

In primaries, it's Jerries

By United Press International
President Ford unleashed landslides on Ronald Reagan in the Michigan and Maryland Republican primaries. Democratic front-runner Jimmy Carter lost to newcomer Edmund Brown Jr. in Maryland and squeaked past Morris Udall in Michigan.

Ford's victories Tuesday gave him a six-to-eight edge in contested primaries over the former California governor. The President's "must win" Michigan triumph was the biggest percentage victory in the GOP primaries to date.

Carter was convincingly trimmed by the young California governor in Maryland, his second loss to the one-starting candidate in two weeks. He slipped by the Arizona congressman with a tiny plurality that appeared to be the closest percentage victory in either party since the primaries began in February.

Ford led Reagan by 31 per cent in Michigan and 16 per cent in Maryland, and was exuberant over the twin victories which revived talk in the President's camp of a first ballot win at the Republican national convention.

Carter said he wasn't worried by his loss in Maryland, and paper-thin win in Michigan — where both he and Udall had 43 per cent of the vote — since he expected to collect more than 100 delegates from Tuesday's primaries.

The former Georgia governor predicted he would reach the 1,000-delegate level next week with 1,505 needed to nominate.

President Ford had campaigned vigorously in his home state of Michigan, calling it a "must win" battle, but didn't campaign at all in Maryland and won there almost easily.

"It was a wonderful victory and we want to thank all the people of Michigan and Maryland who were so kind," he told White House reporters after returning from a formal dinner.

However, Ford still trails Reagan 524 to 455 in the overall delegate race and faces an uphill fight in the six southern and western states that vote next week.

He had lost five of the past six primaries to Reagan prior to Tuesday night, when he picked up all 43 Maryland delegates and split Michigan's delegates 55 to 29 with Reagan. Brown's solid win in his presidential debut was impressive, but the "beauty contest" victory was somewhat tempered by Carter's capturing 107 delegates in Maryland and Michigan. The California governor had no delegates running.

Brown told cheering supporters in Baltimore he had come to Maryland three weeks ago and unknown and was leaving a winner. "This campaign is an uphill battle, but I'll go forward into Oregon tomorrow and ask there for help. This campaign is just beginning."

Carter, pleased by his greatest harvest of delegates, again predicted a first-ballot victory. "There is a tremendous outpouring of support for me," he said.

Carter now has 714, with 1,505 needed to nominate. Udall is a distant second in the delegate total.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who won in both Maryland and Michigan four years ago, was no factor this time. He polled only about 5 per cent of the vote in each state.

In Michigan, with 100 per cent of the state's 6,331 precincts reporting it was:

Cand.	Rep.	Per.

In Maryland, with 100 per cent of the state's 1,546 precincts reporting it was:

Ford received 43 Maryland GOP delegates.

Contract Idaho out

Idaho out

TWIN FALLS — President Gerald Ford will not visit Idaho prior to the May 23 Presidential-Preferential Primary election.

William L. Chaney, county chairman for the Ford campaign, said he has been advised by the campaign chairman for Idaho, Ray Eiguren, Boise, that Ford will not be able to include Idaho in his current campaign tour.

Chaney said Ford possibly will be in Idaho before the August primary or the November general election if nominated.

BUHL — Buhl teachers have gone to court to prevent the Buhl School Board from sending out teacher contracts for next year.

The Buhl Education Association has filed a suit in district court in Twin Falls against Buhl School District #12.

The association of teachers and its president, Brent Blackburn, are asking the court for an injunction against the school board trustees with demands they be returned within 10 days.

The teachers also want the court to order any contracts signed before an agreement is reached be considered conditional and subject to changes of the final agreement. A writ of mandamus is requested, requiring the defendants to comply with regulations of the mediation and fact-finding provisions of the professional negotiation statutes.

The complaint charges a tentative agreement was reached between teachers and the board of trustees on May 3, but the board refused to proceed on related issues, saying it had not had time to consider the teachers' proposals. Blackburn charges the board had the teachers' proposals for consideration as early as March 26.

A negotiations meeting was reportedly held Monday evening with a mediator from the Idaho Employee Council.

Drug charge pleas filed

Drug charge pleas filed

JEROME — A California couple arrested during one of the largest drug busts in the history of Idaho have pleaded innocent.

Fernanda Celeste Baldwin and her husband, Timothy Paul Baldwin, both Costa Mesa, Calif., appeared Tuesday in Philhi District Court before District Judge Theron Ward and entered pleas of innocent to the charges against them.

Timothy Baldwin has been charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance, amphetamines, and possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver.

His wife, Celeste, has been charged with possession of a controlled substance.

The Baldwins were arrested in March along with a Jerome couple, Sam and Deanna Wallace, after a raid was conducted on the Wallaces' home in Jerome. During the raid an estimated 30,000 amphetamine pills were confiscated.

Judge Ward told attorneys in the Baldwin case that they would be notified a month in advance of a trial date.

Church seeking support for spy agency harness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, today told Democrats drafting a party platform to insist on "harnessing" intelligence agencies to prevent the practices of domestic spying that was revealed by his Senate intelligence committee.

"We cannot cure this sickness in our land by simply replacing a dishonest man in the White House with an honest man, because we have one there now," Church told the third day of platform hearings being held in the Old Senate Caucus Room.

"The only way is to have the president work with the Congress in harnessing these agencies back within the reins of law," Church said.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a former presidential candidate, said the party platform should endorse a bill now before the Senate to break up big oil companies and warned that without such endorsement "this issue will come before the full convention in July."

W. Averell Harriman, former U.S. ambassador to Russia, said America should pursue détente with the Soviets but should also stand ready to counter Soviet-backed "Communist subversive action in many parts of the world."

He said such U.S. action should include covert as well as overt operations.

George W. Ball, former undersecretary of State, said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Ford have conducted the foreign policy of "summit conferences and negotiations staged with the breathlessness of tennis matches" but which have produced no lasting results.

today in brief

Egyptian-Syrian talks delayed
CAIRO (UPI) — Egyptian-Syrian fence-mending talks scheduled to open today at Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, were postponed for at least a few days, Arab diplomatic sources said.

Egyptian foreign ministry officials confirmed that the original plan for the Egyptian delegation led by Premier Mamdouh Salim to fly to Riyadh around noon were canceled. But they declined to give any immediate explanation.

Lebanese militia keep on fighting
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Leftist and right-wing militias battled on several fronts with machine guns and heavy artillery today, ignoring a cease-fire announced by a Lebanese right-wing radio station.

The radio station of the Phalangist party said both leftist and rightist groups had agreed to the truce—the 31st in 13 months of civil war—with particular emphasis on an end to the use of artillery and cannon fire.

But leftist broadcasts did not mention any cease-fire agreement, indicating they had rejected the idea of a truce at this time.

Arab, Jewish students clash
JERUSALEM (UPI) — Arab and Jewish students battled with sticks, rocks and fists on the main campus of Hebrew University today in the fourth consecutive day of unrest in Jerusalem and the West Bank.

Three Arab students, two Jewish students and a first aid nurse were injured in the clash, which took place only a short walk from Israel's parliament building in Jerusalem.

The confrontation began when about 150 Arab students began demonstrating on the grassy knoll of the university's Givat Ram campus to protest the slaying of three Arabs in their first three days of the disturbances.

Girl quads listed 'pretty good'
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Quadruplet girls, born more than three months premature and each weighing less than two pounds at birth, were in "pretty good shape" today but still listed in critical condition at Children's Hospital.

The quadruplets were born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Meyers of East St. Louis, Ill., at Christian Welfare Hospital in East St. Louis, then rushed to the newborn care unit at Children's Hospital about an hour later.

"Bill Kennan, director of community relations at the hospital, said two of the girls were having breathing problems."

Seeks calm

FRENCH President Valery Giscard d'Estaing told a joint session of Congress Tuesday France is a loyal NATO ally and Americans should not fear "polling grounds" by Communists in Western Europe. In the evening, Giscard was host to President Ford at a dinner at the French Embassy. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany today issued a stinging attack against those people — many of them in the labor movement — who oppose busing as a means of school desegregation.

"Busing is not the issue," Meany declared. "The issue is quality education."

"The big, bad buses have improved the quality of education for millions, and there isn't the slightest reason to pretend, suddenly that school busing is somehow in itself harmful or undemocratic."

Meany recently has squelched efforts by AFL-CIO members in Boston and Louisville to threaten away from the federation's position favoring busing. But he had not previously issued such a strong defense of busing.

His statement was filmed for presentation at a Justice Department sponsored conference on "Desegregation Without Turmoil." It followed the administration's decision to intervene in a Boston school desegregation case before the Supreme Court.

"Fear caused the outbreaks of violence that have characterized every reactionary attack on desegregation from Little Rock to Louisville and Boston," Meany said. "Fear of the unknown."

"Fear on the part of people that they are somehow in some way being pushed around again. Fear that others are gaining an unfair advantage. Fear arising from ignorance and misunderstanding."

"Fear exploited and inflamed by those who seek power positions for themselves and who are willing to destroy communities as long as they end up controlling the wreckage."

Meany insisted the "facts prove that busing is not the issue." He noted that more than 40 per cent of the nation's children ride buses to school, only 3 per cent under court order.

"Ideally that child ought to be able to get quality education in a neighborhood school," he said. "But if the community refuses, if a federal judge finds the Constitution is being violated and orders busing as the only way to obtain that quality education—then there must be busing."

T-N probes land security for $900,000 Sierra loan

(Editor's note: In late 1974 a California firm bought controlling interest in Sierra Life Insurance Co. of Twin Falls. Sierra loaned the buyers the $900,000 required for the stock purchase. This story examines the value of the Sierra accepted as security for the loan.)

By BILL LARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Late in the afternoon of June 3, 1975, a California firm went to the Riverside County, Calif., records office and officially recorded its purchase of some land.

The recorded price was $169,000.

But within an hour the same piece of property also was on record at the county office as securing a $900,000 debt to Sierra Life Insurance Co., Twin Falls.

$169,000 price of the land because Sierra earlier had loaned $169,000 to the California firm to buy it.

Even so, Sierra claimed the land was worth over $1.3 million — eight times as much as its recorded sale price.

One striking characteristic of the 140-acre parcel is that it is partly covered with sand dunes.

At one place a retaining wall prevents the dunes from spilling out onto adjacent property.

Second of a series

Several states have questioned Sierra's investments. Also a recent multi-state examination reportedly found about one-third of Sierra's assets to be unacceptable for an insurance company.

