26 mustangs found dead in Utah

DUGWAY, Utah (UPI) — Twenty-six wild horses have been found dead at a waterhole on the Dugway Proving Grounds in the Cedar Mountain range of western Utah, according to the Army.

Sixteen others were found ill at the Orr Springs waterhole on the western slope of the mountains.

The cause has not been determined. Dugway Prov. Ground spokesman Steve Horan said Tuesday, "Dugway has not conducted open air tests with toxic agents or noxious materials since 1969."

Hijackers hit

CHICAGO (Daily News) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has renewed the United States' call for an international agreement to curb hijacking and terrorism. Some of Kissinger's comments in an address were interpreted as a defense of Israel's successful rescue of 104 hostages in Uganda this past weekend. He called it "an unprecedented act" but emphasized the need for international cooperation to halt hijackings.

Pamplona's bulls leave 3 injured

PAMPLONA, Spain (UPI) — Fighting bulls today chased hundreds of persons through the narrow streets of Pamplona — injuring three of them — in the traditional early morning event known as San Fermín.

It was the first "running of the bulls" of the week-long festival which is famous for its bullfighting, singing, dancing and drinking in the streets described in Ernest Hemingway's novel "The Sun Also Rises."

The fighting bulls, which will face the toreros in the afternoon, are released from the corrals on the outskirts of town and run through barricaded streets to the bullring.

Job bill veto fight looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and the Democratic majority in Congress are engaged in a new veto fight over public works jobs.

Ford won the last battle on that issue. But the Democrats believe this time they have the edge. Each side accuses the other of playing politics over a bill that will affect America's seven million unemployed.

The President Tuesday vetoed his $20 billion bill against a $15-billion bill which Democrats say would create or preserve up to 350,000 jobs.

It would provide $2 billion for public works projects ready to start within 90 days; designed to create jobs mainly in the construction industry.

It would give $5 billion in dredging and coastal governments hard hit by recession to keep them from having to reduce services and lay off employees.

It would provide $500 million for water treatment plants in states which feel they were shortchanged in an earlier allocation of antipollution money.

Ford vetoed a $1-billion version of the same bill in February. The reasons he gave Tuesday were the same as then; the bill would create at most about half the number of jobs claimed, the average cost per job would be $2,000 and they could not be lasting jobs, and the peak impact would not come for 18 months, when it would overwhelm a still-ailing economy and cause inflation.

"The signs are unmistakable," Ford said.

"Four months before a national election, Congress is moving full-speed ahead down the road to bigger and blander giveaway programs," Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., rallied Ford's veto "bad economic policy, callous social policy and an apparent attempt to win conservative delegates to the Republican national convention."

The House voted to override the February veto but the Senate fell three votes short of the necessary two-thirds.

A vote on the new bill cannot come before Congress reconvenes July 19 after a two-week recess. But there were several indications the outcome could be different this time:

— Both houses passed the scaled-down bill by more than two-thirds majorities, 70-25 in the Senate and 320-83 in the House.

— Last week, assistant Senate Republican leader Robert Griffin, who helped lead the fight to uphold the February veto but whose state of Michigan has one of the highest unemployment rates in the country, switched sides and announced he would vote to override on this bill.

— Unemployment rose from 7.2 percent in May to 7.5 percent in June.

— Supporters of the bill have smoothed over a jurisdictional dispute which cost them several votes in February.

— The budget aid to localities would be distributed more widely than in the previous version, perhaps giving it more appeal.

TF council appoints panel for O'Leary closing appeal

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council Tuesday night approved the appointment of a five-member all-panel panel to hear the appeal of the closure of O'Leary Junior High School.

The move quickly snagged today, however, when it appeared that at least one of the appointees was not fit able to serve and a replacement would have to be made.

Mayor Paul Owyen made the appointments last night at the close of the city council's regular meeting.

With the approval of the council he named engineer Paul Newton, hardware store owner Rudy Ashenbrenner, jeweler Howard Allen, accountant John Peterman, and veterinarian D.

Jackson to the appeals board.

Under the city's dangerous building code, the appeals board can take up to 60 days to hear the appeal by the second district of the closure of O'Leary as a fire hazard.

The school district appealed the closure Friday on the last day of its deadline under code procedure. In its appeal, the school district attacked the city's closure of the old school, having been built without adequate, fair and reasonable notice.

School director attorney Fred Decker charged that the abrupt announcement of the closure by Fire Marshal Fred Higgins left the school district unprepared to make repairs in the building or plan for double-shifting of the school's almost 3,000 students in time for the opening of school in late August.

Decker said Monday that he hoped the city would appoint an appeals board and that the hearings could be underway by the week of July 19.

While the city acted with dispatch in making the appointments, last night, the move stalled "today when it was learned that one of the appointees, Jackson, was out of town on business and would be gone for at least a month and possibly until the first of November."

City manager Jim Milar said this morning that he was sure the city would "move as rapidly as we can" to replace Jackson so as to create any undue burden on the school district. But he also noted that the school district had "used the full 30 days to make the appeal."

Asked if this meant that the city would drastic action on making a reappointment or attempting to get the appeal quickly underway, Milar said, "The city will move as quickly as we can so as not to create any uneasiness on the part of anyone."

Ostyn was not available for comment on the need for a reappointment, but councilman Leon Smith said he thought a reappointment could be made without a formal council meeting. He said Ostyn could reappoint and then simply make a phone call to the council to get their approval.

Ostyn had said earlier that all the appointees had agreed to serve on the board, but he said they had been contacted several weeks ago.

Today, Ashenbrenner and Allen, the only appointees who could be contacted, indicated they would serve on the board.

Ashenbrenner said he was hopeful the appointees could contact the school board today to "make some scheduling."

This is a real important problem," Ashenbrenner said, "and the quicker and sooner it's handled the better, but we don't want to rush into anything."

TF girl, 18, dies of injuries

APOCATELLO — Nancy Allen, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Allen, Twin Falls, died Tuesday in a Pocatello hospital of injuries suffered in an auto accident Sunday afternoon.

Pocatello police said Miss Allen was attempting a left turn on a one-way street when she apparently turned into the path of another vehicle traveling the same direction in the left lane.

Officers said the second vehicle, driven by Karen Wattenbarger, Las Vegas, Nev., struck the Allen vehicle on the driver's side. A passenger in Miss Allen's vehicle, Sandra K. Eldridge, 20, Twin Falls, was also hospitalized with leg injuries and cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred at the intersection of South Fourth Street, a one-way street, and Logan Street.

Bulletproof vest sales climbing, makers report

© Chicago Sun-Times

CHICAGO — Sales of bulletproof vests to law enforcement officials are on the upswing, Chicago retailers report.

Richard Schreyer, manager of Kalo Uniform Co., said, "We've sold about 500 hundred in the last six months. Their popularity is spreading throughout the United States."

Marshal Elman, general manager of Advance Uniform Co., said, "Police officers security people buy them like insurance. They are life protectors."

Allen Furkas of Brown's Industrial Uniforms, said, "he expects even more police officers to purchase the protective garment because of recent publicity about an FBI agent who escaped injury in a shooting because he was wearing a bulletproof vest."

The FBI agent was Robert W. McCann Jr., who was the victim of a holdup attempt in an alley. Two bullets failed to penetrate his bulletproof vest.

"What happens is that a图案man will get shot and will be saved by wearing a vest, then other policemen decide to purchase a vest," Furkas said.

Another reason to buy is pressure from wives.

Furkas said, "Some law-enforcement officers say they are buying the vests because 'my wife wants me to' get this.' It's a way of reassuring the wife that her husband is safe," he added.

Chicago police say some officers in almost all police districts wear the protective devices.

Patrolman Richard Gorski, assigned to the South Side Kensington District station, said, "They wear them so they may stay alive. You never know when you're going to get shot."

It's imagined in all districts some guys are wearing them especially in special operations units such as a task force that is assigned to lower crime rates in an area," he said.

Howard Pierson of the North Side Shakespeare District said most of the officers on late-night shifts in that district wear the vests.

"I've got one. I wear it when I patrol the high crime areas," he said.

Sgt. David Moze, director of news affairs for the Chicago Police Department, said the department within the last two years has conducted studies on bulletproof vests.

Moze would not divulge the purpose or the conclusions of the studies.

He said the Police Department does not pay for the vests of police officers who desire to wear them. However, an officer's $250 annual allowance for equipment and clothing may be used to purchase vests.

Report locates leaks

BOISE (UPI) — Bureau of Reclamation records indicate one of three leaks discovered before collapse of the Teton Dam June 5 was located 300 feet from the bottom of the structure between the dam and the spillway and was spewing water at about 20 gallons a minute.

Wallace Chadwick, chairman of an independent committee investigating the failure, said he was not aware that one leak was between the dam and the spillway.

Chadwick said he would not have been "partially alarmed" by the leak's location unless the water was muddy, showing signs of erosion. He said location of the leak is a factor to be considered.

Dam Project Manager Robert Robinson reported he was not more concerned about the leak's proximity to the dam because it flowed clear water which indicated no erosion of the structure.

Bureau records showed the other two leaks discovered prior to the disaster which unleashed 80 billion gallons of water into the Upper Snake River Valley, causing 11 deaths and an estimated $1 billion damage, were "well downstream from the dam" and presented no hazard.

The two leaks were discovered in Teton Canyon's north wall two days before the dam broke. One leak was about 2,000 feet from the bottom of the dam and flowed at 60 gallons per minute while the other was about 1,500 feet from the bottom of the dam and flowed at 40 gallons per minute.

The third leak was discovered the day before the dam collapsed.

Hike OK'd

EPA says no gas danger

SEATTLE, WASH. (UPI) — Material pilings from a now-closed uranium mill are emitting the radioactive gas Tuesday radioactive gas radon-222.

Stepping from a uranium waste pile near Lowman, Idaho, presents little danger because of the pile's size, location and composition.

Ed Cowan, regional radiation representative for the EPA, said the waste material pilings from a now-closed uranium mill are emitting the radioactive gas radon-222.

"But the greatest hazard area is in close proximity to the pile," he said. "Danger decreases greatly as you move a little farther away from it."

