan began criticizing the President's foreign and military policies last month. Some of Reagan's recent statements have paralleled criticisms long made by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and others.

The detente label, but not the idea of preserving peace by cooling off arms tensions with the Soviet Union, thus had become a political liability this year, in the opinion of some political observers. It was unclear, however, whether Ford had been hurt by the developing issue.

That political liability contrasts with the 1972 campaign, when then-President Richard M. Nixon used his trips to Moscow and Peking to political advantage.

Use of the term began Nixon's first term. He and his principal foreign policy adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, sought to expand Soviet-American relations in a way that it was hoped, would make war less likely.

Detente, derived from the French verb meaning "to slacken, release," was adopted in its English dictionary usage as "a slackening or relaxing, esp. an easing or relaxation of strained relations and political tensions between nations."

There was no adequate Anglo-Saxon equivalent.

"Detente is only a word that was coined," Ford said Monday in an interview with a Miami television station, WCKT. "I don't think it is applicable any more."

A high point of detente was the 1972 Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty with the Soviet Union, known as SALT I, and several related agreements. There also was talk of huge U. S. investments in developing Soviet natural resources for American use, tying together the economies of the two superpowers.

But the investment prospects had begun to fade by 1974. Second thoughts developed in this country over becoming dependent upon Soviet-controlled resources.

The second thoughts on this and other aspects of detente followed the 1973 Middle East war and the Arab oil embargo.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon, on his own initiative, will send a written report to the State Department on his China trip, a White House spokesman said today.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said a "functionary" at the White House had pressed notification from San Clemente, Calif., that the former president would send a report to the department. He said he did not know who at State would receive the report.

He said the report is on Nixon's own initiative and called it a "routine staffing matter" in terms of who at the White House received the word, although he made it clear it was not the President or a senior staffer.

Nessen said "if the people at the State Department feel there is anything in the report that needs to be conveyed to the President, I'm sure they will do it."

Nixon spent eight days in China and conferred with top-ranking Chinese officials, including Mao Tse Tung, for about nine hours.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled 6 to 2 today in a 1961 suit by Mary Alice Firestone against Time magazine, that publishers can be held liable for damages by negligently misinterpreting court decisions.

But five justices voted to send the $100,000 libel judgment back to Florida courts to further determine if Time actually was negligent in reporting that Mrs. Firestone was divorced, an adultery ground.

The ruling further narrows protections afforded the press since 1964 in reporting the activities of "public figures."

The court said Mrs. Firestone did not become a public figure merely because she married the son of the Firestone tire fortune or sued for divorce.

Under the 1964 decision, a person who thrust himself into the public limelight must prove an erroneous story was published with malice—either knowledge of falsity or reckless disregard of the truth.

In 1974, the court held that non-public figures seeking libel damages must only show that a publisher was negligent and that the false story was damaging.

In two other decisions today, the justices:

- Ruled that state prosecutors are immune from federal civil rights law for allowing false testimony.
- Required an effort by law federal civil service employees to have the Court of Claims resolve their attempt to win back pay for an alleged improper job classification.
- Although the Florida divorce judge noted testimony about Mrs. Firestone's alleged extramarital activities, which would have made Dr. Freud's hair curl, he awarded Russell Firestone a divorce—but required him to pay alimony. Under Florida law, alimony cannot be awarded an adulteress.

Weak calf syndrome incidence off in current Lemhi-Custer season

SALMON—Weak calf syndrome which took up to 50 per cent of newborn calves in some herds in Lemhi and Custer counties in 1972 and 1973, has not shown up to any great extent in the calfing season now in progress.

Dr. Cy Card, veterinary pathologist at the University of Idaho, said here that ranchers are experiencing a lot of "open winter" appears to be reducing the incidence of weak calf syndrome.

Research is continuing in the field to the cause of the disease.

Dr. Card said that from knowledge gained to date there are some management practices including proper nutrition in the dam that really contribute to the stress that allows some of these organisms such as adenovirus or BVD virus to infect the calves.

"That stress plus the possible deficiency in their immune system is thought to allow the causative agent to cause disease," he said.

"If the stress weren't there, this agent might live in or around the calf and not cause disease. What we think we have is a combination of management stress and infectious agent."

"We probably will never be able to entirely eliminate it but if we can minimize (the management stress) and get some kind of protective agent which might be in the form of a vaccine—we may be able to keep it at a low level in these herds."

