License renewal muddle April Fool jest - maybe

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times News Writer
TWIN FALLS (UPI) — April Fool's joke may have been played on the vehicle owners of Idaho who stood in line for hours to buy low-priced license plates.

A local opinion, reportedly made by Faber, legal counsel for the Department of Transportation, and owned by Peter Hesser, chief deputy attorney general, would indicate persons who purchased license plates at a price increase may still have to make up the difference between the old and new rates.

Twin Falls County officials say they will ignore the opinion and give the motorists a break. Jack Pauley, administrator, motor vehicle division, Department of Law Enforcement, announced the department will not enforce the license plate law until Wednesday. He stated the opinion was that of Peter Hesser. This morning both Hesser and Atty. Gen. Wayne Kiddwell were unavailable for comment, but an office secretary said the opinion was not issued by Hesser, but from the office of Twag.

Newsman says CIA should seek better intelligence

MOSCOW (UPI) — David Halberstam, the Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, said Wednesday that the nation needs fewer tricks and better intelligence from the CIA.

Halberstam said better intelligence is what the CIA could have spared the United States from the Korean conflict and the Vietnam war.

He told those attending the University of Idaho's Borah Symposium that, "the more information available, the better the debate and the better the performance of government officials."

Halberstam explained why enough people will respond, but admitted that's not always the case.

"During the past 20 years because of our fears, we began to believe that totalitarianism was a force," he said. "That democracy was a luxury."

He said because the Soviet Union had a big seer power, the United States had to have a big CIA, "and because they were strong leaders, we began to invest powers" in the presidency plus rationals such as "the president has more information on foreign affairs than we do."

But, Halberstam said

America's greatest strength is the freedom of its citizens and their ability to change an imperfect and unfinished society through argument and debate.

A. Robert Smith, administrative assistant to Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, told the symposium that the American people should be made aware of the advantage the Soviet Union has over the United States in numbers of missiles, bombers and tanks.

Smith said it is important the United States has the military strength to make it unattractive for any country to want to go to war.

Swisher disagrees with Idaho jurist

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Ron Perry Swisher, D-Pocatello, disagreed with Idaho Supreme Court Justice Robert Bakes Wednesday about whether a layman should be appointed to the high court.

Swisher, who indicated he would be a candidate for the position vacated by the resignation of Justice Henry McQuade, told the Lewiston Morning Tribune in an interview while in the city enroute to a meeting it was high time a lawyer realized he doesn't own the court.

He said the courts "belong to the people."

Both Justice Robert Bakes and former Justice Theodore Coe D'Andrus' suggestion that a layman should be considered for nomination to the Idaho Supreme Court.

Bakes said the "sheer volume" of work of the high court required a person with legal background.

"My back doctor has absolutely forbidden me to play golf," Swisher said. "That means much more time than most lawyers to study cases before the court."

Swisher said he noticed that on appeals the high court is inclined to ask "did the appellant get his 's' or did the respondent cross his T's."

He said cases have been "brushed aside by what we laymen recognize as petty technicalities."

"The people would get more justice in the courtroom if there were less fuss over procedure and procedure," Swisher said.

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Nampa firemen have agreed to strike but have delayed a walkout for 24 hours in hopes management can be reached with the city.

The firemen voted Wednesday night to strike in support of their request for a six percent salary increase.

Jim Martinez, Boise, vice president of the Northwest District of the International Association of Fire Fighters, said the 24-hour moratorium will allow city officials and representatives of Local 864 to meet today to see if a contract agreement can be reached.

Church sees no changes soon in wilderness area

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Wednesday he has assurance no action will be taken in the next five years to alter the wilderness character of the proposed Idaho-Salmon five-breaks wilderness area.

Church earlier asked the Forest Service Chief John R. McGuire to notify him of any future plans which would "adversely alter" contiguous lands in the proposed wilderness area.

He said both Gov. Cecil Andrus and the River of No Return Wilderness Council have proposed a wilderness area significantly larger than that recommended by the Ford Administration.

"Any action to implement development which might alter the wilderness pattern of these contiguous areas would severely limit the options available to Congress. In addition, such developments would foreclose alternatives which are strongly supported by the public sector," Church wrote to McGuire.

McGuire responded that the forest service "does not plan any activities that are incompatible with maintaining the wilderness character of these areas of concern in the next five years."

However, McGuire gave no assurance that land use plans would not change after the five-year moratorium.

Three controversial planning unit studies are under consideration by the Forest Service — Warren in the Payette National Forest, Landmark in Boise National Forest, and Bearpaw-Dufferin in Salmon National Forest.

"Areas in question on these three planning units were studied during our original evaluation and again during our land use planning process," McGuire said. "We have not recommended them for wilderness consideration. However, no developments are planned in the next five years."

North Idaho rate hearings proceed

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho Public Utilities president Carl Shurtliff said Wednesday the next in a series of public hearings into a proposed $4 million gas and electric rate hike for Washington Water Power Co., will be held in three weeks.

Shurtliff said that a place had not yet been selected. He added it would be Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston or Moscow.

Eight witnesses testified at the opening hearing Tuesday including WWP President Wendell Smith.

He said the proposed two percent gas hike and 13 per cent electrical rate hike in the Gem state is necessary to maintain a fair rate of return on our investment.

"Our profits without the increase would be too low," Smith said.

Linda Palk, Moscow, testified against the rate hike, contending the utility, which has no competition, should reduce its public relations efforts, advertising and lobbying efforts before rate increases are approved.

Shurtliff said the process and public hearings would take several weeks to complete.

WWP also seeks a five per cent gas and 14 per cent electrical rate hike in Washington state.

Proficiency tests can help close gap

Are Idaho schools turning out poorly educated students? Judging from results of achievement tests administered to 15,403 high school juniors last year, the level of education in Idaho schools seems to be declining in relation to other parts of the nation...

A proposal now under consideration by the Idaho Board of Education would be a step in the right direction. The plan calls for a proficiency test of all high school students to measure their ability to read and write at a minimum level.

Unfortunately, the proficiency tests probably would mean more students dropping out of high school because they couldn't pass the exam. However, the test could encourage teachers to think of better instructional methods.

Learning the three R's—reading, writing and arithmetic, continues to be the most important reason for going to school. Without these skills, kids entering the real world at age 18 will find it difficult to fill out their tax forms, read the directions in an automobile repair manual, or write out a legible job application.

Right now Idaho students are below the national median in writing and reading skills. A test to make sure these skills are learned in high school represents a concrete way to improve the state educational system—where it is weakest.

Senate Victory

In 1956, Church set his sights on national office and took on Republican Sen. Frank Welker, who was seeking a second term. Welker was a conservative-leaning Republican and had been a strong defender of Sen. Joseph McCarthy's tactics...

The 1956 primary campaign was bitter, with Taylor accusing Church of being a "puppet" candidate of corporate politicians. In disputed returns, the political newcomer won the Democratic nomination by 200 votes...

On election day, the voters split their tickets in record numbers as Church won 70 percent of the vote. Church became the Senate's youngest member...

Church's initial Senate committee assignments were modest ones: Post Office and Civil Service, Interior and Insular Affairs and Public Works. He gave up the Post Office and Public Works positions in 1959 in a move to the more prestigious Foreign Relations Committee...

Because of his speaking ability and the party's desire to show off a promising new leader, Church was chosen as the keynote of the 1960 Democratic national convention. It was his first national exposure, and he planned carefully for it...

In 1962, Church lured his most serious electoral threat in Idaho from Republican Jack Hawley, the same candidate who had beaten him in 1952 in the state legislature...

His races in 1968 and 1974 were easier, as his seniority grew more important to Idaho and Republicans had been so effectively finding strong candidates to run against them...

Church's fourth term victory in 1974 was a major setback for conservative Republicans in former state Rep. Steve D. Symons' hometown, who campaigned on the general theme of opposition to "big government."

Idaho voters have allowed their senators to pursue a broad range of interests so long as local problems receive prompt attention. Church has been able to take advantage of this freedom to exert influence in many public arenas...

Foreign Affairs—His best known work in foreign affairs, which had been the special interest of his old old old, Boise, one of the leading isolationists of the 1920s...

Jack Spillmann

Church has been consistently skeptical about the effectiveness of the foreign aid program and has frequently offered amendments to reduce or restrict the scope of authorizations or appropriations. His activity in this area has caused him no problems in his career...

Church has favored use of American military power in specific instances in which he thought the national interests were clearly at stake, but he has argued for regular reexamination of foreign policy and military activities...

In 1962, Church had moved into the position of general opposition to Johnson administration policy in South Vietnam. He argued a bombing halt and continued the President against extending American commitment to the Saigon regime...

In 1972, an amendment by Church and Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) was the vehicle for insisting on a complete American military withdrawal throughout Southeast Asia...

Oilmen launch attacks on tax shelter curbs

Oilmen News Service

WASHINGTON — Independent oilmen have launched a broad attack on a House-passed measure to curb use of oil and gas tax shelters, saying the legislation will hurt domestic production and increase the nation's dependence on expensive imported crude.