Cowan said the Lowman

and no people live near it or come in direct contact with the piles.

"We have the area fenced with a gate and there aren't any trees around so I doubt anyone would try to camp there," Cowan said.

The most severe effect of radon-222 could be an ultimate threat of increased lung cancer, Cowan said. "The hazard could be caused through inhalation of gaseous radon-222.

A recent report by the EPA showed that the potentially dangerous gas was seeping

from 21 uranium mill tailings piles in eight western states.

Cowan said the seepage can be prevented or greatly lessened

by burying the piles under

10 to 20 feet of dirt, which acts as a barrier and keeps the gas from escaping into the air.

Cowan said the EPA is investigating corrective

measures for all of the piling

sites. "We have an ongoing

trial for an inactive tailing

site," he said. "We're trying to determine what's different about the site and what will cause it to stop emitting."

When the trial resumes it will be less two weeks.

Misdemeanor charges were to vestigating corrective

measures for all of the piling

sites. "We have an ongoing

trial for an inactive tailing

site," he said. "We're trying to determine what's different about the site and what will cause it to stop emitting."

The first phase of the project, identifying what's done, is over," Cowan said.

"Now the second phase is to determine the cost to correct

the problem, which will probably mean stabilizing the

Auto sales surge abandons foreign makes

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. auto industry in the first half of 1976 sharply pulled out of a two-year slump and, in the process, turned many buyers away from foreign cars.

The four U.S. automakers Tuesday reported their sales in their first six months of the year, capped by a 29 per cent gain in June, were up 36 per cent over the first half a year ago for the best showing "since 1972." It was the fourth highest first-half in history.

Imports, with few notable exceptions among the Japanese models, dropped 16 per cent in the first half and took just under 14 per cent of total U.S. car sales in the six-month period. That compares with a record 20.3 per cent of all sales last year when soaring gasoline prices and a U.S. recession sent many Americans looking for economy models.

"Import sales" in June were an estimated 126,000 cars, down 19 per cent on a daily sales basis from just over 150,000 last June. Sales in the first half totaled 205,375 cars, compared with 184,225 a year ago.

"The imports seem to have lost some of their glamour," one industry analyst said. "Besides that, small cars sales in general are soft and their price tags are no longer in the economy range."

Of the top eight imports, only four were able to improve on their 1975 pace during the first six months of 1976 and only the top-selling Toyota and the mini-Honda models set June sales records. Volkswagen, the longtime import leader, slipped 42 per cent from a year ago and was lodged in third spot well behind second-place Datsun.

Riding the crest of renewed demand for mid-size, the standard family sedan and luxury models, the "Big Three" automakers posted strong sales gains during the first half of the year. Only American Motors, tied to the small car, saw its sales slip.

"Back in January, we sure didn't expect the recovery to be quite as strong as it's been," one auto company analyst said. "The first half was definitely stronger than we expected."

GM General Motors reported a 27 per cent gain in June and finished the first half up 42 per cent from a year ago. Reflecting the renewed interest in larger cars, GM's luxury Oldsmobile and Cadillac divisions set six-month sales marks and GM sales accounted for 34.8 per cent of domestic sales, compared with 32.8 per cent last year.

Ford was up 43.5 per cent for June and 30 per cent for the six-month period; Chrysler, hardest hit by the slump, improved 31 per cent in June and 44 per cent for the first half; and American Motors, caught in a small car sales slump, declined 37 per cent in June and finished the first half off 17.5 per cent from a year ago.

Probers link explosives to JFK's death

© Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — In the early summer of 1963, two shipments of explosives were secretly hauled from Collinville, Ill., to anti-Castro Cuban exiles in Miami and New Orleans.

These arms may have been linked to the assassination of President Kennedy by Lee Harvey Oswald in November of that year. Senate investigators have now concluded.

It is possible, the recent Senate intelligence committee report suggests, that knowledge of plans for a guerrilla attack on Cuba involving these arms and other weapons may have contributed to a decision by Oswald or even by Castro's top political officials to kill President Kennedy in retaliation.

It is certain, the committee declared, that a key FBI document on the weapons running from Collinville was withheld by the FBI from the Warren Commission, which investigated the Kennedy assassination.

FBI suppression of its information about the source, destination and purpose of the dynamite and other devices from Collinville was cited by the Senate committee as an important example of FBI efforts to protect its public image by hiding facts about the FBI's alleged laxity in checking "Oswald" before the assassination.

The Senate investigators also established a link between the Collinville "dynamite, American underworld-plots against Fidel Castro, and CIA attempts to achieve Castro's assassination.

The dynamite shipment to Miami in June, 1963, was intended for a bombing raid on Shell oil refinery in Cuba, the FBI document said. It was financed by a "former gambling operator" in Havana and was carried out in part by a Cuban brain identified in the Senate report merely as "A."

"A" was also the purchaser of 2,400 pounds of dynamite and 20 bomb casings in Collinville that were also to be dropped on Cuban targets, the FBI document said.

The dynamite was seized again in Washington government files—in 1965, long after completion of the Warren Commission investigation of the Kennedy assassination—as having knowledge of CIA's 1963 contacts with "Amash," the code name for a high Castro official, about killing Castro with a poison bullet and/or a telephone rifle.

The committee implied that the FBI wanted to divert the Warren Commission from digging too deeply into Oswald's highly suspicious activities before he killed Kennedy.

On Aug. 5, Oswald, who was living in New Orleans, offered his "help" to Bringuier—and on Aug. 7 he presented his Marine Corps training manual to Bringuier's group. But two days later, Bringuier saw Oswald passing out pro-Castro literature and a fight breakout between the two.

The Senate report said Bringuier "believed" Oswald was attempting to infiltrate the anti-Castro movement in order to report its activities to pro-Castro forces.

The anti-Castro activities included the plans for bombing raids with the Collinville explosives, the Senate report said.

On Nov. 22, 1963, the day Oswald killed President Kennedy, "Amash" was meeting in Europe with a top CIA official and was told he would be furnished with a rifle and explosives to kill Castro.

The Senate committee stressed in its recent report that it had found no evidence to justify a conclusion that there was a conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy.

But the committee also charged that the FBI and CIA fully informed about the CIA assassination plots.

LOS ANGELES — Ronald Reagan, far from assured of the Republican presidential nomination, looked beyond his challenge to President Ford Tuesday and aimed his rhetorical guns at Jimmy Carter, the apparent Democratic nominee.

Without naming the Georgian, Reagan left no doubt about his target in a 30-minute, paid national telecast when he addressed to "those whose approach to government combines soothing rhetoric, pleasant smiles, and reorganization jingles."

It was the former California governor's first formal attack on Carter, though in the past, in response to questions, he has said that the Democrat was vague on the issues. It was a theme Reagan emphasized in a speech taped for delivery Tuesday night.

"You can't get to the heart of an issue by being vague about it," he said. "And you don't discipline an irresponsible and wasteful Congress by putting an indulgent friend in the White House."

"I'm not asking you to help me because I say, 'Trust me, don't ask questions, and everything will be fine,'" Reagan said. "I ask you to be realistic."

Decision hurts 'equal justice'

The ways of the Supreme Court are indeed wondrous.

In a crucial decision 15 years ago, the high court had ruled that evidence seized illegally could be excluded from a trial, and provided that federal courts could review decisions made by state courts.

But Tuesday the Supreme Court appears to have reversed itself.

In its new ruling, the court says defendants have no constitutional right to appeal their state court convictions to the federal courts when the appeal is based on a claim of illegally seized evidence.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, who wrote the majority opinion, did make a strong argument—which is likely to find wide acceptance. He argued that federal review of illegal search and rescue questions "defeats the truthfinding process and often frees the guilty."

When applied indiscriminately, concern for suspect rights in such cases "may well have the opposite effect of generating disrespect for the law and the administration of justice," he wrote.

While the court is correct in saying the guilty sometimes go free when concern for the suspect's rights is applied unreasonably while overall questions of justice are ignored, we do wonder whether the concept of "equal justice for all" should be abandoned in this nation.

In effect, the high court has loosened each state to decide its own standards for seizure of evidence. Without a common federal standard on the constitutional question of how evidence may be gathered, the separate states can be expected to follow separate interpretations.

The result will be different standards of justice in New York City and Twin Falls as state courts develop their unique interpretations.

The decision is a blow to the notion of a common standard of justice throughout the land.

We're in hock

Wall Street Journal

We've just been looking at two studies, one by an economist and the other by an attorney.

The first estimates the total net wealth of the After-tax people at $5.7 trillion.

The second, we suppose by coincidence, shows that the federal government would need that much or more to meet all its obligations if they all came due at once.

Now, they will not all come due at once, of course. Most, such as the benefits the government has promised anyone holding a Social Security card, are long-term obligations. But the fact that Congress has made promises to pay out a sum equivalent to all the stocks, bonds, bank accounts, land, buildings, highways, machinery, gold or what have you in the country is of more than academic interest.

First, it is added, evidence, if any is needed, of federal profligacy. Second, it helps explain why the United States economy has developed a disturbing bias towards inflation. Those obligations don't all come due at once, but they do come due, and government characteristically meets them partly by inflating the currency.

As we've said here before, Social Security is not funded in any real sense, but is merely an income transfer from workers to the retired and disabled. These greater benefits have promised to future retirees will only be met by imposing greater taxes on the future work force.

As the obligations pile up, so do the pressures to inflate. And they have been piling up.

The government now guarantees loans to students to pay college tuition, to farmers to finance conservation projects, to corporations taking certain commercial and political risks abroad, and to a total of some 30 programs. On top of that are 20 odd insurance programs. And on top of that are international commitments, such as unpaid authorizations to invest in the World Bank, Asian Development Bank and the like, and undjudged claims of individuals or corporations who say the government owes them money.

Does the government? The answer is yes.

Congress in its peculiar mind set of the last decade has piled up commitment after commitment as if the nation's resources were as boundless as the universe. As that wealth study we cited at the beginning shows, they are finite.

The upshot: we are a rich country indeed, but a country that is nonetheless heavily in hock.

