Somber message from India

In an effort to curb the mushrooming population of their homeland, two state legislatures in India have taken a step which may signal the beginning of the last, desperate drive to densify the world population explosion.

Legislators in the states of West Bengal and Maharashtra have voted compulsory sterilization laws.

Under the new law, currently being processed in New Delhi, couples who have three children will be required to undergo vasectomies or tubectomies. Failure to comply will result in a six month jail term or a heavy fine.

The sterilization laws are the first such statutes to be authorized by any government.

With a population of 600 million, Indian leaders realize by the year 2000 their nation will be staggering under a load of one billion human beings unless drastic population reduction measures are taken.

Already stretched to the limits by trying to feed its people, Indian leaders fear mass starvation within 25 years unless the population is curbed.

Their concern over the consequences of continued population growth is applauded.

What is discouraging about the sterilization laws is that it points up the failure of the less drastic birth control methods which have been tried in India for two decades.

The voluntary population control methods tried in India have failed.

Half the world's population lives in overcrowded, underfed conditions which are as bad or worse as those in India. If India must resort to compulsory sterilization, similar tactics surely will be considered in other Third World nations.

Before the sterilization laws were passed all Indians were deluged with birth control pamphlets, pills, and condoms in an attempt to stem the rise in population.

These methods were, and are largely, unsuccessful. India's population continues to grow at the rate of 200,000 new babies a day — a rate twice that of the United States and Western Europe.

What India's leaders have found is that no amount of voluntary birth control information can supplant a tradition of having large families.

For centuries India has encouraged children as a sign of prestige and wealth. That tradition cannot be wiped out by government pamphlets.

As a result, the government concluded the tradition of a large family is one which must be legislated out of existence at any price.

The horror of overpopulation is the biggest hurdle mankind must overcome. India's politicians realize the threat overpopulation poses to their nation and are trying desperately to blunt the threat.

Still, the compulsory sterilization laws signal the beginning of a somber chapter in man's history. It appears we have now begun the last ditch battle against the population bomb.

South may hold '76 key

WASHINGTON — Pete Lisagor of the Chicago Daily News, who may be the best newspaper reporter and wisest television commentator in this town, poked fun at the Washington Establishment here this last weekend. As president of the Gridiron Club, which may be the last reluctant remnant of the old Washington Establishment, Lisagor was arguing almost sadly that what the capital needed was a sense of humor and a sense of history.

For 91 years, the Gridiron Club here has been singing the same theme, usually off key. We are all in trouble, it has been saying, fussing with one another most of the time, but "America is a land and must be sung together."

Most presidents are not amused by these critical and sometimes savage amateur performances. Presidents Nixon and Johnson tolerated them at first but skipped them and condemned them in their last years in the White House. President Ford came around last weekend and brought his wife, "Doris in love with Betty," sang the Gridiron chorus, "always in love with Betty."

All the presidential candidates were invited to the Gridiron this year; but most of them declined. Maybe it's significant that all of the candidates and nominees, Jimmy Carter, agreed to speak for the Democrats, and former Gov. John Connally of Texas for the Republicans.

This tells us something about the element of accident in American politics. Not so long ago, Jimmy Carter was an obscure and controversial regional figure, and John Connally was a prominent national personality, former governor of Texas, secretary of the navy, secretary of the Treasury, Democratic lobbyist, President Lyndon Johnson, and finally, chosen successor of Richard Nixon as the latest convert and hero of the Republican party.

Nowhere, but in America could there have been such a dramatic political transformation. Connally is probably the most articulate and effective public speaker on a big platform in America today, with the possible exception of Teddy Kennedy, who also lost his way in politics, but Connally beat on Nixon, switched parties, and lost the confidence of both the party he abandoned and the party he joined.

In contrast, Carter has come from nowhere and challenged the old Democrats who are left, yet here were Carter and Connally together at the Gridiron, talking for the two major parties that didn't choose them or want them. Their remarks were off the record, but seldom in the long history of the Gridiron or the Washington political establishment has there been a more bizarre personal confrontation.

It is interesting and maybe significant that the other major candidates for the presidency declined invitations to appear on this occasion. Former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California was the natural choice as spokesman for the Republican party, and this would have seemed to be the ideal occasion for his ideological and theatrical talents, but he passed it up.

Carter, on the other hand, never passes up any invitation, if it gives him a chance to put his personality and political arguments on the line, particularly here in Washington where he has a national audience.

Normally, the Gridiron weekend has no political significance. It is a time of amiable, nonsense, when Washington is full of springtime glory. The flowering trees are in full bloom around the White House, and the whole city is necklessly beautiful, but in presidential election years, these annual meetings of candidates, reporters, publishers and their guests can be important.

Presidential candidates cannot win but they can lose at this time, and in the confrontation of Carter and Connally, we may be seeing a battle for the South in November.

Carter's success in the early primary elections has frustrated and troubled the leaders of both major political parties here, and the labor union chieftains as well. They don't know what to do about Carter, don't know whether they can control him, and wonder whether they can stop him.

The Democratic party leaders think they can play the North and industrial states with Tompkins, the South and maybe even with Carter. Carter, they feel, may hold the South and bring them back to the White House after eight long years.

This worries the Republicans at the same time. They have been making great progress in the old Confederate states of the South, but Carter wins one primary after another; they are beginning to think of a Southern running mate for Ford, maybe Big John Connally of Texas.

The thought in Washington recently has been that the presidential election is running toward a Ford-Carter race in the fall, or to a Humphrey-Carter ticket against Ford and somebody else who can balance Carter in the South. In any event, the South is finally and clearly coming to the fore, and may hold the decisive balance with Carter and Connally playing a major role at least in the vice presidential tickets.

Editor, Times-News: Day before yesterday we heard you to get your license plates at the lower rates. On the radio yesterday I heard you could get them for cars; etc. up to the tenth month.

Like most people, being the end of month I didn't have much money and I'd dumb out, ran down. This was around a pay. There was a long line so I went to a different line where they were taking checks, using their envelopes, and thinking everything was legal, slapped on a stamp and gave it to this kind man to mail with his because he was told they had to be post-marked before 4:30 p.m.

Then the assessor says, it just came over the teletype, or whatever, that the governor says this may not be legal, that if it isn't that way, the suckers' would have to pay the difference between the old and the new, I took it next year.

Why high Gem divorce rate?

Editor, Times-News: Congratulations on your "fine Sunday" "Progress" edition.

I especially enjoyed Shane O'Neill's article on historic Albion. Among those who have moved to Albion from elsewhere it appears that only two of us hailed from New Jersey. I hope to avoid the fate of my fellow New Jerseyan, Diamondfield Jack Davis, who spent most of his time here in jail, just a few hundred yards from where I now reside.

I was interested in the general opinion of the commentaries you elicited from citizens around the Magic Valley. Clearly, most of them are convinced that the good life is to be had here, in a beautiful, the air cleaner and the scenery more beautiful here than in most parts of the country. For those of us who are fortunate enough to live near the mountains it is a touch of paradise on earth.

Many stressed that it is "a good place to raise a family," and there is no question but that much of the activity to be found in the Magic Valley is family oriented. The churches here, especially, place heavy emphasis on the nuclear family as a sacred entity, to be held inviolate. All newcomers to the area notice this emphasis and applaud it.

Yet there is another aspect of life here that newcomers cannot help but notice that makes a mockery of this laudable family emphasis. Divorce and remarriage in Idaho rampant — far more prevalent than elsewhere.

I have discussed this on occasion with other newcomers — a physician from Los Angeles and another from the Midwest, a businessman from the East Coast and a number of recently relocated engineers — and the old adage that they were startled by the huge number of multiple marriages in Idaho.

About a year ago, I had occasion to address a luncheon meeting of the Burley Chamber of Commerce, during which I was asked what aspect of life in Idaho had surprised me most when I moved here. I told my questioner that prior to coming to Idaho I had never met anyone who had been married more than twice, but that in my first year here I had already seen in the newspaper a dozen or more people who had been married four or more times.

That story is worth relating. I think because I spent the first 39 years of my life in the New York metropolitan area, with ample opportunity to meet all sorts of people — as an editor, a church officer and a councilman in a town of 10,000 people.

Conventional wisdom has it that nowhere on the face of this earth is the nuclear family under greater strain than in and around New York, but clearly that is not the case.

Last year the "Times-News" published the vital statistics for Twin Falls County for the previous year which showed that the number of divorces registered actually outnumbered the number of marriages. There is not a single county in New York or in New Jersey — on most states, I suspect — that can begin to approach that statistical benchmark.

There was a time when people could attribute Idaho's divorce rate to its easy divorce law, but no longer. In the last decade divorce laws everywhere have been greatly liberalized, so that today it is no easier to get a divorce in Idaho than it is in most of the other 49 states.

Last summer the odd paradox of family emphasis and rampant divorce — was mentioned in the course of a meeting in the office of the publisher of the Salt Lake City Tribune.

The publisher, who has lived all his life in the Intermountain West, called the divorce situation there a paradox, and he admitted that he had a wife. "It is the least talked about problem here, and I would be very surprised if any of you can get a clergyman or a church officer to discuss it." He was right; most people don't want to discuss it, and a disturbing number of them are obviously hapless when pretending that the problem doesn't exist.

But problems don't go away when ignored, and it strikes me as odd that church leaders, community leaders and sociologists are not more concerned to do something to form the causes of the problem so that all of us might try to do something about it. Idaho's divorce rate is way out of line with the divorce rates of most states, representing one of the few glaring flaws in what otherwise is "the good life"; we all enjoy here.

Recently, my sister visited here from Washington, D.C., and she loved Idaho as much as I do. In the course of her week-long stay here I heard only one negative, uttered jokingly one evening during a card game: "My God, they marry here like they date in the East."

True — all too true. But does anybody know why?

RAISING A STANDARD

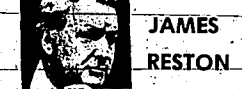

AS WITH all these planning a Federal Constitution, George Washington wanted it fair and accessible to all. At his funeral, Gouverneur Morris recalled the speech Washington had made at the Convention.

"It is too probable that no plan we propose will be sustained. If to propose the regular we offer what we ourselves disapprove, how can we afterwards defend our work? Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair. The event is in the hand of God."

The Democratic party leaders think they can play the North and industrial states with Tompkins, the South and maybe even with Carter. Carter, they feel, may hold the South and bring them back to the White House after eight long years.

It's not him

TWIN FALLS — John T. Walker, Twin Falls, said he is not the John Walker of Twin Falls whose letter to the editor appeared on the editorial page of the Times-News this past Friday.

Simple solution proposed

Editor, Times-News:

For the Idaho Fish and Game Department a confusion? Now to add insult to the sportsman's intelligence, they are trying to justify the hunter-they made, trading off 10 mountain goats and 20 bighorn sheep, which are classed by our responsive tax and game department as trophy animals.

For these trophy classed animals they are going to receive 100 elk from Oregon. Of which so far, they have only received 87 elk.

The classical irony of this whole thing is the fact that elk are to be transported into the Peto-King drainage, which has a decline of elk since the mid-50s from around 400 head, to the present herd of less than 100.

Now to add insult to injury, this same area has been under study by our so-called export biologists for the last 10 years as to why this herd has declined to its present state.

You would think it wouldn't take too much intelligence for someone to come up with an answer in 10 years of study without importing more elk for the purpose of another study with an outright waste of 30 trophy animals.

It is certainly a good idea along with a large number of Idaho sportsman and license buyers, I might add, that all this so-called studies are not doing any good. Meanwhile as studies go on a state-wide basis, the big game population is declining. Hundreds of thousands of sportsman's dollars are going down the rat hole and we are not getting any decent results.

It is sure strange, when a fish and game department must import trophy animals from another state, to justify their trophy-making studies. In simple terms that means, exactly what it implies, there is a certain amount of plain mismanagement in the department!

In this same Peto-King drainage they advocate that it's a good, and suitable area for hunting, because it is a bulls-only unit. However, if this is true, as they say it is, then why is the IFG so against a bulls-only hunting restriction in the majority of the units in Idaho, that have a worse decline in elk herds, than the Peto-King drainage?

Without a suitable bulls and bucks only regulation in most big game units, the state of Idaho is going to see a continual decline in its big game herds. The draw permits should be all means be put on the female, or antlerless animals, on every unit as to how many should be taken from each unit.

As the present statistics some units should be closed completely if we are to have any brood stock left for the future. It is as simple as that!

I have been very disappointed in your recent editorials concerning the Pioneer plant and various businesses in Twin Falls. You seem to have opinions on matters that you know nothing about. Support hurts

Editor, Times-News:

We are glad that you publish things that are and expose the chasers.

The average income of Idaho residents is a little over $5,000 a year. Teachers start at half again as much and later receive two and three times as much and even more, yet they are clamoring for higher pay.

There is one government worker for every four people; children included, in Idaho to support at much higher income than the people they are supporting.

These government workers keep raising their own pay-until taxes are unbearable. How much longer before our backs break, supporting them?

Pilot Hilbert, plane for flight

Re-enacted mail flight exhilarates pilot, 51

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Cold and wet — but exhilarating — that's what it's like to fly an open cockpit biplane of the 1920's through a rain-storm over the rugged Blue Mountains from Pasco, Wash., to Boise.

And that's what United Airlines Capt. E. E. "Buck" Hilbert, 51, Union, Ill., did Tuesday when he retraced the nation's first commercial airmail flight 50 years ago.

Being a land crab, he said, after the 23-minute, two-hour and 33-minute flight, just "accelerated my performance."

Hilbert, a grandfather and antique airplane buff, duplicated as closely as possible the historic flight made April 6, 1926 by Capt. Leon D. Cuddeback of Varney Airlines, a predecessor of United.

Cuddeback, now 77, retired and living in Oakland, Calif., flew to Pasco to see Hilbert take off, and then to Boise to lead a welcoming party of 100 in greening rain.

"I'd dang, you made it," the old flier said as he rushed when Hilbert landed in the restored Swallow biplane, a two-seater aircraft similar to the one in which Cuddeback flew into the pages of history.

Accompanied by a fleet of small planes, Hilbert took off from Pasco at 2:23 a.m. PST and arrived in Boise soaked with rain at 9:56 a.m. MST, packing a payload of some 200 pounds — similar to the six sacks and 9,285 pieces of mail Cuddeback carried on the initial flight.

He flew faster — arriving 19 minutes ahead of schedule — than Cuddeback did on the original trip, thanks to a 1942, 220-horsepower engine.

Cuddeback had a 1924 engine in his plane.

But Hilbert flew through rain to get to Boise, flying up and over mountains and around the storm whenever possible. He cruised at 85 miles per hour between 3,000 and 8,000 feet — dropping to the lower altitude at one point because of the storm.

Cuddeback said Hilbert had a rougher trip than he did.

Hilbert said he kept busy on the flight "just enjoying the sights."

"At one point I chased some snowgeese just to see what they were doing," he said.

Visibility was fine, he said, but he was under cloud cover all the way. He said no trip in an open cockpit plane is routine "but this was pleasant — I got a kick out of it."

Although he tried to follow the route Cuddeback flew over the Blue Mountains — a half-century ago, he was forced to make a couple of detours of 25 to 30 miles from the original course because of the storm.

Four of his six children were in Boise to welcome him and they shouted: "How was the swimming, Dad?"

Hilbert laughed and said it was cold and wet and damp, but that he encountered no serious problems.

But, he added, "I was frozen up there."

Hilbert found the plane he used for the flight in a commercial garage 10 years ago. It was in a lot, disassembled. It had been flown in 1934 when it was damaged in a groundloop, Edward McConnell, Seneca, Ill., restored the plane to flyable condition.

School problems outlined

BOISE (UPI) — The immediate past president of the Idaho Board of Education said Tuesday it was time for everyone involved in education "to stop passing the buck" and admit a problem exists in our public schools.

Mrs. Janet Hay, Nampa, told the Idaho Association of School Superintendents meeting — in Boise that teachers, administrators, parents, counselors and even students need to admit there is a problem to work can begin to solve it.

She said a month ago the state board talked to high school student leaders "who without exception said we aren't worked hard enough, that not enough is demanded of us, the senior year in high school too often is a waste of time — and there are too many Mickey Mouse courses."

"We ought to admit that everyone's responsible for the decline in basic skills," she said, adding it's due to too much time in front of a television, to parents not reaching to children and to the kind of education children are receiving in school.

At the same time, Mrs. Hay said, schools in Idaho are in a financial straitjacket and the only way out is to convince "John Q. Public" that it's worth it to invest more.

She said Idaho's 8,500 teachers have an average salary of $9,300 a year, while the national average is $11,200.

To raise Idaho to the national average would take $17 million or an addition of one-third or one-half cent on the sales tax, Mrs. Hay said.

Post deadline veto not unique

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' veto of two bills a day after his legal deadline is not the first time it has happened in Idaho history.

