

FDA bans chloroform use in medicines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration issued final regulations today banning the use after July 29 of chloroform — a suspected cancer-causer — in cough medicine, mouthwash and other products.

In announcing the ban would go into effect in 30 days, the agency rejected pleas from the industry for more time and demands from consumer groups that it seek immediate recall of existing products containing chloroform still on the market.

"Although chloroform containing human drugs and cosmetic products have been on the market for many decades and may have been generally recognized as safe, recent evidence, showing chloroform to be an animal carcinogen (cancer-causing substance) and its potential for carcinogenesis in humans no longer permit this conclusion," the FDA said.

"Where scientific evidence indicates that a product is no longer safe, the Federal Food and Drug Cosmetic Act prohibits its further marketing unless its safety can be demonstrated."

The FDA originally proposed a chloroform ban April 6, citing a new report showing the substance caused liver cancer in mice. At that time the agency said the benefits of chloroform were so minimal that they did not warrant exposing consumers to continued risk.

In a notice published in today's Federal Register, the FDA said it still sees no reason for ordering a recall of existing stocks of products containing chloroform because "the present risk to the public is minimal and chloroform containing products cannot reasonably be considered to constitute a health hazard."

The FDA also turned down requests from industry to continue manufacturing and shipping products until inventories of raw material were exhausted.

It said it realized its standard "will result in destruction of stocks of human drug and cosmetic products on hand" but that "the potential risks posed by chloroform do not justify continued shipment or use."

The FDA estimated that chloroform once was used in more than 2,000 drug products — 80 per cent of it in cough medicines.

Recall plans advised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration today told companies under its jurisdiction to develop plans for pulling foods, medicine and other products off the market if recalls are needed.

Spelling out for the first time what it expects industry to do in recall situations, the agency said companies should bear the responsibility and expense for the entire recall process.

Every year about 300 recalls come to the FDA's attention. The agency has no specific power under the law to order a recall but it can in effect force such actions with its power to seize foods, drugs or other products which violate public health laws.

In announcing new proposed regulations governing recalls, the FDA said companies should draw up a "detailed contingency plan" which can be put into effect whenever a recall is needed.

"The regulations state that companies should promptly notify the FDA when removing a product, should initiate recalls when asked to do so by the FDA and should report to the FDA regularly on a recall's progress," the agency said.

Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt added: "Product recalls have evolved over the years as the most expeditious and effective methods of removing violative products from the market, particularly those that present a danger to health."

"The present system of recall, which usually involves voluntary action by the regulated industries, affords maximum protection to the consumer with minimum government expenditure. It assures that defective products will be removed from the market quickly and efficiently. The regulations we proposed will strengthen and improve that system."

Cooling off on hot task

Storms batter Midwest; heat scorches California

By United Press International

Rains sent floodwaters sloshing over portions of the midlands Monday and a record heat wave scorched California, crowding beaches and feeding fires.

Storms hit Kansas Monday night and early today, spreading high winds and hail much of the Mississippi Valley and into the Plains and the Appalachians.

Gusts of more than 80 miles per hour struck the Fargo, N.D., area and 60-mile an hour gusts were reported near Hopkinsville, Ky.

A tornado hit Penasola, Kan., causing scattered damage but no injuries. Baseball-sized hail shattered windows at Bennington, Kan.

Other tornadoes were reported Monday at Pasco, Fla., and Walpole, N.D. There were no reports of damage or injuries.

An earlier storm dumped about 1 1/2 inches of rain in the Kansas City, Mo., metropolitan area Sunday night and Monday, triggering flash floods, stranding motorists atop automobiles and delaying the eastern Kansas wheat harvest.

That storm brought 60-mile an hour winds and produced a freak, 14-degree temperature rise in 90 seconds at St. Joseph, Mo.

Winds blew out car windows in St. Joseph and bent to the ground a flag pole in front of an Air National Guard building.

Heavy flash flooding occurred in the Kansas City area, sending up to 10 feet of water coursing through some downtown intersections.

Automobiles stalled in floodwaters on Interstate-70 and high waters damaged tracks in the Santa Fe Railway's Kansas City switching yards. Winds tossed around planes and damaged hangar roofs at a suburban Kansas City airport.

A number of motorists abandoned their half-submerged cars and others took refuge on rooftops.

Heat plagued drought-weary Californians, both urban and rural.

Thousands of persons fled to California beaches Monday to escape the heat and smog in the second week of a record heat wave.

In San Francisco, the Bay Area Pollution Control District declared a smog alert for nine counties and a "health advisory" for six of the nine.

Smog advisories also were issued for Los Angeles.

Firefighting teams managed to contain quickly several brush fires, but 35-mile an hour winds fanned an out-of-control blaze east of Red Bluff, Calif.

Downtown Los Angeles reached 91 while nearby Burbank reported 105-degree heat and Ontario had a 106-degree reading.

Cooler weather spread north the northern California coast Monday night.

Marine DI cleared

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A court martial Monday found S.Sgt. Harold Bronson, a Marine drill instructor, innocent of all charges in the death of a mentally retarded recruit fatally beaten in training.

Bronson, a Vietnam veteran, said he felt like fainting when he heard the verdict, and would be willing to return to duty as a drill instructor.

His attorney pleaded for dismissal of charges against two other sergeants and a captain.

A panel of five officers and three enlisted men, including two other drill sergeants, deliberated three hours 15 minutes before bringing in the verdict, ending an 11-day trial at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

C-130 sale OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has given tentative approval to the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation for the sale to Syria and Iraq of civilian versions of the C-130 military transport already approved for sale to Egypt, officials said Monday.

A State Department official insisted that any sale of the planes, designated L-100s, would be strictly commercial and that because the L-100s were designed differently from the C-130s, they would be less useful militarily.

Despite the government's efforts to minimize the military significance of such a sale, Israeli Embassy officials registered their concern with the department last week over any increase in American technology to Israel's adversaries.

Retiring Fong may alter Hawaii political picture

N.Y. Times Service
HONOLULU — Hiram L. Fong, the only Republican now holding major elective office in Hawaii, will retire from the United States Senate this year and his going has set up speculations that could reshape political life in the islands.
Presidential politics have not been ignored, but are far down the scale of political interest here. The Democrats, led by Gov. George Ariyoshi, will support Jimmy Carter for President... The Republicans probably will support President Ford.

Americans, although this group makes up only a third of Hawaii's population, roughly balanced with Caucasians, who are referred to here by the old Hawaiian word "haole," which means "foreigner or stranger."
Political figures who discuss this question privately suggest that Quinn may be the focus and beneficiary of some anti-Japanese vote. However, the appearances are that the Democrats will nominate Fong-Japanese-to succeed Matsunaga—and might—nominate another to succeed Mrs. Mink. This would give Democrats another opportunity to vote for a non-Japanese candidate other than to vote for Quinn, the Republican.
Some Democrats have suggested that one of the Democratic candidates for the Senate drop out and run again for the U.S. House. Matsunaga has declined because polls show him running ahead, and Mrs. Mink has insisted that no matter what the present indications may be she believes she will win. Filings close Aug. 8. The primary is Oct. 2.
Since some 80 per cent of this state's approximately 850,000 people live on the island of Oahu in the city-county of Honolulu, almost as much attention is focused on the mayoralty race here as on the Senate campaign.
Mayor Frank S. Fasi, 56, a native of Hartford, Conn., one of the most controversial figures in Hawaiian politics, is running for a third four-year term. He will be opposed for the Democratic nomination by Lt. Gov. Nelson Doi, 51, who is Japanese-American.
Doi said he intends to make his campaign against Fasi's record over the last eight years. The mayor, who is of Sicilian descent, says he sees himself as the only major public figure in office in Hawaii who stands against the domination of political life here by the Democratic faction led by Ariyoshi.
'The only outsider is me,' Fasi said. 'This is why the lieutenant governor is running against me.'
Fasi was a candidate for the Democratic nomination governor two years ago, losing to Ariyoshi, and probably will run for governor again in 1978 if he is re-elected mayor.

Senate puts brake on withholding climb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has taken the first step to ensure that no one's income tax withholding rates rise Thursday.

If the House acts quickly, as expected, the current lower rates will remain in effect at least through Sept. 1 while the Senate continues to struggle with a massive tax revision bill.