Too expensive to fly

State plane stayed home

BOISE — Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus flew to the National Governor's Conference Sunday but not in his highly touted state airplane.

The governor, his wife and three children, along with press secretary Chris Carlson and special assistant Joe Nagel boarded a commercial flight to Boise and soared off for the Hershey, Pa., convention.

Meanwhile, back in the capital, the newly-acquired $169,000 state plane remained firmly rooted to the ground.

Maybe the governor forgot he had a plane.

Until three weeks ago he didn't have it because the Republican-controlled legislature last session turned down the Democratic governor's request for the plane.

With the Teton Dam collapse as his excuse, Andrus unexpectedly pooled funds from a number of state agencies last month and bought a plane, anyway.

The Republicans immediately cried foul, claiming the governor had overextended his power.

You will remember Andrus mounted a defense of the purchase on grounds that the new plane will save Idaho taxpayers money in the long run.

With the new plane the governor said he and other state officials no longer will have to charter planes for official business or spend hours driving to their destinations.

That quieted the critics.

The governor's defense seemed to make sense.

Flying Idaho's own plane meant state officials didn't have to fritter away money buying tickets on other people's planes.

Apparently a lair economics isn't quite that simple!

With an air speed of only 220 miles per hour, the state-owned Navajo Chieftain would have taken 10 hours to travel across the continent.

A round trip from Boise to Pennsylvania would have totaled at least $1000 on the supposedly money-saving state plane.

Flying on a commercial jet, the governor and his wife paid only $173 for one-way tickets, a total of about $500 for the roundtrip.

This suggests the only way Idaho's new airplane saves money is by sitting on the ground.

Politicians never were too great at arithmetic.

But all is not lost.

If the National Governor's Conference ever comes back to Sun Valley, as it was in 1974, that new airplane will be given.

In the meantime, what the governor might consider is talking his family into helping share expenses on the small plane.

All four members of the Andrus family could have crammed into the state plane along with the governor and his aides and everybody could have flown like carolines to Hershey.

For the bargain price of only $2,000 the troops could have put the state airplane to use and saved $500 off the commercial fare the seven paid for their round-trip tickets.

All they would have given up was the transcontinental movie and the free dinner.

Small planes aren't bad on long trips.

Especially if you have a single bag along.

T-N comic applauded

Editor, Times-News:

We would like to respond to the letter written to the editor regarding the comic strip, "Downhome." We feel that the cartoon strip is entertaining and witty and not the least offensive to men or women.

Perhaps those who are offended are too closely identifying with the cartoon characters. If those who responded had really read the cartoon and looked at the pictures, they would have noticed that the "flat-chested, unattractive woman" was actually a little girl.

We should also remember that cartoon characters are always drawn in a "cartoon" manner.

We feel that it would be a sad situation if "people" could no longer make light of a situation or laugh at themselves. We notice that the cartoon strips regarding women are commented on but there is no mention of the cartoon strips regarding men! We as individuals have a right to voice our own opinions, so why take offense when a cartoon character voices his?

We do not all agree on everything, be it women's lib, the governor's airplane or what is or is not funny. Let's work more toward being "people" and not be so defensive about "women" and "men."

We encourage the Times-News to keep running "Downhome" on its agricultural page and hope that those who were offended by it consider that many of the situations were actual ones and should be laughed at rather than taken seriously.

Essays asked about mothers

Editor, Times-News:

I recently wrote to the Chamber of Commerce of Twin Falls asking why children had not been asked to discuss why their mothers had should be President. Ms. Viola Scott of that office wrote a very nice letter to me urging that I write to you about giving equal time to essays about mothers who are achievers.

I think Ms. Scott's idea is an excellent one. While this essay contest was for Father's Day, perhaps a similar one could be held for the Bicentennial in honor of equality for all—the purpose of our celebration.

As I told Ms. Scott, I am not a "crazy, New York radical." I am a social studies teacher interested in developing the full potential of everyone—male or female. It would be nice if, this year, we dedicated ourselves to helping all our children become the best possible adults.

"Coal Fired in Boise."

It's not just for the critics in Boise; it's for our movie too, as last Wednesday's preview will attest. Perhaps it's time we wrote our representatives to censor the up-and-coming filth and smut that really will deteriorate our children's minds.

At least let's have a point of view.

It's a movie we all may have to watch. Get the drift?

Editor, Times-News:

An open letter to Sheriff Paul Corder and the citizens of Twin Falls County:

I am a 19-year-old citizen of Twin Falls County who has been taught that law enforcement must be based upon honesty to be effective and fair. Though dishonesty in the ranks and file of police is not unknown, I still would like to believe that the average "blue in blue or gray" holds integrity as an important part of his character.

My major question is: Is running a 1976 political race for sheriff with a 1972 or even possibly 1968 campaign poster honest? The lettering is not that important—stamps don't change that much. People do! I believe having a current photograph is important.

I'm wondering, Sheriff Corder, what happened to that non-political, decent lawman?

Where did he go?

Labeling Justice Stevens difficult

© Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — Justice John Paul Stevens, concluding his first term on the Supreme Court, is proving to be a difficult man to label.

He has been on both sides of 54 decisions; unpredictable and unusually prolific for a first-term justice.

Stevens has been stern and prosecutorial-minded in most criminal cases and has shown little sympathy for the rights of public defendants.

He has taken a more liberal attitude toward the power of the federal government and Congress in dealing with the states. He has also, on several occasions at least, expressed support for First Amendment guarantees of free press.

While long regarded as "swing men," Justices Byron R. White and Potter Stewart often are aligned with the Nixon appointees on key rulings.

Stevens' first majority opinion—a bare 5-4 majority—came in a case involving a Civil Service Commission regulation in effect since 1963 that barred all aliens from all but a handful of most decisions.

The federal court had struck down the regulation as discriminatory.

On the same day, however, Stevens wrote for a unanimous court an opinion denying some Medicare benefits to aliens who have not been admitted for permanent residence or been in the country for five years.

The fact that Congress has provided some welfare benefits for citizens does not require it to provide like benefits for all, he wrote.

But Stevens dissented from one of the year's most controversial 5-4 rulings, which struck down federal wage-hour standards for state and local government employees.

Writing with at least part of his tongue in cheek, it seemed, Stevens spoke about a hypothetical janitor in a state capitol whose wages the majority decided could not be set by federal law.

The federal government may, he believed, require the state to act impartially when it hires or fires the janitor, to withhold taxes from his paychecks, to forbid him from burning too much coal in the Capitol furnace, and to ban driving the governor's limousine over 55 miles an hour.

Stevens began another opinion with a dramatic phrase: "After a brief interlude in an inexpensive motel room . . . and then described how a woman stabbed him to death."

In that case, Stevens wrote a 5-4 ruling that the woman had not deprived of a fair trial because the prosecutor did not disclose voluntarily that the victim had been convicted twice of assault with a knife.

Discussing the difficulty of discerning the motives of government officials, Stevens also wrote: "A law conscripting clerics should not be invalidated because an atheist voted for it."

Organized labor was outraged by Stevens' 5-4 ruling that a Marion, N.C., policeman was not entitled to a hearing or other constitutional safeguards even though he was fired for the wrong reasons by a city manager.

The federal court is not the appropriate forum in which to review the personnel decisions that are made daily by public agencies, Stevens wrote.

"We must accept the harsh fact that numerous individual mistakes are inevitable. The U.S. Constitution cannot feasibly be construed to require federal judicial review for every such error."

Steves dissented from a decision that allowed an Ohio suburb to require "approval" by referendum of any zoning changes.

"The popular vote is not an acceptable method of adjudicating the rights of individual litigants," he said.

On the big First-Amendment case, Stevens voted to strike down the "gag orders" imposed on Nebraska media by strike-down of a law ordering media to keep secret short of saying that judicial conduct should never be allowed.

In the major abortion ruling this term, Stevens agreed to strike down a Missouri law that gave a husband veto power over an abortion by his wife. But he dissented from the majority's finding that a similar veto power for parents also was not permitted by the constitutional right of privacy.

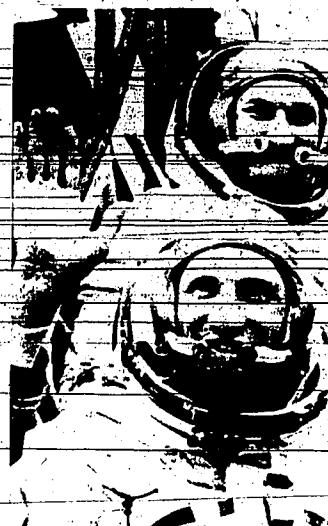

And on the landmark ruling which outlawed racial segregation of private schools, Stevens went along with misgivings.

Stevens said he disagreed with the court's interpretation of the law but disagreed with his vote against it because it would be "a significant step backwards" in civil rights law and not in accord with the "prevailing sense of justice."

One lawyer who is a student of the Supreme Court said Stevens was hard to categorize. On one day, the lawyer noted, Stevens took three dissenting. Two were with Rehnquist, the far-right justice, and one was with the liberal Brennan.

"He's not bashful and he has an independent frame of mind," the observer said. But he is really tough in cases involving criminal suspects and public employees."

Ready for launch

Soyuz crew heads for space linkup

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet cosmonauts took an eight-hour rest early today in their spacecraft racing toward an expected rendezvous with the orbiting Salyut 5 space station.

The Tass news agency said the two cosmonauts passed out of radio contact with Soviet ground controllers at 5 p.m. EDT Tuesday, about nine hours after their liftoff from Central Asia.

Tass said the eight hours until contact was resumed had been set aside for rest.

Soviet newspapers gave banner headlines to the launch of the Soyuz 21, but provided no hint when a linkup with the orbiting lab was expected.

Most Western experts believed the two cosmonauts would rendezvous with the Salyut station within 48 hours of the liftoff and begin a lengthy stay aboard Salyut in a possible bid to set a new space endurance record.

The current mark of 84 days was established early in 1974 by a trio of American astronauts aboard Skylab.

