Teton Dam relief in Senate measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved a $9.7 billion appropriation for public works projects and energy research, including $200 million in disaster relief for the area of Idaho's Teton Dam, which burst June 5.

The bill passed 94-1 and now goes into conference with a House version $300 million smaller.

Reagan prepares for delegate hunt

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ronald Reagan was preparing today for three days of intensive delegate hunting in Mississippi, Minnesota, Wyoming and Montana where the outcome could move his race against President Ford close to a dead heat.

Reagan, who has been working and relaxing at his 60-acre ranch near Santa Barbara, will leave early Thursday for campaign appearances in states where 83 delegates are at stake.

China releases seized Korean ships

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — China has released two South Korean fishing boats it seized in the East China Sea about two weeks ago, the Office of Fishery said today.

The office said the two Korean boats—the 56-ton No. 101 Chulsong and the 56-ton Jungshin—were heading home after being released by Chinese authorities Monday and early today, respectively.

Envoy named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Talcott Seeley, deputy assistant secretary of state, has been appointed United States ambassador to Lebanon by President Ford.

Seeley, a veteran Middle East expert, has served in Lebanon and has been heading the State Department's Lebanon Bureau. His appointment came less than 24 hours after the funeral for his slain predecessor.

Austrian medic may be treating Mao

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — An Austrian neurology specialist flew to China last week, possibly to treat ailing Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tung; the Viennese newspaper Kurier said today.

Prof. Walther Birkmeier, former head of the neurology department at the Viennese hospital for the elderly at Lainz, led a group of Austrian physicians traveling through China, the report said.

The newspaper said it is highly likely these specialists would confer with Mao's doctors about a possible treatment.

'Tony Pro' charged in union alder's death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal grand jury has charged Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, secretary-treasurer of a Teamsters' union local in New Jersey, and three other men with kidnapping and conspiring to murder a local Teamster official in 1961, the Justice Department said today.

The indictment, unsealed in U.S. District Court in New York City, charged the defendants with roles in the kidnap death of Anthony Castellito, then secretary-treasurer of Teamster Local 560 in New Jersey.

Senelure tells Portuguese candidate

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Prime Minister Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo, a candidate for president in Sunday's presidential election, suffered a heart attack today and was rushed unconscious to a hospital in Oporto.

"Adm. Pinheiro de Azevedo entered the emergency ward of the hospital unconscious, his heart and respiratory action stopped," a spokesman at the Sao Joao hospital said.

The spokesman said Azevedo's heart and breathing action were revived but the doctors' prognosis for his condition was "reserved."

Grounded barge dumps oil into seaway

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (UPI) — A tug and 450-foot barge with more than 6 million gallons of fuel oil aboard struck a Comfort Island shoal early today in the St. Lawrence River, dumping 250,000 gallons of the oil into the waterway.

A spokesman for the Ninth District Coast Guard Headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, had said 1.3 million gallons of No. 6 fuel oil went into the river.

First stand

DEMOCRATIC presidential contender Jimmy Carter delivered his first foreign policy speech in New York today. He called for United States cooperation with other democratic nations and reduction of American forces in Korea. Carter spoke in Boston Tuesday evening during a fund-raising swing through the northeastern states. (Story, p. 8.) (UPI)

Soviets launch space station

MOSCOW (UPI) — A new Soviet space station orbited earth today with strong signs of an imminent manned launching, possibly aimed at wresting away the U.S. space endurance record.

The official Tass news agency issued a brief announcement on the launch of the Salyut 5 station Tuesday, saying "The onboard systems of the station are functioning normally."

The launch was the first major Soviet space project in the year since the joint Soviet-American space flight. The Soviets launched an unmanned Soyuz craft — the kind that normally carries cosmonauts to the space shuttle.

Tass said Salyut 5 would conduct "scientific and technical studies and experiments" as well as test unspecified design improvements in the spacecraft.

The official announcement made no mention of manned flights as part of the Salyut 5 program, but two Soviet cosmonauts raised the possibility just two weeks ago while visiting the United States.

Vytor Klimuk and Vitaly Sevast'yanov, who lived aboard Salyut 4 for 63 days, said manned flights on Salyut 5 may last as long as three months.

Speaking at an international space meeting in Philadelphia, the cosmonauts said the new orbiter lab would be able to accommodate six cosmonauts. They said it would have two entry ports, meaning two spaceships feasibly could dock at the same time.

The two-month flight of Klimuk and Sevast'yanov established the Soviet record for time spent in space. The overall endurance record was set during the 84-day flight of three Americans aboard Skylab in early 1974.

While the Soviet space program is a closely guarded secret, the latest launching appears to confirm the belief the Soviets are directing their resources toward perfecting permanent stations rather than the American approach of developing a reusable space shuttle.

Mishap claims Wendell youth

WENDELL — A 7-year-old Wendell boy was killed Tuesday afternoon while playing on a hay loader at the home of his stepfather and mother here.

Jeffrey Leroy Trader was pronounced dead on arrival at a Wendell doctor's office. He was the son of Leroy Trader, Fairfield, and Mrs. Nancy Jean Collins.

Gooding County sheriff's officers said the boy was playing on a hay loader at the Dee Collins home in Wendell where he lived with his stepfather and mother. Collins does custom farm work.

The loader was jacked up on one end and the jack apparently collapsed, allowing the machine to fall and crush the child. Collins was in the area but reportedly did not witness the accident, officers said.

The body was taken to Leeper, Mortuary, Wendell.

Reform or draw voter ire, House Demos told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a tumultuous party caucus, House Democrats were warned by their leaders today to reform their committee system, tainted by sex-scandal allegations, or expect trouble in the November elections.

Despite urging by Speaker Carl Albert and House Democratic leader Thomas O'Neill to move quickly in adopting a reform program, the caucus put off until late today a final decision, eliminating some fringe benefits they now get and streamline the reporting system on the others they would retain.

"Let's try to prevent obstructionism all along the line here and have sympathy for some of the fellows here with tough fights ahead of them in the fall," pleaded O'Neill as members shouted for recognition and others called for "regular order" and even adjournment.

The caucus did approve by unanimous voice vote Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., to succeed Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, as chairman of the Administration Committee. The full House voted 295 to 4 a short time later to make his appointment official.

Hays surrendered the chairmanship Monday in the wake of claims by Elizabeth Ray that she was put on the committee payroll to serve only as Hays' mistress. Hays, who denied the allegation, is recuperating at his Ohio farm from an overdose of sleeping pills two weeks ago.

The major point of contention in the reform proposals would give the speaker power to nominate members of the administration committee.

Administration committee Democrats supported the entire reform package Tuesday by a vote of 17 to 1. Rep. Dawson Mathis, D-Ga., cast the negative vote.

It was drafted after a two-week effort by a task force consisting of Reps. David Obey, D-Wis., chairman, and Lloyd Meeds, D-Wash., and Norman D'Amours, D-N.H.

The major recommendation, aside from the controversial speaker's nominating power, strips the administration committee of its sole authority to set members' staff, stationery, travel and other allowances, returning that right to the House as a whole which surrendered it to Hays — 50, his suggestion — in 1971.

Other proposed reforms would:

- Eliminate a member's $1,140 a year postage allowance. Members get free mailing privileges for congressional business correspondence.
- Prohibit members from taking out in cash any funds remaining in their $6,500 a year stationery allowance or their $2,000 a year "official expenses outside of the District of Columbia" allowance.
- Reduce from 20 cents to 15 cents a mile the allowance for auto travel on trips home.
- Require a public report each three months of how a member spends his allowances rather than semiannually "on" and "private" groceries detail on who he employs, for how much and for what purpose.
- Create a commission of five Democrat and three Republican House members and seven persons outside of Congress to study any further reforms, particularly on members' travel, abroad, and report back to the House by Dec. 31, 1977.

Crossing accident kills Burley woman

BURLEY — A long-time Burley resident was killed this morning when a pickup truck struck her as she crossed North Overland Avenue.

Her husband was killed in a two-car accident at the same intersection a little more than a year ago, police said.

Leah V. Berne, 68, was pronounced dead on arrival at a Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Driver of the pickup was DeVon Nelson, 51, Paul.

The accident occurred at 7:43 a.m. today, Burley police said. Mrs. Berne was crossing Overland Avenue in the crosswalk from east to west.

Capt. Kirby Harkness, investigating officer, said Nelson was making a left turn from West Elighth Street onto Overland Avenue. He said Nelson reportedly did not see the pedestrian.

Harkness said the left front of the pickup struck the victim. He said there was no excessive speed involved in the accident and estimated the pickup was not going over 25 miles per hour.

Burley police officers used mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external cardiac massage in fruitless efforts to revive the victim.

Capt. Harkness said no charges have been filed, but an investigation is continuing.

Cassia County Coroner C. Bruce Young said an inquest will be held.

Mrs. Berne was a midwife. She is survived by a daughter and son-the latter in a foster home in Salt Lake City.

Nominated

REP. FRANK THOMPSON, D-N.J., was nominated by the House Policy Committee Tuesday to succeed Ohio Rep. Wayne Hays as chairman of the House Administration Committee. Hays resigned that post as a result of the Capitol Hill sex scandal initiated by Elizabeth Ray. (Related story, p. 6.) (UPI)

Check bounces

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — The grocery clerk took the $200 check, glanced at the signature and looked suspiciously at the writer.

He immediately called police and the 9-year-old suspect was taken into custody.

Lt. William Claxton said Tuesday the boy found the checkbook of a closed account in an alley garbage can near his house. No charges were filed and the boy was turned over to his parents.

SV adulation lures bear

By BART QUENNEL, Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — A 150-pound black bear didn't get enough publicity here early Tuesday morning so it came back for more in the evening.

Vincent Babin, Bitterroot Road, said he and his family were awakened about 5 a.m. Tuesday by his and his neighbors' dogs "barking their heads off."

Babin's daughter stepped outside in the early morning and spotted a bear in a cottonwood tree along Trail creek, midway between Sun Valley and Ketchikan.

The Babins called local police.

Word of the bear in Sun Valley spread like wild fire, Babin said.

Tourists, sightseers and photographers hurried to the resort for a look.

People took pictures all morning, Babin said, adding "it almost got annoying," with people stepping on newly planted shrubs on his property.