At issue is a provision in the tax law which says that a limited oil and gas drilling is to take a full immediate deduction for "intangible drilling costs" such as labor, fuel and repairs in the tax year drilling takes place.

The provision is credited with attracting capital into the oil and gas industry from outside persons who want to be able to use the intangible drilling costs deduction to help offset other income they receive.

Independent producers, some of them small and medium-size concerns and individuals who drill 80 per cent of the oil wells in the United States, according to a Citicorp Bank analysis, say the deduction is necessary to help them raise capital for often risky drilling ventures, and to maintain the "cash flow" needed for rapid investment in new wells.

Use of the intangible drilling costs deduction would be severely limited by the passage of tax revision act passed by the House and now the subject of hearings before a Senate subcommittee on Finance Committee.

The House-passed bill would permit intangible drilling costs deductions to be taken only against income received from each individual oil or gas producing property. A wealthy outside investor would no longer be able to use the deduction against unrelated earnings to cut his taxable income from other sources.

The proposal to limit deduction of "artificial accounting losses" would apply only to development wells drilled in oil and gas pools that were already tapped by other wells.

It would leave tax shelter benefits unchanged if the drilling were for an exploratory well located at least two miles from existing wells or if a petroleum engineer could prove the drilling found a deeper reservoir from which no substantial amount of oil or gas previously had been taken.

Another proposed change would limit deductions for oil and gas intangible drilling costs to the amount of a partner's actual personal involvement in a venture, excluding loans for which the individual partner was not personally at risk.

Reagan takes drive to airwaves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald Reagan has taken his victory lap on the airwaves, campaigning for more than a week to concentrate on the 30-minute japed speech shown nationally over NBC Wednesday night and combined $100,000 for the prime time slot he would have won in cash to represent the depleted campaign coffers.

Reagan said Ford's military-foreign policy has placed the country in "danger and the danger grows with each passing day." He said the President's claims of a "solid economic recovery" are "independent of the boasts that preceded the recession after the 1972 elections."

Reagan said neither Ford nor Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld is willing to prevail on U.S. military superiority and added "the evidence mounts that we are No. 2 in a world where it is dangerous, if not fatal, to be second best."

On the economy, Reagan said the country must stop fighting the symptoms and start fighting the disease.

"There's only one cause for inflation — government spending more than government takes in," Reagan said. "The cause is a balanced budget."

'No-fault' buried

Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — No fault insurance, one of the major consumer issues of the 94th Congress, appears dead.

The Senate voted 67-31 Wednesday to send the bill back to committee, an action which would effectively kill the bill.

This was the third time in four years that the Senate had considered no-fault insurance legislation without success.

"I don't think it's hopeless, but I must admit that it's a difficult situation," Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, the bill's floor manager, said after the vote.

Just before the final vote, he had told the Senate that to recommend the bill would kill it.

The bill would have required every state that lacks a no-fault insurance law to adopt one continuing the standards set in the legislation.

The 17 states that already have no-fault laws would have to modify them, if necessary, to make their laws conform to the federal requirements.

Some senators had opposed the legislation on the ground that the federal government would be usurping responsibilities of the states.

Death penalty arguments end

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The justices seemed to be talking to four Supreme Court lawyers. At any rate, only four justices seemed to be questioning the lawyers.

Despite the enormity of the subject, the other five had few questions of the attorneys who argued the case. Justice William Brennan Jr. didn't speak once. But he said (after the last time capital punishment was before the court, in 1972) the death penalty does not "comport with human dignity" and should be held unconstitutional under all circumstances.

Ultraviolet role studied

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Experiments with mice suggest the ultraviolet part of sunlight might suppress body defenses against cancer — an idea which could have far-reaching implications in assessing the impact of man-made atmospheric changes.

A research paper was released today by Dr. Margaret Kripke of the Kreierick M.D. Cancer Research Center. She said the results were unexpected and surprising.

Scientists knew too much ultraviolet radiation can cause skin cancer in animals and humans, but she said an American Cancer Society seminar that not only does chronic treatment of mice with ultraviolet light induce skin cancer, it also appears to suppress a body defense mechanism that otherwise would eliminate these tumors when transplanted, to other genetically related mice.

Dr. Kripke, head of immunobiology at the government center, said she and her colleagues are a long way from understanding what is happening.

Most of the ultraviolet radiation that penetrates the atmosphere comes from the upper atmosphere. Concern has been raised recently that exhaust from supersonic jet transports and fluorocarbon gases used in some aerosol sprays might erode the ozone layer and increase the amount of ultraviolet radiation reaching earth.

$2,300 traded for $5 reward

DENVER (UPI) — Mas Weber, 13-year-old newspaper carrier, may be one of the few people willing to trade $2,300 for a $5 bill.

Weber and his friend, Jimmy Becker found $2,300 in $100 and $20 bills stuffed in a plain white envelope alongside a railroad track and gave it to police Wednesday.

"I would rather have just a $5 reward for this and make sure the person I belong to gets it," said Weber.

Police were tracing the money today to determine if it may have been involved in a recent holdup.

"I don't expect to hear anything about it," said Weber's father. "I'd like to know what happens, but then I don't think I can help."

Police say the money was found near the railroad tracks. "If some rich people were more than happy if they got it, I bet they'd be willing to trade it for a $5 bill."

Hampton added

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jazzman Lionel Hampton is joining President Ford's campaign as a kind of impresario of special events.

Hampton, 71, of the Los Angeles area, has been named director of special events and the task of getting entertainers for political functions.

Massacre or battle

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — A white man registers, white man Indian, complained that state historical markers always called Indian victories "massacres" and white victories "battles."

Rep. H.L. "Sonny" Cahalan of Mobile, who said he was one-eighth Muskogean Indian, Wednesday complained to Warner Floyd, the director of the state historical commission, that "when the Indians won, you always call it a massacre."

When the whites won, you always call it a battle."

"You've raised a good point," replied Floyd, who said he was part Cherokee Indian. "In the future, we're going to be fairer to the Indians."

2 die in plane crash

SAN ANTONIO, Calif. (UPI) — A small plane exploded and crashed into the ocean between former President Richard Nixon's seaside estate and a nuclear power plant Wednesday, killing at least two persons.

The remains of at least two persons were found, authorities said, but the destruction was so complete it could not be determined if there were more. The dead could not be identified and it was not immediately known where the plane, a Cessna 172, came from.

A highway patrol officer reported seeing the flash as the plane blew up before dawn. Wreckage landed into the ocean 300 yards offshore, about 1,000 yards north of the San Onofre Nuclear Power Station and just south of Nixon's estate.

Name games

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss, Fred Pitt-Ford will win in 1978. Not President Ford. Strauss was talking about Sen. Wendell Ford D-Ky.

The senator was selected Democratic campaign chairman Wednesday. "He is one Ford who will prove a winner."

TV hours tops classroom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The average student graduating from high school has spent 12,000 hours in the classroom compared to 13,000 in front of a television set, National Education Association president John Ryor said Wednesday.

"Young people spend more time with the idiot box than with their parents or in schools," Ryor told a National Forum meeting audience.

This reliance on TV makes it harder to teach students expected to be entertained and never be bored by schooling. But composing afternoon's easy or entertaining.

Ryor said unimpaired and another students forces schools to emphasize entertainment in the classrooms at the expense of classroom discipline.

"Students cannot be held blameless under these circumstances while schools take the blame for educational erosion," the former math teacher said.

No opium from Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — This year there will be no opium from the Mexican poppy fields that have been supplying most of the heroin used in the United States.

Attorney General Pedro Rocha Paulada announced Wednesday that Mexican army troops spraying chemical herbicides have destroyed three-quarters of the poppy fields in the regions of poppy fields scattered throughout the country.

"We expect to destroy the rest before the rainy season," Rocha Paulada said. "We will export no more drugs this year."

Poppies cannot be grown during the long rainy season, which begins in April or May, and lasts until September.

Woman shot while calling cops

Studded tires must be removed by April 15

Firm paid foreign officials

Thursday, April 1, 1976 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 7

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mrs. Pat Klosterman had a palpitation on the telephone asking for help when she was shot four times at a drive-in Tuesday. She died minutes later.

"Oh, my God, he's got a gun," Inspector Sidney Cole, 47, of the 45-year-old department store employee screaming. "Then, all I heard was 'tap, tap, tap, tap,' fired in rapid succession, as fast as someone could pull a trigger."

Mrs. Klosterman's estranged husband, George, 46, was in the car, Mrs. Klosterman being questioned in the killing.

Cole said Mrs. Klosterman telephoned from Goldsmith's department store in suburban Raleigh Springs Mall to request the arrest of her husband, who she said was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt.

A friend, Mrs. June Alderman of Southgate, Miss., told police Mrs. Klosterman had expressed fear of her husband, a fishing boat captain whom she married in June and left in November.

