

Alien shot when diving through window

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times News writer

NORLAND — A U.S. Border Patrol officer shot and killed an 18 year old illegal alien Thursday night during a surprise raid at the J. R. Simplot Co. feedlots northwest of Rupert.

The victim was identified as Jorge Lenius. He was struck in the back of the head by a single shot from a .38 caliber pistol.

In a brief release this morning the Mindoka County Sheriff's Department said, "Border Patrolman D. L. Hendrickson fired the shot."

The shooting took place shortly before 9:30 p.m. Thursday inside a small bunkhouse at the J. R. Simplot feedlots 13 1/2 miles northwest of Rupert.

Border patrol officers burst through two doors of the bunkhouse in a raid to round up illegal Mexican workers.

A source at J. R. Simplot said Lenius tried to jump out a window and a border patrol officer grabbed him and threw him back into a chair.

The young Mexican then tried a second escape and a shot was fired.

Hendrickson's shot struck Lenius in the back of the head and the victim fell through the window, landing face down in the mud.

He lay there until an ambulance arrived to take him to the Mindoka Memorial Hospital.

James Stanger, patrol agent in charge of the U. S. Border patrol office in Twin Falls, was not available for comment this morning.

Mindoka County coroner Kim Christensen said Lenius was killed by "a single entry wound

Christensen said he was sure the sheriff's department in advance of the raid. Jarvis said such notification would be unusual.

The raid came at 9:29 p.m. in a call from Cecil Millspaugh, assistant manager at the feedlot, to the Mindoka Sheriff's office.

The border patrol also did not notify Millspaugh of the raid—his first information came when two patrolmen came to the house and told him that the Mexican had been shot.

The border patrolmen apparently had been tipped about the illegal aliens at the ranch. They arrived with a station wagon and a Border Patrol car.

The only weapon found in a search of the bunkhouse was a pocket knife lying beneath a mattress.

Demos feel unlucky

TWIN FALLS — Democrats attending the state convention must not have felt very lucky Thursday night.

Almost no one showed up to take a chartered bus to Jackpot, Nev.

Twin Falls County Democratic Chairman Steve Carter originally ordered five buses to take Democrats south of the border.

But at 6 p.m. Thursday fewer than 50 Democrats loaded up for the trip to the small gambling town.

"We canceled three buses this morning," Clyde Thomson, an organizer of the Jackpot trip, said as he stood near a empty San Valley Stages coach.

"We originally planned on five bustloads," he said.

When only 25-30 people showed up for the trip another bus driver took his rig "back to the barn."

"Some of the delegates are throwing parties at the Holiday Inn," Thomson said.

Thomson also thought some delegates would be driving their own cars to the fair spot.

Second Congressional District candidate Kelly Pearce sponsored the most lively party of the convention, a luau at the Holiday Inn.

Gov. Cecil Andrus, avoiding the parties, enjoyed a quiet steak dinner at the Outlaw Inn with his wife last night.

Demo delegates wrestle with platform, delegates

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES
Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho State Democratic Convention moved into high gear today with 400 delegates wrestling with a party platform and the selection of national convention delegates.

Sessions resumed at 10 a.m. today with most of the Friday agenda tied into committee meetings.

Election of an Idaho Democratic Party Chairman was scheduled this morning.

Debbie Rice, Idaho Falls, faces competition for the top state job from Pat Carr, Boise.

In afternoon sessions party delegates are scheduled to discuss platform issues. On Saturday national convention delegates will be named.

A barbecue and rally honoring Sen. Frank Church will close the convention Saturday evening.

Tonight the Governor's banquet in the CSI gym will honor Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Still unresolved is the question of how Idaho's 16 national Democratic delegates will be instructed to vote at the July National Democratic Convention in New York City.

Most of the delegates are pledged to Sen. Frank Church.

But Church has dropped his presidential bid in favor of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

Election of the national convention delegates is the final item on the convention agenda Saturday afternoon.

Rules of the convention were adopted Thursday, obligating the delegates on the first ballot to vote as instructed by Idaho's Secretary of State.

Platform items being considered by committees include preservation of natural resources, forestry, mining, energy, commerce and labor. One of the items affecting interest and debate is the minimum stream flow proposal. Other platform planks will include health and welfare, consideration for senior citizens, human rights, education, housing, transportation, economic affairs, local government and others.

Other agenda items for today included a no vote reception for legislators this evening in the Holiday Inn and presentations this afternoon by congressional candidates.

Campaigning in and around convention headquarters throughout the convention included Kelly Pearce, Lava Hot Springs, and Stan Kress, Pritch; both seeking the Democratic nomination for Second District Congressman. The seat is now held by Republican George Hansen.

Ken Purcell, contender for Idaho's First Congressional District seat, also made the rounds at the convention Thursday.

West leads wage hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wages and salaries rates increased 3.8 per cent last fall and winter with western workers leading the way, the Labor Department said today.

The department said management earned the lowest pay gains on a percentage basis. Service workers had the highest individual gains.

The department said workers in western states earned wage and salary increases of 5.5 per cent in the six-month period ended March 31. Workers in the Northeast had the lowest increases, 2.4 per cent.

The data was contained in a new report compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It will be known as the Employment Cost Index and is designed to measure wage and salary gains in a broad measure such as the inflation calculator, the Consumer Price Index.

The BLS said the new economic series will profile wage and salary gains for nonfarm workers in private industry in the 48 contiguous states. It does not include income of self-employed persons.

The Employment Cost Index "provides for the first time a measure of pay change unaffected by shifts in relative employment levels in different industries, occupations and regions and in the volume of overtime and other premium paid work," the BLS said in a statement.

The BLS said the index will not attempt to measure the value of the pay increases for work performed or the "wellbeing" of workers.

Among worker classes, service workers had the biggest gains, 5.3 per cent. Machine operators had increases of 5 per cent and non-farm laborers 4.5 per cent. All other classes had wage gains of 4 per cent or less. The lowest rate of increase was for managers and administrators, 2.6 per cent.

Pay gains were nearly equal for workers regardless of location. Workers in metropolitan areas had gains of 3.8 per cent compared to gains of 3.7 per cent for those in nonmetropolitan areas.

Union workers averaged pay increases of 4.1 per cent while nonunion workers had gains of 3.7 per cent, BLS said.

Sierra Life solvent under Montana law

By BILL LAZARUS
Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sierra Life Insurance Co. has been found solvent by the Montana Department of Insurance.

Last August the department had suspended Sierra's license to write new business in the state. It did so after examining Sierra's year-end 1974 annual statement and determining that the company did not meet minimum capital and surplus requirements of Montana law, according to Louis Forsell, chief of the Montana State Auditor's and ex-officio insurance commissioner E. V. Omholt's suspension order had been stayed pending a court review of Sierra's appeal of the decision. Sierra also had sued Omholt for $1 million.

All civil penalties have been dismissed. We examined the company down here in Twin Falls. . . We determined that they now meet the Montana requirements," Forsell said. He also said Sierra has dropped its suit against Omholt.

Forsell said, however, that the state's finding of solvency and Sierra's withdrawal of the suit were independent actions. No agreement was made between the department and Sierra, he said.

Forsell said the department conducted an examination of Sierra in Twin Falls. The first week of June and found that the company now meets Montana requirements.

According to Montana Insurance Department's Chief Examiner Jerry Mougher, the examination was not a "complete examination" but focused on mortgages and real estate claims and assets of the company.

He said the assets of Sandia Life Insurance Co. were not reviewed.

"Sandia was not examined so therefore not considered" as an asset of Sierra, he said.

Sandia is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sierra which is incorporated in New Mexico. Late in 1975 Sierra transferred most of the assets being challenged by an examiner for Zone VI of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and by the Wyoming Insurance Department into Sandia.

In a Wyoming hearing on Sierra's financial situation earlier this year, Sierra protested that most of the challenged assets no longer belonged to Sierra and therefore should not be at issue in the hearing.

But Wyoming Insurance Commissioner John Langdon did not agree with Sierra's arguments. He found the transfer of the policies to Sandia invalid under Wyoming law. Langdon's finding in the hearings since have been appealed by Sierra.

Montana apparently has taken a different position regarding Sandia.

Sierra transferred the assets to Sandia when it sold almost all of its non-Idaho policies to its New Mexico subsidiary.

'Mormon' will filed
HOUSTON (UPI) — The purported "Mormon will" of late billionaire Howard Hughes will be filed today in a local probate court, an attorney for the executor of that will said.

George J. Farnham, a Houston attorney, said executor Noah Dietrich will also petition to have Hughes' aunt and cousin removed as co-administrators of the more than $2 billion estate.

The "Mormon will" was the first to show up after Hughes died on route to a Houston hospital April 5. The will, which has been filed for probate in Las Vegas, Nev., gave more than $100 million dollars to a Utah gas station operator but did not mention Hughes' closest living relative.

Argentina aide killed
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — A terrorist bomb exploded in the suburban home of federal police chief Brig. Gen. Cesario Cardozo today, killing him and injuring his wife and daughter.

Cardozo was the second federal police chief assassinated in less than two years.

A communique issued by police headquarters said: "Brig. Gen. Cesario Cardozo, chief of the federal police, has died as the result of an attack perpetrated at 15 a. m. of this date."

The government news agency Telam cited police sources as saying Cardozo's mother as well as his wife and daughter were wounded when the bomb exploded inside an elevator in which they were going up to the apartment they occupied.

Ford cancels Iowa trip
By United Press International

President Ford today canceled a trip to Iowa where he was going to campaign for support among state Republicans who will choose 36 convention delegates this weekend.

The dinner he was to have attended in Des Moines tonight would have put him face-to-face with rival Donald Reagan for the first time in their campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Motocade attacked
LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — In the first outbreak of violence in Portugal's presidential campaign, far-left demonstrators Thursday attacked the motocade of the frontrunning candidate, Gen. Antonio Ramalho Eanes. One demonstrator was shot to death and six were injured.

The national news agency ANOP said 100 demonstrators shouting "fascist" attacked the general's caravan with stones and broken bottles as it left the strongly Communist town of Evora, 95 miles southwest of Lisbon, where he had addressed a rally.

Firing squad demanded
LUANDA, Angola (UPI) — Angolan prosecutors wrapped up their case against 13 British and American mercenaries with demands that the "scum of human society" be put to the firing squad. Spectators chanted "Death, Death!"

Prosecutor Rui Monteiro said Thursday all 13 soldiers of fortune should be sentenced to death by firing squad as a deterrent to other mercenaries despite wide differences in charges against them.

Utah, California riders re-enact Pony Express

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Troy Austin stood in the middle of Main Street awaiting the gun. Fifty feet away his horse reared and screamed.

The gun went off. Austin ran for the horse, picked up the mail pouch and the Pony Express rode again.

A similar scene unfolded simultaneously in Sacramento, Calif., Thursday as opposing teams of horsemen rode off on a Bicentennial challenge race matching the hell-bent-for-leather rides of 1860-41—days when the reckless riders of the Pony Express were the newest and fastest development in mail service.

The race started as a challenge by Utah Gov.

Cal Rampton to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. The starting guns in Salt Lake City and Sacramento were fired simultaneously on the signal of an official starter in Sacramento.

The first 10 of 70 riders from the California State Horseman's Association took off from Salt Lake City racing against a team of 39 riders from Utah's Weber County Sheriff's Mounted posse headed in the opposite direction.

The riders will retrace the original 756 mile Pony Express route through Utah and Nevada to Sacramento. They carry yellow pouches with 500 pieces of commemorative mail, observing the Bicentennial.

In Salt Lake City, the police roped off a block on Main Street and the California riders saddled their mounts in front of the Tribune Building—a spot on the original express route.

Square dancers do-ohed. Riders tugged at their bright red bandannas and adjusted the heavy leather mail pouches.

Austin's horse apparently was not as anxious to get on the road. The rider whipped the horse's head around and, in the finest Pony Express tradition, scattered onlookers and newsmen as he mounted his steed sideways on a gallop out of town.

Betty Phillips of Fresno, one of 25 women on the California team, was anxious to get on the trail, which includes hundreds of miles of raw desert in western Utah and Nevada. "I've lived in the desert. I'm not afraid of riding through it."

Both teams will be on the road 24 hours a day and both hope to make it to their home towns by Saturday.

The original Pony Express lasted only 18 months on its 1,830 mile route between St. Joe and Sacramento. It was replaced by the telegraph. The express attracted such riders as Buffalo Bill Cody who was its youngest member at age 15.