Cosmonauts Boris Volynov, a graying-faced space veteran, and Vitaly Zholobov, a mustachioed rookie, were rocketed into orbit Tuesday from the Soviet Central Asia launch site at Balkonur.

It was the country's first manned mission since last July's joint Apollo-Soyuz spectacular.

Tass news agency said the Soyuz 21 capsule was circling earth every 88 minutes in an elliptical orbit and all its systems were working normally.

There was no official indication that a space linkup was in store. Tass and Moscow television said only that Soyuz 21 had been set up to hold "joint experiments" with Salyut 5, placed in orbit two weeks ago.

But Soviet scientists are known to be particularly interested in developing whirling laboratories as bases for studying space and each of the last three Soyuz flights involved a docking with Salyut 4's predecessor, Salyut 4.

The cosmonaut team involved in Apollo-Soyuz remained in space 63 days — the endurance record for the Soviet space program — and spent most of their time aboard Salyut 4.

Although no details were released, the Salyut craft was believed to be an improved version of the cylindrical Salyut 4, which weighs approximately 20 tons.

At a conference in the United States last month, two cosmonauts said Salyut 5 had twin docking facilities and could accommodate as many as six persons.

The Western experts said this could mean Volynov, the mission commander, and Zholobov, his flight engineer, might be joined for a multiple docking maneuver.

Women flee Berlin jail

BERLIN (UPI) — Four women prisoners, including an urban guerrilla whose release had been demanded by pro-Palestinian hijackers, escaped from a West Berlin jail early today, police said.

The escapees included Inge Velt, a member of the Baader-Meinhoff guerrilla gang; Gabriele Rollnick and Julianne Plambeck, all suspects in the February 1974 kidnap of Berlin Christian Democratic party chairman Peter Lorenz.

The fourth woman was identified as Monika Berberich.

Police launched a nationwide search for the four after wardens discovered them missing shortly after midnight from their cells at the women's prison institute in the Tiergarten section of West Berlin.

Berlin justice official Herman Oxfeld said the women used weapons to break out of the prison and said they may have had outside help.

Velt was one of six Baader-Meinhoff guerrillas on a list of 53 political prisoners whose release was demanded by pro-Palestinian terrorists.

China leadership crisis grows with Chu's death

© N.Y. Times Service

HONG KONG — The death of Chu Teh Monday appears to further complicate the problems of China's aging senior leaders, who have been bitterly divided this year by an anti-rightist campaign that broke out after the death of Premier Chu En-lai in January.

As chairman of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress, the nominal legislature, Chu was China's head of state on ceremonial occasions, and only last month he had assumed the task of meeting foreign visitors after an official spokesman disclosed that Mao Tse-Tung, the party chairman, would no longer receive foreigners.

Like Chu En-lai, Chu was also generally regarded as a moderate. In fact, last winter he composed a poem that seemed to be oblique criticism of Mao for launching the current divisive campaign that resulted in the ouster of Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-ping.

How much actual power Chu wielded in his final years is uncertain. He had been in enfeebled condition for some time, though in crises like the one this spring he may have acted as a senior counselor providing important advice.

As a reflection of the advanced age of China's leaders, analysis noted that Chu was the fourth member of the all-important nine-man standing Committee of the Communist Party's Politburo to die in the past year. In addition to Chu, who was 90 years old, the others were Kang Sheng and Tung Pao.

Job offers spurned

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Spanish opposition politicians decided today to turn down invitations by Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez to join the new government he is assembling.

Suarez said those who succeeded Carlos Arias Navarro as prime minister over the weekend, were continuing his consultations with members of the outgoing cabinet and other politicians.

The new government was expected to be announced later today or Thursday.

French say hijackers identified

PARIS (UPI) — French police say they have positively identified four of the seven guerrillas killed by Israeli commandos in a weekend raid on the Entebbe, Uganda airport that freed more than 100 hostages.

Autumnis said the group leader was Wiltford Biase, a prominent member of West German Baader-Meinhof terrorist group, and later of the hardline Palestinian group run by Wadie Haddad — leader of the operational services of the PFLP — Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Biase, 27, had been arrested by French police June 25-1976, when he tried to break into the apartment of Michel Mourkabbi, a Lebanese reputed to have dropped his Palestine guerrilla role to become an informer for the French police.

The identities of the other hijackers were given as:

— Ali Agha-Jalil-Najj or El Arqa Gahl, head of Latin American operations of the PFLP.

— Jaber Jadi Razi Abderrahim, also known as Abu-Kafaf or Al-Ba'ir, a Palestinian in charge of commando operations of the PFLP.

— Abde-Latif-Abdel Razek alias Abu-Batida, an Iranian citizen who police said was a close friend of Haddad, for whom he carried out many missions in Europe.

Police said they were continuing attempts to determine the identities of the other three hijackers, including a German-speaking young woman.

Meeting denied

Rescue film stated

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Oscar-winning director George Roy Hill will make a film version of the rescue of 104 hijack hostages by Israeli troops from Entebbe Airport in Uganda last weekend. "Rescue at Entebbe" will be filmed as a Pan-Arabs presentation for Universal Pictures, according to an announcement Tuesday.

Hill won the best director Oscar for "The Sting," which took a total of seven Academy Awards.

Preparation lacking

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Assistant Navy Secretary Jack Bowers says the U.S. military is not prepared to wage a conventional war of "sustained duration."

He said, however, the military would correct the readiness situation if the nation seemed to be approaching a conventional war situation.

Percy abroad

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Sen. Charles Percy, D-Minn., left Casablanca airport Tuesday en route to Tunisia to a reunion with his daughter, who is working on an American hospital ship. During his three-day stay in Morocco, Percy paid courtesy visits with King Hassan and Prime Minister Ahmed Osman. In Tunis he was to see government officials and meet his daughter aboard the hospital ship S.S. Hope.

Frasier to visit US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser of Australia will visit the White House July 27 at President Ford's invitation, the White House announced Tuesday.

"The forthcoming visit will reaffirm the close ties between Australia and the United States," a White House statement said. Fraser, marking his first U.S. visit since defeating former Prime Minister Gough Whitlam in last year's elections, will be accompanied by his wife and Australian Foreign Minister Andrew Peacock.

Ford to nominate Rawls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford said Tuesday he will nominate Nancy Rawls, current ambassador to the Republic of Togo, to be alternate U.S. representative for "special political affairs" at the United Nations.

Miss Rawls, of Brookhaven, Ga., has been in the foreign service since 1958. At the U.N. she would succeed Barbara White, who resigned April 28.

Steve to represent Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Steve Ford will represent his father, the President, at Canada's Salute to the U.S. Bi-centennial in the Calgary Exhibition Stampede in Alberta, starting Thursday.

Ford, 20, will act as grand marshal on horseback in the opening day parade, and officially will open the Calgary Stampede Friday night.

Ford helps train horses in California while attending college and also has participated in rodeos on the West Coast.

Biggs, Emmerton race eyed

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Sports Hustler Bob Biggs says he will race distance runner Bill Emmerton down the Great Wall of China — for $25,000.

Biggs did not say he has received permission for the venture from Chinese authorities. He dismissed that question as a minor detail.

Biggs, 58, who beat Emmerton, 56, in a recent run across Death Valley, said the China race would be run in 50-mile stretches.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Attorney Melvin Belli says it is untrue that Jack Ruby met secretly with Fidel Castro in 1963 to plot the assassination of President John Kennedy.

Belli, who knew Ruby as a friend and client, said Tuesday Ruby may have been in Cuba six months before the assassination of Nov. 22, 1963, but he never met Castro and would not have joined any scheme to kill Kennedy.

"Jack Ruby was an intensely loyal American," said Belli. "He worshipped Jack Kennedy."

Ruby, a Dallas nightclub owner, killed Lee Harvey Oswald, the man believed to have assassinated Kennedy, in Dallas on Nov. 24, 1963, while millions watched on television. Belli later was one of Ruby's defense attorneys.

A former CIA agent mentioned the alleged Ruby-Castro talks to the Senate intelligence committee. He said Ruby met Castro while in Cuba trying to make a drug deal.

The ex-agent said Ruby offered guns in exchange for permission to use Cuba as a base for drug shipments to the United States.

Belli recalled that Ruby had referred to a visit to Cuba six months before President Kennedy was shot.

"He started to go over, I don't know if he got there," said Belli.

Ruby's mission, the attorney recalled, was gunrunning, not drugs, and definitely not the assassination of a president. He said Ruby's gunrunning deal never materialized and reiterated that Jack never saw Castro.

Belli said no one would have hired Ruby in such a plan because he was impossible to work with. No one in his right mind would hire him, he do anything.

"He was immature in judgment, erratic and emotionally involved. Within five minutes of meeting him, you knew he could not carry out any plan. He was just a fellow trying to scrounge and get by."

Belli said Ruby never worked for the FBI or CIA.

Riders knee-deep in controversy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Bicentennial Wagon Train, which trudged through snow, storms and knee-high mud reached the Pennsylvania State Park only to find itself knee-deep in a controversy.

Some of the 1,500 riders say their encampment at the park is inadequate. It is located 2½ miles away from the main staging area and where the 20 wagons arrived Saturday there was no water, food for the horses and only six sanitation facilities.

Tuesday, 18 riders called a news conference to condemn the negative statements.

"I want to apologize for reports in the newspapers," said Larry Gabby Aspin, a rider from California. "There were some people that wouldn't be satisfied if they were hung with a new rope."

Marilyn Robison of Somis, Calif., said the problem many had when they arrived at the park was that the wagon train was finally over.

"They now have to go back to being a plumber, or being unemployed," she said. She added that the only mistake in planning was that there should have been a "panel of psychiatrists" to

Swimmer continues

LAPPLAND, La. (UPI) — A 35-year-old former insurance agent was almost run down by a Japanese tanker, but says he plans to complete his 1,300-mile swim down the Mississippi River.

The tanker narrowly missed Wayne Thompson of Portland, Ore., Tuesday as he swam in the log-strewn river from Baton Rouge to Laplace.

"I saw this big object and I knew it could only be one thing," said Thompson, who is carrying out the swim without an escort boat. "Fortunately, it was going slow. Had it been going normal speed it would have been curtains."