There is some reason to question the high value Sierra assigned to the sandy property near Palm Desert, Calif.

A California court-appointed appraiser determined its value before the sale to be about $1,100 per acre, which equals $154,000 for the 140 acres. That is less than one-eighth of Sierra's estimate.

The Riverside County assessor placed the full value of the property at $183,000, less than one-seventh of Sierra's estimate.

An appraiser for the Idaho State Department of Insurance later found the value to be $282,000, less than one-fifth of Sierra's claim.

A joint Idaho-Utah insurance examination of Sierra concluded early in 1977 found the property unacceptable to back the $900,000 loan, and refused to accept Sierra's mortgage as a Sierra asset.

Since then, however, Idaho officially changed its position, but Utah has issued a report to other states in which Sierra does business. The Utah report reportedly contains most of the original joint examination's findings, including the claim that about $6 million, or about one-third of Sierra's assets at the end of 1974 were unacceptable for an insurance company.

Of the other hand, Sierra's position on the value of the Palm Desert land has been supported by two Sierra appraisers and officially by the State of Idaho.

One appraiser hired by Sierra judged the land to be worth $1.3 million in its present condition. Another Sierra appraiser valued it at $1.4 million.

Sierra's appraisers reportedly used a "land development approach to value" in reaching their estimates, according to an Idaho State report.

"They figured how much the still undeveloped land would be worth once fully developed, then subtracted the cost and profits of development to arrive at the land's present value."

It was a different method than the one used by the state and court appointed appraisers, who considered what similar land was selling for at the time as the basis for determining value.

The Sierra view also received important backing from a hearing officer for the Idaho Department of Insurance who sided with Sierra against the Idaho and Utah Insurance

Chinese executions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diplomatic sources said today they have received reports that "two and possibly three" executions have taken place as an aftermath of last month's disturbances in Peking.

The sources said the executions and other punishments inflicted on persons involved in the riot in Tiananmen Square apparently started a process of controlled upheaval that is continuing.

But these sources expressed doubt the turmoil would reach the proportions of "The Cultural Revolution" which nearly paralyzed China in the late 1960s.

According to reports quoted by the diplomatic sources, two or three persons were executed by firing squad in Peking for their parts in the battles that took place April 5. The reports are based on wall posters seen by travelers in cities outside the capital. The posters also said that 10 people have been given sentences of up to 30 years "re-education through manual labor."

Observers noted that the execution reports coincide with an intensive campaign in the Chinese press calling for a "protracted and repeated struggle against the capitalist roadsters."

Teng Hsiao-peng, ousted as the acting prime minister in the aftermath of Chou en-Lai's death, is now an official villain, accused of various crimes, including siding with the Soviet Union, trying to usurp Mao Tse-tung's power, and trying to restore capitalism to China.

The Chinese press campaign talked of Teng and his followers giving rise to the belief that others will follow him into disgrace. The Chinese press gave no hint about Teng's personal welfare.

Gem dental practice law upheld by state court

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Dental Practices act has been upheld by the state's Supreme Court despite claims that it creates a monopoly for dentists.

members and the state of Idaho, challenging the constitutionality of the Idaho Dental Practices Act.

The technicians challenged the act in four respects charging it denied them a fundamental right to practice their profession. The court said this point had been previously argued with three Supreme Court rulings contrary to the plaintiffs' contentions.

Secondly, the plaintiffs felt the act was discriminatory in that it creates a monopoly in dentists for work on dental prosthetic appliances. The court admitted the act excludes dental technicians from work which requires "presence, aid and assistance or cooperation of the wearer" of the prosthetic device, but said such discrimination was not unreasonable.

Thirdly, the case alleged the act was vague and overly broad. On this point, the court held whatever ambiguity may exist in the statute was clarified by previous court rulings which provide "adequate and complete guidance" as to conduct permitted by the act.

In dismissing the suit, the high court pointed out none of the parties to the suit is involved in or threatened by prosecution, saying the fourth point—that of unjustified fines or imprisonment, is therefore not applicable.

Typhoon sweeps on

MANILA, The Philippines (UPI) — Typhoon Olga, with center winds of 75 miles per hour, blanketed wide areas of the main Philippine island of Luzon with heavy rains today and caused flash floods in populous metropolitan Manila.

Olga hovered in the Pacific about 200 miles east northeast of Manila before moving on a west-northwest track toward the coconut-producing coastal province of Quezon.

The Manila weather bureau said that at its present course Olga, the fourth storm to hit the Philippines this year, was expected to hit land by Thursday morning.

Wide sections of Luzon, including the Manila area, have been placed on a typhoon alert with weathermen expecting winds of up to 100 miles an hour.

Low-lying sections of the city were under water as heavy rains began to whip Manila, halting traffic during the afternoon rush hour.

'Whiz kids' back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has changed its office of Program Analysis and Evaluation back to a small group similar to former Secretary Robert S. McNamara's original "Whiz Kids."

The "Whiz Kids" were a McNamara effort to apply business practices to the Pentagon — a group of thinkers with independence to look carefully at the whole military bureaucracy. It was called "systems analysis" then and incurred the wrath of many career military people and much of Congress.

Party nomination fights remain unsettled

By STEVE GERSTEL
By United Press International

It was a big night for President Ford and Jerry Brown but a threatening one for Jimmy Carter.

Ford got a landslide in his "must win" primary in Michigan and rescued his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Maryland was a bonus.

Carter, who two weeks ago appeared on the verge of locking up the Democratic nomination, barely managed to win in Michigan and just Maryland.

But the twin-Michigan-Maryland primaries, pivotal as they were, fell far short of settling the Democratic and Republican presidential races.

Although it was Ronald Reagan's "worst day" in May, the former California governor still leads Ford in the number of pledged delegates and the rest of the states along the primary trail look more promising for him.

Whatever momentum Ford drew from his "wonderful victory" will be sorely needed next week when he has to go against Reagan in the border states of Arkansas, Tennessee and West Virginia and Oregon, Nevada and Idaho.

The grand finale, which could well decide the nomination, is in Reagan's home state of California.

The results from Michigan and Maryland must have been unsettling for Carter despite his claim he is ahead of schedule and will climb past 1,000 delegates next week.

The Georgian's loss to Brown in Maryland, his surprisingly close win over Morris Udall in Michigan, and his defeat at the hands of Idaho's Frank Church last week in Nebraska has added a new dimension to the Democratic race.

Capital city goes goofy every quadrennium

Bad judgment at a senior party

A young Twin Falls man was killed Sunday when struck on the head with a baseball bat at a high school party.

The assailant of Terry Brannon is charged with murder.

According to police reports, about 100 young people watched the brawl between Brannon and Vic Keen.

In fact, the bystanders actually watched two rounds of fighting between the young men.

Later, after being released, Keen returned to the party where a second, fatal confrontation occurred with Brannon.

What seems difficult to understand about the death of Terry Brannon is why no one managed to sidetrack the little between two young men before their passionate confrontation took human life.

Brannon and Keen apparently were a pair of tough guys who had too much to drink.

Perhaps the western ethic of not meddling with other people's affairs took hold.

Today, everyone who attended that party remembers it. For the 100 young people who witnessed the death of Terry Brannon the next few weeks will include much soul searching over why nothing was done to stop the battle.

Observers of the fight are guilty of no crime. But precious little good sense was shown that Sunday where uninvited guests at a private party fought two fights in the same evening with little done to stop them.

Other seniors will duplicate the party scene at Bull during the upcoming graduation week.

Parents and teenagers need to examine the events which led to the death of Terry Brannon.

Were the hard words exchanged between the two fights really serious enough to result in an end to human life?

Tough, macho talk seems to be a big part of many young people's lives these days.

When this tough stuff mixes with a fuzziness over what is right and wrong, the result can be a traffic fatality caused by a young drinker behind the wheel.

Heroin epidemic worsens

Imagine a world with heroin in the role of alcohol and tobacco today. That long-range possibility is one of the grim reasons behind President Ford's welcome call for sterner legal measures against the "national tragedy" of drug abuse.

Mr. Ford's message to Congress on drug comes after his top drug specialist's comment earlier this month on a United States heroin "epidemic" that has revived after a downturn a few years ago.

What happened in the 16th century with the introduction of tobacco into the world and what happened with the introduction of distilled spirits in the 17th century is the kind of global drug-use phenomenon that we're seeing now with other drugs.

It is an ominous prospect, and not only the U.S. needs to work against the present activities that could help to bring it to pass.

On behalf of the Twin Falls Chapter of the American Field Service Exchange Program, I would like to thank everyone who helped make our recent 90-hour broadcasting marathon such a tremendous success.

Appreciation for marathon

Thanks, also, to Emmett Harrison and his fine crew at The Motor. Their extra effort and generosity helped us top our $1,000 goal.

This money will now be given to Pat Daphnelley and Janet Burkhardt to help defray expenses in their up-coming experiences as AFS Exchange Students.

As Mr. Green's family and friends we would like to thank Mr. Williams. Most people unless they are personally involved, would not go to the trouble of making a public statement as he did.

Thoughts for today

"Empires built on force will always be destroyed. Those built on trust in Christ will remain."

The Democratic National Committee, normally calm, it has been getting the final figures from all the primary elections held so far and feeding them into its computer along with its best estimates of the primaries to come.

It knows precisely what do about bandwagons (get aboard) or sinking ships (get overboard) but right now it's in a state of subdued confusion.

Nobody is in his normal place. Jimmy Carter is beginning to make presidential speeches on the control of nuclear energy at the United Nations, and paying courtesy calls on George Meany at the AFL-CIO.

And if he lacks all challengers in the next month, he will have at least 1360 votes at the bell, and turn it into a Garden Party with balloons on the first ballot.

Edward Bennett Williams, who is a big chess at the Democratic National Committee as well as the presiding genius of the Washington Redskins professional football team, thinks that it is first down for Carter on the 18-yard line and that we Jimmy should make it if he doesn't fumble.

It is unlikely characters seem to be thinking along the same lines. Yuri Zhukov, the master's voice of Pravda, "Truth" in Moscow has suddenly appeared in Washington, wondering amiably about Carter and his experience on nuclear submarines, and the beliefs, of the Southern Baptist. All the big embassies are now trying to get a handle on Carter, who is in trouble here, because nobody has a handle on him, but when the embassies call, he is always out to lunch.