Republican Attorney General Wayne Kidwell, who challenged the action by the Democratic governor, said Tuesday he discovered a similar situation occurred in 1939 during the administration of the late Gov. C. C. A. Bottolfsen.

At that time, Bottolfsen's veto of two measures was contested by then Secretary of State George Curtis and Attorney General J. W. Taylor, both Democrats.

It seems Bottolfsen also vetoed the bills one day past the 10 days allowed after the date of the legislature for gubernatorial action — the measures adopted by the session.

"It just goes to demonstrate that a Republican governor can run into time limitation problems the same as Democratic governors," Kidwell said.

Kidwell challenged Andrus for vetoing a bill which gave the attorney general the right to hire and fire all legal counsel for state agencies as well as his line item veto of sections of a bill on distribution of pay raises for state employees by the State Board of Examiners.

The attorney general said Andrus rejected the measures one day after the 10 day limitation, excluding Sundays, that a governor has to act on legislative matters after final sine die of the legislature.

Andrus contended he had 10 days from the time the measures reached his desk, although the Idaho Constitution is clear it is 10 days following legislative sine die.

Kidwell said as far as he was concerned the 10 day measures were too late and it would be up to the governor to confer it. He said five cases decided on limitation in Arizona, Colorado and Washington have been turned over to the governor's legal counsel.

In all five cases in states which have a similar constitution to that of Idaho, it has been held that the limitation is 10 days after sine die, Kidwell said.

"We have turned the cases over to the governor for consideration."

Blaze fatal

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Carl Kinney, 29, Nampa, died early Tuesday when fire swept through the mobile home in which he had been living.

Kinney, a charred body was identified through dental work by Canyon County Coroner Thomas Donnellinger. Nampa firemen found the body following a whirlwind fire.

Court choice opinion asked

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Judicial Council requested an opinion Tuesday from Attorney General Wayne Kidwell whether a lay person could legally be considered for appointment to a Supreme Court vacancy.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus suggested a lay person be considered by the Judicial Council in making its recommendations to him for a replacement for Justice Henry McQuade, who, resigned to accept a federal position.

The Judicial Council informed Kidwell a controversy has arisen concerning the legality of the governor's suggestion. It said it has received inquiries about the manner in which the council will proceed.

"The Judicial Council is not authorized to decide questions of law," it informed Kidwell.

The council noted the attorney general is the state's chief legal officer, and "in fairness to the applicants themselves, it appears that the judicial council should seek an advisory opinion from the attorney general whether the applications of lay persons properly may be considered for the Supreme Court vacancy."

Kidwell said the legal issue involved was "clouded" because Idaho law provides that a person elected to the Supreme Court must be admitted to the Idaho Bar, but it doesn't speak to the appointment.

The council's question is whether the same criteria for election also pertains to appointment.

The council will meet April 23-24 to consider applications. Numerous applications have been received, including several from non-attorneys.

Hopping kangaroo surfaces again

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI) — A wishing kangaroo that topped through the Chicago area more than a year ago appears to have surfaced again — this time in northwestern Illinois.

Rock Island police got the first word. "I'm sorry I answered that damn phone this morning," said Katie Wise, veteran dispatcher for the Rock Island Police Department.

"This guy calls up and says, 'You're not going to believe me. I'm not drunk, I haven't been drinking. But I just saw a kangaroo hop through my neighborhood yard.'"

The caller was Harry Masterson, a rate clerk for a transportation company.

Masterson said he was out walking his dog about 6:30 a.m. when a 3-foot-tall kangaroo — "Well, it was either a kangaroo or a walaby — they look a lot alike" — hopped over the hill across the street.

A squad car dispatched to the scene failed to find the marsupial.

Masterson hopes somebody finds the kangaroo soon. "I'd like to find somebody else who has seen it," he said, because everyone who has questioned him about it is "implying I'm off my nut."

Julie cancels

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower Tuesday canceled her plans to address the Mississippi Economic Council's annual membership luncheon, scheduled for Thursday.

Lynda Johnson Robb, daughter of the late President Lyndon Johnson, will be the featured speaker instead.

Mrs. Eisenhower changed her plans because of what a spokesman at the Nixon-San Clemente, Calif., home called "intense emotional pressures" created by publication of "The Final Days."

NY accounting system eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department says the government needs to spend $1.25 billion to set up and run an adequate accounting system for New York City.

Assistant treasury secretary Robert Gerard told the House appropriations subcommittee Tuesday the money should be appropriated for a 12-member staff of accountants and administrators.

New York's current accounting system is so inadequate, Gerard said, that "it creates serious problems" in the administering the federal program of loans to the financially troubled city.

Elmer Staats, head of the General Accounting Office, told the Senate Banking Committee last week New York's accounting system is "beyond belief" and "any realistic appraisal of the city's financial fitness is impossible."

Lynette protests

SAN-DIEGO (UPI) — Lynette Fromme didn't like the recent television drama about the Manson family because it did not portray Charles Manson as a genius.

Miss Fromme, sentenced to life for pointing a 45-caliber pistol at President Ford, telephoned the UPI bureau Tuesday to protest the program, "Helter Skelter," which she saw on a prison television set.

Early shots for older people

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Persons over 50 years of age probably should receive swine flu shots before next fall although many of them already have a degree of immunity against the virus.

"We have no evidence the pre-existing antibodies people over 50 have will protect them," Dr. David Sletzer, director of the government's Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee Tuesday.

The only age group likely to be exempt from immunization in the government's program, he said, is very young children.

King tours US

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden today was beginning his tour of the city with the inevitable stop-at-independence Hall for a viewing of the Liberty Bell.

The 29-year-old king, on a 23-day tour in honor of the Bicentennial, Tuesday was presented a book tracing the history of the Swedish people in Philadelphia by the American Swedish Historical Museum.

Fonda recovers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Henry Fonda is recovering largely from surgery, a spokesman for the actor said Tuesday, indicating his release from the hospital has been postponed.

Barler reports said Fonda, 70, was to leave Cedars of Lebanon last week, on early this week. The spokesman said no date now is set for his release.

Fonda sits up for a short period each day but is not allowed visitors other than his family.

Surgeons removed a large tumor, described as non-cancerous, and a portion of Fonda's diaphragm March 17.

HOWARD HUGHES
... as aviator, 1937

Hughes' fortune disposition eyed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The disposition of Howard Hughes' fortune will not be known until the will — if there is one — is filed for probate, but medical research and the Mormon Church may get some of it.

Hughes, who died Monday, left no widow or direct heirs. He was believed to be the second richest American (after J. Paul Getty) with a fortune estimated at nearly $2 billion.

There were reports, based on Hughes' comments earlier and from his aides of years ago, that much of the money would go to medical research and possibly to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

The Houston (Tex.) Chronicle Tuesday reported that Noah Dietrich, 67, a former Hughes aide, interviewed by the paper some time ago, said Hughes would leave the Mormon Church much of his estate.

Also, Dietrich said the Hughes Medical Foundation would be a major beneficiary. "It was well known that Hughes preferred to have Mormons working for him," he said.

"He once told me," Dietrich was quoted as saying, "that Mormons do not smoke and he was adamant about anyone smoking — near him — particularly the year or so before he went into seclusion."

"But most important, he said they do not drink and were apt to get on a binge and start talking about the Hughes affairs, where he was, or talking to reporters about how he looks."

Dietrich said it was a "built-in security system" in his first public statement, Hughes said he would like much of his estate to go to medical research.

He told reporters in a telephone news conference called to denounce the bogus CIA report of a "CIA P-2 autobiography" that medical research is "where the bulk of my estate will go."

He gave the University of Nevada $1 million to start a medical school, and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute of Miami already has

Secrecy obsession 'boomeranged'

By VERNON SCOTT
HOUSTON (UPI) — In the end, Howard Hughes' obsession with secrecy boomeranged.

His bizarre lifestyle made him more of a public figure than others almost as rich who live openly, leaving behind volumes of tales about his many eccentricities, fears, whims and women.

It took the motive to the grave but he had some cause. An occupational risk of the billionaire's trade is being pestered, usually for money.

The last time I saw Hughes was in the Beverly Hills Hotel, speaking on a house telephone, politely but firmly asking a woman — a movie star — to stop bothering him.

Women ranked with airplanes and business in Hughes' interests. His tastes were strange for a recluse. He liked them cooperative, beautiful — and fanatical.

Among them were Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Linda Darnell, Yvonne de Carlo, Paulette Goddard, Ida Lupino and Katherine Hepburn — and Jean Peters, whom he married.

Mitzi Gaynor says he "laughed at the legend" that a billionaire owned only one old Chevrolet.

Actually, he had hundreds of cars, she said — but most of them really were year-old Chevrolets. He told her "because they give good service and nobody stares into a year-old Chevrolet the way they do into limousines."

Hughes' eccentricities included having private detectives keep 24-hour-a-day watch on vacant homes throughout the Beverly Hills and Bel-Air areas. Why? No one knew.

Hughes once lived in a cottage at the Beverly Hills Hotel, where employees recall his prowling the grounds at night, crouching in dark doorways or sometimes meeting with business contacts.

Hughes' business meetings took place in cars on dark streets or in uninhabited homes. It took industrialists

Henry Kaiser weeks of negotiations to set up a meeting in the 1950s when Kaiser wanted money to manufacture cars.

"What do you think, Mr. Hughes?" he concluded. "I built a car once," Hughes replied, climbing out of bed. He was fully clothed and vanished out the door.

Elected Red governments could isolate US: Henry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has asserted that if Communist governments were elected in Western Europe the Atlantic Alliance would be smashed and the United States isolated, according to a summary of his remarks.

The summary, obtained by The New York Times, was made on the weekend of Dec. 13-14 in London, where Kissinger addressed a group of 28 American ambassadors stationed in Eastern and Western Europe. A State Department official said two note-takers were present and cooperated in making the nonverbal summary.

The summary was sent to the ambassadors in cablegrams on Feb. 12 along with a parallel summary of remarks on United States policy toward the Soviet bloc at the same December meeting by Henry Kissinger's adviser, the summary of Kissinger's remarks was printed in The Times Tuesday.

At a State Department briefing Kissinger said Tuesday that the summary was "a responsible though very compressed version of the discussion that took place in London last December."

Copies of both summaries were stamped "secret" and made available to The Times and, apparently, to at least one other publication, Human

HENRY KISSINGER
NATO end feared

Events. It appears that both summaries came into the hands of Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., who then made them available to other members of the Congress last week.

It appears that the original intent of the disclosure, by some unknown administration official, was to provide ammunition to conservative politicians against Kissinger, Sonnenfeldt and, ultimately, President Ford.

The summary of Kissinger's remarks had the following to say about the possible accession to power of Communist parties in Italy and France would have on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization:

"It is difficult to see how we could continue to have NATO discussions if these various communist parties did achieve control of Western European governments. We would, as with China, perhaps have parallel policies. But the alliance as it now is could not survive."

"The Western Alliance has always had an importance beyond military security. The United States would be alone and isolated in a world in which we had no relations by values to other countries."

A little later, the summary said that if Communist parties came to power in Western Europe, "There would be a shocking change in the established patterns of American policy." The summary continued:

"It could result in a situation where the United States would be an island in its own values and thereby forced to manipulate various Communist centers of power against each other. The United States could probably survive this situation—but, only through the use of a ruthless balance of power policy. If we were to do this, we would have lost the moral foundation we have operated on for our entire history."

Kissinger has aired similar thoughts in public, most recently in Boston on March 11, but never in such tough language.

Udall demonstrates liberal Demos alive

By United Press International. Morris Udall now has demonstrated in Wisconsin that the liberal wing of the Democratic Party is alive and well—but no longer in charge. Henry Jackson did much the same for the party's old-line regulars in New York.

The results of the two primaries seem to place the power center of the party somewhere between the ideological factions that have been slicing at each other for the last eight years.

Today Jimmy Carter appears to be at the pivotal point. Even though he had to scratch out victory in Wisconsin and did badly in New York, Carter once again made progress toward the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

He promises people he will never lie to them, but when Carter says he has—the nomination locked up, he still is guessing.

Udall does not have to accept his narrow defeat as the end of his candidacy, but he has finished second three times and there is nothing on the primary horizon that is likely to erase the image of inability to deliver victory.

Udall got the largest number of delegates in New York, but there is no way he can claim a huge victory. Only one month ago, after winning in Massachusetts, he promised his supporters a "landslide" in New York. He produced something well short of that in a state where organization—the Jackson campaign's long suit—was supposed to be all-important.

If all the candidates stick to their announced plans, they will meet again in Pennsylvania on April 27. Just as Wisconsin was supposed to be a natural state for Udall, Pennsylvania seems tailored for Jackson.

Chloroform ban proposal based on cancer cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government proposes to ban the use of chloroform in more than 2,000 drug products, toothpaste, cough medicine and liniment because of new evidence it could cause cancer.

The ban—also covering cosmetics and some food packages—would take effect July 8.

"But-Rapier Women's Health Research Group attacked the Food and Drug Administration decision as 'lawless' (and) reckless" because it will allow consumers to use up existing chloroform-containing products on store shelves before then, instead of forcing a recall.

"We estimate more than $20 million worth of chloroform-containing products will be sold and ingested by the American public because of FDA's failure to take immediate action," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, head of the group.

"The Food Administration and the FDA must be counting on significant campaign contributions from the producers of these products in order to dare such an irresponsible proposal," he said.

Dr. Alexander Schmidt, FDA commissioner, discouraged the ban and said the animal tests which prompted the ban "by no means prove that chloroform induces cancer in humans."

"The amount fed to the test animals exceeds by far the amount to which any person could be exposed by present products."

The FDA said chloroform is used in two brands of toothpaste—Maccians and Ultra White—and the manufacturers of both have told the agency they have discontinued using it.

More than 80 per cent of the use of chloroform in drug products is in cough medicines, the FDA said.

Chloroform originally was added to drugs because of the belief it had medicinal properties. Late studies discounted that, however, and the FDA said it now is used in cough medicines primarily to mask the taste of other ingredients. Wolfe said it also anesthetizes throat and mouth tissues.

The Cosmetics, Toiletries, and Fragrance Association said chloroform is not used in lipstick or other products commonly described as cosmetics.

Pesticide cancer key

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kepone, the pesticide that plagued chemical workers in Hopewell, Va., last year, has been found to be a cancer-causing agent in studies conducted by the National Cancer Institute (NCI).

Chlordane, the generic name for Kepone, was found to produce liver cancer in rats and mice fed large doses of the chemical, first developed by Monsanto Chemical Co. and then marketed by Life Science Products Co. of Hopewell.

'Messiah' FBI fear

WASHINGTON (UPI) — J. Edgar Hoover ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to intensify its counterintelligence operations against Black nationalist groups in 1968, because he feared that a coalition "might be the first step toward a real 'Mau Mau' in America, the beginning of a true black revolution."

Hoover wrote this memorandum on March 1, 1968, just a month before King was assassinated in Memphis,

Burley panel to oppose grant shifts

BURLEY—The Burley City Council is ready to do battle with the Federal Aeronautics Agency and State and federal parks and recreation, even while seeking a new grant from the FAA.

The council Monday directed City Attorney William Parsons to fight changes in the conditions of grant reimbursements on the municipal airport and golf course projects (see Councilman James Roper p. 1) even if it loses up the next time.

Earlier the council had directed J-U-B Engineers of Twin Falls to prepare an application for an FAA grant toward an estimated $53,000 project for expanding the tie-down area at the airport.

"I withheld action on Councilman Ray Barlow's proposed layout for leasing of space for hangar construction on a 20-year basis. Roper and the councilman Clayd Taylor felt the design should be shown to Phil Payne, airport contract manager, as a courtesy, although airport committee members assured other councilmen that Payne was aware and had no objections.

City Attorney William Parsons raised the problems involved in getting reimbursement on the earlier grants.

He said the city had complied with requirements from William Lee of FAA but had not received the grant money.

"All we get is some auditor coming in here and looking at it and talking nonsense," Parsons said.

Parsons explained that FAA had wanted an easement from Union Pacific Railroad, but railroad officials would not give it. He said FAA had said the city could furnish just an agreement from the railroad that it would construct no high-rise buildings, but how an auditor has held up the grant because the easement is lacking.

Parsons said state and federal parks and recreation and the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation are involved in the other grant problem, which stems from a change in the method of determining reimbursement for force account work.

Parsons said the difference to Burley is about $24,000, from a $17,000 reimbursement in grant funds to a $7,000 payback by the city.

Under previous procedures, Parsons explained, the city was paid for use of certain vehicles by the hours on the project. He said that has been changed to number of miles driven.

He said the grant funds were paid on the hourly basis for the first four installations, but the fifth and sixth were held up when billing was put through on the fifth at the same rate.

"It places a terrible burden on a municipality of this size," Parsons said.

He warned the council, however, that fighting over the two grants could hinder any later grant projects.

"I don't see where we have any choice," Barlow remarked.

Roper proposed talking to officials informally, but taking a tough stand if that failed. Other councilmen agreed.