About 1 p.m., the bear descended from the tree and left.

The bear may have smelled garbage in Babin's garage.

Things cooled down through the afternoon, with most sightseers leaving. However, about 6:30 p.m., Oliver Dibble, who lives near Babin, was surprised to see the bear peering in his window.

WASHINGTON — Cheating has become "commonplace" within many segments of the corps of cadets at the United States Military Academy, Rep. Thomas J. Downey, D-N.Y., said at a senate hearing Tuesday.
 The Long Island Democrat, who conducted all hours of interviews at West Point last month after disclosures of widespread cheating, blamed a rigid honor code, which he said cadets "find enormous difficulty applying to their daily experience."
 He described a code that he said "no two cadets" understood in the same way, imposing high standards and others applying a "liberal" definition that included only serious moral questions as possible violations.
 "This was in sharp contrast to the more relaxed provisions of the United States Naval Academy 'honor concept' described by that academy's superintendent, Rear Adm. Kinnaird R. McKee, who also testified before the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee on Manpower and Personnel.
 McKee said the committee, which is studying honor codes at the service academies, that "the most significant difference between our code and others is the absence of a noninterference clause."
 Each academy prohibits living, cheating or stealing, but at West Point toleration of any of these acts also is forbidden. More than 160 cadets at the Military Academy face exclusion for allegedly violating the code by cheating or tolerating it.
 McKee said at the second day of hearings that the absence of a noninterference clause was a "strength" in that it fostered personal integrity by requiring a midshipman to come to grips with moral issues himself without being forced by rigid adherence to a code which gives him no latitude.
 The superintendent said that a midshipman witnessing a suspected honor violation had three choices: report the violator to an honor committee, "counsel" the offender, or drop the matter. If his initial inquiry indicated that no violation had occurred, at West Point, all suspected violations must be reported.
 In addition, plebes — first-year cadets — are immune from prosecution for honor violations at Annapolis, the superintendent said, because few they are vulnerable. "This is not the case at West Point."

Democrat Carter attacks Ford's antibusing scheme
 By United Press International
 Jimmy Carter attacked President Ford's antibusing plan Tuesday night and said the nation needs a president who will encourage school desegregation.
 The prospective Democratic presidential nominee told a fundraising dinner in Boston that public school integration was "one of the best things that ever happened in the South."
 Carter spoke hours after Ford told the national Jaycees convention in Indianapolis his administration shortly will file a court suit challenging "court-based forced busing" and send Congress a bill that would limit it.
 Ford complained that some federal courts have "practically run our local school systems." His plan would limit the federal court's powers to five years.
 Carter said Ford's proposal "would require a constitutional amendment and I don't think that's feasible."
 "I see a real need in this country for strong leadership from the president, the governors, the mayors, to encourage free integration of schools," the former Georgia governor said.
 Carter held two fundraising functions in Boston and scheduled five more in New York today at $1,000 a person. He has said he expects to have his $1.2 million debt paid before opening his general election campaign, which will be financed by federal funds.
 Ronald Reagan has been working and relaxing this week at his 600-acre ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., and leaves Thursday for campaign appearances in Mississippi, Minnesota, Wyoming and Montana — states where 83 delegates are at stake.
 First Lady Beulah Ford will fill in for her husband at this weekend's Minnesota Republican convention, while Ford attends an economic summit conference with leaders of other Western nations in Puerto Rico.

Soviet grain output gain forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet grain production this year may jump 36 per cent from the disastrously small 1975 harvest that sent Russian officials scurrying to the United States and other major producers for massive imports, the Agriculture Department says.

But the department's new 190 million metric ton estimate of the Soviet crop, while far above last year's 140 million tons, is still well below the goal of 200 million tons set for this season.

As a result, while Soviet grain imports during the 1976-77 marketing year beginning Oct. 1 are expected to decline, farmers see nothing in the new estimate to change forecasts that Soviet needs for wheat will remain above normal.

During the current marketing year, Russian buyers have placed orders for about 26 million tons of grain from all countries including about 16.5 million tons from the United States. The U.S. purchases included about 4.5 million tons of wheat and 12 million tons of corn.

For the forthcoming 1976-77 season, a tentative ceiling of 8 million tons of oil grains combined had been set for Soviet purchases in the first year of a five-year Soviet-American grain agreement, Agriculture Department officials, however, say they expect orders to top the 8-million-ton level, primarily because of continuing strong Russian wheat needs.

The Tuesday crop forecast said the Soviet harvest of winter wheat and other winter grains, previously estimated at 45 to 50 million tons, is now expected to be about 44 million tons. Total combined winter and spring wheat production is put at 75 million tons, up from last year's 60 million but well below a goal of 100 to 102 million tons.

The result, analysts said, would probably mean a continued high level of wheat imports in the 1976-77 season.

Total Soviet imports of corn and other livestock feed grains, however, are expected to decline "significantly" because the new agriculture forecasts indicate Russian production of those grains will rise to a record of 99 million tons, the report said.

Experts cautioned, however, that several critical weeks still lie ahead for Soviet spring crops and there is a chance production forecasts might change substantially. A team of American experts is currently in Russia making an on-the-spot assessment of the winter grains which were planted last fall for harvest this summer.

In a companion report, Agriculture Department weather analysts said the 1976 American corn crop which could set a new record if the weather cooperates was in good condition nationally through last Sunday. But experts warned that drought was still affecting parts of the Midwest and cautioned that the crop "needs rain very soon" in states including South Dakota and Nebraska.

A similar warning was issued for soybeans. The report added that the 1976 winter wheat crop is now about 10 per cent below last year's, ahead of last year's slow pace but well behind the 21 per cent average for the date.

Officials said the wheat harvest, which has been slowed by late-spring rains, moved northward into Kansas, Missouri and Indiana last week. The crop is estimated to be 15 per cent below last year's records, but officials say supplies will still be big enough to permit heavy exports.

The weekly crop weather report noted also that the condition of the 1976 cotton crop improved last week, but only from poor to mostly fair.

Moscow levy loses

MOSCOW (UPI) — Voters in the Moscow School District Tuesday rejected a special levy to maintain school facilities for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The levy, which would have more than doubled the existing levy from three to six mills, received only a 46 per cent favorable vote.

School district officials said no action would be taken on the matter until after new school board members take their seats next month.

District upholds ban

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — The Idaho Panhandle Health District is sticking to its ban on unsewered housing developments because of tests showing that septic tanks are polluting a major regional water source.

Preliminary results of a monitoring study point to the contamination of the aquifer supplying the cities of Spokane and the Coeur d'Alene area with drinking water.

Landmark decision on land use law

The reverberations of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday on land use planning may shake all Idaho.

In a 6-3 decision the Supreme Court ruled residents can veto zoning changes approved by city planning and zoning boards.

In effect, the ruling puts land use planning at the ultimate local level.

The new ruling means a town, by holding a referendum vote, may reverse a zoning decision made by the local zoning commission.

Opponents of land use planning also may view the decision as favorable to their cause.

However, the Supreme Court ruling may lead to just the opposite effect which many opponents of land use expect.

What most enemies of land use don't like about land use planning is having other people tell an individual what he can or cannot do with private property.

The Supreme Court's ruling is the ultimate extension of other people telling the individual what he can do with his property.

But the ruling doesn't answer the difficult question of where an individual's rights end and the community's rights begin.

The Court's ruling puts land use decisions as close to the local level as they can be made.

But the Court also is now on record saying a community's decision on what is best overrides an individual's idea of what is best for his land.

The latest Supreme Court ruling on land use planning may set the stage for some bitter debate.

The ruling could lead to extremely divisive battles over local land use issues prior to a referendum which decides these issues.

Monday's land use decision puts the responsibility for land use firmly at the local level.

The ruling won't do much to soothe the anger of some people who see land use planning as an infringement of individual rights.

Demo platform as inscrutable as Carter rhetoric

The Democratic platform is as (tame as Jimmy Carter's rhetoric and, in its own courtly-cut way, as inscrutable.

And is Taiwan's independence from Peking a vital interest of the United States? The existing treaty presupposes this, but as recently as in the last Democratic platform dominated by Senator McGovern, the proposal was to rescind that treaty.

Since we are going to have full employment, and higher minimum wage, and free medicine, we have to say something about inflation, and we do. We are against inflation. Does that mean we are in favor of wage and price controls?

Consider, for instance, the simple sentences that concern foreign policy. Under the heading "Foreign Policy," they are to be compared with a lady's bluish ink that they reveal enough to maintain interest, while concealing the vital parts.

Hidden emotion hampers Gem panel

BOISE (UPI) — A state senate told members of the Idaho Human Rights Commission Tuesday part of their problems with funding and public acceptance stem from the fact "that prejudice is an emotional issue to limit."

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Boise, said, "It is sometimes difficult to keep the legislature behind you because no one likes to admit legislation is necessary to eliminate discrimination."

Batt was one of three government representatives meeting in Boise with commission members to evaluate the Human Rights Commission's goals and responsibilities.

function to investigation of complaints. But members agreed that their statutory responsibility goes beyond simple investigation and handling of cases.

Commissioner Idaho Purce, Peacelle, said one of the big goals of the commission is to educate citizens and employers. She said the agency used to sponsor workshops about the rights of employers and employees.

"Discrimination is a way of life for some people," she said. "They didn't know what was happening to them or what their rights were. And often employers didn't really know what the laws about discrimination said. The workshops helped in both cases."

The workshops were discontinued because of personnel difficulties, Commissioner Glen Selander, Boise, said. But members are interested in holding them again.

George Kibbe, new director of the commission, said part of the education process was to teach that it is costly to discriminate. "It is costly to break the law," he said. "If an employer does then he must pay the fine. And the only person that collects anything is the person who is wronged."

Anderson asked what would happen if the Idaho commission didn't exist.

"An employer could tell you he wouldn't hire you because he wanted a younger guy," Kibbe said. "And there would be nothing you could do about it. Or an employer could say we don't want any women here, or blacks, or chicanos."

"These things are illegal," Kibbe said, "and the Human Rights Commission gives the people recourse."

Church discloses income, assets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Frank Church disclosed his personal income and assets Tuesday, in keeping with a practice he started in 1963.

"Periodically, ever since 1964, I have voluntarily disclosed my income and assets," Church said. "In this election year, it is appropriate that a current statement be issued."