The Republicans are in worse confusion: They have peace, a rising prosperity, and the Presidency, but seem determined to throw them away, and are obsessed with Panama, Kissinger and Michigan. It is hard to avoid the suspicion that their strategy has been devised by Jimmy Carter and the Democrats.

Even in the present confusion here, the serious speculation is bewildering. Suddenly, the Michigan primary is being discussed as a greater threat to Ford than Carter or Brezhnev.

He was dumped by Ford and Ford's vice presidential running-mate this year, though Rockefeller was allowed to give the appearance that he jumped. But now Rockefeller controls more than 100 New York state delegates to the Republican nomination convention, which Ford may very well need to defeat the Reagan challenge.

A few weeks ago, it seemed that the Democrats were in a pickle and would have to settle it among the brokers under the Madison Square Garden platform after a few indecisive ballots.

Now the Republicans are talking about a brokered convention between Ford and Reagan -- and if they knock each other off, between Rockefeller, with his New York swing vote, and Connally.

If this sounds crazy, it probably is. For the guess here is that both the President and Carter will be nominated, regardless of what happens in Maryland, Michigan, California and the other remaining primaries -- but Washington is obsessed by the contradictory signals it is getting from the voters, and haunted by the unpredictable accidents that have staggered this city in the last few years.

It can believe in anything now, no matter how goofy, and for the moment it is doing precisely that.

Letters In defense of federal salaries

Editor, Times-News: It is amazing how well your editorial on April 29 (Publicizing discouraging) applies to your editorial on April 18 (Cutting federal salaries).

On the 20th you observed that the public was apparently "too lazy to find the real facts on the issue" of the Child and Family Services Act.

You said that according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average government employee in Washington D.C. earns $17,000 a year.

The principal basis in Washington is federal government. Does your average include salaries of Congressmen, their staffs, cabinet officers and their staffs: the President and his staff?

Do government workers have shorter hours than private workers? I thought the 40-hour week was more or less standard.

Well, I would be required to at least have the responsibility of keeping him out or disposing of him but our stockmen call in the government to have them slaughtered by plane or helicopter.

Approximately 3,000 coyotes have been destroyed from the Burley area down through Arco.

I certainly would like to blame all my infertilities as a farmer on the coyote, like the sheepmen do.

Man does not seem to realize that by destroying the coyote he upsets the balance of nature and soon we may again be overrun with rules and rabbits, eating all our crops.

If the sheepmen and the trappers cannot make it without destroying everything on earth, maybe they should try some other line of endeavor.

Yes, I have been called a troublemaker and criticized by many because I have the intestinal fortitude to stand up for what I believe is right.

Wait until they come and take our guns away from us. For I hope you don't believe for a minute they're going to quit trying 'til they get the job done.

No I will never be a "mamby pambly" who sits on a fence like an old hen and is afraid to say anything because I might lay an egg like so many of you.

Probe of TF 'powers' need

Why the future? If they can't uphold their rights and regulations now, how can we expect justice in the future?

As Mr. Green's family and friends we would like to thank Mr. Williams. Most people unless they are personally involved, would not go to the trouble of making a public statement as he did.

We feel the City of Twin Falls needs a complete investigation of the "Powers" (as Mr. George put it) running it.

Thoughts for today

It is a long way from the 1972 Michigan primary, he will not only be hurt, which is true, but will lose the nomination and may even quit, which is ridiculous.

Yes this is the gossip of Washington these days, and it is more than gossip. For as Ford declines and Reagan advances, there is actually serious talk here that Rockefeller and Connally will then challenge both Ford and Reagan for the Republican nomination.

Rockefeller's position is particularly ironic. He was dumped by Ford and Ford's vice presidential running-mate this year, though Rockefeller was allowed to give the appearance that he jumped.

But now Rockefeller controls more than 100 New York state delegates to the Republican nomination convention, which Ford may very well need to defeat the Reagan challenge.

Experts say Hughes 'will' good forgery

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The only Howard Hughes "will" taken seriously is a well-executed forgery, according to a former FBI handwriting expert working for opponents of the document. A Los Angeles report said authorities have a clue to the forger's identity.

The document may be withdrawn by its own sponsors. "It was a good forgery, as forgeries go," said Lyndal Shaneyfelt, who examined the document for the Summa Corp., the holding company that controls most of Hughes' $2.5 billion fortune.

Top Summa executives are trying to discredit the document, which names former Hughes' aide Noah Dietrich as executor, putting him in control of Summa.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the actual author has been found. The newspaper quoted "a source close to the investigation of the document's mysterious origin," saying there was no indication what the forger was.

The "will," discovered on a desk in a Mormon church headquarters, is regarded as the likeliest to be authentic of the 17 which have appeared — most of them clearly fraudulent or the work of pranksters.

"The will is a forgery and was not prepared by Howard Hughes," Shaneyfelt said Tuesday after examining the handwritten, three-page document for two days, comparing it to court-certified examples of Hughes' writing.

The documents shows signs of careful preparation, he said. "There was a considerable attempt to copy his writing. There is no question that the people who prepared this will had adequate samples of his handwriting in order to copy the letter form," Shaneyfelt said.

Shaneyfelt, of Alexandria, Va., who worked for the FBI from 1940 to 1975, also identified the document may contain clues to the identity of a possible forger.

"Once I established it was a forgery, their my concentration was on finding any evidence that would lead to the perpetrator," he said. "There are some matters I feel need further investigation," he said, without explaining.

Harold Rhodes, attorney for Dietrich, indicated Dietrich may withdraw the will from consideration by the probate court unless more support for its authenticity can be found.

Of the two handwriting analysts hired by Dietrich to date, one said the will was genuine, and the other said it was probably a fake.

Guests of honor

NEW YORK (UPI) Queen Margrethe and Prince Henrik of Denmark were guests of honor Tuesday night at one of the biggest cultural events of the season — the opening night of the Royal Danish Ballet at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The evening was sponsored by the American-Scandinavian Foundation, whose headquarters the royal couple visited earlier in the day.

Ehrlichman appeals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Ehrlichman remains free while his appeals are handled in prison and perjury convictions stemming from his days as a presidential aide to Richard Nixon.

Ehrlichman faces a 20-month to five-year sentence for his conviction of authorizing the September, 1971, break-in at the home of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Ellsberg had feared trial for disclosing classified Pentagon documents detailing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The U.S. Court of Appeals Monday affirmed Ehrlichman's conviction for violating the psychiatrist's civil rights and lying to a grand jury investigating the case.

Golda arrives

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir arrived Tuesday night for a visit that will include fund-raising speeches and a meeting with President Ford.

Ms. Meir arrived at Kennedy International Airport aboard an El Al flight and was escorted by State Department officials to a limousine under tight security.

Wine gift

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Abraham Beame presented a gift to New York City to Mayor Hans Koschek of Bremen, West Germany, which in turn gave Beame a bottle of rare, 29-year-old Rhineland wine Tuesday.

"This is too good to drink," Beame said as Koschek handed him the small bottle of Apostelwein, a wine bottled in the Rhine community of Rudesheimer in 1727. The bottle was among 200 found recently in the wine cellar under Rudesheimer's city hall.

It tastes like a real good sherry," Koschek told Beame.

Glenn inducted

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — John Glenn, the first American to orbit earth, will be among eight pioneers of aviation inducted into the Aviation Hall of Fame July.

Idaho water director's powers bring protests

BOISE (UPI) — Protests were registered about the power given the director of the Department of Water Resources and the suggestions for minimum stream flow in the proposed state water plan at a public hearing of the Idaho Water Resource Board Tuesday.

Robert J. O'Connor, senior vice president of Idaho Power Co., said the authority the plan would give the department head to determine the "public interest" in regard to water use "could lead to possible abuses."

Sheri Chapman, executive director of the Idaho Water Users Association, said the power could make the director a "dictator" who would be difficult to challenge.

Dr. Lee Stokes, head of the division of environment, opened the concerns about minimum stream flow in his testimony.

He said the proposed plan fails to specify adequate flows for the main stem of the Snake River. "This is a serious fault of the plan."

O'Connor said that minimum stream flow is a problem directly related to summertime Snake River flows which he said "should be augmented by in-stream and off-stream storage wherever practical, paid for by those requesting it and those who derive the benefits therefrom."

He said that upstream storage "should be given a high priority" to provide a program for the augmentation of summer flows.

Sheri Chapman, executive director of the Idaho Water Users Association, said, "the association has established a firm position with regard to minimum stream flow legislation."

He said "within the Snake River Basin agriculture should remain the priority consumer of water."

Legislation should recognize existing water rights, restrict the source of water to construction of new storage or the purchase of existing stored waters and have legislative approval of the water right, he said.

Terry Holubetz, representing the Idaho Department of Fish and Game, said "the lack of stream maintenance flow requirements in the Murphy-Weiser reach of the Snake River could be crucial, both to resident and migratory species of fish and wildlife."

He said the department is concerned that reduced flows below Hells Canyon Dam on the Snake River "could seriously impair" efforts to reestablish spring chinook and summer steel head runs.

In further comments, the Idaho Water Users Association endorsed alternative C of the water plan as "the best plan available for allocation of the available and unappropriated water of the Snake River Basin."

Chapman said it "provides for the continued development of agricultural land in the amount of 1,200,000 acres by the year 2020.

We feel that this is the minimum amount of land that should be developed in order to retain Idaho's share of the national and international markets."

Idaho Power Company opposed as "completely unnecessary" the designation of more river miles as natural and recreational.

O'Connor also said provisions for management, planning and investigation in some aspects of water and energy uses would "duplicate" the efforts of public and private agencies and power interests.

Soviet threat

BOISE (UPI) — Jeff Seward told a meeting of the Boise Press Club Tuesday that China "isn't" concerned about the United States" but "regards the Soviet Union as the threat" to its future.

Seward, a reporter at KALD TV in Boise, recently returned from a tour in China.

Battening to the Chinese press, Seward said he "didn't read a single full article about the United States" while in China.

He said U.S. coverage of the country "differs from reality" in that it is oriented from the point of view of the Chinese who view their country "developing" capitalistic, imperialistic trends they attribute to the Soviet Union.

Seward said that in reality China is developing along socialist lines to "create an egalitarian society."

Grants favored

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Second district congressional candidate Kelly Pearce told a group of Idaho Falls educators Tuesday that the federal government should "loosen the purse strings" and issue block grants-in-aid to education.

Pearce said education in many smaller districts is hampered by federal strings and control should be returned to the state and local educational systems.

The Democrat said it would "be much easier to communicate with Boise, rather than some out-of-state regional office or Washington, D. C. to determine the use of educational money."