Solon enters plane hassle

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — A Republican legislative leader has jumped on the bandwagon of pros and cons concerning Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' $169,000 airplane purchase.

Jack Kennevek, assistant majority leader of the state House of Representatives said, "There is no way we can be party to reducing by $169,000 the disaster payments due our eastern Idaho neighbors."

Questioning the statements made by Democratic State Chairman Deckie Rice in defense of the transaction, Kennevek said, "I sincerely hope that Democratic spokesmen for the governor's office were in error when they indicated that the cost of the new state airplane purchased last Monday would be charged against federal disaster relief funds."

Kennevek said, "It would be unethical of the State of Idaho to pad the disaster expenditures and thereby get Uncle Sam to pay for an unauthorized private executive airplane for which they took the liberty nine days after the flood disaster."

The legislative leader said, "Gov. Andrus should personally clarify the confusion created by his spokesman. Certainly the State of Idaho doesn't want to be guilty of cheating on our emergency expense account with the federal government and there is no way we can be party to reducing by $169,000 the disaster payments due our eastern Idaho neighbors."

Kennevek was referring to a statement made by Mrs. Rice that the legislative airplane "was necessitated to bring aid to the Teton Dam disaster victims just like all the public and private expenses associated with the disaster."

"This will be chargeable against the federal government and much of the expenses will be recovered," Mrs. Rice said in the earlier statement.

Senate OK's Teton disaster aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved legislation Thursday which would compensate victims of the Teton Dam disaster for loss of life, injury and property damage.

The legislation, approved by voice vote, directs the Interior Department to set up machinery for processing claims. The bill, sponsored by Sens. Frank Church and James McClure of Idaho, now goes to the House. The two senators said they hoped the measure would be acted upon with the same speed in the other chamber.

Church said the bill provides a basic law which authorizes pay for all damages to life and property resulting by the Teton Dam collapse June 5.

"We were able to introduce the legislation in the Senate, secure the necessary hearings, the approval of the Interior Committee, and now the passage by the Senate in about a week's time," Church said. "The bill now goes from Senate to the other body of Congress, where the House of Representatives must still act. I hope that they can be moved along with similar speed."

McClure said the measure "provides for broad-based compensation for those victims of this disaster, who had so much taken from them through no fault of their own."

"I am all too aware, however, that many in East Idaho are without homes, possessions and income," he said. "I pledge my continued efforts to move this bill through Congress so that full and just compensation can begin. I trust the House of Representatives will see the urgent need for the legislation as the Senate has done."

Wild horse protection result of woman's work

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Velma (Wild Horse Annie) Johnston, whose 25-year fight resulted in the law protecting wild horses on the western range, said today it was a "day for champagne" because of her victory in the U.S. Supreme Court.

"If there had been no law, you could have written the story in blood," she said.

Mrs. Johnston began working for protective legislation in the 1950s when she saw a trackload of wild horses being taken to a slaughterhouse for processing into pet food. In 1971, Congress passed the current law which charges the Bureau of Land Management with the task of managing the herds of wild horses and their progeny provision outlaws use of aircraft and mechanized vehicles in rounding up excess numbers of the animals.

The BLM says it is caught between pressure from ranchers who say wild horses compete with domestic livestock for limited forage and water, and environmentalists and others who say the "wild ones" should have an unchallenged life under a multiple-use management concept for public lands.

Mrs. Johnston said she opposes an attempt supported by the BLM, to amend the law to allow the use of airplanes in roundups. Bureau officials say the wild horses easily elude coyotes, to try to capture excess animals, and better methods are needed to round them up and remove them in order to keep their numbers within manageable size.

"The population could have been kept down through existing regulations when the law was passed and the wild horse population was only about 17,000," she said. "The agency did not do it and now, with the numbers increasing, control is more difficult."

She said there are workable methods of reducing the herd size, from the range. The program to put out these animals for adoption has proved popular around the country, but she agreed with BLM officials there eventually will be a saturation point.

"But the law does provide for humane destruction of excess animals," she said. "When the saturation point is reached and that's the only way left to hold down their numbers, at least we can say we did everything we could to protect them."

Convention held in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The American Party gave a national convention and party anybody came.

The 300 delegates attending a platform debate on the first day of the conservative third party's convention were only about one tenth of the total expected before Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign took off.

When Salt Lake City was chosen as the site for the convention, party leaders reserved a 1000 hotel and motel rooms.

But when the convention opened Thursday, only about half the authorized 536 voting delegates had registered. By day's end, a total of 291 gathered for the platform debate in the Salt Palace convention center. A large section of the hall reserved for spectators was empty.

"Unless some more people show up, we're in trouble. We're going to lose money," said Earl Jeppson, the party's executive director, as he eyed a large banquet hall he had hoped to fill with people paying $12.50 a plate for dinner.

"Our problem is Ronald Reagan," said party Chairman Tom Anderson. "If Reagan is badly treated by the Republicans, we will pick up his supporters. But Reagan on the Republican ticket — as either President or Vice President — will hurt us."

"Third parties have always been one man movements," said Anderson, a conservative newspaper columnist and cattle rancher from Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

"Every four years America's conservatives try to find a man on a white horse to 'ride up and save them,'" he said. "If we had had a nationally known figure here, we would have more people."

But Anderson, who is likely to be drafted as the American Party presidential nominee, said he thought the movement had more basic strength than at any time since it was formed in 1964 as the vehicle for the candidacy of Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

"Thirty-two states were represented in Salt Lake City. The largest delegation came from California, which sent 34 people including the widow of movie actor Walter Brennan, Texas was next with 21 representatives, Florida 17 and host state Utah 16."

Anderson said the party was making no pretense of trying to capture the Presidency, but had a good chance of winning several congressional seats.

"Our goal now is to change the complexion of Congress," he said. "Only by changing Congress can we take a real ax to the bureaucracy. The President can't do it."

He predicted that if the American Party could elect a half-dozen candidates to Congress, another half-dozen conservative Republicans already in Congress would switch parties.

"More and more voters are calling themselves independents and if they know about us, they would be with us," Anderson said.

Nebraska delegates for Church go uncommitted

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Don Eds, Nebraska campaign coordinator for Sen. Frank Church, Thursday said the state's Church-committed delegates will probably go uncommitted to the Democratic national convention.

Eds said, "I wouldn't want the Carter forces to think we're trying to play some sort of a game here. It's just that Church spent a lot of time here in Nebraska and he's got a lot of friends here who are not in Nebraska."

"Frank Church is kind of a third senator," he said. "Church, winner of Nebraska's May 11 presidential primary election, has withdrawn as a candidate and returned his delegates to support Jimmy Carter on the first ballot at the New York City convention."

Church delegates pose questions

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Speculation about the future of Democratic delegates pledged to Sen. Frank Church surfaced at the Idaho State Democratic Convention Thursday as several hundred Democrats congregated in Twin Falls to determine the party's direction.

The Church delegates in question are not expected in the convention hall in the state convention, Lt. Gov. John V. Evans said in an interview. Evans said Church had indicated to him that his delegates would not be released prior to the convention selection process.

Phillip M. Barber, chairman of the party's standing rules committee, said in a letter to the convention that his understanding of the state delegates was that Church had not withdrawn from the presidential race but had suspended active campaigning. In that event, Barber said, the Church delegates are still committed.

Church could not be reached for comment.

In further remarks Evans said the Teton Dam disaster had made the state convention in that "several of the legislative districts of the Upper Snake River Valley are not represented here or are only partially represented."

Earlier in the day, Montana's Gov. Thomas Judge opened the convention with a keynote speech including a prediction that Gov. Cecil D. Andrus would be elected chairman of the National Governor's Conference next month.

Judge credited Andrus with increasing leadership "in education, public kindergartens and improved social services as examples of the Idaho governor's ability."

When asked later to respond to Gov. Judge's forecast that he would be elected chairman of the national group, Andrus said, "Yes, that will be up to a vote."

"We do have to wait until the vote is taken. This would be a compliment to a little state and a man who has been governor for six years."

The National Governor's Convention is scheduled July 5 at Hershey, Penn.

Judge said this is the year for Democrats in Idaho to capture both congressional and state control of the Idaho Legislature by winning four additional seats.

"He said western states should band together to protect their interests."

The 300 people attending the first day's meetings were mostly old or middle aged and mostly gray or bald.

They cheered and applauded enthusiastically as speakers denounced the threat of communism, the size of the national debt, bureaucratic abuses in Washington and "phony conservatism."

"There is nothing worse than a phony conservative," said Anderson. "Nixon was a phony conservative. He took us further down the road to socialism than any President."

"McGovern would have been better," he said. "He couldn't have done it."

To emphasize the point, the delegates drew up a platform that called for an end to federally subsidized education and welfare, abolition of the Federal Reserve system, optional participation in Social Security, and defeat of the Equal Rights Amendment.

There were also tough planks calling for a housecleaning of the State Department to eliminate "security risks," an end to "secret treaties" made by the President or secretary of state and unyielding U.S. control of the Panama Canal.

PUG hearing for gas firm cancelled

BOISE (UPI) — A complaint hearing initiated by two contractors against Intermountain Gas Co. scheduled before the Idaho Public Utilities Commission Thursday morning was cancelled due to Intermountain's "commitment to disaster relief in southeastern Idaho."

Garth Andrews, spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission said today.

Andrews said the hearing will probably be set in the very near future.

Victims urged to visit center

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today urged all victims to visit the nearest disaster assistance center before operations are phased down Saturday evening.

"It is important for all disaster victims to learn about all the assistance programs that are available now," Andrus said in a statement released in Idaho Falls Thursday.

"The most convenient way to do that is to visit the nearest disaster assistance center before Saturday at 7 p.m. when all the federal, state and volunteer agencies offering assistance are still at the centers," he said.

Representatives from all 18 agencies at the centers will be leaving Saturday evening.

Centers located at Idaho Falls, Rexburg, St. Anthony and Blackfoot are open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. through Saturday.

The governor said the assistance available to flood victims is in addition to any future compensation which may be offered by the federal government.

"Accepting assistance at this time will not affect a victim's eligibility for filing any future claims, he said.

"As of the close of business, Wednesday almost 5,200 families had registered for assistance at the four southeastern Idaho disaster assistance centers."

17 public service programs dropped

BOISE (UPI) — Boise suffered a $753,000 funding setback, that cut seven public service programs in the Boise City Department of Community Development.

The programs were ruled ineligible for funds, Thursday by the local office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

L. A. Gilmore, director of the Boise community development agency, said the ineligible programs were in the public and social services category.

Services that received the largest funding cuts were the comprehensive health services, $125,000; Port-Boise Community Centers, $100,000; and legal aid $60,000.

In the city's original application HUD ruled 29 of the proposed 40 programs ineligible, cutting the $6,489,041 request to $5,736,000.

The slash announced Thursday was on the revised application the city submitted.

The Boise agency was successful in defending 23 of the programs, which were rejected in the first application and HUD approved them when they were re-submitted, Gilmore said.

"As it stands now our agency will have 29 operating programs, including those which were reworked into other eligible project areas, during the second action year, which starts July 1," Gilmore said.

He said he had no idea of the fate of projects funded during the first program year now that the funding has been cut.

Electric rate hike expected by 1977

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Power Company's chief financial officer forecast another rate increase by the end of the year.

Robert Klump said the reason for the increase would be the cost of financing and its ratemakers with the recent downgrading by Standard and Poor's of the company's bonds and commercial paper.

Klump said the primary reason for the downgrading was the low earnings compared to debt.

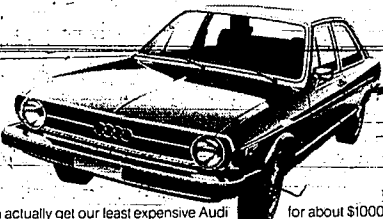

The bonds were delisted from A-1 to A and the commercial paper from A-1 to A-2, increasing the interest expenses to the utility.

No need for session

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today called for a special session of the Idaho Legislature to deal with financial problems of the Teton Dam Disaster, as "diminishing with the speedy execution of the action to provide aid to victims."

The U.S. Senate approved Thursday a bill by Idaho Sens. Frank Church and James McClure to provide compensation to the victims of the flood in the Upper Snake River.

'76 Audis for $1000 less than Volkswagens and BMWs (even Saabs and Peugots, for that matter).