"George is in the parking lot looking for my car," Mrs. Alderman quoted Mrs. Klosterman as saying over the telephone shortly before the shooting. "If I don't call you back every hour, notify the police."

Police said Mrs. Klosterman was wounded four times: in the arm, neck, upper chest and hand by a small caliber pistol.

Cole said the call had just begun when the shots were fired and that he had to yell into the receiver to get someone at the scene to tell him where the shooting had occurred.

"It's the worst experience I've ever had," Cole said. "I know someone was in a terrible trouble and I didn't even know where they were."

BOISE — Idaho motorists are reminded that studded snow tires must be removed by April 15 under Idaho law.

Darrell Manning, director of the Idaho Transportation Department, said today that the law provides that studded snow tires may only be used between Oct. 1 and April 15. Other snow tires, he said, may be used at any time. He said no provision has been made to extend the deadline this year.

Studded snow tires must be removed in surrounding states by the following deadlines: Montana, May 31; Nevada, no restrictions; Oregon, April 30; Utah, March 13; Washington, April 1; and Wyoming, no restrictions.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Control Data Corp. has disclosed it made more than $2.2 million in payments of "questionable legality" to foreign officials from 1973 through 1975.

The payments were discovered as a result of a preliminary investigation begun by the firm's management in January following payment disclosures by other U.S. firms.

The company, headquartered in suburban Bloomington, said late Tuesday it appeared several members of the firm's senior management, including one person who has been a director for three years, had "some degree of prior knowledge" about the payments.

The company did not disclose where the payments were made or specifically what they were for.

But William Norris, board chairman, said in a letter to employees that "recent disclosures of many major U.S. industrial concerns have confirmed the existence of practices in some countries where personal payments are demanded in order to do business."

Norris said government employees in some nations, especially some developing countries, supplement their income by taking payments for approval of business contracts.

Control Data does business in 36 countries in Europe, the Middle East, Asia, Africa, Latin America and Australia.

The company said it appeared no employees of Control Data or its subsidiaries made any personal profit from the payments. It said no political contributions appear to have been made overseas except for a small legal contribution in one country.

Private industry buys lethal gas

DENVER (UPI) — Civilian employees at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal have been authorized to start converting one-ton storage tanks into special transportation containers for the sale and shipment of 2 million pounds of lethal gas to private industry.

President Ford earlier this week signed into law a bill authorizing the sale and transportation of the phosgene gas. The sale price is expected to be more than $1 million.

Col. John Byrne, arsenal commander, said civilian employees have been authorized to begin converting one-ton storage tanks into containers acceptable for transportation by rail or truck.

Byrne said the tanks, made of steel more than a half-inch thick, have all been pre-tested to hold 20 tons without breaking or leaking. About 200 one-ton tanks will be converted.

Rep. Pat Schroeder and Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., initiated the congressional effort for legislation allowing the gas to be sold. If the bill had not been approved, the gas probably would have been destroyed in the arsenal facilities, six miles northwest of downtown Denver, at a cost of nearly $7 million.

The Army has been prohibited from selling or transporting the gas because it was classified as a war agent. It was declared obsolete in the early 1960s.

The gas also is known as carbonyl chloride and in American manufacturers produce about one million pounds of the chemical annually. Sale of the gas is expected to take about six months.

Auto firm refuses gold as car payment

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A man who mined gold as a hobby says he tried to make his automobile payment with it, but the company wanted paper.

Robert Roloff, who took the gold from the Yuba River in Northern California, said he tried to convince the company representative gold is legal tender.

"He didn't disagree but said it would be the nearest company policy to take payment in that form," Roloff said Tuesday. "He wouldn't take it."

He said he drove to Reno to make the $174.35 payment, which was due on his vehicle. "I think I have cash, so I took about nine ounces and a quarter of gold from the river," Roloff said. "In Nevada City, Calif., we used gold to buy groceries and gasoline."

"The man was nice about it, but told me he didn't know the value of gold," he told him. "I said I had a gold mine and the paper dollars he wanted would bring 41 cents each. He said that's right, but I can exchange them easily."

Roloff contacted state officials and received only limited support.

"State Commerce Director Mike Melner said 'gold coins may be legal tender, but not raw gold.'"

"The point here is that the agreement was based on gold, and the dollars are something different from raw gold," Melner said.

Dentist kills doc, turns gun on self

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — A dentist, apparently licker over the medical treatment he received for a case of poison oak, shot and critically injured the doctor Tuesday and then killed himself.

Dr. Harold C. Lucht, 71, was listed in critical condition at the intensive care unit of Evanston Hospital Tuesday night after undergoing emergency surgery.

The dentist, Dr. Frederick M. Antiker, 54, and Lucht have offices on the opposite ends of the building where the shooting took place.

Daniel L. Davila, Schaumburg said Antiker pulled a sawed-off shotgun from beneath his spot and shot Lucht in the chest and neck before shooting Lucht.

At this point, said the appellate judges, the agent told her, in fact, that she had shown the wrong photograph, and that the other photograph portrayed the person the authorities believed to be guilty.

The judge ordered that the identification of Mrs. Florene not be used in Russell's new trial.

Russell had been convicted for the June 17, 1971 armed robbery of the Burton Street branch of the Central Bank in Grand Rapids.

Federal appeals court reverses conviction
CINCINNATI (UPI) — Deciding that government agents were too helpful in showing witnesses pictures of suspects, a federal appeals court has reversed a bank robbery conviction and ordered a new trial.

The Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday in the case of Richard Harrison Russell, who had been convicted of armed robbery and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The court ruled that the trial judge erred in refusing to suppress the identification of Russell by Mrs. Kathleen Fawcett, who had been sitting in a car outside the bank and saw a suspect in a pool.

She was shown mugshots and had narrowed the suspect to two and the photos.

At this point, said the appellate judges, the agent told her, in fact, that she had shown the wrong photograph, and that the other photograph portrayed the person the authorities believed to be guilty.

The judge ordered that the identification of Mrs. Florene not be used in Russell's new trial.

Russell had been convicted for the June 17, 1971 armed robbery of the Burton Street branch of the Central Bank in Grand Rapids.

Doctor's faith aids in surgery

A woman in a small town north of Philadelphia wanted to know if anything could be done surgically for her daughter...

Dr. C. Everett Koop

While we tried to anticipate all the possible problems, one that I failed to foresee was the reaction of Mrs. Rodriguez herself...

ASK THE JACOBS

A Florida reader wants to know what the rule is when after a hand is dealt, bid, and a few cards have been played, it is discovered that one hand has too many and one too few cards.

The answer is that the hand is a misdeal and is thrown in.

Do you have a question for the experts? Write "ASK THE JACOBS" care of this newspaper. The Jacobs will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.

In the '20s the best auction bridge in the world was played at New York's Knickerbocker Whist Club. Culbertson and Spens were two of the best, but many others contributed tremendous help in getting contract bridge on its feet.

One was Ted Lightner, Ted who is now 82 or 83, plays auction bridge in the Twin Falls Whist Club and has a...

The best known of his many contributions to the game is the Lightner slam double. This double means that when your opponents bid a slam on their own terms, you are asking your partner to make an unusual bid rather than the one you would normally make.

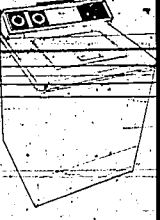

Here's a simple example of this bid which every expert uses today. Without the Lightner double West would open a club. East would take the first-round South-West rest. After the double, West leads a heart and your South is...

National Library Week scheduled

Valley Living

Thursday, April 4, 1976 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 What does an astringent do for an oily skin? Is it really good for the skin? Does it merely get rid of the oil or does it help get rid of the blemishes, too?
 I have these bumps on my face. They are not yet pimples, but they will be if I don't take care of them properly. Will astringent help? Love, M. — Miss T.D.

Dear Miss T.D.:
 An astringent is an agent that causes contraction of tissue. Astringents such as aluminum acetate solutions have an astringent and antiseptic action on the skin.
 I don't believe it would be wise for you to start despoiling yourself at this point. You may be panicking. "Bumps" can be expected at your age. If they appear more prominent during your menstrual periods, the cause can be in the hormonal activity as those times.

CHERYL PRINCE plans rite

TWIN FALLS — National Library Week will be observed at the Twin Falls Public Library Monday through Saturday.
 Initiating the week's events at the library will be a "pet rock" display on Monday held downstairs at the library. All ages are invited to enter their special "stone friends." If under eight inches in diameter.
 Pets should be labeled with their name, birthplace and owner's name.
 "Everybody Needs a Rock," by Byrd Taylor, offers "clever and concrete" suggestions for finding such a rock.
 Judging for the art show, "Bridging Our Heritage," will be held Tuesday with the closing of a purchase for the library to be announced at 4 p.m. Entries have been on display throughout March and will be exhibited until April 11.
 Also on Tuesday, the Read to Me program for 4 and 5-year-olds will conclude with a party at 10 a.m.
 A plant exchange will begin Wednesday at 9 a.m. and continue until Thursday at 9 p.m. The plant exchange is sponsored in recognition of the Twin Falls Garden Club's donations of the library's new brick planters.
 Children's prizes for four through eight will vote their Young Readers Choice Awards favorite and the winner will be announced at 4 p.m. Wednesday.
 This day, the Read to Me program will conclude with a party at 1:30 p.m.
 Pet rocks will be identified as to age and ancestry Saturday at 11 a.m. downstairs in the library with the assistance of a geologist. Awards will be given to prize pets.
 Afterward, the film "Stone Soup" will be shown. After this film, tales which "should appeal to all ages" stories will be read. During the week, adult and juvenile book suggestions will be written by library users and will be distributed in booklets.