Evasion plea filed

BOISE (UPI) — Kenneth L. Clark, owner of Kenyu's Korner, Boise, has pleaded guilty to attempted evasion of a portion of his federal income taxes for 1971, the U.S. attorney's office reported today.

Federal Judge Ray McNichols ordered a pre-sentence investigation and released Clark on his own recognizance, directing he appear for sentencing June 14.

Clark previously was indicted for attempted tax evasion for the years 1969, 1970 and 1971 and for signing false corporation-income tax returns for fiscal years ending July 31, 1969; July 31, 1970, and July 31, 1971.

Assistant-U.S. Attorney Wilbur Nelson indicated the government will move to dismiss the other charges.

Blaze erupts

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Fire broke out anew Tuesday in the smoldering rubble of a week-old, multimillion dollar blaze that destroyed portions of a potato processing complex at the J. R. Sniplot Co.

Sniplot firefighters, however, controlled the flare-up in a 10-foot square area, the Caldwell Fire Department reported.

Hike asked

BOISE (UPI) — Boise Water Corp. has asked the Public Utilities Commission for a 54.89 per cent rate increase, saying it will reduce services if the boost isn't approved.

In addition, the water company asked the PUC to grant it a 18.7 per cent inflation rate hike while the commission considers the full boost.

Bill drops US quotas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClure co-sponsored the Anti-Discrimination Act of 1976 today that would not require employers to hire solely on the basis of race to meet federal quotas.

"This bill will end the requirement placed on employers to meet racial quotas, goals, or timetables in their hiring practices," McClure said.

McClure said his office has received complaints from Idahoans who believed they were discriminated against in reverse.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I just read in a local newspaper that a clergyman urges a ban on babies attending church. After what happened at our church last Sunday, I have to agree with him.

Today, parents dress up their kids real cute and take them to church to show them off, but they don't discipline them.

One little girl about 18 months old did everything but swing from the chandelier, and all her mother did was "shush" her by putting her fingers to her lips. Her brother (about 8) kept stirring her up by poking her, and the mother just gave him a few dirty looks.

Another child sitting behind me kept trying to grab off my earrings. When I turned around and glared, her mother just smiled. At one point, when announcements were made over the loudspeaker, there was so much commotion from kids yelling that no one could hear the announcements.

Gem woman 'hopping mad'

The minister was disgusted, but he didn't have the courage to say anything. He should have told the mothers of those unruly children to take them to the bathroom and give them a good learning experience!

What do you think? I am ...

HOPPING MAD IN POCATELLO, IDAHO

DEAR HOPPING: I think you're right. Parents who love their children discipline them. And contrary to common belief, "to discipline" does not mean "to punish." It means "to teach."

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a garage, and I keep his books and send out the bills.

There is a woman who lives near us who has owed us a bill for over a year. I send her one on the first of the month (a year ago), but she ignores it.

My husband told me not to send her any more bills and just to forget it. When I ask him why, he tells me to mind my own business. She works and so does her husband, so they can't be hard up.

Why do you suppose he doesn't send her a bill?

SILENT PARTNER

DEAR SILENT: Maybe she paid him. In cash.

DEAR ABBY: Ra-a man who wears one earring: If he wears it on his left ear, it means he's available, or "looking." On his right ear, means he's taken. (This is the straight dope for gay men.)

WEAR ONE ON MY LEFT

DEAR WEARS ONE: I believe that's the significance of wearing a flower over one ear. (This is the straight dope for straight girls. Am I right, Hawaii?)

DEAR ABBY: A woman in Montana wrote asking you why her husband had his left ear pierced so he could wear a tiny gold earring in it, and you said you didn't know, but you did ask.

Well, I know why I wear a little gold earring in one ear. (It happens to be my right ear, however.) It's to show people that I am "holier" than they.

TF men join med classes

TWIN FALLS — Steve Olmstead and Joe Davis, both Twin Falls, are in the first class to complete a full year of medical school on the University of Idaho campus.

Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Davis and Olmstead's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olmstead. In the Washington, Alaska, Montana, Idaho and WYAMI regional medical education program, students are accepted at the University of Washington Medical School, then spend their first year at the designated university in their own state. They then transfer to complete their training.

Olmstead and Davis say they think WAMI has some distinctive strengths, primarily the small classes at the University of Idaho — 20 versus 120 at UW — and the corresponding individual attention of the professors. Olmstead, who received both his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and his master's in biomedical engineering from the University of Arizona, says he thinks medicine in general is a great field.

Both Olmstead and Davis plan to enter family medicine. Olmstead says he plans to be placed first and second in the state detailing the benefits of free enterprise and were presented awards from Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Currently on a U.S. Air Force scholarship, Davis has a commitment to military service immediately following graduation, but plans to return to the Northwest. Davis has a pathology clerkship this summer at Harbor View Hospital in Seattle.

Most avoided polls in TF school election

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school district incumbent board members were elected Tuesday with few votes, but elsewhere in the county the interest was greater with write-in candidates winning two seats.

Only 98 votes were cast in the Twin Falls school election.

The Kimberly and Hansen special override tax levies which were on the ballot along with the trustee contests both passed by wide margins.

Kimberly school district voters approved a 6-mill override levy by a six-to-one margin. Votes for the levy, requested to meet inflationary costs and buy textbooks, totaled 181, while 30 voters opposed the measure.

Hansen voters responded to their 3-mill override proposal with nearly the same enthusiasm.

Those voting for the plant facilities measure totaled 98, while 29 persons opposed the measure.

Turnouts for the tax levies were generally far greater than turnouts for the trustee elections.

In Twin Falls district 411 only about one-half of one per cent of qualified electors turned out to reelect the two incumbents.

In Twin Falls Zone 1 incumbent Richard Ryall, running unopposed, was re-elected to a three-year term with 21 votes. There were no write-ins.

In Twin Falls Zone 2, incumbent Byron Snyder received 69 votes to retain his seat for another two-years. Gary Custer, who opposed Snyder, received only 17 votes. Neither candidate faced write-in opposition.

While Twin Falls candidates faced no write-in opposition, write-in candidates in Kimberly elections captured both seats. The success of the write-ins may have been contributed to by the fact that neither of the Kimberly incumbents sought re-election.

In Kimberly Zone 2 write-in candidate J. Hamilton Smith received 31 votes to win handily over Thomas Davis, who received 27 votes. Walter Slaughter, who received 16 votes, and Larry Wooten, who also received 16 votes. The incumbent in that seat had been Jack Calhoun.

In Kimberly Zone 3, write-in candidate William Lyda defeated Robble Collins, who has been running unopposed. Collins received 17 votes to the 25 write-ins garnered by Lyda. A single write-in was cast for Ken Urfe. The incumbent in the Zone 3 seat had been Holland Houffour.

In the Hansen school district Virgil Pace received 52 votes to defeat George Peters for the single open seat. Peters received only 11 votes. The incumbent in that seat, Ted Crockett, did not seek re-election.

In Buhl, trustee George Atkins, running unopposed, received 10 of the 12 votes cast to retain his seat. The only seat up for election. The other two votes, both write-in, were received by George Stiegemeier.

Castleford Zone 4 voters turned out in good numbers to give John Enns, the winning 70 votes. Ken Tverdy received 29 votes. In the Castleford Zone 5 race John Colburn, running unopposed, received 40 votes to win. Four write-in votes were cast for G. D. Clark.

In Murtaugh, Miriam Alfred, running unopposed for the seat once held by her late husband, won with six votes. One write-in was recorded for Bill Nebeker. A second Murtaugh seat was captured by Allen Cummings with 52 votes. His opponent Joffre Jensen, a write-in candidate, received 12 votes.

Flier district voters cast 21 votes for incumbent Everett Andrews to assure him of another term in his Zone 2 seat. No other Flier seats were open.

TF schools set 'input' meet

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school district 411 will hold a citizens meeting Thursday to gather input on its proposed "citizens task force" building program.

The central question to be aired at the meeting will be whether the district should hold a bond election to construct a new junior high school.

School board members have discussed the construction of a new junior high for several months in view of the deterioration of Vera C. O'Leary Junior High. The Thursday meeting is being held in part to gauge public reaction to a bond issue to fund a new junior high.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at O'Leary. It is open to the public, and school board members have urged all those interested to attend.

According to board chairman Howard Ronk, the Thursday meeting will be the first of several to clear the way for construction or to provide an alternative to a new junior high.

Ronk said the meeting will cover not only the proposed junior high but the direction the school district should take in its overall building program as well.

"We are not going to dictate to this (citizens) committee, we want them to tell us," Ronk said.

"One of the worst things we have to fight is citizen apathy," he added.

Death probe continues

BUHL — Three deputy sheriffs and an assistant county prosecuting attorney were questioning Buhl high school students today in an attempt to gain some information regarding the baseball bat slaying Sunday night of Terry Brannon, 22, Twin Falls.

Sheriff Paul Cordeiro said there are a lot of "whys" and "whens" he hopes to gain answers to. School officials, he said, are cooperating by making students, who witnessed a beating of Brannon, available for individual questioning by officers.

Sheriff Cordeiro said he would like to know if witnesses say only the victim and Victor Keen, 26, engaged in the fight and if others attending the high school graduation party stood by and allowed the fight to progress—or if someone stopped the fight.

Cordeiro said he and other officers have heard various reports which must be checked out. Keen is being held in the county jail without bond, charged with first degree murder. An arraignment will continue in Magistrate Court as soon as an attorney has been employed or appointed for Keen.

Brannon died about 7 a.m. Monday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of head injuries which County Coroner Joyce Edwards said were apparently inflicted with a blunt instrument.

Sheriff Cordeiro said the two adults may have crashed the high school graduation party on the Fred Knippes farm southwest of Buhl. The party was held immediately after graduation Sunday night. Cordeiro said about 200 persons attended the party and some 100 probably witnessed the fatal encounter.

Cordeiro said he believed most of the students gathered around five beer kegs and probably a camp fire. He said he believes the fight which allegedly occurred between Brannon and Keen occurred in this general area.

F&G reverses philosophy

BURLEY — The Idaho Department of Fish and Game has reversed its philosophy of game management after years of criticism from hunters.

The department has turned to shorter seasons on some game animals and also has turned to male-only hunts.

Department officials bristled at the public hearing Tuesday night at a public hearing here. They said recommendations to the Fish and Game Commission include bulls-only hunting on elk this year and bucks-only for much of the mule deer season.

