

City to close aged O'Leary

BY GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Following a declaration that O'Leary Junior High School is a fire hazard, the Twin Falls building inspector said he will take immediate action to close the 64-year-old building.

School officials said the decision would force the district to conduct double shifts of classes next year. They said they planned to appeal the closure.

City Building Inspector Darrell Howard told school trustees and administrators that he was taking the action at the request of fire marshal Fred Higgins, who declared O'Leary a "fire hazard."

Howard said that since Higgins recommended the school be shut down, "I have no alternative. I have to start proceeding for closure."

School Board Chairman Howard Runk said the decision would be appealed.

The closure would mean double shifting of O'Leary students at other schools.

The announcement of closure came during a public hearing called on a new junior-high and apparently caught school board members and school administration officials by surprise.

Closure would require O'Leary's 930 students to be taught elsewhere, probably in double shifts at either the high school or Robert Stuart Junior High or both, school officials said.

The first clue that the building would be closed came from Higgins in response to a question at the public meeting on O'Leary principal Carl Snow how long the state might allow the continued use of the deteriorating building.

"My intention right now are closing it June 1 of this year," Higgins said, drawing gasps from about 25 persons who had gathered at O'Leary for a citizens' committee meeting on a proposal to build a new junior high.

Higgins' statement made almost offhand, shocked school board members and left school board staff, George Staudacher in a state of agitation.

"Why didn't you give us prior notice before tonight?" Staudacher asked the fire marshal in a hastily convened gathering following the public meeting. "You're talking about a bond issue to remedy things in this building right now. You're talking about two million dollars. I'm really taken aback."

Higgins told board members and administrators he had sent a letter to Howard last week requesting that action be taken to close the school before the resumption of classes next fall unless extensive renovations were made to bring the building up to standards of the city's fire and life safety code.

Howard said he would start proceedings to close the building as soon as possible.

The decision to close, Howard told board members, could be appealed through the city and later through the state, but he warned board members that he and Higgins would "fight the appeal all the way."

Calling O'Leary "the worst building in my district," Higgins said he had made the recommendation for closure because "I think I have packed the load for the fire danger long enough."

Fire chief Robert Bopp asked the school board to think of the safety of students in appealing the closure decision.

"Not one of us wouldn't be in court if there were a fire," Bopp said.

Bopp said the fire department wanted "to get off the hook. We don't want to live with it anymore."

"You can believe this or not," Bopp told board members, "but I've laid awake nights thinking about this building."

School board chairman Runk said the closure decision left the board "between a rock and a hard place."

Twin Falls O'Leary Junior High School declared fire hazard

Principal 'shocked'

By KEN HODGE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "I'm shocked, I didn't get any sleep last night," Carl Snow, principal of O'Leary Junior High said today after hearing of the planned closure of his school.

"We are talking about a real monstrosity here," Snow said. "I don't think there is any question about the fact that it is a fire hazard."

He mentioned dual half-day sessions involving splitting O'Leary students between Robert Stuart and the senior high school as one possible course of action.

"Robert Stuart couldn't handle all of us," he said the capacity of the newer Stuart is only 750 students compared with the present enrollment of 930 at O'Leary.

If such a half-day session should come about, Snow said, "We are talking about a real problem on transportation."

"I hope that we can find some way of patrolling it, some way to buy time," he added, in hopes that no dual sessions would be necessary.

"The quality of the education offered to students in the event of dual sessions would be lowered," he said.

"I think we would have to eliminate a lot of things in the curriculum, including extra activities."

"I just hope we can buy some time, some protection, until we can get something done."

Split sessions loom

TWIN FALLS — Double shifts at Twin Falls High School or Robert Stuart Junior High may be instituted if O'Leary Junior High School is closed, school officials say.

There is apparently little possibility that the closure of O'Leary would affect a projected October date for a bond election to raise funds for a new building.

In a discussion Thursday night of available alternatives, school board members and administrators suggested the double shifting.

"The high school is the only place," Supt. George Staudacher said. "You're going on double shifts at the high school."

Robert Stuart principal Jack Watts said he was prepared to begin double shifts in the fall if necessary.

Board chairman Howard Runk said today, that double shifting would not be instituted without "considerable investigation" in the event that school appeals to the planned city closure of O'Leary are unsuccessful.

Runk also said the projected October date for the calling of a bond election probably would stand despite the surprise announcement from fire marshal Fred Higgins that he had asked the old junior high be closed.

"It puts us in a bad position but we do need to proceed with caution," Runk said.

If the citizens' committee looking into the proposed bond issue can act prior to an October deadline, Runk said, "we will listen, but probably October is the earliest."

Runk said he could not gauge the effects of double shifting on either educational quality or costs to the school district.

"It's an emergency measure, I think all of us realize that," Runk said, "and it's certainly not ideal as far as the quality of education you can offer."

Runk said he was more concerned about the effect of closure on the district's budget which is projected to be tight next year.

"This is what really scares us," he said. "There's no way but what it (double shifts) is going to add to the costs from the standpoint of transportation."

Other schools as hazardous

TWIN FALLS — Bieker and the older portion of Lincoln Elementary Schools have most of the same fire hazards as O'Leary Junior High School, according to Twin Falls City Fire Marshal Fred Higgins.

Open stairways, flammable ceiling tiles, and thin classroom doors would allow rapid spread of fire in the two schools just as they would in O'Leary.

But Higgins has decided not to close these schools down.

"You want to close down the City of Twin Falls?" he asked. He maintained that strict enforcement of new fire regulations could have that effect.

"I think we're going to have to take these one at a time and the worst things first," Higgins said.

The old elementary schools, he said, are smaller with exits easier to reach. Also, there isn't the fire hazard involved to some extent since there are fewer students, he maintained.

Furthermore, O'Leary's basement floor presents hazard, especially since the floor's ground level windows are covered with immovable screens.

Higgins would not say which building he might recommend shut next.

"You wait," he said.

Hazards told

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With open stairways, thin-panel doors, flammable ceiling tiles, O'Leary Junior High School has been a fire trap since it was built in 1912, according to Twin Falls City Fire Marshal Fred Higgins.

Open stairways, with no door separating the floors of the school building, allow flames, smoke and heat to spread rapidly, he said. Long, open corridors also allow rapid spread of fire, he said, adding O'Leary's corridors are long enough to require two "smoke partitions" to meet fire safety requirements.

The school's interior finish and acoustical tiles also present a hazard, he said. To meet requirements, the flammable ceiling would have to be replaced with a "fire rated" ceiling.

Under fire safety standards, classroom doors would have to be at least 1 1/2-inch thick, according to Higgins. The doors at O'Leary, he said, are thin paneled in the middle, offering little protection.

Screens on the windows of O'Leary's basement floor also present a hazard, he said. The screens could not be opened from the inside, in case of fire, he noted.

Higgins predicted a fire in O'Leary "would probably be a pretty fast fire."

He said that after a 1958 school fire in which 38 children were killed, the City of Las Angeles conducted tests by burning some old schools quite similar to O'Leary.

In five to eight minutes the corridors filled up with enough smoke that people could not use them and in 10 minutes they could not be used, he said.

New law brings closure

TWIN FALLS — Idaho laws — not O'Leary Junior High School's fire hazards — are new, in a letter to Twin Falls City Building Inspector Darrell Howard May 11, Fred Higgins, city fire marshal, declared O'Leary "a fire hazard and a dangerous building" and recommended that it not be used as a school after this school year.

Higgins has decided to enforce Higgins' recommendation.

According to Higgins, new building code standards spurred him to close O'Leary, which has suffered the same fire hazards since it was built.

The new standards, he said, were approved by the 1975 Idaho Legislature but did not go into effect until Jan. 1.

The standards, he said, apply to older public and commercial buildings as well as buildings being built or remodeled. Previously, Higgins said he did not think he had authority to close dangerous old buildings since they were built before newer safety standards were adopted and allowed to stay as they were.

Higgins has warned of fire hazards at O'Leary and other local schools for years.

He said he received a letter last week with the fire marshal's recommendation.

Fire Chief Bobby Bopp this morning said he "certainly supported" Higgins' recommendation.

Bopp said Higgins "discussed the problem with me earlier, and told me he was planning to make the recommendation. I said, 'It looked all right to me.'"

However, the Mayor and some City Council members were apparently caught by surprise by the recommendation.

When reached this morning, Mayor Paul Osborn said he didn't know whether he would support the fire marshal's recommendation.

"This is the first I've heard about it," he said.

Councilman Stephen Bancroft said he also hadn't heard about the fire marshal's recommendation. "I have to know more about the recommendation before I can decide whether to support it," he said.

Councilman Stephen Lincoln also didn't hear about the recommendation until this morning. He said he would support an extension of the Philippine plane hijacked

MANILA. The Philippines (UPI) — Six armed men believed to be Moslem rebels today hijacked a Philippine Air Lines jetliner with more than 100 persons aboard, demanded ransom and asked to be flown to the Middle East, aviation sources said. The plane, a short-distance BAC111 twin-engine jet, was on the return leg of a roundtrip flight from Manila to Davao, 450 miles southeast of Manila, when the hijackers took control and diverted the aircraft farther south to the major seaport city of Zamboanga.

Lebanese fighting cools
BEIRUT. Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting subsided in the Lebanese civil war today but leftist forces and other major Arab powers blocked efforts by Syria to invoke a permanent ceasefire. The savage artillery duels that rocked Moslem-Christian battle lines for 10 days began to die down Thursday amid a heavy rainstorm and intensive political maneuvering. There were reports that President-Salim Hinnawi would resign shortly to allow his successor, Elias Sarkis, to take office. According to political sources, leftists were now willing to hold their fire to allow Sarkis to assume office but whether the new president would be able to institute the Syrian-backed peace program worked out three months ago remained in doubt.

New jr. high supported

TWIN FALLS — Public support for a new junior high school was nearly unanimous at a special citizens' meeting called Thursday night by the District 411 school board.

Only one or two persons dissented when the board's committee co-chairman Donald Slavin asked for a show of hands from those favoring the construction of a new junior high school to replace the badly deteriorating Vera-C. O'Leary school.

Support for the new building followed a surprise announcement by Fire Marshal Fred Higgins that he had asked O'Leary be closed at the end of this school year.

City manager backs closure plan

By BOB ZUCKERMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "We'd sure as hell be derelict in our duties if we didn't support the fire marshal's action," City Manager Jean Miller said today.

Fire Marshal Fred Higgins announced his recommendation to close Vera-C. O'Leary Junior High School on June 1 at a public meeting Thursday night. Building Inspector Darrell Howard also announced last night he plans to initiate legal proceedings to close the school.

When asked if he supported the fire marshal's recommendation, Miller said, "Damn right I do. And it's my job to support it."

Miller said he did not know what the school board would do should the school be closed. But, he said, school officials have "known for a long time they've had a substandard building. It's something that's been discussed for months."

Miller added, "Nobody is trying to shove anybody around by closing a school."

Miller said he has been "aware for some time" that Higgins was examining the school building.

School closing date. "I think the school is unsafe, but the school board is proceeding in good faith to build a new school."

He said students should be allowed to attend O'Leary at the beginning of next year, because "right now, there's no other school big enough to hold 'em."

Councilman Chris Talkington said he first heard about the recommendation today. "I'd heard before that the building was not up to standards, but his is the first time I've heard it was fire standards," Talkington said.

Talkington said he would support the fire marshal's recommendation. The council "can't combat the hard fact" that the junior high does not meet safety standards, he said. "I wouldn't question" the fire marshal's decision, he added.

Councilman Henry Woodall said he also first heard about the recommendation today. He said he wasn't sure if he would support it.

"There's no question the building is old, and construction is needed," he said. "But no accidents have occurred at O'Leary in 50 years to my knowledge," he added.

Carter sets Boise speech

BOISE — Keeping to his promise to campaign in every state where he is on the ballot, Democratic presidential contender Jimmy Carter will arrive in Boise tomorrow for a campaign speech.

Carter, the current frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, will touch down at the Boise airport shortly before 1 p.m. Saturday.

Accompanied by his wife, Carter plans a press conference and speech at the airport.

Idaho, Oregon, and Nevada had presidential primaries Tuesday and Carter is entered in all three states.

Rising tent cities house USSR victims

MOSCOW (UPI) — Vast makeshift towns of tents and trailers are rising in Soviet Central Asia to house thousands of persons left homeless in Monday's devastating earthquake.

The Soviet government Thursday announced plans to provide relief and aid and said army units, columns of mechanized vehicles and construction crews are pouring into the region to render aid.

In the first detailed account of the extent of the destruction, the Tass news agency reported massive property damage in areas of three southern republics as a result of the quake and simultaneous landslides.

The areas are about 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow near the China-Afghanistan border.

Tass said several persons were killed during the earthquake and several others were injured, but did not elaborate.

Uzbekistan was apparently the worst hit by the quake, which measured between 8 and 9 on the Soviet scale of 12, a level more powerful than the quake earlier this month in northern Italy that killed more than 500 persons.

The Tass news agency said "practically all homes, administrative and commercial buildings" were destroyed in the town of Gazli, 50 miles from the quake's epicenter.

Tass said more than 10,000 persons in Gazli alone were homeless.

In the regional center of Bukhara, which is connected by dirt road to Gazli, Tass said many homes and factories were destroyed, but gave no estimate of the homeless there.

In Gazli and Bukhara, construction crews began erecting tents and trailers to replace damaged dwellings, Tass said. Reports of the project suggested it was taking place on a huge scale to accommodate the thousands of homeless.

Extensive destruction also occurred in the neighboring republics of Tadzhikistan and Turkmenia, Tass said. Heavy rains hit the two areas on the same day as the tremors and landslides.

Late Thursday night the Soviets announced the Central Committee of the Communist party and the Council of Ministers passed decrees approving urgent relief for the devastated areas.

Marine Corps may file new charges in recruit's death

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The Marine Corps is investigating whether to court-martial a captain on new charges in the death of a recruit fatally beaten in training.

Capt. Cecil V. Taylor had been charged earlier in connection with the death of Pvt. Lynn McClure, 20, Lakewood, Texas, whose injuries were withdrawn at the request of his defense counsel.

Major Gen. Kenneth W. Houghton, commander of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, said Thursday Taylor had been ordered to answer new charges and an investigation would determine whether there are grounds for a court-martial.

Taylor was accused of disobeying orders, dereliction of duty and assault.

Three sergeants and another captain face the initial next month for the death of McClure, a mentally retarded recruit whose enlistment is being investigated by Congress.

McClure was assigned to a "motivation platoon" for problem recruits and as a disciplinary measure was forced to fight other recruits with pugil sticks, padded poles used in martial training.

A lawyer for McClure's family, which brought a $3.5 million wrongful death claim against the corps, said McClure refused to fight so the drill sergeants ordered other recruits to beat him until he died. Former recruits who said they took part in the beating said they took turns hitting him for 45 minutes, as he covered and screamed for mercy, until he lost consciousness from massive brain damage.

Church accuses Reagan of courting war by talk

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church accused Ronald Reagan of courting war with his get tough statements on Panama Thursday, and said no candidate "should be that hungry to be President of the United States."

In an address to student delegates to the Democratic mock convention, Church said Reagan has recklessly thrust the Panama Canal issue into the campaign.

"Nobody should be that hungry to be President of the United States," he said.

"I am tired of seeing so many old men politicians so willing to send young men off to war," he said, to loud applause from the student delegates.

Church, campaigning in Oregon for Tuesday's presidential primary election, also told the student delegates that he would ask Vietnam draft evaders to come home if he were elected President.

"I throw the doors open for the 200th birthday of the country," Church said.

In remarks to newsmen after his appearance at the mock convention, Church said Jimmy Carter's decision Thursday to remain in Oregon for a weekend of campaigning before the Tuesday primary indicates that the former Georgia governor is falling in the polls.

