Escapees recaptured

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Police today hunted down 29 escaped political prisoners in the Pyrenees mountains and recaptured most of them in a series of gunfights near the French border, killing one and wounding another.

The national news agency Cifra said 19 of the prisoners, most of them Basque separatist guerrillas of up to 30 years for terrorism, had been captured by the early afternoon. It said a policeman was wounded in one of the shootouts.

But Cifra indicated that some of the fugitives might have made it across the border. It said shots were fired at Spanish police from French territory — possibly, it said, by some of the prisoners who managed to slip across.

Most of the gunfights took place near the town of Roncesvalles, along the old smuggler routes that cross the Pyrenees.

Nebraska may be key to Church campaign

By RICHARD CHARNOCK BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church is pulling out the stops on the May 11 Nebraska primary and sources close to him say if he doesn't make it he may bag his quest of the Democratic presidential nomination.

Between now and the primary — the first of the presidential pre-ferential primaries Church has entered — the Idaho senator plans to spend at least two weeks stamping Nebraska.

Quits post

SANDPOINT, Idaho (UPI) — Bonner County Sheriff Robert Wilcox has announced his resignation effective June 1.

Wilcox said last year's unsuccessful recall election against him had reduced in him the "desire and drive necessary to effectively serve as sheriff."

The county commissioners will have to name a replacement for Wilcox. The acting sheriff will remain in the office until January when Wilcox' present term expires.

Nebraska as his campaign coordinator there.

Church also has persuaded Jeanne Taylor, Nampa, a longtime party worker and former special assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, to go to Nebraska as his campaign coordinator there.

Church doesn't win the Nebraska primary he'd better bag it, one associate said. Campaign Manager Carl Burke, Boise, already has predicted to national news outlets that Church will lose the Nebraska primary. Some of Church's aides went into shock after hearing that "bald" a prediction.

Walker of Twin Falls to run his Gem State campaign. He has vowed to force Church to campaign in his home state.

Church plans to campaign in Idaho after the Nebraska primary. But his attention to his home state may be limited. If he is in poor shape in Idaho, aides said, then his chances of winning the nomination are nil anyway.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, at this writing, is considered the man Church has to beat if he is to capture Nebraska. Some of Church's aides think he has a chance, too.

Church also is reported to have a "good media budget" for Nebraska.

Church's aides think he has a chance, too. Some observers consider Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., as a potential threat. But Udall has money problems and New York's Wisconsin and New Jersey primaries could do in his ambitions.

Carter already has challenged Church for the May 25 Idaho primary, lining up former State Chairman David have primaries the same date and — in Oregon especially — Church plans to campaign heavily there.

In a recent television interview NBC's "Today Show," Church acknowledged that as a late entry into the campaign he was a "long shot."

But, now that he is in the race, he intends to give it all he's got. And that's where Nebraska well may write the scenario.

Actor to divorce
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor George Hamilton said Monday he will divorce his wife, Alana, this week.

Hamilton and the former model were married Oct. 19, 1971. They are parents of a 20-month-old son, Ashley. It was the first marriage for both.

"Alana wants a career," Hamilton said. "And I want a home, family and a full-time wife. There is no bitterness or hurt feeling."

'Something's got to give'
CHICAGO (UPI) — Sally King, the manager of a South Side clothing store that has been robbed once a week for the last three weeks, says "something's got to give."

"I'm getting up in years and I can't go through this every week," Mrs. King, manager of York Women's Apparel, said Monday. "This is getting too much for me."

Mrs. King said a man and woman robbed the store of $200 Monday. Last Wednesday, $100 was taken by a different man-woman team and the week before that, another $100 was taken by a third man-woman duo. She said each couple appeared to have a gun.

138,000 vehicles recalled
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A recall of 138,000 Volkswagen Rabbits and Scirocos with exhaust control device problems has been announced by the Federal Protection Agency.

Involved are 1975 models and some early 1976 models. EPA said Volkswagen took the action voluntarily and is notifying the affected owners by letter that they may bring the cars into dealers to have repairs made free of charge.

There are two problems: the first involves overheating of the catalytic converter — the device designed to filter harmful fumes from the exhaust. And the second is the escape of gasoline fumes from the fuel tank, caused by expansion of the tank itself, particularly during high-altitude use.

Agent surprised
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harry Buendorf, the Secret Service agent who thwarted Lyndon B. Johnson's attempt to shoot President Ford in September, says he was surprised to receive the Treasury Department's Meritorious Service Award.

"I'm amazed," the 39-year-old agent said Monday. "I wasn't expecting this."

Thomas injured
CONWAY, Ark. (UPI) — Actor Richard Thomas, filming a movie about the day actor James Dean was killed in an auto accident, broke his ankle in a traffic injury Monday.

Thomas, best known as "John Boy" in the television series "The Waltons," was injured in a motorcycle accident during filming of the Universal motion picture "99-00-55."

The title is the date Dean was killed. The movie deals with the effect movies and movie personalities have on people.

Universal had planned to film in Conway for at least the rest of the week.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford read the newspaper headline and fell silent.

White House aides, knowing that silence is the sound of the President's anger, looked to the front pages in the Washington Star.

"Morton Tells The GOP, Kissinger On Way Out."

After a moment the President spoke a few words the aides would rather not quote. What followed indicated a couple of things about Gerald Ford.

One, he wants to be believed when he speaks. And two, he wants Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to stay.

Ford, campaigning in Wisconsin Saturday, was asked if Kissinger would stay on, if the President was a full term. Said Ford: "Well, I have said publicly that I would like Secretary Kissinger to be Secretary of State as long as I am president, and I can't expand on that. I think that answers your question."

But in San Jose, Calif., his campaign manager, Rogers Morton, told California conservatives the same day: "I'm sure Mr. Kissinger is getting toward the end of a long political career."

"I would sure be glad to have him go today. But I would anticipate that he would not go beyond his year."

A presidential adviser tried to explain. "Well, Rog meant, all right, I suppose one should not knock Rog. Old Rog is doing the best he can to elect the President. But Secretary Kissinger is not being booted."

"He may not be too wonderful to some conservative 'Republicans,' but polls show Kissinger rating high among the general public and the President must think beyond Ronald Reagan and think about November."

It is hardly a state secret that Morton is not the best Ford political aide to wish Kissinger would go. The reason is that Reagan, Ford's rival for the GOP nomination, has made the secretary a favorite target for verbal blitzing.

So, in the political way of things, life for Ford's campaign aides would be simpler if Kissinger just left.

Kissinger has been a target almost since the start of the Ford Administration. Vietnam, Watergate and various congressional investigations produced successive chapters of what White House folk call "the trouble-with-Henry."

But Ford, calling his secretary one of the nation's "great natural assets," has said no, no, no. The President personally likes and professionally admires Kissinger as an idea man and someone who gets results.

Shortly after reading the headline, press secretary Ron Nesson emerged from a senior staff meeting. Attended by Ford to deny to reporters that Kissinger is being eased out. He repeatedly cited Ford's words and said all the President's men would toe that line.

Thus, to no one's surprise, Morton appeared shortly at a Phoenix, Ariz., news conference and moved to pull foot from mouth.

Influenza program favored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has given overwhelming approval to $135 million for a crash program of vaccinating all Americans against swine influenza by autumn.

The 354-12 vote sent the measure to the Senate over the protest of a physician member, Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., that precautions against a potential epidemic could be handled by the medical profession and private drug firms.