George DeLong, Paul, expressed the opinion of many present when he said, "We asked for bucks only 20 years ago."

DeLong would like to see a step further, setting a closure on deer and elk for a year in some units.

Gary Will, Region 4 game manager, agreed that high harvest in the 1960s left too few deer in the west, but he added that there has been a major decline in mule deer even where hunting was closed or limited. He said officials have been unable to determine the reason.

"The decision to restrict hunting this year was made by the Fish and Game director contrary to recommendations of the staff, still supporting optimum hunter harvest."

In his letter to the commission, the director said there are fewer elk and mule deer herds than in 1970 and the either sex hunt should be modified or eliminated. He said elk are not causing the deterioration of their habitat and heavy harvests have not helped production while hunters are becoming more efficient.

He called for a one-year restriction "with the comprehensive management plans are developed by unit for land management and range protection. Among the recommendations is the complete closure of units 45 and 52.

The proposals call for elimination of post-season deer hunts, a statewide bulls only elk status and maintains the multiple-bear tags in units 10, 12 and 15. For the first time the regulations would require readily discernible male parts on the animal, as well as the horns accompanying it.

The long-range management plan is aimed at a 15-year period to increase the deer population in Region 4 by 30 per cent and the elk by 50 per cent.

Upland bird season openings would be Oct. 23 on pheasants; Sept. 18 on quails, chukars, forest grouse, sage grouse and sharp-shinned grouse and Sept. 1 on mourning doves and rabbits.

The only change in black bear hunting would be in Unit 45, which was open year-round. The season in 44 and 45 would be Sept. 4 to May 31 in units 48 and 49 would be Sept. 29 to May 31.

The non-consumptive hunting of mountain lions would be eliminated. Dogs would be allowed on hunts when there is no big game season.

The lion season would open Sept. 4, running to Nov. 7 in Unit 43, Oct. 31 in units 44 and 45 and Jan. 31 in units 46 and 47. A predator season would be from Sept. 4 to May 31.

A new antelope season is proposed for the Jerome area (Unit 53), with 10 permits allowed. The antelope season would be from Sept. 25 to Oct. 10.

Three Quails would get 35 permits. Littlewood would cut from 25 to 10 permits for either sex.

Tricky dive

NOW there's quite a trick. This Shoshone diver apparently learned to dive without making a splash. (Actually, some water did splash up moments after the picture was taken. Warm weather this week brought out swimming suits and sunburns throughout Magic Valley.

Castleford parents file suit

TWIN FALLS — Parents of a young Castleford boy who was killed in a traffic accident are seeking $150,000 damages and other costs in a suit filed in district court here.

Ronald D. and Elizabeth Owen, parents of Randall C. Owen, 8, who was killed April 2, 1976, charge Susan and Roy Burcham with negligence and carelessness in the traffic accident in which the child was fatally injured.

The complaint states the boy was riding his bicycle near Castleford when hit by a car owned by Roy Burcham and driven by Susan Burcham. In addition to $150,000 general damages, the parents ask $2,000 in funeral and other costs.

Murtaugh poll location changes

MURTAUGH — The polls for the presidential primary election Tuesday have been switched from Murtaugh High School to the southeast corner room at Murtaugh Elementary School.

Horseman finishes by truck

TWIN FALLS — A California horseman, making a Bicentennial ride to Twin Falls, finished the Journey by truck Tuesday.

Doug Freeman set out Saturday from Mountain City, Nev., for the final leg of the trip to Twin Falls. Monday his wife, who was traveling by car, contacted the sheriff's office saying her husband should have been in Twin Falls by that time but had failed to report.

Officers authorized a search and a plane was flown over the area between Mountain City and Rogerson.

On Tuesday, Owen Barton, owner of a ranch at the Nevada-Idaho state line, contacted the sheriff's office. His report he was bringing Freeman and his horse to Twin Falls.

The rider had covered only about 30 miles, officers said, but probably had not counted on the rough high country and remaining snow.

Suit filed

TWIN FALLS — Linda Yearry, as guardian for Virginia Cutler, is asking $35,000 in damages in a suit brought against Magic Valley Nursing Home.

The plaintiff charges that because of carelessness and negligence, the nursing home and employees allowed Cutler, a resident, to fall.

The woman suffered a fractured arm which resulted in medical costs of $1,588, according to the complaint. The plaintiff is seeking medical costs, $25,000 in general damages and $10,000 punitive damages.

Minico extends pact deadline

RUPERT — Teachers in Minidoka County have an additional seven days in which to return their signed contracts for the 1976-77 school year.

The Minidoka County School Board voted Tuesday night to extend the deadline for contract returns to May 31, rather than next Monday.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Fifth District Court Judge Sherman Bellwood, currently hearing a lawsuit against the board by the Minidoka County Education Association concerning stalemated contract negotiations.

Bellwood Tuesday gave attorneys for both parties until Monday to file simultaneous written briefs on the MCEA's order to show cause. The MCEA is asking that teachers not be required to return contracts until after further negotiation procedures or that returned contracts be subject to amendment by the results of those further procedures.

MCEA members last week voted to hold contracts, turning them over to MCEA President Milton McDaniel with a power of attorney to sign them.

The district issued contracts to teachers last Friday, allowing the statutory minimum 10 days for their return.

Superintendent of Schools Darrell Hatfield said some teachers have signed and returned their contracts. A teacher source, who asked not to be named, said at least a few members of the MCEA regained their contracts from McDaniel this week and presented them to the district.

Under cross-examination by board legal counsel Roger Ling, teacher negotiator Larry Caldwell admitted Tuesday that the board had adopted a salary schedule along the formal CSEA bargaining interest. Caldwell supported 11th 3 per cent step additional pay for experience and additional higher education credits, although without the same base salary MCEA negotiators demanded.

TF ignores MVAG

TWIN FALLS — The on-again, off-again Magic Valley Association of Governments (MVAG) may be in for some more troubles.

Although MVAG board members voted late last month to maintain the two-year-old organization, they apparently will have to do it without Twin Falls County.

"I don't foresee that we will be joining in that new organization," County Commission Chairman Merl Leonard said Tuesday.

The MVAG board decided in January to disband the eight-county planning group June 30, but reversed itself last month. The promise of a new source of federal funding prompted the change.

MVAG may receive more than $45,000 from the U.S. Economic Development Administration (EDA) to help reduce the impact of high unemployment through community projects. Local units of government must match 25 per cent of the federal money with cash or in-kind services.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices opened mixed in moderate trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was behind 0.22 to 985.53 after the opening bell. Blue Chip Advances led declines, 165 to 97, among the 399 issues crossing the tape.

Some investor uneasiness over the economic outlook was assuaged by Ann Greenbaum, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, who predicted the economy was headed for "a fairly strong growth through 1976 and 1977."

report which reportedly finds unacceptable more than $6 million or one-third of Sierra's total assets as of the end of 1974.

However, there is some disagreement over Sierra's responsibility for the challenged assets. Sierra reportedly transferred these assets including its mortgage on the property near Palm Desert — to Sandia Life Insurance Co., a wholly owned Sierra subsidiary in New Mexico created at the end of 1974.

Sierra has claimed it would have no responsibility towards Sandia—policyholders. But Sandia contends financial problems. But that claim has been disputed by Wyoming's Commissioner of Insurance, who believes Sierra still would have to stand behind its subsidiary's policies.

Idaho considers Sierra to be financially sound as a result of the 1975 hearing on Sierra's assets conducted by Ditchell.

Celtics beat Cavaliers 94-87 to clinch eastern NBA division title

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Jo White, Dave Cowens and Charlie Scott combined for 70 points Tuesday night as the Boston Celtics defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 94-87 to win the NBA Eastern Conference playoff title.

The Celtics, who won the best-of-seven series, 4-2, now face the Phoenix Suns for the NBA championship. The Celtics will be seeking their 12th NBA title.

Convict won't get shot at Olympics

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Convicted murderer Floyd "Jumbo" Cummings, the prison inmate with dreams of winning an Olympic gold medal in boxing this summer, will not be allowed to try out for the American Olympic team. It was disclosed Tuesday.

"Prison inmates have been ruled ineligible for the American team," said Rollie Schwartz, who will manage the U.S. Olympic boxing team at Montreal in July. "I feel he should be allowed to try to make our team, but he has been told to stay in prison."

Schwartz said U.S. Olympic Committee officials in New York informed him Cummings would not be eligible because of a special rule adopted by the committee in 1974.

Schwartz said under the rule, American Olympic athletes must be able to state "I certify that I am a citizen of the United States and that I am not under a present disability with respect to the exercise of my civil rights."

"They said he makes prison inmates ineligible for the Olympics," related a disappointed Schwartz, who said he got confirmation of the rule from Jim McHugh, the assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"This was the first. I had heard of life rule," complained Schwartz. "It was a shock to me to find out Jumbo won't be allowed to try to make our team."

Cummings, 25, a muscular 6-foot-3, 231-pounder, has been permitted to leave a Joliet, Ill., prison several times in the past year to fight in amateur matches.

In Cincinnati last November, the soft-spoken heavyweight who somewhat resembles Sonny Liston in the ring, was one of only two Americans to defeat a group of nine touring Russian heavyweight boxers.

In that special exhibition, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU), Cummings was permitted to wear a "USA" boxing uniform.

Cleveland played tight defense, with Thurmond leading the way, to surge ahead 33-27, their largest lead of the half. But Boston came back to tie it five times and Cowens cut the lead to 46-43 at the half.

VETERAN Nate Thurmond of Cleveland leads high for a rebound during NBA playoff action against Boston Tuesday night. It wasn't enough as Boston won 94-87 to clinch the division title. (UPI telephoto)

Boston, 3 players reach talk impasse

BOSTON (UPI) — The contract conflict between the Boston Red Sox and three top players moved into the "cold war" stage Tuesday after the latest peace offerings were rejected by both sides.

"All offers are off the table and all proposals have been withdrawn by both sides," said attorney Jerry Kapstein — agent for Fred Lynn, Carlton Fisk and Rick Burleson — after talking by telephone Tuesday with Red Sox negotiator John Claiborne.

The "next move" will come "sometime later this week" after Kapstein meets with the three players to draw up a statement. For their part, the Red Sox will not make another offer until they can meet individually or collectively with the three players.

"What happens next depends on who wants to move first," said Claiborne, hired late last season after three years as negotiator for Oakland owner Charles O. Finley. "We are demanding that the players be present at any negotiations from hereon out."