"I am sure that there is a strong surge for my candidacy," he said.

Church also said he wouldn't believe reports that Sen. Edward Kennedy is now willing to accept a draft for either the Democratic presidential nomination or the vice presidential nomination on a ticket headed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey until Kennedy himself confirms the reports.

The reports were in a copyrighted story in the New York Daily News. Kennedy aides said the Massachusetts Senator has not changed his position against accepting a draft. "I find it very hard to credit that story because of Sen. Kennedy's assertion that he is not a candidate this year. So I really would want to wait until I hear directly from Sen. Kennedy and Sen. Humphrey," he said.

He said, however, that the primary season has already produced surprises among the candidates and that a Kennedy candidacy might be counted among possible events at the national convention.

"But I don't believe the convention is likely to turn away from candidates who have carried their cases to the people," he said.

Church, who has spent more time campaigning in Oregon than any other candidate, has acknowledged that Oregon is a pivotal primary in his three-month-old campaign.

He said he hoped to come to the convention with about 150 delegates, many drawn from the ranks of the uncommitted.

Man catches rare gopher

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "A 1-in-20 million shot," exulted city gardener Richard White on his capture of a rare white gopher after a wild, day-long search.

"I've lifted hundreds and hundreds of gophers out of the holes where I trap them," White said Thursday, "but this is the first time I had a tear in my eye."

The University of California at Berkeley's Biology Department said the chances of finding a white gopher were extremely slim. It was the first ever captured in San Francisco history.

White was clearing gophers and their burrows out of a football practice field at a local high school when he noticed the white gopher poking through the turf.

He methodically closed in on the gopher's tail, plunged his hands and moved in. The gopher spent the night with White before it was taken to the Golden Gate Park's California Academy of Sciences.

Supersonic plane called eco hazard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The B1 bomber is sleek, fast, and the most sophisticated plane ever built. At $100 million a model, it is also the most expensive.

The supersonic bomber has also been called an environmental hazard, and ardent critics say the B1 is unnecessary because the Strategic Air Command's 1626 B-52 can serve into the 1990s and be modernized with cruise missiles.

The Senate, reflecting these concerns Thursday, voted 44 to 47 to delay a decision on beginning production of a projected fleet of 244 B1 bombers until February, 1977.

This would allow — in fact, require — a new president to take a look at the program before his administration is committed to spending billions on it.

The projected fleet would cost $24.6 billion, but over its complete life cycle the United States could spend up to $30 billion on the B1 fleet.

Sponsored by Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, the Senate amendment to the $31.9 billion military procurement bill would require the president to certify after Jan. 1, 1977, that the aircraft is essential to national security before about $1 billion could be spent to acquire the first three production models.

The House passed $33.9 billion military procurement bill authorizes the purchase, and the matter will have to be resolved in a House-Senate conference.

"I hope this means we will be successful in maintaining the delay in the conference," Culver said after his victory.

Indicted surgeon operates

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — A surgeon (indicted on charges of killing five hospital patients ten years ago) scheduled three operations today despite the murder accusations against him.

A spokesman for Jersey City Medical Center said Dr. Mario Jascalevich, known simply as "Doctor X" during the six-month murder probe, intended to perform hysterectomies on three women. Their operations were postponed Wednesday morning when the doctor was arrested at his home as he left for the hospital.

Jascalevich is free on $150,000 bail.

The women have confidence in the doctor and do not object to the operations, the hospital spokesman said.

Jascalevich was charged with murder in the deaths of five patients at the Riverside Hospital in Oradell in 1965 and 1966 when he was experimenting with curare, a muscle relaxing drug.

The investigation leading to the indictment centered on reports that as many as 13 patients at the small, private hospital died suddenly after routine operations.

Prosecutor Joseph C. Woodcock Jr. said the patients showed signs of respiratory failure consistent with curare poisoning.

The state Board of Medical Examiners, which has the authority to suspend or revoke a doctor's license, has not taken action on Jascalevich's case since the indictment. Dr. Edward Albano, state medical examiner, said he is awaiting an official report from the prosecutor.

Stars kick off Idaho's Bicentennial observance

BOISE (UPI) — Commander Lloyd Bucher, actress Allison McKay, the Hemmingway family, athlete Jerry Kramer, former Miss Indian America Louise Edmo, Dixie and businessman Bill Kibbie were part of the star-studded evening that kicked off Idaho's bicentennial commemoration Thursday evening.

The event started with an idea the chairman of the Idaho Park Foundation, George Kading, came up with and centered in a convention hall of nearly noteworthy Idahoans. Nearly 100 of the guests are recognized nationally and internationally for contributions in their field of endeavor.

It was an evening of song, dance and camaraderie that paid tribute to the concepts, products, world records, artistry and bravery woven into the fabric of the 182d year.

Live entertainment included the Oinkari Hasque Dancers, the Eichmann singers and a dramatic perspective of the state's history. Actress-singer Renee Blakely sang "My Idaho Home."

Gem court reverses law limiting firemen's pension

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Supreme Court struck down on constitutional grounds today that portion of a 1974 law limiting pensions of firemen who retire after 20 years to 30 per cent of the average paid fireman's salary.

Chief Justice Jon McFadden wrote the unanimous opinion which reversed an order of the District Court that denied Irvy Curtis Lynn, Court of Appeals, an upward revision in retirement benefits.

Lynn retired after 23 years with the Kootenai County Fire Protection District No. 1 because of a non-service connected disability. He received 20 per cent of the average paid fireman's salary, although had he retired between 15 and 20 years for the same reason he would have received two per cent for each year of service.

He appealed to the Supreme Court on grounds the 1974 amendment as applied to him denied him equal protection of the law under the Fourteenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Prior to the 1974 change in the law, he said, he would have received 46 per cent of the average paid fireman's salary.

The 1974 amendment was unconstitutional and ordered it severed from other portions of the session law amending the Louise Edmo Dixie, Miss Indian America 1972, reflected on what the Bicentennial celebration means to her.

"I appreciate the fact that Idaho took the opportunity to remember the recognition so many Idahoans have brought to the state," she said.

She said she was saddened that more Indians who have contributed to the state were not present at the dinner.

Mrs. Dixie said, "I am proud of this country and what has made it great and that's why I'm here."

"But we must remember that this country did not start when non-White people came here — It was here long before even the Indians."

Commander Lloyd Bucher said, "I believe in this country — I have seen other lifestyles that are basically slavery."

He said his personal life, sports, business and bureaucratic endeavors are "a part of the Idaho Happening."

2 rivers receding in Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — The Portneut and Henry's Fork Rivers are receding, following nearly two weeks of minor flooding. The National Weather Service reports Thursday.

The Henry's Fork gauge at St. Anthony had dropped below the seven-foot flood stage by early Thursday morning and is expected to remain there for at least several days, the weather service said. The river was holding about a half-foot above flood stage at the gauge west of Halexburg but it was expected to drop back to the nine-foot flood stage by Sunday morning.

The Portneut River, near Pocatello is about a half-foot above the eight-foot flood stage and is forecast to drop back to the eight-foot mark Sunday morning.

The weather Service said that even though stream levels are dropping, concerned interests should remain alert for regular forecasts.

Director sought

BOISE (UPI) — The new director of the Department of Parks and Recreation will be sought through the Idaho personnel commission and a nationwide search for applicants, the Idaho Parks and Recreation board announced Thursday.

The board will accept applications until June 30 and will meet to narrow the field of hopefuls at a special July meeting.

Five candidates will be chosen for interviews in the selection process being conducted to replace former department head Steve Bly.

Medical complex planned

BOISE (UPI) — Heritage Corp., Salt Lake City, is negotiating for land in the mountains near Layman where it wants to build a $1 million medical education complex.

Known as the old Goss Ranch, the 70-acre site is about six miles east of Layman on the south fork of the Payette River. They are owned by Hanging Valley Ranch Corp.

Yic Hoshford, Boise, president of Hanging Valley, said if stockholders approve the deal will be closed sometime in June.

Seek authors

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise club which plans to honor Idaho authors at a reception in June is looking for names or information about individuals who should be recognized at the reception.

The Boise Altrusa Club is sponsoring the June 15 event at the Idaho State Library. Lee Hunt is compiling a list of published Idaho authors and individuals with information or names of authors can contact her at 4760 Ridgeway Road, Boise, 83706, or at the Idaho State Library.

Regulation over height reviewed

BOISE (UPI) — An assistant attorney general recommended today that the City of Nampa abide by a height regulation for firemen but suggested the regulation be reviewed because of conflicting testimony about its necessity.

Nampa City Attorney Terrence R. White asked the attorney general's office whether a state regulation forbidding hiring of firemen under five feet, eight inches in height was legal.

State law provides that after Jan. 1, 1975, no entry level fireman may be employed who has not met height and weight standards prescribed by the director of the State Insurance Fund.

After consultation with the Idaho State Council of Firefighters the director of the fund prescribed a minimum height of five feet, eight inches and maximum height of six feet, six inches for newly employed firemen.

Subsequently, the City of Nampa hired a firefighter shorter than the regulation allowed. The director of the Insurance Fund therefore notified the city the man was not eligible for employment.

Assistant Attorney General

David G. High wrote that while the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits such minimum height regulations in employment unless these regulations can be shown to be related to job performance and justified by a genuine business need.

"Whether or not the five feet, eight inch height requirement in this case is justified by business necessity is not a legal question," High said. "Rather it is a factual question which depends for its answer upon a thorough understanding of the job demands of professional firefighters."

He said the Nampa fire chief has indicated he can see no reason for the requirement that the employee in question has performed well and that there are many capable firemen shorter than the minimum height.

However, he said the president of the Idaho Paid Firemen's Pension Association indicated the requirement, together with various other medical standards is essential for upgrading efficiency and effectiveness of firefighting teams.

New Idaho justice seated

BOISE (UPI) — Praised by friends, colleagues and relatives as an independent, courageous and learned in the law, Stephen Bistline became a justice of the Idaho Supreme Court Thursday.

Court, Cecil D. Andrus, who appointed Bistline to succeed Henry F. McQuade on the high court, also had a long-time acquaintance of the 30-year-old judge of office during the 30-minute ceremony in the Supreme Court chambers.

"To the people of the State of Idaho," Andrus said, "you'll find him one of the finest judges."

Don Bistline, the new justice's brother, and Rep. Beverly Bistline, his cousin, both of them Pocatello attorneys, acted as sponsors for the new justice.

After welcoming remarks from Chief Justice Joseph McFadden and the other three justices, Bistline donned his robe of office and ascended to the bench for the rest of the ceremony.

"A day like this is a day we'll remember forever," said Bistline, a Sandpoint attorney who is tapped for the high court.

Gregory W. Olson, Bocatello, president of the Idaho State Bar, complimented the Judicial Council and Andrus for their choice of the new justice and welcomed Bistline on behalf of the bar.

Taking note of Bistline's roots in eastern Idaho and his practice in the northern corner of the state, Olson said both eastern and northern Idaho now feel they have some representation on the bench.

"May your opinions be succinct and learned in the Constitution and administration of justice," Olson said.

McFadden said he hoped Bistline will have a long, challenging and productive career on the court.

Justice Charles R. Donaldson, who has known Bistline since they were in the University of Idaho law school together, termed him "energetic, resourceful and sometimes even witty."

"I think you will contribute much to the court and also to the people of Idaho," Donaldson said.

But he admonished Bistline that he no longer is an advocate and must assume the demeanor and thinking of a justice," see both sides of every issue and then judge what is the law.

Bistline quipped that a friend had suggested he stand at the appellant's table throughout the ceremony.

Justice Alan G. Shepard, also a longtime acquaintance of the new justice, welcomed him to share the workload that often has been divided four instead of five ways since McQuade resigned to accept a federal post to Washington, D. C.

He kidded Bistline about the number of appendices which he has been involved as counsel and suggested the high court's workload from the First Judicial District will be reduced now that Bistline is on the bench.

In a more serious vein, Shepard spoke of the court's need to interpret the Constitution and the laws in light of modern needs and changing times and said he believed Bistline would be helpful in this area.

"I don't think we're blundering and blindly going to the past," Shepard said. "He is entirely practical minded, a fine student of the law — one who can and does provide new solutions to old problems and viewpoints."

Justice Robert Bakes recalled Bistline's competitiveness as an attorney and said that while the sort of competition is over for Bistline, his "competition in ideas is just starting."

Mary Brooks named to Ford campaign

BOISE (UPI) — Six more Idahoans, including U. S. Mtd Director Mary Brooks, have been named to the Idaho President Ford Campaign Advisory Committee.

The six include business leaders and members of Republican party organizations from throughout the state. They are John McMurray and Blaine Evans, both of Boise; Dan Kelly, Mountain Home; and Max Hill and Bob Bushnell, both of Caldwell.

David Leroy, state chairman of the Idaho President Ford Committee, said, "The public endorsement of President Ford by these six prominent Idaho Republicans, along with the previous endorsement by the other 17 members of the President's Idaho Committee show that the President does have a wide base of support throughout the Republican party in Idaho."

Who is to watch the nation's watchdogs?

WASHINGTON — The Roman satirist Juvenal posed a question nearly 2,000 years ago that Congress might usefully ponder today.

commitment felonious entries, engaged in promiscuous and unwarranted wiretaps, and compiled dossiers on thousands upon thousands of Americans who were innocent of any crime.

To be sure, throughout this period the FBI also performed honorably and efficiently in many areas of federal law enforcement.

This does not make the abuses explainable. They can indeed be explained, in terms of a pattern as old as Juvenal's cunning victims.

Are more beds needed for elderly?

Voters in Minidoka County face a tough question Tuesday on a proposed $800,000 expansion of Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

The Tuesday vote probably represents the best chance Minidoka County will have to add more hospital beds for elderly patients.

If voters turn down the 45-bed expansion of the geriatrics ward on Tuesday, a certificate of need issued by the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare for the additional beds will lapse.

When the certificate of need is gone, Minidoka Memorial Hospital for all practical purposes could not afford to build a new addition for the county's old people.

Without a certificate of need from the state, old people using any new hospital facility could not qualify for federal Medicare funds to defray their hospital expenses.

In simpler terms, the Minidoka Memorial Hospital must pass a bond issue to build the geriatrics addition now, or face years of waiting until the State of Idaho again issues a certificate of need for the additional beds.

Health and Welfare probably would not issue another certificate of need to the Minidoka Memorial Hospital for geriatrics expansion because a new facility for senior citizens in Burley has been approved by the state.

The Burley Care Center has received authorization to build a 33-bed addition for care of the elderly.

The enlarged Burley care center will significantly increase the availability of hospital beds for elderly people in the Burley-Rupert area.

The added beds in Burley raises questions about the need for more beds in nearby Rupert.

Construction of an additional 45-bed geriatrics unit at Minidoka Memorial will boost the total number of new rooms for elderly patients to 75, or more.

According to a Health and Welfare survey two years ago, only 52 additional beds for elderly patients are needed in the Mini-Cassia area.

That means nearly one third of the new beds proposed in the area could sit empty if both the Minidoka Memorial Project is approved by voters and the Burley Care Center proceeds with its planned expansion.

However, the Health and Welfare estimate of 52 needed beds came before the closure of the only nursing home in Rupert last year. Some of the patients at Kathryn's Nursing Home probably would use the Minidoka Memorial geriatrics ward which could increase the demand for the facility.