The Senate took the action almost nonchalantly by voice vote Monday evening, shortly after a group of tax "reformers" won one of the rare victories by convincing the Senate to leave intact a provision lowering the maximum tax rate on unearned income such as dividends from 20 percent to 10 percent.

By voting to extend withholding rates, the Senate formally acknowledged "what" had become obvious more than a week ago: the 1,536-page tax revision bill cannot possibly be completed before Congress leaves this weekend for its two-week holiday covering the July 4 weekend and the Democratic national convention, July 12-15.

The withholding extension was attached to a minor House-passed bill.

Finance Committee chairman Russell Long, D-La., suggested the rates be extended to Aug. 16. But Republicans noted that was the date the Republican political convention starts and insisted on Sept. 1.

The "temporary" recession-fighting tax cuts Congress approved last year expire Thursday. It is assumed the eventual tax revision bill will make these tax cuts permanent.

The Senate action on tax cuts overshadowed the struggle over the maximum tax, which took up most of the Senate's time Monday.

The victory for the "reform" group means those with large amounts of interest, dividends, rents and other "unearned" income will have to continue paying a maximum tax rate of 70 percent.

"Every dime of this relief goes to the most wealthy and privileged," said Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Min., shortly before the 60-12 vote. "Anyone who can devise a plan for so much to be given to so few by so many, and get away with it, is entitled to the International Parliamentary Union award of all time."

Long said the high rate was stifling capital investment and chasing upper income persons into tax shelters.

Teamster exemption ends

NEW YORK — The Internal Revenue Service has revoked the tax-exempt status of the Teamster Union's biggest pension fund, a move that government officials disclosed Monday.

A letter was sent last Friday from the Chicago office of the IRS to the fund, which is also under investigation by the Labor and Justice Departments, advising the pension trustees of the revocation, retroactive to Jan. 31, 1968.

If the action survives an expected court challenge, the fund, whose full name is the Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund, would be liable for taxes on its earnings back to then, and employers, who contribute to the fund on behalf of 500,000 workers, would not be allowed to deduct their contributions on their federal income tax. Employer's make no contribution.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Donald C. Alexander, is empowered to file tax liens against both the employers and the trustees of the fund to collect the money. In Washington, Alexander's assistant to Alexander said, "We neither confirm nor deny" that action had been taken against the teamsters' fund. He added that such removal of tax-exempt status would become a matter of public record only after a taxpayer had exhausted all of his legal remedies.

As in the case of a taxpayer challenging the findings of an audit, the Central States Pension Fund, as it is known, can take the matter to administrative hearings within the Internal Revenue Service and then to the courts.

Abortion foes lose again

WASHINGTON — An appropriations bill amendment that would have prohibited Medicaid payments for abortions has been defeated in the Senate.

In a 57 to 28 vote, the Senate dealt its latest setback to the anti-abortion movement Monday by striking the amendment from the appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The amendment had been attached to the ammooth money bill in the House last Thursday in separate 207-167 and 165-146 votes.

Because the Labor-HEW bill came up under special provisions, the Senate action did not kill the abortion amendment. But it did make it unlikely that the provision will survive the Senate-House conference committee that now takes up the bill. When the bill eventually goes to President Ford, many expect him to veto it.

Demo preparations please host, chief

NEW YORK — ALPHI Preparations for next month's Democratic National Convention are ahead of schedule in Madison Square Garden and Mayor Abraham Beame and the party's national chairman, Robert Strauss, say they couldn't be happier with the progress.

"Amidst the sawdust and clutter of two-by-fours Monday, the men surveyed the admittedly cramped quarters of the garden where thousands of Democrats will rub elbows July 12 through 16.

"Everything isn't perfect," said Strauss. "It sort of makes for coziness and friendship," added the mayor.

"We're more than satisfied with the progress. The commitments given us by this city have been more than fulfilled," Strauss managed to say above the whine of a carpenter's buzzsaw.

As a reward for the chairman's enthusiasm, Beame took a "Big Apple" sticker from a photographer and glued it to Strauss' lapel.

"From the vantage point of the red, white and blue podium, where both expect Jimmy Carter to accept the presidential nomination, neither man foresaw any problems with the limited space.

Ray Herlihy, head of the office of Design Associates, chief architect for the project, saw harmony amid the stacks of nail buckets and unpacked crates of red folding chairs on the garden's floor.

"We're ahead of schedule," he said, and estimated the total cost of the renovation at $1.1 million.

To blend with the spruced-up Garden interior, city officials even promised a cleanup of the surrounding streets, with emphasis on the small-army of prostitutes regularly on patrol in the neighborhood.

"We'll do everything we can to keep the whole area spickand span," Beame said. However, a street-wise city official added, "Anybody who wants to go looking for trouble in this town is going to have no problem finding it."

Ford hunting delegates; Carter seeks more money

By United Press International

President Ford is home from Puerto Rico and planning strategy to pick up the remaining 66 delegates he needs to win the Republican nomination next month in Kansas City.

Ford arrived back in Washington Monday night, enthusiastic over results of an economic conference of leaders of six Western countries and Japan.

After briefing his cabinet today, he was to confer with campaign strategists on what they accomplished in his absence and on what moves to make next in the person-by-person fight for the magic number of 1,130 convention delegates.

His challenger, Ronald Reagan, entertained the traveling press corps at his California ranch. The "apparent" Democratic candidate, Jimmy Carter, was off on another fundraising tour with high hopes of helping to pay off the campaign debts of his primary opponents as well as his own.

Several dozen members of Reagan's traveling press corps were treated to a barbecue beef lunch at the former California governor's 600-acre ranch north of Santa Barbara Monday.

When Reagan was about to demonstrate his riding techniques for photographers, a reporter asked him to mount the horse from the rear with a running jump, as he had done in western movies years ago.

"Are you kidding?" was the reply.

Carter left his home in Plains, Ga., Monday for an eight-city fundraising tour. His chief fundraiser was so confident he predicted Carter would not only pay off his own debts, but return some money to the federal government and even help pay off the debts of some candidates he defeated in the primaries.

Morris Dees, in charge of Carter's fundraising, said many candidates who had dropped out have big campaign debts. "He specifically mentioned Morris Udall," he said.

The law forbids Carter to give any candidate money outright, but he may attend their fund-raising events and add his prestige to their appeals.

At the first stop, in Asheville, N.C., Carter raised some $100,000 at a $1,000-a-person reception.

Rep. Albert Morano, R-Conn., who is contesting the Senate seat now held by Sen. Lowell Weicker Jr., invited Reagan to address that state's July 16-17 convention — the last of the year — but has not received a reply.

Weicker supports Ford, who is expected to win most of the state's 35 delegates.

Waste decried

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Jimmy Carter told the nation's mayors today American cities need New Deal type programs but warned federal money "should not fund local waste."

In an urban policy statement to the U.S. Conference of Mayors, the Democratic presidential hopeful said cities were "America's No. 1 economic problem" and pledged to work with mayors just as Franklin Roosevelt worked to meet the problems of the rural South in the 1930s.

"The first thing we need is jobs, a job for every American who wants one," Carter said, citing statistics indicating an average unemployment rate of 9.6 per cent in the inner cities, and 40 per cent among black teen-agers.

Tourists arrested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the past month, four tourists were arrested for carrying their guns with them as they went through the White House tourist line.

The U.S. attorney's office said Monday the tourists all brought their guns to Washington for protection and were apparently unaware of the city's gun control laws.

The office said it fears many tourists may be arrested during the July 4 weekend for carrying unregistered guns.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Rette Uhrmacher said many tourists bringing guns with them come from states with less stringent gun control laws than those in Washington.

She said the guns were discovered when the tourists were searched as they entered the White House.

She said there has also been a sharp increase in arrests of out of towners for soliciting for prostitution.

Since September of last year more than 1,000 persons have been arrested for soliciting. She said that many biethnic tourists may not be aware that the Washington police department has undercover police women pose as prostitutes.

Composer fined

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Composer Martin Lewis Klein was fined $2,500 and placed on a year's probation Monday for swindling CBS-TV out of $17,000 in royalties for "Gunsake" series background music.

The judge also ordered Klein to repay the money.

Klein pleaded guilty last month to a charge of grand theft, admitting he falsified "cue sheets" for background music, on which royalties are based, for 75 shows when he was the western series' musical supervisor.