Church said he earned $14,975 in honoraria for speaking engagements, besides his $43,025 senate salary. His wife, Bethune, received $4,558.81 from interest accrued on the sale of Robinson Bar Ranch near Clayton, Idaho, which was inherited by Mrs. Church. A payment of $5,443.19 was received on the principle, making the total payment $10,000.

The Churches earned $3,656.32 interest in municipal bonds. They own a split-level brickframe home in Bethesda, Maryland, purchased for $45,000, of which approximately $30,000 remains to be paid.

Mrs. Church holds the title to the Clark family residence in Boise.

In 1975 the Churches paid $18,648.40 in taxes, including $14,932 to the federal government and $3,716.48 to the state of Idaho.

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Defendant George Struisech testified at his first degree murder trial Tuesday and said he was hunting at the Struisech said he and Marcussen had two beers and went to Priest River. One his way home that night, he said he got stuck in some mud and was there for about an hour and a half.

Servicemen

KING HILL — Hull Technician Chief Joseph Hitesman is headed for Charleston, S. C., after five years at the Arco nuclear plant.

He will be aboard the USS Hunley A-531 and stationed in that area for a possible five years.

He and his family were honored at a farewell potluck dinner Friday evening at the home of his stepfather, Denver Alfred, in King Hill. About 24 family members attended.

Commission President Elizabeth Sullivan, Moscow, said the group hopes to improve and strengthen the commission and open lines of communication between that body and the Idaho legislature.

Rep. Rudy Anderson, R-Boise, said he was vague about the functions of the commission. "I don't think more than half-a-dozen members of the legislature really understand," he said.

Anderson said the commission needs to make itself more visible. "People think the Human Rights Commission is just about helping some longhair kid who can't go to school because of it."

The commission president said they hadn't handled "longhair" cases for a number of years. "When we did handle them it was because we were required by law to accept the cases," she said.

Commission members said the present backlog of 300-400 cases "limits" the agency's

AIC lauds efforts of solons

BOISE (UPI) — The Association of Idaho Cities reported today that "from a city government perspective, the overall performance of the 43rd Idaho Legislature can only be praised."

The "key issues" to cities as stated in the 51-page report on the 1976 legislative session included: local land use planning, zoning, home rule, budgetary reform, non-property tax state authority, competitive bidding ceilings, expanded authorities for investments of idle funds and short-term borrowing.

The voting records and performance of a majority of Idaho legislators was considered "adequate from a city perspective," the report stated.

The report concluded that the "influence of Idaho cities needs to be strengthened."

The association reported that, "the bottom line of the 43rd Idaho Legislature on land use planning was the enactment of SB 1291 and its unique provision of extraterritorial planning and zoning."

The bill recodified the state statutes on local land use planning and zoning. It "strengthened the planning and zoning authorities" of city and county governments and provided for "extraterritorial planning and zoning" of the urban fringe areas through city-county negotiations.

"Idaho cities ended a 25-year quest for home rule" with the enactment of House Bill 422. The bill amended the Idaho Code to provide that cities may exercise powers and functions of local self-government that are not specifically prohibited or in conflict with the general laws or the Idaho Constitution.

School bus use concerns Minico

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board is eyeing a new policy that could lead to the end of the use of buses for non-school activities.

At Chairman Harold Catmull's suggestion, the board approved several bus uses between now and its next meeting on July 12. But the board demanded conditions under recommendations of the district's insurance carrier.

Dr. Catmull also instructed the administration to advise further applicants for buses that a new policy would be considered July 12, and it might be one of "non-allowance."

The board concern is with insurance in case of an accident. The concern increased this year, following a minor accident by a bus carrying LDS Church youngsters. The ward refused to pay the damages.

Board members all voiced mixed emotions on the question because of the community benefits for children using idle buses. But they also were concerned about district liability.

Fern Hunter pointed out that liability could fall back on the district if an accident occurs and there is something wrong with the bus.

Assistant Schools Supt. Doyle Lowder also said the district has no, collision or comprehensive coverage for children and trip insurance only provides liability coverage. He said the district could lose an $11,000 bus without any insurance to pay for a replacement.

Lowder read letters from Continental Insurance Co., which insures the district's buses, and its agent. The letters said the company does not like to have buses used for non-school activities and pointed out that the $1.3 million liability limit could be quickly eaten up by 65 youngsters in a serious accident. The company said the district enjoys a low premium because of its excellent record on losses.

It agreed to non-school use of the buses only if regular school district bus drivers were used, the company was notified 10 working days in advance and gave its approval, and the user reported the number of passengers, the destination, the person in charge and the name of the driver. Trip insurance would be required.

Among the requests tentatively approved was an LDS Church request for six buses to go to Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, July 8 through 10. Continental has approved that request at $1 per student.

Another request was from the 4-H, asking for a bus to take members to summer camp next Monday. In past years, the county agent has driven the bus.

John Astorga has asked for use of the district's suburban van to take his American Legion baseball team to a seven-day tournament in Ogden, Utah, this month.

MV meetings set by consultants

TWIN FALLS — A scholar consultant for the Association for the Humanities in Idaho is meeting this week with interested persons in several Magic Valley towns.

Dr. Mary Baren, who taught at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, this past year, will be at the Twin Falls Public Library at 1 p.m. Thursday, and has scheduled a similar meeting today at the Jerome Public Library.

She and Dr. Jennifer Lee are traveling throughout Idaho this summer to review ideas and proposals with persons and groups interested in developing projects which will provide public opportunity to discuss the underlying values in decisions on public issues.

The consultants also will assist groups in grant writing. Some two dozen projects already have been approved for matching federal funds throughout the state. Dr. Baren said. The local funding does not necessarily mean money. Local participation of time, expertise and use of facilities will be credited for matching funds.

The Association of the Humanities found all the proposals were coming from the Boise area so the town consultants were hired to find non-profit groups throughout the state interested in developing projects.

Suggested formats include panel discussions at open meetings, situation drama, film or slide shows, all designed for audience discussion. Scripted town meetings with room for ad libbing and audience participation, produced for television or radio are other possibilities.

The two main requirements are that the audience is given opportunity for discussion and that the project involves the humanities. Humanities as defined by the National Endowment for the Humanities includes "all aspects of history, philosophy, classical and modern languages, linguistics, jurisprudence, archaeology, religion, ethics and the humanistic social sciences."

Boy Scouts to set up Indian village replica

RUPERT — The Boy Scouts Order of the Arrow will have a replica Indian village on the Rupert City Square July 4-5.

The Rupert City Council approved a request by scout James Maxim Tuesday to allow the Order of the Arrow to set up the Indian Village on an area about 60 feet square.

Maxim said the village will have two authentic Indian teepees, drums and costumes. The scouts will stay overnight in the teepees July 4.

Maxim assured the council that a campfire would not injure the grass on the square. He said plastic will be laid down with a layer of sand on top of it, and the grass will be as "green as ever" after it receives sun again for a day.

Maxim had suggested the southwest corner of the square, but Mayor Wendell Johnson said another sight might have to be selected because of the temporary 39-foot platform the city is erecting there for entertainment during the July 4th celebration.

City Attorney Don Chisolm remarked that the city could waive the building permit for erection of the teepees.

Long Island beaches closed by gooey mess

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI) — A gooey mixture of oil, sludge and "sewage" washed ashore by the wind and tides Tuesday forced the closing of nearly 60 miles of beaches on Long Island's Atlantic shoreline.

Richard Ornauer, a spokesman for the Nassau County Health Department, said all the beaches were declared off limits because of "an onshore flow of a combination of old oil and sewage artifacts."

These "artifacts" are "mainly plastic materials that cannot be disposed of in sewage treatment plants," he said. "It does not look like there is any local matter in this contamination."

Ornauer said the pollution appeared to be a different type of material from that which has been piling beaches on Fire Island and also was different "from contamination that was washed up Monday at Jones Beach—including baby diapers."

"Yesterday, Jones Beach had raw sewage on the shoreline and the same was evident the day before on the Town of Oyster Bay Beach (just east of Jones Beach), Ornauer said.

He said the source of the contamination was unknown, but said it could have come from the New York City sewage sludge disposal area in the Atlantic Ocean about 10 miles off Long Island.

"We have an unusual situation in that the ocean currents have been running in a counter clockwise configuration and we have had southwesterly winds for the past two weeks," "blowing everything into shore," Ornauer said.

Ornauer said the first concern of the Nassau County Health Department was to analyze water samples taken from various beaches Tuesday. He said the first results of the tests should be available by Wednesday afternoon, with more definitive results available Thursday.

He said all Nassau beaches, which usually draw about 10,000 persons a day, were open for sun bathing. Lifeguards were on duty to keep people out of the water.

Carter pushes US cooperation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Declaring "we seek not a condominium of the powerful but a community of the free," Jimmy Carter said today the United States must "renew its leadership as a 'Lone Ranger' foreign policy and pursue cooperation with other democratic nations."

In what he billed as "a major address," the apparent Democratic presidential nominee called for reduced U.S. ground forces in Korea. He did not use the term "detente" or refer to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger by name, but it was clear they were in his mind.

"The time has come for us to seek a partnership between North America, Western Europe and Japan," Carter said in the speech prepared for the Foreign Policy Association.

"We need to recognize that in recent years our Western European allies have been deeply concerned... justly so, by our unilateral dealings with the Soviet Union," he said.

"To the maximum extent possible, our dealings with the Communist powers should reflect the combined views of the democracies, and thereby avoid suspicions by our allies that we may be disregarding their interests."

"We seek not a condominium of the powerful but a community of the free," he said.

"Under the Nixon-Ford administration, there has evolved a kind of secretive 'Lone Ranger' foreign policy — a one-man policy of international adventure," Carter said.

Among the industrial democracies, he called for periodic summit conferences, occasional meetings of the leaders, and frequent cabinet-level sessions.

In economic and political affairs, Carter called for increased coordination among industrialized democracies to help avoid repetition of the 1972-73 inflation, reduction of trade barriers and, renovation of the International Monetary System.

In mutual security, Carter called for reducing U.S. ground forces in South Korea on a phased basis after consultation with South Korea and Japan, a review of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, and a balanced reduction of forces by both sides in Europe.