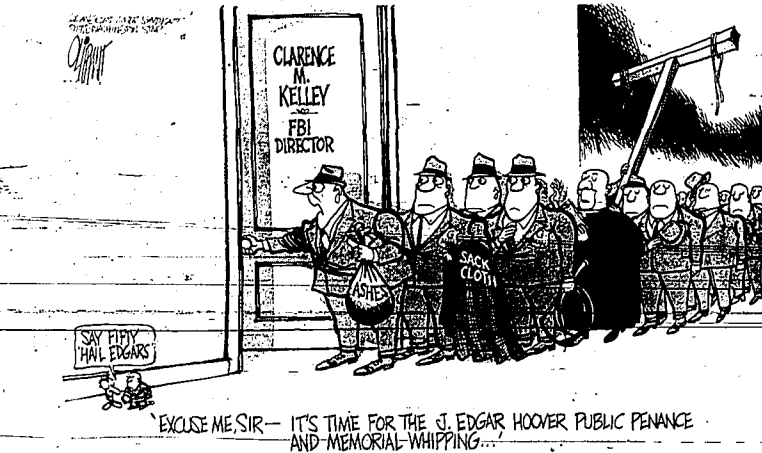

Still, the expansion of both the Burley Care Center and the Minidoka Memorial hospital probably will provide more beds than are necessary to house elderly patients in Minidoka and Cassia counties.

That makes Tuesday's vote on the 45-bed geriatrics expansion difficult.

Clearly, elderly residents of Minidoka County need access to good hospital care. If the $800,000 bond up for a vote Tuesday is defeated, Rupert probably will not get another chance to expand the hospital's geriatrics ward, at least not a major expansion, for some time.

But should a major expansion be built if it isn't needed?

Right now, the need for 45 more beds in Minidoka County isn't certain.

Fed chairman Burns does politically impossible

WASHINGTON — Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns, one of the smartest politicians in town, is as deft as a doctor who can give his patient a shot without making him say ouch.

Burns has figured out a way to tighten credit and raise interest rates without making anybody angry at him. That's always difficult, and usually is considered an impossible challenge in presidential election years.

Coincidentally or not, the Federal Reserve sometimes pumps up credit and lowers interest rates as elections approach, thus winning popularity points. That happened in 1972, although Burns vehemently denies that the central bank was influenced by politics.

Members of the Federal Reserve Board "take the veil," he says. However, the Federal Reserve is not a convent. It is insulated from politics to a degree but not isolated. Many financial experts expected Burns and his colleagues to blow this year, avoiding controversial moves to tighten credit, even if they did resist pressure to ease.

The experts did not reckon with Burns' ingenuity. With the economy advancing briskly, Burns sees a threat of resurgent inflation. To guard against that threat and to keep the economic upturn on a moderate track, he believes it is necessary to slow the growth of money and credit and let interest rates rise.

But such credit-tightening action by the Federal Reserve could be expected to provoke denunciations by congressmen Democrats and at least mild protests by the Ford Administration. Burns does not want to be a martyr. Furthermore, he realizes that the Federal Reserve can be forced to retreat if it defies political realities.

So Burns devised a strategy to tighten credit without making big waves, politically or financially. The strategy is working so far. Credit policy is tightening and interest rates are rising, but financial markets still are functioning smoothly and nobody is denouncing the money managers.

Caution and gradualism are the keys to the strategy. The Federal Reserve is tightening policy in small, barely perceptible steps. Each step is significant and in time will add up to a major policy change, but no single step offers a major target for the critics.

It is a subtle, probing strategy. If there is a sharp financial or political reaction at any stage, the money managers will back up and wait before moving ahead again.

The first step, early this year, was not a move to tighten credit. Rather, the Federal Reserve stopped easing.

It had been pushing progressively to accelerate growth of money and credit and to lower interest rates, in order to spur the economy's recovery from the recession. By early 1976, it decided that the recovery had enough momentum to keep going without additional stimulation from easy credit.

Police then stayed on a neutral plateau, neither easing further nor starting to tighten. While standing pat during this interlude, the money managers laid the groundwork for tightening when the appropriate time came. They made their first clear move to tighten a month ago and will decide this week whether to take the next step or wait a little longer.

The Federal Reserve aims at two sets of targets, interest rates and the money supply, in the market, which drains money from the banking system. To ease, it buys securities, which pumps money into the banks.

The key interest rate under the closest control of the money managers is the federal funds rate, the interest on excess reserves that banks lend to each other in brief periods. As the Federal Reserve acted to boost the economy, it lowered the rate from a peak of 13.55 per cent in 1974 to 5.13 per cent in 1975.

This rate was reduced further and held close to 4.75 per cent early this year, when policy was on a neutral plateau. Then, starting last month, the rate was raised by tiny fractions, and now is at 5 per cent or a shade higher.

Financial markets recognized the moves, but the rate rise has been so small and gradual that reactions have been mild. Other interest rates have risen slightly. There has been almost no political criticism.

Federal Reserve moves to slow growth of the money supply have been equally cautious and subtle. The central bank about a year ago set its target for expansion of M-1 (the narrowly defined money supply consisting of checking accounts and currency) at 5 to 7.50 per cent annually. For M-2 (M-1 plus certain time and savings deposits in banks), the target was an annual growth rate of 8.50 to 10.50 per cent.

Because demand for money was sluggish, actual growth of M-1 fell short of the target in the second half of 1975 and early this year. The money managers lowered the federal funds rate to get M-1 back on the track.

The first small change in the money supply targets took place last October. The Federal Reserve lowered the bottom of the range for M-2 by one percentage point, making it 7.50 to 10.50 per cent. In January, the target for M-1 was changed to 4.50 to 5.00 per cent, reflecting a half-point reduction of the bottom of its range.

These changes were explained as largely technical moves without major policy significance. Critics could not get very excited. Since the top ends of the target ranges were not lowered, the money managers were not explicitly declaring that they were aiming for slower growth.

But they gained additional flexibility by widening the ranges. Without officially changing the targets again, they could aim at a fairly restrictive growth rate of 4.50 per cent for M-1, for example, or an expansive rate of 7.50 per cent.

This was a preparatory step. An actual tightening move was executed last month, when the Federal Reserve for the first time reduced the top ends of the targets by a half percentage point, putting the M-1 target at 4.50 to 7 per cent and M-2 at 7.50 to 10 per cent.

Though slight, the change was significant because it reduced the previous maximum acceptable growth rates for the money supply — and lowered the mid-points of the ranges, which tend to be the real targets.

Typically, Burns emphasizes that the change is small. No big repercussions are likely, so it would be silly for anyone to make a fuss, he implies.

However, Burns does not want anyone to miss the point that the small change is nevertheless a real policy shift. If nobody noticed, the intended impact on inflation psychology would be lost. And the first steps must be recognized and absorbed to lay the groundwork for further tightening.

While citing some technical reasons for lowering the money supply targets, Burns makes it clear that the Federal Reserve acted mainly to guard against an inflationary boom.

"Some downward adjustment in the upper boundary of the growth range for M-1 might have been called for in any event (regardless of technical factors), because a full year of renewed expansion in business activity is already behind us," he says.

"I have advised the Congress repeatedly that, as every economist knows, the rate of monetary expansion would eventually have to be lowered to be consistent with restoration of general price stability.

"The interest adjustment... is a very small but prudent step in that direction. Further downward adjustments will be needed as the economy returns to fuller utilization of its labor and capital resources."

Increased demand for credit had been expected to raise interest rates, even without moves by the Federal Reserve to tighten credit. Higher rates would have been expected to hold the money supply down to the old targets. The policy shift to lower targets will intensify the upward pressure on rates.

If rates rise sharply, or if a severe credit squeeze threatens, or if Federal Reserve policy embraces as a major political issue, Burns will pull back and bid his time. He sees no need to raise a fuss.

Addict protection proposed

WASHINGTON — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed drug addicts and alcoholics — but not homosexuals — be protected under a new law barring discrimination against the handicapped.

The proposed regulations to carry out the first major law guaranteeing the civil rights of the physically and mentally handicapped were opened to public comment by HEW Secretary David Mathews.

The law, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, bars discrimination against the handicapped by federal programs or by any agency receiving federal funds. It also defines as handicapped persons who have no impairment but are treated as if they were handicapped.

In the proposed regulations, HEW says it favors including drug addicts and alcoholics under protection of the law, but not homosexuals, although it could be argued that homosexuality "falls within the class protected" by the law. The issue is likely to be contested by organizations representing homosexuals.

Section 504 was implemented last month 21-2 after its passage by Congress, when President Ford signed an executive order directing Mathews to issue regulations. It may become as controversial as Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, which bars discrimination against minorities, and has led to government action to require school desegregation, or Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits sex discrimination in schools and colleges receiving federal funds.

Under the law, handicapped persons can bring complaints of discrimination regarding employment, the accessibility of buildings, or other issues against local, state and federal governments, public school systems or any private institution receiving federal funds, such as a college or hospital. Failure to comply could ultimately result in withholding or cutting off federal funds.

The HEW proposal Monday figures that when the anticipated costs to implement the law are subtracted from the anticipated benefits handicapped people will gain from it — such as higher income — the net gain will be about $300 million.

Working parents, elderly to pay lower income tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you are working parents, or divorced and paying alimony, or elderly with a low income, chances are your federal income tax bill will be lower in the years ahead.

The Senate Finance Committee, which earlier ripped apart the tax shelter curbs in a major "House tax bill, has turned its attention to the sections of the bill dealing with the average individual, and it likes what it sees.

It already has approved several major individual House provisions without major change, all but assuring they will be part of an eventual tax revision bill.

An unmistakable trend in both bills is to allow certain additional deductions to be claimed even if the taxpayer uses the standard deduction.

Consider the basic provisions approved Thursday by the Finance Committee, which are almost identical to the House bill:

— Child care expenses necessary to allow both parents to work would become a tax credit instead of a deduction and therefore available to everyone instead of just those who itemize. That credit would be 20 per cent of expenses up to a maximum tax saving of $400 for one child and $800 for two. Some 2 million extra taxpayers are expected to claim the credit. Of the 2 million now claiming it, those making $10,000 or less—about half—will get a bigger break, and those making $10,000 or more will get less.

— Those 65 or older with less than $7,500 income (single) or $10,000 (married) could claim the 15 per cent retirement income credit on all income, not just retirement income like pensions—up to $2,500 income for single persons and $3,750 for couples. This would be phased in over three years, extending the number of those eligible for the credit from 660,000 to 2.4 million.

— Alimony deductions would be allowed even if the divorced individual claimed the standard deduction.

However, the committee didn't like a House provision to increase tax deductions for Washington living expenses for congressmen from $3,000 to a formula that would work out to about $7,000 a year. That question likely will be fought out in a House-Senate conference committee.

Kennedy draft 'speculative'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, responding to a published report today that he would accept a "genuine" draft for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the story was "speculative" and his decision not to become a candidate "remains unchanged."

According to a story in today's editions of the New York Daily News, the Massachusetts Democrat "would accept a genuine draft" for the nomination "or would serve as a vice presidential nominee on a ticket headed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey."

Kennedy spokesman Ed Martin, reached in Boston early today, quoted the senator as saying, "I can't prevent speculation but my position remains unchanged."

Asked whether this was a complete denial of the Daily News story, Martin said, "That's right."

The news, which did not quote a source for its story, attributed Kennedy's change of heart from his earlier position against running because of two factors:

— The apparent recovery of his 13-year-old son, Teddy, from bone cancer; and the determination of his wife Joan to copine with the cancer-prone child's next "life."

The second factor was Kennedy's "growing concern that the sweeping legislation that he and other Senate liberals have worked on for the last seven years... would not get full support from (presidential candidate Jimmy) Carter."

The News said, however, that Kennedy "will not hit a finger" to either sanction a draft, or run on a ticket headed by Humphrey. "Nor would he accept a bid to serve as a vice presidential running mate for any other Democrat," the paper said.

Diabetes tests often inaccurate

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Millions of Americans have erroneously told they are diabetics because the standard test for the disease is wrong more than 80 per cent of the time, according to a researcher in diabetes.

"The majority of the patients diagnosed as having diabetes on the basis of the currently accepted standards do not have diabetes mellitus and in all probability will never develop the disease," Dr. Marvin D. Siperstein told a conference at the school of medicine of the University of California at San Diego Thursday.

Siperstein, vice chairman of the department of medicine at the Veterans Administration Hospital in San Francisco, said the glucose tolerance test, the most commonly used to detect the disease, is wrong 90 to 99 per cent of the time.

Switches party

BOISE (UPI) — Charging a group of ultra-conservatives has forced him to lose half his income, Rep. William Onweller, R-Boise, switched to the Democrat Party Thursday.

Onweller, who has served eight years in the House, said he will run as a Democrat for the seat now held by Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise. He said he told Gov. Cecil D. Andrus he was "rampaged by my own party" and asked him if the Democrats would accept him. He said Andrus answered, "yes."

He said six Boise real estate men circulated a petition asking the Veterans Administration to fire him as an appraiser, alleging he was not qualified to work for the VA because of comments he made in a Boise newspaper.

Onweller said the VA then sent a letter cutting him off from about $19,500 of income per year. The VA said if he resigned his legislative seat it would rehire him.

The real estate men, he said, were "anti-land use, anti-environment, anti-government and anti-damn near everything."

"I've got my belly full of it," he said.

King's dad visits

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Don Juan de Borbon's father, Don Juan de Borbon, arrived in Madrid today for talks with his son, Spain's King Juan Carlos. The talks were to deal with the elder Borbon's expected renunciation of his claim to the throne, monarchist sources said.

An official note said simply that Juan Carlos and Don Juan would discuss "family matters."

Don Juan, 63, and his wife Maria de las Mercedes flew in from their self-exile in Estoril, Portugal. The Spanish government provided an official Mystere Jet for the trip and the king met his parents at Barajas airport. The party continued on to the Zarzuela Palace by helicopter.

Fleming collects

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Marv Fleming, who played in a record five Super Bowls during his 12-year professional football career as a tight end, is now an aspiring actor who draws unemployment checks.

Fleming, 34, who played in two Super Bowls with the Green Bay Packers and three with the Miami Dolphins, now lives near Los Angeles. He says he sees nothing wrong with collecting unemployment checks, although he concedes his personal net worth is "in the ball park" of $500,000.

"Sure, I collect unemployment," Fleming told the Orlando Sentinel Star in a telephone interview Wednesday. "Why not? A lot of my friends are into it. I'm unemployed. That's why I draw unemployment."

Jacksons win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four of the Jackson Five singing group Thursday won a lawsuit against Motown records, freeing them from a contract so they can sing for CBS records — apparently as the Jackson Four.

Finding a 12-day trial, a Superior Court judge ruled that the singers' contract with Motown expired March 10. The singers still face a countersuit by Motown, which charged they failed to live up to the contract by refusing to cut records last fall.

The plaintiffs were Sigmund Jackson, 25, and his three brothers, Tarlano, 22, Michael, 17 and Marlon, 19. A fifth brother, Jermaine, 21, split from his brothers when they signed with CBS and remained with Motown, a Motown spokesman said.

'First Mama' cited

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — First Lady Betty Ford, whose Citizens Bandradio handle is "First Mama," has been given honorary membership in the Mississippi Law Enforcement Citizens Radio Net, it was announced Thursday.

"Although I am unable to have an active role, it is a pleasure to have my name listed in this way and I am grateful for this generous expression of friendship," Mrs. Ford said in a letter to highway patrol communications director Bill Massey.

The emergency assistance channel, established by the Mississippi Department of Public Safety last year, is monitored by law enforcement agencies in the state.

Queen honored

BLAIR, Neb. (UPI) — Queen Margrethe II of Denmark, the world's youngest reigning queen, was presented an honorary doctorate degree Thursday by Dana College.

Residents of this eastern Nebraska farm community gave the queen, 36, and her husband, Prince Henrik, the largest welcome since their nearly four-week Bicentennial visit to the United States began May 9.