He said he was able to swim out of the tanker's way although the ship's wake sucked him backwards into the middle of the channel.

help the riders return to their normal lives.

Mrs. Robison said some of the riders were "pressing a panic button."

Thelma Gray, vice president of Alkin-Knott Co., a local advertising firm which sponsored the wagon train pilgrimage, agreed.

But when reached by telephone Sunday night, she had described the conditions at the encampment as "despicable."

"Most of them [the complainants] are founded well," she said Sunday. "I can disagree with them. They are in a very crowded area."

Perry Triplette of the Pennsylvania Bicentennial Commission also said there was no water, no feed and few toilets for the riders.

FFA to return ticket fund

JEROME: The Jerome chapter of Future Farmers of America (FFA) is refunding the money they obtained on the advance sale of tickets to a circus which was to perform in Jerome but failed to show up.

Carter Luther, chapter adviser, said reimbursement will be made to all businesses involved in the ticket sales, if courtesy tickets are returned to the FFA by July 10.

According to Luther, tickets should be returned to the FFA in care of the Jerome High School.

Luther said not many advance tickets were sold, because the FFA did not receive the promised tickets until two days before the event.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you stated that Anna Jarvis—the originator of Mother's Day—was from Philadelphia. Please retract your statement. She was from Grafton, W. Va.

PROUD WEST VIRGINIAN

DEAR PROUD: I've had an avalanche of protest, and I must write West Virginians since the column appeared, and I offer the following:

Miss Anna M. Jarvis established Mother's Day in honor of her mother, Mrs. Anna Revere Jarvis, of Grafton, W. Va.

Over the years, Miss Anna M. Jarvis sent more than 10,000 carnations from Philadelphia, where she lived, to be placed on her mother's grave.

On May 10, 1908, the first Mother's Day service was held in Grafton at a little Methodist church, which has since become a shrine.

Residence questioned

Although Mother's Day was established to honor Mrs. Anna Revere Jarvis, her daughter, who conceived the idea, was in fact from Philadelphia.

You may need a Philadelphia lawyer to determine whether Miss Jarvis' legal residence was Grafton or Philadelphia, but I'm betting on Philadelphia.

DEAR ABBY: Why did the absurd practice of tipping waiters begin? It is ridiculous to be expected to add between 15 and 20 per cent to the bill just to have the food brought from the kitchen to the table.

If the food is exceptionally good, the COOK should be given something extra, not the waiter. And then there's also the captain and the maître d', who do nothing and expect a tip.

Employers should pay their help a living wage instead of relying on the generosity of their customers.

Tipping is a ripoff! Furthermore, it's demeaning for a person to have to put his hand out for an offering.

SICK OF TIPPING

DEAR SICK: Since the word "tip" means "To insure prompt service," it would make more sense to tip BEFORE the meal then after.

I agree, tipping has gotten out of hand—if you'll forgive the pun—but if most restaurants paid their waiters and waitresses what they needed to make ends meet, they couldn't stay in business.

DEAR ABBY: I have an alcoholic sister who lives in the same city with my elderly mother. My mother lives alone, and she hasn't been well for the last few years, but she is very proud and will not allow anyone else to live with her.

My sister very often gets drunk and phones me at 2 or 3 or even 4 a.m. to complain about her husband. This is upsetting, of course, but I don't dare get an unlisted number because I'm afraid my mother might need me, or my sister might want to call me to tell me that my mother is sick or possibly dead.

Telling my sister NOT to call me when she's loaded does no good. I've told her a dozen times, but she forgets.

Is there a solution?

ANXIOUS SON

DEAR SON: If there is, I'm not able to come up with it. Readers?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamp, self-addressed envelope, please.

North glared at South and said, "If there were such a thing as a license to bid potrump, I would try to have yours revoked."

"What could I have done," replied South. "I could not help losing the spade finesse."

No one was holding a gun to your head and ordering you to take it," continued North.

We were still at odds and in a stand-off with the ace and went after just nine tricks.

The spade finesse had lost

Jerome classes under way

JEROME: Special arts and crafts class started July 6 for three to six-year-old children of Jerome.

BILL Rutledge, city recreation director, said the class is being conducted by Starie Cozad and her daughter, Jean Cozad, three days a week.

According to Rutledge, various kinds of art will be taught to the Jerome youngsters during the two-hour, a day classes which will be held in the First Street Park.

Rutledge said the classes will be conducted on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. and are tentatively scheduled to last the entire summer.

Some of the craft classes will include rock and finger painting. Other activities will be storytelling and puppet shows.

Anyone interested should call the city swimming pool at 323-8934 or Rutledge at 324-3734.

Rutledge said the art classes for children aged six to 12 will continue if participation picks up. He noted that attendance has been small at the class being conducted by Mrs. Robert Schlauder, a local artist, who has volunteered her time to teach beginning art to interested children.

US Bicentennial flower vote set

MAGIC VALLEY — This month, the Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) is conducting a Bicentennial Flower election designed to help America pick its national flower.

Florists throughout the United States, including the Magic Valley, are participating in the program to select the nation's flower.

Balloons are available at all FTD florists in the Magic Valley, and voting is being conducted by secret ballot!

Candidates include 28 flowers listed on the official ballot, with space for anyone to vote as well.

Voting will end July 31, with the results to be tabulated and announced in August. The results of the vote will then be presented to Congress in an effort to "inspire" Congress to name an official floral emblem for the United States.

Candidates include: apple blossom, azalea, begonia, black-eyed Susan, camellia, carnation, chrysanthemum, corn tassel, dogwood, geranium, gladiolus, hibiscus, lily, magnolia, marigold, mountain laurel, orchid, pansy, peony, petunia, rhododendron, rose, snapdragon, tulip and zinnia.

SWISS OMELET

1/2 cup milk
1 egg, separated
1/4 cup wheat germ
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup grated, processed American cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup diced Canadian bacon

Combine milk and wheat germ. Set aside. Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form; beat egg yolks and salt until lemon colored. Fold yolks and wheat germ mixture into beaten egg whites until well blended. Melt butter in ten-inch skillet with oven proof handle. Pour egg mixture into pan, spreading until level.

Cook uncovered over low heat until lightly browned on bottom and sides—approximately ten minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for five minutes. Sprinkle cheese and bacon over omelet. Bake five more minutes or until knife inserted in middle comes out clean. Fold and turn onto warm platter. Yield: three to four servings.

CSI sign approved by city

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho (CSI) will get the sign it wants to advertise campus events.

The Twin Falls City Council last night approved an amendment to a city ordinance, which will exempt junior colleges from sign restrictions in residential-professional neighborhoods.

The college had earlier requested the city ordinance be changed to allow larger signs in residential-professional zones. It'll put up a billboard at the edge of the campus along Falls Avenue.

The request resulted in a flap at the last city council meeting when councilmen resisted a general ordinance change which would have allowed larger signs throughout residential-professional zones.

After a three-hour of tempers, councilmen compromised by agreeing to exempt junior colleges from current restrictions.

Last night, the council did just that, with only councilman Leon Smith voting against the measure and Mayor Paul Oylyn, an employee of CSI, abstaining due to conflict of interest.

According to Jack Sims, CSI director of student activities, the sign, to be funded half by the college and half by student activity money, will stand about 20 feet high and will measure roughly four feet by 12 feet. Sims said the sign, expected to be in place within a month, will be used to advertise all kinds of events at CSI.

"Cost of the sign is about $3,000, he said. It will be located on campus opposite the intersection of Harrison Street and Falls Avenue, perpendicular to Falls."

In other action last night the city council:

— Appointed attorney Greg Fuller and sports announced Ed Prater to the city Parks and Recreation Commission. Pam Berg, an earlier appointee, was reappointed to a full term. The two new appointees replace Ken Self, who moved from Twin Falls, and Harold Gerber, whose term expired. Mrs. Berg had been named to finish the term of Fred Plankey, who had resigned.

— Defeated a measure to create an industrial zone on the south side of 4th Ave. East between Madrona Street and Eastland Drive.

— Worked Moving and Storage had requested the zone change to build a warehouse for its operation. The council voted 5-2 to defeat the proposal. At a luncheon earlier Tuesday, councilmen had objected that the zone change would free the property for later undesignated industrial use.

— Authorized the mayor and the city clerk to sign a bicycle path easement with Jack and Fay McGuire to create a bicycle and footpath from city property south of the Singing Bridge to other city property at the bottom of Rock Creek Canyon.

Agreed to contact property owners about land adjustments at Cascade Park. The proposed adjustments would correct property usage involving three residents adjacent to the park who are now using small parcels of city land and giving up private land to the park. The adjustments would involve trade-offs and land sales.

A public hearing will be held if the property owners show interest.

Rehab center closure eyed

TWIN FALLS — Because Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services (MVR) does not have enough clients to remain financially solvent, the board of directors will likely close the facility Thursday.

"I just got the attendance list," Jeff Crumrine, MVR executive director, said. "We have a total of 26 clients. We're supposed to have 70 to operate."

"At this point it looks like we'll close," he added. "The board said unless the clients were here to keep the program solvent, that we would close."

Edd Bossard, president of the board, said, "Thursday night we're having our meeting, and if we don't have the clients, we're closing the up."

"As far as we're concerned," Bossard added, "there are no other possibilities."

The crux of the problem, according to Crumrine, is the center did not get as many clients from the Idaho State Vocational Rehabilitation Service (VRS) this year as they originally anticipated.

Kress sees victory in parades

TWIN FALLS — Democratic congressional candidate Stan Kress of Firth came to Twin Falls Tuesday with a red face he said he got while riding in seven Fourth of July parades.

In fact, his informal "Fourth of July Parade Index" is one reason Kress expects to win the Democratic nomination and eventually defeat incumbent Rep. George Hansen.

Kress says that in addition to the seven parades he personally attended over the Bicentennial weekend, his campaign workers had floats or campaign cars in another nine parades.

According to Kress, that means that he or his campaigners hit 16 of the 23 major parades held in Idaho over the Fourth.