No tricks. No word games. You can actually get our least expensive Audi for about $1000 less than the least expensive Volvo, BMW, Saab or Peugeot.

And not only will you be spending less, but you'll be getting more. More miles per gallon than any of them. 35 on the highway and 24 in the city for our standard shift model based on the latest EPA estimates. (Mileage can vary, of course, depending on the car's condition, optional equipment, as well as the way you drive.)

You'll also be getting advanced engineering features, like fuel injection, front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, dual diagonal brakes and torsion crank rear axle.

Better hush, though. When you offer so much car for so little money, they don't stay around so long.

Police policies under scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is examining the policy under which a congressman picked up for soliciting a prostitute is quietly let free in Washington, D.C., but another is arrested in Salt Lake City.

The inconsistency came to light with the belated disclosure that Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr., D-La., a leader of Southern conservatives, was released in January after being detained on the charge of soliciting a prostitute — posing as a prostitute.

No announcement was made at the time, no charge was filed and no record was kept. In contrast, Rep. Allan T. Howe, D-Utah, was arrested and charged by police last week in Salt Lake City in an incident which threatens to end his political career. Howe has claimed and police denied — that the arrest was a set-up.

Solon travel records eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has asked the House for financial records of nine members of Congress who allegedly received travel funds to which they were not entitled, the Washington Post reported today.

The newspaper said federal attorneys are studying the possibility of suing the nine under a federal law covering false claims for payment from the government.

Court bolsters 'Miranda' curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has bolstered slightly its controversial "Miranda" curbs on police interrogation, despite earlier decisions indicating the rule which warns a suspect of his rights might eventually be reversed.

The 1966 decision requires police to tell a suspect he has the right to remain silent and have an attorney. He also must be told that anything said may be used against him in court. Once a person refuses to talk, the questioning must stop.

Although the court eroded part of the Miranda decision in 1971 by saying prosecutors may use some information obtained before rights are read to cross examine a defendant, it said on Thursday that the fact a suspect refuses to talk when arrested may be used to challenge the truth of an alibi.

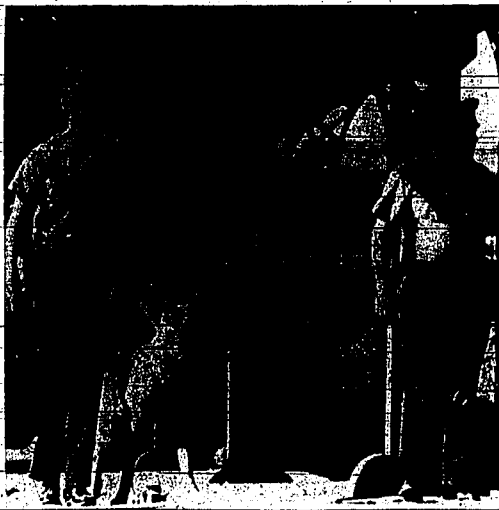

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., speaking for a six-man majority, said the "Miranda" warnings carry implicit assurance that silence will not result in a penalty.

The Miranda warnings are designed to protect the constitutional right against self-incrimination. Evidence obtained from an unwarned suspect may not be used later at trial.

The scope of the doctrine was reduced in the 1971 decision, when the court said a statement inadmissible for the prosecution's case could be used in attacking the testimony of a defendant who takes the stand.

The court also had ruled earlier this term that once a suspect decides to remain silent about one crime, police a short time later may warn him again, and question him about something else.

Although law enforcement officers have criticized the Miranda decision at the time, a recent UPI check of key officials showed that most no longer feel the requirements are burdensome.

Search for gunman

CHICAGO POLICEMEN continue their search for the gunman who shot two people, killing one of them aboard a crowded elevated train during the rush hour traffic Thursday.

The brother of Rose Marie Turner, acting as a bodyguard for his sister who was afraid of a former boyfriend, was killed and his sister gravely wounded during the attack. (UPI)

Not counted are Pennsylvania and New Jersey, where Ford was on the ballot unopposed, or New York where an independent slate of delegates was elected and neither was on the ballot.

Ford won 15 of the primaries and Reagan 11.

Ford won New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Florida, Illinois, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Maryland, Michigan, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oregon, Rhode Island and Ohio.

Reagan won North Carolina.

Bergman drew. "At a time when the legislature is moving toward mandatory sentences of three years for juveniles convicted of serious crimes, a four-month sentence for a 'rich' felon, guilty of a million dollar fraud, can only reinforce cynicism about the realities of equal justice under the law," said The New York Times.

In sentencing Bergman, who could have been sent to prison for five years and fined $15,000, Koch said, "For people like Dr. Bergman, who might be disposed to engage in similar wrongdoing, it should be sufficiently frightening to serve the major end of general deterrence," he said.

Hynes also said Bergman has refused to live up to an agreement to cooperate in the investigation and to make full restitution of the taxpayers' money he is said to have stolen. Hynes said Bergman has agreed to pay back only $300,000 of the $2.5 million auditors say he owes the state.

Both Hynes and Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Aloysius Mella served notes they were not "bound" by any federal plea bargaining agreements involving Bergman, an orthodox rabbi, who pleaded guilty in March to two counts of an 18-count indictment.

The former nursing home operator also faces sentencing on state charges.

Special State Prosecutor Charles J. Hynes, in charge of overall nursing home investigations, said Thursday he was "extraordinarily disappointed" by the sentence imposed by U.S. District Judge Marvin Frankel.

Hynes calls the judge's decision "special justice for the privileged" and Democratic Rep. Edward I. Koch said it was an "outrage."

"Instead of spending four months in a real jail ... Bergman is going to be permitted to live in a half-way house, one that is effectively a hotel," Koch said.

Bergman, 64, once the central figure in the massive nursing homes inquiry, admitted he took part in the conspiracy and the false, corporate income tax returns. He is scheduled to surrender June 28 to begin serving his 120-day sentence.

Frankel's action also drew the fire of New York's morning newspapers.

"The powder-puff treatment of Bergman is dimly typical of the way the courts deal with transgressors in what are known as white-collar crimes," said the Daily News. "A $5 nurse-stafling would earn the culprit more time than

Blue ribbon panel likely

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (UPI) — Seeking to avoid anyone who might be tainted by scandal, Jimmy Carter says he may ask a blue ribbon panel of 15 persons — and perhaps the FBI — to help him select a running mate.

The frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination said however, that he will try to honor the privacy of those who may be considered for the vice presidential nomination.

Carter talked in a report on St. Simons Island Thursday following two days of staff discussions planning the rest of the campaign. Carter's computerized four-day vacation on oak and myrtle covered Sea Island Saturday.

Carter said he would disclose "in a couple of days" the details of how he will select his running mate. He said he would not reveal the names of those under consideration — speculation by the news media will take care of that, he said — but that he will announce the names' of some of the "distinguished Americans" who would assist him in the screening.

He said he would use the FBI only if it is legal and if the national nominee agreed. "I think it's important in this process to have the privacy of those being considered — that's a main reason I would not want a full background check by the FBI or any agency without his or her permission," Carter said.

A reporter asked if Carter's caution was caused by the burgeoning sex scandal in Washington.

Reagan outvotes Ford in contests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the 20 primaries where they met head to head, Ronald Reagan topped President Ford by a total of 296,008 votes.

Unofficial figures show that 9.5 million Republican votes were cast in the primaries. Reagan received 4,935,176 and Ford 4,638,268.

Not counted are Pennsylvania and New Jersey, where Ford was on the ballot unopposed, or New York where an independent slate of delegates was elected and neither was on the ballot.

Ford won 15 of the primaries and Reagan 11. Ford won New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Florida, Illinois, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Maryland, Michigan, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oregon, Rhode Island and Ohio.

Reagan won North Carolina.

Texas, Alabama, Indiana, Georgia, Nebraska, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, South Dakota, and California.

Reagan's margin over Ford came from a 600,000 vote landslide in the June 8 California primary and a 350,000 vote plurality in Texas.

May 1, Ford's showings were by 145,000 over Reagan in Illinois, and 330,000 in Michigan.

Nursing home operator's sentence controversial

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge's decision to sentence nursing home operator Bernard Bergman to four months in jail for his part in a $1.2 million Medicaid fraud has aroused a storm of controversy.

Arboreal streaker nabbed

MANKATO, Minn. (UPI) — Mankato police have picked up a rare arboreal streaker, a 17-year-old youth who swung naked through the trees just like Tarzan.

The tree-top streaker was charged with disorderly conduct.

His arrest was said to have cleared up about eight complaints over the last year. He was arrested after a woman bird watcher spotted him with binoculars as he swung through the trees near Mankato East High School and called police.

Because he is a juvenile his name was not revealed.

Blake settles

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Robert Blake reached an out-of-court settlement of his contract dispute with Universal Studios and will remain the star in the "Baronica" television series.

The terms of the settlement, announced Thursday, were not revealed.

The agreement was reached a week before trial was scheduled to begin in Blake's suit to break his contract with Universal, which runs through 1980.

'Can't work'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Seeking to rebut singer Connie Francis' claim that she has been unable to work since she was raped two years ago, defense attorneys in a $5 million suit Thursday presented testimony from a music promoter who said he offered her at least 15 engagements in the past year.

Martin H. Kummel said Miss Francis turned down an offer as recently as three weeks ago.

She is suing Howard Johnson's Motor Lodges, charging there was inadequate security in the motel room where she was assaulted in 1974.

Ball hearing postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A ball hearing for Indian leader Dennis Banks on fugitive charges has been postponed until July 19 to give Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. an opportunity to act on extradition.

Banks, convicted in South Dakota of rioting and assault, faces extradition from both California and Oregon. Recently, both states raised bail from $5,000 to $10,000.

Banks was given until June 14 to raise the new amount, and he was unable to do so. He surrendered Monday, but went free on Tuesday when his attorney persuaded a judge to allow him to post a returnable $500 bond.

Apartment rapped

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Secretary General Kurt Waldheim led U.N. officials Thursday in denouncing South Africa's policy of racial separation as the root of riots that took at least 35 lives in Soweto, outside Johannesburg.

"The continuing tension and unrest in that country emphasizes once again the necessity for an end to the policy of apartheid and racial discrimination," Waldheim said in a statement deploring the loss of life.

Moylnhan speaks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Former United Nations Ambassador Daniel P. Moylnhan told Harvard University graduates Thursday "the educated class" must debunk growing belief Western democracies are "what is wrong with the world."

"The educated class has before it a challenge of reformation and reconciliation greater than any it has faced in the modern age," Moylnhan said.

He said faith in democracy has been replaced by belief among the "intellectual class" that Western civilization, "far from being better by the world... is what is wrong with the world."

Trial delay bid rejected

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The state Supreme Court turned down a last-minute bid by SA suspect Bill and Emily Harris for a delay in their trial set to start Monday.

The Harrises, arrested with Patricia Hearst in San Francisco last September, were indicted with the kidnap victim and convicted bank robber in October, on 11 counts of assault, robbery and kidnapping in connection with a Southern California crime spree in May of 1977.

Judge Marc Brandler turned down an appeal by their attorneys two weeks ago to have the trial delayed for a year on grounds of prejudice to the public.

The Harrises appealed his ruling, but failed to get hearings in either the state Court of Appeal or Supreme Court.

Miss Hearst, who will not stand trial with the Harrises, is now undergoing a psychiatric evaluation at the federal prison in San Diego prior to sentencing on her federal bank robbery conviction in San Francisco.

Foster parents to face charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police today investigated a strange tale by two sisters and a brother that they were kept imprisoned in their foster parents' home for years at a time, locked in dark rooms and starved.

The youngest, Laura Johnson, 16, was rescued Wednesday night by officers who broke down a door to reach her.

The girl had been starved down to 63 pounds, was covered with cuts and bruises and said she had been locked in the barren, foul smelling room for four years, officers said.

Randolph Johnson, 46, a truck driver with the city sanitation department, and his wife, Willie B., were arrested on suspicion of felony child abuse. They were freed on $2,000 bail each Thursday pending arraignment next Wednesday.

Police said they took the Johnson home on a report from Laura's sister, Donna, 19, who ran away from the home five weeks ago.

The Johnsons admitted police but refused to open the door to Laura's room, so officers broke it down. They said, finding the girl in a room with no lights, no furniture, and a cot with no blankets or sheets. The room reeked of excrement, police said.