LEGAL NOTICE

In compliance with Public Law 93-516, the Comprehensive Automation Protection and Treatment Act of 1970, the Idaho State Bureau of Substance Abuse has established effective August 1, 1976, for public examination and comment the proposed 1976 Idaho State Alcohol Plan for 1977-1978. Copies are available for personal examination at 629 W. State, 2nd floor, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and for inspection by mail. Personal identification is required. The Bureau's contact parties may also obtain a copy by sending an address and a self-addressed envelope to the Bureau, P.O. Box 100, Boise, Idaho 83726.

Lotions and creams of any type can plug up pores and provoke the very thing you want to avoid, a buildup of sebum in the pores. The best thing you can do at this point is to learn proper hygiene. I mean washing your face. Two or three times a day, use gentle soap for a tick and a promise without overdoing. They cause their faces with these various preparations.
 Wash thoroughly with soap from plain soap. Take plenty of time. Then rinse completely and repeatedly with plain water, alternating hot and cold. Dry with a clean towel and don't scrub.
 In acne, astringents are sometimes used to contract facial skin to discourage excessive oiliness. For now, stick with the hygiene method I outlined above and see if it doesn't bring improvement. (For a further discussion of other aspects of acne, write for my booklet, "Acne, The Teenage Problem." Send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I would appreciate some information on the I.U.D. (intrauterine contraceptive device). I have been told that it should be replaced with a new one after five years, as it loses its effectiveness. A girlfriend told me every two or three years, and my sister says neologism told her it never has to be replaced, that it never loses its effectiveness.
 How could there be three different views? Which is right?
 SO.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I am a 62-year-old widow with diabetes. I gave up my before-dinner drink, stay strictly on my diet, and take no medication. My fasting blood sugar is 90.
 On a recent TV program, some said that falling to love would make the sugar go up. Really now, this is just too much. I wonder if it could lead to a slight crash on some nice man before I die without my blood sugar going through the ceiling? Mrs. C.E.W.

There's no medical reason why you shouldn't go ahead and get the sweetest snit you can find as you care to. I have never heard of the love-sugar theory. From time to time I've referred to diabetes as a "sneaky disease," but it's not quite that sneaky.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Charles Scribner's Sons, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman. I've had a very close relationship with a man who is also happy with his wife. We are both in the same type of business, and we see each other frequently to discuss business matters or just to have a friendly get-together. We have been to bed together during business trips, but neither of us thinks of it as a great love affair. We are just friends who enjoy all sides of our relationship.

About a year ago, his wife found out about us and got all uptight. (I don't blame her.) After that, we stopped seeing each other socially, but when we meet on business, the close romantic feeling is still there.

Now I've heard that this man's wife has a terminal illness and hasn't much longer to live.

When she dies, should I attend the funeral? If my husband were to die, I'd want this friend of mine to attend the funeral, but I don't know if he would feel the same way. Should I ask him? That seems so crass. Please advise me.

OLD FRIEND

Absence suggested

DEAR FRIEND: Don't ask him. And don't attend the funeral. I think he'll probably appreciate your absence.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my mid-50s, and I live in an exclusive high rise apartment. Last month a bachelor moved into the apartment next to mine. This man has an electric organ, that I can hear him playing nearly every evening.

I don't mind that, but he also has a Boston bulldog that "bays" while he plays the organ. The dog's "baying" consists of a howling sound, but he very often hits the right note, begins at the beginning of every song and finishes at the end. (Sometimes he "harmonizes" with the dog.) The man is very attractive, and appears to be in his 50s. I understand he is a retired physician.

I suppose he is lonely, but I'm sure he could do much better than a singing dog for company. How do I meet him?

THE LADY NEXT DOOR

DEAR LADY: Invite him over for a T-bone steak dinner and tell him you'll save the bone for him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in the process of seeking an inexpensive way to get a divorce. We are already living apart and are in total agreement of everything, including the custody of our child and the visitation rights. All we have to do is get it all down in writing and make it legal.

We inquired at the Legal Aid Society but were told that we don't qualify for low-cost legal aid because we are both gainfully employed.

The other alternative is a "divorce kit," which is a kind of "do-it-yourself" divorce, costing $95 for papers plus a $3 fee for filing.

As we see it, the $3 fee is the only necessary action to be taken by us. Isn't it possible to write up our own legal papers and have them notarized?

Why do we have to go through with the expense of having a lawyer write up the papers when we are in complete agreement on all the terms?

FRIENDLY PARTING

DEAR FRIENDLY: Regardless of how "friendly" and "in agreement," you two may be, I would still recommend legal counsel. Some of those "do-it-yourself" divorces are more expensive in the long run than the regular kind are.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (26¢) envelope.

AG may notify 'targets'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Levi may decide to notify all the targets of the FBI's past "dirty tricks" campaigns that sought to disrupt radical organizations during the 1950s and 1960s, according to Justice Department sources.

The late J. Edgar Hoover began the campaigns, code-named COINTELPRO, in 1956 against rightwing and leftwing extremist groups that he considered violence-prone and abruptly halted them without explanation in 1971. Details came to light two years ago.

Assistant Attorney General Rex S. Lee, in charge of the departments' civil division, and Michael E. Shaheen Jr., who heads a newly created office of professional responsibility, are preparing recommendations for Levi to consider.

Lee indicated indirectly that he and Shaheen will propose that Levi go ahead with the idea. Lee said he was not considering agencies that would engage in activities for the controversial FBI activities, however.

The COINTELPRO actions were largely of disrupting false placards or sending fake hate messages intended to stir up feuds between cooperating groups or cause dissension within the organizations.

The targets included such widely ranging groups as the Ku Klux Klan, the Black Panthers, the American Communist Party, Students for a Democratic Society and the Socialist Workers Party.

Many of the organizations have become known through releases of FBI COINTELPRO files as a result of demands made under the Freedom of Information Act.

The FBI's first disclosure consisted of a telegram Hoover sent on April 28, 1971, ordering a halt of the campaigns. However, it provided for continuing the program in specific cases where warranted, but they would approve each case.

However, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has recently denied in public statements and congressional testimony that any COINTELPRO activity has continued.

Rich giant tomb found

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet archaeologists have discovered the tomb of a giant which contains rich furnishings of gold dating back 5,000 years.

The news agency said the tomb, discovered in a mound in the northern Caucasus, was made of highly polished slabs of volcanic residue, some of them weighing more than 100 lbs.

Jackson asked to 'back down' on Marines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential candidate Henry Jackson should either drop out of the race or back down on a statement that U.S. Marines could have been used to preserve peace in Lebanon, opponent Fred Harris said Wednesday.

"I believe that Sen. Jackson should either withdraw his statement about the use of the or withdraw as a candidate for president," said Harris in a statement released at his campaign headquarters here.

"That kind of militaristic approach to world problems is wrong and it will not work — as we should have learned in recent years at great cost," Harris said of a Jackson news conference in Madison, Wis. Tuesday.

Attacking what he called inaction by the Ford administration on Lebanon, Jackson told reporters it was too late for the U.S. to attempt to restore order by sending military troops.

Asked if he would have sent Marines to Lebanon if he had been president when tensions between Christians and Muslims increased in Lebanon some six months ago, Jackson said yes. "If I could have had assurances that our role there would have been for the sole purpose of preventing the Syrians from shooting one another," Jackson said the United States should have at least moved in the United Nations to get some "police authority" into the country.

Demo Ford to head campaigns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky., will become the Democratic party's national campaign chairman for 1976 elections — and take over a job Jimmy Carter held two years ago, it was announced today.

"I know this is one Ford who will prove a winner," quipped National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss at a news conference.

He added: "1976 offers us not only a good opportunity to elect a Democratic president which we desperately need, but also presents us with the challenge of consolidating the gains we made in the Senate, House and state houses in the last few years."

The campaign committee, under the aegis of the party's National Committee, will coordinate efforts to elect Democrats to office at all levels. Strauss, chairman of the Young B. Burke of California and James Wright of Texas were named co-chairmen.

Former Georgia Gov. Carter, now a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, traveled all over the country when he chaired the national campaign committee in 1974 and it provided assistance for many Senate, House and gubernatorial races.

Commission ruling affirmed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court affirmed in a 4-1 decision today an Industrial Commission finding that a workman was not entitled to attorney's fees because his employer's surety delayed his case.