Kress claims that his primary election opponent, Kelly Pearce of Lava Hot Springs, personally attended about the same number as Kress did, but Pearce's campaign go workers were unable to mount a similar effort on behalf of their candidate in other parades.

So by the parade index, Kress' 16 parades, Pearce's 16, Pearce's campaign has the Democratic nomination in November.

Kress also says his own statewide poll of about 200 persons shows he has an edge over Pearce in the primary election and over Hansen in the general election.

However, Kress says, his own poll showed the largest group of persons responding to the survey was undecided.

Kress concluded that the Parade Index and his poll "gives us an edge at this time." A tenuous lead, one's going to have to work very hard to maintain."

Another reason Kress believes he will win the primary race against Pearce is that Pearce "is not taking a stand, he will criticize him and call on him to take a stand on more issues."

According to Kress, Pearce is "trying the Jimmy Carter approach — don't offend anyone by not saying anything."

To make the point that he himself was saying something on issues, Kress listed a few of his campaign positions:

— He would require the federal government to give full compensation for all property damage resulting from the collapse of the Teton Dam, an estimated $1 billion. The $200 million already allocated for Teton dam disaster relief and an additional $100 million available from Presidential funds is "nowhere near enough."

— It was a government approved dam, built under government regulations, government inspection and owned by the federal government."

— Integrating government is the second most important issue to Idaho's Second Congressional District following only Teton Dam relief.

Kress lumped both George Hansen's violation of federal election laws two years ago and the problems of Wayne Hayes under the "integrity issue."

"I think these men should not only be held accountable to the voters of their district but the basis of the land," Kress said.

In Hansen's case, after paying a fine, "as far as the law of the land, once he's paid that debt he's fulfilled the law of the land." However, "I think it's up to the voters of this state whether or not they want a person of this type of representation and background to represent them and whether he can do that effectively in the Congress."

But parades were not the only reason Kress was red-faced on his Twin Falls visit.

— He was caught with his figures down.

— When discussing the nation's unemployment problem, which Kress said he had "done his homework on," he said he would "expect a reduction of the unemployment rate by one-half would bring in an additional $54 billion in federal taxes." The arithmetic works out to more than $14,000 in federal tax income from each new worker.

After quizzing about his figures, Kress said he would have to withdraw them, his face even redder than before.

— First baby born on July 4 at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is Kyle Butler, being adored here by his mother, Mrs. Michael (Bettie) Butler. Kyle will receive nearly $700 in savings bonds from John Chris Motors and other prizes.

He was not scheduled to arrive until Thursday, but hurried a bit to become the Bicentennial baby at 2:23 a.m. July 4.

TF's west side ripped by wind

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — High winds and possibly a small tornado damaged a number of houses and other property in Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon.

Residents in the western section of the city reported trees uprooted, a camper shell flipped from a pickup and other damages when winds whipped through town about 4:30 p.m.

Some residents reported sighting a small funnel cloud in the area. Apparently the twister did not touch down.

Carolyn King, 270 Caswell Ave., said today she did not see a funnel cloud but others living a short distance away said at the height of the storm a small funnel passed through that area.

Mrs. King said a camper shell which was stored on the roof of her family's camp was picked up by the wind and swept through a redwood fence at the rear of the neighbor's home.

Both the fence and camper shell were severely damaged.

Other neighbors reported broken tree limbs and all said a two-block area of Caswell Ave. was littered with pieces of roofing and tar paper from new homes being built several blocks away.

Mrs. King said the storm carried so much dirt it was necessary to wash off the homes and windows.

A garage roof about two blocks from the King residence was torn apart with pieces of roofing left hanging to the edges or blown into the street.

On Washington Street, a large elm tree was broken in several places, leaving large limbs hanging just above a picture window.

Another resident on Caswell said a plastic child's wading pool which was filled with water when the wind hit was carried down the street and deposited in another yard.

Another resident had to make a search of the neighborhood to find a small metal storage shed which was carried from his back yard.

Mrs. King said it was almost frightening when a deadly calm occurred just before the wind struck. She said a friend in the neighborhood took her children into the basement to wait out the storm because she believed it was a genuine tornado.

"It was eerie. The birds stopped singing and even the dogs were out of the streets apparently taking cover," Mrs. King said.

Other areas of Twin Falls reported a "typical Idaho dust storm" and some reported very little wind.

Police and sheriff's officers said they had no reports of extensive damage in other areas.

Paul, Twin Falls range fires controlled by BLM

MAGIC VALLEY — The Shoshone District Bureau of Land Management (BLM) reported two small range fires

Tuesday afternoon.

One burned 20 acres in miles north of Paul. The other burned five acres four miles north of Twin Falls.

Both fires were controlled about three hours after they were first discovered.

Burley District crews extinguished the fire near Paul, and Shoshone District crews extinguished the fire north of Twin Falls, according to Michael Green, public information officer for the BLM.

The BLM sent two tankers and 11 men to each site, Green said. A 600-acre fire north of Eden Monday was declared out at 10 a.m. Tuesday, he said.

BLM firefighters in the Burley district also suppressed a range fire south of Murtaugh Monday afternoon.

Dave Murray, in Burley BLN official, said the fire burned about 20 acres of land seven miles south of Murtaugh near Dry Creek.

Two ground tankers and 11 men extinguished the fire in four hours.

The Burley District also suppressed an 80-acre fire

Monday night near Pocatello.

Four tankers and about 16 men were involved in the effort.

Another fire broke out near Pocatello and burned about two acres before it was extinguished by a tank crew of four men.

A 175-acre fire also broke out Sunday afternoon Banneker Creek in the Fort Hall Indian Reservation. One tanker and a four-man crew handled the fire.

Murray explained that fire is dry out ahead of schedule and is abnormally dry for this time of year.

Rape crisis meet slated at YWCA

TWIN FALLS — A second organizational meeting for a Twin Falls Rape Crisis Center will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the YWCA on Elizabeth Boulevard.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

The crisis center is proposed as a volunteer organization of women and men who will be available on a 24-hour basis to assist any rape victim. The center will provide trained volunteers to guide and assist the victim in proper measures to be taken and accompany the victim to meet with authorities.

Volunteers who would be willing to serve in this capacity and to receive training from other centers on procedure are invited to the Thursday night meeting.

FIRST baby born on July 4 at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is Kyle Butler, being adored here by his mother, Mrs. Michael (Bettie) Butler. ## NAIA fills Grant's Pan-American cage squad with two 6-9 centers

TWIN FALLS — A pair of 6-9 centers and two guards from the NAIA have been named to the U.S. entry in the Pan American Junior basketball tournament.

Coach Boyd Grant, College of Southern Idaho mentor-who-will-handle-the-young-team-in-the eight-day stay in Sao Paulo, Brazil, next month, received the NAIA list of men who will augment his five CSI-player corps.

The tall men are Mike Cunningham (from San Antonio, Tex.), and Barry Clark, Edmond, Okla. The NAIA also has sent 6-7 forward Wes Clark, Edmond, and guards Ed Waters, 6-2, Eastern Washington College at Cheney, and 5-11 Larry McGehee, Commerce, Tex.

The CSI portion of the roster was filled when 6-6 soph-to-be Craig Evert, Lewisburg, Pa., told Coach Grant he would be enrolling at CSI this September.

Coach Grant already has named CSI veterans Eric Hovey, 6-1 guard from Twin Falls, and the national championship team's leading scorer, Kim Goetz, 6-6 from Moscow.

Newcomers 6-6 Antonio Martin, Indianapolis, and 6-5 Art Williams, Chicago, both incoming CSI frosh, round out the top 10. Dennis Bowyer, 6-6 Twin Falls product, will start the alternate.

The U.S. team enters the tournament with two centers, three guards and five forwards.

Although Coach Grant now knows who will be on his team, he has no idea of the abilities and talent they possess.

"I don't believe I know any of the names on the NAIA list. I asked them for guards and centers and I assume they've sent us some excellent players," he said.

He'll start getting the idea Aug. 13 when all 11 players (including alternate Bowyer) will start an intensive five-day training session.

The team probably will leave Twin Falls Aug. 18 as the tournament runs from Aug. 20 through Aug. 30. The field is restricted to players 19 years of age or younger.

CSI completes recruiting year

TWIN FALLS — The signing of 6-6 Craig Evert of Lewisburg, Pa., Tuesday, has completed the recruiting seasons for Coach Boyd and Coach Grant of Southern Idaho.

Evert, who will join the Eagles in September, will see his first action for Coach Grant next month as he will be part of the U.S. Pan-American junior basketball team that will play in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Evert, who will have one year's eligibility at CSI, comes to the Eagles from Gettysburg College where he was the conference's leading rebounder with just over 15 takedowns per game and averaged 16 points.

Coach Grant sees Evert as an integral part of what he believes could be the strongest Inside team in CSI's history and at least during his three-year reign. Eventually, he had signed everyone's all-American 6-6 Antonio Martin out of Indianapolis and 6-5 leaper Art Williams from Chicago. The lone signing from last year CSI national championship tandem, 6-6 Kim Goetz, also is back and Coach Grant figures that foursome — spelling each other during games — will be the strength of his team.

Chuck Lenker and prize

Redfish creek yields trophy

TWIN FALLS — Chuck Lenker, Twin Falls, was fishing for small trout in the inlet of Redfish Lake when he hooked an 8½ lb. Dolly Varden Sunday morning.

"I didn't get serious about it until he jerked the line. I thought I had probably hooked a willow," Lenker said.

The fish measured 27.5 inches in length. It was taken Sunday morning, after Lenker and his wife had caught a number of small fish in the area. He was using a four-pound line with a size-12 or 14 hook. He was using red salmon eggs for bait.

Lenker said it took about 20 minutes to land the trout. "He played the fish on the line until it tired and then landed it. Not until then did he realize what a big catch he had made."

The Twin Falls man said he has been fishing for years and this is the largest fish he has ever taken.

"I guess it's a once in a lifetime catch," he said.

American leaguers rip Johnson for pitching picks

NATIONAL (UPI) — Boston Manager Darrell Johnson came under strong attack by Baltimore pitchers Tuesday for his choices for the American League All-Star pitching staff.