Calving is now more than a third complete in Lemhi County.

Dr. Harlan Renshaw, bacteriologist, will be doing some blood studies on the immune system. Dr. Eric Stauber, virologist, is interested in taking more pressing blood samples and using these to try to determine how much adenovirus or BVD virus may be found in these calves.

One of the University's Department of Veterinary Science pathologists will probably be here at the same time looking at tissues from weak calves.

"We need a few more good cases for publication purposes, showing the different lesions that we have seen in weak calves," Dr. Card said.

"If we have enough good cases we will pull some tissues from these, take tissue samples, using them with a technique which is called FA (fluorescent antibody) to try to determine what tissues these viruses infect or attack."

Idaho potatoes advance

CHICAGO—Lima gains developed in potato futures Tuesday.

The May delivery of Idaho russets advanced 50 cents, closing at 11.90 per hundredweight.

Commodity News Service said, "Main potatoes closed mixed, with May and April up the limit. March gaining 24 points, and an early November off 2. Traders said the advance was due to short covering of the market."

Other months gained 10 to 42 points.

Park beetles chased lower bids, with March off 27 points while May through August down 35 to 57 points.

Sugar #1 traded in a narrow range, closing 17 1/2 points down on the spot market. #2 was up 10 points, settling 16 1/2 points lower. The world spot price was unchanged at 1.41 cents a pound but the domestic spot was off 45 cent at 15.40 cents a pound.

International Monetary Market gold recovered from early lows but ended with net losses of 39 cents to 1.40 an ounce, March setting the best recovery.

New York silver came under pressure from gold and grain, giving up 29 1/2 to 47 1/2 points in volume of 7,193 contracts. Liquidation by commission houses was in response to hedging pressure on grains.

Juvenile questioned

GREEN RIVER, Wyo. (UPI)—A juvenile is being questioned in the fatal shooting of a sheepherder at a camp five miles north of Green River, authorities said.

County Coroner Peter W. said Roberto Hernandez, 14, was shot three times with a .222 caliber rifle Sunday. The juvenile being held "work with the victim," he said.

Vase said after the shooting the younger sheepherder went to another sheep camp and reported the incident.

Islam convert

THE FIRST white woman to join the Nation of Islam, Dr. Dorothy Dorsey, 36, now named Dorothy 13X, looks every bit the nun she had planned to be in the early 60's as she chats with a friend during Savitar's Day celebration in Chicago Sunday. Dorothy 13X calls her conversion from Catholicism to Islam a "natural stage of her personal growth." Her religious garb marks a conversion to a faith to which no white could belong until last year, the Nation of Islam, which for years denounced whites as "blue eyed devils." Dr. Dorsey has a Ph.D. in sociology and anthropology. (UPI)

CB radio problems make it to 'Hill'

WASHINGTON — The soaring growth of Citizens Band Radio, which has caught government regulators by surprise — and caused them some consternation — is now receiving attention on Capitol Hill with proposed legislation to curb CB-caused interference and with promises to ease a mounting licensing jam.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., concerned over possible effects of illegal high-powered CB radios may have on airport flight-control equipment Monday called for congressional hearings to look into what he called "the CB phenomenon."

Eagleton pointed out that CB radio is useful in the event of breakdowns or accidents on highways — for providing updates on local traffic conditions and guidance for motorists — in unfamiliar surroundings.

But he pointed out that the extraordinary proliferation of these radio transmitters — 500,000 applications a month at the FCC, compared with 70,000 a year ago — has resulted in more than 60,000 complaints from the general public about CB interference to television, radio and stereo equipment.

Many of the problems are due to the lack of proper filtering mechanisms on the electronic equipment that is experiencing the interference," Eagleton said.

But, he added, "Some CB operators" illegally attach linear amplifiers in an effort to extend the broadcast range of their radio.

Phantom driver hits

LONDON (UPI) — The phantom bus driver of Muswell Hill was behind the wheel of the No. 134 doubledecker for only 200 yards late Monday.

But in that time he hit and wrecked five parked cars on the first corner as he accelerated the stolen bus away from its depot. Then he backed off, rounded the corner, and steamrolled another five automobiles.

After being smashed into a brick wall, knocking it down. Nothing damaged, he set off again, but was finally balked by a 30-foot tree on which he scored a direct hit.

The driver leaped out and fled into the night, leaving angry auto owners inspecting their wrecked vehicles.