Connally raps Carter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jimmy Carter, frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, will have a hard time reconciling the party's platform with his own views, former Texas Gov. Jim Connally told a news conference Monday.

"He is either going to have to renounce his party or accept its platform and its policies — and when he does he is going to find it won't be very well in his own part of the world," said Connally, a Democrat turned Republican.

Connally dismissed polls showing Carter heavily favored to beat either President Ford or Republican challenger Ronald Reagan in November, saying Carter has yet to face tough campaigning.

Pitcher takes bow

DETROIT (UPI) — Mark Fidrych, the Detroit Tigers' boyish-looking righthanded pitcher who stalks the mound like a caged animal and talks to the ball between pitches, received a curtain call Monday night by 47,855 fans in Tiger Stadium.

Fidrych's enthusiasm delighted the fans almost as much as his seventh straight victory, a 5-1 win over the division-leading New York Yankees.

His yanks of "We want Fidrych!" brought the curlyhaired 21-year-old to the clubhouse in a daze for a thunderous ovation.

Jeans 'unsuitable'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The tight-fitting style in blue jeans today is unsuitable — or "unsuitable" for movie-style cowboy flicks, according to Republican presidential challenger and former cinema wrangler Ronald Reagan.

"At a party thrown for reporters covering his campaign, Reagan was asked by photographers to mount with a running vault over the horse's rump, as movie cowboys do in "fast getaway" scenes.

"Are you kidding?" responded Reagan. "With these jeans I have difficulty mounting a horse the regular way."

Henry Independent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was asked aboard Air Force 1 returning from Puerto Rico if he is a Republican.

"I want to watch the campaign a little longer," he quipped.

Kissinger also joked on the plane Monday night that he will "unify the American people" because "no one will support me" — an obvious reference to the cause of the critical fire he has received during the campaign.

Dolphin deaths probed

HONOLULU (UPI) — More than 20 deep sea dolphins washed ashore near Kihun on the Island of Maui. Seven of the mammals were dead or dying afterwards.

Officials at Sea Life Park and the Smithsonian Institution said Monday that they were investigating the cause of death.

Dr. Edward Sheltenberger of Sea-Life Park brought back four of 17 dolphins spotted inside the reef Sunday at Kihun. Two were dead, one died later, but one was reported healthy and swimming about Monday in the park tanks.

"There had never been a well-documented strangling in mass like this before," the oceanographer said. "Normally you find large groups of dolphins in animals that are beached." This, he said, could have affected their sense of direction.

"Several dolphins at Kihun were given relaxants and then taken out to sea."

Eater Sunday night three more dolphins washed ashore and were brought back out to sea. Monday two more washed ashore dead.

Sheltenberger identified the mammals as rough tooth dolphins, only found in the deep ocean.

Gearhart awaits execution

CHICAGO (UPI) — Early this year, Daniel Gearhart left his home and a pile of mounting bills and began a new career.

Today he awaits execution in a prison in Angola.

Gearhart's advertisement seeking a job appeared in the spring edition of Soldier of Fortune Magazine.

"Wanted: Employment as mercenary on full-time or job contract basis. Preferably in South or Central America, but anywhere in the world, if you pay transportation. Contact Gearhart, Box 1457, Wheaton, Md. 20902."

Robert Brown, a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army reserve and publisher of Soldier of Fortune, said in a telephone interview Gearhart's ad was answered by David Bufkin of Kerman, Calif.

Brown said Bufkin recruited American mercenaries for the pro-Western faction in the Angolan civil war.

Gearhart's wife, Sheila, told the Washington Post her husband left his Kensington, Md., home Feb. 6 with airfare to Angola, the promise of $1,000 on arrival and a salary of $300 a week. She said he left because of mounting bills and "because he thought he was doing the right thing."

On Feb. 13, after only three days in the field, Gearhart was captured. Gearhart says he was made prisoner before he ever fired a shot in the African conflict.

Monday, a war crimes tribunal in Angola condemned the 34-year-old Vietnam veteran to death as a war criminal. Reports from Luanda indicated Gearhart's death sentence was based partially on his seeking mercenary employment through advertisements.

Mrs. Gearhart said she hoped the sentence would be reviewed and commuted.

Jim Pope, a spokesman for the State Department's Bureau of African Affairs, said Bufkin has "been shooting off his mouth about recruiting and things," but indicated the department was aware of Bufkin only through the news media.

1st woman cadet sworn in

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Excited but scared, Joan Olsen, an 18-year-old brunette from California, raised her right hand to pledge allegiance to the country — and became the first woman to enter a U.S. military academy.

"I don't have any feminist reasons for coming here," the 5-foot-3 teenager said Monday as she became the first of 150 women to enter the Air Force Academy.

"I read a lot of college catalogues, and the Air Force Academy sounded like the best education for what I want to do — aeronautical engineering," Miss Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Olsen of Elk Grove, Calif., was the first "double" male or female to report at the 18,000-acre military institution in the foothills of the Colorado Rockies.

She also became the first woman to enter any of the nation's three big military academies. West Point and Annapolis will admit their freshman class — including women — next week.

As the first cadet, she led a line of 12 other doxies, all male, in a 100-yard march from the receiving area to an academic building where all cadets underwent medical tests and a series of shots.

She later was given a Gistyle haircut, surrendered all her jewelry and all money except $2 in change and was issued military clothing, including combat boots, a flight cap and fatigue shirts and trousers.

"She was officially sworn into the school within an hour and had completed processing two hours after she had arrived."

Gooding prepares bicentennial day

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News Writer

GOODING — Gooding's Bicentennial celebration will take place on the big day, Saturday, July 4. Groups throughout Gooding county are expected to participate, according to celebrator chairman Thelma Ferguson. From the pancake breakfast at 7:30 a.m. until the concluding dance at 9 p.m. in War Memorial Hall, there will be "something for everyone," she said.

The Rotary club is sponsoring the pancake breakfast in the Frain Junior High cafeteria. The parade is scheduled for 10 a.m. Participants should gather at 7 a.m. at the site of the new Safeway store. Each group will be given a number for placement in the parade lineup, Mrs. Ferguson said.

Floats are expected from Job's Daughters, LDS churches, the Chamber of Commerce, Liberty Bells Riding Club, Little Mustangs, Purple Sage Riding Club, Sheriff's posse, 4-H Clubs, senior citizens, high school drill teams, Granges, Gooding B.W.V. Veterans of Foreign Wars, Pufferwars and from Jerome. Vintage cars will also participate in the parade.

Beginning at 1 p.m. there will be a choice of four different types of afternoon activity, the chairman said. Gooding riding clubs will perform at the rodeo arena, the Gooding Country Club is sponsoring a Scotch golf foursome. There will be free swimming, sack races and an old-fashioned horseshoe pitching contest at East Side Park.

At the ceremony, there will be informal music and entertainment at Frain Junior High School with Oldtime Fiddlers and square dance caller Myron Bliss, LDS quartets and Rev. Dan Mason on the program. Readings also are planned and anyone wanting to perform is urged to bring fiddle or guitar, Mrs. Ferguson said.

The VFW will present a flag to Gooding county and the national moment program at the ceremony will be dedicated in memory of deceased veterans. Scrolls signed by county residents when the Bicentennial wagon train went through this area last summer also will be presented to county officials.

Open house will be held all day at the newly remodeled Gooding County Historical Museum, 210 Main St. A free barbecue will be held at 4:30 p.m. at Frain Junior High School. Participants will eat on the grounds. Oldtime fiddlers will entertain and local organizations will set refreshments.

The dance at 9 p.m. is sponsored by the One Niners Rejects Ciffzen's Band Club.

July 4 display

IT TOOK 100,000 pieces of straw, dyed and glued into place by George Kostic, to make this 56-inch replica of the Presidential Seal, which goes on display in San Diego July 4 for the bicentennial celebration. Kostic collected the straw from each of 50 states. (UPI)

Liberty Bell won't toll for July 4 observance

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Neither the nation's oldest Liberty Bell nor its newest will toll a note on July 4th, the nation's 200th birthday. While thousands of bells from Agana, Guam, to San Francisco, Maine, ring simultaneously at 2 p.m. EDT, the Centennial Bell in Independence Hall's tower will chime 13 times in remembrance of the 13 original colonies. But its cracked ancestor, just 100 yards away, will remain silent.