President Ford sought the money after the U.S. Public Health Service warned him of the potential reappearance of swine flu which killed some 548,000 Americans in 1918 and 1919 during a worldwide epidemic in which 20 million died.

The new strain of swine flu was isolated from an outbreak of other diseases among military recruits at Fort Dix, N.J., in February.

Of the funds appropriated, $100 million would be used to manufacture and distribute the vaccine to state and local health centers.

MEN'S PHYSICAL FITNESS

Business and industry across the country are spending millions of dollars for facilities and equipment to help their employees maintain physical fitness. The Magic Valley YMCA with its mini-gym and indoor, heated swimming pool has the facilities to help the men of the Magic Valley keep physically fit. The "Y" offers a class three times a week from 5:30 P.M. to 7:00 P.M. and plans to expand the program as more men become involved. The modest $35 per year membership fee means that a man can exercise three times a week for a whole year for 67¢ a week. The mini-gym makes it possible for a man to jog, do calisthenics, lift weights, ride an exercycle and more, and then relax in the heated swimming pool. A packed way to close out the day and become more physically fit.

VOLLEYBALL

Through the fall and winter months the "Y" has volleyball programs for men and young couples. The men's volleyball program starts in September and is sponsored in conjunction with the Twin Falls Recreation Department. The teams are made up of from 8 to 12 players and they play once a week at Robert Stuart Jr. High School.

The couples volleyball program is also organized in September and by October the teams are established. Couples interested, and not on a team are most welcome. The goal of this program is to give as many couples as possible the opportunity of playing, having fun and making new friends.

Can May flowers be far behind?

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with a chance of light showers. Gusty winds at times and cooler. Highs Wednesday mid 60s. Overnight lows 35 to 40. The outlook for Thursday, cloudy with a chance of rain.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley: Chance of a few showers. Snow about 7,000 feet. Cooler afternoon temperatures with Highs Wednesday in the 40s. Overnight lows in the 20s. Thursday's outlook cloudy.

Synopsis: High temperatures Monday afternoon were generally 10 to 15 degrees above normal with some stations recording the warmest weather of the year. Highs were mostly in the upper 60s through the mid 70s in southwest Idaho.

On Monday an upper level low pressure area was located over California. This system moved in a northwest direction and is located over Utah. The circulation around the system was moist enough to cause light rain late last night and early this morning.

At 8 a.m. this morning in the Magic Valley, Rupert reported .16 of an inch, the weather service office in Kimberly reported 15 hundredths and the College of Southern Idaho and Buhl reported .10 of precipitation.

A low pressure area now off the Pacific coast will continue to cause moisture to flow inland, bringing cloudy skies and intermittent rain through the period.

Antacid effect warnings pondered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission announced Monday its third action involving the drug industry within the past year, saying it may require warnings of side-effects in advertising for nonprescription antacid medicines.

The move was announced both here and in a Palm Beach, Fla., speech by FTC commissioner Elizabeth Hansford Dale before a group of nonprescription drug manufacturers; the Proprietary Association, which showed immediate opposition.

Association president James Cope said the requirement could lead to confusion and higher costs for consumers.

"Furthermore, it undermines the American consumer's intelligence and willingness to accept responsibility to read the labels when self-medicating," he said.

The FTC estimates that about $2 billion worth of over-the-counter antacid stomach remedies are sold each year. There are about 30 such products on the market.

Less than the Food and Drug Administration required most of the products to start including warnings of side effects on labels, such as statements that particular products should not be used by persons with some diseases or persons taking other kinds of medication.

Mrs. Dale said the FTC was considering instituting trade regulation rules for antacid ads — mandatory that carry fines of up to $10,000 per day — per violation.

She said that an FDA survey revealed that 43 per cent of the population got most of their information on over-the-counter drugs from advertising and thus might overlook the label warnings.

Wasting Hot Water is money down the drain.

Wasted hot water is wasted energy. A poorly located or inadequately insulated water heater could be responsible for pouring a lot of energy — and a lot of your money — down the drain.

- Buy the size water heater that fits your needs and locate it close to where the most hot water is used.
- Insulate hot water pipes adequately.
- Repair dripping faucets — a drip per second adds about 60 cents monthly to your electric bill.
- Operate the garbage disposer with cold water. This saves energy and hardens grease so it can be washed away more easily.
- Use full loads in the washing machine and dishwasher — small loads use almost as much energy as large ones.
- Take more showers than baths, and install a flow restrictor in the pipe at the showerhead.

For more tips on wise use of energy, call your local Idaho Power office for an Energy Adviser appointment.

WISE USE IS COMMON SENSE

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 It is true that vitamin drops no longer have any effect once your baby reaches one year of age?—S.W.
 By that time the normal baby is eating pretty much a full diet, from which he would be getting most of his essential nutrients, including vitamins. However, babies differ widely in what they will and will not eat at this age. A pediatrician should be able to tell you if what your child is eating is sufficient to satisfy his needs. It is true, though, that vitamins given to excess in

I have two questions. Does the Pap smear test detect malignancies of the vagina or ovaries? My second question involves an acquaintance who is 50 and who has a beautiful, girlish complexion. She tells me that she has never used anything on her face but a tinter.
 However, she has a fat face. Would the use of cocoa butter on the face build up tissue and make a fat face? I would like to use it, but I don't want to end up with a fat face.—Mrs. M.V.
 The answer to the first question is yes, the Pap smear will reveal any malignancies of the cervix and uterus.

50th year discussed

KIMBERLY — Excelsior Socker Club met at the home of Cliff Thompson when special reports were given on the 50th anniversary of the club.
 The 50th anniversary party is scheduled May 20 at 1 p.m. in the Turf Club, Twin Falls.
 Roll call was a plant and bulb exchange. The opening exercise was given by Mathie and Marie McFarland.
 Esther Butler was in charge of the program. She used an April Fool theme.

$3,000 pledged

TWIN FALLS — Idahoans pledged $3,000 this past weekend during a telethon to the Idaho Society for Crippled Children and Adults, according to Marie Stoddard, director of the Magic Valley Easter Seal Center.
 Easter Seal volunteers from the Magic Valley took the $3,000 to the Stoddard and Co. building. Mrs. Stoddard was pleased with this year's pledges because last year only $800 was collected through the national telethon.
 According to her, Holiday Times throughout Idaho donated money they collected for the time of coffee during the time of the telethon broadcast.
 Jake Eiter, manager of Coy's Restaurant at the Twin Falls Holiday Inn, collected and donated $293.25, the largest single donation in the state.
 Mrs. Stoddard says the money collected will go for the support of the three Easter Seal Centers in the state.
 Easter Seal Centers provide therapy for children with speech, hearing, motor coordination and learning disability problems.
 Between 16 per cent and 17 per cent of all recent recipients of Ph.D.s have been women. Minority candidates earned 4 per cent to 5 per cent of the Ph.D. awards.

Contest scheduled

HAILFAY — A Blaine County 4-H Flag Contest is under way here with a $15 prize to the winner.