On Tuesday, Carter said blacks and women were being considered for his running mate.

Senators score CIA, FBI Kennedy probes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators are critical of the roles of the FBI and CIA in the investigation into the assassination of President John Kennedy but they don't dispute the Warren Commission's finding that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin.

A special intelligence subcommittee studied the Warren Commission report of the Kennedy slaying for nine months.

The subcommittee's co-chairman, Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., planned to release its 110-page report tonight and turn it over to the newly created 15-member Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities.

Schweiker had said the study produced "hot, new leads" which, could produce new evidence about Kennedy's assassination. But Hart told a newsman Tuesday, "There is nothing sensational in the report."

Hart said the investigation produced "no serious evidence to dispute the Warren Commission's finding that Oswald was the sole assassin."

The report makes no specific recommendations.

Informants said the study is expected to report that:

- Former CIA Director Allen Dulles, one of the seven members of the Warren Commission, knew of Kennedy Administration assassination attempts against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro but did not inform the Commission.
- FBI Special Agent James Hosty in Dallas destroyed a letter Oswald wrote him weeks before Kennedy was slain in November, 1963. Hosty withheld this information from the commission, apparently on higher orders, so as not to embarrass the FBI. The letter reportedly told Oswald he was "bothering Oswald's" wife, Marina.
- Documents relating to Oswald's presence from August until October of 1963 in New Orleans, where he may have had Cuban contacts, have mysteriously disappeared from FBI files.
- No incontrovertible evidence has been developed to show Oswald acted in conspiracy, or with Cubans, to assassinate Kennedy.

Senate disclosures that Kennedy sought to encourage a coup against Castro and contemplated assassination schemes against him have refuted speculation Castro was behind Kennedy's death and that Oswald was his pawn.

Kennedy pursued a flexible policy toward Cuba in 1963, trying to do the one thing — remove Castro while at the same time putting off hefters for improving relations, according to historical materials now available.

A French journalist, Jean Daniel, carried such a feeling to Castro from Kennedy and met with him on the day Kennedy was killed.

Castro later was quoted in an interview with Frank Magkiewicz and Joseph Kirby as saying: "In my opinion this (message brought by Daniel) was a definite gesture on Kennedy's part... to try to establish contact and exchange with us.

"But as I was listening to everything he was telling me about his conversation with Kennedy, the news broke over the radio that an attempt had been carried out against Kennedy's life."

"It really seemed such a shame, such a tragic ending to Kennedy's life," Castro was quoted as saying.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Representatives of big and small business, labor, women, farmers, gay liberation and other special interest groups are advising the Republican party on what to include in its platform.

Many appeared at public hearings Tuesday in Washington. More hearings will be held Thursday at Iowa State University.

Rep. Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., testified that the platform should strongly reject the Humphrey-Hawkins jobs bill, which is the Democrats' main proposal for reducing unemployment. Its essence is included in the tentative Democratic platform.

Esch, who will lead the Republican opposition to the bill in the House, accused the Democrats of proposing "total, central economic planning" through the bill which would guarantee a job provided by the government, if necessary — to all adults who want to work.

Esch proposed tax cuts to encourage higher employment and work-study programs to reduce unemployment among youth.

Spokesmen for small business said the platform should stress incentives for small businessmen to hire more people and "get the government off our backs."

Delay asked in closings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House wants to delay for a year the Postal Service's plan to close small post offices across the country.

By a 399-14 vote Tuesday, the House adopted and sent to the Senate a resolution urging the Postal Service to suspend any closings unless "a clear and compelling reason" is shown. It urged the Postal Service to explore other cost-cutting remedies.

A bill putting such a moratorium into law has passed the House but has not been acted upon by the Senate. It would halt the closings until next Feb. 15.

Esch proposed tax cuts to encourage higher employment and work-study programs to reduce unemployment among youth.

Spokesmen for small business said the platform should stress incentives for small businessmen to hire more people and "get the government off our backs."

TFHS class of '26 reunited Saturday

By BOB ZUCKERMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A time for kissing, long lost friends, eating, drinking and reminiscing about the good old days.

So was the Saturday night reunion of the high school class of 1926.

More than 40 members of the Class of '26 ate, drank and were merry at a special party held at the Holiday Inn. Some of the class members came from as far away as Atlanta, Ga., and Anchorage, Alaska.

"I'm an old son of a bitch, but I love seeing everybody," said Dr. Owen Dwight, who came up from his home in Palm Springs, Calif., for the reunion.

Dr. Dwight, who left Twin Falls in 1936 to attend the University of Southern California, said he enjoys the reunions so much that he's attended every one including two others held 10 and 25 years ago.

Dr. Dwight acted as master of ceremonies Saturday night.

In his introductory remarks, he reminisced about one of the former-principals-of-the-high-school classes of '26 which used to meet in what is now the condemned O'Leary Junior High.

Some of the students snuck into the basement of the building by crawling through a window, and the principal was very upset about it, according to Dr. Dwight.

The principal was addressing the school assembly after the incident, and he said, "I'm ashamed someone could stoop so low as to break into a basement window."

"I remember how embarrassed he was," said Dr. Dwight.

Others at the reunion had their own stories to tell.

"I remember I used to sit near Dorothy Van Audette every morning five days a week," said George Cleveland, about his high school days in the '20s. "And she used to say to me every morning, 'Your boots stink.'"

Cleveland said he used to work on a dairy farm. "I used to follow dairy cows around all the time," he explained. "I milked my way through grade school, high school and college."

Also on hand at the reunion were Mrs. Ida Kinsey, Seattle, who used to play the piano in the school orchestra, and next to her, Mrs. Jeromia Baker, also a member of the Class of '26.

As Mrs. Kinsey tells it, she used to play her piano in the Bakers' home of Walnut Creek, Calif., said Mrs. Baker "has a lovely voice."

Mrs. Kinsey said.

Vincent Navin, basketball team captain of the Class of '26, was also at the reunion and talked about the basketball team. In 1926, the team reached the finals in the district, he said.

"We were eliminated by Filer, but that was because they had a lot of 'deals' playing for them," according to Navin, who now lives in Boise.

Not too far from him sat Newton Harrell, assistant manager of the basketball team. "I was always interested in athletics, but in high school, I was small so I didn't compete."

Navin and Harrell talked about how they hitchhiked from Twin Falls to Boise for an athletic event of some kind while they were going to Twin Falls, but neither remembered the details.

Harrell, who says he was probably the youngest member of the graduating class of '26, is now 65.

Seven of the eight original members of the "The Octos," an informal club of girls at Twin Falls High back in the '20s, also made it to the reunion.

"We all went crazy together," said Clark Wilson, the nephew of one of the "Octos." Wilson said he hears about "what the girls used to do" all the time from his aunt, Mrs. Pat Sibley.

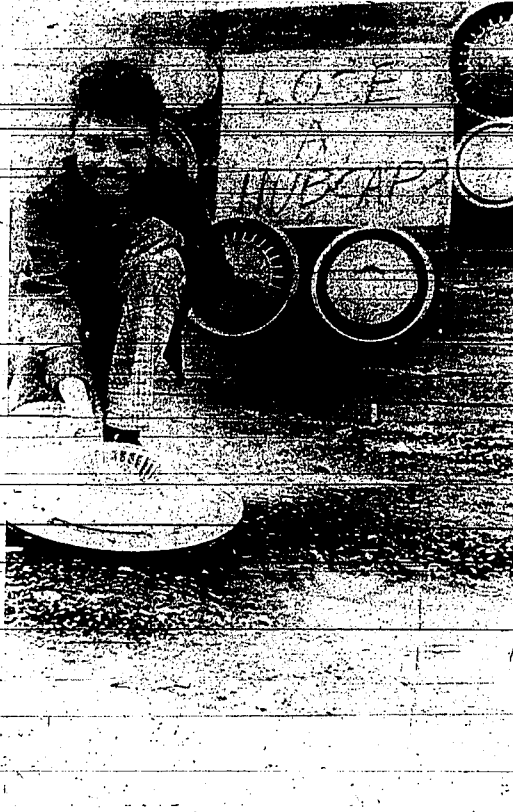

"The girls" said they didn't want to discuss their escapades as Octos at the reunion Saturday.

"We did all the things kids do," said Mrs. Betty Newman, one of the Octos who now lives in Ketchum. The Octos knew each other as early as first grade.

The Saturday reunion was the first time seven members of the club had been together since Mrs. Sibley's wedding in 1929.

Other members of the Octos who attended the reunion are Mrs. Peggy Marshall and Mrs. Beth Pennel, both Seattle; Mrs. Virginia Beach, La Jolla, Calif.; Mrs. Jane Felton, Anchorage, Alaska, and Mrs. Margorie Daughtry, Atlanta, Ga.

Asked if the former schoolmates had grown apart, Mrs. Newman said, "No, nothing's changed. We just pick up where we left off. Fifty years doesn't change anything."

England Mormon ceremonies close

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — President Spencer W. Kimball, leader of 1,000,000 members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, presided Tuesday over closing ceremonies at a five-day gathering of Mormons from all over the United Kingdom.

Kimball will fly home Wednesday from London.

The meetings took place in London, Manchester and Glasgow and were attended by more than 20,000 Mormon church members.

David M. Poreh, president of the Glasgow stake, called for a spirit of redemption among Scottish church members.

"Stand boldly, as did Jesus, against the many different forms of sin which are becoming acceptable in contemporary thinking," Poreh said.

He condemned tolerance of adultery and dishonesty.

"Don't be silent or go along to placate others when standards of honesty and virtue are challenged," he said.

Elder Peter L. Morley, regional representative of the Church's Council of 12 Apostles, said: "Many of our neighbors are low in spirit, despairing, feeling that all is lost and knowing not where to turn. If we continue to be unified in the spirit of the gospel of Christ, we will enjoy a time of harvesting of those seeking for truth."

Elder Bernard P. Brown, an assistant to the Council of the 12 Apostles and area supervisor for the United Kingdom, said: "I know of no nation of comparable size which can equal Scotland's contribution to human progress and service."

Jerome chamber sponsors miniature rodeo

JEROME — The Jerome Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a miniature rodeo July 3 through 5 as a part of the centennial celebration.

The Jerome Roping Club will be in charge of special events July 1 and 2, according to Don Harris, president. He said rodeos will be allowed two loops.