The Liberty Bell hasn't really made a sound since V-J Day on Sept. 2, 1945. However, each July 4th the Sons of the American Revolution hold a ceremony and two children tap the bell lightly. They will do so again this Fourth of July.

The last two times the bell was rung a recording was made of the sound and electronically amplified. "It sounds like someone kicking a 50-gallon oil drum half full of water," said Douglas Warnock, assistant superintendent of the Independence Park who has heard what he called an "elphg hand cup" of the population was too. Next Sunday, July 4, the huge regatta will sail past the Golden Gate bridge and sweep along the waterfront. Shortly afterward, U.S., Australian and Korean war soldiers anchored off Fort Mason and the Presidio will boom a 21-gun salute, fireboats will send up pyrotechnic and military aircraft will fly by.

"I'm proud to be a part of this country. I'm glad I've survived 200 years and I hope it survives another 200," he said. "I think it should be advertised. We should celebrate when it has been, and what it should be."

The twin bicentennial jubilee was expected to include visits by Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki and the mayor of Mexico City, Octavio Gomez.

Safety council predicts deaths

CHICAGO (UPI) — Traffic accidents could kill between 530 and 630 persons during the July 4 holiday weekend, the National Safety Council estimated today.

The council said increased travel and greater speeds may up the toll for the 78-hour holiday period from the 508 who died during the July 4 holiday last year.

During the holiday period, from 7 p.m. Friday, July 2, to midnight Monday, July 5, the council estimated that 25,000 to 30,000 persons could suffer disabling injuries.

Memos may prove FBI cover-up

NEW YORK — John Lowenthal, Rutgers University law professor who has set up the Hiss family typewriter, says he has recently received FBI documents that the agency covered up evidence helpful to Hiss concerning the date of the manufacture of the Woodstock typewriter in the case.

The Woodstock typewriter was one of the central elements in the case from the beginning. The government said the copies of classified documents produced by Chambers, who testified that he had been stolen for him by Hiss, had been typed on the same machine as some old Hiss family letters. The government and the Hiss defense team spent some time searching frantically for the old typewriter. An old Woodstock was eventually located and brought in by the defense, which believed it to be the family machine.

The defense to bolster its case. Lowenthal points out that the government document expert never testified that the documents were typed on No. 230099, although the prosecutor, in his summation to the jury, stated the expert had done so. The judge at the second trial also instructed the jury that No. 230099 was the Hiss family typewriter.

Court issues decree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday implemented the formal decree its ruling of last year that Utah, not the United States, has title to land surrounding the Great Salt Lake which was under water when Utah won its statehood.

The defense contended the family typewriter had been given away before the Hisses changed residences at the end of 1937. Lowenthal noted that if the Hisses could prove that the machine had been disposed of before the dates on the Chambers documents—which were Jan. 5 through April 1, 1938—that would show the documents had not been typed by Hiss at home—as Chambers charged.

AFS selects TF student to spend 1 year in Norway

TWIN FALLS — The first Twin Falls student selected by the American Field Service (AFS) to spend an entire year abroad leaves Wednesday for Norway.

Marty Mead, Janet says she will have music interests in common with her host parents and family. Her Norwegian "father" plays in the area symphony. On her return to Idaho, Janet plans to study psychology at Idaho State University.

JANET BURKHART
 ... AFS choice

Janet Burkhart says she will attend a year of high school in Stange, a very small community near Hamar, a town about the size of Twin Falls. Janet graduated from Twin Falls High School this spring, but says she doesn't mind the additional year of school. "I think the year abroad will be worth two years of college, at least," she says.

Another Twin Falls student, Pat Donnelly, will spend three months in South Africa. The fact both were selected speaks well for the caliber of people we have in our schools, AFS representative Judy Baxter says.

Janet will stop en route to New York for a visit with her sister in Virginia, and will spend July 4 in Washington, D. C. She then goes to New York City to join other exchange students who will fly to Europe July 11.

In Oslo, Janet will participate in a language orientation program. She says she is not too worried about language problems since she was an exchange student in Georgia, speaks English.

"I may learn to speak Norwegian with a southern accent," Janet says.

Janet studied German and says she had hoped for an assignment to a country where German is the basic language, but she says she expects to learn Norwegian during her year's visit.

Her host family in Norway will be Mr. and Mrs. Kristen Helge Skaven and their two daughters. A grandfather also lives with the family. "The girls will attend school in Hamar."

Janet was salutatorian of her class this year and vice president of the senior class. She appeared in "Godspell," the school musical, and was a national winner in the Elks Lodge's "Most Valuable Student" program. Janet was first runner-up in the Miss Twin Falls Pageant for 1976 and has studied voice with

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if I am living with a talented poet or an incurable woman-chaser.

My husband and I are in our late middle years, and I thought him lovely until I found in his desk several hundred love poems he admits he composed himself. Some are as bland as unsalted popcorn, but most are more like enchiladas!

These impassioned poems of pleading, praise and ecstasy contain the names of more than a dozen women—Ginny, Julie, Lindsay, Jackie, Edna, Florence, etc. All, he insists, are casual encounters about whom he has fantasized.

Is it possible that there is no foundation whatsoever for all these torrid "love affairs"? Or so vividly described in his poems? Just how much "poetic license" should one be permitted?

POET'S WIFE

Fantasy or fact?

DEAR WIFE: Poets have vivid imaginations, but the only way you can tell whether your husband is fantasizing or philandering is to catch him in the latter. Meanwhile, renew his license and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if you or your readers can come up with an answer to my problem. I've just moved into a new home. My next-door neighbor is very likeable, and I enjoy her company. However, I visit her home only upon invitation.

Each day her visits become longer. Friday she stayed from 12 noon until 3 p.m. today (Monday) she was here from noon until 3 p.m. again. Today I scrubbed the kitchen floor and turned on the dishwasher. Conversation was difficult, but it didn't slow her down.

In another town, six years ago, I had the same problem. When I suggested to my neighbor that perhaps she was visiting me too much, she left in a huff and never spoke to me again. I felt a loss as she, too, was a nice person whom I enjoyed as a friend.

I don't want to lose my new neighbor's friendship in the same way, but I don't want to resort to leaving my home daily just to avoid her. How can I discourage her in a way that will retain the friendship on a less frequent basis?

NEEDS SUGGESTIONS

DEAR NEEDS: Take your choice. You can keep quiet and let your neighbor barge in whenever she pleases for as long as she likes. Or you can tell her in a nice way that you need more time to yourself, so you'd appreciate it if she would please call first.

If she rejects your friendship because of your frankness, it's preferable to being trapped in your own home or having to leave just to avoid her. Who needs friends like that?

DEAR ABBY: Why did you have to write that column saying Indian men were better lovers than white men? There are enough white women throwing themselves at my half-Mohawk husband without giving them added incentive.

Please tell those love-hungry white women that if they want an Indian lover, they should have married one, as I did.

South cut his ace of clubs on East 10 and led the 10 of diamonds. Hal ducked but had to win the next diamond.

Then he thought for a moment and planked down his ace of spades. East signalled with the nine. Hal led his last spade and declarer was down two.

As Hal pointed out later his spade lead might have cost a trick, but the only chance to defeat the contract would be to find East with those good spades.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ontario reader wants to know what we think of the idea of opening trump rather than "fourth best" on a long suit.

The idea has some merit, but one great weakness. There are too many occasions such as a holding of Q 10 8 4 when you need to have that eight spot in your hand later.

TWIN FALLS - Two nurses said Monday night that Magic Valley Memorial Hospital care has been "compromised because of too few nurses and lack of nurse training."
 Nursing care at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital has fallen close to "patient endangering levels," a nurse at the institution said during a full in a hospital board meeting called to examine the nursing shortage and other nursing staff problems at the institution.
 Mary Jane Draney, a registered staff nurse in the hospital's intensive care unit, made the charge while the board was in executive session discussing the nursing problem which has recently plagued the hospital.
 Mrs. Draney said part of the problem is that there aren't enough nurses at the hospital to provide adequate patient care. But what makes the situation worse, she said, is that the hospital is forced to put untrained or ill-prepared young nurses in positions of responsibility they aren't knowledgeable to handle.
 Top hospital officials were not available for comment today regarding the nurses' charges. However, Director of Nursing Nancy Chur-man had said earlier that she did not think the public should be "fretted by the nursing situation at the hospital," she said.