The girl told them she had been locked in the room most of the time since she was 12, they said, and was usually fed one peanut butter sandwich a day.

Police said records showed Laura had been picked up two months ago seven miles from her home, roaming through garbage cans. Officers returned her to the Johnsons as a runaway.

The older sister, and a brother, Donald, 22, both of oriental and black parentage, told authorities they believed they were born in Korea, adopted by the Johnsons, who are black, and brought to this country as small children. Laura was born in Los Angeles, the other two children said.

Donna and Donald reportedly told police they were also beaten, starved and locked in dark rooms. Donald told officers he escaped five years ago but was afraid to talk to authorities for fear he would be deported to Korea.

Laura was taken to Long Beach Memorial Hospital where she was at first declared in critical condition from starvation, cuts and bruises and internal infections. Her condition had improved to fair today.

Authorities mum on death motive

DETROIT (UPI) — Federal prosecutors are keeping mum on the motive in the case of two Filipino nurses charged with killing five patients at a Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The two are accused of poisoning 15 patients at the hospital by putting a powerful muscle relaxant in their intravenous injections. Five of the patients died.

Authorities suspect the muscle relaxant or another similar drug was responsible for a rash of more than 50 cases of respiratory failure at the hospital — 11 of them fatal.

However, the two nurses were charged only in 15 of the cases — including five of the fatal cases.

The two nurses, Filipina B. Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Leonora M. Perez, 31, of Evanston, Ill., were arraigned Thursday on charges of murder, conspiracy to commit murder and adulteration of intravenous injections.

Richard Delonis, chief federal prosecutor in the case, told the judge at Miss Narciso's arraignment that "the charges contained in the indictment, short of treason, are the most serious in the federal code."

Miss Narciso, who was fired from her job at the Ann Arbor facility following her arrest Wednesday, had just applied for U.S. citizenship in March, her attorney, Thomas O'Brien, told the court at her arraignment.

Neatly dressed in a blue-checked blazer and maroon slacks and visibly buoyed by a show of support from friends and relatives, Miss Narciso stood mute before U.S. Magistrate Barbara Hackett in Detroit, and was ordered held without bond.

Mrs. Perez, four months pregnant with her second child, was arraigned in Chicago, where she has been working at a VA hospital since her transfer from Ann Arbor.

last fall. U.S. Magistrate Carl B. Susman set a $500,000 cash bond and ordered her "removed forthwith to the Michigan State Prison."

Delonis said he expects the two to go on trial in late August or early September. He said the trial probably would last several months.

Delonis refused to discuss a motive for the poisonings and said it would be "inappropriate to comment" on any of the evidence.

Legalized gambling studied

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Legal gambling is fine in a place like Nevada, but in states with big cities, some "less than perfect" crime and social problems that would eat up the tax benefits to local governments, according to a confidential staff report to the National Gambling Commission.

The report is the result of lengthy research into legal and illegal gambling in hearings throughout the nation.

The final draft will be submitted to the commission in Washington next Wednesday, according to Nevada Attorney General Robert List, a commission member, who met with staff members here this week to prepare the report.

The report commends Nevada for being the only state in the gambling business to "negligible" levels, and called the state's gambling business "the most closely scrutinized private industry in the country."

But it notes that Nevada residents gamble more than other Americans, especially those who earn less than $5,000 a year. There is a "relationship," which the report concedes cannot be explained, between gambling and the higher crime rates in Las Vegas, which has more than its share of murders, rapes, robberies and burglaries, it said.

Woman gets top Ada news post

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Statesman in Boise has named Marjorie B. Paxon, 52, an experienced newspaper editor and a national leader in the advancement of women's professional status, as assistant managing editor of the newspaper.

Publisher Robert B. Miller Jr. also announced Wednesday the promotion of Rod Hunt from assistant news editor to news editor, effective immediately.

Miller said, "Marge Paxon brings years of experience and the seasoned judgment necessary to help provide professional and aggressive leadership to the rapidly expanding Statesman operation."

He said she will assist Managing Editor Gary Watson in administering newsroom policies and will assume her new responsibilities about mid-July.

A Journalism graduate of the University of Missouri, she began her news career with United Press in Lincoln, Neb., in 1944 and served with The Associated Press in Omaha from 1946-48.

She also worked for the Houston Post and Chronicle, the Miami Herald, the St. Petersburg, Fla. Times, and the Philadelphia Bulletin. Last March, she became director of public information for the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year. She will move to Boise after the commission reports to President Ford on June 30.

A native of Pocatello, Hunt joined The Statesman in March, 1970, as a copy editor. He served as sports writer and was named sports editor in February, 1973. He was appointed assistant news editor in December of last year.

Benefit dance Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Ticket sales were reported good today for the Mark Falash benefit dance Saturday night in the Elks Lodge.

The dance, featuring entertainment by the Oinkari Basque Dancers of Boise, will raise funds to assist Mark Falash, a Twin Falls high school graduate and quadriplegic, attend college this fall.

Committee members are hoping to be able to purchase a special van which will give Falash a means of transportation and enough independence to attend college in spite of his handicap, Mrs. Doug Neville, committee members, said. The youth has been paralyzed since suffering a motorcycle accident in 1974.

In addition to the evening of dancing, beginning at 9 p.m., there will be an auction at 10:30 p.m. with Jim Messersmith donating his services as auctioneer. A number of items including a citizen band radio, desk and chair, golf clubs, homemade Afghan, meat for someone's deep freezer and other items have been donated for the auction.

The public is urged to attend and support the benefit. Admission is $5 per couple.

US approves sale of 12 F5 warplanes to Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The United States has agreed to sell 12 Supercopter F5 warplanes to Kenya to counter Soviet arms buildups in East Africa. The $70 million deal is the largest ever with a black African nation.

"It is not for the Soviet Union or Cuba, or for any nation to dictate to African nations," said Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, who reached an agreement on the deal Wednesday. "Just as we believe in freedom and self-determination for ourselves, so too, we believe that no alien power should dictate policy on this continent."

Rumsfeld made a courtesy visit to Kenyan President Jomo Kenyatta Thursday before flying to Zaire for further arms talks with President Mobutu Sese Seko Zaire, the former Belgian Congo, adjoins Angola, which also has strong Soviet ties.

The arms sale was seen by Kenyan and U.S. officials as the first tangible American step towards countering what they describe as growing Soviet influence in black Africa. The arms package, if approved by Congress, also would include pilot and repairman training and spare parts.

In his luncheon toast Wednesday, Rumsfeld referred to Cuban and Soviet intervention in the Angolan civil war by saying "The American people share with President Kenyatta the conviction that the destiny of Africa must lie in African hands."

Soviet weapons aid and an estimated 15,000 Cuban troops helped the Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola defeat two pro-western factions. Kenya's decision to buy the planes reflects a break with the previous policy of spending Kenya's resources on economic development rather than weapons. Kenya, which spent roughly $40 million on defense in 1974, has a relatively small 10,000-man army, poorly equipped navy and primitive air force.

Uganda and Somalia, both of which have in the past claimed Kenya's territory, are equipped with modern Soviet arms, including MIG17 and MIG19 fighters and tanks.

The Russians are building air bases and naval repair facilities in Somalia. The naval base at Kisimayu is a few miles from the Kenyan border.

Nessen says no running mate set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has picked no running mate and anyone who says he is wrong, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday.

"The President has not made a decision on a vice presidential running mate."

Nessen told reporters. "The first and only authorized word will come from the President," Nessen said.

Veto power abuse charged by Nader

Chicago Sun-Times — Walter D. Nader says government cannot continue functioning if the President makes frequent use of his veto power.

The spokesman for consumer interests Wednesday accused President Ford of abusing "the most powerful tool in our political system" — the veto. Unless the veto is exercised sparingly, the political divisions separating Congress and the White House will lead to "a paralysis of action," Nader declared.

Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) invited Nader to address a conference of 70 Illinois mayors and county officials in a troubleshooting session with federal officials. The annual workshop meetings are sponsored by Percy's office.

Nader and Percy are both supporting a bill to create a federal consumer advocacy agent that Ford has threatened to veto. The measure has passed the House and Senate, but the margin in the House was far from enough to override a veto. Conferees expect to send the final version to the White House by September, with a veto then likely.

Valley hires 4 teachers

VALLEY SCHOOLS — Four new teachers have been named to the faculty in the Valley School District 252, according to Superintendent Arlyn Bodily.

Kathy West, recent graduate of Boise State University, will teach third grade. Rick Palmer, Idaho State University graduate, will teach elementary physical education.

New teachers at the high school will be Jeff Howell, biology and science, and Jerome Smith, English, speech and drama. Smith received his degree from Idaho State University and Howell from Boise State University.

Bodily reports that the only vacancy that remains open is for a music teacher and he hopes to fill the vacancy by the end of next week.

In the regular trustee meeting held this week trustees accepted a bid from Gordon Paving to repair the paving around the Valley High School and the Eden Elementary Building.

The board also approved sending part of the Vikingette drill team to a workshop at Utah State University July 12-15.

A report was given on the summer school session being conducted in the district June 7-July 10. The 70 students enrolled are children of migrant workers or fall within the requirements of a migrant student, Bodily said.

The summer recreation program is in full swing. Beatie Willis and Monte Andrus supervise the girls and boys teams respectively. Practices are held at 9 a.m. on alternate days at the Eden and Hazelton Schools.

Nelson McClath, newly elected board member, will be sworn in at the next regular meeting on July 12. A new chairman will also be appointed.

Officers installed — GLENNIS FERRY — Officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary were installed Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting in the Veterans Memorial Hall.

Mrs. John Timler was installed as president, Mrs. Cynthia Beaman as vice president, Mrs. Joseph Doyle, secretary, Mrs. Zoe Hull, treasurer, Mrs. Homer Hanke, Jr., vice president, Mrs. David Ickes, guard, Gloria Owens, conductor, Mrs. George Thomas, three-year trustee.

It was reported that Mrs. Thomas had earned her 25-year pin. Mrs. Eugene Fischer, a charter member, her 35-year pin and Mrs. Doyle had presented a girl, for serving for two years as president.

Flag dedicated at Jerome

JEROME — Special ceremonies were held at the Bible Baptist Church to dedicate a flag and flagpole donated to the church.

The flag, provided through the courtesy of Rep. George Hansen and presented by Mrs. Jerry Callen, has been flown over the nation's capital.

Participating in the bicentennial "God and Country" event were Magistrate Russel Shaud, Howard DuBois, Jerome chief of police, Rev. D. William Arnel, Roy Drain and Arlis Baughman.

Chief DuBois also addressed the congregation during the services.

Pastor Arnel said, "We believe God rules in the affairs of men and nation: We affirm that Christ is our Lord and America is our country: We believe that old-fashioned, patriotic flag waving is always in order."

The new flagpole donated to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Johnson was also dedicated during the brief ceremony.

Jerome Baptists to break ground

JEROME — The First Baptist Church in Jerome will hold a special ground-breaking ceremony Sunday for an addition.

The ceremony will be the closing part of the 11 a.m. morning worship services.

Participating will be Kathy Deck, who represents the youths of the church; Walter Bentzinger, building committee chairman; Mrs. J. B. Thomson, American Baptist Women president; J. B. Thomson, Diocese chairman; Harold Baker, trustees chairman; Randy Shropshire, Christian Education Board chairman, and the children of the kindergarten Sunday school class.

According to Pastor Vernon Kendall, construction of the new addition is expected to begin shortly. Kendall added that most of the work will be done by volunteer labor from the membership.

Kendall said the new addition will include a new, larger, hall-circle sanctuary that will seat about 220 people.

"Instead of looking at just the backs of the heads of those in front of me, everyone will be able to see faces of other worshippers from any seat in the sanctuary," Kendall said.

He said the choir will sit in the pews with the rest of the people.

"Also included in the plans is a new office and study complex next to the sanctuary. These additions will be on the ground level. A new freestyle room, classrooms and nursery will be built on the present basement wing and the rest of the existing building will be remodeled and modernized to better meet modern teaching methods," Kendall said.

The present sanctuary will become a fellowship hall that can be used for church dinners and youth activities.

The outside of the new addition will also be covered in lava rock in keeping with the appearance of the present church. The total project will also keep the handicapped person in mind, Kendall said.

Shoshone Methodists paint parsonage for new pastor

SHOSHONE — Preparations at the Shoshone Community Methodist Church are being made to receive a new pastor.