Two-man teams may pay the $12 per team entry fees at the fairgrounds, date between 5 and 6 p.m. immediately preceding the rodeo on those dates.

Special events will be held by the Jerome Mounted Sheriff's Posse on July 3.

Registration blanks for the miniature rodeo are available at the Jerome Chamber of Commerce office. Anyone 14 years old or less and weighing less than 120 pounds may enter. No entry fee will be charged for the miniature rodeo.

Admission tickets are being sold at area banks, the Jerome Chamber of Commerce office and at the gate.

Judge orders food relief for needy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday ordered the Agriculture Department to nearly double its spending on a special nutrition program for mothers and infant children. District Judge Oliver Gasch said the department acted "contrary to congressional mandate" in delaying expansion of the program. He noted that critics charged the delays are blocking food assistance to more than 500,000 needy mothers and children who could be served by local clinics waiting to enter the growing program.

The decision — the department's second setback in major food relief cases in as many weeks — was acclaimed by antipoverty attorneys as "a huge victory" in expanding federal food aid to the needy.

Gasch's order directed the department to release $125 million voted earlier by Congress for spending through June 30 in the Women, Infant and Children nutrition program, and to provide a further $82.5 million for it during the July-September quarter.

The order said those funds must be combined with $500 million approved by Congress for such aid during the two years beginning Oct. 1. The overall total of $687.5 million is to be spent at a even pace over the 27 months beginning July 1, Gasch said.

Attorneys for the Food Research and Action Center of New York, which filed the suit leading to Gasch's order, said the result would be to boost program aid to an annual rate of $306 million. This compares with about $160 million the Agriculture Department expects to spend in the year ending June 30, they said.

A government attorney said no decision on whether to appeal the case will be made until Agriculture and Justice Department officials have reviewed the full text of Gasch's ruling.

Agriculture officials said their latest reports on the WIC program showed 623,000 women and children receiving aid as of April in programs operating through 47 state governments, three Indian reservations, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The program operates through local health clinics where needy pregnant women and new mothers can be given vouchers for the purchase of milk and other special protective foods.

In the earlier case, food center attorneys last week won a preliminary injunction delaying indefinitely enforcement of proposed new Agriculture Department cutbacks in the food stamp program.

Jarbridge celebration runs from July 2 to 4

JARBIDGE, Nev. — The Jarbridge Annual Barbecue and Fourth of July celebration will be held July 2 through 4 in this tiny western town about 80 miles southwest of Twin Falls.

Beginning at 6 p.m. daily Jim Winkle and his High Country Band will play for dancers at the Outdoor Inn. At 6 p.m. July 3 and 4, Saddle's Cousins, another band, will play for dancers at the Red Dog Saloon.

An "Old Fashioned Box Lunch" will be held July 3. Lunches will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. On Independence Day, a barbecue in which a whole steer will be cooked in a pit, will begin at 1 p.m.

Glue sniffing charged to man

TWIN FALLS — Carl W. Hiedeman, 26, Twin Falls, was arrested by Twin Falls police Monday night and charged with glue sniffing.

Capt. Tim Qualls of the Twin Falls Police Department said the man was arrested in the 200 block of Sixth Street West after residents reported he was acting suspiciously. Bond was set at $500 by Magistrate Court Judge Daniel Mechl.

Bolles witness says fear for life made him testify

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — A witness who said John Harvey Adamson admitted triggering the bomb that killed newspaper reporter Don Bolles says he gave the testimony because of fear for his own life.

Robert M. Lettiere, a partner with Adamson in a dog racing venture, testified at Adamson's preliminary hearing Monday that the murder suspect had talked with him about the blast both before and after it happened and said he was to be paid $100,000.

Lettiere said from the witness stand that after first refusing to talk to police he changed his mind because "My motivation was a man's Bolles' life." But, he later added, "I was in fear-of-my-own-life." He did not explain the remark.

In Indianapolis, President Ford said the federal government would do all it could to see that justice is done in the "despicable" slaying of Bolles.

Lettiere said Adamson was at his house the day after the June 2 bombing and told him "That was a helluva charge under that car...I can't understand how the man lived."

Bolles, an investigative reporter for the Arizona Republic, was critically injured by the bomb that was planted beneath his car, but he survived until June 13.

After the preliminary hearing for Adamson ran past 11 p.m., Justice of the Peace Marion Reno ordered him held without bond for Superior Court trial. Adamson is to be arraigned in Superior Court July 5.

Lettiere said a few days before the bombing he accompanied Adamson to a parking lot at The Arizona Republic where they searched unsuccessfully for Bolles' car.

Lids, caps and jars for home canning should be in plentiful supply at Smith's throughout the canning season. In view of last year's shortage, our buyers have been working hard to be sure we'll have enough supplies on hand for all our customers. (Part of last year's shortage was created by "panic" buying at home people buying for more supplies than they really need.)

Our suppliers have promised a sufficient supply of canning metals and jars in the regular wide mouth and jelly sizes. In case you can't find the exact canning item you need at Smith's please speak with the manager. He'll personally see to it that you receive a supply if at all possible. You can count on us.

May I remind and encourage customers to follow accurate and up-to-date canning and freezing instructions. Along with the very fine canning guides from Kerr, Ball and Bernardin, we highly recommend the USDA Booklets which are available at small cost from local Extension Service offices.

In addition, to give our customers a current and up-to-date resume of canning procedures and times for above-seal-level altitudes, we are reprinting an excellent canning sheet developed by Utah State University. You may pick up your free copy of the USDA list at the Customer Service Center in any Smith's store.

At the same time, pick up your copy of my Dinner-of-the-Week - Market-News. And please call me on the red phone if I can help you in any additional way. We really want to be your favorite store.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy who was able to graduate from high school early because I passed the required tests. My problem is I need a summer job, but nobody will hire me because I have had no experience. Abby, how can a person get experience if nobody will hire him?

I am a responsible, hard-working boy who has never been in any kind of trouble, and I'm willing to do anything—run errands, wait on tables, sweep the floors, answer the phone, house-sit, etc.—you name it. And if I don't know how to do it, I will learn.

So far I have applied for 22 jobs, but nothing has materialized.

Abby, how can a person without pull or connections get a job? The beginning to think it's impossible.

DISCOURAGED

Job hard to find

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Go back to some of the places you've applied and tell them that you are honest, dependable, hard-working and eager to prove your worth. That you'll work for one week with no obligation on their part, and if they feel you don't qualify, they owe you nothing.

You may not be hired instantly, but I'll bet your name goes to the top of the list. Try it and let me know how you come out.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend my husband's 24-year-old brother (I'll call him "Bill") came to town and stayed with us.

We planned to dine out with another couple and had engaged a 13-year-old neighbor girl to sit with our two little ones.

Bill was going out with his friends that evening and was waiting for us to finish dressing before he showered and shaved. He said he'd do that after we left and while the sitter was here.

I put my foot down and insisted that Bill shower quickly and leave the house. He said that I didn't think I would be right for him to be alone in the house with a 13-year-old girl, even though he is a very nice young man. I knew that the sitter's mother would be horrified to learn that we let her daughter alone with a 24-year-old man, and I felt the girl herself might feel ill at ease.

Bill was furious with me, and my husband thought I was crazy to think there would be anything wrong in leaving Bill with the sitter. Was I wrong to feel that way?

TAKING NO CHANCES

DEAR TAKING: Yes, you owe Bill an apology.

DEAR ABBY: I am to be married in the fall and need your opinion about something that has caused considerable conversation in our family.

I have asked my favorite aunt to be one of my bridesmaids. She is 44 and very young-looking. She refused, saying, "Everyone would say I looked foolish with all those young girls, and it would spoil your day." (The other bridesmaids are from 17 to 26.)

I need your advice.

BALTIMORE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: I can't possibly know what "everyone" would say, and neither can your aunt. She's obviously more concerned with her own image than eager to participate in your wedding. Don't coax her.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL KLOOS

Miss Carson, Kloos exchange promises

TWIN FALLS—Teresa Carson and Michael L. Kloos, both Twin Falls, were united in marriage June 4 at the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Gilbert Myers officiated at the ceremony. Vickie Latreille was matron of honor and Kelly Nealon was best man.

The bride wore a floor-length, yellow and white lace dress accented with full shawl collar trimmed with lace and a picture frame belt. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white daisies, embellished with yellow ribbons.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gillespie after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with lace and centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with a fresh bouquet of daisies and baby's breath.

Shelly and Carrie Heck served the cake and punch.

The bride is employed by the Idaho Local Aid Services and the bridegroom at Eising Drilling & Pump Co.

The couple lives at 1222 Addison Ave. E.

Buhl miss-selected

BULL—Teresa Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand Smith, Bull, has been chosen for the 1976 "America's Youth in Concert" program.

She is active in concert, stage and pop bands and madrigals and has received superior awards at the district 4 music festival. She was given the best soprano award at the music awards dinner.

She will travel for a month in Europe with the group, giving performances in London, Paris, Geneva, Innsbruck, Venice, Florence and Rome. Concerts will be given in Philadelphia and New York City before the group leaves for Europe.

Miss Breese, Paulson wed in Kansas

RICHFIELD—Christina Marie Breese and Sgt. John Charles Paulson exchanged wedding vows June 5 at the First Baptist Church in Herington, Kan.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Starberg before an altar flanked with tall candelabra and large baskets of white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Breese of Junction City, Kan., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Paulson, Richfield.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white organza for her wedding.

The bodice was fashioned with a neckline framed with white lace. Lace also defined the waistline and trimmed the bell sleeves.

Rows of venise lace formed a panel effect at hemline of the A-line skirt and its attached chapel train. A band of matching lace held the bride's veil of sheer illusion.

She carried a cascading bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses on a white ribbon.

Matron of honor was Mrs. David Mathis, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Jackie Breese, sister of the bride, Sue Rogers and Cindi Tobias, Boulder, Colo.

Flower girl was Sherri Kuntzman and Tommy Champ served as ring bearer.

Candle lighters were Jimmy Breese, brother of the bride, and Lynn Hurd.

Alan Paulson, Richfield, served as best man for his brother, and Clyde and Stanley Paulson, Richfield, and Roger Paulson, Norfolk, Va., brothers of the bridegroom, were attendants.