 Much of the problem could be averted, Mrs. Draney said, if the hospital would institute a thorough orientation program designed first to discover the new nurses' level of expertise and then assign that nurse according to their expertise.
 At present, Mrs. Draney said, the hospital virtually does not have an orientation program and is putting new nurses on the floor with the expectation they handle patient care situations they are untrained to meet.
 The situation is so bad, Mrs. Draney said, that it is not new nurses alone who are asked to perform duties exceeding their capacity. Nurses' aides and orderlies are also being allowed to perform patient care functions beyond the level of their knowledge, she said.
 Karen Booth, a registered staff nurse and education specialist at the hospital, agreed that the hospital needs to take steps to give its nurses better preparation.
 "There is a very antiquated type of nursing at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital," Mrs. Booth said. Booth, who serves on the ad hoc nurses' committee formed to look into the nursing situation at the hospital, cited instances of new nurses some of them licensed practical nurses (LPNs), she said, administering complicated intravenous medication at the hospital and performing other functions they should not have been responsible for.

 Mrs. Booth also said there were instances of nurses' aides removing patients' bandages and performing other tasks beyond their knowledge where the nursing shortage brings patient care stress to intense levels.
 What the job has committee and the nurses want the hospital to do, Mrs. Booth said, is to begin an orientation program using a checklist of skills such as employed by other Idaho hospitals to evaluate nursing staff.
 The ad hoc committee last week recommended to the board that the hospital hire a director of staff development to guide nurses to better methods of patient care and necessary efficiency in that regard.
 "We have to have a new orientation program," Mrs. Draney said.
 "Immediately," Mrs. Booth added.

"They also advocate that the hospital institute team-nursing practices common in other hospitals." Such a system groups nurses in smaller units to handle assigned patient loads, they said, and is more efficient than the floor supervisor system now employed by the hospital.
 The team-nursing system frees the floor supervisor to oversee the general functioning of the unit, they said, and to perform administrative functions without those functions interrupting the rest of the staff.
 Mrs. Draney told the hospital board that she had contacted the State Board of Nursing and that the State Board would be willing to perform a staff expertise audit which would be the first step in building an orientation program.
 Hospital administrator James Rosenbaum also told the board that he agreed a director of staff development is needed.
 Rosenbaum said today the hospital is now looking for a qualified person to assume such a position.
 Rosenbaum said he thought the hospital already had an orientation program to acquaint new nurses with the institution and how it functions, but he added he didn't know what sort of professional orientation new nurses get.
 "I'm sure it's not very good," he said.
 Asked if new nurses were being put out on the floor their first day and asked to take on responsibilities beyond their training, Rosenbaum said "That's not the situation as I understand it, but I could be wrong."
 "I admit they (new nurses) are probably not trained as well as the current nursing staff would like to see them trained," Rosenbaum added.

Phils thump Expos, Schmidt hits 21st

MONTREAL (UPI) — Gary Maddox drove home three runs and Mike Schmidt drilled his 21st home run Monday night to give Philadelphia a 5-2 victory over the Montreal Expos and Phillies' starter Steve Carlton his seventh victory of the season.

The Phillies took a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Jay Johnstone singled and scored on Maddox's triple. Maddox came home on a run as Carver's single.

Philadelphia upped its lead to 4-0 in the sixth when Schmidt powered his homer over the right field fence. The Phillies then loaded the bases and Greg Luzinski scored on Maddox's sacrifice fly.

The Phillies got their last two runs in the eighth inning as Maddox singled home his third run and McCarver singled home his second run.

Carlton, who has also lost three games in his last two starts, up seven hits while walking two and striking out nine. Montreal scored both runs in the sixth inning when Jose Morales singled home one run and then scored on Pete Mackanin's double.

four innings for Boston and struck out eight to gain his sixth win against eight losses. Mike Flanagan, the second of four Baltimore pitchers, suffered the loss.

Dave Duncan hit a two-run homer for the Orioles in the fifth inning and Bobby Grich added a solo drive in the sixth.

Grich, Duncan and Reggie Jackson each had two runs batted in for Baltimore.

Rangers nip A's

ARLINGTON, TEX. (UPI) — Jeff Burroughs' one-out single in the 11th inning drove in Lenny Randle from second base Monday night and gave the Texas Rangers a 3-2 victory over the Oakland A's.

Randle reached first on a bad-hop single, off the glove of shortstop Bert Campaneris to start the 11th inning and moved to second on a sacrifice by Ken Pape. Toby Harrah was intentionally walked by loser Jim Todd to bring up Burroughs, who slapped a 1-4 pitch over Todd's head into center field.

Steve Foucault, who pitched the final 2 1/3 innings of relief, received credit for his seventh win in 11 decisions.

Indians defeat Brewers

CLEVELAND (UPI) — John Lowenstein drove in two runs with a single and a homer and reliever Jim Bibby hurled 6 2/3 innings of two-hit relief Monday night to pace the Cleveland Indians to a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

After spotting the Brewers a 2-0 lead in the first inning, the Indians bounced back on Lowenstein's first homer of the season in the first. Don Money's run-scoring triple got Milwaukee another run in the second and chased starter Don Hood but Alan Ashby doubled for Cleveland and scored on Duane Kuiper's sacrifice fly in the second.

Bibby took over and picked up his fourth victory against two losses when the Indians pushed across a pair of runs in the fifth on an error and Lowenstein's run-scoring single. Bibby was relieved by Dave Laroche in the ninth.

Astros clip Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cliff Johnson drove in three runs with a pair of doubles Monday to lead the Houston Astros to an 8-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Bucs top Cubs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Al Oliver, the National League's leading hitter, had four hits, including his 12th homer, and drove in four runs Monday night to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-2 rout of the Chicago Cubs in a regionally televised game which was delayed 20 minutes by rain.

Oliver, raising his average to .354, doubled home two runs in the second, slammed a six-foot homer in the seventh and knocked in another run with a ground out in the eighth. He has now collected eight hits in his last 14 at bats.

Jim Rooker went the distance for Pittsburgh, scattering nine hits, to gain his seventh win against three losses while Joe Coleman, 2-8, absorbed the Cubs' fourth straight loss.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the second on successive singles by Jerry Morales, George Mitterwald and Manny Trillo, but the Pirates came up with four runs in the same inning on two walks, Manny Sanguillen's single, an error by Coleman and Oliver's two-run double.

Bill Madlock's eighth homer cut the margin to 4-2 in the third but the Pirates added two more runs in the fifth when Rich Heber doubled, cut third on Oliver's single and scored on an error. Oliver then scored on Coleman's third wild pitch of the game.

Mets top Cards

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dave Kingman, who hit his 26th homer in the fourth inning, scored the winning run in the eighth on a wild pitch by reliever Al Hrabosky Monday to give the New York Mets a 4-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Red Sox blast Orioles

BOSTON (UPI) — Third baseman Butch Hobson called up from the minors earlier in the day, smacked a two-run inside-the-park homer in his three-run sixth inning Monday night to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 12-8 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Hobson, starting only hours after coming from the Rhode Island Red Sox of the International League, came to bat with the score tied 8-8 and Cecil Cooper on first base. The 24-year-old rookie, in his third Major League game, whacked a drive against the left-center field fence, just out of the reach of a leaping Paul Blair.

The ball rolled into right-center field and Hobson made a belly slide to beat the relay throw to the plate.

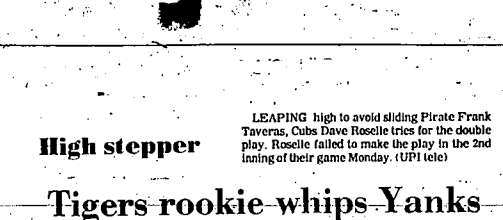

The Red Sox added another run in the seventh on a single by Carlton Fisk, a double by Jim Rice and a groundout by Rico Petrocelli, playing the first game of his 11-year career at second base.