Any grant on the airport tie-down area would be impossible this year, according to William Block of J-U-B. He said he talked to Lee and to Larry Matheson of the Idaho Department of Aeronautics and both said the first possibility would be 1977.

Block asked if the council wanted to proceed with the project on its own this year or apply for funding next year.

"I think the application," Mayor Chuck Shaddock said.

Taylor wondered if the city could handle the application, but agreed to assign the task to J-U-B upon finding the cost of preparing it would be only $300-400.

Barlow said he had talked to City Engineer Leon Bedke and he would be "happy to pass it on."

Dance festival scheduled Friday

TWIN FALLS—"Let Freedom Ring," a bicentennial dance festival will be held at the CSI gymnasium Friday.

The festival, involving 120 young people from Twin Falls, Murtrynigh, and Kimberly is sponsored by the Twin Falls LDS stake and has been in the planning since last fall.

Patriotic skits, songs and dance numbers will depict the history of our nation. Dance numbers include routines chosen from five categories.

Early American dances to be performed are the polka and the schottish.

In the second category—western dance—the group will perform a square dance and a waltz quadrille.

Latin American numbers to be performed will include original arrangements of the cha-cha and the ay-bolye.

The group will also perform the fox trot and the hody as ballroom numbers.

Finally, the girls will perform two drill team numbers to the songs "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Music to Watch Girls By."

The festival is a preview of the area dance festival to be held in Pocatello on April 24.

Admission is free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Boise man charged with shooting two

BOISE (UPI)—Magistrate Wayne Willis has bound Terry Thomas Potter, 23, Boise, over to Fourth District Court for trial on first-degree murder charges in the shooting deaths of two Boise men.

Potter, who turned himself in at Coeur d'Alene, is accused of killing Robert Walker, 23, and James Riplinger, 25, in a house they shared on South 15th. Willis ordered Potter held without bail.

Court may decide life's dawning

BOSTON (UPI)—Dr. Kenneth Edelin's appeal of his manslaughter conviction for an abortion may help define the dawn of life in the eyes of the law.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court gave no indication Monday when it would reach a decision on Edelin's appeal. But lawyers for prosecution and defense alike outlined competing definitions of life before birth, leaving six judges on the court little room for compromise.

"This is not the case of an unborn child," prosecutor Newman Flanagan said. "This is the case of a child that was born," and subsequently killed by a physician who "presupposed" the death of the male fetus.

"The defendant took that baby and dropped it into a pail," the assistant district attorney said.

Edelin's lawyers countered that the fetus never lived outside the "body" of its 17-year-old mother, who was 22 to 26 weeks pregnant.

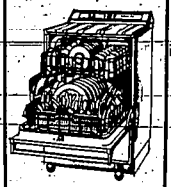

"The Commonwealth is without power to impose criminal sanctions on a doctor performing a legal abortion," Harvard Law Professor Charles Neuman said.

Edelin, 37, a gynecologist, was found guilty in February, 1975, after a six-week trial. The sentence of one year on probation was suspended pending appeal.

US fertility rate lowest in history

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A profile of the people of the U.S. in 1975 has been released by the Bureau of Census.

In January, 1976, the total U.S. population reached 214.5 million, an increase of only four-fifths of one per cent over 1974.

The total fertility rate was the lowest in the U.S. history in 1975. The total fertility rate is the number of births that 1,000 women would have in their lifetimes if, at each year of age, they experienced the birth rates occurring in a given calendar year. The total fertility rate was estimated at 1,800 in 1975, compared to the 1970 figure of 2,380, and 1975's record rate of 3,760.

Two under 25 years of age show a strong preference for a two-child family.

In 1975, the number of divorces exceeded one million for the first time in U.S. history, an increase of 6 per cent between 1974 and 1975, while the number of remarriages dropped to the lowest level since 1969, with a decrease of 4 per cent between 1974 and 1975.

The number of households with a female head increased by 20 per cent between 1970 and 1975. During the same period, the number of persons under 35 maintaining a household entirely alone doubled from about one and a half to three million.

The Mountain States have been growing fastest since 1970 (16 per cent), followed by the South Atlantic States (10 per cent).

Median income in 1974 was $12,840. For white families, the median income was $13,360; $7,810 for black families, and $9,560 for families of Spanish origin.

The number of persons below the poverty level in the U.S. declined by about 15 million during the 1960s but the number in 1974 (24.3 million) was not significantly different from that in 1969.

Spanish origin persons numbered 11.2 million in 1975 or 5 per cent of the U.S. population. Of this total 6.7 million were of Mexican origin, 1.2 million of Puerto Rican origin, 700,000 of Cuban origin, 700,000 of Central or South American origin and 1.1 million of other Spanish origin.

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON
Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 You recently discussed a sliding hiatal hernia. I have one. I find it hard to breathe with it and I can hardly eat anything. I live mostly on chicken broth and beef broth. I do a lot of walking constantly. I would like more information. I used to weigh 198 pounds last year, but now I'm sedative, which can help things. The most important unanswered question is how long have you had the symptoms you now report? Do return to your doctor, and be sure to report all of your symptoms to him, including those heart palpitations — if that is indeed what they are. Diagnosis of such hernias is often difficult because of other disorders which can mimic or are secured in front to the breast bone by cartilage. The last two are shorter and are not attached in front. Because of these free ends they are called floating ribs. They are not usually the cause of such pain, but if one becomes fractured it can be the source of irritation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 Just what is the Rubin test and what does it show? — Mrs. C. D.

This is a test to determine whether or not the fallopian tubes are blocked — identifying that condition as a possible cause of infertility. Gas or a dye is introduced through the cervix. If the tubes are open, the substance will appear in the abdominal cavity. X-rays taken during the test may reveal the degree of obstruction.

In some instances, the test itself — if it inflates the tubes — may correct a minor blockage.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of this newspaper, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Hiatal hernia causes pain down to 130 and it's because I can't eat. When I do eat I have to stop to let out burps. I have an awful lot of chest pain and palpitations with it. — G. H.

In my experience a sliding hiatal hernia shouldn't cause all the trouble you are having. It would be wise to have an electrocardiogram taken to determine whether your distress is due to heart trouble. Another X-ray of the gut would be in order to find out if there has been any radical change in the position of the hernia in the esophagus, or whether there is spasm or obstruction present.

Meanwhile, small frequent meals — more solid food should be taken. Broths are not a satisfactory diet.

If, as you say, you cannot take solid food, then your condition is more serious than the average case of sliding hernia and should be treated promptly.

It is well to lose weight with this type of hernia. Obesity doesn't help. You don't give me other statistics as to height or frame, so I cannot tell how much of that 68 pounds you could afford to lose safely. Check a weight-height chart. You don't mention taking medication. Your physician may elect to give you a medicine to give your heart be present, simultaneously with them. Any illness that inhibits the taking of bulk nourishment for any length of time deserves immediate attention.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 Please tell me what ischemic heart disease means, and what kind of a Greek word meaning to suppress. This refers to a deficiency of a constriction of a blood vessel or an obstruction. Angina, for example, which is a matter of a deficiency in blood supply to the heart muscle, is one form of it.

Diet may be a factor, as in obesity or high cholesterol; but there is no specific diet to cover the various forms of this disease.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:
 What is a "floating" rib? My doctor told my mother she had one. He says this is the cause of pain she experiences and that it might have to come out surgically. — Mrs. M. M.

Everyone has a floating rib. — In fact four of them. There are 12 ribs on each side of the chest. The first ten

Senate approves antitrust bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday approved a sweeping antitrust bill that would impose pre-merger notification requirements on businesses and give the states authority to recover price-fixing damages in behalf of their citizens.

The bill, approved 8 to 5, would also give the government broad new investigative powers to obtain documents, testimony and other information from businesses and other parties in pursuit of antitrust actions.

But the measure's most controversial provision — which is strongly opposed by President Ford — would allow states to seek treble damages from business found guilty of price-fixing or other antitrust violations.

Attempts by Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Nebr., and Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., to modify or restrict this section of the bill were defeated.

Both senators said it was of "doubtful constitutionality" which would result in "windfall profits" for attorneys hired by the state to prosecute the cases.

Under the provision, pricefixing damages would be returned to the class of consumers injured, with some of the money going to the state for public programs.

3 chorus members practice for "The Creation" sei Sunday at CSI Fine Arts Center

Harold Smith will direct the Palm Sunday concert

Palm Sunday smorgasbord, concert scheduled in TF

TWIN FALLS — Two annual events are scheduled for Magic Valley residents Sunday. The annual Twin Falls Altrusa Club's Palm Sunday smorgasbord for the Easter Seal Center and the Magic Valley Chorale's "The Creation" are scheduled in such a way, guests can attend the smorgasbord and top it off with the concert. The smorgasbord is set from noon to 3 p.m. at the Turf Club and the chorale presentation at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium. Members of the Altrusa Club will be on hand to welcome and serve guests along with their nine girls of the month and Girl's State delegate. According to Ola Cannon, dinner chairman, entertainment will be provided throughout the afternoon by Floyd White and members of the Magic Valley Country Music Association. All proceeds from the smorgasbord will go to benefit the Twin Falls Easter Seal Center. Harold Smith will direct Joseph Hayden's "The Creation," with Roger Vincent, Jack Van Buren, Carol Barsness, Craig Davis and Camille Cox as soloists. The Palm Sunday performance is one of the two concerts given by the Magic Valley singers each year, at Christmas and Easter. The chorale was formed several years ago under the leadership of Vincent, who has also served as director but this time is one of the soloists. Smith, who is choral director at the College of Southern Idaho, has assembled a 30-piece orchestra to provide accompaniment for the singers. No admission will be charged but a free will offering will be taken.

Benefit Sunday

PICKING out just the right aprons to be worn at the Palm Sunday smorgasbord are Susan Herzinger, left, and Mary Helen Perry, Altrusa member. The Altrusa Club sponsors the benefit annually with all proceeds going to the Twin Falls Easter Seal Center. The club's girls of the month and Girl's State delegate along with Altrusa members will be serving and greeting guests Sunday at the Turf Club. Miss Herzinger is the club's February girl of the month.

Lincoln woman tops talent show

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Devere Briggs, representing Lincoln County, won first place in the annual Senior Citizen Talent Show here, it was announced today by Lennie Malone, co-chairman. She said about 650 persons attended the event Saturday night at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium. There were 20 contestants, representing 2 from each of the 10 senior citizen centers throughout the area. Both Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Annie Doering, second place winner, who represented Blaine County, are now eligible to compete in the state competition at Boise State May 20, as part of a two-day state festival of arts. Frank Sedivy, representing Filer, was third place winner. Prior to the talent show Floyd White's orchestra played music from the early 20th Century. The Buhl High School performing arts class and Marvin Glascock provided between-act entertainment. Glascock also was presented in person in appreciation for his help as adviser for the Retired Senior Volunteer program. The RSVP program now is under the auspices of an area planning and service area Council composed of 14 senior citizens. Prof. Norman Lagan, University of Idaho music professor, was a special guest. He invited any senior citizen interested in participating in the biennial choir at the state arts festival in May to do so, whether they attend activities at the center or not. Music is available at any of the 10 senior citizen centers throughout Magic Valley.

Raft River HS plans melodrama

MALTA — The Raft River High School drama department is in the final stages of rehearsal for the melodrama "East Lynne" to be presented Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Orville Sears, director, describes classic melodrama as a "gross exaggeration," but without the hisses and boos of regular melodrama. The story is of Isabel Vane (Sara Jane Spencer) who upon the death of her father is penniless and must leave the East Lynne Estate where she grew up. Later, she marries Archibald Carlyle (Rickey Harper) who has purchased the estate and returns as lady of the manor. However, she becomes jealous for her husband's relationship with Barbara Harb (Elizabeth Allred) and deserts her husband and child. She "discovers" too late that she was deceived by the villain, Sir Francis Lewison (Edward Robinson) and returns to the estate in disguise as a governess for her invalid child.

Other cast members include Connie Stewart, Jeffrey Jones, Clark Ward, Kathy Harper, Arjen Lloyd, Scott Erickson, Kenneth Hall and Dallen Ward.

Model railroaders schedule TF meeting

TWIN FALLS — About 60 model railroaders are expected to attend a regional meeting in Twin Falls Saturday and Sunday.

Enthusiasts from the Maple Valley will be joined by model railroaders from the Boise area, and as far distant as Ontario, Ore., and Ogden, Utah, according to Clarence Dudley, spokesman for the group organizing the meeting. Activities will include films, slides and clinics on various aspects of creating and operating miniature railroads, displays of equipment and tours of several layouts in Twin Falls.

Registration will be from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday at the home of Ron Dingwall on Highlawn Drive east of Twin Falls. The Saturday afternoon tour will include the layouts of Paul Remaley, Bill Kee, Bud Phillips, Bill Wilcox and Clarence Dudley, with a visit to the Union Pacific Railroad yards in Twin Falls.

A smorgasbord dinner is planned at the Depot Grill from 6 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Saturday. A brunch at the Dingwall home is planned Sunday morning. It will be followed by the showing of railroad movies and slides and additional activities relating to model railroading.

'April Flop' planned

JEROME — The Jerome Buttons and Bows April Flop will be held Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Moose Hall, two blocks north of the light in Jerome. A ham dinner with all the trimmings will be served. Bring your own table service and your own partner. Callers from all over the state will be from the floor.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Sunday School teacher. One of my pupils' mothers told me that a few years ago you had something in your column in reply to a child who had lost his baby brother. She said your answer explained death so beautifully on a child's level. If you recall such a letter, I would appreciate your printing it again.

LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES CHILDREN: I do recall such a letter because of the many requests I had from clergymen requesting permission to reprint it in their church bulletins. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it.

Abby deals with death

Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only 2 years old, and he couldn't have missed so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother, but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you?

PETER

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "Job" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand.

But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to "your" minister; Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness, and make your Mommy happy again.

DEAR ABBY: My husband plays cards with the boys one night a week. Whenever I ask him how he came out, he says, "Oh, I broke even."

Abby, it's not possible to break even every time. Do you think he keeps his losses a secret because he's ashamed or because he thinks I'll try to keep him from playing if he loses too much? On the other hand, could he keep his winnings a secret because he's afraid I'll ask him for part of his winnings?

FAYE

DEAR FAYE: Both

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me why I change my handwriting from day to day? It's beginning to bother me. One day I'll start my writing to the left, and the next day I'll start it to the right. Some days it's straight up and down.

Then there are days when I feel like spreading the letters out, and other days I write with the letters all crunched up close together. It's to the point where I can't identify my own handwriting.

I'm a legal secretary for a reputable law firm, and I've been asked lately, "Is this your handwriting?"

WORRIED OUT EAST

DEAR WORRIED: Graphologists tell us that one's handwriting reflects one's personality and character, and possibly the state of one's mind. If I were you I'd consult a psychiatrist.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

"The finesse wasn't a sure thing, but it was definitely the correct percentage play. The principle of restricted choice had come into action. West held either queen-jack or queen of hearts. With queen-jack he might well have played the jack. With the actual queen singleton he had to play the queen."

GINA OSTYN plans rites

September date set

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Ostyn announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Gina, to Michael Hankins.

Hankins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Duane Hankins, Twin Falls.

Miss Ostyn is a student at Twin Falls High School and Hankins is a graduate of the Twin Falls High School and is employed by the Amalgamated Sugar Co.

The couple plans a September wedding.

Miss Brown, Knapple recite nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS — Alyce Brown and John Knapple recited their wedding vows before Rev. Raymond Thompson at First United Methodist Church on March 20.

Vows were taken before the altar decorated with baskets of blue poms, yellow mums and pink carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Brown, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Knapple of Bonners Ferry.

The bride's dress was fashioned of white bridal polyester and was trimmed with lace and blue seed pearls. Her mantilla veil was trimmed with matching lace.

The bride's bouquet was of pink roses, yellow mums, blue carnations and baby's breath.

Gerl Stoffel, Reno, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Donna Knapple, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid as was Sandy Ulrich, friend of the bride, both Twin Falls.

Best man was Guy Peate and groomsmen were Paul and Garth Brown, brothers of the bride. Ushers were Jeff Cannedy and Beau Williams.

Donna Knapple sang, accompanied by Bob Thompson at the organ.

Attending the guest book was Betty Knapple, while Fay Klissenager and Lee Ann Boyd were in charge of gifts.

A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated in blue, pink and yellow and topped with blue bells. The cake was bordered by candelabras holding blue, pink and yellow candles.

Coffee and punch were poured by Eillian Fenwick and Mary Miller. Cake was served by Florence Ginkenberg and Margaret Rogers.

Out-of-town guests attended from Bonners Ferry, Reno, Nev., and Layton, Utah. Special guest was the bridegroom's grandmother from Utah.

The couple made a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas, Disneyland and Reno.

The couple will live in Twin Falls. Both are employed by the county assessor's office.

SL cop cars shine

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Crooks and speeders in Salt Lake County may think "Capt. America" is after them for the rest of life.