Ushers were Bobby Breese, brother of the bride, and David Mathis, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

Barbara Rodriguez attended the guest book and Detarla Hurd and DeAnna Howe attended the gift table. Gift bearer was Bob Champ.

The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with white and yellow roses, was topped with white wedding bells and doves. Tall yellow tapers in silver candelabra flanked the cake. Serving the cake, coffee and punch were Kathy Stratton, Mrs. Bill Barnes, Mrs. Clyde Paulson, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and the brides' aunt Roanne.

Special guests at the wedding included Mrs. Anna Aheldt, Herington, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Breese, Junction City, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schumacher and children, Aberdeen, S. D., aunt and uncle of the bridegroom.

For their honeymoon trip the couple spent a week touring the Ozark Mountains in Missouri.

The bride is a graduate of Junction City High School and the Brown Mackie Business College in Salina. She is presently employed by the Kansas State Employment Office in Junction City.

The bridegroom was graduated from Richfield High School and the Idaho State University, prior to joining the U.S. Air Force. After basic training in Texas and Mississippi he served 18 months in Guam before being assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., where he is presently stationed.

They are making their home at 118 West Walnut St., Junction City.

Mrs. William Barnes hosted a miscellaneous shower for the bride and Sue Rogers and her mother, hosted a luncheon for

IF miss, Roemer say promises

HAZELTON — Therese Marie Fischer, Idaho Falls, was married to Richard Dean Roemer, Richland, Wash., in early evening rites, June 8, at Holy Rosary Catholic Church in Idaho Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roddy Fischer, Idaho Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roemer, Hazelton.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony before a background setting of white gladiol and blue carnations was Rev. William Gould.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's floor length wedding gown. The dress was made of satin with a covering of red. A peplum of chantilly lace flared from the fitted bodice and the lace jacket had pointed sleeves.

The bride wore a fingertip veil and carried a pearl prayer book with her blue and white bouquet. The prayer book belonged to her paternal grandmother.

She also wore a gold cross and chain "belonging to her maternal grandmother."

Anne Bean, Idaho Falls, was maid of honor. Kathleen Fischer and Karen Fischer, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

The flower girl was Carroll Fischer, sister of the bride.

Ron Roemer, brother of the groom, Hazelton, was best man. Ushers were Ron Schuler, Longmont, Colo., and Dave Abo, Rupert.

Mike Fischer, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Organist for the ceremony was Mary Miro. Patty Springer was the soloist and accompanied herself on the guitar.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bridal party received guests at Christ the King Hall.

A triple-tiered cake topped with wedding bells, was served with punch and coffee.

Attending the guest book was Dorothy Newman.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the Town House in Idaho Falls with the bridegroom's parents as hosts.

Following a wedding trip to Yellowstone, the couple will reside in Richland, Wash., where the bridegroom is a pharmacist for Osco Drug Co.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD McNABB

Couple recites vows in Blackfoot rites

BUHL — Mildred Kathryn Johnson and Gerald James McNabb were married in a June 5 ceremony at the Blackfoot First Baptist Church.

The bride taught music in Buhl schools for the past year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson, Blackfoot, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam McNabb, Pocatello.

Rev. Richard Bahiger, and Rev. Frank Schweissing conducted the ceremony. The church was decorated with two shades of green, accented with burgundy and a background of greenery and candlelight.

Wedding music was by the Buhl High School Swing Choir with Mrs. Howard Warnke as organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Dolly Madison style gown in polyester. The dress featured a lace overlay on the skirt and bodice and flowing sleeves of lace. Lace ruffles trimmed the sleeves and lace overlay. The dress was made by the bride.

Her veil was designed with a floor-length train and was trimmed with Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of ivory, red roses and white stepmotis.

Mrs. Gordon (Marian) Webb, Idaho Falls, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Veralyne Schweissing, Pocatello, and Josie Johnson, Blackfoot, cousin of the bride.

Sam McNabb Jr., Pocatello, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Gene Chilcote, Pocatello, Tom Knight, Wendell, and Conrad Johnson and Curt Johnson, brothers of the bride, both Blackfoot.

Janice Webb, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Gene Chilcote and Conrad Johnson were candlelighters.

Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Blackfoot, Mrs. Irene Hull and Mrs. Nora McNabb, both Pocatello, grandmothers of the couple, were honored guests.

The couple was honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony.

The hall was decorated with a white backdrop and arch decorated with greenery accented with red roses. The bride-table displayed the bride's grandparents' wedding china. They were also married on June 5.

The three tiered white cake was decorated with a red and green color scheme and displayed miniature portraits of the bride and groom.

Traying important events in the couple's lives. Wilma Johnson, aunt of the bride, registered guests. Sherrie Baxter and Sandy Chilcote arranged the gifts. Bradley Webb, nephew of the bride, was gift bearer.

Hilda and Cary Johnson, Jodi Estel and Susan Melton served. Merle and Romona Johnson, aunts of the bride, and Marie Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, all Blackfoot; Carter (Rud) Boise, cousin of the bridegroom, and Elaine Henscheid, Pocatello, aunt of the bridegroom, served as reception hostesses.

The Buhl Swing Choir, directed by the bride during the past school year, provided special music for the reception.

Following a honeymoon trip to Oregon and California, the couple lives in Pocatello, where the bridegroom will be studying for a master's degree in physics and chemistry at

MRS. RICHARD ROEMER

Forgotten letter needs few changes

I found a letter to my sister the other day that I had forgotten to mail.

It just needed a little updating to send. After "The baby is..." I crossed out "toilet trained" and wrote in "graduating from high school this month."

And in the P. S. where I had written, "I found my first gray hair today," I ran a line through gray and substituted "black."

The rest of the letter was still current. "I am on a diet as my skin does not fit me anymore. The children are rotten and I am slipping away from reality."

I am going to paint the bedroom and write to the rest

Their letters are filled with news of "Robbie" who just won a "Being" scholarship to Harvard. He's so exceptional, all he has to do is sit there and breathe for four years.

There's also, nine-year-old Rachel who is competing in the Baton Olympics, makes all her own clothes, just sold her first story to Reader's Digest, and is going to spend her entire summer reading the Bible. And don't forget little Kenneth who gets up during the night to change his own Pampers. (Does you-know-who still have a plastic liner in his football uniform?)

The letter-writers who really bug me, though, are the ones

of the family next week.

The trouble with me is I don't like to write letters unless I have something exciting to report. I am intimidated by letter writers whose correspondence electrifies you.

I have one group of friends who only write me once a year — from a cruise ship. They know it's going to make me spit up with jealousy and they write cute little messages that begin, "Lov: Thinking of you as we island top" and end with, "Must dash — A Robert Redford lookalike has been chasing me all over the ship."

Other pen pals I can live without are the people whose children are over-achievers.

with the stationery whose paper matches the envelopes. Sure it's easy to write a letter when you have all the equipment, but for me, it's a real hassle finding clean paper, a pen and a stamp.

It has been four days since I sent my sister the letter and when I didn't hear from her this morning, I lifted the phone, called, and said, "What's the matter? Is your arm broken?"

"I just got your letter," she said. "I'll answer it this afternoon."

"Well, hurry up. I have another three-cent stamp that's burning a hole in my pocket!"

Runaway car no laughing matter

SALEM, Ill. (UPI) — Everyone who saw the little electric car driving around a motel parking lot without a driver thought it was funny; everyone except the owner.

James A. Baugh, the owner of the Sebring Chicar which is propelled by several automobile batteries, parked the car Monday in the lot of the motel he owns. Somehow it caught on fire and then started moving by itself.

The car drove unattended from the motel parking lot into a neighbor's backyard, spreading flames across the grass and shrubs. It then turned around, drove itself back into the motel parking lot and struck another car.

Williams signs cage letter with Eagles

TWIN FALLS — Art Williams, a 6-5 jumping jack from Harvey, Ill., has signed a letter of intent with College of Southern Idaho.

Basketball Coach Boyd Grant, describing Williams as easily the strongest inside player CSI has had in his region, now has four men on the line and expects to sign the rest within a few days.

Williams, named all-conference and all-state, carried a 23-point per game scoring average and collected 15 rebounds per outing.

"He is an excellent jumper," said Coach Boyd Grant, who earlier had slated the youngster plays to around 6-9 under the boards. "He brings to our team the ability to intimidate inside with blocked shots and has great strength inside. He also can play outside."

Coach Grant credited CSI's first first-team All-American Tom Bush in helping Williams to select CSI.

Already in the fold are Larry Bergeson, Teton high school grid who helped his team to two straight Idaho A-3 championships and was selected all-tournament both times. He is a 6-2 swingman but will play guard for the Golden Eagles.

Also joining the guard line is 6-2 Scott Cory of Bocatula high school at Brigham City, Utah. "He's a very good player," says Coach Grant. "He averaged 19 points for his high school team."

The fourth man is 6-4 Bob Starnor of Albuquerque, N. M., who Coach Grant believes will become a strong inside man for the Eagles later in the season—and certainly by his sophomore season.

"We still have a couple of other boys who say they are coming here but so far we haven't received a letter from them," Coach Grant said. "I don't like to announce they're coming until I've got the letter in my hand."

The coach was slated to leave Twin Falls Wednesday to participate in a coaching clinic at Oral Roberts University later this week. While in the Midwest he plans to visit Antonio Martin of Indianapolis, regarded as the best junior college prospect in the nation. Martin has said he is coming to CSI but is so far unassigned.

"I hope to sign Antonio while I'm back here," Coach Grant said. "If we can get him we may have as tough a front as CSI has had."

Duo tops tourney

JACKPOT — Frank Huff and Bill Metcalf combined through the wind and rain Monday and Tuesday to win the Club 93 Two-man's Golf tournament.

The winning duo had a 17-under par 127 for the two-day event which was hit by rain and hail storms Monday and concluded in strong winds Tuesday.

Claiming second was the Buhl twosome of Bob Erb and Tom Davis while Rod Gano and Ron Boyd of Twin Falls were third at 129.

Other winners and scores include Kim Barrett and Steve Tribe, 132; Dave Talbot and Gary Hazelgren, 133; Bill Howden and Jake Allmond, 132; G. Keller and D. Hogan, 135; Joe Molay and Bill Hickman and Dick Thumetz and Paul Borchard, 136; Bob Babb and Everett McAnally and Bill Broden and Don Hulbert, 137; and Norm Asmus and Howard Wallace, 138.