Ferguson Jenkins, making his first relief appearance since 1970, pitched the final

LEAPING high to avoid sliding Pirate Frank Tanzer, Cubs Dave Roselle tries for the double play. Roselle failed to make the play in the 2nd inning of their game Monday. (UPI tele)

High stepper
Tanner, whose serves have been timed by radar at 140 mph, was grinning from ear to ear as he met newsmen after pulling off the biggest upset of the $280,000 tournament.

"I have never served harder than I did today," said the man from Lookout Mountain, Tenn. "But I also served intelligently. I tried to vary the pace of every serve. Against Jimmy, if you serve two the same he knocks the second one off—if he hasn't already knocked off the first one."

Tanner said he came off center court last year after the same match "shell-shocked" after Connors had beaten him in three sets. "I played it very differently this year. I didn't try to match him for power. I was trying to hook it back and get short on him with a little spongy sort of shot."

The strategy worked partly because Connors played well below his best form—a fact which Tanner acknowledged. "He missed a lot of easy shots and volleys which let me into the match—but I'm not complaining."

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Salt Lake sent 10 men to the plate in the sixth inning and drove across five runs Monday night to break open a close game and then coast to an 8-1 Pacific Coast League victory over Tucson.

The win was the Pirates' third straight over the Toros, and the fourth in the five-game series.

The Gulls struck for two runs in the first inning. With one out, Frankie George and Orlando Alvarez singled, and scored later on errors by Toro infielders on errors by Toro infielders Bob Piccolo and Gaylen Pils.

Tucson picked up its lone run in the sixth against starter and winner Gary Wiedlock. Juan Gomez doubled and later scored off another outing by Wiedlock.

Lefty Skip Pitcock came in for Salt Lake, and ended the inning by retiring Wayne Gross on a ground ball.

Idahoans named to panels

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus appointed three new members today to the Idaho Commission on Human Rights. Andrus also appointed five members to the new Idaho Social Workers Licensure Board, which will direct the examining of applicants for licenses as social workers.

Named to the Human Rights Commission were Harold C. Charlton — Pocatello, Ernest East, Boise, and Conrado Pearce, Nampa.

Mrs. Pearce was appointed to replace Lew Rodriguez of Jerome with her term expiring July 1, 1977.

Charlton and East were appointed to new positions on the commission, expanded by the 1976 legislature from seven to nine members. Their terms will run until July 1, 1979.

Other members of the commission are: L. Sullivan, Moscow; Glenn Schneider, Boise; Hero-Hitosaki, Blackfoot; Celeste Taylor, Boise; Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa, Boise, and Idaho Purce, Pocatello.

Charlton is a native of Butte and since 1959 has served as business manager of Laborers Union 267 in Pocatello. He is currently a member of the Central Labor Council in Pocatello and is a member of the executive board of the Idaho AFL-CIO.

East, 41, is a Boise attorney who is assistant general counsel for Boise-Cascade. He earned his law degree at the University of Arkansas and was with a law firm in Dallas, Tex., before moving to Boise three years ago.

Appointed by Andrus to the licensure board were Richard B. Bolton, Blackfoot; Betty S. Phillips, Caldwell; Loretta Joyce Barton and Charles P. Hansen, both of Boise, and Donald W. Fox, Coeur d'Alene, Pocatello.

Bolton is assistant administrator of State Hospital South at Blackfoot while Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Barton are social workers. Hansen is chief of social-work service for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Boise and Fox is program manager for Region I Mental Health Services.

Andrus also appointed Ila Ann Hilliard of Pocatello to the State Board of Nursing, replacing Perus Taylor, also of Pocatello, and Don S. Evans, Malad, brother of Lt. Gov. John V. Evans, to the Idaho Soil Conservation Commission, replacing Alvin Benson of Melba.

Reappointed by Andrus were C. E. Alred, Burley, to the Idaho Beet Council; and Judge Edward J. Lodge, Caldwell, and Coeur d'Alene Police Chief Robert A. Nuffelman to the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission.

'Disaster chasing' profitable business

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The governor's office today warned victims of the Teton Dam, disaster of "fast-talking fly-by-night specialists" who pose as contractors, salesmen and make a profit from disasters.

People claiming to represent the Department of Housing and Urban Development have approached several mobile home owners with offers of near-instant repair or replacement with some cash from the victim. They claim the balance will be paid by HUD.

In other instances salesmen or "interested buyers" have offered to take property off the homeowner's hands for cash and save him the trouble of claim filing.

Maj. Gen. James S. Boock urged residents to be watchful of such approaches. He said to check the credentials of the agent and validate the offer with someone who can help evaluate the proposal.

"Better yet work with local people, buy from local merchants, use local contractors or those known to you. It may take longer, but in the long-run it is safer and cheaper."

Attack survivors would face chaos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The possible 90 million U.S. survivors of a Soviet nuclear attack would be in chaos because of unfinished emergency evacuation plans and unstocked, unmarked shelters, a congressional hearing was told Monday.

Fred J. Shafer of the General Accounting Office said that in the event of an attack "citizens can count on either, one, evacuating to outlying areas where they may have to build their own shelters with soil, or, two, going to the nearest shelter which may not be marked, stocked or equipped with sanitation facilities."

Shafer told the Joint Committee on Defense Production, "The Soviet Union annually spends about $1 billion a year on civil defense preparations in the event of U.S. attack."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., co-chairman of the subcommittee on the "United States' federal preparedness" for emergency preparedness has fluctuated between $300-200 million annually.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., warned that, "If the Soviets detect that as we seek to reduce tensions, we also reduce our ability to withstand nuclear attack, they will even more boldly challenge United States interests."

Emergency planning currently is conducted by three federal agencies — the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency, the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration and the Federal Preparedness Agency — in conjunction with state and local authorities.

Shafer noted these shortcomings:

- The 1977 federal budget would ban DCPA funds from being used to combat natural disasters which highly populated areas receive as excellent training for combating the disaster of a Soviet attack.
- "Dual use" emergency planning is also an incentive for participation by states, he said.
- Some states, like California, criticize federal planning as inadequate and have refused to join in national emergency programs.
- In 1972, DCPA discontinued federal marking of shelters for lack of funds. At the end of 1975, only 23 per cent of the nation's communities had done their own marking. Only 12 per cent of communities had stocked facilities. Evacuees would be expected to bring food with them.
- Most of the nation's shelters are in urban areas and might be destroyed in event of an attack. DCPA is drawing up plans for "expedient" shelters — hastily existing structures with dirt piled on roofs for increased protection.

Accidents injure 3 TF men

TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls men were being treated at Magye Valley Memorial Hospital today for injuries received in two separate traffic accidents Sunday.

In fair condition were Dave D. Andrus, 21, and Robert Martin Jr., 20. Andrus suffered apparent shoulder and pelvic injuries, a hospital spokesman said. Martin suffered shoulder and back injuries and is being observed for possible internal injuries.

The third man, Gilbert Sanchez, 38, was reported in poor condition with 3 fractured knee cap.

According to Sheriff's office reports, Andrus and Martin were injured about 1 a.m. Sunday when a car owned by Martin but being driven by Andrus left Eastland Drive North, hit a telephone pole and rolled over.

Deputies said the vehicle was heading south on Eastland when Sanchez was struck when Andrus apparently accelerated and then lost control of the vehicle. The car crossed the center line, skidded sideways and hit the telephone pole throwing both men free, deputies said. The vehicle then rolled over once.

Sanchez was injured about 9 p.m. Sunday when the motorcycle he was riding hit a "hike" while Sanchez was negotiating a curve from Marcland Ave. onto Adams St. The bike tipped over and skidded into a curb injuring Sanchez, police reported.

TF man arrested

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man remained in the Twin Falls County Jail today on charges of assaulting a police officer and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Arnold Dean Ringenberg, 31, was arrested early Sunday morning by Twin Falls police, who reportedly saw him driving in a dangerous manner.

According to police reports, Ringenberg was arrested for drunken driving and returned to the police station.

Challis grazing impact papers to cost $400,000

SALMON — Drafting of a grazing environmental impact statement and allotment management plans for the Challis Planning Unit of the Bureau of Land Management has cost an estimated $400,000, BLM officials report.

William Mathews, state BLM director, said the cost included the gathering of a lot of additional data for the two surveys.

"The process has been very costly in money and manpower and has adversely affected the BLM's base program because of loss of funds and manpower," he said.