Remodeling and redecorating of the interior of the parsonage will be concluded this week, according to Mrs. Carl Kerner, chairman of the parsonage committee. She said they have been working since May 17. They have paneled some walls in the parsonage, put in new ceilings and painted the entire interior.

General clean-up of the inside and outside is being done at this time.

Everett Kidner, co-chairman of the parsonage committee, has done most of the paneling and ceiling work.

Mrs. Alta Egersdorf is the other committee member.

The new pastor whose name was confirmed at the Methodist conference last weekend will be in Shoshone around July 1.

Mrs. Turner said however, they are holding confirmation of publication of the pastor's name until receiving confirmation in Shoshone.

Former pastor, Rev. Nathan Wage, left Shoshone this spring to become a captain in the armed forces.

Dual services

Rev. Hilton Herbert McCabe, Wendell minister, will be installed Sunday at the dual parishes of Christ Lutheran Church, Wendell, and Calvary Lutheran Church, Gooding. Services to Wendell will be at 2 p.m. with a potluck afterward. Gooding's installation will be at 8 p.m. with sandwiches and cake following. McCabe is shown with his family.

No change for milk price support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Department officials have decided to make no change in the government price support for milk during the three months beginning July 1, a source said Wednesday.

The source said an official announcement of the decision, which followed a quarterly review of the dairy situation, was expected soon. He said policymakers may consider raising the support in October if drought produced serious increases in milk production costs.

The department had raised government supports for manufacturing grade milk from a previous rate of $7.71 per hundredweight to the current level of $8.13 per hundredweight on April 1, and had promised to review the situation quarterly to determine if further increases were warranted.

A source said the decision to make no change for the July-September quarter was based largely on the fact that milk production had been rising this year. A recent report showed output in May up 2.4 percent from a year earlier and production for the first five months of the year up 3.3 percent.

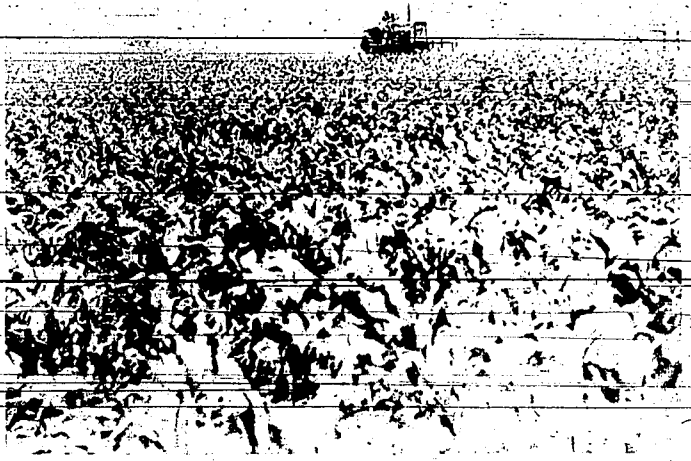

Some officials had been concerned about a possible squeeze on dairy farmers growing out of drought in some producing areas and rising hay costs. But policymakers finally decided that on the basis of current conditions, it appeared likely the current support price was still high enough to meet the requirement of including "adequate" milk supplies, it was reported.

The quarterly review system was adopted by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz earlier this year as part of a successful effort to persuade the Senate to uphold President Ford's veto of a bill which would have boosted milk supports beyond current levels and mandated automatic quarterly changes to keep pace with any future changes in farm production costs.

Butz' compromise was a pledge to set supports beginning April 1 at 80 percent of the "fair" parity standard instead of the 85 percent required by the vetoed bill and to make quarterly studies of the need for support changes in place of the mandatory adjustments provided in the bill.

Analysis said the $8.13 support rate, which reportedly will remain in effect for the quarter beginning July 1, currently still equals 80 percent of parity because, although farm costs have increased since March — a recent upturning of farm parity formulas produced a slight decline in the dollars-and-cents price needed to reach the 80 percent level.

14 Jerome 4-H'ers attend conclave

JEROME — Fourteen Jerome County 4-H club members will be participating in the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D. C., this week.

The 14 members and three chaperones left Tuesday morning for the three-week, 6,000-mile bus trip which will include several stops along the way at historical sites as part of our nation's 200th birthday.

Jess Wilson told Jerome County commissioners before the group departed that the bus tour would include historical and geographic locations in Wyoming, South Dakota, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York, Washington, D. C., Ohio, St. Louis, Kansas, Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Salt Lake City.

According to Wilson, members of the 4-H Builders club helped raise part of the money needed for the trip.

Donations from Jerome civic chapters have also contributed toward the $2,200 transportation bill.

Tour members will pay their own way, including food and motel expenses. The cost of operating the school bus used on the tour will come from the donations and the efforts of the builders club.

Wilson said:

En route to Washington, the tourists will visit Little Big Horn and Mount Rushmore in South Dakota. From there they will travel to Chicago to tour the Museum of Science and Industry before going to Philadelphia, Washington and New York.

On the trip home the group will travel through Columbus, Ohio and St. Louis, stopping in Abilene, Kan. to see the home of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Following the learning session at the National Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C., the students will take a series of educational tours through Washington, included on the agenda are visits to the capitol building and the White House and visits with the congressional representatives from Idaho.

Students making the trip include Randy Andrus, Wade Hyder, Jeff Marble, Bryan Doughty, Jean Bremers, Jeanette Sircack, Laura Hosman, Linda Huber, Debbie Showmaker, Bonnie Gullers-Judy Frazer, Jane Whistler, Willie Showmaker and Grant Priest.

Potato Blight

DU-TER FUNGICIDE

THOMPSON HAYWARD CHEMICAL COMPANY

How to Identify

The symptoms of Early Blight and Late Blight in potatoes differ. It is important to be able to identify each, in order to take the proper control measures.

Typical symptom of Early Blight on foliage (above photo). Lesions appear as small, circular brown to black spots that gradually enlarge.

Send for FREE full-color chart that shows this and other Blight symptoms in potatoes. See details below.

How to Control

DU-TER® fungicide controls both Early and Late Blight on potatoes. DU-TER is most effective as a preventive spray and used as part of a total potato protection program that includes planting certified seed, vine-killing at harvest, and the elimination of cull piles, where Late Blight is known to start.

DU-TER can be applied by ground or aerial application; and DU-TER is the only fungicide registered for use on potatoes through sprinkler irrigation equipment.

Drought strikes France

PARIS — This country is facing its worst drought since 1921 and the consequences not only affect French agriculture but are now threatening the economy just as it was beginning to pick up again. The absence of rain — since last November in some areas — has hit hardest the important farming regions of Brittany and Normandy, where what the meteorologists call the "rain deficit" is now at a record level. As a result, anomalous wheat, corn and barley are producing only half the normal yield, vegetables and fruit will be rare. Because of the scarcity of fodder, breeders are slaughtering cattle prematurely. In Normandy, some breeders have sent their animals to graze in the grain fields "for lack" of grass. Forecasts for sugar production from beets indicate a drop of 25 percent. Food prices are expected to soar in Paris last weekend the price of tomatoes jumped from 90 cents a kilo to $1.50 and cherries went from 80 cents to $1.20. Exports of agricultural produce will be curtailed. Sugar production is more likely to be 3 instead of 4 million tons, leaving only one million instead of two for the export market. The government has pledged to maintain farmers' income levels. President Valéry Giscard d'Estaun told last week's cabinet meeting: "We will not abandon the farmers when faced with the plague of the drought." That means higher subsidies and emergency aid under which farmers may receive compensation for up to 30 percent of their losses. The money will probably have to come from new taxes since the current budget is already very tight. The expected jump in food prices risks accelerating an inflation which Finance Minister Jean-Pierre Fourcade claimed to have brought under control. Fourcade also had hopes of lowering the inflation rate from the present 10 per cent. It was feared the anticipated loss of agricultural export revenue would curtail infusion of government aid to industry for the creation of new jobs. Latest reports indicated a slight decrease in unemployment, still at about 5 percent of the labor force. Higher French food prices will also have an effect on the European Common Market because under the complex system for agricultural products, the price levels for all members rise or fall together.

1980 census preview begins in Austin, Tex.

© N.Y. Times Service
AUSTIN, Tex. — Mike Kraper, who ought to know something about counting heads as a father of 13, nudged his battered old Dodge into a driveway in the dusty Texas hill country just west of Austin. No census form had been returned from the neat white house.

"Hello, I'm with the Census Bureau," he began cheerily to the old woman at the door, who welcomed the unexpected company. Ten minutes later he emerged with what he had come for, a completed census form for the household, along with a big curl of gossip about the woman's divorce.

The 1980 census is still nearly four years off, but 1980 has already arrived for the residents of Travis County in central Texas. They are guinea pigs in an elaborate head-counting experiment to test new methods for the next census, which may well prove to be the most difficult and yet most significant in American history.

Stung by complaints that it overlooked millions — of Americans in the last census in 1970 — particularly blacks and other minorities — the Census Bureau is trying almost everything to improve its "coverage." Census teams have scoured the creek beds around Austin for hippies, peeked under the bridges for hoboes and even ventured into brothels to catch those on the fringes of society who often slip through the fine census net. The census taker hears no evil; sees no evil, as long as the count is right. The human species seems to have a nearly universal need to catalogue its members. And the goal of the American census is no less than to record every housing unit. Every shack in the woods, as well as every living soul in the United States of America, rich or poor, good or bad, legal or illegal. What will emerge, presumably, will be a richly detailed statistical portrait of the massive social and political changes that have altered the face of the American continent during a tumultuous decade.

Riding a bucking bronco at the Idaho High School Rodeo

Calf roper loses finger

By SHANE O'NEILL
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Bliss High School cowboy Jude Robinson roped a calf Thursday night and lost the end of his finger in a freak accident at the Idaho High School Championship Rodeo.

Robinson, already the champion high school saddle bronc rider, appeared on his way to an excellent time in the calf roping event when the accident occurred.

"The Bliss youth roped his calf just out of the chute Thursday and apparently caught the ring finger of his right hand in a loop. The finger was torn off at the last joint when the calf jerked to a stop at the end of the rope.

"The audience and judges didn't immediately know what had happened.

Robinson stepped down from his horse gripping his hand in pain.

A judge rode up to the boy and discovered the accident. An ambulance was called and Robinson was taken to Cassia County Memorial Hospital.

A brief search was made in the arena for the portion of the boy's finger which had been torn off.

Later, the public address system announced the details of the accident and said Robinson's condition was good at the Burley hospital.

In other action at the rodeo, only one championship was decided Thursday, the cow-cutting title.

Linda Gentry, Twin Falls, won the girls' competition and Jon Roesser, Caldwell, topped the boys' event. Both earned a 232½ score.

J. J. Lederer and Sean Powers, both of Leadore, tied for runner-up honors among the boys with 276½ acres and Mark Smith of Leadore was fourth at 272.

Doris Ann Tepon, Murphy, had a 281 for second place among the girls. Vickie Walker, Boise, scored 278 and Lana Smith, Soda Springs, netted 275 for fourth.

Blaine approves rock concert

KETCHUM — "A Day on the Mountain," rock concert scheduled for July 3 on Bald Mountain has the official approval of the Blaine County commissioners.

Ray Sweet, one of three commissioners told the Times-News today North Fork Productions has met all the requirements including a $10,000 cleanup bond.

"When asked if the county planned to make any arrangements for security in case the crowd is larger than expected, Sweet said, "They're making their own."

"The music at the concert will be provided by Commander Cody, a country rock group, Pablo Cruise, playing rock music, and the Moonlighters, a country-western group.

Tickets are available at Mark's Music and the Music Center in Twin Falls at $7 each. Dan Mooney and Kenny say that only 6,000 tickets will be printed.

Jerome loses circus

JEROME — Lost — one circus and carnival — last seen in a tornado in Colorado.

Howard DuBois, Jerome chief of police, said his department is trying to locate the Americana Combined Shows circus and games scheduled to perform at the Jerome County fairgrounds Wednesday.

But the circus didn't show.

"This outfit has been in business for some time and I don't think they are trying to defraud the people. However, they have left the Future Farmers of America with a financial responsibility for the advance tickets that were sold," DuBois said. DuBois noted that some of the money had been given to the advance man for the circus, who had arranged for the performance and efforts are also underway to try and locate him.

"The information we have received states the circus was last seen in May in Colorado, where it reportedly was hit by a tornado," DuBois said.

He said, however, the company is apparently still making future bookings.