Douglas' view

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas, who spent much of his career fighting to establish the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, has urged the Senate to protect the park from "irreversible damage" by a nuclear power plant.

Douglas, who is retired in Washington, sent a telegram calling on senators "as an act of conscience" to pressure the Department of Interior to take "immediate legal action necessary to halt this private intrusion on public lands."

Hearing begins on 'Mormon will'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The cast of characters grew as participants gathered for the opening round today of the legal struggle over Howard Hughes' $2.5 billion fortune, the ugliest probate court battle in American legal history.

An army of attorneys was expected to crowd into the 100-seat courtroom for the first hearing on the "Mormon will," the only one of 18 documents filed to date taken seriously enough to be submitted for probate.

Little action was expected in the first session of what also could become one of the nation's longest legal proceedings. The judge and lawyers involved predicted it will take years, decades or perhaps "generations."

Lawyers expected proceedings to be delayed by the many challenges to the will, or at most to deal with procedural questions.

Lawyers appeared from many states. Among those expected was Texas Attorney General John Hill. Hughes' could be claimed as a Texas resident, and the "will" left part of the fortune to the University of Texas.

Involved in the struggle, with the list growing daily, are 16 persons claiming kinship to the dead billionaire; the Summa Corp. he formed to administer his financial empire; a former top aide; five handwriting analysts who cannot agree; a purported desert good Samaritan and other persons and institutions named in the document.

Waiting in the wings, or taking up other actions are local, state and federal governments and criminal investigators curious about the many obviously forged "wills."

Handwriting analyst Michael Krantz of Elridge, Md., Thursday examined the three-page, handwritten document that appeared on a desk in Mormon Church headquarters in Salt Lake City. He was the fifth analyst to examine the document and the third hired by Noah Dietrich, a Hughes aide for more than 20 years, named executor in the disputed document.

He said it would take at least a week to analyze his photos of the document and comparison samples of court-certified specimens of Hughes' writing.

Dietrich's other consultants split, one calling the document a well-executed forgery and the other offering to stake his professional reputation on its authenticity.

Vice squad will take names

DALLAS (UPI) — Vice squad officers in Dallas will begin taking the names of patrons at movie theaters raided for pornography.

"Those people are viewing a possible violation of the law and they are, in fact, witnesses and have an obligation to give us their name and address," D. L. Burgess, commander of the vice squad division, said Thursday.

He denied the customer identification was harassment, saying the names were necessary "in case the state needs them (patrons) to testify" at hearings on whether the film should be ruled obscene.

Burgess said failure to identify oneself, properly was against state law and could result in a $200 fine.

Small chance of showers Saturday

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area. Mostly fair tonight. Partly cloudy Saturday. Chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers today and Saturday. Highs Saturday in the upper 60s to lower 70s. Lows tonight near 30. The outlook for Sunday, chance of showers and mild. Synops: Diminishing winds and clear skies this morning, saw temperature drop to near freezing across the Magic Valley. Temperatures ranged from 33 at Castelford and Burley and 34 at Wendell and Hagerman to a warm 39 degrees at Buhl. With soil temperatures averaging 60 degrees, no plant damage is expected. The coldest low reported was in degrees at Fairfield in the Camas Prairie. High pressure continues over Idaho. Although it is gradually weakening, warm temperatures can be expected over the weekend. However, upper level moisture is flowing northward from Nevada and northern Utah into southern Idaho. This moisture, along with afternoon heating, should cause some thundershower activity, mainly over the mountains. Thundershower activity is expected to occur again on Saturday. The extended outlook for Sunday through Tuesday calls for a little cooler with high temperatures in the lower 70s, overnight lows in the 40s and a chance of rain by Tuesday.

Dog and cat thefts mount

Professional thieves are finding quick, easy cash in suburban backyards with a minimum amount of effort. The commodity is dogs and cats. "And most times the theft is not even reported," said Mike Stover, a local pet store owner. "People just think their dog or cat has strayed off. After a couple of days of checking at the pound, it suddenly dawns on them that they might have been ripped off."

Stover is a host of a daily radio talk show, "Animal Hotline," and the number of stories he receives over the telephone lines indicate to him the thefts are pretty widespread. "The thief hits the suburbs with a panel truck and a little bait and the rest is easy," he said. The bait is a female dog in heat. "It's just like the Pied Piper. The thief walks down the street with his bitch in tow and all the male neighborhood dogs will follow him right into the truck. The only effort he has to exert is taking off the dog collars and throwing them away. Then he's off."

It's easy to cash in on the dog-catcher. "They just keep the pets until rewards are posted in the newspapers and then they call up and say they found the pet wandering around the neighborhood," Stover said. "The rewards for the bigger, pedigreed breeds can run up into the hundreds of dollars." There also is another source for revenue — the research laboratories.

Disclosure rules eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission said today it may order used car dealers to tell their customers about any known defects in the cars they sell. The defect information would be added to a sticker on the car, along with other information — such as mileage, type of prior use and what repairs were made before the car was offered for resale. The agency originally proposed the disclosure rules in January. It said today it is expanding the original proposal to include known defects and to make the requirement apply to sales between dealers as well as to dealer-consumer transactions. The agency is collecting information and inviting public comment on the proposal before it decides whether to issue a final rule on the matter, perhaps later this year.

Billy's tombstone returned

FORT SUMNER, N.M. (UPI) — The tombstone of Billy the Kid has been returned to Fort Sumner, where the legendary Wild West figure was shot and killed by Marshal Pat Garrett and buried on July 14, 1881. The tombstone disappeared from William "Billy the Kid" Bonney's grave in the Old Fort Sumner Cemetery Aug. 30, 1950. Joe Bowlin, who owns a museum at Fort Sumner, said he recovered the grave marker in a field at a ranch near Granbury, Tex., and returned it to Fort Sumner earlier this week. Bowlin said the grave stone will be reinstalled in its place at the old Fort Sumner Cemetery June 19 during the Old Fort Days, an annual community celebration. A customer told a museum employee last year where the tombstone could be found, Bowlin said. "How it got in that field is the 64-thousand-dollar question," said a sheriff's office spokesman in Granbury. "It could have been there for the whole 26 years it was missing." The marker says at the top

"Truth and History". On the next line appear the words "21 Men," the number of gunshot victims attributed to the young gangfighter. Listed as born Nov. 23, 1859 — died July 14, 1881, Billy was called on the headstone "The Boy Bandit King — He Died As He Lived." Billy the Kid, who was born in southwestern New Mexico, was gunned down by Garrett after the young bandit escaped from jail at Lincoln in south central New Mexico. Garrett trailed him to Fort Sumner, in the east central part of the state.

Rupert seeks extension on well

RUPERT — Rupert is asking a lime extension to pump from its well at Big Valley Park.

The council Tuesday authorized Frank Leibrick.

consulting engineer, to draft a request to the State Department of Water Resources for an extension on its temporary permit to pump water there.

The use permit expires June

Leibrick told the council he felt the extension could be obtained because the health department has called for additional measures to be taken there. He said health officials want a cutoff valve installed to assure that the irrigation water will not get into the city's culinary water supply.

Leibrick also asked the council to prepare a list of projects for which he can justify. Environmental Protection Agency funding. He said even a building for the residence of the sewer superintendent could be eligible.

Mayor Wendell Johnson signed an EPA contract concerning the sewer system and was authorized to sign a request for the engineering reimbursement on the project.

Leibrick presented a progress report in connection with the request for reimbursement.

Board discusses state health plan

BY BONNIE BAIRD-JONES

TWIN FALLS — Lee Biggs, health officer, met Wednesday with South Central Health District board members to discuss a State Health Plan for health services through the districts and state offices.

She said this plan will be developed on a basis of input from the state districts, and the people, and will be based on needs priorities.

"The idea is to get an estimate of the needs of the people of Idaho and establish a plan for meeting those," she said.

Ms. Biggs said the first draft of the plan should be ready by July 1 and will then be discussed by boards in the seven health districts of Idaho and by persons who conduct the programs.

As part of the objectives of preparing the plan, the exact costs of each program such as immunizations will be determined. In direct relation to benefits gained, Ms. Biggs said.

Ms. Biggs, who came to Idaho from Nevada where she worked as a nurse practitioner, said her new position in Idaho will serve as a model. This is the first instance in the nation, she said, in which a nurse and doctor are sharing administrative responsibilities in a state-wide health services program.

Robert Paine, attorney for the board, reported on the proposed subdivision ordinance prepared by the health department and his office. He suggested it be adopted and copies be sent each county in the district for adoption or rejection by counties. Those adopting the ordinance should submit a part of their own regulations for a uniform subdivision standard throughout the state. The health district proposals deal with septic tank, well locations and well density.

Lacelle Jacobson, district nursing supervisor, reported of a new federally-funded program called "WIC," which is designed to help provide nutritional food for women, infants and children of low income families. She says "WIC" stands for Women, Infants and Children.

She said the program is available at no cost to the health districts and involves maintaining a nutrition specialist to advise on types of foods needed for pregnant women, infants and children living on low incomes.

These supplemental food items then would be available to the individuals at no cost, she said, adding health districts would administer the service.

Mrs. Jacobson said she feels the program has many advantages but many look on it with disfavor in connection with food stamp programs.

Stock car races Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Stock car racing will get under way in the Magic Valley Saturday afternoon at the new Thunder Speedway located just south of Nat. Soc. Park.

The Southern Idaho Stock Car Racing Association will sponsor the weekly races. Gates will open at 1 p.m. with practice laps and time trials preceding the first race to begin at 3 p.m.

Admission for this first race will be free to the public and concession stands will be open.

News of servicemen

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Cynthia Warren, Twin Falls, plans to enter the Army on June 2.

Mrs. Warren, whose husband, Pvt. Emory Warren, is presently stationed at Ft. Dix, N.J., says she will be transported to McCholton, Ala., where she will enter the secretarial program.

Pvt. Warren is taking basic training at Ft. Dix where he is in the auto mechanics program.

RUPERT — Ronald S. Saylor, Rupert, was presented the Black's Outstanding Military Science II Award during recent ceremonies held by the Idaho State University, unit of the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) at Pocatello.

Liquor agency sued

HAILEY — The State Liquor Dispensary has been sued here by a Ketchum merchant who contends the State agency's regulation powers are too good.

Man reports stolen radio

TWIN FALLS — Jack McNeill, Eden, told Twin Falls police this week someone broke into his parked automobile and removed his citizens band radio unit.

The theft occurred between 1 and 3 p.m. He said, while the vehicle was parked at the Magic Bowl bowling alley, in Twin Falls. Loss was estimated at $129 with another $50 damage to the vehicle.

3 scuba divers pull plug on Teton Lake

TWIN FALLS — Three scuba divers have successfully removed the plug in the 100-foot deep Teton Lake to activate the new power plant there.

Officials of Miller Construction Co. Twin Falls who were hired to remove the concrete bulkhead, said Wednesday Ed Beckman and Ronald Selber, both Twin Falls, and Jerry Dille, Nampa, removed the 22-ton bulkhead last week.

Sunday the divers returned to the near-freezing water to replace the trash rack which covers the top of the 65-foot structure built over and around the bulkhead on the lake floor.

The divers first had to remove the trash screens so they could submerge to the lake floor.

Bob Dickerson Twin Falls.

Miller Construction Co. official, said a mechanism in the bulkhead lifting apparatus allowed both air and water underneath the huge piece of concrete to give it enough buoyancy to raise it to the surface.

He said one diver remained on the surface while the other two submerged during each of the operations. The removal of the big plug allowed water to flow into the penstock to activate the newly built power plant at the Bureau of Reclamation project east of Rigby.

The Miller company was employed for the project by the prime contractors, Morrison-Knudsen, Boise, and Peter Kiewit, Idaho Falls, because the Twin Falls firm had barges large enough to operate the crane in that area for another job.

Rapist given 25 years

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge W. E. Smith sentenced Michael Hightower, 25, Boise, to 25 years in prison Wednesday for raping and kidnapping a Boise State University coed three years ago.

Judge Smith called Hightower a person who has a "violent propensity and takes hostility out on women." He said the public and society cannot tolerate that.

An eight-man, four-woman jury convicted Hightower of the charges March 30.

Sign removal opposed

RUPERT — Residents in South Rupert are opposing removal of a four-way traffic stop in that area.

A petition with about 50 signatures opposing the removal was presented to the Rupert City Council Tuesday night.

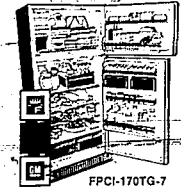

The four-way stop was installed at the intersection of Walnut and East Third streets

Food, gas costs rose in April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After a winter of easing inflation, prices that consumers pay for food, gasoline and household necessities began to rise faster in April.

The Consumer Price Index climbed 2.9 per cent in January, February and March for the slowest gain in six years. This compared with 7 per cent in 1975.

The tempo of retail price increases for food and gasoline quickened in April, government economists said Thursday.

Because of the timing of the Labor Department's monthly price survey, gasoline prices may not be reflected fully in the April CPI.

The economists said prices rose enough for other components, especially food, to push the CPI above monthly increases of four-tenths of one per cent in January, one-tenth in February and two-tenths in March.

The Commerce Department Thursday confirmed that the CPI inflation measure last winter was on the mark.

Commerce Dept. Gross National Product's "deflator" that combines both wholesale and consumer prices rose 3.5 per cent in the first quarter of 1975. It was the lowest increase for the deflator since 1973.

The lower inflation rate — preliminary estimates placed it at 3.7 per cent — and higher consumer spending contributed to an upward revision in real GNP to 4.2 per cent in the first quarter. April's preliminary data estimated the gain at 7.5 per cent.

Real GNP, which eliminates inflation's impact, was $1,231 billion, or $2.0 billion higher than the preliminary estimate of $1,230 billion.

GNP measures the dollar value of the nation's production of goods, such as machinery, cars, houses and clothing, and services — health care, banking and insurance.

In other developments during the first quarter of 1975, the Commerce Department said:

- The federal budget deficit was $69.1 billion at an annual rate, down $3 billion from the final quarter of 1975. Income, primarily from taxes, increased 12.5 per cent in the first quarter, increased 10 billion to offset a $7 billion rise in spending.
- Corporate profits after taxes increased 5.5 per cent to $148.5 billion from the rate of $143.3 billion from the fourth quarter of 1975. It was the highest quarterly level for profits since the Arab oil embargo began in the fall of 1973.

Typhoon Pamela rakes Guam island

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — Typhoon Pamela raked the American island of Guam with 150 mph an-hour winds today, churning up 10-foot waves that swept ashore and cut the island's main highway to the south.

Authorities said at least 30,000 persons — one third of the island's population — were stranded in the southern portion when the highway was washed out.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from Pamela, which killed 10 persons when it hit the Caroline Islands three days ago.

About 1,500 miles west, a second typhoon — Olga — hit the island of Luzon in the Philippines. Flash floods from Olga "already have killed 22 persons —

In Guam, Typhoon Pamela — with gusts up to 190 miles per hour — slowed its forward progress to about six miles per hour as it approached the peanut shaped, 30-mile long island from the southeast, according to the weather bureau.

The storm dumped heavy rains along coastal areas, uprooted trees, and threatened Guam's million-dollar vegetable crop.

Whipping into a super typhoon as it rolled across the Pacific, Pamela hit Truk in the western Caroline Islands 60 miles southeast of Guam Tuesday, touching off mudslides that killed at least 10 persons.

Military and civilian authorities in Guam ordered residents to move into typhoon shelters and police were ordered to abandon their patrols and take cover.

In the Philippines, Typhoon Olga, with winds of 67 miles an hour, hit 11 provinces and covered island today.

Olga dumped more than 16 inches of rain on Manila in the last two days, producing flash floods that drove more than 20,000 persons from their homes.