Sponsored by the 4-H Builders' Club the designs for the flags are due April 25 at 4 p.m. at the Hailay Extension Office, Tinker's in Bellevue, the Ketchum Library, the Placito General Store and the Paul Olsen residence in Carey.
 There should be a written explanation of the flag's symbols and colors along with its design.

bodily needs are in most cases abused by the body. An excess of certain vitamins (A and D) and C are simply eliminated.
 If the mother of an infant is breastfeeding, she is supplying most of the necessary vitamins, with the exception of vitamin C—assuming, of course, that the mother herself is receiving adequate nourishment.
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 I am a woman, 49, who has only a quarter of the stomach left after several operations. I also have an enlarged and dropped kidney. I've been told there is nothing to take to correct it. Would this kidney give me a very sick stomach? I can't keep hot flashes, and I have these hot flashes, and I understand I should have the kidney removed. Do you think so?—Mrs. E. R.
 This could be what is called the "dumping syndrome." It occurs in people who have had extensive stomach removal and it is featured by giddiness, weakness, flushing of the face, sweating, nausea, vomiting and headache.
 The problem is caused by the rapid emptying of the stomach into the intestine. Treatment consists of small, frequent, high-protein, low-starch feedings. A sedative is also used in conjunction with the diet.
 I doubt that your enlarged kidney is the cause of your trouble, but the reason for its enlargement should be investigated. Drop of the kidney is not unusual, but you might require surgery to secure its position. Nephrectomy (removal of a kidney) is not decided upon lightly.
 Kidneys seem to be the subject of more than their share of my mail these days. I might remind readers that my booklet on this subject—"What You Should Know About Your Kidneys," is still available. Send 25 cents to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 Why do I have this constant burning sensation on my tongue? I enjoy good health and have a good appetite. I thought at first it was the hot coffee and tea I drink, but I wake in the morning with this same feeling. It's beginning to bother me.—Mrs. R. O.
 You don't mention if redness or lesions are involved. The burning sensation can indicate a variety of conditions. It is common in postmenopausal women. The burning can indicate an anemic state, diabetes mellitus, or some nutritional (vitamin) deficiency.
 If it is starting to bother you, it makes sense to have it looked at and to have a complete physical to rule out any of the possible causes mentioned above. Reddened areas of the tip and sides can result from excess smoking, or it could be an indicator of pellagra, or a vitamin deficiency (usually B-2).
 The tongue, as you know, shows many signs that are helpful in a diagnosis of a wide variety of ailments.

did not make your friend's face fat. Her fatness did. Cocoa butter might keep the skin soft, and tend to retain moisture. It acts like most other bland facial lotions — no better, no worse.

Indian giver?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Merton Feldstein feels his girlfriend has been avoiding marriage long enough. He wants his gifts returned.

Feldstein, about 45 and a stockbroker, recently filed suit in Cook County Circuit Court in an attempt to get his gifts to Mrs. Merle Greenberg returned.

Feldstein and Mrs. Greenberg began planning marriage in early 1973, the suit said. And while the planning was going on, he bought her a $104,000 condominium on Chicago's Near North Side and filled it with more than $100,000 worth of furniture and expensive artwork.

Feldstein said he also bought her a Mercedes-Benz, airplane tickets, a condominium for her parents in Miami Beach and another nearby "to facilitate visiting."

player to duck twice, with the ace and South has to decide whether or not to play his king.

The principle of restricted choice applies here. If West held both the queen and Jack he might well have won the first trump with the queen. Therefore, the odds are two to one that East holds the queen. South plays a low spade and is home with the bacon.

The two to one is paid off this time. It won't do so all the time, but it is the way to handle things in the long run.

Ask the Jacobys

A Minnesota reader wants to know what we respond to partner's one-no trump opening bid with:

- ♠ J 5 ♣ A J 9 2 ♣ K 5
- ♠ J 10 4

By Oswald & James Jacoby

His opening shows 16-18 points.

We recommend a two-club follows suit, with or without a trick, with one of two equal cards, he would have had to play the actual card if he held just one. Thus he would have been equally likely to play the other card if he held both.

South wins the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs, leads a spade and plays his seven spot after East follows low. West wins with the jack and leads a heart. South wins entries dummy with the queen of diamonds and leads a second trump. East plays low and South must decide whether or not to play the king.

East is a good enough

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune, N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: When a reader asked you if Indian men were superior to white men in the art of lovemaking, you suggested that he contact the Bureau of Indian Affairs or the American Indian Movement.

As the executive director of the American Indian Movement, I feel it is my duty to respond.

For the Indian, "love" does not begin when the lights go out or when pot or liquor is consumed, and it is not confined to the bedroom or any other hidden place.

The way in which the Indian treats his wife throughout the marriage is the key to making him a superior lover. His daily acts of kindness, consideration and respect for her demonstrates his love.

While we recognize that the sex act may send man's mind aflame for a few fleeting moments, it is but a minute part of the overall act of love.

The above code of behavior plus the Indian's respect for women have been passed down from father to son. I personally have 15 children and am an Ojibway Indian.

Very truly yours,
DENNIS J. BANKS

Better lovers?

DEAR ABBY: May I answer Ed in East Illinois, who asked: "Is it true that closely guarded tribal secrets on how to please a woman are passed down from father to son, making Indians better lovers than white men?"

First the white man took all the Indian's land and some of his women. Now they want the Indian's love secrets. No way! The Indian needs something to call his own.

HALF-BLOODED INDIAN

DEAR ABBY: Now I know why The Lone Ranger never got the girl. They all ended up with Jay Silverheels, that good looking Indian who played Tonto.

SEMINOLE IN FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: Tell Ed, "Yes, there are many closely guarded, secret Indian lovemaking tricks." You will notice that divorce is very rare among Indians. That's because they know how to please their women.

Secrets like the "Apache grip" and the "Kickapoo twist" will never be sold or given away by a true Indian.

MIKE WHITEFATHER IN SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: In response to Ed in East Illinois, I have lived with a Mandan Indian for five years, and I wouldn't trade him for FIVE white lovers. He is the greatest!

LINDA IN MARYLAND

DEAR ABBY: I am one-half Indian and have had two Indian squaws, who both ran off with white men. Apparently the "closely-guarded secrets" of lovemaking from the Indian side of my family were not passed on to me.

I was married to two white men before so I know what I'm talking about.

M.N. FROM WASHINGTON

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old white woman who is married to a 67-year-old Modoc Indian. We have been married almost nine years, and as far as I'm concerned, he has the white man beat all to heck.

I was married to two white men before so I know what I'm talking about.

TF woman arrested

TWIN FALLS - A Twin Falls woman was arrested early Sunday for leaving the scene of an accident after she failed to report damage to her car.

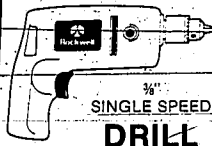

Police were called to the Depot Grill about 4 a.m. Sunday to inspect damage to a vehicle. Upon arrival they were told that a late model sedan with extensive front-end damage was owned by Verla Mae Rivas, 41.

Checking further, police established that the Rivas woman had apparently left a parked truck along 4th Ave. W. Police returned to the restaurant and arrested Rivas for leaving the scene of an accident and failure to stay in a lined roadway.

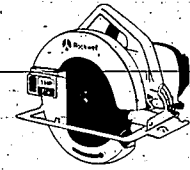

Rivas was released shortly thereafter on her own recognizance. Damage to her vehicle was estimated at $1,300. There was no estimate of damage to the parked pickup.

In an unrelated case, police today were investigating the burglary of about $160 in ceramic tile from a Twin Falls rental warehouse. Owen Keady, Twin Falls, reported the tile taken from a stall he had rented in a warehouse on Blake Street. Keady said the theft occurred between Friday and Sunday.