Johnson ignored Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer, who won for his 10th victory Tuesday night, against Oakland and Wayne Garland, who boasts a .84 record. Instead, Johnson selected such dubious choices as Chicago's Rich Gossage (15-6), Cleveland's Dave LaRoche (10-21), New York's Sparky Lyle (15-4), and Oakland's Rollie Fingers (4-5) to complement the more legitimate selections of Detroit rookie sensation Mark Fidrych (11-1), Milwaukee's Bill Travers (19-21), Boston's Luis Tiant (105-104), New York's Catfish Hunter (10-7) and California's Frank Tanana (10-5).

"Johnson proved what kind of manager he was in the World Series last year by the way he handled his pitchers in the ninth inning of the seventh game," Palmer said. "He's an idiot. And maybe this is why the American League seldom wins an All-Star game. I don't see how he can ignore a guy like Gaylord Perry of Texas."

Seaver, Jones top National loop staff

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, and Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres headed the eight-man All-Star game pitching staff announced Tuesday by National League manager Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds.

Anderson, in announcing his selections through the N.L. office, insisted he had picked who he thought were the eight best pitchers in the first half of the 1976 season.

In addition to Seaver and Jones, who has an 8-5 record with a 2.92 earned run average, Anderson chose Houston Astros ace reliever Ken Forsch, who is 1-2 with 14 saves, Andy Messersmith of the Atlanta Braves (8-6, 2.37), Jim Malack of the Mets (10-2, 2.61), Rick Rhodorf of the Los Angeles Dodgers (8-0, 2.77), John Montefusco of the San Francisco Giants (7-8, 3.25) and Woody Fryman of the Montreal Expos (8-6, 3.71).

"I know I had to be guided by the fact that where no player was picked by the fans I had to select someone from each club to make the game representative," said Anderson. "In this case, though, I think I picked the best eight pitchers I could. Naturally, Seaver was everyone's No. 1."

For Seaver, a two-time Cy Young Award winner, it marked the ninth time he was selected for an All-Star Game. This year's contest will be played in Philadelphia, July 22.

Jones, who made the All-Star team for the second time, has a 15-3 record with a 2.51 ERA.

Rhodorf, Forsch and Montefusco were being picked for the first time to an All-Star team, while it was the fourth time for Messersmith. Fryman was named for the second time.

"I would have liked to have made the All-Star team," said Garland. "I would have been a great thrill, but that's the way baseball is. I'm surprised I didn't make it, though, because I threw a two-hitter shutout against the Red Sox and I pitched maybe 16 innings. I was impressed with that."

Johnson went against baseball tradition in his selections, choosing three relievers in LaRoche, Lyle and Fingers. Gossage, a former reliever, has been starting since the injury early in the season to Wilbur Wood.

Fidrych, LaRoche, Tanana and Travers will be on an All-Star roster for the first time while for Hunter this will be his eighth All-Star game.

The AL pitching staff currently has a combined earned run average of 2.63 and the starters have posted a record of 52-28 with the relievers turning in 30 saves.

The regular starting lineup for the AL will be released Thursday by the baseball commissioner's office and the AL reserves will be announced Friday.

Pitchers for the National League squad will be released Wednesday with the starting NL team released Thursday and the NL reserves Friday.

The game will be played at Philadelphia July 13.

Nicklaus firm as British open favorite

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus formed as favorite Tuesday to win the 10th British Open at the Royal Birkdale course. "I've never seen this year's competition as good as this," he said.

Nicklaus, shooting for the $15,000 first prize and his third Open title, shortened to 92 in the betting in the field of 155 golfers who will Wednesday for the first round.

Practices and players predicted the Birkdale Open record of 278, set by Lee Trevino in 1971, would be broken and probably the lowest total for the $15,000 tournament, 276, would also be bettered.

The hottest June and July on record dried the fairways and the rough to tinder and thousands of gallons of water were needed to green the greens.

Nicklaus wasn't complaining about the heat as he finished his final practice round.

"I'm getting plenty of bounce out there, and a fast course suits me much better than a slow one," he said.

Nicklaus cheered his supporters with a final practice round of 67 — five under par and bettered only by Tom Weiskopf, who returned a scorching 65.

Weiskopf, of Columbus, Ohio, won the British Open in 1973 and was part of the five players who insisted there would be no record scores this year despite the weather.

"There's still an awful lot of rough out there," Weiskopf said. "There are unplayable trees six feet from the green in some holes; this isn't the easiest course everyone is saying it is."

Weiskopf, listed at 114 in the odds, said he thought the winning score would be around 284 if there was no wind and encouraged his sleeping friends to concede he was "fitting the ball as well as I ever have."

Behind Nicklaus in the betting was fellow-American Johnny Miller, 8-1, who "feels good" and reckons it is time for him to earn his first British Open as he had "paid my dues" — living for second last year and for third in 1973.

Hale Irwin, the third favorite at 10-1, thought it would be "very nice" to win this year to add to his only other major tournament success, the U.S. Open in 1974.

Irwin and the other players finished their practice round edified with doctored ointments that infested some parts of the course.

"There are the black beggars that Jute, and green ones that sit down on you for a free ride," Irwin grumbled.

Irwin said he could see brown patches getting bigger around

Royal Birkdale even in the three days he has been here and, with the course getting drier, "it's going to be more difficult and the bounces more unpredictable."

South African Gary Player, three time winner of this tournament, holed a bunker shot for an eagle three on the 18th but was unhappy with his round.

"I would have even broken 80—nothing went right."

He thought his first hole, now reduced by 43 yards from a par five to a par four, made it difficult start.

"If you begin with a four in this tournament, you can be very happy," he said.

Player could not believe the "unusual" weather would last and if a wind came up, which is usual at the British Open seaside links, then the par-72, 7,001-yard course would be "very different indeed."

The heat buckled yet another hallowed British tradition. Pipe smoking Scotsman Brian Barnes became the first player in any British Open to turn out in short pants.

Hubie Green, who put together three consecutive four victories earlier this year, was the fifth choice in the betting at 16-1, followed by Player at 20-1. Jerry Player, recent winner of the U.S. Open, was in a group at 25-1 along with compatriots Tom Watson and Ray Floyd. Australian Graham Marsh and Briton Neil Coles.

Arnold Palmer was at 40-1.

Superdome sale talks resume

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana Commissioner of Administration Charles Roemer said Tuesday negotiations are again on for the sale of the Superdome.

Roemer said investor Charles Stockman of California has made new offer to buy the $162.5 million stadium. The $120 million selling price remained the same in the second bid, but Roemer said he would meet Wednesday with his attorneys to discuss the offer from Stockman, a San Lorenzo investor who once lost a fortune in the hotel industry.

The interest rate is about 2.5 to 3 percent lower than the initial offer, Roemer said.

Stockman made a new offer after his bid for the gold and white sports palace was rejected last week.

The Superdome is home for the New Orleans Saints football team and the New Orleans Jazz basketball team.

An sale of the giant stadium would have to be approved by the Louisiana legislature.

Roemer said he would meet Wednesday with his attorneys to discuss the offer from Stock-

Olympic security in full force

MONTREAL (UPI) — Canada's $100 million security measures were in full force Tuesday with the population of the Olympic Village with about 2,000.

About 9,000 troops from the Canadian Forces have been arriving by buses over the past few days to beef up about 5,000 police from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Montreal Urban Community Police Department and the Quebec Police Force.

Green-uniformed troops carrying sub-machine guns, rifles and sidearms patrolled the pyramid-shaped twin buildings where Olympic athletes are living as well as the games venues, some still at least a week from completion. The games are scheduled to run from July 17 through August 1.

A fleet of aircraft, including a huge Chinook helicopter capable of carrying 30 combat-equipped troops and F-16 starfighter jet fighters were on standby at nearby St. Hubert air force base. All flights, even including traffic police patrolling choppers, have been banned from entering a six-mile wide and one-mile high area around the village and sports arenas until after the games.

Similar security measures are in force at Kingston, Ont., about 160 miles from Montreal, where the sailing events will be held.

The security, tighter than at any previous Olympics, has led to some minor grumbling among teams and the hundreds of newsmen already in Montreal. Tight restrictions have been imposed on movement in and out of the village, including searches by metal detectors at frequent checkpoints and limits on the number of news-men allowed in the village at one time.

"We've heard about some of the complaints, but no one has filed any formal protest," a police spokesman said. "We know it's a hassle but it'd be hard to say it isn't security and we wouldn't be doing our job."

Oppression in the minds of security officials is the "Munich incident" in September 1972 when 11 Israeli Olympic team members were killed in an Arab Guerrilla raid and escape attempt.

Security officials said that although the Israelis may more of a target than some others, no special security measures have been instituted for the Israeli delegation. But they have "turned a blind eye" to the possibility mentioned in news reports that some members of the Israeli — and other — teams may be security officials in violation of the Olympic rules.

"What would you do in the same position?" a security official asked rhetorically. "If an athlete runs the 100 meters in 20 seconds it would give you a clue as to whether he's a badfite runner, but if you don't know, for sure, there really isn't anything we can do. Our job is to insure security period."

Security officials said the protection force for the athletes is not discounting any possibility, and have disregarded reported promises by some terrorist groups — including according to some news reports, the Palestine Liberation Organization — that no physical action will be undertaken in Canada during the Olympics.

"We don't know whether these reports are true or not, and how much control some of the groups' officials have over their members," one official said. "But we are prepared for anything."

A special strike force known as "alpha" has been trained to cope with hijackings, plane crashes, bomb threats and disposal, and includes a tactical unit of marksmen trained to shoot hijackers if necessary. A number of buildings around Montreal have been designated as mass disaster morgues, most of them ice hockey rinks.

Officials say they hope, though, that the only job the security forces are called upon to perform outside of guard duty and patrolling is crowd control, and that helicopters will be needed only to keep athletes safe if there are massive traffic jams which would otherwise prevent them from taking part.

Canada won't compromise on China's Olympic team

OTTAWA, Canada (UPI) — External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen says the athletes from Taiwan are barred from Canada until the International Olympic Committee guarantees they will not compete at this month's Summer Olympics under the banner of the Republic of China.