Sixteen of the storm's 22 victims died in the rising waters. Two flight aircraft with 12 persons aboard were missing in stormy waters south of Manila.

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos declared a "state of calamity" in the Manila area and neighboring provinces and suspended work in all government and private offices except those involved in emergency operations.

The proclamation froze food prices and imposed stiff penalties against hoarders and profiteers.

Marcos also ordered the air force to conduct cloud-seeding operations in the mountain areas northwest of Manila to induce rainfall from the storm clouds away from the population centers.

Big scramble for Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The quest for votes in Tuesday's primary aimed at the 300,000-plus Tennesseans who gave George Wallace a landslide victory four years ago.

With Wallace and other Democratic bumper cars all but abandoning this border state to Jimmy Carter, a big scramble is on for the "Wallace vote."

Carter has generated more excitement among Democrats regulars than any candidate in recent years. Some party leaders predict he will get as much as 65 per cent of the popular vote and a big chunk of the state's 46 Democratic electoral votes.

While debarred Wallace supporters will remain with the Alabama governor, most who voted for him in 1972 are expected to switch to Carter or Reagan in the primary.

Republican primary. Tennessee has no party registration law.

The depth of the crossover could be the deciding factor. President Ford's campaign strategists may argue, but most observers agree Ronald Reagan will benefit most from crossover voters in his bid for the 43 GOP delegate votes.

Ford's twin victories in Michigan and Maryland, coupled with campaign stops last weekend in Memphis and the GOP heartland of upper East Tennessee, gave his campaign here a badly needed boost.

Mrs. Meir receives award

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Israeli Premier Golda Meir is the first foreign born citizen to receive the AFL-CIO's highest award for her efforts to international welfare.

The Philip Murray-William Green Award, first given in 1947, was presented to Mrs. Meir Thursday night at a banquet held amid extremely tight security precautions.

The award, reporters and cameras were barred from the award ceremony, but later were allowed to view the presentation. Before Mrs. Meir was escorted into the room by President George Meany, all the waiters were asked to leave. They returned to the ballroom only after Mrs. Meir was seated at the raised table. One official explained that the reason was "many of the waiters had Arab backgrounds."

In a speech to the trade union audience, Meany urged continuing support of Israel because its "neighbors have practically taken an oath in blood to destroy her."

"The first requirement for peace in the Middle East," he said, "is a commitment to the sovereignty of Israel by Israel's neighbors."

Jury makes definition of death

BOSTON (UPI) — A jury, which convicted a teen-ager of murder, decided the victim died before doctors turned off a respirator.

Chief Justice Walter H. McLaughlin of Superior Court said if the Massachusetts Supreme Court upholds the verdict, it would set a precedent and make Massachusetts the only state in the nation with a definition of death determined by a jury.

The jury in Suffolk Superior Court Thursday before finding Seligfried Golstien, 18, of the Dorchester section of Boston guilty of the murder of Ronald J. Salem, 31, of Medford,

Texas flies French flag

HOUSTON (UPI) — For the first time since Texas was a colony the French tricolor flew over the state — but this time it symbolized cooperation instead of domination and rule.

The small French flag was displayed outside the cockpit of the airplane that landed Thursday as the super-jeet carried President Valery Giscard d'Estaing to a meeting with Gov. Dolph Briscoe and businessmen and ranchers.

"I am adding a new and up-to-date dimension to all the ties between us," Giscard said

Pound sinks lower.

LONDON (UPI) — The pound sank to another record low today against the dollar, $1.79, and immediately tumbling even lower.

The opening quote was $1.7883 and within half an hour was down to $1.7825, setting a new record low value with almost every trade.

"It's a very nervous market," one dealer said. "There is persistent selling, though not on a very large scale."

The ailing British currency, in grave trouble for months, also dropped against other currencies — 14 — effective immediately against them since December, 1971, according to 38.5 per cent, a new record.

Clover L.W.M.L. features luncheon

FILER — The May meeting of the Clover Lutheran Women's Missionary League featured a luncheon with mothers and daughters of members as guests.
Mrs. Richard Turrent presented a topic on "A Parent For All Seasons." She said, "Parents never stop being parents, even after their children are grown. Parents have a special brand of love — and love has a way of being closely connected with a never ending responsibility."
The delegates to the recent Fifth District L.W.M.L. convention in Salt Lake City gave a report. Committees reported making seven calls to 10 members, serving at two wedding receptions, mailing 16 packages to the Paper Peace Corps in various overseas areas, taking a load of handcraft materials to the Adult Training Center in Twin Falls, sending two quilts and children's clothing to the Navajo Indian Mission, sending birthday cards to the residents of the Good Shepherd Home, and sending bulletins to members away from home.

Mrs. David Kramer will present the topic on "How To Study Your Bible" at the June meeting.
Mrs. David Lutz read greetings for those having May birthday anniversaries. Mrs. Edgar Meyer directed a written quiz on the word "Mother." Mrs. Kenneth Reinken read a story "What Mother Means To Me," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gary Schroeder. Mrs. Reinken, Mrs. Dennis Lutz, Mrs. John Lutz and Mrs. Albert Schroeder will be presenting a pantomime on Mothers.

The meeting closed with group singing. Mrs. Edwin Lierman led in prayer. Hostesses were Mrs. Arthur Kister and Mrs. Vernon Lassen. Mrs. Eugene Schroeder and Mrs. Robert Schroeder were members-at-large.

Declo seminary graduation held

MALTA — "Choose you this day whom ye will serve; but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" was the theme of the Declo LDS Stake Seminary graduation held Friday night at the Malta Ward Church.
Prelude and postlude music was played by Susan Booth. Wayne Hurst, Declo president, gave the welcome address and congregational singing was directed by Kim Durfee.
The invocation was given by Rev. Dan Huntington.
Student speakers were Elizabeth Allred and Tranny Powell. Mervin L. Gifford, introduced by Carl Taylor, Declo teacher, was the guest speaker.
Lola Barnes, Susan Booth, Kathy Harper and Debbie Sundberg sang, accompanied by Marie Schorhan.
Steven L. Blake, Malta, Seminary teacher, presented the addresses and they were accepted by Joseph A. Gillett, president of the stake. Awards were given by Declo and Malta teachers.
Graduates include Miss Durfee, Jeffrey Jones and Arlene Lloyd, all Almo; Darwin Nicolson, Miss Powell and Dona Bell, Bonnie Yeaman (2-year certificate), all Albion; Elizabeth Alvord and Susan Boyer, "Handy" Cottler, Harold Harper, Paul Stewart and Naomi Jean Anderson (1 1/2 years), all Malta; Betty Jean Kimber, Gress Creek; Louise Darrington, Max Darrington, Randy Hess, Hurst, Cheryl Lind, Sharon Arrowsmith, Beverly Hurst and Allen Osterhout (2 1/2 years), all Declo. 2 Cottages gave the benediction.

Kimberly women visit group

FILER — Members of the Kimberly Lutheran Women's Missionary League were guests of the Peace group at their May meeting in the fellowship hall.
Other guests included women of the congregation who are not members of the L.W.M.L.
Mrs. Don Egner was in charge of the opening devotional "Love and Mercy." This is a Mother's Day. Mrs. Vivian Howe, Twin Falls, spoke on Bible for the blind and demonstrated a machine which prints materials for the blind. Mrs. Howe has been printing Sunday School materials for 16 years on the machine and these are sent to different places in the United States. A collection was taken which will be sent to the Lutheran Synod Mission Board in Minneapolis, Minn.
Members voted to pay for new shrubs which have been planted west of the fellowship hall on the church grounds. They also bought 20 of the bi-centennial medallions which the AAL is selling.
The group voted to furnish cookies for the vacation Bible School which will be held May 30 to June 6. The convention report will be presented at the June meeting.
The speakers table was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers and jewelry in a wooden jewel box which had been arranged by Mrs. Reuben Lierman. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over lavender and refreshments were served by Mrs. Roland Ulrich, Mrs. John McCandless, Mrs. Ralph Lierman and Mrs. Ernest Thickett.

Presbyterians seek fellowship

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Presbyterian Church invites interested people of the community to share with them in a variety of worship services on Sunday mornings.
The 9:30 adult fellowship group is currently studying a series entitled "Fun Family Forum" by Rev. Charlie Shedd. This series will continue through the month of May.
Church school for all ages is offered at 9:30 a.m. with child care available in the nursery for children under 3 years of age. A summer Sunday-school program will be offered during the summer months beginning June 6.
A breakfast will be held in the first-stone lodge for graduating Twin Falls High School Seniors at 10 a.m. They will then attend the 11 o'clock worship service. The seniors are asked to wear their boutonnieres.
At 11 o'clock service this Sunday in the sanctuary Rev. Robert Van Nest will deliver a sermon titled "Deal Me In." During this service Van Nest and Rev. Thomas Young will honor the graduates of Twin Falls High School Class of 1976. The Chancel Choir will sing "The Heavens Are Telling" from the Christmas cantata.
The 10 a.m. summer worship hours begin May 30.

Former Redaptive to speak

TWIN FALLS — Lorraine Schultz, who was held captive by the Communists in Cuba and Africa, while serving as a missionary there, will speak Sunday morning at the First Church of the Nazarene in Twin Falls.
She will address the congregation at 11 a.m. All interested persons are invited to attend. Miss Schultz will tell of her experiences and of her answered prayers.
She was one of several Nazarene missionaries held prisoner in Cuba. Lorraine Schultz will be guest speaker at the 7 p.m. service Sunday. He will deliver an inspirational message and be available on Monday by appointment to meet with members who wish help in arranging their wills. Inspirational music will be furnished by the sanctuary choir and other groups during Sunday services.

Lynwood Chapel to show film

TWIN FALLS — The Lynwood Chapel will be showing a color film "He Restored My Soul" Sunday evening at 7 p.m.
The film is based on an actual happening to a concert artist, Merrill Winback, who was critically burned in the crash of his airplane.
Sunday morning Bible classes are at 9:45 a.m.; worship service, 11 a.m.; Sunday evening fellowship hour, 7 p.m.; Wednesday, Bible study, 7:30 p.m. All are invited to attend any or all of the services, says Jacob Quiring, pastor.

Mayfest Dancers perform

TWIN FALLS — The Mayfest Dancers of Pacific Lutheran University, Tacoma, Wash., will perform Tuesday at Our Savior Lutheran Church.

The Twin Falls performance is open to the public and will be at 8 p.m.
The dance group of 40 students will be performing dances native to many other countries. Dancers will dress in costumes native to the country in which the dance originated. Members of the group are presented on a basis of competitive tryouts at the university. Members practice throughout the year and tour during early summer, presenting their colorful dances before audiences in several western states.

The repertoire includes authentic folk dances from throughout the world, but primarily from European and Scandinavian countries.
During the last several years the Mayfest dancers have received acclaim in many major performances. For two years the group toured California performing at Disneyland and other special locations.

Last year they participated in Expo '74 on two separate occasions. Their performance was featured in the Grand Finale of Expo '74.
The dancers performed at international festivals in both Washington and Oregon, and traditionally they are featured at the Pacific Lutheran University's Lucia Bride Festival at Christmas.

Many organizations, churches and schools in the Pacific Northwest, and especially in the Seattle-Tacoma area have seen their performances. On May 1 the dancers perform their twin annual First of May celebration performing in the dance festivals of their European counterparts, observing the return of spring.
Last spring the group toured Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota. This year their tour also includes other cities in Idaho as well as Utah, Nevada and California. They will travel up the coast from San Diego on their way back to Tacoma.

Student sets talk at Filer

FILER — Marvin Graber, a blind college student from Goshen College, Indiana, will present a program of contemporary and country music and of his own work as a blind person at the Filer Memorial Church.

This is the fourth year Marvin has toured while a Goshen student. His program will include music with harmonica, guitar and mandolin and will have songs which are the content of two albums he has recorded.
The first album has sold over 1,300 copies and the second is to be released this spring.
The Goshen College student's tour, which will be accompanied with another program in the month of May. Goshen students will include 47 students, will include 12 students from April 11 to June 6.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Sunday services at the Christian Science Church at 160 Ninth Ave. E. are at 11 a.m. The lesson sermon is entitled "Egal and Eter" by Willie Schell, at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday evening services are scheduled for 8 p.m. The reading room at 115 Second St. W. is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.
TWIN FALLS — Rev. Jerry Ellis, who served as a missionary to Mexico, will speak about his work in that country at the service of the Church of Twin Falls Sunday. Rev. Gene Andrew, pastor, said services will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The church is at 454 Highland.

Rally guests
THE PROVINCIALS Trio from Alberta, Canada, will appear at a sectional youth rally Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church, 406 1/2 St. Rupert. The trio consists of Don and Rita Irvin and Percy Evans. The Bible is invited to attend this rally.

Lafey will be honored by St. Edward's Parish

TWIN FALLS — An appreciation reception will be held Sunday after the 10 a.m. mass in St. Edward's Parish Hall for Father Thomas Lafey. Rev. Lafey came to Twin Falls on June 22, 1971, following Monsignor Edmund R. Cody, V.G. and as of June 1 will become pastor of St. Charles Parish in Halley with a mission in Fairfield.

Rev. Lafey has served as dean of the South Central Diocese for two terms and will continue in this position through the parish in Halley.
He was one of the original members of the Priests' Senate, serving three terms and as vice-chairman. He serves on the Bishop's Personal Board which is responsible for making changes in the priest's appointments in Idaho.
Rev. Lafey is one of the bishop's diocesan consultants and has served three years on the priestly life and ministry committee. He has been state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus for the last two years.

Elder Rector will speak at Richfield conference

CAREY — Elder Hartman Rector Jr., a member of the First Council of the Seventy of the LDS Church, will speak at the Richfield Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday in Carey. There will be a leadership meeting at 7 a.m. Saturday. The public is invited to attend the Sunday conference session at 10 a.m. in the Carey Ward Chapel.
Stake president, Oral G. Stewart will conduct the meetings.
Elder Rector has been a member of the First Council of the Seventy of the LDS Church since April, 1968, and recently has presided over the Alabama-Florida Mission of the Church.

A former naval aviator, he holds the rank of captain in the United States Naval Reserve, and for 10 years was with the U. S. Department of Agriculture where he was program and budget analyst in the office of Budget and Finance in Washington, D.C.
Elder Rector was converted to the church in 1952 along with his wife, Constance. Kirk Daniel, whom he married in 1947. They are the parents of eight children.
Elder Rector was born Aug. 20, 1924, at Moberly, Mo. He was reared on a farm near Moberly where he graduated from high school and junior college. In 1942, he enlisted in the naval reserve cadet program, became a naval aviator and was commissioned in 1945 with the rank of ensign. He was released from active duty in 1947, but was recalled in 1951, and saw action in Korea, remaining on active duty until April, 1954.
During his service in the navy he received additional education at several colleges and universities, including Murray State Teachers College, Kent State and the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

He was ordained an elder in 1952, and a seventy in May, 1956. He has served the church in many positions, including four and one half years as a stake missionary. He was a counselor for one year in the Washington Stake mission and for two years was stake mission president. He was president in the 253rd Quorum of Seventy for three years; stake MIA superintendent for three years and for five years was the senior president of the 22nd Quorum. He also served five years as a ward missionary teacher.

Night club called Revelation Lounge

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Miami Beach's newest night club is called the Revelation Lounge.
But you couldn't get a cocktail there to save your soul, because that's what it's all about — soul saving.

The Revelation, which opened Friday night, is the area's first non-alcoholic, religious nightclub and is located in the middle of a stretch of garish motels and nightspots.
The dimly lit lounge looks much like any other on the inside, with mirrored walls, a stage and a small bar, but the Gospel rock band plays church music only, and the drinks are soft.
"It will give Christian young people some place to go for entertainment where the atmosphere is wholesome and there is no drinking," said Bob Heiple, the manager.