Kapstein had made contract offers in behalf of each player and the Red Sox had accepted parts of their own. Both sides had agreed to let their offers stand until noon Tuesday.

The three players, who advised Kapstein to reject the club offers, are on the open year of their contracts and will become free agents if they do not sign new agreements by the end of the season. The Red Sox, however, must sign them or trade them by the June 15 trading deadline, or face the possibility of losing the players with no compensation in return.

"I have no comment and will have none until sometime later this week, no later than Sunday, after I have talked personally with my people and draw up a statement," said Kapstein by telephone from his Springfield, Va., office.

too. That's all we want — a chance to talk to them. Since talks began this spring, Kapstein has handled all negotiations. Claiborne said his only direct contact with the players came "about two weeks ago, when I talked to each individual because I was worried about the communication lines being open. They all said they wanted their agent to handle everything."

No personal meeting between Claiborne and the players is likely until the Red Sox return to Boston next Monday.

"It is believed the Red Sox would like to sign the three players — all vital cogs in the Red Sox-American League championship last fall — to multi-year contracts. Lynn reportedly has been offered a three-year pact totaling $300,000-$350,000. Fisk and Burleson also have been offered substantial raises, staggered over three seasons.

"I'm not saying that our meaning was lost but maybe the players want to say something; maybe they want to blast me. That's all right.

Inoki considering breaking Ali's leg

NEW YORK (UPI) — Just to prove how serious he is about his $10 million fight next month with Muhammad Ali, Japan's Antonio Inoki said Tuesday he may present the forgetful heavyweight champion with a broken leg.

"After I had no particular personal sentiments regarding Ali," said Inoki, who is making personal appearances in an effort to build up interest in the unusual boxer vs. wrestler match in Tokyo June 25. "I believed the fight would determine which of us was the stronger."

"But Ali has been going around calling me 'that Japanese wrestler,' not even remembering my name. In Japan that is a very serious insult. I had no serious intention of harming him, but now, because my fans have so much faith in me, it may be necessary to do something along those lines when I can prove how serious this fight is to me."

"All may be like the man who split in the wind and had the split go back in his face."

Inoki, accompanied by his beautiful wife, Hifuko, a popular motion picture and singing star in Japan, and an interpreter, Ken Tajima, said it hurt him that Ali was not taking their fight seriously.

"He is not even looking after himself, and I am afraid he is just having a little game," said the 32-year-old Inoki, who is recognized as the world heavyweight wrestling champion by the National Wrestling Federation. "It could also possibly mean that he knows he has no hope of winning and is laying the groundwork for an excuse when he loses.

"In Japan the people have the greatest respect for this as a serious fight, and when you see the match you will see how serious I am. I feel that whoever wins shall have to dispose of his opponent in such a thorough manner that he literally will not be able to continue in the bout. This will prove it is serious."

Along with trying to promote the scheduled 15-round fight, Inoki has a serious mission on his visit to the United States. He is hoping to locate a sister he hasn't seen in 25 years. The sister married an American named Benjamin Franklin Nicholson Jr. in 1951 and came to the U.S. to live, and no one has heard from her since.

"The last we know is that she lived in Maryland," he said. "For my mother's sake, I am hoping to track her down."

Inoki, well versed in such martial arts as karate and judo, admits to having one weak spot.

"A lot of people have spoken of my chin as being my weakest point as it protrudes," he said. "I am applying special training to strengthen it. I have people step on my chin and knead it with their shoes. If his fists contact with my jaw, the jawbone may be smashed, but I assure you I will make every effort to prevent his fists from making any contact on my chin."

"All has a longer reach," Inoki said. "but I have a longer chin."

Duran KO's Wajima in 14th to cop junior middleweight title

TOKYO (UPI) — Jose Duran, the fancy Dan challenger from Spain, knocked out a bleeding Koichi Wajima in 50 seconds of the 14th round Tuesday to win the World Boxing Association Middleweight championship.

Both Duran and gritty Japanese fighter engaged in a whirlwind battle from the start. Wajima had the edge in the first round, but Duran then whipped across powerful combinations to offset Wajima's scoring done with solid rights to the challenger's face.

Duran noted for his good footwork in the ring, evaded the champion's best shots and opened a large cut on Wajima's forehead as he floored the 33-year-old champion in the second round with a right to the head for a mandatory eight count.

The 31-year-old Spaniard was clearly in good shape, dancing around the champion, whose forehead kept bleeding throughout the fight. Then came Duran's sharp lefts and rights in the 13th round, knocking down the champion for the second time.

The Japanese champion was virtually defenseless as he tried to follow the still aggressive Duran to the edge of the ring. Duran landed a combination of lefts and rights to Wajima's face.

Almost as soon as the 14th round started Duran landed an effective combination of lefts and rights to Wajima's face and floored the champion with a sharp right. Wajima could not regain his feet as Japanese referee Yuzaku Yoshida counted him out.

Way paved for Spirits to move to Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah businessman Earl D. Walters said Tuesday he had completed negotiations to bring the Spirits of St. Louis of the American Basketball Association to Salt Lake City next season.

"Walters said the 'ink is dry' on a deal between his group of local investors and the Spirits' principal owners, and 'the only monetary delay is finalizing the lease with the Salt Palace.'"

He said consummation of the deal would be announced formally at an afternoon news conference Wednesday.

Asked if Utah's new basketball team would be a member of the ABA or the NBA through merger of the two leagues, Walters said: "I don't know about that at this time. I don't think anyone does."

"Walters said the current owners of the Spirits would retain a 70 per cent interest in the team, and the local investors would own 30 per cent."

He said he and his partners, who went unnamed, would probably decide on a name for the team Wednesday.

Utah's ABA team—the Stars—folded last season after a series of franchise sales fell through, and many of the team's key players defected during disputes with the changing management.

"There's some question," Walters said, "as to whether to retain the name (Utah Stars) or change it. From a sentimental standpoint, I'd like to keep the name."

He said he could see both pros and cons on naming the team the Stars. Several thousand fans were left with worthless season tickets when the Stars collapsed.

But the Spirits gained four of Utah's regular players when the Stars folded 16 games into the 1975-76 season—Ron Boone, Moses Malone, Randy Denton and Steve Green—and many Utah fans feel they would be getting the same team back but under more stable management.

The Spirits averaged only 2,600 fans last season in St. Louis.

Yanks drop Cleveland 11-6 in 16 innings

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Lou Piniella drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single that triggered a five-run 16th inning Tuesday night to give the New York Yankees an 11-6 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Reliever Jim Kern walked Sandy Alomar to open the 16th and Roy White sacrificed. Alomar went to third and White was safe when Kern threw wild to first. Thurman Munson forced Alomar at the plate, but Chris Chambliss walked to load the bases.

Piniella lined a two-run single to right and Graig Nettles followed with a sacrifice fly. Oscar Gamble was intentionally walked. Willie Randolph followed with a run-scoring double and Gamble scored on a passed ball.

over the California Angels on Bart Johnson's three-hitter. The White Sox collected six hits off Nolan Ryan to hand him his fourth loss against three wins and break his string of five consecutive victories over Chicago. Ryan, though, struck out to host his major league leading total to 79.

T-N probes land security for $900,000 Sierra loan

 examiners and appraisers. He found the property worth at least $1 million.
 After his findings, Idaho officially accepted the land as being worth enough to secure the $900,000 loan. Under Idaho law the land would have to be worth at least $1.2 million to secure a loan of this size.

Idaho also then accepted almost all the other Sierra assets questioned in the land security appraisal and the appraisal was finally closed.
 The question of the Palm Desert property's value came to a head in the 1975 Idaho hearing on Sierra's assets conducted by hearing officer Walter Bithell, a Boise lawyer.

It is not possible to say exactly what went on at the Bithell hearing because of an agreement between the Idaho Department of Insurance and Sierra to close the hearing to the public and keep its official transcripts secret.
 Bithell's final report of his findings, however, has been made public.

In that report, Bithell did not mention the sand dunes on the property.
 He also did not mention that the property had just been sold for $1 million. This information was discussed at the hearing.

Furthermore, Bithell reached several conclusions about the dune property which apparently are contradicted by local officials in Riverside County.

Bithell reported that "plans and specifications" for development of the land have been prepared by the developers who "have submitted those plans to the appropriate authorities for their approval."
 He said that pursuant to Idaho Code, Idaho Code, this property is real estate to be developed, suitable for residential, institutional, commercial or industrial use on which durable structural improvements are under construction or in process of construction such as streets, sidewalks, sewers and utilities. Bithell said it would become an integral part of such development.

Bithell wrote in his report:
 "But officials with the Riverside County planning department, road department and building department say that no plans have been submitted for the development of the property. They say there are no streets, sidewalks, sewers or utilities "under construction or in process of construction" on the property.

Bithell said he reached the conclusions in the report by drawing on testimony at the hearing. He said he assumed the testimony was true when making his conclusions.
 "We went into it pretty clearly," he said regarding the sand dune situation. But, he said that it was generally agreed that the dune problem could be dealt with and the property developed.

He said he did not discuss the sand dune problem in his report on the hearing because "the opinion was long enough as it was."
 "I attempted to trim it down to the simplest terms, that I possibly could," Bithell said. He said he did not discuss the issues.

Bithell could not explain why the dune property sold for $160,000 shortly before it was used to secure a promise to pay Sierra $900,000. He said he would have to check his notes from the hearing, but he said he did not offer the explanation despite several requests.

However, Floyd C. Anglin, Burley, and president of Builders Diversified Services, Inc., did have an explanation why Builders could buy the property for $160,000 and then use it to secure a promise to pay Sierra $900,000.
 "The property wasn't really developable by anybody else. We owned the water rights, sewer rights and road rights to get to it," he said.

Anglin said his companies — Builders and Palm Desert Country Club Inc. — had developed surrounding property. Since sewer, road and water access was restricted, the property was worth comparatively little to others, Anglin maintained.

However, according to Homer Watson, senior construction inspector for Riverside County, there is public access to the property.
 He said that a right-of-way, a county maintained road, comes up to the property's edge on the south and another county maintained road approaches the parcel on the north.

Since these are county maintained roads, Watson said, they would afford sewer, water and road access to anyone interested in developing the property.

Anglin defended the value of the 140-acre parcel. When asked about the land, which lies northeast of the town of Palm Desert, Anglin described it as "an excellent piece of property."
 He said it is "very fine" and he said he knows of no problems about the land.