Ketchum study draws criticism

By BART QUENELL
Times-News

KETCHUM Movie producer Dick Barrymore turned actor last night chastising the Ketchum city council for an avalanche study completed by councilman Phil Puchner. "I want someone with a fair opinion on an avalanche instead of one person here to do that study," he yelled. Barrymore has property on the north side of Warm Springs Road which he said was down zoned because of an alleged avalanche danger. The down zone "is a serious thing and cost me a lot of money," he said. A house across the road from Barrymore is not considered in the avalanche zone. He pointed out, "Obviously, if avalanche is a threat to my home it is just as dangerous to a house across the street," he said. Puchner said he had attended two avalanche schools and has done the avalanche study himself which is included in the city ordinance. "In requesting the council to find someone qualified to make the study," Barrymore retorted. Councilman Joe Koenig said he would listen if Barrymore would produce an alternative study differing from the city adopted study. "But will I have to pay for $25,000 for an expert to do the study?" Barrymore asked. "You benefit, you pay," Ketchum Mayor Gerald Sieffert said. Barrymore left the room angrily, came back and left hurriedly again after the council agreed to listen to testimony if Barrymore would produce an avalanche expert. In other business, city administrator Mark Buell told the council Economic Development Administration had officially turned down an application for a new Ketchum sewerage plant study and construction. The city has been actively seeking to add a tertiary stage to the plant. On occasion the plant has exceeded nutrient levels set by the Environmental Protection Agency. Sieffert said a grant try through the EPA would not be advisable until the county wide waste water treatment study is complete. Lee Renfro, Halley, who wants to build five houses on "the rock," a knob hill in Ketchum, requested the council to let him construct a driveway on recorded public street. Renfro said the street is recorded although section "uses" except by four-lane drive

ARS studies 'snowbanks'

By KEN HODGE
Times-News writer

BOISE Agricultural Research Service (ARS) scientists in Boise are studying snowbanks to learn to prolong the flow of a stream during the summer months. "The more snow you get in one pile, the better off you are," says Lloyd Cox, ARS hydrologist on the Reynolds Creek Project southwest of Boise. According to Cox, the deeper and bulkier a snowdrift is, the longer it will take to melt in warm weather, prolonging its contribution to a nearby snow-fed stream. The objective of the study is to find ways to prolong the melting process of the annual snowfall and thereby keep streams filled with water that usually dry up in July or August. The hope is that more grazing time could be created in a given area.

ARS will create new snow or additional moisture. "We just manage the snow that falls," said Cox. One of their projects includes placing some 46 water gauges throughout the Reynolds Creek watershed to collect rain and snow on a year round basis in order to determine the amount of annual precipitation in the area. Another of their projects involves learning to predict the rate at which given bodies of snow will melt. Warnings could be made about possible flooding or times of short water supply. During the coming winter, the ARS team plans to study sizes and shapes of snow drifts and possible ways of altering the snow volume or snow pack in a given drift. "If we can make a snow drift bigger with a snow fence, more of the snow in the area will collect and the melting process in the spring of the following year will be slower," Cox said. "When asked if machine packing could be of any help in regulating the snowmelt in the spring, Cox said, "We have not done any work in packing. The wind does it very well. After the snow falls, the wind blows it around and breaks it into very fine particles which pack together very closely when they settle to the ground."

Minidoka tot class still in limbo

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

RUPERT — No decisions were made Monday night on a proposed kindergarten program for Minidoka County. Although still insisting that it could not begin a kindergarten program this fall, the school board did listen to figures developed by Mrs. Billy Fox, Rupert, and Mrs. Charles Pawson, Heyburn, on the number of youngsters that would benefit and the estimated cost of the program.

The cost figures, developed from those of Cassia County's program this year, were similar to the estimates presented by Hatfield and assistant superintendent Doyle

Lower earlier. Board members repeated that they could not afford a program this year, but did agree to work with the mothers on developing a program which might be put into effect in the fall of 1977.

Trustees heard a presentation of priority capital expenditures of more than $200,000 from Hatfield. The superintendent also presented maintenance priorities developed by Elmer Hellewell, maintenance and ground supervisor.

It took no action on either. The two major capital expenditures proposed by Hatfield were $60,000 for vocational education equipment at Minico High's new structure and an estimated $140,000 to begin a major blacktopping project throughout the district.

Hatfield also proposed remodeling of the music room at Minico High. The room is required to have two exits because it now served up to the students at a time.

Hatfield told the board that James Brague, school instructor, said it is difficult to get 100 students in the room with the risers that are now there. Brague proposed that the risers be removed and that he build a stand for the director to use.

Hatfield said that would allow the district to install the required second exit.

The maintenance priority that drew most trustee attention was the bricking in of windows at three elementary schools.

Hatfield is the old Lincoln School. Its sills are so rotted that the wind blew in a pane of glass a couple of years ago.

Trustee Fern Hunter regretted her insistence that some plan for maintenance be developed.

Hatfield said he is working toward a correlation of all the materials used in maintenance, but still is not sure what type of maintenance plan Mrs. Hunter seeks.

Hatfield also pointed out that the maintenance budget is less now than it was when he came to the district five years ago.

Hatfield said the budget was $80,000 annually, but was cut to $60,000—in 1975—the maintenance budget for the coming school year has not been developed.

Log exports on increase

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station said today a total of 219.2 million board feet of softwood logs was exported from Oregon, Washington, northern California, and Alaska in January. The January volume was up 83.7 per cent from December.

ARS will create new snow or additional moisture. "We just manage the snow that falls," said Cox.

One of their projects includes placing some 46 water gauges throughout the Reynolds Creek watershed to collect rain and snow on a year round basis in order to determine the amount of annual precipitation in the area.

Another of their projects involves learning to predict the rate at which given bodies of snow will melt. Warnings could be made about possible flooding or times of short water supply.

During the coming winter, the ARS team plans to study sizes and shapes of snow drifts and possible ways of altering the snow volume or snow pack in a given drift.

"If we can make a snow drift bigger with a snow fence, more of the snow in the area will collect and the melting process in the spring of the following year will be slower," Cox said.

"When asked if machine packing could be of any help in regulating the snowmelt in the spring, Cox said, "We have not done any work in packing. The wind does it very well. After the snow falls, the wind blows it around and breaks it into very fine particles which pack together very closely when they settle to the ground."

Power poles stockpiled for new Blaine line

BELLEVEUE — Idaho Power Co. has begun stockpiling 65 foot power poles in preparation for construction of a new transmission line from Halley to Hunt.

However, Idaho Power has yet to receive approval from the Federal Aviation Administration Memorial Airport Commission to use high poles for the new line. The airport commission and the Federal Aviation Administration have questioned the use of the high poles because they could interfere with landings and takeoffs at the Halley airport.

Idaho Power has been asked to change the original route of the power line so that the high poles would not pose a threat to the airport. And the utility company also has been asked to use smaller poles around the airport.

The new power line is needed to fuel irrigation pumps in the Mini-Cassia area, according to Idaho Power.

Ronald Bubb, an Idaho Power representative in Halley, expects the utility company to work out a compromise with the airport commission and go ahead with construction of the new power line in August.

Bubb said Idaho Power would agree to moving the power line away from the airport and lower the height of the poles.

The first phase of construction of the new line will stretch from the Wood River substation north of Halley to Bellevue and then down highway 23 south to Gannett.