A police spokesman, who said two youths might possibly have been involved, estimated the damage at "several thousand" pounds.

Hearst lawyer keeps 'exhausting pace'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Patricia Hearst trial was almost over for the day, and her attorney, F. Lee Bailey, dashed for the airport.

Destination: Las Vegas.

Flying in his private, twin-engine, eight-passenger craft, Bailey this week is making the round trip daily after the court sessions to give lectures to a lawyers' meeting in the gambling resort.

The pace is exhausting. Is he so confident of winning the Hearst case that he can take on the extra burden in the middle of it?

"I'm thinking about it as much up here as I would down there," he said during the journey. Besides, he said, his staff is on top of the case.

"He thought the trial would be over," said his wife Lynda.

Besides, Bailey has a personal interest in the sessions, which are a week-long school in trial advocacy. He said he and another lawyer formed the course. About 80 attorneys are attending, paying $300 each.

"That's $40,000 gross, but there are no profits after expenses," said Bailey. "The academic process is stimulating in itself, for all the rushing."

The rushing never stops.

Monday, 3:55 p.m.; Bailey hurries out of the courthouse and into a Cadillac, accompanied by his wife, associate attorney Henry Gonzalez and a reporter.

Two minutes later, the group, driven by Bailey investigator John McNally, is on the freeway, headed for San Francisco International Airport.

Bailey indicates he thinks the jury has made up its mind, saying, "I think we're beating a dead horse."

4:14 p.m.: The car pulls into the airport. Bailey's copilot, Dayo Savage, is waiting. Bailey often files his plane, but on this day, fighting off the flu and taking medication, he leaves the driving to Savage and helps himself to cigarettes and a foot drink.

"It relaxes me up there. I kick around what I'm going to do," says Bailey.

4:23: "Gosh," says Lynda Bailey, "we're taking off into a thunderstorm."

Gonzales laughs with glee.

"I used to be fearless," says Miss Bailey, a former airline stewardess. "But now I'm very nervous."

4:36: Smooth takeoff. No thunderstorm. San Francisco gleams below.

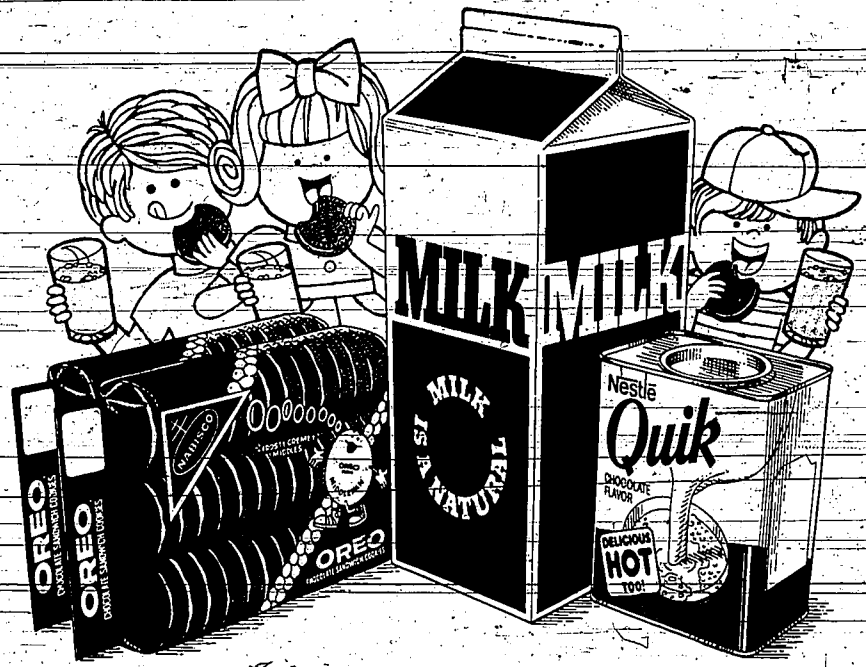

"I wish he'd take it easier," says Lynda Bailey of her husband. "I don't like to see the lines under his eyes get intense. It's frightening."

"With a little bit of care, he could last to be 100 instead of 70. Then nobody could talk about his young 86-year-old wife," she laughs.

She continues: "He seems to be able to drink about as much as he wants with no effect."

5:47: The lights of the Las Vegas Strip emerge through the clouds.