Eleven shiny new red, white and blue Bicentennial sheriff's patrol cars roared into service Monday. Twenty-nine more will begin cruising the county's lanes and byways before the end of the month.

"We thought it was a great innovation to remind people of the Bicentennial," Sheriff Delmar Swede Larson said. "The cars are very good looking and they will be a real attraction to the public."

The four-door sedans are red on top, white across the middle and blue around the bottom with red and blue flashing roof lights. The fancy paint job costs an extra $300 per car—or $2,700 for all 40 cruisers.

"I've had a few people complain about the excessive cost," Larson said. "But I have received more comments in favor of them than criticizing them."

The sheriff said he got the idea from a woman who received a newspaper clipping from a relative in Michigan showing a police car painted in Bicentennial splendor, and "we decided it was something we would like to do here."

Idaho aides take oath

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former Idaho Supreme Court chief justice and a law enforcement technology executive were sworn in today as deputy administrators of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White administered oaths to former Idaho Chief Justice Henry F. McQuade and Paul K. Wormell, vice president of Public Systems Inc. of Sunnyvale, Calif.

Attorney General Edward H. Levi and LEAA Administrator Richard W. Velde presided over the brief ceremony.

The Senate confirmed the appointments on March 26.

McQuade served on the Idaho Supreme Court for almost 20 years, three times as chief justice. From 1971 to 1973 he was a member of the National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals.

Wormell served for five years as national project coordinator for SEARCH Group Inc., an organization set up by a number of states to develop advanced technology for criminal justice operations.

Wormell also served as law enforcement program manager of Sylvania Electronic Systems.

Kidnaper demands met

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Owens Illinois today distributed over $90,000 in special bonuses to local employees to fulfill one of three demands made by ultra-leftist guerrillas who kidnaped U.S. executive William F. Nichols Feb. 27.

Owens Illinois began paying the 800 workers $116 bonuses each late Monday and continues today, fulfilling the demand made by the guerrillas.

The so-called "Group of Revolutionary Command" who kidnaped the 45-year-old head of Owens Illinois Venezuelan operations, had also demanded that the company publish a political manifesto in Venezuelan and foreign newspapers as well as distribute 1,200 food baskets in poor neighborhoods.

No company spokesman was available to explain what prompted Owens Illinois to comply with one of the guerrillas' demands. The workers at the company's glass plant in Los Guayos, 100 miles west of Caracas, were called in late Monday in groups of 20 and given $116 bonuses each, glass workers union spokesmen said.

The company's move was the first breakthrough in tense negotiations with the kidnapers and raised speculation that the Toledo-born executive might be freed shortly.

Owens Illinois, in a paid advertisement last week, said that it was unable to publish the manifesto without government permission and said that the bonus payments and food basket distribution was "degrading" to the Venezuelan people. It offered instead to deposit the ransom in a bank for distribution through the charity chosen by the guerrillas.

The guerrillas issued a communique last Friday insisting on publication of the manifesto.

Inmates make demands

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Forty-three condemned convicts on a hunger strike at San Quentin Prison have presented a list of 11 demands to the administration and one includes more television.

The list, which extended to the "mainline" (general prison population) should also be extended to them except for a good cause, a prison spokesman said Monday.

The inmates demanded uniform TV facilities on both sides of Death Row. Currently only one side is equipped with 12 television sets for 37 inmates.

The spokesman said, however, the prison plans to install a TV set in each cell by July 1.

Other demands include greater access to law books in the prison library, accessibility to written conduct guidelines and the right to consult more freely with other prisoners concerning legal matters.

Customer and Customer Advisor to the President Smith's Food King

Let Smith's help you entertain.

One problem with entertaining, if you're busy, is running around to different stores finding the best strawberries, the nicest mushrooms, the best dinner rolls, and those extra special meat cuts. Next thing you know, you've been all over town gathering up your menu.

Smith's can save you all that running around. If you just check with the produce, meat or bakery managers, they will be happy to special order just about any food you desire. Then, when you're ready for your party, the staff will be waiting for you in each department of Smith's.

Next time you're planning a luncheon or dinner party, contact Smith's and let us know what foods you need. Please be sure to give us plenty of time to order what you want. Detailed instructions also are very helpful. You may telephone your special order to any Smith's, but you may find it more satisfying to visit the store and talk with the different managers. Often, they can suggest some special "extras" that will really put the finishing touch on your party.

Give Smith's a try for your next party. You'll find our special food ordering service just another reason to make Smith's your favorite store.

...if I can personally help you with any of your party menu pre-planning, just give me a call on the red phone, I'm here to help. We want to be your favorite store.

Red Letter PRICE

We call our new prices "Red Letter Prices" because we want every day to be a red letter saving day for you. You may think of our new prices as "Discount" or "Low" or just plain old-fashioned "Cheaper." We promise you no other chain or group of stores will be able to bring you lowly prices on a storewide basis than the new Smith's Food King.

Managers Special

Every week, the new Smith's Food King stores will offer exceptional bargains—at least one in every department—grocery, meat, produce, bakery and non-food. They will be chosen by our store managers, and prices will be in effect for one week only.

Project proceeds

DESPITE adverse weather, work on this irrigation structure at a canal crossing on Highway 24 near Dietrich has proceeded this spring. Dressed for cold, wind and snow are, from left, Jim Hogan, Francis Towns and Wayne Blackley, all Twin Falls. The adverse conditions have been relieved by a few balmy early spring days, however.

Hereford progress daily topic

RENO — Development of Hereford cattle and selection for ability to perform under range conditions will be traced at the annual Nevada Beef Cattle Improvement Association Field Day here May 4.

Dr. Floyd Pahnish, superintendent of the Miles City, Mont., United States Department of Agriculture Hereford Station, will talk about genetic selection of Hereford cattle at the station over a 40-year period. The cattle were selected based on Western range land performance criteria—adaptability, productivity, thriftiness and other highly desirable qualities. "Aside from work in developing the Line 1 Herefords," said Dr. Curtis M. Bailey, "Dr. Pahnish has also participated in the Miles City station's efforts in crossbreeding involving Hereford, Angus, Charolais and Brown Swiss all under range conditions. The work included two-way crosses and contemporary straightbred comparisons.

Dr. Bailey is a professor of animal genetics in the College of Agriculture at the University and is helping coordinate the field day program. Dr. Bailey said the field day is being held at the University's Main Station Agricultural Field Laboratory off Boynton Lane in Reno. The program opens at 9 a. m. with a welcome by Dr. Dale W. Bolmont, dean and director of the university's agricultural college.

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both Congress and the administration are overlooking a powerful anti-recession tool which can be used to create new jobs with minimal costs to taxpayers, a House rural-development program leader says.

The tool, according to Rep. John B. Breckinridge, D-Ky., is the government's rural development program including, specifically, authority for loans to finance a wide range of community facilities and new businesses and industries.

Breckinridge, as head of the Congressional Rural Caucus, is leading a fight to add about $3.5 billion to the administration's proposed $1.9 billion budget for rural development loans and grants in the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. The Kentucky congressman in an interview he was "personally not too sanguine" about the outlook for major additions to the budget. But he said he would continue to press particularly for about $2 billion of the program's "best" which includes authority for expanded loans.

"We have trouble getting people to understand this, but the fact is that the additional loans will actually cost taxpayers only about $55 million in operating expenses—and even that wouldn't become a budget expenditure until the 1978 fiscal year," Breckinridge said.

"If we can get these loans we can create 250,000 new jobs," he said. Breckinridge said these jobs, which would generate secondary economic activity, are still more employment, would be permanent in contrast to the "short-term" relief of public service jobs proposed in a number of pending bills.

The loan programs involved are operated by the Farmers Home Administration in the Agriculture Department and the Small Business Administration. In the latter part of the budget, for example, the administration has proposed authority for $350 million in loans to finance new business and industry in rural areas and $470 million to help rural communities build water and sewer plants.

Breckinridge told a House Appropriations subcommittee last week the Rural Caucus recommends $1.1 billion in business and industry loans plus $1.1 billion for water and sewer loans. Other portions of the rural development program, which the Rural Caucus leaders say the administration is overlooking, include loan levels down and seeking to eliminate many grant programs. Include aids ranging from farm and rural housing assistance to rural development planning grants and rural fire protection grants.

Administration officials recommended no funds at all for rural fire protection grants in the 1977 fiscal year. The Rural Caucus is proposing $7 million, which would be double the current fiscal year's budget.

"Why fire protection grants? 'If we can't afford fire equipment in Dry Ridge, Ky. today, can we afford the insurance we'll need to build a plant there which would provide jobs and get people off the food stamp program,'" Breckinridge said. And if the community is too poor to afford a new water and sewer system without a grant or loan, he said, it may also lose an opportunity to create jobs which would let "folks move back from the cities."

Whether the rural leaders win or lose in their funding fight this year, Breckinridge said they will continue to seek to build the federal rural

Idaho farm prices rise
BOISE (UPI) — Prices received by Idaho farmers and ranchers at mid-March rose from the previous month, for most crops and selected livestock, it was reported today. The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said: "Exceptions to these monthly price increases were declines for wheel-hoop-cattle, hogs and eggs. Commodities generally were at a higher price level than at the same time last year except for dry beans and eggs."

development effort in the future. "This is a long struggle, and if we can get some understanding of the issues we can lay the foundation for the next fiscal year," Breckinridge added. He said rural leaders must convince urban lawmakers that the drive to develop the rural economy is not a threat to efforts to ease urban poverty.

Losses exceed $80 million on beef animals

BOISE (UPI) — Retail beef prices have dropped to a three-year low and cattlemen are losing more than $80 million a year in today's market and that means that even lower prices will be paid to producers for feedlot cattle some time in the future," he said. "Cattlemen have absorbed about all the losses they can sustain and soon prices are going to have to go up if we are going to be able to continue to produce beef," Little said.

Use queried

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency has expressed concern that use of insecticides to control an infestation of spruce budworm in Northwest forests might also kill the budworm's natural enemies. EPA issued its comments on a draft environmental statement prepared by the U. S. Forest Service on its plan to spray about 300,000 acres of fir and spruce forests in Washington and Oregon with insecticides to control an outbreak of budworm. EPA questioned whether use of the proposed insecticides could diminish the natural control of the spruce budworm and result in additional insecticide use in the future. EPA asked the Forest Service for additional information.

Arthritis rates for farmers high

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Physical labor and bad working conditions make farmers likely candidates for arthritis, according to the Arthritis Foundation. Farmers are frequent victims of osteoarthritis, a degenerative form of the disease associated with aging. Dr. Bruce Bartholomew, rheumatologist for the Texas Tech University medical school and an Arthritis Foundation official, said Monday. "Farmers' joints are frequently under stress because of tough physical labor, keeping them in a state of trauma which increases degenerative tendencies."

"The hard work and the conditions under which they do it cause them to be high risk candidates for the disease." Officials said the prevalence of arthritis among farmers contributes to the high number of persons afflicted in agricultural West Texas, estimated at 125,000. Matt Malouf and Jody Ehrhart, co-chairman of the West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, Plains Division, said arthritis victims were robbed of over $98 million last year alone on so-called quack cures and remedies. "Over $30,000,250 was spent by victims in West Texas," Mrs. Ehrhart said. Malouf said arthritis is not just an old person's disease. "It affects young adults and children every year," Malouf said. "There are 2,187 arthritis sufferers disabled by the disease in West Texas."

"The annual foundation's fund drive will be held next month. Officials said 65 percent of the funds raised in the area would be used to support research in the department of rheumatology at Texas Tech medical school. "Other monies will be used to expand community services to patients and their families, increase the chapter's loan closet of self-help aids, hold public forums and pay for literature on the disease," Malouf said.

Americans returning to markets for autos after recession time

DETROIT (UPI)—Americans who put off buying a new car during the last two recession years are now returning to the market in near-record numbers.

Reports from the four U.S. auto companies Monday showed sales in March totaled $15.477 cars, a 50 per cent jump from last year's depressed level; the fourth best March figures in the industry's history and the highest sales for any month since November, 1972.

In the final 10 days of the month, the four companies sold 350,779 cars, the second best March 21-31 period in history and the best 10-day period of any month since late September of 1972. The 69 per cent jump over late March of last year was the biggest single year-to-year gain since November, 1972.

General Motors grabbed 55.7 per cent of March sales as it topped last year by 54.9 per cent for its best month since October, 1972. Chrysler was up 51 per cent with its best sales since July, 1972. Ford increased 34 per cent, and small car specialist American Motors slipped 6 per cent.

"Any way you look at it, March was a really good month," one company analyst said. "It was better than any of us would have predicted at the beginning of the month or even at midmonth."

"People who have been deferring car buying for the past two years are finally showing up again in large numbers," he said. "Prices don't seem to be as much of a factor now because people are in a better mood and other prices are holding steady."

Imported cars didn't share in the strong March upsurge with sales totaling 130,000 cars for a 14 per cent drop from last March. The foreign car share of the U.S. market also slipped from the near-record 22 per cent in 1969 to below 14 per cent this past March.

The strong March sales were the best evidence yet that the U.S. auto industry had finally emerged from a two-year recession which began with the Arab oil embargo in late 1973. The strong recovery began with the introduction of 1976-model cars last October, giving automakers sales of 4 million of the new models, a 24 per cent gain over disastrous 1975.

'Full employment' promises derided

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration told Congress Tuesday that it has no intention of changing the "full employment" bill promises more than it would achieve.

Assistant Labor Secretary William H. Kolberg expressed "serious reservations" about whether the bill's goal to reduce unemployment from its present 7.5 per cent to 3 per cent within four years could be met, at least without causing high inflation.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. Augustus E. Hawkins, D-Calif., calls for steps to reduce unemployment through the private enterprise economy.

To the extent the goal isn't reached, it provides that the government will provide a job to "at least one" jobless adult American unable to find work.

Kolberg told a House Education and Labor subcommittee the promises, if enacted, "would be another instance where the government over-promised and under-performed."

"This would contribute further to cynicism about the very ability of government to carry out effectively any of its highly important duties," he said.

Kolberg said that not since the latter part of the Korean War has unemployment fallen to 3 per cent, the bill's definition of "full employment."

He testified that because Congress has failed to act on an administration request for $1.7 billion to continue the public-service-job-program this year, 12,400 persons have lost public-service jobs.

Club raps sentences

SPOKANE (UPI)—Officials of the Spokane chapter of the Sierra Club have criticized federal Judge Marshall Neill for handing out what they feel were "excessively lenient" sentences on two farmers convicted of killing what was described as the last timber wolf in the state.

The two men, Howard Assmusen, Mansfield, Wash., and Pat Brown, Chelan, were fined $500 apiece.

Sierra Club spokesman William Steele said the fines were not enough to deter persons from killing other species of animals or birds, which are listed as rare or endangered and which are protected by state and federal laws.

Steele said the fines were particularly light in light of the fact that the maximum sentence allowable could have been $10,000 and a year in jail.

"At the time of the sentencing," Judge Neill said he disagreed with the state law on killing endangered species.

Grains strong, potatoes mixed

(Courtesy Sinclair & Co.)

CHICAGO—Grains showed strength in commodity futures trading Tuesday.

The potato market, however, was mixed for Maines with Idaho's showing slight improvement after a slide. The May Idaho russets picked up a tick on the day's trading before closing at 9.60 per hundredweight.

A measurable increase in weekly export inspections, better overseas possibilities and modest selling response to gulf bids added up to another positive wheat session. Speculation was a factor, and hedge selling was absorbed by commission house buying and professional demand.

Moisture in arid sections and matched by negative aspects including reports fieldwork is ahead of last year.

Chicago cash basis was nominally unchanged with boxcars at 5 under Chicago May and hoppers 2 1/2 cents over May.

Fueled by the floor may have lost downward momentum and recovery may be narrow in moderate volume of 5,738 contracts. Prices were softer and there was an overrun at six major terminals.

Pork bellies closed sharply lower as a result of reports of increased storage in out of town stocks. Final prices were off 115 to 187 points with Most active May leading the decline. Volume was placed at 6,013 contracts.

Commodity News—Service and Maine spuds closed from down 38 points in May to 5 points higher in thinly traded New Market. Early values fell from 40 to 50 points in current April and May, respectively, against minor advances in the new crop but short covering and profit taking produced a middling rally.

Declines are still attributed failure of cash to reflect recent futures levels. A minor constructive influence was the BEC announcement duties on fresh potatoes would be held in abeyance until June '80.

Volume totaled 4,836 contracts, after a number of unfilled sell orders in new crop May were dispersed.

The Canadian stocks report indicated far fewer spuds on hand than a year ago and showed a disappearance rate nearly the same as 1975 despite higher prices.

In more productive regions exerted no significant pressure. Futures closed 3/4 cents to 4 1/2 cents higher. Chicago cash basis was nominally unchanged at 10 cents under May for hard winter and soft red.