Jones wins three

TWIN FALLS — Dean Jones ran off with three firsts in Thunder raceway competition over the weekend.

Jones took the trophy dash, fast haul and the multi event and didn't leave much else. Part of the "dash" was the final heat, won by Norm Jones. Gene Hamilton posted the fastest time at 22.6 junior Miller rolled in the only mishap of the day.

The raceway has slated competition for July 4 with time trials at 3 p.m. and races at 5 p.m.

U.S. men Olympic swimmers look good, gals face trouble

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Now that the U.S. Olympic swimming trials are concluded, what exactly are America's aquatic chances at Montreal?

Based strictly on the trials of the world's major swimming nations, the United States will win 10 of 13 men's events in Canada next month but the American women will get only six total medals and just one gold.

A short four years ago at the Munich Olympics, U.S. women won eight of a possible 14 gold medals while America's men were first in 10 of 15 events. But that was before East Germany.

"That's on paper," challenged Jack Nelson of the Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) Swim Team, the head U.S.-women's coach. "You don't decide gold medals on paper, though. You decide them between the blocks. It's who touches first. That's who wins."

"Sure, East Germany has done a fantastic job in building up its women's swimming program. But I guarantee you it's not going to be a runaway, not by a long shot. We're not going to sit and watch the East Germans swim. We're going to be swimming right with them. I mean right with them."

"I was really pleased at what I saw in the Olympic trials," said Indiana University's Jim Counsilman. "I think you may have a chance to win half the medals—I'm talking about gold, silver and bronze—at Montreal."

"Sure, we'll have some rough spots, but we're in excellent shape. I think college swimming has saved us as far as our Olympic men's team is concerned."

"After Munich, the East Germans have got at this thing systematically. They decided to go after everything in women's swimming because it was on a lower level than men's swimming. They decided that women's swimming was the easiest way to go and they've really encouraged and motivated their women. They've spent quite a bit of money at it."

"Meanwhile, there is a new trend among our women toward older girls."

At the U.S. trials that ended here Monday night, Joe Bottom of the University of Southern California, the No. 1 100-meter butterfly qualifier, said the American men and women should train together instead of separately. He pointed out that the U.S. men and women did train together for last year's World Games in Cali, Colombia. He said that being around the U.S. men would bolster the women's confidence.

The U.S. men will train at Canton, Ohio, while the women will be at West Point, N.Y.

"That's nonsense," said Counsilman, 55, who has coached in NCAA championship teams in his 19 years at Indiana.

"You can train as well apart as you can together. In fact, training together just clutters up your pool. It's a difference of having 27 boys alone or 24 girls with them. I also think it's easier for the boys and girls's minds, on swimming when they're separated."

Nelson, 44, took a different tone and said, "In a team situation where the men and women are together, I do think it makes for a better esprit de corps."

Record breakers

FIVE Twin Falls women of the Turf Club 11 bowling team set a new state record of 3198 total pins in the recent state bowling tournament held in Twin Falls. The Idaho state champion women's handicap bowlers include Pam Tilley, Karen Poe, Brenda Jacobs, Kay Collins and Daronna Hodkins.

Lewiston competitors collect high school rodeo top prizes

BURLEY — Two Lewiston competitors won the all-around championships in the 1976 Idaho high school championship rodeo over the weekend.

Paul Carpenter captured the boys' all-around title. Carpenter also won the calf roping contest with a combined two-round time of 25.66 seconds.

"Jim Hagler, Kuna, was the reserve cowboy. Hagler placed fourth in bull riding; he and his brother, Dan, ranked second in team roping, only a quarter of a second behind the winning team."

Janeane Connerley captured the girls' all-around title.

Connerley was second in barrel racing and fourth in pole-bending.

Deon White, Emmett, the 1975 all-around girls' champion, earned the reserve spot this year. White was second in pole-bending and fourth in goat-tying.

District 2, the Boise area, had the highest percentage of points with 26 per cent, on 2,971.16 points.

Rob Schutte, Twin Falls, captured the saddle bronc riding title with 121 points while Jim Bass, Murphy, was second at 110. Don Haggfud, Twin Falls, ranked third at 94 and Jade Robinson, Bliss was fourth with 72 points.

Robinson's score came on only one ride. He lost the end of one finger in a calf roping accident Friday night and was unable to compete in the saddle bronc event later the same evening.

Hal Peterson, Piler, beat out Grant Summers-Gooding, 149 to 143 for first place in the bull riding. Bart Dance, Wendell, was third at 135 and Hagler, fourth at 132.

Idaho Falls captured three of the four top spots in the bareback bronc riding. Jay Smith won with 132 points, Len Smith had 126 for third place, and Neal Hoge, 123. Tim Roesser, Caldwell, was runner-up with 127.

Merv May, Burley, was second to Carpenter in calf roping with a two-steer time of 28.35 seconds. Todd Webb, Wendell, had 31.35 and Tom Bailey, Declo, 31.02.

Ivan Jensen, Weston, won the steer wrestling competition with a two-steer time of 17.06 seconds, to beat out fellow fourth district cowboy Bruce Coburn, Dayton with 18.55. Bukler Ridley, Grandview, was third at 19.46 and Kevin Saxton, Declo, had 21.28.

Jan Roesser, Caldwell, won the boys' cow cutting contest with a score of 282.55 ahead of-

Desert elk herd found to be smaller than expected

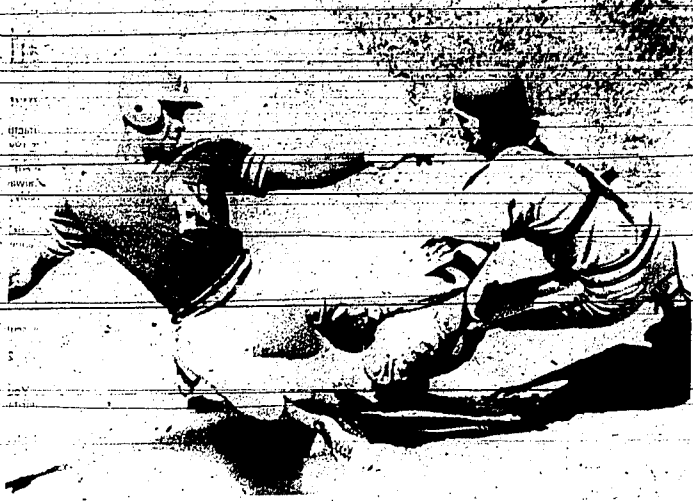

By STU MURRELL
Regional Staff Conservationist
A study on the desert-elk herd, which ranges in game management units 45 and 52 from Highway 93 to Mormon Reservoir, has revealed the herd is smaller than reports of Staff Conservationist.

A study on the desert elk herd, which ranges in game management units 45 and 52 from Highway 93 to Mormon Reservoir, has revealed the herd is smaller than reports of the animals had indicated.

This herd originated from about 60 animals that were trapped and transplanted from the Warm Springs area near Ketchum to Stanton Crossing on the upper end of Magic Reservoir in the mid-sixties. They adapted to the desert environment, however, the expansion of the herd has been disappointing. The season on elk in units 45 and 52 has been closed for years so legal hunting pressure cannot be the cause.

There were nine elk collared in scattered areas extending from Highway 93 westward to Mormon Reservoir. They were monitored once or twice a month by Kelvin Jones, Fish and Game bi-oxide from Jerome. The herd was characterized by rapid and chaotic movement across the desert areas. For example, one cow tagged north of Shoshone moved across Highway 46 into the city of rocks in less than a week. She stayed there for a prolonged period and then moved back across Highway 46 to the Thoren Creek area. After another movement across Highway 46 she traveled northeast across Highway 68 and north to Moonstone. Calving areas were located by spring and newborn calves were observed the first week in June. Will estimates this resident, desert herd numbers less than 100. The number of elk have moved regularly and made it appear as a large population. The lack of expansion in this herd is difficult to explain because their cow-calf ratios have shown good production.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES—Unusually good for using best reasoning powers; put in action methods for expanding activities far beyond present boundaries. You are articulate and can convince others of the value of your viewpoints as well. Be outgoing.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan improvements with advocates for excellent results. You can gain that data that has long been denied you. Be on toes at all times.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to right decisions about how to add to your present abundance. A banking expert can advise. Make the evening a charming one.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go out socially and have a delightful time. One of whom you are fond can be in a most receptive mood.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31) Plan a better way to handle personal affairs. Get those accumulated small tasks out of the way rapidly. Be careful of intruders.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21) Contact good friends and improve rapport. State aims clearly and gain support of others. Be most careful driving, walking and so avoid possible accidents.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle public matters that will improve your position in the community. Improve credit rating, also. Relax tonight and replenish energy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Some new ideas that will help you solve a problem come to you. Put them in operation quickly. Make new friends whose background is different from yours.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Carry out ideas about making changes in agreements. Use more positive methods than in the past. Have a fine romantic time with mate in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact partners and work out better agreements. Good day for reconciliations with others, especially close ties.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can do fine work today so get at all those jobs early. Try to cooperate more with fellow workers and eliminate tensions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get out for recreation of your choice during spare time but be with congenials only. Put finest talents to work for more success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Attention you give your home and kin can bring fine results at this time. Entertaining at home can be most enjoyable. Don't overspend.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—he or she will have a different flair for expressing self than most and should be sent to schools where this can be taught to be utilized to real advantage. Teach to complete whatever has once been started, which will be the key to success here. Give good religious training early, and add musical lessons to the curriculum to train the ear.

Studies indicate that fewer than two out of 10 manufacturing companies will hire women to sell for them on the road. Too bad. The women who sell are just like the men who sell. There are relatively few strong ones, but those who can cut it do exceedingly well. Those sales managers, who are always looking for another hotshot, reduce their odds considerably if they refuse to try out the girls. Post this notice, please.

KEEP TALKING

If you want to keep a conversationalist talking to you, you should at 15-second intervals nod your head approvingly, or say "I see," or mumble "hmm." So reports a team of psychologists who made a lengthy study of the matter. Unfortunately, they did not devise a technique to stop said conversationalist. I'm asked a "high-powered" investigative, who possessed an uncanny knack of interrupting smoothly to get the floor anytime he so desired, how he did it. He said, "I simply smile and say yes, yes, yes, and start talking."