The 27-year-old guest evangelist for the Assemblies of God Church added: "It will give Christian people a place to invite their unsaved friends. It's sometimes difficult for them to invite unsaved friends to church, but they can easily take them to a nightclub."
Opening night Friday, was less than a complete success, however.

The sheet ceiling in the back room fell down, the band was delayed and most of the waitresses have never been waitresses before," Heiple said.

"I know I can work," he said, undaunted.
At least two of his first night customers were pleased. "The name, Revelation, is what brought me here," said Doug Wade. "I like the book in the Bible, but it stands for 'I came here to see if it's going to do what we've been praying for,'" said Rita Lubisch. "We've been hoping for a place to become an outreach for young people. I hope this works."

Presbyterians elect black woman to post

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Thelma Davidson Adair has been elected moderator of the United-Presbyterian General Assembly — the first black woman ever to hold the highest elected position in the church.
Mrs. Adair, 55, was elected Wednesday at the 188th General Assembly and said the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. She competed with four other persons to become the second woman and third black to be elected moderator.
The new moderator said the church must give full participation in its activities to women and to minorities who "have been historically excluded."

She did not, however, commit herself to the ordination of homosexuals to the ministry — a question which has been scheduled to come up before the General Assembly.
She called the issue "extremely divisive" and said more time was needed to study it.

LDS Church aims program at unwed expectant moms

TWIN FALLS — The LDS Church is spearheading an LDS social services outreach program aimed at the unwed expectant mother.

Dan Crook, consultant for unwed parents at LDS Social Services, Boise, says more than one million American girls are faced with this dilemma each year.

Crook says his program is concerned with the trend toward abortion and is attempting to increase public awareness of existing alternatives and services.

"Oftimes decisions concerning an expected child are hastily made under pressures from parents, friends or the father of the child," he says. "But the harsh reality is the resulting consequences."

"It is the expectant mother who must live with the results of a decision. Far too often the choice made is one the girl comes to regret."

Joel A. Tate, advisory board chairman for LDS Social Services and president of the Twin Falls West Side of the church, says outreach efforts are aimed primarily at clearing up misconceptions about agency services for unwed parents.

In the Twin Falls area the people who may be contacted as outreach workers include Ann Stark at 536-2180, Buhl; Violet Hauser at 536-5152, Piler; or Dixie Phillips at 733-8382, Twin Falls.

"Any girl, regardless of religious orientation, may participate in the program, simply by direct telephone request or personal visit," says the agency spokesman.

"Ecclesiastical involvement is encouraged, but optional," he adds. "If it becomes evident during the counseling process that unresolved guilt feelings are troubling a program participant, she will be encouraged to handle these with her religious leader, but it is not mandatory that she do so."

Crook says it is the mother's decision whether the child will be released for adoption or kept by its mother. Babies released for adoption are placed in LDS homes, he says.

According to Crook, LDS Social Services offers unwed parents a basic program of counseling, foster care (if desired) for duration of pregnancy, medical services, prenatal instruction, schooling through private tutoring and volunteer services, for provision of diversionary and other appropriate activities.

Participants desiring follow-up and rehabilitative services may also receive assistance, he says.

"All matters relating to the unwed mother's involvement with LDS Social Services are strictly confidential, says a program representative.

Acknowledging the strong position against abortion taken by the LDS Church, Crook says some girls are influenced toward abortion by well-meaning friends and family members, not fully aware of programs such as the one offered by LDS Social Services.

He says he believes the problems resulting from abortion — particularly for girls with a strong religious orientation — is guilt that often interferes with future happiness and emotional stability.

Tate says the basic thesis set down in a bulletin published by the church in 1973 states, "The Church opposes abortion and counsels its members not to submit to or perform an abortion except in the rare cases where, in the opinion of competent medical counsel, the life or good health of the mother is seriously endangered or where the pregnancy was caused by rape and produces serious emotional trauma in the mother."

"Even then it should be done only after consulting with the local presiding priesthood authority and after receiving divine confirmation through prayer."

The statement goes on to say, "Abortion must be considered one of the most revolting and sinful practices in this day, when we are witnessing the frightening evidence — of permissiveness leading to sexual immorality."

Tate says the church views the sin of abortion as being amendable to the laws of repentance and forgiveness and those guilty of such an infraction should act accordingly, but this should not minimize the seriousness of the act.

Other LDS Social Service programs include adoption, foster care, short-term counseling, and a leadership development program for Indian students.

Church membership up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Church membership in the United States, generally in decline since the intense social and political involvement in the 1960s, has begun to rise again, according to statistics.

Sister charged in death

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — A Roman Catholic nun has been charged with murder in the death of a boy she gave birth to in her convent room, suburban Brighton, N.Y., police said.

Authorities identified the suspect as Maureen Murphy, 35, a nun for 18 years who resides at Our Lady of Lourdes parish convent in Brighton and is the principal of a nursery school in nearby Pittsford.

Authorities identified the suspect as Maureen Murphy, 35, a nun for 18 years who resides at Our Lady of Lourdes parish convent in Brighton and is the principal of a nursery school in nearby Pittsford.

Roman Catholic Church reaches turning point

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the nation's 11 million Roman Catholics said today he believes the church has reached a turning point in a decade of confusion marked by dropping attendance, dissent and the departure of nuns and priests from the religious life.

Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said he believes "we are at the threshold of a new and better era in the church."

"People are looking for spiritual leadership; they are looking for pastors who have a great deal of sensitivity to their needs and aspirations," he added. "If we provide the pastoral leadership which they desire, they will respond..."

Bernardin contended there is "no doubt" that Catholic piety and activity have changed in the decade since the Second Vatican Council.

"This change is both quantitative — the number of persons involved is down somewhat — and qualitative — new forms of involvement have emerged," he said.

"I am not prepared, however, to look upon this change as being all bad," he added, arguing that while a decrease in number is "always a concern" more importantly "in both our piety and activity there is more substance than form."

Bernardin's comments were issued as an amplification of a comment he made during an interview with Time magazine.

"I believe that, as Catholics, we have matured and that this maturity will be a great asset to us in the years ahead," the Archbishop said.

He said that while reluctant to make any predictions about Mass attendance, there appeared to be a leveling off in the decline. "My opinion... is that we will probably not see another drastic decline in the future." Bernardin also said that while there is some dissent from Pope Paul VI's controversial encyclical rearing the church's ban on use of contraceptive devices, the alienation now present in the Catholic community "is due to much more" than the encyclical. "It is an oversimplification to ascribe the alienation to the encyclical alone," he said.

MARK SLAUGHTER... missionary

LDS mission planned by TF youth

TWIN FALLS — Mark W. Slaughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Del Slaughter, will serve as a missionary for the LDS Church in Zurich, Switzerland.

He will enter the Language Training Mission in Provo, Utah, June 10.

Slaughter graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1975 and recently completed his freshman year at Brigham Young University.

Sunday, prior to his departure, he will speak at the sacrament meeting of the Fifth Ward on Maurice Street North at 4 p.m.

American churches eye proposed laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American churches are keeping a benign but wary eye on proposed legislation to set guidelines for spending limits by nonprofit groups who lobby on bills before Congress.

In statements filed with the House Ways and Means Committee, representatives from three of the largest and most influential religious groups — The U.S. Catholic Conference, the National Council of Churches and the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs — said they are neutral on the bill.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Henry Gonzalez, R-N.Y., is designed to clear up confusion over application by the Internal Revenue Service of what constitutes "substantial" lobbying activities.

At present, the IRS code says that for a charitable group to preserve its tax exempt status it must not engage in "substantial" lobbying.

No one has defined what constitutes "substantial" lobbying. The churches plan to stay neutral on the issue for the present because they sought and won an exemption from the dollar limits from Conable before he introduced the proposed legislation.

But they are wary because the bill could be amended in several occasions in recent years. IRS has launched investigations of church groups, who actively opposed administration policies.

The National Council of Churches said it still opposed the substantiality test.

James Wood, Jr., of the Baptist Committee, said "religious liberty denies to the state the authority to define for the churches the nature and scope of its religious mission."

He said the IRS violates that liberty when it attempt to set boundaries on churches who "define their religious missions as including an obligation to speak out on and attempt to influence public affairs."

Survival Aided by Religion

Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO — Black people's survival depends on their ability to survive, says the newest black Catholic bishop designate.

He is Rev. Joseph A. Francis, S.V.D., of Bay St. Louis, Miss., provincial superior of the Divine Word Fathers, just appointed auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of Newark.

Father Francis is the third black man appointed a Catholic bishop in just over 100 years and the fourth black bishop now serving the U.S. church.

D. CARTWRIGHT... new pastor

New pastor at Bliss

BLISS — The Bliss Community Church has its first resident pastor in several years.

He is Douglas Cartwright, who came here from Proberta, Calif. A graduate of Multnomah School of the Bible, Portland, he also attended Prairie Bible Institute, Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

Rev. Cartwright grew up in the Tacoma, Wash., area and is married and has two children.

He has pastored in Unity, Ore., in addition to Proberta.

The Cartwrights are under the auspices of Village Missions, an interdenominational pastoral supply agency supported by the Christian Women's Clubs throughout the United States.

ROME (UPI) — Despite misgivings among his own missionaries, Pope Paul VI may step into the Italian election arena to confirm Roman Catholics — running on the Communist ticket. Vatican sources said today.

The sources said the 78-year-old pontiff was likely to issue the condemnation when he addresses the Italian Bishops' Conference Friday, 24 hours late because of unprecedented dissent among the usually docile Italian hierarchy.

The Vatican-backed Christian Democrats, Italy's dominant party for 31 years, but weakened by inflation, unemployment and scandals, are expected to lose ground to the West's largest Communist party in national elections June 20.

The Vatican, worried by the prospect of the Communists winning admission to a postelection government coalition, has come out sharply against them and singled out for attack a group of six Catholic civic leaders running as independents on the Communist ticket. But not all Italian bishops appeared willing to go along.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from having visited an elderly friend in a nursing home, and it was so depressing to see all those old people sitting in their rooms just staring at the bare walls I could have cried.

The windows are so high they couldn't look out unless they stood up, and most old people cannot stand for very long—if they can stand at all.

Abby, why can't they build the windows in those homes low enough for people to look out of while sitting in their chairs? To see the leaves turn colors, the flowers blooming, the seasons changing, the people and automobiles pass, or even an occasional bird or squirrel would mean so much to them. It couldn't help but reduce their feeling of isolation and loneliness.

I hope you care enough to print this.

—SOMEONE WHO CARES

DEAR SOMEONE: I care, too! Thank you for a wonderful letter.

Thoughtful advice

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column with worrying about the "other woman." The smart wife doesn't have to worry. She looks at it this way:

The male animal is an automobile with the key always in the ignition. Just because another woman comes along and wants to steal him—even for a joyride—she is no more entitled to keep him than the thief who steals an automobile.

The smart wife doesn't panic. She faces the matter forthrightly and takes positive action. After all, the key is in the ignition for HER use, too.

She should run the meter until her Don Juan is completely out of gas, and let the other woman wonder what happened when her lover registers "empty."

—SECURE IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR SECURE: In defense of the male animal, I consider your metaphor a prime example of "reverse sexism." But I'm sure the males won't object.

DEAR ABBY: About the "NERVOUS WRECK" whose husband taught their 15-year-old son to mistreat his mother: The poor woman said, "Our preacher is very young and says he's had no training in marriage counseling, so he can't help me. Besides, he won't even talk to people who do not tithe, and my husband is one of them."

First, what kind of ill-litwed nincompoop can that preacher be? Ask him how he would have dealt with the Samaritan woman at the well of Sychar (John 4, N.T. II): The Savior this pastor claims to serve broke Jewish tradition by daring even to speak to the woman; I wonder if she "tithed"?

I further wonder at the attitude this hypocrite would take toward the woman taken in adultery (John 8:1-11) or the widow who cast a mite into the treasury of the temple (Mark 12:41-42) that same clerk needs to be "shepherding" a flock like I need a hole in my head, and you can see from this letterhead that I am a preacher.

Let's call a spade a spade. That hypocrite pastor should be brought to his knees.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South won the club lead in his own hand and promptly went after the diamond suit. East took his ace on the second lead and led another club. South won in dummy and proceeded to run off five diamond tricks. This forced him to make a total of five discards and get himself right into a suicide squeeze.

Four discards were easy. They were three spades and a heart. The fifth discard was a second heart. Meanwhile, West had managed to hang on to all three of his hearts. So, when South led a spade, East was able to hop up with the ace, lead a heart and give his partner three heart tricks. South complained about bad luck and it was bad luck. East had to hold to ace of spades and West had two aces-queen of hearts, but these things do happen. On the other hand if South had led a spade honor at trick two he would have come to nine tricks without getting himself squeezed.

ASKING A GOODBYE

A Tennessee reader wants to know what sort of hand you should hold to open one heart and then jump to three no-trump after partner responds two clubs.

A typical hand would be:
♠ K x x ♠ A x x x ♠ A x x ♣ x

With which you had elected to open one heart instead of one no-trump. In other words 15 or 17 high card points, balanced distribution and stoppers in both unbid suits.

Workshop scheduled

TWIN FALLS — If you want to get up on food for the winter and make sure you're doing it right you may want to attend a food preservation workshop, June 7 at the YM-YWCA.

The workshop, which will cover the topics of food preservation and food safety, will be held at 1:30 p.m. It is being sponsored jointly by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Food and Drug Administration.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS JOHNSON

Orientation meet planned

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Junior Volunteers will conduct orientation meetings June 1-3 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the hospital.

The junior volunteers organization is open to boys and girls 15 years old and older who are interested in volunteer service.

Many teenagers who are active in hospital volunteer work are interested in future occupations in hospital or medical related work and those who have such an interest are encouraged to join.

The junior volunteers were formerly known as "candy strippers" and wear the familiar pink and white uniforms.

Their services include making beds; passing food trays, watering patients' flowers; delivering lab requisitions, and working in the medical records library, pharmacy and with X-rays.

Junior volunteers are required to work one shift weekly which is generally three hours. Most volunteers work more than their required hours.

Different awards ranging from permanent name tags to pins with honor guards are given to the junior volunteers when they have donated $25.50, 100, 200 and 300 hours.

Junior volunteers have two or three social events away from the hospital each year. Fund raising projects such as bake sales and car washes are held.

Officers for the current year are Carol Puder, Filer, president; Susan Baker, Twin Falls, vice president; Shannon Bell, Twin Falls, secretary, and JoyLean Johnson, Hazelton, treasurer.

Advisers from the Magic Valley Hospital Auxiliary are Mrs. Earl Faulkner and Mrs. John Baz.

Burley students get stipends

BURLEY — Two Burley students have been awarded a total of $600 in scholarships by the J.R. Simplot Co.

The scholarships were awarded to Pamela Lynn Barth and Michael J. Gemar. Each student received $300 to attend the College of Southern Idaho.

The scholarships are awarded to students whose parents are employed by various J.R. Simplot companies.

BRENT FLAVEL ...valedictorian
JAIME ANDREASON ...salutatorian

Richfield HS names year's top students

RICHFIELD — Brent Flavel was named valedictorian and Jaime Andreason salutatorian at graduation exercises held Thursday at Richfield High School.

Flavel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Flavel, was sophomore class treasurer and has participated in basketball and football for four years. He has been involved in track for three years and drama for two, winning a declamation contest twice.

He is active in youth groups of the LDS Church and is a member of the Northside All-Star Basketball team.

Flavel plans to attend Ricks College in the fall.

Andreason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Andreason, was junior class treasurer and this year's student body president. He has participated in football, basketball and track for four years.

He is a member of the Rodeo Club and won declamation contests twice. Andreason has been on the school paper staff for three years and participated in the American Legion oratorical contest.