Corn gained a penny to 1 1/4 cents as rumor mills churned out stories of Soviet buying, and while traders appeared skeptical they did not disregard those reports entirely. Early country movement was light but picked up as the market advanced. General ideas of a firming trend on the floor were have started, soybeans closed with advances of 3/4 to 5/4 cents. Technical factors also entered product pits, accounting for 14 to 25 point oil gains and advances of 50 cents to 1.20 in meal. The 5.00 November level again marked strength, with November gaining a half cent before falling off. This produced late profit taking, balanced by exporter pricing.

Live hogs closed lower as a result of increased marketing, with final prices from 20 to 60 points lower. Most active June lost 22 points. Price movement

Sugar 11 languished most of the day and drifted lower before closing .05 cent to .17 cent down despite speculative liquidation and trade hedging. The world spot price was off 15 cent to 14.25 cents a pound. FOB Caribbean ports. The domestic spot price was off .1 cent at 15.7 cents a pound, duty paid.

New York Cymex gold drifted through another quiet session, collapsing 40 to 80 points and then recovering on trade buying to close 40 to 50 points higher on a trade placed at 928 contracts.

Chicago Board of Trade silver closed 4 1/2 to 5 cents higher but held within a 4 cent range established early. Commission house buying in the late trade overcame local and arbitrage selling. The day's low was 4.175, basis June.

Spring fun

WITH good weather forecast for the remainder of the week, kids of all ages will again take to the park. Here, youngsters in the Jerome City Park live it up on an early spring day.

FBI arrests fugitive in TF

TWIN FALLS — The FBI has arrested a fugitive who had been working as a bricklayer in Twin Falls for the past year. Thomas P. Drukin, special agent in charge of the Idaho-Montana division at Butte, said FBI agents in Twin Falls have arrested Joseph Turpin, 54, who is wanted in Texas. He is charged by the FBI with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution following an indictment by a grand jury in Wise County, Texas. He was indicted in October for conspiracy to commit an armed robbery. Drukin said the man was taken into custody at 146 Addison Ave. W. Tuesday afternoon. Turpin was on his way home when apprehended by Twin Falls FBI agents, Chief of Police Frank Barnett and Detective Capt. Tim Qualls. United States Magistrate Harry B. Turner committed Turpin to the Twin Falls County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond until his return to Texas to face charges.

Gooding to seek damage payment

GOODING — Gooding City Atty. Cecil Hobbey Monday night was instructed to pursue payment of damages to the city for damaged light poles. Councilmen said several light poles on Main Street in Gooding were damaged last summer when some houses were moved through town on trailers. To date, the city has not been able to get any action payment for the damages, according to Mayor Don Morrow. Wellington Leabo, who farms east of town, attended the council meeting to offer reimbursement for a city-owned shed which was accidentally burned while he was burning ditches. The council told him the shed payment was not necessary since the structure was only a shack and the only thing kept there were a few planks to divert irrigation water. The council also set April 12-24 for the cleanup campaign, with several weeks later in the spring also tentatively planned for a continuing effort.

Youth ranch sets dedication date

ACEQUIA — The Idaho Youth Ranch will hold dedication ceremonies for its new athletic facility May 21. Gov. Cecil Andrus will be guest speaker for the dedication of the gymnasium, which will be followed by an open house. The dedication and open house will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Corey Johnson, ranch employer, said the open house is usually held in June but the tours of the ranch program will be held this year in conjunction with the dedication. Details of the dedication ceremony are expected to be developed at the board of directors meeting next week. The new $300,000 gymnasium contains 12,000 square feet. The gym itself is regulation size. The 10-room facility also includes a weight lifting room, home and visitor team dressing rooms; training room; game room; laundry, offices and storage. Financing of the building was triggered through a $130,000 challenge grant from the Fleischman Foundation, Reno, Nev.

Buhl man remains serious

TWIN FALLS — Archie Thompson, 20, Buhl, who was injured in a traffic accident Sunday night near Buhl, remained in serious condition today. He was hospitalized at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following the accident that killed Jimmy Lee Lewis, 21, Buhl, another passenger in the vehicle which went out of control on U.S. Highway 30 just north of Buhl. Thompson suffered numerous fractures and concussion.

Jerome negotiating team accepts teacher proposals

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer JEROME — In a surprisingly quick settlement, the Jerome School District negotiating team has accepted a proposal for salary increases and fringe benefits requested by district teachers. A tentative agreement has been reached after two meetings. Final acceptance will be up to the teachers, who will meet with their negotiating team this week. Alvin Chojnacky, spokesman for the district, said the district is willing to accept the six requests laid out by the teachers. "We are willing to accept the salary schedule they passed out last week which provides for an $8,000 base, graduation in three per cent increments for education; plus adding on another step across the BA plus 45," Chojnacky said. Chojnacky said the schedule would provide for an average increase of 7.6 per cent. Acceptance of the salary schedule by the district drew some protest from John Andrew, spokesman for the teachers. Andrew said when the schedule was drawn up, no dollar value was included. He objected that "two-year teachers" would be picking up a 7.6 per cent increase when in his opinion these teachers should be getting the smallest amount in the district. "If the Jerome teachers approve the schedule the majority of teachers will receive at least a $600 pay increase next fall. Teachers at the top of the schedule would receive about 7.6 per cent with teachers in the middle of the schedule receiving about 10 per cent and those on the bottom of the schedule about 4.2 per cent. However, with the added step, teachers on the bottom of the scale could, if they went to summer school, pick up a $600 increase in one year. The teachers team asked the district to pay an additional $5 per month on the teachers health insurance program. The district team said the district would increase it to $6. However, the teachers team, following a 20-minute caucus, returned and asked the district to raise its participation to 87. Chojnacky said the district would be willing to pay the $7 with the stipulation "you accept the whole package or it's off."

Jerome commissioners okay elevator installation contract

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News writer JEROME — Jerome County commissioners have approved a $16,500 contract to a Salt Lake City, Utah, firm for installation of an elevator in the county courthouse. Three bids were received with the apparent low bidder being All-Pro Enterprises. Second lowest bidder was Kimball Elevators, Salt Lake City, $18,800. High bidder was Otis Elevators also Salt Lake City with $21,850. According to Milford Jones, commission chairman, several protests have been received from Jerome residents who are against the commissioners spending the money for installing the elevator in the existing elevator shaft. Jones said he has been told "it is a waste of taxpayer money." Jones said the elevator is not being placed in the courthouse for the able-bodied who are capable of climbing a flight of stairs but rather for heart patients, the elderly, the handicapped and others who need an elevator. Jones explained that many such persons have told him the elevator should be installed. The commissioner noted he has personally seen elderly persons go half-way up the stairs and rest before continuing. Jones said the present laws are drifting toward requiring elevators in public buildings over one story in height and feels it is cheaper to comply now when federal revenue sharing money is available than later when local tax money will have to be raised. Jones said concern over the placement of elevators in buildings to assist the elderly and handicapped is so intense that a bill was introduced in the state legislature that would have required it. "If everyone was in good health, we wouldn't need the elevator, but there are so many in the elderly and handicapped bracket, that have to visit the upper floors of the courthouse that the elevator is needed," Jones said.

Rupert aides, lagoon protesters to meet

By SHANE O'NEILL Times-News writer RUPERT — The delayed meeting of Rupert officials with sewer lagoon protesters has been rescheduled for Monday evening. "The city council Tuesday night directed letters be sent to proster leader Donald Kester and his attorney, Roger Ling, inviting a committee of 6-8 objectors to a 7 p.m. meeting Monday at city hall. Public Works Supt. Elmer Schenk informed Mayor Wendell Johnson both Ling and Kester had agreed to the Monday meeting. The confrontation was originally slated last Tuesday, but was postponed because Kester was ill. The council also is inviting Minidoka County commissioners and will have its ensuing meeting there. Kester said earlier that he is working with a Utah engineer concerning the possible dangers of the 1,060-acre site north of Rupert. The meeting stems from a mass appearance two weeks ago before the county commissioners in opposition to the site selection. More than 75 protesters at a 1600-acre site and as suitable for disposal under the Recreation and Public Purposes Act. Kester has joined objections with the Department of Interior and the Environmental Protection Agency, filing a petition with about 90 signatures. Despite those objections, the deputy secretary of Interior signed approval two weeks ago on classification of the federal land as suitable for disposal under the Recreation and Public Purposes Act. The Seattle office of EPA, however, has not confirmed its earlier evaluation that an environmental impact statement would not be required in connection with a federal grant for the $4.4 million project. As a result, the grant

Ex-cop to test grievance plan

By DAVE HORSMAN Times-News writer TWIN FALLS — A recently-fired Twin Falls policeman has challenged his removal from uniform and will present his case in a grievance hearing Monday night. Donald K. Green, 38, who was fired Feb. 28 after 30 months on the police force, will appear before a three-man grievance committee in the council chambers at city hall. Green's case will be the first full-scale test of a revised grievance procedure adopted this year by the City Council. The plan lays down ground rules for handling complaints from city employees and appeals from workers who have been terminated. The complaint or appeal is first sought through the department, then to the city manager, who has five days to investigate and reply. If the employee isn't satisfied with the results, he then can refile the complaint with the city manager, who has three days to form a three-member committee to hear the case. The committee members are chosen from nine persons — three appointed by the City Council, three by the firemen's union and three by the association of city employees. After the grievance hearing, the committee must submit recommendations to the City Council within five days. The council does not have a time limit for action, but is expected to make a decision as soon as possible. Under the former grievance procedure, there were no time limits and the three committee members were appointed by the City Council.

In the final stage of Green's case, City Manager Jean Milar supported Police Chief Frank Barnett and upheld the termination. Green has retorted his appeal and the three-man grievance panel has been formed. The members are Steve Berg, picked by the City Council, Leonard Ross, fire fighters and Del Van Orden, city employee. Green said he has appealed because the termination was based on "too much erroneous information handed out by the department." "I'm not challenging their right to fire — I'm challenging their right to fire a person without an impartial motive," he said Tuesday. Green also said he has been denied a written explanation of the reasons for his termination. "I was fired and haven't been given a definite reason — I haven't been allowed to see the reports." Green said he has been told at various times by city officials that the termination was caused by his "mental condition," his temper and an incident involving the apprehension and release of a juvenile. He also said that none of them are suitable grounds for termination in his case. Milar referred to the incident with the juvenile as a "serious violation of police regulations," but said specifics should be reserved for the public hearing. It was the culmination point of several other improper public relations conditions," Milar said. Green said he will call witnesses at the hearing and have them testify under oath. But he's worried that "some officers won't be able to tell the truth because of coercion."

Clean-up project supported

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer TWIN FALLS — More than 700 persons are expected to participate in the one-day countywide clean-up project in Twin Falls County May 1. William L. Chassey, general chairman of the seventh annual Johnny Horton Day, told an organizational meeting Tuesday night he is planning on an army of at least that number of youngsters and adults. The Bureau of Land Management works with Twin Falls County commissioners in sponsoring the project. About 35 persons representing cities in the county, youth and adult organizations and agencies and commercial groups pledged their support to the project Tuesday night. Civil Air Patrol officers said they would have about double the number of volunteers available last year with a separate group to assist in the Buhl area. John Freeman, Buhl City, and Candy Dyrland, Buhl Jaycoes, agreed to direct the Buhl area program. Herb Thorne will again be in charge of the Murtaugh area and Clark Kleinkopf and the Twin Falls Garage will work in the Rogerson area. Other chairmen include Ernest Pinkston, Castletown; Merl E. Leonard, Piler; William Loughmiller and David Chadwick, Hollister, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Packer in Kimberly. The Rogerson workers meet at the service station in Rogerson and Buhl will meet at the city park. Murtaugh workers meet at the LDS Church; Hansen at the Honda sales lot; Kimberly at the city park, and Piler at the county fairgrounds.

1-day leave request denied

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board Monday night rejected a request for a one-day leave to attend a coaching clinic. Dennis Hansen, Minico High School football coach, had asked for professional leave and partial payment of expenses to attend a football clinic at Corvallis, Ore., on May 1. He said he would be gone April 30 and asked the district to pay for a substitute teacher and mileage at 12 cents a mile. "I can't quite be for it," trustee Fern Hunter said, adding his own note to see teacher miss school. "I don't think it's worth it." Supl. Darrell Hatfield said he knew of only one coach attending a clinic during school time and the athletic department had paid half his expenses. The board rejection came after Athletic Director Mike Erling warned, "If you recommend one, I'm sure you're going to have to recommend other ones." For future years, Erling said, he would recommend any expenses come out of the school's budget. "If they think it's more important to go to a football clinic than buy a kid a helmet," he said, "then he's going to have to live with it." The board did approve leave for Gary Meehan, speech therapist, to miss four Wednesday classes this month to attend classes toward his master's degree for re-certification. Dr. Hatfield told the board Meehan has been attending summer school each summer at Brigham Young University, but cannot get the classes he needs during the second session of summer school.

Blaine workshop funds approved

By BART QUESNELL Times-News writer HAILEY — The Blaine County District School Board has decided to fund a four-day outdoor environmental workshop April 13-16. Although it appeared the request from Hemingway Principal Vey Jepson to raise the budget for the school from $5,400 to $7,900 might not pass, the board gave its approval. The environmental camp was started last year by Jepson. Its purpose is to bring all sixth graders in the district together for several days of outdoor education in a 4-H camp north of Kelchum. The U.S. Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service plus many parents last night praisled the program and urged its adoption into the 1978 budget. Blaine County Education Assn. President Robert Magrath, also endorsed the program.

Mayor Johnson voted strong concern about the capabilities of the existing sewer treatment plant as the council instructed Lebrock to develop a recommendation on changes for hooking into the city's newly-installed high-pressure line from Minico High School.

Clifford Harris, who operates a rest home of six beds, told the council he wanted to connect to the line because his sewage drain field is plugging up. The mayor said that although industrial discharge into the sewer system is down, the winter sewage runs about 1.7 million gallons per day. In the summer, sewage rate has climbed from 2 1/2 to 3 million gallons a day with the subwater seepage and the treatment plant was overloaded at 2 1/2 million. That overloading was the basis of EPA's mandate for new or improved sewer facilities.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI) - Prices opened lower Wednesday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.15 point to 1,001.50 shortly after the opening. Declines led among utilities, 124 in 114, among the S&P 500 stocks crossing the tape. Investors, convinced first-quarter earnings reports would show sharply increased profits and heavy dividend payouts, early trading in hopes the improved business picture would produce increased dividends, but a late surge of profit taking sent prices temporarily lower. Analysts said investors were betting the first-quarter profit surge would be bettered in the second quarter, making the first-half recession recovery one of the strongest on record. This thinking was enhanced by a recent Commerce Department report that U.S. manufacturers expect inventories to climb 2.3 per cent in the second quarter and sales to increase by about $6 billion over the first period. Recent published reports that consumers were showing renewed confidence in the economy were borne out in a Federal Reserve Board announcement consumer installment credit rose $1.17 billion in February.

weather made a strong comeback, compared to Tuesday's highs in the upper 40s. This warming was caused by a warm ridge of high pressure which built over the Pacific northwest Tuesday night and early this morning. Warm temperatures and good drying conditions are expected to continue into early Thursday. A cold front now in the Pacific will be moving inland today. It will bring increasing cloudiness and gusty winds on Thursday. Dry will be stopped as rain is likely again early Thursday evening. The four-inch maximum soil temperature Tuesday was four degrees lower than that reported for Monday, but much of the loss is expected to be gained back Thursday as daytime temperatures climb back into the 60s. Yesterday's maximum was 49.30. Last year's normal soil 4 inch was 43.50.

Woodside spring net meet opens Friday

HAILEY — One of Idaho's biggest indoor spring tennis tournaments is scheduled for April 9, 10 and 11 at the Woodside Racquet Club in Hailey.

The Second Annual Woodside-Wood River Journal tournament has been expanded this year to include five flights in men's divisions, men's and mixed doubles. Last year the tourney had only two flights in mixed doubles.

Competitors are expected from throughout Southern Idaho and entry forms have been sent to clubs in Boise, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Twin Falls and Jackson Hole.

The tourneys will feature open, "A" and "B" flights in the mixed doubles and A and B flights in men's doubles.

Entry fee is $10 for each event and players can enter two events. Entry forms must be submitted by 5 p.m. April 5.

First-place teams in each of the five flights will win a trophy and each member of the winning teams will receive a $20 gift certificate for Woodside Pro Shop merchandise.

The Wood River Journal, a weekly newspaper in Hailey, is donating $20 for the winners' merchandise prizes.

Runners-up will receive trophies.

"No and" scoring and tiebreakers will be used in the tournament to expedite play because there are only three indoor courts at Woodside.

Shoemaker wins 666th stakes

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Dancing Fenne provided jockey Bill Shoemaker with his 666th lifetime stakes victory Tuesday as she galloped to a 3-4 length victory in the $34,350 La Habra Stakes at Santa Anita.