EPA aide asks wise use of funds

BOISE (UPI) — An Environmental Protection Agency spokesman said Tuesday Idaho will have a chance to solve its own water pollution problems without government interference, provided federal funds are spent wisely toward positive solutions.

Harold Geren, EPA Idaho operations office director, said his agency was looking for positive results from the federal 208 clean water program and would not reject workable solutions.

Addressing the organizational meeting of the Idaho Clean Water Advisory Committee, Geren said EPA would be the watchdog over federal funds which would be used to develop water control pollution programs.

"There were a few people in the country, and Idaho was not one of them, which 'sucks up the money without any output.'"

"We want to see that the money is properly spent," Geren said.

Al Eiguren, Boise, representing Boise Cascade Corporation, expressed concern over final approval by EPA of any plan developed by the state.

Eiguren said while he felt that the 208 program was an opportunity for Idaho to solve its own water pollution problems, he was concerned there would be a hassle with EPA over final approval of the state plan.

Geren said EPA would be looking to see if the state really was addressing the problem with the money it would be allotted.

The federal official said EPA would not be telling "local people how to solve the problem," but "we are charged to see that the money is spent."

Both Geren and State Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, chairman of the advisory committee, noted that this was the first time the federal government had given the program to the local level to solve the problem.

Geren said the government was turning it over to the states and "would stand back and let them solve the problem."

Peavey said he felt the federal government was "sincere in soliciting our advice and I hope we can come up with some recommendations."

Geren said his agency was not too happy in the past in getting involved in the clean water program because it "didn't have a good track record." It cost "a lot of money" and it was more work than the agency could handle.

He said through the 208 program the effort would be better focused and "we will see better results."

An active, oriented program is being stressed this time, Geren said, and "we want to see broad base planning considered."

"We would like to see solutions implemented now or in the near future," he said.

Geren said at the end of the program the EPA would like to see laws and ordinances which will produce active results rather than just a plan.

He said he felt Idaho had a good chance to meet the objectives of the program because while other states elected to leave it up to elected officials, Idaho got people on the committee who represent the people who use the clean water program.

Dr. Lee Stokes, chief of the environmental division of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, said the new program was a shift from a "reactive nature" to an active nature.

He said the committee would be asked more than "mere reaction." He said "we hope you give us your ideas."

"We hope you will solidify the plan for us," Stokes said.

Stokes said whatever program was adopted, it would have no value if it ended up on a shelf. "It will have to be implemented to be meaningful," he added, and "it will have to be acceptable to the people of the state."

"He said there were no "true experts" in the field of water quality control and "we will have to feel our way through this darkness together."

At this point, he said, there was nobody who could say what was workable in Idaho, but "the department and the committee should be able to find middle ground."

Stokes said there was no way to satisfy all the people but if some could be shown that the plan was workable, "the vast majority will accept it."

Rain washes out vegetable supplies

MOSCOW (UPI) — More than two months of persistent rain has caused a marked shortage of vegetables and fruit in the Soviet capital and a local newspaper said today that "a very difficult situation exists in the fields of the Moscow region."

The newspaper, Leninokye Znamya, added, "Conditions are serious but not hopeless."

A check by United Press International indicated many varieties of vegetables have disappeared from state shops and prices at markets where peasants sell their own products have increased sharply.

The vegetable shortage compounds the task of Soviet officials to feed citizens in the wake of last year's disastrous grain harvest—the worst in 10 years.

An obligatory meatless day has been declared once a week in most Moscow restaurants and twice a week in some other towns. But red meat and bread are still plentiful in stores.

Storms have dumped 12 1/2 inches of rain on the Moscow region since April, the highest figure in nearly 10 years.

Workers are fighting for the crops in very difficult weather conditions. Leninokye Znamya said, "The talk is how to overcome difficulties and fulfill plans for production of grains, potatoes, vegetables and forage."

"There is special alarm about potatoes and green corn for forage," the newspaper said, adding that some corn-planted areas would have to be resown with grass.

The conditions on some state and collective farms are "very bad," the newspaper said, and overall the situation is "serious but not hopeless."

It said experts would visit all farms in the region to give recommendations about what should be done.

A check on state stores indicated almost all were out of carrots, onions, lettuce, new potatoes, tomatoes, apples, cherries and strawberries. Available were fall-crop potatoes, beetroot, cucumbers, radishes and cabbages.

Most vegetables and fruits were available at the markets but frequently at more than double the controlled prices of state stores.

At one market Tuesday, new potatoes were selling at $2.64 per kilo (2.2 lbs) compared with 92 cents when available in state stores, strawberries at $7.94 against the state price of $3.64 and cherries $6.61 against $2.30.

Compounding the Russian housewife's problem is a scarcity of several other items, such as brown buckwheat flour, poultry, coffee and pepper.

Many meat shops were limiting customers to 17 ounces of sausage per person.

Fish, which replaced meat on the menu on Moscow's "meatless Thursdays," also has dwindled, with only two or three varieties available for choice.

House may cut food stamp funds

SPOKANE (UPI) — House Agriculture Committee Chairman Tom Foley, D-Wash., predicted legislation now being worked in the House to revamp the food stamp program will be below the $8 billion measure passed in the Senate. But just how far below, Foley would not predict.

Foley said it would be two or three more weeks before the measure is reported out of his committee to the floor of the House for a vote.

Over the weekend, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz visited Spokane and said he would likely appeal a court-ordered block of food stamp regulations apparently illegally adopted by his department.

District Judge John Lewis Friday made a temporary restraining order permanent in Washington after agreeing with plaintiffs that the new regulations had shown a "substantial likelihood" that the agriculture department exceeded its powers.

The department regulations cut one billion annually from the food stamp program and eliminated four million recipients from the program.

Butz claimed said the regulations were "cosmetic" and added they "eliminated the greedy, not the needy." He said those in need "would ne-tually receive 30 per cent more stamps."

Foley said there was no doubt that there were food stamp program abuses and he predicted the House would revamp the program would help deal with the abuses.

"The food stamp program is important, but the public has a right to know that there is enforcement being carried out to prevent abuse."

Controls supported

WASHINGTON — The ending of price controls on home heating fuel — a move the Ford administration expected to slip easily through Congress — is drawing considerable opposition from consumer and labor groups as well as congressmen.

Under the omnibus energy bill passed by Congress and signed by President Ford late last year, the Federal Energy Administration can end price controls of petroleum products.

Last month it proposed — and Congress, in effect, approved a plan to end price controls on residential fuel use by heavy industry and public utilities.

The trust of the opposition is that the decontrol plan would raise prices for consumer utilities and trucks, even though the FEPA contends it will not.

Administration officials expected the same kind of acquiescence in its home-heating fuel and diesel oil proposal.

But, at a Senate Interior Committee hearing Monday, the move was opposed by the Consumer Federation of America, the Teamsters union, the AFL-CIO, the Air Transport Association, which is a trade organization of all scheduled airlines, and a number of small fuel distributors and jobbers.

Girl watchers will love forecast

The outlook for Friday, June 23, is for temperatures to rise to slightly below normal along with gusty afternoon winds, but no precipitation is expected.

The extended outlook for Friday through Sunday calls for mostly dry with near normal temperatures. Highs in the upper 70s through the 80s with overnight lows in the 40s.

over northern and southeastern Idaho during the day. Behind the system, clear, cool and windy conditions prevailed over the Magic Valley.

Even though the sun is shining today, the pressure gradient continues to be strong, causing 15 to 20 miles per hour winds to blow. The winds should diminish tonight and blow again Thursday.

Temperatures are 10 to 15 degrees below normal, but a warming trend is expected for the weekend. The haying outlook through Friday calls

Utah court ponders Strachan bid

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Supreme Court has taken under advisement a second motion to admit Watergate figure Gordon Strachan to the practice of law in Utah.

Strachan's attorney filed a second motion Monday, asking the 32-year-old former White House staff member be admitted to the Utah Bar.

The State Bar Association submitted a similar motion to the court in April, but the justices indicated at that time they would delay a decision until "disbarment" proceedings against Strachan are completed in California and New York.

Justice Henri Hendrick said Tuesday it was likely to take several months for the court to rule. "In the interest of justice we shouldn't make any kind of judgment at this particular time because we just haven't been able to go over this whole record. It's just voluminous and the people wouldn't want us to make a decision in 48 hours."

Missing scripture protested

WASHINGTON Star — They're fighting the American Revolution all over again. It's that bloody Liberty Bell.

It seems the British left the scriptures off the thing, and the fundamentalists are saying, "Send it back!"

Dr. Carl McIntire, probably the most outspoken fundamentalist spokesman in the United States, calls the bell a "counterfeit, a very serious affront" to Americans. "The worst thing you could do to us," he told Queen Elizabeth.

The bell, cast in the same foundry in London that Thomas Lister used in 1753 when he made the original one for hanging in the Pennsylvania statehouse, arrived in Philadelphia last Tuesday and is scheduled to be rung on July 6.

But it never will be rung if McIntire and his Bible Presbyterians have their way. McIntire, acting as moderator of the small denomination, said in an open letter to the British that "for the U. S. to accept as the Bicentennial bell, a bell from Great Britain is the same thing as the original bell, with the verse of holy scripture, Lev. 25:10, deleted from the bell, ruins the whole thing."

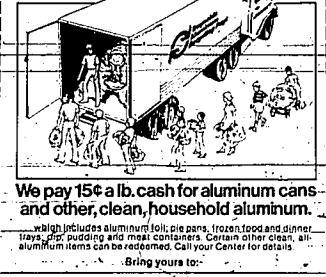

McIntire has asked President Ford to tell the British that "we cannot accept it" and to send it back.

Queen Elizabeth has been asked to make proper amends for the "affront," and Prime Minister James Callaghan has been told, "There are millions of us who will not accept it. Cannot you please do something about it?"

Leviticus 25:10 reads: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."

McIntire informed Sir Peter Ramsbotham, the British ambassador to the United States, that a demonstration will be held at noon Thursday in Philadelphia and that petitions bearing 100,000 signatures will protest the bell.