He plans to attend Idaho State University in the fall.

Janene Grisher and Kenneth Patterson were also commencement speakers.

Baccalaureate was held Sunday with speaker Larry Taugert.

Paving failure fund budgeted next year

RUPERT — Money from a street paving failure in South Rupert will go toward complete reconstruction and widening of the street next year.

Don Courtright, city engineer, told the Rupert City Council Tuesday night that Gayley Construction is having two contractors estimate the cost of an overlay on South "A" Street.

He said the firm has agreed to pay the overlay cost to the city "so we can put the money in a reconstruction fund and replace the street next year."

Gayley Construction did the repaving work on A Street following installation of new sewer lines there. The ground later sank beneath the paving, leaving a bumpy surface that drew numerous complaints and aroused council concern.

Gayley had agreed to repave the section, but the council decided it would be better to use that money in an overall project to widen the street.

Courtright was given approval Tuesday for reconstruction of the alley on the west side of F Street between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

Irrigation problem cited

RUPERT — Irrigation water problems caused by subdivisions were raised this week by a Minidoka County commissioner.

Elmer Ketterling suggested to the Rupert City Council Tuesday night that the council, commissioners and the Minidoka Irrigation District should cooperate in trying to solve a flooding problem.

Ketterling cited three laterals running off the canal toward farmland north of Rupert.

He said subdivisions hook onto the laterals. Homeowners open the lateral to flood their lands, then shut the headgates without closing the lateral.

The commissioner said the lateral then runs over and floods other property.

Ketterling suggested some method be devised to require developers to bring the water from the canal through a 24-inch pipe and run pipes off it for owners in their subdivisions to connect to it.

Councilman W. E. (Bill) Whitton agreed that the three entities should meet. He said he is also concerned about people not using irrigation water being charged to maintain their property rights.

Whitton said a waiver might be worked out at the same time the subdivision problem is discussed.

7 graduating

REHUBERT — Seven Magic Valley students will be among those graduating from Ticks College here in the final annual summer commencement exercises May 27.

Exercises will be at 4:30 p.m. in the Kirkham Amphitheater. Speaker will be Mrs. Arabel Centmull, retired Ticks instructor.

Graduates include Denise Kohnstopp, Twin Falls; Genese Barkdull and Lee Dailley, both Burley; Donna Egbert and Nancy Wheeler, both Rupert; Mary Jo Maxwell, Heyburn; and Suzanne Van Leishout, Jerome.

BURLEY — The Burley municipal swimming pool is slated to open June 2, according to Jack Keen, parks and recreation director.

Keen said delay in opening the pool will be balanced by a heavy schedule of activities after June 2.

Public hours will be 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m., with a half-hour cut at the end during lifesaving lessons. Season passes are $7.50 for children 13 and under, $9.50 for youths 14-19 and $12.50 for adults. Daily charges are 30, 40 and 50 cents, respectively.

The wading pool is open 1-8 p.m. and free for those 6 and under accompanied by a responsible adult.

A Red Cross 10-session course is scheduled June 14-25, with registration June 7-11 at the pool office 8-11 a.m. The pool charge will be $2.50 for beginners and advanced beginners and $4 for intermediate swimmers.

A second Red Cross course will be July 19-30, with registration July 12 at the same fees.

Lifesaving instructions are slated for Red Cross and Explorer Scouts June 28 to July 9 and again Aug. 2-11, with advance registration and a $5 pool charge.

O'Leary closure?

QUESTION: Do you think O'Leary Junior High School should be closed as a fire hazard?

Joe Salisbury, Twin Falls: I wouldn't be that strong about it. I think it should be replaced with a more adequate facility. Fire hazard is one of the considerations.

Michelle Cohen, Piler: If the fire department wants to close it, I think it should be closed. I don't want to endanger our children.

Paul LaCroix, Twin Falls: I don't have enough information to answer that question. I know they're talking about it.

Carol Malone, Twin Falls: Oh, yes. I have one child going there now and will have another one going there next year. It scares me every time I go in there.

Charles Allen, Twin Falls: Yes. I do. I think the building has outlived its usefulness and should be replaced for safety reasons.

Barry Hamilton, Twin Falls: I feel it's a situation where they can't open adequate replacement facilities, then they should be allowed to use it until they can.

Don Labrum, Twin Falls: If it's rated as a fire hazard, then they should close it. We need to protect the kids.

Voter sign-up hits all-time high in TF

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

MAGIC VALLEY — Voter registration for Idaho's presidential primary hit an all-time high in Twin Falls County with other Magic Valley communities reporting strong voter interest.

Books closed this week on registration for the May 25 Presidential Preference election and tabulations completed this morning in many Magic Valley residents want to go to the polls in the state's first ever presidential primary.

Helen-Warberg, deputy clerk, Twin Falls, reports 28,675 registrations now on the books.

"We have never had more than 27,000 before," she said. "I can't understand this much interest in an election in which only the presidential and precinct committee candidates will be involved. Usually, we anticipate a greater interest when local candidates are being nominated or elected."

Mrs. Warberg said one registrar in the county registered 65 voters. There are 46 precincts in the county. After books were turned over to the county clerk's office on Monday the office staff had three "very busy" days, Mrs. Warberg said. More than 400 registrations were received at the office in the final two days before books closed, she said.

Jerome County has a total of 6,784 registered voters for the coming Presidential Preference Primary.

Virginia Ricketts, Jerome county clerk and auditor, said a total of 450 new registrations were added as of the Wednesday deadline. Mrs. Ricketts said registered voters in Jerome county will be allowed to vote only in the precinct in which they presently reside. If they have moved but failed to reregister in the new precinct, they will not be allowed to return to their former precinct to vote, she said.

The May 25 election is the first time Idaho voters have had an opportunity to vote to influence the selection of Presidential nominees. Several clerks said this may be one of the reasons for voters' high interest.

Polls will open throughout the state at 8 a.m. and remain open until 8 p.m. County Clerk Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls, said he is adding one voting machine in several of the county's larger precincts to avoid waiting.

In Cassia county registration is reported about the same as for previous elections with a total of 4,094 registered voters eligible for the May 25 vote.

Clerk Frank Kearns said the clerk's office was busy just prior to closing of the books but he described registration as not unusually heavy.

Gooding County Clerk Margaret Clements said about 260 new registrations were added in the 12 precincts of her county while registrations were taking registrations. "No tabulation has been completed as yet on these added this week in the clerk's office," she said. She described the last few days before deadline as "very busy" in the Gooding county office.

Aide says Minico-hospital overstaffs

BY SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Ed Richardson, administrator at Minidoka Hospital, said today the hospital deliberately overstaffs its intermediate care facility.

Richardson said "because of the type of patient we have here we stay well above the minimum state requirement on staffing."

"The hospital administrator said there is a shortage of registered nurses in the area that are willing to work full time. He said the hospital could use one or two more registered nurses for the acute care section."

Richardson added that acute patients receive all the necessary care, but "it is quite a load on our present staff when we are full."

The hospital just hired two licensed practical nurses and is seeking two more because of nurses having left the area.

The hospital board met last night and reviewed its information effort concerning the $300,000 bond issue that will go before county voters next Tuesday for a 45-bed expansion of the hospital's intermediate care facility.

The board decided to run some spot commercials on radio in the last few days before the election, but felt that it had made a more successful effort to inform the people than it had in September when the same proposition failed to receive the necessary two-thirds approval.

Keen released on bond

BUHL — Victor Keen, 20, Buhl, charged with first degree murder in the fatal beating Sunday night of Terry Brannon, was released from the county jail on bond Thursday afternoon.

Magistrate Court Judge Dan Meehl set bond at $25,000 and a property bond in that amount was posted by the man's grandparents, Jewel and Angie Keen. Sheriff Paul Corder said he questioned Judge Meehl about the release on bond and was assured Keen would return to jail on any law violation.

Keen has requested a preliminary hearing on the murder charge, but a hearing date has not been set. He allegedly struck Brannon across the back of the head with a baseball bat at a Buhl senior class graduation party Sunday night. Brannon died Monday at 7 a.m. in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Officers are continuing to question about half of the 200 people who attended the party in an effort to obtain details of the two reported encounters between Keen and Brannon Sunday night.

Ketchum newspaper shifts to 15-cent newsstand price

BY BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — The newspaper Ketchum Tomorrow has ended four years of free circulation in Blaine County and adopted a 15-cent newsstand price.

Sam Sullivan, publisher of the newspaper, said Thursday he was tired of "the kitty lifter image" free circulation newspapers have.

Blaine County now is served by two paid circulation newspapers, Ketchum Tomorrow and the Wood River Journal.

A third newspaper, the Idaho Mountain Express, still is circulated free in the county.

Explaining the reasons for the shift to paid circulation, Sullivan said "if a person has to pay for a paper he's not going to call it a trashcan liner anymore."

The publisher of the Ketchum Tomorrow said some readers will be shocked by the change but that advertisers generally have supported the move.

"The newsstand sales are not as significant as becoming a legal newspaper or being able to carry co-op advertising," Sullivan said.

Some co-operative advertisers will go with a paid newspaper over a free one, he said.

In addition, the paid status will allow the paper to join the Idaho Press Association, he said and participate in meetings and award contests.

Sullivan said the greatest positive factor of paid circulation is the prestige it lends to the product and the value placed there by the consumer.

Teenager room decorations cost taxpayer money

TWIN FALLS — Highway signs which are stolen for room decorations by teenagers represent a needless cost to taxpayers, says Keith Andersen, Twin Falls Highway District engineer.

Andersen said the county highway district currently faces court action because vandals removed a stop sign and several people were killed two years ago.

"Not all of the instances are this serious," he said, "but everytime a sign is destroyed or stolen it costs $40 to $50," Andersen said.

This includes a new sign, a post and the time of the highway workers to install the new sign.

Earlier this spring the highway district, working with the City-County Airport board, installed a number of large signs directing traffic to the airport from major highways coming into Twin Falls.

Andrus in Jerome tonight

JEROME — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will be in Jerome tonight to help kick off Jerome County's bicentennial celebration.

Bill Hart, president of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, said the governor will fly into the county airport late this afternoon and will be the featured speaker at the Bicentennial program to be held at the Junior High School auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

According to Hart the program will begin with the special flag ceremony by Cub Scouts followed by the invocation.

The Jerome Chorale, under the direction of Carson Wong, will present a half-hour program which will be followed by the Governor's address.

Hart said invitations to the event have been sent to the Mayors of Eden and Hazelton as well as Idaho's Washington congressmen, state legislators and county officials.

All county residents are urged to attend the event which will mark the opening of Jerome County's observance of our nation's 200th birthday, Hart said. He added the event was free of charge and anyone wishing to attend was invited to do so.

Area legislators' voting habits vary

BY GORDON JUDD
Times-News writer

BOISE — The Idaho Conservation League's (ICL) 1976 Legislative Voting Record shows a wide variety of voting habits on conservation issues by Magic Valley legislators.

The ICL's voting record "shows among other things... a general legislative resistance to pro-conservation measures," the recently released report says.

Many Magic Valley legislators interviewed by the Times-News claimed, however, that the issues chosen by the ICL do not necessarily represent conservation issues.

The same legislators claim the labeling of them by the use of the ICL report is inaccurate and misleading.

The ICL report calls attention to the fact that some legislators "compiled excellent conservation records — 50 per cent or better" but goes on to report some anti-conservation votes.

"This year your legislature failed to give Idaho a power plant siting bill, minimum stream flow, energy planning or a bottle bill," the report says.

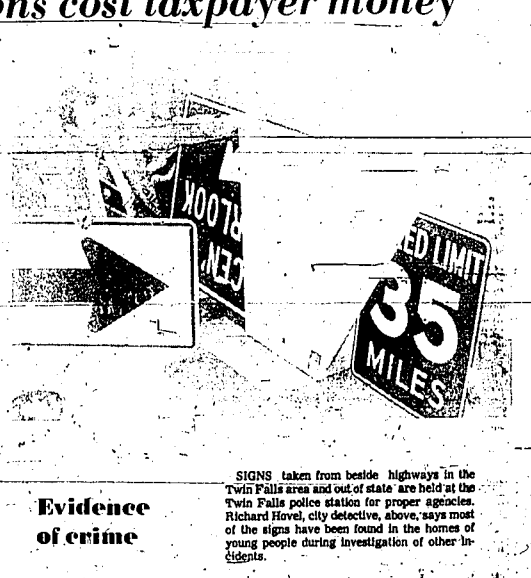

"At the same time, lawmakers came dangerously close to scuttling Idaho's land use planning process," ICL reports.

The report rates the Senate and House of Representative members separately. Out of 12 issues ranging from S1275 (Land Use: Regional Impact Hearings) to S1524 (Legislative Approval of State Water Plant, Magic Valley Senators recorded ranged from a high of 91 per cent pro conservation (Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert) votes to a low of zero per cent (Sen. J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry).

The other magic Valley Senators voting records on conservation issues, according to ICL tabulation include Sen. Robert Saxvick, D-Burley, 73 per cent; Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, 70 per cent; Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, 30 per cent and Sen. James Yost, R-Wendell, 0 per cent.

Dist. 21, the highest rated, representing District 21 (Blaine, Lincoln and Minidoka counties), was pleased with his rating.

"I think I'm very definitely pro-conservation," Peavey said. He thought the basic problem facing Idaho today was the conservation of energy, particularly con-

Weather aids Russ grain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spring weather has been "nearly ideal" for grain growers in much of the Soviet Union, the Agriculture Department says in a new global survey report based on conditions as of last Monday.

"Bad weather earlier in the year has led American experts to predict Soviet growers will not reach their government's 1976 grain goals, leading to possible increases in potential Soviet orders for American grain in the 1976-77 marketing season.

The new report, while it offered no overall summary on Soviet prospects, said favorable temperatures and adequate rains had encouraged good growth and development of winter grains and provided a "nice start" for spring crops.

Much of the winter grain had suffered earlier from spotty germination and uneven growth, and a lot of it was reseeded to spring grains or other crops, the report said.

Experts said rains during early May improved prospects in the important Volga and Ural areas, while planting conditions were good in Kazakhstan and Siberia. Those areas now need timely early-summer rains and a minimum of hot, drying winds, officials added.

In mixed reports from other major grain regions around the world, the report added that:

— Northern Europe's crop and soil conditions about the end of both winter and spring rains. There is ample time for spring crops to recover, but every dry day lowers the production potential of winter crops now approaching harvest.

— In contrast, spring rains have improved the crop outlook in most Mediterranean countries, and farmers in northeast China, 1976, recent rains to help improve prospects for spring and summer crops.

— South Africa's 1976 corn and sorghum prospects have been cut by excess rain and floods which are likely to cut 1976-77 corn exports to 2 to 2.5 million metric tons compared with 3.2 million tons in the current 1975-76 season. Turkey, however, is expecting a second straight record wheat crop and storage facilities are so jammed that the government may have to export some grain even at red-ink prices.

— India, which is expecting a record food grain crop of 142 million metric tons, probably will hold its reserve stock as of July 1 to a record of more than 11 million metric tons compared with the previous record, set in 1972, at 9 million tons.

Most crops ahead of normal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Good weather in many central states slowed crop growth and thus damaged some crops last week but little permanent injury was expected to result, the Agriculture Department says.

The agency's weekly crop weather report Tuesday added that — although planting in progress slowed last week in some areas, seeding of corn, spring wheat, soybeans and other spring-planted crops remained far ahead of normal for this time of year.

As of last Sunday, the report said, the spring wheat crop was 92 per cent planted compared with 31 per cent last year and an average of 61 per cent. Corn planting was reported 79 per cent completed with 63 per cent last year and an average rating of 55 per cent.