Dancing Fenne, a 3-year-old daughter of Gaelic Dancer, was sent off as the second choice of the crowd of 18,365. She rewarded her backers with $6.80, $4.00 and $3.20 while Caspeda, undefeated in her two previous starts, returned $3.60 and $3.00 for second and Siren paid $3.00.

Dancing Fenne moved quickly from the gate at the top of the hillside turf course to take the lead ahead of eight other sophomore fillies in the 4 1/2 furlong dash.

Green came to the 1976 Masters, which begins his four-day run Thursday over the famed Augusta National, as the hottest golfer around.

He won the Dorval Open, the Greater Jacksonville Open and the Heritage Classic on successive weekends, earning a record $118,000. In that span, then, he skipped last week's Greater Green Sboro Open to go in some early practice here.

Green was asked if he has had second thoughts about dropping off the tour for a week and maybe breaking his streak.

"I never gave it a second thought," he replied. "I had played six tournaments in a row and if I had played last week I would have wound up playing 10 straight."

You have no idea of how hard that winning streak was. I felt a lot better the final day of the Heritage. Not because I was any less exhausted but because I knew I was going to get a break."

Green said he has a "lot more rest" this week as he prepares for the Masters.

"That's not to say I'm going to play better, or worse, than I played before I took a break," he said. "But I'm in a good frame of mind to stay out there all four days and try to make a run at it."

Green said earlier that another reason for skipping Green Sboro was to allow time to adjust his game for play on the Augusta National, a course that favors golfers like five-time champion Jack Nicklaus who hit the ball far, high and from left to right.

"That's a lot of bunk," said Tom Weiskopf, who has been second in the Masters four times in the past seven years.

"If you didn't bring it with you, you won't find it here. Despite all that talk you hear about golfers having to adjust for the Masters, the ones who do well here usually do so by continuing the same good thing they showed the month preceding the tournament."

Nicklaus favored to win this prestigious tournament for the sixth time and raise his record total of "major" championships to 11, returned Tuesday after spending the weekend at home in Florida and complained he didn't play as well as he would have liked during practice sessions here last week.

"There are some things that I am not particularly pleased with," said the Masters defending champion. "But I like to feel that I perform the things I need to know to win each year when I come here."

The early line on this year's Masters lists Nicklaus as the favorite with Weiskopf, Green and Hale Irwin as the leading challengers.

"The thing about the man (Nicklaus) is his consistency," said Weiskopf, who missed forcing Nicklaus into a playoff last year by missing an eight-foot putt on the final hole. "It doesn't matter whether he's playing in the Masters or at Pensacola, he's playing to win."

Nicklaus, who holds a "lifetime" of Masters scoring records (including the all-time 72 hole low of 17-under-par 271 he set in 1965), agreed with Bob Murphy that scores may be generally lower than usual this year.

"The (always) looking better than I've ever seen them at this time of year," said Nicklaus. "A mild winter and an early spring has really made a difference."

Selmon seen as top pick in college football draft

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Seattle Seahawks seniors camp, if no trades alter the formula, Thursday and Friday as the two expansion clubs participate in their first National Football League college draft.

The Seahawks, who have the option to choose, are expected to pick Oklahoma's standout defensive end, Larry Selmon.

Seattle goes next, but there's been no hint of who the Seahawks will choose.

Dick Mansperger, who masterminds the Seahawks' college player personnel department, mentions names like California running back Chuck Muncie (6-2, 225), Colorado center Pat Brock (6-6, 248), Notre Dame defensive tackle Steve Nicholas (6-5, 260), Grambling defensive back James Hunter (6-3, 194), and Purdue defensive great Ken Nason (6-7, 274). But Seattle's first pick could easily be somebody else.

Mansperger, General Manager John Thompson, Assistant General Manager Mark Duncan, Head Coach Jack Patena, managing partner Herman Sarkowicz, and scouts Ralph Goldstein, Charley Garcia and Mark Keller have been huddling since last Friday to decide No. 1.

Actually, they have been rating 517 college seniors. The entire crop of college seniors was trimmed to those 517 prospects.

The particulars on these 517 survivors are included in 48 large looseleaf notebooks, including minute personal and physical information. There are 32 more such notebooks with the same data on the 1976 college "rejects."

All this information will become a part of the Seahawks' permanent personnel library enabling a club official to retrieve information on any player skouted and rated.

"Our meetings will really shake these guys out, turn them inside out," Mansperger said. "That's what this final process is. We have unemotionally listed these players in order by our grading system, by computer. Now we add subjective stuff which will change the order somewhat."

Mansperger said it's pretty easy to pick the first few men in a college draft. "Where you make your money is on the selections from the eighth through the 17th round (the final one)," he said. "Some teams give up in that area."

"It's in your choices from 8 through 17 that you find out the depth of your scouting," Mansperger added. "Anybody you get who pans out big at this selection is a steal."

The Seahawks also hope to sign some free agent collegians who are not drafted by anybody Thursday and Friday.

Mansperger said if a club "hits" on a draft choice he can be a great player.

"When you hit, this type guy is with you for 10 years," he said. "There will be a 15-minute deadline between selections by teams through the first two rounds. After that, it will be a five-minute deadline."

Mansperger said the Seahawks probably will wait for most of the first round.

"That gives every other team in the league time to think," he explained. "Maybe they will phone us and offer a deal—a good deal, say in exchange for our draft choice."

$100,000 super mile rumored for Raleigh

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — The International Track Association is negotiating to set up a $100,000 "super mile" at Duke University in September, The News and Observer of Raleigh reports.

Mike O'Hara, president of the ITA, was in Durham Monday talking with Duke officials and members of Civilian International which would sponsor the race and would say only the talks were "the very early stages."

"It's 90 per cent sure we're going to have the race in Durham," the paper quoted a track source as saying in its editions today. A decision is expected in about a week.

The group hopes to sign pro centerfielder Willie Ward miler record holder John Walker, fellow New Zealander Rod Dixon and American Marty Liquori, after the 19.6 Olympic and match them with Ben Jipcho as a climax to the pro season, according to the paper.

O'Hara said Tuesday he felt sure the tour could sign some "name" runners after the Olympics. "Based on questionnaires that have been returned, we feel that we will have some fine middle distance runners joining us."

While he would not name the athletes, a source close to the ITA told a reporter "you can stop guessing" when the names of Walker, Dixon and Liquori were mentioned. "And it's 99 per cent certain they'll get them," the source told the paper.

Walker holds the world mile record of 3:49.4. He set it last August in Göteborg, Sweden.

T.F., Jerome skiers win at Soldier

FAIRFIELD — Skiers from Jerome and Twin Falls took top honors in the Soldier Mountain Invitational races over the weekend.

The races, sponsored by Clawson Construction of Twin Falls, were held on the Fritz run.

Wide Bond, Twin Falls, took the senior men's division in 60.4 followed by Brian Cluer, Fairfield, 61.4, and Hanna Hindman, Finland and Fairfield, 62.4.

In the women's senior division, Jeanne Callen, Jerome, led at 1:17.5 with Terri Barron, Twin Falls, second at 1:24.3 and Brenda Harney, Jerome, third with 1:29.2.

In the Junior division, Jerome's Kurt Clark was tops at 68.5, followed by Paul Childs, Gooding, 1:22.2 and Dan Peterson, Portland, 1:26.9. The women's Junior list was Shirley Bond, Twin Falls, at 1:18.4, followed by Barbara Hinkle, Fairfield, 1:23.0, and Jeff Barron, Twin Falls, 1:33.1.

Vandals name aide

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Montagna Tech Head Football Coach William J. Sprinkle, 29, has been named the new offensive backfield coach for the University of Idaho, Dr. Leon Green, director of athletics, announced Tuesday.

Sprinkle, a 1969 graduate of the University of Washington, succeeds Jack Elway, who resigned last week to become head football coach at California State-Northridge.

The former Husky 1994-year letterman will assume his new duties Friday as the Vandals under Head Coach Ed Travel and their first full week of spring drills.

Sprinkle was recruited for the post by his former high school coach, John McMahon. It was Sprinkle who took McMahon's place at Montana Tech when McMahon moved to Idaho.

Weiskopf says Masters no place to hope for luck

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Few long shots have ever gotten "lucky" and won the Masters.

"If you didn't bring it with you, you won't find it here," says Tom Weiskopf, runner-up four times in the past seven years in this celebrated golf championship which gets under way Thursday.

"All that talk about changing your game to play the Augusta National is a lot of bunk. The ones who do well here usually do so by continuing the same good thing they showed the month preceding the tournament."

"I've played plenty of times with (five-time Masters winner) Jack Nicklaus," said Weiskopf. "The thing about the man is his consistency. It doesn't matter whether he's playing in the Masters or at Pensacola, he's playing to win."

"Despite all the talk you hear about golfers having to adjust for the Masters, the ones who've been hitting the ball well, and putting well, who finish among the leaders."

It's a pretty good bet that nobody wants to win the Masters more than Tom Weiskopf.

Last year, on the 72nd and final hole, Weiskopf missed a malleable eight-foot birdie putt which would have put him in a playoff with Nicklaus. Instead he finished in a tie for second with Johnny Miller, a position he also occupied in 1974, 1972 and 1969.

The slender 6-foot-3 former Ohio State teammate of Nicklaus, has won nearly $13 million in a little more than a decade on the tour, but his lone major championship is the 1973 British Open.

"I never thought my first major title in this country will come here," said the 33-year-old power-hitter who has disappointed some of his fans with his continued lack of success in the major events. "I continue to do well here, but I keep coming up a stroke or two shy."

Weiskopf made it clear that his game plan for this year's championship is the same which has stood him in good stead during his career.

"What's to change?" Weiskopf asked. "If you're hitting the ball good and dropping your putts, it's foolish to tamper with your game. When a man like Hubert Green wins three tournaments in a row it makes no sense for him to mess around with the things which helped him accomplish that feat."

Weiskopf said he can recall only one time that Nicklaus tried to change his game for the Masters.

"That was in 1967, after he won here the two previous years, and look what happened? He missed the cut."

Last year Weiskopf came to Augusta fresh off a victory in the GGO at Greensboro where he defeated Al Geiberger by three strokes. Ironically, it was Geiberger who won this year's GGO Sunday. Weiskopf was sixth.

Four-time champion Arnold Palmer said he considered the Masters "the biggest of the big tour. It's the tradition and the fact this is always the first of the championships to be played each year," said the 46-year-old former superstar.

"But the fact the Masters is played over the same course each year also has a bearing to it. It presents a unique challenge. We come back here year after year in an effort to try to beat this course."

"The U.S. Open is big, too. But the situation in the Open is different since you play over a different course each year."

Palmer, making the cut in only three of seven appearances this year, has no illusions about his chances of winning this year. "I haven't been playing well," said Palmer, who last won here in 1964. "But I keep hoping my game will come back."

Green doesn't need fan recognition for streak

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Hubert Green isn't all that thrilled by the fan recognition that goes with winning three golf tournaments in a row.

"There are a few freaks who stop me in the street," said the outspoken Green. "But most are polite in that."

"Anyway," he continued, "the big thing to me is not the recognition I get from the fans, but the recognition I get from the other guys out here on the tour. They're the ones who know a run is off or on."

Green came to the 1976 Masters, which begins his four-day run Thursday over the famed Augusta National, as the hottest golfer around.

He won the Dorval Open, the Greater Jacksonville Open and the Heritage Classic on successive weekends, earning a record $118,000. In that span, then, he skipped last week's Greater Green Sboro Open to go in some early practice here.

Green was asked if he has had second thoughts about dropping off the tour for a week and maybe breaking his streak.

"I never gave it a second thought," he replied. "I had played six tournaments in a row and if I had played last week I would have wound up playing 10 straight."

You have no idea of how hard that winning streak was. I felt a lot better the final day of the Heritage. Not because I was any less exhausted but because I knew I was going to get a break."

Green said he has a "lot more rest" this week as he prepares for the Masters.

"That's not to say I'm going to play better, or worse, than I played before I took a break," he said. "But I'm in a good frame of mind to stay out there all four days and try to make a run at it."

Green said earlier that another reason for skipping Green Sboro was to allow time to adjust his game for play on the Augusta National, a course that favors golfers like five-time

ABA Colonels sold to Louisville group

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Mrs. Elle Brown, majority stockholder of the Kentucky Colonels American Basketball Association team, announced Tuesday she plans to sell the franchise for $15 million to a local syndicate headed by Louisville attorney J. Bruce Miller.

Citing financial difficulties in operating the franchise, which won last season's ABA championship, Mrs. Brown and her husband, ABA President John Y. Brown Jr., said they asked Miller to form a "broad-based community syndicate" to keep the Colonels in Louisville.

Brown said he received offers to purchase the team from persons in three cities, but declined to pursue them or disclose the names of the interested parties.

Miller has until June 15 to raise $500,000 to purchase the team, Brown said, with the agreement between them also calling for the syndicate to assume a five-year, debt of $1 million as part of the deal.

"Louisville attorney J. Bruce Miller represents several ABA players including former Colonel Dan Issel, said he has raised 25 per cent of the $1.5 million his syndicate needs. Miller added he wanted to secure investments from "the average man with a mortgage on his house" to keep the team in Kentucky.

Brown said he and his wife had to decide what course to pursue last August when the ABA was facing financial problems.

"We had a decision to make — fold the team or continue one more year as defending champions," Miller said in a letter to the Louisville National Basketball Association, he said.

Brown said ABA owners "have only themselves to blame" for their franchise's financial problems.

"Here's an industry that's gone on oblivious to the owners' declining level of money," he said in a letter to high players' salaries.

The ABA president said he sees a good future for professional basketball in Louisville if the proposed sale succeeds, but offered a dire prediction on the future of the league.

"The ABA won't be around next season unless they get a national TV contract," Brown said. He said the league has "had a death wish this past year as far as creating negative attitudes and a negative press, but out of this may come the lesson that only the strong survive."

The Colonels are one of only three original franchises in the nine-year-old ABA which still operate in the same city. The other teams are Denver and Indianapolis. The ABA started the current season with nine teams, but suffered the loss of its franchises in San Diego, Baltimore and Utah.

The Browns, who are reported to have lost $200,000 in operating the Colonels last season, said they could no longer sustain large deficits. Brown said he asked Miller to form a syndicate to avert folding the team or selling it to outside interests.

Mrs. Brown, who received wide notice when she became the first woman to own majority interest in a professional basketball team, said financial pressures dictated that "the day of the single owner in the sports world is no longer a possibility."

Brown said he expects the Colonels would eventually play about one-fourth of their games in the new 23,000-seat Adolph Rupp Arena in Lexington, Ky. If the proposed sale succeeds, he also predicted the team would prosper if it joins the NBA through a merger.

"If we get in the NBA, there's no limit on the number of season tickets we could sell," he said. Brown added, however, that he and his wife had decided to sell the franchise even if Kentucky became an NBA team.

"Elle and I aren't running out on this," he said, "but they (Miller's syndicate) can run it and take over the operational experience."

"Elle doesn't expect we can say 'Louisville isn't big enough for a pro team.'"

Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown said he hopes Miller's syndicate will be able to raise the necessary money to keep the team in Louisville.

"I just hope the city responds favorably because the franchise has an excellent reputation in pro basketball and it would be a shame for nine years to go down the drain, especially leaving the city without any 'pro sports,'" he said.

Artis Gilmore, the Colonels' 72 star center, said he thought the announcement would bolster the team's morale in competing in the ABA playoffs which begin Thursday.

"The people have a good team and we want to keep it here," he said.

Sale of 49ers may be imminent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers, who 24 hours earlier halted the acquisition of quarterback Jim Plunkett as a major step toward a National Football League championship, may be sold to former Oakland Raiders' partner, Wayne Valley, it was disclosed Tuesday.

A spokesman for the 49ers said, "We've had discussions with Mr. Valley, but we have nothing further to report at this time." He added, however, the negotiations were ongoing.

The 49ers started in the All-American Conference and merged into the NFL in 1950. They are owned by the widows of the original founders, Mrs. Annabelle J. Morabito and Mrs. Victoria Morabito, and Louis G. Spadola, who also serves as president and general manager.

In addition, there are nine limited partners, among them former quarterback and coach, Frankie Albert and Franklin Mittle, owner of the National Basketball Association's Golden State Warriors.

Valley is reported seeking controlling interest in the club. Currently, the Morabito women own 55 per cent.

Valley, a wealthy businessman and real estate developer, was among the handful of men who inaugurated the American Football Conference in the early 1960s. That league merged with the NFL in 1970.

Valley recently sold his 15 per cent interest in the Raiders for $2.5 million after a bitter court squabble with general managing partner Al Davis and Ed McCala.

Only a day earlier, the 49ers acquired Plunkett, a former Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford and a man they hope will lead them to the NFL title.

To get the quarter back from the New England Patriots, San Francisco gave up reserve quarterback Tom Owen, two first-round draft picks in this week's collegiate draft, and first and second round picks in the 1977.