James H. Trounser brought the claim against his employer, Traffic Control Company, and its surety, Argonaut Northwest Insurance Company.

Troutner, a contractor, was injured in an accident while working for the company. He filed a claim for compensation with the Industrial Commission. The commission found that Argonaut had not reasonably contested nor had it neglected or refused Troutner's claim and it dismissed his motion for attorney fees.

Justice Robert E. Baker wrote the majority opinion affirming the ruling, saying a surety must be given an opportunity to investigate a claimant's activities and to receive a report from the treating physician before it can be held liable for providing treatment.

First class mail at 34¢ looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If's 1984, the Postal Service is finally breaking even — but a first-class stamp costs 34 cents. This is a major milestone but the result of a General Accounting Office study of the financial plight facing the Postal Service and its impact on the economy.

William H. Anderson, a GAO deputy director, said the House Post Office and Postal Service Committee Wednesday the estimated cost of the "self-sufficiency concept" for the Postal Service — meaning no government subsidy — would be $1.2 billion and the agency would rely on mail rates alone to cover its operating expenses.

"I would think that members of Congress would find the 34-cent first-class stamp rate pretty unacceptable," commented Rep. James Francis (D-N.Y.), who is chairing a series of hearings on the postal rate system.

Anderson said the service is in dire financial straits and rates will undoubtedly continue to rise, necessitating further rate increases. He said the GAO study also found that rates have already reached an "unacceptable level."

He said the GAO favors tying postage rates to some government index — preferably the Consumer Price Index — and covering the difference between revenues and costs with a government subsidy.

The GAO compared the results of setting postage rates to cover costs and achieve "break-even" operation of the Postal Service with what would happen if postal rates were tied to projected increases in the CPI.

Under the "self-sufficiency" approach, a first-class stamp would rise to 19 cents in 1977, 21 cents in 1978, 23 cents in 1979, 25 cents in 1980, 27 cents in 1981, 29 cents in 1982, 31 cents in 1983.

If rates were tied to the CPI, the price of a first class stamp would reach 20 cents by 1984, but the Postal Service would still have an operating deficit for that year of $1.1 billion and a cumulative operating deficit from 1976 through 1984 of $2.3 billion.

Anderson said even if rates were tied to the CPI, the Postal Service would never be able to recover a large surplus or cut back many of the traditional services to keep rates down.

Postage rates have risen 50 percent over five years, from 14 cents in 1971 to the current 28 cents.

No charge for flu shots in autumn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Americans will get their flu and pneumonia shots free of charge next fall, according to health experts.

Administration witnesses told Congress Tuesday no one will be denied the services influenza shots because of inability to pay. Most people will be able to get shots free at clinics, they said, and those going to private physicians probably will incur only slight charges.

A House appropriations subcommittee unanimously approved the $185 million immunization program — the first congressional budget item it was proposed by President Ford.

In Ottawa, the Canadian government announced it will vaccinate 70 million persons against swine flu next fall. The vaccinations will be made to high risk groups such as the aged, diabetics and heart patients.

The U.S. immunization program will be aimed at nearly everyone. Health officials said only a few persons — those allergic to eggs, for example — won't be asked to take the vaccine. The government's Advisory Committee on Immunization has recommended a vaccine which is safe for all.

Alongside mass production of swine virus vaccine, a smaller production of A-Victoria vaccine will be continued for use next fall among high risk persons of that strain of flu.

Although quick congressional approval appears likely for Ford's plan, a few reservations were expressed in the subcommittee.

Active sunspot

SOLAR TELESCOPE photograph shows active sunspot region on the face of the sun. The area is expected to produce major solar flares, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said Monday.

The region may be partially responsible for a storm in the earth's magnetic field that produced "northern lights" visible over much of the United States. (UPI)

Witch trials' cause possibly 'bad bread'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The young girls who acted as accusers in the Salem witchcraft trials of 1692 may have been suffering from secondarily convulsive ergotism, a disorder that comes from eating grain contaminated with a parasitic fungus, according to a new study.

Evidence from court records suggests "convulsive ergotism," a disorder that comes from eating grain contaminated with a parasitic fungus, could have led to their "hallucinations," delusions, fits and "fits" of the Salem witch trials, says Linda R. Caporali, a psychiatric epidemiologist at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

"Without knowledge of ergotism and confronted by convulsive, mental disturbances and perceptual distortions, the New England puritans seized upon witchcraft as the best explanation for the phenomena," she reported in the April 2 issue of "Psychiatry."

The ergot fungus was first identified and executed in the famous witch hunt in the Massachusetts village, which began after about 400 girls were afflicted with convulsive fits in 1692.

One of the components of ergot, a parasitic fungus which grows on a wide variety of cereal grains, is a compound with LSD-like properties called isoergine, said Miss Caporali.

She said all symptoms of ergotism are common in the Salem witchcraft records.

"Accusations of poking, pinching, picking with pins and biting by the specter of the accused formed the standard testimony of the afflicted," she said.

"The cloak suggests the involvement of the involuntary muscular fibers that is typical of ergot poisoning; the biting, pinching, poking, may be related to the tingling sensations under the skin experienced by ergotism victims. Complaints of vomiting and 'bovets almost pulled out' are common in the depositions."

One man said he saw a "demon" "strange things" appear in his chimney and approach with a "strange motion" and attributed this to the devil who cast on him by a witch.

Miss Caporali said her testimony is a strong reminiscent of the hallucinating objects and spirits reported in experiences induced by LSD.

"Of course, LSD is not the hard proof for the presence of ergot in Salem," she said, "but a circumstantial case is demonstrable."

British 'exit' complete

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Britain officially completed its military withdrawal from Singapore at sundown Wednesday, closing out 157 years of service on the strategic island.

The last British commander, Lt. Jeremy Swynnerton, boarded a flight to Hong Kong for a vacation before returning to England.

British strength stood at over 7,000 officers and men in 1954 when the last government dispatched the patrol east of Singapore.

As recently as the 1962-65 Indonesian confrontation with Malaysia, British strength was approximately 70,000, and the British military was Singapore's "single largest employer."

The last British installation was formally handed back to the Singapore government Sunday and the four remaining soldiers moved to "residual barracks" at the Raffles Hotel.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Formal adoption of new regulations which are expected to drop about $1 billion from the Agriculture Department's food stamp program will be announced in a week or two, a ranking official says.

Whether the crackdown which officials estimate will save about $1.2 billion in the program which currently costs about $5.8 billion a year ac-ually will stick, however, will depend on later developments in the courts and on Capitol Hill.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard Felner said in an interview that the department is currently reviewing public comment on the regulations it proposed in late February. Felner said final adoption of the rules are planned as quickly as possible probably next week or the following week — with many of the regulations scheduled to take effect June 1.

Felner declined to comment specifically on whether any of the proposed new regulations would be modified or dropped after review of public comments, which include criticism of the changes from anti-poverty and consumer agencies.

Most observers including critics of the administration plan, however, have predicted the final rules will vary greatly from the basic original proposals.

Anticipating this development, anti-poverty groups are preparing to file suit against the regulations, which together with eligibility rules for the stamp program, soon after they are made final. And Felner conceded in an interview that he would expect to be sued.

"I'm personally optimistic that we have a good case, and that what we will be doing will be within the law," the official said.

Felner said he was "personally optimistic" that the threatened lawsuit will not put any permanent crimp in the administration plan to cut food stamp costs.

Prospects in the promised lawsuit may hold the key to the extent of changes in the stamp program this year, several sources said, because food stamp reform bills currently pending in Capitol Hill are not expected to cut as deeply into cost administration as the proposed administration rules.

If the lawsuit blocks enforcement of the administration regulations, one source said, President Ford would be forced to choose between accepting a Congressional bill which may go only part way toward his position and allowing current regulations to continue unchanged.

If the lawsuit fails, however, the source pointed out Ford would then be in a stronger position in dealing with Congress. He would be able to threaten a veto of legislation he regarded as weak because the administration's tougher regulations would then remain in effect.

Strong farm vote expected by Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford told visiting farm editors Tuesday he expects to see a well-organized farm belt vote in fall and will press for re-enactment of current basic farm law if he's re-elected.

Meeting with members of the American Agricultural Editors' Association in the White House, Ford said there is little chance his proposal to ease estate taxes for farmers can become law this year if Congress handles it as part of a general tax reform bill.

"The likelihood of a general tax bill becoming law in 1978 is very remote," the President said. But he added, the estate tax plan could well become law this year "if we could isolate that proposal and let it go through Congress as a separate piece of legislation."

Ford, plagued by farm belt unrest earlier this year regarding a bill of re-entitlement against administration curbs on grain exports in 1975, has been moving recently to win back farm support with a series of moves including elevation of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butts to head a new administration farm-food policy council.

He told the editors that considering current grain supply conditions, chances of another export sales embargo this year are "nil."