When asked about the sand dunes, Anglin said that "all of Palm Springs is sand" and that adjacent property had been developed despite the dunes.
 Plans to develop the land had been submitted, Anglin maintained, to several different county agencies, including the planning department, the building department and the road department.

He also said engineering work on plans for the land was done by VTN, an firm in Irvine, Calif.
 Anglin said the development plans had been "turned over to Sierra and that he does not have anything to do with the Times-News. He offered, however, to show copies if the newspaper would buy him a round-trip ticket to southern California.

 Some of Anglin's statements about the property appear to be contradicted by several sources.

Jim Whitelaw, manager of the land development division at VTN Corp. in Irvine, said that at least in the past five years VTN has done no planning for developments for that property. "If we had done anything I would have been involved," he said.
 "We are unaware of any plans in that area for development. It's currently covered with sand dunes. It's desert," Roger Streeter, senior planner for Riverside County's Indio office said.

"He said it would be possible to develop the land, but said there is a particular problem of wind and blowing sand" in the area. Solving this problem is "not easy to overcome" and would be "an expensive proposition" he said.
 "In any case, he said, no plans have been turned in to the department for development. The only way to come to us first is in attempting to obtain official approval for a project, Streeter said.

Streets, sidewalks, sewers and utilities are "certainly not" under construction on the property, Streeter said.
 Everett Overholser, director of the Building and Safety Department at Riverside County's Indio office, said that no plans had come in regarding development of the property.

Sierra's appraiser George Dean Field, who determined the property to be worth $1.3 million, said he had not seen any "specific" plans for development of the 140-acre parcel.
 He said, however, that over a year ago he contacted the planning director of the City of Palm Desert regarding plans for the property.

Field said that he had seen plans for development of Palm Desert planning director Paul Williams said he had no plans for the development of the property. He also said that he has not talked with George Field about the land. Williams said he has been working as planning director for two years — since the city was incorporated.

Field could not recall the names of the officials he talked with about the property. He said he could not refer back to his notes since he turned them along with the appraisals on the land over to Anglin.
 Although he had not seen plans for development of the land, Field, who lives in the Palm Desert area, said that the "highest and best use" of the property would be for development. He said that Anglin had told him of plans to build homes on the property around a golf course. He said the development was part of a general plan for the golf course.

The Sierra appraiser acknowledged there is a "blow sand problem" in the area, but said this problem is "all over the desert." He said Riverside County is planning to plant in trees and flower bushes to help solve the sand problem.
 Buying the property for $160,000, Field said, was "absolutely a great bargain." He said he determined his own $1.3 million appraisal for the land by determining "the property's residual value." That is, Field said, the value after the cost of development and the expected profit is deducted from the value to determine the base cost of the property. "That's what a developer would do," he said.

One Riverside County planning official apparently contradicted Field regarding the planting of trees to help solve the blowing sand problem.
 According to Howard Powell, Riverside County planner who deals with special projects such as tree planting, there is no such plan to plant trees in the area.

"It is not a county function to plant trees so that it can be developed," Powell said. He said the county only helps citizens set up their own special tax districts to raise money to plant the trees. "That is not an area where the citizens have gotten together" to do this, Powell said regarding the property.

George Wise, district supervisor of the Riverside County assessor's office in Indio, said the 140-acre parcel was appraised to have a full cash value of $18,000 back in 1959. "We've owned it from time to time and have not seen reason to change it," he said, adding that the latest review occurred in 1975.

"I would be hard pressed to say that we would be particularly low (in the appraisal)," in California we appraise at market value," Wise said.

Initial payments over 10 months
 TWIN FALLS — The Times-News mistakenly reported Tuesday that the California corporation purchasing stock owned by Sierra Life Insurance Co. President Fred Frazier would have to make $300,000 in initial payments in nine months.
 The payments were to be made in 10 months. The Times-News regrets the error.

"I've seen it (the property) through a wind-break that has been constructed to keep the sand from blowing onto the Palm Desert Country Club. It's sand dunes to be blunt about it," Wise said.
 He said that "development is conceivable for the property" but he added that "you're talking about an awful lot of money."
 "It's a solid residential site, although it's out in the sand dunes," Wise said. He said the county could be as much as $50,000 low in its appraisal since the land is not in an appraisal problem." But, he said that in his opinion, the land could not be worth $900,000.

The property is "certainly not worthless" and land within a half mile is "selling at $15,000 to $20,000 an acre," Wise maintained. "It would be easy to find a buyer," he said.
 "You have to have some local expertise in this particular area. The entire thing is wind and sand storm problems. If an appraiser isn't aware of the sand problems and he looks at it on a nice day, it can be a romantic, beautiful piece of land," Wise said.

According to Robert Cooley, a San Bernardino real estate appraiser, the Riverside County valuation of the land was too high. Cooley was appointed by a federal bankruptcy court to determine how much the 160-acre parcel owned by Leslie Bleumaster should sell for.
 Builders Diversified Services purchased the 140-acre of Bleumaster's 160-acre parcel near Palm Desert.

In an April 8, 1975 letter to the bankruptcy court, Cooley said the full market value of the whole 160-acre parcel was $175,000 or "approximately $1,100/acre."
 At $1,100 an acre, the 140-acre portion would be worth $154,000.

Cooley questioned even the county's appraisal of the land at about $1,300 per acre as being too high.
 "I interviewed their office, and the majority of sales they analyzed in allotting their value were over one year ago."
 "Within the past year there has been a very limited amount of market activity on these type of parcels, not only with the greater Coachella Valley (where the property is located), but all of southern California."

"I did find a few, but they were very liberal terms, and were all under $1,500/acre."
 "In arriving at my final value conclusion, I not only called upon my experience within the area, but also discussed the general overall market conditions with brokers that handle fairly comparable type properties. Under the current market situation, there are numerous listings without any activity," Cooley wrote the court.

Bruce Fink, a southern California attorney who was involved in the bankruptcy sale of the property to Builders, said the 140-acre piece of land is "not worth more than $1,000 to $1,500 an acre."
 "Anybody who loaned a million on that land or anything like it is out of his mind," Fink said.

Richard Faulkner, who appraised the property for the State of Idaho at $24,000, said he had discussed the sand situation in his report on the property. Faulkner recalled there were six-foot-high dunes on the property on the south and eastern sides of the property.
 "Pictures in my report showed where the sand was up to the top of the (southern) wall, spilling over to the adjoining property," Faulkner said. He said he walked on the dunes on the easterly side of the land and "in some places the sand was higher than the tops of roofs of the adjoining houses."

Faulkner said he based his appraisal on the sales of other land in the area that had the same blowing sand problems. He said that in this case he believed comparison with the selling prices of similar land was the "most reasonable approach."
 However, in making his findings for the State of Idaho, hearing officer Bithell found that Faulkner's land "comparables do not reflect sales and purchases of property, the use for which was contemplated to be the same as for the subject property." Since the land is to be developed, Bithell found it had "a current fair market value of at least $1.3 million."

The actual sale price of the property near Palm Desert tends to support the county court and Idaho State appraisers' evaluations of the land.
 Riverside county records show that the 140-acre parcel sold on May 1, 1975 by order of federal bankruptcy court for $160,000 cash, and Sierra $500,000. Both these transactions were officially recorded in Riverside County offices in the late afternoon of June 3.

Attorneys for the seller of the property, however, say that Builders also had agreed to turn over a home worth $30,000 to $35,000 in addition to the $160,000 cash for the property. They claim that Builders never delivered the home, and cash is being sought in lieu of the home.
 On March 29, 1975, Sierra agreed to loan the $160,000 cash used to purchase the property near Palm Desert.

The loan was part of a $550,000 loan to Builders, an Oklahoma City-based corporation owned by "five men — including Anglin — which purchased Sierra's stock in Greater Idaho Corp. and the Western Skies Motel in late 1974 for $6.7 million. $300,000 of the Sierra $550,000 loan went to acquire 80 acres of land on Molokai Island, Hawaii. Eight of these acres were then used to secure the full $550,000 loan and the remaining 90 acres were deeded to a wholly-owned Sierra subsidiary to pay off a $1 million debt."

 The March 20 agreement between Sierra and Daihai also specified how the rest of the $550,000 loan, to Daihai, would be used. Regarding $160,000 of the money, it stated:
 "Approximately $160,000 to the fee title owner of one hundred and forty (140) acres, more or less, of real estate located adjacent to the Palm Desert Country Club property, Riverside County, California, being the remaining balance due on an option to acquire said property having a present market value of $1,316,000 as reflected in an appraisal report, dated Jan. 13, 1975, prepared by Geo. Dean Field, A.S.A., Palm Desert, California, as confirmed by the letter of John H. Joyce, S.R.A., dated January 20, 1975."

 The value of Sierra's assets has been a central question among insurance regulators in several states.
 In 1974, Sierra was licensed to sell insurance in 16 states.
 Since then, Wyoming insurance officials have found Sierra's liabilities to exceed its acceptable assets under Wyoming law by $6.8 million, and therefore have suspended the company's license to make new sales there.

2 parcels play security role

TWIN FALLS — Two parcels of land separately have been used to secure a $900,000 debt to Sierra Life Insurance Co.
 The ownership of one property is in dispute. The value of both properties is subject to question.
 The $900,000 debt to Sierra originally was created in December 1974 when the insurance company sold 200,000 shares of its stock to National Funding Corp. for $4.50 per share or a total of $900,000.
 National Funding is a California Corporation owned by the same five men who own Daihai, an Oklahoma corporation which indirectly purchased the majority stock of Greater Idaho Corp. and the stock of Western Skies Motel from Sierra in late 1974.
 National Funding did not pay for its 200,000 shares of Sierra stock in cash. Instead, it assigned a $900,000 promissory note to Sierra payable by Builders Diversified Services.
 Effectively, Builders took over National's obligation to pay Sierra the $900,000. Builders is a California corporation associated with Floyd C. Anglin, an owner of Daihai.

To insure the $900,000 note to be paid, Builders put security in the form of a deed not paid. Sierra would acquire the security.
 The original security was 160 acres of land near a development known as Rancho California.

But, due to a legal dispute arising over the deed to the land, substitute security was put up on the $900,000 debt.
 The substitute security is the land near Palm Desert examined in the Times-News today.
 Tomorrow, the newspaper will look at the original security for the debt. Depending upon the outcome of the ownership battle, Sierra again could acquire a mortgage on this land to serve as security on the $900,000 debt, according to an agreement Sierra has entered into with National Funding and Builders Diversified Services and two other corporations.
 Because the court has ruled over the ownership of the property near Rancho California is continuing, the land near Palm Desert remains as security on the $900,000 debt.
 If the original security, however, is used to secure the debt, Sierra has agreed to let the land near Palm Desert secure an anticipated debt of at least $700,000.