Alcohol treatment panel employs center director

GOODING — Leaders of the Chemical Dependency Action Committee have hired a director to run their proposed alcohol treatment center.

Fred R. Uphoff, former director of the Scott County Alcoholism Foundation in Davenport, Iowa, will direct the center. He is working with committee members in an attempt to raise an estimated $75,000 needed to open the proposed facility to be located in "the former state tuberculosis hospital on the edge of town.

Bob Hatch, secretary-treasurer, said today the committee organized to promote a treatment center, has raised about $12,500 since a fund drive began in April.

"The new center now has a definite opening date of October 1, 0 Hatch said.

Hatch said earlier the committee had hoped to open the center July 1, and the later kicked the date back to August 1 because not enough funds were collected.

He expressed confidence that the committee would acquire the needed funds by October. Hatch said the committee recently received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service saying the treatment center qualifies as nonprofit charitable organization. Therefore, businesses can make contributions which are tax deductible, he said.

Uphoff was director of the Iowa alcoholism foundation for two years. Before that, he was assistant director for two years. He received a master's degree in Education from the University of Iowa.

Hatch said Uphoff will be "a real asset," because Uphoff "has had experience in investigating treatment programs, working in the educational field and with industry."

Radio station wins award

TWIN FALLS — A woman screams and a man laughs.

Then "What you just heard is the sound that a person makes when that person's posterior touches a cold toilet seat, but there's hope. Rancho Supply has padded toilet seats, a gift for that person who has everything, everything but a warm posterior in the morning.

So begins a 30-second KLIX radio station commercial that Thursday won Ben Hurst, the producer, a Clio award for the best humorous radio commercial in the world.

The fifth annual Clio award-Festival held Thursday in New York City is designed to recognize outstanding advertising in all media. Hurst, who's only been making commercials for one year, attended the conference to accept his award, an Oscar-like statue of a woman.

"He's done a whole lot of humorous commercials. KLIX news director Jim Morrison said Hurst grew up in Los Angeles, Calif. He attended schools in that state.

Some 46 nominees competed for Clio awards in five radio categories, one of the categories being humor.

Hurst's winning commercial for Rancho Supply, a plumbing equipment retailer, ends with a pouncing-sounding, "Good-by," and the sound of a flushing toilet.

Andrus defends plane purchase

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil Andrus defended the purchase of a private plane for Idaho Thursday and took a pot shot at SSTATE Republican Chairman Vernon Ravenscroft.

Speaking to the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, Andrus said purchase of the $189,000 airplane was just one of many decisions made in the pressure of the Teton Dam disaster clean-up.

"If it was a bad decision, then the blame is mine," Andrus said, adding that he didn't think purchase of the plane was a bad decision.

The governor emphasized the plane was not purchased from any disaster funds but from the budgets of state agencies who would use the plane.

"The added pressure of the disaster necessitated the purchase in shuffling papers and personnel back and forth across the state," Andrus said.

Referring to Republican State Chairman Vern Ravenscroft's criticism of the plane, Andrus quipped, "If Vern wants to make the decision he should have won the election."

Ravenscroft told Andrus in the 1970 Idaho Governor's race.

Andrus cited the $400 an hour cost of operating an Idaho National Guard airplane and said the new twin-engine Navajo Chieftain owned by the state costs only $75 an hour to operate.

A check by the Times-News Thursday showed Idaho had been the only western state which did not have a private airplane for use of its governor prior to Andrus' purchase of the plane last week.

The Idaho legislature turned down a request from Andrus for a state plane last session. The state plane isn't exclusively for the governor's use, but will also be made available to officials from the Department of Health and Welfare, the Transportation Dept. and the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, all agencies which helped buy the plane.

In addition to discussing the purchase of a state airplane Andrus talked about the Teton Dam disaster in his 90th hour address to the Kiwanians.

"It is impossible to verbally describe the conditions. It was not a flood in the sense we think of a swollen river-flooding its banks. We saw a six mile wide wall of water raging through farms, over roads and through businesses as we flew over the area," the governor said.

"The crisis is over—and we are into the recovery period, but it will take a long time for total recovery or even for partial recovery," he said. "Keep in mind this was a disaster caused by man, not by nature and the laws differ greatly on such disasters. Losses of our people must be and will be restored by the government and this is the end toward which we are working," Gov. Andrus said.

He praised the Idaho National Guard, Department of Law Enforcement, state police and other agencies who assisted and are continuing to assist in the flood areas.

Gov. Andrus paid tribute to the LDS church leadership of the area and the spirit of the people. He said church members never questioned the advice of their leaders and said this same spirit will bring a successful recovery.

O'Leary's insurability not affected by closure

BY GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The closure of O'Leary Junior High School as a safety hazard doesn't mean the school cannot be insured, according to an official of the Fireman's Fund Insurance Co.

Fireman's Fund is the Twin Falls School District insurance company.

A loss control manager for the company says O'Leary may be insured even though the Twin Falls Fire Marshal has closed O'Leary because it doesn't meet Idaho Life Safety Code standards.

"We're not concerned with the state standards with schools," said John Poe, Salt Lake loss control manager for Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., the school district's carrier. "...that is not our requirement."

Poe said the closure of the school for failure to meet current Life Safety Code standards will not affect the yardstick by which the insurance company judges the school's insurability.

"I don't think there's any school district in the state of Idaho where the older schools comply with the new code," Poe added.

"We insure a lot of the school districts and some of the schools don't have sprinkler systems, and we don't require them to have sprinkler systems."

A sprinkler system and other safety features have been ordered for O'Leary by the city if the school is to be reopened in time for the 1977-78 school year.

Poe said the school was inspected Monday by a Fireman's representative and that a report on the insurability of O'Leary will be made within two weeks.

He said the insurance company might make some requirements for improvements in the building, but he added they would probably not involve a "substantial amount of money compared to a sprinkler system."

Poe said insurance companies could not require public school districts or private businesses to bring old buildings up to the standards of new codes.

"The Building Code is updated every two to four years," he said. "You can't take the new building code and apply it to an old building."

Poe said the insurance carriers could not require one school district to bring all its buildings up to code without requiring all school districts to do the same.

"I don't think we've ever looked at a district where we've had a claim bill of health," he said. "Just because a building is old doesn't mean it's necessarily un-insurable."

Poe emphasized, however, that the insurance company is not in the business of enforcing codes, as is the Twin Falls Fire Department.

"We don't enforce the same standard that the Fire Marshall does," Poe said. "We don't get involved in state and county enforcement."

Twin Falls Fire Marshal Fred Higgins in his order closing the school June 7 as a fire hazard provided that the school could be reopened for three to five years upon the installation of an approved "complete fire protection sprinkler system."

The system has been estimated to cost as much as $700,000.

Poe said the insurance company was more immediately concerned with the protection of the building while it is vacant.

Vehicles collide

TWO PERSONS were injured in a car and motorcycle accident Thursday night at the intersection of Falls Avenue East and Madison Street North. Glenn Ostry, 17, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Paul Ostry, a passenger on the motorcycle, and the operator, Michael Duane Hankins, 26, also Twin Falls, were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance. The cycle was traveling west on Falls when a southbound vehicle driven by Leslie Anderson, 74, pulled onto Falls and collided with the cycle.

Two states rule for Sierra

News for Sierra also was good in Wyoming.

A Wyoming District Court judge ruled Wyoming Insurance Commissioner John Langdon would have to answer questions regarding the public release of an explanatory report on Sierra, according to Glenn Smith, deputy commissioner of insurance. The report found $6.6 million of Sierra's year-end 1974 assets unacceptable for an insurance company.

Sierra had opposed the release of the report by insurance departments in Utah and Nevada. The Times-News published the findings of the report in May following its release in Wyoming by the Wyoming Department of Insurance.

Smith said he recalls that Sierra sent a copy of the report to Langdon and asked if it had been published by the Times-News. Also, he recalled, Sierra asked the commissioner if he had made the report available to the Times-News.

Langdon did not answer the questions because "he didn't feel or his attorney didn't feel that they were calculated to lead to admissible evidence,"

Smith said.

Sierra has appealed a decision by Langdon finding Sierra insolvent under Wyoming laws and suspending its license.

Langdon's decision has been stayed by district court pending the outcome of the appeal. Smith said that Langdon or his attorney did not feel that questions concerning the release of the report were relevant to the hearing.

Smith said Langdon's suspension order is still stayed "until we get a decision from the district court."

"Whatever the result is, it'll be appealed," he said.

On another matter, Smith said the Wyoming Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal by Langdon.

Langdon initially had suspended Sierra's license to sell insurance in the state prior to holding a hearing on the company's financial condition. The district court lifted Langdon's suspension order on the grounds that a hearing must be held first.

Langdon appealed the court's decision to the state supreme court and in the meantime held a hearing on Sierra's financial condition.

Smith said the supreme court refused to hear Langdon's appeal on the grounds that the question of whether a hearing must be held is moot since a hearing already had been held.

This ruling, Smith said, means that the district court's decision on the matter stands "until we find another case to test it."

Sierra Life Insurance Co. President Fred Frasier was "unavailable" for comment to the Times-News on the events in Wyoming and Montana.

Amateur leads U.S. Open as name pros complain about length of fairway grass

DULUTH, Ga. (UPI) — Mike Reid, a Brigham Young University senior whose record is something less than spectacular, shot a 10th and under-par 67 Thursday and became the first amateur in five years to lead the U.S. Open golf championship.

A first team college All-American last year — but not this year — Reid was the only player to break par on a day that saw many of the "name" pros left for behind and griping about, of all things, the length of the grass in the fairways.

Five players shared second place at 70 even par, including John Mahaffey, the Open runner-up in a playoff last year, and Masters champion Ray Floyd.

Not since Jim Simons led following 54 holes in 1971 had an amateur been in front after any round in the Open.

To do it, Reid birdied three holes in a row midway through his round — the 10th, 10th and 11th — and then had to survive the treacherous finishing holes on the Atlanta Athletic Club's Highlands course.

Earlier in the hot, muggy day, those holes had killed off the hopes of such prominent amateurs as Tom Weiskopf (whose four for the last two holes), Johnny Miller (three over for the last three), Bobby Nichols (six over for the last six) and Al Geiberger (double bogey at 18).

But the 23-year-old Reid came down the stretch with seven straight pars, just like he had been doing it all his life.

He hasn't, really.

The biggest victory of Reid's college career came in last year's Western Athletic Conference title race, a championship he failed to defend in 1976. He missed the 36-hole cut last year in his first appearance in the Open and in the U.S. Amateur last summer he was eliminated in the first round by a grocery store clerk named Marshall Maccacini from Elizabeth, Pa. — in the group at 70 with Mahaffey and Floyd, who made a bogey at the 400-yard finishing hole, were Geiberger, Rod Pansett, who also bogeyed 18, and Rick Massengale.

Until Reid's strong finish, the talk of the tournament had been all about grass and lawn mowers.

Holt Irwin, the 1974 Open champion and a man who does not know how to do, started the controversy swirling with his honest opinion that the course was "the worst prepared golf course I've ever played for a major championship."

Lou Graham, the defending champion, agreed.

"The fairways were a 'had as I've ever played for a U.S. Open," Graham said.

"The mowers displaced mowed only a quarter-inch of grass, officials saying the fairways were not cut as short as they were supposed to be due to a "misunderstanding."

That may not seem like much, or luck. Nicklaus observed that the grass can grow that much, or more, in the course of a day's play—but others like Arnold Palmer and Gary Player agreed with Irwin.

"They said it resulted in 'no fly' lies in the fairways, which made it impossible to play the ball—and took much of the skill out of the game."

Not surprisingly, however, none of the low scorers saw anything wrong with the course, and perhaps it was Nicklaus, who shot a 74 that included three three-puts and no birdies, who best put the whole thing into perspective.

"The grass was long," he said, "but we all played the same golf course. It's not that big a deal."

Four players were tied at 71, one over, including Don January, the comeback hero of the old folks set. January, 46, won the Tournament of Champions this year. Others at 71 were Bruce Bald, a 17-year-old veteran who has not earned exempt status since 1962; 1974 U.S. Amateur champion Jerry Pate, a rookie pro, and Mike Morley.

NBA absorbs 4 ABA teams to settle pro cage feud

HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — The National and American Basketball Associations ended their nine-year battle for pro tent Thursday with the merger of four ABA teams into the NBA.