Ford said that following a meeting with Illinois farmers recently, he "wondered" if a strong anti-farm stand in farm areas in the Illinois primary and "if Illinois agricultural areas are indicative, I think we'll do all right" in other farm states.

Ford added that if he is in office when Congress meets to write an extension of current farm laws next year, "my general thought would be that a continuation of existing programs is the answer."

"The present law which emphasizes free planting and a minimum of government involvement is better than anything I've seen in 27 years as a government official," Ford said.

He said price programs involving production control and high price supports "were a disaster" because they led to heavy surpluses and Agriculture Department interference with farmers.

Most observers including critics of the administration plan, however, have predicted the final rules will vary greatly from the basic original proposals.

Anticipating this development, anti-poverty groups are preparing to file suit against the regulations, which together with eligibility rules for the stamp program, soon after they are made final. And Felner conceded in an interview that he would expect to be sued.

Declining sale price draws note

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he received proof this week that an Idaho rancher, cattle in 1973 than the man's grandfather received 37 years ago.

A letter and the receipts were sent to Church by Ray Hussa, a cattle rancher at Cataldo, Idaho. Church said he is interested in the matter in the Congressional Record.

"I have received numerous letters from constituents which graphically detail the plight of the cattle rancher and hog farmer," Church said. "However, no letter more vividly describes the present realities and historical perspectives of this situation than this letter from Mr. Hussa."

Church said that Hussa's grandfather realized net proceeds of $1,468.50 on the sale of eight head of cattle in 1938. Hussa in 1975 netted $1,453.35 on the sale of 10 cows.

Further, my grandfather could have used his fourteen hundred dollars to purchase a new tractor, plow and harrow outright," Hussa said. "Today, at $1 a week, I can have an acceptable down payment on a new tractor."

TF agency moves

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services office has moved to a new building, the North Plaza Offices, 800 Falls Ave.

Kent Kirk, county ASCS manager, said the new facilities offer less traffic congestion, being located further from Blue Lakes Blvd. The agency is located on the second floor in the southwest corner of the building in Suite 11.

Kirk said a reduced workload in the past few years and a smaller staff now handling ASCS programs in the county, prompted the agency to move into smaller offices. The agency was formerly located at 1061 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

Further, my grandfather could have used his fourteen hundred dollars to purchase a new tractor, plow and harrow outright," Hussa said. "Today, at $1 a week, I can have an acceptable down payment on a new tractor."

Contract fuss still unresolved

GREELY, Colo. (UPI) — As planting time draws near, the Great Western Sugar Co. and the Mountain States Beet Growers Association are not any closer to resolving their dispute over a new contract for 1978, according to the board of directors for the growers.

The company has complained of a decreasing sugar content in beets in recent years and argues the decline is due to quality control on the farm level. As a result, the firm wants farmers to share resulting profit losses. Great Western also wants growers to pay an increased amount of additional freight charges.

Negotiations have been suspended and the dispute has been set for resumption of talks. The growers' board met in Greeley Monday to discuss the situation. At earlier meetings farmers indicated they wanted to know by April whether or not a contract agreement would be reached.

Bill Davis of Goodland, Kan., attended the meeting. Davis said Tuesday farmers are becoming more vocal in demands for an improved contract.

Andy Messersmith

Yanks claim Messersmith reneged on pact

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — The New York Yankees claimed Wednesday that free agent Andy Messersmith reneged on a four-year, $1-million contract with them and appealed to Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to step in and settle the matter.

A hearing in the commissioner's New York office has been scheduled for 2 p.m. EST Thursday.

Kuhn gave some indication of what his ruling might be when he called attention to the provision in baseball's rules which states that an agreement between a player and a club before a contract is signed can bind that player to the club.

Messersmith's agent, Herb Osmond, and Yankees President Gabe Paul both provided a written agreement, Tuesday providing for Messersmith to pitch for the Yankees in 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1979-80 $1 million and it is that agreement which is in question.

Part of the salary to Messersmith was to be made in the form of deferred payments over a 20-year period and it is believed that the interest on the deferred money was at the root of the breakdown in negotiations.

At six per cent, the interest on the deferred payments could amount to approximately $150,000 over 20 years.

Paul said he had bargained in good faith with Osmond and had been told that Osmond had the power of attorney for Messersmith.

"All my dealings have been with Osmond," said Paul. "Osmond represents the power of attorney. We had an agreement to put it in legal verbiage. Anything he didn't like he could change the wording."

In New York, Paul said, he had worked on it and got something back to you. "On Tuesday, Osmond returned to Paul in Tampa and said that there was no deal," Paul said.

After Osmond told Messersmith of his agreement with Paul, the former Dodger pitcher contacted the Players Association in New York and advised Marvin Miller, the executive director of the association, and Dick Moss, the group's attorney, regarding the agreement.

Osmond had provided Paul with a handwritten piece of paper outlining a few provisions," said Miller. "This was supposed to be presented in Andy and he followed in a contract. The contract that ultimately came over did not conform with the piece of paper I'm talking about and negotiations broke down."

The Yankees then asked Kuhn to resolve the dispute and a meeting in the commissioner's office was set up for Friday. Expected to attend are Osmond, Paul, George Steinbrenner, principal owner of the Yankees, Miller and Moss.

Messersmith was declared a free agent last Dec. 23 when arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled that the reserve clause was invalid. Also, declared a free agent along with him was left-handed pitcher Dave McNally, who retired from baseball last season. Both had challenged baseball's controversial reserve clause in a test case.

Eight clubs entered into the bidding for Messersmith — a 19-game winner with the Dodgers last year, and after the suspense mounting, Yankee Public Relations Director Marty Appel said he had an announcement to make during the 10th inning of their exhibition game with the St. Louis Cardinals here Wednesday.

He then read a statement issued by Paul. "The Yankees have entered into a written agreement with Andy Messersmith through his authorized agent, Herb Osmond, covering the seasons 1977, 1978, 1979 and 1979-80. We have been advised through the attorney for the Players Association that Mr. Messersmith is now attempting to void the terms of the agreement, despite the fact that both the Yankees and Mr. Osmond bargained in good faith, which bargaining culminated in a complete meeting of the minds and the execution by the parties of a written agreement, prepared by Mr. Osmond himself, and accepted by the Yankees.

"We intend to perform our obligations under the agreement and expect Mr. Messersmith to do likewise. I'd think I have been in this business long enough to know when we have a firm agreement, it appears to be that Andy Messersmith is being made an unfortunate pawn."

In New York, Paul said that the agreement between him and Osmond was not Osmond's handwriting. He also said the Yankees are still hopeful Messersmith will pitch for them this year if he does. He will be the second All-Star pitcher signed as a free agent by the Yankees in the past 48 months: Ferguson signed by Baltimore in a three-year, $7 million contract on Dec. 31, 1974, after he gained his free agency from the Oakland A's on a contract technically.

The bidding for Messersmith began March 9 when the Dodgers officially declared him a free agent. Besides the Yankees, other teams to make substantial offers for his services were the Dodgers, Atlanta Braves, Pittsburgh Pirates, California Angels, Texas Rangers, New York Mets and Chicago White Sox.

It had been believed originally that the breakdown in talks with the Yankees was due to Messersmith's interest in another club. However, it turned out that it was the hassle over the deferred payments that created the problem.

Regarded as one of the top free hitters in baseball, the 28-year-old Calhoun has been a 20-game winner last season but led National League pitchers in starts, 411, complete games, 47, shutouts, 17, and innings pitched, 322.131. He also was second in earned run average (2.29) and third in strikeouts (248).

Messersmith, who spent the last three seasons with the Dodgers after five years with the Angels, has a lifetime ERA of 2.75 and a 112-77 record.

Miller says Yanks employing 'ploy'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, said Wednesday that he had signed Andy Messersmith to a million-dollar contract only to have the ex-Los Angeles Dodger pitcher seeking means to back out the agreement.

Miller said there was no contract signed and related Paul's statement that Messersmith's agent, Herb Osmond, had made a written agreement with the Yankees for Andy's services.

"An agent cannot sign an employment contract for a player," Miller explained. "There was a handwritten outline which later resulted in a breakdown of negotiations."

Miller, the executive director of the Players Association, said Osmond and Paul both have bargained in good faith. "I have no idea one way or another, but there was no agreement reaching a signed."

Paul said that Messersmith, who reached free agent status in a landmark decision by arbitrator Peter Seitz last December, had declared the reserve clause no longer bound a player to one team, had entered an agreement through Osmond for a four-year contract.

"No way," said Miller. "Paul and Osmond had a talk which lasted into the wee hours of the morning, and a handwritten piece of paper with a few provisions was all they had. This was supposed to be followed by a contract based on this and presented to Messersmith."

Miller said figures in the contract that had, subsequently, signed by Paul did not conform with the piece of paper I'm talking about. Negotiations broke down and Osmond, in a written statement to the Yankees, withdrew his offer.

Miller said the press made a mistake in not asking Paul what he meant by a written agreement.