Soybean farmers had 29 per cent of their crop in the ground by Sunday compared with 18 per cent last year and an average of 16 per cent in recent years.

The report also noted that the 1976 winter wheat harvest is in progress in areas including Florida, Alabama, California and Texas. It said some frost damage of undetermined extent was noted in Kansas and Washington state when wheat was showing signs of drought stress, but Nebraska conditions were "fair to good."

Cattle, hogs up sharply

(Courtesy Sinclair & Co.) CHICAGO — Cattle and hog futures advanced strongly Thursday.

Community News Service reported the shadow of impending harvest weighed down wheat and other grains, while Maine potatoes scored solid gains.

The May 1977 delivery of Maine spuds gained 10 cents, closing at 8.17 per hundredweight, while November gained 9 cents and closed at 5.33 cwt.

The advance in cattle was in reaction to a sustained downturn and a surprisingly light input of bellies into storage. Despite locked limit range, cattle traded steadily in a fairly narrow range. Chart buying in August was stimulated by what some felt was an island reversal. June stay-outs in a down channel, closing under resistance around $100.

A more stable tone in live cash channels is given positive interpretation by some, with steady movement of animals cleaning up supplies in some sections of the country.

Live hogs closed strongly, off earlier limit highs, but 5 to 145 points above Wednesday. A bullish reaction to the solid storage report produced a limit up opening and strengthened hogs. Fair cash, a strong dressed trade and light runs provoked active values. July closed a cent higher but other contracts ended 1/2 cent to 1 1/2 cents lower. Strength in soybean meal gave corn a boost and speculative buying pushed prices 2 to 3 cents over Wednesday's close. A large December-July spread, which reached 17 1/2 to 19 1/2 cents, was the main pit feature.

Warming weather across the corn belt is expected to promote rapid germination and add to initial growth. Chicago buying basis for hoppers increased nominally 2 cents to 4 over late while July prices were nominally at July level.

"Meal" led the soybean complex and a selloff in the late minutes left that product 1.00 under the day's highs. The same pattern prevailed in beans, where gains of 7 cents were recorded, about 6 cents off the peak. Oil lost ground slightly despite some commercial buying.

Lewiston region bee losses heavy

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — While the search for the source continues, Lewiston area bee keepers report millions of bees have already dropped dead from the effects of some pesticide or herbicide recently sprayed in the area.

An estimated 1,500 colonies of bees, each containing thousands of bees, have been wiped out, and growers report the deaths continue to mount.

Damage estimates in terms of lost crops could run into tens of thousands of dollars. Growers say one hive can produce from $30-$50 worth of honey per hive per season.

The state, meanwhile, says if a herbicide is found to be the cause, the state Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Service will pay growers $22.50 per damaged hive, allowing for some recovery of losses.

Dead bees have been shipped to Oregon State University, Corvallis, in hopes of pinpointing the cause of the bee kill.

The heaviest loser so far appears to be grower Malcolm Anderson, Lewiston, who said he's lost 17 colonies or bees destroyed or heavily damaged.

Woodrow Blakeley, Lewiston, who said he's lost about 10 colonies, termed the affair a "total wipe out."

Grower Dwight Kilgore said he suspects the chemical parathion used to control insects.

Anderson said he suspects an insecticide used to control the pea leaf weevil. "They're using a spray they can't control. My bees are three to four miles from any pea fields they sprayed. Yet the spray drifted to the hives and killed them. The effects can last for months."

Gallo trade pact reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government says Gallo, the nation's largest wine producer, has signed an agreement to refrain from engaging in unfair or anticompetitive practices for the next 10 years.

The Federal Trade Commission announced settlement Wednesday of a complaint that Gallo had pressured more than 300 independent wholesalers across the country into selling its products.

The FTC said Gallo "used its dominant position, size and power to lessen, hinder or restrain competition in the sale and distribution of wines in the United States by engaging in various unfair acts, practices and methods of competition including... the establishment and maintenance of exclusionary marketing policies and their enforcement through coercion of distributors."

Gallo, headquartered in Modesto, Calif., signed a negotiated consent order prohibiting it from telling wholesalers they can't sell wine outside of designated areas or sell wine from other companies.

The company -- which sold 28.8 per cent of all wine marketed in the United States in 1975 -- will also be forbidden from telling dealers they have to carry certain Gallo products in order to sell others.

The order also directs the firm not to increase prices for Gallo products once they are in transit or in wholesale

To keep weevils from damaging your alfalfa...

Trust it to FURADAN Insecticide from Chemagro.

Protect your supply of low-cost animal protein roughage this year by using FURADAN 4-Flowable from Chemagro to control weevils and other pests.

Apply FURADAN at the first sign of damage to stop feeding by early hatches and help your alfalfa produce a larger, leafier first cutting.

The residual activity of FURADAN will also help control weevils that hatch closer to harvest so alfalfa will recover faster to develop better later cuttings.

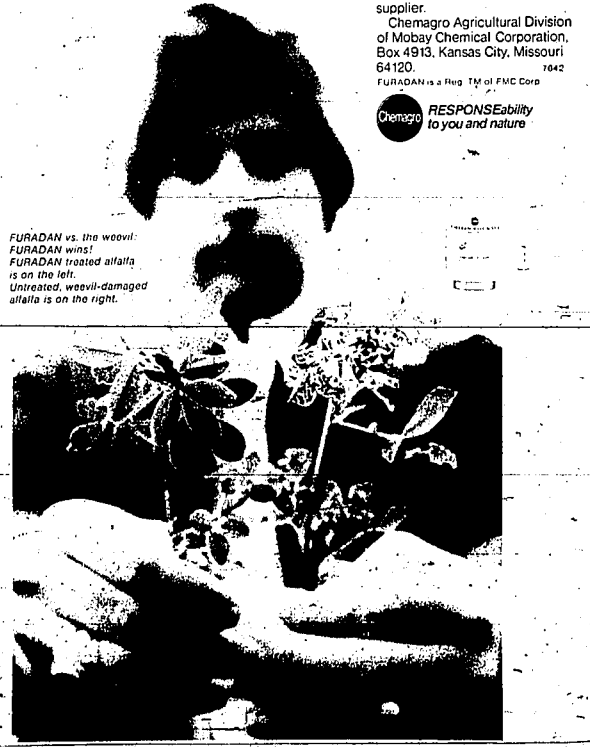

At the same time, FURADAN controls pea aphids, lygus bugs and grasshoppers.

Keep a supply of FURADAN 4-Flowable on hand at all times. Order it now from your chemical supplier.

Marti fires 65 to take lead in Memphis classic

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Fred Marti, a lanky Texan who has had an uneven 13-year career, came out of nowhere with a seven-under-par 65 to take the first-round lead in the $200,000 Memphis Classic Thursday.

The 62, 200-pound blond from Baytown, Tex., whose best finish ever was a tie for 12th in this year's Tournament Players Championship at Landover, Fla., started slow, bogeying the second hole.

But he chipped in on 14 and 15, for back-to-back birdies, and on 16 and birdied home. He is on the track now broke the course record of 31.

"It took me by surprise," said Marti, a University of Houston graduate who was 1973 national collegiate champion. "I was just playing along and all of a sudden I started knocking it stiff. It's the first time I can remember chipping in back-to-back."

Two strokes back at 67 was young Eric Fennell, a third-year pro from Orlando, Fla. Bunched at 68 were Gibby Gilbert and youngsters Gary Wintz, Howard Twitty, Bill Rogers and Greg Jones.

Pre-tournament favorite Lee Trevino, who won last week at the Colonial National International at Fort Worth, Tex., was doing some reviewing himself after his first-round 70.

"I played with a new set of clubs yesterday and I think my regular clubs are punishing me. But I only hit one red ball shot lying just on the green on the fourth hole. I'm confident. I never open up with a low round."

Casper was surprised at along and the way everyone works together. We all know what has to be done.

Van Arsdale still expected to see considerable playing time along with another veteran, Keith Erickson, whose off-the-bench performances keyed Phoenix wins over Seattle and Golden State in earlier playoff series.

MacLeod said the Suns, as they did against defending champion Golden State in the Western Conference finals, must play at their own tempo and guard against getting into a running game with the Celtics.

"Boston does so many things well, we can't key on any one thing. It takes a good solid basketball game to beat them. They have experience, defense, pass and rebounding, a well-oiled and outstanding team," he said.

He did not subscribe to the theory that Boston, a perennial power and definite favorite, would feel the pressure more.

himself "after the way I played last week and the beginning of the week here. But I got it together yesterday. I'm getting too old," the 45-year-old former U.S. Open and Masters winner said. "I've got too many aches and pains. But all of a sudden they've subsided."

Most of the 150-man field, who were saying Wednesday that conditions might keep scores high, came in Thursday saying flawless, warm weather and the "fantastic" condition of the course might

Kingman, Schmidt match 15th homeruns

NEW YORK (UPI) — Greg Luzinski's two-run double triggered a four-run first inning against Tom Seaver and Mike Schmidt hit his 15th homer of the season in the eighth inning Thursday, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

Jim Lomborg allowed three runs and nine hits in 6 1/2 innings to receive credit for his sixth straight victory, and got late inning relief from Tug McGraw. Lomborg had a shutout until Dave Kingman hit his 15th homer of the year when he on in the sixth inning.

Cards hit early to nip Pirates

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mike Tyson's slow run single capped a four-run outburst against Pittsburgh starter George Mergul in the first inning Thursday, and the St. Louis Cardinals went on to score a 2-1 victory over the Pirates through 3 1/2 innings.

Dodgers trip Braves in 9th

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Garvey singled to left to score Bill Buckner from second base with two out in the ninth inning Thursday night and gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Garvey's single came off Max Leon, the fourth Atlanta pitcher, after Buckner and Rusty Baker reached base with two out singles against Elias Sosa, now 3-4.

Winning for the 20th time in their last 21 games, the Dodgers jumped 16 games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League West. Knuckleballer Charlie Hough got the win in relief to run his record to 1-0.

Mayberry, KC beat Oakland

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — John Mayberry drove home four runs Thursday night and the Kansas City Royals staged a five-run seventh inning to post a 3-1 victory over the Oakland A's.

Trading 4-2 going into the seventh inning, the Royals took advantage of five hits — including a misjudged triple to right field by George Brett — a walk, a wild pitch and three mental mistakes by the A's. Two of the five Royals runs in the inning were scored off Paul Lindblad.

Chicago wins third in row

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rich Gossage scattered seven hits and rookie Chad Lemon drove in one run and scored another Thursday night as the Chicago White Sox won their third straight game with a 3-2 decision over the Minnesota Twins.

Pat Kelly's first inning triple and Rich Gossage's insurance single got the White Sox their first run, while Brian Downing doubled and scored on Lemon's single in the second. What turned out to be the winning Chicago run came in the fifth when Lemon walked, stole second and scored on Jack Brabham's double.

Giants edge Reds in 8th

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gary Matthews snuffed an eighth-inning bid with a flyout Thursday to give the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

George Foster's solo homer had tied the score at 5-5 in the top of the eighth.

Angels beat Texas 6-3

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Bruce Bochte singled in a run and Andy Etchebarren doubled home two more to break an eighth-inning tie Thursday night and gave the California Angels a 6-3 victory over the Texas Rangers.

California right hander Gary Ross, in his seventh start of the year, picked up his first victory after five losses by limiting the Rangers to six hits over seven innings.

Yaz hits pair as Boston drops Yanks

By United Press International

Carl Yastrzemski continued his torrid hitting by striking a pair of two-run homers Thursday night that powered the Boston Red Sox to an 8-2 victory over the New York Yankees in a game marred by a 20-minute bench-clearing brawl.

Yastrzemski, who has now hit five homers in his last two games, belted his first two-run shot to snap a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning after Carlton Fisk walked. Then in the ninth, after a single by Fisk, Yastrzemski connected again for his seventh homer of the season.

Fisk was one of the main participants in a sixth-inning melee which was touched off when Lou Pinella bawled the Boston catcher over, attempting to score Red Sox starter Bill Lee, who suffered an injured shoulder, and Yankee third baseman Graig Nettles were ejected from the game when they traded punches after tempers had apparently cooled. Lee was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital for precautionary x-rays.

Chicago wins third in row

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rich Gossage scattered seven hits and rookie Chad Lemon drove in one run and scored another Thursday night as the Chicago White Sox won their third straight game with a 3-2 decision over the Minnesota Twins.

Pat Kelly's first inning triple and Rich Gossage's insurance single got the White Sox their first run, while Brian Downing doubled and scored on Lemon's single in the second. What turned out to be the winning Chicago run came in the fifth when Lemon walked, stole second and scored on Jack Brabham's double.

Sobers stays cool on eve of playoffs

PHOENIX (UPI) — Rookie Ricky Sobers pronounced himself free of butterflies, but 11-year veteran Dick Van Arsdale said he was the most excited of any time in his career as the Phoenix Suns headed for Boston and Sunday's opener of the NBA championship series.

Coach John MacLeod promised no changes in the style of play, which brought the surprising Suns — pre-season picks to finish last in the Pacific Division and in fact were there at the All-Star break — into the best-of-seven title series.

"I think I got rid of any butterflies during the Seattle series," said Sobers, one of two rookies in Phoenix's starting lineup. "It feels great to be starting in the finals." Coach MacLeod's tremendous confidence in me has given me confidence."

Sobers, the Suns' floor leader and a defensive specialist, said he was a "tough matchup" against Jo White.

"He's Boston's go-go guy and has been to the playoffs before," said Sobers. "I'm going to have to try to keep him from getting the ball."

Van Arsdale, the team captain who lost his starting job to Sobers after breaking an arm at mid-season, said, "I'm the most excited I've been since joining the pros. It always dreams of playing on a championship team and I had begun to wonder if I'd make it. It's been great the way our younger players have come

University of California researchers checked out a sizable sample of elderly people who had lived longer than the typical life expectancy to find out what they had in common, if anything. They drink moderately, didn't smoke, and controlled their weight well. The men got eight hours of sleep, the women seven hours. They reported a lifetime habit of regular dieting. They didn't snack. These might have been predictable, maybe. They're what you'd expect. What I found noteworthy, though, was the contention that each of them said they always ate a big breakfast.

Q. "What goes into that mixed drink known as 'Sinner'?"
A. Milk with a jigger of Triple Sec.
Q. "What makes a person wacky?"
A. Too much carbon dioxide in the blood.
Q. "What's the oldest parlor game in recorded history?"
A. Backgammon is usually credited with that distinction.

In 1950, 28 per cent of the women aged 20 to 24 were single. Today, almost 40 per cent of those girls are single.
SPORTS
What has been the most significant sports story so far in this century? When pollsters put that query to sportswriters and broadcasters, one athlete and one event were most mentioned. Track star Jesse Owens in his winning of the four gold medals at the 1936 Olympics in Germany. The shabby treatment Adolf Hitler's crew gave Owens then figured strongly in the story, certainly.
"Schlock" was the name of that monster movie. When it first came out in Tampa, Fla., a display ad in the Tribune there warned: "Due to the horrifying nature of this film, no one will be admitted to the theatre."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices opened lower in moderate trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which gained 4.87 points Thursday, was below 121 1/2 at 95.66 shortly after the opening bell. Declines led advances, 134 to 166, among the 405 issues crossing the ticker.

Volume came to roughly 500,000 shares.

Investors at least momentarily turned their backs Wednesday on rising interest rates, which had restrained the market in recent sessions.

But after the market closed, the Federal Reserve Board announced the nation's money supply continued to expand in the latest reporting week to $203.7 billion from $202.6 billion the previous week.

Loan demand at major New York City banks fell by $22 million.

The sharp surge in the money supply in past weeks has resulted in the Fed's tightening of credit and has put upward pressure on interest rates.