Superdome slated to lose more money

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Louisiana Band Commission today authorized refinancing of the Superdome's $140 million in bonds, a move that could add $19 million in interest charges to the cost of paying off the dome's debt.

The annual bond issue came after several bond commission members expressed "strong reservations" about the proposed refinancing because of the added cost of the transaction.

The panel authorized the Superdome Commission to refinance the dome's short-term debt over a period of 30 years. The purpose of the action is to avoid a $92.5 million bond payment due in 1978. That payment and two other sets of Superdome bonds — which total almost $40 million — will be distributed more evenly over a 30-year period.

However, the bond commission stipulated that the actual sale of the bonds by the Superdome Commission must be held jointly with the bond panel.

"Refunding" (refinancing) would reduce debt service requirements over the next few years. Over the life of the bonds there will be more in service," said Frank Healy of Blythe, Eastman & Dillon, Inc., a New York investment firm that advises the Superdome on financial matters.

Healy's firm said the additional cost of refinancing the bonds at the same per cent interest rate they now carry would cost an additional $10 million over 30 years.

New women's pro loop unveiled

MERIDEN, Conn. (UPI) — The crown arena of professional sports for another contender Tuesday when Miss Joyce and Joan Joyce introduced their Connecticut entry into the new Women's Professional Softball League.

The pair told newsmen their venture was the first to be handled and controlled by women and is the first to offer female athletes team competition on a professional level.

Miss Joyce declared women's softball has "seen fantastic growth in the past three years." She said she is confident the 10-team, two-division league, "would survive and become sound within five years."

Miss King labeled her latest shot at the box office a "most enthusiastic endeavor." The tennis queen indicated, however, the playing and field handling will be left up to Miss Joyce, Brenda Reilly and John J. Salerno, team general manager.

The bespectacled, blue-haired King attended a special news conference in Meriden where the team will play 32 home dates in a 120-game season that begins the last week of May and continues through September.

Miss Joyce, in a 20-year career spent mostly as a speed ball pitcher with perennial women's softball champions Raybestos Brakettes, has accumulated just under 600 wins, including 105 no-hitters, 33 perfect games and 5,600 strikeouts, while walking 620 batters.

The team — an all-you-are name, indicating the possibility, a major sponsor might yet enter the picture. However, Joyce said it definitely would not be the Raybestos firm, located in Stratford, Conn.

The idea of a professional women's softball league was started by Joyce, King and golfer Jane Blalock, in December at Houston while they participated in the first women's Superstar Competition.

Other investors include Sandra Palmer, Carol Mann, and JoAnn Washburn. Joyce said an average attendance of 2,500 would be needed to break even the first year for the Connecticut team that will play at 5,400-seat Cappa Field. Gate receipts go entirely to the home team.

There will be divisional playoffs and a championship series. The Eastern Division will include Buffalo, Chicago, Denver, Reading, Peoria and Connecticut. The Western Division is made up of four California cities: Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Ana and San Jose, and Phoenix, Ariz.

Griffin would like to join Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ohio State's Archie Griffin says he would like to become a Cincinnati Bengal.

"I'd really like to play for them (the Bengals)," Griffin said Tuesday. "I've talked to them and I want to come down."

"I want to play in Cincinnati because it's very close to my home (Columbus), and I'll give people who watched me play from the time I was a little kid in sandlots through high school and at Ohio State another opportunity to see me play as a pro."

Asked what made him think he would still be around by the time the Bengals pick him in Thursday's draft, Griffin said, "wishes thinking."

Griffin has been Tuesday making 30-minute talks to school children as part of his new job with the state school board. He admitted "there's been some flak" about his $125-a-day salary for one month of special consultant work, but he defended the salary.

Seaver at rest

Seaver opens battle to keep incentives of $700,000 pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Seaver won the war Tuesday to become the highest paid pitcher in National League history, now he must survive the battles to retain the estimated $700,000 salary figure he worked out with the New York Mets over the next three years.

The Seaver-Mets hassle was a nerve-racking situation for both parties. Seaver, a three-time Cy Young Award winner, reportedly asked for better than $800,000 to play with New York through the 1978 season.

"New York General Manager Tom McDonald yelled it was a holdup" and that Seaver's demands were so outlandish the Mets were thinking of trading the right hander.

There's an escalation clause in the pact that entitles Seaver to more than the estimated $200,000 annual base that makes him the highest-paid pitcher in the National League.

If Seaver doesn't want the club has the option of giving him less money.

Payoff incentive bonuses for winning games is illegal, according to Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, but there's nothing to stop the Mets from meeting their obligations for the season, or so many strikers felt for the season. "The Commissioner has not learned the details of Seaver's verbal agreement with the Mets and he would not likely know about it unless there's something wrong with it," said a spokesman from Kuhn's office. "Ordinarily, the league president (Club Feeney) would have the job of approving the contract. However, if a problem relating to a major league rule comes up, then the league president would confer with the commissioner."

"Bonuses for winning a certain number of games are not permitted. But there are possibilities a team can pay additional money for so many games pitched, so many things worked, so many strikeouts."

The spokesman said he was sure Feeney would contact Kuhn if there is a serious problem regarding a fracturing of the rules.

"We have a handshake agreement with Tom," said McDonald after Monday night's negotiations were completed, "and that's always good enough on the Mets."

Board chairman M. Donald Grant verified that both sides were satisfied.

"It's a three-year contract," he confirmed. "I think both sides have compromised."

Redskins sign cornerbacks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three ex-World Football League cornerbacks have been signed by the Washington Redskins, a team spokesman said Tuesday.

The three are former Charlotte player Larry Shears, ex-Birmingham cornerback Gerard Williams and ex-Memphis player Dave Thomas.

Team coach George Allen said the three "are excellent prospects and will provide good competition at the corners."

Shears, 26, who played for Atlanta in 1974, part of 1974 interceptions for Charlotte in 1974 and five in 1975.

Loser in final world series game banished to minors by Red Sox

By BILL MADDEY
UPI Sports Writter

The pitcher whom Boston Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson entrusted with preserving a ninth inning 3-2 tie against the Cincinnati Reds in the seventh game of the 1975 World Series today finds himself back in the minor leagues.

Jim Burton, the rookie southpaw who gave up the decisive run in last fall's dramatic World Series, was among four players cut Tuesday as the American League champions got down to the 25th and final game of the 1975 season.

Burton, it will be recalled, was summoned by Johnson to pitch the ninth inning of Game Seven after the previous Red Sox pitcher, Jim Wilt, was removed for pinch hitter Cecil Cooper with two out in the eighth. The score was 3-3 when Burton arrived and the nervous rookie promptly walked leadoff hitter Ken Griffey before later yielding Joe Morgan's blow-single to center which gave the Reds a 4-3 win and the world championship.

Along with Burton, who was sent to Pawtucket of the International League, Red Sox demoted catcher Tim Lincecum and outfielder John Balaz, while veteran right-handed reliever Diego Segul was released unconditionally.

The roster cuts enabled the Red Sox to retain designated hitter Deron Johnson. Because of a rules technicality, they were forced to sell Johnson to the Chicago White Sox a year ago and the 28-year-old veteran responded with 72 runs batted in before being acquired by Boston in September.

Elsewhere around the spring training circuit:

Back-to-back homers by Mike Ilo and Hector Torres off Jim Colborn enabled the San Diego Padres to top the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1. Manny Sanguillen, Fran Taveras and Al Oliver pounded eighth-inning homers off reliever Al Hrabesky as the Pittsburgh Pirates routed the St. Louis Cardinals 10-2. Steve Garvey banged out a double and two singles and Mike Marshall hurried three shutout innings of relief to spark a 6-2 victory by the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Oakland A's.

Andy Thornton drove home five runs to lead the Chicago Cubs over the Cleveland Indians, 7-5. Don Kirkwood, Steve Dunning and Paul Hartzel combined on a three-hitter in a 3-1 California Angels' triumph over the San Francisco Giants. Mickey Lolich, in his longest outing as a New York Met, allowed just one run in five innings to highlight a 2-1 decision over the New York Yankees. The Montreal Expos signed veteran non-roster relief pitcher Wayne Granger to a contract and optioned infielder Jim Cox to the minors, leaving their roster at 27 men.

Reds claim fans won't let them lose

CINCINNATI (UPI) — "We'll win it all," predicts Sparky Anderson, manager of the defending World Champion Cincinnati Reds. "Our fans won't be satisfied with anything less."

The Reds, traditional hosts of baseball's season opener, begin the 1976 campaign in sold-out Riverfront Stadium Thursday afternoon against the Houston Astros.

"I honestly believe that, overall, this is the strongest club I've ever taken north," enthused Sparky as spring training and the exhibition season drew to a close Tuesday.

Besides predicting his club will repeat as world champs, Sparky figures the National League's Most Valuable Player will again be a Red and hopes his sometimes-ragged mound staff can produce two or three game winners.

"Johnny Bench has won it (MVP) twice, Pete Rose once and Joe Morgan once in the last six years," recalled Sparky. "Everyone on the club is rooting for Doggie (Tony Perez) to win it this year. But if it isn't Doggie, it'll be some other player on our club."

As for 20-game winners, Sparky says, "I think we'll have at least two."

"The top candidates are Jack Billingham, Gary Nolan and Don Gullett," he points out. "Don't overlook Freddie Norman, though. He could kick himself in the tail and slip in there."

However, as of now, Sparky also tags Gullett "my biggest concern."

"Right now I'd have to say he won't be ready to start until the San Francisco series. That's April 16, 17 and 18. It's not because of any injury. It's just he got such a late start."

"That's unfortunate because it could have been prevented if he had come down (to Florida) and worked out like the other pitchers did while the negotiations were going on."

Gullett, who earlier had been expected to start the season opener but now has given way to Nolan, is the only Red who hasn't signed a contract.

"But Anderson is happy about Nolan, calling his pedigree the club's 'most pleasant surprise.'"

"Never once this spring has he given me any indication that he's experiencing tightness in his arm or shoulder," says Sparky. "That's a first since I took over as manager in 1970."

Anderson also says he is "thrilled with the attitude and confidence" of starting outfielders George Foster and Ken Griffey.

Giants to open at home despite strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants say they will open the National League season as scheduled on Friday against the Los Angeles Dodgers even if the strike by city workers continues at Candlestick Park.

The Giants, with owner Bob Lurie doing most of the talking, are seeking a three-day moratorium from the striking union so that the club can provide full services for a three-game weekend series with the Dodgers that is expected to draw over 100,000 fans.

"That would really be in the public interest," said Lurie of his proposed three-day moratorium. "I think the strikers would gain a lot of support from the public at large with a gesture like that."

Picketts outside of a major league stadium outside of Candlestick Park, a city owned facility, said Tuesday they were in favor of a moratorium.

If their leadership agrees, "I don't think there is one man among us who would disagree," said one picket. "We know how hard Mr. Lurie worked to keep the Giants in San Francisco and I think the team deserves all the help it can get even from us."

City workers have been on strike for a week and there are no signs of an early agreement. The Giants are home only for the weekend, then go on the road until April 23.

Lurie said he will open the park for baseball on Friday no matter what.

"We may have curtailed services," he said, "but I think the fans would understand that it isn't our fault. We'll do everything possible to make things comfortable for those who come out. This is a big weekend for us and we need a good weekend this year."

Mayor George Moscone, who played a big role in helping to keep the Giants in San Francisco when it seemed they were headed for Toronto, said he agrees with Lurie that the club should open the season as scheduled on Friday.

"Not to be play would be disastrous to the club," said the Mayor. "I understand they expect in excess of 100,000 fans for the weekend and they simply can't think of turning those fans away."

On Thursday, the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a parade and rally, strike or no strike. The Giants' players, riding in open cars, will be part of a 20-unit parade through the financial district and then will be feted in a rally at Union Square. The rally will feature the usual bands, radio and television personalities and the releasing of hundreds of balloons, many of which will contain vouchers for free game tickets.

Meanwhile, the Giants conclude the abbreviated exhibition schedule in Arizona today with a game against the Dodgers.

HAGERMAN — Dirt track bike drag races will be held Sunday on the Hagerman track, three miles south of town.

All drag entrants must register between 9 and 10 a.m. and make a secret check point on a trail ride to be eligible for drag participation. A pilot car for spectators will lead the way from the MX track at 1 p.m.

Troopies have been provided by business men in Twin Falls, Jerome, Buhl, Bliss and Wendell.

Tosches leaves ISU

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho State quarterback Steve Tosches Tuesday quit the Bengal football team with only one week left in spring practice and said he would transfer to an eastern college, possibly the University of Rhode Island.

Tosches, 20, Stamford, Conn., started every game for ISU last fall, leading the Bengals to a 7-3 season and second place in the Big Sky Conference race.

At the end of the season, Idaho State head coach Bob Griffin quit the school to accept a similar job as head football coach at Rhode Island.

Tosches passed for 1,376 yards last fall and five touchdowns. He also ran for another pair of scores. He will have to redshirt this coming fall before playing out his final two years of football eligibility.

New ISU head coach Joe Pascale said he feels his team can win next fall's Big Sky title with the two quarterbacks remaining, in camp, Tosches' 1975 backup Leo Cook, and 1975 junior varsity qb Steve Holzer.

Erving, Thompson cited

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Forward Julius Erving of the New York Nets was named American Basketball Association Player of the Year and forward David Thompson of the Denver Nuggets was chosen Rookie of the Year by The Sporting News Tuesday.

The sporting weekly said both players received the maximum number of votes for the awards in a poll of ABA players. It was the third straight year Erving led the balloting in the players' selection of an All-Star team.

The first team consisted of Erving and Billy Knight of Indiana at forward, Artis Gilmore of Kentucky at center, and James Silas of San Antonio and Ralph Simpson of Denver at guard.

Messersmith spurs offer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Andy Messersmith has refused an offer to pitch for the California Angels. It was disclosed Tuesday, and is staying a free agent until he gets a higher bidder.

The Angels reported that Messersmith's agent, Herb Osmond, called general manager Harry Dalton in Scottsdale, Ariz., at 1:30 a.m. Monday to tell him of the turn-down. Terms of the offer were not disclosed.

Dalton said he told Osmond if Messersmith did not hook up with any other club the Angel offer would remain in effect.

Fight ends early

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia middleweight Bennie Briscoe Tuesday night knocked out Eugene "Cyclone" Hart at 1:43 of the first round.

Hart, 160 pounds, came out strong with lefts and rights to the body for the first minute, but Briscoe caught him with a left hook and right cross that sent him down for a count of ten.

"I was waiting for him and I nailed him," said the 160-pound Briscoe.

South Africa under fire

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — The possible acceptance of China and expulsion of South Africa from the International Federation of Football Associations (FIFA) will be discussed at a June 17 meeting in Montreal, FIFA President Joao Havelange said Tuesday on the final day of the world soccer organization's annual conference.

Havelange, of Brazil, said at a news conference that chances appear good for China's entrance into international soccer competition, and the acceptance of the Peoples Republic of China would not necessitate the expulsion of the Nationalist China team, which would play under the name Formosa.

Cavs drop Celtics

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Cleveland, clinging to the lead in the Central Division of the NBA, got 20 points from reserve Campy Russell Tuesday night to beat the Boston Celtics, 101-92.

The Cavaliers, who upped their division lead over Washington to a half game, took control of the game early in the second quarter and held double figure leads the rest of the way.

British heavyweight earns shot at Ali

LONDON (UPI) — British heavyweight champion Richard Dunn qualified for a fight with world champion Muhammad Ali Tuesday when he stopped West Germany's Bernd August in the third round of a scheduled 15-round contest to win the vacant European title.

Italian referee Amleto Belagamba stopped the contest before a 5,000 Royal Albert Hall crowd midway through the third round after the 25-year-old West Berliner had made his third trip to the canvas.

Dunn's victory was worth $60,000 but, more important, it set up a May 25 title match with Ali to knock. The fight was signed subject to the 31-year-old British southpaw defeating August, for the European title and comes just three weeks after Ali defends his championship against Jimmy Young in Washington.

The European title became vacant last year when Dunn's countryman Joe Bugner retired following his unsuccessful attempt to wrest the title away from Ali in Manila.

Dunn, who weighed 212 1/2 pounds to August's 213, took the fight to the 6-foot-7 German, one of the tallest heavyweights active today, from the opening bell and swinging left staggered August. Another left dropped home, but August got to his feet immediately and was taking a standing eight-count when the bell ended the round.

The second round followed the pattern of the first and another swinging left dropped August for his second standing count.

August's left eye was completely closed by the start of the third round. He dropped Dunn on the ropes with a flurry of punches, but the Briton swung a right cross at which stage August again hit the canvas. He rose to his feet before the referee could begin counting, but with Dunn scoring freely with combinations to the head, Belagamba stepped between the fighters and stopped the bout.

Quebec moves to drop Olympic costs

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Quebec government, moving to lower the cost of hosting the 1976 Summer Olympics, Tuesday introduced legislation giving it full control over construction of the Olympic Village.