"He was using some slippery words," Miller contended. "Miller said he knew nothing about a rumor that Messersmith stopped bargaining with the Yankees because he received a better offer from the Texas Rangers. I suspect Paul could be carrying on a feud with the Rangers based on their spring training differences."

Prior to Commissioner Bowie Kuhn opening spring training camps, Rangers players were working out on their own. The Yankees were upset and cancelled a game with Texas during the first week of the exhibition season.

Miller said the players' association met with owners last Tuesday in an effort to end the current baseball dispute and get next again Thursday.

"There is still work to be done. We played closer in game minor matters, but the major issues remain to be resolved."

New coach pleased by ISU grid drills

POCATELLO—Coach Joe Pascuale continues to be pleased by Idaho State's progress during spring football workouts.

One of the things that pleases him most is the competition for starting berths. However, injuries have hit the secondary and inexperience plagues the offensive line.

The ISU mentor continues to stress fundamentals, or as he calls them, "the meat and potatoes" during workouts, saying that constant work on blocking and tackling is more important than finesse. "We feel that this is the most solid approach to building a championship-caliber team," Pascuale notes. "We had a good team last year and we'll have many returning players. We have some apparent weaknesses, we must fill. When you try to improve a good team the progress is less noticeable than when you work on improving a bad team."

At weak guard, Al weak tackle Bob Howard is out with a hamstring pull, so Arnie Jones and Scott Brewer have taken over. Ross Anderson and Ron Lucker are other interior linemen who have sparkled, with the latter trying to rehabilitate an injured knee.

Defensively the big news is the noseguard battle between Joe Juscen and Ray Alfred, with Pascuale commenting, "The prospect of having one of them on the bench is not pleasing. If they continue their outstanding play both will have to be in the lineup." Both have quickness and are strong, intense players. Juscen is slightly faster.

On offense, the chief battles are at the skill positions. At quarterback Pascuale says "Steve Holzer and Leo Cook are fighting for Steve Toches' spot, and have done some good things during practice. At running back he points out that incumbent Cued Ashton and freshman Bruce Bachmeier both run a 4:50, with Ashton a tremendous broken field runner while Bachmeier has plenty of power. Former highland H.S. all-star Steve Wallace is making things difficult for the injured starter Tony McCright at fullback. Weiland is now weighing in at 215 lbs and runs a 4:6, while "Quick-6" has ankle problems. Redshirt Terry Bradshaw's running also puts him in the fullback picture.

"At receiver, neither Wallace or McGee is competitive," while Barney Jacobs' blocking and receiving are keeping him slightly ahead of Dave Phelps at right end.

Some spots look safe for the returnees, like Doug Norman at wide receiver, and Jim Jones and Hank Scribner at strong guard and strong back.

Trover Mike Oliver and redshirt Miesley Haggerty are competitive center, and Warren Willdick and Ron Blazinski are about equal at defensive end. "Kim Kildewey, former starter and John Roberts are fighting for the spot opposite Greg Taylor, and Mark Tunson and Mike Julian are very pleasing. In the full, rangy mold of an ISU defensive end."

All-weather Tom Truon may start for a fourth year, but Dick Moore and Joe Moriano have renewed their permit challenge at the other berth. At linebacker Wayne Hill is set, but Neal Richardson and Joe Reed performed the best in Saturday's scrimmage. But Stan Gatewood and Steve McMurren aren't far behind. All four are in contention to team with Hill.

"In comparison to team with Hill, we need the most improvement this spring," says Pascuale. "Injuries, recently and slow recovery from operations have hurt. In our scrimmage Ken Parks and Wade Wilker showed the talent of returning starters at corner and strong safety, while Wally Kelly is making things difficult, although it's not open and shut. Pat Boyle also shows promise at corner. At free safety Dennis Bush and Marty McCann may have potential but inexperience and it will take the entire spring to see if they can fill the bill. Bill Taylor, Randy Kelly and Dave Benke are not healthy and cannot play."

ISU will scrimmage Saturday at 10 a.m. in the ASBIS Mini-domo and the public is invited to attend.

Dolphins foresee linebacker need

MIAMI (UPI)—In Miami a sudden need for more depth at linebacker Wednesday, Miami Dolphins coach Don Staley made it clear the team will not be able to decide to play football next year he will not be a starter.

"If Nick decides to play, he'll be competing as a backup—no insurance," Staley said. "It's difficult to depend on someone who's that old and not an entire season."

Buoniconti, an all-pro middle linebacker on the Dolphins' two Super Bowl champions, set out in the 1975 season after smashing his thumb in an exhibition game.

The 215-pound Norm Dame graduate has consistently led the Dolphins to come back and play next season, and there was speculation he would be picked to be one of the two expansion franchisees, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the Seattle Seahawks.

Buoniconti, a practicing attorney, had been the hub of the Miami Dolphins' defense since arriving in a trade with New England six years ago.

Tampa Bay took linebackers Doug Swift, who was expected to retire in favor of medical school anyway, and second-year man Bruce Eila in exchange selections Tuesday.

Seattle took veteran offensive tackle Norm Evans.

Woman certain she will promote fight

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston's Helen Hall seems convinced she'll be in the driver's seat for the upcoming Muhammad Ali-Ken Norton fight, wherever and whenever it's held.

The Boston schoolteacher says that outside of one signature, by Ali's manager Herbert Muhammad, nothing has been finalized. But she expects a room full of newsmen Wednesday that the contract for the fight would be signed in two weeks and she'd be running it.

"I definitely have the fight," she said. "We already have an agreement with Herbert Muhammad and as soon as things get straightened up, promoters Don King, their things will get falling."

There are several problems to be solved. High on the list is finding a location. Hall said she wants the fight in Boston but her main investor likes New York better.

"If the fight is in New York, I think they're considering Yankee Stadium," said Hall. "But they have all kinds of problems with the turf. So, I've reserved dates at Schaefer Stadium in Foxboro for Sept. 28 and Oct. 1."

Six months ago, she first announced her plans to promote the fight. A novice in the field of boxing, Hall says she sensed the Boston media didn't take her seriously at first.

Now she's enlisted the aid of local promoter, Abe Ford, and a national, closed-circuit television manager, Carl Hunter.

Hall said expenses for all phases of the fight would be about $10 million. She said Muhammad was persuaded to come down from $12 million.

Hall said she has two main investors, both of whom prefer to remain anonymous at the present time.

Warriors beat Bullets

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI)—Phil Smith, who made only one of eight field goal attempts in the first half, scored six points in the final five minutes of play Wednesday night to lead the Golden State Warriors to a 95-86 National Basketball Association victory over the Washington Bullets.

Smith put the Warriors ahead to stay, 41-25, with 4:45 to play and then twice improved the Warriors' lead to five as Washington threatened in the closing minutes.

Washington had taken advantage of Smith's early field goal problems by moving to a 21-17 quarter lead and then holding on for a 45-43 half-time margin.

Rick Barry's 22-foot jumper with 9:30 to play in the third period put the Warriors back on top, 49-47, and Golden State led at the end of three periods, 67-63.

The game was tied five times and the lead exchanged hands twice in the final period before Smith put Golden State on top and the Warriors proceeded to outscore Washington 19-4 in the final five minutes for the victory.

Barry led all scorers with 22 points while Jamaal Wilkes and Charles Johnson had 16 points apiece. Smith had 13.

Phil Chenier, who missed his first three field goal attempts, scored 18 points in the second half and finished with 21 for Washington. Elvin Hayes had 15 and Nick Weatherspoon 13.

Steal try snafued

CSU swept pair from Idaho State

CSU picked up its fifth and sixth straight baseball victories Wednesday afternoon by downing Idaho State twice.

Bill Hayes snuffed an attempt to tie the opener and Randy Olson and Tom Williams combined for another shutout in the second game, which ended 3-0.

McMannon provided enough for the first game victory when he led off with a solo homer in the first inning. Alvarez added another solo shot in the fourth and Jack Fandl carried home the other two runs.

He started the third-inning with a double and scored on two passed balls and in the fifth he walked, moved around on an error and scored on a wild pitch.

Fandl also got the Eagles on the board in the first inning of the nightcap when he walked and eventually scored on a wild pitch.

But the Eagles couldn't muster any other offense until a three-run sixth-inning. Pete Booris started that with a walk and moved to third when McMannon delivered a double. Dawson plated Booris with a sacrifice fly before Gilbert walked. Jeppson then sent the final two runs in with a single.

CSU travels to Astoria to meet "Treasure Valley" in a doubleheader Friday afternoon. That return-to-base park next Tuesday, hosting Northwest State in a twin bill starting at 7 p.m.

Minico swaps wins with Idaho Falls

REPORT — The Minico Spartans split an eastern division SIC doubleheader with the Idaho Falls Tigers Wednesday afternoon.

Coach John Astorquia's Spartans took the second game 2-0 behind the shutout pitching of Kevin Danner and Doug Brown after Idaho Falls had won the opener 2-0.