External Affairs Department and IOC officials are trying to find a solution to the diplomatic dispute at closed-door meetings in Montreal, but the Canadian government is unbending in its position. External Affairs spokesman are confident the IOC will allow Canada to impose its conditions for Taiwan's participation in the Games.

IOC president Lord Michael Killanin said he expects to make a formal statement on the status of the talks this week.

In Taipei Tuesday, president Shien Chi-Min of the national Olympic committee said, "Our attitude remains firm and unchanged we will compete under our national name—the Republic of China." Shien said he plans to lead his delegation to Montreal this week.

External Affairs Minister MacEachen said Tuesday night, however, that if the 44-member delegation from Taiwan arrived in Canada before the diplomatic dispute was resolved they would not get past the airport.

"If they are coming to the Games to compete as representatives of the Republic of China, they would not be admitted," MacEachen stated flatly.

He said if necessary Canada would refuse to grant the Taiwanese athletes clearance through airport immigration. "It would obviously have to be solved before they came to Canada, or as they come in, because after that it would be too late."

Canada has told the IOC it will not allow Taiwanese athletes to enter the country unless the IOC guarantees they will not claim the name, use the anthem or flag or other symbols of the Republic of China.

External Affairs Department spokesmen are confident the IOC will give these guarantees. "We think there will be a resolution of these issues through discussions between now and the Games," one spokesman said.

Despite the negative world opinion directed at Canada for its stand, one External Affairs spokesman said it was a matter of foreign policy on which Canada would not give ground.

"It's pretty bloody silly for a private international organization to expect a nation-state to cede a measure of its sovereignty for however short a period of time," he added.

For the duration of the Games, host nations normally give up a part of their sovereignty by scrapping immigration rules and allowing the IOC to decide who will enter the country to compete.

External Affairs Department officials admitted Canada is the first country in Olympic history to have refused to turn over part of its sovereignty to the world body.

Storey boots Magic Dream to Rupert futurity win

RUPERT — Kent Storey booted Maple Dream home in victory in Monday's ninth race to win Rupert Chamber of Commerce Quarter-Horse-Futurity.

It capped a four-winner day for the talented jockey, and assured him top fourth of July meet honors here with nine victories.

In the 10th race, Storey was thrown from his horse and sustained back injuries. He was listed in good condition at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Gary Douglas named top trainer of the meet, which had a record single-day betting handle in Monday and meet handle up 19.89 per cent over 1975. Monday's betting ran between $24,000 and $25,000, giving a meet handle of $208,87,000.

It was the second straight day that a 10th-race accident marred the racing card here. Two horses had to be killed Sunday after one suffered a broken back and another a broken leg.

One of the jockeys, Scott Golightly, was first thought to have a broken leg, but Hospital x-rays showed only a twisted knee and he returned to ride again Monday.

Ironically, Golightly was listed to board Leo Fast in the 10th race Monday. Because the pain Golightly was suffering, Storey took over his horse.

The horse veered to the outside shortly after leaving the starting gate and dumped Storey over his head, also losing his bridle before galloping past the stands with other horses.

Deekah Jet won the 10th race, with Fan Rocket second and Mr. Bachelor showing. Warkef was fourth.

Golightly was third aboard Mutter Sutter behind Tim Holdaway-Mutter Sutter in the Futurity-for-two-year-olds.

Storey, who had taken the jockey lead with three victories Sunday, posted his first win Monday in the opening race. He rode Sue T Bar to the wire ahead of J. Seal on Diipe's Rocket Sis, with Jay Singletson third on Rocket High.

Tilly's Fly gave Storey another win in the third race. Sutters was second with C. Price aboard, while Movin' Over was third with Golightly.

Storey made it back-to-back victories when he rode Michele's Runaway in the fourth. Terry Sadler rode the runnerup Over And Over, with J. Reedy booting Miss Kitty Higgins to third place.

Storey also rode the place horse in the sixth race, when his Czech Fly was nipped by Den's Lil Lucy with G. Richardson in the saddle. Holdaway had Rock O' Moon for third.

In the eighth race, Storey was aboard Jet On's Chip, which finished in a dead heat for third place with Richardson's Dobby Charger. C. Price won that race aboard Little Hon, with Holdaway second on Winken Tim.

Sadler posted a win in the fifth, on Jet Rae, with Holdaway second on Miss Quinchita and R. Hansen third on Mick's Moon Miss.

Golightly won the seventh on Matt Deck. K. Petersen rode Royal Apollo to place and Holdaway showed on Rockel Brackett.

Raceway opens Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Thunder Raceway, located near Nat-Soo-Pal, will resume its regular Saturday racing schedule following competition on the Fourth of July.

Time trials will start at 3 p.m. Saturday with the finals beginning at 5 p.m.

Sam Way won the holiday multi-event to become a double winner as earlier he picked up a victory in the slow heat.

Maxine Barton took the powder puff event.

Andy Singley posted the fast-time-of-the-day — 27.7 — but couldn't convert that into any victories. Dean Jones took the trophy dash while Lawrence Birch claimed the fast heat. Final heats honor went to John Adams.

Sharman's future remains uncertain

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Although there was still no word on the fate of coach Bill Sharman, the Los Angeles Lakers Tuesday opened training camp with a cast of 25 players, including eight veterans, in preparation for the pro basketball summer league which begins July 18.

Sharman, who helped bring the Lakers' a world championship in its first season with the team in 1971, now faces a July 12 expiration of his contract.

A team spokesman said Lakers' owner Jack Kent Cooke has not made a decision yet on whether to rehire Sharman or look for a new coach.

Coach optimistic

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — James "Doc" Counsilman, head coach of the U.S. Olympic men's swimming team, predicted Wednesday the team "will win half of the gold medals in Montreal and if they work to their full ability, they will win more than half."

Counsilman made the prediction during a dinner banquet here in honor of the Olympians, who have been training at Canton's C. T. Branin Natatorium for two weeks in preparation for the summer games.

Telegrams from President Ford, Gov. James Rhodes and Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, were read. Ford said, "I leave every confidence that America's great swim tradition will be upheld by this team in Montreal."

The team leaves Canton Thursday for Plattsburgh, N.Y., where it will join the rest of the U.S. Olympic affairs before leaving for Montreal.

Buffalo lease

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The National Basketball Association Buffalo Braves have signed a 15-year lease to play in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium, assuring that the team will play the 1977-78 season there.

The signing of the lease was announced Tuesday as the City of Buffalo agreed to drop a $10 million damage suit, one of two suits which were brought by the city in an attempt to block the sale and transfer of the Braves to Hollywood, Fla. interests.

Manly Fleishmann, an attorney for Braves' owner Paul Snyder, said the court action was now settled and assures that the Braves will remain in Buffalo.

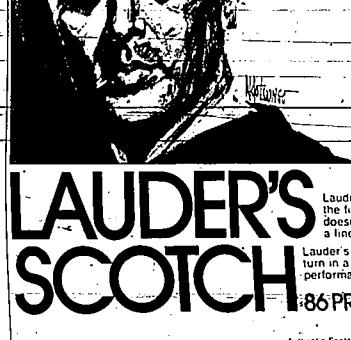

"It's been settled by the Braves signing the lease," Fleishmann said. "We're happy." He said the team will stay in Buffalo regardless of whether Snyder sells the six-year-old expansion franchise.

A group of Buffalo businessmen was reportedly negotiating with Snyder to purchase the team—and the quashing of the suit was expected to give the group additional time for the purchase.

Fleishmann, however, claimed that news reports indicating that the sale was imminent are "exaggerated." Snyder will continue to own the club for "the time being," the attorney said.

Stocks at midday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices

ended mixed Wednesday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial

Average and six-point Index closed without a point to end the month at 1,031.37 shortly after the opening bell.

Declining stocks led the market down, among the 155 issues closing the tape.

Turnover amounted to about 150,000 shares.

In recent weeks, the market in broad terms has performed better than the Dow average, which accounts for about a quarter of the value of all stocks traded on the NYSE.

The Dow has been styled all year in the 1,000-1,100 level.

Lower-priced stocks

however, have been advancing more regularly in recent weeks. This could indicate switching by some portfolio managers.

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1976
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is not the time to get involved in any arguments or discussions, since some unfortunate events are apt to follow. With tact and diplomacy you are able to gain the goodwill of one you have wanted to impress for a long time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to April 19) You have obligations to meet and should not try to avoid them now. Show you are dependable instead. Try to make a loved one happy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use extreme care in carrying out promises you made to associates and gain their cooperation and goodwill. Don't annoy one who opposes you or there will be trouble. Be calm.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Evaluate your workload carefully and tackle the most important part of it first. Plan your time well so you do not get overtired, confused.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try not to spend too much on recreation. You really can't afford it yet and you could regret it later. Being critical of mate brings much disarray. Be more charming, sweeter.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Turn conversation to whatever is pleasant since the opposite could have unpleasant results. Find causes of disharmony at home and quietly get rid of the cause. A little humor helps a great deal.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study money status well and don't commit yourself to anything risky, whether it be a small or big matter. Choose your words carefully and avoid friction with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Money problems arise. Refrain from making any commitments today. Keep your mind clear for some sudden eventuality may need careful handling. Take no chances with credit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to help one who is having troubles instead of adding to woes. Be tactful where social matters are concerned and avoid arguments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some secret desire you have is not for you so forget it and stick with the tried and true. An unpleasant matter should be thoroughly investigated.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Try to help friends more today and gain their goodwill and understanding for your problems. Some group affair is apt to be troublesome, so use tact.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) Study your business interests and weed out those that are no longer useful. Try to understand what a higwig suggests and follow his ideas and advice. Get good results.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) There is no "worse" day than this to get into some new interest, so keep busy at whatever you are presently working on. Don't be forced into anything by an overdynamic person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be an opinionated person who has to be exposed to the finest in order to make the most of this quality. Otherwise there is the chance that your progeny could follow in the wrong direction just as easily. Slant education along such lines as research, investigation, or whatever has much detail connected with it. Show a good deal of devotion and affection early in life.