The construction will cost between $30,000 and $35,000 per mile.

Bubb said the company will be taking the distribution lines along the Gannett Road and shifting it to a one pole network. The poles will be set back from the road, he said, close to the railroad.

The exact route of the phased construction after this initial period has not been determined, Bubb said, and has not been presented to the Bureau of Land Management which will have to grant permission where the poles are to go over federal land.

Seats retained

BELLEVEUE — Incumbent aldermen all retained their seats during the annual city election here Monday.

Mayor L.T. "Pete" Johnson, running unopposed, received 100 of 105 votes cast. Glenn Stelma received 83 votes; Duke Martin, 82, and George "Butch" McKay, 63.

Dan Gutter, challenger for one of the three alderman seats, received 69 votes while Richard Beckman also a challenger, garnered 40 Bellevue votes. The mayor's position is for one year. Each alderman seat has a two-year duration.

Salary said key to negotiations

TWIN FALLS — Teacher negotiations in Twin Falls District 411 should begin in a week or two. Key to the negotiations will be salary demands, although just what those demands will be is not known.

A second issue will be the status of the Twin Falls Education Association, which has been named as the bargaining agent for teachers this year but has not been recognized beyond that date.

Teachers will also seek a written statement from school administrators on teacher input in school system decisions. According to Association president Philip East, a research team is now studying the salary question but has made no recommendations.

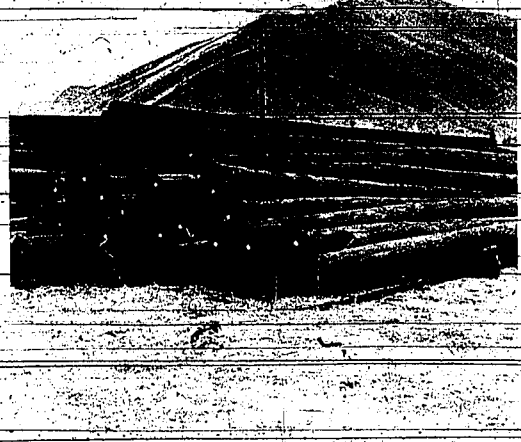

"We are getting to the point where we will examine the salary proposal very closely," East said, "but there is nothing definite as far as what our proposal might be."

According to East, Idaho averages about 38th among states of the Union in teachers' salaries. "But we still have the problem the legislature only gave us so much money too," he added.

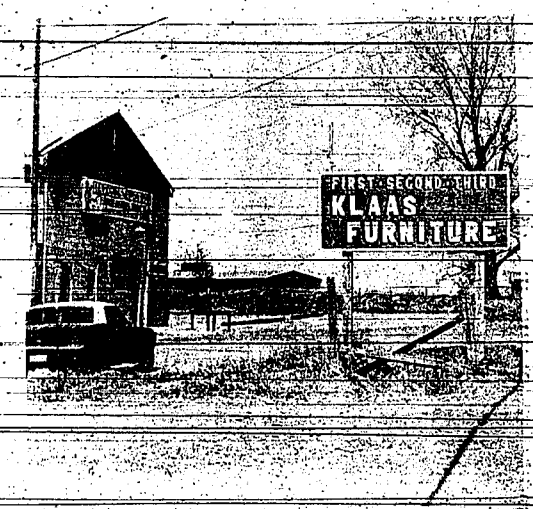

East, a seventh-grade math teacher at O'Leary Junior High, said he did not foresee a Dist. 411 teachers' strike.

"That all depends on what happens in negotiations," he said. "He said the Association will contact the school board "in another week or two" and set a date for a meeting.

"As soon as we get a meeting set up, we will probably give them our proposals," he added. The negotiation will take place in closed sessions, East said. He said both the Association and the school board had agreed to make joint press releases as the sessions proceed. If an item can't be agreed upon, this agreement may be voided, he added. The negotiating team for the association will be composed of high school librarian Jean Nelson, O'Leary language instructor Robert Klus, and Morningdale elementary teacher Gary Folwell.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher Tuesday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was about 27 points higher, closing at 1,006.46, shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 411 to 142, among the 799 issues crossing the tape.

Analysts now say investors, almost entirely higher first quarter earnings, are beginning to anticipate strong first half earnings. The bell was strengthened by a Commerce Department report Monday that U.S. manufacturers expect inventories to climb 2.3 per cent in the second quarter and sales to increase by about $6 billion over the first period.

Published reports said that growing consumer confidence is boosting the housing industry, which has lagged the rest of the economy in recovering from the recession.

Also, a National Association of Purchasing Management report released Monday said its latest survey showed agents expect factory orders to be good, despite inflationary pressures.

Jim Plunkett traded to San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers, unable to seriously challenge for the National Football League championship since 1971 because of an uncertain quarterback situation, Monday acquired Jim Plunkett from the New England Patriots.

In exchange, the 49ers gave the Patriots reserve signal caller Tom Owen and three first round draft choices, two of them coming in this round draft choice.

Ideas on Henry's lake fishery sought

Proposals for management of the Henry's lake fishery will be sought at a public meeting in Twin Falls Wednesday night.

All interested Hagerman Valley fishermen are invited to attend the meeting which will start at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in room 117 of the CSI Shields building.

Information director Stu Murrell said purpose of the meeting is to gather "input" from Idaho anglers concerning the direction they feel the fishery should take. For instance, it could be designed for a Cutthroat hybrid emphasis.

Commissioner Jack Hemingway, Ketchum, will chair the meeting and the discussion will be led by fishery supervisor Stacy Gebhardt.

Plunkett said, "I'm glad the 49ers were able to take advantage of obtaining me. I know there's a lot of work to be done and there's a lot expected of me."

The situation in New England was difficult because of the constant turnover in personnel and in the front office. I found it hard to work under Chuck Fairbanks' general manager, coach, who has stabilized the situation—somehow—but maybe at this stage of my career it would be too difficult for me to change. He wants a quarterback to run and I don't consider myself a good running quarterback.

Plunkett, 29, was the first player taken in the 1971 draft after a brilliant career at Stanford, where he led the Cardinals to an upset Rose Bowl victory over heavily favored Ohio State.

However, he let it be known that he was unhappy with the Patriots' lack of progress, coaching and front office changes, and his physical setbacks and requested the trade.

Plunkett, 6-3, 215, went as far as to tell New England officials in January that he would play out his option in 1976 if a trade could not be worked out. Last season, as a part-time performer, he completed 36 of 92 passes for 571 yards and three touchdowns.

During his career with the Patriots, Plunkett led the team to a 23-7 overall record as a starter. He never missed a game in his first four years—before shoulder and knee problems sidelined him for a major part of the 1975 season.

With the 49ers, he will be reunited with his collegiate passing partner, Gene Washington.

Since the retirement of John Brodie in 1973, the 49ers, who had made the NFL playoffs three years running, have failed to make a serious bid for the National Conference's Western Division title—since compiling an overall 27-12-2 mark between 1970-72. They fell to 5-9 in both 1973 and 1974 and 6-8 in 1975.

During the past three years, the 49ers frequently switched personnel at quarterback, using Spurrier, Owen, Norm Sneed — a 16-year veteran who will back up Plunkett — and Joe Reed, who was traded to Detroit last season.