The Challis Planning Unit is the first of 212 grazing units under the BLM for which environmental impact statements are required as the result of a court-imposed ruling growing out of a suit against the Department of Interior by the National Resources Defense Council and others in October, 1973.

The schedule agreed upon calls for preparation of the 212 statements over a 13-year period.

The BLM has asked for an extension of time until Oct. 8, 1978, to complete the Challis process. The original deadline is June 30.

Public hearings on the environmental impact statement draft are scheduled July 13 in Challis and July 15 in Boise.

Curt Berkland, national director of the Bureau of Land Management, who toured the Challis Planning Unit June 21, said the unit's environmental impact statement was one of the toughest because of the many uses in the area.

"After getting through this one the others should be easier. We have put a lot of effort into this one," he noted.

"We should be spending all this money on land improvements but the law requires us to develop these impact statements. There will be changes as a result in use patterns and the studies will identify areas needing change."

Berkland said drafting of the statements and allotment grazing management plans for all 212 units is expected to cost $80 million.

The next grazing unit to be undertaken will be in the Shoshone District.

Mathews said that after the public hearings, the BLM will allow two more weeks for public comments.

"We will consider every comment and based on these we will modify the draft statement to the extent warranted," Mathews explained.

"We then will submit a final draft to the Council of Environmental Quality, a citizens group, for review and whether the statement meets the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act. The council chairman is Russell Train."

"We then will begin to implement the grazing management plans and will start where the range users are in agreement with us. This will include building of fences and development of springs."

"Where there is still disagreement we will sit down with the allottees and see if other arrangements can be reached. If not, we will sue. Anyone who feels the proposals unwarranted so we then will generate additional data to make a decision."

"Hopefully those who disagree will agree on the planning approach and we hope with time they can look across the fence and see progress, see a desire to proceed to accomplish the objectives desired by the most people."

Mathews said range users in the Challis Planning Unit "don't have to worry about something being jammed down their throats."

Cassia contests set

BURLEY — The Cassia County 4-H practice judging contest will be here July 8 and in Albion July 9.

The practice judging will begin at 2 p.m. each day in the county agent's meeting room at Burley on July 8 and at the Albion Grange Hall on July 9.

Members of 4-H may attend either session. Junior and senior divisions will be held at the same time.

Practice demonstration day for the county will be July 30.

The demonstrations will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the extension meeting room in Burley. Constructive comments will be made on the demonstrations to help 4-H members prepare for competition at the Cassia County Fair.

Members planning demonstrations can call the county agent's office to schedule a time for presentation of their practice demonstration.

Irrigation restored

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI) — Irrigation service has been restored to almost 90 per cent of the 400,000 acres of southeast Idaho farmlands damaged by the Tetan flood, Don Phillips, Bureau of Reclamation emergency coordinator said Sunday.

Phillips said water service to 95 per cent of the affected area should be restored by Monday.

He said there has been a minimum of crop damage due to the canal systems being out of service.

Thirty-seven of the 65 affected canal systems are now operational. Phillips said, and 23 additional 18 are under construction. He said work hasn't begun on eight badly damaged systems in the hard-hit Rexburg area.

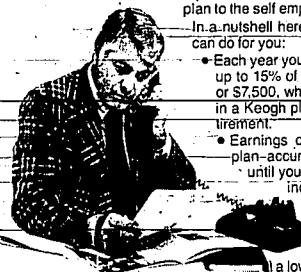

Self-Employed? First Federal's Keogh Retirement Plan Can Save You $3750* In Taxes This Year!

What Keogh is.

The federal Keogh Act establishes a framework for the establishment of an improved tax-sheltered retirement plan to the self-employed.

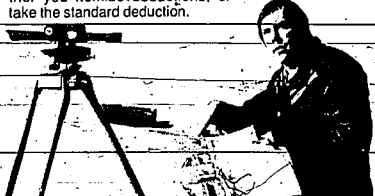

In a nutshell here's what Keogh can do for you:

- Each year you can contribute up to 15% of earned income or $7,500, whichever is less, in a Keogh plan, for your retirement.
- Earnings on your Keogh plan—accumulate tax-free until you retire. You pay income tax only after you retire, when you will likely be in a lower tax bracket.

How the Keogh Plan works.

Each year you may contribute $7,500 or up to 15% of earned income, whichever is less. If you happen to have a bad year you may reduce your contribution to 100% of earned income or $750, whichever is less. You may deduct 100% of your Keogh contribution (up to 15% or $7,500) each year from gross income, no matter whether you itemize deductions, or take the standard deduction.

- The Keogh dollars you invest for your retirement are 100% tax-deductible (up to $7,500) each year.
- Your Keogh investment cuts your taxes for the current year — up to $3,750* for an individual in the 50% tax bracket, for example.
- The income earned by your Keogh funds is also exempt from federal income taxes until you begin withdrawals from the account.

Starting your Keogh Plan.

To receive tax credit in the current year you must open your Keogh account by December 31st. You then have until April 15th of the following year, to determine the amount of your contribution and deposit it into your Keogh account.

Who is eligible.

Any self-employed individual can start a Keogh plan. Included are sole proprietorships, partnerships, farmers, ranchers and professional people, such as accountants, attorneys, architects, dentists, doctors, engineers, etc.

How benefits are paid.

You may not withdraw funds from your plan without penalty, before age 59½. You must start withdrawals before age 70½. Your Keogh withdrawals may be spread out over your retirement years or taken in a lump sum. Either way the retirement law provides a new tax break to minimize taxes on your funds.

Flea hunting sends trapper to knees

GUNNISON, Colo. (UPI)

Recent reports of bubonic plague had health department investigator Ted Davis crawling through dusty campgrounds, flea hunting with a coat hanger, a bundle of rags and a spray gun.

Davis was trapping fleas for testing at the federal government's Center for Disease Control lab in Fort Collins, while keeping an eye out for any tell-tale mass deaths of plague-carrying chipmunks, ground squirrels and rock chucks.

A Pueblo woman survived the plague last month and the death of a Colorado Springs man June 15 initially was believed to be caused by a type of bubonic plague transmitted by a tick he picked up while camping near Gunnison.

Davis was hunting for fleas one day after the death was reported. He climbed out of his car at Curecanti Creek 35 miles west of Gunnison, and fished around in the back for the white flannel rags he uses to swab rodent burrows.

"The entomologist peered into each chuckle, looking for fleas, which are not easy to find. That's one reason Davis doesn't concern himself with being infected. In 10 years with the Colorado Health Department he has not even caught tick fever, let alone the plague."

"I don't worry about it too much," he said. "It's a lot harder to catch than you might think. Fleas just don't feed on us."

Davis shoved the flannel rag into a burrow with the unbent toothhanger. The insects were later ground and tested at the lab, along with the carcasses of two dead squirrels and a rabbit he found in Fremont County.

The day after Davis spent hours poking around in gopher holes, the health department announced the Colorado Springs man died of something other than the plague.

Gov. Dick Lamm still asked the Environmental Protection Agency for permission to use DDT on burrows because of the rapid spread of rodent plague.

On June 21, permission was granted, and the Colorado Air National Guard picked up two tons of the poison, the same day.

Spraying began June 24, and a health department spokesman said it will continue until all burrows at high use recreational areas of six counties are dusted.

Beef animal study due

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)

Two University of Wyoming animal science professors have received a $45,000 federal grant to study the reproductive habits of beef cow.

The Department of Agriculture's Cooperative State Research Service awarded the two-year grant to Collier C. Kallenbach and Thomas G. Dunn.

"They want to determine the hormone patterns of the cows because the animals have a habit of calving late in the year following their first calving. The late calves are underweight so ranchers receive less money for them," Kallenbach and Dunn said.

The outlook for Thursday, cooler.
Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley:
Slight chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers. Turning cooler with strong gusty winds and a chance of thundershowers Wednesday. Overnight lows to 50. Highs Wednesday near 80.
The outlook for Thursday, cooler.
Synopsis:
Hot southerly flow will continue over southern Idaho today. High temperatures will climb well into the 90s in most areas with a few 100-degree readings in some of the warmer areas. High readings Monday saw Mountain Home, Boise and Emmett reporting over 100 degrees and King Hill topping 105.
Cooler temperatures are on the way as a Pacific cold front now off the Oregon and California coast moves inland during the day. This front will move through Idaho Wednesday, lowering daytime temperatures at least 10 to 15 degrees along with a few thundershowers and strong gusty winds.
The hazy outlook through Saturday calls for thundershowers Wednesday and Thursday, becoming dry by Friday and Saturday with gusty afternoon winds through the period. High temperatures will lower into the 70s with lows generally in the 40s.