Under the agreement, hammered out in all-night bargaining sessions, the ABA franchises in Denver, San Antonio, Indiana, and New York will join the NBA next season at a cost of $12 million in cash per franchise.

The new league will consist of 22 teams, broken into four divisions, with one former ABA team in each division. The rosters of the merged ABA teams were frozen as of May 1, 1976, negating draft rights of original NBA teams to players who signed in the other league.

The players from the St. Louis-Utah franchise and from the Kentucky Colonels will join players of other defunct ABA teams in a dispersal draft to be held some time in the next week.

ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusseret, who probably will gain a position in the NBA hierarchy, said he was "guaranteed" the ABA teams would not be lumped into a fifth division.

The new divisional alignments will be determined within the next week so schedule maker Eddie Gottlieb can begin preparing a schedule for next season. ABA Players' Association lawyer "Freddie" Yansky called the negotiations "late Wednesday" said he no longer foresaw a split on behalf of ABA players from the Utah-St. Louis and Kentucky teams.

The accord was reached after the ABA owners agreed to pay in full the contracts of all ABA players not picked up in the dispersal draft.

Another pending suit filed by the ABA against the NBA apparently was to be dropped after a scheduled Friday hearing before federal Judge Robert L. Carter of the Southern New York District Court.

Carter forced the merger talks by telling both sides they should try to iron out differences before the case came to court. The ABA had filed an anti-trust suit against the NBA charging the older league with a monopoly. The merger culminates continuing efforts by the ABA to enter the NBA. Five years ago similar talks were held but the NBA advisory committee voted against a merger.

Explaining why the older league changed its mind, New York Knicks' President Michael Burke said "sometimes a girl kisses you and sometimes she doesn't."

Loose ends still must be tied up in the aftermath of the agreement which did not materialize until after 8 a.m. Thursday. There remains the matter of several ABA players, such as Caldwell Jones of Utah-St. Louis, who signed NBA contracts to take effect after their ABA contracts expired.

The official vote of the NBA Board of Governors was 17-1. Seven owners, Sam Schulman said, were voted against the merger, because "it didn't like the way the dispersal draft proposal was presented at the last minute. They (O'Brien et al) came in and threw the dispersal plan on the table. The special exceptions for Jones and the other players are going to help New Orleans, Los Angeles and Philadelphia."

Schulman said he was pleased the merger went through because "it's good for basketball."

Under the dispersal draft plan it appears the Chicago Bulls, owners of the worst record in the new 22-team league, will pick first—and take Artis Gilmore. The former-Kentucky Colonel center originally had been drafted by the Bulls.

The ABA side remained unhappy that all six teams were not merged but the NBA was adamant on taking only the four "healthiest" franchises.

"By their own admission the ABA lost $40 million" since coming into existence, said Burke. "Our question was 'why should we take you in?' How have you farred?' So in considering what kind of a merger would be acceptable to us, we had to consider how much of a millstone can you carry."

Burke, a member of the NBA advisory board, also was involved in negotiations with Nets' owner Roy Boe over indemnity to be paid the Knicks by the Nets for infringing on the original NBA's territory.

Neither man would discuss the amount but it was believed the total would be near $6 million—close to the figure the Islanders paid the Rangers to enter the National Hockey League and the Jets paid the Ginnis for joining the National Football League.

"There never was any discussion of the Nets moving out of Uniondale, N.Y.," said Burke.

Other points relative to the merger called for the ABA to relinquish television revenues for the next four years, voting rights to the franchising for the next two seasons and voting rights to the divisional realignment for the next season.

Also, the ABA owners agreed to put up a pool of money to pay players of the folded franchises in Utah (Stars), San Diego and Baltimore. The ABA paid an estimated $3 million each to the Kentucky and Utah-St. Louis franchises.

Nicklaus follows chip

TWIN FALLS — Bill Cowell threw a six-hitter and Rudy Thurston belted a three-run homer Thursday as Minico blanked the Twin Falls Legion 10-0.

Minico scored enough in the first inning to ice things. Tilley and Fuzz Thurston opened with hits. Thurston was thrown out trying to steal second and Cowell lived on an error which did not allow Tilley to score.

On a second double steal situation, Twin Falls threw to third base in the runner and the ball caromed into left field, letting Yankees and Boston Red Sox and officials of the American League for an estimated 25 minutes before addressing newsmen, saying the issue was whether or not the assignments of the contracts would be in the best interests of baseball.

The meeting was triggered by Finley's auctioneering of key members of his three-time world champion A's Tuesday night as the major league transfer period was to close.

Finley peddled versatile outfielder Joe Mudi and relief ace Rollie Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million apiece, he then sold his best pitcher, left-handed Vida Blue, to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

Kuhn said the conference, which involved 18 people including 10 attorneys, was held at his insistence. "To confer," he claims by Texas Rangers' owner Brad Corbett that Walter O'Malley, the powerful boss of the Los Angeles Dodgers, had demanded the meeting.

discussing the transactions.

"The overriding question is the power of the commissioner to deal with the issue in the best interests of baseball."

All three players were playing out their options and would have become free agents at the end of the season, Finley explained his actions at the time by saying, "I just refuse to let these athletes drive me into bankruptcy with their astronomical, unjustified demands."

Had Jags alternative, I could either stick with the assigned players or take the action we did."

In addition to Kuhn and Finley, also attending the meeting were George Steinbrenner and Gabe Paul of the Yankees; Lee MacPhail and John Gaherin of the American League; Executive Director Marvin Miller of the Players Association; and Finley's 21-year-old son, Paul.

Kuhn expected to OK Finley deals today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn listened to all parties involved in the $1 million sales of Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue and appeared sufficiently impressed with the reasons given him so that he was expected to okay the deals Friday morning.

Oakland owner Charles Finley, who sold Rudi and Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million apiece and Blue to the New York Yankees for another $1 million, told Kuhn he has every intention of remaining in baseball and not selling his club as has so often been reported.

Finley said he intends to use the money he received for the three players to rebuild the A's, and that is expected to influence Kuhn's decision heavily.

Kuhn met with Finley, representatives from the Yankees and Red Sox and officials of the American League for an estimated 95 minutes before addressing newsmen, saying the issue was whether or not the assignments of the contracts would be in the best interests of baseball.

The meeting was triggered by Finley's auctioneering of key members of his three-time world champion A's Tuesday night as the major league transfer period drew to a close.

There was a big group at 72 headed by Player, Hubert Green, the leading money winner on this year's tour, and Ben Cresshaw. Others at that figure were Fuzzy Zoeller, Tom Jenkins, Bob E. Smith, Mike Shea, Randy Clever and Lee Elder.

Weiskopf was at 73, Miller and British Open champ Tom Watson at 74 with Nicklaus; and Palmer, Irwin and Graham at 75.

Reid, one of the last players on the course, parred his first hole routinely, then hooked his drive at No. 2 into the rough and made bogey.

"I could have gone from there and shot a couple of 90's and missed the cut," Reid said. "I just decided to play defensive. Whatever he played, it worked. He did not make another bogey and ran in birdie puts of 10 feet at the fifth hole, then 15 feet at No. 9, 14 feet at the 10th and 25 feet at the 11th.

Meanwhile, the pros had trouble with more than the grass. They had trouble with the water.

There was the water at the 253-yard fourth hole, where one three-tee consisting of Don Bies, Frank Beard and Jim Simons hit the water behind the main mat and all three went over par. Beard made a five-tee and Irwin had the first of three double bogeys there.

There was water at the 215-yard 15th, where Geiberger, the leader through much of the late afternoon, made his first bogey, and of course there was plenty of water at the 18th.

On the final hole, the water parallels the fairway to the left and then crosses in front of the green. Geiberger hit one in there, so did J.C. Snodgrass, who made a seven. Miller, who made a six, and Bird had made a five.

Baird's ball skipped to the edge, half in and half out of the water, and he was able to blast it onto the green, six feet from the hole.

"I guess you could call it a water wedge," he said.

The field of 150 will be trimmed to the low 60 and ties following the second round of Friday.

The winner of this national championship will receive $12,000, unless it happens to be Reid; or any of the 15 other amateurs in the field. But the odds are strongly against them. No amateur has won since Johnny Goodman in 1933.

Kingman's 23rd homer lets Mets edge LA 1-0 in 14th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dave Kingman stroked his 23rd home run of the season with one out in the 14th inning Thursday night to give the New York Mets a 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Kingman, hitless in his first four at-bats, drilled his game-winning homer off losing pitcher Charlie Leitch deep into the left field bullpen. Skip Lockwood, who hurled the final four innings for the Mets allowing no hits and striking out five batters, was the winner.

The Dodgers' Don Sutton and New York's Craig Swan hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel for the first nine innings although the Mets broke two opportunities for a run in the fifth. Don Tracy's second with a double, was thrown out at the plate on a perfect throw from Dodger left fielder Bill Buckner after a single by Swan.

Kentucky mourns Colonels' passing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—It's all over but the mourning for the Kentucky Colonels, the state's only pro sports franchise.

The team was sealed Thursday when the National Basketball Association accepted four other American Basketball Association clubs as new members, in effect putting the younger league and its two remaining teams out of business.

"It's a sad day for both Louisville and Kentucky," said John Y. Brown, Jr., ABA president and husband of the majority owner of the Colonels. "But I think it's a good move for pro basketball."

He called the Colonels, one of the three surviving original teams from the birth of the ABA nine years ago, "a victim of the insane way pro basketball has been operated."

"If this wild and insane that has prevailed in pro basketball far too long—the

Undhjem collects medalist pin and lead in Magic Valley women's meet

GOODING — Virginia Undhjem of Twin Falls took the medalist pin and a seven-stroke lead in the first round of the Times-News Magic Valley women's amateur Thursday.

Mrs. Undhjem, shooting for her 10th championship in this event, posted a three-over par 79 while defending champion Sergio Sorenson of Burley was lodged in second place with an 84.

The championship will be decided Friday at the Gooding Country Club course.

Mrs. Undhjem was pleased with everything Thursday except the No. 9 hole.

"Without the hole I would have had a par 76," she said. "I played nine — and 18 — strokes over par; I had a couple of three puts but for the most part I played pretty well."

Mrs. Sorenson said "it was just putting. I played probably as well as I can right now" — she added, noting her game isn't quite as sharp as she'd like it.

Arthid Morgan of Jerome fired a 90 to claim third place while Justine Messersmith of Jerome had a 91 for fourth in the championship flight. The pre-tournament darkness lightened up considerably as Jim Gasser of Twin Falls carded a 94 as did Buhl's Della Wilson and Patricia Williams, Twin Falls.

"If I hadn't had six three-putts greens I could have been in this thing," Mrs. Williams' said. "I'm just not used to greens being this slow. I couldn't slug the ball up to the hole. After playing (Twin Falls) munny . . . her voice trailed off referring to the super quick greens on her home course."

Barbara Anderson of Gooding had 95 and Shirley Blake, Twin Falls, and Doris Ellingham, Burley, carded 97s.

In the net division, Mrs. Undhjem had the lead with a 72 while Mrs. Messersmith and Mrs. Williams had 74s. Mrs. Sorenson and Mrs. Morgan had 75s and Mrs. Blake stood at 77.

Carol Conitz, Twin Falls, had a super day as she carded an 82 to open up a five-stroke lead over Judi Howland, Jerome, and Blanche Reay, Gooding, in the first flight. Peg LeMoine, Gooding, and Leona Kasper, Rupert, had 92 while Betty Grant, Twin Falls, and Dolores Barr, Burley, were at 96. Sharing 97 were Freida Richmond, Buhl, and Shiraz Shupe, Gooding.

Mrs. Conitz also held the net division lead by five strokes over Mrs. Reay, 66-7. Mrs. Barry, Mrs. Kasworm and Mrs. Howland all had 72s.

Second flight leader was Kathy Borchard, Buhl, at 94, a one-stroke edge over Johnny DeBlaquiere of Rupert.

Mrs. DeBlaquiere feared she'd shot herself out of the tournament and was amazed to find herself still in contention where all the scores were posted.

Kathleen Erb, Buhl, was four strokes out of the lead at 96 while Shirlene Lynch, Burley, and Mary Jensen, Twin Falls, had 101s.

The net division went the same with Mrs. Borchard at 68 and Mrs. DeBlaquiere at 70. Mrs. Jensen and Mrs. Erb had 74s.