Last year, Sneed opened the season, but gave way to Spurrier, who, in turn, turned the team over to Owen in the finale. Owen, 29, was a 19th round draft choice in 1974 from Wichita State and performed admirably as a rookie, completing 88 of 181 passes for 1,427 yards and 10 touchdowns. He sparked the 49ers to four victories in the last five games and was expected to take over in 1975. However, after an unimpressive pre-season, he was returned to reserve status and completed 34 of 71 passes for 318 yards and one touchdown as a part-time player.

At New England, he will battle Steve Grogan for the No. 1 job.

Chinook salmon release set by F-and-G department

BOISE (UPI) — A journey to the Pacific Ocean from the South Fork of the Salmon River for 375,000 summer chinook salmon will be made this month in trucks.

The fish hauling operation from the four Idaho Fish and Game hatcheries is expected to be finished by April 15 and the fish should return as adults to the South Fork by 1978 and 1979.

Because of dams on the lower Snake and Columbia rivers, the summer chinook runs to Idaho have declined from 30,000 in 1969 to numbers so low there is a danger of extinction of the Idaho run.

From the 1974 run, the department picked up adult summer chinook at Little Goose Dam and transported them to Rapid River Hatchery near Riggs where the fish were spawned.

The fish were reared at Eagle, McCall, Mackay and Hagerman hatcheries.

Dave Ortman, anadromous fisheries supervisor at the department, said the South Fork of the Salmon is Idaho's most important summer chinook stream but there has been no fishing allowed on the run since 1964. Since 1965, the summer chinook have had good protection from gill-nets downriver.

The Idaho chinook program was financed by the Corps of Engineers and "is an advance program that leads into the proposed Lower Snake Compensation Plan."

Besides trying to maintain a run Idaho came close to losing the project is a test of McCall Hatchery, a test to find out whether conditions are right at that hatchery to produce part of the chinook to be reared as a result of the compensation plan.

The smolts coming from McCall — 80,000 fish — also have tags that will tell Idaho something about how many of its chinook are being taken by ocean fishermen and how well the fish survive the rigors of the obstacles between McCall and the Pacific, he said.

There are 18,000 fish coming from the Eagle hatchery, 29,000 from Mackay and 18,000 from Hagerman.

Notes outlast Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — New York's Brian Taylor hit two decisive free throws with four seconds left and scored 29 points Monday night to key the Nets to a 104-102 win over San Antonio in an ABA game played mostly by substitutes.

Taylor was the exception, playing 40 minutes. No other Net starter logged more than 12 minutes playing time, as Coach Kevin Loughery rested them for the seven-game playoff series against the Spurs opening Friday in New York.

New York snapped a seven-game winning streak by San Antonio, dropping the third-place Spurs to a 39-34 record.

Tim Bassett added 17 points, Jim Eakins hit 14 and Julius Erving scored 13 in only 12 minutes of playing time. Second-place New York used its record to 54-29.

Allan Bristow led the Spurs with 15 points, while Larry Konon and Tom Owens hit 13 each. Coby Dietrick and Mike Gale collected 10 apiece.

Reds sell Rettenmund

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A Cincinnati spokesman said Monday the Reds have sold the contract of outfielder Merv Rettenmund to the San Diego Padres.

Cincinnati obtained the contract of shortstop Rudy Meoli from San Diego and assigned it outright to its San Indianopolis farm team.

Rettenmund has played with the Reds the last two years, batting .239 in 1975.

Texas committee clears athletes

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A special University of Texas committee investigating allegations longhorn athletes look unearned state pay concluded neither the athletes nor the university had done anything wrong.

Any rule violations by the students were technical and minor, the report said.

The university did not release portions of the report dealing with possible violations of NCAA rules, however.

The investigator was notified by UPI reports four student athletes had been paid by the state for periods of up to two weeks in which they did not work.

The faculty committee's report, released Monday by UT President Lorenz Rogers, said although the athletes in some instances received a full month's pay for two weeks' work, "the employees had done nothing wrong; they had not asked for the full month's pay, and they had made no false pretenses in connection with the payroll information."

The report said it is possible some of the athletes may not have realized they were overpaid.

"Only in the case for the Senate Print Shop have we found any evidence that athletes may have been paid for work not actually done," the report said. "Yet the work (or lack of it) expected from athletes appears to be no different from that for other print shop employees."

The report said the work load in the print shop was uneven, and sufficient employees were hired to deal with peak periods, and employees therefore frequently had little or nothing to do.

"In short, we find no evidence to support the notion that the athletes employed in the print shop for other state office behaved any differently than other employees in the same office," the report said.

The report also said only about 5 per cent of the athletes on scholarship are hired by the state and found no established arrangement between coaches and state agencies for employment of athletes.

British soccer star links with US team

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American soccer league Monday announced they have obtained forward Ron Davies, the English soccer league's leading active goal scorer, from Manchester United.

Davies, 33, will join the Aztecs and two other world-class stars, George Best and Charlie Cooke, Wednesday to prepare for an NASL exhibition against the New York Cosmos and FC at the coliseum Sunday.

He scored 276 goals in 506 English soccer league games. He also played in 20 games for the Welsh International team.

Holmes TKO's Portland's Askew

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Undeclared Larry Holmes, the World Boxing Association's eighth ranked heavyweight, scored a second round technical knockout over Fred Askew of Portland, Ore., Monday night in the feature bout of a six-fight card at the Capital Centre.

Holmes, at 207 1/2 pounds, punished Askew repeatedly and scored two second round knockdowns before the referee halted the fight at the 2:18 mark.

The win was the 21st straight and 16th knockout for the Eastern, Pa., native. The loss was the first since 1970 for Askew, who weighed in at 206.

In other 10-round bouts, undefeated Johnny Bourdeaux of Houston won a unanimous decision over Joe Chisolm of Miami and Denis of North Attleboro, Mass., and Obie English of Philadelphia fought a draw.

The decision left the 208-pound Bourdeaux, who was troubled by the slickness of the ring, 19-0-1. Chisolm, who weighed in at 199, is now 8-7.

It was the first draw ever for Dennis, 209, who had won 27 fights, English, at 209 1/2, is now 15-5-1.

In a special six rounder, Bill Cline, 184 pounds of Hillcrest Heights, Md., scored a technical knockout at the 29 second mark of the first round over Al "Thunder" Byrd of Greensboro, N.C., who weighed in eight pounds heavier than Cline.

It was the ninth straight win for Cline.

In another heavyweight bout, Kevin Issues of New York City scored a unanimous decision over Gregory Johnson, also of New York. Issues weighed 195 1/2 while Johnson was 212 1/2.

In the only non-heavyweight bout on the card, junior middleweight "Fish" Mike Baker of Hillcrest Heights won a controversial split decision over Larry Davis of Tallahassee, Fla.

The bout between the two 150-pounders was marred by numerous incidents of headbutting, clinching and rustling. Both fighters drew numerous warnings from referee Larry Barrett.

The six fight card drew a crowd of 10,201, the largest boxing crowd in the state of Maryland. It was promoted by Don King, who is also promoting the Mohammed Ali-Muhammad Young fight at the Capital Centre, April 30.

Tough move

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Houston Rockets in overtime, 130-127, Monday night to clinch the Sixers' first playoff berth since the 1970-71 season.

George McGinnis gave the Sixers a 130-127 lead with 44 seconds left when he made one of two free throw attempts. The Rockets closed to within a point, 129-123, with 33 seconds remaining when Joe Meriwether made two fouls with 33 seconds left.