Quebec Finance Minister Raymond Garneau announced also a three-man arbitration board will be set up to determine the amount of money to be reimbursed to the builders of the Village, Les Terrasses Zorolaga.

While Bill 25 has not yet been passed into law by the Quebec National Assembly, Garneau said it was imperative that the Quebec government take over control of the Village immediately.

As of 3:30 this afternoon, when the bill was tabled in the National Assembly, the Olympic Installations Board assumed full and sole control of the entire project. It is now public property," he said.

Garneau said the main reason for the takeover of the Village was the soaring cost. The construction started at $30 million and went to $50 million and now is expected to reach $85 million. Probably with all the specialized equipment for the Games it will be over $30 million.

Garneau noted the Olympic Organizing Committee (COJO) "financed the project with $65 million invested up to now and they will probably have to invest more. So it is in the public interest since it involves public money that the government should take over the project."

He told newsmen "we hope to recover about $50 million by the takeover through the selling or renting the Village after the Games are completed."

A Quebec government committee tried to renegotiate the original contract with Les Terrasses Zorolaga but no final agreement could be reached. The Quebec government had said only last week that it would move to take over control of the Village.

Evan Dubois, director general of the Village, announced meantime that housing for the 11,000 athletes and team officials expected to attend the July Games would be ready before the official opening of the Village June 22.

He told a news conference that the apartments in the four-building complex have been completed and painted, although about 50 per cent of the units are still unfinished.

He said workers are now installing heating, electrical and plumbing systems, and about 20 per cent of the kitchen facilities have been completed.

Dolphins find Csonka's call for $2 million excessive

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphins owner Joe Robbie says the $2 million salary and fringe benefit package proposed by fullback Larry Csonka does not provide the basis for constructive negotiations.

The football star's demands for a five-year contract, submitted to Miami Coach Don Stula by Csonka's agent, Ed Keating, included a guaranteed annual salary of $250,000, a $50,000 cash signing bonus and $15,000 annual cash bonus, and a luxury automobile and furnished two-bedroom townhouse.

Robbie said Tuesday he has postponed indefinitely scheduled meeting with Csonka and Keating and added, "We remain open to future negotiations based upon our salary structure."

"We have too much respect for our players and our fans to agree to Mr. Keating's proposal or to the approach which it represents," the Dolphins' owner said in a statement.

Coach Stula and I would like to sign Larry to return to Miami if we can sign him at a salary consistent with the salary structure of the Miami Dolphins, which is the best in professional football and in all major league sports," he said.

"But Mr. Keating's proposal does not provide the basis for constructive negotiations."

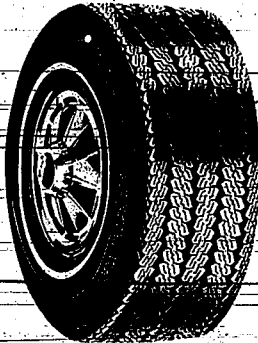

Csonka was a star fullback, jumping to the World Football League last season, with fellow Miami players Jim Kleck and Paul Warfield.

Warfield has already signed with the Cleveland Browns.

New IFMA officers

Three Twin Falls men elected to top offices in Idaho TMA

TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls men have been elected top officers in the Idaho Trail Machine Association. Steve Miller, president; Jerry Clark, vice president; and Jack Spencer, secretary-treasurer, were elected at the association's recent 12th annual convention in Rupert. According to Miller it is a custom of the association to elect its officers from a single area so that they can meet without difficulty. Last year the top officers came from Pocatello, he said. Following the election the association members worked on resolutions to establish contact with local legislators and to seek the rescission of a presidential order instructing the US Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management to complete a travel plan for public lands, limiting access of off-road vehicles. The association favors no travel plan, Miller said. In addition, the association is seeking funds for a Hagerman off-road vehicle area and is finalizing a proposed bill to change the current registration of motorcycles in the state to one of three designated categories of use: dual purpose, off-road or highway. The group also favors the rescission of Idaho's mandatory helmet law which requires motorcyclists to wear a protective helmet on any publicly-maintained road, Miller said.

Six Magic Valley groups receive commission funds

TWIN FALLS — Six Magic Valley groups are among the 40 whose applications for funding have been approved by the Idaho Commission on the Arts and Humanities. According to Arthur L. Troutner, chairman of the commission, 58 applications were received. Funds approved at a meeting in the Boise Gallery of Art last weekend total $143,154. The area groups include

Cassia County Historical Society, which received $2,000 to conduct classes in 18th century needlework techniques; and Community Children's Theatre, Twin Falls, $4,600 to take the theater to Magic Valley schools. Sage Brush artists, Gooding, received $50 to sponsor an oil painting workshop by Lee Parkinson. The Idaho Migrant Council will receive $5,000 to present Chicano theater, dance and musical groups in southern Idaho. The Dilettante group of Magic Valley received $1,900 for the Bicentennial Arts Festival scheduled July 2-4 at the College of Southern Idaho campus here. Troutner said this was the greatest number of applications ever received by the commission at a single funding.

Angry immigrant pulls switchblade

TEL-AVIV (UPI) — Airport police say a new immigrant from the Soviet Union kicked over a table, pulled a switchblade knife and charged at a government official when he learned there was no apartment or work for him in the Tel Aviv area. "I will kill you," the new arrival screamed at his first session Monday with Israeli officials, who suggested other towns where the immigrant might settle.

MEN'S PHYSICAL FITNESS

Business and industry across the country are spending millions of dollars for facilities and equipment to help their employees maintain physical fitness. The Magic Valley YMCA with its mini-gym and indoor, heated swimming pool has the facilities to help the men of the Magic Valley keep physically fit. The "Y" offers a class three times a week from 5:30 P.M. to 7:00 P.M. and plans to expand the program as more men become involved. The modest $35 per year membership fee means that a man can exercise three times a week for a whole year for 67¢ a week. The mini-gym makes it possible for a man to jog, do calisthenics, lift weights, ride an exercycle and more, and then relax in the heated swimming pool. A perfect way to close out the day and become more physically fit.

VOLLEYBALL

Though the fall and winter months the "Y" has volleyball programs for men and young couples. The men's volleyball program starts in September and is sponsored in conjunction with the Twin Falls Recreation Department. The teams are made up of from 8 to 12 players and they play once a week at Robert Stuart Jr. High School. The couples volleyball program is also organized in September and by October the teams are established. Couples interested and not on a team are most welcome. The goal of this program is to give as many couples as possible the opportunity of playing, having fun and making new friends.

Carroll Rightmyer

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Be as cheerful as possible. A smile can dissolve opposition. Extending graciousness by giving a present to one who's upset or if disturbed can certainly create a more pleasant atmosphere.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try a different approach for better results. Concentrate on some creative talent and stop being forceful with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listen to some 'and home' relationships early. Some new interest looks hopeless, but further study proves that it is not.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take an interest in personal welfare of associates. Gain goodwill—Risk taken in motion can prove expensive. Drive carefully.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Much care in handling finances is important. Please—higher-ups—who trust you. Be careful of con artists.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to light into those you think aren't doing what you want, so get yourself in hand. Help those who need it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) With perseverance, you complete tasks easily. If mate is too demanding, smile and show devotion. Don't let anyone come between you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Listen to complaints of friends, try to help instead of becoming annoyed. Don't argue at some social function.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be diplomatic with everyone and stay on the good side of bigwigs. Handle credit affairs cautiously. Let honesty be motto.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't leave situation unresolved to go to another, or you fail. Forget a new contact who promises but does nothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get out of debt to be happier. Don't argue with mate who's cantankerous. Avoid one who gets on your nerves.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Future a better understanding with partners to avoid future worry. Prepare for that civic work you committed to.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Enthusiastically finish work ahead of you. Take health measures to make you more dynamic. Get teeth fixed if needed.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she can do excellent work provided he or she is praised for it, so do not be stingy with compliments, and your progeny can reach the heights under such a course. Start the education along lines of government, big business, as the ability here is great. Make sure that religious training is good early in life and give as many cultural advantages as you can.

The "Starts" impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

what's what

L.M. Boyd

Three out of five men think they got married too young. At least, that's the situation in Vienna, where Dr. Otto Weininger devoted a couple of years to a study of the matter. His findings raised the queries: What is the best age for a man to marry? About age 30, he concluded. The fellows who marry then have a 30 percent less chance of being divorced at age 50 than the bridegrooms who do the thing at age 20.

Our Language man can't explain what causes that ailment known as "cerophobia." He only knows it's the technical term for the fear of having fun.

Remember, all those 50 species of sea snakes with flat tails are poisonous.

BALLOONS

Q. "Is hot air balloon flying a seasonal sport?"
A. Not necessarily. But the cold of winter gives the balloons a lot better lift, so that's when they get their best speeds, altitudes and distances.

Did I say nobody knows why ships always pass on the right? Wrong! Yesterday's tiller man, usually right handed, controlled that ancient steering oar to the right quarter of the ship's stern where it was most comfortable. Being on the right, therefore, he passed ships on the right where his vision was not impaired.

The brighter the person, the better chance said subject can be hypnotized. Or so concludes a University of Minnesota researcher after much study. Willinger is said to be even more significant than intelligence, however.

LINEN

In the office of the Irish Linen Guild at Belfast, Ireland, is a 5,000-year-old linen fabric, recovered in 1922 from an Egyptian tomb. The naturalists proudly point out that the synthetic fabric folk will have to wait quite a spell to produce something that will outlast that specimen.

Summer camp counselor uneasy over 'clumsiness'

By LARRY SHORT
Upland, California

I was in my first year as a counselor for junior summer camp. All during the ride up the mountains to the camp I managed to keep my nagging doubts and fears in the back of my mind. It wasn't until I was standing in the mud in a battered, eight-man tent surrounded by eight pale-faced little Indians, all listening to the rain pattering on the canvas, that I began to have second thoughts about the venture.

Yes, see, I was especially nervous because of a problem I've always had. Many people say I'm accident prone; I really don't know what to call it. It's possible I'm just clumsy.

As long as I can remember, I have been falling from ladders, bikes, skates, walls, trucks, trees and horses. I am constantly being assailed by airborne missiles, colliding with stationary objects, stepping on nails, vengeance with water balloons. I wrenched my shoulder and bruised my knee during some inhuman games I'd never had to think about, and then, to top everything off, I came down with a bad cold.

Worst of all, though, was my emotional condition. By the time I was on my knees in a frustrated exclamation, crying, "Why, Lord, why? Why pick on me?"

Then the unthinkable happened. During a particularly fast volleyball game, and with a day and a night left to go, my stomach, which was without ones I can hardly see without — were sent flying from my

Hughes still recluse in death

HOUSTON (UPI) — After years of a contradictory life of seclusion and worldwide headlines, it ends this way — Howard H. Hughes is still separated from the public he avoided.

His body lies in a corner's cold drawer at Memorial Hospital behind a plain, locked door marked simply "Pathology — Authorized Staff Only."

White officials try to deny whether there will be an autopsy and what sort of funeral arrangements will be made, police and hospital administrators are inside the pathology lab standing guard to make sure no one gets a look at the corpse of the 70-year-old billionaire.

spent the last decades of his life in other movies and photographers, protected by a security web none could get close to.

J.P. arrival reflected his wealth and life-style and he was a private jet to one of the best hospitals in the world. But then his fate was the same as anyone's — just another body

Somehow, something impelled me to say, honestly, "Thank you, Lord, I'd never done that before, but suddenly the clouds of despair were lifted and the Lord seemed to say, "Don't worry; everything will be all right!"

But executives say Hughes had a private powwow and then made a solemn announcement, addressing me by my Indian name.

AFB warns of danger on range

MOUNTAIN HOME AFB — Danger exists in the area of the Saylor Creek Gunnery Range, Mountain Home Air Force Base officials are again warning Idaho residents.

Base aircraft use only small explosive power to mark their bombing practice, but the danger still exists.

Everyday, except those people with valid grazing permits for 45 days a year, and those who are crossing the area on the Brunau over

'Humorless' Hughes part of biography

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A basic part of the Howard Hughes legend was his ability to bring the power of his wealth to bear for eccentric purposes, with single minded and humorless determination; as in the battle of the western eliche.

The Hughes men noticed me that Howard Hughes was filling a lawsuit against me. He claimed that "Draw your gun" had been stolen from the script of "The Outlaw," which Hughes produced.

As I was leaving the camp, I turned around and thought, "Wow, Lord, those people really did love me after all! My whole former outlook, seeing each new person only as a "thin"

Daughter possible witness

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Investigators say Claudine Longel's daughter may have spoken with pro ski racer Vladimir "Spitter" Sablich moments before he died of a bullet wound, a copyrighted story in The Weekly Newspaper said today.

One day, I was on the set when a delegation of Hughes attorneys arrived," Hawks said.

"In my film 'Red River,' one of the characters uttered the line, 'Draw your gun.'"

Groundwater geologists meet topic

PULLMAN, Wash. — A large groundwater reservoir in Idaho is one of the topics discussed by U.S. Geological Survey scientists attending the 72nd annual meeting of the Geological Society of America. The meeting was held this week at Washington State University in Pullman.

Groundwater geologists meet topic

According to the newspaper, Tucker has confirmed he would subpoena "Noelle" to appear at the preliminary hearing.

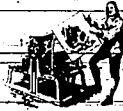

Miss Longel, former wife of singer Andy Williams, reportedly told friends the 22-coltar pistol discharged while Sablich was swinging her now to hold it. But the newspaper quoted Tucker as saying he "couldn't confirm her story."

YOU'RE PROBABLY 100% WRONG

If you think high quality printing is something only other people can afford, and if you think attractive and creative promotional ideas are something that you can only obtain in a large city at high costs and long waiting periods, you're 100% WRONG.

Ace Printing can produce those quality promotional and advertising materials that, in this time of ever-increasing competition, are more important to you than ever. So when it's time to update or create new printed communications remember that Ace Printing can produce the kind of quality printing you need, and at a price you CAN afford.

If you have a printing problem, and if you think Ace Printing can solve it for you, you're 100% RIGHT.

'Emaciated' Hughes makes last jet trip

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Two Hollywood, Fla. pilots summoned to Acapulco Monday had guessed they might be hospitalized, so they weren't surprised when the billionaire arrived in an ambulance.

The 76-year-old Hughes was "emaciated, pasty color. The beard was strangely down to the upper chest. He apparently wasn't wearing any clothes or pajamas, just a sheet over him."

Sutton and his co-pilot Jeff Abrams, flew back here Monday night after Hughes died on the flight from Acapulco to Houston.

He was taken to a hospital in Miami to pick up Hughes' doctor and then to Acapulco with a fuel stop at Key West. They knew they were flying an emergency mission for the Hughes organization, but they were not told who the patient was.

"No one told us who it would be, but from the way people were acting and the way they were talking, we sort of got the idea that it was Hughes," Abrams said.

Fund drive volunteers

Salt Lake highest since 1929

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Great Salt Lake is at its highest level since 1929 and could go up another foot by July.

Ted Arnow, district chief for water resources of the U. S. Geological Survey, said Monday the lake stood at 4,201.65 feet, an increase of 5.3 inches in March and more than one foot since the first of the year.

That's about twice the amount in 1963 when the lake was at record low levels. Arnow said the level of the rate depends primarily on the rate of evaporation.

Historically, the level goes up during the same during the cool autumn and winter months and drops with the coming of hot weather when the evaporation is greatest.

Car accident injures 2

TWIN FALLS — Two drivers suffered minor injuries Monday afternoon in a collision at the intersection of Filer Avenue East and Eastland Drive North.

City police reported Patricia Marie Malone, 19, Filer, was traveling north in the 400 block of Eastland Drive and David James Lansberry, 19, Twin Falls, was driving west on Filer Avenue.

Ladybird, Ford dedicate grove

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and Lyndon Baines Johnson's widow Ladybird walked among newly planted dogwood and pine trees on a bank of the Potomac River Tuesday and dedicated the grove as Washington's memorial to the late President.

They were joined by Mrs. Johnson's grandniece, 45-ton pink granite rock hauler from Johnson's Texas hill country and sculpted into the center of the 15-acre LBJ Memorial Grove.

She said she hoped America's children would come to the spot — where she and her husband picnicked in the final days of his Presidency — and that the trees will set people to dreaming.

Anticipated meeting cancelled by Soviets

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet officials told their Swedish counterparts today that Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is out of town and will not meet with visiting Swedish Premier Olof Palme.

Assumed he then went on vacation, possibly to his resort near Sochi on the Black Sea.

Curiosity about Brezhnev's absence first arose when he failed to attend the congress of the Bulgarian Communist party which ended last week.

Kite flying 'hazardous'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kite flying could be hazardous to your health.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission announced Monday that more than 30,000 aluminum-coated kites are being recalled because their tails, if they touch power lines, could pose a severe shock hazard.

The kites involved were marketed nationally by three San Francisco firms from 1973 to 1975.