 According to Sierra, there is other security on the $900,000 debt. But, Sierra's claim is being disputed.

In lawsuit filed against Daihai, Builders Diversified and several other corporations earlier this year, Sierra claimed that the majority stock of Greater Idaho Corp. also has been put up to help secure the promise to pay Sierra $900,000 among several other debts.
 In the suit, Sierra cited several debts due to Daihai, including a $400,000 debt. The majority stock of Greater Idaho was put up by Daihai to secure these debts. Among the debts Sierra claimed are due a $67,149 payment from Builders Diversified Services — the first payment on Builders' promise to pay $900,000. In response to Sierra's suit, however, Daihai, Builders Diversified Services and Anglin denied several of Sierra's claims and maintained that the deeds of trust on property were put up as full security on the promises to pay Sierra. Daihai, Builders and Anglin also counter-sued Sierra for $14 million.

Q—"Where did Scott Joplin get the name for his tune called 'The Maple Leaf Rag'?"
A. He wanted to do something to commemorate his night-spot known as "The Maple Leaf Club" of Sedalia, Mo.

In the belief of the Warao Indians of Venezuela, a man's chances of getting to Heaven depend on his skill in building a canoe. A woman's, upon her knack for weaving a hammock. As for children there, they're not expected to go to Heaven, but rather to be born again to different parents.

RAT SAUSAGE?
Cardiff University researchers revealed sometime back that they were looking into the possibility of raising rats as food. For use in sausages, specifically. Don't know how the project is going. Afraid to ask.

When pollsters asked about 1,000 high school seniors to name the person they admired most in this world, one out of every five listed exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn in that top spot.

Report is that the British Post Office, which handles both mail and telephone service in that country, loses about $12 a minute. That's believed to make it the most unsuccessful business operation in the world.

Numerous species in the animal world fight and even kill their own kind, but man and ants are the only beasts that wage war in battle formations.

It's not unusual in the Shetland Islands above Scotland to have for breakfast a bowl of oatmeal drenched in straight malt scotch. And that local dish called "Mary O'Lorraine" is pancakes—dice chicken folded into pancake batter—is doused with Drambuie.

Maine spuds lose ground

(Courtesy Sinclair & Co.)
CHICAGO — Meat futures advanced Tuesday while Maine potatoes lost ground. Commodity News Service said fall-crop Maine spuds prices stimulated support. Corn closed 1 1/2 cents lower in most contracts, with May showing relative strength and ending unchanged. The decline was cushioned by closed as much as 29 cents lower in the early commission house selling in the absence of new buying interest. The new crop is being planted and there is little information to give the market direction. May closed at 8 1/2 per hundredweight and November ended 17 cents down at 5.20 cwt.

All live cattle contracts except June closed higher in brisk trading with short covering and scattered profit taking major factors. The market responded to large movement of dressed product at lower prices, although carcass prices were off 2.00 to 3.00 with good clearance reported. At the close, June was down 27, August up 42 and other contracts 15 to 40 higher. Volume was placed at 11,540.

Feeder cattle prices moved higher in what traders regarded a technical correction, closing 2 to 50 up with August leading the advance. Volume was placed at 17,000 contracts.

Live hogs closed higher, defying fundamentally lower cash and dressed prices. Hogs gained 12 to 65 points with June the leader at 48.95. July was up 27 at 48.05. Pork is seen by traders as under pressure with consumers residing higher prices and that affecting packer demand.

Pork bellies closed higher across the board, but off the day's highs. At the close, prices ranged from 27 higher in August to 7 up in July and May 1977. Reduced slaughter, plant closing and higher cash

Additional voice on panel advised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer affairs expert whose appointment to an Agriculture Department advisory committee stirred controversy says a "grass roots" consumer spokesman should be added to the panel.

Jane Armstrong, vice president for consumer affairs of Jewell Food Stores, said in a telephone interview from her Melrose Park, Ill., office she plans to make the proposal formally when the new Advisory Committee on Regulatory Programs meets in Washington June 7-9.

"But an Agriculture Department official who oversees the panel said he does not plan to change the committee membership.

"A spokeswoman for the Consumer Federation of America said that if nothing is done the federation will view the panel's work as biased in favor of the food industry.

A dispute arose after Agriculture Department officials set up the eight-member body in March to evaluate the agency's food industry regulatory programs.

The panel will examine programs ranging from federal meat and poultry inspection to marketing orders which regulate sales of milk and vegetables. It will recommend whether some of the programs, which affect both farm earnings and consumer food bills, should be modified or even stopped.

The federation, noting Ms. Armstrong's affiliation with a major food chain, protested that "no matter how well intentioned," she may be consumers should be represented on the panel by an expert not on an industry payroll.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz's own consumer aide, Mrs. Nancy Harvey Steorts, praised Armstrong's abilities but agreed in a later interview the committee should have an independent consumer member.

Ms. Armstrong said she "doesn't feel any conflict of interest" between her job with the food chain and her ability to represent consumer interests on the panel.

Minidoka school budget hearing slated June 21

RUPERT — The public hearing on the 1978-79 budget for the Minidoka County School District is slated June 21.

The school board Monday set the hearing one day before the deadline. It will be at 8 p.m., with the board's regular business meeting to follow.

The board has scheduled a work session this evening preparatory to administration development of the tentative budget for the next fiscal year.

Board Chairman Harold Catmull said the board will decide on some specific guidelines for drafting the budget.

These include salaries. The board has set a disputed teacher salary schedule with an $8,475 base (nearly 7 per cent increase), but has made no provision for increases on pay of non-certificated personnel yet.

Board members Monday told Athletic Director Michael Erling that a sprinkler system proposal will have to wait until the work session tonight.

Erling said the athletic department has raised $1,000 toward sprinkler systems for both the football and baseball fields at Minico High School. He asked for district help, adding that the money would start a fund for that purpose if the sprinklers could not be installed this year.

Erling estimated the cost for installing both would be only $1,700 if the department and its athletes do the labor. He said the cost to hire a contractor to install it would be about $8,000.

Trustees were reluctant to approve the expenditure until they worked out what is expected to be a tight budget for 1978-79.

The board approved the June 21 budget hearing date after Assistant Superintendent Doyle Lowder told them June 22 is "the latest we could have the hearing."

Superintendent of Schools Darrell Hatfield said the hearing usually takes about 1 1/2 hours, which would make a long meeting if held on the regular night. Trustee Fern Hunter said the administration should keep the items on the regular agenda at a minimum for that meeting.

Lowder gave the board a tight schedule that must be met for the June 21 hearing.

He said contracts must be returned by May 24 and that gives the administration 10 days to get the budget prepared and to the newspaper for publication on June 8. He said the budget could be posted on June 11 to meet the 10-day posting.

Minico motorcyclist injured Saturday

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Sheriff's Department is investigating a hit-and-run accident that caused injury to a motorcyclist Saturday.

Tyrone F. McKendrick, 19, Rupert, was treated and released at Minidoka Memorial Hospital following a 7 p.m. accident on Highway 25 east of Paul.

McKendrick told investigators that a car passed him and hit his foot, causing him to lose control of the motorcycle which then turned over. He said driver of the car hit his brakes after the accident but then sped off without stopping.

Relish a chunkier, hunkier relish.

Our relish is the only relish that's made like the good old days. With big, generous chunks of pickle that demand to be noticed. Our six other kinds of pickles are equally attention-getting. Try them. You'll taste why we call them the new, old-fashioned pickles.

Marcus Nalley Farm Style Sweet Relish.

Courts finished

THE finishing touches go on Rupert's new tennis courts. The workers completed the court striping by noon Friday and the court was open to public use for the first time that evening.

Minico school board sets employe vacation policy

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board established a written policy on vacation for non-certified employes Monday, then approved an extra seven days this summer for its transportation director.

The board granted the request of Tom George for one month vacation on the payroll so that he can make a trip to visit relatives in New Hampshire and the United States.

On motion of Leonard Martin, the board voted to allow George seven days paid vacation beyond the 13 he receives on the new vacation schedule.

George has been employed by the district for eight years. In his request, he pointed out that, as transportation director, he has worked a lot of overtime.

He cited many 12-hour days during the winter, payroll work at home once a month and weekend work because of the numerous extra-activities requiring his presence.

Asked for a recommendation, Superintendent of Schools Darrell Hatfield said his reply would be wrong, no matter how he answered it.

"Even though I may think he's deserving of it, there's going to be a question somebody else is deserving," he said, adding that George makes driving a class himself morning and night of the winter roads.

The newly-drafted vacation schedule allows vacation to accumulate to 20 days, starting with 10 days after a full year of full-time employment. Thirteen days are allowed each year for 6 to 10 years, 15 days for 11 to 15 years, 18 days for 16 to 20 years and 20 days for 21 or more years of continuous employment.

The board also approved leave for Dr. Hatfield to meet U. S. Army Reserve summer encampment commitments.

Hatfield will be at Fort Sill, Okla., June 6-19 and at the University of Nevada, Reno, June 27-July 9.

The superintendent pointed out he scheduled the tours of duty "so there will be no conflict in our regular board meetings. I would miss a special meeting on June 7 if one is needed."

The board has been scheduling special meetings regularly for the first Monday of each month, in addition to its regular meeting on the third Monday.

Hot lunch fund pays for trip

RUPERT — The existence of money in the hot lunch fund saved a Hawaii trip for Kathryn Payne, head of the Minidoka County School District lunch program.

The school board Monday approved Mrs. Payne's request for permission to attend the hot lunch convention in Hawaii and allowed $650 for expenditures.

Despite Superintendent of Schools Darrell Hatfield's recommendation for approval, board members were adverse to the request until told the money would come from the lunch fund.

Board Member Leonard Martin pointed out that the district was slated in court today on a salary dispute with teachers and has not authorized any increases for non-certificated employes.

"We don't even have enough money to go around in the district," Martin said.

Dr. Hatfield said Mrs. Payne was selected as a delegate from the state.

"Since I've been here," Hatfield said, "the only account in the budget that comes out with an excess is the hot lunch program."

He told the board the funds would come from that program. Assistant Superintendent Doyle Lowder explained that money for the trip is allowable from snack bar funds or adult meals.