Houston's Mike Newlin then was fouled driving for the basket with 25 seconds remaining, but missed all three of his foul attempts.

The win ties the Sixers with title Buffalo for second place in the Atlantic Division. Buffalo and Philadelphia are 44-35.

Steve Mix topped the 76ers with 33 points, while McGinnis added 28 and Fred Carter 24.

Calvin Murphy took game scoring honors for the Rockets with 36 points and also had 11 assists. Rudy Tomjanovich had 25 points for the losers, who are eliminated from the playoffs.

Grant visits Wyoming again

College of Southern Idaho Coach Boyd Grant left for Laramie, Wyo., Tuesday for further discussions about his possible employment there.

Coach Grant said Monday he anticipated a final decision on his future in the immediate future, perhaps by Tuesday evening.

Concerning reports he was still in top consideration for the Colorado job, Coach Grant said "I have heard many reports about different people having the inside track at Colorado. The only thing I know is that they told and after my interview there last week that there would be no further communication with any of the applicants until a decision is reached there. They told me that decision would probably come Tuesday."

Boxer dies

SYDNEY (UPI) — American boxer Chuck Wilburn, fighting for his life since his bout last week with Australian Hector Thompson, died Tuesday, hospital officials reported.

Despite efforts by doctors to save Wilburn, 22, he never regained consciousness.

Wilburn was hospitalized after being knocked out in a Toronto bout last Thursday at the Blacktown Returned Servicemen League Club and underwent a four-hour emergency operation to relieve fluid pressure on his brain.

Cincinnati fans pick Reds to win

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Less than six months ago, an overflow throng of 20,000 Cincinnati Reds Roasters jammed downtown fountain square to cheer the world champion Cincinnati Reds and climax the 1975 baseball season.

It was an unofficial holiday in this baseball-happy community — and this week another local unofficial holiday will help open the 1976 season.

The Reds, traditional opening day hosts, entertain the Houston Astros Thursday afternoon to get the long, 162-game campaign underway.

The spring training delay and baseball's legal squabbles apparently didn't diminish the interest of baseball-loving Cincinnatians because the opener at 51,963-seat Riverfront Stadium was sold out three weeks ago and Thursday's annual pre-game downtown parade is billed as bigger and better than ever.

Reds star Pete Rose, who went to "high school" here for members first an opening day ticket stub served as a legitimate excuse to miss school that day.

The 75 world championship helped fatten the 1976 contracts of many Reds — and also created the mind-boggling possibility of a $1 million conference when the infield pulls around the mound this season.

Nearly $1 million worth of talent would be represented in catcher Johnny Bench (over $200,000), first baseman Tony Perez (over $100,000), second baseman Joe Morgan (over $200,000), third baseman Pete Rose (almost $200,000), shortstop Davey Concepcion (almost $100,000) and pitcher Don Gullett (seeking $100,000).

However, star pitcher Gullett hasn't improved his stock any by a poor spring training showing the was thing assignment usually goes to a hero to returned POW a few years ago — or a politician (then vice president Ford) two years ago and Ken Robert left it Ohio last year, the Reds are honoring their own top man Thursday and letting board chairman Louis Nipper bob out the first pitch.

And like those sausages, Nipper expects his Reds to come out smoking this season.

Ohio St. picks aides

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Charles Machock, 38, an assistant coach at Ball State University and Gerald Sears, 27, an assistant at Miami University, Monday were named assistant basketball coaches at Ohio State University.

Eldon Miller, the new head coach at OSU, interviewed numerous applicants before selecting Machock and Sears.

"There was a great number of qualified and interested candidates but Chuck and Gerry seemed to come to the forefront whenever I tried to narrow down the field," said Miller.

"They are both skilled coaches and recruiters, and I am delighted to have them on my staff because I don't know of too many anywhere who could do a better job of representing Ohio State and its basketball programs," said Miller.

Miller has been recruiting intensively since he was named to the OSU post and said Machock and Sears would join him on the recruiting trail immediately.

"It goes without saying that we are a little behind some of the other schools because of our late start," said Miller. "But the secret to recruiting is hard work and we plan to plenty of that during the next month or so. I honestly feel we can still bring in some good athletes who can help Ohio State."

Machock, a native of Elyria, is a 1959 graduate of the University of Cincinnati and has a coaching career in 1959-60 as head basketball coach at St. Henry High School in Erlanger, Ky., and the next year he went to Elyria Catholic where he spent six years.

He took over as head coach at Lorain Community College in 1967 and went to Akron University in 1969 as an assistant.

Sears is a native of Indianapolis and is a 1971 graduate at Miami.

Tulane has new head coach

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Roy Danforth accepted the head basketball coaching job at Tulane Monday and said the $163.5 million Superdome and the mystique of the city helped lure him from Syracuse.

"I'm extremely excited about being in New Orleans," said Danforth, who coached the Orangemen to a 148-71 record and six postseason tournament appearances during his eight-year tenure at Syracuse.

"With the city, with the high academic standards of Tulane and with the Superdome as a playing site, I feel it should be possible to build an outstanding basketball program at Tulane."

Danforth, who announced his resignation from Syracuse Saturday, was hired at a reported salary of $20,000 a year for three years.

He had succeeded Charles Blair, who left Tulane last month to become head coach at Virginia Tech.

His assistant at Syracuse, Tom Green, also was hired by Tulane, which posted an 18-9 record last season for its best showing in almost 20 years.

"I'm inheriting a program on the move and I intend to keep it going," Danforth said.

"I've heard good things about basketball in Louisiana and the South. Dr. Sheldon Hackney (Tulane president) has convinced me the school wants a class program, and that's my aim, the same as it was at Syracuse."

Tulane played a part of last season's home schedule in the newly opened Superdome, which is also the home court of the New Orleans Jazz.

Danforth said the "lavish arena" should be advantageous to his program.

"I look at the Superdome as a tremendous recruiting plus," he said. "In time, you'll be having the NCAA championships here maybe every three years, and maybe a regional tournament more often. The Jazz has shown what an outstanding basketball facility the Superdome is."

Danforth's selection was announced by Tulane Athletic Director Rix Vard, possibly to help dispel reports that Vard has resigned his position because he felt he did not have enough to say about picking Tulane's new coaches. Officials have refused to confirm or deny the reports of Vard's resignation.

Angels make new offers to Messersmith

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Angels made a fresh offer for pitcher Andy Messersmith's services Monday and Angel general manager Harry Dalton said he expected to hear right back from Messersmith's agent, Herb Osmond.

Dalton and Osmond huddled for more than an hour at Anaheim Stadium Sunday.

Dalton talked by phone with Osmond from Phoenix, Ariz., Monday.

"He (Osmond) told me he would talk to Andy and get back to us," the Angel executive said. "He realizes the sooner the better. They know we're seriously interested. We feel we made him offer and we hope they feel it's acceptable."