In the third flight Shirley Cobble of Jerome enjoyed her finest day on the links as she carded a 92. That left her seven shots ahead of Charlotte Van Engelen, Twin Falls, and Roberta Parrish, Buhl. Florence Thomson, Twin Falls, and Vi Young, Twin Falls, had 101s and Buhl's Cannon, Jerome, had 102.

Cobble's net was a whopping 61 while Mrs. Parrish and Mrs. Van Engelen had 67s. Mrs. Young stood at 70 and Mrs. Thomson at 71.

The biggest lead in the tournament was enjoyed by Leona Hopkins, Buhl, who posted an 103 in the fourth flight while her closest competitor, Sharon Sackman, Gooding, had a 123. Shirley Hull, Twin Falls, was at 116, just ahead of Lorraine Kulin, Jerome; Carolyn Stuart, Jerome, and Joan Masner, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Hopkins had a 92 net against a 73 for Mrs. Sackman. Mrs. Hull was third at 77.

Nuggets beat U.S. Olympians 108-100

Under the current rules laid down by the U.S. Olympic Committee, athletes must meet certain qualifying standards over a 12-month period preceding the Olympics to earn spots in the trials. Then the top three finishers in each event make it to the Games.

There are close to 600 athletes in town for the trials with less than 100 of them — men and women — eventually making it to Montreal. Obviously, those who perform the best during the next day period will make the team.

"Everything that has gone on before now is meaningless," said Walker. "What each athlete does during the next 10 days is all that counts. I think it's too much pressure, probably more than in the Olympics themselves. Of course, I have an open mind but I would hate to see a kid such as Williams not make the team simply because he is injured at the moment. But as long as we pick our team this way, injuries are going to be a factor for someone.

"Still, with the talent we have here, I'm sure we will wind up with an excellent team, probably even stronger than we had four years ago. But that would be because of natural progress from one Olympics to the next. The best of the world is improving, too. So, it's hard to say where we will stand. We could be better and not do as well as in 1972."

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — David Thompson poured in 23 points as he led the Denver Nuggets, which Thursday joined the National Basketball Association — past the U.S. Olympic basketball team — 108-100 in an exhibition game.

Seven of Thompson's former Atlantic Coast Conference opponents and teammates, playing under the international Olympic rules, were on the Olympic team and led most of the team's scoring.

Mitch Kupchak of North Carolina and Maryland's Steve Sheppard hit for 12 points each. Tommy Lagarde and Phil Ford of North Carolina scored 10 points apiece. All-America Scott May of Indiana and Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame combined for 10 points each. May fouled out with three minutes left in competition.

The Nuggets meet the Olympic basketball team in another match Friday night in Henderson, Nev. Carolina Coach Dean Smith, who directs the Olympians, said he was "encouraged" by the team's performance.

U.S. begins picking Olympic tracksters Saturday

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Can you imagine the United States men's Olympic Track and Field Team without high hurdler Charles Foster, sprinter Steve Williams and distance runner Marty Liquori?

It could happen that all three will fail to make the team, which starts taking shape Saturday, because all three are ailing physically.

Foster, America's top high hurdler this year and second ranked in the world at the moment, suffered a hamstring muscle pull in the National AAU championships at Los Angeles last week and appears to be the worse off of the three. "Frankly, I'm very concerned," Foster said Thursday upon his arrival here to prepare for the Olympic trials.

"My leg is quite sore and I'll have to figure out a way to get it ready by next Tuesday," he said.

Williams — who shares the world record in the 100 meters, and Liquori, the nation's best long distance runner, also suffered leg injuries in the AAU championships. Liquori knows the bitterness of not making the Olympic team all the way. He missed out on the 1972 Games because of an Achilles injury. His current injury is not that serious and the fact the 5,000-meter doesn't come up until a week from today gives him time to get ready. He's in Florida trying to get himself in shape.

Williams injured his leg last week after winning the heat in the 200. Leroy Walker, Olympic men's head coach, advised him not to compete in the final and Williams pulled out. He is scheduled for two rounds of the 100 on Saturday and the semifinals and finals on Sunday, if he gets that far. It's no competition for an athlete with a physical problem.

The injuries ranked Walker, former coach at North Carolina Central, coming as they do not with the trials about to start and the Olympic Games only five weeks away.

"Wouldn't it be a shame if those three had to miss out because of the trials being the only way to pick the team?" Walker said.

Walker said so much emphasis is placed on the trials. An athlete could make one little mistake and miss out and four years or more of hard work could go down the drain.

Walker has been pushing for a national team picked well in advance of the games and trained as a solid unit for several months.

Under the current rules laid down by the U.S. Olympic Committee, athletes must meet certain qualifying standards over a 12-month period preceding the Olympics to earn spots in the trials. Then the top three finishers in each event make it to the Games.

There are close to 600 athletes in town for the trials with less than 100 of them — men and women — eventually making it to Montreal. Obviously, those who perform the best during the next day period will make the team.

Buffalo continues fight to keep Braves

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The City of Buffalo made another move Thursday in its attempt to keep the National Basketball Association Buffalo Braves from moving to sunny Florida.

City Corporation Counsel Leslie G. Foschio obtained a State Supreme Court order which prevents Braves' owner Paul L. Snyder from selling the Braves or making refunds to persons who have already purchased 1976-77 season tickets.

Meanwhile, a hearing will be held in Federal Court here today on the city's $10 million federal anti-trust suit which was filed this week against the NBA. U.S. district Court Judge John T. Elvin has signed a temporary restraining order which has prevented the NBA board of governors from voting on the sale of the Braves.

Foschio said that if Snyder was permitted to sell the team or refund season ticket money, the city would be irreparably damaged and unable to secure the full measure of relief" it expects from a $10 million lawsuit which was also filed this week against the Braves and the NBA.

A hearing on the matter will be held June 24.

The $10 million lawsuit contends that Snyder violated a contractual promise to sign a 55-year lease with the city for use of city-owned municipal auditorium. The Braves played in the auditorium without a lease last season.

Snyder has given Hollywood, Fla. hotel owner Irving Cowan an option to purchase 100 per cent of the franchise and move it to Hollywood.

Snyder, however, has asked the NBA board of governors to give Buffalo interests 30 days to make an offer to purchase the Braves and keep the franchise in Buffalo.

Braves attorney Arnold B. Gardner said he had met Thursday with a number of prospective purchasers who want to keep the club in Buffalo, but Gardner would not identify who they were.

"It's still preliminary," Gardner said of the Buffalo prospects. "It's moving so fast as we can. There's very great interest. Mr. Snyder said he wanted to cooperate in every way."

Along with the high cost of insurance for the players, the increasing difficulty in luring the top players and the steadily decreasing attendance in Lubbock, where the game was first greeted six years ago with capacity crowds at Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Only 25,000 tickets had been sold for the 47,000-seat stadium, when the windows opened Thursday.

Lack of all-Americans to hurt all-American bowl Saturday

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — They call the first football game of the season the Coaches All-American game, but there are not all that many bona fide All-Americans running around loose this week.

Only two members of last year's UPI All-American team will be present for Saturday night's All-Star Game sponsored by the American Football Coaches' Association.

Jim E. Elrod of Oklahoma and Chet Moeller of Navy. And Elrod thinks there should be more.

"I consider it an honor to play in this game," said the Oklahoma linebacker who was a fifth-round draft pick by the Kansas City Chiefs. "If you get asked to play you ought to play."

"If you start worrying about injuries, you'll miss out on your game. I think college players owe it to coaches and their school to play if invited."

The fear of injury, of course, is the prime reason most of the big name players now avoid the opening game of the season. The agents who work hard to promote king-sized contracts for star players encourage their clients to protect their own bodies.

"But I don't care about all that," said Elrod. "We've got good insurance policies. That should not make any difference on the contest."

It is the sudden jump in the cost of insurance policies on the players in this game that could bring about the demise of the contest.

On the demand of the Professional Football Players' Association, athletes in the Coaches All-American game must be insured for the full worth of their newly signed pro contract.

Officials of the Coaches Association usually meet on the morning of the game each year and then announce the contest will return to Lubbock the next year.

But there is no meeting scheduled this Saturday before the 16th annual game.

"It will probably take a while to decide about next year's game," said Bill Murray, executive director of the coaches association.

"We are currently operating on a year-to-year contract and we plan to evaluate problems of this year's game before deciding about next year's."

"As far as I know there is no one who wants to give up the game. We won't take the game anywhere else. But we have more and more problems each year."

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to stick to what has proven to be advantageous and successful in the past. The unknown has some unpleasant aspects to contend with. A new project needs more study to be successful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Visit congenials and have a good time at recreations you mutually enjoy. Take no chances when in motion tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to cooperate more with kin and make better plans for the future. Personal affairs are best handled with the aid of others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your time wisely so you can accomplish a great deal today. Allow time to engage in your favorite hobby later in the day.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need to handle an important financial matter early in the day. Study your surroundings and make needed repairs.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) A good day to stay at home and organize your personal affairs, so all runs smoothly in the days ahead. Do some entertaining tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may have a new interest in mind, but this is not for you, so forget it. Await a better day for this. Relax at home tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) An associate could be quite demanding but use tact and avoid a confrontation. Make plans to have more abundance in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure to keep calm when handling an important duty early in the day. Take the health and beauty treatments you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Engage in recreations you enjoy with congenials. Persevere in a goal you have and achieve success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Strive for more harmony at home. Not a good day to entertain; so spend time reading and watching TV.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You could be letting your imagination run away with you today, so calm down and be more practical. Check reports for possible errors.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consult a business expert and make long-range plans for the future. Take time for inexpensive recreation later in the day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will have many brilliant ideas to put across but will need the best education you can afford to be successful. Make sure your progeny makes adequate preparation for any undertaking. Give ethical and spiritual training early in life.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

Our Love and War man has been analyzing the sort of comments that are most irritating when made by the opposite sex. The masculine remark at the top of the female annoyance list, he believes, goes: "Isn't that just like a woman!" The feminine criticism most likely to cut a man is any little speech which starts off "Why didn't you?"

Why the boy babies do sleep more readily than the girl babies do, generally, I don't know. Do know, though, that the girl babies sleep about five minutes longer on the average than do the boy babies.

Always, when a fly lands on a ceiling, it executes a half roll in the air and plants itself at a slight angle off the original direction of its flight. The high-speed camera boys proved that.

Some intelligence tests on domestic animals indicate the horse is only just a little bit smarter than the typical turtle.

TAX ADULTER

Q. "What are the chances my income tax return will be audited?"

A. "Depends on how much money you made. If not much, maybe there's one chance in 80 your return will be gone over. If you earned $50,000 a year or more, though, you can figure there's one chance in eight you'll get the full treatment. The records show that three out of four audited payers wind up kicking in more thereafter.

Q. "Did the pilgrims on the Mayflower bring pigs?"

A. No, the pigs were already here. Columbus, DeSoto and Cortez brought them. Unfortunately, those piggy willys were tough little beasts. They survived the wolves and buzzards that killed the cows and sheep. Probably because pigs store up one third of what they eat. Cows and sheep only store up an eighth.

BLONDES

Men expect blondes to be flirtatious. So men don't take flirting blondes seriously. Flirtatious brunettes, however, make a far greater impact on men. When those dark-haired girls turn it on, they get results. Or so claims an experienced woman who has been both blonde and brunette at various times. She's the same lady who said: "What a blonde needs more than anything else is the courage to cope with the hostility of other women."

Our Zodiac man reports that the Aries citizen usually has a fairly large dose of the pioneer spirit, daring to tackle projects that might scare off others. Aries women, in particular, tend to be determined, generally getting what they go after.

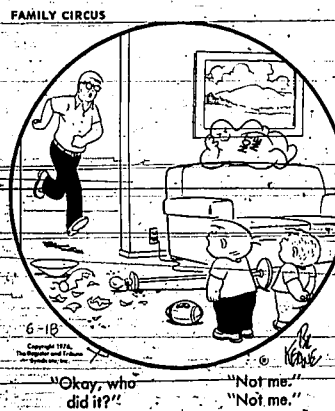

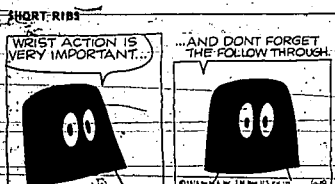

Hardly anybody is more deserving of membership in the Proper Job Club, I'll warrant, than is Ken Damsgard, resident engineer at the Glen Canyon Dam in Arizona.