Taipei buys air defense system from Hughes firm

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) — Nationalist China, in one of the largest single defense contracts ever signed with the United States, has purchased a multimillion dollar air defense system, informed sources in Taiwan and Washington said Monday.
The $4 million system is being provided by the Hughes Aircraft Corp. under a private agreement signed with Nationalist Chinese defense officials, the sources said.
Although there apparently is no direct involvement of the U.S. Government, the contract could not have been signed without Washington's approval. Signing of the secret agreement "was delayed, in fact, for a considerable time because of differences between officials of the department of state and defense in Washington, according to sources in Taiwan."
(In Washington, State Department officials confirmed conclusion of the sale of $4 million Hughes Air Defense System to the Nationalist government. Officials said the system was "purely defensive" and did not signal any change in current U.S. policy towards Taiwan or Peking. Sale of the system is being financed partly by U.S. foreign military sales credits, commercial credits and Nationalist Chinese resources.)
The American military spokesman declined to say whether the dwindling U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) would have any involvement with the project, which will take several years to complete. MAAG, which once numbered more than 2,000 personnel, is now down to less than 50.
The Hughes air defense system being installed on Taiwan is compatible with the system presently being used in Japan. Hughes also is negotiating with Seoul for sale of a similar system to South Korea.
The last major military contract between the United States and Nationalist China was for the production of F5E fighter jets in Taiwan.

Gem wheat budget set

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Wheat Commission approved a $519,000 1976-77 budget and elected Wynne Henderson, Nezperce, chairman during the June meeting in Boise.
Jean Smith was elected vice chairman and Keith Amodeo, Albion, was sworn in for his second five-year term by Idaho Supreme Court Justice Joseph McFadden.
The new budget includes $182,000 for research projects and $51,000 for continuation of the "Idaho Farmer" advertising program.
Calf care explained
FILER — Susan Swanson dominated caring-for-and-feeding calves at the Silver Post Pioneers 4-H Club meeting Saturday evening.
Paula Seaman led the pledge of allegiance and Sonia Lieberman led the 4-H pledge.
Tawna Blades demonstrated bridling and saddling horses. The group discussed a barbecue and hayride at 4-H camp the past week.
Miss Swanson served refreshments.
The group will meet July 3 at the Robert Seaman home.

Impact of power plant under study

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The Bureau of Land Management said today it has started an assessment of the environmental impact of plans by Sierra Pacific Power Company to build a $72 million coal-fired power plant 35 miles southeast of Winnemucca.
Ed Rowlands, Nevada chief of the BLM, said part of the project involves felling lands and the agency is required to assess its environmental effects.
Sierra plans two 250-megawatt coal-fired electricity generating units, collectively called the North Valley Station. Also being studied are several power line corridors to carry the electricity to the Ming Lamu substation southeast of here and Austin substation in Lander County.

SEATTLE — The U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) today announced the availability in Washington, D. C. of a new, inflationary impact statement dealing with its proposed job health standard on inorganic arsenic.
The report was prepared by Arthur Young & Co. under a contract with the Department of Labor. It assesses the economic and potential inflationary effects, and the technological feasibility of the rule on inorganic arsenic proposed by OSHA Jan. 21, 1975.
In a notice in the Federal Register, OSHA also is seeking public comment by July 21, 1976, concerning certain new evidence and concerning the effect of the proposed standard on the following:
— Cost impact on consumers, businesses, markets, or Federal, state or local government.
— Compensation, and productivity of wage earners, businesses or government.
— Supplies of important materials, products or services.
— Employment and supply or demand.
The report, as well as new evidence being considered, are available for inspection and copying at the OSHA Technical Data Center, Room N-320, U.S. Department of Labor, 3rd St. and Constitution Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. Telephone 202-523-6076.
Comments on the report and on the new evidence should be submitted by July 23 to the Docket Officer, Docket No. OSH-137 at the OSHA Technical Data Center.
OSHA also is announcing it has set Aug. 24 as the beginning date of a public hearing to receive oral testimony concerning the report and the new evidence. Requests to make oral presentations at the hearing should be sent by July 23 to the OSHA Committee Management Office, Docket No. OSH-17, Room N-322 U.S. Department of Labor, 3rd St. and Constitution Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

Electric rates high? Compared to what?

Consolidated Edison, $68.18 New York →

Let's light up some dark areas and talk about Idaho Power Company's residential rates in relation to the rest of the country.

The national average is $32.11 for 1000 kilowatt hours of residential electricity. Idaho Power's residential rate is $19.56 for 1000 kilowatt hours — $12.55 less than the national average.

Residential billing comparisons for all of the major investor-owned and tax-paying electric companies point to the fact that Idaho Power's rates are among the very lowest in the nation.

Only five other companies, in fact, have lower rates.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

The shotgun wedding scene has been a cartoonist's delight for many a moon. This bride is in matrimony clothes. The groom's scarp nearly to death, is looking over his shoulder. The bride's stern father behind them cradles a twelve-gauge or his arm. What's wrong with this fantasy, however, is that no shotgun wedding is legal. No matter what the condition of the bride, any groom so coerced into such a ceremony could get an annulment, zap. Am having trouble finding any record of that ever happening.

What, you can't identify the four-state capital cities named after United States presidents? Here's a hint: Jackson, Miss.; Jefferson, Mo.; Lincoln, Neb.; and Madison, Wis. Some hint.

Order, broccoli in Great Britain and what you get is cauliflower.

MONEY MATTERS

Q. "In money matters, what's meant by 'The Three C's'?"
A. That's a term used by the credit experts. Capital, capacity to pay, and collectibility. Of the three, capacity to pay is generally thought to be the most important, capital the least.

Q. "Louie, who was the fastest swimmer you ever saw?"
A. Credit for that distinction must be divided evenly among five young men, three exact identities unknown. They were cawing around in a creek pond behind a mud dam. Some sadist tossed a bull snake into their midst, and yelled, "water moccasin!"

THE HARD FACTS

In the Soviet Union, the most common breakfast, besides coffee, is apple cider. Excellent, excellent... Was none other than the only elite who deemed about marins as "sips that pass the night"... "Hudson seal" is fur cry from real seal, my dear. It's muskrat... It's not the cold but the frictional heat that makes a slide, please note. Ice skates, too... Were you aware that there are shoes on the market with pockets in them for the benefit of nudists?

Add to the Proper Job Club membership, too, Mr. Burl Wood of Lindsay, Calif. He's a carver who cuts artistic figures out of wood burl.

In Wyoming, about 11.8 per cent of the new-born lambs get killed every year by one sort of animal or another. In Ohio, about 11.2 per cent likewise so get killed. In Wyoming, wolves and coyotes are blamed, usually. But there aren't all that many wolves and coyotes in Ohio. The wildlife boys cite the statistics from these two states to prove that feral dogs are really the culprits nationwide. No argument here!

FUNNY-BUSINESS By Roger Bollen

NO, SIR... I HAVE NOTHING AGAINST BEING TRANSFERRED TO ANOTHER OFFICE.

I JUST NATURALLY ASSUMED THAT IT WOULD BE ONE OF OURS.

Vern Craner sees that you get enough facts to make the right decision.

Buying a new car isn't anything to take lightly. That's why Vern Craner arms his prospects with all the facts and figures at his disposal. And that, fortunately, happens to be a lot. To show a customer what he's getting and what's available on a particular car, he uses the Chevrolet Information Center, a collection of easy-to-read panels providing pertinent information as dimensions, color choice, available equipment and available options. Then, to show a specific car in action or demonstrate certain features, he may run a Mini-Theater film or two right in our showroom. Ask him a question and chances are, he won't refer to anything. He'll know the answer right off because he's thoroughly knowledgeable about the Chevrolets he sells, inside and out. If you're thinking about buying a new car, come in and see one of our helpful Chevrolet salesmen. He'll help you select a car that's just right for you.

Our salesmen like people. Chevrolet