Meanwhile, Messersmith remained in his customary state of seclusion. The Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Diego Padres purportedly also want to sign him.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1976
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't become subjective and allow your feelings to be hurt, or you can get yourself in such a stew it will be difficult to get out of it easily. Any temperamental tangents now indulged in can alienate others, perhaps for some time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Use tact, more understanding in dealing with dissent; try to have more harmony at home. Do not permit others to downgrade you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use care in motion, driving or otherwise, and avoid accidents. Do not lose your temper or something serious might happen.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Money can't cover up some mistakes you're making. Be sure you're not trying to save more for possible emergency.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't force others to follow your desires, but assist them with their problems. Avoid social affairs, trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A secret anxiety it keeps you from carrying through well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Steer clear of gossips. Keep busy at constructive activities. Clarify your finest aims mentally, then carry through.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do nothing that could undermine your standing within your community. Handle credit matters. Be careful of one who drinks too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put those ideas to work with regard to new projects, schools of thought. Don't permit one with different ideas to cause trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Intuitions are not up to par, so rely on your best judgment. Don't get into a big argument with mate.

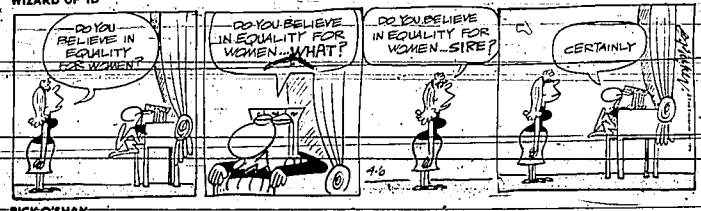

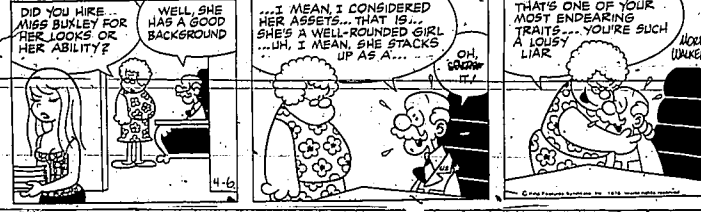

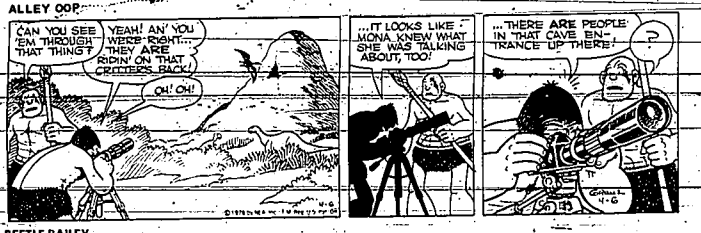

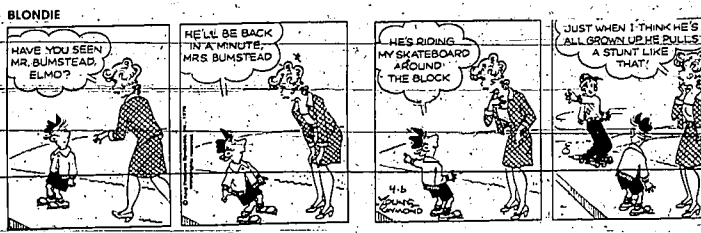

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle more than your share of work as associates don't feel well. Avoid arguments. Be careful of strangers on the street.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't argue with co-workers, who could prove vexatious now. Schedule work wisely so you get much done yet do not overtax yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Stick to less expensive recreation and be careful of taking risks of any sort. Finish work required by current interest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those temperamental young persons who will need to be handled with true tact so the highly volatile nature can be turned in right direction. Slight education along lines of business, and add psychology to the curriculum. Then your progeny can learn to protect self better, be able to deal with others more intelligently. Reason is an excellent pacifier here. A good sport here, too.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

E.M. Boyd

OUR Love and War-man is grieved to learn that his specialty, love, ranks only No. 3 on that list of things most desired by a majority of the world's young people. It's behind No. 1, money; and No. 2, the right job. A Japanese watch manufacturer polled more than 5,000 youthful citizens in 28 countries to learn all this. No. 4 on the roster was a peaceful, homey affo No. 5, a president.

Every U. S. president with a beard was a Republican. The synthetic perfume makers get that carnation fragrance from all of cloves, but not a skak me how.

Largest lost-and-found item in the record book at hand was a long-gone submarine which years ago turned up surprisingly in the bottom of a Justadrained French drydock.

VENDING MACHINES
 O "How many different kinds of vending machines are there?"
 A. Research reveals only that there are 13,000 varieties of such machines into which New York City's subway riders can push coins. Believe it like the first of them best. The tricky little device that kicks out a ball of chewing gum while you straighten your tie is its mirror. Thomas Adams, founder of the Adams Gum Company, came out with that one in 1888. These modern models that shine your shoes and squirt perfume on you and hand you a paperback of foul fiction deserve less praise.

O "Who was Rhode Island named after?"
 A. Nobody. Rhode, game from the Dutch root meaning red. Reference was to the play on the shores there.

NAILBITERS'
 People who bite their fingernails have another trait in common, research reveals. They tend to blame themselves rather than others when things go wrong. It so says a scholar who made a study of the matter. Claims nail biters are not inclined to be quarrelsome. They're the sort who bottle up their anger. They're not apt to fight unless they're conversationally cornered; but then it's likely they'll lose their temper.

Under the law of Mississippi, there's no such thing as a female peeping tom. A man can get five years there for peering through a window for the lewd, licentious and indecent purpose of spying. But a woman can't even be booked for that offense.

In Hanói, the restaurant patron orders any of numerous main dishes with or without side-servings-of-snaka. That's snark meat, snark sauce, snark soup, snark.

Nevada ranchers may battle fees

ELKO, Nev. (UPI) — The Bureau of Land Management says it will stand pat on its grazing fee increases and range rehabilitation program. But ranchers say they may go to court to change them.

Clare Berkland, director of the BLM, told ranchers Saturday they are merely one step of public lands. He said the bureau will continue to grant grazing with other uses such as timber, recreation, wildlife habitat, watershed protection, mineral production, industrial development and preservation, history and environmental values.

"Unless opposing public lands users recognize their common interests and admit each others' rights, I predict that in the next two to three years we will have a long series of court cases to litigate," he said.

Berkland blamed the deteriorating condition of Nevada range on unmanaged livestock use, the increase in wild horses and burros, poor distribution of livestock, and improper seasons of grazing use. He said the bureau's announced intensive management policy is the only way to bring the range to full productivity.

The plan, which has been strongly criticized by ranchers, involves rotating land use to give it at least two months rest during the critical growing season. When necessary, Berkland said, grazing pressures including livestock and wild horses will be adjusted so that grazing use does not exceed grazing capacity.

He also said the recent 51 per cent increase in grazing fees here to stay. He said the $1.51 per animal unit month fee for public land grazing is well below the average $3.75 commercial rate.

Arizona transfer proposal opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman for an Arizona citizens group expressed opposition today to a proposal to transport water from the Colorado River to central Arizona.

Frank Welsh, executive director of Citizens Concerned About the Project, urged Congress to substantially reduce funding for the central Arizona Project.

Welsh said a recent report by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation disclosed there is enough water in central Arizona to support five times the area's current population of 2 million. He also claimed that it is becoming "increasingly obvious" that there will be little or no water in the Colorado River for the CAP.

Welsh proposed alternatives to the project such as modernizing current flood irrigation methods. He said in one case there was a 30 per cent reduction in the use of water by shifting from irrigation to sprinklers. Welsh said by modernizing, Arizona farms could save more water than the CAP is supposed to deliver.

Also proposed by Welsh was the development of unused but farmable land near the Colorado River and perhaps the use of solar energy to desalt and pump water from the Gulf of California.