The Tigers scored all their runs in the first inning of the opener. Minico ran into some trouble with mistakes.

The Spartans' rebound when sophomore Puy Wilson cracked a two-run homer in the bottom of the first but after that neither team could score.

Minico managed just two hits in the nightcap, but both of them figured prominently in a three-run second inning.

That started with two walks and an error that allowed Kevin Uscola to lead and load the bases. Ish Harding delivered one run with a single and Bill Cowell followed with a two-run homer.

Burley golfers post victory

The Burley varsity won a three-way golf meet Wednesday but the Twin Falls Jayvees posted the best scores of the day.

Burley took the varsity prize at 226 while Milton and Twin Falls were knotted at 230. Dan Baldwin took the medalist pin for Burley.

But when the Jayvees came in, the scoreboard tilted. The Bruins posted a 224 and sophomore, Dean Dorland was medalist at 76. Burley's Jayvees posted a 235 while Milton led 275.

Individual varsity scores include: Twin Falls Niessen 81, Pippy 84, Bevin 85, Patterson 89, and Courtwright 90; Milton—Hech 83, Coli 85, Hayden 85, Tolson 86, Shain 89, and Burley, Haldwin 79, Smith 81, Davids 82, Wilfoms 84, Barth 96.

Pistons top Bulls

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons outscored the Chicago Bulls 115-104 in the third period Wednesday night to break away from a 59-51 tie and roll on to a 102-96 victory, stretching their longest winning streak of the season to six games.

The loss was the seventh in a row for Chicago and also the team's 54th of the season to set a team record.

John Mengert scored 21 points and Bob Lanier had 20 to lead the Pistons, who moved to within a 2-2 games, of the Midwest Division leading Milwaukee Bucks. The Pistons also pulled a match-losing, wrapping up a position in the NBA playoffs.

After taking a 75-64 lead in the first period, the Pistons mounted a comeback to pull a 91-87 lead in the second quarter. Chicago rallied in the final moments to make the final score more respectable.

Cavs outlast Jazz

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Cleveland guard Jim Clemons sank 12 of his 18 points in the fourth period, enabling the Cavaliers to withstand a fourth-quarter New Orleans rally Wednesday night and score a 119-110 victory.

The Cavaliers, with a 43-24 record, clinched playoff berth in the national Basketball Association's Central Division.

Three Cavaliers joined Clemons in the well-balanced scoring attack—center Jim Chones, forward Justin Carr with 12 points each and forward Carney Russell with 16.

The Jazz got 21 points from guard Pete Maravich, who remains the third-leading scorer in the NBA, despite his team's weak 35-41 record.

The Cavaliers led the entire game, but the Jazz spurred within three points late in the fourth quarter on Henry Bibby's strong reserve play. Bibby had 12 points in the final quarter.

Spurs beat Denver

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — George Gervin scored 24 points, including six critical ones in the final three minutes, to lift San Antonio to a 117-111 triumph over league-leading Denver in an NBA contest Wednesday night.

Gervin, who played only 24 minutes because of foot trouble, came off the bench in the final minutes to sink two free throws and the final two baskets after the Nuggets pulled to within three points, 113-110, with one minute left.

Billy Paulin added 21 points and 10 rebounds. Larry Kenon had 21 points and 14 rebounds. James Silas scored 20 points and handed off eight assists and Mike Gale chipped in 12 points for the winners.

The Spurs, who have a five-game winning streak, upset their record 10-23 and moved closer to clinching third place in the NBA.

76ers gain second spot

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Reserve center Clyde Lee hit the go-ahead basket with 170 to play Wednesday night to lead Philadelphia to a 107-103 victory over Buffalo, moving the 76ers ahead of the Braves in second place in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

The Braves, who had led the entire game until Lee's basket, held a 99-93 advantage with 3:22 left, but two foul shots by Doug Collins and a three-point play by Steve Alts brought the 76ers to within one with 1:57 to play.

After George McGinnis hit for Philadelphia, Jim McMillan gave Buffalo its last lead at 101-100 as Lee's basket put the 76ers ahead to stay. Pyle foul shots by Mix, Fred Carter and Collins gave Philadelphia its final margin.

The 76ers now lead Buffalo by one-half game in the battle for second place in the Atlantic Division. Philadelphia has five games remaining.

Coach Grant just babysitting phone

Telephones play a very important role in the life of Coach Boyd Grant and College of Southern Idaho over the next few days.

Most of them will be going to prospective basketball players across the country. But maybe just one or two might come and CSI will be in the market for a new coach.

Coach Grant reports he has settled into the recruiting format of making long distance calls throughout the evening to high school seniors and freshmen from four year schools that may be waiting to transfer.

He is back in Twin Falls after completing interviews with athletic directors and hearing boards of Wyoming and Colorado universities.

"I was the first of five or six men there, having in-for-interviews at Colorado," Coach Grant said Wednesday night. "I was one of I don't know how many at University of Wyoming."

"Actually, all I did was meet with these boards that are required under the equal opportunity laws. I spent about an hour and a half Sunday with the board of Colorado Sunday and then about another hour and a half talking with the athletic director Monday. I spent about an hour and a half with the Wyoming board and then about an hour with the Wyoming athletic director."

"That's been it. Both of them told me I'd hear their decision late this week or early next week. No one answered a question on whether schools have contacted me. I don't have any other interviews scheduled."

Bruins host Idaho Falls

The Twin Falls Bruins boys and girls track teams will entertain the Idaho Falls Tigers in a double dual Friday.

Field events will start at 2:45 p.m. at Bruin Stadium with the running finals slated for 3:35 p.m.

Idaho 'encouraged' by closure on sports salmon fishing in Oregon

The Department of Fish and Game is "encouraged" by Oregon's second year of closures on salmon and steelhead sportfishing and the addition this year of more restrictive rules for ocean chinook fishermen.

"The ocean catch restrictions are to provide more fish to the Indian fishery between Bonneville and McNary dams. This is the first time a run has been allocated to any user group," Dave Ortmann, anonymous fishery supervisor, said.

Ortmann said this could be helpful to Idaho because the allocation process is followed, the result could be a firm allocation of the runs to Idaho.

Washington's fishery agency will hold public hearings on their regulations on April 10 and Ortmann expects their new rules to be similar to Oregon's. Restrictions are expected on trout fisheries off the center Washington Coast, which will bring more salmon into the Columbia.

Although there is no guarantee that these new restrictions will bring fish numbers up to par with past runs to Idaho, they at least are making a good attempt to help us," Ortmann said.

He said Idaho is not committed to shutting down all fishing because of the Oregon and Washington restrictions.

However, he added, there is no guarantee of an Idaho search because of the announced and pending closures in the Columbia and ocean fisheries. Idaho's seasons still must depend upon the counts over the last dam before Idaho.

Idaho's Ortmann's said Washington's new restrictions probably won't fully offset the huge losses of fish that have occurred at the dams.

"The new regulations do however mean Idahoans are and the only ones making sacrifices for the fish," Ortmann said.

In Oregon's announcement of its new regulations, the state's Department of Fish and Wildlife reported more than 500 persons, including commercial fishermen from California and Washington attended the 12-hour hearing.

Oregon did leave the Willamette and Deschutes rivers open to summer steelhead fishing. Ortmann said, "because these rivers have their own steelhead runs that are in fairly good shape, those seasons would not affect Idaho runs."

VCU seeks conference affiliation

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Virginia Commonwealth University basketball coach Chuck She is eyeing next year's NCAA tournament and says he has come to realize the only way to get there is to have a conference affiliation.

VCU's also athletic director for VCU, says there is a strong possibility his team will be a member of a conference by next season, but he is not sure which one.

"We're exploring two or three avenues toward entering a conference, and hopefully we'll come up with something," he said.

The school has applied for the Metro-Six Conference with Memphis State, Georgia Tech, Louisville, Cincinnati, Tulane, and St. Louis. But VCU acceptance in the conference is considered unlikely.

"The Eastern Collegiate Athletic Association, with a wide diversity of schools, is another possibility, along with a third conference which may be formed from several southern urban independents," he said.

VCU's conference still on the drawing board could include North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Jacksonville, South Alabama, South Florida, and Georgia State.

Independents are tired of fighting for survival, themselves," he said. "For a few like Notre Dame and Marquette, it's all right. But for most independent schools, the situation has grown worse and worse."

Why neither politicians nor doctors tend to shake hands with a hard-vigorous grip can be explained, I'm told. Politicians do so much of this hand-shaking that they're forced to grip lightly. As for doctors in general, they're afraid to shake hands with a firm grip because they're afraid of the germs who tend to be particularly careful of their hands.

SPEECHES

S. J. Michelson, director of a ghost writer's service in New York City, says somebody or other thereabouts makes about 11,000 speeches a year. That's 6,000 speeches more than somebody or other thereabouts made 10 years ago. In another 20,000 speeches a year, that's the prognostication. This matter ought to be reported to the environmental protection boys immediately.
